LUNATIC ASYLUMS.

No. 1.

THE MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT, TARBAN LUNATIC ASYLUM, to THE UNDER COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Lunatic Asylum,
Tarban, 31 August, 1865.

SIR,

Referring to the animadversions and undoubted falsehoods published lately in certain leading articles of the Sydney Morning Herald, concerning this Asylum, I have the honor to request that you will have the goodness to appoint a Board of Inquiry into the truth or falsehood of the statements therein made. I feel that such a concession is due to my long services; and, if I might be allowed to make a suggestion, I would seriously recommend a Board of independent gentlemen, who have no connection with the profession.

I have, &c.,
F. CAMPBELL, M.D.,
Superintendent.

No. 2.

THE UNDER COLONIAL SECRETARY to THE MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT, TARBAN LUNATIC ASYLUM.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15 September, 1865.

SIR,

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 31st ultimo, relative to certain leading articles published in the Sydney Morning Herald newspaper, concerning the Tarban Lunatic Asylum, I am directed to inform you that the Colonial Secretary does not consider it necessary to accede to your request that a Board be appointed to inquire into the statements of any newspaper, when the Government is already in possession of information upon the matter discussed.

I have, &c.,
W. OWEN.

No. 3.

THE UNDER COLONIAL SECRETARY to THE MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT, TARBAN LUNATIC ASYLUM.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15 September, 1865.

SIR,

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to refer to you, for your observations, the enclosed letter* from Drs. Cox and Brereton, Members of the Board of Medical Visitors to the Lunatic Asylums, submitting suggestions for the erection and management of a new Lunatic Asylum.

2. As this communication has been published in the local Press, while under consideration by the Government, it is deemed proper that you should have an opportunity of explaining any matters in which you may consider your conduct to have been impugned, and of correcting any statements which you regard as unfounded.

I have, &c.,
W. OWEN.

No. 4.

No. 4.

THE MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT, TARBAN LUNATIC ASYLUM, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Lunatic Asylum,
Tarban, 18 September, 1865.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 15th September, 1865, No. 65-2710, referred to me for my observations on a report from Drs. Cox and Brereton, Members of the Board of Visitors to this Asylum, submitting suggestions for the erection of a new Lunatic Establishment; and calling upon me to explain any matters contained in that communication, or in the articles of the public Press, which it has elicited, that I may consider have impugned my conduct; and to correct any statements contained therein which I may regard as unfounded and injurious.

On the recommendations respecting the erection and management of a new Lunatic Asylum, with the exception of two, I do not feel that I am under the necessity of making any observations. There is none of them original, since the same ideas have been enunciated by myself, through the medium of the public Press, many years ago, in a far more philanthropic spirit and intention.

In calling your particular attention to the eleventh paragraph, in the "suggestions of Drs. Cox and Brereton, for the erection and management of a new Asylum," I trust that I shall meet with indulgence, if I confess to the difficulty I feel in suppressing my indignation while remarking on the superfluous recommendation it contains—a recommendation which, by the fact of its appearing there, is an artful insinuation that the facilities of visiting to which they allude, do not at present, or have not at all times existed. That two inexperienced Visitors, ambitious to seize a position of notoriety before they had made themselves competent to occupy it, should have rashly committed themselves to misrepresentation, through ignorance, in matters of petty detail or local description, would be no great subject of surprise; but here is a disingenuous pretension of ignorance, where ignorance could not possibly exist. No member of the Board could have made even twelve visits to the Asylum without being aware that three whole days in the week are devoted to the visits of friends to the patients, who come sometimes in such numbers as to fill two rooms. A conspicuous notice of the permission, framed, and written in large text, stands constantly on the mantle-piece of the Board-room, and it is quite impossible it could have escaped the observation of even Drs. Cox and Brereton. There is no limit or specification of time to persons coming from the country, who have merely to state that fact to be admitted, even on Sundays; although I must say that nothing but unavoidable necessity justifies intrusion on a public establishment on that day of universal rest. Shoals of visitors from Sydney arrive by the same boat, enter the premises simultaneously with the Board, and return in company with them, and yet these two gentlemen disguise their knowledge of this constantly recurring fact in a hypocritical suggestion. Moreover, it is a circumstance of universal notoriety, that all persons desirous of inspecting the Asylum have nothing more to do than to present themselves at the gate and state their wishes, to be immediately admitted and accompanied round.

In the thirteenth paragraph of the same series of suggestions on the construction of a new Asylum, the reporters quote the "howling and cursing" indulged in by lunatics—alluding, I suppose, "especially to Tarban Creek." A neophyte would have no difficulty in concluding, from this observation alone, that they know either nothing at all of Lunatic Asylums, or that they have made the remark with the contemptible purpose of bringing odium on the management of this establishment. I challenge them to prove, by any experience of their own, that cursing is a characteristic of a Lunatic Asylum conducted on humane principles. In one night these gentlemen will hear more cursing issuing from the lips of sane blackguards in a street brawl than they will, with all their critical eavesdropping, hear in a month at any well-ordered Lunatic Asylum. And when it is recollected that all the time summed up to its total, which these acute-eared visitors ever spent in this Asylum, during their rounds of inspection, amounts to but a few hours, no one can be at a loss to discover both their object in making these invidious remarks, and the sum total of their fitness to discourse and to dictate on a subject concerning which all their knowledge is conjectural or borrowed. As to howling, it does not require them, neither are they capable to inform the world till they read this comment on their insinuations, that it is an incident of the insane character, arising sometimes, like the howling of children, from the natural instinctive impulse to give vent to their pleasure, and sometimes from an unexplainable inward emotion. If their object in making this remark be to create in the mind of the public some deeper or more sinister impression, I can assure you, sir, that I have never, in my long intercourse with lunatics (embracing a period of full forty years), known an instance of one of them howling from pain or any appreciable uneasiness, except from that mysterious influence which is felt by them on or before the advent of atmospheric disturbances. Strait waistcoats, handcuffs, leglocks, coercion chairs, and the feet and hands chained to their bedposts during the night, might with some reason cause howling. But as these comfortable appliances are now unknown "especially at Tarban Creek," the howling there is precisely the ectype of the howling to be heard in every receptacle of the insane, ancient or modern.

In

In paragraph 1 of their recommendations for the improvement of the present Asylums, they state, 1st, a delusion and a fallacy as far as concerns Madhouses, and, 2nd, an insidious enthymeme leading to the conclusion that a probability is a truth. They syllogize thus—It is probable that the foul contents of water-closets in general soak into the yards and bed-rooms, therefore, the foul contents of the privies at Tarban Creek do soak into the yards and bed-rooms there! And thus I meet the delicate slander:—The contents of the latrines never soak, and never during my residence here did they soak, into the yards and bed-rooms—such an accident is all but impossible. When and in what quarter, I demand to know, in their aggregate eleven hours' experience of this Lunatic Asylum, did they observe this phenomenon?

No. 2 retails a hint borrowed from myself. I have expatiated on this project, far and near, for years; and, in the month of September, 1864, plans and specifications for this engine were laid before the Colonial Secretary, and may be seen at the office either of the Board of Works or of the Colonial Architect. As to drains, see my evidence before the Select Committee of 1863-4, Nos. 220, 222, 223, and 224.

No. 3.—The piggery! Though it may be a crime for a Government officer to keep a pig, and perhaps also to breathe the common air of heaven, I ventured to keep one; but the piggery alluded to was never a nuisance, and required no hints from the reporters to be removed. To say it was close to the wards of the Asylum is somewhat akin to most of the foregoing allegations. It was opposite to, but at a proper distance from, a large out-door system of latrines erected for the use of the workmen of the wood-yard.

No. 4.—The paddock. This new idea is worth reviewing. On the 1st of January, 1848, I took charge of this Asylum, and in February of the same year I placed on the Estimates for the year 1849 the following items:—For enclosing pleasure grounds with an eight-foot paling fence, and for erecting sheds therein, £300; to erect a bath-room within the pleasure grounds near the river, and to enclose with a paling fence a small bight of the bay for patients to bathe in, £200.

These requisitions were repeated in the Estimates for 1850. In a letter to the late Dr. Hill, the Official Visitor to this Asylum, dated 2nd December, 1848, I wrote as follows:—"I enclose an advertisement which, if carried into effect, will at once and for ever doom this Asylum to the state of a prison. The land advertised for sale belongs to Mr. Stubbs, and consists of about thirty acres; it is contiguous to the Asylum, and is the only spot that could be turned into pleasure grounds for the use of the patients. It is admirably adapted for this purpose; it is mostly cleared, and only wants fencing to render it a pleasure ground ample enough for both sexes, with a reserve for a small farm. A small stream of water runs through it most of the year, except when the season is very dry. I have learnt that the whole of the thirty acres could be obtained for about £250, and here I may suggest that this outlay might be met by the sale of the useless portion of the Asylum Reserve, in the form of allotments."

In my evidence before the Commissioners, 1854-5, at No. 91 I am asked "Would you suggest that a portion of the ground round it should be enclosed? I would suggest, both for the reason given, and for the sake of impeding patients who run away, that the fence at the back should be carried all round for about 160 rods down to the water. The fence should be about 10 feet high."

In a letter to Secretary Parker, in 1859, is the following reference to the above land—"and there is abundance of fine level arable land contiguous to it, suited for every purpose—enlargement, grounds for recreation, and dairy farming, which I consider an essential appendage to a Lunatic Asylum."

In my evidence before the Commissioners appointed in 1854, &c., &c., at 102, I state in answer "It ought to be sold. It will never be an Asylum commensurate with the wants of this magnificent Colony. Besides, its distance from a market is an insuperable objection to its present position. I believe, on my conscience, that one-half the expense it costs the Colony might be saved by a more convenient situation." I may add here, as the most suitable place, that almost at the same time when the earliest of the above suggestions were made, I also recommended the Government to cause eight windows to be formed in the dead wall in front of the Asylum, which not only prevented the inmates from enjoying one of the most charming prospects in the Colony, but contributed more than any other fault to give the place the character of a prison. After about seven years my recommendation was adopted, and the much abused Asylum has not now, at least in this respect, the gloomy aspect which lives only in the imaginations of busybodies and eaves-droppers.

At section 5, the reporters recommend that larger dining-rooms be used, &c. I had occasion to remark, on a preceding paragraph, something to this effect,—either that these gentlemen know nothing at all of Lunatic Asylums, or they have made the suggestion with a view to mislead to the worst conclusions, and to bring odium on this establishment. The present observation proves not only that my conjecture was correct, but that they are lamentably ignorant, especially of Tarban Creek.

There are three dining-rooms in the male department, measuring respectively 70 feet x 11, 63 feet x 11, and 68 feet x 11, besides two smaller ones; and three in the female division, one of which measures 84 feet x 11. The two small rooms so much canvassed, which measure 19 feet x 16, are no doubt too small; but until the rapid increase of insanity overcrowded the whole establishment, they were spacious enough to accommodate the number of patients assigned to them. When, however, the population of the various female wards are reduced by crafting 46 to the new ward, these two rooms will again afford sufficient space for the number left.

The 6th "suggestion" is short, and only attractive by what Carlyle courteously designates an "unveracity," accompanied with an artful insinuation. An ancient poet says, "When you contemplate any great wickedness, let the crime be perpetrated quickly." The mendacity here is quickly perpetrated, and as quickly confuted—it lies in one syllable.

The 7th section recommends that the dormitories be "dimly lighted." I can readily conceive the hurricane of human uproar which this dim light would create among a number of refractory and excitable lunatics, kept awake by the glimmer, and directed by it, when their aggressive propensities were excited, when and how to aim their blows. And is not a dim light particularly calculated to encourage hallucinations in the lunatic, by the shadowy resemblances it portrays on the mind already but too susceptible of visionary images? If the suggestion came from a couple of bottle-holders it might pass as a characteristic of their trade; but from two official Visitors, pretending to an overflow of wisdom and skill in all the mysteries of Madhouse discipline and arrangement, vae victis! The heart sinks at the thought that any insane man or woman might ever have to suffer the calamity of being consigned to the teeming humanity of such philanthropists.

If the 8th section be not a simple suggestio falsi, it is the falsehood itself; and it exhibits a melancholy proof of the ease and readiness with which truth can be sacrificed, when men of flexible consciences have a purpose to serve. Sir, it is above the power of an earnest lover of the good and the true to convince himself that in any society of civilized and christian people there should be found two men, placed by accident beyond the pale of ignorance, poverty, and temptation, who could be induced, by any allurement of the world, the flesh, or the devil, to make and give utterance to these unfounded assertions.

The recommendation in the 9th of the series is not necessary, nor is it worth the value of the ink to expose the covert malice of the insinuation. It has no foundation in truth.

The passage marked 10 smells intensely of the essence of "an uncharitableness," neatly enclosed in a globule of innocent forgetfulness, shewing how they attempt to hoodwink the public, by first appearing to shut their own eyes to a glaring and troublesome fact, and then to invite the public to follow their example. They kindly ask the Government to set agoing a system of machinery which has been in operation and at full speed for seventeen years and three quarters, under my guidance. But my management is the sore point, and therefore they ignore the active and energizing principle, as well as the enginery. It will be enough for me, however, to repeat here, in spite of their duplicity (for all the world of Australia knows far more than I feel disposed to say on the subject), that, with all the impediments and contravening circumstances, and they are legion,—with all the exaggerated blemishes in the original conditions of the institution,—I have not only managed it, but have brought the management to a pitch of perfection not surpassed in Europe. The free and happy state of the inmates—the high average of cures, actual and bonâ fide cures—the uniform absence of common diseases—the small ratio of deaths—and the most telling evidence of all, the brightest gem of the whole work, and the highest encomium upon the management, the extreme rarity of suicide—add to all this the every-day working order, the cleanliness, and the arrangements both intrinsic and extrinsic of the Asylum,—are the best testimony that can be produced to the truth of my averment. And I fearlessly invite the strictest scrutiny of competent judges to dispute one fact of what I now affirm, or disprove one of the statements made on the same subject long since published to the world, and here every day exposed in actual form and operation to the public gaze, if the public would make use of the oft repeated invitation "Come and see." Even the Sydney Morning Herald had once the courage to do justice to my labours, and to be loud in praise of their results; and that not long enough ago to afford any warrant for its present altered tone. But there is no character, however pure or noble, or exalted, or meritorious, on which interest may not fix a blemish, or detraction cast its baleful shadow. The following is a specimen of "Philip sober," on the 21st January, 1862:—"As, however, no considerations of this kind will affect the conduct of most men, a certain proportion will go mad, and that in a ratio to the population rather increasing, we are bound to pay the closest attention to institutions for the treatment of the insane. We understand there are several occasional patients of Tarban Creek who indicate an approaching crisis by paying, a few weeks before their actual entrance, a friendly visit to this establishment. We should recommend this course to several honorable gentlemen. Doubtless, both before and during the crisis, the impression of the good condition of the Asylum has a sanatory influence. It is impossible to imagine how much the disease may be assuaged and softened by removing from the minds of the people the terror of a 'Madhouse.' Even a name must be of some importance as it conveys the idea of a retreat or a prison. Thousands of poor people prefer to die in a hovel, in a stifling atmosphere, and amidst neglect and privation, because the Infirmary is coupled with the notion of sharp practice, harsh nurses, and contract coffins. Any one conscious of hereditary tendencies to the disease, or under a morbid fear of its occurrence, must have trembled through life at the idea of such a scene as the Madhouse of the old style displays."

"We are glad to learn that Dr. Campbell has found it possible to relieve the insane people under his care of all kinds of manacles—that strait waistcoats are not used.

"Such violent methods of treatment are necessary only when the force at command is insufficient, and the surveillance unskilful and imperfect. It would break any man's heart “heart to see his wife or daughters subject to the course rough hands which formerly managed the insane. Never can human beings have stronger claims on our tenderness, and in few diseases is it more important to recovery.

“We understand the Asylum at Tarban Creek is now supplied with superior warders, who obtain, women £50, men £60 per annum, besides board and lodging; money well earned, indeed, but which we doubt not gives a choice where selection is most necessary. A superior class are the least costly in the long run. Many a case of temporary insanity has become fixed by the want of skill and kindness in its management, and thus expense prolonged through life.

“The site of Tarban Creek Asylum is, we are informed by competent judges, admirably adapted for the institution. There are about 300 acres of land, and good water, a pure air, and fine prospect. The great deficiency is in sleeping apartments—the dining halls being used for that purpose. There are some buildings in progress, and when completed there will be room for 400. It must be of great importance, both to the health and the tranquillity of patients, that as little deviation as possible should be perceivable from their accommodation when at large. To be huddled in a heap would be enough to generate madness. The original plan being for sixty patients only, of course the vast increase requires an extensive adaptation.

“We do not know any officer whose services are more onerous and less requited than those of Dr. Campbell, considering his great professional experience and responsibility. For fourteen years he has had charge of the institution, and has received in the course of this long campaign many a dangerous wound; of some the effects are permanent. He has persevered, notwithstanding, in the humane system of treatment, which is only unsafe when the medical superior confides in it to the neglect of proper assistance and watchfulness. These can only be secured by sufficient classification and attendance. The insane themselves often resist the disorderly, and in more than one instance have averted a blow from Dr. Campbell that would have been mortal.

“There are some things in which the country should be rather extravagant than parsimonious. We should none of us grudge any outlay necessary to relieve the greatest, and we may almost say, the most common ill to which flesh is heir. No wisdom, virtue, temperance, or caution, can give security against diseases of the mind. If we are not unmoved at the decline of great fortunes, much more must we be touched by the spectacle of a fine mind in ruins. Society owes its care especially to such, who suffer under a heavy affliction, especially as it may fall suddenly in happiest households, and seize the noblest and best among us. We greatly need a well conducted private Asylum, and are glad to hear that one is likely to be established.”

The confused and confusing collection of rubbish and platitude which terminates section 10, is a sample of massive and stolid ignorance concerning the necessary conditions on which a Superintendent can act faithfully and usefully, among which are, speaking generally, untrammelled freedom of action, a master power over the whole establishment, and unstinted means. What would be the duties of a Board of Control? To make the Superintendent a slave,—this would be all the business and the only business of such a Board. The Manager of a Madhouse must be either such a Superintendent or a slave. If he be the latter, farewell to all management. The proposition is a pure self-acting and self-inflicting reductio ab absurdum. Think of a system of conflicting anarchizing and enfeebling imperia in imperiis, confining and distracting the energies of the agent on whom all intellectual management, all arrangement, all amelioration, all cure, and all moral discipline, entirely depend, brought into operation in a Government Lunatic Asylum, where the Chief Secretary is the natural Board of Management, and the Finance Minister and Auditor General the Board of Control, performing with ease, perfection, and simplicity, all the functions of a simple organization, instead of a theoretical complication of powers, acting, or always tending to act, separately, independently, and most mischievously. Boards of Control, &c., &c., do very well in County Madhouses in England, where gentlemen form the Board, who never interfere in what they do not understand. The friends of the projector, who has depended on boards till he is a slave, and has hung so long in boards that he is falling to pieces, ought at last, in pity, to have him bound in calfs.

The wail at the conclusion of this paragraph is characteristic of the mourners. It might be asked, without any impropriety, if any of them ever had a mother, a sister, a daughter. The notion is, to give it the mildest name, the essence of indecency. Would they commit the outrage of intruding upon sleeping women—who, though poor and insane, are as keenly alive to sentiments of shame, and have as fine and perfect conceptions of female decorum, as those of their sex who rejoice in all the glory of station and perfection of intellect—merely because they are insane? The man who could bring his mind to such a base duty is unworthy of the name of son, husband, or brother.

Some of the statements in the public Press referred to, based on the information conveyed by the two Visitors, are so monstrously false that they can only be flatly contradicted. Of such a character, for example, is the assertion that the wood-yard is surrounded by a wall of 20 feet high, that soakage from the water-closets percolates to the sleeping-rooms, that there are no bath-rooms, that the kitchen is in front of the building, that two male patients sleep in one “locked cell,” and that I myself engross the whole produce of the garden of the Asylum—statements, some of which are so intensely truthless, that the concocter of them can hardly be considered less than a demoniac.

If

If my word is to be taken, I assure you solemnly that no such occurrence as only two patients being compelled to sleep in the same cell, since the commencement of my superintendence in this Asylum, ever happened. Every attendant in the establishment is as particular on this point as myself; indeed, I am satisfied that rather than be guilty of allowing so monstrous an infraction of this stringent rule, that he would resign his situation immediately. It could not be done—detection would follow without a moment's delay, since, on the nightly inspection, after the patients are in bed, every empty one, not previously accounted for, has to be explained to the officer who makes the round; and in like manner the assistant medical officer passes through the wards at unlocking time, at 6 a.m., on every morning of his life. On the female side, indeed, where there are not the same strong reasons for so strict an observance, some of the quietest and most convalescent, not exceeding sixteen, do sleep two in a room, though each in a separate bed; and as it has been before explained, inexorable necessity is the cause of even this exception to a general rule.

In short, the sum and circumstances of all my offences consist in the undenied reality of the superabundant population confided to my care—a difficulty which I have done what man could do to surmount, while Dr. Cox himself was signing certificates consigning merely senile, dirty, bedridden, and helpless incurable patients to augment that great bane of the institution, and increase my troubles in a matter on which he afterwards charitably incriminates and slanders me in a covert form.

The situation of the Asylum is one of supreme healthiness, and the best proof of this consists in the indisputable fact of the rarity of epidemic or casual disease; since, though a vast portion of its inmates are under especial medical treatment for the cure of the mental affection, the cases confined for any length of time to bed, and the deaths, are chiefly those from exhaustion and the consequences of long existing and various forms of paralysis, epilepsy, and the natural infirmities of age. The structural faults I have never sought to disguise, and have been the active means of having many of them repaired.

The state of the latrines is very objectionable, and in certain conditions of the atmosphere the effluvium from some of them offensive. The former inconvenience might, no doubt, be easily remedied by engineering art; but I confess I have but little faith in any practical solution of the latter difficulty. The fault is chiefly from the concentration of numbers. If the population of this establishment (520—sane and insane) were divided into families of four individuals each, that is, into one hundred and thirty separate dwelling-houses, the effluvium issuing from them collected into four or five almost contiguous latrines, would be fully equal to all the denounced smells at Tarban Lunatic Asylum. There are always two grand considerations in connection with the placing and construction of the water-closets,—the danger of suicide often attempted in them, and prevention of the perpetration of disgusting offences against morality. Referring, again, to the dim light and nightly inspections recommended, I would add that sleep is the most precious of all blessings to the lunatic; and to infringe on its enjoyment by a useless, not to say prying activity, is so mischievous and irrational, that I cannot do less than denounce such a scheme as having originated in the fancy of a Neapolitan gaoler.

The following are some of the regulations on the first two points at the Middlesex Lunatic Asylum at Hanwell:—

- “ $\frac{1}{2}$ to 8 p.m., each room is to be locked, and the gas is to be turned off, except
- “where a light is specially ordered to be kept until a later hour. In going - “through the wards, the night attendants are to avoid disturbing the
- “patients. For this purpose, they are expected, when on duty, to wear
- “soft shoes. They are also to unlock and shut the doors as quietly as
- “possible, and to carry a light in the lantern provided for them.”

So much for the practice, the humanity, and common sense of this proposal.

As regards the resources within the reach of the patients for intellectual amusement, it is proper to state that there is a Library for their use, containing between five and six hundred volumes of miscellaneous and standard literature; five monthly magazines, one quarterly review, and three daily newspapers; one (the Empire) supplied gratuitously for the last two years, and two copies of the Morning Herald, both of which are paid for by the Institution; all in constant circulation among the patients.

The Parramatta Asylum has been disingenuously introduced. I am not-competent to speak of it, as it is many years since I was there; and it is not necessary for my own defence, that I should endeavour to lessen the merit of any favourable change which I understand has lately been adopted. I rejoice to believe that improvements have been made in a direction which I have for so many years pointed out; but the credit which is justly due to a management that avails itself of appliances which I have never possessed, can reflect no shame upon me, who have so ardently desired and sought them. In certain very important respects I observe that Tarban Creek has still an advantage, inasmuch as there is a greater number of single sleeping apartments for known dangerous patients; and the cubicfeet allowed for respiration, according to the Colonial Architect's plans, are 567 and 864 for Parramatta, while they are 763, 1,704, and 1,080 for Tarban Creek.

I have never made any objection to the practice of attendants sleeping in or near the patients' apartments, providing that such an arrangement can be made structurally possible, which is not the case at present, from the pressure of the population that I have to accommodate. But there is not the same necessity for it here as there is in Parramatta, because all our known dangerous fighting and destructive patients are lodged and locked in single sleeping rooms; therefore outbreaks in the common dormitories are of very very unfrequent occurrence, and the night watches, with the attendants they can readily summon to their assistance, have hitherto been found quite competent to deal with any patient who unexpectedly becomes excited and troublesome during the night. There has never been the slightest difficulty on that point; no attendant here has ever found it necessary to quiet a patient by "knocking him down."

I have been accused of defrauding the inmates of their rights, as before alluded to, by monopolizing the whole produce of the garden—fruit and vegetables; a charge which is so preposterous, and so incredible, when the size of my family, and the dimensions of the garden (four acres in extent) are considered, that no one would believe it even on the oath of the slanderer.

I am fully alive to all the advantages of exclusive hospital convenience; but if I had had the command of the most ample sick accommodation in the Colony, or the world, I should, under present circumstances, have had to make use of it as a general dormitory. Fortunately, however, as before remarked, we seldom have many sick, in the usual hospital signification of the word; which I attribute, under Providence, to situation, and the rigid and unceasing medical scrutiny maintained in regard to the patients, by which every dawning symptom of bodily ailment is observed, and instantly attended to; and thus, in a majority of cases, arrested and subdued. You might have observed, sir, on your two recent unexpected visits, that, in the first instance, there was not a single man in bed, and only two regularly bed-ridden women; and, in the second, the same two women and two men, who were keeping their beds from some temporary cause, which would have been deemed too trivial in the outer world to be taken notice of.

The proposed arrangements of Drs. Cox and Brereton, in respect to the allowance of washstands to a given number of patients, requires revision, and the rest of their suggestions are for the most part so puerile and absurd that I respectfully request I may be spared the task of again referring to them, not feeling myself competent to argue on such points with the necessary gravity.

I have now to observe, with earnestness and regret, that the gratuitous and injudicious publication of their report has done incalculable mischief to the inmates of this establishment, from whose knowledge it was found quite impossible to keep it. Numbers of the most insane, before docile, and even affectionate to the officers and attendants, have become quite hostile and aggressive. They have felt it with the erring judgment and violent passions of insanity, and believed that it was intended to open the doors which they fancy are unjustly closed upon them, and to set them at their liberty to wreak their revenge upon their supposed enemies, to the danger of society and inconceivable evil to themselves. They now believe that I and my subordinates are the obstacles to this benevolent design, and our moral influence is for the time most lamentably diminished over their minds, as there is no "iron rule" to control them. No doubt, by the usual exercise of forbearance and kindness, it will pass away in the majority of instances; but it is not safe—it is not humane, nor just, nor rational—to cause such disturbances in the susceptible and jealous minds of the victims of delusion, too weak to receive impressions of wrong, however imaginary, without being carried away by the passions aroused. All this has been done, I cannot help thinking, partly for the criminal purpose of working out a selfish design, and partly for the contemptible one of courting a meretricious and fleeting popularity. I have been heart and soul the advocate of the lunatic, as far as God has given me ability, but I cannot blind myself to the absurdity of those pseudo-philanthropists who would impose on the public benevolence an expense which ere long will be considered an intolerable burden, by confounding the pauper, in luxurious habits and appetites, with the affluent occupant of a private Asylum. This is essentially a pauper establishment; for out of the whole 476 inmates, only the friends of nineteen, and several of them but barely able, can afford the 2s. 2d. per day charged by Government for their maintenance. For the larger portion of the remainder, I venture to say they are in a much better position as regards lodging, diet, clothing, and cleanliness, than ever they were in their lives, while enjoying their freedom. A time will come when the new-fangled notions that have become engrafted, like a human head on the body of a fish, with regard to the reformed system of treating lunatics, will give way to sound common sense. I am as sincere and earnest an advocate for every conceivable form of amusement, moral, physical, and mental, which can be brought into practice, and has its foundation in reason and utility, as any man living; and I have not only acted up to these views, to the utmost extent of my limited means, but advocated them more than twenty years ago, to a degree which was called "Utopian," when I was laughed at, in pity, for my "thick-coming fancies."

I take the liberty, in conclusion, to perform an act of justice, by bringing particularly under your favourable notice the unwearied zeal, the ability, and the valuable services always promptly rendered me in every department of the arduous duties of conducting this Asylum, by my able and accomplished Assistant, Mr. Wardley, during the last eight years.

I have, &c.,

F. CAMPBELL, M.D.,
Superintendent.

No. 5.

THE MEDICAL ADVISER TO THE GOVERNMENT to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Parramatta, 27 September, 1865.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to lay before you a few observations on the increase of lunatics in the Colony, which, though obvious and trivial, seem yet to have been overlooked, or rather not prominently brought forward in the late discussions on the subject of lunacy.

2. It seems very desirable to ascertain the exact increase, so far as what is irregular can be ascertained. The data for this calculation are in your possession. There is a letter of mine, bearing date May 18th, 1855, printed in the second Progress Report of the Parliamentary Committee on Lunatics, calling the attention of the Government to the then increasing number of lunatics, which states them (I believe correctly) to have been at that time 480 in the two Asylums at Tarban Creek and Parramatta.

3. I believe the numbers now to be not less than 975; that is, 500 in Parramatta, and 475 in Tarban Creek.

4. The increase, therefore, in $10\frac{1}{2}$ years is 495, or a little over 47 annually.

5. But as the population of the Colony is rapidly increasing, the proportion of lunatics remaining the same, the absolute number will increase, and the calculation is simple. If 400,000 inhabitants give an increase of 47 lunatics annually, what will 500,000 give?

6. Again, I have not seen any clear statement of the present capabilities of the two Asylums. Vague assertions of their over-crowded state are continually made, and it cannot be difficult to arrive at a conclusion not far removed from the truth.

7. To begin with Parramatta, which now contains something over 500 inmates, viz., 300 men and 200 women, I can only remark that there is sufficient accommodation for that number, so far as dormitories are concerned. There are no day-rooms for any but the helpless and imbecile, all others living, dining, and having all their meals out of doors under sheds. Under any circumstances I consider this the healthiest plan, and should not wish it to be altered even if there were day-rooms, except in wet weather. But it is certainly very undesirable that patients should be detained all day and have their meals in their sleeping rooms, as they now must in continuous rain, and therefore for such times day-rooms are necessary.

8. With respect to Tarban, it is said to be over-crowded with its present numbers. It would appear to me, therefore, desirable that the Superintendent should report—if he has not already done so—what number can be properly accommodated there; and if it be less than the present number, then of course the overplus must be provided for elsewhere—in some new Asylum, or in some temporary manner till a new Asylum can be built.

9. The advantage of fixing an exact number as the maximum that should be received at Tarban Creek and Parramatta is obvious, as giving certain data to go on in providing additional accommodation. I believe that a large number (say fifty) are to be at once discharged from Tarban Creek; but will this reduce the numbers to the proper maximum? If not, then more must be done, in justice to the patients and the Superintendent. No care nor skill can be of full avail, so long as patients are improperly crowded together. I do not know that they are so, but I have seen no absolute denial.

10. Since writing the above, I have seen Drs. Douglass and Alloway, who have visited the Parramatta Asylum. From them I have learnt that the maximum of proper accommodation at Tarban Creek is for 350, and that the present number of patients there is 475. It appears, therefore, that there are 125 patients to provide room for at once, in addition to the expected annual increase.

11. The case is more urgent than I anticipated, and I trust that my position as Medical Adviser to the Government will plead my excuse for these remarks.

I have, &c.,

R. GREENUP,
Medical Adviser to the Government.

No. 6.

THE MEDICAL ADVISER TO THE GOVERNMENT to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Parramatta, 30 September, 1865.

SIR,

Having lately written (at some length, I fear) a letter calling attention to the rapidly increasing number of lunatics in this Colony, I now do myself the honor to point out in what way it seems that the present difficulty can be best met.

2. And first, from the present very crowded state of the Asylum at Tarban Creek, it is clear that, unless some provision can be made for the immediate reception of 150 lunatics, say 100 men and 50 women, the relief will not be adequate for more than a few months.

3. For, as the overplus at Tarban Creek is at present 125 at least, and is increasing at the rate of 47 a year, something more than the removal of 125 must be contemplated.

4. It has been suggested that the buildings occupied by the Police in the Barrack Yard should at once be taken for the purpose, and enlarged to a considerable extent. The ground is favourably situated, but its area is not above three acres, or not much above, and it has no water.

5. It has also been suggested that the present Invalid Establishment in Macquarie-street should be given up to lunatics.

For the reception of male lunatics it is utterly inadequate, being so confined in space, but for the temporary reception of quiet female lunatics, the suggestion is a valuable one, in my opinion, if taken in conjunction with other alterations; and when this present difficulty is removed, the buildings would be useful as an Asylum for idiots and imbeciles separate from the other classes.

6. For the invalids at present occupying the place could be removed into the unoccupied buildings in the Barrack Square, where there is room for them without disturbing the police. There is also a residence for the head wardsmen, and the additions required would be very trifling. And by this removal their connection with the Lunatic and Invalid Establishment would not be broken, and thus the sum paid for them by the British Government (say £800 a year) would still be receivable.

The present sum repaid by the Home Government is about £3,000; the proportion paid by lunatics is about three-fourths of that sum, leaving the other fourth (say the £800 mentioned) as payment for the invalids.

7. With respect to the male lunatics, their number renders it a matter of more difficulty to provide for them. But as the urgency is great, I beg to recommend that the vineyard property, about 40 acres in extent, adjoining the Parramatta Asylum, should be at once purchased—the money having been already voted, and a wooden building at once erected capable of containing 100 patients. In this the fifty patients now removable from Tarban should be placed, and fifty more, chosen out of the Parramatta Asylum, placed there with them. Then fifty more might be sent from Tarban to the Asylum at Parramatta; Tarban being thus relieved of 100 men and 48 women.

8. I should say that a sufficient wooden building for 100 patients could be erected in two or three months, and added to as required—all this being considered temporary till a new Asylum can be built.

9. With respect to a new Asylum, I would call your attention to the present lunatic farm, which has never yet been officially visited, I believe. It is a very pleasant spot, of about 27 acres, with a deep reach of the river opposite to it, or rather separating it from the vineyard property of which I have recommended the purchase. Here I would build an Asylum for women only, to contain three or four hundred patients.

10. My reason for recommending the building to be appropriated to females is, that the range of buildings appropriated to them in the Parramatta Asylum is not suitable for women, but is well adapted for the refractory class of men. When the Female Asylum is built, all the women in the present Parramatta Asylum should be removed to the new place, and the present Parramatta Asylum entirely filled up with men.

11. The wooden buildings put up now for the temporary reception of male lunatics would not be wasted, even when the necessity for their occupation as dormitories, &c., was over. They would remain as day-rooms, or places for amusements of different kinds for the neighbouring Asylums.

12. I consider the supply of water inexhaustible for the two Asylums and also the Gaol, if a donkey engine were placed near Gore's Hole, to force the water when it was wanted. And the principal sources of defilement do not enter the river till below the dam.

13. The present "upper dam" opposite the Asylum should be made good.

14. On the vineyard property many detached dwellings might be erected for the better class of patients who could pay for the privilege, and also for any patients of refinement or education whom it might be considered right to remove from the mass.

15. Perhaps the necessity of the removal of fifty men from Tarban is so urgent that the time necessary for the purchase of the farm and erection of a large building cannot be given.

In this case, if there be no Government building at Windsor or elsewhere capable of receiving them at once, I would suggest the instant erection of a wooden building in the Parramatta Lunatic Farm, of sufficient size for the immediate need. In the way buildings are run up for railroad offices, I do not doubt that a sufficient dormitory and day-rooms could be put up in a month, if necessary, and probably no alteration of old buildings could be ready sooner.

16. If it should be decided that the Female Asylum should not be built on the farm, then the temporary buildings erected there would be very useful for the parties I am sending out twice a week—the imbeciles for a sort of picnic, the others for a walk only. With such buildings they could go frequently on what might be termed pleasure parties, with their dinner or tea sent after them from the Asylum, as is now done with the imbeciles.

17. It is difficult to suggest a comprehensive scheme in few words. What I have said will, I hope, call attention to ground and buildings now at the absolute disposal of the Government, and a view of the places would be far better than a long letter.

THE BOARD OF MEDICAL VISITORS to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sydney, 30 November, 1865.

SIR,

We would beg to suggest, for your consideration, that it would be advisable if a small sum of money were granted annually to each Lunatic Asylum, for the floral ornamentation of the yards which are occupied by the quiet and convalescent patients. There is one yard at Parramatta Asylum which shews what might be done in this way. And we would also strongly recommend that a small pecuniary reward should be given to the man Dixon, who, by his own industry and good taste has so much improved the appearance of the yard alluded to. We are of opinion that the money would be well expended in this manner.

Could Mr. Moore, Director of the Gardens, give any aid in this matter, or any suggestions for carrying out what seems very desirable?

MEMO.—Since I received the accompanying communication, I have made inquiries relative to the extent and capabilities of the gardens connected with the two Lunatic Asylums, and learn that, although limited in these respects, they are capable of improvement; yet, so far as the mere floral ornamentation is concerned, a small sum would suffice to cover the annual expense of cultivating such plants as would be required for this purpose; and I should at all times be glad to furnish—as I have already done—for the grounds of these Asylums, such flowering plants as could be spared from this establishment.

SIR,

Referring to the letter signed George H. Alloway and James C. Cox, addressed to the Hon. the Colonial Secretary, suggesting the advisability of granting annually a small sum of money for the floral ornamentation of the yards of each of the Lunatic Asylums, I have the honor to state, that if it had been found practicable to cultivate flowers and shrubs in any of the airing courts of this Asylum, this and other modes of ornamentation would have been carried out many years ago, without troubling the Government with such small details of my general plan of contributing, from every available source, all that is needful and pleasant to the inmates of the establishment.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 27 December, 1865.

SIR,

In acknowledging the receipt of your report of the 20th instant, upon a communication from Drs. Alloway and Cox, recommending the granting of a small sum annually to each Lunatic Asylum, for the floral ornamentation of the yards occupied by the quiet and convalescent patients, I am directed to inform you that the Colonial Secretary thinks that the mode you have adopted in dealing with a suggestion from the Board of Visitors is highly improper, and Mr. Cowper trusts you will not be so unwise as to throw difficulties in the way of suggestions made for the improvement of the institution under your superintendence.

2. It is Mr. Cowper's intention, at a very early period, to issue instructions for the guidance of the Board of Visitors lately appointed, giving powers to enable them to exercise functions for making them more useful as Visitors.

LUNATIC ASYLUMS.

BOARD OF VISITORS, LUNATIC ASYLUMS, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

SIR,

The Board have had under consideration a report of the interview which the President and the two medical members had with you on the morning of the 26th ultimo, and the result has been an unanimous desire on the part of the Board, that a formal communication should be made to you upon the following matters, which, in their opinion, seriously affect the interest of the Institution placed under their inspection, and the ability of the Board to render that inspection practically beneficial.

I. The Board desire, in the first place, to call attention to various matters which have from time to time formed the subject of recommendations in reference to the condition and management of the Asylum at Tarban Creek.

1st. The overcrowded state of the Asylum. This, the great defect in the Institution, until the removal of which nothing can be done in the way of permanent improvement, was brought under the notice of the late Colonial Secretary, in a letter dated the 23rd December, 1865, within three weeks after the appointment of the Board, and again pressed upon his consideration at a personal interview early in January last, and has since been the subject of repeated complaint. The Board would refer to their weekly reports of 25th January, 3rd March, and 13th of March, and more particularly to their General Report of 24th February, and their letter of 1st March, all of this year. From their letter of 1st March, the following is an extract:—"It is absolutely necessary that immediate steps be taken to relieve the Asylum of a large number of the present inmates. The risk of some great disaster arising from the continuance of the present overcrowded condition of buildings but imperfectly ventilated, is too grave to justify the Board in abstaining from pressing it on your attention, and we do not feel satisfied with the reflection that the consequences of this overcrowding have hitherto been confined to the aggravation of most of the defects mentioned in the Board's reports recently transmitted." These repeated representations, on the part of the Board, have as yet been productive of no apparent result. The Asylum at Tarban is still frightfully overcrowded; indeed the evil has increased to such an extent, as to do away with a great portion of the benefit which might otherwise be derived from the Institution.

2nd. The deficiency of proper day room accommodation. This subject was brought under notice by the Board's report of the 24th February, but the deficiency still continues.

3rd. The state of the airing courts, especially in reference to drainage. This was noticed in the Board's weekly report of 25th January, and was particularly mentioned in the report of 24th February; the evil, however, remains unremedied. The airing courts have still the appearance of prison yards, and are as badly drained as ever; one of them in particular, during the recent heavy rain, became almost unfit for use, as, instead of being turfed or paved, it is covered with a mixture of clay, gravel, and large stones—the consequence of which is that the patients in wet weather are up to their ankles in mud, and the more mischievous amongst them have the means, which they occasionally use, of injuring the attendants by means of the stones which they extract from the ground.

4th. The offensive condition of the water-closets. This nuisance, alike subversive of comfort and injurious to health, was noticed in the Board's report of 24th February, and has proved the subject of frequent remonstrance, both in the time of the late Colonial Secretary and since, but notwithstanding it is not in the slightest degree abated; to use the language of the Superintendent, "the exhalations constantly reeking in a greater or less degree from them, pervade every part of the building, and are always offensively perceptible to the smell."

5th. The want of proper appliances for washing generally, and also for bathing. This was also one of the subjects noticed in the Board's report of 24th February. Nothing has, however, been done to remedy the defect. In No. 1 ward there is no washing place at all, and the patients wash themselves in the yard, winter as well as summer.

6th. The very defective accommodation provided for the attendants. To this the Board drew attention in their report of 24th February; but no relief has as yet been afforded to a class of persons who, in the opinion of the Board, are deserving of greater consideration than they have hitherto received. As intimately connected with this matter may be noticed the acknowledged inadequacy in point of numbers of the staff of attendants, there being only at present one to every fourteen male inmates.

7th. The Board also submitted for consideration in their general report of 24th February, the necessity of affording to the patients additional means of amusement and recreation. Some steps have apparently been taken in reference to this matter, but the condition of the patients hitherto has been practically but little improved, especially as regards cheerful employment in the open air.

8th. The total want of any provision for affording to the patients the consolation derivable from the ministrations of religion. This was noticed in the Board's General Report of 24th February, but no change has been made in this respect for the better, although although it is universally admitted that religious worship is one of the recent innovations in the right direction which have marked the introduction of the humane system of treating lunatics, and that its effects are in many instances beneficial and conducive to the recovery of patients.

The Board would respectfully but firmly point out, as the result of the foregoing statement, that there are actually eight important matters connected with the condition and management of the Tarban Asylum, which the Board, from an anxious desire to effect some practical improvement, have repeatedly pressed upon the attention of the Government, and that in not one instance can it be said that anything has been really done to remove the evil or (except in one instance partially) to remedy the defect complained of. The result is, that the Board are placed in the position of being witnesses of a state of things at variance with their views of the proper condition and due management of the Institution placed under their inspection, and this state of things continues notwithstanding representations which they have repeatedly made in compliance with the instructions under which they act.

II. The Board desire in the next place to direct attention to the difficulty which at present exists in the way of their rendering their inspection conducive to the maintenance of the Asylums, even in their present condition. In the course of their visits, the Board have often had occasion to observe wants of repair in the buildings, defective supplies of articles needful for the Institutions, and other matters requiring immediate attention. These have been noticed in their weekly reports and otherwise, but the notice has not been productive of any result. The visits of the Board are thus continued in the face of deficiencies which they ought to report, but the reporting of which has proved useless. The following are instances of the matters referred to:—

1. On the 25th of January last, the visitors specially reported, "The floors of several of the sleeping apartments in the eastern wing of No. 2, on the female side, require immediate attention, on account of their state of disrepair."

Again on the 1st of March, the Board wrote, "Nothing has yet been done with reference to the repair of the floors in some of the sleeping apartments on the female side." On the seventh instant nothing had been done.

2. Some of the medicines mentioned in a requisition sent in July 1865, had not been supplied on the 3rd of March last.

3. In January last a requisition was sent for 700 pairs of men's boots. On 16th June, only 334 pairs had been received, and as 100 were of a small size many of the patients were barefooted.

4. On the 4th of June, a requisition was sent to desire the contractor to empty three of the water-closets, but no attention was given to the matter for three weeks.

In such cases as those just instanced, the Board painfully feel the difficulty of their position, from the want of means at their disposal to prevent the serious inconvenience involved in the omission to deal at once with the matter of complaint. They, therefore, submit that some plan should be devised to enable the ordinary and current wants of the Institutions to be at once supplied, either through the authority of the Board, or otherwise, so as to prevent the annoyance and discomfort attendant on the continuance of a state of things such as that which has been described. This, they venture to suggest, might be accomplished by authorizing the Superintendent to make requisitions for necessary articles urgently needed, or for repairs of a trifling nature—such requisitions to be approved by the Board, and signed by the President. Under an arrangement of this kind, if any particular requisition could not at once be complied with, the head of the department to which that requisition had been sent, might be instructed to write to the President of the Board, and communicate the cause of delay.

III. The Board desire also to draw attention to a matter which though not perhaps falling strictly within their line of duty is so intimately connected with it as to justify the present reference. It is submitted that plans of improvement connected with the Institutions placed under the inspection of the Board ought not to be resolved upon without some communication and consultation with the Board. This would appear especially reasonable in reference to the Medical Members of the Board, whose opinions and advice may be naturally expected to be of value upon such subjects. And even, as to the Board in general, it is respectfully submitted that it is unnecessarily discouraging to the members, in the discharge of their duties, to find that plans have been considered and resolved upon, of which they disapprove, without any opportunity having been afforded of bringing their views under the notice of those by whom these alterations are being carried out. The Board feel the more justified in adverting to this matter, as the late Colonial Secretary assured them that nothing of importance, in the way of change, should take place without the Board being consulted upon the subject. In illustration of the view now submitted may be mentioned the plan of the intended temporary depôt, at Darlinghurst, for persons supposed to be insane, while the necessary steps are being taken for sending them to the Lunatic Asylums. This plan was communicated to the President, and the two Medical Members of the Board, in the interview already referred to, as a matter resolved on by the Government. The Board however would have been desirous, before any such resolution had been arrived at, to have submitted the views of the Medical Members, who entertain a decided opinion that the plan of having the proposed establishment attached to the Infirmary, possesses greater advantages than the one resolved upon. The public are unanimous in condemning the present plan of sending persons who are insane, or suspected of being so, to the Gaol, and they fear that the close vicinity of the proposed building to the Gaol, as well as the fact stated at the interview, that a part at least of the attendants are to be drawn from amongst the warders, will so far connect the two Institutions, as to render this equally distasteful as the old plan. And further, they do not consider that the ordinary training and duties of prison warders in any way fit them for attendance upon lunatics. They think that, among the advantages attendant upon having alleged lunatics sent to the Infirmary, may be reckoned, the probability that the relations of persons in this state would prefer having them sent to an Institution which offers ample guarantee for their safety and kind treatment, together with the benefit of medical supervision night and day, and skilled attendance equal in amount to any exigency that might arise. And further, although the matter of finance is not directly in their department, yet, considering that it is so indirectly, inasmuch as most pressing defects in the Lunatic Establishments have not yet been remedied, on the ground that funds are deficient,—the Medical Members are impressed with the conviction that an establishment of the kind described to them, would necessitate an expenditure of more than four times the amount of that required for the Infirmary plan, both as to the cost of erection, and also that of working expenses, and they cannot but regret the expenditure of any money more than is actually necessary on a mere depôt where patients would only be retained for a few days, while the permanent Asylums are so deficient.

The Board have thus endeavoured to put you in possession of those matters to which they referred at the commencement of this communication, and having done so, they most respectfully invite your consideration of the same, in order that steps may be taken to remedy the more serious causes of complaint, and generally to render the action of the Board as practically beneficial as possible to the Institutions placed under their inspection.

Sydney, 17th July, 1866.

THE PRESIDENT, LUNATIC ASYLUMS BOARD, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

- Chambers, Elizabeth-street,
Sydney, 4 August, 1866.

SIR,

No official intimation has yet reached me of your having received the last detailed report from the Board of Visitors of the Lunatic Asylums, dated the 17th ultimo. If you have received it, and if you have done the Board, of which I was appointed President on the 5th of December last, the honour to peruse that report, you will not be surprised that I now beg to be permitted to resign the empty appointment which I hold.

I accepted it under the influence of an opinion expressed by your predecessor, Mr. Cowper, that I might by so doing be of service to a class of our fellow creatures entitled to our warmest sympathy. As Mr. Cowper was a practical Minister, well versed in official business, and seemed anxious to carry out the improvements suggested in the admirable Despatch from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies, of the 9th of October, 1865, I believed (as the instructions, which he issued on the 16th of January, for the guidance of the Board, and his promise that a Bill, in many respects similar to the Tasmanian Act should, as soon as possible, be laid before the Legislative Assembly indicated) that the Board would not only possess full power to report to your office upon all matters connected with the condition and management of the Lunatic Asylums, but that its recommendations for the improvement thereof would be attended to. The early removal of Mr. Cowper from office prevented our having an opportunity of testing the sincerity of his professions. On your accession to office, we had no reason to complain of the manner in which you received our complaints and suggestions; you courteously listened, and repeatedly assured us that the evils of which we complained should be remedied.

For my colleagues and myself I must be permitted to say, that during eight months we have zealously endeavoured to perform our duty in accordance with the instructions which your predecessor issued to us. We have punctually visited the Asylum at Tarban once a week, and the Asylum at Parramatta once a month. We have made ourselves acquainted with the cases of the patients, in order that none might be admitted except on legal warrant, and none detained after the state of their minds justified their being discharged. We have inspected every bed and every cell, the privies (miscalled water-closets), the laundries, the kitchens, and the airing yards. We have, as our reports in your office attest, earnestly pressed on your attention the many deficiencies to be noticed in the two Asylums, as compared with similar Institutions in the Mother Country and the Sister Colonies of Tasmania and Victoria, where progressive improvement is being made. I may add, that two days in each week have been devoted to my official duties. Now, what has been the fruit of our care and labour?

According

According to our last report already adverted to, "in not one instance can it be said that anything has been really done to remove the evil or to remedy the defect complained of." The airing courts at Tarban have still the appearance of prison yards, and are still so badly drained, that in one or two of them the patients in wet weather are up to their ankles in mud. The disgusting state of the privies is not in the slightest degree improved since we first called attention to that intolerable nuisance. The appliances for washing the clothes of the patients, and for their bathing, are as defective and unsatisfactory as they were the first day we inspected them. The pavement and floors in some of the wards are still in the same unrepaired and dangerous state as when we first remonstrated on the subject. The overcrowded state of the Asylums,—"the causa et origo" of most of the evils complained of, has become worse than when it attracted the attention of Mr. Cardwell. For then, instead of 1,000 to 1,500 cubic feet of air—the minimum, according to the best authorities in England, which should be allowed to each patient—the 420 patients confined at Tarban enjoyed each about 650 cubic feet; now the 515 confined there have less than 500 cubic feet each. Nothing but the wonderful salubrity of our climate can have hitherto prevented the breaking out of some pestilential distemper. My remonstrances on this point have been totally disregarded. Mr. Cowper had promised that 150 of the patients who were not dangerous lunatics, but imbecile and epileptic, should be removed to the old Military Barracks at Parramatta. Nearly five months ago, when explaining to me why that arrangement could not be carried out, you, Sir, promised that in six weeks the 150 should be removed to some other locality. The old Sugar Company's buildings at Canterbury, with about twenty acres of land and abundance of fresh water, were offered to the Government for the purpose. For the continuance then of this, the greatest defect of all, you are responsible.

You are aware that, in a religious point of view, the terrible words which the gloomy genius of Dante saw traced over the portal of his Inferno, "lasciate ogni speranza voi che ntrate," may, with truth, be inscribed over the entrance of each of our Lunatic Asylums; for in these places the consolatory influence of religion is unknown. Upon my first visit, I asked for the chapel; I was told there was neither chaplain nor chapel. If there were one fitted up according to the ritual of the Church of England, and another according to that of the Church of Rome, and a chaplain were to have a service, partly choral, in each twice a day without a sermon, many of the unhappy inmates might be allured to enter, and in the revival of the associations of their childhood be raised for an hour, at least, from the dreary monotony and debased sensuality in which at present they pass their existence. Amongst 1,000 lunatics at Tarban and Parramatta, two energetic chaplains might be fully employed. The opportunity of telling their sorrows and trials, partly imaginary though they be, to a clergyman, and listening to pious counsel conveyed in accents of kindness, would in all cases have a soothing tendency—in some might be highly conducive to recovery. The very great proportion of males to females, nearly two to one, may lead us to suspect that the loss of reason has in many instances been occasioned by the absence of all religious restraint, and consequent indulgence in drinking, and the gratification of the worst passions of our fallen nature.

To visit every week such scenes of wretchedness and irreligion, for the purpose of narrowly inspecting all that is loathsome, without the power of rendering that inspection practically beneficial to the unhappy lunatics, is a task to which I feel myself no longer equal. If the letters and reports of the Board were punctually acknowledged; if our remonstrances had the desired effect; if I could demand from the head of a department to which a requisition had been made for necessary articles urgently needed, or for trifling repairs essential to comfort, an explanation of the cause of unexpected delay in complying with the requisition; a sense of duty arising out of the knowledge that I was useful might induce me to retain a disagreeable office. But I have before me documentary evidence that the present Superintendent of the Asylum at Tarban (who is certainly entitled to the highest pension the Government of New South Wales can bestow), and successive Boards of Visitors, have during the last fifteen years suggested the same improvements as we now suggest (the introduction of religious worship excepted, that being one of the most recent innovations of the humane system), and have made the same remonstrances to as little purpose as we are making them now: e.g., the Board of Visitors in July, 1854, complain "that the repeated suggestions of former Boards, relative to the overcrowded state of the Asylums have not yet been attended to— that the airing yards have never been paved—that the flooring in one of the dormitories is loose, and requires immediate repair" (probably one of the very dormitories as to which we have repeatedly made the same complaint.) And, again in January, 1860, the Board suggesting a better mode of construction for the water-closets, write: "We record our protest against the existing evils of the old part of the building being reproduced in the new." The appointment of Boards of Visitors has therefore signally failed of effecting the desired improvement, seeing that successive Boards have been compelled to witness a state of things utterly at variance with their conceptions of the proper condition and management of the Asylums placed under their inspection, without being able to do more than place on record futile remonstrances and impotent protests.

The difficulty of my position has been aggravated by your disregard of the promise made by Mr. Cowper, that nothing in the way of change should be ordered until the subject had been submitted for the consideration of the Board; by your resolving upon plans of which the Board, especially the Medical Members disapprove, by your not consulting us at all on the subject of expenditure, nor on the appointment of a successor of the late lamented Dr. Greenup, whose death there is reason to suspect, was unhappily the result of your neglecting a strong remonstrance on our part, against the lax practice which prevails of sending to the Parramatta Asylum troublesome criminals from the gaols; goals; by your requesting that each separate matter noticed in the Board's reports, "be made the subject of a separate communication," which compelled me on the 27th ultimo, to write six letters instead of one, and which would impose on me the task of writing on an average that number every week; and lastly, by your proceeding to the Parramatta Asylum, as appears by a semi-official report in to-day's Herald, without giving me any notice of your intention, and with a too evident design of making political capital by arrogating to yourself all the merit of any improvements in the condition and management of that Institution, and ignoring the labours and reports of the Board of Visitors.

To work such an Act as the Tasmanian Act, there must be two paid Commissioners of Lunacy, a Barrister, and a Physician. A judicious and energetic Commissioner of Lunacy, during the last eight months, instead of wasting his time in writing letters and reports, with a couple of carpenters and stonemasons, could have executed all the repairs which have formed the subject of so many reports and remonstrances from the Board (fruitless, inasmuch as the repairs have not been executed)—could have erected, at a cost of £500, the baths on the Parramatta River, which are estimated to cost £1,200—could have turfed and drained the airing courts at a cost of £1,000, the paving of which, it is estimated, will cost £8,000. Finally, by expending £25,000, he could render the present two Asylums capable of containing 850 patients comfortably, and provide buildings and fields for the reception of those who are not dangerous lunatics, instead of expending £150,000 at least on the erection, as is proposed, of two new Asylums.

I have requested Dr. Alloway to act until the appointment of another President, and I shall send the official box and papers to Dr. Cox's residence in Phillip-street, where the Board usually meet.

I have, &c.,
CH. CAMPBELL.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10 August, 1866.

SIR,

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th instant, resigning your appointment as member of the Board of Visitors to the Lunatic Asylums, of which you also held the office of President.

In accepting your resignation, Mr. Parkes wishes me to convey to you the thanks of the Government for your attention to the duties that devolved upon you, and which it is fully admitted were of an uninviting, and often of a painful character. At the same time it is to be regretted that you should have indulged in terms of abuse against the Government, which it is difficult to understand, except as proceeding from an entire misconception of the circumstances of which you speak.

I have, &c.,

13 August, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge your letter of the 10th instant, in reply to mine of the 4th, by which I resigned my appointment in connection with the Board of Visitors of Lunatic Asylums.

I have also to express my sense of the courtesy of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary in desiring you "to convey to me the thanks of the Government for my attention to the duties that devolved upon me," but I must demur to the proposition in the concluding paragraph of your letter "that I have indulged in terms of abuse against the Government."

My letter, it is true, was an angry comment on the studied neglect which the remonstrances and reports of the Board had met with at your office, especially their minute and particular report of the 17th ultimo, (the receipt of which has not even yet been acknowledged), and in complaining of the course pursued by the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, I may have used words unnecessarily harsh and not sufficiently respectful towards that Minister; but I humbly submit that nothing but a "misconception" of their meaning could torture them into "terms of abuse" (i.e. rude and reviling words) "against the Government."

I am aware that the time of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary must be too valuable to admit of a portion of it being devoted to a logomachy of this nature; but I cannot, by abstaining from reply, apparently admit the justice of your placing me in the category of those who "are not afraid to speak evil of dignities"—οὐδὲν οὐ τρεμοῦσι βλασφημοῦντες.

I have, &c.,
CH. CAMPBELL.

No. 1.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY to THE HON. E. DEAS THOMSON, C.B.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 29 June, 1866.

DEAR SIR,

This morning I was waited upon by Mr. Edward Flood and the Master of the ship "Queen of Nations," to represent to me the state of things explained below.

About three weeks ago, a youth named David Gibson, belonging to the "Queen of Nations," was, at the instance of Mr. Flood, taken to the Infirmary, being at the time very ill. Mr. Flood, in company of Captain Mitchell, called at the Infirmary this morning, to see this youth, when, to use Mr. Flood's words, they found him "in a very filthy state, and swarming with vermin." At their request I accompanied them to the Infirmary, and Gibson, who is an inmate of No. 1 Ward, is certainly in the miserable state described by Mr. Flood.

I had not time to go over the establishment, but the wardsman in charge of this ward admits that other of the patients are in a similar state of filth to that of the unfortunate boy Gibson.

It seems to me impossible that the Directors can be aware of this state of things, and it is impossible to believe that it will be allowed to continue.

I am, &c.,
HENRY PARKES.

No. 2.

THE HON. E. DEAS THOMSON to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Barham, 30 June, 1866.

DEAR SIR,

On receipt of your letter of yesterday, I visited the Infirmary, and saw the boy Gibson. I also called upon the Resident Surgeon to report upon the case, and I enclose a copy of the letter which he has addressed to me on the subject. As I do not consider his explanation satisfactory, it is my intention to bring the matter under the consideration of the Board of Directors at its next meeting, which will be held on Tuesday next.

I have also informed the Visiting Committee, and requested them to make any inquiry on the subject which they may deem necessary or expedient.

Yours, &c.,
E. DEAS THOMSON.

[Enclosure in No. 2.]

The Resident Surgeon to The Hon. E. Deas Thomson.

Infirmary, 29 June, 1866.

Sir,

In reference to the Colonial Secretary's letter (herewith returned), I beg to state that my attention was called by Mr. Flood, this morning, to the condition of the boy Gibson; and that I was very much surprised—as I see and speak to him every day—to find him in such a state. As he is extremely prostrate, and cannot be much moved, it is very difficult to keep him as clean as he should be. On inquiry, I find the acting wardsman (the proper wardsman being unwell), without informing the Matron that one or two of the patients were attacked with vermin, and obtaining the necessary assistance, has been endeavouring to keep the ward and patients in a clean and proper condition unaided, and has so far succeeded that, with the exception of Gibson, all the other patients are at present clean.

To show the almost impossibility of keeping No. 1 Ward clean, I would beg to call your particular attention to the fact that all the old men—the destitute and the incurable—brought from the roads and streets by the police, are put into it. As a majority of these will not remain in the Asylum, or cannot obtain admission to it, they are brought here; and as some of these are almost moribund, although exceedingly filthy, they are obliged to be put into bed at once without the necessary ablution.

While this continues, you will perceive that it requires the greatest attention to keep the place even as clean as it is. I am happy to state that the other wards will bear the closest scrutiny.

I remain, &c.,
J. W. HOUSTON,
Resident Surgeon.

THE HONORARY SURGEONS OF THE INFIRMARY to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sydney, 10 July, 1866.

SIR,

Having had our attention drawn to the case of the boy David Gibson, who died in the Sydney Infirmary, under circumstances which induced you to visit that institution, we feel called upon to state our opinion that the condition in which he was found arose from the absence of efficient nursing.

We deeply regret that the patients are only supplied with a limited amount of uneducated attendance, and that the supervision and care of trained nurses is not provided for them.

This important subject has for many years occupied our anxious attention, and been reported upon by us to the Board of Directors several times during the last five years.

In the hope that it may be in your power to assist the Directors, in taking immediate steps to establish an efficient system of educated supervising nurses, with trained assistants, we beg to lay before you the accompanying extracts from the two latest of the reports alluded to.

EXTRACT from a letter from the Honorary Secretary to the Medical Staff of the Sydney Infirmary to the Honorary Secretary of that Institution, dated December, 1864.

"I am requested by the Honorary Medical Staff to state that the inefficiency of the sick attendants, and the defective arrangements for dieting the patients, have for many years occupied their most serious attention, and have been the greatest obstacles against which they have had to contend in the treatment of the sick inmates. In a series of resolutions forwarded to the Committee on 7th September, 1857, the Honorary Medical Officers recommended a more efficient system of nursing, and in the year 1860 they submitted to the Directors a second special and detailed report urging the appointment of three trained supervising nurses or sisters, and the employment under them of suitable women as day and night nurses.

"The Honorary Medical Officers beg now to recommend—

"1. That three trained sisters or head nurses (one to superintend the women's wards, and two for the superintendence of the men's wards) be procured from the Council of the Nightingale Fund, established for the education and training of hospital and sick nurses. The duties of these sisters would be to attend upon the Medical Officers in their visits to the patients, receiving instructions as to diet, medicines, special nursing and applications, &c., the careful watching of urgent cases of operation, illness, or accident, and the prompt report of serious symptoms to the House Surgeon. They would also have a general charge of the wards under their supervision, as to cleanliness, order, ventilation, &c., and be responsible that all directions with reference to the treatment of the sick were strictly carried out.

"2. That acting under the supervision of the sisters, there should be one day nurse and one night nurse for every twenty patients, and that no person should be so employed who cannot read and write.

"3. That the House Surgeon should have no other duties imposed on him than the medical treatment of the patients in the absence of the Honorary Medical Officers, and the carrying out of their instructions."

EXTRACT

EXTRACT from a report of the Honorary Medical Officers of the Sydney Infirmary to the Board of Directors of that Institution, dated October, 1865.

"In reference to the important subjects of nursing and diet, we deeply regret that the Directors have been unable to carry out the repeated suggestions made by us during several years past; and that the diet scale recommended in the year 1860 was not placed on the records of the institution. We feel it our duty on this occasion again to urge the extreme importance of efficiency in these departments.

"We believe that the utmost which can be done under the present system is now accomplished; and that credit is due to the Matron for energy and kindness in the performance of her duties; but we have again to state, that the principles upon which both the nursing and diet are now conducted are essentially wrong, and being founded upon the military system which was in vogue seventy years since, have long been unsuited to the present modified institution. It has been only owing to the management and active control of the Matron, that the limited degree of comfort, &c., at present enjoyed by the patients, has been obtained.

"We trust it will be borne in mind that, in urging the immediate adoption (as we do most emphatically) of a complete change in the mode of nursing, diet, &c., we do not suggest anything which is new or untried. On the contrary, we have been careful to adopt in our reports most simple as well as most economical arrangements, which have been in use for many years in the well-conducted hospitals in Great Britain, where they are deemed essential necessities. We have at the same time endeavoured to adapt them to the simple requirements and limited means of a Colony, without curtailing their efficiency.

"We trust, therefore, that the Directors will feel it their duty to place the institution on a footing with hospitals of the same size in Great Britain, and afford its honorary staff those advantages and necessary accessories in the treatment of disease which their brethren in Europe possess. It is necessary to bear in mind that no suitable system of hospital diet can be efficiently carried out without an efficient and educated nursing staff, such as that now recommended, and suggested in our report dated December, 1864."

JOINT HON. SECRETARY, SYDNEY INFIRMARY, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.
Sydney Infirmary and Dispensary,
15 August, 1866.

SIR,
I have been desired by the Board of Directors of this Institution to forward to you, herewith, copies of the Reports of the House Visiting Committee of this Institution, relative to the case of the unfortunate boy Gibson, who died in the Infirmary, together with the House Surgeon's Report, and letters from Captain Mitchell and Messrs. Montefiore and Joseph.

I have, &c.,
JOHN DOUGALL,
Joint Hon. Secretary.

MESSRS. MONTEFIORE, JOSEPH & Co. to THE PRESIDENT, SYDNEY INFIRMARY.
O'Connell Street,
Sydney, 6 July, 1866.

SIR,
As President of the Sydney Infirmary, we beg to wait on you, enclosed with a statement of facts, to which we beg most respectfully to call your attention. During a long experience in the Colony, we have never heard of disclosures more disgraceful to a public Institution; and, from your well-known earnestness and charity, we are certain, the facts being made known to you, will prevent their recurrence in future.

