That Question to refer Seat of H. H. Brown, Esquire, to Committee of Elections and Qualifications was one of privilege, 257.
That new clause proposed in Electoral Reform Bill was not relevant to subject matter or title of the Bill, 288.
That amendment proposed to add words in reference to plebiscite on the fiscal question was similar to question already decided during the present Session and therefore inadmissible, 315.
That clauses of Masters and Servants Bill were beyond the order of leave, 322.
That Law Practitioners Bill was not out of order, 322.
That Diseased Animals and Meat Bill (No. 2) was beyond order of leave, 333.
That Resolution from Committee of Ways and Means for imposing new taxation differed essentially from mere abstract Resolutions on the same subject (Import Duties on Agricultural Produce), and was therefore in order, 356.
That a Member having spoken to a question, may not conclude by moving "That the question be now put," 399.
That the subject of a proposed motion for adjournment, viz., the introduction of a Coal-mines Bill, had already been discussed this Session and could not therefore be put, 414.
That amendment to add words to Schedule C of Customs Duties Bill was inconsistent with previous decision in Schedule A of same Bill, and therefore out of order, 420.
That amendment to add word "water" to Schedule C of Customs Duties Bill was such as to turn Proceedings of the Committee into a farce, and therefore out of order, 420.
That, on amendment to omit words, it having been decided that the words stand, the debate was closed, 431.
That Tolls on Stock Bill, again presented for consideration, a question decided by the House this Session, was contradictory of provisions of the Customs Duties Bill, and therefore out of order, 449.
That Diseases in Sheep Acts Amendment Bill was not beyond order of leave, 449.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SIR ALFRED STEPHEN, C.B., G.C.M.G.

(DESPATCH RESPECTING THE RETIREMENT OF, AS LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF THE COLONY.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Right Honorable the Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor.

Downing-street, 12 November, 1891.

My Lord,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's despatch No. 36, of 4th May last, transmitting a letter from Sir Alfred Stephen, in which he expresses a wish to retire from the post of Lieutenant-Governor for the reasons stated:

It would have been very agreeable to me, as I feel sure it would also have been agreeable to the Colony of New South Wales, if Sir Alfred Stephen had found himself able to retain for a further period the important post of which he has so ably discharged the duties on the occasions when he has been called upon to administer the Government, but looking to the strong wish which he has expressed to be relieved of these duties I have had no alternative but to lay his resignation before the Queen, who, in accepting it, commands me to inform your Lordship that she regrets the loss of the services of so loyal and able a public servant.

I request that you will hand a copy of this despatch (which may be made public in such manner as you may deem convenient) to Sir A. Stephen, and it will be unnecessary to ask him to return his commission for cancellation in the usual manner, should it be any gratification to him to retain that instrument.

I have, &c.,

KNUTSFORD.

Governor, the Right Honorable The Earl of Jersey, G.C.M.G., &c., &c., &c.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SIR FREDERICK MATTHEW DARLEY, KNIGHT.

(COMMISSION APPOINTING, LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF THE COLONY.)

(L.S.)

VICTORIA R.

Victoria, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India, to Our Trusty and Well-beloved Sir Frederick Matthew Darley, Knight, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Our Colony of New South Wales, Greeting.

WE do by this Our Commission under our Sign Manual and Signet appoint you the said Sir Frederick Matthew Darley to be during Our pleasure Our Lieutenant-Governor of Our Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies, with all the powers, rights, privileges, and advantages to the said office belonging or appertaining.

Appointment of Sir F. M. Darley to be Lieutenant-Governor.

II. And further, in case of the death, incapacity, or removal of Our Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our said Colony, or of his departure from Our said Colony, we do hereby authorize and require you to administer the Government thereof, with all and singular the powers and authorities contained in Our Letters Patent under the Great Seal of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster the twenty-ninth day of April, 1879, constituting the office of Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our said Colony, or in any other Our Letters Patent adding to, amending, or substituted for the same, and according to such Instructions as Our said Governor and Commander-in-Chief for the time being hath already received from Us, and to such further Orders and Instructions as he or you shall hereafter receive from Us or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, and according to such laws as are now or shall hereafter be in force in Our said Colony.

To administer Government during Governor's absence.

Recites Letters Patent constituting office of Governor.

Powers and authorities to be exercised according to Instructions.

III. And We do further appoint that this Our Commission shall supersede our Commission under Our Sign Manual and Signet, bearing date the thirtieth day of April, 1879, appointing Our Trusty and Well-beloved Sir Alfred Stephen, Knight Commander (now Knight Grand Cross) of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Companion of Our Most Honourable Order of the Bath, to be Lieutenant-Governor of Our said Colony.

Commission appointing Sir A. Stephen, G.C.M.G., C.B., to be Lieutenant-Governor superseded

IV. And we do hereby command all and singular Our Officers, Ministers, and loving subjects in our said Colony and its Dependencies, and all others whom it may concern, to take due notice hereof, and to give their ready obedience accordingly.

Officers, &c., to take notice.

Given at Our Court at Windsor, this twenty-third day of November, 1891, in the Fifty-fifth year of Our Reign.

By Her Majesty's Command,

KNUTSFORD.

Commission appointing Sir Frederick Matthew Darley, Knight, to be Lieutenant-Governor, New South Wales.

(SECOND SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

OFFICIAL RECORD OF PARLIAMENTARY DEBATES.

(CORRESPONDENCE RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 24 September, 1891.

T. J. Houghton, Esq., M.P., to The Honorable the Speaker.

Sir,

Parliament House, Sydney, 14 September, 1891.

I beg to draw your attention to the present excessively high price of Hansard to the general public, in the hope that if the matter comes within your province you will cause a reduction to be made forthwith. If that is done I am confident that it will conduce to Hansard enjoying a much larger circulation than it does at the present time, without the slightest additional cost to the Government on account of printing. In fact the increased circulation should result in a much larger return to the public coffers on account of sales. Steps should also be taken to popularise Hansard in other ways.

I am, &c.,

T. J. HOUGHTON.

Mr. Speaker will be glad if Mr. Robinson will report upon the subject of this letter.—F.W.W., 14/9/91.

About six years ago the Parliament of New Zealand passed a resolution to the effect that the price of the Official Report of the Debates should be reduced to the actual cost of the material, i.e., paper, ink, &c., and I forward a copy which I have borrowed from the Librarian, showing that the price there is 2d. per copy. The cost of subscription to the Debates in New South Wales is £2 2s. per session; and I believe the cost for a separate number is 2s. If 2d. represents the cost of the material in New Zealand, I think there can be no doubt that it would cover the cost here; but the Government Printer could inform Mr. Speaker with certainty on that point. There have been times when the demand for the Debates, if procurable at a cheap rate, would have been considerable; and I believe a large circulation followed upon the reduction in price in New Zealand. Experience alone, would, I presume, show whether such demand would be continuous, or be confined to specially important debates, or to periods of exceptional political excitement.—C.R., 14/9/91.

Get a report from the Government Printer as to cost.—J. P. ABBOTT, Speaker, 14/9/91. The Acting Government Printer.—F.W.W., B.C., 14/9/91. (To be returned.)

The expense of printing the Parliamentary Debates (not including composition) is estimated at threepence per number, on the basis of 500 copies being printed. The type having necessarily to be set for Parliamentary purposes the expense of composition has of course been omitted. My opinion is that the Debates should be sold at 3d. per single number, and the subscription for the session should be reduced from £2 2s. to ten shillings. I may mention that we have only three subscribers at present, and the sale of single copies is at the rate of one a week.—G. S. CHAPMAN, Acting Government Printer, B.C., 23/9/91. The Clerk of the Legislative Assembly.

WEDNESDAY, 12 AUGUST, 1891.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Dr. Ross,	Mr. Donald,
Mr. R. G. D. FitzGerald,	Mr. Murphy,
Mr. Cullen,	Mr. Suttor,
Mr. Wise.

In attendance,—

The Acting Second Clerk Assistant.

1. On motion of Mr. FitzGerald, Mr. Suttor was elected Chairman.
2. The Clerk, by direction of the Chairman, read the extracts from the Votes and Proceedings referring to the appointment of the Committee. [Vide Extracts, pages 3, 4, and 5.]
3. Committee deliberated, and decided to proceed first with the Petition "Vivian v. Hugh McKinnon—The Hastings and Manning."
4. The Clerk, by direction of the Chairman, read the extract from the Votes and Proceedings, by which the Petition of Walter Hussey Vivian was referred to the Committee. [Vide Extracts, page 4.]
5. The Clerk then, by direction of the Chairman, read the Petition of Walter Hussey Vivian, Esquire, to which the bank deposit receipt was attached, as follows:—

To His Excellency the Right Honorable Victor Albert George, Earl of Jersey, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

The humble Petition of Walter Hussey Vivian, of Manly, in the Colony of New South Wales, Esquire,—

SHOWETH:—

1. That at the last General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly of the said Colony, James Henry Young, Hugh Mackinnon, John Lowry Ruthven, and your Petitioner were severally candidates to be elected as Members of the said Assembly for the Electoral District of The Hastings and Manning.

2. That at the nomination for the said election each of them, the said James Henry Young, Hugh Mackinnon, John Lowry Ruthven, and your Petitioner were duly nominated and proposed as such Members; and the Returning Officer then called for a show of hands separately in favour of each candidate, and upon the same taking place declared the show of hands to be in favour of the said Hugh Mackinnon and J. L. Ruthven, whereupon a poll was demanded on behalf of J. H. Young and your Petitioner, which was afterwards taken.

3. That before and at the time of the said nomination, and from thence, your Petitioner was and is a person duly qualified by law to be elected a Member of the said Legislative Assembly.

4. That the Returning Officer on the day of the declaration of the poll for the said Electoral District declared the number of votes polled for the respective candidates to be as follows:—

For the said James Henry Young, one thousand two hundred and forty-six votes.

For the said Hugh Mackinnon, one thousand two hundred and thirty-six votes.

For your Petitioner, one thousand two hundred and thirty-one votes.

For the said John Lowry Ruthven, one thousand one hundred and ninety-eight votes.

And thereupon declared the said James Henry Young and Hugh Mackinnon duly elected as Members of the said Assembly for the said Electoral District; and the said Returning Officer afterwards endorsed on the writ for the said election the names of the said James Henry Young and Hugh Mackinnon as the persons so elected, and returned the said writ to your Excellency.

5. That certain persons were by the Returning Officer of the said Electoral District of The Hastings and Manning appointed as presiding officers at the various polling-places for the purpose of taking the poll.

6. That at the time of such election the said Returning Officer did cause to be printed ballot-papers according to the form prescribed in Schedule I to the Electoral Act of 1880, 44 Vic. No. 13, and did supply the said presiding officers with such ballot-papers for the purposes of the said election.

7. That at several of the polling-places in the said electorate votes were declared informal which were not informal, and which should have been counted in favour of your Petitioner, and against the said Hugh Mackinnon.

8. That your Petitioner, pursuant to the said Electoral Act of 1880, has caused the sum of one hundred pounds to be paid into the Commercial Banking Company of Australia to the credit of the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, in relation to this Petition, and the bank deposit receipt for such payment is hereto annexed.

9. Your Petitioner, therefore, humbly prays that this Petition may be dealt with according to law, and that the return of the said Hugh Mackinnon as a Member of the said Legislative Assembly for the said Electoral District may be declared null and void for the reason aforesaid; that a scrutiny of all ballot-papers should be made by the Committee of Elections and Qualifications; that for the reason aforesaid it may be declared that the said Hugh Mackinnon was not lawfully elected and is not such Member of the said Legislative Assembly for the said Electoral District; that it may be declared and determined that your Petitioner was duly elected at the said election to serve and be a Member of the said Legislative Assembly for the said Electoral District of The Hastings and Manning, and is entitled to take his seat accordingly in the said Assembly; and that such further or other order and determination may be made in the premises as may be just.

And your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.

Sydney, the 6th (sixth) day of July, A.D. 1891.

"BALLOT-PAPERS missing from package from Laurieton polling-place. Can you explain? Reply.

"F. W. WEBB,

"Clerk of Legislative Assembly,

"14 August, 1891."

"Telegram

"Telegram from Port Macquarie Station, addressed to F. W. Webb, Esq., Clerk of Legislative Assembly.

"HAVE found parcel endorsed ballot-papers, only, from Laurieton; presume they are the missing papers; thought they were the unused ballot-papers; have posted them to-night.

" JAMES M'INHERNEY,
" Returning Officer."

" F. W. Webb, Esq.,

" Sir,

" Port Macquarie, 15 August, 1891.

" Your wire, re the ballot-papers from Laurieton, caused me considerable anxiety when received, for I felt sure I had sent all my returns away correctly, and can only account for it in this way: My instructions to my presiding officers have been to make up in one package for transmission to you the roll, ballot-papers, and state of poll-sheet as used by them at their various polling-places. It appears to me that the officer at Laurieton has not done so in this case, as he sent in two packages. The larger one I sent on to you, feeling sure it contained all the papers used for taking the poll at Laurieton, and the smaller one, I presumed from the indorsement, to contain only the unused ballot-papers, and I put it away amongst other packages of that sort which were returned to me by other officers, and which were endorsed thus: 'Ballot-papers unused at Cooperbrook,' and so on, and this kind of package I did not think it necessary for me to forward on to you, but I put them away carefully amongst my other official papers. I sincerely hope the package forwarded on by me to you will be found to contain the missing papers, and if not I cannot have ever received them. I am very sorry over this matter altogether.

" I am, &c.,

" JAMES M'INHERNEY,
" Returning Officer, Hastings and Manning."

4. Frederick William Webb, Esquire, Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, called in and further examined. Witness produced sealed package endorsed as containing "Ballot-papers," Laurieton polling-place. Witness withdrew.

5. Committee resumed the scrutiny of the ballot-papers.

6. Room cleared.

7. Committee deliberated; and the scrutiny being concluded the Chairman read the result, as follows:—

For Mr. Young	1,244	Votes.
For Mr. Vivian	1,230	„
For Mr. McKinnon	1,237	„
For Mr. Ruthven	1,198	„
Informal	18	„

8. Committee deliberated as to Report.

Mr. FitzGerald moved,—

"That Hugh McKinnon, Esquire, one of the sitting Members has been duly elected as a Member for the Electoral District of The Hastings and Manning."

Question put and passed.

9. Parties called in and informed.

10. Mr. Garland addressed the Committee in opposition to the award of costs to the sitting Member, or of a penalty against the Petitioner.

11. Mr. McKinnon addressed the Committee in support of the Committee awarding him costs in the case.

12. Room cleared; Committee deliberated.

Mr. FitzGerald moved,—

"That the Petition of Walter Hussey Vivian, Esquire, is frivolous and vexatious."

Mr. Hugh McKinnon, the Sitting Member, appeared in person.

Frederick William Webb, Esq., Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, sworn and examined:—

1. Chairman.] Do you produce the writ for the election of the Hastings and Manning? I produce the writ issued by his Excellency the Governor on the 8th June, of the present year, for the election of two Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly for the electoral district of the Hastings and Manning, with the Returning Officer's certificate thereon, of the election of James Henry Young and Hugh McKinnon to serve as such Members. F. W. Webb, Esq.
13 Aug., 1891.
2. Have these two Members so returned subscribed the oath and taken their seats as Members of the Legislative Assembly? They have.
3. Are they still Members? They are.
4. Do you produce the ballot-papers used in the election? I produce a large bundle endorsed as containing "Ballot-papers and returns, Hastings and Manning Electorate," and signed by the Returning Officer.
5. You are the proper officer to take charge of these ballot-papers? Yes; and I am required by law to keep them for five years.
6. Have they been in your undisturbed possession since they were forwarded to you by the Returning Officer? They have.
7. And they are in the same state now as when received by you? Exactly the same state.
8. And the seals are intact? Yes, the seals are unbroken.

Walter Hussey Vivian, Esq., sworn and examined:—

9. Mr. Garland.] You are the petitioner in this case? I am.
10. Is the petition produced the petition presented by you, and is the signature attached your signature? Yes; this is the petition, and the signature is mine. W. H. Vivian,
Esq.
13 Aug., 1891.
11. You were a candidate at the recent election for the Hastings and Manning? I was.
12. At the time of the election were you duly qualified as a candidate? I was.
13. And you are still qualified? Yes.
14. Will you explain to the Committee the grounds on which you base the allegation contained in paragraph 7 of your petition? I was informed by several of my scrutineers that certain votes were declared informal which they protested were formal. They protested against these votes being declared informal.
15. More than five votes? Yes.
16. Were you informed in whose favour these votes, which the scrutineers believed to be formal, and which were declared informal, were recorded? They were recorded in my favour. I was also informed by the scrutineers that certain votes given in favour of the respondent were declared formal which should have been declared informal.
17. Have you any other statement on which you base the allegation in your petition? I have other statements, but as I did not put them in the petition I cannot bring them forward. I received letters from scrutineers and others containing allegations which they said would prove to be correct; but these refer more particularly to the converse of the allegation in paragraph 7.
18. You desire a scrutiny of the votes? I do.
19. Mr. McKinnon.] I understand that you have no real evidence to place before the Committee that such discrepancies as you allege actually took place—it is mere hearsay, I understand? Yes; simply hearsay from my scrutineers.
20. Mr. Cullen.] When you say "hearsay," are the Committee to understand that this came to you as casual gossip, or did these scrutineers make direct statements to you? They made direct statements to me on the night of the polling-day, and also on the Monday following. I happened to be at Port Macquarie on the polling-day, and on the following Monday I was at Taree.

- W. H. Vivian, Esq.
18 Aug., 1891.
21. Mr. Donald.] Could you say at which polling-places this occurred? More particularly at Coolongook. There, I am credibly informed, more than ten or fifteen votes which should have been counted in my favour, were not so counted.
22. Did a similar thing occur at any other of the polling-places? Yes, I heard that at Telegraph Point there were discrepancies and informalities. I am also informed that at Clarkson's Crossing, at Forster, and at Laurieton there were discrepancies. I myself was in one polling-place—at Wauchope—when, after the papers had been tied up, there was some little argument about a vote as to which they did not agree, and this vote was given in favour of one of the other candidates. I may say that as far as Forster is concerned I had no scrutineer there. It was mere rumour, and perhaps it is outside my allegation. I could not say definitely as to Forster, because I had no scrutineer there.
23. Chairman.] Were you in the polling-booth at Wauchope during the time that the polling was going on? No, I was in the booth afterwards—after the votes had been counted up. There was a discrepancy of two votes. It was first telegraphed on the Saturday night that I had lost by three votes, but on the Monday morning it appeared that I was a loser by five votes, and I think that that one vote did it. I simply instance this to show that the irregularity that occurred at that place might have occurred at all the other polling-places.
24. Do I understand you to say that you saw one of the ballot-papers, and that they were discussing whether it was formal or informal? I did not see any of the papers, but there was a discussion as to whether one of the candidates ought to have had a certain number or one more.
25. It was a mere question of counting then? Yes, and I thought that that made the difference between the three and the five votes. It was very dark at the time the votes were made up. It was a wet dark day and they were in a great hurry to make the votes up, and the name of Ruthven and Vivian are rather similar, and I think that is how the mistake occurred, and why I think that in one or two instances votes which should have been given to me were given to Mr. Ruthven.
26. You are not calling any witnesses? I do not wish to upset the election at all? I did not wish to put the country to any expense. I could have had evidence to prove that there was double voting, but I do not wish to bring it forward.
27. Dr. Ross.] Did you receive your information from the scrutineers by letter or personally? I received it by word of mouth from the scrutineers at the polling-places I have mentioned.

TUESDAY, 18 AUGUST, 1891.

Present:—

Mr. Cullen,
Mr. Donald,

Dr. Ross,
Mr. Suttor,

Mr. R. G. D. FitzGerald,

Francis Bathurst Suttor, Esq., in the Chair.

Frederick William Webb, Esq., Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, recalled and further examined:—

- F. W. Webb, Esq.
18 Aug., 1891.
28. Chairman.] Have you had any communication with the Returning Officer for the Hastings and Manning election? Yes. A telegram was sent to him, calling his attention to the fact that the balloting-papers for Laurieton had not been received, and in reply a telegram was received informing me that the Returning Officer had discovered the missing balloting-papers, and I received this parcel [produced], supposed to contain the balloting-papers referred to in his telegram, and also in a letter of explanation which I received with the parcel yesterday morning. I now produce the papers. They are in the same condition as when received by me, the seal being unbroken. I also produce the letter of explanation from the Returning Officer, which I received with the parcel of balloting-papers.

8. ELECTION PETITION (Canterbury):—Sir Henry Parkes, by command, laid upon the Table an Election Petition, which had been addressed to His Excellency the Governor from James Eve, alleging that at the last General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly Petitioner was one of the candidates duly nominated for the Electoral District of Canterbury, when a poll was demanded; that the Petitioner was duly qualified to be elected; that the Returning Officer certified to the return of Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler, as duly elected; that Petitioner is advised and believes that the said John Wheeler is unduly elected, and that he, the Petitioner, should be declared elected, or a new election ordered, upon the grounds (1) That at Canterbury Polling Booth a number of Ballot Papers used were in writing and not printed, and that such Ballot Papers were not issued by the Returning Officer to the Presiding Officer; (2) That the Marrickville Polling Booth was not opened until twenty minutes past eight o'clock, and consequently some electors were unable to vote; (3) That certain votes were rejected as informal which should count as votes to Petitioner; (4) That the votes have not been correctly counted; (5) That at Five Dock Polling Booth the said John Wheeler was given one more vote than he was entitled to, and your Petitioner was deprived of one; and (6) That the election was otherwise irregularly conducted; and praying that the said John Wheeler may be declared to be unduly elected as a Member to serve in the said Assembly, and that Petitioner may be declared elected as such Member, or that a new election may be ordered to take place.
Ordered to lie on the Table

VOTES NO. 3. THURSDAY, 16 JULY, 1891.

3. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—
(1.) Mr. Speaker stated that two of the Members appointed by him to serve on the Committee of Elections and Qualifications having intimated that they could not attend, he withdrew his Warrant dated yesterday.

- (2.) Mr. Speaker then, pursuant to the requirements of the Electoral Act of 1880, laid upon the Table his Warrant (in lieu of the Warrant laid upon the Table yesterday) appointing the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, of which the following is a copy:—

“ *By the Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly
of New South Wales.* ”

“ PURSUANT to the power in that behalf vested in me, as Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, by the Electoral Act of 1880, I do hereby appoint—

“ James Inglis, Esquire,	“ Bernhard Ringrose Wise, Esquire,
“ William Alfred Murphy, Esquire,

“ being Members of the said Assembly, to be Members of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications in the said Act referred to, during the present Session of the Assembly aforesaid.

“ Given under my hand, at the Legislative Assembly Chamber, Macquarie-street, Sydney,
“ this sixteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and “ ninety-one.

“ J. P. ABBOTT,
“ Speaker.”

VOTES No. 7. WEDNESDAY, 29 JULY, 1891.

3. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—

(1.) Mr. Speaker informed the House that he had received a letter from James Inglis, Esquire, resigning his appointment as a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications.

(2.) Mr. Speaker then, pursuant to the requirements of the Electoral Act of 1880, laid upon the Table his Warrant, appointing Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, of which the following is a copy:—

“ By the Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales. ”

“ PURSUANT to the power in that behalf vested in me, as Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, by the Electoral Act of 1880, I do hereby appoint—

“ Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire,

“ being a Member of the said Assembly, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications in the said Act referred to, during the present Session of the Assembly aforesaid, in room of James Inglis, Esquire, resigned.

“ Given under my hand, at the Legislative Assembly Chamber, Macquarie-street, Sydney,
“ this twenty-ninth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and “ ninety-one.

“ J. P. ABBOTT,
“ Speaker.”

6. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—

(1.) Maturity of Warrant reported:—Mr. Speaker reported that his Warrant, appointing the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, laid upon the Table on Thursday, 16th July, 1891, not having been disapproved by the Assembly in the course of the three next sitting days on which the Assembly met for the despatch of business, had now taken effect as an appointment of such Committee; and intimated that it was therefore open to Members of the Committee to be sworn at the Table by the Clerk, in accordance with the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880.

(2.) Members Sworn:—Joseph Francis Cullen, Esquire, George Donald, Esquire, William Alfred Murphy, Esquire, Andrew Ross, Esquire, M.D., Francis Bathurst Suttor, Esquire, and Bernhard Ringrose Wise, Esquire, came to the Table, and were sworn by the Clerk as Members of the Committee.

8. ELECTION PETITIONS:—Sir Henry Parkes moved, That the following Election Petitions be referred to the Committee of Elections and Qualifications:—

* * * * *

(2.) From James Eve, with reference to the Election and Return of Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler as Members for the Electoral District of Canterbury, laid upon the Table of this House on 15th July, 1891.

COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—

(1.) Maturity of Warrant reported:—Mr. Speaker reported that his Warrant, laid upon the Table on the 29th July last, appointing Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, not having been disapproved by the Assembly in the course of the three next sitting days on which the Assembly met for the despatch of business, had now taken effect; and intimated that it was therefore open to Mr. FitzGerald to be sworn at the Table by the Clerk, in accordance with the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880. (2.)

(2.) Appointment of first meeting of Committee:—Pursuant to the requirement of the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880, Mr. Speaker appointed the first meeting of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications to take place at half-past eleven o'clock a.m. on Wednesday next, the 12th instant, in Committee Room No. 1.

12. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, came to the Table, and was sworn by the Clerk as a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications.

VOTES NO. 22. WEDNESDAY, 2 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

11. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS—(Election Petition—Eve v. Wheeler, Canterbury):—Mr. Suttor, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table, the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Committee of Elections and Qualifications, to whom was referred, on the 29th July, 1891, the Petition of James Eve in reference to the election and return of Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler, as Members for the Electoral District of Canterbury.

And the said Report was read at length by the Clerk, by direction of Mr. Speaker, as follows:—

“The Committee of Elections and Qualifications, duly appointed on 16th July, 1891, to whom was referred, on 29th July, 1891, a Petition from James Eve alleging that at the last General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly Petitioner was one of the candidates duly nominated for the Electoral District of Canterbury, when a poll was demanded; that the Petitioner was duly qualified to be elected; that the Returning Officer certified to the return of Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler, as duly elected; that Petitioner is advised and believes that the said John Wheeler is, unduly elected, and that he, the Petitioner, should be declared elected, or a new election ordered, upon the grounds (1) That at Canterbury Polling Booth a number of ballot-papers used were in writing and not printed, and that such ballot-papers were not issued by the Returning Officer to the Presiding Officer; (2) That the Marrickville Polling Booth was not opened until twenty minutes past eight o'clock, and consequently some electors were unable to vote; (3) That certain votes were rejected as informal which should count as votes to Petitioner; (4) That the votes have not been correctly counted; (5) That at Five Dock Polling Booth the said John Wheeler was given one more vote than he was entitled to, and your Petitioner was deprived of one; and (6) That the election was otherwise irregularly conducted; and praying that the said John Wheeler may be declared to be unduly elected as a Member to serve in the said Assembly, and that Petitioner may be declared elected as such Member, or that a new election may be ordered to take place,—have determined and do hereby declare:—

1. “That John Wheeler, Esquire, who was returned as elected by the Returning Officer, was not duly elected as a Member of the Legislative Assembly for the Electoral District of Canterbury.

2. That James Eve, Esquire, who was not returned by the Returning Officer, was duly elected as a Member of the Legislative Assembly for the Electoral District of Canterbury.

3. That the Petition is not frivolous or vexatious.

4. That the Committee make no award as to costs.

MINUTES OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS.

In the matter of the Election Petition, which had been addressed to His Excellency the Governor, from James Eve, alleging that at the last General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly Petitioner was one of the candidates duly nominated for the Electoral District of Canterbury, when a poll was demanded; that the Petitioner was duly qualified to be elected; that the Returning Officer certified to the return of Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler, as duly elected; that Petitioner is advised and believes that the said John Wheeler is unduly elected, and that he, the Petitioner, should be declared elected, or a new election ordered, upon the grounds (1) That at Canterbury Polling Booth a number of Ballot Papers used were in writing and not printed, and that such Ballot Papers were not issued by the Returning Officer to the Presiding Officer; (2) That the Marrickville Polling Booth was not opened until twenty minutes past eight o'clock, and consequently some electors were unable to vote; (3) That certain votes were rejected as informal which should count as votes to Petitioner; (4) That the votes have not been correctly counted; (5) That at Five Dock Polling Booth the said John Wheeler was given one more vote than he was entitled to, and your Petitioner was deprived of one; and (6) That the election was otherwise irregularly conducted; and praying that the said John Wheeler may be declared to be unduly elected as a Member to serve in the said Assembly, and that Petitioner may be declared elected as such Member, or that a new election may be ordered to take place.

WEDNESDAY, 19 AUGUST, 1891.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Suttor in the Chair.

Mr. Donald,
Mr. Murphy,
Mr. Wise,

Dr. Ross,
Mr. R. G. D. FitzGerald,
Mr. Cullen.

In attendance,—

The Acting Second Clerk Assistant.

1. The Clerk, by direction of the Chairman, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were confirmed.
 2. The Clerk, by direction of the Chairman, read the entry from Votes and Proceedings, by which the Petition of James Eve was referred to the Committee. [Vide Extract, page 4.]
 3. The Clerk then, by direction of the Chairman, read the Petition of James Eve (together with the accompanying bank deposit receipt), so referred to the Committee, as follows:—
- To His Excellency the Right Honorable Victor Albert George Child-Villiers, Earl of Jersey, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

The humble Petition of James Eve, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, Esquire,—

SHOWETH:—

1. That at the last General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly of the said Colony, Joseph Hector Carruthers, Cornelius James Danahey, Thomas Bavister, John Wheeler, Griffith Evan Russell Jones, William Henson, William Webster, John Grant, and your Petitioner were severally candidates to be elected as Members of the said Assembly for the Electoral District of Canterbury.
2. That at the nomination for the said election each of them, Joseph Hector Carruthers, Cornelius James Danahey, Thomas Bavister, John Wheeler, Griffith Evan Russell Jones, William Henson, William Webster, John Grant, and your Petitioner were duly nominated and proposed as such Members; and the Returning Officer then called for a show of hands separately in favour of each candidate, and upon the same taking place declared the show of hands to be in favour of Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and your Petitioner, whereupon a poll was demanded on behalf of John Wheeler, which was afterwards taken.
3. That before and at the time of the said nomination, and from thence, your Petitioner was and is a person duly qualified by law to be elected a Member of the said Legislative Assembly.
4. That the Returning Officer on the day of the declaration of the poll for the said Electoral District declared the number of votes polled for the respective candidates to be as follows:—
 - Joseph Hector Carruthers, seven thousand two hundred and thirty-one votes.
 - Thomas Bavister, four thousand four hundred and forty-nine votes.
 - Cornelius James Danahey, four thousand three hundred and seventy-five votes.
 - John Wheeler, four thousand three hundred and forty-six votes.
 - For your Petitioner, four thousand three hundred and forty-four votes.
 - John Grant, three thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven votes.
 - Griffith Evan Russell Jones, three thousand six hundred and ninety votes.
 - William Henson, two thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven votes.
 - William Webster, one thousand four hundred and seventeen votes.

And

And thereupon declared the said Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler to be duly elected as Members of the said Assembly for the said Electoral District; and the said Returning Officer afterwards endorsed on the writ for the said election the names of the said Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler as the persons so elected, and returned the said writ to your Excellency.

5. Your Petitioner states that he is advised and believes that the said John Wheeler is unduly elected, and that your Petitioner should be declared elected, or a new election ordered, upon the following grounds:—

- (a) That the provisions of the Electoral Act were disregarded at the Polling Booth, Canterbury, in respect of a number of ballot-papers used at that booth were in writing and not printed, and that such ballot papers were not issued to the Presiding Officer at the said booth by the Returning Officer.
- (b) That a place called Marrickville was duly appointed a place at which a poll was to be taken at the said election, and that the Polling Booth at that place was not opened until twenty minutes past eight o'clock a.m. on the day of polling, instead of eight o'clock as prescribed by the Act, consequently some electors were unable to record their votes at that place.
- (c) That certain votes were rejected as informal which should count as votes to your Petitioner.
- (d) That the votes have not been correctly counted.
- (e) That a place called Five Dock was duly appointed a place at which a poll was to be taken at the said election, and at the Polling Booth in that place the said John Wheeler was given 50 votes, being one vote more than that to which he was entitled, viz., 49, and your Petitioner was deprived of one, making the total votes recorded in his favour 57 instead of 58.
- (f) That otherwise the election was irregularly conducted.

6. That your Petitioner has deposited the sum of £100 (one hundred pounds) in the Federal Bank to the credit of the Speaker as required by law; and a deposit receipt therefor is hereunto annexed.

Your Petitioner humbly prays that the said John Wheeler may be declared to be unduly elected as a Member to serve in the said Assembly, and that your Petitioner may be declared elected as such Member, or that a new election may be ordered to take place.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

Dated this the twenty-fourth day of June, A.D. 1891.

Duplicate.

JAMES EVE.

Sydney, 22nd June, 1891.

PAID to the credit of the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly with the Federal Bank of Australia (Limited), Sydney, the sum of one hundred pounds, by J.H.S., Teller.

JAMES EVE, per W.W.

4. The Clerk submitted a letter from the Honorable the Speaker, enclosing a certified copy of a letter he had received from John Wheeler, Esquire, giving notice of his intention to defend his Seat, which he read as follows:—

“Legislative Assembly Chamber,

“Sydney, 4 August, 1891.

“To the Committee of Elections and Qualifications,— “Gentlemen,

“I have the honor to transmit to you herewith a copy of a letter which has been received by me from John Wheeler, Esquire, one of the sitting Members for Canterbury, giving notice of his intention to defend his return, against which a Petition is now under your consideration.

“I have, &c.,

“J. P. ABBOTT,

“Speaker.”

[Enclosure.]

Sir,

In accordance with the 67th clause of the Electoral Act of 1880, I have the honor to inform you that it is my intention to defend my seat as a Member for the Electoral District of Canterbury, before the Committee of Elections and Qualifications, to whom was referred a Petition from James Eve, touching the validity of my election and return as a Member for the said Electoral District.

ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS.

ELECTION PETITION—EVE v. WHEELER—CANTERBURY.

WEDNESDAY, 19 AUGUST, 1891.

Present:—

Mr. Cullen, Mr. Donald, Mr. R. G. D. Fitzgerald,		Dr. Ross, Mr. Suttor, Mr. Wise,
Mr. W. Murphy.

F. B. Suttor, Esq., in the Chair.

Mr. M. A. Williamson, solicitor, appeared on behalf of the Petitioner. Mr. Wheeler, the sitting Member, appeared in person.

Frederick William Webb, Esq., Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, sworn and examined:—

1. Chairman.] Do you produce the writ for the Canterbury election? I produce a writ issued by His Excellency the Governor, on the 8th June last, for the election of four Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly for the electoral district of Canterbury, with a certificate endorsed thereon, signed by the Returning Officer of the election of Joseph Hector Carruthers, Thomas Bavister, Cornelius James Danahey, and John Wheeler. F. W. Webb, Esq.
19 Aug., 1891.
2. Have these gentlemen been sworn as Members of the Legislative Assembly? They have been sworn, and have taken their seats as Members.
3. And are they now sitting? Yes.
4. Can you produce the documents with reference to the election which you received from the Returning Officer? I produce a large box, endorsed as containing "Ballot-papers for the electoral district of Canterbury," and signed by the Returning Officer. The box has been in my charge ever since it was received.

Mr. James Eve sworn and examined:—

5. Chairman.] I understand that you were a candidate at the recent Canterbury election? Yes.
6. You have presented a petition asking for a recount of the votes recorded at that election? Yes.
7. At the time of the election were you duly qualified as a candidate? Yes.
8. And you are now qualified? I am.
9. You have presented this petition and paid the necessary amount required by the Act? Yes.
10. Have you anything to say in support of your petition? I have nothing to say. I think Mr. Williamson has said all that is necessary.
11. You know nothing personally with regard to the informalities of which you complain? No.
12. And you give no evidence yourself in support of the petition? No.

Mr. J. Eve.
19 Aug., 1891.

Mr. John Henry King sworn and examined:—

13. Mr. Williamson.] Where do you reside? At Ashfield.
14. What is your occupation? I am a produce merchant and commission agent.
15. Did you act as scrutineer for Mr. Eve at the last Canterbury election? I did.
16. At what polling-booth? Five Dock.
17. Who was the presiding officer? Mr. Croker.
18. Who was his poll-clerk? Mr. Alderton.
19. They were both aged men, were they not? Yes.
20. Very old? Yes. I take the poll-clerk to be about 82; in fact, I feel certain he said that was his age at the time; and the presiding officer, I should think, was about 79.
21. Were you present at the count at the close of the poll? Yes.
22. Is that your tally-sheet [produced] ? Yes.
23. Did anything arise between you and the presiding officer with regard to the count? Well, about the fifth tally for Mr. Eve, Mr. Wheeler's scrutineer and myself called out "tally."
24. Tally for whom? Tally for Mr. Eve. The poll-clerk and the assistant poll-clerk said they only had four marked down for Mr. Eve, and we stopped for a few moments. They seemed to think they were right, and, of course, Mr. Wheeler's scrutineer and myself thought we were right, and we stood by that, and we both put queries at the top of Mr. Eve's name. You will see the query marked on the tally-sheet.

Mr.
J. H. King.
19 Aug., 1891.

- Mr. J. H. King.
19 Aug., 1891.
25. What do you mean when you say that both you and Mr. Wheeler's scrutineer thought you were right? Not having five down to Mr. Eve, and, of course, they had four. We went on for a little while, and in about another tally the two poll-clerks called out "tally" for Mr. Wheeler, and we only had four down for Mr. Wheeler.
26. Were the votes recounted at all? No.
27. Did anything arise between the poll-clerks and the presiding officer during the count? No.
28. With regard to going too slowly or too quickly? Well, the poll-clerk every now and again seemed to be very backward. He could not keep up with the presiding officer, and we had to stop on several occasions to let him catch up.
29. In your opinion, as scrutineer at that count, did the discrepancy between the tallies affect either of the candidates? I believe if the votes were recounted it would be found that one would be taken from Mr. Wheeler and put on to Mr. Eve. I feel positive about that.
30. Mr. Fitzgerald.] Did the poll-clerk sign the statement? Yes; they all signed the sheet.
31. Did the scrutineers sign the sheet? Yes; we all signed it.
32. That is, you all agreed to the numbers as then found? Yes.
33. Chairman.] That is the official sheet as distinct from this tally? Yes.
34. Mr. Fitzgerald.] The official sheet that went on to the Returning Officer? Yes.
35. Mr. Cullen.] Did you, as a scrutineer for Mr. Eve, make any formal protest? No.
36. How many scrutineers were there inside? There were two. One was acting for Mr. Wheeler, and I think also for one of the other candidates, and there was myself acting for Mr. Eve.
37. Chairman.] Two scrutineers, and how many poll-clerks? Two.
38. Mr. Fitzgerald.] So that the official statement bore the signatures of five officials who were acting at the polling-booth? Yes.
39. Chairman.] You say you did not make any formal protest on behalf of Mr. Eve? No, I did not.
40. Did I understand you to say that you asked the presiding officer to re-count the votes? No, I did not ask him. We stopped for about three or four minutes in reference to the matter, and the presiding officer seemed to "hum" and "haw" about it, and ultimately said that we must go on, that he was right and we must be wrong. He took it for granted that because his poll-clerks both agreed they must be right and we must be wrong. Of course that was only his idea. He did not seem inclined to go over the votes again. He said, "We will go on and proceed."
41. Mr. Wheeler.] Did not my scrutineer agree with the tally of the poll-clerk? No, he agreed with me.
42. Mr. Donald.] Was the assistant poll-clerk an old man? No, he was very young—just the reverse; and at the beginning he seemed completely at sea; he did not understand what he had to do.
43. Mr. Wheeler.] You say that the poll-clerk was 82 years of age, and the presiding officer 79? Yes, I should take those to be their respective ages.
44. Are you quite sure they are not both under 60 years of age? They are not under 60 years of age—there is no possible doubt about that. But the second poll-clerk did not understand what he had to do when he first started, and until he got to about the centre he was very much out.

Mr. Thomas Edwards called in, sworn, and examined:—

- Mr. T. Edwards.
19 Aug., 1891.
45. Mr. Williamson.] Where do you reside? At Croydon.
46. What is your occupation? I am an ironmonger.
47. Did you act as scrutineer for Mr. Eve at the last Canterbury election? Yes.
48. At what polling-booth? Ashfield.
49. That was the principal polling-booth I believe? Yes.
50. At the close of the poll who called out the names at the count? The presiding officer.
51. And who took them down? The poll-clerk.
52. Do you know who the presiding officer was? No, I do not remember his name.
53. Were you acting as scrutineer in any particular portion of the principal booth? I was next to the Returning Officer all day.
54. In the same booth as the Returning Officer? Yes.
55. During the time the presiding officer was reading out the votes were any complaints made to him by the poll-clerk? Yes.
56. What were they? That he was reading them out too fast.
57. Did the poll-clerk ask him to do anything then? He said to him, "Hold hard a bit; I am a bit behind hand." On two occasions that remark was made.
58. Was the presiding officer ever ahead of the poll-clerk? Well, I could not definitely say that, but that was what I heard the poll-clerk say—that he was behind.
59. Did you at any time hear the poll-clerks make any remarks about missing votes? No.
60. How many times were the votes called over? Once.
61. Was the presiding officer asked to re-count the votes? No.
62. Were the votes re-counted? No.
63. Were they checked in any way? Only the informal votes.
64. But I mean the votes generally? No; they were not.
65. Did all the scrutineers present sign the return? No; there was one objection.
66. Was that person asked by the presiding officer to sign? Yes.
67. More than once? I could not positively say whether he was asked more than once, but he was certainly asked once.
68. During the count was there any noise or confusion in the booth? Yes; a great noise.
69. Do you know the cause of that? There were people on the top of the booth and on the hustings, and all round, and there was a noise outside.
70. People were all round the booth? Yes. Regular confusion.
71. Was there any noise or confusion in the booth itself? Yes.
72. Do you know the cause of that? There were too many people there.
73. Do you know if anybody came into that particular portion of the booth after the polling closed? Yes.

Mr.
T. Edwards.
19 Aug., 1891.

74. Many persons? The presiding officers and poll-clerks came in with their returns from the other districts, and as they came in they stayed in.
75. Anybody else in besides them? Yes; there were other people in who had nothing to do with the polling at all.
76. Were there any persons in the room after the poll closed who were not present at the polling as officials? Yes.
77. Was any objection taken to the count made by the presiding officer; did it agree with anyone's? No; it did not agree with anyone's. There was one man tallying it. We were all tallying it; but we were not given time to finish our tallies. One man at the top of the table had it finished first, but who he was I do not know. I had not seen him in the booth all day, and it was he whom the presiding officer questioned whether he made it tally, and he did not, and they talked the thing over, and I cannot remember everything that passed, but eventually they decided on their own paper.
78. Who—the presiding officer? Yes.
79. Do you know if it were possible for any one to look into the particular booth where you were without going through the doorway? Yes, quite possible; in fact you could see their heads from the inside. You could see the people outside looking into the booth right along the back. I could see them quite distinctly, because I was sitting opposite.
80. I do not suppose the crowd round the booth were very orderly? They were very noisy indeed; in fact they were jumping on the top, and trying to make as much noise as they possibly could. They could not have made much more.
81. With regard to the difference in the tally of votes did the presiding officer appeal to any other person present other than this particular man? No.
82. Was any reason given by the scrutineer who refused to sign the tally why he would not sign it? No, he did not give any reason; he simply said he would not sign it.
83. Do you know whom he represented? He was there in the interests of the labour candidates, Messrs. Bavister, Danahey, and Grant.
84. Mr. Wheeler.] You have just said that at the counting of the ballot-papers in the booth at Ashfield there were other persons present besides the scrutineers and officials; can you name any one person who was there other than these gentlemen? I cannot mention his name; I could identify him.
85. But are you certain he was not a scrutineer? Quite certain.
86. If you are certain can you not give his name? I do not know his name.
87. Were there not a number of scrutineers coming in from other polling-booths with the presiding officers who brought the ballot-boxes? Yes.
88. You also said that at the polling-booth there was an aperture through which you could see the heads of the people. What do you think was the height of the booth from the ground to the roof? I should say between 8 and 9 feet.
89. Are you quite sure it was not 10 feet high? It might have been 10 feet; there is not much difference between 10 feet and 8 or 9 feet, measuring by the eye.
90. Two feet makes a lot of difference for a man to look over? But I had nothing in my road to look over; I gazed straight at them.
91. Are you quite sure it was not 10 feet high? I would not say it was not 10 feet high.
92. If it were 10 feet high how could you see people's heads over the top? But those people were on the steps outside; they were not standing on the ground, they had climbed up. Any one could get there by going to the top of the hustings. There were steps all the way up.
93. Are you aware that there were two policemen at the foot of the stairs who would not allow any one on the steps unless they went right straight up to the top of the hustings? Well, they were not doing their duty then.
94. Chairman.] In reply to Mr. Williamson you said there was no check on the numbers called out by the presiding officer? Yes.
95. Do you mean by that that you did not keep any tallies? We endeavoured to keep a tally. We did keep a tally until they finished calling them out.
96. Did you check the tally? We had not sufficient time.
97. And do I understand you to say that you gave up tallying towards the end, because you could not keep up? No, I tallied right up but I did not catch the votes up—the numbers.
98. What did you mean by saying that the gentleman who sat next the presiding officer had the tally out before you; did you mean that he had his totals counted up? Yes, his totals.
99. And you say that the total made by the gentleman sitting next to the presiding officer—who I suppose was the poll-clerk—did not tally with the total of any of the scrutineers? No, it did not.
100. Were the scrutineers unanimous in their numbers? No.
101. Then neither the scrutineers themselves nor the scrutineers and the poll-clerks agreed? None of them tallied; in fact there was only the one man.
102. All the numbers varied? They had not time to catch them up; they were in the same position as myself. There was only the one man who, as I have said, was really appealed to, and their numbers did not tally with his.
103. Do you recollect if there was any great difference? I cannot remember what the difference was—there was a difference.
104. As regards the candidate for whom you were acting as scrutineer, did you notice if there was any difference between his numbers as recorded by yourself and as given out by the poll-clerk? I had not time to count mine out, so I could not say.
105. Dr. Ross.] At what place in Ashfield was the ballot taken? In the polling-booth under the hustings.
106. Is it the duty of the Returning Officer to collect all the papers after they are returned by the different presiding officers? I believe so.
107. And that was the place where all the ballot-papers were collected? Yes.
108. When the presiding officers came in with their boxes from the other polling-booths after they delivered the boxes, did they remain in the booth or did they leave? They remained in the booth.
109. Did they take any part in the proceedings in the way of counting the papers or keeping any tally? No.

- Mr. T. Edwards.
19 Aug., 1891.
110. Mr. Fitzgerald.] In taking the votes in the first instance, were you acting at the ballot taken before the Returning Officer or before the presiding officer? I was acting with the Returning Officer. After the poll was closed the duty of counting the votes was performed by the presiding officer.
111. And the Returning Officer simply stood by? I think he gave the presiding officer a spell for about a quarter of an hour. I think the Returning Officer found out that the presiding officer was a little quicker than himself and that is the reason why he let him go on with the counting.
112. Mr. Cullen.] I understand that there are several different tables taking different parts of the ballot, and that at the close of the poll all were counted under one presiding officer;—is that so? There was only one long table at which we worked in the daytime.
113. But there were different ballot-boxes? Only two—one at each end.
114. Then the Returning Officer had charge of one and the presiding officer had charge of the other? Yes.
115. And when you came to count the ballot, instead of the contents of these two boxes being counted separately they were all counted under one presiding officer? Yes; the papers were taken out of the boxes and stacked so that they could be taken up neatly and then they were all put together and read off by the presiding officer.
116. So that there was really only one count under the presiding officer? Yes.
117. How many of the officials made a tally distinct from the scrutineers? There was only the one tally.
118. By the poll-clerk? Yes. There were two poll-clerks in the booth all day and one gave the other a spell.
119. But there was only the one official tally? Yes.
120. I understand you to say that only one scrutineer had cast up his figures? I did not say he was a scrutineer—I do not know who he was. I can say that he was not a scrutineer appointed at Ashfield by anyone, because as the scrutineers came in they brought a paper of appointment with them.
121. Chairman.] I understand that this person whom you now say you do not know whether he was a poll-clerk or not was the person who counted up the papers and whose count was received by the presiding officer? No.
122. I understood you to say that one gentleman, whether a scrutineer or not, professed to give a total cast of the figures in addition to the poll-clerk's cast? Yes.
123. And you are certain he was not one of the Ashfield scrutineers? Quite certain.
124. Had any of the Ashfield scrutineers completed a cast up of their figures? No.
125. So that really the official return from Ashfield is a return of the poll-clerk's tally? Yes.
126. Do you know whether the figures cast up by this other gentleman agreed with the poll-clerk's tally? They did not.
127. So that there was really no confirmation whatever of the poll-clerk's tally? None whatever.
128. Dr. Ross.] Was there much difference between the tally of the scrutineers and that of the poll-clerk? I could not say; I do not remember the figures.

Mr. Kenneth Matheson called in, sworn, and examined:—

- Mr. K. Matheson.
19 Aug., 1891.
129. Mr. Williamson.] Where do you reside? In Burwood Road, Enfield.
130. What is your occupation? An accountant.
131. Were you at the Ashfield polling-booth during the last Canterbury election after the poll closed? Yes.
132. Were you inside or outside? Outside.
133. Was there a crowd outside? Yes, a very large crowd.
134. Was there much noise? Oh yes.
135. In your opinion, as a professional man, was it likely to interfere with the business being conducted in the booth? Yes, certainly.
136. Were any persons haranguing the people outside at the time? Yes, and flour and eggs were being thrown about.
137. Anybody upstairs in the booth at all? Yes, several people.
138. Any noise overhead? Yes.
139. At what portion of the booth were you? I was below the stairway leading up to the top. There was a square hole where I could get my head in, and hear all that was going on inside.
140. Did you see anybody make use of that hole? There were several parties besides myself.
141. You made use of it? Yes.
142. Did anybody else? Oh, yes.
143. Can you tell us the number? I saw several—about half a dozen.
144. Did you have any conversation with anybody inside the booth while you had your head at this opening? Yes.
145. Do you know if any of the other persons who had a peep through the opening had any conversation with the people inside—did you see them talking to anybody inside? I could not be positive, there was such a noise and such a crowd.
146. What height was the opening in the booth from the ground? About 8 feet from the ground.
147. How was it reached? There was a tar barrel there.
148. Did the noise round the booth, of which you speak, last any length of time? Yes; I was there from about 7 o'clock until the poll was declared at about a quarter to 11, and there was a tremendous row all the time.
149. Do you think it would interfere with anybody counting inside? Certainly; I could not have counted there, and it must have been especially difficult to the gentlemen who were there, several of whom were very old.
150. Did you see anybody going into the booth at all? Dozens of people went in and out while I was there. I saw people going in and coming out—people who had nothing to do with the election at all—ordinary electors.
151. Was any attempt made by anybody to stop them? Not that I could see.
152. Chairman.] Did you notice any of those persons who were going in and coming out interfere in any way with the gentlemen who were taking the count? Well, they were looking over their shoulders, and they all seemed to be having a general confab.

153. They were all clustered round the officials who were opening the ballot-papers? Yes.
154. Dr. Ross.] Were you ever present at any former election at Ashfield? Yes.
155. Have the elections there been always well conducted? They have been better conducted than the last one.
156. The last one you think was the worst? Oh, yes.
157. Mr. Donald.] Of what was the polling-booth constructed? Wood.
158. Temporary? Yes.
159. And where were the police? They were all about there—all round.
160. Then they must have been neglecting their duty? Yes, there is no mistake about that.
161. Mr. Williamson.] I believe some of the police had a very rough time of it, and were covered with flour? Yes.
- 161½. Mr. Donald.] Did the Returning Officer not give orders that these people should leave the booth? Not that I could hear.
162. Mr. Wheeler.] Were you in the booth at all? No.
163. You say that a number of people were going in and coming out of the booth who were not connected with the election. How do you know they were not connected with the election? I know them personally.
164. Can you name any one whom you saw going in and coming out? I prefer not to mention names.
165. Can you not mention the name of one person—it might turn out that he was a scrutineer? There was Alderman Eaton, of Enfield.
166. Did you see any one else? I did not know their names. I knew them by sight.
167. Was not Alderman Eaton a scrutineer for Mr. Eve at Enfield? No.
168. Was he not one of Mr. Eve's committee or the chairman? No; not that I am aware of.
169. He was not a scrutineer? I do not think he was a scrutineer for anybody.

Mr.
K. Matheson.
19 Aug., 1891.

Mr. William Wood called in, sworn, and examined:—

170. Mr. Williamson] Where do you reside? In Burwood Road, Enfield.
171. What is your occupation? I am an accountant.
172. Were you at the Ashfield polling-booth during the last general election? I was there the whole day.
173. Were you there after the poll closed? I was there until the result was declared.
174. Were you outside the booth or inside? I was outside during the whole time.
175. Did you observe any noise or confusion outside the booth? Yes; outside, and I think inside, too.
176. You heard a row inside and outside? I heard what went on both outside and inside.
177. Was the noise outside such as might interfere with the work being carried on inside? I will give you an illustration if you like: I was standing on this side of the booth; the count was going on inside, and on the opposite side there was a man haranguing the crowd. I could hear the man speaking right through from the opposite side of the booth, and the count was going on in between. When there was a lull in the noise I could hear every name that was read off from the ballot-papers from where I stood.
178. Every name that was called off from the ballot-papers you could hear? I could hear quite distinctly by putting my ear to the aperture which was in the booth. And then at the finish the confusion seemed to be very considerable, and there was no tally.
179. How do you know? I know from the fact that I heard the official who was tallying for the Returning Officer asking another gentleman at the foot of the table what he made it.
180. Did you hear that from the outside? Yes. During the evening when standing outside the door of the polling-booth, I saw a number of gentlemen going in and out. We were rather curious as to who these persons were, and one of the bystanders said he wondered if he could go in, and he went in. We deliberately did the thing. Two of us stayed there, and this gentleman went in and remained there for a certain period, and then came out again and reported himself to us.
181. He went into the booth where the count was taking place? Yes; and he had no connection with the election whatever in any capacity.
182. Beyond being an elector I suppose? I could not say that he was an elector. I could not say what he was.
183. Did you see anybody else besides him go into the booth while the count was going on? I saw a large number of gentlemen going in and out while the count was going on, but I could not say whether or not they were connected with the election. They were continually going in. I observed what I thought was a very peculiar transaction. There was always a stoppage of the count whenever a ballot-box came to hand. I thought it next to impossible that any set of gentlemen, however great their ability might be for counting, could count correctly if they had to stop sixteen times in counting such a large number of votes, and there were sixteen ballot-boxes brought in from the various polling-booths throughout the election. Each time the gentlemen came in with a box—and there were generally two officials—the persons counting stopped the papers and took over the box and then they resumed their count again.
184. As the boxes were brought in they were taken into this particular room? Yes; and the count of the Ashfield votes was for the time-being suspended, and after they had taken the box they resumed the count and went on until another box came, and so on until the end.
185. Do you know Alderman Eaton? I do.
186. Do you know if he was engaged at that election for Mr. Eve in any official capacity? He was engaged in no official capacity. He was engaged to drive his own fast pony to take voters in.
187. He was not a scrutineer? No.
188. Did you see him go into the booth at Ashfield during the count? I did. He went in, and he was in for a while, and when he came out someone said to him, "How did you get in?" And he said, "Oh, in the usual way—bluff." He is a very big man.
189. Chairman.] Did you remain there until they had finished counting the papers? I did.
190. How long did it take? Until after 11 o'clock. The papers were never re-counted, and there was no check upon them whatever, because there was no balance between the poll-clerk and any of the scrutineers. There was no check upon that count whatever, and with the count going on amidst the noise that was there it was quite impossible that any one could do it correctly—at least. I know I would not undertake it.

Mr.
W. Wood.
19 Aug., 1891.

Mr.
W. Wood.
19 Aug., 1891.

191. Dr. Ross.] When the presiding officers from the other polling-booths delivered their boxes with the Returning Officer did they leave immediately or remain inside the booth? So far as I could see they all remained inside. After all the boxes were received the Ashfield votes were the last remaining ones to be counted, and when this was being done there were three or perhaps four people standing round the table looking on; in fact there was quite an excited crowd inside, and I took it that these persons comprised those who came with the ballot-boxes from the other polling-booths. That is the only way I could account for such a large number of people being present.

192. Did you hear any complaint outside about the irregular way in which the poll was taken? Several gentlemen who came out said they did not understand how the officials could get on at all as there were so many people there.

193. There was a doubt in the mind of the public outside as to whether the tally was a correct one? There certainly was a doubt.

194. Largely expressed? It was expressed there and then on the spot, and to show how we doubted it, I may say that the persons counting the votes went from the lower part of the booth upstairs, and I went round to the other side. Then everybody understood that the matter was finished, but a long time elapsed between the time when they went upstairs and when the poll was declared, and one of the scrutineers for the labour candidates called from the front of the hustings, "There is a tie between two." But I could not hear the names.

195. Mr. Murphy.] You say you noticed a lot of persons going inside the booth whom you believe had no official right to go there? I cannot say I noticed a lot of persons who had no official right.

196. You mentioned one person I think? Yes, one.

197. While you were outside did any persons come from within the booth and at various times let the crowd outside know how the poll was going on? Yes.

Mr. Daniel Campbell Macdougall called in, sworn, and examined:—

Mr. D. C.
Macdougall.
19 Aug., 1891.

198. Mr. Williamson.] Where do you reside? In Burton-street, Darlinghurst.

199. Were you a poll-clerk at the polling-booth at the Temperance Hall, Sydney, at the last general election? Yes, I was in the division from S to Z.

200. Who was the presiding officer? Mr. Wilson.

201. Were there any other polling-booths in the hall at the time? Yes, there were four.

202. Close together? No, there was a separation between the whole of the four. Like going up the hall, there was a booth on one side, we were on the other, and then there was one there, and one there [pointing to table].

203. Of what was the booth constructed? Of half-inch lining.

204. Did you remain there after the close of the poll? I did.

205. After the poll closed, and the count commenced, was there any noise? There was an immense amount of noise.

206. Do you know by whom it was created? By Mr. Solomon.

207. Who was he? He was supposed to be the head Returning Officer in the Temperance Hall.

208. Was he not the deputy Returning Officer acting in the Temperance Hall? Yes, he gave me my authority.

209. What noise did he make? He called out the names so loudly that you might have heard him on the other side of the street.

210. You could have heard him outside in Pitt-street? Yes.

211. Was any complaint made about his loud tone of voice? Yes, by my own presiding officer, and by the presiding officer in the next booth.

212. Did he stop? He did not.

213. Did the loud tone of voice he employed in calling out the names interfere in any way with Mr. Wilson? Most decidedly, because Mr. Wilson was a new hand at election work.

214. Did he tell you that himself? He did. He said it was the first time he had ever acted.

215. Was he of a nervous disposition? Very; in fact he made a complaint to Mr. Underwood of the same thing.

216. Who was Mr. Underwood? The Returning Officer for the Electoral District of Canterbury.

217. Was the counting in your booth interfered with in any way by this noise? I think so.

218. Was any delay caused in the counting in the booth? Yes, a great deal of delay.

219. In what way? Mr. Wilson would, perhaps, call "Carruthers, Wheeler," and then he would suddenly stop. After that he would, perhaps, again call "Carruthers, Wheeler, Henson," and so on. Having ticked off the two names, "Carruthers, Wheeler," in the first instance, it is probable that they were ticked off again when they were repeated, as if the votes were fresh ones, whereas it was only a repetition. Seeing that Mr. Wilson was a perfect stranger in the work, I said, "If you will allow Mr. Eve's scrutineer to come and take these votes, I will take the papers out and will put them before you in such order that you may call them out as they come."

220. You have acted at elections for many years, I believe? I have.

221. And I suppose, from your experience, you asked Mr. Wilson if he would permit you to assist him? Yes.

222. What did he say? He did not object. He said, "I am very grateful to you for the assistance."

223. Were the votes ever re-counted? No.

224. Did anybody ask for a recount? No; there was a discrepancy between Mr. Wheeler's scrutineer and ourselves. Mr. Wheeler's scrutineer made the number more than we did.

225. More for whom? For Mr. Wheeler. Of course, he had to come down to our figures.

226. From your experience as a poll-clerk, did you ever know of a previous occasion when there was so much noise in the booth? Never. I have polled in the Town Hall, Redfern; I have polled at the Central Police Court, and at the Glebe and other places, and I have never heard such a noise as I did in the Temperance Hall, Pitt-street.

227. Did anybody ask for a recount of the votes? I do not think so.

228. Were the votes checked in any way? No, they were not checked; they were simply called and counted as they went on.

229. Chairman.] In making up the totals you did not check your total with the totals arrived at by the different scrutineers? We did not.
230. They took yours as the formal count? Yes; that is where the mistake was made.
231. Mr. Williamson.] Were there any informal votes at your booth? Yes.
232. Did you see them? Yes, I saw some.
233. Were they properly called informal votes? I do not think so.
234. Your experience led you to believe that they were not correctly placed as informal? I do not think they were.
235. Chairman.] Were there many of these informal votes? There were a good few in our booth.
236. Was the noise you speak of made entirely by Mr. Solomon? Yes.
237. Did it simply consist in his loud talking? When he was calling out the names his voice was so loud that he could be heard at the other end of Pitt-street.
238. And you think that interfered with the count? I have not the slightest doubt about it. It interfered with ours. Mr. Solomon had from A to F, and we had from S to Z, and all the time Mr. Solomon was calling out, those in the other booth kept saying to him, "Cannot you keep quiet?"
239. Dr. Ross.] Have you any doubt in your mind as to the improper way in which the names on the ballot-papers were counted? I have not.
240. In your opinion which candidate lost by the discrepancies that occurred? I believe that Mr. Eve lost.
241. Mr. Murphy.] After the ballot was made up did you go out to Ashfield? I did not.
242. Mr. Cullen.] You say you believe Mr. Eve was the chief sufferer from the irregularities? I think he was.
243. What ground have you for thinking so? I think that owing to the noise and confusion that took place in the Temperance Hall it was morally impossible to count the votes in a proper manner.
244. But why did Mr. Eve suffer more than any of the other candidates? Well, I have given you one instance. Mr. Wilson would call out to me sometimes "Carruthers, Wheeler." Then he would have to stop owing to the noise, and after I had ticked off those names he would begin again by calling "Carruthers, Wheeler," and so on.
245. You think it probable that some of the votes for Carruthers and Wheeler were counted twice? I do.
246. Chairman.] Do you recollect the order in which the names appeared on the ballot-papers? Carruthers was first, then Wheeler and Jones, Bavister, Danahey, and I fancy Henson was last.
247. You think that in calling over the ballot-papers the Returning Officer would begin to call a paper over and then stop and go back again and call over the names twice? Yes.

Mr. D. C.
Macdougall.

WEDNESDAY, 2 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

Mr. Cullen, Mr. R. G. D. Fitzgerald, Dr. Ross,	Present: F. B. Suttor, Esq., in the Chair.	Mr. Donald, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Suttor.
---	---	--

Mr. M. A. Williamson, Solicitor, appeared on behalf of the petitioner. Mr. Wheeler, the sitting member, appeared in person.

Mr. Frederick Alexander Morgan sworn and examined:—

248. Chairman.] Were you acting in an official capacity at the late Canterbury election? Yes; I was Presiding Officer at Petersham.
249. Duly appointed by the Returning Officer? Yes.
250. And you made the usual declaration, I suppose? Yes.
251. Mr. Wheeler.] Do you know whether there was any irregularity at Petersham so far as the conduct of the election was concerned? Not that I am aware of.
252. Nothing inside that you are aware of? Nothing.
253. Do you know of any alteration being effected with regard to ballot-papers? There was an alteration in one, which I initialled. It was the ballot-paper of a person who voted openly and gave the wrong name when instructing me as to whom he wanted to vote for. I underlined the name I had struck out by mistake and initialled it. I do not remember now which one it was, but I know there was one voting paper of that kind.
254. And you allowed the initialled vote? Yes. The scrutineers and the poll-clerks approved of the proceeding.
255. Were any of your ballot-papers in a dilapidated or torn condition? I think there were one or two torn papers. I know there was one. I fancy there were two.
256. Can you describe the one to us? It appeared to have been stuffed into the ballot-box without being folded up, and it was torn; but all the pieces were there. When the ballot-box was opened and the votes were being sorted the whole of the pieces were there, and consequently I allowed the vote to be counted.
257. Did you call anybody's attention to the ballot-paper being torn? Certainly. I called the attention of the scrutineers and the poll-clerks to the fact.
258. And the pieces were there? Yes.
259. What did you do with the pieces? I folded them and put them with the other papers.
260. When you counted them? Yes.
261. Are you sure you initialled all the ballot-papers you issued? Quite sure.
262. Was the one that was torn initialled? I do not remember noticing particularly in reference to the torn one; but I am quite certain that no ballot-paper was issued that was not initialled.
263. You said you had the pieces? We folded together the pieces of the one that was torn, and put it with the other ballot-papers.

Mr.
F. A. Morgan,
2 Sept., 1891.

Mr.
F. A. Morgan.
2 Sept., 1891.

264. Chairman.] Would you describe the way in which the ballot-paper was torn? Instead of being folded in the ordinary way of a ballot-paper, it appeared to me as if it were just rolled up in this way [paper shown] and put into the ballot-box. Whether it was torn when it was put in, or whether it was torn in opening it, I could not say; but when I got it it was in two or three pieces.
265. Were any of the names torn across? That I could not say. I have no recollection as to whom the votes were for. I know there was a ballot-paper so torn that I had to call the attention of two or three of the scrutineers to the fact that this was a torn paper, but that all the pieces were there, and asked them whether they approved of it being counted, as I considered that it ought to be counted, because all the pieces were there. Consequently I allowed it to be counted. No objection was made by any of the scrutineers to the vote. They approved of my action, because, as they said, the whole of the paper was there, only it was mutilated.
266. Could you recollect if any of the names were torn across? I have no recollection.
267. Mr. Wheeler.] Was the paper torn at the bottom or the side? That I could not say. I know there was a paper torn, how it was torn or in what way I have no recollection.
268. But there was one torn paper? There was one. I believe there were two in the Petersham box.
269. Chairman.] Do you think you would recognise the paper again if you saw it? I should think I would, but I would not like to say I should be very certain about it, for I did not take particular notice of it at the time, except that the whole of the paper was there.
270. Mr. Williamson.] Did you, as presiding officer, allow the vote or votes recorded on the torn paper to be counted to the candidate or candidates in whose favour it was given? Yes. I allowed the ballot-paper to be counted as a proper ballot-paper.
271. And you counted it in your official return? I believe so.
272. Mr. Wheeler.] Could you identify the paper? No. I could identify it if my initials were on it, but I do not know that I could identify it in any other way, because there is nothing by which to identify a ballot-paper except the initials.
273. Chairman.] Do you recollect if your initials appeared on the main portion or body of the ballot-paper? I could not say, but I am quite certain that when the ballot-paper was counted the whole of the paper was there, and consequently my initials must have been on it, and I was very particular in examining every ballot-paper as it came out of the box, to see that it had my initials.
274. Mr. Wheeler.] You would not have allowed the vote if the initials had not been on the paper? Certainly not.
275. Mr. Williamson.] You said you believed there were two such papers? I believe there were two more or less mutilated.
276. Were they both initialled by you? Yes; I believe so. I could not of course swear at this particular point whether they were or not, but every ballot-paper I counted was initialled by me.
277. Are you positive there were two of them? No, I am not positive. As far as my recollection serves me I believe there were two more or less torn.
278. Were there more than two? That I could not say. I have no recollection of more than two being torn.
279. Did you allow each of these two ballot-papers to be counted in the way that you previously stated? I believe I did.
280. Are you certain you did? Well, I could not be certain at this time because one of the torn papers, for all I can say at the present time, may have been an informal vote. It might have had five or six names unerased.
281. If you cannot be certain on this point, what makes you positive that you allowed the one vote, and that the paper was initialled by you? All I said, as far as I recollect, was that I only allowed the vote as the paper was complete. I am positive I allowed one vote on a torn paper, but I believe as far as my recollection goes that there were two torn papers. I had over 1,100 votes to count on that evening, and I cannot positively swear now at this lapse of time as to any particular vote in the 1,100. But I did not allow any vote that was at all in dispute without first submitting it to the scrutineers who were present. There were four or five scrutineers present, and three poll-clerks, and no vote was admitted without the agreement of the whole of these parties that it was a correct vote.
282. Mr. FitzGerald.] You swear you showed it to all the scrutineers, and they approved of it? Yes.
283. That is a fact? Yes; that is a fact. At the present time I could not say positively whether or not the torn one was a formal vote.
284. Mr. Murphy.] Did you say you were sure there was only one, or that there were more than one? I believe there were more than one. I am not sure there were two.
285. You say that as far as your recollection serves you the ballot-paper was crumpled up? Yes. My recollection of the ballot-paper is that it was screwed up; and of course it may have been torn by the person who voted before it was put into the box, or it may have been torn in opening it.
286. If there were more than one paper torn would you return them here? Most decidedly. All the papers that were in the box were returned.
287. Mr. FitzGerald.] Every vote that was counted was counted on a paper bearing your initials, or one which, when put together, had your initials upon it? Yes.
288. Mr. Murphy.] In regard to the case in which you said that you rubbed out a name and filled it in again, did it occur to you that it would be a better plan to issue a fresh ballot-paper? I have always had the impression, whether rightly or wrongly, that I could not issue a second ballot-paper. That was the reason. I have acted at a good many elections, and I have had that impression—that I could never issue a second ballot-paper. That was the reason I did not do so.
289. Dr. Ross.] On what part of the ballot-paper did you place your initials? On the right hand corner, at the bottom.
290. On the face of the paper? Yes.
291. If a paper had been torn up, and a portion of it taken away, which did not bear your initials, would you have passed it? No.
292. You would have counted it as informal? Yes.
293. Chairman.] These are some of your ballot-papers, and there is one that is torn? [Paper shown.] I should not have passed that ballot-paper unless the missing pieces were there also; but I believe they were at the time the count was made.

294. Do you identify this paper? I could not identify that particular paper. There is nothing to identify it by.

295. Does that paper have the appearance of having been crumpled up and placed in the box? It could have been crumpled up and flattened out again. All the papers were flattened out in the return, in order to get them within the compass of the envelope that was supplied. I did them up as neatly as I possibly could.

296. You cannot identify this paper? I cannot identify it positively as the paper in dispute. My signature is not on it.

297. Mr. Williamson.] You do not recognise that paper at all? I do not remember whether that is the particular paper I alluded to as having been torn up or not. I know that the paper that was torn had the pieces with it, and was folded up with those pieces inside.

298. Mr. Cullen.] I understand you to say that you are sure of one mutilated paper being passed, and that you think there was another about which you are not so certain? Yes.

299. Do I understand you to say you are certain that one mutilated paper was passed as a good vote for somebody? Yes.

300. Can you say whether this is the one? I could not say positively whether or not that is the one. There was one paper I know that was torn, and the pieces were left in it. At the time it came out of the box it was in that condition [paper shown] with the pieces inside of it, and that vote was allowed, but as to whom it was for, or whether that is the particular paper, I cannot positively swear.

Mr.
F. A. Morgan.

VOTES No. 4. TUESDAY, 21 JULY, 1891.

3. ELECTION PETITION (Illawarra):—Sir Henry Parkes, by command, laid upon the Table an Election Petition which had been addressed to His Excellency the Governor, from Alexander Spence Artis, alleging that at the last General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly of this Colony, Archibald Campbell, Andrew Lysaght, John Barnes Nicholson, Frederick Augustus Franklin, and Thomas Bissell were severally candidates to be elected as Members of the said Assembly for the Electoral District of Illawarra; that at the nomination for the election these gentlemen were duly nominated, and a poll was demanded on behalf of the said Archibald Campbell, which was afterwards taken; that before and at the time of such nomination the Petitioner was duly qualified to vote, and voted, his name duly appearing on the Electoral Roll; that the Returning Officer declared John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght duly elected, and so endorsed the Writ; that a place called "Bulli" was duly appointed a place at which a poll was to be taken at the said election, and a poll was accordingly held at that place; that one Henry Strange Fry was Presiding Officer at Bulli aforesaid; that at the time of such election the Returning Officer did cause to be printed ballot-papers according to the form prescribed in Schedule I to the "Electoral Act of 1880," and did supply the said Presiding Officer with some of such ballot-papers for the purposes of the said election; that Petitioner is advised and believes that the said John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght are, or the said Andrew Lysaght is, unduly elected, and that a new election should be ordered or the said Archibald Campbell declared elected upon the following grounds:—(1.) That the provisions of the Electoral Act were disregarded at the polling-booth at Bulli, in respect of a number of ballot-papers used at that booth which were in writing and not printed, and that such ballot-papers were not issued to the Presiding Officer by the Returning Officer; (2.) That the ballot-papers supplied to the Presiding Officer were not fully equal to the number of electors likely to vote at Bulli, and before the hour of half-past two o'clock in the afternoon of the polling-day such ballot-papers were all used by voters at the polling-booth at Bulli; and several voters were permitted to use and record their votes with ballot-papers there and then written out, some by the Presiding Officer and others by different persons then within the polling-booth; but between the hour of half-past two o'clock and the hour of four o'clock of the day, when the ballot was declared closed, there were present within the said polling-booth and immediately outside the door, desiring to record their votes, about one hundred and forty persons duly qualified by law to vote at such election (several of whom were inside the said booth demanding ballot-papers to enable them to record their votes) who were unable to record their votes through the absence of ballot-papers; (3.) That other electors left the polling-booth at Bulli before the close of the poll on hearing of the shortness of ballot-papers, and that they would not be able to record their votes, and did not vote elsewhere; and the number of votes so unrecorded would, if polled, have materially affected the issue of the election, and likely resulted in the return of one or more of the defeated candidates; that at the close of the poll quite a crowd of electors were actually in the polling-booth without being enabled to record their votes, and the proceedings at such election were interrupted by the conduct and actions of the excited electors; (4.) That otherwise the election was irregularly conducted; and praying that this Petition may be dealt with according to law; and the said election declared invalid; and that the said John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght may be declared to be unduly elected as Members to serve in the said Assembly; that it may be declared and determined that a new election of two persons to serve as Members of the said Assembly for the said Electorate shall take place; that the ballot-papers so written out as hereinbefore mentioned shall be declared informal, null, and void: and that a scrutiny of all ballot-papers should be made by the Committee of Elections and Qualifications; or that for the reasons aforesaid, it may be declared and determined that the said Andrew Lysaght has been unduly elected; and that a new election shall take place in respect only of the seat held by the said Andrew Lysaght as a Member of the said Assembly; or that a fresh poll of electors shall be taken at the said polling-booth at Bulli aforesaid; and that such further or other order and determination may be made in the premises as may be just. Ordered to lie on the Table.

VOTES No. 7. WEDNESDAY, 29 JULY, 1891.

3. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—

- (1.) Mr. Speaker informed the House that he had received a letter from James Inglis, Esquire, resigning his appointment as a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications.
 (2.) Mr. Speaker then, pursuant to the requirement of the Electoral Act of 1880, laid upon the Table his Warrant, appointing Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, of which the following is a copy:—

" By the Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative " Assembly of New South Wales.

" PURSUANT to the power in that behalf vested in me, as Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of " New South Wales, by the Electoral Act of 1880, I do hereby appoint—

" Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire,

" being a Member of the said Assembly, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and
 " Qualifications in the said Act referred to, during the present Session of the Assembly aforesaid,
 " in room of James Inglis, Esquire, resigned.

" Given under my hand, at the Legislative Assembly Chamber, Macquarie-street, Sydney,
 " this twenty-ninth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and " ninety-one.

" J. P. ABBOTT,
 " Speaker."

6. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS :—

(1.) Maturity of Warrant reported:—Mr. Speaker reported that his Warrant, appointing the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, laid upon the Table on Thursday, 16th July, 1891, not having been disapproved by the Assembly in the course of the three next sitting days on which the Assembly met for the despatch of business, had now taken effect as an appointment of such Committee; and intimated that it was therefore open to Members of the Committee to be sworn at the Table by the Clerk, in accordance with the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880.

(2.) Members Sworn:—Joseph Francis Cullen, Esquire, George Donald, Esquire, William Alfred Murphy, Esquire, Andrew Ross, Esquire, M.D., Francis Bathurst Suttor, Esquire, and Bernhard Ringrose Wise, Esquire, came to the Table, and were sworn by the Clerk as Members of the Committee.

COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS :—

(1.) Maturity of Warrant reported:—Mr. Speaker reported that his Warrant, laid upon the Table on the 29th July last, appointing Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, not having been disapproved by the Assembly in the course of the three next sitting days on which the Assembly met for the despatch of business, had now taken effect; and intimated that it was therefore open to Mr. FitzGerald to be sworn at the Table by the Clerk, in accordance with the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880.

(2.) Appointment of first meeting of Committee:—Pursuant to the requirement of the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880, Mr. Speaker appointed the first meeting of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications to take place at half-past eleven o'clock a.m. on Wednesday next, the 12th instant, in Committee Room No. 1.

12. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS :—Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, came to the Table, and was sworn by the Clerk as a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications.

VOTES NO. 29. WEDNESDAY, 16 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

8. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS :—

(1.) (Election Petition—Artis v. The Sitting Members—Illawarra):—Mr. Suttor, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table, the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Committee of Elections and Qualifications, to whom was referred, on the 29th July, 1891, the Petition of Alexander Spence Artis, in reference to the election and return of John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght, as Members for the Electoral District of Illawarra.

And the said Report was read at length by the Clerk, by direction of Mr. Speaker, as follows :—

“ The Committee of Elections and Qualifications, duly appointed on the 16th July, 1891, to whom was referred, on 29th July, 1891, a Petition from Alexander Spence Artis, against the return of John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght, Esquires, as Members for the Electoral District of Illawarra,”—have determined, and do hereby declare :—

“ The Election for the Electoral District of Illawarra to have been wholly void.

“ That the irregularities in the conduct of the said Election were due to errors of judgment on the part of Mr. Henry Strange Fry, the Presiding Officer at Bulli, and of Mr. Charles Frederick Smith, the Returning Officer for the Electoral District.

“ No. 1 Committee Room, Legislative Assembly, “ Sydney, 16th September, 1891.

“ F. B. SUTTOR,
“ Chairman.”

Mr. Suttor moved, That the Report and Minutes of the Proceedings and Evidence be printed.
Debate ensued.

Question put and passed.

(2.) Adjournment of the Committee:—Mr. Suttor then moved, that the Committee of Elections and Qualifications have leave to adjourn sine die, the matters referred to them having been disposed of.
Question put and passed.

Mr. Speaker stated that under the authority of the Report of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications just read he would issue a new Writ.

ELECTION PETITION—ARTIS v. THE SITTING MEMBERS—ILLAWARRA.

REPORT FROM THE COMMITTEE

OF

ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS.

THE COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS, duly appointed on the 16th July, 1891, to whom was referred on 29th July, 1891, a Petition from Alexander Spence Artis, against the return of John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght, Esquires, as Members for the Electoral District of Illawarra, have determined and do hereby declare :—

The Election for the Electoral District of Illawarra to have been wholly void.

That the irregularities in the conduct of the said Election were due to errors of judgment on the part of Mr. Henry Strange Fry, the Presiding Officer at Bulli, and of Mr. Charles Frederick Smith, the Returning Officer for the Electoral District.

F. B. SUTTOR,
Chairman.

(SECOND SESSION.)

MINUTES OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS.

In the matter of the Election Petition which had been addressed to His Excellency the Governor, from Alexander Spence Artis, of Bulli, in the Colony of New South Wales, alleging that for the reasons therein stated the election of John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght was an undue election.

WEDNESDAY, 9 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Suttor in the Chair.

Mr. Cullen,		Mr. Donald,
Mr. Murphy,		Dr. Ross.

In attendance,—

The Acting Second Clerk Assistant.

1. By direction of the Chairman, the Clerk read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were confirmed.
 2. The Clerk read the extract from the Votes and Proceedings referring the Petition of Alexander Spence Artis to the Committee. [Vide Extract, page 5.]
 3. Whereupon the Clerk, by direction of the Chairman, read the Petition of Alexander Spence Artis, so referred to the Committee, as follows:—
- To His Excellency the Right Honorable Victor Albert George Child-Villiers, Earl of Jersey, a Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

The humble Petition of Alexander Spence Artis, of Bulli, in the Colony of New South Wales, Esquire,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

1. That at the last General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly of the said Colony, Archibald Campbell, Andrew Lysaght, John Barnes Nicholson, Frederick Augustus Franklin, and Thomas Bissell were severally candidates to be elected as Members of the said Assembly for the Electoral District of Illawarra.

2. That at the nomination for the said election each of them, the said Archibald Campbell, Andrew Lysaght, John Barnes Nicholson, Frederick Augustus Franklin, and Thomas Bissell, was duly nominated and proposed as such Members; and the Returning Officer then called for a show of hands separately in favour of each candidate, and upon the same taking place declared the show of hands to be in favour of the said John Barnes Nicholson; whereupon a poll was demanded on behalf of the said Archibald Campbell, which was afterwards taken.

3. That before and at the time of the said nomination, and from thence, your Petitioner was a person duly qualified by law to vote at the said General Election of Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly for the said Electoral District of Illawarra; and your Petitioner duly recorded his vote at such election; and the name of your Petitioner duly appears on the Electoral Roll of persons qualified to vote for the election of Members of the said Legislative Assembly for the said Electoral District as Number 83 on the said Roll.

4. That the Returning Officer on the day of the declaration of the poll for the said Electoral District declared the numbers of votes polled for the respective candidates to be as follows:—

John Barnes Nicholson, one thousand one hundred and eighty.

Andrew Lysaght, seven hundred and ninety-nine.

Archibald Campbell, six hundred and sixty-nine.

Thomas Bissell, four hundred and sixty-three.

Frederick Augustus Franklin, one hundred and ninety-five.

And thereupon declared the said John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght to be duly elected as Members of the said Assembly for the said Electoral District; and the said Returning Officer afterwards endorsed on the writ for the said election the names of the said John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght as the persons so elected, and returned the said writ to your Excellency.

5. That a place called "Bulli" was duly appointed a place at which a poll was to be taken at the said election, and a poll was accordingly held at that place, on the twenty-fourth day of June last.

6. That one Henry Strange Fry was, by the Returning Officer for the Electoral District of Illawarra, appointed as Presiding Officer at Bulli aforesaid, for the purpose of taking such poll.

7. That at the time of such election the said Returning Officer did cause to be printed ballot-papers according to the form prescribed in Schedule I to the "Electoral Act of 1880," and did supply the said Presiding Officer with some of such ballot-papers for the purposes of the said election.

8. Your Petitioner states that he is advised and believes that the said John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght are, or the said Andrew Lysaght is, unduly elected, and that a new election should be ordered or the said Archibald Campbell declared elected upon the following grounds:—

(a) That the provisions of the said Electoral Act were disregarded at the polling-booth at Bulli aforesaid in respect of a number of ballot-papers used at that booth which were in writing and not printed, and that such ballot-papers were not issued to the Presiding Officer at the said booth by the Returning Officer.

(b) That the said ballot-papers supplied to the said Presiding Officer, as stated in the seventh paragraph of this Petition, were not fully equal to the number of electors likely to vote at Bulli aforesaid, at the said election, and before the hour of half-past two o'clock in the afternoon of the said twenty-fourth fourth day of June last, such ballot-papers were all used by voters at the polling-booth at Bulli aforesaid; and several voters were permitted to use and record their votes with ballot-papers there and then written out, some by the said Presiding Officer and others by different persons then within the said polling-booth; but between the hour of half-past two o'clock and the hour of four o'clock of the same day, when the ballot was declared closed, there were present within the said polling-booth and immediately outside the door, desiring to record their votes, about one hundred and forty persons duly qualified by law to vote at such election (several of whom were inside the said booth demanding ballot-papers to enable them to record their votes) who were unable to record their votes through the absence of ballot-papers as aforesaid.

(c) That a certain other number of electors left the said polling-booth at Bulli aforesaid before the close of the poll on hearing of the shortness of ballot-papers, and that they would not be able to record their votes, and such electors did not vote elsewhere; and the number of votes so unrecorded as aforesaid would, if polled, have materially affected the issue of the said election, and likely resulted in the return of one or more of the defeated candidates at the said election. That electors outside of the said polling-booth who had not voted at the said election, hearing how matters stood, became alarmed lest they should be deprived of their right and opportunity to record their votes. Great excitement soon prevailed, and a rush at the door of the said polling-booth immediately took place. Before the closing of the poll the disappointed electors rushed the door into the said polling-booth despite all the police could do to prevent it, and at the close of the poll quite a crowd of electors were actually in the polling-booth without being enabled to record their votes; excitement inside and outside the said polling-booth ran high, and the proceedings at such election were interrupted by the conduct and actions of the excited electors.

(d) That otherwise the election was irregularly conducted.

9. That your Petitioner has deposited the sum of one hundred pounds in the Wollongong Branch of the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank, to the credit of the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, as required by law, and the bank deposit receipt therefor is hereunto annexed.

Your Petitioner, therefore, humbly prays that this Petition may be dealt with according to law; and the said election declared invalid; and that the said John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght may be declared to be unduly elected as Members to serve in the said Assembly; that it may be declared and determined that a new election of two persons to serve as Members of the said Assembly for the said Electorate shall take place; that the ballot-papers so written out as hereinbefore mentioned shall be declared informal, null, and void; and that a scrutiny of all ballot-papers should be made by the Committee of Elections and Qualifications; or that for the reasons aforesaid it may be declared and determined that the said Andrew Lysaght has been unduly elected; and that a new election shall take place in respect only of the seat held by the said Andrew Lysaght as a Member of the said Assembly; or that a fresh poll of electors shall be taken at the said polling-booth at Bulli aforesaid; and that such further or other order and determination may be made in the premises as may be just.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Dated this eleventh day of July, A.D. 1891.

ALEXANDER SPENCE ARTIS.

Duplicate.

Wollongong Branch, 14 July, 1891.

PAID to the credit of the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly with the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank, the sum of one hundred pounds sterling, by £100.

E. SOMERVILLE, Teller.

ALEXANDER SPENCE ARTIS,
Per A. M.

4. The Clerk then submitted letters from the Honorable the Speaker, enclosing certified copies of letters he had received (1) from the Sitting Members giving notice of their intention to defend their Seats, and (2) from certain "persons who had a right to vote at the election for Illawarra," applying to be permitted to oppose the return of John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght, as follows:—

ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS.

ELECTION PETITION—ARTIS v. THE SITTING MEMBERS—ILLAWARRA.

WEDNESDAY, 9 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

Present:—

Mr. Cullen, Mr. Donald,		Mr. Murphy, Dr. Ross,
Mr. Suttor.

F. B. Suttor, Esq., in the Chair.

Mr. F. Woodward, Solicitor, appeared on behalf of the Petitioner.

Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Lysaght, the Sitting Members, appeared in person.

Frederick William Webb, Esq., Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, sworn and examined:—

- F. W. Webb, Esq. 1. Chairman.] Do you produce any papers with reference to the Illawarra election? I produce the writ issued by His Excellency the Governor on the 8th day of June in the present year, for the election of two Members to serve in the Legislative Assembly for the electoral district of Illawarra, upon which the Returning Officer has certified that John Barnes Nicholson and Andrew Lysaght were duly chosen as Members for the electoral district of Illawarra, at a poll taken on the 24th day of June, 1891.
2. And have these gentlemen taken their seats? They have.
3. And they are now the Sitting Members? Yes.

Mr. Alexander Spence Artis sworn and examined:—

- Mr. A. S. Artit, Esq. 4. Mr. Woodward.] Are you an elector in the electorate of Illawarra? I am.
5. Were you so at the last general election? I was.
6. What was your number on the roll? No. 83.
7. Who were the candidates on that occasion? Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Lysaght, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Bissell, and Mr. Franklin.
8. Were these gentlemen duly nominated for the election? They were.
9. Were you present at the nomination? I was not.
10. Were you present at Bulli on the occasion of the polling? I was.
11. Can you say at what hour of the day you were there first? I was there at the opening of the poll, and I was there until the finish.
12. Did anything strange happen on that day within your knowledge? Yes. At half past 2 o'clock the ballot-papers ran out. There was a rush then into the hall. The presiding officer got several people there to write the ballot-papers out. The crowd kept increasing. I was inside. The policeman came inside and asked me to assist him to keep the doors closed until those inside had recorded their votes. I did so and when I left the hall and came outside, to the best of my belief, there were between eighty and ninety persons inside, and about fifty or sixty outside. It was as much as the policeman and myself could do to keep the door closed.
13. Were you surprised to find that the ballot-papers were short? No, I was not.
14. How was that? Because the day before the presiding officer and myself went to the telegraph station and telegraphed to the Returning Officer for more ballot-papers.
15. That was the day before the polling? Yes.
16. Had the presiding officer expressed to you an opinion as to the ballot-papers being likely to be short? Yes. We had just come out of Court, and he said, "I think we are short of papers, Mr. Artis," and I said, "You had better go and telegraph at once." We went immediately to the office and sent a wire away about half-past 11 o'clock. I saw him the next morning, and I said, "Have you got any word about the papers," and he said "No." "Well," I said, "we had better send another wire," so the other wire went, but there was no reply, and no papers came.
17. Was there any reply, to your knowledge, during the day of the polling? Not to my knowledge—not up till 1 o'clock at any rate.
18. On the day of the polling did you hear the presiding officer say anything about the ballot-papers? Yes, I talked to him several times. He felt very uneasy about it, knowing that the papers were running short.
19. Was any complaint made to the presiding officer? There was a general complaint; I could not mention any individual.
20. Did he give any reply to these complaints? He said he had done all he could to get the papers, but they were not forthcoming.
21. Do you recollect whether he said anything further? No; I do not recollect anything else.

