- (2) That the resolution relating to the introduction of Public Bills adopted by this House on 29 November, 1979, continue in force.

Mr Cameron moved, That the Question be amended by leaving out all words after the word “ordered” with a view to inserting the following words instead thereof—

“Standing Orders Nos 41, 44, 207 and 322 are amended by leaving out the words ‘two minutes’ wherever occurring and inserting the words ‘three minutes’, instead thereof.”

16. LAW OF EVIDENCE BILL.—Mr Ferguson presented a Bill intituled "A Bill to amend the law of evidence," and moved pro formâ, That this Bill be now read a first time.

Question put and passed.

Bill read a first time.

17. THE GOVERNOR'S OPENING SPEECH.—Mr Speaker reported that the House had yesterday attended the Governor in the Legislative Council Chamber, when His Excellency was pleased to deliver an Opening Speech to both Houses of Parliament. For greater accuracy, he had obtained a copy, which he laid upon the Table of the House, and ordered that it be recorded in the Votes and Proceedings, as follows:

HONOURABLE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT HERE ASSEMBLED—

You have been called together to consider the Government's legislative and financial proposals for the Third Session of the Forty-Sixth Parliament of New South Wales.

The work of the session will significantly advance the programme of reform and progress which my Government has steadily pursued since 1976.

The economic policies of the Federal Government, which have produced the highest level of unemployment in Australia for more than forty years, continue to impede my Government in its efforts to carry out the task entrusted to it by the people of New South Wales.

The restrictive policies of the Federal Government, which have manifestly failed to curb inflation, contributed significantly to the decision to close down the General Motors—Holden Plant at Pagewood (N.S.W.). My Ministers have felt obliged to protest in the strongest terms at the treatment accorded both the employees and the Government of New South Wales in reaching and announcing this decision.

However, the basic strength and diversity of the New South Wales economy will enable this State to cope with the consequences of such decisions far better than any other Australian State.

The level of unemployment, while entirely unacceptable to my Government, is now the lowest in Australia. With a revival in building, construction and manufacturing, the economic recovery is more pronounced in New South Wales than nationally.

My Government's economic policies are designed to broaden the State's industrial base even further.

New South Wales, with its abundance of energy resources, has become highly competitive internationally in the production of energy-intensive products and the oil crisis will provide a major stimulus to our coal exports.

The development of the State's industrial capacity will continue to receive high priority.

Development projects of the order of $10,000 million are planned for commencement before 1985. Significant development will occur in the expansion of capacity for aluminium and steel production and the development of mineral resources, particularly coal.

The revival of the Hunter Valley, recently one of the most depressed regions in Australia, with the highest unemployment level, is a major policy objective. In this task, the Government will give equal priority to the need for development and the protection of the environment.

The arrangements upon which my Government has insisted for the operation of aluminium smelting in the region will lead to a significant reduction in existing levels of pollution, and will fully protect the human, physical and agricultural environment.

Our vast coal resources have become an increasingly valuable asset. $50 million will be spent over the next ten years on an assessment of coal resources. The newly-established Coal Resource Development Committee has provided the basis for the necessary co-operation between industry, unions and government.

Two joint ventures are being developed for the production of export coal at Birds Rock near Lithgow, and at Mount Arthur South in the Hunter Valley.

Further development in the Hunter Region at Mount Arthur North will create the largest coal mining operation in Australia.

13 August, 1980

A second generating unit at Wallerawang Power Station should be brought into service this year. Eraring Power Station on Lake Macquarie, which will be operating in 1982, will be the largest in Australia.

In addition, two new power stations will be developed at Bayswater in the Hunter Valley and at Mount Piper near Wallerawang.

My Government has developed a comprehensive energy policy to enable New South Wales to meet the most pressing challenge now facing Australia and the industrial world.

Every effort is being made to expand oil supplies. The Government's participation in the Total development at Matraville will significantly augment the State's refining capacity.

Existing oil storage capacity is to be increased, and alternative fuel sources are being actively explored.

Of particular importance is the growing role of natural gas in the supply of energy for commercial and domestic use. The natural gas and petroleum pipeline to Newcastle and the spur-line to Young, Wagga Wagga and Cootamundra will be completed early in 1981.

The Government has invited the industry to explore for petroleum and natural gas in the Clarence Morton Basin and Darling Depression.

A high priority is being placed on programmes to attract employment generating investment through the newly formed Department of Industrial Development and Decentralisation.

Assistance of $33.4 million will be provided for essential infrastructure for the development of a valuable lead-zinc-silver deposit at Elura near Cobar. Up to 600 jobs will be created initially. The principal contract has been let, and preliminary work has commenced.

