NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

(REPORT ON, FOR 1876.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Inspector General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 19 January, 1877.

In obedience to the instructions contained in your circular letter of the 9th July, 1873 (No. 71), I do myself the honor to submit for the information of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary my Report of the working of this Department during the year 1876.

Appended hereto will be found the statement usually laid before Parliament, showing the distribution of the Force on the 31st ultimo.

During the year, 136 vacancies have taken place in the Department, which have been occasioned as follows:—

Resignations.....	63
Superannuations.....	24
Discharges.....	20
Dismissals.....	26
Deaths.....	3
	136

Three Police pensioners have also died during the year.

Notwithstanding the increase of the Police pay by 6d. per diem in 1875, I have still experienced considerable difficulty in securing the services of eligible men for the Foot Police Service. It will be observed that there were fifteen vacancies at the end of the year, chiefly in the Metropolitan District.

In consequence of the vacancies throughout the year, there is an unexpended balance of £4,000 nearly, on the vote for Police salaries and wages for 1876.

The total number of Police Stations is now 297, the following having been established during the past year:—

DISTRICT.	STATION.
Northern.....	Woodburn.
Eastern.....	Hunter's Hill.
Southern.....	Delegate.
".....	Buckley's Crossing.
".....	Bateman's Bay.
Western.....	Wallerawang.
".....	Quambone.
".....	Cobar.
North-eastern.....	New Lambton.
".....	Nambuccra.
".....	Forster (Cape Hawke).
".....	Stockton.
North-western.....	Meroe.
".....	Tambar Springs.
".....	Mogil Mogil.
South-western.....	Mossgeil.
".....	Maude.
".....	Salt Creek, Lake Victoria.
".....	Euabalong.
Murray.....	Yarrara.
".....	Clarendon.
Metropolitan.....	Kogarah.
".....	Macdonald Town.

Other new Stations have been authorized, and will be formed as early as practicable.

The

The unusually high price of forage during the past year, and the scarcity of feed, has necessitated a heavy expenditure for the maintenance of the horses in working condition.

Serious crimes such as armed robberies have continued on the decrease, but cases of incendiaryism have been numerous, and horse, cattle, and sheep stealing have certainly not diminished, the latter no doubt attributable to some extent to the increased number of fenced paddocks.

The necessity for amendment and consolidation of the Police Statutes is becoming a matter of some importance for ensuring the good management of the metropolis and other large towns. The preliminary steps were taken by me some time since, under the direction of the then Attorney General, Mr. Butler, and I trust that the Hon. the Colonial Secretary may be in a position shortly to give the subject his consideration.

There does not appear to me to be any other subject calling for special notice in reference to the Department, and which should be mentioned in a general Report.

I have, &c.,
EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector General of Police.

RETURN showing the Distribution of the Police Force on the 31st December, 1876.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE.

(CONSTABLE MOSS, PENRITH.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 May, 1877.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly, dated 9th May, 1877, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all Letters, Papers, or Minutes in respect to a charge made against “Constable Moss, of Penrith.”

(Mr. Hurley, Hartley.)

The Inspector General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 9 May, 1877.

CONSTABLE MOSS, of Penrith, was discharged in 1868; I am not aware of there having been any charge against him.

There was recently a complaint made by a publican against Constable Moss, of the Sydney Police. I append copies of the papers in that case, as perhaps it may be the matter referred to.

EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P.

Mrs. Grace Simmonds to The Inspector General of Police.

“Cave of Dunmore Hotel,” Gipps and Macquarie Streets, Sydney, 24 April, 1877.

Sir,

I am reluctantly compelled to acquaint you with the conduct of Constable Moss. On last Friday afternoon he came to my house about 2 p.m., whilst on duty in Macquarie-street, and after partaking of refreshments made use of most insulting, abusive language, and also imputing improper conduct to myself. He has since again been annoying me with threatening language, so I think I am perfectly justified in acquainting you of the conduct of one who instead of being a protection to the public is a great source of annoyance, and trust you will hear the matter thoroughly inquired into and oblige.

Your's, &c.,

GRACE SIMMONDS.

Forwarded to Superintendent Read for inquiry and report.—E.F., I.G.P., 24/4/77.

Constable Moss to Mr. Sub-Inspector Rush.

No. 2 Police Station, Sydney, 24 April, 1877.

CONSTABLE Edward G. Moss (No. 2667) most respectfully begs to state, with reference to the report brought against him by Grace Simmonds, that he never in any way insulted or threatened her, but acknowledges going in to have a glass of ale on the afternoon of the 20th instant, and in a few words conversation the constable merely said that he never knew anyone of any good come from Ashford, County Kent, as he had come from very near that place himself, and the constable further begs to state that he would be the last in the world to hurt the feelings of a female of any sort.

EDWARD GEORGE MOSS,

Constable.

Mr. Sub-Inspector Rush to Mr. Superintendent Read.

Sir,

No. 2 Subdivision, Sydney, 25 April, 1877.

I have the honor to report for your information that I have seen Mrs. Simmonds with reference to the attached complaint, and she states Constable Moss was in uniform when he came to her house on the day named; she says it may have been before 2 p.m. I find by the duty-book that Moss was on No. 3 beat, where the house named is situated, from 10 a.m. till 2 p.m.; therefore was in a public-house when he should have been on duty. Mrs. Simmonds is a young married woman, living apart from her husband under a Judge's protecting order. As far as I know she is a respectable person. The language she complains of is Moss told her he never knew anyone any good who came from Ashford; that his brother married a woman from there, and had to get divorced from her in six months. No doubt Moss has very often been at this house, and on the day in question he saw a young man in the back room with Mrs. Simmonds. Later in the day when off duty Moss called again in plain clothes and said, "What have you done with your flash man?" Mrs. Simmonds said, "You must not speak to me like that." It was then Moss made use of the language she complains of. Mrs. Simmonds states Moss has been there since and said he would watch her house and do her all the harm he could. I am of opinion that Constable Moss has been encouraged to visit Mrs. Simmonds' house, that he feels he is now treated cool; hence his remark about the "flash man," which caused Mrs. Simmonds to resent his language, which drew from him the remarks complained of by her.

I have, &c.,

JAS. RUSH,
Sub-Inspector.

Forwarded to the Inspector General of Police. It appears pretty obvious that Constable Moss has been a little too friendly with this publican. He was guilty of a breach of discipline in going into a public-house and drinking when on duty.—G. READ, Superintendent, 26/4/77.

Constable Moss should be reprimanded and cautioned for the breach of discipline. I conclude Mrs. Simmonds has been seen about her complaint.—EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P., 26/4/77. Superintendent Read, Sydney.

Severely reprimanded and cautioned. Constable Moss promises that he will have no further communication with this woman.—GEO. READ, Superintendent, 27/4/77.

Mr. R. D. Graham to The Inspector General of Police.

Sir,

Hill View House, Penrith, 2 May, 1877.

I have been informed that Constable Moss recently went into the "Cave of Dunmore Hotel," kept by Mrs. Simmonds, at the corner of Macquarie and Gipps Streets, and after partaking of refreshments turned round and grossly insulted and abused her. Will you kindly cause some inquiry into this matter?

Awaiting your reply,—

I am, &c.,

ROBERT D. GRAHAM.

Superintendent Read.—E.F., 3/5/77.

The Inspector General of Police to Mr. R. D. Graham.

Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 4 May, 1877.

MR. Robert D. Graham is informed, in reply to his letter, dated the 2nd instant, that the case referred to therein has already been investigated and dealt with.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector General of Police.

(CHARGES AGAINST SENIOR-CONSTABLE BREEN.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 10 January, 1877.

In re Charge preferred against Senior-constable Breen.

ON hearing of the result of the prosecution of Senior-constable Thomas Breen for unlawfully assaulting Christopher M'Enaney, I immediately called for the depositions. The information was dismissed on the 27th December, 1876. My telegram, calling for the depositions, was despatched on 2nd January following. The depositions were received on Saturday, 6th January. From the deposition of M'Enaney, the complainant, it would appear that on the 2nd of December he was arrested at Coolah, a place in the Mudgee District, by Senior-constable Breen, on a charge of forgery; that he went with the constable some portion of the way to the watch-house; that he then asked whether Breen had any warrant for his apprehension; that Breen replied to him "If you don't go on I will knock you down," at the same time raising a heavy whip which he (Breen) had in his hand. Upon which he (M'Enaney) stepped back and raised his left arm to save his head. That Breen then struck him several times, cutting through his coat and breaking his arm; that his arm was black from the wrist to the elbow; that he (M'Enaney) then fell down, upon which Breen struck him with a pair of handcuffs and then handcuffed him; then took him to the police-station and leg-ironed him and chained him to an iron bedstead, and after he was chained down struck him with either a ruler or stick on the thigh and on the cheek. If this story is true it seems to me a gross and unprovoked outrage on the part of Breen. There was no impropriety in M'Enaney asking the policeman whether he had a warrant for his apprehension or not—and in my judgment the policeman should have informed him, but this is an immaterial circumstance. M'Enaney's statement as to his accompanying Breen a portion of the way to the watch-house is confirmed by the deposition of Archibald Henderson, an innkeeper at Coolah, in whose house the arrest took place. Henderson deposes that he saw prisoner accompany the constable for about 100 yards. Dr. Wilson Ramsay, the Government Medical Officer at Gulgong, deposes that he saw M'Enaney for the first time on the 6th December. I may remark here that I think it is scandalous that M'Enaney was not visited by a medical man immediately upon his being received into the lock-up. Dr. Ramsay declares that he found his (M'Enaney's) left-arm, fore-arm, and shoulder disabled, so that he could not take off his shirt without assistance. In fact, according to Dr. Ramsay's testimony, the bruising was so excessive as to preclude further examination, owing to the suffering he would occasion the patient. The right thigh was also extensively bruised. At that time Dr. Ramsay had not discovered that the arm was broken; but nine days later, on examining M'Enaney in Mudgee Gaol, the Doctor discovered that there was a fracture of the ulna, the larger of the two bones of the fore-arm, and that he believed the other bone was broken. But I think the strongest evidence in corroboration of the statement of M'Enaney is the evidence given by Breen himself when he preferred a charge against M'Enaney of assaulting a constable in the execution of his duty. In his (Breen's) deposition, on the hearing of that information, he admitted in cross-examination that he struck M'Enaney with the handcuffs as well as with the whip—that he gave him a great bruising—that he knocked the head off the whip handle, and struck M'Enaney with the ruler when he was in the lock-up handcuffed and leg-ironed. Under all the circumstances of this case, I feel so dissatisfied with the result that I am constrained to bring it under the notice of my hon. colleague, the Colonial Secretary. The conduct of Breen in effecting this arrest seems to me to have been characterized by unnecessary and (I regret I am compelled to use the word concerning any member of the Police Force) brutal violence. Whatever defence he may urge in extenuation of his conduct up to the time when his prisoner was handcuffed and leg-ironed, it seems to me that his conduct is absolutely indefensible in using any violence when the prisoner was in the lock-up secured and helpless; and on this ground alone I am unable to understand the magisterial decision.

WILLIAM B. DALLEY,
Attorney General.

Crown Law Offices,
Sydney, 8th January, 1877.

Coolah, 23 December, 1876.

To the Inspector General of Police, Sydney,—

We, the undersigned, inhabitants of Coolah, respectfully petition that you will not allow the charge of ill-treating prisoners, now pending, to injure the position in the Force of Senior-constable Breen. Many of the undersigned were eye-witnesses of the arrest of the prisoner referred to. The prisoner resisted in the most violent manner, and we think the life of Senior-constable Breen would have been in danger had he not disabled the man in some way. Of the charge of ill-using M'Enaney while in custody we had no opportunity of judging, but we know the prisoner behaved like a maniac. Further, we are in a position to state that Breen has no fit place for keeping a dangerous prisoner with safety to himself and family. The undersigned also wish to state in the strongest terms our appreciation of Senior-constable Breen. As a member of this community his conduct has always been marked by consistency and uprightness, and as an officer he has been most diligent and hard-working, in fact he is the terror of horse and cattle stealers in this part of the country.

Mr. Breen is held in the highest esteem by every respectable member of this district. We will deeply regret should this charge injure him in any way.

His removal from this district would be injurious to the well-being of the place. As a much-respected inhabitant we would feel the loss of him, and we are also of opinion that the Department would make a great mistake in removing so efficient an officer from a sphere of usefulness in which he has already rendered such great service. It is therefore with feelings of the greatest sincerity and earnestness we urge your favourable consideration of this most exaggerated charge against Senior-constable Breen.

MEMO.—With respect to instructions contained in your telegrams Nos. 1 and 2 attached, instructing me to bring Senior-constable Breen (now under suspension) before the Bench, for assaulting prisoner Christopher M'Enaney, then in custody at Coolah, on the 2nd instant, I beg to report for your information, that I had prisoner remanded to Gulgong, where he laid an information, on the 21st instant, against Senior-constable Breen. Witnesses were summoned for the 27th, the next Court day, it being impossible from the distance to procure their attendance before that date. I may here state, with reference to your telegram No. 2, that the Magistrate, Mr. Donaldson, refused to take my information, on the grounds that the aggrieved party was the person to complain. I also saw Mr. Brown the Police Magistrate, who informed me, that in case I laid the information the complaint would have to be dismissed on technical grounds, as the 27th section of 9 George, cap. 31, was imperative. I summoned all the witnesses named to me by the prisoner, also Dr. Ramsay to give medical evidence as to the injuries received by the prisoner M'Enaney. I attended, on the 27th, the hearing of the case at Gulgong, and examined all the witnesses, and put in the deposition made by Breen at the Police Court, Gulgong (a copy of which is attached); the case was thoroughly investigated with great patience by the Magistrates, Mr. Browne, P.M., Mr. S. A. Blackman, and Mr. Plunkett, J.P.'s. Mr. Clark appeared for Senior-constable Breen. The Magistrates dismissed the case, with the remarks that, considering the situation in which Senior-constable Breen was placed, that he had no assistance or lock-up wherein to confine prisoners, also taking into consideration the great provocation given by the complainant M'Enaney, they did not see that more violence had been used than was necessary for the defence of Senior-constable Breen, to control the prisoner and prevent his escape.

I forward a copy of the whole proceedings for your information.

GEO. C. CARTER,
Sub-inspector.

Vide Police Album, No. 51, for M'Enaney's career.

I forward depositions in the case of Senior-constable Breen, which was heard at Gulgong, and dismissed by the Bench. I think there is little doubt Breen did use violence, but the prisoner is a most violent man. I have been obliged to send Breen back to Coolah, as there is a case pending which cannot be heard without him.

18 December, 1876.

Lay an information against Breen charging him with assaulting the prisoner M'Enaney; have him duly served with a summons to answer the charge; subpoena M'Enaney and any one else you think necessary to support case; report result by telegram.

I think as the person assaulted is a prisoner in custody of police and the other a constable you had better lay the information.

Information—(General purposes).

New South Wales, }
Gulgong, to wit. }

Be it remembered, that on this 21st day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, at Gulgong, in the Colony of New South Wales, Christopher M'Enaney, now of Gulgong, appears before me, the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices duly assigned to keep the peace of Our Lady the Queen, in and for the Colony of New South Wales, and on oath informs me:— That on the second day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Thomas Breen, Senior-constable of the Police Force of New South Wales, did, at Coolah in the said Colony, unlawfully beat this complainant, contrary to the law in such case made and provided: Whereupon the said Christopher M'Enaney prays that I, the said Justice, will proceed in the premises according to law.

Sworn at Gulgong, in the said Colony, on the day first above written, before me,—

CHRISTOPHER M'ENANEY.

LESTER S. DONALDSON, J.P.

M'Enaney v. Breen.—Assault.

George Chapman Carter, sworn, states:—I am a Sub-inspector of Police, stationed at Mudgee; I received instructions from the Superintendent of Police to have an information laid against Constable Breen, for assaulting a prisoner named Christopher M'Enaney who was then in custody; I had prisoner remanded to Gulgong, where he laid an information before L. S. Donaldson, Esquire, J.P., on the 21st instant.

Cross-examined by Mr. Clark:—I have known Breen about two years; until this matter happened, I always had the highest opinion of him; I do not know how long he has been in the Force; I know the complainant—his police history is bad; I have seen him on one occasion in December, 1862, or in January, 1863, at Wentworth; I arrested him; he drew a knife out of his pocket; there was great difficulty in getting him to the lock-up; there were two constables and two or three civilians engaged; complainant is a very powerful man; there is an album kept of notorious criminals, and copies are forwarded to the principal police stations; there is an album at Mudgee which contains the photograph of prisoner, and the record states that he had been sentenced three times, and I know of my own knowledge that he has been sentenced one since that record was made; the last was under the name of Charles M'Henry.

Sworn at Gulgong, December 27th, 1876.

GEO. C. CARTER.

Examined by complainant: I cannot swear that you served the sentences recorded against you in the album.

By Mr. Clark: After he was arrested at Wentworth one of his arms was bad for some time.

Sworn at Gulgong, December 27th, 1876,—

JAMES F. PLUNKETT, J.P.

Christopher M'Enaney sworn, states:—I am the complainant; I have heard my information read; defendant now before the Court is the person I complain of; I am a ship carpenter by trade, and at present a prisoner on remand, charged with forgery; I was at Coolah in the beginning of this month; on the second I was arrested by constable Breen on a charge of forgery; I accompanied him to the watch-house; on the way I asked him if he had a warrant for my apprehension; he replied, "If you don't go I will knock you down," at the same time raising a heavy whip which he had in his hand; I asked him to show me the warrant or read it for me; he told me to go on; when he rose the whip I made a step back and raised my left arm to save my head, the blow fell on my arm; he struck me more than once; the blow cut my coat through and broke my arm, my arm was black from my wrist to above the elbow, there is blood on my coat; I had no knife in my hand all this time; I could not tell how many times he struck me; I fell down and he struck me with the handcuffs and then handcuffed me; I did not resist him in any way; he took me to the police-station and leg-ironed me and chained me to an iron bedstead; I sat on the bedstead while he searched me, he took away what he found on me and left the room; he shortly returned and caught me by the handcuffs and dragged me off the bedstead and threw me on my shoulder on the floor and dragged me to the door and chained me by the hands outside the door; I was lying with my head outside the door and my feet chained to the bedstead; after I was chained down he struck me with either a ruler or his whip on the thigh and on the cheek; there was a large bruise on my thigh afterwards and my cheek was bleeding; I gave him no provocation to strike me; I called him a coward when he struck me the first blow, he then struck me the second time; I roared out for help, and Mr. Henderson and a young man named Sutherland came, asked me what I was calling out about, and I told him Breen was striking me while I was chained down; I do not know whether Breen was near enough then to hear what was said: Sutherland said nothing; I was remanded to Gulgong from Coolah; I have to keep my arm in a sling, and have had very little use of it since the assault.

Cross-

Cross-examined by Mr. Clark:—I was arrested at Mr. Henderson's—I believe I was; I had not been drinking heavily for three or four days; I had had a glass or two, but was sober; we were about halfway between Mr. Henderson's and the watch-house when he struck me; I think the distance between the two places is two or three hundred yards; the knife now shown to me is not my property; I will not swear to it; I had a white-handled penknife that day; I have a brown-handled knife in my swag in the gaol; I won't swear I did not have this knife now shown to me when I was at Gundare Station; defendant refused to show me the warrant when I asked him to; I did not take a knife out of my pocket and say, "I will give you this"; I did not put my hands in a fighting attitude; he struck me when my hands were raised to save his blow, but not in opposition to him; defendant did not catch hold of me by the shoulder till I fell down, then he jumped on top of me; this took about five minutes; there was only one fall; there was no such thing as a struggle in which I had two or three falls before he got the handcuffs on me; I sat up on the ground after I was handcuffed, but only while getting on to my feet; I did not remain sitting while Breen stood under a tree panting for breath; I never to my knowledge drew a knife on a constable before, but I won't swear that I never did; some years ago at Wentworth it took more than one constable to take me to the lock-up, but I was insensible from the usage I got, and I don't know how many were there; I can't say whether I was violent on that occasion or not; after I had been ten minutes in the lock-up other persons may have come to see me besides Henderson and Sutherland; when I was chained to the bedstead I had to stand up occasionally while he searched me; Breen asked me to pull off my boots while he searched me; I will not swear I did not say I could not pull them off while I was handcuffed; to my knowledge he did not take the handcuffs off my right hand to enable me to take off my boots, but I will not swear it, I was in too much pain to remember distinctly; I did take off my boots, and he examined them; I did not attempt to strike him with the handcuffs while he was examining the boots; I do not recollect any person calling out, "Look out Breen"; I don't know if any one was present when he examined my boots; I cannot say whether he handcuffed me again; I do not think he took them off at all till the next morning, when my arm was very much swollen; I did not make a rush at any man in the room, I was chained too closely to the bedstead, and I cannot swear that I was leg-ironed when I took my boots off; I did not drag the bedstead to the door to my knowledge, but I will not swear I did not; I was not kicking and struggling and trying to break the handcuffs; some time after he chained me outside the door a blacksmith came and put two staples in the floor to which I was chained; I never was treated as a refractory prisoner while in gaol; my left arm was not disabled after the affair at Wentworth, neither of my arms was disabled on that occasion; I was brought to Gulgong on the 6th instant; while in the lock-up at Gulgong, I did not ask to be allowed to clean out the cell; the constable asked me to do it, and I mopped it out with my right hand; the night I arrived at Gulgong I asked to see the doctor—I think it was Constable Stapleton I asked; the doctor did not come; defendant struck me more than once while I was handcuffed and leg-ironed; I did not make several attempts to escape before I was fastened down; I have been in and out of the Colony several times; I first arrived in 1857 or 1860, in the "Sarah Dixon"; I decline to say how many years I have been in gaol; I decline to say whether I received two years and eight months in Sydney Gaol for larceny; the "Sarah Dixon" was an emigrant ship from Liverpool; I decline to say whether my photograph has been taken; I was not dragged to the lock-up ten yards at a time—I don't think I was dragged at all, but I am not certain; I have sustained an injury to my head, and have been informed that I have a silver plate in my skull; my head is affected by change of weather or by any excitement.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carter: I was struck on the leg by a ruler or whip after my boots were taken off, and while I was chained to the floor.

Archibald Henderson sworn, states:—I am an innkeeper at Coolah; I know complainant; I remember his being arrested on the 2nd of this month by Constable Breen, the defendant, on a charge of forgery; he arrested him in my house; I saw prisoner go with the constable for about 100 yards, when Breen sprang back from prisoner and tried to trip or hit him on the hands with a whip which he had, as if to knock something out of his hands; I did not see anything in prisoner's hands—I was too far away; I was called inside and saw no more; then in about ten minutes or so I came to the door again; I saw Breen with the prisoner at about the same place, he had him down and trying to handcuff him; he took him to the police station; prisoner walked, was dragged part of the way, he kept stopping and was obstreperous; he was only dragged once that I saw; my house is over 200 yards from the police station; my attention was next called to the police station by the noise, in about a quarter of an hour after the prisoner was taken in; I saw Breen beckoning and went over: I saw the complainant leg-ironed to the bed by one leg and handcuffed; prisoner made no complaint to me about any ill usage; he asked me for a drink of water; he may have made a complaint to some one else without my noticing it, but I do not think he did.

By complainant: I did not hear you calling out murder or help; a young man named Sutherland was not with me when I came to the lock-up. You were handcuffed with your head in the doorway when I gave you the drink of water; I told you to be quiet; I do not recollect your telling me that the constable struck you when you were chained down.

Examined by Mr. Clark: It may have been more than a quarter of an hour before Breen beckoned me to the lock-up; a man named Barrington Leeson went with me to the lock-up; I only saw Breen and his prisoner on the ground once when Breen was handcuffing his prisoner. The lock-up at Coolah is merely the constable's private dwelling; there is only one constable; complainant was quiet when I went with Leeson. When I went to the lock-up Breen asked me to stop while he sent for the blacksmith, as complainant was violent; Gleeson or Leeson went for the blacksmith, and the complainant was chained down; the bedstead was dragged nearly to the door; I did not see complainant chained down; complainant plainant was at my house for two days, and was under the influence of drink when arrested; whilst I was at the lock-up I saw complainant biting the boards in front of the door.

Wilson Ramsay sworn, states:—I am Government Medical Officer at Gulgong; I saw complainant for the first time on the 6th of this month, when he was in the dock; I afterwards attended at the lock-up at Gulgong, and examined him; I found the left arm, fore-arm, and shoulder disabled, so that he could not take off his shirt without assistance; his arm and fore-arm bore evidence of severe bruising, and were so tender to the touch that I made no further examination then; his right thigh was extensively bruised, and there was a distinct mark of a whip or a ruler; I mention the ruler, because prisoner, in answer to my question, said he had not been struck with a ruler; I asked him if he had received any medical treatment; I did not at that time discover that his arm was broken, as it was very much swollen; a few days afterwards, on the 15th, I examined him in Mudgee Gaol, and discovered a fracture of the ulna, which was patent to view, and I believe the other bone of the arm is also broken; If a man held up his arm to protect his head, that is where he would receive the blow; a loaded whip would produce the injury I have described; the fracture which I have discovered on the 15th must have been recent, but I could not fix a nearer time than within a month; I heard last witness say that he saw complainant biting some boards—he might do so on account of the pain he was suffering.

Cross-examined by Mr. Clark: With the injury to his head that complainant has suffered at some time (a depressed fracture of the skull), he would hardly be accountable for his actions when under the influence of drink; when Dr. Barnard examined the complainant recently, I was satisfied that the fracture was recent—within four weeks at most—the bones were not quite knit.

By the Bench: When I first examined him his arm was swollen as thick as my thigh; if both bones of the arm were broken a man could use his fingers.

By Mr. Clark: If both bones of the arm were broken he could not use a mop with both hands to clean out a cell. He told me he was not struck with a ruler after being ironed. In answer to my question whether he had been asked for a doctor, he replied, "No, not to my knowledge."

By the Bench: He has no plate in his head—I never heard of any one having one; the depressed fracture would affect his memory.

Re-examined: The examination in Mudgee was made in the presence of Dr. Rowling, and we both agreed that there was a simple fracture of the ulna.

Christopher M'Enaney, assaulting a constable in the execution of his duty.

*Senior-constable Thomas Breen states:—*I am stationed at Coolah; on Saturday, the 2nd instant, whilst arresting the prisoner now before the Court, by a warrant on a charge of forgery, which I now produce, and while on the way to the watch-house at Coolah, prisoner demanded to see the warrant for his arrest for forgery; he said, "I won't go with you," and drew a knife (which I now produce), and said, "I'll give you the knife"; he raised his hand in a threatening attitude, but I will not swear the knife was open; I struck him with a whip handle on the hands and he dropped the knife; I handcuffed him and locked him up; I picked up the knife and I believe it was open, but I would not swear it; I used the whip handle very freely, as I believed my life was in danger.

By Mr. Davidson: I hit him with the handcuffs as well as with the whip; I gave him a great bruising; I knocked the head off the whip handle; after he was handcuffed his behaviour was so demonstratively violent that I hit him once with a ruler, he was then in the lock-up handcuffed and leg-ironed; I don't think I hit him on any other occasion when he was handcuffed; when he drew the knife no one else was present; I think I hit him with the ruler on the calf of the leg, he was then in a room at the police-station; he said he had a silver plate in his head; I attributed his behaviour to that cause.

JAMES PLUNKETT, J.P.

*Barrington Leeson, sworn, states:—*I am poundkeeper at Coolah; I was present, on the 2nd instant, when defendant arrested the complainant; when about 100 yards towards the lock-up the prisoner seemed to object to go any further; Breen took him by the shoulder, and the prisoner put up his hand in a fighting position; before that Breen did not use his whip to strike complainant; when complainant raised his hands defendant struck him with the whip about his hands or arms; complainant tried to get away, when defendant caught hold of him and tried to throw him down; they went down together, and were struggling, and got up, and went down again, and at last defendant handcuffed him; complainant was sitting on the ground, and defendant was sitting under the shade of a little bush looking quite exhausted; he stayed there about five minutes, when they started again for the lock-up; about ten minutes or a quarter of an hour afterwards I heard a noise at the lock-up; I went there, and saw defendant searching complainant; we asked him to take off his boots; complainant said he could not take them off with the handcuffs on; Breen loosened the handcuffs off his right hand, and he then took off his boots; while defendant was looking at the boots complainant made a blow at him with the handcuffs in his left hand; Connor, who came with me, said, "Look out Breen"; Breen then handcuffed complainant, who made a rush at Connor, saying, "Oh, you wretch!" or something like that; defendant brought him back, and put a leg-iron on him; I then left, and returned a second time with Mr. Henderson; complainant was then lying down gnawing the boards; I went for the blacksmith to get a staple and chain to fasten him.

By the Bench: He used both hands to pull his boots off.

By Mr. Carter: I was about 100 yards away when the struggle commenced; I did not see anything in complainant's hands; I do not know how many times defendant struck complainant; during the five minutes Breen was resting complainant made no attempt to get away; Breen was stooping, looking at the boots, when complainant held the handcuffs as if he were going to strike him; when I went to the lock-up, and saw complainant handcuffed and leg-ironed, he told me that Breen had struck him; I am sure he had the handcuffs on his left hand.

Charles Hayeman, sworn, states :—I was at Coolah on the 2nd instant, and saw defendant arrest complainant ; they went towards the lock-up about 100 yards, when complainant took something out of his pocket and tried to hit the policeman ; defendant hit complainant over the hands with his whip ; defendant had a horse, but he let him go ; the knife produced is one complainant wanted to sell to me, at Gundore, for 1s. 6d. ; after defendant hit complainant they did not struggle ; the policeman was too smart for him, and after hitting him several times he threw him down and put the handcuffs on him and sat down under a tree ; when they started again the defendant had to drag complainant two or three times about nine or ten yards each time ; I was expecting the constable to call on me for assistance, but he did not do so.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carter : I went about twenty-five yards nearer to them than the public-house was ; I don't know what it was that complainant took out of his pocket ; the policeman gave him one good clout on his arm, and then kept tapping him on the hands ; when he threw him down he did not let him get up again till he handcuffed him ; complainant was singing out murder when the constable was sitting under the tree ; there are no marks on the knife, but I can swear to it without a mark ; there has been no row between me and complainant about my money, and I believe he took it.

By Mr. Clark : I have borrowed this knife twenty times to cut tobacco with.

HUGH DIXSON, J.P.

Pleads "Not Guilty."

Constable James Azam, on oath, states: I am a member of the New South Wales Police Force; the defendant is the person I charge with being drunk and disorderly in York-street, a public street in the city, on the 28th June last; about five minutes to 4 o'clock in the morning of the 28th June last the defendant was in a cab in York-street; he was yelling and shouting; one of the cab lamps was out; I hailed the cabman to stop and light his lamp; the defendant jumped out of the cab and asked what the bloody hell I stopped the cab for when he was in the cab; he spoke in a threatening manner; I was in Police uniform; I told the cabman that I should object to the cabman taking the defendant into his cab because he was drunk and disorderly, and I was going to arrest him—he was drunk and disorderly; the defendant paid the cabman; Constable M'Donald came up and I took the defendant into custody; defendant was very drunk and violent, and it took four of us to secure the defendant.

Cross-examined by Mr. Vardy: At five minutes to 4 o'clock I was in York-street, when I saw the defendant coming along York-street in a cab; I was alone; the first thing I did was to hail the cabman and tell him that one of his lights was out; I don't remember whether the cabman said that he didn't know it; he didn't take out his lamp to light it when I was talking to him; after I hailed the cabman I didn't hear the defendant say to the cabman, "Well, cabby, what the hell are you stopping for"; I did not hear the cabman tell the defendant that he was lighting his lamp; I didn't say to the cabman, "You have a drunken man in your cab, and if you take him any further it will be at your own risk"; the defendant jumped out of the cab and said to me, "What the hell do you stop a cab for when I am in it"; I can't remember whether the cabman said that he couldn't take the defendant if a constable objected; I didn't go to the door of the cab, and say to defendant before he first got out of the cab, "Here, come out of this, you will have to go with me"; I didn't place my hands on him when he was in the cab; when I arrested him he clung to the wheel of the cab outside to resist me; I didn't tell the defendant that he would have to pay the cabman; the defendant may have said that he would pay the cabman when he drove him to the ship; I didn't say "pay him"; the defendant took out of his pocket a 2s. piece, a half-crown, and six-pence, and said "There are 5s."; I didn't hear defendant say, "That don't look like if I was drunk"; I saw one person in the cab with defendant; I won't swear that there were not two persons in the cab with defendant; I will not swear that the cabman was not paid before the second constable came up; neither of us struck the defendant with our baton when we were taking the defendant away from the wheel of the cab; there was not a baton taken from either of our pockets during the arrest; we didn't use the baton on the defendant; the defendant was dragged away from the wheel by myself and Constable M'Donald; the defendant was not struck by us with anything; after we pulled him away from the cab the defendant struggled and tried to resist us; when he was struggling he fell or threw himself down; as he was in the act of falling, neither me nor my comrade struck him over the head with a baton; Constable M'Donald blew the whistle when he received a severe kick on the head; Senior-constable Butler came after M'Donald blew his whistle; Butler ran up; he didn't say, "I'll quiet the bugger"; Butler didn't strike the defendant on the head with his baton as he was getting up; when Butler came up the defendant was not in the act of getting up, he was trying to get up; I had hold of his hands; Butler didn't strike the defendant at any time with his baton; the defendant didn't fall down immediately after Butler came up; we didn't catch hold of the defendant by the throat, hold him against the the edge of the kerbstone, and try to choke him; when defendant was lying down the constables did not beat him with a baton; about a quarter or half a minute after Butler came up, another constable came up; I didn't hear a man say, "If you allow me to speak to him he will go quietly"; Constable Butler didn't draw back, strike a man three times in the face, and say, "You bloody bugger, what do you want"?—no constable there did that; I did not say to one of the young men who was there, "Do you want anything"; I didn't hear the cabman say, "For God's sake, don't ill-treat the man like that"; I won't swear that he didn't say so; the four of us carried him to the station; I didn't hear him say, "Don't kill me," when we were taking him to the station; I won't swear he didn't say so; he spoke after he was taken to the station; he said that he would kick one of the reserve men's guts out, and he did kick him; I didn't notice any blood on the prisoner's face when he was brought to the station; he may have had blood on his face; neither of the constables knocked any of the defendant's teeth out with a baton; I didn't see any hair torn out of the defendant's beard by police; the defendant was not kicked by a constable in my presence; last week when the defendant was brought into Court his lips were swollen, his eyes were bloodshot, his mouth was not bleeding, his beard was in the same state as it is now; I noticed a cut on his hand, and a mark which appeared to have been caused by him struggling when he had the handcuffs on; he was carried out of the Court in an unconscious state; he was suffering from delirium tremens, I think; I saw the defendant walk out to the van afterwards; I won't swear that there were not any of the defendant's teeth left in the cell; there were a good many prisoners in the same cell as the defendant; the marks on the hat produced were not caused by any of the constables who arrested him striking him on the head with a baton; there were not any pound notes found on the prisoner at the lock-up.

By Mr. Carroll: The blood which was on the defendant's hands was not caused by the constables who arrested him.

Remanded till to-morrow, at 10:30 o'clock; bail allowed, self in £10. James Richards, of No. 54 Cumberland-street, acknowledges himself bound in the sum of £10 for defendant's appearance.

A. THOMPSON, J.P.

Sydney, 6th July, 1876.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

Constable Peter McDonald, on oath, states: I am a member of the New South Wales Police Force; I know Constable Axam and the defendant; on the morning of the 28th June last, at about 4 o'clock, I was on duty in York-street, Sydney; I heard some person shouting very loudly in the direction of the Masonic Hall, in York-street; I hastened with all possible speed to see what it was; I there saw the defendant and Constable Axam; the defendant was in the act of paying a cabman; the defendant was not in the cab; the constable was standing in the street; the cabman was in front of him; two or three other persons were there; I heard the defendant use some very strong language—he said, "I'll let no bloody bobby take me;" Constable Axam asked me to assist him to arrest the defendant for being drunk and disorderly; defendant was in a state of raving drunkenness; Constable Axam arrested him; defendant resisted very much; I assisted Axam to arrest the defendant, and he assaulted me, and caught hold of the wheel of the cab; a struggle ensued, and the defendant fell, and he tore my coat; it took three constables to take the defendant to the lock-up; a fourth constable met us as we were going into the gate of the station; we had to sound our whistles to prevent using violence; the defendant was very drunk and disorderly; there was some blood on the defendant's right hand when I seized him by the hand.

Cross-examined by Mr. Vardy: I was in York-street, between King and Market Streets, when I heard the noise; the cab was standing near the Masonic Hall; when I first saw the defendant he hadn't hold of the wheel of the cab; a few seconds after I came up, the defendant grasped the wheel of the cab; when Constable Axam arrested him he caught hold of the wheel; when I came up I saw the defendant catch hold of the wheel of the cab; before he put his hands on the wheel Constable Axam asked me to assist him to arrest him; two persons besides the driver were standing near at the time; I released the defendant's hands from the wheel; Constable Axam assisted me to take the defendant from the wheel; he resisted our attempts to take him from the wheel; Constable Axam or myself didn't strike the defendant with a baton or anything else across his hands when we were removing him from the wheel; when we got him away from the wheel he struggled and fell down; when he was falling Constable Axam or myself didn't strike him over the head with a baton; after he fell a whistle was blown, and a third constable came up; it was Senior-constable Butler who came up; he ran up; he didn't say, "I'll quiet the bugger"; I didn't hear him say so; it was impossible for him to say so without I heard him; when he came up to us I will not swear he did not say so; when Butler came up he didn't strike the defendant on the head with his baton; when Butler came up the defendant was trying to get up; he was kicking violently; the defendant was on the ground when Senior-constable Butler came up, and he didn't get up again till he was carried into the lock-up; he was handcuffed without any violence from the police; he struggled violently on the ground when he was being handcuffed; when the defendant was on the ground being handcuffed the constables didn't strike the defendant with a baton; the constables never struck the defendant with a baton; there was no baton used at all; the constables didn't catch hold of the defendant and try to choke him before they handcuffed him; I didn't hear one of the persons who were standing by say, "If you allow me to speak to him he will go quietly"; I won't swear that the words were not used; I didn't hear the cabman say, "For God's sake, don't ill-use the man like that"; he did not use those words; the fourth constable came from the beat; it was not the watch house keeper; the three constables took the defendant as far as the gate, and the fourth constable joined us there; defendant was perfectly conscious; I didn't hear defendant say "Don't kill me," as he was carried into the lock-up; I swear he didn't say so; he was not moaning; two of us carried the defendant into the cell; I was one of the two; on last Wednesday week I was in Court as a witness against the defendant on the charge on which he is now before the Court.

Sworn at Sydney, this 7th July, 1876, before,—

PETER McDONALD.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

Remanded till next Wednesday. Defendant acknowledges himself bound in the sum of £10 for his appearance. James Richards, of No. 54, Cumberland-street, acknowledges himself bound in the sum of £10 for defendant's appearance.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

Sydney, 7th July, 1876.

Constable

Constable Peter M'Donald, re-sworn, states: My former evidence is true.

Cross-examined by Mr. Vardy: I was in Court on last Wednesday week when the defendant was brought before the Court for being drunk and disorderly; he was in a state of unconsciousness, and apparently in hysterics; he was carried out of Court, and was remanded to gaol for a week for medical treatment; I was present in the afternoon when the defendant was taken out of the van; I saw the defendant in the cell and left him there; I did not see two buckets of water thrown over him; there were other persons in the cell; the prisoner walked into the cell; he was conscious when he was searched, and he made a kick at me; his face was not covered with blood when he was put into the cell; I didn't see four or five of his teeth knocked out; I didn't see any of his teeth in the cell, there possibly might have been some of them left in the cell; the tooth produced was not knocked out of the defendant's mouth by a constable's baton on that morning; I didn't take any part in the matter until I was called by Constable Axam; I didn't hear the cabman say, "Don't ill-treat the man"; I won't swear he didn't say so—I was excited, and the other constables who were with me couldn't be but excited; I had my baton in my possession; from the time I went up to the cab neither myself or the other three constables struck the defendant with a baton; they didn't draw their baton and I didn't draw my baton.

PETER M'DONALD.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

Remanded till to-morrow; defendant acknowledges himself bound in the sum of £10, and James Richards acknowledges himself bound in the sum of £10 for the defendant's appearance.

Sydney, 12th July, 1876.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

Senior-constable John Butler, on oath, states: I am a member of the New South Wales Police Force; on the morning of the 28th June last, I was on duty at the Central Police Station; I heard a constable's whistle; I went into York-street, and heard a noise there near the Markets; I ran up and saw the defendant on the footway in the custody of Constables Axam and M'Donald; the defendant was drunk and kicking violently at the two constables; I said to them, "Look out, or he will hurt some of you"; I assisted to take him to the watch-house; he kicked me on the left hand, and I said, "Let him down, and we will put the handcuffs on him"; we then took him to the station.

By Mr. Vardy: I ran up to the defendant and the two constables; I didn't say, "I'll quiet the bugger"; I didn't strike him over the head with my baton and knock him down; the defendant didn't fall suddenly just after I came up; the three of us didn't catch hold of the defendant by the throat and hold him against the edge of the kerbstone and try to choke him; I caught hold of him when we were handcuffing him; I didn't kneel on his chest; he was so violent that it took the three of us to handcuff him; when he was being handcuffed, neither of us struck the defendant with a baton; there were not any batons drawn on the occasion; I didn't have my baton; from the time I came up until the defendant was put in the cell there was not any batons used, or any batons drawn; when I came up to the defendant two men were near him; one of the men came up to us and wanted to get the defendant away from us; I pushed him away and said, "Don't interfere with us, please"; when the man came up, I didn't let the defendant go, and strike the man three blows in the face, and say "What do you want, you bugger"; I didn't hear the cabman call out and say, "For God's sake, don't ill-use the man like that"; he may have said so; the defendant was not taken into the watch house by four constables; three constables took the defendant into the station, and another constable came into the station immediately afterwards; when we took the defendant into the station I did not see any blood on his face; I saw some mud on his face, and there may have been blood under the mud; the defendant was not moaning when we took him to the station; the defendant walked between us after we handcuffed him; we didn't carry him into the station at full length; if one or two witnesses have sworn that he was carried into the station at full length, it is not a fact; five of us were present, and three assisted to put the defendant into the cell; I didn't assist to wash the blood off defendant's face; I was not present when two buckets of water were thrown over defendant; I was not present when the defendant was lifted up by the ear to be washed in the cell; I didn't see the defendant when he was brought into Court on the 28th June; I was not in the Court as a witness; I was not told to come; I didn't see several of defendant's teeth knocked out; five of his teeth were not knocked out by the police after I came up to them; I didn't follow the defendant to church last Sunday evening, and watch him in church and from church; I didn't see the defendant from 5 o'clock on the morning of the 28th June last until the following Wednesday; I didn't hear Constable Axam tell the defendant on last Wednesday week to plead guilty and it would be better for him.

By Mr. Carroll: Constables Ryan and Bell were present when the defendant was put in the cell; there was not any more force used than necessary to take the prisoner.

Sworn at Sydney, this 13th July, 1876,—

JOHN BUTLER.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

Constable John Bell, on oath, states: On the morning of the 28th June last, I saw the defendant in York-street, about 100 yards from the station; I heard a whistle before I saw the defendant, and when I got up to the defendant he was drunk and making a noise; I noticed that he was kicking at Senior-constable Butler, Constable Axam, and Constable M'Donald, and trying to bite them; I only remained with them for about a minute and a half; it was twenty minutes afterwards when the constables brought the defendant to the station; the defendant came into the station walking between the police, shouting, and making a great noise; I did not notice any blood on the defendant's face; I saw some mud on his face.

By Mr. Vardy: I came out of the station along York-street; I was on duty at the station as a reserve man; when I got up I saw the defendant near "Beattie's Hotel"; he was on the ground struggling with the police, and I think he was trying to get away from the police; I didn't assist to handcuff the prisoner; I hurried back to the station; I don't know any more than what I have said; four constables came into the station; the three constables I saw with defendant in York-street brought him to the station; the defendant was not handcuffed when I was there; the police were trying to handcuff him; they didn't strike him with their baton; I didn't hear a cabman say, "Don't ill-use the man like that"; I won't swear he didn't say so; I didn't hear the defendant moaning when he was brought into the station; he didn't say, "For God's sake, don't kill me"; he had no blood on his face; his mouth was not bleeding; three of the constables put him into the cell; I locked the cell door; at 5 o'clock in the morning I saw him in the cell asleep; I didn't see any of his loose teeth in the cell that morning; I helped to get him ready ready for Court; I raised him by the shoulders and arms; I didn't raise him by the ear; I rubbed some mud off his face; I didn't wash any blood off his face; his face was a little scratched, and it might have bled; I don't think it could have bled much; if there was any blood it was mixed up with the mud; I couldn't say whether his right hand was hurt; I didn't throw any water over the defendant; twobuckets of water were not thrown over him in my presence; Constable No. 71 was not there when I was there; I had a bucket about three-fourths full of water, and I washed defendant's face with some of it; I held the defendant up when I was washing his face, and he was shouting and not groaning; when he was brought into Court he was almost asleep in delirium tremens; when he was taken out of Court he didn't appear to be unconscious; three or four constables carried him out of Court at full length; he didn't feel inclined to walk; to the best of my belief he was conscious; I won't swear that he was not unconscious; I was not present when the defendant was put in the van; I don't know who No. 71 is.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

DEFENCE.

James Richards, on oath, states: I live in Sydney, and have known the defendant for some days; on the morning of the 28th June last I was in a hansom cab with defendant in York-street, nearly opposite the Masonic Hall; Martin Denniffe was in the cab with me; a man named Smith was driving the cab; we were going northwards, and the cab was stopped by a constable; he called to the cabman and asked him if he knew that one of his lights was out; the cabman said "No," and he pulled up; the cabman reached over to catch hold of the lamp; I do not know whether he caught hold of the lamp; from the time the constable hailed the cabman to the time the cabman pulled up, the defendant was not drunk and disorderly; the defendant was not in any way disturbing the public peace up to that time; when the cabman stopped, the defendant asked the cabman what he stopped for; the cabman didn't make any reply; Constable Axam is the constable who hailed the cab; the constable went to the door of the cab and said to the cabman, "You have got a drunken man here, and if you drive him any further you drive him at your own risk"; the cabman said if he told him not to drive him any further, he would not; the constable then said to defendant, "You will have to get out of the cab"; defendant wanted to know what he had to get out of the cab for; the constable said that he had to go with him; defendant said that he wouldn't go; the constable caught hold of the defendant by the arm and shoulder and dragged him out of the cab; the constable then told the defendant to pay the cabman; defendant said that he would pay him when he drove him down to the wharf; I don't know whether he said wharf or ship, he said that he was not finished with him; they talked and barneyed together; the constable told the defendant that he would have to pay the cabman; the defendant put a 2s. piece, a half-crown, and sixpence, into the cabman's hands, and said, "There is a 2s. piece, a half-crown, and a sixpence—that don't look like if I was drunk"; Denniffe was standing alongside of me when the defendant paid the cabman; as soon as the defendant paid the cabman the constable said to the defendant, "You will have to go with me"; defendant said I won't go; the constable caught hold of the defendant, and he caught hold of the wheel of the cab; Constable Axam tried to get his hands off the wheel; another constable came up, and one of the constables struck defendant across the right hand with a stick, and the defendant then let his hand drop off the wheel; the two constables then dragged him to the footway, and he was in the act of falling, and one of the constables struck the defendant with a weapon; I heard one of the constables blow a whistle, and a third constable came up; he came with a rush, and said, "Leave him to me, I'll quiet the bugger"; the defendant was on the pavement trying to get up, and the third constable struck the defendant across the head with something he had in his hand, and the defendant fell down suddenly; the three constables then held defendant down, and hit him with what sticks they had, and kicked him; one of the constables said, "Don't hit him in the face, he will show his marks"; Martin Denniffe then said, "If you allow me to speak to the man, he might go quietly"; the big constable, the third one who came, then drew off with his fist and struck Denniffe in the face three times and said, "Take that you bugger, or bloody bugger, what do you want"; I took Denniffe away; the cabman called out afterwards and said, "Don't ill-use the man"; the constable came over and said to one of us, "Do you want anything?" another constable came up from towards Market-street, and he assisted the others to drag the defendant along the pavement; I don't think the defendant had been handcuffed up to this time; up to the time the third constable struck the defendant he struggled very much; he didn't struggle much afterwards; when the fourth constable came up they dragged the defendant with one of his legs on the ground for some distance; I didn't see what took place afterwards; I heard him moaning, and the last words I heard him say were "Don't murder me"; the defendant hadn't said or done anything to the police up to the time the constable caught hold of him; the defendant was being driven to his ship at the time the constable stopped his cab; all the blows I saw struck were struck by a weapon similar to a constable's baton.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carroll: It was about 4 o'clock in the morning.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

James Richards, re-sworn, states:

Cross-examined by Mr. Carroll: I left home at tea-time on the night of the 27th June last; after 12 o'clock on the morning of the 28th I was with defendant; I was with defendant at 12 o'clock on the Circular Quay; I went with the defendant to the Herald Office; I went into Lynch's public house and had a glass of port wine hot; I went from Lynch's to the Herald Office with the defendant; after we left the Herald Office I got into the cab with defendant, and stopped at the corner of Liverpool-street on the Brickfield Hill, on the left-hand side going down; it was a public house where we stopped; I saw

Constable

Constable Martin there ; we called for coffee, and when there were no rolls there the defendant had some words with the coffee man ; Constable Martin was there, and told defendant to stop his noise ; defendant told him if he was doing his duty he wouldn't be standing alongside of a coffee stall ; he then ran over to defendant and defendant and Martin Denniffe went into Elizabeth-street ; I saw them go around the corner, and I heard a crash as if some windows were broken ; I didn't see who broke the windows ; something took place between the constable and the defendant, and the defendant ran away ; I didn't see any blood on the defendant's hands then ; I won't swear that he hadn't any blood on his hands ; the constable ran after the defendant ; I followed the defendant down in a cab afterwards ; it was about half-past 3 o'clock then ; defendant hadn't anything to drink after he left Lynch's public house ; he was not drunk ; he could walk straight ; he was not mad drunk ; he hadn't anything to drink after 12 o'clock with the exception of some coffee ; if four constables have sworn that the defendant was mad drunk, they have not sworn the truth ; I hadn't known the defendant before the night of the 27th.

By Mr. Vardy : I didn't see Constable Martin in York-street ; I don't believe that he was there ; I am a boatman, and have a great deal to do with shipping ; defendant told me that he belonged to the "Albion" ; he asked me if I could tell him where he could get something to eat ; I told him where to get something to eat, and I went with him ; I didn't see the defendant's hand cut when he was in the cab.

JAMES RICHARDS.

JAMES VICKERY, J.P.

John Smith, on oath, states : I am a cab driver, and know the defendant ; on the morning of the 28th June last, I was engaged by the defendant between 3 and 4 o'clock to drive him ; at about 4 o'clock I was driving the defendant, the last witness, and a man named Denniffe, down York-street ; when we got near the Masonic Hall, a constable called out ; I didn't stop at first ; he said, "I know you, No. 199, you have got a lamp out" ; I then stopped, and leant over the cab to light the lamp or to see if it was out ; the constable then came over and asked me what I was doing driving the defendant ; I said that he was a fireman on board the "Albion," and that I was taking him down to the "Albion" ; the constable then said, "You had better put him out of the cab—if you drive him any further, you drive him at your own risk" ; he didn't give any reason why I shouldn't drive ; the constable told defendant that he would have to get out ; defendant said, "What are you stopping the cab for, I want the man to take me down to my ship" ; the constable ordered the defendant to get out of the cab ; I was sitting on the back of the cab and didn't see any person pull him out of the cab ; the defendant was brought out of the cab ; the constable leant in the cab ; when defendant was out of the cab, the constable said, "What are you kicking up a row for" ; he said, "I am not kicking up a row" ; Constable Axam was the constable ; defendant asked the constable for his number, and he gave it to him ; the constable demanded the defendant to pay me ; I don't think I had asked for my fare ; defendant told the constable he would pay me when he got down to the ship ; the constable said to defendant, "You must pay him and come along with me" ; defendant asked me how much it was ; I said "5s." ; defendant gave me 5s.—he gave me a half-crown, a sixpence, and something else, I can't say whether it was a two-shilling piece ; when he paid me the money he said, "That don't look like if I was drunk" ; he was going to get into the cab then— he had his arm on the wheel of the cab, and the constable was holding on to the defendant trying to pull him away ; another constable then came up and tried to get the defendant away from the cab ; it was a pitch dark night ; one of the constables struck the defendant on his hand with something, and the defendant let go the wheel and staggered, or something like that ; defendant said, "What are you taking me for?" They pulled him towards the kerbstone, and he fell down, and I heard defendant say, "Lord have mercy on us," or something of that sort ; I cannot say whether the constables were doing anything to him then ; I am not sure what the defendant said ; when the defendant was down, I heard a sound like a fall, and I heard a whistle blown ; another constable then came down, I cannot say how he did come, he came quickly ; I didn't hear the third constable say anything when he came up ; I was on the cab in the middle of the road in the front of Dixon's, and the defendant was near the Market gate ; I think the defendant was down when the third constable came up ; when the the third constable came up, the defendant said, "Oh, Mother of God, don't kill me" ; I didn't see the third constable strike the defendant ; there was a bit of a scuffle when he came up ; I can't swear that I heard one of the constables tell another constable not to do something ; Denniffe went up to the constables and said something about letting him go quietly ; I don't know the exact words he said ; they had a bit of scuffle then, and I heard the constable run and say get out of the road ; I don't know what else he said ; I said to the police, "Don't knock him about, there are enough of you to take him quietly" ; a constable ran up to me and said to me, "What did you say" ; I said that I wanted to get Mr. Denniffe in the cab ; Mr. Richards made the reply ; I don't think Mr. Richards went up to the gate ; Mr. Richards was nearer to where the defendant and the police were than I was ; he was in a better position to see and hear more than I did ; Denniffe had a better opportunity of seeing than I had ; I cannot say whether I heard the defendant moaning ; I went away ; I heard the defendant call out for not to kill him ; when the cab was stopped in York-street, he hadn't any blood on his face ; I don't know whether he hadn't any blood on his hands ; he didn't have any blood on the hand he paid me the money with ; he didn't have any cuts and mud on his face when he was in the cab ; I don't know what the constables struck the defendant with when he had hold of the wheel ; I didn't see the constables have anything in their hands ; I was not near enough ; when the defendant was down I heard a noise of a fall and something else ; when the defendant and the other persons were in the cab, they were talking pretty loudly ; I cannot say that they were drunk and disorderly ; they were not disorderly ; defendant was not helplessly drunk, he had had a few glasses ; he was not drunk, he hadn't anything to drink in my presence ; if any persons have sworn that he was helplessly and mad drunk, or drunk, it is not the case ; I didn't see the defendant commit any offence in York-street up to the time the cab was stopped ; until the constables caught hold of the defendant, the defendant hadn't done anything to the constables ; defendant was a little the worse for drink.

John Smith, re-sworn, states—Cross-examined by Mr. Carroll: My former evidence is correct; I won't swear that Constable Axam laid his hands on the defendant in the cab; he leant in the cab; he laid hold of him in the front of the cab; I had the defendant at the "Solferino Hotel"; we had some coffee there; Denniffe and the defendant said that the constable who was there hadn't any right to be standing there, and said that he ought to be doing his duty; I then saw the defendant and Denniffe go around the corner, and I heard a window smash; I don't know who broke the window.

(Objection by Mr. Vardy, on behalf of the defendant, against attorney appearing for the Police in their character as such, unless retained by the Government or the authorities of the Police Department.)

(Mr. Vardy, who appears for defendant, objects to what took place before 4 o'clock on the morning in question.)

JOHN SMITH.

Martin Denniffe, on oath, states: I am a bootmaker; I know the defendant by sight; on the 28th June last, at about 4 o'clock in the morning, I was with the defendant and a man named Richards in a cab in York-street; we were going northwards and was going to the "Albion" steamer; a constable stopped the cab near the Masonic Hall; he said to the cabman that one of his lights was out; the constable came over to the cab and said, "Who are you got here?" when the cab stopped, defendant said to the cabman, "What do you stop for—drive on"; I didn't hear what the cabman said; the constable said that the man was drunk, and that he would have to come out of the cab; defendant said that he wouldn't get out of the cab; the constable came around to the side of the cab where the defendant was sitting and said, "You must get out of the cab"; defendant said, "I won't get out of the cab"; the constable said, "I'll make you get out of the cab"; defendant said, "I won't get out"; the constable then caught hold of the defendant and attempted to pull him out; the defendant got out of the cab, and the constable still had hold of the defendant; the constable intended to pull him out; when the defendant got out, the constable let him go; the cabman then demanded his fare, and before the constable had said to pay the fare, the defendant said that the cabman hadn't driven him to where he wanted to go; the constable told the defendant to pay the cabman; the defendant pulled out a half-a-crown, a two-shilling piece, and a sixpence, and gave it to the cabman; he said to the cabman, "You see, I am not drunk, I know what I am doing"; Constable Axam then had hold of the defendant, and I asked the constable to let him go, as he wanted to go down to his ship; the constable said to me "Go away"; I didn't see the defendant commit any offence up to the time the cab was stopped; the defendant was not drunk and disorderly in the cab in York-street, up to the time the cab was stopped; after the defendant had paid the cabman, the constable caught hold of the defendant, and the defendant caught hold of the wheel of the cab, the constable tried to pull the defendant away from the wheel of the cab; another constable came up and tried to pull defendant away from the wheel of the cab, and the defendant received a blow from one of the constables with some weapon across the hand; the weapon was in the shape of what they call a baton; when the defendant received the blow he let the wheel go and the constables dragged him over towards the path; defendant resisted and wanted to get away; I didn't notice any change in the defendant's position; defendant was not on the ground before the third constable came up; when the two constables dragged the defendant across the road I heard a sound of the two constables beating him; defendant said, "Don't kill me"; a third constable came up; it was Senior-constable Butler; I don't know how he came; I don't remember what he said; Butler assisted the other constables to arrest the defendant, and he struck him; I didn't see what position the defendant was in; I afterwards saw defendant on the ground, and the three constables were beating him; I cannot say what they were beating him with; I said to the constables, "Will you allow me to speak to the man, he might go quietly"; Butler struck me two or three blows about the neck and breast, and told me to get away; I went away then and got into the cab; I don't recollect whether the cabman called out to the police then; as I was coming up to the cab I understood the cabman to say, "For God's sake, don't ill-use the man"; I didn't hear any more after I got into the cab; I heard the defendant moaning when he was being struck; I didn't see whether the defendant was handcuffed when I last saw him; he was lying on the ground, and the three constables were still beating him when I last saw him; defendant hadn't any blood, gashes, or scabs about his face when he got out of the cab, as far as I could see; I didn't see any blood on his hands.

Regina v. Burns.—Monday, 14th August, 1876.

New South Wales Police.—Application for Summons.

(C. P. Court—30 Vic. No. 5, s. 1—Wednesday, 26 July.—G. READ, Supt.)

CONSTABLE William Martin is directed to apply to the Magistrates at the Central Police Court, at Sydney, for a summons against John Burns, of Sydney, for being drunk in George-street, Sydney, on the 28th June, 1876.

No. 1 Station, 24th day of July, 1876.

ROBERT ANDERSON.

Summons.

To John Burns, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales.

WHEREAS information hath this day been laid before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the said Colony of New South Wales, for that on the twenty-eighth day of June last past you were found drunk, in George-street, a public street in the city of Sydney, in the said Colony: These are, therefore, to command you, in Her Majesty's name, to be and appear, on Wednesday, the 26th day of July instant, at 10 of the clock in the forenoon, at the Central Police Office, Sydney, in the said Colony, before such Justice or Justices of the Peace for the said Colony as may then be there, to answer to the said information, and to be further dealt with according to law.

Given under my hand and seal, this 24th day of July, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, at Sydney, in the said Colony.

WM. CRANE, J.P. (I.S.)

John Burns served personally, July 24th, 1876.—A. POTTER, Senior-constable. Wednesday, 26th July.

John Burns appears on summons on a charge of being drunk, in George-street, a public street in the city of Sydney, on the 28th June last past.

Mr. Roberts appeared for complainant, and Mr. Vardy for defendant.
Central Police Court, Sydney, 26th July, 1876.

WM. CRANE, J.P.
ROBERT GUY, J.P.

Mr. Crane, at the suggestion of Mr. Vardy who appears for defendant, and by the consent of the members of the legal profession who are connected with this case now before the Court, consents to take part with his brother Justice of the Peace, Mr. Guy, in hearing and adjudicating in this case.

Mr. Vardy pleads that his client has already been tried and acquitted for the same offence.

Mr. Vardy also pleads that the Bench has no jurisdiction.

Mr. Vardy also pleads not guilty.

Mr. Crane asked the defendant who he had retained. Mr. Vardy told the defendant not to answer. The defendant said that he had retained Mr. Forster, believing Mr. Vardy wouldn't get a hearing.

Mr. Crane asks him again who he wants to appear for him. The defendant says that he would rather have Mr. Vardy to appear for him if he could get a hearing, as he has taken a great interest in the case.

Mr. Forster states that he was retained by the defendant to appear for him, and that he told the defendant at the time he retained him that he would not act with Mr. Vardy in the case, and he therefore withdraws from the case after the statement of the defendant in the Court.
Sydney, 28th July, 1876.

William Martin, re-sworn, states : On the morning of the 28th June last I was on duty in George-street, at the corner of Liverpool-street, public streets in the city of Sydney ; at about a quarter to 4 o'clock on that morning I saw defendant ; I was dressed in uniform as I now appear ; the defendant was drunk in George-street ; the defendant was kicking up a disturbance, and was talking about knocking the old man's coffee stall over, and asked me what I was doing there, and told me to go about my bloody beat ; he said, " I have been a bloody Melbourne bobby, and there is not a bloody bobby in Sydney can take me " ; he uttered that language in a loud tone of voice ; I told him that language wouldn't do ; I was standing near the defendant when he used the language ; I told the defendant that I would have to arrest him for being drunk ; James Richards and a man named Denniffe were with him, and they said if I let him go they would take him away ; when I first saw the defendant he was staggering about ; he was seated once on a form on the footpath near the coffee stand for a minute or two ; I spoke to the defendant about making a disturbance and threatening to knock over the old man's coffee stand, and he said all I have already stated ; Martin Denniffe and Richards had hold of the defendant, and he staggered against a window pane of the " Solferino Hotel " and broke it ; I arrested him for being drunk, and told him he would have to pay for the windows ; he said, " You bugger, you won't take me " ; he then struck me several times, and Denniffe and Richards got hold of him and dragged him along George-street ; two civilians then came to my assistance ; I was near the " Honest Lawyer " then, and was about 50 yards away from the place where I arrested him at first ; Denniffe and Richards had taken him away from me ; the defendant knocked me against the wall, and Richards and Denniffe took him away from me ; I next saw the defendant at the corner of Goulburn-street and George-street ; he was lying in the gutter on his belly ; I was getting him up, and he caught hold of me by the heels, throw me on to my back, and kicked me ; two civilians came to my assistance ; we had several scuffles together ; he threw me down again and stood over me ; a civilian then put defendant down ; defendant had capsized the two civilians before then several times ; Denniffe and Richards got hold of the defendant and put him into a cab ; the two men assisted the defendant to get out of the cab, and when he got out he was staggering drunk ; that was nearly the end of the matter ; the last I saw of the defendant was when he was going away in the cab along George-street towards the Town Hall shouting ; I didn't see any more of the defendant until the 5th July ; Martin Denniffe and Richards dragged the defendant from the corner of Goulburn-street to the place where the cab was between Liverpool and George Streets ; I saw the defendant drive up in the cab to the coffee stall, he got out of the cab to have some coffee ; Richards and Denniffe helped him out of the cab, he was so drunk ; Richards and Denniffe said in the presence of the defendant that they had been at another coffee stall ; defendant was a stranger to me up to the morning in question ; Denniffe and Richards said that the defendant belonged to the " Albion " steamship ; Denniffe and Richards said in the presence of defendant that they had had a good deal of bother with defendant at another coffee stall in Pitt-street ; I cannot recollect anything else these men said then ; the men Denniffe and Richards said to me several times in the presence of the defendant, " Take no notice of him, he is drunk " ; defendant didn't say anything ; when I first saw the defendant get out of the cab, he was staggering drunk.

Constable William Martin, re-sworn, states—Cross-examined by Mr. Vardy : I was on duty at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, Sydney, on the morning of the 28th June last ; I was called as a witness in a case against the defendant, but the Court did not allow me to give evidence ; I was not present when the defendant was arrested by three constables in York-street ; I saw the defendant at a quarter to 4 o'clock in the morning at a coffee stall at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, Sydney ; I saw Denniffe and Richards with the defendant ; I also noticed a cab there ; the driver of the cab was there, he was not on the cab ; I didn't here the defendant speak to the coffee man about some rolls ; I didn't hear him say, if he kept a coffee stand he would have rolls ; defendant didn't say that ; when the defendant was talking to the man who kept the coffee stall, I said to the defendant to not make a noise ; defendant didn't say, " What business is it of yours " ; he said to me, " If you were minding your beat, you wouldn't be here "—defendant said to me, " your bloody beat," when he used the word beat ; after he said if I was minding my bloody beat I wouldn't be there, I didn't run up to the defendant and say, " Don't give me any of your cheek, if you do I will take you into custody " ; defendant didn't say that he had done nothing for me to take him into custody ; I heard Denniffe say to defendant, " Come out of this, or you will be getting into bother with this fellow"; Denniffe caught hold of defendant's arm and took him around the corner of the street; it was after he turned the corner of Liverpool-street I heard the glass break; I was in Liverpool-street and saw the defendant break the window; Denniffe didn't break the window; I said to defendant after he broke the window, "You broke the window, you will have to come with me"; I didn't hear the defendant say that he didn't know he broke it; I swear he didn't say so; I arrested the defendant when he broke the window; I arrested the defendant for being drunk, for breaking the window, and for using bad language; I was going to arrest him for being drunk when he fell through the window; I told the defendant that I would arrest him for being drunk; I said to defendant, "You have broken a window, and you will have to come along with me"; I arrested him twice; when I arrested him the first time, I told him I would have to arrest him for being drunk; the second time I arrested him, I didn't tell him I would arrest him for breaking the window; after I arrested the defendant the first time, he went away with a friend of his; I ran after defendant and caught him; when I caught him, I struck the defendant with my baton two or three times, but not till after he had struck me; when I caught the defendant, he was lying on his belly at the corner of Goulburn-street; I caught the defendant before Denniffe came up; I didn't strike the defendant when he was lying in the gutter; defendant didn't at that time give his name and address, nor at any other time; after I struck the defendant, he didn't tell me that he was a fireman on board the "S. S. Albion"; he said if he had broken a window he would pay for it; I said after that, that I would have to take him; he didn't then say that he would pay for the window in the morning if he broke it; he didn't say anything about not wanting to have his name in the papers; I didn't take a one pound Melbourne note from him to let him go; the cab didn't drive up to near where defendant was just before defendant left me; Denniffe and Richards were near me at the time; the cab didn't come up within 30 or 40 yards from defendant; the cab was driven up towards the defendant; I didn't about that time shake hands with the defendant; I saw the defendant pulled into the cab out of my road; he was driven away in the cab with his two friends; I didn't send any person with 15s. to the landlord of the hotel; I didn't send word to the defendant by Richards to tell the defendant that I would be glad to see him at the station at any time, and, for God's sake, not to mention my name; I didn't tell Smith or Richards that they were fools to be coming here attending this case, and that they had better mind what they said or I would have them up for perjury; the two persons who were with me were not naval or military men; I am not a soldier, a sailor, or private citizen—I am a policeman; the two civilians who were with me are named Smith and Downs, they told me their names that morning after I asked them their names; I didn't pay them anything; they are tradesmen; Smith and Downs were there from the first time I saw defendant, they were having coffee, but not at the same time as defendant; defendant didn't have any coffee at the stall at the corner of Liverpool-street; I didn't call on Downs and Smith to assist me, they volunteered when I first arrested the defendant; I have not passed any money to the coffee man since the 28th June last; I have not been present when any of the police have passed any money to the coffee man; I have had coffee from the man, and I only paid him for the coffee and for nothing else; I saw Denniffe and Richards get the defendant out of the cab before he went to the coffee stall; I still persist in that statement; I did not see the defendant drink anything; Smith and Downs were tradesmen on the 28th June, to the best of my knowledge.

Constable William Martin, re-sworn, states: I will not swear that the defendant had drunk anything on the 28th June last up to the time I saw him, but I swear that he was drunk; when I first saw the defendant at the coffee stall he was drunk; I saw the cab stop at the coffee stall, and I do still swear that the defendant was helped out of the cab by Richards and Denniffe; defendant was assisted out of the cab; the other passengers were not assisted out; defendant didn't drink any coffee at that stall; Richards and Denniffe were not helped out of the cab to my knowledge; defendant didn't give me his name and address, and say that he didn't like it to appear in the papers because he would lose his situation in a ship that had just come in; defendant did not offer me a £1, and tell me that he wouldn't like his name to appear in the papers as it would lose him his situation in the ship that had just come in; defendant did not make that offer to me shortly before the cab came up; I didn't see the defendant before the cab came up; I did swear that I saw the defendant get into the cab, but that is a different matter altogether; defendant got into the cab after the arrest was over with his two friends and went away; a few minutes before he got into the cab and went away he didn't give me the pound and refer to the paper and his ship; I didn't see the defendant until he came up in the cab at the corner of Liverpool-street and George-street; I have sworn twice that I arrested defendant for being drunk; I didn't say to Martin Denniffe, "I don't want to take him if he pays for the window"; I didn't tell any man that I didn't want to take him if he paid for the window; Richards and Denniffe didn't speak to me and bid me good-night just before the cab went away the last time; I didn't wish them good-night; I didn't say to Smith, the cabman, "You can drive away"; I swore on last Saturday that I arrested defendant twice, and he got away; he got away after I arrested him for being drunk; I did not lay any charge against any civilians for rescuing a prisoner from my custody; Denniffe and Richards rescued defendant from me; I have not stated before that they rescued him from me; I didn't think it was necessary; about 5 o'clock on the same morning I reported to the police authorities about defendant being drunk; I didn't report it at that time to Sub-inspector Anderson; I reported it to the sergeant in charge of the beat; that sergeant didn't give evidence in the other case, because he knew nothing about it; between a quarter to 4 o'clock and 5 o'clock on the same morning I was not in No. 1 Police Station, or in York-street; when I reported the matter to the sergeant he didn't tell me that defendant was locked up.

By the Bench: I made the report about defendant being drunk at about 5 o'clock in the morning to Sergeant Lawless in Castlereagh-street.

By Mr. Vardy: I belong to No. 2 Division; Inspector Rush is in command of No. 2 Division; the reason I reported the matter to Sub-inspector Anderson was, because I was brought into the last case and I wasn't allowed to give evidence; I reported it to him because I saw the defendant in the dock on the 5th July;

July ; I identified him ; I didn't report it to Sub-inspector Rush before I reported it to Mr. Anderson ; Sergeant Lawless is under Mr. Rush's command ; I don't know whether he reported it to Mr. Rush ; I don't know whether Mr. Rush has taken any proceedings ; I didn't report it to Mr. Rush on the 5th July ; it was reported before the 10th July ; it was mentioned to me and I mentioned it back again ; I don't know the name of the man who mentioned it to me ; he was a policeman ; I don't know his name and number ; I don't think I could find him out ; I may have only seen him once ; I mentioned it over the defendant's last case ; I said, "That is the man who got away from me" ; his name is not Senior-constable Butler ; it was not Constables Axam or M'Donald ; no person took proceedings against the defendant until the 24th July.

Constable William Martin, re-sworn, states :

By Mr. Vardy : On the 22nd July last I was not in the Court when the Magistrates dismissed the case against the defendant for drunkenness ; I asked Mr. Anderson to issue a summons against defendant for being drunk on the 28th June last ; I didn't ask him by any persons instructions to me ; I didn't ask Smith and Downs to come here and give evidence on behalf of the police ; I know their names by you mentioning it ; I misunderstood you, I thought you mentioned Denniffe and Richards, and not Smith and Downs ; I have subpoenaed Smith and Downs to give evidence ; I didn't give them any money ; some of the policemen told me where they lived ; I have not been to the landlord of the "Solferino Hotel" about this case ; I have been in the Police Force for this Colony about five months ; I was never in a Police Force before ; I never saw the defendant before the 28th June last ; I did not pay 15s. to the landlord of the "Solferino Hotel" out of the £1 I received from defendant.

By Bench : I did not receive £1 from defendant, or from any other person, in reference to these proceedings.

By Mr. Vardy : I let the defendant go the second time I arrested him, because Denniffe and Richards rescued him ; they dragged him away from me at the corner of Goulburn-street.

By Bench : Denniffe and Richards rescued the defendant from me the first and the second time I arrested him.

By Mr. Vardy : My name appears in the written application produced for a summons ; I don't identify the signature to that application as being the signature of Robert Anderson.

By Mr. Roberts : I didn't receive any money from defendant, or from any person on his behalf, in connection with this case ; I didn't pay or see 15s. paid in respect to a broken window ; I don't know anything of my own knowledge of the payment of 15s. ; all I know is from hearsay ; Denniffe and Richards rescued the defendant from me, and I couldn't fulfil my duty by reapprehending him.

Thomas Keenan, on oath, stated : I am a watchman at the Commercial Bank, George-street, Sydney ; on the morning of the 28th June last, at a quarter to 4 o'clock, I was making my way to Liverpool-street to call a man at 4 o'clock ; I was going along George-street, and I heard a noise at Goulburn-street and George-street ; I went there, and the first person I met was a policeman ; he was Constable Martin ; there was a man in a cab there, and he was using very "indifferent" language ; and he was speaking in a loud tone, and using great violence to the policeman ; the man who was using the language was quite tipsy ; he was "outrageous" drunk ; I judged of him being "outrageous" drunk when he was in the cab and out of the cab ; he was drunk, because he was going on in such an outrageous manner ; he couldn't walk correctly, he was staggering and knocking about in the street ; he was not many minutes out of the cab before he was in it again ; he was standing alongside of the constable alongside of the cab ; I have no doubt but what he was drunk ; the constable was very quiet, and was doing nothing to him ; the constable was quiet and timid, and one constable was not enough for him.

Thomas Keenan, re-sworn, states :

By Mr. Roberts : I was about five or six rods away when I first heard the man making the noise ; I am deaf, and suffering from a cold ; I wasn't quite so bad that morning as I am now ; they were making such a noise I couldn't avoid hearing it ; when I came up the gentleman in the cab was making a noise ; the constable was very quiet ; another man was in the cab with the man who was making the noise ; the man who was drunk went away in the cab, and I didn't see any more of him ; the constable stood there when the cab was driven away ; he was not doing anything ; he didn't say anything to the man in the cab while I was there ; the constable did not use any threats of violence to the man in the cab when I was there ; I might have been there fifteen or twenty minutes before the cab drove away ; there was not anything said about money when I was there ; I didn't see the drunken man or any other man give the constable any money ; I didn't see any money, or hear any talk about money ; the constable could not have received any money unknown to me ; if the drunken man, or any other man, had offered a one pound note to the constable, I should have seen it, and I swear it was not offered ; I would know the man who was "outrageous" drunk ; the defendant is the man ; I have no interest in this prosecution.

By

By Mr. Vardy: I am subpoenaed in this case; a constable gave me that subpoena; Constable Martin gave it to me on Tuesday or Wednesday, last week; they didn't give me any money with the subpoena; they have not given me any money since last Wednesday; I am watchman from the Commercial Bank to Liverpool-street; I was not there when the cab drove up; the cab was there when I came up; it was about a quarter to 4 o'clock when I first came to the coffee stall; I knew the time by my watch.

By Bench: I saw the defendant at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; I didn't see him at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets.

By Mr. Vardy: I gave evidence yesterday in this case, and my evidence is true; about $\frac{1}{4}$ to 4 o'clock I was not at the coffee stall; I didn't see the constable speaking to defendant there; I didn't go to any coffee stall between $\frac{1}{2}$ past 3 and 5 o'clock; I didn't see the defendant at the coffee stall between $\frac{1}{2}$ past 3 and 4 o'clock; I didn't see the defendant before I saw him in the cab; I didn't see him at a coffee stall after he got out of the cab; I first saw the defendant when he was at the corner of Goulburn-street, in George-street; I didn't see defendant at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets; the cab was at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets when I first saw it; I saw a young man in the cab with defendant when I first saw him; I didn't see the man who kept the coffee stall near the cab; I don't know the man you speak about; I saw the constable there when I first saw defendant; I didn't see the constable run down George-street after defendant; I didn't see the constable beat the defendant with his baton; I had only just started from the Bank when I saw the defendant at the corner of Goulburn-street; I didn't see the man who was in the cab help the defendant out; defendant got out of the cab, got in again, and drove away; there were people standing on the footway then; the man who was with defendant got out of the cab and endeavoured to put defendant into the cab; the man got out of the cab with the intention of putting the defendant into the cab; I didn't see the man who got out of the cab to help the defendant into the cab stop and talk to the constable.

Cross-examined by Mr. Vardy: I didn't take any particular notice as to how the defendant was dressed; the man behind you is the man who was in the cab; the constable brought me up to the police station about the case before I got the subpoena; I don't know what day it was when I came up with the constable; it was a few days before I got the subpoena; I stopped looking on at Goulburn-street for over ten minutes; I might have been a few minutes late when I got to the house of the person I wanted to call; I didn't stop after the cab went away, I went about my business; when I went away I left the constable on the road; I think I was the last person he was talking to; I didn't go into the "Solferino Hotel" with the constable afterwards and have a drink; on last Tuesday or Wednesday a sergeant or a constable didn't go into the "Post Office Hotel," on the opposite side of the street, with me and treat me; a constable or sergeant didn't wait outside for me when I went in there.

ROBERT GUY, J.P.

William Martin, on oath, states: I reside in Swan-street; I recognize Constable Martin and the defendant; on the 26th or 28th of June last—I think it was on a Wednesday—I saw the cab drive up and two young men assisted the defendant out of the cab; the defendant was very drunk; defendant was very noisy when he got out of the cab; I keep a coffee stall at the corner of Liverpool and George Streets, public streets in the city of Sydney; I recognize the defendant as being the person who was making a noise, he was very drunk; I was sober; defendant came up in a cab; he was assisted out of the cab; the cab came from the direction of the Town Hall to my stall; as soon as the cab stopped, the two men jumped out and assisted defendant out of the cab; Constable Martin was not there then; he was coming up from Goulburn-street, and when he came up he stood near me; when the constable was there, the defendant was noisy and abusing the constable; I don't know what he said; the constable didn't say anything to defendant then, or until just before the windows were broken; I cannot say who broke the window; I was standing at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets; when I heard the window break, the constable said that the defendant would have to stop till the publican got up or go with him; when defendant got out of the cab, he went over to the form against the wall and sat down—he sat down for three minutes, and it was at that time when he abused the constable, he was making a noise; the constable told him not to make a noise, and go home; there were two men with the defendant besides the cabman; defendant was around the corner in Liverpool-street when I heard the windows break; one of the men pulled him around and was trying to get him away; the constable went around the corner to look at the window; I did not go around the corner; defendant couldn't walk without staggering—I don't think he could, he didn't stagger much, he staggered as a drunken man would; the constable rapped at the door of the house for the publican; defendant was standing a few yards from the constable then, and he aimed a blow at the constable with his fist; the constable had only told him that he would have to wait till the publican got up; I think the constable had hold of his arm then; the blow didn't reach the constable; after the defendant made a blow at the constable, the two men caught hold of defendant and took defendant down towards Goulburn-street, they walked as fast as they could and pushed him along; I couldn't see whether the defendant attempted to strike a second blow at the constable before the men caught hold of defendant and took him away; I cannot say where the cabman was at this time, his cab and horse were near my stall; the cabman followed the defendant and the other persons down, when they had got down near the "Honest Lawyer" public house; I didn't go down to Goulburn-street; I went away to the baker's, between Liverpool and Bathurst Streets, for some rolls; I was away about five or ten minutes, and and when I was coming out of the baker's I saw the cab drive by the shop, and some person in the cab was making a noise, I cannot say who that person was; the voice was like the voice of the person who had struck the constable; when defendant and the other persons went down towards Goulburn-street, the constable followed them; the blow that was made at the constable passed by his head.

By Mr. Vardy: It was about a quarter to 4 o'clock when the cab stopped at the coffee stall with defendant; I cannot say on what day of the month that was; I couldn't swear whether it was the 26th or 28th; I don't think there was any moon that night; a constable was not standing at my stall when the cab came up; he was near the stall, about the length of this room away; when defendant got to the stall some person ordered three cups of coffee and rolls; I won't swear that defendant didn't order them—I don't know who ordered them; I supplied the coffee; I cannot say whether I supplied the rolls; I can't swear that I didn't tell the defendant I hadn't any rolls; I can't swear whether defendant said if he kept a coffee stall he would keep rolls, saveloys, and tongues; he might have said so; defendant sat down on the stool for a few minutes; when the other men were having their coffee the constable came up and said "Don't be making any noise here about your coffee"; defendant said, "What business is that of yours, and if you were minding your beat you wouldn't be at a coffee stall"; the constable didn't say to him, "Don't give me any of your cheek—if you do, I'll take you into custody"; I didn't hear defendant say, "I have done nothing for you to take me into custody"; I heard some person who was with defendant say to defendant, "Come out of this, or you will be getting into bother with this fellow," and I saw a man take hold of defendant by the arm and go into Liverpool-street; shortly after that I heard a sound of broken glass; I didn't go around to see what caused that sound; when I heard the sound of the glass breaking, the constable was in George-street, and he went around into Liverpool-street after the breaking of the glass; he met the defendant near the corner; I heard the constable say to defendant, "You have broken a window, you will have to stop till the publican gets up or else come along with me"; I didn't hear the defendant say, "I didn't break it, as I know of"; I can't swear that he didn't say so; I saw the constable knock at the door of the "Solferino Hotel"; while the constable was knocking at the door the defendant didn't go away; he rapped at the door once, and that was with his baton; when the coffee was ordered I didn't see the defendant take a cup of coffee away from the stall; I won't swear he didn't do so; he couldn't have done so very well without I saw him; the cab was standing near the coffee stall when the men were having the coffee; after the constable knocked at the door the defendant went down the street with two men; I don't remember whether I heard one of the men say to defendant as they were going, "Come along out of this, I want to go home; I will be obliged to leave you"; I won't swear he didn't say so; I didn't hear defendant say to his friend, "If you say I broke a window, I'll pay for it"; I didn't hear the man say, "You have broken a window"; when defendant passed around the corner I didn't hear a man say to the constable, "He has broken a window around there, and he says he will pay for it"; I won't swear he didn't say so; I didn't hear one of the men tell defendant to go away or the constable would arrest him for breaking the window, and that he would stop and arrange for the payment for it; I won't swear he didn't say so; the constable followed the defendant when he went away with his two friends; when defendant went away he went towards Goulburn-street; when the constable started after the defendant he still had the baton in his hand; I didn't see any more after then; I didn't see the constable and the defendant again that morning before defendant went away in the cab; I saw the constable half an hour afterwards; it was half an hour after defendant went away I spoke to him; I didn't then go into the "Solferino Hotel," and have a drink with the constable; before defendant and the others went away other customers came to my stall; two customers came up to the stall just before the defendant and the others were going away from the stall; I would not know the two customers again; I could not swear that these two persons had not ordered the coffee before the defendant left the stall; the men who were with defendant ordered three cups of coffee, and they only drank two cups of coffee; I only served the two men with one cup each; I poured out three cups of coffee, and I cannot say whether the cups were returned empty to me; one of the two men who were with defendant paid for the coffee; defendant did not pay for it; when defendant was sitting on the seat constable Martin was as far away from him as I am from you; it was when defendant was standing up that the constable told him not to make a noise about the coffee; it is not usual for a constable to stand by my coffee stall; the constable on that beat often stops and talks to me at my coffee stall; it is not customary for the constable on the beat and me to go into the "Solferino Hotel" and have a drink; we never have yet; I did not tell some man at the stall that I didn't know the defendant from a crow; I didn't say that to a man who sailed in the same vessel as I did; I swear that the defendant is the man who was helped out of the cab at my coffee stall; after defendant went away from the stall the constable and the two other persons didn't go into the "Solferino Hotel" with me and have a drink; the defendant and his two friends were at the coffee stall between five and ten minutes before they went away; my sight is not bad; I am not related to Constable Martin; I know an old watchman named Keenan; he is a customer of mine sometimes; he didn't come up to the coffee stall that morning before or after defendant went away; I have been subpoenaed by Mr. Anderson in this case; some constable served me with the subpoena on last Tuesday week; it was not Constable Martin who gave me the subpoena; the constable didn't give me or promise me any money; no member of the police or any other person has guaranteed my expenses for coming here; before I got my subpoena Mr. Anderson found me out in Swan-street, and I came up after him to the police station; another person was in the police station with Mr. Anderson, and I told him what has been written down; I didn't see Mr. Roberts in the police station; Mr. Anderson got me to sign something which was written down by him, and I signed it; Mr. Anderson didn't promise me anything; I was not taken to an office in Phillip-street; I don't know Mr. Fosbery by sight; Mr. Anderson asked me to state what I knew about it, and I told him; I couldn't understand what Mr. Anderson was writing; Mr. Anderson and myself were the only two persons who were present when Mr. Anderson was writing it down; another person came into the room before I signed it; the gentleman who came in was in police uniform, and he was present when I signed the paper; I won't swear that the paper was read over in that gentleman's presence; after I signed the paper Inspector Read came into the room; Mr. Read asked me a few questions like, the same as Mr. Anderson; it was before I signed the paper when Mr. Read asked me the questions; that was the first night I was at the police station; I was up there twice; Mr. Anderson didn't take my statement down in writing the first night I was there, I merely told him something; the second time I went up Mr. Anderson wrote it down; the first time I went there Mr. Anderson and myself were alone; on the second night I went up, Mr. Read put some questions to me; I cannot say whether that was before or after I signed the paper; Mr. Read did not tell me that I would be paid for my trouble; he didn't tell me what to say when I came into Court; I am usually out all night, and devote the day to sleep and rest; I have had my coffee stall for two and a half years; I have known the watchman for about two months; I have not told any person that I didn't know him; I have not received more than the price of the coffee for what I have sold to the police; I am not aware that I am going to receive anything for attending here; it was on the Monday before I got my subpoena when I was at the police station.

By Mr. Roberts: The circumstances to which I have referred only happened once.

Edward Smith, on oath, states: I am a blacksmith, residing at Paddington; on the morning of the 28th June last, between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, I was at the corner of Liverpool and George streets at the coffee stall; it was between half-past 3 and 4 o'clock; I saw a cab standing there, and some persons having some coffee; Constable Martin was there; I thought one of the men at the coffee stall was very much under the influence of liquor; he was having some coffee; Constable Martin said, "You had better not interfere with me, I am here on duty"; the man who was under the influence of liquor called the constable, among other things, a whore's son; Constable Martin made some reply; two men caught hold of the man who was under the influence of liquor and took him into Liverpool-street, alongside of the "Solferino Hotel"; I then heard a window break; I saw the window not two minutes afterwards and it was broken; it was not a minute afterwards when I saw the window broken; as far as I could see, the man was drunk; after the window was broken, the constable went up to the drunken man, and said, "You will have to pay for the windows," and he either said "and come with me," or "come with me"; the constable knocked at the door with his staff or baton, and he then put his staff or baton in his pocket; when the constable was knocking at the door, the drunken man jerked and struck the constable on the breast; I believe the defendant is the person who was under the influence of liquor, he was drunk; at the time the constable was struck, a man named Downie who was with me said to the constable, in the defendant's presence, "Constable, if I were you I would draw my baton, he is too big for you"; defendant then made a rush at the constable as if to strike him, and when he got close to Martin he struck him on the shoulder; the defendant had struck the constable once before then, and rushed at him twice; after the constable struck defendant, the defendant made a rush at the constable and struck him; the constable then struck defendant again; defendant rushed at the constable, struck him and knocked him against the wall; two men who were with the defendant caught hold of him and ran him down George-street as far as the "Honest Lawyer," and then one of the men went up Swan-street; the defendant kept on running down George-street until he got to the corner of Goulburn-street, he went at a staggering gait across the corner of George-street and he fell into the gutter; I went over to pick him up; I thought from the violence of the fall that he was killed, and I went to assist him; I caught hold of him, and attempted to raise his head; Constable Martin was behind me coming down; as soon as I rose the defendant's head he appeared to revive, and made a blow at me with one hand, and with the other hand he threw me into the gutter; when I got up I saw the constable on the ground near me; I don't know how the constable got on the ground; defendant was standing up then; the constable got up, and the defendant kept backing away from him; I didn't give the defendant any provocation to assault me; the cab came down immediately; it was the same cab that was previously at the corner of Liverpool and George Streets; defendant didn't attempt to go near the cab; the men who were with the defendant at the corner of Liverpool and George Streets came up to the defendant and seemed to put him into the cab by force; defendant got out of the cab again, and was making towards the constable in a hurry like; he said to the constable, "You bloody dog, you struck me with your staff; I was in the Force before you were, you and all the bloody dogs like you won't take me"; the constable's manner was peaceable and quiet; the two men again caught hold of defendant and pushed him before them into the cab; the constable came up to the cab, and the two men had hold of the defendant, who was standing up using bad language; one of the men said to the constable, "You can summon him"; when the cab was going away the defendant was making a noise and calling the constable a whore's son; I was about 2 yards away from the constable when the cab drove away; if any money had been given to the constable I must have seen it; no money was offered to or received by the constable at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, or at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; Downie was with me at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, and at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; I saw a man named Keenan at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; I have no interest in this case; the police came to me for information; I am working at Mr. Partridge's; George, Goulburn, and Liverpool Streets are public streets in this city; I observed six persons besides at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; I didn't observe any other persons there.

Edward Smith, re-sworn, states:

By Mr. Roberts: I produce a watch glass and another article, which I found on the morning in question under where defendant was lying; I believe they belong to the defendant.

By Mr. Vardy: On the morning in question I was not at the coffee stall when the cab drove up; when I came up I saw the defendant and two other men having coffee; I was not present when the men got out of the cab; when I first saw defendant he was standing, and the other two men were sitting down; defendant did not go to the opposite side of the road with some coffee; the defendant is the man who was under the influence of liquor; I did not see him taste any liquor; I won't swear that he had tasted any liquor that day; I believe the two men who were with the defendant were sober; I didn't hear hear the defendant say anything to the coffee stall man about rolls; the coffee stall man was away when I first came up; he came back two or three minutes after I had been there; I hadn't got my coffee then; when the coffee man came back, he brought something in a bag; he didn't serve the defendant with any rolls then; I didn't hear defendant say, "If I kept a coffee stall I would keep savalloys, rolls, and tongues"; I won't swear he didn't say so; the constable was there when I came up; I did not hear him say to defendant, "Don't be making any noise here about your coffee"; I did not hear defendant say, "What business is it of yours—if you were minding your beat, you would not be at a coffee stall"; I heard the constable say afterwards, "Don't give me any of your cheek, if you do I'll take you into custody"; Constable Martin was the constable; defendant said in reply, "I done nothing for you to take me into custody"; I didn't hear one of the men who was with defendant say to defendant, "Come on out of this, or you will be getting into a bother with this fellow"; I won't swear he didn't say so; I saw the man who was with the defendant catch hold of the defendant by the arm; I didn't hear him say, "Come this way"; I didn't hear defendant say, "I don't want to go that way, let us go into the cab"; I won't swear that he didn't say so; I saw two men take the defendant around the corner; before they went around the corner I didn't see the constable catch hold of defendant and arrest him; I didn't hear the constable say that he had arrested him before then for being drunk; shortly after the defendant and the two men went around the corner, I heard a noise of broken glass; I did not see what was the cause of the noise; Constable Martin was in George-street then, and when he heard the sound he went around the corner; before the constable went around, the defendant didn't pass him at the corner; when the constable went around the corner, I heard him say to defendant, "You have broken a window now, you will have to come along with me"; I did not hear the defendant say, "I did not break it as I know of"; I didn't hear one of the men who was with defendant say to the constable, "He has broken a window accidentally around there, and he says he will pay for it"; I swear he didn't say so; one of the men said, "He will pay for the window"; I saw the constable knock at the door of the "Solferino Hotel" with his baton; no person answered the knock; the constable knocked at the door more than once with his baton, he knocked fully five or six times; the constable had hold of the defendant's arm then; the constable didn't let go the defendant's arm; I didn't hear any person ask the constable to let him go; defendant struck the constable and got away from him that way; the defendant struck the constable two or three times before he used his baton; I saw the constable strike the defendant over the shoulders with his baton two or three times, and that was near the "Solferino Hotel"; the defendant didn't have his hands up to protect himself; I didn't hear defendant reason with the constable, and tell him not to strike him, and offer to give him his name and address; I didn't hear defendant say, if he had broken a window he would pay for it; the constable had not hold of the defendant when he struck the defendant with his baton; defendant and the constable were facing each other then, and defendant was coming towards the constable who was standing still; I didn't see the constable lay hold of the defendant after he struck him with his baton; the two men ran the defendant down the road; the cab was still at the coffee stall; I cannot say where the driver was; I won't swear that the driver was on the cab, or whether any person was not in the cab; the cab didn't move from its position when the two men ran the defendant down the street; when they went down the street I followed down, and the constable came down behind me; the two men took the defendant away from the constable by force; they didn't attack the constable; the constable didn't have hold of the defendant then; defendant fell down at the corner of Goulburn and George Streets on the western side of George-street; I came up to him before he got up; he tripped and had a tremendous fall; he didn't get up the moment he fell; I had hold of him trying to raise his head when he got up; the two men didn't come to the defendant together; I won't swear that one of the two men didn't come up in the cab; the constable came up to defendant before the other man came up; not two minutes elapsed before the constable came up; it was about a minute before the constable came up to where the defendant and I were; I did not see the constable when he came up; I didn't see the defendant when the constable came up; I was knocked down; when I got up I saw the constable rising from the ground; I didn't see the constable knocked down; I didn't hear what the constable said when he got up; the defendant didn't say anything then; the constable didn't lay hold of defendant again; three minutes might have elapsed before I saw the first man (the defendant's friend) come up; I have no recollection of saying, "I shall see the constable get fair play, I will take his part"; I didn't say so; the constable had struck defendant once when the defendant's friend came up; the constable had not struck him four or five times; the constable spoke to the man who came up; he didn't ask who the defendant was; it might have been one or two minutes after the defendant's friend came up when the cab came up; the defendant's friend did not tell the constable before the cab came up that the defendant belonged to the steam-ship "Albion," and was going there; the cab stopped in the middle of George-street, and I won't swear that there was or was not any person in the cab; when the cab came up it stopped about 10 yards from the constable and the defendant; I did not hear the constable ask any person who the defendant was and where he was going; when they all got into the cab I heard some person in the cab say that defendant belonged to the "Albion"; I didn't hear any one say that he didn't belong to the ship but had a shop at the Circular Quay; three men got into the cab; I saw the defendant get into the cab, and I saw the man (who came up three minutes after the constable) get into the cab; I saw a third person get into the cab; I won't swear that man didn't come up in the cab; defendant was first in the cab; I did not hear the constable say that he did not want to take the defendant if he paid for the window; he did not say so; I did not see the defendant go apart with the constable and speak to him before he got into the cab; I swear that the constable did not do so; I did not see the constable shake hands with defendant and wish him good night; I swear he did not do so; the constable did not wish all the men in the cab good-night, and they did not wish him good-night; the constable did not object when the defendant got into the cab with his friends; when the cab drove away, it came up in the direction of this Court; I didn't see any blood when the constable struck the defendant; I didn't see the defendant's face damaged or knocked about; I did not see the defendant's hand injured from one of the blows; it was a little before 4 o'clock when the cab drove away; it was between 3 and 4 o'clock when I first saw the defendant at the coffee stall; when the cab drove away I did not go into a public house with the constable; I was not in any public house at all; the constable did not ask me for my name and address; he did not say that he might want to see me again; I was subpoenaed here; I got my subpoena on last Monday week; Constable Martin gave me the subpoena, he didn't give me or promise me any money; Constable Martin saw me at my work about an hour before he gave me the subpoena; I work at Mr. Partridges, and Mr. Downey works there;

Constable

Constable Axam was with Constable Martin when he spoke to me at the shop; Mr. Downey was there; I didn't see the constables until they came into the shop; I did not run away and hide myself in a tank out of the sight of the police; my master called me; I saw Downey when the police were there, he didn't go away and hide himself in a tank; the police didn't drag me out of a tank; I did not see them pull Downey out of a tank; that night between $\frac{1}{2}$ past 7 and 8 o'clock, I went to the police station with Downey; I now recollect that it was on last Tuesday week when the subpoena was served on me, and it was on that day when I came to the police station, Constable Martin asked me would I call at the police station as early as convenient that evening; Mr. Downey met me at the police station, and I went into the station with him; Downey was asked by Martin to go to the police station; I noticed several constables at the station; Sub-inspector Anderson was there; I didn't see any person named Fosbery there; I went into a private room with Mr. Anderson; Constable Martin came into the room with us, and we closed the door; Mr. Anderson asked me would I give him a statement of the occurrence; I gave him a statement, he wrote it down, and I signed it; I know that he was writing down what I said; Constable Martin did not say anything; Mr. Anderson read the document over to me before I signed it; I spoke, and Downey and I signed the same paper; Mr. Anderson read the paper over to Mr. Downey; Mr. Downey and Mr. Anderson questioned Downey; I did not get a copy of the paper; I did not ask for it; I cannot tell you whether Mr. Anderson put his name on the paper; Martin did not sign it in my presence; there were not more than three sheets of paper; when I was leaving the room another gentleman came in; no person came into the room and represented himself as a Magistrate; or who spoke as a Magistrate; Constable Martin came out of the room with Downey and myself, and we didn't come to this building then; I didn't go to the station again or into this Court until yesterday; after I made my statement, I didn't say I couldn't give any more time unless I was paid for it; I didn't hear Downey say that he could not give any more time unless he was paid; I swear that he did not say so in the room or on that night; I did not tell any of my mates that it was through Downey getting into the tank that the police found me out; I swear that the defendant was drunk, to the best of my belief; I will only swear to the best of my belief that he was drunk; I didn't run down after defendant when he went down George-street; the defendant went down the street quickly in front of us, and in going across the street he fell; on the night I gave my statement, I went into M'Master's public-house with Downey and Martin, that was after I gave my statement; Martin paid for the drinks; I didn't pick up anything else but the articles produced; I didn't see the defendant give the constable a one-pound note; he didn't give him a one-pound note; I was sober.

By Mr. Roberts: The two men who ran the defendant down George-street appeared to take him against his will and by force; there did not appear to be any reason for defendant to go from the corner of Liverpool-street to the corner of Goulburn-street; I have no doubt that the defendant was drunk from his manner, conduct, actions, and expressions; defendant could not have taken a cup of coffee across the street unless I saw him; and I swear that he did not do so when I was there.

Thomas Downey, on oath, states: I reside at No. 46, Yurong-street, Woolloomooloo, and am in Mr. Partridge's employ; I have been in the yard of this Court at different times during the time this case was going on; I was not in the Court; I have been in Mr. Partridge's employ about nine months; I know Edward Smith who is in the employ of Mr. Partridge; on the morning of the 28th June last, I was in Smith's company at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, at a $\frac{1}{4}$ to 4 o'clock; Smith and I were perfectly sober; I saw three or four persons at the corner, two were barneying, and one was sitting on a stool having coffee; a cab was not there when we came up, it drove up two or three minutes after we got there; defendant was one of the men, and a stout man was trying to hold him back; I saw Constable Martin there; defendant was using very bad language to Constable Martin when the man was holding the defendant; Constable Martin was about 2 yards from me, he was standing at one end of the coffee stall; Martin was not provoking defendant, he didn't say anything to him; to the best of my belief the defendant was drunk; I have no doubt about it; I didn't see him drink anything or have any liquor in his possession; the constable only said that he was doing his duty; the man tried to drag the defendant from George-street to Liverpool-street, and he dragged defendant into Liverpool-street, and all of a sudden afterwards there was a crash; the constable went around the corner, and he saw that the window of the "Solferino Hotel" was smashed; the constable touched the defendant on the shoulder, and said, "You will have to pay for this window, or come along with me"; the constable then knocked at the door with his baton; defendant went around the corner of Liverpool-street to the coffee stall, when the constable was knocking at the door; he called the constable names, and didn't go away from the door until after he assaulted the constable; after the constable knocked at the door, he put his baton inside of his coat, and that was before defendant assaulted him; the baton was inside the constable's coat when defendant assaulted him; when the constable went up to the defendant, the defendant assaulted him; I said to Constable Martin, "Take out your baton, he is too much for you"; at this time the defendant was violent, shouting out, calling the constable names, and striking the constable before the constable struck him; the defendant struck the constable three times with his fist; the constable didn't give defendant any provocation to strike him; the constable struck the defendant on the shoulder; the last blow the defendant gave the constable knocked him against a shop front; there were two men who ran with the defendant down George-street, the two men had hold of defendant and ran him down as far as the "Honest Lawyer" public house; the two men who ran the defendant down the street, took defendant away because the constable was going to arrest him; one of the men ran up a street alongside of the "Honest Lawyer," and the other ran away from the defendant; the defendant ran across the other side of the street and ran against a boot shop and fell down; the defendant ran sideways and staggered across the street; when he fell he fell into a gutter; no person was with him then; no person pushed him down; he appeared to have a good fall, and when he was down he moaned; I went over to defendant with Smith; just at that moment Constable Martin came running around the corner of Liverpool-street, and after him came one of the two men who was with defendant; Constable Martin asked the man if he was one of Burns's mates; the man said, "I am not one of his mates, I am not going to assault you," and he shifted back; Smith and I assisted the defendant on to the pathway as an act of kindness; I was under the impression that his face was cut; defendant kicked me into the gutter, and rolled Smith off him; as the defendant got up he caught hold of the constable by the two legs and threw him down; when Martin stood up the defendant rushed at him; defendant didn't say anything; the same two men who were with defendant ran him into the cab, and the cab then drove from the corner of Goulburn and George Streets into George-street; when they got into George-street opposite Collier's shop, the defendant jumped out of the cab and called the constable names; the two men then jumped out of the cab, and pushed the defendant into the cab, and he fell down; he got up again and stood in the cab shouting, and the cab drove away; Constable Martin was not offered any money; if he had been offered a pound-note or any money I should have seen it; the cabman, defendant, the constable, the two men who were with defendant, Smith, and myself were the only persons who were present at the corner of George and Goulburn streets; a man named Keenan came up afterwards; he had been standing on the opposite side of the street; Smith, Bennett, a man who was against the "Solferino Hotel" having a cup of coffee, the coffee stall keeper, defendant and the man who was with him, and myself, were at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets before the cab came up; the cab came up about five minutes after we got up there; if the constable had taken any money I should have seen it, and I swear that he did not.

