SUPPLY OF WATER TO THE TOWN OF BATHURST:

BY

1877.

REPORT to the Government of New South Wales on a Supply of Water to the Town of Bathurst.

To the Honorable the Colonial Secretary,
New South Wales.

Sir,

Having been honored with instructions from the Government to report on the subject of Water Supply for the City of Bathurst, I proceeded there on the 4th July, and in company with the Mayor, E. Webb, Esq., and Mr. Fisher, the District Surveyor, during the following week I examined the following probable sources of supply, viz. :—The river Macquarie, the Gulf, Winburndale and Anthony's Creeks, the Fish River, Vale Creek, and Campbell's Creek.

On the 14th July I submitted a Progress Report, in which I intimated that the first two of the sources named, the Macquarie River and Gulf Creek, were the most probable. Mr. Surveyor Stewart, under the direction of Mr. Fisher, commenced the necessary surveys, &c., which were still incomplete on my return from the Hunter River District on the 17th August, and I proceeded to Orange for the purpose of making a similar inquiry for that town. On the 6th September I again took up the subject of the Water Supply for Bathurst, and I then found that though a stream could be brought into the town from the Gulf Creek by a race about 20 miles long, yet, without a storage reservoir of ample capacity in which to receive the water on the occurrence of storms, this source could not be depended on for a permanent supply; and that a site for such storage reservoir could not be found.

A further examination of Anthony's Creek was attended with similar results, and ultimately, though a considerable amount of time and expense in surveys had been incurred in the endeavour to obtain a gravitating scheme, I was compelled to abandon the attempt to obtain a supply on that principle and adopt the river Macquarie, which is contiguous to the city of Bathurst, as the source whence a supply could be obtained by pumping.

From the Worshipful the Mayor I learned that the population of the city is about 6,000, living in 1,186 houses containing 5,959 rooms. Water is now chiefly obtained from wells; some small portion of the inhabitants purchase the water and this number is increasing; in dry periods it amounts to about one-fourth of the population who are thus supplied, and who pay from 1s. 6d. to 2s. 6d. for a cask of water.

The water of the wells is in many cases impure; a proof of this has been obtained by the analysis of a sample of water from one of them now in constant use by some ten or twelve houses, which was forwarded for examination to Professor Watt, Government Analyst; the result is given in the Appendix, page 9. I inspected the well referred to; it is sunk in the decomposed granite rock which covers the surface of the district, and is very permeable to water. Within the radius of a chain there were several privies. The water on being drawn was clear and bright, but analysis proves that it is wholly unfit for drinking.

I was unable to obtain statistics of the present rate of mortality within the town. From the Registrar General I learn that at the time of the last Census in 1871, Bathurst contained a population of 16,860; the return is probably for the county; the total deaths in 1876 were 417, and of these 124, or more than one-fourth, were due to zymotic disease and therefore preventable.

The analysis of water from the railway well is also given with the above; this is not, I believe, used for drinking purposes. The presence of typhoid fever in Bathurst is, however, fully accounted for by the existence of wells of this character.

In

In the same table, page 9, the analysis of the river Macquarie water is also given, and Professor Watt describes it as a fairly good water, which will be much improved by the efficient filtration; this the works hereafter to be described are intended to effect.

The population of 6,000 persons would be sufficiently supplied with water for purely domestic purposes at the rate of 20 gallons per head, or 120,000 gallons per day, if there be no waste; this however would be insufficient for watering streets and other public uses, 30 gallons per head would be required for this purpose; it is necessary also to make some allowance for an increase of population. All these points considered, I think it will be desirable to estimate for one quarter million of gallons per day, which will provide a small quantity for manufacturing purposes, and encourage the use of water, an enlarged consumption of which will, if the works be properly managed, and the water sold in the manner hereafter to be mentioned, result in economising its cost and extending the benefits to be derived therefrom by the Municipality and the public generally.

I have received from the Municipality papers relating to two proposed schemes for supplying Bathurst with water. The first is by Alderman Hunks; his proposal is to supply 5,000 persons with $18\frac{1}{2}$ gallons per day = ... 92,500 for street-watering 50,000
Total 142,000 gallons.

A reservoir and filters to contain 616,000 gallons are to be situated on the elevated land at the top of Kepple-street, 242 feet over the level of the river, and distant from it 64 chains; the dimensions of the filters are not stated.

The scheme also provides a 22 h.p. engine, and 4 miles 13 chains of pipe for distributing the water. The proposal is to fix the engine on the river bank at the bottom of Hope-street, which is below the town; but it is stated that it may be placed higher up the stream. As the filtering would be effected at the upper end of the main pipe, it could not be used for the purposes of distribution, as it could be if the water is filtered before being forced through it. The estimate for these works is £12,381.

The other scheme is proposed by Mr. Denny, mechanical engineer, of Bathurst.

By this it is intended to distribute water for 3,000 consumers at 25 gallons per day = 75,000 gallons
And for watering 100,000 superficial yards of street at $\frac{1}{2}$ a gallon per day 50,000 ,, Total 125,000 gallons

He calculates that a 25 h.p. engine will be required to lift the water at the rate of 300 gallons per minute 215 feet; the distance of the reservoir is stated to be $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile. This he would provide to contain 450,000 gallons, which would be supplied through an 8-inch main pipe.

The position of the works and the estimates are not given in the paper furnished to me, and the filtering of the water is not mentioned in connection with this scheme.

Both of these proposals appear to be confined to supplying water to meet the immediate necessity for domestic purposes and street-watering only; and if this alone be necessary, the quantity and power provided would be sufficient.

I am of opinion however that, though it is most desirable to keep the scheme within such limits as it is reasonable to expect may be carried out, yet all experience goes to show that immediate additions become necessary to works of this limited character, and that economy is best insured by considering the work in the first instance on a somewhat larger scale, omitting certain portions which are in duplicate until the demand shall render their construction necessary, and the sale of the water insure insure the success of the scheme in its commercial aspect. Under these circumstances, I propose to consider the works as to be capable of distributing 250,000 gallons per day.

I shall now proceed to describe the arrangements which I would recommend for adoption. It is proposed to take the water from the river at a point above the town, and about $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile above the railway bridge, as shown on the accompanying plan, No. 1. At this point the rock appears in the bed of the river, and a hole a few feet in depth below the general bed of the river, which is permanent, offers a convenient place wherein to fix the suction pipe of the pumps.

The average level of the river bed at this point above the datum assumed by the Municipality is	...	26.00 feet.
Flood level is	50.00 "
Rails at station	50.83 "
Proceeding along Piper-street, the levels rise at the junction of Peel-street to	157.76 "
At the back of the Protestant College the level rises to		236.00 "
The highest buildings to be supplied are this College and the R.C. College at top of Seymour-street	...	206.00 "

At the point before referred to, it is proposed to fix the engine-house and pumps, at a distance of 90 feet from the river, and the floor to be 62 feet over datum or 12 feet above flood level. At this place also it is proposed to construct two settling-tanks, each capable of containing one day's supply; two filters, each capable of filtering half-a-day's supply; a clear-water tank, capable of containing half-a-day's supply; the engines and pumps.

A separate pump will be provided capable of lifting a day's supply of water from the river into the settling-tank in six hours. The engines will be capable of being connected or disconnected with this pump, and also of lifting four-fifths of the total daily quantity in eight hours, after filtration, into a reservoir of 158 feet over datum, situated near the junction of Piper and Peel Streets, which is at a sufficient elevation to command the greater part of the town. When this reservoir is filled, and the river-water pump is disconnected, the engine will be capable of lifting the remaining one-fifth of the water into the reservoir at the back of the Protestant College, at an elevation sufficient to command that building, and also the first floor of the R.C. College at a distance of a mile.

The use of this higher reservoir will be to give the supply to this limited higher district of the town, except on the occasion of fires, when the extra pressure of 78 feet will be available by placing it in connection with the general system of piping.

This arrangement will give a uniform load on the engine, which is proposed to be of the horizontal rotative class.

The pump for the higher lift would be fixed on to the same bed-plate with the engine.

The engine should be capable of exerting an effective 27-h. power.

The engine and boiler should be in duplicate, for safety.

The size of the pipe required to convey the water from the pumps to the service reservoirs, and to discharge it with the available fall, so as to maintain an efficient pressure, is 10 inches in diameter; and it is proposed to lay this along Piper-street, as being the most central position in the town, and therefore best suited for the purpose of distribution.

Having now described the general arrangement, which is shown on plan No. 1, I may notice the proposed works somewhat more in detail.

The dimensions of the tanks and filters are indicated on the plan No. 2. The water will first be received into the settling tank, of which two are shown. The capacity of each tank will be equal to one day's supply, 40,000 cubic feet in 7 feet of depth; they will be 10 feet deep, allowing the lower 3 feet not to be drawn off for supplying the filters, and to be washed out occasionally through a sludge-pipe provided for the purpose.

These

These tanks will be formed by excavation to a depth of about 5 feet. The earth thus obtained, and that from the site of the adjacent filters, will be used to build up the bank, which will be puddled and lined with brickwork in the manner shown, and finished so as to contain the water at a level of 72 feet over datum.

The floor is to be covered with puddle and concrete; the slope sides are to be $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 1, lined with brickwork and puddle.

The suction pipe from the river to pump, and from pump to settling tank, to be 15 inches in diameter.

The outlet pipe from the settling tanks will be 12 inches diameter, and provided with a floating end to take the water for the filters from a few inches beneath the surface, where it is clearest, and prevent the early choking of the filters. This is shown on plan No. 2.

The filters will be two in number, each capable of filtering half a day's supply of water easily; and land must be secured for a third. They are formed to hold 5 feet in depth of filtering medium, 2 feet of water, and 1 foot to top of bank.

The filter tanks will be formed in the same way as the settling tanks, omitting the concrete on the floor. The inlet and outlet pipes will be 12 inches in diameter, and with proper sluices to control the water.

The requisite air pipes and overflow will also be provided.

From the filter the water will flow into the clear-water tank, which has a capacity equal to half a day's supply; it will be circular in plan, 50 feet diameter, and 10 feet deep, lined with puddle and brickwork.

From the tank the engines will take the water and force it at the rate of 200,000 gallons in eight hours to the lower reservoir in Piper-street. The river-water pump will in the same period pump the daily quantity necessary for the supply, and also for the boilers and for condensation, lifting it 46 feet for these purposes.

During the operation of filling the lower service reservoir the town will be supplied direct from the pumps, through the 10-inch main proceeding up Piper-street. When the draught in the pipes ceases the tank will obtain its supply; and when trifling repairs are required to the engine, it can cease to run for nearly twenty-four hours.

Similarly the higher reservoir will be filled for the supply of the upper tank after the lower one is full.

In the event of a fire occurring when the engine is not at work, the smaller and higher reservoir can be put into connection with the pipe system from the lower reservoir, and exert the full pressure due to its elevation; it would be able to supply water for several hours directed to a special district, and ample time would be obtained to get up the full pressure at the pumping station to keep up the supply.

The covered reservoirs will be circular in plan, the larger one 60 feet in diameter and 12 feet deep; it is shown on drawing No. 3; it will be lined with puddle and brickwork, and covered with corrugated iron on wooden framing, to preserve the purity of the water.

The smaller one will be of similar construction, and both will be provided with proper inlet, outlet, overflow, and wash-out arrangements.

The estimate for the works is as follows:—

Engine-house, with two 27-h.p. engines effective, and boilers, two settling tanks to contain one day's supply each, two filters capable of filtering daily supply, clear-water tank, connecting-pipes, pumps, &c., complete	£11,412
$2\frac{1}{2}$ miles of main pipe 10 inches diameter, with bends and junctions ...	4,732
Two covered service reservoirs capable of storing one day's supply ...	1,600
Land, compensation, fencing, and houses for workmen	1,050
	£18,794

The

The frontages of the houses in the streets of Bathurst occupy nearly 14 miles.

To carry out the pipe work for distributing the water so as to place every house within a reasonable distance of a public stand-post where the water may be drawn, will require about that length of piping in addition to the 10-inch main pipe.

This 14 miles will consist of pipes of various sizes—6, 4, and 3 inches in diameter, and with the necessary sluice-cocks, stand-posts at 11½ chains apart, hydrants or fire-cocks 300 feet apart, will cost	£12,131
Engineering	1,000
Add cost of works	18,794
										£31,925

The annual working charges will be as follows:—

Establishment—Mechanic superintendent, with residence, per annum...	£250
	£ s. d.
Engine tender, at 0 10 0 per day, and residence
Fireman 0 8 0 "
Labourer 0 7 0 "
	1 5 0 per day per annum 456
Coals, oil, tallow, and waste 232
Repairs of engine, &c., say 62
	£1,000
Interest on £32,000, at 5 per cent. 1,600
	Total annual charges £2,600

When the works distribute the quantity 250,000 gallons per day, the cost of the water will be 6¾d. per 1,000 gallons.

The above capital amount, however, includes the cost of duplicate engine and boiler, &c., and the works could if required give a far larger supply. When first undertaken it is probable that the duplicate engine, one settling tank, and some portion of the distributing arrangement would be omitted, and the capital expenditure could be reduced by £6,000.

The annual rateable value of property in Bathurst is £46,541; a nincpenny rate on this sum will yield £1,745.

This rate should I consider be levied for water distributed to the public at the stand-posts, one of which would be within 120 yards of every premises; and for the other purposes mentioned previously, viz., use on the occasion of fires, watering streets, flushing public drains, &c., &c. The annual expenditure being ... £2,600
And the produce of the rate 1,745

Will leave a deficiency of... .. £855

This amount would be covered by the sale of 47,000 gallons per day at the rate of 1s. per 1,000 gallons. There can be little doubt that the convenience and economy of having the water laid on to the premises would speedily insure a sale of far more than this quantity, which should be by meter; and a profit would be realized from the works, which could be applied for the purpose of reducing the loan originally obtained for their construction, for increasing them, or applied for the reduction of the rate, as may be determined.

The great advantage of the supply through meter is that consumers are then responsible for the waste which may occur from defective fittings or carelessness in the use of the water.

It is also within the consumers' power to be economical or liberal in the use of the water as they may feel disposed. The difficulty regarding reliable meters may now be said to have disappeared; some of the modern forms are equally efficient with the best gas meters, cost but a few shillings per annum, and only require occasional testing to be thoroughly reliable.

At

At a short distance above the proposed position of the Pumping Station there is a slaughter-house, the drainage from which should be excluded from the river.

In carrying out these works, some enlarged powers will be necessary to enable the Corporation to carry the pipes, &c., through lands and buildings, and to provide liberty of access to them after completion for the purpose of repairs, in all cases making compensation for damage; also power to entertain the necessary staff of officers, to make contracts, and for sale of water beyond the present municipal limits, to recover amounts for the sale of water in the manner provided for the recovery of rates, and penalties for the injury of the works or pollution of the water.

The plans which accompany this Report are intended to explain the position and character of the work and for the purposes of estimate. Sufficient information has been obtained to work out the necessary detail drawings when required.

It is also necessary to remark that the estimate is framed on the present price of iron, which is low; in the event of any considerable increase in the price of this material an addition to the estimate would be necessary.

Where the streets are as wide as in Bathurst, $1\frac{1}{2}$ chain or 99 feet, it is very desirable that the mains should be laid on both sides of the street and within the line of the kerb-stone; this arrangement will save the owners of houses the expense of 40 feet of piping to connect their houses, and also prevent the expense and inconvenience of opening and damaging road surface when properly made. The most convenient place for the fire hydrants and stand-posts is on the road surface, just beyond the gutter.

As the expense of the second pipe in the street will at first be a difficulty, that side should be selected where the sale of water is most likely to be effected, and as occasion requires the second pipe—which in nearly all cases will be a small one, 3 or 4 inches in diameter, and not very expensive—can be added. The plan of the town No. 1 indicates the position of the houses, and it will not be difficult to arrange the pipe distribution.

The River Macquarie is, I consider, the most permanent source available for the supply of Bathurst. It would be desirable, in a climate where long droughts are not uncommon, to provide a storage reservoir wherein to store the water for times of scarcity; but no site for such a reservoir has come within my observation, which would not entail a very serious expense.

The river bed is sand to a considerable depth, and even when it is apparently dry in extreme cases, there is doubtless a current of water running through it which can be made available. If found necessary a small dam, over which the water in times of flood could pass, would bring the water to the surface in dry periods. A less expensive mode would be in emergency to excavate trenches in the sand, and lead the water to the pumps. The result of my inquiries, however, leads me to the conclusion that without further consideration of this difficulty the works may be safely undertaken as herein recommended.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of July 28th, and the case containing three samples of water.

According to instructions I now forward the analysis and report.

All the samples were nearly colourless, and fairly bright; but contained small quantities of suspended matters. Remarks.

No. 1. This is a fairly good water, efficient filtration would much improve it. The fixed matter consists of traces of carbonates of lime and magnesia, chlorides, sulphates, silica, alumina, tin, &c.

Nos. 2 and 3. Both of these waters must be condemned as unfit for drinking if the samples fairly represent the bulks. No. 3 is unsuitable for any domestic purpose.

From the quantity of saline and organic ammonia found in them, the inference is that they have been contaminated by surface drainage; these remarks are made upon the supposition that the samples were sent in bottles which had not been previously used for any purpose. I may mention here that it is a practice in towns distant from Sydney to obtain bottles for holding samples of water from local druggists' stores; and I have found that such bottles have frequently contained ammonia, and, as a matter of course, the result of the examination of the water has thus been rendered worthless.

REPORT to the Government of New South Wales on a Supply of Water for the Towns of Maitland, Morpeth, Newcastle, and the Mining Townships.

To the Honorable the Colonial Secretary,
New South Wales.

Sir,

I have the honor to report that, in conformity with instructions contained in Mr. Halloran's letter of the 25th June, I proceeded to Newcastle and Maitland, with a view to advising the Government on the subject of a Water Supply to those towns, together with the Mining Townships hereinafter mentioned.

On the 14th July, (having in the meantime visited Bathurst), a Progress Report was submitted, and on the 16th I had the honor of an interview with the Honorable Sir H. Parkes, and then received instructions to advise the Government generally, both as to the quantity of water which should be supplied, and also as to the works necessary for obtaining it in the cheapest manner, consistent with efficiency, from the source which might commend itself to my judgment as the most reliable and permanent.

When I returned to Newcastle on the 17th July, I received Mr. Surveyor Fuller's Report on the Lagoon and Watershed near to Lake Macquarie, alluded to in my Progress Report. Mr. Fuller's Report is given in the Appendix, page 11.

In consideration of the small catchment area, the low elevation of the lagoon above the sea, and the nature of the country, entirely underlaid by coal, I did not consider it necessary to make further inquiry into this scheme.

I therefore examined the country between Newcastle and West Maitland, with a view to obtain some other source of supply, but no nearer source than the river Hunter could be found.

The tidal influence does not extend beyond West Maitland, and at a point called "Bolwarra," or Dickson's Falls, it has never, even during periods of drought, been brackish, though with the exception of extensive waterholes along the gravelly bed in extreme droughts it has apparently ceased to flow.

During this inquiry the district called "Richmond Vale," where there is a shallow lagoon some 60 or 70 acres in extent, and a catchment area five or six square miles, was brought to my notice.

This lagoon however is equally distant from Newcastle with Bolwarra Falls, the water would require to be pumped, and as it is also underlaid by coal, there would be the same chance of pollution from pit drainage water in the event of workings being established in the future.

Perceiving no special advantage in this locality, it was also abandoned as a source of supply.

The river Hunter, which receives all the other sources and has a very large drainage area above Bolwarra Falls, appears to be the nearest source for a permanent supply, for even in periods of extreme drought there is doubtless a current in the gravelly bed.

Before finally deciding the point on the river Hunter whence the water could be taken, there being no records of the flow and condition of the river during periods of drought, I made especial inquiries on this subject. On the occasion of my first visit to Maitland, on the 29th June, I saw the river very low; there had been no rain for a period of some months capable of adding materially to its flow; there was then, however, considerably more water passing down than would be required for the proposed supply.

I subsequently addressed a letter to the Town Council of Maitland, requesting their assistance in obtaining evidence of persons who had resided in the district for many years; this letter and the replies received thereto are given in the Appendix, pages 11 and 12.

Samples of the water were also obtained from three different points in the river at and above Bolwarra, for analysis by Professor Liversidge, the result of which proves that the water will require careful filtration; and I have considered it desirable to obtain his approval of the proposed mode of purification.

The analysis and correspondence on this subject are given in the Appendix, page 13. It is desirable that the small cemetery belonging to the Wesleyan community situated on the banks of the river near the proposed pumping station should be closed.

I have no doubt of the sufficiency of the source, neither is there, I think, any cause for apprehension as to the permanent freshness of the water; the saline influence seldom extends to the point where the level of a river is unaffected by the tide, and the chain of deep waterholes in the gravelly bed here insures, I consider, a constant supply of fresh water at all seasons, and that it would be impossible to find another point so favourable, all things considered, as that at Bolwarra.

The adoption of this source would necessitate the formation of a large reservoir, which could be filled when water is abundant, and drawn upon when the river is muddy.

Acting as a settling tank for the water, this would also be a storage reservoir, whence water could be obtained in times of severe drought.

It would also be necessary to provide filters for purifying the water.

On a full consideration of all these points, I have decided to obtain the water from the river Hunter, at the place above mentioned, and propose to construct works capable of supplying the under-mentioned places and populations:—

West Maitland	5,381
East Maitland	3,000
Morpeth	1,368
Minmi	1,200
Plattsburg	2,300
Wallsend	2,500
Brooks Town	300
Lambton	2,000
Waratah	1,850
Burwood	1,240
Hamilton	1,070
Wickham	750
Newcastle	9,350
Sundry small villages	2,760
Total population	35,069

At present the water for domestic purposes is partly obtained from roof cisterns,—these, however, are chiefly confined to the better class of houses—partly from wells, and partly by a purchased supply at 9d. to 1s. per hogshead for water of doubtful purity; while in the mining townships the creek water is frequently drunk, and there is a considerable amount of fever in consequence.

In one place only, Newcastle, have I been able to obtain any information as to mortality. The Mayor, E. Wallace, Esq., has furnished me with the following information:—

In 1871 the deaths were	285
1872	294
1873	345
1874	439
1875	516
1876	628

The average percentage of zymotic disease for the last five years is 20·6; in 1876 it was 32·1.

This

This is all the information I have been able to obtain.* The rate of increase of the population during the years 1871 to 1875 is not stated; but the mortality of 399 for the Town of Newcastle on the present population, 9,350, would indicate a rate of 42·6 in 1,000, or nearly three times the number which nature demands as inevitable; no stronger reason need be urged for an improvement in the sanitary condition of Newcastle.

In one form or another water for domestic use is the occasion of considerable expense to the inhabitants of the entire district, either in the construction and maintenance of tanks for storing roof-water, or in the form of cash payments for water purchased by the cask; while it has been found necessary, on some occasions, to convey water from Maitland to the mining townships by railway.

The provision of a constant supply of good water will, I believe, not only remove the cause of much unnecessary sickness and mortality, but will materially assist the coal-producing industry of the district, by removing one of the greatest difficulties to comfortable residence therein.

From inquiries I have made, there will I think be little difficulty in selling water to the population of the various townships, who will be prepared to pay a reasonable price for a good and constant supply.

Under these circumstances I would advise that the Government assistance, in whatever form it may be given, should be for the purpose of providing the water in reservoirs situated in convenient positions for distribution, but that the works for distributing it should be left entirely in the hands of the various Municipalities who will use it.

The following Report will therefore be confined to the provision of the water as proposed.

The expense of a system entirely confined to pumping of water through pipes extending over a distance of $22\frac{3}{4}$ miles between the source above West Maitland and Newcastle will necessarily be considerable, and in the works which I recommend I have endeavoured to reduce the cost to the lowest limit consistent with the efficiency and permanence of the supply.

In addition to the population, the shipping in the port of Newcastle will also require to be supplied; for this, and other purposes connected with the port, Mr. Darley, the resident Engineer, informs me that a daily supply of 12,000 gallons will be required.

The question of quantity to be supplied daily for this population is one of great importance, as on it depends to a considerable extent the cost of the works, in which, as above intimated, a pipe $22\frac{3}{4}$ miles long will form the largest item of cost in the scheme.

Where there is no waste, twenty gallons per head of the population per day is an ample supply for all domestic purposes. Watering of streets and gardens very considerably increases the quantity required; it is, however, not desirable that the quantity supplied should be so limited as to necessitate an immediate addition to the works on their completion, should an increased demand arise, as it will inevitably do, when the water comes into general use. I consider therefore that the works should be easily capable of delivering $35,069 \times 30 = 1,052,070$ gallons per day, and for this quantity the works presently to be described are designed.

The locality where the water will be taken from the river, and the situation of the filtering works, is shown in the plan, No. 4.

The floods in the Hunter rise upwards of 30 feet above the usual level at Bolwarra, and it will therefore be necessary that the proposed works should be constructed at such an elevation as will effectually exclude flood water.

This point is very favourable for the proposed works; at a distance of 30 chains from the river a hillside affords an excellent position for the various tanks, filters, &c., and a little further on the Walka Lagoon occurs, which forms an admirable site for a storage reservoir. (Vide plans Nos. 2 and 4.)

* Appendix, page 15.

This latter will, as before stated, be necessary to meet the difficulty of dealing with the water during the period of floods and freshes in the river, when the water is more or less muddy; it will then require to be purified by deposition of the mud in suspension before being admitted to the filters, which would otherwise speedily become choked by the deposit on their surfaces; at other times when the river water is clear, it will be pumped direct into the river-water tank shown on plan No. 6.

The general arrangement of the works will be as follows:—

River water or storage water will be pumped into the tank; from thence it will flow to the filters, and eventually after passing through them it will be received in the clear-water tank.

From this tank the engines will take the water and force it on to Butti Hill, distant 5 miles, where a tank capable of containing one million gallons will be constructed to receive it.

On its passage a part of the water will be diverted by a branch pipe $2\frac{3}{4}$ miles long to a reservoir at East Maitland, capable of holding half a million gallons, for the supply of East and West Maitland and Morpeth, from which latter place it will be distant 2 miles.