We have, &c.,
MONTEFIORE, JOSEPH & CO.

CAPTAIN MITCHELL to MESSRS. MONTEFIORE, JOSEPH & Co.
Sydney, 2 July, 1866.

DEAR SIRS,
As agents of my vessel, the "Queen of Nations," I think it my duty to disclose to you the following facts which came under my notice, and which you are at liberty to use in a public manner, should you deem it either advisable or expedient to do so.

Shortly after the arrival of my vessel in harbour, I sent for Dr. Shaw, of Lower George Street, to attend one of my boys, named David Gibson; and after prescribing and administering medicine to the lad for a period of about a week without conquering the disease, we consulted together, and thought that more quiet would be afforded by removing Gibson to the Infirmary, than could possibly be had on board ship; and, as you are aware, I procured from your Jacob L. Montefiore an order for his admission to that Institution on the 6th ultimo, he guaranteeing the payment of the usual daily charge; on which day I was informed, on applying for admission, that the whole of the beds were occupied, occupied, but to call again some other time. From the 6th to the 9th I called several times a day with no better success, which delay I think was prejudicial to the health of the boy, considering the extremely weak state he was in. On the 9th ultimo I happened to mention the circumstance to Mr. Edward Flood, who at once took an interest in the matter, and had the boy conveyed to the Infirmary, in his carriage, and waited a considerable time before we could prevail on the officials to afford room. Since his admission I have called at least every second day to see the boy. On the days I could not (from other engagements) call, I sent my steward, who, on some occasions, was refused admittance. On Thursday the 20th June, being a public visiting day, the steward saw the lad, and found him in a very filthy state. He (the steward) asked some persons in connection with the Infirmary why the lad was in that state, and in answer to such inquiry was told to mind his own business.

I made it my duty, after hearing the foregoing, to acquaint Mr. E. Flood of the same. This I did on Friday morning, the 29th. That gentleman kindly went at once to the Infirmary with me, and, to our astonishment, found the boy covered with vermin. We acquainted the House Surgeon with the fact, who said he was not aware that such was the case until pointed out to him. Mr. Flood and myself (the same morning) waited on the Colonial Secretary (Mr. Parkes), who, although he was busy at the time, went at once with us to the Infirmary, and found the boy in the state I have described.

On Saturday the 30th June the boy died at the Institution, and I feel myself called upon to say that (with others) I am of opinion the presence of vermin and the dirty state of his dress hurried the lad's decease. I have never seen (although I have travelled over a great part of the world, and visited many different ports) or heard of such carelessness in any Institution of a similar nature.

Trusting you will see with whom this neglect lies, although it can now do the poor boy no good, still others who may be admitted to the Institution at a future period, perhaps destitute of friends, may have the benefit of an inquiry into this case,—

I am, &c.,

THOMAS MITCHELL.

P.S.—I may add, the boy left my vessel in a perfectly clean state, and was always so whilst under my charge.

THE PRESIDENT, SYDNEY INFIRMARY, to MESSRS. MONTEFIORE, JOSEPH & Co.

Barham, 7 July, 1866.

GENTLEMEN,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of yesterday, forwarding a complaint from the master of the ship "Queen of the Nations," in respect to the treatment in the Infirmary of a boy named Gibson, formerly belonging to that ship; and, in reply, to inform you that the case of this boy is at present undergoing a searching investigation by order of the Board of Directors, in consequence of a representation on the subject which was made to me by the Colonial Secretary.

I will take the earliest opportunity of bringing your letter and its enclosure under the consideration of the Board.

I have, &c.,

E. DEAS THOMSON,

President.

SPECIAL MEETING of the House Visiting Committee, held Saturday, 30th June, 1866, in consequence of a letter from the Hon. E. Deas Thomson, calling attention to a complaint made by the Colonial Secretary as to the filthy state of one of the patients named Gibson.

PRESENT:—

Mr. W. M. Alderson,
Rev. J. Dwyer,

Mr. J. H. Goodlet,
Mr. Alexander Dick.

The letter of the Colonial Secretary was called for, but it appeared to have been sent by the House Surgeon, together with his Report, to the President.

The House Surgeon stated, to the best of his recollection, the purport of his Report.

The Committee then adjourned to No. 1 Ward, to see the patient, who was found to be in such a weak state that it was not thought desirable to question him. The Rev. W. Allworth was in attendance. From inquiries, it appeared that the patient was in such a weak condition when he was admitted, that it was impossible he could receive the usual treatment for cleansing patients, that an ointment had been applied for the purpose of destroying the vermin, which no doubt had disturbed them, and led to two or three being seen by Mr. Flood; but the Committee were satisfied that, considering the delicate state of the patient, all had been done that could have been prudently done to one evidently on the brink of the grave.

The Rev. W. Allworth, the English clergyman in attendance, said he had frequently seen the patient, who had never made any complaint, and that he was ready to vouch that he had in every way experienced the kindest of treatment.

ALEXANDER DICK.

(For House Visiting Committee for the fortnight ending 9th July, 1866.)
July 3rd, 1866.

THE RESIDENT SURGEON to THE PRESIDENT, SYDNEY INFIRMARY.

Infirmary, 29 June, 1866.

SIR,

In reference to the Colonial Secretary's letter* (herewith returned), I beg to state that my attention was called by Mr. Flood, this morning, to the condition of the boy Gibson, and that I was very much surprised, as I see and speak to him every day, to find him in such a state. As he is extremely prostrate, and cannot be much moved, it is very difficult to keep him as clean as he should be.

On inquiry, I find the acting wardman (the proper wardman being unwell), without informing the Matron that one or two of the patients were attacked with vermin, and obtaining the necessary assistance, has been endeavouring to keep the ward and patients in a clean and proper condition, unaided, and has so far succeeded that, with the exception of Gibson, all the other patients are at present clean.

To show the almost impossibility of keeping No. 1 Ward clean, I would beg to call your particular attention to the fact that all the old men, the destitute and the incurable brought from the roads or streets by the police, are put into it. As a majority of these will not remain in the Asylum, or cannot obtain admission to it, they are brought here; and as some of these are almost moribund, although exceedingly filthy, they are obliged to be put into bed at once without the necessary ablution.

While this continues, you will perceive that it requires the greatest attention to keep the place even as clean as it is. I am happy to say that the other wards will bear the closest scrutiny.

I remain, &c.,

H. HOUSTON,
Resident Surgeon.

REPORT of the House Visiting Committee (for the fortnight ending 9th July).

Mr. Alderson,	Mr. Goodlet,
Rev. J. Dwyer,	Mr. Dick.

(To whom were referred the Colonial Secretary's letter and Captain Mitchell's complaint.) THE House Visiting Committee convened a meeting for Thursday, the 13th instant, and requested the attendance of Mr. Flood, Captain Mitchell, and his steward, also Dr. Renwick, the Honorary Physician who attended the boy Gibson. From the evidence then taken, the statement contained in Captain Mitchell's letter (since handed to the Committee) appears generally to have been borne out, the only discrepancy being that the ship's steward is mistaken in saying that "he asked some persons in connection with the Infirmary why the lad was in that state, and in answer to that inquiry, was told to mind his own business." This is not correct. Every person in the service of the Institution has been pointed out to the steward, and he has been unable to identify the party to whom he spoke. If, therefore, such a reply was given, it must have been by some party who on that day was a visitor, and not by one of the servants.

It appears clear, as well from the evidence of Captain Mitchell and his steward, as the messenger who gave Gibson his bath and cut his hair on his admission, that the boy was in a perfectly clean state when admitted, and that on the Thursday, eighteen days after admission, when the steward first noticed the vermin, and the Friday, when Mr. Flood, Mr. Parkes, and others visited the boy, he was in a very filthy state with vermin. The steward, who regularly visited the lad, however, states that on the previous Sunday he and the mate sat by the bed, and conversed for some time with the patient, who expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the treatment, care, and attention he had received, and that up to that time, he (the steward) saw no ground of complaint in any way.

Whatever vermin were seen on the Thursday and Friday must have first come upon his person since the previous Sunday. The steward distinctly states that he must have been clean on that day, as he sat so very close to him that he must have noticed any vermin, if there had been any at that time.

In explanation of how he came to be in that state,—Dr. Renwick, who is one of the most punctual of the medical officers, states that he saw the patient every day, and, of course, on the morning of the Thursday referred to about 9 a.m., and he did not then notice any vermin.

He also adds that he has known cases where patients in a low and weak condition, in the most cleanly houses, being quite free from vermin, were covered with them in twenty-four hours.

The acting wardman who was on duty in place of the regular wardman (who was ill), states that he first noticed the vermin on Thursday morning, and he asked the sick wardman what he was to do, when he was directed to rub some mercurial ointment in the head, which he did; and this, it appears, from the evidence of the Doctor, House Surgeon, and Matron, had the effect of killing, and at the same time, disturbing and distributing the vermin, so that they could readily be seen.

The next morning (Friday), the patient, who was in a very low state, had not been washed by the time Mr. Flood and Mr. Parkes arrived. The vermin that had been disturbed, therefore, were still to be seen, but most of them were dead. The Committee are by no means satisfied with this explanation, and they consider the acting wardman must have been guilty of gross inattention to have permitted the patient to get in that state; and, being in many other respects quite unfitted for the duties he has to perform, the Committee recommend that he should be dismissed.

It must always be the duty of the wardsmen to see to the cleanliness of the patients. A physician who prescribes for a sore foot will not examine the head; nor can this be expected from the House Surgeon or Matron; but it does seem incredible that the lad should have been in the state represented, without being noticed by Dr. Renwick, who, as before stated, saw the patient every morning, unless it is to be accounted for as suggested by him.

The evidence discloses facts with reference to the general issue of clean linen, the system of nursing, and the general management, for the thoughtful consideration of the Directors. But one matter in reference to this case cannot be passed over. The fact that a patient should have been nearly three weeks in the Infirmary, and that the wardsmen could not tell what clean linen he had received, shews either a very lax system, or that the wardsmen was a singularly inattentive and forgetful person. The wardsmen stated it was possible that the lad may not have had a clean night-cap during all the time he had been in the ward!—"he could not tell,"—he "kept no account,"—he "believed, on account of the rain, there were no night-caps, although he asked for them." The girl who gives out the clothes says that the wardsmen never asked for any night-caps; and Mrs. Ghost says that the wardsmen is mistaken,—that the boy had several night-caps, and he repeatedly had his bed-clothes changed several times in a day. These contradictions could not occur if a regular system was pursued in the matter of giving out linen.

The Committee desire to call the attention of the Directors to the necessity for obtaining an improved system of nursing, by the employment of women, who are more attentive, far more reliable, kinder, and in every respect better qualified to discharge the duties of nurses.

Notwithstanding that the case under consideration is a very gross one, and the statement of the wardsmen to the Colonial Secretary that two or three other patients had vermin, the Committee distinctly state that it is altogether an exceptional one, and that while in many respects there is room for improvement, and improvements are daily being made, they can challenge competition for general cleanliness with any other similar Institution.

In conclusion, the Committee think that they can scarcely deal fairly with the Institution without adverting to one circumstance, which, while they may not be justified in putting it forward as the proximate cause of the boy's condition, certainly may have more or less led to it, and that in spite of all but extraordinary caution. The circumstance alluded to is this:—When the boy was received, it was into the only ward which contained a vacant bed. Into this ward, owing to there being no Institution for the reception of such people, the Board is absolutely compelled to receive any filthy outcast who may be found by the police in the streets, in the last stage of exhaustion, or in fits from the effect of drink, generally in a state totally unfit to undergo the necessary process of cleansing.

It need scarcely be said that the reception of such people is totally foreign to the object of the Institution. It has been for years a matter of sore complaint on the part of the Board; and until the Government or private charity interposes between the Infirmary and such patients (if they may be so called) an Institution adapted to their case, a solitary instance such as has happened may, in the course of years, be expected to occur.

DIRECTORS OF THE SYDNEY INFIRMARY to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sydney, 17 August, 1866.

WE, the undersigned Directors of the Sydney Infirmary, desire to represent to the Government that an inquiry into the present state of that Institution is urgently demanded.

We have reason to believe that such an inquiry will shew that no proper system of books is kept; that the stores are often of inferior quality, and are extensively wasted and misappropriated; that the servants of the establishment are often drunk; that improper practices are permitted among the patients, and between the patients and servants; that numbers of persons reside and are rationed on the premises, who are not on the books either as patients or servants; that the nursing and attendance is very inefficient; and that there is an absence of the necessary regularity and order which ought to exist in such an Institution.

An inquiry was commenced by the House Committee, but from which we felt ourselves compelled to retire, in consequence of the observations that were offered to us by other of the Directors.

JOINT HONORARY SECRETARY, SYDNEY INFIRMARY, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.
 Sydney Infirmary,
 24 August, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor, by desire of the Board of Directors of this Institution, to acknowledge receipt of your communications of 20th August and 22nd August, respectively, in reference to the appointment of a Commission under the great Seal of the Colony, to inquire into the present state of the Sydney Infirmary.

I have further the honor, by their instructions, to forward to you, extract of resolution passed by them at a meeting held this day, 24th August:—

That this Board feels that it has grave cause of complaint against the Government, in the course which it has taken, in issuing a Commission of Inquiry into the state of the Infirmary, without any communication on the subject with this Board, as the body legally appointed to conduct the affairs of the Institution. The Board utterly repudiates the right to such interference on the part of the Government, and resolves to decline furnishing the Commission which has been appointed with the documents demanded; and also further resolves to prohibit any of the servants of the Institution from appearing before the Commission, for the purpose of giving evidence, or for any other purpose, without having the authority of this Board to do so.

I have, &c.,
 JOHN DOUGALL,
 Joint Hon. Secretary, Sydney Infirmary.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 24th instant, embodying a resolution passed by the Directors of the Infirmary, repudiating the right of the Government to interfere with the management of that Institution, declining to furnish necessary documents, and prohibiting the servants from giving information.

Mr. Parkes desires me to express his regret that any body of gentlemen charged with the management of a great Charity, should betray so much indiscretion and intemperate feeling, and to inform you that the inquiry authorized by the Governor in Council must be carried out.

Joint Hon. Secretary, Sydney Infirmary, to The President of the Commission.

Sydney Infirmary,
24 August, 1866.

Rev. and dear Sir,

I am desired by the Board to acknowledge receipt of your communication of 23rd August, and in reply, to forward to you the following copy of resolution passed by them at a meeting held this day (24th August).

That this Board feels that it has grave cause of complaint against the Government, in the course which it has taken, in issuing a Commission of Inquiry into the state of the Infirmary, without any communication on the subject with this Board, as the body legally appointed to conduct the affairs of the Institution.

The Board utterly repudiates the right to such interference on the part of the Government, and resolves to decline furnishing the Commission which has been appointed with the documents demanded, and also further resolves to prohibit any of the servants of the Institution from appearing before the Commission, for the purpose of giving evidence, or for any other purpose, without having the authority of this Board to do so.

I have, &c.,
JOHN DOUGALL,
Joint Honorary Secretary.

It was moved by Mr. R. A. Hunt, and seconded by Mr. A. A. P. Tighe,—That the foregoing correspondence be laid before the Colonial Secretary, with a view to his ascertaining the Attorney General's opinion as to the power of the Directors of the Infirmary to prohibit the officers and servants of that Institution from giving evidence and assisting the inquiry. Carried.

That under present circumstances, it is considered useless to proceed further with the inquiry, and that the meeting do now adjourn sine die. Carried.

No. 9.

OPINION OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

THE course taken by the Board of Directors of the Sydney Infirmary is one which, in my opinion, is well calculated to excite surprise. The business of that Institution is, and has for many years been carried on in public buildings, to which large additions have recently been made at the public cost, and the Institution itself has been for years and is now largely maintained by public funds. I cannot conceive any Institution in which the public have a deeper interest, or one the working of which the Government is more bound to inquire into, when there exist any reasonable grounds to suspect mismanagement or inefficiency. As, however, the Infirmary buildings have been handed over to the Board, the Government have in point of law no direct power to make the inquiry proposed, if the Board object; but it may become a question how far public assistance ought further to be given to an Institution which resists inquiry into what appear to be abuses of a serious character.—J. M.—10th September, 1866.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10 September, 1866.

GENTLEMEN,

Referring to previous correspondence, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary See No. 9. to inform you that, under an opinion that has been obtained from the Attorney General, of which a copy is transmitted herewith, the inquiry into the Sydney Infirmary, by the appointment of Commission under date 22nd August last, will not be proceeded with.

THE JOINT HON. SECRETARY to THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

Sydney Infirmary,
12 September, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor, by direction of the Board of this Institution, to forward herewith the enclosed Memorials, and to request that you will be good enough to lay them before His Excellency the Governor.

I remain, &c.,
M. H. STEPHEN,
Joint Hon. Secretary.

[Enclosures

[Enclosures in No. 11.]

To His Excellency Sir John Young, Bart, K.C.B., and K.C.M.G., Captain General and Governor-in-Chief in and over Her Majesty's Territory of New South Wales, &c., &c., &c.

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

1. The memorial of the Board of Directors of the Sydney Infirmary and Dispensary.
2. That they have received a communication from the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, of 25th August last, in which the course taken by them, in refusing to acknowledge and to afford facilities to a Commission under the Great Seal of the Colony, appointed to inquire into the management of the Institution, is described as exciting surprise and regret, and as a manifestation of indiscretion and intemperate feeling, and further intimated that the Government is determined to prosecute the inquiry, notwithstanding the objection raised by the Board.
3. That the Board of Directors have no desire to evade inquiry into the manner in which the Institution is conducted, but object to the way in which the inquiry has been ordered.
4. That they regard the appointment of a Commission in the summary and dictatorial way in which the one in question was issued, an invasion of their rights as a Board elected by the subscribers to administer the affairs of the Infirmary. They deem such interference in no wise warranted by the relations existing between the Government and the Institution; these relations being simply the contribution from the Legislature of a sum of money equal to that raised by the subscribers, and a payment at a rate agreed upon (being no more than the actual cost) for patients admitted into the Infirmary on the recommendation of the Government.
5. That while the Directors recognise the right of the Government, if dissatisfied with the management of the Institution, to withhold the money hitherto given by them, or to withdraw the patients sent in for treatment, they recognise no more right to interference than would be justifiable on the part of the Government into the affairs of Societies or Institutions similarly assisted by them.
6. That the Board feel aggrieved that the reputation acquired by the Infirmary, under their management for its services in the cause of suffering humanity, should be held so lightly, as that on such representations as originated the Commission, a course so summary and injurious to their self-respect should have been adopted.
7. That the Board further regret that the Government should have thought themselves justified in appointing, as members of that Commission, two gentlemen, who were in effect accusers of the Institution.
8. That the Board of Directors, so far from wishing to obstruct inquiry, court it, as due under the unjust impressions that have been circulated; and assure your Excellency of their perfect readiness to meet, in a proper spirit, advances made to them in a manner consistent with the duty they owe to the subscribers, their constituents, and to themselves; and your memorialists, therefore, beg your Excellency to take the matter under your consideration and direction.

For the Board of Directors,

WM. DUMARESQ,
Chairman.

To His Excellency Sir John Young, Bart., K.C.B., K.C.M.G., Captain General and Governor-in-Chief in and over Her Majesty's Territory of New South Wales, &c., &c.

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Memorialists respectfully desire to inform your Excellency, that they have to-day received a letter from the Colonial Secretary, intimating that the inquiry into the Sydney Infirmary by the appointment of Commission under date 22nd August last, will not be proceeded with, and forwarding an opinion of Her Majesty's Attorney General, to the effect that the Government have, in point of law, no direct power to make the inquiry proposed, if the Board objects.

The position which your Memorialists have taken up with reference to the power of the Government to interfere by directing an inquiry without the consent of the Board, being thus put beyond question, your Memorialists now unreservedly submit themselves to your Excellency's pleasure in the institution of any inquiry that you may deem expedient, and will afford any facilities for its prosecution.

For the Board of Directors,

W. DUMARESQ,
Chairman.

I have the honor further to state, for His Excellency's information, that the evidence given on Wednesday, 15th August, is wanting, the member of the Board who took notes of evidence on this day, instead of the Honorary Secretary, having refused to surrender it, as being his private property.

I remain, &c.,

JOHN DOUGALL,
Joint Honorary Secretary.

Mrs. McCracken also kept a diary; Mrs. Ghost said if she got hold of it she would burn it; saw Mrs. McCracken a month ago drunk while dressing Mrs. Ghost's hair; Watson, charcoal-man, took away old beds to his Chinamen.

It was moved that Mr. Dyer, gate-keeper, be next called in.

—Dyer examined:—I know Mrs. Harrison; I know Dominick, he comes to the Institution twice or thrice a week, brings me sometimes two casks; they come, I suppose, empty; do not know whether they go away full, nor what is in them; have heard pig stuff; have seen several bundles go; the matron told me they were cast off clothing; heard my wife say Dominick said he had enough here to fit out a pawn shop; I see the house-steward up at 7 a.m.; cook receives the meat; matron rose very early; Norah opened the gate to Bennet one night at eleven, never saw them come in together; McCracken opened another night; only our baker, butcher, milkman comes; the house surgeon's sister nephew, boy Wetherall, Catherine Sewel, Mrs. Fry, Bennet's mother, Harry the painter, and Ford live in the house; orders used to be sent for bread, meat, &c., for doctor, during his wife's illness, not since; I have seen Williams, Bennet, Harry the painter, Mason, Mrs. McCracken, Norah, Mrs. Harrison, the worse of liquor; most of them not helplessly, they could keep their legs and take care of themselves and give good evening; Bennet and Norah were only once or twice slightly; when Mrs. Harrison got drunk—she did get drunk—you could hear it all over the premises; she got drunk, at least, twice a year; I saw a roll of calico brought by Norah, and put it in the cart; it was dark, I felt it with my hand.

16th August.

The examination of Sweeny was resumed:—Spoke to no one about my evidence; the chintz bag was used to contain the smaller bags; Mrs. Ghost reprimanded me twice, for carrying private supplies to Mr. Williams; spoke to me four or five times about it; not five separate reprimands; only carried supplies twice; Mrs. Ghost said it might endanger her position and his; said if she were aware of it, she would not allow it.

Here Mr. Dougall asked a question of witness which elicited some discussion. At this stage, Messrs. Dick, Raphael, Coveny, and Manning, retired, after tendering the following protest.

The protest was read to the Committee, who, after some consultation, resolved to proceed with the Inquiry.

Examination

Examination of Sweeny continued:—Mr. Williams said bring me a cup of tea and something to my place once, this was when it was wet, when he had supplies brought to his office; another time he was sick and not at meals with the others; I never knew of things being carried away; have never seen improper conduct among patients or officials; have never seen anything improper between Bennet and Norah; heard that Mrs. Bennet spoke to some of the women about it; steward's tea and sugar were taken to him when busy in his own place, and not able to go to the general table, or when sick; Mrs. Harrison was very bad, she was drunk and disorderly, kicking up rows among the women; very abusive; the girls mentioned that she called them scandalous names; she and Davis kept company; have seen them together at night till 11 o'clock; did not like me, because I would not allow her girls, when she sent them, to take what they liked from the kitchen.

Mr. Williams was called in and examined—(The statements of Mrs. Harrison, in regard to him, were read):—I have regularly received and weighed everything; except when I was blind, then Mrs. Ghost did it; sometimes I have to be out, and Sweeny may do it; I receive them as they come in, then they go into the store; I have no business with them there, I have not the keys of the store; Mrs. Ghost had; Sweeny weighed them out into separate rations under my directions, by list given by me; Mrs. Ghost was always attended to; since Mrs. Ghost's death I have been always there; the meat comes in at 7 a.m., part at 8; I regularly see it come in; I have been a few times absent; I weighed the potatoes about ten days ago; I weighed the coal at the end of last week; I weighed the coals nine times during the last two months, found them twice above weight; I have been twelve years in the house; I use every possible check on the provisions that come in, and on any thing that goes out.

Sweeny called in:—The potatoes might be weighed without my weighing them.

Williams resumed;—Mrs. Ghost has always had a private account at the butcher's, baker's, milkman's, and grocer's; there is just now a bill of £17 against Mrs. Ghost, at Bell's; the servants get rations; there are 12 pounds of meat per week, 12 pounds bread, 7 pounds potatoes, 2 pounds sugar, 6 ounces tea, $\frac{1}{2}$ pound butter, $\frac{1}{2}$ pound soap—candles, condiments, &c., as required; I give an order for everything; the cook is furnished with a ticket similar to that which I supply.

Sweeny called in:—I receive the meat as it first comes in; I weigh the entire meat when it comes; it is always overweight; meat comes to Mrs. Ghost's private account; Mrs. Ghost has sent me several times a week for things to her private account; I never saw Williams take anything.

Williams' examination resumed:—I deny being so late as 8, 9, 10; am generally up at 7, more frequently half-past 5 or 6; I frequently do not get the diet lists from the doctors till 6 p.m. from their late attendance; from this cause I am unable always to have the list for the butcher, and have to send some one with it; on one or two occasions, I have had my wife to tea with me, but always on my own rations; I have sent away any but my own clothes; those were to be washed; the old clothes are given to patients who have none; when very bad they are condemned and burnt; Messrs. Raphael and Stewart inspected some and condemned them; no clothes could be taken away without my knowledge; none would be taken unless condemned; I deny in toto sending to Eliza Williams for brandy; I never drank the patients' brandy.

Eliza Williams, servant in store, called in:—Never got a letter from Williams asking for brandy; never, upon my honour, told Mrs. Harrison so; never heard that the steward takes the patients' brandy; I know Mrs. Harrison; she was unsteady and never had a good word for any one; I have been four years in the house; I was never tipsy.

Mrs. Fry called in:—I never found Eliza Williams with a false key; never said so; never found Eliza tipsy.

Michael Nunan called:—I have carried notes to the store girl; only the usual notes I carry; I carried one to-day; the usual notes about stores; I received no brandy for it.

Williams resumed:—Dominick takes away the kitchen refuse; in the summer we are glad to get rid of it; the fat is used in the kitchen, or given to Bennet's, or gate-keepers wife to use; the dripping is only from the servants rations; their rations are their own; the fat is their own; it is distinctly untrue that I was drunk, I have always been fit for my duty; Mrs. Harrison is a very bad profligate woman; I advised Mrs. Ghost four years ago to put her away; I have seen her locked up; I never saw anything unseemly in Norah or Bennet; I never saw either drunk; I never saw them in the bath-room under suspicious circumstances.

Gatekeeper called in:—I never saw Williams drunk; the last time six months ago; am certain he was drunk when I took him from Bransgrove's; this was two years ago; I saw a roll of calico go; never saw Bennet drunk; if I said so I recall it, it was a mistake.

Williams' examination resumed:—On frequent occasions Mrs. Harrison is at the gate-keeper's place; she meets Davis there; I believe she was there last night.

Mrs. Fry, night nurse, examined:—I never saw Bennet and Norah in the bath-room under suspicious circumstances; she has often to go there; so has he on their duties; never saw them locked in, nor pulled Bennet out; I have not seen Mrs. M'Cracken drunk; have been here three months; I have washed for John, the cook; do it instead of going to bed by day; I buy my own soap and starch; I never washed for six men; I have four children—one son in kitchen, William Fry, Amelia Fry, on the books in laundry, one little boy who works in the kitchen for his meat, two at Camperdown who were never in the house; we arrived in the "Africaine" on the 13th March last; Bennet came once to Quarantine with Mrs. Ghost; Norah came once with Mrs. Ghost and Mrs. Watson—never with Bennet; Mrs. Harrison advised me to take two of the house blankets for my husband; I saw her in a position with Davis that left no doubt of their intimacy; she is the only one of the inmates I ever saw in suspicious circumstances; I picked out once a few old clothes from a mass that were condemned to be destroyed, and were spread out on the verandah; I thought I might patch them so as to be useful to my little children; I have never neglected my duty for an hour while washing for any one; none of the patients were ever engaged a fortnight, or any time washing for me; never saw the male patients going into the laundry and larking with the girls; my attention never was called to it.

Bennet, the messenger, called in and examined: I never had improper intercourse with Norah; I never was found in the bath-room with her under improper circumstances, and ordered or pulled out; my duties require me to be often in the bath-room, and in all parts of the house; if Rev. Mr. Smith were here he would explain matters satisfactorily; Norah wrote to Mrs. Ghost directed to me; when Norah's brother was killed at Moruya she was in great grief; I felt it my duty to attend to any business for her; her letter was about this; I never received any letters from Norah that would lead to the impression of improper intimacy; I never received any letter I would be unwilling to have read; it was Mrs. Smith who came with my wife and brought her back; this had no reference to Norah; it was caused by my mother who stayed with me; I have had, by Mrs. Ghost's orders, to lock up her room; Mrs. Harrison has come to me half-dressed, with her hair streaming in a disgraceful condition, praying me to get over the fence and get rum for her; Mrs. Ghost was too kind-hearted in bearing with her; I went on Christmas eve with the servants to the Prince of Wales Theatre to hear the Messiah; this was the only time I was in a theatre; I have to be sent out at all hours of the day or night to summon doctors or clergymen or relations in urgent cases; Dominick never loads his cart at my place; once he left two pigs at my place till he would call for them, only for a little time; Watson used to get the pig-wash, Mrs. Ghost said it was fair it should be divided; my horse eats the grass of the house, there is nothing else it could eat belonging to the house; I gave it a bit of corn and grain myself; I am not on speaking terms with Dwyer; it arose from a dispute about the gate; I never drew supplies from the house for my mother; she is not always with me; she is away for months.

Norah

Norah Walsh, called in:—Mrs. Fry never found Bennet and me in the bath-room; I took once a roll of cast off clothes and linen of Mrs. Ghost's to Dominick's cart, they were Mrs. Ghost's once; not new calico; she told me they were old things of her own; Mary Sheady, a patient in my ward, when discharged was sent by Mrs. Ghost to Mrs. Smith to wash; she got 5s. a day; Margaret Moran told the mother of one of the laundry girls was sent to wash; the men help the laundresses to fold the clothes, but I never saw any unseemly conduct; Mrs. Ghost got a present of slops, chintzes, counterpanes, &c., from Mr. Smith when she went home; most of them were used for the house; I wrote to Bennet in reference to my brother's death; I have to speak to Bennet, and have conversations with him on business of the house; Mrs. Harrison was an evil disposed woman—spoke evil of every one and made mischief; got drunk.

Mrs. M'Cracken, called:—I have been three years in this house; have not been drunk; am seen up at all hours by the doctors; called Mrs. Fry's attention to something improper between Mrs. Harrison and Davis, a wardsman, they were shut in the laundry at 12 o'clock; I called Mrs. Fry to notice through the window; I have seen no other cases of indecency; I never saw or heard of the patients in number IV Ward larking with the laundry girls at 2 in the morning.

22nd August.

—Moran, laundry-maid, examined:—I never witnessed any impropriety among the girls; we got the men patients to fold heavy shirts and the like; never more than four men; took them from any ward; my mother did not live in the house, but in a house at 8s. a week; Mrs. Ghost employed my mother to wash Mr. Smith's house; gave her 10s. till Mrs. Smith came; I went a few times to tell mother what to do and for company, went in time that was my own; Mrs. Ghost gave me permission; I got up early generally in morning, and got twice in afternoon; went with my mother after my day's work.

Mr. Stephen here stated that he found a butcher's bill of about £17, headed private account among Mrs. Ghost's papers.

No servants of the house went to wash for Mrs. Smith; Mrs. Harrison was often drunk; very abusive both to me and women servants; several of the servants left for her; I gave up my place, but Mrs. Ghost asked me to stay for her sake as she was ill; Mrs. Ghost gave her notice that she must leave in the end of the month of July; I said I would bring her before the Bench for what she said to me; Mrs. Ghost said, would you go to the bench for such a woman; I heard Mrs. Ghost say, Mrs. Harrison, get yourself well as soon as possible, and leave this place at the end of the month, for I would not put up with it any longer for a thousand a year; one girl has been in the laundry four months, another, five months; it is very difficult to get laundresses, being hard work; Mrs. Harrison kept company with Davis, wardsman.

Eliza Brady, examined:—I am going on for five months in the house as laundress; Mrs. Harrison got drunk twice, beastly drunk; was not very offensive to me but to the other girls; she called them improper names; the men never came at two in the morning; two mornings they came at half-past four or five; when we were short of a girl Mrs. Ghost told us to get their help; the last time Mrs. Harrison was in drink was three weeks before she left; Mrs. Ghost gave her warning; the girls would not stand it, we could not sleep; Mrs. Ghost asked us to sleep in her room; we would not do it for putting her about; Mrs. Ghost saw she could not stand it any longer; she had stood it five years; I heard Mrs. Ghost give her warning.

Helen Houlaghan, examined:—I have been near four months in house; very much annoyed by Mrs. Harrison; she got drunk and abused me very much, because I would not go for drink for her; told stories of me because I would not go; seen her drunk two or three times; never saw any other servant drunk; she was quite beastly drunk; she was drunk a few weeks before she left; Mrs. Ghost wanted us to come into her own bedroom, as we could not sleep; would not go to annoy her; I told Mrs. Ghost I would not stop for a thousand a year if Mrs. Harrison was in the laundry.

Mrs. Bennet, examined:—Been four years here on Boxing Day; I have heard reports about my husband; I had a disagreement with my husband; his mother and I had a disagreement about six months ago; it was about a little puppy that jumped up and broke the jug; I did not accuse my husband of improper conduct; I left and went away; I had no letters of my husband; there was no jealousy; several spoke to me about my husband and Norah; Mrs. Harrison especially, and Mrs. Dyer, they were very intimate; I heard my husband say that Norah had written to him from Moruya, about her brother's death; I never gave Mr. Smith any paper; I do not think my mother did; the puppy was the commencement.

George Davis examined:—I am a day workman; I have been about nine years in the house; I know Mrs. Harrison; have seen her the worse of drink; have not seen her since Tuesday week; did not meet her at Dyer, the gate-keeper's—not since she was in the house; I was with her one evening about half-past ten, when she was worse of liquor; I wanted to keep peace; this was about two months ago; there was nothing wrong any further than sitting down with her; I used no improper liberties; she would not let me go from her; she only wanted to be talking; I could not get away; there was a report that we were to get married; it was a false report; I know there are some who take a drop in the house; I am never in the way; I never saw any one to say drunk except Mrs. Harrison; I never drink anything; have seen Mrs. Harrison drunk lately, not within a few weeks, nearly two months ago.

MINUTE OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR.

24 Sept., /66.

Send this to the Colonial Secretary. I think he had better acknowledge it, and say that he has received it from me, and that the Government think it their duty to advise the Governor to uphold the principle that, wherever money is granted by Parliament, the right of Ministerial Inspection follows as a matter of course; and that, until this right be unreservedly admitted by the parties, or affirmed by Parliament, they will not enter upon a permissive inspection.—J.Y.

No. 14.

THE UNDER COLONIAL SECRETARY to BOARD OF DIRECTORS, SYDNEY INFIRMARY.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 28 September, 1866.

GENTLEMEN,

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to acknowledge two Memorials, without date, addressed by the Directors of the Sydney Infirmary, to His Excellency the Governor, and which His Excellency has caused to be transmitted to this office, for the consideration of the Government.

In these Memorials, the Directors state their willingness to offer facilities for any inquiry into the management of the Infirmary which His Excellency may direct; but they appear to lose sight of the circumstance that they have already actually resisted an inquiry, instituted under the authority of His Excellency, and in the only manner in which any such inquiry could be properly appointed. Mr. Parkes observes, that the Directors justify the course they have taken, partly on the ground that their concurrence was not first obtained by the Government in the appointment of the proposed inquiry, and partly because the gentlemen appointed to conduct it were not all supposed to be friendly to the management of the Board. These grounds of justification on the part of the Directors, either in respect to the duty of the constituted authorities or the impartial composition of a Commission of inquiry can scarcely be recognized by the Government. No intention of treating lightly the position of the Directors was at any time entertained, but it is clearly the duty of the Government to be satisfied that grave abuses do not exist in the management of an institution like the Sydney Infirmary, which is largely supported by grants from the public revenue; and this duty is imperative when allegations of the existence of such abuses are made by respectable members of society. The Government must maintain the right of inquiry into the state of Institutions of this character at any time, and in any manner that may appear necessary for the public interest, and the judgment of the persons whose conduct has to be inquired into, whatever may be their standing and influence, cannot be accepted in deciding upon the expediency of any such inquiry.

In the present defective state of the law, of which the Directors of the Sydney Infirmary have taken advantage, the Government will submit the case for the decision of Parliament.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

CAPTAIN Mayne presents his compliments to Miss Nightingale, and, having reference to a communication which, he is officially informed, has been addressed to her by the Government of New South Wales, does himself the honor to request that she will favour him with an interview on the subject of the communication in question, at such time and place as may be most convenient to herself.

MISS FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE to THE COLONIAL AGENT GENERAL.

Embley, Romsey,
19 September, 1866.

Miss Nightingale presents her compliments to Captain Mayne, and is sorry to be obliged to inform him, in reply to his request for an "interview" (of September 15), that it is unfortunately quite impossible for her, she being an incurable invalid, entirely a prisoner to a couch (to which her present journey and absence from London is not an exception).

She is unable to see any one except those who have long-established claims of urgent business upon her.

Should Captain Mayne wish to communicate with her by writing, she will be glad to do so. It is the way she transacts nearly all her business.

At the same time, she is not aware to what "communication addressed to her by the Government of New South Wales" Captain Mayne refers.

THE COLONIAL AGENT GENERAL to MISS FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE.

New South Wales Agency,
118, Cannon-street, London, E.C.,
20 September, 1866.

CAPTAIN Mayne presents his compliments to Miss Nightingale, and begs to acknowledge the receipt of her letter of yesterday.

Captain Mayne has to express his very great regret at the cause which debars him from personal communication with Miss Nightingale respecting the object sought by the Government of New South Wales.

Captain Mayne has no doubt that the communication to which he referred not having reached Miss Nightingale by the Marseilles mail, will reach her by that via Southampton. In the meantime, however, he begs to forward, for her information, copies of the enclosures sent to him in the letter of instructions he has received from the Principal Secretary of the Colony.

Under those instructions, it will be Captain Mayne's duty, and he begs to assure Miss Nightingale that it will afford him pleasure, by correspondence and in all other ways to give effect to any suggestions or directions with which she may favour him in furtherance of the object sought by the Government of New South Wales.

MISS FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE to THE COLONIAL AGENT GENERAL.

23 September, 1866.

35, South-street, Park-lane, London, W.

SIR,

I am extremely obliged to you for so promptly informing me of what the Government of New South Wales desire of me.

Would you kindly assure the Colonial Secretary that I am extremely interested in what he proposes to do, and that he may depend upon my trying to assist him to the utmost of my power. The plan which they propose is most desirable and praiseworthy, viz.,—to establish in the Sydney Infirmary a Training School for Hospital Nurses for the Colony. The object is most important, and the Colonial Government will do immense good by so wise a measure. Whatever my humble efforts can do to second the plan shall be done, as I need scarcely assure the Secretary of the Colony. I shall, of course, do myself the honor of answering his letter, as soon as I see what can be done.

[I have not yet received any communication on the subject but yours.]

Now what can be done is the first question. We have (I am afraid I can safely assert) no such Training "Sisters" ready. If we had, they would already have been engaged and employed. Our supply is so very much below the demand, even in England, that the Matrons and Nurses whom we train are generally engaged some time before their period of training is completed.

It would be easy to recommend persons partially unknown and untrained. But this we have never done.

We prefer it, when Governments or Institutions send us persons chosen by themselves, to train for them. But this it appears, is not the plan of the Government of New South Wales, nor perhaps is it desirable from so far.

Having shortly explained my difficulties, I would now propose that you should kindly call yourself on Mrs. Wardroper, St. Thomas' Hospital, Newington, S.

I have already written to her explaining the desire of the New South Wales Secretary, and leading her to expect your call. She is the valued Superintendent of our Training School, and Matron of the Hospital of St. Thomas.

It is desirable that all the four "Sisters" should come from the same training. When you have had your conversation with Mrs. Wardroper, and when we have farther communicated, I shall be able to see my way better. I earnestly desire this should succeed, but I have other resources if this should fail.

I am afraid I must prepare you that the matter will not march so fast as we should desire it, or as the Colonial Government expects it. For I am nearly positive, as I have said, that no four such persons as we ought to recommend are ready, disengaged; but I will now only add that I will hasten the matter by every means in my power, if by a personal interview with you, when I return to London, as I conclude that you are a resident here, I shall be glad, as this is a matter very near my heart, and I can say, with great truth, that I am as eager for its success as those who have proposed it. I believe, however, that I can do everything by correspondence and by putting yourself in personal communication with Mrs. Wardroper, or with others.

Pray believe me,
Your faithful Servant,

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE.

Any communication to the above address is forwarded to me immediately if not there.—F.N.

ASYLUM FOR INFIRM AND DESTITUTE,
PORT MACQUARIE.
(SHERIFF'S REPORT.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 30 October, 1866.

THE SHERIFF to THE UNDER COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sheriff's Office,
Sydney, 24 October, 1866.

SIR,

In accordance with the instructions conveyed in your letter of 10th ultimo, No. 278, I took occasion, while at Port Macquarie, to inspect the Asylum at that place.

The improvements and alterations needful to prepare the building for occupation have been most successfully carried out. Ventilation, and all other requirements, seem to have been carefully attended to; and the building altogether presents a bright and fresh appearance, which must be much conducive to the promotion of its present purpose.

The wards, kitchens, &c., were in a cleanly state, and the establishment seemed to be conducted in an orderly manner. The Master and Matron appeared to be zealous and active in the performance of their duties.

There were 105 inmates—62 men and 43 women—who were apparently comfortable and contented. They had no grievances to represent (excepting of a trifling character, which I have mentioned to the Chairman of the Board), and no general desire for a return to Sydney seemed to exist.

The Surgeon states that the general health of the inmates has improved, although there have been five deaths. These, he observed, occurred in cases where any movement would probably occasion a change either of improvement or expediting decease.

I have, &c.,
HAROLD M'LEAN.

POST OFFICE.

(ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT, BEING FOR THE YEAR 1865.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL to HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR, transmitting the Eleventh Annual Report on the Post Office Department, being that for the year 1865.

General Post Office,
Sydney, 21 July, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit to your Excellency the Eleventh Annual Report on the Post Office Department, being that for the year 1865.

I purpose submitting this Report in a somewhat different form to that hitherto adopted, as being calculated to place the business of the department, and its progress during the past year, in a more comprehensive light.

It is desirable that I should, in the first place, briefly allude to the change in the administrative arrangements of the department, which took place towards the close of last year.

On the 1st October, in consequence of the retirement of Major Christie, the late Government determined to carry out a recommendation of the Post Office Board of 1862, and make the office a political one.

In explanation of the causes that probably led to this step being taken, I will quote a passage from the Report of the Board in question, in reference to this particular matter:—" We recommend that the appointment and promotion of officers should be vested only in the Postmaster General. We entertain a strong opinion that the situation of Postmaster General should be a political and independent office, seeing that he is brought into immediate contact with the public to a greater extent than any other official—that he is frequently called upon to exercise immediate judgment, the good effects of which may be lost by referring to another department—that, in order to secure the greatest amount of accommodation to the public, he should possess a large discretionary power; and thus he should be in a position to act independently, and at need to defend his actions. The Postmaster General should possess full and uncontrolled direction of his own department, enabling him to act with the most perfect independence."

My short experience as Minister at the head of the department, has been sufficient to enable me to express my entire concurrence in the opinions above set forth, and my conviction that the new arrangement will result in promoting the more efficient discharge of the duties of this important department.

Up to the present time, the business has been conducted under this improved organization, without any additional expenditure; but I fear that it will be necessary to ask for some slight increases to the salaries of the principal officers, and probably a small addition to the numerical strength of the department.

The Postmaster General being now a Member of the Cabinet, and having his ministerial duties to attend to, cannot (especially when the Parliament is in session) devote the whole of his time to postal matters. It has been necessary to delegate matters of minor importance to the Secretary, who was already overburdened with work, and who, in his turn, has been obliged to throw a portion of his duties on his immediate junior. As it is, the Postmaster General undertakes the execution of many duties which are incompatible with his position as a Minister of the Crown.

Under these circumstances, and in consideration of the many improvements and increased postal facilities which the change in the position of the Postmaster General has enabled me to attempt, and which it is in contemplation to make to a still greater extent,—and looking also to the large reduction in the Post Office Estimate of Expenditure for the present, as compared with previous years, and to the fact that, on a careful comparison with other offices, the Post Office is shewn to be the worst paid department of the Public Service,—it is expected that Parliament will cheerfully sanction such trifling increase of expenditure as will place this department on a similar footing to others having Ministers at their immediate head.

The postal improvements, so far as regards the past year, will be shewn under their proper heading in another place; but although this professes to be a report of the progress of the department during 1865, it may not perhaps be out of place here to make passing allusion to various important improvements now in contemplation, or in course of adoption, in which the head office is more immediately concerned.

Amongst various matters in contemplation, many of which scarcely demand special notice, the first and most important is a revision of the Postal Laws.

The defective state of the existing Postage Act has for some years offered an insuperable obstacle to the carrying out of improvements suggested by the Imperial Government and the neighbouring Colonies, and also to the granting of increased postal facilities.

A new Postage Bill is in course of preparation, which it is proposed to submit to Parliament during the ensuing session.

It will, amongst other matters, provide for the prepayment to destination of correspondence for the Continent of Europe, without the necessity of such correspondence passing through the United Kingdom,—for the transmission of patterns and samples of merchandise, at reduced rates, by the inland post,—for the reduction of the registration fee on letters (corresponding with that recently introduced in the United Kingdom),—for the compulsory registration of all letters containing or supposed to contain money or other valuables, which last provisions will encourage the registration of letters, to the benefit of the revenue, and also tend to remove temptation from the servants of the department. It will further provide for the transmission of insufficiently stamped ship letters, provided they bear, when posted, not less than a single rate of postage, thus preventing the annoyance and disappointment to the senders of having their letters opened and returned to them.

A thorough reorganization of the clerical staff of the head office is in contemplation. Owing to the custom which has hitherto prevailed in the department, by which seniority has been the sole title to the receipt of increased salary, the remuneration attached to the performance of certain duties is not allotted in proportion to the relative importance of those duties. The consequence has been, that services requiring the higher amount of ability for their performance have been entrusted to men who (being juniors in the service) do not receive the salary which would be deemed an adequate remuneration for similar duties in other Government departments. On the other hand, some of the inferior and irresponsible offices are filled by men receiving the higher rates of salary, which, in many instances, are larger than is necessary for the due fulfilment of the duties required, and leads to the further anomaly that officers performing similar services are most unequally paid. These officers, from their standing in the service, should have been supposed to be qualified for the higher appointments, and consequently have been required to fulfil them; but, either from a consciousness of incapacity, or an unwillingness to incur responsibility, when the opportunity of performing service commensurate with remuneration has been presented, they have either shrunk from the task, or have been deemed manifestly unfit to be entrusted with the discharge of the duties required.

It is earnestly hoped that, by an impartial apportionment of the salaries according to the services required, the object in view, viz., increased efficiency in the performance thereof, will be attained without inflicting hardship on individuals who have been a number of years in the Department.

It is apparent that a great laxity of system has prevailed in many branches of the department, and, probably owing to this cause, an apathy or indifference to the due performance of duties has exhibited itself. The former has, in some measure, been rectified, and I trust that the public will not be long in discovering a marked improvement.

In making these remarks, I do not wish to impute a want of energy to the late permanent head of the department. I attribute any improvement that has been or may be effected, solely to the Postmaster General being invested with absolute control, and being able to act independently, whenever abuses have been brought under his notice.

The arrangements for the new postal route to Europe and America, viâ Panama, were concluded in the early part of the present year, and the first steamer has already left. As it is my intention to enter more into the question of the Panama route as compared with other routes, under the head of Foreign Service, it is unnecessary for me to dwell upon this subject at present, further than to express a hope that, notwithstanding the large sum which the Colony will be called upon to contribute to the subsidy, we shall have no cause to regret having assisted in opening a line of communication by steam with America and the United Kingdom viâ Panama.

Upon the Postmaster General becoming an independent officer, the Money Order Department, formerly under the Honorable the Treasurer, was placed under his control.

The business of this branch is rapidly extending; and I have no doubt the accommodation afforded in the temporary office recently erected in Wynyard-square will, for some time to come, enable me to meet the demands for the extension of the system.

I append a report of the progress of this branch during the past year, from the Appendix A Superintendent.

With these remarks I shall pass on to the

Year.	Extent of Postal Route on the 31st December.	Number of Miles travelled.	Cost of Mail Conveyance.	Average Cost per Mile.	Number of Post Offices.
	Miles.		£ s. d.	d.
1864	11,112	2,362,456	55,705 13 1	About 5½	419
1865	11,343	2,521,212	49,839 16 11	.. 4½	435
Increase	231	158,756	16
Decrease	5,865 16 2	About 1d.

The progress made in extending the Inland Postal Service, by opening new lines of mail route, compares very favourably with the yearly advance previously made, notwithstanding the retrenchment in the expenditure of this, in common with other departments of the Public Service, rendered necessary by the great depression of the general Revenue during 1865.

In the Appendix will be found a return of the new lines established during 1865, Appendix B, shewing their extent to be 487 miles; while, as is shewn by another return in the Appendix C, it has been found necessary, either for the adoption of more advantageous routes, or as no longer needed, to discontinue lines already established, to the extent of 256 miles, leaving an actual increase of 231 miles of postal route in 1865.

Returns

and E.

Returns are also given in the Appendix, of the increased and decreased communication on existing lines, which, with the new lines established, give an increase in the number of miles travelled of 158,756 miles.

I may here mention that, in one or two cases where it was not considered by the Government that new lines or increased communication were urgently needed, the residents in the districts have provided themselves with the asked-for communication; under nominal contracts with the Government, in order to bring the mail contractors within the control of this department, and such arrangement has hitherto worked satisfactorily. When the importance of these services is increased, and the revenue of this department is benefited thereby, the Government will, of course, itself provide permanent communication for the districts in question.

The extent of postal lines, by stage, horse, and rail, may be stated as follows:—

Stage	1,879½ miles.
Horse	9,323 „
Rail	140¾ „

In the tabular statement the average cost per mile is given at 4½d. Compared with the average cost per mile during 1864, a saving is shewn; but it is supposed that, owing to the dry season, and the consequent high cost of forage toward the latter part of 1865, many of the mail contractors may be losers by their contracts.

The number of post offices established during 1865 was 21, the number re-established 2, and the number discontinued 7; thus making an actual increase of 16 in the number of post offices, as shewn in the above statement.

122 new Postmasters were appointed in 1865.

Appendix F.

A list of Post Offices in New South Wales on the 31st December, 1865, with the names of Postmasters, and salaries paid to them, will be found in the Appendix.

Notwithstanding the disparaging remarks frequently made as to the large expenditure of the Post Office Department, and the comparative smallness of its revenue, applications for the establishment of new post offices are continually being made, and little consideration is evinced in making these applications; for in many cases, post offices are asked for where there is really no necessity for their existence, and generally to save a journey of a few miles to the nearest established post office. I would impress upon the consideration of the residents in the Country Districts that, in a wide spread Colony such as New South Wales, with a scattered population, it cannot be expected that post offices should be established within two or three miles of each other, as in countries where the resources are developed and the land entirely occupied; and until the period arrives when such postal advantages can be afforded without prejudice to those persons resident in the more distant parts of the Colony, the expense of extra accommodation such as that just alluded to should be borne by the parties immediately benefited. At the present time there are, in various parts of the Colony, clusters of post offices within a few miles of each other, which have been established at the instance of influential residents, where one post office would meet all reasonable requirements; and I must here remark, that I shall consider it my duty, as opportunities occur, to rectify this state of affairs, and to distribute the postal advantages more equally.

It may not be uninteresting here to mention, that the number of post offices in New South Wales, compared with the Sister Colonies, is as follows:—

Victoria	524
New South Wales	435
South Australia	217
Tasmania	115
Queensland	52
Western Australia	20

Five additional iron letter receivers were erected in 1865—one for the accommodation of the residents in the Municipality of Woollahra, one at Windsor, and three at Morpeth.

During 1865, thirty-two licenses for the sale of postage stamps were granted to persons residing in Sydney, and eighteen to persons residing in the country, making the number of persons licensed (exclusive of Postmasters), on the 31st December, 1865, to be 190. A return of the licensed vendors will be found in the Appendix.

Appendix G.

There have been, during 1865, three general deliveries by letter carrier in the business parts of the city, and one in the suburbs. I shall endeavour during the present year to arrange for a second delivery in the suburbs, which is much required, and will afford a great accommodation. A third delivery throughout the city would no doubt be an advantage, but not so great as would justify at the present time the large expense it would entail on the department.

There are several other matters of postal improvement and convenience, such as the establishment of offices in various parts of the city, where letters could be registered and inquiries made as to postage rates, &c., which have not been overlooked; but which at the present time would not be justified, for the same reason that the extension of the third delivery is withheld.

But

But there is one subject which is worthy of attentive consideration, as a means of contributing most effectually to the efficiency and economy of the Inland Postal Service, and that is, a revision of the present system pursued in the appointment of official Postmasters. I conceive that very great advantages would accrue to the Postal Service by the appointment of intelligent persons in certain districts, who should combine with their duties as official Postmasters those of Postal Inspectors. They should possess qualifications which should justify their being entrusted to a certain extent with the control of the non-official Postmasters in their respective districts—with the supervision of the performance of the mail service by contractors—with the investigation of minor complaints, and reply to inquiries, and be the medium of inquiry, and reference to and from the Postmaster General, in all postal matters in their respective districts.

I am led to understand that this was partially the idea when the official post offices were first established; but it would appear that a want of confidence in the capabilities of many of the persons at present holding these offices, for the performance of such responsible duties, has prevented the original intention of the Government from being carried out.

These officers should be properly remunerated, and should be provided with assistants, who could undertake the postal duties during their absence on any tour of inspection. Moreover, were these offices made of sufficient importance in a pecuniary point of view, and held out as promotion to deserving officers, a great improvement would be effected in both branches of the service.

The matter will require great consideration, as the change will doubtless involve the removal of many of the present official Postmasters; a difficulty which is enhanced by the fact that they have contributed to the Superannuation Fund, and have not served a sufficient period to warrant their retiring under its provisions. However, if it is considered expedient or possible to effect the change, the efficiency of the Public Service should not suffer by the retention of officers simply from motives of benevolence.

FOREIGN SERVICE.

During 1865, arrangements were made with the Imperial Government for the extension of the trade pattern post (established in 1864) to Italy, Belgium, and to several of the German States.

The specified days of departure from Sydney were punctually observed throughout the year. Nine Nine supplementary mails were made up, all of which arrived at Melbourne in time to be transhipped.

It will be seen that only on two occasions, viz., in August and October, the mail steamer arrived at Sydney at the specified time; while the delays occasioned by late arrival have been considerable, varying from one to fifteen days—the average delay being nearly six days.

Much dissatisfaction has been expressed regarding the irregularities of the mail steamers, and it is generally believed that they arise from the inefficiency, for the performance of the Service between Galle and Sydney, of the steamers that have been placed on that line.

In December, 1865, a strong remonstrance was forwarded to the authorities in England, on the subject of the irregularities of the Peninsular and Oriental Company in the fulfilment of their contract, urging that an improvement should at once be effected, otherwise the Colony would be compelled to withdraw from the arrangement under which the subsidy was apportioned, between the Mother Country and the Australian Colonies.

As it was found, from the replies received from the Home Authorities to the remonstrance from this Colony, that no hope of improvement was held out by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, the requisite notice has been given which will allow the discontinuance of the subsidy from this Colony, at the expiration of the required notice of two years and three months.

As some papers upon this subject have already been laid before the Parliament, and others completing the information are in course of preparation for that purpose when Parliament re-assembles, they will then probably appear in a complete form.

It is expected by many, that the opening of the Panama line will in some measure relieve the Colony from the inconvenience attending the irregularities which have hitherto characterized our Mail Service with England.

This route will bring the Colony into direct and speedy communication with the American Continents, and other places whose mercantile importance requires a less circuitous route than that at present existing viâ Suez and the United Kingdom.

The route viâ Panama has for some years been advocated as being the preferential one for this Colony; but it is questionable whether it possesses greater advantages than the Suez route, as regards postal importance. If communication by both routes can be permanently sustained, the desires of all parties will be fully met as regards mercantile facilities; but it is to be feared that the large subsidies paid for these steam postal services will press heavily upon the finances of the Colony.

The Queensland Government, towards the end of last year, opened an experimental route to England, viâ Torres Straits and Batavia; but its advantages for adoption, as a main postal line, by this Colony, are, under existing arrangements, by no means apparent. If, on the termination of the contract between Sydney and Galle by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, at the expiration of the two years and three-months' notice, it shall have been found that the service is one which confers advantages on this Colony, it would then of course become a matter for consideration, in comparison or in conjunction with other routes.

LETTERS, NEWSPAPERS, AND PARCELS.

The following tabular statement shews the approximate number of letters, newspapers, and parcels, posted throughout the Colony during 1865, compared with those posted during 1864:—

The ratio of increase or decrease is as follows:—

Letters—

Posted for town delivery have increased at the rate of about	5½ per cent.
" country delivery " "	6½ "
" foreign despatch " "	3 "
The total number posted have increased at the rate of about	6½ "

Newspapers—

Posted for country delivery have increased at the rate of about	4½ per cent.
" foreign despatch have decreased "	11½ "
The total number posted have increased at the rate of about	2½ "

Parcels—

Posted for country delivery, closed at ends, have decreased at the rate of about	½ per cent.
" " open " "	25½ "
" foreign despatch have increased at the rate of about	33 "
Total number posted have decreased at the rate of about	18½ "

It is gratifying to observe that, notwithstanding the decrease during 1864, owing to the introduction of the Newspaper Postage Act, the number of newspapers posted for country delivery has largely increased during 1865, which shews that this charge for carriage has not in any manner interfered with the dissemination of useful knowledge, as it was at first contemplated it would; while the Post Office revenue is considerably augmented from this source.

The following returns shew the number of Letters, Newspapers, and Parcels, divided into three classes, which have been despatched to and received from foreign parts:—

REPORT FROM THE POSTMASTER GENERAL—1865.

During the past year, 26,336 letters were returned to the writers as unclaimed, being an increase of 771 on the number returned during 1864. Of the letters returned during 1865, 20,290 were originally addressed to places within the Colony, 4,596 to the neighbouring Colonies, 1,363 to the United Kingdom, and 87 to other places.

The number of registered letters returned as unclaimed was 350, being 4 less than in 1864; and the number unregistered, but containing articles of value, was 380, being 28 more than in 1864.

The letters originally received from the following places, and returned thereto, as being unclaimed, were as follows:—

To the neighbouring Colonies...	3,812
To the United Kingdom	5,005
To other places...	164

In 1864, the numbers were respectively 3,416, 6,059, and 131.

The number of letters returned as unstamped, insufficiently stamped, and irregularly posted, was 9,673, being 957 more than were returned in 1864 under similar circumstances.

75,876 registered letters passed through the General Post Office during the past year, the number in 1864 being 75,798.

1,595½ ounces of gold were received through the Post Office in 1865, against 2,197 ounces in 1864.

The following return shows the number of Mails received at and despatched from the General Post Office, during 1865:—

Inland.	Foreign.	Inland.	Foreign.
41,693	3,062	41,588	2,663	89,006

The number of letters posted by each person in the Colony, compared with 1864, is as follows:—

YEAR.	Population.	Number of Letters posted.	Average number of Letters posted by each person.
1864	392,592	5,432,600	14

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

The following return shows the Revenue of the Post Office Department, collected during 1865, compared with that of 1864:—

YEAR.	Sale of Stamps.	Fees for Private Boxes.	Postage on Unpaid Letters.	Total.
1864	65,625 2 8	329 14 0	1,767 3 5	67,722 0 1
1865	68,586 7 3	373 16 0	2,024 16 0	70,984 19 3
Increase	2,961 4 7	44 2 0	257 12 7	3,262 19 2

The increase in the postal revenue during the past year has thus been about 4½ per cent.

The increase under each of the above heads has been as follows:—

Sale of stamps about 4½ per cent.
 Fees for private boxes „ 13½ „
 Postage on unpaid letters „ 14½ „

The following is a return of the expenditure of the department for the years 1864 and 1865, under the heads of Salaries, Contingencies, and Conveyance of Mails:—

YEAR.	Salaries.		Contingencies.		Conveyance of Mails.		Total.
1864	27,834	3 10	2,220	15 3	58,640	16 1	88,695	15 2
1865	28,133	16 3	2,233	4 4	53,291	13 10	83,658	14 5
Increase	299	12 5	12	9 1
Decrease	5,349	2 3	5,037	0 9

It is satisfactory to find that, while the revenue has considerably increased, the expenditure has decreased to the extent of about 5½ per cent.

The increase under the head of salaries is about 1 per cent., which was caused by the establishment of new post offices, and some increases to the salaries of Postmasters at existing country post offices.

The increase under the head of Contingencies is very small, being only about ½ per cent. Under the head of Conveyance of Mails there is a decrease of about 10 per cent., which is attributable to many of the contracts entered into during 1865 being at a reduced rate. The item Conveyance of Mails may be particularized as follows:—

Mail conveyance by stage and horse	£48,241	6 11
Do. by rail	1,598	10 0
Do. steam and sailing vessels	2,557	11 4
Do. to and from railway station, and portorage	549	5 7
Gratuities for sorting Hunter River and other mails ...	120	0 0
Conveyance of supplementary mails to Melbourne ...	225	0 0
	£53,291	13 10

The amount voted for conveyance of mails during 1865 was £63,970.

The subsidy paid to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Company towards the English Mail Contract is not included in the above return.

Appendix II.

In 1865 there were 264 distinct mail contracts, of which nineteen were transferred at the request of the original contractors, and nine were cancelled during the year.

The fines levied on mail contractors during 1865, for late arrivals and other irregularities, amounted to £154 12s.

The expenditure of the department, exclusive of the English subsidy, exceeded the revenue by £13,673 15s. 2d., the principal item of expenditure being the conveyance of inland mails.

With

With regard to the great length of its postal lines, I may add that, so amply has postal accommodation been provided in New South Wales, that it is connected with the adjoining Colonies by several distinct postal lines, each extending over many miles of comparatively uninhabited country and consequently, returning little revenue, while maintained at a very great tax upon the vote for mail conveyance. The adjoining Colonies north and south, are thus brought into postal communication with each other, by the inland lines of route provided by New South Wales.

STAFF OF OFFICERS.

The number of officers and servants of the Department on the 31st December, 1865 (exclusive of mail contractors), was as follows :—

Postmaster General	1
Secretary	1
Accountant	1
Chief Clerk, Letter Branch	1
Cashier	1
Clerks	27
Shipping Officer	1
Mail Guards	2
Stampers, Letter Carriers, Messengers, &c.	57
Country Postmasters	435
Assistant Clerks to Postmasters	4

Of the above staff, eighty are attached to the General Post Office, Sydney.

Owing to the urgent demand for retrenchment in the whole of the Government Departments, no provision was made on the Estimates for the purposes of postal inspection, and consequently there has been no general inspection of the performance of the Postal Services in the Country Districts during the whole of last year. In a few cases it has been found necessary to despatch a clerk (at considerable inconvenience to the department, in consequence of its limited staff of officers) to investigate complaints occurring within a short distance of Sydney, and a satisfactory result has attended these personal inquiries. The appointment of at least two Postal Inspectors as a temporary measure, pending the initiation of the more comprehensive scheme previously suggested, is absolutely necessary for personal inquiry, in cases where applications are made for increased postal facilities, or changes of mail route, when conflicting interests have been advocated. A vast amount of time has been expended in correspondence with no satisfactory result, which would have been avoided, had the department been in a position to send a disinterested officer to report on the matters in dispute.

The amount of work performed in the branch of the Secretary was considerably increased in 1865, owing to the general progress of the department. In addition to the printed time-bills, returns, monthly reports as to the performance of mail contracts, &c., 13,335 communications relating to the business of the office were received and registered, to which 10,277 manuscript replies were transmitted. The manuscript correspondence, however, forms but a small part of the business of this branch, which may be inferred from the following list of various communications and documents, partly printed, that were sent out in addition to the foregoing:—

Letters in reply to applications for letters and newspapers...	about 4,200
Do. accepting tenders	119
Do. declining do.	540
Do. on change of Postmasters	300
Do. with time-tables	470
Do. accompanying bonds	330
Do. requesting return of documents under reference ...	1,800
Bonds and agreements prepared	540

The

The amount of work performed in the Account and Cash Branches can be gathered from the fact that the number of ledger accounts at the end of 1865 was 1,586.

The work performed in the Letter Branch is shewn by the returns (to be found in other sections of this Report) of letters, &c., received and despatched, and of the number of mails which passed through the hands of the officials engaged therein.

OFFICE ACCOMMODATION.

I am glad to be able to state that the new building in George-street, intended for the Post Office, has been commenced, and is progressing rapidly. The temporary building at present occupied is neither safe, convenient, nor healthy, and it is therefore desirable that the new Post Office should be completed as speedily as possible. On one occasion last year, the temporary building was in great danger of being destroyed, in consequence of a fire breaking out in a store a short distance from the Post Office. On the ground alone of protecting the public property, by affording the security of a safe building, it is expedient that great exertion should be made to complete the new office. A very strong additional reason for providing better accommodation is to be found in the frequent indisposition of the officers, owing to their duties being performed in an ill ventilated and consequently unhealthy building.

I have, &c.,

J. DOCKER,

Postmaster General.

APPENDIX.

A.

REPORT ON THE MONEY ORDER SYSTEM.

(31st DECEMBER, 1865.)

The Money Order System was brought into operation in this Colony in January, 1863, when 19 offices were opened, viz., the head office in Sydney, and 18 branch offices in various parts of the Colony.

In June, 1863, the system was extended to the United Kingdom and all the Australasian Colonies, with the exception of Tasmania; and before the close of the year, the number of offices in New South Wales was increased to 47.

In 1864 the number of offices had advanced to 69; whilst in the succeeding year (1865) they reached 87, and the Colony of Tasmania came into the arrangement during the same year.