Expansion of the fish processing industry is being encouraged. One new plant is in production and two more, at Wollongong, are being developed with Government assistance.

My Government will extend the services provided by the Small Business Agency.

A major factor in the superior performance of the New South Wales economy has been my Government's insistence on maintaining a high level of capital spending, despite heavy cutbacks imposed by the Federal Government.

The Government is progressing steadily with its programme of port development.

At Port Botany, two container berths are already operating, and the remaining four should be operational in 1981.

The State's capacity to increase its coal export trade is being boosted by a new coal loader at Port Kembla, to be completed by 1982. A new coal loader on Kooragang Island is under investigation.

The Gosford Sewerage Project is continuing satisfactorily, and work is proceeding on the huge Mangrove Creek Dam. The $35 million scheme to supply water to the Nowra District is under way.

The Government is conscious of the need to manage effectively the State's water resources. A State Water Plan will identify needs and priorities for the future.

Major water works in progress include the Glennies Creek Dam near Singleton and the Windamere Dam near Mudgee.

My Government places the highest importance on the contribution of the rural sector to the economic prosperity of this State. The new importance of mining in no way downgrades the importance of Australia's great export industries of wheat, wool, and beef.

This year a wide range of new drought relief measures were introduced to meet what threatened, until recent rains, to become the worst drought this century.

A public enquiry has been established into grain storage, handling and transport, to ensure the provision of the most economical and efficient system for this important industry.

13 August, 1980

The new Dairy Industry Marketing Authority has replaced the Dairy Industry Authority to provide close and continuing consultation between all sectors of the industry.

Major fishing port works are planned for Sydney and Eden.

Fifteen major co-operative soil erosion projects have been undertaken by the Soil Conservation Service.

Continuing problems in the public housing field stem largely from the reduction by the Commonwealth Government, in real terms, of financial support.

The Federal Government's current allocation to New South Wales would have restricted the Housing Commission to the commencement of only 600 dwelling units this financial year. However, because of my Government's special allocation of $20 million announced earlier this year, this figure will be increased to 1 600 dwelling units.

This brings to a total of $64 million the special assistance my Government has made available to the Housing Commission in the past two financial years and has resulted in that Authority being able to construct an additional 3 000 dwelling units over and above what would have been the case based only on the Commonwealth's allocations over that period.

The Land Commission's presence in the private land development market continues to bring some moderation to escalating prices. It is expected that some 3 000 blocks will be released this year.

As a supplement to its special assistance for public housing, my Government has announced a 5 year programme for the development by the Land Commission of 7 000 building lots on Crown land at a cost of $42 million.

My Government will continue to make finance available to terminating building societies for low to middle income earners.

The Government is vigorously pursuing its policy of upgrading the public transport system. The State Rail Authority, the Urban Transit Authority and the Railway Workshops Board were established on 1st July, 1980. These new management structures will promote the efficiency, economy, and public accountability of the State's transport system. A further objective is to achieve better co-ordination between public and private transport.

Massive track upgrading work is continuing.

A contract has been let for the manufacture of four new high speed XPT passenger trains. New rolling stock, both passenger and freight traffic, are being brought into service.

Electrification of the line to Waterfall is complete, and the Gosford-Newcastle line is well advanced. Design work is progressing on the Waterfall-Port Kembla extension.

Tenders have been invited for a further 100 new buses for delivery in 1981, and for the design of new harbour ferries.

The control of the New South Wales intrastate air services and licensing is to be updated, and an Air Licensing Advisory Committee established.

Within the limits of available finance, the Government has implemented a major programme of improvements to urban and regional arterial roads.

My Government continues to urge the Federal Government to allocate part of the huge and increasing revenue through its oil levy for the provision of rural roads. Although the Commonwealth will collect about $1,400 million from New South Wales motorists only $196 million will be returned to the State for roadworks.

Major works on the State's National Highways include the South Western Freeway between Liverpool and Aylmerton near Mittagong, where 64 km of freeway is nearing completion.

As a new initiative, the Government has joined with local government councils to construct bicycle paths.

As indicated earlier, my Government places a high priority on the protection and enhancement of the environment. Public involvement in environment and development decisions will be facilitated to a level unequalled in Australia with the establishment of the Land and Environment Court.

13 August, 1980

An extensive programme to create new State Recreation areas will be undertaken with special attention given to the Hunter Valley and the Western Sydney Region.

Foreshore lands released by the Commonwealth will be restored and developed for the Sydney Harbour National Park.

During the past year my Government met the challenge forced on it by the Federal Government's decision not to accept its responsibility to help provide for natural and necessary growth in the New South Wales public hospital system. A major programme of rationalization has been necessary to redistribute hospital beds from areas of surplus capacity to those where need is greatest.