Arrived at Butti Hill Reservoir, at an elevation of 265 feet above high-water, it will command the entire route of the pipe extending through the mining townships to Newcastle, where it will be received in a reservoir to be constructed near the Light-house with the red tower, at an elevation of 159 feet above high-water, and will command all the levels below.

This reservoir will contain half a million gallons, or sufficient for two days' supply to Newcastle.

On the route, reservoirs will be provided for the supply of the following townships:—

Townships.	Level of Reservoirs over high water.	Size of Reservoirs in gallons.	Distance from Main.	Diameter of Branch Pipe.
East Maitland	127	500,000	2 miles 65 chains	10 inches.
West Maitland
Morpeth
Minmi	115	36,000	2 " 46 "	6 "
Platsburg	121	69,000	6½ "	12 "
Wallsend	104	84,000	4 "	12 "
Waratah	89	93,000	58 "	9 "
Lambton	108	60,000	" "	12 "
Tigh's Hill and Hamilton ...	47	45,000	1 mile 25 "	9 "
Newcastle	159	500,000	main. "	15 "

The engines to be fixed near Bolwarra will be situated about midway between the river and the Walka Lagoon; the distance from the former being about 21 chains, as shown on the plan No. 4. A tunnel will be driven through the hill between the engine-house and the river, about 7 chains long, through which the pipe will be laid. Fig. A, plan No. 6.

This suction-pipe will be carried across the shallow bed of the river, and dip into the deep hole on the opposite side; in the river it will be supported on piles, and placed at the level of the present gravelly bed; should it become necessary, which I do not apprehend, a small timber and boulder dam may be constructed below the suction-pipe to head the water up. The suction-pipe will require a large air vessel at its upper end near the pump.

The first operation on the completion of the works will be to pump water from the river to the storage reservoir.

For this purpose an engine and pumps will be provided capable of lifting one million gallons into the tank or storage reservoir, with a maximum lift of 56 feet in eight hours, or it will fill the reservoir in seventy-one days.

This latter will be formed by constructing an embankment, which for about 120 yards in length, its greatest height will be 33 feet, and the top will be 3 feet over the level of the highest known flood. So constructed it will when filled contain an area of water 40 acres in extent, and a capacity of about 215 million of gallons, without drawing upon the bottom when reduced to one-third the area (Vide plan No. 10.)

At times when the freshes cause the river water to be muddy, the water will be taken from this storage and passed through the filters.

When only slightly muddy, by pumping river water into the distant part of this reservoir, the mud will have time to settle, and the water will be drawn comparatively clean from the part of the reservoir nearest the engine; a suction-pipe with a floating end will be provided for taking the water from a few inches below the surface where it is clearest: this is shown in plan 7, figs. A, B, C, and D.

The situation of this reservoir is very favourable; it has a catchment area of 176 acres, which it would be desirable to resume; the soil generally is of a clayey nature, and excellent clay for puddle is found on the side of the lagoon.

About half a mile distant, on Mr. Thos. Anderson's land, there are indications of an excellent stone suited for building and for pitching slopes, &c.

The contents of the dam will be, including puddle, &c., 83,840 cubic yards.

Plan No. 6 shows the arrangement of the tanks and filters; these will be constructed on the slope of a hill.

Of these, the river-water tank is for receiving the water from the engine, which pumps it from the river when clear, and from which it will flow on to the filters.

This tank is 150 feet square, 10 feet deep, lined with masonry, and having a concrete and puddle floor. Its capacity is 1,000,000 gallons, without drawing off the lowest 3 feet of its depth, which will be allowed for deposit, and which is capable of being washed out by a suitable sludge drain, formed of a pipe 2 feet diameter laid in puddle.

A movable end is provided in this tank also for the outlet pipe, which takes the water for the filters from a few inches below the surface. A section of the wall and the movable end is shown in plan No. 7, fig. E.

The filters are three in number, each 100 feet square, and capable of filtering half a million gallons per day. These are lined with masonry and puddle bottom, with proper inlets and outlet, overflow, and air pipes, and will be charged with filtering materials 5½ feet in depth.

The clear-water tank is circular, 100 feet diameter, and 12 feet deep, lined with masonry, puddle, and concrete floor, with inlet, outlet, and overflow pipes, &c. It is 12 feet in depth, and has a capacity of 59,000 gallons. From this tank the water will be taken by the engines, of which three will be required, any two of which will be capable of forcing one million gallons into the high level reservoir at Butti Hill, and the reservoir at East Maitland in fifteen hours.

This reservoir is distant from the engine 5 miles, at an elevation of 265 feet.

The three engines I propose for this work will be of the compound horizontal rotative class, as being considerably cheaper in first cost than beam engines, and require less expensive houses for their erection. The pumps will also be horizontal; seven boilers will be provided, five of which will be capable of working three engines. The engine-house will contain four engines, the fourth being that described at page 6; the floor will be 3 feet over flood level, and the clear-water tank—the surface of which will be a little below flood level—will also be protected by an embankment of similar height. The delivery pipe from the pumps will be 18 inches diameter for a length of 1 mile 74 chains, when the branch pipe to East Maitland will be given off; from that point to Butti Hill Reservoir the diameter will be 15 inches.

From this high level reservoir to Newcastle the pipe will also be 15 inches in diameter, capable of delivering 1,143,000 gallons in twenty-four hours, with a fall of 5 feet per mile; the actual fall will be 107 feet in a distance of 17 miles 60 chains, and its weight will be nearly 300 tons per mile.

A branch pipe to Minmi, 2 miles 46 chains in length, and another 1 mile 25 chains in length, to Tigh's Hill, will be provided.

To Waratah the length will be 58 chains; the remaining branch pipes to the reservoirs mentioned at page 6 will be from 4 to 7 chains long only. The total weight of cast-iron piping in the main and branches will be 9,000 tons.

The section of the country through which the pipe will pass is given on plans No. 1 to No. 5, which show the general direction of the pipe and the places on the route where the water supply is required.

The

The section at the distorted scale 20 chains to the inch horizontal, and 40 feet to the inch vertical, appears to be very rough, but the hills are not very precipitous, and the surface is generally decomposed to a sufficient depth to render cutting in the hard rock unnecessary. Crossing a few of the narrow ravines, it will be desirable to elevate the pipe slightly to prevent abrupt changes in its vertical direction; horizontally there are very few places which will require special pipe castings.

For the elevation of the pipes across the ravines referred to, the most economical way will be to carry them on piles formed of the bush timber through which the line is carried. A pile under each 12-foot length of pipe would be necessary, and the whole covered with a roof to exclude the sun and prevent expansion. A cheap arrangement for carrying the pipe at an elevation of 15 feet is given in plan No. 8, which would cost but little more than the excavation in other places.

It would be necessary, if this be adopted, that it should be confined to those places where timber is not brought down in times of flood; in such cases, and there are but two or three only, trestle bridges would be required to carry the pipes.

To prevent damage from bush fires, the places where these occur would require to be kept clear of timber and long grass; this would be the duty of the Pipe Inspectors, who would be kept for the purpose of examining the pipe line from end to end about twice every week, to ascertain that no leakage had occurred, and to effect simple repairs when necessary.

It will be necessary when the final surveys are made for fixing the line of pipe to avoid, as far as practicable, those places where the coal has been worked from under the surface, and where this cannot be done to support the roof of the workings and prevent subsidence. In all future workings such supports can be left, and this should be insured by legislative enactment, so as to prevent the destruction of the pipe and interruption of the supply of water.

Various forms of valves will be required in the pipe, the principal of which are air-valves to permit the escape of air from the pipe while being charged, and also for the prevention of accumulations of air in the high points of the route, the presence of which obstructs the flow of the water.

Reflux valves, to prevent the return of the water from the higher levels of the pipes, should a burst occur in the lower portions.

Safety-valves, to prevent the bursting of the pipe on the too sudden closing of a valve and stoppage of the flow of water. If all these points are carefully attended to, the pipe will act perfectly to supply the various reservoirs, notwithstanding the uneven character of the country through which the pipe is carried.

In order to preserve the purity of the water, it is desirable it should be kept in covered reservoirs after passing through the filters, not only to exclude leaves, dust, &c., &c., but also the light, which engenders the growth of vegetable organisms; all the reservoirs proposed are therefore to be covered with a roofing of galvanized iron supported on suitable timber.

The whole of the reservoirs will be formed either in decomposed or solid rock capable of standing perpendicular when excavated, and will therefore only require lining with impervious material to make them water-tight. Both at East Maitland and Newcastle the rock appears to be decomposed at the surface, and the cheapest form to be given in such case is circular, lined with masonry and puddle, after the manner of gas-holder tanks, or with cement rendering where puddle is not procurable. A sketch of such a tank, with inlet, outlet, and overflow arrangement, is given on plan No. 9.

Tanks similarly constructed are provided for in the estimate at the other places named at page 6. When, as at Butti Hill, the reservoir will be in the solid sandstone, the circular form need not be given, as the roofing of a quadrangular tank will be more simple; this tank will only require partial lining where fissures and defects occur in the rock.

Arrangements will be made in connection with the outlet pipes to draw off the water from the tanks entirely when cleansing or repair is required.

At Newcastle there are a few houses above the level of the ground near the Light-house, which is 158 feet over high-water. The level of the outlet at

Butti

Butti Hill is 265 feet above the same; it is evident therefore that if the pipe be not drawn upon on the route the water would rise to this latter elevation at Newcastle, and fill a reservoir placed on the Obelisk Hill (which is 216 feet over high-water) to receive it. This could be accomplished during a short period of the night, when there is no draught on the pipes; and should the time come when the pipe is required to be constantly at work to supply lower levels, it will then be necessary to provide a small engine and pump to lift the water required for the higher service into this tank. This latter arrangement is not included in the estimate.

The above is a general description of the works necessary to supply easily, that is in fifteen hours' working of the engines, one million gallons per day, while the pipe to Newcastle is capable of supplying 1,143,000 gallons per day, and to Maitland reservoir, 300,000 gallons.

If, therefore, the demand should increase, and the engines be worked continuously, as they would be capable of doing, the daily supply may be increased to 1,443,000, or nearly $1\frac{1}{2}$ million gallons.

The estimate for the work is as follows:—

Storage reservoir, containing 75,000 cubic yards, complete with puddle-wall, pitching surface of slope, inlet, outlet, and waste-wier, &c.	£7,801
River water-tank, 3 filters, clear-water tank, inlet and outlet pipes, &c.	15,128
Engine, 215 horse-power, effective, with $\frac{1}{2}$ th additional boiler, pumps, connecting pipes, engine and boiler house, chimney, &c., &c.	19,398
Suction and delivery pipes between river and reservoir, and connecting pipes between tanks, filters, &c., &c.	6,448
Piping from Maitland to Newcastle, with branches to district reservoir, 8,373 tons, sluice cocks, air and safety valves, &c.	94,657
Service reservoirs, and connections	10,879
Land, fencing, compensation, and houses for establishment	5,128
Engineering and contingencies	10,561
Total	£170,000

The estimated cost of working when delivering one million gallons per day is as follows:—

Establishment.
1 engineer superintendent, per annum	£350
2 engine tenders and 1 mechanic, at 10s. per day	546
2 firemen, at 8s.	300
2 labourers with filters, at 7s.	256
2 pipe-layers on pipe line, at 8s.	300
	£1,752
Coals, per annum	900
Oil, tallow, and waste	200
Repairs to engines, &c.	300
Total working expenses, per annum	£3,152
Interest on £170,000, at 5 per cent.	8,500
Total annual expenses	£11,652

or at the rate of about £33 per day.

At this rate the cost of the water placed in the reservoirs ready for distribution will be 8d. per 1,000 gallons.

Should the demand for water increase, and the consumption amount to 1,400,000 gallons daily, the working expenses will be increased by £3 6s. per day, but the cost of the water will be reduced to 6½d. per 1,000 gallons.

It will be desirable that the construction and management of the works here described should be left to a permanent Board or Commission of five persons, of whom three should be nominated by the Government and two elected by the Municipalities for three years, and these latter should retire by rotation.

An Act of the Legislature would be required constituting this Board, and to empower them to employ necessary assistants in the form of a permanent Staff, to make contracts, and to carry the works through and under private lands and buildings, when necessary, with the right to inspect and repair them in such places after completion, in all cases making compensation for damage, also to levy rates for the use and sale of the water, and to provide penalties for the injury of the works, the pollution of the water, &c.

The assessment of the various Municipalities for the supply of water furnished to them should be regulated by the Commission, and a minimum annual sum from each of the Municipalities should be guaranteed for the payment of interest, &c., considered in connection with such assistance as may be given by the Government.

For this purpose I would further recommend that a small rate be levied by the Municipalities through which the works will be carried, and that this be made to cover the cost of the water supplied from public stand-posts in the streets and roads, and that all persons requiring to have a tap on their premises should wherever practicable be supplied by meter, and the payments for such extra supply shall be regulated by the Commission.

At page 5 I have recommended that the works for distributing the water shall be left to the various Municipalities. I have not gone very closely into this subject, as it is only a few of the towns that have the necessary plans and data whereon to found an estimate; it may be considered however that the cost of distribution works will be approximately as follows:—

West Maitland, 9½ miles pipes with stand-posts, fire hydrants, &c., would cost	£8,500
East Maitland, 4½ do. do. do. ...	£3,500
Newcastle ...17 do. do. do. ...	£18,000

I have not considered it necessary for the purpose of this inquiry to make detailed drawings, &c., sufficient for the carrying out of the works—it would have occupied too much time; I have, however, sufficiently indicated the nature of the work proposed, and the necessary information has been obtained for furnishing drawings and details when required.

Similarly with the pipes for distribution, when the plans and levels of the townships are completed, all the information required can at any time be supplied.

It is necessary to mention that the estimate, £170,000, includes 9,000 tons of cast-iron piping, and is, I consider, ample; as, however, this is the principal item of cost, should any considerable increase take place on the present very low price of this material, the estimate would require to be increased.

In concluding this Report on a subject of the greatest importance to the district interested, I desire to record my thanks to the following gentlemen:—T. E. Wallace, Esq., Mayor of Newcastle; G. T. Chambers, Esq., Mayor of East Maitland; James Wolstenholme, Esq., Mayor of West Maitland; and the Aldermen of the latter town, appointed as a Committee to receive me. These gentlemen, at a considerable sacrifice of time, gave me every possible assistance in my examination of the country, and valuable information on the current rates for work and material, and every other subject connected with the inquiry. To Mr. Surveyor Fuller also my thanks are due for the efficient help rendered to me in connection with the levels, surveys, &c., the making of which was intrusted to his management.

APPENDIX.

Mr. Fuller's Report.

Sir,

Newcastle, N. S. Wales, 17 July, 1877.

I have the honor to report to you that, in accordance with your instructions, received Monday, the 2nd instant, I proceeded to make a survey of the proposed line of Waterworks from Salt Water Creek to Newcastle. On Thursday, according to arrangement and at your request, I accompanied the Mayor of Newcastle to the Lagoon at the southernmost end of the supposed watershed, and tasted its water. The result was that we found it so brackish that it was considered unfit for drinking purposes.

On my journey from Red Head Lagoon towards this Lagoon, which I will in future designate as the "Salt Water Lagoon," I noticed the flow of water was southerly, and on especial inquiry as to where the water came from to supply the Salt Water Lagoon, and where it flowed to, I was informed that the supply came from the north and flowed south into Lake Macquarie. This was so diametrically opposed to Mr. Francis Bell's report that I thought it advisable you should be acquainted with it, and for that purpose the Mayor proceeded to Bathurst to so inform you, while I wrote to the Surveyor General a private report of my surmise, and requesting instructions to allow me to verify my impressions or not, as, if proved correct, at least one-half of the supposed catchment area would be cut off from Salt Water Creek. I received permission on Monday, the 9th instant, to proceed with the flying levels necessary, and on Tuesday, the 10th, I was enabled to come into Newcastle with the information that about four miles from the mouth of Salt Water Creek, in a south-westerly direction, around the swamp, a barrier existed of (46) forty-six feet in height of sand-hill, overgrown with scrub and gum, dividing the waters at this point and causing them to run respectively north and south. I then received instructions from you to verify my work by carrying the flying levels on to the Salt Water Lagoon, and thence to approximate sea level, and also to prove the water level of Lake Macquarie. On account of the gale on Friday and Saturday I was unable to proceed with my work till Monday, the 16th, when I waded across Salt Water Creek to my old marks and carried on my levels to Salt Water Lagoon. The level of this water I found to be 3.7 feet above approximate high-water-mark; and, as we tested the depth of this Lagoon, when on it on Thursday, the 12th, to be 3' 11", therefore the bottom of the Lagoon is below high-water-mark. Again, as there is no doubt that the water in this Lagoon was at this time some two feet above its previous height, the bed is considerably below high-water-mark.

From the then height from the water in the Salt Water Lagoon I ran my levels over the sand-hummocks towards the sea, and was astonished to find the sea running up the sand to the height of 16 feet above its ordinary level, thus being higher by 12' 3" above the water as then resting in the Lagoon. Being thus satisfied that the impregnation of salt would be permanent, I returned to the Lagoon and took my levels towards Lake Macquarie, and found a fall that day of 18 inches. I went to the outlet, which was running with great velocity, and took the level of the bottom of the Creek, and found I tied in to high-water-mark, as minus 0.150 of a foot, the water of the lake being 2.200 above my approximate high-water-mark. On inquiry, however, at Mr. Anderson's, the owner of the land between the lake and Lagoon, he informed me that the lake was quite two feet higher than at our previous visit, on account of the gale. This, as you will see by my level book, ties in so accurately with my approximate high-water-mark, that I am perfectly satisfied as to its correctness.

My investigation as to this point is, therefore, ended, and I have to report that the catchment area of Salt Water Creek alone is thereby reduced to about 1,500 acres, with a few more for creek drainage, which would include about another 1,000 acres.

FRANCIS J. FULLER,
Engineer and Surveyor, Sydney.

W. Clark, Esq., to The Mayor and Council, West Maitland.

Gentlemen,

West Maitland, 31 July, 1877.

I am now engaged, as you are aware, on an inquiry as to the best means of supplying your town, and also East Maitland, the Mining Townships, and Newcastle, with water.

It is a matter of the greatest importance that the permanence of the source of supply—the river Hunter at Dickson's Falls—should be ascertained and confirmed on the best evidence available. As there are no actual records of the stream during periods of drought that I am aware of, I shall feel obliged if you will inform me on the best information you can procure on the following points:—

- 1st. Is the river ever known to be brackish at the point above named?
- 2nd. During periods of severe drought has the river ever been known to cease running?
- 3rd. If not, what may be considered the smallest stream, as to breadth, depth and velocity?
- 4th. If it has ceased, for what period?

Yours, &c.,
W. CLARK.

The

The Council Clerk, West Maitland, to W. Clark, Esq.

Sir,

Borough Council Chambers, West Maitland, 6 August, 1877.

In reply to yours of 31st ultimo, requesting that our Council would furnish you with the best possible information respecting the state of the river Hunter at Dickson's Falls, I have much pleasure in submitting documents from the following persons, whom you will perceive are very old residents, and consequently well qualified to afford the information sought:—

Mr. James Moy	refers to 51 years ago.
Mr. John Eckford	" 59 "
Mr. Thomas Evans... ..	" 49 "
Mrs. Risby	" 39 "
Mr. Robt. Scobie	" 37 "
Mr. Isaac Gorrick... ..	" 30 "
Mr. Rourke	" 40 "

Mr. J. B. R. Robertson is an old resident, but does not give any date.

I beg further to intimate that the above information has been duly submitted to this Council, who, having the greatest confidence in the persons named, have requested me, on the motion of Alderman Chapman, to convey the documents to you with their concurrence in the contents.

I have, &c.,

THOS. HUGHES,
Council Clerk.

Pitnacree, 4 August, 1876.

HEARING that Mr. Clark was desirous of ascertaining from old residents whether the river at Dickson's Falls was ever known to be brackish, and also whether at same place the river was ever known to have ceased running, I have known the locality named since the year 1818, and during the whole of that period I have never known the river water brackish at Dickson's Falls, but have known it brackish at Risby's Falls.*

* $\frac{1}{2}$ mile below
Dickson's.

During the same period, I have never known the river at the point named to cease running; have known the river crossable dryshod at a point near Aberglasslyn.

JOHN ECKFORD.

Answers to Questions.

1. Is the river ever known to be brackish at Dickson's Falls? The river has been brackish up to Dickson's Falls, but not above it; the tide does not flow over the Falls. This is my experience for thirty years.

2. I have always observed the water running at the falls referred to, but the stream has been greatly reduced in very dry seasons; still there has been a large body of fresh water above the falls in the very driest seasons.

3. This is impossible to answer, because a large quantity of water passes through the gravel or shingle unobserved. The shingle extends across the bed of the river in this locality, and some feet in depth.

4. The fourth question is answered by the second.

ISAAC GORRICK.

P.S.—There were no floods in the Hunter from the year '40 to '57.—I.G.

Mr. Prichard.

West Maitland, 2 August, 1877.

IN answer to questions in reference to the state of the river at Dickson's Falls in time of drought, I beg to say that I have lived in this town for the last forty-nine years, and have good opportunity of noticing the state of the river. I can confidently say that during that period the river at the above place has not been brackish. At the West Maitland Falls the river has been slightly brackish, but the people dug holes at the sides of the river and could then use the water.

At Dickson's Falls the bed of the river is coarse gravel, and for a short time during the most severe drought the water did not cover the gravel, you could walk across dry, but it ran through the gravel at the driest time. Above Dickson's Falls there has always been a plentiful supply. I have known the time when the people of Morpeth had to obtain their water from this place.

THOMAS EVANS.

THE undersigned has lived on the river at the above place for the past fifty-one years, and certifies to the truth of the foregoing statement.

JAMES MOY.

THE undersigned having lived at the Maitland Falls for thirty-nine years and in the neighbourhood for forty-four years, certifies to the truth of the foregoing statement.

M. RISBY.

IN answer to questions, my knowledge is as follows:—To No. 1—no; to No. 2—no. As to question No. 3, cannot say, as a large quantity escapes through the sand. The fourth question is already answered.

I also wish to state that in my opinion there would be an abundant supply if even the river ceased to run, as there are large reaches of very deep water.

J. B. R. ROBERTSON.

Mr. R. Scobie to The West Maitland Municipal Council.

Gentlemen,

Maitland, 4 August, 1877.

In answer to the questions in reference to the state of the river Hunter at and above Bolwarra Falls in times of drought, I beg to state, firstly, that I have not known the water to be brackish above Bolwarra Falls.

Secondly,—

Secondly,—I have not known the river to cease running at the above place except at the turn of the tide. Last summer being very dry, I think a two-foot pipe would have passed all the water that crossed the gravel bed called the Falls at the lowest condition of the river; the fall over this gravel bed in times of drought is from a foot to 20 inches. During all droughts that I recollect, excepting the one of last summer, the effect of the tide was visible here, causing an up-stream over the gravel bed at high-tide, which could easily have been stopped by a temporary obstruction of loose stones, gravel, &c. The absence of tidal effect so high up last summer is probably caused by the filling of the river channel lower down with sand, &c., thereby preventing the tide water from coming up in sufficient body to reach so far. There is a large deep reach of permanent fresh water above the Falls, the bottom of which is many feet below sea level; this place above the Falls in times of severe drought would receive the whole of the water coming down the Hunter bed, through gravel, or otherwise, and should retain it, owing to its low position.

My observations extend from the beginning of the year 1840.

I am, &c.,
ROBERT SCOBIE.

Reply to Questions asked by Mr. Clark.

West Maitland, 7 August, 1877.

I have resided upon the Hunter in West Maitland over (40) forty years, and can speak accurately of the river. I have never known it to cease running at Bolwarra Falls in the driest seasons; in that particular locality the river has shoaled up across its bed with an immense sand-bank interspersed with gravel, consequently the flow on the surface is diminished; nevertheless there is a considerable under-current. Immediately above the Falls there are large reaches of deep water extending upwards to the Melville Ford, about 4 miles; some of the rocky holes are probably 40 feet in depth, and I should suppose there is an average depth of 15 feet of water; where the intended works are to be erected the water is pure and soft. The river upward to its source runs over a gravelly bottom, and the water is not under tidal influence.

HENRY ROURKE.

Professor Liversidge to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

The University, 20 August, 1877.

I have the honor to forward herewith the results of my analysis of the three samples of water from the Hunter River, supplied by the Municipal Council of West Maitland, at the instance of Mr. W. Clark, Hydraulic Engineer.

I have, &c.,
ARCHD. LIVERSIDGE.

The Council Clerk, West Maitland, to W. Clark, Esq.

Dear Sir,

Borough Council Chambers, West Maitland, 4 September, 1877.

In reply to yours, just received by our Mayor, relative to the three samples of water sent to Sydney for examination, I have much pleasure in stating for your information that they were obtained from the following places:—

- No. 1. From the rear of the Wesleyan Cemetery.
- No. 2. From near "Dickson's Falls."
- No. 3. From near Aberglasslyn.

THOS. HUGHES,
Council Clerk.

Sydney, 20 August, 1877.

REPORT upon three samples of water from the Hunter River, supplied by the Municipal Council of West Maitland, at the instance of Mr. W. Clark, Hydraulic Engineer. Each sample was contained in a single Winchester quart bottle closed with a cork and cemented with wax.*

Sample No. 1.

Colour, &c.—When viewed in a large, clear, and colourless glass flask this sample exhibited a brown shade and great turbidity. Moving about in the water were a few entomostraca and other organisms visible to the naked eye. A heavy clay-coloured sediment was deposited by this in common with the other two samples.

The water did not clear itself, on standing for a few days, as is usually the case, but remained milky to the last.

Taste.—None.

Smell.—A very slight earthy smell.

In the unfiltered state the water yielded the following results:—

Free ammonia	18 parts per million.
Albumenoid ammonia	24 " "
Chlorine	41.85 " "
Nitrites present in rather large quantity.
Total solid matter	212.00 parts per million.
Loss on ignition	58.00 " "
Fixed solid matter	154.00 " "

To remove the bulk of the solid matter in suspension a portion of the water was passed through well-washed Swedish filtering paper, and the chief of the above items redetermined.