In the first instance, it was found necessary to obtain an advance of £2,000 from the Treasury, to enable the Superintendent to carry on the current transactions of the establishment. This amount has, owing to the large increase of business, since been repaid.

With a view to shew the business of the department from the commencement, I have had the annexed financial statements prepared. On examination of these documents, it will be observed that, although a very large proportion of the entire business has been transacted at the chief office, yet, a steady increase has been going on up to the present time, in all its agencies, so far as relates to the issue of orders in New South Wales, with the exception of Western Australia, which shews a slight decrease on comparison between the years 1864 and 1865. A decrease is also observable in the case of orders issued in Scotland, Ireland, and Western Australia, for payment in New South Wales. Decreases, in these individual cases, may have been caused by local or temporary circumstances for which it is impossible to account. It is, however, satisfactory to know that the general business of the department has been largely extended, as appears on comparing the amounts received for commission in the respective years of its existence, viz. :—

Return No. 3 has been prepared for the purpose of shewing that the poorer classes of the community have availed themselves largely of the advantages conferred by the Money Order System. From this return it will be seen that, while the number of orders issued for sums varying from £5 to £10 was, during 1865, 8,905, the number of those issued for sums under £5 amounted to 19,562.

It is a fact to be noticed that, immediately after a mail robbery has taken place, the public avail themselves to a largely increased extent of the Money Order System for making remittances to Sydney, as well as to the country; and looking at the great security from losses which is obtained by this means, it is somewhat surprising that the system is not more generally resorted to.

If

If officers of the Government who are collectors of revenue in the interior of the Colony, and who are in the habit of making their remittances in postage stamps, bank notes, and cheques, availed themselves of this method of sending their collections to the Treasury, many of the losses to which the Government are now subject by the mail robberies would be entirely prevented, whilst at the same time the revenue of the department would be greatly increased; and I do not hesitate to say, that if the public generally adopted the same course, the chief temptation to bushrangers would be withdrawn, the money orders to them being valueless, as it is almost impossible for any other person to obtain payment thereof except those in whose favour they are issued; and, in my experience, I know of no instance in which payment of an order has been fraudulently obtained.

In connection with this point, I may be allowed to draw attention to the following extract from the Report of the Postmaster General of England for the year 1863:—"The Money Order Office, which was established, in the first instance, for the purpose of facilitating the transmission of small sums by poor persons, has gradually become the bank of the whole trading community. It affords an almost absolute security to those who are desirous of remitting money from one part of the country to another. Money orders are often stolen, and often lost, but the departmental check is so complete that not more than one in every hundred thousand is paid to another than the lawful owner. For orders which are lost or stolen, but not thus fraudulently cashed, duplicates are issued on application by the lawful owner."

The premises in which the business of the Money Order Department was carried on during the years 1863, 1864, and 1865, proved so inconvenient to all parties as to retard in some degree the extension of the system, but arrangements have now been completed which will remedy this defect; and it is not too much to expect that, with the present accommodation and appliances, the transactions of the office for the current year will be largely increased.

The annual expense of conducting the business of the department, up to the end of 1865, is shewn by the following statement:—

	Amount voted.			Amount expended.
2 Clerks, at £200	400	0	0	395	8	4
1 Clerk	100	0	0	100	0	0
Extra Clerical Assistance	50	0	0	48	11	0
Travelling Expenses	150	0	0
Incidental Expenses	50	0	0	5	2	6
Intercolonial Commission	200	0	0	180	15	3
United Kingdom Commission	300	0	0
Commission to Country Postmasters	500	0	0	172	7	3
	£ 2,830	0	0	1,982	4	4

And there are fair grounds for anticipating that, before long, the annual revenue derived from the commission and fees of the office will cover the expenditure.

F. W. HILL,

STEAM POSTAL SERVICE viâ PANAMA.

No. 1.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW ZEALAND, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,
NEW SOUTH WALES.

(122.)

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Wellington, 14 April, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 16 of the 15th February last, on the subject of the proposed Steam Postal Service between Great Britain, New Zealand, and New South Wales, viâ Panama, and to thank you for the information that steps would be taken, without delay, by your Government, to carry out the arrangement already sanctioned by the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The New Zealand Government anxiously awaits the further communication promised in your letter, as the time for the commencement of the service is rapidly approaching.

I enclose a copy of a proposed Time-table furnished by the Panama, New Zealand, and Australian Steam Navigation Company, and have to point out, in reference thereto, that the proposed dates, although involving a more rapid transit (by twenty-four hours on the outward, and thirty-six hours on the homeward passage) than would be the case if the mails were despatched by the steamer leaving Southampton on the 20th of the month, are not favourable to this Colony; as, instead of the mails by the Panama and Suez lines arriving in New Zealand at alternate fortnightly intervals, they would, if the proposed Time-table for the Panama Line were maintained, be received in New Zealand almost within the same twenty-four hours.

If, however, the New South Wales Government should be of opinion that the line should be opened in accordance with the proposed Time-table, this Government will make no objection for the present—pending further experience of the working of the line—and has informed the Panama, New Zealand, and Australian Royal Mail Company to that effect.

I shall feel obliged if you would favour me with an early reply to this letter, and with any further communication with respect to the whole subject, which your Government may desire to make.

I have, &c.,
E. W. STAFFORD.

No. 2.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW ZEALAND, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,
NEW SOUTH WALES.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Wellington, 15 May, 1866.

SIR,

Referring to my letter No. 122, of the 14th ultimo, transmitting a proposed Time-table for the Panama Mail Service, I have the honor to enclose a copy of a letter dated the 11th instant, from the Sub-manager of the Panama, New Zealand, and Australian Royal Mail Company, stating that the Director of that Company in London, had, in the absence of advice as to any dates being agreed upon by the Government of New Zealand and New South Wales, arranged, for the present, that the steamers for Panama should leave Sydney on the 1st, and Wellington on the 8th of each month, as specified in the hand-book lately published by them, in which they engage to book passengers and freight by vessels to leave on those dates.

The New Zealand Government prefers the dates of departure now proposed, as they are in some respects more favourable for New Zealand, and will also, in the case of New South Wales, extend by at least two days the period between the departure from Sydney of the mails sent by Panama and Suez respectively. I have accordingly to request the New South Wales Government to concur in them for the present.

The

The Sub-manager of the Company has been informed that the consent of the New South Wales Government to this alteration is necessary, and that it is approved, in the meantime, by this Government, until a reply to this letter is received from you.

I also enclose a draft of a contract to be made with the Panama, New Zealand, and Australian Royal Mail Company, and will be obliged if you would favour me, by an early opportunity, with any suggestions or alterations which it may appear to the New South Wales Government to require. You will observe, that the contract as at present drafted, purports to be between the Company and the Government of New Zealand only; but as an agreement to establish the Panama Service was come to between the Government of New South Wales and New Zealand, before the New Zealand Legislature, in its last session, passed the Panama Act, which, on the understanding that the New South Wales Government would bear a proportion of the cost of the service, limited the amount to be paid by New Zealand to sixty-three thousand pounds, it would appear to be the most proper course that the New South Wales Government should be made directly a party to the contract.

By being so, they would also be able to exercise a more direct control as to the working of the service than might otherwise be the case.

Should, however, the Government of New South Wales think otherwise, it will be necessary that some such instrument as that of which I have the honor now to enclose a draft should be executed by the Government of New South Wales, pursuant to the eighth section of the New Zealand Panama Mail Service Act Amendment Act, 1865, copy of which I have the honor to transmit. I have also to call your attention to the fact that, as yet, no provision has been made for penalties for irregularities in the service between Wellington and Sydney.

I have, &c.,
E. W. STAFFORD.

[Enclosures in No. 2.]

Hy. Lawson, Esq., to the Postmaster General, Wellington.

P. N. Z. and A. R. M. Co. (Limited),
Sydney, Melbourne, and New Zealand,
Wellington, 11 May, 1866.

Sir,

Begging reference to my letter of April 28th, respecting Panama Service, I am further desired by the General Manager respectfully to state that the Secretary advises him, by the last mail, that the Directors, in the absence of advice as to any dates being agreed upon by the Governments of New Zealand and New South Wales, have deemed it advisable to arrange, for the present, that the steamer for Panama should leave Wellington on the 8th of each month, as per hand-book received per last mail, copy of which was furnished you on receipt. I am therefore instructed to request that you will be good enough to acquiesce in the adoption, for the present, of the dates given in the circular, as the arrangements at Panama are based upon those dates.

I would respectfully beg for a reply in sufficient time to enable me to advise the General Manager at Sydney, and the Secretary at London, per "Airedale," on the 14th instant.

I have, &c.,
HY. LAWSON,
Sub-manager.

Secretary, Post Office, Wellington, to Sub-manager, P. N. Z. and A. R. M. Co., Sydney.

General Post Office,
Wellington, 11 May, 1866.

Sir,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of this date, requesting that an alteration may be sanctioned in the dates of departure of the vessels from Sydney and Wellington for Panama, as given in your letter of 25th February last, to the dates specified in the margin, as per hand-book lately published by the P. N. Z. and A. R. M. Co., and referred to in your letter.

A communication on the subject will be addressed to the New South Wales Government, whose consent is also necessary, by the first mail, recommending these dates to be adopted pending further experience in the matter, and the Postmaster General has approved of their adoption in the meantime until a reply is received from Sydney.

The Postmaster General will expect the first steamer to leave Wellington for Panama on the 8th June next.

I have, &c.,
G. ELIOTT ELIOTT,
Secretary.

No. 3.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,
NEW ZEALAND.

New South Wales.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15 June, 1866.

SIR,

I beg to convey to you my acknowledgment of the due receipt of your letter dated May 15th, transmitting copies of correspondence between your Government and the Agent of the Panama, New Zealand, and Australian Royal Mail Company, and copies of the original Contract for the Panama Steam Postal Service; and also, draft Articles of Agreement proposed to be entered into by your Government and the Government of this Colony.

2. Under the direction of His Excellency Sir John Young, and in the interest of this Colony, the following points are submitted for your consideration and concurrence, before any final agreement between your Government and the Government of New South Wales is concluded. It does not appear to this Government that the Articles of Agreement transmitted by you are sufficiently comprehensive in their provisions, or sufficiently explicit in defining the details of the engagement of the Colony of New South Wales, to receive the assent of this Government in their present form. While it is fully intended to carry out the resolution passed by the Legislative Assembly of this Colony, April 20th, 1865, I am bound to admit that the manifest unwillingness of the other Australian Colonies to contribute any aid to the Panama Service is a matter of serious disappointment. It was reasonably expected that at least Victoria, having, it is believed, more important relations with America than any other of these Colonies, would render assistance in establishing a line of steam communication between Australia and Europe, which should embrace the great commercial countries of the American Continent. Up to the present stage of our negotiations, both Victoria and Queensland stand aloof from the undertaking.

3. In this state of circumstances, and having regard to the equal responsibility of this Government with the Government of New Zealand in the payment of the subsidy, it is my duty to claim for New South Wales an equal voice and authority in all matters relating to the service, and more expressly in the admission of other countries to the advantages to be derived from its establishment. It must be understood that, in any modification or alteration of the original contract, any negotiation with the British Government or the Government of any Foreign Country, or in any arrangement for extending the advantages of the service to other of the Colonies in this hemisphere, the expressed consent of the Government of New South Wales must be first obtained, and be held to be indispensable to the validity of such proceedings.

4. In order to protect the interests both of New Zealand and New South Wales, it will be necessary to insist that all mails for Panama, or for countries via the port of Panama, made up in Tasmania, or in Colonies of Australia not contributing to the subsidy, shall be forwarded for shipment on the mail steamer at the port of Sydney, and shall not be received at any port in New Zealand. If the Colony of Victoria were to despatch mails by a branch steamer leaving Melbourne about the date of the departure from Sydney, and those mails were to be received on board the mail steamer at Wellington, the people of Victoria would thus be permitted to participate in all the benefits of the service, at the cost of New Zealand and New South Wales. You will therefore, as one condition of the agreement between your Government and the Government of this Colony, adopt the necessary measures to reject all mails from ports in Tasmania, or from ports in Australia other than in New South Wales, whether sent direct to Wellington, or by way of Nelson or any other port in New Zealand.

5. It is further submitted for the concurrence of your Government, that in carrying the mails of the non-contributing Colonies, even by way of Sydney, as now insisted upon, we ought to receive the amount of sea postage on all letters so conveyed. Communications will be addressed to the neighbouring Governments in explanation of these conditions, in which it is believed you will fully concur.

6. In the event of any Australian Colony agreeing to contribute an adequate share to the subsidy, this Government will in such case readily concur in any equitable arrangement for the postal accommodation of the Colony so contributing.

7. Though the "Kaikoura" will leave Sydney this day, in pursuance of arrangements made before the receipt of your letter of May 15, and it is intended that the next steamer shall leave on the 15th of July, this date is certainly not favourable to New South Wales, and there will be no objection raised to a change in the date of departure, in accordance with the Time-table preferred by you. It is hoped, however, that a Time-table may be agreed upon, by which the departure and arrival of the Panama mails, both in England and Australia, will more satisfactorily alternate with the mails conveyed by the Suez route.

8. Your Government will, of course, see that penalties are assented to by the contracting Company, for the non-performance of the passage between Wellington and Sydney within the contract time.

9. As no agent is appointed to proceed to Panama in charge of the mails by the "Kaikoura," this Government invites your concurrence in placing the mails for the present entire voyage in charge of H. S. Machin, Esquire, the commander of the ship.

10. It is desirable that a return should be furnished to this Government of all letters, newspapers, and mail parcels forwarded from New Zealand by the mail steamer of each month; and a like return shall be supplied to you for the Colony of New South Wales.

11. By the next mail leaving Sydney, Articles of Agreement, prepared by the Law Advisers of the Crown in this Colony, for carrying into effect the resolution of Parliament, shall be transmitted for your approval. In the meantime, I beg to assure you that no step will be omitted by this Government to support the undertaking now commenced, it is believed, under fair auspices of success; and to render assistance to New Zealand, in ensuring the completion and permanence of a service from which so much has been hoped by the people of both Colonies.

I have, &c.,

HENRY PARKES.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, QUEENSLAND.

New South Wales.

(7.)

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 18 June, 1866.

SIR,

Calling your attention to the negotiations opened with your Government by Dr. Featherston, on behalf of the Government of New Zealand, in March, 1865, for establishing regular steam communication between Australia and Panama, I have now the honor to submit for your consideration the whole subject of this steam service.

2. As you are, no doubt, aware, from the ordinary channels of intelligence, the first steam-ship—the "Kaikoura"—left Sydney on the 15th instant, to open this line of communication; while another vessel has been sent round by Cape Horn to open it on the other side of the Pacific at the same time. A second vessel to continue the service from the Australian terminus has arrived in these waters.

3. These vessels have been built by the contracting Company, with a careful regard to the introduction of all the latest improvements derived from experience in steam postal navigation. Accommodation for a large number of passengers, at fares graduated to meet the means of the different classes of society, has been successfully combined with high rates of speed, and every precaution appears to have been taken to adapt the ships to the peculiar character of the navigation in which they are to be employed. The fine passages made by both vessels from England to the Colonies afford the best ground for confidence in the punctual performance of the contract.

4. The importance of this steam-ship service, it is believed, will not be questioned by persons who have paid attention to the subject; and the many natural elements of success which will at once come into active play on the opening of the route, can scarcely fail of rendering it permanent. A line of steam-ships that will place these Colonies in direct communication with both the Pacific and Atlantic ports of the United States, the rich countries of South America, and the British Colonies of Canada and the West Indies, as well as with England and France and the other nations of Europe, must, as its benefits become known and understood, command a general support; nor can it be supposed that the Colony of Queensland has not a close interest in the success of this enterprise, or is indisposed to share in its direction and its advantages.

5. It is now, when the service has been actually commenced, and commenced under every condition of success which capital, experience, and foresight could secure, that I invite you to consider the expediency of co-operating with this Government in support of the new line. I am directed by His Excellency Sir John Young to supply you with the accompanying parliamentary paper, explanatory of the negotiations that have taken place on the subject, and to inform you of the nature and extent of the engagements of New South Wales in carrying out the undertaking. The contracting Company is engaged to connect the Port of Sydney and the Port of Panama, via the Port of Wellington, by a ten-knot service, for which the Company is to receive an annual subsidy of £110,000. For this subsidy New Zealand and New South Wales are jointly responsible; but the sum will be subject to reduction by the amount of the sea postage between Australia and Panama and between Colon and England. The arrival and departure of the steam-ships at Panama will be timed to connect with the departure and arrival of the Royal Mail Company's ships on the Atlantic side. At present this Colony and New Zealand have entire control of the service.

6. Though I may acknowledge that some disappointment has been felt at the absence of co-operation on the part of other of the Australian Colonies in this undertaking, still the Government of New South Wales is fully prepared to act in concert with the Government of New Zealand in carrying out the contract, even should no assistance be extended to it by the neighbouring Governments. But it is thought, from the favourable views conveyed to Dr. Featherston in your letter of the 27th March last year, that it is a step not less due to you than to the interest of this Colony, to submit the matter as it now stands for the further consideration of the Government of Queensland.

I have, &c.,
HENRY PARKES.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, QUEENSLAND, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Brisbane, 5 July, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th ultimo, submitting, for the consideration of this Government, the subject of the Steam Postal Service between the Australian Colonies and Europe, via Panama, which has recently been established; and further expressing a hope that this Colony will not be indisposed to bear a proportionate share of the expense of maintaining this new service. In reply, I have to inform you that this Government is not in a position to take any action in furtherance of the mail service above referred to, as the question of the Torres Straits route is one more immediately affecting the interests of Queensland, and to such this Government deems itself at present more specially pledged.

I have, &c.,
R. R. MACKENZIE.

No. 6.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA.

New South Wales.

(54.)

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 22 June, 1866.

SIR,

Referring to my letter of February 28th, on the subject of ocean postal communication, I am now directed by His Excellency Sir John Young to invite your attention to the concluding paragraphs of that letter.

2. The opening of the direct route to the United States and Europe, by way of the Isthmus of Panama, is of so much importance to the whole of the Australian Colonies, and more particularly to the great commercial Colony of Victoria, that the subject, it is presumed, has already received the consideration of your Government. As you will have been apprised by the public journals, the first steam-ship of the new line left Sydney on the 15th instant. The second vessel will leave on the 15th July. Afterwards the date of departure on this side will be changed to the 1st of each month.

3. I shall be glad to be informed of any decision arrived at by the Government of Victoria in respect to this service, and the subsidy to be paid to the contracting Company, in order to the due consideration of any modification of existing arrangements which may be necessary to meet your interests. As matters now stand, the whole cost being jointly borne by New South Wales and New Zealand, so also will the control of the service be confined to this and the neighbouring Colony.

4. Mails will be carried by ships of the new service via Panama for all parts of America and Europe; but in the case of the other Australian Colonies not contributing to the subsidy, arrangements must be specially made by which the mails will be sent to Sydney for transhipment, and the amount of the sea postage credited to the Governments of New South Wales and New Zealand. No mail from Tasmania or from any port in Australia, except Sydney, will be received on the mail steamer at Wellington.

5. It is desirable that proper precautions should be taken to despatch all mails intended for the Panama route sufficiently early to reach Sydney before the departure of the mail steamer at the time notified.

I have, &c.,
HENRY PARKES.

No. 7.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW ZEALAND, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

New Zealand.
Colonial Secretary's Office,
Wellington, 23 July, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 66-51, of the 15th ultimo, on the subject of the draft contract for the Panama Steam Postal Service, and stating that, by the next mail leaving Sydney, Articles of Agreement between the Governments of New Zealand and New South Wales in respect to this service, prepared by the Law Officers of the Crown in New South Wales, would be forwarded for the approval of this Government.

It is a matter of disappointment to this Government that these Articles of Agreement have not yet been received; and I trust that no unnecessary delay will be incurred in their preparation and transmission to this Colony, as it is important that some definite agreement should be arrived at, especially as payments on account of the service will now be falling due monthly. The contract with the Panama Company should also be executed as soon as practicable, as the Company are applying to this Government to have it sent to London for signature by the Directors there.

I enclose, for your information, copies of the correspondence, noted in the margin, with the Government of Victoria, respecting a mail forwarded last month from that Colony for the Panama route, and the amount of additional postage which should be charged thereon. I shall feel obliged if you would favour me with the views of the New South Wales Government on the question raised therein, in order that those Australian Colonies which have not as yet agreed to contribute to the Panama Steam Postal Service may be definitely informed on what conditions alone their mails will be forwarded by that line.

Chief Sec., Victoria, to Col. Sec., N. Z., 12 June, 1866.
Col. Sec., N. Z., to Chief Sec., Victoria, 23 July, 1866, with enclosures.

I perceive that, in your letter now under acknowledgment, you express an opinion that all mails via Panama made up in Australian Colonies not contributing to the subsidy should be forwarded for shipment on the mail steamer at the port of Sydney, and should not be received at any port in New Zealand. I shall be glad to be informed of the particular reasons on which this opinion is founded, as it appears to this Government a matter of indifference at what port such mails are put on board a Panama mail steamer, so long as a sufficient amount is paid on account of the letters and newspapers contained in them, and that amount is divided between the Colonies of New South Wales and New Zealand.

It was on this view of the case, and in order to save the public inconvenience which would have been caused by the rejection of the mail sent in good faith from Victoria, and subject to such additional rate as may be determined on, that this Government allowed the mail to be forwarded to its destination. But with respect to the future, it is necessary that a definite arrangement be come to with those Colonies which are not yet parties to the Panama Mail Service, with a view of requiring them either to make a fixed contribution to the service (which would be the best arrangement) or of charging a sufficient additional postage, or of refusing to allow their mails to be conveyed by that service.

I have, &c.,
E. W. STAFFORD.

Melbourne, 12 June, 1866.

Sir,

I have the honor to request that you will be good enough to inform me whether any arrangement can be made, under which letters and newspapers posted in this Colony for transmission by the Panama line of steamers, can be forwarded to destination via Wellington, New Zealand.

Of course it is expected that any such arrangement would provide for the collection and accounting for to your Colony of such additional postage as may be determined on by your Government; and I should feel obliged if you would, in the event of the proposition being favourably entertained, cause me to be furnished with a scale of charges on letters, packets, and newspapers posted in Victoria, addressed to places for which mails may be made up at the Post Office, Wellington, for despatch by the Panama route.

Letters

Letters and newspapers for transmission via Panama, by this opportunity, which have been posted with only the ordinary rates of postage affixed, will be forwarded by the steamer "Tararua," which sails from this port to-morrow; and it is requested that, in order to save disappointment, these may, if practicable, be sent forward, and the deficient postage charged on delivery.

I have, &c.,

JAMES M'CULLOCH,
Chief Secretary.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 12th ultimo, requesting that you may be informed whether any arrangement can be made, under which letters and newspapers posted in Victoria can be forwarded, via Wellington, by the Panama line of steamers, and stating that a mail by that route is forwarded in the steamer "Tararua."

In reply, I have to state that the question of the conveyance of the mails for any Colonies which have not as yet agreed to contribute towards the cost of the Panama Mail Service, is at present under the consideration of the Governments of New South Wales and of this Colony, and that a further communication will be made to you on the subject so soon as that question is determined.

In the meantime I have to inform you, that the Victorian mail by the "Tararua" was, in accordance with your request, forwarded by the "Kaikoura." I enclose a statement of the weight of the bags and packets in that mail; and I have to request you to be good enough to cause me to be furnished, at your early convenience, with the number and weights of the letters, and with the number of the newspapers contained therein.

I have, &c.,

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW ZEALAND, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

New Zealand.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Wellington, 13 August, 1866.

SIR,

Col. Secy.,
N.S.W., to Col.
Secy., N.Z., No.
66-51. 15 June,
1866.

Col. Secy., N.Z.,
to Col. Secy.,
N.S.W., No. 246.
23 July, 1866.

In the correspondence noted in the margin, which has taken place on the subject of the Panama Steam Postal Service, the question has arisen as to what course should be adopted with respect to the transmission by that route of mails to and from those Australian Colonies which have not as yet agreed to contribute to the subsidy now payable in equal shares by the Governments of New South Wales and New Zealand, on account of that service.

That question is of great importance, for it not only materially affects the postal interests of the Australian Colonies generally, but its unsettlement would tend to create and maintain a spirit of jealousy and irritation between those Colonies, which in all probability would not be confined to the particular question at issue, but would rapidly spread to, and soon involve, all matters in which it is essential to their best interests that they should cordially co-operate.

The Panama Service having now been successfully commenced, it appears to this Government that the fairest course which could be adopted with respect to the transmission of mails by that service to and from the Colonies of Victoria, South Australia, Tasmania, and Queensland, would be that each Colony should pay, as a contribution to the whole cost of the service, a sum calculated on the proportion which the number of letters and newspapers conveyed on account of each Colony bore to the whole number, or, failing this, then such fixed sum as may be mutually agreed upon.

A refusal, on the part of any Colony, to agree to one or other of the above propositions, would appear to necessitate either the imposition of large additional rates of postage on the mails of such Colony, or an absolute prohibition of their transmission by the Panama line. It is obvious that either result will lead to embarrassment and dissatisfaction, and possibly to more or less successful attempts at evasion. A consideration of these circumstances, and of the desirability of having the questions at issue settled as speedily as possible, will, I have no doubt, induce the Government of New South Wales to concur with this Government in inviting the Governments of Victoria, South Australia, Tasmania, and Queensland, to send delegates to confer with persons similarly appointed by the Governments of New South Wales and New Zealand, in order to determine on some plan in reference to this subject, which will secure their co-operation and protect their interests.

Another important subject, which might be advantageously considered by the delegates, would be the general rates of postage to be charged for letters and newspapers by the Panama route by sea, and for the transit of the Isthmus.

I would suggest Wellington as a convenient place at which the meeting of delegates could be held, and I trust that you will join with this Government in communicating with the Governments of Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, and Tasmania, and in earnestly requesting their assent to this proposal.

I have transmitted copies of this letter to those Governments, with an expression of the hope that the suggestion contained in it may meet their views.

Pending a reply from the Colonies I have indicated, to the invitation for a Conference, it is advisable that their mails be conveyed by the Panama steamers, whether offered to be put on board at Sydney or Wellington—the cost for conveying the same to be subsequently adjusted.

I have, &c.,
E. W. STAFFORD.

No. 9.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,
NEW ZEALAND.

New South Wales.
Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 1 September, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the due receipt of your letters, No. 245 of July 23rd, and No. 259 of the 13th ultimo, on the subject of the Panama Steam-ship Service; and I now return, for the further consideration of your Government, the draft Articles of Agreement transmitted by your previous communication of the 15th of May, with such amendments as appear to be necessary to carry out the conditions of contract in my letter to you of the 15th of June. For the more ready examination, these alterations and additions are written in red ink on your draft. Should you concur in the amended agreement now submitted, you will, perhaps, prepare an instrument embodying the terms of contract between the two Colonies so assented to, and it will be executed without further delay on the part of New South Wales.

2. I much regret that you should have taken a view of this undertaking, and of the interests of the two Colonies engaged in it, so materially differing from the views of this Government. In my letter of the 15th of June, I definitely informed you of the conditions which would be insisted upon in any contract entered into by New South Wales, for carrying out the Panama Service; and as these conditions were based on the position of equal pecuniary responsibility which this Colony was called upon to occupy, in conjunction with New Zealand, it was not supposed that they would be objected to, unless it could be shewn that they prejudicially affected your interests. You, however, have considered it your duty to take a course which evinces a disregard of our interests, quite irreconcilable with the admission on your part of our equal authority in controlling the service. With the hope that this course will not be persisted in, I now invite your attention to the considerations that have influenced the Government of New South Wales in arriving at its decision.

3. The Colony of Victoria is the Australian Colony most largely interested in the successful opening of the route to America and Europe via the Isthmus of Panama. The position assumed by that Colony, from first to last, has been, if not one of discouragement and hostility to the undertaking, at least one in which she has steadily refused to contribute towards the cost of it. In the early part of last year, when Dr. Featherston, the Representative Agent of the New Zealand Government, submitted to the Government of Victoria the whole question, as stated in his minute of March 10th, 1865,* with a view to the neighbouring Colony participating in the establishment of the proposed service, Mr. M'Culloch replied at some length, in support of his refusal. So far back as the 28th of February last, this Government again opened the question to the Victorian Government, urging several reasons why the Colony of Victoria should join with New South Wales in contributing towards the payment of the subsidy agreed upon by New Zealand.

- No. 6. Zealand. On the 22nd of June last, a second letter was addressed to the Government of Victoria, in which the interest of that Colony in the opening of the Panama route was urged as a reason for the reconsideration of the subject; and, in the event of no contribution being made, it was distinctly stated that all mails must be forwarded by way of Sydney. Though we expressly desired to be informed of any decision in the matter, no reply to either of these letters has been received up to the present date, from the Government of Victoria. Copies of both these communications are enclosed for your information.
- No. 6 and Encl. No. 3.
- No. 4 and 5. 4. I also enclose copies of correspondence between this Government and that of Queensland, by which it will be seen that the latter Colony, though sufficiently courteous to reply to our communications, at the same time positively declines to bear part of the burden.
5. Under these circumstances, it appears unreasonable, on the part of your Government, to entertain any desire of placing the other Australian Colonies on the same footing as New South Wales, or the expectation that we could possibly concur in any such arrangement. These Colonies would be practically placed in a position of equal advantage, as pointed out in my letter of 15th of June; if mails were received by steamers leaving their respective ports at dates calculated to meet the mail steamer at Wellington.
- No. 3.
- No. 7. 6. In your letter of the 23rd of July, you ask to be informed of our particular reasons for insisting upon the mails from the non-contributing Colonies being forwarded by way of Sydney. The reasons for this course, as stated above, and explained more fully in my letter of the 15th of June, are sufficiently obvious. We do not see why New South Wales should pay for the accommodation of these Colonies. This Government, however, will be prepared to concur in any equitable arrangement for admitting them to full participation in the benefits of the service, whenever any of them may consider it desirable to open negotiations with that object.
- No. 3.
- No. 8. 7. Referring more especially to your letter No. 259, of the 13th ultimo, I am bound to dissent from your opinion that any danger can arise to the adjustment of questions of general interests between the Colonies in this hemisphere, by New Zealand and New South Wales insisting upon directing for their own advantage a costly service which they are left exclusively to support from their public revenues. It is open to the other Colonies at any time to become parties to this service; but it does not appear to be probable that they would take much trouble to this end, if they were allowed to enjoy all the substantial conveniences, without incurring any of the responsibilities attached to it.
8. This Government does not entertain much hope of any practical good arising from a postal Conference in Wellington such as you suggest; nor is it likely that those Australian Colonies that have declined to take any part in establishing the Panama Service, will consider themselves to be sufficiently interested in the matter to appoint delegates. The adjustment of the postage rates, all arrangements for facilitating transit across the Isthmus of Panama, and the modification of the Time-table so as to bring the performance of the journey from Southampton to Sydney within the time occupied by the journey viâ Suez, must, I apprehend, be effected by the Governments of New Zealand and this Colony in communication with the contracting Company and the Imperial Government.
9. I am informed, by telegrams in the public journals, that mails have been again despatched from Melbourne by branch steamer, in order to their transshipment on board the "Rakaia" at Wellington. I do not suppose that these mails, or any other mails coming from ports in Australia or Tasmania, other than the port of Sydney, will be forwarded, in view of the decision of this Government, as now communicated. But should you feel yourself constrained to disregard the terms which are considered essential to any contract to be entered into by New South Wales in carrying out the understanding arrived at with Dr. Featherston, and again forward mails transhipped at Wellington from any of the non-contributing Colonies, that act will be held by this Government as a release from its engagements in respect to the Panama Service, on payment of its proportion of the subsidy up to the present date.
10. In submitting for your early consideration the views of this Government on the whole question, as between the contributing Colonies and those Colonies that refuse to contribute, I am desired by His Excellency Sir John Young to express the anxiety of this Government to continue in association with New Zealand in carrying out this important service.

I have, &c.,
HENRY PARKES.

It must be admitted that the magnitude of the resources of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, gives it a most decided advantage over any enterprise dependent for success on the local means at present developed in Australia, and that should it be found necessary to adopt an entirely new system, the Colonies must be prepared to incur, at the outset, the risk of even greater inconveniences and delays than those we are subject to at the present time.

Notwithstanding this, the Government of Victoria feel that it is better not to shrink from encountering the probable temporary evil adverted to, when by such sacrifice the Steam Postal Communication with England may ultimately be placed on a permanently satisfactory and efficient footing.

With these views I am directed by His Excellency Sir Charles Darling to invite the co-operation of your Government, and to suggest, as the best means by which the desired end may be attained, that the Australian Colonies should appoint delegates to meet in Melbourne, as the most central spot, for the purpose of considering whether, and at what period, it would be advisable to terminate the existing contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, and to inquire into and suggest the best means by which the Ocean Postal Service may be provided for, assuming that the connexion with the Company were to be dissolved.

A communication to the same effect has been addressed to the respective Governments of South Australia, Tasmania, and Queensland.

I have, &c.,

JAMES M'CULLOCH.

No. 3.

Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to Chief Secretary, Victoria.

New South Wales,
Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 28 February, 1866.

Sir,

I am directed by His Excellency Sir John Young to acknowledge the due receipt of your letter of 16 February, bringing under the notice of this Government the unsatisfactory manner in which the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company has for some time past carried on the Postal Service between England and Australia, and suggesting, as the best means of devising a remedy for the serious inconveniences now suffered by the Australian Colonies from this cause, that delegates from South Australia, Tasmania, Queensland, and New South Wales, should meet a representative of your Government in Melbourne, to consider the whole subject.

The Government of this Colony is fully alive to the magnitude of the interests that have been disarranged and injured by the failure of the contracting Company to perform the Service within the terms of their engagement, and already the expediency of retiring from the contract has been under consideration. The means of redress to which your suggestions directly point will sooner or later be forced to a practical trial. Whether the resources of the Australian steam ship companies are at present equal to an undertaking which the most powerful Company in the world has so imperfectly carried through may be fairly held in some doubt, without questioning for a moment the power of the Colonies to terminate a grievance so generally felt, or the advisability of adopting immediate steps for this purpose. The Australasian Steam Navigation Company has opened communication with this Government with a view of tendering for the contract, and, in the event of tenders, open to the Colonies, being called for, is prepared to take up the service at a reduced subsidy. The Company has now afloat four powerful vessels which the Directors consider capable of successfully performing the passages between Australia and the Red Sea, and it is urged by them that the time necessary for the termination of the existing contract would be sufficient for the building of other vessels expressly adapted for the service. On the whole, it is hoped that no serious drawbacks would arise from a transference of the service to the hands of colonial contractors.

The Port of Sydney being the last point of arrival and the first of departure in Australia, this Colony, as a consequence, has suffered more severely than Victoria or South Australia, from the irregularities in the Suez Mail Service; and we cannot be supposed to be less desirous than the Southern Colonies of a thorough investigation of the whole question, in order to arrive, as speedily as possible, at a more satisfactory permanent condition. It appears to this Government, however, that the matter might be discussed by letter, without the necessity of a Conference in Melbourne; but should the other Colonies fall in with the proposal of the Government of Victoria, no difficulty on this point will be raised here.

Connected with the general subject, I am directed to invite your attention to the engagement which this Government has entered into with the Government of New Zealand for establishing a line of Steam Communication between England and Australia via the Isthmus of Panama, and the immediate prospect of the opening of this line. It will probably be known to you, that this route has, at all times, found many advocates in New South Wales, who have supported it, not merely as a means of postal communication, but as likely to contribute very materially to the commerce and traffic of this portion of Her Majesty's Dominions. The Isthmus of Panama may be regarded as the great gathering ground of converging streams of population, which again diverge from that point and distribute themselves to all parts of the world; and the elements of industrial and commercial enterprise and accruing wealth, thus carried forth, may be confidently expected to flow largely in upon these Colonies, and beneficially influence their progress and prosperity. At the Port of Colon, as also on the Pacific side, steam passenger ships arrive and depart almost daily, keeping up a complete system of rapid communication with England and France, the Atlantic States of America, the West Indies, Mexico, California, British Columbia, and all parts of the West Coast of South America. The contracting Company have built ships for the Australian and Panama Service of 1,500 to 1,800 tons register, and 450 to 500 horse power, combining high rates of speed with adequate accommodation for first, second, and third class passengers; and the first vessel is expected to arrive at Sydney in April next.

At present the Government of New South Wales is responsible for the whole amount of the Australian subsidy for this important service, and it is now submitted whether a fair contribution should not be paid by the Government of Victoria for the postal and other advantages which your Colony will undoubtedly derive from it. Should the whole burden of this undertaking be left to New South Wales by the Southern Colonies, it may become a question for serious consideration whether this Government is not called upon to retire altogether from the Mail Service via Melbourne and King George's Sound—trusting to such friendly intercolonial arrangements as may be hereafter effected for extending the postal accommodation of the two services to all.

I have &c.,

HENRY PARKES.

New South Wales,
Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15 June, 1866.

Sir,

I am directed by the Chief Secretary, of this Colony, to inform you that with the concurrence and approval of John Vine Hall, Esquire, the General Manager of the Panama, New Zealand, and Australian Royal Mail Company, a case has been put on board the Royal Mail Steamer "Kaikoura," containing maps and documents, illustrative, and descriptive of this Colony, and its resources, a schedule of which is here enclosed.

2. As the interest of the Company is identical with that of this Government in seeking the circulation of the information thus supplied as widely as possible at Panama, I trust to your active co-operation in promoting its publicity. It is suggested that the Land Acts and Gold Regulations should be distributed to persons applying for information, always reserving two or more copies for reference in office, and that the other publications including the maps should be equally divided between the Agency at Panama, and the Agency at Colon, and deposited where the public can have ready access to them.

3. The placard is intended to be posted at different points on the Isthmus as you may consider most advisable.

4. It is confidently believed that by attention to these instruction the passenger traffic between Panama and this country must be greatly increased. It is scarcely necessary to add that the information thus supplied is of the latest and most trustworthy character.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

Sir,

I have the honor to announce the receipt of your letter of the 15th ultimo, accompanied by the documents and papers to which it refers. It will give me much pleasure to carry out the wishes of the Chief Secretary, by distributing, as widely as possible, the maps and papers sent to me for that purpose, and besides the Isthmus, I will send a portion to the principal Western Ports of South, Central, and North America, as far however as may be consistent with your instructions, which have been carefully noted. I sincerely coincide with you in hoping that the publicity thus given to the resources of the Colony may be productive of the development of the passenger traffic between this Continent and New South Wales.

Sydney, 7 September, 1866.

Dear Sir,

The papers, &c., put on board the "Kaikoura" in June last, were duly delivered to Mr. Sealy at Panama. I also handed the letter I received respecting said papers to him, at the same time explaining how desirable it was that these should be made use of.

I also saw Mr. Bidewell, H. B. M. Consul, on the same subject, requesting his assistance in giving all information to those wishing for such on New South Wales.

I may add, that our outward trip was looked upon by European residents in Panama as a great success.

The Americans, more especially the Manager of Panama Railroad, and also Manager of American Steam Company, both said to me that they guessed in six months time such vessels as the "Kaikoura" would not be one half large enough. I fully expect on my return to bring back a fair share of American passengers.

The alteration of dates leaving this last trip had a bad effect, as the ship was expected a fortnight sooner, and, of course, all sorts of reports were spread as to cause of non-arrival. These reports would unfortunately reach New York, and the counter report of our arrival would not reach New York in time for return passengers per "Ruahine," but I believe by the "Raikaia" and "Kaikoura" we shall begin to feel the effects of the line being fairly known. I will do myself the honor of waiting upon you this day, and shall be only too happy to forward the views of the New South Wales Government in any way in my power.

STEAM POSTAL SERVICE vid SUEZ.

No. 1.

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

General Post Office,
Sydney, 19 December, 1865.

THE Postmaster General deems it his duty to bring under the notice of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, for the consideration of the Cabinet and the Executive Council, the very unsatisfactory manner in which the mail service between Point de Galle and Sydney has been performed for some time past; and strongly recommends that an urgent remonstrance upon the subject should be addressed to the Imperial authorities, by the next mail.

The following points occur to him as so important that they should be brought prominently forward:—

1. That the anticipated advantages to this Colony from the present mail service vid Galle have not been realized, owing to the very unsatisfactory manner in which the service has been performed by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, especially during the present year.
2. That this dissatisfaction has been strongly expressed by the mercantile community, and in the Legislative Assembly of the Colony, and is participated in by the people generally.
3. The following statement will shew how well-founded such wide-spread dissatisfaction is. During the current year (1865) the mails have arrived behind time eleven months out of the twelve, viz. :—

January	5 days	behind time.
February	1 day	"
March	2 days	"
April	8	"
May	2	"
June	15	"
July	3	"
August	5	"
September	9	"
November	7	"
December		"

On four of these occasions, viz., in April, June, September, and November, the mails were so long behind time that the public, even of Sydney and suburbs, were unable to reply to letters received from the inward mail by the outgoing one. On many other of the occasions referred to, the inhabitants of the interior had no opportunity to reply by the outgoing mail. When the mails arrive to time, persons residing at least 300 miles from Sydney can reply by the return mail. Every day the mails are behind time is of great importance to those living in the country districts, because it lessens their chance of reply. When the English mail arrives too late, not only are the public disappointed, but the Post Office revenue suffers, because the outward mails are not nearly so large as when the inward ones arrive in time to allow the people in the country districts as well as in Sydney to reply.

During the year, the non-arrival of the mail steamers to time necessitated the despatch of no less than eight supplementary mails, and on two occasions steamers were subsidized to convey them.

The feeling is universally entertained in the Colony, that the non-arrival of the mails to time during the current year is attributable to the unsuitableness of the vessels on the line for the mail service.

Under these circumstances, it is highly desirable that the Imperial Government should be urged to demand from the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company that the mail service between Point de Galle and Sydney shall be performed in an improved manner. A rigid imposition of the penalties to which they (the Company) are liable under the contract should be enforced, and an intimation given that, unless immediate steps are taken for punctually delivering the mails according to the contract a notice on the part of the Government of New South Wales to discontinue its portion of the subsidy will be given.

J. A. CUNNEEN,
Postmaster General.

No. 2.

MINUTE of Proceedings of the Executive Council, with reference to the manner in which the Mail Contract is carried out by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, between Point de Galle and Sydney.

Minute 50/65.—Approved, 19th Dec., 1865. Confirmed, 22nd Dec., 1865.

HIS Excellency the Governor lays before the Council a Minute Paper by the Honorable the Vice-President, at the instance of the Postmaster General, with reference to the very unsatisfactory manner in which the Mail Service between Point de Galle and Sydney has been performed for some time past, by the Peninsular and Oriental Company.

The Postmaster General brings under review the following points, as the results of the mal-performance of the Contract:—

1. That the anticipated advantages to the Colony from the present Mail Service have not been realized, owing to the very unsatisfactory manner in which it has been performed, more especially during the present year.
2. That this dissatisfaction has been strongly expressed by the mercantile community, in the Legislative Assembly of the Colony, and is participated in by the people generally.
3. The following statement will shew how well-founded is such dissatisfaction:—
 1. During the current year the mails have arrived behind time eleven months out of the twelve.
 2. On four of these occasions, the mails were so long behind time that the public, even of Sydney and suburbs, were unable to reply to letters received from the inward mail by the outgoing one.
 3. On several occasions the inhabitants of the interior had no opportunity to reply by the outgoing mail.
 4. When the mails arrive to time, persons residing at least 300 miles from Sydney can reply by return mail.
 5. Every day the mails are behind time is of great importance to those living in the Country Districts, because it lessens their chance of reply.
 6. When the English mails arrive too late, not only are the public disappointed, but the Post Office revenue suffers, because the outward mails are not nearly so large as when the inward ones arrive in time to allow the people in the Country Districts as well as in Sydney to reply.
 7. During the year, the non-arrival of the mail steamers to time necessitated the despatch of no less than eight supplementary mails, and on two occasions steamers were subsidized to convey them, and the feeling is universally entertained in the Colony that the delay in carrying out the contract is attributable to the unsuitableness of the vessels used on the line.

2. The Council, having carefully considered the subject, are of opinion that the Mail Service between Point de Galle and this Colony, as performed by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, does not afford the advantages contemplated or expected by the Colonists, and accordingly advise, after a careful consideration of the statements furnished by the Postmaster General herein set forth, that His Excellency the Governor should be invited to communicate with the Imperial Government, urging upon them to demand from the Peninsular and Oriental Company, that the mail service shall be performed in an improved manner, that a rigid imposition of the penalties to which the Company are liable under the Contract shall be carried out, and an intimation given that, unless immediate steps are taken for punctually delivering the mails according to the contract, a notice, on the part of the Government of New South Wales, that their proportion of the subsidy to the Peninsular and Oriental Company will be discontinued.

ALEXR. C. BUDGE,
Clerk of the Council.

RESOLUTIONS of the Legislative Assembly, respecting the Contract of the Peninsula and Oriental Steam Navigation Company—Thursday, 21 December, 1865.

- (1.) That this House is of opinion,—
 - (1.) That the Contract subsisting between the Imperial Government and the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, for the conveyance of Mails to and from the Australian Colonies and Great Britain, by way of Suez, has not been carried into effect in a manner satisfactory to this House, or calculated to advance the commercial interests of this Colony.
 - (2.) That the said Contract has not been, nor is its continuance likely to be, productive of any public benefit to the people of this Colony, commensurate with the cost thereof.

- (3.) That consequently, and with a view to future modification and improvement of existing arrangements, it is desirable, so far as may be consistent with public honor and good faith, that steps should be taken by the Government, with as little delay as possible, for the withdrawal of this Colony from its share in the said Contract.
- (2.) That the purport of the foregoing Resolutions be transmitted by Address to the Governor, accompanied by a request that His Excellency will, as early as possible, communicate the same to the Imperial Government,—put and passed.

No. 4.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Chief Secretary's Office,
Melbourne, 16 February, 1866.

SIR,

The unsatisfactory manner in which the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company has for some time past carried on the Steam Postal Service between England and Australia has been so apparent as to render superfluous any lengthened argument in support of the proposition for concerted action on the part of the Colonies interested, in order to secure greater regularity of communication.

There can be no doubt that, as suggested by the Government of South Australia, the time has arrived when the Colonies should unite in order thoroughly to investigate the question, and to devise means for carrying on the service, if necessary, independent of the present contracting Company, which, it is feared will not, in the absence of any competing power, be induced to apply itself in a cordial spirit effectually to redress the grievances of which the Colonies have such just cause for complaint, even although the subsidy should be augmented in its favour.

It must be admitted that the magnitude of the resources of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company gives it a most decided advantage over any enterprise dependent for success on the local means at present developed in Australia; and that should it be found necessary to adopt an entirely new system, the Colonies must be prepared to incur, at the outset, the risk of even greater inconveniences and delays than those we are subject to at the present time.

Notwithstanding this, the Government of Victoria feel that it is better not to shrink from encountering the probable temporary evil adverted to, when by such sacrifice the steam postal communication with England may ultimately be placed on a permanently satisfactory and efficient footing.

With these views, I am directed by His Excellency Sir Charles Darling to invite the co-operation of your Government, and to suggest, as the best means by which the desired end may be attained, that the Australian Colonies should appoint delegates to meet in Melbourne, as the most central spot, for the purpose of considering whether, and at what period, it would be advisable to terminate the existing contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, and to inquire into and suggest the best means by which the Ocean Postal Service may be provided for, assuming that the connection with the Company were to be dissolved.

A communication to the same effect has been addressed to the respective Governments of South Australia, Tasmania, and Queensland.

I have, &c.,
JAMES M'CULLOCH.

No. 5.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA.

New South Wales.
Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 28 February, 1866.

SIR,

I am directed by His Excellency Sir John Young to acknowledge the due receipt of your letter of 16 February, bringing under the notice of this Government the unsatisfactory manner in which the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company has for some time past carried on the Postal Service between England and Australia; and suggesting, as the best means of devising a remedy for the serious inconveniences now suffered by the Australian Colonies from this cause, that delegates from South Australia, Tasmania, Queensland, and New South Wales, should meet a representative of your Government in Melbourne, to consider the whole subject.

The Government of this Colony is fully alive to the magnitude of the interests that have been disarranged and injured by the failure of the contracting Company to perform the service within the terms of their engagement, and already the expediency of retiring from the contract has been under consideration. The means of redress to which your suggestions directly point will sooner or later be forced to a practical trial. Whether the the resources of the Australian Steam-ship Companies are at present equal to an undertaking which the most powerful Company in the world has so imperfectly carried through may be fairly held in some doubt, without questioning for a moment the power of the Colonies to terminate a grievance so generally felt, or the advisability of adopting immediate steps for this purpose. The Australasian Steam Navigation Company has opened communication with this Government with the view of tendering for the contract, and, in the event of tenders, open to the Colonies, being called for, is prepared to take up the service at a reduced subsidy. The Company has now afloat four powerful vessels which the Directors consider capable of successfully performing the passages between Australia and the Red Sea; and it is urged by them, that the time necessary for the termination of the existing contract would be sufficient for the building of other vessels expressly adapted for the service. On the whole, it is hoped that no serious drawbacks would arise from a transference of the service to the hands of colonial contractors.

The port of Sydney being the last point of arrival and the first of departure in Australia, this Colony, as a consequence, has suffered more severely than Victoria or South Australia, from the irregularities in the Suez Mail Service; and we cannot be supposed to be less desirous than the Southern Colonies of a thorough investigation of the whole question, in order to arrive, as speedily as possible, at a more satisfactory permanent condition. It appears to this Government, however, that the matter might be discussed by letter, without the necessity of a Conference in Melbourne; but should the other Colonies fall in with the proposal of the Government of Victoria, no difficulty on this point will be raised here.

Connected with the general subject, I am directed to invite your attention to the engagement which this Government has entered into with the Government of New Zealand, for establishing a line of steam communication between England and Australia viâ the Isthmus of Panama, and the immediate prospect of the opening of this line. It will probably be known to you, that this route has at all times found many advocates in New South Wales, who have supported it not merely as a means of postal communication, but as likely to contribute very materially to the commerce and traffic of this portion of Her Majesty's Dominions. The Isthmus of Panama may be regarded as the great gathering ground of converging streams of population, which again diverge from that point and distribute themselves to all parts of the world; and the elements of industrial and commercial enterprise and accruing wealth, thus carried forth, may be confidently expected to flow largely in upon these Colonies, and beneficially influence their progress and prosperity. At the Port of Colon, as also on the Pacific side, steam passenger ships arrive and depart almost daily, keeping up a complete system of rapid communication with England and France, the Atlantic States of America, the West Indies, Mexico, California, British Columbia, and all parts of the West Coast of South America. The contracting Company have built ships for the Australian and Panama service of 1,500 to 1,800 tons register, and 450 to 500 horse power, combining high rates of speed with adequate accommodation for first, second, and third class passengers; and the first vessel is expected to arrive at Sydney in April next.

At present the Government of New South Wales is responsible for the whole amount of the Australian subsidy for this important service, and it is now submitted whether a fair contribution should not be paid by the Government of Victoria for the postal and other advantages which your Colony will undoubtedly derive from it. Should the whole burden of this undertaking be left to New South Wales by the Southern Colonies, it may become a question for serious consideration whether this Government is not called upon to retire altogether from the Mail Service viâ Melbourne and King George's Sound. Trusting to such friendly intercolonial arrangements as may be hereafter effected for extending the postal accommodation of the two services to all,—

I have, &c.,

HENRY PARKES.

THE SECRETARY, GENERAL POST OFFICE, LONDON, to THE POSTMASTER GENERAL, SYDNEY.

General Post Office,
London, 26 March, 1866.

SIR,

I am directed by the Postmaster General to inform you that he has received a letter from the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, pointing out that, from their experience of the working of the line between Point de Galle and Sydney, they find that more time is required for the outward voyage than for the voyage homeward. They have therefore proposed to add two days to the time allowed for the former, and to take away two days from that allowed for the latter.

These alterations will leave the nominal interval for replies throughout Australia the same as at present, but will no doubt considerably increase the actual interval; and under these circumstances, the Postmaster General has approved of the arrangement, and has authorized its taking effect at once.

The packet, therefore, which, but for this alteration, should leave Sydney on the 22nd May next, will not be despatched until the 24th.

I am, &c.,

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your despatches, Nos. 113 and 114, of the 20th and 22nd December respectively, enclosing a minute by your Responsible Advisers, and a copy of Resolutions adopted by the Legislative Assembly with reference to the irregularities of the Mail Packet Service.

These documents were forwarded to the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, and were referred by their Lordships to the Postmaster General; and I transmit to you a copy of a reply to that reference, which has been received from Lord Stanley of Alderly.

I have to request you to lay a copy of His Lordship's letter before your Responsible Advisers.

Sir,

With reference to your letter of 24th ultimo, I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, to transmit herewith a copy of a letter from the Postmaster General, dated 24th instant, together with copy of its enclosures relative to the complaints made by the Colony of New South Wales, of the unsatisfactory performance of the Australian Mail Service; and I am to request that, in laying the same before Mr. Secretary Cardwell, you will move him to cause the communication suggested by the Postmaster General to be made to the Governor of New South Wales.

No. 2.

Lord Stanley of Alderly to The Lords Commissioners of the Treasury.

General Post Office,
24 March, 1866.

My Lords,

I beg to return the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office, covering two despatches from the Governor of New South Wales, which was referred to me by your Lordships, on the 5th instant.

In the first of the despatches from New South Wales, dated the 20th December last, the Governor forwards the copy of a Minute from the Executive Council of the Colony, complaining of the very unsatisfactory way in which the Mail Packet Service between Point de Galle and Sydney had been performed during the past year, by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company.

Having called upon the Company to furnish me with their observations on the subject of this representation, I have the honor to enclose a copy of the reply which I have received, and which I request your Lordships to cause to be forwarded to the Governor by the next mail. The statements therein contained, that in every instance in which an excess of time has been occupied on any voyage, and the Company have not been able to satisfy me that the delay arose from circumstances beyond the Company's control, the penalties provided by the contract have been enforced, is strictly correct, and it is also true that on no occasion have the Company incurred a penalty for a late arrival at Point de Galle of the homeward mails.

The second Despatch from the Governor of New South Wales, dated the 22nd December last, encloses a copy of Resolutions adopted by the Legislative Assembly on the 21st December, stating that, as the Mail Service under the contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company has not been performed in a manner satisfactory to the House, or calculated to advance the commercial interests of the Colony, it is desirable that steps should be taken for the withdrawal of New South Wales from its share in such contract.

Sir John Young merely communicates these Resolutions to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, stating that there had not been time to present them to him formally; but I presume they must be treated as the definite determination of the Colony, and that I am to understand that, in conformity with the course prescribed by your Lordships, in your letter to the Colonial Office of the 16th November, 1864, the Colony of New South Wales will, at the expiration of two years and a quarter, counting from the arrival of the Governor's Despatch in England, on the 17th ultimo, withdraw from the arrangement under which the subsidy paid to the Peninsular and Oriental Company is apportioned between the Mother Country and the several Australian Colonies.

That no doubt, however, on this point may exist, I request that the Governor may be requested to state by the return mail, whether his despatch is to be considered as conveying a notice of withdrawal; and whether, if it be so, his Government abide by this notice; in order that I may take such steps as may be judged expedient in the matter.

It will be seen by a second letter from the Peninsular and Oriental Company, that experience shows that the voyage to Sydney requires more time than the voyage from Sydney, and that to provide for this, they propose to add two days to the time allowed for the outward voyage, and to deduct two days from the time for the homeward voyage,—an alteration which will be carried into immediate effect, and which, while it will leave the nominal interval for reply at Sydney (six days) the same as at present, will no doubt considerably increase the actual time, and will remove much cause of complaint.

I have, &c.,
STANLEY OF ALDERLY.

No. 3.

The Secretary, Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, to the Secretary of the General Post Office, London.

122, Leadenhall-street, London, E.C.,
20 March, 1866.

Sir,

I have the honor, by order of the Directors, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 12th instant (No. 20,906), enclosing a copy of a Despatch dated the 20th December last, which has been received from the Governor of New South Wales, through the Secretary of State for the Colonies, together with copy of a Minute of the Executive Council, relative to the manner in which the Mail Packet Service from Point de Galle to Sydney has been performed during the past year, and requesting that the Directors will furnish the Postmaster General, as early as they conveniently can, with any observations which they may desire should be communicated to the New South Wales Government, in reference to these representations.

In reply, I am instructed to state, that the answer which I had the honor to address to you, on the 25th September last, to similar representations on the part of the Government of Victoria, is equally applicable to the remarks contained in the Despatch of the New South Wales Government; and I beg therefore to enclose a copy of that communication, in order that it may be transmitted to the Governor of the latter Colony.

With special reference, however, to the paragraph in the Minute of the Executive Council in which the Imperial Government are urged to a rigid imposition of the penalties to which the Company may be liable under the Contract,—the Postmaster General will, no doubt, be able to satisfy the Council that in every case in which the Company have become liable to penalties, those penalties have been rigorously exacted; and I am to take this opportunity of observing that, in criticising the performance of the Company's steamers, the New South Wales Government ignore altogether the successful manner in which the contract has been performed from its commencement, so far as the Homeward Passages are concerned. In no single instance have the Company incurred a penalty for the arrival of the steamers at Point de Galle after the contract time, and the mails from Australia have been delivered in this country with a regularity entitling the Company to great credit.

The passage from Ceylon to the Australian Colonies presents difficulties which have not to be encountered to the same extent on any other branch of the Company's operations; and although the Directors have recently purchased two screw steamers with the intention of placing them on the Australian line, in the hope that they may perform the service with efficiency, they feel, from the practical experience they have now gained, that in order to insure regularity on the downward passage, the service must be carried on with vessels capable of attaining a high rate of speed, and possessing other special qualifications.

The construction of a sufficient number of such vessels would involve an expenditure little short of £350,000; and it is scarcely necessary for the Directors to point out to the Postmaster General, that, as prudent men of business, and as guardians of the interests of the shareholders of the Company, they cannot be expected with a contract terminable upon two years' notice, and in the face of the hostility recently evinced towards the Company in the Colonies, to undertake the heavy responsibility of expending such an amount of capital.

All the important contracts for Ocean Postal Services were originally granted or have been renewed for a term of years sufficiently long to justify the Companies or individuals undertaking them in expending large amounts in the construction of new ships; and it has been a very proper and useful stipulation on the part of the Government, in granting or renewing such contracts, that such new vessels should be provided; and the Legislatures of the Australian Colonies would at any time find the Directors of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company quite prepared to entertain the question of a mail contract for a period that would warrant them in calling upon the shareholders for funds wherewith to build ships specially for the requirements of the line.

The Secretary, Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, to The Secretary, General Post Office, London.

Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company,
London, 22 March, 1866.

Sir,

Referring to the conversation between yourself and Mr. Bayley, on the 21st instant, upon the subject of the feasibility of altering the date of departure of the homeward mail from Sydney, I am instructed by the Directors to state, that, from their experience of the working of the line, they consider that the homeward steamers may leave Sydney two days later than at present, without incurring much risk of detaining the mail from Calcutta and China, at Point de Galle.

In support of this opinion, I may state that, out of sixty-five trips from Sydney to Ceylon, which have been performed under this Company's contract, the steamers have on fifty-three occasions arrived at Point de Galle before the contract time; and the Directors have this morning received a telegram from the Company's Agent there, announcing the arrival of the "Bombay" at that port on the 14th instant, three days early.

Should the proposed alteration meet with the approval of the Postmaster General, the Directors will instruct the Company's Agent at Sydney to alter the time of departure from the 22nd to the 24th, and to commence the arrangement at once.

The Directors beg to suggest that an addition of two days be allowed to the Company in respect of the outward voyage—experience having proved that the time specified in the contract for the passage from Ceylon to Sydney is generally insufficient. And they respectfully submit that the alterations in both cases are desirable, and will tend to assimilate the dates according to the Time-table with the actual performances of the contract packets.

Secretary.

No. 4.

C. W. Howell, Esq., to The Secretary to the General Post Office.

Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company,
Offices, 122, Leadenhall-street, London, E.C.

25 September, 1865.

Sir,

I have the honor, by order of the Directors, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 1st instant, in which you call attention to an extract of a further despatch addressed by the Government of Victoria to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, complaining of the manner in which the contract packet service is performed between Australia and Ceylon, and request the Directors to furnish the Postmaster General with any further observations they may wish to make on the subject.

In reply, I am instructed, in the first place, to express the sincere regret of the Directors that any cause for such a complaint should have arisen. They can readily appreciate the inconvenience and understand the annoyance created, when the regularity of the mail service with so distant a country as Australia suffers any interruption; but they must, in justice to themselves, point out that many of the difficulties which militate against the attainment of exactitude on a line so peculiar as that in question, appear recently to have been very much lost sight of, both by the Government and public of the Colony.

The Directors consider it may be useful to take this opportunity of extending their observations somewhat beyond the contents of the letter under reply, and to make some reference to the remarks of the Secretary to the Melbourne Government, in reply to questions put to him, on the receipt of the intelligence from England that the Home Government had accepted the Company's tender for a renewal of the monthly mail service with Australia.

The remarks alluded to, copied from the Melbourne Argus of 27th July, are appended hereto (marked A.)

The Directors observe, in the extract of the despatch from the Government of Victoria, that the recent cases of delay are assigned to an alleged deficiency in tonnage and power of the steamers employed; it is also stated that they should have been withdrawn from the line long since.

The Directors believe that the maximum of regularity on a line such as that between Sydney and Galle, is to be found in the employment of ships of moderate size, in which power is adjusted to tonnage in such proportion as to admit of the use of that power in almost any weather; they are of opinion that the "Bombay" and "Madras" combine these qualifications, and they point to their performances in confirmation of that opinion.

Each case of delay has its own distinct history, and the recent unfortunate irregularities are traceable, not to the age of the ships, or their tonnage or want of power, but to unavoidable accidents to their machinery, or to detentions and accidents equally unavoidable, to the steamers employed on the India and China lines, whose greater tonnage and power has not exempted them from such casualties.

As a case in point, the Directors beg to refer to the recent accident to the "Golconda," the result of which has yet to be felt in Australia.

This ship (an almost new one) left Suez with the London mails of 20-26 July, and a few hours afterwards was totally disabled by the breaking of her piston. She was towed back to Suez by another of the Company's steamers, the "Baroda"; while a third, the "Nemesis," was immediately prepared for the reception of the mails and passengers, which were eventually dispatched from Suez six days late. One day has been gained in the run to Aden, but these mails must of necessity leave Point de Galle and arrive in Australia after the appointed time, and yet the conditions of the Australian contract may be fulfilled to the letter.

The "Madras" has been recently surveyed in Bombay by the Government Surveyors, and has been certified to be in perfect order, and fit for any service she may be required for. (Vide B.)

The "Bombay," since the fracture of her shaft, which so seriously disturbed the Australian line, has carried the mails from Bombay to Suez and back within the contract time, and has thus established her efficiency.

It should always be borne in mind by the Australian community, that their mail service forms a part only of the great and intricate system of postal communication carried on by the Company, and that the regular working of each branch of this system, and the punctual accomplishment of a number of junctions, are necessary to the final delivery of an Australian mail at its appointed date, either in London or the Australian ports.

The total distance bearing on the delivery of each Australian mail in London is 15,785 miles by sea, and 987 miles by land, and the services of six steamers are engaged.

The total distance bearing on the delivery of the English mail at Sydney is 13,071 miles by sea, and 987 by land, and the services of four steamers are engaged. See tabular statement appended (marked C.)

These facts give the operations of the Peninsular and Oriental Company in connection with the mail service an entirely distinctive and exceptional character; and the Directors submit that a correct judgment of the manner in which their engagements are fulfilled can only be arrived at if these peculiar features of the case are taken into consideration.

Passing to the reported proceedings in the Parliament of Victoria, and to a letter they have received from their local agent, they find that, unless some guarantee be given that the service shall be more regularly performed than during the last six or eight months, the Government will give notice to the Imperial Government that the contract shall cease at the expiration of two years.

The Directors do not know what better guarantee for regularity can be afforded than that which exists in the identity of the interests of the two parties principally interested in the contract, namely, the public of Australia and this country, and the Company.

If the Company do the work with regularity, they do it at a moderate and estimated cost; if they do it irregularly, whether the irregularity arises from accidents to machinery or detention in consequence of adverse weather, they do it at a very heavy cost, and expenses of all kinds are entailed.

The fracture of a shaft is a casualty the Directors would give a large sum to avoid, if furnished with the means of knowing it was about to happen; but these misfortunes occur without the slightest warning, and a guarantee against them and their consequences would be simply worthless.

Such an announcement as that contained in the statement of the Secretary to the Victorian Government, can but have a paralyzing effect on the Company, with regard to the future; and the Directors would respectfully submit that the impolicy of a very short contract, on such a line as that with Australia, is exhibited in this case. The fact that, from the year 1860 to June, 1865, the Company have received premiums for 73 days gained, and only incurred penalties for 26 days lost on the Australian line, must be accepted as proof that the expiring contract has been well and faithfully performed; and the Directors cannot think it quite right that the success achieved, and frequently acknowledged, even in Australia, should be consigned to oblivion by the unavoidable accidents of the last few months.

It should also be borne in mind that the Directors do not ask for, and do not receive a rate of subsidy that would justify the employment of ships of the largest tonnage and power to be found in the Company's fleet, and that they have just consented to an abatement from that subsidy, which will have to be compensated by receipts from other sources, or by diminished expenditure.

I have, &c.,

C. W. HOWELL,

Secretary.

(A.)

A.

Extract from the "Melbourne Argus," of 27th July, 1865.

In reply to a question as to what course the Government intended to adopt with reference to the removal of the mail contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Company, Mr. McCulloch stated:—

"That the Imperial Government had accepted the service unconditionally; they had accepted it on their behalf, and on behalf of the Governments of Victoria, New South Wales, and Tasmania.