22. As a matter of fact, were the electors anxiously awaiting to record their votes? They were. Some of the pits had worked half-time, and there was a rush on the part of the men to get their votes recorded before 4 o'clock.
23. Are you aware whether or not Mr. Fry, the presiding officer, was expecting the receipt of the ballot-papers? He was.
24. Were the electors informed of that? Not that I am aware of.
25. They were not informed that he was expecting them? He told several of the electors that he had sent for the papers, and expected them every minute. He was looking for the coach coming out; he expected them by the coach.
26. That was about what hour in the day? It would be about half past 1 I think.
27. What further took place within, and about the polling-room—What did you see and hear? When they found that the printed papers were done, and that there were a few of them writing the ballot-papers out, the people got very excited and wished to rush the hall. There were about eighty or ninety inside, and about fifty or sixty outside. There was a whole crowd around, and it was as much as the police and I could do to keep the door from being rushed.
28. Was any voting going on during the time so many people were within the polling-booth? Yes, they were writing out the papers and voting as fast as they could write the papers out.
29. Did you observe anybody write out the papers? I saw Mr. Powell, of the Telegraph Office. I saw him writing the papers out. He being at the far end of the table I had a better chance of seeing him, but it was a very hard matter to see anything over the heads of the people who were there.
30. Did you see anybody else writing them out? No; I could not get near the table.
31. Did you hear that any votes were actually recorded by these written ballot-papers? I could not see who recorded their votes.
32. But did you see any of the electors put their ballot-papers into the box? No, I could not get near the ballot-box.
33. At the time you saw Mr. Powell writing out some of the ballot-papers, was there any excitement within the building? Yes, there was very great excitement.
34. What was its nature? Every one singing out "Take my number," and trying to get their numbers passed over the heads of others, so that they could get their ballot-papers. There were a lot on the stage behind the table where they were making the papers out.
35. Do you produce a sketch showing the polling-room? Yes. [Sketch produced.]
36. The polling took place within the Oddfellows' Hall at Bulli? Yes.
37. Will you explain what is shown by the sketch? At the end of the building there is a platform. The tables were in front of the platform on the main floor, and the corner of the room immediately below the platform was partitioned off for the purpose of the voting.
38. Were there any people on the platform itself? Not until the hall was rushed at 4 o'clock.
39. I am speaking of the time when you said there were eighty or ninety people inside? At that time they broke in at the side door near where the voting was going on. The police and myself were keeping the main door closed. The crowd occupied about two-thirds of the hall.
40. Were these people who were occupying about two-thirds of the space within the building people who, to your knowledge, were desirous of voting? Yes. Every one was trying to pass his [number over the heads of those in front of him.
41. From what you heard and saw, you are satisfied they were anxiously desirous of recording their votes? Yes.
42. I think you said that the door on the left hand-side of the platform near the compartment used for voting was rushed by the electors? Yes; that was at 4 o'clock after the presiding officer would take no more names. Then they rushed in at that door and filled the hall altogether.
43. But the other occasion was between half past 1 o'clock and 4 o'clock? Between half past 2 and 4 o'clock.
44. Did they endeavour to get into the building by the main entrance? Yes; but we would not allow them until those who were in had recorded their votes.
45. But as a matter of fact they were unable to do so? They were unable to do so.
46. You said just now that it was 4 o'clock or a little after 4 o'clock when you noticed the crowd in the hall; but I understand that when you saw the eighty or ninety people in the building it was about half-past 2 o'clock? Yes.
47. Outside the building did you notice any number of persons? Yes; I should say there were about fifty or sixty outside the polling-booth.
48. Were they electors? They were all clamouring to get in to record their votes.
49. Did that excitement to get within the building occur about the hour you named—about half-past 2? About half-past 2 until 4 o'clock.
50. From your observation how many electors were there altogether inside and outside the building? I should say, to be within the mark, 140.
51. What was the weather like on that day? It rained all day.
52. Do you know about how many votes were recorded at Bulli that day? I forget the number now.
53. Were they greatly in excess of the number of printed ballot-papers? Very much so. There were only 350 ballot-papers, and about sixty, I am informed, were written out, and there were 140 persons outside, so that there were not much more than half enough ballot-papers.
54. How long have you been a resident of Bulli? Twenty-eight years.
55. Has the population and the number of electors increased within that particular portion of the electorate? Yes; very much.
56. Do you know the Returning Officer, Mr. Smith? I do.
57. Do you know for how many years he has occupied that position? I could not say exactly, but I know he has been there for a good many years.
58. And has presided at more than one, two, or three elections? Three or four elections, I think.
59. Did you complain to Mr. Smith yourself about the shortness of the ballot-papers? No, I did not; I had not an opportunity of seeing him.
60. Did you not make some protest to him? I protested at the declaration of the poll.
61. Mr. Nicholson.] You said that your number on the roll was 83? Yes.

Mr.
A. S. Artis.
9 Sept., 1891.

Mr.
A. S. Artis,
9 Sept., 1891.

62. Did you have the pleasure of recording your vote at the election on the 24th June last? Yes; I voted early in the morning.
63. You say you were present about the polling-booth all day? Yes.
64. And at about 2-30 p.m. the ballot-papers were exhausted, and the presiding officer commenced to write out ballot-papers? The presiding officer and scrutineers and several others were so employed.
65. Are you aware whether the presiding officer initialled the whole of the ballot-papers that were written out? I could not say.
66. Are you aware that they were not initialled? I could not say; I never saw any of them.
67. Did you, at a previous election, assist in writing out ballot-papers? No.
68. I am referring to an election at Bulli some ten years ago? No; I never voted at any other place but Bulli.
69. You say that there was a crowd of something like eighty or ninety persons inside the hall, and fifty or sixty outside? Yes.
70. Is it your opinion that the greater number of the people who were inside the hall did not record their votes? Decidedly.
71. Are you aware that there were several amongst them who had recorded their votes? I could not say; they all seemed to be anxious to vote.
72. It was a very wet day, was it not? A very wet day.
73. And do you not think they were anxious to get inside out of the rain, rather than with a view of recording their votes? I think if they were anxious to get out of the rain they would have taken their seats instead of clamouring up to the presiding officer.
74. You said that two-thirds of the body of the hall was occupied by this crowd that rushed in? Yes.
75. Are you aware what number of people the hall will seat, clear of the platform? Something like 300 odd.
76. Then at that time there would be a crowd of 200 men inside? Yes; but you will understand that they were in a circle.
77. You said that the presiding officer wired to the Returning Officer, on the day before the election, for a further supply of ballot-papers, as he thought they were too few? Yes; he wired at about half-past 11 in the forenoon.
78. What was the number of ballot-papers he had received? Three hundred and fifty, I heard.
79. Are you aware what number of votes were recorded at that particular booth at Bulli, at the election which took place in February, 1889? Somewhere about 400.
80. Are you aware of the total votes polled on the 24th June last? No.
81. As a long resident of the locality, are you aware that the population of that portion of the district is larger now than it was two and a half years ago? You know very well, from your own experience, that it is half as large again.
82. I am not speaking with regard to the increase in the number of buildings, but you know that in a mining district the population is always fluctuating and migratory; for instance, at North Bulli, at the time of the election two years ago there were upwards of 300 men working;—do you know how many are working there now? No, I do not.
83. Do you know whether the number has increased or decreased at that particular colliery? It has decreased certainly.
84. You are aware that at the other end the population has increased? Yes; very much indeed.
85. It was stated at Bulli on the evening of the election, and on subsequent days, that the manner in which the crowd rushed the hall almost amounted to a riot? Yes.
86. Was it your opinion that such was the case? I think so; it was as near a riot as anything I ever saw.
87. You being a magistrate, are you not aware that you had the power to stop the ballot if anything in the semblance of a riot occurred? I had an idea of that sort; but I thought I was doing more good to the public by standing at the door and assisting the police to keep the people out.
88. I suppose you knew that the presiding officer had that power if he liked to use it? I think so.
89. Are you aware whether the presiding officer had any idea of stopping the poll on account of the rush of people into the place? I could not say.
90. You did not hear him make any remark about it? No. As I said before, I was outside the door.
91. Mr. Lysaght.] How long has Mr. Smith been Returning Officer at Wollongong? A good number of years, I know, but I could not state exactly.
92. How long has Mr. Fry been Deputy Returning Officer at Bulli? For the last twenty years I should say. The first I heard of Mr. Fry was at Mr. Forster's election.
93. And I have always had the honor of your opposition at each and every one of these elections? I decline to answer that.
94. Is it not a fact that when I was contesting an election with Sir Alexander Stuart, when the ballot-papers ran short at Bulli, you wrote some of them out in your own hand? No; I never wrote a ballot-paper out in my life at the Bulli polling-place.
95. If any people swear you did, they swear an untruth? They do.
96. How far is Bellambi, the next polling-place, from Bulli? About a couple of miles.
97. How far is Austinmer at the other side of Bulli? About 3 miles.
98. Bulli is between those two places? Yes.
99. Is it not a fact that you, as one of Mr. Campbell's committee, had coaches at Bulli on the day of the election to convey voters? That is not a fact. If there was a coach running on Mr. Campbell's behalf, it was unknown to me. I certainly never heard of it, and did not know anything about it.
100. But there were coaches there belonging to some one? There were coaches there.
101. Coaches bringing voters up and down to the polling-booth? There were, I believe; I never used one.
102. How long would it take a coach to run to Bellambi from the polling-place at Bulli? I suppose an hour; it is a very bad road.
103. An hour to run 2 miles? It is a very bad road over the main road down to Bellambi.
104. Are you aware that some of the people offered to take the voters in the coaches to Bellambi or Austinmer to vote if they wished? I have heard it said that the coaches were there ready to go if they got the order, but I do not know who was the party.
105. You know there were several coaches there? There were two coaches there.

Mr.
A. S. Artis.
9 Sept., 1891.

106. Do you not know who employed those coaches? No, honestly and candidly I do not. I know nothing whatever about the coaches.
107. If I had not been returned, but if Mr. Campbell or any of the other candidates had been returned, would you have petitioned against the election? I can answer honestly that I did it on principle. I did it because the Returning Officer when I asked a civil question in the Town Hall tried to snub me. I asked him a question purely on principle and he put me on one side.
108. Were you sober on that day when you asked the question? Yes, perfectly sober.
109. Have you not been a most bitter political opponent of mine for five elections? No, only of your principles.
110. Have you ever objected to the conduct of the Returning Officer or presiding officer at any previous election? No, I never had occasion.
111. Do you say that it would take an hour for a coach to travel from Bulli to the polling-place at Bellambi? The roads were in a very bad state—it had been raining for a week previously.
112. If the presiding officer had wished could he not, in less than forty minutes, have sent to Wollongong to get ballot-papers? I do not know what the presiding officer could have done.
113. Could not a horseman have gone in to Wollongong in forty minutes and have returned in forty minutes? I dare say he could if the roads had been good, but he could not have done it in the state the roads were in on that day.
114. Do you consider that Mr. Fry knows his duty as presiding officer? Yes, I think he does.
115. If the state of things was as you describe why did he not adjourn the poll, as he could do from day to day? I do not profess to know anything about that.
116. Do you know if Mr. Fry was on the platform at Wollongong when you made your protest at the declaration of the poll? No; he was sitting at the bottom of the hall.
117. Did you hear Mr. Fry make any objection on that occasion to the mode in which the election was conducted at Bulli? No, I did not hear him make any remark; I was not on the platform.
118. Have you any doubt about Mr. Fry's integrity as presiding officer? Not the slightest.
119. And you are aware that at the declaration of the poll at Wollongong on the day after the election Mr. Fry was in the hall? Yes.
120. Are you not aware that he was on the platform when you made your objection? I did not see him.
121. How many policemen had you at Bulli on the day of the election? One a portion of the time, and two about 4 o'clock.
122. Are you aware whether at a previous election ballot-papers were written out at the Bulli polling-place? I do not remember any.
123. You will not say that ballot-papers were not written out on any previous occasion? Not that I know of.
124. You say in your petition that there were 140 people who did not poll at Bulli? Yes.
125. You are aware that I am in front of Mr. Campbell by 130 votes? Yes.
126. Does the paper I hand you contain certain figures, purporting to represent the number of votes recorded at the different polling-places in the Illawarra electorate? Yes. I believe these figures are correct.
127. According to that paper, when the poll closed Mr. Campbell was only 17 votes ahead of me at Bulli? Yes.
128. Will you read the figures referring to the Bellambi polling-booth? Nicholson, 74; Lysaght, 43; Campbell, 12; Bissell, 15; Franklin, 11.
129. Will you read the number of votes polled at Bulli for the different candidates? Nicholson, 269; Lysaght, 76; Campbell, 91; Bissell, 150; Franklin, 23.
130. According to the polling at Bulli has not Mr. Bissell a considerable majority over Mr. Campbell and myself—nearly two to one? Yes. It was those who were in the minority who got in—that is the worst of it.
131. Do you believe that if those persons who you say could not record their votes at Bulli had been able to do so the result of the election would have been altered? I could not say. I do not think you would have polled more than five or six more out of the 140. I think Mr. Nicholson would have got a great many of them.
132. How many would Mr. Nicholson have got? He would have got a great many, because they were coming down from the mines.
133. How many would he have got, do you think? I could not say.
134. You think he would have got the large majority of them? I could not say; he would have got a good few.
135. And how many more would Mr. Campbell have got? I could not say that either.
136. Do you not in your petition claim the seat for Mr. Campbell? Yes.
137. Seeing that I was 130 ahead of Mr. Campbell is it likely that if the 140 electors had voted, whom you say were deprived of the opportunity of voting, this would have given him a majority over me? I cannot say. I cannot say how the electors would have voted.
138. Do you believe it would? I could not say a word about it.
139. Chairman.] Your signature to the petition is "Alexander Spence Artis"? Yes.
140. You state that you are the person represented as No. 83 on the electoral roll; if you look at the roll you will see that opposite No. 83 is the name of Alexander Artis? Yes.
141. Do you feel sure that you are the person there named? Yes. I am the only Artis in the district.
142. Has your name always been on the roll as Alexander Artis? Yes; ever since I have been in the district.
143. And your vote has always been accepted as that of Alexander Artis? Yes.
144. Mr. Lysaght has referred to some protest you made to the Returning Officer when the poll was declared;—will you kindly say what that protest was? I got up and protested to the Returning Officer, but he would not listen to me. He said there was another time for that and after saying a few words I retired. He gave me no satisfaction whatever, but rather tried to snub me by saying there was another time when this matter could be brought forward and he would not listen to me.
145. Did he understand the protest you intended to make? Yes. The protest I intended to make was that there were not sufficient ballot-papers at Bulli and that there were about 140 people who did not record their votes.

Mr.
A. S. Artis.
9 Sept., 1891.

146. Then upon the intimation made to you by the Returning Officer that another opportunity would be afforded you to make your protest you presented this petition? Yes.
147. You say the ballot-papers ran short about 1 o'clock in the day? About half-past 2.
148. Did I understand you to say that at half-past 2 the hall was two-thirds full of people? Yes, that is the time when the great crowd was there.
149. And some people were busy writing out ballot-papers to supply the deficiency? Yes.
150. You have seen the paper placed in your hands by Mr. Lysaght, showing the number of votes recorded for the different candidates at Bulli. Can you tell me how that compares generally with the votes recorded on previous occasions? No, I cannot.
151. Was the number in excess, do you think, of the previous voting? There are a great many more inhabitants in Bulli than there were at the time of the previous election.
152. Is the roll for the electoral district generally increasing? It is.
153. Rapidly? Yes, rapidly.
154. Do you know if there were as many ballot-papers supplied to the Bulli polling-booth as were supplied at the previous general election? I think there were about the same number.
155. And you say that both you and the presiding officer thought that the number supplied would not meet the requirements of the day? Yes. We had been at court the day before, and coming from the court he said, "I do not think we have enough ballot-papers, Mr. Artis," and I said, "You had better see about it at once," and we went straight to the telegraph office and he wired at once. The next morning I saw him, and I said, "What about the ballot-papers?" He said, "I have not heard a word from the Returning Officer," and I said, "You had better go and send another wire away," which I believe he did. I did not go with him.
156. You understood from the presiding officer that steps had been taken the day before the polling to represent to the Returning Officer that the number of ballot-papers sent down was not sufficient, either in your estimation or his? Yes.
157. And you do not know what reply he got? He got no reply.
158. Nor did he get any ballot-papers? No.
159. During the time the hall was two-thirds full and people were at the table writing out ballot-papers, were votes being recorded—were these ballot-papers being given to the people? Yes; as fast as they could be written out.
160. And the voters were going behind the screen and scratching out the names and recording their votes? Yes.
161. Was that practice of writing out the papers and giving them to the voters continued from half-past 2 until 4 o'clock? Yes.
162. They were writing out ballot-papers as rapidly as they could, and giving them to the voters? Yes.
163. And votes were being recorded until the poll closed at 4 o'clock? Yes.
164. And, notwithstanding this writing out of the ballot-papers, you could not supply the requirements? No.
165. And you still believe that fully 140 electors were debarred from the privilege of recording their votes? Yes.
166. Do you know, as a matter of fact, if the presiding officer initialled the ballot-papers? I do not know whether he did or not—I could not get near the table.
167. Dr. Ross.] You say that at half-past 2 the ballot-papers ran short? Yes.
168. And from half-past 2 until 4 o'clock, when the poll closed, they were writing out ballot-papers and handing them to the electors? Yes. I may say that when the ballot-papers were running short, there was a stoppage, and the presiding officer had a consultation with the scrutineers as to the best course to be pursued.
169. How long did that suspension last? I suppose about 10 minutes.
170. You say there were eighty electors inside desirous of recording their votes between half-past 2 and 4 o'clock;—how many electors, do you think, used the written papers? I have no idea.
171. You say there were 350 ballot-papers used before half-past 2? Yes; I believe that was the number of ballot-papers that were originally issued.
172. How many electors voted at the one time? I could not tell you—as many as could get hold of a paper. There was no one there to keep order. They all rushed round the table. There was a great crowd round the table and on the stage, and the officials could not move their arms to go over the electoral rolls.
173. Did those who voted leave the room or remain after they had placed their papers in the ballot-box? There was a policeman there who put them out at the side entrance.
174. They left the room? Yes.
175. You cannot form any idea as to the number of written papers that were recorded as votes? I have heard there were sixty, but I would not swear to the number.
176. In your petition you refer to the votes having been short by 130;—how can you explain the difference between the sixty that were recorded and the 130? After the sixty were written out I reckon there were that many left. We used to let them in in batches—open the door and let a few in and then shut the door again.
177. Did the excitement which you describe arise from the want of ballot-papers or was it in reality only the excitement that usually takes place over a contested election? It arose from the wish of the electors to get their votes recorded on behalf of their respective candidates. Up to within a few minutes of 4 o'clock the greatest good feeling prevailed. There was not a word with any one—only joking and chaffing going on.
178. Did the candidates run in pairs or individually on their own merits? Individually.
179. How many of the votes would have been recorded for Mr. Nicholson or for Mr. Lysaght if there had been sufficient papers? I could not say.
180. What interest have you in this petition? I have no interest whatever.
181. You have objected I suppose on the ground that you are a particular friend of Mr. Campbell, who was defeated? No, I did it on principle. There were 140 people who were disfranchised, owing to the want of ballot-papers, and that was my principal reason for entering this protest.
182. In what capacity were you present at the polling? I just went there as I do at every election. I take an interest in all elections.

183. Were you taking an interest in Mr. Lysaght's return or Mr. Nicholson's? Nobody's in particular.
184. You were a general all-round fair-play man? I thought I would be able to keep order there. I always like to be at elections.
185. You would have preferred to have seen Mr. Campbell returned, I suppose? I would.
186. Mr. Murphy.] You say you saw a gentleman named Powell writing out ballot-papers;—did you see any one else whom you could recognize writing them out? No; I only saw Mr. Powell, through being at the end of the table.
187. In what capacity was he—that of an ordinary voter or a scrutineer? He came there to record his vote, and he being in the post-office and being supposed to write quickly they asked the presiding officer to allow him to stay in and write out the papers.
188. Did you see him write more than one paper? He was writing, but I could not say as to how many he wrote.
189. As a matter of fact, you cannot say whether he was writing ballot-papers or not—you can only say that he was writing? He was writing at the table with the others.
190. But you are not aware whether he was writing ballot-papers or not? No.
191. And you are not aware that any other person was engaged in writing out ballot-papers? No, I could not swear it, because I could not get near the place.
192. You say there were between fifty and sixty people outside clamouring to get in to record their votes? To the best of my belief, there were.
193. And you say also that there were eighty or ninety inside;—have you any idea how many of the people outside had recorded their votes? There were very few there who had recorded their votes, and the others were trying to get in. You may depend upon it they would not have stayed in the rain if they had recorded their votes.
194. You know that at an election it is always a general thing for a crowd to gather outside the polling-booth? It was raining a lot.
195. So far as you are concerned, you cannot positively say whether or not any number of these people outside had recorded their votes? I know that a good many of them had not.
196. How many? I should say there were about fifty or sixty outside the hall door.
197. How many of these had not recorded their votes? I think the most of them had not recorded their votes.
198. On what do you base your opinion? I judge from the very eager way they were clamouring to get in.
199. That is the only foundation you have for your assertion? Yes. Of those who were in the porch where I was standing none had recorded their votes.
200. Inside the booth did you see more than one person go behind the screen to vote at one time? No.
201. If any voter had so desired, do you think that from half-past 2, when it was known that the ballot-papers were running short, he could have got to either of the other polling-booths in time to record his vote? Yes; I dare say he could if he had had some conveyance; but there are very few who take such an interest in voting as to travel that distance.
202. Mr. Cullen.] Do you know of your own knowledge that the ballot-papers ran short? Yes.
203. How do you know? The presiding officer sent for me to go inside, and I said, "What is the matter?" He said, "These are all the papers I have got." He had only a few left then.
204. About what hour? Half-past 2.
205. Then, how do you know that any written papers were actually used? Although I did not see them used, I know they were used. I heard it from others, and those who did see them.
206. But of your own knowledge you could not swear that any written ballot-paper was actually put into the box? No; I could not.
207. Do you know if Mr. Powell was a scrutineer for any candidate? He was not.
208. You cannot tell us the name of any other gentleman who wrote out ballot-papers? There was Mr. Daper, who was one of the scrutineers.
209. Can you tell us the names of any others? No; I cannot.
210. In addition to the fifty or sixty people whom you believe were intending voters outside the door, were there any other people about in the neighbourhood—were there any knots of people in the streets? There were a good many under the verandah, on the opposite side of the road. There were some standing about the middle of the road with umbrellas.
211. You believe that the fifty or sixty people referred to wanted to vote? Yes; to the best of my belief. I know there were some who came there, and finding they would have no chance of recording their votes went back to their work without voting.
212. Mr. Donald.] When the presiding officer sent for you to go into the polling booth, I presume it was to get your advice? Yes.
213. Did you believe it was not legal to use written ballot-papers? No, I did not.
214. Did the presiding officer ask your advice? He said, "Artis, these are all the papers I have got. What is going to be done?" I said, "I do not know." I think he said something about having power to write them out.
215. Did you agree with him? No, I did not. I did not think myself competent to give any advice.
216. Chairman.] When the presiding officer sent for you, was it during the temporary suspension of proceedings to which you have referred? No; there were a few ballot-papers left—just a few lying on the table.
217. During the period of suspension you speak about was the polling-room actually closed from the voters? Yes, we had the door closed. We let in a certain number.
218. But you did that all day long? No; this was only from about 2 o'clock. Some of the mines worked half time, and then there was a rush of miners to the polling-booth as they were going home.
219. During the time when you say they were discussing what they should do—a period of about ten minutes—the room was not cleared and the poll shut, but the voters were inside? Yes.
220. Mr. Lysaght.] You say that there was a rush of miners going home? Yes.
221. Even if there had been a sufficient number of ballot-papers, do you not think that many of them would have been too late, and would have been unable to poll before 4 o'clock? I think they would have had plenty of time. Mr. Nicholson knows that half time means 12 o'clock.
222. You wish to show that a great injustice has been done;—how is it that neither of the defeated candidates has entered a protest? I cannot answer for any of the defeated candidates. According to the Act any elector has the privilege of protesting against an election.

Mr.
A. S. Artis.
9 Sept., 1891.

Mr. A. S.
Artis.
9 Sept., 1891.

223. Are you aware that according to the Act ballot-papers can be written out? By the Returning Officer, but not by the presiding officer.
224. Mr. Woodward.] You know the ballot-room provided for preparing the ballot-papers? Yes.
225. Can you say whether or not there was more than one person in that compartment at one time? From my own knowledge I cannot say, but I have been told there was.

Mr. Franklin Knight sworn and examined:—

Mr.
F. Knight.
9 Sept., 1891.

226. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? At Sherbrook, near Bulli.
227. Are you now, and were you at the time of the last general election, an elector of Illawarra? Yes.
228. Did you record your vote at the last election? No.
229. Will you explain to the Committee why you did not do so? It was on account of there not being ballot-papers, I was given to understand. I drove down to the polling-booth, and arrived there at about twenty-five minutes to 3 o'clock. The doors were then closed, and I ascertained from the crowd who were standing round that they had been closed for some time, and with two or three others I went into the ante-room at the back. It was very wet weather at the time, so we thought we would go in there for shelter, and we saw the presiding officer. He said there were no ballot-papers, that the papers were run out, and that they were busy writing some out at the time. He said also that he had telegraphed to the Returning Officer at Wollongong to get some more, but that they had not arrived up to that time. I think the doors were opened again just about 3 o'clock, but there were a great number of persons who were unable to record their votes.
230. Did the presiding officer say that he was expecting the ballot-papers? Yes.
231. Did you observe many people about the polling-booth that day? Yes; there were a good number.
232. Were there many inside? Yes, a good number inside.
233. About how many, do you think? As near as I could judge, I should think there would be about 130 or 140.
234. Do you mean inside alone? That was at 4 o'clock.
235. You got there at about twenty-five minutes to 3? Yes; I looked at my watch at the time.
236. Was 130 or 140 about the number who were there at the time you arrived up till 4 o'clock? Yes; that is what I would imagine there would be.
237. And were the people inside the booth desirous of voting? Yes.
238. Did they take any steps in that behalf? Yes. When the presiding officer said there were no more ballot-papers, some gentleman whom I did not know got on to the platform and asked the people in the hall whether they had recorded their votes, and they said they had not. A number of voices cried out, "No, no," and he asked the reason why. They said, because they had no ballot-papers. Then he told them to stand their ground and protest against it.
239. Was he one of the scrutineers? No, he was not a scrutineer; he was just one of the electors.
240. Was he speaking in a modified tone, or was his manner excited? I do not think it was very much excited under the circumstances.
241. Was there any excitement within the room? I think, on the whole, they behaved themselves fairly well under the provoking circumstances.
242. Did you yourself see any person vote while you were there? Yes.
243. Did you notice whether it was a written paper? It was a written paper.
244. Did you notice any more of those written ballot-papers than the one? No; I did not notice any more.
245. Did you try to get one of those ballot-papers? Well, I did not get up near to the place.
246. Had you your number right? Yes; I had passed my number in.
246½. But you never got a ballot-paper? No.
247. Did you notice any more than the one person writing out ballot-papers? I did not notice any one writing the papers out.
248. Mr. Nicholson.] You say you went down to the polling-booth to record your vote in the afternoon? Yes.
249. What was the state of things when you got there? The doors were closed.
250. Both the front door and the side door? The front door.
251. And you went to the side entrance? To the ante-chamber.
252. And you got admission there? Yes.
253. Were you supplied with a ballot-paper or not? I was not supplied with a ballot-paper.
254. Did you see many others who were there to record their votes, and who did not get supplied with ballot-papers? Yes, a good many.
255. Were there many others from Bulli Mountain along with you who did not record their votes? Yes, a few.
256. Mr. Alfred Knight? No; he was not down there.
257. Was Mr. G. W. Wales down there to record his vote? Yes.
258. And he could not vote either? No.
259. Was Mr. Hunt or any of the Hunt family? I could not be certain about them.
260. I think I understood you to say you did not see any persons writing out ballot-papers? No, I did not.
261. Did you not understand that the presiding officer had men writing out ballot-papers for him? Yes, I understood that.
262. Was it your opinion that it was a legal proceeding, or on the contrary? I just merely asked the question whether it was a legal thing, and the presiding officer said that the Act stated that it had to be in that form.
263. Were there many people, presumably electors, in the hall at the time you were there? Yes.
264. At about what number would you estimate them? I think there would be about from 130 to 150.
265. I suppose the crowd was quite orderly? As orderly as you could expect, under the circumstances.
266. There was a noise, but nothing very serious? Yes.
267. Are you aware of the number of electors at Sherbrook, Knight's Creek, and Bulli Mountain? I could not accurately state the number.

268. You have a pretty shrewd idea of the number, being an old resident in the locality? - I could soon reckon them up.
269. You say there was one man encouraging the crowd to demand their rights? Yes.
270. You say you did not know that man? No, I did not know his name.
271. If the ballot had been completed, in your opinion, would the result have been changed? It would be very hard for me to say whether it would or not.
272. You have talked it over amongst yourselves as to the number of votes unrecorded; have you any reason to suppose that Mr. Campbell would have received the largest share of those unrecorded votes, or even a number in proportion to the other candidates? It would be impossible for me to say.
273. Can you say whether or not, in your opinion, if all the votes had been recorded, the result of the election would have been altered? There is no doubt the number of votes would have been considerably altered, but as to the result of the election I could not possibly say.
274. If there had been a sufficient number of ballot-papers, and the polling had continued until 4 o'clock, do you think the whole of the electors in that particular locality would have been there to record their votes? I suppose there would not have been any more than there were there at the time.
275. You are satisfied in your own judgment that a certain number of electors would not have come to record their votes on account of the very wet day? Yes.
276. Mr. Lysaght.] How far is the Bellambi polling-place from the Bulli polling-place? About $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles.
277. There was nothing to stop any of you from going to Bellambi, when the Bulli polling-booth was crowded with people recording their votes? Yes, there would be the inclemency of the weather; the roads were in a dreadful state.
278. That is at the south side of Bulli. You know Austinmer; how far is that from Bulli on the north side? Something about the same distance.
279. In your opinion the same thing would have stopped them from going to that place? Yes.
280. Some of your neighbours were not there to record their votes, owing to the bad weather? Yes.
281. Chairman.] From what you have said you seem to have been at the polling-booth at Bulli for about an hour and a half before the closing? Yes; about an hour and twenty-five minutes.
282. What really prevented you from voting during that time? Just because the doors were closed. You could not go in. You could not get a ballot-paper. That was up to 3 o'clock, and then the hall was taken possession of by the crowd, and there was a rush of people into the room.
283. Speaking of the doors being closed, are you aware that they let the electors in in batches—that they let a certain number in and then closed the door until those men had recorded their votes and left, and then they let another batch in? Yes; but a very large batch went in.
284. This was before half-past 2? No; after 3 o'clock.
285. You arrived there at half-past 2? There was nothing going on then until the doors were opened, at about 3 o'clock.
286. Then the doors were shut for fully half an hour? Yes.
287. You arrived at half-past 2, and the doors were then closed, and they were not opened until 3? That is so.
288. And no electors were admitted into the hall during that time? No.
289. Of course you cannot say what took place within the hall? No, I could not say that.
290. Well, from that time until 4 o'clock, you could not record your vote simply because of the rush of the people endeavouring to get to the presiding officer? Yes.
291. It was for no other reason—not from any idea of these written papers being informal or anything of that sort? No, not at all.
292. You really did your best to record your vote? I did.
293. And you were in the same position as a number of others? Yes.
294. Was it a matter of general talk beyond the polling-booth that the papers had run out? Yes. It was in everybody's mouth.
295. Do you think such a statement as that prevented any voters who were not at the booth from going there? Well, it may have had that effect on some, because I know when I went through Bulli I met one of my neighbours and he asked me if I was going to record my vote, and I told him I was, and he said, "It is of no use for you to go; there are no ballot-papers, they are all run out." A man hearing such a statement might possibly turn back, but I thought I would go and see whether that was really so or not.
296. A question has been asked you as to whether you could not have recorded your vote if you had gone to Bellambi or Austinmer. Did you remain at the Bulli polling-booth under the impression that you would ultimately be able to record your vote? Yes.
297. And you think the same reason prevented others from going elsewhere? I think a good many thought they could not get to either of the other polling-booths except on horseback or in a coach.
298. Do you think the presiding officer tried his best under the circumstances to allow the electors to record their votes? Yes, I think so.
299. And yet he could not supply the ballot-papers that were required, even though they were being written out? No.
300. Mr. Lysaght.] How far is it from the polling-place at Bulli to Wollongong? About 7 miles.
301. How long would it take a man on horseback to go and get some ballot-papers from Wollongong? He ought to go there and back under the circumstances in an hour and a half.
302. Dr. Ross.] Do you think that if all the ballot-papers had been in readiness all those who were inside and outside of the polling-booth would have been able to record their votes? Yes, I think so.
303. Mr. Murphy.] While you were inside the hall was the voting going on all the time, or was there any delay from any cause? It was going on all the time.
304. And that went on until the time of closing the poll at 4 o'clock? Yes.
305. There was no stoppage—there was always somebody recording their votes? Yes.
306. Mr. Donald.] Is there a printing-office at Bulli? Yes.
307. On the plan of the hall which has been produced will you point out where the ante-room is situated? It is at the back of the platform.
308. Then you would have to go across the stage to get into the hall? I was not allowed there. I had to

Mr.
F. Knight.

to go away outside and come in at the door. When I came to the hall in the first place and found the doors closed, I went with two or three others into the ante-room in order to get out of the wet, and I saw the presiding officer there; he came in fact to the door.

309. Was there only one polling-place for scratching out the names? Yes; only one place, just curtailed off.

310. Chairman.] When you did enter the room it was through the main entrance? Yes.

311. Mr. Nicholson.] Would it not have been as easy for you to ride to Austinmer as to Bulli? No.

312. From the foot of the mountain you go down the ridge to M'Cauley's farm? Yes.

313. And you think it is longer to Austinmer? Yes. It must be more than a mile further to Austinmer than to Bulli.

314. Mr. Woodward.] Was the presiding officer expecting to receive ballot-papers from Wollongong? Yes; he said he was.

315. That would account for people not desiring to go away if they had an opportunity of recording their votes elsewhere? Yes; they were momentarily expecting the ballot-papers, because he had telegraphed for them.

THURSDAY, 10 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

Present:—

Mr. Cullen,
Mr. Donald,
Dr. Ross,

Mr. Suttor,
Mr. Wise,
Mr. Murphy.

F. B. Suttor, Esq., in the Chair.

Mr. F. Woodward, Solicitor, appeared on behalf of the Petitioner.

Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Lysaght, the Sitting Members, appeared in person.

Mr. William Davis sworn and examined:—

Mr.
W. Davis.

10 Sept., 1891.

316. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? At Robinsville at present.

317. Are you an elector of the electoral district of Illawarra? Yes.

318. Did you record your vote at the last general election? No; I did not get an opportunity of doing so.

319. Did you go to any polling-place for that purpose? Yes; I went to the Oddfellows' Hall at Bulli.

320. At what hour in the day? It was about a quarter to 3.

321. Did you take steps to record your vote in the usual way? Yes; I went into the polling-booth, and when I first arrived they told me that there were no ballot-papers, that they had all been used up.

322. You managed to get into the polling-booth? Yes.

323. What did you do? I waited there until the poll was closed at 4 o'clock.

324. Did you hand in any number or do anything at all? I had my number, but I could not get near enough to the table to hand it in to the scrutineers. There was a large number of electors waiting to record their votes, and I could not get near.

325. Did you see any votes recorded while you were there? Yes; I saw people getting ballot-papers and recording their votes.

326. Did you observe where the compartment was in which the electors used their ballot-papers? It was enclosed with curtains on the right hand side of the hall.

327. Did you observe any persons go in there? Yes; I noticed several persons go in while I stood there.

328. Did you notice whether they went in at one and the same time or at different times? I did not notice that.

329. Was there any confusion or any excitement—will you explain the state of things when you went there? There was great excitement when I went there. They were clamouring to get forward to record their votes. There appeared to be a large number waiting, and they were clamouring, and seemed to be in a great state of excitement.

330. In your estimation about how many were there? I suppose between eighty and 100 inside. Of course I could not tell exactly who had voted and who had not.

331. Did they appear to you to be persons desirous of voting or persons who had voted? They seemed to be desirous of voting, all those who were in there.

332. Can you explain the state of excitement—what was done or what was said? They were calling out for ballot-papers—trying to hurry the presiding officer on. But they had no ballot-papers. They were writing out ballot-papers, and they could not write them out fast enough.

333. Did you notice in particular the persons who were writing out ballot-papers? Just before the poll closed I got up close enough to see a Mr. Mitchell writing them out—a gentleman residing at Woonona.

334. Do you know whether he was a scrutineer? I do not think he was. I do not know for certain, but I think he was called in to assist.

335. He was not seated at the table as a scrutineer? No.

336. Did you get sufficiently close to the presiding officer to speak to him or any of the poll-clerks? No, I did not speak to the presiding officer.

337. Did you hear him say anything as to the insufficiency of the ballot-papers? Yes; I heard him say they had not sufficient ballot-papers, and that he had either telegraphed or written to Mr. Smith, the Returning Officer at Wollongong, for an additional supply of papers and he had not received them.

338. Did you understand that he was expecting them every moment? Yes; he explained that. The people got into a great state of excitement, and he went on to the platform and explained how it was that they could not get the chance of recording their votes.

339. And was it that which kept the people even as quiet as they were? Yes; I do not know what might have happened if he had not made that statement. They seemed to be in a desperate state just before he made that statement. In fact there were some threats made about kicking the ballot-box to pieces until Mr. Fry got up and explained matters.

340. Do you know a Mr. Draper? Yes.

341. Did you see him there? I do not recollect.
342. Do you know Mr. Powell? Yes.
343. Did you see him? No.
344. Were there many people outside the polling-booth? There seemed to be a good many; but I could not say whether the people outside had voted or not.
345. Are you in a position to give an estimate of the number? When I went inside there were I suppose forty or fifty people outside, and they all seemed anxious to get in.
346. And in your opinion were they people who, by their actions, seemed desirous of voting? Oh, yes; I think they were.
347. Do you know whether there were any persons who did not go to the polling-booth at all by reason of the shortness of the ballot-papers? No, I do not.
348. Did you hear anything of it? No, I did not.
349. Mr. Nicholson.] Would it not have been nearer for you to go to the polling-booth at Austinmer than to Bulli? No.
350. At what part of Robinsville do you live? I did not live at Robinsville at that time.
351. Did you not have an opportunity afforded you during the afternoon of being conveyed either to Bellambi or Austinmer by coach? No, I did not.
352. Are you not aware that there were two coaches there for that special purpose, if any of the electors liked to use them? No, I did not know that. It was a very wet day. I did not know there was any means of being conveyed to either of those places, and to walk there was out of the question.
353. Mr. Lysaght.] Do you believe that the number of electors who were at the Bulli polling-booth would have voted for Mr. Campbell if they could have recorded their votes? I could not say for whom they wished to vote.
354. Chairman.] How long were you at the polling-booth at Bulli? An hour and a quarter. I arrived there at about quarter to 3 o'clock.
355. And the crush to get near the presiding officer to record votes was so great that it was impossible for you to record your vote? Yes, I could not get near the presiding officer at all.
356. By reason of the rush of people endeavouring to vote? Yes. Towards the close the people could not be kept out. They pressed into the hall and the police could not keep them out. A large crowd got round the presiding officer, and I could not get near him. I did not like to force my way.
357. You have been asked if you could not have conveniently voted elsewhere instead of remaining at Bulli? I could not.
358. Even if you could do you think that the statement by the presiding officer to the effect that he expected ballot-papers every moment was sufficient to detain the voters at the booth—do you think it did detain them? Yes. Of course at the time he made that statement it was too late for them to go anywhere else.
359. Dr. Ross.] What was the occupation of the people who came to record their votes—were they farmers or miners? I could not say. I know some of them were miners and some were farmers from Sherbrook.
360. Is it not a common thing at election time for electors to hold back from recording their votes until late in the afternoon? I am not aware of it; I do not think so. I think that at Bulli especially they record their votes pretty early in the day. And so far as the Bulli miners are concerned they were working on that day. I was working myself to half-past 1 o'clock, so that I had not an opportunity of voting early.
361. Mr. Murphy.] As a matter of fact you can give us no idea, except in the way of a guess, as to how many of those in the room had not voted? No, it is only a guess; I cannot of course say for a certainty.
362. For a certainty you cannot say there were any, although there were a number of electors in the room? The fact of their having tickets in their hands showed very clearly that they had not voted. They had received their tickets outside.
363. As far as you know you do not know whether they had voted or not? No; I could not swear they had not, of course.
364. You have mentioned that you saw a Mr. Mitchell writing out ballot-papers;—did you see anyone else doing so? No, I cannot say I did. I was not close enough to see.
365. During the writing out of the ballot-papers did any delay take place in the recording of votes? Yes; great delay took place during the writing out of the ballot-papers. They could not write them out fast enough. There was a lot of time lost.
366. So much so that at times there were absolutely no persons voting? There was no voting going on at all at times.
367. It occasioned a lapse between votes being recorded? Yes.
368. Mr. Donald.] Did the presiding officer and the scrutineers commence to count votes when you were in the booth? No; everybody left the hall before they commenced to count the votes.
369. You did not hear the presiding officer order the men out? I heard him request them to leave the building.
370. Mr. Lysaght.] It was very wet that evening? It was a very wet day.
371. Who were the farmers from Sherbrook who had not voted? George Wales was one.
372. Can you mention any other farmers from Sherbrook who were there and who did not vote? I cannot recollect the names just now. I saw a Mr. Knight there. I saw two or three of Mr. Knight's brothers there—two, I think, besides himself.
373. Did they vote? I do not think they did; I could not say.
374. Then the number of farmers you saw from Sherbrook was about three or four? There were more, but I cannot recollect their names just now. I did not take a note of their names.
375. But you do not know whether they voted or not? No, I could not say.

Mr. Joseph Martin sworn and examined:—

376. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? At Woonona.
377. Are you an elector of Illawarra? Yes.
378. Did you record your vote at the last general election? I did not.
379. Will you explain to the Committee how it was you did not vote? There were not sufficient ballot-papers.

Mr.
W. Davis.
10 Sept., 1891.

Mr.
J. Martin.
10 Sept., 1891.
380.

Mr.
J. Martin.
10 Sept., 1891.

380. Where did you go to vote? To the Oddfellows' Hall, Bulli.
 381. At what hour in the day? At 1 o'clock.
 382. Did you get inside the polling-booth? Yes.
 383. Did you proceed to obtain your ballot-paper? Yes, but I could not get near the table.
 384. What was the reason? It was so thronged with people.
 385. About how many people do you think were in there? There must have been over 100 inside.
 386. Did you see any of the others vote while you were there? No. The table was so thronged that I could not see them vote.
 387. Did you notice the compartment in which they used their ballot-papers? No, I did not.
 388. You do not know in what part of the room it was situated? No.
 389. Did you hear the presiding officer say anything to the people? Yes—that he had sent for more ballot-papers.
 390. Did he say when he did that? No, he did not say when.
 391. Did that seem to satisfy the people to some extent? For the while.
 392. Was there any excitement there? Yes; when they found there were no ballot-papers forthcoming there was great excitement.
 393. Did you make every effort to endeavour to record your vote? Yes.
 394. Did you observe others doing the same? Yes.
 395. Did you notice how many people there were outside the building? No, I did not notice, but there were a great many.
 396. About how many do you think? I should think there were over 100.
 397. How long did you remain there? Until past 4 o'clock.
 398. The doors were all closed? Yes.
 399. Did you see any papers written out during that day? I did not see them written out, but I believe there were some written out.
 400. Mr. Nicholson.] You have stated that there were about 100 men inside the Oddfellows' Hall. At what particular time did you see that number there? That would be about 3 o'clock.
 401. Was there not an opportunity afforded you to ride by coach to either Bellambi or Austinmer to record your vote? No.
 402. Mr. Lysaght.] You live near Bellambi, do you not? About 2½ miles from Bellambi.
 403. Do you not live between the polling-place at Bulli and Bellambi? Yes, it is partly between.
 404. Dr. Ross.] Did you remain until the poll was closed at 4 o'clock? Yes.
 405. During the time you were there how many electors recorded their votes? That I could not tell you.
 406. Could you make anything like a guess—ten or twenty? I could not. There was such a clambering to get to the table when they found there were not ballot-papers enough that you could scarcely tell how things were going.
 407. Mr. Murphy.] Did you see any person writing out papers? No; I heard that the presiding officer was writing them out.
 408. Do you know how many people there were at the close of the poll who had not recorded their votes? A deal over 100 I should think.
 409. That you know of? No, not that I know of.
 410. How many do you know of who were prevented from recording their votes by the insufficiency of the ballot-papers? Well, for certain, there was myself and my two sons who did not.
 411. You know of three yourself? Yes.
 412. Chairman.] You say you went there at 1 o'clock to record your vote? Yes.
 413. And you had no opportunity of doing so between then and 4 o'clock? No.
 414. Was the fact that the ballot-papers had given out generally known throughout the township or district? Not until about 3 o'clock.
 415. Do you think any people were prevented from going to the polling-place to vote by reason of any rumour to that effect? No, I think not.
 416. You think all those who wanted to record their votes were at the polling-place? I think so.

Mr. Charles Henry Powell sworn and examined:—

Mr.
C. H. Powell.
10 Sept., 1891.

417. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? At Bulli.
 418. What is your occupation? Telegraph operator.
 419. Was your name on the electoral roll for Illawarra at the last general election? It was.
 420. Did you take any steps to record your vote on that occasion? I did record it.
 421. At about what hour of the day? At about 2 o'clock.
 422. Will you state to the Committee how you managed it? I waited a considerable time—fully an hour—before I succeeded in getting a chance to vote.
 423. Did you get a ballot-paper in the usual way from the presiding officer or the poll-clerk? I got a written paper from the presiding officer.
 424. After recording your vote did you remain there any time? I did at the request of the presiding officer.
 425. For what purpose? To help write out some ballot-papers.
 426. Did you do so? I did until the closing of the poll.
 427. Can you say from memory how many you did so write out? I have no idea.
 428. Whether it was 20, 50, or 10? I could not really say how many.
 429. How long were you so engaged? For fully three quarters of an hour.
 430. Writing them out, I suppose, as fast as you could? Yes.
 431. Did you remain until the close of the poll? I was busy writing until the close.
 432. During the time you were there can you say about how many people were inside the polling-booth? Fully 100 I suppose.
 433. Did you observe how many there were outside? Fully the same number outside, I think.
 434. Were there many inside who, in your opinion, were desirous of voting but were unable to record their votes? Yes, a great number.

435. And do you think the people outside were in a similar position—desirous of getting in to record their votes? I heard several express that themselves.
436. Were they pressing in to get into the building? Yes, they were.
437. Do you know whether any policemen were there? Yes, there were two policemen, one being stationed at the door.
438. Was their assistance in any way necessary? It was.
439. Where were they posted? One was at the door. I noticed him trying for a long time to keep the people back until they rushed past him.
440. They did rush past him? They did.
441. Did the presiding officer say anything to the people? Not until the close of the poll. There were several questions put to him, and he answered them.
442. But from the time you first went there was there anything said about ballot-papers? Yes, they were bothering him continually.
443. Did the presiding officer say anything concerning ballot-papers or the shortness of them? I did not hear him.
444. You knew, as a matter of fact, that they were short at the time you got there? Yes.
445. Was there anything said about some word having been sent to the Returning Officer for ballot-papers? The presiding officer wired the previous day to my knowledge to the Returning Officer at Wollongong.
446. I think you said you were the post and telegraph officer? Yes.
447. Do you know of your own knowledge, outside your duties as telegraph officer, whether any word was sent on the day of the polling? I cannot say.
448. You did not hear Mr. Fry say so? I did not.
449. You say that the excitement was great? Yes, it was very great.
450. Mr. Nicholson.] At what time did you go to the polling-booth? A few minutes after 2 o'clock.
451. Do you think there was a chance for any elector to record his vote who went there at 1 o'clock, and stopped there until that time? I could not say; I did not go until that time.
452. You said there were about 100 people inside the room when you went there? Yes, fully 100.
453. And you wrote out ballot-papers at the request of Mr. Fry? I did.
454. Did Mr. Fry initial these papers as they were handed to the electors? I handed them to Mr. Fry when I had written them, and he initialled them.
455. You are not aware that any were given to the electors without being initialled by Mr. Fry? I am not.
456. Do you think that the violence inside the hall was of such a character as to require the interference of the policemen, and the stopping of the poll? Both the policemen at one time requested the people to stand back from the table. They were all clamouring round for their papers.
457. You say there were two policemen in the hall? Yes.
458. Is it your opinion that there was such a disturbance as to materially interfere with the ballot, and sufficient to justify the presiding officer in stopping the polling? There was a disturbance at times, and the presiding officer had to request them to stand back, or the officials could not go on with the work.
459. Chairman.] Can you say what form the excitement in the polling-booth took of which we have heard so much? They were all clamouring for their papers, and in a manner preventing the officers from properly working. There was one man for instance who was taking the numbers and giving a ticket with the number on. They were clamouring round him and asking him to take their tickets, and hand them in so that they could get away. That was the nature of the excitement. They were all afraid, in my opinion, that they would not get their votes in in time.
460. And a great many did not succeed in recording their votes? They did not.
461. Do you think the rush of people round where the presiding officer was sitting incommoded him in any serious degree? I think so. The people were leaning over the scrutineers and others seated at the table.
462. Was it likely to cause any irregularity do you think? That I could not say.
463. Dr. Ross.] Were there any persons in the booth writing ballot-papers besides yourself? I believe there were.
464. How many? Two more to my knowledge.
465. There were three altogether? Three that I know of.
466. About how long would it take you to write a ballot-paper—5 minutes or 3 minutes? About from 2½ to 3 minutes I should think.
467. Mr. Murphy.] You went there at 3 o'clock? A little after 2.
468. And you succeeded in getting a ballot-paper and recording your vote? I did.
469. When you went there could not others who might have been there at the same time or even before your arrival have also succeeded in getting ballot-papers? It was just a system of chance. I wrote my number on a piece of paper and gave it to one of the scrutineers—Mr. Brown I believe his name was—and he had two handfuls of papers, and as he pickêd these numbers up he would call them out, and the presiding officer would give him the ballot-papers. According to the way they were doing it it was just a chance whether a person got his paper in an hour, or waited half an hour.
470. You say there were two others besides yourself engaged in writing out ballot-papers? I saw two others.
471. Were you engaged in that work for three-quarters of an hour? About three-quarters of an hour as far as I can judge.
472. I suppose it would be a fair estimate if we said that amongst the three you wrote out 100 papers? The other two were not writing continually, one was only writing for only a few minutes, and he could not have written out more than two or three.
473. Was there any great delay in the recording of votes owing to the writing out of the papers? Yes, there was waiting at times.
474. How long would the interval be? Until the presiding officer would take the ballot-paper from me, and he would have to wait then until I had written another one. I was writing alone for some considerable time.
475. Did the presiding officer initial the papers which were written out? To the best of my belief he did. I handed them to him.

- Mr. C. H. Powell. 476. How many persons do you say were unable to record their votes? To the best of my belief fully 100 were there who could not get to vote.
- 10 Sept., 1891. 477. That is inside? Yes.
478. Upon what do you base your calculation of the number of people who were there? From the clamour of them—they were all talking and excited. I took it for granted that those who had voted would not have anything to say on the matter.
479. As a matter of fact, it is purely a surmise on your part that they had not voted? Yes.
480. Mr. Cullen.] Had any writing been done when you got there? I believe so.
481. As a matter of fact you used a written paper? I did.
482. Which you had not written yourself? Yes.
483. Do you know whether any of the scrutineers were employed in writing ballot-papers? I do not.
484. You know it is the practice for electors who have voted to pass out at once? It is.
485. Were they able to carry out that rule? No, not in every case. There were a number there who had voted.
486. Through the confusion, I suppose? Yes.
487. You said some time ago that the number was about 100;—you referred, I suppose, to the number at the time of the closing of the poll? Yes.
488. With regard to the number who may have been outside—how can you speak? Well, there was great excitement when I was passing out, and I just took a glance, and would not be positive of the number.
489. Did you pass out soon after the closing of the poll? As near as I can judge, about a quarter of an hour afterwards.
490. Could you form any estimate as to the total number, whether inside or out, who were deprived of the opportunity of voting? I could not.
491. Mr. Donald.] You were not a poll-clerk or a scrutineer for any candidate? No.
492. Did you hear the presiding officer order the hall to be cleared? I did.
493. More than once? I heard him request the police to clear out those who had no business there.
494. Chairman.] How came you to write out these ballot-papers? The senior-sergeant of police informed me that the presiding officer would be glad of my help at the table writing out ballot-papers, and I complied with that request.
495. And who were the others who were similarly employed? The other two whom I saw writing were Mr. John Wynn and Mr. Joseph Morgan.
496. You say you left the hall at about a quarter past 4;—did you remain in during the time they were counting the ballot-papers? No.
497. Did the presiding officer clear the hall for the purpose of the count? I left before that occurred.
498. During the count do you know if there were any others in the hall besides the officials? I could not say.

Mr. Henry Strange Fry sworn and examined:—

- Mr. H. S. Fry. 499. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? Bulli.
- 10 Sept., 1891. 500. Were you presiding officer at the Bulli polling-booth on the occasion of the last general election? I was.
501. Did you before the day of polling communicate with the Returning Officer in any way? Yes, I sent a wire to him stating, "You have only sent me 350 papers, and 360 voted at the previous election."
502. You wrote that out and sent the telegram yourself? Yes.
503. Did you receive any reply on that day? No.
504. Did you do anything further in regard to communicating with Mr. Smith? No, nothing further. I expected the ballot-papers by every post. I sent down to the railway station to meet every train, and I sent to every post.
505. On the day of the polling did you make any further communication? No.
506. Did you on that day receive any word from him? Nothing whatever.
507. Up to the closing of the poll? No.
508. Did you make every inquiry at the post-office and the railway station? I sent continually to the post-office and the train.
509. Were you really expecting them during the day? I certainly was.
510. And did you intimate to the electors present that you expected ballot-papers? I did.
511. Will you explain, in your own words, whether there was any excitement or dissatisfaction expressed within the room? Oh, yes, there was a great deal of dissatisfaction naturally. People were very much disappointed at not being able to record their votes.
512. At what time did the ballot-papers give out? About half-past 2, I think.
513. You have been presiding officer for many years? Yes.
514. At Bulli? And elsewhere, but chiefly at Bulli.
515. Do you know, as a matter of fact, whether the numbers previously polled at Bulli have been anything like the number polled on that day or less? Nothing like it before. The time before the number was 363; this time it must have been about 416.
516. You only received 350 ballot-papers on this occasion, whereas at the last poll there were 363 votes? Yes.
517. Is it within your knowledge that the number of electors on the roll has increased for some years in that district? Yes, the number has increased. Still, on the other hand, it is supposed that there were at least 200 miners disfranchised in consequence of their having removed from the district during the strike, and gone to Newcastle and elsewhere. Owing to this circumstance it was supposed there would not be so many more.
518. You were not satisfied on the point when you sent the telegram to Mr. Smith, expressing your doubt about it? Certainly; the place is continually growing, and I should get a larger number of ballot-papers at every election.
519. Did you take any steps to enable the electors present to record their votes other than by printed ballot-papers? Yes, I was assisted by the scrutineers in writing out ballot-papers to satisfy the demand as far as I could.

520. Was any other person engaged in writing ballot-papers. I believe you asked Mr. Powell, for instance? Yes, Mr. Powell, the assistant postmaster.

521. Was any other person engaged in writing out ballot-papers besides the scrutineers and Mr. Powell? Not that I am aware of. I asked no one but Mr. Powell besides the five officials.

522. Was not Mr. Draper so engaged? He was a scrutineer.

523. Were you inconvenienced in any way on that day in the discharge of your duties, by reason of the crowd? Oh, yes; towards 4 o'clock they burst the door—at least the policemen could not let them in one at a time. It was raining so intolerably that they rushed in, and then they would not go out again. The policemen could not keep them quiet, and they crowded round the table, or else we might have written out a great many more papers.

524. How many electors were within the polling-booth during the course of the afternoon? There may have been between thirty and forty after they forced the policemen on one side.

525. As the people recorded their votes did they leave the room. I suppose they went in at the main door, and out the side door? Yes, they should have done.

526. And you really felt the necessity of calling in the aid of the policemen? Yes.

527. Is there a general dissatisfaction, to your knowledge, that the people were unable to record their votes on that day? Oh, yes, a great many complaints.

528. Can you say, from your own knowledge, as an old resident there, that it is the general wish that there should be this inquiry? Oh, I think so. The residents of the neighbourhood were very neglectful in not recording their votes earlier in the day. There were people who passed the door six or seven times in the day, and did not come to vote until between 2 and 4 o'clock. They knew the pits only worked half a day, and that the men would come down about half-past 2.

529. Do you know for what period Mr. Smith, the Returning Officer has been acting in that capacity? Since his father's death—twelve or fourteen years, I think.

530. He is a man of considerable experience in the discharge of his duty? Yes.

531. Mr. Nicholson.] You say that the ballot-papers gave out at about half-past 2 o'clock? As far as I remember.

532. You took the best steps you could afterwards to enable the electors to record their votes? Yes.

533. Did you initial all the written ballot-papers as well as the printed ones? They all passed through my hands, and I initialled them.

534. You said there were something like thirty or forty people in the hall at one time; do you think there were any more than that number? There may have been. But sitting at the table and having the people crowding round me, I could not see. I was too busy to look much.

535. Do you suppose there were more than fifty there? There may have been.

536. Do you think that the disturbance that took place amounted to anything like a riot or anything serious? Not before 4 o'clock—there was no row until the closing of the poll.

537. Not sufficient to induce you to stop the poll? No.

538. Do you think that if all the people who were there had recorded their votes it would have altered the actual result? No.

539. Mr. Murphy.] Did I understand you to say that as far as you could judge there were about thirty or forty electors at the closing of the poll who had not recorded their votes? No; I could not say whether they had voted or not.

540. Was there any great delay in the recording of the votes owing to your having to write out the papers? Certainly.

541. How many papers do you think were written out from the time the printed papers gave out until the poll closed? There may have been about sixty.

542. Mr. Cullen.] You have no doubt about all the written papers that were served out being initialled by yourself? I do not think one passed me. The ballot-box was in front of me, and every one of the papers passed through my hands.

543. And had there been any such papers in the box they would have been discovered by you in the counting of the votes? Yes; or by the scrutineers.

544. So far as you were able to meet the need you have no doubt it was done satisfactorily? They were all duly initialled.

545. Could you form any estimate of the number of people who were in attendance at or about the polling-booth, but who were unable to vote? I should think from the number of those I heard singing out their numbers, and holding up their tickets, about thirty or forty.

546. That is inside? Yes.

547. Have you any knowledge of what number there may have been outside unable to get in? None whatever.

548. Mr. Donald.] Did you know that you could have postponed the proceedings for a riot or for any disturbance? There was no disturbance until 4 o'clock.

549. Did you order the room to be cleared? Yes; I asked the police to clear the room, but they could not.

550. Did you not think that that was a sufficient disturbance to cause the postponement of the ballot? I did not. It was dreadful weather outside.

551. Mr. Lysaght.] How far is the Bellambi polling-booth from the Bulli polling-booth? I should think about 2½ or 3 miles.

552. You have written ballot-papers out before at other elections at Bulli? On one occasion—some half dozen.

553. Did Mr. Artis ever assist you in writing ballot-papers at any previous election? I could not charge my memory.

554. Chairman.] Did you make any statement to the people in the hall as to the ballot-papers being exhausted, or give any information? Yes.

555. What did you say? I said I was very sorry this had happened; but I had not been supplied with sufficient ballot-papers, and I did my utmost to carry it through.

556. Did you say you were expecting any ballot-papers? I said I expected them every hour.

557. Then the irritation of the crowd only showed itself when 4 o'clock came? Yes; when they found I could not take any more votes; then they were very noisy.

Mr.
H. S. Fry.
10 Sept., 1891.

- Mr. H. S. Fry. 558. How did the voting proceed during the time all these people were crowding round your table as you describe;—did you give the ballot-papers in the ordinary way, and did the voters go behind the screen?
 10 Sept., 1891. Oh, yes; they all went behind the screen to erase the names.
559. Do you think the majority of them left the hall after recording their votes, or did they remain? They remained.
560. Dr. Ross.] Could you form any approximate idea of the number of people who were deprived of the opportunity of voting owing to the delay in writing out the papers? About thirty or forty.
561. Had the papers been in readiness do you think it would have made any difference in the result of the election? No.
562. Chairman.] If you had had all the ballot-papers printed, do you think you could have supplied all the electors with ballot-papers? I could have carried it through.
563. They could all have voted? Yes.
564. Then writing the papers did cause delay? Yes.

Mr. Edwin Knight, sworn and examined:—

- Mr. E. Knight. 565. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? At Woonona.
- 10 Sept., 1891. 566. Your name was on the electoral roll for Illawarra at the last general election? Yes.
567. Did you make any attempt to record your vote at the Bulli polling-booth? I recorded it early in the morning.
568. And were you about the polling-booth for any length of time on that day? Yes; with the exception of half an hour I was there during the whole day.
569. Were you inside the polling-booth for any longer time than it took you to record your vote during that day? In the afternoon I was, when they ran short of ballot-papers.
570. About what time do you think that was? About half-past 2 as near as I can remember.
571. About half-past 2 the ballot-papers ran short? That was about the time at which it was known outside that they had run short.
572. From whom did you hear that they were short? From the electors who were talking outside.
573. Did you hear the presiding officer himself say anything about it? No.
574. Did you see any persons writing out ballot-papers? Yes.
575. Could you name any of them? There was Mr. Powell, Mr. Fry, Mr. Draper, and all the scrutineers.
576. Did you see any confusion, or was anything said by way of dissatisfaction? Yes, there was great commotion among the electors when they found the time drawing near for the closing of the poll. There were about 300 or so in the hall, and a great many of them were dissatisfied at not being able to record their votes.
577. In and about the hall? In the hall. A great many people were in the hall just before the closing. I should think there were 300 people in the hall.
578. To your knowledge were the majority of these persons anxiously desirous of voting? Well, I could not say the majority were, but there were a great many inside the hall and outside who were dissatisfied because they could not record their votes.
579. You heard them so express themselves? Yes, I heard them. In fact a good many of them put their names down in pencil on a bit of paper outside the hall.
580. Did you see any of the electors taking their ballot-paper to the compartment appointed for the purpose of striking out the names? Yes; I saw them go into the place, and a number even had their papers issued, and when the presiding officer declared the poll closed, they were not able to record their votes. A great many had their papers in their hands.
581. Was the compartment used for the purpose of striking out the names situated at the back of the Returning Officer, at the front of him, or at the side of him? It was in a corner of the room on the left hand.
582. At the back of the presiding officer rather than at the front? It was on the left, and slightly behind the presiding officer.
583. During the time you were there did you observe the people taking their ballot-papers, and going to the compartment? Yes.
584. Did you see more than one go there? I daresay there were half a dozen who could not get in. I heard the remark made, "You cannot get in there, there are too many in now." I heard that remark passed, but who the individuals were I could not say.
585. Do you think that the state of things that existed during the time you were there was such as would be likely to create irregularity at the election? If there had been sufficient ballot-papers I believe all the electors in Bulli would have been able to record their votes.
586. But was there such an amount of confusion and excitement there as very probably to lead to irregularity in the recording of votes? Well there was a great crowd between half-past 3 and 4, and they were very noisy—in fact the people were crushing round the place, and the policemen put one person out at the side door.
587. Would you be surprised to hear that any person recorded more votes than one under the circumstances? Well I would be surprised, though the probability is the thing could be done the way things were.
588. How many people did you notice outside the polling-booth who were prevented from getting in? Just before 4 o'clock, with the exception of about fifty, all the people were in the hall. There was a lot of talking going on, and crowding up to get their ballot-papers at the table; in fact the table was regularly rushed.
589. About how many ballot-papers do you think were written out? That I could not say.
590. But you say they were busily engaged during the whole time writing out ballot-papers? Yes.
591. Have you taken any steps to ascertain how many persons recorded their votes on that day, and how many did not? Yes.
592. Is this paper in your handwriting? Yes. [Paper produced.]
593. What does it show? It gives the names of persons who, from what I know personally, or from very good authority, I have ascertained were present, but could not record their votes; and also the names of persons who, I believe, were there, but as to whom, I have not had proof.
- 594.

594. Will you read the headings? Yes; "those marked thus (with red and blue cross) present, but could not record their votes." "Those marked thus (red) doubtful if present, but did not record their votes."

595. Do I understand you to say that you examined the electoral roll? Yes, I have gone through the electoral roll.

596. Do you desire to say anything else as to what you saw or heard on the occasion of the polling at Bulli, as to the state of excitement, or any remarks that were made? I might say that there was no excitement, except during the last hour and a half before the close of the poll; in fact everything went on very smoothly. No one was allowed in the hall prior to about half-past 2, except those who recorded their votes, and passed out again. The public did not go in till about half-past 2.

597. Mr. Nicholson.] You say there was a large number of electors in the hall who had not an opportunity of recording their votes? Yes.

598. Which of the candidates do you suppose was suffering most from the fact that they could not record their votes? I could not say that one individual candidate suffered more than another.

599. You undertook to get up this list from the electoral roll, of those who had not recorded their votes? Yes.

600. How many names on the list are those of persons who were absent from the district during the time of the election? None to my knowledge. These are not all those on the list; there are a great many on the electoral roll. These are not the names on the electoral roll. These were there at the polling-booth.

601. It is not a complete list of the electors? No, of not more than a third of the electors.

602. Are you aware that a great many of these electors could have been conveyed during the afternoon, either to Austinmer or Bellambi, to record their votes? You know there were two coaches there for that purpose, if they liked to avail themselves of the opportunity. Yes, but no one would have that idea, for the simple reason that it was very wet, and Mr. Fry told them that he had telegraphed to Wollongong for papers, and expected them every minute, until it got near for the time of closing the poll.

603. Do you know that such an offer was made to several electors in front of the Oddfellows' Hall at Bulli? Not in my hearing; I never heard it.

604. Do you not know it was made? No.

605. Mr. Lysaght.] You were a member of the committee of a certain candidate? Yes.

606. Are you aware that there were several covered coaches at Bulli prepared to convey the voters anywhere? Yes, there were three coaches, I believe, if not four.

607. How far is Bellambi from the Bulli polling place? It is between 2½ and 3 miles from the Oddfellows' Hall to Bellambi.

608. Are you aware that several coaches had to be sent from Wollongong to Fairy Meadow, a distance of 3 miles when the rush came in the afternoon to convey voters there to poll? I have heard so.

609. Dr. Ross.] Do you know how many votes were recorded at Bulli that day? No, I have no idea.

610. Mr. Wise.] As a matter of fact did the people who were prevented from polling at Bulli go over to the other polling-place? No; Mr. Fry told them the ballot-papers were expected every minute from Wollongong.

611. Mr. Murphy.] On the list which you have produced there are sixty-eight marked as persons who could not record their votes; of those how many do you know, of your own personal knowledge, were unable to record their votes? Most of them I visited personally, and as to a few of them I got the information from their wives or daughters.

612. How many out of the sixty-eight do you know were unable to record their votes? I could not tell without looking at the list.

613. You say you compared the list with the electoral roll? I first copied from the electoral roll the names of persons who did not vote that day. That number I reduced down to those whom I personally visited, and those are marked on the list with a blue pencil. The others I had not a chance of seeing.

614. What roll was it that you compared the list with? One of the scrutineer's rolls.

615. As a matter of fact people may have recorded their votes whose names that scrutineer did not check off? Yes, probably.

616. And again some of those very persons whose names you have checked off with blue pencil might have recorded their votes and that scrutineer might not have ticked them off? It would have been almost impossible, because I have been very careful not to put the blue mark unless I was certain. The names with the red mark are those of persons as to whom I am not absolutely certain.

617. You have only got their word that they did not record their votes? That is all.

618. But as a matter of fact they may have recorded their votes and not have been ticked off by the scrutineer whose roll you used? They would then be leading me astray.

619. As far as the compiling of that list is concerned, you have no proper grounds for saying that the persons mentioned have not recorded their votes, except that they were not ticked off on the roll of one of the scrutineers, and they said they had not voted? There are a great many of these names that are checked. I saw them personally at the hall and they told me then that they had not voted.

620. Was there a poll-clerk there? There was the presiding officer.

621. Did he tick a roll off? Yes.

622. It was not his roll you used? No.

623. Mr. Cullen.] You said there were a number of people who had their papers, but were unable to vote. Do you mean their tickets with their numbers on or ballot-papers? Ballot-papers issued by the presiding officer. There was a great rush round the presiding officer, and he was giving them out as fast as he could, but there was a glut in the little place at the corner, and I heard one man say, "There are three in there already," and while they were waiting their turn the presiding officer declared the polling closed.

624. So that there were actually some who had ballot-papers who could not use them? Yes.

625. What is your estimate of the number in the hall who were unable to record their votes? I could not say exactly. I reckon there would be about 300 people in the hall.

626. I want you to give me your estimate as to the number of persons who were in the hall or about the hall, and who were unable to vote; have you made an estimate? I have. The sixty-eight, I am sure, were all present there.

627. And were unable to vote? Yes.

628. Have you reason to believe there were any others? Yes.

Mr.
E. Knight.
10 Sept., 1891

Mr.
E. Knight.
10 Sept., 1891.

629. On what evidence? I have only got the sixty-eight marked here, but one gentleman, Mr. Thomas Bateman, has told me since that he was down, and could not record his vote, and there might be many more. So that I believe I am under the mark when I say sixty-eight.
630. You have given another list of persons—of what category are they? They are persons who did not vote, but as to whom I could not say positively whether they were at the hall or not. There was a man named William Cram. I went to see him and I said, "Were you down at the hall?" "No," he said, "I did not get further than 'Guard's Royal Hotel.'" When I got there I heard there were no ballot-papers, and there was no good my going down."
631. Mr. Wise.] Was it known in the district that the ballot-papers had run out? Yes, it was known at Woonona.
632. Mr. Donald.] Did you say that there were 300 people in the hall? Yes.
633. Was the hall full? No.
634. Do you know that not more than 300 could stand in the hall? I know they can. I have seen money taken for 550, and there is seating accommodation for 350—comfortable seating accommodation.
635. Mr. Woodward.] You are the secretary in charge of that hall, I believe? I am.
636. Mr. Donald.] A hall 60 feet by 30 feet is not calculated to seat more than 300? Each seat will comfortably hold ten, and there are supposed to be forty-eight.
637. Do you know how many there were outside? There were not many—there might be fifty scattered here and there in groups. Most of the people, when the ballot-papers ran out, flocked into the hall.
638. Chairman.] You said that during the rush five or six voters were at one time behind the screen? I heard the remark, "There are two or three in there already; there are too many in there now, and you cannot get in." There were five or six with their papers who could not get behind the screen to record their votes.
639. Do you think that there were any people about Bulli, or in the district generally, who did not come to vote, by reason of a rumour or statement that the ballot-papers were exhausted? Only one man, William Cram, told me so, when I was inquiring as to whether he was down to record his vote.
640. Mr. Woodward.] Were there not two others who did not go to the poll because there were no ballot-papers? Yes, Trueman and Pritchard.
641. They did not go to the poll because they heard there were no ballot-papers? They got to within about 100 yards of the booth and then they went away together.
642. Do you not think it likely there were many others? Yes.
643. Mr. Nicholson.] Do you not know that Mr. Trueman and his mate positively refused to go in one of the coaches to Bellambi or Austinmer? No; I could not say.

Mr. Frederick William Draper sworn and examined :—

Mr.
F. W. Draper.
10 Sept., 1891.

644. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? At Bulli at present.
645. You were engaged at the Bulli polling-booth at the last general election? I was.
646. In what capacity? As scrutineer for Mr. Campbell.
647. Did you say anything to the presiding officer as to the mode of the election, or as to the way in which it was going on? Yes; because I could not get writing I told him I protested against its going on.
648. Why was that? Because we were crushed in with the crowd of people around, and I could not see to tick off the numbers of the people who voted.
649. That is to say, as scrutineer you could not tick off the names on the electoral roll? Yes.
650. You were positively prevented from doing so? Yes; the crush was so great that I could not write.
651. Did you make that protest more than once? Yes, two or three times. I said to Mr. Fry, "I protest against this; I cannot get writing; I cannot see what I am doing."
652. What became of your electoral roll? I forwarded it by Mr. Cram to Wollongong.
653. Were you able yourself to record your vote? No; I did not record it.
654. At what hour of the day did the ballot-papers become short? I should think from half-past 2 to half-past 3—I would not be certain.
655. What was done with the view of providing ballot-papers after that time? Myself and others were instructed to write out ballot-papers.
656. Was there any crush or any excitement during this time? Yes; a crowd was around the door, and there was a policeman standing with his arms before the door. They shoved him on one side and came in and pressed round the table.
657. And they interfered with your duties? Yes.
658. About how many were in the hall at one time? I could hardly say, because they were crowded all round the table, but I should think there was something over 100, at all events.
659. Were there any persons manifesting any desire to vote? Yes.
660. What did they do? They passed their tickets up saying, "Here's mine; take mine."
661. Tickets with the number on the roll? Yes.
662. Did they all get ballot-papers, to your knowledge? On, no.
663. Do you know who wrote out the ballot-papers? Yes; I did for one, Mr. Fry himself, his son, Mr. Powell, Mr. Joseph Morgan, and a Mr. Mitchell.
664. Was any one of them engaged as scrutineer or in any other official capacity? No, I think not.
665. How many altogether were writing out ballot-papers? Those I have mentioned.
666. Do you think it possible under the circumstances that ballot-papers could have been used—that is to say, put into the ballot-box—without having passed through the hands of the presiding officer? Yes; it struck me while we were writing them that that was possible to be done.
667. That, amongst other things, was the reason of your protest? No; I did not say anything concerning that at that time.
668. Did you continue to endeavour to discharge your duties up to the time of the close of the poll, at 4 o'clock? I did; but I was unable to do so, and therefore I protested.
669. Will you describe the kind of excitement and what was really going on within the building? There was one person behind me who said, "Let us rush the ballot-box;" but the trooper was standing there in front of the ballot-box in case they should attempt to rush it. There was great excitement going on.

670. Did you think the necessity arose for a policeman to be so close to the ballot-box to protect it? I did.
671. Were there many people on the platform? There were some, but I could not see behind, because the crowd were bending right over me.
672. Did you notice the position of the compartment into which the voters went to strike out the names? It was to the left of the presiding officer.
673. Did you observe any of the voters going into that compartment to discharge their duty? I could not see after the crowd came in.
674. As to whether one, two, or more at any one time went into the compartment, you are unable to say? I am.
675. Do you think it is a likely event? Well, I could not say how they went after the crowd came in.
676. Were you able to record your vote? I did not do so.
677. Can you say anything else as to what occurred there? One person got on the platform and he said he considered we voted after the time. One person said it was 3 minutes past the hour, and if one was allowed to vote after 4 o'clock they should all be allowed.
678. He was addressing the electors? Yes; and he stayed there, and wanted to know if they could be compelled to leave the hall before they had all voted, as they came there to record their votes; and they asked the presiding officer whether if they remained in the hall they could demand voting papers, and have their votes before the poll was closed.
679. After 4 o'clock? Yes.
680. Do you recollect how many people were within the hall just at that juncture? There was a great crowd; I could not say how many. There were more at that time than at any other period of the day.
681. And I think you spoke previously of 100? Yes, I did.
682. Mr. Nicholson.] You say you were scrutineer for Mr. Campbell? Yes.
683. You went there, I presume, about 8 o'clock in the morning? Yes; I was inside at 8 o'clock.
684. You stayed there all day, and did not have an opportunity of recording your vote;—is that a fact? I had an opportunity in the morning, but I did not do so, I kept putting it off.
685. It was purely your own fault that you did not do so? Well, up to dinner time.
686. There was any amount of spare time during which you could have recorded your vote? I could have done so up to dinner time, but I did not do so, thinking I would have time in the afternoon.
687. Did you see any ballot-papers passed to the box without going into the hands of the presiding officer to be initialled? No.

Mr.
F. W. Draper.
10 Sept., 1891.

Mr. Frederick Brown sworn and examined:—

688. Mr. Woodward.] Where do you reside? At Bulli.
689. Were you engaged at the Bulli polling-booth at the last general election? Yes.
690. I think you were a scrutineer? Yes.
691. Did you, as a scrutineer, receive from any electors any papers? No.
692. Did you receive any tickets with numbers on them? Yes.
693. These were the numbers of the respective voters on the roll? Yes.
694. What did you do with them? I kept them.
695. Have you them now? No.
696. Can you say about how many there were? Between fifty and sixty.
697. Did those persons get from you or the presiding officer any ballot-papers? No, not for those tickets.
698. Was it not understood that you were to have those numbers here to-day? No.
699. About how many people, do you know, were in the hall? About 150 or 160.
700. You did not go outside to see how many were there? No.
701. Mr. Nicholson.] You were there acting as a scrutineer? Yes.
702. Are you pretty well acquainted with the Sherbrook people? Yes.
703. Do you remember any of the Sherbrook electors who were down there, and who were unable to record their votes? Yes.
704. Will you name any particular individual? Mr. Franklin Knight.
705. Was his brother Alfred Knight down there? No.
706. Do you know Mr. Thomas Brown, of Sherbrook? Yes.
707. Was he down there to record his vote? No.
708. Was Mr. William Brown down to record his vote? No.
709. Do you remember any other Sherbrook people who were down there to record their votes? No; I do not know of any others. They may have been down for all I know.
710. You were sitting there as scrutineer all day;—did you see any ballot-papers, printed or written, pass into the ballot-box without being in the hands of the presiding officer, to be initialled by him? No, I did not.
711. Everything was carried on in a fair and regular way? Yes.
712. Do you think if there had been a sufficient number of ballot-papers, and they had been duly issued up to the close of the poll at 4 o'clock, it would have made any material difference in the result? That I could not say.
713. What is your opinion about it;—do you think it would have given any proportionate increase to one candidate over another—any difference; that is to say, in their relative positions? I could not say.
714. Is it your opinion that the result would have been changed if the whole of the electors had voted? I could not give an answer to that. I was not to know which way they were going to vote.
715. Well, if they had all voted in a particular way? That I could not say.
716. Mr. Lysaght.] You were my scrutineer? Yes.
717. I did not send to bring you here to-day? No.
718. And since I met you here I have not mentioned this matter to you in any way? No.
719. Chairman.] Do I understand you to say that, as scrutineer, you received about sixty tickets from persons who wished to vote, but who did not record their votes? Those persons handed to me their numbers on the electoral roll. I was taking the numbers.
720. Of those sixty you are sure none recorded their votes? Yes, I am sure.
721. By reason of the delay occasioned in writing out the ballot-papers? Yes.

Mr.
F. Brown.
10 Sept., 1891.

- Mr. F. Brown. 722. Do you think any irregularities were caused by the crushing round the table that has been described—in the way of voting generally? No.
- 10 Sept., 1891. 723. As scrutineer, you looked after the interests of your candidate;—you saw that nothing irregular took place? Yes; nothing irregular took place.
724. You believe all the ballot-papers were initialled as required? Yes.
725. Did you hear the presiding officer make any statement to the crowd generally as to the want of ballot-papers? Yes.
726. What did he say? Well, they ran short of papers, and he said they expected some by the train, and he sent a messenger over to the train on three different occasions to see if they had come.
727. As a matter of fact none did come? No.
728. And a great many electors were debarred from voting by reason of there not being any ballot-papers? Yes.
729. Mr. Wise.] Did the electors remain at the polling-booth or go elsewhere to record their votes? That I could not say.
730. Dr. Ross.] Did you record your vote on that occasion? Yes.
731. It is not a common occurrence during an election for the electors to hold back until near the closing of the poll. Was there not a rush about an hour and a half before the poll was closed? There was a rush $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours or 3 hours before.
732. Did they not come in pretty steadily during the forepart of the day to record their votes? Yes, they did come in pretty steady.
733. Mr. Murphy.] From whom did these persons receive their numbers? From canvassers outside with electoral rolls.
734. Are you sure that the numbers you have in your possession now are the same numbers as they received from the canvassers outside;—as a matter of fact could they not have written their numbers out on a second piece of paper? No.
735. Without having obtained their number from a canvasser outside they could have written their number on a second piece of paper? Certainly they could.
736. The very fact of your having these numbers is not positive proof that these men did not vote? Well, it is in this way: Each time I read the number out—I had them in my pocket—the other scrutineers and the presiding officer got the number, and it happened to be the right number each time—the man's name was there right. And to give them a fair show I used to mix all the tickets up so that no one could say I was doing an injustice.
737. Do you think there were any more besides those who did not vote? Yes, I believe so.
738. How many more, do you think? There were more I know, but I could not say how many.
739. Mr. Cullen.] Is it not unusual for any number of tickets to accumulate with the scrutineers? I do not know that it is—that was the first time that I was ever a scrutineer. I will explain what was done. We were rushed so much by the people, each one wanting a ballot-paper and crowding around the table, that we thought it would be better instead of their handing in their numbers to different scrutineers that one should take all the tickets, and so I took them and put them on the table, and I mixed them all up, and then drew out one at a time so as to give every voter a fair chance.
740. You called out the ticket and the man came for his ballot-paper? Yes.
741. Would it not have been fairer still if you could have given them the ticket in the order in which they came? But you would not know which one came first.
742. There was such a crowd? Yes.
743. Did you actually count the number of those tickets you had at the close of the poll? I gave them a rough count at the time. I made fifty-six of them.
744. And do you believe there were some voters in the hall who had not handed in their tickets? That I could not say.
745. Do you know whether there were any intending voters who did not get in at all? Yes; there were some.
746. How do you know? They went home.
747. How do you know? I was told.
748. Mr. Donald.] Did you protest against the ballot being carried on whilst the crowd were in the hall? No; I did not.
749. Did you hear any one else do so? No.

Mr. Emanuel Pitchford sworn and examined:—

- Mr. E. Pitchford. 750. Mr. Nicholson.] Where do you reside? At Bulli.
- 10 Sept., 1891. 751. Were you acting as scrutineer at Bulli on the day of the election? I was.
752. About what time of the day was it when the printed ballot-papers ran short? Just about 2 o'clock or a quarter past.
753. Are you aware whether Mr. Fry had taken any steps to procure more? Yes; at the time we started he made a reference to the scrutineers to say that he would be short of ballot-papers, and that he had sent a wire to the Returning Officer for more.
754. Do you know whether he got a reply to that wire or not? No, I do not.
755. No ballot-papers came? No.
756. What was the next proceeding;—did Mr. Fry proceed to write out papers? Mr. Fry started to write some out, and I asked him whether it would be legal or not, and he gave us the Act to read and we considered it would be legal.
757. Did he have any assistance in writing out the papers? Yes; Mr. Draper was writing some out, and his son, and also a man named Joseph Morgan.
758. Were all these papers duly initialled by the presiding officer? Yes; every paper was initialled by Mr. Fry before it was given to the voter.
759. Did you see any papers pass Mr. Fry without being initialled? Not one.
760. Was there much of a crowd in the room during the day or in the afternoon? Just the last thing towards night, for the last quarter of an hour, perhaps, there might have been about forty people.

Mr.
E. Pitchford.
10 Sept., 1891.

761. Do you think there were many of those forty people who had not recorded their votes? There were a great many who had recorded their votes, because I could tell them by their faces, having seen them when they came to vote. There seemed to be as many who had recorded their votes as there were of those who had not.
762. Did you notice any particular individual amongst the crowd whom you knew had recorded his vote? Yes; my own mate was one—David Maher.
763. Have you any reason to believe there was much of a crowd outside as well who had not recorded their votes? No; I do not believe there was, because it was raining very hard.
764. You know a good many of the people about Sherbrook? Yes; I know several of the people.
765. Do you know of several electors from that particular place who were not down there to record their votes? Yes. There was a man named Albert Smithers—I did not see him down there, and there were the Brown brothers—I did not see them.
766. At any time during the afternoon did you hear Mr. Draper, one of the scrutineers, protest against the election continuing? No; I did not.
767. Had Mr. Draper an opportunity at any time during the day to record his own vote? Yes; any amount of time in the morning—the first five hours.
768. Is it your opinion that on the whole the voting was conducted in a fair and legitimate manner to every candidate alike? Yes; I believe it was equally fair to each candidate. I could not see the slightest difference.
769. Is it your opinion that the result would have been altered had there been sufficient ballot-papers there? No. It is my opinion that it would not have altered the election in any way, because I could not see where the people were to come from to give the votes.
770. Do you think there was anything in the shape of a sufficient disturbance in the hall to justify the presiding officer in stopping the proceedings at any time in the afternoon? No; not if he had had any papers to go on, there was nothing to stop him.
771. No serious disturbance? No.
772. Did you notice if at any time the table where the scrutineers were sitting was rushed to such an extent that you could not mark off the names on the roll? Yes; a few people did come rushing the table down at our end where we were sitting. The poll-clerk could keep on doing his writing, and Mr. Fry could do his, but there was a short time during which we could not tick off the names.
773. Did you notice whether, at any time during the day, there was more than one voter in the place partitioned off for the secrecy of the ballot? No; I did not. Whenever the presiding-officer would see any one he would call out not to go in until the other came out. He was very particular and very careful over that. Mr. Fry himself went into the compartment once or twice to instruct one or two of the voters who did not know how to vote.
774. Mr. Lysaght.] How far is the Bellambi polling-place from the Bulli polling-place, round the road? I have walked it two or three times. I should think it would be $1\frac{3}{4}$ miles, as near as I can tell.
775. That is from one polling-booth to the other? Yes.
776. Chairman.] You say Mr. Fry went behind the screen with a voter to instruct him how to vote? He went to one side. The man who could not write wanted him to show him the names, and he asked the scrutineer if he could do so.
777. Mr. Fry went aside with this man who could not read or write and scored the names out, not in the presence of the scrutineers but in the presence of the voter? Yes, he read the names down for him.
778. He went in behind the screen? I think so—I know he went on one side with him.
779. Was that done in the majority of cases where a man could not read or write? There was only the one man, I think. He was a poor old man whose name I forget.
780. Mr. Nicholson.] Was it old Charley Willett? I believe it was.
781. Chairman.] Have you any idea how many people were prevented from voting through not being able to get ballot-papers? We were considering over that. We had a lot of papers left and were counting them up, and we got as many as 50 that were left on the table; but I found when I came to look at the numbers and compare them with the electoral roll that there were a good many of them who had voted.
782. You mentioned the names of two or three voters who did not record their votes; will you repeat those names—persons who did not go to the poll to vote? There was Albert Smithers and the Brown brothers. I did not see them there. They live up at Sherbrook. It was a very wet day.
783. Was it generally reported about Bulli that the ballot-papers had been exhausted? I do not know. It was reported that some ballot-papers were exhausted, and one would tell the other.
784. Do you think it probable that any numbers refrained from going to the polling-booth by reason of any rumour or statement made to them that there were no ballot-papers? I could not say.
785. Mr. Wise.] Was there a whole holiday that day? No, the pit was worked half-day.
786. What time did the pit knock off? About a quarter to 12, I think.
787. Is the pit mouth any distance from the polling-place? About a mile.
788. I suppose the men would go home first, and have dinner and then come to the poll? Yes. There were a few who came in their pit-clothes.
789. Mr. Woodward.] Do you know whether Mr. Frederick Brown was a scrutineer on that occasion? Yes.
790. He had a number of tickets I understand with numbers upon them? Yes; he was taking the tickets.
791. By common consent between you, he was the scrutineer who received the tickets? Yes.
792. Did you and he, or any of the scrutineers in your presence, count those tickets? I counted them. He did not know I had them until I told him.
793. About how many did you make? I had fifty, but I found there were thirty of them who had voted.
794. When did you find that out? After comparing them with the electoral roll.
795. Then? No, since.
796. But did you take them away from the polling-booth or did Brown? I took them away.
797. What became of them? I believe they are in hand now if you want them.
798. In your hands? I think I could find them.
799. But did you give them to Brown afterwards? No; I did not—he has never seen them.
800. They have not been destroyed? No.

- Mr. E. Pitchford. 10 Sept., 1891.
801. But you took the trouble to compare those numbers with the like numbers on the electoral roll, and it now seems that as regards some of those numbers the electors did record their votes? Yes.
802. Dr. Ross.] Do you know how many printed papers were used before they ran out at half-past 2 o'clock? I believe every one of the printed papers had gone at half-past 2, and there were 350.
803. What was the total number of votes recorded? Four hundred and sixteen.
804. Mr. Murphy.] You say that up to within half an hour of the closing of the poll there was no big crowd inside the hall? The crowd came in about half an hour before.
805. But previous to that there was no great crowd? No.
806. And of how many persons did that crowd consist? I should think there were forty in there at the time.
807. Do you think if I had been there and made a guess of 300, I would have been anywhere near the mark? No; I am sure you would not. A great rush came just directly the poll was closed.
808. But previous to the closing of the poll at no time were there 300 there? Oh, no.
809. Nor 200? No. It was I who asked the presiding officer to go and let a few of them in as they were standing out in the rain, but I found I had made a mistake.
810. Was the crowd in the hall so great at any time as to prevent the ballot-papers from being written out? No, not at all; they kept writing all the time.
811. Was there any great delay in the voting through the writing of the ballot-papers? Yes, there was delay through the writing of the papers.
812. Mr. Cullen.] How did you get possession of these tickets? The people, as they came in to vote, all being anxious to vote, put the tickets down on the table. As soon as the poll was closed, I took these tickets and put them in my pocket.
813. Had you been a scrutineer at any previous election? Yes.
814. Was a similar course taken then? No. I never saw the numbers sent in so much. On other occasions they were not brought in and put on the table, because the electors would get their ballot-papers and go straight away, but in this instance there were a lot of tickets put on the table at the same time.
815. Is it not usual for the officer conducting the poll to take possession of those tickets? I do not think so—not the tickets with the numbers on that are given at the door.
816. Do you think that the presiding officer was aware that you were taking possession of those tickets? Yes, I think so—I think I told him so.
817. And he made no demur? No.
818. You say that at no time up to the closing of the poll there were more than about forty persons in the room? I was sitting down doing my writing, and I could not say to a few, but I should imagine there were forty, because they all seemed to flock to one place against the table.
819. Was your chair on the floor or was it raised? It was on the floor.
820. If forty persons were gathered immediately in front of you could you see very well how many were in the hall? Of course I could see all who were in front of me, but my back was to the people.
821. Then is it not possible you have made a miscalculation as to the number of people in the hall? I could not make much of a wrong calculation as regards the number.
822. You are sure there could not have been 100 at any one time? No; not until after the poll was closed.
823. You are sure? Yes. There could not have been.
824. Did you write any papers? No.
825. Did you notice how many persons were writing papers? Yes; there was Mr. Draper, Mr. Fry, Mr. Fry's son, the poll-clerk, David Morgan, and I believe there were two more, who just wrote a few.
826. They were not all writing continuously? No; they would take one another off—just about four writing at a time.
827. You say delays were caused? Yes, there was a slight delay.
828. Could you form any idea of the number of people who entered the hall and were unable to record their votes? No, I could not. I think very few were left in the hall who had not given their votes.
829. You said just now that there were about fifty tickets, and of these you estimated that about thirty represented votes that had been given? Yes.
830. That would leave about twenty? Yes.
831. There may have been some more? There may have been more.
832. But you could not form any exact estimate? No, I could not.
833. Mr. Wise.] What number of electors, in your opinion, were prevented from recording their votes who were actually at the polling-place? I should say there would not be more than about twenty or twenty-five.
834. Mr. Nicholson.] At what distance away from the platform was the table at which you were writing? I should think about 4 feet.
835. Mr. Lysaght.] The compartment used for voting was not behind the Returning Officer? No, in front of him.

WEDNESDAY, 16 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

Present:—

Mr. Cullen,
Mr. Donald,
Dr. Ross,

Mr. Suttor,
Mr. Wise,
Mr. Murphy.

F. B. Suttor, Esq., in the Chair.

Mr. F. Woodward, solicitor, appeared on behalf of the Petitioner.
Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Lysaght, the sitting Members, appeared in person.

Constable Alexander Welsh sworn and examined:—

- Constable A. Welsh. 16 Sept., 1891.
836. Mr. Woodward.] What are you? I am a police-constable stationed at Wollongong.
837. Were you in the district of Illawarra on the occasion of the last general election? Yes.
838. Were you at the polling-place at Bulli? Yes.
839. For what purpose? I was there on duty—to keep order at the door.

840. At what hour did you go there? At about half-past 12; I arrived by the half-past 12 train.

841. Up to what hour did you remain? Until half-past 5; until the poll was declared outside. I do not exactly remember the time.

842. Were you, at any time during that interval, inside the polling-booth? Yes.

843. What occasion had you to go in there? The ballot-papers ran short and the persons outside wanted to get in to vote. I told them there were too many inside already. We would not allow them to enter. I kept the door until the presiding officer and, I think, Mr. Pitchford came to the door and said, "Won't you let them in?" I said, "No, they have no right inside the door; there are too many inside now." When they heard this they rushed me away from the door and went inside, and then there was a great noise inside.

844. At what time was that? They ran short of the ballot-papers at about half-past 2, and then they waited for about half an hour or twenty minutes, as near as I can judge, and they commenced to write out the ballot-papers, and then about 3 o'clock, or perhaps a little after—

845. There was a cessation between half-past 2 and 3 o'clock? Yes; for half an hour or twenty minutes.

846. When you were pushed aside from the door, at what hour was it? I should think a little before 3.

847. Was it before or after that that they stopped recording their votes? It was before that.

848. Did the disorder within the polling-booth continue up to 4 o'clock? From the time they rushed the door until 4 o'clock, when they were put out.