The

* Sealing-wax or other cement ought not to be placed directly on the cork or stopper; the stopper should be tied over with a piece of clean calico or linen, upon which the seal may, if necessary, be placed.

The following figures show the beneficial effects of so doing :—

Colour.—Still somewhat milky.
Free ammonia	10 parts per million.
Albumenoid ammonia... ..	20 " "
Total solid matter	190·00 " "
Loss on ignition	56·00 " "
Fixed solid matter	134·00 " "

The residue left after evaporation to dryness was brown in colour, rather bulky, and gave off a slight smell of organic matter. On ignition this residue blackened very much. An excessive blackening indicates the presence of a considerable amount of organic matter. After the whole of the carbon was burnt off the residue was white mixed with brown in parts, the brown patches being due to the presence of iron oxides.

Composition of the residue.—The quantity of water placed at my disposal was insufficient to make a quantitative analysis of the inorganic matter in solution; a qualitative examination, however, showed that the salts in solution consist for the most part of the usual compounds of iron, alumina, magnesia, lime, soda, silica, sulphuric acid, and chlorine, found present in most spring and river waters.

None of them are present in an excessive amount, and they should in no way affect the quality of the water for drinking purposes.

Microscopical examination.—The amount of sediment was excessively great. It consisted principally of silty matter. The usual infusorial organisms were present, but not in large numbers.

Colour, &c.—Very much the same as No. 1.

Taste.—None.

Smell.—A very slight earthy smell could be detected.

Free ammonia	12 parts per million.
Albumenoid ammonia... ..	26 " "
Chlorine	41·85 " "
Nitrites	Absent.
Total solid matter	202·00 parts per million.
Loss on ignition	54·00 " "
Fixed solid matter	148·00 " "

The same water, after filtration through Swedish paper, i.e., without the solid matter in suspension, yielded the following results :—

Free ammonia	·06 parts per million.
Albumenoid ammonia... ..	18 " "
Total solid matter	178·00 " "
Loss on ignition	52·00 " "
Fixed solid matter	126·00 " "

Microscopical examination.—The same appearances were presented as by sample No. 1.

Composition of the residue.—Similar to sample No. 1.

Sample No. 3.

Colour, &c.—Very similar to Nos. 1 and 2, but a shade less turbid and discoloured.

Taste.—None.

Smell.—A slight earthy smell, similar to the previous samples.

Free ammonia	·09 parts per million.
Albumenoid ammonia... ..	22 " "
Chlorine	49·60 " "
Nitrides	Absent.
Total solid matter	236·00 parts per million.
Loss on ignition	80·00 " "
Fixed solid matter	156·00 " "

After filtration, as in the former cases, the water yielded of—

Free ammonia	·06 parts per million.
Albumenoid ammonia... ..	18 " "
Total solid matter	206·00 " "
Loss on ignition	68·00 " "
Fixed solid matter	138·00 " "

Composition of the residue.

Both before and after ignition this had very much the same appearance as those from samples 1 and 2. It contained the same chemical constituents.

Microscopical examination.—The results of the examination were similar to those yielded by the two former samples.

Remarks.—All three samples of water are much too impure to be safely used in their present state for domestic purposes. They could, however, be sufficiently purified if submitted to a vigorous and effectual system of filtration.

ARCHD. LIVERSIDGE.

To Professor Liversidge.

Sir,

Sydney, 1 September, 1877.

I am favoured by the Colonial Secretary with copy of your analysis of the water from the river Hunter, three samples of which were at my request sent to you for analysis, and which you describe as "much too impure to be safely used in their present state for domestic purposes. They could, however, be sufficiently purified if submitted to a rigorous and effectual system of filtration."

As it is probable that the towns of East and West Maitland, Newcastle, and the mining townships will be supplied from this source, I am anxious that the proposed mode of treating the water should have your approval.

It is proposed to pump the water from the river into a large reservoir, upwards of 20 feet in depth, and capable of containing more than six months' supply at the rate of one million gallons per day, where it will deposit much of the matter in suspension; it will then be drawn off from a few feet below the surface and passed through filtering tanks containing 5' 6" of the usual filtering media—sand, pebbles, &c.—previous to being pumped through the pipes for distribution.

The late Dr. Parkes gives the following as the essential characters in relation to the dissolved constituents of good water:—

Organic matter should not exceed...	26 parts in the million.
Carbonate of lime	...	277.76	" "
Sulphate of lime	...	52.08	" "
Carbonate and sulphate magnesia...	...	52.08	" "
Chloride of sodium	...	173.60	" "
Carbonate of soda	...	347.20	" "
Sulphate of soda	...	104.16	" "

Total solid contents, 606.80.

Unfortunately the specimens of the Hunter River water sent were not sufficient to enable you to make a quantitative analysis. As far as they can be compared, it would appear that after filtration it possesses less of the matters in solution than would, according to Dr. Parkes, be admissible in good water.

I have, &c.,

W. CLARK.

Professor Liversidge to W. Clark, Esq.

Sir,

The University, Sydney, 7 September, 1877.

In reply to your letter of the 1st instant, in which you ask for my opinion upon the method proposed for the purification of the intended water supply for the towns of East and West Maitland, Newcastle, and the mining townships, I have the honor to inform you that I think the method mentioned by you will fully answer the purpose intended, provided that arrangements be made to permit the reservoir and filtering tanks to be cleaned from time to time.

The periods at which this may be necessary would be best ascertained by means of an occasional analysis of the water as delivered through the pumps.

I would suggest that a layer of magnetic oxide of iron, which is abundant in many parts of the Colony, should, if possible, be included in the filtering media, as it possesses the power of destroying organic impurities in water to a very high degree.

In reference to the quotation (contained in your letter) from the writings of the late Dr. Parkes, upon the amounts of the dissolved constituents which may be present in a good water, I may remark that although the inorganic (and harmless) matters are less, the quantity of organic impurity, as indicated by the amounts of free and albumenoid ammonia, is greater in all probability. This is further borne out by the loss on ignition which the residue undergoes, and the intense blackening which accompanies that operation—hence the necessity for an efficient filtration of the water under consideration.

I have, &c.,

ARCHD. LIVERSIDGE.

Sir,

Master's Office, Supreme Court, 8 May, 1877.

Herewith I have the honor to forward, pursuant to your request, copies of the documents in the suit of "The Attorney General v. The Mayor of Sydney and others," called for by the Legislative Assembly, and mentioned in the copy notice now returned.

The plans put in as exhibits were delivered out of Court after the hearing of the cause.

I may mention that the cost of clerical assistance obtained in copying amounts to the sum of £9 13s.

I have, &c.,

ARTHUR T. HOLROYD,

Master in Equity.

ATTORNEY GENERAL AND ALLEN AND OTHERS v. THE MAYOR, &c., OF SYDNEY.

COPIES OF DOCUMENTS FILED IN SUPREME COURT.

In the Supreme Court of New South Wales, in Equity.

Between the Honorable William Bede Dalley, Her Majesty's Attorney General of the Colony of New South Wales, by and at the relation of George Wigram Allen, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, the Reverend John Dwyer, and William Clark, informant, and the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, defendants; and between George Wigram Allen, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee; the Reverend John Dwyer, and William Clark, plaintiffs, and the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, defendants.

Information and bill, filed 7th September, 1875.

INFORMING the Honorable William Bede Dalley, Her Majesty's Attorney General of the Colony of New South Wales, by and at the relation of George Wigram Allen, of Glebe Point, near Sydney, in the said Colony, Esquire, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, of Glebe Point aforesaid, Esquire, the Reverend John Dwyer, President of Lyndhurst College, at Glebe Point aforesaid, and William Clark, of Glebe Point, aforesaid, Esquire, the above-named informant, and also the said George Wigram Allen, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, the Reverend John Dwyer, and William Clark, the above-named plaintiffs, show unto their Honors as follows:—

1. The defendants are a Corporation, constituted under the Act of the Legislature of New South Wales twenty Victoria number thirty-six, intituled "An Act to re-establish a Municipal Council in the City of Sydney." By the fourth section of the said Act it is enacted that the Corporation of "the Commissioners for the City of Sydney" should be dissolved, and by the ninth section of the said Act it is enacted that all the powers, authorities, privileges, immunities, and duties vested in and imposed upon the former Municipal Council of the city, or the said Commissioners for the city of Sydney, by the several Acts of Council recited in the Schedule thereto marked C, or any other Act of Council, so far as the same were then respectively in force, relating to the city and the concerns thereof, and the good rule and government thereof, should be thereby transferred to and vested in, and might be exercised and enjoyed, and should be performed by, the defendants, as in and by the said Act when produced will appear.

2. Among the Acts mentioned in the said Schedule C to the said lastly hereinbefore recited Act is the Act seventeen Victoria, number thirty-four intituled "An Act for the better sewerage and cleansing the City of Sydney and portions of the Suburbs thereof." by the seventh section of which the said Commissioners for the city of Sydney were empowered, subject to the provisions thereafter contained, to construct any sewers or drains of such construction and in such manner as the said Commissioners should think necessary or proper for carrying the purpose of the Act now in recital into execution, and to cause such sewers or drains to communicate with the sea or any arm thereof, or with any stream or public water-course, either within or without the limits of the said city and the suburbs thereof. And by the ninth section of the said Act it is enacted that the said Commissioners should cause the sewers which should be from time to time vested in them, and all private drains and sewers, to be constructed, covered, and kept so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health; and by the twenty-fifth section of the said Act it is enacted that nothing in the said Act should be construed to render lawful any act, matter, or thing whatsoever which but for the said Act would be deemed to be a nuisance, within the limits of the said city or the suburbs thereof, nor to exempt any person from any liability, prosecution, or punishment to which he would have been otherwise subject in respect thereof, as in and by the said Act when produced will appear.

3. The defendants have constructed a main sewer from the suburbs of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, and Chippendale, and the said sewer is connected with branch sewers from Chippendale and Parramatta-street in the said city. The mouth of the said main sewer is carried out near the head of a shallow bay or arm of the sea within the harbour of Sydney, and known as Blackwattle Swamp.

4. The head of the said bay has recently been reclaimed by the Government of New South Wales, and a considerable portion of it has been filled up, and the mouth of the said main sewer is at some distance from the tidal waters of the said harbour, and is connected therewith only by open drains.

5. The said districts of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, Chippendale, and the said Parramatta-street are densely populated, and the whole of the sewage thereof is passed through the said main sewer and open drains, polluting the waters of the said bay, and the solid parts of such sewage are deposited along the sides of the said bay, exhaling foul and noxious gases, and emitting an intolerable stench, and thereby rendering the whole of the surrounding district unhealthy and unfit for human habitation.

6. The plaintiffs and relators are proprietors or occupiers of lands and houses immediately bordering on the said bay, and the plaintiff and relator, the Reverend John Dwyer is the President of Lyndhurst College, situated at the head of the said bay, which is a large school where a number of boys reside and are educated, and the other plaintiffs and relators are owners of private residences which are all rendered unhealthy by reason of the discharge of such sewage through the said main sewer.

7. The informant and plaintiffs charge that the said main sewer so constructed by the defendants as aforesaid is a nuisance and injurious to health.

8. The informant and plaintiffs charge that the sewage so discharged through the said main sewer as aforesaid is rapidly filling up the said bay, and that the nuisance thereby created is continually increasing.

The informant and plaintiffs therefore pray as follows:—

- 1. That the defendants, their agents, servants, and workmen, may be restrained by the injunction of this Honorable Court from causing or permitting to pass any sewage, filth, or other offensive matter, either solid or liquid, down or through the said main sewer, or any other sewer or drain, into the said bay or arm of the said sea known as Blackwattle Swamp, unless and until the same shall be sufficiently purified and deodorized, so as not to be or create a nuisance or become injurious to health.
- 2. That the informant and plaintiffs may have such further or other relief as the nature of the case may require.

WM. OWEN,
Counsel for the informant and plaintiffs.

I HEREBY certify that this information is proper for the sanction of the Honorable the Attorney General of the Colony of New South Wales.
WM. OWEN,
1st September, 1875.

I HEREBY certify that the relators are responsible persons, and competent to pay the costs of this information and bill, and that this is a true copy of the draft prepared by counsel.

Dated this first day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five.
THOMAS KENDALL BOWDEN,
Solicitor for the informant and plaintiffs.

I hereby consent to the filing of this injunction.
WILLM. B. DALLEY,
A.G.

Are not the districts of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, Chippendale, and Parramatta-street, in the fifth paragraph of the said information and bill referred to, or some or one and which of them, densely populated, or how otherwise? Is not the whole of the sewage of the said districts, or of some or one and which of them, poured through the sewer in the said fifth paragraph referred to, or some and what other sewer, and whether or not through the open drains in the said fifth paragraph referred to or some and what other open drains, and whether or not polluting the waters of the said bay, or how do the defendants make out the contrary? Are not the solid parts of the sewage in the said fifth paragraph referred to, or of some and what other sewage, deposited along the sides of the said bay, and whether or not exhaling foul and whether or not noxious gases, and whether or not emitting an intolerable stench, and whether or not thereby rendering the surrounding district unhealthy, and whether or not unfit for human habitation, or how do the defendants make out the contrary?

5. Are not the plaintiffs and relators proprietors or occupiers of lands, and whether or not houses, immediately bordering on the said bay, or how otherwise? Is not the plaintiff and relator the Reverend John Dwyer, the President of Lyndhurst College, situated at the head of the said bay, or how otherwise? Is not the said college a school where a number of boys are educated, and whether or not reside, or how otherwise? Are not the other plaintiffs and relators, or some or one and which of them, owners of private residences, which are all or some or one and which, rendered unhealthy by reason of the discharge of the sewage in the sixth paragraph of the said information and bill referred to, or some and what other sewage, through the sewer in the said sixth paragraph referred to, or some and what other sewer, or how do the defendants make out the contrary?

6. Is not the sewer in the seventh paragraph of the said information and bill referred to, or some and what other sewer, a nuisance, and whether or not injurious to health; or how do the defendants make out the contrary?

7. Is not the sewage in the eighth paragraph of the said information and bill referred to, or some and what other sewage, filling up, and whether or not rapidly, the said bay, or how do the defendants make out the contrary? Is not the nuisance created by such sewage continually increasing, or how do the defendants make out the contrary?

The defendants are required to answer all these interrogatories.

WM. OWEN,
Counsel for the informant and plaintiffs.

Notice of motion for injunction, filed 1st October, 1875.

TAKE notice, that this Honorable Court will be moved, before His Honor John Fletcher Hargrave, Esquire, Primary Judge in Equity thereof, on Tuesday next, the fifth day of October instant, or so soon after as counsel can be heard on behalf of the informant and plaintiffs herein, that a writ of injunction do issue out of this Honorable Court, to restrain the defendants, their agents, servants, and workmen, from causing or permitting to pass any sewage, filth, or other offensive matter, either solid or liquid, down or through the main sewer referred to in the bill, or any other sewer or drain, into the bay or arm of the sea known as Blackwattle Swamp, unless and until the same shall be sufficiently purified and deodorised so as not to be or create a nuisance, or become injurious to health, until the hearing of this cause or further order of the Court.

Dated this first day of October, A.D. 1875.

THOMAS KENDALL BOWDEN,
Solicitor for the informant and plaintiffs,
124, Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

To Richard Driver, Esq., defendants' solicitor.

ON the hearing of the above motion the plaintiff will read the following affidavits, viz. :—

The affidavits of Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, Andrew Moffitt, and the Reverend John Dwyer, filed herein the first day of October, 1875.

Affidavit of the Reverend John Dwyer, filed 1st October, 1875.

ON this first day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, John Dwyer, of Lyndhurst College, Glebe Point, near the city of Sydney, Clerk in Holy Orders, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows :—

1. I am the President of Lyndhurst College, which is a large school situate at the head of the bay called Blackwattle Swamp.

2. There are at present about 42 boys residing and being educated at the said college, and about 25 other boys attending there as day scholars, and the teachers and servants residing at the said college number thirteen.

3. At the present time six of the inmates of the said college are ill in bed, and the medical men attending them attribute their illness in a great measure to the foul gases exhaled from the said bay, in consequence of the pouring in thereto of the sewage from the main sewer, constructed by the above-named defendants, from Strawberry Hills, Chippendale, and Parramatta-street.

4. The mouth of the said sewer is some considerable distance from the tidal waters of the said bay, and the stench caused in the vicinity of the said bay by the sewage from the said sewer, which is connected with the tidal waters of the said bay by open drains or cuttings, is really awful, and is almost unendurable at Lyndhurst College, unless when the wind is blowing from there towards the said nuisance.

5. The district in the immediate vicinity of the said bay is densely populated, and the inhabitants thereof all suffer from the said nuisance, and I know that some of them have left or are leaving the said district in consequence thereof.

6. Unless the said nuisance is at once abated, the consequences will, in my opinion, be very serious.

Affidavit of A. H. C. Macafee, filed 1st October, 1875.

ON this first day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, of Glebe Point, near Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, Esquire, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am one of the above-named relators and plaintiffs.

2. The above-named defendants have constructed a main sewer from the suburbs of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, and Chippendale, and the said sewer is connected with branch sewers from Chippendale and Parramatta-street, in the said city, and the mouth of the said main sewer is carried out near the head of a shallow bay or arm of the sea within the harbour of Sydney, and known as Blackwattle Swamp.

3. The head of the said bay has recently been reclaimed by the Government of New South Wales, and a considerable portion of it has been filled up, and the mouth of the said main sewer is at some distance from the tidal waters of the said harbour, and is connected therewith only by open drains.

4. The said districts of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, Chippendale, and the said Parramatta-street, are densely populated, and the whole of the sewage thereof is poured through the said main sewer and open drains, polluting the waters of the said bay, and the solid parts of such sewage are deposited along the sides of the said bay, exhaling foul and noxious gases, and emitting an intolerable stench, and thereby rendering the whole of the surrounding district unhealthy and unfit for human habitation.

5. Myself and co-plaintiffs, and co-relators, are proprietors or occupiers of lands and houses immediately bordering on the said bay; and the plaintiff and relator, the Reverend John Dwyer, is the President of Lyndhurst College, situated at the head of the said bay, which is a large school where a number of boys reside and are educated; and the plaintiffs and relators, George Wigram Allen, William Clark, and myself, are the owners and occupiers of private residences, which are all rendered unhealthy by reason of the discharge of such sewage through the said main sewer.

6. Since the reclamation of the head of the said bay as stated in the third paragraph of this my affidavit, the stench from the sewage poured out of the said sewer, which was previously shocking, has become perfectly intolerable, and has seriously injured the healths of myself and family, and I have been compelled to rent a residence temporarily away from the said bay until the nuisance caused by the said sewer is abated.

7. It is difficult for any person to remain for the shortest time upon the verandah of my house facing the said bay without being sickened, unless when the wind is blowing from my said house towards the said bay, and the stench in the houses or residences of the other informants and plaintiffs is I believe equally as bad, and at Lyndhurst College worse. I have been compelled nearly every day to have all the windows of my house closed, and am frequently obliged to use disinfectants in the house to mitigate the said stench, and have also been compelled to send one of my children away from my said house entirely.

8. The inhabitants of the district in the immediate vicinity of the said bay and main sewer who are daily inhaling the gases therefrom are very numerous, and fevers and other diseases have already broken out in the said district, as I believe, in consequence of the said nuisance.

9. The said main sewer, so constructed by the defendants as aforesaid, is undoubtedly a great nuisance, and very injurious to health.

10. The sewage discharged through the said main sewer as aforesaid is rapidly filling up the said bay, and the nuisance thereby created is continually increasing.

Affidavit of Dr. Moffitt, filed 1st October, 1875.

ON the first day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, Andrew Moffitt, of No. 135, Castlereagh-street, in the city of Sydney, physician and surgeon, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am a duly qualified medical practitioner, practising in the city and suburbs of Sydney.

2. I know the bay called Blackwattle Swamp, and have a large number of patients residing near such bay, and know the position of the main sewer constructed by the Sydney Corporation which empties itself into the said bay, and have occasion to pass near the said sewer about three times a week.

3. I have observed the sewage being carried from the mouth of the said sewer, which is some considerable distance from the tidal water of the said bay, into the said bay, by open drains or cuttings.

4. The sewage from the said sewer exhales foul and noxious gases and an intolerable stench, and in my opinion renders the locality in the immediate vicinity thereof wholly unfit for human habitation, as such gases and stench tend directly to lower the health of the residents near the said bay, and to the spread spread of fevers and other infectious diseases, and to render any disease or sickness under which a person is suffering less amenable to treatment, and to my own knowledge such has been the effect up to the present time—in fact, whenever I have even to pass the said bay, I think it necessary to take a dose of quinine as a prophylactic.

5. The nuisance caused by the said sewage is of a most shocking and dangerous description, and will increase as the season becomes warmer, unless a remedy is at once applied.

Affidavit of Captain Armstrong, filed 5th October, 1875.

On this fourth day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, Richard Ramsay Armstrong, of Ferry Road, Glebe Point, near Sydney, late Captain in Her Majesty's Navy, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I have been residing at Ferry Road aforesaid, in the immediate vicinity of the Blackwattle Swamp, for about two months, and during the greater part of that time I and some members of my family have been suffering from sore throats, which I believe have been caused solely by the inhalation of the noxious vapours arising from the accumulation of sewage matter at the head of Blackwattle Swamp, proceeding from the mouth of the main sewer from Strawberry Hills, Chippendale, and Parramatta-street. My wife particularly is suffering from severe debility, caused in my opinion almost solely by the above nuisance. During the night the stench is almost unbearable, compelling us to keep the house closed up as much as possible.

2. It is my usual habit to see to my children once or twice during the night, and last Friday night, in particular, on getting up for that purpose I felt overcome with a strong feeling of suffocation and sore throat (having a tendency to diphtheria.) On dressing I found the house full of a dense atmosphere, and immediately detected the pestilential smell arising from the said Blackwattle Swamp.

3. In my position as Captain in Her Majesty's Navy and otherwise, I have visited a great many countries. I have experienced the effects of bad Eastern drainage on the European constitution, and have witnessed terrible percentage of death throughout our numbers which were chiefly through exposure to such pestilential swamps as the said Blackwattle Swamp, and consequently I am positive that unless the nuisance is at once removed, and other provision made for the riddance of the noxious sewage matter accumulating at the mouth of the said sewer, it must culminate in the rise and spread of a most deadly fever or plague. The stench proceeding from the aforesaid nuisance is about the worst I have experienced.

4. I have taken a lease for a term of the premises in which I now reside, otherwise I would not remain. Notwithstanding this, if the nuisance is not at once removed, I shall be compelled to change my residence, for the safety of myself and family.

Affidavit of W. J. Carroll, filed 5th October, 1875.

On this 5th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, Walter John Carroll, of College-street, in the city of Sydney, physician and surgeon, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am a legally qualified medical practitioner practising in the city and suburbs of Sydney.

2. I have a large number of patients in the district of the Glebe and Pymont, adjoining Blackwattle Swamp, and frequently drive past the said swamp.

3. For some time past there has been an abominable stench from the said swamp, which has been greatly intensified within the last two or three months. From my observations I believe that sickness has increased in the locality adjoining the said swamp.

4. I have attended many cases of typhoid fever in that locality usually of a very severe type, which fever medical authorities agree originates in the miasma of human excrement, and is much intensified by foul sewage or other noxious exhalations, and in my opinion the said cases of fever were caused by the exhalations from the said swamp.

5. I have within the last few weeks driven over the said swamp and seen the mouth of the said sewer, together with the open cuttings, or drains connecting it with the tidal waters of the bay, and the stench almost overcame me.

6. I have during my treatment of cases of diseases which are ordinarily mild noticed that in this locality they often assume a dangerous and typhoid character, and convalescence is always tedious.

7. In my opinion, unless some remedy is at once applied, the consequence to the health of the inhabitants of that locality will be very serious, and such a large source of pollution of the atmosphere might endanger the sanitary condition of almost any portion of the city, according to the direction of the winds.

ALEXIS G. MACKENZIE,
A Commissioner of Affidavits.

Affidavit of Francis Bell, filed 7th October, 1875.

On the seventh day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, Francis Bell, of the city of Sydney, civil engineer, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am and have since the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, been the City Engineer of and for the defendants.

2. I have read the information and bill in this suit, and also copies of the affidavits of Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, the Rev. John Dwyer, and Andrew Moffitt, all sworn herein on the first day of October instant. The only sewer which has been constructed by the defendants, and which formerly emptied itself into the open stream of the Blackwattle Bay or Swamp in those several affidavits mentioned, and which now is cut off from the said open stream as hereinafter mentioned, and to which alone it is evident reference is intended to be made in the said information, bill, and affidavits, is a sewer which was constructed by the defendants some time in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, as I learn and find from plans and documents in the office of the defendants, and which is particularly described in the next paragraph of this my affidavit.

3. The said sewer which I have mentioned commences at Little Buckingham Street, on the western side of Elizabeth-street South, crosses under Prince Alfred Park and the Redfern Railway Station grounds, and Regent-street, and the brewery premises of Messrs. Tooth & Company, and then under a portion of Abercrombie-street, and then crossing under Parramatta-street, and then under Darling and Wattle-streets, to the head of Blackwattle Cove or Bay. The commencing point and course of such sewer and the end of it, since the reclamation works done and carried out as and under the circumstances hereinafter mentioned, is correctly shown on a plan of the City of Sydney shown to me at the time of my swearing this my affidavit and marked with the letter A, and is thereon coloured red.

4. The said sewer, when constructed and finished by the defendants, terminated in the tidal waters of the said Blackwattle Cove or Bay, and all the sewage matter drained into and passing along such sewer was always discharged therefrom at its said termination into the tidal waters of that cove or bay at a depth of about three feet below high-water, and all such sewage matter was at both high and low water always carried off in the said open stream or channel of the said Blackwattle Cove or Bay, which is a part of Port Jackson and an arm of the sea. The said sewer so constructed was always sufficient for the purpose of carrying off the sewage collected into and drained by the same without causing any offensive nuisance, and was in every respect sufficient within the meaning of the provisions of the Act mentioned in the said information and bill.

5. After the passing of the "Blackwattle Bay Land Reclamation Act of 1873," the land mentioned in the schedule to that Act was reclaimed, the works for such purpose being done and carried out by Her Majesty's proper officers in that behalf under the powers in that Act.