"With regard to a fortnightly or twice a month service, the Victorian Government were not in a position to accept either of those services; they were very anxious to have a fortnightly mail service, but, considering the manner in which the service had been conducted during the past six or eight months, they did not feel justified in entering into any further arrangements with the Peninsular and Oriental Company, until they had an assurance that the service would be carried out more satisfactorily in future. Moreover, unless experience proved that a better class of boats were employed in the conveyance of the mails than had hitherto been employed, and unless the service was altogether conducted in a more regular and better way in the future than it had been in the past, the Victorian Government would give notice to the Imperial Government that, at the expiration of two years, the present contract should cease, as far as this Colony was concerned. He regretted that the Home Government did not insist upon the Peninsular and Oriental Company calling at Kangaroo Island. It was a great hardship to the Colony of South Australia that the mail steamers should not be permitted to call there, as experience had shewn that no inconvenience would result from the adoption of that course."

B.

Case of the Outward February Australian Mail.

The "Madras" left Point de Galle on the 25th March (correct date), with everything sound and in good order. All went well until the 8th April, when the main shaft broke entirely through, and the ship had to proceed under canvas to King George's Sound, which place she reached on the 14th. The Company's Agent at the Sound then chartered the steamer "Wonga Wonga" for the conveyance on of the passengers, &c., and the mails were delivered in Adelaide and Melbourne in time for reply by the return mail.

C.

Case of S. S. "Bombay" with the Homeward April Australian Mail.

The "Bombay" left Sydney on the contract date, 22nd April, 1865, in excellent order. All went well until the 3th May (five days after leaving King George's Sound), when her screw shaft broke, and the propeller fell to the bottom of the sea. Under the circumstances, the commander, with the concurrence of the Naval Agent in charge of mails, deemed it prudent to shape a course for Mauritius under sail, which place he reached on the 21st May. Here the spare shaft and screw, which were on board, were fitted. The "Bombay" left on the 29th, for Aden, which course was adopted instead of proceeding to the legitimate destination—Point de Galle, with the view of expediting the delivery of the mails in England. She arrived at Aden on the 7th June, the new shaft and propeller having worked perfectly throughout.

The mails were then unfortunately detained at Aden until the 17th, owing to the late arrival of the Calcutta steamer, caused by the grounding of the "Nemesis" in the Hooghly. They were ultimately delivered in London on the 6th July.

The subsequent movements of the "Bombay" have been as follows:—Left Aden, June 17th; Arrived at Bombay, June 23rd. She was then placed on the Suez line, and left Bombay with the mails, July 9th. Arrived at Suez, 26th July (correct date). Left Suez, July 27th. Arrived at Bombay, 8th August (two days early), having on the latter run attained a speed averaging 11·2 knots per hour, thus entirely disproving the allegation that only ships unfit for the Indian lines are placed on that to Australia.

D.

Case of the Outward April Australian Mail.

On the 18th May, when the "Bombay" from Australia was one day overdue, the Company's Agent at Galle telegraphed to their Superintendent at Bombay respecting a steamer to take down the outward Australian Mail. Upon receipt of this message, which was delayed in consequence of an interruption in the lines of telegraph, the "Emeu" was coaled, stored, got ready for sea, and despatched to Galle as soon as possible for the above purpose. Before she arrived, however, the "Salsette" from China came in (en route to Bombay), and the Agent at Galle despatched that vessel to Australia with the mails on the 2nd June, the "Emeu" returning to Bombay.

E.

Case of the Outward May Australian Mail.

The "Madras" having fitted her spare main shaft which she broke on her downward voyage with the outward February mail, as stated in Paper A, left Sydney on the contract date, 22nd May, and reached Galle on the 16th June, her correct day, apparently all well. A few hours afterwards, however, it was discovered that she had sprung a leak; and as no means existed at Galle of tracing its position with certainty, or of making it good, it was deemed prudent to send her to Bombay for repairs, and to despatch the "Jeddo," which had just arrived from China (en route to Bombay), to Australia, with the mails, and this vessel accordingly left Galle on the 20th June, being one day before the contract time. She was, however, four days late in reaching Sydney, owing to continuous head winds, and time unavoidably lost in coaling at King George's Sound. On arrival at Bombay, the cause of the leak in the "Madras" was immediately discovered and removed; the vessel was then submitted to the examination of the Government Inspectors, a copy of whose certificate is appended.

In this case, again, the Company were put to great expense and inconvenience, by diverting a vessel from the China line; and their anxiety to preserve the regularity of the Australian line is proved.

J. Mackinlay, Esq., to Captain W. C. Barker, Officiating Superintendent of Marine.

Bombay, 2 August, 1865.

Sir,

Agreeably to your order, I proceeded on board the steam-ship "Madras," to specially survey and report on the hull, and especially the bottom of the vessel, after undergoing repairs in the Mazagon Dock, and have the honor to state that I consider the repairs done to be very efficient, and the hull of the vessel in every part now in perfect good order, and fit for any service she may be required for.

The machinery and boiler, as well as fittings, &c., I have already given a certificate for, so it is needless to say anything more about them, only that they are all efficient.

I have, &c.,

J. MACKINLAY,

Chief Engineer and Inspector of Machinery, Her Majesty's Dockyard, and Surveyor to the Port.

No. 8.

MINUTE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL to HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR, AND THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

General Post Office,
Sydney, 23 May, 1866.

THE Postmaster General is desirous of submitting to His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council, the following remarks upon the accompanying Despatch (No. 21, 26 March, 1866), from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies, enclosing a correspondence with the Postmaster General of England, the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, and the Directors of Peninsular and Oriental Company, upon the subject of the irregularities of the Mail Packet Service via Suez.

The purport of this correspondence is to obtain explicit information from the Government of New South Wales, whether a Minute of the Executive of the Colony, dated the 19th December, 1865, and a series of resolutions passed by the Legislative Assembly, on the 21st December, 1865, are to be considered as an official notice of withdrawal on the part of the Colony from the arrangement under which the subsidy paid to the Peninsular and Oriental Company is apportioned between the Mother Country and the several Australian Colonies.

After a careful consideration of these documents, the Postmaster General is of opinion that they will not warrant the construction which has been placed upon them by His Lordship the Postmaster General, in his letter to the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, dated 24th March, 1866.

This Minute, and these resolutions, are remonstrances against the irregularity with which the Mail Packet Service had lately been conducted, and contained an intimation that unless measures were taken to remedy this grievance, the necessary steps should, and would be taken to withdraw from the arrangement.

The Postmaster General is, therefore, of opinion, that Her Majesty's Government should be informed that the Despatches of His Excellency the Governor (dated the 20th and 22nd December, No. 113 and 114), transmitting these documents, were not intended to convey the official notice of withdrawal from the arrangement.

But

But on the other hand, the Postmaster General conceives that there are grave reasons for regret, that the Despatches transmitting these papers did not also convey the official notice of withdrawal.

The accompanying Schedule of the performance of the Mail Packet Service, for the years 1864 and 1865, will shew that the irregularities complained of prevailed throughout the period, and that the length of service of the vessels, with the necessary increase of wear and tear occasioned thereby, had led to a corresponding ratio of increase in these irregularities.

With regard to the remark of the Directors, in their letter of the 25th September, 1865, "that it should always be borne in mind by the Australian community that their "Mail Service forms a part only of the great and intricate system carried on by the "Company"; the Postmaster General is perfectly aware that the delay in the arrival of the mail packet had, in many instances, arisen from causes operating upon that portion of the postal route in which this Colony has a joint interest with India and those Eastern countries which participate in the contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Company.

But the special cause of complaint, on the part of the Colony, has arisen from the irregularity of the Service from Galle to Australia, arising (as is generally believed) from the incapacity of the vessels employed in the performance of the duty, their failure in which is clearly shewn in the record of their arrival in the Colony.

In the correspondence accompanying their Despatch, the Directors of the P. and O. Company call attention to the fact that, in every case in which the Company have become liable to penalties, those penalties have been rigorously exacted; and their statement is indorsed by His Lordship, the Postmaster General, in his letter of the 24th March, as strictly correct.

In recapitulating the performance of a Service extending from 1860 to June, 1865, they also state that they have received premiums for seventy-three days gained, and only incurred penalties for twenty-six days lost; and they contend that this must be accepted as a proof that the contract has been well and faithfully performed.

The Postmaster General is unable to reconcile these statements with the facts disclosed by record of arrivals of the mail packets,—which shew that in 1864, and to June, 1865, nine cases of late arrivals in the downward Service had occurred, on the line from Galle to Sydney, for which they were liable to penalties, but no penalty had been inflicted in any instance; while in four instances, in which there arose an apparent claim for a premium, it appears to have been applied for and granted.

On the other hand, in the Service from June, 1865, to the present time, (with only two exceptions) the arrivals have been behind time—varying from one to five days. The Postmaster General is, therefore, of opinion, that the Directors of the Company are not justified in basing a presumption that their contract has been well and faithfully performed, on the mere fact that an indulgence has been accorded to them in the remission of penalties which had been justly incurred.

The change, which has recently been made in the Time-table for arrival and departure, will have no other effect than that of officially delaying the arrival of letters from England by a period of two days, and no greater facilities for acknowledgment will be afforded; especially, as by the day of arrival being extended to the 16th, the day fixed for the departure of the mail viâ Panama, all possibility of answering immediately letters by that route is absolutely precluded.

The Directors draw attention to the fact that they have purchased two powerful steamers, with the intention of placing them on the Australian line, but no period is mentioned when their services had commenced or will commence. If the "Ellora," the last vessel placed upon this line, is one of these, her performance hitherto will not justify any hope of improvement.

But, the Directors themselves fail to hold out any hope of this kind; they state that "they feel, from the practical experience they have now gained, that in order to "insure regularity on the downward passage, the service must be carried on with vessels "capable of attaining a high rate of speed and possessing other special qualifications."

They had pointed out, in a previous Despatch, that the "Madras" and "Bombay" in their opinion, combined these special qualifications, and they point to their performances in confirmation of that opinion.

The record in the Colony of the performance of the first of these vessels will, I apprehend, have led to a different conclusion; and, as the Directors proceed to state that "the construction of a sufficient number of such vessels would involve an expenditure "little short of £350,000; and it is scarcely necessary to point out to the Postmaster "General that as prudent men of business, and, as guardians of the interests of the "shareholders of the Company, they cannot be expected * * * * * to undertake "the heavy responsibility of expending such an amount of capital," there appears to be little reason to hope that the service will in future be carried on with greater regularity.

The interests of the Company appear in all instances to have been studiously attended to; but, it also appears that in every instance the interest of the Colonies has been made subservient to that object.

The Postmaster General is, therefore, of opinion, that the interests of the Colony will be best consulted by immediately giving the requisite official notice (in conformity with the course prescribed by the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, in their letter dated the 16th November, 1864), of the determination of the Colony to withdraw from the arrangement under which the subsidy is apportioned between the Mother Country and the several Australian Colonies.

J. DOCKER,
Postmaster General.

MINUTE OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

AFTER the most careful consideration of the whole correspondence, herewith submitted, with reference to the performance of the Mail Packet Service via Suez by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, and having in view the former proceedings on the 19th December last, when a remonstrance was made against the irregularity with which the service had been conducted, the Executive Council entirely concur in the opinion of the Honorable the Postmaster General, as herein set forth.

They accordingly advise that the necessary steps may be taken (in conformity with the course prescribed by the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, in their letter dated 16th November, 1864) for giving the requisite official notice of the determination of the Colony to withdraw from the arrangement under which the subsidy is apportioned between the Mother Country and the several Australian Colonies.

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL, SYDNEY, to THE CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA.

General Post Office,
Sydney, 24 May, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to state that in the absence from Sydney of the Honorable the Chief Secretary, I have been requested to transmit to you a copy of a Minute upon a Despatch of the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies, enclosing a correspondence between the Postmaster General, the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, and the Peninsular and Oriental Company, on the subject of the irregularities which have within the last two years constantly occurred in the Mail Packet Service between Galle and Sydney, which Minute has been adopted by the Executive Council and forwarded by the outgoing mail to the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

You will perceive that the purport of this Minute is to give the official notification of the determination of the Government of New South Wales to withdraw from the arrangement at present existing for the conveyance of the European Mails.

It appears to this Government, that the object they have in view (the attainment of greater regularity in the performance of the Mail Service), would be more effectually gained if the Colonies interested in this arrangement acted in concert.

With this view, and for the information of the Government of Victoria, I have been instructed to forward this Minute, and to request your earnest consideration of the subject.

A copy of the Despatch referred to, with its enclosures, will be forwarded by an early opportunity, as the departure of the Mail Steamer will not allow of their preparation in time to accompany this communication.

I have, &c.,

CAPTAIN BLACK to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company,
Sydney, June 6, 1866.

SIR,

The Directors of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company having observed with much regret the dissatisfaction caused by the occasional late arrivals of the Mail Steamers, during the last twelve months, have instructed me, during my visit to the Colonies, to place myself in communication with your Government, with a view to explain our apparent shortcomings, and to propose what they consider will prove an effectual remedy.

They have already arranged with the Postmaster General in England to alter the date on which the Mail Steamer should leave Sydney, by postponing it for two days, as you are already aware from the last ship having left under the new regulation. This change was made principally to give the Colonies of New South Wales and Queensland more time to answer their letters; and I was sorry to observe from a public telegram, which I saw while in Melbourne, that it had caused much dissatisfaction here, because the steamers were also timed to arrive two days later. This dissatisfaction, if such there be, for I have been told to the contrary since my arrival in Sydney, must have arisen from misapprehension, for the time of departure from Point de Galle has been in no way altered, and the steamers are still bound to make the best voyage they can to this port. It has been found, by practice and experience, that the Mail Steamers take, on an average, two days longer to make the voyage from Galle to King George's Sound, against the south-east trades, than they do on the passage back, whereas the time table originally compiled arranged it exactly the opposite way. The present arrangement, therefore, appears most likely to answer all purposes; but should it not do so, the old plan will be reverted to.

A gentleman resident in Sydney, while on a visit to England last year, addressed a letter to one of our Managing Directors, and also had an interview with the same Director and the Secretary, on the subject of the Australian Mail Service, and he expressed what what they considered to be the feelings and impressions of the majority of the Australian community. To the charges mentioned by that gentleman they made answer in a letter, a copy of which I had the pleasure of giving you in person a few days ago, when I understood from you that its contents had not been generally made known. In this letter the Secretary of the Company goes so completely into all the bearings of the case, and into all the charges brought against the Company, that anything I could say would only be a repetition of his arguments; and I therefore beg you will make use of any part or all of the letter in bringing the subject before this Government.

The proposition I am empowered to lay before you is, that the Directors of this Company will pledge themselves to build steamers such as their experience points out to them shall be in all respects suitable to the requirements of the Australian Mail Service, providing the Colonies and the Postmaster General in England will agree to the contract, which is now terminable at twenty-four months' notice, being extended for a term of ten years. The cost of building these special ships will be heavy, and our Directors would scarcely consider themselves justified in calling on their shareholders to contribute so large a sum, without making provision for a fair and adequate return.

I have already communicated this proposition to the Government of Victoria, in a letter which I addressed to the Chief Secretary, and which I see has appeared in the Sydney papers, but as yet I have received no official reply, though the feeling in Melbourne appears to be, on the whole, favourable. I now beg to submit it for the consideration of this Government, and I will take the liberty of waiting on you in person to offer any explanation or information that lies in my power.

I have, &c.,
THO. BLACK.

Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company,
Melbourne, May 15th, 1866.

The Hon. the Chief Secretary,
Sir,

The letter of the Secretary of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company to the Secretary of the General Post Office, London, which appeared in the Argus of 10th January last, is almost exhaustive in its explanation of the delays which have recently happened in the delivery of the outward English mails in the Australian Colonies. During the last year, several accidents occurred to the mail steamers which no human foresight could have prevented; and though these accidents were the cause of great expense and vast inconvenience to the Company, in no single instance did they fail to replace the disabled vessel by another taken from their Indian lines, thus preventing what would have entailed a complete interruption of the service.

Two of these mishaps occurred in two consecutive voyages. The first was to the "Bombay," which lost her screw on her passage to Galle, and had to bear up for Mauritius. This vessel was replaced by the "Salsette"—the first of the Company's steamers that arrived at Galle after it had become evident that something serious had happened to the "Bombay"; and the remaining portion of the "Salsette's" own work was performed by a vessel specially sent from Bombay for the purpose. The other mishap was to the "Madras," which ship suddenly and unaccountably sprang a leak while lying in Galle Harbour, waiting for the mail following that brought out by the "Salsette." On this occasion, also, the Company's Agent at Galle diverted the "Jeddo" from her proper voyage and despatched her to the Australian Colonies, while the "Madras" was sent to Bombay to repair her damages.

Both these cases have been mentioned in the appendix to the letter of Mr. Howell, to which I have alluded; and I have again called attention to them to disprove a charge that has been brought against the Company, of working the Australian line with undue economy, and want of consideration for the interest of the Colonies.

It has also been stated that the Company carry out this service with slow ships that would be unsuited for the India or China lines; but that this is not the case is fully proved by the fact of the "Bombay," on her passage from Aden to Bombay, after the accident which occasioned her bearing up for Mauritius, beating, by several hours, the "Bawda," then considered the best and fastest vessel on the Bombay station.

On looking over a tabular statement of the penalties enforced and premiums paid on the performance of the Australian contract, from May, 1861, to April, 1865, I find that on six occasions only were the penalties enforced on outward voyages, and not once on any homeward voyage.

The experience which our Directors now possess of the working of the line has proved to them that the outward voyage from Galle to Australia is by far the most difficult to accomplish, though by contract they were allowed two complete days more for the homeward than for the outward passage; and they have, therefore, received the sanction of the Postmaster General in London to alter the allowed contract time, and by the new arrangement just announced two days longer are given for the outward voyage than for the homeward.

The new contract has been made terminable on two years' notice being given by either of the contracting parties, and this prevents the Company from building steamers suitable to the Australian line, such as their experience would now suggest.

For

For the voyage from Galle to King George's Sound it is necessary to carry coal for full steam for a period of at least seventeen days, to allow of a sufficient margin for the bad weather so often experienced when nearing Cape Leeuwin; and the whole of this coal should be carried in the ship's bunkers.

On no other line do the ships require much more than half that quantity, and therefore vessels constructed specially for the purpose would be unsuited, without great and expensive alterations, for any other line.

With a contract of such short duration as two years, the Directors of the Company do not feel justified in incurring the enormous outlay which would be necessary to build special ships for the Australian Mail Service; but if the Colonial Government will agree that a contract shall be entered into for a period of ten years, they are willing to construct at once three vessels which shall in all respects answer the requirements of the line, and perform the work in a manner which shall prove perfectly satisfactory.

I regret that the recent late arrivals of the steamers with the English mails should have been the cause of so much inconvenience and dissatisfaction, and I feel convinced that, if each individual case had been inquired into, much might have been said in extenuation.

The vessels which are now running on this side are in excellent order and condition in every respect; two of them, the "Madras" and "Bombay," were thoroughly refitted with new boilers, decks, bulwarks, &c., and made in every respect new ships, under my own superintendence, at Bombay, in 1861; and when I visited the "Bombay," at Galle, in the beginning of this year, I found that she was in no respect deteriorated, but was just as efficient as she was when her repairs were completed. I have not had an opportunity of inspecting the "Madras," but she is reported to me as being in equally good order, and as she was refitted after the "Bombay," she ought to be in even better condition. The "Ellora," in which I have just made the voyage to Australia, is perfect in hull, boilers, and machinery; and as she made the best average passages of all the vessels employed on the home station, the Directors considered themselves justified in replacing the "Northam" by her, when the boilers of that vessel were considered to be too defective for that work.

Much has been said about that vessel having run short of coal on her first outward voyage, and having put into Freemantle, for a fresh supply. This was no doubt a failure, for which the Company have had to pay heavily; but it can be explained, to a great extent, by the consumption of fuel turning out greater on this side of Suez than it had been on the home station, from the deteriorated quality of the coal, higher temperature of the water used in condensing, &c.

Captain Skottowe, on taking charge of the "Ellora" at Galle, found the vessel already coaled and prepared for the voyage, but with commendable prudence he insisted (notwithstanding his being assured it was unnecessary) on taking in 50 tons more coal. This was done, and despite all his precautions they were found to be insufficient, hence the unfortunate necessity of bearing up for Freemantle.

The Directors of this Company did not receive a subsidy sufficient to warrant the employment of ships of the largest tonnage and power, and they have recently consented to an abatement from that subsidy; but they are willing, on the condition of a ten years' contract, to risk the experiment of placing vessels on the line which, they have every reason to hope, will perform the service with even greater regularity than that for which they got so much credit from the Colonies themselves some few years back.

The advantages of the contract being in the hands of a Company like the Peninsular and Oriental Company are obvious, as I have shewn above, by the resources they brought to bear at Point de Galle in the consecutive cases of accident that the "Bombay" and "Madras" met with.

A local Company, with its head quarters at Sydney or Melbourne, would have remained a long time in ignorance of these accidents, and the outward mail would, in each case, have been delayed a month, unless a spare steamer had been kept at Galle—an item of expenditure which would surely have to be considered in the subsidy; and even this would not guard against the occurrence of two such mishaps in succession.

The plan of an independent line the whole distance to England has already been tried, and its failure must still be well remembered by the Colonies.

In conclusion, I may state that for the last five years, during which period I have represented the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company at Bombay, in no case was I ever applied to for a vessel to fill a threatened gap in the Australian line, that I did not have a ship ready for the service within twenty-four hours of the receipt of the message. In some of these instances the vessel was required, and in others not, but the large resources the Company placed at my disposal enabled me to be always prepared.

Dear Sir,

I am instructed by the Directors, to acknowledge the receipt of the letter you addressed to Mr. Allan, on the 22nd August last, on the subject of the Australian Mail Service; and while thanking you for the trouble you have taken in making this communication, and for affording them the opportunity of submitting some observations in reply, I am desired to state that, from what they have themselves heard and read, they believe the description you have given in your letter, and on the occasion of your personal interview with Mr. Allan and the undersigned, of the feelings and impressions of a majority of the Australian community, to be perfectly correct, and they will deal with the matter accordingly, taking it as an undisputed fact that the Company are charged with and generally supposed to be guilty of the following offences:—

- 1st. That they send their worst and most worn-out ships to perform the Australian part of the Postal Service.
- 2nd. That the service is performed more slowly on the Australian than on the remaining part of the line.
- 3rd. That the Company is indifferent to Australian interests and to the Australian contract.
- 4th. That the Company is haughty and unapproachable—and
- 5th. That Australian passengers are not treated with the same consideration as India and China passengers on that part of the voyage between Galle and Southampton.

The Directors propose to rest their defences against these charges on the statement of a few facts; and not on arguments, making a few general observations after dealing with each charge in the order given above.

On the first point the following facts are advanced:—

The run between Point de Galle and King George's Sound is one of the longest stretches of steaming performed on any postal line in existence, namely 3,295 miles; and it is perhaps the most difficult, the weather encountered about Cape Lewin during many months of the year being as boisterous as can be met with in any part of the world.

The steamer, if leaving King George's Sound in this bad weather, starts with the disadvantage of being very deep with coals, and, on arriving near that place from Galle, is under the equal disadvantage of being extremely light after the long run. The navigation between King George's Sound and Sydney is also of a difficult character, and heavy adverse gales have constantly to be contended against.

In devoting the "Bombay," "Madras," and "Northam," to the Australian service, the Directors were guided by their experience gained on other lines of the class of vessel most likely to contend successfully with the peculiar difficulties of the service; and they are enabled to point with satisfaction to the result; for, during the four years 1860 to 1864 inclusive, there was not a single failure in the Australian Mail Service connected with these ships. This fact proves both their fitness and efficiency, and the Directors well know that none but ships in a high state of efficiency could be trusted on the Australian line.

The year 1865 has unfortunately been marked by some serious accidents on the Australian portion of the line, causing important interruptions in the service. Each of these accidents has however a history of its own. It will be more convenient to append a memorandum of each case, than to introduce the particulars here; but the Directors trust you will give each of these separate papers your careful consideration.

Vide A. B. C. D.

Passing to the second charge, the Directors need only record the fact (proof of which was submitted to you in London), that the average speed attained by the steamers employed on the Australian line, during a period of four and a half years, was fully equal to that at which the India and China Service has been carried on by the larger ships. Another fact which has a most important bearing on the first and second charges may be stated here. The Australian Postal Contract differs from any of the others worked by the Company in this respect, namely,—it embraces a system of penalties for time lost and premiums for time gained, on each voyage between Sydney and Galle. The penalty for each day's delay is £200, the premium for each day gained is only £50. A perfect test of the working of the line is consequently afforded by the result of the operation of the penalty and premium clauses, and that result is appended in a tabular form. The fact that, during the years 1860 to June, 1865, the Company received premiums for seventy-three days gained, and only incurred penalties for twenty-six days lost, affords conclusive evidence, when coupled with that already stated as to the average rate of speed, that the service has been well done.

It should always be borne in mind that the Australian Mail Service forms a part only of the great and intricate system of postal communication carried on by the Company, and that the regular working of each branch of this system is essential to the final delivery of an Australian mail at its appointed date, either in London or the Australian Ports.

The appended table marked F contains a statement of the number of ships employed, and the number of miles run in the performance of the combined voyage which terminates in the delivery of a mail in London, and vice versa. It will be seen that a number of junctions have to be punctually effected, and that an accident or a delay, owing to a stress of weather on one portion of the route, must disturb the whole.

Some

Some of the delays which have arisen in the delivery of the Australian Mails are directly referable to accidents or detentions of the steamers on the India and China lines; and on the other hand, the India and China mails have been retarded by the non-arrival of a steamer at Galle, as in the case of the accident to the "Bombay." As a case in point, the Directors beg to refer to the recent accident to the "Golconda," the result of which has yet to be felt in Australia. This ship, an almost new one, left Suez with the London mails of the 20-26 July, and a few hours afterwards was totally disabled by the breaking of her piston. She was towed back to Suez by another of the Company's steamers, the "Baroda," while a third, the "Nemesis," was immediately prepared for the reception of the mails and passengers, which were eventually despatched from Suez six days later. One day has been gained in the run to Aden; but these mails must of necessity leave Point de Galle and arrive in Australia after the appointed time, and yet the conditions of the Australian contract may be fulfilled to the letter.

This brings the Directors to the observations which they have to offer in reply to charge No. 3, namely, indifference to Australian interests and the Australian contract.

A careful consideration of the foregoing paragraph and the table which illustrates it will suffice to prove that the Directors cannot afford to be indifferent in the performance of the Australian contract. The detention of the steamers from Calcutta and China at Galle with two sets of passengers and two cargoes, is an evil which it is so greatly to the interest of the Company to avoid, that the charge must fall to the ground when examined into.

The Australian community appear disposed at present to overlook the advantages which arise from having the contract in the hands of parties who have other large engagements of a similar character on their hands. The plans which seem to find most favour now are a line to Galle worked by an Australian Company, or an independent line the whole distance to and from England.

The latter plan has been tried, and the result must be in the remembrance of the Colonies. The Peninsular and Oriental Company withdrew from the line, not from indifference, but in order that the scheme might have a fair trial, and that its merits as a commercial undertaking might be practically tested.

With regard to the former plan, a few remarks may be made.

It will be conceded that the steamers of an Australian Company, running between Sydney and Galle, would not be exempt from the liability to accidents to machinery, and other unavoidable causes of detention to which all ocean steamships are subject. Take the case of a steamer of the local Company breaking a shaft on her way to Galle with a mail, as was the case with the "Bombay," the steamer of the local Company must in like manner have proceeded to Mauritius, and the outward mail would have remained at Galle for a long time. The papers in the Appendix marked C and D shew what the resources of the P. and O. Company enabled them to effect under these circumstances, and how the ships appertaining to other lines were immediately pressed into that to Australia. These measures were certainly not prompted by indifference to the Australian contract.

It is more difficult to meet charge No. 4, viz. :—that "the Company is haughty and unapproachable," by any positive statement of facts. You will be able to answer the charge as far as you are personally concerned. You will be able to inform your friends whether or not you found any impediment in approaching the authorities of the Company—whether you encountered any haughty demeanour from them, and whether or not you experienced any obstruction in your desire to obtain information. Cases could be multiplied in which gentlemen connected with Australia have come before the Directors with applications of different kinds, and no instance of a refusal to give consideration to reasonable representations could be adduced.

To charge No. 5, the defence must also rest on the experience of individuals. I believe that your own observation led you to the conclusion that it has no real foundation. The circumstance that three lines converge at Galle, and that the passengers arriving there by three steamers have to be carried forward in one, cannot be unattended with some difficulty; and the Directors have to listen to complaints from Calcutta and China passengers, that they are sacrificed the one to the other, and both to those from Australia.

The Directors can, therefore, only give you the assurance that they strive to the utmost to deal fairly by all parties, and when cases presenting ground for reasonable complaints are brought before them, they are never slow to grant redress. In the matter of passage money, the Australian passengers have the advantage when the rates and distances are compared with those to Bombay, Calcutta, and Hong Kong. It cannot be expected that the Company should bring their rates down to those of the sailing ships, or the auxiliary steam-vessels. To do that would be to carry passengers at a heavy loss; but the Directors can now challenge a comparison of their rates on all their lines with those of other ocean companies, taking distance for distance; and if the enormous expenses attending steam navigation east of Suez are taken into account, such a calculation would shew a result greatly in favour of the Peninsular and Oriental Company.

A few general observations bearing on the future may now be added, especially as the mail just delivered has brought intelligence of the manner in which the news of the renewal of the Company's mail contract by the Home Government, has been received at Melbourne.

The Directors find that the Company are expected to give a guarantee that the service shall be conducted in a more regular and better way for the future, and that they should place vessels of larger tonnage and more power on the line.

The

The Directors do not know what better guarantee for regularity can be afforded than that which exists already in the identity of the interests of the two parties concerned in the contract, viz.:—the Australian community and the Company. If the Company do the work regularly they do it at the least cost to themselves, and both parties are satisfied. If the Company meet with accidents to machinery or detentions from bad weather, they do the work at double and treble cost to themselves, and both parties are dissatisfied.

The fracture of a shaft, as in the case of the "Bombay," is a casualty the Directors would give a large sum to avoid; but these misfortunes occur without the slightest warning, and a guarantee against them and their consequences would be simply worthless.

It appears to be the received opinion in Australia that the remedy is to be found in the employment of ships of greater tonnage and power, but is this opinion well founded?

The Directors believe that the maximum of regularity is to be found in the employment of ships of moderate size, in which power is adjusted to tonnage in such proportion as to admit of the use of that power in almost any weather. They are of opinion that the "Madras" and "Bombay" combine those requirements in an eminent degree, and they point to their performances in confirmation of that opinion.

It should also be borne in mind that the Directors did not ask for, and do not receive a rate of subsidy that would justify the employment of ships of the largest tonnage and power to be found in the Company's fleet, and that they have just consented to an abatement from that subsidy which will have to be compensated by receipts from other sources, or by diminished expenditure.

If each case of irregularity were examined into as rigidly and impartially in Australia as is done by the Authorities of the Government at Home—if due allowance were made for the immense distance between England and the Colony, and for the multitude of disturbing causes which militate against the delivery of a mail on a fixed date, and if consideration were given to the results of unavoidable accidents, the Directors feel persuaded that the Australian community, notwithstanding the severe disappointments they have met with of late, would be prepared to admit that the Company have from first to last faithfully carried out the covenants of the mail contract, and that taking the average of the years it has been in operation, they have achieved a remarkable amount of success in the performance of a most difficult task.

Every accident or delay which takes place on the Australian line naturally produces a strong feeling of disappointment in the Colonies, but the Australian community rarely hear of the accidents and delays which as frequently occur on other postal lines, neither do such accidents create more than a temporary difficulty, seeing that on every other line greater facilities exist for immediately filling up the gap occasioned by the breakdown of a steamship.

A Company having its head quarters at Sydney or Melbourne, would remain for a long time without the knowledge that anything was amiss, in the event of the disablement of one of their vessels between King George's Sound and Galle, and certainly would not have the same power of diminishing the mischief as that possessed and exerted by the P. and O. Company, on the occasion of the accidents to the "Bombay" and "Madras."

One word more as regards speed. It has been shewn that the rate of speed on the Australian line is equal to that on the India and China lines, and in both the contract speed is attained, except under circumstances over which the Company have no control. If an exceptional rate of speed be stipulated for on the Australian part of the line, the same higher rate must be contracted for on the whole of the other lines, to have the effect of expediting the final delivery of the mails. Such higher rate of speed is only to be attained at an enormous expenditure, in consequence of the very great cost of coals east of Suez.

It may be said that higher rates of speed are attained on other lines. This is true to some extent, but not to anything like the extent generally supposed; and the steamers which perform these higher rates of speed receive their coals almost at the pit's mouth, paying less than 20s. per ton, while the P. and O. pay on the average more than double that amount for all they consume.

The Government subsidy on these faster lines is almost more than double that paid to this Company on the India and China lines; and the money question should at all times be well kept in view by those who advocate any extensive alteration in the present system of steam communication with Australia.

SIR,

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 6th instant, submitting to this Government certain proposals for improving the Australian Mail Service as now carried on by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, on condition that the Colonies will agree with the English Government to extend the contract to a duration of ten years.

2. Your communication embodying this proposal, and the accompanying letters, further explaining the conditions under which the service is performed, are now before the Government; but I am desired to say that no final answer can be given to you before your departure from the Colony. As you have become aware since your arrival, this Government has considered it to be its duty to give notice of its intention to retire from the existing contract; and Mr. Parkes is not in a position to say whether the considerations that led to this step may be affected by new negotiations between the Colonies or more satisfactory proposals from London. It would be gratifying to him if some arrangement could be made for continuing the Postal Service via Suez, on a basis that would be satisfactory to all parties concerned.

No. 1.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES to SIR JOHN YOUNG, BART.

Downing-street,
26 May, 1865.

SIR,

With reference to your Despatch No. 13 of the 14th February, I have the honor to transmit, for the information and for the consideration of your responsible advisers, copies of two letters from the Board of Treasury, from which you will learn the conditions under which the tender made by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, for the performance, after January, 1866, of the Australian Mail Service, has been accepted.

I have, &c.,
EDWARD CARDWELL.

[Enclosures in No. 1.]

Mr. Peel to Sir F. Rogers.

Treasury Chambers,
15 May, 1865.

Sir,

With reference to the correspondence that has taken place on the subject of calling for fresh tenders for the performance, after January, 1866, of the Australian Mail Service, I am commanded by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to transmit, for the information of Mr. Secretary Cardwell, copy of a letter from the Postmaster General, dated 3rd instant, and of their Lordships' Minute thereon; and I am at the same time to add, that my Lords regret that, for the reasons given by Lord Stanley of Alderley, it has not been found expedient to accede to the wishes of South Australia, that the packets under the new contract should be required to call, on their voyage, at Kangaroo Island.

I am, &c.,
F. PEEL.

General Post Office,
3 May, 1865.

My Lords,

Having advertised for tenders for the Mail Service between Point de Galle and Sydney, New South Wales, in accordance with the authority conveyed to me in your Lordships' letter of the 20th January last, I have received but one offer, and that from the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, the present contractors. I enclose the tender, and also a copy of a letter that accompanied it.

The Company offer to perform the service—
Once a month for the sum of £120,000 per annum.
Once in four weeks for £130,000 per annum.
Twice a month for £170,000 per annum.
Or once in each fortnight for £184,166 per annum.

These payments are on the understanding that the packets are not to call at Kangaroo Island—a call which the contractors do not make at present.

Before recommending the acceptance of the Peninsular and Oriental Company's tender, I thought it advisable to await the arrival of despatches from the Australian Colonies, communicating the views of the several Colonial Governments with respect to the conditions upon which a new contract should be concluded.

Replies to the circular despatch from the Colonial Office of the 25th November last have now been received, from Western Australia, South Australia, New South Wales, Queensland, and Victoria.

The Governments of Western Australia and New South Wales agree unconditionally to the conditions proposed by this department.

The Government of Victoria attach to their concurrence certain reservations; but as those reservations fall in with the views of this department, there is no difficulty in admitting Victoria to the benefit of the arrangement.

In the replies from South Australia and Queensland, some stipulations which cannot be entertained are attempted to be made, rendering it necessary to communicate again with those Colonies before it can be said decidedly that they will be parties to the new arrangement.

But, on the whole, the replies are so far satisfactory, including, as they do, full security for the payment by the Colonies of one-half of the subsidy, that I recommend your Lordships at once to authorize the acceptance of the tender of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company.

The Company strongly object to their steamers calling at Kangaroo Island, on account of the increased risk which would attend their navigation; and in a letter received since the tender, they state that, if the call at Kangaroo Island should be insisted upon, they should require an additional subsidy of £15,000 a year if the service be monthly, and of £30,000 a year if it be twice a month. They state, moreover, that they should require an additional day both on the outward and homeward voyage.

The highest amount which the Government of South Australia has expressed its willingness to contribute, by reason of the steamers calling at Kangaroo Island, is £5,000 a year. But even supposing that they would agree to pay a moiety of the additional subsidy of £15,000 a year, I am not disposed to advise that the other moiety should be paid by this country.

Besides the objection I feel to the increased cost, and not to speak of the risk to which the whole of the mails and passengers for Australia would be exposed by touching at Kangaroo Island, I think the effect of the diminished interval for replies in New South Wales and Queensland would be very serious; and, under these circumstances, I cannot recommend your Lordships to accept this part of the Company's offer.

The

The Company, in the letter accompanying their tender, state that the terms demanded are based on the understanding that penalties and premiums shall remain as in the existing contract, but they add that they are quite willing to agree to the omission of the penalty and premium clause.

I am of opinion, however, that it will be desirable to retain that clause, notwithstanding that during the last three years the amount of premiums earned has much exceeded the amount of penalties inflicted.

The subsidy now paid for a service once a month is £134,672 per annum; and therefore, by the acceptance of the present tender, the diminution of charge for a similar service would be £14,672 a year; or, if the service were made once in four weeks, of £4,672 a year.

I have, &c.,
STANLEY OF ALDERLEY.

Copy of Treasury Minute, dated 11th May, 1865.

Write to the Postmaster General that my Lords are pleased, in compliance with the recommendation contained in His Lordship's letter of the 3rd instant, to authorize him to accept the tender of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company to perform the Mail Service between Point de Galle and Sydney, New South Wales, once a month, for the sum of £120,000 per annum,—once in four weeks for £130,000 per annum,—twice a month for £170,000 per annum,—or once in each fortnight for £184,166 per annum,—leaving the question to be hereafter determined as to which service is the one which it will be expedient to carry out; such service to commence on the 1st February, 1866, and to continue in force until the expiration of a twenty-four calendar months' notice, to be given in writing at any time by either party.

My Lords concur in opinion with the Postmaster General as to the inexpediency of requiring the vessels to call, on their voyage, at Kangaroo Island; inasmuch as there would be involved thereby a very considerable increase of expenditure, risk to the mails and passengers for Australia, and a diminution of the interval for replies to the correspondence of New South Wales and Queensland.

State in conclusion that my Lords agree with His Lordship that it will be desirable to retain in the new contract the clauses exacting penalties and granting premiums, as in the existing contract.

Transmit to Sir F. Rogers, for the information of Mr. Secretary Cardwell, with reference to the correspondence that has taken place on the subject of calling for fresh tenders for the performance, after January, 1866, of the Australian Mail Service, copy of the Postmaster General's letter of the 3rd instant, and of their Lordship's Minute thereon, adding, at the same time, that my Lords regret that, for the reasons given by Lord Stanley of Alderley, it has not been found expedient to accede to the wishes of South Australia, that the packets under the new contract should be required to call, on their voyage, at Kangaroo Island.

Mr. Peel to Sir F. Rogers.

Treasury Chambers,
25 May, 1865.

Sir,

I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to transmit herewith, for the information of Mr. Secretary Cardwell, with reference to the letter of this Board of 15th instant, copy of a letter from the Postmaster General, dated the 22nd instant, further relative to the new packet service with the Australian Colonies; and I am to request that you will move Mr. Cardwell to cause the communication suggested by the Postmaster General to be made to the Governments of the respective Australian Colonies, and of New Zealand.

I am at the same time to state, that my Lords entirely concur in the views expressed by Lord Stanley of Alderley.

I am, &c.,
F. PEEL.

Stanley of Alderley to The Lords Commissioners of the Treasury.

General Post Office,
22 May, 1865.

My Lords,

Acting on the authority conveyed to me by your Lordships, I have now accepted the tender made by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, for the conveyance, for a subsidy somewhat lower than that now paid, of the mails between Point de Galle and Sydney, after the termination of the existing contract; and I beg to suggest that the several Colonial Governments concerned should be informed accordingly, and be told also that, of the alternatives which the tender allows, that which, in the first instance at least, will be adopted, will be a monthly service. Further, that as it is under consideration to make the India service, concurrently with an increase of the rate of postage to India, weekly instead of four times in the calendar month, and as it is possible that this change will be made by the time that the new Australian contract comes into operation, if not earlier, it is likely also that, of the two monthly services to Australia, that of a service every four weeks will be chosen so as still to render the Indian packets available for the conveyance of mails to Australia; it being added that, even for this increased service, the payment under the new contract will be somewhat less than that now made. When the contract is signed, a copy will be sent to each Colony.

In your Lordships' letter of the 16th November last, you forwarded, for my information, a copy of a letter which you had addressed to Mr. Secretary Cardwell, requesting him to cause the Governments of the Australian Colonies and New Zealand to be apprised of the course intended to be pursued in regard to calling for tenders for the Australian Packet Service, at the same time informing them that, before you authorized any tender to be accepted, you would require that the consent of the Colonies should be given to pay jointly one-half of the cost, with the understanding that, if any Colony or Colonies should withhold its or their consent, the others would make good the deficiency.

Your Lordships have since forwarded to me the replies received from the several Colonies to the despatch sent from the Colonial Office, in conformity with your request; and these replies, as I have already had occasion to state, secure to the Mother Country a payment by the Colonies of one-half of the subsidy.

The Governments of New South Wales, Tasmania, and Western Australia, have acceded to the arrangements on the terms proposed.

The Government of Victoria makes stipulations; but, as it fortunately happens that none of these stipulations are at variance with the provisions which have been made independently by the Mother Country, this Colony can be admitted into a participation of the arrangement.

I have no objection to the appointment of a sorting clerk, with an assistant, on board each of the packets between Point de Galle, or King George's Sound (as may be preferred) and Melbourne, or any other port of call in Australia; but, as it is objectionable to withdraw the Naval Agent, especially considering that on his report the question of penalties for delay chiefly depends, the Colony of Victoria will have to pay the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company for the additional passages and accommodation required.

I propose that it be left to the Government of Victoria to negotiate with the other Colonies on this subject, and to carry the plan into operation.

There are a few other minor matters on which the Government of Victoria express a wish, though they do not make any stipulations regarding them. In these matters it will be my desire, as far as practicable, to comply with such wish.

With respect to the observations of the Chief Secretary of Victoria, in his minutes to the Governor, on the subject of the charge to be made against the Colonies for the conveyance of the mails between England and Point de Galle, I am unable to advise your Lordships to agree to any departure from the arrangements already in force in this respect.

It seems curiously to have escaped the notice of Mr. M'Culloch, that precisely the same objection which he makes to paying part of the cost of the packets which also convey the letters for India, might be made by the Indian Government against paying any part of the cost of the packets conveying as far as Galle the mails for Australia.

Your Lordships will, of course, communicate to the Government of South Australia the decision arrived at, that the packets are not to call at Kangaroo Island. The contractors object to such call, on account of the increased risk which would attend the navigation of their packets; and demanding, if the call at Kangaroo Island were to be insisted upon, an additional subsidy of £15,000 a year, and further requiring an additional day both on the outward and homeward voyage.

It is important that the Government of South Australia should be required to state, not later than by the mail which will leave Australia in October and arrive in England in December, whether or not they abide by their stipulation on this point, or are prepared to waive it.

If they do abide by it, they cannot be admitted into participation of the arrangement; and I propose that, in such case, the postage of letters to and from South Australia be raised to 1s. 6d. per half-ounce (a charge which I think will make the South Australian portion of the service self-supporting); with the understanding that your Lordships will still consider yourselves at full liberty to raise the postage still higher, or even to give orders that at no rate of postage shall any letters for South Australia, except official despatches, be sent by the mail packets.

In the Minutes of the Executive Council of Queensland, it is stated that the Colony is willing to pay its fair share of any mail subsidy approved by the Imperial Government, but that it cannot engage to make good the possible deficiencies which may arise from other Colonies declining to agree to the proposed renewal of a similar arrangement. Such a reservation, however, cannot be allowed.

The Governments of those Colonies which receive the bulk of the correspondence have already agreed to the arrangement on the terms specified, and it is probable that all the other Colonies will in the end signify their acquiescence; but, be this as it may, it is absolutely necessary that one-half of the subsidy should be paid by the Colonies jointly, and this can only be secured by the proviso to which the Governor of Queensland has objected.

As in the case of South Australia, therefore, the Government of Queensland should be required to state by the mail which will leave in October next, whether they agree unconditionally to the arrangement on the terms proposed to them, and apprised that, if they do not, it will be necessary to adopt, with respect to Queensland, the same measures as those specified in the case of South Australia.

With respect to a second monthly mail, by the way of Torres' Straits, as there is now no early prospect of a second monthly mail to Australia (except that by way of Panama), it seems unnecessary to notice the remarks on this point in reply from Queensland. But even if there were such a prospect, I could not advise your Lordships, for reasons already given, to contribute towards the cost of a mail via Torres' Straits.

The foregoing remarks (except those relating to Torres' Straits) apply equally to the Colony of New Zealand. The Government of that Colony will, of course, be at liberty to negotiate with the other Australian Governments on the subject of the cost of the contemplated service by way of Panama; but I strongly advise that the Mother Country should take no part in those negotiations, and should decline to do more in respect to that service than your Lordships have already expressed your willingness to authorize.

I have, &c.,
STANLEY OF ALDERLEY.

No. 2.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES to SIR JOHN YOUNG, BART.

Downing-street,
26 July, 1865.

SIR,

I transmit to you, for your own information and for that of your responsible advisers, a copy of a letter from the Secretary to the General Post Office, in answer to an application received from South Australia, that the time for accepting tenders for the Postal Service between England and Australia may be extended.

I have, &c.,
EDWARD CARDWELL.

[Enclosures in No. 2.]

Mr. Hill to Mr. Elliot.

General Post Office,
21 July, 1865.

Sir,

The Postmaster General has received, through the Treasury, your letter of the 11th instant, enclosing the copy of a despatch from the Governor of South Australia, on the subject of a recommendation made by the Executive Council of that Colony, that the time for accepting tenders for the Mail Service between England and Australia should be extended, so as to allow Colonial Companies and firms an opportunity of competing for such service.

Lord Stanley of Alderley requests that you will state to Mr. Secretary Cardwell that, acting on the authority given to him by the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, he accepted, in May last, the tender of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company for a new contract, on terms somewhat more favourable than those which at present exist; and that, in a letter to the Treasury, dated the 22nd May, His Lordship suggested that a communication should be addressed through the Colonial Office to the several Australian Colonies, informing them of the new arrangements about to be made for the conveyance of mails.

Mr. Cardwell has no doubt received a communication from the Treasury on this subject, and written to the respective Colonial Governments.

Lord

Lord Stanley desires me to add, that the new contract will be terminable on two years' notice, and that he will be prepared at all times to consider any offer which a Colonial Company or any other party may be desirous of making for the performance of the Mail Service, on conditions more favourable to the public than those obtained by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company.

I am, &c.,
F. HILL.

P.S.—It is desirable that any offer which may be made by a Colonial Company or other party, should be in accordance with the conditions laid down in the enclosed printed form; and it is requested, therefore, that a small supply of the forms should be transmitted to the Governor of South Australia.

TENDER FOR CONVEYING HER MAJESTY'S MAILS BETWEEN POINT DE GALLE AND SYDNEY.*

Sir,

We hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's Mails, by steam-vessels, between Point de Galle (Ceylon) and Sydney (New South Wales), and on the conditions marked A., once each way in each calendar month, for the sum of £ per annum; or in each month of four weeks for £ per annum; or to convey them twice each way in each calendar month for the sum of £ per annum; or once in each fortnight for £ per annum.

Provided the time allowed be increased to hours, instead of 516 hours for the voyage from Point de Galle to Sydney, and to hours, instead of 564 hours for the voyage from Sydney to Point de Galle, we will perform the service once each way in each calendar month for the sum of £ per annum; or in each month of four weeks for £ per annum; or to perform it twice each way in each calendar month for the sum of £ per annum; or once in each fortnight for £ per annum. Or, if the time from Point de Galle to Sydney be reduced to hours, and from Sydney to Point de Galle, to hours, we will perform the service once each way in each calendar month for the sum of £ per annum; or in each month of four weeks for £ per annum; or to perform it twice each way in each calendar month for the sum of £ per annum; or once in each fortnight for £ per annum.

Provided we be allowed the further annual sum of £ if the service be per calendar month; of £ if it be per month of four weeks; of £ if it be per half calendar month; or of £ if it be once each fortnight; and provided also that an addition of hours be made to the time for the voyage in each direction, we will agree that the packets to be employed in this service shall call off Kangaroo Island, to land and embark mails, on every voyage, whether outward or homeward.

If the 15th condition be dispensed with at any time, we will agree to an abatement of £ per annum if the service be monthly, whether the month be calendar or one of four weeks, and to an abatement of £ per annum if it be bi-monthly.

We will agree to an abatement of £† in the amount of the subsidy, on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

We will further agree to an abatement of £† in the amount of the subsidy, if conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 be omitted.

We propose as our sureties, in the penalty of £25,000, Mr. of and Mr. of , and we refer you to as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

We engage that the vessels shall be complete and ready for sea on the in failure of which, we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of Ten Pounds for every day's delay beyond that time. And, should the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th conditions be retained, we further engage that the hulls of the vessels shall be ready for survey on the , and that the vessels shall be complete and ready for final survey on the ; in failure at either of which times, we agree to pay to Her Majesty a like sum of Ten Pounds for every day's delay, but so that these penalties shall not in the aggregate exceed the sum of £25,000.

We agree to commence the service on the †, and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of One Hundred Pounds for every day from that time until the said service shall be begun by us, but so that the whole amount of penalties for such failure shall not exceed £25,000.

And we agree to execute a contract for the performance of the said service, according to the said conditions marked A.

We are,

Sir,

Your obedient Servants,

(Signature.)
(Address.)

The Secretary of the Post Office.

CONDITIONS.

Referred to as marked A.

1. Every vessel employed in this service must call on the voyage, in both directions, at King George's Sound and at Melbourne.
2. The mails must be conveyed from Point de Galle to Sydney in 516 hours, and from Sydney to Point de Galle in 564 hours, exclusive of stoppages, the duration of which will be fixed by the Postmaster General.
3. Under the term "Her Majesty's Mails," are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and all other articles transmissible by the post, without regard either to the place to which they may be addressed, or to that in which they may have originated; also, all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles, used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.
4. A premium of fifty pounds to be given for every complete period of twenty-four hours by which the time occupied in any voyage from Point de Galle to Sydney may be less than that allowed under the contract.

* All tenders must be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the conveyance of Mails between Point de Galle and Sydney," in the left-hand corner of the envelope. Other things equal, a preference will be given to a tender made upon this printed form, and in exact accordance therewith. Even, however, when this form is used, the parties tendering may, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise. The Postmaster General does not engage, irrespective of other considerations, to accept the lowest tender, or even to accept any tender.

† It is not compulsory to fill up these blanks.

‡ It is desirable that the service should commence in February, 1856, but the parties tendering are at liberty to name a later day for the commencement, should they be unable to begin the service at the time named.

5. A penalty of five hundred pounds to be incurred on each occasion when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time; and a further penalty of one hundred pounds for every day's failure in providing such a vessel after such appointed time; but so that these penalties shall not in the aggregate exceed the part of the subsidy applicable to a single voyage, plus a sum of two thousand pounds. The contractors also to be subject to a penalty of two hundred pounds for every complete period of twenty-four hours consumed on any voyage, from whatsoever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed for the voyage; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the part of the subsidy applicable to such voyage.

6. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed period, as a breach of the contract.

7. The contractors to supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service within the time stipulated in the tender.

8. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by the Lords of the Admiralty.

9. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, lamps, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed. The vessels to be manned by legally qualified and competent officers, and a sufficient crew of engineers, able seamen, and other men.

10. The vessels to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty or Post Office; and any defect discovered on such survey to be immediately made good by the contractors; failing which, the vessel to be considered unfit for use, and the contractors to become liable to the penalties named in the fifth condition. The survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

11. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and to be subject to alteration, from time to time, by him, on a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power, by an order to the commander, to delay the departure of any vessel, from any port, for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours, and to delegate this power to any person to whom he may think fit to entrust it.

12. On giving reasonable notice to the contractors, the Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed, as, for example, to increase or decrease the frequency of the conveyance of mails between any of the ports, or to extend the conveyance of mails to other ports, or to discontinue the conveyance of mails to any port. The amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

13. The contractors to provide, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel.

14. Should the Postmaster General require it, a room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting this sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., to be defrayed by the Postmaster General; but the furniture and lamps to be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps to be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew to be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

15. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided for an Officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office, to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with an assistant or servant. The naval or civil officers to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief cabin passengers, and assistants and servants as fore cabin passengers; and, whilst the packet stays at any port to or from which the mails are conveyed, to be allowed to remain on board.

16. At each port where the mails are to be delivered or received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever he may deem it necessary, be conveyed to and from the shore, with or without the mails (as he may desire), in a suitable boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mails, and to be properly manned and equipped.

17. The contractors, and all commanding and other officers of the vessels which may be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors, shall, at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General, or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

18. Should the Postmaster General at any time deem it expedient to place the mails, or any part thereof, in the care of the commander of any vessel, such commander shall take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. The commander shall also make the usual Post Office declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and other information, and perform such other services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may, from time to time, require.

19. Except such letters as are not required by law to pass through the Post Office, the contractors not to receive, or permit to be received, for conveyance on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters other than those contained in Her Majesty's Mails. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any Colony or foreign country, without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

20. Every vessel which may have started, or which should have started before the termination of the contract, must complete its voyage in like manner as if the contract remained in force.

21. The contractors, when so required, to be bound to convey from any one port of departure or call, to any other such port, any number of Government passengers, not exceeding four of the first class, two of the second, and ten of the third class, together, if so required, with their wives and children; such passengers with their families to be treated in no respect, whether as regards food, cabin or other accommodation, or aught else, in an inferior way to ordinary passengers of the same class, or than is required by the Regulations of Her Majesty's Transport Service. The messing of the first and second class Government passengers to include each day an imperial pint of good sound bottled or draught ale or beer, and that of the first class, in addition, an imperial pint of good foreign wine, either port or white. The several classes of passengers to mess in separate places. Medical attendance, medicine and medical comforts to be provided, as also mess utensils and fittings, cooking utensils, articles for table use and mess places, fuel, lights, requisite articles of bedding, and all other necessaries. Third-class passengers to have hammocks or bunks (subject to the approval of the naval authorities), placed between decks.

22. The passage-money for Government passengers or their families to be the same as that charged by the contractors for ordinary passengers of a similar kind, and to include all the requisites specified in the 21st condition, and the freight of baggage according to Government scale. Whenever any alterations of rates for ordinary passengers may be made, the Postmaster General and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to be immediately apprised of such alterations.

23. Returns of the embarkation and disembarkation of all Government passengers to be furnished immediately after the departure and arrival of each vessel.

24. Payments for passage-money of Government passengers to be applied for by invoices according to a form to be obtained from the Office of the Director of Transport Services, and to be made upon the production, to the Director, of the orders for the passages, together with a certificate, under the hand of the Commanding Officer, specifying the number of the third-class passengers (men, women, and children) conveyed, with the ages and sexes of the latter, and stating the periods during which these have been regularly supplied, while on board, with provisions; and also of a certificate under the hand of each first and second-class passenger, of his or her having been landed at the place of destination, and of having been properly accommodated and messaged during the voyage, and specifying the dates from and to which they were so messaged, computed from the first to the last dinner meal.

25. The passage-money for the wives and families of commissioned and civil officers, when not ordered to be conveyed at the public expense, to be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

26. The contractors to receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and to convey, on behalf of the Admiralty, without charge, any small packages which may be ordered for conveyance, containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles; and also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, or from the British Naval Officer in command of the Station, two days' previous notice), to receive on board any naval or other stores, not exceeding 10 tons weight, or 15 tons of 40 cubic feet each in measurement, at any one time, in any one vessel; and to convey and deliver such stores at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods, immediate notice being given to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty of any alteration in such rate of freight. The contractors to be, in all cases, responsible for the custody and safe delivery of the packages and stores.

27. Except where otherwise specified, none of the duties enumerated in the foregoing conditions to give the contractors any claim to remuneration beyond the general subsidy.

28. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors to be considered as stipulated or ascertained or liquidated damages, and to be payable whether any damage shall or shall not have been sustained by reason of the breach for which the penalty may be levied. The amount to be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any moneys then payable, or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors; or, at his discretion, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

29. The contract to continue in force until the expiration of a twenty-four calendar months' notice, to be given in writing, at any time, by either party.

30. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month, without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

31. Subject to deductions for penalties or otherwise, payments to be made quarterly at the General Post Office, out of moneys to be provided by Parliament.

32. All notices which the Postmaster General, or any of his officers or agents are authorized to give, either to be delivered to the commander of any vessel of the contractors, or to any officer or agent of the contractors in charge of any such vessels, or to be left at the office or last known place of business of the contractors.

33. In case of great public emergency, the Government to have power, at any time during the continuance of the contract, to purchase, at a valuation, any of the vessels employed under the contract, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the amount of the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

34. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors to be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it, or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, to continue to perform part only of the contract.

35. The contractors not to assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent, in writing, of the Postmaster General.

36. In case of the breach of the 35th condition, or in case of a great or habitual breach of the contract of any other kind, the Postmaster General to have power, and that without previous notice, to terminate the contract; such termination not to give the contractors any claim to compensation.

37. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. III., c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons to be admitted to any share of the contract, or to any benefit arising therefrom.

38. For the due fulfilment of the contract, the contractors to enter into a bond, with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of £25,000. Such penalty to be considered and recoverable as liquidated damages.

39. Should any dispute arise respecting the interpretation of any part of the contract to be framed on the basis of these conditions, the same to be settled by arbitration in the usual manner; and a submission to arbitration may be made a rule of Court.

No. 3.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY, SOUTH AUSTRALIA, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Chief Secretary's Office,
Adelaide, 28 August, 1865.

SIR,

I have the honor, by desire of His Excellency Sir Dominick Daly, to bring under your consideration the subject of the renewal of the contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, for the conveyance of the Australian Mails to and from Point de Galle, as agreed to by the Imperial Postmaster General.

2. It appears to this Government, that the time has arrived for the Australian Colonies to unite, with a view to induce competition in the performance of the Ocean Postal Service; and that arrangements can be entered into by the several Governments, under which, tenders may be invited from local Steam Navigation Companies, by whom it is believed the service can, and would be performed, with greater benefit to these Colonies in every respect, than it is at present.

3. Although the renewed contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company cannot be terminated until the expiry of two years, I would, however, ask the Government of New South Wales to give their early attention to the subject, in order that any joint action decided upon, may allow ample time for competing Companies to make arrangements for the commencement of the service in February, 1868.

4. Under the renewed contract, the packets are not to call at Kangaroo Island, as was stipulated for by this Government; and, if calling there is ultimately insisted upon, then an additional subsidy of fifteen thousand pounds (£15,000) a year, and an additional day, both on the outward and homeward voyage, will be required by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. I shall be glad to ascertain the views of your Government, as to whether the advantages which would accrue to New South Wales, in affording, by means of the electric telegraph, five or six days earlier receipt of the heads of intelligence, and a similar convenience in forwarding information from your Colony, would not more than compensate for the additional day required for each voyage, and whether under those circumstances, any objection would be offered by your Government to one day being added to each voyage.

5. I am further desirous of knowing whether you consider the facilities offered by the packets calling on the outward and homeward voyage at Kangaroo Island, are of sufficient advantage to your Colony to warrant your Government in contributing any portion of the subsidy of fifteen thousand pounds (£15,000), in the event of the Imperial Government insisting upon South Australia paying the whole of that amount.

I have, &c.,
HENRY AYRES,
Chief Secretary.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF TELEGRAPHS

IN reference to paragraph four of the accompanying letter from the South Australian Government, I beg to state it as my opinion that, instead of a saving of five or six days being effected in the receipt of intelligence by telegraph, should the mail steamers call at Kangaroo Island, there would be a positive loss of from twelve to twenty-four hours, which would arise as follows:—

The branch steamer from King George Sound being coaled and ready to leave for Adelaide immediately on the arrival of the mail from Galle, would arrive in Adelaide earlier by the length of time occupied by the P. and O. Company's vessel coaling at the Sound, which, I believe, occupies from twelve to twenty-four hours.

Should the South Australian Government discontinue the branch service to the Sound, thereby making Melbourne the first port of arrival, the difference would not exceed twenty-four hours, as, at present, the mail steamers invariably reach Melbourne about that time, after the branch boat has been telegraphed from Adelaide.

MINUTE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

General Post Office,
Sydney, 27 December, 1865.

HAVING duly considered the communication from the Chief Secretary of South Australia, dated the 28th August, 1865, having reference to the English Mail Service, and referred to this department for the report of my predecessor, I respectfully submit the following statement to be embodied in a reply to the same:—

The very unsatisfactory manner in which the English Mail Service is performed by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, induces me to coincide in the views taken by the South Australian Government,—“That the time has arrived for “the Australian Colonies to unite, in order to induce competition in the “performance of the Ocean Postal Service”; and I believe it would be a step in the right direction, for this Colony to join in an arrangement with South Australia and the other sister Colonies, “under which, tenders may be invited from the local Steam Navigation Companies,” for the performance of the English Mail Service.

As scarcely any appreciable advantage would accrue to New South Wales by the mail steamers calling at Kangaroo Island, I do not think it advisable that this Colony should consent to a delay of one day on each voyage, nor would she be warranted in contributing any portion of the subsidy of £15,000 required by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, in order that the steamer might call at Kangaroo Island.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE CHIEF SECRETARY, SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales,
11 January, 1866.

SIR,

With reference to your letter of the 28th August, 1865, in which you brought under consideration the subject of the renewal of the contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, for the conveyance of the Australian Mails to and from Point de Galle, as agreed to by the Imperial Postmaster General, I have the honor to state, in reply, that the very unsatisfactory manner in which the English Mail Service is performed by the above Company, induces this Government to coincide in the view taken by the Government of South Australia,—“That the time has arrived for the Australian Colonies to unite, in order to induce competition in the performance of the Ocean Postal Service.”

2. I have further to intimate the willingness of this Colony to join in an arrangement with South Australia and the other sister Colonies, “under which, tenders may be invited from the local Steam Navigation Companies,” for the performance of the English Mail Service.

3. As scarcely any appreciable advantage would accrue to New South Wales, by the mail steamers calling at Kangaroo Island, this Government does not consider it advisable to consent to a delay of one day in each voyage; nor would it be warranted in contributing any portion of the subsidy of £15,000, required by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, in order that the steamers might call at Kangaroo Island.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES COWPER.

No. 7.

THE MANAGER, AUSTRALASIAN STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sydney, 5 January, 1866.

SIR,

At the time that public intelligence reached this Colony that tenders were called for a new contract for the conveyance of the mails between Galle and Sydney, the Board of this Company addressed the Governments of New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia, requesting that they would urge the Home Government to extend the time for the receipt of tenders, so as to admit the Colonial Companies and Firms competing for the contract. This request was courteously complied with; but before the despatches of the Colonial Governments reached England, the tender of the Peninsular and Oriental Company had been accepted, and there was thus no opportunity for Colonial tenders being sent in.

Since then, the Mail Service by the P. and O. Company, under the expiring contract, has been performed in a way which has called forth general and strong complaint in all the Colonies, and remonstrances are understood to have been addressed to the Home Government on the subject, by one or more of the Australian Governments.

Seeing, then, that no opportunity was afforded for Colonial competition, when the tenders were last called for, and that the service has for some time, and is now being performed in a way that is most unsatisfactory to the Governments and communities of the Colonies interested, the Board of this Company venture to request, that the Government of New South Wales will, by the next mail, urge upon the Home Government to immediately give to the Peninsular and Oriental Company, the two years' notice required to terminate the contract which commences on the 1st February, 1866, and forthwith call for tenders for a new contract to commence at the expiration of the two years, giving full time for tenders being sent in by Colonial Companies and Firms.

In the event of this being done, I am instructed by my Board to say, that tenders for the conveyance of the mails between Galle and Sydney, will be sent in by this Company, and that, in these tenders, they will undertake to convey the mails at the rate of speed now stipulated for, and for a less sum than is being paid for the present service.

This Company has for some time had contracts with the Governments of South Australia and Queensland, for the conveyance of their respective English mails between Adelaide and King George's Sound, and between Sydney and Brisbane; and the Board think they are justified in saying, that the manner in which these services have been carried out, affords a satisfactory guarantee that any mail service undertaken by this Company will be efficiently and faithfully performed.

I have, &c.,
SAMUEL CLARK,
Manager.

Postmaster General.—C.C.

MINUTE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

That the English Mail Service has, for a considerable time, been performed in a most unsatisfactory manner by the P. and O. Company, is not only generally admitted by the people of the Australian Colonies, but has been expressed by their Governments.

New South Wales being the last Colony of arrival and the first of departure, suffers from the irregularities of the Mail Service more than any of the other Colonies.

Under these circumstances, I have no hesitation in recommending that the Government of this Colony should use every means in its power (consistent with good faith) for the purpose of terminating the present contract, in order to induce competition between local Steam Navigation and other Companies, in the performance of the English Mail Service; and thus, it is to be hoped, obtain a better service than that now in existence.

SIR,

I have now the honor, in accordance with your wish expressed at the interview with the Deputation of Directors from this Company, held yesterday, to forward the names of the steamers belonging to this Company, with their horse power and tonnage, which the Directors consider to be efficient in all respects to carry on the service between this Colony and Galle, as at present performed by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company.

Minute of The Honorable the Colonial Secretary to The Honorable The Postmaster General. I SHOULD be glad if you would note the difficulties that occur to you as possible to arise in completing line of communication, supposing the service were performed between Sydney and Galle by a Colonial Government. Would the Imperial Government be likely to meet the Colonies in the same spirit and on terms as favourable as at present?

B.C.—17/2/66.

Minute of The Honorable The Postmaster General to The Honorable The Colonial Secretary.