By Mr. Vardy: I went up to the stall with Smith; I was not going to work; I was not very drunk; Smith was sober; I had been with him all that morning; about five minutes after we got to the coffee stall the cab drove up; to the best of my belief there was not any person in the cab when it pulled up; it appeared to be waiting for some person at the coffee stall; I didn't hear the defendant say anything about rolls; one of the men was eating rolls; I did not hear the defendant say to the coffee stall man, "If I kept a stall I would have rolls, saveloys, and tongues;" I won't swear he didn't say so before I came down, he did not say it in my hearing; the defendant was not sitting down drinking coffee; defendant didn't take a cup of coffee across the road when I was there; there was not any person on the opposite side of the street; the defendant was standing up; the two men were barneying; one of the men was trying to get the defendant away from the policeman, and he didn't want to go; I was there for about five minutes before the defendant first struck the constable; the constable was at the stall when I came up; he was standing a good three feet away from the defendant; I did not hear the constable say to defendant "Don't be making a noise about your coffee"; he did not say so when I was there; I did not hear the defendant say "What business is that of yours, if you were minding your beat you wouldn't be at the coffee stall"; I did not see defendant replace his cup on the stall; I didn't see any cups put on the stall; I only saw one cup, and that was left on the window sill of the "Solferino Hotel"; I didn't hear the constable say to defendant "Don't give me any of your cheek, or I'll take you into custody"; I did not hear defendant say, "I have done nothing for you to do so"; I did not hear one of the men say to defendant, "Come away out of this, or you will be getting into a bother with this fellow"; I won't swear he didn't say so; I didn't hear the same man say to defendant, "I shall be obliged to leave you"; and I didn't see him catch hold of his right arm; I won't swear that did not take place; I won't swear that the defendant did not say, "I am not going up that way, let us get into the cab"; I did not hear him say so; defendant was in George-street before he went into Liverpool-street; one man took him around the corner; I did not go around the corner with them; after they went around the corner I heard a noise of broken glass; before defendant came back into George-street I did not hear any person speak in Liverpool-street; the constable remained in George-street when the defendant went around the corner into Liverpool-street with his friend; when I heard the sound of the glass the constable went around into Liverpool-street; the defendant had not passed the constable at the corner and come into George-street before the constable went around into Liverpool-street; I was standing at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, and was looking up Liverpool-street; I couldn't see what was going on in George-street; I didn't hear defendant's friend say, "Look here, you have broken a window"; I didn't hear defendant say, "If you say I have broken a window I shall pay for it"; I didn't hear the defendant's friend say to defendant, "Look here, constable, he has broken a window around there, and he says he will pay for it"; I swear he didn't say so; I saw the constable knock at the door several times with his baton, and no person answered the knock; the defendant came around the corner from the window with his friend before the constable came back from the window; the defendant stood there till the constable came around; the constable didn't say that he arrested the defendant for breaking the window; I didn't hear anything said in Liverpool-street about the defendant saying that he would pay for the window if he broke it; I didn't see defendant have any coffee; the defendant and his friends may have been served with coffee before I came; the coffee man might have served them with three cups of coffee immediately before I came up; I won't swear that they had not each drunk a cup of coffee immediately before I came up; I will positively swear that the defendant was drunk; I didn't see him drink anything; the two persons who were with defendant didn't appear to be drunk; they were not drunk; I only saw one stool, and that was against the wall; I won't swear that there was not a stool alongside the coffee stall; the man dragged the defendant away from the coffee stall, and they left the coffee stall together; the constable didn't take part in the conversation at the coffee stall; he stood by the stall; I didn't hear Constable Martin charge the defendant with being drunk, or arrest him for being drunk when at the coffee stall; after the window was broken the defendant did not go down George-street by himself, followed by his friends; when the defendant left the coffee stall one person left with him, and he had hold of him by the arm; another person was just behind him, and they went towards Goulburn-street; the constable did not tell him not to go; Constable Martin didn't strike the defendant while I was there before the window was broken; I saw the constable strike the defendant after the defendant struck him; the constable struck the defendant with his baton after the window was broken, and before his friend took him away; he struck him four or five times about the shoulders and back of the neck; when he was striking the defendant the defendant didn't have his hands up trying to ward off the blows; the defendant used to rush at him, and the constable used to strike the defendant when they were each face to face; after the constable struck defendant one man caught hold of the defendant and took him down towards George-street; up to that time the constable had not arrested the defendant for being drunk; he had laid his hands on him previously for breaking the window.

By Bench: When I say that no arrest was made up to that time, I mean no arrest was made as far as I know; I don't know what took place before I came up. By

By Mr. Vardy: From the time I came up to the coffee stand to the time the defendant was taken down George-street, I didn't see the constable arrest defendant, or say "I take you in charge for breaking the window"; when the defendant went down George-street with his friends, the constable followed the defendant down, as soon as the constable picked himself up; defendant left the constable on the ground after having knocked him down; I told the constable to pull his baton out—that defendant was too much for him; I went down the street before the constable; I didn't say I would be off and see the constable get fair play, and would take his part; Smith went down the street with me, and he didn't say to me that he would be off and see the constable get fair play; I won't swear that he didn't say so; as we went down the street we didn't overtake and pass a man; the constable didn't pass me before I got to Goulburn-street; just before I got up to the defendant, I didn't say I shall see fair play, and take the constable's part; I didn't see the defendant trip and fall across the gutter, as he was crossing the street; Smith was with me when I came up to the defendant, we ran side by side; the constable came up immediately after me; when he came up he did not strike the defendant three or four times with his baton; the defendant didn't hold his hands up to protect his head; immediately after the constable came up; defendant's friend had got up by this time; defendant's friend did not say to the constable, "Well, that will do, I think you have given him quite enough, if he attempts to interfere with you, I will assist you"; when the constable came up to defendant at the corner of Goulburn-street, defendant was getting out of the gutter; defendant was lying in the gutter for three or five minutes, he was not able to get up; when defendant's friend came up, defendant was not out of the gutter, and the constable was not beating him; when defendant got out of the gutter he tripped again and fell on the path; the constable was standing over him trying to keep him down, and the defendant threw him down; it was after then when the constable used his baton; when defendant got up he rushed at the constable, and the constable struck him three or four times on the left shoulder with his baton; defendant's friend was there then, and he didn't say to defendant, "That will do, you have given him enough"; after the constable left off striking the defendant, he asked the defendant's friend who the defendant was, and where he was going; the cabman said that he was going to the "Albion" steam-ship; I didn't hear the constable ask the defendant's friend or the cabman if he belonged to the "Albion" steam-ship; I can't swear he did not say so; I didn't hear the defendant's friend tell the constable that he had a shop on the Circular Quay; I didn't hear the constable say, "I don't want to take the man if he pays for the window"; I won't swear that he didn't say so; I heard some person say, "Will you let him go, if he pays for the window"; the constable said, "I will not let him go"; and some person said, "He won't go with you"; after that was said the constable did not go away and speak to the defendant; the constable was standing at the side of defendant at this time; the cab had been there about 10 minutes then; the cab came down there about 10 minutes after I got down; when it came down I didn't look to see who was in it; I couldn't swear that one of the two men who were with the defendant at the coffee stall was not in it; the cab drove up close to where the defendant and the constable were standing in Goulburn-street; I didn't hear the cabman or any person in the cab join in the conversation; I won't swear they did not; I did not see the constable shake hands with the defendant before he got in the cab; I saw the defendant get into the cab; he got in first; before the defendant got into the cab, I didn't hear the constable wish the defendant good-night, or the defendant and his friends wish the constable good-night; I swear they did not do so; I will swear that the defendant did not give or hand something to the constable before he got into the cab; defendant could not have done so unless I noticed it; the constable wanted Smith, Bennett, and myself to keep the defendant from getting into the cab; I got one kick and I thought that was enough; the constable didn't kick me; Smith tried to keep the defendant out of the cab; the constable allowed the cab to go; he couldn't stop them; he didn't catch hold of the horse's head, or demand the cabman to stop; when the cab started away the constable was in the road; the constable didn't say to the defendant as he was going away, "You must not go;" Smith was standing by me when the cab left, and had the same opportunity of seeing and hearing what took place as I had; when the cab left, four of us and the constable were left in the street, and the cab drove up George-street; from the time I saw the defendant at the coffee stall till the time I saw the cab drive away about half an hour elapsed, and that is as good a guess as I can give; after the cab drove away Smith or I didn't go into a public-house with the constable; we did not go to the coffee stall with him; we left him near where the cab left us; he didn't say that he wanted to see us again, or ask us our name and address; I have been subpoenaed here; I got my subpoena on last Tuesday week; before I got my subpoena—it was on the same day as I got my subpoena—Constables Martin and Axam found me out at Mr. Partridge's shop; when I saw the constables coming I didn't run away and hide myself in a tank, crate, or box; I didn't have time; a constable didn't pull me out of a tank, box, or crate; I didn't run up-stairs and hide myself; I said to Smith, "There are two policemen, and there is one of them from that fight—they want you"; Smith walked out to them; on last Wednesday afternoon I was near this Court, at about half-past 4 o'clock; I told some men that Axam and Martin came looking for me at my shop, and that I was pulled out of a tank by them; everything they asked me I said "Yes" to; the men were pumping me.

By Bench: The men asked me if I was not hiding behind a tank, and whether I was pulled out of a tank, and I said "Yes."

By Mr. Vardy: On last Wednesday afternoon at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 4 o'clock I didn't tell any one that I wanted to see Constable Martin, to see if he was going to pay me for the time I lost; I may have asked if Burns's case was over; a man said to me, "It is remanded again, and you are a witness"; I said they came down looking for me; I wouldn't be sure whether I told the man that I came to the watch-house; on last Tuesday week Constable Martin left word for me to come up to the police station; I came up and got my subpoena; I went up again to the station at $\frac{1}{2}$ past 7 o'clock at night with Smith; Constable Martin asked me to come up; when we came up to the station we met Mr. Anderson and Constable Martin there; we all went into the room; Mr. Anderson questioned us, and we told him what we had seen, and he wrote down what we said; I think he wrote on two sheets of paper; I won't swear he didn't write on four sheets; the paper was read over; Smith signed it first, and I then signed it; I made no statement; I corrected Smith as he spoke; another gentleman (a police officer) came into the room when I was signing the paper; I didn't get a copy of the paper I signed; I didn't ask for it; they didn't send for any one who was a Magistrate; I didn't ask any one who was going to pay me; I didn't say that I couldn't lose any more time; Mr. Anderson did not tell me that I would be paid for any loss of time; no person said to me, "If they don't pay you, I will"; when I came out of the station I went into a public-house with Constable Martin and had a drink; I think Constable Martin paid for the drinks; he picked picked up the change; on last Wednesday afternoon I told a man and some others who were standing outside what I seen; then I told them that they brought Mr. Creig or Crane to witness me sign what I stated, and I said I can't lose no time unless I am paid for it; Anderson told me I would get paid for any loss of time; I spoke again about the payment; Mr. Creig or Crane said you will get paid for your lost time, for if they don't I'll pay you out of my own pocket; I didn't point out to them the person as being Mr. Creig or Crane as he came into the yard; I made the statement because every time I came to this Court, I was met by the cabman in this case, a blacksmith, and a few others who were always in this Court yard; they used to stop me and say, "Oh! you will be in for perjury; they have got the bobby and old Keenan"; they said it wouldn't be the first time for old Keenan, he would hang his father; they then said to me, "Do you expect to be paid"; I said, "I have not asked for payment yet," and I am glad I didn't, because they would make it out a bribe; the cabman, Smith, and another man asked me what I had seen; I told them, and they said, "He has five or six witnesses to contradict that; he said Richards was going to take an action in the Supreme Court for £5,000 damages; I said that he would lose it; he said Richards would lose a fortune over it; there was a further conversation, and I answered the questions they put to me in the way they wanted me to answer; I told them that I didn't mean to tell all I had seen; I told a man this morning that I would contradict the statement I made outside when I got into Court; I didn't get any money with my subpoena; I didn't get any money since.

By Bench: I have not received any money or have not been promised any money for giving evidence in this case; I have not been in negotiation with any one with a view of receiving any money for my attendance here.

By Mr. Vardy: I didn't notice any blood about the defendant's head or face when he got into the cab; when the defendant went down George-street to Goulburn-street, he went down in front of us, he kept ahead of us till he tripped; I didn't go into the "Solferino Hotel"; I didn't notice the defendant's hands; when the cab drove away the constable didn't ask me my name and address.

By Mr. Roberts: I was not drunk; I had had nothing to drink, I was perfectly sober; before the defendant ran down George-street the constable laid his hands on the defendant, and said that he would have to pay for the window or go along with him; the constable had hold of the defendant by the collar, and the defendant struck him and got away from him; I didn't know what the constable's intentions were when he arrested the defendant; defendant struck the constable twice after he got away from him, and before he went down to Goulburn-street; one man took the defendant down the street by the arm, and the other man was behind pushing him down, and in that way he was taken down as far as the "Honest Lawyer" public house

Senior-constable John Butler, on oath, states: On the 28th June last I was a Senior-constable in the Police Force; I know the defendant; on the morning of the 28th June last at 4 or a few minutes after 4 o'clock, I saw the defendant; he was drunk, I have no doubt about it, he was very drunk and violent.

By Mr. Vardy: I am still a Senior-constable in the Police Force; I won't swear that I saw the defendant drunk at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets at about a quarter to 4 o'clock on the morning of the 28th June last; I won't swear that I saw the defendant drunk at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets on that morning; on the morning of the 28th June last before 4 o'clock I didn't see defendant in any street except in York-street.

By Bench: I didn't see the defendant anywhere before 4 o'clock on the morning of the 28th June last.

By Mr. Vardy: At a quarter to 4 o'clock on the morning of the 28th June last, I was at the Central Police Station; I remained there till two or three minutes after 4 o'clock; it was not ten minutes past 4 o'clock; it was not five minutes past 4 o'clock; I might have left the station at three or four minutes past 4 o'clock; when I left the station I went into York-street; when I first saw the defendant he was in York-street, at the top gate of the Markets, near the Police Court; defendant was not by himself, some constables were with him; two constables were with him; some persons were standing near a cab; Smith was the driver of the cab, which was No. 199; there were at least two persons besides the police standing by the cab; one of the persons who was there is named Richards, and the other man is named Denniffe; that was the first place I saw the defendant that morning; defendant was then drunk; I have not been subpoenaed here; I am on duty now; I was told by Sub-inspector Anderson to be at this Court.

Constable

Constable John Bell, on oath, states: On the morning of the 28th June last I was a constable in the Police Force, and saw defendant in York-street, Sydney, at about 4 o'clock, and he was drunk.

By Mr. Vardy: Since the 28th June last I have not been reduced in rank or disgraced; I was reserve man on the 28th June last; I won't swear that I saw the defendant drunk at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets at a quarter to 4 o'clock; I won't swear that I saw him drunk at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; I will not swear that I saw the defendant in any street but York street on the 28th June last; I saw defendant in York-street before a quarter past 4 o'clock; I saw him a little before ten minutes past 4 o'clock; it might have been five minutes past 4 o'clock when I first saw the defendant; I will swear that he was drunk.

By Mr. Roberts: The first place I saw defendant was in York-street.

DEFENCE.

Martin Denniffe, on oath, states: I am a bootmaker, residing in Argyle-street, Sydney; I have a shop on the Circular Quay; I remember the 28th June last; I know the complainant and defendant; about 12 o'clock on the morning of the 28th June last I saw the defendant; when I met defendant he was alone on the Circular Quay in a public house known as the "Ship Inn"; this was a few minutes after 12 o'clock in the morning; the defendant came into the public house alone; a man named Richards came into the house a couple of minutes afterwards; when I first saw the defendant in the earliest part of the morning he was not drunk, and he had no appearance of being drunk; I was sober; Richards was sober; I remained in the hotel with defendant and Richards for a quarter of an hour or ten minutes; Richards left the hotel with the defendant and I; defendant was not drunk then; I was not drunk then; Richards was not drunk; when I left the hotel I left the defendant and Richards standing in the street, and I went to my shop; I joined the defendant and Richards again about a half-an-hour after I had left them; defendant and Richards were then walking on the Circular Quay; I remained with them walking about the Circular Quay; after then, the defendant, Richards, and myself proceeded to the corner of Pitt and Hunter Streets; we walked there; defendant asked the woman at a coffee stall there for a cup of coffee; we didn't have any coffee there; the defendant, Richards, and myself, then took a cab, and the cabman engaged to drive us to where we could get some coffee, and we got into the cab; defendant was not drunk then; we proceeded in the cab to the corner of George and Liverpool Streets; there was a coffee stall at that corner, and the cab stopped close to the stall; defendant got out of the cab, he got out by himself; I got out after him; I think Richards got out first; the cab was number No. 199, and was driven by John Smith; from the time the defendant came out of the "Ship Inn" to the time we got to the corner of Liverpool and George Streets we hadn't driven to any other hotel; from the time we left the Circular Quay till the time we got to the corner of George and Liverpool Streets I didn't see defendant drink anything; I sat next to him in the cab, and didn't see him drink anything; neither of us took any liquor into the cab; when the defendant got out at the coffee stall at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets he was not drunk; when we got out of the cab the defendant went to the coffee stall, he asked for something to eat, he asked for some coffee; I walked by the stall up Liverpool-street; I saw the defendant with coffee; I didn't see any rolls served before I went up Liverpool-street; I saw a constable near the stall; I think Constable Martin is the man; I heard the constable's name mentioned as Martin; the constable was close to the stall when defendant ordered the coffee; he was not doing anything; I went three, four, or five yards up Liverpool-street; defendant brought me over a cup of coffee; I did not drink it; defendant drank part of the coffee, and threw the remainder away, and said "It was no good"; he took the cup back and put it on the table; shortly before the defendant brought me the coffee, I saw the constable and the defendant speaking; I didn't hear the defendant and the coffee stall man speaking before then, I could not hear them where I was; the first thing I heard the defendant say to the constable was, that he ought not to be standing there, but be on his beat; I do not remember hearing the defendant say three or four more words before he said what I have already stated.

By Bench: I don't know what the constable said to the defendant before the defendant said if he was minding his beat he would not be standing there; I thought the constable did say something to him.

By Mr. Vardy: The cab was in George-street when defendant brought the coffee cup back from me and put it on the stall; when the defendant told the constable if he was minding his beat, the constable made some reply, but I don't know what it was; I brought the defendant away from the coffee table; I caught hold of the defendant and told him he had better come away or he would get into trouble with this man; when I took hold of defendant I walked up Liverpool-street with him; I told him to come away, that I couldn't stop any longer and wanted to go home; I told him if he didn't come home I would have to leave him; he said, "I am not going up that way, I want to go in the cab"; I was in Liverpool-street then, standing alongside of the "Solferino Hotel," and when I had hold of the defendant he knocked my arm against the window and broke it; I felt my arm hit the window; it was through the defendant defendant the window was broken; I heard the glass break as soon as my arm knocked the window; it was the action of the defendant pulling or jerking my arm that broke the window; I have no doubt but what I broke the window; I only saw or heard of one breakage to that window; when the window was broken defendant and myself were the only persons standing there; if it has been sworn that the defendant broke the window it is false; after the window was broken I said to defendant, "There is the window broken"; he asked me who broke it; I told him it was on his account that it was broken; he asked me if he broke it, and I said, "Yes, you did"; he said, "If I broke it, I'll pay for it"; we walked around into George-street then; defendant was a little in front of me; I came up to the constable in George-street, and told him the window was broken; I said that the defendant had broken a window around the corner there, and that it was accidentally done, and that defendant said he would pay for it; the constable went around to the window, and then knocked at the door of the hotel with a stick—I think a baton; up to this time I didn't see the constable take defendant into custody, or hear him say that he arrested him for anything; I didn't hear him say that he charged defendant with being drunk; up to this time I did not see the defendant do anything to the constable; when the constable knocked at the door with his baton he knocked two or three times, I think; I didn't see any person answer the knock; when the constable was knocking at the door I had hold of defendant and told him to run away, and I ran down the street with him; I thought the constable was going to take him; when I told the defendant to run away, and I would speak to the constable about the window, and the defendant did run, I didn't tell him if he didn't go the constable might do something; when I told the defendant to run away he ran down George-street; the constable passed me by and spoke to me—"He has broken the window, now I'll have to take him"; defendant ran down George-street towards the Haymarket; the constable passed me at a quick walk, and he then ran down after the defendant; I followed after them; the cab was still at the stall; I did not see Richards; I think he was with the cabman; the cabman stopped behind when I followed the constable; I didn't keep the constable and the defendant in sight; I first saw the defendant again at the corner of Goulburn and George Streets; on my way down some person passed me; he said that he would see the constable wouldn't be interfered with, and he went on before me; when I saw the defendant at Goulburn-street he was getting up over the kerbstone; he seemed as if he had a fall; the constable was there then; I saw the constable strike the defendant with his baton, two or three times I think, it might have been four or five times; the defendant had his hands around his head to save himself from getting struck with the baton; I told the constable not to hit him, that I thought he had given him enough and that he wouldn't interfere with him; I told the constable that I wouldn't see the defendant interfere with him, and if he did interfere with the constable I would assist him; I hadn't seen the defendant do anything to the constable then; the interference and beating was all on the constable's side as far as I could see; when I spoke to the constable he left off beating defendant, and he asked me if I knew who the defendant was or if I knew where he was going; I said that he was a stranger to me and belonged to the "Albion" steamer; he asked me if I belonged to the ship; I told him that I did not, but kept a boot shop in the Circular Quay; the constable said he didn't want to take him, but he will have to pay for the window; I noticed some persons standing about there; about this time Richards and the cabman came down; there might have been three other persons standing by then besides those I have mentioned; after the constable said he didn't want to take defendant, I didn't notice the constable and the defendant speaking together; Richards, the defendant, the cabman, and constable were speaking together; I didn't hear what they were talking about; I didn't hear any high words; I heard them all wish the constable good-night, the defendant included, and the constable wished them good-night; defendant and Richards then went up to the cab; I cannot say who got in first; I think I got in last; the constable was not near the cab when we got into the cab; when I wished him good-night the constable was at the corner of Goulburn-street and the cab was in George-street about 15 or 20 yards from Goulburn-street; we all walked up to the cab and we left the constable standing there; I didn't hear Constable Martin call upon any person who was there to assist him to prevent the defendant from getting into the cab; I didn't hear any person volunteer to assist him; the constable did not make the slightest objection to the defendant going away in the cab; the constable for all I know might have made the matter up with defendant.

By Bench: Nothing came under my notice to lead me to such a belief.

By Mr. Vardy: The constable told the cabman to drive away; we were near the cab at the time; he said, "You can drive him" (meaning Burns, I think) "away"; defendant had hired the cab; the constable was told that the cab was going down to the "Albion" steam-ship; the cab drove up George-street into York-street by way of Druitt-street; when the cab got into York-street the defendant, Richards, and myself were in the cab then; I cannot say what time it was then; we did not go down York-street very far; the cab was then going down to the "Albion" steamer with defendant; constable Axam stopped the cab; I was sitting next to the defendant in the cab, and he was not drunk.

Martin Denniffe, re-sworn, states: I heard the defendant ask for something to eat at the corner of Pitt and Hunter Streets, and the cabman said that he would take him to a place to get something to eat; the defendant spoke of being hungry several times, and wanted something to eat; he said that the ship had just come in; before I told the defendant to go away at the corner of Liverpool and George Streets I hadn't seen the constable strike the defendant; all the blows I saw the constable give the defendant were at the corner of Goulburn and George Streets; defendant ran down George-street ahead of us all; he didn't run like a drunken man would; it was dark when I saw the defendant getting up from out of the gutter; a lamp was near him; any person would be likely to trip in crossing the gutter there going in a hurry; when I got up to the defendant at Goulburn-street he was not drunk; defendant was a stranger to me up to that morning; I am not in the habit of making acquaintance with strangers who are drunk if I can possibly help it; the defendant did not force himself on me in any way.

By

By Bench : I was anxious to get the defendant away from the corner of Liverpool and George Streets, because there was loud talking going on, and I was afraid he might commit himself, and I was anxious to get him away.

By Mr. Roberts : Richards came into the public-house just after I met defendant; I had known Richards before; the public house I met the defendant in was the "Ship Inn"; it was about ten minutes or a quarter past 12 o'clock; defendant did not say that he had just been discharged from the vessel; I didn't hear him say so; he may have said so; I am in the habit of stopping out working late at night; I live about 200 or 300 yards from the Circular Quay; the defendant came into the public house to change a pound; he treated me, and I treated him in return, and that was how we became acquainted with him; when I say I work sometimes all night, I work in a little shop next to the "Paragon Hotel" on the Circular Quay; I was sober, and am not in the habit of getting drunk; about eight or twelve months ago I was the worse of liquor, and I was drunk on that occasion; it was at the time of Lane and Chester's fire, and I fought some person, and got a black-eye, and lost my watch; I have been in custody—it might be five, six, or seven years ago; that was at the instance of my wife; I went into the public house before 12 o'clock; I might have gone there about fifteen or twenty minutes before 12 o'clock; I had a glass of whiskey hot when I went into the public house; I might have had something to drink during the day; I may have gone in the public house at about half-past 11 o'clock on the night of the 27th, or twenty minutes to 12 o'clock; I had a glass of whiskey hot at about twenty minutes to 12 o'clock, just after I went into the house; the defendant came in at about 12 o'clock; when he came in he treated me, and I had whiskey hot with him; I don't remember whether I had been drinking during the 27th; I left my workshop to have a drink, and after I left the hotel I went back to my work and left the defendant on the Circular Quay; I was away for half-an-hour, and I cannot say whether the defendant went into the public house when I was away; when I returned, the defendant was on the Circular Quay, and he said that he was hungry; it is my business why I didn't go home; the defendant asked me to accompany him, and that is the reason I did; I knew the defendant had money—I saw him change a pound note; Richards and I are not often out together early in the morning; Richards comes over to my shop sometimes when it is his night on at the wharf; Richards knows the city as well as I do; he is better acquainted with the shipping than I am; I don't know whether Richards could have taken the defendant to where he wanted to go; there was no necessity for me to go; defendant asked me to go; it was nearly 2 o'clock when we got to the Herald office; it was ten minutes or quarter past 12 o'clock when I came out of the hotel; it was close on 1 o'clock I think when I left the Circular Quay; it might have been half-past 12 o'clock, before, or after 1 o'clock; the whiskey had not confused me; I did not take notice of the time; it was going on for 1 o'clock when I left the Circular Quay; after I came out of my shop, we walked about the Circular Quay; the defendant spoke to me about boots, and was going to introduce me to the men on board the steamer; at about 1 o'clock the defendant first spoke to me about something to eat; it might have been after 1 o'clock; I came out of my shop at about half-past 12 or a little after, and that was after I had done my work; I may have come out of the shop at a quarter to 1 o'clock; when I came out of my shop, the defendant spoke about something to eat, and we conversed together on the Circular Quay for half an hour afterwards; the public house was then closed, and we walked slowly up to the coffee stand at the corner of Pitt and Hunter Streets; we didn't go into any public house on our way up; the coffee was not ready at that stall, the woman said it was not ready; the defendant said something, I don't know what he said; I didn't hear the woman say "I won't serve you."

By Bench : I didn't hear the defendant say anything to bring forth such a reply.

By Mr. Roberts : I don't know what the defendant said; I have no idea what he said; I was 4 or 5 yards away; I was not paying attention to what defendant said; Smith, the cabman, said to the defendant that he would take him to a place where he would get coffee; defendant hired the cab there and then; there was no necessity for me to go with the defendant; I went with him as I had chosen so; I think we went down Pitt-street in the cab; I believe it was Pitt-street—I won't swear that we went along Pitt-street; to the best of my belief, we went along Pitt-street; the cabman may have driven up Hunter-street into George-street; the drink I had been taking had not confused me, or operated on me at this time; I don't know what street we drove up, because I was in conversation with defendant and Richards; we were all conversing in the cab, we had to speak loudly to be heard, the cab and windows were rattling, foot passengers could hear us, they might have heard our voices about 10, 15, or 20 yards away; we had to speak out loudly but not at the top of our voice, each of us in our turn spoke loudly; we left the Circular Quay at about 1 o'clock; it must have been after 1 o'clock; it must have been 2 o'clock when we got to the Herald Office; it may have been after 2 o'clock; we were walking up Pitt-street from the time we left the Circular Quay till we got to the Herald Office; I had a watch, but I cannot say that I looked at it; when we were coming up Pitt-street I showed the defendant the buildings; I left the Circular Quay with defendant to get something to eat; when we left the Herald Office, we got into a cab at the Herald Office, and we drove up to the corner of Liverpool and George Streets; it might have been $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2 or 3 o'clock when we left the Herald Office; I think it was $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2 o'clock; I don't remember the time we got to the corner of George and Liverpool Streets; I think we went direct from the Herald Office to the corner of Liverpool and George Streets; we crossed King-street going down; I don't know whether we went down Market-street; I was not paying much attention; it was dark that morning; I know the streets of the city well; when the window was broken I told some person the window was broken; I don't remember whether I said to any person, "Take no notice of him"; I didn't say so; I don't recollect speaking to any one but the constable; we all parted on friendly terms, as far as I could say, at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; I have no doubt about it; defendant parted with the constable in a friendly manner, although I say that the constable beat the defendant; I didn't see defendant catch hold of the constable and throw him down; I didn't see the defendant fall; I don't know whether he hurt himself, I saw defendant getting up; the constable assisted to get him up; no other person assisted to get the defendant up; the defendant didn't throw the constable or any one else down; directly the defendant got up the constable struck the defendant with his baton; the constable did not lift the defendant up or appear to lift him up; if I swore that he lifted him up it was wrong; when the defendant got up the constable struck him; about 5 or 10 minutes (or more or less) after the constable struck the defendant, Richards and the cabman came down; just after the constable struck the defendant, the cabman and Richards came up; it was about 5 minutes afterwards; they were not in my sight when the constable struck struck the defendant; just as we were leaving the constable we all bid him good-night in friendship; we did not say it in derision; the constable told us to drive away; he told the cabman to drive away before we got into the cab; he told the cabman to drive the defendant away; he said, "Drive him (meaning Burns) away"; we were going up to the cab then; he didn't call out to the cabman to drive away before we went up to the cab; I don't remember any of us bidding the constable good-bye when we were going away in the cab; I don't remember anything been said; defendant sat down in the cab and we drove up to York-street; I was holding the defendant when he pushed my arm against the window; I caught hold of the defendant to take him away from the scuffle; I wanted to get him away from the coffee stall; there was no scuffle; I didn't see any scuffle there; I didn't care about having any coffee there; defendant and Richards asked me to have some, and I wouldn't have any.

By Bench: I saw the defendant have two drinks at the "Ship Inn"; he may have had three drinks; he had port wine hot; I didn't hear the defendant use any obscene language to the constable at the corner of Liverpool-street; the defendant did not assault the constable there; I did not hear any one tell the constable to draw his baton—the defendant was too much for him; Richards sat on the floor of the cab when it went away; when I treated the defendant after he had treated me, I had whiskey or porter; Richards sat on the floor of the cab on the opposite side to where I was sitting.

Martin Denniffe, re-sworn, states:

Re-examined by Mr. Vardy: There was not anything particular occurred to cause me to take out my watch and look at the time; I did not take any particular notice of the time; I am certain that the defendant only had two port wines hot that morning; he may have had three; I didn't see him drink anything else in the public house that morning; as we were coming up Pitt-street we stopped talking on our way up and looking at the buildings; all I have said is the truth; from the time I left the Circular Quay to the time I left the corner of George and Goulburn Streets I was not at any time under the influence of liquor; I was not under the influence of liquor at all on the 28th June last; I don't remember seeing any persons on the footpaths of the streets we passed in the cab; I didn't notice any cuts or bruises about the defendant's hands, face, or head, when we left the corner of Goulburn-street; if there had been I must have seen them, of course; I don't remember anything being said when we got into the cab; I went up the street with defendant because he was a stranger, and I was anxious to see him on board his ship; I expected to do business with the ship.

By Bench: I was anxious to see the defendant on board his ship, because I thought I might get orders for some boots.

ROBERT GUY, J.P.

James Richards, on oath, states: I reside at No. 54, Cumberland-street, Sydney, and am a boatman; I remember the 28th June last; I know the defendant; shortly after 12 o'clock on the morning of the 28th June last I met the defendant in the "Ship Inn" at the Circular Quay; Martin Denniffe was with defendant; Denniffe, the defendant, and myself spoke to each other in the bar; we were talking there for about a quarter of an hour; when I first saw defendant he was not drunk; when the defendant was there he had a glass or two glasses of port wine hot; when I went into the public house I had a glass of port wine hot; I was sober, and Denniffe was sober; I only saw the defendant drink one or two glasses of port wine hot in the public house; defendant, Denniffe, and myself came out of the public house together, and Denniffe went away to his shop to put his light out; he was away for about twenty minutes; I wouldn't swear that it was any longer; I am not sure as to the time; when Denniffe came back, we were still on the Circular Quay; defendant was talking about Melbourne; he said that he was a fireman on board the steamer "Albion," and that the steamer had come in that morning; when Denniffe came back we all walked down the Circular Quay; we didn't go to any other public house; from the time we came out of the public house till the time we left the Circular Quay about an hour or an hour and a half elapsed; when we left the Circular Quay we went up Pitt-street; we stopped at the corner of Queen's Place talking, while Denniffe went away to make water; we were stopping every now and then before we got to Hunter-street; we were looking at the buildings; we got up to the Herald Office; we stopped there; when defendant was on the Circular Quay he said that he would like to get something to eat; I told him that there was a coffee stall at the Herald Office; when we were at the Herald Office the defendant asked the woman at the stall for some coffee; she said that she hadn't any ready; defendant asked if he couldn't get something to eat somewhere else; Smith, the cabman, said that he would take him to a place to get something to eat; defendant asked us would we go; we said "No" at first, and defendant said "Come on"; defendant hired the cab, we drove up Pitt-street, then down King-street into George-street, and stopped at the corner of Liverpool-street; when we got into the cab at the Herald Office defendant was not drunk; I was not drunk; Denniffe was not drunk; Smith was not drunk; a coffee stall was at the corner of Liverpool-street, we all got out of the cab there; I cannot say who got out first; defendant got out by himself, there was no reason as I saw why he should not get out by himself; I called for four cups of coffee, the four cups were supplied; defendant wanted to know if they hadn't something to eat; the coffee man said that he had nothing for them to eat; I didn't hear the defendant say if he kept a coffee stall he would keep saveloys, rolls, and tongues, he said that you could get anything in Melbourne at a coffee stall; I drank my coffee; defendant drank his coffee; Denniffe stood at the stall, he was not exactly at the stall, he was alongside of the public house; the cabman and Denniffe had the coffee in their hands; the defendant and myself took our coffee over to where Denniffe was sitting; Constable Martin was standing alongside of the table, leaning against a post I think; I didn't see the coffee stall man go away for rolls; the constable spoke to the defendant and told the defendant not to be barneying or rowing with the coffee man, or kicking up a row with the coffee man; defendant told him if he was doing his duty he wouldn't be standing alongside of a coffee stall; I didn't hear the defendant say, "What business business is it of yours"; the constable told the defendant if he didn't hold his tongue he would lock him up; defendant asked him what he was going to lock him up for, he said that he had not done anything; Denniffe and I were standing alongside defendant; Denniffe took hold of defendant and told him to come away, and he took him around the corner of Liverpool-street; in telling him to come away I don't know the exact words he used to the defendant; I didn't hear him give the defendant any reason for him to come away, he may have said something; shortly after they went into Liverpool-street I heard a noise as if a window was broken, I didn't see any one break the window; the constable didn't follow them into Liverpool-street, he was at the coffee stall in George-street when the window was broken; as soon as the constable heard the sounds of the glass, he went to the corner; defendant and Denniffe met the constable at the door; Denniffe didn't say anything to the constable, the constable said that he would have to take him, that he had broken a window; the constable knocked at the door two or three times with his staff, and said that the defendant would have to wait till some person came down-stairs; no person answered the knock; defendant and Denniffe ran a short distance down the street together; I didn't hear Denniffe tell the defendant to go on, and he would stop and see about the window; before they ran down the street I didn't see the constable arrest defendant, or hear him charge defendant with being drunk; if he had said that he was drunk and he would arrest him I must have heard it, and I didn't hear him say so; when the constable was knocking at the door, he said to defendant, "I'll have to take you for breaking the window," and he said he would have to wait till some one came; I did not hear defendant make any reply; up to the time defendant left the stall I had not seen defendant do anything to the constable; the constable didn't strike the defendant at the corner of Liverpool-street; I didn't see any person at the coffee stall when we came up; two young fellows came up afterwards in their shirt sleeves, they came up just about the time the window was broken; I didn't hear them say anything to the constable, they ran down after defendant; I didn't hear them say anything to defendant; when defendant and Denniffe ran down the street one of them stopped and I lost sight of them; the constable went after the defendant and Denniffe; he ran down George-street after them; I think the two men ran down the street before the constable; I didn't hear them say anything; when they all went down the street I got into the cab sometime afterwards; I didn't see any one at the stall but the coffee stall man then; I didn't see the constable overtake defendant; we only had coffee to drink when we were at the corner of Liverpool and George Streets; we hadn't anything to drink except coffee after we left the "Ship Inn"; we didn't take any liquor in the cab; when the defendant started from the coffee stall with Denniffe he was not drunk; it was about half-past 3 or a little later when we got to the coffee stall; we had been there between 5 and 10 minutes when defendant left with Denniffe; a few minutes after defendant and Denniffe went away; I left from the coffee stall in the cab, and the cab went down slowly towards Goulburn-street; I next saw defendant at the corner of Goulburn and George Streets; Denniffe, defendant, the constable, and two or three other persons were all standing at the corner; when I parted from the defendant at the coffee stall I did not see any blood or bruises on his head, face, or hands; when defendant ran down George-street he ran straight; when I saw them at Goulburn-street they were talking about something; I didn't see the defendant beat or assault the constable or any one else; I didn't see the constable use his baton on defendant; when I saw them they were talking quietly; Denniffe was speaking to the constable; defendant was there; I didn't see any marks of blood or any wounds on his hands or face; when we drove down they all walked towards us; when I got out of the cab the constable told defendant he could get into the cab; the constable asked me who the defendant was, and I told him that he had told me he belonged to the "Albion" steamer; he told defendant he could get into the cab, and Denniffe went over towards the cab with him; I bid the constable good-night; he bid me good-night; Denniffe went back to the constable; I sat down in the front part of the cab, and the defendant sat in the cab; Denniffe didn't stop long with the constable; when he came back he got into the cab; I didn't hear the defendant wish the constable good-night; when we got into the cab we came up George-street; before we got into the cab I didn't hear the constable tell the defendant not to get into the cab; he told the cabman to take him; I didn't hear the constable call upon any person to assist him to prevent the defendant from getting into the cab; I didn't hear any person volunteer to assist him; when the constable told the defendant not to be barneying, he spoke in the same tone of voice as I am now; the defendant spoke in the same tone of voice when he answered the constable; when the constable spoke to defendant at the corner of Goulburn-street he spoke in an ordinary manner; when the cab drove away I didn't hear the constable call out for the cab to stop; we drove up George-street into York-street; defendant and Denniffe were in the cab with me; up to the time the cab was stopped in York-street I was not drunk; Denniffe was not drunk; defendant was not drunk; the cabman was not drunk; up to the time the cab was stopped I didn't see any blood on the defendant's face or hands; so far as I could see he did not get injured in the cab; the cab was stopped in York-street at about 4 o'clock; it was going northwards.

Sydney, 10th August, 1876.

WM. CRANE, P.M.
ROBERT GUY, J.P.

James Richards, re-sworn, states: The cab was stopped in York-street; I know Constable Martin by sight; the cab was being driven along York-street to the Grafton Wharf to the "Albion" steamer; we were all going there; Constable Axam stopped the cab; at that time I was sitting on the foot-board close to the defendant; since the 22nd July last I have not seen Constable Martin in reference to this case; I had no interest in particular for being with the defendant that night; my duties as a licensed waterman take me out of a night frequently.

By Mr. Roberts: I am 21 years of age; I went into the "Ship Inn" at about ten minutes to 12 o'clock, and I saw defendant and Denniffe there; I was not the night waterman for that night; I took a captain off to a ship, and I came back about a quarter to 12 o'clock; I don't know how long the defendant and Denniffe had been in the public house before I went into the house; I went in for a glass of port wine; I only had one glass of port wine; I didn't pay for it, I put the money down, and defendant wouldn't let me pay for it; when I went in defendant and Denniffe had something to drink; what they were drinking looked like port wine; I called for fresh drinks; I had a cigar, defendant had a cigar, and Denniffe asked for port wine, and something like port wine was supplied to him; Denniffe called for some more drinks, and Denniffe called for a cigar; I was not there when Denniffe had any whiskey; I didn't see him drink any whiskey hot; I saw him take two glasses of what he called port wine; I know whiskey from port wine; we came out of the public house not later than ten minutes past 12 o'clock; Denniffe spoke to us outside for about ten minutes, and Denniffe went away to put his light out; Denniffe stopped away for about twenty minutes, and rejoined us at about twenty minutes to 1 o'clock or a little later; I didn't see defendant take a glass of porter in the public house; when Denniffe rejoined us we spoke together on the Circular Quay for a little over an hour; we left there at about a quarter to 2 o'clock; defendant said that he wanted something to eat; we went up Pitt-street, and it took us about half an hour or three-quarters of an hour to go to the Herald Office; it was half-past 2 or a quarter to 3 o'clock when we got there; defendant asked the woman at the coffee stall for something to eat, and she said that she hadn't anything ready; I didn't hear him ask for saveloys at all; we stopped yarning coming up Pitt-street to the Herald Office, and we waited a quarter of an hour for Denniffe; I don't know what Denniffe was doing, whether he was making water, vomiting, or what he was doing; we stopped and looked at the Insurance Office; we didn't have any coffee at the corner of Hunter-street; we stopped at the corner for about ten minutes, and Smith said that he would take us to a place to get some coffee; we didn't want to go in the cab with defendant, he asked us two or three times to go; we drove up Pitt-street, down King-street, into George-street to the corner of Liverpool-street; I don't suppose it took us more than ten minutes to go from the Herald Office to Liverpool-street; we came less than a mile; we got to the corner of Liverpool-street about ten minutes past 3 o'clock; I didn't look at my watch; we were there before twenty minutes to 4 o'clock; when we got to Liverpool-street the constable was standing alongside of the table; on our way to Liverpool-street we had to speak to each other loudly, because the cab was making a noise; the constable did not find any fault with Denniffe or myself, or didn't make any complaint of me to me; it didn't take much time to walk from Queen's Place to Bridge-street; we stopped at the corner of Bridge-street talking; it took us half an hour to walk from Bridge-street to the corner of Hunter-street; we were not walking arm in arm; when I saw Denniffe and defendant go into Liverpool-street I was standing in George-street; the constable didn't go around the corner of Liverpool-street when the defendant and Denniffe were there; the constable met the defendant and Denniffe at the corner; the constable did not strike defendant in Liverpool-street; the defendant didn't strike the constable in Liverpool-street; I didn't see the constable strike the defendant in Liverpool-street with his baton; I saw the constable strike the door with his baton; defendant started to run away immediately after the window was broken; the constable said to defendant, "I'll have to take you now, and wait till some person comes"; the window was three or four feet away from the door; I didn't notice whether there were any shutters to the window; when defendant ran away Denniffe ran away with him, and when they got under the colonnade one of them stopped; I remained behind; up to that time I didn't see the constable strike defendant or the defendant strike the constable, and I was there all the time, and had the constable in sight up till the time defendant ran away, and if defendant had struck the constable or the constable had struck defendant I must have seen it; there is a colonnade just near the coffee stall; one of them stopped under the colonnade before they got to Swan-street; I don't know who it was that stopped, or whether he ran into Swan-street; I finished my coffee, and about five minutes after they ran away I went down the street and saw defendant, Denniffe, and some other persons at the corner of Goulburn-street; I don't know what happened there; I didn't notice any gas lamps; I won't swear that there were not any gas lamps there; I didn't hear any blows, or see the constable strike the defendant; shortly after the constable knocked at the door the defendant ran away; Denniffe was closer to the constable than defendant; drink has never affected me at any time; I have been merry; I was never taken home drunk by two men; I was never taken home drunk; I am in the habit of stopping out late sometimes at night when I have not been on night duty; I have not been interfered with by the police for being out late at night; I was at Commodore Goodenough's funeral, and the police interfered with me; I was assaulted by a constable; the police did not put me out of the graveyard; when we all parted at the corner of Goulburn-street we all parted on friendly terms; defendant did not complain about the constable striking him; the constable told the cabman he could go; he told the cabman he could drive the defendant away; I think the defendant was in the cab with me then; I won't swear that we were in the cab; I won't swear that the defendant, Denniffe, and myself were not walking up to the cab when the constable told the cabman that he could go away; there might have been one of us walking up to the cab; I was near the cab; the cabman asked the constable could he drive him, and the constable said "Yes"; the constable did not say that he could go away; he said, "You can drive him" or "take him"—he didn't mention defendant's name; he may have referred to me when he said "You can drive him."

By Bench: The cab was standing in George-street about 30 feet away from Goulburn-street; it remained there till we all got into it; the constable was at the back of the cab about 15 or 20 feet away from it; I didn't see the defendant cross the road after he left Liverpool-street; defendant was not drunk; I think he had had a glass or two; I wouldn't swear that he was perfectly sober.

By Mr. Vardy: It was not later than twenty minutes to 4 o'clock when I got to the corner of Liverpool street; I didn't look at my watch; I wouldn't swear that it was not eighteen or nineteen minutes to 4 o'clock; I didn't expect that there would be all this bother about it; I only had one glass of port wine hot; defendant only had one or two drinks, and that didn't appear to have any effect on him; I didn't notice the time particularly; I couldn't see what took place in Liverpool-street; I didn't see the constable strike the defendant at all; I don't know whether the constable started after the defendant with his baton in his hand; Denniffe told me he had broken a window; it was a very dark morning; I did not see the defendant misbehave himself until the constable told him to hold his row, and when defendant told him if he was minding his beat he wouldn't be there; I do not call that misbehaviour; I was taken home in a fit by two persons on one occasion; the policemen (some of them) have been watching me since this case came on; I was not doing anything at Commodore Goodenough's funeral when the constable assaulted me; I didn't see the constable follow us up to the cab.

By Bench: Since this case has been going on I have not been intimidated by any person about this case.

John

John Smith, on oath, states: I am a cabman and reside in Sheppard's Paddocks; early on the morning of the 28th June last I met the defendant, Denniffe, and Richards at the Herald Office, at the coffee stall; they asked for coffee and could not be supplied; the woman said she had coffee but no rolls; defendant said that he wanted something to eat; I had my cab there; to the best of my belief I said that I would drive them to where they would get something to eat; defendant engaged my cab from me to drive him where he would get something to eat; I started from the Herald Office with defendant, Denniffe, and Richards in the cab; when defendant got into the cab he was not to say drunk, he was a bit jolly like; when defendant got into the cab I could not say that he was drunk; I couldn't swear that he was drunk, he might have had a few glasses; he was not drunk when he got into the cab; James Richards was not drunk; I don't know when a man is drunk; Denniffe was not drunk; I was sober; I drove them along Pitt-street, down King-street, up George-street down to Liverpool-street; I pulled up at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets at a coffee stall; I cannot say who got out of the cab first; to the best of my belief defendant got out by himself; I didn't see any one assist him out; I didn't see them take any liquor into the cab at the Herald Office; to the best of my belief they didn't drink in the cab; I didn't see them drinking in the cab; when the defendant got out of the cab at the corner of Liverpool-street he was not drunk; Richards was not drunk; Denniffe was not drunk; I was not drunk; I noticed Constable Martin at the stall when we got there; he was standing up or sitting down; I think he was standing up; one of the three ordered some coffee, and three or four cups were served; I had a cup, Richards had a cup, and defendant had a cup; I got down from my cab; I don't think any person brought my coffee to me; I am not certain whether Denniffe had any coffee; defendant asked for something to eat; I think the coffee man said that he had no rolls; to the best of my belief he said so; we did not have any rolls; I think the defendant said that the coffee was no good and wanted something to eat; I didn't hear the defendant say what he would do if he kept a coffee stall; he may have said something to the coffee man about tongues; when defendant was having the coffee, to the best of my belief, the defendant took some coffee over to Denniffe; coffee was only served once; the constable made some remarks to defendant, it was between the two of them; the constable was about 6 feet away from defendant then; they said something between them, and the constable said, "You know a lot about it"; I can't say that I heard defendant say anything; defendant at one time said, "I was a constable myself at Liverpool, and I know you are not doing your duty to be standing there"; Denniffe got hold of defendant, and said, "Let us get into the cab"; defendant said, to the best of my belief, "I am not going that way"; I don't know whether Denniffe said, "Let us get into the cab," or "Come up the street"; defendant and Denniffe went around the corner of Liverpool-street; at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets there is an hotel, the "Solferino Hotel"; when defendant and Denniffe went around the corner of Liverpool-street the cab was standing in George-street; I didn't see what defendant and Denniffe were doing in Liverpool-street; shortly after they went around the corner I heard some glass break, I didn't see who broke it; the constable was in George-street at the time the glass was broken; I saw defendant and Denniffe come to the corner of George and Liverpool Streets again, and they met the constable at the corner; I didn't hear Denniffe say anything to the constable when they met; I heard Denniffe tell the defendant to run away; before the constable spoke to defendant, I didn't hear Denniffe say anything to the constable; after they met, the constable said to defendant, "You won't go away now, you will have to pay for the window"; I can't say whether the defendant made any reply; it was after that when Denniffe said to the defendant, "You had better run away"; I didn't hear Denniffe say anything about him stopping behind to pay for the window; defendant left the coffee stall; to the best of my belief defendant went by himself; the constable followed him, and Denniffe went after them; I am certain defendant went first, I was not paying much attention, I was watching my horse; the constable rapped at the door of the public house two or three times with his baton; no person came from the house; it was after then when the constable said to defendant, "You will have to stop, you have broken a window"; the constable followed down the street after defendant; I can't say whether he had the baton in his hand then; I can't say whether Denniffe stopped after he had gone a short distance down the street; I didn't see defendant after he ran away from Liverpool-street; after they left, I stopped at the stall with Richards; we didn't have any liquor to drink; about five minutes after defendant ran down the street I drove Richards down the street, I didn't drive very quickly; two men ran down the street after the defendant ran down, and they left the coffee stall before I did; I believe the persons were named Downey and Smith; when the defendant went down the street, he started off running; I cannot say whether the constable walked or ran; the defendant ran straight down George-street; I didn't take notice whether he staggered; it was a dark morning; when defendant was at the stall he was not rolling or staggering about; defendant ran out of sight very quickly in front of the constable; I drove Richards in the cab down George-street towards Goulburn-street; I think I stopped near Goulburn-street; Richards jumped out of the cab; I saw the defendant when I pulled up, and Richards went up and joined the others; I was in the middle of the street, and they were on the pathway about 10 or 15 yards from me; I did not see defendant lying in the gutter; I did not see the constable beating defendant; I did not see the defendant beating the constable or any one else; they all appeared to be talking; I saw the defendant, Denniffe, and Richards afterwards come towards the cab; I can't swear that they wished the constable good-night, they all came over to the cab like; some person called out for me to stop, and I turned the cab up towards the Cathedral; it was then when I saw the defendant, Denniffe, and Richards coming to the cab; they said something to the constable, and he went to the back of the cab; the constable said, "You can go away," or "Take him away," or something like that; after they got into the cab the constable told me that I could drive him away; I didn't see the constable try to prevent any person from getting into the cab; I didn't hear him call any person to help to prevent any person getting into the cab; when the cab drove away the constable was standing right behind the cab; he walked over with them to the cab; before the cab drove away I didn't see the constable do anything to the horse's head; I think the constable asked them something when they were coming over to the cab; I can't swear whether I heard anything said about the "Albion"; I think Richards made a remark about the "Albion"; I believe the defendant sat down in the cab; after we started from Goulburn-street I didn't hear the constable call us back; when defendant got into the cab then, he was no more drunk than when we started; Denniffe and Richards were not drunk, they were no more drunk than when they got into the cab; I was not drunk; I drove up George-street around Druitt-street into York-street; it was after 3 o'clock, and not past 4 o'clock, when we got to Liverpool-street; when we got into York-street it was close on 4 o'clock; I was driving down to the steamship "Albion" to take defendant there; just before we came to the Masonic Hall

Hall I stopped my cab; defendant was not drunk then; or more drunk than when he started at first; when I pulled up my horse in York-street defendant was not drunk; Constable Axam stopped the cab; Richards, Denniffe, or myself were not drunk then; the persons in the cab were talking on our way from the Herald Office to Liverpool-street; the windows and the rattling of the cab made a noise; I can't say whether I noticed any persons in the street; at that time in the morning if any person had been about they could have heard the persons in the cab talking, because there was so little traffic; I could not hear what they were talking about.

By Mr. Roberts: I know Smith and Downcy by seeing them in the Court yard; I have no had any conversation with them; I made a remark to Downey—I asked him a question; I didn't make a remark to him; I didn't tell him that if he didn't be careful in the evidence he gave he would be prosecuted for perjury, and that Mr. Vardy was a terror; I think I have stated outside the Court that the defendant was not helplessly drunk, but the worse for liquor; on this day fortnight I did not speak to Martin, the coffee stall man; I saw him three weeks ago, and I don't believe I told Martin, the coffee man, that defendant was not helplessly drunk, but under the influence of liquor; I did not tell him so; since the 28th June last I have seen Constable Martin in Myrtle and Goulburn Streets; I didn't tell him on either of these occasions that the defendant was drunk; I had a conversation with him and he said, "I see that man has been taken and remanded for a week for medical treatment, and whatever you do don't mention my name"; if I said that I told the constable defendant was drunk, I misunderstood your question; I can't say what the defendant had to drink; I couldn't form any opinion as to what he had to drink; it took me about quarter of an hour to drive from the Herald Office; I must have left the Herald Office at a quarter or twenty minutes past 3 o'clock; I think I heard some person use some bad language at the corner of Liverpool-street; defendant might have used bad language; I think I have said that defendant used bad language; I don't think defendant said that he didn't care for any bloody constable, to the best of my belief he didn't say so; defendant used all sorts of bad language at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, I suppose he used it to the constable, he didn't mention the word bloody; I don't know what bad language he used; when defendant was talking, Denniffe pulled defendant away and said "Let us get into the cab"; there were not any angry words passing between the constable and defendant then; I can't say that I heard the constable say if defendant didn't knock off kicking up a row he would lock him up; I won't swear he didn't say so; Denniffe caught hold of defendant, and said, "Come away out of this, or you will be getting into a row"; Denniffe ran down the street; when the window was broken the constable said to defendant, "You won't go now, the window is broken"; Denniffe went after defendant, I cannot say if he went close after defendant; about two minutes after they had gone away the constable followed them; I didn't see whether defendant or Denniffe stopped near the "Honest Lawyer" public house, I don't believe any of them went into Swan-street; they all ran away as near as I can say; between five and ten minutes after defendant left Liverpool-street, I saw defendant at the corner of Goulburn-street; I didn't see him fall down; I didn't see any one strike him; I think I have sworn that defendant went away first, the constable followed, and Denniffe followed him; defendant went first, Denniffe went next, and the constable followed them, the three of them went together like; I am certain defendant went first; unless I see a man drinking I cannot tell whether he is drunk; it would be hard for me to say whether a man was drunk unless I saw him drinking; I thought the defendant had had a few glasses; defendant was not to say drunk, he was more sober than he was drunk, he appeared to be like if he had had a few glasses, he appeared jolly like, and excited like; he didn't appear to be excited from drink; I believe he was excited because a cabman had driven him to the wrong place, and he was hungry; I don't know what he was excited from; when I have said that the defendant was not helplessly drunk, he knew what he was doing, and didn't give him any provocation; when I said that he was not helplessly drunk, I meant he was under the influence of liquor.

By Mr. Vardy: I can't say that Constable Martin said to me when he met me, "For God's sake, don't mention my name."

By Bench: I think I have stated all the conversation I had with Martin; I don't remember any more of the conversation.

By Mr. Vardy: The constable didn't say anything to me about a letter; I did not tell the constable that defendant was drunk; defendant said some sort of bad expressions; I cannot remember one bad word he used; the conversation I had with Martin was three or four days after the defendant was remanded to Darlinghurst; defendant didn't have anything to drink the whole time he was in my company; when defendant went down George-street I couldn't see him after he had gone 2 or 3 yards; I didn't see defendant fall down at the corner of George and Liverpool Streets, or at the corner of George and Goulburn Streets; I don't know what defendant had had to drink; defendant didn't give the constable any provocation; I cannot swear that the constable said he would lock defendant up; defendant ran away first, and I am not certain whether Denniffe or the constable ran after him first; to the best of my knowledge I have told all the truth I know about this matter.

By Bench: I have been intimidated by Constable Martin in reference to this case; the first day this case came on, last Wednesday fortnight, Martin said, "Hollo, are you in this case?" he said, "You had better be careful what you swear, or I'll have you up for perjury"; I have not been intimidated by any other person; Martin said that he had seven or several witnesses to call; we were passing each other hurriedly when Martin spoke to me; I think we were standing face to face when Martin spoke to me; Martin was going towards gate rather hurriedly, and he stopped and spoke to me; he may have stopped a minute or two; I don't think I made any reply; the constable asked me if I had been subpoenaed, and I said, "Yes"; I cannot say whether he used the word "subpoenaed," or whether, "I was a witness."

Joseph Davis, on oath, states: I am manager of the Pymont Bone Works; on the morning of the 28th June last I was near the Herald Office, at about 3 o'clock; I saw the defendant and two other men there, standing near the coffee stall; I know the persons by sight; one of them was Richards; defendant or any of the three of the persons had not any appearance of drink when I saw them ; defendant was a stranger to me ; I did not see them take any coffee at the stall ; there was a cab there ; I went away as the defendant and the others were getting into the cab ; I was going towards the Circular Quay ; I live in that neighbourhood ; I did not hear defendant hire the cab ; I think I heard the cabman say he would take them to get coffee ; I was sober.

By Mr. Roberts : It was about 3 o'clock ; I didn't hear them ask for coffee ; I didn't hear the woman say she wouldn't serve the man ; I am not interested in these proceedings ; I have collected a little money on behalf of the defendant in reference to these proceedings ; I have in the interest of defendant collected sums of money ; I made a collection one night at the "Nil Desperandum" public-house ; I asked the persons if they felt inclined to give anything ; Richards's father was there ; I asked young Richards what he was doing at the coffee stall that hour of the morning ; he said he came for coffee and could not get any ; defendant asked Richards if I was a friend of his ; Richards said I was, and defendant asked me would I go with him to get coffee ; I told him it was too late, and wanted to go home ; I didn't see any coffee ; I won't swear there was not any there ; when I was at Tighe's public-house I first heard them ; I was with them for about three minutes, and didn't hear any one of them ask for something to eat ; I was not in Lynch's public house on that morning, or on the previous night.

By Bench : I didn't discern any sign of liquor on the defendant ; he appeared to be as sober as I am now ; I had no conversation with him.

Re-examined by Mr. Vardy : I have stated I have no interest in these proceedings.

Thomas Gough, on oath, states : I live at the "Solferino Hotel" at the corner of Liverpool and George Streets ; I know the defendant by sight ; I also know Constable Martin ; I have been subpoenaed here on behalf of defendant ; I have received the sum of 15s. for payment for a broken window in my house ; I received the money a few days after it was broken ; I don't know who paid me the 15s. ; I don't think I could identify the man again ; five or six persons were present when the money was paid ; on the morning of the 28th June last I heard some person knock at my door ; I heard some glass break ; I didn't come down-stairs ; I didn't see any one at my door, I only heard them ; I heard a noise.

By Mr. Roberts : I slept up-stairs in my house in Liverpool-street ; I heard a good many persons talking in a loud tone, and making a noise.

John Higgins, on oath, states : I am a publican, living in Sydney ; I have known defendant since last January ; I first saw him in Victoria ; I saw the defendant the night before he was taken, he was at my hotel ; he came there between 7 and 8 o'clock ; he was not drunk when he came in ; I cannot say whether he left my house at ten minutes to 10 o'clock, or ten minutes to 11 o'clock ; when he left my house he was not drunk ; I did not serve him with any liquor, my misses did ; he had three nobblers of port wine hot when he was in my house ; that was all I saw him take ; before he left my house he borrowed an umbrella from me ; when he left my house he was not under the influence of liquor as far as I could see.

By Mr. Roberts : Defendant came to my house alone ; I don't know where he went to afterwards.

By Mr. Roberts : I served each of the three men the same number of times when defendant was there; Denniffe was in the house about a quarter of an hour before defendant came in; Denniffe had one drink before defendant came in; I cannot say what he had to drink; I think Denniffe had four drinks, and defendant three drinks; I think each of the three men stood a round; I cannot say whether they had drinks on the three rounds; it is quite common to serve cigars; I couldn't form any opinion as to whether defendant had been drinking before he came into my house; he appeared to be sober.

By Bench : I was the only person who served the defendant in my house.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PRISONS.

(REPORT ON, FOR 1875.)

Presented to Parliament, by Command.

The Comptroller General of Prisons to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Department of Prisons, Sydney, 20 November, 1876.

I do myself the honor to submit my Report upon the Prisons of the Colony, for the year 1875.

This Report has been delayed partly for the completion of certain necessary statistics, and partly because the Report for the previous year was so recently written, and entered so fully into the condition and prospects of the department, in which but little change has since taken place, that there is, on this occasion, room for little more than renewed statements of statistical information, with such comments thereupon as suggest themselves.

Following the order of information laid down in my last Report, I attach tables similar to those that were therein furnished.

It will be seen from Table A that the number of entries and discharges for 1875 amount to 11,382 and 10,841, as against 10,206 and 9,549 for 1874. The total number of prisoners at the end of 1875 was 1,453, as against 1,294 at the end of 1874.

The condensed information of labour return shows an increase for the past year, being £34,768 Os. 11d., of which £10,243 14s. 5d. represents the value of work done for the internal purposes of the prisons.

The Hospital and Educational returns require no special comment.

The return of re-convictions shows, it is to be regretted, an increase as regards the graver offences over those of 1874. Still the number is small in comparison with the population.

For the present year there has been made by Parliament provision for material and very needful extensions and improvements to the gaols at Armidale, Albury, Bourke, Dubbo, Hay, Orange, Wentworth, and Yass, and for a new gaol of the third class at Tamworth. A new gaol at Young is also in course of construction.

The Engineer-in-Chief of Harbours and Rivers and myself have laid out the site for the new prison in connection with the proposed Breakwater at Trial Bay, and I conclude that this work will shortly be undertaken.

I can speak generally in favourable terms of the conduct of the officers during the year, and of their efficiency, excepting as regards those who by age and infirmity have lost their qualification for duty, and in respect of whom I have addressed a special communication to yourself.

I have, &c.,

HAROLD MACLEAN,
Comptroller General.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PRISONS.

(REPORT FOR 1876.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 31 July, 1877.

The Comptroller General of Prisons to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, Department of Prisons, Comptroller General's Office, Sydney, 31 July, 1877.

I do myself the honor to submit my Annual Report for 1876 upon the Prisons.

My first Report of this character was for the year 1874, and under date 27th July, 1875.

In that Report, beyond furnishing the usual statistical information, I took occasion to enter fully into the working of the department and to describe the general condition of the prisons, together with the causes of the progressive improvements that had been effected, as well as those of difficulties in the way of further progress by reason of defective buildings and the widely scattered positions of the several establishments.

Since that time there has been no material change of a general character in the condition of the prisons; and therefore, in furnishing my Report for 1875, I thought it well to abstain from reiterating the general information and expression of views above referred to, and confined myself for the most part to rendering the needful statistical information.

I propose to take the same course on the present occasion, and subjoin the tabulated returns which afford in a condensed form the information of the year.

From the returns it will be learned that the entries and discharges for the year numbered respectively 12,443 and 11,880, as against 11,832 and 10,841 for 1875. The total number in prison at the end of 1876 was 1,440, as compared with 1,453 for 1875. The population of the Colony for these years respectively was,—

Thus, it is satisfactory to observe that the number of persons imprisoned has not increased with the population, but on the contrary has slightly diminished. The number of entries being beyond those of 1875 are merely indicative, as further returns will show, of the repeated short convictions of petty offenders.

As an indication of the lessening of the graver offences, it may be mentioned that the number of prisoners sentenced to five years and upwards, who have been received in Berrima Gaol to pass through their probationary periods of separate treatment, were respectively for—

1876	38

The labour return shows an application of labour in prisons' manufactured articles and otherwise, to the value of £38,517 10s. 6d., which includes £9,313 5s. 2d. for work done for internal prison services, which has to be stated in order to account for the application of labour. This production is almost entirely derived from the six principal labour Gaols—Darlinghurst, Parramatta, Berrima, Maitland, Goulburn, and Bathurst. It is chiefly earned by manufacture of articles for Government Departments, and in some lesser degree only by articles manufactured for sale to the public. I have in previous Reports explained the impossibility of making prison labour productive in the lesser Country Gaols, where no conveniences for work exist, and also in the cases of short-sentenced prisoners, who are not sufficiently long confined to learn a trade even if physically capable of work, which they for the most part are not. Table A in the returns shows the number of prisoners who have been engaged, and their manner of employment in producing the results of labour above reported.

The return of re-convictions (Table B) shows no material difference from that of 1875 as regards graver offences, which would indicate a stationary state of crime, but a very considerable increase is shown in the numbers re-convicted for petty offences and drunkenness, the gross number standing at 1,665, as compared with 1,258 for the preceding year.

Of the extensions and improvements to prisons mentioned in my last Report as projected at Armidale, Albury, Bourke, Dubbo, Hay, Orange, Wentworth, and Yass, progress has been made at Armidale and Orange, which now approach towards completion. In the cases of the others, delay has occurred through the time of the year at which the votes became available, and at Yass by reason of a difficulty in obtaining possession of a necessary piece of land adjoining the present building which has not yet been removed, although I am led to expect that it shortly may be. A new Country Gaol of a superior design has been nearly completed at Young, and extensive additions with hospital accommodation are being made at Deniliquin, which should be of essential service in that part of the Colony. It is proposed shortly to erect at Tamworth a new Gaol of a similar description to that at Young. The works for the completion of the prisons at Darlinghurst and Parramatta are progressing.

For years past the projected removal from the Town Squares of the Bathurst and Goulburn Gaols has prevented effective repairs or improvements from being undertaken to the existing buildings, and has placed the management of these establishments at a great disadvantage. I now understand it to be the intention of the Government to erect new prisons at these towns, and this being decided upon, I would urge that it should be carried out with the least avoidable delay. In the meantime the existing buildings will have to be kept in proper repair.

A contract has now been entered into for the erection of the Public Works Prison for the construction of a Harbour of Refuge at Trial Bay. It is anticipated that in some fifteen months the first draft of prisoners may be sent to that place. In former Reports I have mentioned that the establishment of this prison will have a material effect on the Prisons' Administration of the Colony. As all male prisoners having sentences of three years and upwards will go to Trial Bay, room will be made for the mass of the shorter sentenced prisoners to be kept in such a degree of separation as is approved by the highest authorities—European and American.

I have again to report that the officers of the department have generally conducted their duties in a satisfactory manner, and also with efficiency, save in respect of those officers who, by age or infirmity, have passed the period of their efficiency, and whom there is no provision for retiring,—a subject which was seriously brought under your notice by my letter of the 8th November, 1876.

Urgent representations have been made to me by officers of all grades of the inadequacy of their salaries under the existing conditions of the enhanced rates of house-rent and of the necessaries of life. These representations will have due consideration in the preparation of my next Estimates. By the vote for 1876 an addition of sixpence a day was made to the salaries of warders, and a corresponding advance was likewise made to the salaries of the superior officers and others coming under the same heading—"Gaols generally"—such as chief and senior warders, overseers, and female officers; but the ratable increase proposed for gaolers and other officers, who are classed more as civil servants, was withdrawn. This has brought about the anomaly of the pay and allowances of officers of lesser position trenching upon those of their immediate superiors, which is keenly felt by the latter. I trust that in the Estimates for 1878 I may be permitted to have this state of things remedied, and the officers to whom I refer placed upon a footing as regards salaries, which have always been in my opinion cast too low, in fair proportion to the responsibilities of their positions.

The existing Reformatory, that for Girls, at Biloela, has been most satisfactorily conducted under the management of the Matron, who fully apprehends the proper nature of her functions and the objects desired. The girls are cheerful and contented, and make good progress both in school and domestic duties, and generally show good indications of reformation. There was only one discharged in 1876, who is doing well in respectable service. Six were received during the year, at the end of which there were fourteen in the school.

It having been considered desirable to remove the school from Biloela, a property suitable for the purpose has been purchased on the South Head Road, but the necessary alterations and repairs have not yet been effected. It is contemplated there to provide accommodation for a larger number of girls.

It is desirable that a Male Reformatory should be established. For this purpose a vote of £2,500 has been taken on the Estimates for next year, so it may be assumed that early action will be taken in the matter.

I have, &c.,
HAROLD MACLEAN,
 Comptroller General.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

STEPHEN MURPHY.

(PETITION OF)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 July, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of Stephen Murphy, now in Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, late Warder in H.M. Gaol, Berrima,—

SHOWETH:—

1. That your Petitioner has suffered great injustice and loss of his good character through being wrongfully dismissed from his situation in the Public Service as warder in Berrima Gaol.

2. That on the thirteenth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, the Gaoler at Berrima (Mr. W. Small), out of spite and ill-feeling, sent a gaol warder from the gaol to your Petitioner's house, requesting your Petitioner's wife to appear before the Gaoler at the office in the gaol.

3. That on the nineteenth of the said month of February the Gaoler at Berrima, Mr. W. Small, out of spite and ill-feeling publicly censured your Petitioner's wife in the gaol as an aggressor, stating that he had the Comptroller General's authority for doing so; at the same time your Petitioner was ordered by the Gaoler (the said Mr. W. Small) to caution his wife as to her future conduct under penalty to him.

4. That on the same date, viz., the nineteenth of the said month of February, your Petitioner's wife, feeling aggrieved through being subjected to such cruel treatment from the Gaoler at Berrima (the said Mr. W. Small), wrote to the Comptroller General complaining of the treatment she had received, and earnestly begged of him to cause the Gaoler to withdraw the censure he had passed upon her on the above date. She enclosed papers to prove that the Gaoler at Berrima (Mr. W. Small) bore the greatest ill-feeling towards her since December, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, at which time she was under the necessity of reporting the Gaoler's relative, the postmaster at Berrima, for refusing her of postage stamps, since which time both herself and her family had been persecuted in Berrima by the Gaoler and his friends; that under such circumstances her life was a misery to her; she was most unhappy through the Gaoler's friends taking every opportunity of insulting her; she had done nothing to deserve such treatment; she was in delicate health, and now the shock to her system of being thus publicly disgraced had nearly cost her her life; she was a respectable woman, and the mother of a large family; that she took it to heart to be insulted in such a manner, and she humbly prayed for redress.

5. That on the twenty-third of the said month of February, your Petitioner's wife received a reply to her letter from Mr. Beverley, clerk in the Comptroller's office, to the effect that the Gaoler at Berrima had properly rendered the minute authorizing the censure complained of, and that such minute was written upon further information received. Your Petitioner's wife was forbidden to write any more upon the subject in any case.

6. That on the fourth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, your Petitioner, feeling humiliated and disgraced in Berrima through the way in which his wife had been treated and grossly insulted by the Gaoler at Berrima (Mr. W. Small), wrote to the Comptroller General of Prisons, begging of him to transfer your Petitioner to another gaol on the grounds of the Gaoler's ill-feeling towards your Petitioner and his family; to this appeal your Petitioner received no reply.

7. That on the tenth of the said month of March your Petitioner again wrote to the Comptroller General, begging him most earnestly to transfer your Petitioner to another gaol, as it was impossible for your Petitioner to do duty in Berrima Gaol any longer, so persecuted was he by the Gaoler. Your Petitioner at the same time forwarded proofs of the Gaoler's ill-feeling towards himself and his family, with the view of showing the Comptroller how impossible it was for your Petitioner to retain his situation in Berrima Gaol, in face of such decided hostility on the Gaoler's part towards him; to this second appeal your Petitioner received no reply.

8. That on the sixteenth of the said month of March your Petitioner was unjustly fined seven days pay by Mr. Beverley, and told that only for your Petitioner's previous good conduct he would have been dismissed from the service by him; your Petitioner was not made aware of the cause of such treatment; therefore your Petitioner thought he was justified in questioning that gentleman's authority to fine your Petitioner without a cause, and, if there was a cause, to deprive your Petitioner of the privilege of being allowed to defend himself; subsequently the fine was not carried out.

9. That on the nineteenth of the said month of March your Petitioner was suspended by Mr. Beverley; your Petitioner was not made aware at any time of the cause of such suspension, nor allowed to defend himself from the charge, whatever it was, that led to such suspension.

10. That on the twenty-sixth of the said month of March your Petitioner, being in great trouble and distress of mind through being treated so harshly for no cause, again addressed a letter to the Comptroller General, and begged of him to grant your Petitioner an investigation, as your Petitioner was being treated most harshly; your Petitioner begged the Gaoler (Mr. W. Small) to forward the same to the Comptroller; the Gaoler refused to do so, and your Petitioner was under the necessity of forwarding his letter to the Comptroller through the post the same evening.

11. That on the twenty-seventh of the said month of March your Petitioner was dismissed from his situation as warder in H. M. Gaol, Berrima, without a hearing, your Petitioner's prayers and entreaties to the Comptroller for redress being of no avail against the powerful enemies your Petitioner had to contend against. At the time of your Petitioner's dismissal he had a clean sheet after three years and six months service in the model Gaol at Berrima. Your Petitioner is a poor man with a wife and four young children dependent upon him; your Petitioner has sustained considerable loss in his endeavour to obtain redress for the injury done himself and his family within the past three months.

12. That on the nineteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, the Hon. J. McElhone, moved for all letters, papers, and correspondence relative to your Petitioner's dismissal from Berrima Gaol, and the motion was agreed to by your Honorable House. Your Petitioner therefore humbly and respectfully prays your Honorable House to be pleased to cause your Petitioner's papers to be laid on the table of your Honorable House, to enable your Petitioner to speedily obtain the redress of which he is in such urgent need; if your Petitioner has offended in his writings he must plead ignorance.

Your Petitioner therefore most humbly and respectfully prays your Honorable House to take his case into your favourable consideration, and grant to your Petitioner the justice which the nature of your Petitioner's case may demand.

And your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.

STEPHEN MURPHY.

Dated at Sydney, this 3rd day of July, A.D. 1877.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

STEPHEN MURPHY, LATE WARDER, BERRIMA GAOL.
(DISMISSAL OF—CORRESPONDENCE, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 20 July, 1877.

RETURN to an Order of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 19th June, 1877, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“(1.) A Copy of all Letters, Papers, and Correspondence between Stephen Murphy, late Warder in Berrima Gaol, and Mr. Small, Gaoler of above Gaol, Mr. Wilshire, P.M., Mr. Maclean, Comptroller of Prisons, and Mr. Beverley, Clerk in Comptroller’s Office, in reference to the dismissal, &c., of Stephen Murphy.

“(2.) Also, Letters, Correspondence, &c., between Mrs. Murphy, in reference to above, and Mr. Small, Mr. Maclean, and any other person.”

(Mr. McElhone.)

STEPHEN MURPHY, LATE WARDER, BERRIMA GAOL.

Complaint of Warder Cairncross.

Berrima, 31 January, 1877.

WARDER W. Cairncross states he is sorry to have to report the conduct of any officer in Berrima Gaol, but I am obliged to bring to your notice the conduct of Warder S. Murphy. Soon after my arrival in Berrima a system of persecution has been carried on by Warder Murphy and family against myself and family, although we are not on any terms of intimacy. My eldest daughter was obliged to lodge an information to bind him over to keep the peace towards her for his outrageous conduct. Yesterday, the 30th January, Mrs. Murphy used most blackguard and insulting language towards my wife, and has now summoned her before the Magistrate for language she (Mrs. Murphy) herself used.

I consider the conduct of Warder Murphy as cowardly and dangerous in thus assailing respectable people through his wife, and beg you will cause me to be removed from this gaol to another at your earliest convenience

WM. CAIRNCROSS,

Warder.

I was informed by Mr. Small before he left for Goulburn that these two warders have been living on very bad terms for some time past. On one occasion Warder Cairncross had Warder Murphy at the Police Court to have him bound over to keep the peace, but the case was dismissed. Mr. Small states that Warder Cairncross is a very good officer, and if the Comptroller-General is disposed to remove either man, would prefer that Warder Murphy be removed.—A. WATT, Acting Gaoler. Berrima, 1/2/77.

It is not convenient always to the department to remove officers in such cases; but if the establishment is disturbed by the quarrels of the officers or their families, it will be well for the Gaoler to ascertain who are the aggressors, and inform me. Both officers should be cautioned that I regard such collisions as very detrimental to the Service.—H.M., 2 Feb., '77. B.C., Berrima.

Mrs. S. Murphy to The Comptroller General.

Sir,

Berrima, 5 February, 1877.

I humbly pray that you will be pleased to lend a gracious ear to the supplication of your very humble servant. I am writing to vindicate myself, but from what charge I am entirely ignorant. I only know that my husband, Stephen Murphy, warder, was officially informed that an application for removal was made by Warder Cairncross, on account of their respective wives quarrelling, that such doings interfered with the working of the gaol, and that if there was any more of the said disagreement the Gaoler would have to report on the matter. My husband knew nothing whatever about the present disagreement, as he was on duty when it occurred, and I had taken the summons out before he knew anything about it. With your very kind permission, honorable sir, I will now relate how the present unfortunate disagreement occurred. The present ill feeling originated first with Warder Cairncross, who allowed his daughter, aged 14, to take out a summons against my husband on the 5th December, 1876 (here copy of the case as taken from the Scrutineer enclosed). Finding themselves foiled in that case against us, and, knowing that I was disliked by a clique of persons in Berrima, who do everything they possibly can to annoy me, merely because I tried and did obtain justice some twelve months ago in cases of great grievance—knowing this, they (the Cairncrosses) still do everything they possibly can to provoke and annoy me; and as we happen to be neighbours it is all the more annoying to me, having no one to take my part against so many who are against me, and some of them very powerful. Knowing this, the only remedy left open to me was to appeal to the law for the first time in my life in the case which occurred on Tuesday last, the 30th of January, when Warder Cairncross's wife, without any provocation, commenced shouting out, "Go for a constable, bring a constable." She afterwards put herself in a fighting attitude, shook her clenched fist at me, and called me a bloody-faced bitch. I felt bound in honor to myself, seeing that I and my family are highly respectable, and keep as much as possible to ourselves, to put a stop, if possible, to a repetition of such foul language being used towards me in future. The hearing of this case will come off to-morrow, Tuesday, the 6th instant, when I am prepared to swear to what I have here stated, although I very deeply regret that any such proceeding on my part should be necessary, and more deeply still do I regret that my name has been brought in any way under your honorable notice. I further beg to state that, if the reporting of or commenting upon any case in which I am concerned is left to Mr. Small, the Gaoler, I have good reason to fear that I will not obtain justice from him. For fear that any reports may have reached you detrimental to my character, I beg most respectfully to enclose true copies of the several letters I was compelled to write to various persons while in Berrima, so as to obtain redress for injuries done to me, and which is the cause of all the ill feeling which at present exists against me. I am compelled to take this course of making known my grievances to your Honor, as my husband, Stephen Murphy, warder, when officially informed of the case, offered an explanation in my defence, thinking it might be necessary, to the Gaoler, on the 3rd instant, and prayed that he would forward it to your Honor, but the Gaoler advised him the less writing to the Comptroller the better if he valued his situation, therefore my husband did not like to insist upon him sending it, hence my present action in laying before your Honor the particulars and copies of the many annoyances I have endured since I came to Berrima, feeling sure that if any charge has been preferred against myself or family, you will fairly judge both sides of the question. In conclusion, I most earnestly beg of your Honor that you will be pleased to favourably consider the application for a transfer to Darlinghurst Gaol, which my husband, Stephen Murphy, Warder, applied for on the 8th January last, as if I remain here much longer I will surely die; I am losing my health; I am truly miserable and unhappy, and I know that I can never feel happy in Berrima, knowing as I do that, however respectable and well conducted I and my family are, our conduct is misconstrued, and our actions commented commented upon by those persons whom I have offended by trying to obtain justice for ourselves. I have taken the responsibility upon myself of thus addressing your Honor, and if I have done wrong, I humbly crave your pardon and must plead as excuse my present unhappy condition.

I remain, &c.,

MRS. STEPHEN MURPHY:

Mr. W. G. Beverley to Mrs. S. Murphy.

Department of Prisons, Comptroller General's Office,
Sydney, 12 February, 1877.

Madam,

I am directed inform you, in reply to your letter of 5th instant, enclosures of which are herewith returned, that the Comptroller General of Prisons is indisposed to enter into correspondence with wives of officers upon such subjects.

Mr. Maclean does not see why families of officers should not reside in the same neighbourhood without such collisions as to litigation.

I am, &c.,

W. GORE BEVERLEY.

Sir,

H. M. Gaol Berrima, 8 February, 1877.

I have the honor to enclose herewith a cutting from the Scrutineer, reporting the case Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Cairncross.

I may state that the Visiting Justice and myself have tried to make these men see how disgraceful their conduct and that of their families are to the Gaol Service here, but from the tone of the men I am very much afraid it will be impossible to put a stop to these petty family quarrels.

From what has come under my own observation, and from what I have heard from parties outside, I certainly think that Mrs. Murphy is the cause of all the disturbance, and I consider Warder Murphy very much to blame for countenancing his wife in her conduct.

I believe it would be advisable for the quiet working of the establishment, and for the harmony of the officers, that Warder Murphy should be removed.

I have, &c.,

W. SMALL,

Gaoler.

effect.—F.R.W.

Perhaps a severe caution might, for this once, have the necessary

From what has come before me, I am disposed to think that Mrs. Murphy is the aggressor and the cause of these disturbances to the discredit of the Service. Warder Murphy should be warned that if I have to remove him for such reasons, any desire that he may have as to place of removal will not be considered. Mrs. Murphy, however, assured me that she will try to live in peace with her neighbours, and it is to be hoped she will do so.—H.M., 16 Feb. /77, B.C., Berrima.

Noted and returned,—W. SMALL, Berrima, 23/2/77.

Mrs. S. Murphy to The Comptroller General.

Honorable Sir,

Berrima, 19 February, 1877.

I received a sudden shock to-day which nearly cost me my life, through being publicly censured in the gaol by the Gaoler, who stated that he had your authority for doing so. The censure was read to my husband in the office by the Gaoler, in presence of the clerk, and was to the following effect—that from what the Comptroller General could see and learn in the matter, that Mrs. Murphy was the aggressor in the late case, and that he (my husband) was to inform and caution me that if I did not agree with my neighbours in future, as I had promised the Comptroller General I would do, that his (my husband's) application for transfer to another gaol would not be taken into consideration. As this censure does not agree with what your Honor was pleased to say to me on the 15th instant, I am writing to ask your Honor if you authorized the Gaoler to wound my feelings in the way he has done. I did nothing to deserve this censure; I merely summoned a person for the first time in my life for using abusive language towards me, and I was told by a solicitor it was the only course for me to pursue; but because the Gaoler and Visiting Justice were partial to this person, and decidedly hostile towards me, I had no justice shown me whatever. I can prove that the greatest ill feeling has existed on the part of the Gaoler and Visiting Justice towards me since November, 1875, when I reported the Postmaster at Berrima for refusing to supply me with postage stamps. For that crime and some other trifling charge they tried between them to either dismiss my husband or have him removed to another gaol, but finding they could not do so the ill feeling on their part towards me has existed ever since, owing to which in the late case the defendant's denial of everything I accused her of, with only God for a witness, was credited before mine and my daughter's evidence upon oath to the contrary. My daughter's age is thirteen years and seven months, not twelve as reported, which was evidently done to give colour to the report of her having the evidence she was to give off by heart. The Gaoler was present in Court, as he stated, to watch the proceedings, and I am positively certain that if this woman had threatened to take my life I would not be able to obtain redress in Berrima. The Visiting Justice, both in the Court and in his office, spoke to me as though I were a dog, and before he heard the case he told me it would be dismissed, that the fault was all on my side. Before writing my first letter to your Honor I was informed that the Gaoler was trying his best in an underhanded manner to attach all the blame to me and prejudice your Honor against me, while at the same time he was assuring my husband that nothing whatever had been said against me, and tried all he possibly could to prevent me and my husband from writing anything to your Honor in my defence, until the case was settled to his wishes, when he hoped that anything I might say afterwards would not be credited. He had my husband at the office day after day before himself and the Visiting Justice, and at last he pretended that he understood from my husband that he gave a promise that I would not appear against the defendant in the case, which was not true; I knew that a plot was working against me, for on the 5th February Mrs. Cairncross boasted that so sure as I took her to Court, the next day my husband would be dismissed from his situation, as safe as the Bank of England. That was the cause of my writing to your Honor on the 5th instant, and fortunate was it for me that I did so, as my husband still retains his situation in spite of the machinations of my enemies, who since as good as acknowledged that they were again defeated. I had good reason to fear also that my name had been brought under your honorable notice in anything but a flattering manner by my enemies, and it was that more than anything else that I so deeply regretted. I beg leave to say that I defy the Gaoler, the Visiting Justice, or any person in Berrima to say anything against my character or respectability or that of my family, but I am well aware that the Gaoler has tried his utmost to ruin my character by giving me a bad name; but believing him to be a bad wicked man, I will leave him to God to judge him as he deserves, and once more I appeal to your Honor to cause the Gaoler to as publicly rescind the censure he passed on me to-day, as I cannot believe, after the kind manner in which you spoke to me on the 15th instant, that two days after you would authorize the Gaoler to publicly insult me in the manner he has done for no cause, thereby trying to disgrace me in the eyes of those residents who know me and my family to be highly respectable, and who know also that I am an object of dislike to a clique of persons in power here, simply because I tried and failed to obtain justice for an injury done me; but although I failed in obtaining justice here, I feel sure of obtaining justice from your Honor, more especially as I am in very bad health, and the many shocks to my system I have received lately have quite undermined my health. The doctor told me when in Sydney that he could not answer for my life if I was the least excited or worried; and I beg of your Honor that you will be pleased to remove my husband to Sydney or any other large town where I can obtain medical attendance from the Oddfellows Institute, as I cannot afford to pay for medical attendance and medicine here, as there are six of us in family to keep out of my husband's pay.

I am so ill that I am hardly able to write this letter to your Honor, and I hope you will pardon me if I am doing wrong in again addressing your Honor in self-defence.

I beg to subscribe myself, &c., &c.,

MRS. STEPHEN MURPHY.

P.S.—My husband has been subject to almost as much annoyance as I have been; he has been had up to the office about a case he knew nothing whatever about, no less than five times, and once in the yard and once in the wing, making in all seven times, while the real offender who I proved was guilty of what I accused her of, as the depositions in the case will prove, is allowed to escape.

P.S.—My husband is so miserable, owing to the way he and I are persecuted here, that he is hardly able to do his duty.

MRS. MURPHY.

Mr. W. G. Beverley to Mrs. S. Murphy.

Department of Prisons, Comptroller General's Office,
Sydney, 23 February, 1877.

Madam,

I am directed by the Comptroller General of Prisons to inform you, in reply to your letter of the 19th instant, that the Gaoler at Berrima appears to have properly rendered the minute made by Mr. Maclean for the guidance of Warder Murphy, in which it became necessary for him to refer to yourself; and that his minute was written upon further information after you had seen him.

Mr. Maclean must decline further correspondence with you upon the subject in any case, but especially in reference to the observations you use in respect of the Visiting Justice and Gaoler.

I am, &c.,

W. GORE BEVERLEY:

Warder Murphy to The Comptroller General.

H.M. Gaol, Berrima, 4 March, 1877.

I, WARDER MURPHY, beg leave most respectfully to submit for your inspection if required, proofs of the ill feeling existing towards me on the part of the Gaoler at Berrima, and extending over a period of one year and nine months. So embittered is the Gaoler against me, for no cause whatever, that he even extends his ill feeling to my family. I feel humiliated and disgraced thereby, and through the said ill feeling I am afraid of losing my situation. On the 13th of February, 1877, the Gaoler sent Warder Tinson to my house with a message to say that my wife was to appear before the Gaoler at the office in the Gaol, on the 19th February, 1877. My wife was publicly censured in the gaol by the Gaoler; on another occasion he said he would give me a gag to gag her with. Since the 30th January, 1877, I have had no peace, owing to the Gaoler trying his utmost to get me mixed up in women's affairs that I knew nothing about. I have endeavoured to retain my situation three years and five months; I beg therefore that you will take my application for a transfer to another gaol into consideration as soon as convenient, as it is utterly impossible for me to retain my situation here much longer, as the Gaoler is decidedly opposed to myself and my family.

Your obedient servant,

STEPHEN MURPHY.

Minute by Gaoler.

I am certainly at a loss to know what ill feeling I have ever shown towards Warder Murphy, and I am quite certain that I have never given him any cause to think I am embittered against him. The only matter on which I have spoken to Warder Murphy has been about the Police Office quarrels in which he has been mixed up, and then I only followed the instructions I received.

With reference to having sent for Mrs. Murphy: on reading your minute of the 8th February, viz., "Mrs. Murphy may be informed that I am not disposed to enter into correspondence with officers' wives, &c." I at first thought it was forwarded to me to be acted on, and sent for Mrs. Murphy accordingly, but subsequently I found she was informed from your office, and I took no further steps in the matter.

As for publicly censuring Mrs. Murphy in the gaol, she has not been inside the gaol nor have I spoken to her for over two years.

The matter of the gag happened while Warder Murphy was in the office about the Police Court case, when I ordered him to have nothing to do with these quarrels, as it was very degrading to the Service. He told me that it was the women, that his wife was hot-tempered and he could not stop her, when I in a jocular way remarked he should get a gag for her. Instead of trying to get Warder Murphy mixed up in women's affairs (as he remarks), I have tried to keep him clear of them and the Police Office.

I trust you will instruct the Visiting Justice to investigate this case, as I believe it is only a concocted plan to get a removal.

W. SMALL,
Gaoler.

Minute by Comptroller General.

I am certainly not disposed to move an officer on mere allegations of ill feeling on the part of his superior.

It was an error on the part of the Gaoler to send for Mrs. Murphy at all, as what had to be said would be to her husband; but he seems to have been led into the error by misreading my minute.

As Warder Murphy professes himself to be aggrieved, I see no objection to his specifically representing his grievance before the Visiting Justice, who probably will think it well to communicate to him this report of the Gaoler's.—H.M., 7th March, B.C., Berrima.

A.

Warder Murphy to The Comptroller General.

H.M. Gaol, Berrima, 10 March, 1877.

I, WARDER MURPHY, beg most respectfully to submit my defence for your inspection as proof of the ill feeling existing towards me on the part of the Gaoler at Berrima, and to state that I must decline having this case settled by the Visiting Justice, as desired by him, as I can prove that he also bears ill feeling towards myself and family, he having brought up about the affair of 1875, in the office in the Gaol on the 8th of February, 1877, by asking the Gaoler if there was not some set out with the Powells while he was away. The Gaoler said, "Yes; Mrs. Murphy reported Powell." "I thought so," replied the Visiting Justice. I was had up to the office to-day, and abused and threatened both by the Gaoler and Visiting Justice, who said that if he was the Gaoler he would walk me outside the gate. The Gaoler told me twice over that I was a dangerous man, for most emphatically denying the Gaoler's false and slanderous accusations against my wife, which I defy him to prove. The Visiting Justice said he would recommend my removal, and that I would be getting myself injured in the Service. I have done nothing but plead in my wife's defence, when she is slandered, insulted, and interfered with, through petty spite. Everything read to me in the office in the gaol in the Gaoler's defence of his actions in reference to my wife was false and an evident fabrication. I should consider myself unworthy the name of a man were I to submit tamely to the insults and slander heaped upon my wife for no cause whatever. I beg that you will investigate the case, and remove me from here as soon as convenient, as, in face of the opposition from all, I cannot remain in this gaol any longer.

Your obedient servant,

STEPHEN MURPHY.

On the 6th June, 1875, I had occasion to lock a prisoner up for using obscene language; but the Gaoler would not allow me to do so, but instead, abused and ridiculed me, in the presence of prisoners, while in the execution of my duty. He told me that I should never do another hour's duty in the gaol, and called the Chief Warder, and told him to bring a man out of the town to take my place—that I was no good there. The Chief Warder reasoned with the Gaoler, who then shifted me on to another post, and told me never to dare interfere with that prisoner again—that I would not be game to interfere with prisoner Mace. I felt degraded through being spoken to in such a manner for doing my duty.

On the 10th December, 1875, at 9:30 p.m., while on armed duty in the wing, the Gaoler came to me and abused me shamefully about my wife, and told me he would have me dismissed or removed to another gaol for the commotion and uproar my wife was causing in Berrima with law and letter-writing, and that he would write about my wife the next day.

On the 11th of December, 1875, at 10 a.m., I was tried before the Visiting Justice for the charge preferred by the Gaoler against my wife, viz., causing a commotion and uproar in Berrima with law and letter-writing; there was no charge against me, and my wife defended her actions by letter; the case was dismissed by my giving a guarantee that my wife would cease writing in future.

On the 23rd of March, 1876, at 8 a.m., the Gaoler came to me and told me he would report me, and that I would have to send in a statement. I was not called upon for the said statement. I gave no cause for such threat to be held out to me, as I had only just relieved Warder Flynn, I being on his post at the time.

Proofs of ill feeling existing towards me, Stephen Murphy, warder, on the part of Mr. Wm. Small, Gaoler at Berrima, contained in pages No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

On Easter Monday, 1876, I was on reserve duty; the Gaoler's son, Frederick, drove up to the gaol gate in a buggy about 7 p.m.; I challenged him, "Who comes there?" in reply he said to me, "Bug-gar it, open the gate."

On the 30th of November, 1876, on this day the Gaoler allowed Warder Cairncross to leave the gaol while on duty, to take out a summons, in his daughter's name, against me, for telling her to keep away from my place, and not to keep annoying me and preventing me from taking my rest, as she was in the habit of doing, whenever I was on night duty.

On the 5th of December, 1876, I was summoned to attend at Court by Warder Cairncross's daughter, aged 14; I put my name down to see the Gaoler; I saw him at 9 a.m.; the Clerk was present; I asked the Gaoler for leave to attend at Court, as I was summoned for 10 a.m.; he refused to let me go; he tried all he could to provoke and annoy me; he brought up about my wife not leaving him alone (meaning the affair twelve months previous), and told me, in presence of the Clerk, that I was a dangerous man; he laid stress upon the word dangerous; he threatened to walk me outside the gate; he told me again that I must not leave the gaol. I asked him if I found a man to take my place could I leave for an hour or two; he said yes, he not thinking I would be able to do so, as there was no one in the gaol that I could ask; the Gaoler could have had me relieved as well as Warder Cairncross if he wished; I did not know what to do; I then bethought me that there was a night duty man asleep in the lodge. I went to this man; I told him how I was situated; I begged of him to take my place for the remainder of the day, and I would give him my next day off in return; this he (Warder Jeffkins) kindly consented to do, though thereby thereby he was deprived of his rest, and I managed to leave the gaol, nearly distracted; the only reason I can assign for this treatment from the Gaoler is that he wanted a non-attendance in my case, when most assuredly I would have been bound to the Peace and lost my situation; on this day also Warder Issard's daughter, aged 13, was allowed to give evidence against me. I never heard that anything connected with that most shocking conspiracy on the part of my enemies to ruin a fellow-creature was ever brought under your notice.

On the 31st January, 1877, Warder Cairncross was relieved off duty by the Gaoler; he was absent fifty minutes, his daughter came for him, she was asked into the Gaoler's house; shortly afterwards Warder Cairncross and his daughter left the gaol, closely followed by the Gaoler.

On the 3rd of February, 1877, I was had to the office and officially informed by the Gaoler that he had received a letter from the Comptroller in answer to one of Warder Cairncross's, who, he said, had applied for removal on the grounds that he could not stay in Berrima through the annoyance my wife was causing his family, and that he, the Gaoler, had authority from the Comptroller to watch the proceedings in Court, and comment on the case if there was any more of it; that he had already made some inquiries in the matter, and he found that it was a one-sided affair, and gave me to understand that his decision in the matter would be final; he also told me I was not fit to be a warder because I remarked that I knew nothing about the matter, and therefore could not understand the meaning of the letter he read to me.

On the 6th of February, 1877, Warder Cairncross's daughter came again to the gaol for him, when he was relieved off duty by the Gaoler. He was on leave two hours and a half attending the case in Court of Mrs. Murphy v. Cairncross, that making the third time Warder Cairncross had been relieved off duty by the Gaoler, while I could not obtain even one hour's leave from him to attend at Court when summoned by Warder Cairncross's daughter.

On the 4th of February, 1877, thinking myself entitled to the same privilege accorded to Warder Cairncross, I presented an explanation in my wife's defence to the Gaoler, and begged that he would forward it to the Comptroller General. The Gaoler read it, sneered at it, and told me that if I valued my situation the less writing to the Comptroller the better; that if I sent that explanation it would very likely come back with the corner turned down; I was therefore afraid to send it. The Gaoler remarked that he would give me a gag to gag my wife with. The Gaoler again remarked that even he could not be left alone (referring to my wife having written to him on the 11th December, 1875); he also told me that the case had better be settled, as if there was any more of it he would have to report the result to the Comptroller, and also forward the newspaper to him. I again told the Gaoler that I knew nothing about the matter, but, as stated in the explanation I had just tendered to him, my wife would accept an apology. I remarked that I was afraid my wife's name had been brought under the Comptroller's notice in some way to her injury, when the Gaoler assured me on the word of a man that my wife's name had not been mentioned, that he would see Warder Cairncross in reference to settling the matter, and let me know the result, but he did not do so.

On the 6th of February, 1877, I was on duty in the workshop, the Gaoler called me into the yard, and in a great rage asked me if I had not given him a promise that the case would be settled; I said no, I had never given any such promise, that the case was not mine, that I knew nothing about it; he then said he would report me, and that if Cairncross and he had only been a little more wide awake things would have been different.

On the 7th of February, 1877, I was on duty in the wing; the Gaoler said again that he understood from me that I had given a promise that the case would be settled; I told him again that I knew nothing about it, and that I never gave such a promise; he told me that if anything came of it now I had only myself to blame.

On the 8th of February, 1877, I was had up to the office by the Gaoler to read a newspaper to me about the case in Court. After he had read it, he asked me what I thought of it; I told him the report of the case was untrue, that my wife was never before a Bench in the Colony before, and my daughter's age was thirteen years and seven months. The Gaoler told me he would send the newspaper, I asked him if it was customary to do so; he (the Gaoler) said that if he thought I was alluding to him he would walk me outside the gate. He then asked the clerk if he had not heard me give a promise that the case would be settled; the clerk said no. On the same date I was had up to the office again before the Gaoler and Visiting Justice, who commented and talked a good deal about the case which was decided by him on the 6th of February, 1877. He told the Gaoler to send the newspaper and comment upon it.

On the 13th of February, 1877, Warder Tinson came to my house and told me that my wife was wanted at the office in the gaol by the Gaoler. On the 19th of February, 1877, I was had up to the office by the Gaoler, who censured my wife to me publicly as the aggressor in the late case. I left the office feeling disgraced for that my wife's name should be coupled with such an undeserved censure in a gaol, as in point of good manners and respectability my wife is second to none in Berrima.

On the 27th of February, 1877, the Gaoler stood fully twenty-five yards off, and at the top of his voice and in the presence of prisoners, brought me to account for disobeying an order which I proved to him I had never received. I beg to state that I was never absent from duty one hour while in the Service, and that through attentiveness to my duty and presence of mind I saved a prisoner's life in 1866, who had nearly hanged himself. I cut him down without calling for assistance, life was then nearly extinct; I then reported the occurrence to the Chief Warder, who rushed to the scene accompanied by Warder Devine of Darlinghurst Gaol. The prisoner was then unconscious and in the same position I had left him. I never received any acknowledgment from the Gaoler of having done my duty so efficiently, as I am always kept in the back-ground through ill feeling on his part towards me.

I have put up with ridicule, threats, and insults from the Gaoler for the sake of my family, but when my wife is made to suffer through him also, it is time I should make known my grievances.

4 March, 1877.

STEPHEN MURPHY,

Warder.

Minute by Gaoler.

I do not see a necessity for me to make any comments on this statement, except to explain in reference to Warder Murphy asking to be relieved from duty to attend at the Police Court.

Warder

Warder Murphy came into the office at 9 a.m., asking to be relieved. I told him he would be relieved when the Court opened, but as we were short-handed I could not let him go until then, unless he got some person to do his duty, which he did, and was relieved at once.

WM. SMALL,
Gaoler.

Minutes by Visiting Justice.

With reference to this Warder Murphy's matter, I am getting a little tired of it, and consider this sort of correspondence no longer endurable in an officer of Warder Murphy's class at any rate.

I read, as directed, the Gaoler's statement herein, embodying what appears to me a satisfactory explanation of the course he took with regard to sending for Warder Murphy's wife on the occasion complained of to Warder Murphy this morning, as also that portion of the Comptroller General's own minute, as to Warder Murphy submitting to me any evidence he had of the alleged ill feeling towards himself on the part of the Gaoler.

Warder Murphy assumed a defiant and somewhat impudent attitude both to the Gaoler and myself, exclaiming amongst other things, in an emphatic and offensive manner, that he'd have "death rather than dishonor," the meaning of which I have no conception of. Within a few minutes, he, however, submitted the lengthy production appended (five pages).

The whole statement is offensive and insubordinate in character and tone, and furnishes better grounds I consider, for the absolute dismissal, rather than the simple removal of Warder Murphy to some other gaol. I think under the circumstances he should be punished by fine at least, and made to remain here and do his duty, with the option of resigning if he choose that course, or receive some equivalent treatment.

F. R. WILSHIRE,
V.J.

Berrima, 10/3/77.

Just as I had written the foregoing minute, the R. C. Chaplain (Rev. Father Riordon) happened to come to my office on other business, and on my mentioning incidentally Warder Murphy's case to him, he asked if I would kindly withhold from further action in the matter till he had seen Warder Murphy, whom he believed was being led into this correspondence, &c., by members of his family, rather than with his own wish.

I consented to this course, and the following day the additional document by Warder Murphy, (marked A) was handed to me by the Gaoler, the result (as I afterwards ascertained) of Father Riordon's endeavour to dissuade Warder Murphy from the course he was pursuing.

I have only to say, with reference to this last effusion of Warder Murphy's, that it simply goes to confirm the views I previously expressed, and that his position as a warder in this gaol is now no longer endurable. His insubordinate conduct throughout, terminating in this last insolent and untruthful letter, fully merits dismissal from the Service.—F. R. W., V.J., 12/3/77.

Mr. W. G. Beverley to The Visiting Justice.

Department of Prisons, Comptroller General's Office, 15 March, 1877.