6. The effect and result of such reclamation was to place the discharging end of such sewer at a distance of two thousand two hundred feet from high-water mark in the said Bay or Cove. No sewer was made by those carrying out the said reclamation in connection with the said sewer so as to continue it and carry out its discharging end into the tidal waters of the said bay or cove as it had been previously. The result of this was that the sewage matters which used previously to be discharged into the tidal waters of the said bay, and so to be carried away as hereinbefore mentioned, was led or allowed to run through open and shallow drains and pools of stagnant water on the said reclaimed land, and thence through a cutting or sewer, part of the works in connection with the carrying out of such reclamation, under the Pymont Bridge Road on to the said Blackwattle Swamp or Bay. By this means this sewage was deposited along the sides of the said bay, as in the said information and bill and in the said affidavit of the said Arthur Hill Coates Macafee complained and mentioned, and it has been from such sewage matter that some part of the exhalations, gases, and stenches complained of in the said information and bill has arisen and been emitted.

7. Previously to the carrying out of such reclamation works, and the consequent cutting off of the discharging end of the said sewer from the said tidal waters of the said bay as hereinbefore mentioned, I never heard or knew of any complaint being made, and so far as I have been able to ascertain and learn no complaint was ever made, that the said sewer was or caused any such nuisance as is now complained of; and from all I know and believe, the said sewer did not as then constructed and working cause any such nuisance. In my opinion, from personal inspection and knowledge, the nuisance complained of, so far as the same is caused or created by the sewage matter emptied or discharged by the said sewer, is not in any way attributable to any defect or insufficiency in the construction or working of the said sewer, but from the same being so as aforesaid cut off from the tidal waters of Blackwattle Bay or Cove, and the sewage which but for such reclamation would have been diffused and carried out by the ebb of the tide in the harbour of Port Jackson, being as and in the way aforesaid deposited along the side of the said bay.

8. The said Arthur Hill Coates Macafee is incorrect in saying, and it is not the fact as alleged in the said information and bill, that the whole of the sewage of the districts of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, and Chippendale, or of any of them or any part of them, is poured through the said sewer mentioned and referred to in the said affidavit of the said Arthur Hill Coates Macafee and the said information and bill. The whole of the sewage of each of those districts is carried away and poured through other sewers and drains, and there is no drain or connection whatever by which any of the sewage of either of those districts can be carried into the said sewer. Some parts of the sewage of Parramatta-street is carried through the said sewer.

9. The largest part of the sewage emptied into the said Blackwattle Swamp or Bay passes on to the sides of and into that bay from a creek or open watercourse known as the Blackwattle Creek. Down that creek or watercourse then passes sewage from the several Municipalities of Redfern, Darlington, The Glebe, and Camperdown. The aggregate area of those Municipalities, from which the sewage is so carried down the said creek or watercourse, is as follows:—

	a.	r.	p.
Municipality of Redfern	117	0	26
„ Darlington	29	1	14
„ The Glebe	137	0	0
Making a total of 335 acres 2 roods	335	2	0

The whole of the sewage is discharged from the said creek or watercourse close to the outlet of the said sewer, and the two streams or masses of sewage there join and flow together through the said drains and stagnant waters into and through the said Municipality of the Glebe, as hereinbefore described.

10. The area drained and the sewage of which is carried off by the said sewer, is 112 acres 2 roods 26 perches.

11. It will, in my opinion, be impossible to purify or deodorise the sewage passing through and from the sewer before it is discharged at the outlet of the said sewer. This is not my opinion alone, but being a member of the Commission appointed to inquire and inquiring into the sewage of the city, I know that the matter was in my presence and hearing under discussion and the consideration of the members of the said Commission; and from the consideration of the question then given to the matter, it was the opinion of such members that this would be impossible. The only way in which an end could be put to such nuisance as is now complained of, so far as the said sewer is concerned, is that a proper sewer be made in continuation of such other sewer through the said reclaimed land into the waters of the harbour running up into the said bay, as was the case before the said reclamation works were carried out, so that the sewage can be effectually carried away.

12. If the defendants are compelled to prevent the sewage which ought to be carried away by the said sewer from being so carried away, as would be the result of an injunction in terms of the prayer of the said information and bill, the effect and result would be most disastrous, as the sewage would then be either left scattered over or would be driven back upon the various parts of the city now drained by the said sewer, and in such case a very much more serious injury will be done than can now be said to be done by the said sewer, as a very much larger body of the public than those who now complain of the nuisance alleged to arise from the way in which the sewage from the said sewer is discharged into the said bay would thereby suffer.

On the eighth day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, Geoffrey Eagar, of the Treasury, in the city of Sydney, Under Secretary for Finance and Trade, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am the owner of property situate in the Glebe, the value of which is being seriously deteriorated and injured by the exhalations from Blackwattle Swamp.

A.

My dear Sir,

Sydney, 29 September, 1875.

As you are doubtless aware, I have been compelled to remove my family temporarily from the Glebe Point, owing to ill health, brought on, my medical adviser says, by the proximity of my house to the Blackwattle Swamp. I considered myself settled at Glebe heights for years, both the house itself and the neighbourhood being all I could possibly wish; but in face of the intolerable stink arising from the swamp, and the sickness of my family, I am very reluctantly compelled to look out for another residence in some more wholesome locality. Being as per arrangement only a monthly tenant, I wish now to inform you of my determination to quit the house I occupy at end of October, and of which please accept the month's notice.

I am yours truly,

Geoffrey Eagar, Esq., the Treasury.

F. BRETNALL.

This is the letter referred to in the annexed affidavit of Geoffrey Eagar, sworn before me at Sydney, this 8th day of October, 1875,—

FREDK. CURTIS,

A Commissioner for Affidavits.

Affidavit of A. H. C. Macafee, filed 8th October, 1875.

On the eighth day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, of the Glebe, near Sydney, merchant, and George Allen Mansfield, and Ferdinand Hamilton Reuss, of the same place, architects; and Ambrose Thornley, of the Glebe Point, builder, being duly sworn, severally make oath and say as follows:—

1. We have read the affidavit of Francis Bell, sworn herein on the seventh day of October instant.

2. It is not true as stated in the fourth paragraph of the said affidavit that the said main sewer therein, and in the information and bill referred to, ever since its construction by the defendants, terminated in the tidal waters of the said Blackwattle cove or bay; on the contrary, the said sewer always terminated at some distance from the said tidal waters, but the sewage therefrom was allowed to flow from the mouth of the said sewer to such waters and was not carried off in the said stream as alleged in the said affidavit, and the solid parts thereof were then deposited along the sides of the said bay and rapidly filled up the shallow parts of the said bay; and since the construction of the said sewer by the defendants there have been noxious exhalations from the said bay, and especially when the water was low, as the shallow parts and flats were then covered with a boggy marshy substance caused by the deposit of the solid parts of the sewage from the said sewer, and the nuisance thereby created had been increasing up till the time of the reclamation of the head of the said bay by the Government.

3. It is not the fact as stated in the seventh paragraph of the said affidavit that previous to the said reclamation the said sewer did not cause such a nuisance as is now complained of, as the said sewer has been and caused a nuisance since its construction, but we admit not such an alarming nuisance as it is and causes at present, and complaints were made concerning such nuisance previous to the said reclamation, and we believe that it was in consequence of such complaints and with a view to remedy such nuisance that the Government reclaimed the head of the said bay.

4. On the tenth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, the defendants wrote a letter, in answer to a letter from the Municipality of the Glebe complaining of the nuisance caused by the defendants allowing sewage to flow into the said bay, which contains the following statement,—“The only remedy for the evil will be the reclamation of the shallow parts of the swamp, and this work will rest with the Government, to whom the land belongs.”

5. It is not the fact, as alleged in the said affidavit, that the largest portion of the sewage emptied into the said swamp or bay passes into that bay from Blackwattle Creek, which creek is however within the city of Sydney and under the control of the defendants.

6. The only portion of the sewage of Redfern which passes into the said creek passes through a culvert constructed by defendants across Parramatta-street near the Sugar Works, and only a portion of the sewage of Darlington and simply the surface water of the Glebe passes into the said creek, as the Glebe Corporation have constructed no sewer which runs into the said creek, and as far as we know and believe none of the sewage of Camperdown runs into the said creek or into the said Blackwattle Swamp as stated in the said affidavit.

7. We deny that it is impossible to purify or deodorise the sewage passing through and from the said sewer before it is discharged into the said bay, and we say that it is possible to do so, and the continuing of the said sewer through the said reclaimed land into the waters of the said harbour is not the only way an end can be put to the nuisance complained of, nor would such continuation put an end to the nuisance at all, as the sewage could not be effectually carried away by the waters of the said harbour, as the solid parts of the sewage, which at present run into the tidal waters of the said bay through the said open drains, remain deposited along the sides of the said bay, and such sewage would rapidly fill up the said bay and render further reclamation necessary.

8. With reference to the twelfth paragraph of the said affidavit, the residents of Darlington, Redfern, The Glebe, Pyrmont, Balmain, and a large portion of the city of Sydney, suffer seriously from the said nuisance, and a larger body of the public could not be injured by the stoppage of such sewer entirely than those who now complain and suffer from the said nuisance.

9. Large public meetings have been held for the purpose of complaining and protesting against such nuisance, and compelling the same to be abated, and letters have been published in the newspapers for the same purpose, but no steps have been taken by the defendants for that purpose.

2. I remember when the defendants constructed the main sewer complained of in the information and bill herein, and I know that it is not the fact that the said sewer ever terminated in the tidal waters of Blackwattle Swamp, but terminated at some distance from such tidal waters, and was connected therewith by an open trench only, and has since its construction always been a nuisance continually increasing.

FRIDAY, the eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five.

Upon motion this day made unto His Honor John Fletcher Hargrave, Esquire, the Primary Judge in Equity, whereupon, and upon hearing the bill filed in this cause; the notice of motion filed herein on the first day of October last; the affidavits of the relators and plaintiffs, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee and the Reverend John Dwyer, and the affidavit of Andrew Moffitt, filed on the said first day of October; the affidavits of Walter John Carroll and Richard Ramsay Armstrong, filed on the fifth day of October; the affidavit of Francis Bell, filed on the seventh day of October, on behalf of the defendants; and the joint affidavit of the said Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, George Allen Mansfield, Ferdinand Hamilton Reuss, and Ambrose Thornley, and the affidavits of Peter Collins Bickley, Geoffrey Eagar, and John M'Laughlin, for the plaintiffs, in reply read, and what was alleged by Mr. Darley and Mr. Owen, counsel for the informant and plaintiffs, and Mr. Davis counsel for the defendants: It is ordered that a writ of injunction do, on or after the eighth day of January next, issue out of and under the seal of this Honorable Court, to restrain the defendants, their agents and workmen, from causing or permitting to pass any sewage, filth, or other offensive matter, either solid or liquid, down or through the main sewer of the defendants, constructed from the suburb of Strawberry Hills to and near the head of the bay or arm of the sea known as Blackwattle Swamp, or down or through any other sewer or drain of the said defendants into the said bay or arm of the sea known as Blackwattle Swamp, unless and until the same shall be sufficiently purified and deodorized so as not to be or create a nuisance, or become injurious to health: And it is further ordered that a writ of injunction do issue out of and under the seal of this Honorable Court forthwith, to restrain the defendants from making any additional sewers to join or be connected with their said main sewer or otherwise, and from so further polluting the waters of the said bay, leave being reserved to the defendants to apply to this Court that the issuing of the writ of injunction hereinbefore ordered to be issued on or after the eighth day of January next may be postponed: And it is lastly ordered that the costs of the motion for the said injunction be costs in the cause.

Answer filed 26th October, 1875.

The Answer of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, the above-named defendants, to the information and bill of complaint of the above-named informant and plaintiffs.

In answer to the said Bill, we the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, say as follows:—

Read for plain-ness.

1. [We admit that we are a Corporation constituted under the Act of the Legislature of New South Wales 20 Victoria number 36, intituled "An Act to re-establish a Municipal Council of the City of Sydney."]

2. In the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine we constructed a sewer, commencing on the western side of Elizabeth-street, and running under certain streets and ground in the said city, and terminating about three feet below high-water-mark in the tidal waters of Blackwattle Swamp or Bay, and such commencing point is in the suburb of Strawberry Hills, but such sewer does not in any way carry off the sewerage of that suburb. Except as aforesaid, we deny that we constructed a main sewer from the suburbs of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, and Chippendale, or some or either of them; and we make out the contrary as hereinbefore appearing, and also by stating that the said sewer has no connection whatever with the drainage of Redfern or Chippendale. The sewer in the third paragraph of the said information and bill referred to is not, nor is any other sewer in the said city of Sydney, connected with branch sewers from Chippendale, but some of the sewage from Parramatta-street, in the said city of Sydney, does fall and flow into and along the said sewer. The mouth of the said sewer in the third paragraph referred to when constructed by us was as before stated three feet below high-water mark in the tidal waters of Blackwattle Swamp Bay, and since certain reclamation works hereinafter referred to have been carried out the said bay has been so filled in by such works that the mouth of the sewer has been thereby placed above the now high-water-mark in the said bay; and it is not correct that the mouth of the said sewer was in the sense of not being carried out into the waters of the said bay near, but since the carrying out of the said works the mouth has been thereby caused to be and accordingly is near the head of such bay; and except as aforesaid we say it is not correct, as alleged in the said information and bill, that the mouth of the sewer in the said third paragraph referred to, or of any other sewer, is carried out near the head of a shallow bay and arm of the sea within the harbour of Sydney known as Blackwattle Swamp.

3. Before the carrying out of the said reclamation works herein mentioned, the sewage falling into and passing along and from the said sewer was always carried off into the open channel of the said Blackwattle Bay, and so was carried away and dispersed. Blackwattle Bay is part of Port Jackson, and as such is an arm of the sea within the meaning of the Act mentioned in the said information and bill, and such sewer was in every respect constructed and discharged its sewage in such way as to comply with and not in any way to offend against any of the provisions of the said Act.

4. The head of Blackwattle Bay aforesaid, in the fourth paragraph of the said information and bill referred to, was reclaimed recently by the Government of New South Wales under the provisions in the "Blackwattle Bay Land Reclamation Act, 1873," and the works carried on and completed for such purpose were not in any way under the management or control of us, and we could not in any way interfere with the carrying out of such works, or do anything in connection therewith, either for the purpose of continuing the said sewers into the waters of that bay by carrying the same through the land reclaimed or otherwise. A considerable portion of the said bay has by such reclamation works been filled up, and in consequence thereof, and not otherwise, the mouth of the said sewer in the said fourth paragraph referred to is now at some distance from the tidal waters of the said harbour.

5. No provision was made in the carrying out such reclamation for the continuation of the said sewer into the tidal waters of the said harbour, and consequently, and not from any default or negligence on our part, the sewage which was discharged from the said sewer, and had previously been discharged into and carried away by the said tidal waters of the said harbour as hereinbefore mentioned, were allowed to and did in fact run through open and shallow drains and pools of stagnant water in the said land so reclaimed, and thence through a cutting or sewer, part of the said reclamation works, under Pyrmont Bridge Road, on to the said Blackwattle Swamp, and in fact on part of the Municipality of The Glebe. Except as aforesaid, the mouth of the said sewer was and is not connected with the said tidal waters of the said bay by open drains; and we make out the contrary as hereinbefore shown.

6. We admit that the districts of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, Chippendale, and Parramatta Streets, in the fifth paragraph of the said information and bill referred to, are densely populated, but it is not the fact that the whole of the sewage of the said districts, or of any of them save a part of Parramatta-street as hereinbefore mentioned, is poured through the sewer in the said fifth paragraph referred to. The sewage of Redfern passes into an open watercourse or creek, and is by that and not by any sewer under our control carried and emptied on to the said reclaimed land near the mouth of the said sewer, and from them it passes into the said drains and pools and is carried away in the same way as the sewage passing along the said sewer after it is discharged from it is as hereinbefore mentioned carried away. No part of the sewage of the districts of Strawberry Hills, Redfern, and Chippendale, or either or any of them, them, is carried or passes into the waters of the said Blackwattle Swamp or bay, or in any way pollutes the same. The sewage from a part of Parramatta-street which is so as aforesaid carried away by the said sewer, and the rest of the sewage collected in and passing along the sewer, does, as hereinbefore mentioned, pass into the waters of the said bay; but except so far as the same lies on the said reclaimed land after leaving the said mouth of the said sewer, we deny that the same pollutes the said waters of the said bay, and as to that we say and submit that we are not in any way responsible. By reason of the failure to make such continuation of the said sewer and other proper provision in respect thereof in the carrying out of the said reclamation works, and not otherwise. We believe that some of the solid parts of the sewage passing along and poured from the said sewer, and so only of the sewage in the said fifth paragraph of the information and bill referred to, and also of the sewage passing down and from the said Blackwattle Creek, is deposited along the sides of the said bay, exhaling foul and noxious gases, and emitting a stench, but whether or not intolerable we cannot as to our knowledge or otherwise say, and rendering some of the low-lying lands in the surrounding district unhealthy, but whether or not unfit for human habitation we cannot as to our knowledge or otherwise say, save that we believe it is the fact that very many of the inhabitants of that surrounding district who live on comparatively high levels do not suffer any, or any great, inconvenience from the stench arising from the said deposits of sewage.

7. We believe that the plaintiffs and relators are proprietors or occupiers of such low-level lands and houses on such low levels as aforesaid, immediately bordering on the said bay; and that the plaintiff and relator, the Reverend John Dwyer, is the President of Lyndhurst College, situated in the Municipality of the Glebe, and at the head of the said bay, on such low-level land as aforesaid, and that the said college is a school where a number of boys are educated and reside. We also believe that the other plaintiffs and relators are owners of private residences, which are all on such low level-lands as aforesaid, and are thereby exposed to such stench, and are thereby rendered unhealthy by the sewage from the said sewer after it is discharged and while it is in such drains and pools on such reclaimed land as aforesaid; and except as aforesaid we say that such residences are not rendered unhealthy by reason of the discharge of the sewage in the sixth paragraph of the said information and bill referred to or any other sewage, through the said sewer in the said sixth paragraph referred to or any other sewer; and we make out the contrary so far as the same is made out as hereinbefore shown.

8. We say that the said sewer in the seventh paragraph of the said information and bill referred to was and is not, as constructed by us, a nuisance, or injurious to health, as the same was and is in all respects sufficient to discharge its sewage into the said Blackwattle Bay as an arm of the sea, except so far as the same has been and is prevented from so doing by the filling in and other works in the carrying out of the said reclamation. The only nuisance or thing injurious to health (if any) is the sewage as it passes along such open drains and pools as and under the circumstances hereinbefore mentioned and for the nuisance from which we submit we are not responsible.

9. We cannot as to our knowledge or otherwise say whether or not the sewage in the eighth paragraph of the said information and bill referred to is rapidly filling up the said bay, but we believe certain of the solid parts of the said sewage discharged through the said sewer may remain on some parts of the said reclaimed land, by reason of no proper provision having been made to carry the same away, and that thereby and not otherwise the nuisance created by such sewage or parts of it would, but for proper provision for carrying it away, continually increase, but the same will not continually increase; and we make out the contrary, as hereinafter shown.

10. The Government of New South Wales have undertaken to carry out, and are about to carry out as rapidly as possible, a proper and efficient continuation of the said sewer from its now mouth, so as to carry all the sewage passing into, along, and from such sewer out into the tidal waters of the bay, so that the same may be carried and discharged into an arm of the sea, and this will put an end to the nuisance complained of in the said information and bill.

11. We submit that under the circumstances herein appearing, we ought not to be restrained by the injunction of this Honorable Court, as in the prayer of the said information and bill is prayed, and that the said information and bill should be dismissed as against us with costs.

The common seal of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney was affixed hereto by me, Thomas Archer Butterfield, Town Clerk of the city of Sydney, the twenty-sixth day of October, A.D. 1875.

Affidavit of William Moore, filed 10th February, 1876.

On the ninth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, William Moore, of the city of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, clerk to Messieurs Allen, Bowden, and Allen, of Sydney aforesaid, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I did, on Saturday, the fifteenth day of January last past, duly serve the above-named defendants, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, with the writ of injunction issuing out of and under the Seal of this Honorable Court, now produced and shown to me and marked "A," by delivering true copies of the said writ to and leaving the same with Benjamin Palmer, Esq., the said Mayor of Sydney, and head officer of the defendant Corporation, and Thomas A. Affidavit of John M'Laughlin, filed 10th February, 1876.

On this eighth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, John M'Laughlin, of one hundred and twenty-four, Elizabeth-street, in the city of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, solicitor, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am managing clerk to the solicitors for the informant and above-named plaintiffs herein, and have the conduct and management of this suit.

2. On the eighth day of October last an order was made by this Honorable Court for a writ of injunction in terms of the prayer of the information and bill herein, but the issuing of such writ was suspended till the eighth day of January last, with leave to the defendants to apply before the last-mentioned date that the issuing of the said writ should be further postponed.

3. No application for such further postponement was however made, and the said writ was issued on the fourteenth day of January last and served upon the following day.

4. The defendants are a Corporation constituted under the Act of the Legislature of New South Wales, Twentieth Victoria, Number thirty-six, intituled "An Act to re-establish a Municipal Council in the City of Sydney," with power to take, purchase, and hold land and personal estate, and to grant, sell, alien, assign, and assure the same, and the said defendants are as I am informed and verily believe possessed of considerable real and personal property.

5. On the nineteenth day of November last I wrote Messieurs Driver and Merriman, solicitors for the defendants, a letter a true copy of which is as follows:—

Dear Sirs,

124, Elizabeth-street, Sydney, 19 November, 1875.

The Attorney General and Allen and others v. The Mayor, &c., of Sydney, on the eighth day of October last an order for an injunction to restrain the serious nuisance complained of in this suit was obtained by us, the defendants being allowed three months to abate the nuisance before the writ should issue, and leave to apply for an extension of time if they should have grounds for such an application.

We have now to call your attention to the fact that although nearly half of the three months has elapsed your clients have not yet done one single act or procured any steps to be taken towards abating the nuisance in any manner whatever and appear to treat the order of the Primary Judge with indifference. Under these circumstances, we have to give you notice that we will oppose any application you may make to delay the issuing of the writ of injunction after the 8th of January next. We must therefore ask that something be at once done by your clients, so that they will be prepared to obey the injunction when it issues, as the injury sustained by our clients and the other residents in the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp is too serious to admit of our consenting to any delay not allowed by the Court.

We are, &c.,

ALLEN, BOWDEN & ALLEN,

(p. J. M'LAUGHLIN.)

Messrs. Driver and Merriman, Solicitors.

and on the 20th day of November last received a reply to the following effect:—

Re Mayor and others ats. Attorney General and others.

Dear Sirs,

City Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 20 November, 1875.

I have forwarded a copy of yours of yesterday to the Council, and upon receipt of instructions will communicate with you.

Yours very truly,

Messrs. Allen, Bowden, & Allen, Solicitors.

RICHARD DRIVER,

but no further reply to the said letter has since been received.

6. I have been informed by Mr. George Wigram Allen that, on the twenty-fourth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, he wrote to the defendants a letter, a copy of which is hereunto annexed marked "A," and I verily believe such information to be true, having seen a press copy of the said letter.

7. I am instructed that the defendants have disobeyed and wholly disregarded the order and injunction of this Honorable Court.

Sworn by the deponent, on the day first above-mentioned, at Sydney, before me,—

JNO. M'LAUGHLIN.

AUBREY MOWLE,

A Commissioner for Affidavits.

A.

The Right Worshipful the Mayor of Sydney.

Sir,

Municipal Council Chambers, Glebe, 24 March, 1873.

I have the honor through you to call the attention of the Council of the city of Sydney to the effluvia and nuisance arising from the public sewer from Abercrombie-street, which empties itself at the head of Blackwattle Swamp.

At low tide the sewage matter flows upon and spreads itself upon the land, and even at high tide the matter is not carried off by the waters of the bay, but remains and causes a most disgusting stench, exceedingly injurious to the health of the Glebe and the southern parts of the city.

From the reports in the newspapers of the proceedings of the City Council, it would appear that it is the intention of that body to connect a further large portion of the city sewerage with the Abercrombie-street sewer, and thus add very greatly to the existing nuisance. The 9th section of the Sydney Sewerage Act of 1853 requires that all sewers shall be constructed, covered, and kept so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and properly cleared, cleansed, and emptied into such places as may be fit and necessary, but not so as to create a nuisance."

I

I have therefore to require that the Council of the city of Sydney do take immediate measures for the abatement of this nuisance, and that they do not proceed with their declared resolution to unite further sewers with the one already existing.

Legal proceedings will be instituted and prosecuted in case the Council shall act in defiance of this notice.

I have, &c.,
G. WIGRAM ALLEN,
Mayor of the Glebe.

This is the copy letter marked "A," referred to in the annexed affidavit of John M'Laughlin, sworn before me, this eighth day of February, A.D. 1876,—

AUBREY MOWLE,
A Commissioner for Affidavits.

Affidavit of F. H. Reuss, filed 10th February, 1876.

ON this seventh day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Ferdinand Hamilton Reuss, of Pitt-street, Sydney, architect and surveyor, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I reside on the Glebe, near the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp, and know the locality and position of the main sewer of the defendants complained of in the information and bill herein.
2. I visited the mouth of the said sewer on the twentieth day of January last, and found that the whole of the sewage from the said sewer was being poured into the said swamp.
3. The said sewage was in no way purified or deodorized, and was and still is causing a most abominable stench, which was perfectly unbearable even at a considerable distance from the said sewer, and the effluvia arising from the said sewage so poured into the said swamp in my opinion renders the whole of the locality in the vicinity thereof unhealthy and unfit for human habitation.
4. The stench arising from the said sewage is far more intolerant now than in the month of October last, and is now and has been since the said month of October rapidly increasing, and has now produced a most disgusting and shocking nuisance.
5. The defendants have done nothing towards alleviating the said nuisance.
6. Since October last I suffered from a serious attack of typhoid fever, brought on as I verily believe through my living in the vicinity of the said swamp.

Affidavit of W. De B. Hocter, filed 10th February, 1876.