THERE are no data in the office on which I can form any opinion as to the probable action of the Imperial Government, in the event of a contract for the conveyance of the European Mail between Sydney and Galle being entered into with a Colonial Government. I apprehend that we should have to pursue the same course which appears to have been adopted by the New Zealand Government, in the matter of the Panama route, viz., to ascertain on what terms the Imperial Government would forward the mails to and from Galle and places beyond. It is not anticipated that any difficulty will arise in this matter, as the Imperial Government has throughout the correspondence expressed its willingness, at any time to receive tenders for the service to and from Galle, from parties resident in the Colonies, and to afford them due consideration.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW ZEALAND, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

New Zealand, Colonial Secretary's Office,
Wellington, 12 February, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to enclose, for your information, a copy of a letter dated the 5th ultimo, from the Manager of the Australian Steam Navigation Company, suggesting that, in consequence of the unsatisfactory manner in which the Postal Steam Service between Great Britain and Australia is performed by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, the Home Government should be asked to give the necessary notice to that Company to terminate the new contract, and to allow, in any fresh call for tenders, ample time for tenders being sent in by Colonial Companies and Firms.

The

STEAM POSTAL SERVICE.

11

The extreme irregularity with which the service in question has been performed, has entailed very considerable increased expenses to the Colony of New Zealand, for extra subsidies for the conveyance from Australia of overdue mails, and, in some instances, from the delay which has ensued, there has been no time for replies by the return mail.

This Government is therefore strongly of opinion that many advantages would result if notice of the termination of the existing contract were given, with a view to tenders being called for, in some such manner as suggested by the Australian Steam Navigation Company, and that the Imperial Government should be communicated with to that effect.

I shall feel obliged if you would be good enough to inform me of the views of the Government of New South Wales on this subject, and whether, in the event of your concurring in the advisability of the course proposed by this Government, you would cause the necessary intimation to be given to the Imperial Government.

I have, &c.,

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the due receipt of your letter of the 12th ultimo, enclosing a copy of a letter from the Manager of the Australasian Steam Navigation Company, suggesting that steps should be taken to terminate the existing contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company for carrying the English mails; and that, in any new arrangement, sufficient time should be allowed for Colonial Companies and Firms to send in tenders for the service.

2. A similar application has been made to this Government, from the Australasian Steam Navigation Company, both by letter and by Deputation of the Directors; and the expediency of retiring from the contract is now under consideration. The Government of Victoria has at the same time invited the Governments of South Australia, Tasmania, Queensland, and New South Wales, to send delegates to a Conference in Melbourne to consider the whole subject of the English Postal Service, including the practicability of its being performed by Australian enterprise. An opinion favourable to the termination of the existing contract has also been expressed by the Legislative Assembly of this Colony.

3. I do myself the honor to enclose, for your information, a copy of a Parliamentary Paper containing correspondence on this subject between the Governments of New South Wales and Victoria; and any decision that may be arrived at shall be communicated without delay to the Government of New Zealand.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 1049, of the 6th ultimo, on the subject of notice being given to terminate the existing contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, for carrying the mails between England and Australia; and, in reply, to inform you that, subsequently to the date of my letter of the 12th February last to you on this subject, the New Zealand Government has notified to the Imperial Government its wish that the contract in question should be terminated.

I have to express my thanks for the intimation that you would communicate to me any decision which may be arrived at in the approaching Conference at Melbourne, to which the New Zealand Government has not been invited to send a delegate, although it is deeply interested, both as a large contributor to the main line, and as subsidizing many branch services dependent thereon.

SIR,

Perceiving that the Peninsular and Oriental Company are endeavouring to induce the Australian Colonial Governments to consent to a conversion of their present contract for the conveyance of the Mails between Galle and Sydney into a ten years contract, the Directors of this Company beg to draw your attention to the letter which they had the honor to address to you, on the 5th January last, pointing out the exceptional circumstances under which the present contract was obtained by the Peninsular and Oriental Company; and they venture to express a hope that the Government of New South Wales will not accede to the request now made by that Company. They beg to point out that Steam Companies, and owners of steamers, would be willing to enter into a ten years contract, on terms more favourable to the Imperial and Colonial Governments than could be obtained under a contract terminable at two years' notice. This advantage would of course be lost if the existing contract were converted into a ten years one, instead of the new service being thrown open to general competition.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES to GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG, BART.
(Circular.)Downing-street,
22 September, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit to you a copy of a letter from the Board of ^{6 Sept., 1866.} Treasury, enclosing a Minute of their Lordships upon the subject of the Postal Communications between this country and the East Indies, China, Japan, and the Australian Colonies.

I also annex a copy of the Report referred to by their Lordships, from the Select Committee on East India Communications, which has been laid before Parliament, and of the Report addressed to the Postmaster General by Captain Tyler, R.E., of his recent inspection of the Railways and Ports of Italy, with reference to the use of the Italian route for the conveyance of the Eastern mails.

I request that you will lay these papers before your Responsible Advisers, in order that they may make known their wishes and views on the several questions raised in their Lordships' Minute, so far as they affect the arrangements to be made for the conduct and maintenance of the Postal Service between this Country and the Australian Colonies.

I have, &c.,
CARNARVON.

Mr. Hunt to Sir F. Rogers, Bart.

Treasury Chambers,
6 September, 1866.

Sir,

I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to transmit herewith, for the information of the Earl of Carnarvon, copy of a minute of their Lordships, dated 4th instant, upon the subject of the Postal Communications between this country and the East Indies, China, Japan, and the Australian Colonies; and I am to request that you will move His Lordship to cause the communications therein suggested to be made to the Governments of the several Colonies adverted to therein.

I am, &c.,
GEORGE WARD HUNT.

Copy of Treasury Minute, dated 4th September, 1866.

My Lords have before them the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons appointed during the last Session of Parliament, "to inquire into the practical working of the present system of Telegraphic and Postal Communication between this country and the East Indies, and who are instructed to extend their inquiry to China, Japan, Australia, and Mauritius," and also a report from the Postmaster General, dated 9th August (made in pursuance of directions contained in their minute of the 2nd August) on the whole subject of the postal communication between this country and the East Indies, China, Japan, and the Australian Colonies.

The following are the services by which, at the present time, the postal communication between this country and the East Indies, China, Japan, the Australian Colonies, and Mauritius is maintained.

They consist, firstly, of four services per calendar month between this country and Alexandria, via Marseilles, with four corresponding services via Southampton;

Secondly, of four services through Egypt in connexion with the foregoing, between Alexandria and Suez;

Thirdly, of two services per calendar month between Suez and Bombay;

Fourthly, of two services per calendar month between Suez and Galle, within each case a packet between Galle and Calcutta, and another between Bombay and Galle, and onwards to China and Japan;

Fifthly, of one service per calendar month between Galle and Sydney (touching at King George's Sound and Melbourne, and with branches to South Australia, Tasmania, Queensland, and New Zealand); and Sixthly, of one service per calendar month (maintained at the sole expense of the Mauritius Government) between Galle and Port Louis.

Except the branches in Australia, and the packets between Galle and Mauritius, the above services, so far as they are sea services, are performed by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, and at the following annual cost:—

Services to India and China, and so much of the Australian service as lies between this country and Galle	£230,125
Australian service between Galle and Sydney	119,500
		£349,625

To this sum must be added £19,550 for the branches in Australia, £12,000 for conveyance through Egypt, and £14,765 for miscellaneous expenses, but nothing at present for the service between China and Japan, that service having hitherto been performed by the Peninsular and Oriental Company gratuitously.

It thus appears that, exclusively of the expense of conveying a portion of the mails between Dover and Calais, and through France (for the latter of which an additional charge is made in the rate of postage), and exclusively of the expense of the Inland service at each end, the present cost of the conveyance of the Indian, China, and Australian Mails, and of the Mauritius Mails (between this country and Galle) is nearly £396,000 per annum.

If from this sum be deducted the estimated amount of sea postage (about £236,000 per annum) it will be seen that the services in question are attended with an annual loss of £160,000, of which it may be roughly said one-half is borne by India and the different Colonies concerned, and the other half by the mother country.

With the exception of Australia, the contracts under which the services are performed are terminable at any time on one year's notice; and on a notice of two years the Australian contract may also be terminated.

The postage on letters via Southampton, between India and this country, and Australia and this country, is 6d. the half-ounce letter; and it has, with a view of diminishing the great loss before referred to, occasioned by the expense of the Packet Service, been proposed at different times to the Government of India, and to those of the Australian Colonies, to double the postage on letters, but those Governments have hitherto, with the exception of New South Wales, declined to accede to the proposals made.

My Lords now proceed to consider the recommendation of the Select Committee with regard to the establishment of a weekly communication with India via Bombay, and the discontinuance thereupon of the separate postal service between this country and Madras and Calcutta.

Adverting to the facilities which will be afforded by the early completion of the main lines of railway communication between the port of Bombay and Calcutta, Madras, the North Western Provinces, and the Punjab, my Lords entirely concur in opinion with the Select Committee that Bombay should be the port of arrival and departure of the mails to and from India, and that the time has arrived for the establishment of a weekly service to and from that country, and they will, on learning from the Secretary of State for India in Council that his Lordship concurs in these views, take the necessary steps for carrying them into effect.

Before, however, a final decision is arrived at, it may be well to consider whether, with a view of obtaining the best route through Europe towards Alexandria and Suez, and thereby expediting the conveyance of the mails between this country and India, it may not be advisable to substitute the port of Brindisi in the South of Italy for the Port of Marseilles, from which port the mail, via France, is now sent.

19th July, 1866

It appears from the able Report of Captain Tyler, of the Royal Engineers, to the Postmaster General, which my Lords have perused with much interest, that, if the Brindisi route were made use of instead of that by Marseilles, there would be a saving in the time occupied in the conveyance of the mails between this country and Alexandria of 35½ hours previous to the construction of the Mount Cenis Summit Railway, of 39½ hours after the construction of that railway, and 42½ hours after the completion of the permanent tunnel line from St. Michel to Susa.

The great saving of time thus effected affords, in the opinion of my Lords, a conclusive reason for the adoption of the Port of Brindisi as the port of communication with Alexandria instead of Marseilles, the more so as it appears that the Italian Government are willing and anxious to make every necessary arrangement for facilitating the conveyance of the British mails through Italy.

It

It will be therefore necessary to give notice to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company of the intention of the Government to put an end to the contracts at present existing for the conveyance four times a month of the mails between Southampton and Alexandria, and Marseilles and Alexandria, and to call for tenders for a weekly service between Southampton and Alexandria, and Brindisi and Alexandria. It will also be necessary to give notice for the discontinuance of the two services per calendar month between Suez and Bombay, and of the two services per calendar month between Suez and Galle within each case, the packet between Galle and Calcutta, and the other packet between Bombay and Galle, and from thence to China.

With regard to the conveyance of mails to China and Japan, my Lords are of opinion that the service to be constituted for the conveyance of the Indian mails, should be made use of as far as Aden; and with this view it will be necessary, instead of the mails for these countries being despatched twice a month as at present, that the service should be converted into one, once every fortnight; and tenders will therefore have to be called for a fortnightly service between Aden and Japan, touching at Galle, Penang, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Shanghai, the parties tendering to state for what additional subsidy they would be willing to continue the service from Aden to Suez.

As respects the time to be allowed in each instance for the performance of the new service, the Postmaster General proposes to act on the plan which has for some time been in use, viz., to ascertain what would be the charge, both at the present rate of sailing and at a higher rate, so as to enable this Board to decide whether or not the increased speed would warrant the increased expense, my Lords, adverting to the recommendation of the Select Committee, "that the time table should be based on a prescribed speed of not less than eleven nautical miles per hour on the voyage between Marseilles and Alexandria, and ten miles per hour between Suez and Bombay; but that the tenders be required to state also terms in each case for higher rates of speed, of not less than one additional half-mile per hour," are of opinion that the proposed course of proceeding by the Duke of Montrose should be adopted.

As it is probable that the expense of the proposed weekly service to and from Bombay, and the fortnightly service to and from China and Japan, will considerably exceed the amount of the postage which will be received on the correspondence forwarded by these services, it is necessary that some arrangement should be made as to how the excess in these cases is to be met.

With regard to the India service there can be no question but that, as at present, it should be made good in equal proportions by the Indian and Home Governments, but with respect to the China Service, adverting to the opinion expressed by the Select Committee, that "the arrangements under which India now defrays a moiety of the net cost of the China service, after deducting the postal receipts, will not, under the proposed arrangements, be equitable as regards that Government, and should be modified"; it is necessary to consider what modification it will be expedient to make. The contract packet from Bombay to Galle, and thence on to China, by which line my Lords presume the correspondence between India and China has been hitherto conveyed, being about to be discontinued, it appears to my Lords that it will be necessary for the Indian Government itself to provide fortnightly the means of conveying the correspondence between India and China, at any rate as far as Singapore; in which case the only claim which could fairly be made on the Indian Government on account of the China mail service, would be for the conveyance of its correspondence between Singapore and China and Japan by the contract packet from Point de Galle.

It is reasonable to expect that great expense will be imposed by these services on the British and Indian exchequer, and my Lords propose to reserve for future consideration whether it would be expedient to reduce such expense by raising the postage of letters between this country and India, and they propose, in the meantime, to call the attention of the Secretary of State for India to this question.

The large and important island of Ceylon has hitherto not contributed towards the loss incurred by the packet service by which its correspondence with this country has been conveyed, my Lords are of opinion that the time has now arrived when it may fairly be called upon to contribute towards the loss in question in proportion to its correspondence, at any rate so long as the postage on letters to and from Ceylon continues at the moderate rate of 6d. the half-ounce letter, and my Lords would be glad if the Secretary of State for the Colonies will make an intimation to this effect to the Government of that island.

With respect to the Postal Communication viâ Suez with the Australian Colonies: It is at present a monthly service, the mails being despatched to Alexandria on the 20th of each month viâ Southampton, and on the 26th viâ Marseilles. From Suez the mails are conveyed as far as Point de Galle by the Calcutta packet corresponding with that leaving Southampton on the 20th of the month; and from Point de Galle they are carried by vessels of the Peninsular and Oriental Company, under a contract recently entered into with that company, but which is terminable on a notice of twenty-four months being given by either party.

Various complaints having reached this Board from the Australian Colonies of the manner in which the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company have hitherto carried on the service, and the Colony of New South Wales having gone so far as to give notice of their intention to withdraw from their share in the contract, it appears to my Lords (although they do not think there are sufficient grounds for these complaints, and are of opinion that on the whole the service has been well performed) that it would be advisable also to serve notice on the Company, that, at the termination of twenty-four months, the present contract for the conveyance of the mails between Point de Galle and Sydney will be discontinued.

As

As the mails to India will hereafter be carried weekly instead of four times a month, and those to China fortnightly instead of twice a month, it will be necessary, unless a service expressly for the conveyance of the Australian mails between this country and Alexandria, and Brindisi and Alexandria, is provided, that the Australian mail service should also be altered from a service once a month to a service once every four weeks, so as to render the packets conveying the India and China mails to Alexandria, and the China mails to Point de Galle, available for the conveyance of the Australian mails as far as Point de Galle. It is true that it might be possible to make use of the vessels of the Messageries Imperiales, which are under contract with the French Government for the conveyance of mails monthly between France and China, for the carriage of the Australian mails as far as Point de Galle, but my Lords are given to understand that the expense of making use of these vessels would amount to very considerably more than the extra expense which would be incurred by the conversion of the service to those colonies from a monthly to a service once every four weeks.

It now becomes necessary to consider in what manner the service between Point de Galle and the Australian Colonies is to be provided for, on the discontinuance of the present contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. My Lords would be glad if the Australian Colonies would themselves, in combination, undertake to provide this service, in which case they would, as at present, be prepared on behalf of the Imperial Government to defray one-half of the reasonable cost of such service; and they would suggest that the Secretary of State for the Colonies should communicate with the different Colonial Governments with a view to such an arrangement being carried out. If, however, the several Colonial Governments should find it impossible to come to a common understanding on the subject, and to adopt a practicable arrangement, the Home Government will not refuse to undertake to make the necessary contract for providing the service between Point de Galle and Sydney; it must be, however, on the distinct understanding that they shall agree each, and all, to whatever arrangements the Home Government may consider most conducive to the interests of the mother country, and of the Colonies collectively. My Lords, however, would much prefer that the Colonies themselves should, in combination, make the contract or contracts for the service in question.

As regards the services between this country and Mauritius, my Lords regret that the future fortnightly service to Galle will not work in altogether with the monthly service which the Colonial Government has organized between Mauritius and Galle.

My Lords, however, trust that the Colonial authorities will be able to make arrangements which will obviate this inconvenience.

It now remains merely to recapitulate the steps which will require to be taken.

Firstly.—Notice will have to be given to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company of the intention of Her Majesty's Government to put to an end, at the proper periods, to all the contracts they have with that Company for the conveyance of the mails both on this side and on the other side of the Isthmus of Suez, and—

Secondly.—Tenders will have to be called for the several services adverted to in this minute, such services being divided into five parts (Parties tendering to be at liberty to tender for any one or more of such services), viz.:—

1st. A weekly service between Brindisi and Alexandria.

2nd. A weekly service between Southampton and Alexandria.

3rd. A weekly service between Suez and Bombay.

4th. A fortnightly service between Aden and Japan, touching at Galle, Penang, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Shanghai.

The parties tendering for this service to state for what additional subsidy they will be prepared to extend the service to Suez.

5th. A service as at present from Galle to Sydney, with a provision that the contract for this service may be accepted either by the Home Government or the Colonies.

Adverting to the opinion expressed by the Select Committee "that in consideration of the outlay which must necessarily be incurred in the construction of new vessels or adapting those now employed for the efficient performance of the future service to India, it is expedient that the new contracts shall be for a term of years certain, subject to a subsequent notice of two years on either side,"—my Lords would propose that so far as respects the first four services above adverted to, the tenders should be for a term of six years certain, and thenceforth subject to a notice of two years at the end of the first four or any subsequent year.

As regards the 5th service, however, viz., that between Galle and Sydney, although the necessary 24 months' notice should immediately be given to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company for the discontinuance of the present contract, it appears to my Lords that it would be inexpedient to call at once for tenders for a new service, or to fix a period for such service, until they have before them the views of the respective Colonies on this subject, which my Lords trust the Earl of Carnarvon will take the earliest opportunity of eliciting.

NOTE.—By the terms of the present contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, they are bound to provide a communication once every four weeks for an additional subsidy of £10,000 a-year.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE appointed to inquire into the practical working of the present System of TELEGRAPHIC and POSTAL COMMUNICATIONS between this Country and the East Indies, and who were instructed to extend their inquiry to China, Japan, Australia, and the Mauritius;—have considered the matters to them referred, and have agreed to the following Report:—

Appendix, No. 4.

1. It appears from a table laid before your Committee by Mr. Valpy, of the Board of Trade, that the total value of imports into the United Kingdom, and of British produce exported therefrom, and total tonnage of vessels entered and cleared at ports in the United Kingdom, in the year 1865, were as follows:—

Value of Imports	271,134,967
Value of Exports (British produce and manufacture)	165,862,402
Tonnage of Vessels—
Entered	14,317,886
Cleared	14,579,206

Of these quantities, British India, Singapore, Ceylon, Mauritius, China, China (Hong Kong), Egypt, the Dutch Possessions in India (Java, Sumatra, &c.), the Philippine Islands, Japan, and Australia, contributed the following proportions:—

COUNTRIES.	Imports.	Exports.	Tonnage of Vessels.
			Entered.	Cleared.
	£	£	Tons.	Tons.
British India	37,395,372	18,254,570	664,391	671,856
Singapore	2,169,056	1,442,450	77,835	50,292
Ceylon	3,707,615	685,308	52,197	50,400
Mauritius	1,246,299	596,848	41,029	30,805
China	10,673,960	3,609,301	91,606	80,375
China (Hong Kong)	773,068	1,561,851	14,408	42,848
Egypt	21,773,250	5,985,087	361,419	488,268
Dutch Possessions in India (Java, Sumatra, &c.)	226	928,642	Nil	29,349
Philippine Islands	1,253,904	945,624	23,207	18,055
Japan	614,743	1,520,895	9,361	19,602
Australia*	10,283,113	13,322,057	156,649	387,239
Total for the above-named Countries ..	68,117,356	42,897,846	1,492,102	1,869,090

2. It will thus be seen that upwards of 25 per cent. of the whole of the external commerce of the United Kingdom is transacted with the several countries above enumerated. The great importance of rapid and regular systems of communications between countries transacting business of such magnitude and importance, can hardly therefore be over-rated.

3. Many merchants, bankers, and others, engaged in carrying on these vast operations, having complained of the insufficiency of the existing postal and telegraphic arrangements, your Committee have inquired into their allegations on both points, and carefully considered the circumstances in their several bearings.

“AS REGARDS THE POSTAL SERVICE.”

*Existing Postal Contracts.*10 May, 1865,
No. 276.India and China
Mails.

4. The now subsisting contracts between Her Majesty's Government and the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company for the conveyance of mails between England and India, Ceylon, Mauritius, China, and Australia, are four in number. The first contract under which the India and China mails are conveyed, is dated the 1st January, 1853, and is now terminable at one year's notice. Under this contract the mails were to be conveyed twice each way in every calendar month, between England and Alexandria, viâ Southampton and Marseilles; and twice each way in every month between Suez, Calcutta, and Hong Kong. The vessels so employed were to be of not less than 1,100 tons burden, and were to maintain an average speed of not less than 10 knots an hour. The Company also engaged to carry mails between Singapore and Sydney, once each way, in every alternate month, in vessels of not less than 600 tons burden, which should maintain an average speed of 8½ knots an hour. The payment to the Company in respect of the India and China services was to be £199,600, with a proviso that it was to be reduced to £179,600 per annum six months after the opening of the railway across Egypt. In consequence of that proviso, and of certain other modifications, which have since been introduced in the contract, the amount in respect of the services in question is reduced this year to £162,125, of which £86,567 have been voted in Committee of Supply, leaving £75,558 to be provided from other sources.

Bombay and Aden.

5. By a contract dated 7th July, 1854, the mails were to be carried twice each way, every calendar month, between Bombay and Aden, in vessels of not less than 800 tons burden, and to maintain an average speed of 10 knots an hour. This service has since since been extended from Aden to Suez. The payment to the Company in respect of these services was to be £24,700 per annum; but only £22,000 has been voted in Committee of Supply this year on account of them. This contract is also terminable at one year's notice.

* Not including in any case precious metals.

6. Besides the above stated sums, £65,500 have been voted for "additional services," making the entire vote of the present year, in respect of the India and China mail services, after deductions and contributions from other sources, £174,067.

7. The Australian mails are now carried under a contract, dated the 17th day of November, 1865, between the Postmaster General and the Peninsular and Oriental Company. The Company undertake to convey the mails from Point de Galle, via King George's Sound and Melbourne, to Sydney in 516 hours; and from Sydney, via Melbourne and King George's Sound, to Point de Galle in 564 hours, on the following conditions:—

That a sum, after the rate of £120,000 per annum, shall be paid to the Company so long as it shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed one such voyage each way in every calendar month:

Or, a sum, after the rate of £130,000 per annum, if and so long as the said Company shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed one such voyage each way in every lunar month of four weeks:

Or, a sum, after the rate of £170,000 per annum, if and so long as the said Company shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed two such voyages each way in every calendar month:

Or, a sum, after the rate of £184,166 per annum, if and so long as the said Company shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed two such voyages each way in every lunar month of four weeks.

This contract is to be terminable at twenty-four calendar months' notice. The sum to be asked in Committee of Supply in respect of this service, is £59,750, being one moiety of the contract payment, after allowance of £500 for discontinuance of Admiralty Surveys.

8. The Mauritius mails are carried under a contract dated the 16th day of April, 1861, by which the above-mentioned Company undertook to convey mails once each way in every month, between Suez and Mauritius, calling at the Seychelle Islands, for the purpose of landing and embarking mails on each of the homeward voyages, and on each of the outward voyages, except during the months of June, July, and August. The vessels so employed to be of not less than 850 tons burden, and to arrive and depart from Suez and Mauritius on certain days in each month, specified in a table inserted in the contract; but under a new contract for a line between Mauritius and Point de Galle, entered into provisionally, the payment is reduced to £18,000. The payment for such services was £30,000 per annum, to be paid by the Colony. Notice has been given by the Company to terminate the contract, and the last voyage under it was to be made in the month of June last past.

9. The mails to Japan are carried every fortnight, in vessels belonging to the Peninsular and Oriental Company, but for so much of the service as lies between Shanghai and Japan no subsidy is paid. The Company are now claiming a subsidy, as there are seasons of the year when the services may be discontinued for commercial purposes.

10. By an agreement made between the above-named Company and the Postmaster General, dated the 27th February, 1866, amongst other matters to which it is not necessary to refer, it was agreed that, instead of the mails between England, India, and China, being carried at a nominal average speed of 10 knots an hour, with the necessary latitude for divergence from a direct line, according to the contracts of 1st January, 1853, and 7th July, 1854, they shall henceforth be conveyed between the several ports in the same number of hours as were provided in the time-tables appended to their contracts, this being equivalent to an average speed of nine and a half knots in a direct line. The object of this modification was to establish the means of carrying out the system of penalties and premiums provided by the new agreement.

11. The Peninsular and Oriental Company possesses a fleet of fifty-seven steam vessels, of the aggregate tonnage of 84,176 tons, and of 19,230 horse-power. Your Committee are of opinion that the services under the several contracts to which reference has been made, have been well performed, and the Assistant Secretary of the Post Office, stated that no mail that was entrusted to this Company for conveyance was ever lost.

Bombay, the Port for Indian Mails.

12. When the contract was made in 1853, for the conveyance of the mails by sea to Madras and Calcutta, such an arrangement was due to the political and commercial importance of those cities, and was also the most convenient method that could then have been adopted, as regarded the distribution of letters in India, but circumstances have since happened, which render a reconsideration and re-arrangement of the postal service between this country and India a matter of urgent necessity.

13. Mr. Riddle, the Director General of the Post Office of India, addressed a letter to the Secretary to the Government of India, on the 24th April, 1860, in which he called the attention to the fact, that the contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Company would expire in the following year, and mentioned some of the inconveniences which occurred under the existing system. He said, "At present, four mails are despatched.

despatched from England and from India every month, two from and to Bombay, and two from and to Calcutta. According to the time-table, thirty-five days are occupied between London and Calcutta, viâ Marseilles; twenty-four days between London and Bombay. The mail of the 10th January should reach Calcutta on the 13th February, while that of the 18th January should reach Bombay on the 10th February. It is clear that all places within three days' post of Bombay would receive the mail of the 18th January, viâ Bombay, before the mail of the 10th of January reached Calcutta. At a place situated as Benares, the mail of the 10th January, viâ Calcutta, would be delivered on the morning of the 16th February. A mail of the same date, if sent viâ Bombay, would reach Bombay on the 2nd February, and be delivered at Benares on the 7th or 8th February. The Mail which left London on the 18th January, viâ Bombay, would be delivered at Benares on the 15th or 16th February at the same time, or before the mail of the 10th January arrived, viâ Calcutta. Benares is about 1,000 miles from Bombay, and 422 miles from Calcutta."

Par. 3. "The mail which left London on the 10th January, is due at Calcutta on the 13th February; if it were sent viâ Bombay, it would be due at Bombay on the 2nd February, and according to present rates of speed, and even with the existing means of transport, the letters would all be delivered in Calcutta on the 9th or 10th, and all Southampton newspapers, by the 12th or 13th."

Par. 4. "The case as regards Madras is similar. The mail leaving London on the 10th January is due at Madras, viâ Galle, on the 9th February; if sent by Bombay, it would be due on the 6th February, having reached Bombay on the 2nd idem."

20 to 38. 14. Since the date of the above letter, great progress has been made in the of completion of the railway system in India. It appears from the evidence of the officers the East Indian, the Great Indian Peninsula, and the Madras Railway Companies, that in the Spring of 1868 there will be continuous railway communication between Bombay, Calcutta, and the North-western Provinces of India; and that Madras also will be connected with Bombay by railway in July, 1869.

Appendix No. 15, page 3, par. 2. 15. In a despatch addressed to the Secretary of State for India, on the 23rd November, 1865, by the Governor General in Council, of India, it was stated that, "The Nagpore extension of the Great Indian Peninsular Railway will be opened to Wurdah, within sixty miles of Nagpore, in January next, and will be completed to Nagpore, it is believed, in January, 1867. Between Nagpore and Mirzapore the whole distance can be traversed by mail carts throughout the year. Even now, it will be seen from the dates for closing the mails, the mails viâ Galle have become for letters quite useless. The mail which left Calcutta this morning by the Galle route is due in London on or about the 27th proximo, while the mail which closes this evening for the Bombay route, and by which this despatch will be transmitted, should, it is believed, reach London on or about the 21st."

Appendix No. 1, page 75, par. 2. 228. 16. That Bombay should be the port for arrival and departure of mails between this country and India, is the opinion of Her Majesty's Postmaster General. In a letter dated 14th July, 1865, written by the Assistant Secretary of the Post Office to Mr. Merivale, at the India Office, it was said, "The Postmaster General fully agrees with Sir C. Wood and the Government of India in the opinion expressed in your letter, of the advantage of substituting for the present postal service with India a weekly service, and in thinking that such service should be exclusively with Bombay." And Mr. Hill also informed your Committee that letters sent to Bombay would arrive at the best possible point in India for their speedy distribution, and that the gain to the public would be very great indeed.

As to Weekly Mail to India.

Appendix No. 1, page 22. 17. Mr. Riddle in his letter to the Government of India, of the 24th April, 1860, having strongly recommended the establishment of a weekly mail, viâ Bombay, the Governor General in Council, in sending that letter to the Home Government, said, "In forwarding the Director General's letter for consideration of Her Majesty's Government, we beg to express our concurrence in his views of the expediency of providing as soon as possible for a weekly postal communication with Bombay, whereby the whole of India would receive letters by every mail. At present only a very small part of India has the benefit of four mails in the month, the whole of the North-western Provinces, the Punjab, Scinde, and Bombay, and a great portion of the Madras Presidency receiving no benefit whatever from the two mails which are sent viâ Galle."

185. 18. The Assistant Secretary to the Post Office stated to your Committee that the Post Office had long desired to see a weekly mail established. That it would be much more convenient to them, and, what they regarded with greater interest, that they believed it would be very advantageous to the two countries.

Appendix No. 1, pages 66, 68, 74. 19. In January, 1865, a memorial, signed by most of the principal merchants and bankers in London engaged in commercial and monetary transactions with India, was presented to the Postmaster General, praying that a weekly mail might be established between London and Bombay, to leave London on Friday in every week. The East India and China Association of Liverpool, the Chamber of Commerce at Manchester, the merchants and bankers of Madras, the Bombay Chamber of Commerce, and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce have also approved of such an arrangement.

65. 73. 20. The Assistant Secretary to the Post Office stated to your Committee that, regarding the question of the charge for carrying the mails from a profit-and-loss point of view, which consideration is in the opinion of the Post Office of great moment, the present loss on the Indian service amounts to £48,000 a year, and on the China service to £34,000, a total loss of £82,000, the half of which is borne by the Indian Government. He estimates that by sending fifty-two mails a year each way between London and and Bombay, instead of twenty-four mails each way between London and Bombay, and twenty-four mails each way between London and Calcutta, an additional expense would be incurred, amounting to about £30,000 a year; and Mr. Hill had previously stated that, in the opinion of the Postmaster General, the weekly mail might have been established if the Indian Government would have consented to allow an extra charge of 6d. on all letters which now pay 6d. and 10d.; but that the Indian Government having declined to concur in the expediency of such an increase in the rates of postage, it had been the view of the Post Office, whatever additional expense might be entailed by the establishment of a weekly mail to Bombay ought to be borne exclusively by that Government.

21. Your Committee cannot assent to the doctrine that interests so important from every point of view, whether political, social, or commercial, as those which connect the United Kingdom with the largest and most valuable possessions of the Crown, should be prejudiced by an insufficient postal service, because the establishment of an efficient service might leave an apparent loss of no great magnitude to be borne by the two countries. They submit that a question of profit or loss, within reasonable bounds, is a consideration entitled to little weight in the case of so important a postal service as that between England and India. They concur in the views expressed on this subject, in a letter addressed by the India Office to the Assistant Secretary to the Post Office, on the 5th October, 1865, in which it was said: "Sir Charles Wood, cannot, however, regard the question as one merely affecting the charge on the Imperial revenues. It has been the perception of the bearing of increased postal communication on the wealth and progress of a country that has induced Statesmen of late years to consent to fiscal sacrifices for the purpose of obtaining it. There can be no doubt that increased postal communication with India implies increased relations with that country, increased commerce, increased investment of English capital, increased settlement of energetic middle-class Englishmen; and from all these sources the wealth and prosperity of England are more greatly increased than that of India."

and 5.

22. It appears from a despatch from the Governor General in Council of India to the Secretary of State for India, dated the 22nd February, 1866, that the Indian Government is willing to forward the establishment of a weekly mail, by accepting the responsibility of any loss that may thereby be incurred. In offering, however, to incur such risk, it points out the unfairness of such an arrangement in the following terms: "But we do not consider such an arrangement to be altogether unobjectionable. It would apparently be based on the explanation that the service must be carried on at a loss, and if so, we venture to suggest that it would hardly be desired by England that the whole of that loss should fall upon the Indian revenue."

Appendix No. 15,

Par. 5.

"It has been well pointed out, in Mr. Merivale's letter to the Post Office of the 5th October, that the interests of England and India are jointly concerned in this matter. There are no doubt thousands in the former country to whom increased facilities for postal communication with India are just as important as they are to their countrymen living in India, and whether we look to the interest of this latter class only, or to the millions from whom Indian revenue is mainly drawn, and who have no direct interest in the matter at all, it would scarcely be generous for England to stipulate that the loss which might arise from the establishment of a proper and efficient postal service between the two countries should be borne wholly by the Indian taxpayer."

Separate Service to India.

23. It has long been a source of dissatisfaction to the Indian public, as well as to the Government, that, from being associated with the China postal service from this country, the Indian Government has been made to contribute one-half of the loss incurred in that service.

299.

24. The principle upon which such charge was imposed on the Indian revenue was stated in a Treasury Minute dated the 21st August, 1854, and will be found in the evidence of the Assistant Secretary to the Post Office. It says, "That so far as the commercial and political relations with China went, the latter existing exclusively for the former, it was laid down that the interests of England and India were equal."

25. The Court of Directors of the East India Company by no means acquiesced in the propriety and justice of this statement. In a letter addressed by their Deputy Secretary to Sir J. N. Redington, K.C.B., on the 7th September, 1854, it was said: "The Court are unable to admit the validity of the reasoning upon which the Lords of the Treasury appear to base their opinion, that the interests of this country and of India are equal as respects some portions of these contracts. Whilst the Court are far from under-estimating the importance to India of the trade with China, they cannot refrain from adverting to the facts, that the Indian trade with China is now carried on principally by British shipping, and that, by the commercial and fiscal policy of England, the manufactures of India, which had been superseded in India itself by those of the United Kingdom, have been in like manner driven out of China. The Court think that, upon re-consideration, and a reference to these points, the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury will admit that the value of steam communication with China is far greater to the people of Great Britain than it is to the people of India."

Appendix No. 16,
Par. 4.

Par. 5.

26. In the despatch from the Governor General in Council of India, dated the 22nd February, 1866, addressed to the Secretary of State for India, a protest is urged against the Indian revenue being in any way chargeable with the loss incurred on the China service between England and Galle. It is said, "If it is admitted, as it is by the Postmaster General in England (and the point is too clear to leave any room for

question question about it), that the postal service with India should in future be exclusively to Bombay, it is difficult to understand upon what ground it can be seriously maintained that the Indian Post Office should continue to be charged with a portion of the cost of a postal subsidy given to steamers on the line between Suez and Galle, for the conveyance of China and Australian mails, or why any subsidy should be given to steamers running between Galle and Calcutta."

"Speed of Mail Packets."

2966 and 2967.

27. The Indian public have long complained of the low rate of speed attained by the vessels which convey the mails to and from England to India, and it was stated to your Committee by a witness of great experience (J. D'Aguilar Samuda, Esq., a Member of this House), that in the present state of nautical science the contract speed of 9½ knots an hour for the service between Suez and India is too low. He remarked, that the contract speed obtained by the West India Mail Company is 10½ knots an hour; and he suggested that, with some modifications, some of the vessels now employed by the Peninsular and Oriental Company could be made to attain a knot an hour more than they now make; but he was of opinion that, in order to insure a satisfactory rate of speed, vessels of not less than 2,000 tons burden should be employed.

28. It is only fair to the Peninsular and Oriental Company to say that they have been, and still are, endeavouring to accomplish a better rate of speed. Mr. Howell, the Secretary of the Company, stated that their ships had not come up to their own expectations and wishes upon the Bombay line. They had sought to produce a great improvement in the consumption of coal, and also an increase of speed, and alterations with these ends in view were now being made.

The Australian and China Mails.

29. As the separation of the Indian postal service from those mails which now proceed to Point de Galle will necessitate the reconstruction of the China service, and probably to its combination between Suez and Point de Galle with that to Sydney, your Committee invite attention to the efficient service between Europe, Point de Galle, and China, every calendar month, performed by the Messageries Imperiales, from Marseilles.

The Italian Route.

30. Your Committee have taken evidence to ascertain whether the Indian mails could be carried with advantage to the public over the Mont Cenis Railway, and through Italy to Brindisi, or some Italian port, instead of through France to Marseilles, but they are not able to recommend that any steps should at present be taken to accomplish that object, although the contingency of that route becoming available at some future time should be provided for in any contract extending over a series of years.

"AS REGARDS THE TELEGRAPH SERVICE."

31. The political and commercial importance of possessing permanent means of communication with the several countries before referred to, by a telegraphic service at all times available and to be depended upon, is even greater in degree than the necessity for an efficient postal service; indeed, with regard to the bulk of commercial transactions between the merchants and manufacturers of this country and producers and consumers abroad, the Post Office has now become, in a great measure, subsidiary to the telegraph. Nor are the benefits derived from telegraphic communication confined to the mercantile community alone; the public in general are equally interested in the rapid transmission of authentic mercantile intelligence; for, if the effect be, as has been stated by witnesses of authority, to enable merchants and manufacturers to obtain with greater certainty and economy a regular and adequate supply of the commodities they require in the English market, it is the consumer in the end to whom the ultimate advantage is brought home by the process of competition.

The Telegraph to India.

32. The Indian and Home Governments have long been sensible of the extreme importance of possessing an efficient telegraph service between England and India, and have made great efforts and pecuniary sacrifices to obtain it; and if a full measure of success has not yet attended their exertions, the imperfections now complained of have arisen in a considerable degree from difficulties hitherto beyond their control.

33. A message intended for India is delivered to one of the two Companies in London having telegraphic communication with the Continent, "The Electric and International Telegraph Company," and "The Submarine Telegraph Company," and is forwarded by one of two principal alternative routes, the Turkish, or the Russian route. To reach Constantinople the lines principally used are through Vienna, or Turin. From Vienna messages are transmitted to their destination chiefly through Servia, and occasionally through Wallachia. From Turin they proceed by the Italian coast line, and the submarine cable, across the Lower Adriatic, and arrive at Constantinople by way of Salonica, and the shores of the Sea of Marmora. A telegram may, therefore, be dealt with by French, Belgian, Dutch, Prussian, Austrian, Bavarian, Minor German, Italian, Servian, or Wallachian administrations. After the message reaches Constantinople, it is forwarded under the terms of the "Indo-Ottoman" Convention, by an exclusive wire to Bagdad, attributed to the imperfect management of the Persian service between Julpha on the Georgian frontier and Teheran; the exceeding rigour of the climate also, during the winter months, especially on the line between Ispahan and Bushire, has presented many obstacles during the last winter.

45. A proposition has been submitted to your Committee for the establishment of an alternative line connecting Bunder Abbas, in the lower part of the Persian Gulf, with Ispahan, by way of Kerman and Yezd. This line, if practicable, with reference to political considerations, would present many advantages.

46. Lastly, a line constructed by the Turkish Government between Gaza, on the Egyptian frontier, and Diarbekir, on the main line of telegraph between Constantinople and Bagdad, has recently been opened for public traffic in connection with the Malta and Alexandria line. This line may present many recommendations as an additional useful alternative line in the event of interruption to the direct lines to Constantinople through the continent of Europe; but at present it cannot be said to be available to the public generally, in consequence of the refusal of the Turkish authorities to receive messages of origin or destination, otherwise than Egyptian, for transmission by the line.

47. With respect to the service through Turkey, there is a general concurrence of testimony that, as a rule, it is very defective. In a letter addressed to the Under Secretary of State for India by Major Champain, on the 31st August, 1865, it was stated, There is no doubt that the messages to and from India are unnecessarily and vexatiously delayed, and public confidence in the undertaking is being shaken. The organization of the Turkish lines is defective, and, in my opinion, will continue so, unless some decided step, such as the establishment of an opposition route, be taken. Mr. Courtenay invariably writes that either the Turkish Asiatic, or the Turkish European lines are working badly, and it does not seem that Colonel Goldsmid's suggestions have yet been complied with. I know that the insulators we proposed for the new wires between Constantinople and Diarbekir were rejected as too expensive, and cheap inferior wires were ordered from Belgium. In some measure, however, I can account for delays of late in consequence of the cholera panic, which frightened the telegraph clerks from their posts. Still, I maintain that blame is due to the Turks, and I much fear that they are really unable to work up to our standard of efficiency. Mr. Walton, the director of the cable, writes to me that 'our messages from Kurrachee to Fao, and vice versa, 'average seventy-four minutes for the last three months, and that the Bagdad men 'report seventy or eighty messages on hand, send twelve or fifteen, and then smoke 'hookahs, or say their prayers, for two or three hours, during which time Fao hears 'nothing of them.' Our cable, therefore, is working admirably; for months past there has been no interruption on the Persian line, and yet all our endeavours are nullified by the bad arrangements in Turkey. On the other hand, the Russians are naturally anxious to help our through communication, and have now offered to place their line, from St. Petersburg to the Persian frontier, entirely in the hands of a well-known London firm. Mr. Siemens, the head of that firm, spoke to me lately on that subject, and would, I believe, be willing to accept the offer, if there were any probability of his obtaining the control of the Persian line, from the Tabreez frontier to our telegraphic centre at Teheran. I am convinced that, supported by Russian influence in Persia, and not opposed by us, he would succeed; and then we should, without having taken any active steps in the matter, obtain a second, and a really reliable line of communication between England and the Persian Gulf. Such an arrangement would also do more to render the Constantinople line efficient than remonstrances we may make, now the Turks know that we are entirely dependent on them."

48. In Colonel Goldsmid's report of the 4th November, 1865, it is stated, "I see no remedy for the state of telegraphic correspondence in Turkey, but associating Englishmen with the native employés in the higher as in the inferior duties of the line, making at once the principal stations 'Anglo-Ottoman,' as at Fao; or else giving the whole line to a company or firm competent to work and supervise it, such, for instance, as Messrs. Bright and Clark, who have, moreover, a kind of vested interest in the cable from old association. The first of these remedies I had the honor of suggesting to the Home Government in May, but the question involved political considerations, and the re-opening of or supplementing a lately ratified convention, one intended to be final. There is manifestly no better chance at this moment available for successful telegraphy in Turkey than competition. We have a convention with Turkey to enable us to keep open telegraphic communication with India through her dominions. She has gone to expense and taken pains to carry out the terms of this convention. We are, therefore, desirous to avail ourselves of her lines as much as possible. It is found, however, in practice, that the Turkish route is more or less a failure. Turkey has not earned the whole blame, but she certainly earned the lion's share. Our companies (that is, the British public by their agents) learn that an opposition line is available through Russia. They take supposed advantage of this eagerly to transmit hundreds of telegrams, but the rush was premature. The Russian line had not then reached good working order. They revert again to Turkey, but not in regard to conventions. The convention was to give the public a desideratum, not to bind them to a particular mode of correspondence. Now, however, the Ottoman telegraph lags, and the Russian telegraph gains strength. As a rule, we are not using the latter yet; it has just given us a commercial message in Teheran in 72½ hours, while its rival cannot force on its burden in less than nine days. Here success may, perhaps, be spasmodic; but time will shew. On the other hand, the failure is becoming chronic. Turkey must bestir herself, or the competition will be fatal to her. I say nothing of the difference of rates, except that the difference is favourable to traffic through Russia."

49. It appears, however, according to a letter from Major Champain, dated the 10th April, 1866, and addressed by him to W. J. Thornton, Esq., the Secretary of the Public Works Department in the India Office, that considerable improvement had then lately been made in working the lines in Turkey, but that owing to a heavy fall of snow in Persia, the working of the Persian lines had been very unsatisfactory.

50. Your Committee are of opinion that the cause of the complaints so generally and justly made as to the manner in which the telegraphic service between this country and India has been performed, as a rule, since the line by the Persian Gulf was opened for public traffic in February, 1865, is to be found in the imperfect administration of the Turkish system, and the neglect of the authorities in India to make adequate provision for the distribution from Kurrachee of the immense amount of business in connection with Europe, which it might to have been foreseen would follow immediately upon the opening of the Persian Gulf line to the use of the public.

51. In the former case the imperfection of the service is not more than might have been expected on the first introduction of a method of communication so novel to the habits of business of the people of Turkey; but apart from natural adverse causes, such as the severity of the climate in the winter months in some districts of the route through Asia Minor and Armenia, there is no reason to doubt that by strict compliance with the terms of the convention, in regard to the reservation of one wire at least for the purpose of messages to and from the eastward, the employment of an adequate number of European officers and signallers well acquainted with the English language, and careful attention to the condition of the line itself, the service may in time become satisfactory in its working.

Telegraphs in India.

52. There are now about 14,500 miles of Government telegraph lines in India, connecting the chief cities in the different Presidencies, and they are completed towards Singapore as far as Rangoon. They have been constructed at a cost amounting to £1,146,861 14s. 3d. on 30th April, 1864. There are besides, 3,141 miles of lines erected by the different railway companies, at a cost of £411,924 12s. 8d. on 31st December, 1864, and which are maintained at an expense of £41,888 18s. 5d. per annum.

53. That the working of the Government lines of telegraph in India has been very unsatisfactory is admitted. Colonel Robinson, the Director General of the Indian Telegraph Department, has ascribed the defects in a great measure to the fact that the officers of the Department have been underpaid, their emoluments not been commensurate with those given in other establishments, and also to the circumstance that the lines, having been destroyed in the war times, had been re-erected in haste for military purposes, and since then had been gradually, but very slowly, reconstructed. Colonel Robinson is, however, of opinion that the working is much improved, and that merchants in Calcutta now receive their messages, even if sent in cypher, very accurately. He adds that, although the telegraph in India was originally established for the purposes of speedy communication between different military stations, it is now looked upon almost in the light of a post-office.

54. Your Committee were informed on the same authority, that efficacious measures have been taken for the establishment of a second line of wire, to connect Kurrachee with the internal system of India, and otherwise to redeem that part of the service from the reproach which has been cast upon it.

55. A suggestion was made in 1862 that the Government lines of telegraph should be made over to a private company for administration; but the Governor General in Council declined to acquiesce in the proposal.

56. With reference to the establishment of independent lines of telegraph by private companies, Lieutenant-Colonel C. Douglas, lately the Officiating Director General of Telegraphs in India, in a letter addressed to the Indian Government in 1861, said—

“There are already several lines of telegraph in private hands; I allude to those of the several Railway Companies which have power to transmit private messages in all cases where the Government have no co-ordinate lines; should, however, other private companies desire to undertake telegraph management, there is no line which could be so conveniently made over to them as that connecting Calcutta with Rangoon, and the local lines in that province. These lines connecting three very important places of commerce, Calcutta, Akyab, and Rangoon, with the advantages of possible extension to the port of Moulmein, appear to hold out every prospect of being remunerative; and the fact of the telegraph lines in Pegu being very largely used in official correspondence, owing to the tardiness of postal communication, offers additional prospect of profit.”

57. In 1863, with a view to utilize as far as possible the heavy expenditure already referred to as having been incurred by the Railway Companies in India in establishing telegraphs by the side of their lines, it was proposed to lease them to a responsible Company then about to be formed, under the title of “The Oriental Telegraph Company,” for the purpose of carrying out a system of commercial telegraphs in India; and an application was made to the Secretary of State for India to sanction the arrangement, but for reasons which do not appear to your Committee to be very clear, an unfavourable answer was returned to the application.

Telegraph to China and Australia.

58. Proposals have been made at various times to Her Majesty's Government, for the establishment of a telegraphic service to connect Australia with the Indian system at Rangoon, but no arrangement has as yet been found practicable, notwithstanding the willingness of the Colonies (as appears by the evidence of Sir C. Nicholson, Bart., formerly Speaker of the Legislative Council at Sydney), to contribute a guarantee to the extent of £35,000 per annum, towards securing an interest on the capital required for the purpose. The Government of Holland has expressed its readiness to afford material aid in the construction of a line which will bring their dependencies in the East into communication with Europe; whilst the French Government also is stated to be willing to assist in the formation of a line which will connect their establishments at Saigon with a main line at Singapore.

59. According to the best information attainable, neither the depths of water, nor the distances between one station and another, present any difficulty, as regards the construction of a line between Rangoon, Singapore, and the Australian Colonies.

Proposed New Service to India by way of Egypt.

60. A scheme for an independent line of telegraph to India, to be continued hereafter to Australia and China, under the charge of English officials, and an undivided responsibility throughout, excepting in its passage through France, has been submitted to your Committee.

61. The intention of the promoters of this scheme is to form a Company for the transmission of messages, under one control and management, as far as may be practicable, between England, Egypt, India, China, and the Australian Colonies, by means of a line of wire, which passing through Italy (under a concession already granted by the Italian Government) to the Island of Sicily, will thence be carried to the African Coast, joining the existing Malta and Alexandria Cable at Benghazi, from whence, in order to convey the large through traffic that will then be concentrated on this line, a second or duplicate line will be laid to Alexandria. Under arrangements made with the "Telegraph to India Company," the new Company will acquire possession of their concession as well as their lines between Alexandria, Cairo, and Suez. From Alexandria two distinct lines will branch off to India: one proceeding from Suez to Cossier and Suakim on the western shore of the Red Sea, or by land lines up the Valley of the Nile, by permission of his Highness the Viceroy of Egypt, to Suakim or Massowah, and thence by submarine cables, via Aden and the southern coast of Arabia, to Kurrachee and Bombay. The other, or alternative line, will be the Syrian line from Gaza to Diarbekir already referred to. Arrangements will be made to secure independent wires between Bombay, Calcutta, and Rangoon, and to carry out (with concurrence of the Indian authorities in this country) the conditions of the agreement before mentioned, with the East Indian, the Great Peninsula, and other Indian Railway Companies, for placing separate commercial wires on their posts from Bombay to Calcutta, Madras, Allahabad, Benares, Delhi, &c. From Rangoon, the eastern terminus of the Indian land lines, a cable will be laid to Singapore, whence submarine lines will diverge in two directions: one branch proceeding, via Saigon, to Hong Kong and Shanghai; and the other passing through Java to the Australian Colonies. With a view of embracing the entire system of telegraphy to the east, it is proposed to undertake, if approved by the Secretary of State for India in Council, and the Government of India, a lease of, and eventually to purchase on equitable terms, the Persian Gulf line, under such arrangements with the Ottoman Government as will secure to the public the same accuracy and rapidity in the transmission of messages as obtains by way of Egypt, thereby providing the public with a double or alternate route to all parts of the East.

62. As evidence favouring this proposition, your Committee refer to the testimony of several mercantile witnesses, and also of the Chairman of the Electric and International Telegraph Company, and the Chairman of the Submarine Telegraph Company, to the effect, that in the case of the constantly recurring irregularities in the transmission of messages through the Continent, the greatest difficulty is met with in obtaining satisfactory redress, owing to the great number of different administrations through which they have to pass, and the impossibility, as is stated, of identifying the locality of the mistake.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

63. Your Committee having carefully considered the circumstances above stated, are of opinion,—

As regards the Postal Question.

1st. That, whilst it has not been expedient, hitherto, to add to the expense of the postal communications with India, by establishing a more frequent service to Bombay, in addition to the existing services to Madras and Calcutta, yet, having regard to the facilities already afforded by the railways under construction in India, and to the prospect of the early completion of the main lines of communication connecting the Port of Bombay with the Presidencies of Calcutta and Madras, the North West Provinces, and the Punjab, the time has arrived when tenders should be invited for a weekly service to Bombay alone, and the separate postal service between this country and Madras and Calcutta should be discontinued.

2nd. That such service should be on the footing of an express service, entirely unconnected, to the eastward of Suez, with any other mail services.

3rd. That the tenders should be either for the entire service, to and from Bombay, or for the sections to the east and west of Egypt separately, the parties having the option to tender for either weekly or fortnightly services.

4th. That the time-table should be based on a prescribed speed of not less than 11 nautical miles per hour, on the voyage between Marseilles and Alexandria, and 10 miles per hour between Suez and Bombay; but that the tenders be required to state also terms in each case for higher rates of speed of not less than one additional half mile per hour.

5th. That in consideration of the outlay which must necessarily be incurred in the construction of new vessels, or adapting those now employed for the efficient performance of the future service to India, it is expedient that the new contracts shall be for a term of years certain, subject to a subsequent notice of two years on either side.

6th. That Her Majesty's Government should take into their early consideration the arrangements to be made, in consequence of the proposed separation of the Indian service, for maintaining a fortnightly or half-monthly service to China, and a monthly or four-weekly service to Australia, having regard to any facilities which may be afforded by the monthly service to China, now performed by the Messageries Imperiales from Marseilles.

7th. That, in the opinion of your Committee, the arrangements under which India now defrays a moiety of the net cost of the China Service, after deducting the postal receipts, will not, under the proposed arrangements, be equitable as regards that Government, and should be modified.

As regards the Telegraphic Question.

1st. That having regard to the magnitude of the interests, political, commercial, and social, involved in the connection between this country and India, it is not expedient that the means of intercommunication by telegraph should be dependent upon any single line, or any single system of wires, in the hands of several foreign governments, and under several distinct responsibilities, however well such services may be conducted, as a whole, in time of peace.

2nd. That the establishment of separate lines, entirely or partially independent of the present line through Turkey, is therefore desirable; and, in that view, that means should be taken for improving the condition, and facilitating the use of the lines of telegraph which connect the Persian system with Europe, by way of the Georgian lines of the Russian Government, and for bringing, if possible, within the Turkish convention, the line recently established through Syria, for connecting Alexandria with the main line to India at Diarbekir.

3rd. That with the view to better security against accident in time to come, the communication by way of the Persian Gulf should be doubled, either by the laying of a second submarine cable, or by continuing the land line from Kurrachee and Gwadel to Bunder Abbas, and thence, under arrangements with the Government of Persia, to Ispahan, by way of Kerman and Yezd.

4th. That a proposition made to your Committee for the establishment of a direct communication between Alexandria and Bombay, by way of Aden, on the principle of a line practically under one management and responsibility, between London and the Indian Presidencies in the first instance, and afterwards with China and the Australian Colonies, is deserving of serious consideration, and such reasonable support as the influence of Her Majesty's Government may be able to bring to its aid.

5th. That considering the great outlay of guaranteed railway capital already incurred, in the establishment of the telegraph on the several lines of railway in India, it is expedient that means should be taken for affording the public the utmost benefit attainable from that expenditure, either by the Government of India sanctioning the use of the wires of the companies, by a public company willing to rent the privilege on equitable terms, or by such an organization of the several independent companies as will establish an unity of system, and bring the use of the lines fairly within the reach of the public.

6th. That the magnitude of the interests involved in the trade of this country with China and Australia, and the rapidly increasing development of the Colonies in population, in commerce, and in the various elements of national greatness, render it desirable that arrangements should be made to bring these communities within the reach of telegraphic communication with Europe.

The Committee deliberated.

Draft Report proposed by the Chairman read a first time, as follows:—

“THE SELECT COMMITTEE appointed to inquire into the practical working of the present system of Telegraphic and Postal Communications between this Country and the East Indies, China, Mauritius, Australia, and Japan,—have considered the matters to them referred, and have agreed to the following Report:—

“1. It appears from a Table laid before your Committee by Mr. Valpy, of Appendix No. 4. the Board of Trade, that the total value of imports into the United Kingdom, and of British produce exported therefrom, and total tonnage of vessels entered and cleared at ports in the United Kingdom, in the year 1865, were as follows:—

Value of Imports	271,134,967
Value of Exports (British produce and manufacture) ...	165,862,402
Tonnage of Vessels:—
Entered	14,317,886
Cleared	14,579,206

COUNTRIES.	Imports.	Exports.	Tonnage of Vessels.
			Entered.	Cleared.
	£	£	Tons.	Tons.
British India	37,395,372	18,254,570	664,391	671,856
Singapore	2,169,056	1,442,450	77,835	50,292
Ceylon	3,707,615	685,308	52,197	50,400
Mauritius	1,246,299	596,848	41,029	30,805
China	10,673,960	3,609,301	91,606	80,375
China (Hong Kong)	773,068	1,561,851	14,408	42,848
Egypt	21,773,250	5,985,087	361,419	483,268
Dutch Possessions in India (Java, Sumatra, &c.)	226	923,642	Nil.	29,349
Phillippine Islands	1,253,904	945,624	23,207	18,055
Japan	614,743	1,520,895	9,361	19,602
Australia	10,283,113	13,352,367	156,649	387,239
Total for the above-named Countries ..	63,117,356	42,897,846	1,492,102	1,869,090

“2. It will thus be seen that upwards of 25 per cent. of the whole of the external commerce of the United Kingdom is transacted with the several countries above enumerated. The great importance of rapid and regular systems of communications between countries transacting business of such magnitude and importance can hardly, therefore, be over-rated.

“3. Many merchants, bankers, and others engaged in carrying on these vast operations, having complained of the insufficiency of the existing postal and telegraphic arrangements, your Committee have inquired into their allegations on both points, and carefully considered the circumstances in their several bearings.

“AS REGARDS THE POSTAL SERVICE.

“Existing Postal Contracts.

“4. The now subsisting contracts between Her Majesty's Government and the 10 May, 1865, No. 27d. Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company for the conveyance of mails between England and India, Ceylon, Mauritius, China, and Australia, are four in number. The first contract under which the India and China mails are conveyed, is dated the 1st January, 1853, and is now terminable at one year's notice. Under this contract, the mails were to be conveyed twice each way in every calendar month, between England and Alexandria, viâ Southampton and Marseilles; and twice each way in every month between Suez, Calcutta, and Hong Kong. The vessels so employed were to be of not less than 1,100 tons burden, and were to maintain an average speed of not less than 10 knots an hour. The Company also engaged to carry mails between Singapore and Sydney, once each way, in every alternate month, in vessels of not less than 600 tons burden, which should maintain an average speed of 8½ knots an hour. The payment to the the Company in respect of the India and China services was to be £199,600, with a proviso that it was to be reduced to £179,600 per annum, six months after the opening of the railway across Egypt. In consequence of that proviso, and of certain other modifications which have since been introduced in the contract, the amount in respect of the services in question is reduced this year to £162,125, of which £86,567 have been voted in Committee of Supply, leaving £75,558 to be provided from other sources.

Bombay and Aden.

" 5. By a contract, dated 7th July, 1854, the mails were to be carried twice each way, every calendar month, between Bombay and Aden, in vessels of not less than 800 tons burden, and to maintain an average speed of 10 knots an hour. This service has since been extended from Aden to Suez. The payment to the Company in respect of these services was to be £24,700 per annum; but only £22,000 has been voted in Committee of Supply this year on account of them. This contract is also terminable at one year's notice.

" 6. Besides the above stated sums, £65,500 have been voted for 'additional services,' making the entire vote of the present year, in respect of the India and China mail services, after deductions and contributions from other sources, £174,067.

Australian Mails.
See Appendix.

" 7. The Australian mails are now carried under a contract, dated the 17th day of November, 1865, between the Postmaster General and the Peninsular and Oriental Company. The Company undertake to convey the mails from Point de Galle, viâ King George's Sound and Melbourne, to Sydney, in 516 hours; and from Sydney, viâ Melbourne and King George's Sound, to Point de Galle, in 564 hours, on the following conditions:—

" That a sum, after the rate of £120,000 per annum, shall be paid to the Company, so long as it shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed one such voyage each way in every calendar month:

" Or, a sum after the rate of £130,000 per annum, if and so long as the said Company shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed one such voyage each way in every lunar month of four weeks:

" Or, a sum, after the rate of £170,000 per annum, if and so long as the said Company shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed two such voyages each way in every calendar month:

" Or, a sum, after the rate of £184,166 per annum, if and so long as the said Company shall, upon the requisition of the Postmaster General, cause to be performed two such voyages each way in every lunar month of four weeks.

" The contract is to be terminable at twenty-four calendar months' notice. The sum to be asked in Committee of Supply in respect of this service is £59,750, being one moiety of the contract payment, after allowance of £500 for discontinuance of Admiralty surveys.

Mauritius Mails
10 May, 1865,
No 276.

" 8. The Mauritius mails are carried under a contract dated the 16th day of April, 1861, by which the above-mentioned Company undertook to convey mails once each way in every month between Suez and Mauritius, calling at the Seychelle Islands, for the purpose of landing and embarking mails on each of the homeward voyages, and on each of the outward voyages, except during the months of June, July, and August. The vessels so employed to be of not less than 850 tons burden, and to arrive and depart from Suez and Mauritius on certain days in each month, specified in a table inserted in the contract; but under a new contract, for a line between Mauritius and Point de Galle, entered into provisionally, the payment is reduced to £18,000. The payment for such services was £30,000 per annum, to be paid by the Colony. Notice has been given by the Company to terminate the contract, and the last voyage under it was to be made in the month of June last past.

Japan mails.

" 9. The mails to Japan are carried every fortnight in vessels belonging to the Peninsular and Oriental Company, but for so much of the service as lies between Shanghai and Japan, no subsidy is paid. The Company are now claiming a subsidy, as there are seasons of the year when the services may be discontinued for commercial purposes.

1376.

page 29, par. 9.

" 10. By an agreement made between the above-named Company and the Postmaster General, dated the 27th February, 1866, amongst other matters to which it is not necessary to refer, it was agreed that, instead of the mails between England, India, and China, being carried at a nominal average speed of 10 knots an hour, according to the contracts of 1st January, 1853, and 7th July, 1854, they shall henceforth be conveyed between the several ports in a certain number of hours, the practical effect of the arrangement being to reduce the rate of speed, on a large proportion of the distance, to 9½ knots an hour.

1446.

" 11. The Peninsular and Oriental Company possess a fleet of 57 steam vessels, of the aggregate tonnage of 84,176 tons, and of 19,230 horse power. Your Committee are of opinion that the services under the several contracts to which reference has been made have been well performed; and the Assistant Secretary of the Post Office stated that no mail was ever lost that was conveyed by this Company.

169.

" Bombay the Port for Indian Mails.

" 12. When the contract was made, in 1853, for the conveyance of the mails by sea to Madras and Calcutta, such an arrangement was due to the political and commercial importance of those cities, and was also the most convenient method that could then have been adopted as regarded the distribution of letters in India; but circumstances have since happened which render a reconsideration and re-arrangement of the postal service between this country and India a matter of urgent necessity.

" 13. Mr. Riddell, the Director General of the Post Office of India, addressed a letter to the Secretary to the Government of India, on the 24th April, 1860, in which he called attention to the fact that the contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Company would expire in the following year, and mentioned some of the inconveniences which occurred under the existing system. He said, 'At present, four mails are despatched from England and from India every month—two from and to Bombay, and two from and to Calcutta. According to the time-table, 35 days are occupied between London and Calcutta, viâ Marseilles; 24 days between London and Bombay. The mail of the 10th January should reach Calcutta on the 13th February, while that of the 18th January should reach Bombay on the 10th February. It is clear that all places within three days' post of Bombay would receive the mail of the 18th January, viâ Bombay, before the mail of the 10th January reached Calcutta. At a place situated at Benares, the mail of the 10th January, viâ Calcutta, would be delivered on the morning of the 16th February. A mail of the same date, if sent viâ Bombay, would reach Bombay on the 2nd February, and be delivered at Benares on the 7th or 8th February. The mail which left London on the 18th January, viâ Bombay, would be delivered at Benares on the 15th or 16th February, at the same time, or before the mail of the 10th January arrived, viâ Calcutta. Benares is about 1,000 miles from Bombay, and 422 miles from Calcutta.'

Par. 2.

" 'The mail which left London on the 10th January is due at Calcutta on the 13th February; if it were sent viâ Bombay, it would be due at Bombay on the 2nd February, and according to present rates of speed, and even with the existing means of transport, the letters would all be delivered in Calcutta on the 9th or 10th, and all South-ampton newspapers by the 12th or 13th.'

Par. 3.

" 'The case as regards Madras is similar. The mail leaving London on the 10th January is due at Madras, viâ Galle, on the 9th February; if sent by Bombay, it would be due on the 6th February, having reached Bombay on the 2nd idem.'

Par. 4.

" 14. Since the date of the above letter, great progress has been made in the completion of the railway system in India. It appears from the evidence of the officers of the East Indian, the Great Indian Peninsular, and the Madras Railway Companies, that in the spring of 1868 there will be continuous railway communication between Bombay, Calcutta, and the North-western Provinces of India; and that Madras also will be connected with Bombay by railway in July, 1869.

" 15. In a despatch addressed to the Secretary of State for India, on the 23rd November, 1865, by the Governor General in Council of India, it was stated that 'The Nagpore extension of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway will be opened to Wurdah, within 60 miles of Nagpore, in January next, and will be completed to Nagpore, it is believed, in January, 1867. Between Nagpore and Mirsapore, the whole distance can be traversed by mail carts throughout the year. Even now, it will be seen, from the dates for closing the mails, the mails viâ Galle have become, for letters, quite useless. The mail which left Calcutta this morning by the Galle route is due in London on or about the 27th proximo, while the mail which closes this evening for the Bombay route, and by which this despatch will be transmitted, should, it is believed, reach London on or about the 21st.'