Case of Warder Stephen Murphy.

I SHOULD have preferred leaving this case to be dealt with by the Comptroller General of Prisons, who is absent on leave, but it appears to me to be necessary that it should be at once disposed of.

Papers herewith.

A spirit of insubordination quite inconsistent with the retention of his position pervades Warder Murphy's correspondence, and his demeanour at the inquiry held by the Visiting Justice, at the Comptroller General's request, renders the warder fully liable to be removed from the prison service. In view, however, of his former good conduct a fine of seven days' pay may be substituted for dismissal, and an admonition that any further dereliction of duty will necessitate his immediate removal.

Perhaps the Visiting Justice will be good enough to communicate this minute to the warder, and cause all papers, including defaulter's sheet, to be returned to this office.

W. GORE BEVERLEY,
Deputy Comptroller,
in ab. Comptroller General.

Read to warder and papers returned, as requested.—F. R. WILSHIRE, V.J., 16/3/77.

Warder Murphy to The Comptroller General.

H.M. Gaol, Berrima, 16 March, 1877.

I, WARDER MURPHY, beg most respectfully to enter my "protest" against the "decision" in my case, embracing fine and reprimand read to me in the office to-day by the Visiting Justice, who told me that it was Mr. Beverley's decision in my case. I question that gentleman's authority to decide so important a case as mine. I question his authority to fine me "seven days' pay," seeing that I never committed myself in any way. I addressed a letter to the Comptroller General on the 10th of March, 1877. I requested the Gaoler at Berrima to forward the same to him, together with the proofs of ill feeling I wished brought under his immediate notice. I retain true copies of the same. It is evident to me that neither my "letter" nor said proof ever reached the Comptroller, as I distinctly saw the same "letter" and proofs in the office to-day, and the Visiting Justice again commented upon several words he read from them. He mentioned my wife's name in the office again to-day. There was no charge against "me." As this is a private matter (concerning my "wife"), I have therefore to respectfully request once more of the Gaoler at Berrima to forward my letter of the 10th instant, together with the proofs of ill feeling, to the "Comptroller General," Harold Maclean, Esq., for his inspection upon his arrival in Sydney. I have good cause to suspect foul play from those concerned in this case; therefore I am not willing to abide by any decision other than that of the Comptroller General. If my request is again refused, I will be under the necessity of forwarding copies of the entire correspondence through the post, to the Comptroller myself upon his arrival.

Your obdt. servant,
STEPHEN MURPHY.

Letter

Letter referred to by the Visiting Justice.

The Gaoler at Berrima, Mr. Wm. Small, not content with slandering me in the manner he has done both in the gaol and to the Comptroller General, thought fit to mention my name again in the office in the gaol, on the 10th of March, 1877, by referring to a visit I paid him in 1875, when he stated I had kept him three hours from his tea backbiting my neighbours. I wrote to him on the same date through the post, reminding him of the facts connected with that visit, which he evidently omitted wilfully; I did so without my husband's knowledge or consent, as he was on duty at the time. On the other side is a true copy of the letter referred to.

MRS. S. MURPHY.

Mrs. S. Murphy to The Gaoler, Berrima.

Sir,

When referring to my having paid you a visit in 1875, as you were pleased to do on the 10th instant, you omitted to state the following facts in connection with my visit to "you," when I thought you were a gentleman.

You were pleased to say to me on that occasion that you never ate sweeter hams than those I sent you, and that the said hams must have cost me at least 1s. per lb.; each ham weighed about 8 lbs.; my presenting them to you for nothing was therefore greatly to your advantage. You were pleased to ask me if I thought of getting another pig, and to advise me that when I did so to get your son-in-law Joseph Powell to buy a good sized one for me. You were also pleased at various times to eat a good many potatoes which grew in my garden, and you kindly told me they were the finest you ever tasted.

You were lamenting to me having been taken in by paying 5s. for one bag of potatoes which were perfectly useless to you, and as a mark of esteem and memento of my visit you were pleased to present me with a Johnson's Dictionary, which I am sure you will be happy to hear I have since used on several occasions with the very greatest advantage.

When next you feel inclined to digress on similar subjects, to take your tea first is the serious advice of your well-wisher,—

MRS. STEPHEN MURPHY.

Berrima, March 10th, 1877.

Mr. Wm. Small, Gaoler,

Please pay Messrs. Powell Bros. the sum of four pounds ten shillings out of my month's pay due on the 1st day of November.

Paid—POWELL BROS.

Telegram from Deputy Comptroller to Visiting Justice.

19 March, 1877.

WARDER Murphy's case will be dealt with finally by the Comptroller General on his return from leave next week. In the meantime Murphy is suspended, and substitute, if required, approved.

W. GORE BEVERLEY.

D.C.P., in ab. C.G.P.

Warder Murphy to The Comptroller General.

H.M. Gaol, Berrima, 26 March, 1877.

I, WARDER MURPHY, beg most respectfully to bring the following grievance to which I have been subjected under your immediate notice, and I humbly pray for redress. Since applying to you through the Gaoler at Berrima, on the 4th of March, 1877, for a transfer to another gaol, on the grounds of the Gaoler's ill feeling towards myself and family, and dread of losing my situation at any moment (which dread has since been verified), I have had a great deal to contend with.

On the 10th of March, 1877, I was had up to the office before the Gaoler and Visiting Justice, who read the reply to my letter of the 4th instant to me, which was to the effect that I had told the Gaoler my wife had a bad temper, and that I could not keep her in check; and that I and my wife had been to a gentleman in Berrima, telling him we were very happy. I most emphatically denied that statement, and I am prepared to affidavit the same as utterly untrue and an evident fabrication. The Gaoler and Visiting Justice then commenced abusing and threatening me shamefully; the former called me a dangerous man twice over; the latter said if he was the Gaoler he would walk me outside the gate. While the Gaoler was abusing me, the Visiting Justice was walking round me and moving his hands in a most excitable manner, thereby inciting me to a breach of the peace. He told me he would recommend my removal from the Service. I still persisted in my denial of ever having told the Gaoler my wife had a bad temper, which he said was his reason for offering me a gag to gag her with. The Visiting Justice said that if there was any more of it, he was to settle it, that the Comptroller did not want to be bothered with any more of it. I declined having the case settled by him, as I can prove that he also bears ill feeling towards myself and family.

On that same day I put in my proofs of ill feeling, written on five sheets of foolscap, correctly numbered, and a letter addressed to you, describing how I had been treated on that day. I requested the Gaoler to forward the same for your inspection in the usual manner. He told me he would do so. Shortly afterwards a gentleman came to my house, begging me to withdraw my papers at the earnest request of the Gaoler and Visiting Justice, who, he told me, had spoken very highly of me. He told me he had just seen the minute written by the Visiting Justice against my proofs of ill feeling, and that I would surely be dismissed, and that the Visiting Justice and Gaoler would be sorry to see it; but that if I withdrew my papers everything would be forgotten, and that the Gaoler would think none the less of me. I told him it was not so much for myself that I cared, as I had put up with threats and insults repeatedly, but it was my wife being made to suffer also through the Gaoler's slanders. I then produced your reply to my wife's letter, which states that from information received after you had seen her, the censure complained of was passed. I told him I preferred death before dishonor; I could not have my wife slandered without a cause. I asked him if my wife had created a scandal in Berrima; he said no; that he believed Mrs. Murphy to be a very respectable woman. I told him I wished the Comptroller to see the good cause I had for wishing to get away from this gaol as soon as possible, and that, therefore, I must decline to withdraw my papers. The gentleman referred to is the Reverend Father Riordon, of Berrima, who I am sure will speak the truth.

On the 16th of March, 1877, I was had up to the office before the Gaoler and Visiting Justice, to have the reply to my letter read to me, as also the reply to my proofs of ill feeling of the 10th of March previous. The Visiting Justice told me I was fined seven days' pay, by Mr. Boverley's orders, and only for my previous good conduct I would have been dismissed from the Service by him. I asked the Visiting Justice to read the charge to me, as I was not aware of having committed myself in any way, when to my astonishment he took the very same letter I had addressed to you on the 10th of March, 1877, and again commented upon and tried to make a charge out of what I had written for your inspection. I told him I had previously objected to him deciding my case, and I must do so again, and behold! what do I see but my five sheets of foolscap, with my proofs of ill feeling written thereon, and my letter to you, lying on the office table in Berrima Gaol, when I imagined them in your possession, and was hourly expecting the redress and transfer to another gaol, which I felt sure of obtaining after your perusal of my papers. I asked the Visiting Justice what I was fined for; he would not tell me. I asked him for a copy of the charge against me; he would not give it to me. I asked him for my papers; he told me that he could not give them to me, as they were to be filed in the office. I then asked him if the fine and reprimand were by the Comptroller General's orders; he told me I had better ask him. I considered it foul play to be fined and severely reprimanded without a charge being first preferred against me and I being allowed to defend myself from the same, but this privilege was denied me through spite and ill feeling. The Visiting Justice finished by saying that this had arisen from the "Court affair" and so much letter-writing, with which he coupled my wife's name.

On the 17th of March, 1877, I entered a protest against my being fined and reprimanded for no cause, by a gentleman to whom I had never addressed myself, as I questioned his authority to fine me seven days' pay without investigating my case, and more especially as my papers did not reach you.

On this day also, at 9 a.m., when on No. 11 post, I was about going out with the prisoners who work at road-making, as I have always been in the habit of doing when on that post. I felt humiliated through being compelled to relieve an officer to go out with the prisoners, in my stead, who had never fired a shot while in the Service.

On the 19th of March I relieved the same officer to go out with the prisoners again in my stead.

On the same date, at 5 p.m., I was had up at the office before the Gaoler, who told me that the Deputy Comptroller thought fit to suspend me. He then said to the Chief Warder who was present—"See that man outside the gate."

Since the 30th of January, 1877, I was had to the office no less than nine times to render an account of my wife's private actions to the Gaoler and Visiting Justice, and to be abused, insulted, and threatened by them never to defend myself from any charge. The ill feeling which prompted them to interfere with and persecute myself and family, as they have done, is partly shown in my proofs of ill feeling, dated March 4th, 1877, which I beg you will cause the Gaoler to lay before you without delay, as also my letters addressed to you on the following dates:—4th March, 1877, 10th March, 1877, and 16th March, 1877, true copies of all of which I retain. I beg also that you will cause the Gaoler to withdraw the censure he passed on my wife in the gaol, on the 19th of February, 1877, by calling her the aggressor in the late case, which is untrue, and cautioning her about quarrelling with her neighbours, under penalty to me or to show cause for the same. I further beg that the Gaoler may be called upon to show cause why a minute by your orders should be deemed necessary for my guidance on the 19th of February, 1877, or in what way did I err to need guidance up to that date, or am I to be intimidated from seeking advancement in the Service through the slanderous cautions administered to me by the Gaoler in reference to my wife? The Gaoler can at any time, without my knowledge, and out of pure ill feeling towards myself and family, seriously injure me in the Service, and in your estimation, by writing about my wife and slandering her to you, as he has evidently done already. He can tell you at any time that my wife is quarrelling with her neighbours and creating a scandal in Berrima—slanders which I trust he may be called upon to prove. The Clerk, Mr. Lackey, was present each time I was had up to the office, with the exception of the 3rd and 4th of February, 1877. I believe he will speak the truth if called upon. All this ill feeling towards myself and family originated through discontinuing dealing in Powell's store, and through my wife subsequently reporting Mr. Powell, the Postmaster at Berrima, for refusing her of postage stamps. This occurrence, which took place in 1875, was brought up by the Visiting Justice in the office in the Gaol on the 5th of February, 1877. He asked the Gaoler if something did not occur with the Powells while he was away. "Yes," said the Gaoler, "Mrs. Murphy reported Powell." "I thought so," said the Visiting Justice. On another occasion the Gaoler referred in the gaol to my wife having paid him a visit in 1875, and kept him three hours from his tea.

In conclusion, I beg to say that I had no intention of bringing up old grievances, as I was willing that they should be forgotten; but seeing that the Gaoler and Visiting Justice brought them up first, I then commenced putting my true version of the same in order. When I saw the determined dislike exhibited towards me on their part at the time of the occurrence of the 5th December, 1876, alluded to in my proofs of ill feeling, I determined to get away from this gaol and Gaoler as quietly as possible, as my application for a transfer to Darlinghurst Gaol will show, dated 4th January, 1877; but the Gaoler and Visiting Justice's ill feeling towards myself and family followed us like a shadow, until, in self-defence, and for fear of losing my situation, I was compelled to prove the same against them, and I now await your thorough investigation of the whole matter, and the redress prayed for in the commencement of this statement.

Your obedient servant,

STEPHEN MURPHY.

P.S.—On the 16th of March, 1877, the Visiting Justice passed the following remark to me in the office—"getting your wife to write letters for you." I beg to enclose a true copy of the letter referred to, which was written in my absence. To show the intimacy that existed between the Gaoler and his friends, the Powells of Berrima, I beg to enclose the accompanying form whereby I was induced to traffic with them when only three weeks in Berrima. I discontinued all traffic in 1875, since which time I lost all favour.—STEPHEN MURPHY. March 26, 1877.

Warder

Warder Murphy says, "a gentleman (Rev. Father Riordon) came to my house begging to withdraw my papers at the earnest request, &c., &c." I did see Warder Murphy, and told him that if he conducted himself well he may be allowed to continue as warder at Berrima or elsewhere.—W.J.R.

Warder Murphy to The Comptroller General.

Berrima, 26 March, 1877.

I, WARDER MURPHY, beg most respectfully to state that I would not take the liberty of addressing you through the post, were it not that at 11.30 a.m. on the above date, I tendered the accompanying statement to the Gaoler; I begged him to forward it for your immediate inspection in the usual manner; he would not look at it, he told me that I did not belong to the gaol now, he refused to forward it.

I earnestly appeal to you for a fair and impartial hearing, as I am surrounded by enemies through bringing my cause of grievance under your notice. If there is anything in my writings in the least displeasing to you, I must crave your forgiveness, and plead in extenuation the way in which I have been tormented and annoyed through the continual mention of my wife's name in the gaol, as well as being fined and suspended without being made aware of the cause; now the Gaoler refuses to send my statement, truly I am almost distracted.

Your obedient servant,
STEPHEN MURPHY.

These papers may be sent to the Gaoler for perusal.—H.M., 27 March, 1877.

Minute by Comptroller General.

Case of Warder Murphy.

I CONCUR with the Visiting Justice that this correspondence has gone beyond what there was any occasion for in dealing with the case of an officer of Warder Murphy's position in the Service. He has been allowed much latitude in consideration of the question affecting him officially arising out of family matters.

I do not attach much weight to his (apparently noted for record) instances of what he alleges to show ill feeling on the part of the Gaoler, and which he wrongly accuses the Gaoler of not forwarding. It was sent and returned with other papers.

This warder, not content with accusing the Gaoler, his superior, with malevolence and falsehood—charges that he does not establish—extends them almost to the Visiting Justice.

His conduct has clearly been most insubordinate, and he proceeds to question the lenient decision given by the Deputy Comptroller in an insubordinate and offensive manner.

The discipline of the Service requires his dismissal, which I accordingly direct. Properly speaking, he should not receive pay beyond the time of his suspension; but as the final decision was delayed by my absence, he may be paid to the date of this decision being notified. The Gaoler to communicate it.

Petition of Mr. S. Murphy.

Sydney, 4 April, 1877.

To the Colonial Secretary.

The humble petition of Stephen Murphy sheweth:—

That your petitioner's wife was grossly insulted by the Gaoler at Berrima, who sent a Gaol Warder to her house on the 13th of February, 1877, requesting her to appear before him at the office in the Gaol. That on the 4th of February previous he offered your petitioner a gag to gag her with; that both he and the Visiting Justice has repeatedly interfered with her private actions, and that your petitioner was had to the office in the Gaol no less than nine times to render an account to them of the same, as well as to be abused, insulted, and threatened by them. That your petitioner, fearing he would lose his situation as Warder in Berrima Gaol, applied for a transfer, on the grounds of the Gaoler and Visiting Justice's ill feeling towards himself and his family; for doing so your petitioner was fined seven days pay, against which he protested; for doing so he was suspended; the fine was not carried out, and your petitioner was subsequently dismissed on the 27th of March, 1877, after having served a period of three years and six months as warder in Berrima Gaol without a charge being at any time preferred against him. Your petitioner had a clean sheet up to the 10th of March, 1877, therefore, any report that may have been preferred against him since that date is null and void, seeing that your petitioner was not made aware of any charge having been preferred against him nor allowed to defend himself before being fined, suspended, and dismissed. That your petitioner feels aggrieved through being treated so harshly. Your petitioner, therefore, humbly prays that in consideration of his good conduct as warder in Berrima Gaol three years and six months, you will be pleased to take into consideration the serious loss likely to accrue to him and his family through loss of his situation and good character, and cause him to be reinstated in another gaol. And your petitioner will ever pray.

The Comptroller General of Prisons, for report and former papers.—B.C., 13/4/77; H.H.

Minute by Comptroller General.

THE papers in this case have already been furnished to the Principal Under Secretary. They include my minute of dismissal, from which it will be seen that the insubordinate and insulting action of the writer towards his superior rendered his dismissal necessary to the maintenance of discipline.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

DEATH OF PRISONER DUNN, alias SMITH, IN PARRAMATTA GAOL.

(PAPERS RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 16 May, 1877.

The Comptroller General of Prisons to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Department of Prisons, Comptroller General's Office, Sydney, 11 May, 1877.

Referring to the question of Mr. R. Forster, answered in the Legislative Assembly by the Minister of Justice on the 4th instant, relating to the inquest held in Parramatta Gaol upon the deceased prisoner Dunn, alias Smith, I have the honor to report that I have made further personal inquiry into the matter, closely interrogating the officers concerned.

The circumstances are shortly these:—At 7 o'clock a.m. on Saturday the attention of a warder was called to a prisoner in the yard, where he was by the Surgeon's orders; the warder reported to a superior; it was then ascertained that the deceased had had his prescribed medicine, and the officer did not judge it to be necessary to remove him to the hospital without the sanction of the Visiting Surgeon on his ensuing visit. It is the rule that prisoners shall not be taken to the hospital without medical sanction, unless in cases of exceptional urgency.

Somewhat after 8 o'clock the officer's attention was again called to the deceased, and he was then removed or rather it seems walked to the hospital.

I enclose the reports of officers and also of the Visiting Surgeon, and I have to express the opinion that there was no inattention on the part of the warder chiefly concerned, and that blame cannot fairly be attached to him for not sooner having deceased removed to hospital.

The Surgeon's report shows that the appearance of deceased was not consistent with the existence of acute pain or suffering.

I have, &c.,

HAROLD MACLEAN,
Comptroller General.

I would be glad to have the opinion of the Visiting Surgeon as to whether, from the nature of his complaint, the late prisoner Dunn was suffering acute pain while in the yard on Saturday morning, previous to his being received into hospital.

H.M., 7 May, /77.

Memo.

When I saw the prisoner Dunn after having been placed in hospital, he complained of sickness and pain under left ribs, but the pain did not appear to be acute. He was standing upright, and there was no expression of pain on his face. Had he suffered severely he would have bent forward, and his face would have shown what he felt.

WALTER BROWN, V.S., 8/5/77.

The Gaoler, Parramatta Gaol, to the Comptroller General of Prisons.

Sir,

H. M. Gaol, Parramatta, 4 May, 1877.

I do myself the honor to forward herewith report from the Chief Warder, 1st class Warder Dalton, and Warder Stewart, having reference to the death of the prisoner named in the margin.

When prisoners are let out in the mornings and they report themselves sick, they remain in their yards until the Visiting Surgeon arrives, except in a very serious case, when they are taken at once to hospital.

The officers in this instance appear to have considered Dunn's case as only one of an ordinary nature, as he walked from the wing to the yard, and afterwards walked without assistance to the hospital.

The doctor saw the prisoner on the previous day, and did not remove him into hospital; he however exempted him from work for three days.

I have, &c.,

J. G. HUSSEY,
Gaoler.

Memo.

Memo. for Governor.

Parramatta, 4 May, 1877.

About 7 A.M. on the 28th April last, Acting Senior Warden Dalton informed me that prisoner Dunn was sick in No. 2 yard. I told him to ascertain whether he had any medicine (as he had been exempt from work by the Visiting Surgeon the day previous), to which he replied in the affirmative. About an hour afterwards Warden Stewart reported to me that Dunn was sick, when I gave orders to send at once for the dispenser.

W. WATT,
Chief Warden.

Parramatta Gaol, 4 May, 1877.

1st Class Warden Dalton begs to state, for the information of the Comptroller General of Prisons, that at about 7 o'clock on Saturday, 28th ultimo, Warden Stewart reported to him that there was a man, named Dunn, sick in the yard. Warden Dalton immediately went to the Chief Warden and reported the matter to him. The Chief Warden told Warden Dalton to see if Dunn had had any medicine from the doctor, and when the doctor had seen him Warden Dalton did so, and reported to the Chief Warden that Dunn had seen the doctor on 27th, and had medicine. Warden Stewart came to Warden Dalton between 8 and 9 o'clock, and told him that Mr. Watt had given orders to send for the dispenser, and asked Warden Dalton what was to be done with the man in the yard. Warden Dalton told Warden Stewart to have Dunn taken to the hospital, and placed in the bottom ward. Warden Dalton then sent Warden Keegan for the dispenser. Dunn did not appear very ill; he walked to the hospital without assistance.

R. DALTON,
1st Class Warden.

Parramatta Gaol, 4 May, 1877.

WARDER William John Stewart begs to report, for the information of the Comptroller General of Prisons, as follows:—On Saturday morning last, the 28th ult., at 7 o'clock, prisoner James Griffin came to him and reported to him that prisoner Dunn was very ill, and asked permission to remove him into No. 2 wing from No. 2 yard. Warden Stewart said that he could not take it upon himself to do so, but Warden Stewart immediately reported the matter to Acting Senior Warden Dalton, who went himself to where Dunn was. After this (between 8 and 9 o'clock) Griffin came again to Warden Stewart and said that Dunn wanted to see the dispenser, as he was very ill. Warden Stewart then went to the Chief Warden, and he gave orders to send immediately for the dispenser, which was done without delay. Warden Stewart met Acting Senior Warden Dalton at the same time, and he (Dalton) ordered Dunn to hospital, where he was immediately removed.

W. J. STEWART.

Prisoner Dunn, in my opinion, did not appear to have so much the matter with him, as he walked without assistance to the hospital.—W. J. STEWART.

GUNDAGAI GAOL.

No. 1.

Constable Benton to The Superintendent of Police.

H.M. Gaol, Gundagai, 4 October, 1875.

CONSTABLE John Benton reports for your information, the roofing of this Gaol is in a very dilapidated state—the shingles being entirely decayed—admitting the water into the cells in rainy weather, doing great injury to the ceiling boards by causing them to become rotten.

Also, the flooring in one of the cells, the joists being broken, rendering the floors insecure for the safe custody of prisoners.

JOHN BENTON,
Acting Gaoler.

Referred to the Colonial Architect.—EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P., B.C., 18 Oct., '75.

No. 2.

The Police Magistrate, Gundagai, to The Colonial Architect.

Sir,

Gundagai, 17 October, 1876.

I have the honor to enclose one tender for the repairs of the Gaol here.

There is in this office a circular from the Minister of Justice, prohibiting any advertisement in the local papers without special instruction, and as you did not authorize me to advertise for tenders I forbore to do so; however, I made the matter known otherwise to the various workmen and builders here—this one tender is the only result.

I have, &c.,
WM. LOVE.

[Enclosure.]

Gundagai, 3 October, 1876.

Tender for repairs to Gundagai Gaol.

WE, the undersigned, will undertake to execute all repairs to Gundagai Gaol, according to specification, for the sum of £127.

HENRY MAYNARD, and HENRY RUSSELL.

Also to build new brick closet with stone foundation 8 feet deep, for the sum of £40.

No. 3.

Mr. J. M'Kenzie to The Colonial Architect.

Sir,

Gundagai, 29 September, 1876.

I, the undersigned, do hereby tender for all repairs required to be done at the Gundagai Gaol, and kitchen, according to specification as shown at Court-house, and to complete the same in a substantial and workmanlike manner, within three months from date of notice of tender being accepted, for the sum of one hundred and fifty pounds (£150) sterling.

I am, &c.,
JAMES M'KENZIE.

No. 4.

Mr. J. M'Kenzie to The Colonial Architect.

Sir,

Gundagai, 19 October, 1876.

I have the honor to report for your information that a man by the name of Henry Maynard is likely to tender for the repairs to Gaol. This is to inform you, sir, that he is no tradesman; the roof that he put on the new house which I built for Mr. Rose, our late P.M., is condemned, and has to be taken off; also, the repairs to the Public School-house here, which he did, is a scandalous piece of work.

I may also inform you, sir, that he (Mr. Maynard) is in league with H. Russell, storekeeper, who has a lot of bad timber on hand and cannot get rid of it.

I have, &c.,

FORWARDED to the Police Magistrate. It seems at all events desirable to attempt to obtain some other tender for the work than that of Maynard and Russell, forwarded by Mr. Love on 17 ulto.; will the Police Magistrate be good enough to endeavour to do so—advertising if necessary. *Pro C.A., H.C., 22 Nov. No. 6.

The Police Magistrate, Gundagai, to The Colonial Architect.

Sir,

Gundagai, 24 November, 1876.

I have the honor to return the enclosed letter of M'Kenzie's. I shall advertise for tenders for repairs for the Gaol in the Gundagai Times—returnable on the 18th December next.

I have, &c.,

The Police Magistrate, Gundagai, to The Colonial Architect.

Sir,

Gundagai, 20 December, 1876.

I have the honor to report to you that I have caused three advertisements to be inserted in the Gundagai Times, inviting tenders for the repairs of Gundagai Gaol to be sent in before or on the 18th instant. No tenders have come through this office; if any have been sent in they have been forwarded to you direct.

No. 8.

Mr. J. M'Kenzie to The Colonial Architect.

Sir,

Sydney, 16 April, 1877.

Having finished my contract at Burwood, and being about to proceed to Gundagai again, would be very thankful to procure work there under your department. Hoping you will pardon the liberty I have taken, I will await your answer, as I start this afternoon.

No. 9.

Mr. J. M'Kenzie to The Colonial Architect.

Sir,

Sydney, 17 April, 1877.

I, the undersigned, do hereby tender for repairs required at Court-house, Gundagai, agreeable to the plan and specification, for the sum of four hundred and fifty-five pounds (£455) sterling, and to complete within four months from the date of the acceptance of this tender the works specified.

The undermentioned gentlemen are proposed as sureties for the due performance of the contract:—

Mr. JOHN WILLIAM FRY, hotelkeeper, Gundagai.

Mr. MICHAEL NORTON, hotel and store keeper, Gundagai.

I have, &c.,

JAMES M'KENZIE,

Builder, Gundagai.

Sir,

The following is a list of repairs required, and for which I have tendered (in conjunction with the foregoing specification):—I find on examining the roof of main building that it requires new battens and new eave guttering; the present head and down pipes may do; one of the large cells requires new joists and part flooring-boards—this is owing to there being no ventilation under the floor; it also requires new skirting; one of small cells new skirting; front door partly new; repairing plaster in receiving-room and bed-room, with new lock for door; refixing all locks, bolts, and fastenings; repairing windows and fanlight, and painting afresh all outside work, such as doors and windows; soffit and fascia boards round the main building, which boards will require to be replaced with new ones; also the chimney head of main building taking down and rebuilding with new lead flashing; also pointing afresh external walls of main building.

Kitchen.—Repairing roof of kitchen, and fixing new ridging; repairing all windows and doors, and painting same; also painting soffit and fascia boards round the projecting eave of kitchen; also new eave guttering, with head and down pipe; repairing large gate, greater part to be new, with new tower bolts and new sill and lintel, and fresh painting.

Also permit me to state that a new water-closet is very much wanted, as there is at present only one W.-C., built of weather-boards, and in a falling state, for the accommodation of Gaoler and family and prisoners—this, the W.-C., is not included in my tender.

Sir,

Department of Public Works,

Colonial Architect's Office, Sydney, 9 May, 1877.

I do myself the honor to submit a tender from a local tradesman, for repairs much needed to the Gaol at Gundagai. Endeavours have been made to obtain other offers, but without success; I would therefore recommend the acceptance of Mr. M'Kenzie's tender; the price asked being, I consider, £150. reasonable. The expense will be chargeable to vote for "Gaols and Court-houses."

Dear sir,

Gundagai, 12 May, 1877.

Having heard from the Police Magistrate of Gundagai that there had been a letter sent to you accompanying a tender sent by one James M'Kenzie, which tended to injure me in my business as a builder, I should feel very much obliged if you would be kind enough to forward me a copy of the said letter, as it hinders me sending in a tender for any Government contracts.

I have been informed yesterday by the Police Magistrate that you received a letter accompanying a tender from a man named M'Kenzie. As Mr. Love mentioned the purport of letter, and the letter is damaging my character, I wish you would send me a copy of the letter I want to make of it immediately. I am supplying Government contracts for the last eighteen years, and when you see my name to a tender, you may take it as a guarantee that the work will be well done and the materials as good as can be got in the district.

Gundagai, 11 June, 1877.

As there is likely to be an action entered against me for the letter that I wrote to you some time ago about Maynard and Russell, and certain work done at the Public School, Gundagai,—I hereby request that you will cause the said work to be inspected by a Government officer, that the Government and the public may know how the work is done, as I can prove by competent workmen that what I have said is true, and that I done it for the public good.

I also request that you will be kind enough to forward to me a copy of Mr. Love's report on my letter, to enable my solicitor to get up a defence.

Joseph Leary, Esq., M.P., to The Secretary for Public Works.

My dear sir,

108, King-street, Sydney, 23 May, 1877.

I have been requested by Mr. Elworthy, of Gundagai, again to trespass on your kindness to expedite the invitations of tenders for Police Barracks at Gundagai; and he has also suggested that the buildings, instead of being stripped and reshingled, should have galvanized iron laid on present roof; the additional cost of the whole would not exceed seventy-five pounds (£75). It is also stated that the Court-house roof has too low a roof for shingles, and as an iron tank has to be fixed near it, the water from the iron roof would be much purer than from one of shingles, and the cost of supplying the Gaol with drinking water would be saved thereby.

I have, &c.,
JOSEPH LEARY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

DEFENCE OF AUSTRALIAN COLONIES.

(OBTAINING ASSISTANCE OF MILITARY ENGINEERS TO REPORT ON.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

No. 1.

The Colonial Secretary, N.S.W., to The Chief Secretary, Victoria.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 1 December, 1876.

In view of what has been already done and what yet remains to be done towards perfecting the defences of the Australian Colonies, and in the contemplation as well of events now passing in Europe, which seem to render the contingency of war not altogether improbable, as also of the perils to which, in the event of war, these Colonies would be exposed, it has suggested itself to this Government that it would be highly prudent to obtain the best professional advice within reach, to guide us to some effective scheme of defence, on which such funds as it may be thought well to apply to that purpose may be expended in the full assurance that they are applied to the best advantage.

2. In this measure of precaution, I beg to invite the concurrence of your Government in seeking, at the hands of the Imperial Government, that the services of a military engineer of the highest esteem in his profession may be made available to the Australian Colonies. It is thought well that the application which will be presented by the Governor of New South Wales should be supported by similar applications on the part of the other Colonies chiefly interested in the matter, namely, your own Colony, and those of South Australia and Queensland.

3. It is proposed that Her Majesty's Government be asked to place at our disposal the services of Sir William Jervois, if possible, or some other officer of high eminence in the profession of military engineering, and it is expected that the cost of obtaining his advice on a general scheme of defence would probably not exceed a fee of £1,000 and his expenses for six months.

4. I have the honor to suggest therefore that the Governor of your Colony be invited to address the Queen's Government in favour of the views which I have indicated, and in furtherance of the like representations which may be made on behalf of the other Colonies mentioned.

5. I shall be obliged if you will make known to me, as soon as possible, the view which your Government takes of the proposal.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

The Treasury, Melbourne, 13 December, 1876.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 1st instant, No. 604, addressed to the Chief Secretary, the object of which is to obtain the co-operation of this Government in procuring the best professional advice to guide us to some effective scheme of defence of the Australian Colonies, for the very cogent reasons set forth by you.

I beg to express the entire concurrence of this Government in your views, and in the proposal that this Government seek at the hands of the Imperial Government the services of a military engineer of the highest standing in his profession, such services to be made available to the Australian Colonies, namely, New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, and Queensland; and His Excellency the Governor (Sir G. F. Bowen) will accordingly be moved to apply by the outgoing mail for the services of Sir William Jervois, if possible, or failing him, for those of some other officer of equally high eminence in the profession of military engineering, for at least six months, or longer if needed—fee and expenses to be borne by the Colonies interested.

MINISTERS request me to inquire whether Home Government will lend them an experienced imperial officer to report and advise upon forts and defences of Sydney Harbour. They would wish the highest authority on fortifications who can be spared to be sent, and leave remuneration to be decided by your Lordship. Victoria and South Australia unite in application, desiring similar services and willing to share in expenses. It is thought that such a mission would not entail upon an officer more than six months' absence from London. Ministers would be thankful for a reply by telegraph.

The Chief Secretary, South Australia, to The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

Sir,

South Australia, Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 13 December, 1876.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your despatch of the 1st instant, on the subject of combined action, with a view to perfecting the defences of the Australian Colonies, and to inform you, in reply, that this Government will cordially co-operate with the Government of New South Wales in the important proposals made therein. It is, in the opinion of myself and my colleagues, highly desirable that a report on the defences of Australia should be promptly secured from the highest available scientific authority, and His Excellency Sir Anthony Musgrave has been advised to address Her Majesty's Government to that effect by the outgoing mail.

This Government would suggest that his Excellency the Governor of New South Wales should be recommended to anticipate the despatches of the several Governors of the Colonies with whom you may be in communication on the subject, by telegraphing to the Right Honorable the Secretary of State the substance of the despatch referred to, in the names of the Governments who may express their willingness to co-operate in this important matter.

MEMO.—In reply to his telegram of 23rd December, the Governor received a telegram from the Secretary of State to the effect that the Home authorities had selected Colonels Laffan and Scratchley, of the Royal Engineers, who could sail in February,—the proposed remuneration being at the rate of £1,500 per annum for Colonel Laffan, and at the rate of £1,000 per annum for Colonel Scratchley, besides expenses. A reply by telegraph was asked for.

JANUARY thirtieth. Ministers consider proposed remuneration quite satisfactory. They will be glad to receive both officers named as soon as possible, and beg to express their warmest thanks for your compliance with their wishes. Will inform Conference to-morrow.

No. 20.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to The Chief Secretary, Victoria.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 3 February, 1877.

In reference to the correspondence which has already taken place on the subject of applications made by the Governors of the several Colonies to the Secretary of State for the services of Sir William Jervois or a military engineer of eminence to report on the defences of each Colony, I have now the honor, by direction of His Excellency Sir Hercules Robinson, to intimate to you that he has received a telegram from the Secretary of State to the effect that the Home authorities have selected Colonels Laffan and Scratchley, of the Royal Engineers, who can sail in February,—the proposed remuneration for Colonel Laffan being at the rate of £1,500 per annum, and for Colonel Scratchley at the rate of £1,000 per annum, with expenses in each case.

2. To this communication His Excellency has replied, under date the 30th ultimo, to the effect that this Government considers the proposed remuneration quite satisfactory, and will be glad to receive both officers named as soon as possible; and further begs to express its warmest thanks for compliance with its wishes, and will inform the Conference sitting in Sydney to-morrow.

3. It was originally suggested, as you are aware, when the services of a first-class engineer were applied for, that a fee of £1,000 and expenses would be a fitting remuneration—an expenditure now likely to be increased to the sum of £1,250 and expenses, in securing the greater advantage of the investigations and advice of two engineers of high repute. This calculation, I may mention, is based on the belief that within six months all that can be required of these gentlemen will be accomplished.

4. In making this intimation to you, I beg to say that I shall be greatly gratified to receive the concurrence of your Government in the arrangements above explained.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

DEFENCES.

PRELIMINARY REPORT

BY

HIS EXCELLENCY SIR W. JERVOIS, R.E., C.B., K.C.M.G.

Presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command.

SYDNEY:

BY AUTHORITY: CHARLES POTTER, ACTING GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1877.

[1s. 3d.]

353—A

Sydney, 4th June, 1877.

SIR,

In accordance with the request of the Earl of Carnarvon, that I should report upon the Military Defences of the Australian Colonies, whose Governments had asked His Lordship to name an officer of the Royal Engineers to advise with reference thereto, I commenced my investigation in this Colony at the beginning of last month, accompanied by Lieutenant-Colonel Scratchley, R.E., who was nominated by Lord Carnarvon to assist me in this duty.

Since that time I have inspected the works already constructed for the defence of Port Jackson,—the country between the Hawkesbury and Wollongong,—the harbours, bays, and coast between the latter place and Broken Bay; and I have visited the Port of Newcastle. I have received much information from gentlemen well acquainted with the country, especially from the officers of the several departments of Government concerned in the object of my inquiry, and I have much pleasure in acknowledging the ready assistance thus afforded me.

As my visits to the other Colonies must occupy some months, and as it will therefore be a considerable time before I can furnish a general Report, I now submit a preliminary memorandum respecting the Defences of New South Wales, in order that your Excellency's Government may be informed at once of the conclusions at which I have so far arrived.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient humble Servant,

WM. F. DRUMMOND JERVOIS.

PRELIMINARY REPORT ON DEFENCES,
 NEW SOUTH WALES.

BEFORE discussing what means of defence are required to enable the Australian Colonies to resist foreign aggression, it is necessary to consider the nature and degree of attack to which they might be subjected.

There is no probability of an expedition on any extensive scale being despatched against Australia. In the improbable event of Great Britain ceasing to hold the command of the seas, such an expedition might perhaps be undertaken with a view of subjugating the Colonies, finally annexing them, and instituting some form of despotic government. The very existence of the British Empire, however, depends upon her naval supremacy, and the question must obviously be considered on the assumption that that supremacy is, as it undoubtedly will be, maintained.

In the event of Great Britain being engaged in hostilities with any great maritime power, the enemy would retain the most powerful portion of his fleet in European waters, or in the Atlantic, for the protection of his country or for operations in the immediate neighbourhood of hostilities. If he sent his fleet, or any considerable portion of it, on an expedition against the Australian Colonies, a sufficient part of our Home fleet would in turn be set free to intercept it, and our squadrons in the Pacific, on the China, the Australian, and Indian Stations, might, if necessary, be concentrated to oppose it.

But whilst the bulk of the enemy's naval forces would be occupied in the immediate scene of action in Europe or America, he might no doubt despatch one or more cruisers to operate against our maritime commerce, or make a descent upon any of our colonial possessions; and the Australian Colonies, owing to their wealth and prosperity, would, if undefended at certain points, be tempting objects of attack.

A squadron intended for such an operation might consist of some three or four vessels, one or two of which would probably be armoured, and might issue from the Russian ports of Vladivostok or Petropaulovski, from the French port of Saigon, from San Francisco, or from some other quarter. Eluding our cruisers, and appearing suddenly before Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, or in Moreton Bay, it might capture the merchant vessels lying in the harbours; intercept any of the numerous vessels conveying valuable shipments of gold; or under threat of bombardment, or after actually firing into one of the large towns, demand and obtain a payment of many millions of money.

Or this object might possibly be attained by an enemy landing a small force in the vicinity of one of the places named, if the configuration of the country were favourable to such a plan, and if steps were not taken to prevent it.

Description of seaboard.

It is obvious that an attack upon New South Wales can only be made at some point along the seaboard, which forms the eastern boundary of the Colony. This seaboard extends for a distance of about 600 nautical miles, and is open to the Pacific Ocean.

The general character of the coast may be described as consisting of cliffs of varying heights—many of them inaccessible—bold headlands, and undulating hills, interspersed with low-lying country and sandy beaches. There are no islands of any importance along the seaboard, and the navigation of the coast is easy; it is, moreover, well lighted.

The prevailing winds are north-easterly in summer and westerly in winter, when the water is comparatively smooth; heavy gales of wind occasionally blow from other quarters. Owing to the coast being exposed to the Pacific Ocean, there is generally a heavy swell which breaks upon the shores, and renders landing in boats very difficult. In fact it may be stated in general terms that, except on very rare occasions, no landing could be effected.

There are numerous harbours on the coast, several of them capable of accommodating vessels of the largest size, and many smaller ports obstructed by bars at their entrances, also a few open roadsteads and bays.

Port Jackson, about 4 miles from the entrance to which Sydney is situated, is the principal harbour of the Colony. It consists of the main harbour with an area of about 9 square miles, and of the Middle Harbour with an area of about 3 square miles. Vessels drawing 27 feet of water can enter the port at all times, the navigation being easy; the eastern channel is moreover being deepened to a depth of 30 feet at low water.

To the north of Port Jackson, at distances of about 20, 70, and 110 miles respectively, are the harbours of Broken Bay, Newcastle, and Port Stephens. Newcastle harbour is only capable of receiving a vessel drawing 21 feet of water, whilst the others possess a very large water area, with great depth.

Besides these harbours, there are open roadsteads or bays to the north of Port Jackson, at Cape Byron, Trial Bay, and Cape Hawke. These are capable of giving shelter to vessels of large size, but not during easterly winds.

To the south of Port Jackson are Botany Bay, close to Sydney; Jervis Bay, distant 95 miles; Twofold Bay, 235 miles from the capital. These harbours will all admit vessels of large size, although it is to be observed that Botany Bay is not a safe anchorage during easterly gales.

The minor harbours, the entrances to which are all more or less obstructed by bars, which reduce the depth of water to from 7 to 15 feet, and in some cases to below 7 feet, are as follows:—

To the North, the harbours at the mouths of the Manning, Macleay, Clarence, and Richmond Rivers; also Port Macquarie at the mouth of the river Hastings. To the South are the small ports of Hacking, Wollongong, Kiama, Ulladulla, and Bateman's Bay. Some of these form outlets for rivers, but they are all as yet of little importance.

As a general rule the small towns of the Colony are situated at varying distances up the numerous rivers; there are in fact no settlements of any importance close to the sea, and no ports where food supplies could be obtained in large quantities, excepting Sydney, the capital, and Newcastle, the flourishing port of the great coal district of New South Wales, where there is now a population of about 7,500. It follows then that these are the only places likely to be attacked, and consequently the only places for which special local defences need be provided. An enemy would probably first endeavour to obtain possession of Newcastle, where the harbour and large supplies of coal would afford him a good coaling station.

He might no doubt occupy any of the large ports on the coast with a view to ulterior operations, or he might obtain small supplies of coal from colliers frequenting the minor harbours of Wollongong and Kiama to the southward of Port Jackson. The absence, however, of any considerable settlements at any of these ports renders it unnecessary to provide fixed or local defences for their protection. At the same time, it would be desirable, as far as practicable, to prevent an enemy occupying any of the harbours from whence he might issue to attack and capture passing vessels, but this can only be accomplished by naval means—a point to which I will hereafter refer.

I will proceed now to consider the defence of Port Jackson and the city of Sydney. This should be discussed,— and Sydney.

Defence of Port Jackson

1st. With respect to an enemy's endeavouring to enter the harbour with a view of placing his squadron immediately in front of the city.

2nd.

2nd. In reference to a force attempting to land at Botany Bay, or at one of the inlets from Broken Bay, or at any point on the coast within such limits as would admit of his marching into the town and retiring as soon as he had attained his object.

3rd. As regards the possibility of hostile vessels taking up a position outside the entrance to the harbour and bombarding the city from thence.

Various projects have at different times been proposed to meet the first-mentioned kind of attack, either by keeping an enemy out of the harbour, or by batteries to bring artillery fire to bear upon him if he had entered it.

First plan adopted.

The first plan that was actually carried into effect was on the latter principle, and consisted of works placed immediately in front of the town, viz., Forts Denison and Macquarie, Kirribilli, Dawes' Point, and Macquarie Batteries. These mounted altogether 67 pieces of ordnance of the old smooth-bore description, as follows:—

	In. 10	In. 8	Pr. 42	Pr. 32	Pr. 24	Pr. 12	Total.
Fort Denison	2	1	...	12	...	1	16
Fort Macquarie	5	...	11	...	16
Macquarie Battery	2	8	10
Kirribilli Battery	5	5
Dawes' Point Battery	5	15	20
	4	6	10	35	11	1	67

Since the introduction of rifled ordnance, by which the range, accuracy, and power of artillery have been increased in a degree which the projector of these works could not have foreseen, it became evident that, whether with regard to their position or their armament, they would not suffice to protect Sydney from the fire of hostile vessels of war.

Subsequent recommendations of local Commission.

Accordingly, about six years ago, a Commission, appointed by the Government of New South Wales, made the following recommendations:—

1. That batteries should be constructed to bear on the entrance to the harbour, on Middle Head, George's Head, Inner South Head, and Shark Point.
2. That a boom and a series of torpedoes should be provided, to be placed at a time of expected attack across the channel and under the fire of the batteries.
3. That two casemated batteries should also be constructed, one on either shore, and each for three guns, to protect the boom against boat attacks.

4. That two small steam gun-boats, each mounting one heavy gun, should be provided.
5. That twenty heavy guns of the best description should be imported.

The Commission also recommended that there should be an inner line of defence, consisting of new batteries at Bradley's Head, Garden Island, and Goat Island, together with the old works (the number of guns in which was to be considerably reduced) at Fort Denison, Fort Macquarie, Macquarie and Dawes' Point Batteries. In connection with this inner line of defence, they further proposed that a series of torpedoes should be placed between Bradley's Head and Point Piper.

In recommending that new batteries should be constructed, and old ones maintained, as inner defences, to meet the case of an enemy having succeeded in passing the outer line, the Commission was most probably influenced by doubts as to the sufficiency of the proposed obstructions to keep an enemy's ships under the fire of the batteries at the mouth of the harbour.

Probably influenced by doubts as to efficacy of obstructions.

The War Office Fortification Committee, when considering the question of the defence of Port Jackson, about ten years ago, were, I am aware, greatly influenced by representations as to the uncertainty of the action of torpedoes, and favoured the construction of inner defences, in preference to a plan for preventing an enemy's vessels entering the harbour.

Since that time, however, much additional experience has been gained in the application of torpedoes to the defence of channels. In such situations as that at the entrance to Port Jackson, submarine cables and charges of gun-cotton, with their necessary appurtenances, can be laid permanently on the actual spots where they are required for defence, and arrangements can be made for firing the mines with as much facility as great guns can be discharged. There need, therefore, now be no fear that torpedoes will not be in their places when required, and will not be effective should an attempt be made to force the entrance to the harbour. The submarine wires will be better kept under water than in store on land, and gun-cotton can now, through a detonating medium, be fired when wet, so that in the event of any of the charges becoming damp, owing to their being placed at the bottom of the sea, they will be as capable of action as if they had been kept dry on land.

Additional experience gained as to efficacy of torpedoes.

Considering the great improvements that have been made in the application of torpedoes to harbour defence, there can be no doubt that, supposing an efficient system of submarine mines to have been provided, the boom would be an unnecessary expense. At the same time, in the event of war occurring before the torpedo stores are supplied, it will be desirable to place a boom as an obstruction between the batteries, in the position recommended by the Defence Commission. The timber, chains, wire, and other materials can be readily procured in Sydney.

Batteries of artillery
essential.

But notwithstanding the increased efficiency of torpedoes, batteries of artillery are still essential to bear on attacking ships, under whose fire the submarine mines might otherwise be removed.

Outer defences will suffice.

Taking all points into consideration, I am of opinion that, with well-constructed, well-armed, and properly manned batteries of a few heavy guns at Middle Head, George's Head, and South Head, acting in conjunction with torpedoes laid across the entrance to the harbour, there is no necessity for inner defences. Nay further, I believe that it is more likely that the defence will be thorough and efficient, if the attention of officers and all concerned be concentrated on the keeping of an enemy out of the harbour, than if confidence in their ability to do so be lessened, by previous admission,—implied by the provision of inner defences for the purpose of fighting him after he had entered,—that full reliance cannot be placed on the outer system of defence. The defences at the outer line can be made really effective for shutting the gate of the harbour, and there is now no sufficient reason for incurring the great additional expense,—in works, armaments, stores, and artillerymen,—that would be caused by providing the inner batteries which have been proposed.

As regards the possibility of an enemy passing at night,—a point which is sometimes advanced;—the channel and the approaches to it may be so illuminated by the magneto-electric light, one of which has already been provided, as to prevent any vessel attempting to remove the obstructions between the batteries without being seen therefrom. It has been also suggested that an enemy might pass unseen in thick weather, but, not to mention the difficulty of passing at any time if he could not see his way, there is not the least probability that he would attempt to do so, when, in addition to the entrance being obscured by a fog, he would run the great risk of being blown up by torpedoes.

Batteries already provided for
harbour.

Passing on to an examination of the batteries which have already been provided for the defence of the entrance to the harbour, I desire first to bear testimony to the ingenuity which has been displayed in the design and the good work which has been performed in the construction of the several works, which, without any technical professional aid, have been carried out under the officers of the local Government. Considerable modifications and some additions must, however, be introduced to render the works thoroughly effective.

As regards the distribution of the guns, the three 10-inch of 18 tons on South Head, and the one 10-inch at Middle Head, all bear both on the approach to the harbour and on the entrance channel, and are well placed. The batteries, however, on two of the three principal sites from which the entrance to the harbour is commanded, viz., Middle Head and George's Head,—with the exception of the one 18-ton gun at Middle Head,—consist only of 80-pr. and 68-pr. guns; whereas new works are being constructed for powerful rifled guns in much less effective positions, on heights between George's Head and Middle Head, Head, at levels of 226 and 266 feet above the sea, whence it would be difficult to hit a ship, and where, whilst the range of fire against an enemy's vessels would be much increased in distance, its lateral extent would be reduced to about 30°. This arrangement of guns has, I understand, arisen from the fact that the batteries first constructed were placed—as they naturally would be—at the most important points; and, having been armed with such guns as were then available, it was not thought advisable subsequently to alter these works for the reception of the powerful rifled guns which were afterwards supplied. I will state presently the distribution of guns which I propose.

The general principle which has been adopted in regard to the position and design of the batteries has been to place the guns on commanding hills, en barbette, on levels varying from 78 feet to 266 feet above the sea level. The works are all cut out of the sandstone, and each gun is placed in a circular pit, whatever may be the lateral range to which the piece is capable of being trained. In batteries of several pieces the guns are placed from 50 to 100 feet apart, and are so arranged that if the wide lateral range provided for them were utilized, they would fire into one another. In these batteries, the guns and gunners manning them are seen from seaward on the sky line, and are very prominent marks for an enemy's fire. No traverses are provided; consequently shells fired from the front, and bursting over one gun, would probably silence not only that piece, but also the gun on either side of it. Some guns, moreover, are arranged in a line, the prolongation of which can be taken up by an enemy's ship at distant range, and a few well-directed shells from a vessel in such situation would prevent the gunners standing to their guns, and would probably silence the whole battery. The only communications within the works are by means of narrow zig-zag passages, which have been cut between the circular pits, and lead to the magazine and the shell-room, which have been provided in rear of each battery. These passages are so planned as to render the service of the guns very difficult, and no means are provided for the ready supply of ammunition,—a point of especial importance with the large rifled ordnance of the present day, and essentially necessary to enable artillerymen to work the guns with facility and effect.

In order that effective artillery fire may be brought to bear on the entrance to Port Jackson, it is essential that the several defects to which I have referred should be remedied. At the same time, I wish it to be understood that I am by no means condemning the principle of placing guns on heights en barbette. On the contrary, that principle is very applicable in the case now under consideration. It ought not, however, to be adopted to the exclusion of other considerations necessary to be borne in mind in devising a system of harbour defence. Some guns, if placed on heights at considerable distances apart, may be allowed to take the chances of being exposed, if an all-round fire from them is really desirable and can actually be obtained; but these, even with the best arrangements for protecting and serving them, are more especially liable to be silenced, and must not be wholly relied on. Other guns—especially when a battery consists of several pieces, the lateral range of which must necessarily be more or less limited,—should be protected by traverses, the guns being with this object placed at wide intervals. A few should be protected against both direct and high-angle fire, by being placed in well-constructed casemates; and in all cases, arrangements should be made for the free circulation of the garrison of the battery, and for the effective working of the guns.

Proposed distribution of guns.

With respect to the distribution of the guns generally, I am of opinion that the following would be the best arrangement:—Of the six 10-inch guns of 18 tons now mounted, the three on the South Head should be retained in their present positions; the other three, including the one already mounted, should be placed at Middle Head, whence the distance to South Head is less than at any other part of the channel. Three powerful rifled guns should also be placed in casemates at the point of George's Head, and one should be mounted so as to fire at close range upon Middle Harbour, where otherwise an armoured ship might succeed in taking up a position. Four additional 10-inch pieces will thus be required. The six 9-inch 12-ton guns which have been provided will be required, as I will hereafter show, for Newcastle and Botany Bay.

The 10-inch and 9-inch guns will be capable, at considerable ranges, of piercing any armoured ship likely to appear in Australian waters. It will however be unnecessary to incur the expense of firing these powerful guns against attacking vessels that are not armoured. There should therefore be in each battery some pieces, such as the 80-pr. rifled guns, a number of which are already mounted. From these, long range and accurate fire can be obtained; they can be worked with greater facility than the larger ordnance, and, whilst they are capable of damaging many armoured vessels, they would be very effective against unarmoured ships.

I recommend that two be placed at South Head in lieu of the two 9-inch guns of 12 tons, which will be required elsewhere; that four be retained in the battery at South Head facing the harbour, omitting one of the five now mounted there; four at the outer Middle Head (viz., two directed towards the main harbour, and two towards the Sound); four, as at present, at the inner Middle Head; three at George's Head, in lieu of the six guns now there; and the three at Shark Point may be retained.

The six 68-prs. now at Middle Head and the two at George's Head should be removed. Four of these should be placed in the works in course of construction on the high ground between those two points; two on the left of the 10-inch gun commanding Middle Harbour, and bearing on Hunter's Bay and towards the Spit; the remaining two may be mounted for drill purposes at Bradley's Head, in lieu of the 80-prs. now there. The three smooth-bore 10-inch guns in casemates already provided to flank the obstructions may be retained.

A tabular statement is annexed, showing the present and proposed distribution of guns for the defence of the entrance to Port Jackson :—

* Casemated with Iron Shields.

With respect to the works,—as before stated, considerable alterations are actually necessary to render the batteries effective. Traverses should be constructed, where practicable, between the guns; spaces opened out to afford the means of free movement for the gun detachments; cover provided under which gunners may take shelter from shells; and arrangements made for the ready supply of ammunition, and to facilitate the service of the guns. Proposed works.

Plans will be prepared showing the modifications proposed in the existing batteries. As regards new batteries, the three 10-inch guns at Middle Head should be placed at intervals of about 120 feet, with large traverses between them; the left gun should be kept in its present position; the centre one should be placed on a somewhat lower level towards the harbour than the present 68-prs.; and the right of the three should be in the position now occupied by one of the 68-prs. which, as before stated, should be removed. The casemated battery at the point at George's Head should be cut out of the rock, the guns being placed at intervals of about 100 feet from centre to centre, with powder and shell magazines between. The casemates should be open to the rear, and provided with iron shields at the embrasures, constructed so as to afford a lateral range of about 70°. The iron shields should be formed of two plates, each 6 inches thick, with an interval between them of 6 inches, filled in with wood.

Permanent barracks should be provided in connection with the batteries, at Middle Head and South Head, for the artillerymen, who will be trained by detachments in the working of the guns, and whose Barracks and defensible enclosures.
duty

duty it will be to look after the works and armaments. These barracks may form part of the defensive arrangement for protecting the batteries against possible assault by bodies of men who might in the course of an action succeed in landing at any bay in their vicinity.

The barrack at Middle Head should be built in connection with a wall and ditch, cutting off the plateau on the eastern side of a line from Cobbler's Beach to the cliff on the harbour shore. With a little scarping of rock on the northern and southern sides, the space within this line would thus be formed into a defensible enclosure, within which will be three batteries, one bearing on the approach to the harbour on its entrance, and on the Sound; another on the approach, on the Sound, and on the entrance to Middle Harbour; the third commanding Middle Harbour.

On the hill behind the battery at George's Head, where a barrack has already been constructed, should be established a small redoubt which would be in connection with the two new upper gun-pits already there. This redoubt would be formed economically by excavating the rock for the interior of the work, building a defensive wall with the material thus obtained, and forming a ditch outside, where necessary.

At South Head, the barrack should be constructed on the plateau below and to the westward of the two upper 10-inch guns, and could be arranged so as, in combination with escarpments and walls enclosing the space occupied by those guns and the harbour battery, to form a defensive enclosure from which the other guns on the South Head would also be protected from assault.

The Barrack Accommodation at the works, including that already built at George's Head, should be for one Battery of Permanent Artillery employed on detachment. The Barrack at South Head should be for about 30 men; that at Middle Head for about 50 men, with Officers' and Non-commissioned Officers' quarters, and other necessary accessories. In war time double the number might be placed in the barracks, and any further accommodation required for the garrisons for the defence of the works may be of a temporary character and provided when requisite.

Arrangement for torpedoes.

The torpedoes should be laid between Obelisk Point, on the one side, and the point between Camp Cove and Lady Bay, on the other, forming a re-entering angle at the Sow and Pigs shoal. Two lines of electro-contact mines, (which explode on being struck by a ship), should be placed in front, and behind them four lines of ground mines to be fired by observation, i.e., by observers placed in electric communication with each other, one on either shore. The observing stations will be at Green Point, and at the existing casemated battery near George's Head. Thus an enemy's ship would first have to pass the electro-contact mines, then the mines fired by observation, he being all the time exposed to the converging fire of the batteries on Middle Head, South Head, and George's Head.

The

The torpedo stores for the defence of Port Jackson should at once be ordered from England. I append a statement of the stores thus required, and an estimate of their cost. (See Statement C.) I have included in the estimate one line of electro-contact mines across the entrance to North Harbour, where there is a small space in which an enemy's ship might find cover from the fire of the batteries.

It is essential for the efficient working of the torpedoes, that the whole of the arrangements connected with them, the preparations for them, the laying of them, the periodical testing of the mines, and the firing of them, should be under the direction of one officer. The gentleman at the head of the Telegraph Department of the Colony is, if only from the nature of his functions, the officer most thoroughly qualified for these duties, and I recommend that the torpedo company now forming part of the Naval Brigade, and about 50 strong, should be placed exclusively under him. This company, in conjunction with about 50 employes from the staff of the Telegraph Department, would form a torpedo and signalling corps, 100 strong, which would have charge of the submarine defences and of the signalling arrangements between the several batteries. The corps should be under the orders of the Commandant of the local forces.

An enemy, finding himself unable to enter Port Jackson by sea, would no doubt consider whether he could not attack Sydney by landing at one of the adjacent bays, and marching into the city from thence. The operation would no doubt be difficult, but ought not to be disregarded. The amount of force which an enemy might attempt to land would be dependent upon the number of men which he could spare for the purpose from his squadron, and this might consist of about 1,200 men.*

The point to which he would first direct his attention with a view of out-flanking the defences of Port Jackson would be Botany Bay, the northern shore of which is only about 3 or 4 miles from the outskirts of Sydney, there being also good roads from it to the town. There is moreover good anchorage in the bay, though exposed to easterly gales. An enemy's vessels might take up positions in the bay, from whence they could bring a cross-fire to bear on the shore, thus clearing away any troops that might be on the spot and covering the landing of his force. It is further to be observed that the waterworks, on which at present Sydney is mainly dependent for its supply of water, are situated on the northern shore of Botany Bay.

There can be no doubt that Botany Bay should be specially defended with a view of preventing its occupation by an enemy, and the surest and most economical mode of effecting this will be by a small work with its guns well-protected, commanding the entrance to the harbour and the whole anchorage, and constructed so as not to be liable to be taken by assault. Bear Island is very well adapted as the site for a battery to fulfil these conditions. The work should be designed for five guns, three of which should be 9-inch M. L. R. pieces; pieces; the remaining two should be 110-pr. breech-loaders, which are already in store in Sydney. A small barrack should be provided, which, in conjunction with the accommodation in bomb-proofs, will accommodate the garrison,—to consist of 80 men, 30 of whom will be permanent artillerymen, and 50 from the Militia Artillery. The defence of Botany Bay will be further secured by a line of electro-contact torpedoes, placed across the harbour, under fire of the guns.

* The flying squadron, consisting of four large frigates, recently at Singapore, could only land 1,000 men for service on shore.

Broken Bay.

Supposing Botany Bay to be closed against him, an enemy might attempt Broken Bay, about 18 miles to the northward of Port Jackson, and at the mouth of the Hawkesbury River. Here there is extensive anchorage for ships of any size, and by means of inlets on the southern shore of the bay, called Pitt Water and Cowan Creek, vessels can approach within about 15 miles of Sydney.

Apprehensions have been expressed that an enemy might land a force at the head of one of these inlets, and march upon the city. The approaches to Sydney from these quarters are, however, very different from those leading from Botany Bay. The country between Botany and the town is open, and, as before stated, there are good roads; whereas between Sydney and Broken Bay the country is difficult, and covered with bush, the roads are bad and in some places almost impracticable.

The best line of communication in this quarter runs in a southerly direction from the head of Pitt Water, from where there is a partially-formed road near the coast leading to Sydney across Middle Harbour, by the Spit Ferry; there is also a track from the head of Pitt Water, running in a S.W. direction, from which there is a branch running S.E., also leading to the Spit Ferry; the S.W. track, which is joined by a track from Cowan Creek, ultimately unites with the main road to St. Leonards, opposite Sydney. There is further, a track from Peat's Ferry, a few miles up the Hawkesbury, running southward to a point where the main road diverges to St. Leonards and to Parramatta.

These roads can all easily be made impassable to an enemy, both at the landings and at other places, and there are three converging points at which, in order to meet the improbable case of his making an attempt against Sydney from Broken Bay, and succeeding in pushing his way along any of these tracks, special preparation should be made to oppose him, viz., at the Spit Ferry, at the junction of the tracks from Pitt Water and Cowan Creek, and at the junction of the road from Peat's Ferry to St. Leonards and Parramatta. At these points earthworks might be thrown up at the time, trees cut down, interlaced with wires, and other obstacles formed, thus providing strong entrenchments behind which the field force for the defence of Sydney would be in a position to repel any possible attack from the northward.

The difficulties of an attack from this quarter, both as regards the distances to be marched and the obstacles to be overcome, are so great, that it does not appear at all probable that it would be attempted, and I consider it unnecessary to recommend the construction of batteries for for the defence of Broken Bay. Any works that would protect this spacious anchorage must be extensive, and would require a considerable garrison, all costing a large sum, the outlay of which would be altogether incommensurate with the remote contingency against which they would be intended to provide.

There does not appear to be any probability of a hostile force landing to attack Sydney on any part of the coast between Botany Bay and Broken Bay; and beyond these, either to the northward or the southward,—considering the distances to be traversed and the difficulties to be overcome, whether as regards the landing, the nature of the country, or the communications,—there is not even a remote chance of any such attempt being made. There are many bays on the coast in the neighbourhood of Sydney; they are, however, for the most part exposed to the rolling swell of the Pacific. Except during westerly winds, on the duration of which no calculation can be based, these bays are almost without exception impracticable for the landing of troops. As regards a landing between Port Jackson and Broken Bay, an enemy would only be in a similar position to that which he would occupy if he attempted to advance from Pitt Water,—a point which has been already discussed. The only point between Port Jackson and Botany Bay at which there is a comparative facility for landing is Long Bay, which is protected from all but south-easterly winds.

An attempt to land at any of the bays adjacent to Sydney, where, in exceptional cases, landing may be practicable, or an attack from the direction of Broken Bay, must be provided against by a field force, acting from positions affording the readiest access to the points to be defended.

I have yet to consider the third mode of attack upon Sydney to which I have before adverted, viz., the probability of hostile vessels throwing shells into the place from outside the entrance to the harbour. This is no doubt practicable; rifled guns can attain a range of upwards of five miles, and it will be observed that ships may lie well within such distance off the coast near Nelson Bay and thereabouts, untouched by any of the proposed defences. I do not consider it would be desirable to construct land batteries, with a view of preventing such a mode of attack. They would lead to considerable additional expenditure both on works and men, and after all might not be effective for their object. The ship fired at must be a comparatively small object and at a considerable distance, whilst the place she would be firing into covers several square miles, and every shell thrown into it must take effect, and create considerable consternation.

If this mode of attack were to be dealt with without reference to other considerations, probably the best plan of meeting it would be solely by spar torpedo boats or vessels constructed for projecting the Whitehead torpedo, which, issuing from Sydney Harbour, might be directed against the enemy's ships. Steps should, however, be taken for the general defence of the coast, as far as practicable, and to prevent an enemy occupying any of the harbours from whence, as already pointed out, he might issue to attack and capture passing vessels. It is sometimes urged that the defence of these harbours can be best accomplished by torpedoes, but an examination of this suggestion will show that it would be impracticable thus to effect the object. Torpedoes, such as will be provided for Port Jackson, to be effective, must be applied in conjunction with batteries; and not to mention that it would be out of the question to have a staff of electricians and a torpedo corps at each harbour, the construction of batteries at each port cannot for a moment be contemplated.

Neither could the defence of these harbours be provided for by having at each port spar torpedo boats or vessels to propel the Whitehead torpedo. If this plan were adopted, it would be necessary to organize and train a special body of men, and form a small establishment at each place for Government vessels and stores. Such arrangements would not only be very costly, but in the present circumstances of the Colony would be impracticable; and even if this mode of defence could be carried out and the occupation of the harbours thereby prevented, it would be wholly inoperative as regards the proceedings of hostile cruisers, except in the immediate vicinity of the harbours.

Will be best provided for by an ironclad.

Weighing all circumstances, the most effective and most economical means of providing for the defence of the harbours along the coast, for the protection of local commerce, and to prevent Sydney being shelled by ships lying outside the harbour defences, will be to provide an ironclad vessel which will be superior to any enemy's ship likely to come into Australian waters. It is to be observed that though an Imperial Naval Squadron is charged generally with the protection of British interests in these seas, it obviously cannot be tied down to the defence of any particular section of the coast.

Defence of Newcastle.

As however I have previously stated, special local protection must be provided for Newcastle. Here a fort should be constructed on Signal Hill at a height of about 105 feet above the sea-level, for three 9-inch and four 80-prs. M.L.R. guns. The 9-inch guns will bear to seaward and on the approach to the port, whilst the two on the left will also command the entrance to the harbour. These guns should be placed en barbette with large traverses between them. The four 80 prs. will command the harbour throughout from its entrance; and in order that they may be secure both against direct and high angle fire, they should be placed in casemates cut out of the hill. These casemates should be planned with two faces, arranged so that all the guns will fire across the harbour, whilst the two on the right will, at their extreme lateral range, bear on the entrance, and the two on the left will similarly bear up the harbour.

The site of Signal Hill, besides being exceedingly well placed for the defence of Newcastle Harbour, has a steep cliff on all sides but one, and can easily be made inaccessible by a little scarping, and by cutting a ditch on its land-side. On this side should be placed a small casemated barrack; and the whole will be formed into a work secure against assault, with the necessary accessories of magazines, shell-shell-rooms, and other accommodation. Bombproofs will be provided in the work, capable, in conjunction with the barrack, of accommodating the whole garrison, which, in time of war, should consist of 80 men, 30 of whom would be regular artillerymen, and 50 from the Naval Brigade. The conditions of the case render it unnecessary that a field force should be provided for the defence of Newcastle.

It is proposed to place electro-contact torpedoes across the entrance to the harbour, under the fire of the guns of the fort.

Having thus discussed the various modes of attack, and the character of the defences which should be provided, I will now advert to the number and description of troops necessary in connection with the proposed system of defence. The forces at present at the command of the Colony are as follows:—

	Officers and Non-commissioned Officers.	Men.	Total.
General Staff	37	...	37
Permanent Artillery (3 Batteries)	75	240	315
Volunteer Artillery	101	340	441
Volunteer Engineers	10	55	65
Volunteer Infantry	385	1,295	1,680
Naval Brigade... ..	51	271	322
Total	609	2,701	2,810

This force is in some respects defective in its organization, and somewhat larger than is necessary. I would recommend the following modifications. It is first essential to provide for manning the batteries intended to resist naval attack. In estimating the numbers requisite for this object, it should be observed that it is unnecessary to provide for working the whole of the guns in the batteries at one time. The number of gunners required for the pieces, which would be in action simultaneously at the entrance to Port Jackson, will be about 240. About 60 regular gunners will also be required for the works at Botany Bay and Newcastle. I propose therefore that the number of gunners in the Permanent Artillery Force be increased from 240 to 300, or 100 per battery. To assist the Permanent Artillery in time of war, there should be a body of Garrison Militia Artillery 200 strong.

As already stated, the torpedo corps should be under the command of the Superintendent of Telegraphs, and should consist of about 100 officers and men, 50 of whom should be employés in the Telegraph Department, and the remainder taken from the Naval Brigade.

To oppose an attempt at landing in the neighbourhood of Sydney, or an attack from the direction of Broken Bay, as well as for the support and and protection of the sea batteries, there should be a field force as follows:—Two battalions of Militia Infantry, each of 500 rank and file (which could be increased to 800 in time of war); two batteries of Militia Field Artillery of four guns each, and a company of Engineers.* Doubtless, with the military spirit which is exhibited in the Colony, a much larger force could be obtained, if desired; but so far as concerns foreign aggression, the strength of the field force need not exceed what I have stated.

I do not at present propose to discuss in detail the organization of the militia force. I will only now remark, that it is essential to its efficiency that powers should be obtained for retaining men for a fixed period of service,—for continuous training during a certain number of days in the year, besides a certain number of drills at detached periods,—for their permanent embodiment during war,—for the strict enforcement of discipline,—and for the appointment of officers, only after passing a proper examination. The proposals of the Commandant, Colonel Richardson, which have been laid before the Parliament of New South Wales, in a memo. dated 21st April, 1875, and submitted to the Government in a memo. dated December 16th, 1876, so far as they relate to the requirements to which I have referred, appear deserving of the consideration of the Government in preparing any measure which they may bring forward for creating an efficient field force.

The precise mode in which the local forces should be controlled by the Executive Government is rather a constitutional than a military question, and it is perhaps undesirable that I should offer an authoritative opinion upon it, beyond remarking that it is indispensable that all questions relating to the maintenance of military discipline should be kept entirely clear of party or political influence.

required.

With respect to the nature of ironclad adapted to the requirements of New South Wales, I recommend that a vessel should be provided of the same class as one which, about a year ago, was constructed in England by the Thames Iron-ship building Company for the Portuguese Government. This is a three-masted (the fore-mast square-rigged) seagoing vessel built to aid in the defence of the Tagus and Lisbon, and capable of cruising to the Azores and the other Portuguese Colonies. The conditions which she was designed to fulfil are just those which, it appears to me, are required for this Colony.

The displacement tonnage of this vessel is about 2,500 tons; her length about 220 feet; her breadth 40 feet; her depth 25 feet. She is not a turret ship, but has a fixed battery, protected by armour 10 inches thick, which projects beyond the sides, and is so arranged that the guns—two in number, i.e. one on either side—can fire fore and aft as well as broadside. Each of these guns is about 18 tons in weight. There is also a gun at the stern of about 6 or 7 tons weight, and from these three guns an all-round fire can be obtained. The vessel also carries four small pieces of artillery for purposes for which the heavy

* About 100 of the mounted police could be made available as cavalry scouts.

heavy and more powerful ordnance are not required. She is further constructed as a ram, the bow being specially strengthened for this object, and the armour-belt, which is 9 inches thick, is carried down to the extreme point of the ram, about 8 feet below the water-line. She has a raised forecastle, designed for protection against heavy seas, and she has a poop covering the stern gun. Her draught is about 19 feet, and about 17 feet forward. She is constructed with numerous water-tight compartments. The nominal horse-power of the engines is 450, and the speed of the vessel on her trial trip was at the rate of about 13 knots an hour. The vessel ordered for New South Wales should, in addition to her battery and ramming power, be fitted for propelling the Whitehead torpedo.

The cost of the Portuguese ship is stated to have been £125,000. A similar vessel, delivered complete at Sydney with armament, might cost as much as £150,000. The annual expense of manning and maintaining her during peace time will not exceed £10,000.

It would be unnecessary to have a full complement of officers and men on board the vessel except during war. In peace time there should be a commander in charge, two lieutenants, two engineers, two gunners, one paymaster, twenty-five petty officers, seamen and stokers, and twenty-five boys. The additional crew during war,—except extra engineers and stokers, who would have to be specially engaged,—will be supplied by 150 men drawn from the Naval Brigade. The total establishment will then consist of about 210 officers, men, and boys. Thus, the permanent force on board the vessel will form a nucleus of thoroughly trained men, who will be reinforced in time of war from the Naval Brigade, the whole of which I recommend should be formed into a marine militia. Great attention should be paid to the instruction of the officers and men of the permanent naval force, and ample stores should be allowed them for purposes of instruction. The observations I have made respecting the organization and the mode of securing the efficiency of the auxiliary land forces equally apply to the marine militia.

To recapitulate, the following are the measures proposed, viz. :— Recapitulation.

- I. Port Jackson and Sydney to be defended against naval attack by land batteries and torpedoes at the entrance to the harbour.
- II. Sydney to be defended against attack by an enemy landing a body of men on any part of the adjacent coast by a field force, and by a work and torpedoes at Botany Bay.
- III. Newcastle to be defended by a fort and torpedoes.
- IV. An ironclad vessel to be provided for the general defence of the harbours along the coast, and for the protection of local commerce. This vessel will also defend Sydney against bombardment.

V.

V. The force to be maintained should be as follows :—

		Officers and Men.
Permanent Force :—

Estimate of cost.

The capital cost of the several proposals will be approximately as follows, viz. :—

Works and Armaments :—

Port Jackson	95,000
Botany Bay	25,000
Newcastle	25,000
	£145,000

(From Statement marked A, it will be seen that it was proposed to expend £103,000 on the completion of the works at Port Jackson only.)

Torpedo Stores (which must form part of any scheme)	30,000
Ironclad vessel	150,000
	£325,000

The annual cost of the military establishments, including that for the ironclad vessel, under the scheme now proposed, will be £89,760; the present annual expenditure for military services, as provided for in the Estimates, is £109,768 (see Statement B annexed). Thus the annual expense will be £20,000 less than it is under present arrangements, whilst at the same time a thoroughly efficient system of defence will be provided for the Colony.

STATEMENT C.

NEW SOUTH WALES DEFENCES.

LIST of Torpedo Stores required for Submarine Defences.

100	lbs.	Cotton powder.
80	miles	Wire, insulated.
5	miles	Cable.
500	fathoms	Wire rope, in 100-fathom coils.
50	Torpedo cases for 500-lb. charges.
200	Torpedo cases for 250-lb. charges.
100	Circuit-closers, Matthieson's patent.
50	Electro-contact mines, with Matthieson's patent circuit-closers for 100-lb. mines.
2	pairs	Telescope and firing observing arcs.
250	Disconnectors.
50	Jointers, Matthieson's pattern.
1	Junction boxes for 7-wire cable.
200	Junction box for single cable.
2,500	Platinum wire fuzes.
100	Chain slings for ground mines.
2	Walker's visual signalling apparatus, with gas bag complete.
1	cwt.	Best marine glue.
10	Mushroom sinkers, 2½ to 3 cwt. each.
100	lbs.	Solution of Indiarubber.
1	Drying apparatus for gun-cotton.
10	sets	Shutter apparatus.
200	Ebonite fuze pieces.
1,000	Vulcanized rubber tubing
45	tons	Gun-cotton in 6-inch slabs.

The estimated cost of these stores is £18,000. The balance of the total estimate of £30,000 for submarine defences will be required for the purchase of other stores, more readily procurable in the Colony, and for the laying and mooring of the mines.

It is assumed that the steamers, barges, and boats required for these operations will be procured from the Harbour Department.

The ordering of the stores should be entrusted to the Superintendent of Telegraphs.

DEFENCES OF THE COLONY.

(PROGRESS REPORT OF THE DEFENCE COMMISSION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 14 June, 1877.

Defence Commission Office,

11 November, 1870.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable SOMERSET RICHARD, Earl of Belmore,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales.

May it please your Excellency,—

The Commissioners appointed under your Excellency's Commissions of the 12th and 29th days of September, 1870, respectively, "to inquire into, consider, and report upon all matters touching and concerning measures necessary for the defence of the Colony of New South Wales from Foreign aggression," have the honor to submit the following Progress Report :—

1. It being one of the first conditions essential to the successful defence of any position, that full advantage be taken of such peculiarities in the natural features of the ground as may be made to contribute to its strength, your Commission felt that the first step should be to make themselves acquainted with the harbour of Port Jackson, the city and environs, and the Port of Newcastle; and with this view they have carefully and minutely inspected the former, and some of their number have visited the latter port.

2. Your Commission have also carefully studied the Reports on the defence of Sydney, and considered the various projects to that end which have been recommended from time to time by the different military and naval authorities. They have likewise had under their consideration the Reports of the Committees of the Legislature, and the evidence given before them.

3. At an early period of this investigation your Commission became impressed with the fact that, while possessing admirable positions for defence, Port Jackson, by reason of its natural excellence, is peculiarly easy of access to an enemy attacking from the sea; for, with the exception of the Sow and Pigs shoal, which offers but a trifling impediment, there is no obstacle to render the navigation either dangerous or difficult. The range of tide is trifling, there are no rapid currents, and the channel is broad, safe, and deep up to the very shores; in fact all those peculiar features which have long been recognized as constituting it a safe and commodious harbour render it by so much the more easy of access to an enemy's fleet.

4. These peculiarities in the natural features of the port appear to have been fully recognized in all the plans which have been proposed for its defence, as well as in those which have been partially carried out.

5. The various plans may, for convenience, be divided into two classes, which may be styled the outer and the inner lines of defence. The former consisted in fortifying the Heads; powerful batteries were to be constructed on Middle, George's, and Inner South Heads. The latter had in view the protection of the anchorage and the city, by batteries at Mrs. Macquarie's Chair, Forts Denison, Kirribilli, and Macquarie, and Dawes' Point.

6. The earlier plans, namely, those of Colonel Gordon, R.E., and General Sir John Burgoyne, favoured the outer line of defence; but they were designed at a time before steam power had been generally applied to ships of war; and there can be no doubt that before that period, trifling as might have been the impediment offered by the Sow and Pigs Shoal, it would have been sufficient to prevent hostile sailing-ships entering the harbour and passing the batteries at night. Daylight and a fair wind would have been required to enable a vessel to get past. But even under these circumstances, with powerful batteries commanding the passage, it was felt that no ship would make the attempt.

7. The introduction of steam, however, for a time greatly modified, if it did not wholly do away with the advantages claimed for the outer line of defence; for although sailing-vessels might not be able to run past the batteries at the heads by night, steam-vessels could; and it became necessary to provide against such a contingency by constructing the inner line of defence, which was carried out under the instructions of Sir Wm. Denison. The change was rendered necessary in order to meet the altered conditions of the times. Steam had added greatly to the powers of ships for attacking forts, and as yet those means of defence which have since been developed in booms, torpedoes, and gun-boats, had not been discovered, or had not been shown to be such formidable accessories as they have since become.

8. It appears to be now generally admitted that almost any channel may be defended by means of booms, aided by a system of torpedoes protected by gun-boats and heavy batteries on shore; and your Commission have devoted much consideration to the best means of obstructing the channel at the Sow and Pigs, so as to prevent an enemy's fleet running up the harbour at night.

9. The subject of defending channels and approaches by sea to forts and cities has been very fully investigated by the Committee on Floating Obstructions and Submarine Explosive Machines; and the results of their inquiries are set forth at considerable length in their Report to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for War in 1866. The Report states as follows:—

“ The Committee believe, as the result of their investigation, that they are not exaggerating the future importance of active obstructions, in regarding them not only as most invaluable auxiliaries to permanent coast and river defences, but also as affording the means of defending positions on a coast, or small channels on rivers which are unprovided with defensive works. But it is, on the other hand, most important that the probable value of torpedoes and their efficiency as defensive adjuncts should not be over-estimated, and that the opinion should not be for an instant entertained that permanent works of defence could be dispensed with by a defence by torpedoes. However perfect all arrangements for the application of these engines of war may be, they must always present two important inherent defects, which reduce their functions as agents of defence within much narrower limits than those of the artillery of the present day. On the one hand, the powers of destruction possessed by a torpedo are confined to a very limited area as compared with a gun in a fort. Although they are much more formidable when brought into play, they necessarily remain inert until a ship advances within the narrow sphere of their action. Again, any single torpedo can only act once, and the area of water protected by it is afterwards left defenceless; whereas guns can be reloaded and discharged frequently, and command the whole area of water within their range. It is therefore evident that torpedoes can never actually replace artillery: and that whenever they are employed, their value as defensive agents will be greatly increased if they are brought to bear as adjuncts to artillery defences."

The purposes and occasions on which torpedoes are specially applicable are mentioned in the Report as follows:—

- "1st. They may serve as auxiliary defensive agents in connection with permanent defences.
- "2nd. They may be applied, either alone or in conjunction with passive obstructions (i.e. booms), to the protection of localities the approaches to which are quite unprotected by permanent defences.
- "3rd. They may be employed as a special naval arm for the attack and defence of ships."

And the Committee go on to observe—

"There are doubtless some localities situated on the coasts or on large rivers in British Possessions, which being in the vicinity of important towns or naval and military stations, might be selected as points for attack in the event of a war, and which are unprovided with any permanent works of defence. In such instances, torpedoes employed either alone or in conjunction with obstructions of a passive character, will afford the means of closing approaches or rivers against an enemy; but it will always be indispensable to the full efficiency of any defensive arrangement by torpedoes or passive obstructions, to provide floating batteries, gunboats, or other armed vessels, not merely to serve the purpose of auxiliary agents of defence, but also to protect the submarine defences against attempts at destruction or removal. It is scarcely necessary to point out that guns in temporary works may in many instances be applied with expedition and very great advantage in the vicinity of positions defended by active and passive obstructions."

And further—

"It is, as already stated, very important that in every instance the application of torpedoes to defensive purposes, even when they are in positions commanded by the artillery of permanent defences, there should be small armed vessels stationed in the vicinity of the lines of torpedoes, to be available as guard-ships for watching the movements of an enemy by day and night, and for opposing any attempt at a search for torpedoes, or at their explosion by small vessels sent in advance of attacking ships. In any preparations of a temporary character for coast or river defences, measures should always be adopted to combine as far as possible the application of torpedoes with the employment of artillery, whether through the agency of floating batteries or other small armed vessels, or on land under the protection of temporary earthworks."

10. Your Commission so fully concur in the soundness of the views set forth in the extracts just given from the Report of the Committee, and so entirely do they seem to meet the circumstances of the present case, that they have adopted them as the basis of the recommendation which they have agreed to make for the defence of the harbour.

11. The outer line of defence proposed is as follows:—

- (1) Batteries on Middle Head, George's Head, Inner South Head, and Shark Point.
- (2) A boom of the form recommended by the Committee on Passive Obstructions, laid in curves convex to seaward, in order to obtain the greatest amount of elasticity, from the Sow and Pigs Rock to George's Head on the one side, and from the Sow and Pigs Rock to the head between Lady Bay and Camp Cove on the other side; the shore ends of the booms to be flanked by guns in casemate batteries.
- (3) Series of lines of torpedoes, laid in the channels on each side of the Sow and Pigs Shoal, and in other positions.
- (4) Two small steam gunboats, each mounting one heavy gun.

12. Having thus indicated the general character of the line of defences which they recommend, your Commission now proceed to describe, for your Excellency's consideration, the details of each part of the system.

1.—Sunken batteries, with armament en barbette, as follows :—

	110-pr.	68-pr.	10-in.	8-in.	32-pr.
Middle Head	7
George's Head.....	...	3	2
Inner South Head (No. 1)	2
Do. (No. 2)	...	2	...	2	...

2.—Boom.

The subject of the best form of boom has been so exhaustively examined and discussed in the Report of the Committee on Passive Obstructions, presented to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for War, 1866, that your Commission have found but little difficulty in arriving at a conclusion in reference thereto; and they now beg to recommend the adoption of a single boom, similar in construction to that designed by the Imperial Committee. The Imperial Committee, in their Report, recommend a double boom; but after mature consideration, your Commission are of opinion that, having regard to the class of ships likely to be brought to the attack of this port, a single boom, supplemented by such outlying obstructions as are suggested in the Imperial Committee's before-named Report, and which may be cheaply and readily improvised, and further defended by torpedoes, &c., will be found to be sufficient.

As even a single boom will be a costly affair, involving an expenditure of £16,500, your Commission are of opinion that the accessories, in the form of expensive mooring floats, may be dispensed with. The main structure of the boom should be moored in convenient lengths of 200 yards, with large stones instead of trailing cables, as was proposed for the English boom.

It was at first supposed that a cheaper description of boom would suffice; but after considerable discussion, it was not thought advisable to depart from the plan recommended by the English Committee; the responsibility of doing so in order to effect a saving that would not exceed £3,000 was more than your Commission felt justified in assuming.

For the protection of the boom against boat attacks, your Commission advise that six 32-pounders be placed in casemates, three on each side, and near the shore ends. They also recommend the magneto-electric or limè light to illuminate the water area in the vicinity of the boom.

As there may be a difficulty in obtaining the materials for the boom at short notice, your Commission would further recommend that 72 tons of No. 6 or 8 wire, 1,020 loads of Oregon, Kauri, cedar, or other light wood, be at once purchased and retained in store.

3.—Torpedoes.

The subject of torpedoes has also been very carefully considered; and your Commission have decided on recommending that the water area immediately in front of the boom should be protected by two series of electric torpedoes, each series containing forty-six groups, a group to consist of four torpedoes, each torpedo to be charged with 250 lbs. of gun-cotton, or 1,000 lbs. of gunpowder. Taking into consideration the difficulty of obtaining the requisite number of circuit-closers and quantity

quantity of insulated wire for an extensive self-acting system of torpedo defence, they recommend that these torpedoes should be fired in groups at will by operators placed on each shore, outside and adjacent to the ends of the boom. These firing stations to be in electric communication with an observing station near the Bottle and Glass Rocks.

Your Commissioner further recommend that the same principle be adopted for the defence of the water area between Bradley's Head and Point Piper, making use of one series of groups of torpedoes, the operating stations to be fixed at these points, and the observing station at Clarke Island. As many self-acting electric torpedoes connected with voltaic batteries and circuit-closers as the means available at the time may admit, should be placed at the entrances of Middle and North Harbours, between Inner South Head and Outer North Head, and between Clarke Island and Darling Point.

The total cost of a torpedo defence as recommended above may be estimated at £20,000, with gun-cotton as the explosive material. In the event of gunpowder having to be used, an additional expense of £16,000 would have to be incurred, owing to the increased bulk of the charges, and the size and strength of the torpedo cases necessary.

With a view to a preparation for torpedo defence, your Commission think it necessary to have always in store—

200 torpedo cases
30 tons gun-cotton
50 miles of wire.

The resources of the Colony would probably meet any further contingency in this respect.

4.—Gunboats.

Your Commission have devoted much consideration to the most suitable kind of gunboat for the defence of the harbour, two designs for which have been brought under their notice:—

The first is that of the gunboat "Staunch," constructed after the design of Mr. George Rendel, for the Admiralty, and carrying one 12-ton rifled gun, capable of throwing a shot of 285 lbs. The estimated cost of this vessel delivered in Sydney is £8,000.

The second is a design for a vessel very similar to the latest description of gunboat built for the French Service. She would be capable of carrying a 12-ton gun, but would not be, like the "Staunch," a sea-going boat; she would be much smaller, and would only cost about £2,000; she would have a double set of engines of 16-horse power nominal, placed beneath the water-line, with a speed of not less than $7\frac{1}{2}$ knots.

Two vessels of the latter class would, in the opinion of your Commission, be quite sufficient for local purposes.

13. With a view of supporting and providing reliefs to the batteries, and to obviate the possibility of their being successfully attacked in flank or rear by an enemy landing in force, your Commission recommend in time of war the formation of entrenched camps in the vicinity of Middle Head and South Head, to be occupied by artillery, infantry, the batteries of position, and field batteries, in such positions and distribution as the military authorities may at the time deem most advisable.

14. As an auxiliary to the defence of Middle and North Harbours, and in the absence of adequate matériel for more extended fortifications, your Commission strongly recommend the construction of six 13-inch and six 10-inch mortars, on travelling beds (which can be readily manufactured in the Colony, at a cost not exceeding £2,000). They can also be largely utilized in other positions, for the defence of the seaboard, harbour, and city.

15. Your Commission would further recommend an inner line of defence, the details of which are as follows:—

New Batteries—

	68-prs.	10-inch.	32-prs.
Bradley's Head.....	1	2	...
Garden Island	1	4	...
Goat Island	6
Fort Phillip	(3 13-in. mortars.)

Old Batteries—

	10-inch.	8-inch.	42	32.
Fort Denison.....	...	1	...	3
Mrs. Macquarie.....	2	4
Fort Macquarie.....	5	...
Dawes' Point.....	5	...

In reference to Fort Denison, your Commission have to explain that the guns in the lower battery are too exposed, and the range too limited, to warrant their retention; it is therefore proposed that the guns in the tower only be allowed to remain.

The withdrawal of half the guns from the body of the work at Mrs. Macquarie's Battery, and a fresh disposition of the embrasures, will save men and enhance the value of the position.

The inner battery of 42-pounders at Fort Macquarie should be retained; but the outer work, from its open nature, being particularly dangerous and easily rendered untenable, should not be occupied.

The upper tier of guns at Dawes' Battery to remain, but the lower tier, being dangerous by reason of the high embankment immediately in rear, it is not thought desirable to retain.

The dangerous nature of Kirribilli, owing to the high face of rock immediately in rear, is sufficient to warrant its disarmament.

The guns rendered available by the above reduction of armament can be utilized for the projected batteries, and those not immediately required for such purpose might be allowed to remain in position as at present.

DEFENCES OF THE COLONY.
(SECOND PROGRESS REPORT OF THE DEFENCE COMMISSION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 14 June, 1877.

Defence Commission Office,
February, 1871.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable SOMERSET RICHARD, EARL OF BELMORE,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY—

The Commissioners appointed under your Excellency's Commissions of the 12th and 29th days of September, 1870, respectively, "to inquire into, consider, and report upon all matters touching and concerning measures necessary for the defence of the Colony of New South Wales from foreign aggression,"—have the honor to submit the following further Progress Report:—

1. The great value of the export trade of Newcastle, coupled with the ^{Newcastle.} circumstance of the port being the most convenient in these seas at which an enemy could obtain the necessary supply of coals to enable him to conduct offensive operations against these Colonies, render it necessary, in the opinion of your Commission, that effectual means should be adopted to make the port inaccessible to hostile vessels.

2. With this view, your Commission recommend that a boom of similar construction to that described in their former Report should be laid obliquely across the narrow part of the channel, at the entrance to the port; that is to say, from Stony Point to the Oyster Bank. The oblique direction would prevent the boom being run under by the tide, which at this point has considerable velocity, would further tend to turn a vessel coming in contact with it into the shoal water at the shore, and would, moreover, prevent it being struck at right angles.

3. The boom should be defended by a system of torpedoes both on the outside and inside, and be further supported by batteries at the following positions—

	8-in.	32.
Signal Hill	2	2
Cathedral (north side)	3

4. Your Commission would also recommend a battery of two 32-pounders on the high cliffs opposite the Barracks, to command the immediate seaboard, from which an enemy might bombard the city.

5. With the foregoing system of defence, and assuming that the buoys and lights would be removed if an attack were impending, your Commission are of opinion that the port would be rendered as secure as the present means of the Colony will allow.

Botany.

6. Your Commission think it highly improbable that a direct attack on Sydney, or any attempt to invest it, will be made from the direction of Botany Bay, as such could not be undertaken with any prospect of success, except by a considerable force, accompanied with the necessary guns, matériel, supplies, transport, &c.

7. In attempting a landing under such circumstances, the attacking force would be placed at so great a disadvantage as should ensure its repulse; but even should a landing be effected, still the country between Botany and Sydney presents so many positions for formidable obstruction, that your Commission do not apprehend any serious danger from that quarter.

8. The principal danger to be guarded against at Botany would probably be an attempt to destroy the Waterworks, either by the fire of heavy guns from vessels lying out in the bay or by a boat attack. As regards the former, the bay is so shoal that no frigate drawing over 20 feet could approach within 3,400 yards of the works; she would therefore be obliged to remain within range of the batteries of position (40-pounder Armstrongs) at the Customs Look-out Station, to which point the Military Road recently constructed, in accordance with recommendation of your Commission, affords ready means of access. To resist a boat attack, your Commission recommend the construction of an earthwork for three 32-pounder guns, immediately adjacent to the Engine-house, and commanding the channel. It would further add to the security of the works if a number of small torpedoes were placed throughout the water area in the vicinity.

9. It should be borne in mind that though Sydney is mainly dependent for water on the Botany Works, yet it is not wholly so; for in case of injury to the pumping machinery the city might still continue to receive a supply (scanty perhaps, but still sufficient for emergencies) by gravitation through Busby's Bore, by which means it was solely supplied for many years.

DEFENCES OF THE COLONY.
(TELEGRAMS RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 14 June, 1877.

Telegram from the Colonial Secretary to His Excellency Sir W. Jervois, R.E., C.B., K.C.M.G.

Sydney, 11 June, 1877, 6 P.M.

REFERRING to your Report, page 20, paragraph 1, will you kindly say whether the "two battalions of militia infantry" could be supplied by our Volunteer Force—at all events, in the first instance, until time could be allowed for reconstructing force? In other words, does the Report contemplate the immediate raising of a Militia of 1,000 men, rank and file, in addition to our existing Volunteers?

Telegram from His Excellency Sir W. Jervois, R.E., C.B., K.C.M.G., to the Colonial Secretary.

Melbourne, 12 June, 1877.

THE Report does not contemplate the immediate raising of a Militia in addition to your existing Volunteers; it contemplates improved organization of existing forces so far as they can be made available, and that powers shall be obtained from Legislature as proposed, paragraph two (2), page twenty (20), soon as Government can mature a measure with this object.

VOLUNTEERS.

(HEAD QUARTERS BAND REGULATIONS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vict. No. 5, sec. 50.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 24th August, 1876.

His Excellency the Governor having been pleased, with the advice of the Executive Council, to make the following Regulations for the Volunteer Head Quarters Band Corps, in substitution for the Rules published in the Government Gazette of the 10th October, 1871, directs their publication in accordance with the 50th section of the "Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867."

JOHN ROBERTSON.

HEAD QUARTERS BAND CORPS.

The following Rules of the above Corps are in substitution for those published in the Government Gazette of 10th October, 1871.

1. Any person desirous of admission to the Corps shall make personal or written application to the Director, stating name, place of abode, and occupation, and shall attend at such time and place as the Director may appoint, to be examined by him as to his qualification.

2. No one shall be considered a member of the Corps until he shall have taken the Oath of Allegiance as prescribed by the Act, 33 Victoria No. 14, and signed the Muster Roll.

3. Every member shall provide himself with the Undress Regulation Patrol Jacket and Forage Cap before being supplied with the full dress of the Corps.

4. Every member shall, when receiving his uniform, sign the authorized contract note.

5. The Band shall be divided into two classes, paid and unpaid members, the former consisting of 1 Sergeant and 20 rank and file, who will receive the following monthly rates of pay, viz. :—

Sergeant.....	1	10	0
Rank and file, each	1	0	0

the duties for which will be to attend Four Parades per month ; any paid member absent from any of these duties will have a stoppage of one-fourth taken from his monthly pay for each offence ; and all such stoppages will revert to the General Band Fund.

6. Any paid member absent without leave from parade will be fined 2s., and absent from practice, 6d. for each absence.

7. Any non-paid member absent from a parade as ordered in the monthly circular or by advertisement signed by the Commanding Officer will be fined 1s., and neglecting to attend twice at practice in each month will also be fined 1s., unless he has obtained leave of absence, or within seven days sent an excuse in writing satisfactory to the Director.

8. Any member who shall attend parade not dressed according to regulation or order, or whose instrument, accoutrements, or clothing shall be dirty or in any way unserviceable from neglect, will be fined 1s.

9. Any member changing his permanent address must within seven days give notice of the same to the Director, under a penalty of 1s.

10. Any member making application for leave of absence for more than fourteen days shall if required deposit his instrument (if the property of the Corps), accoutrements, and uniform, in the place appointed, under a penalty of 5s.

11. Any member wishing to leave the Corps shall give fourteen days notice in writing to the Director and return all property in his possession belonging to the Corps, but shall pay for any damage chargeable through neglect.

12. Any member guilty of any irregularity on parade shall be liable to a fine of 1s.

13. That no member shall under any circumstances wear the uniform or use instruments the property of the Corps on any private engagement or occasion without having obtained permission from the Director, under a penalty of 10s.

14. Any member losing or damaging music the property of the Corps shall make good the same, or failing to do so shall pay the full value of that lost or damaged, the amount to be decided by the Director.

15. The Sergeant shall be entrusted with the duty of issuing to the members the monthly circulars at the first parade of the Corps ; he shall keep an account of all payments and fines of every member and insert the same in the monthly circulars.

16. Any member who may be fined must pay the amount to the Sergeant within fourteen days of notification to him, and in default of such payment shall be proceeded against according to law.

17. All moneys arising from fines shall be paid over by the Sergeant to the Director monthly, who will pay the same into the fund of the Corps, to be appropriated from time to time as shall be determined by a majority of the members.

18. Any member being absent when the Roll is called will be fined 3d. ; but if he can assign a reasonable excuse for being late it will be remitted.

VOLUNTEER MILITIA BILL.

(MEMORANDUM OF COLONEL RICHARDSON.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 19 June, 1877.Memorandum to accompany rough draft of Volunteer Militia Bill.

IN accordance with instructions I beg to submit a rough draft of a Volunteer Militia Bill, compiled from the English, Canadian, and New Zealand Militia Acts, and the Imperial Mutiny Act, with such alterations, additions, &c., as I have deemed to be suited to the conditions of the Colony.

Having adhered in all material points, save one, to the recommendations regarding the re-organization of the Military Forces, contained in my memorandum of the 21st April, 1875 (ordered to be printed by the Legislative Assembly on the 16th of November, 1875), and moreover, being desirous of further supporting the same, I have to request that the accompanying draft may be considered in conjunction with the two memoranda.

The establishment of the Regular Artillery has been recently doubled; but the necessity of retaining one-half of the entire strength at the outer batteries on account of the extent of the districts, the scattered nature of the works, and the valuable and various descriptions of ordnance and stores, not only requires the maintenance of a larger staff of non-commissioned officers than would otherwise be the case, but militates much against the efficient training of the Force in drill and discipline, and interferes with the proper performance of the duties of the garrison.

The above considerations induce me to suggest a further addition to this branch of the Force, not only with a view to its more thorough efficiency, but also that it may be enabled to act as a school of training and instruction to the artillery branch of either a Militia or Volunteer Force, as the case may be. This could be effected by regularly passing a proportion of fairly trained non-commissioned officers and men after eighteen months service into either of the Forces above-mentioned, there to complete five years service, retaining however the present strength of two batteries as a nucleus composed of five years' service men. Officers and others of the Militia or Volunteers should also be encouraged to do duty for a short time with the Regular Artillery for the purposes of instruction. A similar course could, with much benefit, have been pursued as regards the Militia or Volunteer Infantry had the Regular Infantry now been available.

I have said that the length of the annual training would not be all that could be desired, nor would it; but the fruitlessness of submitting a recommendation most unlikely to be entertained is obvious. The provisions however of this draft not only allow of either increase or reduction in the duration of the annual training but of its total dispensation, at the discretion of the Governor and his responsible advisers.

The ordinary period of continuous training it will be seen is not to be less than eight days, and not more than sixteen days per annum, which corresponds with the training in Canada, but is much less than that fixed for the English Militia.

Under no circumstances should this continuous training be omitted, nor be for less than eight days, as it is otherwise impossible for the various ranks to acquire a practical knowledge of true discipline, or to become acquainted with the duties incident to the camp and the field.

According to the Duke of Wellington discipline means not only drill, but habits of obedience to orders, subordination, regularity, and interior regimental economy, which last, I may remark, is to the full as important as drill in a military point of view, and cannot be practised, except when opportunity offers by continuous training. Without such training there can be no uniformity on the part of officers and non-commissioned officers in the administration of discipline and the treatment of those under them; and it is not too much to say, I have found officers improperly shrink from the duty and responsibility of exercising the disciplinary powers vested in them by the Volunteer Act, and others again who have abused that power. And here I am tempted to inquire, what confidence can the rank and file have in a system which is open to such mal-administration, or what consistent standard of discipline can be maintained under the circumstances?

Officers who have served in the Imperial Army know too well the difficulty of getting good and trustworthy men to occupy the position of non-commissioned officers, who are the soul of the army, and on whom the discipline of a regiment mainly depends, and forming as they do the connecting link between officers and men, their duties are consequently (as Mr. Gathorne Hardy, the Secretary of State for War, recently observed), "more invidious and difficult than those of the officers, who have never been the comrades of the men they command." There can be no doubt that much of the crime in the military service is caused by the want of firmness, tact, temper, and a uniform method of treating men, which is the characteristic of indifferent non-commissioned officers, the sequence being indifferent and discontented regiments. It therefore especially follows that both officers and non-commissioned officers require some continuous training to fit them for their respective positions and duties.

In America, the system of election of officers by corps recently obtained, and was practically and fully tested during the late civil war in that country, but produced as a matter of notoriety such unsatisfactory results as led to the wholesale shelving of a large number of such officers; indeed, General Sherman (than whom there is no better authority), in his work on the war, utterly condemns the system as vicious, and inapplicable to the conditions and requirements of the military service.

As regards the peace establishment attached to my former memorandum, I have to observe that it is capable of expansion in time of war to about 6,256 of all ranks, which, with the regular artillery and Naval Brigade, would give 6,790. The addition, however, of a battery of position at Newcastle, and another regiment of Infantry at head quarters, would give 7,778 of all ranks, or in round numbers 7,000 effectives for the purpose of defence, which number I am of opinion would place us in a fair position to meet any probable attack.

The only point in my former memorandum from which I have materially diverged, is in regard to the opinion I therein hesitatingly expressed as to the non-application of the Mutiny Act and Articles of War in time of peace. After much consideration I now recommend the application of such Act and Articles both in peace and war, for it is to be noted that discipline being the keystone of an effective military organization, it is essential that executive power should be given for its enforcement and maintenance on all occasions. Lord Loughborough thus expresses himself on the subject:—"The army being established by the authority of the Legislature, it is an indispensable requisite that there should be order and discipline kept up in it, and that the persons who compose the army for all offences in their military capacities should be subject to trial by their officers." Hence the absolute necessity of the Mutiny Act. It is also to be borne in mind that a severe penal code carries with it no terrors for the well-conducted soldier, but is rather calculated for his protection than otherwise; besides which, the Militias of England, Canada, and New Zealand are subject to such Act in time of peace, as also the English Volunteers when brigaded with regular and Militia troops.