ON the seventh day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, William De Burgh Hocter, of the Glebe, near Sydney, Council Clerk, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I reside on the Glebe near the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp, and know the locality and position of the main sewer of the defendants complained of in the information and bill herein.
2. I visited the mouth of the said sewer on the 20th day of January last, and found that the whole of the sewage from the said sewer was being poured into the said swamp.
3. The said sewage was in no way purified or deodorized, and was and still is causing a most abominable stench which was perfectly unbearable even at a considerable distance from the said sewer, and the effluvia arising from the said sewage so poured into the said swamp, in my opinion rendered the whole of the locality in the vicinity thereof unhealthy and unfit for human habitation.
4. The stench arising from the said sewage is far more intolerant now than in the month of October last, and is now and has been since the said month of October rapidly increasing, and has now produced a most disgusting and shocking nuisance.
5. The defendants have done nothing towards alleviating the said nuisance.

Affidavit of M. J. Golden, filed 10th February, 1876.

ON this eighth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Michael Joseph Golden, of Glebe Point, near Sydney, freeholder, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I reside near the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp, and am owner of house property of considerable value situate near the said swamp.

2. I am informed that a writ of injunction issued forth from this Honorable Court on the fourteenth day of January last, restraining the above-named defendants from causing or permitting to pass any sewage, filth, or other offensive matter, either solid or liquid, down or through their main sewer constructed from the suburb of Strawberry Hills to the head of the bay or arm of the sea known as Blackwattle Swamp, unless and until the same should be sufficiently purified or deodorized so as not to be or create a nuisance or become injurious to health.

3. The said defendants have in no way obeyed the said writ of injunction, and still allow the sewage to run down the said sewer into the said bay in the same manner as when the information and bill herein had been filed, and the said sewage so running into the said bay is in no way purified or deodorized and creates a most abominable nuisance.

4. I have frequently inspected the mouth of the said sewer since the month of October last, and since the fifteenth day of January last, and know that the defendants have taken no steps whatever towards remedying the said nuisance, or towards obeying the order and writ of this Honorable Court.

5. Property of the value of upwards of five thousand pounds belonging to myself and my sister is now unproductive in consequence of the disgusting nuisance caused by the said sewage running into the swamp as aforesaid, which nuisance is in my opinion most injurious to the health of the inhabitants of the district adjoining the said swamp.

Affidavit of A. H. C. Macafee, filed 10th February, 1876.

ON this ninth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, of York-street, Sydney, warehouseman, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am one of the relators and plaintiffs herein.

2. The nuisance complained of in the information and bill herein has been in no way abated since the order for injunction was made herein on the eighth day of October last, and the defendants have not done one single act towards obeying the said order and injunction of this Honorable Court, and appear to treat the same with indifference.

3. The defendants still allow sewage to flow down their main sewer complained of in the said information and bill to the head of Blackwattle Swamp in the same manner as before the filing of the information herein and before the making of the said order for injunction, and the nuisance caused by the said sewage is now far worse than it was in October last.

4. I have been compelled to abandon my house and residence on Glebe Point Road in consequence of the said nuisance, and cannot return thereto until the defendants obey the injunction of this Honorable Court, or until the said nuisance is otherwise abated, as my said house is rendered unfit for human habitation in consequence of the said nuisance caused by the said sewage as aforesaid.

5. Myself and the other relators and plaintiffs herein are serious sufferers from the said nuisance.

1. I reside near Blackwattle Swamp.

2. The nuisance caused by the sewage running into the said swamp from the defendants' main sewer is most abominable and disgusting, and is I believe far worse now than it was in the month of October last.

3. The atmosphere near the said swamp is so horribly polluted that it appears to me inexplicable that a pestilence has not broken out among the inhabitants of the Glebe and other districts adjoining the said swamp before now.

1. I am a duly qualified medical practitioner, practising in the city and suburbs of Sydney.

2. I have been compelled to pass by Blackwattle Swamp very frequently, and have passed by there since the fifteenth day of January last, and saw the sewage still flowing from the defendants' main sewer, referred to in the information and bill herein, into the said swamp.

3. The said sewage is not purified or deodorized, and creates a most abominable and dangerous nuisance, which is most injurious to health.

4. I avoid passing near the said swamp as much as possible, lest I should be poisoned by the horribly polluted atmosphere surrounding that locality, caused by the said sewage.

5. The said nuisance has increased greatly since the time of my swearing my affidavit in support of the motion of injunction herein on the first day of October last, and it is most surprising that some serious pestilence has not broken out amongst the numerous population residing in the neighbourhood of the said swamp.

Affidavit of B. Palmer, Esq., Mayor, and F. Bell, C.E., filed 18th February, 1876.

On the seventeenth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Benjamin Palmer, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, Esquire, the Mayor of Sydney, and Francis Bell, of Sydney aforesaid, civil engineer, being duly sworn, severally make oath and say as follows:—

And I, the said Benjamin Palmer, say:—

1. After the making of the order of the eighth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, by which a writ of injunction was ordered to issue, as in such order particularly mentioned, proper instructions were given to Mr. Bell, the City Engineer, to prepare plans for the sewerage of Blackwattle Swamp in the Bill mentioned, in order to prevent the sewerage carried down by the main sewer in the said Bill mentioned being a nuisance or injurious to health.

And I, the said Francis Bell, say:—

2. On the fifteenth October one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, I received such instructions as are hereinbefore mentioned. Up to the end of October I was deprived of the assistance of one of my assistant engineers, who was up to that time absent by reason of ill health, and from the middle of November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, my only other assistant engineer was frequently absent, and ultimately he left altogether.

3. From the time of my so receiving such instructions I used every exertion and was as expeditious as it was possible in the preparation of the said plans. On the sixth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, the plans which I had prepared were submitted to the Committee of the Corporation having the management of such matters.

And we, the said Benjamin Palmer and Francis Bell, say :—

4. On the seventeenth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, we waited on the Honorable the Colonial Secretary with the said plans, which I the said Francis Bell had so prepared, and which had been carefully considered and approved of by the Mayor and Council. Mr. Moriarty, who is the Government Engineer for Harbours and Rivers, was with the Honorable the Colonial Secretary when we so waited upon the latter. The said plans were fully discussed at that interview, and ultimately, on the suggestion of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, it was determined that the plans should be submitted to the Commissioners under a Royal Commission to inquire into and report upon the Sewerage and Health of the City of Sydney, in order that their opinion might be taken as to the best and most effectual way of carrying out and completing the drainage and sewerage of and in connection with Blackwattle Swamp aforesaid, in order to avoid the then nuisance and injury from the odours arising from the sewerage run into Blackwattle Swamp and not completely carried away.

5. The plans were accordingly so submitted to the said Commissioners, and were considered by them.

6. The said Commissioners recommended a certain plan for the purpose of carrying off the sewerage and drainage going into Blackwattle Swamp, and this the Government ordered should be carried out. The plan so proposed and determined to be carried out was that the main sewer constructed by the defendants, and which is particularly mentioned in the bill and several affidavits filed by and on behalf of the relators for the purpose of the motion for injunction, should be carried on and out into the deep water of Port Jackson running into Blackwattle Swamp Bay, so that the sewerage and drainage carried down by such sewer should be effectually carried away, and should not rest on and in the uncovered parts and small drains of Blackwattle Swamp in the way spoken of in the said affidavits. This work the Government not only undertook to do, but as I the said Francis Bell say, the said Mr. Moriarty informed me the defendants were not in any way to interfere with the doing of this work, the Government having determined that it was a work which should be done by them, and which accordingly they had determined that they alone should do.

7. According to the said plans made by me the said Francis Bell, it had been intended to make a covered brick sewer to collect and carry away the sewerage and drainage which for many years past was carried away by the Blackwattle Creek mentioned in the affidavit of me the said Francis Bell used on the hearing of the said motion for an injunction. This was overruled by the said Commissioners, according to whose plan large drain pipes were to be so laid so as to carry the said sewerage and drainage into the the main sewer so as aforesaid to be continued and carried by the Government into deep water, and thus to carry the said sewerage and drainage from the said Blackwattle Creek into the deep waters of Port Jackson. The drainage from the Municipality of the Glebe it was determined, under the advice and direction of the said Commissioners, was to be left to be disposed of and dealt with by such Municipality. The Government required the defendants to carry out the works according to such opinion and direction of the said Commissioners.

8. In consequence of the defendants being required to adopt a system and plan different from that originally intended, fresh plans had to be prepared, which necessarily occupied some further time.

9. Tenders were called for by and on behalf of the Government for the performance of this said part of the work, and the time for the coming in of such tenders expired on the fifteenth instant. Tenders were also called for the performance of the work which the defendants so had to do, and these tenders expire on the twenty-second instant. Large quantities of the pipes and material required for the laying the said connecting drain by the defendants have been during this week carted and laid to and on the ground, so as to be ready to carry out the work as soon as a tender for its performance is accepted.

10. Having regard to the very great difficulty in carrying out drainage and sewerage in the locality of Blackwattle Swamp, and to the necessity of exercising every precaution in the performance of any such work, the greatest possible expedition has been used, and it would have been impossible to proceed with the work any faster. The defendants have all along been most anxious and have used every exertion to comply with the order of this Honorable Court in such a way as to carry out that which they believed this Honorable Court intended them to do, namely, to prevent the drainage and sewerage carried down by the said main sewer being a nuisance and injurious to health.

And I the said Benjamin Palmer say :—

11. I was in the month of January last assured by the Honorable the Colonial Secretary on frequent occasions that the Government would take every care that the said main sewer should be properly carried out, so as to put an end to the cause of complaint in regard to it; and that the defendants need not, therefore, trouble themselves about it. In consequence of this I was led to believe that, as the information was by the Honorable the Attorney General, and as the Government undertook themselves to remedy that which formed the subject of complaint in the information, the defendants need not take any steps in reference to the order for injunction and the issue of the same, and accordingly I did not, on behalf of the defendants, take any such step.

Memorandum of Appeal, filed 24 February, 1876.

Memorandum of Appeal to the full Court.

THE above-named informant and plaintiffs appeal from the order made by His Honor the Primary Judge in Equity of this Honorable Court in this cause, on the eighteenth day of February instant.

The said informant and plaintiffs, on the tenth day of February instant, gave notice to the above-named defendants of their intention to move this Honorable Court, on the fifteenth day of February instant, that a commission of sequestration might issue, directed to certain Commissioners, to be therein named, to sequester the personal estate, and the rents, issues and profits of the real estate of the defendants, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of Sydney, for disobedience of the writ of injunction issued under the order of this Honorable Court, made on the eighth day of October last, until the further order of this Court, and that the said defendants might be ordered to pay the costs of and occasioned by such application.

The

The informant and plaintiffs, on the eighteenth day of February instant, moved before His Honor the Primary Judge for an order in pursuance of the said notice, which motion was opposed by the said defendants, and His Honor refused the said motion, and made no order as to costs.

The informant and plaintiffs submit that the said order ought not to have been made, and that an order ought to have been made in the terms of the said notice of motion, for the following, among other grounds and reasons, that is to say :

1. The defendants did not, within the time limited by the order of the said Primary Judge, dated the eighth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, apply for an extension of time.
2. The defendants did not appeal to the full Court from the said order.
3. That the defendants took no steps to abate the said nuisance, until after the issue of the writ of injunction in the said cause, and that the nuisance still continues.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master in Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esquire, Sydney, Monday, the nineteenth day of June, A.D. 1876 (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named informant and plaintiffs.

Andrew Moffitt, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—

I am a duly qualified medical practitioner; I know the locality known as Blackwattle Swamp; my practice lies all round; there is a large population settled in that neighbourhood; I think I have seen the mouth of the main sewer situated at Blackwattle Swamp; I don't think the waters of the harbour go up so far as the mouth of the sewer; from the mouth of the sewer to the causeway and bridge it is an open drain; I think the health of the people in that neighbourhood is much lowered by the sewage coming down the open drain; the poisonous atmosphere created by the sewage lowers the general health of the people; it produces typhoid, which is very prevalent there: it is of a very bad character, worse than any other part of Sydney; the smell of the sewage has the effect of lowering the system so as to make people in the neighbourhood more liable to disease and less amenable to treatment; scarlatina is very prevalent around there; I think the germ of these diseases is carried down by the open sewers; when the tide is out it is quite intolerable to pass by there—there is a frightful smell from it; when the tide is out I should think that there are some acres left uncovered, which is full of the solid sewage; this is worse on the Glebe side; since I have known the bay it has been considerably silted up by the sewage; that is quite independent of the reclamation of the land by the Government; from the uncovered land when the tide is out there is an intolerable stench and noxious gases rising; even at the top of high-water there is a noxious smell arising from the mixture of the sewage with the water.

Q. Is the sewage brought down by the main sewer, of which you have spoken, in your opinion a nuisance to the public? [Objected to by Mr. Davis; I admitted the evidence.—A. T. H.]

A. I consider it a dangerous nuisance to the public; I think the prevailing winds would carry the germs of disease and the injurious effects arising from that sewage half a mile from the spot; I have smelt the stench close to Camperdown, about half a mile distant.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davis:—

Scarlatina prevails in that district, about the Glebe and Glebe Point; it is a fact that scarlatina is prevailing all through Sydney, and as far as I know through the Colony, but I think it is more malignant about the Glebe than elsewhere, which I attribute to the low state of health generally.

Q. What is the germ of scarlatina or any other disease which I understand you to say the winds carry from this swamp?

A. The germ or spore of a fungoid character as far as we know is cast off from the afflicted person or is in the excretions and is carried by the air or sewage; it is impossible to demonstrate these things.

Q. Do you say that spore germ of disease and fungoid germ of disease are the same or of the same character?

A. I look on the words "spore" and "germ" as synonymous; I say that this district is exceptionally unhealthy from the causes already stated.

Q. Do you not know that the vital statistics upon which the last health report of the city of Sydney and the suburbs was founded show that this district is the second in health of all the districts of Sydney and the suburbs?

A. I can't give you a definite answer on this matter, because I have not read the statistics.

Re-examined by Mr. Owen:—

[Objected to by Mr. Davis; I admitted the evidence.—A. T. H.] The state of things I have spoken of was worse last September than it is now; the rains have flushed the sewers and drains, and the stench is not quite so bad as it was; I have known the locality eighteen years, and the nuisance during last summer was worse than it ever was; it has been getting worse and worse for some years.

ANDREW MOFFITT,
Physician and Surgeon, &c.

Walter

Walter John Carroll, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—

I am a surgeon and a duly qualified medical practitioner; I know Blackwattle Swamp; my practice lies a great deal in that locality; the locality of the Glebe bordering on the Swamp is decidedly more unhealthy than other portions of the Glebe, and more unhealthy than most portions of the city, excepting reclaimed land at the head of Darling Harbour, which, if possible, exceeds Blackwattle Swamp in filth and abominable odours; Blackwattle Swamp is unhealthy in consequence of the slow flow of sewage through it, and also in consequence of the material whereby its reclamation was effected; the open condition of the mouths of the sewers facilitate decomposition and the rising of miasm, which pollutes the atmosphere; the sewage commenced from where the reclamation commenced, to the waters of Port Jackson, in open drains; I want to add further, that there is a portion of land between the commencement of the reclaimed land and the Sugar Works, through which several filthy and open drains permeate; these supply portion of the contents of the open cuttings to which I have adverted; I can't exactly fix the locality of the open mouth of the main sewer in Blackwattle Swamp; the sewage from the sewers and drains of which I have spoken pours down beyond the reclaimed land into the bay of Blackwattle Swamp; I noticed a tunnel under the road which forms the sea margin of the reclaimed land; through this tunnel the tidal waters flow, and carry with them, on the ebb of the tide, a portion of the filth supplied by those open drains; this cleansing process is imperfect; outside the road and the reclaimed land there is a deposit of black filthy-looking mud, which leaves an abominable stench at low-water, and along the sides of the bay a deposit of slimy ooze or mud; it is caused by the contamination of the salt water by the sewage; I can't say that there are particular types of disease in the unhealthy parts of the Glebe; I have spoken of typhoid fever as prevalent as it is in some other parts of the city; the cases I have had of it in this locality have been very protracted, and were always accompanied with a great prostration of vital force; other diseases not necessarily typhoid became in their course very difficult to manage, in consequence of loss of vital force and want of recuperative action during convalescence; I attribute this to the continual inhalation of an atmosphere charged with a miasm arising from decomposed animal excreta and vegetable refuse; I have felt the effect of the tainted atmosphere up the Pymont Bridge Road about half a mile from Blackwattle Swamp; in travelling on the Newtown Road I have felt it as high as Myrtle-street, Darlington, a quarter of a mile from the swamp; in hot close weather in summer the influence of the tainted atmosphere might be felt a mile from the swamp; as a focus from which other diseases, such as typhus or cholera, might be propagated, the Blackwattle Swamp fulfils the necessary conditions.

Q. Is the sewage brought down by the main sewer at Blackwattle Swamp in your opinion a nuisance to the public? [Objected to by Mr. Davis; I admitted the evidence.—A.T.H.]

A. Decidedly. The state of things I have spoken of now existed last September—I think worse then than now. I have known this locality eleven years.

Q. How long have you known this nuisance existing? [Objected to by Mr. Davis; I admitted the evidence.—A.T.H.]

A. I have known an abominable stench to exist ever since I first knew the place; the stench has become intensified since the reclamation commenced; I was for two years medical attendant to Lyndhurst College before the reclamation commenced, and frequently observed then that a very bad odour ascended from the swamp; I had one case of typhoid fever in that College, which took on the character of typhus fever, and ended fatally; this was six or seven years ago.

Evidence of W. Hocter and H. H. Reuss, taken 3rd August, 1876.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master in Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esquire, Sydney, Thursday, the third day of August, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named informant and plaintiffs.

William De Burgh Hocter, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:— I am the Council Clerk and Surveyor of the Glebe Municipality, I know the main sewer referred to in this suit which runs from Abercrombie-street into Blackwattle Swamp. I knew that sewer in 1869, before the land was reclaimed at the head of the swamp. In 1869 the mouth of the sewer did not extend to the tidal waters of Port Jackson; the sewage brought down by that sewer was not carried away by the tide, not being extended sufficiently far for the tide to carry away the sewage; at that time the levels were, in my opinion, too low, and worked, as I believe, as an under-current under the tide; owing to this, the sewage as it came out of the sewer remained stagnant; I observed that for the last seven years; the effect of the sewage coming out in that way created an intolerable stench; there were frequently large deposits of solid fecal matter, which were partly removed from time to time by heavy floods; they were only carried a little further on and deposited elsewhere on the area of the swamp; on the side of the swamp under Lyndhurst College, and under the properties of plaintiff Macafee and others, the waters were polluted, emitting a dangerous stench injurious to health; I have noticed solid matter deposited on the margin of the swamp under the properties I have just mentioned; no sewers from the Glebe Municipality open into this swamp or bay, but there are two open drains (which we call watercourses), one from the University ponds, and the other from the Bishopthorpe Estate, which carry off surface water; to my knowledge we don't allow any sewage or offensive matter to go by these drains into the swamp; both these these drains are covered by culverts where they pass under streets or lanes in the Glebe Municipality; the nuisance from the Abercrombie and Wattle Streets' sewer has existed ever since this sewer was formed; the nuisance that I have spoken of has increased and become worse and worse since the sewer was constructed; the reclamation of the swamp has concentrated the nuisance into one open canal or channel, instead of being diffused over the swamp by the tide as it was before; there have been repeated public meetings held at the Council Chamber of the Glebe in reference to this nuisance.

Cross-examined by Mr Davis: I don't know Blackwattle Creek, there is no such creek to my knowledge in the Glebe Municipality; I know of no creek in the Glebe that I can call a creek emptying itself into Blackwattle Swamp; I know two watercourses or open drains discharging water to the Blackwattle Swamp; neither of those go near the Sugar Works in Parramatta-street; the University pond drain empties itself into Blackwattle Swamp through the city side of Bay-street, after passing under Bay-street; I have never known any offensive matter in that drain; I have not seen any offensive matter go down the Bishopthorpe drain; the water sewage of the Glebe goes into Blackwattle Swamp by the two watercourses of which I have spoken. There is another open watercourse through Forest Lodge, emptying into Orphan School Creek at Johnson's Bay; no offensive sewage goes down that watercourse—it is always kept clean; I know of no sewer in the Glebe for carrying faecal or nuisance matter—this is carried away to Botany by night carts; one half of Bay-street is in the Glebe Municipality and the other half in the city of Sydney; I have been in Bay-street, and am there weekly; from the Glebe side of Bay-street the land as far as the Sugar Works drainage slopes towards the Sugar Works sewer; no offensive matter drains from the Glebe side of Bay-street down towards the Sugar Works sewer to my knowledge; the sloping land is all in the city.

W. DE BÜRGH HOCTER,
Council Clerk and Surveyor.

Ferdinand Hamilton Reuss, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am an architect and surveyor; I reside at the Glebe, in Pyrmont Bridge Road, near Blackwattle Swamp; I know the main sewer referred to in this suit, and have known it ever since it was built, six or seven years ago; the tide never came to the mouth of the sewer, not even when it was first built; there was always a small piece of flat swampy land between the mouth of the sewer and ordinary high-water; the accumulation of sewage spread out and made a mud flat, not very deep—I have crossed on stones laid across it; these stones were gradually covered over with the sewage matter; there was always a great effluvium from this mud flat, especially when the tide was low; it affected the waters of the bay by making them muddy; I don't think the smell was from the waters themselves; when the land was reclaimed by the Government no provision was made to carry off the sewage, but it spread over the reclaimed land and made its way to the waters of the harbour; there have been deposits of solid faecal matter all round the sides of the bay; wherever there was a small inlet, or any obstruction, there the deposit was made; at low tide the stench from this was as bad as the other part of the swamp; I had an attack of typhoid fever myself in consequence of attending to this matter preparing plans for the plaintiffs.

F. H. REUSS.

Evidence of A. H. C. Macafee, taken 4th September, 1876.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master in Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esquire, Sydney, Monday, the fourth day of September, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named informant and plaintiffs.

Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am one of the relators and plaintiffs in this suit, and I reside in the neighbourhood of the sewer mentioned in this case; my residence is at Glebe Point; I have known this sewer since 1869—that was before the land was reclaimed at Blackwattle Swamp; the sewer was finished in the early part of 1869, by the Corporation of Sydney; it opened into a sort of creek which apparently had been cut to take the sewage towards the high water of Blackwattle Bay; I should say the mouth of the sewer was at least 100 feet from the high-water-mark, and as the sewage flowed out it daily made the mouth of the sewer further from high-water-mark, owing to the solid deposit from the sewer; the channel from the mouth of the sewer was open and very shallow; the solid matter from the sewer was also washed round the sides of the bay; the effect of that was very bad smells continually, and injurious to the health; at that time we perceived it in my house, especially when a southerly or south-easterly wind prevailed; the land in the bay began to be reclaimed, I think, about 1873; at first there was no mode of the sewage getting away except by an open drain, which ran past the western side of the bay; it was running that way up to the filing of the information and bill; just before the filing of the information and bill there was a thick black deposit at the mouth of the sewer and round the bay, emitting a most obnoxious smell; in consequence of this myself and family were obliged to go away every summer, sometimes for five months at a time; I suffered personally from it; I had typhoid fever on two or three occasions, and suffered on one occasion for four or five months; I went about because my doctor would not let me lay up; and whenever I went away I got better, and when I returned I had a relapse; at times the smell has been so bad on our verandah facing the bay, when the wind happened to blow towards us, that many people have been sickened by the stench, and we have been sometimes forty-eight hours without having the windows towards the bay opened, and have had to use disinfectants throughout the house; the nuisance I have mentioned has been much increased since I first knew the place; the deposit has filled up the bay very much, and is fast filling up the outer bay since the reclamation; the sewer also brings down street-washings, which tend to fill up the bay; there is a large population round Blackwattle Bay, and their dwellings are exposed to this stench and noxious gases. I know of my own knowledge there has been much sickness among the population, especially of the Glebe and Darlington, from this cause I believe; the nuisance is felt also in Sydney when there is a westerly wind, and causes us to close our windows on the west side of the warehouse in York-street; as a matter of fact I know that several houses that were empty at Glebe Point might have been let but for the nuisance; and when let they have been let at a reduced rental; I have a water frontage below my house, and the foreshore is quite covered with this deposit; it was a nice sandy beach when I first went there.

A. H. C. MACAFEE.

Evidence

Evidence of M. J. Dwyer and P. Bickley, taken 12 September, 1876.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master in Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esquire, Sydney, Tuesday, the twelfth day of September, A.D. 1876 (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named informant and plaintiffs.

Michael Joseph Dwyer, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am one of the relators and plaintiffs in this suit, and called in the bill the Reverend John Dwyer; I am the President of Lyndhurst College; it is situated near the head and on the west side of Blackwattle Bay; it is a school for the education of boys; there were 42 boarders at the time the bill was filed in September, 1875, and about 25 day boys; there are about the same number of boarders now; some of the boys suffered in health, which the doctors attributed to the neighbourhood of the swamp; we have had five or six down at one time; some of the parents removed their children from the College expressly on the account of the nuisance. I know the sewer that empties itself into the swamp; I have known it ever since it was placed there; it appears to me that the entire drainage from a large area densely populated is poured down that sewer; the mouth of the sewer before the reclamation was some distance from high-water-mark, if I might except the neap tides; since the reclamation the sewage from the mouth of the sewer is carried on to the Lyndhurst ground, and so out into the bay by open drains; the water frontage of the Lyndhurst property is about 170 feet, and the sewage is washed up along a portion of that frontage about one-half; the smell from the sewage twelve months ago was almost unendurable; up to twelve months ago the nuisance appeared to be increasing; the stench from the sewage is still very bad, but at some times worse than others; last Friday the stench was very bad; the effect of this nuisance has been most injurious to the College, especially in respect to numbers of pupils; we could accommodate 65 boarders, and a much larger number of day boys than we do at present; I am sure that we could get many more boarders but for this nuisance.