" 16. That Bombay should be the port for arrival and departure of mails between this country and India, is the opinion of Her Majesty's Postmaster General. In a letter dated 14th July, 1865, written by the Assistant Secretary of the Post Office to Mr. Merivale, at the India Office, it was said, 'The Postmaster General fully agrees with Sir C. Wood and the Government of India, in the opinion expressed in your letter, of the advantage of substituting for the present postal service with India a weekly service, and in thinking that such service should be exclusively with Bombay.' And Mr. Hill also informed your Committee that letters sent to Bombay would arrive at the best possible point in India, for their speedy distribution, and that the gain to the public would be very great indeed.

" As to Weekly Mail to India.

" 17. Mr. Riddell, in his letter to the Government of India of the 24th April, 1860, having strongly recommended the establishment of a weekly mail, viâ Bombay, the Governor General in Council, in sending that letter to the Home Government, said, 'In forwarding the Director General's letter for consideration of Her Majesty's Government, we beg to express our concurrence in his views of the expediency of providing, as soon as possible, for a weekly postal communication with Bombay, whereby the whole of India would receive letters by every mail. At present, only a very small part of India has the benefit of four mails in the month; the whole of the North-western Provinces, the Punjab, Scinde, and Bombay, and a great portion of the Madras Presidency, receiving no benefit whatever from the two mails which are sent viâ Galle.'

" 18. The Assistant Secretary to the Post Office stated to your Committee that the Post Office had long desired to see a weekly mail established; that it would be much more convenient to them, and, what they regarded with greater interest, that they believed it would be very advantageous to the two countries.

" 19. In January, 1865, a memorial, signed by most of the principal merchants and bankers in London, engaged in commercial and monetary transactions with India, was presented to the Postmaster General, praying that a weekly mail might be established between London and Bombay, to leave London on Friday in every week. The East India and China Association of Liverpool, the merchants and bankers of Madras, the Bombay Chamber of Commerce, and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, also approved of such an arrangement.

" 20. The Assistant Secretary to the Post Office stated to your Committee that the charge of carrying the mails is considered at the Post Office from a profit and loss point of view. That the present loss on the Indian Service amounts to £48,000 a year, and on the China Service to £34,000—a total loss of £82,000, the half of which is borne by the Indian Government. He estimates that by sending 52 mails a year each way, between London and Bombay, instead of 24 mails each way between London and Bombay, and 24 mails each way between London and Calcutta, an additional expense would be incurred, amounting to about £30,000 a year; and Mr. Hill had previously stated that the weekly mail might have been established, if the Indian Government would have consented to allow an extra charge of 6d. on all letters which now pay 6d. and 10d.; but that the Indian Government having declined to concur in the expediency of such an increase in the rates of postage, whatever additional expense might be entailed by the establishment of a weekly mail to Bombay must be borne exclusively by that Government.

" 21. Your Committee cannot assent to the doctrine, that interests so important from every point of view, whether political, social, or commercial, as those which connect the United Kingdom with one of the largest and most valuable possessions of the Crown, should be prejudiced by an insufficient postal service, because the establishment of an efficient service might leave an apparent loss of no great magnitude to be borne by the two countries. They submit that a question of profit or loss, within reasonable bounds, is a consideration entitled to little weight in the case of so important a postal service as that between England and India. They concur in the views expressed on this subject, in a letter addressed by the India Office to the Assistant Secretary to the Post Office, on the 5th October, 1865, in which it was said, 'Sir Charles Wood cannot, however, regard the question as one merely affecting the charge on the Imperial revenues. It has been the perception of the bearing of increased postal communication on the wealth and progress of a country that has induced statesmen, of late years, to consent to fiscal sacrifices for the purpose of obtaining it. There can be no doubt that increased postal communication with India implies increased relations with that country, increased commerce, increased investment of English capital, increased settlement of energetic middle-class Englishmen; and from all these sources the wealth and prosperity of England are more greatly increased than that of India.'

Appendix No. 15,

Par. 5.

" 22. It appears from a despatch from the Governor General in Council of India to the Secretary of State for India, dated the 22nd February, 1866, that the Indian Government is willing to forward the establishment of a weekly mail, by accepting the responsibility of any loss that may thereby be incurred. In offering, however, to incur such risk, it points out the unfairness of such an arrangement, in the following terms:— 'But we do not consider such an arrangement to be altogether unobjectionable. It would apparently be based on the explanation that the service must be carried on at a loss; and if so, we venture to suggest that it would hardly be desired by England that the whole of that loss should fall upon the Indian revenue.'

" 'It has been well pointed out, in Mr. Merivale's letter to the Post Office of the 5th October, that the interests of England and India are jointly concerned in this matter. There can be no doubt thousands in the former country, to whom increased facilities for postal communication with India are just as important as they are to their countrymen living in India; and whether we look to the interest of this latter class only, or to the millions from whom Indian revenue is mainly drawn, and who have no direct interest in the matter at all, it would scarcely be generous for England to stipulate that the loss which might arise from the establishment of a proper and efficient postal service between the two countries should be borne wholly by the Indian taxpayer.'

" Separate service to India.

" 23. It has long been a source of dissatisfaction to the Indian public, as well as to the Government, that, from being associated with the China postal service from this country, the Indian Government has been made to contribute one-half of the loss incurred in that service.

205.

" 24. The principle upon which such charge was imposed on the Indian revenue was stated in a Treasury minute, dated the 21st August, 1854, and will be found in the evidence of the Assistant Secretary to the Post Office. It says, 'that so far as the commercial and political relations with China went, the latter existing exclusively for the former, it was laid down that the interests of England and India were equal.'

Appendix No. 16,
par. 4.

Par. 5.

" 25. The Court of Directors of the East India Company by no means acquiesced in the propriety and justice of this statement. In a letter addressed by their Deputy Secretary to Sir J. N. Redington, K.C.B., on the 7th September, 1854, it was said: 'The Court are unable to admit the validity of the reasoning upon which the Lords of the Treasury appear to base their opinion, that the interests of this country and of India are equal as respects some portions of these contracts. Whilst the Court are far from under-estimating the importance to India of the trade with China, they cannot refrain from adverting to the facts, that the Indian trade with China is now carried on principally by British shipping, and that, by the commercial and fiscal policy of England, the manufactures of India, which had been superseded in India itself by those of the United Kingdom, have been in like manner driven out of China. The Court think that, upon reconsideration, and a reference to these points, the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury will admit that the value of steam communication with China is far greater to the people of Great Britain than it is to the people of India.'

" 26.

" 26. In the despatch from the Governor General in Council of India, dated the 22nd February, 1866, addressed to the Secretary of State for India, a protest is urged against the Indian revenue being in any way chargeable with the loss incurred on the China service between England and Galle. It is said: 'If it is admitted, as it is by the Postmaster General in England (and the point is too clear to leave any room for question about it), that the postal service with India should in future be exclusively to Bombay, it is difficult to understand upon what ground it can be seriously maintained that the Indian Post Office should continue to be charged with a portion of the cost of a postal subsidy given to steamers on the line between Suez and Galle, for the conveyance of China and Australian mails, or why any subsidy should be given to steamers running between Galle and Calcutta.'

Appendix No. 15,

" Speed of Mail Packets.

" 27. The Indian public have long complained of the low rate of speed attained by the vessels which convey the mails to and from England to India; and it was stated to your Committee, by a witness of great experience (J. D'Aguilar Samuda, Esq., a Member of this House), that in the present state of nautical science the contract speed of 9½ knots an hour for the service between Suez and India is too low. That the contract speed obtained by the West India Mail Company is 10½ knots an hour. That, with some modifications, the vessels now employed by the Peninsular and Oriental Company could be made to attain a knot an hour more than they now make; but he is of opinion that, in order to insure a satisfactory rate of speed, vessels of not less than 2,000 tons burden should be employed.

2970.

2984.

" 28. The present contract time between London and Bombay is twenty-four days. In a letter addressed to the Director General of the Post Office of India, by Messrs. Stearns, Hobart, and Co., managers of the Bombay and Bengal Steamship Company (Limited), after naming the sum for which they would undertake a fortnightly mail service each way, between Bombay and Suez, at an average speed of 8 knots an hour, they said: 'It may not be out of place to mention, although not as part of our tender, that we have in contemplation the building of a class of boats, not only larger and faster, but in every way superior to any now in the East, and capable of delivering the mails within twenty days between England and India; and plans for placing these vessels on the route are so far matured that, should the tender we have made be accepted, and a reasonable prospect held out of our securing a fair subsidy through England, we have little doubt of our being in a position to carry the project into immediate execution.'

" 29. It is only fair to the Peninsular and Oriental Company to say that they have been, and still are endeavouring to accomplish a better rate of speed. Mr. Howell, the Secretary of the Company, stated that their ships had not come up to their own expectations and wishes upon the Bombay line. Some vessels which were placed upon the line have not altogether fulfilled the expectations held out of them. They had sought to produce a great improvement in the consumption of coal, and also an increase of speed, but had been to some extent disappointed in that—but alterations in those vessels are going on.

" The Australian and China Mails.

" 30. As the separation of the Indian postal service from those mails which now proceed to Point de Galle will necessitate the reconstruction of the China service, your Committee invite attention to the efficient service between Europe and China every calendar month, performed by the Messageries Impériales from Marseilles.

" The Italian Route.

" 31. Your Committee have taken evidence to ascertain whether the Indian mails could be carried with advantage to the public over the Mont Cenis Railway, and through Italy to Brindisi, or some Italian Port, instead of through France to Marseilles, but they are not able to recommend that any steps should at present be taken to accomplish that object.

" AS REGARDS THE TELEGRAPH SERVICE.

" 32. The political and commercial importance of possessing permanent means of communication with the several countries before referred to, by a telegraphic service at all times available and to be depended upon, is even greater in degree than the necessity for an efficient postal service; indeed, with regard to the bulk of commercial transactions between the merchants and manufacturers of this country, and producers and consumers abroad, the Post Office has now become in a great measure subsidiary to the telegraph. Nor are the benefits derived from telegraphic communication confined to the mercantile community alone—the public in general are equally interested in the rapid transmission of authentic mercantile intelligence; for if the effect be, as has been stated by witnesses of authority, to enable merchants and manufacturers to obtain with greater certainty and economy, a regular and adequate supply of the commodities they require in the English market, it is the consumer in the end to whom the ultimate advantage is brought home by the process of competition.

" The Telegraph to India.

" 33. The Indian and Home Governments have long been sensible of the extreme importance of possessing an efficient telegraph service between England and India, and have made great efforts and pecuniary sacrifices to obtain it; and if a full measure of success has not yet attended their exertions, the imperfections now complained of have arisen in a considerable degree from difficulties hitherto beyond their control.

" 34. A message intended for India is delivered to one of the two Companies in London having telegraphic communication with the Continent, 'The Electric and International Telegraph Company,' and 'The Submarine Telegraph Company,' and is forwarded by one of two principal alternative routes, the Turkish or the Russian route. To reach Constantinople, the lines principally used are through Vienna or Turin. From Vienna messages are transmitted to their destination chiefly through Serbia, and occasionally through Wallachia. From Turin they proceed by the Italian coast line and the submarine cable across the Lower Adriatic, and arrive at Constantinople by way of Salonica and the shores of the Sea of Marmora. A telegram may, therefore, be dealt with by French, Belgian, Dutch, Prussian, Austrian, Bavarian, Minor German, Italian, Servian, or Wallachian administrations. After the message reaches Constantinople, it is forwarded under the terms of the 'Indo-Ottoman' Convention, by an exclusive wire to Bagdad, and thence, either to Fao at the head of the Persian Gulf, where it is received by British officers for despatch to Kurrachee by the Persian Gulf line; or, as an alternative, over the internal Persian system by way of Teheran, Ispahan, and Shiraz to Bushire, where it again falls in with the main line. From Fao to Kurrachee, and from Bushire to Kurrachee, the line is exclusively under the control of the Government of India. This line is submarine, with an alternative land line between Gwadel on the Meckran coast, and Kurrachee; and with the exception of two or three interruptions in traffic, owing to temporary breaks in the cable, is shewn to work admirably well.

" A telegram by the Russian route proceeds via the Hague to Berlin, and from thence crosses the Russian frontier, passing through Mysolowitz to Tiflis in Georgia, and from that place over the Persian system above described to Bushire. It must, therefore, be resorted to through the agency of the Dutch, Prussian, Russian, and Persian administrations, before it reaches any officer who is responsible to the British Government.

" There is, therefore, an alternative route to India as far as the head of the Persian Gulf; but, in the case of an accident to the submarine cable to Kurrachee, all telegraphic communication with India must necessarily be interrupted.

" 37. From the returns for the month of January last, it appears that the messages between this country and India took the following routes to and from Constantinople:—

	Outward.	Homeward.
Viâ the Hague, Berlin, Vienna, Belgrade and Nissa (in Serbia)...	64 per cent.	54 per cent.
Viâ the Hague, Berlin, Vienna, Bucharest, and Varna...	3 per cent.	44 per cent.
Viâ Paris, Turin, Valona, and Salonica ...	29 per cent.	2 per cent.
Not specified ...	4 per cent.	—
	100 per cent.	100 per cent.

" 38. The whole of the service is well described in a despatch, No. 279, addressed at Constantinople, on the 12th April last, by Major John A. Champain, R.E., of the Indo-European Telegraph Department, to Mr. Thornton, of the India Office, copy of which will be found at length in the Appendix.

" 39. The messages are forwarded to Constantinople by the telegraphic office on the Continent to which they have been addressed from London, by the route most convenient at the time; in some instances, and not unfrequently, they have been forwarded by way of Russia, to the great disadvantage of the parties interested in the speedy and correct transmission of the message.

" 40. The number of messages which passed over the Persian Gulf line, from its opening in February, 1865, to the end of the year, appears to have been as follows:—

Eastward:
Viâ Turkey and Fao ...	9,175	} Earning ...	37,841	10 0
Viâ Bushire (Persian line) ...	3,362
Westward:
Viâ Fao and Turkey ...	7,552	} "	31,929	5 0
Viâ Bushire (Persian line) ...	1,894
TOTAL ...	21,983		69,770	15 0

or, on the average, £3 3s. 5d. per message.

" 41. During the months of January, February, March, and April of the present year, the total number of messages so carried is stated to have been (without distinction as to other routes in connection) 10,995, earning £34,590 10s., or, on the average £3 2s. 11d. per message.

" 42. Your Committee have been unable to ascertain the cost of the Persian Gulf line, but the working expenses are stated by Major Champain to amount to about £2,000 per mensem, independently of the cost of refectations.

" 43. The sum of £5 1s. is charged in all cases for a message not exceeding 20 words. Out of that sum about is retained by the Electric and International Company, Company, and by the Submarine Company, the balance in each case being paid over to the authorities of the continental system to whose care it is committed. They account in like manner to their successors in the chain of communication, until the Persian Gulf line is reached, in respect of which the Government of India receives £2 10s. for the transmission of the message from Fao, and £2 from Bushire to Kurrachee, with 9s. additional for its distribution in India.

"44. Under a system such as this, where no continuous responsibility exists, much difficulty is necessarily experienced in tracing where the numerous delays and imperfections in the rendering of messages, of which so many complaints have been made, have taken place; and in very few instances have the public been successful in obtaining compensation for the disappointments they have met with.

"45. The service under Russian control is stated to be working with regularity, the messages reaching Tabreez occasionally in the space of 12 hours. The ill success which has hitherto attended the transmission of messages to India by this route is attributed to the imperfect management of the Persian service between Julpha on the Georgian frontier and Teheran; the exceeding rigour of the climate also during the winter months, especially on the line between Ispahan and Bushire, has presented many obstacles during the last winter.

"46. A proposition has been submitted to your Committee for the establishment of an alternative line connecting Bunder Abbas, in the lower part of the Persian Gulf, with Ispahan, by way of Kerman and Yezd. This line, if practicable, with reference to political considerations, would present many advantages.

"47. Lastly, a line constructed by the Turkish Government between Gaza, on the Egyptian frontier, and Diarbekir, on the main line of telegraph between Constantinople and Bagdad, has recently been opened for public traffic in connection with the Malta and Alexandria line. This line may present many recommendations as an additional useful alternative line in the event of interruption to the direct lines to Constantinople through the continent of Europe; but at present it cannot be said to be available to the public generally, in consequence of the refusal of the Turkish authorities to receive messages of origin or destination, otherwise than Egyptian, for transmission by the line.

"48. With respect to the service through Turkey, there is a general concurrence of testimony that, as a rule, it is very defective. In a letter addressed to the Under Secretary of State for India by Major Champain, on the 31st August, 1865, it was stated 'There is no doubt that the messages to and from India are necessarily and vexatiously delayed, and public confidence in the undertaking is being shaken. The organisation of the Turkish lines is defective, and, in my opinion, will continue so unless some decided step, such as the establishment of an opposition route be taken. Mr. Courtenay invariably writes that either the Turkish Asiatic or the Turkish European lines are working badly, and it does not seem that Colonel Goldsmid's suggestions have yet been complied with. I know that the insulators we proposed for the new wires between Constantinople and Diarbekir were rejected as too expensive, and cheap inferior wires were ordered from Belgium. In some measure, however, I can account for delays of late in consequence of the cholera panic, which frightened the telegraph clerks from their posts. Still I maintain that blame is due to the Turks, and I much fear that they are really unable to work up to our standard of efficiency. Mr. Walton, the director of the cable, writes to me that "our messages from Kurrachee to Fao, and vice versa, average 74 minutes for the last three months, and that the Bagdad men report 70 or 80 messages on hand, send 12 or 15, and then smoke hookahs, or say their prayers, for two or three hours, during which time Fao hears nothing of them." Our cable, therefore, is working admirably; for months past there has been no interruption on the Persian line, and yet all our endeavours are nullified by the bad arrangements in Turkey. On the other hand, the Russians are naturally anxious to help our through communication, and have now offered to place their line, from St. Petersburg to the Persian frontier, entirely in the hands of a well-known London firm. Mr. Siemens, the head of that firm, spoke to me lately on that subject, and would, I believe, be willing to accept the offer, if there were any probability of his obtaining the control of the Persian line, from the Tabreez frontier to our telegraphic centre at Teheran. I am convinced that, supported by Russian influence in Persia, and not opposed by us, he would succeed; and then we should, without having taken any active steps in the matter, obtain a second, and a really reliable line of communication between England and the Persian Gulf. Such an arrangement would also do more to render the Constantinople line efficient than remonstrances we may make, now the Turks know that we are entirely dependent on them."

"49. In Colonel Goldsmid's report of the 4th November, 1865, it is stated, 'I see no remedy for the state of telegraphic correspondence in Turkey but associating Englishmen with the native employés in the higher as in the inferior duties of the line, making at once the principal stations "Anglo-Ottoman," as at Fao; or else giving the whole line to a company or firm competent to work and supervise it; such, for instance, as Messrs. Bright and Clark, who have, moreover, a kind of vested interest in the cable from old association. The first of these remedies I had the honor of suggesting to the Home Government in May, but the question involved political considerations, and the re-opening of or supplementing a lately ratified convention—one intended to be final. There is manifestly no better chance at this moment available for successful telegraphy in Turkey than competition. We have a convention with Turkey to enable us to keep open telegraphic communication with India through her dominions. She has gone to expense and taken pains to carry out the terms of this convention. We are therefore desirous to avail ourselves of her lines as much as possible. It is found, however, in practice, that the Turkish route is more or less a failure. Turkey has not earned the whole blame, but she certainly earned the lion's share. Our companies (that is, the British public by their agents) learn that an opposition line is available through Russia. They take supposed advantage of this eagerly to transmit hundreds of telegrams, but the rush was premature. The Russian line had not then reached good working order. They revert again to Turkey, but not in regard to conventions. The convention was to give the public a desideratum, not to bind them to a particular mode of correspondence. Now, however, the Ottoman telegraph lags, and the Russian telegraph gains strength. As a rule we are not using the latter yet; it has just given us a commercial message in Teheran in 72½ hours, while its rival cannot force on its burden in less than nine days. Here success may, perhaps, be spasmodic; but time will show. On the other hand, the failure is becoming chronic. Turkey must bestir herself, or the competition will be fatal to her. I say nothing of the difference of rates, except that the difference is favourable to traffic through Russia.

" 50. It appears, however, according to a letter from Major Champain, dated the 10th April, 1866, and addressed by him to W. J. Thornton, Esq., the Secretary of the Public Works Department in the India Office, that considerable improvement had then lately been made in working the lines in Turkey, but that, owing to a heavy fall of snow in Persia, the working of the Persian lines had been very unsatisfactory.

" 51. Your Committee are of opinion that the cause of the complaints so generally and justly made as to the manner in which the telegraphic service between this country and India has been performed, as a rule, since the line by the Persian Gulf was opened for public traffic in February, 1865, is to be found in the imperfect administration of the Turkish system, and the culpable negligence of the authorities in India in making no adequate provision for the distribution from Kurrachee of the immense amount of business in connection with Europe, which it ought to have been foreseen would follow immediately upon the opening of the Persian Gulf line to the use of the public.

" 52. In the former case the imperfection of the service is not more than might have been expected on the first introduction of a method of communication so novel to the habits of business of the people of Turkey; but apart from natural adverse causes, such as the severity of the climate in the winter months in some districts of the route through Asia Minor and Armenia, there is no reason to doubt that by strict compliance with the terms of the convention, in regard to the reservation of one wire at least for the purposes of messages to and from the eastward, the employment of an adequate number of European officers, and careful attention to the condition of the line itself, the service may in time become satisfactory in its working.

"Telegraphs in India.

" 53. There are now about 14,500 miles of Government telegraph lines in India, connecting the chief cities in the different Presidencies, and they are completed towards Singapore as far as Rangoon. They have been constructed at a cost amounting to £1,146,861 14s. 3d., on the 30th April, 1864. There are besides, 3,141 miles of lines erected by the different railway companies, at a cost of £411,924 12s. 8d., on 31st December, 1864, and which are maintained at an expense of £41,888 18s. 5d. per annum.

" 54. That the working of the Government lines of telegraph in India has been very unsatisfactory is admitted. Colonel Robinson, the Director General of the Indian Telegraph Department, has ascribed the defects, in a great measure, to the fact that the officers of the department have been underpaid—their emoluments not been commensurate with those given in other establishments—and also to the circumstance that the lines, having been destroyed in the war times, had been re-erected in haste for military purposes, and since then had been gradually, but very slowly, reconstructed. Colonel Robinson is, however, of opinion that the working is much improved, and that merchants in Calcutta now receive their messages, even if sent in cypher, very accurately. He adds that, although the telegraph in India was originally established for the purposes of speedy communication between different military stations, it is now looked upon almost in the light of a post office.

" 55. Your Committee were informed, on the same authority, that efficacious measures have been taken for the establishment of a second line of wire to connect Kurrachee with the internal system of India, and otherwise to redeem that part of the service from the reproach which has been cast upon it.

" 56. A suggestion was made in 1862 that the Government lines of telegraph should be made over to a private company for administration; but the Governor General in Council declined to acquiesce in the proposal.

" 57. Your Committee are not aware that any objection is entertained by either the Home or Indian Government to the establishment in India of independent lines of telegraph by private companies, and official opinion has been expressed that it is desirable to place the railway telegraphs in the hands of a separate company. It appears also that, as regards a portion of the Government lines, Lieutenant Col. C. Douglas, lately the officiating Director General of Telegraphs in India, in a letter addressed to the Indian Government in 1861, said—

" There are already several lines of telegraph in private hands; I allude to those of the several Railway Companies which have power to transmit private messages in all cases where the Government have no co-ordinate lines; should, however, other private companies desire to undertake telegraph management, there is no line which could be so conveniently made over to them as that connecting Calcutta with Rangoon, and the local local lines in that province. These lines connecting three very important places of commerce, Calcutta, Akyab, and Rangoon, with the advantages of possible extension to the Port of Moulmein, appear to hold out every prospect of being remunerative; and the fact of the telegraph lines in Pegu being very largely used in official correspondence, owing to the tardiness of postal communication, offers additional prospect of profit.

" 58. In 1863, with a view to utilize, as far as possible, the heavy expenditure already referred to as having been incurred by the Railway Companies in India in establishing telegraphs by the side of their lines, it was proposed to lease them to a responsible company then about to be formed, under the title of 'The Oriental Telegraph Company,' for the purpose of carrying out a system of commercial telegraphs in India, and an application was made to the Secretary of State for India to sanction the arrangement; for reasons which do not appear to your Committee to be very clear, an unfavourable answer was returned to the application; it appears, however, that no objection is now entertained in India to the employment of a public company in the manner proposed, upon any grounds of political expediency or otherwise.

" Telegraph to China and Australia.

" 59. Proposals have been made at various times to Her Majesty's Government for the establishment of a telegraphic service to connect Australia with the Indian system at Rangoon, but no arrangement has as yet been found practicable, notwithstanding the willingness of the Colonies (as appears by the evidence of Sir C. Nicholson, Bart., formerly Speaker of the Legislative Council at Sydney) to contribute a guarantee to the extent of £35,000 per annum, towards securing an interest on the capital required for the purpose. The Government of Holland has expressed its readiness to afford material aid in the construction of a line which will bring their dependencies in the East into communication with Europe; whilst the French Government also is stated to be willing to assist in the formation of a line which will connect their establishments at Saigon with a main line at Singapore.

" 60. According to the best information attainable, neither the depths of water, nor the distances between one station and another, present any difficulty, as regards the construction of a line between Rangoon, Singapore, and the Australian Colonies.

" Proposed New Service to India by way of Egypt.

" 61. A scheme for an independent line of telegraph to India, to be continued hereafter to Australia and China, under the charge of English officials, and an undivided responsibility throughout, excepting in its passage through France, has been submitted to your Committee.

" 62. The intention of the promoters of this scheme is to form a company for the transmission of messages, under one control and management, as far as may be practicable, between England, Egypt, India, China, and the Australian Colonies, by means of a line of wire, which passes through Italy (under a concession already granted by the Italian Government) to the Island of Sicily, will thence be carried to the African Coast, joining the existing Malta and Alexandria cable at Benghazi, from whence, in order to convey the large through traffic that will then be concentrated on this line, a second or duplicate line will be laid to Alexandria. Under arrangements made with the 'Telegraph to India Company,' the new company will acquire possession of their concession as well as their lines between Alexandria, Cairo, and Suez. From Alexandria two distinct lines will branch off to India: one proceeding from Suez to Cossier and Saukim on the western shore of the Red Sea, or by land lines up the Valley of the Nile, by permission of his Highness the Viceroy of Egypt, to Saukim or Massowah, and thence by submarine cables, viâ Aden and the southern coast of Arabia, to Kurrachee and Bombay. The other, or alternative line, will be the Syrian line from Gaza to Diarbekir already referred to. Arrangements will be made to secure independent wires between Bombay, Calcutta, and Rangoon, and to carry out (with concurrence of the Indian authorities in this country) the conditions of the agreement before mentioned, with the East Indian, the Great Peninsula, and other Indian Railway Companies, for placing separate commercial wires on their posts from Bombay to Calcutta, Madras, Allahabad, Benares, Delhi, &c., from Rangoon, the Eastern terminus of the Indian land lines, a cable will be laid to Singapore, whence submarine lines will diverge in two directions: one branch proceeding, viâ Saigon, to Hong Kong and Shanghai; and the other passing through Java to the Australian Colonies. With a view of embracing the entire system of telegraphy to the East, it is proposed to undertake, if approved by the Secretary of State for India in Council, and the Government of India, a lease of, and eventually to purchase on equitable terms, the Persian Gulf line, under such arrangements with the Ottoman Government as will secure to the public the same accuracy and rapidity in the transmission of messages as obtains by way of Egypt, thereby providing the public with a double or alternate route to all parts of the East.

" 63. As evidence favouring this proposition, your Committee refer to the testimony of several mercantile witnesses, and also of the Chairman of the Electric and International Telegraph Company, and the Chairman of the Submarine Telegraph Company, to the effect that, in the case of the constantly recurring irregularities in the transmission of messages through the Continent, the greatest difficulty is met with in obtaining satisfactory redress, owing to the great number of different administrations through which they have to pass, and the impossibility, as is stated, of identifying the locality of the mistake.

"RECOMMENDATIONS.

"64. Your Committee having carefully considered the circumstances above stated, are of opinion,—

"As regards the Postal Question.

"1st. That, whilst it has not been expedient hitherto to add to the expense of the postal communications with India, by establishing a more frequent service to Bombay, in addition to the existing services to Madras and Calcutta, it appears to your Committee, that having regard to the facilities already afforded by the railways under construction in India, and to the prospect of the early completion of the main lines of communication connecting the Port of Bombay with the Presidencies of Calcutta and Madras, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab, the time has arrived when tenders should be invited for a weekly service to Bombay alone, and the separate postal service between this country and Madras and Calcutta should be discontinued.

"2nd. That such service should be on the footing of an express service, entirely unconnected with any other mail service to the eastward of Suez.

"3rd. That the tenders should be for the whole service to India, or for separate weekly or fortnightly services, at the option of the parties tendering.

"4th. That the time-table should be based on a prescribed speed of not less than 11 nautical miles per hour, on the voyage between Marseilles and Alexandria, and 10 miles per hour between Suez and Bombay; but that the tenders be required to state also terms in each case for higher rates of speed, not less than one additional mile per hour.

"5th. That in consideration of the outlay which must necessarily be incurred in the construction of new vessels, or adapting those now employed, for the efficient performance of the future service to India, it is expedient that the new contracts shall run for a term of not less than years, subject to a subsequent notice of two years on either side.

"6th. That Her Majesty's Government shall take into their early consideration the arrangements to be made for maintaining a fortnightly or half-monthly service to China, and a monthly or four-weekly service to Australia, having regard to any facilities which may be afforded by the monthly service to China, now performed by the Messageries Imperiales from Marseilles.

"7th. That, in the opinion of your Committee, the arrangements under which India now defrays a moiety of the net cost of the China service, after deducting the postal receipts, is not equitable as regards that Government, and should be modified.

"As regards the Telegraphic Question.

"1st. That, having regard to the magnitude of the interests, political, commercial, and social, involved in the connection between this country and India, it is not expedient that the means of intercommunication by telegraph should be dependant upon any single line, or any single system of wires, in the hands of several foreign Governments, and under several distinct responsibilities, however well such services may be conducted as a whole, in time of peace.

"2nd. That the establishment of separate lines, entirely or partially independent of the present line through Turkey, is therefore desirable; and, in that view, that means should be taken for facilitating the use of the lines of telegraph which connect the Persian system with Europe, by way of the Georgian lines of the Russian Government, and for bringing, if possible, within the Turkish convention the line recently established through Syria, for connecting Alexandria with the main line to India at Diabekir.

"3rd. That, with the view to better security against accident in time to come, the communication by way of the Persian Gulf should be doubled, either by the laying of a second submarine cable, or by continuing the land line from Kurrachee and Gwadel to Bunder Abbas, and thence, under arrangements with the Government of Persia, to Ispahan, by way of Kerman and Yezd.

"4th. That a proposition made to your Committee, on behalf of the 'Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, Limited,' for the establishment of a direct communication between Alexandria and Bombay, by way of Aden, on the principle of a line practically under one management and responsibility, between London and the Indian Presidencies in the first instance, and afterwards with China and the Australian Colonies, is deserving of serious consideration, and such reasonable support as the influence of Her Majesty's Government may be able to bring to its aid.

"5th. That considering the great outlay of guaranteed railway capital already incurred in the establishment of the telegraph on the several lines of railway in India, it is expedient that means should be taken for affording the public the utmost benefit attainable from that expenditure, either by the Government of India sanctioning the use of the wires of the companies by a public company willing to rent the privilege on equitable terms, or by such an organization of the several independent companies as will establish an unity of system, and bring the use of the lines fairly within the reach of the public.

"6th. That the magnitude of the interests involved in the trade of this country with China and Australia, and the rapidly increasing development of the colonies in population, in commerce, and in the various elements of national greatness, are subjects demanding demanding the attention of Her Majesty's Government with a view to the promotion of such arrangements as will bring these communities within the reach of telegraphic communication with Europe."

EASTERN MAILS.

RETURN to an Order of the Honorable the House of Commons, dated 2 August, 1866, for—

COPY "of Report from Captain Tyler, R.E., to Her Majesty's Postmaster General, of "his recent Inspection of the Railways and Ports of Italy, with reference to the "use of the Italian Route for the conveyance of the Eastern Mails."

GEORGE WARD HUNT.

Treasury Chambers,
2 August, 1866.

REPORT.

1, Whitehall, 19 July, 1866.

MY LORD DUKE,

I have now the honor to report, for your Grace's information, that in compliance with the instructions which I received in February last from Lord Stanley of Alderley, I have, during the months of May and June, examined the railways and ports of Italy, and inspected the works of the tunnel of the Alps, and of the Mont Cenis Railway; and have also placed myself in communication with the public officers, and the chief officers of the railway companies, in France and Italy on the subject of the conveyance through Italy of the eastern mails.

Under existing circumstances, the fast mails between Great Britain and the East must necessarily pass through Egypt, and it is only requisite to determine at present the best route through Europe towards Alexandria and Suez. The fast route now employed, measuring 853 English miles from London to Marseilles, and 1,460 nautical miles from Marseilles to Alexandria, is in point of distance nearly the shortest that can be adopted; but, inasmuch as it is practicable to travel more than twice as fast on land, where good railways are available, as by sea, and with less risk of delay from stress of weather, it becomes advantageous to decrease the sea passage as far as possible, when this can be done without too heavy a cost, in order to effect a saving of time. When the railway down the east coast of Italy was opened for traffic in May, 1865, it became obvious that it would be possible, at no very distant date, to substitute some port in the south of Italy for the port of Marseilles, as the point of departure for Egypt, and I took the opportunity in June of that year to refer to the subject in my report to the Board of Trade on the experimental railway then constructed on the Mont Cenis.

Of the Italian ports to which railway communication has up to this time been extended, the nearest to Egypt is Brindisi, which is 1,504 English miles from London by the Mont Cenis route, and 822 nautical miles from Alexandria, thus affording a decrease of 638 nautical (734 English) miles in the sea passage, and an increase of 651 English miles in the land passage. The distance between Valetta and Alexandria being the same within a few miles as that between Brindisi and Alexandria, it may be said, indeed, as far as the sea is concerned, that the voyage from Marseilles to Malta would be avoided by the adoption of Brindisi as the terminus for the land journey, while the total distance from London to Alexandria would be 83 English miles shorter by the Brindisi route than by the Marseilles route.

There are other ports in the south of Italy, such as Otranto and Gallipoli, which are each 37 nautical miles nearer to Alexandria than Brindisi, while Taranto and Reggio (in the Straits of Messina) are practically at the same distance from Alexandria as Brindisi and Malta.

The Meridional Railway of Italy is already working to Lecce, 39 kilometres south of Brindisi, but the works have been suspended upon the line to Otranto, which is 45 kilometres further; and it is a question whether that portion will now be completed for some time to come. Looking to the relative importance of the two places, it is probable that the branch from Lecce to Gallipoli, which is 20 kilometres long from its probable junction with the Otranto line, will be made before the portion to Otranto; but the studies have not yet been definitely made for the Gallipoli branch.

The port of Otranto (the ancient Hydruntum), of which I enclose a diagram, with soundings marked upon it, contains 420,000 superficial metres of water, with depths varying from 2 to 13 metres; but it possesses no protection for bad weather from a north-easterly direction, and no accommodation or facilities for a mail-packet station. It could only be fitted for that purpose by the expenditure of a large sum of money, and the Italian Government have no idea of devoting money to its improvement. I did not even consider it worth while to visit Otranto, though I made a personal inspection of all the other Italian ports to which I have referred, as well as those of Naples and Genoa.

The

The port of Gallipoli has greater natural advantages, and is more used for purposes of commerce. Oil is shipped here in great quantities. The promontory on which the town is built affords shelter on either side of it, according to the direction of the wind; but little money has yet been expended to turn its natural advantages to account, and the only project for its improvement is indicated in the accompanying diagram, on which also the soundings are shewn. The existing mole is to be extended to a total length of 300 metres, and this will afford a superficial area in the northern harbour of 90,000 metres of water, varying in depth from $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 11 fathoms.

In the direction of Taranto, the Meridional Railway has not yet been opened for traffic further than Gioja, which is 53 kilometres from the main line at Bari; but the portion between Gioja and Taranto, 63 kilometres long, is under construction, and is expected to be ready for traffic in two years. The town of Taranto (the ancient Tarentum) separates the outer harbour, which contains 36,000,000 superficial metres of water, from the "mare piccolo" (little sea), or "seno interno" (internal bay), containing 19,000,000; the depth of water varying in the greater part of the former from 8 to 36 metres, and of the latter from 6 to 13 metres. There is at present no means of communication by large vessels from one to the other, as will be seen by the enclosed diagram.

The northern channel is spanned by a masonry viaduct, which forms the principal means of communication with the town, and the southern channel (also crossed by a masonry bridge) is very shallow, having, in fact, been excavated originally by Ferdinand the First of Arragon, as a ditch only to the fortress which it bounds. There are projects for widening and deepening this south channel, to allow of the passage of the largest vessels into what will then become the internal harbour; but no money has yet been voted for the purpose, or indeed for any works for the improvement of the harbour, although it is much used for the Italian men-of-war, and is indeed the chief naval station of the south of Italy.* Considering the extent of the harbour, its great natural advantages in a military as well as in a naval point of view, and the extent and position of the "seno interno," it is no matter of surprise that Taranto should have been selected for a military port; and looking to their relative situations, the Italian Government appear to have wisely determined upon making Taranto their principal military, and Brindisi their principal commercial southern port. I may here add, that they would not be willing, if for this reason alone, to see the Egyptian mail steamers running to Taranto.

There are, however, other reasons against the adoption of Taranto as a mail station. The distance, indeed, by sea from Alexandria to Taranto is, as I have stated, nearly equal to that to Brindisi, and the distance by land is only five kilometres longer by Taranto than by Brindisi, while the anchorage is good at both ports; but the weather is frequently bad, and the sea rough at the entrance (66 miles across) to the Gulf of Taranto; much of the land is low at the sides of the gulf; a misty atmosphere is frequently experienced with southerly winds in winter; the lights are not at present so good as those at Brindisi, and generally in bad weather Brindisi is an easier port to make than Taranto,—considerations which are of great importance in the case of mail packets timed to run at high speed, and expected, as far as possible, to be punctual in all weathers. Besides the want of a railway, there is no dock or landing pier at Taranto, and the hotel accommodation in the town is very limited and indifferent.

The railway from Taranto to Reggio, 448 kilometres (278 English miles) in length has been commenced; but the works are now suspended, and there appears to be little probability of its completion for some time to come. The total distance from London to Reggio would be 453 kilometres (281 English miles) further than from London to Brindisi. Reggio has the advantage of being on the straight course of a steamer proceeding by the Straits of Bonifacio and the Straits of Messina from Marseilles to Alexandria, but it is merely an open roadstead without protection, particularly from southerly gales; and though the anchorage is good, the postal steamers of the Italian Government are frequently unable to communicate with the shore during the winter, and are obliged to take the mails into the harbour of Messina.

There have been four projects for forming a port at Reggio: (1) opposite the town for small craft now abandoned; (2) north of the town by diverting the course of a small river; (3) south of the town by excavation, which would involve a considerable outlay, and does not meet with approval; (4) 300 metres long by 150 metres wide at Pentimele, 2,000 metres north of Reggio, to be connected with the railway station; but, as the station is on the south of the town, and the town is situated on a hill sloping abruptly to the sea, this connection would not be easily made. The Government is bound to provide a port by the time that the railway is completed, and proposes to expend 4,200,000 francs for the purpose; but many years will probably elapse before it is carried out. There is no idea of forming a dry dock at Reggio, there being one in course of construction at Messina, 100 metres long, which is to be completed in five years.

The width of the Straits of Messina is here about 13,000 yards, and the numerous currents through them, which, with the liability to heavy gusts of wind, were so alarming to the ancients, have formed an interesting subject of study and report by an Italian Commission, as well as by Admiral Smyth and others. Their effect upon the large steamers of the present day is, however, comparatively unimportant.

It will thus be seen that it would not be practicable to adopt Reggio as a port of communication for the eastern mails, at all events for many years to come, as well for the want of a port as for the want of a railway; and that even when the railway and the port shall have been completed, the land journey would be increased (by the only route which can now be contemplated) by 281 miles, while the length of the sea passage would be about the same as by Brindisi.

Naples

* The construction of some magazines on the shore of the "mare interno" has, however, been authorized.

Naples would appear to be in some respects a more desirable place of call for steamers running between Marseilles and Alexandria than Reggio. But the sea voyage between Naples and Alexandria would be increased by 180 nautical miles, or 18 hours, as compared with the sea passage via Brindisi; and there is as yet no complete means of railway communication between Naples and the north of Italy. The shortest route to Naples will be via Genoa and Rome, by which the distance from Susa to Naples is 996 kilometres, as against 1,152 from Brindisi, showing a saving of 156 kilometres or 96 English miles. But there are two breaks in the railway communication of this route—the first from Genoa to Spezzia, for 87 kilometres, where the railway works are now suspended, and the second from Nunciatella to Civita Vecchia, for 58 kilometres, where the railway is under construction, though not apparently with much activity. Another route via Ancona and Foggia, measures 1,117 kilometres from Susa to Naples, showing a saving of 35 kilometres (21 English miles) over the land route by Brindisi. There are other routes to Naples, such as that via Bologna, Pistoja, Pisa, Livorno, which is, measured from Susa, 1,165 kilometres in length, or 13 kilometres further than to Brindisi. And on this line there is only the break above-mentioned between Civita Vecchia and Nunciatella. There are also routes by Firenze and Torricella, with a break to Foligno; and by Firenze, Empoli, Siena, Orvieto, with a break to Orte. But they do not offer any advantages for a mail route at present.

There is no landing-stage, or pier, or dry-dock in the Porto Grande, which is the commercial port at Naples; but there is a dock 75 metres long in the "Porto Militare." The existing quays in the Porto Grande are small, but plans are being prepared for their extension, as indicated in red lines on the accompanying chart. It is proposed to construct a new quay, 600 metres long, with a pier 150 metres long by 50 metres wide, and these may be commenced in 1867. There will be seven metres of water at the head of the pier, and the same depth will probably be obtained alongside of the quay. The anchorage is tolerably good, and there are plenty of buoys. The pier of the "Porto Militare" is being extended, as shown in red on the chart, of which 300 metres are to be completed this year, and 500 metres more are to be completed in 1871.

When railway communication is completed to Naples via Foggia, or, still more, when it is complete via Genoa and Rome, and when the Roman territory shall belong to or be available for through transit to the Italians, Naples may become an important place of call for steamers running between Marseilles and Alexandria; but the Naples route can never successfully compete with the Brindisi route, in consequence of the extra length of the sea passage; and it is impossible to contemplate the employment of Naples at present as the port for the eastern mails.

The harbour of Brindisi, which it becomes my duty next to describe, is composed, as will be seen by the accompanying tracing, of an outer port, 2,000 metres long by 1,000 metres wide, connected by a channel 260 metres long and 60 metres wide, with two inner arms; of these, the western arm is 1,500 metres long and 250 metres wide, and the eastern arm is 1,100 metres long and 200 metres wide. Of the numerous soundings noted on the tracing, the figures marked with one line were taken in 1864, those marked with two lines in January, 1866, and those unmarked by lines in May, 1866.

Brindisi (the well-known Brundisium) was formerly in much repute, and was commonly used by the Romans in crossing to Dyrachium, on their way to Greece, as being the best harbour on the west coast of the Adriatic; but the town declined after the Prince of Taranto destroyed the entrance to the inner arms by sinking ships in the channel, to keep his enemies out, in the 15th century; and the recent operations appear to have been the first serious attempt made to remove the accumulation of sand and silt, &c., that followed upon these obstructions.

There is now a clear depth of more than six metres, or 19½ feet, through the channel, into the western arm; and this depth is, I understand, to be increased to eight metres, or upwards of 26 feet. The approach to the harbour is well lighted, and the anchorage is good. The contract steamers of the Italian Government (the Adriatico-Orientale Company) have now ceased to run to Trieste and Ancona, and they ply between Brindisi and Alexandria only. Three of them were in the harbour while I was at Brindisi, in May last, one in the outer harbour, and two within a few yards of the quays of the town; they are about 267 feet long by 24 feet beam, and are less than 1,000 tons measurement; they draw 15 feet of water when fully loaded, but they were not drawing at that time more than 13 ft. 6 in. to 14 feet of water; and with this draught they had no difficulty in going to their coaling hulk in the western arm.

The ordinary rise and fall of the tide does not exceed 0.5 of a metre, or rather more than a foot and a half; and there is not therefore the same facility for docking vessels in the Mediterranean as in this country. There is, for this reason, a greater tendency to use "scali d'alaggio," or hauling slips. The Italian Government have granted a concession for such a slip (L. M. in drawing) for vessels up to 2,000 tons burthen, and it is to be constructed in two years, from April, 1866, at the inner extremity of the western arm. Contracts were signed in June also for the other works, shewn in red upon the drawing, including—

- (1.) A quay (I. K.), 500 metres long, "near the Forte di Terra," at a cost of 580,000 francs, to be finished in 30 months.
- (2.) A boundary wall for the "Canal d'Ingresso," or channel between the outer harbour and the inner arms, at a cost of 550,000 francs, to be finished in thirty months.

- (3.) A breakwater (A B) 380 metres long, for closing the "Bocca di Puglia," between the mainland and the Island of St. Andrea; a mole (C D) 260 metres long, projecting to the east from the Forte di Mare; a retaining wall (E F), 950 metres long, on the Costa Morena; all to be finished in three years, at a cost of 1,700,000 francs. There are, further, in course of construction (at N O) 260 metres of quays, destined for the goods station of the railway; and the general excavation of the harbour, to a depth of $7\frac{1}{2}$ metres, is being proceeded with. At P and Q (near which there is a fountain of good water) there are to be a site for the deposit of coal and a coaling-stage; and there is a project for constructing (at R), at the extremity of the eastern arm, a graving-dock, 120 metres long; but this has not yet been decided upon.

The littoral current runs south at this part of the coast, at the rate of, say, quarter knot per hour, varying, of course, according to wind and tide. The closing of the Bocca di Puglia and the mole on the south-east of the Forte di Mare, are important, as well for the protection of the excellent anchorage which exists south of that fort, as for the prevention of the deposit brought into the harbour by this littoral current. But all that is required in order that mail steamers may conveniently ply to the port is to push forward the excavations by dredging, so as to enable those steamers, of whatever company, to run into a convenient landing-stage to be constructed inside the channel leading to the inner arms. The Italian Government express their readiness, if the British Government should determine to forward their mails by the Brindisi route, to provide such accommodation, if necessary, by the Spring of 1867; either at No, which they are preparing for the railway goods station, or at some other point in the internal port to which they would construct a branch railway; so as, in any case, to provide a means of transferring the mails without delay from the railway to the steamer, and vice versâ.

Under all the circumstances of the case, I am of opinion that the harbour of Brindisi will be better adapted for a mail port than any other harbour in the south of Italy, and there appears to me to be no reason why good temporary accommodation should not be afforded by next Spring, as proposed, pending the completion of the permanent works above described. The Italian Government wished, however, that the alternative of the two places of landing should, while I was in Italy, be left undecided. The hotel accommodation at Brindisi is at present very limited and of an inferior description; but, from what I have heard from various quarters, I can have little doubt that better hotels will readily be supplied, by private or joint stock enterprise, as soon as the question of route is settled, as would no doubt be the case in regard to any part that might be selected.

I shall next proceed to refer to the land route by which the Port of Brindisi may be approached.

The mail trains would of course run to Paris, and as far as Macon, over the same railways, as at present; but would diverge at Macon from the Marseilles line and take the line to Amberien, Culoz, Chambery, and St. Michel, the distance from Macon to St. Michel being 146 miles. In addition to owning the line to Culoz, the Paris, Lyons, and Mediterranean Company have lately acquired also that to St. Michel.

There is a double line of way as far as Culoz, but a single line, doubled at the stations, from that place to St. Michel. The gradients are steep and the curves sharp in places, especially between Amberien and Culoz. The steepest gradient near St. Michel is 1 in 43, and the sharpest curve between Culoz and St. Michel has a radius of 400 metres. The permanent way is laid with rails of different sections, some with, some without chairs, and weighing from 34 to 36 kilogrammes per metre. The chairs or rails are secured by trenails, spikes, or dog-spikes, to transverse sleepers. The joints of the rails are all fished between Culoz and St. Michel's, but the fishing has not yet been completed from Macon to Culoz. There are nine single line tunnels, making a total of 3,151 metres, between Culoz and St. Michel. There is no night service as yet on this line, so as to provide for a train leaving Paris in the morning for Italy, the only through train now leaving Paris at 8:40 p.m.

The journey from Macon to St. Michel is now performed by the "direct" trains in six hours and five minutes. This time might be shortened by one hour for a mail train; and the construction of a new curve at Amberien would prevent the necessity which at present exists for running into that station and out again. But I shall, in my calculations of time, continue to allow six hours five minutes for this journey.

The service by horses and mules from St. Michel over the Mont Cenis to Susa can be performed, during the summer season, with as much regularity as any other part of the route, but it is uncertain during the winter. The past winter was a mild one, and the service was performed with comparatively little interruption; but in looking through the returns, with which the Italian Government have been so good as to furnish me, of the running of the Courier to Susa for the last six winters, I find that in January 1863, the delays were both frequent and serious, in consequence of storms on the Mont Cenis.

The Courier that left St. Michel on the 20th of that month did not reach Susa until the 22nd, as much as 48 hours 25 minutes having been occupied in the passage. On the 11th of March of the same year, 14 hours 30 minutes are recorded; but the Courier made the journey either on sledges or by diligence during the other five winters, in times varying from 7 hours 30 minutes as a minimum, to 12 hours and 35 minutes as a maximum. I have been informed that the Italian Government would willingly undertake the conveyance of 20 passengers and their luggage, besides mails up to 10 or 12 tons in weight, in eight hours, between St. Michel and Susa, besides delays at these places of altogether 2 hours and 20 minutes, made up of 1 hour and 40 minutes at one end, and 40 minutes at the other end.

With

With regard to the Summit Railway over the Mont Cenis from St. Michel to Susa, I find that since my Report of the 12th June of last year, the trials on the experimental portion of line have been completed to the satisfaction of the French and Italian Governments, and that concessions were granted for the construction of the railway (subject to the approval of the detailed plans) by the French Government on the 4th November, and by the Italian Government on the 12th December. That year was thus unfortunately lost for the works; and indeed the Spring of 1866 has been principally occupied in preliminary arrangements, and in preparing plans, sections, and cross-sections on a scale of 1 in 500 for the two Governments. These plans had been authorized for 50 kilometres, while for the remaining 27 kilometres they had been prepared, and were awaiting authorization when I left St. Michel.

I observed in returning from Italy that tunnels and embankments for the rectification of the sharpest curves had been commenced, and were in active progress in six places on the Italian side of the mountain, and I learnt that two others were to be immediately commenced, the whole to be completed in, say, three months. The deviation along Napoleon's Road on that side, to avoid the well-known "escalier," was also to be commenced at once, and the masonry-covered ways, as a protection against the drift-snow and avalanches which have caused that road to be abandoned, were to be finished as well as other tunnels or masonry-covered ways within the next few months, though it was not intended that the timber-covered ways, which are to protect the railway from lighter drifts or falling snow, should be constructed till next summer. The rails on the Italian side (27 kilometres) have been contracted for in England, and 3,000 tons (of rails, chairs, fish-plates, &c.) are to be delivered by the contractors, Messrs. Brogden & Company, between the 12th July and the end of September.

On the French side of the mountain, comprising 40 kilometres from Lanslebourg to St. Michel, and 10 kilometres from Lanslebourg to the summit, three bridges near St. Michel were far advanced, and were to be finished in six weeks.

A viaduct and two bridges near Fort Lessaillon were in progress, and were to be finished in two months. The deviations on this side are numerous, to avoid villages or sharp turns in the road. That at St. Michel was far advanced, and was to be completed in a few weeks. Those at Modane and Vernet were to be commenced shortly, and to be finished in little more than a month. That at Termignon, the heaviest piece of work on the French side, was on the point of commencement; and it was hoped that it might be completed in two months. That at Lanslebourg was to be commenced shortly, and completed in two months.

Of four deviations between Lanslebourg and the summit, one was finished, and three were in progress; and a less important one near Lanslebourg was not commenced. All these were to be finished in two months. The widening and levelling of the road in places, the rebuilding of retaining walls and abutments of bridges, were partly completed and partly in progress, and were expected to be finished in two months. The contract for the rails, chairs, &c. for the French side had been undertaken by the "Terre Noire" Company of Lyons, under the obligation to deliver 1,000 tons a month from the 1st July.

Out of 80,000 sleepers 50,000 had been purchased, and 30,000 cut. Ballast was provided for 20,000 lineal metres, equal to 20 kilometres of permanent way, extending from St. Michel to 4 kilometres beyond Modane; and 15 to 20 kilometres of fencing had been prepared for erection, and were at once to be put up.

The precise details having been fixed upon, after much careful consideration, for the engines, they have been contracted for, and are to be delivered, the 1st in December next, and the whole, 12 in number, by the 1st April, 1867. The tenders for the carriages were still under consideration. No. 2 engine has been strengthened in some of its parts since my visit of last year; and I tried some further experiments with it on the experimental line, both in ascending with a load, and in stopping suddenly, on a signal being given, in the descent.

I see no reason to alter the favourable opinion I have already expressed in regard to the principle involved, but every reason, on the contrary, to believe that it will be worked out to a successful issue. I have heard from Mr. Fell, since leaving the mountain, in a letter, dated 13th July, that he had been again, with two of the directors of the Company, over the works; and that they had found them making good progress on the French side; but had thought it desirable to change the contractors on the Italian side, with a view to increased activity, and to insure their completion this year. The new contractors have undertaken this obligation, and are to employ at least 1,250 men on that side.

The printed prospectus of the Company refers to the 1st May, 1867, as the date on which this railway is to be opened throughout from St. Michel to Susa for public traffic, and the calculations of the directors have been based upon that supposition; but to this end the line and works from Lanslebourg to Molaret, 27 kilometres over the mountain, must be completed before the mountain is covered with snow in the Autumn of this year; and it cannot be doubted that every exertion will be made to complete and open the line, inasmuch as the profit of the Company depends upon its early employment. They cannot count upon any paying traffic after the completion of the grand tunnel and the permanent line; and, indeed, their concessions hold good only up to the opening of that line for traffic.

In the original programme, prepared for the French and Italian Governments, 4 hours and 30 minutes were allowed for the mail and express trains by the summit railway from St. Michel to Susa; but subsequent experiments have shown that this journey might be made in 4 hours. I shall still, however, allow 4½ hours for it, and I shall add three-quarters of an hour at each end for the transfer of mails and passengers, on account of the break of gauge; the gauge of the Mount Cenis Railway being 3' 7½", while that of the French and Italian Railways is $4\frac{1}{2}$ '. I enclose plans of the arrangements proposed for running the summit railway into the stations at St. Michel and Susa. There would be cranes on the platform for transferring the mails across it from the one line to the other, and under these circumstances half an hour ought to be ample for the transfer; but I have preferred to allow a good margin, as above, so as to be well within the mark in my estimate of time.

Through the favour of the Italian Government I walked into the headings at both ends of the Grand Tunnel, and I found that very considerable progress had been made during the previous year, in spite of the numerous difficulties which had been encountered.

At the Modane (French) end hard quartz rock had been found at 2,094.10 mètres from the entrance, on the 13th June, 1865, and the heading had been driven through that rock for 198.90 mètres up to the 9th May, 1866, making a total advance at that end, from the 9th May, 1865, of 302.75 mètres, and from the commencement of the works, in the year 1857, of 2,293 mètres.

At the Bardonnèche (Italian) end the heading was progressing more rapidly, through the same schistose rock, which has been found at that end from the commencement; 772 metres had been pierced between the 9th May, 1865, and the 9th May, 1866, making a total advancement for that end of 3,361.50 metres.

The total progress at both ends, for the year ending 9th May, 1866, was thus 1,074.75 metres, and the total amount pierced, with the heading, was 5,654.50 metres (about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles), out of 12,220 metres (about $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles), leaving 6,565.50 metres (about 4 miles) to be pierced.

The greatest progress that was made in any one year by manual labour was 257.57 metres in 1858, at the Bardonnèche end, while the progress by machinery has increased as follows:—

YEAR.	Bardonnèche.	Modane.	—
1861	170	193 by hand labour.
1862	380	243 ditto.
1863	426	376
1864	621.20	466.65
1865	765.30	458.40

And the above figures for 1865 were, in spite of a severe attack of cholera at Bardonnèche, during the months of November and September, which seriously retarded the works at that end, and, indirectly also, those at the Modane end; in spite of two accidental explosions, which tended greatly to alarm the workmen, one at the face of the excavation and the other outside the tunnel; and in spite of the quartz rock, encountered during the latter half of the year at the Modane end.

The cholera, indeed, retarded the full-sized excavation, and the masonry lining at the Bardonnèche end much more than the heading, and much ground has to be made up in this respect.

Two extra water-wheels are, however, being constructed at that end, in addition to the five already at work, for the improvement of the ventilation; and this being provided, there is no reason why, if money and labourers be forthcoming in sufficient quantity, this backward condition of the permanent work should not be made up.

The question as to when the tunnel is likely to be completed depends principally upon (1) the thickness of the quartz, (2) the thickness and quality of the rock which is interposed between the quartz and the schistose rock of Bardonnèche, and (3) the supply of money and labour. Unfortunately 400 men, and amongst them some of the best workmen, were leaving the tunnel works for the army, whilst I was on the spot; and the financial condition of Italy, at present most unsatisfactory, must depend upon the duration of the present war. As quartz rock does not lie in strata with parallel sides, there can be no good reason for believing that the thickness of it, 500 metres, which has been observed on the surface of the mountain, will also be found at the level of the tunnel; and the question of its extent at that level must remain an element of uncertainty until it has been completely bored through.

The rock which succeeds it has been called compact limestone, and its thickness has been stated at 2,500 metres; but the engineers of the tunnel believe it to be gypsum, more easy to work than the schist of Bardonnèche, or the anthracite rock of Modane, and 300 metres thick. Supposing an average distance of 800 metres a year to be pierced for the next five years, at the Bardonnèche end, and an average of 513.1 metres a year to be pierced during the same period from the Modane end, then the headings would be driven through so as to meet each other in five years from May, 1866, or by May, 1871; and the permanent tunnel might be completed, say, by the end of that year. But there are also the approaches to the tunnel to be constructed on the Italian side by the Italian Government, and on the French side by the Victor Emanuel, now the Paris, Lyons, and Mediterranean Railway Company. These approaches, comprising other tunnels and heavy works, and being altogether about 35 miles long, have not yet been commenced. The shortest time, looking at the matter solely in an engineering point of view, in which the permanent line can be completed, will be, therefore, as far as can be foreseen, towards the end of 1871; and it is impossible to calculate, at present, upon the future financial condition of Italy, and the effect it may have upon the progress of the works.

After the construction of the whole permanent line, the tunnel route will be an immense advantage to the mail traffic as well as to all other traffic between France and Italy,

Italy, inasmuch as the break of gauge, and therefore change of vehicles and consequent inconvenience and delay which must be incurred in the use of the summit line at St. Michel and Susa, will be avoided. The gradients will indeed be very steep, even on the tunnel line, there being a rising gradient from the French side, half way through the grand tunnel, of 1 in 45½, and the steepest gradient on the line being 1 in 28.

But it may reasonably be expected that in a few years, and not long after 1871, mail trains will run through from Calais to Brindisi, for 1,390 miles, without break of gauge, in about 54 hours.

The railway from Susa viâ Turin, Alessandria, and Piacenza, to Bologna, forms part of the system of the Ferrovie dell'Alta Italia; out of 387 kilometres between Susa and Bologna, 253 are laid with a single, and 134 with a double line of rails, there being 90 miles of double line between Turin and Alessandria, and 44 (out of 147) between Piacenza and Bologna. Of the gradients, 2½ kilometres are between 1 in 70 and 1 in 100; and 39 kilometres are between 1 in 100 and 1 in 200, and the remainder are less steep than 1 in 200. Of the curves there is one with a radius of 500 metres, 819 metres long, between Piacenza and Bologna; and there are only two others, with a total length of 834 metres, which have radii of less than 600 metres. The permanent way differs in different parts of the line, and altogether 281 kilometres, out of 387, have the joints of the rails fished; dog-spikes only are used to secure the flat-bottomed rails (where these are employed) to the sleepers, as commonly on the Continent, though I observe that through-bolts are now being employed in place of them on the Chemin-de-fer du Nord of France. The fences are inefficient in many parts of the line, and an iron chain attached to two posts, or a swinging bar, frequently takes the place of gates.

It is not the practice to use either chock-blocks, for the security of vehicles standing on the sidings, or indicators for the facing points, on the single line, as in England.

The Company offer to run a mail train from Susa to Bologna in 7 hours 45 minutes, including 40 minutes of stoppages at the various stations, which is 10 minutes less than the "direct" trains of the summer service; and from Bologna to Susa (the greater rise being in that direction) in 8 hours and 8 minutes, including the same total amount of stoppages. I shall adopt the latter figures, with 10 minutes added for stoppage at Bologna in circulating the time for the whole journey.

The portion of the Strada Ferrata Meridionale, or Meridional Railway of Italy, which lies between Bologna and Brindisi, is 763 kilometres long, and is laid with a single line throughout. It was opened for traffic from Ancona to Bologna, in 1861; from Ancona to Pescara, in 1863; to Foggia, in April, 1863; to Trani, in August, 1864; to Bari, in February, 1865; to Brindisi, in May, 1865; and, in continuation to Lecce, in January, 1866. There are excellent station buildings at 47 intermediate stations, mostly finished, but some in progress. There are crossing-places and sidings at all of these stations, with a minimum length of 500 metres, and they are more than enough for all the traffic that can at present be expected. Good masonry houses (case cantonieri) have been constructed as in other parts of Italy, about a kilometre apart, for nearly the whole length of the line. There are four rooms in each for the accommodation of the plate-layers and "guardians," and these men are, therefore, most of them, always on the spot, and ready by day or night in case of need.

Out of the whole distance of 763 kilometres, 645 kilometres are quite straight. The sharpest curves, six in number, and of a total length of 4,080 metres, have radii of 400 metres. There are two curves of 450 metres radius, together 250 metres long, and there are 13½ kilometres of curves, with radii of 500 metres, but the majority have radii of upwards of 600 metres. The steepest gradient is 1 in 67 for a short distance south of Ancona. There is no other gradient steeper than 1 in 100, and the greater part of the line (and that part, more particularly between Foggia and Brindisi) may be considered, as regards curves and gradients, to be a first-rate running line. The permanent way is laid with rails of a flat-bottomed section, in lengths of 5½ or 6 metres, weighing 37 kilogrammes per metre. The joints of the rails are fished throughout. The sleepers are laid transversely, about a metre apart on an average from centre to centre, and are of oak, except for 188 kilometres between Monopoli and Lecce, where they are partly of oak and partly of beech. The rails are secured to the sleepers by means of dog-spikes only, as in other parts of Italy and of the Continent generally. Such a fastening is not considered sufficient in this country, but these spikes have a far better hold in oak sleepers than in the fir or other sleepers of soft wood which we employ, and none of the curves are sharp on this line.

The bridges and viaducts generally appear to have been carefully and substantially constructed in brickwork, masonry, and iron. Of the bridges at Ninna, Massignano, Mero, Trivolo, Sangro, Orente, Asinello, Sinarca and Fortore, which are still in wood, that at Sangro, being more substantial than the others, will probably remain in its present condition for several years, while those at Ninna, Massignano, and Orente, will be replaced by permanent bridges in two years, and the remainder within twelve months.

Much expense has been incurred since the line was first opened, and no necessary expense seems to have been spared in making the line secure against encroachments of the sea as at Vasto, or on soft ground, or in regard to the cuttings and embankments.

There are as yet no fences over a great part of the line, even where roads run near, or by the side of the railway; and, except at the most important level-crossings, there are no gates, a swinging bar or a chain on two posts, being used, under the charge of a servant of the company, in place of them. But the absence of gates and substantial fences, fences, which is so frequently observable on the Continent, does not appear, in spite of occasional accidents, to have been attended hitherto with the same bad results as in England, partly in consequence of the system which largely prevails of watching the beasts at pasture, and partly because they are most easily kept within bounds.

No fast service of trains has yet been run over this line, as there has not been traffic to justify the extra expense they involve; but the company undertake to run the whole distance from Bologna to Brindisi in 18½ hours, including altogether 1 hour and 22 minutes of stoppages at 17 intermediate stations, with mail trains. They have now 93 locomotive engines, besides 84 under construction; and 329 passenger carriages, besides 219 under construction.

In working this great length of single line, the telegraph only is employed to secure the safety of the trains, when they are not in "in orario," that is to say, not running according to the printed time-tables. Morse's instruments, by which all the messages are printed on slips of paper in dots and dashes, are those most in use; and they are worked under a good system by responsible men. There is at least a "direct" and an "omnibus" instrument at every station, and there are also instruments for practice at some of the stations. Any deviations from the usual crossing places of the trains are arranged between the station masters upon these instruments, and written instructions are given in such cases to the "capo-conduttori;" (head guards) of the trains. All the employés at the stations are taught to work the instruments, and to understand them by the ear, as well as to read the printed slips. Special trains are now run over the line when required for royal and other trains at very short notice, and that which was placed at my disposal afforded an excellent illustration of the system. The company undertake willingly to run an "Indian mail" train special over the line, at any time of the day or night, within two hours after the arrival of the steamer from Egypt, in 18½ hours, and they do not at all object to any disarrangement of their ordinary traffic, which may be necessary for that purpose.