From what I know of the Volunteers of this Colony I do not hesitate to say a large majority of them would prefer not only a higher disciplinary code but such a training as would render them more fitted for the military service of their country; and judging from the voluntary attendance of the Force at the Encampments of 1873 and 1874, when the periods of training, going to, and returning from camp occupied five days, it is not too much to assume that an annual attendance, at all events of eight days, would be practicable.

The question of rates of pay must be dealt with by regulation, and should bear a close analogy to those ordinarily ruling the labour market, for although the ballot under certain circumstances would be possible, and indeed necessary to induce employers to offer facilities instead of obstructions to those desirous of serving the State in a military capacity, still I think it should be avoided by all legitimate means, the chief of which is fair remuneration for services performed. In addition to the rates of daily pay, I would recommend deferred pay at the rate of £5 per annum, to be paid on completion of service. This will bring the annual cost to about £15 per head on account of instruction, pay, clothing, rations, &c.

Although I have endeavoured to point out in these memoranda the chief defects in the present system, there are others of a grave nature, such as night drills, which are of no practical good, and (except for recruits in properly lighted sheds) tend rather to engender a loose and faulty style of drill, which soon becomes confirmed, and under the circumstances difficult, if not impossible to eradicate. Again, the system which permits a Volunteer to choose whether he shall obey an order or not (I refer to the ordinary orders for parade), cannot but in cases insensibly inculcate the feeling that the obligation to obey an order depends upon the opinion entertained by the individual of its propriety.

Being deeply impressed with the importance attaching to the training of the Military Forces of the Colony, I again ask consideration of the very significant warning extracted from Major Home's work entitled "Précis of Modern Tactics," and quoted in the last paragraph but one of my memorandum of 21st April, 1875.

Colonel Commandant.

VOLUNTEER LAND ORDERS.

(DISPUTED CASES—CORRESPONDENCE, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 20 July, 1877.

RETURN (in part) to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 25 April, 1877, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“ Copies of all Minutes, Correspondence, and other Documents in the

VOLUNTEER LAND ORDERS.

Corporal D. M'Leod's case.

Corporal D. M'Leod to The Colonial Secretary.

No. 11, Middle-lane, Crown-street, Woolloomooloo,
Sydney, 30 June, 1874.

Sir,

I have taken the liberty of laying my case before you, which to me, a poor man with a struggling family, is indeed very distressing. I do so, well knowing your generous wish at all times to see equity and justice done at all times, and in this case humbly trust that you will, so far as you can, assist me in my humble application.

The nature of the case is as follows:—

On the formation of the Duke of Edinburgh Highlanders I became a recruit and in course of time a corporal of the same (No. 2 Coy.), and have been connected with them up to the present date (which was in July, 1868). I was also a soldier in the British Army, first serving in the 42nd Highlanders, then in the 71st Infantry, and then in the 57th Infantry, and with that regiment through all the Crimean campaign, and arrived in this Colony in 1866. Surely after having seen so much service (for which I hold two medals—one with three bars, and the Turkish medal) there can be no doubt in any right-thinking mind but that my efficiency must be indisputable.

Honorable Sir, my complaint is this:—In July next I will have served six years as a Volunteer of this Colony, and have not received the land order to which I humbly consider I am justly entitled to. I hold four certificates of efficiency for the years 1869, 1870, 1871, and 1872, and was refused that of 1873 on the very simple grounds of having missed a few musketry drills. (This happened in consequence of my being a military tailor, and working for D. Jones & Co., also Messrs. Moore, Henderson, and Bowcher, who during that year were very much pressed with the uniforms for what was then known as the Permanent Force.)

In consequence of my services being to these firms indispensable—and my Lieutenant, Mr. Chisholm, who is a clerk in the Council of Education (now Captain), holds all the papers connected with my many applications; knew well that I was an old soldier, and had served my country bravely through many hard-fought engagements, in wet and dry, and by night and day, in the most arduous Crimean campaign.

Honorable Sir, I do humbly request that in the course of your high and responsible position you will be pleased to consider and have the paper laid before you (now in the hands of Mr. H. J. Chisholm, Council of Education),—which consideration I humbly pray may be in my favour.

I have, &c.,

DUNCAN M'LEOD.

Commandant, for report.—H.P., 20/6/74. The Commandant, B.C., 1st July, 1874. For the U.S.—M.R.A.

The Commandant to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 2 July, 1874.

30th June, 1874.

In returning the accompanying letter I have the honor to report for your information, that Corporal M'Leod, No. 2 Highlanders, failed to qualify as an efficient in not having gone through the course of musketry as required by the Regulations, and I was therefore unable to issue a certificate of efficiency for the year 1873.

I beg leave also to point out that Corporal M'Leod has acted contrary to the Volunteer Regulations in addressing his letter direct, instead of through the prescribed channel.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON,
Lieut.-Col., Commandant.

The Principal Under Secretary to Corporal D. M'Leod.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 29 September, 1874.

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 30th of June last, applying for a land order, your claim to which is barred by the want of a certificate of efficiency for the year 1873, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that your application has been referred to the Commandant, who reports that as you failed to qualify as an efficient, not having gone through the course of musketry required by the Regulations, he was unable to give you the certificate in question.

I have, &c.,

HENRY HALLORAN.

Private S. Graham's case.

Memorial of Mr. Graham.

To His Excellency SIR HERCULES ROBINSON, Governor of New South Wales, Commander-in-Chief of the Forces, &c., &c., &c.—

The Memorial of Samuel Graham, of Bank Chambers, Sydney, stockbroker,—

HUMBLY AND RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your memorialist joined No. 3 Company of Rifles, Sydney Battalion, in January, 1861, and resigned in 1870—having been over nine years a Volunteer—seven years under the old Act, which were to be computed as three years, and two years under the new Act, for which he duly received certificates of efficiency. After completing the term his land order is withheld because he did not attend a certain number of times in 1867, for six months of which he had regular leave of absence from his Captain duly entered in the returns of the Company.

Your memorialist attended over 300 parades and drills, besides passing through musketry instructions several times and ranking as marksman, did duty by mounting guard while the regular troops were away at Lambing Flat, and afterwards while they were in New Zealand; was always efficient even when volunteering was unpopular, and never once reported. It appears that Colonel Richardson maintains that a Volunteer must have attendances when on leave just the same as when not on leave. So that from a deficiency in number of attendances, which arose from deeming the leave of absence sufficient, the whole of the service of your memorialist would be ignored, which it is respectfully submitted to your Excellency would not be equitable.

Your memorialist would respectfully point out that, unless in your Excellency, there is no appeal or redress for these military affairs, as the several members of the Cabinet refer them back to Colonel Richardson, who has already given an adverse decision; hence an appeal from Colonel Richardson is made to Colonel Richardson.

In August, 1870, your memorialist applied for redress to the Hon. John Robertson, Minister of Lands then, who stated the order should be issued, but wished it applied for in a certain form through Mr. Fitzpatrick, the Member for Yass—vide letter marked "A"—Mr. Robertson exchanged from being of the Lands to be Colonial Secretary. In December I received, through Mr. Fitzpatrick, letter "B," stating Col. Richardson !!! did not feel justified, &c., &c. Subsequently your memorialist applied to Mr. Windeyer, then Solicitor General, who said, "he had always regarded a leave of absence as excusing a Volunteer from attendance, and from any other disabilities that would otherwise ensue, or else" he continued "what was the use of a leave of absence?" He applied to Colonel Richardson, but without avail. So that Mr. Windeyer, Solicitor General, a Captain of Volunteers for years, who retired on his rank, always held the opinion that the leave of absence was an exemption from attendance.

Since that period your memorialist applied through Mr. Neale, M.L.A. for Sydney, to the Honorable H. Parkes, as Premier; they were both of opinion that he was entitled to the land order. After a lapse of some months the answer came that it was a very hard case indeed, but Mr. Parkes could not get it remedied. In the meanwhile it is believed the matter had again been refused by Colonel Richardson. It is worthy of remark, in letter marked "C," that the Attorney General says "your claim to a land certificate cannot be recognized unless you obtain the certificate of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, &c.," but certainly does not say that the Commanding Officer should not issue, &c.

As to actual efficiency, that has never been questioned; indeed that is admitted, for in paper marked "D" there is an official certificate from Colonel Richardson exempting from the jury in 1869, because your memorialist had been an efficient Volunteer for the preceding two years, according to the Act, viz., 1867 and 1868.

Your memorialist would respectfully submit the whole circumstances to your favourable consideration, confident that where the whole of the duties belonging to a Volunteer has been faithfully discharged, excepting in one particular, where misled by an official leave of absence, your Excellency will be of opinion, for a technical error, nine years bonâ fide service should not be forfeited; and that it is not beneficial to the public weal for the Government of a country to press to extremes a trifling defect to the serious detriment of an individual.

Your memorialist will ever pray.

SAMUEL GRAHAM.

The Commandant to The Aide-de-Camp.

Dear Captain St. John,

Brigade Office, 26 February, 1874.

Samuel Graham not having performed the number of drills during the year 1867 which would have entitled him to be considered as an efficient Volunteer on the 1st of January, 1868, could not, under clause 45 of the "Volunteer Act, 1867," reckon past service prospectively towards grant of land. I made two reports to the Colonial Secretary as to how the matter stood, viz., on the 8th of December and 20th of December, 1870, and am under the impression that the Colonial Secretary declined to authorize the issue of the land order.

Yours, &c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON.

P.S.—It would appear Graham left the Force in 1870.—J.S.R.

Minute of His Excellency the Governor.

Colonial Secretary,

Government House, Sydney.

This petition was presented to me by Mr. Garrett, M.P. I informed him application should be made to the Minister of Lands, as the question in dispute was not one connected with discipline, and I could not interfere. He seemed to think it was a question of discipline, as former Col. Secretaries and Ministers of Land were anxious to give the land order, but Col. Richardson refused to certify, and he suggested that I as Commander-in-Chief might compel him to do so.

It appears to me Col. Richardson's decision was quite correct. Time spent on leave of absence cannot be considered as efficient service entitling a Volunteer to payment in the shape of a land order.

I think the petition may be acknowledged from the Col. Secy's. Office, and Mr. Graham informed that as he is not legally entitled to a land order it is not in my power to grant him the redress he seeks in the matter.

The enclosures to the petition which are in the original may be returned.

Minutes of the Principal Under Secretary, &c.

WERE not His Excellency's directions carried out? If not, may I ask why not? It seems now almost too late.—26/10/74. Could not be carried out without instruction from the Colonial Secretary, and was submitted therefor.—26/10/74. A letter as directed to Mr. Graham, returning the enclosures, may be prepared now.—28/10/74. Mr. Graham, 31 Oct., 1874.

The Principal Under Secretary to Mr. Graham.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 31 October, 1874.

With reference to the Memorial addressed by you to His Excellency the Governor in or about the month of February last, concerning your application for a land order under the "Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867," which application had been refused in consequence of your failure to qualify yourself as an efficient Volunteer in 1867, I am now directed by the Colonial Secretary, by command of the Governor, to inform you that, as you are not legally entitled to a land order, it is not in His Excellency's power to grant you the redress you seek in the matter.

2. The original enclosures which accompanied your memorial are returned herewith.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

Mr. Graham to The Colonial Secretary.

Hon. Sir,

Bank Chambers, 22 February, 1875.

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 31st October, wherein you say, "by command of the Governor to inform you that, as you are not legally entitled to a land order, it is not in His Excellency's power to grant you the redress you seek in the matter."

I respectfully request that the question be reviewed, as the Governor could not have been well-advised, to take a purely technical advantage of an error (if error it be) which arose from placing confidence in a leave of absence issued and filed by the proper military authorities, which leave of absence was a delusion and a snare if the attendances are required notwithstanding. I submit that it is derogatory to the position of a British Governor to take a technical advantage of an individual citizen who has fulfilled the spirit of his engagement. Where would be the necessity of applying to His Excellency for redress if one were legally qualified? The whole question lies in the fact that the legality is questionable, but there is no question about my having served nine years as a Volunteer.

I therefore trust you will see upon revision my prayer should be granted.

I have, &c.,
SAMUEL GRAHAM.

Papers must be looked up.—23/2/75. Is this not one of the cases referred to the Attorney General for proposed Bill? 2/4/75.

Mr. Graham to The Colonial Secretary.

Hon. Sir,

Bank Chambers, Sydney, 24 April, 1876.

Having been informed by one of the Staff Officers of the Volunteers (Adjutant Baynes) that it is the practice to reckon duly granted leave of absence as part of the time of service, my land grant being withheld for being absent on leave, through Adjutant Baynes I addressed the Commandant on this point, who replied, "Your best course would be to apply on the subject to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary." This I now have the honor of doing, and trust you will afford me the justice which has so long been delayed.

I have, &c.,
SAMUEL GRAHAM,
(late of No. 3 V. Rifles, Sydney Battalion.)

The Commandant, for the favour of report., B.C., 25/4/76.—H.H.

The Commandant to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 2 May, 1876.

I have the honor to report, with reference to the enclosed correspondence, that Mr. Graham joined the Volunteer Force in 1861, and attended drill during that and following years, until he quitted the service in July, 1870, after applying for his land order, which I could not grant, as he had only attended three drills instead of eight as required in 1867 to enable him, under clause 45 Volunteer Act, to claim past service prospectively towards grant of land.

Mr. Graham now puts forward a plea that he had leave of absence during a portion of 1867, which is correct, and that such authorized absence precluded his performance of the requisite number of drills, and therefore should not prejudice his claim to count services prior to 1868. With reference to the question of leave of absence, I have to inform you that the Crown Law Officers have given an opinion to the effect that when a Volunteer has failed to qualify as an efficient in any one year through leave of absence, the want of such year's efficiency shall not break the continuity of service towards a land order.

I may however state that, as regards this particular year (1867), during which it was necessary to qualify as an efficient in order to count past service prospectively towards grant of land, that certain exceptions have been favourably entertained by the Government, viz., in the cases of Volunteers who did not qualify by reason of sickness, family bereavement, floods, &c.

In conclusion, I have to draw your attention to the fact that the number of drills required for efficiency during 1867 was fixed not (as subsequent to that year) by the Volunteer Regulations but by Brigade Order, approved by the Government, and prior to the introduction of the present Volunteer Act.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Lieut.-Col.,
Commandant.

May await further application.—22/7/75

Corporal G. Martyr's case.

The Commandant to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 2 May, 1876.

I have the honor to forward herewith, for the information of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, papers connected with the land order application of Corporal Martyr, of the Goulburn Corps of Volunteer Rifles, who will complete five years efficient service on the 2nd June next, and to request instructions regarding the same.

Corporal Martyr joined the Goulburn Corps on the 22nd March, 1869. He was efficient for that year, and for the years 1870 and 1871. In the September quarter of the year 1872 he was discharged from the Goulburn Corps by the then Captain Rossi, but subsequently reinstated by direction of His Excellency the Governor in March, 1874. In 1874 and 1875 he was efficient. On the 2nd June next, as before stated, Corporal Martyr will have done five years efficient service, but the continuity of the service, as required by the Volunteer Act, has been broken by his discharge from his corps in 1872.

His Excellency the Governor's instructions, when dealing with Corporal Martyr's case, are shown in his letter of 11th March, 1874—copy attached.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Lieut.-Col.,
Commandant.

Rifle Volunteer Corps. Certificate of efficiency of Private George Martyr, of the Goulburn Corps for the years 1870, 1871, 1872, 1875, and 1876.

[Enclosures.]

Corporal G. Martyr to The Commandant.

Sir,

Goulburn, 21 April, 1876.

I have the honor to apply to you for my land order under the provisions of the Volunteer Act.

I enclose certificates of five years service, but as they do not show continuous service I beg to quote from minute from Brigade Office, dated July 9th, 1874 (74-1,532), as follows:—

“ The non-possession of certificates for the period he was struck off the roll of the Goulburn Corps will not, however, be allowed to break the continuity of Private Martyr's service; with this view it would be as well for Mr. Martyr to take a note of the purport and date of this communication, so as to quote it when making his land order application. By command.”

I may remark that, without counting the time I was dismissed from the corps, I have actually served over six years.

GEORGE MARTYR,

Corporal, G.C.V. Rifles.

Forwarded, 24/4/76.—W. J. DIGNAM, Captain, No. 5 Compy., 3rd Regiment.

Captain Dignam to Major Christie.

Sir,

Goulburn, 24 April, 1876.

I beg to forward the enclosed applications for land orders from the undermentioned members of the Goulburn Corps, and enclose their certificates, viz.:—Corporal Martyr, George; Private Spice, Henry.

On the 19th instant I forwarded land order application from Private Joseph Dunn and omitted his name in full as written above.

I have, &c.,

W. T. DIGNAM,
Captain.

His Excellency the Governor to The Commandant.

Sir,

Government House, Sydney, 11 March, 1874.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 9th instant, reporting upon a petition addressed to me by Mr. Martyr, praying that for the reasons stated therein he may be reinstated in the Goulburn Volunteer Corps.

Although Mr. Martyr's conduct in the matter which led to his dismissal was reprehensible, I am disposed to think upon a consideration of all the facts which were adduced at the recent inquiry that he has been sufficiently punished by the interruption which has already taken place in his service, and I have accordingly to authorize his being now reinstated in the corps in the position which he held at the date of his dismissal.

I have, &c.,

HERCULES ROBINSON.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 6 September, 1876.

I have the honor to forward herewith, for the consideration of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, further papers having reference to the application from Corporal Martyr, of the Goulburn Corps of Volunteer Rifles, for a land order, which accompanied my letter (76-167) of the 2nd May last.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosures.]

Corporal G. Martyr to The Commandant.

Sir,

Goulburn, 10 June, 1876.

In reply to your letter from Brigade Office (No. 76-166), having reference to my application for my land order, I have the honor to draw your attention most particularly to Brigade order of 13 March, 1874 (No. 38), as follows:—

“His Excellency is pleased to approve of Mr. G. Martyr being re-instated in the Goulburn Company Volunteer Rifles in the position he held at date of his dismissal.”

“By Command,

“W. B. B. CHRISTIE,

“Major of Brigade.”

I would remark that the words “in the position he held at date of his dismissal” show plainly that I was not to be prejudiced in any way by what had taken place.

Again, I must refer to the minute from Brigade Office of July 9th, 1874 (74-1,532), wherein, in reply to my application for certificate, I am distinctly told that “The non-possession of certificates for the period he was struck off the roll of the Goulburn Corps will not, however, be allowed to break the continuity of Private Martyr’s service.”

Here are, then, two distinct acknowledgments that I was in no way to lose my status in the company, or my claim to my land order (this latter shown particularly by the words “not be allowed to break the continuity”) through a dismissal which was subsequently reversed.

The letter first above referred to states “that instructions will be sought from the Government;” also that my “five years service will not be completed till June.” With regard to the last quotation, I fail to see how that can be the case, considering that I have in fact served over seven years; however, the question of a month or two is of no consequence, and now that the month of June is entered upon, I have again the honor to request that my land order may be issued to me.

If I am to be debarred from receiving it now I fail to see how His Excellency’s instructions in Brigade Order 38, above referred to, can be adhered to, nor yet how the terms of minute 74/1,532, also above quoted, can be complied with. I would respectfully submit that when the above minute was penned, the Commandant must have taken the same view of His Excellency’s instructions as now just formed by me, and that he must have believed that I was fairly entitled to my land order at this time.

I have therefore the honor again to ask that such land order may be issued to me without delay.

I have, &c.,

GEORGE MARTYR,

Corporal, G.C.V. Rifles.

Major of Brigade to Major Holborow.

Memo.

Brigade Office, Sydney, 19 June, 1876.

THE Commandant has persued a letter dated 10/6/76 from Corporal George Martyr, of the Goulburn Corps of Volunteer Rifles, on the subject of his land order grant, and must adhere to his decision as expressed in Brigade Major’s letter of 2/5/76. His Excellency the Governor’s decision as to Mr. Martyr’s re-instatement did not render Mr. Martyr’s service continuous, although at the time Brigade Office memo. of 9/7/74 was written it was believed there would be no difficulty in obtaining from the Government (as had been done in one or two similar cases previously) a special authority under the circumstances to consider the case as one of continuous service. But decisions given by the Crown Law Officers subsequent to the date on which Brigade Office memo. of 9/7/74 was written, rendered the Commandant quite unable to consider the case as one of continuous service, and also it is believed rendered the Government indisposed to grant authority for treating such cases in an exceptional manner. But it is understood the Government intend dealing with Mr. Martyr’s case as well as those of some others, by special enactment, and with this view his case has been reported on to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, and it is believed that the matter will be dealt with without much delay during the present session of Parliament.

By command,

W. B. B. CHRISTIE, Major,

Major of Brigade.

True copy.—W. B. B. CHRISTIE, Major of Brigade.

Corporal G. Martyr to The Commandant.

Sir,

Goulburn, 2 September, 1876.

I have the honor again to write to you on the subject of my land order, and beg to refer you to my letter of 10th June, 1876, and your memo. from the Brigade Office, dated 19th of same month.

I would more particularly draw attention to the last paragraph in your memo., as to my and other cases being dealt with by special enactment during the present session of Parliament.

The session is now over and nothing has been done. I must also again refer you to Brigade Office memo. of 9/7/74.

I beg further to draw your attention to the fact that Private Dunn, of the Goulburn Corps, has got his land order, although he only held certificates of efficiency for the years 1869, '70, '71, '74, and '75, having none for 1872 and 1873. His service could not then have been continuous. Moreover, his land order grant has been issued since the Brigade memo. of 9/7/74, and since the "decision" given by the Crown Law Officers, which are quoted as inimical to my application. Again, in Private Dunn's case there is no memo. telling him that his service, though not continuous, would be so considered (as in my case), where I hold the Commandant's intimation to that effect backed by the words of Brigade Order No. 38.

I have therefore to ask that my land order may be issued, as I am quite as much entitled to receive it as was Private Dunn.

I have, &c.,

GEORGE MARTYR,
Corporal, G.C.V. Rifles.

Memorandum by Major of Brigade..

Brigade Office, Sydney, 5 September, 1876.

WITH reference to Corporal Martyr's (Goulburn Corp), letter of 2/9/76 on the subject of his land order, the Officer commanding the Goulburn Corps is informed that Corporal Martyr's letter will be submitted to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary.

Private Dunn's case, as quoted, was not an analogous one to Corporal Martyr's. Corporal Martyr's name was not on the muster-roll of the corps at all for some time, whereas Private Dunn's name was in 1872 and 1873, although he was absent from duty on duly certified sick leave, in which latter case the Crown Law Officers have held the continuity of service is not broken.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 1 August, 1876.

I have the honor, at the request of Gunner Bamford, No. 8 Battery Volunteer Artillery Brigade, to submit an application requesting your authority for the issue of his land order. I have to inform you that some short time since he applied to me for said issue, to which I replied: "Gunner Bamford's case, as bearing on his service towards a land order, has been submitted to the Government, without whose authority I am unable to issue." 23 July, 1876.

The circumstances connected with this case have been reported to you under date 30th May, 1876 (No. 76/231).

Sir,

I have the honor respectfully to request you will authorize the Commandant to issue my land order. The obstacle to his otherwise doing so is my absence from inspection in 1873, but I was under the impression (since explained to have been erroneous) that a certain Brigade Order and letters forbade my attending it, I humbly trust that my obedience to orders, as I understood them, may not be alleged to my prejudice in the matter of my land order.

Gunner W. Parker to The Commandant.

Sir,

Sydney, 22 January, 1877.

On the 30th December, 1876, I forwarded medical certificate dated 18th December, 1876, showing that I was unable to attend the drill ordered by you on that date.

You will perceive that I could not attend another drill of the same class before January, 1877, and as my performance of this drill was necessary to my being considered efficient for the year 1876, I trust that you will be able to grant me the favour of being considered as having performed this drill.

I venture to urge this most respectfully and earnestly upon your notice, as unless you accede to my request my previous 5½ years service will avail me nothing.

I have already written on this subject to Colonel Roberts, and have been referred by him to you through Captain Talbot, of my battery.

Trusting my request will meet with your approval,

I have, &c.,

W. N. PARKER.

Forwarded.—P.T., Capt. No. 2 B., V.A., 25/1/77. Captain Talbot will please forward the previous letters.—W. WILSON, Lt. Col., 25/1/77.

On forwarding the letters as requested, I may remark, medical certificate did not reach me until the day previous to my forwarding the same, viz., 30/12/76.—P.T., Capt. No. 2 B., V.A., 29/1/77.

Forwarded.—W.W., Lt.-Col., 30/1/77. Forwarded to Brigade Major; see previous application attached.—C.F.R., Col., 31/1/77.

Until the receipt of an opinion asked for from the Crown Law Officers, on certain points connected with absence from drill through sickness, the Commandant is not in a position to give a decision on this case. A record of the drills as (with dates) done by this man last year can be attached to these papers, and forwarded to this office; the matter will then be dealt with on receipt of Crown Law Officer's opinion.—By command, W.B.B.C., M. of B., 2/2/77. Private John Moore's case.

The Commandant to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 11 July, 1872.

I have the honor to forward the accompanying letter from the Officer commanding Balmain Corps of Volunteer Rifles, requesting that a certificate for grant of land may be issued to the man named in the margin, a member of that company, who in April last met with an accident which resulted in the amputation of his leg. Under these circumstances, and the fact that Mr. Moore would, if efficient this year, be entitled to a land order, I beg to recommend his case for your favourable consideration.

[Enclosure.]

[Enclosure.]

Captain Cameron to Major Goodlet.

Balmain, 3 July, 1872.

Sir,

I have the honor to report a distressing case in connection with a member of the Balmain Company Volunteer Rifle Corps. Private John Moore, on the 22nd April last, when at his occupation, received a fracture of the leg which necessitated amputation at the Sydney Infirmary. He was discharged from that institution on the 17th June; he is a young man, respectable and well conducted, but been utterly unable to pursue his usual ways of obtaining a livelihood. He was recently married, and has no friends in a position to support him. By the Volunteer Act of 1867 he would in due course have been entitled to the efficiency for this year, having attended, since 1st January, 11 parades, viz., 1 inspection, 2 battalion, and 8 Company parades, with musketry instruction 1870, that he was enrolled 22 May, 1867, and holds certificates of efficiency in 1868, '69, '70, and '71. I have therefore the honor to request you will recommend to the Commandant that a grant of land be issued to Private John Moore, and I trust under the distressing circumstances submitted the Commandant will be pleased to give his assent.

I have, &c.,

Balmain Corps V.R.—Solicitor General, respecting Private John Moore's application for a grant of land.

ACCORDING to the strict letter of the law I do not think this Volunteer entitled to the grant; but if in any case the Government could, as an act of grace, go a little outside the provisions of the Act, this is a case strongly calling for such an act. I think the matter might well be brought before the Cabinet for favourable consideration.

With reference to your letter of the 11th July, 1872, forwarding an application from the Officer commanding the Balmain Corps of Volunteer Rifles, on behalf of Private John Moore, of that Company, for a grant of land under the Volunteer Force Regulation Act, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that the question of granting certificates to Volunteers who have not complied strictly with the requirements of the law having been maturely considered, it has been decided that in such cases certificates cannot be granted.

I beg to again trouble you in reference to my land order.

I forwarded an answer to your letter, on August 6th, in which I showed that 1870 was not required.

My application is for the years 1861, /62, /63, /64, /65, /66, /67, /68, and /69.

Ensign Linsley certifies that he knew me in 1861 as a Volunteer. I was also a member in 1860, having joined in July. I humbly crave, sir, after waiting so long, that you will grant me your attention in this matter and sign my land order.

Mr. Boles was a non-efficient for the year 1869, having only four (4) battalion and two (2) company parades, and one (1) inspection, and as he required this year's service to complete the five years required by the Act, I am, under the circumstances, unauthorized to issue the certificate.—J.S.R., Lieut.-Colonel, 7/11/72. B.C.

Mr. Blackmore to Mr. Boles.

My dear Mr. Boles,

I find on referring to my books that you were reading with me during the whole of 1868, and to the end of March, 1869, when you were a member of the University, and I am aware that you could have had no time for Volunteer duties, as you were fully occupied in preparing your University studies.

Your health, I remember, was not at all good, and prevented you from doing as much work as you might otherwise have done.

Sydney, 13 November, 1872.
Yours truly,
EDWARD BLACKMORE.

12 November, 1872.
THIS is to certify that I, as the family doctor, attended Mr. Wm. Boles during the year 1869, and advised him, as he had over-excited and reduced his system in the early part of the year by laborious and protracted mental work for the University, not to take heavy physical exercise, such as drill, gymnastics, &c., or serious consequences would arise.

As the Act and Regulations stand at present, I do not see how certificates of efficiency can issue where the requisite number of drills, &c., have not been attended.

I have now so often expressed the same opinion that I would suggest the matter be referred to the Cabinet to consider whether it is advisable to bring about an alteration in the law, which at present does not in my view admit of sickness as authorizing dispensing with any of the drills.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 15 August, 1873.

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 29th ultimo, respecting the application made by you as a member of No. 5 Company, Sydney Battalion Volunteer Rifles, for a grant of land under the Volunteer Force Regulation Act, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to state that a decision has now been arrived at in your case, and to refer you to the Commandant for further information on the subject.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Commandant.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 15 August, 1873.

With reference to your letters of 14th November and 16th December last, respecting the application of Private W. Boles, of No. 5 Company, Sydney Battalion Volunteer Rifles, for a grant of land under the Volunteer Force Regulation Act, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that, the question of granting certificates to Volunteers who have not complied strictly with the requirements of the law having been maturely considered, it has been decided that in such cases certificates cannot be granted, and to request that the applicant may be apprised accordingly.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

Captain

Captain B. Thomson's case.

The Commandant to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, Brigade Office, Sydney, 11 March, 1874.
 I have the honor to forward, for your consideration, the accompanying application from Captain Buchan Thomson, No. 2 Highlanders, for a land order, and to acquaint you that Captain Thomson would have been entitled to a certificate for grant of land on the 1st January last had he qualified as an efficient for 1873, but it appears by the enclosed medical certificate that he was prevented from so doing on account of illness, which came upon him gradually, and has steadily got worse. 9th February, 1874.

I have, &c.,
JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Lt.-Col.,
 Commandant.

Submitted.—14/3/74. Can be put with other similar cases.—H.P., 16/3/74.

[Enclosures.]

MR. BUCHAN THOMSON has been under my medical care for some years. Since February, 1873, he has been quite disabled from attending drill on account of organic disease, which came upon him very gradually, and has steadily got worse. Sydney, Feby. 25/74. J. L. LE GAY BRERETON, M.D.

Sir, Ashfield, 9 February, 1874.
 I have the honor to state that I believe I am entitled to a land order, which I shall feel obliged by your applying for me. I have, &c.,

Private John Graham's case.

Private J. Graham to Lieutenant Commanding No. 2 Highlanders.

Sir, Sydney, 6 May, 1874.
 I understand that I am returned as not being efficient for 1873, owing to not being present at an inspection parade of the corps. I beg leave to state it was not my fault, for I was very ill and unable to attend either of the inspections.

I enclose a certificate from my medical attendant, together with a declaration I have made before a Justice of the Peace. Will you kindly forward the same to head quarters with the view of a certificate of efficiency being granted to me, as my non-attendance was caused by misfortune and not neglect.

I have, &c.,
JOHN GRAHAM.

In forwarding this for the consideration of the Commandant, I venture most respectfully to recommend this case for his consideration. Private Graham has attended company drill at times when, if he had studied his health more, he would have remained away, and it affords me much pleasure in recommending this application. Perhaps Lieutenant Wilson will be good enough to forward this on at his earliest convenience.—H. J. CHISHOLM, Lt., No., 2 D.E.H., 6/5/74. Forwarded by order.—J. WILSON, Adj., 6/5/74.

Certificate.

I CERTIFY that Mr. S. Graham was under my care for about four months, from April to August of last year, and from debility was unable to attend to active employment. Enmore, Newtown, May 2, 1874.

JOSEPH KINGSBURY,
 Hygienic M.D.

Statutory Declaration.

I, JOHN GRAHAM, of Sydney, a member of No. 2 Duke of Edinburgh Volunteer Rifle Corps, do hereby solemnly and sincerely declare that during the year 1873 I was at various times suffering from weakness and general debility, and was for a considerable time under medical treatment, and unable to attend to my business or the parades of my company; nevertheless I did attend, although scarcely able to do so on several occasions. I was unable to attend the inspection parades of my company, which were held or took place on the 29th day of March and the 19th day of July in the above year, as on those days I was confined to my house through sickness: And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Subscribed and declared, at Sydney, this 6th } day of May, 1874, before me,—

H. P. PALSER, J.P.

JOHN GRAHAM.

Petition

Petition of John Graham.

To the Honorable the Colonial Secretary.

The humble Petition of John Graham, of Barrack-street, Sydney, tailor,—
Respectfully Showeth:—

1. That your Petitioner is a member of the No. 2 Duke of Edinburgh Highlanders.

2. That through illness he was unable to attend either of the half-yearly inspections by the Commandant in the year 1873, in confirmation of which I hereto answer the certificate of my medical attendant.

3. That in consequence of such non-attendance your Petitioner has not received a certificate of efficiency for that year.

4. That in consequence of this your Petitioner is afraid that he will not only lose such certificate of efficiency for the year 1873, but also the benefit to be derived from his services.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays that you will be pleased to take the above premises into your gracious consideration, and that you would cause a certificate to be granted to your Petitioner for efficient service in the year 1873.

And your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.,
Sydney, 11th November, 1874.

JOHN GRAHAM.

The Commandant for his report.—H.H., B.C., 18 November, 1874.

The Legislature having enacted that a medical certificate referring to absence from ill-health must be sent in within a week, the Commandant regrets that he has no option in the matter but must disallow this application.

By command,

W. B. B. CHRISTIE,
Major of Brigade.

The Officer commanding Subrn. Battn. Vol. Rifles.

The Commandant to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 17 November, 1874.

I have the honor to report, for your information, with reference to the accompanying petition, that Private John Graham, No. 2 Highlanders, only attended during the year 1873 six battalion parades instead of seven, as required by the Volunteer Regulations, neither did he attend any inspection during the year in question, or failing to do so, did he send in a medical Certificate as required (vide foot-note to form E, page 32, Volunteer Regulations). Under these circumstances, and acting under instructions as conveyed in letter from your office dated 15th August, 1873 (No. 73-6,109), regarding a similar case, I did not issue a certificate of efficiency to him for the year 1873, he not being entitled thereto.

I would further note that the medical certificate attached to the petition refers to Mr. S. Graham, whereas the petitioner's name is John, and that Private John Graham appears to have attended three parades during the period covered by such medical certificate.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Lt.-Col.,
Commandant.

It does not appear that a certificate could be legally given. Mr. Graham may be so informed.—
23/11/74.

Private J. Graham to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

125, King-street, Sydney, 10 April, 1876.

About the middle of the year 1874 I sent a petition to the Hon. the Colonial Secretary respecting my not receiving a certificate of efficiency for the year 1873, being a member of H.B.H. the Duke of Edinburgh's Highland Volunteer Rifle Corps.

Would you kindly inform me whether any action has been taken, or whether the prayer of the petitioner is likely to be granted.

I am, &c.,

JOHN GRAHAM.

Hon.

Hon. Asst. Surgeon John Pierce's case.

The Commandant to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 7 November, 1876.

With reference to my letter 76-444, of the 15th September last, regarding a land order for the late Honorary Assistant Surgeon J. Pierce, I have the honor to forward, herewith, for the consideration of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, a further communication from Mr. Saunders on the subject.

4 Nov., 1876.

I have, &c.,
JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,
Commandant.

Forwarded to the Under Secretary for Justice with reference to former papers.—H.H., B.C., 13/11/76.

[Enclosure.]

Mr. J. M. Saunders to The Major of Brigade.

Sir,

Bank of New South Wales, Maitland, 4 November, 1876.

It is with some regret I have to write on this subject again, and beg reference to your favour No. 76-443 of the 15th September, relative to the late Dr. John Pierce's application for a land order, which was sent in September, 1875, but to which no definite answer has as yet been received by Mrs. Pierce.

I believe that the Colonial Secretary is now in town, but will be leaving shortly, and next month Parliament will be meeting, when a press of business will necessarily arise. I would therefore thank you to submit this letter with any memo. the Commandant may choose to affix, for the decision of the Colonial Secretary.

I have, &c.,
JOHN M. SAUNDERS.

The Commandant to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 19 October, 1875.

With reference to my letter, 74-118, of the 25th February, 1874, and to your reply thereto of the 20th April same year, on the subject of the issue of land orders to Honorary Assistant Surgeons, I have the honor to forward, for the consideration of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, the accompanying letter from Honorary Assistant Surgeon J. Pierce, of the East Maitland Corps of Volunteer Rifles, with other papers having reference to his claim for a certificate for grant of land, and to point out that clauses 21 and 26 of the Volunteer Regulations requires Honorary Assistant Surgeons to attend ball or blank practice and such other parades as may be required of them during the year to class as efficient. Dr. Pierce does not appear to have attended as indicated, in consequence of it not being considered necessary to call upon him to render professional assistance, although he was prepared to do so if required; I have therefore to request you will be pleased to inform me whether, under the peculiar circumstances of the case, a land order may be issued to him.

I have, &c.,
JOHN S. RICHARDSON,
Lt.-Col., Commandant.

The Under Secretary of Justice and Public Instruction will kindly obtain the opinion of the Attorney General in this case. See second page and opinion of former Attorney General.—For the U.S., W.G., B.C., 28 Oct., 1875. To be returned.

[Enclosure.]

Dr. Pierce to Captain Bartlett.

Sir,

West Maitland, 8 September, 1875.

Having completed my term of service of five years as Assistant Surgeon of the East Maitland Corps of Volunteer Rifles, I beg to make application for my land order.

The date of my appointment is September 8th, 1870, signed by Earl Belmore.

I have always held myself in readiness when called upon, and attended strictly to all Brigade Orders when issued.

Yours, &c.,
JNO. PIERCE,
L.R.C.S., I., L. Med. R.C.S., I., &c.

Forwarded to B. O.—C. BOLTON, Mj., C.N.B., 15/9/75.

Major of Brigade to The Officer Commanding Northern Battalion.

Joined.—Commission. 8 September, 1870.

A CERTIFICATE is required vouching for service rendered by this officer since the issue of his Commission in accordance with parah. 21 page 25A, para. 26, page 26, of the Volunteer Regulations. Captain Bartlett will probably be unable to furnish a certificate for this back service; if so, perhaps he will kindly obtain the same from the late Commanding Officer of the corps.

By command,
W.B.B.C.,

21/9/75.

P.S.—Certificate to state that in such years Assistant Surgeon Pierce afforded professional assistance, and attended such parades as were required of him, and musketry, when required.

Captain Bartlett to Major Bolton.

Sir, East Maitland, 9 September, 1875.
I have the honor to forward you application of Dr. John Pierce, Assistant Surgeon of my company, for a land order. Sec. 25 of the Volunteer Regulations appears to entitle him to it, although he has not received the usual efficiency certificates, but is "effective" notwithstanding, viz.—"Medical Officers may classify as effective in having afforded their professional assistance, and having attended such parades as have been required of them during the year." Dr. Pierce has always been ready and willing to render his professional assistance, but fortunately it has not been required yet, and has always provided himself with regulation uniform to be ready to attend any parades that might be required of him, but he has not been called upon to attend any, those that he has attended being voluntary on his part. Dr. Pierce having received his appointment five years ago, and being "effective" during that time under the before-recited section, I trust he will be considered as entitled to receive his land order.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. F. BARTLETT,
Capt., 2 Co., 4 Batn.

Certificates.

I CERTIFY that during the time I was in command of No. 2 Company, 4 Battalion, I never had occasion to call upon Assistant Surgeon John Pierce of that Company to render his professional assistance, but I was aware that he was ready and willing to do so had I required him.

Maitland, 29th Sept., 1875.

GEORGE MIDDLETON,
Ensign, Late Com. 2 Co., 4 Batn.

I HEREBY certify that Assistant Surgeon John Pierce, of No. 2 Company, 4th Battalion, East Maitland, always held himself in readiness to attend any parades, or render his professional assistance if required, but from the time he received his Commission until I resigned command I never had occasion to call upon him to do so. When he did attend it was voluntary on his part.

ENOCH COBCROFT,
Captain, Late Com. No. 2 Co., 4 Batn.

I HEREBY certify that during the time I was in command of No. 2 Company, 4th Battalion, East Maitland, Assistant Surgeon John Pierce of that Company was always willing to attend and render his assistance if required, but I never thought it necessary to call upon him to do so. He attended voluntarily sometimes.

Wallsend, 30th Sept., 1875.

— MACKAY,
Lieutenant, Late Com. No. 2 Co., 4 Batn.

I HEREBY certify that Assistant Surgeon John Pierce of my Company has been ready and willing to attend and render his professional assistance as such Assistant Surgeon during the time I have been in command, but up to the present time I have not had occasion to call upon him to attend. I can also certify of my own knowledge that during the whole time I have been in the Company he has always expressed himself ready and willing to attend if required; and I also know that he has always provided himself with regulation uniform, &c.

Captain Bartlett to Major Bolton.

Sir, East Maitland, 4 October, 1875.
I have the honor to return papers in connection with Assistant Surgeon Pierce's application for his land order, together with certificates of previous commanding officers as to Dr. Pierce's readiness to attend if required. I have also sent a certificate as to my own knowledge of the matter; I trust that they will be sufficient.

Claim of Assistant Surgeon John Pierce to his Land Order.

THIS is not a question of law, but of departmental regulation, which the Colonial Secretary will doubtless settle if referred to him.

W. C. WINDEYER,

Attorney General.

The Principal Under Secretary.—W.E.P., B.C., 11 April, 1877.

Minutes of the Principal Under Secretary.

SUBMITTED, 17/4/77. May be approved. Surgeons are essentially non-combatants, but are required to attend upon combatants. To require them to go through regular musketry instruction, would be to fit them to do that which they are never required to do. If Surgeon Pierce attended or was ready to attend at all times upon combatants when fitting themselves for active service, he equitably attained a right to his land order as an efficient surgeon.—17.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

IMMIGRATION.

(CLAIM OF MESSRS. R. W. CAMERON & CO. FOR CONVEYANCE OF EMIGRANTS PER "N. BOYNTON.")

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 11 May, 1877.

No. 1.

R. W. Cameron, Esq., to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, 23, South William-street, New York, 25 January, 1877.
I have the honor to inform you that I have arranged with Messrs. R. W. Cameron & Co. to have carried in the barque "N. Boynton," to sail from this port on or about the 3rd proximo, 100 emigrants, and also from 100 to 150 in the barque "Sierra Nevada," to sail about thirty days thereafter. As soon as the respective vessels sail I will inform you of the cost of passage to your Government, which I can only say, at present, will be between £10 and £12 for each adult. I will also duly advise Mr. Wise.

I have, &c.,
R. W. CAMERON,
Emigrant Agent for the Eastern portion of the United States of America.

No. 2.

R. W. Cameron, Esq., to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, 23, South William-street, New York, 17 February, 1877.
Referring to my respects, 25th ultimo, I have now the honor to inform you of the sailing of barque "N. Boynton" for Sydney, N.S.W., on the 3rd instant, having on board ninety-five souls, equal to ninety-one statute adults.

Messrs. R. W. Cameron & Co. have made a careful estimate of the cost of conveying these emigrants, and their claim on the Government of New South Wales will be covered by a payment of £12 per statute adult, exclusive of expense of surgeon, and his passage and gratuities.

Surgeon Goodenough is a gentleman of good standing, with unexceptionable testimonials. His remuneration £40, and £30 paid to the ship for his passage, making the cost of surgeon £70 in full. His certificate for number of the emigrants has been forwarded by me to the Agent General in London.

Gratuities.—Separately I hand you formal letter, showing an amount of £117 due after arrival of the ship.

The amount due Messrs. R. W. Cameron & Co. is	...	£1,239
Say ninety-one statute adults, at £12 =	...	£1,092
Cost of passage, Dr. Goodenough	...	30
Gratuity order, including Dr. Goodenough's services	...	117
	...	£1,239

I have drawn on Hon. Wm. Forster, Agent General at London, for £6 per statute adult, say for £546, and on the Hon. Alex. Stuart, Treasurer at Sydney, for the balance, say	...	£693
Being £6 per statute adult	...	£546
Gratuities	...	117
Dr. Goodenough's passage	...	30
	...	£693

The ship has been amply provisioned by Messrs. R. W. Cameron & Co. for a voyage of 150 days; and for your satisfaction I enclose a list of the stores, with Commander J. C. Blanchard's receipt for the same.

I would further add, that I have forwarded to Mr. Forster the requisite documents, and full advice in connection with the despatch of the "N. Boynton"; and reverting to my respects 25th ulto., and particularly of the advice regarding succeeding vessel, would say that barque "Sierra Nevada" will be dispatched dispatched about 4th proxo., and with probably 150 emigrants; and that the new A 1 ship "Annie H. Smith," 2,600 tons capacity, has been chartered to follow, and by her I hope to send out a further number. The class of emigrants, to my mind, will be a desirable acquisition to your Colony.

I have, &.,

R. W. CAMERON,

Emigration Agent for the Eastern portion of the United States of America.

No. 3.

The Agent for Immigration to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Immigration Office, Sydney, 13 April, 1877.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 11th instant, with copy of a letter recently received from Mr. R. W. Cameron, of New York, reporting the departure of the ship "N. Boynton" from New York to this Colony, with ninety-one statute adults.

2. I have the honor to bring the subject-matter of this letter under the immediate notice of the Colonial Secretary. Mr. Cameron states that the firm of Messrs. R. W. Cameron & Co. estimate that their claim on the Government for the passages, &c., of these ninety-one adults "will be covered by a payment of £12 per adult," viz., £1,092. This estimate is exclusive of the payment of $37½ gold (equal to £7 10s.) made by each emigrant to Messrs. Cameron & Co.

In addition, however, to the passage money of	£1,092
is charged the cost of passage of the Surgeon	30
Also the gratuity payable to the Surgeon	40
"	"	Master and Officers	...	35
"	"	Cook	...	30
"	"	his Assistant	...	12
Total claim				£1,239

In settlement of which, Messrs. Cameron & Co. have drawn on the Agent General in London for the sum of	£546
And upon the Treasurer in Sydney for the balance of	693
Total				£1,239

3. I have the honor to submit that there appear to be many serious objections to the arrangements thus made for the settlement of this claim of £1,239. Full payment is thereby required to be made for all who may leave New York, although several may die on the voyage; whereas, by the charter party of ships from Great Britain, it is always noted that the second moiety of the passage money is paid for "only such passengers as shall be certified to have been landed alive in the Colony."

4. The claim of Messrs. Cameron & Co., for the amount of which they have drawn on the Treasurer, includes the payment to the surgeon of a total of £70, to the master and officers of £35, to the cook and his assistant of £42, notwithstanding that in their letter of advice of the 3rd February it is stated that "such gratuities have been promised on condition that the several parties shall have performed their duties to the satisfaction of the Government." I note that the gratuities for the officers are considerably in advance of the amounts paid to the masters and officers of ships chartered from Great Britain, such gratuities being fixed at the rate of 4s. per head on immigrants landed alive, which sum of 4s. per head is divided between the captain and his three officers, whereas the payment now made is at the rate of 7s. 6d. per head; also, that the gratuity usually given to the cook is £5, and £3 to his assistant, in lieu of the present payment of £30 to the cook and of £12 to his assistant.

5. It is further to be specially noticed, that the arrangements made for the second moiety of the passage money and of the gratuities preclude the Government from having any control over the ship and its officers after arrival; as, according to the accounts, the gratuities have already been paid, and are included in the draft of £693 on the Treasurer; thus, no pecuniary penalty can be inflicted, either on the ship for non-completion of contract, or on the surgeon, officers, and others, for neglect of duty, or for gross misconduct. It has been found necessary on many occasions to inflict heavy fines; for instance, a fine of £500 has been imposed and paid on account of an insufficient supply of water and of coal on board a ship. A fine of £250 was recently inflicted on the master of a ship for gross misconduct towards one of the female immigrants, and the whole of the gratuity payable to the surgeon-superintendent of the same ship was withheld from him. Fines of a lesser amount have frequently been made, but the only way in which a pecuniary penalty can now be inflicted on those in charge of immigrants from New York is by the non-payment of the drafts drawn by Mr. Cameron on the Treasurer of the Colony.

6. Mr. Cameron has omitted to state whether lay days will be permitted, so that the immigrants may remain on board the ship for two or three days if necessary. Again, the contracts for ships chartered in England are always made direct with the master (not with the agents of the ship), to whom therefore the second moiety of the passage money is alone payable; thus the Government retain all control in their own hands, until it has been certified by the Agent for Immigration that the stipulations of the charter party have in all respects been duly fulfilled.

I have, &c.,

GEORGE F. WISE,
Agent for Immigration.

IMMIGRATION REGULATIONS.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 19th September, 1876.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, directs the publication of the following Regulations for the promotion of Immigration, in lieu of those dated the 16th May, 1873, viz. :—

1. All immigrants from Great Britain and other parts of Europe shall be approved by the Agent General, or by such persons as he may appoint for the purpose. And the Agent General is hereby authorized to make all necessary appointments, and otherwise to carry out all duties to ensure the efficiency of the Immigration Service under these Regulations and under instructions from the Colonial Secretary.

2. All such immigrants, other than those nominated by residents in the Colony, shall be selected by the Agent General, or by some other officer duly authorized in that behalf.

3. Approval of such immigrants from the United Kingdom shall be limited to such persons between the ages of twelve years and fifty years as shall pay, or for whom there shall have been paid, a deposit of £2 ; and for children coming with their parents, between the ages of three years and twelve years, the sum of £1, and younger children without charge. In approving of immigrants, regard will be had to the relative numbers of the population of the Colony from the three Kingdoms, according to the latest Census. Payments in the Colony to be made to the Agent for Immigration in Sydney, and in the Country districts to the Clerks of Petty Sessions, or in London to the Agent General.

4. Similar immigrants from the Continent of Europe may be in like manner approved on payment being made in each case to any officer duly authorized in that behalf, of an amount to be fixed, with reference to the different rates of passage thence to the Colony, so that the Colony shall pay no more passage money for them than the average rate from the United Kingdom : Provided that not more than one-eighth of the funds authorized by Parliament shall be so expended.

5. In like manner, and under similar regulations, immigrants may be approved from the eastern portion of the United States, by an agent to be appointed by or with the approval of the Colonial Secretary : Provided that not more than one-fourth of the funds authorized by Parliament shall be so expended, and provided that none of such immigrants be Asiatics, and that such immigrants shall pay towards their passage not less than immigrants from Great Britain.

6. The persons to be introduced shall be of sound mental and bodily health and of good moral character, and shall consist of mechanics, miners, domestic servants, farmers, vinedressers, and any other descriptions of labourers suitable for country pursuits, and to be chosen with a special view to the promotion of the industrial pursuits of the Colony.

7. Married people, with their children, and unmarried men shall be allowed to remain on board four clear days after the ship anchors in Port Jackson, and unmarried women shall be received into an Immigrants' Home, and shall be allowed to remain there for eight clear days under the control of the Agent for Immigration.

8. Immigrants desiring to proceed, within three clear days of their arrival, to the country districts, will be allowed free passages by railway and steamboat.

9. Immigrants from the United Kingdom must be brought out in ships subject to the Regulations under the Queen's Order in Council, dated February 25, 1856, prescribing rules for preserving order, promoting health, &c., on board passenger ships, and the additional Regulations provided by the Board of Emigration in England ; also, under such further Regulations as the Agent General may make and prescribe for their moral and sanitary condition during the passage ; and those from the Continent of Europe and from the United States, subject to such Regulations as may be determined by the Agent General or other officer duly authorized in that behalf. No allowance will under any circumstances be made in favour of any person taking a cabin or intermediate passage.

10. In the event of any person for whom a deposit has been paid for a passage declining to emigrate, or not being able to comply with the conditions required by these Regulations, or in case the amount deposited shall exceed that required for the number of immigrants actually introduced, the amount deposited, or the amount in excess, as the case may be, will be returned to the depositor by the Agent General, in London, on satisfactory proof being shown to justify such course, or by the Agent for Immigration, in Sydney, on return of the passage certificate, or upon the receipt of the Agent General's report.

11. Persons who make deposits, or for whom deposits are made, will, on approval, receive a passage certificate, which certificate will be available for one year only from the date thereof.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

IMMIGRATION HOME, EAST MAITLAND.

(LETTER FROM THE MAYOR RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 12 June, 1877.

REPLY to Mr. Bennett's Question respecting Immigrants Home, East Maitland.

Sir,

Municipal Council Chambers, East Maitland, June 9, 1877.

Your telegram of yesterday relative to Mr. Bennett's intended question was received too late for reply before to-day.

I find upon search and inquiry, that many years ago what had once been a Government Stockade and convict station at East Maitland was by the addition of some frame buildings converted into an immigrants home. That after it had been so occupied for some little time the Government sold the frame buildings and they were removed.

That eventually the old Stockade buildings, having fallen into ruins and the material being removed, no one knew how, the Municipal Council, by a resolution, unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Council in the month of March, 1870, resolved to sell the old materials of the kitchen of the former buildings (all other material having disappeared); together with some old fencing stuff remaining in the hands of the Council on their refencing the East Maitland sale-yards; that the whole sum realized by this sale and received by the Council on the 19th of April, 1870, was £8 8s.; and that of this sum the proceeds of the sale of the old material on the Stockade Hill amounted to £2 or £2 10s., I am not certain which.

This sum went into the general funds of the Council, who had in the year 1869 expended upwards of £205 upon the "Cook's Square" Reserve, whereon the old Stockade had formerly stood. I have to add that the sale referred to was by auction.

I have, &c.,
 GEORGE THOS. CHAMBERS,
 Mayor.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

IMMIGRATION.

(REPORT FROM AGENT, FOR 1876.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Agent for Immigration to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Government Immigration Office, Sydney, 28 February, 1877.

I have the honor to submit, for the information of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, my Report on Immigration for the year 1876.

2. In September, 1876, the Immigration Regulations of May, 1873, were cancelled; other Regulations were then promulgated, and are herewith, under which the deposit is fixed at £2 in lieu of at £5 per adult.

The former charge of £1 per head for bedding and mess utensils is no longer made, and no deposit is required for children under three years of age.

The age of the immigrants to be introduced has hitherto been fixed at thirty-five years for unmarried men and women, and at forty years for married couples.

Passage certificates are now granted, under special circumstances, to emigrants up to the age of fifty years, subject to the approval of the Agent General, or of some other officer duly authorized in that behalf; the Regulations also provide for the introduction of immigrants from any part of Europe and from the eastern portion of the United States.

A further advantage is granted by allowing free passages by railway and by steamboat to all immigrants desiring to proceed into the country, provided they are willing to avail themselves of the privilege within three clear days after their arrival.

3. A sufficient time has not elapsed to ascertain how far these Regulations will induce an increased immigration. The applications for certificates during the last three months of the year have averaged more than double the number per month than during any similar period in the past three-and-a-half years. Probably, also, there will be a large number of persons who will obtain passages from the Agent General in London as soon as it shall have been made known that the cost of a passage to this Colony is only £2.

4. Four ships have arrived, viz. :—

"Earl Dalhousie"	arrived 15th February with	321 immigrants.
"Star of India"	" 16th June with	333 "
"Samuel Plimsoll"	" 19th August with	411 "
"Nineveh"	" 10th November with	398 "

of whom 494 were sent for by their friends in the Colony; the remaining 969 were selected by the Agent General. Information has been received from the Agent General that the "Earl Dalhousie," with 332 immigrants, left England on the 20th January, to be followed by the "St. Lawrence" on or about the 1st of March, the "Commonwealth" on the 30th of March, and so on, monthly, with about 400 emigrants in each ship. The Emigration Agent at New York also reports, that he has despatched, on the 3rd of February, ninety-one emigrants in the ship "Boynton," and that he expects to forward 350 emigrants in the months of March and April.

5. During the outward voyage there occurred eight births and thirteen deaths, viz. :—Two adults and eleven children, the deaths being less than one per cent. on the number embarked. It was deemed advisable, as a matter of precaution, that two of the ships, on arrival, should be placed in Quarantine, viz., the "Samuel Plimsoll," for ten days, and the "Nineveh" for twelve days. In neither case, however, was there any serious case of illness.

6. The immigrants may be thus classified, viz. :—

Male adults,—
Married	186
Single	456
		— 642
Female adults,—
Married	186
Single	243
		— 429
Children under 12 years of age,—
Male	208
Female	184
		— 392
	Total 1,463

233—

The

The attention of the Agent General has been called to the fact that a larger number of single men has been introduced than of single women, and he has been requested to obtain at least as many female as male emigrants.

10. The 243 single women were chiefly of the class of "domestic servants," and although the greater proportion immediately joined their friends and relatives who had sent for them, it is well known that subsequently a large number entered into service. There were, however, a few, namely 27, who preferred to hire from the Depôt. These readily obtained engagements at an average rate of wages of £24 10s. per annum. The larger number of the married people and of the single men left the ships on arrival to join their friends. It was not possible further to trace them, or to ascertain the rate of wages at which they were hired, either as mechanics, tradesmen, or labourers. Of those who arrived by the two last ships there were forwarded by railway and by steamboat into the country districts 40 married couples with their 117 children, and 92 single men.

11. It has been found that a large proportion of those who are nominated in the Colony are either unable or are unwilling to emigrate. The number at present ascertained of those who have not availed themselves of their passage certificates have been 742, out of 2,536 individuals who were nominated under the Immigration Regulations of May, 1873, being nearly 30 per cent.

12. The returns of the arrivals at and departures from this Colony by sea have been furnished to this Department by the Collector of Customs. From these returns the following information is obtained, viz. :—

Arrivals from Great Britain, including 124 children	650
Departures to Great Britain, including 150 children	919
Arrivals from New Zealand, the neighbouring Colonies, and from Foreign Ports, including 3,701 children	30,122
Departures to same, including 1,709 children	19,974

Independently,

Independently, however, of the arrivals by sea, which are in excess of the departures, there is no doubt that New South Wales annually receives a large influx of overland population from Victoria, South Australia, and Queensland, of which no record can be obtained.

13. Referring, as in former reports, to the emigration from the United Kingdom, given in the returns of the Board of Trade for the year 1875 (the returns for 1876 have not yet been published) the following valuable information is obtained, viz.: The total emigration from the United Kingdom was in—

1873	310,612
1874	241,014
1875	173,809

thus showing a very considerable diminution in the emigration from the United Kingdom.

14. The departures from the United Kingdom in 1875 were:—

To the United States	105,046
To British North America	17,378
To the Australasian Colonies and New Zealand	35,525
To all other places	15,860
Total	173,809

The emigration to all the Australasian Colonies and New Zealand amounted, as shown in the above table, to 35,525. It was distributed as follows:—

To New Zealand	18,763
Victoria	5,673
Queensland	5,482
South Australia	2,819
New South Wales	2,157
Western Australia	629
Tasmania	2
Total	35,525

15. The total emigration from the United Kingdom for the 61 years ending 1875, has amounted to 8,236,720.

The emigration during the ten years ending 1875 has averaged annually 238,521.

[Enclosure.]

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 19th September, 1876.

HIS Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, directs the publication of the following Regulations for the promotion of Immigration, in lieu of those dated the 16th May, 1873, viz.:—

1. All immigrants from Great Britain and other parts of Europe shall be approved by the Agent General, or by such persons as he may appoint for the purpose. 2. All such immigrants, other than those nominated by residents in the Colony, shall be selected by the Agent General, or by some other officer duly authorized in that behalf.

3. Approval of such immigrants from the United Kingdom shall be limited to such persons between the ages of twelve years and fifty years as shall pay, or for whom there shall have been paid, a deposit of £2; and for children coming with their parents, between the ages of three years and twelve years, the sum of £1, and younger children without charge. In approving of immigrants, regard will be had to the relative numbers of the population of the Colony from the three Kingdoms, according to the latest Census. Payments in the Colony to be made to the Agent for Immigration in Sydney, and in the Country districts to the Clerks of Petty Sessions, or in London to the Agent General.

4. Similar immigrants from the Continent of Europe may be in like manner approved on payment being made in each case to any officer duly authorized in that behalf, of an amount to be fixed, with reference to the different rates of passage thence to the Colony, so that the Colony shall pay no more passage money for them than the average rate from the United Kingdom: Provided that not more than one-eighth of the funds authorized by Parliament shall be so expended.

5. In like manner, and under similar regulations, immigrants may be approved from the eastern portion of the United States, by an agent to be appointed by or with the approval of the Colonial Secretary: Provided that not more than one-fourth of the funds authorized by Parliament shall be so expended, and provided that none of such immigrants be Asiatics, and that such immigrants shall pay towards their passage not less than immigrants from Great Britain.

6. The persons to be introduced shall be of sound mental and bodily health and of good moral character, and shall consist of mechanics, miners, domestic servants, farmers, vinedressers, and any other descriptions of labourers suitable for country pursuits, and to be chosen with a special view to the promotion of the industrial pursuits of the Colony.

7. Married people, with their children, and unmarried men shall be allowed to remain on board four clear days after the ship anchors in Port Jackson, and unmarried women shall be received into an Immigrants' Home, and shall be allowed to remain there for eight clear days under the control of the Agent for Immigration.

8. Immigrants desiring to proceed, within three clear days of their arrival, to the country districts, will be allowed free passages by railway and steambomb.

9. Immigrants from the United Kingdom must be brought out in ships subject to the Regulations under the Queen's Order in Council, dated February 25, 1856, prescribing rules for preserving order, promoting health, &c., on board passenger ships, and the additional regulations provided by the Board of Emigration in England; also, under such further regulations as the Agent General may make and prescribe for their moral and sanitary condition during the passage, and those from the Continent of Europe and from the United States, subject to such regulations as may be determined by the Agent General or other officer duly authorized in that behalf. LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

IMMIGRATION.

(PETITION FROM CHAIRMAN OF A PUBLIC MEETING AGAINST THE PRESENT SYSTEM.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 14 June, 1877.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned, on behalf of one of the largest public meetings of the Working Classes, held at the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday, May 29th, at which hundreds were unable to gain admission, for the purpose of considering the indiscriminate system of Emigration now being carried out by the Government,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That the importation of numbers of labourers both skilled and unskilled into New South Wales, belonging to trades and callings which from the authentic returns from the different Societies affiliated to the Trades and Labour Council, under whose auspices the meeting was convened, are stated to be already over-crowded and that numbers of their members are unable to find employment, and many in consequence being obliged to gladly take work however menial at whatever remuneration may be offered; this, together with the fact that your Honorable House have voted the large sum of £100,000 for the purpose of bringing to this country a large influx of labour, which if done will most unmistakeably depress and lower the status of the working classes and be highly injurious to them and a wrong to those who are induced by misrepresentations of the state of the labour market to emigrate to New South Wales, and such as a resolution being carried unanimously at the aforesaid public meeting to be signed by the Chairman for them: your Petitioner would therefore humbly pray your Honorable House to take the circumstances herein set forth into your earnest consideration, with a view to prevent our being injured in our various trades and callings.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

WILLIAM NUNN,

President of the Trades and Labour Council, Chairman of the Meeting

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

IMMIGRATION.

(PETITION AGAINST—MARTIN GUEST, CHAIRMAN OF A PUBLIC MEETING OF MECHANICS AND LABOURERS OF SYDNEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 26 June, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

May it please your Honorable House that the humble petition of a large number of between two and three thousand mechanics, labourers, and working people, electors, and citizens of Sydney, in public meeting assembled,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners have learned with alarm and regret that one hundred thousand pounds has been voted by your Honorable House out of the people's money to bring immigrants into this Colony, for the purpose of competing in the labour market with those already here—the state of the labour market at present in no way justifying such a large expenditure of public money, hundreds of persons in Sydney and throughout the Colony being in great distress owing to their being unable to obtain employment.

Your Petitioners object to the sum voted as involving a principle of protection, at variance and antagonistic to the principles and professions of a "Free Trade Parliament," by protecting the employers of labour against the working classes, thereby fostering one class at the loss and cost of another class, which policy your Petitioners believe to be the very essence of protection and which a Free Trade Parliament should not allow or adopt.

Your Petitioners would respectfully submit that, while they are prepared to admit immigration of European origin at their own expense, they will avail themselves of every constitutional means to express their disapproval and their opposition to one single penny—under the present circumstances of the labour market of the Colony—of the people's money being spent for that purpose.

Trusting your Honorable House will take these premises into consideration and at once discountenance any more immigration at the public expense, and thus grant the reasonable demand of a large section of the people of this Colony.

Therefore your Petitioners humbly pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into your favourable consideration, and give them such relief as your Honorable House may deem meet.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Signed on behalf of the Meeting,—

MARTIN GUEST,
Chairman.

(PETITION AGAINST—RESIDENTS OF ANVIL CREEK, GRETA, AND NEIGHBOURHOOD.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 11 July, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled, New South Wales.

The Petition of the undersigned Residents of the townships of Anvil Creek, Greta, and the surrounding districts,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners most respectfully protest against the motion tabled by the Honorable Sir Henry Parkes, and passed by your Honorable House, for the appropriation of one hundred thousand pounds sterling for immigration purposes, as your Petitioners consider that such expenditure would be most injurious to the working classes in the Colony. And in support of this protest your Petitioners would respectfully submit the following reasons:—

- 1st.—That from the present overcrowded state of the labour market and the difficulty of obtaining employment even at a low rate of remuneration, the introduction of a large number of people, whose sole means of obtaining support would be derived from employment afforded by others, would have a tendency to still further diminish the chances of obtaining employment, and would inevitably reduce the rate of wages, and thus bring about a state of pauperism altogether undesirable in a new country.
- 2nd.—That your Petitioners entirely disagree with a line of policy that would compel them to contribute towards bringing out a number of people to this Colony, when it is to be taken into consideration that a large youthful population is springing up who will require employment, which from the scarcity of manufacturing and industrial pursuits will (it is feared) be hard to be obtained.

Your Petitioners would therefore most sincerely pray that your Honorable House will take such measures as are necessary to prevent the expenditure of this money.

And, as in duty bound, your Petitioners will ever pray.

(PETITION AGAINST--RESIDENTS OF MINMI AND SURROUNDING DISTRICTS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 25 July, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned residents of Minmi and surrounding districts,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners have heard with alarm and regret that your Honorable House has voted the sum of £100,000 (one hundred thousand pounds) for the purpose of introducing immigrants to this Colony.

That your Petitioners would be seriously affected thereby as the importation of large numbers of people is likely to unduly affect the wages earned by your Petitioners.

Your Petitioners would therefore humbly pray your Honorable House to take such steps as your wisdom may deem fit to prevent the evil your Petitioners complain of.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

IMMIGRATION.

(PETITION AGAINST—MARTIN GUEST, CHAIRMAN OF A MEETING OF THE WORKING MEN'S DEFENCE ASSOCIATION, SYDNEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 18 July, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

May it please your Honorable House, the humble Petition of the members of the Working Men's Defence Association,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners are deeply impressed with the serious and momentous consequences to their material interests by the recent vote of your Honorable House on the subject of immigration to this Colony, and therefore desire to submit its important bearings for reconsideration.

That your Petitioners utterly fail to perceive any pressing necessity or demand for the introduction of augmented numbers to the wage-earning classes at the present time and under the existing circumstances of the industrial market, beyond the simple and temporary requirements of the railway works, which are of an exceptional and peculiar character.

That your Petitioners gravely apprehend that the action of your Honorable House will be fraught with lamentable evils to the working classes, inclusive of immigrants forthcoming, from the absolute lack of occupation for their services which must inevitably ensue from the supply becoming so much in excess of the demand, and the absence of all encouragement to prospective industries which might be capable of absorbing surplus population in active pursuits.

That your Petitioners entertain solemn doubts of the propriety of appropriating the vote passed by your Honorable House in favour of increased immigration, and respectfully solicit the suspension of its operation.

That your Petitioners are furthermore respectfully of opinion that your Honorable House would greatly subserve the public interests by taking into its early consideration the expediency of legislation upon an Electoral Law having for its basis the representation of Constituencies formed upon population, and the adoption of the principle of payment of Members of Parliament, for without it we apprehend the interests of the working classes can never be properly represented; the enactment of a liberal and comprehensive scheme of reform in the Land Laws of the Colony, which requires such immediate legislation as will settle the Land question and its conflicting interests upon an equitable basis and stimulate the people to take up land and make homes for themselves; the necessity of fostering colonial manufactures and industries to promote the stability and well-being of the people; the initiation and passing of an Act to legalize mining and the search for minerals on private property; and that your Honorable House will consider the propriety of voting annually a sum of money from the public revenue for the purpose of more efficiently prospecting and developing the Gold Fields of this Colony; and lastly, until such reforms as the above are carried into law, your Petitioners would respectfully suggest to your Honorable House the advisability of postponing any public question of a vexed nature which would be likely to imperil or interfere with the successful accomplishment of the above much needed reforms.

That your Petitioners humbly pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into its favourable consideration, and grant them such relief as in your wisdom you may deem meet.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Chairman, on behalf of the Meeting.

(PETITION AGAINST—GEORGE WALLACE, CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC MEETING, NEWCASTLE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 21 June, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the working men and others resident in Newcastle and surrounding districts,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH :—

That a mass meeting was called by advertisement and held on the 16th day of June instant in Newcastle and was one of the largest and most influential ever held in the Northern Districts of the Colony.

That the Mayor of Newcastle was chairman of the said meeting.

That at the said meeting the following resolutions were unanimously adopted :—

1. That this meeting is of opinion that the present indiscriminate system of Immigration now being carried on from America and England is highly injurious to the working classes of the country, and a wrong to those induced by false representations to emigrate to New South Wales.
2. That the first resolution should be embodied in a memorial and presented to Parliament by Angus Cameron, Esq., M.L.A., and that the chairman of the meeting sign the Petition on behalf of the meeting.

Your Petitioners therefore pray your Honorable House will take such action for preventing the expenditure of the £100,000 sterling voted for the purpose of Immigration as to your Honorable House shall seem meet.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Signed on behalf of the Petitioners,—

(PETITION AGAINST—RESIDENTS OF PLATTSBURG AND WALLSEND.

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 22 June, 1877.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned residents of the Townships of Plattsburg and Wallsend, in the County of Northumberland, Colony of New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

1. That in the opinion of your Petitioners the action of your Honorable House in empowering the Government to expend an additional £100,000 for Immigration purposes during the present year is premature and uncalled for, and if carried into effect can only entail misery on a large proportion of those who may be induced to immigrate, and will seriously affect the interests of the present Colonists, as there is at the present time a large portion of the adult population of the Colony who cannot obtain more than casual employment.

2. Your Petitioners are fully aware of the advantages of a rapidly increasing, thriving, and industrious population, but are also fully convinced that until the Parliament have by offering inducements succeeded in establishing permanent and thriving industries for the employment of labour, the present annual increase of the population is sufficient for the requirements of the Colony.

Your Petitioners would therefore respectfully and earnestly pray your Honorable House to cancel the authority given to the Government to expend the sum of £100,000, for the purposes of Immigration.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

PRIORITY OF SELECTIONS MADE ON THE SAME DAY.

1. Whenever the same land shall be applied for on the same day by two or more applicants, that applicant who shall first have tendered to the Land Agent an application in due form, accompanied by the prescribed deposit for the land, shall be declared the purchaser, but in the event of the applications being tendered simultaneously, or so nearly together that the Land Agent shall be in doubt as to which may have been first tendered, the right to the land shall be determined by lot, in accordance with the regulations heretofore subsisting, as soon as the same can conveniently be done.

2. Should there be reason to anticipate extraordinary competition for land on any land office day, it shall be within the discretion of the Minister for Lands to instruct the Land Agent to deal with all applications that may be found upon examination to be conflicting, and upon the clear priority of which he has doubt, tendered on that day between such hours or periods as he may prescribe, as applications having been made simultaneously: Provided that such instructions shall be limited to the day or days therein specifically mentioned.

3. In the event of its being found, at any time subsequently to the receipt of applications for conditional purchase, that the same land has been applied for, wholly or in part, by two or more persons, a day may be fixed, of which due notice shall be given by the Land Agent to the several applicants, and the right to the land shall then be determined by lot as already provided.

APPRAISEMENT.

COURT OF APPRAISEMENT.

The Appraiser or Appraisers, having made the declaration prescribed by the Act, and appointed (except in the case of a sole Appraiser) an umpire thereunder, shall appoint a time and place for holding a Court of Appraisement at some convenient place in the district; and shall give not less than fourteen (14) days' notice in writing thereof to the parties interested, and to the umpire, if any.

HOW APPRAISEMENT TO BE CONDUCTED.

The Appraisement shall be made in open Court, and upon due inquiry and consideration of any evidence, documentary or otherwise, which may be laid before the Appraiser or Appraisers by the claimant, or at the instance of the Government, or which may have been produced at their own instance.

LANDS ACTS AMENDMENT ACT OF 1875.

No. 1.

Application for purchase of Crown Lands.

B.—Lands Acts Amendment Act—1875.

APPLICATION for the purchase of Crown Lands in virtue of intended improvements by the holder thereof, under a lease or promise of lease for pastoral purposes.

Received by me with a deposit of £80, this 11th day of April, 1876.

£4 subdivision fee.

J. A. BROUGHTON,
Agent for Sale of Crown Lands at Deniliquin.

Sir,

Windouran, Moulamein, 11 April, 1876.

I hereby apply to purchase, without competition, under the provisions of the 31st clause of the Lands Acts Amendment Act, 1875, the Crown Land described hereunder, on which I intend to erect the improvements detailed below, and I herewith tender the sum of £80, being a deposit of £1 per acre on the area for which I apply.

I have, &c.,

LACHLAN M'BEAN.

The Crown Lands Agent, Deniliquin.

Description of land.

Name of run, Windouran, leasehold, county of Wakool, parish of Baldon, 80 acres, on measured portion No. 60 on the Box Creek.

Describe intended improvements in detail.

Excavated dam of 1,200 cubic yards and wire fence cattle-proof, close to the Mando Stock Route, south of J. P. L. M'Bean, 100 acres measured portion No. 61.

Minutes on No. 1.

Referred to Occupation Office for name of lessee and estimated area of run.—3rd May, 1876.

Windouran Run, district of Murrumbidgee, Lachlan M'Bean, lessee. Estimated area, 70,400 acres.—G.M.

Occupation of Lands, 13th May, 1876.

No. 2.

Minute of Mr. Secretary Garrett.

I DESIRE the Honorable the Attorney General's opinion upon the following point:—The "Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875," clause 31, provides for the preemptive right provisionally to purchase lands intended to be improved within twelve months from the date of application, in quantities from 40 acres to 640 acres, in proportion to the area under lease to the applicant.

The proviso to the clause is to this effect:—"Provided also that no such application to purchase as aforesaid shall be made for more than 1 square mile within each block of 5 miles square out of each lease, or a proportionate quantity out of any holding of less area." Now, the question is whether it is absolutely legally necessary that the lessee should hold in one block of 5 miles square leasehold land from the Crown to entitle him to make an application, and to require that it be received, for a portion of land, under the 31st clause of the Act in question, of the area named therein; or, in other words, if there should not be a block of land of 5 miles square upon his run, is the lessee debarred from exercising the power to purchase under the 31st clause of the Act named?

I send herewith plans* showing applications already made to purchase areas under the 31st clause out of runs of which there is not 5 miles square of leasehold land in one block.

My colleague would oblige by giving his opinion immediately if convenient.

T.G.,
29/9/76.

Also, if there is any alienation out of the block of 5 miles square, can an application to purchase under the 31st clause be entertained for a portion of land within such square?

T.G.

See memo. on Attorney General's opinion.—T.G., 10/10/76.

No. 3.

Opinion of Mr. Attorney General Dalley.

In re applications for the purchase of Crown Lands, in virtue of intended improvements by the holder thereof, under a lease, or promise of lease, for pastoral purposes.

By section 31 of 39 Victoria No. 13 (the Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875), it is provided that if any person holding Crown Lands under lease, or promise of lease, for pastoral purposes, shall apply for liberty, by reason of improvements intended to be made thereon, to purchase any area of such land, not exceeding 640 acres nor less than 40 acres, and shall set forth the intended improvements, describe the land, land, and pay to the Land Agent one pound per acre on the area applied for, such land shall for a year from the date of the application be held to be land lawfully contracted to be granted in fee-simple, and as such not open for conditional sale, and upon the completion of the improvements to the value of one pound per acre on the land so applied for, a grant shall issue.

In this clause there are two provisions. The first (with which I am not concerned) is as to the forfeiture of twenty-five per cent. of the deposit if the improvements shall not be made. The second requires that the application shall be limited to one square mile within each block of five miles square, out of each lease, or of proportionate quantity out of any holding of less area. In my opinion there must be, in the first case, to entitle any one to the preemptive right provisionally to purchase land intended to be improved to the extent of one square mile, these conditions in existence:—

First, that the person applying holds as lessee of a block of land for five miles square, within which area the land which he applies to purchase is situate; in other words, that his application must be a single one, and that it must be within a block of five miles square.

In the second place, that his application must be for a proportionate quantity out of any holding of less area.

A rough tracing has been sent with these papers showing the application of Mr. Lachlan M'Bean, Appendix C. and the position of the land which he has applied to purchase, and other applications are also forwarded with rough tracings showing the positions of the land.

I am of opinion that none of them are applications which can be made under the section of the Act alluded to.

Crown Law Offices, 29 September, 1876.

WILLIAM B. DALLEY,
Attorney General.

The opinion here given by the Attorney General should be applied to all cases of applications under the 31st clause.—T.G., 10/10/76.

No. 4.

M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., M.L.A., to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

251, George-street, Sydney, 11 May, 1877.

A few days back I had the honor of an interview with you upon the subject of the curious interpretation put by the late Government on the 31st clause of the Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875; and, encouraged by your kind reception, I now submit in writing, as you suggested, my earnest protest against the practice laid down on the opinion of the late Attorney General.

The intention of this clause is too obvious to need much comment. It was to enable the lessee to secure land on which he intended to construct improvements, and of course it limited him, in plain English, to one selection not exceeding 1 square mile out of every five and twenty square miles. This limit the Act adopted from the 7th clause of the Alienation Act of 1861, and the language used is almost identical. The Act of 1875 says, "Provided also that no such application to purchase as aforesaid shall be made for more than one square mile within each block of five miles square out of each lease or a proportionate quantity of any holding of a less area."

Now for long years during which this clause of the Act of 1861 was in force, no doubt was ever thrown on the meaning, or if there were any doubt, it was at once removed by Ministerial decision.

The clause was held to mean what everybody knew it was intended to mean, namely, to limit these non-competitive purchases to a given proportion of the area of the run, viz., 1 square mile out of 25 square miles, or 640 acres out of 16,000 acres. Recently, however, Mr. Dalley gave an opinion, the exact term of which not being before me, I cannot quote; but on the strength of this opinion the late Government announced in every case the astounding decision that no such purchase was legal unless the land applied for was in a block of 5 miles square, and hence, no matter what the area of the run was, no purchase of the kind could be sustained unless situated in an exact square whose sides were 5 miles long. This extraordinary decision had the effect of rendering the 31st clause of the Act simply nugatory so far as regarded purchases of 640 acres, because I need not inform you that there is not perhaps in the whole Colony a run forming an exact square with its sides 5 miles long; but, with a marvellous inconsistency, it was at the same time held that in case of a lesser area than 5 miles square the application was sustained, no matter what the shape of the run was.

To give a practical illustration, as well of the hardship of the decision as of its inconsistency, I may mention that some twelve months ago Sir James M'Culloch took up a selection of 50 acres on his "Illilawa" Run, paying £50, and thereafter making improvements thereon to the value of £80.

Six months after, a selector, who had got scent of the decision of the late Government, selected or purported to select the same land, and warned Sir James M'Culloch's people off the land which he had improved.

I am informed that the run contains something little short of 100,000 acres, but there may not be, probably is not on this large run an exact block of 5 miles square; hence if the practice of the Lands Department be upheld the selection will be declared void. Now notice the consistency of the decision: If the area of the run had fallen short of 5 miles square the selection would have been sustained.

I think in all my experience I never knew of a decision said to be based on a legal opinion which does such violence to the plain intention of the Act.

Does any one in his sober senses doubt that the intention of the Act was to allow the lessee to purchase 640 acres out of every 16,000 acres which the run contained, and in the like proportion for areas less than 16,000 acres?

I submit this case to you with the full conviction that, either with or without legal advice (for I do not conceive that you need legal advice), you will see your way to reverse the practice of your department, and give to the law its plain meaning, thus doing justice to many who have been, in my humble judgment, deprived of what the law clearly promised them.

I have, &c.,

M. FITZPATRICK.

Mr. Attorney General Dalley's opinion is herewith.—E.B., 18 May, /77. Submitted.—L.G.T., 18/5/77. The Minister for Lands has instructed me to forward these papers to the Crown Solicitor, with the view of obtaining the opinion of the Attorney General.—B.C., 22 June, /77, W.W.S.

No. 5.

Messrs. Wilson & Ranken to The Minister for Lands.

Sir, 227, George-street, Sydney, 11 June, 1877.
 In the month of October, 1876, Messrs. Angus Robertson & Bros. made an application to select, under the provisions of the 31st clause of the amended Act, on the Bingeong Run, Murrumbidgee District, which application Mr. Moriarty, acting as Land Agent, refused, a memo. having at the time of application been made by him to the following effect:—"Amount tendered, money returned; not being within a block of 5 miles square."

This land has since been selected by a person named Brennan, and the lessees, having obtained the opinion of leading counsel to the effect that they are legally entitled to this land, are determined to uphold their rights in the Law Courts; but before doing so, we, on their authority, beg respectfully to request that you will be pleased to consider the decision given, and the course of action now taken by the Government in such cases, so that justice may be done to the applicants and expensive litigation avoided.

We have, &c.,

WILSON & RANKEN.

I refused to receive Messrs. Robertson's applications in accordance with the opinion of the late Attorney General (herein submitted), the land applied for not being within "a block of 5 square miles" out of the lease.—A.O.M., 14/6/77. Inform Messrs. Wilson & Ranken.—R.D., 18/6/77. Forwarded by direction of the Minister for Lands for the perusal of the Attorney General, with reference to separate letter (herewith) from Mr. Fitzpatrick, M.P., of the 11th May, 1877, and on which an opinion has been asked for.—B.C., 22 June, 1877, W.W.S.

No. 6.

The Crown Solicitor to The Under Secretary for Lands.

Sir, Crown Solicitor's Office, 6 July, 1877.
 I have the honor to return herewith the papers forwarded to me relating to the 31st section of the Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875, and to state that I have submitted same to Mr. Attorney General, a copy of whose advising thereon will be found on the other side.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WILLIAMS.

[Enclosure to No. 6.]

Opinion of Mr. Attorney General Windeyer.

I AM of opinion that the words "five miles square" in the 31st section of the Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875 must be taken to mean five miles squared in the arithmetical sense of the term, or in other words twenty-five square miles. There can be no reason why the block should be a geometrical figure five miles square to entitle the run-holder to exercise the right given under the 31st section; and the privilege to select a proportionate quantity out of any holding "of less area" shows that the intention of the Legislature was to determine the right of selection under this section by the size or area of the run, and not to make it in any way depend on its geometrical configuration. Any other interpretation of the words would, moreover, exclude a large majority of run-holders from partaking of the rights given under the section, and the Legislature could never have intended to give exceptional privileges to a few persons accidentally holding runs of a certain shape. The policy of the Legislature, as indicated in this section, is, I believe, the same as that indicated in the 7th section of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861, where the more appropriate words "twenty-five square miles" are used. The difference in the language of the amending Act has, I take it, simply arisen from careless drafting, and not from any intention to give effect to a different policy, in defence of which no valid argument can, it appears to me, be advanced.

W. C. WINDEYER,
 Attorney General.

LANDS ACTS AMENDMENT ACT OF 1875.

No. 1.

Application by Mr. R. Blackwood.

Crown Lands Office, Deniliquin, No. 55.

APPLICATION for the purchase of Crown Lands in virtue of intended improvements by the holder thereof, under a lease or promise of lease for pastoral purposes.

Received by me with a deposit of £453, this 17th day of October, 1876.

J. A. BROUGHTON,

Agent for Sale of Crown Lands at Deniliquin.

Sir,

Hartwood, Conargo, 17 October, 1876.

I hereby apply to purchase, without competition, under the provisions of the 31st clause of the Lands Acts Amendment Act, 1875, the Crown Land described hereunder, on which I intend to erect the improvements detailed below, and I herewith tender the sum of £453, being a deposit of £1 per acre on the area for which I apply.

I have, &c.,

RICHARD BLACKWOOD,

By his Agent, S. M'FADZEAN.

The Crown Lands Agent, Deniliquin.

Description.

453 acres in North Currabunganung, county of Townsend, parish of North Currabunganung: Starting from the north-west corner of portion No. 51; thence by a line south about 60 chains; thence by a line west; thence by a line north to the south-east corner of pre-emptive purchase No. 1; thence along that boundary to the Yanko Creek; thence east along said creek, to point of commencement, to take in the above area.

Improvements—Sheep-drafting yards, fencing, &c.

Minutes on No. 1.

North Currabunganung Run, district of Murrumbidgee—Richard Blackwood lessee, estimated area, 20-438 acres. Date of last appraisalment, 15th October, 1875.—G.M., Occupation of Lands, 26 October, 1876.

This application appears to have been made in virtue of North Currabunganung Run, on which alienation has so largely taken place that the 5-mile test cannot be applied. This has already been reported to the Lands Department by the Surveyor General's B.C., 11th October, 1876, under which the action suggested could have been taken in Lands, as the application is not made in virtue of pre-leased land.—F.W.R. (for Surveyor General), 26th October, 1876.

With reference to your letter of the 11th December last, No. 5. stating that Mr. Blackwood declined to receive the refund of his deposit paid on the application particularized in the margin, and requested that the sale to him of the land applied for might be completed, I am directed to inform you that no reason appears to be given for the reconsideration of the decision, and that the request cannot be complied with.

I am to add that, if the land in question is not situated upon a reservation, the lessee can apply to purchase it under the 2nd clause of the Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875.

No. 7.

Messrs. Wilson & Ranken to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

227, George-street, Sydney, 30 May, 1877.

In answer to the letter of the Under Secretary for Lands, dated 8th March, 1877, relative to the conditional improved purchase of 453 acres made by Mr. Richard Blackwood on his North Currabunganung Run, Murrumbidgee District, on the 17th October, 1876, and our letter of the 11th December, 1876, in which we, on behalf of Mr. Blackwood, declined to receive the refund of the deposit paid by him, and the request that the sale may be completed with as little delay as possible, in which it is stated, "that as no reason has been given for the reconsideration of the decision, that the request cannot be complied with,"—we beg respectfully to state that the reason why we, on behalf of Mr. Blackwood, decline to accept the decision of the Minister for Lands, is that the selection has been made strictly in accordance with the provisions of the Lands Acts Amendment Act, and the reasons given for the cancellation of the selection are not valid, as the law does not require that the selection shall be within a block of "5 miles square," but that it shall be within an area of 16,000 acres under lease to the applicant.

We respectfully submit that the interpretation put on the expression by the Minister used in the 31st clause, "each block of 5 miles square," is a forced one, not warranted by the provisions and spirit of the Act. These are the grounds on which we, on behalf of Mr. Blackwood, again request a reversal of the decision arrived at.

We have, &c.,

WILSON & RANKEN.

I hereby apply to purchase, without competition, under the provisions of the 31st clause of the Lands Acts Amendment Act, 1875, the Crown Land described hereunder, on which I intend to erect the improvements detailed below; and I herewith tender the sum of £50, being a deposit of £1 per acre on the area for which I apply.

I have, &c.,

The Crown Lands Agent, Grenfell.

PATRICK WALSH.

Description of land. (See Regulations Nos. 7 and 8.)

Name of run or nature of holding, Ki Kiama Run, county of Monteagle, parish unknown; commencing at a point about 2 miles west of P. Walsh's provisional pre-emptive purchase No. 7 on Young side of Sandy Creek, thence by lines south-west, north and east to the starting point; there is a tree marked 2-74 near the west corner of the above, at a spot near the creek.

Intended improvements.

Purchases in virtue of intended Improvements.

REGULATIONS.

5. Applications for the purchase in virtue of improvements intended to be placed thereon of land held by the applicant under any pastoral lease should be in the form B, appended hereto, and should be delivered to the Land Agent of the district.

6. The applicant will be required to pay to the Land Agent, at the time of application, a deposit equal to £1 per acre on the area applied for, which must not be less than 40 nor more than 640 acres.

7. Every application must set forth the improvements intended to be effected, and must contain a clear description of the locality and boundaries of the land applied for, referring to the nearest conspicuous natural feature, or some known or determined point on the nearest frontage or measured portion, and describing, so as to admit of ready identification, the starting point, together with the direction and approximate length of the respective boundaries; which, with the exception of the frontage, if any, must be directed to the cardinal points by compass.

8. Land measured by the authority of the Government must be taken in portions as measured, but application for part of a portion may, subject to the approval of the Minister for Lands, be made on payment, in addition to the price of the land, of the estimated cost of subdivision. Measured land, if having frontage to any river, creek, road, or intended road, shall, within the First Class Settled Districts, have a depth of not less than 20 chains, and if in the Second Class Settled or Unsettled Districts, of not less than 60 chains; but no boundary shall exceed 80 chains in a direct line.

9. The Minister for Lands may cause the boundaries of any such purchase to be modified on measurement so as to be approximately at right angles to any frontage, and may cause necessary roadways and water reserves to be excluded.

10. No application can be made for more than one portion not exceeding 640 acres, within each block of 5 miles square, of the applicant's leasehold, or a proportionate quantity out of any holding of less area.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE LAND LAW.

(PETITION OF CAPTAIN SADLEIR, R.N.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 3 August, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, now in session assembled.

The humble Petition of Richard Sadleir, Royal Navy,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That whereas the great object of all land policy should be to invite and settle down population upon all land so as to secure revenue and add to our national strength.

And that our present land law neither sufficiently facilitates nor secures landed tenure, as is conclusive from the litigation, disappointments, and demoralising effects, both on free selectors and squatters alike.

Your Petitioner therefore prays the consideration of your Honorable House to an amended Land Act in which provision should be made if possible for agricultural areas that all claims for improvements, and contemplated improvements often fictitious, should be abolished; also the sale of Volunteer Orders doubtful as to their legality should be prohibited as perplexing to the settlers, and detrimental to the public estate.

That such clauses (as the 31st clause) of doubtful interpretation, and acknowledged as "creating confusion instead of satisfaction," should be struck out, and that a longer public notice be given as to the time and place and other particulars of the locality open for selection.

Your Petitioner further prays that the area of 640 acres of land should be extended to 1,280 acres, to enable settlers to unite stock with agriculture, and so fit an intelligent yeomanry population on our land, fitted to fill the offices of Magistrates, Mayors, and other important official positions essential to the well-being of settlements, and that minor claims should be abolished where the area exceeds 320 acres.

That the value of improvements should be reduced to ten shillings per acre, as any higher charge is a waste of capital under an arbitrary enactment, deterring settlement and often ruinous to the settler.

That lands for auction should as in the United States and Queensland be classified and valued at from ten shillings per acre to three or four pounds, according to their fertility and position.

That the administration of our lands should be as in New Zealand vested in a Land Board, the Minister of Lands to be President, so as to have a fixed body not subject to political changes, the responsibility being excessive and duties too multitudinous for any one person whose tenure of office is uncertain.

And your Petitioner humbly prays that your Honorable House may be pleased to take into your consideration the aforesaid premises, and will, as in duty bound, ever pray.

Sydney, August 1st, 1877.

RICHARD SADLEIR.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE LAND LAW.

(PETITION OF SAMUEL WILSON, CHAIRMAN OF JERILDERIE FARMERS AND TRADESMEN'S ASSOCIATION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 18 September, 1877.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble petition of the Jerilderie Farmers and Tradesmen's Association,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

1st. That the penalty of £1 per acre as improvements, imposed by the present Land Act on conditional purchases, together with residence of minors, is oppressive and unjust, as well as detrimental to true settlement.

2nd. That any condition which entail unnecessary expenditure must cripple the means which should be at the disposal of the conditional purchaser for the purchase of stock and improved machinery to better develop the resources of the land.

3rd. That believing the Land Act of New South Wales would be carried out in the interest of settlement, and in a liberal spirit, we migrated from a neighbouring colony, ignoring the advantages of climate and comfortable homes to seek (for the sake of our families) the benefits of a larger area, with grass rights, &c. We find, however, the grass rights to be a delusion and consider that Government has broken faith with us by holding out an inducement which has not been fulfilled; but on the contrary, in many cases where preleases had been obtained, the land was immediately surveyed and sold by auction to the squatter at 20s. per acre, and that conditional purchasers are therefore entitled in equity to compensation in lieu of the grass rights of which they have been deprived.

4th. That we consider it is unjust that we (while confined to a limited area) should be obliged to expend £1 per acre on improvements, many of which are unproductive and could be done without, and our children be obliged to live apart from us while the adjoining land is sold in unlimited quantity at 20s. per acre, untrammelled by any conditions whatever.

5th. That "residence of minors" exposes our young people to unnecessary dangers of an appalling description (as witness the Cootamundra outrage), which it is clearly the duty of the State to guard against, and any condition which compels separation even for a short time of a child from the watchful care and restraint which it is the duty of all parents to exercise, must have a demoralizing effect and cannot be right.

6th. That the severe drought we have experienced, and by which we have suffered a heavy loss, compels us to ask your Honorable House graciously to consider the grievances herein named and respectfully to urge the immediate necessity of introducing an amendment in the Land Act reducing improvements to 10s. per acre, and abolishing residence in case of minors who can clearly prove their bond fides as to intended settlement.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that these statements will receive your mature consideration, and that you in your wisdom will introduce such amendments in the Land Act as will contain the concessions suggested, and thus relieve the conditional purchaser of some of the many disabilities under which he at present labours.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

On behalf of the Jerilderie Farmers and Trademen's Association,—

SAMUEL WILSON, Chairman.
EDWARD KILLEN, } Hon. Secs.
JOHNSON QUIN, }

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE LAND LAW.

(PETITION FROM INHABITANTS OF THE WALCHA DISTRICT.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 10 October, 1877.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, now in Parliament assembled.

THIS PETITION HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That we the undersigned inhabitants of the Walcha district, feeling that the Land Laws of the Colony require amendment in many particulars, and especially in these calculated to incur the stigma of partiality to the capitalist at the expense of the bonâ fide selector, beg respectfully to urge that in our opinion based upon painful experience, the public interest would be served by the adoption of the following reforms, viz. :—

1. That for the future the payments required from the conditional purchaser be for each acre 5s. as deposit, and ten annual payments of 1s.
2. That the time allowed for improvements be extended to five years from date of survey.
3. That if auction sales be allowed to exist at all, the upset price of country lands be not less than 40s. per acre.
4. That the timber regulations require revision.

We humbly pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into your favourable consideration, and grant such relief to your Petitioners as you may deem meet.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

No. 1.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Albury, 21 September, 1876.

I have the honor to call your attention to the following case, and trust that you will call for an immediate explanation from Mr. Inspector Street.

Mr. Archibald Moffit, free selector on Buckinbong Run, near Narrandera, this morning reported to Mr. Day and myself that Mr. Inspector Street came prowling about his house on Sunday with Mr. Richard Jenkins' manager, and that he stopped at Mr. Francis Jenkins' house for two days. Mr. Moffit says that he and others are prepared to swear to this.

Mr. Michael Doyle, free selector on Mr. Rawlings' Run, South Yathong, states that Mr. Inspector Street also staid two nights at Mr. Rawlings' Station, South Yathong, and also two nights at Mr. Simpson's, Nowrannie Run, near Jerilderie, and Doyle says he and others are prepared to swear to this.

I beg to call your attention to this case, and ask you to act in this matter at once, as Mr. Street is paid 25s. per day for travelling expenses, and by his staying with different squatters he has grossly violated the instructions issued by you, that no Commissioner or Inspector was to stop at the houses of squatters or selectors.

As soon as the House meets I shall immediately bring Mr. Street's conduct before it, and move that he be dismissed from the Public Service; also another Inspector who, I have been advised, drank so much that he was laid up in Bathurst suffering from the horrors.

Yours, &c.,

J. McELHONE.

P.S.—I am also advised by Mr. Moffit that Inspector Street reported one of his sons as non-resident, although he brought his son, who was working close by, to Mr. Street; and that he also reported other of his sons as non-resident, who were engaged splitting for fencing a few miles away; the said stuff was for fencing their C.P's. Mr. Day says Moffit's word can be relied on implicitly.—J. McE.

No. 2.

Mr. P. W. Street to The Under Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Nubba, 30 September, 1876.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum of the 26th instant, calling upon me to make an explanation with regard to certain charges preferred against me in the communication of Mr. J. McElhone forwarded by you.

With regard to the first allegation that Mr. Moffit had seen me prowling about his house on a Sunday with Mr. Richards, Jenkins' manager, and that I stopped at Mr. Francis Jenkins' house for two days, I beg to state that when on my way to inspect the selections of the Moffit family I met a person whom I afterwards found to be an overseer of Mr. Jenkins' on the Morundah Run, and on making some inquiries from him as to the direction of these selections he offered to accompany me, and did accompany me and showed them to me; this certainly occurred on a Saturday and the inspection terminated on a Sunday; but when on a tour of inspection I have made it a practice, rightly or wrongly, to travel and to perform the duties of my office without respect to the day of the week.

I did not stay at Mr. Francis Jenkins' house for two days, and never was at his house in my life. When on his run I stopped at a hut on one of the out-stations, where a cook or hut-keeper was living.

With respect to my having reported Moffit's sons as non-resident when they were splitting timber for fencing, &c., I have only to state that in my reports I exercised my own judgment, and was guided therein by all the surrounding circumstances which came under my observation; for I need scarcely remark that if Inspectors were to place implicit reliance on all the statements with regard to conditional purchases that are made to them by persons with whom they come in contact, their reports would be very worthless to the Government.

The statement that I stopped two nights at Mr. Rawlings' station is correct. I arrived there very late one night, and there was no Inn within many miles of the place. Mr. Rawlings accompanied me and showed me the various selections on his run, his own included; and it will be observed that my reports with regard to the latter are all adverse to Mr. Rawlings. I also stopped one night only at Mr. Simpson's station—this was unavoidable—after inspecting the conditional purchases on the Nowrannie Run. The nearest Inn in the direction I was travelling was 30 miles distant.

In conclusion, I would beg to state that I never stop at any private houses if I can possibly avoid it, and, in that respect, have strictly carried out the views of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, embodied in the concluding paragraph of your circular of the 23rd of February last.

I have, &c.,

P. WOOD STREET.

No. 3.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 9 October, 1876.

I have the honor to call your particular attention to the copy of Mr. Archibald Moffit's letter, which I enclose.

I shall bring this case before the House directly it opens, to see if I cannot get justice for this man and have corrupt Government officials punished.

Mr. G. Day has known Mr. Moffit for many years, and says his word can be relied on. This is only one of hundreds of similar cases.

Two other Inspectors, I am advised on reliable authority, were drunk for three weeks, for which time they would be receiving £1 5s. per day of the public money as travelling expenses.

I have to tender you my sincere thanks for your prompt attention to Doyle's case, which has saved him from ruin.

I have, &c.,

J. McELHONE.

No. 4.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 9 October, 1876.

I have the honor to send you copy of letter sent me by Archibald Moffit, selector, Morando, Urana, as follows:—

Mr. McElhone,—

Dear Sir,

I wish to draw your attention to a few facts. I and my family selected on Buckinbong Run, Sept. 20th, 1873. A short time after, Francis Jenkins and his overseer, Thos. Richards, came to buy us out, and, because we would not sell, the said T. Richards swore publicly he would do us all the harm he could, and that he would have all our land.

He, T. Richards, reported all our selections as non-resident. The Inspector came with Richards to inspect our selections in November, 1875. Two of my sons saw them in the dusk of the evening as they were going to their selections. Next day (Sunday) the Inspector and one of Jenkins' stockmen came to our place, and he, the Inspector, said that all our selections were reported non-resident; he said he had seen them all the night before except three, which he wished me to show him.

I was engaged reading at the time with my family, and asked him if he knew what day it was; he said he was obliged to work on all days, as every day was alike to him—both Saturday and Sunday. He was riding one of the station horses and escorted by one of the station men. After inspecting our selections he went back to the station. Next night he went to Widgiewa Station and introduced himself as Mr. Street, the Land Inspector, and asked his hospitality for the night; of course it was granted. This I can substantiate on oath. I have been informed by several that it is his usual practice stopping at stations. Four of our selections were called at a Court of Inquiry, on September 11th, 1876; we took in four respectable witnesses who gave their evidence on oath, which proved our residence, that ought to satisfy any reasonable man. The Inspector in giving his evidence was not upon oath. I can swear we have carried out the Government contract in all its bearings, and neither me nor my family will allow ourselves to be robbed of our rights.

I can assure you, sir, that the selectors in this locality are a persecuted class, both by the squatters and the Government officials. For example,—the surveyor told me when we selected here that there was not an acre purchased or selected on this run or on the adjoining run, and that he would come out and survey our ground in a few weeks; but by that time we were dummied all round.

The said surveyor, Mr. Orr, and another, was surveying on the adjoining run for six months, and we were here for thirteen months before ever there was a chain stretched on our land. Another case of persecution,—a rich squatter on the Yanko got an old five-wire fence with posts 16 feet apart, valued, by a Government official, at £75 per mile, while on the other hand, a poor selector was reported on by the squatter for non-improvement. In his case the Government official valued his new two-rail fence and three wires at £50 per mile. I was eye-witness to both fences, and I consider the selector's fence worth four times the value of the squatter's.

The Under Secretary for Lands to J. McElhone, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 10 October, 1876.

Referring to your letter of the 21st ultimo, calling attention to certain charges preferred against Mr. Inspector Street by a conditional purchaser named Moffit, in connection with the Inspector's visit to his selections,—I am directed to inform you that an explanation has been received from the Inspector, which in the main is regarded by the Secretary for Lands as satisfactory.

With reference to the latter part of the last paragraph of your communication, in which you state that you have been advised that another Inspector drank so heavily on one occasion as to be laid up in Bathurst with the horrors,—I am to ask you to give the name of the Inspector alluded to, as also the date of the event of which you complain.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

No. 6.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. P. W. Street.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 10 October, 1876.

Referring to your letter of the 30th ultimo, and the explanation therein contained, relative to the charges preferred against you by a conditional purchaser named Archibald Moffit, through Mr. J. McElhone, M.P.—I am directed to inform you that in the main your explanation is regarded by the Minister for Lands as a satisfactory reply to the charges made against you.

The points as to which your report is not deemed quite satisfactory are—

- (1.) The inspection of conditional purchases on the Sabbath Day, which should certainly not occur, for very obvious religious and moral reasons; and further, because on that day conditional purchasers may be away from their lands, and other persons possessed of useful information as to them and their selections may likewise be absent.
- (2.) The stopping at the residence of the lessee upon whose run the conditional purchases to be inspected are located, which should be avoided at any risk or inconvenience by Inspectors.
- (3.) Inspecting the purchases in company with the lessee of the run in one set of cases, and in the other with the overseer, a procedure which is very likely to beget suspicion in the minds of selectors and others.