849. Did it grow worse or become better during that interval? It grew worse; towards 4 o'clock it was pretty rough. One man got up on the stage and made a speech inciting the others, and the senior-constable and myself had to clear the hall until they counted the ballot-papers.

850. Did you hear the presiding officer say that he was expecting ballot-papers? Yes; he said he had wired to Wollongong for some ballot-papers.

851. Was that stated sufficiently loud to be heard by the persons who were in the building? Yes.

852. And was the presiding officer then, to your knowledge, in momentary expectation of receiving the ballot-papers? Yes; he was expecting them every minute.

853. Do you think that announcement had any effect in keeping the people quiet? I think it had. It kept them outside the door when he told them he was expecting ballot-papers, and if he did not get them he would write some out.

854. Did they then remain comparatively quiet for a little while, and then resort to the same disorder again? I stopped them from going in, and they asked me why I did it, and I said, "They are short of ballot-papers." Then the presiding officer came and told them so, and he said he was expecting them every minute, and that if they did not come he would write some out. That kept them quiet, I daresay for about twenty minutes, and then they wanted to go inside.

855. Did you observe any of the electors go to the compartment for the purpose of voting? Yes.

856. Can you say about how many? I looked in once, and there were five inside.

857. Five at one and the same time? There were five altogether, crossing out the names.

858. Did you hear anything said concerning the number within that compartment by any of the electors? No. There were some of them under the influence of liquor. There was one man who, when he got his ballot-paper, which had been written out, could not make out the writing, and he came to me and asked me which one he would leave on. I said, "I have nothing to do with it; go to the presiding officer and he will mark it out for you." However he went into the compartment, and somebody in there showed him the way to do it.

859. Somebody within the polling-booth? Within the compartment.

860. Did you after that observe any others in there—a different set of men? There were always about three or four.

861. Do you know exactly the position of the compartment—was it at the side or towards the back of the presiding officer? The presiding officer was sitting just where you are, and the box was on his left hand side, with a curtain in front of it.

862. Have you had much experience in attending on duty at polling-booths? I was at one election at Parramatta—a general election.

863. I suppose you never saw anything of this kind before? No; I never did. I told them that too.

864. Did you observe anything else worthy of remark? There were a number who did not record their votes.

865. About how many were inside? Before they rushed the door there were from twenty to thirty inside, and after they rushed the door there must have been 150. The hall was full nearly, and it holds a good lot.

866. Did they seem to you to be persons anxiously desiring to vote? Yes.

867. Had they anything in their hands—any tickets or numbers? Some of them had a little bit of paper with a number on it from some of the scrutineers.

868. Do you know what they did with those papers? No.

869. Could you fitly describe the proceedings as being very disorderly? Yes; they were out of place for an election in my opinion.

870. Do you think the people would be likely to make mistakes on that occasion? I am sure they would.

871. Did you notice about how many people were outside the polling-booth between the time when you arrived and when the poll was closed? I daresay there would be about eighty inside who never voted at all, besides those who were outside. Both inside and outside were crowded. There was a great crowd there. I daresay when we cleared the hall we cleared about 120 or 140 out of it, and I daresay there were about eighty who never voted.

872. Mr. Nicholson.] You said that you went there about half-past 12 o'clock, and were stationed to keep the door? Yes.

873. Was there any other person with you to assist in keeping the door? The senior-constable was there first, and when I took his place he gave me my instructions.

874. Were you at the door nearly all the afternoon? Yes.

875. That was your special duty? Yes.

876. Were you inside the hall at any particular time during the afternoon? Yes.

877. You say that after the door was rushed there were something like 150 people inside the hall—in fact you said the hall was full;—do you not know that the whole of the seats were standing in the hall in their usual place? Yes.

Constable
A. Welsh.
16 Sept., 1891.

878. And that there was simply a gangway of about 4 feet between the ends of the benches where the people could really stand or walk down? They were all in between each seat and right along the wall and the passage. Some were standing on the top of the seats, and some on the backs of the seats.
879. The hall will hold 400 people clear of the stage, and although you have said it was full I suppose you do not mean to say that there were more than 150 inside at any one time? There were about 150 n there.
880. Have you any means of knowing how many of this number had yet to record their votes? No, except by those who were singing out that they had not voted.
881. You are aware that a good many of those who had gone in—the twenty or thirty who were in the hall say from half-past 2 until 3 o'clock—had already had time and opportunity to record their votes? Yes.
882. They did not always go outside after they had recorded their votes? Most of them did, because I took particular notice of that. I had to go and bring some of them out. The men outside were growling that they had to stay outside in the rain, and saying, "Why should these men stay after they have voted?"
883. But you did not bring them all out? As many as I could get.
884. Still you say there were 150 left in? I say there were 150 after they rushed the door.
885. How long did the 150 remain there? From a little after 3 o'clock, I daresay, until we cleared them out at 4 o'clock, when the poll was closed.
886. Mr. Lysaght.] I think you said the poll ceased for half an hour? For about twenty minutes or half-an-hour—I did not take much notice.
887. You have also said that Mr. Fry went to the door and told the people he was going to write out ballot-papers? Yes.
888. Was there an interval of half-an-hour between the time when he told them, and when they commenced to write out ballot-papers? He was seated at the table, and they were writing out the papers, long before he came and told them.
889. And the people were voting all the time? No, they were not voting.
890. Chairman.] Did Mr. Fry give any public intimation, or did he tell you that there would be a delay in taking any more votes? No; they asked me at the door what was the matter, and I said, "I believe they have run short of ballot-papers, and therefore you cannot go in."
891. Were you told not to let any more voters in? I was not told by Mr. Fry, but I knew that if I did let them in there would be nothing but a panic, and they would never get done.
892. You say there were no votes taken for about twenty minutes;—how do you know there was any actual closing of the poll? Because the presiding officer announced that the ballot-papers were exhausted, and that he would have to write out some more; and some man came out to the door and said they had got to the last paper.
893. Then you say for about twenty minutes they took no votes at all? About twenty minutes, I daresay.
894. When you went to the compartment where the voting was done and saw five or six men in there, did you notice anyone trying to influence the others as to how they should vote, or were they helping each other? They would go from one to another, and say, "Jack, what shall I knock off here, I cannot read this writing," and the man would say, "Go in there," and somebody would be in there, and tell him how to do it.
895. Do you think anyone remained in the compartment for the purpose of showing these people how to vote? I do not say there was anybody inside, but those who were in at the time voting assisted their neighbours.
896. Mr. Wise.] What number of persons were outside the hall after the door was rushed? I daresay about 100, or a couple of hundred. They were all in the main road and under a verandah opposite, and at a little shop.
897. Could you form an opinion as to the number who had voted and the number who had still to vote? No, I could not.
898. Were there any among them who had not voted? No; I do not suppose there were. The men who had not voted were all inside the hall making a noise about not getting their votes recorded.
899. Where are you stationed? At Wollongong.
900. Can you say whether any persons in the township were prevented from voting by hearing that the ballot-papers had run out? I could not say.
901. Do you know yourself, or from what you have heard afterwards, or from what you have seen, that there were any men who would have come up to vote, but who did not because they heard that the ballot-papers were exhausted? No; I never heard any of them say that. It was only at the time when they could not record their votes that they made a noise about it.
902. Dr. Ross.] Is it a common thing at an election like that for a great rush of people to come up at one time? No; I never saw it.
903. How can you explain the fact of so many people being there at once to record their vote? It was a very wet day, and it was raining very heavily. There is a porch at the door, and they were all crowded inside there, and I had to regulate the traffic as well as I could.
904. Do you think the rush that took place into the hall arose from dissatisfaction owing to the want of ballot-papers, or was it in consequence of the wet weather? It was owing to the dissatisfaction in regard to the ballot-papers, and also to the wet weather.
905. Both combined? Yes; because they said, "Why should we not get inside out of the rain?" and "Why do they not send papers down; they ought to have looked after this beforehand." Therefore they knocked me away from the door and went inside.
906. From what you observed can you form any estimate of the number of those who were present who did not vote? I should say about seventy or eighty did not vote.
907. You think that is about as near as you could get? Yes, from what I could see and hear from persons who said they had not voted.
908. Mr. Murphy.] At what time did the presiding officer go out and inform the crowd that the ballot-papers had run out? About 3 o'clock, or a little before—I did not take much notice of the time.
909. Then you say the ballot-papers ran out at about half-past 2? I should think it was about half-past 2,
910. How did you know they had run out? Because I heard them say so.

911. You heard some of the crowd say so, you did not hear the presiding officer say so? I did not hear the presiding officer say so.
912. You did not hear him say so until he came out and informed the crowd? Yes.
913. You say the polling stopped for about twenty minutes? I dare say it did.
914. Are you sure there were no persons in the hall during that twenty minutes? Yes, there were persons in the hall.
915. Are you sure they were not engaged in recording their votes? I do not think so.
916. You are not sure? I am sure they were not.
917. You are sure that during the stoppage no persons recorded their votes? There might have been one or two.

Mr. Charles Frederick Smith sworn and examined:—

918. Mr. Wise.] You were Returning Officer, I believe, at the last Illawarra election? Yes.
919. Did you receive any communication from the presiding officer at Bulli on the day before the election, asking for ballot-papers? I received a telegram, but not asking for ballot-papers.
920. Have you got the telegram? Yes. It is as follows: "Received three-fifty ballot-papers. Three-sixty-three voters here last time, collect." It is dated June 23rd, 2:30 p.m., and signed, "Henry Strange Fry."
921. Did you take any steps on receipt of that telegram? I did not receive it until the evening of the 23rd.
922. Where were you then? In Wollongong. I was just arranging to send some ballot-papers away.
923. Did you do anything on getting the telegram? I did not think it necessary. I considered that quite sufficient papers had been sent, as there were only 263 electors on the roll in, near, and about Bulli.
924. Then I take it you did nothing? No, I did not consider it necessary.
925. Did you know that the population of Bulli had increased since the previous election? I knew the contrary.
926. Did you not consider that Mr. Fry was the officer responsible for that district? Yes; but at the previous election I had five or six telegrams in the same way, and they have always had more than sufficient and 100 to spare in some places.
927. How many ballot-papers had you to spare at Wollongong when you received Mr. Fry's telegram? I had only sufficient for Wollongong. Others which I should have received did not come to hand until next day, the 24th.
928. At what time? I think it was about midday.
929. Do I understand you to say that you were short of ballot-papers until midday of the polling-day? No; I had what I considered sufficient, and I had a good many left.
930. You doubted on the 23rd? I got about 650 for Wollongong.
931. What number of votes were recorded at Wollongong at the last election? There were 1,074 votes, but there might have been four votes on one paper.
932. What was the total number of ballot-papers which were received from the Government Printer up to June 23rd? I think 2,700.
933. What is the number of voters on the Illawarra electoral roll? 3,273.
934. When did you get the 2,700 ballot-papers? Some two days before.
935. What day in the week was the poll? Wednesday.
936. Does it not appear from a telegram from the Government Printer that you had received 2,700 ballot-papers on the Monday? They were posted about Saturday.
937. And you must have got them on the Monday? I got them on the Monday.
- 937½. When you found that there were 500 ballot-papers short did you communicate with the Government Printer? Yes; I sent him a wire.
938. On the same day? No, not on the same day, because he wrote of this before. He knew we would be short.
939. But did it not strike you that as there were 3,270 electors on the roll, and you only had 2,700 ballot papers, there were 500 short? Of the 3,270 there were 1,000 who usually did not vote, and whom I did not expect would vote this time. There were 200 besides that for the Sydney polling-place—200 had been kept in Sydney.
940. When did you first communicate with the Government Printer asking for more ballot-papers? On the Monday.
941. What made you ask for more? Because some of them were disputing about the number who were going to vote, and I said, "Oh, well, I will get enough." I sent a telegram on the 22nd, asking for ballot-papers; but receiving no reply, I sent another telegram on the 23rd, to which I received on the 24th the following reply from Mr. Chapman:—"Your telegram dated twenty-third instant only reached me this morning. Your order for extra ballot-papers of twenty-second instant was for two hundred, which were posted yesterday."
942. Did you ask for 200? I asked for 200, then I sent for 300.
943. How many did you receive on the 24th? I received the bulk of them some days before the 24th. I think it was on the Monday.
944. That refers to the 2,700 of which you have told us; but how many extra ones did you receive on the 24th? I got 200 on the 24th that were brought to the office about midday.
945. When you got those 200 why did you not send them out to Bulli? Because I thought he had sufficient.
946. In spite of his telegram? Yes; in spite of his telegram. He only said there were ten more voters at the previous election.
947. Is Mr. Fry a presiding officer of experience? Yes; he has had some experience there.
948. Did you get any communication from Mr. Fry in the course of the polling-day? No.
949. Did you hear from anyone that the ballot-papers had run out? No; I was inside, and consequently I did not move.
950. I should like you to explain to the Committee, in your own way, and as fully as you can, why you disregarded Mr. Fry's telegram? Simply because I had been in the habit of receiving telegrams from every every presiding officer stating that they had not enough ballot-papers. They cannot count them, and they only guess. Seeing them in the bulk they imagine they have not got nearly enough. In three instances, at a previous election, I sent 100 additional ballot-papers to different polling-places and they were never used; in fact all I had sent previously were not used.

951. But Mr. Fry evidently knew the number he had got, for he had counted them, and said there were only 350? Yes; he had counted them.

952. And he was correct in that respect? Yes; but I am quite certain there were only 263 people on the roll in and about Bulli.

953. Then, was it not correct, as stated by Mr. Fry, that 363 voted last time? Oh, I think it is possible; but a large number of people subsequently left Bulli. The population of Bulli had decreased tremendously. People left after the strike and went to the South Bulli and Woonona pits.

954. Was not a very heavy poll expected this time throughout the whole electorate? Yes, I think so. It was thought there would be a good many votes, as there were so many candidates.

955. Mr. Wise.] How many times have you acted as Returning Officer? For a great number of years.

956. Have you ever had anything of this sort happen before? Never. On one occasion they were short of ballot-papers in my father's time. He was one of the oldest Returning Officers in the country, and he wrote out a number at the time.

957. Chairman.] You asked the Government Printer for 550 extra ballot-papers? 300. I first sent a telegram for 200, and thought I would send for another, and had the 300 come when the 200 did I would have sent some out.

958. 200 were all you got in reply to your telegram to the Government Printing Office? Yes.

959. Had it been the custom in your electorate to always get the ballot-papers from the Government Printing Office? Yes.

960. You have never had them printed by any of the local people? We had on one occasion. I never did. In my father's time they were printed on one occasion.

961. Have you heard that the ballot-papers were exhausted at any other polling-place besides Bulli before the closing of the poll? No; there was a surplus at all the polling-places.

962. Dr. Ross.] How do you account for the papers falling short at Bulli? On account of the greater rush there than at other places.

963. How is it that there was a rush there? There was free beer and free fighting, and a large amount of sectarian animosity and bad feeling.

964. And, in reality, instead of going to the place where they ought to have recorded their votes they went to Bulli? There were many men who passed three different polling-places to go in and vote at Wollongong.

965. Mr. Wise.] What do I understand you to mean by "free beer";—was there free beer? Well there was a good deal of drinking there.

966. At Bulli? Yes.

967. Do you mean to say that it was at the expense of the candidates? I do not know at whose expense. I know there was a great deal of drunkenness; I saw that by the police report next day.

968. Did the voters spend their money in drink, or get tickets for drink, or what? I cannot say, I am sure.

969. You said "free drinks"? Well, I am told the drinks were there. The police records showed that to a great extent too.

970. What ground have you for saying "free drinks"? Simply from what I have heard.

971. You yourself had no knowledge of it? I did not see it, certainly not.

972. Have you any knowledge from hearsay that free drinks were actually supplied? I have heard that there was a great deal of drinking, that there was drinking to an enormous extent there. I heard it from the police. Party feeling ran very high.

973. Mr. Murphy.] The number of persons who recorded their votes at Bulli was 416, and you think that if only those to whose place of business or residence Bulli was the nearest polling-booth, and no others had voted, there would have been sufficient ballot-papers? More than sufficient.

974. Therefore it is your opinion that many of those who went to Bulli to record their votes went out of their way to do so? I believe so.

975. Mr. Cullen.] Do you think it a wise and a prudent thing to cut it so close in sending out ballot-papers? Decidedly not; but judging from past experience there were more ballot-papers used in that district than there ever were before since it was an electorate.

976. But would it not be a very small matter that there should be a surplus of ballot-papers? Certainly. I have over 400 papers now in the office.

977. Do you not think that a message so definite as that of Mr. Fry's ought to have moved you to get papers printed if need be? Certainly it would. But he said there were 363 voters there last year. Well that is only thirteen more than there were ballot-papers for. I know there were thirty or forty who came in to vote at Wollongong.

978. But is it not a very difficult matter to calculate in places so close together as Bulli, Bellambi, and Austinmer, where the people will go to vote? It is somewhat difficult, but taking the electoral roll as a guide you will find that there is a total of 263 in, near, and about Bulli, including Bulli Mountain and Robinsville. Austinmer is a polling-place, and within a mile and a half of Bulli.

979. Within say 3 miles of Bulli would there not be many more than 300 or 400 voters? Yes; but there are two other polling-places—one about a mile and three-quarters, and the other by the line about one and a half miles from Bulli.

980. But seeing that all these voters might go to one place—seeing that you could not calculate where they would go—would it not have been a prudent thing to send a large surplus of ballot-papers? The same argument would apply to every polling-place. If all the electors came to Wollongong, for instance, to vote we should require 3,000 ballot-papers there. Though such a thing is possible it is a very remote probability.

981. With regard to the free drinks of which you spoke, have you any knowledge of free drinks being supplied? Certainly no personal knowledge.

982. Does it not strike you as rather a reckless thing to make a statement that free drinks were supplied? Well, it is only from what I have heard from the police and from the police records.

983. But when you first mentioned it you gave it as a reason why a number should go to Bulli? Because there was no public-house at Austinmer.

984. Then your ground for speaking of free drinks is simply the existence of public-houses? The existence of public-houses—as a rule they generally go there. When they could not get anything else they used to go to a wine-house, and vote at Fairy Meadow, though there was a polling-place at Mount Keira.

985. Do you think that that is sufficient ground on which to speak of free drinks? Well, it may not be sufficient, but it is my opinion that there was a great amount of drinking there and all over the electorate. I never saw it worse.

986. But you have no grounds for believing that any candidate supplied free drinks? Oh, I certainly have not; but their friends, I believe, did.

987. Mr. Murphy.] If you had had to take precautions against the emergency of all the voters flocking to one particular polling-booth, would you have had sufficient ballot-papers if you had had to supply each polling-booth with the full number. If, for instance, you had to supply Bulli to meet the emergency of all the Austinmer and Bellambi people voting there, and then had to supply Bellambi with the same number, and Austinmer also with the same number, you would soon run out of ballot-papers? Of course I would.

988. So you really parcelled out the ballot-papers to the best of your ability, judging from the place where the people ought to vote if they used the most convenient polling-booth? Yes.

989. Mr. Wise.] What was the number of unused papers from Austinmer? I think there were ninety odd.

990. And from Bellambi? I think there were nearly 100.

991. Was the number of unused papers at Austinmer at the previous election anything like as large as ninety? No; I think there were only about twenty.

992. Was the number of votes recorded at Austinmer and Bellambi greater or less than at the previous election? Much less.

993. Then do the figures of the voting on this occasion compared with the figures on the last occasion show, in your opinion, that a number of Austinmer and Bellambi voters voted this time at Bulli? Yes; a large number of people from all round voted there; they must have done so.

994. Mr. Cullen.] Is there any hotel at Bellambi? Yes; there is an hotel.

995. Is there one at Austinmer? No.

996. Chairman.] You said the police records showed there were free drinks. How could the police records show such a thing as that? By the cases.

997. They might show the cases of drunkenness, but they could not show that they were free drinks? No; but that drink was about there, and the numbers of men who were there. As a rule, in the hard times they have not much money of their own to get drink with.

998. You say you have in your possession 400 ballot-papers that were not used—are those papers ballot-papers that were returned to you from the different polling-booths? Yes.

999. Not those that were not distributed? No; they were all distributed—every paper was sent.

1000. Dr. Ross.] Did you say that you had 400 ballot-papers returned to you in addition to the 200 you had from the Government Printing Office? No, altogether; there is a surplus now of 400.

1001. Then you include in the 400 the 200 that you got from the Government Printing Office on the day of the polling? Yes.

1002. Mr. Nicholson.] Do you say that there was a surplus of ballot-papers left from Austinmer after the polling? Yes.

1003. How do you account for that? Simply because the people did not vote there. There were only, I think, 40 votes polled there.

1004. Do you remember how many votes were polled there two years ago last February? I do not; but I know that there was a far greater number.

1005. Something approaching 300? I could not say from memory.

1006. Are you not aware that the number of votes cast at Austinmer at the last election—in February, 1889—was 283? I could not say without referring to the record.

1007. Do you know the cause of the difference between the numbers polled in 1889 and the numbers polled on the last occasion? I fancy the people had left there, and the pit was not at work.

1008. You say that owing to the great influx of people from Bellambi, Robinsville, and Austinmer, the ballot-papers were short at Bulli? Yes, I presume that would be the reason.

1009. You had more than sufficient papers at Austinmer and also at Bellambi I understand? Yes, considerably more—nearly double the number wanted.

1010. Are you aware that there were fewer votes polled at almost every polling-booth in the district than at the election in 1889? No. I thought there were more. I did not look up the records, but I would have said there were more polled generally. Of course I know a number did not poll at all at Cordeaux River and Five Islands.

1011. At Cordeaux River and down that way there were fewer votes polled than on the previous occasion? Yes, there were fewer there certainly.

1012. That was chiefly owing to the rain? Yes, the bad weather.

1013. You are aware that the rain prevented a good number of people from going to record their votes? I believe so.

1014. Some electors went to a polling-booth outside their own immediate locality? Yes.

1015. I suppose there is nothing in the Electoral Act to prevent anybody from going to any polling-booth in the district to record his vote? No.

1016. Consequently, not knowing how many who would go to the poll at Bulli to vote, you cannot make strict provision with regard to the number of ballot-papers? Certainly not, except by getting a ballot-paper for every person on the roll, and then they may go to one place and not to another.

1017. Do you remember any instance at a previous election where the ballot-papers ran short, and written papers had to be supplied? I think it happened in my father's time.

1018. And of course you had to depend upon that in case you ran short at any particular booth? Yes.

1019. You did not take the telegram from Mr. Fry as a request for more ballot-papers? No, certainly not—only as telling me that he had received them. He probably thought they were not enough.

- Mr. C. F. Smith. 1020. Still there was no definite demand for any more? No.
- 16 Sept., 1891. 1021. Mr. Lysaght.] Have long have you been Returning Officer at Wollongong? I think twelve or fourteen years.
1022. You succeeded Mr. M'Cabe? Yes. Mr. M'Cabe never acted at a contested election.
1023. Your father was returning officer for about thirty years previously? Yes, for thirty-five years, I think.
1024. You are manager of the Savings Bank at Wollongong? Yes.
1025. And you were Coroner until you resigned lately? Yes.
1026. And you are also an auctioneer there? Yes.
1027. What is the distance from the Bulli polling-booth to Austinmer? By the line I should think about 2 miles, or a little more.
1028. That is on one side of Bulli. What is the distance to the Bellambi polling-place on the other side? I should think you and I could go it in about half a mile, or three-quarters of a mile, through the paddocks.
1029. But by the road? It might be $1\frac{3}{4}$ miles from Bulli to the polling-booth at Bellambi.
1030. It was a very wet day when the polling took place? Yes; it was raining.
1031. Are you aware that the polling fell off considerably at Unanderra? Yes; I believe there was a falling off at Macquarie River, at Avondale, at Brownsville, and at Unanderra.
1032. If any other candidate but myself had been returned for Bulli do you think this protest would have been entered? I would rather not answer that question.
1033. Mr. Woodward.] Do you know how many votes were polled at the last election for Mr. Nicholson? 1,180.
1034. That was in excess of the number polled by the highest candidate at a previous election? I think so.
1035. Was it not generally understood, and were you not satisfied, that a larger poll would take place on the last occasion than at any previous election? Yes; I anticipated that there would be a larger poll.
1036. For how many years did you say you were Returning Officer? I think for twelve or fourteen years.
1037. Do you happen to know that during the last six or seven years the number of electors in that electorate has increased over 100 per cent.? I am aware the railway brought a great number there.
1038. But as a matter of fact that is so? Yes, that is by the railway; but they have since fallen off.
1039. And that there are two Members now representing the electorate instead of one? Yes, I am aware of that.
1040. Were you Returning Officer at the time when only one Member was returned for that electorate? I was.
1041. Bulli is next to Wollongong, the most important polling-place in the electorate, is it not? Well, I suppose it is as far as numbers are concerned.
1042. Is it not also the place at which, as you have already said, electors congregate in particular? Yes.
1043. Do they not take a greater interest in electioneering matters at Bulli than in other portions of the electorate? Yes; there is more party feeling there, I think.
1044. In other words, is it not at Bulli where the decisive blow is struck regarding elections in that district? Sometimes it has been.
1045. Has it not been invariably the case? No, not always.
1046. But it has frequently been so? It has more than once, I think.
1047. You spoke of the records of the Police Court proving that there were free drinks or drunkenness? That there was drunkenness about there.
1048. By the way, that is the reason you have for accounting for the large number of people at Bulli on that day? I spoke to some officers as to why there were so many there—the Police especially—and they said "Oh, it is the drink."
1049. That was after the election? Yes.
1050. You yourself were busily engaged as Returning Officer during the whole of that day? Yes.
1051. Therefore it could not have had any effect on your decision as to the number of voting-papers you would send up there? Oh, no, not at all.
1052. Mr. Fry has been the presiding officer ever since you have been Returning Officer? Yes.
1053. He is a man of considerable experience? Yes.
1054. And resident about how many years in the neighbourhood? More than thirty years.
1055. And necessarily he would have an intimate knowledge of the number of electors likely to be polled at that place? Yes, most probably.
1056. I don't suppose you would think he would give way to you in his opinion about a matter of that kind, seeing that he resides in the midst of that portion of the electorate. Would you not, under ordinary circumstances, give way to him in his opinion as to the number of votes likely to be polled there? Yes, if he had said so.
1057. Then why were you so obstinate on this occasion—why did you not accede to his request? He did not say. He only telegraphed that he had received the ballot-papers, and there were only thirteen less than the number of votes recorded previously; and then I was aware that a large number of the navvies on the railway had left. There had been a large exodus from the place, and there was not the same number there.
1058. And you have given that as your reason? Yes; I swear it as my reason.
1059. Did you not consider that Mr. Fry's telegram in effect asked for more ballot-papers? No, because I got them from so many presiding officers to whom I had sent ballot-papers and I always got the papers back intact.
1060. You reside in Wollongong? Yes.
1061. How many printing-offices are there there? Two.
1062. Easy of access, of course? Yes.
1063. Did you take any trouble to go to either one of them as to the printing of further ballot-papers? I think I spoke to one of the compositors. I said I thought there might be a rush to Wollongong, and, if so, would he be prepared to print them, and he said, "Yes, we can print you 500 in an hour."
1064. On what day was that? During the week. I had heard rumours that there would be a great rush.
1065. But after the receipt of the message from Mr. Fry did you go to the printing-offices at all? No; I did not consider it necessary.
- 1066.

1066. You did not consider it necessary throughout to increase the number of ballot-papers? No.
 1067. Mr. Wise.] When did you first learn that the ballot-papers had run short? Not until the return came in. I think Mr. Lipscombe said something about it.
 1068. When did you first hear the rumour that they had run short? About 5 o'clock.
 1069. Not until after the poll had closed? No.

Mr.
 C. F. Smith;
 16 Sept., 1891.

Mr. John Crowther sworn and examined:—

1070. Mr. Nicholson.] Where do you reside? Woonona.
 1071. Were you at the Bulli polling-booth on the day of the election? Yes.
 1072. Were you there all day? Yes, except for about an hour, when I went home to dinner.
 1073. Were you in the hall at any time during the afternoon? As soon as it was reported that there was a deficiency of ballot-papers I went along and looked into the hall between 3 and 4 o'clock.
 1074. Were there many people in the hall at that time? There was a great quantity of people in, owing, as far as I could see, to the fact that the ballot-papers had run short. Others, as well as myself, naturally went there to see how things were going.
 1075. How many, do you suppose, were inside the hall at the time you were there? So far as I could form an opinion from looking in, I should say there were perhaps 100 people. Of that number I calculated that there were a good many who were there like myself to see what was going on.
 1076. You were, I believe, in one of the committee-rooms, and I suppose you had some knowledge as to the number of people inside the hall who had voted? I was in a committee-room close by the polling-booth, and I was superintending to some extent the roll we had before us, and seeing that the names were ticked off, and, to the best of my ability, endeavouring to see who had voted and who had not voted.
 1077. Is it your opinion that the whole of these men inside the hall at the time you looked in had not recorded their votes? Those whom I saw in the hall were mixed. Some had recorded their votes and some had not. There was some excitement going on in the hall by a person named Thomas Murray, who was a little excited through not being allowed to vote, and people very naturally rushed in to see what was going on.
 1078. Was there any disturbance in the hall at this time? Not to my knowledge.
 1079. Did you hear of any disturbance having taken place—anything to interfere with the peaceful carrying on of the election? Not anything further than what I have just stated. The man I have mentioned did say a few words, and a policeman kindly went to him, and that is most of what I know about it.
 1080. Did you hear any objection raised by any party there about the ballot-papers having to be written out? Not in the hall.
 1081. No protest against the continuance of the election? Not at all.
 1082. Did you hear anything about free drinks being supplied to any of the electors there? I can only say, that so far as my knowledge goes, not a glass of anything came within our range in any shape or form.
 1083. Do you think that if there had been sufficient ballot-papers, or if the time for polling had been extended, there were sufficient voters who did not record their votes to alter the result of the election? At the time and under the excitement, I dare say we felt as much annoyed as anybody, because there was a large number of men who had been at our committee-room, and who would have recorded their votes, and we had to some extent a knowledge of their voting, and my candid opinion is that the voting would have been very much the same as it was if the election had been carried out to the last vote—proportionately, I mean, to each candidate.
 1084. What I mean to ask you is, whether, if the whole of the unrecorded votes had been cast in favour of Mr. Campbell, it would have altered the actual result as affecting myself and Mr. Lysaght? I would not like to give a positive answer to that question, because I am not prepared with figures as to the number that was there, and therefore I could not say of my own knowledge.
 1085. You could not give an opinion as to the number of persons who were prevented from voting? I would not like to say positively that I believe a certain number would have done a certain thing.
 1086. Are you aware whether there was any disturbance during any part of the day, or whether any police cases resulted from the day's election? I never saw an election more peaceably conducted, and I have taken an interest in a good many. I never saw an election more peaceably conducted in my life.
 1087. Did you hear anyone expressing dissatisfaction prior to the ballot being counted? Not the slightest.
 1088. But considerable dissatisfaction afterwards, I suppose? Only a general grumble amongst those who did not record their votes.
 1089. Mr. Woodward.] Were you engaged in any official capacity on that day? No, except that I was chairman of the Electoral League for the district.
 1090. You were not engaged as scrutineer or poll-clerk—you were not within the building at all? No.
 1091. You occasionally looked in? Yes.
 1092. You first commenced to do that at about what hour? I could not say positively what hour, but sometime after it was stated that the ballot-papers had run short. There was naturally some excitement, and after a certain time had elapsed I went along to the hall.
 1093. As a matter of fact you looked in occasionally? Just so.
 1094. You were not in there sufficiently to be able to express an opinion as to the number of persons who were inside during the whole of the afternoon? Not officially.
 1095. Mr. Wise.] As chairman of the Electoral League you would be in a position to know if members of your own League or persons whom your committee had interviewed did not vote. Can you tell me how many persons to your knowledge, whom you yourself know, either from having spoken to them yourself or having got your brother committee-men to speak to them, did not vote on that occasion, and whom you thought would have voted? I should say there would not be seventy people there that really had to vote, from the knowledge of what came before me of those who came and those who did not come.
 1096. The calculations of your committee would be out by about seventy? Yes.
 1097. Of course the number who would have voted on the other side you know nothing about? I know nothing about.

Mr.
 J. Crowther.
 16 Sept., 1891.

- Mr. J. Crowther. 1098. But on your own side you say there were about seventy people who did not vote, whom you expected would have voted? I did not say that.
1099. I wish to know from you how many of your own voters did not vote; as chairman of the League, there were certain voters whom you expected to vote who did not vote;—what number of persons of your own party whom you expected to vote did not vote? I could not give an accurate answer to that question.
1100. What did you refer to when you said about seventy? I said that from the knowledge I had of what had come before our committee as to the number who had come to vote, my candid opinion was that there were not more than seventy persons there who did not vote.
1101. Seventy in all? Yes.
1102. Dr. Ross.] Did I understand you to say you did not record your vote? I did record my vote.
1103. At what time of the day? Early in the morning.
1104. Mr. Cullen.] You spoke of a Mr. Thomas Murray being excited;—did you see him in the hall at the time? Not at the time.
1105. How did you know that he was excited then? I did not actually see him.
1106. I want to ascertain from you the nature of the excitement;—you say you did not see it—that you simply looked in? No, I did not see much myself.
1107. Did you hear that this Mr. Murray was on the platform? Yes; I think he was.
1108. Making a kind of harangue? Just so.
1109. At the time did it strike you that the excitement would interfere with the ordinary conduct of the poll? No; I think not.
1110. It was not serious enough for that? The poll could not be going on when there were no ballot-papers.
1111. This was filling a kind of interval? Just so.
1112. Your estimate of the number, as far as you can gather, is about seventy? To the best of my knowledge about seventy were unable to vote who would have voted.
1113. Chairman.] Did you say that Mr. Murray was haranguing the crowd? You say he was on the platform speaking? I did not see him.
1114. Then it is only what you heard? I went along at the time, and only a few days ago he and I talked the matter over as well.
1115. Do you know whether at any time during the day the poll was practically closed—whether at any time the presiding officer declined to take votes? I could not say that.
1116. Mr. Wise.] You gave seventy as the estimate of the number who did not vote. As chairman of the Electoral League, are you in a position to state the number of your own party who did not vote? I could only give an opinion—I could not speak positively. But I know that we felt terribly annoyed at the moment, because we thought we had a good number—that a great many of those who did not vote really belonged to us.
1117. Could you say, roughly, how many? I should say of those who came to us in the committee-room and afterwards went to the polling-booth, but could not record their votes, the number was at least twenty.
1118. Mr. Lysaght.] I think that Mr. Nicholson and myself were not running together—not with your committee? I had nothing to do with you. I was for another man altogether besides Mr. Nicholson.

Mr. George Davidson sworn and examined:—

- Mr. G. Davidson. 1119. Mr. Nicholson.] Where do you live? Woonona.
1120. Were you about the Bulli polling-booth on the day of the election? Yes, I was there all day—from about half-past 8 until the poll was declared.
1121. Were you in the hall at any time during the afternoon? Yes.
1122. Were you there about the time the printed ballot-papers ran short? Yes.
1123. Are you aware whether the voting was stopped for any time after the printed papers were exhausted, and before the written ones were supplied? Yes, it was stopped for a while.
1124. For how long do you suppose? I could not exactly state the time, but it would be for fully half an hour I believe.
1125. Was there any disturbance in the hall about this time? No, none whatever.
1126. All was quiet and peaceful? Yes.
1127. Did you hear Mr. Fry make any announcement to the electors either in the hall or outside? No, not until after he had closed the poll.
1128. Did you hear any one object to the ballot-papers being written out? No.
1129. Did you hear any of the scrutineers protest against the continuance of the election? No.
1130. About how many people would you say were in the hall at about half-past 2 or 3 o'clock? From about half-past 2 up to about a quarter past 3 there were between twenty and thirty.
1131. Was there a larger number afterwards? A larger number got in just before the poll was closed at 4 o'clock. A good many of us had voted. I was in a good while before the poll was closed, and I had voted earlier in the morning.
1132. You think that a number of those who were within the hall previous to the poll being closed had already recorded their votes? Yes, I am confident, because I knew of any amount.
1133. Can you tell the Committee how many voters you think there were who did not have an opportunity of recording their votes? I could not say. There would be between twenty and thirty inside, and there might be a few outside; but I do not think there were many outside, because all the anxious ones got inside; there might be thirty altogether. I would not say to a few either one way or the other.
1134. Do you think the result of the election could have been altered if there had been a sufficient number of printed ballot-papers to enable everybody to record their votes? No, it was an impossibility, even if they had all been plumpers for the third man.
1135. It could not have altered the position of Mr. Lysaght and myself? No.
1136. Did you hear any talk of free drinks being supplied on that occasion? No; I never heard of such a thing until now.
1137. Did you see any drunken men about the polling-booth? I did see one or two a little bit intoxicated, but not extra much.
- 1138.

1138. Nothing serious? No. I believe there were only about two or three at the very outside.
1139. Were there any police cases resulting from the proceedings? No.
1140. Chairman.] What was the largest number of people who were in the hall at any time you were there? Just before the poll was closed there was a good many inside, but the greater number had voted. I was in and also a lot of my comrades, and we had voted before 9 o'clock in the morning.
1141. Could you give an idea as to what the number was? There might have been close on 100 in then.
1142. Did you watch the voting during the time you were in the hall? Yes.
1143. Did you notice any number of persons going in at one time to the compartment where the voters struck the names off the ballot-papers? No, I did not; I do not think there were. The place would not hold more than three if you were to jamb it plump full.
1144. Mr. Wise.] Was there any speechmaking in the hall? No.
1145. Did a man named Murray get on the platform and make a speech? No. I myself got on to a form and wanted to know from Mr. Fry if he could not close the doors and allow those who were inside to record their votes, but he said he could not do it, that he had to close the poll at 4 o'clock.
1146. At what time was it you did this? Just when Mr. Fry declared the poll closed. I think that is about all that was said; there might have been someone who said something else, but nothing of importance.
1147. Mr. Cullen.] Are you sure that there was no excitement at any time during the afternoon? There was no excitement whatever during the whole of the afternoon until just about the time when the poll was closed. There were a few of those who had not recorded their votes who were dissatisfied.
1148. How long during the afternoon were you in the hall? I could not say if I were in a full hour, but pretty well an hour.
1149. How did you get in? By the front door.
1150. Did not the policeman object? There was no one there to stop me.
1151. No policeman at the door? I would not say the policeman was not at the door, but I know that there was no one who interfered with me. I went in and out several times by the front door, with my pipe in my hand—smoking all the time.
1152. Had you voted at Bulli before at any previous election? Only at one previous election.
1153. Had you the same free and easy access then? Is it usual at Bulli to give people liberty to go and come whether they are voting or not? Well I could not say as to that; in fact I never took much interest in election matters. I just simply went down to record my vote.
1154. Did you know that it was against the law for you to go in when you were not going to vote? No, I did not.
1155. Are you sure there was no excitement? There was no excitement whatever, either on one side or the other.
1156. Mr. Donald.] Were you outside scrutineer for any of the candidates? No.
1157. Did you hear the Returning Officer order the people to leave the room after the rush? No.
1158. Did you hear the policeman order them to leave the room? No.
1159. Mr. Nicholson.] You said that about 4 o'clock there was a rush of people into the hall? Yes.
1160. Did they have the idea that they could record their votes if they got inside, even though it was 4 o'clock? I could not say.
1161. I understood you to make a statement to that effect? No.

Mr.
G. Davidson.
16 Sept., 1891.

Mr. Benjamin Barnsley sworn and examined:—

1162. Mr. Nicholson.] Where do you live? At Woonona.
1163. Were you at the Bulli polling-booth at the last election? Yes.
1164. Were you there in the afternoon? Yes.
1165. Did you hear any remarks made about the ballot-papers running short? Yes; I heard that the ballot-papers had run short.
1166. Did you hear any person object to ballot-papers being written? I heard a rumour that Mr. Fry would not allow anyone to write papers but himself. I did not hear that from anyone inside; I heard it rumoured outside.
1167. Do you know that there were others besides Mr. Fry writing ballot-papers? No; I could not swear it. There were others there to write them.
1168. And were not the services of some of them accepted? I could not say.
1169. Were there many people inside the hall, when you were there, at any time during the afternoon, before the closing of the poll? No, there were not very many that I could see—not in the fore part of afternoon. There were a good many just before the poll closed.
1170. How many do you think there were at any time between half-past 1 and 4 o'clock? I should think there were two or three dozen.
1171. Did you hear many express themselves dissatisfied on account of not having an opportunity to vote? I think I heard two or three.
1172. How many do you suppose were there who did not have the privilege of voting? I really could not tell. There may have been fifty or sixty there, as nearly as I can tell. I do not think there were any more.
1173. Are you aware that there are a good many who did not go to the polling-booth on account of the wet day? There were some that I know of who did not go owing to the day being wet.
1174. Did you hear anything about free drinks being available at Bulli during the election? No, I did not.
1175. Do you know if any police cases arose from any disturbances that occurred there? No.
1176. Do you think that if the balloting had been continued, and papers supplied to the whole of the electors, the result of the election would have been altered in any way? No, I am sure it would not.
1177. Mr. Woodward.] You mean the result so far as one candidate being above another is concerned? Yes.
1178. But the result, so far as the numbers are concerned, must have been different? Yes, I suppose the numbers would have been different if more had voted.

Mr.
B. Barnsley.
16 Sept., 1891.

- Mr. B. Barnsley.
16 Sept., 1891.
1179. When did you hear of the shortness of the ballot-papers? A little after 2 o'clock.
1180. Where were you then? In front of the hall.
1181. Outside? At the porch.
1182. Did you, from that time up till 4 o'clock, leave the hall at all? I was at very little distance from it.
1183. Did you hear it reported away from the building that the ballot-papers were short? No; I was at the building.
1184. Where do you say you reside? At Woonona.
1185. Do you know if it was reported at Woonona that the ballot-papers were short? I could not say. I was not at Woonona at the time; I was at Bulli.
1186. Have you heard it reported at Woonona since that the ballot-papers were short? Of course; it is all round the place.
1187. That the ballot-papers were short on that day, and that it was reported so on that day? Yes.
1188. About how far is Woonona from Bulli? Where it is called Woonona it starts from Guards, I believe. I am not sure where it starts from; but from the polling-booth at Woonona to where I live I should say it is about a quarter of a mile.
1189. How far is the furthest point in Woonona from the polling-booth at Bulli? Do you know how far it extends on the other side? No, I do not; unless it terminates at Mitchell's Crossing.
1190. How far is that? About a quarter of a mile further than Guards.

Mr. William Johnson sworn and examined:—

- Mr. W. Johnson.
16 Sept., 1891.
1191. Mr. Nicholson.] Where do you reside? At Woonona.
1192. Were you at the Bulli polling-booth on the day of the election? Yes.
1193. During what part of the day were you there? I was there all the day.
1194. Were you there in the afternoon about the time when the ballot-papers were reported to have run short? Yes.
1195. Was there much excitement in consequence of that announcement? No; I did not see any excitement at all.
1196. Were you in the hall during any part of the afternoon? Yes; I was in there at about a quarter-past 3.
1197. How many people do you think were inside the hall at that time? There would not be above a dozen.
1198. Was there any large number in the hall at any time up to 4 o'clock? The most ever I saw would be about thirty just before 12 o'clock.
1199. Was there a big crowd outside the hall? Yes; there was a goodish crowd after 4 o'clock outside the hall.
1200. Have you any idea how many inside and outside did not have an opportunity of recording their votes? I do not think there would be above thirty.
1201. Do you think the wet day prevented a number of electors from coming in? Yes; I am sure it did.
1202. Do you think that if everyone had had the privilege of voting, the result of the election could have been altered in any way? No, I do not think so.

Mr. Peter Griffin sworn and examined:—

- Mr. P. Griffin.
16 Sept., 1891.
1203. Mr. Lysaght.] Where do you live? At Bulli, at present.
1204. You are a very old resident of Bulli? Yes.
1205. Were you at the Bulli polling-place at the last election? Yes.
1206. You were scrutineer for me at Bulli some ten or eleven years ago? Yes; eleven years last June, I think.
1207. Were there any ballot-papers written out on that occasion? Yes.
1208. How many do you think were written out then? There were a great number written out on that occasion.
1209. Could you estimate the number? I should not like to be certain at this period of time—it is too long ago.
1210. You objected at that time on my behalf but your objection was overruled? Yes.
1211. Was Mr. Artis there on that day? He was.
1212. Do you remember whether or not he wrote out any ballot-papers? To the best of my belief he did.
1213. Do you believe it would have altered the result of the election if there had been sufficient ballot-papers at Bulli? No; I do not think it would have altered the result in any way.
1214. How many people do you think were on the ground that day who did not vote? Of course there would be some there whom I did not know, but of those I did know I reckoned there were between twenty and forty—twenty would be nearer the mark than anything else; that is of those whom I actually did know.
1215. Mr. Nicholson.] Do you know James Bywater, of Woonona? I do.
1216. He is an elector in that division? Yes.
1217. Was he at Bulli at any time of the day to record his vote? I believe not.
1218. Do you know of your own knowledge whether he has since demanded to have a vote or not? I heard him say so.
1219. And yet he was not there to record his vote during the prescribed hours? I heard him say he was at work on that day and on that night.
1220. Do you know any other electors in that division who were not present to record their votes on that occasion? Yes, I know a good few who were not there to record their votes. Jacob Everley was not there to record his vote; John Fritz was not there; the two Blinkalls were not there; Charles Gahn was not there; John Sydney Smith was not there; John Carrick was not there; Abraham Charlesworth was not there, and there were several others whom I do not exactly remember. I know there were more than those I have mentioned.
1221. Do you think if there had been sufficient ballot-papers at Bulli for all the electors who wished to record their votes, the result could have been altered? No, I do not.
1222. Not by any possible means? By no possible means.

1223. Did you hear or see any disturbance during the afternoon? Nothing at the hall. I did see a bit of a scuffle between a man they called Jackson and another man named Knight. Jackson slapped Knight's face for him for some impudence. Mr. P. Griffin.
16 Sept., 1891.
1224. This was outside? Yes.
1225. Did you hear tell of any free drinks? No; I did not.
1226. No police cases arising out of the day's proceedings? No; I did not see any.
1227. Did you hear any person protest against the continuance of the election after the printed ballot-papers ran short? No.
1228. No protest whatever? No.
1229. Mr. Cullen.] Were you a scrutineer at the election? No; I had not a vote.
1230. Were you in the hall during the afternoon? Yes; several times. I had a friend there who was crippled, and I went in several times to see when he would be ready to go home. He was brought down in a buggy, and I had to look out for him to get away.
1231. How did you get permission to go in? I asked the policeman, and he allowed me to go in and speak to the man who was sitting in the place.
1232. Were you in the hall at about a quarter after 4? I think that at about a quarter after 4 would be about the last time I was in there.
1233. What number of people were in there then? There was not a great number. There are a great many seats spread across the hall, and there is only a narrow passage of only 4 feet.
1234. About what number would you say? At the very outside I would not put the number down at much over thirty if there were that many. It is only a narrow passage from the door up to the table, and I had no difficulty in getting up to my friend who was seated.
1235. Where were you at 4 o'clock when the poll was closed? Outside.
1236. Was there any rush into the hall? There seemed to be a bit of a rush at one time into the hall, but I was under the verandah on the opposite side of the road at the time.
1237. If there had been any excitement during the afternoon in the hall you would have known of it? Certainly.
1238. Mr. Lysaght.] Have you any idea at what time it was that your friend, who was crippled, voted? He got down there about 3 o'clock.
1239. And he voted at 3 or after 3? After 3.
1240. He had no difficulty, even being crippled? Well, perhaps they gave him a little privilege. However he got his vote and did everything correct. He did not leave there again until the count and after everything was done. He was given that privilege because it was raining heavily, and they thought they would let him stop there for a while.
1241. Mr. Woodward.] You say that you did not hear of any protest being made? I did not.
1242. Will you say that Brown who was one of the scrutineers did not make a protest as to the way in which the election was being carried on? I will not swear anything of the kind. Of course I was only in and out.

COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—

- (1.) Maturity of Warrant reported:—Mr. Speaker reported that his Warrant, laid upon the Table on the 29th July last, appointing Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, not having been disapproved by the Assembly in the course of the three next sitting days on which the Assembly met for the despatch of business, had now taken effect; and intimated that it was therefore open to Mr. FitzGerald to be sworn at the Table by the Clerk, in accordance with the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880.
- (2.) Appointment of first meeting of Committee:—Pursuant to the requirement of the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880, Mr. Speaker appointed the first meeting of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications to take place at half-past 11 o'clock a.m. on Wednesday next, the 12th instant, in Committee Room No. 1.
12. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—Robert George Dundas FitzGerald, Esquire, came to the Table, and was sworn by the Clerk as a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications.

VOTES NO. 29. WEDNESDAY, 16 SEPTEMBER, 1891.

8. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—

* * * * *

- (2.) Adjournment of the Committee:—Mr. Suttor then moved, that the Committee of Elections and Qualifications have leave to adjourn sine die, the matters referred to them having been disposed of. Question put and passed.

VOTES NO. 50. WEDNESDAY, 18 NOVEMBER, 1891.

24. PRIVILEGE (Seat of H. H. Brown, Esquire):—Mr. Garvan proceeding to move, as a matter of privilege, a resolution on this subject,—

Point of Order:—Mr. Gould took exception to the matter being entered upon without Notice, as it had not suddenly arisen.

Mr. Speaker decided that Mr. Garvan was quite in order in bringing the subject before the House as a question of privilege.

Mr. Garvan then moved, That it be referred to the Committee of Elections and Qualifications to inquire into and report to this House whether the seat of Herbert Harrington Brown, Esquire, Member for Durham, has not become vacant by his having entered into a contract with the Government with reference to certain leasehold property in Castlereagh-street. Question put and passed.

25. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS :—Mr. Speaker, pursuant to the requirements of the Electoral Act of 1880, laid upon the Table his Warrant appointing Henry Clarke, Esquire, to be a member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, of which the following is a copy :—

“ *By the Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly
of New South Wales.* ”

“ Pursuant to the power in that behalf vested in me, as Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, by the Electoral Act of 1880, I do hereby appoint—

“ Henry Clarke, Esquire,

“ being a Member of the said Assembly, to be a member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications in the said Act referred to, during the present Session of the Assembly aforesaid, in the room of Francis Bathurst Suttor, Esquire, whose Seat in the said Assembly was declared vacant on the twenty-sixth day of October last, by reason of his acceptance of the office of Minister of Public Instruction.

“ Given under my hand, at the Legislative Assembly Chamber, Macquarie-street, Sydney, this eighteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

“ J. P. ABBOTT,
“ Speaker.”

VOTES NO. 52. MONDAY, 23 NOVEMBER, 1891.

15. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS :—

(1.) Mr. Speaker informed the House that he had received a letter from Andrew Ross, Esquire, M.D., resigning his appointment as a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications, which letter he read to the House, as follows :—

“ J. P. Abbott, Esq., M.P., “ Parliament House, Sydney, 23rd November, 1891.
“ Speaker, Legislative Assembly, Sydney.

“ Dear Sir,

“ So that the ‘ Elections and Qualifications Committee ’ may suffer no inconvenience through my absence, owing to urgent and important business which demands my attention, I desire to withdraw my name as a Member of such Committee.

“ Yours faithfully,
“ ANDREW ROSS, M.D.”

(2.) Mr. Speaker then, pursuant to the requirements of the Electoral Act of 1880, laid upon the Table his Warrant, appointing James Hayes, Esquire, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, of which the following is a copy :—

“ *By the Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly
of New South Wales.* ”

“ PURSUANT to the power in that behalf vested in me, as Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, by the Electoral Act of 1880, I do hereby appoint—

“ James Hayes, Esquire;

“ being a Member of the said Assembly, to be a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications in the said Act referred to, during the present Session of the Assembly aforesaid, in the room of Andrew Ross, Esquire, M.D., resigned, “ Given under my hand, at the Legislative Assembly Chamber, Macquarie-street, Sydney, this twenty-third day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

- (2.) Appointment of meeting of Committee:—Mr. Speaker reported that the Committee of Elections and Qualifications had, pursuant to leave granted by this House, adjourned sine die, and that, as there was no Chairman of such Committee, he would appoint the next meeting to take place on Wednesday next, at 12 o'clock, in Committee Room No. 1.

VOTES NO. 57. TUESDAY, 1 DECEMBER, 1891.

1. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:—James Hayes, Esquire, came to the Table and was sworn by the Clerk as a Member of the Committee of Elections and Qualifications.

VOTES NO. 59. THURSDAY, 3 DECEMBER, 1891.

8. COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS (Privilege—Seat of H. H. Brown, Esquire):—
(1.) Mr. Henry Clarke, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Committee of Elections and Qualifications, relative to the question referred to them on the 18th November last, as to whether the Seat of Herbert Harrington Brown, Esquire, Member for Durham, had not become vacant by his having entered into a contract with the Government with reference to certain leasehold property in Castlereagh-street.

And the said Report was read at length by the Clerk, by direction of Mr. Speaker, as follows:—

“The Committee of Elections and Qualifications, duly appointed on the 16th July, 1891, to whom was referred on the 18th November, 1891, the question whether the Seat of Herbert Harrington Brown, Esquire, Member for Durham, has not become vacant by his having entered into a contract with the Government with reference to certain leasehold property in Castlereagh-street,—have determined and do hereby accordingly declare”:

“That the Committee, after taking evidence on the subject, deem it unnecessary to express an opinion whether the transaction complained of does or does not come within section twenty-eight of the Constitution Act, but are satisfied that the contract (if any) was entered into before Mr. H. H. Brown was elected to the present Legislative Assembly, and therefore declare that he is not disqualified from sitting or voting as a Member of the said Assembly.

“No. 1 Committee Room,

HENRY CLARKE,

“Sydney, 3rd December, 1891.

Mr. Clarke then moved, “That” the Report and Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence be printed. Mr. Garvan moved, That the Question be amended by the omission of all the words after the word “That,” with a view to the insertion in their place of the words “it be referred back to the Committee of Elections and Qualifications to inquire into and determine whether H. H. Brown, Esq., the Member for Durham, was interested in a contract or agreement with the Government at the time of his election to this House, in contravention of clause 28 of the Constitution Act.” Question proposed,—That the words proposed to be omitted stand part of the Question.

Debate ensued.

Question put,—That the words proposed to be omitted stand part of the Question.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PRIVILEGE—SEAT OF HERBERT HARRINGTON BROWN, ESQUIRE, MEMBER FOR DURHAM.

OF

ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS.

THE COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS, duly appointed on the 16th July, 1891, to whom was referred on the 18th November, 1891, the question whether the seat of Herbert Harrington Brown, Esquire, Member for Durham, has not become vacant by his having entered into a contract with the Government with reference to certain leasehold property in Castlereagh-street, have determined and do hereby accordingly declare :—

That the Committee, after taking evidence on the subject, deem it unnecessary to express an opinion whether the transaction complained of does or does not come within section twenty-eight of the Constitution Act, but are satisfied that the contract (if any) was entered into before Mr. H. H. Brown was elected to the present Legislative Assembly; and therefore declare that he is not disqualified from sitting or voting as a Member of the said Assembly.

HENRY CLARKE,
Chairman.

OF
ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS.

SEAT OF HERBERT HARRINGTON BROWN, ESQUIRE, MEMBER FOR DURHAM.

THURSDAY, 3 DECEMBER, 1891.

Present:—

H. Clarke, Esq.	J. Hayes, Esq.
J. F. Cullen, Esq.	W. A. Murphy, Esq.
G. Donald, Esq.	B. R. Wise, Esq.

Henry Clarke, Esq., in the Chair.

Present:—H. H. Brown, Esq., the Sitting Member.

James Patrick Garvan, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined:—

1. Chairman.] You are a Member of the Legislative Assembly? Yes.
2. It was at your instance that the seat of Mr. H. H. Brown was referred to this Committee? Yes; on a motion submitted by me.
3. Have you any evidence to offer? Perhaps the simplest way would be for me to make a statement of what I know about the matter. As a matter of direct evidence I have very little to say; in fact any evidence I can adduce will be merely from the documents which were laid upon the table of the Legislative Assembly on the 25th August last, and referred to this Committee. I gathered, in my interpretation of the documents, that Mr. H. H. Brown, the Member for Durham, had contravened the 28th section of the Constitution Act which reads:—

J. P. Garvan,
Esq.

3 Dec., 1891.

Any person who shall directly or indirectly, himself, or by any person whatsoever in trust for him, or for his use or benefit, or on his account undertake, execute, hold, or enjoy in the whole, or in part, any contract or agreement for or on account of the Public Service shall be incapable of being summoned or elected, or of sitting or voting as a Member of the Legislative Council or the Legislative Assembly during the time he shall execute, hold, or enjoy any such contract or any part, or share thereof, or any benefit or emolument arising from the same, and if any person being a Member of such Council or Assembly shall enter into any such contract or agreement, or having entered into it shall continue to hold it, his seat shall be declared by the said Legislative Council or Legislative Assembly, as the case may require, to be void. And thereupon the same shall become and be void accordingly.

It appeared to me from the papers that all the elements of a contract existed in this case. There was an offer by Mr. Brown, or by Brown Brothers, of which firm Mr. H. H. Brown is a member I presume—he admitted he was in the debate in the House—to sell their property to the Government, and an acceptance of that offer by the Government. In accordance with my knowledge of what constitutes a legal contract, that is a legal contract between Mr. Brown and the Government of the day. That contract in its specific terms was varied on two following occasions. Another offer was made on behalf of two members of the firm of Brown Brothers to sell the property for another figure, and it was accepted by the Government at a later period. The Government then, or I might say, one of the Ministers of the Crown, through the Secretary for the Post Office, offered Brown Brothers a certain sum for the property, and the offer was accepted. I am of opinion that the offer and its acceptance constitutes a contract or agreement in violation of the 28th section of the Constitution Act. I may state that before I moved in the matter I looked up such records of the British House of Commons as appeared to me in any way to bear upon it. The only case at all similar to this case was that of Sir Sydney Waterlow in 1869. This gentleman, being a member of a firm that had a contract with the Government, determined to try and enter Parliament. Before commencing his canvas he called his partners together. They agreed that he was to withdraw from the firm. Their solicitor was instructed accordingly, and the deed was duly executed before his election took place, but the deed not having been published in the Gazette until four or five days after the election his seat was referred to a Committee somewhat similar to this Committee, and it was declared vacant.

4. Mr. Wise.] Where is the report of that case? It is sometime since I saw the record, but it was on the 22nd February, 1869, that the motion to refer the seat to the Committee was carried. There is scarcely anything further for me to say, because I think that any matters of opinion on my part would not constitute any evidence. I am only giving the information which led me to take the action I took, and any opinions I have I have no right to express to this Committee. The persons that may be summoned to give evidence will be indicated in these papers. I may mention that even Messrs. Fisher, Ralfe, and Salwey, who acted as solicitors both for Mr. Brown and the bank he is dealing with, is the only document I see here referred to the transaction as a "contract" between Brown Brothers and the Government. I allude to letter No. 36, page 11. If there was any doubt about Mr. H. H. Brown being interested in that contract or agreement I might refer the Committee to letter No. 42, in which Mr. Brown writing personally to the Postmaster-General refers to it as being his matter. Mr. H. H. Brown is more particularly identified with the transaction by the three following letters, and the reply to his communication is addressed to him as "H. H. Brown, Esq., M.P."

J. P. Garvan, Esq., 5. Mr. J. F. Cullen.] Do you remember the nature of the contract in which Sir Sydney Waterlow was interested;—was it a continuing contract? I presume it was, but the papers did not give the information as far as I read. I think it was one of the annual contracts for the supply of stationery. The contract was taken by Sir Sydney Waterlow before he became a Member of Parliament, when he could exercise no influence as a Member of Parliament upon the members of the Government. It was only the fact of his becoming a Member of Parliament which led to the seat being declared vacant.

Herbert Harrington Brown, Esq., M.P., sworn and examined:—

- H. H. Brown, Esq., M.P., 6. Chairman.] You are a Member of the Legislative Assembly for the electorate of Durham? Yes.
7. Do you accept the documents which have been referred to the Committee as authentic? Yes.
8. Is there anything else you would like to add? I do not think so. I suppose it will be for the Committee to decide afterwards whether this case comes under the 28th section of the Constitution Act.
9. You admit that the documents before the Committee are correct? Yes.
10. Do I understand you to admit that you are a member of the firm of Brown Brothers? Yes.
11. Do you desire to make a statement on your own behalf? I wish to point out to the Committee that the offer which was submitted in the first instance by the firm of which I was a partner was refused by the Postmaster-General. Then on the 26th March, as letter No. 36 shows the mortgagees who held the exclusive right to sell the premises, submitted an offer through their own solicitors to the Government under the terms of the mortgage, and that offer was subsequently accepted. That is the only offer that was subsequently made, and it was made by the mortgagees. My firm had not the power of selling without the concurrence of the mortgagees.
12. The mortgagees were the English and Scottish Bank? Yes.
13. Mr. Wise.] Did the sale cover more than the mortgage interest and cost? No; it would not cover the mortgage. I should also like to state the case of Mr. Purves, M.P., was exactly similar to the case I am interested in now. His seat was referred to the Elections and Qualifications Committee for selling land to the Government in connection with his firm. I may mention that the Legislative Assembly refused to refer the case of Mr. Cramsie, M.P., to the Elections and Qualifications Committee. I believe that the seat of Mr. Weekes was similarly dealt with some years ago for selling ironmongery to the Government, and his seat was not declared vacant.
14. Mr. Donald.] He held one of the usual Government annual contracts? No. I would rather rest my position upon the construction of the Constitution Act. I would much prefer that the matter should be dealt with strictly on those lines. But there is this fact in existence: That the whole of this transaction took place before I was elected to the present Legislative Assembly. Since I have been a Member of the present Parliament nothing of this kind has taken place. This all originated in the time of the old Parliament.
15. Mr. Wise.] When was it concluded? The acceptance of the offer was concluded before the election of the new House.
16. Mr. Hayes.] Was the thing finally closed on the date of the last letter? Yes.
17. You will notice, in the "further correspondence" respecting this property that the date of the last letter is the 24th September, 1891? All the deeds were signed and executed before the election of the new House. That letter was written to Sir Henry Parkes complaining of the delay.
18. Mr. Wise.] What is the date of the conveyance? I cannot give the exact date.
19. Chairman.] Has the money actually been paid? No.
20. Mr. Wise.] The money will not be paid to you but to the mortgagees, and it will not cover the mortgage? No.
21. Do I understand that this was a forced sale from the beginning, that it was a mortgagees' sale from the beginning, and although your firm made the offer in the first instance it was made on their behalf? Yes; and with their concurrence.
22. You think the conveyance was executed before the present Assembly was returned? This was done before the 24th September.
23. Have you anything further to add? I do not think so.

(MESSAGE No. 1.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 5 August, 1891.

JERSEY,
Governor.

Message No. 1.

In accordance with the provisions contained in the 54th section of the Constitution Act, the Governor recommends for the consideration of the Legislative Assembly the expediency of making provision to meet the requisite expenses in connection with a Bill for the establishment of a system of registration of electors in New South Wales; for the abolition of plural voting, and the equalisation of the voting power of electors; for ensuring and giving due effect to majorities; for the abolition of money deposits on the nomination of candidates; for restricting, as far as practicable, during polling hours, the retail sale or the supply of liquor on premises licensed under the "Licensing Act of 1882"; for the better representation of the people in the Legislative Assembly; and the amendment of the Electoral Law generally.

ELECTORAL ACT OF 1880.

(STATEMENT SHOWING THE DEFEATED CANDIDATES WHOSE DEPOSITS HAVE BEEN REFUNDED, AND THE GROUND FOR SUCH REFUND, SINCE THE PASSING OF THE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 16 September, 1891.

[Laid upon the Table of the House in answer to Question No. 6, of 8 September, 1891.]

Question.

(6.) FORTY POUNDS DEPOSIT UNDER SEC. 25 OF ELECTORAL ACT:—MR. BARBOUR (for MR. HUGH MCKINNON) asked THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,—Since the passing of the Act requiring all candidates for Parliament to deposit £40 with the Returning Officer before being nominated, how many defeated candidates who forfeited the deposit have had the same amount refunded, and on what ground was the refund made in each case?

Answer.

STATEMENT showing the defeated Candidates for Parliament whose deposits have been refunded, and the ground for such refund.

Candidate.	Cause of Refund of forfeited deposit.
*C. E. Pilcher 	Withdrawal of candidate on finding that his nomination was void through one of the nominators not being an elector.
*J. Murphy 	Retention of Mr. Pilcher's name on the ballot-papers, and the possibility of Mr. Murphy having polled Mr. Pilcher's votes had his name been struck out.
*R. Barbour 	The Parliament was dissolved on the day of the polling, therefore many of the Electors did not vote, and, as a result, the total sum of the votes polled for Mr. Barbour was less than required to entitle him to a refund of his deposit.
†H. W. Statham 	On the ground that prior to the declaration of the poll he was suffering from mental infirmity.

* All these refunds were made in 1883.

† Paid in 1888.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SEATS REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

(PETITION FROM CERTAIN RESIDENTS OF THE COUNTIES OF PHILLIP, BLIGH, WELLINGTON, LINCOLN, AND NAPIER, REPRESENTING THAT THEY DESIRE TO BE FORMED INTO A SEPARATE ELECTORATE.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 6 August, 1891.

To the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned residents of the counties of Phillip, Bligh, Wellington, Lincoln, and Napier,—

SHOWETH :—

That they all reside within a radius of twenty-five miles, and have an identity of interest in common.

That hitherto, under the present and previous Electoral Acts, they have been placed in various electorates with which they have had no interest in common.

That they desire to be formed into a separate electorate; and, as their number amounts to 717, they are justified in claiming recognition in such behalf, so that they may have their local wants attended to as well as receiving a full measure of representation.

That your Petitioners are desirous of being associated with Gulgong, where they, for the most part, transact their business relations, and that this so formed electorate be called the Gulgong electorate.

That the Mudgee electorate, to which Gulgong at present belongs, has now three representatives, whereas under the new Act, now introduced by Sir Henry Parkes, it would have only two, namely, one Member for Hill End and one for Mudgee, while an incorporated and important district like Gulgong is tacked on to the Mudgee electorate. The interest of both towns often clash to the detriment of each.

That your Petitioners, living in portions of the above counties, are placed at the far end of the electorates of Mudgee, the Bogan, Wellington, and Upper Hunter, &c., and those electorates being so large, these portions do not receive their proper representation.

The boundaries of the proposed Gulgong electorate are as follows:—To start from the bridge at Home Rule on the eastern side of Cooyal Creek; thence by that creek to the Maitland Road, and by that road to the Dividing Range, from thence to the junction of the Cassilis and Coolah Roads; thence along the latter road to Coolah, taking in Coolah, and thence by a line north-westerly about three miles to a dividing range, and by that range to the head of the Merrygoen Creek, down that creek about ten miles; thence south to the Talbragar River, along said river to Medway Station, taking in Cobbarah and Sandy Creek; thence from there across to Goolma, taking in Goolma, and thence by and along the Goolma Creek to the Cudgegong River to the Piambone Creek; thence by that creek about eight miles to junction with the Cudgegong River at Galambine; thence by that river to Slasher's Flat Bridge; thence from the bridge north by the Mudgee to Gulgong Road to the municipal boundary; and thence by that boundary east to the starting point at Home Rule Bridge.

Your Petitioners humbly pray that your Parliament will grant relief in such behalf.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 6 October, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Freeholders, Leaseholders, Selectors, and Residents on the Guy Fawkes, and on the Armidale and Grafton Road, in the District of New England, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

PRAYETH :—

That whereas it is proposed by the new division of the Electoral Districts of the Colony, comprised in the Electoral Bill now before your Honorable House of Assembly, to so alter the boundaries of the Armidale Electorate, that we, your Petitioners, will be in another electorate than that of Armidale, we beg to represent to your Honorable House that our business as to land, our markets, and our whole interests politically and commercially, are and must be connected solely with Armidale, from the natural formation of the country, and being so many miles nearer than any other city or town.

We therefore humbly pray that in the division of the new electorates so far as connected with us the boundaries may be as at present existing and clearly defined, viz., that of the Land District boundary as surveyed by Mr. Surveyor Hogarth.

And your Petitioners will ever pray, &c.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SEATS REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

(PETITION FROM CERTAIN RESIDENTS OF WOOGOLGA, CORINDI, AND THE COAST, PRAYING THAT THE EXISTING BOUNDARIES OF THE ELECTORATE, SO FAR AS THESE DISTRICTS ARE CONCERNED, BE NOT INTERFERED WITH.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 7 October, 1891.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned residents of Woogoolga, Corindi, and the Coast, now situate within the Electorate of Grafton, New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners having noticed that in the proposed new Electoral Act, it is proposed to remove Woogoolga and Corindi from the Grafton Electorate, and place them in that of the Macleay, do hereby most respectfully protest against such an alteration and pray that the existing boundaries of the Electorate, so far as these districts are concerned, be not interfered with.

And your Petitioners respectfully submit, for the following reasons, for their request, viz. :—

That Woogoolga and Corindi, as well as all the country south to the Bellingen, are naturally and geographically connected with the Clarence River, Corindi being only (30) thirty miles distant from Grafton a tithe only of the distance from the Macleay.

That these districts are commercially, socially, and financially identified with Grafton, and other centres of population on Clarence, and are partially dependent upon them for supplies and a market for produce.

That they have no trade with the Macleay, and the distance from the communities on that river is an effectual barrier to the establishment of any business relations or community of interest.

That the proposed inclusion of Woogoolga and Corindi in the Electorate of The Macleay would be a virtual disfranchisement of the people in those localities, against which we solemnly protest and pray your Honorable House guard by keeping the present boundaries of the Grafton Electorate intact.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

CIVIL SERVICE ACT, 1884.
(REPORT OF BOARD FOR 1890.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 48 Vic. No. 24, sec. 62.

REPORT

OF THE

CIVIL SERVICE BOARD OF NEW SOUTH WALES,
For the Year 1890.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable VICTOR ALBERT GEORGE, EARL OF JERSEY, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies :

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—

We have the honor to submit to your Excellency in Council our Report for the year 1890, in terms of section 62 of the "Civil Service Act, 1884."

In conformity with the provisions of the Act, that one member shall retire annually, and shall not be eligible for reappointment within twelve months after retirement, John Williams, Esq., retired on the 31st December, 1889, and the vacancy thus occasioned was filled by the reappointment of the Hon. G. Eagar, who had previously occupied a seat on the Board, from January 1, 1885, to December 31, 1888.

Thomas Littlejohn, Esq., was elected Chairman at a meeting of the Board held on January 9.

Fifty

[1,353 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £23 18s. 3d.]

Fifty meetings of the Board have been held for the transaction of business during the year.

The returns furnished in terms of sections 25 and 62 show—

Increases under the following heads, viz. :—

Appointments of probationers	27
„ under section 7	226
„ „ 8	161
„ „ 28	19
„ „ 29
„ of temporary officers	under section 31	179
„ of teachers	459
				<hr/> 1,071

And decreases as under :—

Retirements	109
Resignations	307
Deaths	52
Abolition of office...	26
Dismissals	66
				<hr/> 560

The actual increases have therefore been 511

The recommendations of the Board in reference to appointments, promotions, and transfers to vacancies reported to them under section 27 have been carried out by the heads of Departments, but the Board are of opinion that the powers conferred on them by the Civil Service Act, 1884, are too limited to enable them to regulate appointments to the Service, which are made under sections which give the Board no right of intervention. Appointments under these sections have been made of persons outside the Service to the disadvantage and discouragement of competent officers, to whom the positions thus filled would have afforded substantial promotion. The appointment of temporary officers is also outside the functions of the Board, and is, in their opinion, not subject to sufficient check. The services of persons appointed at a time of urgency, to clear off unavoidable arrears of work, do not appear to be always promptly dispensed with when the necessity for their employment ceases. This leads to an overcrowding of offices, and a large amount is annually paid for salaries without Parliamentary sanction.

Reorganisation of many of the Departments has been continued during this year, intensifying the strain upon the Superannuation Account, to which urgent attention was invited in our last Report.

SUPERANNUATION ACCOUNT.

The balance at credit of the Civil Service Superannuation Account, a statement of which is submitted herewith in accordance with the 62nd section of the Act, was, on the 31st December, 1889, £368,878 15s. 7d. This was augmented during the year by receipts to the amount of £98,993 6s. 9d., making the total

£467,872

£467,872 2s. 4d. The disbursements during the year were £61,286 3s. 3d., thus leaving a balance to the credit of the Superannuation Account on 31st December, 1890, of £406,585 19s. 1d., showing an increase during the year of £37,707 3s. 6d.

The number of officers who have retired on pensions since the Act came into operation on 1st January, 1885, to 31st December, 1890, is 451, and the amount to which they are entitled is £60,771 2s. 5d. per annum. Two pensions have been assigned, but are not yet payable, amounting to £635 11s. During the same period gratuities, amounting to £68,386 0s. 10d., have been granted to 454 recipients. This comprises the following items:—

To persons whose services have been dispensed with for purposes of retrenchment—

	£	s.	d.
For 172 pensioners	30,037	16	7
2 pensioners (pensions not yet payable)	635	11	0
211 gratuitants	34,143	15	6

Retirements under 60 years of age, consequent on ill-health—

	£	s.	d.
For 102 pensioners	11,094	16	5
70 gratuitants	11,664	12	6
Gratuities to 133 widows	15,923	17	7

Officers who have retired voluntarily, being over 60 years of age—

	£	s.	d.
177 pensioners	19,638	9	5
33 gratuitants	4,779	1	6

Officers who have received injury while in the execution of their duty—

	£	s.	d.
7 gratuitants	1,874	13	9

Forty-one pensioners have died since 1st January, 1885, reducing the amount to be paid by £4,784.

There are 18 pensioners under Schedule B receiving £3,500 per annum.

As shown above the pensions now payable amount to £60,771 2s. 5d., of which £30,733 5s. 10d. are paid to officers who were entitled to retire on account of their age, being over 60, or were certified by medical report to be permanently incapacitated for performance of their duty. The residue of the amount, viz., £30,037 16s. 7d., virtually one half of the annual charge on the Fund, has been created by the retrenchment policy of the Government, under which the services of men in the early prime of life have been dispensed with, entailing not only a present heavy claim but one that it will take many years to extinguish. The ages of many of these pensioners range from 30 to 40 years, so that they will be receiving pensions from twenty to thirty years before they arrive at the statutory age for voluntary retirement. This is a matter so serious that your Board feel assured that it is only necessary to set forth the facts to render apparent the necessity and equity of a proper provision being made for these pensions.

The

The retrenchment effected by the Government by the reorganisation and reduction of the Staffs of many Departments, particularly in the Department of Lands, the Railway Department, and the Department of Public Works, has resulted in an annual saving in salaries of about £112,200, which is a direct and lasting gain to the exchequer, and from this saving it is only equitable that this undue charge on the Superannuation Account should be recouped from the Consolidated Revenue.

CIVIL SERVICE ACT OF 1884.
(RETURN SHOWING THE AMOUNT PAID AS PENSIONS UNDER THE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 17 February, 1892.

RETURN asked for by Mr. Rose, M.P., 19th January, 1892, so far as it relates to the Superannuation Account, under the Civil Service Act, 1884, and the £3,500 per annum received to the credit of that Account from Schedule B, 4 and 5 Gul. IV, cap. 24.

Year.	Pensions paid under the provisions of the Civil Service Act, 1884.	Gratuities paid under the provisions of the Civil Service Act, 1884.	Pensions paid under Schedule B.	Subsidy from the Government.	Abatements paid by Government to enable Officers, compulsorily retired under Section 46 for the purpose of retrenchment, to receive their pensions in full.	Gratuities granted to Officers compulsorily retired under Section 46 for the purpose of retrenchment, and repaid to the credit of the Superannuation Account.

ABOLITION OF THE OFFICE OF COLONIAL ARCHITECT.

(LETTER FROM MR. JAMES BARNET, LATE COLONIAL ARCHITECT, RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 February, 1892.

RETURN to an Order of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly, dated the 4th February, 1892, that there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

- “ A copy of the communication from Mr. James Barnett, late Colonial
- “ Architect, to the Under Secretary for Public Works, dated 30th June,
- “ 1890, respecting the proposed abolition of the office of Colonial
- “ Architect.

(Mr. Houghton.)

The Colonial Architect to The Under Secretary for Public Works.

Sir,

Colonial Architect's Office, Sydney, 30 June, 1890.

In acknowledging receipt of your letter of 16th ultimo, with enclosure, intimating that, as the office of Colonial Architect was to be abolished, my services would not be needed after the end of the present month, and that it was arranged I should retire under the provisions of the Civil Service Act of 1884, also that provision would be made on the Estimates to meet the 4 per cent. deduction from my pension prior to the passing of the Act, I desire, as the last occupant of the office of Colonial Architect, and who has held the office under sixteen different Ministers for Works, in twenty Governments, for a period of nearly thirty years, and I believe has given general satisfaction in the performance of the duties of the office, to submit a short statement of the works carried out by me during my tenure of office. I may here state that I anticipated there would be a change in the duties and a decrease of works to be carried out by the Colonial Architect when the Local Government Bill now before Parliament came into operation, which would relieve the central Government from many of the duties and works now thrown upon it, but I did not anticipate the abolition of the office. In August, 1860, by request, I joined the Department as Clerk of Works; in October, 1862, I was appointed Acting Colonial Architect on the retirement of my predecessor, the late Mr. Alexander Dawson, and in January, 1865, I was gazetted Colonial Architect, at a salary of £1,000 per annum. There were then only 324 buildings under the care of the office, and the number of officers employed, 17. At the end of last year, 1889, there were 1,351 buildings throughout the Colony in charge of the Department, the number of officers employed being 64. During my term of office there have been expended upwards of six millions pounds sterling on (say) 12,000 works, and the accompanying memo. of expenditure shows that the rate of professional services has been 3.19 per cent., clerical 0.91, superintendence 1.50, and travelling expenses, contingencies, &c., 0.69, on the outlay. Without enumerating the several works carried out by me, I may mention some in Sydney and its vicinity, such as the General Post Office, Colonial Secretary's Office and the Public Works Office, Lands Office, Museum, Custom House, Public Library, Darlinghurst Gaol and Court-house additions, Medical School, Sydney University, Mortuary Stations, Callan Park Hospital for Insane, also suburban post and telegraph offices, police stations, &c.; and in the country—gaols at Goulburn and Bathurst, also court-houses and post and telegraph offices at these places; and throughout the Colony, 169 post and telegraph offices, 130 court-houses, 155 police buildings, 110 lock-ups, and 20 light-houses, with many other works of a varied character, including furniture and fittings for the several buildings. In addition to the foregoing may be mentioned exceptional works carried out by me under direction of various Colonial Secretaries, as, in 1863, the demonstration to commemorate the marriage of the Prince of Wales; in 1868, arrangements and works for reception of H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh; in 1879, the designing and erection of the International Exhibition, known as the Garden Palace; in 1883, buildings on Garden Island, &c., for naval station; in 1888, entrance gates and enclosing Centennial Park, Centennial commemoration arrangements, &c.

In 1870 I was appointed a member of a Commission to consult in regard to matters concerning the defence of the Colony, and in accordance with the recommendation of the Commission had to carry out works required in constructing 12 batteries, with necessary 19 magazines and 16 shell-rooms, water supply, drainage, erection of barracks, mounting 41 guns, constructing roads, &c., as shown on accompanying plan of Port Jackson, dated 29th June, 1872. These works were highly commended by Sir William Jervois, R.E., K.C.M.G., in his report on the defences of the Colony, dated 4th June, 1877, page 10, in the following terms:—"Passing to an examination of the batteries which have already been provided for the defence of the entrance to the Harbour, I desire first to bear testimony to the ingenuity which has been displayed in the design, and the good work which has been performed in the construction of the several works, which, without any technical professional aid, have been carried out under the officers of the local Government; considerable modifications and some additions must, however, be introduced to render the works thoroughly effective." The plan referred to was for some time in the possession of Sir William Jervois and Major-General Scratchley, being returned to this office when the latter went to England. It was, however, considered of such importance that Major-General Scratchley asked by letter to have it sent to the War Office, and a copy of it was forwarded for that purpose to the Colonial Secretary's Department on 21st July, 1884. Since then fortification works, designed by Major-General Scratchley, have been carried out by me at Sydney, Botany, and Newcastle, on which the total amount expended may be stated at about £300,000.

It will be seen the works carried out by me are of a very varied character, among which may be named the twenty lighthouses along the coast and at various harbours, at a cost of upwards of £200,000, including quarters. Six of these are first-order revolving lights, and at the Macquarie Light-house, at South Head, Port Jackson, the electric light was adopted upon my recommendation. During the whole of the time of my service in the Government I have not been absent from duty through sickness or other causes one day, but in the year 1885 obtained leave of absence for a year to visit Europe, where, in order to gain information, I inspected numerous buildings, works, and institutions, among which may be named the following:—

Five Houses of Parliament, in London, Paris, Brussels, Rome, and Vienna.
 Four Great Law Courts, in London, Paris, Brussels, and Vienna.
 Four Great Public Libraries in London, Paris, Munich, and Vienna.
 Six Technical Colleges in London, Paris, Munich, Bristol, and Birmingham.
 Seven Theatres in London, Paris, Genoa, Naples, Rome, Venice, and Milan.
 Seven Great Picture Galleries in London, Paris, Rome, Naples, Florence, Venice, Munich, &c.
 Three Lunatic Asylums at Chartham, Broadmoor, and Sunnyside.
 Two Record Offices, London and Edinburgh.
 Four Police Courts, London, Greenock, and Perth.
 Four Dockyards and Forts, Chatham, Portsmouth, Plymouth, and Portland.
 Three Lighthouses, South Foreland, Genoa, and Port Said.
 Three Prisons, Wormwood Scrubs, Woking, and Portland.

At South Foreland Lighthouse I met Sir James Douglass, C.E., and a committee of Trinity Brothers, together with Mr. Stevenson, C.E., of the Scotch Lighthouse Board, and Mr. Ormiston, C.E., from Bombay; remained all night and witnessed experiments in electric light, gaslight, and oil. The result of this visit will be seen in the improved lighthouse now being built at Smoky Cape; and from my visit to the new gaol at Wormwood Scrubs I was able to prevent the expenditure of say £10,000 in alterations to gaols in the Colony.

I met also Mr. Fishenden of the Admiralty, and accompanied him to Chatham Dockyard, about work at Garden Island, obtained plans of all the British Dockyards and newest English Prisons, and at Birmingham visited Chance Brothers' Lighthouse Lantern Works. To enable me to visit many of the buildings named, Sir Saul Samuel, the Agent-General, kindly obtained the necessary authorities from the Admiralty, War Office, Home Office, Post Office, Master of the Rolls, and the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

Before leaving the Department, I should like to have seen finished, or nearly completed, the following works, viz.:—Smoky Cape Lighthouse, Museum, Land Office additions, Museum additions, Naval Station buildings (Garden Island), General Post Office Tower Clock, Gladsville Asylum additions, Sydney University Medical School and Chemical Laboratory, &c., Centennial Park entrance gates, &c. Throughout my long term of office it has been my earnest and anxious endeavour to have in all cases buildings designed suitable for their purpose and built with the most durable materials in the best manner obtainable under the various circumstances and situations, always having in mind that in buildings for the Government utility and durability, with due economy, are the supreme requirements, as well as an example to the public—at the same time due attention has been paid to architectural effect,—and may add that in carrying out Government works in all parts of the Colony with numerous contractors I have been able to avoid legal disputes.

I would also add that for more than three months I have been without a First Clerk of Works. The duties that fell to that officer were of a very responsible character, and these duties I have endeavoured to perform, with the assistance of the various officers, who reasonably looked for promotion on the retirement of the First Clerk of Works, thus precluding me for the time from attending as much as I would wish to many out-door works, &c.

Previous to retiring, it may not perhaps be considered unreasonable, in view of my long service and short cessation during same from my official duties, to ask that I be allowed leave of absence and some consideration for the various and responsible duties performed in connection with the Defence Works of the Colony.

In conclusion, I desire to bring under notice the officers of the Department, to whose willing zeal and integrity I have been indebted for their loyal support in assisting and enabling me to efficiently carry out the duties of the Department, specially mentioning the late First Clerk of Works, Mr. William Coles, in connection with the professional branch, for his untiring and ready help at all times, and Mr. Alfred Cook, the Chief Draftsman, for the assiduity with which he has always performed his duties; also Mr. James McShane, Chief Clerk, for his constant care and diligence in performing the duties of his office as head of the clerical staff, and trust that in the re-organization contemplated that the faithful services of all the officers will be favourably considered.

I have, &c.,

JAMES BARNET,
 Colonial Architect.

No. 1.

Mr. Warden De Boos to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir,

65, Paddington-street, Paddington, 8 June, 1889.

As my extended leave of absence will expire on the 15th instant, and as permission has been given to me to retire from the Public Service, I have the honor to request that you will relieve me from my official duties on that day.

My return to Milparinka will entail a long, fatiguing, and expensive journey of 900 miles, with a return journey of the same length, on my retirement from the Public Service, and I trust to your consideration to save me this trouble and expense, especially as the duties of my office are being satisfactorily performed by the gentleman sent to relieve me.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. DE BOOS,

Warden.

Mr. Warden De Boos' request may be complied with, and the Department of Justice may be asked what arrangement, if any, they purpose to make for the performance of P.M.'s duties at Milparinka and Tibooburra.—H.W., 13/6/89.

Submitted. Approved.—S.S., 17/6/89. Warden informed and Justice Department asked.—19/6/89.

No. 2.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 13 June, 1889.

In transmitting to you the accompanying copy of a letter dated the 8th instant (with minutes thereon) from Mr. Charles De Boos, Police Magistrate and Warden at Milparinka, I am directed to invite you to be good enough to state, for the information of the Minister of Justice, whether any steps are being taken by the Department of Mines in connection with the retirement of Mr. De Boos from the Public Service.

I have, &c.,

A. C. FRASER,

Under Secretary.

The Department of Justice may be informed that Mr. Warden De Boos has been allowed to retire from his office, and this Department is awaiting reply to the letter of the 19th instant before taking steps to fill the vacancy.—H.W., 25/6/89.

Submitted. The other Wardens may be asked if they wish their names submitted for consideration for this vacancy.—S.S., 9/7/89. Justice Department informed.—15/7/89. Wardens Gower, Smith, Sharpe, Baker, Graham, Martin, Fraser, King, Aldcorn, Giles, and Maunsell asked.—15/7/89.

[Enclosure.]

Sir,

65, Paddington-street, Sydney, 8 July, 1889.

As my extended leave of absence will expire on the 15th instant, and as permission has been given to me to retire from the Public Service, I have the honor to request that you will relieve me from my official duties on that day. My return to Milparinka will entail a long, fatiguing, and expensive journey of 900 miles, with a return journey of the same length, on my retirement from the Public Service, and I trust to your consideration to save me this trouble and expense, especially as the duties of my office are being satisfactorily performed by the gentleman sent to relieve me.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. DE BOOS,

Police Magistrate.

The Under Secretary of Justice.

Urgent. Mr. De Boos receives salary as Mining Warden from Department of Mines. Mr. Walteous Brown is now acting at Milparinka during Mr. Boos' absence on leave.—A.C.F., 10/6/89. Submitted. Mr. De Boos need not make this journey.—A.J.G.

No. 3.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 13 June, 1889.

I am directed by the Minister of Justice to inform you that Mr. Charles De Boos, Police Magistrate and Clerk of Petty Sessions at Milparinka, has been granted leave of absence for a further period of one month from the 15th ultimo, and that Mr. Brown will continue to act as Police Magistrate and Clerk of Petty Sessions at that place during the same period.

I have, &c.,

ARCH. C. FRASER,

Under Secretary.

No. 4.

The Under Secretary for Mines to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Department of Mines, Sydney, 19 June, 1889.
I have the honor to inform you that Mr. Warden De Boos has been relieved from official duty from the 15th instant, and I am to request you to say what arrangement (if any) is proposed to be made for the performance of the Police Magistrate's duties at Milparinka and Tibooburra.

I have, &c.,
HARRIE WOOD,
Under Secretary.

No. 5.

The Under Secretary for Mines to C. De Boos, Esq.

Sir, Department of Mines, Sydney, 19 June, 1889.
Referring to your letter of the 8th instant, requesting to be relieved from official duty from the 15th instant, I have the honor to inform you that the Secretary for Mines approves of your request being complied with.

I have, &c.,
HARRIE WOOD,
Under Secretary.

No. 6.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Department of Justice, Sydney, 25 June, 1889.
Referring to your letter of the 19th instant, and the inquiry contained therein, I am directed by the Minister of Justice to inform you that Mr. Charles De Boos, Police Magistrate and Clerk of Petty Sessions at Milparinka, has been relieved from official duty from the 15th instant, prior to his retirement from the Public Service, and that Mr. Walteous Le Brum Brown, J.P., who has lately been acting as Police Magistrate and Clerk of Petty Sessions at Milparinka, during the absence on leave of Mr. De Boos, has been authorised to continue to act in that capacity, with a salary at the rate of £340 per annum, from the 15th instant, pending the appointment and arrival of a permanent successor to Mr. De Boos.

I have, &c.,
A. C. FRASER,
Under Secretary.

No. 7.

The Under Secretary for Mines to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Department of Mines, Sydney, 15 July, 1889.
Adverting to your letter of the 13th ultimo, inquiring whether any steps are being taken by this Department in connection with the retirement of Mr. Charles De Boos, Warden at Milparinka, from the Public Service, I have the honor to inform you that Mr. Warden De Boos has been allowed to retire from his office.

I have, &c.,
HARRIE WOOD,
Under Secretary.

No. 8.

Telegram from Mr. Warden Smith to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Trunkey, 16 July, 1889.
I do not desire to have my name submitted as an applicant for the office of Warden at Milparinka, vice De Boos, who retires. Letter by post.

T. A. SMITH.

No. 9.

Mr. Warden Smith to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Warden's Office, Trunkey, 16 July, 1889
I have the honor to acknowledge your letter No. 89-10,599 of yesterday's date, and in reply to state that I do not wish to have my name submitted for consideration as Warden at Milparinka. I thank you for your letter most sincerely, but having resided in my younger days on the Darling and Upper Warrego, in Queensland, I have no desire to return to that part of New South Wales. I shall on Sunday next be 49 years old. I think only young men can fairly be asked to go beyond the Darling. My family at home numbers eight—six girls and two boys.

I have, &c.,
T. A. SMITH,
Warden.

No. 10.

Mr. Warden King to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Warden's Office, Tamworth, 16 July, 1889.
In reply to your letter of yesterday, asking if I wished my name to be submitted for consideration for the vacancy at Milparinka caused by the retirement of Mr. Warden De Boos, I have the honor to state that, while thanking you for the offer, I feel bound to refuse it, on account of my wife and young family. I may be allowed to state that from 1877 to 1885 I was stationed at Narrandera, and during that time they suffered so from the dryness and heat that I applied to leave, and accepted this place.

I have, &c.,
JOHN L. KING,
Warden.

No. 11.

No. 11.

Mr. Warden Martin to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Warden's Office, Glen Innes, 16 July, 1889.
I have the honor to acknowledge, with thanks, the offer of the Warden's appointment at Milparinka conveyed in your letter of the 15th instant, but as the acceptance of the position would really entail on me a pecuniary loss, notwithstanding the higher salary, I am constrained respectfully to decline the offer.

I may add that my acquired knowledge of the resources of the district under my charge is more likely to be of value in the service of the public than would be any necessarily imperfect knowledge of any district to which I might be transferred.

I have, &c.,
G. MARTIN,
Warden.