M. J. DWYER.

Peter Bickley, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am the Overseer of Works to the Glebe Municipality; I know the sewer from the city of Sydney which brings down the sewage into Blackwattle Swamp; the solid part of the sewage used to settle along the surface of the swamp; that went on increasing from time to time; after the reclamation the sewage was carried away in an open trench, and the solid matter used to lie there about 18 inches deep; the sewage that escaped from the drain was deposited on the western side of the bay; the stench from it was very bad; it had a very bad effect upon me for some time; you could not sleep in bed on the Glebe Road, and you could smell the stench as far as Camperdown; there has been a great deal of fever and deaths in the neighbourhood the last twelve or eighteen months.

PETER BICKLEY.

Evidence of G. A. Mansfield, taken 2 October, 1876.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master in Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esquire, Sydney, Monday, the second day of October, A.D. 1876 (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named plaintiffs and informant.

George Allen Mansfield, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am an architect, and I reside at Glebe Point, in the neighbourhood of Blackwattle Swamp; I have known that neighbourhood for twenty years; I know the Corporation sewer which runs into Blackwattle Swamp, and I have known it ever since it was built; it carries down the sewage from parts of Sydney that are very densely populated; at first the sewage when discharged ran into the waters of Blackwattle Bay; at that time it flowed into the waters by means of an open drain; since the reclamation by the Government it has been carried off by means of an open channel; it has been discharged by that channel on the western shores of the bay, the channel being expanded in places, so as to form shallow and stagnant pools filled with sewage fluid, and some of the solid matters are deposited there also; the sewage flows through this rugged and uneven channel, and is discharged under the causeway by means of earthenware pipes; at high tide the sea water flows inward through these pipes, and forces the sewage waters against the shores on each side; the sewage matter coming out of these pipes, after being discharged, lodges on the foreshores of the bay all round the vicinity; the stench from it is simply abominable; within the last eighteen months or two years there has been a great deal of sickness in the neighbourhood of the character of fevers and diphtheria of the throat—both low fever and scarlet fever; I think that a considerable part of the solid matter may be retained in silt pits, and prevented entering the waters, and that the effluent matter may to a great degree be purified and deodorized before it passes away, by means of charcoal gratings; the effect of carrying the sewer into deep water without the intervention of silt-pits would be useless—it would merely transfer the nuisance from its original site to a new position lower down the bay, and after a time further reclamation would be required, and the whole process would have to be repeated.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davis: I don't say that I condemn the system of carrying the sewage into the waters of Port Jackson—that is a very large question; I do condemn it without any attempt to purify or deodorize it; it has been the system for many years of carrying the sewage into the waters of Port Jackson without deodorizing or purifying; I do condemn the system which has been in use for years for the drainage of the whole of the city of Sydney; I don't specially condemn that system as adopted for the purpose of carrying the sewage into the tidal waters of Blackwattle Bay, except that that locality is of such a nature that the system operates there to the greatest possible disadvantage; so long as the sewers empty themselves into Port Jackson I am of opinion that there ought to be silt-pits and deodorization at every sewer; I want to guard against the approval of any system of emptying sewage waters into the harbours of Port Jackson; a reclamation was carried out in Blackwattle Bay by the Government some time ago; that reclamation interfered to some extent with the flow of the sewage water into Blackwattle Bay—that is to say, it diverted its course, and removed the nuisance in part from one portion of the bay to another; the Government filled in the centre portion of the causeway, and put down the pipes of which I have spoken; the reclamation, as now recently completed, keeps back the tidal waters to some distance from the original mouth of the sewer; I was present with a deputation which waited on the Minister for Works with reference to this reclamation; plaintiff Macafee was there; I could not undertake to remember what he did say; the object and statement of that deputation was to complain of the action of the Government in making the reclamation without making proper provision for carrying over the sewage sewage which came down from this sewer; the fact that no such provision was made aggravated the nuisance which previously existed. This deputation was some time last year.

Q. Do you not know that the Government have been carrying on works for the purpose of extending the sewer into the tidal waters of Blackwattle Bay? [Objected to by Mr. Owen; I admitted the evidence.—A.T.H.]

A. Yes, I am aware of it.

By Mr. Owen: Q. Is that since the bill was filed?

A. Yes, it is.

They, the Government, have formed a sewer extending from the old sewer mouth to the waters on the north side of the causeway. They have also formed silt-pits in the upper part of the sewer with preparation for charcoal gratings. That would carry out all that is practicable in that locality, so long as the sewage is discharged into the waters of the harbour, it being understood that the silt-pits and charcoal gratings are properly attended to after their construction. This is the very plan that I recommended for adoption as an experiment. I believed then and I do now, that it would mitigate the nuisance to some extent—I believe that it would deodorize and purify the sewage to a limited extent; I can hardly say that I believe that to be the best available means for deodorizing and purifying the sewage, because I am aware that several processes have recently been adopted in England for that purpose, with the details of which I am not familiar; I believe this is the best available system for deodorizing and purifying sewage that I am acquainted with.

Re-examined by Mr. Owen: I am not very clear upon the point whether there was always an interval between the mouth of the sewer and Blackwattle Bay or the waters of Port Jackson; there was a very considerable nuisance before the reclamation; the reclamation was urged upon the Government by the inhabitants with the view of abating the nuisance occasioned by the deposit of sewage matter upon the low foreshores of the bay; the deposit on the foreshores extended all round the bay; that reclamation did not abate the nuisance; it abated the nuisance in particular spots, but carried the sewage elsewhere along the bay; Blackwattle Bay is shallow.

G. ALLEN MANSFIELD.

Evidence of G. Munro, H. G. A. Wright, M. D. Mitchell, and S. Johnson. Taken, 5 October, 1876.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master-in-Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esquire, Sydney, Thursday, the fifth day of October, A.D. 1876 (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named informant and plaintiffs.

George Munro, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am a warehouseman; I reside at Glebe Point, and have done so for the last two years; I know the sewer in the Blackwattle Swamp; all the sewage and filth from the sewer is drifted back by the tide to the western shore of Blackwattle Bay; the sewage is right in front of my house; at low-water the smell is so offensive that we can neither open doors or windows; my family have suffered from the effect of the gases; we had fever in the house in January last; I am now obliged to take a house at Manly Beach for my family, to get rid of the smell, the doctor having advised me that it would be injurious to their health to remain at the Glebe; these smells can be noticed a quarter of a mile from the shore; the deposit of the sewage along the foreshore appears to be a considerable depth.

GEO. MUNRO.

Horatio George Anthony Wright, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. M'Laughlin, and stated:—I am a duly qualified medical practitioner, and reside in Sydney; I know Blackwattle Swamp—I cross it to the Glebe nearly every day; there is a large population on the Glebe side; I knew the mouth of the main sewer constructed by the Corporation of Sydney, which empties itself into the swamp; the mouth of the sewer is connected with the waters of the harbour by an open ditch; I have been attending, among other patients, Mr. George Munro's family; this was last January; the little girl had a mild attack of fever and gastric disturbance, and the boy had scarlatina; these fevers were attributable to atmospheric causes, but they prevailed in all parts of the city at that time; the gases from the swamp had nothing to do with the scarlatina, but it most probably caused the elder child's sickness; the smell from the swamp was most offensive at Mr. Munro's house; and on some occasions, to my knowledge, they had to shut the house up to keep out the foul air; the stench was of a very sickening nature; I have observed the stench along the Glebe Point Road and in Derwent-street, which is off St. John's Road; Derwent-street is about a quarter of a mile from the swamp; I should imagine that the stench would be likely to cause fever and gastric derangement; and in cases of persons suffering from illness, the foul air would retard convalescence and would probably render what would otherwise only be a slight illness a very severe one; the sewage brought down by the Corporation sewer is, in my opinion, a disgusting nuisance.

H. G. A. WRIGHT.

Michael David Mitchell, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. M'Laughlin, and stated:—I am a merchant; I reside at Pyrmont Bridge Road at present, but have resided for seven years previous to August last at the Glebe Point Road directly opposite the Blackwattle Swamp; I have known the Corporation sewer in the Blackwattle Swamp since its construction and found it more offensive the last three years than previously; it was only since they reclaimed the swamp that the smell became more offensive; previously the smell would be occasionally at low-water, but now it is almost always—low or high; I walk across the swamp very often; before the reclamation the solid portions of the sewage were deposited on the western shore uncovered by the tidal waters; the area of the swamp before the reclamation was large—the sewage was spread all over it; sometimes walking across of late the smell was so disgusting that it made me vomit, and I had to keep my nose closed and my breath in; the smell was greater the last two years than previously; the locality round Blackwattle Swamp is not healthy so far as I believe.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davis: I think the reclamation made things ever so much worse than they were before.

Re-examined by Mr. M'Laughlin: The nuisance was increasing before the reclamation; the nuisance gradually increased every year since; I went to live there before the reclamation.

D. MITCHELL.

Samuel Johnston, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. McLaughlin, and stated:—I reside on the Globe Point Road; I am in Mr. Macafee's employment as gardener; I know the sewer which empties itself into Blackwattle Swamp, and have known it since its first construction by the defendants in this suit—in I believe 1869; I believe it carries the sewage from Chippendale, Parramatta-street, and that neighbourhood, which is very thickly populated.

By Mr. Owen: The sewer terminated some distance from high-water-mark; before the reclamation the tide used to come up and take the sewage and spread it round on the ground about the mouth of the sewer and adjoining land; there was a very offensive smell from it at that time, which could be perceived half a mile or three-quarters from it if the wind was in that direction; the smell has been much worse since the reclamation; since then the mouth of the sewer had been connected with tidal waters by an open drain nearly twenty feet wide in a zig-zag direction; the sewage matter collects in that open drain to some feet in depth; the sewage where it gets out of the open drain is deposited all along the foreshore on the western side of the bay; there has been considerable sickness in the Glebe for some time past; I suffered myself several times from low fever.

S. JOHNSTON.

Præcipe for subpoena, filed 12th October, 1876.

Sealed subpoena ad test. for Michael J. Golden, Glebe Point, returnable on Monday, the sixteenth day of October, 1876.

Dated this 12th day of October, A.D. 1876.

THOMAS KENDALL BOWDEN,
Solicitor for the plaintiffs,
124, Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

Evidence of A. Thornley and M. J. Golden, taken 16th October, 1876.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master in Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esq., Sydney, Monday, the sixteenth day of October, A.D. 1876 (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named informant and plaintiffs.

Ambrose Thornley being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I was a master builder for twenty or twenty-five years; I live in Kennedy-street, Glebe Point; I know the Corporation sewer that was made in 1868 or 1869—I have known it since it was first made; the mouth of the sewer did not at first connect with the waters of Blackwattle Bay; there was an open cutting from it; the sewage spread itself out on the flat for a considerable distance, and was an intolerable nuisance; the smell from it was very offensive, and could be perceived at some distance—half a mile away; I perceived it where I live; it was very bad there when the wind was in that direction, and I live about half a mile away from it; that was before the reclamation of the swamp; the nuisance was increasing up to the time of the reclamation; the sewage matter, as far as I could judge, I have seen 18 inches deep in the drain; after the reclamation the sewage spread across towards Lyndhurst; it followed in a zig-zag direction, and formed a stagnant pool; now, when the sewage reaches the waters, it is cast up and deposited on the sides of the bay; there was sickness on the Glebe and at Lyndhurst; the sewage drains a very populous neighbourhood; before the reclamation we had several meetings, and a deputation waited on the Government in consequence of the nuisance.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davis: I am an Alderman of the Glebe Municipality, and have been for seventeen years. A. THORNLEY.

Michael Joseph Golden being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I reside at Glebe Point, and I and my brothers and sisters own considerable property at Glebe Point; last summer the smell from the sewer was something frightful; in consequence of this I could not let three of the houses; I let one two months ago to Professor Pell at a reduced rent; during last summer I could not go near the sewer for the smell, and there was a nasty black liquid flowed from there; the properties I have mentioned are worth now £9,000 or £10,000. M. J. GOLDEN.

Evidence of G. W. Allen and J. McLaughlin, taken 30th October, 1876.

EVIDENCE taken before the Master in Equity, Arthur Todd Holroyd, Esquire, Sydney, Monday, the thirtieth day of October, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (prior to the hearing of the cause), on behalf of the above-named informant and relators and plaintiffs.

George Wigram Allen, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am one of the relators and plaintiffs in this suit; I have resided for many years at Glebe Point; I know the City Corporation sewer running from Abercrombie-street to Blackwattle Swamp, and I have known it from the time of its formation; before the formation of that sewer a large quantity of drainage came into the swamp from Parramatta-street and the neighbourhood through an open cutting; the open cutting still remains, and the sewer brings down a large portion of additional drainage; when the sewer was first constructed the mouth of the sewer did not reach the waters of the bay at low-tide, and for several years it has not reached the waters at high-tide, that is, the ordinary high-tide; the space in front of the mouth of the sewer was silted up partly by sewage and partly by the washings of the adjoining lands; there has been an offensive smell in the swamp from the drainings from Parramatta-street so far back as 1864, and even previously, sufficient to create a nuisance in the neighbourhood at that time; that nuisance has very much increased by the formation of the Corporation sewer; that nuisance existed in a very severe form before any reclamation was made by the Government; the mouth of the City Corporation sewer is very much further from the waters of the bay since the reclamation, the swamp on the southern side of the causeway having been now filled in; since the reclamation the sewage found its way to the waters of the bay by surface drainage uncovered; the nuisance was increased to the relators and all the residents on the western side of the bay by the sewage being brought in an open drain to the neighbourhood of their properties; a large portion of the sewage spreads over the beach, and is washed up by the tide, and creates a great nuisance; during the westerly winds particularly the water on the northern side of the embankment is much blackened by the stirring up of the sewage matter, and gives out a most offensive smell; there was a great deal of sickness in the neighbourhood last year, and in previous years in another portion of the Glebe Municipality, and that is the part that felt the nuisance most before the reclamation; since the reclamation the nuisance has been brought more to the western side of the bay, and to the north of the the embankment; before the reclamation several public meetings were held to protest against the nuisance; I was then and am still Mayor of the Glebe Municipality, since 1858; I remember writing to the Mayor of Sydney on the subject of the nuisance some years back; and the Council Clerk of the Glebe has also written by my direction; the letter produced is one of my letters to the Mayor of Sydney on this subject; (letter put in, and marked Exhibit A.1); nothing, so far as I am aware, was done by the Sydney Corporation up to the time of filing the present information and bill, and the nuisance exists to the present time.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davis: The open cutting of which I have spoken leads from the Sugar Works in Parramatta-street to the head of the swamp; it is not in the same place as the sewer was erected; that cutting was in the line of the Blackwattle Creek, which ran from land above the Sugar Works, through the land belonging to the Sugar Company, and through occupied land within the city to the head of the swamp; Blackwattle Creek was the natural course for the surface waters collected above and below Parramatta-street: the open cutting was made along this watercourse; I think it still exists; this is distinct from the covered sewer referred to in the information; any complaint made before 1869—that is, I mean before the construction of the sewer—had reference to sewage and drainage along this open cutting.

Re-examined by Mr. Owen: The open drain I have spoken of is within the boundaries of the city of Sydney.
G. WIGRAM ALLEN.

John M'Laughlin, being duly sworn, was examined by Mr. Owen, and stated:—I am a clerk in Allen, Bowden, and Allen's office, solicitors for the informant and plaintiffs, and I have the conduct of this suit; no communication has been received from the City Solicitor since the date of Exhibit A. 4 until the sequestration was made, and as far as I know none has been received up to the present time.

The Town Clerk to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Town Clerk's Office, Sydney, 18 January, 1876.

Referring to various correspondence on the subject of the abatement or removal of the nuisance caused by the flow of sewage over the swamp at Blackwattle Swamp, for which an injunction has been issued, and referring more particularly to a letter from the Honorable the Secretary for Public Works, of date the 9th October last, requesting that the Mayor of Sydney will cause the necessary sewers to be constructed at once for the effectual drainage of that portion of the city in the vicinity of the reclaimed lands at Blackwattle Swamp, also requesting immediate attention thereto,—I have the honor, by direction of the Right Worshipful the Mayor, to state, for the information of the Honorable the Premier, that plans and estimates of the works necessary for carrying out the requirements contained in the letter above referred to have been prepared by the City Engineer, namely—(£32,761) thirty-two thousand seven hundred and sixty-one pounds.

I am desired to mention that His Worship the Mayor has received intimation that a portion of the work, namely, the construction of a sewer and large silt-pit, has been carried out, or is about to be carried out, under the directions of the Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers, from the termination of the present 6-feet oviform deep water. In the event of this work being so carried out, the sewers to be undertaken by the Corporation, on behalf of the Government, will be as follows:—

A 3 feet 6 inch oviform brick sewer for Blackwattle Swamp and Bay-street, £6,232.

2. A 4 feet 6 inch oviform brick sewer over Blackwattle Swamp, being the extension of Abercrombie-street and the branch which passes through the Sugar Company's paddocks as far as the city boundary, £5,988, being together £12,200. His Worship will therefore be glad to have this amount of £12,220 placed at the disposal of the Municipal Council, in order that the works may be immediately commenced and executed simultaneously with the portion referred to as proposed to be done by the Harbours and Rivers Department.

I am further desired to request that you will submit to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary the urgent necessity there is that instruction be given for all proceedings in connection with the injunction recently issued to be at once stayed.

Sir,

Town Clerk's Office, Sydney, 7 January, 1874.

I have the honor, by direction of the Right Worshipful the Mayor, to forward to the perusal and attention of the Glebe Municipal Council, a report from the City Health Officer and the Inspector of Nuisances upon the condition of the culvert passing under the Parramatta Road from the University Pond, and the nuisance arising from the drainage from several streets in your municipality into Blackwattle Bay.

Worshipful the Mayor, to request that the attention of the Mayor of the Glebe may be directed to the matter, with a view to some steps being taken to immediately abate the very serious nuisance complained of.

The Town Clerk, Sydney, to The Council Clerk, Glebe.

Sir,

Town Clerk's Office, Sydney, 13 September, 1875.

I have the honor, by direction of the Right Worshipful the Mayor, again to call your attention to a letter from the City Council, of date 7th January, 1874, enclosing a copy of a report from the City Health Officer and the Inspector of Nuisances, respecting the drainage from several of the streets of the Glebe into Blackwattle Bay, and also to a letter of the 28th August, requesting that the attention of the Mayor of the Glebe might be called to this matter, with a view to some steps being taken immediately to remedy this serious nuisance.

His Worship directs me to request the favour of an early reply to the letters above referred to, stating whether your Council have decided to take measures for the abatement of this long standing and much complained of nuisance.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES H. WOOLCOTT,
Town Clerk.

To the Right Worshipful the Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Sydney.

Gentlemen,

Town Hall, Sydney, 24 November, 1873.

We have the honor to report that, by direction of His Worship the Mayor, we visited the culvert under the Parramatta Road, used by the busmen and boys as a closet, and found it in a most disgusting and filthy state. The pond at the junction of the Newtown and Parramatta Roads, known as the University Pond, drains under the Parramatta Road, as also several houses in this Road, also Grose-street, the tannery off Grose-street, Francis-street, Greek-street, Glebe-street, Reeve's Place (lying between Greek-street and Glebe-street, at this part the culvert is partly open and partly covered; the stench is most disgusting from closets, &c., emptying into it; the smell from this part is most unhealthy for all the inhabitants around), and Queen-street. Opposite the bottom of this last street the drain empties into Bay-street, crossing under the Glebe part of the street into the city side, then running down and turning eastward through Chambers lane, and thence making its way into Blackwattle Swamp; a short distance to the north of the opening of the above drain into Bay-street, the drainage of Crown and Eliza streets passes under the same street, and joins the above. In following the culvert we found the stench arising therefrom to be highly obnoxious and dangerous to health, at parts so bad as to cause nausea, and if it had that effect on us, who were merely passing, how much more dangerous must it be to the persons living in the vicinity, and continually breathing this polluted atmosphere.

We have, &c.,

G. F. DANSEY,
City Health Officer.
RICHARD SEYMOUR,
Inspector of Nuisances.

The Right Worshipful the Mayor of Sydney.

Sir,

Municipal Council Chambers, Glebe, 24 March, 1873.

I have the honor through you to call the attention of the Council of the City of Sydney to the effluvia and nuisance arising from the public sewer from Abercrombie-street, which empties itself at the head of Blackwattle Swamp.

At low tide the sewage matter flows upon and spreads over the land, and even at high tide the matter is not carried off by the waters of the bay, but remains and causes a most disgusting stench, exceedingly injurious to the health of the Glebe and the southern parts of the city.

From the reports in the newspapers of the proceedings of the City Council, it would appear that it is the intention of that body to connect a further large portion of the city sewerage with the Abercrombie-street sewer, and thus add very greatly to the existing nuisance. The 9th section of the Sydney Sewerage Act of 1853 requires that all sewers shall be constructed, covered, and kept so as not to be a nuisance to health, and properly cleared, cleansed, and emptied into such places as may be fit and necessary, but not so as to create a nuisance.

I have therefore to require that the Council of the city of Sydney do take immediate measures for the abatement of this nuisance, and that they do not proceed with their declared resolutions to unite further sewers with the one already existing.

Legal proceedings will be instituted and prosecuted in case the counsel shall act in defiance of this notice.

I have, &c.,

G. WIGRAM ALLEN,
Mayor of the Glebe.

The intention in constructing the sewer from Tooth's brewery to Abercrombie-street is merely to cover in the existing open sewer or drain. No further portion of the city sewerage or drainage area will be conducted into the present sewer so as in any way to add to the existing nuisance complained of.—FRANCIS BELL, C.E., 28/3/73.

The covering is only of the present open sewer leading from Tooth's Brewery to Abercrombie-street—will not increase the nuisance at Blackwattle Swamp.—G. F. DANSEY, City Health Officer. R. SEYMOUR, Inspector of Nuisances.

From the report of the City Engineer it will appear that all that is now being done is to cover in an existing open sewer or drain, and that being the case the Mayor of the Glebe can have no cause of complaint. It is quite clear that the Council would not be disposed in wilfully taking a nuisance to the premises of their neighbours, but in my opinion they are entitled, under the Sewage Act, to construct and cover any sewers they may think fit, provided they are constructed and covered in the best possible manner to avoid becoming a nuisance.—R. DRIVER, City Solicitor, 3/4/73.

The Glebe M.C. to be informed, in accordance with reports as herewith attached.—3/4/73. Informed, 9/4/73.—C.H.W. The Sir, The Town Clerk, Sydney, to The Mayor of the Glebe.

Town Clerk's Office, Sydney, 9 April, 1873.

Referring to your letter of the 24th ultimo, respecting the proposed construction of a sewer from the Kent Brewery to Abercrombie-street, I have the honor, by direction of the Right Worshipful the Mayor, to inform you that the work which the City Council are about to carry out is merely the covering in of the existing open sewer or drain in the locality in question, and will not in any way add to the nuisance arising from the public sewer at present discharging from Blackwattle Swamp.

I have, &c.,
C. H. WOOLCOTT,
Town Clerk.

Sir, The Principal Under Secretary to The Town Clerk.
Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 21 February, 1876.

With reference to your letter of the 18th of January, concerning projected works for the draining of the portion in the city, in the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp, I am now directed by the Colonial Secretary to transmit to you, for the information of the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Sydney, a copy of the report which has been obtained on this subject from the Sydney City and Suburban Sewage and Health Board. 25 Jan., 1876.

I have, &c.,
(Pro the Under Secretary).
WM. GOODMAN.

Sir, The Vice-Chairman to The Principal Under Secretary.
Sydney City and Suburban Sewage and Health Board, Sydney, 25 January, 1876.

In reply to your letter of the 20th instant, asking for a speedy report from the Sewage and Health Board on certain projected works in the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp, I am directed by the Vice-Chairman to furnish you with copy of a report of the Engineering Committee, adopted by this Board at a meeting held yesterday.

1. The letter from the Mayor to the Colonial Secretary, dated 18th instant, concerning projected works in the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp, having been referred to the Engineering Committee of this Board,—
2. The Committee report that they have considered the plans, more particularly with reference to the low-lying land along the present course of Blackwattle Creek, and that they agree to recommend the adoption of the design prepared by Mr. Moriarty for a sewer from the end of the present Abercrombie-street sewer to Blackwattle Bay, across the retained land with a slight modification of the transverse decline of the sewer.
3. They also recommend that, in lieu of the 3 ft. 6 in. sewers proposed by Mr. Bell, 18-in. pipe drains be laid down in Bay-street and the Blackwattle Creek, with a silt pit at junction connecting with the main sewer above the filter by a 2-ft. pipe.
4. They consider that the sewers proposed by Mr. Bell at the upper end of the Abercrombie-street sewer, being designed to suit the existing state of things, should be constructed as proposed by Mr. Bell.
5. In advising the construction of these works, the Committee do so on the understanding that ample provision is made on the surface for the discharge of storm waters, by curbing, guttering, &c. By omitting provision for such discharge in the sewers they have been able to reduce the estimates considerably.
6. The estimated cost for the main sewer silt pit and filter will be £11,500; for the pipe drains and sewer proposed by Mr. Bell, £7,582, making a total of £19,082.
7. The Central Board, having considered the recommendation of the Committee, beg to intimate their concurrence.
8. Tenders have been invited for the first-mentioned work by the Harbours and Rivers Department.
9. The other works, amounting to £7,582, are, we understand, to be carried out by the city authorities.
10. In considering this question the Board have not included the Glebe drainage, which was not referred to them. They are of opinion that the necessary works for dealing with the sewage in a proper manner should be undertaken by the Glebe Municipal Council.

E. O. MORIARTY,
V.-Chairman.

I have the honor herewith to return the papers referred to in this Board in connection with this subject, with the exception of the plans, which are in the possession of the Engineering Committee.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES H. BARLEE,
Secretary.

Sir, The Council Clerk, Glebe, to The Town Clerk, Sydney.
Municipal Chambers, Glebe, 15 September, 1875.

I have the honor, by direction of the Mayor, to acknowledge receipt of your letters of 28th August and 13th September, referring to a report from the City Health Officer and Inspector of Nuisances, to which I am directed to reply.

The culvert on the Parramatta Road, which the report of your officers states to be in a filthy state, is in no way under the control of the Council of the Glebe. The pond which drains into this culvert is, I am given to understand, leased by the Council of the city of Sydney, who have, therefore, the power to remedy some of the evils mentioned in that report.