At the same time I am to add that, looking at the manner in which you have hitherto discharged the duties of your office, the Secretary for Lands cannot admit that your judgment as to the merits of the cases alluded to was biased in any way by your taking the courses to which he has made objection.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

No. 7.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 11 October, 1876.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of letter No. Aln. 76-3,360 from Mr. Under Secretary Stephen, in reference to charges made by Mr. A. Moffit against Inspector Street, also requesting me to give the name of the Inspector who, I was advised, was drunk at Bathurst.

I decline to do so, and shall bring the cases of these Inspectors before the House, where I may get justice done.

I am not at all surprised at the Government upholding the corrupt conduct of their officials; I never thought they would act honestly in the matter, therefore I am not at all disappointed in their decision; but I shall be very much disappointed if the House does not decide differently when I bring the cases before it.

I have, &c.,

J. McELHONE.

No. 8.

The Under Secretary for Lands to J. McElhone, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 16 October, 1876.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, respecting the decision given by the Minister for Lands in the case of the charges made through you, by Mr. A. Moffit, against Mr. Inspector Street, and in which you state also, that you decline to accede to the Minister's request that you would give the name of the Inspector to whom you referred in your previous communication, as having been laid up "suffering from the horrors" at Bathurst.

2. In reply, I am desired by Mr. Secretary Garrett to express his regret that you do not see the justice and fairness to the person interested, as well as to the Department and the public, of making a clear and definite charge against the officer alluded to, instead of vague insinuations, and thus afford him the opportunity of clearing his character from the stigma cast upon it.

3. As to the determination expressed by you of bringing the matter before Parliament, the Minister for Lands has no doubt but that Parliament will insist upon such a course as that suggested by him being taken, before it gives any credence to your statements as affecting the character and conduct of any conditional purchase Inspectors.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

No. 9.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 17 October, 1876.

In answer to Mr. Under Secretary Stephen's, dated 16th, No. 76-3,481, I have to state that I declined to give the name of the Inspector of C.P.'s who was suffering from the horrors, because I knew that it would be no use to give the name, as I am sure it would be useless to do so, as inquiry would be burked, like the inquiry in Mr. Inspector Street's case was.

I think I stated I had been informed that an Inspector at Bathurst, also one at Mudgee, had been drunk about those towns for about three weeks.

The Government need not be afraid but that I shall bring the conduct of Inspector Street before the House as soon as it meets, as well as the other two Inspectors.

As I do not expect to get any justice from the present Government in such matters, I will try and compel them to act justly, by making these cases as public as possible, which, in my opinion, is the only way to make these men do their duty honestly.

The public can expect little fair play from most of these Inspectors, from the way they obtained their appointments and the previous character of some of them.

I have, &c.,

CROWN LANDS.

(INSTRUCTIONS TO LICENSED SURVEYORS AS TO APPLICATIONS FOR.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 16 February, 1877.

"PARAGRAPH 30, SURVEYORS' INSTRUCTIONS."

30. In the subdivision of land for sale, and in view of the future alienation of land, the Surveyor should exercise judgment and care in selecting and recommending for reservation for public use, all permanent water-holes, springs, or portions of rivers desirable for water supply, which, in this arid climate, may be necessary for the beneficial occupation of the surrounding country; also fords, sites for quarries, wharfs, &c., required for public purposes, with sufficient access thereto. The extent of such reservations will depend upon the probable requirements of the district, and in some measure upon the symmetrical subdivision of the adjoining land. (Vide Circular of 20th August, 1873. Appendix C.)

"APPENDIX C, SURVEYORS' INSTRUCTIONS."

Circular.

Surveyor General's Office,
Sydney, 20th August, 1873.

Sir,

In consequence of the recent appointment of a number of gentlemen to the staff of Licensed Surveyors who are inexperienced in the practice of this Department in the measurement of lands for auction sale, the following directions have been framed, in the form of a circular letter, for their guidance. Paragraph 30.

In those Districts called, in the Alienation Act of 1861, "First Class Settled Districts," the mean depth of portions fronting roads and watercourses must not in ordinary measurements be less than 30 chains—in the "2nd class" 40 chains, and in the so-called squatting districts 60 chains; but cases will occur where it is impossible or undesirable to adhere to this rule, as for instance, in the neighbourhood of villages, or in localities where land of an equally valuable character is to be found more remote from the actual frontage. In such cases, the measurement should be accompanied in the letter of transmission with satisfactory reasons for such departure, otherwise the work will be returned for amendment, at the cost of the Surveyor.

Whenever four or more portions are applied for adjacent, they should be measured in accordance with some general design, which the Surveyor may be required to furnish for the disposal of the adjacent lands, and on no consideration should these measurements be to the prejudice of the contiguous unalienated lands, either through undue command of water, the alienation of the choicest portion of the land, or by the inclusion in the measurement of the natural depressions of the country which, although they may not contain water, form the only suitable sites for storage reservoirs. Such are cases which occur frequently in the Western portions of the Colony, and should, from the command given to otherwise dry country, be treated as frontage.

In the preparation of designs, and especially in districts where water is not permanent, the first duty of the Surveyor should be to ascertain the capabilities of the country in this respect, and suggest reserves for the passage of stock to the most permanent watering-places. The width of these reserves may vary according to circumstances, and in the aggregate occupy from 1/5th to 1/4th of the whole frontage; and in designing them, it should be borne in mind that but few will be permanent, and should be capable of reduction from time to time, as the land is required for alienation. Should it appear probable that any portions which are necessary for the preservation of water supply to the back country are likely to be selected, the Surveyor will, without delay, transmit the necessary descriptions of the reserves, in order that they may be proclaimed without waiting for measurement. In conclusion, it may be generally stated that, in all measurements, designs, and reports, the Surveyor should bear in mind, as a leading object, facility of settlement, both present and future, and according to the natural capabilities of the locality as far as soil and climate may admit.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor

I am, sir,

Your obedient servant;

P. F. ADAMS.

CROWN LANDS.
(WATER SUPPLY IN PASTORAL DISTRICTS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 16 February, 1877.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 8th August, 1876, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“ Copies of all Minutes which have passed between the late or the present “ Minister for Lands, the Surveyor General, the Officer in charge of “ Occupation, or other officials in the Lands Department, having reference “ to the conservancy of Water Supply in the Pastoral Districts ; also copies
“ of all Minutes which have passed between the present Minister for Lands, “ officials of the Lands Department, having reference to the reservation of “ Water for Travelling Stock.”

(Mr. Farnell.)

No. 1.

Minute by the Officer-in-charge, Occupation of Lands.

I UNDERSTAND that the Minister for Lands has expressed an opinion to the effect that the shores of waters artificially conserved by expenditure of the Crown tenant should be reserved from conditional selection or sale by auction or otherwise.

As this decision is of some moment to the public interest, and will tend greatly to the conservancy of the Crown estate, and as I am unable to obtain access to the papers having reference to the case in which, as I am advised, the decision was given, I submit this memorandum for the signification of the Minister's pleasure, and with a view to my future guidance.

A.O.P., 27 May, 1874.

This conveys the substance of my memo. herein referred to.—J.S.F., 29/5/74.

No. 2.

Minute of the Minister for Lands.

Officer-in-charge, Commissioner of Crown Lands Office,—

Upon consideration of the question of dealing with applications for reserves, I desire that the applications should pass through the draftsman's hands in your office, and plans prepared as far as practicable before the applications are submitted to me.

T.G., 1/3/75.

No. 3.

Minute of Chief Draftsman, Occupation of Lands.

WITH reference to the minute of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, of the 1st instant, I would respectfully submit the following suggestions as to the arrangements necessary to admit of applications for water reserves passing in the first instance through the Drafting Branch of this office, and of plans (tracings) being prepared as far as practicable :—

1. That complete tracings of all maps showing reserves in the Pastoral Districts be prepared (by contract) from those in the hands of Mr. Ellis, in the Survey Department.
2. That a competent draftsman accustomed to charting and description writing be appointed to the special duty of dealing with such applications, under my supervision.

The present staff of three compiling draftsmen is fully occupied in the preparation of maps showing run boundaries, and I could beneficially employ twice that number on such work for a long time to come. To take any one of them from that work for which they were specially appointed (and with which they are becoming well conversant) would be a great inconvenience to the public, by indefinitely retarding the preparation of work much required for publication.

Under the special circumstances of the change of Commissioners in two of the most important districts, and the employment this year of Commissioners to appraise runs out of their own districts, it has already been necessary to withdraw two of the three compiling draftsmen from their special work for several months, in order to put together the information necessary for those local officers, and the result must be a considerable diminution in the number of run maps proposed to be published this year; a further interruption of their work would amount almost to stopping it altogether.

While submitting the above suggestions of what I consider necessary to carry out the minute referred to, I would venture to express my opinion that the practical results would only be the doing of work twice over. Any results to be obtained by the examination of applications in the Drafting Branch of this office could be equally obtained by their examination in the existing branch of the Survey Department, in which reserves are dealt with. I see no reason why, with very few exceptions, such applications should not take their proper course, and be dealt with on reports from Commissioners or surveyors, though to save work many might be dealt with direct from the office, where the descriptions are sufficiently explicit. This was the course formerly pursued in this office, and I have no recollection of a case being brought against the office for injury accruing through the ordinary routine delay, and but very few that required any amendment after first notification. I hold that there is no necessity, nor has been except in very special cases, for taking the case of reserves out of the ordinary course; and that compliance with the outside pressure that is at times brought to bear on such cases has probably only the effect of defeating the objects of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861. The notification of reserves under descriptions which cannot be understood on the ground, and require subsequent cancellation and re-notification, is ill-advised; it retards the settlement of the country, by leaving it impossible to say what country is open to selection, and in most cases is, in my opinion, quite unnecessary.

Once the runholders are given to understand that reserves will be dealt with on one principle only, viz., after the report of the proper responsible officer has been received, they will take the necessary precautions to apply at such a time and in such a manner as will admit of that report being most readily obtained; instead of leaving their applications to a last moment, when they imagine that by an appeal to the Government, in their view, immediate necessities of the case, they can obtain anything they want; and have undoubtedly obtained much which would never have been allowed had the Minister been in possession of the full facts of the case, instead of an ex parte statement only, on the side and in the interest of the pastoral lessee.

E. DU FAUR,
10/3/75.

Received, 10/3/75. Show to Surveyor General.—T.G., 12/3/75.

No. 4.

Minute by the Surveyor General.

THE charting of reserves can be done in this office, if the descriptions are sent in a fit state for doing so; and if Mr. Du Faur is again intrusted with the duty, I have no doubt that it will be so far successful that the public will not have to complain of improper descriptions appearing in the Gazette, which must occasionally be the result of dealing with the questions without referring to the professional branch under Occupation of Lands.—P.F.A., 15.

This may now be referred to the Officer-in-charge, Occupation Branch.—W.W.S., B.C., 24 March, 1875.

No. 5.

Minute by the Officer-in-charge, Occupation of Lands.

THE proposed examination of applications for reserves by the draftsmen in this office would, in my opinion, be inexpedient, as any such examination would, as pointed out by Mr. Du Faur, involve the doing of work twice over.

If any such preliminary professional examination is necessary, I think the branch of the Survey Department specially in charge of reserves is that in which these matters may most appropriately be dealt with.

I doubt very much however whether any such preliminary examination would not better be dispensed with. It entails inevitable delay, and the immediate action often required in these cases would in consequence be suspended, the object of the reservation perhaps defeated, and the public interests compromised.

There

There have been some 400 reserves proclaimed during the past year, after such examination only as is practicable in the administrative branch of this office, and in some comparatively few instances have errors been as yet detected. Doubtless many more will appear after more critical examination. For these, however, as well as for any reservation that may on inquiry be deemed superfluous, there is the easy remedy of revocation.

I would submit that whilst our Land Law provides and allows that any person may select and conditionally purchase any portion of unreserved Crown Lands within a pastoral tenure, before survey, it is necessary that—on the other hand—the Government should, for the protection of the Crown estate, and so far as may be otherwise expedient, exercise the power of reservation provided for by the law, and this also before survey.

I may perhaps add that I do not consider the reservations hitherto made have been primâ facie excessive, or of such a character as to retard the proper progress of settlement.

If in any case the contrary is made apparent, the law, as I have already observed, admits of a ready redress.—A.O.P., 31 March, 1875.

No. 6.

Minute by the Minister for Lands.

AFTER careful consideration of the reports herewith from the officers of the Survey Department and the Occupation Branch, I desire to modify my former minute, in these respects, viz. :—

All applications for reserves to protect effected improvements or areas so intended to be at once improved may be acted upon after careful examination in and recommendation by the Occupation Branch, as quickly as possible.

Applications for reserves for access to water on runs upon which the ordinary reserve of one mile in five has not been granted, and the descriptions of which reserves are definitely given, may also be promptly proclaimed as temporary reserves, steps being taken as soon as possible thereafter to obtain a report from the local Commissioner or surveyor.

In any case, also, in which it may be made to appear that the reserve applied for contains the only water or the most permanent water in the locality, so as to render its reservation from sale of immediate moment in the public interest, then such reservation may be made without awaiting report of Commissioner or surveyor.

In other cases such reports should be called for.

All applications for reserves for water supply, and all recommendations of such reserves whether by surveyors or others within the pastoral districts, should be dealt with in the Occupation Branch.

THOS. GARRETT, 1/6/75.

Forwarded for information of Surveyor General. A duplicate of the Minister's decision is enclosed herewith, for convenience of reference, and in order that original may be returned for my guidance.—A.O.P., B.C., 8 June, /75. The Under Secretary for Lands.

No. 7.

Minute of the Surveyor General.

THE course of action indicated in the last paragraph is apparently that against which I have directed the Government in order to prevent professional matters being dealt with by non-professional hands.

Notwithstanding the decision of the Honorable the Minister for Lands of 1/3/75, no reference is now being made in the Department of Crown Lands to the professional officer.

I should therefore desire to have the following points definitely settled, viz. :—

How far, if at all, are surveyors expected to report on reserves the action on which does not rest with the Surveyor General?

Are such reports to be made by Commissioners alone?

How is the designing of permanent reserves to be made consistent with proper design in the alienation of land?

At what point is the form of a reserve and the cancellation of a part or the whole to become a question for consideration and recommendation by the Surveyor General?

Should it be the intention of the present decision not to cancel that portion of the previous one of 1 March, /75, as regards the passing of applications for reserves "through the draftsman's hands," I cannot see any objection to the preliminary notification proceeding from the Crown Lands Department, provided the final determination continues to be dealt with under the present system.—P.F.A., 16 June.

What I intended was simply this—that all temporary or provisional reserves should be dealt with by the Occupation Branch, and that the descriptions of such should be examined by the draftsmen attached to that branch, who should deal with such applications in preference to any other work.—T.G., 16/6/75.

These reserves should be dealt with in the Department of Surveyor General.—T.G., 16/6/75.

Seen.—P.F.A., 17 June.

No. 8.

Minute of the Officer-in-charge, Occupation of Lands.

I INTENDED to re-submit these papers with a view to direct the attention of the Minister to Mr. Du Faur's Minute, which shows conclusively I think that these reservations should be dealt with in the branch of the Survey Office specially charged with such business, which is altogether foreign to that of the professional branch of this office.

I submit also that in any case in which it may appear expedient, whether under recommendations from the surveyors or otherwise, to revoke existing reserves in the Pastoral Districts, the Commissioners of Crown Lands should be called upon to report before any such revocation is given effect to, possibly to the prejudice of the Crown tenants, without sufficient reason on public grounds.

No doubt freehold interests are of first importance, but leasehold interests and the pastoral revenue should not be sacrificed without full consideration.—A.O.P., 17 Sept., /75.

No. 9.

Minute of the Surveyor General.

THE descriptions of many of the reserves made by the Occupation Branch, pending the reports of the Commissioners of Crown Lands, are so vague and loosely drawn that it is impossible to chart them correctly or even approximately upon the maps in office use, or delineate them in any way upon the maps forwarded to the Land Agents for the guidance of the public.

130 reserves and upwards have been returned to the office of the Occupation of Crown Lands since the beginning of 1875, stating that it was impossible to chart, and requesting further information; to these requests no replies have been received. Simply from the want of properly-drawn descriptions the interests of many are sacrificed, and the reserves are liable to defeat where the conditional purchase is allowed.

The Honorable the Minister for Lands has already directed that descriptions published by the Occupation Branch should, in the first instance, be examined by the Chief Draftsman of that office, which direction appears to have been ignored.

The Under Secretary for Lands.
B.C., 3 May, 1876.

ROBT. D. FITZGERALD,
(For Surveyor General).

I am under the impression that the matter herein brought under notice has recently been dealt with by the Minister for Lands, on some separate papers. The question may be referred, however, in the first instance, to the Officer in charge of the Occupation Branch.—W.W.S., B.C., 8 June.

Urgent. Referred to Mr. Pretious, for his report.—T.G., 17/6/76.

No. 10.

Report of the Officer-in-charge, Occupation of Lands.

HAVING reference to the enclosed minute, of date 3rd May last, and also to the accompanying Schedule of Reserves in the Albert District, which, owing to the want of sufficient geographical information in the Survey Department, cannot it appears at present be charted, and with regard more particularly to the conservancy of water supply generally, I have respectfully to submit that, if it be allowed, as I presume it must be, that the policy affirmed by the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861 was primarily to anticipate the measurement of lands, and to allow of conditional selection before survey, then it follows necessarily that certain lands, pari passu, should in the public interest be reserved before survey, so as to provide for the beneficial occupation of the country generally.

Obviously therefore such reservations cannot in many instances, more especially in the out-lying districts, be presently charted, owing to the want of sufficient data.

In this, however, they are only in the same category with conditional selections made and held pending survey under generally far more vague descriptions.

As to the allegation made in minute of the 3rd May last, that the descriptions prepared in the Occupation Branch are vague or loosely drawn, there must evidently be some misconception, as, except perhaps in a very technical point of view, they are as a matter of fact neither the one or the other; and if sufficient geographical information were presently available they could at once be approximately charted, and subsequently very easily delineated absolutely by survey.

It suffices at present, in my opinion, that the reservations are described with an accuracy sufficient for all local and practical purposes.

The progress of measurement should in time and doubtless will ere long overtake the results thus achieved, and furnish data for illustrating on the maps of the Colony the reservations referred to, which have been wisely, as I think, proclaimed for the benefit of the Crown estate, on such imperfect information as is immediately available.

The late general drought, from the results of which the Colony is still suffering, which indeed is at present but little mitigated in the district specially referred to in accompanying Schedule, has furnished ample evidence, if such were required, of the advantage and benefit to be derived from a proper conservancy of the sparse supply of water ordinarily available in back country.

Having however already in previous minutes submitted proposals for dealing generally with this question, and placing it on what I think would be a proper basis, I conceive that any additional discussion of the subject would on my part be superfluous.—A.O.P., 20 July, 1876.

No. 11.

Minute of the Minister for Lands.

As a matter of public policy, considering the vexation, disappointment and loss that must be experienced by parties conditionally purchasing land and then finding themselves upon land which had been notified, but in no way defined, as reserved from sale; I am of opinion that the reserves which the Survey Department have found it impossible to define, either upon the country or the charts, should be revoked, the parties who originally applied for them, if known, being apprised of the revocation.

As regards the taking of the course now decided upon being contrary to, or in any way injuriously affecting the policy of the Land Act of 1861, I must decidedly state that I am of opinion that the gazetted of reserves that can neither be marked on the country nor defined upon the charts, from the indefiniteness of the descriptions, as stated to be the case in the Deputy Surveyor General's Minute, is calculated, or it has already done, to absolutely retard the benefits of the Land Act of 1861 from being derived by parties desiring to settle upon the country affected by the reserves of the character now under consideration.

If it is of great importance to the parties holding land under pastoral lease to have land reserved from sale to protect water or parts of their runs, to secure the beneficial working of their runs, or if public public officers, charged with the duty of protecting the lands of the country from injurious alienation, then I submit it is not expecting too much to require that they should possess themselves of sufficient information, as to the locality of the portions they desire to be reserved and its surroundings, to enable them to give such an accurate and full description of the proposed reserve as would enable this Department to form something like an idea of its position as to other reserves, and as to how the one asked for would affect the working of the Act. In the cases referred to such has not been the case.

In saying this much, however, I in no way desire to depart from the opinion already expressed, that in no case, excepting those in which the Department in Sydney are already in possession of such information as to enable the Minister to judge finally at once, or in cases in which extreme urgency for speedy action is clearly made to appear, should reserves be temporarily proclaimed, until the proposal to make such reserves has been submitted for the report of the district surveyors, when that is obtainable within a reasonable time, or in other cases for that of the Crown Lands Commissioners.

In the same way, proposals to revoke reserves should not be acted upon without similar reports.

T.G., 19/9/76.

Surveyor General, B.C., 23 Sep., 1876.—W.W.S. To be returned for information of Officer in charge, Occupation Branch, when observed.—W.W.S., 23. Seen.—P.F.A., 27 Sept.

Under this decision reserves will, as a rule, be only made under reports of surveyors. Any applications received should therefore be sent to Surveyor General, who will, I suppose, in future be responsible for the preservation of water supply generally.—A.O.P., 30 Sep., 1876.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CROWN LANDS.

(PETITION OF RESIDENTS IN LACHLAN DISTRICT, IN OPPOSITION TO AUCTION SALES OF OTHER THAN TOWN & SUBURBAN.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 26 April, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That we the undersigned electors and other residents of the Lachlan and Murrumbidgee Districts fully concur in the advisability of prohibiting the disposal of Crown lands by auction sales, other than town and suburban lands, in the Colony of New South Wales; otherwise in a few years hence the whole of the public lands will fall into the possession of a few land monopolists.

We are therefore fully persuaded that the time has now arrived for immediate united action, not only by the residents of these districts but by the inhabitants of the Colony, praying through their representatives for the prohibiting of auction sales of Crown lands and other land reforms; as advanced in the Bill to be submitted to Parliament by Mr. H. Bennett, M.P., for Liverpool Plains; otherwise we foresee that succeeding generations will be deprived of their natural and inherent birthright, and forced to pass a life of slavery and serfdom, from which there will be no escape.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into its consideration; and your Petitioners will, as in duty bound, ever pray.

[Here follow 159 signatures.]

CROWN LANDS.

No. 1.

Mr. R. Feehily to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Tender for a lease of a new Run of Crown Lands. Intermediate or Unsettled Districts.

IN accordance with the provisions contained in Her Majesty's Order in Council, published in the New South Wales Government Gazette of the 7th October, 1847, and of the Regulations of the local Government published in pursuance thereof, I, Roger Feehily, of Bogalong, near Cowra, do hereby propose to take a lease for fourteen years of the Crown Lands known as Bulaban Plain, in the district of Lachlan; which lands are particularly described in the Schedule annexed to this Tender.

2. And in consideration of such lease, I am willing and hereby offer to pay in advance the minimum rent below which it is provided by the said Order in Council that no run shall be let, namely, ten pounds per annum, with two pounds ten shillings per annum added thereto for every thousand sheep, or their equivalent in cattle, beyond four thousand sheep or their equivalent, which the run shall, under the provisions of the said Order in Council, be estimated as capable of carrying; and also, in consideration of such lease, and by way of premium for the same, I do offer to pay yearly in advance the further sum of ten shillings in addition to the amount of the said minimum rent.

3. And I do agree that in the event of this Tender being accepted by His Excellency the Governor General, and of such acceptance being notified in the New South Wales Government Gazette, I will within sixty days after such notification pay into the hands of the Colonial Treasurer, at Sydney, as and for the first year's rent of the said run, notwithstanding that the lease of the said run may not have been executed, the sum of ten pounds ten shillings, being the amount according to my computation of the grazing capabilities of the run, of the payments which I have above offered to make, viz. :—

Minimum yearly rent below which no run can be let	10	0	0
Further payment at the rate of £2 10s. per thousand for the number of stock above four thousand sheep or their equivalent which the run applied for is estimated to be capable of carrying
Additional yearly payment offered by way of premium	0	10	0
Total	£10	10	0

Such payment nevertheless to be without prejudice to the subsequent adjustment of the rent according to the second and third sections of the second chapter of the above-mentioned Order in Council.

4. And in consideration of this Tender being accepted, and in the event of such payment not being made within the before-mentioned period of sixty days, I further agree to forfeit to Her Majesty the sum of twenty pounds by way of liquidated damages, and to forfeit any right acquired by virtue of this Tender and such acceptance thereof as aforesaid.

Given under my hand, this third day of June, A.D. 1854,—

Mr. W. Elliott to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Tender for a lease of a new Run of Crown Lands. Intermediate or Unsettled Districts.

IN accordance with the provisions contained in Her Majesty's Order in Council, published in the New South Wales Government Gazette of the 7th October, 1847, and of the Regulations of the local Government published in pursuance thereof, I, William Elliott, of Wowingragong, Lachlan River, by South Wangan, do hereby propose to take a lease for fourteen years of the Crown Lands known as Carrackabool, in the District of Binalong, which lands are particularly described in the Schedule annexed to this Tender.

2. And in consideration of such lease, I am willing and hereby offer to pay in advance the minimum rent below which it is provided by the said Order in Council that no run shall be let, namely, £10 per annum, with £2 10s. per annum added thereto for every 1,000 sheep or their equivalent in cattle, beyond 4,000 sheep or their equivalent, which the run shall, under the provisions of the said Order in Council, be estimated as capable of carrying; and also in consideration of such lease, and by way of premium for the same, I do offer to pay yearly in advance the further sum of £5 in addition to the amount of the said minimum rent.

3. And I do agree that, in the event of this tender being accepted by His Excellency the Governor General, and of such acceptance being notified in the New South Wales Government Gazette, will within sixty days after such notification pay into the hands of the Colonial Treasurer, at Sydney, as and for the first year's rent of the said run, notwithstanding that the lease of the said run may not have been executed, the sum of £15, being the amount according to my computation of the grazing capabilities of the run, of the payments which I have above offered to make, viz. :—

Minimum yearly rent below which no run can be let...	£	s.	d.
Further payment at the rate of £2 10s. per thousand for the number of stock above 4,000 sheep, or their equivalent, which the run applied for is estimated to be capable of carrying ...	10	0	0

Such payment nevertheless to be without prejudice to the subsequent adjustment of the rent, according to the second and third sections of the second chapter of the above-mentioned Order in Council.

4. And in consideration of this Tender being accepted, and in the event of such payment not being made within the before-mentioned period of sixty days, I further agree to forfeit to Her Majesty the sum of twenty pounds, by way of liquidated damages, and to forfeit any right acquired by virtue of this Tender and such acceptance thereof as aforesaid.

Mr. W. Elliott to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir, Wowingragong, Lachlan River, via Carcoar, 14 July, 1861.

I beg to acknowledge the receipt, on Wednesday last, of your letter of the 15th ultimo, in reference to my tender for a new run in this district, named Carrackabool, and as I anticipate that the Commissioner's report will be, "Not sufficient country vacant," I beg to urge the following reasons why the run should be granted to me:—

1st. There is vacant country in the locality described in my tender.

2nd. I am willing to pay the sum specified in my tender for that vacant country.

And 3rd. That I am willing, should the run be granted, to show, by an accurate survey, that such lands are vacant and not leased.

Under all these circumstances I trust, sir, that you will give the matter your earnest consideration, and as my stock are now being tailed, awaiting the issue of my tender, for the purpose of occupying, may I request a reply at your very earliest convenience.

Gentlemen,

Crown Lands Office, Sydney, 20 February, 1868.

In reply to your letter of the 6th instant, I have the honor to inform you that the proposal between yourselves and the lessee of the Caragabal Run referred to, was adopted, so far as the boundary between those runs was concerned, and a revised description of Caragabal was prepared in accordance therewith; and Mr. Commissioner Beckham has now been instructed to prepare a revised description of Uoka, Wheogo, also, if it can be done without prejudice to the claims of other parties.

On receipt of Mr. Beckham's report you will be further communicated with.

Mr. Commissioner Beckham to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

Crown Lands Office, Binalong, 17 April, 1867.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt (under blank cover, dated August 4th, 1866), of the accompanying application from Mrs. Gibson to be allowed to amend the description of the boundaries of the Caragabal Run, so as to remove an overlap of that run with Wheogo, and requesting my report thereon; and beg leave to state that I can see no objection to the proposed arrangement, which it appears has been mutually agreed to between the lessees of Wheogo and Carragabal.

2. The existing descriptions of the runs in question are very vague, and I beg herewith to enclose a description of the boundaries for the Carragabal Run, which I propose should be substituted for those furnished by Mrs. Gibson.

I have &c.,

EDGAR BECKHAM,
Commissioner Crown Lands.

In reply to your letter of the 18th ultimo, I have the honor to inform you that the tender of Messrs. Gibson Brothers, for a run in the Lachlan District, named East Carragabal, was opened by the Tender Board on the 5th October, 1869, while your tender for the same run, under the name of Little Carragabal or Long Reach, was opened on the 3rd June, 1870.

Sir, Euroka Station, 22 May, 1876.

I find by your last letter that my tender for Little Carragabal was too late, and Mr. Gibson's accepted.

You will please to return my deposit (£2 10s.), which was paid in by Mr. Hanson, Land Agent, on my account, at your earliest convenience.

I am, &c.,

Has the tender been declined? If so, refer to Treasury and inform.—A.O.P., 7 June, 1872.

Mr. Burrett's tender, No. 3, of June, /70, for Little Carragabal or Long Reach, has not yet been disposed of. If it be identical with the prior tender of Messrs. Gibson, No. 6, of October, /69, for East Carragabal, it should perhaps be minuted to be declined.—E. O'D., 14 June.

A decision has been arrived at, I think, in this case.—A.O.P., 17 June, 1872.

It has been decided to recommend Messrs. Gibson's tender for acceptance, and Mr. Futter's report (71-1,514) mentions this as the prior one for the country adjoining Carragabal. It appears from the sketch (71-796 Ms.) that the vacant country is mutually tendered for by Gibson and Burrett, and Mr. Burrett's letters are written on the assumption that his tender is identical with Messrs. Gibson's; but I do not find any decision on the point. Burrett's tender may be declined, as identical with the prior tender of Messrs. Gibson for East Carragabal.—E. O'D., 18 June, /72. No. 28.

Mr. Commissioner Futter to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir, Crown Lands Office, Lachlan, Binalong, 25 May, 1871.

With reference to the tenders noted in the margin, and recommended to be rejected in my reports Nos. 71-81 and 71-92 of this day's date (herewith enclosed), I do myself the honor to enter into an explanation of the position of the runs in this locality, and more particularly of Euroka and Wentworth's Gully. As the question whether there is vacant country or not depends upon the decision which is arrived at with respect to the western boundary of the latter run, a point which from the vagueness of the gazetted applications for a lease (and I presume there is no amended description) is far from being clear.

My first impression was that there was vacant country, but upon a more careful examination of the subject, and of the descriptions of the adjoining runs, and allowing the application for lease of Wentworth's Gully a liberal and natural construction, I consider that the justice of the case will best be met by rejecting the tenders as including country intended to form a portion of Wentworth's Gully Run, and amending the description of that run, so that for the future there shall be no dispute as to its boundaries.

I forward a sketch of the run in this vicinity, showing some important natural features mentioned in the respective descriptions; and I may mention that, having to depend solely on my own observations to fix their relative positions, it must be looked upon as only giving a general idea of the country.

The northern and eastern boundaries of Euroka, also, are only approximately laid down, following Mr. Beckham's amended description, which at the time of my visiting the locality I had not seen. With these reservations, the sketch may be relied on as substantially correct. In entering upon the subject, I would, in the first place, draw your attention to the gazetted application for a lease of Wentworth's Gully. The east boundary is now more definitely laid down in the amended description of Maley's Run (Arramagong) as a line from the Black Waterhole, on Sandy or Burrangong Creek, to the Weddin Mountain—(see map of Co. Monteagle). For "on the east," by a line running north and south, &c., should evidently be substituted "on the west," and by Euroka on the north is probably meant Uoka or Wheogo.

There is no description of Euroka or Rossi's Creek Run in this office previous to that of Mr. Beckham's, prepared in 1866, and it would appear as if it had been taken out of the Wentworth's Gully Run. It is to be observed that Euroka extends to Bland and Kooraberrina, the boundaries claimed by Wentworth's Gully, but not further north than where it meets Mrs. Gibson's boundary, i.e. the south-east corner of Carragabal. On the north Wentworth's Gully is bounded by Crackabulla Creek, but the west boundary, viz., Bland and Kooraberrina, does not extend to the creek; consequently the intervening space between the creek and the north-east boundary of Mr. Chisholm's Bland Run is without a west boundary, and apparently it has never been definitely settled how far west Wentworth's Gully extends along the Boga Bogalong boundary; but if Euroka extends to Bland and Kooraberrina, it is only natural to suppose that Wentworth's Gully should be bounded by Carragabal; and this view is borne out by the amended description of Boga Bogalong, in which that run is described as bounded by the Weddin Mountain to the Basin Gully, thence by a line to a place called the Scalded Flat, thence to the Blind Creek, crossing Carragabal Little Plain, which divides it from James Hanrican's run, Wentworth's Gully, Gully, and John Rodd's run, Carragabal. The words "which divide it from" might certainly refer to Wentworth's Gully only with respect to the former part of the description, and the latter part, "the Blind Creek crossing Carragabal Little Plain," might apply to Carragabal; but it seems more reasonable to suppose that as that creek does not in reality in any way divide Boga Bogalong from Carragabal, the impression meant to be conveyed was that the Blind Creek divided Boga Bogalong from Wentworth's Gully as far as the Little Plain, which Little Plain was on the boundary of Carragabal. I may here point out an error in the amended description of Carragabal, in which that run is said to be bounded on the east by a line north to the upper or south-east Waterhole, it being the western boundary of Boga Bogalong; it is evident that this must be a mistake, as Boga Bogalong does not claim to come south of the Blind Creek.

A slight discrepancy appears in the fact of Wentworth's Gully being described as bounded on the north by Carragabal Creek and Boga Bogalong, on the south by a line from the Basin Gully to the Scalded Flat, whereas these boundaries (for a certain distance at any rate) should be identical; but this may be accounted for from the circumstance of the Blind or Carragabal Creek being very undefined until it forms near the Scalded Flat, and doubtless when the amended description of Boga Bogalong was prepared, a line from the Basin Gully to the Scalded Flat and thence to the Blind Creek was on that account preferred to the creek itself.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. FUTTER,
Commissioner Crown Lands, Lachlan.

No. 29.

Mr. A. O. Moriarty to The Under Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Corner of Hunter and George Streets, 28 July, 1871.

Messrs. Gibson Brothers have requested me to address you with reference to their tenders for a new run, called East Carragabal, in the Lachlan District, which the District Commissioner, Mr. Futter, has recommended to be declined, on the ground that the land was, in his own words, "intended to form a portion of Wentworth's Gully Run," the description of which he proposes to amend so as to include it. This proposal has taken Messrs. Gibson by surprise, inasmuch as they have been themselves in possession of the country in question, regarding it as properly belonging to their Carragabal Run, and having tendered for it only to guard against the risk of losing it on the strict limits of the latter being determined by survey, and will also no doubt have surprised the lessee of Wentworth's Gully, who has never occupied nor attempted to claim it, and whose boundary, as pointed out by himself to the Commissioner, will not include it.

It is obvious, from a perusal of the Commissioner's report, that the conclusions at which he has arrived have been formed in ignorance of some of the arrangements of boundaries entered into consequently upon the publication of the applications in the Government Gazette, and which are on record in the Crown Lands Office in Sydney as they should be in his own office. I could, in particular, refer to the settlement by agreement of the boundary between Euroka and Wentworth's Gully accompanying the withdrawal of the caveat against the claim of the latter run to the boundary overlapping the whole of the former, described in the Gazette, the description from which the Commissioner draws grounds for his inference that Wentworth's Gully extended as far westward (at some period) as the runs on the Bland Creek. It will be perceived, from that agreement, that the claimant of a lease of Wentworth's Gully definitely abandoned any such claim (which must have been a mere misdescription), and confined himself to the limits therein indicated, which may be presumed to be the same as those shown as the boundary between Euroka and Wentworth's Gully on the sketch accompanying the Commissioner's present report, and, if extended northerly to join the northern line, would, it is believed, include the full area claimed, viz., 15,000 acres, in fact considerably more.

The conclusions which the Commissioner draws from the description, as amended, of Boga Bogalong, would apply, as indeed he himself admits, as well to the claim of Carragabal to the country in question as to that of Wentworth's Gully; but while I should be the last person to question even an implied recognition of a boundary by the Crown, I most respectfully insist that no law or practice would authorize the letting of Crown Lands, in disregard of the rights of occupation and prior applications by tender, upon any such flimsy ground as that the land was said to belong to one run (the owner of which did not claim it nor the description include it) in the description of another held by a third party.

I need hardly point out that if it were the fact, as the Commissioner proposes to assume, that the land tendered for is already leased land, the definitions of a boundary between the parties claiming it, or whose runs abut upon it, would not be a matter within the Commissioner's province, but would, failing an agreement between the parties, be a proper subject for an arbitration between them; or that, if on the other hand it be really vacant Crown land, it would be utterly illegal for the Governor, or the Minister for Lands, to include it in one or in either of the adjacent leases; but I would point out that the Commissioner's proposal really involves one or the other of these irregular courses, if not both.

I would now respectfully claim reference to the sketch accompanying the Commissioner's report, with a view of showing the effect of his proposal upon the respective runs. Wentworth's Gully claimed as containing about $23\frac{1}{2}$ square miles (which as already pointed out, is amply provided for eastward of the Euroka line) would have an extension of area given to it of some 30 square miles. Carragabal, which is entitled to 42 square miles, would be reduced to about 35 square miles.

Messrs. Gibson, who are the only persons who have occupied the country in question, and who have always occupied and claimed it, are prepared to accept a lease of it as a new run, under their tender, which is the first, and entitles them to the land if vacant. If, on the other hand, the Government prefer to deal with it as land already under promise of lease, they claim that it is part of their run. If a division of it be deemed advisable, they would be prepared to accept a boundary (to which it is believed Mr. Nolan would also agree) at the Little Carragabal Plain; but against the Commissioner's proposal they protest utterly.

I have, &c.,

A. O. MORIARTY.

I should like to see a tracing of this country and the description of the two runs.—J.B.W.,

The Officer-in-charge, Occupation of Lands, to Mr. Commissioner Futter.

Sir, Occupation of Crown Lands, Sydney, 16 August, 1871. No. 6 of Oct., 1869.

Referring to your letter of the 25th May last (71-90), and to previous reports on the tenders therein referred to, I have the honor to forward herewith a copy of a declaration which was transmitted to this office by Mr. James Hanrahan (of Wentworth's Gully), under date 24th May, 1849, and to request that you will be good enough to inform me whether the agreement therein embodied is on record in your office. No. 5 of June, 1870.

I think it probable that with a personal knowledge of the localities therein referred to, you will be enabled to furnish further information on a question now at issue, namely, whether the land tendered for by Messrs. Gibson was intended to form a portion of the Wentworth Gully Run, or has been considered and held as part of Carragabal.

It appears clear, from the amended description of Carragabal furnished by Mrs. Gibson, under date 11th July, 1866, and amended by your predecessor on 20th April, 1867 (No. 76-67), that the eastern boundary of that run is a line south from the upper or south-east waterhole.

It is not, however, by any means clear that Wentworth's Gully extends westerly to this line.

I have now to request that you will favour me with a report on this matter as early as practicable, and I have to point out also that the amended description of Euroka, referred to by you as having been prepared by Mr. (late Commissioner) Beckham in 1866, does not appear to have been furnished to this office.

I have, &c.,

Mr. Commissioner Futter to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir, Merool Creek, Lachlan, 8 September, 1871.

Referring to your letter of the 16th August last, enclosing a declaration made by Mr. James Hanrahan, of Wentworth's Gully, I have the honor to inform you that I am not aware of any such document being recorded in the Crown Lands Office at Binalong, but that apparently Mr. Beckham has been guided by it in preparing the amended description of Euroka.

I regret that after carefully reading the declaration referred to, I am unable to furnish any further information on the question now at issue, viz., whether the land tendered for by Messrs. Gibson was intended to form a portion of the Wentworth's Gully Run, or has been considered and held as part of Carragabal. I quite admit that it is not by any means clear that Wentworth's Gully extends westerly to the easterly boundary of Carragabal, but I think such is the most reasonable supposition. The land in question may in an indefinite kind of way have been looked upon as forming part of Carragabal, but the eastern boundary of that run, from the upper or south-east waterhole to the corner of Chisholm's run (which is a fenced line), plainly excludes it. At the same time, it is right to explain that Nowlan, the present occupant of Wentworth's Gully, did not claim up to the Carragabal fence, and in fact was unable to state where he claims to when asked to do so by me on the ground.

Referring to your B.C. of the 19th October, 1871, covering my letter of 29th September (herewith returned), on the subject of the Messrs. Gibson's tender for country to the east of Carragabal, I have the honor to report that I have again visited the locality for the purpose of carrying out your instructions.

In calling your attention to my previous report on the question (71-90, March 25th, 1871) and the tracing accompanying it, I have, in the first place, to point out that the boundary between Wentworth's Gully

Gully and Euroka, as shown on tracing, is incorrect. The starting point on the Sandy Creek, Bimby's Crossing-place, should be about 7 miles, in place of $4\frac{1}{2}$; and the boundary thence should be a line bearing north 54° west to Mrs. Gibson's east boundary, passing through the two box-trees mentioned in the description of Euroka. Without an actual survey it is impossible to say accurately where this line would strike that boundary, but I have shown it on the tracing as doing so on the Blind or Carragabal Creek, at the Little Plain. In any case it would have no right to cross the creek, it being part of the south boundary of Boga Bogalong, although if the tracing is correct it appears as if a line with that bearing would do so.

The chief difficulty in determining what might be considered vacant country, and as such available for the Messrs. Gibson's tender, was to find out how far along the south boundary of Boga Bogalong Wentworth's Gully extended. This, as I stated in my former report, has never been definitely settled; but on my recent visit the lessee of that run agreed to accept as his west boundary a line running north-east to the Boga Bogalong, and south-west to the Euroka boundary, from a lagoon known as the Barked-tree Lagoon, as shown approximately on tracing. I consider this claim a fair one, and have no further hesitation in recommending the Messrs. Gibson's tender for acceptance, subject to the amended description appended to report. When the line from the Bimby Crossing-place to Mrs. Gibson's boundary is run—and I am led to believe that the respective parties concerned will not object to the expense of a survey—the extent of the country will be more accurately ascertained.

With reference to the agreement between James Hanrahan and William Gardiner, forwarded to me (copy) with your letter of the 16th August, 1871 (71-1,261), it appears to have formed the basis of the adjustment of the boundary between Wentworth's Gully and Euroka by Mr. Beckham, with this important difference,—that the White-cow Plain expressly therein excluded from Wentworth's Gully, is now included in it.

The respective lessees, however, are satisfied with the arrangement, and I am not aware of any dispute on that point.

I have prepared an amended description of Wentworth's Gully (herewith enclosed), to which, if it is approved, I can obtain the signature of the lessee as well as of Mr. Gibson, and the same course may be followed with respect to the amended description of the Messrs. Gibson's tender.

Referring to my report on the Messrs. Gibson's tender (71/91 of the 25th May, 1871) for East Carragabal, and subsequent correspondence of this day's date, I now beg respectfully to report again, as follows:—

- 1st. The tender does not comprise any land under lease or promise of lease.
- 2nd. The description given in the tender sufficiently indicates the land tendered for, but I would suggest the adoption of the annexed amended description.

I have therefore the honor to recommend that the tender in question may be accepted.

I have, &c.,

Commissioner Crown Lands, Lachlan.

Amended Description—East Carragabal.

Commencing at a point on the north-east boundary of Euroka, south-west of a lagoon known as the Barked-tree Lagoon; thence on the south-east by a line north-east to that lagoon; thence by a prolongation of that line to the south boundary of Boga Bogalong; thence by that boundary westerly to the east boundary of Carragabal; thence on the south-west by the north-east boundary of the Euroka Run to a point on that boundary south-west of the Barked-tree Lagoon, being the point of commencement.

NOTE.—If the north-east boundary of Euroka shall be found on survey to strike the east boundary of Carragabal to the south of the Blind Creek, East Carragabal will be bounded on the west by that run from where the Blind Creek intersects the Carragabal boundary to the intersection of the same by the north-east boundary of Euroka aforesaid.

extent of the vacant country, and the boundaries of the runs in the locality, it would appear that there is scarcely sufficient land available to constitute a run which could be beneficially occupied for pastoral purposes.

Meantime I shall be glad to be favoured with the expression of your opinion upon this point.

Referring to your letter of the 20th Feb., 1868, No. 68-292, on the subject of the Carragabal and Wheogo boundaries, I have the honor to inform you that I have several times endeavoured to prepare a revised description of the latter run, but have been unable to do so from the fact of the boundary between that run and Sandy Creek being in dispute. On my last visit the question was reduced to a very small compass, and I have every reason to suppose will eventually be amicably settled.

The boundary between Wheogo and Carragabal is accurately defined in the amended description of the latter run, and the only obstacle to the other boundaries of Wheogo being properly described is the dispute with Sandy Creek.

Nearly eleven years ago, I tendered for a new run in the Lachlan District, called Little Carragabal or Scalded Flat, and described as bounded by Carrackabool, Wheogo, Bogolong, and Burrett's runs, containing the whole of the spare or unrented lands between these boundaries. Mr. Edgar Beckham was then Crown Land Commissioner for the district, and reported on my tender, denying that there was unrented lands, when I was fully prepared to prove there were twenty miles by ten.

I am now credibly informed that within a short time, and since Mr. Futter's appointment, the said run has been granted to another person. I trust, sir, you will be good enough to inform me at once the particulars, as my tender is still in existence in the Crown Lands Office. Referring to your letter of the 27th ultimo, addressed to the Honorable the Minister for Lands, respecting the rejection of your tender for a new run of Crown Lands noted in the margin, I have the honor to direct your attention to the 50th clause of the Regulations of 1st November, 1861, by which it was provided that all persons whose tenders had then already been received but not disposed of, must pay into the Colonial Treasury, on or before the 31st December, 1861, a deposit of £2 10s. on each tender, and that all tenders on which no such deposit should have been paid by that date should be rejected.

As you failed to comply with the requirements of the clause referred to, your tender on that ground alone must necessarily have been declined.

I am instructed by Mr. William Elliott of Grenfell, to lay before you the following statement respecting the tender for a run which he made in 1861, viz. :—

1st.—By letter from your department of 9th August, 1861, Mr. Elliott was informed that his tender for the run (Carrackabool) had been referred to the local Commissioner, Mr. Beckham.

2. By a second letter, 27th November, 1861, he was informed that the country he tendered for was "already under lease."

3. By a third letter, 2nd August, 1872, he is told that his tender for Carrickabool No. 6 of May, 1861, had been rejected, because he failed to pay, on or before 31st December, 1861, the deposit of £2 10s., under the 50th clause of the Regulations of 1st November, 1861.

I am to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Elliott's tender was disposed of by the letter G1/9,592 before this deposit regulation came into force.

I am also to point out that vacant land has been lately leased to Messrs. Gibson Bros. which appears to be and actually is identical with that known as "Carrickabool" for which Mr. Elliott had tendered.

Mr. Elliott submits through me, a claim to the country thus leased to Messrs. Gibson Bros. I submit the claim accordingly, and I shall be very grateful if you will kindly inform me what course you will recommend to, and may be sanctioned by the Minister under the peculiar circumstances of the case.

Merool Creek, 5 August, 1873.

Referring to your letter of the 26th ultimo, on the subject of the Messrs. Gibson's tender, East Carragabal, I have the honor to inform you that the sketch accompanying my report recommending the acceptance of the tender may be relied on as showing with tolerable accuracy the country available to satisfy the tender, subject to the determination by survey of the point where the north-east line of Euroka will strike the Messrs. Gibson's boundary.

The extent of country is undoubtedly very limited, and I do not consider that it could be profitably occupied except in conjunction with an adjoining run.

Mr. J. Feehily to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Pinnacle Station, 19 September, 1873.

I beg to call your attention to an application made by my father, the late Roger Feehily, for a run then or formerly known as Boolaban Plain, otherwise Scalded Flat. The run applied for is situated between the runs in the Lachlan Pastoral District, Bogo Bogolong, Wheogo, Wentworth's Gully, and Euroka.

Believing, as I think, with reason, that I have some claim as an executor of my late father's estate, on account of his prior application for the run, to a preference in its allotment, I take this opportunity and liberty of bringing the matter before your notice. Other applications have, I am informed, been sent in to your office with reference to the before-mentioned run; but I would respectfully submit to you that the application therefor by my father in 1851 and 1852, and his payment of the then necessary deposit, gives me as executor a preference to other applicants.

I have, &c.,

JOHN FEEHILY.

Gentlemen, Occupation of Lands, Sydney, 23 July, 1874.
Referring to your tender for the run named East Carragaball, I have the honor to suggest that the north-east boundary of Euroka Run should be surveyed, with a view to determine what vacant country, if any, exists in the locality indicated in your tender.

No. 53.

Mr. C. Bennett to The Minister for Lands.

Sir, 310, George-street, corner of Hunter-street, Sydney, 6 July, 1874.
I beg respectfully to bring under your notice that in the year 1861 a client of mine (Mr. W. B. Elliott) tendered for spare country in the Lachlan District, situated between Nowlan's Wentworth Gully run, Burrett's Euroka run, and Gibson's Carragaball and Bogo Bogalong runs.

The receipt of Elliott's tender was acknowledged by Mr. Moriarty, and the matter referred to Mr. Commissioner Beckham, who reported that there was no spare country as alleged by Mr. Elliott.

Some time after this Mr. Commissioner Beckham was removed from office, and Mr. Futter was appointed to his place.

Mr. Futter it seems found out there was spare country as alleged by Elliott in 1861.

2. About 1869 or 1870, Messrs. Gibson Bros. and Mr. Burrett each tendered for the spare country which had been tendered for by Elliott in 1861, when upon its being proved that Gibson's tender had priority over Burrett's, the country was given to them (Gibson Bros.)

Elliott states that had Commissioner Beckham not have given a wrong opinion as to the vacant country, he (Elliott) must have obtained it in 1861, and it is unjust that he should lose the occupation of this land on account of the ignorance or design of Commissioner Beckham.

It is stated in a letter from the Occupation Branch of the Lands Office to Elliott, dated 2nd August, 1872, that by a regulation made 1st November, 1861, all persons who had tendered for spare country, but whose tenders were not disposed of, must pay a deposit of £2 10s. on each tender by 31st December, 1861, and that all tenders on which no deposit should have been paid by that date should be rejected.

Assuming that Elliott did not pay the deposit of £2 10s., it cannot be considered fair to Elliott that he should lose his right, considering that Commissioner Beckham had reported there was no spare country.

3. It was on the 27th November, 1861, that Elliott was informed there was no spare country, and the regulation was to the effect that the deposit was to be paid by the 31st December, 1861, and of course Elliott under these circumstances would naturally feel that there was no necessity for him to pay the deposit. Had Commissioner Beckham reported truthfully that there was spare country, as a matter of course Elliott would have paid the required deposit in time.

It is alleged that one Roger Feehily tendered in July, 1854, for the spare country for which Elliott tendered in 1861. Elliott states that the country is not the same, as appears to be the case by comparing the two descriptions, as what Feehily applied for is the Beluban Plain.

Elliott further states, notwithstanding Commissioner Futter's report, there is sufficient area in the disputed country for two good runs.

Elliott also states that he gave evidence (bearing on this matter) before the Committee appointed to inquire into the working of the Land Act, some of whose members he alleges commented very strongly on the injustice done to him (Elliott).

I herewith enclose Elliott's rough plan of vacant country, boundaries of which are marked in ink.

4. Elliott states that in any case the Messrs. Gibson are not entitled to this vacant country. Feehily, who is since dead, applied for the Beluban Plain.

Elliott's application is for all the vacant country for which tenders had not then (in 1861) been accepted.

I now appeal to you, sir, that you will in justice to my client (Mr. W. B. Elliott) have further inquiry made into this matter by some disinterested party (other than Mr. Commissioner Futter), who can decide upon the boundaries of the runs adjoining the disputed country, before determining Mr. Elliott's right to occupy or otherwise.

I also beg that you will grant my client (Mr. Elliott) to occupy temporarily with his sheep some portion of this country, pending your decision in this matter.

The Chief Draftsman to Mr. Licensed Surveyor Frederick.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Frederick is requested to perform such traverses as Mr. Elliott may desire in order to illustrate his views as to the existence of certain vacant country adjoining Boga Bogalong Run, such work to be done at the cost of Mr. Elliott, but otherwise in accordance with the practice of the Surveyor General's Office. Plan to scale of 40 chains to an inch to be transmitted with report direct to the Occupation of Lands Office.

A tracing is enclosed showing the surveys already made in the locality with which the proposed surveys must be properly connected, also descriptions of the several runs between which Mr. Elliott assumes the existence of vacant Crown Lands and the principal points in those descriptions bearing on the question have been underlined.

Any points the position of which can be determined by cross bearings from stations on any of the traverses made, would be sufficiently determined, for present purposes, in such manner.

M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

251, George-street, 4 August, 1874.

Referring to the personal inquiries made at your office yesterday by Mr. P. Gibson, as to the result of the tender of Messrs. Gibson Brothers for certain so called vacant land adjoining their Carracabal and Bogo Bogalong runs in the Lachlan District, and to the suggestion then made for the settlement of this long pending case,—I am now instructed by Messrs. Gibson to request that you will instruct Mr. Licensed Surveyor Donkin to measure at their cost the following lines, viz. :—The north-east boundary of Nowlan's Wentworth Gully Run, the north-east boundary of Barrett's Euroka, and the south boundary of Gibson Brothers Bogo Bogalong Run.

Mr. Donkin is prepared to undertake this work when authorised by you to do so.

I HAVE explained to Mr. Licensed Surveyor Donkin the general facts of the case, and see no objection to his being supplied with the same information as Mr. Elliott, to enable him to show definitely the grounds on which Mr. Gibson claims the country assumed by the former gentleman to be vacant.—E.D., 10/8/74.

W. B. ELLIOTT cannot pay for survey. Will Government hold themselves responsible?

JAMES FREDERICK,
Grenfell.

3 September, 1874.

I certainly cannot recommend the Government to afford any assistance towards cost of such a survey. Applicant appears to me to have exaggerated ideas of the existence of vacant country, and undertook voluntarily to prove them. The matter will be determined at some time or other by the ordinary course of survey for alienation purposes and by surveys undertaken by lessees of runs in the locality. To grant applicant's request in any way would be forming a precedent under which any person desiring to prove what might be altogether imaginary views as to the existence of vacant Crown Lands might put the Government to a heavy expense.—E.D., 4/9/74.

The Government will certainly not bear any such expense.—A.O.P. Licensed Surveyor Frederick, 5 Sept., /74.

No. 59.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Donkin to The Chief Draftsman.

My dear Du Faur,

Camp, Murrumburrah, 20 September, 1874.

I am thinking of leaving here in a week to make the survey at Carragaball and Bogo Bogalong. I should like to have the plan of Gibson Brothers, showing their fenced boundaries and run, by Martyr, of Goulburn; it will give me an idea of the fences and might be of some service; can you lend it to me? The descriptions are decidedly puzzling: for each run there is the original description of 1848, and then again the amended one by Mr. Futter.

All

All that I can do will be to make a traverse showing existing boundaries, such as fences, agreed to between the adjoining lessees—to connect with all points mentioned both in the old and new descriptions.

Has Mr. Futter's recent amended description of Boga Bogalong, or in fact, of any of the runs adjoining it, been recognized by you? If not, I don't see that they have any weight in the matter more than that all the lessees have agreed to such amendment in their boundaries.

But Mr. Futter errs, inasmuch as he gives a different description to different lessees of one and the same boundary.

Besides making a traverse and fixing to the best of my ability all these points, would it not be more satisfactory if I was to mark boundary lines on the possibility of such lines being adopted as boundaries, as it would be unsatisfactory to leave there without marking any definite lines more than fixing the places mentioned in description?

This is what I propose doing:—

1st. Fix all the points mentioned in original description.

2nd. Mark a line as proposed boundary, agreeing as far as possible with original description, and approved by the lessees interested.

3rd. In the case of the lines being fenced, survey such lines, and on my plan show the fence as proposed boundary, and also the boundary as fixed by original description.

Hoping you can find time to send me a line,—

Yours faithfully,
JOHN B. DONKIN.

I leave here for Carragabal, September 26th.

The Chief Draftsman to Mr. Licensed Surveyor Donkin.

My dear Donkin,

Sydney, 24 September, 1874.

I do not know what further advice I can give you, re Gibson's survey, than the personal explanation we have already had. I cannot, of course, commit myself to anything very definite in such a vague case. Your proposal to make a traverse showing existing boundaries such as fences, agreed to between the adjoining lessees, to connect with all points mentioned both in the old and new descriptions, will be everything that can be desired.

The more recent descriptions are, of course, attempts to define better the old ones, but are doubtless in some respects equally faulty. Your survey will enable the two to be compared with the actual occupation, and bring the whole case to a definite issue. Until so submitted, the department cannot of course be responsible if any boundaries you mark, as further proposed, should not be finally adopted.

You can only use your best judgment in the interests of your employers.

Yours faithfully,
ECCLESTON DU FAUR.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Frederick to The Chief Draftsman.

Sir,

Grenfell, 12 October, 1874.

In transmitting the descriptions of the several runs for measurement, in order to ascertain the amount of vacant Crown Lands applied for by Mr. W. B. Elliott, you omitted the original description of Carragabal, also the continuation of Boga Bogalong from the Wheoga Ridge to the Long Reach. Would you now oblige by furnishing me with them, as I am proceeding with the survey and will shortly require those boundaries.

I find that the vacant Crown Lands existing between the following boundaries, viz.:—

South boundary of Wheoga.

North boundary of Wentworth Gully and Rossi Creek.

West boundary of Bogalong.

East boundary of (Gibson's) Carragabal.

The two first I have, also the second, as far as Barbical, Long Reach; the last (Gibson's), Carragabal, being altogether absent, with the exception of Commissioner Beckham's appraisal of it in 1870, amended in 1867.

Camp, near Wheoga, via Grenfell, 12 October, 1874.

I am here, and with Mr. Frederick am getting on with the survey, and having done some of the principal lines I find I was not mistaken as to the extent of the vacant country.

By this post you will receive an application from Mr. Frederick for portions of the descriptions necessary which you omitted to send.

What we are short of is the description of Rodd or Gibson's Carragabal Run, as applied for in the original demand for lease, you only having sent it as appraised of by Mr. Commissioner Beckham in 1867, and the continuation of the Boga Bogalong western boundary from the Long Reach to where it terminates. As it stands on the description sent, it terminates at the Long Reach, and joins no other run there. I am of opinion that it joins Wentworth Gully Run at the Basin Gully in the Weddin Mountain.

Trusting you will give this your immediate attention, as we will be at a stand-still,—

Carragabal

Caragabal—Amended description.

Commencing at the upper or south-east waterhole, about five miles east of Caragabal; and bounded on the north by a line west about two miles down the Barbingel Creek, to a point known as Ben's Yard; thence north three miles, dividing this run from Wheogo; thence west about four miles to Tregalana; on the west by a line south eight miles; on the south by a line east six miles; and on the east by a line north 5 miles to the starting point. Estimated area, 26,880 acres, or 42 square miles.

N.B.—This amended description was forwarded to the office by Mr. Andrew Gibson, on the 5th of October, 1865, together with a rough sketch showing intention as to boundaries of Caragabal and the adjoining runs, which amended description was forwarded to Mr. Commissioner Beckham for his report. Mr. Beckham further amended the description, and the last amended description was forwarded to Mr. Gibson for acceptance. Mr. Gibson approved of the amendment and it was adopted by the office, and under it the run was appraised in 1870, a copy of which was sent to you.

A copy of the original description of Caragabal was also believed to have been sent; but as perhaps it may have been mislaid, I send herewith another copy.

Caragabal—Description in Tender of 2nd April, 1861.

Bounded on the north by Carrackabool Creek: Commencing at the Junction Waterhole with frontage to the creek, about 3 miles; by a line south from the Junction Waterhole 5 miles, to a tree marked E; from there west 3 miles to a tree marked F; from thence a north line to the creek, being that portion of unoccupied Government land being between Gibson's Bogalong and Bland Stations, in the Lachlan District.

Sir,

Temora, via Grenfell, 28 October, 1874.

A few days back Mr. Surveyor Frederick handed me description of Carragabal and note forwarded by you to him.

This description is, in the first place, the description under which I applied for a lease of the spare country, underneath which is an amended description by Mr. Andrew Gibson, in 1865.

Amended description since the date of my tender is no use to us. What we want is a description of the run now occupied by Gibson Bros. as Carragabal, and which I believe was tendered for in the first instance by Mr. Rodd. He occupied it for some time.

I will feel obliged if you will send to me here as soon as you possibly can.

The description of the run now occupied by Gibson Bros., or Alice Gibson, called Carragabal, and as applied for in application for lease by Mr. Rodd or any one else, and not any amended description since the date of my tender, April, 1861 or 1862, as all these amended descriptions since that date by Mr. Gibson takes in the very spare country I applied for.

I find Mr. Gibson has had Mr. Surveyor Donkin up and surveyed according to boundaries given by him and Mr. Beckham in 1865 and 1870, cutting off a lot of the country I tendered for, and which was spare country when I tendered, and where they amended, which of course I trust will not be allowed.

Trusting you will oblige me by forwarding what I ask for at once, as we are idle,—

I am, &c.,

W. B. ELLIOTT.

P.S.—According to your instruction, Mr. Frederick finds about 70 square miles of vacant country.

In 1866 an amended description was lodged in the office as agreed upon by lessees of adjoining runs; this was better defined by the Commissioner in the following year, and as defined was formally adopted by the Government.

Sir,

Barbigel, 12 December, 1874.

In consequence of numerous inquiries regarding the vacant Crown Lands in the neighbourhood of Caragabal, I have now the honor to state, that in accordance with instructions received from Crown Lands Office, dated 11th August, 1874, I have surveyed certain boundaries of the several runs adjoining the said Crown Lands; but in consequence of Mr. W. B. Elliott not being able to meet demands of survey, I did not complete the whole of the lines necessary to compute the area exactly; but from the work already done, and my knowledge of the bearings of the uncompleted boundaries, I can certify with confidence that the tract of country now lying there vacant is not less than 50,000 acres.

(507. 13 February, 1875.)

MEMORANDA relating to claims made at various periods, by Roger Feehily, William Elliott, Gibson Brothers, and Charles Burrett, for vacant country in the Pastoral District of Lachlan.

It appears that in the year 1854 Roger Feehily tendered for a new run of Crown Lands in the Lachlan District, in accordance with the Orders in Council then existing, the new run being vacant country.

(See copy of tender annexed, marked A.)

In April 1861 William Elliott tendered for same country, as applied for by Roger Feehily in 1854.
(See tender annexed, marked B.)

In November, 1869, Messrs. Gibson Bros. tendered also for the same country.
(See copy of tender, marked C.)

In May, 1870, Charles Burrett tendered also for above alleged vacant country. The original tender of Mr. Burrett can no doubt be found if required amongst the records of the office.

Although there may appear some discrepancies in description of different tenderers, they really are for one and the same block of country.

So confident was the first applicant, Roger Feehily, that there was the vacant country tendered for, and that his tender would be accepted, that he erected a house, put up fencing, and occupied the land. After being referred to the authorities, his application was refused, on the grounds that there was not sufficient country vacant to form a run.

Roger Feehily died in April, 1859, making a will before his death, but making no disposition therein of his interest in above-mentioned country, assuming no doubt that there was no chance of his claim being admitted by the Government.

After his father's (Roger Feehily) death, John Feehily, the eldest son (knowing for a fact from his local acquaintance with the country, having resided in its vicinity from his boyhood, that there was vacant country sufficient for a new run) applied to the Government, as the representative of his late father, to be put in possession thereof.

This application was refused by the authorities, it being alleged there was not sufficient country for a run.

With regard to W. Elliott, who tendered for the same country in 1861, or seven years after Roger Feehily, his tender was also refused by the authorities, on Mr. Commissioner Beckham reporting that there was no vacant country.

On Commissioner Beckham resigning his office, Mr. Futter, his successor, reported, as it would seem, that there was vacant country but not sufficient for a run (see his plan annexed).

It is alleged there was some informality in Elliott's tender through certain fees not being paid at the time, but it was on the 27th November, 1861, that Elliott was informed there was no spare country, and the regulation was to the effect that the deposit was to be paid by the 31st December, 1861, and of course Elliott under these circumstances would naturally feel that there was no necessity for him to pay the deposit. Had Commissioner Beckham reported truthfully that there was spare country, as a matter of course Elliott would have paid the required deposit in time.

Another reason assigned by the department for declining Elliott's tender was that, even if there was spare country his tender could not be accepted, Feehily having tendered previously to him.

Elliott contends that Roger Feehill having died without his claim being allowed by the department, had no interest to dispose of, therefore his representatives cannot substantiate any claim on his behalf, consequently he (Elliott) is entitled to the run.

John Feehily, the eldest son of Roger Feehily, as the representative of his late father, contends on the contrary that he is entitled to the run.

Messrs.

Messrs. Gibson Brothers have occupied the alleged vacant country for many years as squatters, being lessees of adjoining runs, and as a matter of course have not paid rent for this vacant country. In 1869, finding out, as it would seem, that there was vacant country, they (Messrs. Gibson) tendered for it, and it is supposed were refused on the same grounds as were the claims of Feehily and Elliott. Charles Burrett's tender was disposed of by the authorities in a similar manner.

Some three or four months ago the question respecting these claims to this vacant country was submitted to the Honorable J. S. Farnell, who caused a local surveyor to be instructed to make an accurate survey, and find if there was vacant country as alleged by the different tenderers.

A letter was sent a few weeks back to the department by Mr. Frederick the surveyor, to the effect that although he had only made a partial survey up to that time, he was certain that there were at least 50,000 acres of spare country.

Assuming then that there is sufficient vacant country for a run, it is a question on which the decision of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands is asked as to whether Jn. Feehily or Wm. Elliott is entitled to it.

A.

Tender for a lease of a new Run of Crown Lands. Intermediate or Unsettled Districts.

IN accordance with the provisions contained in Her Majesty's Order in Council, published in the New South Wales Government Gazette, of the 7th October, 1847, and of the Regulations of the local Government, published in pursuance thereof, I, Roger Feehily, of Bogalong, near Cowra, do hereby propose to take a lease, for fourteen years, of the Crown Lands known as Bulaban Plain, in the district of Lachlan, which lands are particularly described in the Schedule annexed to this Tender.

2. And in consideration of such lease, I am willing and hereby offer to pay in advance the minimum rent below which it is provided by the said Order in Council that no run shall be let, namely, £10 per annum, with £2 10s. per annum added thereto for every thousand sheep, or their equivalent in cattle, beyond 4,000 sheep or their equivalent, which the run shall, under the provisions of the said Order in Council, be estimated as capable of carrying; and also, in consideration of such lease, and by way of premium for the same, I do offer to pay yearly in advance the further sum of 10s., in addition to the amount of the said minimum rent.

3. And I do agree that in the event of this Tender being accepted by His Excellency the Governor General, and of such acceptance being notified in the New South Wales Government Gazette, I will, within sixty days after such notification, pay into the hands of the Colonial Treasurer, at Sydney, as and for the first year's rent of the said run, notwithstanding that the lease of the said run may not have been executed, the sum of £10 10s., being the amount, according to my computation of the grazing capabilities of the run, of the payments which I have above offered to make, viz. :—

Further payment, at the rate of £2 10s. per thousand for the number of stock above 4,000 sheep, or their equivalent, which the run applied for is estimated to be capable of carrying	0	10	0
Additional yearly payment offered by way of premium	0	10	0
Total	£10	10	0

Such payment, nevertheless, to be without prejudice to the subsequent adjustment of the rent, according to the second and third sections of the second chapter of the above-mentioned Order in Council.

4. And in consideration of this Tender being accepted, and in the event of such payment not being made within the before-mentioned period of sixty days, I further agree to forfeit to Her Majesty the sum of £20 by way of liquidated damages, and to forfeit any right acquired by virtue of this Tender and such acceptance thereof as aforesaid.

Given under my hand, this third day of June, A.D. 1854,—

ROGER FEEHILY.

To the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, Sydney.

SCHEDULE referred to in the foregoing Tender.

Commissioner's District and general Locality.	Estimated Number of Acres.	Name of Run.	Estimated Capability.		Description of the Lands by reference to leading geographical features and marked or determined boundary lines.
			Cattle.	Sheep.
Lachlan	Bulaban Plain	500	None	Bounded on the east by Mrs. Gibson's Boga Bogalong Run; on the west by John Heyland's Caragabal Run; on the north by John Walsh's Uoka Run; on the south by John Nolan's Wentworth's Gully Run.

B.

Tender for a lease of a new Run of Crown Lands. Intermediate or Unsettled Districts.

IN accordance with the provisions contained in Her Majesty's Order in Council, published in the New South Wales Government Gazette of the 7th October, 1847, and of the Regulations of the local Government published in pursuance thereof, I, William Elliott, of Nowingragong, Lachlan River, by South Wangan, do hereby propose to take a lease for fourteen (14) years, of the Crown Lands known as Carrackabool, in the district of Binalong, which lands are particularly described in the Schedule annexed to this Tender.

2. And in consideration of such lease, I am willing, and hereby offer to pay in advance, the minimum rent below which it is provided by the said Order in Council that no run shall be let, namely £10 per annum, with £2 10s. per annum added thereto for every thousand sheep, or their equivalent in cattle, beyond 4,000 sheep or their equivalent, which the run shall, under the provisions of the said Order in Council, be estimated as capable of carrying; and also, in consideration of such lease, and by way of premium for the same, I do offer to pay yearly in advance the further sum of (£5) five pounds in addition to the amount of the said minimum rent.

3. And I do agree, that in the event of this Tender being accepted by His Excellency the Governor-General, and of such acceptance being notified in the New South Wales Government Gazette, I will within sixty days after such notification pay into the hands of the Colonial Treasurer, at Sydney, as and for the first year's rent of the said run, notwithstanding that the lease of the said run may not have been executed, the sum of fifteen pounds (£15) being the amount according to my computation of the grazing capabilities of the run, of the payments which I have above offered to make, viz. :—

Minimum yearly rent below which no run can be let	£10 0 0
Further payment at the rate of £2 10s. per 1,000 for the number of stock above 4,000 sheep or their equivalent which the run applied for is estimated to be capable of carrying
Additional yearly payment offered by way of premium	5 0 0
Total	£15 0 0

Such payment nevertheless to be without prejudice to the subsequent adjustment of the rent, according to the second and third sections of the second chapter of the above-mentioned Order in Council.

4. And in consideration of this Tender being accepted, and in the event of such payment not being made within the before-mentioned period of sixty days, I further agree to forfeit to Her Majesty the sum of £20 by way of liquidated damages, and to forfeit any right acquired by virtue of this Tender, and such acceptance thereof as aforesaid.

Given under my hand, this 2nd day of April, A.D. 1861.

Office Memo.

Elliott v. Gibson.—Caragabal.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Donkin's plan has been received, which establishes the position of the Upper or S.-E. Waterhole.

It appears from further consideration of the papers that Mr. Elliott's tender may be dealt with at once (assuming that the Government consents to reopen a case which has once been dealt with), by declining the tender.

Caragabal was originally described as commencing at the upper or S.-E. waterhole and extending north; it had therefore at that time and at the date of Mr. Elliott's tender no claim to any land south of the creek, and it was land south of the creek which was specifically tendered for. This tender was, however, on the report of Mr. Commissioner Beckham, declined in January, 1862. In July, 1866, Messrs. Gibson applied for a modification of their boundaries, which was assented to on a definite report (and revised description) by Mr. Commissioner Beckham. The adoption of this amended description, which unquestionably includes the whole country tendered for by Mr. Elliott, was formally notified to Mrs. Gibson on 30th May, 1869, since which date she holds a promise of lease for it from the Government. Under these circumstances, without entering into the merits of Mr. Commissioner Beckham's reports, the action already taken appears to be final, and the Government cannot be in a position to reconsider Mr. Elliott's lapsed claims.

Messrs. Gibson have called stating that on the strength of a survey made by Mr. Elliott's instance in another part of their runs, that gentleman is occupying country to which his tender could never have given him a shadow of a claim, and they appeal to the Department for protection from such illegal occupation on his part.

E.D., 20/3/75.

No. 70.

Office Memo.

THERE can be no question whatever that all the country described in Elliott's tender is now, and has been for six years past, under promise of lease to Mrs. Gibson or her transferees. Elliott's tender was declined more than thirteen years ago, under report furnished by Commissioner Beckham to the effect that there was no vacant country. I am of opinion that there was vacant country at date of his report, although the descriptions of the runs in the locality were certainly vague. Thirteen years ago the Department had less local information, and the Commissioners' reports were adopted almost without question at head quarters. I think Mr. Elliott suffered a wrong, for which however there is now no apparent remedy.

Sydney, 15 April, 1875.

I herewith enclose you Treasury receipt for £2 10s., being deposit on my tender of the 6th May, 1861. I may add that the reason I did not make the deposit was that Mr. Beckham erroneously caused my tender to be disposed of by reporting the country tendered for was not vacant; but now that it has been ascertained beyond doubt that it was and is vacant, I have at once made the deposit in order that my tender may be still entertained.

No. 73.

Mr. W. Elliott to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Botany-street, Surry Hills, Sydney, 18 May, 1875.

(1.) On the 6th May, 1861, I tendered for a new run in the Lachlan District called Carrackabool. On the 27th November of the same year, I was informed by letter from the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands that the local Commissioner (Mr. Beckham) had reported that the land I tendered for was already under "lease or license", and on that account I did not then get a lease for it.

(2.) On the 2nd August, 1872, I was further informed that my tender should be declined, because I had not paid into the Treasury before the 31st December, 1861, the sum of £2 10s. upon my tender, as required by the 50th clause of the Regulations (under the Occupation Act) of the 1st November, 1861.

With regard to the last reason (No. 2), I omitted to make the deposit at the time (before 31st December, 1861), because Mr. Beckham's erroneous report misled me, and I thought my tender was disposed of, on the ground that the land was "already under license"; but when I found he was wrong, I made the deposit in the Treasury in order that I may not suffer for his erroneous report.

As to the first objection (No. 1), that the land was not vacant but already leased,—I have to state that at great personal trouble and expense I have had the land surveyed on the ground in the usual way by a duly authorized licensed surveyor, who has ascertained and will report to the department that the land I tendered for is vacant Crown land.

Under these circumstances, I very respectfully request that a license or lease of the land may be granted to me without further delay, as I tendered for the land long before Messrs. Gibson, and I have been to the trouble and expense of proving that it was vacant.

I have, &c.,

WILLIAM ELLIOTT,
Care J. A. CUNNEEN.

MEMO.—Mr. Frederick's survey has not as yet been received in the office. Mr. Elliott has been constantly asserting that he has proved his case by survey at a great cost to himself, but for some reason which is unintelligible to me he has failed to submit any such evidence.

From what I can gather from Mr. Gibson and Mr. Licensed Surveyor Donkin, it appears that Mr. Frederick has not been surveying in the locality referred to, but in an adjoining run, Boga Bogalong, over country supposed to be under promise of lease to Mrs. Gibson, and certainly not covered by the tender under consideration.—E.D., 20/8/75.

Office Memo.

On the enclosed tracing the space edged pink represents the land stated by Mr. Elliott to be "not under lease," or vacant Crown Lands.

The space coloured blue represents Carragabal, under its description as amended by Mr. Commissioner Beckham in 1867, adopted by the Department (see letter to Mrs. Gibson, 30 May, 67-936); accepted by her on 5 June, 67-1,272; and under which the run was appraised in 1870. In Caragabal Run papers.

The space coloured brown represents Boga Bogalong, as described in 1850, and reported on by Mr. Commissioner Beckham on 3rd April, 50-1,380, "as not including any portion of the public lands not hitherto licensed to private individuals." Most of the points named in description are now determined by survey; the only vague part of that description apparently is from "the Scalded Flat, thence to the Blind Creek, crossing Caragabal Little Plain, which divides it from Wentworth's Gully and Caragabal Runs"; and again "by the south side of Barbical Creek to the pine ridge at the west end of the Long Reach, opposite Caragabal Little Plain,"—it is not minutely defined how these points are joined, but the runs are described as conterminous. With Boga Bogalong Run papers.

The space coloured purple represents Wentworth's Gully Run, as amended in 1872 by Mr. Commissioner Futter, to more closely define it. Its original description was, "bounded by the Weddin Mountains on the east; on the south by a creek (the Burrangong Creek) dividing it from Gardiner's; on the east (? west) by a line north and south 10 miles west from the hut, dividing it from Bland and Cooraberrima; north by Caragabal Creek dividing it from Euroka."

This revised description by Mr. Futter left a piece of land coloured green on tracing not under lease, which was originally almost entirely included in the description above quoted—by which Wentworth's Gully was bounded by Caragabal Creek, Euroka Run.—E. D., 18/11/75.

J. A. Cunneen, Esq., M.L.A., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

101, Botany-street, Surry Hills, Sydney, 23 November, 1875.

In justice to the claim of Mr. W. Elliott for a lease of vacant Crown land in the Lachlan District, for which he tendered in May, 1861, I wish to call your your particular attention to the fact that, when the Tender Board opened the tender-box on that occasion, Mr. Elliott's was the only tender for the run.

I therefore submit that under the 14th clause (sec. 2) of the Occupation Act, which states that "the person making the earliest tender for a run shall be entitled to a lease thereof," as well as under the 60th Regulation, which states "If there be only one tender for a run, the tenderer shall be entitled to the lease,"—Mr. Elliott is clearly entitled to a lease of the country for which in May, 1861, he was the only tenderer, and many years before Gibson tendered for it at all. I have, &c.,

J. A. CUNNEEN.

No. 77.

J. A. Cunneen, Esq., M.L.A., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Botany-street, Surry Hills, Sydney, 9 December, 1875.

From a conversation which I had a short time since with Mr. Du Paur, at the Occupation Branch, concerning Mr. Elliott's application for a run in the Lachlan District, I infer it may possibly be urged his claim ought not to be complied with, because seven years after he tendered Messrs. Gibson were allowed (by some person), without the sanction of the Minister, and therefore without the sanction of the law, a very extraordinary modification of their boundaries, which, if sanctioned, will take from Mr. Elliott his right to a lease of land he tendered for so long before they applied for it in any shape. Such a sanction will also give them the right to monopolize nearly all the Crown Lands that exist (according to actual survey) between their runs by Boga Bogalong and Caragabal, with the plain object of joining those runs together as nearly as possible, and thus shutting out "the earlier tenderer" who, the law says, "shall be entitled to a lease thereof." To jump claims on the Gold Fields is not allowed, and, I am quite sure, to jump runs in the Pastoral Districts will not be tolerated. Tens of thousands of acres of public lands are comprised in the modifications, and I submit that, according to the 6th section of the Occupation Act, such areas can only be leased by direct ministerial sanction, especially in a case like this, where not only the leasing of the land is involved, but also justice to and the rights of the earlier tenderer. Even the pre-lease to a paltry 120 acres has to receive the approval of the Minister, and is announced in the Gazette under the sanction of his signature. I also respectfully call your attention to the fact that the late Minister for Lands, at the request of Mr. Elliott, "duly authorized an officer" (under the 9th clause of the Act) to make a survey of the vacant country desired by Elliott; this he has done, and sent a plan of its boundaries, certified by his signature, as required by the 25th section of the Act, to the proper officer in the Occupation Branch. I need scarcely add that the section above referred to makes his plan of actual survey upon the ground "legal evidence of the boundaries" therein.

In my last letter on this case I urged that, under clause 14 (section 2), and also under the 60th Regulation, Elliott was clearly entitled to a lease of the run he tendered for. In confirmation of this view of the case, and to show that it prevailed and was the practice in the administration of the department, I respectfully append to this letter the evidence of A. O. Moriarty, Esq., formerly Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, and head of the Occupation Branch, given before a Select Committee of the Legislative Assembly in 1872-3 (see Proceedings, vol. 2, p. 996, questions 312-314).

I have, &c.,

J. A. CUNNEEN.

MEMO.

MEMO.—Having, in conjunction with my honorable colleagues the Colonial Secretary and Attorney General, given this case—particularly the later letters received from Mr. Elliott's representative (Mr. Cunneen, M.P.)—a most careful re-consideration in all its bearings, more especially those of a legal character, touching the obligation of the Crown to carry out its promises to Crown tenants,—I regret being compelled (as it appears to my honorable colleague the Attorney General) by the law to sustain the decision I have already recorded upon these papers, that Elliott's tender cannot now be entertained, the country therein referred to having been, since it was applied for by him, leased to the Messrs. Gibson, and since it was so leased twice appraised under the law. My honorable colleagues and myself are of opinion that Elliott's tender was wrongfully set aside on the report of the then Commissioner of Crown Lands for the district. If Elliott, upon being informed of this decision, should think proper to make an application for compensation for the losses he may think he has sustained by the wrongful setting aside of his tender, my colleagues and myself will be prepared to deal with it in an equitable spirit.

Minute of Chief Draftsman.

The annexed tracing illustrates, to the best of my judgment, the literal construction to be put on the very vague descriptions under which the leases of the runs shown thereon were demanded in 1848.

Boga Bogalong.

This description can be fairly followed from the Mulyra Springs to the Weddin Mountains to the southward, and again from the same springs by the Wheogo Ranges to the Long Reach. The description is incomplete in not joining those points (the Weddin Mountains and the Long Reach), between which I have drawn a straight broken line. The description states specifically that Boga Bogalong joins Rossi Creek and Wentworth Gully Runs.

Wentworth Gully.

This description gives the Weddin Mountains as its common boundary with Boga Bogalong Run; it states the run to be bounded on the north by Caragabal Creek, and on the west by a north and south line 10 miles west of the hut, which would cut that creek at or about the Upper or S.-E. Waterhole.

Rossi

Rossi Creek.

This description appears to be entirely overlapped by Wentworth's Gully. It was probably to correct this that the Commissioner attempted his revision of the descriptions which ended in his leaving out the portion of land marked green on former tracing, which was up to that time undoubtedly covered by original description of Wentworth Gully Run.

Caragabal.

This description was for land coloured blue, on north side of creek. This original description was, as already pointed out, amended in 1866 on request of lessees, revised by Commissioner, and adopted by the Government on his recommendation. This revision placed Caragabal on the south side of the creek in land which otherwise was vacant Crown Lands.

J. A. Cunneen, Esq., M.L.A., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

24 Hunter-street, Sydney, 10 February, 1876.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of yesterday, in which I am informed, in reply to my letter of the 9th December last, "Mr. Elliott's tender cannot be now entertained," but that "the Hon. Minister for Lands and his colleagues are of opinion that his tender was wrongfully set aside," and that if he should think proper to make an application for compensation for any losses he may think he has sustained by such wrongful setting aside of his tender, the Minister for Lands and his colleagues will be willing to deal with in an equitable spirit.

Under these circumstances, I respectfully apply for compensation to Mr. Elliott for losses sustained—(1.) For the expenses of the duly authorized survey, which proved there was in 1861 (when Elliott tendered) vacant Crown Land, although the Commissioner of Crown Lands of the District reported there was none, £280. (2.) For loss of the station by "the wrongful setting aside of his tender," £3,000. This amount, considering the capability of the run, and its situation near good markets for stock, and in view of the profits derived from pastoral property (without considering what the value of it would be in the market) since 1861, is a small amount; indeed, had Mr. Elliott received his lease when entitled to it, he could have made a considerable fortune from the run since then, and be in a position to sell out now for a large sum.

Trusting that this application will receive your ear consideration,—

I have, &c.,
J. A. CUNNEEN.

THE Cabinet approve of the amount paid by Elliott for survey of the country claimed by him being paid to him. As to the question of amount of compensation for the loss of run tendered for by him, and since leased to Messrs. Gibson, the Cabinet are of opinion that inquiries should be made as to the reasonableness of the demand.

J. R.
T. G.

WITH reference to the Minute of the Cabinet as to payment to Elliott of the cost of survey, I desire that steps should be taken to obtain the amount from the Treasurer's Advance Account.

With reference to the claim for compensation for the loss of the land applied for by him—i.e., the loss sustained by Elliott by reason of not being put in possession of the run at the time he tendered for it, and thereby being deprived of the benefits that may have accrued from its use from that period until the present—this question should be referred to Mr. Commissioner Futter at once for his report.

The plans may be sent.

Sydney, 6 April, 1876.

Referring to your letter of the 16th ultimo, requesting me to report, for the information of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, what amount, in my opinion, Mr. W. Elliott could reasonably demand in way of compensation, for the loss sustained by him by reason of his not having been put into possession of certain lands tendered for by him in May, 1861, and since leased to the Messrs. Gibson,—I have the honor to inform you that I have inquired into the matter, and find there is at least one prior tender for the same country (tender annexed); I therefore consider that on these grounds alone Mr. Elliott is not entitled to any compensation whatever.

I may also state that, if Mr. Elliott were allowed compensation, other and prior tenderers would very possibly make a similar demand.

Sir,

Sydney, 10 April, 1876.

Referring to the conversation which took place at your office on the 8th instant, on the subject of my report of the 6th instant, on the matter of Mr. W. Elliott's claim for compensation, in which you stated that the Honorable the Minister was of opinion that I had mistaken the nature of the information required from me, and that it was not a question as to whether compensation should be granted or not, but simply one as to the amount of such compensation,—I have the honor to inform you that I am this day returning to my district, and that immediately on my arrival there I will make the necessary inquiries and calculations to enable me to estimate the amount that Mr. Elliott could reasonably demand; and trust to be able to forward my report by the 20th instant.

Crown Lands Office, Murrumburrah, 17 April, 1876.

Referring to my letter of the 10th instant, and in pursuance of the direction of the Honorable the Minister for Lands that I should report what in my opinion was the amount that Mr. W. Elliott could reasonably demand in way of compensation for the loss accruing from his being deprived of the use of the country tendered for by him in May, 1861, from that period up to the present date,—I have the honor to inform you that, having made careful calculations, I consider that a sum of two thousand pounds (£2,000) would represent approximately the profits which might have been made from the occupation of the country indicated in Mr. Elliott's tender, viz., about 15 square miles.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. FUTTER,

No. 1.

Mr. P. W. Street to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Young, 14 April, 1877.

I do myself the honor to address you in reference to a claim of long standing, put forward by a person named Elliot, to compensation for the loss of a lease of Crown Lands situated in the Lachlan District, for which he tendered some fifteen years since, and failed to obtain, from one cause or another immaterial to me. Elliot appears to have proved or carried his claim to a point at which the late Government contemplated granting him the compensation sought. My desire is now respectfully to protest against any compensation being granted to Elliot.

I claim compensation myself for the loss of the lease of the same land, having tendered for it in 1849. My tenders are or should be in existence, and a record of them be found in the Record Book of Tenders in the Crown Lands Occupation Office.

My tenders were the only ones sent in for the land in question in 1849. The reply first received by me after the tenders were opened by the Board appointed for the purpose was that my tenders had been received, subject to and awaiting the report of the Commissioner of the district. Subsequently I received a notification from the Lands Office, to the effect that the land applied for by me was included within the lease of lands held by one A. Gibson; this has since been proved to be incorrect, and Elliot, who tendered for a part or the whole of the same land some years after I did, seems to have made good his claim—he and the Government of the period being in ignorance of my tenders of prior date.

My tenders were in the name of P. J. and A. Street; and, for the loss of the lease or leases of the land so tendered for in 1849, I now respectfully claim that the compensation when determined upon be paid to me, and not to Elliot, and in my case to be computed from the date of tender.

1 October, 1849.

Tender for a lease of a new Run of Crown Lands. Intermediate or Unsettled Districts.

In accordance with the provisions contained in Her Majesty's Order in Council, published in the New South Wales Government Gazette of the 7th October, 1847, and of the Regulations of 1st January, 1848, published in pursuance thereof, I, Philip W. Street, of Canowindra, do hereby propose to take a lease for fourteen years of the Crown Lands known as Barbagal, in the District of Lachlan, which lands are particularly described in the Schedule annexed to this Tender. And, in consideration of such lease, I am willing, and hereby offer to pay yearly in advance the minimum rent, £10, with £2 10s. added, for every 1,000 sheep or their equivalent in cattle, above 4,000 sheep or their equivalent, which the run shall, under the provisions of the said Order in Council, be estimated as capable of carrying, and also the additional sum of yearly rent in advance of 1s. for every 1,000 sheep or their equivalent as aforesaid, by way of premium for the said lease.

Given under my hand, this 26th day of September, A.D. 1849,—

P. WOOD STREET.

Commissioner, 16 Oct.; and party, 20 Oct.

SCHEDULE referred to in the foregoing Tender.

Commissioner's District and general Locality.	Name of Run.	Estimated number of Acres.	Estimated Capability for Grazing.		Description of the land by reference to leading geographical features and marked or determined boundary lines.
			Cattle.	Sheep.
E. Beckham, Lachlan	Barbagal...	16,000	640	Commencing at a point on the Barbagal Creek, where Mrs. Gibson's boundary of Boogaling Run crosses that creek, extending down the south side of that creek 5 miles, and running back at right angles to it 5 miles, to include 25 square miles.

No. 3.

Mr. Commissioner Beckham to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir, Crown Commissioner's Office, Binalong, 26 February, 1850.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your circular, No. 992, of 16 October last, requesting my report upon an abstract of a tender for a new run in favour of Mr. Phillip Street; and beg leave to state,—1st. That this tender comprises land already under license to Mrs. Gibson. 2nd. The boundaries of the land tendered for should be amended as follows:—Bounded on the east by Mrs. Gibson's west boundary of Bogalong; on the west by Mrs. Gibson's east boundary of Bland North, by the Barbagal or Caragabal Creek; south by a line running east and west four miles south of the aforesaid creek, until it meets the Bogalong and Bland Runs. Estimated to contain about 17,920 acres. Estimated grazing capabilities—600 cattle or 4,000 sheep. 3rd. This land was always considered as belonging to and forming a portion of the Caragabal station, lately transferred by Mr. Rodd to Mr. Heiland, but it has not been claimed by advertisement in the Government Gazette of the 27 September, 1848. 4th. I do not consider that the public interest requires that any portion of the land above described should be reserved for other public purposes than roads. 5th. The land referred to is of such a dry and barren nature that I consider it will require fully the quantity estimated to depasture 600 cattle or their equivalent in sheep.

Mr. Commissioner Beckham to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir, Crown Commissioner's Office, Binalong, 30 May, 1850.

Adverting to my letter of the 26th March last, reporting on a communication from Mr. J. Heiland, intimating that a portion of his run called Caragabal has been tendered for, and your letter of the 27th ultimo, informing me that the Barbagal Run, as adjusted, will now be offered to public competition,—I do myself the honor to state that, from information recently received, I am induced to believe that a portion of the land called Barbagal, which I have described as eligible for tender in the adjusted run, belongs to the Caragabal station, as claimed by Mr. Rodd, and published in the Government Gazette of the 27th September, 1848.

2. There are two small creeks close to each other, one called Barbagal and the other Caragabal, and it appears that the former was pointed out to me as being Caragabal, which led me astray in marking out the run.

3. It is impossible for me to lay down the boundaries of a new run in that locality until such time as those of the adjoining stations have been determined and marked, and would beg leave to suggest that the Barbagal Run should not be offered to public competition until such time as an accurate survey has been made.

I have, &c.,

EDGAR BECKHAM,

C. C. Lands.

The adjusted run Barbagal has already been put up to tender by the notice of 29th ultimo, according to the Commissioner's description. It will be necessary, I presume, to have a notice inserted in the Gazette withdrawing it.

There being a small block of unclaimed land called Carrackabal, Big Plain and Swamp, bounded by Mrs. Gibson's on the west, and by Mr. John Healand on the north, and south by Mr. Chisholm, by the east boundary unoccupied land; the same has been refused by Mr. Beckham on the person obtaining stations and selling them, making a traffic of Government Crown Lands. The person refused thus is of the name of John Maguire, and none that I intended to tender for; the said Carralable, Big Plain and Swamp, he hath no other way to obtain the place mentioned than by employing a barrister of Bathurst, and being informed that Mr. Beckham had left your department, leaving no doubts of him obtaining the same, he sold the last a few weeks past for the sum of £1,100, and he has no cattle to furnish such runs; therefore should Major Barney inquire from Mr. Beckham he will find this correct, and I hope this will be in due time to claim it, as I wish to tender for the same, and with due respect, I remain, Major Barney's

No. 4.

Mr. J. T. Frost to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,
Widdin Creek, Kerrabee, 7 August, 1876.

See No. 3.

Having purchased at the Wollombi eight blocks of land situated on the Widdin Creek, in the county of Hunter, parish of Blackwater, containing 357 acres 3 roods and 30 perches; and since my purchase another man says the land is his, and that he has the deeds, but there is nothing to show in the sale books at Wollombi that the land was sold to anyone but myself; and you will please to let me know at your earliest opportunity, for I wish to make use of the land.

Yours, &c.,
JOHN THOMAS FROST.

No. 5.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,
Sydney, 13 September, 1876.

I am advised by Mr. John Thomas Frost, of Widdin Creek, Denman, that he, on the 25th of May, 1876, purchased at the Land Office, Wollombi, 357 acres 3 roods and 30 perches, and paid the sum of £365 18s. 9d. for the same. He advises me the land was last offered for sale at Wollombi on the 26th March, 1856. The lots are—

No.	a.	r.	p.

Mr. Frost advises me that a person named Abel Harris bought this land at Windsor, or rather says he did so, and has possession of the land, and will not allow him to go onto the land. The proper Land Office is at Wollombi, where Frost took up the land. Mr. Frost advises me he wrote you some time since in reference to his case, and advised you that Abel Harris stated he had the deeds of the land, but up to the present time he has got no reply to his letter. I have the honor to request that you will cause an immediate inquiry to be held in this case, and that you will be good enough to let Mr. Harris or me know if Mr. Harris is entitled to the land he bought, and if he is that you will give the necessary instructions to place Harris in possession of the land he bought and has paid for.

See No. 4.

I have, &c.,
J. McELHONE.

This matter should be looked to at once to prevent further confusion arising.—T.G., 16/9/76.

No. 6.

Memorandum by Mr. A. Armstrong to The Minister for Lands.

See No. 2.

ABEL Harris made auction selections, 27 July, 1875, portions 28, 29, 30, 32, 36, and 38, county Hunter, parish of Blackwater, and has not obtained deeds of grant.

See No. 3.

The said portions were since selected by John Thomas Frost, who selected after auction in May, 1876, and deeds to Frost are being prepared for issue.

Will you issue instructions to stop issue of deeds to Frost, and cause inquiry into the case in the interests of Harris.

All the portions alluded to passed auction at Wollombi in March, 1856.

I am, &c.,
A. ARMSTRONG,
October 20, 1876.

Stop issue of deeds, and submit case for decision as soon as possible.—T.G., 20/10/76.

Mr. Thurlow,—Deeds to be stayed, and the papers returned to Auction Branch with any papers you have in connection with the case.—W.C.E., 23/10/76. Deeds stayed pending inquiry.—23/10/76.

No. 7.

Mr. A. Armstrong to The Minister for Lands.

Sir, Land Agency Office, 26 Bridge-street, Sydney, 20 October, 1876.

Referring to my letter of 9th instant, having reference to the auction selections of Abel Harris, ^{Not with the papers.} concerning which no entry of sale appears in the departmental books, I beg to hand herewith copy of the Land Agent's receipt for the purchase money thereof, together with statutory declaration to effect that such copy is true in every particular, and have the honor to request that Mr. Harris's claim to such lands may be acknowledged without delay, and deeds thereof be issued.

I have, &c.,

A. ARMSTRONG,
Agent for Abel Harris.

[Enclosure A to No. 7.]

I, ANDREW ARMSTRONG, of 26, Bridge-street, Sydney, land agent, do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I have made a copy of a receipt made by W. H. H. Becke, Land Agent at Windsor, on the 27th July, 1875, and that the paper attached hereto is the copy alluded to, that the same is in my handwriting, and is in every particular a true copy of the original receipt to Abel Harris for the purchase money paid upon the portions therein described, and I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the effectual abolition of oaths and affirmations taken and made in various departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial oaths and affidavits."

Made and signed before me, at this 20th day of October, 1876.

A. ARMSTRONG.

M. METCALF, J.P.

Selections after auction sale by Mr. Abel Harris, of Rylstone.

THE lands selected by Mr. Harris were offered for sale at Wollombi on the 26th March, 1856.

As the selections were accepted by a Land Agent other than the one in whose district the lands were situated, the moneys remitted (£283 18s. 9d.) were placed to Suspense Account on the 30th July, 1875, and the Under Secretary for Lands was asked by B.C. of the following day whether the selections were to be allowed. Not having yet received a reply thereto, will the Under Secretary for Lands be good enough to inform me how the matter stands?—G.E.

The Under Secretary for Lands.—B.C., 23 October, 1876.

Submitted: On the 27th July, 1875, portions 28, 29, 30, 32, 36, and 38, of the sale at Wollombi ^{See No. 2.} of the 26th March, 1856, were selected by Abel Harris, at Windsor; and on the 25th May last the same ^{See No. 3.} portions were selected by John Frost, at Wollombi. 2. The land was last offered and passed at auction at Wollombi, and since the division of the district has remained in Wollombi (i.e. since 1858). The preparation and issue of the deeds have been stayed pending decision as to whom the land is to be granted.—H.O.R., 22/11/76. The land was selected by Harris.

Mr. Frost to be written to, enclosing the accompanying order for refund of his deposit upon the lots purchased by Abel Harris in 1872, of which the latter party has already received the deeds of grant. Inform that Abel Harris had also selected the remaining lots at the Windsor Land Office on the 27th July, 1875, and that he has also the option of obtaining an immediate refund of his deposit in respect of them, otherwise his claim in respect of his selection of the lots at the Land Office at Wollombi will be further considered and dealt with on its merits.—A.O.M., 27/11/76.

Lots 28, 29, 30,
32, 36, 37, 38, 40.
See No. 1.

In reference to your selections made at Wollombi on the 25 May last, of the portions noted in the margin, I am directed to inform you that your selections of lots 37 and 40 have been cancelled, as the land was previously (viz., in December, 1872) purchased by Abel Harris, and to forward herewith the enclosed notification of such cancellation.

2. With regard to the remaining lots applied for by you, I am to inform you that they also were selected by Harris at the Windsor Land Office, in July, 1875; and that you have also the option of obtaining a refund of the amount paid by you in respect of these lots, otherwise your claim in respect to these portions will be further considered and dealt with on its merits.

I have, &c.,

No. 11.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 5 December, 1876.

I have the honor to request that you will give a speedy decision in the case of Frost v. Harris.

Harris purchased the land first, but took it up at Windsor, the wrong Land Office.

Frost took up and paid for the land at Wollombi, the proper Land Office.

Both parties have written and requested me to get the land for them.

According to the decision given in similar cases by yourself, being Dillon v. Murphy, and Ogilvie v. Laycock, Frost must get the land; but whatever decision is come to, I have the honor to request that you will give a speedy decision.

I have, &c.,

J. McELHONE.

This case presents many features similar to that of the disputed selections of Messrs. Dillon and Murphy, in which it was held under an opinion from the Attorney General that the selection first tendered to the Land Agent of the district was entitled to priority. But I must submit with great deference that such a ruling could not have been designed to require that all cases of the kind should be dealt with on technical grounds apart from the circumstances and merits, and that it cannot be applied to the present case without risking a failure of justice. It appears that the land when offered to sale in 1856 was in the Police District of Macdonald River, and that it was brought to sale at Wollombi as being the principal place of Petty Sessions of the District of Wollombi and Macdonald River, which were united for purposes of Police administration. By a notification of the boundaries of those districts, and of the Windsor District, made in 1858, the land fell within the district of Wollombi, which was from that time and is now the Land Office of the district. In 1872 Harris purchased certain of the lots in the same sale by selection at the Land Office at Windsor, and his selection was accepted without question by the Government, and his deeds issued. In July, 1875, wishing to take other lots of the same sale, he again, naturally, applied at the same office, where his money was received and his selection reported, and (though attention appears to have been pointedly called to the question by the Treasury report) no objection has been raised to the selection until after the land had again been selected by Frost at Wollombi, i.e., nearly a year afterwards. If the selections had been in point of time so nearly together that a doubt might be raised as to priority, it would, of course, be proper to settle the doubt in favour of the first technically correct application. But in the present instance there was abundant time for any informality in the prior application to be noticed and corrected long before the other application was made. That this was not done, is, I submit, the fault not of the applicant, but of this Department; and he surely should not be punished for an informality which was not considered of sufficient consequence to call for notice on the part of the Department. On the other hand, the late applicant can hardly consider himself equitably entitled to be declared the purchaser of land paid for to the Colonial Treasury by another applicant eleven months previously.

Having regard to all the circumstances, it is respectfully submitted that the justice of the case will be subserved by sustaining the original selection, and refunding the purchase money of the second selector.

No. 12.

Mr. G. M. Dunn to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Mudgee, 15 December, 1876.

I have the honor to enclose copy of a receipt for the sum of £283 18s. 9d. for the price of 277 acres 3 roods and 30 perches of land, purchased by Mr. Abel Harris, at Wollombi, on the 27th day of July, 1875, including the assurance and fees for six deeds, and to request that you will be good enough to have the grants of same issued in favour of Mr. Harris without delay. I have been informed that the cause of the delay is the fact that a Mr. John T. Frost purchased the same lands in the month of May, 1876, ten months after, and at a different Land Office, and that a question has arisen as to which of the purchases was made at the proper office. I think, however, the priority of ten months must be held to conclude the matter, the Government having during that period retained the sum of £283 18s. 9d. of Mr. Harris's money, and Mr. Harris having during that period been in possession of the lands. Circumstances have come to my knowledge which lead me to suppose that the land was taken by Frost with a view of putting Harris to annoyance and expense, he (Frost) well knowing that the land was in Harris's possession, and had been purchased by him. Your early attention and decision on this matter will be anxiously awaited.

I have, &c.,

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 23 December, 1876.

I have the honor to call your attention to the case of Frost v. Harris.

I have been informed that the case has been decided in favour of Mr. Harris; if this is the case, I have the honor to call your attention to the cases of Dillon v. Murphy and Laycock v. Ogilvie, in both of which cases you decided that Murphy and Ogilvie were to get the land, as they took up the land at the proper Land Office, although in Dillon's case he applied more than once to take up the land at the proper Land Office, Young, and his money was refused.

If it is a fact that the case is decided against Mr. Frost and in Harris's favour, I have the honor to request you will reconsider the decision, as Mr. Frost stands in a similar position to Murphy and Ogilvie, as he, Frost, took up and paid for the land at the proper office, Wollombi.