No. 12.

Mr. Warden Aldcorn to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Warden's Office, Braidwood, 17 July, 1889.
Referring to your letter of 15th instant, No. 89-10,599, asking whether I wished my name submitted for consideration for the appointment of Warden at Milparinka, I have the honor to state that in consequence of my wife having been an invalid for the last six years I could not entertain the idea of going so far away, as it would be impossible to move her thither in her present state.

I have, &c.,
J. ALDCORN,
Warden.

No. 13.

Mr. Warden Sharpe to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Warden's Office, Forbes, 17 July, 1889.
Referring to your letter of the 15th instant, 89-10,599, asking if I wish my name to be submitted for the appointment of Warden at Milparinka, I have the honor respectfully to state that I do not wish my name to be submitted for the said appointment.

I have, &c.,
E. A. L. SHARPE,
Warden.

No. 14.

Mr. Warden Graham to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Tenterfield, 17 July, 1889.
In reply to your letter of the 15th instant, requesting me to inform you whether I would wish my name submitted for the vacancy of Warden at Milparinka, I do myself the honor to inform you that, although an applicant for promotion, I do not wish to have my name submitted for the vacancy referred to.

I have, &c.,
J. B. GRAHAM,
Warden.

No. 15.

Mr. Warden Maunsell to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Warden's Office, Wagonga, 17 July, 1889.
I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, No. 89-10,599, asking if I desire that my name should be submitted for the Wardenship at Milparinka.

Though I recognise the consideration showed me in the offer, for domestic reasons I am compelled to request you not to submit my name as an applicant for the vacated appointment; but I would take this opportunity of asking you to review my past and present services, with a view of giving me a similar salary to that received by the Bombala Warden, who, till three years ago, held but an insignificant office in the Civil Service.

I have, &c.,
GEORGE MAUNSELL,
Warden.

No. 16.

Mr. Warden Fraser to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir, Warden's Office, Inverell, 18 July, 1889.
I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of yours of 15th instant, and thank you for affording me the opportunity of applying for promotion.

Unless the exigencies of the Service require it, I would rather not have my name submitted as an applicant for the vacancy caused by the retirement from the Public Service of Mr. Warden De Boos.

I have, &c.,
W. W. FRASER,
Warden.

No. 17.

Mr. Warden Baker to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir,

Temora, 18 July, 1889.

In reply to yours of the 18th instant, 89-10,599, I have the honor to inform you that it is not my wish to have my name submitted for the vacancy at Milparinka, caused by the retirement of Mr. C. De Boos. I thank you very much for kindly remembering me. I would, of course, like the increase of salary, but fear the climate at Milparinka would not suit my wife or myself. Of course, if it would be the special wish of the Department that I should go to Milparinka, I submit myself to its command herein; but in that case I should respectfully ask that a reasonable sum be allowed me for the expense of removing to the place named, also that quarters be provided. I may just mention that when I was at Copeland there was no house, nor could one be rented. I was compelled to build a small cottage. This cost me some £350, nearly half of which was spent in levelling, &c., the site. In the six and a half years since I left there have had about £10 rent for the place. Am supposed to be getting 2s. per week rent, but have had none for over three years, so that the money expended is, for practical purposes, lost to me.

Again thanking you.

I have, &c.,
JAMES BAKER,
Warden.

No. 18.

Mr. Warden Giles to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir,

Cooma, 19 July, 1889.

Referring to your letter of the 15th instant, intimating that Mr. De Boos had been permitted to retire from the Public Service, and requesting to be informed whether I wished my name to be submitted as an applicant for the vacant appointment, I have the honor to inform you that the climate of Milparinka would be most unsuitable for me, and whilst thanking you for your kind consideration, I beg to decline becoming a candidate for the vacancy.

I have, &c.,
JAMES GILES,
Warden.

Silverton, 20 July, 1889.

MANY thanks, but must decline to put my name down for Warden at Milparinka.

Position of Warden and P.M., Milparinka.—Replies from Wardens attached.—E.D.R., 25/7/89.

From this it would seem that none of the Wardens desire to go to the Milparinka Division. If the Minister does not know of any other suitable person, perhaps it might be desirable to ascertain whether Mr. Brown, who is at present acting, or some one of the Wardens' Clerks who has had experience, could be appointed to the position.—H.W., 25/7/89. Memo.

25 July, 1889.

LIST of Wardens' Clerks who would be suited to fill the office of Warden at Milparinka, if willing:—A. Elliott, Junee; E. Marriott, Walcha, £440; R. H. Acheson, Mudgee, £440; E. A. T. Perry, Forbes, £340; W. Clarke, Grafton, £490; F. S. Osborn, Young, £390.

If the position has not already been offered to Mr. Warden Maitland, at Copeland, it might perhaps be offered.

Mr. Warden Maitland to The Under Secretary for Mines.

Sir,

Copeland, 16 August, 1889.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter 89-12,365, and respectfully request that my name may be submitted for consideration in connection with filling the vacancy therein mentioned.

I have, &c.,
E. L. MAITLAND.
Mr.

Mr. Maitland receives £150 as C.P.S. and £50 as Warden—£200. If the Minister approves of his being offered the Wardenship at Milparinka, he might be allowed a salary of £350. Some of the Wardens' Clerks named by me receive larger salaries as C.P.S.—H.W., 20/8/89.

Submitted. Mr. Maitland may be offered the position at £300 (three hundred pounds) per annum.—S.S., 21/8/89.

No. 1.

Dr. E. G. Tennant to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 18 October, 1884.

I have the honor, very reluctantly, to bring under your notice the extraordinary discourtesy displayed towards me yesterday by Mr. W. S. Caswell, Police Magistrate of Dubbo.

I waited upon him in his room, and asked him for a certain voucher in reference to my attendance as a witness in a case lately tried at Dubbo. I asked, as one gentleman would of another, for the voucher, and he replied very curtly that he would not give it, and walked from the room into the passage. I followed him, and asked him civilly and quietly if he refused to give me the voucher. He then said, "If you do not hold your tongue, I will have you turned out of the Court."

I respectfully suggest that this marked discourtesy, even insolence, on the part of one Magistrate to another, in the presence of policemen and others, demands some reproof, and my only object in bringing it under your notice is to protect myself from similar insults in future, and also to protect other gentlemen who officially may come in contact with the Police Magistrate, from being grossly and unwarrantably insulted.

I have, &c.,

EDWARD GLOVER TENNANT.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., Police Magistrate, may be invited to furnish to this Department such observations as he may deem to be necessary hereon.—W.E.P., 25/10/84. Approved.—H.E.C., 27/10/84. The Police Magistrate, Dubbo.—W. E. PLUNKETT, B.C., 28/10/84.

No. 2.

The Police Magistrate, Dubbo, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 9 November, 1884.

In acknowledging the receipt of your memo., under B.C., noted on the letter of E. G. Tennant, Esq., J.P., who complains that I insulted him at Dubbo Court-house on the 17th ultimo, I do myself the honor to state in reply:—

1. That the complaint is one of a most unwarrantable nature, made purely for revenge and to disparage me in the good opinion of the Minister.
2. That the insulting conduct rests with Dr. Tennant, who appears to have desired to pick a quarrel for reasons which I will disclose.
3. That Dr. Tennant is mistaken in making any complaint against me as Police Magistrate, when, in fact, he must have known I was acting as Deputy Sheriff, and that I was simply carrying out my duty as an officer of the Assize Court, at the time in immediate attendance on His Honor Judge Faucett.

Dr. Tennant has grossly misstated the manner of the occurrence. I told him, "I would order him to be removed from the precincts of the Court if he continued making a noise," but I did not do so until I had cautioned him twice, and after he had asked me at least a dozen times, "Do you refuse?" with reference to a voucher he wanted from me.

You are aware that all vouchers for the payment of witnesses or other expenses of Courts of Petty Sessions are, or ought to be, prepared and recorded by the Clerk of Petty Sessions; and Dr. Tennant, after receiving similar vouchers for years, must have known this. He must have known also that half-past 4 in the afternoon was not a proper time for such application as the one he made. It happened that twice previously I had refused to sign such vouchers unless coming through the Clerk of Petty Sessions.

At half-past 4 o'clock on the evening of the 17th I left my place on the Bench beside His Honor Judge Faucett, whom, I have before said, I was attending as Deputy Sheriff, and was going outside for fresh air. I met Dr. Tennant in my room, about 15 feet from the Judge. Without salutation he said, "I want you to sign a voucher for that case." As I did not see any voucher in his hand, and he had a day or two previously turned his back on me when I said "Good morning," I concluded he had some design. I said, "I have no time now." He said, "Do you refuse?" I said "No, I have no time now, I tell you"; and after walking through the doorway he followed, repeatedly saying, "You refuse?" I passed him to get away. He kept saying, "You refuse?" and called on Mr. Ryan, solicitor, and a policeman in the passage to bear witness that I refused. I said once or twice again that I had not refused, and went into the constables' room to escape from him. As I saw he was following me in there I turned sharp sharp round, he again repeating, "You refuse?" I then told him he would disturb the Court, and "I would not allow so much noise," and walked towards the Court door. He sneeringly remarked that I was speaking louder than he was. He overtook me, and while again saying, "You refuse," dropped his cane on the floor, which made a noise. I then said, "If you make any more noise I will order a policeman to put you out." He must have repeated the words "You refuse" a dozen times. He followed me out of my room to the Court door, then into the police-room, and back again. His insolence and impertinence were not confined to words. Twice he cleverly placed his foot in front of me, which on the second occasion would have tripped me had I not been on my guard.

Dr. Tennant is medical officer to the gaol, and through complaints of prisoners and gaoler, I had, as Visiting Justice, to report him to the Comptroller-General for inattention to his duties. After hearing of this complaint, which was only made a few days before the 17th, I met him going into the gaol, where I had been on duty. I said "Good morning," but he turned his back and spoke to the warder. His next act was to come to me at a most unseemly hour and occasion. Since then he has sent me a lawyer's letter, which I enclose copy of. All these things are very puerile, and I tried to treat them with the contempt they deserved, or I should have brought Dr. Tennant before the Judge.

There never was any previous unpleasantness between us. I should probably have been censured had I not acquainted the Comptroller-General with such complaints as reached me. I was as studiously polite as Dr. Tennant says he was, and tried to get out of his way as quickly as I could. What brought him to my room at such a time, or how he could expect me to draw out vouchers, I cannot satisfy myself.

I think the Minister will now accept my positive denial that I went further than duty required, and I am sure that, accepting the statement, he will give me credit for unusual forbearance.

I have, &c.,

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.,
And Deputy Sheriff.

[Enclosure.]

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 21 October, 1884.
Dr. Tennant has requested me to write you for a voucher for one guinea for giving evidence before you, at the request of the police, in the case of Jemmy Pydie, against a woman for assault on the 9th August last. I may state that Pydie was brought to the doctor on the 8th of August by Sergeant Kenny, and that his injuries were then examined by the doctor. I shall be glad if you will let me have the voucher as early as possible.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Yours, &c.,
ROBERT BOOTH.

E. G. Tennant, Esq., J.P., might be informed that Mr. Caswell, P.M., disclaims all intention of having insulted him at the Dubbo Court-house, as alleged, and conceives he only acted in the performance of his duty in whatever took place on his part. The matter had better be allowed to drop, as no good can come of pressing the subject further.—W.E.P., 15/11/84.

Inform Dr. Tennant that, having made inquiry, I find no justification for complaints against Mr. Caswell, P.M., or further interference by the Department.—H.E.C., 19/11/84.

The Under Secretary of Justice to E. G. Tennant, Esq., J.P.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 20 November, 1884.

Referring to your letter of the 18th ultimo, complaining of insulting language used towards you by Mr. W. S. Caswell, Police Magistrate, at the Court-house, Dubbo, on the 17th ultimo, I am directed by the Minister of Justice to inform you that, having made inquiry, he finds no justification for complaint against Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate, or further interference by this Department.

I have, &c.,

Under Secretary.

No. 4.

Mr. J. E. Morris to The Minister of Justice.

Honorable Sir,

Dubbo, 8 December, 1886.

I have the honor to inform you that on Tuesday, the 7th instant, I attended the Dubbo Police Court for the purpose of being examined by my creditors present as to my insolvency. I waited all day, until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, as Mr. Caswell was busy in the Police Court with other matters, and could not commence my matter before that hour. At 4 o'clock my examination took place. I was asked by Mr. Fitzhardinge, a creditor's solicitor, if I had paid rent for the public house I occupied to my step-daughter, and I said, "I refuse to answer the question." I did this at the time because I did not consider the questions that were being put were for the purpose of eliciting information, but were asked more for the purpose of irritating me, as my wife is the owner of the public house, and has been for years, and I had never any claim to it. Mr. Caswell threatened to send me to gaol until I answered the question, and the same unpleasantness arose between my solicitor and Mr. Caswell. Mr. Caswell then said he did not know if his appointment was right, and he did not like sending me to gaol, as he might have to put up with the consequences. My solicitor advised me to answer the question, which I did, and the examination proceeded. Mr. Caswell again became irritable, and stopped taking evidence. He said, "I will not go on any more; the way you give your evidence is enough to make anyone laugh, and if I had the power I would send you to gaol for refusing to answer the question." My solicitor said, "But he has answered it." Mr. Caswell said, "I want no more of your impertinence; if you do not sit down, I will have you removed." This was said to my solicitor; was totally unprovoked. Mr. Caswell said, "Well, I will adjourn the case until Monday, the 13th. If I cannot send you to gaol I will punish you in that way, by keeping you here. The meeting was then adjourned. I have not the means to stay in town till Monday, and I am compelled to go home. I live 45 miles from Dubbo. I was examined at considerable length length, and my examination could easily have been concluded on the 7th. I therefore take this opportunity of addressing you in this matter, as I will not be able to attend Dubbo on the 13th, and through no fault of mine. It is through no discourtesy that I will be absent, and I write to you accordingly, and complain of Mr. Caswell's harsh treatment.

I have, &c.,

J. E. MORRIS

(Per A. W. MILLER).

The Police Magistrate, Dubbo, for favour of report.—W. E. PLUNKETT, B.C., 24/12/86.

No. 5.

The Police Magistrate, Dubbo, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 3 January, 1887.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your B.C. enclosure, 24/12/86, being the complaint of one J. E. Morris for my treatment of him while under examination as an insolvent before me, as Substitute District Commissioner.

Much of Mr. Morris' statement is absolutely false, and, although I did threaten to commit him, and take a "very high hand" with his solicitor, Mr. R. J. Ryan, on the whole I treated Morris with much courtesy and consideration.

The Chief Commissioner had set down the proceedings for the 6th December, on which day insolvent failed to appear. I suggested to opposing creditor's solicitor, that as the neglect was probably caused by the state of the weather, the meeting should be adjourned, which I accordingly did, and for Morris' convenience, till Tuesday, the 7th, one of my busiest days.

On the 7th, Morris appeared and was examined by Mr. Fitzhardinge, solicitor, at great length, until at last he refused to answer. During this examination Mr. Ryan interfered so often, and obstructed Mr. Fitzhardinge repeatedly, notwithstanding many warnings, that I threatened to commit insolvent, and take a high hand with Mr. Ryan. Insolvent after this gave his evidence with so much levity, that knowing there was a flaw in my appointment, I adjourned the meeting until the 13th December.

Thereafter, the Chief Commissioner appointed the 20th December for a special meeting, but insolvent, although tendered his conduct money, failed to appear. Mr. Fitzhardinge then applied for a warrant. This I did not grant. I accepted Mr. Ryan's promise for insolvent's attendance on the 31st December.

I may say that I only allowed Mr. Ryan to speak as a matter of courtesy, as, strictly, he had no standing at the meeting. He repaid me by unwarrantable obstruction.

I have taken evidence at great length, and I think there is a strong case of fraudulent preference and insolvency.

As evidence of the surroundings, Morris admits having been charged with taking and burning a buggy, having been charged with murder, and convicted of manslaughter, and the notoriety of the family justified severe inquiry.

I have, &c.,

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

It appears from this report furnished by Mr. Caswell that the complaint made by Morris is not entitled to much consideration, and he might perhaps be informed that the subject of his complaint against the Police Magistrate has been inquired into, but that no further action can be taken thereon.—C.D.R., 10/1/87. Inform accordingly.—W.C., 22/1/87.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 25 January, 1887.

Referring to your letter of the 8th ultimo, complaining of the conduct of Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate, Dubbo, I am directed by the Minister of Justice to inform you that, having caused inquiry to be made, the Department cannot interfere further in the matter.

No. 7.

Mr. W. B. Wilkinson to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 22 June, 1888.

I would like to draw your important attention to certain matters between the Police Magistrate here (Mr. Caswell) and myself, in which I am greatly interested, also the public at large (indirectly).

To complain is unpleasant, but my justice to myself is quite sufficient plea, and the safety of the community is involved. The actions of Mr. Caswell seem to me to be directed against me on every opportunity that he has. I am at a loss to understand it, as I have always treated him with courtesy and kindness.

Only a short time since when he was on the Dubbo railway platform, having arrived from Wellington, and being completely out of his mind and not knowing his whereabouts, I engaged a cab and took him to his son-in-law's residence. Since then all this unfairness has occurred. I can only come to the conclusion that he has not quite recovered. I had a case before the Warren Police Court, in which I was advised by my solicitor he had no jurisdiction, consequently I did not appear. I lost the case and appealed, but the Supreme Court upheld the jurisdiction. I then applied to have the case reheard in Warren, in order that I might state my pleas. This, the Act provides for, but the Police Magistrate refused the application. I then summoned the plaintiff (One Crossing) for a small sum of money he owed me. When the case was called I was attending a Select Committee meeting of the House, and my solicitor asked for an adjournment. This he refused, and dismissed the case without calling any witnesses, and mulcted me in the sum of £5 costs.

I

I have applied for an auctioneer's license, which I have held for eight years. The application came before the Bench, but as there were only two magistrates, it could not be dealt with, but adjourned. The Police Magistrate from the Bench stated that there were objections to the application. This I challenged, and he could not produce. I think this indiscretion was an uncalled for insult. When the application came on the majority of the Bench granted the application, and he dissented. I may say there were no objections raised by any one else.

Previous to this, one Booth summoned me for resigning my position as alderman, which I was compelled to do through illness. He fined me £25. This the Governor remitted. I would like the police here to be asked their opinion as to his fitness for the position.

It is asserted that he drew out the draft of a petition to get the sentence of one Christensen, lately convicted and sentenced by Justice Windeyer for sheep stealing, and has spoken strongly against the conviction. This seems most extraordinary, in the face of the fact that it is extremely hard to get convictions for either sheep or cattle stealing.

However, I leave the matter entirely, Sir, in your hands.

I have, &c.,
W. B. WILKINSON,
Dubbo.

Might be referred to the Police Magistrate, Dubbo, for the favour of report. Submitted.—A.C.F., 25/6/88. Approved.—W.C., 25/6/88. The Police Magistrate, Dubbo.—A.C.F., B.C., 25/6/88.

No. 8.

The Police Magistrate, Dubbo, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 10 July, 1888.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your B.C. memo., of date 25th June, 1888, inviting my report on a complaint preferred by Mr. W. B. Wilkinson, of Dubbo.

The substance of that complaint is that I have treated him with unfairness, and that my retention in office is a danger to the community.

In reply to the latter part of the charge, I beg to attach the report of a public meeting held in the Town Hall, Dubbo, on the 19th of June last, regarding me, which might have allayed Mr. Wilkinson's fears in that respect, but which, as his letter is dated 22nd June, I strongly suspect was the moving cause of that letter having been written.

Mr. Wilkinson appears to have been unable to find any motive for my unfairness, so makes an extraordinary insinuation founded on circumstances which occurred long previously. I received a sun-stroke on the 15th March, 1886, whilst travelling in my magisterial capacity, and suffered from intermittent unconsciousness for several hours. I was, however, sensible enough to pay for the cab in which Mr. Wilkinson accompanied me to Dr. Warren's. His reference to such a matter will no doubt be properly estimated by the Minister, although a reference to the occurrence has been made with the hope of exciting some prejudicial inference against me and in defiance of good taste.

I can safely affirm that in the performance of my duties equity and justice are my first and chief considerations, and I adhere to the law as closely as my judgment admits.

In all that is personal to Mr. Wilkinson, my action was purely judicial, so that the higher Courts were open to him for redress, and in one instance he did invoke the Supreme Court, to his great discomfiture.

As regards the Warren case, Crossing v. Wilkinson, I attach a resumé of the proceedings, from the beginning at Warren to the ending at Dubbo, by which the Minister will see that Mr. Wilkinson's memory has been so defective he has forgotten the debt he owed, the magistrates who heard the case, the case itself, and even the truth about it.

In Booth v. Wilkinson I was compelled by law to fine Mr. Wilkinson £25, but he should have remembered that I suggested to him to ask for a remission of the penalty. I need only remind you to show the Minister the strong report I made on that case in Mr. Wilkinson's favour to justify the Minister to recommend the remission of the fine. This report must be amongst your records.

I dissented from my brother magistrates giving Mr. Wilkinson a certificate for an auctioneer's license on the grounds set forth in the Act of Parliament 11 Vic. No. 16 Sec. 14 that, unless at an annual meeting, applicants must show the Bench that "injustice or material injury of a public nature" will be occasioned by a refusal, and, as I had posted Mr. Wilkinson up in the law for three consecutive years, I considered that he perversely omitted the slight proof of "material injury" he knew I would accept.

Mr. Wilkinson has introduced another matter—my opinion as to the conviction of one Christensen for sheep-stealing. As I was once commended by a Minister of Justice for persistently bringing facts before the Government to establish the innocence of a man condemned to death, I will not trouble the Minister with any excuses. If the little I have done fails to establish Christensen's innocence, it may do what is very desirable, satisfy the public of the man's guilt, which is not the case at present.

There is no justification for anything in the letter. It has been written in spite and pure malevolence, on account of the heavy costs incurred in fighting against a just claim, for which Mr. Wilkinson would cast the blame on anyone but himself.

I have, &c.,
W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

WARREN SMALL DEBTS COURT—13TH JANUARY, 1888.

Before W. S. CASWELL, P.M., P. M'ALISTER, A. ALEXANDER, and E. S. ANTILL, J.'s P.

Crossing v. Wilkinson.

CLAIM for £10, work and labour for defendant. Wilkinson did not appear; he wrote denying jurisdiction of Warren Court.

Crossing proved by Wilkinson's hand-writing that he engaged to drive 2,500 sheep from Belaringar to Trangie for £6; produced agreement: hired a man and started from Belaringer with sheep on 30th October, 1887, and took them to Trangie; alleged purchaser refused to take delivery; Crossing wired to Wilkinson at Dubbo and waited three days; Wilkinson

Wilkinson then instructed him to return with sheep to Belaringar, which he did; he produced in Court Wilkinson's memo., acknowledging owing him £6; Crossing's claim was £6 for taking sheep to Trangie by agreement, £6 taking them back, and £3 for three days' delay. He had received £5, leaving a balance of £10 due.

Police Magistrate warned Bench Wilkinson might appeal to Supreme Court.

Magistrates unanimously gave verdict in Crossing's favour for £10.

Wilkinson then applied to Supreme Court for prohibition against Warren Bench. Supreme Court, upheld Warren Court and refused the prohibition.

WARREN COURT 11TH MAY, 1888.

Present—Messrs. CASWELL, M'ALISTER, and ALEXANDER, J.'s P.

WILKINSON, by Ryan, solicitor, applied for new trial. Police Magistrate read the Act and said the application was too late. Ryan said he simply complied with instructions. Police Magistrate pointed out it would be a great injustice to bring Crossing back 300 miles after he had left the district. The application, according to law, should have been made in February, not in May.

The next proceedings were by Wilkinson in Small Debts Court, Dubbo, 5th June, 1888—Wilkinson v. Crossing, for £2 12s., for sheeplost. Before W. S. Caswell, P.M., and G. H. Taylor, J.P. Defendant Crossing was present with his solicitor Booth.

Plaintiff was not present, but appeared by his solicitor, Ryan, who applied for a postponement on behalf of Wilkinson, and read a part of his client's letter, in words to this effect:—"I forgot all about my case in Dubbo; appear, and ask postponement."

Booth objected; his client had come 250 miles.

Ryan refused to be responsible for costs.

Wilkinson nonsuited; costs, £5.

Execution had been issued at Warren for £10, 20th January, 1888. It was not returned until 19th June, 1888.

This debt was owing by Wilkinson to Crossing for over seven months. Part (sic) £6, admittedly.

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

Mr. W. S. Caswell, P.M.

ON Tuesday evening last a meeting, convened in response to a requisition, by His Worship the Mayor (Mr. D. Soane, J.P.), was held in the Town Hall for the purpose "of giving the public an opportunity of protesting against the enforced resignation, in accordance with a departmental regulation, of W. S. Caswell, Esq., Police Magistrate, owing to his having attained the age of sixty years." There was a good and influential attendance.

The chair was occupied by the Mayor (Mr. D. Soane, J.P.), who read the advertisement convening the meeting. He said he was in full sympathy with the meeting. He had known Mr. Caswell for ten years, and during that time he had always found him able and willing to do his duty. He had also sat with him on the Land Board, and he never could see that Mr. Caswell was unable to do his duty. In fact, that gentleman had done more work in this district than any other previous Police Magistrate, and he was still capable of filling for years to come his important position with advantage to the public. The Mayor stated he had received apologies from Messrs. G. H. Taylor, J.P., H. Smith, J.P., James Samuels, J.P., and R. J. J. Ryan, J.P.

Alderman S. Phillips, J.P., moved—"That this meeting learns with regret that under a minute of the Minister of Justice, Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate at Dubbo, being over the age of sixty years, has been notified that possibly he may be called upon to retire from the public service; and that this meeting desires to testify to the high esteem in which Mr. Caswell is held throughout the district, to his ability as a magistrate, and to its sense of the loss the public service would sustain by his retirement." He said he regretted some older magistrate—such as Mr. Taylor or Mr. Samuels—was not present to submit this resolution. He, however, had great pleasure in stepping into the breach, and was gratified to have the opportunity of testifying his appreciation of Mr. Caswell, as a man and a magistrate. He did not think that although Mr. Caswell had reached sixty years, he was unfit for the position he occupied. On the contrary, there was a very general impression not only in the town but throughout the district that Mr. Caswell was eminently fitted for the office, and capable of performing the duties attached to it. There was no evidence before them that he was about to be removed. But the circular that had been sent out had created a fear that such a contingency might come about. To prevent it and strengthen Mr. Caswell's hands, and to show the Government that the persons most interested—those among whom he laboured—were satisfied with his ability to hold the office, this meeting was held, and he believed it would have due weight with the Minister. He did not think that for one moment they would lose the services of this most valuable public officer, but the present meeting would show the appreciation in which he was held, and thus serve a useful purpose.

Mr. C. H. Fitzgerald had much pleasure in seconding the proposition. He was very glad to have the opportunity of taking part in the meeting. They did not meet there as a few personal friends of Mr. Caswell, but as the public of Dubbo and district, who would suffer loss by the removal of Mr. Caswell from the Bench. No doubt the regulation which provided for the retirement of men over sixty, was an incentive to the younger members of the public service; but in many instances it was only when men reached that age that they were at their best on the Bench. The experience of years enables them to dispense justice satisfactorily. They were in their prime. The late Sir James Martin was sixty-five at his death; Mr. Justice Faucett was over sixty when he retired. Will anyone say that either had not after sixty the capacity to do good work? Sir William Manning was another example in point.

The motion was then put and passed.

Mr. R. G. Dulhunty, J.P., moved as follows:—"That the foregoing resolution be forwarded by his Worship the Mayor to the Minister of Justice, with a request that the same may be taken into consideration, under the special circumstances of Mr. Caswell's case. Also that copies of the resolution be sent to the members for the Bogan." He said if Mr. Caswell were removed, under this regulation, the district would sustain a heavy loss.

Mr. F. J. Phillips seconded, and the resolution was agreed to.

A vote of thanks to the Mayor ended the proceedings.

Submitted. Mr. W. B. Wilkinson, of Dubbo, having, in letter enclosed, preferred a complaint against the Police Magistrate at that place of acting unfairly towards him in the exercise of his magisterial duties, the matter was referred to Mr. Caswell (the Police Magistrate) for report, and his reply is now submitted for the Minister's consideration.—A.C.F., 14/7/88.

Inform Mr. Wilkinson that, having investigated his charge of unfair treatment of himself by the Police Magistrate at Dubbo, I have satisfied myself that Mr. Wilkinson is under a strange misapprehension in respect thereto, and there is absolutely no grounds to substantiate such a charge.—W.C., 18/7/88.

Yours of the 19th instant before me. In reply I can hardly see how any investigation can go on without I can be a party to it. No doubt Mr. Caswell will deny it. But could the Minister of Justice guarantee me justice in the future, I still make my charge and ask for an investigation. There are also many others who could prefer the same complaint, notably one of our medical men in this town who has not received great satisfaction at Mr. Caswell's hands.

I would like to know whether it is usual for the person complained against to the head of his Department, and when copy of such complaint has been forwarded to him for explanation, to exhibit it all over the town as my report against Mr. Caswell has been. If such is the proper course then, I think a copy of such report should also be sent to the local newspapers, so that the public can judge for themselves how far a charge may be true or not. One of the local newspapers, evidently inspired, has commented upon my conduct, and implied what was never conveyed in my complaint.

I say this fearlessly, that I am not safe in Mr. Caswell's hands.

Further, that it is an extraordinary thing that when a meeting was got up the other day to petition the Minister for Justice to retain Mr. Caswell's services after his term (which expires shortly), that out of a population of 3,000 people, only eighteen or twenty attended it, and these all personal friends.

Mr. Wilkinson to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 23 October, 1888.

In re the Police Magistrate here, I have been once again the victim of his spleen. This time he has endeavoured to cast a sneer upon me at a banquet tendered to Mr. J. A. Gardiner here yesterday, at which Mr. Caswell was a visitor, and I one of the Committee. If Mr. Caswell had taken the course he did while I was in the room, I could have given him credit for some pluck. I, as a member of the Committee, proposed a toast, that of the "Visitors," which was responded to, I shortly after left the room. From what I have heard since Mr. Caswell thought that he should have had the proposal of this toast, and in my absence he rose and said that the toast referred to, had been proposed by an "outsider," &c. Now, I do not care what he cares to call me, but I put it to you, sir, if I could expect any justice from the Bench if the presiding magistrate in private life will go out of his way to insult me in a room of some forty gentlemen, and that in my absence.

I do not think any one can consider me an outsider. I, as before stated, was one of the Committee.

I have twice been returned for the most important ward in this Municipality, but, as before stated, knowing the source I would not care.

But if this matter is to be followed up so persistently by one who should be the last to insult any citizen, the sooner the better, at any rate in my individual interests, that I try to protect myself.

Yours, &c.,

W. B. WILKINSON,

Submitted. Mr. Wilkinson's charge against the Police Magistrate, Dubbo, appears to be that he was referred to by him at a public banquet as an outsider. Mr. R. J. J. Ryan to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Dubbo, 9 December, 1890.

I have the honor to bring under your notice the conduct of the Police Magistrate at Dubbo towards myself individually, and as a solicitor practising in the Dubbo Police Court. I have been practising in Dubbo since September, 1877. I am and have been for a period of about nine years an alderman of the town, and have occupied the mayoral seat for twelve months of that time. I am a magistrate of the territory. I occupy positions of office in every public institution of any note in the town. I have a large and varied practice, my Police and District Court business frequently calling me from Dubbo to Bourke and Dubbo to Sydney, and intermediate townships. I have a large stake in the town of Dubbo, and am identified with its progress in every way as deeply as any other inhabitant. About five years ago, in an inquiry made into a charge preferred against Mr. Dulhunty, for non-attendance to his duties as Stock Inspector, &c., at Dubbo, I stated that, on dates, 5th March, 1885, and 18th July, 1884, Mr. Dulhunty attended the Police Court at Girilambone, and presided over the business before that Court, and that Mr. Caswell, the Police Magistrate at Dubbo, had received payment of travelling expenses from Dubbo to Girilambone for the same days, whilst, as a matter of fact, he was in Dubbo, and presided at the Police Court. I stated that Mr. Dulhunty had, in my opinion, received from Mr. Caswell, his expenses from Dubbo to Girilambone, which, as a Government officer, he had no right to, and that Mr. Caswell had been paid for services and journeys he had never rendered nor performed. As a matter of fact, Mr. Caswell, did receive payment as alleged by me, for services, &c., which he did not render. This is borne out by the records in the Colonial Treasurer's office, and by the summons-books in Girilambone and Dubbo. This statement was made by me bona fide, and with no intention of implicating Mr. Caswell in any way, but with the object of showing that the Stock Inspector neglected his duties here, and received payment for attending as a magistrate in country towns. Ever since this statement was made by me I have had to submit to annoyances, insults, and all sorts of peevish and irritable ebullitions of temper at the hands of the Police Magistrate whilst he has been on the Bench.

Before setting out in particular what I wish to draw your attention to, I may here inform you that about two years ago a misfortune overtook me in my wife's death. Her funeral cortege was attended by all the professional and influential people of the town, and Mr. Caswell, on being asked why he was not present (the name of the querist I can give) said, "Oh, I couldn't go to the funeral of anybody belonging to that man." On another occasion, after an inquiry into the cause of a fire in Dubbo, at which I attended on behalf of the person who had been burned out, Mr. Caswell said to one of the jurymen (alluding to an observation of mine at the inquiry, that a reflection of his upon my client was uncalled for), "that Ryan is a dangerous man." This was about two years ago. I appeared about two and a half years ago, and defended a man named Christensen on a charge of sheep-stealing, and the Police Magistrate and two or three other magistrates presiding. The prisoner was committed for trial at Dubbo. After the committal, a report of the proceedings, which I ascertained afterwards, was written by Mr. Caswell, and here I may say he is in the habit of continually writing garbled reports of cases in which he adjudicates in country places, as can be proved by reference to the Dubbo newspaper proprietors. A report I say, sir, was written by Mr. Caswell, and appeared in the Dubbo Despatch, and it concluded by saying, "that the Bench would have dismissed the case were it not that Mr. Ryan, attorney, for accused, advised his client, in answer to the usual questions, to say that he reserved his defence." The absurdity of this must be apparent to you, sir, but the sting was there all the same, as, to those who knew no better, it simply meant that Christensen was, through me and my lack of professional knowledge, committed for trial. I was injured considerably by this report, which, I have no doubt, was written with the object of affecting me in my profession, as well as annoying myself. Mr. Booth prosecuted in this case. With regard to this same prisoner, Christensen, I may direct your attention, as I think I have a right to, to the fact that a deal of comment was indulged in by the townspeople of Dubbo and other places in the district, by reason of Mr. Caswell drawing a petition in favour of his (Christensen's) release after conviction before His Honor, Mr. Justice Windeyer, and the great interest he took in the case, and the manner in which he spoke of the learned Judge. I mention these facts to show the state of Mr. Caswell's mind towards myself since the time I made the statement alluded to, a feeling which has grown more intensified and unmistakable every day. So pronounced has his undisguised hatred of me shown itself that (and of this I shall say more later on) it has long been a matter of public notoriety, and I have been time after time told by friends and clients, numbers of whom I have lost, that it was useless to engage me in any case that had to come before the Police Magistrate. His action and demeanour towards me are most insolent and unwarranted. On the Bench he exhibits at all times a peevishness and irritability of manner which brooks of no interference or explanation on the part of unfortunate litigants, and particularly from myself. Mr. Booth, a leading solicitor here, commands all the respect and admiration of Mr. Caswell, and it is also a matter of just as common comment that to ensure success in a case before him, Mr. Booth's services have only to be secured, except, indeed, where there is no escape for the Police Magistrate. In every case that I have had, or in nearly every case, during that time I have alluded to, Mr. Caswell has been unable to restrain his passion, and if he has not openly broken out, he has plainly shown by his manner that it was merely waste of time on my part to endeavour to persuade him that my clients or their witnesses were the witnesses of truth. He always makes it a point to insinuate or say that my clients are not to be believed, though, strange to say, when the same clients engage Mr. Booth, as has been done times out of number, they have been victorious. These facts are well known in the town and district. As showing you the length Mr. Caswell has gone, I must tell you that Mr. Booth has privately told mutual friends that he was surprised at my submitting to his constant and cruel attacks from the Bench. Time after time, when I have risen an objection in the Police Court as to the admissibility of evidence tendered or wished to be tendered, Mr. Caswell has simply snapped at me in the most ferocious manner, and, without giving me the slightest opportunity of arguing the point peremptorily ordered me to sit down. The gentleman on these occasions seems to be worked up into a paroxysm of passion and entirely forgets his position, what is due to the dignity of the Court, and what is due to myself, leaving out of the question altogether those persons who unfortunately happen to be my clients; and, touching the relationship between the Police Magistrate and Mr. Booth, whilst Mr. Caswell was acting as Miners' Warden at Peak Hill his decisions and general actions were condemned by mostly all the people of the Peak, and his leaning towards Mr. Booth became so marked that it was said as in Dubbo, "Engage Booth or you will lose." They (the Police Magistrate and Mr. Booth) used to drive together in a buggy to the Peak, though several coaches were running each way each day and at all hours to suit passengers, and were so closely and openly bound in friendship that it became a byword along the road and among the Peak Hill people, "Ryan has no chance with Booth." Some months ago I was going to Peak Hill on a mining case, and, as the roads were bad, and thinking to oblige Mr. Caswell, I, on meeting him in Dubbo, said, "I am going to the Peak, and will give you a lift if you like." He said, "Oh, no, it would never do; people would talk, you know." Strange to say, that very night Mr. Caswell and Mr. Booth drove up to the hotel, about 12 miles from the Peak, in a buggy together, and next morning Mr. Booth went on the rest of the journey to the Peak in the coach, Mr. Caswell driving alone. In some instances he has been known to tell litigants at Peak Hill that it was useless going any further with their case, in which they had just been defeated, but if they did go on "they had better engage Mr. Booth." Again, at a public meeting called some months ago by the people of Dubbo and district who considered they had been defrauded by the "Men of Mark" proprietors, Mr. Caswell was in the chair, and after condemning the proprietors of the work, he concluded by proposing a defence association, and that Mr. Booth be appointed as solicitor to defend all actions brought against the members. His action in this respect had its effect also on the public, and confirmed any who were doubtful of the partiality of the Police Magistrate towards Mr. Booth. Again, a few months ago, at Nyngan, in a Police Court case, a person sued for wages and Mr. Booth appeared for the complainant. Mr. Caswell presided. Defendant did not appear. Service of summons was, and could not be proved. Mr. Caswell, seeing the fatality of this to the complainant's case, said to Mr. Booth, "We cannot go on, but if you like to accept the responsibility I will give you a verdict." Mr. Booth thereupon accepted the responsibility, and an order was made in his favour. A prohibition was applied for, and Mr. Caswell openly said he knew he was wrong in his decision, but as Mr. Booth had offered to accept the responsibility he had made an order in his client's favour. The rule nisi was made absolute, and Mr. Caswell said it didn't matter to him, as Mr. Booth had to pay costs as agreed. Mr. Booth has a habit of taking responsibility in cases, many of which I have appeared in, and he always succeeds. A case of Cameron v. Wilkie is one, and others I can refer to and point out in the Police Court records will bear me out in this assertion. Still farther, to show Mr. Caswell's animus to me, I may say that on many occasions he refuses to grant me costs in a case where clearly I am entitled to them. A case in point is where I sued Mr. Barton, a licensed surveyor here, on behalf of a lad employed by him for wages. After badgering my client he reluctantly gave an order for the wages, £2 10s., or something like that, but said in the same breath, "I won't allow costs." I asked why he departed from the general rule, and pointed out that the complainant, having established his case and obtained an order, was entitled to costs; still, in the face of this, no costs were allowed. I can also point out many other cases of a similar sort. This shows the treatment I receive at the hands of Mr. Caswell. Mr. Booth always gets his costs, and the other solicitors also. I feel bound to point these facts to you, sir, because you will see, putting aside his animosity towards myself, what scant justice I receive in any case where Mr. Booth and I are engaged on opposite sides. The same feeling that at last could not be suppressed at Peak Hill is existing here amongst those who have an opportunity of watching the proceedings in the Police Court, and in fact, is making itself felt most powerfully in the various places Mr. Caswell visits.

Mr. Caswell unfortunately suffers from an infirmity of temper which renders him unfit to occupy the position of Police Magistrate worthily. He is testy, crotchety, hasty, and decidedly offensive. He will rush through cases to suit his own convenience. Say for instance, if at Nyngan or elsewhere, and he wishes to catch a particular train, he frightens litigants into compromises, adjourns cases, put parties to no end of trouble and inconvenience, and actually I have known him allow witnesses expenses for four different days when, if he had not rushed to meet the trains on these days, the case could have been dealt with in half an hour. References in regard to mostly all these statements can be made in particular to Mr. Hunt, J.P., of Obley; Mr. Flood, Quambone; Mr. Frank Lord, Warren; Messrs. Heydon and Kitchen, of Dubbo; Dr. Gay, medical officer, Dubbo; Mr. J. Heane, J.P., Dubbo; Messrs. Morgan and Manning, of the Dubbo Despatch; and in fact of any independent person in the district who is not afraid of speaking the truth. All this and more I have endured silently, in the hope that the Police Magistrate would some day come to reason and be guided by a spirit of fairness, and again I had no desire to say or do anything which might in any way injure a man aged in years; but, sir, Tuesday's proceedings in the Police Court here were so disgraceful and myself so humiliated and unjustly treated by Mr. Caswell that in common justice I can no longer refrain from putting my case before you, and it is to this latter proceeding that I wish particularly to draw your attention. On Tuesday last about forty cases were set down for hearing in the Police Court, most of them being against persons for breach of the "Dog Act." Several important cases, in which the Dubbo Municipality and four or five ratepayers were respectively complainants and defendants in cases arising out of breaches of the "Nuisances Prevention Act," or in connection with the deposit of nightsoil in the Dubbo Park, were also on the list. As the hearing of these was supposed to be lengthy and tedious, it was suggested that other cases should be taken before them, and two charges of assault preferred by a woman named Cook against a Mrs. Latham and Miss Gallagher, and one of insulting language by Mrs. Latham against Mrs. Cook were called on, it being agreed that the evidence should be given as if in one case. The presiding magistrates were the Police Magistrate and Mr. McCallum. Mr. Booth appeared for Mrs. Cook, and I appeared for Mrs. Latham and Miss Gallagher. Mrs. Cook gave evidence in support of her informations, and proved that Mrs. Latham put her clenched hand in her face and threatened to strike her, but she said that Miss Gallagher did not assault nor do anything which could be construed into an assault; but that she had used bad language to her in a kitchen at the rear of the hotel. Mr. Caswell said to Mr. Booth, "Mr. Booth, it seems to me that she should have taken out a summons for insulting language." Mr. Booth said, "I admit it, your Worship; I did not draw the information." Mr. Caswell then called up the Clerk of Petty Sessions, and had a private conversation with him evidently relevant to the issuing of the information for assault instead of for insulting language. In the meantime Mr. Booth, addressing no one in particular, made a voluntary explanation of what constituted an assault, and said that it was not necessary for actual violence to be used to constitute the offence; it was sufficient if a person raised the hand, and was close enough to be able to strike the person. I did not say anything, thinking that the information was going to be withdrawn. To my surprise, however, Mr. Booth looking at the witness, said, "Did she lift her hand this way."

way," at the same time raising his own hand. I immediately rose, and objected to the question as a leading one, and one that should not be put under the circumstances. Before I could complete the sentence the Police Magistrate sang out, "Sit down; go on Mr. Booth." I accordingly sat down, Mr. Booth repeating the question. I rose and said, "Your Worship—" Before I could go further the Police Magistrate fairly yelled, "Sit down; I will not listen to you." I wanted to ask why I could not state my objection, but was met with wild shrieks of "Sit down; if you do not sit down, I will order you to be removed from the Court." I again stood up and endeavoured to urge my objections, and ask why I was not to be heard, but it was of no avail, as the Police Magistrate, now fairly mad with rage, kept screaming out, "Sit down; I will have you bound over for good behaviour. Constable Butler, tell him to sit down, and if he does not, remove him from the Court." The constable requested me to be seated, and threatened to remove me, when I sat down. After this I rose again and asked the Police Magistrate in what respect I had misbehaved. He again cried out, "Sit down; I will not listen to you. I will not let you appear in the case; I will have you removed." I even asked that the witness might be allowed to leave the Court while I stated my objection, but all I could get in reply was, "Sit down, or I will have you removed." Seeing that it was utterly useless to endeavour to gain the ear of the Police Magistrate, I sat down and the case proceeded. Mr. McCallum took no part in the scene. There was nothing whatever in the slightest in my manner, action, or words more than I have described and mentioned to cause Mr. Caswell to lose his temper and place me in the position he did. His conduct was most outrageous, indecent, and scandalous, and provoked expressions of indignation from every one in Court, some of whom condoled with me and advised me, as a public duty, to direct your attention to Mr. Caswell's conduct. Amongst those whom I noticed in Court were Archdeacon Wilson, Messrs. S. Phillips, D. Soane, Js.P.; R. Booth, solicitor; W. B. Wilkinson, stock and station agent; M'Alary, T. W. Heaydon, Council Clerk; N. Müller, Mayor; H. B. Delaunay, E. J. Stevens, George Kitchen, manager Dubbo gas-works; and the reporters of the Dubbo Despatch and Dubbo Liberal, Senior-constable Butler, Constable Prior, and a great number of other persons. These, I am positive, can honestly do nothing but unhesitatingly condemn Mr. Caswell for his unjustifiable and disgraceful conduct. I was greatly pained and humiliated, sir, in thus being subjected to such outrageous treatment—treatment brutal enough to have made many a man placed in my position forget himself and make matters considerably worse. But this was not all. As the case proceeded one of the witnesses for my client's defence was being examined by myself, and, so as to shorten matters, I asked him to give his own version of the row. The Police Magistrate then peremptorily ordered him to face the Bench, which he did, and the witness being shy, could not get out his story. I waited to see if he could get along without assistance, but soon discovered that the Police Magistrate, by his snappishness and directions to "Go on, will you?" "Well, go on," was only confusing the witness, and preventing him from proceeding. I therefore asked him a question. The Police Magistrate jumped at me at once and roared out, "You have no right to speak or ask him questions. You told him to tell his own story, so you must leave him alone." This, together with the Police Magistrate's tone of voice, only stupefied the witness the more. I repeated the question (as, of course, I had a right to), and requested the witness to pay attention to my question, when the Police Magistrate again roared out, "You shall not ask him any questions, he must tell his own story." He kept at this, until at last I had to say, "Your Worship, this is my witness, and if I am not allowed to examine him, I must leave the Court." The reply was, "You cannot examine him until he has exhausted himself." To this I replied that I insisted on my right to examine, and after a few sullen remarks and stifled threats from the Police Magistrate, I was allowed to finish examining my witness. The Deputy Sheriff, Mr. G. H. Taylor, was present on this occasion as well as the gentlemen named. The balance of testimony was clearly on my client's side; but, it is needless to say, Mr. Booth's client was victorious in all the cases, excepting in the case of Cook v. Gallagher, which was dismissed. Later on the same day the Police Magistrate again showed his temper, and refused to allow me to examine the complainant as to whether he had not on previous occasions just recently said and done things calculated to cause defendant to commit a breach of the peace. I pointed out that it was to test complainant's credibility, and I was again met with angry exclamations from the Police Magistrate, and told it was not the law, though afterwards, when he cooled down, he allowed the questions to be put. In this case, again, although, without doubt, the balance of testimony was on my client's side, the complainant, for whom Mr. Booth appeared, was victorious. I say it, sir, knowing the responsibility of my statement, that the conduct of the Police Magistrate in the Police Court on Tuesday was a disgrace to the community, and such a reflection upon the administration of law and justice, that the confidence of the public in its administrations has received a shock that will not be forgotten for many a long day. Complaints innumerable are daily made as to the absence of the Police Magistrate from his duties in Dubbo—his going off from town on every paltry pretext—holding inquests in different parts of the district, which could easily be disposed of by an ordinary magisterial inquiry, thus putting the Dubbo Court officials to endless bother in trying to obtain a Bench to dispose of the business, and keeping solicitors and others waiting meanwhile. Various complaints come from other parts of the district as to Mr. Caswell's administration of justice in different places, and an extract (enclosed) taken from the Warren Herald confirms the statement.

In conclusion, sir, I, considering the gravity of the charges I now prefer against Mr. Caswell, and considering the unsatisfactory manner in which he discharges his duties as Police Magistrate in this town and district, and the importance of a pure administration of the law and justice to the community, most respectfully ask that a special inquiry be made into my complaint by a gentleman to be appointed by yourself, with power to send for and examine witnesses, so that common justice may be done, not only to myself, but the public at large.

I have, &c.,

R. J. J. RYAN.

[Enclosure.]

The Warren Herald and Lower Macquarie Advocate.

Saturday, 6th December, 1890.

For some time past a conviction has been gaining ground, that the district over which Mr. Police-Magistrate Caswell exercises jurisdiction, is fast exceeding the power of any one man control, with due regard to the administration of justice. We do not mean to say that any decline is manifest in Mr. Caswell's intellectual grasp or legal perception, but no man in New South Wales is capable of thoroughly attending to the immense amount of general police court work over which Mr. Caswell has to preside, and on the merits of which he is supposed to adjudicate. We admit that Mr. Caswell in the discharge of his multifarious duties, displays a most extraordinary reserve of physical endurance, but justice of all things should should be dispensed with caution and deliberation; if, however, a dozen cases are down for hearing here to-day, and Mr. Caswell, as District Coroner, is expected to attend an inquest at the Peak to-morrow, it is in any odds that the charges to be decided here will be imperfectly heard and hastily dealt with, in order to enable Mr. Caswell to catch the midday coach to fulfil his other engagements. For instance, two cases were investigated at the Warren Police Court on Friday last, and we are bound in common justice to say, that they were slurred over in the most censurable manner, and the Police Magistrate's method of procedure and decisions have been topics of conversation ever since. In one of the charges instanced, the defendant was apparently prevented by Mr. Caswell's manner, from setting out any prepared denial, as His Worship, almost in total ignorance of what defensive tactics were to be adopted, implied that no arguments could overcome his preconceived ideas on the aspect of the issue involved, and he accordingly advised the acceptance of a nominal penalty and a prompt settlement. The other case cited was rushed through at railway speed, although there were many points in connection with it that demanded the most searching scrutiny, and concentrated attention. It is not our present desire to re-open and criticise in detail the evidence and verdicts in the examples alluded to, but on public grounds we must emphatically protest against any man being denied the right of defence. We are indifferent as to whether the action is civil or criminal, or instituted on private or public grounds; a magistrate or a judge is as much bound to listen patiently to a defendant's statement as he is to the prosecuting evidence, and to assume the truth of an accusation on the testimony of an indictment alone, is a violation of established law, and an act of barbarous retrogression. But if Mr. Caswell cannot be held blameless in this, neither can the system of which he forms part. If it charges him with obligations beyond his physical capacity to perform, something or some one must suffer, it may be himself, it must be his duties, and it will probably be both, so the Department of Justice is equally as responsible for the defective administration complained of as is Mr. Caswell's eagerness and self-sacrifice. In addition to this our Police Magistrate as every one is aware, is also our District Coroner, and herein lies another grave cause of public dissatisfaction. From reasons already stated, that is from the impossibility of Mr. Caswell being in half a dozen places at once, coronial inquiries in the vast district over which he exercises authority, are sometimes postponed from a week to a fortnight and it can be easily seen how crimes might be evaded by these serious delays in the investigation of any specified act of arson, suspicious death or case of like nature, where detection would primarily depend upon the promptitude with which the facts in connection with the affair were grouped and arranged, and the evidence systematically produced. We can recall a case now, in which a medical certificate as to cause of death was refused, and it was some four or five days later before Mr. Caswell could attend and proceed with the prescribed inquiry. Supposing however the season had been summer, and the same delay had occurred, decomposition would have assuredly set in, and proceeded so rapidly, that within the period we have named, a scientific examination of the remains might have been rendered impossible, and in the event of an illegal act having been committed, the guilty party might serenely proceed, undisturbed by either police or conscience. This case could doubtless be multiplied by many others, and evidence could be collected from all sides, showing that this district has long outgrown the capabilities of any one man to satisfactorily perform the many important duties now imperfectly attended to by Mr. Caswell. Another Police Magistrate and coroner is absolutely necessary for Warren and Nyngan, and a public agitation cannot be too quickly commenced. We are aware that some correspondence between the local Progress Committee and prominent Nyngan residents has already taken place, but so far as we are aware, nothing definite has yet resulted from this interchange of ideas on the subject. We would now suggest that the motion as tabled and agreed to at the last Progress Committee meeting be at once carried into effect, viz.: "To call a public meeting on a date to be decided on, for the purpose of considering the whole question of the appointment of a Police Magistrate for the Warren and Nyngan districts." Simultaneously a meeting with a similar object should be held in Nyngan, and steps taken to give the utmost publicity to these preliminary proceedings in the metropolitan and local newspapers. Petitions must then be promptly prepared, signed as extensively as possible throughout both districts, and forwarded together to the Department of Justice, through our representatives, and having done this we think we can afford to await the result with confidence. The questions of where the coming Police Magistrate is to live, &c., are mere matters of detail with which we need not at present trouble ourselves. Let us first get him, and we anticipate no difficulty in centrally locating him. If a hearty and unanimous effort is only made by that portion of the public interested in this question, success must come sooner or later, and if the matter is energetically taken up now, and an agitation continued, no time, comparatively speaking, will elapse before Mr. Caswell will be relieved of one portion of his onerous duties. No mistake need be made about this, for the case only requires proper representations to be attended to with more than ordinary official celerity.

Report of a case taken from Warren Herald.

R. G. Dulhanty v. Francis Lord.—Unlawfully enclosing travelling stock route, 2,037, and wilfully allowing sheep to trespass on same. Mr. Fitzgerald for the prosecution, and Mr. Murphy for the defence. Mr. Lord denied either erecting or maintaining any fence enclosing the reserve alluded to. Under examination, Mr. Dulhanty stated that the reserve in question was entirely fenced in, the fences being connected with defendant's fences; on one part of the fence along the road was a gate, which, so far as witness knew, always kept shut; had complained to Mr. Lord frequently about the fence being obstructive to travelling stock; had seen Mr. Lord's stock running on the reserve: defendant said he would make breaks in the fence; there was no notice posted, nor anything to indicate that the public had a right of access to the land; about 600 or 700 acres were enclosed; Mr. Lord had no fences dividing his land from the reserve, the purchased . . . and this part of the reserve . . . paddock. Mr. Lord had pro . . . the fence. Mr. Caswell . . . said in effect, that defend . . .

Mr. McCallum, J.P., and the other gentlemen named on page 15 of Mr. Ryan's letter may be asked if they will kindly favour me with their version of the proceedings, the subject of Mr. Ryan's complaint.—A.J.G., 17/12/90.

No. 15.

The Under Secretary of Justice to Mr. A. McCallum, J.P., and others.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 22 December, 1890.

Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, of Dubbo, solicitor, having complained to this Department of the treatment received by him at the hands of Mr. Caswell, the Police Magistrate at that place, upon the occasion of the hearing of the case "Cook v. Latham and Gallagher," and "Latham v. Cook" in the Dubbo Police Court on Tuesday 2nd instant, I have the honor by the direction of the Minister of Justice to ask if you will have the goodness to favour him with a statement, as to what, to your knowledge, occurred between the gentlemen named, during the hearing of the cases referred to.

I have, &c.,

ARCH. C. FRASER,

Under Secretary.

Similar letters were sent to the following gentlemen on 22nd December, 1890—Archdeacon Wilson, S. Phillips, J.P., D. Soane, J.P., R. Booth, J.P., W. B. Wilkinson, D. M'Alary, T. W. Heydon, N. Müller (Mayor), H. B. Delaunay, E. J. Stevens, Geo. Kitchen.

Mr. T. W. Heaydon to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Municipal District of Dubbo, Town Hall, 23 December, 1890.
I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication 90-16,429, as to what occurred between Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate at Dubbo, and Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, during the hearing of the cases Cook v. Latham and Gallaher, and Latham v. Cook on the 2nd instant.

I beg to say that of my own knowledge, I know nothing of the matter. No doubt I have been referred to as it was known I was subpoenaed on a case set down for hearing on that day, but at the time it is said to have taken place I was absent from the Court.

Yours, &c.,
T. W. HEAYDON,
Council Clerk.

Mr. R. Booth to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Dubbo, 26 December, 1890.
Referring to yours of the 22nd instant, 90-16,429, I have the honor to inform you that, with the greatest respect to the Minister, I beg to decline being drawn into a matter of such trifling import as a brush between a magistrate and an attorney in any way; in fact, I hardly recollect what occurred, and would have to refer to the newspaper report to refresh my memory.

I have, &c.,
ROBERT BOOTH.

No. 18.

Mr. D. M'Alary to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Maeville, Tenandra, 27 December, 1890.
In reply to your letter, noted above, I have to state that from where I sat I could hear but imperfectly the evidence. From what I heard, however, I gathered that there was more than one count in the case "Cook v. Latham and Gallagher." Mr. Booth, who appeared for Mrs. Cook, asked her a question, to which she gave a distinct answer, but it did not appear to satisfy Mr. Booth, for he asked the question in another form, and got the same answer. From an interjection of Mr. Ryan's (who appeared for the defendant), I gathered that this evidence disproved one count in the charge. Mr. Booth, however, asked the same question in yet another form. Mr. Ryan objected, and stood up to explain his objections. Mr. Caswell told him to sit down. This Mr. Ryan did. Mr. Caswell then told Mr. Booth to ask his question. Mr. Ryan again stood up to object. Mr. Caswell again told him to sit down, but Mr. Ryan would not, but insisted on his right to object to leading questions, and to explain his reason for doing so. During this time Mr. Caswell had several times told him to sit down, and warned him he would have him removed if he did not. Ultimately, he instructed a constable to remove Mr. Ryan if he did not sit down. The constable moved towards Mr. Ryan, and Mr. Ryan sat down. He stood up again, however, and said if Mr. Booth persisted in asking the question in the form he had done, he would again object, and take the consequence. Mr. Booth, however, altered the form of his question, and so the scene ended.

Though I thought Mr. Caswell acted rather hastily in the above case, yet, from my knowledge of him as a magistrate, I have no hesitation in saying that he is a conscientious, able officer, and a credit to the Department.

Yours, &c.,
DANL. M'ALARY.

Mr. N. Müller to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Municipal District of Dubbo, Town Hall, Dubbo, 27 December, 1890.
Your communication 90-16,429, re inquiry of the Honorable the Minister of Justice of what I know of my own knowledge as to the complaint of Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of treatment received at the hands of Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate, during the hearing of cases Cook v. Latham and Gallagher, and Latham v. Cook.

I was not in the Court when the matter complained of transpired, so cannot say anything of the matter of my own knowledge.

Doubtless, my name has been mentioned from the fact that it was known my attendance was required at the Court on that day.

No. 20.

Mr. E. J. Stevens to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Dubbo, 30 December, 1890.
I am in receipt of your letter of the 22nd instant, with reference to a complaint made by Mr. Ryan, solicitor of this town, against the Police Magistrate, during the hearing of an assault case in the Court-house, Dubbo, in the early part of this month.

In

In reply, I beg to state I was in Court while the case was going on, and was not paying much attention, until I heard Mr. Ryan say, "I object to that question, as it is a leading question." The Police Magistrate, who seemed to be excited, said to Mr. Ryan, "Sit down." Mr. Ryan began to explain to the Bench, when the Police Magistrate again said, "Sit down; I won't listen to you. If you don't sit down I will have you removed from the Court. I will make you find sureties for good behaviour." He then called on Constable Butler to ask Mr. Ryan to sit down or leave the Court. Mr. Ryan sat down. The Police Magistrate had by this time worked himself up into a passion. Mr. Booth could pretty well do and say what he liked, but Mr. Ryan dared not say or do anything without being spoken to insultingly by the Police Magistrate. I then left the Court, and could hear nearly everyone speaking of the unfair way the Police Magistrate treated Mr. Ryan; and, in fact, I heard a person say that if ever they wanted to lose a case with the Police Magistrate on the Bench they would employ Mr. Ryan.

I have known Mr. Caswell ever since he came to Dubbo, and have always had the highest respect for him, and it is no pleasure for me to have to write as I have done, but really the thing is too bad to be passed over lightly.

I have, &c.,

E. J. STEVENS.

Mr. S. Phillips to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 31 December, 1890.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 22nd instant, 90-16,429, having reference to a complaint made by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of this town, as to the treatment he received at the hands of Mr. Caswell, the Police Magistrate, here, at the hearing of the cases Cook v. Latham and Gallagher, and Latham v. Cook, in the Dubbo Police Court on the 2nd instant, and stating that the Honorable the Minister of Justice requested me to favour him with a statement as to what to my knowledge occurred between the gentlemen named during the hearing of the cases referred to.

In reply, I beg to state that my recollection of the facts is not sufficiently clear to justify me in making any statement with regard to the matter.

Archdeacon Wilson to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Parsonage, Dubbo, 2 January, 1891.

In reference to your letter 90-16,429, I have the honor to inform you that, although I was in and out of the Dubbo Court-house on the date in question, I did not hear the altercation between Mr. W. S. Caswell, Police Magistrate, and Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor.

It occurred in one of the intervals while I was absent from the room, and I afterwards saw an account of it in the local papers. Of my own personal knowledge, I know nothing as to the correctness of the reports.

I have, &c.,

F. S. WILSON.

No. 23.

Mr. Geo. Kitchen, C.E., to The Minister of Justice.

Re Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate.

Sir,

Dubbo, 3 January, 1891.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication of 22nd December, 1890, on the subject of the conduct of Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate, at Dubbo, to Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, a leading solicitor here, on the occasion of the hearing of the cases "Cook v. Latham" and "Cook v. Gallagher," and "Latham v. Cook" in the Dubbo Police Court on the 2nd December.

I reply, I have to say that, I was present on the occasion referred to and saw all that occurred, and certainly I must say that from what I saw, I think Mr. Ryan has very good grounds for the complaint you inform me he has made. At the time referred to I was not paying particular attention to the case until while Mr. Booth, who appeared on the opposite side to Mr. Ryan, was asking a witness some question, Mr. Ryan rose from his seat, and in a few words objected to the question, the Police Magistrate immediately called out in a very loud, and to my mind extremely irritating and quarrelous tone, "Sit down, Mr. Ryan," then turning to Mr. Booth he requested him to proceed. Mr. Ryan sat down and Mr. Booth, to the best of my belief, asked the witness the same question. Mr. Ryan again got up and attempted to say something, but Mr. Caswell seemed to have lost all control of himself, and shrieked rather than called out, "Sit down, I won't listen to you." Mr. Ryan appeared to be trying to reason with the Bench, but Mr. Caswell kept on calling out for him to "Sit down," or he would have him removed from Court. The Police Magistrate called on Constable Butler to either remove Mr. Ryan or remove him in case he did not sit down, and on the constable saying something to Mr. Ryan which I could not hear, Mr. Ryan sat down. The case then proceeded and after a while during a lull, Mr. Ryan rose and asked the Police Magistrate how he had misbehaved, but the old scene was enacted over again.

I have given my version of the affair as requested, and I do so with no more feeling than one of common justice and in the interests of all concerned. I have a dislike at any time to be mixed up in any way in such affairs, more especially in my position in this town.

I have, &c.,

No. 24.

Mr. W. B. Wilkinson to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 3 January, 1891.

I have the honor to reply to your request as to what occurred between the Police Magistrate here and Mr. R. J. J. Ryan in a case before the Court.

I am rather sorry that I should be referred to, in so far that I have previously had to report Mr. Caswell and am fully convinced that the general public (like myself) has lost all confidence in him, so much so that it is openly stated in town that unless a certain solicitor has a case it is no use going to Court. Mr. Caswell's ability may be good enough, but he has allowed himself to be led into the ranks of an unpopular clique that exists in this town, and I expect does in all small towns. In so much has this become apparent that I have considered it my duty as an alderman to move in the matter at the next meeting of the Council.

Further, lately Mr. Caswell has been the moving party in a criminal action taken by a Mr. G. H. Taylor (now the Acting Police Magistrate appointed, I believe, at Mr. Caswell's request during his present absence) against the Mayor of Dubbo, for depositing the nightsoil in the park, and, if proved, of course the Mayor must be committed. Mr. Caswell had the bad taste to sit on the case. It was partly heard, then adjourned. At the next sitting, the plaintiffs (and I can prove Mr. Caswell was one) found that they had involved themselves in a costly suit, in so much that they had employed counsel which the Crown would not do, so thought it better to withdraw the case. So Mr. Caswell left the Bench, in order that an arrangement might be come to whereby the Mayor was to pay £7 7s. costs up to date, and the case would be adjourned for two months and virtually withdrawn. Now, you will know, in a case like this, there could be no costs, and there could be no compromise. Mr. Caswell then retook his seat on the Bench and adjourned the case for two months. After this the Inspector of Nuisances proceeded against this same Mr. G. H. Taylor for filling in two cesspits without their being emptied. Mr. Caswell was presiding, and suggested to Mr. Taylor that he should take a nominal fine. Mr. Booth, Taylor's solicitor, objected; then Mr. Caswell dismissed the case.

I have also to complain that Mr. Caswell has made most unwarrantable remarks against myself from the Bench, and to which I had no right of reply, neither did I appear in the case.

Since then, in a case I had against the Dubbo Gas Company, Mr. Caswell from the Bench asserted that I had brought the action from malice, and when I wished to speak and deny it he said, "Silence, sir; sit down, sir."

I may state that on an occasion when Mr. Booth, the solicitor, summoned me for resigning my seat in the Municipal Council when I was very ill, Mr. Caswell fined me £25, but made no comment upon the malice which suggested this case. The Governor remitted the fine, and the ratepayers also subscribed it.

I append report of the case of Mr. Ryan's.

Yours, &c.,

W. B. WILKINSON.

[Enclosure.]

REPORT.

Mr. Booth was examining a witness and asked a question which Mr. Ryan was objecting to and appealing to Mr. Caswell, who refused to hear him, saying, "Sit down, sir; I will not listen to you. Proceed Mr. Booth."

Mr. Ryan said, "But surely, your Worship, in the interests of my client —"

Mr. Caswell: "Sit down, sir; I will have you removed from the Court. I will not allow you to address the Court on the case."

Mr. Ryan: "In the interests of my —"

Mr. Caswell: "Sit down, sir: I will have you bound over to keep good behaviour."

Mr. Ryan then sat down, and Mr. Booth, who was appearing on the other side, had the whole conduct of the case, and, asking a more pertinent question, Mr. Ryan further appealed to the Bench.

Mr. Caswell: "Constable, remove Mr. Ryan," which he was proceeding to do when Mr. Ryan sat down.

Mr. Caswell was very much excited, and I really pitied Mr. Ryan being forced into such a humiliating position.

W. B. WILKINSON.

Mr. R. J. J. Ryan to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 3 January, 1891.

I have again the honor to address you on the subject of my complaint against the Police Magistrate at Dubbo, Mr. W. S. Caswell. Since writing to you on the matter I am informed, on the best authority, that two of the gentlemen named in my letter, and to whom you wrote for reports on the subject, have consulted Mr. Booth, the solicitor referred to in my letter, as to their reply to you.

As these two gentlemen are Masons, belonging to the same lodge as Mr. Booth and Mr. Caswell, it is certain that a fair and impartial report of the scene will not be given by them. I merely mention this latter fact to show you the necessity of a full and open inquiry, as asked for in my letter. Further proof of the intimacy—I might say affection—existing between the Police Magistrate and Mr. Booth, is furnished by one of the local papers, viz., the Dubbo Liberal, which a few issues back gave as an item of news the fact that the Police Magistrate and Mr. Booth intended going on a trip together to New Zealand, and this is confirmed by Mr. Booth yesterday going to Sydney, where it is understood he is to join Mr. Caswell, preparatory to their going to New Zealand.

Trusting that some definite action will shortly be taken in the matter,

I have, &c.,

R. J. J. RYAN.

Mr. H. B. Delaunay to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Municipal District of Dubbo, Town Hall, 20 January, 1891.
In reply to yours of the 16th instant, I have the honor to state that, having been absent, I could not give your former communication the attention due to it, for which I beg to be excused. In reference to the matter in hand, I beg to state that I was at Court on the 2nd of last month, and remember the trial, or rather the cases, Cook v. Latham, and vice-versa. I also distinctly remember leaving the Court for a few minutes, and whilst outside hearing of some dispute between the Police Magistrate (Mr. Caswell) and Mr. R. J. J. Ryan. I re-entered the Court, and heard the Police Magistrate threaten Mr. Ryan to have him removed from the Court; and further, of my own knowledge, and beyond hearsay, I do not know, and how the dispute originated I cannot tell.

I have, &c.,
W. B. DELAUNAY.

Mr. A. McCallum, J.P., to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Dubbo, 22 January, 1891.
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of the 22nd ultimo, also the 16th instant, which remained unanswered, in consequence of my absence from the Colony till now.
In reference to the unpleasantness between the Police Magistrate, Mr. Caswell, and Mr. R. J. Ryan, solicitor, in the case Cook v. Latham and Gallagher, I beg to state that I was the only Justice on the Bench besides the Police Magistrate, Mr. Caswell. Mr. R. Booth, solicitor, put a question to one of the witnesses, and Mr. Ryan rose and objected on the grounds of it being a leading question. Mr. Booth maintained it was not so, but Mr. Ryan contended that it was. Then the Police Magistrate stated he would allow the question. Mr. Ryan then rose to explain, when the Police Magistrate told him to sit down. Mr. Ryan again endeavoured, in a quiet and respectful manner to obtain a hearing, when the Police Magistrate, apparently losing his temper, exclaiming in a loud tone, "Sit down, sir, sit down." Mr. Ryan quietly endeavoured to address the Bench, when the Police Magistrate said, "Sit down, sir, or I will have you removed from the Court." Mr. Ryan continued standing, and the Police Magistrate directed the constable to order Mr. Ryan out of the Court. Mr. Ryan then sat down.

I may here state Mr. Caswell did not refer to me in any way at the time in reference to the case, but I considered the Police Magistrate was rather too harsh and severe on Mr. Ryan under the circumstances. I may also add that being only lately appointed J.P., and Mr. Caswell an old and experienced magistrate, I refrained from speaking on the matter, not being consulted by him at the time.

Sir, Caithrna, Dubbo, 22 January, 1891.
In reply to your letter, dated 22nd December, 1890, and numbered 90-16429, I have the honor to inform you that to conform with your request, I can only state that I heard Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate, tell Mr. Ryan, solicitor, to sit down, and that if he did not behave himself, or words to that effect, he would have to leave the Court. Mr. Ryan continued his remarks.

The Police Magistrate then spoke to the constable, who told Mr. Ryan to sit down, and he did so.

The Police Magistrate, Dubbo, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 28 February, 1891.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 26th instant, calling attention to your former communication of the 9th instant, and requiring my report on Mr. Ryan's complaints as soon as possible.

Since my return, I have been constantly employed attending Court and travelling. On the 6th of February, I arrived in Dubbo, and that day went 35 miles towards Peak Hill. On the 7th I went to Peak Hill and tried twenty-eight cases, and returned to Myall, 20 miles. On the 8th, Sunday, I returned to Dubbo. Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, I was fully engaged in Court work and correspondence. Thursday and Friday I held Courts at Nyngan and Warren, 225 miles. Saturday 15th, and Monday and Tuesday, I was again fully engaged in Dubbo. Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, I was at Nyngan and Warren Courts, 221 miles; 21st, 22nd, and 23rd instant, I was at Obley, 130 miles; 24th Tuesday, at Dubbo; Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, at Nyngan and Warren, 225 miles. This morning I was in Dubbo Court, and this afternoon I went 20 miles as Warden. Thus since the 5th February until to-day, I have travelled about 1,250 miles—250 of which was in a buggy.

Mr. Ryan's letter contains some twenty pages, and scarcely one word of truth from beginning to end. If I had nothing to do, the way he has framed his complaints would require considerable time to traverse. I shall have to collect facts, ascertain where some of my brother magistrates are located, and bring to bear considerable correspondence. The magnitude of the work entailed is such that I must request that Mr. Ryan be asked to make specific charges, and having done so, I think it will be much more satisfactory to accept Mr. Ryan's proposition and send some reliable person to hold an investigation. I only ask for specific charges and sufficient notice, and as Mr. Ryan places my offences at other Courts that the investigation shall extend to those places.

Mr. Ryan has extended his complaints over six years, during which he alleges I have persecuted him. He has brought his dead wife's name into the matter, but in so doing, though he has sapped the very foundation of his charges he justifies me in refutation to mention that his wife died, I might say, using my bed linen, for the family borrowed a quantity; and my daughter daily attended his house with little delicacies she made for the poor woman, and three days before her death Mr. Ryan expressed his thanks for our attention, and that day he shook hands with me and joked me on a subject I will mention hereafter. Thus, though I have persecuted him for six years this happened only two years ago. He admits offering me a seat in his buggy within a short period, and I can prove he was in the habit of shaking hands immediately before I ordered him to sit down in Court.

If the Minister sees fit I wish a local investigation. Whether or not, I trust Mr. Ryan will be required to schedule specific charges.

I desire to call your attention to a circumstance which has occasioned me much surprise. Though I see no minute from the Minister or yourself, circulars have been written to people in the district on the subject, long before I knew of the charges, and again without a minute the answers to these circulars have been withheld, and I think they ought to have been sent for my perusal.

I will endeavour to report at the earliest moment I can.

No. 35.

Mr. R. J. J. Ryan to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 11 March, 1891.

I have the honor to enclose herewith a copy of a letter sent to a Justice of the Peace in Dubbo, by the Police Magistrate, Dubbo. The writing is evidently that of a lady. I submit to you, sir, that no Justice of the Peace here will care to send to Mr. Caswell an answer that may, perhaps, be distasteful to him, and certainly I fail to see why Mr. Caswell should, in this cunning manner, endeavour to ascertain the feelings, or gain the sympathy of those whose testimony can only, if even then, be of any value if given in reply to questions from yourself.

The wording of the letter is calculated to mislead, and any answer to it, even if conscientiously given, could not possibly help you to arrive at a just conclusion as to whether I have a right to complain or not, for this reason, that scarcely any magistrates ever attend our Police Court when Mr. Caswell is present, or any other time, as can be seen by reference to the Summons Police Book. Mr. Dulhunty, a Justice of the Peace, who is not friendly disposed towards me, and who acted in Mr. Caswell's absence, is interesting himself on Mr. Caswell's behalf, and it can easily be seen how matters will be smoothed amongst the magistracy if my complaint is to be dealt with only on reports. Mr. Soane, a Justice of the Peace, and a brother-in-law of Mr. Dulhunty, and who, during the last month or so, has evinced unfriendliness towards myself on account of his defeat as a candidate for aldermanic honors, was present at the Court on the occasions I complained of in the first instance, and I can imagine how his feelings will run.

I may say that justice will not be done me if Mr. Caswell is allowed to get in these reports in this manifestly unfair manner. I presume if Mr. Caswell receives unsatisfactory answers they will not be sent to you, and it is unlikely that any magistrate will risk falling foul with Mr. Caswell or Mr. Booth by expressing their opinions, even if by their constant attendance at Court they had an opportunity of being able to give an honest expression. The police, I am informed, were also asked for reports, but by whom, I do not know. I ask, sir, is it likely that the police, considering their position, would dare to give to the police magistrate a fair report. For all I know Mr. Caswell may be heaping up evidence in this matter by dozens of ways unknown to me, which might be submitted to gain your ear and sympathy.

I have no desire to be continually writing on this matter, but I am forced to the steps I take on account of the peculiar turn things have taken. For, as far as I can learn, and I am informed on good authority, some of those who could uphold my complaint, either through sympathy with him on account of his age or social influences, refuse to do so, or give such garbled accounts as tend to make matters appear trivial instead of as they really are, serious, indeed not only to myself, but to the community at large.

Referring to the letter, the copy of which is enclosed, you will see that I complain of Mr. Caswell's conduct towards myself, and the answer Mr. Caswell asks the magistrates to give is their testimony as to his general repute. This, I think, speaks for itself. It is certain no one takes such an interest, or feels so strongly on any matter as the one directly affected.

I have, &c.,

R. J. J. RYAN.

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 5 March, 1891.

I have received a communication addressed to the Minister of Justice by R. J. J. Ryan, Solicitor, of Dubbo, a complaint against me upon which I am called on to report.

Amongst a number of other charges, Mr. Ryan alleges that I show undisguised hatred towards him; that my conduct is insolent and unwarranted; that I am snappish towards him in the conduct of his cases; that I unfairly favour other solicitors, especially Mr. Booth; he also states that I work myself into paroxysms of passions; that I forget my position; that I am testy, crotchety, offensive, especially towards him, and frighten litigants into compromise; that I betray infirmity of temper, and am unable to restrain my passion, and display peevishness and irritability of manner.

As I have acted with my brother magistrates for seven years, the best answer I can give will be your testimony on the subjects stated, and I will be obliged by an early reply stating your opinion and my general repute.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosure.]

The Nyngan Observer, Macquarie and Bogan River Advertiser, Saturday, March 21st, 1891.

Police Magistrate.

THE position of Police Magistrate at any of our inland towns is no bed of roses. He is subject to the criticisms of friend or foe, and is the public property of all. The abuse of the ignorant he has to put up with, as also the vindictiveness of the professional outside his own domain. Whether right or wrong, his decisions are misconstrued and distorted, and sinister motives are implied. He has to put up with the importunities and the bickerings of attorneys, who know less about the law than he does, and should he put "his foot" as it were upon them, and prevent useless repetition and waste of time, he is accused of prejudging the case before him, or favouring the other side. Should he assist in any way an undefended person who is unable, through lack of means, to obtain legal assistance, and who may be ignorant of legal technicalities, he is at once condemned. If he shows some little "suaviter in modo" to an attorney, who is conducting the case in a gentlemanly and proper way, he is hounded for using the "fortiter in re" to another who may be doing the reverse. Unsuccessful litigants go for him, and laugh at his decisions, and in the end, after years upon years of faithful and honest service he is at last reported to head-quarters, "as showing undisguised hatred—that he is insolent and snappish—that he unfairly favours others—that he gets into paroxysms of passions—forgets his position—that he is testy, crotchety, and offensive, especially towards the complainant—betrays infirmity of temper, and frightens litigants into compromises—and cannot restrain his passions—shows peevishness and irritability of manner, &c., &c." Such is the purport of a complaint made by a solicitor against a Police Magistrate in our district, and who has served with honour and diligence the State for a period of 44 years, 34 years being in the position of Police Magistrate. We refer to Mr. W. S. Caswell, of Dubbo. The complaint is made by a Dubbo attorney, we would not refer to this matter, were it not for the fact that such things are getting common amongst us, and we think undeservedly so. Only the other day the Police Magistrate of Cobar, Mr. Thomas McKell, an intelligent and recognised capable and just official was subject to the same vindictiveness. His detractors could be counted upon the fingers of your hands, and led by an officer of the Court. Inquiries were held, and Mr. McKell only added to his already good reputation by explanations given, and we feel assured that Mr. Caswell can do the same. Mr. McKell was put to no end of annoyance, anxiety and trouble, and the Minister for Justice to unnecessary inquiry and correspondence. At times there are serious matters requiring the intervention of the Minister, and complaints well founded and authenticated, and justice meted out, but in cases referred to, the matters complained of are so frivolous that we trust little heed will be taken of them. Again, at Bourke, the Police Magistrate there, Mr. King, who is said to be a good officer, has to put up with no end of bitter sarcasm and abuse emanating from one or two jaundiced minds, and if sympathised with, a vast amount of harm will ensue. The public have a right to protect capable officers against the spleen of a handful of prejudiced people, more especially against those officers who have their confidence, and by all means in their power, showing unmistakably they do not sympathise with the childish attacks made upon old and tried servants. As far as Mr. Caswell is concerned, his long and faithful services, and without blemish, prove his worthiness to hold the honorable position he does. If he has at any time been petulant to the complainant, we do not wonder, as we know many lawyers, that would at times make a saint swear, let alone Mr. Caswell. It is a well-known fact that Mr. Caswell is considered in legal ability, at any rate as far as police business is concerned, equal to most of the attorneys practising in our immediate police courts, and we venture to assert no other attorney will endorse their brother's complaints. We also feel certain that his brother magistrates in the district will repudiate the attack upon him. As far as favoritism goes, we somehow fancy the reverse is the case, that if anything, Mr. Caswell endeavours to steer very clear of this complaint. Where insolence is given, and repeated one may expect retaliation, and hatred will surely be the outcome. We have not yet reached the days of the lion and the lamb squatting together. However the hatred and insolence, if it does exist is only between the two "Kilkennys," and should only be the means of disparaging the public service. Taking the whole of the attorney's complaints, we fail to see that they have anything to do with the public generally. The disagreement is merely a personal one, and the public have but little interest in it. In conclusion, we know this much, that our worthy Police Magistrate is respected throughout the district, that his decisions have the confidence of all, that his urbanity is proverbial, and his intelligence in keeping with his high and responsible position, and it is to be hoped that the outcome of the complaint will be a little smoke and no fire.

Submitted. The words contained in the newspaper article complained of are substantially identical with those included in a circular letter addressed by Mr. Caswell (copy herewith) to various magistrates and other residents in the Dubbo district, after having been called upon for his report respecting Mr. Ryan's original complaint against him, and more than a fortnight previous to the publication of the article in question—A.C.F., 2/4/91.

Telegram from The Under Secretary of Justice to The Police Magistrate, Dubbo.

26 March, 1891.

Re your letter of 20th ultimo. Please return to Department without delay Mr. Ryan's letter of complaint, and your report thereon.

ARCH. C. FRASER,
Under Secretary of Justice,
(Per T.E.M'N.)

No. 38.

The Police Magistrate, Dubbo, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 28 March, 1891.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your telegram of the 26th instant, requiring my report on Mr. Ryan's complaint of 9th December last.

As you are aware, I did not receive it until about the 9th February last, having been away on leave of absence, and the delay in attending to it was due to the causes assigned in my letter of the 28th February, which have been in full force up to the present moment, viz., excess of work. I have been somewhat delayed waiting replies to a circular sent to my brother magistrates scattered over this vast district.

I have never received any reply to my letter of the 20th February, and I have been in expectation of receiving copies of correspondence in your office relating to this affair.

It has been very difficult for me to frame replies to Mr. Ryan's rambling statements. The charges, in a great degree, are bare assertions, so that my defence can only be a bare denial to what my well-established character should be a sufficient support.

In each matter in which data has been supplied, I have made special answer thereto, and enclose all the papers herewith.

In Cook v. Latham and other cases, which were the occasion of Mr. Ryan's misconduct, I forwarded with my own version of the affair, Senior-constable Butler's statement, Mr. Booth's, Mr. Phillips

Phillips (Mayor of Dubbo), a report from the Dubbo Liberal newspaper, and a letter from Mr. Davis, reporter for the Liberal, and also a leading article from the Nyngan Observer. This latter is sent as testimony of my general repute, to which the magistrates' letters are also undoubted evidence.

I beg to call special attention to Mr. Ryan's own letter in the Liberal, in which he admits having threatened me with the Minister, and also to the editor's foot-note to that letter, which I have underlined. But the most important of all is Mr. Davis' letter relating the filthy language made use of in the Court by Mr. Ryan, viz., "The old b——r thinks I am drunk—I will show him." I am quite willing to accept Mr. Ryan's suggestive remark as the only solution of his behaviour.

I enclose a special answer as to my favouring Mr. Booth.

Also the case Cameron v. Wilkie;

Also as to adjournment of Courts;

Also as to Christensen's case;

Also as to frightening litigants;

Also as to Mallarkey v. Collon;

Also as to the matter of costs;

Also printed reports of addresses from the magistrates, and from people both of Moruya and Wellington, covering thirty-one years of my official life.

I also enclose a copy of a circular I addressed to the magistrates of the district and their replies thereto. These letters are from members of the Licensing Courts of Dubbo, Nyngan, and Warren; and from the Dubbo, Nyngan, Warren, Obley, Dandaloo, and Peak Hill Benches of Magistrates, nearly all the writers having sat with me more or less. Their testimony is, as you will see, that I am not only innocent of the conduct imputed, but incapable of such conduct. The writers are naturally under some restraint, but it is beyond question that Mr. Ryan's reputation is very low with the respectability and intelligence of the Dubbo District.

In his description of the affair in Court, on the 2nd December, Ryan alleges that I yelled and screamed at him. The evidence I offer contradicts that, and I am justified in stating that in his description of my temper and disposition, he has unconsciously portrayed his own character.

Mr. Ryan complains that I keep all my admiration and respect for Mr. Booth. The only difference I make in dealing with the solicitors is to be more markedly courteous towards Mr. Ryan, when he allows me, but I must admit he has never secured my respect.

Nine years ago, at Wellington, I had to treat him there in the same manner I did at Dubbo, on 2nd December last, that was, to threaten to put him out of the Court. That has happened three times in nine years. I often have a difficulty in keeping him in order, and occasionally have had little tiffs in Court. He never takes "No" for an answer, and I frequently in fair weariness, let him have his way. His manner is most objectionable to the other solicitors, to witnesses, and to magistrates, and he will bully anyone he can.

It is untrue for Mr. Ryan to allege that we have been on unfriendly terms for the years over which his complaints extend. We have been mutually on terms of ordinary acquaintance with a few breaks. When his wife was ill and dying, we lent him all the bed linen we could spare, and my daughter attended Mrs. Ryan with delicacies for her sustenance for three weeks, and yet, incredible as it may appear, Mr. Ryan at that time wrote a libellous letter in the newspaper about a case in which I had adjudicated, wherein he had been unsuccessful, and while shaking hands, joked me as to the authorship.

I can confidently assert I have always acted fairly to him and his clients, and always in as mild a manner as Mr. Ryan's conduct would admit. Order and decorum must be preserved in the Court, and it appears to be a question who is to rule the Court, I or Mr. Ryan. He would invoke the Minister's assistance.

Mr. Ryan also alleges I have injured his business. That is difficult to refute. As regards Court work I cannot find any difference. If there be any falling off, he must attribute the whole blame to himself.

He is excitable, suspicious and vindictive, unscrupulous and unreliable. I once heard Judge Docker say to him in the District Court, "You have deceived me once, Mr. Ryan, you shall not do so again." He is also coarse, insolent, and most obnoxious in his manner. He takes everything as personal.

He is most rebellious against magisterial ruling, and is irrepressible. He is most especially sneering and excitable when conducting doubtful cases, which are not rare with him. He is always on the watch to bully or "bluff" the Bench. He is most pertinacious in putting leading questions or such as instruct his witnesses. When he does withdraw a question, he often renews it in a most objectionable manner, or so as to convey his wishes to the witness. He often leaves the Court imputing improper motives to the magistrates to disguise his failures. He makes offensive remarks almost within hearing of the Court. He has no gentlemanly feeling whatever in the conduct of his cases.

I enclose a memorandum of four cases in which he was concerned, as an illustration of what I have to listen to with patience.

As to the motive, Mr. Ryan brings forward for my alleged conduct, and the only motive, it is too absurd to consider. It is over six years since he made a complaint against Mr. Dulhunty, and one he failed to substantiate; and one which I had quite forgotten, if I ever knew any of the particulars, Mr. Dulhunty's letter herewith gives an account of this affair.

I never in my life adjourned a case for my own convenience, and to what Mr. Ryan refers, I am quite unable to discover.

I have forwarded depositions in Barton's case, which includes the question of costs. I need not take the full advantage of the high character given me by so many gentlemen. I admit I am impatient, but only under impertinence and insolence, or whilst listening to injustice, even though it be the injustice of a lawyer to his own client.

I will admit I am irritable, but I am chiefly irritated when I see people's time wasted by silly arguments in trumpery matters, and when I am compelled to witness deceit, duplicity, and corruption in its worst forms.

I can honestly aver my temper is always under control, and the greater the provocation the more cool I become. Quips, quirks, and quibbles give me the most annoyance.

I have done all in my power to conciliate Mr. Ryan, even to shaking hands with him after his behaviour about the time of his wife's death. I have endeavoured to traverse every portion of Mr. Ryan's charges charges. I have done so under extreme difficulties. It would have been unfair to myself to hurry. It was necessary to look back so many years that it taxed my memory to the utmost. I had also to delay for the magistrates' replies. Interruptions came every hour, both in my public office and in my private residence.

I feel some pride in the nature of the letters I have received from so large and respectable a body as the magistrates of this District. Could any other Police Magistrate in the Colony get stronger support? I believe if the correspondence were published Mr. Ryan would receive general condemnation.

I have no hesitation in stating that the slightest countenance shown to Mr. Ryan in this affair, will have a seriously prejudicial effect upon the administration of justice in the Dubbo Court for years to come.

It is remarkable that the Dubbo Press have remained silent, and everybody knows how ready newspapers are to cut at the acts of Civil Servants.

In conclusion, I submit that I deserve the support of the Hon. Minister of Justice against a venomous slander.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosures.]

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 6 March, 1891.

I have your letters of yesterday's date and regret to hear of the complaint lodged against you by Mr. Ryan.

As a solicitor practising in your various Courts, viz., the Police Courts at Dubbo, Nyngan, Warren, and Peak Hill, the Licensing Courts, and formerly in the Land Court, I can faithfully say that a more capable, painstaking, and conscientious Magistrate it would be impossible to find. I have seen ebullitions of temper in the various Courts, but always at the bar table, not on the Bench. The charges laid against you by Mr. Ryan are, I am sure, incapable of proof, and I can scarcely believe are seriously made, but are rather the outcome of Mr. Ryan's excitable temperament, and I am sure will be regretted by him in his calmer moments.

If Mr. Ryan has been rebuked by the Bench, which he has on various occasions in the Police Courts in your absence, in the Land Court, and the District Court, it was owing to his own irritability of temper and to his habit of running commentary and interruption, and it is much to be deplored that he should attempt to visit these shortcomings upon one who amidst these and other difficulties, and frequently under trying circumstances, has administered even-handed justice to all classes for very many years.

In Lord's case at the Warren Court, which has been referred to your prejudice, I was particularly struck with your aptitude and the pains which you took to make yourself thoroughly acquainted with Mr. Lord's version—leaving the Bench to examine Mr. Lord's map at the table, and pointing out to him on his own showing that he had rendered himself liable to a fine, and Mr. Lord took no steps to question your decision.

I am, &c.,

C. H. FITZGERALD, J.P.,

Solicitor.

Copy Circular sent to Magistrates of Dubbo district.

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 5 March, 1891.

Having received a communication addressed to the Minister of Justice by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, a complaint against myself, upon which I am called to report.

Amongst other charges, Mr. Ryan alleges that for the last six years I have shown undisguised hatred towards him, that my conduct was insolent and warranted (? unwarranted); that I am snappish towards him in the conduct of his cases; that I unfairly favour other solicitors, especially Mr. Booth. He also states:—That I work myself into paroxysms of passion; that I forget my position; that I am testy, crotchety, and offensive, especially towards him; that I frighten litigants into compromising; that I betray infirmity of temper and am unable to restrain my passion, and display peevishness and irritability of manner.

As the best answer I can give will be the testimony of my brother magistrates, I will thank you to state what you can on the subject.

Yours, &c.,

W. STEWART CASWELL.

My dear Sir,

Dundullimal, 26 March, 1891.

Referring to your letter, I have great pleasure in stating that I have sat on the Bench with you off and on since you first came to Dubbo. I have always found you courteous to brother magistrates and myself, and thoroughly impartial to all classes and creeds.

W. S. Caswell, Esq.

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 9 March, 1891.