Services in the public hospital system for persons with drug and/or alcohol related problems will be developed.

The School Dental Service has progressed by the use of mobile clinics in remote country centres.

Despite the lack of co-operation from the Federal Government, my Government will continue to pursue the upgrading of basic nursing education. My Government acknowledges the co-operation and dedication of the medical and hospital staffs in coping with the difficulties created by the actions of the Federal Government.

The incidence of illegal use of drugs within the community is of particular concern. As a matter of high priority, the recommendations of the New South Wales Royal Commission upon Drug Trafficking are being progressively implemented.

The Joint Task Force established in conjunction with the Federal Government to bring before the Courts persons engaged in drug trafficking is a major initiative in law enforcement.

My Government will co-operate with the Federal and other State Governments in the consideration of the recommendations made by the Australian Royal Commission on Drugs.

All States and the Commonwealth are co-operating in the establishment of the Australian Bureau of Criminal Intelligence. A co-ordinated effort by New South Wales with other Australian Police Forces will assist greatly to combat the spread of organized crime, including illicit drug trafficking.

The 1980-81 Budget will provide significantly increased funds for drug programmes of prevention, education and rehabilitation.

The new Education Commission will become operative this year. It is satisfying to note that this new advance in the education of our children—in many ways the most important duty entrusted to the Government—comes exactly one hundred years after the establishment of the Department of Education.

The Government will continue its programme of improving school accommodation and of reducing class sizes. Significant reductions have already been effected in Years 9, 10 and 11.

A vigorous programme of providing improved special education services to handicapped pupils is being pursued. The age entry to schools has been lowered and staffing increased.

The Technical and Further Education sector is being further developed to meet current demands, particularly in the area of transitional educational studies. Three new colleges are nearing completion, work has commenced on a fourth, and significant redevelopments are being undertaken on eighteen others.

My Government deplores the attitude of the Federal Government in the harsh treatment of seriously disabled persons. The New South Wales Government will take an active part in promoting 1981 as the International Year of Disabled Persons.

Proposals to make buildings more accessible to disabled persons are being developed.

The Anti-Discrimination Act will be amended to improve its operation by removing existing anomalies and inconsistencies and thereby enabling a more effective implementation of my Government's equality of opportunity and anti-discrimination programmes. These amendments will include extending the grounds to discrimination on physical handicap; in registered clubs; extend the definition to indirect discrimination; and in all grounds to cover government educational authorities.

The health and education of the Aboriginal people of this State is of concern. To ensure that resources for Aboriginal people are appropriately used, an Aboriginal Policy Committee has been established within the Health Commission.

The Government is also pursuing a programme of increased facilities and staffing for Aboriginal education.

My Government is committed to a policy of equality of opportunity for women.

It will continue to press the Federal Government to allocate more resources to the Community Health Programme, particularly as it affects women and their dependents.

It has increased the representation of women on Boards and Authorities.

The New South Wales Women's Advisory Council has been requested to advise on recommendations for proposed Sexual Offences Legislation.

A Task Force has been established to improve services for children in residential care.

Family Crisis Units, to deal with child abuse, will be opened at Newcastle and Wollongong on a twenty-four hour basis.

Improvements to remand facilities for children and young people will be continued. Three new centres have been established.

A new juvenile Metropolitan Remand Centre is being constructed at Glebe.

Homeless persons in the community will continue to receive special attention.

My Government has assisted non-English speaking persons. It has established the Ethnic Affairs Commission. Health Care, Community and Workers' Compensation Interpreter and Translation Services have been established and Special Education Programmes expanded.

A Workers' Compensation Interpreting Unit is being established.

The intake of apprentices for the year ended 30th June, 1980 reached a record level.

Legislation to improve the operation of the apprenticeship system will be introduced.

The Department of Industrial Relations, through the Youth Counselling Service, is assisting young unemployed people to be placed in suitable employment.

Substantial grants under the Western Sydney Area Assistance Scheme have been directed to youth unemployment.

Despite inadequate Federal funding, my Government will sustain its successful pre-apprenticeship scheme which has so far provided full-time study opportunities for over 8 000 young people at various technical colleges.

To meet urgent needs for vocational training and education in the computer field, modern computer facilities will be provided at relevant TAFE colleges.

The Science and Technology Council has been established as a statutory body to advise on the social and economic implications of scientific and technological development.

The Technical Information and Research Unit will also assist in this area.

New Consumer Advice Centres have been established at eight country and four Sydney suburban locations during the past year.