The outward mail from London might be expected to run through to Brindisi at stated times, and there would be no occasion for a special irregular service in that direction; but the homeward mail could not, as I took occasion to point out, be timed to any particular hour at Brindisi. And the Italian Government, as well as the railway companies, offer, therefore, to send the homeward mail through by a special train to St. Michel, so that no delay need occur in Italian territory. After the Egyptian steamer had been signalled off Brindisi, the telegraph would to this end be employed to give notice of the hour at which the Eastern mail-train would leave each station, to St. Michel, and even to Calais and London. I am authorized further to state that the Italian Government would be willing to perform this service, according to the times proposed by the railway companies—that is to say, in 18½ hours between Brindisi and Bologna; in 7 hours 45 minutes one way, and 8 hours 5 minutes the other way, between Bologna and Susa; with 8 hours for the passage of the Mount Cenis, besides altogether 2 hours and 20 minutes delay at Susa and St. Michel—at the rate of 0.75 lire or 75 centimes per ounce of letters, and the same per kilogramme (or 0.33975 lire per English pound) of printed papers. These terms, which are very considerably less in proportion to the distance than is paid by Her Majesty's Government for the passage of the mails through France, appear to me to be exceedingly moderate.

The Italian Government would also be willing to undertake the sea service from Brindisi to Alexandria with their contract steamers of the Adriatico-Orientale Company, either on a similar system of charges, or for a lump sum within specified weights. The figures that were at first given to me for the sea service were 0.50 lire (50 centimes) for each English ounce of letters, and the same for each kilogramme of printed matter; but I was subsequently informed that if the British Government had really an idea of entrusting the sea service to the Italian Government, and were inclined to make a positive offer for it, either a tariff of 0.30 lire (30 centimes) for each ounce of letters and each kilogramme of printed papers, or a lump sum of 3,000 lire per voyage for weights of mails not exceeding 12 tons as a maximum, or 4 tons as an average, going and returning, might probably be accepted. This charge was considered to correspond to nearly 11 lire per league of voyage, or a third of what the Italian Government pay to the contractors, Messrs. Palmer and Co., for the mail steamers from Brindisi to Alexandria.

In comparing the route via Marseilles with that via Brindisi to Egypt, as regards the time occupied, it will only be necessary, as both routes go together to Macon, to make that station the common point of departure.

The following may be taken as the time occupied by the existing route:—

	hours	min.
From Macon to Marseilles	10	43
Transfer mails at Marseilles	2	0
Marseilles to Alexandria, 1,460 nautical miles, including four hours' detention at Malta ...	150	0
Macon to Alexandria	162	43

And

And the following would be the time for the Brindisi route, if the passage were made by horses and mules over the Mont Cenis :—

	hours	min.
Macon to St. Michel... ..	6	5
Delay at St. Michel... ..	1	40
Passage of Mount Cenis to Susa	8	0
Delay Susa	0	40
Susa to Bologna	8	8
Delay at Bologna	0	10
Bologna to Brindisi	18	30
Transfer mails at Brindisi	2	0
Brindisi to Alexandria, 822 nautical miles...	82	15
Macon to Alexandria	127	28

For the Brindisi route by the Summit Railway over the Mont Cenis, when that shall have been completed, the time would be :—

	hours	min.
Macon to St. Michel	6	5
Delay at St. Michel	0	45
St. Michel to Susa	4	30
Delay at Susa	0	45
Susa to Bologna	8	8
Delay at Bologna	0	10
Bologna to Brindisi	18	30
Transfer mails to steamer at Brindisi	2	0
Brindisi to Alexandria, 822 nautical miles...	82	15

Again, when the tunnel through the Alps and the permanent line in connection with it are complete, the delays at St. Michel and Susa will be avoided, and the journey between these places may be performed without break of gauge, or change of vehicles, including stoppages, in 3 hours. There will, therefore, be an advantage of 35½ hours in favour of the Brindisi route previous to the construction of the Mont Cenis Summit Railway; of 39½ hours after the construction of that railway; and of 42½ hours after the completion of the permanent tunnel line from St. Michel to Susa.

In communicating with the Italian Government, and with the officers of the Italian railways, I have pointed out that, in laying down the periods of time on which the above calculations have been made, it was desirable to fix, not the shortest time in which the journeys could be performed, but such rates of speed as would admit of punctuality. And I believe that in the above figures a sufficient margin has been left to cover any accidental delays that may occur, to a moderate extent, on so long a journey. I am of opinion, further, that the time may be kept with greater certainty via Brindisi than via Marseilles, because—(1) land transit generally may be performed more punctually than sea transit—(2) the sea passage would be less stormy and more certain, inasmuch as the worst part of it, across the Gulf of Lyons, would be avoided—(3) there would be a special railway service through Italy.

But, in order that all the advantages of this route might be realized, it would be desirable that arrangements should be made by which the special service from the East should be continued also through France.

Some further time might also be saved in both directions if the mail trains could be timed to run through from Calais, stopping, say, one hour only at Paris, and making use of the railway which connects the Northern and Mediterranean lines together for avoiding a change of vehicles in that city.

With reference to these subjects, I am happy to be able to inform your Grace of the cordial promise of general co-operation which I received at Paris from M. Vandal, the Director General of the French Posts. I had the advantage of conferring with M. Vandal, both in going to and returning from Italy; and when I informed him, on the latter occasion, of the result of my journey, of the amount of time that could be saved, and the price at which the Italian Government were willing to perform the service, M. Vandal replied at once that the question was virtually decided. He observed that such an improved means of communications would advance the important interest of the French Empire in connection with the East as well as our own; and he begged me to assure Her Majesty's Government of his readiness to afford every assistance in furthering this object.

Under all the circumstances of the case, I am of opinion that the route via Brindisi may properly be adopted for the Eastern Mail Service, as affording greater advantages at the present time than any other route; and further, that it might be brought into operation by the 1st June, 1867. It is probable that the Mont Cenis Railway will be opened for traffic before that time, and even if such should not be the case, there would still be no difficulty as regards the passage of the mountain by horses and mules until the autumn; and I cannot doubt that the Summit Railway will be complete and working, at all events, before the following winter.

It will thus be possible next year to convey the Eastern mails between London and Alexandria punctually, and without difficulty, in 150½ hours, and at some time after 1871, when the permanent line between St. Michel and Susa is at work, in 147½ hours. The longest portion of the journey that can be made at present, or next year, without change of vehicle, is from Susa to Brindisi, 716 miles, or 27 hours; but it may be expected, when the tunnel line is completed after 1871, that mails and passengers will travel, without change of vehicles, between Calais and Brindisi, 1,391 miles, in 54 hours, or, if the arrangement above referred to of using the connecting railway at Paris be adopted, in 52 or 53 hours. In either case it is exceedingly desirable that sleeping carriages, with proper conveniences, should be provided for the journey. I have not failed to represent this want to the Italian Government and railway companies, and I am happy to be able to inform your Grace, that the Italian Government undertakes to convey the passengers in special carriages of this description, at fares not exceeding, for each, 15 centimes per kilometre. In the meantime, the mails must necessarily be transferred, if not at Paris, at all events from the 4' 8½" to the 3' 7½" gauge, and vice versa, at St. Michel and Susa; and with a view to this being more easily effected, as well as to facilitate the transfers on the remainder of the whole route, I would venture to suggest that some improvements might be made in the system of packing them.

The average number of boxes of wood or iron forwarded by the mail of the 26th of each month, through France to the East, is now 325, with a gross weight of 9 tons 14 cwt. 2 qrs. 21 lbs., and a gross cubic content of 1,178 feet; and each of these boxes is now thrown down with great violence, peraps on stone or iron, whenever a transfer is made: 1st, from the "left" at the General Post Office to the Post Office van; 2nd, from Post Office van to the railway station in London; 3rd, from the train to the steamer at Dover, and so on. I understand that the attempt has already been made to substitute bags for boxes, but that it was given up, when the cholera was raging last year in Egypt, because the bags were supposed to harbour infection more readily than the boxes. But I apprehend that this objection might be got over, if the bags were enclosed in water-tight wooden chests of larger dimensions. The places of transfer being always the same, these chests might be moved by cranes, from the General Post Office to the street, from the street to the railway, from the railway pier to the steamer, and so on. And the hatchways of the steamer employed, might be fitted to receive them without any difficulty, whatever the precise form and size decided upon. A great saving would thus be effected, in the weight, the cost, and the wear and tear of the cases, as well as in the time consumed in making the cases up, in making lists of them during the transfers, and in transferring them. And there would probably be less risk of loss. A truck on the Mont Cenis Summit Railway would not, of course, take so many of these large chests as one of the ordinary railways.

As I have intimated at the commencement of this Report, the question to be now solved is solely that of communication through Europe to the east of the Mediterranean. But in saying so much concerning the postal routes to the East, I would ask your Grace's permission to touch also upon the still more important saving of time and distance that may be obtained hereafter, by avoiding the passage of the Red Sea, where a railway shall be constructed from the coast of the Mediterranean along the Euphrates Valley to the Persian Gulf. By this route many hundred miles of distance, and many days of time, might be saved between London and Bombay, which will become, within the next two years (when the railways to Madras and Calcutta are completed), the principal port of India. The navigation by the Persian Gulf to Bombay, will be far preferable to that via Suez and the Red Sea to Bombay; and even that amount of navigation may ultimately be avoided, by the connection together of Bagdad and Bombay by railway. But, in the meantime, the Euphrates Valley scheme has been for many years almost in abeyance. The mere guarantee of the Turkish Government has not been found sufficient even to render the construction of the first portion, from the coast to Aleppo, practicable; and the financial state of that Empire renders progress now all but impossible. But I have so strong a conviction of the importance bearing that the construction of such a railway would have, commercially and strategically, upon the British Empire, that I could not but take this opportunity of recommending the subject to the serious consideration of Her Majesty's Government.

His Grace the Duke of Montrose,
Postmaster General,
&c., &c., &c.

I have, &c.,

Captain, Royal Engineers.

No. 2.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, SYDNEY.

Chief Secretary's Office,
Melbourne, 10 October, 1866.

SIR,

Adverting to the correspondence that has taken place respecting Steam Postal Communication by the Suez and Panama routes, I have the honor to inform you, by direction of His Excellency Sir J. H. T. Manners-Sutton, that this Government, having attentively

attentively considered the subject, are most desirous that such arrangements should be entered into by the Colonies interested in the question, as will place the services on a permanent and equitable footing.

It appears to the Cabinet of Victoria, that, as a Postal Service for the whole of the Australian Colonies, there cannot be a question that the line via Point de Galle is, and must always remain, superior to that via Panama, and that it is hardly necessary, in confirmation of this view, to point to the recent performances of the steamers employed on the respective routes.

The news of the "Bombay," with August Mails, via Suez, having arrived at Adelaide, was received yesterday almost simultaneously with the news of the arrival of the "Ruahine" at Sydney, with the August Mails, via Panama.

By the former vessel Telegraphic intelligence of European affairs up to the 11th September came to hand in thirty days, and her Mails of the 26th August will be delivered this day in Melbourne, and not later than the 13th instant in Sydney; the latter vessel it is believed brought out Mails only to the 2nd August.

No doubt the example given by way of illustration, presents what may be exceptional features, and a similar combination of circumstances may not arise again; but it must, it is thought, be admitted that the voyages made by both lines, since the Panama Contract first commenced, exhibit in a striking manner the advantages, both to New South Wales and Victoria, of the old over the new service.

Holding these views, the Government of Victoria, although animated by the desire of dealing with the question in a spirit of concession, would not feel justified in recommending that this Colony should contribute towards the maintenance of the Panama Service, which would be of comparatively small benefit to the Colonists, on the same principle as the payments are now made in liquidation of the Colonial moiety of the subsidy to the Peninsular and Oriental Company.

In connection with this branch of the subject, it must be borne in mind that, by recent action on the part of your Government, and that of South Australia, in giving notice of intention to withdraw from participation in the existing contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Company, nearly the whole burthen of the Colonial moiety of the subsidy will ultimately fall on Victoria; and that, as a consequence, the Mails of those Colonies, for transmission by the Point de Galle steamers, will be on the same footing as the Victorian Mails now are with respect to the Panama Boats.

This would be a most undesirable state of things, of which the public both in New South Wales and Victoria would have just cause of complaint, and would, it is to be feared, lead to means being employed in Sydney and Melbourne, by which any extra postage imposed by the respective Colonies would be evaded.

It is hoped that the resolution arrived at, in respect to the withdrawal of New South Wales and South Australia from what appears to be the best arrangement for the transmission of the Indian and European Mails, will be rescinded.

In this event, I may state, that with a view to maintain friendly relations (upon which the success and value of the Postal Service mainly depend) in regard to the Ocean Mail Service, this Government will be prepared to consider in a fair and impartial manner any proposal from the Government of New South Wales, for the payment by Victoria of a fixed sum, per annum, for the privilege of forwarding and receiving the Mails of this Colony by the Panama Steamers sailing from Sydney and Wellington, New Zealand.

I have, &c.,

JAMES M'CULLOCH,

Chief Secretary.

No. 3.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, SYDNEY.

Chief Secretary's Office,
- Melbourne 26 November, 1866.

SIR,

The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury having intimated, by Minute dated the 4th September, 1866, the intention of the Imperial Government to direct that the necessary steps should be taken for terminating the existing contracts for the conveyances of mails between Great Britain and India, and Point de Galle and Sydney; and their Lordships having also expressed a strong desire that any new contract for the Branch Service, by which the Australian Mails may be forwarded, should be under the joint control of the Colonies interested in the service, I have the honor, by direction of His Excellency Sir J. H. T. Manners-Sutton, to state that this intelligence appears to the Government of Victoria to afford an additional reason to those already urged in the correspondence that has taken place on the subject, in favour of a meeting of Delegates from the several Colonies, for the full discussion of all matters connected with Steam Postal Communication, in order that the whole question may be settled on equitable grounds for the common good.

I have, therefore, the honor to suggest that such a meeting should be arranged to take place on an early date, and that the gentlemen who may be appointed to the duty may be invested with full powers, as it is of the highest importance that the decision of the Colonies, on the question remitted to them by Lord Carnarvon, should be arrived at, and communicated, with the least possible delay.

I would also suggest, that Melbourne would, on account of its central position, be the most eligible place of meeting.

A similar communication has been addressed to the Governments of New Zealand, South Australia, Tasmania, Queensland, and Western Australia.

I have, &c.,

SIR,

I have the honor to enclose for your information a copy of a letter, dated the 18th ultimo, from the Honorable the Chief Secretary of Victoria, on the subject of the Panama Steam Postal Service, and a copy of the reply which has been addressed to him.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosures in the foregoing.]

The Chief Secretary, Victoria, to The Colonial Secretary, New Zealand.

Chief Secretary's Office,
Melbourne, 18th October, 1866.

Sir,

I have the honor by direction of His Excellency the Honorable Sir J. H. T. Manners-Sutton, to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 13th August last, enclosing copy of letter addressed by you to the Colonial Secretary of New South Wales, on the subject of the Panama Steam Postal Service, in which you refer to the importance of some understanding being arrived at as to the proportion of the subsidy to be contributed by the Colonies interested in the question respectively, and suggest that delegates be appointed by the Governments concerned, to meet at Wellington for the purpose of discussing the question.

In reply, I have the honor to state, with reference to the first question, that the views of this Government have already been fully explained in a letter to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, a copy of which I now beg to enclose for your information.

I have also the honor to state, with respect to the proposed meeting of delegates, that no objection is felt to such a measure; indeed, in my letter to you of the 9th February last, it was suggested that such a meeting should take place, with the view to the whole question of Steam Postal Communication with the United Kingdom being fully considered.

It, however, appears desirable that one of the Australian Colonies should be appointed as the place for the assembling and deliberations of the delegates; and that as representatives are shortly expected from the several Colonies at the Intercolonial Exhibition to be held at Melbourne, this would be a favourable opportunity for carrying out the purpose.

I have, &c.,

JAMES M'CULLOCH.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Wellington, 5th November, 1866.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th ultimo, enclosing a copy of a letter of the 10th of that month to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, expressing the views of the Victorian Government on the subject of the Panama Steam Postal Service.

Mr. Crosbie Ward, a Member of the General Assembly of New Zealand, has been accredited by this Government to the Government of New South Wales, with a view to some definite arrangement of all outstanding questions connected with the Panama Steam Postal Service, and he recently proceeded to Sydney with that object. A copy of your letter will be transmitted to that gentleman for his information.

No. 5.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA.

New South Wales,
Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10 December, 1866.

SIR,

Acknowledging the receipt of your letters of October 10th, and November 26th, on the subject of Steam Postal Communication between these Colonies and England, I am now desired by His Excellency Sir John Young, to inform you of the views of this Government on the questions submitted by you.

2. In your letter of October 10th, you say that the Government of Victoria, having attentively considered the subject, is most desirous that the through service by way of Suez and Panama should be placed on a permanent and equitable footing, although you express your opinion that as a direct postal route for the whole of the Australian Colonies, the line connecting with the Peninsular and Oriental Company's Steamers, at Point de Galle, will always present superior advantages. Holding this view, you inform the Government of New South Wales, that while desirous of dealing with the question in a spirit of concession, you would not feel justified in recommending that Victoria should contribute towards the maintenance of the Panama Service on the same principle that regulates the payments made in liquidation of the colonial moiety of the subsidy to the Peninsular and Oriental Company. In the event of this Colony continuing to be a party to the maintenance of the service viâ Galle, you express your willingness, however, to consider in a fair and impartial manner any proposal for the payment by Victoria of a fixed annual sum for the privilege of forwarding and receiving mails viâ Panama.

3. In your letter of November 26th, you bring under the notice of this Government the recent Minute of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, more especially that portion of the Minute which expresses a strong desire that the Colonies themselves in combination should undertake to provide for the postal service between Australia and Galle for the future; and you urge that this intelligence affords another reason in addition to those advanced in former correspondence in favour of a meeting of delegates from the several Colonies, for the full discussion of all matters connected with ocean postal communication. You suggest that a Postal Conference such as you recommend should be held without further delay; and that the representatives appointed by the several Colonies should be invested with full powers, as it is of the highest importance that the whole question as affected by Intercolonial interests, and by the purport of Lord Carnarvon's despatch, should be settled on equitable grounds for the common good.

4. On the importance of maintaining the through service now that it has been successfully established and the expediency of settling the whole question of ocean mail communication in equitable regard to the interests of all the Colonies and on a basis that shall afford some prospect of satisfaction and permanence, this Government cordially concurs in your views as now communicated, and it reciprocates the desire you express for the promotion of friendly relations in all matters of Intercolonial interest. No special objection is seen to the mode of arriving at a settlement proposed by you; and as the Government of New Zealand is also anxious for a Conference of the Colonies on the subject, this Colony will be prepared to accredit representatives to any such Conference in the month of February next, to be held either in Melbourne or Sydney, as a majority of the Colonies becoming parties to it shall determine.

5. In approaching the discussion of the special points on which opinions are likely to differ, in arriving at any general agreement for the establishment of a complete and satisfactory Ocean Steam Service, the extent to which this Government is committed to the maintenance of communication viâ Panama must necessarily influence its deliberations, and still more so, it is presumed, the deliberations of the New Zealand Government. On the other hand, the Government of Queensland will probably look mainly to its newly established route through Torres Straits. For these reasons it appears the more desirable, that the whole group of British communities in this part of the world should be represented at any such Postal Conference as you suggest and invite, in order that the remoter as well as the more immediate advantages to be derived from each separate line of communication, both singly and forming part of a system, may be considered thoroughly and from opposite stand-points.

6. In reply to the observations contained in your letter of October 10th, on the relative merits of the Suez and Panama Routes, I may mention that the Mails despatched from Sydney viâ Panama on the 15th June were delivered at Southampton on the 12th August; while the Southampton part of the Mails viâ Suez, which left here on the 24th June, was not delivered before the 25th August—giving a saving of four days in favour of Panama. In the same manner, the delivery of the July Mails by the respective services at Southampton, give a saving of two days in favour of Panama—the one having arrived on the 11th, and the other on the 22nd September. It is submitted, however, that the postal advantages of this service ought to be viewed in the light of the facilities which it affords for communicating with the nations of the American Continent; and that the postal advantages alone ought not to determine its value to the Australian Colonies.

7. In conclusion, I have the honor to assure you, that this Government is by no means insensible to the value of the line of communication in the furtherance of which the Colony of Victoria is said to be most interested; and it will be prepared to join in any new contract for providing an efficient service between these Colonies and Point de Galle, on such conditions as shall ensure a just regard to all interests.

MESSRS. HANSON & BENNETT to CAPT. MARTINDALE, R.E.

Empire Office,
Sydney, 2 September, 1859.

SIR,

On the arrival of the next mail, the Herald and ourselves have arranged to have transmitted 500 words each, which we have agreed to exchange with each other; that is, 500 words will come for the Herald, and will be handed to each of us simultaneously, and 500 for the Empire will be treated in the like manner. We are anxious to know if you will allow the telegrams to be copied in your office, so that each paper may have a copy handed to them at the same time. We will pay for the copying most willingly. Each paper of course will pay 500 words and the cost of copying.

An immediate reply would greatly oblige,

Sir,
Your most obedient Servants,

The charge, in accordance with the custom in the sister Colonies, will be for the number of words delivered to each paper.

SIR,

Although we were ignorant of the application of Messrs. Hanson & Bennett, and were, therefore, no parties to it, we beg respectfully to state that we cannot concur in the arrangement that "the charge will be for the number of words delivered to each paper."

We think an extra charge might be imposed for giving one message to both papers simultaneously—that is, for making two copies of the same message. But where the Herald and Empire agree to employ one reporter specially to go down to Kangaroo Island from Adelaide, and he sends up his collated telegram for both, it appears not only expensive but unreasonable that the full charge should be made.

MESSRS. HANSON & BENNETT to THE SECRETARY FOR PUBLIC WORKS.

Empire Office,
Sydney, 18 July, 1866.

SIR,

The manner in which the Sydney Morning Herald has monopolized the use of the telegraph wires for many hours on the arrival of the English Mail at Adelaide, we have felt for years to be a great grievance, as well as an injury to the public; and we trust you will see the necessity of restricting the number of words to be transmitted to any one person—such an arrangement, in fact, as existed in the year 1859, which no doubt you will find recorded in your office.

On the arrival of the last mail on Wednesday, the Herald had possession of the wires the whole day, and message commenced at half-past 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The public were in ignorance of the important news from England until after business hours, when the Herald issued their supplement.

When the steamer arrives in the night we are invariably precluded from publishing a telegram in the morning, by reason of the Herald occupying the wires by the transmission of their long message. The arrangement of 1859, above referred to, would obviate this. A personal interview would probably explain more fully the injustice complained of.

Your early consideration of this subject would greatly oblige

Your obedient Servants,

HANSON & BENNETT.

THE SECRETARY FOR PUBLIC WORKS, NEW SOUTH WALES, to THE COMMISSIONER FOR PUBLIC WORKS, SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

New South Wales,
Department of Public Works,
Sydney, 27 July, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you that the system which has obtained in the Telegraph Departments throughout the Colonies, in allowing certain daily papers the absolute use of the wires for an indefinite period on the arrival of the mails from England, upon the principle of "first come, first served," to the exclusion of all others of like character, has become a fruitful source of complaint here amongst journalists and newsmen, and is attended with great inconvenience to a large number of the trading portion of our community.

I have given this subject some consideration; and having submitted the matter to my colleagues, they concur with me, that it would be a great benefit to the community at large, if some plan could be devised by which proprietors of daily papers could be placed on terms as nearly equal to each other as possible. On Wednesday, the 18th instant, the mail was signalled here at 9 o'clock a.m. The news was of the greatest importance to the trading community, and rumours were prevalent during the day of a serious character; but the public were kept in entire ignorance until the telegram, consisting of almost seven columns, was published at about 5 o'clock in the evening; before which time, all the banks and other places of business were closed, and many persons engaged in mercantile pursuits had left for their residences in the suburbs. It can therefore be readily understood how injuriously this state of things may be made to operate in particular cases, and upon particular interests, and how largely a favoured few may be benefited by a continuance of it.

2. I feel assured that, in submitting this matter for the consideration of your Government, you will at once see how important it is that the public interest should be considered as paramount to all other. To prevent a continuance of this practice so justly complained of, I think it would be desirable to restrict the number of words from 500 to 600; and when these are through, the message of any other paper than the one which first gets possession of the wire can be transmitted, so that each paper may take its turn in rotation.

3. By some such plan as this being adopted, the public journalists can issue slips of the most important items of news within a very short time after the arrival of the mail at Adelaide.

4. I hope to hear by telegram that you concur in the decision arrived at by myself and colleagues, so that when the next mail arrives, this or some other plan less objectionable than that now in force may be carried out.

5. I have addressed a similar communication to this, to the Honorable the Chief Secretary of Victoria.

MESSRS. GREVILLE & COMPANY to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

8, Bridge-street, Sydney,
27 July, 1866.

SIR,

We have the honor, as the Agent of Reuter's Telegram Company, to submit to your consideration a point in the working of the Telegraph Department involving both a personal and a public injury.

On the arrival of the English Mail at Adelaide, the use of the telegraph wire is monopolized for hours—in some instances, according to the working of the line, for eight, nine, or ten hours—by the wealthy proprietors of two journals, who have combined for the purpose.

This arrangement is prejudicial to the public. First, because in the absence of healthy competition, their knowledge of events is confined to such items as the journalists may choose to give. Secondly, because if erroneous intelligence be imparted—and in telegraphic transmission numerous errors do occur—hours must elapse before a corrective can be published. Thirdly, because it unfairly places in the hands of the journalists referred to, the power of imparting commercial intelligence of an important character to a favoured few, hours before it is generally known to the public.

In illustration of this remark, we would draw your attention to the arrival of the last mail, when, through the wires being monopolized during the whole of business hours, commercial intelligence affecting our monetary institutions and the whole of our commercial community was withheld from the general public until the close of the day. It may also recur to your recollection, that the Government of Victoria, through this same monopoly, were kept for a considerable period in ignorance of the recall of the then Governor until Reuter's Telegram announced the fact. Fourthly, because the receipts of the department are diminished, as competition is now virtually crushed; whereas if journalists were compelled to take turns in the receipt of their news, they would issue their instalments as fast as they received them, public curiosity would be awakened, and the journalists in their own interests would vie with each other as to which should best satisfy it.

On behalf of the Company represented by us, we protest against the present arrangement, as bearing especially hard upon an institution the benefits conferred by which are world-wide, and whose operations it is the wish of every liberally-minded man to see extended. Without any private interest to serve, and having the public only for its masters, it persistently refuses to lend itself to the advancement of any private body.

With due respect would we submit that the evils of which we complain cannot be rectified until some restriction be placed upon the length of messages.

The Government of South Australia, alive to the evils of the present system, have instructed that a summary be prepared for them at Galle, the Victorian Government are agitating the propriety of a similar step, and it is not improbable that the Government of New South Wales may adopt a like course. We, however, having only the public interest to serve, are quite willing and with pleasure tender the use of our telegram to each Government, and sanction their instructing their respective Superintendents of Telegraphs to furnish them with a copy of our message as it is received.

We have, &c.,
GREVILLE & COMPANY.

No. 16.

MESSRS. HANSON & BENNETT to THE UNDER SECRETARY FOR PUBLIC WORKS.

Empire Office,
Sydney, 13 August, 1866.

SIR,

Referring to your letter of the 3rd instant, on the subject of the transmission of telegraphic messages on the arrival of the English Mail at Adelaide, wherein you stated that you have been directed by the Honorable the Secretary for Public Works to inform us that the matter had been brought under the attention of the Governments of Victoria and South Australia, and expressing a hope "that when the next mail arrives, some plan less objectionable than that now in existence may be agreed upon to be carried out," we desire to call your attention to the fact that, on the arrival of the mail on Saturday, no change whatever took place as to the restriction of the number of words to be transmitted to any one paper, and that the monopoly complained of by us remained in full force.

The branch steamer was signalled at Adelaide at about half past 3 p.m., and the Sydney Morning Herald retained possession of the wires from the time its message commenced until a quarter past 12 o'clock on Sunday morning. Our message did not commence until twenty minutes to 2 o'clock a.m., and finished at ten minutes to 4. You must therefore see that, if Sunday morning had been a publishing morning, we could not have issued our paper until much later than the usual hour for publication, if we waited for the telegram. There was an interval of an hour and a half between the finishing of the Herald's telegram and the receipt of our first slip.

We trust that this additional illustration of the injury which the present monopoly inflicts on us, will induce you to urge on the Governments of Victoria and South Australia to adopt some proposal for restricting the consecutive number of words to be transmitted to any one paper.

SIR,

In reply to your letter of 28th ultimo, received on the 6th instant, on the subject of the transmission of press telegrams, I have the honor, by desire of His Excellency Sir Dominick Daly, to inform you that, after due consideration, the Government have determined not to make any immediate change in the system now in force, for the reasons stated in a report furnished by the Superintendent of Telegraphs, copy of which I enclose for your information.

The Superintendent of Telegraphs, South Australia, to The Commissioner for Public Works.

Electric Telegraph Department,
Office of Superintendent, Adelaide,
6 August, 1866.

Sir,

I have the honor to return herewith a letter from the Hon. the Commissioner of Public Works in New South Wales, addressed to you, recommending that the first reports to any newspaper, on the arrival of the English Mail, should be limited to 500 or 600 words.

When in Melbourne recently, I met a deputation from the proprietors of the Age newspaper on the same subject, and discussed the question at some length with the Hon. the Chief Secretary (Mr. M'Culloch) and the General Superintendent of Telegraphs, which resulted in a joint report from Mr. M'Gowan and myself, a copy of which I herewith enclose.

It should be borne in mind that we shall shortly have three Intercolonial wires, viz., two via Melbourne, and one direct to Sydney via Wentworth; the pressure, therefore, which has hitherto existed, and has to some extent shut out some portions of the Press as well as the public from the use of the telegraph for some hours after the arrival of every mail, will be to a large extent then removed; and in view of these extended facilities, I am not prepared to recommend a regulation fixing so low a limit as 500 or 600 words.

As I have before pointed out, such a regulation as that suggested by Mr. Byrnes could be easily evaded; and while practically useless for effecting the object desired, it would, in my opinion, seriously injure the revenue of the department. If any limitation is put on the first press report, it should be fixed at not less than 1,200 words; but I would prefer waiting the results of the opening of the direct Sydney line, when I shall be better able to advise what regulations will best meet the difficulty, should it still exist. In any case, I think it would be highly inexpedient to introduce any stringent limiting regulation before the arrival of the next mail—longer notice should be given.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES TODD,
Superintendent of Telegraphs.

Messrs. Todd and M'Gowan to The Chief Secretary, Victoria.

Electric Telegraph Department,
General Superintendent's Office,
Melbourne, 6 July, 1866.

Sir,

Having, in compliance with the request of the Honorable the Chief Secretary, considered whether any alteration can be advantageously made in the existing regulations affecting the transmission of mail press reports, with a view to preventing the lines being exclusively used by one journal, to the injury of other sections of the Press and the public generally, we beg to state that we are of opinion that the increased facilities which will be afforded by the completion of the second wire in South Australia, and the direct line between Adelaide and Sydney via Wentworth, will remove the objections that have been raised to the arrangements now in force. If, however, any alteration should be deemed desirable, we would suggest—

- 1st. That the first report addressed to any one paper should be limited to (say) one hour, or 1,200 words.
- 2nd. That the Press should have the exclusive and simultaneous use of both wires for the transmission of the first batch of reports; that, those completed, the second series of reports to be transmitted without limitation in the order of their reception, it being, however, understood that one of the wires is to be available, if required, for local and private messages.

In making these suggestions, we would wish it to be understood that we only advance them as an alternative, should any change be found requisite after the wires are in working order.

We may add that the second wire in South Australia will be completed in a few weeks. The South Australian section of the direct Sydney line has been completed some time; and we are informed by the Acting Superintendent of Telegraphs in Sydney, that the New South Wales line is expected to be finished in about three or four months.

We have, &c.,
CHARLES TODD.

ELECTRIC TELEGRAPHS.

(REPORT FROM SUPERINTENDENT.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

REPORT of the Superintendent of Electric Telegraphs on the progress and general condition of Electric Telegraphs in New South Wales, for the Years 1865 and 1866.

Office of the Superintendent of Electric Telegraphs,
Sydney, 26 July, 1866.

SIR,

The usual annual Report on the progress and condition of the Electric Telegraph Department having been delayed through my absence from the Colony on leave, has now been prepared for the year 1865, including half of the year ending 30th June, 1866.

EXTENSIONS COMPLETED.

The extension from Murrurundi to Mudgee, alluded to in my last annual Report for 1864 as in progress, was completed in April, 1865; the total cost of construction being £5,116 3s. 6d. On this line a station was opened at Cassilis on the 26th April, 1865, and another at Merriwa, on the 6th October, 1865.

This extension, as anticipated, has proved a valuable addition to the existing line to the north, and has, on several occasions, been the only channel of communication for the rapidly increasing business with the Colony of Queensland and the northern stations in this Colony, when, from floods and other causes, the direct line between Sydney and Murrurundi has been rendered unavailable.

The line from Queanbeyan to Cooma, on the guarantee principle, was completed in September last, and a station opened at the latter place on the 9th October, 1865; the total cost of construction being £2,839 1s. 9d., and the distance sixty-four miles. A station was also opened at Jerelderie, on the Deniliquin Line, on the 4th May, 1866, the inhabitants having given the usual guarantee.

LINES IN PROGRESS.

The extension between Deniliquin and South Australia has progressed very slowly, in consequence of the drought, and difficulties the contractor has experienced in obtaining carriage for the necessary material, but the recent rise in the Murray in that district, has enabled him to get the wire, insulators, &c., on the ground. At present there are seventy-five miles of line erected, with sixty-five miles of poles ready to receive the wire, and the whole will probably be completed in the course of a few months. That portion of it completed between Deniliquin and Moulamein has been inspected, and a station was opened at the latter place on the 9th May, 1866.

PROPOSED EXTENSIONS.

A guarantee bond has been entered into by the inhabitants of Burrowa, for the extension of the line to that place, and a tender has been accepted for the completion of the line in three months; the distance is estimated at thirty-six miles, and the cost per mile, as per tender, is £35.

The inhabitants of Bombala have also agreed to enter into a bond for carrying the Telegraph from Cooma to Bombala, and as soon as the necessary arrangements are completed the work will be proceeded with.

A station will also be shortly opened at Adelong, guaranteed by the inhabitants.

In considering the advisability for a line from Tamworth to Fort Bourke, and its continuation down the Darling River to Wentworth, and, in fact, all the future extensions, I beg to direct attention to table A, shewing the comparative business for the years 1864 and 1865; where it will be observed that, whilst there was a falling off of 20 per cent. on the aggregate telegraphic business from the stations on the Gold Fields, the stations in the Pastoral Districts exhibited a considerable increase, which is very encouraging for extending the lines on the guarantee principle to the Pastoral Districts, such as Fort Bourke. The value of such means of communication cannot be over-estimated, and the whole cost of the entire line would be more than covered by the saving of valuable property during a single flood, as information would be rapidly conveyed to the several stations down the river, when the waters are dangerously high on the tributaries of the Darling, communicated with by the existing lines.

The following table will shew the financial state of the guarantee lines during the past year:—

Wellington to Dubbo—
Revenue exceeded working expenses by	£113	14 2
Deniliquin to Hay—
Revenue exceeded working expenses by	14	11 4
Braidwood to Queanbeyan—				£128	5 6
Working expenses in excess of revenue	...	£24	9 10
Queanbeyan to Cooma—
Working expenses in excess of revenue	...	3	18 10
				28	8 8
				Profit	£99 16 10

It may therefore be considered that the guaranteed lines are in a very satisfactory financial condition.

CONDITION OF LINES.

The lines as a whole worked very satisfactorily throughout the year, with a few exceptions on the Western Line, Grafton and the Kiandra Branches; the former caused by clearing for the construction of the Railway over the Blue Mountains, whereby the Telegraph Line received considerable damage from falling trees, and the two latter from floods, snow-storms, and other unavoidable accidents.

Many of the posts on the Kiandra Branch between Tumut and Kiandra are in a very unsatisfactory state, the line requiring a thorough repair, and the greater portion re-poling. A section of this line, it will be remembered, was erected during the first rush to the Kiandra Gold Fields, under the direction of the Chief Commissioner for the Southern Gold Fields, for the purpose of guide-poles through the deep snow-drifts in that locality.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

The receipts exhibit a satisfactory increase over the previous year to the amount of £1,683 17s. 1d., and an increase of 8,285 messages, proving that the business of the department is still steadily progressing, and that the public appreciation of the facilities afforded by telegraphic communication is annually more apparent.

Table

Table B gives a comparative statement of the business for the years 1864 and 1865, shewing the increase on the number of messages, and the cash receipts.

Table C contains progressive details of the Receipts and Expenditure up to the 31st of December, 1865, which may be considered in every respect satisfactory.

Table D is a comparative statement of all telegraphic business between this and the other Colonies during the years 1864 and 1865, exhibiting a progressive increase of intercolonial business.

Table E is a statement of Revenue and Expenditure for the half-year ending the 30th June, 1866, shewing a profit at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum; although it would not be safe to calculate on an equally favourable percentage for the ensuing half-year, there being some additional items of expenditure to be charged against Revenue for that period.

			Leave

Leave of absence having been granted by the Government, to enable me to proceed to Europe and America, I left this Colony by the Overland Mail, on the 22nd November 1865.

At Point de Galle I fortunately met Mr. Cappel, the Superintendent of Telegraphs in the Island of Ceylon, and proposed to him an arrangement by which messages from these Colonies for India or Europe, sent on by the mails from Melbourne or Adelaide, could be forwarded from Galle without prepayment, which at that time was insisted on; by which arrangement a considerable increase of telegraphic business between the Australian Colonies and other parts of the Globe would be insured. Mr. Cappel promised to submit my recommendation to his Government, and I have since received a communication stating that stamps are in course of preparation, and when issued will be procurable in the Colonies, by which stamped telegrams can be forwarded from Ceylon or any station in India, for onward transmission to Europe. He has also provided me with scales of charges for India and the principal cities in Europe.

Our own interest in the subject renders it necessary to state that I found the telegraphs in Ceylon in a very unsatisfactory condition; in fact, so badly are the lines constructed and so miserably insulated, that in wet weather it is with the greatest difficulty they can be worked. In my opinion, lines so wretchedly constructed are worse than no telegraph at all, as they are generally useless when most required.

I regret to say that the entire East Indian system is also far from efficient, and requires reorganization. This I believe the Government of India is fully alive to, and is about to reconstruct at once some of their most important lines. I also met, when in London, Colonel Robinson, R.E., the Director General of Telegraphs for India, who was then in England for the purpose of this reconstruction.

When in Egypt, I found that a line had just then been completed from Diarbekir (on the Main Indo-European Line), through Damascus and Jerusalem, to Cairo and Alexandria, which serves as a duplicate line, visâ the Malta and Alexandria cable, to England.

In England I visited the works of the Telegraph Construction Company at East Greenwich, and carefully inspected the machinery, electrical apparatus, and other contrivances for the manufacture and testing of the Atlantic Telegraph Cable, which was then in process of construction, at the rate of 140 to 150 miles weekly. I also visited the "Great Eastern," lying at Sheerness with the remainder of the 1865-cable on board, then refitting and preparing to receive the new cable, which was, at the time I left, nearly completed.

The paying-out and picking-up apparatus has been very much improved, and every step in the manufacture of the cable has been carried on with such care and skill that another failure can scarcely be contemplated. The electrical tests of the new cable prove the care with which it has been constructed, and when complete no cable will have been more perfectly turned out.

Descriptions of the manufacture of the cable and the machinery employed have so often appeared in the public prints, that I consider it unnecessary to repeat them here.

Mr. W. C. Siemens very courteously accompanied me over the extensive works of Messrs. Siemens Brothers, at Charlton, near Woolwich, where everything in the shape of telegraphic material, instruments, and fittings, is constructed, from the heaviest cable to the most delicate galvanometer, and where two short submarine cables were under construction; also, several instruments, &c., for the Queensland Government.

I have ordered from Messrs. Siemens Brothers a very complete apparatus for testing faults in overground lines, by electrical resistance, in accordance with the British Association standard of resistance. I have also purchased from Mr. Elliott, of St. Martin's Lane, one of Professor Thompson's reflecting galvanometers, which will be of great service for delicate tests. These articles, together with some scientific books, to form the nucleus of an Electrical Library for the use of the Department, are being forwarded by the Agent for the Colony, Captain Mayne.

On

On the 17th February I left Liverpool for the United States of America, via Halifax and Boston. When in New York I had an interview with Professor Morse, the inventor of the first American telegraph instruments, which, after receiving numerous improvements, are now almost universally used.

The American lines are now worked by Sounders' instead of the Morse registers with the tapes. I do not altogether approve of this system, as no record is left in the office, and there is no chance of errors being detected, so that the carelessness of the transmitter or receiver may be correctly traced.

The printing telegraph of Mr. R. E. House, and the combination instrument of Mr. G. M. Phelps, by which the messages are written in plain Roman letters, were at work side by side in the chief office of the American Telegraph Company in New York, the combination in circuit with Boston, and the House with Washington. Both instruments appeared to work satisfactorily, and at a higher speed than the Morse; but the manual labour required to work these machines (a man being required to work a treadle or turn a hand-wheel), and their complicated nature, are not compensated by the time saved in the transmission of the despatches, although the telegrams do not require copying, the tape being cut off and delivered in the state it is received.

Messrs. Chester Brothers' establishment for the manufacture of telegraph material was well worth a visit, although I cannot say I saw many improvements there upon the instruments supplied by Messrs. Siemens Brothers of London and Berlin. I, however, purchased fifty cells of a new battery, said to work very cheaply with very little attention, and to produce a considerable increase in intensity over the batteries now in use.

I was much pleased with the telegraphic system in New York for working the fire alarms, which is very perfect and useful. The city is divided into districts, each district being numbered, and the apparatus is worked thus:—If a fire is discovered in either of the districts, a rush is made to the nearest signal box. On opening the door of the signal box, there will be found a crank in connection with two signal wires which extend to the central office, which being turned, communicates to that office the number of the fire district and the fire station.

The number of the fire district and station having been communicated to the head office, the alarm is now given to the public. From the head office extend a number of wires used only for the fire alarm bells throughout the city, which are connected with striking machinery liberated by the telegraph; the several alarm circuits are immediately thrown into simultaneous action, and the whole of the alarm bells strike the number of the district where the fire has originated. The operator at the central office now taps on a little transmitting key the number of the station. While the pointer rests upon the district number, the little bell in each signal box strikes the number of the nearest station.

The fireman listens to the public alarms, and finds from them that the fire is in (say) District 6; he then runs to the nearest signal box, and, by listening a moment, he finds also the station number from the sounding of the little bell; he now knows that the fire is in District 6, and (say) Station 8, and proceeds with his engine in that direction.

I think this system might very advantageously be adopted in Sydney.

The telegraphs in Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, I also took a passing look at, but my time beginning to get short, I could not extend my visit further south, although I was most anxious to do so.

On my return to England, I proceeded to Manchester, and was very kindly shewn over the works of Messrs. Johnson and Nephew, the largest manufacturers of telegraph wire in Europe. The whole of the processes were explained to me by Mr. Johnson, also the methods of testing the several lengths before they are sent out. The process of making the wire from fagots of iron in one length without welds is a very interesting one.

The very best iron is first puddled and rolled into bars, then cut into lengths and made up into fagots, which are then welded together and again run out into a long bar, which is placed in one of Siemens' gas furnaces, and, when sufficiently heated, run out under a series of rollers with reciprocating motion, being thus reduced from a thick bar to thin wire the size of No. 4 in one thrust, which takes less time than it has to write this description.

The

The galvanizing and testing are also very carefully performed, the former by a patent process of their own, and with entirely new fluxes.

In London I accompanied Mr. Latimer Clark, the Telegraphic Engineer, through the Offices of the Electric and International Telegraphic Company, and those of the British and Irish Magnetic Company. The former Company has, for some years, employed young girls on their lines; and, in the Chief Office, in Lothbury, no less than 130 young ladies were employed in one gallery. The Morse system was employed on all the long lines, the needle instruments for metropolitan and railway circuits. The pneumatic tubes for the conveyance of despatches from some of the busy branch offices are admirably arranged, and work with the greatest satisfaction.

In the board room I saw the whole of the instruments which have, from time to time, been patented by the Company, forming a most interesting group, from the five needle instrument which caught the Quaker Tawell, to those of the present date; also, the instrument of the Abbe Caselli, which is now in use for the transmission of portraits, or the handwriting of the sender, by telegraph between Paris and Lyons.

The Magnetic Company have abandoned the permanent magnets for working their lines, and now use batteries with bell sounders, still using two wires to each circuit. The bells have each a different note, by which means the number of signals or beats for each letter of the alphabet is very much reduced. This system was arranged by Sir Charles Bright, and has been found to answer very well, but there is still the same objection with all sight and sound instruments—there being no record.

The whole of the Metropolitan Railway traffic is now worked by a most complete telegraphic system on the block principle, so that no two trains are permitted to travel on the same line of rails, between any two points where the telegraph is placed, at the same time, which renders it impossible for accidents to happen by one train over-running another, as was often the case before this system was adopted.

Bonelli's telegraph between Liverpool and Manchester has proved unsuccessful. In practice the work was not so expeditiously or cheaply performed as was at first contemplated, and the charge of 6d. per message was found insufficient. There is no doubt that telegrams can be conveyed on the lines from point to point at a mere nominal cost, if there is a continuous flow of business; but all the promoters of cheap telegraphs have overlooked the fact that there is much more involved than the cost of transmission, and that in most cases the cost of delivery and the clerical work for the registry of each despatch, &c., are more than double that of conveyance. And this has been more than proved by the failures of some cheap lines, and the non-payment of dividends by others; and, for the same reason, even the old established lines could never have held their ground, had it not been for their large Continental traffic. This state of affairs has now been altered by an increased tariff of charges, and even the London District Telegraph Company have found it necessary to increase their charge from 6d. to 1s. per message.

With a view to the extension of the Indian Telegraphs to Australia, I made every inquiry as to what progress had been made since Mr. F. Gisborne's visit to the Australian Colonies for that purpose in 1860, and found that a Company had been formed in London to carry a submarine line from Rangoon, via the Straits of Malacca, to Singapore; but through last year's failure of the Atlantic cable, the project was held in abeyance for the present. I also found that the Dutch Government were constructing a line through Sumatra to connect Singapore with Batavia, but that they were not willing at present to extend a submarine line eastward from the east end of Java to Timor. They had no objection, however, to grant a concession to the several Australian Governments interested to construct and work such line of communication. It was with some difficulty that I ascertained these facts, as, at the time I was in London, a change of Ministry at the Hague had thrown such matters into some little confusion.

I was requested, before leaving for the Colony, to give evidence before a Committee of the House of Commons then sitting on East Indian communications, which was afterwards arranged to include Australia; but although I remained a mail later than I intended, my viva voce evidence was not taken, as the witnesses had not all been examined on the East Indian portion; but in consideration of my being unable to delay my departure for a longer period, the Committee consented to take my written evidence on the Australian section of the Anglo-Australian Telegraph.

My

My tour through Germany, Austria, and Switzerland, after ten years' absence supplied me with several improvements in the construction and working of their telegraphs. In Berlin I was much pleased with the perfect arrangement of the Central Office, where not less than 120 direct acting Morse instruments, on a new principle without relays, were in circuit, and all working in a most satisfactory manner. These instruments were all ink printers, similar to those in the Sydney Office, but the relays were dispensed with. A quick printing telegraph instrument perfected by Messrs. Siemens and Halske, of Berlin, attracted my particular attention. This instrument was in circuit between Berlin and St. Petersburg, and transmitted in my presence 280 words to Königsberg in $4\frac{1}{2}$ minutes. It is worked by means of a type cut out of zinc, to represent the Morse code. This type is set up in a number of grooved sticks, which are passed by hand under the transmitting part of the instrument, the messages being received in the Morse alphabet at the distant station.

I strongly recommended this instrument to Mr. Todd, the Superintendent of Telegraphs in South Australia, for working through the long reports for the Press on the arrival of the European mails. That gentleman has promised to procure two on trial. I further recommend that two or three be purchased for this department. The saving of time would be more than one half, as the Adelaide Government could send an operator to King George's Sound in the branch steamer, who could set up the whole of the telegrams in type ready for transmission on his arrival in Adelaide.

Messrs. Siemens and Halske's works in Berlin were next visited, and I am not aware of a larger or better arranged manufactory. They had about 500 men employed in their workshops, constructing instruments and telegraph stores for every section of the globe. In Russia this firm has carried out some extensive telegraph contracts, and have still a contract for keeping all the Russian lines in repair. For this alone, I was informed, upwards of 10,000 men were employed.

Messrs. Wasserlein's workshops I also looked through, but they are on a much smaller scale. Although some very useful and cheap instruments are made by that firm, they are not, in my opinion, so economical as the higher priced ones of Siemens and Halske.

The Royal Porcelain Factory in Berlin was well worth a visit. Having been informed that the Director of that establishment had refused to supply any further orders for telegraph insulators, and this being a matter of some importance to these Colonies generally (as of late scarcely any other than the Berlin porcelain, in consequence of the superior quality, have been used), I waited on that gentleman, who told me that, in order to enable them to execute their orders for the rapidly increasing demand for their ordinary wares, he found it necessary to decline for the future to manufacture insulators for any but their own Government. I have no doubt that the heavy loss through so large a percentage of rejected insulators has been in some measure the cause of this determination. This gentleman was exceedingly courteous, and gave me the address of a very large factory at Altwasser, near Breslau, where I was more successful, the proprietor having promised to make samples and state a price for those patterns now in use here.

Professor Hughes, with his beautiful alphabetical instrument, was in Berlin, making arrangements to work his printing telegraph between Paris and that city. He very kindly explained to me the whole working of the machine, and supplied me with copies of the writing sent from Paris to Berlin.

On the Swiss lines, wrought iron poles were generally used. They were built up with two or three round bars of rolled iron, fitted into sockets, each bar being smaller than the one below it. They appeared very simple and inexpensive, and would, I have no doubt, answer very well for telegraphs along the lines of railway in this Colony. I have arranged for one or two samples to be made in England, to be sent out on approval.

There are numerous other matters of technical detail which might be introduced here, but they would extend this paper to undue length. I will therefore close with the remark that, while it is necessary to inspect the improvements made in telegraphy of late years in Europe and America, in order to estimate their importance and applicability to this Colony, I trust it will be seen that the opportunity of making that inspection, tion, for which I am indebted to the kindness of the Government, will not have been without result, and will be found useful in promoting that large interest which this Colony has in a service which is so eminently practical as telegraphy, and which is so intimately associated with every stage of public progress.

WEATHER SIGNALS.

In my Report for the year 1862, and again in my evidence before the Select Committee of the Legislative Council on Light-houses in 1863, I alluded to, and recommended that a system of warning signals should be adopted for the several Australian coast stations connected by telegraph. I also submitted a flag code, by which means the station and direction of a gale can be indicated.

I again most earnestly recommend the immediate adoption of this or some other approved system of cautionary signals, which I am convinced will be the means of saving valuable lives and property during the prevalence of weather such as that lately experienced along our shores.

I further recommend that the lines be extended to the several Light-houses along the coast at as early a date as possible, when the above-mentioned system can be made very complete, and without much additional expense.

E. C. CRACKNELL,
Superintendent of Electric Telegraphs.

IMMIGRATION.

(REPORT FROM AGENT, FOR THE YEAR 1865.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 3 October, 1866.

THE AGENT FOR IMMIGRATION to THE UNDER COLONIAL SECRETARY, submitting Report on Immigration, for the year 1865.

Government Immigration Office,
Sydney, 20 September, 1866.

SIR,

I have the honor to submit, for the information of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, my Report on Immigration to this Colony, for the year 1865. I have delayed forwarding this Report until now, that I might previously receive the usual Annual Report issued by the Emigration Commissioners in England, which contains much valuable information relating to the immigration to this and the neighbouring Colonies. In the Appendices will be found much information in detail, relating to all matters connected with immigration, which, for greater convenience, I will proceed to condense.

2. In the Return marked A will be found the names and tonnage of the vessels chartered, the time of their departure from the United Kingdom, and the date of arrival in the Colony; the number of births and deaths which occurred during the voyage and in quarantine, the expenses incidental to detention in quarantine, and the cost of introduction (irrespective of the expenses incurred by Her Majesty's Emigration Commissioners, such as office charges, purchase of beds, mess utensils, books, work-bags, cost of maintenance of emigrants at the depôts, prior to embarkation, and payments for return passages of Surgeons-Superintendent and Ship Matrons), which amount to an average cost of £7 17s. 5d. per head on the number of immigrants landed.

3. The number of immigrants originally embarked was 2,723, the number of births on the voyage was 15, the number of deaths 21, equivalent to 8-10ths, or rather more than $\frac{3}{4}$ per cent., on the number of people embarked, making the whole number landed alive 2,717 souls.

4. Of the deaths, 6 were adults, 11 were between the ages of 1 and 12 years, and 4 were infants.

5. The average tonnage of the vessels employed was 1,156 tons, and the average length of voyage was 103 $\frac{1}{2}$ days.

6. The total cost incurred, on account of conveyance of the immigrants, and payment of all gratuities to Surgeons and officers of the ships (after deducting, at the rate of £5 4s. 10d. per head on account of the amount of deposits made in the Colony towards their passages) was £7 17s. 5d. for each individual, or, as shewn per table A, a total of £21,385 16s. 8d. to cover the cost of the introduction of 2,717 individuals. If to this average of £7 17s. 5d. per head, be added the average cost of all charges in England, ascertained to amount to £1 12s. 9d. per head, it will appear that the actual cost to the Colony, for the introduction of each immigrant, during the year 1865, only amounted to the sum of £9 10s. 2d.

7. Return B shews the division of the several portions of the United Kingdom in which the immigrants were born to be as under:—

12. The average rates of wages paid to labourers engaged in the principal trades in Sydney, also of wages paid to female servants in Sydney, are given in the Appendix. Appendix I.

13. The information given in Appendix K is of much importance, shewing the relative numbers of individuals arrived from the United Kingdom, either as assisted by the Government Regulations or otherwise at their own expense. It will be seen by this table that only a total of 3,358 individuals (527 children included) have arrived during the year 1865, in the following proportions, namely— Appendix K.

At their own expense.....	641

but during the same period, the departures hence to Great Britain have been 927. Referring to the arrivals from and departures to Great Britain during the past six years, viz., since the date of separation from Queensland, the advisability of promoting immigration to this Colony on a more extended scale than heretofore is worthy of consideration. The excess of arrivals over departures to Great Britain, during the period of six years above mentioned, has been who have arrived in the Colony at their own expense, being only an average of 200 per annum for six years consecutively. Appendix N.

14. But whilst the number of people who came to this Colony under Government Regulations, during the six years ending 1865, only amounted to 18,620, the immigrants to Queensland during the same period numbered 41,030, 33,000 of whom were introduced under the Land Order System. It is probable, therefore, that little or no difficulty would be experienced in directing a constant stream of enterprising emigrants to these shores; and if a Land Order System could be adopted so that the Land Orders should not be transferable, the emigration from the United Kingdom of an industrious and intelligent class of people, who, on their arrival, would be prepared to proceed to the country districts, and settle on the lands available for their occupation, would be much encouraged.

Appendix K.

15. The relative proportions of sexes of all immigrants arrived from Great Britain, during the past twenty-eight years, namely, from 1838 to 1865 inclusive, is thus stated:—

Assisted Immigrants ...	{	Males	53,426
		Females	55,890
Children—nearly equal proportions...			34,279
					143,595
Immigrants arrived at	{	Males	19,819
their own expense ...		Females	9,893
Children—nearly equal proportions...			7,610
					37,322

Shewing that, whilst the immigration under the Government Regulations has been slightly in favour of the female sex, there has been a large disproportion of the male sex (two males to one female) who have arrived in this Colony at their own expense.

Appendix L.

16. The deposits made in accordance with the Government Immigration Regulations have, during the year 1865, only amounted to the sum of £11,308 paid towards cost of passages, and £701 paid for outfit. The average amount deposited on account of the cost of passage, under the Regulations which came into force on May 1st, 1863, has been as follows:—

	£	s.	d.
In 1863 ...	3	16	9 per head.
1864 ...	4	13	11 do.
1865 ...	5	4	10 do.

Appendices M and N.

17. The returns of the arrivals at and departures from this Colony by sea, have been furnished to this department by the Collector of Customs. From those returns, it would appear that the intercolonial passenger traffic had very considerably increased during the year 1865, the arrivals "from New Zealand and the neighbouring Colonies," having been in excess of the departures by 6,420 individuals; whereas, during each of the previous four years, the departures to New Zealand and to the neighbouring Colonies, had exceeded the arrivals from thence—amounting to an aggregate of 5,647 individuals.

Appendices O and P.

18. With respect to the Chinese, there continues to be an excess of departures over arrivals:—

excess of departures over arrivals, from that date to 31st December, 1865.

19. From a Report recently issued by Her Majesty's Emigration Commissioners, it appears that 209,801 emigrants left the United Kingdom during the year 1865. Of these, there went to—

TOTAL	61,345	12,870	100,676	28,619	6,291	209,801

The emigration to the Australian Colonies and New Zealand amounted, in 1865 (as will be seen on reference to the above table), to 37,283, distributed as follows:—

To New South Wales...	2,623
„ Queensland	12,551
„ Victoria	9,713
„ South Australia	5,145
„ Western Australia	174
„ Tasmania	40
„ New Zealand	7,037
Total	37,283

20. This is a decrease, as compared with 1864, of 3,659; and, as compared with 1863, of 15,771. The principal decrease is in the emigration to Victoria.

21. The total emigration from the United Kingdom, during the last fifty-one years, has amounted to 5,901,510. The emigration, during the ten years ending 1865, has averaged annually 160,774.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

GEORGE F. WISE,

Agent for Immigration.

IMMIGRATION.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 19th May, 1863.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to establish the following Regulations for Assisted Immigration, in lieu of those issued on 21st June, 1861.

1. Any person who may be desirous of introducing from the United Kingdom, Immigrants of the labouring classes, will be permitted to do so on making the following deposit, and furnishing the names and all particulars of the persons to be introduced, at the time of making such deposit, viz. :—

Sex.	AGE.
	Under 12 years.	12 and under 40 years.	40 and under 50 years.	All above 50 years.
Male	£ 4	£ 7	£ 9	£ 12
Female.. .. .	3	4	7	12

2. In like manner, any person may introduce from the United Kingdom, Immigrants of the labouring classes, without naming them in the Colony, on payment of the following rates :—

Sex.	AGE.
	Under 12 years.	12 and under 40 years.	40 and under 50 years.	All above 50 years.
Male	£ 4	£ 11	£ 13	£ 15
Female.. .. .	3	4	7	12

3. It must be distinctly understood that the Government will only guarantee passages, for labourers selected under the last preceding clause, to the extent of money allotted to this purpose, which, in the year 1863, will be £30,000.

4. The deposits, in either case, must be made, if in Sydney, at the Government Immigration Office, between the hours of 10 a.m. and half past 2 p.m.; and if in the Country Districts, with the Clerks of Petty Sessions, during the usual office hours. Any sums which depositors desire to add, for the purpose of providing the outfit required by the Emigration Commissioners in London, will be received at the same time, and transmitted to the Commissioners. The estimated cost of such outfit for an adult is about £3.

5. The Immigrants must be brought out in ships chartered by Her Majesty's Emigration Commissioners in London; and the depositor, in the first class of cases, will be required to afford all such information respecting the Immigrants he proposes to introduce, as may be necessary to enable the Agent for Immigration, or Clerk of Petty Sessions, to comply with his application and the requirements of these Regulations.

6. The persons eligible under these Regulations are—mechanics of every description, domestic servants, and all persons of the labouring class. They must be of sound mental and bodily health, and of good moral character.

7. No advantage will be allowed, in respect of any person brought out as a cabin or intermediate passenger.

8. Depositors must undertake to provide for the Immigrants they introduce, after the expiration of ten days from the time of their arrival, or pay to the Government for their subsistence, at the rate of 1s. per day for each adult, or half that amount for each child under the age of 12 years, so long as they may be maintained at the public expense after the expiration of that period.

9. In the event of any person nominated in the Colony for a passage declining to emigrate, or in case the amount deposited shall exceed that required for the number of Immigrants actually introduced, the amount deposited, or the excess, as the case may be, will be returned to the depositor, upon receipt in the Colony of the Emigration Commissioners' report recommending its repayment; but the deposit made for the introduction of labourers under clause 2, will not, under any circumstances, be returned.

10. The Clerks of Petty Sessions, on receipt of any deposit under these Regulations, will immediately remit the amount to the Agent for Immigration at Sydney, with a statement of the number and description of Immigrants whom the depositor wishes to introduce. The Agent for Immigration will thereupon prepare and forward to the Clerk of Petty Sessions, for delivery to the depositor, a Passage Certificate. Similar Certificates will be issued to depositors in Sydney, on payment of their deposits to the Agent for Immigration.

11. The Passage Certificate must be forwarded by the depositor to his friends or agents in the United Kingdom, and it must in every case be produced, within twelve months from the date of it, to Her Majesty's Emigration Commissioners in London, who will provide passages to the Colony for the Immigrants proposed to be introduced.

12. Forms of application, as well as all other information for the guidance of depositors, can be obtained from the several Clerks of Petty Sessions in the Country Districts, or in Sydney, at the Office of the Agent for Immigration.

13. These Regulations will take effect on and after the 1st June next.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VACCINATION.

(REPORT FROM MEDICAL ADVISER TO THE GOVERNMENT, FOR THE YEAR 1865.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

MEDICAL ADVISER TO THE GOVERNMENT to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Parramatta, 8 May, 1866.

SIR,

In accordance with the directions I have received from your office, I do myself the honor to furnish a Report of the progress of Vaccination during the year 1865, together with a general tabulated return of all the children vaccinated during the year, shewing the age and sex of each, compiled from the quarterly returns sent in to me by the official vaccinators.

2. The number reported for the year is 8,820, of which 8,367 cases were successful; of these were vaccinated in Sydney, under 1 year of age, 425 males, 383 females; over 1 year and under 5 years, 359 males, 332 females; and from 5 to 10 years of age inclusive, 113 males, 86 females—in all 1,698 cases. In the Country Districts, in which Balmain is by mistake included, the number under 1 year reported is 856 males, 764 females; over 1 year and under 5, 1,593 males and 1,652 females; and from 5 to 10 years inclusive, 1,161 males, 1,096 females—in all 7,122.

3. A comparison with the two previous years will shew a considerable falling off in the numbers reported. In 1863, the great total of 12,970 was reported as successfully vaccinated; in 1864 the number of successful cases was 10,696. The report for 1865 is little more than two-thirds of the number in 1863.

4. The year 1863 was a period of some alarm, small-pox being reported to have appeared in Melbourne and in New Zealand, which partly explains the large number of vaccinations; but 1864 was as free from alarm as 1865, yet the cases reported were much more numerous. The cause is, I believe, to be found in the reduction of the vaccination fee from 3s. 6d. to 2s. 6d., which took place in the middle of last year, and which was known to be about to be made some time previously. It is I think much to be regretted that this alteration was made, and I would strongly recommend a return to the larger fee, and even add some additional inducement.

5. For the sums paid for vaccination may be looked on as an annual insurance premium against the attack of the most destructive disease known. As this Colony has never seen small pox, it is perhaps natural that many should lightly regard the probability of such an epidemic, and are willing to "chance it," and say "no fear"; but those who have seen, or have read and reflected, can never treat otherwise than very seriously the apprehension of a disease which attacks all the unprotected coming within its influence, which destroys one-third of those attacked, and which leaves fearful marks of its power even on those who escape with life.

6. There are sixty official vaccinators on the list, of whom forty have sent in returns, which have been tabulated as above-mentioned.

7. I continue to distribute Husband's tubes amongst the vaccinators, who in general speak very highly of their value.

8. For sometime I have received a periodie supply of English lymph, which I have distributed, sending about half to the Vaccine Institution in Macquarie-street. The first received was from Mr. Ceely, of Aylesbury, which came out in excellent preservation in tubes carefully sealed. The latter parcels are from Mr. Badcock, of Brighton, and though not equal to what Mr. Ceely sent, are yet very good; they are sent in pursuance of an arrangement entered into by the Colonial Agent in England.

I have, &c.,
R. GREENUP,
Medical Adviser to the Government.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

REGISTRATION OF MARRIAGES, BIRTHS, AND DEATHS.
(TENTH ANNUAL REPORT.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

THE REGISTRAR GENERAL to THE HONORABLE THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, transmitting
*Abstracts of Marriages, Births, and Deaths, for the Year 1865, with prefatory Report.*Registrar General's Office, Sydney, 20 July, 1866.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to forward herewith, for presentation to Parliament, the Abstracts of Marriages, Births, and Deaths registered in New South Wales, during the year 1865.

The returns of this year complete the first decennial period during which the Act 19 Victoria, No. 34, has been in operation; although, as it only came into force on the 1st March, 1856, the registrations for that year were necessarily confined to a broken period of ten months. To avoid a comparison which might be influenced by this circumstance, it has been considered more judicious to take those years only in which the records are perfect. The returns, therefore, with one or two exceptions, will be found to embrace the years 1857 to 1865; and it is upon the data which they furnish that I purpose offering a few comments on the most prominent features which present themselves.

It is gratifying to be able to state that the objections to the Registration System which marked its introduction in this Colony, chiefly upon the ground of its supposed inquisitorial nature, are no longer advanced; but, on the contrary, an enlightened spirit seems to actuate the colonists to lend their aid in giving effect to a measure which the wisdom of the Legislature enacted for the promotion of their general interests. The provisions of the Act appear now to be more clearly understood and appreciated; in proof of which, applications are of common occurrence, from all parts of the Colony, for the subdivision of existing districts and the establishment of new offices to facilitate registrations, which afford the strongest indication of the unqualified acceptance of the system as one of vast utility, whether regarded as a vehicle for introducing sanitary improvement, as an auxiliary in the cause of medical science, or as an invaluable depository of those links in the chain of evidence necessary to secure the right of legal succession to property.

Nothing can more clearly demonstrate the favour with which the measure is now viewed, than the facts which are presented in the table at head of page 2,—shewing that during the ten years in which the Act has been in force, 264,149 names have been inscribed on the registers, and that upon a comparison of the registrations in the year 1857 with those in 1865, there is an increase in the latter year of 7,882 names, or 34·04 per cent.

The names of 31,035 persons were enrolled on the registers during the year 1865; comprising the entrance of 17,283 children into the community,—the exit of 6,596 men women and children from its ranks by death,—and the marriage of 7,156 persons, by whom 3,578 new families were founded.

Growth of population.