I have, &c.,

J. McELHONE.

Mr. McElhone should be informed of the reasons for arriving at decision as set out in Mr. Moriarty's minute on the papers.—T.G., 23/12/76.

No. 14.

J. McElhone, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 8 January, 1877.

Some time since I had the honor to write on behalf of Mr. John T. Frost, and protest against your decision giving the land to Abel Harris, as Mr. Frost had taken up the land at the proper Land Office, Wollombi.

In similar cases—Dillon v. Murphy and Laycock v. Ogilvie—you decided that Murphy and Ogilvie were to have the land as they took it up in the proper office; in Dillon's case he had tendered the money at the proper office, Young, and his money was refused.

As

As I have had no reply to my protest on behalf of Frost requesting a rehearing of the case, I have the honor to request an early reply, and to again protest against your decision giving the land to Harris, as you have no power to do so under the Lands Act.

I have the honor to enclose you a letter from Mr. Frost, which shows that Harris has commenced an action against him, which I believe is in consequence of your decision.

I have, &c.,
J. McELHONNE.

Mr. J. T. Frost to J. McElhone, Esq., M.P.

Dear Sir,

Widdin Creek, Kerrabee, 1 January, 1877.

I received your letter telling me that I did not send you the letter you wanted; but you should have received a single letter since you last wrote to me, as I posted it about the 19th of December—it is the letter you told me that I did not send you the right numbers of the blocks of land.

I have not heard any more about the six pieces of land in dispute; and it would be of great importance now, as Harris has actioned me for £200 damages for trespass. The case will come off on 19th of this month, at Mudgee; but I expect it is no use writing to the Minister, as the holidays are on. Hoping to hear from you to-morrow,

I remain, &c.,
JOHN THOS. FROST.

P.S.—I did not send you the order for the £82, as I was buying some land and I paid it in as cash.—J. T. FROST.

Mr. Edwards,—The within mentioned lots were last offered for sale at Boorowa on the 12th April, 1865, and not bid for, and were selected (after auction) in July last, at Boorowa, by John Dillon; but, as will be seen by these papers, the Land Agent at Young has allowed them to be taken up at his office by J. A. Murphy.—13/9/75.

Will Mr. Trengrouse please say in which district these portions are situated.—W.C.E., 14/9/75.
Young District.—W.A.T.—15 Sept., /75.

The land in question being in the Young Police District when selected by John Dillon, it is submitted whether that purchase is legal.—W.C.E., 22/10/75.

The prior selections having been received in July last by the Land Agent at Burrowa (though incorrectly, not being for land in that district), and having been duly reported, and not up to the present time questioned,—submitted that the priority of right of the earlier selections should not be questioned.—A.O.M., 1 Nov., /75. The prior selection should certainly be sustained.—W.W.S., 3 Nov., /75. Approved.—T.G., 4 Nov., /75. Cancel Murphy's selections, and refund money.

No. 4.

Mr. H. Freeman to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

18, Bridge-street, Sydney, 18 January, 1876.

I am instructed by Mr. John A. Murphy of Murrumburrah, to invite your consideration of his claim, disputed by one Dillon, to have conveyed to him in the usual manner the several portions of Crown Lands selected by him after auction at Young in August last.

It

It is a matter of fact well known to my client, that this land had been originally advertised for sale in the Land Office at Burrowa (12 April, 1865); but finding after proper inquiry that by formal notice from your department the land had subsequently been withdrawn from sale at Burrowa, and the district altered to Young, Mr. Murphy attended the latter office, paid his money, and in proper form purchased the lots. He made application shortly afterwards for the issue of the Crown grants, but has been informed that the lots he claims (or two of them) had previously been selected at Burrowa by Dillon. See Nos. 2 & 3.

My client has a very important interest at stake in this matter, inasmuch as the land he purchased forms the only convenient means of communication between his woolshed and the washpool on his run. He will, if his claim be rejected, suffer grievous loss; whereas Dillon's can only be speculative upon the extent of the damage which my client may suffer, and to avoid which Mr. Murphy will be called upon to buy him out.

If the case were less clear, or my client in anywise to blame for short performance of any official rule or requirement, then perhaps he might with justice be allowed to suffer. In this case, however, Mr. Murphy, I respectfully submit, has acquired his right by careful compliance with the Regulation which expressly stipulates that "Land can only be taken up or purchased in the office of that district in which it is situated." The land district having by your authority been declared to be "Young," it is perhaps only too evident that any selection made at Burrowa would directly contravene the law. Dillon, who selected at Burrowa, might with at least an equal show of legality have selected at Sydney (or say Coona-barrabran); and I now venture to urge these facts upon your favourable consideration, feeling assured that in view of the premises, indisputable, and truly mentioned here, Mr. Murphy may not suffer the injustice involved in a loss of the land he has fairly purchased. Further, I respectfully beg that until the case can be fully inquired into, the deeds applied for by Dillon may not be prepared to the prejudice of my client.

I have, &c.,

HENRY FREEMAN,
(Late Hy. Withers & Co.)

Submit the papers to me quickly, and stay deeds pending inquiry—W.W.S., 19 Jany.
After carefully reconsidering this case, I must adhere to former decision.—T.G., 7/2/76.

Mr. H. Freeman to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

18, Bridge-street, Sydney, 12 February, 1876.

I am instructed by Mr. J. A. Murphy to beg your consideration of the extreme hardship of his case as disclosed in your decision (of which I have heard).

My client is thus made to suffer the loss of land, although purchased by him in strict accordance with the letter of the law; and although he might deplore any injury that Mr. Dillon might be made to sustain by rejection of his claim, yet Mr. Murphy respectfully but firmly submits that Dillon has no right under the law to the land in question. The selection of these areas by Dillon was made wrongly at a Land Office where the application should have been rejected by the agent, as covering land open to selection selection and sale only in another police district. On the other hand, my client selected at the proper office of that land district, and therefore the priority which can only attach to an application legally made should be secured to him. This refusal of Mr. Murphy's claim is fraught with serious loss to him, for the reasons I have already advanced; and I hope I may not be trespassing beyond the limits of respectful appeal when I ask that you will kindly refer the matter for the opinion of the Crown Law Officers, as to the legal and proper claim my client holds to have the land assured to him.

I have the honor to return herewith the papers forwarded to me, with reference to the conflicting claims of Mr. John A. Murphy and Mr. John Dillon to certain land situate at Murrumboola, and to state that I have submitted same to the Honorable the Attorney General, a copy of whose opinion thereon will be found on the other side.

Under advice of Attorney General, Murphy's purchase must be recognized, Dillon's application declined; inform all parties of Attorney General's opinion in full.—T.G., 7/7/76. Descriptions amended and deeds prepared.—27 July, 1876.

[Enclosure to No. 10.]

In re Claim of Mr. John A. Murphy to lands at Murrumboola, also claimed by Mr. John Dillon.

It appears to me that the only purchase properly made according to the Regulations was that made by J. A. Murphy. The land in question, originally advertised in the Land Office at Burrowa, had been by notification from the Lands Department withdrawn from sale there, and the district altered to Young. In accordance with this alteration is the action of Murphy, who attends at the office indicated by the Government, and makes his purchase at the proper place. The prior selection at Burrowa by Dillon was manifestly not at the Land Office of the district which the Government had itself prescribed, and was consequently at variance with the Regulation. I cannot see how Murphy's claim can be resisted. His purchase has legal priority (though later in point of time), for he purchased at the only place where, according to the Regulation, he could do so.

No. 17.

M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

251, George-street, 28 July, 1876.

In compliance with your wish, I beg to re-state in writing the case which I submitted to you personally this morning.

On the 12th April, 1865, certain Crown Lands were offered for sale by auction at Boorowa, and, not having been sold, were thereupon open to selection. Mr. John Dillon, of Murrumburrah, was desirous of securing two of these portions, namely, portions 97 and 98, in the parish of Murrumboola, containing respectively 131 acres 1 rood and 131 acres 2 roods, and with that view applied to the Land Agent at Young, on the 1st day of February, 1875. The Agent, not being able readily to find any record of the sale, requested Mr. Dillon to call again, which he did, and was then informed that the matter had been overlooked. Mr. Dillon called again and again at Young, some five times in all, at varying intervals extending in all over five months.

Despairing of getting any satisfaction from the Land Agent at Young, Mr. Dillon wrote to me to take the matter in hand for him; his letter was received on the 25th June, 1875. After two or three elaborate searches in your office, my then assistant, Mr. Henry Freeman, succeeded in finding the plans and papers connected with these lands. Mr. Freeman personally applied to take up the lands there in Mr. Dillon's name, as had been the practice for years theretofore. But this application must be made at the local land office, which it was intimated to him was Boorowa. I conveyed this official intimation to Mr. Dillon, and accordingly on the 8th July, 1875, he attended the Land Office at Boorowa, and paid the price of the lands, £264 15s. Mr. Dillon has been in unquestioned possession of the land from that date until the receipt, some days ago, of your letter of 11th instant, which informed him that his selection had been cancelled, because, under the opinion of the Attorney General, the land could only be legally selected in the Police District of Young, in which it is situated. (It appears that between the date of See No. 12.

of the attempted sale in 1865 and Mr. Dillon's selection, the boundaries of the Police District of Burrowa had been altered.) It transpired, from the Attorney General's opinion, that the same lands, some time after the selection of them by Mr. Dillon, had been taken up by Mr. J. A. Murphy, whose claim it was advised should be sustained. Now I do not hesitate to say, that if this advice be followed the result will be an act of unexampled injustice. However much the learned Attorney General may have been constrained to give this technical opinion, it cannot be otherwise than abhorrent to his or your sense of Justice that Mr. Dillon should be deprived of the land by a trick of this kind, after holding it for twelve months, and at a time too when he is under contract engagements for fencing and other improvements. He did all that man could do. He applied several times to select at Young, which, as it turns out, was the correct office, and the Land Agent practically refused or declined to accept the money. He applied through me to select at the Land Office in Sydney, where hundreds of other selections had been permitted to be made, and was refused. He then applied to the Land Office at Burrowa, where the land had been offered for sale, and his application was at once accepted. Now, I claim that the Government must be bound by the acts of their agents. This position will not, I think, be disputed. Well then, on the one hand the Government Agent at Young was unwilling or unable to give legal effect to Mr. Dillon's application again and again repeated; and on the other hand the Land Agent at Burrowa, without any demur or hesitation, at once purported to give effect to his selection.

I respectfully maintain that the Government are doubly bound by these acts, and that now to ignore Mr. Dillon's selections would be to ignore their own acts—acts which would be binding upon any citizen, and which the Courts of the Colony would compel him to respect. I cannot persuade myself that you will deprive Mr. Dillon of his land on this wretched quibble. If it be said that the law is as laid down by the learned Attorney General, and that Mr. Murphy is entitled to the benefit of it, then I reply let Mr. Murphy by all means obtain any and all redress that the law will afford, but do not let the Government disavow their own acts.

They have entered into a contract with Mr. Dillon, from which they cannot with honor recede. Let them complete that contract by the issue to him of the deeds of grant improperly delayed until now, and then let Mr. Murphy seek any remedy the law may afford, and which remedy, as I am advised, will not at all be defeated by the issue of the deeds to Mr. Dillon.

I have, &c.,

M. FITZPATRICK.

No. 18.

Mr. H. Freeman to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

18, Bridge-street, Sydney, 15 August, 1876.

I have the honor once more to apply, on behalf of Mr. John A. Murphy, for speedy issue of the Crown grants, which have been prepared and signed by His Excellency the Governor in favour of my client.

Mr. Murphy learns with regret that the issue of these deeds has been stopped on representations filed by Dillon, whose position in the matter might evoke sympathy perhaps were any real injury or loss inflicted. Such is, I am earnestly to assure you, not the fact; and as my client is prepared to pay promptly and fully for any fencing or improvement actually on the ground, I conceive the hardship is obviated, and appeal ad misericordiam may indeed be unnecessary.

Mr. Murphy, having the fullest confidence in your official assurance conveyed by the departmental notification of the admission of his lawful purchase, has, I am advised by him, alienated his interest, and he is now required to complete the conveyance.

I felt justified, in my capacity as agent for Murphy, in advising him, on the eve of his sale, that the case had met with the fullest consideration by the Lands Minister, and at the hands of the Law Officers of the Crown, and that the decision affirming the lawfulness of his tenure, and the consequent illegality of the opposing claim, had been so fairly come to, after mature deliberation, as to leave no room for doubt that his position could not be disturbed.

This matter had lain for many weary months in an unadjusted state, and my client is really the sole sufferer in the matter, inasmuch as the action taken by Dillon in plunging into the very heart of his run, and in an avowed hostile spirit stepping upon the only area available for access from the woolshed to water, was only calculated to harass the Crown tenant, and to extort a high price as the consideration for withdrawal.

I do not feel it my duty, nor is it necessary, to search for motives for this act of adverse selection; suffice it to show, that the purchase which has been made by Dillon does not bear the stamp of legality, and this conclusion having been affirmed by your decision, supported by the positive assurance of the Honorable the Attorney General, that my client does possess the only lawful right, I respectfully ask that you will be pleased to order the speedy issue to Mr. Murphy of his grants.

I have, &c.,

HENRY FREEMAN.

I have again gone over these papers very carefully, and am, I feel bound, again to direct that deeds should issue in Murphy's favour.—T.G., 6/9/76.

At Grafton, I yesterday selected 400 acres of unmeasured unimproved land, on E. D. Ogilvie's run, exactly on the Police District boundary line. I trust that fact will obviate all objections from whosoever brought or forthcoming. I have sold my Glenreagh Run, and sought to take my cattle to the selected land, but the station holders contiguous positively refused in writing to permit me to drive my cattle across the Ramornie and Newbold Runs, thus forcibly closing up every avenue of access to conditional purchaser's driving cattle to their selections, although in my case one day would have sufficed for my purpose.

It was explained to applicant that, as he has no other conditional purchase in this district, this application is objectionable under the 21st section.

It was suggested that his better course would have been to have now applied under the 13th section for the 200 acres apparently erroneously selected at Grafton, and the 200 acres represented by this application, in one block, and to obtain a refund of the deposit paid in Grafton. He, however, elected to adhere to this application subject to this explanation, and to accept receipt for deposit subject to decision by the Honorable the Minister for Lands.

No. 7.

M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir, 251, George-street, 9 October, 1876.

I earnestly invoke your interference in the following matter, to prevent a flagrant abuse of the Land Act. Mr. J. C. Laycock, a hard-working settler in the true sense of the word, was desirous of selecting certain Crown Land on the borders of the Grafton and Casino Police Districts.

Being not quite certain of the fact, but believing the land to be in the Grafton District, he on 17th August last went to the Grafton Office and lodged two applications—one in his own name for 200 acres, and one in the name of his daughter, Miss Emily C. Laycock, for the like area. The Land Agent, being also under the impression that the land, the position of which was pointed out to him on the map, was in the Grafton District, at once accepted the deposit, and gave the usual receipts. On the following Wednesday the Honorable E. D. Ogilvie went to the Casino Office, and in virtue of one or more Volunteer Orders selected or purported to select portions of the same land, on the plea that Mr. Laycock's selections were not valid. There is reason to believe that the land is in the district of Casino, as shown on the within sketch. I now entreat you, in the exercise of the large discretion necessarily placed in you, to allow Mr. Laycock to amend his selection, as has been done in other cases. See No. 1, See No. 2, See Nos. 4 and 6, Appendix A.

As displaying the temper shown in this case, I am instructed to say, that immediately upon Mr. Laycock making his selection it was intimated to him by an agent of Mr. Ogilvie's, that he (Mr. Ogilvie) would be a thorn in Mr. Laycock's side; and as Mr. Laycock's occupation is liable to interruption, and is in fact disputed by Mr. Ogilvie, I beg as a further favour that you will give instructions for the early measurement of these selections. I have, &c.,

MICHL. FITZPATRICK.

[Minute on No. 7.]

So far as these Conditional Purchases and the Volunteer Land Order purchase are affected by the applications for the former, viz., made at Grafton instead of at Casino, I direct that the conditional purchases stand good. Transfer to Casino books. If the Volunteer Land Order purchase made on the Wednesday following by Ogilvie clashes with either of the conditional purchases, as alleged, it should be cancelled.—T.G.

See No. 4.

In reference to your letter of to-day's date, respecting the conditional purchases mentioned in the margin, which appear to have been made in the wrong Police District, and which clash with a Volunteer Land Order selection made by the Crown tenant, E. D. Ogilvie, I am directed to inform you that the Secretary for Lands has instructed that the conditional purchases should stand good, so far as they and the Volunteer Land Order purchase are affected by the applications for the former having been made at Grafton instead of at Casino; and they will therefore be transferred to the Richmond River Land Office books, if found to come within that district.

2. I am to add, that if the Volunteer Land Order purchase, said to have been made on the Wednesday following the date of the conditional purchases, be found to conflict with either of the selections as alleged, it will be cancelled.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of yesterday's date, wherein you inform me that the conditional purchases of J. C. Laycock and Miss E. C. Laycock, 200 acres each, made at Grafton on 17th August, 1876, will be sustained, and to thank you for the promptitude with which you have dealt with the cases.

See No. 7.

May I further direct your attention to the request contained in my letter of 9th instant, that you would be good enough to issue instructions for the immediate measurement of these conditional purchases.

I have, &c.,

See Nos. 1 and 2

Mr. District Surveyor Donaldson is requested to report if conditional purchase applications 76/113 and 76/114, Grafton, interfere with any land applied for under Volunteer Land Order by Ogilvie or otherwise, and to what extent. He should place himself in communication with the Land Agents and the persons interested, and furnish report and sketch as early as possible, as the conditional purchase is to stand, even though made at Grafton, as against the Volunteer Land Order.

Mr. Landers,—The Minister for Lands desires telegram to above effect to be sent; then to Alienation Branch (through Records) to inform conditional purchaser's agent of reference to surveyor; and then to me.—F.W.R., for Surveyor General, 17/10/76.

No. 10.

Messrs. Heron & Thompson to Mr. R. G. Massie.

Dear Sir,

Vickery's Chambers, 19 October, 1876.

We have considered the question you placed before us, with reference to the action the Government have taken in having purported to validate (by the notification of the Minister for Lands) an informal application by John Connell Laycock for the conditional purchase of certain property upon the Clarence River, forming portion of Mr. Edward Ogilvie's run, such an attempted validation having a subsequent date to a formal and correct application lodged by Mr. Ogilvie, under a Volunteer Land Order, for a portion of the area intended to be taken up by Laycock.

By the "Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867," the efficient Volunteer was entitled to a free grant of 50 acres of such land as might be open to conditional purchase under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861"; and thus the point now to be considered appears to us to be, whether this 50 acres was open to conditional purchase on the day upon which Mr. Ogilvie lodged his application.

We are strongly of opinion that it was then open for conditional purchase, inasmuch as at that date no application by any other person had been tendered to the "Land Agent for the district," in accordance with the provisions of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861"; and we consider the notification by the Minister for Lands is ultra vires, even were there no "third party" whose rights are affected. And we form our opinion upon this ground:

The 14th section of the 39 Victoria No. 13, upon which the Minister, we presume, would rely, has reference alone to an "error or uncertainty" in the description of land conditionally purchased; the land in question we do not consider was conditionally purchased, as no application whatever was lodged at the proper District Land Office, and it is one thing to amend or validate an "error or uncertainty" in an otherwise correct and formal application, and quite another thing to validate an application informal ab initio—so informal, indeed, was the whole proceeding that we consider no application has ever existed.

The power the Minister derives under the 14th section is not a creative one, but a confirmatory or validating one.

We are not asked to point out what legal procedure should be taken in order to protect Mr. Ogilvie or enforce his claims, and we therefore do not suggest any measures; we however believe, that by a clear representation of the facts to the Minister, a consideration of Mr. Ogilvie's claims may be obtained, coupled coupled with a postponement of a final acceptance of Laycock's application ; and we should advise that the points we have raised should be submitted to the Minister forthwith, with a request that Laycock should not be declared the conditional purchaser of at least the 50 acres applied for by Mr. Ogilvie, but that that area should at once be surveyed in respect of his application.

If this request should not be granted, it will be proper to consider whether Mr. Ogilvie can bring an action of trespass against Laycock. We are, &c.,
HERON & THOMPSON.

No. 11.

Mr. R. G. Massie to The Minister for Lands.

Sir, No. 5, Bridge-street Chambers, 19 October, 1876.

With reference to the action taken by you recently, by which you appear to validate an informal application made by Mr. John Connell Laycock, on behalf of his daughter Emily Connell Laycock, for the conditional purchase of 200 acres of land on the Clarence River, forming a portion of Mr. Edward Ogilvie's run, such an attempted validation having a subsequent date to a formal and correct application lodged by Mr. Ogilvie under a Volunteer Land Order,—I now have to protest against any such attempt, which besides being in itself, I humbly suggest, quite ultra vires and illegal, invalidating an application made correctly and legally at the proper Land Office, with a correct description, for at the date of Mr. Ogilvie's application at the Land Office of the district where the land required by him under his Volunteer Land Order was situated, no application had been made by Mr. Laycock or anyone else for any land or portion of land interfering with it. No 2. See No. 4.

Under these circumstances, I respectfully request that you will be good enough to reconsider your decision, with a view to its rescission with as little delay as possible, and that you inform Mr. Laycock of this ; and, further, that the District Surveyor (Mr. Donaldson) be instructed to take the necessary steps with a view of securing to Mr. Ogilvie his undoubted rights.

Your earliest attention to this matter will much oblige,
Your, &c.,
ROBERT GEO. MASSIE.

[Minute on No 11.]

In this case a conditional purchase was made by Laycock, but not as required by the 13th clause of the Alienation Act at the Land Office of the district. The Minister, however, approved of the conditional purchase being validated by transferring the application to the proper district. Prior, however, to such authority, the Land Order 50 acres out of it had been taken up by Mr. Ogilvie under Volunteer Land Order. The question therefore seems to be, whether a conflicting claim having in the meantime arisen, the conditional purchase can legally be upheld in its entirety. I should, perhaps, point out, that concessions of this nature have generally been allowed, on the understanding that no claim has arisen clashing with the first but illegal transaction.—W.W.S., 31st Oct.

THE Minister directs that you should measure immediately Laycock's conditional purchases, seventy-six, one hundred and thirteen, and fourteen, thousand, taken up in the wrong Police District, and notwithstanding Ogilvie's Volunteer Land Order taken up in the correct district but on a later date.

[Lands Acts Amendment Act, 1875.]

Application for the purchase of Crown Lands in virtue of intended improvements by the holder thereof, under a lease or promise of lease for pastoral purposes.

Crown Lands Office, Glen Innes, No. 4/76.

RECEIVED by me, with a deposit of £100, this 31st day of October, 1876.

G. MARTIN,
Agent for Sale of Crown Lands at Glen Innes.

Sir, Yulgilbar, Grafton, 31 October, 1876.

I hereby apply to purchase, without competition, under the provisions of the 31st clause of the "Lands Acts Amendment Act, 1875," the Crown Land described hereunder, on which I intend to erect the improvements detailed below ; and I herewith tender the sum of £100, being a deposit of £1 per acre on the area for which I apply. I have, &c.,
EDWD. D. OGILVIE.

The Crown Lands Agent, Glen Innes.

DESCRIPTION OF LAND.

Name of run, or nature of holding—Ogilvie's Cattle Station, pastoral leases. County of Gresham, parish of Camelback. 100 acres, in addition to and adjoining the 180 acres applied for by me on the 2nd September last, under the provisions of the 31st clause of the "Lands Act Amendment Act of 1875." The 100 acres now applied for are bounded, on the north by the 180 acres applied for 2nd September, on the west by the Mitchell River, on the south by Fischer's Creek, and on the east by a line from that creek north to the southern boundary of the 180 acres.

Improvements.

Clearing scrub or brush on river bank, and laying down land with artificial grasses for feeding imported shorthorn stock. [Minutes

No. 15.

Mr. Surveyor Donaldson to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Grafton, 1 November, 1876.

See minute on No. 2.

In obedience to instructions of 17th October, 1876, to report on the conditional purchases of J. C. Laycock of 200 acres, and Emily C. Laycock of 200 acres, to what extent they are interfered with by Volunteer Land Orders or otherwise, and to communicate with Land Agent and parties interested, &c., I have the honor to inform you,—

See No. 4.

1st. That the conditional purchase, 76/114, of Emily C. Laycock of 200 acres, made at Grafton on 17th August last, will include the Volunteer Land Order purchase of 50 acres, made by E. D. S. Ogilvie at Grafton on the 23rd August last.

2nd. Mr. Ogilvie objects to this conditional purchase being allowed, on the ground that it is in the Police District of the Richmond River, and not of Grafton, where it was selected; and that it is described as being in the parish of Newbold, county of Clarence, instead of in the parish of Camelback, county of Gresham, in which it really is. Mr. Ogilvie also asserts that Mr. Laycock pointed out the starting point of Emily C. Laycock's conditional purchase, as being a small creek just above Mr. Ogilvie's Volunteer Land Order, and not Gorge Creek as given in his description, which will include the Volunteer Land Order purchase of Mr. Ogilvie; this Mr. Laycock denies, and insists on the land as described starting at Gorge Creek.

See No. 5.

With No. 7.

3rd. With reference to J. C. Laycock's conditional purchase, 200 acres (76-113), taken up at Grafton on the 17th August last, and also an additional conditional purchase of 200 acres taken up at Casino on the 24th August, I have the honor to point out, that in the sketch forwarded to me with Laycock's applications, the position of these selections is shown as being wholly in the Richmond River district, of which Casino is the Land Office.

4th. The description given of the additional selection, viz., to adjoin the northern boundary of my former conditional purchase, together with its having been taken up at Casino and not at Grafton, where the first was erroneously taken up, would imply that the sketch indicates the land intended to be taken.

5th. This land, however, consists of a steep high range and poor useless country, and Mr. Laycock points out that it will be utterly valueless to him, and informs me that he has, from want of knowledge of the locality, made an error in giving this as the spot, and now points out the land as intended to be taken where shown by the red tint on my sketch herewith marked C, and not at B in blue as in sketch referred to.

Appendix B.

See No. 6.

See No. 13.

6th. To measure where Mr. Laycock points out, will include part of a Volunteer Land Order purchase of 50 acres made by Mr. Ogilvie at Glen Innes on 2nd September last, as well as part of a conditional improved purchase of 180 acres taken up by Mr. Ogilvie on 5th September, and an additional conditional improved purchase of 100 acres on 30th October, under 31st section of Act of 1875 (all taken up after Laycock's selection).

7th. Mr. Ogilvie objects to the selection, on the ground that if measured where Mr. Laycock now points out, it will be a change of position from that first taken, as well as that it will include the land taken up by him by Volunteer Land Orders and under 31st section, and that it will be then wholly within the Police District of Glen Innes, instead of the Grafton or Richmond River District in which the selection was made.

See No. 12.

8th. Under these circumstances I could not measure immediately, as instructed by telegram of 23rd instant, and request to be informed whether J. C. Laycock's conditional purchases 76/113 & 173 are to be measured in accordance with the sketch accompanying his application, or where he now points out.

I transmit herewith copies of Land Agent's descriptions, and two letters from Mr. Ogilvie on the matter. I have also seen Mr. Ogilvie and Mr. Laycock respecting the same.

I have, &c.,

P. R. DONALDSON.

[Enclosure A to No. 15.]

E. D. Ogilvie, Esq., to Mr. Surveyor Donaldson.

Dear Sir,

Yulgilbar, 16th October, 1876.

On reaching the Gorge on Friday morning last, I found Mr. Laycock there, and upon my requesting him to point out the position of the land he claimed to have selected, he intimated that he desired to include the land upon which my fence is erected and which I claim, and Mr. Fisher on his arrival declined to measure either my land or that claimed by Mr. Laycock.

I now learn from my superintendent and two men who are putting up fence for me, that Mr. Laycock not only stated that he did not lay any claim to the land upon which my fence stands, but that he actually pointed out his starting point as being at the confluence of a small running creek which joins the nearer point above my selection, and which was, he said, the creek mentioned in his application as Gorge or George's Creek.

See No. 2.

But the fact is, that he having since made another selection lower down the river on the run of Mr. Greaves, he now wants to deprive me of mine, because it intervenes between his two. I trust that a sense of justice will induce you to use your official influence and authority to thwart so unjustifiable an attempt to play fast and loose. That Mr. Laycock, previous to his making the last selection on Newbold Run, distinctly stated that the land upon which my fence is erected was not included in that for which he had applied, can be proved by three competent witnesses.

I remain, &c.

EDWD. D. OGILVIE.

[Enclosure

[Enclosure B to No. 15.]

E. D. Ogilvie, Esq., to Mr. Surveyor Donaldson.

Yulgilbar, 19 October, 1876.

Dear Sir,

Laycock has now shifted his ground, and claims to take his selection made at Grafton on the 17th August, and his additional selection made at Casino on the 24th, all in the Glen Innes District, and in such a way as to deprive me of my 50 acre block taken by Volunteer Land Order at Grafton, on the 6th September, to secure my main cattle camp for that part of my run. In the presence of my superintendent, Laycock pointed out to the Land Agent at Casino, on the official map, the position of the land he had selected at Grafton the previous week, and in taking at Casino an additional selection he pointed it out and described it as adjoining the northern boundary of his first selection. I enclose herewith a sketch showing the position of his selection as pointed out at Casino: the original selection is that marked A, and the additional selection that marked B. My Volunteer Land Order selection is indicated at C, and the land that Laycock now says that he claims is indicated by a dotted line and marked D. I also enclose copies of Mr. Laycock's applications for his original and additional selections respectively, and ask you if the boundary of the latter, speaking as it does of his northern boundary, does not conclusively prove that the land he now advances a claim to is not the land he selected. My selection is a valuable one as securing an important cattle camp, and I trust that I shall not vainly invoke official protection against the attempt to deprive me of it by a trick.

I remain, &c.,
EDWD. D. OGILVIE.

Crown Lands Office, Casino, 22 November, 1876.

Dear Sir,

I was on leave in Sydney when you asked for sketch of Laycock's conditional purchases, I now send an approximate one of all in that spot.

Laycock distinctly told me that the conditional purchases at Grafton were adjoining the northern side of the Clarence and Richmond River Police boundary; and I gave him a sketch showing them as such, with which he was satisfied.

Yours, &c.,

This letter and sketch refers to the applications of Laycock's conditional purchases reported on by me, 1st November, 1876.—P.R. DONALDSON, 24 November, 1876.

No. 19.

Memorandum by The Minister for Lands.

In re Ogilvie's Volunteer Land Order and 31st clause applications and the Laycocks' Conditional Purchases.

See No. 15.

THIS matter having again been brought under my notice in connection with the accompanying report from Mr. Surveyor Donaldson (and other papers herewith), from which it appears that the questions at issue between Mr. Ogilvie and the Laycocks are not confined to the land as to which, on the representations of Mr. Fitzpatrick (Laycock's agent), instructions were given on the 9th ultimo for the survey of the conditional purchase of Emily C. Laycock, and for the rejection of Volunteer Land Order of Ogilvie for 50 acres of the same land. There are, it appears now, other conflicting applications of practically the same parties in the same vicinity, as to which the same, or substantially the same, difficulties arise. In the latter cases the land was conditionally purchased by J. C. Laycock at Grafton, the Land Office of a neighbouring district, and an additional conditional purchase at the proper Land Office, i.e., Casino; but Mr. Laycock requested the surveyor to measure the land (the position of which is plainly shown upon a sketch supplied by Mr. Laycock's agent) in a different position, and so as to conflict with another selection of Mr. Ogilvie by Volunteer Land Order, and an application from him under clause 31 of Amendment Land Act. Thus, it is clear the case has a wider bearing than was supposed at the time I gave directions as to the conflict between E. C. Laycock's conditional purchase and Ogilvie's Volunteer Land Order, in addition to which I am now driven to deal with the whole of the cases by the protests of Mr. Ogilvie under the strict provisions of the law, which precludes me from exercising any discretion or responsibility in the matter. A reconsideration of the former decision has therefore become imperative. It is clear to me now that the conditional purchases of the Laycocks will remain invalid unless I remedy the defect in the original applications, i.e., the making of the application at the wrong Land Office, as they would be invalidated if contested (which they would assuredly be) by the party who has by application at the proper office obtained a legal title to the land applied for by him, and which forms a part of the land applied for irregularly by the Laycocks.

See No. 13.

Having regard to all the circumstances, it seems to me now advisable to confine my interposition in the case as between the Laycocks and the Government, to deal with the applications as having been correctly made in so far as they do not interfere with the legal rights (which have been insisted upon, and which have since arisen) of third parties, in other words with the land selected and applied for at the proper Land Offices by Mr. Ogilvie.

In accordance with the determination, the option may be left to the Laycocks of having their conditional purchases so measured in each case as to embrace the full area applied for out of adjacent land, or of having it measured exclusive of the land selected and applied for by Mr. Ogilvie the difference of deposit being refunded, or having their applications set aside altogether.

A plan showing the positions of the conflicting applications should be forwarded to the Laycocks' agent with this decision.

T.G., 1/12/76.

No. 20.

The Under Secretary for Lands to M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 1 December, 1876.

Referring to the conflicting case of E. D. S. Ogilvie's Volunteer Land Order selection, and the Laycocks' conditional purchases,—I am directed to inform you that this matter has again been brought under the notice of the Minister for Lands, in connection with a report from Mr. Surveyor Donaldson and other papers; and it now appears that the questions at issue between Mr. Ogilvie and the Laycocks are not confined to the land as to which on your representations instructions were given on the 9th ultimo for the survey of the conditional purchase of Emily C. Laycock, and for the rejection of the Volunteer Land Order application of Ogilvie for 50 acres of the same land.

There are, it seems, other conflicting applications of practically the same parties in the same vicinity, as to which the same or substantially the same difficulties arise.

In the latter case the land was conditionally purchased by J. C. Laycock at Grafton, the Land Office of a neighbouring district, and an additional conditional purchase at the proper Land Office, i.e., Casino; but Mr. Laycock requested the surveyor to measure the land (the position of which is plainly shown upon a sketch supplied by you as Laycock's agent) in a different position, and so as to conflict with another selection of Mr. Ogilvie by Volunteer Land Order, and an application also by Mr. Ogilvie under 31st clause of the Amending Land Act.

Thus, it is clear that the case has a wider bearing than was supposed at the time the Minister gave directions as to the conflict between E. C. Laycock's conditional purchase and Ogilvie's Volunteer Land Order selection; in addition to which the Minister is now compelled to deal with the whole of the cases, by the protests of Mr. Ogilvie, under the strict provisions of the law, which precludes him from exercising any discretion or responsibility in the matter. A reconsideration of the former decision has therefore become imperative.

It appears clear, I am to state, that the purchases of the Laycocks will remain invalid, unless the Minister for Lands remedies the defect in the original applications, i.e., the making of the applications at the wrong Land Office, as they would be invalidated if contested (which they would assuredly be) by the party who has by application at the proper office obtained a legal title to the land applied for by him, and which forms a part of the land applied for irregularly by the Laycocks.

Having regard to all the circumstances, it seems to the Minister now advisable to confine his interposition to the case as between the Laycocks and the Government, to deal with the applications as having been correctly made in so far as they do not interfere with the legal rights (which have been insisted upon, and which have since arisen) of third parties—in other words, with the land selected and applied for at the proper Land Offices by Mr. Ogilvie.

I am to add, that in accordance with this determination, the option will be left to the Laycocks of having their conditional purchases so measured in each case as to embrace the full area applied for out of adjacent adjacent land, or of having them measured exclusively of the land selected and applied for by Mr. Ogilvie the difference of deposit being refunded, or finally having their applications set aside altogether. Tracing not with the papers sent to Mr. Fitzpatrick.

A tracing showing the position of the conflicting applications is forwarded herewith.

ing, Ogilvie's
Cattle Station Run.
County, Gresham.
Parish, Camelback.
Area, 100 acres.

I am directed to inform you that your application, particularized in the margin hereof, to purchase certain land under the 31st clause of the "Lands Act Amendment Act of 1875," cannot be complied with, as by previous applications you have already exhausted your right to purchase within that run under the clause of the Act referred to.

2. I am to say that the Treasury has been authorized to refund to you, or upon your order, the deposit of £100 paid on the application in question, and will communicate with you when the amount is ready for payment.

Sir,

Gorge Creek, Newbold, 20 December, 1876.

See No. 2.

See No. 20.

As you are aware, I happened to select, on the 17th August last, 200 acres of land in the wrong Land Office; and as you have finally decided that Mr. Ogilvie is entitled, in virtue of a Volunteer Land Order, to decrease my area by 50 acres; and as you have kindly given me, by your letter of 1st December last, the option of having my conditional purchase so measured as to embrace the full area applied for out of adjacent lands, or measured exclusively of the land selected and applied for by Mr. Ogilvie, the difference of deposits being refunded, or finally a refund of the whole deposit of £50,—may I beg therefore, as my live stock are in jeopardy, and my goods and chattels hourly exposed to the elements, thereby entailing loss, that you will refund my deposit at once, and speedily enable me to choose a fixed place of abode.

No. 29.

M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

251, George-street, 23 December, 1876.

See No. 24.

With reference to my letter of the 15th instant, applying for the return of the deposit upon Emily Laycock's selection of 200 acres in accordance with your recent decision, and notifying that Mr. J. C. Laycock had elected to have the full area measured for him, I am now instructed by Mr. Laycock, that owing to his not being able to arrange satisfactorily with the surveyor as to this measurement, he would prefer taking back his deposit as in his daughter's case.

May I therefore beg that you will cause instructions to issue for the refund in this case as early as possible.

I have, &c.

MICHL. FITZPATRICK.

No. 30.

The Hon. E. D. S. Ogilvie, M.L.C., to The Under Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Yulgilbar, 28 December, 1876.

See No. 27.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 20th instant, informing me that my application of 31st October last (No. 1,120), to purchase, under the 31st clause of the "Lands Act Amendment Act of 1875," 100 acres of my Ogilvie's Cattle Station Run, county of Gresham, parish of Camelback, cannot be complied with, because by previous applications I have already exhausted my right to purchase within that run under the clause of the Act referred to.

The run in question is appraised at over 12,000 acres, and of this area I have purchased 150 and pre-lease 150 acres only. I am therefore entitled to apply for more than 400 acres under the 31st clause above referred to, whereas I have applied for 300 acres only. This quantity was not all applied for at one and the same time, but it forms one block. My first application was for 180 acres, but 200 acres having been erroneously measured, I, to obviate the necessity for a re-measurement, paid an additional £20 into the Treasury, and applied for the 20 additional acres, and finding the 200 acres insufficient to include all the land which I desired to clear and cultivate, I made application for 100 acres more to adjoin the 200 acres, making a total of 300 acres in a leasehold the area of which is sufficiently extensive to entitle me to apply for more than 400 acres.

See No. 13.

I submit, therefore, that the refusal conveyed in the communication to which I am now replying, must be founded upon some erroneous data, and should be recalled.

I have, &c.,

EDWD. D. OGILVIE.

Mr. Ogilvie's application, No. 966, for 180 acres, bars any second application, the run containing not two 5 miles square.—15/1/77. This application is not with the papers.

District of

No. 67, of 1873.

Application by Henry Deong for the conditional purchase, without competition, of 40 acres unimproved Crown land.

Received by me, with a deposit of £10, this 20th day of February, 1873, at 12 o'clock.

THOMAS BETTERIDGE,

Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands at Inverell.

Sir,

Sydney, 20 February, 1873.

I am desirous of purchasing, without competition, under the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," the portion of unimproved Crown land hereunder described, containing 40 acres; and I herewith tender the sum of £10, being a deposit at the rate of 5s. per acre on the area for which I apply, and on which it is my intention to reside.

I am, &c.,

H. DEONG,

Inverell.

To the Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands at Inverell.

DESCRIPTION.

[Alienation Act, section 13.]

Notification of alienation of Conditional Purchase under the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," where there is no additional Conditional Purchase in virtue thereof.

Notification of Alienation of Conditional Purchase by Henry Deong, in the District of Inverell.

I HEREBY notify to you, as the agent for the sale of Crown Lands for the District of Inverell, that I have (after a residence thereon of at least twelve months) this day alienated to William Goodfellow, of Inverell, the 40 acres of land situated in the county of Gough, parish unnamed, which I selected at Inverell as a conditional purchase under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," on the 20th February, 1873, having no additional conditional purchase in virtue thereof.

H. DEONG,

Inverell.

Dated at Inverell, this 20th March, 1875.

To the Agent for the sale of Crown Lands at Inverell.

I have duly registered the above notification of alienation in the records of this office.—W. C. CARDEW, Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands. District of Inverell, Land Office, 24th March, 1875.

H. DEONG.

Minutes thereon.

The Crown Lands Agent, Inverell, is requested to inform the parties interested in this transfer that it cannot be allowed. Hy. Deong was called upon to furnish proof of his naturalization (being a foreigner), and although repeatedly reminded has failed to do so.—W.B. (for the Under Secretary), B.C., 28 April, 1875. Not necessary.

I am directed to invite your attention to the notice in the Government Gazette of the 19th instant, by which you will perceive that your claim to the conditional purchase made by you at Inverell on the 20th February, 1873, has been referred by the Minister for Lands to Mr. Commissioner Blythe for inquiry, in accordance with the 25th clause of the "Lands Act Amendment Act of 1875," and the regulations relating thereto, as to the alleged non-fulfilment by you of the conditions of residence and improvement.

2. I am to inform you that due notice of the time and place appointed for the purpose will be given you by the Commissioner referred to.

I have, &c.,

No. 9.

Report of Commissioner Blythe on case of Henry Deong—40 acres Inverell, 20th February, 1873—County of Gough, parish of Clive.

In this case it appears that from the evidence that Deong, who is a Chinaman, not having been naturalized, conditionally purchased 40 acres, and afterwards alienated same to William Goodfellow.

There appears no doubt as to the conditions of residence and improvements having been duly carried out both by Deong and his alienee, Goodfellow, and the only question as it seems to me is the naturalization; if, as is the case, Deong was not a naturalized subject at the time of taking up the land and in fact is not now one, I submit that the fact of his obtaining at once his certificate of naturalization would not cure the original defect.

There appears no doubt that both Deong and his alienee acted in ignorance of the law, and if it be possible I would suggest that should the Minister decide to forfeit this conditional purchase, Goodfellow may be allowed to re-select it, of course paying his deposit again. This course seems to me to be a fair and just one, and Goodfellow will be only too thankful to be allowed to thus secure his home.

SYDNEY BLYTHE, J.P.,

Commissioner.

Minutes thereon.

There is no question of forfeiture in this case—the difficulty is as to the validity of the selection; it having been made by a foreigner not naturalized. Submitted, that as the selection was duly received without question and the difficulty not raised until over 12 months afterwards, and as moreover the selector was then allowed by the land agent to transfer his interest to the present occupant, who would alone be damnified by its being now declared void, the selection should be suffered to stand. It appears that the present holder of the selection is in undisturbed possession, and the land being improved is not open to selection by any other person; the only difficulty, that as to the legal sufficiency of the holder's title, is therefore probably unimportant.—A.O.M., 28/12/75. Could not this be cured in the C. P. Validating Bill?—T.G., 26/1/76. There is another case I think in which it now is proposed to validate a conditional purchase. This may be done at the same time if approved.—A.O.M., 27.

[Enclosure to No. 9.]

MINUTES of Proceedings taken at Court of Inquiry, held at Inverell (pursuant to Gazette notice), this 10th day of December, 1875, before Sydney Blythe, Esq., J.P., Lands Commissioner, Northern District.

In the matter of Henry Deong, 40 acres, Inverell, 20th February, 1873, county Gough, parish Clive.

Henry Deong, being duly called, appears personally. This witness on oath states:—My name is Henry Deong; I took up a selection of 40 acres on 20th February, 1873, at Gilghi, about 5 miles from Inverell; I commenced to live on it in March, on 18th same year; when I had erected the house I lived there for fifteen months; I spent about £70 or £80 in improvements; at the end of the fifteen months I transferred this selection to William Goodfellow, and have not been on ground since; I am not a naturalized subject; at the time I took up the land I did not know that I ought to be naturalized; nobody ever told me so, or I would have been naturalized; it was close up ten months after I transferred the land to Goodfellow that I knew I ought to have been naturalized; Goodfellow told me then, but I had no money; I know now that it costs £1 16s.; I had not the money then; I cannot afford it now; I got £45 from Goodfellow for the selection; I drank a good deal of that; I did not get any letters from the Government; I went away to Burburgate and all about there.

Sworn at the Police Office, Inverell, this 10th day of December, 1875, before me,—

HENRY DEONG.

SYDNEY BLYTHE, J.P.,
Commissioner.

And this witness on oath, saith as follows:—My name is William Goodfellow; I remember purchasing from the last witness a selection of 40 acres, situated at Gilghi, on the 22nd of May, 1874; I paid him £45; I commenced to reside on the place seven days afterwards; I am a married man, and took my wife and family on the land; I am now residing on the land, and have done so ever since; I have spent about £80 in improvements—a weatherboard cottage, 3 rooms; another cottage of four rooms, weatherboard and bark, about 50 rods of fencing, kitchen, and garden; I first saw Deong about ten months after I purchased the place as to his being naturalized; that was in consequence of my receiving a communication from the Lands Department; Deong seems to be quite ignorant about naturalization; I asked him to get out his certificate; he complained he had not got the fees; I told him I would pay the fees, but never could get him to come; he promised on two occasions, but did not come; I am quite willing now to pay his fees; at the time that land was transferred to me I was not aware that it was necessary for the Chinaman to be naturalized before he could transfer the land; if I had been aware I would have seen that the law was complied with; I delivered two letters from Government to Deong; if I am deprived of this land it will be a loss to me of £120; I have tried faithfully and to the best of my knowledge to carry out the Act.

Sworn at Police Office, Inverell, this 10th day of December, 1875,—

WILLIAM GOODFELLOW.

Commissioner.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. W. Goodfellow.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 29 January, 1876.

Referring to the conditional purchase noted in the margin, your interest in which was derived by transfer from Henry Deong, a Chinese, I am directed to inform you that it appears from the evidence adduced at the Commissioner's Court of Inquiry, that Deong was not a naturalized British subject at the date of conditional purchase application, and on that ground the selection is illegal.

2. I am, however, to state, that as the Minister for Lands has good reason to believe that the original selector acted in ignorance of the law, and that the cancellation of the purchase would be a case of hardship for you, in view of your having made the land your bonâ fide home, and expended a large sum of money thereon, he has approved of the selection being made good by special Act of Parliament.

3. The necessary steps to secure this end will be taken shortly, and in the meantime you will not be disturbed in your possession of the land.

I have, &c.,

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CONDITIONAL PURCHASES ON PULLAMING RUN.
(PETITION OF THOMAS A. JOHNSTON.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 15 December, 1876.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of Thomas Andrew Johnston, of Hartfell, near Gunnedah, in the Colony of New South Wales, landholder,—

SHOWETH :—

1. That on the eighth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, the following notification appeared in the New South Wales Government Gazette, viz. :—

Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 9th March, 1858.

CROWN LANDS BEYOND THE SETTLED DISTRICTS.

Reserves from Lease.

It is hereby notified for general information that His Excellency the Governor General has been pleased, with the advice of the Executive Council, to direct that the several portions of Crown lands hereunder described shall be reserved from lease under Her Majesty's Order in Council of 9th March, 1874 (?), subject to the following limitations in favor of the licensed occupants of runs.

2. The formation of the intended reserve may in any case be defeated wholly or in part by the licensed occupant whose run is thereby affected, exercising within twelve months from the present date the pre-emptive right conferred upon him by Her Majesty's Order in Council of 9th March, 1847, in respect to the whole or any portion of the land proposed to be reserved.

3. No such pre-emption can be of less extent than 160 acres, and if of less extent than 320 acres the cost of measurement will have to be borne by the purchaser.

4. The price at which the licensed occupant of the run will be allowed thus to purchase without competition will be £1 per acre, or such higher price as may be fixed by valuers appointed under the eighth section of chap. 2 of the Order in Council in any case in which a valuation may be deemed advisable.

5. Every lot of land to be selected must be measured in accordance with general rules laid down in the 7th section, chap. 2, of the same Order in Council.

6. Should the licensed occupant fail to exercise his pre-emptive right in respect to the whole or any part proposed to be reserved within twelve months from the present date, the reservation of the whole or the remainder, as the case may be, will then become absolute and indefeasible.

7. It is of course distinctly to be understood that by this general formation of reserves the Government does not in any way divest itself of the right of making hereafter such further reserves whether before or after the issue of the leases as the public interests may dictate.

8. The foregoing regulations are intended to apply to runs out of which reserves are now for the first time about to be made.

GEORGE BARNEY,
Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

No. 42, Pullaming.

Counties of Pottinger and Buckland, on the Mooki River, at the junction of Cubil Ponds Creek, containing 5,760 acres : Commencing on the right bank of the Mooki River, at the junction of the Cubil Ponds Creek, and bounded thence on part of the east by a line bearing north 1 mile 40 chains ; on the north by a line bearing west 3 miles ; on the west by a line bearing south, crossing the Mooki River, 3 miles ; on the south by a line bearing east 3 miles ; and on the remainder of the east by a line bearing north 1 mile 40 chains to the commencing point aforesaid. This reserve is supposed to form part of the Pullaming and Gunnedah Runs. It embraces several huts and other minor improvements.

2. That one John Browne, being then the lessee of the Pullaming Station, did exercise his right to purchase a portion of the land so reserved as hereinbefore stated to the extent of 748 acres.

3. That in consequence of the passing of the " Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861 " a notice appeared in the New South Wales Government Gazette in the words and figures following, that is to say :—

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 24th December, 1861.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, directs it to be notified that in pursuance of the provisions of the " Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," the lands specified in the Schedule appended hereto shall be reserved from sale until surveyed for the preservation of water supply or other public purposes.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

"4. Pullaming, Mooki River, 7½ ditto. No. 42, ditto."

4. That notwithstanding that the said piece of land was so reserved from lease since the year 1858, the said John Browne has been in possession of the same up to the present, using it and exercising exclusive control over it, and preventing any other person from using the same.

5. That in the New South Wales Government Gazette of the 16th of March, 1875, a notice appeared in the words and figures following, that is to say:—

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 16th March, 1875.

LAND SALES.

In pursuance of the provisions of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," I, the Minister for Lands, do hereby notify that the following lots of land will be offered for sale by public auction at the undermentioned places at 11 o'clock on the days specified, at the upset price affixed to each lot respectively. Deposit, 25 per cent.

THOMAS GARRETT.

And the following lots of land were then and by a subsequent notice similar to the above to be offered for sale at Gunnedah on the 26th day of April, 1875:—

On the right bank of the Mooki River and adjoining and near the eastern and western boundaries of W.R. 112, extending from the western boundary of H. Perrell's conditional purchase of 80 acres, No. 4, westerly to the eastern boundary of J. Browne's improved purchase of 72½ acres and No. 116, Carroll and Pullaming Runs; 74-12,975.

6. That on the 22nd day of April, 1875, your Petitioners went to the land agent for the land district within which the above lands were situated and conditionally purchased the following lots above mentioned for his children, who are hereinafter named:—

Lot 117—320 acres	...	Norman Hall Johnstone.	Lot 118	} 185 acres... .. Eveline Hall Johnstone.

7. That the said Norman Hall Johnstone, Maywell Hall Johnstone, and Eveline Hall Johnstone, all of whom are infants under the age of 21 years, entered upon and took possession of the lands so conditionally purchased by me as aforesaid in their names, and they were subsequently informed that their purchases were void, because they were within the boundaries of the before described reserve.

8. That your Petitioner would point out to your Honorable House that the lands so conditionally purchased by him as aforesaid were first advertised (by order of Honorable Minister for Lands) for sale in the New South Wales Government Gazette on the 13th of March, 1875, and that such advertisement was continued from that date up to the time when your Petitioner conditionally purchased the same.

9. That although your Petitioner was aware that the lands so advertised for sale had at one time formed a part of the reserve No. 4, hereinbefore mentioned, your Petitioner thought when he saw such lands offered for sale by the authority of the Minister for Lands that they had been duly and properly withdrawn from the reserve aforesaid of which they did form part.

10. That your Petitioner has since he selected the lands hereinbefore mentioned, learnt that in the beginning of the month of March, 1875, the attention of the Department of Lands was called by the Reserves Branch to the fact that the lands hereinbefore mentioned as having been selected by your Petitioner as aforesaid were within the boundaries of the Pullaming Reserve, No. 4, notified 24th December, 1861, as is hereinbefore mentioned, and it was then pointed out that the said lots should be withdrawn from sale, pending the revocation of the reserve before mentioned, and on the 23rd of March, 1875, it was recommended by the Surveyor General that that portion of the Pullaming Reserve, No. 4, within which the hereinbefore mentioned portions were situated should be cancelled, and a minute to that effect was submitted by the Minister for Lands to the Executive Council on the 31st March, 1875, and by a subsequent minute the Minister for Lands directed that the revocation recommended by him should be held over pending further inquiry.

11. That your Petitioner would respectfully point out to your Honorable House the fact that the lands so conditionally purchased by him as aforesaid were by the Lands Department discovered to be within a reserve on the 4th of March, 1875, and were notwithstanding advertised for sale in the Government Gazette on the 13th of March, 1875, and that this advertisement was continued up to the time when your Petitioner so conditionally purchased the lands as aforesaid.

12. Your Petitioner would also respectfully inform your Honorable House that in consequence of his having so conditionally purchased the lands as aforesaid (he believing that the Minister for Lands would not allow them to be advertised for sale unless there was a legal right to sell them) he, with his said children, entered into possession of them and endeavoured to maintain possession of them against the lessee of the run, the said John Browne, and in consequence of such possession the said John Browne commenced proceedings in the Supreme Court against your Petitioner, and he was put to great expense in endeavouring to defend the action brought against him by the said John Browne, although he was not able to do so successfully.

13. That your Petitioner's said children, if they are not confirmed in the possession of the lands hereinbefore mentioned as having been selected by your Petitioner, will be unable to conditionally purchase other lands, owing to the passing of the "Crown Lands Amendment Act of 1875," and they being under the age of persons capable of conditionally purchasing lands.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays that your Honorable House will take into your consideration the premises, and cause justice to be done to the children of your Petitioner, as hereinbefore mentioned. And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CROWN LANDS.

(GIBSON'S CONDITIONAL PURCHASES—REPORT OF COMMISSIONER ROSE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 February, 1877.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly, dated 30 January, 1877, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“ A copy of the Report of Commissioner Rose on the disputed claims of “ J. and W. Gibson, on the one hand, to two Conditional Purchases, “ claimed by Mr. H. Ricketson as improved lands.”

(Mr. McElhone.)

CROWN LANDS.

Mr. Commissioner Rose to The Under Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Albury, 31 December, 1876.

In pursuance of your instructions of the 6th October last, I have inquired into the nature and value of certain improvements alleged by Mr. H. Ricketson to have existed on areas conditionally purchased by Messrs. J. and W. Gibson at the Land Office at Deniliquin on the 6th of January last.

I herewith transmit the depositions taken by me in this case at a Court of Inquiry held under the provisions of the 25th section of the "Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875," on the 21st of November last at Deniliquin. Before giving the results of the evidence it may be desirable to state the circumstances which have led to this inquiry.

On the 1st of November, 1875, Mr. Henry Ricketson applied for permission, under the provisions of the 2nd section of the "Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875," to purchase three areas in the county of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman; and on the 16th of November, 1875, another area in the same county and parish.

On the 15th of August last Mr. Licensed-Surveyor G. J. Lee reported to the Surveyor General that he had measured the four areas as improvement purchases for Mr. Ricketson. They are shown in the tracing which accompanied Mr. Lee's report as portions Nos. 20, 22, 23, and 29. The improvements on these portions are valued by Mr. Lee as follows:—On portion No. 20, £320; on No. 22, £320; on No. 28, £290; and on No. 29, £210.

The improvements on portions Nos. 20 and 29 are reported as beneficial to the working of the run, those on portions Nos. 22 and 23 as not necessary for the working of the run.

On the 6th of January last at the Land Office at Deniliquin John Gibson conditionally purchased an area of 640 acres in the county of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman, and William Gibson a like area in the same county and parish; the latter selection adjoining the former. The two selections, according to Mr. Lee's tracing, run into portions Nos. 20, 22, 28, and 29, and on this ground are opposed by Mr. Ricketson.

I will now endeavour to state the results of my inquiry into the nature and value of the improvements on these portions at the time the Messrs. Gibson made their conditional purchases.

1. As to portion No. 20, it is admitted by Mr. Lee in his evidence (p. 29) that the hut and yards indicated at the south-western corner ought to have been shown as 27 chains from the east boundary of water reserve No. 904, so that they will really be within the lines of George Archer's conditional purchase when measured, as it has to be, in the position indicated by the blue lines in the middle of the tracing of portion No. 20. This selection was made on the 23rd of January, 1875, and the improvements on it, namely, the house and yards just mentioned, were made by Mr. Ricketson in the following November, December, and January. Mr. Ricketson therefore has not any claim to portion No. 20 in virtue of these improvements. (See Hawley's evidence, p. 39 of depositions.) This conditional purchase, taken up in the name of George Archer is a very clear case of dummyism, and I think that it is very much to be deplored that Mr. Lee should have furthered Mr. Ricketson's endeavours to mislead the Department of Lands in this matter.

2. As to portion No. 22, the improvements on this question are considered by Mr. Lee to be not necessary for the working of the run. On reference to the tracing of this portion it will be seen that a house is indicated about 10 chains from the east boundary of portion No. 21, and within the east boundary of John Gibson's selections, as defined by Mr. Lee. It is admitted by this gentleman in his sworn testimony that this house is really 41 chains from the east boundary of portion No. 21 (p. 32) and is thus not within the lines of John Gibson's conditional purchase, as shown in the tracing. Mr. Lee's evidence on this point is confirmed by that of Mr. Hawley (p. 42) and throws such discredit on his report and tracing that I feel it necessary to direct attention to it. In November, 1875, the house on this portion contained two rooms only, and it was not enlarged to its present size until after the 6th of January last. (See Hawley's evidence, page 42 of depositions.) The value of this house before the 6th of January last was probably not more than £50. Mr. Hawley valued it at £100 (p. 42), and Mr. Lowden at £39 5s., without chimney (p. 47). The only other improvements on portion No. 22 is some old wire fencing, about 55 chains, worth between £25 and £30. The price of fencing between the east boundary of portion No. 21 and the east boundary of John Gibson's area, as set out in the tracing, is worth about £15.

3. As to portion No. 28 the improvements are valued by Mr. Lee at £290, but are not considered by him as necessary for the working of the run. The hut in this case is also shown in a wrong position on the tracing. It was erected in February last, and therefore after the conditional purchase was made by William Gibson. (See evidence of William Gibson, Frederick Mayger, and John Gibson, in William Gibson's case.) The only improvement on portion No. 28, at the time William Gibson made his conditional purchase, was some old brush fencing, about 100 chains, worth not more than £25.

4. As to portion No. 29, Mr. Lee reports that the improvements at time of survey consisted of an iron house containing three rooms, and drafting yards, worth together £210. He states in his report that he considers these improvements to be beneficial to the working of the run. The house and yards are shown on the tracing C. The house has an existence, the yards never had. (See evidence in W. Gibson's case, given by William Gibson, John Gibson, William Lowden, and William Hawley.) Mr. Hawley also admits that the house on this portion was not built until after the 6th of January last. It follows, therefore, that Mr. Ricketson has no right to oppose William Gibson in his conditional purchase, because of the improvements on this portion. The house is worth about £80.

The results of the examination at the Court of Inquiry, as to the value of improvements claimable by Mr. H. Ricketson on the 6th January, 1875, on portions Nos. 20, 22, 28, and 29, may be summarized as follows:—

See exhibit D, alluded to in depositions.
See exhibit C, alluded to in depositions.

Tracing exhibit C.

See Depositions.

1. In estimating the value of improvements on portion No. 20, which may affect John Gibson's interests, only that part of the area must be considered which is east of George Archer's conditional purchase. The improvements on this division of the area consist of about 30 chains of old wire fencing, worth about £15, and about 40 chains of old log fencing, worth about £10. Total value of improvements, about £25.
2. The improvements on portion No. 22 are, an iron house, worth about £50, on the 6th of January last, and about 55 chains of old six-wire fencing, worth about £27 10s. Total value of improvements, £77 10s.
3. The only improvements on portion No. 28 on the 6th of January last was some old brush fencing, about 100 chains, worth not more than £25.
4. The improvements on portion No. 29 on the 6th of January last consisted of a cottage worth not more than £30.

As far as Mr. Ricketson's improvements are concerned, it appears to me that they do not affect the conditional purchases of John and William Gibson. As your instructions confine me to an examination into the value of these improvements, I shall not presume to offer comments upon some other aspects of these cases which demand consideration. I would, however, refer to the description of John Gibson's selection, which is so faulty that I imagine that it must either be declared void or amended under the provisions of the 14th section of the "Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875." On reference to the depositions in John Gibson's case, full evidence on this matter will be found, which I trust will be of use in any action to be taken in the matter.

I herewith return all papers connected with the cases sent for my information and guidance.

I have, &c.,

A. C. S. ROSE,
Commissioner.

[Enclosure.]

John Archer Broughton, being duly sworn, saith:—I am Crown Lands Agent for the district of Deniliquin; on reference to my Conditional Purchase Register I find that Charles Tulk, on the 28th of January, 1875, took up a conditional purchase of 40 acres under the 13th section of the "Lands Alienation Act of 1861"; the description of the area thus selected is as follows:—"40 acres, county of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman, situated on the Tuppal Creek, and adjoining the eastern boundary of water reserve No. 904"; this purchase was made by William Hawley, as agent for Charles Tulk; William Hawley was then, and I believe is now, manager of a station for Mr. Ricketson, the name of which I believe is Cornella; on the same day a conditional purchase under the same section was taken up for George Archer by the same William Hawley; the description is as follows:—"40 acres, county of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman, situated on Tuppal Creek, about 20 chains east from Charles Tulk's north-east corner c. p. of 40 acres made this day, and bounded by lines s., e., n., to contain the area applied for"; the selections still stand in the names of Charles Tulk and George Archer; I now produce my Conditional Purchase Register for January, 1876; I find, on reference to it, that on the 6th of January, 1876, John Gibson took up, under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," as amended by the "Crown Lands Amendment Act of 1875," an area of 640 acres; the description is as follows:—"County of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman: Commencing at a point about 30 chains east of reserve No. 904, on left bank of Tuppal Creek, running north to south boundary of C. P. L. A. No. 49; thence west to reserve No. 904; thence east 80 chains; thence north 80 chains to Tuppal Creek; thence by that creek to point of commencement." This purchase still stands in the name of John Gibson; I also find, on reference to my Conditional Purchase Register, that William Gibson, on the 6th of January, 1876, took up, under the same section, namely, the amended 13th section, an area of 640 acres; the description is:—"County of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman: Commencing at south-west corner of John Gibson's c. p. of this day, and bounded by a line running south 80 chains, east 80 chains; thence north 80 chains; thence west 80 chains, to point of commencement." This purchase still stands in the name of William Gibson.

Taken and sworn before me, at Deniliquin, }
this 21st day of November, 1876,— }

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

J. A. BROUGHTON, L.A.

Charles James Robinson, being duly sworn, saith:—I am a draughtsman in the Survey Department of New South Wales, and have been attached to the Crown Lands Office at Deniliquin since the 24th of May last; my predecessor in the local office was Mr. Arthur Manton; I produce the office map of the parish of Derrulaman, showing water reserve No. 904; on reference to the conditional purchase Register I find that, on the 28th January, 1875, Charles Tulk made a conditional purchase of 40 acres; the area as chartered is in accordance with the description given in the Conditional Purchase Register; I have just referred to the description of an area of 40 acres, taken up the same day by George Archer, and have compared it with the map; the area appears to me to be correctly chartered; on referring to records under date 6th of January, 1876, in the Conditional Purchase Register, I find that an area of 640 acres was conditionally purchased by John Gibson; on comparing the description of this area with the map I find that it is correct, although the description is not very clear; the description is as follows:—"County of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman: Commencing at a point about 30 chains east of reserve No. 904, on left bank of Tuppal Creek, running south to south boundary of C. P. Land Agent's No. 49; thence west to reserve No. 904; thence east 80 chains; thence north 80 chains to Tuppal Creek; thence by that creek to point of commencement." In my office map the conditional purchase of John Gibson begins 20 chains east of reserve 904. With regard to applications for conditional purchases, my duty is to read the descriptions over, and to plot the areas on the map as they are taken up.

By Mr. Boyd: The blocks as shown on my map are only approximately correct; we are supposed to plot them according to the description given; my map shows no improvement purchases; for anything known to us in the local Land Office there might or might not have been improvements on the areas taken up by John and William Gibson.

By Commissioner: My duties are simply those of a draftsman in the local Land Office; a part of my duty is to inform intending conditional purchasers as to the areas which they intend to take up, whether whether or not they are open to selection, as far as the means at my command will allow me to do so ; it is no part of my duty to draw up descriptions for conditional purchasers ; if I ever did any such work it would be done as a private individual, not as a public officer ; as far as I am aware my duties are precisely like those of my predecessor, Mr. Manton.

Taken and sworn before me, at Deniliquin, }
this 21st day of November, 1876,— }

C. J. ROBINSON.

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

Frederick Henry Mayger, being duly sworn, saith :—I am an agent for conditional purchasers at Deniliquin ; on the 6th of January last I acted as agent for John Gibson in the conditional purchase of an area of 640 acres, in the county of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman, under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861"; I wrote out the application myself ; before I drew the application out, three days before the purchase was made, and three days before I wrote out the application, I was on the area Mr. Gibson was about to apply for ; I saw an iron house there ; I reckoned that there were two 40-acre conditional purchases, one of which adjoined the water reserve No. 904 ; the iron hut I took to be on one of these 40-acre blocks, the one to the east of the other ; this hut was worth between £20 and £30 ; I saw nothing else but an old brush fence, nine or ten years old ; it had been a good fence, but was then very old ; I saw no wire fence, excepting a boundary fence between Mr. Landale's run and Mr. Ricketson's run, it was partly on one run, partly on the other ; I saw no yards within the area ; I was going over for Mr. John Gibson ; after having gone over this land I went on the following Thursday to the Land Office, at Deniliquin, that is, on the 6th of January, 1876, and Mr. Manton gave me, vivá voce, a description of the land I wanted for John Gibson ; I drew up the description accordingly ; Mr. Manton at once marked off in pencil the areas taken up by John Gibson and William Gibson ; the hut was only a few chains from the Deniliquin road ; something less than 20 chains, I should say that it was 10 chains ; it was a hut of about 12 by 20 feet ; when I saw it there was no verandah, no skillion rooms, no chimney.

By Mr. Boyd, for H. Ricketson : I saw only one hut on the 40-acre block ; I saw another hut about 1 mile to the east, beyond Gibson's area ; the brush fence was strictly speaking a log fence ; it was not sheep and cattle proof ; the wire fence was a six-wire I believe ; this fence does not cross the creek along Mr. Gibson's north boundary ; it is entirely on the south side of the creek.

By Mr. Gillott, for John Gibson : There was not a tree ringed as far as I could see.

John Gibson, being duly sworn, saith :—On the 6th of January, 1876, at the Land Office at Deniliquin I conditionally purchased an area of 640 acres in the county of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman ; I had previously (that is, on Christmas Day 1875, and on the 3rd of January, 1876) been over the country I desired to take up ; I examined it thoroughly ; I believed that there was a hut on this land at that time, but now I do not believe that this hut was on the land desired by me ; this hut was worth not more than £30 to £35 ; there were no indications of any person residing there ; the grass was growing right up to the door ; there were no trees ringed when I was there ; I saw a wire fence, a boundary-fence, along the creek, composed of six wires ; a very old fence, much of the wire had perished, and in many places it was propped up to keep it from tumbling down ; it must be close on 20 years old ; there was another fence, 10 or 12 years old, a stub fence—that is, two trees placed on the ground parallel, and between them boughs and branches ; Mr. Ricketson, sometime in March last, trimmed up this fence, brushed up the top of it ; I do not know any other cottage on the area applied for by me ; there was a cottage to the east of my area on Taylor's Creek ; this cottage was worth about from £30 to £35 ; it was about 20 feet by 12 feet ; my intention was to have mentioned in the description that my south boundary should go 20 chains south of Tulk's and Archer's conditional purchases ; the omission of this part of the description has seriously affected my conditional purchase ; I began to put up my house early in March ; I lived there ; Mr. Ricketson, between the 6th of January and the 15th of August, ringed a lot of timber on my selection, put up some drafting yards for sheep, cut down some of the timber on my land, and made additions to the hut on George Archer's selection by adding to it a verandah, two skillion rooms, and a chimney ; the brush yards and other improvements were made whilst I was sick, i.e., from the 18th of January to about the middle of February ; I remember that Mr. Manton told Mr. Broughton, the Crown Lands Agent, that the description was quite right ; this was when I took up the selection on the 13th of January last ; I took out a description of my purchase to Mr. Lee ; I read the description from the Conditional Purchase Register, and Mr. Manton copied it down ; I read the copy afterwards, and it agreed with the register I gave Mr. Lee the copy ; this was on the Bullatala Creek, about 4 or 5 miles from my selection ; he read this description, and said that he would be down on our ground and survey it in about a fortnight ; he promised to send me a messenger to inform me before he measured the land, as he would, he said, require me on the land ; I never received any message, nor has my conditional purchase ever been surveyed ; I have made numerous applications to Mr. Lee, but he has never measured my selection ; in February some men, who, I believe, were employed by Mr. Ricketson's manager, ringed a lot of timber on my land ; they continued to do this work after I went to the land till they left me only 12½ chains by 50 chains ; the timber was on the whole very good ; I never saw Mr. Ricketson in connection with this selection.

By Mr. Boyd : I believe that the fence by the Tuppal Creek has six wires ; I never discovered any error in my description until to-day ; I have often read it through before, but I never discovered the error until to-day.

William Watson, being duly sworn, saith :—I am a farmer, and reside at Aratula and Moroco ; I know the Tuppal Creek road running to Moroco ; I know the crossing-place over that creek ; I know the fence running along the Tuppal Creek there ; that fence was put up sixteen or seventeen years since ; it was put up by Mr. Tyson ; I used to carry on the road the time the fence was put up ; it is a post and wire fence, without any rail ; I know a hut not far from the road, about a mile and a half from the creek by the road ; I came along by it on the 10th or 11th of January last ; it was a new iron hut of two rooms, about 20 feet by 12 ; there was no verandah to it ; no skilling, only two rooms ; I never saw anybody about it ; about a month afterwards I saw a lot of men there building yards near the hut ; since I was there before, a skilling on one side and a verandah on the other had been added to the hut ; this was in February ; I did not notice any timber ringed there when I was there in January ; in February, and subsequently, I saw men ringing timber there ; where John Gibson's house stands the timber is not ringed, but it is ringed within 50 yards of it in some directions ; there is a stub fence, about eight years old, running from the creek across the Deniliquin road ; twelve months ago the mile of that fence from the creek towards the road was worth about £12 ; when new it was worth about £25 a mile.

By Mr. Boyd, for H. Ricketson : Mr. Ricketson, about two years ago, had a case against me in the Police Office, and gained it ; I have no spite against Mr. Ricketson.

Alexander Fraser, being duly sworn, saith :—I am a farmer, and reside on the Albury road, about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the Tuppal Creek ; on Christmas Day, last year, I went with John Gibson to a spot on the left-hand side of the Tuppal Creek ; we crossed over the creek at the crossing which leads to M'Laren's ; about $1\frac{1}{2}$ or 2 miles from the crossing-place is a piece of land claimed by John Gibson ; we came to a marked tree ; we drove about this spot ; we came to a stub fence running from the Tuppal Creek crossing the road and going to the Bullatal ; I remember the time this fence was put up—it was in the year 1868 ; as far as I can remember, I was for five years at M'Laren's, and travelled frequently along the road to Deniliquin ; there is no other stub fence within miles of the one I have mentioned ; this fence was made up of dead timber and live timber, all gathered together ; when I saw it that Christmas Day with John Gibson it was good enough for sheep, but of no earthly use for cattle ; it was worth from £10 to £12 a mile at that time ; I know where the fence crosses the road ; John Gibson's house is about half-a-mile from the nearest point of the road, and the house must be about a mile and a-half from the Tuppal Creek ; the stub fence was probably put up at about £20 to £25 a mile ; on the day I have mentioned we came across a two-roomed iron hut ; it was about 6 chains from the road ; it is about 10 chains from John Gibson's hut ; this hut was worth from £15 to £20 ; it is one of those huts called "Sardine Boxes ;" there were no brush or other yards anywhere near ; on the 12th November instant I again went over the ground ; the hut had been increased by the addition of a lean-to containing two rooms and a verandah, and a fireplace and chimney had been made ; some sheep-yards had been constructed subsequently to our first visit ; these yards were made after John Gibson had gone to reside on the land ; there is a wire fence running along the south side of the Tuppal Creek ; for a considerable part of the line from the boundary of the water reserve to the point where it joins the stub fence this fence keeps pretty close to the creek, but in one place there is a bend, and the fence keeps away from the creek there ; I have been acquainted with this fence eleven or twelve years ; this wire fence was on the ground before I knew the place ; it has either six or seven wires ; it is now very much worn ; there are merely wires and posts—no rails ; the posts are now to a great extent rotten at the bottom, and lean in various directions—some are propped up ; the wire is rusted and broken, and in some places patched ; beyond the limits of Gibson's area this fence has been shifted in some places over the creek, so as to admit Mr. Ricketson's sheep to the water ; on Christmas Day last none of the timber in this place, where John Gibson now lives, had been ringed ; on my last visit I noticed that the trees had been all ringed close up to Mr. Gibson's door.

By Mr. Boyd, for H. Ricketson : I saw no chimney to the hut on Christmas Day ; I could see that the fence was rotten without examining it ; it is from my own independent judgment that I come to the conclusion that the stub fence is worth only £12 a mile.

Tobias Nieman Dahl, being duly sworn, saith :—I know the crossing-place known as the "Old Crossing-place," on Tuppal Creek, it goes to M'Laren's ; I know the road going to Moroco ; I know the crossing-place over the creek going along that road ; I know where John Gibson now resides on the south side of Tuppal Creek ; I know a stub fence running from the creek up to and past Gibson's house ; I have known this country for years ; at the beginning of this year I was engaged to put up a house not far from John Gibson's house ; I went to the place in February last ; I was there also in the middle of January and at the end of that month ; at the end of the month I saw a number of men putting up sheep-yards about a hundred yards from the right-hand side of the road coming from the crossing-place ; standing at Gibson's door one can see the yards distinctly ; the yards are about half-a-mile before you come to the brush fence, between the crossing-place and the fence ; when I was there in January, in the middle of January, I saw a hut there ; people were then making additions to this hut ; at the end of January people were ringing the timber about Gibson's place.

By Mr. Boyd, for H. Ricketson : I have not lived with Mr. Gibson lately ; he is a friend of mine ; I visit him often.

For H. Ricketson, George Joseph Lee, being duly sworn, saith: I am a licensed surveyor for the Colony of New South Wales; twelve months ago I had instructions from the Survey Department to measure some portions on the Cornella Run for Mr. Henry Ricketson, some of them for conditional purchases, some as improvement purchases; in March or April of the present year I measured those portions for Mr. Ricketson; I had no instructions at that time to survey any land for Mr. John Gibson; an application for a conditional purchase of 640 acres by John Gibson was referred to me for my report about March last; I have not read the description in the application now handed to me, and I am sure that is the description I had to report upon, although I cannot say whether the document now held by me is the one sent to me; the tracing now handed to me was made by me at that time; the dotted blue lines show the area applied for by John Gibson, as far as I can understand it; if I had had Gibson's application to survey upon I should before undertaking the survey have applied to my superior officer for further instructions, because I could not understand the description; the application does not describe any area of 640 acres; I certainly should not have taken upon me to amend this description; I surveyed portion No. 20, county of Townsend, parish of Derulaman, on the 27th of March, 1876; I measured 320 acres as improved land for Mr. Ricketson; there was then upon the area £320 worth of improvements; I never allowed Mr. Ricketson one penny for timber-ringing on this land; there was an iron house with four rooms and verandah, drafting yards, 60 chains of wire fencing, 60 chains of brush-fencing; these I value at £320.

By Mr. Gillott, for J. Gibson: I had the application for the purchase of this portion No. 20 before I surveyed it; it is dated 1st November, 1875; I am frequently, as a licensed surveyor, employed to survey lands applied to be purchased under the 2nd section of the "Crown Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875"; when I receive instructions to measure such land, I inspect the land traverse it to get position of the improvements, and then value the improvements; in accordance with instructions I value improvements at what they are worth when I inspect them; I did not make any inquiry as to when these improvements on portion 20 were made; I do not know when these improvements were put up; I did not notice whether the hut had been up 20 years or not; I valued the improvements at what they were worth when I saw them; there was no finish inside, no canvass, no timber lining; stripping the hut of verandah, lean-to's, chimney, and mantel-piece, and leaving only two rooms, the hut would be worth £60; I did not measure the hut; I know neither its height, length, nor breadth; the roof was ridged; I did count the sheets of iron, but I cannot say how many there were—my memorandum is not here; I did not measure the hardwood in the building; if the place was floored I must have taken notice of it; I am sure that I have no memorandum of this item; there are 52 chains of brush fencing on portion 20; I ran this; I consider it worth £40 a mile when I saw it; it was not cattle proof; I value it from information given to me; I have had great experience in these things; the fence may have been cattle proof; there was a seven-wire fence about 63 chains; it was an old fence; it was worth £75 a mile; a new fence like that would probably be worth £90 a mile; the posts of that fence may have been propped up in places; I do not know how many tons of wire would go to such a fence; I do not know how many posts per mile are required for such a fence; I do not know how far apart the posts are placed; the iron building, as I saw it, I valued at £215; I have deducted the value of the other improvements from £320, and this leaves £215 for the cottage; this is how I have arrived at the value of the cottage; there are drafting-yards which I value at £60; the cottage I have been speaking of is shown in my tracing as about 15 chains to east of boundary of water reserve No. 904; this hut and some yards are not shown on this tracing as within George Archer's conditional purchase; the hut and the yard are not correctly shown in this tracing; they are really about 27 chains from the water reserve boundary; the yards and the hut are really within the area of George Archer's conditional purchase as I have received instructions to measure it; this conditional purchase as now shown by faint lines is 20 chains from Tulk's north-east corner; this is in accordance with the application made by George Archer; the conditional purchase of George Archer as originally surveyed by me was 53 chains from Tulk's north-east corner; at the time of making this survey I had instructions to survey the improvement portions, and as Archer was not residing I thought it better to place it where I did; I was also told by Archer's agent where to survey his conditional purchase; Archer's agent is Mr. Hawley; Mr. Hawley is Mr. Ricketson's manager; Mr. Hawley told me he was Archer's agent; Mr. Hawley told me to measure Archer's selection where portion No. 21 is now shown on the tracing before me; this survey was made on 17th March of this year; the document now placed in my hands is my report to the Surveyor General of New South Wales, dated 15th August, 1876, on certain portions of improved land applied for by Mr. Henry Ricketson, and other portions as shewn in the tracing; this tracing was done off a rough plot—a working plan—to give the Lands Department information about the portions therein shown; this portion was measured as pointed out by his agent, and as near the description as possible.

Non-resident Archer's description is: "40 acres, county of Townsend, parish of Derulaman, situated on the Tuppall Creek, about 20 chains east from Charles Tulk's north-east corner conditional purchase of 40 acres made this day; and bounded by south, east, north to contain the area applied for." It was not impossible to survey Archer's portion within 20 chains of Tulk's north-east corner, but I held an application for the purchase of a portion of improved land about the same spot, and I thought that it was therefore better to measure the conditional purchase to east of portion 20; the application for this improvement purchase was November, 1875; the date of Archer's selection was 28 January, 1875; I gave priority to the former, although made ten months after the other, because I thought that it would make a better plan; exhibit C is only a rough sketch; my report was to give information as to the land applied for, and the tracing was to illustrate the report; it is usual to send in a correct tracing for the guidance of the head of my department; the fact of the hut and yards on the tracing being several chains chains from where they ought to be shown is not material; the cottage on portion No. 22 is called "Tuppall Cottage"; this cottage is about 10 chains from east boundary of portion 21 as shown in tracing; the cottage is 41 chains from eastern boundary of portion 21; it is very probably not shown in its correct position on the tracing; I pegged the portion every 10 chains; I cannot say whether I could or could not see this house, as I was surveying the eastern boundary of portion 22; I cannot now say how far, even within 10 chains, this house is from the east boundary of portion No. 22; it is somewhere on the block, that is all I know; all I wished to show was that the improvements were somewhere on the land; I do not know how long the cottage had been erected; as far as I can recollect it was an iron house with six rooms; I do not remember whether it was lined, or floored, or partitioned off; I have described it as a six-roomed house, so I conclude it was partitioned; I do not remember the size of the house; I have no idea whatever; my mind is a blank as to the position and size of the house; the fence on this portion is worth £56 5s.; the cottage is valued by me at £243 15s.; there is a creek on the land which runs into the Tuppall Creek; I cannot say whether the house is on the north or south side of that creek; portion No. 26 in the tracing represents two conditional purchases of John M'Meckin; the one is an original, the second an additional purchase; the date of the original is 27th February, 1873; the description is as follows:—"County of Townsend, parish of Toowool, 160 acres, situated on the road from Deniliquin to Morocco, about 2 miles from Morocco boundary; and bounded by that road on the north and by lines running south, west, and east to contain the area of 160 acres." I know the Morocco boundary; I never have chained from that boundary to portion 26; Morocco home station is about 4 miles from the west boundary of the run; I will not swear that I have not put portion 26 3 miles too far from the west boundary of Morocco Run; M'Meckin's additional purchase is described as follows:—"County of Townsend, parish of Toowool, 160 acres; bounded on east by my previous conditional purchase, and on remaining sides by lines to include the area applied for." This was surveyed 30th March, 1876; I do not know through which part of this area the road ran; I am not certain whether the road ran through it at all; portion No. 27 was surveyed by me about the same time—sometime in March of this year; it was vacant land; I was instructed to measure it; Mr. Henry Ricketson applied to have it measured; I believe that John Gibson's house is within the boundaries of No. 27, but I have not shown it on the tracing; I have seen John Gibson's house; I do not know what it is worth; I had no reason to show William Gibson's house; I had no reason for not showing John Gibson's house; I remember John and William Gibson calling at my camp at the time I was surveying those portions; it must have been after January last; I do not remember asking the Gibsons' at any time if their selections commenced at the mile-peg; I do not remember telling them that the peg was on the Tittle Plain; the eastern boundary of reserve No. 904 was close to my camp; in February I had several conversations probably about that time, with John Gibson, but I really do not remember the matter of those conversations.

Exhibit C.

By Mr. Boyd, for H. Ricketson: It was absolutely impossible for me to measure John Gibson's selection according to the description.

By Mr. Giltott, for J. Gibson: I never tried to measure; I never applied to Gibson for any information about his selection.

By Commissioner: My report is dated 15th August, 1876; the tracing represents things as they were in March and April; all the huts, yards, and other improvements marked on the tracing existed in March and April; John Gibson was engaged in erecting a house during one of those months; the plot from which the tracing is drawn was made at time of survey; before I left the locality John Gibson had probably more than half finished his house; John Gibson's house was being erected to the north of William Gibson's, and was, as far as I remember, on the south boundary as shown on tracing of portion No. 20; Gibson's applications were received by me in the middle of July last; I had then completed the survey of the portions shown on the tracing; John Gibson's house seemed intended for a family building; it was to contain several rooms; I believe that Gibson's family was living in this house before I finished the survey; I should say that this house finished would be worth over £200; I did not think that it was necessary to mention John Gibson's house in my report, because it fell within the lines of portion No. 20; I believe his house to be within the southern boundary of portion 20; I think that William Gibson's house is north of the mile-peg; I will not say whether it is north or south of this peg.

William Hawley, being duly sworn, saith: I am superintendent of Cornella Station, of which Mr. Henry Ricketson is lessee; Mr. Licensed-Surveyor Lee was at Durrulaman from December to April last, as far as I can recollect, measuring land; I remember that he had to measure an area taken up in the name of George Archer; it consisted of 40 acres; was taken up on the 28th of January, 1875; it is situated at Durrulaman; the purchase was made at the Crown Lands Office at Deniliquin; I took it up in the name of George Archer, as his agent; there was a man named Archer living on the station at the time, and the selection was taken up for what was supposed to be a brother of his; I received no positive instructions from anybody to take up this land for him; I never saw him; I am sure that he never lived on this selection; when Mr. Lee was at Durrulaman he asked me when I intended to have the selection measured; he told me that the land was applied for about 20 chains from Charles Firth's north-east corner; I pointed out the place I meant the application to refer to, which is more to the eastward; he did not object; the land was better where I got the selection measured; there are some improvements on the area which Archer's purchase would cover if measured according to description; these improvements were commenced at the beginning of November of last year; they consisted of an iron cottage of two rooms; I estimated it when finished to be worth £100; these two rooms were finished at the end of November or beginning of December last; there are also some sheep-yards, which were begun in January of this year, and finished, I think, the same month; the men were ready to start with them before the 6th January; these yards are worth about £60; there are about 7 chains of fencing, worth about £6; there is a hut on portion 22, containing six rooms, and having a verandah; the value of this house is about £250; it is about 40 chains from the east boundary of portion 21, and is about 50 chains from Tuppall Creek;

Creek; there is a wire-fencing along the south bank of Tuppal Creek; it is a seven-wire fence, split posts, no rails; it is about eight or nine years old; it is in good order; I know what the state of it was in March last; it was then worth from £70 to £80 per mile; there is a brush or log-fence running through portion 20, worth about 10s. a chain; there is some timber-ringing on the eastern side of portion 20, worth about £5.

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

William Hawley, being re-sworn, saith: The fence along Tuppal Creek I believe to be seven-wire; I remember seeing seven wires in that fence, but whether at that particular part, that is, to the northern portions 20, 21, and 22, I cannot say; the fence is eight or nine years old, as I take it; I have been superintendent at Cornella two years; at Araboola two years; in all I have been in Mr. Ricketson's employment ten years; it was not a new fence when I first passed through it nine or ten years ago; where I went through the fence it is the same fence then as now; I should say that it was not an old fence then; Pine is 6 miles distant now; a six-wire fence now would cost £80 a mile in that place; the posts in the old fence are, I think, 8 or 9 feet apart; everything is much cheaper now; we paid 1s. per acre for timber-ringing; I refuse to say who instructed me to take up Archer's conditional purchase; I had instructions for Mr. Ricketson to use the name of George Archer for a conditional purchase if I required it; the cottage on portion No. 22 is near the south-east corner of the portion; it contains six rooms; in November of last year it contained two rooms only; there was an iron chimney, no flooring or lining; it was worth then £100; the additions to this cottage were being prepared at the time the main building was going on; I will not swear that the additions were not made after the 6th of January last; the log fencing was worth in March last £35 a mile; I am sure that John Gibson's house is not within portion 20; it is about 100 yards to the south of Taylor's Creek.

W. H. HOOPER.

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

William Lowden, being duly sworn, saith:—I am a builder and contractor; I am manager for Mr. Johnston, who is a building contractor at Deniliquin; I prepare estimates, and have charge of all building works undertaken by Mr. Johnston; on Tuesday night last I visited John Gibson's house on his selection; we crossed the Tuppal Creek, and came to a weather-board house and found John Gibson's family there; the next morning I inspected, on Mr. Gibson's behalf, a log fence about 100 and 150 yards from Gibson's house; I saw sufficient of the fence to satisfy me as to the character of it; this fence as far as I saw it was not topped up; it was in a state of decay; the fence, taking the portion of it I inspected, was not worth more than £14 per mile; a new fence is worth £23 to £30 a mile; I inspected some log-yards near Gibson's house; there were about 26 chains of brush and log fencing; there are about 18 chains of old dividing fencing worth nothing at all; the 26 chains I value at £5 or £6 or £7; I next inspected the four-roomed house near the yards; there was a verandah in front, and a chimney; the length of the building is 23 feet 10 inches; the width over-all, that is, lean-to's and all, 17 feet 8 inches; the lean-to's are 5 feet 6 inches; the other rooms are 12 feet, verandah 5 feet 6 inches; the height of the building is 8 feet; the building is of iron, not lined; I would erect a house there like that for £61 5s.; I would take a contract for a dozen houses like that, and allow 10 per cent. discount; in Melbourne we constructed them for £28 10s.; the verandah of that house is worth about £6; the skillings are worth about £12; the chimney is worth a matter of £3 or £4; I next inspected a six-wire fence on Tuppal Creek; I am positive that there are only six wires, no rails; I went about a mile along the fence; it is an old fence, a great many years old; the wire is slack and broken in a good many places; it would not bear straining now; I believe that it never has been strained; I saw no straining posts, but the strainers may have been knocked away; the posts are pine; they cost at the stump about 18s. a hundred; a new fence of that description would be worth about £75 a mile; as it stands now it is worth from £30 to £35 a mile; it is cattle proof but not sheep proof; I inspected a cottage on improved purchase No. 22; I saw the pegs with I.P. 22 on them; that cottage I value at £88 10s.; these prices I give now are the prices I am ready to do the work at.

On portion 20.

By Mr. Boyd, for H. Ricketson: I am speaking of prices at the present time; the price of wire has fallen very little since the railway came to Deniliquin; I have known 8 feet iron to cost 6s. and 6s. 6d., and never 8s.; inside the yards are made up of old posts, old timber, and old palings.

By Mr. Gillott: We buy every brand of iron in the market; the "Gospel Oak" is the best brand; the cottages I have described are built of the "Castle" brand, it is 26 gauge; the railway has made very little difference in cost of freight of iron and wire; if John Gibson's house were completed it would be worth £200; it is worth about £100 now; the cottage on portion 22 is six-roomed, three main rooms and three lean-to's; if this had only two main rooms, no skilling, no verandah, no chimney, it would be worth £39 5s. only.

By

By Mr. Boyd: There are a great many acres of timber ringed about there, but whether on portion 22 I do not know; I am positive that to my knowledge 8 feet iron was never selling at Deniliquin at 8s. last year.

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

William Henry Hooper, being duly sworn, saith:—I am book-keeper for Mort and Watson, of Deniliquin, storekeepers; they deal largely in iron; in August, 1875, our price for 8-foot iron was 8s. per sheet; this was the best quality of iron; I do not know the gauge; 8-foot iron was scarcer than any other in 1875; that was our price; what Johnson sold it for I do not know.

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

John Gibson, being duly sworn, saith:—Yesterday I went out to my selection with William Lowden; I showed him the cottage on George Archer's selection in the middle of portion 20 on the tracing; we went north to Tuppall Creek; there are six wires in the fence there; the posts are all bored for six wires with an inch augur; this fence was there, I believe, twenty years ago; I know that it is eighteen years old; we went east to portion 22, and across that portion diagonally to a cottage about 8 chains from the south-eastern boundary, and about 10 chains from the southern boundary; the hut as shown on the tracing is about half a mile out of position; my house is about 10 or 12 chains to the north of the mile-peg on the water-reserve boundary, and about half-a-mile to the east; I know portion 20; I know the pegs indicating the southern boundary of portion 20; my house is to the south of that boundary; I was on the 27th of March last living in this house; in April my children came and lived there; I was putting on the roof in March last; Taylor's Creek is a large creek; my house is to the south of that creek; this creek is not shown on the tracing. Recalled, 23/11/76.

Exhibit C.

By Mr. Boyd: Mr. Lee was on the ground when I chose the spot for my house; he directed me where to go to find the mile-peg; I considered that my ground came to the mile-peg; Mr. Lee asked me whether one of our selections did not begin at the mile-peg; my house will be worth £150 when lined and papered; not a tenth part of it is composed of old materials bought by me from the arcade; I bought other stuff from Gill and Lacy at 18s. per hundred feet; I do not know what quantity I bought.

By Mr. Gillott, for Mr. Gibson: The iron from the arcade was quite good; as my house stands it is worth £100.

By Commissioner: Mr. Surveyor Lee measured portion 27 in March last; I believe I was then living on my conditional purchase.

JOHN GIBSON.

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

Henry Ricketson, being duly sworn, saith: I am the lessee of Derrulaman; when I took possession of that run there was a wire fence running along the south bank of Tuppall Creek; this fence was purchased by me as a part of the improvements of the run; it was erected by M'Laren; I think that this fence has been up fourteen or fifteen years, and not longer; it has since been made sheep-proof; the part of the fence on my side belongs to me, that on Mr. Landale's to him; it is not a boundary-fence; there may be only six wires; I was under an impression that there were seven wires; I believe that it was in Landale's time that the other three wires were added; I never went along that fencing; Landale took down some of this fencing and put it up on his side; this was to allow me to have access to the Tuppall Creek; this fence in places is on the other side of the creek; that is Landale's portion; the Tuppall Creek is the natural boundary of our runs.

HENRY RICKETSON.

A. C. S. ROSE, Commissioner.

Francis George Finley, being duly sworn, saith: I am Acting District Surveyor for the District of Deniliquin; I have been in this position for the past three years; for about two years, up to within the last two months, Mr. George Joseph Lee, a licensed surveyor, has been carrying on surveys under my supervision within the district of which I have charge; on the 11th July last I instructed Mr. Lee to measure, if unobjectionable, the areas applied for by John and William Gibson on the 6th of January last as conditional purchases; in his report Mr. Lee stated that he had already measured the areas thus applied for as improvement purchases for Mr. Henry Ricketson, and one as an area to be offered at auction, measured at request of Mr. Ricketson, namely, No. 27; the object of that report of Mr. Lee was to explain how the Gibsons' conditional purchases were interfered with by applications of Mr. Ricketson for improved lands; the tracing shown to me accompanied the report; I expected Mr. Lee to make a report as to how matters stood with regard to the lands applied for by the Gibsons, at the time he made the survey for Ricketson; if at the time of making those surveys Mr. Lee was aware that John Gibson was building a house on the area applied for by him, it was his duty to mention such house in his report; it was equally his duty to do this as to mention any of Mr. Ricketson's improvements; in the diagram there is a tracing showing portion No. 21, which was measured by Mr. Lee as a conditional purchase for George Archer; the portion as so measured is not according to the description given by the conditional purchaser; it is situated too far to the east by 30 chains; I do not think that Mr. Lee followed the instructions of the department in thus measuring this area; the proper course would have been for Mr. Lee to have reported the matter before surveying the area; as Mr. Lee reported the conditional purchaser as non-resident he ought not to have listened to any suggestion by that person's agent as to an alteration in the position of the area; Archer's purchase, according to his description, is to be again measured, and is to be placed in its proper position, as indicated by the faint blue lines of the tracing; the hut and yard shown within portion No. 20 appear to be a quarter of a mile out of position; assuming that the improvements upon portion No. 20 were erected after Archer's area was taken up, I consider that they are his, and the existence of these improvements will not prevent the carrying out of the survey of his land in the middle of portion No. 20; in that case, according to the practice of the Lands Department, Mr. Ricketson's improvement purchase portion No. 20 goes for nothing; I do not consider that John Gibson's conditional purchase will be allowed to stand with Archer's purchase, severing it into two areas; both the improvement purchase and the conditional purchase are now in my opinion objectionable, and I shall be obliged to report against both, that is, if the improvements in virtue of which the improvement purchase was made are within George Archer's area; George Archer's description is vague, inasmuch as it says "about 20 chains east from Charles Tulk's north-east corner;" it is about 30 chains out of position; on more accurately scaling it I find that it is 28 chains too much to eastward; from my point of view, as District Surveyor, I hold that John Gibson's description is imperfect; if I had had the survey of the area desired by Gibson I should have had an interview with him, and have measured it conditionally, and reported it to the department; the fact of the matter being in dispute, as it was, and is, I should take other measures; if Mr. Manton misled the conditional purchaser I have nothing to do with it; I have to do with the descriptions only; the tracing on the office map shows Gibson's selection to be a rectangular portion with the north-west corner cut off by Archer's and Tulk's selections.

By Mr. Boyd: Mr. Manton as draftsman, in my opinion, was bound to give advice to conditional purchasers about the situation of land, but not to dictate descriptions to conditional purchasers; Mr. Lee was bound to measure for Mr. Ricketson the improvement portions, if he had instructions to do so.

By Commissioner: If an area of 640 acres were allowed to John Gibson in the form delineated on the office map, the southern boundary of it would be 25 chains at least below Archer's southern boundary, and it would extend about 47 chains from east boundary of Archer's purchase to the east boundary of the area.

By Mr. Gillott: I consider it to be the duty of the draftsman attached to a local land office to read over descriptions of applications for conditional purchases, and to point out to the Crown Lands Agent any errors or defects which he may find in them.

DESCRIPTION.

County of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman, 640 acres: Commencing at a point about 30 chains east of reserve 904, on the left bank of Tuppall Creek, running south to the south boundary of conditional purchase Land Agent's No. 49, thence west to reserve 904, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains to Tuppall Creek, thence by that creek to the point of commencement.

William

William Gibson v. Henry Ricketson—Deniliquin, 24/11/76.

William Gibson, being duly sworn, saith :—On the 6th of January, 1876, an application for a conditional purchase of 640 acres was made by me at the Land Office at Deniliquin ; it is signed by me ; the description was drawn up by Mr. Frederick Mayger, as my agent ; the description I find, on referring to the application now handed to me, is as follows :—640 acres, county of Townsend, parish of Derrulaman : Commencing at the south-west corner of John Gibson's C. P. of this day ; and bounded by a line running south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, to point of commencement. I attended personally at the Land Office ; Mr. Broughton, the Crown Lands Agent, was there, and so was Mr. Manton, the draftsman ; Mr. Mayger read the description to Mr. Broughton in Mr. Manton's presence, who said that it was right ; I know a tree known as the mile tree, which is on the eastern boundary of water reserve 904, and a mile from Tuppal Creek ; about 20 chains south from that tree I built my house ; before beginning the house Mr. Surveyor Lee told me where to find that tree, and said that anywhere below that tree would be right ; my house is of weatherboard, with iron roof, and containing two rooms ; I value it at between £50 and £60 ; there is an old log fence running through my conditional purchase ; it was brushed up some time since, but now it is in a state of decay ; the hut marked on portion 28 is 10 chains from the cross log fence ; this cottage was not there when I took possession of my conditional purchase ; it was erected in February last ; the only sign of improvement on my area was the old fence ; in the tracing, portion 29, shows a house and yards ; I positively swear that there are no yards there now, and there never have been at any time any yards there ; the hut was erected in February last ; I understand perfectly where portion 29 is ; the nearest yards to portion 29 are on Archer's selection ; I have fenced down the water reserve to the old log fence ; I have fenced from the old log fence to the eastern boundary of my area, and thence up to the northern boundary.

Exhibit C.
See tracing, which shows
about 15 chains.
Exhibit C.

By Mr. Boyd : My brother John Gibson's south boundary I intended to be my north boundary ; Mr. Surveyor Lee had seen the description of our purchases when he pointed out the marked tree to us ; the log fence might once have been a cattle fence ; it certainly would not keep cattle in now ; there are about 40 chains of fencing across portion 29 ; there are 80 chains from north to south ; I swear that my house is south of the mile-peg.

By Mr. Gillott : The fencing I have erected is sheep proof, and is made of trees and brush ; the fence on the boundary of the water reserve is fine wire, and a top rail ; I do not know its value ; the posts are of gum-tree.

Frederick Mayger, being duly sworn, saith :—On the 3rd of January last I visited portion 28, which was not then surveyed ; there were no improvements then whatever, excepting an old brush fence ; I also the same day visited portion 29 ; I did not notice any house, nor did I see any yards there ; on the 3rd of August last I went to portion 28, and in the exact spot where John Gibson and I dismounted we found an iron house built, which was not there on my first visit.

John Archer Broughton, being duly sworn, saith :—I am Crown Lands Agent at Deniliquin ; I find on reference to my Conditional Purchase Register that on the 6th of January last a conditional purchase of 640 acres was taken up by William Gibson ; the purchase is situated at Derrulaman ; the evidence I have already given as to Tulk's and Archer's conditional purchases at this Court is applicable to this case.

Francis George Finley, being duly sworn, saith : I am Acting District Surveyor for the District of Deniliquin ; I have been in this position for the past three years ; for about two years, up to the last two months, Mr. George Joseph Lee, a licensed surveyor, has been carrying on surveys under my supervision within the district of which I have charge ; on the 11th July last I instructed Mr. Lee to measure, if unobjectionable, the areas applied for by John and William Gibson on the 6th of January last as conditional purchases ; in his report Mr. Lee stated that he had already measured the area thus applied for as improvement purchases for Mr. Henry Ricketson, and one as an area to be offered at auction, measured at request of Mr. Ricketson, namely No. 27 ; the object of that report of Mr. Lee's was to explain how the Gibsons' conditional purchases were interfered with by applications of Mr. Ricketson for improved lands ; the tracing shown to me accompanied the report ; I expected Mr. Lee to make a report as to how matters stood with regard to the land applied for by the Gibsons' at the time he made the survey for Ricketson ; if, at the time of making those surveys, Mr. Lee was aware that John Gibson was building a house on the area applied for by him it was his duty to mention such house in his report ; it was equally his duty to do this as to mention any of Mr. Ricketson's improvements ; in the diagram there is a tracing showing portion No. 21, which was mentioned by Mr. Lee as a conditional purchase for George Archer ; the portion as so measured is not in accordance with the description given by the conditional purchaser ; it is situated too far to the east by 30 chains ; I do not think Mr. Lee followed the instructions of the department in thus measuring this area ; the proper course would have been for Mr. Lee to have reported the matter before surveying the area ; as Mr. Lee reported the conditional purchaser as non-resident he ought not to have listened to any suggestions from that person's agent, as to an alteration in the position of

of the area; Archer's purchase according to his description is to be again measured, and placed in its proper position as indicated by the faint blue lines of the tracing; the hut and yards within portion No. 20 appear to be a quarter of a mile out of position; assuming that the improvements upon portion No. 20 were erected after Archer's area was taken up I consider that they are his, and the existence of these improvements will not prevent the carrying out of the survey of his land in the middle of portion No. 20; in that case, according to the practice of the Lands Department, Mr. Ricketson's improvement purchase No. 20 goes for nothing; I do not consider that John Gibson's conditional purchase will be allowed to stand with Archer's survey severing it into two areas; both the improvement purchase and the conditional purchase are now, in my opinion, objectionable, and I shall be obliged to report against both; this is, if the improvements by virtue of which the improvement purchase was made are within George Archer's area; George Archer's description is vague, inasmuch as it says about 20 chains east from Charles Tulk's north-east corner; it is about 30 chains out of position; on more accurately scaling it, I find that it is 28 chains too much to eastward; from my point of view, as District Surveyor, I hold that John Gibson's description is imperfect; if I had had the survey of the area desired by Gibson I should have had an interview with him, and have measured it conditionally and reported it to the Department; the fact of the matter being in dispute as it was, and now is, I should have taken other measures; if Mr. Manton misled the conditional purchaser I have nothing to do with it—I have to do with the description only; the tracing on the office map shows Gibson's selection to be a rectangular portion with the north-west corner cut off by Archer's and Tulk's selections.