The Mayor is not aware by what authority your Council deems it their duty to censure the Council of the Borough for any acts or omissions of duty with which your officers may suppose them to be chargeable within the limits of the Borough, but, in reply to that portion of your complaint having reference to the Blackwattle Swamp nuisance, I am to inform you that there is no sewer in this Borough discharging into the swamp into which closets or cesspools are authorized to be drained.

The Glebe Council have, however, great cause to complain of the large covered culvert erected by your Council on the Pyrmont side of the swamp, and of the open drain running from the Sugar Works. Through the culvert and open drain the drainage from houses and closets has been for years discharged upon the land or mud, which has been allowed to fester and pollute the air.

Repeated complaints have been made to your Council, beginning so far back as 1864, and on several occasions since, but no action of any kind has been taken by it to remedy this very serious nuisance.

In

In that year you wrote to my predecessor in office, in reply to a letter complaining of the nuisance arising from the Parramatta-street drainage into Blackwattle Swamp—"The only remedy for the evil will be the reclamation of the shallow parts of the swamp, and this work rests with the Government."

This reclamation has been made, but no action has been taken by the City Council to continue its culvert into deep water, but the drainage is still left to pollute the atmosphere.

The charge, therefore, of creating and continuing the dangerous and offensive nuisance rests upon the City Council, and not on the Council of this Borough.

I have, &c.,

H. DE BURGH HOCTER,
Council Clerk and Surveyor.

The Under Secretary for Public Works to The Town Clerk.

Sir,

to Col. Sec.

I am directed by the Secretary for Public Works to request that you will move the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Sydney to cause the necessary sewers to be constructed at once for the effectual drainage of that portion of the city in the vicinity of the reclaimed land at Blackwattle Swamp.

Requesting your immediate attention to this important work,—

I have, &c.,

JOHN RAE.

The City Health Officer and the Inspector of Nuisances to The Mayor.

Sir,

City Health Officer's Office, and Office of Inspector of Nuisances, Town Hall, Sydney, 19 March, 1874.

We have the honor to report that according to instructions we have visited and inspected the Blackwattle Creek and vicinity, and have made the following observations thereon:—

The creek commences on the north side of Parramatta-street, and runs northward to Blackwattle Swamp, receiving in its course the drainage of the following streets, and also that of the patent closets of these streets, viz., Darling-street, Brisbane-street, May-street, May-lane, Athlone-place, Athlone-street, Ultimo-street, west side of Parramatta-street, Bay-street, Chambers-street, Johnston-street, and Owens-street.

There are seventy-seven open closets which empty into the creek, three dairies, and one paddock full of decaying sugar-bags, which blow into the creek. All the drainage from the Sugar Works, as also the drainage of Darlington, a great portion of Redfern, Shepherd's Paddocks, and Chippendale, discharges into the creek, the effluvia arising from which are most disgusting, and can be distinctly felt by persons passing along Parramatta-street. The air in dwellings along this line of creek must be very poisonous, and consequently highly deleterious to health.

We would beg to suggest that were the creek covered in from its commencement to the place of discharge a very serious nuisance would be obviated.

We have, &c.,

G. F. DANSEY,
City Health Officer.
RICHARD SEYMOUR,
Inspector of Nuisances.

The City Solicitor to The Town Clerk.

Sir,

City Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 20 November, 1875.

I do myself the honor to forward herewith a copy of a letter received by me from Messrs. Allen, Bowden, and Allen, with reference to the suit the Attorney General and others v. the Mayor and others. As this is a matter of very great importance, I beg to request that you will furnish me with instructions as to the intentions of the Council without any delay.

I have, &c.,

RICHARD DRIVER,
City Solicitor.

The Attorney General and Allen and others v. the Mayor and others of Sydney.

Dear Sirs,

124, Elizabeth-street, Sydney, 19 November, 1875.

On the 8th day of October last an order for an injunction to restrain the serious nuisances complained of in this suit was obtained by us, the defendants being allowed three months to abate the nuisance before the writ should issue, and leave to apply for an extension of time if they should have grounds for such an application.

We have now to call your attention to the fact that, although nearly half of the three months has elapsed, your clients have not yet done one single act, or procured any steps to be taken, towards abating the nuisance in any manner whatever, and appear to treat the order of the Primary Judge with indifference. Under these circumstances we have to give you notice that we will oppose any application you may make to delay the issuing of the writ of injunction after the 8th of January next.

We must, therefore, ask that something be at once done by your clients, so that they will be prepared to obey the injunction when it issues, as the injury sustained by our clients and the other residents in the vicinity of Blackwattle Swamp is too serious to admit of our consenting to any delay not allowed by the Court.

We are, &c.,

ALLEN, BOWDEN, & ALLEN.

Passed by the Municipal Council, 24th March, 1874. T. A. Butterfield, Town Clerk, pro tem., 8th May, 1876.

REPORT of the Sewage Committee recommending the laying of a brick sewer from Parramatta-street to Ultimo-street, and from Abercrombie-street to the large sewer laid under Peck's contract.

YOUR Committee have the honor to recommend to the Council that along the course of the Blackwattle Swamp Creek from Parramatta-street to Ultimo-street, a 3 feet 6 inch brick sewer be laid, at a cost not exceeding exceeding £1,050, and in conjunction with this, a 4 feet 6 inch brick sewer from Abercrombie-street to intercept and provide for the effectual discharge of storm water into the large sewer (recently laid by Peck, at a cost not exceeding £946, together £1,996).

Drain across Parramatta-street, connection with sewer.

Sydney Sewerage Works, Engineer's Office,
Sydney, 16 October, 1873.

Sir,

In accordance with instructions from the Sewerage Committee to report upon the advisability and cost of connecting the open drain running across Parramatta-street with the sewer adjoining,— I have the honor to state that this matter was reported on the 22nd February, 1872. To abolish the old watercourse from Parramatta-street to Ultimo-street, I should recommend the construction of a 3 feet 6 inch brick sewer. In conjunction with this, it will be necessary to construct a 4 feet 6 inch brick sewer from Abercrombie-street to intercept and provide for the effectual discharge of storm water. I estimate the cost of the 3 feet 6 inch at £1,050; 4 feet 6 inch at £946; total, £1,996.

I have, &c.,
FRANCIS BELL,
Engineer.

The City Engineer to The Mayor.

Sydney Sewerage Works, Engineer's Office,
Sydney, 22 February, 1872.

Sir,

In accordance with instructions from the Sewerage Committee to report upon the advisability and cost of covering in the old natural watercourse between Parramatta-street and Blackwattle Swamp,— I have the honor to state that, contingent upon this work being done, it will be necessary to intercept the water in the creek above the Sugar Company's dam and divert it into the Abercrombie-place sewer, as was originally intended to be done; and also to construct two first-class gully shafts in Parramatta-street to intercept the storm waters eastwards. If this be done I consider a 2-feet stoneware pipe will be sufficient for the creek, and I estimate the cost will be as follows:—

Labour, do.	65	10	0
				732	5	0
Two first-class gully shafts and connections				41	0	0
502 feet of 4 feet 6 inch oviform brick sewer with wing walls and apron	558	0	0
Total	£1,331	5	0

Notice of motion, filed 15 November, 1876.

TAKE notice that this Honorable Court will, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of Friday, the seventeenth day of November now instant, or so soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, be moved on behalf of the above-named defendants, that the time for the enforcing of the commission directed to issue to certain Commissioners to sequester the personal estate of the defendants for disobedience of the writ of injunction issued under the order made in this cause on the eighth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and which said commission was ordered to issue by the order of this Honorable Court on the twentieth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, and was by such order directed not to be enforced for and until the expiration of eight calendar months from the date of the said order, and in the meantime to lie in the office of the Master in Equity of this Honorable Court, be extended for, and that such commission be not enforced for and until the expiration of three calendar months from the expiry of the said eight calendar months, and do in the meantime lie in the office of the said Master in Equity, on the ground that the defendants have been exerting themselves to the utmost to carry out the necessary works in order to a compliance with the said injunction, and that so far as the defendants are concerned the same are concluded, but that the part of the said works which was to be and is being done by the officers in that behalf of the Government is not finished and cannot be finished for fully two calendar months from the present time, and upon the further grounds appearing in and by the affidavit of Mr. Benjamin Palmer, the Mayor of Sydney, sworn and filed this day.

Dated this fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

RICHARD DRIVER,
Solicitor for defendants,
176, Pitt-street, Sydney.

Affidavit of B. Palmer, Esq., Mayor of Sydney, filed 15 November, 1876.

On the fifteenth day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Benjamin Palmer, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, Mayor of the said city of Sydney, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. From the time of the hearing before His Honor John Fletcher Hargrave, Esquire, of the application for the order for the commission for sequestration of the personal estate of the defendants, the defendants have been using their utmost exertions to complete the making of silt-pits and charcoal screens or strainers, and to extend out into the deep waters of the Blackwattle Bay the sewer complained of, by means of which pits and screens or strainers the solid sewage matter will be prevented from passing into the waters of the said bay, and the liquid matter will pass from the said sewer in as purified a state as possible. The plan adopted is such as I understand and believe Mr. Mansfield, the architect and surveyor, who was called and gave evidence for the informant and plaintiffs as a scientific witness, stated was in his opinion the best known method of preventing the sewer being a nuisance; it is the plan which has been adopted on the recommendation of the Government officers.

2. The part of the said work which the defendants had to do according to the arrangement in that behalf with the Government is completed; the Government, by their proper officers, are carrying on their part of the work, and will not with the utmost exertion be able to finish it for fully two months from this date.

3. When the said work is complete there will not, I believe, be any nuisance from the said sewer, and the order for the injunction will be complied with so far as the same restrains the committing of any nuisance; in order that the work may be so fully completed three months further time is necessary.

Sworn by the deponent, on the day first above } mentioned, at Sydney, before me,—

B. PALMER.

WM. CRANE,

A Commissioner for Affidavits.

Affidavit of G. A. Mansfield, filed 21 November, 1876.

ON this twenty-first day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, George Allen Mansfield, of the Glebe, near the city of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, architect, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am the person named in the affidavit of Benjamin Palmer, Mayor of the city of Sydney, sworn herein on the fifteenth day of November instant.

2. Since the said date I have at the request of the informants visited the locus in quo; the works performed thereat, other than that performed by and at the expense of the Government, consist of a small silt-pit erected on or near to the reclaimed land, a short brick drain about 3 feet by 2 feet 6 inches on the southern side of Bay-street, at present uncovered, and an 18-inch pipe drain leading therefrom to the said silt-pit; this work could easily have been done in six weeks; the drain-pipe is not connected with the silt-pit, and there is no appearance of any drain or pipe from the silt-pit to the sewer referred to in the said affidavit.

3. A large silt-pit of the kind I recommended, and a sewer from the said pit to the northern or outer side of the embankment or causeway across Blackwattle Bay has been built by and at the expense of the Government, but the sewer complained of has not been connected with the new sewer or silt-pit, the silt-pit and new sewer have remained in their present state for nearly three months, and no drainage has been turned into either or any use made thereof. The drainage from the Corporation sewer complained of continues to flow in an open drain or cutting across the reclaimed land to the Glebe side of the bay, and to flow upon the shore as at the time of the commencement of this suit.

4. I am informed that the delay in connecting the old and new sewer with the silt-pit is attributed by the defendants to the want of a door or flap, which is said to be in course of construction for the outer mouth of the sewer. This door or flap might and should have been made, and constructed in readiness for the completion of the sewer, and could have been made in less time than has elapsed since the building of the sewer.

5. I have passed over the embankment daily, and I have not seen any workmen employed on the sewer for upwards of two months.

6. The nuisance originally complained of has in no way diminished, but rather increased. The sides of the open drain and cutting, and the Glebe shore of the bay, are after a week without rain covered to the depth of some inches with a black slime; the smell arising therefrom is almost intolerable, and the injury to health and danger to life is great, and must necessarily be very prejudicial if allowed to continue during the summer months.

7. Since the commencement of the summer and the prevalence of easterly breezes, no less than seven cases have occurred in my own family of diphtheria, scarlet fever, and typhoid fever; tendency to such diseases my medical adviser attributes to the nuisance from the drainage referred to.

Affidavit of T. H. Bradridge and John Doherty, filed 22 November, 1876.

ON this twenty-second day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Thomas Henry Bradridge, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, City Surveyor, and Acting City Engineer; and John Doherty, of Sydney aforesaid, Inspector of Sewerage Works, being severally duly sworn, make oath and say as follows:—

1. We have read the affidavit of George Allen Mansfield, Esquire, sworn herein on the twenty-first day of November instant, and say that the work which the defendants had to perform in and about the sewer in the information and bill mentioned has been for some time past completed, with the exception of covering with wood and earth of the short brick drain in the second paragraph of Mr. Mansfield's affidavit mentioned; the timber for such covering is now on the ground, and such covering will at once be completed. The said brick drain is made for the purpose of carrying off the sewage matters that flow from the Glebe Municipality across Bay-street, in the city of Sydney; it is not a fact that the work the defendants had to perform at the said sewer could have been performed in six weeks, as in Mr. Mansfield's affidavit stated.

2. The drain-pipe in the said second paragraph of Mr. Mansfield's affidavit mentioned, was on the twenty-fourth day of October last connected with the silt-pit in the said paragraph mentioned, but such connection is covered over, and cannot be observed without minute examination. The work of the defendants was, on the said twenty-fourth day of October, complete; and if the works to be done by the Government were then ready the nuisance complained of would have been abolished.

3. Since the fifteenth day of November instant the connecting pipe from the sewer to the silt-pit before mentioned has been diverted in order to enable the said silt-pit to be emptied, and the solid matter removed, in order to prevent the connecting pipes being silted up.

4. The Government have erected a wall at the place where it is intended to connect the defendants' sewer with that constructed by the Government, and therefore the sewage cannot yet flow into the sewer constructed by the Government until it is completed and ready to receive the sewage matter; the officer in charge of the Government part of the work is now waiting the casting of valves and pipes to extend the sewer from the foreshore into the deep water of Blackwattle Bay. 6.

6. The delay in connecting the defendants' sewer with that of the Government is not occasioned by reason of the want of a door or flap, but for the reasons aforesaid—no such door or flap being required for the work performed by the defendants.

7. The silt-pit constructed by the defendants has considerably diminished the nuisance complained of, but the nuisance in the locality of the said sewer will not after the said sewer is finished be completely abated, inasmuch as sewage matter and filth to a considerable extent keeps flowing from the Glebe to the south-west end of the land reclaimed by the Government and will not be carried away by the defendants' said sewer.

Affidavit of Alfred Williams, filed 22nd November, 1876.

ON this twenty-second day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Alfred Williams, of the Glebe Point, Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am Assistant Engineer in the Department of Harbours and Rivers, and the person in charge of the construction of works for that Department in and about the neighbourhood of Sydney.

2. I have read the the affidavit of George Allen Mansfield, Esquire, sworn herein on the twenty-first day of November instant; it is not correct, as in the third paragraph of that affidavit stated, that the silt-pit and new sewer therein mentioned have remained in their present state for nearly three months; the work has constantly been going on, and the Government has been dredging a channel in Blackwattle Bay, so as to bring the mouth or outlet of the sewer into deep water, and it is found necessary to still make that channel larger and deeper, so as to carry the sewage that may be discharged at low tide into a depth of ten feet of water at least.

3. For the past six weeks men have been constantly employed and at work at the said sewer, and in cleansing the open drains on the reclaimed land, so that stagnant water or sewage matter should not remain along the open channel, and so that it should run away freely into the waters of the bay; also in making valves and castings for the outfall of the sewer, and erecting gantry or lifting gear for discharging silt from the new filtering-beds.

4. The door or flap mentioned in the affidavit of Mr. Mansfield is a part of the Government work, and the castings of it and the valves and pipes are of a very complicated class of work and take a considerable time to prepare; they are in the course of preparation at the works of Messrs. Chapman & Co., where they are cast.

5. The Chief Engineer and the Minister for Works would not allow of this work being started until a work of the same class then erecting at the Fort Macquarie sewer had been completed and tested; the action of the valves and pipes at the last-named sewer proved such a complete success that the Board of Health advised the Minister for Works to have a similar class of work carried out at the sewer at Blackwattle Bay, which work is now in progress.

6. I have within the last three weeks had a conversation with Mr. Mansfield on the embankment referred to in the sixth paragraph of his said affidavit, and at a time when several men were at work at the said sewer; and on that occasion Mr. Mansfield asked me when the said sewer would be likely to be completed, when I answered him that I expected in about six weeks, and that the delay was caused by having to wait for the castings of the said valves, pipes, and door or flap.

7. I am a resident at the Glebe Point; the nuisance has been considerably abated, and is now but trifling to what it was some twelve months back.

8. The tide passes freely up and down the open channels through the reclaimed land, and to a considerable extent carries off the nuisance complained of, a large portion of which is contributed by the Glebe Municipality.

9. The defendants have some time since completed their part of the said sewer, and at least two months further time is necessary for the Government to complete their part of the works.

Affidavit of Mr. Macafee in support of appointment of commission, filed 23rd November, 1876.

ON this twenty-third day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, of the city of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, merchant, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am one of the relators and plaintiffs in this suit.

2. By an order made in this cause by the Court, on the twentieth day of March last, a commission of sequestration was ordered to issue, directed to certain Commissioners, to be therein named, to sequester the personal estate, and the rents, issues, and profits of the real estate of the defendants, but such commission was not to be enforced for and until the expiration of eight calendar months from the date of the said order, whereupon and at the expiration of the said eight months the informant and plaintiffs were to be at liberty to enforce the same according to law.

3. The said period of eight months has now elapsed, and the relators and plaintiffs above named are desirous of having the said commission enforced, and of having the same directed to any four or more of the following persons, as the Commissioners for executing the said commission of sequestration, namely, John Want, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, barrister-at-law, John Young, of Sydney aforesaid, contractor, Hugh M'Laurin, of Sydney aforesaid, doctor of medicine, Josiah Mullens, of Sydney aforesaid, accountant, and John Sutherland, of Sydney aforesaid, formerly Mayor and Minister for Works, George A. Murray, of Sydney aforesaid, engineer of P. N. Russell & Co., and Morris Birkbeck Pell, of Sydney aforesaid, President of the Health Board and Sewage Commission.

4. The parties above mentioned are willing to act as such Commissioners; they are persons in good credit, they are all men of business habits, and they are all persons able to answer for what shall come to their hands in case they shall be called upon to account.

5. In my judgment and opinion, the said John Want, John Young, Dr. M'Laurin, Josiah Mullens, John Sutherland, G. A. Murray, and Morris Birkbeck Pell, are fit, proper, and eligible persons to be appointed Commissioners as aforesaid.

GREETING:—

Whereas, upon motion made unto us in our Supreme Court of New South Wales, in its equitable jurisdiction, on the twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, by counsel for the informant and plaintiffs, in a cause wherein the Honorable William Bede Dalley, Her Majesty's Attorney General of the Colony of New South Wales, by and at the relation of George Wigram Allen, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, The Reverend John Dwyer, and William Clark, informant, and the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, defendants, and between George Wigram Allen, Arthur Hill Coates Macafee, The Reverend John Dwyer, and William Clark, plaintiffs, and the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, defendants, our said Court did order that a commission of sequestration be issued in the said cause, directed to certain Commissioners to be therein named, to sequester the said personal estate and the rents and profits of the real estate of the defendants, the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the city of Sydney, for disobedience of the writ of injunction issued under the order made in the said cause, on the eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, but such Commission was not to be enforced for and until the expiration of eight calendar months from the date of the said order; and in the meantime the said commission was to lie in the office of the Master in Equity of the said Court, whereupon and on the expiration of the said eight months the said informant and plaintiffs were to be at liberty to enforce the same according to law: And whereas, upon motion made unto us in our said Court in its equitable jurisdiction, on the twenty-fourth day of November instant, in the said cause, our said Court did order that you the said John Henry Want, John Young, Hugh M'Laurin, Josiah Mullens, John Sutherland, George A. Counter-Petition.

To His Excellency Sir Hercules George Robert Robinson, Knight Grand Cross of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor of and for the Colony of New South Wales, &c., &c., &c.

The humble petition of the undersigned persons liable to be assessed for municipal taxes in respect of property or household residence within the proposed Municipality of Central Shoalhaven,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

That your petitioners are averse to the incorporation of Central Shoalhaven as a Municipality for the following reasons :—

That your petitioners believe that such incorporation would not, in consequence of the rates which would be raised, prove sufficient for the public works necessary to be performed within the area, and therefore of no benefit to your petitioners.

Your

Your petitioners further believe that most of the parties signing the petition for the proposed Municipality are possessed of a very small portion of the area of the said proposed Municipality, and therefore their assessments would not prove sufficient to carry out the necessary public works required in their own immediate quarter known as the village of Terrara.

Your petitioners therefore humbly pray that the incorporation of Central Shoalhaven may not take place.

And your petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CENTRAL SHOALHAVEN—COUNTER-PETITION.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, directs the publication, in accordance with the "Municipalities Act of 1867," of the substance and prayer of a petition, received on the 21st ultimo, addressed to His Excellency, and signed by eighty-two persons, against the incorporation of the proposed Municipal District of Central Shoalhaven, such petition being in opposition to the petition, the substance and prayer of which were published in the Supplementary Government Gazette of the 27th September last, and otherwise as required by law.

The petitioners state that they would be liable to municipal taxation in the event of the proposed Municipality being created.

That they are opposed to the incorporation of Central Shoalhaven as prayed for, because they believe that the rates that would be raised would not be sufficient for the public works of the locality, and that most of the persons who have applied for incorporation are possessed of a very small portion of the area of the proposed Municipality, and that therefore their assessment would not prove sufficient to carry out the necessary public works required in their own immediate quarter, known as the village of Terrara.

And the petitioners pray "that the incorporation of Central Shoalhaven may not take place."

Sir,

Shoalhaven, 20 January, 1876.

I beg respectfully to draw your attention to the counter-petition to the incorporation of the Municipal District of Central Shoalhaven, purporting to be signed by eighty-two persons liable to be rated for taxes, and verified by one John Smith, and published in the Government Gazette of the 14th, and the Shoalhaven News of the 19th instant.

Fully one-third of the persons whose names appear on that petition are not so liable, being farm servants and otherwise of several landowners, and who were removed from a former petition by the Commissioner appointed to inquire thereto.

Again, the declaration of the verifier, John Smith, is not bonâ fide qualified, is not liable to be rated, his claim (if any) being a mere sham; and, again, he is not a resident within the proposed boundaries of the proposed municipal district, as required by the 11th section of the "Municipalities Act of 1876." He is well known to be a resident of Nowra, and was only employed by the leaders of the petitioners against the proposed municipal district.

Therefore, on behalf of the original petitioners, I beg respectfully to request that Henry G. Morton, Esq., J.P., or some other disinterested gentleman may be appointed to make inquiry into the matter referred to.

Seeing Mr. Morton has been appointed to take the inquiry ordered in the matters of the Municipality of Central Shoalhaven, I beg to point out that I am informed and believe Mr. Morton is agent for the Terrara Estate, and therefore cannot be considered an impartial party. I have no personal feelings against Mr. Morton, and merely oppose his appointment on the ground of his being the agent of the Terrara Estate, which is included in the proposed Municipality.

I would suggest that a perfect stranger should be appointed who is entirely unacquainted with parties in the district.

I have, &c.,

ALFRED ELYARD.

Time alone would not admit of any alteration in the arrangements for the scrutiny, which is appointed to commence to-morrow, the 23rd instant.—22nd Feb.

Numba, Shoalhaven, 21 February, 1876.

I have the honor to acknowledge your letter No. 76/593 of the 8th instant, containing the petitions for and against the incorporation of "Central Shoalhaven," and the documents in connection therewith, also your letter No. 76/1,247 of the 17th instant, instructing me to furnish Mr. Alfred Elyard, of Shoalhaven, with a copy of the communication from Mr. I. C. Watson, containing the representation in consequence of which the inquiry is to be held.

Previous to your letter of the 17th instant I received a letter from Mr. Alfred Elyard, referring to the same subject, a copy of which is herewith sent, and beg to state that I have furnished that gentleman with a copy of Mr. I. C. Watson's letter.

I beg further to inform you that the inquiry takes place on Wednesday, 23rd instant, in the Temperance Hall, Terrara—copy of advertisement sent herewith—and that already strong hostile feelings are displayed by the interested parties for both petitions.

I have, &c.,
HENRY G. MORTON.

No. 23.

Mr. C. Watson to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Shoalhaven, 28 February, 1876.

I have been requested by the petitioners for the incorporation of the proposed Municipal District of "Central Shoalhaven" to respectfully draw your attention to the irregularities of the so-called counter-petition to such incorporation.

In the first place the person who has taken the solemn declaration required by 11th section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," verifying the genuineness of the signatures is an officer of the Court of Petty Sessions at Nowra, is also bailiff's deputy of the District Court, and has resided upon his own freehold in Nowra for nearly twenty years; that the said person (John Smith) was employed by certain Magistrates and others, who, as road trustees at the present time, and consequently opposed to incorporation, to collect indiscriminately the names of persons, with a view only of outnumbering the original petitioners, Smith being also provided with a sham but temporary qualification to sign such petition.

I am also desired to point out that a very large number of the signatures on the counter-petition are not the signatures of persons liable to be rated for municipal taxes, they being the house or farm servants of the Messrs. E. De Mestre, Alfred, and others who were removed from a previous counter-petition at an inquiry held by Mr. Moriarty, as having no qualification and not liable for taxation. Others are the names of minors residing with their parents, being neither householders or freeholders within the proposed boundaries. Again, several of the names on the counter-petition are forgeries, as was shown at the inquiry held before Henry G. Morton, Esq., J.P., on Wednesday last. Others of the signatures are those of persons who reside in Sydney and elsewhere, who only visited the district for gambling purposes at the time of the last Shoalhaven annual races.

Generally on behalf of the petitioners for incorporation, I am in a position to state that the solemn declaration taken by the said John Smith before Andrew De Mestre, Esq., J.P., on the 18th of December last was not true, and a violation of the 11th section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867." Subsequently to the publication of the original petition Smith, having discovered that the 11th section of the Municipalities Act rendered it imperative that the person verifying the signatures on any petition "shall be a householder resident within the boundaries of the proposed municipal district" usufructuary obtained occupancy of an empty hut on property for which others will be rated for taxes, but himself, wife, and family still resided in their own home at Nowra, which is situate in another municipal district, the sham or pretended occupancy of the hut being nothing more or less than a wilful perversion of the Municipalities Act.