Legislation was enacted last Session to grant relief to consumers who may be the victims of unconscionable contracts.

13 August, 1980

The Government will introduce a Bill to further protect consumers and will reform the law relating to consumer credit.

To meet the Government's intention to up-date the Auctioneers and Agents Act, amendments will be introduced during this session.

My Government recognizes that the maturity and vigour of our community will be judged not least by our achievements in the Arts. The Government will maintain and, as far as possible, extend its support for the visual and performing arts.

Assistance will be provided to establish a Regional Gallery at Armidale. Others will be located at Penrith and Wagga Wagga.

The first stage of the new $23 million Ultimo Power House Museum, to preserve part of Sydney's early industrial technical heritage, will open next year. It will exhibit one of the world's best collections in the field of science and technology.

A $4 million contract has been let for a new Herbarium in the Botanic Gardens. The remarkable Sir Joseph Banks Collection will be seen by the public for the first time.

Work is proceeding on the restoration of the historic buildings within the parliamentary precinct including the two Legislative Chambers, the old Rum Hospital and the old Parliamentary Library.

A new Exhibition Train will take displays of art works and other valuable collections to country areas.

A new series of Premier's Literary Awards will be made in recognition of distinguished achievements by Australian writers.

Tourism continues to be one of the significant growth industries in New South Wales.

My Government is providing increasing support for approved tourist and tourist-related projects.

It will press ahead with its successful efforts to promote the building of international standard hotels in Sydney, the gateway to Australia.

My Government will continue to provide leadership for the development of sport and recreation, with particular emphasis on providing opportunities for a healthy lifestyle for all our citizens. Financial grants will be continued.

The Government is developing a scheme for improvement of public facilities at established grounds.

My Government has substantially supported the National Coaching Accreditation Scheme. Measures will be taken to extend the Scheme in New South Wales.

My Government will continue to improve conditions and facilities to ensure the most efficient possible operations by the Police Force.

Updated computer facilities are to be provided.

Tenders have been called for the $33.2 million new Sydney Police Centre, to include specialist facilities for scientific investigation, computer operations and ballistics.

The provision of two helicopters has greatly increased capacity of the Force to combat crime and it is hoped to increase this number in due course.

Regional Police Stations are under construction at Newcastle and Springwood. The new $4.9 million Penrith Police Station will be occupied later in the year.

Three Community Justice centres will open this year.

Legislation will, if possible, be introduced to give effect to the agreement between the Commonwealth and the States for a National Companies and Securities Scheme.

The extension of fire protection services remains a high priority. Thirty-one additional major fire-fighting appliances are to be provided this year.

The Government is resolutely implementing the recommendations of the Royal Commission into New South Wales Prisons.

Their successful implementation involves changes in public attitudes to crime prevention, detention and rehabilitation, and my Government recognizes that this can only be achieved by community co-operation.

An additional 600 new prison cells will be under construction this financial year.

In addition to Parklea, a new gaol will be commenced at Narrabri. The Bathurst gaol will be redeveloped.

A new women's prison has been provided at Parramatta, and major improvements are being made at Silverwater.

A Special Medical and Psychiatric Care Unit, comprising a modern hospital, is to be built at Malabar.

The new Public Service Act has provided for more efficient management structures.

A programme of Management Strategy Reviews of Departments and Authorities has commenced.

A new Director of Equal Opportunity in Public Employment is to be appointed to implement management plans for eliminating discrimination in employment.

8. STANDING OF GOVERNMENT.—Mr Cameron moved, pursuant to Notice, That this House notes the extent to which the standing of both State and local government in New South Wales has been damaged by—

- (1) the bashing of the Honourable Peter Baldwin, M.L.C.;
- (2) disclosures in the report of the Drugs Royal Commission;
- (3) the association of named New South Wales Parliamentarians with criminals;
- (4) the linking of crime and the control of councils with the manipulation of Labor Party branches;

and calls upon the Government to allow a full debate aimed at repairing the standing of government within the community.

Point of Order: Mr Flaherty submitted that on a recent occasion during this session the matters referred to in the motion were the subject of debate and on that ground the motion should be ruled out of order.

Mr Speaker said that on 23 September last this House, on a motion moved by the Member for Earlwood, had a most discursive debate on the subject of organized crime and drug trafficking. During that debate the attack on the Honourable Peter Baldwin, M.L.C., was referred to frequently as were also the other matters contained in the motion now before the House.

In his contribution to the debate the member for Northcott said—

“The standing within the community of Government, whether State, Federal or Local, is so important to me that I gave notice of a motion calling for debate on the general range of issues that the House is now debating. At last, well behind schedule and grudgingly responding only because it was prompted into action by that proposed motion and other Opposition initiatives, the Government has granted this opportunity to debate the matter.”