In reply to your circular of the 5th instant, re Mr. Ryan's complaint, I beg to state that I consider Mr. Ryan's charges frivolous and entirely groundless. I may say that I have sat with you on the Bench on very many occasions for a good many years, both here and in Wellington, and from my position as Stock Inspector I have had more cases for you to decide than any other single individual in the district, and I can testify to your firmness and decision as a magistrate; but I have never seen any of the peevishness, irritability, or insolence that Mr. Ryan speaks of, nor have I ever heard any one say anything of the sort about you, and it certainly is not your general repute. I have never seen or heard that you favoured Mr. Booth or any one else before Mr. Ryan; and though I have frequently seen him practising before you, I have never seen you treat him differently from any other solicitor.

In conclusion, I may remark that Mr. Ryan seems to have a mania for reporting Government servants. Some years ago he reported me in the same manner, saying that I treated him insolently from the Bench, and so damaged his business, and and also for neglecting my duty as Stock Inspector and taking travelling expenses from two departments for the same days, and although an inquiry was held, of which notice was sent him, and he was requested to attend and substantiate his charges, he failed to attend, though he was living close by, and was asked by the Chairman if he was coming to the Court. The charges were considered by the Board and were dismissed as frivolous and utterly untrue.

After that I think I am justified in saying that any complaint by such a man as Mr. Ryan is unworthy of consideration.

I am, &c.,

R. G. DULHUNTY, J.P.,
Inspector of Stock, Dubbo.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir,

Bundemar, via Dubbo, 14 March, 1891.

I have read with a considerable deal of regret and pain a list of complaints made against you to the Minister of Justice by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of Dubbo.

Since your appointment to Dubbo I have sat with you on very many occasions on the Bench, both in Police Court and licensing cases, and can say that I never saw you exercise any snappishness towards any of the solicitors when conducting cases before you. When solicitors, in the opinion of the Bench, needlessly wish to prolong their case and thereby unnecessarily occupy the time of the Court, I have heard you, as also other Police Magistrates, say that if the solicitor had no further evidence to produce, he had better close his case. In such a way a solicitor may think the Bench treated him snappishly.

As to your undisguised hatred and insolent conduct towards Mr. Ryan, that you unfairly favour other solicitors, that you work yourself into paroxysms of passion, that you forget your position, that you are testy, crochety, offensive, frightening litigants into compromising, that you betray infirmity of temper, and are unable to restrain your passion and display peevishness and irritability of manner; to all these charges I can only say that during our long intercourse with each other I have never seen one or any of them. On the contrary, I have thought many times that you gave the solicitors in your Court very great latitude, and always displayed an anxiety to be just with all. Solicitors often display irritability of manner if they cannot get all their own way in the conduct of their cases, and Mr. Ryan is no exception to the rule.

In conclusion, I think your conduct, manner, energy, knowledge of law, patient, and a strong desire to deal out even-handed justice is all that any district could wish for in their presiding magistrate.

Yours, &c.,
F. BODY.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

My dear Sir,

Sydney, 10 March, 1891.

In reply to yours of 5th instant, respecting Mr. Ryan's complaint made against you for alleged hatred, insolent and unwarrantable conduct towards him in the conduct of cases before you.

You are doubtless aware that I was not present in Court, when the case Mr. Ryan reported against you was held, consequently I cannot say anything about it.

During the seven years that you have resided in Dubbo, I have had the pleasure of being intimately acquainted with you, and frequently, as a Magistrate, have sat on the Bench, presided over by you, and can bear testimony to your courteous and gentlemanly conduct towards the solicitors appearing before the Court.

While being firm in your own conviction, I have never noticed you betray infirmity of temper, peevishness, or inability (sic) of manner.

I exceedingly regret that Mr. Ryan should have considered it necessary to make any complaint against you.

I remain, &c.,

GEORGE H. TAYLOR.

Dear Sir,

Macquarie View, Dubbo, 9 March, 1891.

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 6th instant, in which you ask me to state my "opinion" as to your "general repute"; also as to certain charges enumerated therein, made by R. J. J. Ryan, Esq., solicitor, against yourself in your official capacity as Police Magistrate. Prior to the receipt of your letter, I was not aware that such a serious misunderstanding existed as is implied in the charges mentioned, and therefore I read the same with surprise and regret. Of late years, I have seldom taken my seat on the Bench, unless specially required by the police, or officially invited by you through the Clerk of Petty Sessions. On such occasions, when it has happened that you and I were together, I do not remember that your conduct was in any way questionable or objectionable.

Yours, &c.,

JAMES SAMUELS, J.P.

W. Stewart Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir,

Yarrandah, 10 March, 1891.

In reply to your communication respecting certain charges made against you by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of Dubbo, such as "hatred of him," "partiality towards other solicitors," "snappish and insolent towards him in the conduct of his cases," that you exhibit "infirmity of temper," "peevishness," and "irritability of manner," are crochety and offensive, especially towards him, I have much pleasure in stating that I have never seen anything in your conduct to warrant any of these charges, nor have I heard anything from other magistrates, or the general public, to induce me to believe that they can in any way be sustained.

I am, &c.,

J. PENZER.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir,

99, Victoria-street North, Sydney, 10 March, 1891.

Your favour of the 5th instant only reached me to-day, and now have much pleasure of answering same. I am rather surprised at Mr. Ryan bringing any accusation against you in the capacity of a Police Magistrate. I can only testify for the number of years I had the pleasure of sitting with you at the Warren Court, and always found you most courteous, obliging, and painstaking in every case, either criminal or civil, and I am sure you have good control over your temper at all times. I never saw, to my knowledge, any irritability of temper or passion, that came under my notice, for the last seven years. I have no doubt, and I am sure of it, that many a prisoner has tried your temper pretty often, and you always displayed calmness with good judgment; and you deserve the credit of all in the way in which you give your decision, without fear or favour to anyone. Hoping of having the pleasure soon of sitting with you again.

I remain, &c.,

ADOLPH ALEXANDER, J.P.

W. Stewart Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir,

Englewood, Inverleigh, 10 March, 1891.

I have read, with very great surprise and regret, the copy of Mr. Ryan's allegations regarding your conduct of Police Court business, and to me they appear most unfounded charges.

On the occasions on which I have had the honour of sitting on the Bench with you, I have always found your demeanour towards solicitors very courteous, though characterised by an earnest desire to ascertain the truth of the evidence they brought in support of their causes. Undoubtedly, for this purpose, it may have been necessary occasionally, to cross-examine a witness, and I can only imagine that Mr. Ryan has construed this into an appearance of favouritism on your part. The folly of such an opinion must be evident to every disinterested person.

As I know you to be a man of peace, it is quite possible that your well-known legal knowledge and experience, which you are always ready to impart to any inquirer out of Court, may have prevented some causes being brought before the Bench, but I feel certain that no miscarriage of justice has ever occurred through conduct of yours.

I am, &c.,

ROBT. GILLESPIE, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., Police Magistrate, Dubbo.

Dear

Dear Sir, Enawceena, 16 March, 1891.
I have your letter of 5th instant by me. I regret extremely that such charges should be brought against you, which are quite false.

I have had the honor of sitting on the Bench with you, and have remarked how just and clear your decisions were. Also as a spectator in Court, I have noticed how impartial was your judgment given, and while evidently determined to maintain order and decency in the Court premises, you have not shown particular favour towards one solicitor more than another.

The charges brought against you I should consider as perfectly absurd and worthy of no consideration at all, were it not that the Minister of Justice has evidently been deceived by the complaints made. These, upon investigation must be proved false.

I remain, &c.,

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Nevertire, 12 March, 1891.
In reference to the charges made against you by Mr. Ryan, I wish to state that I have been in the habit of sitting on the Bench with you during the whole time that you have acted in our district, and have also on several occasions attended your Court in the capacity of client or witness.

I am able to state that, to my knowledge, you have been uniformly courteous and impartial to all classes alike, whether attorneys, clients, or witnesses, and it has given me great pleasure to be associated on the Bench with a gentleman possessing, as you do, the qualities which make our Court respected through the district.

I am, &c.,

E. S. ANTILL, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M.

Sir, Mumblebone, Warren, 12 March, 1891.
I have the honor to state that I have known Mr. Caswell as a Magistrate for ten years. I have invariably found him a courteous gentleman when on the Bench, and a painstaking and conscientious Magistrate.

I am, &c.,

E. KATER, J.P.

The Honorable the Minister of Justice.

Dear Sir, Raby, 12 March, 1891.
I have much pleasure in stating that I have known you since your arrival in this district. I have adjudicated with you, and attended the Courts over which you presided. In no single instance have I known or heard of you acting in any way unbecoming a Magistrate or a gentleman.

The opinion I have formed is that you are both painstaking and impartial, and in every way fitted to fill and uphold your position.

Yours, &c.,

FRANCIS LORD, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, "Eurobla," Tenandra, 12 March, 1891.
Your communication of the 5th instant, re complaint of your behaviour made to the Minister of Justice by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, received last evening.

In reply, I have pleasure in stating that during the last seven years (or thereabouts), I have had many opportunities of observing your conduct as Presiding Magistrate and Acting Chairman of the Local Land Board, and I beg to assert that always, in my opinion, you have acted righteously and with consideration for all.

The dignity of your official position has ever been upheld, and never have you allowed individual prejudice to contravene the carriage of justice. I desire to add that your reputation, so far as I know, is consistent with the foregoing.

Yours, &c.,

ROBERT H. FIRTH, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M.

Dear Sir, Polly Brewon, 24 March, 1891.
Yours of the 5th instant, just received by me, and I hasten to reply to it. I have sat on the Bench with you for some few years, and I must say that I have always found you most unbiassed in all your decisions, and that you have always treated Mr. Ryan in a most lenient manner, which has been noticeable on more than one occasion. As far as I have seen, you have never at any time given Mr. Ryan, or anyone else, cause to accuse you of insolence or snappishness. That you favour other solicitors, especially Mr. Booth, is quite untrue, nor have I ever seen you in a passion on the Bench or forgetting your position. I regret very much that Mr. Ryan should have made these unfounded accusations against you, as I know that in the general opinion of the district you are respected and looked up to, and considered to be most considerate to witnesses who may be brought before you, and that you have the reputation of being most kind.

Yours, &c.,

E. S. ANTILL.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Egelabra, 11 March, 1891.
Referring to your correspondence of 5th instant, re complaint made against you by Mr. Ryan to the Minister of Justice, concerning your conduct towards that gentleman, I have to state that in this matter of your conduct towards Mr. Ryan I am not in a position to say, not having been present in any cases where you have officiated as Police Magistrate, and Mr. Ryan employed. And, on the same ground, I am not in a position to say whether you have been guilty of favouring Mr. Booth as a solicitor in his practice.

With respect to your conduct as a Police Magistrate, I have had the opportunity of witnessing your actions in many cases, but have never seen any display of bad temper, or any action that would lead me to conclude that you had in any way forgotten your position as a magistrate.

Having known you for a term of years I can but testify to your thorough ability to act in your position of Police Magistrate, and, as far as I can judge, am of opinion that the charges brought against you are severe, and without cause or provocation, as far as my knowledge leads me.

In conclusion, I can only state that I regret exceedingly that such report has been made against you, but trust that the Minister of Justice will view the matter favourably to yourself, and that you may continue your office as Police Magistrate for a considerable term yet to come.

I remain, &c.,

T. CHAPMAN.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Obella, Obley, 12 March, 1891.
Yours of the 5th instant to hand last evening. I am sorry Mr. Ryan has seen fit to cause you any trouble. After a long period of hard service it seems out of place to make the closing of the chapter dark. Although unable to agree with you at all times yet we have pulled along fairly well together at Obley.

Yours, &c.,

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, "Derowie," Obley, 11 March, 1891.
Received yours of the 9th instant, with reference to Mr. R. J. J. Ryan's report against you to the Minister of Justice.

Having

Having been a fellow magistrate for some years in the district of Obley with you, I can conscientiously state that I have, at all times, found you most patient, just, and upright, in your ruling; and always upheld the dignity of your position.

Your conduct, so far within my knowledge, has always been suited to your position.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

I remain, &c.,

HUGH STRAHORN.

Dear Sir,

Waterford, Peak Hill, 12 March, 1891.

I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th instant, containing an account of charges preferred against you by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, Dubbo, in which he alleges your official conduct towards him is unfair, and that you betray infirmity of temper, unbecoming one in your possession (? position), and also requiring my opinion of your general conduct.

Now, as to your treatment of Mr. Ryan, I cannot give an opinion, not having acted with you in any case conducted by Mr. Ryan; but in all cases in which I have acted with you as a magistrate I have not observed any such traits of character attributed by Mr. Ryan.

Your decisions have given general satisfaction, and your conduct is beyond reproach.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

I am, &c.,

DENIS MADDEN, J.P.

Dear Sir,

Warden's Office, Peak Hill, 14 March, 1891.

Referring to your letter to me, of 6th instant, re complaint made by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of Dubbo, I beg to inform you that since I have had charge of the Peak Hill Gold-fields as Warden; that is, since August, 1890, I have had several opportunities to note your official doings as Police Magistrate, and certainly cannot come to any other conclusion than that your conduct on the Bench at Peak Hill has been the very opposite of being crotchety, offensive, peevish, or irritable. In fact to me or my brother magistrates you always appeared courteous and gentlemanly. If you are infirm in temperament, display peevishness, or irritability of manner, you must have a happy knack of leaving it behind when you pay your periodical official visits to Peak Hill.

I was given to understand by the Hon. the Minister for Mines when I received my instructions to take charge of Peak Hill as Warden, that you were replaced, not because you had not given the public satisfaction, but because it was thought you had already enough to do, without saddling you with heavy Warden's work. Kind regards.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Yours, &c.,

W. H. SLEE, J.P.,
Warden.

Dear Sir,

Orange, 19 March, 1891.

I am in receipt of your communication of the 5th instant, informing me that Mr. R. J. J. Ryan had addressed a complaint against you to the Minister of Justice, upon which you have been called on to report, and asking me to reply as to what your repute was at Peak Hill (where I frequently sat with you), and whether Mr. Ryan is justified in any manner in his attack upon you.

I think I sat with you on nearly every occasion on which you visited Peak Hill, and though our opinions did not at all times coincide, I never saw you exhibit any infirmity of temper or other peculiarity attributed to you by Mr. Ryan.

I believe you enjoyed a character for honesty and uprightness of purpose among the residents at Peak Hill.

Never having had an opportunity of seeing Mr. Ryan practice before you, of course I cannot say anything of your treatment of him.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Yours, &c.,

C. WEST SMITH.

Dear Sir,

Peak Hill, 16 March, 1891.

I am in receipt of your communication of the 6th instant, setting out a number of charges made against you by Mr. Ryan, solicitor of Dubbo, to the Minister of Justice.

I have been practising at the Peak since June, 1890, and I have always found you courteous, both to my clients and myself, in all cases that have come before you, and I am sure that your administration of the law has, from your vast and varied experience as Police Magistrate and the care and attention you give to all coming before you been beneficial to litigants.

I have not found you offensive or passionate, but courteous and obliging at all times.

I have never heard your general actions condemned here, and any cavillings at your decisions have been from the unsuccessful side, which must be taken for what they are worth, especially in a town of this kind.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Yours, &c.,

WM. H. ROBERDS.

Dear Sir,

Tirrangan, 17 March, 1891.

Absence from home has, I regret to say, prevented me from replying to your letter of the 5th instant, at an earlier date.

It gives me much pleasure to state that I have acted with you upon several occasions, and have seen you engaged in your magisterial duties many times during the last few years, and have never known you display anything other than fairness to litigants and courtesy to all engaged in the cases brought before you. I have also observed that you are thoroughly competent to uphold the dignity of the Bench, and to compel respect even from the most fractious.

I have frequently heard your merits as a Police Magistrate discussed, and have invariably heard you spoken of as a gentleman thoroughly competent to fill the position you hold with credit to yourself and with benefit to the public.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

I remain, &c.,

WALTER SMITH, J.P.

My dear Sir,

Darribong Station, Dandaloo, 13 March, 1891.

Yours of the 5th instant hand, giving me the account of charges made against you by R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of Dubbo. Having now known you seven years, since your appointment as Police Magistrate at Dubbo, and having repeatedly sat on the Bench with you, I give the whole of the charges an unqualified denial, and I can also bear testimony to your patience in hearing any case that I have ever sat on with you, and would rather have you to deal with any case I was interested in than any of the Magistrates in the district, as I should be certain of a patient hearing and justice. I cannot understand how Mr. Ryan could bring such utterly false charges against you; but from what I know of the man, can hardly be surprised, as he would stick at nothing to vent his petty spite, which vindictiveness of character is well known in the district.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES MACKINNON, J.P.

Dear Sir,

Asche's "Royal Hotel," Sydney, 17 March, 1891.

I am in receipt of your communication of 5th instant, and I must confess am greatly surprised that Mr. Ryan should bring such charges against you. As far as my knowledge of you goes, the allegations are without foundation. At any time I have had the pleasure of a seat on the Bench with you, I have observed nothing but the greatest courtesy towards Mr. Ryan, as well as other solicitors. Should you wish me to give any further testimony as to your general repute as a Magistrate, I will be only too happy to give what lays in my power.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

I am, &c.,

P. J. KELLY, J.P.

Dear

Dear Sir, Sunnyside, Lyndhurst, 14 March, 1891.
Your letter of 5th instant only reached me this morning, having been sent to Nyngan in mistake, otherwise I should have replied much earlier.

I need hardly say here how surprised and grieved I was when reading contents to find such unkind accusations have been made against you, which, I am quite sure, you above all men, could not be guilty of.

I will endeavour to the best of my ability to say in a few plain words which, I trust, may be the means of helping to cancel any such charges made against you, as stated in your letter, and I do not think I can do better than by addressing my statement thus :—

To whom it may concern.

I have had the pleasure of knowing Mr. Caswell as a Police Magistrate for the last seven or eight years, during which time I have sat on the Bench with him, and other times have been present when Court business has been going on, and I can positively say that never upon any occasion have I seen the slightest foundation or grounds for crediting him with the charges now made.

Mr. Caswell has also shown great patience in sifting out all cases that have come under his jurisdiction without fear or favour.

As a Police Magistrate, I do not know of any gentleman holding the same position more esteemed, not merely for his competency as a Police Magistrate, but for the quiet and patient manner he has fulfilled the responsible position.

I may further state, whenever circumstances would permit, it always afforded me much pleasure in being present when Mr. Caswell was on the Bench.

Before concluding, I wish to state I am prepared at any time to stand up in any public room or place, and express the same opinion of Mr. Caswell as herein mentioned.

Yours, &c.,

FRANK HAILEY, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Kenilworth, Byrock, 29 March, 1891.
I am in receipt of yours of the 5th instant. I regret to say I was not able to reply sooner, but being away from home this last three weeks, will explain the delay. I note contents of your letter stating charges made against you by Mr. Ryan, solicitor, of Dubbo. I have much pleasure in testifying to the fact that while I sat with you on the Byrock Bench you were not guilty of any of the charges made against you by Mr. Ryan. I have always considered you used considerable patience towards those whom you had to deal with, and always behaved in a courteous manner to your brother Magistrates and the public generally.

Yours, &c.,

WM. OLIVER, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Murrawombie Station, via Nyngan, 14 March, 1891.
Your letter only reached me to-day on account of my being away on the lower station, Tubba. Whatever feeling there may be between Mr. Ryan and yourself I do not know anything of, but I feel certain from what I know of you that nothing would (in the way of private feeling or other cause) tempt, or cause you to act unfairly or unjustly to anyone in your position as Police Magistrate.

On reading the changes made by Mr. Ryan it seems very clear to me that they all mean the same thing, and one charge would have covered the lot.

I have always found you to be exceedingly fair and just, and such is the general opinion held of you by other magistrates that I have spoken to.

Yours, &c.,

ROBERT BROWN, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, "Hillside," William-street, Bathurst, 10 March, 1891.
I am in receipt of yours of the 5th, embodying a number of charges made against you by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, Dubbo, charges, which I can conscientiously say should never have been preferred against you.

I have resided in the Dubbo district for the past ten years, where I have had every opportunity of thoroughly knowing you in your magisterial capacity, and I can honestly and truthfully assert that Mr. Ryan's charges against you are a complete antithesis to your general conduct on the Bench during the time I have known you.

I am, &c.,

JOHN M'KAY, J.P.

W. Stewart Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Union Club, 14 March, 1891.
I have just received your letter of the 5th instant. In reply, I can only say that I have occasionally sat on the Bench with you at Nyngan, and have never seen such conduct as Mr. Ryan complains of, nor have I heard from anyone of instances of it. Speaking personally, I have never known you to be otherwise than courteous and patient. A somewhat patent determination not to favour the class known as "squatter" is the only fault I have ever had to find with you.

I remain, &c.,

W. ALISON.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Nyngan, 11 March, 1891.
I am in receipt of yours of 5th instant, and am astonished at contents, as I have frequently during the last seven years adjudicated with you in Sessions and Licensing Court, and have always appreciated your thorough knowledge of the law, tact, urbanity, and general consideration of cases brought before us, and have always received the greatest courtesy at your hands. In conclusion, I must say I consider Mr. Ryan's complaints frivolous in the extreme, and can only emanate from petty spite.

I remain, &c.,

AUGUSTUS LYNE.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Nyngan, 11 March, 1891.
In reply to yours of the 9th instant, re charges made by Mr. Ryan against you, I can only say that from my experience as a brother magistrate sitting with you they are without foundation.

I have never seen you show favour to any particular individual. I have never seen you lose your temper while you were conducting the business of the Court, and I have often been surprised at the cool and collected manner in which you collected the evidence of any case before you.

I have never seen you forget your position in any way, but always try to uphold the dignity of the office.

I consider that you are well able to fill any of the duties pertaining to your office, and to fill it with credit to yourself and the position.

Hoping that you will be able to clear yourself from these unfounded charges.

I remain, &c.,

W. H. KEAST, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Dear Sir, Thorndale, Nyngan, 19 March, 1891.
I much regret not having been able to reply to yours of the 5th instant at an earlier date. Re the complaints brought against you by Mr. Ryan, I really cannot believe them. During the number of years I have had the pleasure of your acquaintance, have always considered you a most obliging and painstaking, gentleman that most worthily filled the position of Police Magistrate in this large and important district, and must most emphatically disagree disagree with every one of Mr. Ryan's charges brought against you. I certainly have never seen anything of them. You have my deepest sympathy in this matter, and think I only echo the feeling of the whole district when I say the charges are most absurd.

W. Stewart Caswell, Esq., P.M., Court-house, Dubbo.

Yours, &c.,

E. BOWEN BUCHANAN, J.P.

Dear Caswell,

Deniliquin, 12 March, 1891.

Your letter, dated 5th instant, only received to-day, and I hasten to reply to it; but I hope there is no necessity for my doing so. However, I can truly state that during my time at Dubbo, when I had frequent, almost daily, opportunities of witnessing your manner, both on and off the Bench, I never saw you show anything but courtesy towards every solicitor or other person who had dealings before you as a magistrate. I certainly never saw you exhibit a bias towards any person. You always appeared to me to be most impartial and extremely patient in listening to the solicitors engaged on both sides of any case. I never saw anything offensive in your manner towards any person; and to conclude, I may state I always found you to act as a gentleman both on and off the Bench, and always considered you a most efficient and painstaking and impartial magistrate, and noticed you always friendly and courteous in your intercourse with the public.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., Police Magistrate, Dubbo.

Yours, &c.,

E. GRAINGER.

Dear sir,

Avondale, 11 March, 1891.

I have yours of the 15th instant. The contents of same very much surprised me indeed. The man must be a lunatic going off his head. But as I am not a magistrate, I presume my remarks cannot be taken into consideration. I sympathise with you very much. It is really hard to be accused, when one knows the accusations are without foundation.

Hoping you are quite well.

I have, &c.,

J. O'DWYER.

W. Stewart Caswell, Esq., Dubbo.

In the matter of Cook v. Latham, Cook v. Gallagher, Latham v. Cook.

THE depositions will accompany this case. The affair was hardly worth consideration of any Court. Mr. Ryan has chosen to complain because I insisted on ruling my own Court. He rebelled against my ruling, threatened me with the Minister of Justice, refused to sit down, and endeavoured to prevent my being heard, and yet pretends he is aggrieved. As a lawyer, he knew he was on dangerous ground, invoking the Minister's interference with a Court of justice, so rakes up a fanciful string of grievances on which to found a charge of general corruption. In answer to the latter I forward the opinion of the magistrates of every Court in which I have sat. A character of forty years cannot be tilted over lightly. In answer to the special charge of ill-treating Mr. Ryan in the cases quoted, I give my own account, Senior-constable Butler's, the newspaper's report, Mr. Ryan's own letter in print, and the reporter's letter to me and the editorial note in the Liberal newspaper, and a letter from the Mayor of Dubbo, which I have separated from the letters addressed to me by other magistrates, because the Mayor, Mr. S. Phillips, was present when Mr. Ryan created the scene in Court.

The proceedings were first interrupted by Mr. Ryan objecting to a question put by Mr. Booth, but the objection was not made until the question had been answered and was being taken down. I was dictating to the clerk, and when Mr. Ryan objected held up my hand, at same time saying, "Stop, Mr. Ryan," and these words I repeated twice. Mr. Booth then complained of Mr. Ryan's interruptions. Ryan said, "I must urge my objection." I said, "I rule against you." He repeated, "I must urge my objection." I said, "Sit down, Mr. Ryan." He insisted. I said, "Sit down, Mr. Ryan, I won't hear you." (He was asking for an argument on a paltry objection in a paltry case.) He then said, "I'll know where to go if you won't hear me." After this threat I used the words, "Sit down" seven or eight times. Each time Ryan shouted his remarks to drown my voice; no one could tell what I said. I said once I would have to bind him over to good behaviour if he was not quiet.

There was nothing to argue upon; the question had been answered.

In conclusion, so far as I was concerned, I said "Senior-constable Butler, ask Mr. Ryan to be quiet; if he won't, remove him from the Court." Ryan then sat down, and repeating his threats as he did so of reporting me to the Minister.

Mr. Ryan wrote to the Liberal, newspaper; I enclose herewith his letter. A magistrate must be very soft who would permit the conduct Ryan relates of himself. I may have been very determined, but I kept full command of myself. I was only anxious to ascertain carefully the merits of the case, and persons I had never seen. It is hardly likely any two individuals can give the same version of this affair. I believe my own is the most accurate. I am, however, willing to rely on Senior-constable Butler's account, and that of the Liberal newspaper.

I do not know what account my colleague on the Bench—Mr. McCallum—has given; I must set my forty-four years' experience against his forty days; at any rate we were united in dismissing the cases we dismissed, and in punishing the offender we did punish; and as Mr. McCallum is Mr. Ryan's friend, and made no objection to my action, I was justified in supposing I had his concurrence.

In Cook's case Mr. Ryan states I called Mr. Martin. I did no such thing. When it was discovered Mr. Martin had made some mistake he rose up and explained it to me in a low voice; it would be interminable contradicting Mr. Ryan, but I presume it is necessary to follow him in most of his rambling statements. He alleges I frightened his witness. I never spoke to the man until he had remained some moments as if dumb; I then said, "Go on—well, go on," but failed to draw forth a sound. Mr. Ryan then gave a very suggestive question to which I took exception. I said, "You have told him to tell his own story, let him do so."

In another case, referred to by Mr. Ryan at page 18, in his complaint he states I would not allow him to put questions testing the witness' credibility, but that afterwards I did allow him. I often allow Ryan to do and say things I do not allow other solicitors; they generally accept my ruling; Ryan does not—he is irrepensible; I fairly tire in my endeavours to keep him in order. I was present in the District Court on one occasion, and heard Judge Docker say to the same Mr. Ryan, "Mr. Ryan, you have deceived me once; you shall never do so again."

W.S.C., P.M.

Police Station, Dubbo, 14 February, 1891.

In compliance with the desire of the Police Magistrate, W. S. Caswell, Esquire, Senior-constable Butler respectfully reports the particulars of an occurrence which took place in the Police Court, Dubbo, on the 2nd December, 1890, during the hearing of a case, Rebecca Cook v. Mary Latham and Sarah Gallagher, charged on summons with assault. W. S. Caswell and A. McCallum, Esquires, presided. The complainant was represented by Mr. R. Booth, and the defendants by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan. It was agreed that both cases of assault be taken together. The complainant, Rebecca Cook, was the first witness called. During the course of her examination by Mr. Booth she appeared not to understand what an assault consisted of, and Mr. Booth explained to her what constituted an assault, after which he interrogated witness, as follows:—

Did the defendant, Sarah Gallagher, strike you?

Witness: No.

Mr. Booth: Did the defendant, Sarah Gallagher, lift her hand in a threatening manner to you.

Mr. Ryan: I object to that as a leading question.

Mr. Booth: Keep quiet, Mr. Ryan, it is a perfectly fair one.

Mr. Caswell: Stop.

Mr. Ryan: He asks the witness if the defendant held up her hand in a threatening manner.

Mr. Caswell: The question is a perfectly fair one.

Mr. Ryan: The question is not fair.

Mr. Caswell: Sit down, Mr. Ryan, or I will have you bound over to be of good behaviour.

Mr. Ryan: What's the ill-behaviour, pointing out you're wrong?

Mr. Caswell: Sit down; I won't allow you to interrupt the Court in this way.

Mr. Ryan: But, your Worship—

Mr. Caswell: Sit down, Mr. Ryan.

Mr. Ryan: I'll sit down, but certainly I'll have to take another course in regard to this treatment. (Mr. Ryan made several feints to sit down during the above, but would rise again.)

Mr.

Mr. Caswell (addressing the Senior Constable): Request Mr. Ryan to leave the Court.
 Mr. Ryan: But your Worship —
 Mr. Caswell (again addressing the Senior Constable): Request Mr. Ryan to leave the Court.
 The Senior Constable, addressing Mr. Ryan, said, "Leave the Court, Mr. Ryan, please."
 Mr. Ryan then sat down, and the business proceeded.

JNO. BUTLER,
 Senior Constable.

Mr. Sub-Inspector Cameron, Dubbo.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, 2nd December, 1890.
 (Before the Police Magistrate.)

DOG REGISTRATION.

A NUMBER of owners of canines were made sorry that their fancy leant in that direction. Some pleaded not guilty to non-registration, and were lined up like so many sheep for slaughtering, the outcome being that the majority were dismissed. Mr. Wilkinson, afflicted with dogmania, whilst contributing 10s. towards the State coffers, before retiring from the scene, gave the parting shot to the police that it would be more to their credit if, instead of creating a dog agony, they watched the Chinese dens and saw that they were exterminated.

FORGING AND UTTERING.

John McIntosh, on remand, was charged as above.
 Mr. Fitzhardinge watched the case on his behalf.
 Charles John Martin, ledger-keeper at the Commercial Bank, Bathurst, deposed that the Bank did not know a client named A. J. Anderson; a cheque was presented from the Dubbo branch for payment, the answer was sent to Dubbo, "Refer to drawer, no account:" the amount mentioned in the cheque was £5 10s. 6d; the cheque was received on the 7th October.

The accused was then further remanded for seven days.

FAMILY JARS.

Mrs. Rebecca Cook does not seem to be on the best of terms with Misses Mary Lotham and Sarah Gallagher. It seems that on the 16th November, according to Mrs. Cook, the other ladies took it into their pretty little craniums to use her as a punching-bag. Then again, Miss Latham brought a counter charge against Mrs. Cook of "language." The relation of the words used made our reporter blush to the roots of his hair. A calm always precedes a storm, and the cutest detective alive would never have suspected that trouble was brewing. Each party seemed, when the different versions were being heard, according to the expressions of their faces, to feel the greatest contempt for those who could not stick to the ruff.

Mr. Booth appeared for Mrs. Cook, and Mr. R. J. J. Ryan for her fair opponents. Mrs. Cook, in the course of her testimony, stated that Miss Latham went about the room, swinging her arms like Indian clubs, and threatened to knock the "puddin" out of her.

A scene took place in the Court between the Police Magistrate and Mr. Ryan. Mr. Ryan objected to Mr. Booth putting a leading question, when the Bench protested against the examination being interrupted. Mr. Ryan persisted, and said that he was not interrupting the Court, but would object to the question. The Bench said he would not listen to Mr. Ryan and threatened to have him bound over to be of good behaviour. Mr. Ryan continued, and Mr. Caswell said if Mr. Ryan did not sit down he would have him removed. Mr. Ryan continuing to stand, Senior-constable Butler was called upon to order him to sit down or leave the Court. Mr. Ryan then resumed his seat, remarking that he would not be bounced, but would be seated if requested to do so in a proper manner.

The tragedy assumed more the appearance of a comedy, and bore a strong suspicion of an all round "ballyhooly" amongst the combatants. Mr. Ryan's clients said that Mrs. Cook went to the house in which the agony occurred looking for war, with a marvellous thirst for blood, which would not be satisfied until Whilandra was painted crimson. Jim Gallagher posed as a peacemaker.

Miss Gallagher left the Court without a stain upon her character, as did also Mrs. Cook, but the other lady fared rather badly, being mulcted in the sum of 10s. with professional and costs of Court.

The Bench remarked that wilful perjury had been committed on one side or the other.

THE LATE SCENE IN COURT.

(To the Editor of the Dubbo Liberal.)

Sir,

You were wrong in your report of the scene (as you call it) in the Police Court on Monday last. I did not say I would sit down if properly asked. Such, or any such, words never escaped my lips, and were farthest from my thoughts. Indeed it would have been utter childishness on my part to have said so. I said I would sit down, as the Police Magistrate had the power, and could order me to do so, rightly, or wrongly, but that I was not going to be bounced in a disgraceful manner, and therefore I intended bringing the conduct of the Police Magistrate under the notice of the Minister of Justice. This I intend doing without delay. It is a great pity your reporter did not publish a detailed account of the proceedings. A perusal would have been interesting to all who might read it.

Yours truly,
 R. J. J. RYAN.

[Mr. Ryan's version of the affair may be correct, but as both he and the Police Magistrate were speaking at once, it would have been almost an impossibility to have given a detailed account of the scene.—Ed. D.L.]

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 18 March, 1891.

Your letter of 5th instant is to hand, stating that the Minister of Justice had called upon you to report on certain charges made against you by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of this town, and requesting me to give my testimony with regard to the manner in which you perform your duties as Police Magistrate at Dubbo. The charges referred to, with the exception of the charge involved in the case of Cook v. Latham and Gallagher, appear to be of a general and wide character, it will therefore, with this exception, only be necessary for me to make a broad statement as to my experience of your conduct of the business of your Court.

I have been a magistrate since 1885, and besides having frequently adjudicated with you, have had many other opportunities of forming an opinion as to the ability and special aptitude you have shown for the position you occupy.

When acting with you on the Bench, I have observed that your sole object has been to deal justly and with strict impartiality to all parties, while your long and varied experience has not only been of great service to your colleagues on the Bench, but has also tended to expedite the business of the Court, you have always displayed courtesy and consideration to the members of the legal profession, suitors and witnesses, and what is still more important in the interests of justice, much patience, sound judgment, and a laudable desire to arrive at the truth. With regard to the case of Cook v. Latham and Gallagher before referred to, I was present at the hearing, and in answer to a letter from the Department of Justice, I wrote on 31st December last, stating that my recollection of what took place was not sufficiently clear to justify me in making a detailed statement of the facts, but I remember that the unpleasantness in the case arose through the improper interruption of the witness at a critical point of her evidence during her examination-in-chief, and I should say that in preventing this you acted justly and correctly.

Allow me to express my regret that there should be any necessity for this letter. I am, however, glad of the opportunity of testifying to your high qualities as a magistrate, and of assuring you of my sincere respect and esteem.

Believe me, dear sir,
 W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Yours, &c.,
 S. PHILLIPS, J.P.

Dear

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 13 March, 1891.

In reply to yours of the 5th instant, informing me of Mr. Ryan's complaint and allegations in support of it, I beg to say, that during the last seven years I, as an attorney, have had ample opportunity of observing your conduct on the Bench.

I have no hesitation in saying that Mr. Ryan's assertions, as contained in your letter to me, are absolutely without any foundation. I have always regarded you as a most capable, impartial, and worthy magistrate, and possessed of a very equable and amiable temper. The assertion that you favour one attorney more than another is as absurd as it is unjust.

Respecting the case of Cook v. Gallagher, as far as I recollect the complainant was being examined in chief, and in reference to the alleged assault by the defendant Gallagher, for whom Mr. Ryan appeared, I asked the witness what the defendant did. Mr. Ryan interposed, and said it was a leading question. You ruled that it was not leading, and on Mr. Ryan's still continuing to interrupt, you requested him to be seated. He did not sit down, but kept talking and interrupting, whereupon you told the constable to ask him to leave the Court. Mr. Ryan then sat down and the matter ended. I find, from my papers, that the case Gallagher against Cook was dismissed, so that Mr. Ryan really won the case.

Since Peak Hill was discovered, I have been there about from twelve to fifteen times on special retainer. On either two or three of these occasions I travelled in the same buggy as you. Mr. Ryan has appeared against me at the Peak in three cases, in all of which I appeared for the complainant. In two of these cases I was successful; in the third I was non-suited.

Yours faithfully,

ROBERT BOOTH, J.P.

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

Sir,

Liberal Office, 18 March, 1891.

In reply to a communication I received from you, dated 5th March, requesting from me an unprejudiced account of the scene that occurred in the Dubbo Police Court, on 2nd December, 1890, between yourself and Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, when the Latham-Gallagher-Cook cases were under hearing, I do myself the pleasure to lay the facts, so far as I know, before you. Mr. R. Booth, counsel for the Cook party, had put a question to a witness, which was being taken down, and seeing that the answer was unfavourable to his clients, Mr. Ryan construed the question as a leading one, and appealed to the Chairman, yourself. You did not consider the question a leading one. Mr. Ryan persisted in his objection, and you deprecated his action, stating that you could not allow the business of the Court to be interrupted. Mr. Ryan continuing to stand and address the Bench, you ordered him to sit down. He refused to do so, and you warned him that if he did not do as ordered, you would have him removed from the Court. Mr. Ryan still pushing his objections, you instructed Senior-constable Butler to remove him. As the official approached Mr. Ryan, the latter resumed his seat, saying he would obtain satisfaction elsewhere. He also remarked in an undertone to his clerk, but quite audible to those seated at the table, myself amongst the number, "The old b—— thinks I'm drunk, but I'll show him." That is the case. Mr. Ryan met me some time afterwards in the street, and seemed surprised the Minister of Justice had not written me on the matter, at the same time remarking, "Oh, I suppose it's no b—— good; there's Archdeacon Wilson, Caswell, Phillips, and other Freemasons get together, and rig things up. I know they're all Masons together, the Minister included, and I'll get no d—— satisfaction." I replied in a bantering manner, "Why don't you join the fraternity?" He turned on his heel and left me and the conversation ended.

In conclusion it may bear significance when I state that Mr. Ryan seems to me to bear you great animosity; he cannot conceal it whilst in Court.

Faithfully yours,

DAVID A. DAVIES,

Editor, Dubbo Liberal.

Police Magistrate.

THE position of Police Magistrate at any of our inland towns is no bed of roses. He is subject to the criticisms of friend or foe, and is the public property of all. The abuse of the ignorant he has to put up with, as also the vindictiveness of the professional outside his own domain. Whether right or wrong; his decisions are misconstrued and distorted, and sinister motives are implied. He has to put up with the importunities and the bickerings of attorneys, who know less about the law than he does, and should he put "his foot" as it were upon them, and prevent useless repetition and waste of time, he is accused of prejudging the case before him, or favouring the other side. Should he assist in any way an undefended person who is unable, through lack of means, to obtain legal assistance, and who may be ignorant of legal technicalities, he is at once condemned. If he shows some little suaviter in modo to an attorney, who is conducting the case in a gentlemanly and proper way, he is hounded for using the fortiter in re to another who may be doing the reverse. Unsuccessful litigants go for him, and laugh at his decisions, and in the end, after years upon years of faithful and honest service, he is at last reported to head-quarters "as showing undisguised hatred—that he is insolent and snappish—that he unfairly favours others—that he gets into paroxysms of passions—forgets his position—that he is testy, crotchety, and offensive, especially towards the complainant—betrays infirmity of temper, and frightens litigants into compromises—and cannot restrain his passion—shows peevishness and irritability of manner, &c., &c." Such is the purport of a complaint made by a solicitor against a Police Magistrate in our district, and who has served with honor and diligence the State for a period of forty-four years, thirty-four years being in the position of Police Magistrate. We refer to Mr. W. S. Caswell, of Dubbo. The complaint is made by a Dubbo attorney; we would not refer to this matter were it not for the fact that such things are getting common amongst us, and we think undeservedly so. Only the other day the Police Magistrate of Cobar, Mr. Thomas M'Kell, an intelligent and recognised capable and just official, was subject to the same vindictiveness. His detractors could be counted upon the fingers of your hand, and led by an officer of the Court. Inquiries were held, and Mr. M'Kell only added to his already good reputation by explanations given, and we feel assured that Mr. Caswell can do the same. Mr. M'Kell was put to no end of annoyance, anxiety, and trouble, and the Minister of Justice to unnecessary inquiry and correspondence. At times there are serious matters requiring the intervention of the Minister, and complaints well founded and authenticated, and justice meted out, but in cases referred to the matters complained of are so frivolous that we trust little heed will be taken of them. Again, at Bourke, the Police Magistrate there, Mr. King, who is said to be a good officer, has to put up with no end of bitter sarcasm and abuse emanating from one or two jaundiced minds, and if sympathised with a vast amount of harm will ensue. The public have a right to protect capable officers against the spleen of a handful of prejudiced people, more especially against those officers who have their confidence, and by all means in their power showing unmistakably they do not sympathise with the childish attacks made upon old and tried servants. As far as Mr. Caswell is concerned, his long and faithful services, and without blemish, prove his worthiness to occupy the honorable position he does. If he has at any time been petulant to the complainant, we do not wonder, as we know many lawyers that would at times make a saint swear, let alone Mr. Caswell. It is a well-known fact that Mr. Caswell is considered in legal ability, at any rate as far as police business is concerned, equal to most of the attorneys practising in our immediate Police Courts, and we venture to assert no other attorney will endorse their brother's complaints. We also feel certain that his brother magistrates in the district will repudiate the attack upon him. As far as favouritism goes, we somehow fancy the reverse is the case, that, if anything, Mr. Caswell endeavours to steer very clear of this complaint. Where insolence is given and repeated one may expect retaliation, and hatred will surely be the outcome. We have not yet reached the days of the lion and the lamb squatting together. However, the hatred and insolence, if it does exist, is only between the two "Kilkennys," and should not be the means of disparaging the public service. Taking the whole of the attorney's complaints, we fail to see that they have anything to do with the public generally. The disagreement is merely a personal one, and the public have but little interest in it. In conclusion, we know this much that our worthy Police Magistrate is respected throughout the district, that his decisions have the confidence of all, that his urbanity is proverbial, and in intelligence in keeping with his high and responsible position, and it is to be hoped that the outcome of the complaint will be little smoke and no fire.

Dubbo Petty Sessions, 2nd December, 1890.

Before W. S. CASWELL, Esq., P.M.; A. M'CALLUM, Esq., J.P.

(1.) Rebecca Cook v. Mary Latham; (2.) Rebecca Cook v. Sarah Gallagher; (3.) Mary Latham v. Rebecca Cook.
1 and 2, assault; 3 insulting language.

Mr. Booth appears for Rebecca Cook.

Mr. Ryan appears for Mary Latham and Sarah Gallagher.

Rebecca Cook, on oath states: I am the wife of John Cook, of Minore, farmer; the information against Mary Latham was laid by me, and the information against Sarah Gallagher was laid by me; both parties are before the Court, and the particulars are true; Sarah Gallagher is a servant at my sister-in-law's, Mrs. Phillips, an hotelkeeper at Whyllandra; Mary Latham is a sister of Sarah Gallagher; my place is 6 miles from Whyllandra; I was at Whyllandra on 16th November, with my three daughters, at Mrs. Phillips'; I was sitting in the parlour, and had been there about two hours, when old Mrs. Gallagher and Mrs. Latham came; the old Mrs. Gallagher came in and shook hands with me, and my little girl Minnie got up to shake hands with Mrs. Gallagher, when she said she didn't want anything to do with a mischief-maker, and that if she took too much grog sometimes, and got drunk, she didn't wish children to talk about it; Mrs. Latham, one of the defendants, came in and said, "You did say my mother gets drunk, you little b—, and if you deny it I'll hit you in the mouth;" she then caught hold of my little girl and shook her; I told her not to do anything she would be sorry for; she then came to me and shut her fist and put it in my face against me, and called me a "b— r— old b—," and repeated it several times; she kept swinging her arms, and saying she would knock the b— puddings out of me; I was in bodily fear; I went out to the kitchen to my daughter Emily, and asked her to help me in with the horses, and we would go home; she was talking to Gallagher's two sons; I told her the two Gallagher girls were using bad language, and we would go home; Mrs. Latham then followed me out, and said, "What do you say, you b— old tub; I'll shove you through the wall," and shook her fist in my face; her brother, James Gallagher, held her back; she was sober; her brother then said, "Didn't I tell you two girls if you minded your own business you would be better thought of?" they then began abusing my husband, who was not present, and continued it until we were out of hearing; Sarah Gallagher said, "If you den't get off the place, I'll d— quick make you." She then put up her hand, as if she meant to hit me; she was quite close to me; she did not hit me; there were a good many people present; I did not make use of the language complained of by Mary Latham; the worst words I used were to tell her to "shut up"; Minnie did not offend her either.

By Mr. Ryan: If I had said a word I am sure Gallagher would have hit me; what I have said previously is true; this is the first row I have been in; I have not been in the Court before; I did not use insulting language or bad language; I only used what I told you; Gallagher was going about swearing; I don't know what she was doing; Emily did not tell me there was going to be a row till after we left the place; Sarah Gallagher put up her fist to me in the kitchen.

Emily Cook, on oath, states:—I am daughter of the last witness; I was at Whyllandra on the 16th November last; I was in the kitchen talking to Jim Gallagher, and I heard my mother come out, and say, "Emily, let's put the horses in the buggy, the Gallaghers are using some fearful talk inside"; Mary Latham came out just at that time and said, "What do you say, you b— old b—, I'll hit you in the face"; she put her hand on mother's shoulder, and would have hit her only for Jim Gallagher, who stopped her; he said to the two sisters, "Didn't I always tell you that if you minded your own b— business you would have been better thought of"; they then rowed with their brother; they said (alluding to mother and us), "You're the b— push who think yourselves too good to come to Whyllandra"; when we were going away they called my father all sorts of names, and I saw James Gallagher holding Mary Latham back; I see the words mentioned in the information laid by Mary Latham; my mother never used those words; I never heard her open her lips to them.

By Mr. Ryan:—We were at the hotel for about two hours before Mrs. Gallagher and her daughters came; I don't know what occurred in the front room before my mother came out.

Amy Cook, on oath, states:—I am a daughter of Rebecca Cook, and sister of the last witness; I was at Whyllandra on the 16th November last; I heard Sarah Gallagher abusing my father, and calling him names, and Mary Latham abusing my mother; they were both violent in their language and conduct; I can swear my mother never made use of any bad language, nor any of the words in the summons served upon her; I only heard her say, "Come, and let's get away as soon as we can, for the Gallaghers are using some fearful talk"; we went out, and the Gallaghers followed, using filthy language; I saw James Gallagher holding Mary Latham back from coming out to us.

By Mr. Ryan:—I don't know much about the matter; I saw Mary Latham with her fist in my mother's face.

Marshall Brown, on oath, states:—I know the parties in this case; I was at Whyllandra on the 16th November; I was away at the commencement of the row; when I came back I heard Sarah Gallagher abusing, Mr. Cook and Mary Latham abusing Mrs. Cook; Sarah Gallagher was violent in her language and conduct towards Mrs. Cook, and was quite close to her; she was not threatening in her actions while I was there; I did not hear Mrs. Cook use any bad language; before the row I heard from Sarah Gallagher that she was going to have a row with the Cooks, and show them up; this was about an hour before the row.

By Mr. Ryan:—I did not tell anyone that I knew very little about the matter.

FOR THE DEFENCE.

James Gallagher, on oath, states:—I am brother of the defendants; I was at Mrs. Phillips' on the 16th November last; I was there when the Cooks came; I was in the kitchen and heard a row inside the house; Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Latham were talking; I do not know what they were saying; Mrs. Cook came out soon after, when Sarah Gallagher was in the kitchen, and said, "The Gallaghers are b— rough inside;" my sister said, "I do not think they are any rougher than any one else;" Mrs. Cook said to me, "The girls are more disgrace to you than they should be, I compare them to nothing else but molls in the street;" I swear that Sarah Gallagher did not assault Mrs. Cook; I did not get hold of my sisters and hold them back, I told them to go away and have better sense and not to be barneying; I heard my sister call her an old tub.

By Mr. Booth:—On the 16th I was living at Phillips, and in Mrs. Phillips' employ; when away from Phillips I live with my mother; I was at Phillips' when Mrs. Latham appeared on the scene; I saw Minnie Cook there; she went inside; just at this time the row began; Mrs. Cook then came outside; I do not know why Mrs. Cook said my sisters were a disgrace to me.

Mary Latham, on oath, states: I am the wife of a farmer, residing at Minore; I was at Whyllandra on the 16th November last; I was in the kitchen with Emily Cook and my brother; Minnie Cook said, "Look at all the lies Mary Latham told on Mrs. Cook;" I told Mrs. Cook that she had told lies on me; she said, "No;" I had told lies on her, and she got up and went out and called me a b— r— lying b—; I then heard her say to my brother that "we were a disgrace to him, and that we were not better than molls off the town, and that I was a b— freckled-faced w—;" I did not put up my hands to Mrs. Cook; I did not call Mrs. Cook any names; I only said, "She was an old tub;" my sister did not assault Mrs. Cook; my brother told me to hold my tongue, that I ought to know what the Cooks were; Brown and Miss Cook were away.

By Mr. Booth:—This all occurred during half an hour; Mrs. Cook did not go away in a hurry; she started to row with my sister in the kitchen; my brother could not have helped hearing what Mrs. Cook said in the kitchen; very likely he did hear it; I got the summons in Mrs. Cook's case last Wednesday, and laid a summons against her on the Thursday, about a fortnight after it occurred; I did not strike Minnie Cook; Mrs. Cook got angry because I said I did not tell any lies about her; I did hear Mrs. Gallagher say to Minnie Cook, "If I do take a drop too much I don't want you or any youngsters to talk about it;" the little girl did not say anything, nor did I say anything to the little girl; she told my mother that I told a lot of lies about her mother; I did not put my hand on her; I don't use violent language; I was fined £5 for using threatening language towards Mrs. Cook's sister some time ago; I did not follow Mrs. Cook's buggy.

By Mr. Booth: I have been working for three weeks for Mrs. Phillips; Sarah Gallagher served the subpoena on me last night; I did not have any conversation with her about this case between the 16th November and yesterday; I heard some of the people say a policeman was at Whyllandra last Wednesday; Sarah Gallagher told me a few days ago that she had got a summons for assault; she did not say anything more to me about the matter; I saw James Gallagher at the hotel; Mrs. Cook was in the parlour when Sarah Gallagher and Mary Latham came; I heard Mrs. Cook speaking as she came out of the parlour; I was standing in the passage between the kitchen and the parlour; I heard what was said; I was not trying to hear; I never heard either Sarah Gallagher or Mary Latham say anything to Mrs. Cook, nor were they violent; Mrs. Cook left hurriedly, but I can't say what for.

By Mr. Booth: I told the men at tea that we had been summoned; Mr. Fox was not there; I did not speak to him about the case till I gave him his subpoena; I only told him I had a subpoena for him; Mrs. Latham came out about ten minutes after Mrs. Cook; I never spoke to Brown before Mrs. Cook came; what he says is untrue.

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.
A. M'CALLUM, J.P.

In the matter of favouring Mr. Booth, solicitor, and travelling with him to Peak Hill.

As to favouring Mr. Booth, I can only give it my emphatic denial. In this, as in other allegations, there is Mr. Ryan's bare assertions.

There are two notable instances to the contrary, one in a case in which I find Booth's client, Ryrie, the records of which are in the Justice Department; the other in Christensen's case, Christensen being Mr. Ryan's client, whilst Booth was solicitor for the prosecution.

Ryan makes it an offence against him that I wrote a petition for his client. I gave Ryan, a solicitor of the Supreme Court, a number of suggestions in writing in favour of his client. What does Ryan do? He divulges, in dishonour of his profession, his client's communication.

I deny that I called Ryan's witnesses false, and the same witnesses of Mr. Booth's truthful. That is Ryan's bare assertion. It is untrue. A witness may be false in one case and tell the truth in another.

I refer to the Magistrates' letters as to my general character for anything done here or at Peak Hill.

At Peak Hill I believe my judgments are generally appreciated. Three were appealed against and upheld in the District Court; another was upheld in both District and Supreme Courts. Mr. Ryan has never yet upset one of my decisions.

With regard to driving to Peak Hill with Mr. Booth, I went in Mr. Booth's buggy once, and he went in mine once. That is all I can recollect. Perhaps Mr. Ryan may have taken notes. On all other occasions we were in separate buggies. The roads were in a dangerous state, and travelling together was advisable for common safety. Mr. Ryan saw nothing wrong even in going with the same buggy with me; for, as he writes, he offered me a seat. I did not refuse it. He has put his own language down as mine. I simply hesitated, because I did not believe in Mr. Ryan's driving, or his horses; I hesitated, and Ryan used the words he attributed to me. I only answered "Perhaps so." Ryan was frightened to drive alone, and he did not attempt to do so. He went in the coach. It was notorious that I accomplished the trips safely, which which few did. At the time I did not know Mr. Booth wished to go with me. Ten minutes before I started I received a message asking me to take him; Ryan overtook us on the road and Booth went down in the coach that evening for business reasons. Ryan was in the coach with Booth, and should not forget. His statement that Booth went on in the morning in the coach, and that I drove in the buggy alone was untrue.

Ryan's statements as to my advice to litigants in their choice of lawyers are not true.

Ryan states that Booth and I went hand in hand. Again he states Booth has said to mutual friends he was surprised at Ryan's submitting to my cruel attacks. Which is true? (See Mr. Booth's letter, 28th March.)

Again, at page 7 of Ryan's complaints, he writes Booth and I were so closely bound in friendship that it became a bye-word, &c., &c. And yet a little lower in the same page he admits offering me a seat in his buggy, though an undisguised enemy.

As regards "Men of Mark" affair, I exercised my individual right to choose the man best fitted to conduct the defence, and public supported me—Booth had personal and useful knowledge.

With reference to the assertion I attach a letter from Mr. Ryrie. Mr. Ryrie is said to be the richest man in the district, and Mr. Booth's best client.

When writing to the Magistrates of the district, I thought it advisable to include Mr. Ryrie. I had some experience of him. He once prosecuted a man for malicious injury—Booth for Ryrie, Ryan for defence. I dismissed the case in favour of Ryan's client. Ryrie was prosecuted by the Stock Inspector once or more. I fined Mr. Ryrie. It was fifteen months before I could get the fine paid. The Minister for Mines interfered to stop proceedings. I refused to recognise the Minister, and the fine was paid. I mention this because there are records of the matter in the Justice Department, and because Booth was Ryrie's solicitor.

The following is a copy of Ryrie's letter:—

"W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M.

"Dear Sir,

"Weemabah, 14 March, 1891.

"I have your letter of 5th instant, but decline entering into the controversy.

"Yours truly,

"J. C. RYRIE."

"28 March, 1891.

"Dear Sir,

"In reply to your question, whether I ever stated to a mutual friend of mine and Mr. Ryan's, or to any other person 'that I would not submit to your cruel conduct towards him,' I beg to give such assertion my most unqualified denial.

"Yours, &c.,

"W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo."

"ROBERT BOOTH.

Cameron v. Wilkie.

THIS is a most extraordinary case; Ryan for Cameron; Booth for Wilkie. Cameron claimed a horse recently purchased by Wilkie, but which in fact was held by the police on the information of Cameron.

The evidence of Cameron was to the following effect:—"That one night he rode up to an Inn near Dubbo, that when he dismounted a man he had never seen before asked him for his horse to run another out of the Inn paddock. He did not know the man's name. He did not ask him. He did not ask the publican. He had heard his name from the police, but would not prosecute him. The man never returned, but the horse sold to Wilkie was his and he claimed it. The Bench, consisting of myself and Mr. M'Callum refused to make any order against Wilkie as they considered Cameron's story incredible.

Ryan gave notice of appeal, but never proceeded further.

In the matter of Adjournment of Court.

I GIVE this my unqualified denial. Mr. Ryan has not given any instances so that I cannot explain. No litigants ever had to pay costs through any conduct of mine.

I have no motive for hurrying business except for the public advantage.

It has been a common thing for Mr. Ryan to ask me to hurry the proceedings so that we could catch the coach.

I found he invariably took my hints that it depended on himself. He was more interested than I was. Everything ran smooth then.

Christensen's Case.

THE above case is a complete contradiction to Mr. Ryan's statement. Christensen was Mr. Ryan's client, Booth for the prosecution. Mr. Ryan has only named it to raise another issue. He knows well, I, in common with many others, believed the man innocent. Ryan knows I censured Booth for the extreme steps he took. Whatever I did for Christensen was done for Ryan, though in this matter Ryan was again untruthful.

I often gave condensed reports of important cases to prevent garbled statements appearing in the local papers. I did not put in my report that the magistrates would have dismissed the case against Christensen had not Ryan advised his client to reserve his defence. The following are the words as well as I can recollect, "Whatever course the magistrates intended to take was settled by the accused when called on for his statement, saying (presumably on his solicitor's advice) 'I reserve my defence.'"

Re Frightening Litigants.

THE only matter brought forward under this head is Mr. Lord's case, made use of at Warren by the newspaper with the sole object of forcing the Department to appoint a Police Magistrate at that place.

I did not attempt to frighten Mr. Lord. I told that gentleman I would give judgement on his own bare statement.

Mr. Fitzgerald, solicitor for the Mines Department, was the person who frightened Mr. Lord. After judgment was entered in the first case Mr. Lord said, "We'll appeal." Mr. Fitzgerald immediately said, "Well, if you do not submit to the penalty I will go on with the second case," and Mr. Lord then withdrew his remarks, and the second case was withdrawn. I consider the article in the Warren paper highly complimentary except as regards Lord's case, and I hold Mr. Lord's repudiation of the article in a private letter.

In the matter of Mallarkey v. Collon.

WAGES CASE AT NYNGAN.

Before W. S. CASWELL, P.M., and J. PRINCE, J.P.

MR. BOOTH for complainant. The merits of the case were unquestionable, but defendant did not appear, and the only proof of service of summons was an affidavit by a constable at Nymagee. The constable should have been present (a great inconvenience against which police authorities object). I said to Booth, "We cannot proceed." Booth thought we could. I said, "You know I have often ruled against Ryan on this head." Booth said, "I think you are wrong." I said, "I do not want a prohibition; I have only had one in forty years." He said, "We will take the responsibility." After some demur, and after assuring the complainant (who joined in the request for an order) of the danger, I said, after a conference with Mr. Prince, "You might take the order, Mr. Booth, and a prohibition too."

Mr. Ryan obtained his information from me. He concedes that I related these facts to him. I said, "Booth is certain to have a prohibition if defendant seeks it." I thought, however, the latter only fought for delay. In the face of two lawyers telling me I was wrong, it was not strange to allow them to gain experience, and Ryan should not complain; it was at Booth's expense. I certainly thought, as the merits of the case were unquestionable, and the service of the summons clear, our order would not have been disputed.

Ryan ignores Mr. Prince, J.P., and his version of the matter is false.

In the matter of costs, and especially in Barton's case.

I ATTACH copies of depositions in two cases against Barton, one tried by me in 1889, the other tried before three Justices in 1890.

Mr. Ryan was refused costs in both cases, although successful. I refused costs because Mr. Barton was more sinned against than sinning, as the two cases were parallel. The magistrates adopted the same course.

It is generally a fine point where costs are refused to the successful party, and Judges of the Supreme Court do it frequently. They may be refused where cases are paltry, or where a successful party is equally in fault, or when defendants, though in the right (as Barton was), do not object to an order. Barton was the person who should have complained of the Court in this case. It is no personal wrong to the lawyer when he is refused costs. His fee should be secure, unless conducting a speculative case.

It is untrue that Mr. Booth always gets his costs, as Mr. Ryan indicates. The number of instances in which a lawyer is refused costs greatly depends on himself. If conscientious and experienced he will only conduct cases of a righteous nature, such as appear to deserve support. If he is needy and unscrupulous, ignorant or inexperienced, I think the Minister will admit that the percentage of refusals of costs may be large. I can only give a general denial to Mr. Ryan's allegations in this matter, except in Barton's case.

I have searched the records for the years 1888, 1889, and 1890, and so far as I can ascertain I refused Mr. Ryan costs three times when he gained his cases. One was an 8s. case. Other magistrates have, however, during the same three years, refused him costs in winning cases five times.

I refused Booth once.

Dear Sir,

Dubbo, 16 March, 1891.

Your letter of the 5th instant, setting forth a number of complaints that you say have been preferred against you by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, of this town, only came to hand to-day.

I have not been a regular attendant at the Court-house, and know nothing of what has occurred between you and Ryan, but I can certainly state that I have not noticed that you have shown fear or favour to anyone coming before you, either as a solicitor or in any other capacity. I do not believe you could act insolently to anyone.

I have frequently heard the opinion expressed by solicitors (putting Mr. Booth out of the question) that you have a thorough knowledge of the law, and that you are very unlikely to make any errors in that respect.

It will perhaps be within your memory that I had a case under the "Masters' and Servants' Act" against one David Gibson, which was tried before you. In that case Gibson was summoned by me for breach of agreement, and was defended by Mr. Ryan. Gibson also summoned me for wages due, which I had neither disputed nor refused to pay. Gibson's version of the agreement (which was a verbal one) was not the same as mine exactly, and, when asked to give his character, I said that he was a very industrious, sober, and honest lad. I think on this account you considered there was some misunderstanding on his part, and therefore refused to punish him; but I had to pay all the costs of the Court, i.e., his costs of summons, which was really not necessary; but you refused professional costs to Mr. Ryan, which, however, in that case could not have affected him, as Gibson was well able to pay his fees. However, my reason for drawing your attention to this case, is that it happened that I had another case somewhat similar before the Court in your absence, which was heard by three Magistrates—Mr. Dulhunty, Mr. Samuels, and Mr. Paul, of Orange; only that, in the latter case, a person summoned me for wages on a higher scale than agreed upon. The decision was then exactly similar to that given by you, so far as Mr. Ryan was concerned, because I had to pay costs of Court, unfairly as in the former case, I thought, but the plaintiff had to pay his own lawyer. I may mention that these are the only two cases that I have ever had in a Police Court during a residence here of some eighteen years, and that in neither case did I consider the assistance of a solicitor necessary.

Being a surveyor in this district, over which you as Police Magistrate preside, I naturally travel over much of the same ground as yourself, and visit most, in fact, all, of the same towns, and I can state that I have never heard your character as a gentleman, your conduct on the Bench, or your reputation as a Magistrate, so much as questioned.

Yours, &c.,

GIBSON v. BARTON—Wages.

Mr. Ryan appears for Gibson.

Edward Hugh Barton states:—I am a surveyor, residing near Dubbo; I engaged the defendant as a general servant by verbal agreement; milking, cleaning boots and knives, and harvesting were specially mentioned; I engaged him at the rate of wages at £40 a year on the 15th July; I said I wanted a man on whom I could rely to stay; that I had a man at 12s. a week, but I was not dissatisfied with him, but he was not up to the work; he saw me on the 16th July, when he said he accepted my terms, and would stop till Christmas time; I said I wanted him specially for harvesting; he came to work on the 18th July, and about the 25th September he came to me and said he was going, and I had better get another man; I told him that he could not go; he said he would go whether I liked it or not; I said if he did I would summon him; I afterwards said, "If you can get another man to do your work you can go;" I have not since got a man to suit me; on the 4th October he milked the cows and left.

By Mr. Ryan: I said, "If you can get another man in your place at the same wages you can go;" a man did come, but I did not take him on; he came and offered himself as a groom; I afterwards took him into my employ a week, and he didn't suit, so I let him go; as to the wages alleged to be owing by me to Gibson, I say that £8 9s. 1½d. is owing to him for eleven weeks, less £6 9s. 1½d. advanced.

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

David Gibson, on oath, states:—I laid an information for wages against Mr. Barton, claiming £2 15s. 8d. from 17th July to 5th October, 1889; I took a note of the date; I started, and left off on Saturday, the 5th October; I agreed with Mr. Barton, but at no specified wages; I said I would wait till Christmas; I said I would not leave while he was away on a trip; he went away on a trip, and came back ten days before I left; I then said, "You can get a man in my place in a week, as I am going;" he said, "You can't go;" he afterwards said, "You get a man in your place, and you can go at any time;" I came into Dubbo that night (nine days before I left), and got a man sent out; when he went out Mr. Barton would not take him on; Mr. Barton came to me, and asked me why I would not go on; I said because I had sent a man out as arranged, and he would not take him on; I then left.

By Mr. Barton: I started work at noon on a Thursday, and left on a Saturday morning; I came into town on Saturday, and stayed in town that day and Sunday; you said to me, "If you get a man in my place you can go;" you said, "I will not put any man on who will not stop while I am away; I want a man who can look after my harvesting-machine."

Burgess v. Barton ; wages.

Mr. Ryan appears for complainants.

John Burgess, on oath, states :—The information just read is true, and was laid by me ; I went into Mr. Barton's employ on the 13th November last ; I saw Mrs. Barton and agreed with her to take a man's place as farm labourer at 4s. or 5s. a week (day ?) making hay ; I saw Mr. Barton afterwards, and I told him what had occurred ; he told me to go out ; I went to work, and did the work the other man had done, and other work about the place for twenty-one days, working about till nine o'clock at night sometimes ; I left because Mr. Barton told me I could go as soon as I liked ; I went away without being settled with ; he made me no offer of payment ; some days afterwards I saw Mr. Barton and he offered Mr. Ryan £1 a week ; I left his employ one month to-day, and claim £1 damages and twenty-one days at 5s. a day.

By Mr. Barton : Mrs. Barton did not engage me ; I saw you on the road afterwards ; Mrs. Barton told me the wages the man who left was getting ; Cross also told me what wages were being given to the man ; I saw you at the house ; you told me on the road that if I came into town next day you would arrange about engaging me ; I was in your employ several months ago at £1 a week ; you did not say anything about wages ; when I hired you engaged me to take the other man's place ; a man who was assisting me was getting 5s. a day, and I did a lot more work than he did ; I believe Little Jack heard you tell me to go.

JOHN BURGESS.

E. H. Barton, on oath, states :—I reside at Dubbo, and am a surveyor ; I was returning home after being absent some weeks, and met complainant coming away from my place ; he said he had seen Mrs. Barton, who informed him that I would be home the following day ; he said he had heard I wanted a man ; I told him I could not engage him then ; I did not know what had been going on, but if he came into the Land Court next day I would attend to him ; when I got home I found a man was leaving who was working about the place and getting in hay at £1 a week ; I explained to complainant the nature of the work he would have to do, viz., the same class of work he had been doing before he agreed to take the place, and brought his swag out and agreed to work ; while I was engaged hay-making I used to engage men by the day ; the man who was going away was engaged by the week and stayed on for months ; Burgess was engaged similarly, and not at 5s. a day ; on the last Saturday night Burgess worked I went down to the river and saw him digging worms for fishing ; I told him to go and milk the cows ; he growled a bit and said I was very hard upon him ; next morning the cows were not milked ; I then told him to get the horse, and he said he would not ; he then claimed his wages, and I told him he could get them if he went to work ; I afterwards called in Mr. Ryan's office and wrote a note stating I would pay Burgess £1 a week.

By Mr. Ryan : The memo. produced is the one ; I did not see Mr. Ryan for a week ; I did not keep the complainant waiting for his money to annoy him ; Cross, the man who left, had to milk and do the general work about the place for £1 a week ; Burgess did not work till nine at night ; Cross did more work than he did.

Departure from Moruya of Mr. W. S. Caswell, Police Magistrate.

On the 30th of July last, the day of the final departure from Moruya of the Police Magistrate and his family, they were accompanied on their route as far as the top of Polwombra Mountain, several miles on the road to Bateman Bay, by a numerous cavalcade of most of the principal inhabitants of Moruya and its neighbourhood. Mr. Caswell had, a few evenings before, been presented by Mr. W. T. Flanagan, J.P., on behalf of the district, and in presence of many of its influential residents, with a purse containing 150 sovereigns and the accompanying address, as a substantial token of the esteem in which he was held. He had also, on the day previous to the presentation, been entertained by the magistrates of the district with a farewell dinner.

Address to William Stewart Caswell, Esq., Police Magistrate, Moruya.

We, the undersigned, inhabitants and former residents of the district of Moruya, respectfully present you with this address on the occasion of your departure from Moruya after an official residence of more than twenty-five years, during which long period your active, unflinching exercise of your magisterial duties, your personal worth, and your public exertions as a resident in promoting the welfare of the district, merit our best esteem and respect.

It is to be regretted that many who have known your career are now either no more, or have removed to other parts ; amongst the former T. S. Mort and H. V. Evans, Esqs., were included in the number of your warmest admirers ; and indeed, at the time of their lamented deaths, they were actively promoting the formation of a substantial recognition of your services.

In

In wishing you God speed, we much regret your departure from amongst us; but trust that, in your fresh sphere of action, both Mrs. Caswell and yourself will make many new friends, and that your lives will be long and happy. Assuring you that it will gratify us to hear of your future welfare,

We are, Dear Sir,
Your sincere well-wishers,

To W. T. Collett, Esq., J.P., Mungerarie; W. T. Flanagan, Esq., J.P., Mullendera; and the other subscribers to the above address,—

Gentlemen,

July, 1878.

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your very kind address, on the occasion of my departure from Moruya. I need hardly assure you it is with feelings of most painful regret that Mrs. Caswell and myself tear ourselves away from a place in which we have so many friends, in which all our children were born, and which has been connected with our dearest associations for more than a quarter of a century.

It is, indeed, most gratifying to find that so large a number recognise my long services in such flattering terms; and although it is almost impossible but that, in discharging the various and anxious duties attaching to a police magistrate's office for so many years, I have inadvertently given offence to some, I assure you every thought was directed to the conscientious discharge of my duties; and I trust, therefore, any I may have unintentionally wronged will attribute it to the imperfection of my judgment, rather than to any unrighteous motives.

I, more than you, have to deplore the untimely deaths of Mr. T. S. Mort and Mr. Evans. It is not the least gratifying part of your address that you consider I had and deserved the support of such men.

Please accept the heartfelt thanks of myself and family for your entire support, and the warm interest you have evinced in my welfare; and be assured that should it be our good fortune to make new friends where Providence may lead us, the old and tried ones will never be effaced from our dearest memories.

Wishing each and all of you health and prosperity,

Believe me,

Ever faithfully yours,

W. STEWART CASWELL.

FAREWELL TO MR. CASWELL.

THE members of the Wellington Bench met on Friday last for the purpose of presenting an address and bidding farewell to Mr. W. S. Caswell, P.M.

Mr. Lambert, J.P., apologised for the unavoidable absence of Mr. D. A. Ferguson and Dr. Rygate, J.'sP.

Mr. R. T. B. Gaden, J.P., in a few appropriate words, introduced the subject of the meeting, and then read the following address:—

Wellington, 28 March, 1884.

To W. Stewart Caswell, Esq., Police Magistrate, Wellington,—

Dear Sir,

We, the undersigned, Magistrates of the Wellington Bench, avail ourselves of the opportunity of your presiding here for the last time, to convey to you our hearty congratulations upon your being selected for a more extended sphere of usefulness.

We rejoice that your long experience and great knowledge of the duties of your office have been recognised by the Government. While we regret that we shall no longer benefit by those special qualifications which have deservedly gained for you promotion.

Your knowledge of the law, your patient and careful administration of the same, and the courtesy with which you have invariably received any difference of opinion from your brother magistrates, have won from us a feeling that merges into personal regard, and at the same time we are proud to testify that your impartiality has been acknowledged by all those whose business brought them in front of the justice seat.

We have derived many advantages from your sojourn amongst us, apart from the administration of justice, and we sincerely trust that your future career will be in the "ways of pleasantness," and that a still higher position will crown your labours.

Wishing yourself and family all happiness and prosperity, we are, dear sir, yours faithfully,

R. T. B. GADEN, J.P.
E. A. SMITH, J.P.
FRED. MARSH, J.P.
W. P. PRIDHAM, J.P.
H. J. LAMBERT, J.P.
ROBT. RYGATE, J.P.
C. W. ASHE, J.P.
D. A. FERGUSON, J.P., M.L.A.

Mr. Caswell said he believed he had won the confidence of the members of the Bench, but did not think he deserved the complimentary remarks so handsomely made in the address just read. He had been six years among them and was happy to say that nothing had occurred to mar the cordiality spoken of. The warm and hearty support he had received had helped him to carry out the duties of his office. He had much to thank them for, and also the solicitors attending the Court, for their marked courtesy and consideration in all matters. It was only right to refer to Mr. Chauncey, who had been of great assistance to him, and whose departure he very much regretted. And there was their old friend Mr. Johnson, who had gone to another world. To the junior members who had taken the places of those who had left he was also much indebted, and the civility and attention of the police officers had much lightened his work. Last, not least, Mr. Marsh had acted with him in a most cordial manner, and he congratulated that gentleman on his promotion to his seat, and was certain Mr. Marsh would receive the support of the magistrates, solicitors, and police. The Bench had been treated by the Press with the greatest consideration, and thanks were due to Mr. Porter for the accurate reports given, and for the manner in which he had acted towards the Bench, as well as in all matters connected with the district.

Mr. Caswell concluded a very appropriate and feeling speech by saying the address would be invaluable to him, and thanking the Bench most heartily for it.

Mr. F. Marsh expressed his thanks to Mr. Caswell for the kindness and consideration with which he (Mr. Marsh) had been treated, and for the large amount of assistance, clerical and otherwise. He should most probably take Mr. Caswell's place as Police Magistrate, and hoped that at the end of a few years he would deserve as much praise as Mr. Caswell did now.

Mr. Henry Lovibond, solicitor, said:—In the absence of Mr. James, the senior member of the legal profession of this town, who, I was given to understand, would have been present to-day, and to whose remarks anything I might have to say would have been subservient, I must make a few remarks on the eve of your departure and upon the occasion of your presiding for the last time in this Court. We all feel, both in and out of the profession, that it is not a pleasant thing at any time or under any circumstance, to be brought up before a magistrate, but if one is so brought up, one likes it to be before a man who is competent to do his duty, and who does justice; and I am confident, that in you, sir, every man must feel, even if a fine is inflicted, or a committal takes place, it is because he deserves it. To the legal profession generally, and to those outside, whose leisure will afford time to attend occasionally at this Court and witness the manner in which justice has been dispensed by you, I need say nothing. To others, whose time is so occupied that from the papers and hearsay only, can they gather knowledge of the proceedings of this Court, over which you have so ably presided, I can with security rest for a favourable verdict. In conclusion, whilst deeply regretting your loss, I have to sincerely thank you for your great courtesy, and for the valuable assistance rendered to me personally, as a new comer, in police matters, and wish you a continuation of good health and the same amount of cordiality on the scene of your future labours between yourself and the profession as exists between us at present.

Sergeant Chiplin expressed his heartfelt regret for Mr. Caswell's departure, but congratulated him on his promotion.

Mr. Caswell expressed his respect for Sergeant Chiplin's efficiency, and thanked him for his kind remarks.

Mr. Porter said he was sorry Mr. Caswell was going away, and thanked him for his valuable assistance in many ways.

Wellington Gazette, Saturday, 31st May, 1884.

CASWELL TESTIMONIAL.

THE presentation of a solid silver tea service to Mr. W. S. Caswell, late Police Magistrate for Wellington, was made at "Moss' Hotel," on Thursday night week. About twenty gentlemen were present. The Mayor, Mr. T. Quirk, was voted to the Chair.

The Mayor said they had met there this evening to present to their late Police Magistrate, on his departure to another district, a small token of their esteem. [He here read a letter from Mr. F. March, Police Magistrate, regretting his absence on the ground that he had been noticed to be at Ironbarks at 10 o'clock next morning, and had to leave by train overnight. The Mayor also said Mr. Ferguson, M.P., was unavoidably absent, being then in Sydney. He had been requested by Mr. Ferguson, in case the presentation should be made previous to his return, to apologise for his non-attendance.] Referring again to the subject now before the meeting, the Mayor said the present they were about to make to Mr. Caswell was a very beautiful one, the inscription upon the articles was as follows:—"From the friends of William Stewart Caswell, Police Magistrate, upon his departure from Wellington, N.S.W." Mr. Caswell had proved himself a worthy member of society, and during his residence in Wellington had tried to do as much good as he could, and had succeeded to a considerable extent. Among other things, he was the first to endeavour to get a trial survey for a main trunk line from the northern railway to Victoria, via Wellington and Forbes. A portion of that survey had been completed, and found to be very favourable country, and in a few years we shall have practical proof of Mr. Caswell's labours. There must be a beginning to everything. Mr. Caswell's sympathies, though now in Dubbo, would doubtless remain with Wellington. A Police Magistrate had a difficult position to fulfil, for a man trying to please everybody might please nobody, and like the man in the fable, lose his donkey at last. As far as lay in mortal man, Mr. Caswell had carried out his duties to the satisfaction of everyone, and in an honest manner. He had a will of his own certainly, and, having formed an idea, would not change unless shown he was wrong; but firmness was a good trait. He was always gentlemanly and painstaking, humble and accessible, a most desirable citizen, and one whose departure was much to be regretted. On behalf of Mr. Caswell's friends, he had much pleasure in handing him the gift, which would no doubt be an heirloom in his family. It was not the value of the gift, but the will with which it was given. He hoped Mr. Caswell would live long to use the articles now presented.

Champagne having been uncorked, the health of Mr. Caswell was drunk with three times three and musical honors.

Mr. Caswell said he ought to have little difficulty in acknowledging and returning thanks for the present made him by so many kind friends, and for the eulogistic terms in which the Mayor had spoken of him. He might say that, though he

he might not deserve those praises, he had conscientiously tried to do so. It was truly said that the position of a Police Magistrate was a most difficult one, and a Police Magistrate might create difficulties for himself, but through the courtesy of the Magistrates, and the help they had given, his difficulties had been of small importance. He was an old public servant, and had been in many districts, but there was no place he had left with more regret than Wellington. Sometimes he thought he had done a foolish thing by leaving, but after deep consideration he had thought it was for the better. People sometimes cling too much to their homes. A little of the adventurous spirit was good in public officers as in other people. It was thirty-seven years since he had left his father's house, and his lot had fallen in many pleasant places. He repeated there was no place he regretted leaving more than Wellington. In no place had he left warmer friends. It had always been his desire to work for the good of the community; he had done all he could to further this district, and hoped his efforts would tend to their advantage. He had a great idea of the future of Wellington. It was impossible to look at it without sanguine views of its future prosperity. He did not think any pecuniary advantage would compensate him for leaving here, but he was getting a good age, and it was his duty to try and better himself before becoming too old to work. At Dubbo he had to work harder than he ever did in his life. He could not carry it on for any length of time, and should not try to do so. He thanked the magistrates of the district for their support, and was glad to receive intimations from them and from others in the district that his good intentions had been appreciated. He thanked them for their golden present—for he considered it such—for the certificate of kind feeling towards him, which would be highly appreciated by his wife and family more than any other present they could give. It would be an heirloom, and as he now had grandchildren, he felt the race was not likely to run out.

Mr. L. Mason apologised for the absence of Dr. Rygate, who had been present, but had received a sick call.

Mr. Caswell said he had a toast to propose, one which gave him great pleasure, and in which they would heartily join. It was the health of their worthy Mayor, with which they might couple the town and district of Wellington. He had particular pleasure in proposing Mr. Quirk's health, for he was an active, zealous, and shrewd public officer, who could further the interests of the district as well as any man in it. He (Mr. Caswell) might be called the God-father of the Municipality, for when he first came here he had to almost decide whether there should be a municipality or not. His sympathies had gone with the movement; he had been the first returning officer, and was satisfied the best man had gone to the head of the poll, namely, their present Mayor, Mr. Quirk. Since then he had been elected three times, and was now in his second term of office as Mayor. He proposed the toast be drunk with three times three.

The toast was drunk as proposed.

The Mayor said he must certainly thank them for the kind manner in which his health had been proposed and drunk. He always felt that he was a humble individual, and never aspired to anything beyond his sphere. But he always did the best he could, not to further his own position, but to assist the district and to further its progress. He had a considerable stake in the district, had been here since 1860, and was probably as well known as any other man. All he had in the world was centred here—his children were born and educated here, and he felt grateful to the district for his prosperity. They had a grand district, and he felt that the municipality was forwarding the best interests of both the town and district. They were getting well-made roads and streets, and had done well with a limited income. Five years ago there were stumps and trees in the streets, which had all been cleared away, and the foundation had been laid for sound improvements. They were now introducing a free public library, which would be open to all, and which was a want very much felt. Young men would have an opportunity of improving their minds, and redeeming themselves from roving habits, caused by the want of some such institution. He himself was a busy man, working from 6 in the morning till from 9 to 10 at night; but having accepted the office of Mayor he would do his best to fulfil that position with credit to himself. His associates, he was proud to say, were a body of men it was a pleasure to be identified with. They were all imbued with same ideas, namely, the prosperity of the town and district of Wellington. When in Sydney lately, forming one of a deputation to the Colonial Secretary upon the question of endowment, the Minister had said he hoped before Parliament closed this session a Local Government Bill would be passed. If so, a Bill of this description would place country municipalities in far better positions, and make them more independent. The roads would be under their own supervision, and they would have an extended revenue. If the Bill were passed the district would go ahead. We had one of the grandest climates in the Colony, for during the last thirteen years there never had been a failure of the wheat crop, and the average yield per acre would bear comparison with any other district in the Colony. We had also a magnificent pastoral country of large area. The land and climate could not be better in the world, and with willing hands, splendid water, an intelligent rising generation, a liberal Government, and good laws, Wellington should be one of the foremost districts in the Colony. (Hear, hear.)

Alderman Pridham also responded, endorsing all the Mayor had said, and expressing the opinion that Mr. Quirk was one of the best men in Australia for the position he held. Under him this scattered town would show other municipalities what could be done. With regard to the district, he was afraid to expatiate upon that for fear of being thought enthusiastic.

Alderman O'Shea also responded.

The Mayor then proposed the health of Mr. Gaden and the other magistrates of the Wellington bench, which was drunk with all honors.

Mr. R. T. B. Gaden said as the senior magistrate in Wellington, and one of the oldest of the Western Districts, he had the honor to return thanks both for himself and the Bench. He could claim that he had sat on nearly every Bench in the Colony, but he had never sat with a better Police Magistrate, and had never got on better with one than with Mr. Caswell. Few Benches could boast that they had been presided over for so long a time as he had in Wellington without more disappointment and with more unanimity and good feeling. When he (Mr. Gaden) accepted the Commission of the Peace he had done so determined to dispense justice tempered with mercy to the best of his ability. If he had at any time not done so, it was an error in judgment, and nothing else. (Applause.)

Mr. Lambert, J. P., also responded, and concluded by proposing the health of Mr. Chrystal, postmaster.

Mr. Chrystal responded, and proposed the health of the "Legal Profession, coupled with the name of Mr. Lovibond."

Mr. Lovibond responded.

Alderman Wildie proposed the health of the Council Clerk.

Mr. Forwood responded.

The Mayor proposed "Our Bankers," coupled with the names of Mr. Bayley and the memory of Mr. Barton.

Mr. Bayley responded.

Mr. Gaden proposed the health of the new Police Magistrate for Wellington, Mr. F. Marsh. They would all join in drinking this toast, as they would agree with him that Mr. Marsh had worthily filled the gap made by Mr. Caswell's removal; and though Mr. Marsh benefited by that removal no one more regretted it.

The toast having been drunk in the usual manner, Alderman Pridham, as a neighbour, responded. He knew perhaps more than others what an estimable gentleman Mr. Marsh was, and he thought it a graceful and proper act on the part of the Government to promote an old and valued public servant to the highest position they could give. The more he knew Mr. Marsh the more he respected him, and this was perhaps the highest praise one could give to his fellow man.

Mr. R. A. Steace eulogised Mr. Marsh's character.

The Mayor endorsed the remarks of both the previous speakers.

"The Host and Hostess" were then proposed.

Mr. Moss responded.

The Mayor then proposed the health of the Queen, and called upon them as loyal and dutiful subjects to drink the toast in a cordial manner.

The toast was drunk with cheers and the singing of "God save the Queen."

The official business of the evening was thus concluded, but several other toasts were afterwards drunk, among them "The Ladies," to which Alderman O'Shea responded in a very laughable manner.

The "Commercial Interest," proposed by Mr. Lambert, coupled with the name of Mr. Mason.

Mr. Mason and Alderman Wildie responded.

The meeting was wound up with "Should old acquaintance be forgot."

A few illustrations of the kind of cases brought by Mr. Ryan in the Dubbo Police Court, and the manner in which they are conducted.

SOME few years ago a man, whose name I forget, lodged a case against his employer for non-payment of wages. Mr. Ryan for complainant, Mr. Booth for defendant.

Mr. Booth at the start said to Mr. Ryan, "You know you have no case." Ryan was very defiant, Mr. Booth produced Ryan's letter, giving him notice in another matter that the employer was insolvent. Ryan knew that defendant was insolvent, and should not have brought the case into Court.

About three years ago another man, at Mr. Ryan's instance, summoned an employer for wages. I told Mr. Ryan that, as the work had been performed, and the employer lived nearest to the Police Court at Dandaloo, his client was bound under the "Masters' and Servants' Act" to sue there. Ryan then asked when I would attend Dandaloo. I said on such a day, if sent for. He said he would take out a summons for that day. The evening preceding the day fixed I telegraphed to the clerk, and was informed that there were no cases. Ryan had not informed the Clerk of Petty Sessions, and the complainant (Mr. Ryan's client) had his trip for nothing. I arranged for another day. I went, and, as the man had no means of conveyance, although he was Ryan's client, I drove him to Dandaloo in my buggy, there and back, 56 miles. When I opened the Court I found the employer had been summoned for that month in the ensuing year. The man never got one penny of his wages.

Recently proceedings were initiated by Mr. Ryan on behalf of T. C. Anderson and Alfred Seeley against one Oldfield for wages. On the 4th January last, the day fixed for the hearing, Mr. Ryan and his two clients attended the Court, but there was no proof of service of summonses, and the cases were postponed until 3rd (? 23rd) January; again there was no proof of service of summons. On the 17th February I was in Court, and found that Ryan had taken out fresh summons, which had been served on Oldfield by another constable at Nyngan, and that constable was not present. I found the parties resided 60 miles from Dubbo, and that Gilgandra was the nearest Court; though Oldfield's family resided at Dubbo, he lived at Nyngan. Mrs. Anderson and her son had ridden 360 miles on the cases. That Mrs. Anderson was not the complainant, and that her husband, who had died after lodging his complaint, was the suitor. Mr. Ryan's clerk only was present in Court. Although I am said to have persecuted Ryan, I have always allowed his articulated clerk to appear for him.

I found Anderson's widow (presented to me by Ryan) had not administered to the estate, and could not legally recover. I had to inform her that she had no standing in my Court, notwithstanding her 360 miles travel. I then took Seeley's evidence, to save him another 120 miles' ride, and adjourned the Court to 5 p.m. next day for the constable's evidence. On that day the constable did not arrive, but the defendant did, and swore he was only agent for one Bellfield, and that he was not the employer. Ryan's clerk asked for another adjournment, so that he could prove Oldfield's evidence false. On the 21st February Ryan himself withdrew the case.

On the 17th February last Ryan conducted a case, Pengelly v. Plummer, in which the latter was charged with inciting the servant of the latter (? former) to desert. All the evidence was that Plummer told a man to go and tell Pengelly's assistant his mother wanted him.

Mr. R. J. J. Ryan to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 1 April, 1891.

I have the honor to ask when I may expect a definite answer to my various letters to you, re holding an inquiry into my complaint against Mr. Caswell? I wish to point out that lapse of time will be a good excuse for any person present at the Court on the occasion particularly referred to, who wishes to shield the Police Magistrate, and I also wish to state that the delay in holding the inquiry as asked for is calculated to impress on the public mind the fact that Mr. Caswell's conduct has been condoned, and that, in his administration of justice there is no limit to his eccentricities.

I have, &c.,

R. J. J. RYAN.

Submitted in connection with report of Police Magistrate placed before Minister to-day.—A.C.F., 2/4/91.

The Police Magistrate at Dubbo to The Under Secretary for Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 11 April, 1891.

Although, perhaps, rather unnecessary, I do myself the honor to enclose three letters from magistrates with whom I have sat, bearing testimony to their experience of my character, documents which should be placed amongst the records against Mr. Ryan's complaint.

I have, &c.,

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

Submitted, in reference to previous papers now before Minister.—A.C.F., 15/4/91.

[Enclosures.]

Dear Sir,

Cumbooglecumbong, Dubbo, 30 March, 1891.

I must apologise for what you must think unwarrantable discourtesy on my part in not answering your letter of the 5th instant. I can assure you I sincerely regret my negligence. In reference to the charges made by the solicitor you mention, all I can say is, that they must be the creatures of that gentleman's imagination, as your general repute is quite contrary thereto. I have always heard you spoken of as a most fair and impartial magistrate.

I am, &c.,

W. Stewart Caswell, Esq., P.M.

HARRY SMITH.

Dear Sir,

Glenariffe, Byerock, 9 April, 1891.

Touching Mr. R. J. J. Ryan's complaints against you, I am most happy to say that, having had many opportunities of acting with you on the Bench at Byerock, I have come to the conclusion that you possessed in an eminent degree the very opposite qualities to what Mr. Ryan complains of. I have always looked up to you as having a superior knowledge of the routine of Police Court business, being painstaking, patient, and considerate in the discharge of your duties, worthily upholding the dignity and credit of the Bench by dealing out impartial justice.

I remain, Dear Sir,

Yours truly,

W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M., Dubbo.

JNO. LITTLE.

Dear Sir,

"Carthona," Dubbo, 23 March, 1891.

In reply to your letter dated 5th March, 1891, I beg to state the contents therein referring to the charges made by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, against you, have surprised me very much, and I could not think for a moment that there was a man capable of making such uncalculated accusations against you.

During the time I have known you, which is many years, and also for a length of time before you were appointed to the position you hold here, you were then Police Magistrate at Wellington, and you were always spoken of in the highest terms by every one, and you always bore the character of being a good Magistrate, and one that did his duty fearlessly without favour, and gave general satisfaction to everyone.

I have also, as a member of the Local Land Board, had an opportunity of judging of your actions in Court, as I sat with you for some time while you were acting Chairman of the Land Board in this district, and no one could have treated the public or solicitors with more consideration than you did, at the same time upholding the dignity of the Board, which is so necessary in these days, where solicitors and others are in the habit of going beyond the courtesy extended to them.

I have also sat with you in the Police Courts at Nyngan, Warren, and Dubbo, and except the occasion mentioned by Mr. Ryan which is untrue, I have never heard or seen anything in your conduct as Police Magistrate that would call for such remarks as stated in your letter.

As regards your favouring Mr. Booth, that charge is altogether untrue, as the only cases in which you differed from me on the Bench was, in the cases Queen v. Judici (?), and the Queen v. Zuiks (?) in each case Mr. Booth appeared for the defendants, you being opposed to the case being decided in favour of the defendants and consequently opposed to Mr. Booth, had you have favoured him, seeing that I was for the defendants, you could have gone with me, as it was, the case was dismissed and the other fell through, you being the dissenting Magistrate.

I regret deeply that a gentleman holding the position you do, should be put to the inconvenience you have been, by having to refute the unjust accusations made against you.

I am, &c.,
DANIEL SOANE, J. P.,
Member of the Local Land Board at Dubbo.

No. 41.

Minute of the Minister of Justice.

Subject:—Re complaints made by Mr. R. J. J. Ryan, solicitor, Dubbo, against Mr. W. S. Caswell, Police Magistrate, Dubbo.