By Mr. Boyd: Mr. Manton, as draftsman, in my opinion was bound to give advice to conditional purchasers about the situation of land, but not to dictate descriptions to conditional purchasers; Mr. Lea was bound to measure for Mr. Ricketson for improvement portions, if he had instructions to do so.

By Commissioner: If an area of 640 acres were allowed to John Gibson in the form delineated on the office map the southern boundary of it would be 25 chains at least below Archer's southern boundary, and it would extend about 47 chains from east boundary of Archer's purchase to the east boundary of the area.

By Mr. Gillott: I consider it to be the duty of the draftsman attached to the local land office to read over descriptions of applications for conditional purchases, and to point out to the Crown Lands Agent any errors or defects which he may find in them.

F. G. FINLEY.

John Gibson, being duly sworn, saith: The hut as shown on portion 28 is placed inaccurately; this hut was not there on the 3rd of January last; the hut on portion 29, as shown in the tracing, is put several chains over 30 chains too far to westward; this hut was not there on the 3rd of January last; there never were any yards on this portion; I have been over the ground often, and I am confident that there were never any yards within a mile and a half of this spot; I first saw the iron hut on portion 29 at the beginning of February last; I swear that there were no yards there then, and there are no yards there now; my brother's fence along the water reserve east boundary is worth between £60 and £70 a mile; his new brush fencing is worth between £20 and £30 a mile; there is about a mile and a half of it.

JOHN GIBSON.

William Lowden, being duly sworn, saith: On Wednesday morning last, the 22nd of November instant, I visited a house on portion 28; on reference to the tracing I see portion 29; I saw an iron house on this portion—a three-roomed iron house; I see on the tracing that some yards are marked close to this house; I had a copy of this tracing with me and I looked for these yards but could not find any, nor could I see any traces of yards; the house I value at £80; one can see a long distance in that country, which is lightly timbered; this house has a verandah on two sides and one end; it is a more expensive kind of house than the others.

W. LOWDEN.

William Hawley, being duly sworn, saith: I see, on reference to the tracing marked C, a hut indicated; it was erected at the beginning of January last, not before the 6th of that month; I see portion 29 on the tracing; the house indicated there was put up not before the 6th of January last; I see yards indicated on the tracing in portion 29; there are no yards there and there never were as far as I know; the cottage on portion No. 28 is called "Pine-tree Cottage"; this is not the cottage in virtue of which I intended to apply for the improvement purchase in my application of the 1st November last, on behalf of Henry Ricketson; the cottage I had in view was a mile away from the cottage marked in the tracing on portion 28; I cannot say whether there was any timber ringing on that portion in November last; I did intend the application to point to that particular place, namely portion 28; there was a hut in existence called "Pine-tree Cottage," not the one I have already mentioned; there are two "Pine-tree Cottages"; the cottage on portion 29 is called "Cherry-tree Cottage"; this cottage was erected after the 6th of January last; there was then a cottage about a quarter of a mile from where the hut on portion 29 is marked in the tracing; that cottage was a quarter of a mile south of the south boundary of portion No. 29.

WILLM. HAWLEY.

William

William Lowden, being duly sworn, saith: The iron used in Mr. Ricketson's hut is the "Castle" brand; this description of iron did not sell twelve months ago in Deniliquin at such a price as 8s. a sheet; the 8-foot "Castle" iron sold then not higher than 6s. 9d. per sheet; I produce Mrs. Johnston's day-book to show that Messrs. Mort & Watson in January last (that is before the railway to Deniliquin was opened) purchased from Mr. Johnston in the ordinary course of business twenty sheets of 8-foot iron, at 6s. 9d.; we should have sold the iron at the same price to Mr. Ricketson, but should not have allowed him the discount we allow to Mort & Watson as being in the trade; in February last we sold Mort & Watson twenty-five sheets at the same price; I am positive that it was not the "Castle" brand but a better brand; the "Castle" is the worst and cheapest brand in the market; the difference per sheet between "Castle" and "Crown," that is per 8-foot iron, is 4½d.

FROM Licensed-Surveyor G. J. Lee to the Surveyor General, Sydney, transmitting tracing and reports of improvement purchases and conditional purchases, measured on and near land applied for by John and William Gibson, under the 13th clause of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," in the parish of Derrulaman, county Townsend; improvement purchases measured on the application of Henry Ricketson.

Conditional purchases measured on the application of Charles Tulk, portion No. 19; George Archer, portion No. 21; and John M'Meehin, portion No. 26; applications of each portion transmitted herewith.

Deniliquin, 15 August, 1876.

Sir,
I have the honor to transmit tracing and report of nine portions of land measured by me on or near the land applied for by John and William Gibson, in the parish of Derrulaman, county of Townsend.

Report on Portion No. 19.—28 January, 1875.

The applicant was not residing on this portion, and no sign of the requirements of the Act being fulfilled.

Second Report on Portion No. 21, C.P., 75/49.—28 January, 1875.

This portion was measured as pointed out by his agent, and as near the description as possible; non-resident.

Third Report on Portion No. 26, C.P. 73/1,731, and A.C.P. 73/11,863.—27 Feb., '73, and 6 Nov., '73.

Measured in accordance with description; applicant non-resident; no improvements.

Fourth Report on Portion No. 20, I.P. 2,518.—17 Nov., '75.

Upon this portion is erected an iron house of 4 rooms, with verandah, drafting yards, 60 chains of wire fencing, and 60 chains of brush fencing, which in all I value at £320, and beneficial to the working of the run. There were men living in the house, and sheep being drafted at the time of survey.

Fifth Report on Portion No. 22, I.P. 2,556.—22 Nov., 1875.

The improvements erected on this portion consist of a large six-roomed iron house, with verandah, and about 60 chains of 6-wire fencing, which I value at £320. There were men living in this house, but in my opinion it cannot be necessary for the working of the run.

Sixth Report on Portion No. 28, I.P. 2,519.—17 Nov., '75.

The improvements erected on this portion consist of a large five-roomed iron house, with verandah, and about 50 chains of brush fencing, which I value at £290. Men were residing in the house, but in my opinion it is not necessary for the working of the run.

Seventh Report on Portion No. 29, I.P. 2,516.—17 Nov., '75.

The improvements erected upon this portion consist of a three-roomed iron house, with verandah, drafting yards, and rung-timber, in all to the value of £210. The improvements, I believe, are beneficial to the working of the run.

Eighth Report on Portion No. 33, I.P. 2,647.—14 Dec., 1875.

The improvements erected upon this portion consist of a two-roomed iron house, which I value at £90, and in my opinion it is not necessary for the working of the run.

The manager of the run, Cornulla, informed me that the improvements were erected on each portion before applied for.

The house erected by William Gibson on portion No. 27 I value at £50. There were no other improvements erected by Gibson at time of survey. Tracing shows and gives every information.

I have, &c.,
G. J. LEE.

CROWN LANDS.

No. 1.

Application by D. Sawyer, junior, for conditional purchase.

(C.P., No. 69-881.) Land Agent's No. 28 of 1869. [Alienation Act, section 13.]
Application for the conditional purchase, without competition, of 40 acres, unimproved Crown Land, under section 13 of the Lands Alienation Act of 1861.

Received by me, with a deposit of £10, this 18th day of March, 1869, at 10 o'clock.

JNO. M'DONALD,
 Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands at Tamworth.

Sir,

18 March, 1869.

I am desirous of purchasing, without competition, under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," the portion of unimproved Crown Land hereunder described, containing 40 acres — roods; and I herewith tender the sum of £10, being a deposit at the rate of 5s. per acre on the area for which I apply, and on which it is my intention to reside. Appendix A.

I am, &c.,

DAVID SAWYER, JUNIOR,
 Barraba, farmer,
Per David Sawyer, Agent.

To the Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands at Tamworth.

DESCRIPTION.

County of Darling, parish of Barraba, 40 acres, on the left bank of the Manilla River, about 200 yards above David Sawyer's conditional purchase of 40 acres on said river, but on the opposite side of the river to Sawyer's said conditional purchase, and about 4 miles from Barraba, at a place called the "Herding Yard."

Mr. Dowe to measure if unobjectionable.—B.C., 28 April, 1869.—J.S.A., for Sur.-Genl.

No. 2.

Mr. J. Goodwin to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Barraba, 12 June, 1871.

I beg to draw your attention to three conditional purchases on the Manilla River, the owners of which have not complied with certain clauses in the Act.

1st. Mary Ann Sawyer has not resided on her conditional purchase of 40 acres on the Manilla River since it was taken up. The gonyah is in a very dilapidated state, and quite unfit for use.

2nd. David Sawyer, junr., has not lived on his conditional purchase of 40 acres, on the Manilla River, since it was selected by him about two years ago.

I may also state that Mary Ann Sawyer is about twelve years old, and David Sawyer about ten, and that their father has a conditional purchase about a quarter of a mile distant on the opposite side of the river, where they have resided since they conditionally purchased the portions alluded to.

3rd. William Garske has not been living on his conditional purchase of 100 acres, on the Manilla River, since it was selected by him. One glance at the gonyah would quite satisfy any person that it had not been inhabited for a considerable length of time, as it is in a very dilapidated state.

About the time the above-mentioned portions were surveyed the gonyahs had a very different appearance to what they have now, as, I believe, blankets were to be seen in most of them, and a few pots and cans lying about, but I can assure you they were only placed there by the selectors to mislead the surveyor in his report.

I have, &c.,

JOHN GOODWIN.

Inform that they have been reported resident by the surveyor, and that clear proofs must be furnished to show they have not complied with the Act before they can be disturbed in their holding.—W.B., 6/7/71.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. J. Goodwin.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 17 July, 1871.

With reference to your letter of the 12th ultimo, respecting that the conditional purchasers whose names are mentioned in the margin have not fulfilled the condition of residence with regard to their selections, I am directed to inform you that the local surveyor reported the selectors alluded to as resident upon their conditional purchases, and they cannot therefore be disturbed in the occupation thereof unless reliable proof be furnished that they have not complied with the requirements of the law.

Mr. J. Goodwin to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Barraba, 5 August, 1871.

See No. 3.

I duly received your letter of the 17th July, and am much obliged. I would take it kind if you would let me know what proof would be required to satisfy that Mary A. Sawyer, D. Sawyer, junior, and W. Garske is or has not been living on their conditional purchases, for which information I would be most happy to forward any fee required in reason.

Would a note, signed by the surveyor, or by one or more J.P.'s, or by proving it before the Court of Petty Sessions at Barraba, be sufficient? A reply would much oblige.

I have, &c.,

JOHN GOODWIN.

May be informed that if he makes a statutory declaration before a Magistrate to the effect that the parties in question have not complied with the condition of residence, the Government will call on them to show cause why their conditional purchases should not be declared forfeited.—W.B., 11/8/71. Approved.—J.B.W., 12 Aug.

See No. 4.

With reference to your letter of the 5th instant, respecting the nature of the proof you should furnish in order to satisfy the Government that Mary A. Sawyer, D. Sawyer, jun., and W. Garske have not fulfilled the condition of residence as regards their conditional purchases at Tamworth,—I am directed to inform you that if you make a statutory declaration before a Magistrate to the effect that the above-named persons have not complied with the condition of residence, they will be called upon to show cause why their conditional purchases should not be declared forfeited.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

Declaration of Mr. J. Goodwin.

Sir,

Barraba, 5 September, 1871.

I beg to draw your attention to three conditional purchases on the Manilla River, the owners of which have not complied with certain clauses in the Act.

1st. David Sawyer, junior, conditional purchase, 40 acres.

2nd. Mary Ann Sawyer, " 40 "

3rd. William Garske, " 100 "

None of those people mentioned have lived on their conditional purchases—they only made an appearance of living there when the surveyor was about to survey the land.

Declaration of David Sawyer, junior.

(C.P., No. 69-881.)

(Alienation Act—E. 3.)

DECLARATION of Conditional Purchaser, under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," in cases where there has been no alienation of the land.

I David Sawyer, junior, of Barraba, do solemnly and sincerely declare that I am the lawful owner, by conditional purchase, under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," of the land hereunder described, and that improvements, consisting of building, clearing, and fencing, and to the value of £80, have been made on such land; and I declare further that the said land has been my bona fide residence, continuously, from the period of selection and first occupation to the present date, and that no alienation of the land has been made by me. I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled, "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

DAVID x SAWYER, JUNIOR,
mark.

Taken and declared at Tamworth, this 6th day of May, 1872, before me, the same having been first read and explained to him, and he appearing to understand the same,—

JNO. McDONALD,
A Commissioner for Affidavits.

DESCRIPTION.

County of Darling, parish of 40 acres at Manilla River being conditional purchase No. 28 of 1869, in the district of Tamworth, made on the 18th March, 1869.

Certificate of Land Agent.

I HEREBY certify that to the best of my knowledge and belief, the above declaration is in accordance with fact.

Mr. District Surveyor Greaves is requested to furnish a report as to the bonâ fide residence of the parties herein mentioned.—R. D. FITZGERALD, for the Surveyor General, Surveyor General's Office, Sydney, 19th March, 1873.

No. 16.

Mr. Surveyor Dewhurst to The Surveyor General.

Sir, Tamworth, 12 September, 1873.

See No. 10.

In accordance with your instructions, dated 23rd October, I have now the honor to inform you that I have visited Baraba for the purpose of reporting on the residence of the parties above named, and I am now in a position to report that William Garske is a bonâ fide resident; that Mary Anne and David Sawyer are minors, of age about 13 and 11 years respectively; that the land in each case was taken up by D. Sawyer, senior, and with his money; that the "children selectors" above named have occasionally slept on their respective selections, but that their usual abode is with their father on the opposite side of the river. In my opinion, which, however, can be expected to carry little weight in matters about which the Supreme Court Judges please to differ,* no girl under age can be a bonâ fide selector, therefore she should be informed that her selection is forfeited; and as the lad D. Sawyer is only a dummy for his father, he can have no just claim to his selection. Innumerable instances can be brought forward to establish by precedent that both these minors are bonâ fide selectors, and therefore I must respectfully leave the matter at this stage to be finally dealt with in the head office.

* She was ten years old when the land was selected.

See No. 10.

I noticed that the certificate of "proof of residence" appeared of little value during my investigation, as none of the parties signing seem aware of the facts, and one man, William Muir, did not know what he signed.

I have, &c.,
ARTHUR DEWHURST.

Sir,

Barraba, 8 April, 1874.

See No. 18.

I received your circular of the 31st March, 1874, in which you stated that my conditional purchase of 40 acres of land, situated at Tamworth, is forfeited.

See No. 11.

I have the honor to state that I have complied with the Act, and also hold the receipt from the Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands for the sum of £31 1s. 8d. in full payment of the land (paid 6th May, 1872).

I have, &c.,

The portion referred to is in schedule for auction, and unless instructed to withhold it, will be sent on for sale.—H.H., 15/5/74.

See No. 16.

There appears to be no cause for reversal of the forfeiture of the conditional purchase of David Sawyer, jun.,—the purchase herein referred to, which was declared forfeited on receipt of the surveyor's recent and special report. Mr. D. Sawyer, jun., should perhaps be apprised that the forfeiture of his purchase must remain, as the requirements of the law in regard to residence have not been complied with.—3/6/74.

No. 22.

Declaration of Residence by David Sawyer, junior.

I, DAVID SAWYER, jun., of Barraba, do solemnly and sincerely declare that the 40 acres of land conditionally purchased by me on the 18th March, 1869, at Tamworth, under the 13th section of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861, county Darling, and that the same is still my property.

And I declare further that the said land has been my bonâ fide residence continuously from the period of selection and first occupation to the present date.

I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled, "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in the various Departments of the Government of New South Wales and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Memorandum and decision.

DAVID Sawyer, jun., Mary Ann Sawyer, and William Garske made three selections. Surveyor reported them resident. Upwards of two years afterwards Goodwin wrote stating that they were non-resident.

See Nos. 2 and 6.

See No. 10.

See No. 16.

They furnished certificates of continuous residence, which were referred to the surveyor, and he reported that Garske was a bonâ fide resident, and that the Sawyers were minors (11 and 13), and occasionally slept upon their selections, but lived with their father on the opposite side of the river.

See No. 11.

See No. 22.

This report was approved of, and Garske's certificate was accepted, and both of the Sawyers' selections were declared forfeited. David Sawyer and Mary Sawyer, previously to the date of forfeiture, furnished the usual declarations as to residence and improvements, and David paid the balance of his purchase. The declarations were not accepted, and vouchers for refund of balance and interest were forwarded. Mr. Bennett, M.L.A., has now left a declaration made by David Sawyer to the effect that the land has been his bonâ fide residence.—8 July, 1874.

The forfeiture must stand.—J.S.F., 11/7/74.

Tamworth, 8 September, 1874.

I do myself the honor to request that the Land Agent, Tamworth, be instructed to withdraw from sale, notified to be sold on the 28th instant, Lot F, as particularised in the enclosed, marked X, for the following reasons:—

2nd. As also, it is stated by the holder that the reports of "Goodwin and District Surveyor Dewhurst" are false and malicious, and a total subversion of truth, a refutation of such reports can be furnished upon affidavit if desired, and on the supported testimony of many neighbouring farmers. See Nos. 2, 6, & 16.

Trusting that attention to this matter will be at once given, the day of sale not being far distant,—
I have, &c.,

HANLEY BENNETT.

P.S.—I withhold for the present the complaint submitted to me by Mr. D. Sawyer, junior, through his agent, D. Sawyer, senior, against the reports of "Goodwin and Dewhurst"; if called for, will be most willingly furnished.—H.B.

(Urgent.)—Can it be the case, as alleged by Mr. Bennett, that a conditional purchase upon which declaration has been made, and the balance tendered two years ago, has been advertised for auction?—W.W.S., 17th.

The papers herewith show that the conditional purchase of David Sawyer, junior, was declared forfeited on receipt of the surveyor's report. The declaration was rejected, and voucher for refund of balance of purchase money duly forwarded to applicant on 31st March last. Mr. Bennett was informed on 22nd July last, in terms of the Minister for Lands' decision, dated 11th July, that the forfeiture must stand.—18/9/74. See No. 16. See No. 18. See No. 21.

The Under Secretary for Lands to H. Bennett, Esq., M.L.A.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 13 October, 1874.

With reference to your letter of the 8th ultimo, requesting, on behalf of Mr. David Sawyer, junr., that his forfeited conditional purchase, noted in the margin, may be withdrawn from auction, it having been advertised for sale at Tamworth, I am directed to refer you to my letter of the 22nd July last,* conveying to you the decision of the Minister for Lands on this case, which was to the effect that, after reviewing the circumstances connected therewith, he could not recall the forfeiture. Sir,

Tamworth, 22 October, 1874.

In reply to yours of date 13th instant, permit me to say, that if David Sawyer, junr., is forced from his freehold upon the supported reports of Messrs. Goodwin and Surveyor Dewhurst, a greater injustice could not possibly be inflicted. See No. 26. See Nos. 2, 6, & 16.

It appears from information before me having reference to Sawyer's case that the reports of Messrs. Goodwin and Surveyor Dewhurst are groundless, and can be upon oath by several residents of Barraba refuted.

Therefore, in the interest of the public and the parties concerned, I do myself the honor to suggest that a magisterial inquiry be instituted in this case, as also that copies of the reports furnished by Goodwin and Dewhurst be forwarded to me as soon as possible.

I have, &c.,

HANLEY BENNETT.

Minutes on No. 27.

Is Mr. Hanley Bennett's request (see last paragraph) to be complied with? The facts of the case are shown by Minutes on paper attached.—W.W.S., 15th Dec.

I do not think that I am empowered to order the inquiry asked for. These cases are very perplexing. I have no reason whatever for disbelieving Mr. Dewhurst's report, and the evidence as to non-residence: but at the same time I am desirous of giving conditional purchasers every opportunity of proving their case, therefore this case may be referred to the Inspector. The furnishing of copies of reports in every case (and if in this case, why not in all cases of a similar character) would entail on the department an amount of work that would require double the present staff of officers to perform. The facts as reported of non-residence have I presume been communicated to the parties interested.—J.S.P., 7/1/75.

Referring to your letter of 18th May, 1876, requesting a report on the case noted in the margin, which was referred to me for investigation on the 25th November last, with tracing and description therewith,—I have now the honor to report, for the information of the Hon. the Minister for Lands, that I have inspected this selection, and found the applicant resident, with improvements to the amount of £65. on the ground: consisting of paddock cleared, grubbed, and fenced, £50; hut, £15. I have, &c.,

Inspector of Conditional Purchases.

This conditional purchase was declared forfeited on 12th December, 1873, on Surveyor Dewhurst's report, and the land was advertised for sale at Tamworth on the 28th September, 1874. After a great deal of correspondence, the Minister for Lands (Mr. Farnell) directed that the case should be referred to the Inspector for report. But the land not being withdrawn from sale, was purchased at auction by Mrs. Mary Jessie Witten. The Inspector states that he found the conditional purchaser resident, and that the land is improved to the extent of £65. It is submitted that the forfeiture of the conditional purchase should stand.—10/7/76. See No. 17.

The Inspector's report does not show that the forfeiture should stand, but the report is inconclusive. It simply verifies residence now. I think the case should go for inquiry before the Commissioner. The purchaser at auction might be informed of the facts of the case, and that if selector cannot prove residence, &c., before Commissioner, the forfeiture of the selection and the sale at auction will stand.—W.B., 10/7/76. No. 39.

Mr. Inspector Geary to The Under Secretary for Lands.

REPORT of an Inquiry held at Barraba, on the 15th of September, 1876, by John Delaney, Commissioner for the North-western Division, respecting the conditional purchase of David Sawyer, junior, made at Tamworth, on the 18th of March, 1869.

Sir,

I have the honor to transmit herewith, for the consideration of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, Minutes of Evidence taken at an Inquiry under the "Lands Act Amendment Act of 1875," held by me in pursuance of the reference notified in the Gazette of the 1st instant, in the matter of the above-described conditional purchase.

The claimant having been duly served with notice of the time and place of holding the inquiry, was present thereat.

The following facts bearing upon the fulfilment by the selector of the conditions of his purchase, were elicited in evidence, viz. :—

Harry Vincent Geary, Inspector of C.P. for North-western District, states:—On the 29th of May, 1876, he inspected the conditional purchase of David Sawyer, junior; the area is 40 acres; "claimant was resident"; it was taken at Tamworth on the 18th of March, 1869; the land was fully improved as required by the Land Act. And he also states:—His impression was that the selection had been occupied for a long time.

John

40 acres. D. Sawyer, jun., 18th March, 1869, Tamworth.

Enclosed: See No. 1.

See No. 1.

See No. 38.

John Goodwin states:—He is a selector, and he knows the selection of David Sawyer, junior; and he asserts that claimant did not occupy his c.p. for two years from the date of selection; when questioned how he was aware of claimant's absence, he said he passed the selection late at night and early in the morning for two years.

David Sawyer,* the father of claimant, states:—He is a farmer, residing at Barraba; that on the 18th of March, 1869, he selected at Tamworth 40 acres of land at Tamworth; and he positively swears that, within one month from the date of selection, his son resided on the land for the full period of three years; and that within that period he had the land improved to the full value required by law.

The evidence of Henry Tute and Senior-constable Flanagan states nothing positive; if anything, they are in favour of claimant.

Considering the time that has passed previous to inquiry, and carefully considering the evidence, I would not like to recommend cancellation.

I have, therefore, to report that I find such conditions to have been fulfilled, and to recommend that this conditional purchase be allowed.

I have, &c.,

JOHN DELANEY, Commissioner.

* I did not examine the son, i.e., the claimant, because he was present when his father gave his evidence.

Harry Vincent Geary, being duly sworn, on his oath saith:—I am Inspector of Conditional Purchases for the North-western District; on the 29th of May, 1876, I inspected the selection of David Sawyer, junior; the area is 40 acres; it was selected at Tamworth on the 18th of March, 1869; when I inspected, the applicant was resident, and the land fully improved as required by the Land Act; my impression is that the selection has been occupied for a long time.

Taken and sworn before me, at Barraba, this 15th day of September, 1876.—

HARRY V. GEARY.

JOHN DELANEY, J.P., Commissioner.

John Goodwin being duly sworn, on his oath saith:—I am a selector, residing at Barraba; I know the land selected for David Sawyer, junior, by his father at Tamworth; the area is 40 acres; I know, and I assert now, that within two years of the date of selection he did not make it his bonâ fide residence.

JOHN GOODWIN.

Question by applicant:—How do you know I did not reside on the land?

Answer:—I was in the habit of passing the selection late at night and early in the morning, and I don't remember seeing you, and the gonyah had fallen to pieces, and there was no sign of fire or residence.

Taken and sworn before me, at Barraba, this 15th day of September, 1876.—

JOHN DELANEY, J.P.

Question by selector:—Do you know what year the house was erected?

Answer:—I do not.

DAVID SAWYER.

JOHN DELANEY, J.P., Commissioner.

New South Wales, Barraba, } to wit: }

Henry Tute, being duly sworn, on his oath saith:—I am a labourer, residing at Barraba; I know the land selected by David Sawyer, junior; it contains 40 acres; it was selected on the 18th of March, 1869; it was selected at Tamworth by David Sawyer, the father of David Sawyer, junior; and I know that for the last five years I have been in the habit of calling at the selection once or twice a week, and during those visits I have seen David Sawyer, junior, on the land, or at the house on the selection.

Taken and sworn before me, at Barraba, this 15th day of September, 1876.—

H. TUTE.

JOHN DELANEY, J.P., Commissioner.

John Flanagan, being duly sworn, on his oath saith:—I am Senior-constable of the Police, stationed at Barraba; I know the land selected by David Sawyer, junior, from 1872; it appeared to me to be a selection occupied for a long time, judging by the state of the improvements.

Taken and sworn before me, at Tamworth, this 15th day of September, 1876.—

JOHN DELANEY, J.P., Commissioner.

Minutes on No. 39.

The inquiry before the Commissioner has added nothing to the information that was before the late Minister when the selection was forfeited, in so far as the liability of the selection to forfeiture was affected. The same complainant has repeated his former statements on oath, and the selector's father (in terms that have been taken in rather a confused way) has sworn to his son's residence. The surveyor's report has not been corroborated or questioned, and the parties who were ready to sign a paper declaratory of the residence have not been called upon by the selector to give evidence.

Were the present question whether the selection should be declared forfeited, it would probably be considered that a case for forfeiture has hardly been established by these proceedings; but the question here really is, whether the forfeiture declared in 1873 should be revoked, and I am bound to say that I do not consider that grounds for revocation have been made out.

It must not be overlooked that, consequent upon the forfeiture, the land was sold by auction in September, 1874, to a Mrs. Witten, and that consequently there are conflicting interests involved which render it necessary that the case should be dealt with strictly on its merits.

So regarded, I am unable to recommend revocation of the forfeiture.—A.O.M., 24/11/76.

For decision.—W.W.S., 25 Nov. Approved.—T.G., 25/11/76. For the information on Noting and Deeds Branches, in case the preparation of the deed of the auction sale may have been stayed the forfeiture of the c.p. stands, and the auction sale holds good.—5 Jan., /77.

Referring to your letter of the 19th July last, on behalf of David Sawyer, jun., respecting his forfeited conditional purchase noted in the margin, I am directed to inform you, that the inquiry recently made before Mr. Commissioner Delaney has added nothing to the information that was before the late Minister for Lands when the selection was forfeited, in so far as the liability of the selection to forfeiture was affected, nor have grounds for revocation been made out, and therefore Mr. Secretary Garrett is unable to revoke the forfeiture declared on the 12th December, 1873.

I am to add that the sale by auction of the land embraced in the forfeited conditional purchase in question to Mrs. Mary Jessie Witten must stand.

CROWN LANDS.

No. 1.

C.P. No. 73/10,226.

Application by David Roberts for the Conditional Purchase, without competition, of 300 acres unimproved Crown Land, under section 13 of the Lands Alienation Act of 1861.

Received by me with a deposit of £75, this 25th day of September, 1873, at 11 o'clock.

J. McDONALD,
Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands at Tamworth.

Sir,

25 September, 1873.

I am desirous of purchasing, without competition, under the 13th section of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861, the portion of unimproved Crown land hereunder described, containing 300 acres, and I herewith tender the sum of £75, being a deposit at the rate of five shillings (5s.) per acre on the area for which I apply, and on which it is my intention to reside.

I am, &c.,

DAVID ROBERTS,

Manilla.

To the Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands at Tamworth.

Description.

County of Darling, parish of Cuerindi, 300 acres, left bank of Hall's Creek, about 1½ mile above the junction of said creek with the Namoi River, and below and adjoining Honnery's conditional purchase.

Mr. District Surveyor Greaves to measure if unobjectionable.—J.F.G., for Sur. Genl., 7 Nov., 1873.

No. 2.

Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Hon. Sir,

Hall's Creek, 2 December, 1873.

On the 25th of September, 1873, I selected 300 acres of land in the county of Darling, on the left bank of Hall's Creek, on the Cuerindi Run, between Honnery's selection and Cuerindi Station. No. 1.

Mr. Surveyor Elliott surveyed the other selections, but not mine. There are about 50 chains between Honnery's selection and the station.

1st. I wish to know how far the land for the station improvements extends above the station, as the party that selected below the station had to leave.

2nd. Whether there is sufficient land for me.

I have been living on this land since the 1st of October. As I am losing time and labour if I do not get it, an early reply will be very thankful.

I remain, &c.,

D. ROBERTS.

No. 3.

Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Hall's Creek, 18 December, 1873.

I humbly beg to state that I have selected 300 acres of land on Hall's Creek, on Cuerindi Run. I selected on the 25th September last. I wish to know when it will be surveyed, as I want to improve on it, and get some land ready for wheat for the next sowing. I have to make the necessary improvements within three years, and the time is getting shorter to do it in, and every month the surveyor delays in coming to survey it, makes it harder on me, as I have no other occupation to earn a living, only by farming, and losing time is a very great loss to me which I cannot afford. I have been here since the 1st of October. I have selected between Honnery's and the station, there is about 50 chains between Honnery and the station, and I wish to know how much land the station claims above the station, as the selector below had to give up his selection.

Honorable Sir, I kindly beg an answer to this as soon as possible.

I remain, &c.,

DAVID ROBERTS.

No. 4.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Tamworth, 4 January, 1874.

I have the honor to return an application for land made by David Roberts—your instructions to measure which were sent to Mr. District Surveyor Greaves under B.C., dated 8th December, 1873. See No. 1.

In consequence of the selection which adjoins this land having been shifted down the creek, through the selector not knowing the position of a water reserve (see my letter* dated 31st October, 1873), David Roberts's selection comes within the area applied for in virtue of improvements by the lessees of Cuerindie Run.† * Cannot be obtained.

The improvements referred to are too valuable to allow the measurement of David Roberts's selection. I forward a tracing‡ showing the position of the land applied for, and await your further instructions. † Application with Mr. Surveyor Elliott. ‡ Appendix A.

I have, &c.,

ARNOLD ELLIOTT.

To

To the Surveyor General.

Submitted,—that the whole of the land shown on the tracing is covered by the improvements forming the head station, Cuerindie.

The improvements on this portion are equal in value to £400.—A. DEWHURST, 9th January, 1874.
For cancellation of conditional purchase 73/10,226, David Roberts, vide Mr. Dewhurst's memo. of the 9th January, 1874.—J.S.A.

No. 7.

Messrs. G. Farquharson & Co. to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Cuerindie Station, Manilla, 17 February, 1874.

I beg most respectfully to inform you that a person named Roberts has taken up a selection in the immediate vicinity of my head station of Cuerindi, the whole of which land is more than covered by the valuable improvements connected with the station. Such a selection is, I humbly maintain, totally at variance with both the spirit and the letter of the Crown Lands Alienation Act, which, while it sanctions the conditional purchase of unimproved Crown lands, protects from selection lands which have been improved at great expense in a legitimate manner by the lessee of a pastoral estate. I have measured the distance from the actual dwelling-house of the head station to the side-line of the nearest selection that has been marked out, and I find that distance 54 chains; the land between the dwelling-house and the selection referred to would therefore contain about 320 acres, and I am within the estimate when I state that the improvements thereon are worth £500, and consist of storehouse, huts, and paddock fence, now being erected, and a woolshed, also in course of erection, stables, well, and numerous other valuable properties.

Mr. Surveyor Elliott has reported against Roberts's purchase of 320 acres.

Roberts imagines that if he cannot get the whole of the land he has applied for, he might get about 100 acres, but I must humbly submit that there is no land whatever open to conditional purchase under the 13th section of the Act, between the head station and Honnery's selection, where Roberts wishes to acquire a right. Selecting improved lands is getting unfortunately a general thing in this part of the country, and although the Government has in every case that I am aware of protected the owner of such, it does not deter unprincipled people from making every effort to acquire property to which they have no claim, in order to induce the proprietor to bribe them or buy them off. I respectfully enclose a rough sketch* which shows the station, the nearest measured selection, and consequently, the intervening land which the man Roberts has selected contrary to law: and I have the honor to beg that you will, after a careful examination of the same, take the necessary steps to do me the justice which, as one of the public, I think I have the right to claim. Trusting that you will take this matter into early consideration,—

I have, &c.,

Cuerindie, 21 March, 1874.

No. 9.

With reference to your letter of 28th February last, intimating that my selection of 300 acres at this place has been cancelled, as containing improvements of sufficient value to bar selection,—I have the honor to request that you will have the goodness to furnish me with the report of the surveyor who made the statement referred to, as when I took up the land in question there was not £300 worth of improvements on the station, from which I am led to believe 640 acres by virtue thereof are claimed; and it appears also from the plan of the station at the Land Office, Tamworth, that there is a woolshed on the land, whereas the fact is, that the timber therefor was only laid on the ground a month ago, together with split timber to erect about 100 rods of fencing.

Permit me to say it is not the state of things manifest by your letter, it is a most deplorable result to come from paid officers of the most important department of the Government of the Colony, and is only equalled by the audacity of the recommendation of the creation of a reserve to surround on all sides my neighbour's selection.

I have, &c.,
D. ROBERTS.

Mr. Roberts should be apprised that his purchase was cancelled in accordance with the reports of surveyors, Messrs. Dewhurst and Elliott.—19 April, 1874.

Yes. Should also be informed that if he disputes the surveyors' valuation of the improvements, he can have them appraised on payment of £1 as fee into the Treasury, and further, that the only improvements that can operate as a bar to his selection are such as had been made at the date of his application for the land, and, therefore, no improvements made subsequently to that date would be taken into consideration.—W.B., 10/4/74.

In reference to your letter, of the 21st ultimo, on the subject of the cancellation of the conditional purchase noted in the margin, I am directed to inform you that your selection was declared cancelled in consequence of the surveyors' (Messrs. Dewhurst and Elliott) reports, which pointed out the improvements on the land to be of sufficient value to debar selection.

2nd. I am, however, to add that if you dispute the surveyors' valuation, you can have the matter determined by appraisal on payment of the usual fee of £1 ls. into the Treasury.

3rd. I am further to state that, in the event of an appraisal not taking place, the only improvements which would be taken into consideration are those which were standing on the ground at the date of your application.

Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Hon. Sir,

Manilla, Hall's Creek, 9 April, 1874.

I beg to inform you that I have seen the plan of the Cuerindi Station at the Land Office, Tamworth. It shows that there is about £20 worth of improvements on the land I selected, which I have witnesses to prove, at the time I selected, and the plan shows a woolshed on the said land. Now there is some timber laid for a woolshed and some timber for a fence, the same being laid since the middle of February, and some trees ring-barked within the last three weeks. All this has been done this present year, 1874. There is seventy acres or more of this land available for growing all kinds of grain and other vegetables equal to the Hawkesbury land. It is a very hard case for me to be ousted off this land, as I have been residing on it since the 1st of October, 1873. There is between 43 and 48 chains of vacant land between Honnery's selection and the station improvements which I will accept. I am led to believe that Mr. Surveyor Dewhurst has an interest in this station; and if that is the case, a poor man has little or no chance to contend with such a strong firm. My selection has not been surveyed to my knowledge yet. I am not aware it will interfere with the station improvements.

I am, &c.,

I desire to have the matter determined in the way you point out, and with that view have paid by post the sum of £1 1s. into the Treasury.

Sir,

Tamworth, 30 April, 1874.

From information I believe it would be a case of the greatest injustice possible if the reports (sent in by Messrs. Surveyor Dewhurst and Licensed Surveyor Elliott) were acted upon in the absence of the opinion of some persons disinterested in the matter affecting the conditional purchase of David Roberts, Manilla, as it has been reported to me the same has not as yet been measured, as also that Surveyor Dewhurst is greatly interested in the station personally; therefore it is obvious that the conditional purchase cannot be cancelled until the true position has been ascertained by survey. Under the circumstances mentioned that further information will be demanded before this case is acted upon.

Hon. Sir,

Hall's Creek, 14 July, 1874

Necessity compels me to write to you, requesting you will have my conditional purchase of 300 acres, on Cuerindie Run, Hall's Creek, determined as soon as possible, as I am anxiously waiting to improve it and to get some land ready for corn this season; and I beg to state that the proprietors of this station are improving my conditional purchase; and I saw the plan of Cuerindie Station at the Land Office, Tamworth. It shows in the plan two portions or two blocks of land; the west portion takes in all the improvements, and on the east portion a supposed woolshed, which there is none—only timber laid on the ground.

I beg to state it is a very hard case that supposed improvements should bar me from selecting it, and I have made this said land my bonâ fide home since the 1st of October, 1873.

Sir, I humbly beg you will inform me if it is legal for the proprietors of this station, after having the improvements on the west portion, to oust the selector on the west side, and then to have the said improvements taken into consideration to oust me on the east side: I mean, can the one lot of improvements be valued twice at two different times to oust two different selectors?

*Appendix C.

In accordance with your instructions, dated 24th July, and issued to Mr. Dewhurst, and transferred by that gentleman to myself, I have the honor to transmit a tracing* showing the position of improvements erected at Cuerindie head station, and also the position of the land applied for by David Roberts.

The only improvements erected since the date of David Roberts's selection consists of a two-rail (split) fence, and the value of that portion on the land claimed by both parties is £62.

I have numbered the different buildings, &c., and the value of each I estimate as follows:—

No. 1.—A six-room cottage, with garden and fruit-trees, value	£280
No. 2.—Store	20
No. 3.—Shed	3
No. 4.—Do.	5
No. 5.—Do.	2
No. 6.—Covered yard	2
No. 7.—Well	65
No. 8.—Kitchen	20

No. 10.—Men's hut	20
No. 11.—Stockyard and shed	37
No. 12.—Do. do.	15
No. 13.—Cultivation paddock	24

These improvements, including the fencing that has been erected since the date of Roberts's selection make a total value of 62

£560

Sheds

Sheds Nos. 4 & 11 appear to have been lately supplied with fresh bark for roof.

The improvements made by David Roberts consist of bark gunyah, value of £1, and some felled timber, which has been done by burning the growing trees, but as he has not yet cleared the timber away I have not taken that into account.

Memorandum by The Surveyor General.

THIS report is submitted for the consideration of the Hon. the Minister for Lands, in view of his minute of the 30th June, 1874. See No. 22.

It may be seen that the station buildings, &c., are worth £498, exclusive of £62 worth of fencing erected since date of Roberts's conditional purchase, which would entitle the lessees to purchase two portions, of which one might embrace improvements numbered on sketch 1 to 6 and 8 (worth £332), and extend 53 ch. 33 lks. up the creek, as shown by blue lines, thus showing no land available for D. Roberts's conditional purchase. See No. 24.

To such form of measurement as that shown on the sketch I would submit the lessee is entitled, in consideration of the improvements on the land, and consequently the cancellation of Roberts's conditional purchase should stand. A sketch should be forwarded to Roberts, from which he might see the position of the land the lessee would be entitled to on Mr. Elliott's valuation, with which, if he is still dissatisfied, instructions for appraisement of the value of the improvements might issue, the fee for such appraisement having been paid.

H. Bennett, Esq., M.L.A., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Tamworth, 17 October, 1874.

I am not altogether surprised at the protracted and the designed delay in the measuring of David Roberts's conditional purchase of 300 acres, made at Tamworth, on the 25th September, 1873, and more especially so when I consider the parties interested in the station of which Roberts's conditional purchase did at one time form part of the run, and in which delay I cannot say you are not partially concerned, from the fact that previous to my leaving Sydney, a day or two after the prorogation of the last Session, you decided that Roberts's conditional purchase should be measured, so that his position could be defined; as also it will be found by the papers bearing the above numbers that Roberts has disputed the appraised value of the scattered improvements, a large portion of which have been selected since Messrs. District Surveyor Dewhurst and Licensed Surveyor Elliott have been privileged behind the back of Roberts to make what written flimsy and personal reports they might think proper; as also Surveyor Elliott has been instructed by Mr. Surveyor Dewhurst, one of the proprietors of the station, to measure for improvements, instead of defining Roberts's block, as promised to me by you.

No. 28.

Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Honorable Sir,

Hall's Creek, 31 October, 1874.

I am not at all surprised at my conditional purchase of 300 acres on Hall's Creek not being surveyed, when I consider the parties interested in the station. W. B. Lucas's conditional purchase was cancelled by virtue of the improvements being sufficient to bar it from being selected. Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott told me very plainly that he had no instruction to survey my land, but I saw him taking the position of the very improvements that barred W. B. Lucas's selection, and likewise all the other improvements that have been erected on the land that I have selected since my application, which I consider is a scandalous way of reporting the true position of affairs, when it is well known by the inhabitants of this district what the improvements were when I selected it.

Sir, you will have the goodness to send me a copy of the report which Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott sent in last.

Sir,

Sir, I beg further to state that I have made this selection my bonâ fide home continuously for thirteen months, and likewise there is thirteen months expired of the time that I am allowed to improve it, and I beg to state that there is enough land between Honnery's conditional purchase of 200 acres and the station without interfering with the improvements. I have not selected the improvements—it's the land adjoining I selected.

Sir, you will be kind enough to give instructions to have my conditional purchase surveyed at once, as the surveyor is in the district.

I have, &c.,

DAVID ROBERTS.

No. 29.

Mr. District Surveyor Dewhurst to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Tamworth, 18 November, 1874.

See No. 24.

I have the honor to inform you that all the papers referring to this case have been returned to the head office with Mr. Elliott's letter, 30 September, 1874, which enclosed a sketch in which all the improvements at the head station were shown in position, and valued, together with the land applied for by Roberts.

I beg most respectfully to suggest that it is desirable, from every point of view, to decide as early as possible on the claim of Roberts to his conditional purchase of 320 acres, or any part thereof.

It can be seen on inspection of the plan that to allow the selection to stand as originally taken would be to render valueless to the run the head station and all the valuable improvements erected thereon, to work the same, or in other words a valuable leasehold property belonging to the Crown would be sacrificed.

See Nos. 26 & 23

I may point out that the papers (with Elliott's letter as attached) bearing the signatures of Hanley Bennett and Roberts, show that this selection has not been made with a view to settlement and the pursuit of agriculture, but apparently to gratify some personal pique in the first instance, and to being bought out finally by Messrs. Farquharson and Green, the proprietors; still the selection, as one under the Act, and unfortunately in accordance with the regulations of the same, must, I think, be recognized to the fullest possible extent; and in accordance with this view of the case, I have the honor to recommend that the land not actually covered by the station improvements should be granted to the applicant, and a refund made equal to the area refused.

I have, &c.,

A. DEWHURST.

No. 30.

Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Honorable Sir,

Hall's Creek, Manilla, 25 November, 1874.

I beg to inform you that I want my conditional purchase of 300 acres at this place surveyed at once. The licensed land surveyor, Mr. Elliott, has not given me any satisfaction about it; he told me that he has not received any instructions to survey it. It is fourteen months since I selected this land, and I have made it my bonâ fide home ever since, for which I have begun to improve it.

I consider I have not been justly dealt with, for at the time of my application the improvements were not of sufficient value to bar it from selection, and moreover it is not known whether my conditional purchase will embrace any of the improvements or not, as my conditional purchase has not been surveyed.

Sir, I beg to remind you that I paid £1 1s. into the Treasury six months ago, to have my conditional purchase determined, and it has not been yet, which I consider is an injustice to me.

Sir, if you will have the goodness to instruct the surveyor to survey it at once, as the time allowed to improve it is getting very short, and that Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott is within 10 miles of this place at the present time, so it is a good opportunity to have it surveyed.

I deeply regret that urgent necessity demands that I should again call your attention to the great hardship Mr. David Roberts, Manilla, Liverpool Plains, is subjected to, which case some few weeks back directed attention, pointing the very extraordinary course of action that was adopted by the Survey Department in this case, for no other apparent motive than to weary Roberts, so that the lessces of the Cucurindi Run may obtain his conditional purchase, and so dispossess Roberts of his holding.

I therefore respectfully request that your earliest attention will be given to this case, so that it can be disposed of one way or the other.

See No. 1.

In reference to my conditional purchase of 300 acres of land on Hall's Creek, which I selected on 25th September, 1873, which has not been surveyed yet, and I have resided on it fifteen months continuously,—I wish to know if it is to be surveyed, or whether I am to improve it; as fifteen months is a great deal too long for a poor man to be kept out of his land through the neglect of the surveyors or other officials under Government. It is no neglect of mine that it has not been surveyed before this, and it appears to me that the surveyors for this district can do just as they please in keeping a man out of his land to suit their own convenience. It is time we had other surveyors for this district who will survey free selectors' land.

Sir,

Sir, you will have the goodness to inform me my best course to take to get it surveyed, as I am anxious to build my house and get some of it ready for wheat. I have lost three crops through it not being surveyed before this, and it seems to me because I am a poor man I must not get any ground here on this station.

Sir, I beg you will see to it at once and have it surveyed, or know the reason it is not surveyed, as I have paid my guinea into the Treasury last April to have it surveyed. I thought it would then be surveyed, but it is not, so it shows that our district surveyor is waiting till there are sufficient improvements erected upon it, to bar me from getting it. It is a scandalous affair altogether to keep a poor man from making a home when he has saved a little money on purpose to procure a home for himself and family.

Sir, you will take my case into consideration and have it surveyed at once.

Honorable Sir,

Hall's Creek, 29 January, 1875.

I enclose a copy of the plan of Cuerindie Station,* showing W. B. Lucas's selection, which is on the west of the improvements embracing the river, and the improvements; my conditional purchase is on the east side, but not embracing the improvements (my conditional purchase is on Hall's Creek) adjoining Honnery's selection, between Honnery's and the station. *Appendix D.

Sir, I beg further to state that the station improvements are not of sufficient value to bar W. B. Lucas's selections and mine; and further the land was vacant at the time of my application, which is well known by all the neighbours that was here previous to my application, and I estimate my loss at £250, through my conditional purchase not being surveyed at first. I have lost two crops of corn and one crop of wheat, besides the potato crop; and I have made it my bonâ fide home sixteen months ever since I selected it, and now it is not surveyed; it seems to me that I am treated with impunity in not having my conditional purchase surveyed.

Sir, I beg you will have it surveyed at once, as nearly half the time is expired that I am allowed to improve it.

It is a ridiculous shame the way that I am treated, for there is nothing to prevent me from getting the land that I selected. You will see by the copy of the station that I have sent you in this letter that W. B. Lucas's selection was of more value than the station improvements.

Sir, there is sufficient land here for me, which I expect to have. I selected 300 acres, September 25th, 1873, on Cuerindie Station, Hall's Creek.

I again beg to call your attention to the following case: David Roberts, Manilla, Liverpool Plains, which has been before you for over twelve months past, waiting the report of the surveyor in charge of this portion of the district, to explain why Roberts's conditional purchase, taken up at Tamworth, on the 25th September, 1873, has not been measured according to instructions given to Licensed Surveyor Elliott many months back by you.

On behalf of Roberts, I request that the same be measured at once, or that he be informed why the land is not measured, and whether he can retain it or not. Your early attention to this matter and reply, will oblige,—

Mr. D. Roberts to The Colonial Secretary.

Hon. Sir,

Hall's Creek, 12 February, 1875.

Necessity compels me to write to you. On the 25th September, 1873, I selected 300 acres of land on Cuerindie Station, parish of Darling, and it has not been surveyed yet. Previous to my application W. B. Lucas selected on the west side of the station; it was cancelled on account of it embracing the improvements, as the improvements were reported of sufficient value to bar it from selection. Now,
I

I selected on the east side of the station adjoining Honnery's selection, and between Honnery's and the station; and after Honnery's selection was surveyed, Messrs. Surveyors Dewhurst and Elliott sent in a report that the improvements (that is, the same improvements that barred Lucas's selection) barred my selection too.

Sir, I beg to state that I had selected previous to Honnery's selection being surveyed, and in March, 1874, I saw at the Land Office, Tamworth, the plan of Cuerindie. It showed Honnery's selection and the station improvements, and a woolshed and other improvements on the land that I selected, of which there are none. There is no woolshed nor ever was there any since Messrs. Hall formed the station, and the whole of the improvements were not worth £366 at the time of my application, and in April, 1874, I disputed the report, and paid £1 1s. into the Treasury to have it valued, and to my knowledge it has not been valued yet. At the time of my application Mr. Surveyor Dewhurst had an interest in the station. I had cleared a good deal of the land to cultivate, and then I received a letter from the then Minister for Lands cautioning me not to improve the land. I beg to inform you that I have made this land my bona fide residence continuously since the 1st day of October, 1873.

Sir, I further beg to state that it is well known by all the oldest inhabitants in this district that at the time of my application the improvements were not worth £300.

Sir, the land I selected was vacant at the time I selected it, and I want it, and I consider I have been treated with impunity in not having it surveyed; and, moreover, it is rumoured by certain parties that I am no selector, only a spy and an informer, as I have been here so long, and the land not having been surveyed.

Sir, I humbly beg you will get it surveyed at once for me, as I want to get some wheat in this coming winter, and to build a house too.

In reply to yours of the 12th instant, I have decided, as on a previous occasion, to allow the improvements erected by the lessee of the Cuerindie Run, Tamworth, to go to appraisalment, as set forth only within the blue lines shown on sketch furnished with your letter of the above date.

Trusting that you will, at an early date, authorize the appraisalment to take place, and appoint your officer, I am prepared with my appraiser; fee has been previously paid into the department.

I shall hold you responsible for loss of time and other costs consequent of any further delay in the appraising of these improvements twenty days after the above date.

As I believe the improvements as stated to be worth three hundred and thirty-two pounds sterling, exclusive of fencing, said to be worth £62, are not in value half the amount.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. D. Roberts.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 13 March, 1875.

With reference to your letter of the 12th ultimo, which was received in this office through the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, respecting the cancellation of your conditional purchase, noted in the margin, on account of valuable improvements erected by the pastoral lessees, I am directed to inform you that the present Minister for Lands agrees with the decision given by his predecessor in the matter, which was conveyed to you by my communication of the 12th February last.

2. I am, however, to add that instructions for the appraisalment of the value of the improvements in question will be issued in the course of a few days.

I have, &c.,

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 13 March, 1875.

With reference to the letter addressed to you by Mr. David Roberts, and dated 12th ultimo, on the subject of the cancellation of his conditional purchase, noted in the margin, I am directed to apprise you that the selection was declared void, on account of valuable improvements erected by the pastoral lessees, as it was found that after satisfying the lessees' claim, there was no more land left available for Roberts's selection.

2. I am, however to state that the question of the value of the improvements alluded to is now about to be determined by a reference to appraisalment.

3. I may add that Mr. Roberts has been fully informed to the above effect, and a sketch has been forwarded to him, showing the position of the land that the lessees would be entitled to purchase on the surveyor's valuation of the improvements.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. Surveyor Dewhurst.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 31 March, 1875.

I have the honor to request that you will nominate a surveyor other than Mr. A. Elliott, who has already reported in the matter, to act as appraiser on behalf of the Government, to value the improvements on a portion of land containing 300 acres, in the parish of Cuerindi, county of Darling, which has been conditionally purchased by Mr. David Roberts.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

The only surveyors available for this duty are Messrs. Cooper, Brock, and Loder. Mr. Cooper being a perfect stranger to the run might perhaps be more suitable than the other gentlemen named.

Let the appraisement instructions be issued to Mr. Cooper at once, and inform parties.—W.W.S.,
7 June.

No. 41.

A. J. Gould, Esq., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Singleton, 20 April, 1875.

I am instructed by Mr. David Roberts, of Hall's Creek, Manilla, to write you in reference to the cancellation by your predecessor of his conditional purchase, noted in the margin, on account of its containing, as alleged, valuable improvements, the property of the lessee of the run, and to request that you will reconsider and reverse such cancellation, for the following reasons:—

300 acres.
Section 18.
Tamworth.
25th Sept., 1873.

1. The alleged improvements are not in any single case upon the land applied for by my client, but some 2 or 3 chains to the westward thereof, and therefore the land applied for was at that time unimproved and open for conditional purchase; the fence shown on the sketch forwarded my client in the letter to him from your department, of the 12th February last, and on his conditional purchase, having been erected since the making of such conditional purchase.
2. The pastoral lessee not having applied to purchase this land, by virtue of his improvements, before the same was taken as a conditional purchase by my client, cannot now come forward and claim such right, as the said land being unimproved has actually been sold to my client before any such application.
3. Prior to this conditional purchase being made by my client, one W. B. Lucas made a conditional purchase of 320 acres on the opposite side of the alleged improvements (that is, the western side) to that of my client, which conditional purchase was cancelled, in consequence of these identical improvements or the greater part thereof being applied for by the pastoral lessee thereto, who having made his election as to where these improvements should apply, cannot now apply them elsewhere, and to the land conditionally purchased by my client.

See No. 35.

For the proof of this latter statement, I beg to refer you to the documents and letters relating to cancellation of W. B. Lucas's conditional purchase of 320 acres, made prior to 25th September, 1873.

Trusting this matter will meet with your early and careful attention, and that you will favour me with an early reply,—

I have, &c.,

ALBERT J. GOULD.

The improvements of the lessee of the run, stated to be of the value of £327, are not of the value of one-half that amount, as I am instructed, and cannot therefore in any case justify cancellation of the full area applied for by my client.

No. 42.

The Under Secretary for Lands to R. Cooper, Esq.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 6 July, 1875.

Referring to former instructions sent to you for your guidance in the appraisement of lands, I now forward the documents necessary to enable you to appraise the value of the lands particularized in the annexed schedule, and which have been applied for under the 8th clause of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861."

I have, &c.,

LINDSAY G. THOMPSON,

(For the Under Secretary).

NOTE.—The 28th section, clause 6, of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," provides that a single appraiser or arbitrator must make his award within sixty days after his appointment, or within such extended time, if any, not exceeding thirty days, as shall have been duly appointed by him. Failure on part of any appraiser or arbitrator, to comply with the terms of this section, will, in the absence of sufficient explanation, involve the forfeiture of half the amount of appraisement fee, i.e., ten shillings in each case.

N.B.—You are requested to acquaint Messrs. Farquharson & Co. of the time and place of holding the Court of Appraisement.

Appointment of Appraiser by Government.

WHEREAS on the 25th September, 1873, David Roberts applied to purchase, under the 13th section of the Crown Lands Alienation Act, a portion of land containing 300 acres, in the parish of Cuerindie, on the left bank of Hall's Creek: And whereas Messrs. G. Farquharson & Co., of Cuerindie, in the Colony of New South Wales, have protested against such purchase, on the ground that the land in question was sufficiently improved at date of application to bar its selection, a description whereof is set out in the Schedule hereinafter written: Now I, the Under Secretary for Lands, having been duly authorized by the Minister for Lands, in pursuance of the powers vested in him under and by virtue of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," do hereby appoint Robert Cooper, of Milton, in the Colony of New South Wales, to be the appraiser on behalf of the Crown, to appraise the value of the improvements on the said land at date of selection, by David Roberts, viz., 25th September, 1873.

In witness whereof, I have hereto set my hand, this 6th day of July, 1875.

The Under Secretary for Lands to The Manager of the Bank of New South Wales.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 6 July, 1875.

I beg to inform you, in reference to Messrs. Farquharson & Co., of the 17th February, 1874, protesting against David Roberts's application to conditionally purchase 300 acres on the left side of Hall's Creek, on the ground that the land in question was sufficiently improved at the date of application to bar selection, and that the Honorable the Secretary for Lands having authorized me in that respect, I have appointed Mr. Robert Cooper, of Milton, appraiser on behalf of the Government. If you are satisfied that the improvements on the land in question shall be valued by him alone, you will please sign the form sent herewith marked "A"; if, however, you wish to appoint an appraiser to act on your behalf, you will sign the form "B," annexed. In this case you will be required to pay the costs of such appraiser, and of the umpire who will then have to be appointed, and upon forwarding the same to Mr. Cooper he will proceed herein to act on behalf of the Government. You will of course understand that, unless an appointment, in either form A or B, be forwarded to him, within sixty days from this date, he will proceed with the appraisal, in accordance with 3rd clause of the 28th section of the Alienation Act.

2. In appointing an appraiser, you will be so good as to sign your name in full.

I have, &c.,

LINDSAY G. THOMPSON,

Applicant appointing Appraiser on his own behalf.

WHEREAS I, _____ of _____ in the Colony of New South Wales, have applied to purchase certain improved Crown land, situate at _____ a description whereof is set out in the schedule hereinafter written; and whereas the Minister for Lands has duly appointed W. R. Cooper to be the person to appraise the value of the said land on behalf of the Government, and to fix the value or price thereof to be paid by me; and whereas I am desirous of appointing an appraiser on my behalf in the matter aforesaid: Now I, the said Seymour C. Stewart, pro Bank of New South Wales, do hereby, in pursuance of the provisions of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," appoint T. Harden, Esq., of Manilla Station, in the Colony of New South Wales, to appraise on my behalf the value of the improvements, and the price to be paid by me for the purchase thereof: And further, I do hereby undertake and promise to _____ Minister for Lands, that I will pay to the person above appointed as appraiser on my behalf, and to any umpire who may be appointed in the matters aforesaid, all costs, charges, and expenses which shall or may become payable to the said appraiser, and to any umpire who may be appointed therein, and that I will hold the Government of the said Colony indemnified from being called upon to pay the said costs, charges, and expenses, or any part thereof.

With reference to Messrs. Farquharson and Company's letter of the 17th February, 1874, No. 7. objecting to your conditional purchase of 300 acres, in the parish of Cuerindi, on the ground that there were improvements of sufficient value at date of your application to bar its selection, I am directed to inform you that Mr. Robert Cooper, of Milton, has been appointed by the Government to appraise the value of the improvements on the land in question at date of selection, and that he has been requested to acquaint you with the time and place of holding the Court of Appraisalment.

To this I have not yet received any reply. Will you be good enough to favour me with one at the earliest date.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Cooper to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Geonoo Geonoo, 14 July, 1875.

I have the honor to state that there must be some error in the forwarding to me the enclosed instructions to appraise, as it is only usual to forward appraisalment instructions to licensed surveyors of such portions as they may have surveyed, and I did not measure this portion. See Nos. 42 & 43.

If it is the intention of the Government that I am to carry out the instructions, I must be informed in which county the parish of Cuerindi is situated, and also of Messrs. Farquharson's address.

Also, I wish to state that I cannot undertake this duty unless I be allowed travelling expenses and three guineas per diem from the time of leaving my present camp until I return to it again.

I have, &c.,
R. J. COOPER,
Licensed Surveyor.

Mr. Cooper was nominated as appraiser in this case by Mr. Dewhurst, and instructions issued accordingly. The land was measured by Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott, and is in the county of Darling. Mr. Cooper seems to misunderstand the instructions, which had perhaps better be returned to him with a request that he will carry out the appraisalment.—J.E., 21st. See No. 41.

Hon. Sir,

Hall's Creek, 7 August, 1875.

In reference to my conditional purchase of 300 acres on Hall's Creek, I have not received a letter from Mr. Cooper to say when he will be here to settle or report on it.

Sir, I do not know what is the reason why I am detained so long in suspense, for I see no grounds whatever to prevent me from getting the land I selected, for W. B. Lucas had 500 acres cancelled through the virtue of those improvements which is being brought forward to cancel my 300 acres. The sketch I hold that I am furnished with from the Lands Office shows there are only £499 worth of improvements on the whole of the station, which I presume are not sufficient to cancel 300 acres or bar 800 acres from being selected.

Sir, I beg to inform you I have made this my bond fide home, and I have resided on this land over twenty-two months, and I want it brought to an issue at once, or I shall be compelled to force it to an issue.

In reference to my conditional purchase of 300 acres which I selected on Cuerindie Run, September 25th, 1873, the same has not been determined yet, or either have I heard from Mr. Cooper. I beg to remind you that the seasons for growing produce wait for no man; the corn season for planting has come, and I am still kept out of my land, which I consider is a disgraceful proceeding. I have nothing now but starvation and ruin staring me in the face, all through my land not being surveyed eighteen months ago as it should have been. I want it settled at once, or I shall hold the Government responsible for all my loss of time. I have paid the usual fee into the Treasury to have it determined, and why has it not been done?

Sir, I beg you will reply to this at once and let me know if it is to be surveyed or not, and whether I am to commence to cultivate and improve it, for I consider that I have been rascally dealt with from the beginning.

Appraisement by two Appraisers.

To all to whom these presents shall come, I, Robert J. Cooper, appraiser, of Milton, in the Colony of New South Wales, and T. Harden, of Manilla, in the said Colony, send greeting:—

WHEREAS on the sixth day of July, 1875, the said Robert J. Cooper was duly appointed by the Minister for Lands to appraise the value of certain improvements situate at Cuerindie, near Manilla, and which said improvements are described in the schedule in the paper writing hereto annexed, marked A, and to fix the value or price to be paid for the same: And whereas, on the thirteenth day of July, the said T. Harden, Esquire, was duly appointed by the Bank of New South Wales on behalf of the said Bank of New South Wales, to appraise the value of the said improvements and to fix the value of the same: And whereas the said Robert Cooper and T. Harden, before proceeding to enter upon the said appraisement, duly appointed an umpire and did all things necessary to authorize and enable them to proceed with the said appraisement: Now know ye, that the said Robert Cooper and T. Harden having heard and considered the allegations and witnesses on behalf of the Minister for Lands, and of the said Bank of New South Wales respectively, do hereby declare the sum of six hundred and eighteen pounds (£618) to be the value of the said improvements, and do appraise and fix that sum as the value of the same for the purchase of the same, and do further fix the costs to be paid to the said Robert J. Cooper for this appraisement, at the sum of _____, which said sum they direct shall be paid by the Minister for Lands, and the costs to be paid to the said T. Harden for this appraisement, at the sum of £3 3s., which said sum they order and direct shall be paid by the said Bank of New South Wales.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Cooper to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Goonoo Goonoo, 2 September, 1875.

I have the honor to draw your attention to my charges in the case of an appraisal at Cuerindie, near Manilla; having to leave my party of men idle for four days, the time occupied in the appraisal, which I consider a loss to me of £5 per diem, irrespective of money out of pocket and camp expenses during my absence.

When the instruction was first sent to me, I wrote to the Minister for Lands, stating the land was not surveyed by me, and that even its whereabouts was unknown to me, and that I could not undertake it under £3 3s. per diem with travelling expenses.

I have, &c.,

To the Surveyor General.

The amount charged seems at first sight excessive, but taking the expenses of a party into consideration, is not unreasonable.

Hall's Creek, 7 October, 1875.

In referring to your letter, dated 6th July, informing me that the Government has appointed No. 45. a Mr. Robert Cooper to appraise the value of the improvements on the land at the date of my selection, and to acquaint me with the time and place of holding the Court of Appraisal,—

Sir, I beg to inform you that I have not received any notice from Mr. R. Cooper yet.

Sir, I have held possession of this land two years.

Sir, I want a positive answer at once, to know if I am to have this land.

Sir, are you aware that W. B. Lucas's 500 acres was cancelled through those improvements (which they are bringing to bear to cancel mine) being considered sufficient to bar his selections?

Sir, I hold a sketch from the Lands Department showing that the whole of the improvements on the station are only worth £499, not sufficient to secure 500 acres, not including mine at all. Either Lucas's selection or mine must be legal, as the lessees of this station have not secured any land, as required by the Act, previous to our selecting the said land; so I presume it is a one-sided affair on behalf of the squatters in getting our land barred from selection.

Sir, in the manner that these selections have been conducted I consider that neither Lucas nor I have received any justice whatever in connection with our selections.

Sir, you will have the goodness to answer this at once.

You will be kind enough to inform me if you have ever received any letters from me respecting my conditional purchase of 300 acres of land, which I selected on the 25th of September, 1873, on Cuerindie Run, Hall's Creek, parish of Darling.

Sir, I have repeatedly written to you to know if I am to have the said land, but I have not received any answer from you since July last. It appears to me that I am treated with contempt, and also it appears that now Mr. District Surveyor A. Dewhurst has great influence in the Lands Department, when I cannot get my land surveyed because I have selected on his station. I consider that I am robbed out of my land and time through him.

Sir, you will be kind enough to answer this at once.

Sir, you must be aware that I am put to a great deal of expense and inconvenience through the neglect of the Lands Department in not having my land settled.

Messrs. Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Hon. Sir,

Hall's Creek, 15 January, 1876.

I have been informed that a Mr. Cooper was here about four months ago with two parties; one a Mr. D. Sinclair from Tamworth, and the other a Mr. Harden, a squatter, of the Manilla. Now, as Mr. Sinclair is an auctioneer, who gets his livelihood from those parties who can give him the most stock and other produce to sell, he may favour those most; and Mr. Harden, being a brother squatter on the adjoining run, where the selectors have selected a great portion of his run much to his annoyance, it is well known he is not in favour of any selector. I need not expect any justice through those two parties.

Sir, by those two parties being called upon to be present when Mr. Cooper was here, it shows that it is a one-sided affair on behalf of Messrs. Dewhurst and company, or those that had Messrs. Sinclair and Harden brought here.

Sir, trusting this will meet with your kind and earliest attention,—

Sir,

See enclosure.

Enclosed I forward you a letter which I received from a Mr. David Roberts, a selector on the Manilla Run, near Tamworth.

He states that he is being done out of his selection, and that Mr. Dewhurst has an interest in the station.

I do not know the man or anything of his case, but if what he states is true he has good grounds to complain, and I have the honor to request that you will cause an inquiry to be made into his case by the proper officer.

[Enclosure in No. 62.]

Mr. D. Roberts to J. McElhone, Esq., M.L.A.

Sir,

Hall's Creek, 25 January, 1876.

Necessity compels me to write to you in reference to my conditional purchase, which I selected on Cuerindie Run, on the 25th of September, 1873, on the east side of the station.

Sir, there are reports sent in to the Lands Office by Messrs. Surveyors Dewhurst and Elliott that my c.r. interferes with the station improvements; the same I have objected to on the grounds that at the time of my application the land was vacant, and previous to my application W. B. Lucas had 320 acres cancelled through the virtue of the station improvements being sufficient to bar it from being selected, and that the lessees of this station had no land secured according to the Act. Sir, I am furnished with a sketch of the plan of this station, and it shows that there is only £167 worth of improvements on the west side, that is the land that W. B. Lucas selected, and they have left £332 worth of improvements on the side I selected. Sir, I have frequently written to the Minister for Lands about it, and last July I received a letter from the Lands Department

See No. 45.

Department saying that the Government had appointed a Mr. Robert Cooper to hold a Court of inquiry about it, and that he was to acquaint me when and where he was to hold a Court of inquiry, of which I never received any notice whatever from him; but I am informed that he was here some time back, and that a Mr. Harden, a squatter, and a Mr. D. Sinclair, an auctioneer from Tamworth, was here with him, so it seems to me that I am not to have any justice in the matter, and also it appears that it is a one-sided affair on behalf of the parties interested in this station.

Sir, it is well known by all the neighbours here that the whole of the improvements on this station were not worth £250 at the time of our application, that is W. B. Lucas's and mine.

Sir, I have made this my bona fide home since the 1st of October, 1873.

Sir, I consider that I have had no justice shown me in the matter referred to, as Mr. Surveyor Dewhurst had an interest in this station when I selected on this run, and likewise when I consider the parties that were brought here at the time that Mr. R. Cooper was here, for Mr. Harden is very much annoyed at the selectors selecting on his run, which is adjoining this run, and for which I wish my case brought before the Parliament to see if there is any justice in connection with the poor man, and I beg to add that I have been cautioned not to improve the land until it was settled; this caution I received while Mr. J. S. Farnell was Minister for Lands.

Sir, my case is a very hard one, as I am only a very poor man—all that I have to depend upon is what I earn by hard work; and now to be kept two years and four months out of my land through false reports that have been sent to the Lands Department by the surveyors.

Sir, you will be kind enough to see into my case, and get it determined at once.

I have, &c.,

No. 63.

Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Honorable Sir,

Hall's Creek, 11 March, 1876.

I write to inform you that the lessees of this station are fast improving my conditional purchase, which I selected on the 25th September, 1873. I wish to know if it is by your instructions that they are doing so; and, moreover, I beg you will inform me if it is your intention to have my land determined or not, as I have held possession of it two years and five months, or am I to be baffled out of it by the influence of rich men? I am confident that I am being robbed out of it by false reports in reference to the value of the alleged improvements, when it is well known that at the date of my application there was no land secured for the station improvements.

Sir, I beg you will answer this immediately, as I am positive that you will see that the land is legally mine in any Court of justice.

I have, &c.,
DAVID ROBERTS.

I would like to know at once the position of the case.—T.G., 14/3/76.

No. 64.

Mr. D. Roberts to D. Buchanan, Esq., M.L.A.

Honorable Sir,

Hall's Creek, 18 March, 1876.

Necessity compels me to write to you in reference to my conditional purchase which I selected on 25th September, 1873. I selected 300 acres on Cuerindi Run. At the date of my application Surveyor A. Dewhurst had an interest in this station, and through Messrs. Surveyors A. Dewhurst and A. Elliott's reports my land has not been surveyed, on the ground that I interfere with the station improvements. Sir, at the date of my application the lessees of this run had no land secured for the homestead, and just previous to my application there was 520 acres cancelled on the west side of the station improvements, through the station improvements being of sufficient value to bar it from selection, and now they want to bring to bear the same improvements to cancel mine, which I consider is illegal. Sir, I will enclose the sketch of the plan of the head station; it will show you the land that I selected (my land is on the east side of the station) and the value of all the improvements. The fence has been erected long after I selected the land, so you will see that it is a one-sided affair on behalf of the lessees. Sir, I beg to state that I have been cautioned by the Lands Department not to improve my land until it is determined, so that the lessees have the use of the land in running their sheep on it; and further, I have been residing continuously on the land two years and five months, under great expense and anxiety too. I think I have a good case for an action, and if you think that there is, what will you charge to conduct it? but I am not in a position to have it brought into Court if you think I will be the loser, for I am only a poor man working for my living. I consider that through my land not being determined that I have lost the produce of it for two years, to the amount of £1,000. Sir, the improvements at the homestead are not worth £499 at the date of my application, but they want to secure 820 acres for it; and also I beg to inform you that I have had legal advice on it, and the lawyer says I cannot be legally ejected from the land.

I have, &c.,
DAVID ROBERTS.

Handed to me by Mr. Buchanan.—T.G.

Have the necessary steps been taken to have the improvements appraised, and if so, in what stage is the matter?—T.G., 13/5/76.

Yes; the improvements were appraised by Mr. Licensed Surveyor Cooper, and valued at £618. The papers are now under reference to Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott.—5/4/76. J.E., 16/5/76.

Inform Mr. Buchanan.—T.G., 1 June, 1876.

[Enclosure in No. 64.]

Sir,

You will see by this sketch that they have divided the improvements; they have only left £167 worth of improvements on the side that W. B. Lucas selected. Lucas selected 520 acres, which was cancelled through the improvements being sufficient to bar it from selection. Similar to tracing enclosed in No. 24.

The improvements which is alleged that my land interferes with are—No. 2, a small store, £12; No. 3, a small bark shed, £2; No. 4, walled in with bark and palings, £3; No. 5 is composed of one growing tree for a post, three saplings, and six sheets of bark, 12s.; No. 6, a shed for two horses to stand under, £2; No. 7, dwelling-house and garden, £80; No. 8 has a back kitchen, £10. The fence has been erected since I selected the land. Sir, I received a letter from the Lands Department last July, to say that the Government had appointed Mr. Walter Cooper to hold a Court of inquiry, and he was to acquaint me when and where he would hold a Court of inquiry, but he has not done it yet. You will be kind enough to return me the sketch. See No. 45.

Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Tamworth, 20 March, 1876.

I have the honor to return herewith an application made by Messrs. Dangar, Gedye, & Co. for 640 acres, in virtue of improvements at Cuerindi Head Station, your instructions to measure which were sent to me under B.C., dated 11th February, 1876.

A portion of the land applied for is at present occupied by David Roberts, who has selected 300 acres adjoining the head station.

The former occupants of Cuerindie Run protested against this selection of Roberts's, and the improvements by your instructions were valued by myself. As I heard nothing further from you in the matter, and David Roberts informs me he has received no notice of the cancellation of his selection, I considered it best to delay the measurement of the 640 acres till I received your advice upon the matter.

For full particulars of this case, papers, &c., I beg to refer you to my letter dated 5th September, 1874.

I have, &c.,

ARNOLD ELLIOTT.

The improvements were again appraised by Mr. Licensed Surveyor Cooper, 10th August 1875, on which occasion the services of two appraisers were called in, in accordance with the regulations referring to such cases. The papers were forwarded 2nd September, 1875.—March 20th, 1876.

Hall's Creek, 8 April, 1876.

I have this day received your letter, dated 31st March, 1876, that my conditional purchase is cancelled, and that the improvements to have been worth £618. Now I am positive they are not worth £300, and admitting that they are worth £618, that's not sufficient to cancel 820 acres, and it still leaves 202 acres available, which I want, and I beg to inform you that I have cleared off a great deal of timber off the land in question. Sir, all that I want is justice, and I demand it, for it is well known in this neighbourhood that at the time of my application that the improvements were not worth £300.

Sir, you will be kind enough to reply to this by return of post, and also send me the full particulars of what improvements was taken into consideration, and how much land the lessees is legally entitled to.

We, the undersigned, residents and free selectors of Cuerindie Run, humbly beg to bring under your notice the injustice that has been shown towards David Roberts, and the inconvenience he has been forced to submit to through the delay of his conditional purchase not being surveyed and decided before this; and we beg to state that previous to D. Roberts's application of 300 acres, which he selected on Cuerindie Run, on the east side of the head station, on the 25th of September, 1873, that that W. B. Lucas's conditional purchase of 320 acres (on the west side of the head station) was cancelled by virtue of the same improvements that are now brought to bear to cancel D. Roberts's.

Sir, we positively declare that at the date of D. Roberts's application the whole of the improvements on Cuerindie Head Station were not worth £400.

Sir,

Sydney, 26 June, 1876.

Enclosed I have the honor to send you a petition in reference to David Roberts's selection. I would call your special attention to the statement made that the lessee of Cuerindie Run has already been allowed to take 320 acres in virtue of improvements, being a selection of W. B. Lucas's, and he is now claiming D. Roberts's selection of 300 acres, made on 25th September, 1873. The lessee of the run under the old Act could not claim over 320 acres for improvements in one block, and so cannot take Roberts's selection under the improvement clause.

I would beg to call your attention to the fact that, although Roberts selected nearly three years ago, his selection is not yet surveyed; and as this is a great hardship and injustice to the man, I have the honor to request you will give a decision in this case with as little delay as possible, and give the necessary instructions to have Roberts's selection surveyed with as little delay as possible.

B. Lucas's conditional purchase of 320 acres, which was cancelled for the improvements previous to my application, and now they have brought to bear the very same improvements to cancel mine, which I object to. Sir, you will have the goodness to inform me is it because that I selected on Mr. Surveyor Arthur Dewhurst's (our District Surveyor) run that my conditional purchase is to be cancelled; if so, I am legally informed that my conditional purchase cannot be cancelled. I am requested by the person noted in the margin to apply that his case may be sent on for inquiry at the next Court to be holden at Manilla or Tamworth before Commissioner J. Delaney.

This case was, some two years ago, ordered to be sent on for appraisalment, but such has not as yet been carried out. There are many letters, papers, and other documents connected with this case in the Department that will justify the request asked.

No. 76.

Mr. D. Roberts to The Minister for Lands.

Honorable Sir,

Hall's Creek, 12 August, 1876.

I beg to inform you that I saw Mr. Licensed Surveyor Elliott on the 11th instant. He informed me that he has not received any instructions to survey my conditional purchase, which I selected on Cuerindie Run on the 25th September, 1873, which I consider is a very hard case, as I have been a bona fide resident on the said land, and I have been put to a very great inconvenience and unnecessary expense through my land not being surveyed. I beg to inform you that I have been legally informed that the lessees of Cuerindie Run had no land secured for the head station previous to my application, only the 320 acres that W. B. Lucas selected. Previous to my application, W. B. Lucas's application was cancelled through the virtue of the improvements, as the said land embraced the head station improvements; and also that the lessees are only entitled to 320 acres by the old Act, and I selected under the old Act, so that I am entitled to the land that I selected.

You will have the kindness to give this your immediate attention, as the surveyor is here on the ground, so that he could survey it at once, as I am anxious to improve it, as I have been under a very great expense through my land not being surveyed, and it is very hard when it is well known that the land was vacant at the date of my application.

No. 77.

Memorandum by Mr. Thompson, and decision of Minister.

The Minister instructed me to look into this case at the instance of Mr. Hanley Bennett, who is acting in the interests of the free selector, Mr. Roberts. The case as regards Roberts is as follows, and belongs to the Alienation Branch:—

Roberts selected 300 acres on Hall's Creek, on the 25th September, 1873, and the selection was protested against by the pastoral lessee, on the plea that the land contained improvements sufficient to bar selection. The question was submitted to appraisalment, and determined in favour of the pastoral lessee and against Roberts. The cancellation of his conditional purchase, which had been previously made, therefore stood, and of this Roberts was apprised on the 31st March last.

Mr. Buchanan, M.P., to whom Roberts represented the case, was also informed to similar effect on the 30th June, 1876.

Mr. Roberts, by recent letters and through Mr. Hanley Bennett, urges a further consideration of his case; but the appraisalment, which seems to be regular, having determined the case against Roberts, the Government cannot, I imagine, interfere further.

Moreover, the lessees, Messrs. Dangar, Gedye, & Co., have applied in virtue of head station improvements for 640 acres, embracing this land. Their application has not been dealt with further than being referred to the surveyor, who has twice returned it for further instructions, apparently at the instance of Roberts, who at the time had not been informed of the result of the appraisalment.

The Under Secretary for Lands.

L.G.T., 23/8/76.

I do not see my way to take any further action in this matter at present. The application to purchase the 640 acres should go on in the usual way, and Roberts may be so apprised.—T.G., 7/9/76.

Sir,

Hall's Creek, 2 September, 1876.

Referring to my conditional purchase of 300 acres which I selected on Cucerindie Run, on 25th September, 1873, and the manner it has been conducted through the influence and the personal interest that Mr. District Surveyor A. Dewhurst had in the station at the time that I selected on his run, it shows the injustice that I have received in connection with my conditional purchase, and that it has been a one-sided affair on behalf of the lessees.

Sir, I beg you will bear in mind that I selected under the old Act, not under the new Amendment Act. I beg you will cause it to be decided under the old Act of 1861.

Sir, the lessees at the date of my application were only entitled to 320 acres for the homestead improvements, which they secured by cancelling W. B. Lucas's conditional purchase of 320 acres previous to my application.

Sir, I request you will instruct the surveyor to survey my conditional purchase at once, as the lessees are cutting, removing, and destroying the timber on my selection with impunity, and defying my caution.

Sir,

Tamworth, 9 October, 1876.

In reply to yours of date 19 ultimo, with reference to Mr. David Roberts, Manilla, who made a conditional purchase of 300 acres, at Tamworth, on the 26th September, 1873, in which you are made to state that you cannot see your way clear to interfere in the matter any further, as Roberts's claim has become void in consequence of the same having been improved sufficient at the time of Roberts's application to bar selection. Such was not the case, if I am to believe Roberts and others who are prepared to make oath to that effect. However, Roberts acting under my advice, will not give up the land unless the appraisement is carried out, for which the usual fee was paid by him, or that the case is sent on to the Commissioner's Court of Inquiry, where all persons living in the locality knowing everything in connection with the case can be called by Roberts, and upon the sworn testimony of all parties concerned the case may be given for or against him. No. 80.

It must also be remembered that Roberts made his selection at the time when 320 acres was the area only allowed on the ground of improvement made by lessees, no matter what amount of improvements were erected.

But I perceive from your letter that the officers are labouring under the delusion that the same privilege existed under the the Act of 1861 as under the Act of 1875.

I have instructed Roberts to furnish me with a petition, addressed to His Excellency, detailing the whole facts of his case, on the reassembling of Parliament; in the meantime, I trust you will not grant the applications referred to in yours of the above date. A reply to this correspondence, at your earliest, will oblige,—

Sir,

Crown Lands Office, Sydney, 3 May, 1855.

See No. 1.

See No. 4.

I have the honor to transmit the enclosed application of Mr. T. H. Mate to purchase two sections of land on Tarcutta Creek, in the district of Murrumbidgee, together with the report of Mr. Commissioner Lockhart thereon, and I beg to request that the same may be disposed of in due course.

I have, &c.,

GEO. BARNEY,

Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Charted on Murrumbidgee map. The application is to purchase land on each side of the creek containing the improvements at Umutbee and Tonga. The former are within the Umutbee Reserve, where Mr. Mate applied within the 12 months to purchase 320 acres, but which has not yet been measured. The reserve being now indefeasible, the present application cannot be allowed to interfere with it, and Mr. Parkinson may therefore be told to measure both the 640 acres beyond the reserve, a *tracing showing which is enclosed.—A.G.M., 17.

*Not with papers.

The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands to Mr. T. H. Mate.

Sir,

Crown Lands Office, Sydney, 3 May, 1855.

I have the honor to inform you that your application of the 15th March last, to purchase land ^{See No. 1.} on Tarcutta Creek, in the district of Murrumbidgee, together with the report of Mr. Commissioner ^{See No. 4.} Lockhart thereon, has this day been forwarded to the Surveyor General for disposal.

I have, &c.,
GEO. BARNEY,
Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

No. 8.

The Surveyor General to Mr. Licensed-Surveyor Parkinson.

Sir,

Surveyor General's Office, Sydney, 29 May, 1855.

Mr. T. H. Mate having applied to purchase, according to the annexed description, two sections of his licensed run called Umutbee and Tonga, you will measure and mark out the land so applied for in strict accordance with the Regulations, and forward to me a plan and description thereof, together with a report as to its mineral indications.

2. If you should consider that the land as measured is of a higher value than £1 per acre you will report the same to me, and place yourself in communication with the local Commissioner, and afford to him such information as may be necessary to enable him to have the value of the land assessed, and you will report again as to what the result may be of such assessment.

3. You will take care on no account to infringe on the Umutbee Reserve (which is now indefeasible), the position of which is shown by the enclosed tracing.

I have, &c.,
T. L. MITCHELL.

Description:

Two sections on the east and west banks of the Tarcutta Creek so as to include the improvements.

No. 9.

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

Tarcutta, 26 June, 1856.

I have the honor to request permission to purchase two sections of land on the east and two sections on the west banks of the Tarcutta Creek, more or less, to include certain stations and lines, being a portion of the Oberne Reserve, situated on my run, known as Umutbee and Tonga, in the district of Murrumbidgee.

I have, &c.,
THOMAS H. MATE.

No. 10.

Mr. Acting Assistant Commissioner Lynch to Mr. T. H. Mate.

Sir,

Murrumbidgee District, Crown Lands Office, 30 July, 1856.

I do myself the honor to inform you that I have received from the Chief Office your application to purchase two sections on the east and two on the west banks of Tarcutta Creek, under pre-emptive right, over Umutbee and Tonga Runs, in this district, being portions of the Oberne Reserve, and that I have been called upon to report thereon.

Prior to my doing so, I would feel obliged by you favouring me with a more defined description. I won't warn you that it will be necessary to take the land from the "newly proclaimed reserve" as the original would be now indefeasible, and any selection thereon it would become my duty to report against.

I have, &c.,
R. LYNCH,
Acting Assistant Commissioner.

No. 11.

No. 11.

Mr. Licensed-Surveyor Parkinson to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Mulwala, 21 November, 1856.

See No. 8.

Referring to your letter, dated 29th May, 1855, instructing me to measure two sections of land on the east and west banks of the Tarcutta Creek, applied for to purchase by T. H. Mate, in right of his runs called Umutbee and Tonga,—

Not with papers.

2. I have the honor to transmit herewith a description and plan of 2,900 acres (two thousand nine hundred acres), which I have measured in one block, to include two sheep stations and improvements leased by Mr. Mate.

This land is embraced within the Oberne Reserve, and situated at the confluence of the Umbango Creek with the Tarcutta Swamp, taking in a large portion of reedy swamp and boggy land, subject to the annual inundation; about (800 acres) eight hundred acres are suitable for agricultural purposes, the remaining portion is only calculated for pasture. I could not discover any traces of minerals upon the land measured, and do not consider it worth more than 20s. per acre.

I have, &c.,

SAM. PARKINSON.

This measurement is made by Mr. Parkinson on an application dated 15th March, 1855, to purchase two sections of land on the east and west banks of Tarcutta Creek, so as to include the improvements on the run of Umutbee and Tonga. The measurement is within the Oberne Reserve, which was proclaimed in July, 1855, with liability to defeat within a year, but 1,280 acres is the full extent applied for, and which can be allowed to Mr. Mate within that reserve. The improvements at Umutbee are purchased under another application, but there are improvements at Tonga which are part of the improvements referred to in the application, and it is questionable whether Mr. Mate should not be obliged to take one section there, thereby leaving only one section to be taken in defeat of the reserve, in the absence of a definite description by him of the locality applied for, and of any renewal or explanation of his application after the proclamation of the reserve.—A.G.M., 2 January, 1857.

In the first place communicate with Mate and inform him that he can only have 1,280 acres as applied for.—G.B.

It appears to me that the best course would be to cancel Mr. Parkinson's unauthorized measurement, disallow his charge for having made it, and insist on remeasurement, in strict obedience to the instructions which he has received.—G.B.

The area of 2,900 acres, as mentioned by Mr. Parkinson, doubtless at Mr. Mate's request, and being within the Oberne Reserve, cannot be allowed as a pre-emptive purchase by Mate. Mr. Mate's application for 1,280 acres was made previously to the proclamation of the Oberne Reserve, and as the locality is ill defined in the application it may be interpreted to be for a portion of that reserve, which may therefore be defeated to that extent, but no further. If Mr. Mate is content to take 1,280 acres in the reserve, or any less quantity, Mr. Parkinson will be instructed to survey.—A.G.M.

[Enclosure to No. 11.]

DESCRIPTION of two thousand nine hundred and sixteen acres, within the Oberne Reserve, applied for as a pre-emptive purchase by Thomas H. Mate, in right of his licensed runs of Umutbee and Tonga, in the district of Murrumbidgee (unsettled):—

2,916 acres. County of Wynyard, parish unnamed, at the Oberne Reserve, in the district of Murrumbidgee: Commencing at a point bearing south nine degrees thirty minutes (9-30) minutes west, and distant seventeen chains twenty-three (17-23) links from the south-east corner of the Umbango Creek Sheep Station Hut; and bounded thence on part of the south by a line bearing east one hundred and sixty (160) chains; on the east by a line bearing north (163) one hundred and sixty-three chains; on the north by a line bearing west one hundred and eighty (180) chains to a stake on Tarcutta Creek, bearing south 41 degrees 15 minutes east, and distant 190 chains from the south-east corner of the Umutbee Reserve; thence on the west by a line bearing south one hundred and sixty-three (163) chains; and again on the south by a line bearing east twenty (20) chains to the point of commencement. Exclusively of 18 acres, which have been deducted from the total area, for a road 1 chain wide, from Umutbee to Oberne and Tumut, passing through this land in a southerly south-easterly direction. Value to be assessed. Cost of survey not charged.

Transmitted to the Surveyor General with my plan and letter dated 21st November, 1856.

SAM. PARKINSON,

Licensed Surveyor.

No. 12.

The Surveyor General to Mr. T. H. Mate.

Sir,

Surveyor General's Office, Sydney, 19 January, 1857.

See No. 8.

I have to inform you that instructions were on the 29th May, 1855, issued to Mr. Licensed-Surveyor Parkinson for the measurement of two sections of the Umutbee Run, applied for in your letter of the 15th March preceding, and that in reference to these instructions Mr. Parkinson has made a survey of 2,900 acres, which is of course a proceeding unauthorized.

See No. 1.

2. As Mr. Parkinson has not offered any reason for disobeying instructions, it is inferred that it was at your request that he measured the 2,900 acres, which being within the Oberne Reserve cannot be allowed as a pre-emptive purchase by you.

3. Since, however, your application referred to was made previously to the date of the proclamation of the reserve you will be permitted to purchase to the extent of 1,280 acres, and on receipt of your reply to this communication Mr. Parkinson will be further instructed.

No. 13.

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Tarcutta, 28 January, 1857.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th instant, informing me ^{No. 12} that instructions were on the 29th May, 1855, issued to Mr. Licensed-Surveyor Parkinson for the measurement of two sections of the Umutbee Run, applied for by me on the 15th March preceding, and that Mr. Parkinson had made an unauthorized survey of 2,900 acres; and 2ndly. As Mr. Parkinson has not offered any reason for disobeying instructions it is inferred that it was at my request that he measured the 2,900 acres, which being within the Oberne Reserve cannot be allowed as a pre-emptive purchase by me.

In reply, I beg to inform you that when Mr. Parkinson came to measure the land I told him that I had applied for two sections on the east and west banks of the Tarcutta Creek, and that I wished the two stations, which I pointed out to Mr. Parkinson, to be included in one square block; that such was the meaning I intended to convey in my application of 15th March, 1855, which at the time I considered a sufficiently accurate description of the portion of my licensed run I wished to purchase. Had I merely intended two sections only I should have described it as one section on the east and west banks, believing the description sufficient for the application, but I was well aware that one section on the west bank would not comprise the station I wished to be included. And as my application stated to comprise certain improvements thereon I think it may be fairly presumed that I intended more than two sections.

As it appears solely through an unintentional indefinite description my application of 15th March, 1855, has been taken to mean two sections only, I trust my statement will be sufficient to show my original meaning of that application, and that the survey now made may be allowed.

I have, &c.,

THOS. H. MATE.

I suppose Mr. Mate is the best exponent of his own meaning, but the question still remains whether he can be allowed to purchase to the extent he desires.—3 Feb.

Under the Chief Commissioner's decision I presume descriptions will be forwarded to me.—5 February.

I feel it my duty in this case to say that in my opinion a greater quantity than 1,280 acres, (approximately) of the Oberne Reserve cannot be sold to Mr. Mate, under pre-emptive right, without the special sanction of the Secretary for Lands and Public Works. In fact, looking to the precedent of the Bumbo Run, at Boat-Alley, the purchase of any portion by Mr. Mate may be open to some question. The Oberne Reserve was proclaimed on the 4th July, 1855, but was liable to defeat by applications under pre-emptive right, if made within one year of the proclamation. No such applications were made within the year, and, therefore, by the letter of the proclamation the reserve became indefeasible, and although an application made previously to the proclamation of the intention to reserve may, in accordance with the spirit of the proclamation, be entertained (it being admitted to apply to a portion of the reserve although not definitely so stated) the area stated in that application is the full extent to which, as it appears to me, the reserve can be defeated without special authority. Mr. Mate's application will scarcely bear the interpretation which he now puts on it, that he meant four sections. Mr. Lockhart understood it to mean two only, and it was so understood in this office. It may be remarked that the improvements on the 2,900 acres measured are two existing and one old sheep station, huts, and yards.—A.G.M., 10 Feb.

It may be as well to refer the matter to the Secretary for Lands and Public Works for decision.—G.B., 10 Feb.

No. 14.

The Under Secretary for Lands and Public Works to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Department of Lands and Public Works, Sydney, 27 February, 1857.

In reference to your letter of 16th instant on the subject of an application made by Mr. T. H. Mate to purchase under his pre-emptive right a certain portion of his Umutbee Run, I am directed to inform you that there does not appear to be any sufficient reason for refusing Mr. Mate's pre-emption to the larger extent claimed. If his application would cover it there was no occasion for a second application to defeat the reserve at Oberne in which the land desired is situated, and in judging how far it may fairly be taken to do so the intention of the applicant must be considered, and it seems that Mr. Mate's intention is very clear, from his instructing the surveyor to measure the larger quantity, while yet the reserve was defeasible (as from the dates appear to be probable) although this does not clearly appear. If there be no particular ground for withholding these sections from sale for the protection of the public the Secretary for Lands and Public Works sees nothing in the circumstances stated to render it proper to do so.

ESTIMATE of the value of a block of land, consisting of 2,916 acres, situated on the Oberne Reserve, applied for under his pre-emptive right of purchase by Mr. T. H. Mate, of Umutbee and Tonga Stations, in the district of Murrumbidgee.

I, the applicant for the above described block of land, in virtue of my pre-emptive right of purchase, on Umutbee and Tonga Stations, in the Murrumbidgee District, have requested Mr. John Smith, of Kyeamba, to act, and do hereby authorize him acting as valuator in my behalf in estimating the value of the same.

No. 23.

Memorandum by The Surveyor General.

Mr. Mate informs me, that before the proclamation of the Oberne Reserve he applied for the pre-emptive purchase of two sections of land now within that reserve. Date of application, March 15th, 1855. See No. 1.

That after the proclamation, and while the reserve was open to defeat, he applied (dated June 26/56) See No. 2. to purchase four sections in defeat, making in all six sections.

That he has only as yet purchased four sections, and now desires to purchase the remaining two sections, and that they be now excepted from conditional purchase by instructions to the agent.

In Mr. Mate's letter of January 28th, 1857, in which the application for four sections was satisfied, See No. 13. thus leaving the application of March, 1855, still unsatisfied.

A.G.M., 21 July, 1862.

Mr. Mate will call to hear result in a week.

The application of the 15th March, 1855, was for two sections subsequently embraced by the Oberne Reserve. The letter of the 28th January, 1857, is Mr. Mate's explanation, that he intended to apply for the four sections which at his instance Mr. Parkinson measured, on instructions which were for the survey of the two sections only, and on this explanation the Secretary for Lands approved of Mr. Mate's being allowed the larger quantity.—24th February. It appears from the register that Mr. Mate applied for two sections more on the 26th June, 1856. This application, which was made about the time Mr. Parkinson was measuring the four sections, and while the reserve was open to defeat, has not been returned by the Commissioner, so that it cannot be determined whether it referred to part of the land measured, or to two sections not included in the survey. In the latter case Mr. Mate will, I apprehend, have a claim to purchase the two additional sections. Perhaps the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands will take measures to have the application of 26th June, 1856, which it appears was never returned by Mr. Commissioner Lockhart, dealt with.—A.G.M., 25 July, 1862. Request Mr. Lockhart to have this document forwarded.—29 July.

No. 30.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands, Murrumbidgee, to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

Murrumbidgee District, Crown Lands Office, 7 October, 1863.

It appears from a letter addressed to me by you, under date of the 10th June, 1863, that on the 8th of August, 1862, you had ordered me to forward an application from Mr. Mate to purchase two sections of land at Tarcutta, which application had been forwarded to me for my report on 8th July, 1856.

In reply, I do myself the honor to state that if such application be yet in my possession it must be mislaid amongst papers at the late office at Tumut. As I am proceeding thither in a very short time, for the purpose of removing all records and documents which will have to be severally examined, should the application be there it will be recovered doubtless.

There is a strong impression in my mind, however, that the application was dealt with, and duly returned to the office in Sydney. I have not access at present to the letter book which would confirm this impression, but I do remember perfectly well marking off the two sections, and cannot think I would have done so much without following it up. There can be no doubt, however, but that Mr. Mate made due application for two sections at Tarcutta to which he was fully entitled, and of which he should receive a grant even should the original application have been lost by any "laches" of mine.

I have, &c.,

C. G. N. LOCKHART,
Commissioner for Crown Lands.

No. 31.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands, Murrumbidgee, to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

Murrumbidgee District, Crown Lands Office, 7 October, 1863.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 9th September, 1863, ^{See No. 27.} asking me to explain, for the information of the Hon. the Minister for Lands, why I did not attend to your letter of 8th August, 1862, and to your reminder of 10 June last, respecting an application from ^{See Nos. 24 and 25} Mr. Mate to purchase two sections of land at Tarcutta.

In reply, I do myself the honor to declare most pointedly that to the best of my knowledge and belief your letter of 8th August, 1862, never reached me, I have not any recollection of it, and it is most certainly not on the file of letters which have not been acted on.

The first I heard of this letter was from Mr. Pretious, Chief Clerk in your office, who informed me in April last that such a letter had been written and that Mr. Mate was moving in the matter; I stated then to that gentleman what I now state in a separate report. My reason for not replying to the reminder of June 10th last was simply that I might be in a position, after a visit to Tumut, to reply decidedly on the subject. That visit has been delayed by the floods preventing the progress of indispensable business near Moulamein.

I have, &c.,

C. G. N. LOCKHART,
Commissioner for Crown Lands.

INFORM Mr. Lockhart that it is of the utmost importance that the application referred to should be found, and re-transmitted, inasmuch as the land to which it extended is liable under present circumstances to be at any time applied for under conditional selection, and further complications must of necessity arise in the event of such a contingency arising. It seems probable that the application has been overlooked by Mr. Lockhart, under an impression that the land was a portion of that 2,916 acres which has since been sold to Mr. Mate in satisfaction of application dated 15th March, 1855. The latter, it may be stated, though so expressed as to include apparently but two sections was, under Mr. Mate's explanation, and by the authority of the Government, admitted and disposed of as extending to the whole area purchased. The present question is as to the further application, dated 26 June, 1856 (and received within the prescribed period for defeat of the reserve), for a further purchase of two sections, and it does not appear that any action has taken place with reference to this subsequently to its transmission for Mr. Lockhart's report, under date 8th July, 1856.

Send also a copy of Mr. Mate's letter, dated 18th ultimo, giving the particulars of the land which the mislaid application was meant to enclose, and request that in the event of Mr. Lockhart being unable to forward the original he will compare these particulars with any number that he has retained showing the sections, which as stated in his separate report of 7th instant he marked off, so that their identity may be established.

Request Mr. Lockhart to communicate with whoever has been left in the charge of his office documents at Tumut, in order that the matter may be arranged without any delay. Looking to the time that has already been lost, and to the urgency of the case, I shall, in the event of failing to procure the requisite documents or particulars speedily, through the Commissioner's agency be under the necessity of sending an officer to Tumut to obtain them from among the records remaining at that place.

A.O.M., 20 October, /63.

Request Mr. Lockhart to attend to this matter directly on his return to Tumut.—20 November, 1863.

Sir,

Crown Lands Occupation Office, Sydney, 22 October, 1863.

With reference to your letter of the 7th instant, respecting Mr. Mate's application to purchase ^{No. 31.} two sections at Tarcutta Creek, under pre-emptive right, I have the honor to inform you that it is of the utmost importance that the application referred to should be found and re-transmitted, inasmuch as the land

I beg to forward you herewith a copy of a letter addressed to me by Mr. Mate on the 18th ultimo, giving the particulars of the land which the mislaid application was meant to embrace, and I have to request that in the event of your being unable to forward the original you will be good enough to compare these particulars with any memorandum you may have retained, showing the sections which, as stated in your separate report of 7th instant, you marked off, so that their identity may be established. Application by Mr. P. Nugent.

APPLICATION for the conditional purchase of unimproved land without competition, by Patrick Nugent, of Umbango, near Tarcutta, received with deposit, this 7th day of April, 1864, at 1 o'clock, by Edwin H. Tompson, Land Agent at Wagga Wagga District.

Sir,

Wagga Wagga, 7 April, 1864.

I desire to purchase under the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861" without competition, the portion of unimproved Crown land hereunder described; and I tender herewith a deposit of five (5) shillings per acre on the area for which I apply.

I am, &c.,

PATRICK NUGENT.

The Crown Lands Agent, Wagga Wagga.

Description.

County of Wynyard, parish unnamed, 120 acres, situated on Tarcutta Creek: Commencing on the west bank of Tarcutta Creek, at the northern boundary of Mr. Thomas Mate's 2,916 acres, 60 chains west, 20 chains north, 60 chains east to the creek, and 20 chains south to the point of commencement.

Nugent's application returned to the Surveyor General, the land applied for being now included in a portion measured for Mr. Mate in right of his Umutbee and Tonga Run, Murrumbidgee District.—J.H.W., Albany, 8 June, 1865. Mr. Fitzgerald. Should be cancelled.—E.S., 9/9/65.

Sir,

Sydney, 23 April, 1864.

Since my last interview with you, respecting my application to purchase a portion of my run, I have received a copy of the application made by me, which I herewith enclose, and come with to certify on oath if required that to the best of my knowledge and belief the same is a true copy.

I am, &c.,

THOMAS H. MATE.

Submitted for the commands of the Honorable the Minister for Lands.

The Oberon Reserve was notified in the Gazette on the 4th July, with an intimation that the lessee of the land might, within twelve months thereafter, defeat the proposed reservation, by the purchase of the whole or part of the land.

Mr.

See No. 28.

See No. 9.

Mr. Mate had previously applied to purchase portions (which have since been alienated to him), and he also on the 26th June, 1856 (that is, within the specified period of twelve months), made a further application, which was duly received and forwarded to the District Commissioner to be reported on, but cannot be traced further.

With respect to this last-mentioned application Mr. Mate has made several representations since the month of July, 1862, and in the following month I wrote to Mr. Lockhart to return the original application. In his last communication on the subject (7th October, 1863) Mr. Lockhart promised to make search for it among the papers in his late office at Tumut, when arranging them for removal to Deniliquin, but although this gentleman left Sydney about two months since, under an understanding with me that he was to return to his district by way of Tumut with a view to the transfer of his office records, and the transaction of other business in that part of the district, I have not since heard from him in reference to the matter, or indeed any other. See No. 31.

Mr. Mate has now supplied a copy of his application of 26 June, 1856, and also attested by a declaration before a magistrate the particulars of the land thereby designed to be purchased. Having regard to the special circumstances of the case, I respectfully recommend that the application be now dealt with in the ordinary course, as made within the stipulated period for defeat of the reserve.

A.O.M., 25 May, 1864.

Approved.—J.B.W., 27 May. Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.—M.F., B.C., 27 May.

Sir,

Crown Lands Occupation Office, Sydney, 7 June, 1864.

In reply to your letter of the 23rd April last, and with reference to your declaration subsequently lodged of the particulars of certain land applied for by you under pre-emptive right, at Tarcutta, by letter dated 26th of June, 1856, I have the honor to inform you that the Honorable the Minister for Lands, having regard to the special circumstances of the case, has been pleased to direct that your application shall now be dealt with in the ordinary course, and the matter has been referred to the Surveyor General for disposal. See No. 35.

I have, &c.,
A. O. MORIARTY.

No. 38.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands, Murrumbidgee, to The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

Murrumbidgee District, Crown Lands Office, 1 August, 1864.