The original petitioners also desire me to state that they regret exceedingly that the Government considered it advisable to suspend the inquiry after it had been opened and a whole day spent in examining witnesses. They also feel grieved and surprised that exception should have been taken by the counter-petitioners to Mr. Morton as Commissioner, on the grounds alleged. When that gentleman's name was suggested the original petitioners were fully aware that Mr. Morton was acting agent for several proprietors of land of no great value, but as he had taken no interest one side or the other in the movement, and did not reside in the locality, and from his long residence in the Shoalhaven district, the fact of his knowing almost every property, and resident within the proposed municipal district, and above all for a gentleman of honour, integrity, and impartiality Mr. Morton having few equals, the original petitioners suggested his name, and had he been appointed without their suggestion no one on the side of municipal institutions would have opposed him, and the fact of the objection having been made is the clearest evidence that the counter-petitioners were not prepared to submit their petition to the scrutiny of a gentleman who (as they say) knew too much about themselves and their properties.

In the event of the Government being pleased to appoint another gentleman to conduct the inquiry as prayed for, the original petitioners desire if not contrary to law that the witnesses on both sides during the examination shall be sworn, as was the case when Mr. Moriarty held a similar inquiry some two years ago.

I have, &c.,

Mr. J. Warden to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 22 March, 1875, sic [1876].

I am in receipt of your note asking me whether I could suggest, for the consideration of the Colonial Secretary, a gentleman who would be willing and unobjectionable to perform the functions of scrutineer in regard to the Central Shoalhaven Municipal Petition, vice Morton.

In reply I have to inform you that I know of no gentleman who would be free from local influence in some way or other in Shoalhaven; I would therefore suggest that Mr. Connell, Police Magistrate of Kiama, would be a competent and proper person to undertake the duties.

I have, &c.,

It having been decided, in consequence of certain representations made on behalf of the petitioners for the incorporation of a Municipality to be called the Municipal District of Central Shoalhaven, to cause an inquiry to be held under the 12th section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," as to the validity of the signatures attached to the counter-petition against such incorporation (of which the substance and prayer were published in a Supplementary Government Gazette of the 14th of January last), and as to the status of the person by whom the signatures were verified, as also generally concerning both petitions, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that he has appointed you to hold the proposed inquiry.

2. I am desired to invite your attention to the 13th and 14th sections of the Municipalities Act, whereof the former sets forth the manner in which the inquiry may be conducted while the latter fixes the time within which the report shall be made.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 4 April, 1876.

With reference to your letter of the 18th of February last, and to my telegram of the 25th of the same month, announcing the interruption of the proceedings taken for the holding of an inquiry under the 12th section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," as to the validity of the signatures attached to the counter-petition against the incorporation of the proposed Municipal District of Central Shoalhaven, and as to the status of the person by whom the signatures were verified, as also generally concerning that petition and the original petition for incorporation,—I am now directed by the Colonial Secretary to state that Mr. Henry Connell, J.P., Police Magistrate of Kiama, has been appointed to hold the proposed inquiry.

I have, &c.,

HENRY HALLORAN.

No. 28.

Mr. H. Connell to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Court House, Kiama, 28 April, 1876.

In conformity with the instructions contained in your letter of the 4th instant, directing me to hold an inquiry under the 12th section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," as to the validity of the signatures attached to the counter-petition published in a Supplementary Gazette of 14th January last, against the incorporation of a Municipality under the name of the "Municipal District of Central Shoalhaven," and as to the status of the person by whom the signatures were verified—as also generally concerning both petitions,—I now do myself the honor to submit the following report:—

I. Status of persons by whom the signatures to counter-petition were verified.

The "John Smith" who verified the 82 signatures on the counter-petition was not in my opinion a householder resident within the proposed "Municipality of Central Shoalhaven," and that his declaration therefore made on the 18th December last was in violation of the 11th section of the Act. Smith has never resided there, but has resided with his family for the last twenty years in Nowra, an adjoining Municipality. He obtained occupancy of an empty hut in the proposed Municipality, and he alleges he slept in it nine nights in December last, believing he would thus become qualified under the Act. Objection is also taken that this tenement could not be legally sub-let, and I am of opinion, after reviewing the evidence taken before me, that the lessee had no power to sub-let the premises to Smith. Under the 11th section of 31 Vict., No. 12, it is indispensable that the person who verifies the signatures shall be a resident householder within the proposed Municipality. (See also 22 Vict., No. 12, section 8.)

It would therefore follow, I presume, that if Smith be disqualified under this section, and was unable to make the necessary declaration, the objection will be fatal to the whole of the signatures contained in the counter-petition. (See evidence of Smith and others—Appendix A.)

II. As to the validity of the signatures attached to the counter-petition.

The petitioners at the inquiry took exception to thirty-one signatures on the counter-petition on various grounds. After hearing the arguments on both sides, I am of opinion that twenty-five signatures, as set forth in Appendix B, were those of persons unqualified to be assessed for municipal rates.

III. As to the validity of the signatures attached to the original petition.

Exception was taken to forty signatures on the original petition. I am of opinion, after hearing the statements on both sides, and having duly considered my notes, that twenty-five names should be struck out as not having the necessary qualification, or for other reasons as assigned in Appendix C.

IV.—

IV.—Concerning both petitions.

It will thus be seen that the original petition, which contains seventy-eight signatures, has been reduced by twenty-five, leaving a balance of fifty-three persons who are qualified. Out of the twenty-five struck out thirteen were the names of persons who subsequently were induced to sign the counter-petition, and but for this proceeding (the second signing) the original list would have stood at sixty-six. Twelve had not the necessary qualification.

The counter-petition purports to be signed by eighty-two persons, including thirteen who signed the original petition. Under the decision formerly given by the Attorney General these thirteen names are allowed to remain on the list. After careful inquiry the list was reduced by the names of twenty-five persons, leaving a balance of fifty-seven qualified persons, thus giving the counter-petitioners a majority of four.

The technical question, however, arises: Are the counter-petitioners disfranchised by reason of a non-compliance with the terms required by the 11th section of the Act?

V.—Conclusion.

In conclusion, I may observe that the strong feeling which had provoked so much hostility between the contending parties has almost disappeared, and I am of opinion that if the arrangements had been placed in other hands than those who have taken so lively an interest in their work, the proposed Municipality of Central Shoalhaven would have met with a much larger support, and perhaps evoked considerably less opposition.

By Mr. Walker: I could not say that Smith resided on the 18th December last at Nowra, but his wife and family resided there; he was a bailiff, and might have been serving summonses on that day; he might have had another house in the district, but I don't know that he has.

By Mr. Walker: On the nights of the 17th, 18th, and 19th of December last I slept at my residence at Boston.

COPIES of opinions of Mr. Salomons when Solicitor General, and of Sir W. M. Manning when Attorney General, herewith.

Perhaps the papers may be referred to the present Attorney General for his opinion. 5/4/76. Approved.—JOHN R., 10/5/76. The Under Secretary of Justice and Public Instruction.—H.H., B.C., 10/5/76.

[Enclosures.]

Mr. Salomons, respecting verifier of signatures under 11th section of Municipalities Act. THE petition would be invalid, that is to say, the Government, knowing that the person verifying the signatures was not "a householder resident within the proposed Municipality" (section 11), would not act upon the petition.

However, it now appears (see papers under B.C., 19th October, 1870) that the verifier is a householder, &c.

JULIAN E. SALAMONS,

Solicitor General.

The Under Secretary, Colonial Secretary's Department.—W.E.P., B.C., 26 October, 1870.

SIR W. M. MANNING, respecting verification of signature to petition for incorporation of Leichhardt, under "Municipalities Act of 1867."

I CANNOT think that the facts reported by Mr. St. Julian show Mr. Henderson to have been legally qualified to verify the petition. Granting that he was a "householder" within the meaning of the Act (which I doubt), he cannot be said to have been "resident" within the proposed Municipality in any proper sense of that term.

But I do not consider that a defect in Mr. Henderson's legal qualification, to make the declaration required by section 11 of the Act, is of itself sufficient to render it illegal for the Governor in Council to recognize the petition as a valid one for the purposes of section 10.

Under section 10 what is required is the genuine signatures of a sufficient number of duly qualified petitioners, and the substantial question is, whether a majority of persons qualified to petition have in fact testified under their hands their desire to have an incorporation of their district. Upon this question depends the power of the Governor to proclaim the Municipality.

Section 11 only provides a mode of verifying for the information of the Governor in Council the genuineness of the signatures, and the qualification of the persons signing; and it is therefore merely auxiliary to the main provision, and is not of the essence of the matter. Of course its terms ought to be faithfully observed; and it certainly appears to me that if they are not complied with the Government would be quite justified in refusing to proceed or inquire further.

But nevertheless if it should be brought home to the Governor's cognizance by other modes of ascertainment that the signatures are in fact genuine, and the signers qualified, I do not see why he should not be at liberty to accept the petition, and act upon it if he should think fit.

The 11th section may perhaps be regarded as directory only, and therefore as not being obligatory in so strict a sense as to oust the power of the Governor to give effect to the ascertained wishes of the majority of qualified persons.

Those persons have completed all that fell to their part in the matter by signing the petition, whereas the deficient verification is something subsequent, and with which they can hardly be said to have had any concern.

In this case therefore, I think, that it is competent to the Governor in Council to grant the incorporation if satisfied that in all other respects than the above a sufficient case is made out by the petitioners.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

BY-LAWS to regulate the management of the permanent and temporary Town Commons, North and South Denilquin.

PART IV.

THE By-laws heretofore in use to regulate the proceedings of the Town Commons of Denilquin, and published in the Government Gazette of December 6th, 1870, No. 239, shall be repealed on and after the 30th September, 1876, and the following substituted in their stead.

All persons being Commoners shall be entitled to depasture on the said Commons not more than five horses, or fifteen cattle, or five sheep, or five goats, subject to the payment of fees, according to the following scale, namely:—

	s.	d.

For each sheep or goat	4	0

Commoners desirous of depasturing a larger number of stock than those restricted by previous By-law shall make their request in writing to the said Council, and the said Council shall have the discretion of granting such request or otherwise, as also as to the amount of extra fees to be charged for such additional stock if such application be entertained.

No fees shall be charged for the progeny of registered stock under the age of six months; above that age the owner or owners of such stock shall be charged full rates prescribed by these By-laws.

All fees shall be paid half-yearly in advance, and shall be payable at the Town Hall Council Chambers during the business hours of the said Council, on and after the 1st day of June and the 1st day of December in each and every year.

No animals of any kind will be considered as registered or entitled to be depastured on the said Commons, unless the fees be paid at the time of entering, and at the commencement of each succeeding half-year referred to.

No entire horse, bull, or goat, above the age of six months shall be allowed on the said Commons, without the consent in writing of the said Council; and all or any such may be impounded by the said Council without any notice whatever to the owner or owners of any such animals, under the powers given for such purpose as contained in the Impounding Act, 29 Victoria No. 2.

All Commoners' stock depastured on the said Commons shall be branded with a private brand, and cattle and goats with the said Council's brand, and registered as so branded at the said Council's Chambers, whereat a book shall be kept (for the special purpose) containing an account of all such registered stock. The said book to be opened to the inspection of Commoners generally during the usual business hours of the said Council.

The said Council may from time to time, as occasion may require, appoint a competent person to perform the duties of herdsman, whose salary shall be paid by the said Council, from moneys derived from the said commonage fees. The amount of salary so paid, and duties to be performed, to be determined by the said Council from time to time, as to them may seem fit.

The owner or owners of travelling stock shall be compelled to travel such stock across the said Commons in accordance with the provisions of the Lands Amendment Act of 1875 (39 Victoria No. 13), namely, cattle 10 miles, and sheep 6 miles, every twenty-four hours.

Any person or persons in charge of stock neglecting or refusing to comply with this By-law will subject themselves and be liable to the penalties mentioned in the said Act: Provided, however, that special arrangements as to the said Council may seem fit, may be made to depasture stock so travelling, for a longer period than herein lastly specified.

The said Council, or their herdsman for the time being in charge of the said Commons, will not be answerable for any stock depasturing thereon; but immediately after it is made known to the said Council that any have strayed, information will be given to the owners, so far and as soon as practicable or possible.

The said Council's herdsman for the time being shall impound all unregistered stock, including those of traveller's and teamsters, remaining beyond the three days allowed by law, and shall charge the ordinary Commons fees for all so impounded; an account of which shall be kept in a book for that purpose at the said Council Chambers, so that all damages and fees accruing from the same shall be properly accounted for.

No pigs shall be allowed on any part of the said Commons, and the herdsman for the time being is hereby authorized to detain, impound, or destroy all pigs and all unregistered goats found illegally at large on the said Commons.

No horses or cattle the property of Commoners depasturing on the said Commons (excepting cows in milk and horses in daily use) shall be disturbed or removed without giving twelve hours notice in writing to the herdsman for the time being, or leaving the same at the said Council Chambers during the said Council's business hours. In cases of emergency, however, horses may be taken by procuring a written order, signed by one Alderman and the Council Clerk. Any infringement of this By-law will subject the offender, upon conviction before two or more Justices of the Peace, to a penalty of not less than 10s. nor more than £2.

All stock suspected to be diseased shall be removed by their owners after twenty-four hours' notice has been given to them by the herdsman for the time being, and in default of compliance with such notice the said Council shall have power to destroy such stock at the risk and cost of the owner, the expenses, including costs, to be recovered in a summary way before two or more Justices of the Peace acting in and for the Colony of New South Wales.

Any person or persons in charge of travelling stock shall give at least twelve hours' notice in writing to the said Council before entering on the said Commons with such stock, such notice to be delivered personally to the herdsman for the time being or addressed and sent to him through the post. Non-compliance with this By-law will subject the offender to a penalty not exceeding £10.

No portions of either the permanent or temporary Commons of North and South Deniliquin shall be occupied as sites for residence or for business purposes, unless by express permission of the said Council. Applications for such purposes must be made to the said Council in writing; and in the event of any such request being granted by the said Council, a fee shall be charged at the discretion of the said Council for such period or periods as may be decided upon. Any person or persons found in occupation of any portion of the said Commons after this By-law shall come into force shall, upon conviction before two or more Justices of the Peace acting in and for the said Colony, forfeit a penalty not exceeding £5 nor less than £1.

The said Council will grant licenses to cut and cart dry wood from those portions of the said Commons as the said Council may from time to time define, such timber to be for the use of or sale to Commoners only; also for digging and carting away gravel, clay, loam, earth, sand, or other materials from such places as may be set apart by the said Council, provided that such be for the use of or sale to Commoners only. All persons working for hire and not so licensed shall upon conviction before two or more Justices of the Peace as aforesaid be fined in the penalty of 40s., or not less than 5s., in addition to professional costs; and any such wood so cut by any person or persons without such license shall be and become forfeited to the said Council. For the above-mentioned purposes concerning such licenses the following fees shall be charged and paid half-yearly in advance, and be due and payable at the said Council's Town Hall Chambers, South Deniliquin, on and after the first day of June and the first day of December in each and every year respectively, namely:—

Sand, loam, earth, or gravel	1	0	0

Any person or persons found on any portion of the said Commons cutting green timber (unless where defined by the said Council) shall, upon conviction before two or more Justices of the Peace as aforesaid, forfeit and pay a penalty of 40s. or not less than 10s., to be recoverable in like manner as any of the aforesaid penalties.

Where any penalties are not expressly mentioned in these By-laws, any person or persons offending against the same or any or either of them will subject themselves to those enumerated in the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861," the "Impounding Act" 29 Victoria No. 2, the "Sheep Diseases Prevention Act" 36 Victoria No. 23, and the "Crown Lands Amendment Act of 1875," 39 Victoria No. 13.

The said Council duly assembled shall at any time hereafter have full power to vary, alter, or amend any or either of the above-mentioned By-laws relating to the number of stock to be depastured upon the said Commons, and to vary the amount of the fee or fees to be charged and payable for the agistment of the same.

And thereupon the portion so set apart for each of the said denominations shall be set apart for ever for the interment of the dead accordingly.

IV. The Council shall lay out the said Cemetery in such manner as may be most convenient for the said division and for the burial of the dead; and may embellish the same with such walks, avenues, roads, trees, and shrubs as may appear to them proper; and enclose the same with a proper fence; and erect such walls, gates, and entrance, and all houses, offices, and other necessary buildings; make and repair all drains; and do and perform all and every matter, act, or thing which may be required for the proper and efficient management of the said Cemetery.

V. The clergyman of each denomination residing, or regularly officiating as such, within the said Borough, shall be the proper officer to perform religious rites within the said Cemetery, in the respective divisions to which the corpse belongs; but any duly appointed or recognized clergyman may officiate.

VI. The said Council may sell and grant land within the said Cemetery for the exclusive right of burial, in perpetuity or for any given period, in each and every portion or division of the said Cemetery; and also the right of erecting any vault, monument, tomb, tablet, gravestone, or monumental inscription; and such rights as aforesaid shall be considered as the personal estate of the grantee, and may be assigned in his lifetime or bequeathed by his will, subject nevertheless to all the By-laws of the said Cemetery.

VII. The Council may order the removal or alteration of any vault, monument, tomb, tablet, gravestone, monumental inscription, kerbing, railing, or any other erection which shall have been erected or placed in either of the said divisions of the said Cemetery, which may be contrary to these By-laws, or any of them, or which may have been erected or placed there without the authority of the manager or officer in charge.

VIII. The Council may charge and receive, for and in connection with the interment of bodies in the said Cemetery, and for the erection of any vault, or for the enclosure of any land for the exclusive right of interment therein, and for the right of erecting and placing therein or thereon any monument, tablet, gravestone, kerbing, monumental inscription, or other erection, the fees and charges provided in the schedule annexed marked A.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

LICENSES TO PUBLIC VEHICLES.

(PETITION—MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF NUMBA.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 7 February, 1877.

Unto the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the Municipal Council of Numba,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That by the 129th clause of the Municipalities Act of 1867, it is provided that the Council of any Municipality may, with the consent of the Governor, impose and enforce a fixed annual, half-yearly, or quarterly charge upon vehicles plying or carrying passengers or goods for hire within such Municipality, whether such vehicles shall be licensed by the Municipal Council of the City of Sydney or not.

By the statute sixth William IV, Cap. 2, Benches of Magistrates are authorized to grant licenses to stage-drivers to ply to any part of the Colony, acting upon which, Magistrates refuse to enforce the municipal by-law founded upon clause 129 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, causing a considerable loss of revenue to this Municipality.

May it therefore please your Honorable House to take the premises into your favourable consideration, and make such provision as shall prevent the statute 6th William IV, Cap. 2, from having force within Municipalities.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, shall ever pray.

(For the Council),
DAVID BERRIE,
Mayor.

REGULATION ACT.

(BY-LAWS UNDER FOR LICENSING PUBLIC VEHICLES.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vict. No. 36, sec. 9.

Colonial Secretary's Office.
Sydney, 22nd February, 1877.

BOROUGH OF NEWCASTLE.

BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws made by the Council of the Borough of Newcastle for the regulation of public vehicles within the Municipality, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the "Newcastle Paving and Public Vehicles Regulation Act," 39 Victoria No. 36.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

PART II.

As to the Regulation of Public Vehicles.

Who requires to be licensed.

1. Every proprietor, driver, or conductor, of every omnibus, coach, cab, or other public vehicle carrying passengers, or plying for hire, within the city of Newcastle, shall pay to the Council thereof the charge or sum noted in the Schedule hereunto annexed and marked C.

A requisition must be sent for Licenses.

2. Before any license shall be granted to the owner, driver, or conductor of any vehicle, the person requiring such license shall obtain from the Council Clerk, free of charge, a requisition in the form of the Schedule hereunto annexed and marked A, or to the like effect, and shall duly fill up and sign the same and deliver it, with a certificate from two respectable persons, stating that the applicant for a license is of good character, of the required age, and competent for the position under the license applied for, to the Council Clerk at least forty-eight hours before the time appointed for the granting of such licenses by such Borough Council aforesaid.

No license to be granted or renewed for vehicle in bad condition.

3. No license for any vehicle shall be granted or renewed unless the vehicle, horse or horses, and harness shall have been examined by the Inspector or other person appointed by the Council, and reported by him in writing to be in a fit state to be licensed; and no license shall be granted in respect of any vehicle which, in the opinion of the said Council, shall be unsafe, in bad repair, or otherwise unfit for the accommodation and conveyance of passengers, or for the conveyance of goods or merchandise.

License only gives authority to ply for hire.

4. Every person holding an authority or license from the Council as such proprietor, driver, or conductor, according to the form hereunto annexed and marked B, shall be permitted to ply for hire and carry passengers within the said city and vicinity of Newcastle for the term therein specified, but it shall not be lawful for any person to ply for hire or carry passengers as aforesaid until having obtained the said authority or license to do so.

As to payment.

5. The charge or fee hereinafter specified in the Schedule hereunto annexed and marked C shall be paid in advance, commencing on the first day of January, and ending on the thirty-first day of December in each and every year, or ratably, according to the date of the said authority or license, as in terms of Schedule C aforesaid; and the production of such authority or license shall free the vehicle numbered therein, or its owner, driver, or conductor, as such authority or license produced shall represent, from all other charges by this Council, except fines, or in the case of vehicles, tolls, which may hereafter be imposed during the current year or the period therein specified.

Pre-payment of license or penalty.

6. The driver of every omnibus, coach, cab, or other public vehicle plying for hire or carrying passengers within or through any part of the city of Newcastle, shall previous to doing so pay unto the said Council Clerk the charge or fee therein provided; and any person found plying for hire or carrying passengers in the city of Newcastle (except in conveyances hired by any person or persons for an especial occasion, and who shall not take up or set down passengers other than the said hirers during their journey or route), shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not more than one pound nor less than ten shillings; and in case of a second conviction within six months the full penalty imposed by the 62nd By-law hereinafter expressed.

Public vehicle.

7. Every public vehicle driven to or from any public stand which may be appointed by the Council, or shall be employed in carrying passengers to or through the city, shall be deemed and taken to be a public vehicle plying for hire; and its owner or owners and driver and conductor must comply with all the conditions imposed by these By-laws.

License to continue in force until 31st December in each year.

8. Every license granted under these By-laws shall be in force from the date of such license up to and including the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing, and no such license shall include more than one vehicle: Provided if by accident any vehicle shall become unfit for use, it shall be lawful for the owner thereof during such reasonable time as it shall be undergoing repair, to use another vehicle as a substitute; but the substitute shall in all respects, except as to a license, be subject to these By-laws in the same manner as if a license had been granted for it, and the owner using it shall be liable for any non-compliance with these By-laws in respect thereof, as if it had been licensed. In order to entitle an owner to the benefit of the above provision, he shall before using such substitute give notice of his intention to do so in writing to the Inspector, stating the true cause of his being compelled to use such substitute and the period during which it will be necessary to do so; and no such substitute shall be used until it shall have been inspected and approved of by the Inspector, or for a longer period than fixed by a certificate, to be signed by the Inspector and delivered to the owner.

Licenses and renewals.

9. Licenses shall be made out in duplicate by the Council Clerk and numbered in such order as the Council shall from time to time direct; and all such licenses may be renewed at the end of every year by endorsement under the hand of the Council Clerk: Provided that the applicant for such renewal shall have been reported by the Inspector as having conducted his business creditably and satisfactorily.

Who deemed owner.

10. The person or persons in whose name a license shall appear on the books of the Council Clerk shall be deemed the owner of the vehicle in respect of which such license shall have been issued.

Change of residence to be notified.

11. Whenever any person named as the owner or one of the owners, driver, or conductor of a licensed vehicle, shall change his place of abode, he shall within two days next after any such change, give notice thereof in writing signed by him to the Council Clerk, specifying his new place of abode, and the same shall be endorsed upon the license granted to such owner, driver, or conductor, and entered in the Council Clerk's book.

Driver or conductor not to part with license.

12. Every driver or conductor shall deliver to the owner employing him the duplicate of his license, but he shall not lend or otherwise part with his original license on any pretence whatsoever. No owner of any such vehicle shall employ an unlicensed person as the driver or conductor thereof or without receiving from such licensed driver or conductor the duplicate of the license held by him, which duplicate the said owner shall hold during the term of such person's employment by him, and on discharging any such person he shall return to him the said duplicate.

Council may order inspection.

13. The Council may as often as they shall deem it necessary, cause an inspection to be made of all or any licensed vehicles, and of the harness, and horse or horses used in drawing the same; and if any such vehicle, horse or horses, or harness shall be found by them in their opinion unfit for public use, notice in the form or to the effect contained in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked L shall be given to the owner of such vehicle; and if after such notice he shall use or let for hire, or suffer to be used or let for hire, such vehicle, horse, horses, or harness, as the case may be, before the same shall be in their opinion in condition fit for public use, the Council may suspend for such time as they may deem proper the license of such vehicle, and in case the owner shall neglect or refuse to attend with his licensed vehicle, horse or horses, and harness before the Council, or any duly appointed person acting on their behalf, when he shall be called upon for that purpose, the Council may suspend the license of such vehicle.

The driver shall not be obliged to take any luggage, except carpet-bags, parcels, or packages, to be carried in the hand or between the feet of the passengers, such luggage not to exceed fifty pounds in weight, being clean and of such a description as might be placed inside or outside the vehicle without injuring the same; and the driver shall be entitled to claim one shilling for every additional fifty pounds weight or portion thereof as carried; but the person hiring such vehicle shall be allowed to have a reasonable quantity of luggage, not exceeding eighty-four pounds in weight, for each person short of the aforesaid number. Whenever the number of persons carried shall exceed that named for such vehicles respectively, the driver shall be entitled to charge by time or distance, as the hiring may be, one-third more of fare for each adult or two children over five and under fifteen years of age. Further, the driver shall not allow any person to ride, drive, or be carried in or upon such vehicle without the consent of the hirer.

Distance, how computed.

43. The distance shall be computed from the stand or place where the carriage was hired, and not from the stand where such carriage may usually ply.