20 July, 1891.

FROM a perusal of the great number of letters forwarded to me by Mr. Caswell, the general conduct of that gentleman would appear to have been in every respect satisfactory to his fellow magistrates, while the charge of partiality and general unfitness for the discharge of magisterial duties preferred against him by Mr. Ryan appears to be without foundation. I, therefore, do not feel justified in directing any further or more formal inquiry as sought by Mr. Ryan.

Notwithstanding this general consensus of opinion, however, the conduct of Mr. Caswell in the cases of Cook, Latham, and Gallagher, appears to have been hasty and undignified, and although it was Mr. Ryan's duty to accept the decision of the Bench as to the admissibility of the evidence—subject, of course, to his right to test the legality of it before another tribunal—had a little more consideration been displayed the scene which subsequently occurred might have been avoided.

The Police Magistrate certainly acted improperly in preparing, or in assisting in the preparation of a petition for the discharge of Christensen, more especially containing, as it did, serious reflections on the presiding judge. In dealing with this matter, it should be impressed upon Mr. Caswell that it is very undesirable that any Police Magistrate should permit himself to take part in the preparation of a petition praying for the remission or consideration of a sentence passed upon any prisoner. Should he feel desirous of making any representations he should do so in an official communication to the head of his Department. This rule should also be observed by Justices of the Peace with regard to cases in which they may have adjudicated.

In the wages case referred to by Mr. Ryan, no order should have been made if the Police Magistrate knew that it could not be upheld. It is only in doubtful cases that such a course can be excused. The mere fact that Mr. Booth's client had to pay the cost of prohibition in no wise lessens the impropriety of the alleged action of the Police Magistrate.

Copy of this Minute may be forwarded to Mr. Caswell, and Mr. Ryan informed in the terms of the first paragraph of this Minute.

No. 44.

Mr. W. A. Harris to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Dubbo, 19 February, 1891.

I beg respectfully to place before you the following facts, as I feel deeply grieved and annoyed by the manner in which I have been treated.

I laid a charge under the provisions of the Criminal Law Act, accusing my partner, Bishop, of embezzling money paid to him to settle an account, instead of which he made use of it for his own use and benefit. Said money was to meet a claim for rent and interest, and through his neglecting to pay the said money, together with his false representations, the whole of my working plant as a soap-maker was sold for £1, and which I value to me at £100, and bought by one of the witnesses who had caused it to be sold, and then rented to the said Bishop.

The Police Magistrate was evidently in favour of the prisoner all through, and Kennard, one of the principal witnesses and hostile to me, had conversation with the Police Magistrate before the case came on, and also on the Bench while it was proceeding, and in fact had a leaning towards prisoner all through the case.

I can prove absolute perjury against prisoner's two witnesses, and am now taking steps to prove the same, and in conclusion consider the law has not been carried out with that impartiality we all have a right to expect. In my case, with prisoner and his witnesses there was evidently a conspiracy formed to defraud me of my living and just rights. I court inquiry.

I have, &c.,

W. A. HARRIS,
Fitzroy-street, Dubbo.

Submitted. Might be referred to the Police Magistrate, Dubbo, for report.—A.C.F., 23/2/91.

No. 45.

The Police Magistrate, Dubbo, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 2 March, 1891.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a complaint by W. A. Harris for unfairness in the administration of justice.

I have requested the Clerk of Petty Sessions to enclose copies of depositions so that you will understand the case.

The facts are shortly these: Two men, Harris and Bishop, in partnership as soap-boilers, at Wellington, had their plant seized at Wellington for rent £26. They went to one Nancarrow, in Dubbo, who offered to assist them if they would at once pay the rent, and remove their plant to Dubbo. They agreed, and Nancarrow advanced £14. Bishop went with this money, and £12 Harris gave him to pay the landlord, Kennard. After going to Wellington, Bishop wrote back that Harris had no property there, and he would not pay the rent, and the plant had been sold for £1. Thereupon Harris took out a warrant for Bishop for embezzlement. Bishop was brought before me, and Harris swore he had disposed of the £26, and that their plant, worth £100, had been sold. The Court was adjourned for the two Kennards (junior) to give evidence for the prosecution that they had not received the £26. On the Court day one Kennard, junior, and his father, Geo. Kennard, came and swore that the plant sold was worth 10s. The chief part of the plant belonged to Kennard. They had not received the £26. For the defence, two witnesses were brought who swore the £26 was returned to Harris at Wellington.

I dismissed the case because even were the witnesses for the defence false, Harris could not be believed, as he had borrowed money on the strength of a plant he did not possess.

Now, as to having a conversation with Kennard, sen. He is an honest, honorable man. He came into my room and said, "I want to ask you if I have done right in coming. I am not summoned—my son was. He knows nothing about it. I thought it better to come." I said, "I think you did right, but see Mr. Cameron, Inspector of Police." I then said, "Have you done right selling his plant." Kennard immediately pulled out of his pocket a deed of transfer from Harris, and then added, "It is my property."

In Court the prosecution did not bring the matter up, so I, in favour of Harris, recalled him and said, "Are you sure the land is only held by Kennard on mortgage" (he had sworn it was so)? He replied, "Yes." I then said to Kennard, "Will you mind showing him that deed?" Kennard did so. Harris admitted he had been mistaken.

I think I was most impartial. I said, "I shall dismiss the charge, it will be absurd to send it to the Attorney-General, but I think Nancarrow has a good case of false pretences against you both." I don't believe Bishop thought the partnership had any plant to remove. I am sure Harris could not have made such a mistake as to think he had any plant to bring.

I never saw either Bishop or Harris before, but the complaint is too transparent. Harris is Mr. R. J. J. Ryan's client, and it is simply to back up former complaints. I press this view on the Under Secretary, who will understand the subterfuge of Mr. Ryan, and the length he will go.

As Mr. Sub-Inspector Cameron prosecuted, I send his statement.

I have, &c.,

W. S. CASWELL, P.M.

[Enclosure.]

Sir,

Western District, Police Department, Dubbo, 2 March, 1891.

With reference to Mr. Harris' complaint against you, I may state that I conducted the prosecution against one Bishop, assisted by a clerk named Mr. Byrnes, from Mr. Ryan's office. According to Mr. Harris, Mr. Ryan, solicitor, was engaged to conduct the prosecution, but did not appear. At the close of the case for the prosecution I said to Mr. Byrnes that I did not think the Police Magistrate would commit the prisoner on such evidence. He replied, "I thought it would have been better, but he might commit." After the evidence for the defence had been given, you said that you could not send the case to the higher Court, as you considered there had been perjury on one side or the other, and discharged the prisoner. As far as I could see, the Kennards (father and son) were willing witnesses for the prosecution. Mr. Harris is now applying to prosecute Bishop's witnesses for perjury.

POLICE v. JOHN BENSON BISHOP—Larceny by co-partner.

William Aylesbury Harris, on oath, states:—I am a soap-maker residing at Dubbo; I know the accused, John Bishop; he was a partner of mine from the 29th October; he entered verbally into the partnership; I have no writing to show it; accused was a soap-boiler at Wellington, and was in partnership with me there up to the date of the information, the 28th January, 1891; I left him at Wellington to look after the business while I came to Dubbo; the premises were my own private property, which he occupied in which to make soap; I arranged with Bishop that we should pay 8s. a week rent to Kennard Bros., who had a mortgage on the property; on the 10th January, 1891, there was eleven weeks' rent due, amounting to £4 8s.; I came to open the business in Dubbo in connection with the Wellington business; accused came to Dubbo on the 16th of last month by appointment with me, and told me Kennard had put a notice on the factory claiming rent to the amount of £26, and if the cash was not forthcoming the stock-in-trade would be sold; I told him the only thing to do would be to meet it, that I had not enough money myself, but perhaps the landlord would pay the sum of £14, which I was deficient, and that we had better go and see Mr. Nancarrow at Dubbo, and get the money; we went down that morning to Mr. Nancarrow's who advanced the sum on the condition that we shifted the plant from Wellington and started business here; we both represented to Mr. Nancarrow that we were partners; we got the £14 from Mr. Nancarrow, and I drew out a cheque for £12, and handed the £14 and the £12 to Bishop, in the presence of Nancarrow; the amount was to pay Kennard's claim in full; I told this to Bishop; I find since that he has not carried out these instructions; the first intimation was a letter from Bishop [put in—Exhibit A]; it is stated in the letter that he would return to Dubbo; he did not do so, nor produce a balance-sheet, books, or anything else; I have not seen him since until arrested by the police; I produce a notice of dissolution of partnership in Bishop's hand-writing, which I received through the post [put in—marked Exhibit B]; the business at Wellington was sold by Kennard Bros. for £1 the plant, stock, &c., which I value at £100; it was bought in by the mortgagees; I wrote to the accused for the books, &c., but got no reply; I do not know how the partnership stands.

By the Bench: After entering into partnership with me accused agreed to pay the rent out of the proceeds of the business; he was not to draw any money out of the proceeds of any existing stock; the stock was to go towards payment of any outstanding accounts; accused agreed to borrow the money from Nancarrow when we found ourselves in difficulties; we borrowed this money, and I contributed £12, partly from the proceeds of the business and partly from my private funds; there was no time specified for the partnership to exist; I wrote accused a letter for the £26, and he has never replied; I contributed more than £5 from my private funds.

By the accused: The factory was in Wellington, and when I went to Dubbo to act as salesman I handed over the books to you; there was only £4 8s. due for rent to Kennard; I was in Wellington a day or two before I got the warrant; I went to see Kennard, and afterwards I went to see the auctioneer to inquire about the sale, and returned by the evening train; I did not receive £26 that day; for the soap sent to Dubbo, I sent you all the money or very nearly all the money I received; I paid £20 in accounts connected with the business at Dubbo; Mr. Nancarrow holds a bill of sale over me for £54, and not over the horse and cart.

WM. A HARRIS.

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

Richard Nancarrow, on oath, states:—I am a financial agent residing at Dubbo; I know Mr. Harris and accused, John Bishop; they both came to me on the 16th January, 1891, and represented themselves as partners and soap-makers at Wellington and Dubbo; Bishop spoke principally; Harris said to me, in accused's presence, that Kennard had closed on the premises in Wellington, and had put the baliff in for rent; I said, "How did you come to let your rent go back so far?" Harris said Kennard had agreed to take rent instead of interest; I said, "The best thing you can do is to pay the rent;" Bishop then said how are we to pay it? I laid out all the money we could spare to buy material in Sydney; I said, "Have you got no money?" Bishop said, "No, I don't think the firm has any money;" Harris said, "I can find £12, the money the Mrs. earned when she was out;" one of the two of them said, "Will you advance £14 so that we can pay the rent;" I said, "I will do it on conditions;" one said, "What is it?" I said, "You have two places now, wouldn't it be better if you concentrated your business in one place, at Dubbo?" Bishop said, "Yes, that's what I want to do;" this conversation was in the street; I said, "Come up to my office;" we all went up together; and I said to Bishop, "If I advance this money will you be in Wellington before 12 o'clock to-morrow, and pay the rent?" he said, "I will;" I said, "The only conditions I will grant this money on, will be that you pay the rent owing, £26, and remove the plant to Dubbo;" Bishop said, "I will do so;" I said, "I will draw an agreement to that effect for you to sign;" I drew an agreement, which was first signed by Bishop, and afterwards by Harris. [Put in—marked C.] I put in a letter from Bishop, stating he will come to Dubbo and return the money I lent him. [Exhibit D.] He has not come to me, nor returned the money; it was purely on Bishop's statements and Harris' statements that they were partners in the manufacture of soap at Dubbo and Wellington, that I lent them the money.

By the accused:—I had not seen you previously; I knew Harris; I would have lent you the money without Harris being with you; I did not know that the goods could not be removed at that time.

Henry William Kennard, on oath, states:—I am a builder, residing at Wellington; I know the prosecutor and the accused; I am a member of the firm of Kennard Bros.; my brother Thomas is the other member; some time ago we purchased a property at Wellington, known as the soap works, from W. A. Harris, but promised if he paid back the principal and interest in two years, he could have the property back; this was about four years ago; he promised to pay rent, but never paid anything, and at the end of two years there was no fresh arrangement; about October last Harris wrote to me and stated it was impossible for him to pay any interest, but would pay rent from then at the rate of 8s. per week, as he had taken Bishop in as partner; they never paid any rent since; I considered I had a claim against the two as partners; neither Bishop nor Harris said anything about the rent since I received the letter; on account of the rent not being paid, I took steps against the firm; we frequently sent Harris notices, and told Bishop we had made demands for rent, and it was not paid; there was £22 due for interest, and £4 8s. for rent; I took possession of the soap works, one tank, one bucket, and a cutting table; the full amount due was £26 and some odd shillings; if this amount had been paid we would have let them go on with the business; I put a notice on the door; Bishop was present at the sale; I did not receive any money then, nor since, from him; the sale was after the 12th of January—about the 17th; we got £1 for the property we seized; my firm bought it in; we have not received the £26 from anyone, and Harris and Bishop are still in our debt; my father is authorised to receive money for us in our absence.

By the accused:—We did not sell £100 worth of property; it is not worth more than £1.

HENRY KENNARD.

Taken on oath before me, at Dubbo, this }
 17th February, 1891,—
 W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

George Kennard, on oath, states:—I am a builder at Wellington; I know Bishop and Harris, they were soap manufacturers there; Harris introduced Bishop as his partner three or four months ago; my two sons constitute the firm of Kennard Bros.; I am authorised to receive money for the firm; Bishop never paid me any money on account of the firm of Harris and Bishop; I am not aware that he has paid £26 to the firm by way of interest in rent; if he had done so, I should have known; there was a sale of the soap-works, and Bishop was present; Bishop was not seen by me after the sale; I am the only one outside the firm authorised to receive moneys.

G. KENNARD.

Taken on oath before me, at Dubbo, this }
 17th February, 1891.—
 W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

FOR THE DEFENCE:

Charles Bishop, on oath, states:—I am working at the soap-works, and am son of the accused; on the 27th January last, I saw Harris after the sale, and paid him £26; Harris came to the house and demanded it, and said my father would be criminally prosecuted if he didn't pay; my mother said, "Well, the money is in the house, and it has got to be paid, so you had better return it"; I did so in the presence of my mother; I gave it in notes; Arthur Vincent Smith was also present, and saw me give the money; Harris was not sober.

By the Sub-Inspector:—I did not get a receipt because there were witnesses, and Mr. Harris did not seem quite capable of giving one; it was on the afternoon of the 27th January, a little after 3 o'clock; I think it was a Tuesday; I saw Harris leave our house and go towards town; I did not see him again; Harris smelt of drink, and was a little excited; Harris was paid in two £5 notes and two £1 on the Bank of New South Wales, and fourteen Australian Joint Stock £1 notes; my father was in Sydney at the time; he returned from Sydney, and came home; he has been home a day or two since this trial began; the money was paid before my father's arrest, and he knew it; about four days after the money was paid, he came back; I told him about it; Smith was in the room sitting down when Harris was paid the money; my mother came down the passage, and stood in the room, and paid the money; Harris did not sit down; the money was counted out into his hands by me; he said, "That's all right," and went away; he did not take his hat off so far as I know.

C. BISHOP.

Taken on oath before me, at Dubbo, this }
 17th February, 1891.—
 W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

Arthur Vincent Smith, on oath states: I am a sign-writer; I know Harris and Bishop in the way of business; I saw Harris at Bishop's residence on or about the 27th January; Bishop was not present; Mrs. Bishop and her son were there; Harris asked one of them for Kennard's money; he was excited; Mrs. Bishop said, "I think you had better get the money and give it to him and let him clear out;" she then went into the front room and brought out what I took to be a roll of notes and gave them to her son who handed them to Harris; he said "There's £26, which father left;" Harris put them in his pocket and said "all right"; I saw Harris last Friday evening in Wellington; he pulled me up in the street and said "Are you going to appear as a witness at Dubbo?" I said "Most certainly I am;" he said "Don't you think I could make it worth your while to stop away"; I replied "Right's right, and I want no bribery or anything else;" I have not seen him since.

By the Sub-Inspector: I am not nearly always drunk at Wellington; I saw Harris in the doorway; I don't think he sat down; I did not hear Harris say anything about prosecuting criminally; I saw Bishop since he has been on bail; we came up in the train this morning; we did not speak specially about this case.

ARTHUR VINCENT SMITH.

Taken on oath before me at Dubbo, this }
 17th February, 1891,—
 W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

George Kennard, on oath, recalled, states: Both the accused and Harris must have known the value of the things left in my place—the soap works; I would not give 10s. for them; they could have kept on all the plant if they had paid 8s. a week, which they did not do; they could not remove the things to Dubbo until they paid the £26.

G. KENNARD.

Taken on oath before me at Dubbo, this }
 17th February, 1891,—
 W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

William A. Harris, on oath, recalled, states:—I have heard what the witnesses have said about me having received the £26; it is totally false; I was in Wellington on or about the 27th January; I have not been at Bishop's house since the 13th or 14th January; I did not owe Bishop £50 for wages when the property was sold; I did not know that all the things belonged to Kennard; I fully believe there is £100 of my goods there.

W. A. HARRIS.

Taken on oath before me, at Dubbo, this }
 17th February, 1891,—
 W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.

Accused is discharged.

W. STEWART CASWELL, P.M.
 Submitted.—

Submitted.—A.C.F., 4/3/91. I have read the depositions, which appear to disclose a prima facie case. The reason assigned by Mr. Caswell for the dismissal of the case is insufficient. The question of the credibility of the witnesses is purely for a jury to consider, and not the committing magistrate. The observations of Lord Denman (quoted on page 376 of "The Australian Magistrate," 5th edition) are pertinent to this matter. Again, in Cox v. Coleridge, it has been held that "when evidence is conflicting, the Justices should take the depositions and send the case on for trial. If they did otherwise, they would usurp the functions of Judge and Jury," per Denman, C.J.—A.J.G., 24/3/91.

No. 47.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Police Magistrate, Dubbo.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 25 March, 1891.

Referring to your letter of the 2nd instant, respecting the complaints preferred against you by Mr. W. A. Harris, in connection with the case "Regina v. Bishop," I am directed to inform you that the Minister of Justice has written a minute thereon, of which the following is a copy:—

"I have read the depositions, which appear to disclose a prima facie case. The reason assigned by Mr. Caswell for the dismissal of the case is insufficient. The question of the credibility of the witnesses is purely for a jury to consider, and not the committing magistrate. The observations of Lord Denman, (quoted on page 376 of "The Australian Magistrate," 5th edition) are pertinent to this matter. Again, in *Cox v. I have, &c.,

ARCH. C. FRASER,

Under Secretary.

Submitted. In what terms does the Minister desire Mr. Harris' letter of 19th February to be replied to?—A.C.F., 25/3/91. As there are legal proceedings still pending, reply to Mr. Harris may be deferred.—A.J.G., 1/4/91. Resubmit in a month.—T.E.M.N., 3/4/91. Resubmitted.—A.C.F., 4/5/91.

No. 48.

Telegram from The Under Secretary of Justice to The Registrar, District Court, Dubbo.

4 May, 1891.

Re case Harris v. Bishop, dismissed by Dubbo Bench 17th February last, please state if possible what legal proceedings have been instituted in District or Supreme Court, or otherwise in connection with this case.

ARCH. C. FRASER,

Under Secretary of Justice.

No. 49.

The Clerk of Petty Sessions, Dubbo, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Court-house, Dubbo, 5 May, 1891.

In reply to your telegram of yesterday's date, I have the honor to inform you that after the case of Harris v. Bishop was dismissed by the Dubbo Bench on the 17th February last, no further proceedings against the defendant were taken, but Harris immediately instituted proceedings against two of the witnesses—Charles Bishop, son of defendant, and A. V. Smith—for perjury, and they were both committed to take their trial at the last Circuit Court at Dubbo, Bishop was tried and acquitted by the jury. The case against Smith was not proceeded with, and he was discharged.

I have, &c.,

W. J. MARTIN,

C.P.S.

Reply from the Clerk of Petty Sessions, Dubbo, herewith. Submitted in reference to Minister's minute of 1/4/91.—A.C.F., 6/5/91. May be filed.—A.J.G., 6/5/91.

* Number of Mail-boys not included. † Included in this amount are the full salaries of Official Post and Telegraph Masters, with four-ninths of which the Telegraph Department will be debited. The Money Order Office also will be debited with one-ninth of the salaries of Officers in charge of Official Post Offices at which Money Order and Savings Bank business is transacted, which salaries are also paid from this Vote. It is estimated that the sum with which those Departments will be debited in 1892 will be about £40,000.

§ The increase in amount of contingencies is caused chiefly through the Post Office Department providing for the full amount of a number of the items which have hitherto been provided for partly by the Post and Telegraph Departments and the Money Order Office respectively.

19	Major-General Richardson.	Commanding Military Forces ... Value of quarters Forage allowance (2 horses) ... Single ration, fuel, and light, valued at ... Allowance in lieu of soldier servant ... Stable allowance President, Defence Commission ...	1,095 175 128 45 52 100 Nil.		The allowance for forage cannot properly be said to form a source of emolument, as keeping horses for the Public Service entails expenses in no way covered by the forage allowance. These expenses include purchase and replacement of horses, food, clothing, shoeing, veterinary charges, provision of appropriate appointments, grooms' wages, &c., which in point of fact reduce the amount of income. These remarks apply to all Officers to whom forage allowance is granted.

The issue of Debentures under various Loan Acts, in 1870, to the extent of £450,000, has adjusted the amounts short and over raised under these Acts.

* Overdue bonds unrepresented. † Transferred to the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. ‡ The amount short-raised under this Act, viz. £175,838 13s. 1d., has been made good from the Consolidated Revenue Fund. § Of this sum, £2,050,000 were issued in Debentures. The £2,000,000 loan of 1882 was issued in Debentures also, but they were since authorized to be exchanged or Inscribed Stock at the option of the holders—a privilege which was availed of to the extent of £1,186,300 only. a Issued as Inscribed Stock. b A further loan of £4,500,000 issued in September in London not yet brought to account.

TWENTIETH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

AUDITOR-GENERAL

ON

THE TREASURER'S STATEMENT OF THE RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE OF THE CONSOLIDATED REVENUE FUND, AND OTHER MONEYS, FOR THE YEAR 1890.

(Under Act 33 Victoria No. 18).

1. THE accompanying Statements of the Treasurer's Receipts and Disbursements during the year 1890 were received for examination on the 25th March, and were returned for correction and suggested amendments on the 22nd June. The Statements were received back from the Treasury on the 24th July, amended as required, except in one case of small amount, which could not well be corrected until this year, and I have now the honor to submit those Statements of the Public Accounts for 1890 to the Legislative Assembly, with the following Report and explanations, as directed by the 38th section of the Audit Act of 1870.

GENERAL STATE OF THE BALANCES.

2. The year's transactions show in gross the following results in respect of the Consolidated Revenue Fund, the Loans Fund, and the Trust Fund, as forming in combination the General Public Account of the Colony, viz. :—

| | | | | | | | | |
| Credit Balances in Cash and Securities on 1st January, 1890 | ... | ... | ... | ... | ... | £5,546,874 | 4 | 2 |

The

The transactions in London during the three months ended 31st December, 1890, occasioned a net decrease in the balance at credit of £363,631 18s. 6d., the accounts for which will as usual form part of the Statement for the current year.

The total actual credit balance at 31st December, in Sydney and London, was therefore £4,467,178 1 4

Adding to this the Temporary Issues recoverable hereafter on account of the—

3. It may be convenient to notice here that with the opening of the year the conduct of the banking business of the Government was placed on a new footing, the contract with the nine associated Banks having expired by effluxion of time on the 31st December, 1889. Correspondence respecting the change was laid before the Legislative Assembly on the 10th December, 1889, from which it may be gathered that no new contract was to be entered into.

There is accordingly now no agreement with the Banks individually or collectively. The Government deals with the Banks in the same way as any private individual keeping a banking account, and the new arrangement would appear to have secured a considerable advantage to the Public Account over that previously existing under contract with the nine associated Banks and the London and Westminster Bank in London.

THE

* A small discrepancy of £34 6s. 10d. occurs in the Trust and Revenue Funds which was not ascertained until after the Treasury Books were closed, but it has been set right in the present year's accounts. The figures are therefore used throughout this Report with that reservation. The amount goes to increase the "Railway Stores Account" (Trust Fund), by a transfer from "other Miscellaneous Receipts" under the Revenue Account.

THE CONSOLIDATED REVENUE FUND ACCOUNT.

4. The Consolidated Revenue Fund income during the year consisted of the following receipts from—

| | | | |
|---------------------------------------|------------|---|---|
| Taxation | £2,748,339 | 5 | 1 |
| Land Revenue | 2,243,039 | 5 | 9 |
| Receipts for Services rendered | 4,174,937 | 7 | 3 |
| General Miscellaneous Receipts | 328,268 | 7 | 7 |
| | £9,494,584 | 5 | 8 |

The Overdraft at 31st December, 1889, as shown at page 129 of the Report on the Accounts of 1889 (reduced by a further credit to Account of "Other Payments," "Advances to Contractors, 1883," £483 16s. 2d.) having been

| | | |
|-----------|---|---|
| 1,362,457 | 2 | 2 |
| <hr/> | | |

The remainder shows the amount available to meet the current Liabilities of 1890

| | | |
|------------|---|---|
| £8,132,127 | 3 | 6 |
| <hr/> | | |

Excluding recoverable temporary issues the actual charges paid out of the Revenue Account during the year were :—

| | | | |
|--|------------|----|----|
| Towards the Interest and Extinction of the Public Debt | £1,857,513 | 10 | 4 |
| Interest on Treasury Bills (£1,907,100) | 38,142 | 0 | 0 |
| For other Statutory and Regulation Expenses | 374,663 | 5 | 10 |
| For Expenditure under the Annual Appropriation Acts | 7,133,242 | 16 | 6 |

| | | | |
|---------------|------------|----|---|
| In all | £9,403,561 | 12 | 8 |
| | <hr/> | | |

The final Disbursements therefore exceeded the available income at 31st December by

| | | |
|------------|---|---|
| £1,271,434 | 9 | 2 |
|------------|---|---|

But that excess has to be increased by the Balance of Payments over Receipts in London during the last quarter of the year (adjusted in Sydney in 1891)

| | | |
|---------|---|---|
| 177,188 | 9 | 2 |
| <hr/> | | |

The actual Cash Overdraft on the Revenue Account, at Sydney and London inclusive, thus appeared to be

| | | |
|------------|----|---|
| £1,448,622 | 18 | 4 |
| <hr/> | | |

5. The above figures are given, it will be seen, exclusive of the temporary assistance afforded to the Revenue Account by the issue of Treasury Bills, under the Act 53 Victoria No. 9, the account of which it is considered may for greater clearness be stated in a distinct form as

THE DEFICIENCY DEBT AND REDEMPTION ACCOUNT.

6. The Deficiency Debt, which forms the basis of the "Treasury Bills Deficiency Act of 1889," was computed to amount to £2,608,236 12s. 10d., as set forth in the Colonial Treasurer's Estimate of Ways and Means for the year 1889. Upon that basis the Act 53 Victoria No. 9 authorises Treasury Bills to be issued, bearing interest at 4 per cent. per annum, to an amount not exceeding £2,600,000, as occasion may require, with the proviso among others that all sums of money raised by the issue of Treasury Bills under the Act shall be carried to and form part of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

7. By a Treasury Memorandum, dated 14th July, 1890, the deficiency was reduced to £2,523,883 16s. 6d., but, on a careful examination of the figures making up that sum it is found that they come somewhat short, both in the expenditure and in the sums claimed as a set-off against it. Following on the lines of the Treasury Statement, and carrying the Account down to the end of 1890, the correct total would appear to be £2,503,785 14s. 3d., subject to a possible reduction on a reserved liability of £10,645 8s. A memorandum showing how the amount is arrived at is given in Appendix B, but as the Treasury are not disposed to accept the amended figures it is considered proper that the correspondence on the subject should be placed in that Appendix.

8. During 1889, as formerly reported, Treasury Bills were issued to the amount of £1,907,100, and the proceeds duly carried to the credit of the Revenue Account, leaving upon the Treasury Statement of 14th July, 1890, an apparent balance to be raised of £616,784. For that amount Bills were prepared in August, 1890, but were not negotiated. The Revenue Account was consequently not benefited thereby, there being no proceeds to carry to its credit. Notwithstanding the nominal value (upon negotiation) is taken credit for as part of the receipts on account of the Revenue.

9. The computation of the deficiency above quoted commences with a cash overdraft at 31st December, 1886, and assumes that the Revenue Account was to close at that date, subject to outstanding assets and liabilities being realised and discharged, and that the Revenue Account from the 1st January, 1887, was to be kept distinct and free from all items affecting that for 1886 and previous years. But as the Revenue Account cannot in strictness be absolutely closed at any date, under any existing legal provision, it may be of service to show here the progress of that Account, as a cash account only, in gross to the end of 1890, on the same principle on which the actual overdraft at 31st December, 1886, is made the starting point of the Deficiency Statement, and so to arrive at the balance under similar circumstances to that given at the close of the year 1886. The following are the figures:—

| Year. | Gross Receipts, inclusive of recoveries of Special Advances. | Gross Payments, inclusive of Special advances recoverable. | Excess of Payments over Receipts. | Excess of Receipts over Payments. |
| | £ s. d. | £ s. d. | £ s. d. | £ s. d. |
| 1887 | 8,683,943 8 2 | 9,576,942 8 5 | 892,999 0 3 | |
| 1888 | 9,583,700 4 3 | 9,072,834 12 9 | | 510,865 11 6 |
| 1889 | 9,350,346 17 7 | 9,531,693 7 0 | 181,346 9 5 | |
| 1890 | 9,957,411 0 11 | 10,196,975 0 0 | 239,563 19 1 | |
| | 37,575,401 10 11 | 38,378,445 8 2 | 1,313,909 8 9 | 510,865 11 6 |
| Cash overdraft at 31st December, 1886. | | 1,286,581 9 4 | 803,043 | 17 3 |
| Cash overdraft at 31st December, 1890. | 2,089,625 6 7 | | | |
| | £39,665,026 17 6 | 39,665,026 17 6 | | |

10. Inasmuch, however, as the overdraft was temporarily relieved at 31st December, 1889, by the proceeds of Treasury Bills to an extent of £1,907,100, the actual cash overdraft at 31st December, 1890, was reduced apparently to £182,525 6s. 7d.

The

The cash and bank sheets, however, show the following cash balances at credit on that date:—

| | | | |
|--|-----------------|----------|----------|
| Balance at credit of the Public Account, Sydney, at 31st
December, 1890 | £371,796 | 1 | 6 |
| Balance at credit of the Public Account, London, at 30th
September, 1890 | 378,622 | 2 | 10 |
| | £750,418 | 4 | 4 |

By analysis, this balance is found to be made up of—

| | | | |
|---|-----------------|-----------|-----------|
| Balance at credit of old Loans Account,
Consolidated Revenue Fund | £132,326 | 0 | 4 |
| Balance at credit of Trust Funds | 650,617 | 10 | 7 |
| | £782,943 | 10 | 11 |
| Less overdraft on the Consolidated Revenue
Fund (proper) | 32,525 | 6 | 7 |
| | £750,418 | 4 | 4 |

There thus appears a difference of £150,000 between the apparent overdraft, as shown by the cash operations stated above in the account for the years 1887 to 1890, and the actual overdraft as ascertained from the Cash and Bank sheets at 31st December, 1890.

11. That difference arises in the following manner:—

The redemption of the Treasury Bills was to be effected by the application thereto of £150,000 annually from the Consolidated Revenue Fund—the first payment to be made on the 31st December, 1890, to the credit of a Special Trust Fund Account in a Bank doing the Government business—and so on annually until the said Treasury Bills are finally extinguished. Out of such Special Trust Fund the Colonial Treasurer is directed to “pay off and redeem” such Treasury Bills from time to time, so far as there may be moneys at the credit of the said Special Trust Fund Account.

12. Towards complying with that provision a sum of £150,000 was, on the 30th of December, drawn from the Consolidated Revenue Fund, and placed in the Australian Joint Stock Bank; but there is no entry of the reissue of that sum, while, by the Account given at page 51 as that of the Treasury Bills Redemption Fund, credit is taken for the redemption of three Treasury Bills, to the aggregate amount of £150,000—those three Bills being a portion of those prepared but not negotiated. It is obvious, therefore, that as no money was ever received for those Bills there was no recipient for the nominal value of them, except the Consolidated Revenue Fund, to the credit of which that nominal value had been placed. The result of the transaction, or rather of the Treasury entries, is that, although in compliance with the Act, the Revenue Fund paid £150,000 to an Account from which that sum has not since been drawn and paid away to an actual holder of negotiated Bills to that amount, the sum in question must be now either at the credit of the Special Trust Fund, or it has found its way back to the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

13. The effect of the operation is simply that a credit having been taken for £616,784 without cash to represent it, the apparent credit balance on that account account is stated as £434,258 13s. 5d., at the 31st December, with a reduction of the unnegotiated Bills from £616,784 to £466,784, the difference between this latter sum and the balance augmented thereby being the cash overdraft of £32,525 6s. 7d., stated above.

14. The Treasury Bills Account may therefore be thus stated:—

| | | | |
|--|------------|----|----|
| Maximum amount of Bills authorised to be raised by the Act 53 Victoria No. 9 | £2,600,000 | 0 | 0 |

CONDITION OF THE REVENUE ACCOUNT.

15. It thus appears that treated as a Cash Account the Consolidated Revenue Fund proper was overdrawn at 31st December, 1890, to the extent of £32,525 6s. 7d., with a liability for redemption of Treasury Bills issued to the amount of £1,907,100, or an excess over the cash overdraft at 31st December, 1886, of £653,043 17s. 3d., or in other words that at the close of the year the Revenue Cash Account was in debt to the amount of £1,939,625 6s. 7d.

16. Deducting from both sides of the account of cash operations, during the years 1887 to 1890, the items that have been taken into consideration as belonging to and completing the deficiency Statement upon the Accounts for the year 1886 and previous years,—the receipts and payments in gross for the period 1887 to 1890 result in a balance credit of £557,310 5s. 8d., and consequently in a reduction to that extent of the cash overdraft at 31st December upon the Revenue Account as a whole. In other words, the figures given above may be restated thus:—

| | | | |
|--|------------|----|---|
| Proceeds of Treasury Bills negotiated in 1889 | £1,907,100 | 0 | 0 |
| Cash overdraft at 31st December, 1890 | 32,525 | 6 | 7 |
| Contribution by the Revenue of 1887 to 1890 towards deficiency of 1886 | 557,310 | 5 | 8 |
| Deficiency account not yet realised | 6,850 | 2 | 0 |
| | <hr/> | | |
| Computed maximum deficiency on the account of 1886
as above | £2,503,785 | 14 | 3 |

17.

* Bills to the amount of £166,784 have been negotiated during the present year to this date.

17. The Revenue Account has, however, credit for the balance of temporary cash payments unrecovered at 31st December to the amount of £535,864 17s. 1d. for the Centennial Park, General Post Office Approaches, Treasurer's Advance Vote, and other minor items, as shown in paragraph 2.

Deducting the amount from the above recoverable sum, £3,795 6s., which belongs to the Deficiency Account, there remain to the credit of the Account 1887 to 1890, as temporary recoverable issues, £532,069 11s. 1d., which, with the above stated contribution to the deficiency of 1886, £557,310 5s. 8d., make a total balance credit of £1,089,379 16s. 9d. as the result of the receipts and payments limited to the cash transactions proper to the years 1887 to 1890 inclusive, upon the assumption that the Revenue Account is to be dealt with as clear from the 1st January, 1887, of all intromissions in respect of assets and liabilities prior to that date and in respect of issues and adjustments of a temporary character since.

On the other hand, as was the case to a smaller extent in 1889, there was an overdraft on the account of the Railway Commissioners at the Australian Joint Stock Bank for working expenses, &c., of £116,665 12s. 3d., most of which was chargeable to the Revenue Account. This might have been adjusted within the year under the Supplementary Vote of £123,350, passed on the 20th December, but it would, of course, have occasioned an increased overdraft on the Revenue Account for so much of the amount due to the bank as was chargeable to it.

18. Under the conditions above explained the current revenue is, of course, chargeable with such claims as may accrue in connection with any service sanctioned by Regulations, by Statutes, or by the Annual Appropriation Acts, in addition to those already satisfied up to the close of the year 1890. In Appendix A is given, as usual, as full a statement as can be ascertained of the liability incurred for the year, and of the contingent balance which remained to be met at 31st December. So long as the existing system of appropriating the revenue continues there must always be the uncertain element of outstanding charges, and the want of finality thus arising gives occasion for apparent discrepancies in Statements of Revenue and Expenditure, when such Statements are made up to different dates, and upon estimates instead of actualities, which are not always easy of a popular explanation. The only satisfactory annual Account of the Public Income and Expenditure is one based upon an appropriation confined to sums actually payable out of the current revenue within each year, any surplus or deficiency that might thus appear upon an account stated being carried forward to the following year's account.

19. The Appropriation Act for 1890, having followed so closely upon the Appropriation Act for 1889, contains no supplementary items for previous years, and is in this respect almost unique; but a large number of Services for 1890 required supplementary funds, which were thus thrown forward into the Appropriation Act for 1891. That Act was passed on the 20th December, 1890, and consequently very many of the supplementary items contained in it, which had previously been paid out of the Treasurer's Advance Vote, or were waiting Parliamentary sanction for payment, appear in the Accounts now under review. The amount of those supplementary items for 1890 and previous years was £585,599 18s. 8d.

20. There appears also in the appropriations for 1890 a new arrangement in regard to votes for Public Works, which partially extends the provisions of the 18th section of the Audit Act, beyond services for fixed establishments, to special votes for Public Works remaining unexpended, by the following condition attached to the gross votes for all branches of the Public Works and Services, under the Department of the Secretary for Public Works, numbered 190 to 196, viz. :—

 “Irrespective of dates of claims, and subject to such alterations within the limit of the total vote for each branch as the exigencies of any case may demand from time to time, the excess on any item being available for a deficiency on any other, exclusive of salaries.”

21. This provision was understood to mean that any item in the Schedule to a gross vote might be exceeded, so long as it created no excess upon the total vote, whereas the liberty to vary the amounts of the items is limited to the use of any excess of appropriation for one item to meet a short appropriation for the service of another item. Thus if each Scheduled item required the full amount provided for it no excess of expenditure upon either of them could be met, except by an additional vote, but should such an excess of expenditure not come to account until the similar vote for the following year became available, that excess would become payable out of the new vote. Should, however, by such process, the total vote for (say) Roads and Bridges be found insufficient to provide for the completion of all the works embraced in the Roads and Bridges Schedule for any year, it would of course be necessary to ask for a vote in extension of the sum originally set apart for the Roads and Bridges service. But it might not be necessary to obtain such extension in every case of a deficiency in a subordinate line of the Detailed Schedule of proposed expenditure. In connection with this subject attention is invited to paragraphs 6 to 8, page 109 of my Report upon the Public Accounts of the year 1883.

22. The principle underlying the provisions of the 18th section of the Audit Act is that the whole amount voted by Parliament as Ways and Means may be applied, as the exigencies of the Public Service may render necessary, to any voted service within the total grant of Ways and Means, subject only to any variations in the amount of the expenditure from the estimated proportions as voted in Committee of Supply, being sanctioned by the Governor in Council and reported to Parliament at the earliest opportunity.

23. Although not stated in the condition above quoted, I considered it necessary, nevertheless, to obtain the authority of the Governor in Council for the variations allowed by it, and a copy of the first and only authority of the kind issued in 1890 is given in the Appendix C. Several others have been granted since, but they will come more properly under notice in the Report upon the present year's Accounts.

THE TRUST FUNDS ACCOUNT.

24. The balance at the credit at the ordinary Trust Funds has improved during the year to the extent of £94,226 19s. 7d., and now shows a gross total of £2,987,845 2s. 10d., of which £2,336,627 12s. 3d. are represented by securities lodged in the Treasury chest, £600 by Debentures on account of the Lunacy Trust, in the Commercial Bank of Sydney, and the remainder by a working cash balance of £650,617 10s. 7d. in the General Public Account.

25. A considerable increase of funds has also accrued in the separate accounts of the Master in Equity and the Master in Lunacy, the year closing with a joint credit balance of £394,146 17s. 9d., as against £281,865 17s. 6d. on the 31st December, 1889, £235,000 being invested in Treasury Bills. 26.

26. The Civil Service Superannuation Account exhibits an increased credit of £36,529 18s. upon the year—the gross receipts having reached £98,054 3s. 9d., the gross disbursements, £61,524 5s. 9d., and the augmented balance, at 31st December, having been £398,649 2s. 3d., of which £310,000 were invested in Treasury Bills. The detailed list of the respective recipients of pensions and gratuities have been omitted this year from the Treasurer's Statement. So far as the pensioners are concerned, their names and annual pensions are recorded in the Blue Books, and it does not appear to be necessary to report them year by year in these Accounts. A list is, however, given in Appendix D of the new pensions that have come upon the pay list during the year, and of those which have ceased by death.

On comparison with the Account of 1889 it appears that the amount paid within the year for pensions was increased by a sum of £14,721 5s. 9d., while the gratuities were less by £1,154 1s. 10d. than in 1889. The ordinary income credited in 1890 amounted to £83,228 9s. 6d., and the ordinary charges for pensions and gratuities amounted to £56,064 8s. 6d., thus showing a nominal margin of £27,164 1s. to credit on the year's ordinary receipts and payments.

The annual rate of authorised pensions, exclusive of those provided from Schedule B, at 31st December, was computed at £53,293 13s. 2d. The annual rate of new pensions that came on charge during 1890 was £13,379 19s. 9d., while there fell in through death pensions to an annual amount of £1,445 1s. Further information as to this fund is given in the Annual Reports of the Civil Service Board. The Report for 1890 was laid before Parliament on the 29th July.

27. The pensions and gratuities paid from the Police Superannuation Fund aggregated £15,293 18s. 2d., showing a very small increase over the figures for 1889. The income also produced very nearly the same amount as for the previous year, or about one-half of the annual liability, the difference as on former occasions being made good by a transfer of surplus funds from the Police Reward Fund Account.

The combined accounts show a total income of £15,630 1s. 7d., with a total expenditure of £17,174 8s. 8d., and a joint balance credit of £40,898 13s. 9d. at 31st December, 1890, or a reduction of £1,544 7s. 1d. upon the similar balance at the same date of 1889.

28. In the Railway Stores Account there occurs a payment of £4,812, being the cost of machinery imported for a trial electric tramway between Waverley and Randwick. There being no vote for such a service the payment was challenged as not a proper charge upon the Railway Stores Account. Although made a Trust Account for convenience of working upon the principle of a cash credit, the capital for the Railway Stores Account was provided by two loan votes, making £300,000 in all, for the purpose of paying for purchases of rails and other material in bulk required for voted services, and to be distributed thereto as issued. The funds at the credit of that Account should not therefore be employed for purchases on account of services in anticipation of their being provided for by votes, and the sum in question was accordingly disallowed in the Treasurer's Accounts. The payment was made in July, 1890, the order for the machinery having of course been given some months at least prior to that date. Provision was made in the Loan Act of 1890, passed on 20th December, for Expenses of Experiments in connection with Electric Trams, but the transfer of the charge of £4,812 to that vote was only made quite recently.

29.

29. This is but a smaller example of what occurred in the Accounts of 1888, when a sum of £85,000 had to be drawn from the General Loan Account to replenish the Railway Stores Account, and thus enable it to bear temporarily the cost of rails purchased for a then unauthorised line of railway. The General Loan Account was still a creditor for the £85,000, at the close of the year, but efforts are now being made to replace that advance.

30. It has also been found desirable to establish a new Stores Account for Railway Construction Services, to relieve the General Railway Stores Account of transactions that create embarrassment between the Accounts for works under the Railway Commissioners, and for construction purposes under the Engineer-in-Chief for the construction of new lines of railway. For this purpose a loan vote of £200,000 was taken in the Temporary Supply Act 54 Victoria No. 19, and confirmed in the final Act 54 Victoria No. 33, but it was not acted upon until March of the present year, when, as in the old account, it was made a separate Cash Credit Trust Account in terms of the vote.

THE TREASURER'S ADVANCE ACCOUNT.

31. The Treasurer's Advance Vote for 1889 was recredited to the Revenue Account in sufficient time to allow of its being adjusted within the prescribed date, the 31st December, 1890. Owing, however, to the exhaustion of the Advance Vote for 1890, pending the passing of the Appropriation Act for 1891, with its large Supplementary Services for 1889 and 1890, considerable drafts were made upon the funds, which had accumulated for the adjustment of the vote for 1889, and were applied to meet pressing current claims. As the annual advance to the Treasurer is understood to be given as sufficient for, and is held to be available only for, the exigencies of the year for which the vote is granted, with an allowance of twelve months' time to adjust the same, the drafts referred to have been dealt with as wanting the sanction of Parliament, and have, accordingly, been excluded from the Certificates of Discharge to the Treasurer. The disallowance on that head amounts to £81,136 1s. 1d.

32. The corresponding vote for 1890 was subjected also to heavy drafts for services in anticipation chiefly of provision being made for the same by a Loan Act. To recoup the Advance Vote for 1890, for the amount so issued, a Temporary Supply Act—the only one of the year—was passed in October (54 Victoria No. 19) including a provision for further payments in anticipation of sums to be raised by loan. Of the amount so provided, the Treasurer's Advance Account obtained credit for £75,939 12s. 7d. At the close of the year the Advance Vote for 1890 showed a credit balance of £42,350 15s. 7d. In Appendix E will be found a Statement of the Services to which the remainder of the vote had been applied, but not then adjusted, amounting on the whole to £157,649 4s. 5d.

GENERAL LOAN ACCOUNT.

33. The only addition to the credit of the General Loan Account during the year was the balance of the last loan of three and a half millions, negotiated in July, 1889, viz., £2,026,210 8s. 2d. Full particulars of that loan were given in last year's Report. With that addition there became available for Loan Expenditure during 1890 (subject to an exception stated further on) a total sum of £4,208,235

18s.

18s. 9d., out of which there was expended £2,859,218 13s. 3d., leaving at the close of the year a cash balance of £1,349,017 5s. 6d. The details of the expenditure are given at pages 65 to 73. They include payments to the amount of £2,769,016 3s. 3d., for which no loan has yet been raised, and similar remarks apply to this anomaly in the General Loan Account as were made in previous Reports.

34. It may be noticed that in these Accounts a number of services are now quoted as paid for under the Special Acts required by the Public Works Act of 1888, in connection with the Acts authorising the raising of loans to meet the cost of carrying out those services. A considerable amount had, however, been expended under the Acts 48 Victoria No. 26 and 52 Victoria No. 17, prior to the passing of the Public Works Act of 1888, or to otherwise obtaining proper authority for it, and also prior to the passing of Special Acts authorising the works described therein to be constructed.

35. An illustrative case occurred in relation to the construction of a line of railway from Culcairn to Corowa, for which a sum not exceeding £210,000 had been authorised to be raised by the Act 48 Victoria No. 26. The construction of that line had been negatived by the Legislative Council. It was, however, subsequently sanctioned by the Special Act 54 Victoria No. 3, passed 6th August, 1890, but at a lower cost, viz., £188,765. Nevertheless, a payment of £83 5s. was made for lithographing plans in connection with that Service on the 23rd June previous, and charged as an expense under 48 Victoria No. 26.

This was challenged, on the ground that the Act 48 Victoria No. 26 gave no authority for it in the circumstances, and that the account could only be allowed to pass as a charge on the Act 54 Victoria No. 3, and then upon the joint sanction of the Colonial Treasurer and the Secretary for Public Works. That authority was subsequently supplied. (Vide Appendix F.) To legalise that class of expenditure it is necessary that Parliamentary sanction should be given in some form or other. So far as can at present be readily ascertained, the amount so expended irregularly is £156,901 0s. 4d. Details are given in Appendix G.

36. Some difficulty also occurred in arranging the Warrants asked for by the Treasury for issues under the Acts referred to, but a portion of the difficulty has been met by the special clause No. 9 of the last Loan Act, 54 Victoria No. 33. Although that Act was not passed until the 20th December, 1890, yet no provision is contained in it for the expense of constructing a bridge over the Lachlan at Cowra, a work which had been submitted for the necessary inquiry, and was subsequently authorised to be constructed by the special Act, 54 Victoria No. 6, at a cost of £26,538.

While an absolute authority is provided for carrying out such Public Works as the above by special Act of Authorisation, under section 16 of the Public Works Act of 1888, no definite provision for funds is made to enable the constructing authority to proceed.

37. The Loan Act of 1890, authorising the raising of a further loan of £7,021,757 was passed on the 20th December, the chief items being £2,267,375 for Railways and Tramways, £1,418,759 for Water Supply and Sewerage Works, and £2,007,800 for paying off 5 per cent. Debentures maturing in 1891 and 1892. The introduction into this Act of a clause (3), intended doubtless to settled the disputed question, question, which formed the subject of correspondence with the Treasury respecting the balance at the credit of the Old Loans' Account, has drawn attention to a certain looseness of expression which has characterised the Loan Acts of recent years in regard to the appropriation of moneys raised by loan.

Strictly construed, the Loan Act of 1890 does no more than authorise "the raising of a loan" to such amount as may be required for, but not to exceed, the several sums respectively set against certain Public Works and Services therein enumerated, and, when such loan shall have been raised, "the placing of the same to the credit of 'The General Loan Account.'" There are no words of appropriation at all of the sums raised to the Services named, and this is a defect which is found in many preceding Loan Acts.

38. The "Public Works Loan Act of 1884," quoted in clause 9, in like manner omits any appropriation of the sums authorised to be raised by it, while clause 9 of the "Loan Act of 1890" distinctly appropriates portions of such sums, but quotes them as if already "appropriated" instead of "raised," as correctly quoted in the commencement of the clause.

39. Reverting again to clause 3, which commences with the words, "In addition to any of the appropriations hereby made, &c." (a statement evidently an inaccurate one), it may be seen at once that, instead of making the balance of the Old Loans Account available for the Services of the Loan Act of 1890, by a reduction of the total sum to be raised as in a former Act, 36 Victoria No. 2, the clause really puts the amount in a position in which it cannot be used for expenditure, either for new Services or for increase of sums authorised to be raised for such. The whole amount of those old balances is moreover directed to be transferred to a new fund called "The General Loan Fund," a fund distinct from any hitherto recognised in the Public Money Acts.

To utilise the amount in the way intended it will be necessary to materially amend the above quoted clause 3, which might easily have been made to apply directly towards the renewal of the old Debentures, in connection with which the unexpended balances arose, or, still more properly, towards their absolute redemption, so far as the amount would go, instead of perpetuating a debt of already thirty years standing.

This question is more fully stated in correspondence given in Appendix H, with the opinion of the Attorney-General, which was sought by the Treasury on the points raised, and which substantially confirms the views above stated.

The transfer, it may be observed, was not made until this year, but the subject falls naturally to be noticed now in connection with previous remarks. Copies of the vouchers constituting the transfer are given with the correspondence, showing that the amount has been actually placed to the new account entitled "The General Loan Fund."

40. In future Loan Acts, as indicated in paragraph 40 of last year's Report, it is most desirable that there should be a distinct appropriation clause, as in the early Loan Acts, and accompanied by directions as to the disposal of any unexpended balances found to be in excess of requirements, and also of any surplus funds that may arise from the favourable terms on which a loan may happen to be negotiated.

41. An example of this latter case occurs in the last loan of July, 1889, which was raised to cover part of the Act, 48 Victoria No. 26, and the whole of the amount authorised to be raised by the Act, 52 Victoria No. 16. The latter Act was passed exclusively for the renewal of loans falling due in 1888, 1889, and 1890, to the amount in all of £1,390,600. The loan for this purpose having been negotiated at a premium there results a sum of £10,413 15s. 5d. over raised as stated at page 102. A reference to the Act 52 Victoria No. 16, will show that there is no provision for such a contingency, and the presumption is that the amount should be transferred to the Consolidated Revenue Fund as has been the case more than once in former years—there being no appropriation to which the money can be applied. It would perhaps, be a more legitimate application of such surpluses, either arising from expenditure short of estimate, or for premiums over principal of loans negotiated, to place them to the credit of a Loans Redemption Fund to be applied, so far as it might go, to the redemption of debentures as they matured. This, however, would require the sanction of Parliament.

42. The Public Debt for Loan Services shows a reduction through the operations of the year to the amount of £595,000, which is thus accounted for—

With the above variations the distribution of the Public Debt, together with the annual interest chargeable to each service in gross, is now computed to stand as follows, viz. :—

| Services. | Principal. | | | Interest. | | |
|--------------------------------|------------|------------|-----|-----------|----|----|
| | £ | s. | d. | £ | s. | d. |
| Railways and Tramways | 38,149,638 | 12 | 10 | 1,471,298 | 11 | 4 |

43. Classified under the same general heads of service as given in Returns of 1888 and 1889, the net total expenditure for services provided for by loans to the end of 1890, reached the sum of £47,607,770 5s. 4d. A return showing that amount in annual divisions and in continuation of the statement presented with the accounts of 1888, is given in the Appendix I up to the 31st December, 1890.

44. It must be remarked here, however, that owing to a variety of causes there occur a great many payments, chiefly for Railway Services, that, after a while, have been discovered to be properly chargeable to votes differing from those under which they were originally paid—some Revenue, and some Loan Votes. To adjust these irregularities numerous transfers have to be made, and in many cases the sums have to be credited to the “Over Issues Account,” in which, not infrequently, unexpended balances arise, and so to some extent vitiate the accuracy of the expenditure as at first stated. This is especially the case when the corrections are made in a year subsequent to that in which the discrepancies are found to exist.

45. The Statement D, at page 96, shows that a total sum of £40,831 18s. 4d. had thus been recredited to Loan Services, and not reissued at the close of the year. In reference to one item in that Statement, viz., £320 3s. 10d. construction of Tramways, 46 Victoria No. 23, an illustration occurs of the difficulty of fixing payments, or transfers, to a particular head. Under that head certain transfers had been reported as made by the Treasury, which, if allowed to stand, would have barred the payment of an account for a larger sum than the balance at credit would admit of. To meet the difficulty the transfers were cancelled by the Treasury as made in 1890, and brought forward again in 1891. By that means a credit balance appears of £320 3s. 10d. instead of an excess.

46. The state of the General Loan Account at the 31st December, 1890, may be thus summarised :—

| | £ | s. | d. |
|---|------------|----|----|
| Total liability for loans actually raised and outstanding | 46,051,449 | 9 | 2 |
| Annual interest upon the same from 1st January, 1891 | 1,790,523 | 11 | 6 |
| Total expenditure for Services provided for by loans secured on the Consolidated Revenue Fund | 47,607,770 | 5 | 4 |
| Total amount of loans either raised, or authorised to be raised, but not yet applied to the several Services specified in the Loan Acts | 23,456,211 | 5 | 5 |
| Total amount of authorities to raise loans not yet acted on | 22,107,193 | 19 | 11 |
| Cash at the credit of the General Loan Account | 1,349,017 | 5 | 6 |
| Amount written off Estimates for Services in excess of requirements | 107,211 | 15 | 0 |

47. It may be proper to notice here that, prior to the passing of the Loan Act of 1890, a sum in all of £246,635 15s. 5d. was advanced by the Consolidated Revenue Fund Proper for Sundry Services which will be found specified at the foot of page 49, but was replaced to the Revenue before the close of the year, as shown at page 21.

With the exception of the last item (otherwise authorised by Act 43 Victoria No. 3) for Sydney Sewerage Works, the sanction of Parliament was given for those advances by the Temporary Supply Act 54 Victoria No. 19. The items included in that that Act, making up £320,261 in all, were subsequently duly covered by the Loan Act of 1890. A reference to the Treasurer's Advance Account Appendix E will show that, over and above the direct expenditure from the General Loan Account, there had been advanced, in anticipation of a future Loan Act, sums amounting to £55,792 14s. 2d.

THE RAILWAY ACCOUNTS.

48. Following upon the correspondence given in Appendix J to last year's Report, respecting the question of the personal signatures of the Railway Commissioners to the Accounts of Revenue and Expenditure, placed by the "Government Railways Act of 1888" under their sole control and responsibility, the Governor in Council, at the instance of the Minister for Railways, authorised the Accountant and the Chief Paymaster to the Railway Department to act jointly as the Accounting Officers for Railway Receipts under the Audit Act of 1870. Pursuant to that authority the Attested Accounts and Remittance Vouchers have been passed under the joint signatures of the two officers named. Nevertheless, the arrangement is inadequate to meet the strict requirements of the Audit Act in connection with the Government Railways Act of 1888.

49. The authority referred to was limited to the Accounts of Collections, but, as the question was raised also as to the Expenditure documents, a subsequent authority was granted by the Governor in Council, upon a minute of the Minister for Railways, appointing the Accountant alone to be the Accounting Officer for the Railway Expenditure, within the provisions of the Audit Act of 1870. This is an unsatisfactory and, to some extent, an unnecessary arrangement, in view of the provisions of the Railways Act. The correspondence on the subject is given in Appendix J, continuing that contained in Appendix J, to Report on Accounts of 1889 [vide page 156.]

50. The cash credit arrangement made in 1889 [vide Appendix D to previous Report] was abandoned early in 1890, and a cash advance of £100,000 was placed in the Bank, under the signatures of two of the Railway Commissioners, and upon a Bank acknowledgment that the amount was placed to their credit. The Treasury minute making the change also extended the application of the advance beyond the payment of wages to "general purposes," and it would thus have been available for discharging all claims chargeable against the Vote for Working Expenses. This is as it should be, but nevertheless a number of claims other than for wages were paid direct by the Treasury. It is to be regretted, when the change of the form of the account was made, that the method of accounting for the Railway Working Expenses Vote, indicated in the correspondence above referred to, was not adopted as affording a better basis for the operations of audit than that which now exists.

51. In consequence of the close relationship between the Railway and Tramway Services it is, at certain points, next to impossible to accurately separate the receipts and payments, at least so far as the Treasury Accounts are concerned. It seems, therefore, to be a better course to state the figures for both Services combined in one. This is the more necessary, as the vote for working expenses is now included in one sum for Railways and Tramways.

1889 of £150,204 19 8 |

The proportion of the above receipts contributed by Votes of Parliament, or by other sources, for the value of work done by the Railway Department, and brought to account during the year, amounted to £103,926 6s. 3d. [vide Appendix K], a decrease upon similar credits in 1889 of £28,339 11s. 3d.

52. The relation of the Railway income to the expenditure during 1890 shows still a considerable balance in favour of profit, although somewhat less than that for 1889, the gross receipts having exceeded the gross payments within the year for working expenses by the sum of £965,703 19s. 10d. The gross Cash transactions within each year (now including the Tramway Services) from 1884 to 1890, are as follow, viz. :—

| Year. | Gross receipts. | | | Gross payments from working expenses. | | | Net contribution towards interest on Capital, and charges other than working expenses. | | |

53. The local inspection by this Department of the Railway Station Accounts of passenger and goods traffic has been extended during the past year to 242 stations, but it was found impossible to overtake the 43 remaining stations open for traffic until early this year. Very good results have been obtained by the Inspectors' visits, but with the exercise of every vigilance, it is never quite safe to say that the accounts are absolutely correct—the ingenuity of dishonest minds, if baffled in one direction, ever devising new schemes for defeating the most rigid examination. To meet, in some measure, new devices of the kind, the known mode of procedure by Auditors requires to be varied by what may be termed traverse and retrospective lines of examination. The adoption of such unexpected tests of the operations of those in charge of stations during the past year has been productive productive of the best results,—notably in one case, which led to the prosecution of the station-master and the goods porter—the former being sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

54. In twenty-four cases it was considered necessary to report the condition of matters to the Railway Commissioners as more or less unsatisfactory, and it has been noticed that the number of this class of cases has of late increased considerably. The Commissioners are not slow in acting upon the reports sent in by this Department, and indeed it is a source of great satisfaction to be able to state that, for the most part, in all branches of their accounts, the Commissioners attend promptly, through their officers, to the numerous queries and representations which arise out of the examination of so large a mass of documents as the Railway Service necessarily requires for the record of its transactions.

55. The gradual extension of the Railway and Tramway Service throughout the Colony, and its connection with the Railway Services of the adjoining Colonies, will necessarily augment considerably the work connected with the audit of the Railway Accounts, both of receipts and of expenditure. In the meantime, the staff of Inspectors attached to this Department will have to be strengthened to cope, as successfully and as efficiently as hitherto, with the rapidly-increasing collections of Railway Revenue at the local stations throughout the Colony. The intervals between the visits of inspection are at present for many stations too wide to allow of that inspection being so advantageous as it might be, and as it has already in many cases proved to have been, to the Railway Revenue.

56. A list of cases is given in Appendix L in which additional rates of tolls, or variations in existing rates, were found in operation by the Inspectors without the previous authority of the Governor in Council having been obtained, but which were supplied as promptly as possible in answer to queries by this Department.

57. As noted on former occasions, the amount of the actual cash receipts, as credited to the Public Account, and the amount debited in the Railway records as earnings for any year, do not, of course, quite correspond. After a most careful test by my Inspectors of the accuracy of the monthly balance statements compiled by the Railway Traffic Auditor it has been ascertained that the combined accounts of the Railway and Tramway earnings stand as follows at the close of the year:—

| | | | |
|--|--------|-------------------|------------|
| Net outstandings at 31st December, 1889, and | | | |
| carried to debit on 1st January, 1890 | ... | £73,819 | 14 5 |
| Earnings for the year 1890 | | 3,060,239 | 12 0 |
| | | £3,134,059 | 6 5 |

Accounted for as follows:—

| | | | |

| Uncollected and outstanding | | 169,771 | 15 9 |
| | | £3,134,059 | 6 5 |

The

The amount stated as for special credits and Refunds (£20,234 7s. 11d.) does not pass through the Treasury Accounts, as it would be almost impracticable to subject them to that process, but they are not allowed to pass until the documents justifying them are produced and thoroughly scrutinised. They number some thousands in the course of a year, and it is noticed that, probably owing to the exercise of such scrutiny by this Department, much greater care is observable than formerly in the Railway Department in dealing with cases of this kind.

MISCELLANEOUS.

58. The Certificates of Discharge to the Treasurer have been issued as usual subject to the disallowances specified in Appendix M.

59. The Mint Bullion Accounts and the Savings' Bank Accounts have been found to correctly represent the books and vouchers supporting the same, and have been certified to accordingly.

60. The following Special Statements similar to those which have accompanied former years' Reports are appended, viz. :—

Statement of Advances to Public Officers and others awaiting adjustment [Appendix N].

Statement of Surcharges raised and recovered upon the Expenditure and Revenue Account [Appendix O].

Statement of Authorities granted by the Governor and Executive Council in relief of Public Accountants under Sections 30 and 31 of the Audit Act [Appendix P].

Statement of the Registration of Brands Account, 30 Victoria No. 12; of the Rabbit Account, 46 Victoria No. 14; and of the Abattoirs Fund, 14 Victoria No. 36 (Appendix Q, Nos. 1, 2, and 3).

61. The following cases of default have come under notice during the year, viz. :—

Mr. R. D. Mouritz, late Acting Clerk of Petty Sessions at Jerilderie, found deficient, £365 14s. 11d. Of this £6 10s. was recovered as salary due, and £100 from Guarantee Society. Absconded.

Mr. J. F. Buller, late Acting Crown Lands Agent at Bingera, found deficient £167.17s. Prosecuted and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. £49 17s. 6d. recovered.

E. A. RENNIE,
Auditor-General.

Department of Audit, 26th May, 1891.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 30 June, 1891.

Referring to your letter of 26th ultimo, enclosing a memorandum of the Deficiency Debt, differing to an extent of £20,098 2s. 3d. from the amount of such debt, as prepared by the Treasury, I am now directed to forward, for your information, copy of a minute approved by Mr. McMillan on the 29th instant.

I have, &c.,

F. KIRKPATRICK,

Acting Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

The Auditor-General, &c.

Deficiency Account of 1886 and previous years.

THE Auditor-General points out that the account for 1886 and previous years, as prepared by him, differs from the account prepared by the Treasury, to the extent of £20,098 2s. 3d., which is accounted for by the Auditor-General having taken into account sums repaid in 1887 and subsequent years, on account of advances made in 1886 and previous years.

It may be pointed out, however, that since the year 1878 repayments to the credit of votes have not been taken in reduction of the expenditure, as I think they should have been, but have been credited to revenue, under the general heading of Miscellaneous Receipts.

In the year 1887 these repayments amounted to the sum of £23,904 6s. 8d., and this sum will be found in the total of the revenue and receipts for that year, certified as correct by the Auditor-General. Had the Auditor-General objected to this sum being included in the receipts for the year, as he now says part of it was for 1886 and previous years, he should, I think, have pointed it out.

But, even allowing the Auditor-General to be correct, the account is not so bad as at first sight appears.

It

It can hardly be contended that repayments for services of the years 1882 and previous years should be taken in reduction of a deficiency which did not occur until long after, as such repayments, if properly dealt with, would have gone to increase the balance at the credit of the account for 1882 and previous years.

In examining the statements of repayments, I find the following sums repaid on account of services of 1882 and previous years, viz.:—

| | | | | | | | | |
|-------------------|--------------------------|---------------------------|-----|-----|-----|--------|--------|-----|
| 1887 repayments— | Services of 1877 to 1882 | ... | ... | ... | ... | £1,612 | 14 | 9 |
| 1888 | „ | Services of 1881 and 1882 | ... | ... | ... | 123 | 16 | 10 |
| 1889 | „ | Services of 1877 to 1882 | ... | ... | ... | 216 | 6 | 4 |
| 1890 | „ | Services of 1876 to 1882 | ... | ... | ... | 2,561 | 4 | 1 |
| Making a total of | | | | | | ... | £4,514 | 2 0 |

In addition to this sum there was an amount voted in 1883 for erection of shipping office,—£10,000. This shipping office was included in the Customs building, but it was thought advisable, although the amount was legally available, to revoke the amount, as a charge against the revenue of 1889. If this sum of 10,000 0 0 be added to the repayments for services of 1882 and previous years, it makes an amount of £14,514 2 0 as against the £20,098 2s. 3d., difference pointed out by the Auditor-General.

I may be allowed to state that the account for 1886 and previous years is practically closed, there being but one outstanding claim, and, as the deficiency has been met by Treasury Bills, I fail to see that any good purpose could be served by reopening the matter. The account has disappeared from the Ways and Means; part of the deficiency has been redeemed by a charge of £150,000 on the revenue of last year, and, although, strictly speaking, the repayments should have been credited, yet, for the reasons stated, I do not think the account should be disturbed.

F. KIRKPATRICK.

The Treasury, N.S.W., 5 June, 1891.

Approved.—W.M., 29/6/91.

Sir,

Department of Audit, 2 July, 1891.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 30th ultimo, covering a copy of a minute respecting a difference of £20,098 2s. 3d., shown to exist in the Treasury Statement of the Deficiency Debt, from a computation made by me. I have the honor to request that you will have the goodness to express to the Colonial Treasurer my regret that I cannot concur in the views set forth in the minute referred to. Revotes of votes lapsed in previous years are always charged to the year in which or for which the revotes are given. The £10,000 vote referred to was distinctly voted for, and has been paid as a service of, 1889, and is, moreover, adopted in the Ways and Means for 1890 (dated 4th December, 1889) as for the year 1889. It cannot therefore now be drawn in on any ground as a part of the account of 1886 and previous years.

Again, the repayments in 1890 on account of Services, 1876 to 1882, include a repayment on account of the Free Public Library to the amount of £2,314 6s. 6d., while an expenditure of £3,676 10s. 10d., on account of which the repayment is made is charged in 1890 as a part of the Deficiency Debt.

As to the remaining small items, it is obvious that the overdraft at the close of 1886 would have been less if these items had been known and brought to account, whether in 1882, or in any other year prior to 1887, and being now known they are fairly and very properly taken into account in ascertaining what the real position of the account was at 31st December, 1886.

The statement as to a change in the mode of dealing with these repayments does not appear to me to have any bearing on the question now at issue, and, so far, I see no reason whatever to alter my computation, carried out, as it is, on the same lines as that of the Treasury; but I quite agree that no further debits or credits beyond the year 1890 should be taken to alter the Deficiency Statement, as amended by my memorandum enclosed in letter of 26th May last.

I have, &c.,

E. A. RENNIE,

Auditor-General.

The Acting Under Secretary, Finance and Trade.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 8 July, 1891.

Referring to your letter of the 2nd instant, on the subject of the deficiency for 1886 and previous years, I am now desired by the Colonial Treasurer to intimate that the account in question has been closed by the issue of Treasury Bills; and, as a part of such Bills has been redeemed by a charge upon the revenue of a year subsequent to 1886, Mr. McMillian wishes me to add that he fails to see that any good can result from reopening the account, especially as it has disappeared from the Ways and Means for some time past.

I have, &c.,

F. KIRKPATRICK,

Acting Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

The Auditor-General, &c., &c., &c.

APPENDIX C.

Authority for Variations of Expenditure for Road Services under Schedule D to Public Works Estimates for 1890.

Department of Audit, Sydney, 16 August, 1890.

| Treasury Payments Account, Roads and Bridges Department. The vote, £15,000 for "Contingent Work on Roads and Works under Department" having been overdrawn on the 5th instant to the extent of £686 6s. 8d., it is requested that the vote against which it is proposed to charge the excess may be stated, as well as the authority for so doing. E. A. RENNIE. The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade. | The authority of the Hon. the Minister is necessary in this and all similar excesses. With regard to any item under the Schedules being exceeded, it is held that it is unnecessary to make transfers, as, under the Appropriation Act, 53 Vic. No. 25, so long as the whole vote under each Department is not exceeded, the provision under section 12 of the Audit Act has been carried out. To make these unnecessary transfers would lead to confusion without any purpose being served. G.E. Treasury, B.C., 21 August, 1890.
The Under Secretary for Public Works. |

Mr. Hickson,—I think the transfers are quite unnecessary.—J.B., 29/8/90. All that is required is the approval of the Minister. This has been obtained to all expenditure under this item.—J.R.H., 3/9/90. Under Secretary.

I have since seen Mr. Rennie on this subject, and he thinks an Executive minute should be obtained to cover all our action in this matter; this we can obtain at the end of the year, or beginning of next; this will be in time for Mr. Rennie's annual report.—J.B., 8/9/90. Mr. Hickson.

Department of Audit, Sydney, 29 August, 1890.

| Observation or Query. | Explanation or Answer. |
|---|------------------------|
| Treasury Payments, August, 1890.—C.R. Fund. With reference to a query intimating that the vote "Contingent Works on Roads under the Department" had been overdrawn on the 5th instant to the extent of £686 6s. 8d., it is further pointed out that the vote is still being operated upon. Explanation is requested. E. A. RENNIE. The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade. | |

In terms of the Appropriation the Department has power to exceed any one of the items set down in schedule so long as the total amount of "item" is not exceeded.—F.K. (for Under Secretary), B.C., Treasury. The Auditor-General, 2/9/90.

The terms of appropriation are not read as authorising an excess of expenditure, but as authorising any excess of appropriation on any head of service being made available to meet a deficiency of appropriation on any other head of service. No surplus (or excess) can be allowed to be so applied without the authority of the Governor and Executive Council, as provided by the 18th section of the Audit Act.—E.A.R., B.C., 8/9/90. The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Accountant.—G.E., 11/9/90.

I fail to see that the 18th section of the Audit Act can have anything to do with the matter, these items being for special votes for Public Works and not for fixed establishments.—J.P. The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

The Auditor-General.—G.E., 12/9/90.

I have no alternative but to disallow all excesses over individual items, except under the authority of the Governor and Executive Council distinctly applying a saving on some other item under the same heading to meet the excess of expenditure.—E.A.R., B.C., 22/9/90. The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Subject:—The following clause in the Appropriation Act of 1890:—"Public works and services (irrespective of date of claims, and subject to such alterations within the limit of the total vote for each branch, as the exigencies of any case may demand from time to time, the excess on any item being available for a deficiency on any other)."

THE above clause (which appears for the first time in an Appropriation Act) provides that any excess on one head of service under the Works Department can be covered by any balance available on any other head, providing they are under the same branch. The Auditor-General insists that each case must be approved by the Governor and Executive Council, as provided for under the 18th section of the Audit Act. (See query attached.)

The word "Item," as used by the Auditor-General in his queries is not correct, that term signifying a separate amount voted, and is given a number, whilst, as he applies it in these cases, it is only a sub-heading under the item, and embraced in a schedule not referred to in the Appropriation Act, but only in the Estimates, and kept as a subsidiary account. The 18th section (copy herewith) referred to deals only with fixed establishments, special services, and works being excluded therefrom. To transfer from one head to cover excess on another, would lead to confusion and be utterly valueless. Say we transfer from B to cover excess on A, in due course we have charges on B and it becomes exhausted; we have then to transfer from C to cover excess on B, and so on, without any end being obtained.

So long as the whole sum voted under the "Item number" is not exceeded, the law, as laid down by the Audit Act, is carried out.

I would suggest that this Minute be referred to the Under Secretary for Public Works, who may be able to say with what view the clause in the Appropriation Act herein quoted was inserted.

J. PEARSON,

The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Accountant, 29/9/90.

Special. The Under Secretary for Public Works.—G.E., B.C., 30/9/90.

Audit Act of 1870 (section 18).

"If the exigencies of the Public Service render it necessary, the Governor, with the advice aforesaid, shall have power to authorise the application of any balances under the head of any services for fixed establishments, other than special votes for public works remaining unexpended, for the purpose of supplementing any votes for other services found insufficient to meet the requirements thereof. And a statement of all such applications of balances, as well as copies of all minutes of the Governor-in-Council relative thereto, shall be submitted by the Auditor-General to Parliament, within seven days if in Session, and, if not, within seven days after the commencement of the next ensuing session."

My dear Mr. Barling,

Department of Audit, Sydney, 7 October, 1890.

Your note of 3rd instant has only just reached me. When I stated to you that I thought an authority at the last of the year might be sufficient for you varying the sums on the Road Schedules, I did not think of the immediate difficulty I should have with the Treasury payments as they occur from day to day, and which I found myself obliged to disallow as you may see by the papers now returned. Having looked again very closely into the matter I see clearly that you are not entitled to overdraw any item under a total vote for any branch until you can show a saving on some other. Otherwise as you may easily see, a portion, if not the whole, of certain sums of money appropriated to specified roads and bridges must of necessity disappear altogether, and this will not likely be allowed to happen without inquiry in Parliament. Mr. Pearson's minute does not cover the case.

Yours, &c.,

E. A. RENNIE.

J. Barling, Esq., Under Secretary for Public Works.

Please let me know what your estimated saving would be at the end of the year.—J.B., 7/10/90.
Mr. Hickson's memo. attached.—O.C.

Minute Paper.

Department of Public Works, Roads and Bridges Branch, Sydney, 11 October, 1890.

THE only sub-head on our estimates we can rely upon having a saving at the end of the year is the amount for minor roads under Department as per Schedule D No. 2 (£370,000); on this we shall have a balance of at least £100,000, which will more than cover the excesses on other schedules.

It is suggested that Executive authority be obtained for charging such excesses against the balance above referred to. O.C.

Submitted.—J.B., 15/12/90.

Approved.—B.S., 15/12/90.

Subject:—Road Votes, 1890.

Department of Public Works, Sydney, 15 December, 1890.

FOR the reasons set forth in the accompanying papers, I have the honour to recommend, for the approval of His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council, that the sum of £100,000, being the estimated saving on account of subvote of £370,000 for Minor Roads, Schedule D, on the estimates of this Department for 1890, be appropriated for the purpose of covering the cost of urgent road and bridge works which would be otherwise chargeable to the subvote for contingencies and unclassified roads.

This authority is asked in pursuance of the proviso which appears in the Appropriation Act for this year, and is to the following effect:—

"Public Works and Services, irrespective of dates of claims, and subject to such alterations within the limit of the total vote for each branch as the exigencies of any case may demand from time to time, the excess on any item being available for a deficiency on any other."

The necessity for this transfer is due to the excessive expenditure caused by the severe rains and consequent floods which visited the Colony during the year.

BRUCE SMITH.

The Executive Council advise that authority be granted for the appropriation of the amount referred to as proposed.—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council. Minute 90-54, 16/12/90. Confirmed, 23/12/90. Approved.—B.S., 16/12/90. B.C., Auditor-General.—J.B., 31/12/90.

I certify that the amount charged in this voucher as to computations, castings, and rates, is correct; that the service has been faithfully performed; and that the expenditure is duly authorised in terms of the Audit Act.

H. DEANE, Head of the Department.

I hereby authorise the amount of the above certificate in my favour to be paid on my behalf to Australian Joint Stock Bank, Sydney.

For S. T. LEIGH & Co.
T. E. PARKER.

The work was urgently required in order to carry out the Minister's instructions, and his special authority was not necessary.—H.D., 9/9/90. The Auditor-General B.C.

It is pointed out that the voucher is charged to a service under 48 Vic. No. 26, but which was negatived by the Legislative Council, and practically repealed by the Public Works Act of 1888. The recent Act 54 Vic. No. 3, authorises a different appropriation, and was not in force until the 6th August, 1890. The account cannot therefore be passed as it stands.—E.A.R., 26/9/90, B.C. The Engineer-in-Chief for Railways

The Railway has been authorised by Parliament, and a contract let for construction. This payment is part of the expense involved.—H.D., 30/9/90. The Auditor-General. It is submitted then, that the payment be charged to the appropriation under 54 Vic. No. 3, with the sanction of the Minister and the Treasurer, as the expense was incurred prior to the date of that Act.—E.A.R., 2/10/90, B.C. The Engineer-in-Chief for Railways.

Department of Public Works.

Subject:—Authority for payment to S. T. Leigh & Co., for work performed.

THE appropriation for the construction of the railway from Culcairn to Corowa is 48 Vic. No. 26, and clause No. 3 of 54 Vic., No. 3, provides that the cost of this work shall be defrayed from such Loan Votes as are now or may hereafter be applicable thereto.

W.H.Q., 9/10/90.

H.D., 9/10/90. Auditor-General.

Memorandum on papers, query, 29th July, 1890, Voucher No. 2,377.

Department of Audit, Sydney, 14 October, 1890.

THE construction of the line of railway from Culcairn to Corowa was negatived by the Legislative Council, and could not be carried out under 48 Victoria No. 26, nor until a specific Act authorising it was obtained, under the provisions of the Public Works Act of 1888. The Act 48 Victoria, No. 26, now gives no authority, therefore, as an appropriation, and as an authority to borrow it cannot be held to exceed the amount quoted in the new Act 54 Victoria, No. 3, £188,765, as the authorised cost of constructing a railway line from Culcairn to Corowa. The difference between the sum of £210,000, quoted in the Act 48 Victoria, No. 26, and that of the Appropriating Act, 54 Victoria, No. 3, or £21,235 will require to be written off, or possibly with other sums in a like position, may need to be dealt with by Act of Parliament. The payment is stated to have been part of the expense involved in letting the contract under the authority given by the Act 54 Victoria, No. 3, but the expense was incurred and the amount paid before the authority of Parliament was obtained. It cannot, therefore, be allowed to stand as a legitimate charge against the Act 48 Victoria, No. 26, nor can it be now transferred from its position of an unauthorised payment to the position of a charge against 54 Victoria, No. 3, except on the express sanction of the Treasurer and the Secretary for Public Works.

The papers are again submitted for the required authority.

E. A. RENNIE,
Auditor-General.

The Engineer-in-Chief,
Railway Construction Branch, Works Department.

Minute Paper.

Department of Public Works, Railway Branch,
Engineer-in-Chief's Office, Sydney, 18 October, 1890.

Subject:—Cost of lithographic printing of plan, &c., Railway, Culcairn to Corowa.

I HAVE the honor to forward herewith, for the approval of the honorable the Minister, a voucher for £83 5s., for lithographic printing of plan and section of the line from Culcairn to Corowa. It was intended in the first instance to have had the work done at the Government Printing Office, but the proof sheet supplied by the Government Printer was not satisfactory, and as the work was very urgently required I had no alternative but to follow the course hitherto adopted, of sending the work to Messrs. S. T. Leigh

Leigh & Co. Objection has been raised by the Auditor-General to the payment of the account from the Loan Vote, 48 Vic. No. 26, unless by the special approval of the hon. the Minister, as that Act, he contends, gives no authority as an appropriation, and the expense was incurred prior to the passing of 54 Vic. No. 3.

It will be within the recollection of the honorable the Minister that he gave me specific instructions verbally to have all the plans, &c., in readiness, so that tenders could be invited immediately on the passing of the Act authorising the construction of the line.

The Under Secretary for Works.

H. DEANE,
Acting Engineer-in-Chief.

List—J.B., 21/10/90. 90-2,355. Approved by Minister. Order, No. 3,273.—D.C.M'L., 24/10/90.—J.B. Mr. Deane.—J.B., B.C., 24-27/10/90. The Auditor-General to be informed.—H.D., 27/10/90. The Auditor-General, B.C., 28/10/90.

Sir,

Department of Audit, Sydney, 25 November, 1890.

I have the honour to request that you will kindly favour me with a reply to the memorandum addressed to you on the 14th ultimo, on papers No. 90-2,355 (R.C.B.), respecting the appropriation for the construction of the line of railway from Culcairn to Corowa, as the matter appears to be still unsettled.

I have, &c.,

E. A. RENNIE,
Auditor-General.

The Engineer-in-Chief, Railway Construction Branch.

Ministerial approval of expenditure was forwarded to Auditor-General on 28th October last.—H.D., 26/10/90. The Auditor-General, B.C. Will Mr. Barling please say what has been done in this matter. The papers were returned to him personally when it was pointed out that my objection had not been met by the minute sent on to me.—E.A.R., B.C., 28/11/90. The Under Secretary for Public Works. Urgent. Submitted.—J.B., 24/2/91. The Minister for Works has already given his authority for the transfer required by the Auditor-General, perhaps that of the Treasurer may now be asked.—J.B., 14/2/91. Approved.—W.M., 16/2/91. The Under Secretary Finance and Trade.—J.B., 16/2/91. The Under Secretary for Public Works. Colonial Treasurer's approval herewith.—G.E. The Treasury, B.C., 23/2/91. The Auditor-General, 26/2/91.

APPENDIX H.

Interpretation of clause 3 of the Loan Act of 1890, 54 Vic. No. 33.

Sir,

Department of Audit, 30 January, 1891.

I have the honor to point out, for the information and consideration of the Colonial Treasurer, that according to the wording of clause 3 of the Loan Act 54 Vic. No. 33, the balance of the old Loans Account is to be transferred to the credit of a fund hitherto unknown in the public accounts, but assumed to exist as "the General Loan Fund."

The effect of that operation is to establish a new account, distinct from the "General Loan Account," to the credit of which all moneys raised by the authority of Loan Acts subsequently to 42 Victoria No. 16 have hitherto been directed to be placed, and clause 2 of the Act 54 Victoria No. 33 is in like terms.

If, as is possible, it was not intended to open a separate account, and the quotation of a new fund was an unintentional inaccuracy, a transfer to the General Loan Account would have the effect of simply creating an extra credit to that account of a sum that cannot, as the clause stands, be applied to, nor used for, any of the services specified in the first clause until properly appropriated as Parliament may direct. It will be observed that the Act 54 Victoria No. 33 authorises the raising of a loan, for such sums as may be required, to meet certain specified services, not exceeding the several sums set against each, up to the amount in all of £7,021,757, and makes no provision for that amount, in whole or in part, being reduced by the balance at the credit of the "old Loans Account." On the contrary, that balance is made to appear an additional appropriation for the services already limited to the total above quoted, and to the several sums making up said total, an arrangement which it must be presumed was not contemplated by the introduction of the clause 3 in question. In a former case, where a surplus of loan money was utilised for loan services, the amount to be raised by a certain Act was reduced by such surplus, while the sums voted and applied to services were retained at their full amount, including the amount of surplus. The Act referred to is 36 Vic. No. 2.

In another paper I have called attention to the inadequacy of the language of certain Loan Acts (and the Act now in question is open to the same objection) to express a direct appropriation or application of the moneys borrowed under their authority to the services specified. A comparison of the wording of the Acts prior to 35 Victoria No. 5, of those 35 Vic. No. 5 to 41 Vic. No. 7, of those 43 Vic. No. 11 to 45 Vic. No. 22, and lastly of 46 Vic. No. 23 and 48 Vic. No. 26, will show marked differences of expression and a growing looseness of language respecting the application of moneys raised by loan to the Public Service, until now it is left to be inferred instead of being directly stated, what is to be done with the money after it has been placed to the credit of the General Loan Account. In the meantime, the amount, now constituting a General Loan Fund under vouchers dated 12th instant, will have to remain untouched until an amending Act be passed in due course, conveying a properly-defined appropriation or application of the sum in question.

Memorandum.

The Treasury, New South Wales, 13 February, 1891.

THE Auditor-General, in the accompanying letter, dated 30th January, 1891, with respect to clause 3, of the Loan Act, 54 Victoria No. 33, points out in the first place that the balance at the credit of the Old Loans Account has been authorised to be transferred to the credit of a fund, which has hitherto been unknown in the Public Accounts.

In the second place the Auditor-General states that this balance, if credited to the General Loan Account, cannot be used until properly appropriated by Parliament, and in the third place he refers to the absence of a specific appropriation or application of the moneys authorised by the Loan Act, 54 Victoria No. 33, and previous Acts. Regarding the first matter I may state that the General Loan Fund, specified in clause 3 of the Act referred to, is identical with the General Loan Account, the General Loan Fund being the fund created by moneys raised under Loan Acts, and the General Loan Account being the formal method of keeping and exhibiting the condition of such fund. An analogy of expression may be found in the terms "Consolidated Revenue Fund," and "Consolidated Revenue Account," both of which are used by the Auditor-General in his report on the Public Accounts for the year 1889, pages 128 and 129, sections 3 and 6.

Moreover, the balance has been actually transferred to the credit of the General Loan Account. That the fund existed at the date of the transfer is evident from the fact that there was a large balance at the credit of the Account.

With respect to the second matter, it appears to me there is a clear appropriation of the sum authorised to be transferred, as the clause states, "the money shall be applied towards meeting the services authorised by this Act." (54 Victoria No. 33.)

The Auditor-General states, however, that there is authority in the Act for raising the whole sum required for the purposes specified therein without this balance. There is nothing in the Act, however, precluding a less sum being raised than that authorised, the amount to be raised therefore can be less the balance of the Old Loans Account transferred.

With reference to the changes which have occurred in the wording of the Loan Acts, I find that the Loan Acts, prior to the Act, 35 Victoria No. 5, expressed an appropriation or application of the moneys borrowed to the respective purposes for which the same were raised under the Acts. The Act, 35 Victoria No. 5, and all the Acts up to 41 Victoria No. 7, precluded the application of the money raised thereunder to any other service.

For instance, the moneys raised under the Act 35 Victoria No. 5 could not be used for Loan Services authorised under 36 Victoria No. 2, 36 Victoria No. 17, or any other Loan Act. In consequence of this strict law with respect to loan moneys it followed that there were at times large sums in the possession of the Government, on which interest was accruing which could not be used, and more moneys had to be raised for carrying out Loan Services under other Acts. This unsatisfactory state of affairs lasted from 1871 to 1879, when the Government, hampered by the restrictions in the Loans Acts, passed an Act amalgamating the Loan Funds raised under the Special Acts, 35 Victoria No. 5 to 41 Victoria No. 7, and providing for the establishing of a General Loan Account, so that moneys borrowed under any of the Acts stated, or under any future Loan Acts, could be used for Loan Services—the only restriction being, "that no portion of the money included in such General Loan Account shall be applied or used for any purpose other than services authorised to be provided for by Loans." In

In the years 1879 and 1880, each of the Loan Acts contains a clause, as follows:—

“All sums borrowed or authorised to be applied under this Act, shall be paid to the Colonial Treasurer, and shall be by him placed to the credit of the General Loan Account.”

In the Loan Acts of 1881 it was directed that the money borrowed should be placed to a separate credit to be called, “the General Loan Account.”

In the Public Works Loan Act of 1883 the words “or authorised to be applied” were omitted, because as I take it such appropriation was a restriction, inconsistent with the terms of the Loans Fund Amalgamation Act of 1879, which authorised the application of money raised under any future Act to any Loan Service.

From the year 1883 to the present time no variation has occurred in the wording of the Loan Acts, respecting the disposal of the moneys to be raised thereunder.

As the matters brought under notice by the Auditor-General seem to me to involve questions of the true construction of Acts of Parliament, I would suggest the papers be referred for the opinion of the Honorable the Attorney-General on the points raised.

*Subject:—*Re clause 3, “Loan Act, 54 Vic. No. 33, as to the transferring of the unexpended balance at the credit of Old Loans Account to the credit of an Account called the ‘General Loan Fund,’ and applying this balance for services specified in Act 54 Vic. No. 33, without being specially appropriated by Parliament.”

Sir,

I have the honor to return herewith the papers relating to the above matter, which were forwarded to me from your Department on the 27th day of February, 1891, and to state that I have submitted them to Mr. Attorney-General Simpson, a copy of whose advising thereon will be found upon the other side of this letter.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WILLIAMS,
Crown Solicitor.

The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Copy of Opinion of the Attorney-General.

I HAVE, as carefully as possible, considered the letter of the Auditor-General, of 30th January, 1891, and the memo. of Mr. Kirkpatrick, of the 13th February, 1891, and I am unable to ascertain at all definitely from these papers the points upon which my opinion is desired. A properly-drawn précis should always be submitted, and it should set forth as specifically as possible the questions upon which my advice is sought. It is very inconsistent, and gives me a great deal of unnecessary trouble, when, as in the present instance, papers are merely sent without such a précis as I have indicated. As far as I am able to understand the matter and the Act I have come to the conclusion that the expressions respectively used in sections 2 and 3 of 54 Vic. No. 33, “the General Loan Account” and “the General Loan Fund” mean substantially the same thing, and that the unexpended balance of all money raised by way of loan under all Acts authorising the raising of loans prior to the Act 35 Vic. No. 5, and standing in the books of the Treasury at the credit of an account known as the “Old Loans Account” are transferred to the credit of the General Loan Account, and may be used without any further appropriation by Parliament, for the carrying out of the respective works, and for the several purposes specified in the Act 54 Vic. No. 33, and that any further sums which may be required for such work and purposes can be raised under the provisions of that Act, and if the money authorised to be raised under 54 Vic. No. 33 is not sufficient the amount transferred from the Old Loans Account may be used in addition.

G. B. SIMPSON, A.G.,
7/3/91.

It is, no doubt, very desirable that great particularity of expression should be used in Loan Acts, and the observations of the Auditor-General appear to me to be entitled to serious consideration.—G.B.S., 7/3/91.

Sir,

Department of Audit, 7 April, 1891.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 23rd ultimo, covering copy of opinion by the Attorney-General upon the matters submitted for the consideration of the Colonial Treasurer, in my letter of 30th January last, and to state now, for the information of the Treasurer, that as I read it the Attorney-General's advising goes no further than this: that if the proceeds of a Loan negotiated under the authority of the Act 54 Vic. No. 33, should fall short of the £7,021,757, named as the limit of the amount to be raised, the money on hand at credit of the Old Loans Account may be used to meet the deficiency. The Attorney-General does not say that in so using the money in question the specific sums set opposite the respective services for which a loan is to be raised, are to be increased; and that is the point I contend for as an inadmissible course without the assent of Parliament.

By a very great strain of interpretation it might possibly be argued that the amount of the Old Loans balance may be distributed as a pro rata addition to each service specified in the Act 54 Vic. No. 33, but it is hardly possible that such a view could be seriously entertained. The use of the money as a part of the total loan proposed by the Act quoted does not, of course, require any further authority from Parliament than that already implied by clause 3.