The natural increase of population during the year ended 31st December last, calculated upon the excess of births over deaths, was 10,687, which, added to the preponderance of arrivals over departures (8,112), swells the number to 18,799, and shews the population, upon the date referred to, to have been 411,390.

Census.

It must, however, be borne in mind that these figures, as regards the numerical strength of the Colony, are but an approximation; there being no means by which the population can be accurately determined until the next Census is taken. Following the usual practice of numbering the population quinquennially, the year 1866 should have put us in possession of the exact vital power of the country; the Legislature, however, did not deem it necessary to provide the requisite funds for the collection of the Census. To postpone this undertaking until the termination of the decennial period (1871) will, it is feared, act prejudicially upon the best interests of the Colony, as the want of the information will render any attempt to furnish an authoritative statement of its prospects in the interval futile, or at least unreliable.

Rates of increase.

The annual rate of increase of population was 4.78 per cent., by the adopted method of estimating the aggregate by the excess of births over deaths, and of arrivals over departures seaward.

The marriages exceeded by 98, the births by 402, and the deaths by 151, the marriages, births, and deaths of the preceding year.

In the year 1865, the rate of marriages on population, at 31st December, was 0.87 to every hundred persons living; the rate of births, 4.20; and of deaths, 1.60.

These results contrast favourably with the figures of previous years, and shew that the Colony was healthy; the death-rate, taken in connection with the increase of population, being below the average.

Table B exhibits separately the number of Marriages, Births, and Deaths registered in each quarter of the year, in Sydney, the Suburbs, and the Country Districts.

MARRIAGES.

The number of marriages, celebrated during the year 1865 was 3,578, being 98 in excess of those registered in 1864, and 321 above the average of the preceding five years. Comparison with previous years.

Of these marriages, there were performed—

Arranged according to denominations, and compared with the returns of the year 1864, the following figures are brought out:— Number and percentage of marriages by each denomination.

There were six double marriages during the year 1865:—Three Church of England and Roman Catholic, one Presbyterian and one Baptist with Roman Catholic, and one by Roman Catholic and District Registrar.

The number of marriages by each Church, since 1st March, 1856, is shewn in the following table, from which it will be gathered that the Church of England has fallen off in the number of her marriages, while, with two inappreciable exceptions, other denominations have largely increased theirs. The marriages before District Registrars, by civil contract, have gradually increased, and will probably continue to do so. This class of marriages is almost wholly confined to the country districts; and it may therefore, in some degree, be assumed that the convenience of parties marrying is more considered than any inclination to dispense with the religious ceremony. In most instances, the parties availing themselves of this form of marriage reside in distant and thinly populated parts of the country, where the visits of clergymen are not of frequent occurrence; hence those desiring to effect matrimonial arrangements naturally look to the District Registrars, who are at all times accessible for the purpose.

4 REGISTRATION OF MARRIAGES, BIRTHS, AND DEATHS.

Social condition
marrying.

The following table has been prepared with the object of illustrating the social condition of persons marrying during the past year. Did the Marriage Act admit of it, the interest which attaches to such a statement might be enhanced by defining the ages at which marriages take place—information which might be found to have its useful bearings on society.

By the table alluded to, we learn that in the city of Sydney, of 2,194 persons who entered the matrimonial state, 237 were under 21 years of age, consent in such cases being necessary; that 889 bachelors were united to spinsters, 92 bachelors to widows, 80 widowers married spinsters, and 36 widowers were allied to widows. As regards the educational status of the parties to these marriages, 142 males and 262 females signed the marriage register with their marks; in 76 cases both affixed their marks; and in each of 252 instances, one only of the parties attached this primitive symbol.

In the suburbs, out of 458 who were married, 70 only were under age; 189 spinsters married bachelors, 6 bachelors were united to widows, 17 marriages between widowers and spinsters were celebrated, and the same number between widowers and widows; 15 males and 30 females signed the registers with marks; in 4 cases only both attached the mark-signature, and in 37 one only.

In the country districts there were 4,504 persons married, of which number 1,848 bachelors were united to spinsters, 213 bachelors to widows, 96 widowers to spinsters, and 95 widowers to widows. 919 of these persons married were minors; 460 males and 670 females exhibited a deficiency in the elementary art of writing; in 230 instances both parties were unable to write, while in 670 but one in each case attached a mark-signature.

Their education
upon mark test.

Comparing the education of the classes marrying in each of the three great divisions of the Colony with the results of 1864, we find that, based upon the mark test, the city of Sydney has improved from 19.50 to 18.45 per cent.; that is to say, only 18.45 per cent. of those marrying in 1865 affixed their marks, to 19.50 per cent. in the previous year; in the suburbs, from 11.08 to 9.82 per cent.; and in the country districts, from 25.33 to 25.09 per cent. It appears by this calculation, therefore, that although it is barely an indication of improvement, still, it is satisfactory to learn that there has been no retrogression; and we may reasonably hope that as the educational systems now in operation are extended, so will each class gradually emerge from the darkness of illiteracy which hangs at present over a large proportion of the population.

The

REGISTRATION OF MARRIAGES, BIRTHS, AND DEATHS.

The table marked E, at foot, gives the number of marriages for each quarter, during the last nine years, distinguishing those celebrated in Sydney, the Suburbs, and Country Districts.

BIRTHS.

The births in 1865 numbered 17,283, against 16,881 in 1864, the increase being 402 only; the birth-rate was, however, 4·20 per cent. on the estimated population at the end of the year, and within a fraction of the average rate for the previous five years (4·26).

The births of each sex, in the three great divisions of the Colony, with the percentage they bore to the aggregate number of births, were as follows:—

	Males.	Females.	Total.

Table F, at foot, shews the quarters' registrations of births, commencing with the year 1857.

The calculations in this table are based on the estimated population at the middle of each year. If we take the ratio of increase per 1,000 living in 1857, and compare it with that of 1865, we shall find that, in the Sydney District, a loss or falling off of 1·76 per 1,000 will be the result; in the Suburbs the difference will be 9·46; but in the Country Districts it is the converse, a gain or increase in the births registered of 1·51 per 1,000 is exhibited. Taking, however, the Colony in the aggregate, on a comparison of the two periods, there is an actual falling off in the rate of increase by births of 0·14 per 1,000 living; this, however, it should be observed, is no criterion of the progress of registration, for while this has largely increased, the ratio of the increment on population has decreased to the extent described.

REGISTRATION OF MARRIAGES, BIRTHS, AND DEATHS.

The number of illegitimate children born during the year 1865, in proportion to those born in wedlock, is shewn in the following table, and has risen from 23·35 per 1,000 in 1857, to 35·70 per 1,000 in 1865. In England it is said to be about 65 per 1,000, in Scotland 95, in France 71, in Austria 113, and in Bavaria 206; so that, as a Colony, we yet stand high in the moral scale, although the gradual descent cannot fail to be perceptible.

The proportion of illegimitates born in the city of Sydney to those in wedlock was, however, not so favourable; this class of births being 54·17 per 1,000; in the Suburbs, 20·38 per 1,000; and in the Country Districts, 34·50 per 1,000. In the city of London but 40·20 births are registered per 1,000 as illegitimate in proportion to the offspring of married women; so that the birth-rate of these unfortunates in Sydney appears actually higher by 13·97 per 1,000 than in the English metropolis. But while this gloomy picture is presented to us upon recorded facts and figures, it may possibly be toned down by the knowledge that, in some cases, the issue of criminal intercourse in the Suburbs, and in the Country Districts adjacent to Sydney, is charged to this city, in consequence of the births taking place in the Benevolent Asylum, and being registered at the central office; and as regards the year 1857, and early years of registration, by the timidity or unwillingness of the parents to place such births on record.

A reference to Appendix B of this Report will afford information as to the proportion of each class of Births in the several Districts of the Colony.

There were three instances of triplets at a birth, and 164 of twins.

* One still-born in each year, not registered.

† Two still-born, not registered.

After a careful examination of the Birth Return (marked F), I am compelled to believe, judging from the comparatively small annual increase, that many births occur, especially in Sydney, which are not registered. This may, I conceive, be almost wholly remedied by further facilities for registration being afforded to the public within the boundaries of Sydney, by the subdivision of the city into four districts, and the appointment of a Registrar to each, to be remunerated by fees on entries, upon the same scale scale as other district officers of this department. This arrangement would tend greatly to the convenience of the citizens, and aid in perfecting the system. It would, however, involve an additional expenditure, probably to the extent of £800 per annum; but it would relieve the clerks of the central establishment of many of the duties which more properly devolve upon a District Registrar, and render the time and services of these gentlemen available for work of more profit and advantage to the public.

My predecessor on several occasions pointed out the desirableness of making such an alteration as that referred to, and upon various grounds urged its adoption; giving it as his opinion that it would ensure the most perfect accuracy in the registration system; in which I entirely concur. To effect this change, the action of the Legislature would perhaps be necessary.

Amendments suggested in Act 19 Vic., No. 34.

I find that in 1860 a Bill was prepared with official sanction to attain the object in view, but since then no further steps have been taken in the matter. I trust, however, that the approaching Session of the Assembly may not close without this and other necessary amendments in the Act 19 Vic., No. 34, being introduced, to remove the ambiguity which at present exists in many of its clauses, defeating very frequently the intention of the Legislature, and placing the officer charged with carrying out the provisions of the Act in a position of difficulty, as well as rendering his action nugatory.

And in Marriage Law, 19 Vic., No. 30.

I would also take this opportunity of again alluding to the very unsatisfactory state of the Marriage Law of this Colony (19 Vic., No. 30), as regards, especially, the notice of intended marriage, and the form of certificate to be issued by the officiating Minister or Registrar. The thirteenth paragraph of the late Registrar General's Report of the 8th June, 1860, however, so clearly points out what alterations are required in the Act, that I deem it unnecessary to do more than again bring the subject under the notice of the Government.

DEATHS.

Mortality as compared with previous year.

The number of deaths registered during the year 1865 was 6,596, viz., 3,944 males, and 2,652 females—an increase of 151 upon the deaths (6,445) of the previous year.

Ratio to population.

The ratio of mortality in the Colony, in proportion to the estimated population on the 31st December, 1865, was 1·60 per cent. The average death-rate of the preceding five years was 1·74, or 0·14 per cent. in favour of the past year. With the exception of the year 1861, when the deaths were but 1·51 per cent., the mortality was below any year since the present system of registration came into operation.

Relative mortality of city, suburbs, and country.

The deaths in each of the three divisions, with the rate per cent. on the total deaths of the year, were as follows:—

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Sydney	772	650	1,422	=	21·56 per cent.
Suburbs	430	359	789	=	11·96 „
Country	2,742	1,643	4,385	=	66·48 „
Total ...	3,944	2,652	6,596	=	100·00

The following results are brought out, upon a comparison with the returns for 1864:—

	1864.	1865.	Increase.	Decrease.
Sydney	1,729	1,422	307
Suburbs	821	789	32
Country	3,895	4,385	490
Total	6,445	6,596	490	339

From

REGISTRATION OF MARRIAGES, BIRTHS, AND DEATHS.

From this it appears that in Sydney and Suburbs there was a decrease of 339 in the number of deaths during the year 1865; but in the Country Districts an increase of 490, shewing therefore an excess of 151, or 2·34 per cent. above the deaths registered in the preceding year. The population had, however, grown at the rate of 4·78 per cent.

In taking the deaths into consideration, it must not be forgotten, in any comparison which may be made, that the rate of mortality in the city is augmented by the deaths which occur in the Infirmary, fed to some extent from the Suburbs and Country, and by the deaths of the aged and feeble inmates, as well as infants, in other public institutions of Sydney.

At foot will be found a table, marked I, exhibiting the number of Deaths registered quarterly in the City, Suburbs, and Country, from the year 1857 to 1865.

The following statement has been prepared in continuation of that published in the last Annual Report, shewing the proportions which the Deaths in each Ward of the City

Art of preventing disease not sufficiently cultivated.

From these returns we shall be enabled to judge of the relative healthiness of the several localities, and, from the minute calculations they contain, to form a tolerably correct estimate of the necessity of directing attention to their sanitary improvement. It is by collecting and arranging such materials, and the facts disclosed on their analysis, that we shall arrive at a perfect knowledge of the causes of disease existing in a particular locality, and have it in our power to apply a remedy for their removal. At present it would appear that the art of preventing the introduction of disease is not sufficiently cultivated in the Colony; it is a study for municipal bodies, and the most onerous of their duties.

The classification of the causes of death upon Dr. Farr's system, which was ^{Classification of} introduced into this Colony with the Report on the Vital Statistics for the year 1863, ^{Diseases.} continues to be carefully observed. I am therefore enabled to present the results of the past three years in the following statement, distinguishing the rate of mortality, under each class and order. This uniformity of arrangement cannot fail to be appreciated by those whose duties lead them to investigate questions which bear so immediately upon human interests.

Doubtful influence of temperature, &c., upon health.

For the purpose of shewing the average mortality under certain degrees of temperature during the past seven years, the following table has been compiled, giving the deaths in the city of Sydney, the mean temperature in the shade, mean height of barometer, and mean rain-fall, during each month of the years 1859 to 1865 inclusive, and the amount of ozone in the atmosphere for each month of the years 1863 to 1865; the meteorological data being obtained from returns furnished from the Sydney Observatory during the periods indicated.

Inquiries into this important subject have been frequently made in England by men eminent in science, with the view of ascertaining how far atmospheric changes influence the rate of mortality, but nothing sufficiently definite has resulted from their labours to form a basis of reasoning. It has been found, from repeated observations in London, that the "seasons, in respect of sickness and mortality, differ year by year, and do not admit of being reduced to any precise rule. It may, however, be stated, generally, that the amount of sickness tends to vary directly, and the amount of mortality inversely, as the temperature. The humidity of the air does not appear to have had " much “ much effect on disease ; and if it produced any, it was on the diseases of the respiratory organs, which were found to be in excess during the months in which the moisture in the air was the greatest.” So far as the investigation was carried, it was found that the causes of sickness were twofold, consisting of atmospheric changes, which may be submitted to measurement, and of certain more subtle changes in the composition of the air, which at present can neither be analyzed nor estimated. To the former class belong the temperature, moisture, and pressure of the air ; to the latter, those emanations from the earth, or from human beings themselves, which give rise to the majority of epidemic, endemic, and contagious diseases.” With this opinion before us, it may be interesting to shew the results of the past seven years’ observations in Sydney.

MEAN OF TWELVE MONTHS..	126	62·2	29·919	4·23	12	4·6

The mean of the months of January, June, and December, exhibited the highest rates of mortality, the temperature ranging from 70·7 in January, the hottest month of the year, with 137 deaths, to 53·5 in June, with the same number of deaths. In December, 158 persons died, the thermometer being at 68·6, rain-fall 2·01, and the ozone in the atmosphere, on an average of three years, but 3·8. September appears to have been the healthiest month, 101 deaths only having been recorded as the mean of the corresponding month in the septennial period. In February, with a temperature of 70·5, rain-fall of 6·20, and the ozone 4·2, but 119 deaths occurred. The largest quantity of rain fell in April—8·91 inches ; the temperature being 64·8, ozone 5·4, and yet the mean deaths in that month were only 115.

The varying character of these results proves what slight grounds exist for laying the foundation of a reliable theory, as regards the influence of the seasons upon the health of the people.

Having touched upon all those points which have suggested themselves in the course of my inquiry, I have only to conclude my observations by referring to the tables in the Appendix, which are complete in detail, and will be found to contain the fullest information in connection with the vital interests of the Colony and its inhabitants.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

THEO. JA. JAQUES,

Registrar General.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOLD FIELDS ACT AMENDMENT ACT.

(PETITION RELATIVE TO.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 2 August, 1866.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Miners and others, assembled in Public Meeting at Adelong, on the 19th day of May, 1866,—

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioners have with much alarm noticed an Act, entitled "The Amended Gold Fields Act," passed on the 7th April last, and are of opinion that it is greatly calculated to injure the mining interests of this Colony, for the following reasons:—

1st. That the alterations now made by the Act will render the administration of justice insecure, in all matters pertaining to mining claims and disputes; that unpaid Territorial Magistrates cannot, from the nature of their office, give that attention to mining matters which their importance demands.

2nd. That an enormous amount of property is often involved in mining causes, and requires the supervision of men who, from past experience, are competent to adjudicate on such cases, and are superior to local influences. Such experience cannot be expected from local Justices.

3rd. That this Act will greatly tend to promote costly and unnecessary litigation, will prevent the investment of capital in mining ventures, and on the Gold Fields bring the administration of justice into contempt.

4th. That the former system of paid Gold Commissioners is better calculated to promote the welfare of the miner, by enabling him to obtain a speedy settlement of all disputes by officers who have his confidence.

Your Petitioners, therefore, most respectfully pray, that your Honorable House may rescind the objectionable measure, believing that the mining interest of this Colony, if carefully protected, will yet be extensively developed; but that if the Act referred to be allowed to remain law, much serious injury will accrue to the Country.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOLD FIELDS ACT OF 1866, AND REGULATIONS.

(PETITION—GOLD MINERS, &c., ROCKY RIVER.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 2 October, 1866.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Gold Miners and others, resident upon the Rocky River Gold Field and District,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners are Gold Miners and other persons interested in gold mining pursuits, resident upon the Rocky River Gold Field and in the neighbouring district.

That your Petitioners have viewed with alarm and concern the passing through your Honorable House of the "Gold Fields Act of 1866;" and, at a public meeting held at the Rocky River, on the fifteenth instant, to deliberate upon the effects likely to accrue to the gold mining interest, in the carrying out the same and the Regulations, a unanimous decision was come to—that to petition your Honorable House for a repeal of the same was the only proper course for our adoption, and that the following causes should be urged upon the notice of your Honorable House, as a justification to us in that respect.

That your Petitioners being a scattered population, had not a sufficient time to discuss the merits of and to offer a legitimate opposition to the passing of this Bill, owing to the undue and unnecessary haste made in passing the same through your Honorable House.

That the operations of this Act and the Regulations will be obstructive, restrictive, and destructive to the gold mining interest, and will be the cause of frequent dissensions and discords amongst the gold mining populations, and generally injurious to the welfare and interest of this Colony.

That no Gold Field Laws can approach perfection or equity unless they recognize the principle of self-government, by containing provisions for the establishment of Local Courts and Courts of Appeal, or a Mining Board, and such Courts to be formed upon a proper, sound, and equitable basis. That the establishment of such local management upon the respective Gold Fields, would relieve the general Government of a heavy responsibility, and from one of the greatest stumbling-blocks to the general legislation of this Colony.

That your Petitioners are assured that the "Gold Fields Act, 1866," instead of being an advance in favour of the gold mining interest, is a retrograde movement, and places that interest and the gold mining population in a considerably worse position than that held by them under the "Gold Fields Act, 1861," and the Regulations—imperfect and inefficient even as they were.

That in the opinion of your Petitioners, no equitable Gold Mining Laws can be made without first taking the evidence and experience of practical gold miners, as to the workings, wants, and requirements of the gold mining interest and population. And your Petitioners further pray, that your Honorable House will take the above premises into your favourable consideration, and grant the required relief, by repealing the "Gold Fields Act, 1866," and the new Regulations.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c., &c.

GOLD FIELDS.

(AMENDED REGULATIONS UNDER THE "GOLD FIELDS ACT OF 1861.")

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 8 August, 1866.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 31st July, 1866.

GOLD FIELDS.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to approve of the following amended Regulations under the Gold Fields Act of 1861.

J. BOWIE WILSON.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

1. All Regulations hitherto in force for the management of the Gold Fields of New South Wales, are hereby repealed, and the following are substituted in lieu thereof:—

2. Wherever the term "Commissioner" is used in these Regulations, it shall be understood to mean the Commissioner intrusted with the general superintendence of one of the Gold Districts of the Colony, viz., the Northern, Southern, or Western District; and the term "Registrar" shall mean the Clerk of the nearest Court of Petty Sessions, unless where some other person shall be duly appointed in that regard.

3. The term "claim" shall be taken to apply to any authorized holding whatever, except leases.

4. By "registry" shall be meant the entering into a book, to be kept for the purpose, by the Registrar, of such particulars respecting any claim, as may be required under the Regulations.

5. The Registrar shall receive, for the duties to be performed by him under these Regulations, such fees as are determined in the Schedule hereunto annexed. (No. 1.)

6. Claims, and shares in claims and leases, may be transferred to any authorized person, by registry in the office of the Registrar, on payment of the proper fee, as per Schedule annexed. (No. 1.)

7. Any miner, whose claim may be unworkable from any cause whatsoever, or who himself may be unable to work from any reasonable cause, shall be entitled to register his claim as held in reserve, receiving a certificate of such registry, a copy of which must be kept posted on the ground, the working of such claim to be recommenced when practicable.

8. All claims, excepting as hereinafter provided, must be continuously worked after the expiration of forty-eight hours from the time of occupation; and any claim or share in a claim remaining unworked and unregistered for three clear days shall be liable to forfeiture.

9. When the depth of sinking, for which the nearest shaft bottomed shall be taken as a test, shall not be less than fifty feet, any two adjoining claims can amalgamate, by registration, and posting on the non-working claim a notice of registry having thereon the names of the holders and numbers of their miners' rights. Any number of claims, where difficulties of working are occasioned by water or otherwise, may, in like manner, amalgamate.

10. All claims, unless where otherwise provided, must be marked at each corner by a substantial peg, at least two feet above the ground; and no person shall remove, injure, or conceal any such boundary mark.

11. Any Justice of the Peace may make such order, not inconsistent with the existing Gold Fields Act or Regulations, as he may consider necessary for regulating the mode of washing at any stream or waterhole, so as to prevent any injury of a public nature.

12. Any authorized person can be the proprietor of any number of claims or shares in claims, by keeping employed thereon laborers holding miners' rights, under any form of agreement whatever by which the right of ownership is reserved to the proprietor; such laborers being sufficient in number in each case to represent the extent of claim, or portion of claim, so occupied.

13. Every holder of a claim or lease in a river or creek shall form and maintain a sufficient flood-race through or past such claim, and shall be entitled to maintain the natural level of the water at the head of his claim, provided that no prior right be injured thereby.

14. Each person holding a miner's right will be permitted to occupy and enclose, for the purpose of residence, land not to exceed 1,210 square yards, or 22 yards by 55, where such measurement may be practicable.

15. No claim will be allowed in any position where, by its interference with the supply of water requisite for the public, by undermining or digging up of roads, or by obstructing public thoroughfares or otherwise, the general interests will be injured; and no person shall sink or drive within 8 feet of any race, of whatever description.

16. No miner shall dig upon or undermine any land enclosed by any authorized occupant, or which is occupied by any building, or with machinery in connection with mining operations, or used as a garden, or as a Government camp or Police station, or for any public purpose, unless specially authorized by the Commissioner.

17. Any miner, having a shaft or hole unprotected within the distance of 6 feet from any road, foot-path, or crossing-place, in ordinary use, shall erect around such shaft or hole a substantial two-railed fence.

18. Whenever any tent, dwelling-place, stable, or other erection, shall have been so placed as to cause public inconvenience, any Court of Petty Sessions may order the removal of the same.

19. At the office of each Registrar shall be kept books for the entry of all registries required by these Regulations, as also for the entry of the particulars of all applications therein specified.

20. Any claim, or share in a claim, not worked or occupied in accordance with these Regulations, or with any order made by a Justice of the Peace, shall be liable to forfeiture.

Alluvial Claims.

21. Each person holding a miner's right shall be entitled to 1,600 square feet of alluvial ground, and such claims shall be marked off in a rectangular form, the sides of which shall be in proportion to the number of claim holders, that is to say:—

For one miner.....	40 feet by 40 feet.
two miners	40 " 80 "
three miners	60 " 80 "
four miners	80 " 80 "

And when, from any cause, it shall be impracticable to take the claims in the form above mentioned, a departure from that form may be allowed, so as to give to each miner his prescribed area, provided that in no instance shall a claim along a lead exceed in length twice its breadth. No ordinary claim will be allowed in extent greater than for a party of four.

River Claims.

22. Thirty feet frontage for each miner will be allowed in beds of rivers or creeks, running across the whole bed. No party of miners can take up more than six of such claims, which must be contiguous.

Quartz Claims.

23. The claim allowed to each miner, on the line of any quartz vein or reef, shall be 30 feet in the direction of the vein or reef, and 200 yards in width, and the total number of claims to be allowed for any one party of miners actually employed shall not exceed six: Provided that until such party shall have commenced crushing, only one-half of their number need be employed; but the whole party must be represented within forty-eight hours after the marking of the claim. No lesser extent than two claims shall be allowed; and the boundaries of each claim shall be marked at each end of the line of reef or vein, and at each corner, by substantial pegs, kept at all times at least two feet above the ground.

Extended Claims.

24. On ground previously worked and abandoned, claims may be taken up of the dimensions below specified, by any party of not less than four miners, viz.:—

In alluvial ground, 120 feet by 120 feet.
In the course of a river or creek, 400 feet.

Water

Water Privileges.

25. A water privilege shall be taken to mean the right to convey, by means of a race, a specified quantity of water to any locality, or the right to a specified quantity of water in its natural channel. Such water shall be measured by a plank sluice-head, having a sectional area of twelve inches by one, with a fall of one in twenty-four. Ground sluice-heads shall have twice that sectional area. The water privilege will be considered distinct from the ground claim, and may be held in connection with fresh claims. All water privileges, not used and upheld for a period of fourteen days, when practicable, in the case of alluvial working, and of one week in the case of river working, shall be held to be forfeited.

26. Any miner desirous of cutting a race for the conveyance of water, shall lodge a notice, in writing, to that effect, with the Registrar, specifying the number and description of sluice-heads required, and full particulars of the same; and shall post similar notices at the points of commencement and termination of the proposed race, and at the Registrar's Office. Any objection to the registration of such race, filed with the Registrar within seven days, shall be heard and determined by a Justice of the Peace and two Assessors. Should no objection have been so lodged and upheld, the Registrar shall issue a certificate of registry.

Priority of Water Rights regulated.

27. The holder of a water privilege in the bed of a stream shall be entitled to a prior right to water, to an extent not to exceed three box sluice-heads, over the holder of a privilege whereby the water shall be diverted from the natural channel. The priority of right to water under any water permit shall be determined by the date of registration; but where it can be shewn that the holder of a prior right cannot obtain, by reason of waste of water or otherwise, at least one-half of the quantity of water to be surrendered for his supply, his priority of right shall not take effect.

Measurement of Water.

28. The quantity of water to which any person may be entitled under a water permit, shall be measured as nearly as practicable to the spot from whence the water is first diverted; and in so measuring, an allowance shall be made for leakage. The allowance to be made on any particular fall of water for such leakage, shall be determined by testing the leakage from the race on the fall to be selected as most suitable for the purpose. Any Justice shall be empowered to make any necessary order for the testing of a race for the above purpose; and every holder of a water privilege shall place and keep a permanent gauge at the head of his race.

29. Holders of water privileges shall be bound to see that other holders who may possess rights prior to their own are duly supplied, before they appropriate any portion of the water allowed by their permits; and where any person shall appropriate and use water allotted to any other person, he shall be deemed to have committed a "trespass," and be liable to be assessed in damages therefor.

30. Any dam or obstruction in the course of any river or creek shall be liable, should it in any way interfere with the working of the same, to be removed upon the order of any Justice of the Peace.

31. Authorized persons may form or occupy reservoirs and wells for gold washing purposes and domestic use on unoccupied ground, by registering the same, in like manner as prescribed in respect to water privileges, and the priority of right shall be regulated in the same manner.

Business Allotments.

32. The extent of land to be occupied under each business license shall be one-fourth of an acre, and the form of measurement twenty-two yards frontage to any street or roadway, by fifty-five yards in depth. When the land may be situated in a position detached from any tents or buildings, and from the line of any street or roadway, the area shall be one acre. No person shall be permitted to take up more than two allotments, nor to alienate or sublet any portion thereof.

33. If at the expiration of seven working days from the date of registry of a business allotment, the same shall not have been improved to a value not less than £16 per acre for town lands, £2 for suburban, and £1 for other lands, it shall become liable to forfeiture, and available to be taken up by any authorized person.

34. Whenever any business or miner's residence allotment may be supposed to contain deposits of gold, any miner may enter such allotment to search therefor, upon payment to the holder of the allotment of such amount, by way of compensation for injury to the holding, as may be determined by a Justice and Assessors.

Water Races.

35. In all cases where application is made to the Government to authorize the passage of water for gold mining purposes, or the passage of any water or liquid discharge from gold mining operations, through freehold land, the party making such application shall pay into the hands of the Commissioner for the District, the amount of compensation to be paid to the possessor of such lands, before the authority applied for will be granted.

36. The amount of compensation so to be paid shall be fixed and determined in manner following:—The party intending to apply for such authority as aforesaid, shall cause notice, in writing under his hand, to be served upon the possessor of the land, setting forth with reasonable certainty the direction of the proposed race, cutting, or other means of effecting the passage of water—the quantity of land proposed to be taken or used—the time for which same will be required—and the amount of compensation which such applicant is willing to pay in respect of the matters aforesaid; and shall require the possessor of such land, if dissatisfied with the amount offered, to appoint, within seven days from the service thereof, by writing under his hand, an arbitrator on his behalf to assist in determining the amount which shall be paid as such compensation, and within the same period to forward the said appointment to the Commissioner for the District; and the party giving such notice shall, within the same period, by writing under his hand, appoint an arbitrator on his behalf, and forward such appointment to the Commissioner; and every such appointment shall be deemed to be a submission to arbitration on the part of the person signing the same, and the award of the arbitrators so appointed shall be final.

37. After any such appointment shall have been made, neither party shall have power to revoke the same without the consent of the other, nor shall the death of either party operate as a revocation; and if either party shall neglect, within the said period of seven days after the service of the said notice, to appoint an arbitrator, the other party, having himself appointed an arbitrator, may appoint such arbitrator to act on behalf of both parties, and such arbitrator may proceed to hear and determine the matters so referred, and his award shall be final.

38. When each party shall have appointed an arbitrator, and either of such arbitrators shall, before the determination of the matters so referred to them, die, or refuse, or become incapable to act, the party by whom such arbitrator was appointed may, by writing under his hand, appoint another person in his stead; and if he fail so to do, for the space of seven days after notice from the other party requiring him so to do, the surviving arbitrator may proceed ex parte.

39. When each of the parties shall appoint an arbitrator, such arbitrators shall, before entering upon the consideration of the matters referred to them, by writing under their hands, appoint an umpire; and in case the said arbitrators shall fail to make their award, in writing, within fourteen days after the day on which the last of them was appointed, the matters referred to them shall be determined by such umpire, whose award shall be final and conclusive.

40. The costs of and attending the said arbitration and award shall be in the discretion of the said arbitrator, arbitrators, or umpire, as the case may be.

41. If a single arbitrator, or an umpire, shall die, or refuse, or become incapable to act, before he shall have made his award, or shall fail to make such award within ten days after his appointment, then the matters so referred to him shall be again referred to arbitration, as if no former reference had been made.

42. The award shall in all cases be in writing, and be delivered to the Commissioner within fourteen days from time of making the same, and may be made a Rule of Court on the application of either party.

43. Application for permission to carry through Crown Lands, on any gold field, water for gold mining purposes, to be used upon alienated lands, may be made by any holder of a miner's right to the Commissioner, in like manner as prescribed in respect to the conveyance of water for use upon Crown Lands; and the Minister for Lands may sanction a compliance with any such application, whereupon the Commissioner shall issue the necessary "permit," which shall have in all respects the like effect as if granted in connection with the working of Crown Lands; and any holding thereunder shall be deemed to be a "claim" within the meaning of the Act.

Leased Tracts.

44. Leases of auriferous tracts will be granted, of from 1 to 50 acres of alluvial ground and quartz reefs, and from 200 to 1,000 yards of a river bed, for the period not exceeding fifteen years, at an annual rent of £2 per acre, or £2 per 100 yards. Alluvial and quartz reef tracts shall be measured in a rectangular form, which in the case of the former shall in no instance exceed in length twice its breadth, and in the case of the latter the width shall be as prescribed in the Schedule hereto annexed. (No. 3.)

45. Persons holding miners' rights, desirous of obtaining any such leases, shall distinctly mark at each corner the ground so intended to be leased by them, by posts, painted white, and not less than four feet in height, and affix thereto notice of application; such application to be forwarded as soon as practicable to the Commissioner, setting forth the area of ground taken up, the machinery to be used, and describing the proposed method of working, the extent and nature of preparatory work to be performed, the number of men to be employed within a stated period, and if a Company, the constitution of the Company, the number of shares, and the names of the shareholders.

46. The rent for each year must be paid in advance, on or before the 1st January, and the application for the lease must be accompanied by the sum of £5, when the extent of ground does not exceed 10 acres, and £5 for every additional 10 acres or portion of 10 acres, or £1 for every 100 yards of a river bed, together with the fee for survey, as per Schedule annexed (No. 2), the former as a deposit, to be forfeited by the applicant should the lease not be taken out within one month after the granting of the same shall have been notified to him.

47. The Commissioner shall forward to the Government every such application with his report thereon, and shall be empowered to issue the lease by the authority of the Minister for Lands. If at the expiration of fourteen days after notice has been duly posted, no objection be preferred to the Commissioner respecting the lease of such land, he will be empowered to grant leave for the immediate occupation of it, at the risk of the applicant, and subject to the decision of the Government.

48. The Government will entertain applications for leases under these Regulations, subject to the following conditions:—

1. That the ground applied for is not required for any public purpose, or is not in the actual occupation of any authorized person.
 2. That labor shall be employed upon the leased ground according to the following scale:—Four men for one acre, and two men for every additional acre; in a river bed, eight men for 200 yards, and three men for each additional 100 yards: Provided always that where steam or water power is employed, each horse-power of the machinery shall be computed as equal to four men; and when other works of an expensive nature, such as dams, reservoirs, or races, have been constructed, a diminution in the number of men required to be employed will be allowed, at the rate of two men for every £100 so expended, to be determined, in case of dispute, by a Justice and Assessors.
49. The infraction of any condition of a lease will involve the forfeiture thereof.

Frontage System.

50. The Commissioner shall be empowered to declare any field, or division of a field, as regards alluvial workings, to be under the operation of the "Frontage System."

51. By frontage claim shall be meant a claim having a width of one mile until gold shall have been struck therein; but on any field, or division of a field, the Commissioner may declare a reduction of such width.

52. A block claim shall mean an ordinary claim, marked off in accordance with the Regulations.

53. Any unoccupied locality, wherein any miner or miners shall desire to sink in search of a lead, shall be deemed to be "new ground."

54. On new ground, within a declared frontage district or division, all claims must be marked on the frontage system, in the first instance.

55. When the sinking in such ground shall be found not to reach a depth of sixty feet, of which the bottoming of one or more shafts on the supposed line of lead shall be a sufficient test, all markings on the supposed line of lead shall be null, and the ground shall then be open for taking up claims in the block form; provided that each miner shall have the right to include any shaft which had actually been commenced by him in his block claim, taking such shaft for the centre.

56. The mode of marking a claim on an undeclared lead shall be by the erection of a post, not less than three feet in height, at either end of the claim.

57. When any person shall strike payable gold at a depth not less than sixty feet, the frontage system shall be deemed to be in operation, and the lead declared. And all claims previously held on such lead shall be cancelled, and the holders thereof shall be entitled to occupy claims according to their priority of occupation on the lead, excepting where any claim-holder may have sunk a shaft at least twenty feet in depth, in which case he shall be entitled to the claim in which his shaft is situated.

58. A base line shall be laid down from either boundary of the prospect claim, along the supposed course of such lead, on which line the length of the claims shall be marked, and such claims shall be taken up according to priority of occupation on the lead. Cross lines shall also be laid down, as nearly as possible at right angles with the base line, at each boundary.

59. If the actual course of the lead be found to differ materially from the course of the base line, and if the majority of claim-holders affected thereby shall desire it, a new base line may be laid down, and claims on the new line may be taken up according to their order on the former line.

60. The occupation of a fresh claim on a declared lead shall be taken by marking the same in like manner as on an undeclared lead, but in continuation of the base line; and so soon as the cross lines shall have been laid, the claim shall be marked by similar posts at either end of such cross lines. When the claim shall be reduced in width, the further posts must be withdrawn, and placed at each corner of the block claim selected.

61. When on any declared lead the sinking shall have been found to have diminished in depth, so as not to reach sixty feet, the frontage system shall cease, and all claims thereafter shall thereupon be taken in the block, according to priority of occupation on the frontage.

62. All claims taken up in advance of any line of declared lead, and which would, by extension of the line, come within the wings of such lead, must be marked in continuance of the line, and will be held to be claims on such declared lead.

63. Any person desiring to take up a prospecting claim on a declared lead, may do so, at a distance not less than half a mile in advance of the last paying shaft, by registering the same; and he may mark out and hold on such prospecting claim an additional claim for each man employed therein, so long as the entire extent of claim shall not exceed eight claims, or 160 feet. On any undeclared supposed lead, double claims may in like manner be marked out and registered, so long as the entire extent shall not exceed twelve claims, or 240 feet. All prospecting claims must be effectively and continuously worked. Any number of claims taken up for the purpose of prospecting may be amalgamated, but the additional claims, by way of reward, will only be allowed (on the discovery therein of payable gold) to the registered prospecting claim. No prospecting claim, on any declared or undeclared lead, shall be taken up within half a mile of any other prospecting claim.

64. The length of frontage claims shall be as follows:—

For two men	40 feet.
„ four men	80 feet.

No one claim can be taken up for other numbers than as above stated.

65. The width finally to be allowed for a frontage claim, after the gold shall have been struck, shall be 80 feet, unless when the depth of sinking shall be found to exceed 200 feet, after which an additional width of 20 feet shall be allowed for every 100 feet in depth. And the depth of sinking for any lead, or portion of a lead, shall be determined without reference to the depth of any particular shaft.

66. In the case of a convergence of leads, the preference at and onwards from the junction will be given to the claim-holders on the lead first declared.

67. Whenever machinery may be employed, or other sufficient reason may exist, any number of claims may be amalgamated. Where steam machinery is employed, each horse-power of the machinery shall be computed as equal to four men.

68. The working of all claims shall be effectively commenced, and carried forward continuously, after the expiration of three clear days from the time of taking possession of the same. But in the case of a duly declared lead, the registered claims shall not be required to be so worked, except the twenty-five claims, whether amalgamated or not, on either line of lead next onwards from the prospect claim, and afterwards in advance of the last payable shaft.

69. On the other claims upon a declared lead, the position of which does not require them to be so worked, every shareholder, or his representative to the full number required by the dimensions of the claim, must be present from 9 till 11 o'clock a.m. daily.

70. The holder of any claim bottoming on the lead shall be allowed fourteen days to prove the breadth of his claim. The claim shall then be reduced to the prescribed width and marked off. In the case of the shaft and the drive of the holders being without the block claim chosen, they can retain such shaft and drive for the working of the claim, and such shaft or drive cannot be taken possession of except by consent of the original holders.

71. The claim-holders shall cause a red flag to be hoisted on the last claim on the lead immediately that gold may have been struck therein, to indicate the course of the gutter. The holders of such claim must give every information as to the course of the gutter, and the holders of a shaft must allow it to be entered in like manner by any person having the written authority of a Justice.

72. When any declared lead shall be abandoned for fourteen clear days, the declaration of lead shall be deemed to be rescinded. The declaration of a lead on which the number of shafts actually at work during the twenty-one preceding days shall not exceed ten, shall also be deemed to be rescinded; but the holders of any claims then working on such lead shall be entitled to retain their frontage.

73. The holding of frontage claims will, with reference to any question not herein provided for, come within the terms of the ordinary General Regulations.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

TABLE-LAND AND TIMBARRA GOLD FIELDS.

(PETITION RESPECTING REMOVAL OF GOLD COMMISSIONER.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 10 August, 1866.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

This humble Petition of the after-signed Gold Miners and others resident on the Table-land and Timbarra Gold Fields, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners have learned, with no little regret and alarm, that the office of Gold Commissioner to these Gold Fields is to be abolished, and that the magisterial duties hitherto performed by the officer holding that appointment are to be delegated to the decision of the local Magistrates.

That disputes are constantly arising on all Gold Fields with regard to the rights of individual miners—their rights of water, the systems of working, and the ownership of claims and shares of claims; and lately, serious disputes have occurred between the miners and one of our local Magistrates, relative to the right to occupy and dig for gold on certain Crown Lands.

That there is a large Chinese population on these Gold Fields, who have, under the management that has hitherto prevailed, and the certainty of prompt punishment speedily following any outbreak on their part, lived peaceably and quietly with their European neighbours.

That there is no resident Magistrate within twenty miles of these Gold Fields, that the intervening country is but sparsely populated, and that when the Gold Commissioner is removed the miners will virtually have none to appeal to.

That it cannot reasonably be expected that any gentlemen holding Her Majesty's Commission of the Peace would, at a moment's notice, leave their private affairs, and travel a distance of twenty or forty miles, for the purpose of settling some trivial or other dispute among diggers. Even supposing they would give their time for such a purpose, their inexperience would cause a want of confidence in the equity of their decisions.

That, in the absence of all magisterial supervision, scenes of lawlessness and violence may occur; and, failing to obtain justice legitimately, persons of violent tempers and habits may be induced to take the law into their own hands, and right be forced to submit to might.

That occurrences such as these are liable to arise in so mixed a population as that in which we live, where by far the greatest portion are Chinese, who, when they find they are unrestrained and unprotected, they may have less regard for the quiet observance of the law than hitherto.

That the power of a local Magistrate in deciding monetary matters in dispute between any two litigants is limited by legislation to five pounds only, whereas there is no limit that can be fixed to the value of a claim on a Gold Field; and as the presiding Magistrate is empowered to decide the ownership and working of such claims, we fear such a power, in the hands of inexperienced or interested persons, may lead to acts of unjustifiable oppression and injustice.

That, under these circumstances, your Petitioners would earnestly pray that the matter may be reconsidered before the final removal of the present Commissioner from these Gold Fields; and in the event of the retention of this officer being an impossibility, that some provision may be made by which properly qualified residents may legally carry out the then existing Gold Fields Regulations; and in the event of a local Board of Management being established, that their decisions may be subject to a further appeal to the District Commissioner.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

[Here follow 153 Signatures.]

THE UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS TO THE UNDER SECRETARY FOR FINANCE AND TRADE.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 25 August, 1866.

SIR,

In reference to your letter of the 17th instant, applying for certain information required to complete the Return ordered by the Legislative Assembly, of Statistics in connection with Gold,—I am directed to inform you that the information referred to can only be supplied by the Gold Commissioners; as the Regulations of February, 1864, specified in the order, do not apply to leases of auriferous grounds (the applications for which come through this department), but to extended claims granted at the discretion of the Commissioners themselves.

2. A letter was accordingly addressed to the present Gold Commissioners, on the 9th instant, applying for the information desired, which will be forwarded to you as soon as received.

I have, &c.,
M. FITZPATRICK.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

AUSTRALIAN MUSEUM.

(REPORT FROM TRUSTEES.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE AUSTRALIAN MUSEUM, FOR THE YEAR ENDING 31 DECEMBER, 1865.

&c. &c. &c.

1. The Trustees of the Australian Museum have the honor to submit to your Excellency this their Twelfth Annual Report.

2. The Museum has been open to the public daily (Sundays excepted) during the past year, and has been visited by 67,271 persons.

3. The system of exchanging specimens of natural history with the principal Foreign Museums is still maintained by the Trustees, who have received several valuable collections during the past year, a list of which is appended. (Appendix No. 2.)

4. Numerous donations have been received during the year, a list of which is appended. (Appendix No. 3.)

5. In Appendix No. 4, will be found a list of the various objects sent in exchange, together with the names of the persons or institutions to which they have been transmitted.

6. Several valuable works, purchased out of the Endowment Fund, have been added to the Museum Library, a list of which is appended. (Appendix No. 5.)

7. Two experienced Taxidermists have been occupied during the year in preparing and mounting the following specimens:—

221 birds,
20 reptiles and fishes,
15 skeletons of mammals and birds,—

and in cleaning, and preserving from decay, the collection already displayed for public inspection.

8. The Trustees have to record the resignation of Sprott Boyd, Esq., M.D., the retirement of the Rev. John Woolley, D.C.L., and of Colonel E. W. Ward, R.E., from the Board. The vacancies thus occasioned have been filled, by the election of Professor Smith, M.D., James C. Cox, Esq., M.D., and the Honorable Sir William Macarthur, M.L.C.

9. The Trustees have to report the sale of nearly 2,000 copies of the first part of their Catalogue (comprising the Mammals) during the year, and the necessity of a new and enlarged edition of this publication.

The second part will contain the Birds, the first family of which (Raptores) is completed, and ready for the press. Of this section, the Museum contains now—

64 species, and
200 specimens.

Part III, comprising the Reptiles, is also finished, shewing that this class is represented by—

224 genera,
426 species, and
1,356 specimens.

10. The large number of additional specimens, which have been obtained by the Trustees during the course of the year, has involved a considerable outlay for cabinets, which, though distributed with a view to the utmost economy of room, have now almost completely filled the hall and gallery, and have seriously encroached upon the space required for the unimpeded circulation of visitors. The Trustees, nevertheless, feel it necessary that further accommodation should be provided, for the purpose of preserving and arranging their rapidly increasing stores; and they would, therefore, draw the attention of your Excellency to the fact, that the sum of £1,000 was voted by the Legislature towards the fittings of the new Museum, and desire to suggest that this sum, or a portion of the same, be placed at their disposal, at as early a date as may be convenient. The additional cabinets which the Trustees would thus be able to provide, while constructed with a view to their ultimate exhibition in the new building, might for the present be arranged, without detriment, in parts of the Museum which are not accessible to the general public.

11. By the exertions of Mr. George Masters, the Assistant Curator, a large number of Australian specimens has been obtained, particularly of animals peculiar to South Australia and the West Coast, a list of which is appended. (Appendix No. 6.)

12. A collection illustrating the various deposits encountered in sinking for gold in New South Wales, and the character of the gold thus obtained, accompanied by 197·11 ounces of gold, has been received by the Trustees from the Acting Deputy Master of the Royal Mint, and is now on view in the hall.

13. The Trustees also report that, at the request of Mrs. Wise, they have taken charge of the valuable and highly interesting library of Australian books collected by the late Mr. Justice Wise, and bequeathed by him to the Free Library of Sydney, a catalogue of which is appended. (Appendix No. 7.)

14. Appendix No 1 contains an abstract of the receipts and payments of the Trustees, on behalf of the Museum, for the year ending 31st December, 1865.

15. Appendix No. 2 contains a list of the specimens received in exchange from other Museums.

16. Appendix No. 3 contains a list of the various donations during the year, with the names of the donors.

17. Appendix No. 4 contains a list of the specimens sent in exchange to various persons and institutions.

18. Appendix No. 5 contains a list of the books purchased for the Museum Library.

19. Appendix No. 6 contains a list of the specimens collected by Mr. George Masters, the Assistant Curator.

20. Appendix No. 7. contains a list of the books and newspapers bequeathed by the late Mr. Justice Wise to the Free Library of Sydney.

21. The Trustees have the honor to submit this their Report for the year 1865; and in testimony thereof, have caused their corporate Seal to be hereunto affixed, this 3rd day of May, 1866.

(L.S.) GEORGE BENNETT, M.D.,
Chairman.

By order of the Trustees,
GERARD KREFFT,
Curator and Secretary.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOVERNMENT OBSERVATORY, SYDNEY.
(REPORT OF ASTRONOMER FOR 1866.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 24 August, 1866.

MINUTES and Proceedings of the Observatory Board, at the Annual Meeting held at the Observatory, on the 16th of August, 1866, at 12 o'clock.

PRESENT :—

His Excellency the Governor.
Commodore Sir William Wiseman, C.B., Bart.
Captain Freemantle, R.N.
Professor Pell.

THE Board inspected the buildings and instruments, and then assembled in the Board room.

His Excellency took the Chair.

The Astronomer then read his Report.

Resolved,—

- “ The Board of Visitors having heard the Astronomer read his Draft Report, “ approve of its contents, and recommend it to the favourable consideration “ of the Legislature.
- “ The removal of the Observatory, with a view to the accuracy of the obser“ vations, seems indispensable. A first-class establishment of the kind “ cannot be maintained on the present site with the disturbances of the “ constant traffic.
- “ The measurement of a base line, as proposed by the Astronomer, is the first “ step towards the useful and necessary work, a general survey of the “ Colony ; and the sooner it is undertaken the greater will be the economy, “ present and prospective.”

The Board adjourned sine die.

REPORT of the Government Astronomer to the Board of Visitors at the Government Observatory, Sydney. Read at the Annual Visitation, August 16th, 1866.

I HAVE the honor to lay before the Board of Visitors my Second Annual Report on the state and progress of this Observatory.

The last meeting of the Board was held on June 2nd, 1865; and the Report which I then had the honor to submit, brought up the history of the Observatory to that date. In the Report now presented, I propose to continue the history to the present time, confining, however, the detailed account of results to the year ending December 31st, 1865.

I.—BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS.

All the buildings require a thorough course of repair, even if it be only to maintain them in a proper state of preservation, until the Government decide upon removing the Observatory from its present unfortunate position. The walls require re-pointing, and many parts of the interior need painting and papering. I have, on several occasions, urged this in the proper quarters, and the Colonial Architect recommended that my application should be carried into effect, but hitherto no action has been taken in the matter.

Considering that monthly determinations of the magnetic elements, and especially of the variation, are of great importance, and having reason to suspect that such observations are affected by the quantity of iron in and about the buildings, a room for this especial purpose is now in course of construction. It is about 100 feet from the Observatory, on the north side, and does not contain any metal except copper. It is built in the astronomical meridian of the Observatory, and the azimuth mark on the North Shore becomes available, so that I shall obtain a degree of accuracy in the results unattainable by any other means.

A shed twelve feet square has been erected on the south side of the Observatory, for the purpose of making the ordinary meteorological observations, and for testing thermometers sent for trial. I have made this arrangement, in consequence of my want of confidence in what is commonly called "The Greenwich Stand," which appears to me to be open to three objections:—1st. In violent winds, it is so shaken that the self-registering thermometers are liable to derangement. 2nd. In heavy rains, it is almost impossible to guard against the effects produced by the deposit of water upon the thermometers. 3rd. The front part of the stand being open, the thermometers are often exposed to a clear sky, and appreciable effects are produced by terrestrial radiation.

The new shed is free from these objections; and I am convinced that more reliable results, and a nearer mean temperature in the shade, are thus obtained than with the old stand. It also serves the purpose of protecting the south collimating mark from the action of the weather; and with the same object in view I have erected a covered shed over the north collimating mark. Both these arrangements have given beneficial results.

These are the only direct additions to the Observatory buildings.

II.—REMOVAL OF THE OBSERVATORY.

In my last Report, I drew the attention of the Board to the peculiarly unfavourable site selected for the Observatory, and urged that its removal, at no distant date, should be taken into the serious consideration of the Government. The reasons I then adduced continue in the same, if not in greater, force. Reflection observations have for a long time been impossible; and even the determination of the level by reflection is often times rendered most difficult, from the unstable condition of the Hill, and the adjacent traffic. In reference to a new site, there are two places well worthy of consideration, viz., the high ground above Bradley's Point, and the site of Sir Thomas Brisbane's Observatory in the Parramatta Domain. It is much to be regretted that the Observatory was ever removed from the latter locality; and perhaps, even now, it is a question whether it may not be reinstated there with advantage—subject to the condition of a very careful examination of the effects that could be produced by the adjacent railway. Both, however, are excellent positions, and in either case the present time-ball tower and apparatus need not be interfered with, as the ball could be dropped by a galvanic wire.*

Indirectly connected with this important question, is that of a New Transit Circle. In my last Report, I pointed out the defects of the present instrument, and urged the purchase of a new one. I have recently received from England a reply to my inquiry as to the expense of a first-class Meridian Circle, and I understand that it would probably be about £1,800. Considering all the circumstances of the case, and the alterations which would have to be made in the present Transit Room, I should not recommend such a vote to be applied for at the present time. But when it is decided to remove the Observatory, it will be very desirable to send home an order for a new Meridian Circle, so that it may arrive here when the new Observatory is ready to receive it.

III. INSTRUMENTS.

All the instruments belonging to the Observatory remain in the same condition as at the last meeting of the Board.

The following alteration, which I looked forward to on that occasion, has been satisfactorily effected:—A mean time clock, by Barraud, has been adapted to the purpose of dropping the time-ball automatically; and at the same time, by a galvanic arrangement, the lever by which the ball is released self-records the time of its falling, on the same paper and in juxta-position with the record made by the sidereal clock, at the instant corresponding to 1 p.m.

The clock which drops the time-ball is kept at a small gaining rate, and is regulated shortly after noon, by means of a coil placed under the steel pendulum, and made a temporary magnet by connecting it with the galvanic battery.

The series of independent checks thus afforded is of great importance,—the papers are retained for future reference, and the risk of error is reduced to a minimum.

The whole of the time-ball machinery is in good condition.

Amongst the new instruments, I may mention—(1.) An Electrometer of a most delicate description, which I trust will, when complete, give most important results, not only as connected with the science of electricity itself, but also as indicating, and perhaps foretelling, meteorological disturbances; and it is of no little importance in its connection with public health. It was especially constructed for me by Mr. Kopsch, of the Telegraph Department, by permission of the Superintendent of Telegraphs, to whom I feel deeply indebted for the kind and valuable assistance he has rendered me on this and on other occasions. (2.) A Chronometer, by Poole. It has a steady average rate of 1.2 seconds a day, and I am inclined to look upon it as the best under my charge. (3.) A Self-registering Pluviometer. The rain-fall is recorded by a gauge on the tower about 5 feet above the time-ball. The amount of rain which falls during any period of time is now self-recorded; and the total in 24 hours compared with that measured by the ordinary rain-gauge on the ground. This instrument has been constructed for me by Mr. Russell, and is most satisfactory.

Though not strictly to be denominated "new instruments," yet I think this a fitting place in my Report to state that a Self-registering Tide-gauge, which was placed under my control about two years ago, has found a resting place in a small building erected for it at Fort Denison. It is in good working order; but I shall have occasion to allude to it again more fully.

Ever since the erection of the Observatory the want of a substantial distant Azimuth Mark has been greatly felt. Hitherto the only substitute has been a tree in the last stage of decay.

In June last this was replaced by a solid stone pillar on the North Shore, about $1\frac{1}{4}$ mile from the Observatory. The mark itself consists of two cross-bars of iron, firmly cemented into a massive stone annulus at the top of the column. I cannot pass over this

* Since this Report was written, it has been suggested by Professor Pell that the locality of the University would afford a very advantageous site for the Observatory. This suggestion is well worth recording.—G. R. S.

this matter without expressing my thanks to Alexander Berry, Esq., in whose grounds the column has been erected with his kind permission, and who very readily afforded every facility for doing so.

The subject of barometers, which was brought to the notice of the Board at the last meeting, has again occupied my attention. I still retain the opinion then expressed that it would be most desirable to have a self-registering barometer; and having been in correspondence with the Director of the Kew Observatory, I have come to the conclusion that the most effective and reliable method is by photographic registration. I can obtain from Kew an instrument for this purpose at a cost of £50 only, and if, as I trust they will be, the Estimates for 1867 are passed on the same scale as before, I propose to devote this portion of the funds at my disposal to the purchase of so valuable an addition to our meteorological instruments.

IV.—LIBRARY.

At the present time there are about 1,000 volumes on Astronomy and general science. The amount placed at my disposal for the purchase of new scientific books is £30 per annum. This, although sometimes insufficient for the purpose, is always expended with advantage.

The number of presentations to the Observatory Library has hitherto been fewer than might have been expected. I am, however, preparing a circular to other Observatories and Scientific Societies—with a view, not only of establishing friendly relations generally, but likewise for the purpose of effecting the gratuitous exchange of our respective publications and results.

V.—PERSONAL ESTABLISHMENT.

This remains the same as at the last Visitation. It is very inadequate to the requirements of the Observatory, but I have great pleasure in expressing my entire satisfaction at the quantity and quality of the work performed.

On myself, as Astronomer, rests the entire direction and management of all work connected with the Observatory: the conduct of scientific correspondence, which has lately increased; the reduction of some portion of the astronomical observations, and the examination of all—generally speaking, night observations themselves—the making and reduction of magnetic observations—the reduction of tide observations—and the investigation of electrical and meteorological phenomena. It is, I think, a great drawback to the scientific interests of the Observatory, that the smallness of the staff renders it impossible for the Astronomer to devote more of his time to the solution of scientific problems connected with questions of great practical utility.

The Computer takes charge of the clocks, chronometers, and time-ball apparatus; observes the sun, on all possible occasions—examines the whole, and reduces part of the meteorological observations—reduces a large portion of the astronomical observations—and, on occasions of my own absence from Sydney, takes some night observations, in which case, however, a portion of his attendance during the day is dispensed with.

The meteorological assistant is under the supervision of the Computer; he takes some, and reduces the greater part, of the meteorological work.

The final responsibility of the work of the Observatory rests on myself.

VI.—WORK OF THE PAST YEAR.

The meridian observations with the transit circle were as follows:—

Transits	689
Zenith distances	116
Determinations of azimuth	121
Do.	collimation	215
Do.	level	158
Do.	nadir point	24

A considerable portion of time was employed in examining the errors of the divisions of the circle.

The

The extra meridian observations, with the 10 feet 4 inches Equatorial, and Position Micrometer, were as follows :—

Number of comparisons of Comet I.	50
Do.	Encke's Comet	15

The latter comet, being one of short period, and tending to prove the existence of an aetherial medium, is, in my opinion, one of the few that possess great scientific interest ; and I much regret that I found it impracticable to obtain a larger number of observations. Even those taken were not altogether satisfactory—from the extreme faintness of the comet—but such as they were, they were transmitted to England as soon as possible, and were shortly afterwards published in the monthly notices of the " Royal Astronomical Society."

Meteorological Observations—consisting of readings of three separate barometers—the wet and dry bulb thermometers—the Kew standard thermometer—the maximum and minimum thermometer in the shade—the maximum thermometer in the sun—the minimum thermometer on the grass—the ozone tests—rain-gauge—amount of evaporation—direction and force of the wind, have been taken daily, with the exception of Sundays, at the hours of 9 a.m., 3 p.m., and 9 p.m.

Although I do not consider it an imperative duty that observations should be taken on Sundays, yet I have caused them to be taken, with rare exceptions, at 9 a.m., and oftener in case of unusual atmospheric disturbance. Such observations are registered in the day-book in red ink, but are not included in the annual means.

The Magnetic Survey has been continued as far as my time would allow. Five new stations have been visited since the last meeting, viz. :—Wollongong, South Head, Parramatta, Windsor, and the Blue Mountains. So that there are now eighteen stations, differing but little from the astronomical meridian of Sydney, where observations have been made, for (1) approximate determinations of latitude and longitude, (2) the magnetic variation, (3) the dip, (4) the intensity.

I will not dwell now upon the results arrived at, but I may mention one remarkable fact, shewing the practical utility of a magnetic survey. The difference of latitude between Scone and Wingen is 10 minutes only ; and yet the difference of the dip, as determined by a long series of observations made on two different occasions, amounts to no less than 58 minutes. But the latter locality, commonly known as " The Burning Mountain," abounds with masses of ironstone, containing a large percentage of metal, and a great portion of which is no doubt magnetic by induction.

I beg to lay on the table a diagram illustrating the variation of dip between the extreme stations, Wollongong and Wingen.

The whole of the meteorological work at Sydney and the country stations, to the end of last year, is reduced, and will shortly be in the printers' hands. The astronomical and magnetical work is in process of reduction, and will, I trust, be printed and published before the close of the present year. Meteorological observations were received from seven country stations by telegrams ; and these, together with the Sydney observations, were at once reduced, and published in the Herald of the following day.

The inconvenience and disadvantage of pitching a tent on the hill, has prevented me from making absolute determinations, on a given day once a month, with that regularity I hoped and wished for ; but this will now be attained by means of the detached building which is being constructed for the purpose.

VII.—METEOROLOGICAL STATIONS.

The observations at the country stations in connection with this Observatory, having extended over seven years, I have not thought it essential that any further public expense should be incurred in maintaining them, or that the force of the Sydney Observatory should be employed in the reductions. I propose to retain Deniliquin, in consequence of its peculiarities of climate ; and I have recently established a station at Kiandra—supposed to be the highest point of the Australian Alps—where no observations have been hitherto made. In future, with a view to acquiring a knowledge of of the law of storms along the coast, the remaining stations will be as follows, viz.:—Twofold Bay, Cape George, South Head, Newcastle, Port Macquarie, and the mouth of the Clarence; of these, South Head and Newcastle are already in operation, and observations are being carried on at Grafton, until arrangements can be made for having a station nearer the coast. The other coast stations referred to, would have been in operation now, but for the duties which devolved upon me as one of the Commissioners for inquiring into the condition of the Harbour of Port Jackson.

Though, however, I do not consider it necessary to retain any regular stations but those just mentioned, I think that arrangements should be made to supply a wind-vane, rain-gauge, and ozone tests, to every Telegraph Station Master in the Colony, and to such amateurs as may be willing to take daily records of them, and return the results to this Observatory.

I propose to draw the attention of the Government to the practical importance of this measure, with a view to having a sufficient sum for the purpose placed on the Supplementary Estimates.

I may here state, incidentally, that I have been urged to establish a system of coast warning signals, after the manner of the late Admiral Fitzroy. I fully admit the great importance of such a plan, when it can be safely adopted, and I look forward to the time when it will be done; but just at present, with an imperfect knowledge of the nature of the gales which prevail on the eastern coast of Australia, I should not consider myself justified in making myself responsible for a system, which a few failures would inevitably bring into contempt.

VIII.—TIDE-GAUGE.

Since the last meeting, I am happy to inform the Board, that a Self-registering Tide-gauge has been erected at Fort Denison. The results hitherto shewn have been very satisfactory. A specimen of these self-recorded results is laid before the Board; they are received daily and reduced by myself. The objects to be attained by them are,—1st. The annual publication of Tide Tables for Port Jackson; a desideratum never yet obtained, through the want of sufficient data. 2nd. An analysis of the results, with a view to contribute, in some degree, to the elucidation of the theory of the tides generally.

IX.—TRIANGULATION OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

I trusted I should have been able to report to the Board, on the present occasion, that preliminary operations had been commenced for the measurement of an arc of the meridian in this Colony; which measurement may be considered collateral, with a general triangulation. I believe the financial condition of the Colony deterred the Government from adopting my recommendation. I have again urged, that a sum should be placed on the Estimates for the year 1867, for the purpose of measuring, with extreme accuracy, a base line. This need not necessitate any further expenditure, but would be available and important to the Surveyor General's Department, and would be ready for any future scientific operations.

If the Government adopt my views, I should probably measure a base line of from seven to eight miles in length, at Lake George or Lake Bathurst. The extremities would be fixed astronomically, and be indicated by substantial permanent marks.

With a view to furthering this work, and looking upon it, at that time, as imminent, I wrote to the Astronomer Royal for England, and asked for the assistance which he had kindly promised me when I last saw him. I give the following extract from his letter, in order to shew what means we have at our disposal to carry out the object in question:—"In regard to instruments for a Geodetic Survey, I have done more. At the Royal Astronomical Society there are the Fuller Theodolite" (employed "in similar operations at the Cape of Good Hope), "and a beautiful small instrument "by Ertel."....."I have borrowed both in the name of the Director of the Government Observatory, Sydney; and I have put both into the hands of Mr. Simms to be cleaned "and adjusted, and fitted for shipment; and I will ship them as soon as they are ready."....."I shall be very glad to hear of a Survey going forward."

X.—EARTH THERMOMETERS.

I believe it would be very important to determine the effects of temperature at different depths below the surface of the earth, by means of thermometers constructed especially for the purpose, as at Greenwich and Paris.

I have written to England to inquire the cost of such thermometers, and to learn the probability of their reaching Sydney in safety. Should it be found practicable, I purpose commencing this class of observations with as little delay as possible.

XI.—WORK OF THE PRESENT YEAR.

I do not propose to introduce any additional work beyond what has been already referred to. It is very desirable that all observations, of whatever sort, should be reduced and published as soon as possible after the expiration of the year in which they are made; but to carry on, with an inferior Transit Circle, and inadequate force, observations that are being made with first class instruments at other southern Observatories, would, in my opinion, take up time and labour which may be more profitably employed.

I propose, therefore, to limit the Astronomical Meridianal Observations to—(1) Clock Stars; (2) Stars required for the accurate determination of latitude and longitude; (3) the determination of the places of all the Comparison Stars observed with Comet I of 1864, Comet I of 1865, and Encke's Comet. The ordinary meteorological observations will be continued as usual three times a day; observations with the electrometer at the same hours; one or more observations a day with the declinometer, for the purpose of watching magnetic storms; and observations of such unforeseen phenomena as may present themselves. All the work of reductions will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible, so that these, together with the results of the Tidal Observations, may be printed and published in the early part of next year. I also propose to devote a small portion of time to a continuation of the Magnetic Survey.

I will conclude this Report by expressing my earnest wish that the true nature and objects of a public Observatory could be more generally understood and appreciated. I need not remind the Board, that, whatever may have been the case formerly, when astronomy was the only science systematically pursued, in the present day there are few public observatories devoted to this subject only. In a new country especially, such exclusiveness would be detrimental to practical utility, as well as to science. Not indeed that astronomy should be neglected, but that other subjects in physical science should receive their due attention.

There are many occupations, interesting indeed in themselves, such as "sweeping the heavens for new objects," and "the spectrum analysis," that need a special staff of observers for the purpose. Such occupations are best left to amateurs, of whom so many swell the ranks of science, and to whom all honor is due for the zeal and ability with which they pursue their self-imposed labors.

A public Observatory should be prepared to furnish useful and scientific information whenever it may be called for; and also to sift and examine such new facts and discoveries as may be communicated from other quarters. Strictly speaking, perhaps, the Director of a public Observatory would be better designated as "The Observer," rather than "The Astronomer,"—though, in conformity with established custom, the latter term is usually adopted. The following remark of Lord Bacon's seems to me to be an appropriate motto for an Observatory:—"No natural phenomenon can be adequately studied in itself alone, but, to be understood, it must be considered as it stands connected with all nature."

GEORGE R. SMALLEY, Government Astronomer.