Standing Order 187 (1) states, “No question shall be proposed which is the same in substance as any question which, during the same session, has been resolved in the affirmative or negative.”

The rule of submitting the same question can be summarized by saying that no question shall be submitted to the House that is substantially the same as one on which its judgment has already been expressed in the current session.

Having had the opportunity to study the terms of the motion of the Member for Earlwood and the subsequent debate, and the motion now moved by the Member for Northcott, he had no hesitation in saying that the motion is one on which the House had expressed its opinion.

The point of order was upheld.

9. DISCRIMINATION.—Mr Moore moved, pursuant to Notice, That this House believes that no person should be discriminated against on the grounds that they are or are not members of an industrial organization and calls on the Government to amend relevant state laws and public service hiring practices to reflect this.

Debate ensued.

It being Fifteen minutes after Four o'clock, p.m., motion lapsed.

10. PRINTING COMMITTEE.—Mr Jones brought up the Second Report from the Printing Committee.

The House adjourned at Sixteen minutes after Four o'clock p.m., until Tuesday next at Fifteen minutes after Two o'clock, p.m.

5. QUESTIONS.

6. ADJOURNMENT UNDER STANDING ORDER 49.—Mr Speaker stated that he had received from the Honourable Member for Mosman, Mr Arblaster, a Notice, under the 49th Standing Order, that he desired to move the adjournment of the House to discuss a specific matter of recent occurrence and of sufficient public importance to warrant urgent consideration, viz.: "The decision of the metropolitan train drivers who are members of the Australian Federated Union of Locomotive Enginenmen taken at Lidcombe on Monday, 24 November to refuse to return to work and not meet again before Wednesday, 26 November, 1980."

Mr Arblaster moved, That this House do now adjourn.

And the motion for the adjournment of the House being supported by five other Honourable Members—

Mr Cox submitted that the motion was out of order and the House was being asked to debate a matter that was not factual. The decision to meet on Wednesday, 26 November was not taken at Lidcombe on Monday but was taken in the Conciliation and Arbitration Commission today.

Mr Walker submitted that it had previously been ruled that to debate something that did not exist or was factually incorrect would make the House look foolish in the eyes of the public. Clearly the motion was misleading and false.

Mr Speaker said that the House would accept the proposition that any motion should be based on fact. It had been previously ruled that if the terms of a motion were not in accordance with facts as disclosed, it would be futile to allow debate thereon to continue.

Mr Speaker went on to say that as the matter was now before a judicial inquiry and therefore sub judice, he ruled the motion out of order.

7. DECLARATION OF BILLS AS URGENT BILLS: Mr Walker declared the Community Justice Centres (Pilot Project) Bill, Grain Handling (Amendment) Bill, Superannuation (Grain Handling) Amendment Bill, Capital Debt Charges (Grain Handling) Amendment Bill, Statutory and Other Offices Remuneration (Grain Handling) Amendment Bill, Public Service (Grain Handling) Amendment Bill, Wheat Marketing (Grain Handling) Amendment Bill and Government and Related Employees Appeal Tribunal (Grain Handling) Amendment Bill, to be urgent Bills.

5. QUESTIONS.

6. ADJOURNMENT UNDER STANDING ORDER 49.—Mr Speaker stated that he had received from the honourable member for Pittwater, Mr Smith, a notice, under the 49th Standing Order, that he desired to move the adjournment of the House to discuss a specific matter of recent occurrence and of sufficient public importance to warrant urgent consideration, viz.: "The conflicting statements made yesterday by the Minister for Corrective Services and the Commissioner concerning the use of police in the administration of the Department."

Mr Smith moved, That this House do now adjourn.

Point of Order:

Mr Walker submitted that whilst the motion moved by the honourable member for Pittwater could be said to conform to the majority of the requirements of Standing Order 49 it failed the test of being of sufficient public importance to warrant urgent consideration.

Mr Speaker said that the acceptance by him in his room of a notice under this Standing Order was provisional only and it was competent for him to entertain argument in the House on points of order as to whether a matter was specific, of recent occurrence or of sufficient public importance to warrant urgent consideration. He must be satisfied that the subject fell at least within the spirit of the Standing Order and that it was proper to interrupt the business of the House to debate it.

He said that, having listened to argument, he was satisfied that the matter was not of sufficient public importance to warrant urgent consideration and ruled the motion out of order.

7. DECLARATION OF BILL AS URGENT BILL.—Mr Walker declared the Election Funding Bill to be an urgent Bill.

Question put—That this Bill be considered an urgent Bill.