I have, &c.,

E. A. RENNIE,
Auditor-General.

The Acting Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Accounts, January to June, inclusive, signed and sent to Auditor-General.—F.W., 6/8/90. Secretary, B.C., 7/8/90. Forwarded to the Auditor-General for his information.—H. M'L. (p. J.A.S.), 8/8/90.

Sir,

Department of Audit, Sydney, 25 November, 1890.

Referring to my minute of 26th March last on Treasury paper marked 90/142, Railways, I have the honor to request that you will invite the attention of the Colonial Treasurer to the still open question respecting the signatures to vouchers in connection with the expenditure for the Railway Service under the Railway Act, 51 Victoria No. 35.

The question of signatures to the attested accounts and receipt vouchers having been disposed of by the minute of the Governor and the Executive Council, No. 90/30, confirmed on the 22nd July last, those accounts will now be accepted by me on the joint signatures of Messrs. Wickham and Bryant, although I am still of opinion that the arrangement is inadequate to meet the requirements of the Railways and Audit Acts.

With respect to the expenditure, however, there is no authority given for the obligatory receipts to account for advances placed to the credit of the Railway Commissioners being signed by Mr. Wickham, pro Commissioner. I must repeat that such signature is not a satisfactory one, and would suggest that as the expenditure is by Statute placed under the control and management of the Commissioners, there is not the same necessity, as in the case of ordinary heads of Departments, for taking their personal obligatory receipts to account, and that the banker's acknowledgment of the receipt of the moneys placed to the Commissioners' credit be held, and I am prepared to accept it, as a sufficient acquittance for the Treasury, provided that the Treasury inform the Commissioners, once for all, that they must furnish acquitted accounts to the Treasury or to this office for their disbursements of such moneys within a limited period after the advances have been placed to their credit. I shall feel obliged by an early answer, as it is desirable to have this matter settled before the close of the year.

I have, &c.,

The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade, &c., &c.

E. A. RENNIE,

Auditor-General.

Sir,

Department of Audit, Sydney, 27 February, 1891.

I have the honour to remind you of my letter of 25th November last, referring to my minute of 26th March, 1890, on Treasury Paper, No. 90/142 (Rlys.), and pointing out that the question respecting the signatures to vouchers in connection with the expenditure for the Railway Service is still an open one, &c., and to request that you will kindly inform me when I may expect a reply thereto.

I have, &c.,

The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

E. A. RENNIE,

Auditor-General.

The Commissioners for Railways.—W.M., 3/3/91. The Secretary for Railways.—F.K., B.C., 3/3/91. Chief Accountant.—H.M'L., 5/3/91. It would, I think, meet the case if we obtained similar authority for expenditure as for collections.—H.M'L., 19/3/91. Submit suggestion for approval.—W.M.F., C.O., 19/3/91. Done, 24/3/91.

Office of the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, Sydney, 26 March, 1891.

Re Railway Expenditure Vouchers.

THE Auditor-General is pressing for settlement of question as to the attested accounts in connection with Railway expenditure.

The

The matter was previously under notice in February, 1890, when a communication was sent to you asking that Mr. Wickham be made the Accounting Officer. I forward copy of letter, and the Commissioners will be glad if it can be arranged for the course suggested therein being approved.

H. M'LACHLAN,

The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Secretary.

The Executive minute, furnishing the authority for Mr. Wickham and Mr. Bryant to sign as "Accounting Officers" in connection with Railway receipts, was sent to the Railways on 24/7/90. I now understand that a similar authority is required as regards Railway expenditure.—F.H.G., 1/4/91.

Appd.—W.M., 1/4/91. Minute herewith.—F.H.G., 3/4/91.

Minute Paper for the Executive Council.

Subject :—Appointment of Mr. Francis John Wickham, Accountant of the Railway Department, to be the Accounting Officer for Railway expenditure, within the provisions of the "Audit Act of 1870."

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 3 April, 1891.

THE Colonial Treasurer, as Minister for Railways, recommends, for the approval of His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council, that Mr. Francis J. Wickham, Accountant of the Railway Department, be appointed to act as the "Accounting Officer" for Railway expenditure under the "Audit Act of 1870."

W. McMILLAN.

His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council.

The Executive Council advise that the appointment herein recommended be approved.—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council. Min: 91-16-7/4/91. Approved.—JERSEY, 7/4/91. Confirmed, 14/4/91. The Secretary for Railways.—F.K., B.C., Treasury, 15-17/4/91. Forwarded for the information of the Auditor-General. I should like to have the papers back as early as possible.—H.M'L. (per J.A.S.), 29/4/91.

DISBURSEMENT OF THE PUBLIC REVENUE.

(PETITION FROM CERTAIN FARMERS RESIDING IN THE NORTH COAST DISTRICT, RESPECTING THE.

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 14 March, 1892.

The Honorable the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONORABLE HOUSE,—

We, citizens of the Colony of New South Wales, farmers residing in the North Coast District, most humbly and respectfully desire to draw your attention to the following information given by the Hon. the Colonial Secretary, in reply to a question asked in your Honorable House, on February, the 2nd instant, by Mr. Wright, M.L.A., viz.:—"That Major Churchwood, in addition to his salary of £550 per annum, received the following allowances:—Lodging allowance, £120; forage allowance, £64; stabling allowance, £50; fuel and light allowance, £23 4s.; ration allowance, £18 12s.; and the use of a soldier servant."

Further, that a Superintendent of Silk Farming has been appointed at £500 a year.

As taxpayers and large contributors to the Public Revenue, by the payment of interest on the balance of money due on conditional purchases, we humbly pray your Hon. House to consider the following facts.

Your Petitioners have selected land on the Upper Oidra and other localities in the neighbourhood of Coff's Harbour. We took up land that required immense labour to clear and bring into condition for cultivation, and we have hopefully expended our labour and money in clearing our lands and forming our homes, under the expectation that the Government would construct the customary main road works necessary to give pioneer settlers access to markets.

For five years our residents have constantly appealed to the Minister for Works, and urged and pleaded that such work should be done; but as yet no main road is completed to give your Petitioners relief, and we are confronted with the statement that there is no money in the Treasury available for such work. In consequence of this failure, your Petitioners have become impoverished, and unable to provide our wives and little ones with the necessaries of civilisation; and our condition is rendered more deplorable from the fact that we are compelled by Act of Parliament to reside on our lands.

We humbly ask your Hon. House to remember the general depression that affects all classes in this colony, and to consider, in view of this fact, if it is just that the public money should be so lavishly paid to public servants when money cannot be granted to construct the most necessary ordinary public works usually undertaken by the State to enable pioneer settlers to open up the country and make it productive. In the interest of ourselves and other taxpayers, we humbly pray that your Honorable House will take such steps as will ensure a more just and satisfactory disbursement of the public revenue.

And we, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

[Here follow 24 signatures.]

TREASURY BALANCES.

(APPLICATION OF AMOUNTS FROM ONE HEAD OF SERVICE TO SUPPLEMENT A VOTE FOR ANOTHER SERVICE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 22 February, 1892.

The Auditor-General to The Speaker of the Legislative Assembly.

Sir,

Department of Audit, Sydney, 20 February, 1892.

Under the directions contained in the 18th section of the "Audit Act of 1870," I do myself the honor to submit to you, for presentation to the Legislative Assembly, copy of a Minute of His Excellency the Governor and Executive Council, dated 29th January, 1892, authorising the transfer of an amount from one head of service to supplement a vote for another service.

I have, &c.,

E. A. RENNIE,

Auditor-General.

Minute Paper for the Executive Council.

Transfer of £500 from the Vote for Contingencies at the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, to the Vote for Contingencies at the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park.

Colonial Secretary's Office, 25 January, 1892.

For the reasons set forth in the paper herewith, I recommend in terms of the 18th section of the "Audit Act of 1870" that the sum of £500 be transferred from the Vote for Contingencies at the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Item No. 31, "Appropriation Act, 1891"), to the Vote for Contingencies at the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park (Item No. 34, "Appropriation Act, 1891.")

GEORGE R. DIBBS.

The Executive Council advise that authority be granted for the transfer of the sum of £500 from the vote to the vote specified.—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council. Min. 92/4, 29/1/92. Confirmed, 9/2/92. Approved.—JERSEY, 29/1/92.

LOAN OF £4,500,000.

(RETURN SHOWING PARTICULARS RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 23 September, 1891.

RETURN showing the amount of the late Loan tendered for, and other particulars respecting the Loan (laid upon the Table in accordance with the promise made to Mr. Dibbs, Question No. 17, Votes No. 32 (Proof), 22nd September, 1891).

| Amount of late Loan tendered for. | Particulars of Amounts tendered for by Colonial Banks. | Amount tendered for by Bank of England | Amount required to repay advances in anticipation of Loan. | Amount required to pay off Debentures maturing 1st January, 1892 | Amount represented by Discount at which Loan was floated. | Estimated cost of floating Loan. |

NOTES.—There were no arrangements made between the Government and the four Colonial Banks named in the second column as conditions for their tendering, but as certain amounts were due to such Banks in Sydney, repayment was arranged for in London by means of the return to the Banks in question of the moneys lodged by them for the scrip of the new Loan, with a further arrangement for exchange at current rates being allowed by the Government for the remittance of the money to Sydney.

No special terms were made with the Bank of England, but after the Loan was negotiated the Agent-General was instructed to repay the advances made by such Bank to the Government by returning to the Bank the sums lodged for scrip, as in the case of the local banks.

It is estimated that, after providing for advances, and for Debentures maturing 1st January next, there will be a balance of the Loan remaining to the extent of about £930,000.

The accrued interest allowed to purchasers would be from 1st to 16th September, at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum.

CUSTOMS DUTIES BILL.

(PETITION FROM ARMITAGE WILKINSON, CLOTHING MANUFACTURER, SYDNEY, IN REFERENCE TO DUTY ON WOOLLEN GOODS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 18 January, 1892.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The humble Petition of Armitage Wilkinson, of 201, 228, and 238, Clarence-street, Sydney, clothing manufacturer,—

SHOWETH,—

1. That I am the resident partner for Australia of the firm of Wallace and Company, carrying on business in England and Australia as manufacturers of clothing.

2. That in our business place and factories of Sydney, situated in Clarence-street, the said firm employs one hundred and fifty hands, and in addition to this number there are two hundred and fifty hands employed as outside or outdoor workers, making a total of four hundred hands employed.

3. That these workers are employed almost constantly, and during the last twelve months constantly.

4. That these workers consist almost entirely of women and girls, employed in making up the clothing; and the said firm pays its employees the highest pay in Australia for the class of work, being from ten to thirty per cent. greater than that of the factories of Victoria.

5. That the said firm pays its employees the regular rates of pay as fixed by the Trades Unions, of which most, if not all, the employees are members.

6. That the said firm has been doing a large business with two of the colonies during the last four years of the value following, viz.:—With Queensland, £15,000 per annum; with Fiji, about £1,000 per annum.

7. That this intercolonial trade is rapidly increasing, despite the competition of other parts.

8. That by the proposals of the Honorable the Colonial Treasurer, and by the provisions of the Customs Tariff Bill now before your Honorable House, it is provided that a ten pounds per centum ad valorem duty shall be levied and charged upon certain goods, including all imported woollens.

9. That such duty when paid amounts practically to eleven pounds per centum upon the value.

10. That besides using a large amount of colonial woollens, the said firm imports a very large quantity of English tweeds, or woollens of patterns and qualities not made in the Australian Colonies.

11. That the proposed duty upon imported woollens will have to be paid by the said firm, and will result in the increase in the cost price of clothing manufactured from such woollens to the amount of seven and one-half per cent.

12. That no substitute can be procured except by importation for such imported woollens to command a market in their place, and consequently the said firm must continue importing and paying duty to produce an article at least seven and one-half per cent. dearer wholesale from the factory.

13. That this increased price will be fatal to the Queensland and Intercolonial trade of the said firm, as Victorian and other colonial manufacturers who have drawbacks allowed to them on their clothing manufactured by them, and by the aid of this drawback they can undersell the said firm in the intercolonial markets should the tariff remain as proposed.

14. That moreover drawback of an equal amount to the duty is now allowed upon ready-made clothing imported into this Colony, and re-exported into Queensland or other colonies, and consequently the said firm will have to compete upon very disadvantageous terms with such imported and re-exported ready-made clothing.

15. That no drawback on the clothing manufactured by the said firm, and exported by them to other colonies, is now allowed or provided for by the said Customs Duties Bill.

16. That if the present condition of affairs is to continue, and the Customs Duties Bill becomes the law, the intercolonial trade of the said firm in clothing manufactured in Sydney will cease, and as a consequence your Petitioner will have to discharge fully two hundred hands for whom hitherto there has been almost constant work at the best wages of their trades.

17. That your Petitioner has already visited Queensland in the month of December last, with a view to arranging to open a factory there in case the present Customs Duties Bill became law in this Colony, and on behalf of his firm your Petitioner will carry out arrangements for that purpose in such an event, but if the drawback on clothing manufactured in this Colony of New South Wales is allowed the whole of the factory business will be carried on as heretofore in Sydney.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays that your Honorable House may be pleased to consider the foregoing facts, with a view to equitable and fair provision being made in the Customs Duties Bill to meet the circumstances of the case.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

ARMITAGE WILKINSON.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

DUTY ON TOBACCO-LEAF.

(PETITION FROM CERTAIN CIGAR MANUFACTURERS AND OTHERS INTERESTED IN THE CIGAR TRADE, PRAYING THE HOUSE TO GRANT THEM RELIEF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 22 December, 1891.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned, Cigar Manufacturers and others interested in the Cigar Trade,—

MOST RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That for some time prior to the first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, your Petitioners were following their business of cigar manufacturers in the City of Sydney and elsewhere in the Colony of New South Wales, obtaining therefrom a respectable livelihood for themselves and families.

That the business up to the date mentioned was a growing industry, and afforded lucrative employment to many operatives, and additional manufactories were from time to time being opened.

That in the early part of the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four the then Government of New South Wales passed a Bill through your Honorable House, ordering a duty of three shillings per pound to be paid on the raw material and foreign tobacco-leaf for manufacturing cigars, which previously thereto had been one shilling only.

Your Petitioners respectfully submit that if the said duty of three shillings per pound were reduced as formerly to one shilling, or the same duty as in other colonies, they would be relieved of so unjust a burden, and be enabled to resume their business, and so enable them to support themselves and families in a becoming manner, as it would give employment to many industrious hands who have been for a long time reluctantly idle.

Your Petitioners therefore pray that your Honorable House in its wisdom will in the manner suggested above, or in such other way as you in the exercise of your judgment may deem expedient, afford them the relief prayed for by making the reduction as above suggested.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c., &c., &c.

No. 1.

The Council Clerk, Woollahra, to The Minister of Justice.

Sir, Borough of Woollahra, Council Chambers, 28 February, 1879.

I have the honor to state that a deputation, comprising a representative of each of the Municipal Councils of Woollahra, Paddington, Waverley, and Randwick, has been appointed for the purpose of laying before you the advisability of establishing a Court of Petty Sessions in some central part of the eastern suburbs.

I am instructed to ask the favour of an appointment for the reception of such deputation on as early a day as may suit your convenience.

I have, &c.,
SAMUEL SYMONDS,
Council Clerk.

Will receive deputation on Friday, 14th March, at 11 o'clock a.m.—F.B.S., 6/3/79.

No. 2.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Council Clerk, Woollahra.

Sir, Department of Justice and Public Instruction, Sydney, 7 March, 1879.

I am directed by the Minister of Justice and Public Instruction to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 28th ultimo, intimating that a deputation, comprising a representative from each of the Municipal Councils of Woollahra, Paddington, Waverley, and Randwick, are desirous of waiting upon him in reference to the establishment of a Court of Petty Sessions in some central part of the eastern suburbs, and to state that Mr. Suttor will be happy to receive the deputation on Friday, the 14th March, instant, at 11 o'clock a.m.

I have, &c.,
W. E. PLUNKETT,
Under Secretary.

No. 3.

Minute by The Minister of Justice.

DEPUTATION stated that there was a large room attached to the lock-up at Woollahra that might be used as a temporary Court-house. I should like to have the opinion of the Inspector General of Police upon this suggestion.—F.B.S.

W.E.P.—B.C., 20/3/79.

Referred to Superintendent Read for his observations. I doubt whether the charge-room at the Woollahra lock-up would be suitable for holding Courts in, and further, whether the establishment of Petty Sessions there would be convenient for the district or generally advantageous. Paddington would be a preferable position, but a Court at Darlinghurst would prove a greater public convenience.—E. F., Inspector-General of Police. Superintendent Read, Sydney. Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 20 March, 1879.

No. 4.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Minister of Justice.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 25 March, 1879.

THE charge-room in the Woollahra Watch-house would not, in my opinion, be at all suitable for holding Courts of Petty Sessions in, and I do not think that the establishment of a Court at that place would be advisable, or that it would be found to be a public convenience.

Report from the Superintendent of the Police in charge of the Metropolitan District enclosed.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

[Enclosure.]

[Enclosure.]

Memo.

Superintendent's Office, Sydney, 24 March, 1879.

THE charge-room at Woollahra lock-up is quite unsuitable for holding a Court in. All the Police records for the suburbs are kept there, and persons are constantly calling on Police business. It is also used every change of reliefs for parading the men in, and reading information of crimes and many matters relating to police duties which it is undesirable should come to the knowledge of the general public.

I think the establishment of a Court of Petty Sessions in this suburb very undesirable with the present amount of police business.

The number of summons cases and prisoners for Woollahra and Waverley for the last twelve months has not exceeded nine a week, most of them of a very unimportant nature, such as drunkenness, cattle-straying, and breaches of the Dog and Vagrant Acts, &c., which would not occupy a Court, on an average, more than one hour in each week to dispose of.

What is really required, and would be a great public convenience, is the establishment of such a Court in the vicinity of the Darlinghurst Court-house, to take all the Police business of Woollahra, Waverley, Randwick, Paddington, the whole of the Surry Hills southward from Oxford-street and Woollloomooloo, as far, at least, as William-street, if not to the water.

Some of the inhabitants of Surry Hills are as distant from a Court of Petty Sessions as those of Woollahra, and as the population is larger than that of Woollahra, have stronger reasons to urge for the establishment of a Court in their neighbourhood than those of Woollahra.

GEO. READ,
Superintendent.

The Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

No. 5.

The Council Clerk, Randwick, to The Minister of Justice.

Sir, Municipal Council Chambers, Randwick, 14 August, 1879.

I have the honor, by direction of the Mayor and Aldermen of this Borough, to bring under your notice the continued delay in the matter of a lock-up for Randwick.

The Government have been communicated with upon several occasions on this subject, but no steps appear to have been taken as yet to provide the object sought for. A reserve was set apart and a sum of money voted for the erection of this building in 1876, but nothing further has been done in the matter.

The Council again beg to urge upon you the necessity of immediate steps being taken in this object of so vast an importance to the neighbourhood, and also of attaching to the lock-up a room suitable for the holding of a Court of Petty Sessions, as the Borough by proclamation is entitled to such, and by its increasing population is much in need of the same. I am also directed to inform you that Mr. Alderman Pearce has been deputed by this Council, to make all necessary arrangements with the Government Departments in reference to this matter.

I have, &c.,
W. BETHUNE,
Council Clerk.

The Colonial Secretary.—F.B.S., 20/8/79. Keep in view with reference to the question of holding Petty Sessions at Randwick, Woollahra, Paddington, Waverley, &c., &c., &c.—F.B.S., 22/8/79.

No. 6.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Under Secretary, Colonial Secretary's Department.

Sir, Department of Justice and Public Instruction, Sydney, 21 August, 1879.

I am directed by the Minister of Justice and Public Instruction to forward, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, copy of a communication received from the Council Clerk, Randwick, urging the erection of a lock-up at that place, and that immediate steps be taken in the matter.

I have, &c.,
W. E. PLUNKETT,
Under Secretary.

No. 7.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Council Clerk, Randwick.

Sir, Department of Justice and Public Instruction, Sydney, 26 August, 1879.

I am directed by the Minister of Justice and Public Instruction to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, urging the erection of a lock-up at Randwick, and to state that inquiry will be made into the matter.

I have, &c.,
W. E. PLUNKETT,
Under Secretary.

The Council Clerk, Woollahra, to The Minister of Justice.

Sir, Borough of Woollahra, Council Chambers, 23 August, 1879.

Under the instructions of the Mayor of this Borough, I have the honor to recall to your notice the application made by a deputation composed of members of the Municipal Councils of the eastern suburbs on the 14th March last for the establishment of a local Court of Petty Sessions.

The inconveniences then stated to you have since that date been on the increase, and the serious loss of time caused by the necessity of taking cases to the Water Police Court very much lessens the effective carrying out of their duties by the small body of the police stationed in the several suburbs interested.

It was understood by the deputation that you were in accord with them as to the necessity of a change being made of the present custom, and I have the honor the request that you will take the matter into your early consideration.

I have, &c.,

Council Clerk.

I have been requested by some of the Magistrates to bring under your notice the desirability, in case a Bill is introduced, to increase the number of Stipendiary Magistrates, of inserting a provision to enable a deputy to be appointed in case of illness or unavoidable absence, as at present it is impossible for one to leave the office for a single day without the greatest inconvenience.

Referring to the often promised and much needed Court of Petty Sessions for the eastern suburbs, I have the honor to suggest that, pending the erection of the proposed Court-house, steps be taken for the holding of a Court in the Oddfellows' Hall, Queen-street, Woollahra.

The building and position are in all respects admirably adapted for the purpose, and, if office accommodation is required, it can be obtained on the premises.

I shall be glad to meet an officer of your Department, to show him the premises, and ask you to direct an inspection of same to be made.

I am, &c.,

Mr. Plunkett.—How does this question stand; can we meet Mr. Neild's wishes?—L.F.H., 12/1/86.

Mr. J. C. Neild, M.P., one of the Members for Paddington, urges that, pending the erection of the proposed new Court-house for the eastern suburbs (for which a site has been purchased), Courts of Petty Sessions might be held in the Oddfellows' Hall, Queen-street, Woollahra. It is understood that the present staff of Stipendiary Magistrates would hardly be able to visit this Court in addition to their present duties, and reported to that effect some time ago, when asked whether they could do so. Before taking any action in regard to Mr. Neild's suggestion, perhaps the Stipendiary Magistrates might be asked again to say whether in the event of a Court being opened in Woollahra they could arrange amongst themselves, without public inconvenience being caused, to visit there (say) twice a week, in addition to the other Courts now visited by them. Mr. Neild's proposition, as to renting premises, could then receive consideration. Submitted.—W.E.P., 20/1/86.

Memo.

Water Police Office, Sydney, 11 February, 1886.

With the present staff of Stipendiary Magistrates it would be impossible to hold a fifth Court at Paddington more than twice in each week, and then only by reducing the number of Courts at St. Leonards and Balmain from three times to twice a week. The present arrangement is barely sufficient for for these suburbs, with their increasing population, and already it is a matter for well-grounded complaint that persons arrested for drunkenness and other petty offences should be sometimes unavoidably detained in custody for two days before their cases can be heard. To add an additional suburban Court would seriously increase the evil, and render the Courts a source of annoyance rather than convenience to the general public.

We are therefore decidedly of opinion that no further increase in the number of suburban Courts can take place without a corresponding increase in the number of permanent Stipendiary Magistrates.

Minute Paper.

Subject:—Proposed additional Suburban Police Courts and arrangements for Stipendiary Magistrate to Preside thereat.

THE attention of the Stipendiary Magistrates having been drawn to the subject of the detention of prisoners in suburban lock-ups during days when the Court is not sitting, correspondence ensued, in which it is stated (Stipendiary Magistrates, Central, 26th October, 1888, 12,642) that daily Courts could not conveniently be held in the suburbs without the appointment of an additional Magistrate in each division, Central and Water, as the pressure of business at Newtown and Redfern is such as to occupy the greater portion of the day, and there being only three Magistrates in the Central Division to attend four Courts, it is only possible to open those in the suburbs on alternate days.

On 31st October, 1888, the Stipendiary Magistrates, Water Police Court, wrote (88-12,416) "As two of the Stipendiary Magistrates have to preside at the Water Police Courts, and the third has to attend Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at Balmain, and Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays at St. Leonards, it would not be possible for us to deal with offenders on other than Court days."

Being asked what arrangements could be made for Stipendiary Magistrates to preside at proposed additional suburban Courts without undue interference with the business of the Central Police Court, the Stipendiary Magistrates of that division write (5th December, 88-13,744) "Taking last month (November) we find that the Courts sat on an average four hours and a quarter daily, but on the 2nd, 7th, 8th, 13th, 15th, 16th, 19th, and 29th, such sittings lasted until 3'30 p.m. at the earliest, and 5 p.m. at the latest. Under the plan proposed for daily Courts at Newtown and Redfern the Magistrate attending will have his time fully occupied, for they almost invariably last until late in the day. This will leave only two Magistrates available for the two Courts—at the Central, and the new Courts now in contemplation. In addition to the ordinary afternoon sittings, which may occur at any time, the weekly licensing and quarterly and annual meetings, which require a full Bench, frequently last several days, and are fixed for noon. The number of cases heard, over 30,000 for last year or an average of 100 per diem, is a fair criterion of the work done, and not the time occupied in doing it. At the utmost one Magistrate might be available in the afternoon for one suburban Court.

"When the present staff was fixed there were but six Courts which were held daily. Two have since been added, necessitating tri-weekly Courts in the suburbs, and any further subdivision of the work appears to us to be absolutely impracticable. We regret that we are unable to suggest any means whereby the proposed additional Courts can be presided over by us without an undue interference of the existing arrangement at the Central Police Court."

Proposed additional Courts.

The new Courts of Petty Sessions at present proposed to be opened are at Paddington, where a building has been erected for Court purposes, and at Leichhardt, where the Council Chambers, and one room in the Leichhardt Town Hall, have been rented at the rate of £150 per annum from the 1st of January last (see papers 88-11,334.)

It was also proposed to open a Court in the western suburbs, two places being suggested, Ashfield and Burwood, but no decision has been arrived at.

The opinion of the two Courts for which premises are available awaits the appointment of an additional Stipendiary Magistrate, for which purpose a Bill has been prepared to amend the Stipendiary Magistrates Act (45 Vic. No. 17).

The Police Courts presided over by Stipendiary Magistrates are the Central, where there are three Stipendiary Magistrates, who also preside at Redfern and Newtown tri-weekly, and "The Water," to which are attached three Stipendiary Magistrates, who also visit Balmain and St. Leonards tri-weekly.

Subject:—Re proposed new Courts of Petty Sessions at Paddington and Leichhardt.

I HAVE ascertained from Mr. O'Malley Clarke, S.M., at the Central Police Court, that the number of cases from the Leichhardt district is exceedingly small—not more than two or three (charge) cases each week, and the same with regard to summons cases. Mr. Clarke thinks the establishment of a Court at that place unnecessary at present, in view of the small amount of business to be transacted, and its convenient access to the Central Police Office. I have also ascertained from Mr. G. W. Addison and Captain Fisher, S.Ms. at the Water Police Court, that the probable business at Paddington would be between three and four thousand cases per annum, and that fully half the small debts cases, heard at the Water Police

Police Court come from Paddington and the neighbourhood. They also stated that it would be impossible for the present number of Stipendiary Magistrates stationed at the Water Police Office to undertake the work at Paddington without an additional Magistrate. I may mention, for the Minister's information, that no steps have as yet been taken to proclaim Courts at Paddington or Leichhardt; but on the 11th October last year the Minister of Justice, Mr. Clarke, approved of the offer of the use of the Council Chambers and one room in the Town Hall for Petty Sessions purposes at that place being accepted at a rental of £150 per annum.

1. That the establishment of Courts of Petty Sessions at Ashfield and Leichhardt is not required in view of the very small number of cases that have been dealt with from those localities.
2. That, as the Court business at Newtown has increased to a very considerable degree during the past few years, it is necessary that a Court of Petty Sessions should be held there daily instead of tri-weekly.
3. That Courts of Petty Sessions should be held at Redfern and Paddington on alternate days.
4. That the additional Stipendiary Magistrate, whose appointment the adoption of these recommendations would necessitate, should be attached to the Central Police Office.
5. That the establishment of Courts of Petty Sessions at Ashfield and Leichhardt would render the appointment of an eighth Stipendiary Magistrate absolutely necessary.

[Enclosure.]

Police Department, Superintendents' Office, Metropolitan District, Sydney, 27 October, 1890. MEMO.—The number of police cases, arrests and summonses from Paddington, Woollahra, Waverley, and Randwick, during the last six months has slightly exceeded two a day. Having regard to the travelling facilities between these suburbs and the city, I do not think that there is any urgent necessity for opening the Court at Paddington. The lock-up in connection with the Court, being near the main road, will be a great convenience, and should I think be used at once.

The Inspector-General of Police.

GEO. READ,
Superintendent.

Submitted in reference to Minister's minute of 24th instant.—A.C.F., 28/10/90. I shall be glad to learn whether it is intended to use the lock-up as suggested by Superintendent Read.—A.J.G., 28/10/90. The Inspector-General of Police.—T.E.M.N. (for U.S.), B.C., 29/10/90.

I shall be glad to make use of the lock-up at once.—EDM. FOSBERY, 29/10/90. The Under Secretary of Justice. Submitted.—A.C.F., 30/10/90.

So far as this Department is concerned, the lock-up may be used at once. Obtain a return from the City Court of the number of cases (other than police) dealt with since 1st January, ultimo, from the District of Paddington, &c., both in the Police Court and Small Debts Court, and like return of cases (under £10) in the District Court from the same district during the like term in which the defendants' residences are given as Paddington, Woollahra, Waverley, and Randwick.—A.J.G., 31/10/90.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Council Clerk, Woollahra.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 24 October, 1890.

I am directed by the Minister of Justice to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 17th instant, asking that a time might be appointed for the reception of a deputation from the Borough Council of Woollahra, to urge the necessity for opening the Eastern Suburbs Court-house for the conduct of business, and to inform you that he will be happy to receive the deputation on Friday next, 31st instant, at 12 o'clock (noon).

No. 41.

Deputation from Woollahra Council.

Eastern Suburbs Court-house.—Friday, 31st October, 1890.

A DEPUTATION from the Woollahra Borough Council waited upon the Minister of Justice to request that the Eastern Suburbs Court-house should be open for the transaction of business. The deputation was introduced by Mr. Alfred Allen, M.P., and comprised the Mayor (Alderman Magney), Aldermen Trickett, M.L.C., Marks, Williamson, and Mr. Vivian (Council Clerk).

Mr. Allen said there was no need for any lengthy remarks as the Minister had their request before him already.

The Mayor said the deputation had come for the purpose of inducing the Minister to open the new Court-house at Woollahra. Residents of the eastern suburbs had been placed at considerable inconvenience for many years by reason of the unaccessibility of the Petty Courts of Justice. The Court to which residents had to take their business was the Water Police Office, and this often entailed a journey of between 4 and 5 miles, and that necessitated great loss of time, money, and at the same time great inconvenience. They believed that Mr. Gould's experience would prove that the opening of suburban Courts had been the means of relieving the Metropolitan Courts of a great quantity of business. If the Eastern Suburbs Court were open it would relieve the Water Police Office of a great deal of business, and, at the same time, prevent great inconvenience and loss of time to the residents. There was a population in the eastern suburbs—Paddington, Waverley, Woollahra, and Randwick—of between 40,000 and 50,000. It must be apparent that the business arising from such a large number of people must be considerable, and it must be agreed that the convenience of the people would be best consulted by opening the Court. They hoped the Minister would fall in with their wishes.

Mr. Trickett endorsed what Mr. Magney had said. They had not come to ask that a site for a Court-house should be purchased, or that a building should be erected. The necessity for the Court had been recognised by the erection of a costly and complete building. Other suburbs had obtained a local dispensation of justice, and it did seem strange that a Court which had been erected and completed, and taken over from the contractor, should remain unused so long. Month after month the same excuse was made.

made. It had been stated, in answer to a question in the House, that the Stipendiary Magistrates could not find time to go to the eastern suburbs; but the Court having been erected, and the necessity for it having thus been shown, the Minister might induce the Government to appoint another Stipendiary Magistrate. There could be no doubt about the convenience of these local Courts. He knew, for a fact, that offences were allowed to go unpunished, and municipal complaints allowed to go by the board, because people could not waste their time, day after day, to come into Sydney to have their cases tried. He did hope Mr. Gould would see that it was not wise to keep this white elephant, for it was nothing else at present. If the Government were going to build Courts, and leave them unoccupied year after year, it was an extraordinary state of things. Almost as a right they could claim that a large population should not be ignored. These local Police Courts had answered well in other places. He hoped the Minister would see the justice of what the deputation urged.

Mr. Williamson had personal knowledge of the inconvenience caused through the Court-house not being opened. During the last week some ten or twelve property-owners were desirous of getting rid of objectionable tenants. They suffered loss of rent and annoyance, and, in order to go to Court, had to bring witnesses from Paddington to the Water Police Court. In some cases, through missing the trams, the cases fell through, and the property-owners were laughed at, and new proceedings had to be initiated. Employers, too, showed great reluctance to allow their servants to go away as witnesses. Only that day one employer told two of his men, who were wanted as witnesses, if they went away they would lose their appointments.

Mr. Gould: That might happen with a Court at Waverley.

Mr. Williamson: In this case the men were close to the new Court.

Mr. Gould: Had the Court been a mile away, what then?

Mr. Williamson: It was the waste of time through coming into the city that was objected to. No one cared about losing time to come into Sydney. They had a lot of small tenants, and a moving population, and constant inconvenience and annoyance was caused.

Mr. Gould: Since I received the letter asking me to receive this deputation, I have made some inquiries with regard to the amount of work that arises in Paddington, Waverley, Woollahra, and Randwick, particularly in the last six months. I certainly have not been able to obtain the number of summons cases in private matters. So far as police cases are concerned, the arrests and summonses from these suburbs during the six months slightly exceeded two a day. So far as that goes it does not appear there is any great need, from a police point of view, to have the Court opened. I admit at once that the Court building having been erected in your locality, you should expect some steps to be taken for the holding of a Court, but under existing circumstances it is quite impossible to send any Magistrate to take up the work there with that regularity necessary if the Court is to be opened at the present time. We have six Stipendiary Magistrates whose time is fully occupied with the Courts already opened, and as the law stands at the present time legislation is required before an additional Stipendiary Magistrate can be appointed. Until legislation takes place it will be impossible to open your Court-house. You are not in a solitary position. The Court at the Glebe has been completed, and an application was made some time ago to have it opened, and I was compelled to give the same reply I have to give you. The question of increasing the number of suburban Courts is one that can hardly be dealt with now, inasmuch as the buildings are erected. I would like to remind the deputation that the question of inconvenience raised might apply to a Court-house half a mile away from where any particular person lived. Some must suffer inconvenience through being compelled to go to the Courts. As to missing a tram, it is the fault of the individual, and where people live in the country they have to be dependent on trains, and in many places coaches, leading to much greater inconvenience. Your chief argument, that the Court would serve a large population, is a strong one, but as matters now stand it is not possible to open the Court. It was suggested in a letter from the Council that Justices of the Peace might deal with a large share of the business, as they did at Parramatta. If it were possible there would be no objection; but under the Metropolitan Magistrates Act, unpaid Justices are precluded from dealing with cases in the Metropolitan District, except in cases of committal. If it is decided to ask Parliament to appoint an additional Stipendiary Magistrate the claims of Paddington will receive fair and favourable consideration. I did introduce a Bill some time ago, but found it impossible to proceed with it then, and there seemed to be a determined opposition to increasing the number of Stipendiary Magistrates.

Mr. Trickett: When will it be possible for you to move in that direction?

Mr. Gould: It will not be possible this Session. I notice you are anxious something should be done to utilise the watch-house. I see no objection to that. It may be done with advantage to the public and this department.

Mr. Williamson: Our private business is really very urgent, though the criminal work is light. The deputation, having thanked Mr. Gould, withdrew.

No. 1.

Case of Prisoner William Lenehan.—Deputation to the Minister, Thursday, 21st May, 1891.

A DEPUTATION waited on the Minister of Justice to-day in reference to the case of Prisoner William Lenehan. The deputation comprised Messrs. Paul, Garland, Plumb, Dalton, Hurley, and Barbour, M's.P., Crago (Mayor of Bathurst), A. R. Fremlin, J. Meagher, J.P., Moriarty (barrister), and John Stinson.

Mr. Paul said the deputation had come to bring under notice the case of William Lenehan, of Blayney, lately convicted of embezzling certain moneys, the property of the Railway Commissioners. The deputation, and the general public in the Western District near Bathurst, were of opinion that there are circumstances in this case which warrants it being reopened. There was a strong feeling that Lenehan had no fraudulent intent, and that there was no conversion, in the true sense of the word, to his use of the money in question. That there was an irregularity all must admit, but so far as he could judge, there was no proof of fraudulent intention. He would ask the Minister to obtain the papers on the matter from the Railway Department, and he believed they would show that the Railway authorities did not believe that there was any fraudulent intent, only an irregularity.

Mr. Crago said he presided at a public meeting which was held in Bathurst to consider this matter, and he could say the general feeling was that Lenehan was innocent. Resolutions were passed in favour of having the case reconsidered. Mr. Marsden handed a cheque to Lenehan to meet the freight on some goods to arrive. At the time the cheque was given to Lenehan nothing was due by Mr. Marsden for freight. The station-master paid the cheque into his private account at the bank; but afterwards, when the books were audited, no deficiency in any way was found. The feeling of the meeting at Bathurst was that there was no fraudulent intent on the part of Lenehan—only an irregularity.

Mr. Fremlin read and presented a petition from the Mayor, the aldermen, four magistrates, and about 100 citizens of Blayney in favour of the prisoner. The Mayor of Blayney was unable to be present, but was represented by his brother, Mr. Stinson. He (Mr. Fremlin) was well acquainted with Lenehan, and with all the facts of the case. Mr. Marsden stated publicly at the meeting at Blayney that he handed the cheque to Lenehan as a matter of good faith, put it in his hands in trust, and that the cheque was not the property of the Railway Commissioners. The cheque was placed in Lenehan's hands with instructions to pay the freight on ore as it was received. Mr. Marsden said he had placed a similar cheque a second time in Lenehan's hands. The reason inquiry was instituted was, that investigation was made into the case of one of the underlings who had committed a breach of duty, and it was this which led to the detection of this affair. It was elicited at the trial that the Railway Department had not lost one penny. Had the case been properly defended, and had proper questions been put by those who undertook the defence, and there were some of the jurymen who said they are sorry they did not watch the case more narrowly, the result might have been different. Lenehan had been dismissed the service after a record of twenty-three years without a black mark against him, branded as a felon, his wife and family ruined, and he himself undergoing an awful penalty for a petty offence, not against the laws of the country, but the regulations of the Railway Department. At the same Circuit Court a murderer was let off with three years, because the judge directed the jury to find a verdict of manslaughter; and a sheep stealer also got three years. Here was a poor man guilty of no dishonorable conduct, also sentenced to three years imprisonment, besides the losses sustained in a pecuniary way. He felt confident, if the Minister would look into the matter, steps would speedily be taken for releasing Lenehan.

Mr. Meagher presented a petition from residents of Bathurst in favour of the prisoner. He had obtained the signatures himself, representing the leading people. Among the petitioners were the two Bishops of Bathurst, and everybody who signed was a ratepayer. The cheque for £15 was given in trust to Lenehan by Mr. Marsden. Suppose Lenehan had died that night, Mr. Marsden could not legally obtain a refund of the money from the Commissioners, because it was not the property of the Commissioners. They had no right to it until they gave value for it, and they had not given value for it up to that time. Lenehan was given the cheque to pay for ore as it arrived, and it is presumed he did. One of the jury told him they understood it was put to them that if he only paid the cheque to his credit for five minutes he was guilty of embezzlement. But to commit embezzlement there must be fraudulent intent.

Mr. Gould: There is hardly any necessity to explain the law.

Mr. Meagher continued that the jurors said they believed the cheque belonged to the Commissioners; that if they did not believe the cheque belonged to the Commissioners they would not have convicted Lenehan, and it was clearly shown now the cheque was not the property of the Commissioners. Lenehan was guilty of an irregularity, and violated the rules of the Department in taking a cheque at all. It was the belief of everyone he came in contact with that Lenehan was an honest man, and should not have been convicted.

Mr. Moriarty said he was present at the trial, and heard all the evidence, and was satisfied this was a case for inquiry, on the ground that there was no evidence before the Court of fraudulent appropriation. The case went to the jury, "Did he appropriate the cheque?" and he would direct attention to the point that it was not put to the jury, "Did he do so falsely, and with intent to defraud?" There were two or three matters he might mention to assist the Minister. A station-master at Hay committed suicide about two and a half years ago. That official had been in the habit of receiving moneys to pay freight on goods to arrive as Lenehan did, and took not only cheques but cash. The Government were sued for the money, which had been paid in advance for freight, but the Government resisted the claim, alleging the money was not theirs, and that contention was upheld. There were no printed or written instructions against the irregularity of which Lenehan was guilty, and it was an irregularity common in all country districts. That he was assured of by station-masters themselves. Within the past ten days a printed circular had been issued, signed by the Commissioners, pointing out this irregularity, and directing it should not be allowed in future. There was another matter for consideration. The Minister, if he looked into the papers, would see whether or not the Commissioners looked upon Lenehan's offence as a crime—he had heard it said they merely regarded it as an irregularity.

Mr. Gould: There must have been some prosecution instituted by the Commissioners, and it must have been in view of the fact that they considered it a crime.

Mr. Moriarty: You will find that for a long time it was only treated as an irregularity, and only after a good deal of consideration made into a crime.

Mr. Hurley said he had been requested by eighty of the most prominent residents of Lithgow to present certain resolutions passed at a public meeting. He felt sure none of the gentlemen present would interfere with the just course of the law. Lenehan was only guilty of an irregularity of a common kind. He was not acting against any specific written or printed instructions in accepting moneys for paying freight charges in advance. It had never been proved that Lenehan had appropriated this money to his own use, and he was pretty well confident that from the character the man bore when at Bowenfels and other stations that he never took the money to appropriate it to his own use. (Mr. Hurley read the resolutions passed at the meeting at Lithgow, and handed them to the Minister.) The document bore the signatures of the most respected men in the district. Lenehan might have been censurable—which was also questionable—but that he took the money to appropriate to his own use the people generally did not believe.

Mr. Plumb said the case deserved to be reopened. He had known Lenehan fifteen years, and had never heard a suspicion, not a word breathed against his character. It was the habit of station-masters to take cheques as Lenehan did. They took the cheques and had to convert them into cash before they remitted them to the Treasury. Lenehan only acted according to the usages of the Department, and there was no misappropriation of funds. The Minister on inquiry would find that this custom of paying by cheque was a common thing in the country.

Mr. Stinson said he knew Lenehan, and was in Blayney between the time of the committal and the trial. The matter was treated so lightly that no trouble was taken to work up the case, as people thought he would be acquitted almost immediately the case opened. He felt sure if the case were reopened a good deal of valuable evidence could be obtained which was not given at the trial. The judge of course must have been satisfied with the evidence in sentencing Lenehan as he did. But evidence could be obtained which would induce judge and jury to alter their opinion.

Mr. Dalton said he was one of the first members of Parliament asked to take this case up, before the inquiry, and when Lenehan was under suspension. It was owing to his representations that inquiry was made. He had heard the matter put differently to what it was that day—that the cheque had been given to a porter named Doyle, and that the latter kept the cheque. Now he saw it was handed to Lenehan. During his investigation of the matter, Mr. M'Lachlan the Secretary of Railways, never expressed the opinion that Lenehan converted the money to his own use, and the impression left on his mind was that Lenehan was to be disgraced only. He had letters from leading residents of Carcoar and Blayney, which went to show Lenehan bore a most reputable character.

Mr. Barbour said he had known Lenehan a long time, who used to be station-master at Moss Vale. He was looked upon as one of the best men in the service. If the Minister found the case was as represented, it was clear Lenehan was not guilty of any criminality. It was the practice in the Treasury where a person had to pay rents due in three, six, or twelve months, to accept payment in advance, placing the money in the suspense account. Why should a station-master also not take money in advance to protect his Department, he could not see any harm in it. It was a service to the public. A person living 100 or 500 miles from the railway might be expecting goods by rail, and it was a convenience if he could leave the money with the station-master to cover the freights which would be due when the goods arrived, and so facilitate delivery. Lenehan was simply the trustee for the owner of the cheque. He simply held a friend's money to pay freight as it became due, and would at some future time account for the balance if there was any. He was a little astonished at hearing the facts as stated that day, and he could only account for the verdict by the fact that negligence must have been exhibited at the trial in not showing all the facts of the case. The case was no ordinary one.

Mr. Gould: I would like to ask you first of all, was this man defended?

Mr. Paul: Yes, by Mr. Heydon.

Mr. Gould: Mr. Stinson talks of further evidence being obtained. I would like to know if you can adduce evidence which was not before the jury, and was not then obtainable?

Mr. Fremlin: Yes, Mr. Marsden will be able to add further evidence to that already given.

Mr. Gould: He has already given evidence.

Mr. Fremlin: Yes.

Mr. Gould: I ask these questions to see if it is a case for inquiry under the Criminal Law Amendment Act. All I can say at the present time in regard to this matter is that in the first instance, we must recognise the fact that Lenehan has been tried in accordance with the law of the land, before a judge of experience, and with a barrister of experience defending him. On the evidence adduced he was convicted, and we must assume that jury and judge, as well as counsel for the defence, would do their duty, and I cannot conceive that the counsel for the defence would allow the case to be placed by the judge before the jury in an improper manner.

Mr. Moriarty: He asked the judge to put it to the jury whether there was any case—any fraudulent intent.

Mr. Gould: What did his Honor say?

Mr. Moriarty: He said he would leave it to the jury.

Mr. Gould: If Mr. Heydon had considered there had been any misdirection on the part of the judge he would no doubt have asked that the point should be reserved for the opinion of the full Court. I cannot for one moment believe a conviction for embezzlement could take place if there was simply an irregularity, and no evidence in law of embezzlement. I shall consider the whole of the representations you have made to me, and refer these papers to the judge for the purpose of obtaining a report from him, and make such other inquiry into the matter as will be deemed necessary to enable me to be in a position to make or withhold a recommendation as the case may be to His Excellency. I promise you I will carefully consider the circumstances of the case.

Mr.

Mr. Frenlin said a case was reported by cable from England, which seemed on "all fours" with Lenehan's, in which judge and jury had been proved wrong in the case of Wilson, the Seaman's Secretary.

2. "That this meeting most respectfully urges an immediate reconsideration of Lenehan's case by the Executive Council with a view to the remission of his sentence." Carried.

Proposed by the Rev. Mr. Smailes, seconded by Mr. Alderman Spooner :—

3. "That a petition to the Minister of Justice be drawn out and taken round for signature by the people of Lithgow, praying that the foregoing resolutions be carried out." Carried.

THOMAS BENNETT,

Mayor of Lithgow, Chairman.

In compliance with the foregoing resolutions, which were unanimously carried at a large and representative meeting on Tuesday, 19th May, 1891, we, the undersigned residents of Lithgow, humbly request that the Minister of Justice will immediately take the case of William Lenehan, late station-master at Blayney (who was convicted at the late Bathurst assizes) into consideration, with a view to a remission of the very severe sentence which has been imposed upon him.

Petition from certain residents of Blayney.

Blayney, 18 May, 1891.

At a public meeting, held by requisition to his Worship the Mayor of Blayney, the following resolutions were passed unanimously :—

Mr. A. R. Fremlin, J.P., moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. R. A. Collie, J.P. :—

1. "That in the opinion of this meeting the three years' sentence passed on William Lenehan, late station-master at Blayney, who was convicted of embezzlement, should be remitted, and the circumstances of the case call for energetic action to obtain his immediate release."

The Rev. Mr. Jennings moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Samuel Marsden, J.P. :—

2. "That having seen the respected action of the residents of Bathurst on behalf of William Lenehan, and the influential deputation to wait on the Hon. the Minister of Justice, this meeting resolves to select some friends to co-operate with them."

Mr. C. R. Barry moved the following resolution, seconded by Alderman W. Wittiker :—

3. "That the deputation consist of Robert Stinson, Esq. (Mayor of Blayney), Mr. A. R. Fremlin, J.P., and Messrs. Garland and Plumb, M's.L.A.

ROBERT STINSON, JUN.,
Mayor.

To the Honorable the Minister of Justice.

WE, the undersigned residents of Blayney, respectfully approach you in this petition on behalf of William Lenehan, late station-master of Blayney, now undergoing a sentence of three years' imprisonment, including nine months' solitary confinement.

Though he was found guilty by a jury of his countrymen, we are confident, if the facts known to ourselves had been properly placed before the Court who tried him, that he would have been honorably acquitted.

Every individual, without exception, in our town and neighbourhood, are deeply grieved at the horrible position in which he is placed.

And we do humbly entreat you that a full inquiry be made into all the facts of this sad case, believing the result of such inquiry will lead to his immediate release.

And your petitioners will ever pray.

Petition from certain residents of Bathurst.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable Victor Albert George, Earl of Jersey, a member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

The humble Petition of the undersigned residents of the city and district of Bathurst, and of the town and district of Blayney,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH :—

1. That William Lenehan, late railway station-master at Blayney, who, for twenty-three years had been in the employ of the Railway Department of New South Wales, was, on the 27th day of April last, tried at the Bathurst Circuit Court, on a charge of embezzling the sum of £15, and found guilty by the jury (who recommended the accused to mercy), and sentenced to three years' imprisonment with hard labour.

2. That at a large and influential public meeting, held at the Town Hall, Bathurst, on Wednesday, the 13th instant (the Mayor presiding), a resolution was unanimously carried as follows :—“That, in the opinion of this meeting, the case of William Lenehan, late station-master at Blayney, who was convicted of embezzlement at the late assizes, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment, demands an inquiry and reconsideration at the hands of the authorities, as there is no proof of the conversion by him to his own use of any money belonging to the Commissioners for Railways.”

3. That the amount alleged to have been embezzled by Lenehan, was a cheque handed to him by one Samuel Marsden to cover amounts to become due for freights on goods to arrive, and not for money due to the Department, and that the money was afterwards properly accounted for, as shown by the fact that it was not proved by the Crown that Lenehan's accounts showed any deficiency, but on the other hand it was admitted by the accountant, who audited the books and gave evidence on oath, that not one penny was deficient in the accounts of the accused.

4. That your Petitioners, from having heard the evidence, from their own personal knowledge, and from a perusal of the reports of the trial, are convinced that William Lenehan should not have been convicted.

5. That it is the opinion, not only of your Petitioners, but also the settled conviction of the general public, who were greatly shocked by the result of the trial, that William Lenehan was not guilty of the offence with which he was charged, and should be set at liberty.

Your Petitioners, therefore, humbly pray that your Excellency will be pleased to take the case of the unfortunate man William Lenehan into your most merciful consideration, and being satisfied as to the truthfulness of this Petition, your Excellency will graciously be pleased to remit the remainder of the sentence imposed upon him.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

J. Meagher, Esq., J.P., to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Bathurst, 30 May, 1891.

On behalf of William Lenehan, convicted of embezzlement at the late assizes here, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment, I would most respectfully petition, on behalf of the said prisoner, William Lenehan, that you would cause a rehearing of the case, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, as there are grave doubts of his (Lenehan's) guilt, as expressed in the petition presented to you on 21st instant. Witnesses who have not been examined in the case say they can give evidence which would throw a different complexion on the case, and satisfy the authorities that Lenehan did not embezzle the £15 which he was convicted of having done.

By acceding to this petition you will merit the prayers and good will of thousands who believe, as I do, that Lenehan is not guilty of the crime for which he is undergoing penal servitude.

Sir,

In compliance with the request contained in your letter of the 22nd ultimo, relative to the history of Mr. Lenehan, late station-master at Blayney, I have the honor to enclose herewith statement showing Mr. Lenehan's history in the Department, as taken from the Staff Record books.

Although there are several offences recorded against him, it is just to point out that these were in connection with train working. On no occasion previous to the concurrence which led to his dismissal has he been punished for any irregularities in his accounts.

MINUTE PAPER.

Case of W. Lenehan, late station-master, Blayney.

On 17th December, 1890, an ordinary inspection of the books and accounts at Blayney was made by Inspector Miller, who reported serious irregularities in the shape of falsified accounts.

After the receipt of an unsatisfactory explanation from station-master Lenehan, I was sent by the Traffic Auditor to Blayney to make a further inspection and to report result, which was to the effect that there was evidence of embezzlement on the part of Lenehan, and to conceal which he had falsified his accounts. Also it was discovered that Porter Doyle had been collecting money from the constituents of the Department in excess of correct debits, and appropriating the same to his own use.

The Commissioners upon receipt of these reports, seeing that the station-master had falsified his books with a view to defraud, and the head porter had collected in the names of the Railway Commissioners, money in excess of correct debits, and appropriated such sums to his own use, felt that as a matter of duty, and in the interests of the service that action should should be taken, and accordingly, as is usual in such cases, referred the matter to the Crown Solicitor. Seeing, however, the grave results that would follow to Lenehan, who was an old officer of the Department, and had not previously been guilty of any irregularity in connection with accounts; they personally saw the Crown Solicitor, and asked him to take special steps to see that while the interests of justice were properly conserved, no harsh action should be taken with Lenehan, unless the case absolutely required it.

Mr. Wilshire, of the Crown Law Office was accordingly deputed to visit Blayney along with myself to investigate the matter on the spot, and go through the books and look into all the local circumstances.

The result of our investigation was that, after full and mature consideration of the facts at the hands of the Crown Solicitor, it was decided to charge Lenehan with embezzling:—

1. £6.—portion of goods takings on 24th June, 1890, paid over to him.
2. £15.—Cheque paid by Marsden, 25th August, for freight on copper ore to arrive.

It was with respect to the latter of these cases that Lenehan stood his trial at Bathurst, the facts concerning which, are as follows:—On 25th August, Mr. Marsden paid this cheque to Lenehan, who made no entry in his cash-book, nor any other book, of the amount. On the 28th August, Lenehan paid the cheque into his private account at the bank, and did not pay the equivalent in cash to Porter Doyle, which was his defence at the trial, at which Doyle under cross-examination contradicted himself, and His Honor Judge Stephen told Lenehan that he had made his case worse by putting Doyle into the witness-box to perjure himself. The misappropriation of the money was made very clear by the fact that false and fictitious entries were made in the monthly outstanding freight list each month, down to and inclusive of November, 1890, and the only motive in unduly swelling the outstanding lists in this way was to cover a deficiency in cash.

A deficiency of something over £22 was made good on 29th December, 1890, on which day Lenehan's private cheque for £8 2s. 8d. formed portion of remittance.

The conviction of Lenehan at Bathurst was the more remarkable, from the fact that the falsified outstanding lists which were admitted in the police court, were included by the judge at the instance of Lenehan's counsel at Bathurst.

The second charge was not proceeded with at the higher court, after a conviction had been secured on the first.

Respecting Lenehan's statement before sentence was passed, "that he had followed the usual custom in banking the cheque in his own name," this is incorrect, as it is not the usual custom, and Lenehan himself had paid many other cheques from the same person to the Railway Account at the bank along with other cash.

28 May, 1891.

J. H. WILLIAMS,
Inspector.

No. 9.

J. Meagher, Esq., J.P., to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Bathurst, 15 June, 1891.

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 5th instant, re the Lenehan case, and apologise for not having replied to it before now, the cause being on account of my absence from home. I hope, after a week or so, to be able to give particulars of the additional evidence to be submitted, together with the reasons why such evidence was not given at Lenehan's trial. Some of the persons prepared to give evidence are at present occupied with the elections.

No. 10.

Report of His Honor Mr. Justice Stephen.

REGINA v. WILLIAM LENEHAN.

THE facts of this case, as disclosed by the evidence, are as follows:—

A grazier named Samuel Marsden, in August last, gave to the prisoner, then station-master at Blayney, a cheque for £15, by way of payment, in advance, for freight on copper expected to arrive. It was paid to prisoner, as stated by Marsden, as "station-master." This cheque was dated the 20th August, 1890, and was paid by prisoner on the 28th August, into his private account at the Commercial Bank, Blayney. There was no printed code of rules at the time, but according to the evidence of Mr. Williams, Inspector of Railway Accounts, this cheque should have been paid when received by prisoner into the account of the Railway Commissioners at Blayney, and its receipt entered into the ledger to the credit of Marsden, and debit entries should have been made of the freight on the goods as they arrived, until the £15 should be exhausted. No entry or account of the £15 was entered in the ledger. An office receipt-book was also kept, in which there should have been a record of the payment of this sum of £15, but it was not recorded. It was also the duty of the station-master to send daily to the head office remittance-notes, showing the forms in which money had been received, accompanied by a draft for the money therein mentioned. The cheque in question did not appear in any remittance-note. Mr. Williams made an inspection of the prisoner's books in January this year, and found that there had been a deficiency in his accounts, but that it had been made up on the 29th December, prisoner making it appear, by six entries in his own handwriting, amounting to the sum of £22 0s. 10d., and under the date of 29th December, that Marsden had paid that amount. The other entries under that date were in the head porter's handwriting. Marsden swore that he did not pay the sum of £20 0s. 10d. by cheque or cash, or in any other way on the 29th, to anyone connected with the station.

The Crown further gave evidence that, on the 13th November, Marsden paid prisoner a cheque of £10 to meet freight, of which cheque no entry was made, and which was not paid into the Bank until the 21st November, the only record being on the remittance-note of the latter date. Marsden also paid prisoner an advance cheque of £12 on the 3rd December. There is no entry of this in the office receipt-book, but on the 9th December the duplicate remittance-note, which was returned to the prisoner, and which is the one that would be submitted to the inspector, showed £2 as having been received from Marsden (it had been originally entered £12), and also £10 (interlined) from the Annandale Company, but there was no entry in the office receipt-book on either the 8th or 9th December of any £2 as having been received from Marsden, or of £10 as having been received from the Annandale Company.

The prisoner's defence rested on the evidence of Arthur Doyle, late head porter at the prisoner's station, and himself, under a charge for a similar offence, who I may mention was afterwards acquitted on evidence quite as strong as, if not stronger than, that in the present case. This witness stated that the prisoner gave him the cash for the cheque—that he (Doyle) put the money away in a safe, and that as goods were received he put the amount of freight on slips, explaining to the prisoner what it came to, but that he did not hand the money to the prisoner with the slips. Witness admitted that he swore at the police court that he handed the money to the prisoner with the slips, and that when tested as to entries made of such payments he said that he could only find entries amounting to £2 9s. 7d. in October, and none in November and December. He also admitted at the trial that he made no entry of the £15. I should here mention that money received for the Government should be entered in the office receipt-book by the person receiving it, and no evidence was tendered on behalf of the prisoner to show even that the entries of £2 9s. 7d. were in respect of Marsden's freight.

I have now stated the evidence on which the jury founded their verdict, and I proceed to show why, in my opinion, it was justified. It is clear that there was an appropriation of the cheque by its payment into the prisoner's account. The question was whether or not it was a fraudulent misappropriation. Now, the main, if not the only tests, in all such cases, are whether the money was paid to its owner at the time when it was the duty of the accused so to pay it, and whether there was any concealment of its receipt. Further, the conduct of the accused in connection with the transaction, or similar ones about the same time, is open to inquiry. In this case the cheque was received in August. There were three distinct acknowledgments of its receipt, which ought to have been made—by the receipt-book, by the ledger, and the remittance-note. It never was acknowledged in any way. There had been between August and 29th of December a deficiency in the prisoner's accounts, and it was made up on that day by payment of a sum of money made to appear to have been received by fictitious entries. This was shortly before a third audit of his books took place, that is in January, 1891, by Mr. Williams, two having previously taken place between August and the latter month, without, I believe, discovery of matters which led to the charge against the prisoner. Then there were the unaccounted for irregularities with respect to the two cheques for £10 and £12 of 13th November and 2nd December. The further occurrence of omissions to enter sums received would tend to show that the omission in question was not accidental, and in the absence of explanation by the accused, would indicate either the grossest of carelessness or some sinister object. These two particular irregularities were not much insisted on, and it must be admitted that the exact object of the accused in thus dealing with the cheques was not made clear. Irrespective of this evidence, however, there remained sufficient to justify the verdict.

It is now important to see how this evidence was met—what was the defence set up? It was a simple one, and if true, the accused was an innocent man, whatever irregularity he may have committed. Doyle swore that the prisoner gave him the £15 for the cheque in cash. In itself the statement was improbable why the prisoner should with one hand pay the cheque into his private account—a cheque paid for advance freight—and with the other give the cash to the porter, I cannot understand. There was no reason why the cheque should not have been entered and remitted in due course. It did not appear that it was any unusual thing to receive ordinary cheques and advance cheques, and to enter them as well as cash received in the books and in the remittance-notes. If there was any risk attaching to the cheque (as to which there was no pretence), and prisoner anticipated any possibility of his having to make it good by paying at once the £15 in cash, why not enter that sum as received—why were there never any entries of any portions of it that became absorbed, as alleged from time to time by freight becoming due? But, apart from this, Doyle's two statements above referred to were so absolutely inconsistent that his evidence could not be relied upon. The inference probably drawn by the jury was that his evidence at the police court, as to the appropriated portions of the £15 in dribbles having broken down by his admission that no entries had been made (certainly not beyond the £2 5s. 7d.), he altered his statement to the one given at the trial, viz., that he gave the whole sum at once to the prisoner when fully absorbed. But of this, again, no entry was made. I did not believe Doyle. It is clear that the jury did not, and it is not improbable that prisoner's calling evidence which could not be believed militated most strongly against him. There was no corroborative evidence of any kind.

Having thus considered the evidence in the case, I refer to the only petition amongst those forwarded which sets out any reason for a remission of the sentence beyond belief in prisoner's evidence. The second paragraph avers that no money belonging to the Commissioners was converted. The third paragraph seems to explain this by saying that the cheque was not given for freight due, but for freight to arrive. This is, in truth, an objection of a very technical character. As it was given to the accused "as station-master" (vide Marsden's evidence) for goods to be carried by the Railway Commissioners and not by the prisoner, one does not see how it could be the property of anybody other than the Commissioners. The very able and painstaking counsel who defended the prisoner never took any such point, and certainly it did not occur to me, and the objection is beside the merits and honesty of the case. When the money became the property of the Railway Commissioners (even if it was not their own at first) by the freight on Marsden's goods being carried, why was it not entered in the books and accounted for as such? In this connection I may advert to one of the statements of the deputation (which was among the papers forwarded) that Marsden has since the trial said that he gave the cheque "to Lenehan in trust"—for Marsden, I presume. If it is true that Marsden so gave it, then the accused is innocent of the charge of embezzling a cheque of the Railway Commissioners. The jury could, however, only act on Marsden's sworn evidence, which was, as already shown, that he had given it to the prisoner as "station-master," and not a word was said as to any "trust." Again, although the prisoner would not have been guilty of the charge as laid, and as the object of the petitioners is to show the prisoner's rectitude of conduct, the question necessarily suggests itself, why, when the £15 was earned and there was no longer a trust, was not the money entered and transmitted as freight earned on Marsden's goods? I observe that there is no statement of Marsden's among the papers sent. The petition next alleges that "the money was afterwards properly accounted for, as shown by the fact that it was not proved that Lenehan's accounts showed any deficiency." It is not the fact that this particular money was ever accounted for. It is true that there was not any deficiency on the 29th December, but the accounts did show a deficiency prior to that date, which was made up as already shown, fictitious entries being made of receipts. Thus is the value shown of statements made in petitions, though signed by persons of high character and station, who pledge themselves to the truth of utterly inaccurate statements. I cannot forbear remarking, in order that the Minister may see (as the judges so often do) what little faith can be placed in such documents, that the petitioners say that "having heard the evidence, from personal knowledge, and perusal of the reports of the trial, they are convinced that Lenehan should not have been convicted." I may safely say that some of them must have signed the petition without carefully reading it, inasmuch as I must give to the words "heard the evidence" the meaning that will be naturally assigned to them, i.e., that they heard the evidence given in court, and I am certain that some of the signatories were never sufficiently long in court, if in court at all, to hear more than a particle of the evidence. As to their personal knowledge, nothing can be said. The report in the newspaper sent to me with the papers is accurate, I think, as far as it goes, but is necessarily, from the nature of the case, not a full one, depending as it did so much on entries in books.

long

I have thus, as requested, reported on the evidence and on the petition. The Minister has, however, sent me a report of the statements made by the deputation, and also cuttings from newspapers with reference to the case. I should not refer to these if I supposed for a moment that they were sent to me because they contain any reference to the discharge of my judicial functions, or if it could be supposed that I desired to make any explanation with regard to them; but I do desire to expose to the Minister how absolutely unreliable are statements made at times in favour of convicted prisoners. One gentleman, for instance, named Moriarty, asserts that it was not put to the jury that the accused appropriated the cheque "falsely, and with intent to defraud." Certainly no such inappropriate word as "falsely" was used; but as to the fraudulent intention, the statement is manifestly and absurdly false. The bulk of evidence was, of course, directed to that one point—the point in the case—the one essentially for the jury, and which can be only determined by them and not by the Judge. But the most striking of the papers forwarded is an article professing to be founded on a statement made by Mr. Fremlin, who appears to allege that he was present at the trial. His statements are untrue. It was not "to oblige a farmer that Lenehan took the cheque." No such evidence was given. It was taken as an advance cheque for freight, which was a recognised thing in the Department. Lenehan did not "forward to the Commissioners the correct amount in notes or coin." There was no proof that he "transgressed any rule prohibiting him from receiving cheques in payment of railway accounts." On the contrary, it would appear that business cannot be carried on in the country without receiving cheques; it is a customary thing. He was not dismissed from office as a penalty for this irregularity, but for irregularity in his accounts. As far as I can judge, this was one of the earliest movements in the prisoner's favour; and it is no wonder, if this was accepted as a true version of the case, that public sympathy should be excited in his behalf, and that the belief should be entertained that an innocent person had been punished. Among the papers sent to me is a report made by Mr. Williams since the trial, upon further inquiry, I presume, at the instance of the Government. It would appear from this that, had certain documents which were tendered against the prisoner, objected to by his counsel, and withdrawn after a doubt expressed by me as to their admissibility, been given in evidence, the Crown could have shown that the prisoner had made fictitious charges of freight as outstanding, in order to cover deficiencies in his accounts, and that the prisoner's object in dealing as he did with the cheques for £10 and £12, as above-mentioned, and making fictitious returns in the remittance notes of 9th December of £2 from Marsden, and £10 from the Annandale Company, was to conceal such deficiency. Whether such evidence could have any direct bearing on the particular charge may be a question, and it must not be taken that I refer to the report as supporting that charge. But it must be some guide to those who have to determine the value of professions made as to belief in the absolute rectitude of prisoner's conduct.

I desire now to conclude by referring to prisoner's sentence; and I am moved to do so by a statement made in one of the petitions that solitary (separate) treatment is an incident to a sentence of three years' imprisonment. This is a matter of prison regulation which I as a Judge should not consider in passing sentence. The maximum penalty is ten years' penal servitude. I availed myself of the 8th section of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, and passed the minimum sentence of three years' imprisonment. I did not think that I was justified in further availing myself of the Amending Act of 1884. It does, however, occur to me that, applying the regulations as to sentences of three years' imprisonment to all classes of criminals indiscriminately, and including such an one as this, of a station-master who, at all events for upwards of twenty years, must be presumed to have served his country faithfully,—must render some sentences unduly severe. I would respectfully at all events recommend some mitigation of the sentence for the purpose of relieving him of this portion of his punishment.

Warrant in the first instance.

To William Roche, a Sergeant in the Police Force for the Colony of New South Wales, and to all other constables in said Force.

WHEREAS information hath this day been laid before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the Colony of New South Wales, for that one William Lenehan did, at Blayney, in the Colony aforesaid, on the 24th day of June, in the year of our Lord 1890, being then a servant to the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, did, by virtue of such employment, and whilst he was so employed as aforesaid, receive and take into his possession certain money, to wit the sum of £6, for and in the name and on the account of the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, his masters as aforesaid, and did then fraudulently embezzle the said money, and oath being now made before me, substantiating the matter of the said information: These are therefore to command you, in Her Majesty's name, forthwith to apprehend the said William Lenehan, and to bring him before some one or more of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the Colony aforesaid, to answer to the said information, and to be further dealt with according to law.

Given under my hand and seal, this 10th day of February, in the year of our Lord 1890, at Blayney, in the Colony aforesaid,—

THE examination of William Roche, of Blayney, in the Colony of New South Wales; James Hearn Williams, of Sydney, railway auditor; Victor Jones, of Springwood, railway telegraph operator; and Ernest Henry Hart, of Blayney, in the said Colony, accountant, taken on oath, this 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1891, at Blayney, in the Colony aforesaid, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justice of the Peace for the said Colony, in the presence and hearing of William Lenehan, who is charged this day before me, for that he, the said William Lenehan, on the 24th day of June, at Blayney, in the said Colony, in the year 1890 aforesaid, being then a servant of the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, did, by virtue of such his employment, and whilst he was so employed as aforesaid, receive and take into his possession certain money, to wit the sum of £6, for and in the name and on the account of the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, his masters as aforesaid, and did then fraudulently embezzle the said money.

Police Office, Blayney, 13 February, 1891.

BEFORE RUSSELL ALFRED COLLIE, Esq., J.P.

WILLIAM LENEHAN appears before the Court, in custody, charged with embezzlement.

William Roche, being duly sworn, states:—I am a sergeant in the police force, stationed at Blayney; about half-past 12 to-day I arrested the accused by virtue of a warrant, which I now produce, wherein he is charged with fraudulently embezzling the sum of £6 on the 24th day of June, 1890, the property of the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales; I pray that the accused may be remanded until Saturday, the 21st February instant, as I am not prepared to go on with the case to-day.

Accused stands remanded to 21st February. Bail allowed—himself in the sum of £80, and two sureties of £80 each.—R. A. COLLIE, J.P.

Police Office, Blayney, 21 February, 1891.

BEFORE N. CONNOLLY, Esq., P.M.

WILLIAM LENEHAN appears before the Court, on remand, charged with embezzlement.

The depositions previously taken in this case having been read in the presence of the defendant, the case proceeded.

James Hearn Williams, on oath, states:—I am inspector of railway station accounts; I know the accused; the information just read in the presence of accused is true to the best of my belief; until recently, accused accused was employed as railway station-master at Blayney ; as such he had control of all the officers at the station ; he did not usually receive cash, but in some instances has done so ; the head porter's name in the goods shed is Arthur Doyle ; it was Doyle's duty to receive cash for goods delivered, and enter it in a book called the office receipt book ; at the close of the day it was Doyle's duty to hand over the cash received to the telegraph operator ; in his absence to give it to the station-master ; it was usual for either of these officers receiving the cash to initial the total of the office receipt book, which would be the porter's receipt for the amount paid in ; I look at the office receipt book ; the takings for the 24th June last, 1890, were £12 5s. 7d. ; the accused initialled the total in the office receipt book as received by him ; that amount should have been paid into the bank the same or the following day ; I produce the remittance note of 24th June, 1890, to show the money that should have been paid into the bank on that date ; it is in the handwriting of defendant, and signed by him ; it shows that only £6 5s. 7d. was paid into the bank, instead of £12 5s. 7d., received by him from Doyle ; there is also an amount of £12 3s. coaching cash, which is cash taken for the sale of tickets, parcels, &c., received on same day, 24th June, 1890 ; this amount was correctly paid into the bank on that date, and the amount I charge accused with embezzling is the sum of £6, being the difference in the amount received from Doyle as goods money on that date and the amount paid into the bank ; at the end of each month it would be defendant's duty to make out an account of all outstanding amounts due as freight on goods delivered or in the goods shed, which would show in detail the sums due or owing upon all goods in the shed, or which had been delivered without being paid for at the time ; this account is made out from the Sundry Persons Account Book, kept by defendant ; I produce the return for the month ending 30th June, 1890 ; it is in the handwriting of accused, and signed by him, and was transmitted to the Railway Audit Office as a correct return of the amounts owing to the station at the end of June ; I have compared this return with the books of account at the Blayney station ; in the return defendant shows an item of £12 2s. as owing by the Annandale Copper Company ; this is a false entry ; there was no such amount owing by the company at the end of June, and no such amount is shown in the Sundry Persons Account Book ; the making of a false entry in the return of outstanding amounts forwarded to the Railway Audit Office would have the effect of concealing any cash deficiency during the month from the Audit Office ; from the 25th June to the end of the month the cash was not received by defendant, and was regularly remitted ; I put in as evidence the Office Receipt Book, the Train Book, the remittance note of 24th June, and the return of outstanding amounts for the month of June.

Cross-examined by Mr. Thompson, for accused : I commenced the examination of the railway accounts at the Blayney station on 13th January, 1891 ; I was about six days altogether examining the accounts ; the amounts received and banked by defendant on behalf of the Department would amount to about £500 per month ; I have had a long experience in the inspection of railway station accounts ; a station-master, in addition to his other duties, is responsible for the correctness of his accounts at the end of each month ; it is not the duty of the head porter at the end of each month to make out a list for the station-master of goods remaining in the shed which have not been paid for ; to make out such list or return is the duty of the station-master himself ; the Department does not consider the receipt of cash at a station like Blayney as the duty of the station-master, unless in the absence of the telegraph operator, but it is his duty to sign the remittance notes, showing all cash paid into the bank ; the operator brings the cash with the remittance note to the station-master, who compares it with the cash, signs it if correct, and then hands it back to the operator for transmission to the bank ; the station-master's accounts at Blayney have been twice audited since 24th June last, once by a departmental auditor, and once by an auditor from the Auditor-General's Department ; on both occasions they were marked as correct.

FOR THE DEFENCE.

Arthur Doyle, on oath, states:—I was lately employed as head porter at the Blayney railway station ; I was so employed for nearly two years ; I was head porter there in the month of June last ; in that month, on one occasion, a refund of £6 had to be made ; I said to Mr. Lenehan that £6 had to be taken out of an amount I had given to him on one of the days of the month ; this refund of £6 was to be taken from a sum of £12 odd which I had handed to him ; the sum of £6 was then handed back to me by accused ; I now look at the office receipt book and at the takings of the 24th June ; I see that the sum of £12 5s. 7d., received by me on that date was handed into accused, and the entry initialled by him ; accused handed me back the same day (24th June) the sum of £6, and said that I should get a voucher or receipt from the person to whom I refunded it ; I did not do so, and got no receipt ; the monthly return sent to the Department was made out by Mr. Lenehan from information supplied by me and from the Sundry Persons Account Book ; Blayney station is a very busy one, and a large amount of work is done done owing to its being a junction, and I was considerably overworked, sometimes not leaving until half-past nine at night; it would have required two extra men to have carried on properly the work of the goods-shed alone; Mr. Lenehan's time always appeared to be fully occupied with his duties.

By Mr. Wilshire, for the prosecution:—I am at present on bail, charged with embezzling moneys from the Railway Department; I used to hand over moneys received by me to the operator or station-master; on the 24th June last accused Lenehan initialled the book as having received £12 5s. 7d.; as soon as I handed over the cash and got the book initialled my responsibility ceased; I am aware that accused is charged with embezzling £6 of this day's takings; I have not discussed this charge with Lenehan further than his telling me that he had been arrested as well as me; accused told me for the first time this morning that he wanted me as a witness; at the time I got the refund of £6 from Lenehan I told him the name of the person entitled to it; I look at the office receipt book and see that the receipts of 24th June consisted of a number of small sums received from a number of persons; there is no sum of £6 specified as having been received on that day; I am unable to show how or in what way this £6 was refunded; I do not remember what it was for; I cannot show any note of it in any book, paper, or document belonging to the office, nor can I produce any voucher for it; I can remember nothing about it except that there was a refund of £6 which Lenehan is charged with embezzling; if there is an item in the outstanding list which is not in the Sundry Persons Account Book I cannot explain how it could get into the list, as the return is made out from the Sundry Persons Accounts list; I see an item of £12 2s. in the outstanding list as due by the Annandale Copper Company; I cannot find any such item in the Sundry Persons Account Book.

Re-examined by Mr. Thompson, for the defence:—It was a common occurrence for a refund to be made out of cash received; refunds were sometimes made some time after they were due; no refund-book was kept, nor was any cheque-book kept for the purpose of paying these; whatever officer at the time happened to have money on hand paid over these refunds; on looking at the office receipt-book of 15th May last, I find an entry of £6 7s. 6d. received by me in cash for a refund, but I cannot say what the refund was made for, or to whom paid; it was by authority of the accused Lenehan I made these refunds; he would tell me to make the refund in favour of a person named, and get a receipt for it; accused would tell me there were instructions sent him to make a refund; I don't know what books accused kept as to refunds; I did not always get receipts for refunds, although told to get them; on frequent occasions, where refunds became necessary, I have obtained the amounts from the station-master or operator without any reference to head office; I have on numerous occasions paid out of my own moneys sums as refunds, and am from £7 to £8 short of my own money in this way.

Sworn before me, this 21st }

N. CONNOLLY, P.M.

ARTHUR DOYLE.

James Hearn Williams recalled, on oath, states:—I have heard the evidence of witness Doyle in reference to refunds; as a rule, authority is received by the station-master from the Goods Superintendent or Chief Traffic Manager to make refunds; the station-master on receiving his authority directs one of his officers to make such refund; when the refund is made a receipt is taken on a proper form supplied by the Department; in all instances the Railway Audit Office insists upon having such receipt; the mode of treating such refunds is to deduct the amount refunded from the day's takings, and full particulars should be specified; at the close of the month, when the balance statement is made out, such refunds show on the credit side of the account, with the authority for making them; the receipt for the refund is attached to the balance statement and sent to the Audit Office; occasionally a refund may be made without authority arising in this way; freight on a consignment of goods having been paid, and it being found afterwards that the consignee has been overcharged, the station-master can direct a refund of such overcharge, and the amount would be taken off the day's takings in the same way as an authorised refund, such transaction being designated a cash-book overcharge, and must be recorded in a book provided for the purpose and a refund voucher signed; I have heard witness Doyle say that refunds were made by himself or the station-master on their own authority on goods damaged in transit; I have never known a case where a station-master has done so on his own responsibility, nor has he the power to do so; I produce a form of refund voucher on which a receipt is taken when a refund is made; it is marked D.

Cross-examined by Mr. Thomson: I will swear that it has not been the practice at the Blayney or any other station to pay refunds without authority and a voucher.

Statement of the Accused.

WILLIAM LENEHAN stands charged before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the Colony aforesaid, this 21st day of February, in the year of Our Lord, 1891, for that he, the said William Lenehan, on the 24th day of June last, at Blayney, in the said Colony, being then a servant to the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, did, by virtue of his employment, and whilst he was so employed as aforesaid, receive and take into his possession certain money, to wit the sum of £6, for and in the name and on the account of the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, his masters as aforesaid, and did then fraudulently embezzle the said money; and the examinations of all the witnesses on the part of the prosecution having been completed, and the depositions taken against the accused having having been caused to be read to him by me, the said Justice (by or) before whom such examination has been so completed; and I, the said Justice, having also stated to the accused and given him clearly to understand that he has nothing to hope from any promise of favour, and nothing to fear from any threat which may have been holden out to him to induce him to make any admission or confession of his guilt, but that whatever he shall say may be given in evidence against him upon his trial, notwithstanding such promise or threat; and the said charge being read to the said William Lenehan, and the witnesses for the prosecution, William Roche, Sergeant of Police, Blayney; James Hearn Williams, auditor, of Sydney; Victor Jones, telegraph operator, of Springwood; Ernest Henry Hart, bank accountant, of Blayney, being severally examined in his presence, the said William Lenehan is now addressed by me as follows:—

 “Having heard the evidence, do you wish to say anything in answer to the charge? You are not obliged to say anything unless you desire to do so; but whatever you say will be taken down in writing, and may be given in evidence against you upon your trial”; whereupon the said William Lenehan saith as follows:—“I have nothing to say at present, but wish to call evidence.”

James Hearn Williams, on oath, states:—I am an Inspector of Railway Accounts; the information read to the accused is true to the best of my belief; it has been the practice at several stations for persons to pay freight in advance; when money is received for this purpose it should be immediately entered in the office receipt-book, and paid into revenue as part of the day's takings; a ledger is provided for keeping a proper account in such cases; the cheques should be credited in the ledger, and as the goods arrive the cost of freight marked against them; I have made inspection of the books of account at the Blayney railway station; there is no entry in the office receipt-book of Marsden's cheque of 25th August, 1890 (£15), exhibit "E"; there is no entry whatever in any of the office books of this cheque; at the end of each month the accused makes out a return of outstanding amounts owing to the Department; I produce the returns for August, September, October, and November of 1890; they are in the hand-writing of the accused, and signed by him; I have examined these accounts with the Sundry Persons Account Book, from which they are compiled, with the result that I find in each list false entries, some of which are fictitious amounts; others have an existence in the Sundry Persons Account Book, but they have been paid within the month, and should not appear at all in the lists; the effect of inserting items as of moneys owing has the effect of hiding from the Department the misappropriation of moneys; I tender these returns of outstanding accounts as evidence; they are now marked "F."

Cross-examined by Mr. Thompson:—I find no entry of the £15 in the station account-books; Doyle, as the head porter, would have been the proper person to receive this as advance freight, and the station-master would be acting within his duty in handing this amount over to the head porter had he received it himself; the head porter would then have had to account for the amount to the telegraph operator; I can find no entry whatever of this £15; there are no entries in the books of amounts due for freight by Marsden in the month of August; on the 29th December, 1890, there are entries in Doyle's office receipt-book in the name of Mr. Marsden, amounting to £22 0s. 10d.; on this particular day Mr. Lenehan's own cheque for £8 2s. 8d. forms portion of the remittance, which has the effect of squaring the deficiency of some months back; I cannot say what particular item the £8 odd was paid in to cover.

FOR

FOR THE DEFENCE.

Arthur Doyle, on oath, states: I was lately head porter at the Blayney railway station; in the beginning of September last accused handed me £15 in cash, saying he had received a cheque from Mr. Marsden on account of his copper as it came in; I put the money in the safe of which I have charge, which was the proper place to put moneys received; accused told me it was cash he had received for a cheque he had got from Mr. Marsden for trainage for his copper; I used to enter in the delivery book kept by myself particulars from the invoices received from other stations; the station-master used to enter up the amounts of these invoices in the "Sundry Persons Account Book"; sometimes the invoices were received in blank when there was no means of weighing at the sending station.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wilshire: I did not enter the £15 received by me from accused in the office receipt book, the book in which I should enter all my cash; I merely put it in the safe; I have not a scrap of paper or any entry to show anything about this £15; I look through my office receipt book from 29th August last to 30th September; I can find no entry in reference to this £15; I also look at the entries in October; I find three entries to Marsden, amounting to £2 9s. 7d.; I can find no entries at all to Marsden for November; there are no entries for December in my handwriting against Marsden; I made all the entries on 29th December except the last six items; these are in the handwriting of accused, and all on Marsden's account, consisting of six items amounting to £22 0s. 10d.; the last six items on 29th December are for freight of copper ore belonging to Marsden, and are in Lenehan's handwriting; he used always to enter the copper in the office receipt book kept by me, although it was my duty to do it; I cannot say why accused used to do so; accused never handed me any other cash on Marsden's account but this £15; he has handed me small amounts from 4s. 10d. up to 20s.; these I used to enter in my office receipt book; I know nothing about the proceeds of two cheques by Marsden for £12 and £10 in the months of November and December last; I used to hand over to the accused portions of the £15 as the copper arrived; I would take over a slip to the accused showing him the weight and amount of freight, and hand over to him the amount of the freight with the slip; I did this until I exhausted the £15; early in January, 1891, the freight account was made up, and I found Marsden owed £6 5s. 3d. as a balance, which he paid me by cheque.

Statement of the accused.

WILLIAM LENEHAN stands charged before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the Colony aforesaid, this 21st day of February, in the year of Our Lord 1891, for that he, the said William Lenehan, on the 28th day of August, 1890, at Blayney, in the said Colony, being then a servant to the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, did by virtue of such employment, and whilst he was employed as aforesaid, receive and take into his possession a certain valuable security, to wit a warrant and order for the payment of the sum of £15, for and in the name and on the account of the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, his masters as aforesaid, and did then fraudulently embezzle the said valuable security, and the examinations of all the witnesses on the part of the prosecution having been completed, and the depositions taken against the accused having been caused to be read to him by me, the said Justice, (by or) before whom such examination has been so completed; and I, the said Justice, having also stated to the accused and given him clearly to understand that he had nothing to hope from any promise of favour, and nothing to fear from any threat which may have been holden out to him to induce him to make any admission or confession of his guilt, but that whatever he shall say may be given in evidence against him upon his trial, notwithstanding such promise or threat; and the said charge being read to the said William Lenehan, and the witnesses for the prosecution, William Roach, Sergeant of Police, Blayney; Samuel Marsden, grazier of Blayney; Ernest Henry Hart, accountant of Blayney; James Hearn Williams, auditor, of Sydney, being severally examined in his presence, the said William Lenehan is now addressed by me as follows:—"Having heard the evidence, do you wish to say anything in answer to the charge? You are not obliged to say anything unless you desire to do so; but whatever you say will be taken down in writing, and may be given in evidence against you upon your trial"; whereupon the said William Lenehan saith as follows:—"I reserve my defence."

Taken before me, at Blayney, in the said Colony, the day and year first above-mentioned.

No. 15.

Mr. Crown Prosecutor Cohen, to The Attorney-General.

Sir,

Chambers, 67, Elizabeth-street, 4 May, 1891.

With reference to the recent Bathurst Circuit Court, at which I had the honor of holding a Commission on behalf of the Crown, I beg to report that William Lenehan, who was twice committed for trial on separate charges of embezzlement from the Railway Commissioners of New South Wales, was put upon his trial and convicted on one of those charges, which involved the embezzlement of a cheque for £15. As I was of opinion that a conviction, if obtained, upon the charge covered by the second committal would not vindicate justice beyond the full vindication effected by the conviction actually obtained, obtained, and as I understood from the presiding Judge that in the event of a second conviction the sentence in each case would be concurrent, I decided not to proceed with the indictment in the second case.

I have, &c.,
H. E. COHEN.

WERE any moneys earned by railways on account of Mr. Marsden for freight for copper-ore between the 25th August and 29th December; if so, were the amounts shown as debits? Let me have full details, and also list of fictitious entries in monthly outstanding freight list referred to in Mr. Williams' report of 28th May, 1891. Submit the depositions in case against Doyle, tried same time that Lenehan was.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Secretary for Railways.

Sir, Department of Justice, Sydney, 16 July, 1891.

Referring to the case of prisoner William Lenehan, recently convicted at the Bathurst Circuit Court of embezzlement, I am directed by the Minister of Justice to invite you to have the goodness to state for his information whether any moneys were earned by the Railways on account of Mr. Marsden for freight for copper between the 25th August and the 29th December last; and, if so, whether these amounts were shown as debits.

I am at the same time desired to ask you to be good enough to furnish Mr. Gould with full details, and also with a list of the fictitious entries in monthly outstanding freight list, referred to in Treasury report of the 28th May last, together with the exhibits in the case, which, it has been ascertained at the Crown Solicitor's Office, were returned to Mr. Williams, the Traffic Manager, Redfern.

I have, &c.,
ARCH. C. FRASER,
Under Secretary.

The Secretary for Railways to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, 24 July, 1891.

With reference to your letter of the 16th instant, relative to particulars required in connection with the case of William Lenehan, convicted at the Bathurst Circuit Court for embezzlement, I am desired to inform you that a statement of particulars of the matter referred to by you has been made out by Mr. Williams, one of the Audit Inspectors, who is at present away at Bourke. As soon as he returns, which will be in the course of three or four days, I will instruct him to call on you with the information.

I have, &c.,

Report of The Inspector of Railway Accounts.

Minute Paper.

22 July, 1891.

In reply to the inquiries made by the Honorable the Minister of Justice, concerning the prisoner William Lenehan, as to the moneys earned by the Railway Department on account of Mr. Marsden for freight on copper ore, between the dates of 25th August and 29th December, 1890, I have to report that in the absence of the books, which are at Blayney, I cannot give the exact amount, but it was something over £50, in various items, the whole of which were shown as debits within the months in which they were earned. The following is a list, with full particulars of the fictitious entries in monthly outstanding list:—

| | £ | s. | d. | |
|-----------------|-----|----|----|--|
| August, 1890 | ... | 2 | 6 | 2 Clements .—This amount was paid by Mr. Clements within the month of August, and should not have been shown as an outstanding account at the close of the month. |
| | | 3 | 15 | 1 Annandale Co. .— do do |
| | | 1 | 18 | 0 T. Ollivier .— do do |
| September, 1890 | ... | 2 | 6 | 2 Hay .—Fictitious entry. No such debit in the books, and consequently no such amount was owing. |
| | | 3 | 15 | 1 Annandale Co. .— { These are two items which were wrongly shown as owing |
| | | 1 | 18 | 0 Ollivier .— { in August list, and not having been paid by Lenehan, |
| October, 1890 | ... | 0 | 10 | 0 Kelly .—The amount properly owing by this person was £1 3s. 10d.; the outstanding list shows £1 13s. 10d. |
| | | 5 | 5 | 3 Marsden .— { Both amounts were paid during the currency of the month, and |
| | | 1 | 14 | 8 " { should not have been shown as owing at the close of the month. |

October,

| | | | | | |
|----------------|---|----|----|---|-------------------------|
| October, 1890 | £ | s. | d. | | |
| ... 10 | 0 | 0 | 0 | Stacey .—The amount actually owing by Stacey was £6 5s. 3d. Lenehan, when making up his outstanding list, represented that £16 5s. 3d. was owing, by making an entry for that amount on the list. | |
| | 0 | 10 | 0 | Ollivier .—The amount owing by this person was 1s. 6d. Lenehan entered 11s. 6d. on list. | |
| | 4 | 0 | 0 | Annandale Co. .—The amount actually owing by this company was £1 15s. 8d. Lenehan represented £5 15s. 8d. as owing, by entering that amount on the outstanding list. | |
| November, 1890 | 0 | 10 | 0 | { These are two items which wrongly appeared as owing in October list, and as Lenehan did not pay the amounts to revenue, he again showed them outstanding on November list.
} All are fictitious entries. No corresponding debits in the books. | |
| ... 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | | Ollivier .— |
| | 4 | 0 | 0 | | Annandale Co. .— |
| | 1 | 4 | 7 | | Mallon .— |
| | 4 | 2 | 11 | | Annandale Co. .— |
| | 2 | 0 | 11 | Ferguson .— | |

I attach the outstanding lists referred to, in which the items (full particulars of which are given above) are all shown, and are distinctly marked. They are all in Lenehan's handwriting.

The exhibits in the case consisted of the cheque drawn by Marsden, which was returned to the bank by request, and the railway books, which are at Blayney station.

There would, perhaps, be some difficulty in now obtaining the cheque from the bank, and the railway books are very bulky. However, if the Minister of Justice would still like to see them, they can be obtained.

W. LENEHAN.

Telephone from the Secretary to the Traffic Auditor.—Lenehan's papers. On the first page of Mr. Williams' report he shows the amount as something over £50, saying he was unable to state correct amount in the absence of books, which were at Blayney. The correct amount is now required.

Memorandum to Blayney.—Please furnish a statement showing the amount earned for freight of copper, on account of Mr. Marsden, between the 25th August and the 29th of December, 1890, also send, to reach me on Monday morning certain, the S.P.A. book in use at that period.—R. J. SHERIDAN (per T.T.B.), Traffic Audit Branch, 24th July, 1891.

Memo. from the S.M., Blayney, to Traffic Auditor, Sydney.—Return of earnings on copper ore, on account of S. Marsden, 25th August to 29th December, 1890:—3rd September, £26 8s.; 1st December, £1 8s.; 3rd December, £2 13s. 5d., £1; 11th December, £4 11s., £11 0s. 4d.; 23rd December, £1 8s. 1d.; total, £48 8s. 10d. This statement is as near as I can obtain from the books. It is a difficult task. I have sent booked, through the parcels, the S.P.A. and delivery book in use at the time. I have also sent the O.R. book.—T. J. NICHOLSON.