In your letter to me of the 22nd October, 1863, you do me the honor to point out the necessity of obtaining the original application made by Mr. T. H. Mate for land which he wished to purchase under pre-emptive right out of the Tarcutta Reserve, which application had been forwarded to me for report on 8th July, 1856. See No. 32.

I now do myself the honor to forward the original application so sent for my report. On reference to the letter books and other documents which have now arrived here from Tumut, it appears that on July 30th, 1856, that is immediately after receipt of your order to report, I attempted to place myself in communication with Mr. Mate on the subject. I addressed him in a letter, begging for more detailed information as to where he required the land, pointing out to him the difference between the two reserves. Similar to No. 9.

To that letter I never received any reply. I do not know even now where he wishes to have the land. It appears that so early as 1856 I wished Mr. Mate to do that which he did at your request on 18th September, 1863. Had he done so, there would have been none of this misunderstanding in the matter. It does not appear even now at all clear to me where this land applied for is situated. If it be on the extended reserve he has a right to get it; if it be on the old original reserve, then when that application was made that reserve had become indefeasible. See No. 23.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART,
Crown Lands Commissioner.

No. 39.

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Surveyor General.

Sir, Tarcutta, 9 August, 1864.
I beg to inform you that the (120) one hundred and twenty acres of land selected on the Tarcutta Creek by Patrick Nugent, comprises a portion of land applied for by me in virtue of my pre-emptive right. I also beg to state that Nugent was apprised by me, prior to his selection, that I have applied for the said land. I have, &c.,

THOMAS H. MATE.

Forwarded to Mr. Surveyor Wood for his report, with reference to former instructions of the 2nd July last.—W.R.D., B.C., 17 August, 1864. To be returned.

No. 40.

Mr. District-Surveyor Wood to The Surveyor General.

See No. 39.

Sir, District Survey Office, Albury, 6 September, 1864.
With reference to your blank cover memorandum of the 17th ultimo, I have the honor to inform you that the instructions for the measurement of the pre-emptive portions for Mr. Mate have been transferred to Mr. Licensed-Surveyor J. Berry, who is now absent from Albury; and not having made a copy of the description of the land applied for, I cannot at present state from memory the exact locality.

2. Nugent's conditional purchase is situated on the left bank of the Tarcutta Creek, adjoining Mr. Mate's 2,916 acres portion on the north side.

3. If it should be found, from comparing the applications, that Mr. Mate's was made prior to Nugent's, I will instruct Mr. Berry to return the latter for cancellation.

I have, &c.,

JAMES H. WOOD,

Surveyor.

Must await Berry's survey for Mate.—E.O.S., 12/10/64.

No. 41.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir, Tarcutta Creek, 1 November, 1864.
I take the liberty of writing to you, hoping that I may receive a favourable answer to this letter from you. On the 7th day of April, 1864, I paid £30 to the Land Agent at Wagga Wagga as a deposit on 120 acres of land situated on the Tarcutta Creek, and described by me as under:—To commence on the west bank of the Tarcutta Creek, at the northern boundary of Mr. T. H. Mate's 2,916 acres; then to go 60 chains west; and then to go 20 chains north; and then 60 chains east to the Tarcutta Creek; and then 20 chains up that creek to the point of commencement. As Mr. T. H. Mate has more than his purchased ground fenced in his large paddock, I cannot find his right boundary on the north line from the west to the east corner; therefore I cannot commence to fence in my land until it is properly surveyed. I applied to the Land Agent to get this done for me. In May last he wrote me word that he had no power to get the land surveyed. Perhaps I may be on the wrong ground. If so, it will ruin me and leave me very badly off. I have a wife and eight children to get a living for; the eldest child is only 10 years of age last June. On Sunday, October 23rd, 1864, I buried my mother here, aged 74 years. I am not able to shift about the country with this young family, I have lived within from 5 to 10 miles of here for the last 24 years, on Mr. T. and W. Walker's Kyamba Station. I would wish to stop in this neighbourhood the remainder of my days. I have cleared and stumped about 11 acres of the land and sown it with wheat this year. It has taken some money from me to get this done. The season was so far gone when I commenced on the place. The ground not being surveyed is now keeping me back from fencing and getting a lot of land cleared for the next year. If you could get the land surveyed for me soon I would have a good home for my family, and the land paid for in three years. If you can do anything for me I hope you will never want a friend yourself. I am not accustomed to writing letters. Pray excuse this, from your obedient servant,

PATRICK NUGENT.

P.S.—The receipt I hold for the land is No. 2727.

No. 43.

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Sydney, 1 February, 1865.

With reference to my application of June, 1856, for permission to purchase under pre-emptive rights four sections of land at Tarcutta Creek, and renewed application of September, 1863, with more detailed information; I beg to state that in November last Messrs. Berry called upon me for the expressed purpose of surveying the land. Upon my pointing out to Messrs. Berry the third portion, viz., 320 acres, on the left bank of Tarcutta Creek, north-west of my block of 2,916 acres, I was informed that they could not measure the land to include the portion I wished for without the authority of the Surveyor General. Should it appear to you, sir, that the land cannot be measured to meet my anticipations, I beg most respectfully to be allowed to increase the measurement so as to include the portion of land I intended in my application.

Messrs. Berry informed me that 320 acres would include the land I pointed out, if measured as anticipated by me. If, through any error or misconception on my part, I have not given a sufficiently accurate description of the land I sought to purchase, and when it is borne in mind that I forwarded my description at the instance of the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, when I was, distant from the locality 300 miles, I do hope that what appears common justice to me may be extended, either by increasing the land according to my anticipation, or allowing me to extend the quantity to include the same.

Considering also, sir, that this matter remaining in abeyance so long has not been through any error on my part, and believing that had the land been measured within two or three or more years after my former application I might have secured four sections of 640 acres each, I trust I may indulge the hope of a favourable consideration of my request.

I have, &c.,

THOMAS H. MATE.

P.S.—I beg also to state that I informed Patrick Nugent, the conditional selector, prior to his selection of the portion applied for by me, that I had made application for the land under my pre-emptive rights, and only awaited the surveyor to survey the same.—T.H.M.

No. 44.

Memorandum by The Surveyor General.

MR. MATE made application on 26th June, 1856, for four sections of land (two on each side of the Tarcutta Creek), situated within the Oberne Reserve, proclaimed 4th July, 1855, and open to defeat within twelve months from that date. In consequence of papers having been mislaid at the Local Crown Lands Office, the measurements were not made at that time, and in September, 1863, Mr. Mate furnished a certified copy of his application of 1856 (and at the request of the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands that he would furnish a more detailed description of the land required) modified the areas applied for to two portions of 320 acres each, and two of 160 acres each; instructions for the measurement of this land were issued on 5th July, 1864.

It appears from Mr. Mate's letter of 1st February instant, that the surveyor has refused to measure one of the above 320 acres portions in such form as to include the land which Mr. Mate intended by his applications to secure (see portions coloured red on tracing herewith), as such measurement would be contrary to the practice of the department.

*On 7th April, 1864, Patrick Nugent selected as a conditional purchase a portion of the land which Mr. Mate desired to secure (see 120 acres coloured green on tracing), although Mr. Mate states that he fully informed the selector of his prior claim to the land.

The point marked A. on the tracing, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile from the north-west corner of the 2,916 acres, was the only point fixed by the description furnished by Mr. Mate of this 320 acres in 1863, and taken as the centre of the eastern boundary thereof, the portion measured in accordance with the practice of the department would be as colored blue on tracing, and by increasing the area thereof to between 400 and 500 acres, would include the land desired by Mr. Mate.

Mr. Mate now requests to be allowed to increase the measurement so as to include the portion of land intended in his application, and he further urges that the delay in this matter of nearly nine years has not been through any error on his part, and that had the land been measured within a few years of the application, he might have secured four sections of 640 acres each.

It is therefore submitted, for the decision of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, whether Mr. Mate's original application for a section could be held in force, to the exclusion of the conditional purchaser abovenamed, from land which had it not been for the abovementioned delay Mr. Mate would have probably had no difficulty in securing, under the pre-emptive right, as at that period (should no other objection arise) the description given would not have been a bar to the measurement of any area which the lessee might desire to take, not exceeding 640 acres.

[Enclosure C to No. 44.]

CONDITIONAL Purchase application, made by Patrick Nugent on 7th April, 1864, at 1 p.m., for 120 acres at Umbango Tarcutta—Wagga Wagga. Deposit £30, paid April 13th, 1864.

Description :

County of Wynyard, parish unnamed, 120 acres, situated on Tarcutta Creek: Commencing on the west bank of Tarcutta Creek, at the northern boundary of Mr. Thomas Mate's 2,916 acres, 60 chains west, 20 chains north, 60 chains east, to the creek, and 20 chains south, to the point of commencement.

No. 45.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Hon. John Robertson.

Sir,

Tarcutta Creek, 20 February, 1865.

I take the liberty of writing to you, hoping you will send some advice how I am to act in the matter here referred to by me. On the 7th April, 1864, I went to the Land Agent at Wagga Wagga, and I paid him £30 as a deposit on 120 acres of land that I have selected on the west bank of the Tarcutta Creek, joining Mr. T. H. Mate's 2,916 acres of purchased land. I have applied to the late Minister of Lands (about last October) to have the land measured for me, as Mr. Mate told other people and me that I would not get the land. I received no answer from the Minister for Lands. On the 8th November, 1864, Mr. Berry, land surveyor, from Albury, came here with instructions to measure 320 acres of land for Mr. Mate; and if Mr. Mate's application overlapped my application, I then would have to shift on other ground, as Mate had applied some years ago for land under the pre-emptive right law, when his 320 acres were measured according to the surveyor's instructions, and according to the Land law.

Mr. Mate then saw that his claim did not overlap my selection, so he then stopped the survey of my land. The surveyor has arrived here to-day to measure 640 acres of land on the west bank of the creek, instead of the 320 acres measured in November for Mr. Mate. When the land was measured in November there were then 6 or 8 chains of a gap between Mate and me. If the 640 acres now are measured Mr. Mate will take the land from me, and my improvements. I hope that the Land law that you made to give me and the like of me a chance to make a home will not give Mate the right of throwing up his first measured land and making a second application, which I consider worse than a highwayman—the one takes my money, the other wants my labour. Also, I have lived on the next station to Mr. Mate, with Mr. John Smith, of Kyamba, for about twenty-four years, and I defy Mate to say a wrong word against me; but since I have taken up land on his run I think he would sooner see me get grog at his inn, or hemp from his store, than land on his run, for my money.

I am here over ten months; I laid out £217 cash on this place. On the 10th October I buried my mother here—it was her last request of me; she was 74 years of age. I then considered the place my own, or I would not have promised her to do so. I have a wife and eight children, the eldest but ten years old. I cannot ramble about with this family, and what wages I would get by service would not keep us independent;—this is why I want a home for them where no man may tell me to go off his land or out of his house. I hope in God that you will be able to let me stop where I am. The surveyor has a few days work on the east bank of the creek before he comes over here to measure. If you could stop the survey for a few days and inquire into this, I believe I am entitled to the land I applied for. If there are any instructions, to be sent to the surveyor; his name is Mr. T. H. Berry, licensed surveyor; at work on Tarcutta Creek, 5 miles up that creek from the post office; or, if by telegram, to the Kyamba telegraph office, with the Tarcutta directions; or if there is an answer to this for me, direct "P. Nugent, Tarcutta Creek."

This letter is already too long, but I am not in the habit of writing, so I hope you will excuse,—
Yours, &c.,

PATRICK NUGENT.

P.S.—Please to send me some word, good or bad.

Surveyor General.—M.F., B.C., 27 Feb., /65. Urge the surveyor to send in his report. Mr. Nugent should be warned that possibly his conditional purchase will be cancelled, as it may be included in Mate's application.—E.O.S.

No. 46.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Tarcutta, 10 March, 1865.

On the 20th February last I wrote you a letter, and I registered it at Adelong, hoping that you might get it the sooner, and that I might get an answer from you. As I have not as yet received an answer, I here write you again, to know what I am to do about this land that I have taken up under the 13th section of your Land Act of 1861. The land is 120 acres, on the Tarcutta Creek, county of Wynyard, parish of Oberne, on T. H. Mate's run. It appears that Mate had a claim in for land under the pre-emptive right law for some years, but he never took the land up until I had taken some; then he got Mr. Berry, surveyor, from Albury, to measure 320 acres of land—about the 8th November, 1864. When the surveyor measured the land for Mr. Mate in November, the surveyor told me that he had instructions to measure the land for me that I selected on 7th April, 1864, if Mr. Mate's application for 320 acres did not overlap my application for 120 acres when Mate's land was measured. Then there was a distance of 6 or 8 chains between Mr. Mate's land and the land that I had applied for. The surveyor then went away without measuring my land, and returned here on 20th February, 1865, to measure land again for Mr. Mate. When Mate had the land measured in November, and found it would not take in my huts and the land that I have been working at since last April, I believe he threw up his first 320 acres, and shifted about 30 chains south, so as to overlap all my land; and the huts and the land was measured for Mate on February 23rd, 1865. Now, as I have been living on and improving the land for the last eleven months—and I wrote to the Land Agent to get me the land measured, also to the late Minister for Lands,

Lands, and I have received no answer from either of them, or from any member of the Government, about this land—will you be so good as to let me know if on the 7th of April next the land is not measured for me, or if I get no word before then from the Government, will I have it in my power to get the land surveyed according to the 27th section of your Land Act of 1861;—or must I stop here idle, with a wife and eight children, for another twelve months, waiting for survey of the land?

Sir, you will oblige by answering this, if it is not against the law, to set a working-man right before he is robbed out of his time and labour.

I am, &c.,
PATRICK NUGENT.

Mr. District-Surveyor Wood to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

District Survey Office, Albury, 6 May, 1865.

I have the honor to forward herewith a sketch showing Patrick Nugent's improvements on ^{Appendix E.} the Tarcutta Creek.

I beg to inform you that on the 7th April, 1864, a selection was made by Nugent, on the Tarcutta Creek, commencing at the north-west corner of Mr. Mate's 2,916 acres, and bounded on the east by the creek, downwards; Mr. Mate also made application for a pre-emptive right of 320 acres, commencing on the west bank of the Tarcutta Creek, 40 chains from the north-west corner of his 2,916 acres, but without stating whether the east boundary was to be up or down the creek from that point. I instructed Mr. Licensed-Surveyor Berry to ascertain from Mr. Mate whether his portion was to run north or south of the starting point and to measure accordingly. Mr. Mate chose the land up the creek and has thus included in the portion the land selected by Nugent. Nugent is not resident on the land selected by him owing, as he informed me, to being misinformed by Mr. Mate as to the corner of the 2,916 acres, thinking it was near the point marked A on sketch.

Nugent's improvements I estimate to be worth about £70.

As these applications conflict, perhaps the Surveyor General will be so good as to instruct me how I am to act in this matter.

Memorandum of The Surveyor General, and Decision of The Minister for Lands.

Further in reference to the application of T. H. Mate to purchase under pre-emptive right. NUGENT, the conditional purchaser, does not reside on the land described in his application; his cultivation and fencing constituting the bulk of his improvements, valued at £13, are on land claimed by Mr. Mate; the remainder of the improvements, valued at £28, are not upon land so claimed. Mr. Mate did apply for the measurement of this land about the year 1860, and was by me (then District Surveyor) informed that I had no instructions and was referred to the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands. Mr. Mate's renewed application is dated 1863, seven months prior to the conditional purchase. Had it not been for the delay caused by the loss of the original application the land would have been measured as desired by Mr. Mate before 1860, there being at that time no restriction as to the exact position of measurements of this class unless otherwise objectionable. It is therefore submitted that the land was under contract prior to the conditional purchase which should be cancelled, and the deposit returned as in the cases of Mathews and Boller with the Twofold Bay Pastoral Association.

The Under Secretary for Lands.

P. F. ADAMS,

(For Surveyor General), 3 July, 1865.

Irrespective of the above, Mr. Mate is willing to pay the appraised value of the improvements made on the land. Under all circumstances stated, I think the deposit should be returned and the sale made to Mate on his payment for said improvements.—JOHN R. Surveyor General.—M.E., 5 July, /65.

As, under the decision of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, Mr. Mate is to be allowed to purchase^{Sec No. 53.} the land originally applied for by him, on paying to the conditional purchaser of the value of his improvements, I suppose the enclosed tracing No. 1 may be forwarded to Mr. Mate, with the request that he^{Sec No. 49.} will state whether he is satisfied with the measurement of the 320 acres as thereon shown, or whether he would desire its extension further down the creek. At the same time tracing No. 2 of 320 acres, on the opposite bank of the creek, may be forwarded to Mr. Mate for his approval. ^{Not with papers.}

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Tarcutta, 26 July, 1865.

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 17th instant, informing me of the Honorable Secretary for Lands having approved of my purchasing the land on the Oberne Run, originally applied for by me, conditionally that I pay Nugent the value of the improvements effected by him, and requesting me to state whether I will be satisfied with the measurements as shown by tracings enclosed. ^{Book containing this letter cannot be found.}

In reply, I beg to state that the measurement of the land, 320 acres, on the left bank of the creek, does not comprise all the land applied for by me. I have therefore to request that the south boundary-line may be extended, say 2 chains further south, and the north boundary-line extended further north, so as to include the points intended to be included in my original application.

I find also that the 320 acres measured on the right bank of the creek does not include the lines pointed out by me to Mr. Surveyor Berry; and I have therefore to request that the south boundary-line may be extended further south, to include the lines intended by me to purchase.

I have, &c.,

THEOS. H. MATE.

Mr. Mate should be informed in terms of the Minister's memo. of the 3rd July.—E.O.S., 21/11/65. ^{Sec No. 56.}
Nugent should, perhaps, be informed of decision, and upon intimation of payment for improvements his application will be cancelled, and the deposit refunded.

I have the honor to request that you will, as early as convenient, amend your survey of Mr. Mate's pre-emptive purchase of 320 acres on the Tarcutta Creek. The area of the portion is now to be increased to 640 acres, by bringing the south boundary about 2 chains further south (to embrace the improvements effected by Nugent), and extending the north boundary down the creek, to include the quantity, and, if unobjectionable, to include the points intended to be included in Mr. Mate's original application.

No. 62.

The Surveyor General to Mr. T. H. Mate.

Sir,

Surveyor General's Office, Sydney, 23 February, 1866.

I beg to inform you, in reference to your application of the 26th June, 1856, to purchase certain land on Tarcutta Creek under pre-emptive right, that the said land has been measured, and the Honorable the Secretary for Lands having authorized me in that respect, I have appointed Mr. Owen C. Beardmore, of Homebush, near Sydney, appraiser on behalf of the Government. If you are satisfied that the land in question shall be valued by him alone, you will please sign the form sent herewith, marked "A"; if, however, you wish to appoint an appraiser to act on your own behalf, you will sign the form "B" annexed. In this case you will be required to pay the costs of such appraiser, and of the umpire who will then have to be appointed, and upon forwarding the same to Mr. Beardmore he will proceed herein to act on behalf of the Government. You will of course understand, that unless an appointment, in either form A or B, be forwarded to him within sixty days from this date, he will proceed with the appraisement, in accordance with the 3rd clause of the 23th section of the Alienation Act.

2. In appointing an appraiser you will be so good as to sign your name in full.

I have, &c.,

W. R. DAVIDSON.

[Enclosure.]

(A.)

WHEREAS I, Thomas Hodges Mate, of Tarcutta, in the Colony of New South Wales, have made application to purchase certain unoccupied Crown lands, situate at Tarcutta Creek, a description whereof is set out in my letter to the Surveyor General, bearing date; and the Minister for Lands has intimated that he is willing to appoint Owen C. Beardmore, of Homebush, in the Colony of New South Wales, gentleman, to appraise the value of the said land on behalf of the Government: And whereas I am desirous of concurring in the appointment of the said Owen C. Beardmore as such appraiser as aforesaid: Now, therefore, I, the said Thomas H. Mate, do hereby nominate and appoint the said Owen C. Beardmore to be appraiser on my behalf, to the intent that upon his being appointed by the Minister for Lands as appraiser on behalf of the Government, he may as sole appraiser determine the matters aforesaid.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 6th day of March, A.D. 1866.

THOMAS H. MATE.

No. 63.

Appointment of Appraiser by Government.

WHEREAS Thomas H. Mate, of Tarcutta, in the Colony of New South Wales, has applied to purchase under pre-emptive right certain Crown land, situate in the Murrumbidgee District, part of the Umotbee and Tonga Runs, a description whereof is set out in the schedule hereinafter written: Now I, the Surveyor General of New South Wales, having been duly authorized by the Minister for Lands, in pursuance of the powers vested in him under and by virtue of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," do hereby appoint Owen C. Beardmore, of Homebush, near Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, to be the appraiser on behalf of the Crown, to appraise the value of the said land and the price to be paid by the said Thomas H. Mate for the purchase thereof.

In witness whereof, I have hereto set my hand this 23rd day of February, A.D. 1866.

W. R. DAVIDSON,
Surveyor General.

Schedule referred to.

640 acres. County of Wynyard, parish of Oberne, on Tarcutta Creek, at the confluence of Umbango Creek, portion 12: Commencing on the west bank of Tarcutta Creek, at the north-western corner of T. H. Mate's 2,916 acres; and bounded thence on the east by part of the western boundary of that land by a line bearing south 1 degree 30 minutes west 15 chains; on the south by a line bearing west 90 chains 28 links; on the west by a line bearing north 94 chains 60 links; on the north by a line bearing east 44 chains 97 links to Tarcutta Creek; and on the north-east by that creek, upwards, to the point of commencement: Exclusively of the existing road 1 chain wide, from Tarcutta to Umbango, passing through this land in a south-easterly direction, the area of which has been deducted from the total area.

I, THE within-named Owen C. Beardmore, do solemnly and sincerely declare that I am not directly or indirectly interested in the matter referred to me, and that I will faithfully and honestly, and to the best of my skill and ability, hear and determine the matters referred to me, under the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861."

Subscribed and declared this 3rd day of March, A.D. 1866, before me,— OWEN C. BEARDMORE.

Appraisement by single Appraiser.

To all to whom these presents shall come,—

I, Owen C. Beardmore, of Homebush, in the Colony of New South Wales, gentleman, send, greeting:—

WHEREAS on the 23rd day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, I was duly appointed by the Minister for Lands, and on the 6th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, by Thomas Hodges Mate, of Tarcutta, in the Colony of New South Wales, as the sole appraiser to fix and determine the price or value to be paid by the said T. H. Mate for certain unoccupied Crown lands situate at Tarcutta Creek, a description whereof is set out in the Schedule in the paper writing hereto annexed: And whereas I have entered upon the consideration of the value of the said land, and have heard and considered the evidence produced before me by or on behalf of the Minister for Lands and the said Thomas Hodges Mate: Now I, the said Owen C. Beardmore, do hereby declare the sum of £640 to be the value of the said land, and do appraise and fix that sum as the amount to be paid by the said T. H. Mate for the purchase thereof from the Crown; and I assess and fix the costs of this appraisement payable to me at the sum of £2 10s., which said sum I direct shall be paid by the Minister for Lands.

In witness my hand, this 6th March, 1866.

OWEN C. BEARDMORE,
Appraiser.

Forwarded to the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands in order that further required action may be taken.—W.R.D., B.C., Surveyor General's Office, 2 Oct., /66.

No. 65.

Application by Mr. P. Nugent.

(No. 86 of 1866.)

APPLICATION for the additional conditional purchase of unimproved land, without competition, by Patrick Nugent, of Tarcutta.

Received, with deposit, this 12th day of April, 1866, at 12 o'clock, by

EDWIN H. TOMPSON,
Land Agent for Wagga Wagga District.

Sir,

I desire to purchase, under the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," without competition, the portion of unimproved Crown land hereunder described; and I tender herewith a deposit at the rate of five (5) shillings per acre on the area for which I apply.

I have, &c.,
PATRICK NUGENT.

The Crown Land Agent, Wagga Wagga.

Description.

County of Wynyard, parish of Oberne, 90 acres, near or on Tarcutta Creek, all that piece or parcel of land situate in the county of Wynyard, at Oberne Reserve, on the Tarcutta Creek: Commencing on the Tarcutta Creek, at the south-east corner of the portion of 120 acres conditionally purchased by the said Patrick Nugent on the 7th day of April, 1864, at the Wagga Wagga Crown Lands Office, and bounded on the north by the south boundary of said conditional purchase, being a line west 60 chains to the south-west corner of said conditional purchase; thence on the west by a line south at right angles to the north boundary 15 chains; thence on the south by a line east at right angles to the west boundary, and parallel to the north boundary 60 chains; thence on the east by a line north at right angles to the south boundary and parallel with the west boundary 15 chains, to the commencing point.

PATRICK NUGENT.

No. 66.

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Tarcutta, 14 May, 1866.

In pursuance of your letter of 23rd February last, relative to the appraisement of 640 acres of land applied for under my pre-emptive right, I beg to inform you that the said land has been duly appraised; but I was informed by Mr. Thomas, one of the officers of your department, that the matter awaited a certificate to show that Nugent had been paid the value of the improvements, in terms of your letter of 17th July, 1865.

Although I most respectfully demur to such a condition, having warned Nugent of his intrusion before he had made improvements to the value of £10, yet as I had promised to pay him a fair value for any improvements serviceable to me, I have, in fulfilment of that promise, proffered to pay for the improvements effected by him; but Nugent most positively refuses to accede to any proposals. I have therefore to request that you will adopt such measures as will give me the occupation and ownership of the land I have so long sought to obtain.

I have, &c.,
THOMAS H. MATE.

The value of Nugent's improvements to be ascertained. informed to above effect.—31 May, /66.

* Books containing these letters cannot be obtained.

No. 67.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Tarcutta, 7 June, 1866.

See note on No] 66.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 31st May last. In reply I beg to say that when I selected the land in question it was open to conditional purchase without competition, and was within the area so reserved.

If the Government have permitted this without providing for Mr. Mate's interests, it appears to me that that is a matter between the Government and Mr. Mate, and not between the Government and myself, who has been two years in possession, and improved the land, without any molestation, relying on the faith of the Act.

Under these circumstances I respectfully decline to take any steps in valuing improvements, and beg to say I shall hold possession of the land in question until I am dispossessed by law, in adopting which course you cannot blame me.

I have, &c.,

PATRICK NUGENT.

As Nugent will not give up the land, what course should now be pursued? Nugent declines to give up the land. What action should now be taken in reference to land?—E.O.S., 29/8/76. Submit the case to the Secretary for Lands, and request to be informed what steps are to be taken with regard to Nugent.—W.R.D., 30 August, /66. I understand that Nugent has made another conditional purchase, which must also be cancelled.—E.O.S.

Memorandum by The Deputy Surveyor General.

I AM told that Nugent has made an additional conditional purchase at Wagga Wagga Land Office; his original conditional purchase was cancelled, and I believe the land now taken up interferes with T. H. Mate's pre-emptive purchase.

Sir,

Tareutta Creek, 24 September, 1866.

In reply to your letters of the 17th and 20th instant, I refer you to my letter of the 7th of June last for my decision on the matter of this land. I have the honor, in reference to the notification in the Gazette of the 20th November last, respecting Mr. Thomas Mate's application for the purchase of land at Tarcutta Creek, under the 7th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act, 1861," to protest against the completion of the said purchase, on the grounds:—

- 1st.—That a portion of the land comprised in said proposed purchase by Mr. Mate includes 210 acres of land selected by me under the 13th and 22nd sections of the said Act, said land being a portion of a reserve for the purposes of conditional purchases without competition, under the 13th and 22nd sections of said Act.
- 2nd.—That the said portion being duly gazetted by the Government for such purposes, it is evident that Mr. Mate's application was not then sent in, or if it was, and overlooked by the Government, the rights of third parties are not to be prejudiced by reason thereof.
- 3rd.—That the fact of being a year and more in possession, and entitled to alienate thereby, without any conflicting claims, is further evidence that Mr. Mate's application was not prior.
- 4th.—That the said reserve not being withdrawn to this day is further evidence of my right to hold.
- 5th.—That, independent of such reasons, I have considerably improved the land, and can sell to advantage at the end of three years if I so desired it.
- 6th.—That I have no desire to sell it, but, on the contrary, have selected the place in question for a permanent home.
- 7th.—That a portion of said land contains a family burial-place, where the remains of my deceased mother repose at present.
- 8th.—That, for these reasons, I protest against being removed to gratify Mr. Mate, who can select under his pre-emptive right equally eligible land without interfering with me.

All of which I enter as my protest.

No. 83.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Tarcutta Creek, 5 October, 1867.

Referring to a letter addressed to me, from the Lands Department, Sydney, dated 24th September, 1867, such letter wanting me to take back the interest paid by me into the Treasury in April last, which interest I considered to be due to the Government on account of 120 acres of land, conditionally purchased by me at Wagga Wagga Land Office, 7th April, 1864, and situated on the Tarcutta Creek, parish of Oberne, county of Wynyard, I beg to state that I will not take back the interest, believing, as I do, that I am the lawful purchaser of the land in question. I received a letter, dated 17th September, 1866, from the Surveyor General's Office, Sydney, stating that my 120 acres of land must be cancelled, on account of it being within land measured for Mr. T. H. Mate.

I beg to state that when I took up this land it was not measured for Mr. Mate or for any other person. I was living on the land, and had one crop off before there was any measurement made here; since then the land has been measured four different times, each time shifting the lines so as to take in the land I had taken up and improved.

Under those circumstances I consider the Surveyor General has not the right to cancel my land and give it to Mr. Mate; therefore I will hold possession of the land as my property. The Government had my money before the land was measured, or before it was applied for by any other person.

Mr. Adams, the Surveyor General, is well aware that this land was not measured for Mr. Mate when I took up the land. If you act with justice to me, you will demand from Mr. Adams the different dates and plans of the surveys made here by Mr. Thomas Berry, Licensed Land Surveyor, and also the reason that Mr. Berry did not survey 90 acres of land here for me last November; he had the Government instructions to do so, also the application that I signed for 90 acres as an additional conditional purchase, dated 12th April, 1866. This the Surveyor General says is also cancelled, for the reason that it joins the first purchase of 120 acres.

Yours, &c.,
PATRICK NUGENT,
Tarcutta Creek.

P.S.—This is the last letter I will write to the Government on the subject of this land. You are in the possession of my letters, containing all I have to say on the subject.—P.N.

This is another refusal of Nugent to give up the land; a reply perhaps is unnecessary.—1/11/67. Refer first to Mr. Adams with respect to statements herein connected with the survey of the land.—W.W.S., 4 Nov., /67. The circumstances of the case are detailed in my memo. of the 3rd July, 1865. The papers show the dates of survey, which are however immaterial, as the point on which the matter hinges is the date of Mr. Mate's application, and that Nugent did not cultivate and improve the land actually described in his application.—P. F. ADAMS, 12 Nov., /67. The decision of 11 Sept., 1867, must be adhered to I conclude.—W.W.S., 22 November, /67. Approved.—J.B.W., 27 November, /67.

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Minister for Lands.

Sir, Sydney, 14 September, 1868.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court in the case myself versus Nugent prevents me taking possession of that portion of my pre-emptive purchase, held by Nugent as his alleged conditional purchase. My solicitors advise two courses still open to me, viz.: Appeal to the Privy Council, or commence a fresh action of ejectment. Feeling that I have an equitable claim upon the Government to put me in possession of the land, I am unwilling to proceed further until ascertaining from you the disposition of the Government to support my cause. The costs in the late action will amount to a considerable sum, and I think it a great hardship to have to substantiate my pre-emptive right in a Court of law, more particularly having complied with all the land regulations and orders in Council under which I have my claim.

Trusting to obtain the favourable consideration of the Government,

I have, &c.,
THOMAS H. MATE.

The Attorney General, with papers.—J.B.W., 18 Sept. Secretary to Law Department, B.C., 18 September.—M.F. I think that the Government ought to support Mr. Mate in this contention, he having paid for and obtained the grant of his land. I believe the decision of the Supreme Court to be erroneous, and even if it were otherwise, Mr. Mate's claim to be supported by the Government in the matter would be equally good.—JAMES MARTIN, Attorney General. Declaration.

DECLARATION of conditional purchaser, under the 21st section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," in cases where there has been no alienation of the land.

I, PATRICK NUGENT, of Tarcutta, do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I am the lawful owner by conditional purchase, under the 21st section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," of the land hereunder described, and that improvements, consisting of fencing, clearing, stockyard, huts, well, vines, fruit trees, and to the value of £300, have been made on such land; and I declare further, that I have resided continuously on the adjoining conditional purchase as my bona fide residence since the date of selection selection on the 7th day of April, 1864, and first occupation thereof under the 13th section of the Act, for the full period required by law; and that no alienation of the land has been made by me: I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled, "An Act for the more effectual abolition of oaths and affirmations taken and made in various departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial oaths and affidavits."

Description.

County of Wynyard, parish of Oberne, 90 acres, at Oberne, being conditional purchase No. 86 of 1866, in the district of Wagga Wagga, made on the 12th day of April, 1866.

Interest, £3 7s. 6d., credited 28 July, 1869.

No. 96.

Memorandum by Mr. Neate.

Patrick Nugent's additional conditional purchase of 12th April, 1866.

As the declaration on the original purchase of Nugent (7th April, 1864), has been rejected and interest refunded, a form for the refund of the interest on the within-mentioned additional purchase should now be sent to Nugent, and land agent informed.

As the papers in connection with the original purchase are noted as lent to the Associate of Mr. Judge Cheeke on the 1st April last, he should perhaps be asked to return them.

This purchase was cancelled as the original purchase had been cancelled in consequence of the land being included in T. H. Mate's pre-emptive purchase. C.E.N., 25/1/70.

No. 100.

Mr. T. H. Mate to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Tarcutta, 24 January, 1871.

No. 90.

Referring to your letter of the 20th October, 1868, I have the honor to inform you that in pursuance of advice I proceeded against Nugent, by bringing a second ejection, in which he appeared and took defence for all the lands claimed by me.

This ejection was tried at Wagga Wagga Circuit Court on 8th April, 1869, when a verdict was had for me. Nugent applied for a new trial, and obtained a rule nisi, which the Supreme Court refused to make absolute.

The defendant still declined to give up possession, and ultimately such was only procured by execution of a writ of habere.

The costs incurred by me in the proceedings to eject Nugent amount to £555 4s. 9d.

I beg now to request that the Government will, in pursuance of your letter above referred to, take the necessary steps to reimburse me in this expenditure.

I have, &c.,

THOS. H. MATE.

In the case Mate v. Nugent, Mr. Mate was informed, in reply to his inquiry as to the disposition of the Government to support his cause in case of an appeal to the Privy Council, or a fresh action of ejection, that the Attorney General has advised that the Government ought to support him in this matter, as he paid for and obtained the grant of the land in question. After stating the legal process by which he procured possession of the land he states that the costs incurred in the proceedings to eject Nugent amount to £555 4s. 9d., and he asks the Government to reimburse him.—O.R., 17 February. This amount may be noted for Estimates.—J.B.W., 27 February. Inform. Return to Mr. Rich, 3/3/71. Mr. Rich, for Estimates. Mr. Ormiston. Noted accordingly.—R.H.O. For Estimates, end of April. This item, namely, £555 4s. 9d. for costs incurred by T. H. Mate for ejection of Nugent from his purchased land, does not appear in the printed Additional Estimates for 1871, laid before Parliament. The papers are resubmitted as to whether this item should go in the next Estimates.—O.R., 28 June, 1871. Yes.—J.B.W., 3 July, 1871. Noted accordingly.

Memorial of Mr. P. Nugent to His Excellency the Governor.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable Somerset Richard, Earl of Belmore, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council in Ireland, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

The Memorial of Patrick Nugent, of Tarcutta, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

1. That on or about the 7th day of April, 1864, your memorialist conditionally purchased under the 13th clause of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," 120 acres of land on the Tarcutta Creek, about 24 miles from the town of Wagga Wagga, in the Colony aforesaid, and adjoining 2,916 acres of Mr. Thomas Hodges Mate; he duly paid the deposit money therefor, and was informed by the Crown Lands Agent at Wagga Wagga that the land was open for selection.

2. That your memorialist went to reside on the said land within one month after his said conditional purchase, and made the improvements required by law thereon, and conformed in every way to the Regulations in force with respect to such land.

3. That on the 12th day of April, 1866, two years after the conditional purchase above-mentioned, your memorialist, in right of the said purchase, made an additional conditional purchase of 90 acres, adjoining to and in right of his said first-mentioned conditional purchase.

4. That subsequently, on or about the 22nd day of August, 1866, your memorialist applied for a pre-emptive lease or grazing right, in right of the said conditional purchases.

5. That after your memorialist had paid the requisite deposit money on the said conditional purchases, and been in quiet possession of the same for more than two years, a claim was made to them by the said Thomas Hodges Mate, of Tarcutta aforesaid, and the said Thomas Hodges Mate issued a summons in ejection out of the Supreme Court of this Colony to recover possession of the land comprised in the said original conditional purchase on which the subsequent purchase and the grazing right afterwards acquired were dependent; and your memorialist defended the said action, and the same coming on to be heard before his Honor Mr. Justice Faucett, and a jury of four persons, at Wagga Wagga Circuit Court, on the 23rd day of April, 1868, the said Thomas Hodges Mate put in as his evidence the said grant from the Crown, and his Honor, the presiding Judge, was pleased to tell the jury that there was no higher title than a grant from the Crown, and he was bound to tell them that they must find for the plaintiff, and directed the jury to find as well, whether or not in their opinion your memorialist had conformed to the provisions of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act, 1861," and the Regulations issued under it as regarded his selections, and the jury were unanimously of opinion that your memorialist had so conformed, conformed, and his Honor, the presiding Judge, reserved the question for the decision of the Supreme Court of New South Wales whether the said grant to the said Thomas Hodges Mate took precedence of the title of your petitioner by conditional purchase, and the same coming on to be argued before the said Supreme Court their Honors were pleased to hold that the title of your petitioner was paramount to the said grant.

6. That the said Thomas Hodges Mate thereupon took proceedings to appeal to the Privy Council of England against the decision of the Supreme Court, which he afterwards abandoned.

7. That the said Thomas Hodges Mate brought a second action of ejectment against your petitioner for recovery of the said pieces or parcels of land, to which your petitioner took defence for the part which included his said selections, and the same having come on to be heard before his Honor Mr. Justice Checke, and a jury of four, at Wagga Wagga aforesaid, on the 8th day of April, 1869, the said Thomas Hodges Mate did not on this occasion rely on his grant but on the promise of the Government, under Her Majesty's Orders in Council, to give him a grant of land, comprising inter alia the said two selections of your petitioner, and the jury found a verdict for the plaintiff, but a case was also reserved for the decision of the said Supreme Court, which afterwards came on to be heard, and resulted in the finding of the jury being upheld.

8. That the said Thomas Hodges Mate subsequently obtained possession of the said selections under process of the Court, and forcibly dispossessed your petitioner, after being in possession for many years, and having paid the interest required by law upon the balance of purchase money, having fulfilled all conditions as to residence, and made improvements amounting in the whole to nearly £800.

9. That independently of the losses and damages detailed above, your petitioner has had to pay and is still liable for certain large sums of money for defending the actions of ejectment mentioned above, and expenses incident thereto, independently of the loss of the use of the moneys paid for deposit of purchase money of the said land and the interest on the balance.

Your memorialist therefore humbly prays that your Excellency will have the goodness to take under your consideration the circumstances detailed above, and afford your memorialist such relief as the nature of the case will warrant.

And your memorialist will ever pray, &c.

PATRICK NUGENT.

By his Attorney, L. A. WINDEYER.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. P. Nugent.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 24 June, 1871.

With reference to your petition to His Excellency the Governor, praying that you may be granted relief for loss alleged to have been sustained by you in consequence of your having been dispossessed of your conditional purchase at Wagga Wagga, consequent upon the action of ejectment brought against you by Mr. T. H. Mate,—I am directed by the Secretary for Lands to inform you, that the Government cannot admit that you have any claim upon them for relief.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

No. 104.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Tarcutta Creek, 14 August, 1871.

Referring to a letter received by me from the Department of Lands, Sydney, and dated June No. 103. 24th, 1871, and referring to a petition sent to the Governor by some person on my behalf, I beg to state that I had not authorized any person to apply to His Excellency for relief for my losses at law with Mr. Mate. If I am to get compensation it must be through the Parliament, and not out of the pocket of the Governor. Please to let me know if the Government intend to return me my deposit and interest, which they have the use of for the last seven years; it is bad enough to be at the loss of my land and time, and not to have my money taken, which is about £75.

PATRICK NUGENT,

Tarcutta.

The enclosed vouchers for the refund of deposits should be signed and sent to Mr. Nugent, and he should perhaps be informed that his being kept out of the money is his own fault, as he returned the refund forms with a statement that he would not accept them. Vouchers for the refund of interest were forwarded to him when the declarations were rejected in 1867 and 1870.—W.B., 16/8/71. For approval, 17th. Approved.—J.B.W., 17 August.

No. 105.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. P. Nugent.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 23 August, 1871.

With reference to your letter of the 14th instant, applying for the refund of the amount of the deposit and interest paid by you, on account of your conditional and additional conditional purchases of of 120 and 90 acres, selected at Wagga Wagga on the 7th April, 1864, and 12th April, 1866, respectively, I am directed to inform you that the cause of the delay in this matter has been occasioned by yourself, in returning vouchers sent to you with a statement that you would not accept the money.

I am to add that the form for the return of the interest on your additional purchase is herewith enclosed, which should be forwarded to the Treasury for payment; the refund of any subsequent payment of interest will be made on application to that department.

I am also to add, that the refund of all the interest on the original conditional purchase will be made on application to the Treasury, as the money on that purchase has not been credited, but only placed in suspense.

I have, &c.,
W. W. STEPHEN.

P.S.—Duplicate vouchers for the refund of deposits (£22 10s. and £30) are now enclosed.

No. 106.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Tarcutta Creek, 18 September, 1871.

Referring to a letter I received from the Department of Lands, dated 23rd August, 1871, having reference to my conditional purchases on Tarcutta Creek, on the run of T. H. Mate, I here have to acknowledge the receipt of three vouchers enclosed in that letter for the undermentioned sums:—

	£	s.	d.
Deposit on 120 acres	30	0	0
Deposit on 90 acres	22	10	0
First interest on 90 acres	3	7	6
Total amount of vouchers	£55	17	6

The amount I have paid into the Government is as under:—

	£	s.	d.
April 7th, 1864.—Deposit on 120 acres	30	0	0
„ 12th, 1866.—Deposit on 90 acres	22	10	0
First interest on 90 acres paid	3	7	6
Second „ „	3	7	6
Interest on 120 acres paid from 1867 up to April, 1871	18	0	0
Total paid by me to the Government	£77	5	0

By this there is a balance of £21 7s. 6d., which I have not received vouchers for, and as I do not understand how I am to get this money unless I am sent vouchers for it from the Lands Department, I will be obliged to you to cause those vouchers to be sent to me with as little delay as possible. I will keep the vouchers of the 23rd August until I receive the others. I have to travel 40 miles to Wagga Wagga with the vouchers to the Bank before I return them to Sydney. By attending to this you will oblige your old servant,

PATRICK NUGENT,
Tarcutta.

Mr. Nugent should be informed that the duplicate vouchers for refund of deposit and first payment of interest, sent to him on the 23rd ultimo, should be transmitted to the Treasury, which department will refund all subsequent payments, as he has already been apprised.—22/9/71. Yes.—22/9/71.

No. 107.

The Under Secretary for Lands to Mr. P. Nugent.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 30 September, 1871.

In reference to your letter of the 18th instant, wherein you state that you have not received vouchers for the refund of all the interest paid by you in respect of the two conditional purchases noted in the margin, and requesting that forms for the refund of the remainder of the interest may now be sent to you, I am directed to inform you that the duplicate vouchers for refund of deposit and first payment of interest on the 90 acres, forwarded to you on the 23rd ultimo, should be transmitted to the Treasury, which department, as you have already been apprised, will refund all subsequent interest.

2. I am to add that the interest on the 120 acres, which is placed in suspense, will be refunded on application to the Treasury, in accordance with a letter addressed to you on the 24th September, 1867, when the declaration in the purchase was rejected.

90 acres, 12
April, 1866.

See No. 31.

Mr. Mate was informed in 1871, by direction of the late Minister, that the amount would be placed on the Estimates, but it appears to have been afterwards struck off. Submitted, 1 December. The matter will be considered with a view of placing the amount in a future estimate. The amount was withdrawn from the Estimates of 1872 while under discussion in the House, upon the ground that Nugent also should receive compensation.—J.S.F., 4/12/73. See No. 101.

[Enclosure to No. 108.]

Mr. T. H. Mate to T. Robertson, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

I shall esteem it a favour if you will remind the Honorable Minister for Lands of my claim for compensation in Mate versus Nugent. Mr. Farnell promised that he would again bring it before Parliament in the Estimates, and as I consider it a just claim I hope it will not be ignored.

Tarcutta, 22 September, 1873.

I remain, &c.,

THOMAS H. MATE.

No. 109.

Petition of Patrick Nugent.

To the Honorable the Minister for Lands, Sydney.

The Petition of Patrick Nugent, late of Tarcutta, in the Colony of New South Wales, farmer,—

SHOWETH:—

That on or about the 7th day of April, 1864, petitioner became the conditional purchaser, without competition, under the 13th section of the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861," of 120 acres, on the Tarcutta Creek, adjoining T. H. Mate's 2,916 acres.

That your petitioner resided on said selection within one month from the date thereof, and continued to reside thereon until he was afterwards ejected by said T. H. Mate, as hereinafter set out.

That afterwards, in or about the month of April, 1866, your petitioner became the additional conditional purchaser of 90 acres, under the twenty-first section of said Crown Lands Act.

That your petitioner improved said several portions of land, within the meaning of the said Act, and the necessary statutory declarations were made in reference to same.

That subsequently the Crown granted the said lands to the said T. H. Mate and a grant thereof under the seal of the Colony, issued to him and his heirs.

That thereupon the same T. H. Mate commenced an action of ejectment against your petitioner in the Supreme Court of New South Wales to recover the said lands, and the same was tried at the Circuit Court, Wagga Wagga, before His Honor Judge Faucett and a jury of four, at the April sittings of 1868; and the said T. H. Mate having given in evidence the said grant, His Honor told the jury they must find for the plaintiff, the said T. H. Mate, as the grant was an indefeasible title, but at the same time reserved a case for the Supreme Court on your petitioner's behalf.

That said case came on to be heard at Sydney, when judgment was given in favour of your petitioner.

That thereupon the said T. H. Mate gave notice of his intention to appeal to the Privy Council at London, but afterwards abandoned the same.

That immediately on his so doing, the said T. H. Mate commenced a second action of ejectment against your petitioner to recover the same lands, and the said action was tried at the Circuit Court, Wagga Wagga, at the October sittings, 1869, whereupon the plaintiff set up a prior promise from the Crown of the land in question, and a verdict was had for the plaintiff.

That your petitioner's counsel advised your petitioner to apply to the Supreme Court for a new trial, which application was accordingly made, and which resulted, after a long argument, in the plaintiff's (T. H. Mate) verdict being upheld, the Court at the same time giving an opinion that it was a great case of hardship on your petitioner.

That subsequently your petitioner and his family were turned out of possession, under a writ of "habere" at the instigation of the said T. H. Mate, and thereby lost his home, his improvements, and the labour of many years, and your petitioner was almost rendered penniless.

That the improvements made on said lands, and declared to by petitioner at the time required for such purpose, are as follows:—

On the 120 acres of land selected under 13th section—

Nature of Improvements.	Estimated Value.
201 rods of strong iron-bark fence, worth 6s. per rod.....	£ s. d. 60 6 0
31 chains 90 links of a cchock and log fence, dog-legged, about 4 feet 6 inches high, and worth £35 per mile ...	13 18 11
25 rods of two-rail fence, at 3 shillings per rod	3 15 0
One shed or barn, 40 feet by 40 feet, from the ground to the ridge 25 feet, from ground to wall plate 14 feet...	50 0 0
24 acres of cleared land, at £8 per acre	192 0 0
One hut.....	7 0 0
Log fence and supling fence on bank of creek. Several acres of timber sapped and killed.....	21 0 0
Total value of improvements on 120 acres.....	£ 347 19 11

Value and nature of improvements on 90 acres additional conditional purchase.	Estimated Value.
80 acres of land stumped and cleared, at an average of £5 per acre	£ s. d. 120 0 0
16 acres, the timber felled and burned off, at £2 per acre	32 0 0
Several acres of timber, sapped and killed	5 0 0
60 rods of three-rail fence, at 4s.	12 0 0
Two-rail fence, 104 rods, at 3s. per rod	15 12 0
Chock and log-fence, dog-legged, 4 feet 6 inches high, 235 rods, at £35 per mile	25 14 0
Stock-yard, 3-rail fence, and calf-pen, 47 rods, at 5s. per rod	11 15 0
Milking bail	1 0 0
2 bark huts	15 0 0
One well, 20 feet deep, with good water	7 0 0
400 grape vines, planted, 6 feet x 6 feet	20 0 0
28 fruit trees, planted at same time, bearing fruit	10 0 0
440 yards of a water-drain, to take water off the land under cultivation. This drain averages about 2 feet wide by 18 inches deep, at 3d. per yard	5 10 0
Total.....	£ 280 11 0

N.B.—On this portion there is a family burying-ground, where my mother's body is interred; this makes the ejection more severe on me.

Total value of improvements on 120 acres, selected under 13th section	£ s. d. 347 19 11
Total value of improvements on 90 acres.....	280 11 0
Total improvements	£ 628 10 11
Costs and expenses incurred by petitioner in defending first action, and claimed by his attorney, William Willans, Wagga Wagga	109 11 0
Costs of second action claimed by him, including new trial (Mate's)	120 0 0
Total costs	£ 858 1 11

Costs of T. H. Mate taxed, and which followed verdict, unascertained at present, but will be supplied.

That from the foregoing statements it will be seen that your petitioner has incurred a heavy and ruinous loss, having lost the value of his improvements, his time and labour of many years. While your petitioner has incurred large and expensive law costs, which petitioner without assistance is unable to pay, and which, whilst they are unsatisfied, render your petitioner's exertions to support his family utterly fruitless.

May it therefore please the Honorable the Minister for Lands to take your petitioner's case into his consideration, and to cause to be done in the matter what the justice of the case may require.

PATRICK NUGENT.

Tarcutta, December 19th, 1873.

These papers had better be resubmitted for consideration on the preparation of next Estimates. Mr. Robertson has been personally informed.—W.W.S., 23 March.

No. 110.

W. Macleay, Esq., M.P., to Mr. P. Nugent.

Sir,

Elizabeth Bay, Sydney, 10 June, 1874.

Your petition for redress, as well as that of Mr. Mate, is and has been for a long time in the office of the Secretary for Lands. Mr. Farnell has not yet found time for the consideration of either of them, but I understand he will come to some determination before the preparation of the Estimates for next year.

I am, &c.,

WILLIAM MACLEAY.

No. 111.

M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., M.P., to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

251, George-street, Sydney, 19 November, 1874.

May I beg that you will kindly address to my care some reply to the petition long unanswered from Mr. Patrick Nugent, claiming compensation for losses incurred in the actions brought against him by Mr. T. H. Mate for the possession of certain land near Tarcutta.

The case was a hard one on Mr. Nugent, and I doubt not that the Government will see their way to extend to him favourable consideration.

I have, &c.,

M. FITZPATRICK.

No. 112.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Umbango, 4 March, 1875.

Some few years ago I met with heavy losses at law with Mate, through the action of the Lands Department, and in July, 1873, I think there were 500 and odd pounds placed on the Estimates to pay Mate his losses for ejection of Nugent; this Mr. William Macleay opposed, and the matter was argued before the House; the result was twenty-seven votes on the side of Mr. Macleay, and eight votes on the side side for Mate; the matter was not again brought before the House. Mr. Macleay saw the Minister for Lands on the matter; the Minister said he was waiting for me to send in a statement of my losses, which I have done by a petition dated about the 20th of December, 1874, and which petition, with Mr. Mato's, I was informed is in your office in the month of June last, and that the Minister for Lands would take some steps in the matter before the end of the last year. As the Estimates were not prepared before the late Minister resigned, I trust and hope you will take my case into consideration before the meeting of Parliament, as I have a large family of twelve children, and only my own labour to work for them—the law having left me homeless and moneyless, and swept away the saving of years for to make a home for my family. Mr. John Robertson, Colonial Secretary, by private letter, and by published letter after the first trial, advised me to try and get compensation from the Government.

See No, 109.

I am, &c.,
PATRICK NUGENT.

Mr. Ormiston informs me that all the Estimate papers, &c., are with the Under Secretary. Ascertain if this case is one of them.—C.N., 30/3/75. Nugent and Mate's compensation was submitted to be placed on Estimates by me.—R.H.O. The Minister for Lands desires that the amount fairly payable to Mr. Nugent should be placed on the Estimates. Let immediate inquiry be made of the Crown Solicitor.—W.W.S., 12. Mr. Williams says he cannot give an answer to this, as he would have to look up a lot of papers, and he cannot spare the time. The sum of £555 4s. 9d. was noted for Supplementary Estimates for 1871, for costs incurred by T. H. Mate for ejectment of Nugent from his purchased land.—12. Have the amount noted for next Estimates.—T.G., 14/5/75. Submitted to the Minister, who wishes the papers brought up again in preparation of Estimates for next year.—W.W.S., 12 June. Take note for Estimates.—O.R., 14 June. Noted.

No. 113.

Mr. P. Nugent to William Forster, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Murraguldra, 13 September, 1875.

I take the liberty of writing to you, as the Member for this district, on the following subject, viz.:—Last July two years there was a sum placed on the Estimates to compensate Mate for his law expenses in the ejectment of Nugent from certain lands selected by Nugent on Tarcutta.

When the Estimates were placed before the House, Mr. William Macleay, M.L.A., spoke in my behalf, and the matter went to the vote of the House; I think there were twenty-seven votes on Mr. Macleay's side, and seven votes for Mate's side.

Mr. Farnell, the Minister for Lands, told Mr. Macleay if I would send in an estimate of my losses the matter would be dealt with.

Last December twelve months, I think, I sent a petition to the Minister for Lands, with the amount of my losses caused by the action of the Lands Department. Before the Parliament broke up at the end of last year Mr. Macleay wrote to me that Mr. Farnell would decide in my case and Mate's at the end of the year when the Estimates would be prepared; by the end of the year the Parliament had broken up, and Mr. Macleay had resigned his seat; so the matter dropped.

I wish you, as the Member for this district, to see the Minister for Lands on this matter, and if he cannot take any steps in the matter for me, I wish you to demand from your place in Parliament that my petition that is now in the Minister for Lands Office be laid before the House, and be dealt with as soon after the opening of Parliament as is convenient. By attending to this you will oblige your old servant,

PATRICK NUGENT.

P.S.—Please let me know if you can do anything in this matter before the opening of Parliament.—P.N.

The Secretary for Lands,—Though concurring in the desire of the late Member to do justice to Mr. Nugent, I must not be understood as assenting without further inquiry that claimant should be reimbursed for his losses by the Government. However, as Member for the district, I recommend the case to the consideration of the Government.—W.F., 20/9/75. The Under Secretary for Lands.—G.E., B.C., 20/9/75.

No. 114.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Umbango, 8 January, 1876.

Having written several letters to your department, and having got others to go there and make inquiry about a petition put in by me for compensation for losses at law with Mate, through the action of the Lands Department, I having not received any direct answer to the petition, I now write to know if the Government has taken any steps in the matter at the end of the year, when the Supplementary Estimates were passed at the end of the year 1875.

I was told by an agent in Sydney that a sum was put on the Supplementary Estimates for me at the end of the year 1875; and in 1874, Mr. Farnell promised Mr. W. Macleay that he would see to Mate's petition, and to mine also at the end of that year; but when the end of the year 1874 arrived Mr. Farnell was out of office.

I have, &c.,

PATRICK NUGENT.

Is this to be noted for the Additional Estimates?—O.R., 18 May. Noted for Estimates.

Yes.—W.W.S., 19 May.

No. 115.

Mr. P. Nugent to The Minister for Lands.

Sir,

Umbango, 17 March, 1876.

I write to draw your attention to a petition now in your office from me for compensation for losses sustained by me at law with Mate. Through the action of the Lands Department this question was at one time before the House, and the House was then in my favour. I have written to the late Minister for Lands on the matter; I have also written to you, and I received no answer; I employed an agent—Withers; he wrote to me that you had promised to place a sum on the Estimates for me when the Parliament met.

Withers wrote also that you had placed a sum on the Estimates; and he sent me a bill for £15 15s. for his trouble in the matter, and a request to send him more when the money was voted for me, as he did not get this fifteen guineas.

There was no sum placed on the Estimates for me. I sent his letters to the Honorable J. Robertson, so that you could see them. Please to answer and let me know if the Government will take any steps in the matter; if not I must put the matter in the hands of the Member, Mr. Leary, and have all the papers in the case laid before the Parliament.

I have, &c.,

PATRICK NUGENT.

Submitted. The amount of £555 4s. 9d. was entered on list for Estimates for 1876, as compensation to T. H. Mate, but struck out; shall it be again entered for 1877, or the papers sent to records?—O.R., 18 Sept., 1876. Submit on Draft Estimates and prepare precis of reasons for so doing.—T.G., 29/9/76.

No. 116.

Memorandum—Mate v. Nugent.

Department of Lands, Conditional Sales Branch, Sydney, 6 January, 1877.

THE sum of £555 4s. 9d.—Mate's costs in this case—was placed on the Estimates for 1872, and withdrawn while the subject was under discussion in the Legislative Assembly, on the ground that Nugent should also receive compensation.

On the 19th December, 1873, Nugent petitioned for some allowance for his loss and costs being according to his estimate—

Value of improvements put on his conditional purchases	£628	10	11
Costs and expenses of two actions	229	11	0
			<hr/>
			£858	1	11

to which was to be added the amount of Mate's taxed costs.

On the 12th November (year not given) the Under Secretary minuted that immediate inquiry be made of the Crown Solicitor as to the amount fairly payable to Nugent, on which is a pencil memo. unsigned as follows:—

Mr. William says, he "cannot give an answer to this as he would have to look up a lot of papers and he cannot spare the time."

No other steps appear to have been taken to find out the amount rightly due to Nugent, but from a pencil memo. of Mr. Ormiston in 1875, it seems that Mate and Nugent's compensation was submitted to be placed on the Estimates.

Mate's compensation, £555 4s. 9d., also appears to have been placed on the Estimates for 1876, but was struck out.—F.H.W., 6/1/77.

No. 3.

M. Fitzpatrick, Esq., M.P., to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

251, George-street, 28 June, 1876.

See Nos. 1 and 2.

At the instance of the lessee of Moira Run, I protest against the selections made by Topham Forge at Moama, on the 11th and 18th May last, containing 500 and 140 acres, as including an excavation of over 50,000 cubic yards, the value of which may be estimated at (£2,500) two thousand five hundred pounds, irrespective of the houses and other improvements.

I beg therefore that you will cause proper inquiry to be made into the facts of the case, and that in the meantime you will warn the selector that the land is claimed to be improved land, and therefore not open to selection.

I have, &c.,

MICHAEL FITZPATRICK.

The selector should be warned in usual manner and Mr. Fitzpatrick apprised.—17/7/76. This paper then to Charting Branch, who will perhaps cause the surveyor to be communicated with.—J.W., 17.

No. 4.

Mr. A. Armstrong to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Land Agency Office, 261, Bridge-street, Sydney, 8 August, 1876.

Referring to a conditional purchase by Mr. Topham Forge, at Moama, since reported by the Crown lessee of Moira Run, Sir John O'Shanassy, to contain improvements to the value of (£2,500) two thousand five hundred pounds, I have the honor to hand herewith statutory declarations of Topham Forge, Seth

Seth Forge, and Frederick James Piggott, showing that the so-called excavation improvements consisted of the removal of a hill of gravel, which instead of improving had a deteriorating effect upon the value of the land selected by Mr. Forge, and to request that an early inquiry into all the circumstances be effected with the view of establishing Mr. Forge in his possession.

I have, &c.,
A. ARMSTRONG,
Agent for Topham Forge.

[Enclosure A to No. 4.]
Statutory Declaration.

I, Topham Forge, of the parish of Moira, county of Cadell, New South Wales, do solemnly and sincerely declare that the following statement is true in every particular, and that my making this declaration I am liable to be committed for perjury should any statement contained herein be found to be incorrect or untrue. I would therefore beg to submit the following statement:—That I, Topham Forge, in company with Mr. Frederick James Piggott, waited upon Mr. Simon Fraser, M.L.A., of Victoria, in the month of this year, the same gentleman being a director of Moama and Deniliquin Railway Company, for the purpose of inquiring of that gentleman if there was any agreement existing between John O'Shanassy and the Railway Company that would bar my selection of the ground, my application already being in the hands of the land officer of the district; or if there was any agreement between the Company and O'Shanassy as to improving the ground I had selected by making a dam. Mr. Fraser replied as follows:—No; there was no agreement to improve the land by making a dam or anything else. Mr. O'Shanassy represented the land to be his own (O'Shanassy's) private property, and gave the Railway Company authority to go and extract gravel therefrom. There was absolutely no agreement to make a dam or anything that would contain water. The Railway Company were to take gravel therefrom in any manner they deemed suited themselves best. The reason why Mr. O'Shanassy gave them leave was to the following effect: that the railway had encroached and made use of certain portion of land belonging to the O'Shanassys at the Moira, and that the matter was referred to the arbitrators, who awarded O'Shanassys much higher damages than the Company was disposed to give, who at once appealed against assessment, but withdrew it in consequence of O'Shanassy offering the Company this identical ground to extract gravel, and which he represented to the contractors was his own private property. Subsequently they found out that the ground was not O'Shanassy's, and that he had no right to give the Company the authority to extract gravel therefrom, and that they (the Company) had received no benefit or pay from O'Shanassy for extracting the gravel, but rather the reverse, for the Company withdrew their appeal. Mr. Collier, the contractor, also informed Mr. Piggott and myself that the O'Shanassys had deceived the Company in consequence of representing the land to be private property, whereas their proper course would have been to have taken out a gravel license.

I, Topham Forge, also swear that there was no house belonging to O'Shanassy on the ground at the time of or since my application was lodged with the land officer. There is certainly a shingle house belonging to Mr. Leun, of Echuca, who supplied the gravel-pit men with stores. Mr. Leun has since offered me this house in presence of Mr. Piggott for the sum of four pounds, but it was no business of O'Shanassy's, neither has he at any time made any claim to the same; in fact at the time of my application there was nothing on the ground that could be claimed by O'Shanassys. On the 29th of August (last Saturday) I met Mr. Fraser, who informed me that O'Shanassy through his solicitor had made application to him (Fraser) to give O'Shanassy a document whereby he (O'Shanassy) could claim improvements—that is to say, O'Shanassy wanted the Railway Company to swear or give them a document in writing that the gravel was extracted so as to make improvements for O'Shanassy. My brother was in my company at the time that Mr. Fraser gave us the above information. Mr. Barry, one of the railway contractors, was also present when Mr. O'Shanassy's solicitor made the above application to Mr. Fraser. And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act of Parliament of the Colony of New South Wales rendering persons making a false declaration guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Statutory Declaration.

I, Seth Forge, of Timmering, do hereby make oath and swear that the following is true and correct, so far as I heard Mr. Fraser say to my brother; and I am further aware that should I state what is untrue in this document, I am liable to the pains and penalties of the law for making a false declaration:—Last Saturday, the 29th July, in company with my brother, I met Mr. Fraser, one of the directors of the Deniliquin and Moama Railway Company, who informed my brother that O'Shanassy, through his solicitor, asked him (Fraser) if the Company would give O'Shanassy a document to the effect that the Railway Company had made improvements by extracting gravel from the ground selected by my brother. Mr. Fraser stated in reply to Mr. O'Shanassy's question that the Company would do nothing of the kind, they having simply extracted the gravel as ballast for the railway line and not to make any improvements for O'Shanassy. And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act of Parliament of the Colony of New South Wales rendering persons making a false declaration guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury.

[Enclosure C to No. 4.]

Statutory Declaration.

I, Frederick James Piggott, of Moama, in the Colony of New South Wales, do solemnly and sincerely declare that the following statement is true in every particular, and that by making this declaration I am liable to be committed for perjury should any statement contained herein be found to be incorrect or false:—In company with Mr. Topham Forge, of the parish of Moira, county of Cadell, we waited upon Mr. Simon Fraser, M.L.A. for Victoria, one of the directors of the Deniliquin and Moama Railway Company, in the month of June last, for the purpose of inquiring of that gentleman if there was any agreement existing between the Deniliquin and Moama Railway Company as to improving the land now selected by Topham Forge, and in which the Company had been engaged extracting gravel from with the O'Shanassys. He replied as follows:—Mr. O'Shanassy represented the land in question to be his (O'Shanassy's) own private property, and gave the Railway Company authority to go and extract gravel therefrom. There was no agreement as to making a dam or anything that should contain or retain water; they were simply to take gravel therefrom in any manner they (the Company) deemed fit. The reason why Mr. O'Shanassy gave them leave was to the following effect:—That the Company had encroached upon a certain portion of land belonging to the O'Shanassys at the Moira, and that the matter was referred to arbitrators, who awarded O'Shanassy much more damages than the Railway Company was disposed to agree to, who at once appealed against the amount awarded to O'Shanassy, whereupon O'Shanassy came to the directors and said—"Withdraw your appeal, and I will allow you to take as much gravel as you like off of a private piece of ground belonging to me (O'Shanassy)." The place suiting the Company, they withdrew their appeal, and when ready took from this land the gravel they required. After having made use of the gravel for several weeks they discovered that O'Shanassy had no more claim to the ground than what they (the Company) had, and that they never received any benefit or pay from O'Shanassy in consequence of removing gravel therefrom. On the same date Mr. Collier, contractor, informed Mr. Forge and me that O'Shanassy had deceived the Company in representing the land to be his, and had they known it was Crown lands they would have taken out a license instead of acting as they did. And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act of Parliament of the Colony of New South Wales rendering persons making a false declaration guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CROWN LANDS.

(CONDITIONAL PURCHASES—WITHDRAWAL, FROM INSPECTORS, OF CASES PRIOR TO 1875.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 25 July, 1877.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 20th June, 1877, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

- “(1.) A Copy of any Minute or Regulation of the Lands Department relative to three months Notice being given to Conditional Purchasers before the forfeiture of their Selections.
- “(2.) A like Copy bearing upon the withdrawal from Inspectors of all Cases of Conditional Purchases made prior to 1875.”

(Mr. Jacob.)

CROWN LANDS.

Lapsing Conditional Purchases.

In order as far as possible to prevent a recurrence of the inconvenience that has in several instances occurred heretofore, by reason of conditional purchases that have been resided upon as required by law (and in some instances only improved) being declared lapsed through non-receipt of the necessary declarations at this Office in proper time, I propose that a brief form of notice should be printed and transmitted by post to the selector, at the expiration of the three years term from date of purchase, warning him that the final declaration and balance (or interest thereon) have become due, and that if not duly lodged with the Land Agent within the ensuing period of three months, the selection will be declared forfeited; and further, that in the event of his being desirous of obtaining an extension of the time for making improvements to three years from the time of survey, application to that effect should be made to accompany the declaration of residence and payment of balance or interest.

A.O.M.,
15/6/77.

Approved.—R.D., 18/6/77.

UNDER the Lands Acts Amendment Act of 1875, the time for making improvements upon conditional purchases is permitted to be extended to three years from the date of survey. There is reason to believe that misapprehension as to the effect of this provision has gone abroad, and that many persons are under the belief that in like manner the payment of balance of purchase money (or interest thereon) and the declaration of residence can be deferred.

The Regulations published in August, 1875, are sufficiently explicit, but, to provide against further inconvenience arising, it is submitted that a brief notice calling attention to the requirements of the law might with advantage be published.

A.O.M.,
14/6/77.

I cordially agree in above.—R.D., 18/6/77.

Final Declarations of 1875.

By direction of Mr. Secretary Garrett, all the final declarations received upon conditional purchases, and falling due between January and August, 1875, were included amongst those that were referred for verification to the Inspectors, after the passing of the Act 39 Victoria No. 13, and very many of them are still in the hands of the Inspectors not yet reported upon.

I now submit that, as the parties have in these cases ostensibly complied with the requirements of the law, and have made declaration that they have actually and substantially fulfilled the conditions of their several purchases, it is hardly to be justified that the recognition of their claims should in the absence of particular grounds of objection be longer deferred.

It is needless to point out that the delay is well calculated to embarrass their transactions, or that the lapse of time has gone far to render it impracticable to distinguish between the cases in which the law has been carried out and those in which it has been evaded.

It is probable that some moral effect has been produced by the reference of such cases, but by their being longer kept open (as it appears to me) that effect is likely to be rather diminished than increased.

I therefore respectfully submit the propriety of withdrawing from the hands of the Inspectors all the declarations still outstanding received prior to August 1875, or the date of the passing of the Act referred to, except where those officers have found evidence of default on the part of the claimants; and of such declarations being passed, after such examination as had been considered sufficient prior to the adoption of the present system of verification.

I do not wish to conceal my impression that this measure may have the effect in some cases of endorsing breaches of the law, and of admitting claims which could not pass under closer scrutiny; but the practical injustice of delaying further the recognition of titles that are not liable to question appears to me to be an evil of greater magnitude.

A.O.M.,
6 June, 1877.

Approved.—R.D., 16/6/77.

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 16 May, 1877.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Residents of Narrabri and that portion of the Gwydir District known as the Namoi,—

SHOWETH:—

1. That with surprise and alarm your Petitioners have been made aware, by notification bearing date the 20th day of March, in the year of our Lord 1877, and published in the New South Wales Government Gazette, dated 23rd day of the same month, and in the same year, that a reserve, numbered 1,088, of an area of some five hundred and twenty square miles, extending from Turrawan to four miles below Pilliga Hut, fronting close on to the Namoi River, and at or opposite the town of Narrabri, stretching backwards some sixteen miles, has been proclaimed by the Government for the preservation and growth of timber, and is moreover reserved from sale under the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1864," and exempted from the operation of licenses issued under the Crown Lands Regulations.

2. That, with the exception of a small supply remaining on the right bank of the river, far removed from the town, and which is calculated to last three months at the very outside, your Petitioners are cut off from all timber for fencing or building purposes by the aforesaid reserve having been proclaimed:

3. That the result of the aforesaid reserve having been made has been that many of your Petitioners have been deprived of the means of earning an honest livelihood by splitting and sawing; that the building and other trades depending upon an adequate supply of timber are either already brought, or will shortly be brought, to a standstill; that a sudden and decided stop has been put to the progress of the township; that the Crown lessees will have to discontinue fencing and other improvements; and the conditional purchasers will be debarred from fulfilling the conditions of improvement imposed upon them by the "Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1864."

4. That a more careful survey of the country lying between the Namoi and Castlereagh Rivers will show that the very best ironbark timber lies from fifteen to twenty-five or thirty miles back from the former river; that in the reserve aforesaid the ironbark timber is scarce and of inferior quality, unfit for Government purposes, but fit for the requirements of your Petitioners; and that the aforesaid reserve contains large quantities of oak, box, pine, and belar, such as (of no use to the Government or the Government's contractors) are of the greatest value to your Petitioners.

5. That the contractor for the bridges over the Narrabri Creek and Namoi River has had to pass right through and beyond the aforesaid reserve before he could find ironbark timber suited to his purposes.

6. That the action of the aforesaid reserve is proving and must prove most injurious to the welfare and detrimental to the prosperity of your Petitioners.

7. That the condition attaching to the so-called permit, prohibiting the cutting of any tree of a less diameter than twenty-four inches, precludes the utilizing of box, oak, pine, belar, and other useful timbers, which only in very rare instances attain to such dimensions.

Your Petitioners, under the aforesaid circumstances, respectfully pray that your Honorable House will cause inquiry to be made by disinterested experts into the truth of the aforesaid allegations, and extend to your Petitioners such measure of relief, either by revocation of or throwing back the aforesaid reserve some twelve or fifteen miles, as may seem meet to your Honorable House.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will every pray.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

RESERVE FOR ACCESS TO WATER, EAST MAITLAND.

(PETITION OF CERTAIN RESIDENTS RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 11 June, 1877.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales.

The Petition of the undersigned inhabitants of the Town and Ratepayers of the Borough of East Maitland,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That among the Reserves in the Town of East Maitland there is one marked on the Government plan or map of the said town as a Reserve for access to water.

That some little time back the street leading to this Reserve had been fenced across, and that on the Reserve itself a fence had been erected by reason of which fences access to the water at this Reserve was prevented.

That on representation of these facts to the Municipal Council of the Borough these fences were removed and that full access to the water has since been obtainable.

That by reason of excavations made by the Municipal Council upon other Reserves more conveniently situated to your Petitioners, and by reason of the dangerous nature of the banks of the creek at the Reserve for access to water, the latter is seldom if ever used as a watering-place.

That a portion of the Reserve for access to water has been enclosed for many years and has been occupied by permission of the Municipal Council of the Borough upon payment of the annual sum of six pounds, which sum has been paid by the occupant to the Municipal Council and has been by them expended in town improvements to the advantage and benefit of your Petitioners.

That the portion of the Reserve for access to water thus enclosed does not in any manner prejudicially affect the use of the Reserve as a watering-place.

That your Petitioners are informed that by reason of representations which have been made, proceedings are now being taken by direction of the Honorable the Minister for Lands to dispossess the occupant of the enclosures and to open the enclosure itself.

That inasmuch as the renewal of the enclosure will deprive the Municipal Council of the means of expending the annual sum of six pounds to the advantage and benefit of your Petitioners, whilst the existence of the enclosure is in no respect an inconvenience your Petitioners will suffer injury by the carrying of these proceedings into effect.

That your Petitioners would prefer and it would be a greater benefit to your Petitioners that the enclosure should remain as at present and the sum of six pounds per annum expended by the Municipal Council in the improvement of the Borough than that the enclosure should be removed and the expenditure of the annual sum be discontinued.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will be pleased to take this Petition into your favourable consideration and to grant your Petitioners such relief in the premises as to your Honorable House may seem fit.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

WALLIS CREEK WATER RESERVE.

No. 1.

Mr. J. Borthwick to The Secretary for Lands and Public Works.

Sir,

East Maitland, 14 July, 1858.

There is no town in this Colony more advantageously situated than Maitland as regards supplying the inhabitants with pure water, because the town is bounded by Wallis Creek and the Hunter River; yet, notwithstanding these natural facilities, the inhabitants are debarred from procuring a bucket of water from either source owing to the want of access to either the creek or river, having to depend solely on a lagoon for a supply, and during the late drought the water from that source was very injurious to health, in fact calculated to produce fever or some other disease, owing to the decomposed vegetable matter contained therein. You will, I am sure, agree with me that to secure a supply of good water for the use of the inhabitants of any town is of the utmost importance, but more especially to one containing upwards of 2,000 souls and possessing such facilities; therefore I cannot bring myself to believe that the Surveyor General, in laying out the town, so far forgot as not to make provision for securing to the inhabitants access to both the creek and river.

Under that impression I am induced to address you upon the subject, hoping you will at once investigate and take the necessary steps to remedy the evil.

I am, &c.,

JOHN BORTHWICK.

For reference to the Surveyor General, who will please expedite this matter.—JOHN R., B.C., 16 July, 1858.

Memorandum by The Surveyor General.

Surveyor General's Office, Sydney, 16 August, 1858.

It does not appear that in the old grants between East Maitland and the river Hunter, the occupation of which was originally authorized some thirty-five years ago, any reservation of access to the river was made.

There is still, however, a portion of frontage to Wallis Creek in the hands of the Crown, being about a quarter of a mile in extent, and situated in the old police paddock between Boardman's grant and the Globe land, and if the reservation of a portion of this for access to water would be of public convenience there would be no objection to such reservation. This portion fronting the creek is nearly three quarters of a mile from the centre of East Maitland, and the precise boundaries may be seen by persons interested by reference to the map at the local office, Maitland.

GEORGE BARNEY,

Surveyor General.

Submitted. Mr. Borthwick may be informed.—JOHN R., 23 Aug., 1858.

No. 4.

The Under Secretary for Lands and Public Works to Mr. J. Borthwick.

Sir,

Department of Lands and Public Works, Sydney, 31 August, 1858.

Adverting to my letter of the 16th ultimo, respecting water supply to the town of Maitland, I am now directed to inform you that a report on the subject has been received from the Surveyor General stating that it does not appear that in the old grants between Maitland and the river Hunter any reservation of access to the river was made, but that there is still a portion of frontage to Wallis Creek in the hands of the Crown, being about a quarter of a mile in extent, and situated in the old Police Paddock between Boardman's grant and the Globe land. No. 2

2. The Surveyor General further reports that if the reservation of a portion of this frontage to the creek for access to water would be of public convenience there would be no objection to its being so reserved, and that you may ascertain the precise boundaries of the land alluded to by reference to the map at the local office, Maitland.

No. 5.

The Police Magistrate, East Maitland, to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

Police Office, Maitland, 7 September, 1858.

I have the honor to request your attention to the present state of the land at Maitland, hitherto known as the Police Paddock. The most eligible portion of this land (for building purposes) has been recently sold, and by far the larger part of that which is still unsold is unfit for building purposes, being low and subject to floods.

This latter part of the paddock is now the only land in the township through which access to Wallis Creek, for the purpose of obtaining water, can be granted to the inhabitants, and this access I consider can best be afforded by the prolongation of Watt-street in a direct line to Wallis Creek, and by thus granting say 50 or 100 yards of the land along the creek bank on each side of the street as a water reserve.

As it is owing solely to the retention hitherto of the Police Paddock that the Government is now without any material expense to grant a very important boon to the people of Maitland, I beg to recommend that the still unsold portion of the Police Paddock be reserved, at least for the present, to meet any unforeseen requirement that may arise hereafter.

I have, &c.,

E. D. DAY,

Police Magistrate.

Transmitted to the Under Secretary for Lands and Public Works with reference to my report, under blank cover of the 16th ultimo.—GEORGE BARNEY, B.C., 22 September, 1858. Mr. Day may have a copy of the report of the Surveyor General on Borthwick's letter, but the latter officer is silent as to the proposed prolongation of Watt-street. The Surveyor General should ascertain from the local surveyor whether or not the continuation of Watt-street to the creek would afford the best and most useful approach to the water, and if not to point out what portion of the Police Paddock will afford such approach.—JOHN R., 27 September, 1858. 2. I am at the same time to apprise you that instructions have been issued to the Surveyor General to ascertain from the local surveyor at Maitland whether or not the continuation of Watt-street to the creek would afford the best and most useful approach to the water, and, if not, to point out what portion of the Police Paddock is available for that purpose.

Sir,

Surveyor General's Office, Sydney, 5 November, 1858.

It being the intention to set apart a portion of the Police Paddock fronting Wallis Creek as a water reserve for East Maitland, I have to request that you will be good enough to report as to whether or not the continuation of Watt-street in that town would afford the best and most useful approach to the water, and, if not, to point out what portion of the paddock will afford such approach.

2. You will likewise report as to the supply of water in the creek, between the Glebe land and Boardman's grant, and as to the practicability of increasing and rendering permanent that supply by damming the creek in this portion.

Maitland, 25 January, 1859.

Referring to instructions conveyed to me in your favor of the 5th November last, I do myself the honor to report that I have surveyed the locality therein referred to, and forward a plan of the same.

2. You will observe that from the south-west end of Watt-street I recommend the proposed access to Wallis Creek to bear due west, for, although the distance is but 80 links shorter than the line south-west from the same point, yet having regard for future contingencies I prefer it.

Minutes thereon.

Mr. Maitland has not reported on the practicability of increasing the supply of water by damming, but he informs me personally, and I have some knowledge myself of the locality, that the supply is naturally so copious as to render artificial increase quite unnecessary at present. No doubt a dam slightly above the ordinary level might be constructed, but the lands adjacent to the creek being lower than the banks a dam of any considerable height would tend to flood reserved lands.—A.G.M., 7 February.

Mr. Adams,—I have charted a sketch made for Police Magistrate. The recreation reserve does not extend further at present than Adams-street, but it may be desirable to extend it to the water reserve and the creek.

Petition from Inhabitants of East Maitland to The Secretary for Public Works.

East Maitland, 21 December, 1875.

The petition of the undersigned inhabitants of the town of East Maitland,—
Humbly sheweth:—

That water is rather a scarce commodity available for horses and cattle in this township at the present time, and that there is a water reserve to Wallis Creek, near the site of the old lock-up, which the Borough Council has let to a tenant, who has fenced it off, thus preventing people and cattle from having access thereto.

We believe it is only through you our grievance can be redressed, and therefore we earnestly and respectfully request that you will cause the reserve to be thrown open and used for the purpose for which it was originally dedicated.

And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c., &c.

No. 11.

Mr. District-Surveyor Evans to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

East Maitland, 12 January, 1876.

In compliance with instructions, I have the honor to report on a petition from certain inhabitants of East Maitland that a water reserve on Wallis Creek be thrown open to the public. See minute on No 10.

The reserve in question, marked on the map as containing 1a. 3r. 20p., is leased for a period of three years, commencing from 1 July, 1875, by the Municipal Council of East Maitland, to Francis Abberton, at a rent of £6 per annum. At the expiration of the lease the tenant consents to give up possession with a crop of lucerne laid down.

On the sketch I have shown the position of fences which obstruct the free use of the water, which, however, unless an approach were made, is not safe for cattle, the banks being very high, the creek boggy, and the water deep. Appendix B, enclosed.

The Municipal Council have provided two water-holes for watering stock in the town—one in the reserve to the south-eastern side of Bank-street, near Adams-street, and the other in the reserve at the junction of Lindsay and Melbourne streets. These are at opposite ends of the town, and the first-named is not far from the reserve which it is now sought to throw open. Both of these water-holes are accessible at all times, and more conveniently situated. To give an idea of how unsuited the reserve in its present condition is for the watering of stock I may mention that Mr. Abberton, the lessee, has a cask on it to water his stock, which cask is daily filled by hard labour from the creek.

Of the nine aldermen in the Municipality only one is in favour of throwing the reserve open, and it appears to me to be a matter entirely for the municipal authorities to deal with. The Council propose embanking the eastern side of Wallis Creek, from Bank-street northerly, and the opening of this reserve would seriously interfere with such a project.

I have, &c.,

THOMAS EVANS,

District Surveyor.

Mr. Thompson,—Has the reserve here mentioned, or any of the reserves in Maitland (East), been vested in the Borough Council as trustees?—F.W.W., 27/1/76. A large area of land at East Maitland was by a Bill passed last Session vested in the Borough Council. Perhaps the area included the reserve referred to. The reserve containing 1a. 3r. 20p. referred to was not embraced in the Bill mentioned.—J.D.R., 31/1/76. I cannot find any record of the dedication of this reserve, nor does it appear to have been placed under the control of the Council. Perhaps the Council should be asked to state on what authority the reserve is held.—31/1/76. Yes.—3/2/76.

S. Scholey, Esq., M.L.A., to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 27 January, 1876.

I have the honor to again call your attention to the petition presented by me for the opening of the street and reserve now fenced by a man named Abberton, which prevents the people of East Maitland from obtaining water from Wallis Creek. As the supply is becoming scarce I hope the Honorable Minister will give this matter his earliest attention. Mr. Blackman has promised Mr. Hutchinson that he will place the papers in his case before you to-morrow morning, Friday. I hope you will take this matter under your consideration. See No. 10.

Sir,

East Maitland, 1 February, 1876.

I have the honor again to call your attention to the matter of the opening of the street and reserve for water supply on Wallis Creek, East Maitland, as the present supply of one of the greatest blessings, water, is becoming short.

An early reply will oblige

Yours, &c.,

STEPHEN SCHOLEY.

Question arisen as to the authority the Council have for holding the reserve. Mr. Oliver cannot furnish any information respecting the dedication of the reserve.—J.D.R., 3/2/76.

The Municipal Council should, I think, be required to show on what authority they have dealt with and leased the reserve in question.—R. D. FITZGERALD (for Surveyor General), 3/2/76.

Approved, and the Municipal Council should be required to at once remove the fences across the road leading down from the junction of Watt and Wallis streets so as to afford the public free access to the creek.—T.G., 10/2/76.

Mr. District-Surveyor Evans to The Surveyor General.

Sir,

East Maitland, 15 March, 1876.

In reference to B.C. instructions of the 10th instant, directing the removal of the remaining portion of the fence on reserve at Wallis Creek, East Maitland, I beg to report that I waited upon the Mayor, who declined to have any more of the fencing at present erected on the reserve removed, or to allow any one else to remove it; and stated that he had complied with the request of the Honorable the Minister for Lands in having the fences which crossed the street leading down to the water removed, as reported upon by my letter of the 6th instant. That report is in no sense inaccurate, as the directions of the Honorable the Minister, viz., "to remove all the fences that are now across the street leading down to the water reserve to Wallis Creek" have been carried out, as indeed is plain from the sketch enclosed with Mr. Scholey's letter of the 8th instant, who shows the fences removed, and requires the removal of the fence separating the reserve from the street, and that along the top of the creek bank. The removal of of these fences will not permit of freer access to the water than exists at present, and the Municipal Council of East Maitland say that if I remove the fence that proceedings will be taken against me in the law Courts, and rely upon the 153rd section of the Municipalities Act as giving them full authority and control over all reserves.

Under these circumstances I beg for further instructions before going to the extreme measure of removing a fence which will benefit no one, and will probably lead to a suit in the Supreme Court.

I have, &c.,

THOMAS EVANS,

District Surveyor.

No. 23.

The Mayor, East Maitland, to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Municipal Council Chambers, East Maitland, 15 March, 1876.

No. 21.

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 9th instant, I am directed by the Municipal Council of this Borough, without further comment respecting the motives of the party making the representations referred to in your letter, than to say that such motives cannot be for the general benefit of the townspeople, to lay before you the facts and circumstances of the case, the view which the Council take of their powers in the treatment of the water reserve, and the decision of the Council as to the course they will adopt in the matter.

The facts are these:—The water reserve is one of the public reserves of the town, and is situated on Wallis Creek, at the extreme western side of the laid-out town. The creek at the reserve is most difficult of access, and when the coffer-dams at the site of the floodgates are removed there will be a perpendicular bank of 3 feet along the creek at this spot, consequent upon the fall of the water which will then take place to that extent. The Council sometime back, at considerable expense, erected a dam upon another reserve nearer to the town than that upon Wallis Creek, and this dam has had the effect of producing a fine sheet of water far more conveniently situated than the creek at the water reserve. To this water the inhabitants of the town have long had access, and have availed themselves of it much in preference to proceeding to the water reserve at the creek. However, on the receipt of your former communication respecting the fences across the road leading to the creek at the water reserve, the Council took such steps, after making due inquiry as have had the effect of leaving free access to the water (as far as the nature of the bank of the creek itself will allow it) along the whole water-frontage of the reserve; and in doing this they have given full effect to the reserve as a watering-place. For upwards of twenty years that portion of the reserve which is furthest from the water has been enclosed, and it is simply ridiculous to suppose that its being now thrown open will facilitate the watering of animals, or the procuring of water from the creek more than the opening of the frontage, as above explained, has already done.

Having thus placed the facts before you, I have to state that the Council, considering that the town as laid out is fitted to accommodate thirty times the inhabitants now residing in it, and perceiving that the time for putting the reserves to the uses which they seem to have been intended would not arrive yet for many years, have enclosed many of them which would otherwise have remained waste lands, and have let them for grazing purposes, the proceeds arising therefrom going to add to the funds of the Council, and being expended in town improvements. The Council consider (and I would refer you to the 153rd section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867" as showing some grounds for this view) that they have the power of generally controlling and managing public reserves, and it is in the exercise of this power that they have enclosed some reserves as stated, the time for opening them not having in the opinion of the Council yet arrived. That they have erected a dam upon another reserve, and thereby supplied a far better watering-place for the inhabitants than that afforded by the creek at the water reserve, and that they have thrown open so much of the water reserve only as is necessary to afford free access to the water in the creek at the reserve.

Having now informed you of the powers which the Council believe they possess in the matter, and that they have exercised them in the best way for the public good, I have only to add, that they intend to act in accordance with their opinion as to their right to exercise these powers until the decision of a competent Court shows them to be in error. They therefore decline at the present juncture to remove any more of the fencing at the water reserve than has been already removed, or to allow any one else to do so without their authority.

There is not a single inhabitant injured by the fact that the whole of the fencing at the water reserve is not removed, but if any one fancies himself to be affected, and the Council can be made to remove the fence, the law is open to him, and he can proceed accordingly.

I have, &c.,

S. Scholey, Esq., M.L.A., to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Sydney, 17 March, 1876.

I have the honor to again call your attention to the present state of the East Maitland water reserve, Wallis Creek. This land, when the adjoining allotments were surveyed and sold, was left open to the public. Some time after application was made to the Municipal Council for a lease, and this was granted at the rate of £6 per year. It stands on the map of the town as never dedicated, or a line from any Government to that effect. The want of water this dry season has caused this matter to be brought before the ratepayers, and they took I think the proper course and forwarded to me as their representative a petition to present to you, respectfully worded, and signed by about 100 inhabitants. You promised in reply that it should have your attention. Month after month has passed away after calling on you and the officers of the different offices; all but begging for a drink of one of God's greatest blessings—water. This great injustice still remains.

The enclosed will show you that your order is put at defiance.

Yours, &c.,

STEPHEN SCHOLEY.

This

This matter should be looked to at once. If the Council will not remove the fences that obstruct the approaches to Wallis Creek I will consider the propriety of setting them aside as Trustees.—T.G., 18/3/76. As the papers are with Mr. District-Surveyor Evans the Minister wishes a telegram sent to him to return them at once with definite report as to whether all the fences have been removed.—W.W.S., 18/3/76. Mr. Landers to telegraph accordingly.—P.F.A., 18/3/76. See papers now sent in by Survey Office.—W.W.S., 18/3/76. From a perusal since my first minute on this letter was written of Mr. Evans's report, I find that my directions as to the removal of fences preventing access to Wallis Creek have been carried out, and that there is now no obstructions to such access. Mr. Scholey may be so informed. The question however, as to the powers of Municipalities over and in connection with such reserves as the one in question should be settled by a reference to the Crown Law Officers.—T.G., 20/3/76. The Under Secretary for Justice and Public Instruction. Department of Lands, 28 March, 1876.—W.W.S. These papers have been before the Attorney General, but as it is understood that the Honorable the Secretary for Lands desires to see them, they are forwarded as requested. East Maitland Borough Council.

THE ordinary fortnightly meeting of the East Maitland Borough Council was held on Monday night, when there were present, the Mayor, Aldermen Bailey, Cunningham, M'Laughlin, Cains, and Marr. The minutes of the previous meeting and the outward correspondence having been read and confirmed, the following business was done:—

Correspondence from Thomas Evans, district surveyor, relative to the removal of the fences across the road leading to the water reserve, Wallis Creek. As the fences had already been removed, no further action on this letter was necessary. From Mr. S. Scholey, M.L.A., stating that the Under Secretary had informed him that the matter of the by-laws for the Council should be seen to at once. From the Department of Lands, saying that it having been represented to the Department that the fences obstructing the approach to the water reserve on Wallis Creek have not yet been removed, directions had been given to request the Mayor to be good enough to have them removed without delay should they still be standing. After a long and warm discussion on the matter, during which all the members of the Council spoke, and two amendments having been moved and lost, the following resolution was carried on the motion of Alderman M'Laughlin, seconded by Alderman Cunningham:— "That the Mayor be empowered to reply—using his own words—to the letter from the Minister for Lands, stating that the Council do not recognize the right of the Minister to interfere in the Council's management of public reserves." Alderman Marr called for a division on the motion, which resulted in his own being the only vote against it.

Referring to Mr. Under Secretary Stephen's letter of the 20th instant, respecting the water reserve at Wallis Creek, I beg to state that I was on the reserve last night, Monday; that the road 66 feet wide is still obstructed 33 feet more or less, and the land marked "Water Reserve" (la. 3r. 20p.) is still fenced on the road by nineteen panels of fencing, and on the bank of the creek by a two-rail fence to Mr. Brunker's land on the opposite end of the reserve from the road. I cannot understand the statement that there is now no obstruction to such access.

The person so reporting cannot be making a truthful statement. Whoever the person may be I shall be prepared to meet him on the reserve on Saturday next, or any other that the Government may appoint; then they will get at the truth. I again state that the water reserve is let at a rent of £6 per year, I am informed; in fact I saw a man cutting lucerne on the land last night.

This matter to me personally is nothing, but to the petitioners who addressed you through me it is all important.

THERE appears to be no record of the reserve referred to being vested in the Borough Council of East Maitland, and they were requested to show on what authority they dealt with and leased the reserve in question, and also to remove the fence across the road leading from the junction of Watt and Wallace streets.

The Council's reply ignores the subject of the former request, and states that the road was never stopped up against the public by their direction, and that the public had always free access to the water if they had wished to avail themselves of it.

The attention of the Honorable the Minister for Lands is directed to the above facts, and it is submitted as to what action is now to be taken in the matter.

Municipalities Act—Water Reserve, Wallis Creek, East Maitland—As to extent of power of Council over reserves not specially placed under their control.

The Council of any Municipality has no power under this section of altering the purposes for which these reserves were made, and clearly has no power to make sources of municipal revenue out of lands dedicated for specific public purposes, as it appears this municipality has done by letting such lands to tenants.

Answer to Question asked in the Legislative Assembly respecting Wallis Creek Water Reserve, East Maitland.

TUESDAY, 30 JANUARY, 1877.

Question :—

- (7.) Wallis Creek Water Reserve :—Mr. Scholey asked the Secretary for Lands, pursuant to Notice,—
- (1.) Is it his intention to open the Wallis Creek Water Reserve, as petitioned for by the inhabitants of East Maitland, December, 1875, more than twelve months ago, and applied for month after month to the Lands Office ?
- (2.) In answer to Question, December 15th, the matter had been referred to the Crown Law Officers for legal advice ; if so, has that advice been given, and what is the intention of the Government ?

Answer :—

Mr. Garrett answered,—The papers in the case have been returned by the Crown Law Officers, and the matter will receive consideration at the earliest practicable moment.

Precis of the case.

Consequent upon representation of Mr. John Borthwick, of 14 July, 1858, of East Maitland, of the urgent need of such, an area of 1 acre 3 roods 20 perches was surveyed (25 January, 1859), and reserved for access to Wallis Creek for water supply.

On the 23rd December, 1875, a petition of inhabitants of East Maitland was presented by Mr. Scholey, M.P., to the effect that the Borough Council of East Maitland had let the Wallis Creek water reserve to a tenant, who had fenced it off, and praying for redress. This petition was referred for report to Mr. District-Surveyor Evans, who reported that the Council had leased the reserve in question to one Francis Abberton, at a rent of £6 per annum, for three years, commencing on the 1st July, 1875, and that the reserve and access thereto was obstructed by fences. He, however, seemed to concur with the Borough Council in their action.

Much agitation was kept up by the local Member (Mr. Scholey), and repeated directions were given by the Minister to remove the fences, and the Borough Council to be called upon to show their authority for the action they had taken.

By letter, 15 March, 1876, the Mayor (Mr. Chambers) replied that the Council relied upon the powers conferred by the 153rd section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and entered into detail of its action, concluding that the Council intended to act in accordance with their opinion as to their right to exercise these powers until the decision of a competent Court shows them to be in error.

The Minister directed the opinion of the Attorney General to be obtained, who furnished the following :—

Water Reserve, Wallis Creek, East Maitland.—As to extent of power of Council over reserves not specially placed under their control.

Crown Law Offices, Sydney, 24 January, 1877.

UNDER section 153 of 31 Vic. No. 12, any Municipal Council may make by-laws for generally controlling and managing public reserves,—that is to say, for more effectually carrying out the objects for which such reserves were originally made.

The Council of any Municipality has no power under this section of altering the purposes for which these reserves were made, and clearly has no power to make sources of municipal revenue out of lands dedicated for specific public purposes, as it appears this Municipality has done by letting such lands to tenants.

WILLIAM B. DALLEY,

Attorney General.

It is now submitted that the Borough Council of East Maitland be furnished with a copy of this opinion, and directed to remove the whole of the fencing, and allow free access to the reserve, and that Mr. Scholey, M.P., be so informed.

The Under Secretary for Lands to S. Scholey, Esq., M.L.A.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 28 February, 1877.

In reference to the correspondence which has taken place relative to the act of the Borough Council of East Maitland in having, to the exclusion of the public, leased the water reserve at Wallis Creek, I am directed to inform you that under an opinion obtained from the Honorable the Attorney General, a copy of which I enclose, it seems that the Borough Council has not (as it supposes), under the 153rd section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," any power to alter the purposes for which public reserves are made, or to make sources of revenue out of lands dedicated for public purposes.

I am to say that the Mayor has been furnished with a copy of the Attorney General's opinion, and at the same time requested to cause to be removed at once all the fencing on or leading to the reserve, and to allow the public free access thereto.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

The Under Secretary for Lands to The Mayor, East Maitland.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 28 February, 1877.

Adverting to the correspondence which has taken place relative to the removal of certain fencing about the Wallis Creek water reserve, I am directed by the Honorable the Minister for Lands to forward herewith, for the information of the Borough Council, a copy of an opinion obtained from the Honorable the Attorney General on the subject of the powers conferred on Borough Councils by the 153rd section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

I am further directed to desire that you will be good enough to have removed at once the whole of the fencing on or leading to the water reserve, and to allow the public free access to the said reserve.

The Officer-in-charge, Occupation of Lands, to The Crown Bailiff, East Maitland.

Sir, Crown Lands Occupation Office, Sydney, 9 March, 1877.

I have to request that you will prefer an information under the 32nd section of the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1865," and the 44th section of the Lands Act Amendment Act of 1875, against the party in possession of the Wallis Creek water reserve, East Maitland, as being in the occupation of land reserved for public purposes.

I forward herewith a copy of the Attorney General's opinion as to the right claimed by the Municipal Council to lease this reserve. For opinion see No. 37.

I have, &c.,

No. 44.

The Mayor, East Maitland, to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir, Borough Council Chambers, East Maitland, 10 March, 1877.

Having referred the subject matter of your letter of the 28th ultimo, and the opinion of the Honorable the Attorney General, as therein enclosed, to the Council of this Borough, I am directed to ask you to have the goodness to allow matters to stand over for a little, and to request the Attorney General to do the Council the favour of reconsidering his opinion. He has evidently referred only to the 153rd section of the Municipalities Act, which is only a section of general provisions; the 156th section is the one more directly bearing upon the point at issue, and seemingly giving this Council a power to act exactly as they are doing; for I would point out that the Council are not using this reserve so as to prevent its use by the inhabitants for the purposes for which it was granted, the whole water frontage, and the road leading thereto, being fully opened; the Council are in fact only directing what portion of the reserve the inhabitants shall pass over in watering, and this it can scarcely be denied they have the right to do. The Government itself has established a precedent in their treatment of the reserve for Gaol and Court-house; they have fenced in the reserve, leaving a roadway to the Court-house. The Council have only done the same in respect of the water reserve: they have fenced it in, leaving a roadway to the water frontage, which, as stated, is open for its whole length.

Further, there seems much doubt as to the granting of this reserve as a special reserve for watering, and I am requested to suggest that the fact of it being such a reserve should not be accepted as a foregone conclusion without due investigation. In the town plan it appears as a "reserve for access to water," and certainly the action of the Council has in nowise altered the purpose for which the reserve by this plan seems to have been made.

I have, &c.,
G. W. T. CHAMBERS.

If the action directed to be taken with regard to this matter has not yet been carried out by Occupation Branch, the Minister for Lands desires in the first instance to deal with the representations made in this letter. Former papers will be required.—Officer-in-charge, Occupation Branch, B.C., 12 March, /77.—W.W.S.—Urgent.

Although the Attorney General's minute refers only in terms to the 153rd section of the Municipalities Act, it seems to me to apply equally to the 156th, and apparently is decisive as to the law of the case. I would not therefore advise that the action already taken by direction of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands should be countermanded, as it is very desirable that the matter should be brought to an issue, and a decision be arrived at which might probably form a precedent for future guidance.—A.O.P., 13/3/77.

The Mayor, East Maitland, to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

East Maitland Municipal Council Chambers, 20 June, 1877.

I do myself the honor to inform you that a petition, signed by a large number of the ratepayers and inhabitants of the Borough, was lately, in error as to the proper course in the matter, made and presented to the Honorable the Legislative Assembly in place of to yourself.

In seeking to remedy this mistake I now forward you a copy of the petition, and would ask you to grant the prayer therein contained, and to stay the proceedings which have been initiated to dispossess the present occupant. Enclosed.

The Crown Lands officer here, holding your authority in this matter, must, if requested to report upon the point, inform you that ample access is now afforded to the water, and that the enclosure does not prejudicially affect the use of the reserve as that of one for access to water, and Mr. Evans, the District Surveyor, must be able to afford the same testimony.

The petition itself so explains the circumstances of the case and the ground of the petitioner's prayer that I presume I need not enlarge upon it.

I have, &c.,

G. W. T. CHAMBERS,

Mayor.

Obtain and let me see as early as possible a copy of the depositions in the case referred to from the East Maitland Court-house.—R.D., 22/6/77.

[Enclosure to No. 62.]

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales.

The petition of the undersigned inhabitants of the town and ratepayers of the Borough of East Maitland,—
Humbly sheweth:—

That among the reserves in the town of Maitland (East) there is one marked on the Government plan or map of the said town as a reserve for access to water.

That some little time back the street leading to this reserve had been fenced across, and that on the reserve itself a fence had been erected, by reason of which fences access to the water at this reserve was prevented.

That on the representation of these facts to the Municipal Council of the Borough these fences were removed, and that full access to the water has since been obtainable.

That by reason of excavations made by the Municipal Council upon other reserves more conveniently situated to your petitioners, and by reason of the dangerous nature of the banks of the creek at the reserve for access to water, the latter is seldom if ever used as a watering-place.

That a portion of the reserve for access to water has been enclosed for many years, and has been occupied, by permission of the Municipal Council of the Borough, upon payment of the annual sum of £6, which sum has been paid by the occupant to the Municipal Council, and has been by them expended in town improvements to the advantage and benefit of your petitioners.

That the portion of the reserve for access to water thus enclosed does not in any manner prejudicially affect the use of the reserve as a watering-place.

That your petitioners are informed that by reason of representations which have been made, proceedings are now being taken by direction of the Honorable the Minister for Lands to dispossess the occupant of the enclosure, and to open the enclosure itself.

That inasmuch as the removal of the enclosure will deprive the Municipal Council of the means of expending the annual sum of £6 to the advantage and benefit of your petitioners, whilst the existence of the enclosure is in no respect an inconvenience, your petitioners will suffer injury by the carrying of these proceedings into effect.

That your petitioners would prefer, and it would be a great benefit to your petitioners, that the enclosure should remain as at present, and the sum of £6 per annum expended by the Municipal Council in the improvement of the Borough than that the enclosure should be removed, and the expenditure of the annual sum be discontinued.

Your petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will be pleased to take this petition into your favourable consideration, and to grant your petitioners such relief in the premises as to your Honorable House may seem fit.

And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.