I have compared these entries with the books, and find they are correct.—T. H. M'CLELLAND, 29/7/91. The Chief Inspector. Traffic Auditor.—J. SALE, 29/7/91. Please see the Secretary and ascertain if anything further is required.—R.J.S., 29/7/91. Mr. Sale. The Under Secretary, Department of Justice. Information desired herewith.—H.M'L. (per G.A.S.), 30/7/91. Depositions in case Regina v. Doyle, and papers from Railway Department. Submitted with reference to Minister's minute of 15th inst.—T.E.M'N. (for Under Secretary), 31/7/91. To His Excellency the Governor,—I decline to recommend any further remission of sentence at the present time.—ALBERT J. GOULD, 31/7/91. Refused.—JERSEY, 6/8/91.

No. 24.

Mrs. Margaret Lenehan to The Countess of Jersey.

Brilliant-street, Bathurst, 6 September, 1891.

May it please your Ladyship,—That I most respectfully address you, to implore you to use your gracious influence with His Excellency Lord Jersey, in my husband, William Lenehan's behalf. He was convicted of embezzlement at the Circuit Court, Bathurst, in April last, for placing an advance cheque to his private account in the Commercial Bank, Blayney, with no fraudulent intention, as it was a practice among station-masters to do this to oblige customers of the Railway Department. Through this sad event myself and family have been left without a provider and without means. There was a little money collected for me by the kind people of Bathurst, but with a very severe winter to contend against, and my youngest boy very ill of rheumatic fever, our little stock has been getting less. If something could be done for me in any way His Excellency may think fit, your humble petitioner will be truly grateful. Trusting your ladyship will pardon one in dire distress for trespassing.

Yours, &c.,

MARGARET LENEHAN.

The Minister of Justice.—JERSEY, 7/9/91. Submitted.—A.C.F., 9/9/91. To His Excellency the Governor,—I am unable to recommend the remission sought.—ALBERT J. GOULD, 9/9/91. Refused.—JERSEY, 12/9/91.

No. 25.

The Under Secretary of Justice to Mrs. Lenehan.

Madam, Department of Justice, Sydney, 14 September, 1891.

Referring to your petition, addressed to the Countess of Jersey, and forwarded to this Department, praying for consideration in the case of your husband, William Lenehan, I am directed by the Minister of Justice to inform you that His Excellency the Governor has not seen fit to authorise the remission sought.

I have, &c.,

Mr. M. A. Williamson to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir,

Temple Court, King-street, 17 September, 1890.

Enclosed, I forward petition in accordance with 383rd section of Criminal Law Amendment Act, signed by me on behalf of Henry Myers, tried and convicted at Quarter Sessions on the 10th instant, for maliciously wounding his wife Mary Myers, together with Statutory Declarations of Anna Maria Smith, Julia Brown, Joseph Brown, Thomas Corbett, and Elizabeth Behan Asprey.

I would point out that Myers received a sentence of seven years imprisonment, and would ask that inquiry be determined on without delay.

I have, &c.,

MARK A. WILLIAMSON.

[Enclosures.]

To His Excellency the Right Honorable Charles Robert Carrington, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—

A doubt having arisen as to the guilt of one Henry Myers, who was tried and convicted before His Honor Judge M'Farland, at the Court of Quarter Sessions holden at Darlinghurst on the 10th instant, and sentenced to serve seven years penal servitude for maliciously wounding his wife Mary Myers, I, on behalf of the said Henry Myers, respectfully represent such doubt to your Excellency, and would respectfully ask that your Excellency will be pleased, in accordance with the 383rd section of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, to direct an inquiry to be held on the matter suggested hereunder, viz. :—

1. That the said Henry Myers did not maliciously wound his wife as alleged, but that the said Mary Myers inflicted the wound on herself.

2. That Mary Myers stated to one Anna Maria Smith that she, Mary Myers, stabbed herself, and would give her, Anna Maria Smith, £5 if she, Anna Maria Smith, put Henry Myers away, and swear Henry Myers was the man she, Anna Maria Smith, saw running down the lane at the rear of her house.

3. That Anna Maria Smith stated in the presence of Julia Brown, Thomas Corbett, Joseph Brown, and Elizabeth Behan Asprey, that Mary Myers told her she (Mary Myers) stabbed herself, and would give her, Anna Maria Smith, £5 to put Henry Myers away (vide statutory declarations herewith annexed).

4. That Mary Myers is untruthful when she says she only lived three days with Mrs. Brown, and that she was not turned out of the house (vide declarations of Joseph Brown and Thomas Corbett hereto annexed).

5. That Julia Brown, though at the trial aforesaid she swore Henry Myers followed her and the said Mary Myers from East-street half way to where the said Mary Myers lived, now swears that when walking towards Brisbane-street, Mary Myers turned round and said, "He (meaning accused, Henry Myers) is following me now," and that she, Julia Brown, turned round and could see some man in his shirt-sleeves about 30 yards away, and that she did not, nor could she recognize the said man as the night was too dark (vide statutory declaration of Julia Brown hereto annexed).

6. That Mary Myers endeavoured to bribe one Thomas Corbett to induce Anna Maria Smith to swear as she, Mary Myers, wanted her (vide statutory declaration of Thomas Corbett hereto annexed).

7. That Mary Myers committed wilful and corrupt perjury at the trial aforesaid when she swore that her husband, the said Henry Myers, entered her house and stabbed her (vide statutory declaration of Anna Maria Smith hereto annexed).

MARK ANNESLEY WILLIAMSON,
Solicitor, &c.

Temple Court, King-street, Sydney.

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, ANNA MARIA SMITH, of Howard-street, Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, do hereby solemnly and sincerely declare as follows :—

1. On the 3rd of June last past, I was in the company of Mary Myers (the prosecutrix in a case Regina versus Myers, heard at the Darlinghurst Court of Quarter Sessions, holden on the 10th instant) for about ten minutes before the stabbing affair. The said Mary Myers was sitting on the bed dressed. I left the house for a certain purpose, and as I passed the window, I saw Mary Myers place the knife on her breast. I came back in about fifteen minutes. I found Mary Myers undressed, and lying on the bed, with blood flowing from her breast. Mary Myers said to me, "My husband stabbed me." I went for the police. I came back in about three quarters of an hour. When I swore at the Court of Quarter Sessions on the date before referred to, that I saw a man running down a lane, it was untrue. I told Mary Myers I saw her stab herself. Mary Myers said to me "I will give you five pounds (£5) not to say I stabbed myself." It was not possible for a man to go into the house where Mary Myers was, without me seeing him. At the hearing of the case above referred to, Mary Myers said to me, "I will give you one pound (£1) out of my pocket if you will not put me away."
2. I voluntarily proffer this declaration as my mind is uneasy, since I know an innocent man is in gaol through any mis-statement of mine.
3. The evidence I gave at the Central Police Court and Court of Quarter Sessions is not true.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Subscribed and declared, at Sydney, this 16th }
day of September, 1890, before me,— }

ANNA MARIA SMITH.

J. J. LANGDON, J.P., a Commissioner for Affidavits.

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, JULIA BROWN, of East-street, Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, the wife of Joseph Brown, of East-street aforesaid, labourer, do hereby solemnly and sincerely declare :—

1. That on the 3rd day of June last past, Mary Myers, the wife of Henry Myers, who was convicted at Quarter Sessions, Darlinghurst, on the 10th instant, for maliciously wounding his wife, the said Mary Myers, called at my residence, East-street aforesaid, at 10 a.m., and during conversation she told me she had dreamt her husband, the said Henry Myers, had stabbed her. I replied, "What nonsense, he would not do that; I don't think he would endanger his life for that." We had something to eat and drink, and then I left the house with her. We went down East-street into Brisbane-street, and when near Morrison's Hotel, Mary Myers turned round and said, "There he is following me, now I'm frightened of my life; come in, and we will have a drink till he goes away." I turned round as she spoke, and saw a man in his shirt sleeves about 30 yards away. I did not, nor could I recognise the man in question, as the night was dark. I saw Mary Myers the next morning in her own house, and she said, "There you are, I told you what would happen; you see I'm stabbed." 2.

2. On Monday, the 8th instant, Anna Maria Smith, a witness for the prosecution in the case herebefore referred to, called at my house and said "Mary Myers has not given me what she promised, and, by heavens! I'll put her away, as she told me she stabbed herself." I replied, "You old traitor; why did you not say that at the Central Police Court, and you would have got the man out of it?" She replied, "I'll get him out of it at the High Court," meaning the Court of Quarter Sessions.
3. On last Wednesday, the 10th instant, whilst waiting at Darlinghurst, Anna Maria Smith said to me, "You and I have to go to Kent-street, as Mary Myers said I am to get five pounds (£5) to swear that she, Mary Myers, never said she stabbed herself."
4. On the morning of the 10th instant, Mrs. Smith, in the presence of my son Thomas Corbett and Mrs. Asprey, stated Mary Myers has told her, Mrs. Smith, that she had stabbed herself.
5. I gave evidence for the prosecution in the case referred to.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Subscribed and declared, at Sydney, this 15th }
day of September, 1890, before me,—

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, ELIZABETH BEHAN ASPREY, of Glebe-street, Glebe, in the Colony of New South Wales, the wife of Stephen Asprey, of Glebe-street aforesaid, storeman, do hereby solemnly and sincerely declare that :—

1. I know Anna Maria Smith, one of the witnesses in the case Regina versus Myers, heard at the Darlinghurst Quarter Sessions, on the 10th instant.
2. On the 10th instant I was in the house of Julia Brown, in East-street, Sydney, aforesaid, and whilst there I heard the said Anna Maria Smith state, "By heavens! I'll put away Polly Myers (meaning Mary Myers, the prosecutrix in case before referred to). Polly Myers stabbed herself; she (meaning Mary Myers) told me, and she (meaning Mary Myers) promised me £5, and if she (meaning Mary Myers) don't give it to me I'm the very woman to speak the truth and put her away, and he will get out of it."
3. On Monday, the 8th instant, I heard Anna Maria Smith make a statement similar to that referred to in the second paragraph hereof.
4. I do not, nor did I, know Mary Myers before referred to. I would have attended the Court at the trial in question had I not heard Anna Maria Smith make the statement before mentioned, and believing she would give evidence of what Mary Myers said.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, THOMAS CORBETT, of East-street, Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, labourer, do hereby solemnly and sincerely declare that :—

1. I am the son of Julia Brown, who gave evidence for the prosecution in the case of Regina versus Henry Myers, heard at Darlinghurst Court, on Wednesday, the 10th instant.
2. I am well acquainted with Mary Myers, the wife of the said Henry Myers, she having resided in my step-father's house, where I also resided for a period of nine days, from the 25th day of August last past until the 2nd instant, when my step-father, to my own personal knowledge, ordered her to leave his house in consequence of her, the said Mary Myers, keeping very late hours, and misbehaving herself, as reported, with other men.
3. During the time the said Mary Myers resided at my step-father's house as aforesaid I had a conversation with her regarding her said husband's trial. It was on Friday, the 5th instant I had the conversation referred to with her, when she said to me, "If you will square old Granny (meaning Mrs. Anna Maria Smith, another witness for the prosecution) I will give you £5, and allow you to sleep with me to-night."
4. I heard Mrs. Smith, the witness referred to in the third paragraph hereof, say that the said Mary Myers had told her (Mrs. Smith) that she (the said Mary Myers) had stabbed herself, and that she (Mrs. Smith) would tell the truth when she got into the witness-box at the Quarter Sessions, and put the prosecutrix away instead of Henry Myers. This conversation heard by me took place in my step-father's house on the 10th instant, in the presence of my mother, Mrs. Asprey, my step-father, and one Mrs. Morgan. Having heard this conversation, I refrained from appearing in Court, believing Mrs. Smith would give evidence as she stated, otherwise I most certainly would have appeared on behalf of the accused.
5. I am nineteen years of age.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Subscribed and declared at Sydney, this 15th }
day of September, 1890, before me,—

THOMAS CORBETT.

J. ORMOND O'BRIEN, J.P., Notary Public.

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, JOSEPH BROWN, of East-street, Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, labourer, do hereby solemnly and sincerely declare that :—

1. I am the husband of Julia Brown, who gave evidence for the prosecution in the case of Regina v. Myers, heard at the Darlinghurst Quarter Sessions on the 10th instant.
2. I know Mary Myers, the prosecutrix in the case referred to in the first paragraph hereof.
3. I am informed, and verily believe that at the hearing of the case aforesaid, the said Mary Myers, when under cross-examination, stated she resided at my house only three days, and that I never ordered her to leave. This is not true, as the said Mary Myers resided in my house for nine days, until the 2nd instant, when I ordered her to leave for keeping very late hours, and as it was reported to me she was misbehaving herself with other men.
4. I was present with my wife, my step-son, Thomas Corbett, Mrs. Asprey, and Mrs. Morgan, at a conversation held in my house on the 10th instant with Mrs. Smith, one of the witnesses in the case referred to, and with whom Mary Myers resided, when the said Mrs. Smith stated Mary Myers told her (Mrs. Smith) she (Mary Myers) stabbed herself, and she (Mrs. Smith) also said she would put her (Mary Myers) in gaol and not Henry Myers.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Re Myers' Petition.

Dear Sir,

Temple Court, King-street, Sydney, 18 September, 1890.

Enclosed I forward a statutory declaration herein from one Elizabeth Moore, and would ask you to annex same to said petition, and oblige,

Yours truly,
MARK A. WILLIAMSON.

[Enclosures.]

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, ELIZABETH MOORE, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, the wife of Thomas Moore, shipwright, do hereby solemnly and sincerely declare as follows :—

1. I know a woman named Mary Myers, who was prosecutrix in a case Regina v. Henry Myers, tried at the Darlinghurst Quarter Sessions on the 10th instant.
2. At the trial referred to in the first paragraph hereof, I am informed and verily believe that whilst the said Mary Myers was under examination, she swore the knife produced at such trial as aforesaid was like one her husband, the said Henry Myers, brought with him from Bourke. During the month of July last past the said Mary Myers informed me, this declarant, and others, that the knife in question was left in the house of her (the said Mary Myers), by a man-of-war sailor or by one M'Mahon. She could not say which, but the day on which the said knife had been left in her house was the day before she was stabbed. She also said, "I will give the black bastard (meaning her said husband, Henry Myers) three years. I do not want him; it is Joe (meaning the brother of the said Henry Myers) I want, and it is Joe I will have."
3. About eighteen months ago the said Mary Myers, when living with me in Campbell-street, Sydney, aforesaid, attempted to cut her throat in my house. I took the knife from her. The said Mary Myers had cut herself. The blood was flowing from the wound. I said, "For God's sake, Mrs. Myers, do not do that." She said, "I am used to this; it is not the first time I have done it. I will do it to frighten them, but do not tell the neighbours."
4. I have heard Mary Myers threaten to stab a brother of her said husband. During April last, whilst the said Mary Myers was at my house, I heard her say to a young brother of her said husband, "Go away, or I will stick you." I heard the said Mary Myers repeatedly threaten to put her said husband away.
5. Since the committal of the said Henry Myers I have repeatedly heard Mary Myers say she had to keep Anna Maria Smith sweet till after the trial, when she said she (Anna Maria Smith) could go somewhere.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Fitzroy, Melbourne, 16 September, 1890.

ABOUT seven or eight years ago, to the best of my knowledge, I was living in a house off Roma-street, Brisbane, near the Railway-station, a place well known as the "One Tree"; Polly Myers, the plaintiff, well known then as Mabel Watson, lived next door to me; Henry Myers was keeping company with her; one day he came to the house where she was living; I happened to be in the house at the time, and told her he was going away with St. Leon's Circus; she said, "You are not to go"; Henry Myers said, "I must go"; she answered again and said, "If you go, I will follow you"; he replied, "If you follow me I will give you in charge of the first policeman I meet"; she started crying, at the same time saying, "I will make you stop"; with that Polly Myers went upstairs, as I thought to take off her dress, when I heard her groaning; I went up to see what was the matter with her; she was sitting on the bed in the back room holding something in her side; I said, "Mabel, what are you doing"; the answer was, "I will die before he shall go away"; I stood at the top of the stairs and called out, "Harry, come up, Mabel is stabbing herself"; I then ran in the room, put my left arm under her chin and threw her back on to the bed and pulled the arm in which she had the pocket-knife in her side away; I gave the pocket-knife to the landlady of the house; the stab was not very deep.

Report of His Honor Judge M'Farland.

District Court Office, Sydney, 26 September, 1890.

In re Henry Myers.

THE application now made for a special inquiry, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Consolidation Act, and submitted for my report, is mainly based upon allegations contained in a solemn declaration, made a few days ago by Anna Maria Smith, and these allegations are utterly inconsistent with the sworn evidence given by her at the Quarter Sessions trial before me. Again, if any credence can be attached to the declarations of Julia Brown and Elizabeth B. Asprey (also relied upon by prisoner in support of the present application) that H. M. Smith is now, in effect, swearing by her declaration, the very opposite to what she swore at Quarter Sessions, from a feeling of revenge against Mrs. Myers, the person stabbed, because the latter did not pay her some money which she was to have received as a bribe, as she alleges, to give false evidence.

The earlier portions of the declaration of Julia Brown are also entirely opposed to her sworn evidence at the trial; and the concluding parts are mere allegations as to statements made, or said to have been made, by a third person—A. M. Smith, above mentioned.

Other declarations have been obtained from Thomas Corbett and Joseph Brown;—the one is the son, the other the husband of Julia Brown; and the earlier portions of these declarations are met by the sworn evidence of Mrs. Myers at the trial; and the concluding parts relate only to representations said to have been made by the same A. M. Smith; while the reasons now assigned by Corbett, as well as by Elizabeth B. Asprey, for not having attended and given evidence at the trial, are very insufficient.

Almost every circumstance disclosed at the trial showed that the prisoner was the person—as the jury found—who stabbed Mrs. Myers, his wife, and that she herself did not do so, and could not have done so.

I am of opinion there is no ground whatever for any such special inquiry as is now sought, and that the verdict of the jury, convicting the prisoner of the offence charged against him, was a right and proper one.

ALFRED M'FARLAND.

Depositions in case Regina v. Henry Myers.

HENRY MYERS, maliciously wounding, with intent to do grievous bodily harm on the 4th instant, remanded till Wednesday next. Bail refused.
Sydney, 4th June, 1890.

C. DELOHERY, D.S.M.

Senior-Constable John Wilkinson sworn, states:—At about half-past 4 o'clock on the morning of the 4th instant, in company with Constable Rochford, I arrested the prisoner in a house in East-street; when he came to the door, he said to me, "What is it you want?" I said, "I want to see you in reference to an assault on your wife"; I said, "Your wife has been stabbed; she charges you with stabbing her"; he said, "I have never been out of the house; I came in about 6 o'clock, and I have never been out since"; I said, "Well, it is a strange thing your wife is sure to know you, she could not have made a mistake"; he said, "If you knew her as well as I do, you would not bother me"; I took him to No. 3, Brown's-lane, where his wife was living"; she said, "That's him"; but when I first took the prisoner in, his wife turned to another woman there, and said to her, "Is that him?" I took him to No. 2 Police Station, and charged him with maliciously wounding one Mary Myers, with intent to do her grievous bodily harm; in answer to the charge, he said, "That's rough"; I showed him the knife now produced, which was marked with blood, and said, "Have you ever seen this knife before?" he said, "No, never saw it before; I know nothing about it."

William George Watson, on oath, states:—I am a duly qualified medical practitioner, residing at 150, Elizabeth-street; on the 4th instant, at 2 o'clock in the morning, I was called to a house in Brown's-place; I examined a woman who was there in bed; this is the woman now before the Court—Mary Myers; I found a stab wound in the chest, just above the right breast; the hole was about three-quarters of an inch long, and evidently penetrating into the lungs, frothy blood was coming from her mouth, and from the wound in her chest; I dressed and stitched the wound; it was a dangerous wound, and could have been inflicted by just such a knife as this; she has improved very much since, and is now, I think, out of danger.

Mary Myers, on oath, states :—I am the wife of the prisoner, and have not been living with him for the last five weeks ; I have a maintenance order against him from this Court ; I remember the 4th instant, between 12 o'clock and 1 o'clock ; I had been in bed about three minutes ; the old lady was sleeping with me, got up, and went outside ; she left the door open ; shortly afterwards the door was pushed open ; I said, "Is that you, granny" ? My husband who had pushed the door open, said, "You, cow, I have come for my clothes" ; I got out of bed, and gave him all I had ; I had pledged some before that ; I put the clothes on a table ; he came to me then, and threw me on the bed, he said, "You, cow, you thought you would bite me by laying an information ; now I will bite you" ; I saw him put his hand into his coat pocket, and pull something out ; I felt a stab, and saw the old lady coming in ; I do not remember any more until I saw the police and the doctor ; I see this knife ; it is just the same sort of knife, which my husband brought with him from Bourke, it had the hole in handle ; on the Saturday previous, I heard him say to me, "I'll do for you yet for pulling me for support."

By Mr. Williamson : My husband has summoned me for threats since the order was made ; I have never stabbed myself ; I have never taken poison to get my husband back with me ; my husband has left me before ; I did write to his father once, telling him that I was entitled to £9,000 at Roma ; I never took poison or stabbed myself in the year 1888 ; when the constable brought my husband to me I did say to the old lady, "Is that him ?" I said that because I wanted her for a witness and I wanted her to identify him ; I have some of my husband's clothes at my house now ; I lived apart from him under the order, five or six weeks ago ; the candle was alight in the room when I was stabbed ; there was no other man in the house ; I swear I have not brought this charge on account of his sending a summons to me.

Anna Maria Smith, on oath, states :—I am a widow, living with Mrs. Myers, at No. 2 Brown's-lane, off Little Macquarie-street ; I remember Tuesday, the 3rd June ; I was at the back premises, and had left my bed ; it was then half-past 11 or a quarter to 12 ; I was just going to the house when I saw a man running away from the house ; I saw his back, but not his face ; I know Henry Myers ; the man I saw running away was the prisoner, Henry Myers ; I went to the house, and saw Mrs. Myers lying on the bed, with blood coming from a wound in the chest.

By Mr. Williamson : I went to bed that night at about 11:30 o'clock ; I know prisoner ; he slept in the house one night ; I used to live next door to him ; no men have been visiting Mrs. Myers since I have been living there ; she pays 8s. per week for the house ; I find some of the food ; I don't know a man named Michael McMahon.

Statement of the Accused.

New South Wales, }
to wit. }

HENRY MYERS stands charged before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the Colony aforesaid, this 11th day of June, in the year of our Lord 1890, for that he, the said Henry Myers, on the 4th day of June, 1890, at Sydney, in the said Colony, he did maliciously wound one Mary Myers, with intent to do her grievous bodily harm, and the examinations of all the witnesses on the part of the prosecution having been completed, and the depositions taken against the accused having been caused to be read to him by me, the said Justice, before whom such examination has been so completed ; and I, the said Justice, having also stated to the accused and given him clearly to understand that he has nothing to hope from any promise of favour, and nothing to fear from any threat which may have been holden out to him to induce him to make any admission or confession of his guilt, but that whatever he shall say may be given in evidence against him upon his trial, notwithstanding such promise or threat ; and the said charge being read to the said Henry Myers, and the witnesses for the prosecution being severally examined in his presence, the said Henry Myers is now addressed by me as follows :—"Having heard the evidence, do you wish to say anything in answer to the charge ? You are not obliged to say anything unless you desire to do so ; but whatever you say will be taken down in writing, and may be given in evidence against you upon your trial ;" whereupon the said Henry Myers saith as follows :—"I have witnesses to call."

Taken before me, at Sydney, in the said Colony, the day and year first above mentioned.

DEFENCE.

Benjamin Abraham Myers on oath states : I am a shop-keeper, residing at 41, East-street ; prisoner is my son ; on Tuesday, the 3rd June, my son came home at about 5 o'clock ; he remained in until about 10:45 playing cards ; he went out for about ten minutes, then came home ; he smoked a cigar, and we all went to bed at about half-past 11 or quarter to 12 o'clock ; my son slept in the room adjoining mine ; he did not get out of bed again until the policeman came at about 4 o'clock in the morning ; I see the coat my son is wearing ; he was wearing it and the same vest all the evening of the 3rd; that is the one he had on when he left the house; he has no other coat; when he left the house that night he went across the road to Mrs. Abrahams'; my son has been living with me ever since the disturbance with his wife.

By Police: It is not possible for him to have left the room without my knowledge; I was up reading.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Under Secretary of Justice.

15 October, 1891.

SUBMITTED for the information of the Minister of Justice.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

No. 2 Police Station, Sydney, 13 October, 1890.

SENIOR CONSTABLE WILKINSON respectfully begs to report that he has seen the prosecutrix who is suffering from loss of voice consequent on penetration of the wound inflicted in the lung by the prisoner, and described at the trial, she is perfectly confident regarding his identity as he walked into the house with the knife in his hand and deliberately stabbed her. Financially regarding Mrs. Myers, she will be placed at a disadvantage by his incarceration as she was already in receipt of 10s. weekly towards her support from him.

The senior constable with Detective Keatinge and Constable Rae visited Mrs. Smith (affidavit attached), 72 years of age, a witness for the Crown, who is at present living on the charity of a well-known brothel keeper (and a friend of the prisoner), under whose influence she is almost prepared to say anything to suit their ideas; on being questioned by Detective Keatinge in the presence of the senior constable and Constable Rae, she told them promptly that what she stated at the trial was wholly true, that on the night in question she had occasion to go to the W.C. to obey a call of nature and was there between ten and fifteen minutes, on her returning down the yard Mrs. Myers cried out to her, "I am stabbed by Myers; go for the police," when she arrived in the house she saw Mrs. Myers bleeding and suffering from a wound in the breast, she saw a man retreating and followed him, and saw him (Myers) raising his right arm as if disposing of something, which she afterwards described to Constable Lobban, who, in searching, found the knife as if thrown in the direction indicated by Mrs. Smith, which was afterwards identified at the trial as the property of the prisoner; Mrs. Smith also states that at the time she left to go to the W.C. Mrs. Myers was then all right and alone.

The affidavits of Julia Brown, Elizabeth Asprey, Thomas Corbett, and Thomas Brown, are all purely hearsay, and regarding their character very little can be said either for or against; Elizabeth Moore, who is the keeper of a house of ill-repute in Howard-street, has been a well-known brothel keeper for some time previous in different parts of the city, and therefore no reliance whatever can be placed on her affidavit.

Senior Constable.

Forwarded to Mr. Superintendent Read.—A. MACKAY, Inspector, 14/10/90.

Henry Myers.

No. 2 Police Station, 17 September, 1890.

Constable George Goldsworthy respectfully reports for the information of Mr. Inspector Mackay:—

A MAN named Henry Myers was accused by his wife Mary Myers, of stabbing her and was arrested by Senior-Constable Wilkinson and Constable Lobban, and committed for trial at the last Court of Quarter Sessions; he was tried before His Honor Judge M'Farland, and found guilty, and received a sentence of seven years penal servitude; the principal witness was one Anna Maria Smith, on whose evidence principally the prisoner was convicted.

In consequence of certain information the constable received, he made inquiries of the said Anna Maria Smith who made a voluntary statement to him; this statement the constable wrote down and read to her in the presence of two witnesses. She declared it to be correct in every particular, and signed it in the presence of the witnesses whose signatures are attached (see attached statement.) The constable has seen several sworn affidavits to the effect that Mary Myers offered money to a certain person to induce the said Anna Maria Smith to give false evidence.

The constable respectfully asks that warrants may be issued for the arrest of Mary Myers, and Anna Maria Smith, charging them with conspiracy, or with wilful and corrupt perjury.

The constable would have sent in a more detailed report, only he knows the matter will in a few days be before the public through the press, and he wished to put it in the hands of the Department as speedily as possible.

Forwarded to Mr. Superintendent Read.—A. MACKAY, Inspector, 27/9/90.

[Enclosure.]

STATEMENT made by Anna Maria Smith to Constable George Goldsworthy, this 16th day of September, 1890:—

Anna Maria Smith states:—That on the 3rd day of June, 1890, I was in the company of Mary Myers about ten minutes before the stabbing affair; Mary Myers was sitting on the bed dressed; I left the house for a certain purpose; as I passed the window I saw Mary Myers place the knife on her breast; I came back in about fifteen minutes; I found Mary Myers undressed, and lying on the bed with blood running from her breast; Mary Myers said, "My husband stabbed me"; I went for the police, and came back in about three-quarters of an hour; the man I swore I saw running away from the house at the Quarter Sessions is not true; I told Mary Myers I saw her stab herself; Mary Myers said to me, "I will give you five pounds (£5) not to say I stabbed myself"; it was not possible for a man to go into the house where Mary Myers was without me seeing him; at the Quarter Sessions Mary Myers said to me, "I will give you a pound (£1) out of my pocket if you do not put me away"; I cannot rest since I know an innocent man is in gaol through my false statement; the evidence I gave at the Police Court and Quarter Sessions is not true.

CONSTABLE

CONSTABLE WILLIAM LOBBAN respectfully begs to report relative to the case of Henry Myers, who was convicted at the Quarter Sessions on 10th September last for stabbing his wife, Mary Myers, that the constable received information of the affair about 1 a.m. on the morning of the 4th June, from Anna Maria Smith, at No. 2 Police Station, and at once proceeded with the informant to No. 2, Brown's-lane, off Little Macquarie-street, where he found the woman, Mary Myers, lying on a bed undressed, bleeding from a gash on her right breast, blood was also coming from her mouth; she was unconscious, very pallid, and almost pulseless, and seemed to be in a dying state. The constable got the assistance of Constable Goldsworthy, and that constable expressed his opinion that the woman was dying, and suggested that medical aid should be procured at once in order to save her life. The constable then summoned Dr. Watson, who came and dressed the wound. On Mrs. Myers regaining consciousness, stated to Dr. Watson and the constables that her husband had stabbed her.

The constable, on going to the house, found the door partly open, and about half-an-inch of candle burning on the table. There was a thick blind on the window, so that nothing could be seen through it.

Anna Maria Smith made the following statement to the constable at the time:—"I had occasion to leave the house for a short time, and when I had been gone about fifteen minutes I heard Mrs. Myers scream, I hurried back towards the house, when I saw Myers running down the lane from the house. I followed him to the end of the lane. I know it was Myers; I did not see his face, but could tell him by his back. I have seen him at the house before, and know him well."

Mrs. Smith subsequently said that when Myers was running down Little Macquarie-street, she saw him raise his arm as if throwing something away, and heard something hit against the iron fence. The constable made search, and found a pocket-knife, with fresh blood stains on it, about the place mentioned by Mrs. Smith. Constable Goldsworthy knows well the above facts.

Senior-Constable Wilkinson came to the house about 2 a.m., and from the statement Mrs. Smith made, arrested Myers, and charged him with the offence.

Mr. Inspector Mackay.

WILLIAM LOBBAN,
Constable.

Forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police. I attach a report from Constable Goldsworthy, and a statement made by the woman Smith, which I received previous to the papers from the Department of Justice. Constable Goldsworthy has complicated this matter by his injudicious interference. He should have reported the matter to his officer, and obtained instructions before taking any action.—GEO. READ, Superintendent, 15/10/90.

The Under Secretary of Justice to Mr. M. A. Williamson.

Sir,

Department of Justice, 21 October, 1890.

Referring to your letter of the 17th ultimo, enclosing a petition praying that an inquiry under the 383rd section of the "Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883" may be held in the case of the prisoner named in the margin, I am directed by the Minister of Justice to inform you that His Excellency the Governor has not seen fit to authorise the holding of the inquiry prayed for.

No. 8.

W. Edmunds, Esq., M.P., to The Minister of Justice.

Sir,

Chambers, 20 November, 1890.

In reference to the case of Regina v. Myers, tried at the Quarter Sessions at Darlinghurst on the 10th September last, certain communications have been made to me by respectable and trustworthy residents of South Sydney, which I deem it to be my duty to bring under your notice.

The prisoner Myers was charged with maliciously wounding his wife by stabbing her through the breast with a knife. His defence was mainly an alibi. It contained also a suggestion that the wound was self-inflicted. The prisoner was found guilty, and sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

The case for the Crown was based upon the direct evidence of Mrs. Myers, and some corroborative evidence of a Mrs. Smith and a Mrs. Brown.

After the conviction, Constable Goldsworthy having received certain information from Mr. Wotton of Hill-street, Surry Hills, called upon the witness Smith at her house, and she, being desirous of making the statement to the constable, informed him that her evidence at the trial was false, that she was induced to give the false evidence by a promise of a gift of money from Mrs. Myers, and that the truth was that the wound was self-inflicted. This statement was taken down in writing by the constable, read over to Mrs. Smith, and signed by her. Mrs. Smith next day made a statutory declaration to the same effect.

The witness, Mrs. Brown, has also made a statutory declaration in effect contradicting her evidence at the trial.

There is also a statutory declaration of one Thomas Corbett, that Mrs. Myers offered him £5 to secure the evidence of Mrs. Smith for a conviction.

There are further statutory declarations that Mrs. Myers had on previous occasions inflicted, or attempted to inflict, similar injuries upon herself.

Constable Goldsworthy duly reported the result of his interview with the witness Mrs. Smith, and advised his superiors that warrants should be issued for the arrest of Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Myers, and a prosecution of those persons instituted for perjury and conspiracy.

In consequence of Goldsworthy's report a further inquiry was held by Detective Keatinge and Constable Wilkinson, the latter of whom had arrested the prisoner Myers in the first instance. The report of Keatinge and Wilkinson was adverse to Goldsworthy, and after its receipt the police authorities took no further action.

The statutory declarations mentioned above were sent through your Department to His Excellency the Governor, with a petition for further inquiry under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act. The request of that petition has been refused.

I am informed, and believe that the relatives and friends of Myers called by him to prove his alibi are persons of irreproachable character. The characters of the prosecutrix, and her corroborating witnesses, if not disclosed at the trial, can be ascertained upon slight inquiry.

I have written fully of the facts in this remarkable case, because, although most of them are probably within your knowledge some of them may not be.

Whether Myers is innocent or guilty it is apparent that crimes have been committed by the persons named, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Brown, viz., either perjury to procure the conviction of Myers or false statutory declarations to effect his reprieve.

I, therefore, beg to ask if it is intended to let these matters rest as they are, or if steps shall be taken by the proper officers of the Crown to bring these persons avowing their crime to trial, and if further light is thereby shed upon the case of the prisoner Myers either to confirm or remit his sentence.

I remain, &c.,

W. EDMUNDS.

Submitted.—A.C.F., 20/11/90.

In view of the inquiry made by Mr. Edmunds as to whether any steps will be taken to prosecute certain of the declarants, I shall be glad if His Honor Judge M'Farland will supply me with a copy of his notes, and that inquiry be made of the police as to whether any further evidence can be procured as to the falsity of the declaration of Mrs. Smith.—A.J.G., 21/11/90.

The Under Secretary of Justice to His Honor Judge M'Farland.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 22 November, 1890.

In view of inquiries that have been made at this Department as to whether any steps will be taken to prosecute certain of the declarants in connection with the case of prisoner Henry Myers, who was, on the 10th September last, sentenced by you at the Sydney Quarter Sessions, to seven years' penal servitude for wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm, I have the honor, by direction of the Minister of Justice, to invite you to be good enough to furnish him with a copy of the notes taken by you in that case.

I have, &c.,

ARCH. C. FRASER,

Under Secretary.

I send herewith copy of my notes in the case Queen v. Myers, which the Minister wished to obtain.—ALFRED M'FARLAND, 5/12/90.

THE QUEEN v. HENRY MYERS.

Judge's Notes.

Sydney, 4 June, 1890.

MALICIOUSLY wounding Mary Myers, with intent thereby to do grievous bodily harm to Mary Myers. 2nd count—That prisoner, being the husband of Mary Myers, assaulted her, and then beat and otherwise ill-treated her; such assault then occasioning to her actual bodily harm.

Wm. George Watson: I have just seen Mrs. Myers; about 2 o'clock on the morning of 5th June I found her in bed, prostrate with a wound in her chest, over the right breast, three-quarters of an inch long, and had evidently penetrated to the lungs, and was, therefore, a true wound; when she breathed, frothy blood came out of the wound; blood was also coming out of her mouth in small quantities, though there was no wound in the mouth itself; therefore the blood evidently came from the lung, which was wounded; I stitched up the wound, and subsequently attended her once a day for three or four days; the case progressed favourably, but it was a serious wound; the prostration was the result of the wound in part, but partly also, if I be any judge of such matters, of liquor which she had on that night; I should say the wound was one just such as would be inflicted by a knife such as you now show to me; the marks upon it are blood stains; she was actually in danger.

By Mr. Williamson: The wound was such as the prosecutrix might have inflicted upon herself; if inflicted by another person with a knife like this I do not think the blood would have squirted upon the clothes of the person inflicting it; a little blood was on the night-dress and on face and chest of Mrs. Myers; the blood came out of her mouth and spread down all the lower portions of her face; she was in bed all the time I attended her.

Mary Myers: I am wife to prisoner; I was married to him about nine years ago in Roma, before Mr. Macfarox, the Police Magistrate, in the police court, one afternoon; I do not think he was a Registrar; I have lost my marriage lines, having been obliged to part from my husband several times; I lived with prisoner before we were married; I have been living separate from my husband for about a month prior to 4th June, under a maintenance order obtained three weeks previously; I had got three weeks' money; he left me about a month after our marriage; about six times I have been obliged to leave him for his ill-usage; three years ago he beat me severely, and I then left him on one of the occasions; on the 4th June I was living in Little Macquarie-street; an old woman lived with me—a Mrs. Smith; I expect expect she is 70 years of age; I had just got into bed, about a quarter to 12, or between 12 and 1 o'clock on night in question, and the old lady had occasion to go out; she slept in the same bed as myself; a small bit of candle was burning; the door of the room, which she had closed after her, was pushed open; I inquired, "Is that you, granny?" I did not know who it was, but I thought it was the old woman; the person came into the room; I jumped up out of bed, and I saw it was my husband; I swear it was.

I: "What do you want?"

He: "I want my b—— clothes." [I had some articles of dress of his]; I put them on a table; I had had some other articles of his which I had pledged, being in want of money.

Then he, being close by me, pushed me on the bed and said, "You thing you tried to bite me for pulling me for support, now I'll bite you," and he ran against me, at the same time putting one of his hands into one of his pockets, and immediately afterwards I felt myself fainting, and I remember nothing more until the doctor came.

There is no truth in the suggestion that I inflicted myself the wound upon me [looks at knife]; it resembles one prisoner used to wear; it has a hole at the end of it, like one on his knife; about a month before this I had seen such a knife with prisoner.

On that same night, about 9 o'clock, I saw my husband on the steps of his father's house, close to a house where a Mrs. Brown lived, whom I had gone to see.

He: "You long whore, I'll do for you before the night is over"; I then made an application to Mrs. Brown, being frightened to go home, but I had to go home.

The doctor came the next morning, and I was in his care for three or four days; I am still suffering from the wound; there were witnesses to the marriage; [Mr. W. here admits the marriage of prisoner with the witness at Roma, and prisoner also admits it]; I gave no provocation on that night; I had a glass of ale at Mrs. Brown's, and one with granny on my coming home on that night; I do not think I was affected with it.

Cross-examined: My husband threatened me on the evening in question at 9 o'clock; I asked Mrs. Brown to allow me to stop at her house on that night; I have been living with Mrs. Brown for several days; I left on Thursday; I was not turned out; Mr. Brown said he could not afford my staying there; I take a glass or two of beer at times, and I have done so in the company of other men besides my husband, but they are respectable men [a woman called in]; I have seen her before.

On the 6th of June that woman did not see me drinking with two Chinamen in the "York Stingo," or in any other hotel; I did not speak to any Chinaman about my husband; I never told a Chinaman that my husband did not cut me, that I did it myself to get another man; I have been frequently obliged to leave my husband; I have lived with a brother of my husband's, and with himself after that; I did not write to his father, or send any boy with a letter to him; I went to Parramatta to see prisoner's brother, but I did not pass myself as his wife; I merely spoke of myself as Mary Myers; my husband left me about three weeks before I got maintenance from him; about two years ago I received a letter from his brother, the only one I ever received.

On the night in question, prisoner pushed me on the bed; I just remember Mrs. Smith coming back to the room; that was the first time I was ever marked with a knife, but prisoner has often marked me with his fists; I never stabbed myself, or threatened to take poison; prisoner has always left me; he has received money for my prostitution, and sent me out to obtain it; that was when I lived in Castle-reagh-street; when he left me I did earn money by prostitution; I had nothing else for it; he was away on that occasion for two years from me; I got into trouble once in Brisbane, and in Sydney I was charged, but unjustly; then I was leading a bad life in house of prisoner's sister; on last week I was in a buggy along with Mrs. Brown; I was not drunk—not causing a disturbance—in front of his father's house, nor smoking a cigarette on the night of Friday, on which this case was to have been tried [another Mrs. Brown called in]; I do not know her, though I may have seen her before; I see this knife; I do not know one O'Brien, or a Mrs. O'Brien; I know nothing about O'Brien's knife.

To a Juryman: Prisoner has frequently threatened and beaten me; for nine years past his treatment has been dreadful.

Mrs. Smith: I know the last witness; I lived with her in June last; I went into the bedroom just after she did; when I got to police station the time was about 12 o'clock; it took me half-an-hour to get there; reverting to past, I got into bed; I had to leave the room; I was about ten minutes or more before I got back; as I was coming along I saw a man running down the lane I was living in; I had seen the man previously; prisoner was the man; I had lived next door to him; I cannot swear he was the man; to the best of my opinion the prisoner was the man; I returned to the bed-room; nothing was the matter with her when I left the room; when I returned Mrs. Myers was lying on the bed; she said something to me; I did not look at the wound, but I went for a constable; [I believe that is the man]; he returned to the house with me; Dr. Watson came during my absence; Mrs. Myers had no drink in her house, in the night, that I am aware of; she was not drunk; when I returned to the room I saw the wound; no light in the room when I left the room that I can remember; afterwards a woman next door gave us a bit of a candle.

Cross-examined: I did not see the face of the man; he was about 30 yards from me; my sight is very good; the man I saw running was dressed in dark clothes, to the best of my recollection; I did not see anything in his hand.

To me: I never saw a knife with Mr. Myers.

Constable Lobban: Received some information on night in question, about 1 o'clock; I went to Brown's-lane, where Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Myers live; I saw Mrs. Myers lying in bed, bleeding from the mouth and from right breast; I sent for Dr. Watson; I did not see any knife in the house, but I heard something from Mrs. Smith, so I searched the lane, and in Little Macquarie-street I found this knife, fresh blood stains on it; the knife was open, 25 or 30 yards from the house, where the two women lived.

Julia Brown: A married woman, living very near to prisoner's father's house, next door; I remember, on night of 3rd June, seeing prisoner and his wife; he stood on the step of his father's door, having a knife in his hand, one having a large blade, cutting tobacco; I cannot swear to the knife; at the same time I heard prisoner say to his wife, "You b——, I'll do for you before the night is over," and he pointed the knife at her; she only said, "You heard that, Mrs. Brown?" I replied, "Yes"; he heard what she said; I took her half-way home after that, he following; previously she had made a request of me.

Cross-examined:

Cross-examined: I remember Mrs. Myers taking out a summons v. prisoner; she was not then staying at my house; I did not give evidence at police court; I was ill at the time; I never threatened prisoner, or called at his father's house and abused him; Mrs. Myers lived at my house for three days.

Constable Goldsworthy: I saw Mrs. Smith in the house; Mrs. Myers was in the bed; described her state; I saw no knife in the room; she made a statement to me; I washed the blood away, and waited till the doctor came.

John Wilkinson, senior-constable: I arrested prisoner at his house on morning of the 4th June; he was at first in bed when I knocked; in three or four minutes he came down.

I: I want to see you in reference to an assault to your wife.

He: Yes?

I: Your wife charges you with stabbing her.

He: When?

I: Some time last night or this morning.

He: Well, I came into the house last night at 6 o'clock, and I have not been out since.

I: That is strange; you must come with me.

He: That is all right.

His father was present; his father said he was in the house since 5 or 6 o'clock all the previous evening; mother ditto; on the way to Mrs. Myers' house, to which I took him, prisoner said, "If you knew her as well as I do you would not bother me;" I took him to the house; I then saw Mrs. Myers in bed and Mrs. Smith; Mrs. Myers said to Mrs. Smith (prisoner present), "Is that him?"

Mrs. Smith: To the best of my knowledge that is the man who ran out of the house.

Mrs. Myers: That is he.

I: Are you sure?

She: Yes.

I took him to No 2 Police Station, and charged him with maliciously wounding Mary Myers, with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

He: That is rough.

I then showed him this knife, which C. G. had handed to me that morning.

I: Did you ever see this knife?

He: No; I never saw it before; I know nothing about it.

On searching prisoner I found a tobacco knife upon him (this one.)

Not cross-examined.

Mrs. Myers, recalled: When my husband came into the bedroom, there was a gleam of light, sufficient to enable me to see him.

Cross-examined: Mrs. Smith is mistaken in saying there was no candle in the room.

Mrs. Smith: When I saw the man running up the lane I did not hear any noise; I saw the man stretch out his hand; he was going away from the house.

Constable recalled: The knife I found could not have been thrown from the house; it was found round the corner.

[Case of Crown closes.]

DEFENCE.

Prisoner makes a statement to the jury; knows nothing about the offence.

Walter George Deibage, van proprietor: I knew prisoner on night of 3rd June; I saw him in Hunt-street; he was speaking to Mr. Abrahams at 20 minutes to 11 o'clock at night, about 20 yards from his father's house; I was in his company from that time until 25 minutes past 11, when I left him on the steps of his father's house.

Cross-examined: I pulled out my watch to see the time, having regard to train time; from prisoner's father's house to Little Macquarie-street is about 300 yards, or five minutes walk.

B. A. Myers (prisoner's father): I remember the night on which my son was accused of stabbing his wife; he came home about half-past 5 in the evening; he did not go out again; we had tea, and about half-past 6, he, my wife, and another son sat down to play whist until half-past 10 or 20 minutes to 11; when we finished playing, prisoner sat down on the door-step to smoke; I believe he afterwards left the door-step; I have heard so, but I do not know; he came inside the house again at half-past 11 o'clock, smoking a cigar; my wife and I still continued playing, and he said, "Father, deal me out a hand"; I did so; his brother had gone to bed, and prisoner continued playing cards with his mother and me up to just 12 o'clock; he went to bed after that; I remained down-stairs for twenty minutes or half-an-hour, making up my books for the day; he did not come down-stairs again; he could not have come down-stairs after going to bed without my seeing him; I went into his bedroom to look, not at him, but his brother A. and a grandson; prisoner was asleep; in the morning part a knock came at my door; I woke up my son after seeing the police at the door; I had a conversation with the police from the verandah; I woke my son, and he and I and my wife went down-stairs in our night-dresses; I have another son—Joseph—now in Parramatta Gaol; about twelve months ago I had a conversation with Mrs. Myers [prosecutrix], when she gave me this letter; I know Joseph's handwriting; this is the letter she gave me; it is in the hand of my son Joseph; I was reading after going to my bedroom, and prisoner could not have come down-stairs without my knowing it; several other persons besides my wife and sons were playing cards on the night in question.

Cross-examined: How did you know the time on the night in question?

Answer: By my clock; my family is a musical one—music or cards every evening; Joseph is in Parramatta for perjury; I know a person Phillips or Phillipson; my brother-in-law is named Phillipson; he spoke to me this afternoon; I do not know if he had been in the gallery previously; for ten minutes or thirty prisoner was away from my sight on the night in question.

To me: If 9 o'clock, &c., and following him, &c.; both false.

Mrs. Myers: Like evidence as her husband.

Brother: Do

Elizabeth Glonn: Married woman, residing with prisoner; I am prisoner's sister; like evidence as father and mother, &c.

Mrs. Abraham, married woman: I know prisoner; on night of the 3rd June he came out of his mother's house with me about half-past 10 o'clock, and remained with me until about 10 minutes to 11 o'clock, when he left me; I am not any relation to prisoner.

Mary

Mary Hudson, married woman: I knew prisoner for about four months; I have seen his wife three or four times, but not to speak to; I remember prisoner being arrested; on the following Tuesday I saw her at the "Yorkshire Stingo" in company with two Chinamen. One of the Chinamen asked her if her husband cut her.

She: "No; I want to put him in gaol, and I want another man"; I did not then know who she was; she was in the inner parlour at the time; I was in the next parlour with one Annie Brennan; I looked into the room through curiosity, and saw her; I happened to go for a bottle of beer, and saw what I described; I told prisoner's mother of what I had seen, and soon afterwards seeing prisoner's wife, I said to her "Mother, that is the woman I saw in the 'York Stingo Hotel.'"

Cross-examined: Annie and I had a glass of ale at the hotel, in a side parlour, from which I could see into the next room; I have been fined for riotous conduct once, for running down from my own place to an oyster shop; I have been fined several times; once for assaulting my husband, several times for riotous conduct.

Peter Dunn (constable): I know prisoner and his wife; one morning in the beginning of June, about 11 o'clock a.m., prisoner called me; his wife was present; he said something to me, and I inquired of her, "Why are you making yourself troublesome"?

She: "He is my husband, and I wish to ask him a question."

I: "Very well, ask him, but do not make a scene in the street"; she did not ask him any question, but prisoner said, "She has already a maintenance order v. me for support and is following me about trying to get me into trouble"; they parted, and as she went along, she turned round to him and said, "All right, I'll see about you yet."

Crown recalls:—

Constable Long (?): I saw Mrs. Smith, at railway, about 1 o'clock, or perhaps 5 or 6 minutes after 1 o'clock.

Mr. Williamson addresses jury.

Mr. Merewether briefly replies.

I briefly charge.

Verdict—Guilty—Grievous bodily harm intending to do so.

Seven years' penal servitude.

Nothing in gaol record.

Constable Wilkins: I think he was once locked up for riotous behaviour.

(Contra) Constable Goldsworthy: I have known prisoner ten or twelve months, selling fish and fruit; not seen anything wrong with him.

FORWARDED for the information of the Minister of Justice.

EDM. FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

Detective Keatinge to Inspector Mackay.

No. 2 Station, Sydney, 7 December, 1890.

DETECTIVE Keatinge begs to report that he has been endeavouring to find the persons who coerced the witness Smith to make the false declaration, it evidently having been done, as in giving evidence on two occasions, and when spoken to several times, never expressed any doubt till after Myers' conviction, and then only when his friends and sympathisers took possession of her (in the name of charity), and kept her continuously under the influence of drink, in which state she could be led to state everything in their favour, they having the necessary witnesses present. The detective is unable to obtain any witnesses regarding the falsity of Mrs. Smith's declaration, but is trying to induce her to leave her present associates, and that possibly a home would be provided for her (she being 72 years of age and very feeble). If once away from the influence of her present associates, no doubt she would state who the persons are that induced her to make the false declaration, which in the detective's opinion are the most culpable, as there would be very little credit in prosecuting her in consequence of her age. The detective with Mr. Superintendent Read's acquiescence, will still try and induce Mrs. Smith to apply for admission to some charitable institution with a view to the above.

In view of the advanced age of the witness Smith and the circumstances under which she appears to have been induced to make her declaration, I do not think a prosecution should be instituted in respect of that document, nor do I see any reason to doubt the evidence given by her upon the trial, as all the surrounding circumstances point to its correctness.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 17 December, 1890.

Henry Myers,
Sydney Gaol.

Referring to your letter of the 20th ultimo, respecting the case of the prisoner named in the margin, and calling attention to the alleged perjury committed by declarants in connection therewith, I have the honor, by direction of the Minister of Justice, to inform you that, in view of the advanced age of the witness Smith, and the circumstances under which she appears to have been induced to make her declaration, he does not think a prosecution should be instituted in respect of that document, nor does he see any reason to doubt the evidence given by her upon the trial, as all the surrounding circumstances point to its correctness.

Mr. F. Wotton to The Minister of Justice.

Honorable Sir,

282, Pitt-street, Sydney, — January.

It grieves me very much to be compelled to write to you on a subject which has already been under your consideration and a decision arrived at. But as I cannot refrain from believing that your decision must have been due to not being in possession of the facts of the case; I therefore enclose a printed copy of a circular which I intended to send to every Member of the Assembly, in the event of your not agreeing to alter your decision, but I feel confident that you will, under the circumstances, grant the inquiry prayed for, or liberate the unfortunate man from the severe punishment which has been inflicted upon him by witnesses of very loose character. By reading this circular you will be able to grasp the situation of the case.

Praying of you to do something for this unfortunate fellow, whom I believe to be truly innocent, and trusting that you will oblige me with a favourable reply before the next session of Parliament commences.

I remain, &c.,

FREDERICK WOTTON.

P.S.—It was I who was instrumental in bringing about the declarations, and asked a policeman to accompany me to hear the old woman's testimony, I can assure you that I felt the sting painfully to walk in the company of Julia Brown and Maria Smith to Mr. Williamson's, but as I know the man, Henry Myers (honest and truly simple that he is), as a Christian I felt it my duty to see justice carried out. He had been away from his wife (who has lately been charged with thieving) for some two years, and she, knowing his softness, "dogged" him anywhere and everywhere in cabs at all hours, till at last she jostled him in the streets, and after a good deal of remonstrance and persuasion she became his master. He lived with her a few months and could not stand her conduct any longer, so left her. She then secured the companionship of Julia Brown and Mrs. Smith (two "boozers"), both of whom are total strangers to Henry Myers. To save further time, by reading the enclosed circular, you will see how these declarations came about, and will also be in possession of full particulars. Please pardon me for asking your reconsideration of this vastly important matter.

Yours most faithfully,

F. WOTTON.

No. 15.

Mr. F. Wotton to The Minister of Justice.

Honorable Sir,

282, Pitt-street, Sydney, 16 March, 1891.

I have enclosed two declarations in this letter, viz. :—That of Annie Baker and Alice Morgan. The former bears a good character; the latter I cannot say. During my interview with you on the 9th inst. in answer to a question if I could obtain any declarations of respectable bearing, as to the old woman having admitted before the trial that she saw Mary Myers stab herself, I said I could get one from a Mrs. Green. I made inquiries, when Mrs. Morgan informed me that Mrs. Green had died. However, Mrs. Green had declared to Constables Fullerton and Taylor that "granny" had admitted the same to her before the trial. Mrs. Morgan also told me what she knew, which you now hold in declaration. It does not seem necessary to obtain further declarations (respectable or otherwise) re the old woman telling persons of the self-inflicted wound previous to conviction, since she admits having told Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Thos. Corbett, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Asprey, and other declarants previous to the trial that she saw Mary Myers stab herself. As to respectability of evidence now before you, I would ask the Crown if it can produce any testimony bearing upon the respectability of those who, on behalf of the Crown, succeeded in wrenching the liberty from an honest industrious son of New South Wales. You have the same persons now declaring his innocence. The question may arise; which of the old woman's declaration or evidence seems to bear the most truthful testimony? My own conscience tells me the former, and I based my belief on the following grounds :—

1. You have the old woman's direct evidence that she saw Mary Myers stab herself.
2. Annie Baker swears Mary Myers told her she did it herself.
3. Mrs. Hudson on oath, gave evidence, to the effect that she heard Mary Myers tell two Chinamen that she did it herself.
4. Thos. Corbett declares that Mary Myers attempted to bribe him to square "granny" to give false evidence.
5. Constable Dunn testifies that Mary Myers threatened her husband on the day of the stabbing, saying "I'll see about you yet."
6. The fact of "granny" admitting to several persons before the trial that she saw Mary Myers stab herself.
7. You have testimony to the effect that Mary Myers had inflicted wounds upon herself before.

The

The question may then be asked:—Why should Mary Myers desire to imprison her husband, seeing that she received maintenance (which would not have been granted her had she admitted in the court, as she did at the trial, that she was prostituting)? In answer to this my reply is, "Henry Myers had an assortment of dried fish spread out on the bench of his stall in the markets, when his wife came up and punched holes through each of them with her parachute. For this and other trouble with her in the streets, a magistrate advised him to prosecute her for molestation. She was to answer his charge at the Central Police Court on 4th June. On 3rd June, she stopped her husband in Pitt-street, and asked him if he intended going against her to-morrow. He called a police officer (Constable Dunn) who ordered her to leave her husband. While doing so she made use of the words alluded to above, viz: 'I'll see about you yet.' That same night the stabbing took place. Mary Myers (seeing that she would be bound over to keep the peace, and could not obtain respectable sureties, being a prostitute, and would therefore have to go to gaol, thereby losing her maintenance) has no doubt adopted the idea of stabbing herself, and charging her husband of the same."

The Bulletin, Star, Truth, Sunday Times, and Australian Workman, have all considered Myers' release nothing but justice.

Should you still consider an investigation unnecessary, I trust you will (when Mr. Edmunds, M.L.A., moves for all declarations, &c., to be laid upon the Table of the House) cause this letter, together with Constable Goldsworthy's statement and report, which I doubt very much if you have seen, to be amongst those papers.

The opinions of Messrs. Colonna-Close, W. Edmunds, H. Levien, J. M., and M. A. Williamson are favourable to my pleadings.

Trusting you will reconsider the matter.

I remain, &c.,

FREDERICK WOTTON.

P.S.—You have admitted that the witness Smith is guilty of perjury; but that she is too infirm to prosecute. By this action you license the old woman to commit any theft or otherwise break the law, seeing that she is too old to prosecute. But at the same time I cannot escape noticing that Mary Myers and Julia Brown have taken advantage of her poverty to force her to break the law as she has done.

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, ANNIE BAKER, of Birkenhead, wife of John Baker, do solemnly and sincerely declare that I know Henry Myers, who was convicted on the 10th September, 1890, on a charge of having maliciously wounded his wife, Mary Myers, on the evening of 3rd June, 1890. In October, 1890, I was standing at the door of my husband's restaurant, situate at No. 95, Castlereagh-street, Sydney, when Mary Myers came up to me and said, "I suppose you have heard of my husband getting seven years' gaol." I then said, "Is that it." She then said, "Yes, I could give him double seven if I thought it would do me any good." I then said to her, "He did not do the deed." She said, "I done it myself, but it is all the same; he would not keep me, so he left me. Joe will soon be out, and I shall have another in, and will keep two in and then finish up with the old man and old woman." And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Subscribed and declared at Sydney, this 12th }
day of March, 1891, before me,—

STATUTORY DECLARATION.

I, ALICE MORGAN, of 35, East-street, Sydney, do solemnly and sincerely declare that I know Anna Maria Smith, witness in the case against one Henry Myers, convicted for having stabbed his wife on 3rd June. The said Anna Maria Smith said to me previous to the trial, "Henry Myers is an innocent man. I saw her stab herself; I will take him out like that [jumping from her chair and flipping her fingers in the air]." And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affirmations taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Minute Paper

Subject:—Respecting the case of prisoner, Henry Myers.

Department of Justice, Sydney, 28 April, 1891.

THE accompanying papers respecting the case of prisoner, Henry Myers, are submitted for the consideration of His Excellency the Governor, and the Executive Council, and it is recommended that His Honor Alfred Paxton Backhouse, Judge of the Northern District, and a Justice of the Peace for the Colony of New South Wales, be directed, in terms of the 383rd section of the "Criminal Law Amendment Act, of 1883," to inquire into the statements contained in the petition, on behalf of the above-named named prisoner, representing a doubt or question as to his guilt, and to summon and examine on oath any persons likely to give material information on the matter suggested, and that a Commission be issued to His Honor Judge Backhouse for the purpose of such inquiry.

ALBERT J. GOULD.

Approved.—JERSEY, 28/4/91.

The Executive Council advise that His Honor Alfred Paxton Backhouse, Judge of the Northern District, be appointed, under Commission, to hold an inquiry, as directed by the 383rd section of the "Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883," into certain statements set forth in "petition from a prisoner named Henry Myers, as to his guilt."—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council.

Honorable Sir,

282, Pitt-street, Monday, 4 May.

In reply to my letter of 16th March, re the case of Henry Myers, accompanied with two declarations, I received an official communication that the same would receive due consideration.

It is with a view of ascertaining your final decision in this matter that I take the liberty of thus addressing you. You will bestow a favour upon me by placing the results of your consideration in my possession (officially) before the end of this week.

My reason for asking an immediate reply is in consequence of the assembling of Parliament being so near, and as I have been put to considerable expense in causing lengthy circulars to be printed for the guidance of Honorable Members, I would, at least, require a week previous to such assemblage to forward a circular to each Honorable Member, so that he would have sufficient time to peruse its contents, previous to all papers, &c. being laid upon the Table of the House.

If you have decided upon granting the inquiry prayed for, I would ask you to accept my sincerest thanks.

By His Excellency the Right Honorable Victor Albert George, Earl of Jersey, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, a Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

To His Honor ALFRED PAXTON BACKHOUSE, District Court Judge, and a Justice of the Peace of the Colony of New South Wales,—

GREETING :—

WHEREAS by an Act of the Legislature of New South Wales passed in the forty-seventh year of the reign of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, intituled the "Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883," it was by the 383rd section of the said Act, amongst other things, enacted that whenever after the conviction of a prisoner any doubt or question arises as to his guilt, it shall be lawful for any Justice, by direction of the Governor, on the petition of the prisoner or some person on his behalf representing such doubt or question, to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information on the matter suggested : Now, therefore, I, the Governor of the said Colony of New South Wales, with the advice of the Executive Council, under and in pursuance of the provisions of the said Act, do hereby direct and appoint His Honor Alfred Paxton Backhouse, a Justice of the Peace of the said Colony, to make a full, diligent, and searching inquiry into the allegations contained in a certain petition presented on behalf of a prisoner named therein Henry Myers, who was lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, representing a doubt as to the guilt of the abovenamed prisoner, for the reasons stated therein ; with power to summon to Sydney, before him, His Honor Alfred Paxton Backhouse, and to examine upon oath the following persons for the purpose of the said inquiry :—Annie Baker, Alice Morgan, Anna Maria Smith, Julia Brown, Elizabeth Behan Asprey, Thomas Corbett, Joseph Brown, and such other persons as in the discretion of His Honor Alfred Paxton Backhouse may be or are likely to give material information, or by whom he may be better informed of the truth in these matters, and to inquire of the truth of the premises by all lawful ways and means : And I further direct that His Honor Alfred Paxton Backhouse, after due examination of the aforesaid persons, do transmit to the Governor, through the Minister of Justice, every deposition taken by him, as soon as shall be practicable after the date of this Commission.

Given under my hand and seal of the Colony, at Government House, Sydney, in New South Wales aforesaid, this 6th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1891, and in the fifty-fourth year of Her Majesty's reign.

Sir, "Melita," Elizabeth Bay, 25 May, 1891.

I have the honor to return you the papers in Henry Myers' case, and to forward you the depositions taken at this inquiry, for transmission to His Excellency the Governor.

I commenced the inquiry on the 11th May, but as Mary Myers was not present, I adjourned until the 15th. On that day Mary Myers was still absent, but I did not feel justified in postponing the examination of witnesses present for her attendance. I had the depositions taken of Wotton, Julia Brown, Anna Maria Smith, Corbett, Joseph Brown, Elizabeth Moore, Mary Hudson, Constable Goldsworthy, Sergeant Wilkinson, Constable Lobban, Kate M'Mahon, Williamson, and further adjourned till the 19th. Mary Myers was then in attendance. She was examined, as also were Annie Baker, Benjamin Myers, and Wotton. I sat for the last time on the 21st, when the following witnesses were examined :—Mary Myers, Stewart, Keatinge, Bloom, Elizabeth Bloom, Bridget Crawford, and Louis Parker.

Elizabeth

Elizabeth Behan Asprey could not be found, and as Mrs. Smith failed entirely to bear out her declaration, I considered it unnecessary to call Alice Morgan as to statements made by Mrs. Smith, as it seemed to me that the latter's evidence was worthless.

I could not get the attendance of Elizabeth Sanderson, she being out of the Colony.

On each occasion that I sat, Mr. Merewether appeared for the Crown, and Mr. Mark A. Williamson for the prisoner.

Should the Minister wish for a report from me, I will forward one on hearing from you.

THE deposition of Frederick Wotton, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1891, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent on oath states:— I am a compositor; I became interested in this case because I believed the man to be innocent from the first; the knowledge I had of the case I gained from Myers' parents, of whom I am a friend; I was present at the trial; Mary Myers had, I believe, interfered with prisoner at his stall in the markets, and he did not retaliate upon her; I have known his parents for nearly four years; I have known Myers for twelve months; I was present during the trial; I did not hear Mrs. Smith say, "Seven years to an innocent man" at the conclusion of the trial; prisoner's father told me she said it; I saw her a few days after the trial; she was then living in Howard-street with a Mrs. Moore, one of those who have made a declaration; I asked her, "Did you see Mary Myers stab herself?" she replied, "I did"; I said, "Are you prepared to go to Mr. Williamson and make a declaration to that effect?" she said, "I am"; the next time I saw her she told me the police were hunting her from place to place, and she wanted to leave Sydney; some time after she called at my house and said she wanted to see me particularly; I saw her at Julia Brown's house, and she said, "I went outside for a few minutes"; first of all she said she had seen Mary Myers playing with a knife about her breast until the blood came; that she could not stand the sight of the blood; that she then went outside, and through the window saw her forcing the knife into her breast; that when she went inside Mary Myers asked her to go for the police, as her husband had stabbed her; she did not say she had attempted to interfere; she said she refused to go for the police, and said to Mary Myers, "I saw you stab yourself."

By Mr. Williamson: After I had seen Smith at Mrs. Moore's house I met Constable Goldsworthy in the street.

By Mr. Merewether: I went to Mrs. Moore's because two men named Corbett and Brown told me after the trial that Mrs. Smith had told them, "I'll send her up instead of Myers; I saw her do it myself"; Corbett told me where Mrs. Smith lived; I went to Mrs. Brown's after I had obtained the declarations from Brown and Corbett; I had previously obtained a declaration from Julia Brown; I heard Mary Myers' statement at the trial that her husband had forced her to the life she was leading.

By Mr. Williamson: I do not recollect her saying that she was "on the town" before he married her; I know prisoner stated that she had wanted to live with him, but that he had told her that he preferred to marry her; at one of my interviews with Mrs. Smith I said to her, "Did you say in the Court, 'Seven years to an innocent man'"; she replied that she had.

THE deposition of Julia Brown, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1891, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent on oath states:—I am a married woman, residing in Sackville-street, Surry Hills; I know the prisoner and his wife; I gave evidence at prisoner's trial on behalf of the Crown; I remember saying at the trial that accused had followed me and Mary Myers as far as Norris' Hotel; I remember going to Mr. Williamson's office in November last after the trial, and making a declaration there; I said in my declaration that on turning round I saw a man in his shirt-sleeves, but that I could not recognise him, as the night was too dark; I did not see the man following us until Mrs. Myers told me he was following us; I did not recognise him as her husband, but she said it was; I saw Mary Myers at my house the day before she was stabbed; she said to me, "I had a dream, a nasty dream; I dreamt my husband stabbed me"; I said, "What nonsense, he would not do that, besides you've got 10s. a week from him for maintenance"; she replied, "Oh, yes, he would; he did it before in Queensland"; this happened early in the day on which she was stabbed; the man whom Mary Myers pointed out as her husband was on the opposite side of the road when I saw him; I saw Mrs. Myers the morning after she was stabbed; she said to me, "My dream has come true; here I'm stabbed"; I said, "Who did it?" She replied, "Henry Myers; granny went for the police for me; I was lying senseless on the floor"; granny (Mrs. Smith) said, "Yes, I found her lying bleeding on the floor; I went for the police; Harry Myers did it"; I said, "Did you see him?" She replied, "Yes"; I said, "How did you know it was him?" She replied, "I could tell him by his back"; at the trial Mrs. Smith said to me, "I expect £5 from Mrs. Myers"; I said, "What for?" She replied, "I will tell you afterwards"; after the trial Mrs. Smith looked round for Mrs. Myers; she could not see her, and she said to me, "Where is Mrs. Myers?" I could not see her; going out of the Court, Mrs. Smith said, "Well, she ought to be doing the seven years instead of him; he is doing it innocent"; I said, "How do you know?" She said, "I saw her through the window doing something like this (playing with her breast); I went in and asked her what she was doing, and she said, 'Oh, nothing'"; she (Mrs. Smith) said, "I went out again, and when I came back she was lying unconscious on the floor"; I went for the police; I said, "How could you do that, when you saw him do it?" She said, "I'll have him out, and I'll have her there; it is not all over with me yet; I shall have her doing the seven years instead of Henry Myers;" we both went into my house and she said, "By the living God, if I can find out where Mary Myers is, I'll go with the police and have her taken"; I turned round and said, "You old villain! if you knew that was the case, why did you go for the police and have him prosecuted, when you saw that she done it herself?" she went out of the house then; my husband and son were present at the time; after the trial Mrs. Smith told me that she was to go down with Mrs. Myers to some man and get £5 from him; she said she did not know where the man was, but that she was to be taken there by Mrs. Myers; this occurred on the way home; before the trial Mrs. Smith told me she was going to get £5; she said she was going to get it from Mrs. Myers; she did not say for what purpose.

By Mr. Merewether: She did not speak about the £5 when she said she would go down and have Mrs. Myers taken; she had spoken about it; the prisoner was standing two doors off me when he said to Mrs. Myers, "You bugger! I'll do for you before the night is over"; he had a knife in his hand cutting tobacco at the time; there was a lamp opposite, and I could see both parties; it was a short stout man with his shirt off and a dark hat on; I am certain it was accused who used those words to her and pointed the knife at her.

By Mr. Williamson: Mary Myers stayed at my house for seven days; my husband cleared her out.

By Bench: It was the same occasion when I heard prisoner use the words to his wife as she said he was following her; it was after I had heard him threaten his wife that I saw the man following us; it was about a quarter of an hour afterwards; I had been to my place, stayed there a little while, and then gone to an hotel; I am certain that I said to her, "You are getting 10s. a week maintenance from him," when she told me about her dream; Mrs. Smith never said what she was going to get the £5 for before the trial; nothing of the kind was said at Darlinghurst; Mrs. Smith never said what she was to get the £5 for in any part of the Court or about Darlinghurst; it was said on the way home; I did not see Mrs. Smith two days before the trial; she said, three or four days before the trial, "Mrs. Myers has not given me what she promised me"; the conversation set out in paragraph 2 of my declaration did not take place before the trial, as far as I recollect; I cannot remember it; if it is in my declaration I must have said it; according to my declaration, I knew before the trial that Mrs. Smith had said Mary Myers had stabbed herself; I did not think it was my business to mention it at the trial.

THE deposition of Anna Maria Smith, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent on oath states:—I am living at 43 Chambers-street; I know the prisoner; I gave evidence against him at his trial; after his trial I met a Mr. Wotton at Mrs. Moore's in Howard-street; I told him that to the best of my belief Myers had got his sentence innocently; I said, "She stabbed herself; after the trial she told me so"; I saw Wotton again at Mrs. Moore's and at his office; there was somebody with him at Mrs. Moore's the second time; I did not see him at Mrs. Brown's house; I saw him again at a house in Brisbane-street, and said to him, "She said she stabbed herself to get out of a summons he had against her"; I told Mrs. Brown that Mary Myers had stabbed herself—both before and after the trial; Mrs. Myers said to me after the trial that she would give me £5 to go down and clear her; that occurred in the lobby of this building while we were waiting to be paid our witnesses' expenses; I spoke to Mrs. Brown about it then, and told her that Mary Myers had stabbed herself.

herself; I had no conversation with Mary Myers at all about the case; nothing was said to me about money by Mrs. Myers before the trial; I remember the night Mrs. Myers was stabbed; it was between 11 p.m. and 12 p.m.; I remember looking through the window, and saw her playing with her breast; she said, "Look here, I'm stabbed; Harry Myers did it"; she stabbed herself; I am confident of that, because Harry Myers was never on the premises; nobody could have come on the premises, without my knowing it; when I left the house Mary Myers was lying in bed all right; it was as I was returning that I saw her playing with her breast; I never saw the knife at all; I am quite certain of that.

By Mr. Merewether: I was living with Mrs. Moore; I left Mrs. Myers' house after the stabbing affray; because I had nowhere to go, Mrs. Moore kept me out of friendship.

By Mr. Williamson: Mary Myers lived at Mrs. Moore's before I went there; she was there for half a day while I was there.

THE deposition of Thomas Corbett, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1891, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent on oath states:—I am a son of the witness Julia Brown; I know the prisoner and his wife; his wife stayed at my mother's house before prisoner was tried; she was there for about eight days; while there she spoke to me about Mrs. Smith; she said to me, "Square old Granny; ask her to say in the higher Court what she said in the lower Court"; she promised to go upstairs with me if I did so; before the trial she said she would give me £5 after the trial was over; that was at the same time as she promised to go upstairs with me; I had no conversation with her about the stabbing; I cannot recollect her saying anything to me about the stabbing; she was turned out of our house by my mother and father; they told her they could not allow her to be coming in so late.

By Bench: I have been working for a dealer named Robinson; I have been in custody for using indecent language and furious riding; neither Myers nor his wife was a friend of mine; I have never spoken to Myers; I was asked to make the declaration through Myers' brother overhearing a conversation between my step-father and myself regarding what Mrs. Myers had told me; I know six of Myers' family; I never had improper relations with Mrs. Myers; I never went to see Mrs. Smith for her.

And this deponent on oath states:—I am in the employ of the Sydney Municipal Council, as a labourer; I am the husband of Julia Brown, and step-father of witness Corbett; I know the prisoner and his wife; she used to live with me before prisoner's trial at the Quarter Sessions; she lived with us for nine days, when I turned her out; I did so because she was always throwing insinuations at prisoner's old people; she used to go out at night; she used to drink, but I never saw her intoxicated; I have seen her and Mrs. Smith at my place; she never said anything about the stabbing; Mrs. Smith has spoken to me about the stabbing.

THE deposition of Elizabeth Moore, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice, to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt.

And

And this deponent on oath states:—I am a married woman; I do not know the prisoner; I know his wife, who used to live with me a little more than two years ago, in Lower Campbell-street; while there she went to cut her throat with a dinner-knife in her temper with her child; I took the knife from her, and threw it into a cask of water; she stayed with me for three weeks after that; she went away owing me for her room; I remember her living with me the second time; that was before her husband's trial at the Quarter Sessions, and after the hearing at the Police Court; she ran away again from my house, and I have not seen her since; between the hearing at the Police Court and the trial she told me she had stabbed herself; that was some time in July; she said, "I want Joe Myers, and I'll have him, come what will; I don't want my husband; I don't care what I do to put him away; I promised Granny £5 to put him away"; she said at the same time that she had stabbed herself, and that Granny knew it; that she had promised Granny £5 to put him away; at first she said she had stabbed herself with a man-of-war sailor's knife, but afterwards said it belonged to a Mr. M'Mahon.

By Mr. Merewether: Mrs. Smith stayed with me for about six weeks after the trial; she left my house in November last, and went to her daughter's; she was brought to my house by Mr. Myers before the trial; she and I were not drinking together; she was not in a state of helpless drunkenness when Detective Keatinge came to my house; I kept Mrs. Smith for nine months, purely out of friendship; I did not know the prisoner's parents till after the trial; I have not been removed by the police; I believe there was a man thrown out of my place naked; his property was found in my place afterwards; he was not thrown out of the window; he walked out of it; I took care of his property, which I found on the bed; it was found by the police between the palliasse and mattress.

By Mr. Williamson: I have never been prosecuted for stealing or receiving any stolen property.

By Bench: When Mrs. Myers attempted to cut her throat she was in a terrible temper with her child; I took the child from her, and she picked up a knife from the table and drew it across her throat; she did not draw any blood; I took the knife from her, and said, "For God's sake would you do that?" she said, "I am used to that; it'll be the end of me"; paragraph 3 in my declaration is incorrect in so far as the statement I made regarding blood flowing from the wound she made in her throat is concerned; I have not made any reference in my declaration to the fact that Mary Myers had told me she had stabbed herself; it was in Lower Campbell-street that I heard her threaten to stab her husband's brother; the boy used to come to see the baby, and she told me she did not want him there, and told me to "run" him; one morning early when Mrs. Smith was going out she said to her, "Now, Granny, don't go near the Myers, and keep your tongue between your teeth, or you won't get a farthing"; then I asked her what was the meaning of that, and she said, "I stabbed myself; it's Joe I want, and Joe I'll have"; I have seen the prisoner's father at his house since I made the declaration; we spoke about the case; it was on the same day as I made the declaration; I called in there on my way home from Mr. Williamson's office; I have not been there since; I have not seen Mr. Myers since, until last Monday; I had no conversation with him then.

By Mr. Williamson: I have never been prosecuted by the police for keeping a disorderly house; I did not know the Myers family at all before I made the declaration.

By Mr. Merewether: I am living with a Chinaman now.

By Mr. Williamson: I came to know it was Mrs. Myers through seeing her one day in a buggy; I ran up to prisoner's mother and said, "That is the woman I mean"; she said, "That is my son's wife."

By Mr. Merewether: The facts of that night were that Constable Lobban blew his whistle, and I went to his assistance; I found Mrs. Myers in a comatose state, with blood and froth issuing from her mouth; on her coming to she said she had been stabbed by her husband; she smelt strongly of drink.

By Mr. Williamson: It is about ten minutes walk from the house to the station; Mrs. Smith said she went first to the coffee-stall, then into Goulburn-street to George-street, then into Pitt-street to the station; the coffee-stall was at the corner of Campbell and Elizabeth Streets; she was looking for a constable; it would not be necessary for her to pass the Public School fence going that way to the station; (A, on the sketch produced, shows the position of the house, and B where I found the knife.)

By Mr. Merewether: I found the knife through something Mrs. Smith told me; the knife had fresh stains of blood on it.

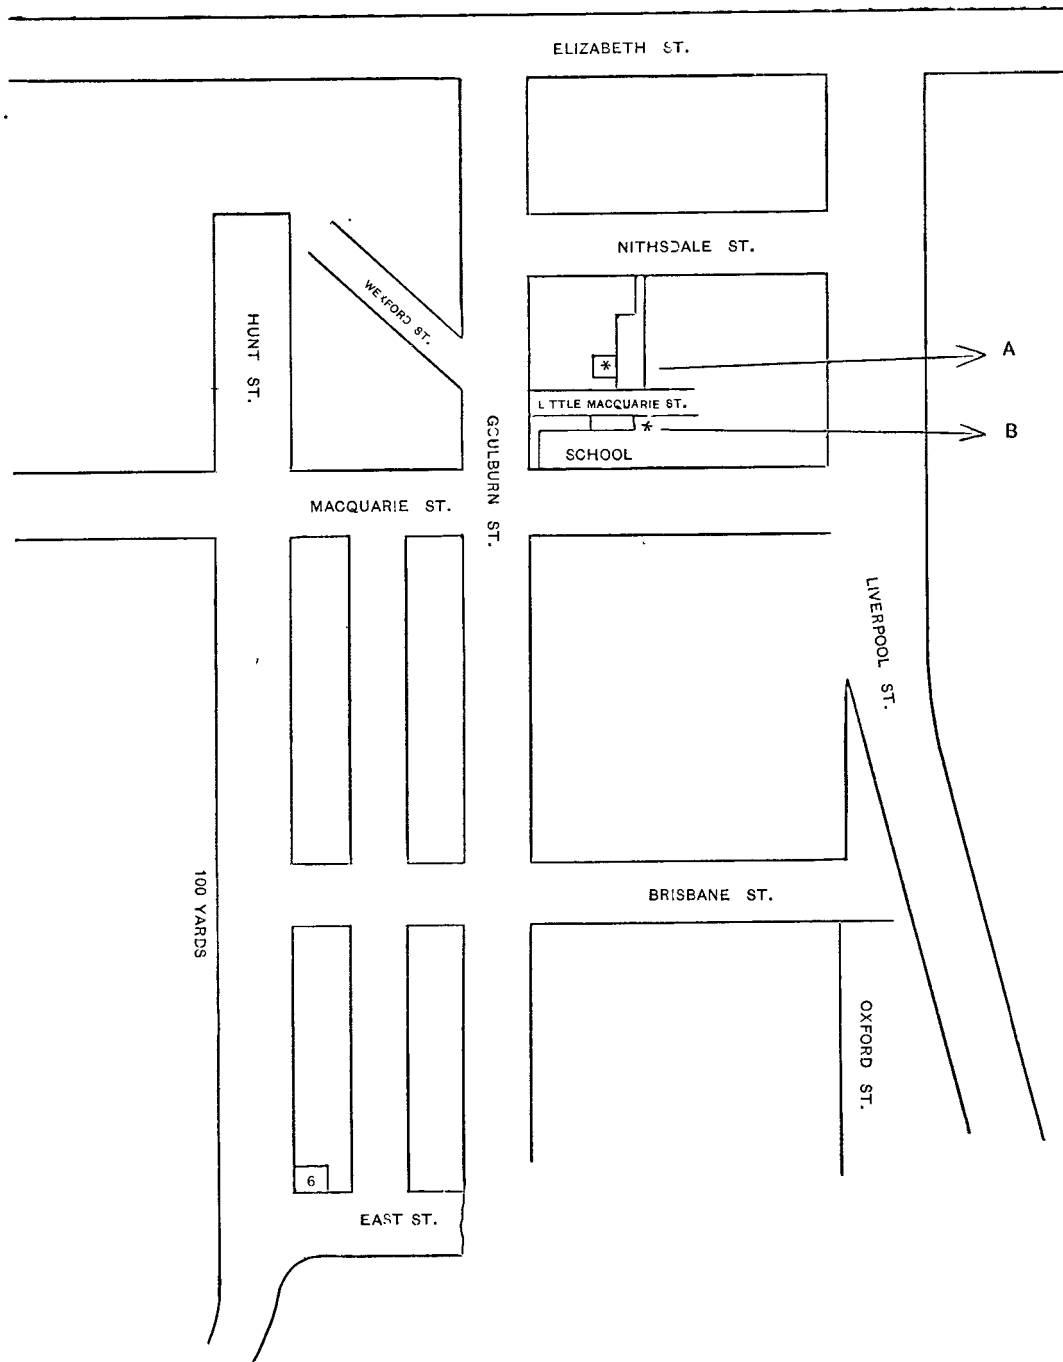

By Mr. Williamson: It was about 1:15 a.m. when I went to the house; there was about $\frac{1}{2}$ an inch of candle burning in the room in which I found Mrs. Myers.

THE deposition of Kate M'Mahon, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord, 1891, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent on oath states :—I am a single woman, residing in Bowman-street; I was living with a man named Michael M'Mahon last year; I know the wife of the prisoner; I had a quarrel with M'Mahon about Mrs. Myers; it happened in Mrs. Brown's house, in East-street, where he was drinking with Mary Myers and Mrs. Brown; I told her I would tell her mother-in-law; I do not know if he frequented Mary Myers' house after that; the day before Mrs. Myers was stabbed, I asked her was she going to Court with her husband that day; she said, "No; I'll have the pleasure of seeing him there before me"; she was cutting her nails with a large-sized pocket-knife, with a brown handle; she was using a large blade; the knife produced is like it; she said, "As sure as I have this knife in my hand I'll put him away before he puts me away"; I went straight and told her mother-in-law; I did not know of my husband going to Mary Myers' house; he used to go to Mrs. Brown's, where she was; he told me he had left his knife and pipe at Mrs. Brown's house; I afterwards found his pipe there, but I have never found his knife; he said he believed the knife was a black-handled one, unless he had changed it while he was drunk.

By

By Mr. Mereweather : I was sitting with prisoner's father before I came into Court ; I left M'Mahon through jealousy of Mary Myers ; I have spoken to her in a friendly manner since ; that was after I knew she had given M'Mahon up.

By Bench : It was some time before Mrs. Myers was stabbed that I knew she had given up M'Mahon ; I was on friendly terms with her at the time of the stabbing ; I abused him for being in her house ; that was a few days before the stabbing ; it was about a couple of days before.

THE deposition of Mary Myers, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 19th day of May, in the year of Our Lord 1891, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the "Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883," before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath, all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent on oath states : I am the wife of the prisoner ; I have been at service in Kempsey ; I was not served with a subpoena to attend at this inquiry ; I had no money to enable me to reach Sydney ; I was in Court when Mrs. Smith gave her evidence at the trial ; I have never said to anybody that I had stabbed myself ; I never offered money to Thomas Corbett to "square" Mrs. Smith ; I never offered to go upstairs with him to induce him to "square" Mrs. Smith ; I do not know Kate M'Mahon ; I have seen her at Mrs. Brown's ; I do not know Michael M'Mahon ; I never had a quarrel with Kate M'Mahon concerning him ; she never found him drinking with me in Mrs. Brown's house, nor did she upbraid me for it ; I never said to Kate M'Mahon, "As sure as I have a knife in my hand I'll put him away ;" I did say to Julia Brown, "I had a dream—a nasty dream—I dreamt my husband stabbed me ;" I did have such a dream ; she said, "What nonsense ; besides you have 10s. a week maintenance from him" ; that occurred two or three mornings before the stabbing ; my husband has beaten me and kicked me on previous occasions ; I know Mrs. Moore ; I never at her house attempted to cut my throat ; I never tried to take my life in Queensland ; I knew a woman named Bessie Farrell in Toowoomba ; I did not have the knife produced the day before the stabbing ; it is not a fact that I was cutting my nails with a large knife the day before the occurrence ; it is not true that I told Kate M'Mahon I would have the pleasure of seeing my husband in gaol before me ; the knife produced is my husband's ; he brought it from Bourke with him ; the blind was down in my room on the night I was stabbed ; there was only a small light in the room at the time ; Mrs. Smith occupied the same bed as myself that night ; I remember my husband saying, " You, long cow, I'll do for you before the night is over ; " I presume he was speaking to me ; he had a knife in his hand which he pointed at me ; it was a small knife with more than one blade in it ; after that I saw my husband following me ; I had not been on the streets before I met my husband ; I lived with him before I married him ; he forced me on to the streets to keep him ; I met him at a bad house in Brisbane, where I was taken by some women I met ; on the night of the stabbing, when prisoner asked me for his clothes, I put them on the table ; I believe they were there when I came too ; I know Mr. Wotton ; I knew him first in Sydney ; I used to live at the back of his house ; he was living with prisoner's sister ; his wife was living with him ; I knew prisoner when I was in service in Queensland ; I knew his father in Queensland ; at one time he kept a shooting gallery there ; at another time he kept a brothel there ; I have been in service with a Mrs. Bayliss at Kempsey ; I went there because I had a little boy, and could not get any employment in Sydney ; Kempsey is not far from Trial Bay, where Joseph Myers is serving a sentence ; it is not true that I went to Kempsey to be near him ; I have been to the gaol at Trial Bay, since I went there ; I asked to see him, but was refused ; I did not go again ; I do not know Mary Hudson ; I was never in a Chinaman's company ; I never said to a Chinaman that my husband had not done it ; but, that I wanted to put him away, and get another man.

By Mr. Williamson : I was never locked up for drunkenness ; I was not drunk on the night I was stabbed ; I have lived with Joseph Myers as his wife ; I visited him in Parramatta gaol ; I never told the gaol authorities I was his wife ; he has written to me from gaol as my husband ; I do not think it was in March last, I went to Trial Bay to see Joseph Myers ; I think it was about three months ago ; I do not know how long ago it is ; I am certain I never went to see him more than once ; I did not ask Mrs. Smith to go for the police the night I was stabbed ; I did not tell her who had done it ; the first thing I remember was seeing the policeman and the doctor in the room ; I was never given into custody for breaking Parker's window ; the policeman did take me a little way, and then let me go ; I did not drop on my knees, and ask Parker to let me off ; I did not point to Abraham Myers, and say he had done it ; he summoned me, but did not appear against me ; I did not ask him to let me off ; it was my fault that the windows were broken, but I did not break them ; the door was not open on the night I was stabbed ; it was not open nor shut ; the man who stabbed me had on a grey pair of trousers, a white shirt, and a black hat ; he had on a waistcoat also ; I had been to an hotel that night for some beer ; Mrs. Brown was with me ; she turned round, and said : " Oh, my God ! he is following you " ; I said : " Oh ! yes, here he comes " ; it was a bright moonlight night ; I cannot say when I found my husband's clothes ; I was undressed when I was stabbed ; it took place between 11 p.m. and 12 p.m. ; I never told anybody that it happened about 9 p.m. ; I was not smoking a cigarette on the day I was stabbed at Mrs. Brown's house ; I remember Kate M'Mahon saying to me, " God help you ; it's a wonder you're not dead with the treatment you've had, the vagabond wants gaol " ; I never said anything to her about Myers' mother and father ; I never inflicted any injuries on myself ; I married Myers in Roma ; I lived with him in Brisbane before I married him ; Myers never went away with a circus from Brisbane ; I never told the police that Myers had robbed a bank ; I never had him arrested for that robbery ; I know he was acquitted ; Parker was not staying at my house at that time ; he had been there about a month previously ; I know Thomas Corbett ; I have never spoken to him since my husband's conviction ; I never asked him to square Mrs. Smith ; nor held out any promise of anything to him if he would do so ; I never told Mrs. Moore that the knife which was found by the police had been left at my place, by either a man-of-war's man, or a man named M'Mahon ; I never interfered with my husband's stall in the markets ; I have been there ; I picked up a fish, and put it down again ; I saw my husband on the day I was stabbed ; I did not threaten him in any way ; I spoke to him ; he did not speak to a constable ; he did say to one, " I wish you would move this woman on ; she's annoying me " ; I never told anybody that my husband had not stabbed me ; I would not have said anything about it if the police had not come in ; I have put up with far more than that from him ; I had a summons to appear at the Court, on the 4th June, the day after I was stabbed ; it was for threatening him ; since my husband has been convicted I have been in service with a Mrs. Bayliss ; I was there for two months before I came down to this inquiry ; I think it was about four months after my husband's conviction that I went to Kempsey ; I did not live at Mrs. Moore's after the trial ; I lived with a Mrs. Mackay, opposite Newtown Road ; I have been to Mrs. Moore's house in Howard-street, but not since my husband's conviction ; I was living at Mrs. Mackay's house on the day of the trial ; she was with me the day Sergeant Wilkinson met me ; he met me just at the Court-gate ; I was not living in Kent-street at the time.

By Bench : It is five years since I came to Sydney from Brisbane ; he had left me in Queensland and come to Sydney ; I met him in Sydney, and he asked me to make it up ; I went to live with his father and mother ; I had obtained a maintenance order against him about three weeks before the stabbing ; I went to his stall in the markets with another woman ; he would not serve me ; I met him again in the street and he spoke to me ; I had been at the house in Brown's-lane about three weeks before the stabbing ; Myers came there one night about a week before the stabbing, and stayed all night with me ; Myers kicked me while in Brisbane, and injured my breast ; a doctor attended me ; he came to me twice ; I was an out-door patient at the Sydney Hospital ; I used to vomit blood ; on the night he stabbed me he knocked at the door and asked for his clothes ; I did not see any knife in his hand when he came in ; he was not a second in the room before he did it ; I had a child in bed with me ; he was awake, I think ; the child is now about three years old ; he was about three months old when I got him ; it was about twelve months before the stabbing that my husband came from Bourke ; I do not know Annie Baker ; I never said to her : " I suppose you have heard of my husband's getting seven years' gaol. " I never spoke to her in my life ; I never used the words in her declaration ; I was stopping with an old lady next to the Police Court, in Kempsey, when I was told that I was required to come here ; I was there waiting for the boat but it went half an hour before its advertised time ; I did not say I would not come by the " Coraki ; " I had to walk about 17 miles to catch the boat.

By

By Mr. Williamson: I know Mrs. Bloom had some female lodgers; I do not recognise Annie Baker as one of them; I do not know Paul's restaurant in Castlereagh-street; I never saw Annie Baker there; I never threatened to take her life if she came to this inquiry and gave evidence; I never threatened my husband, nor said to him on the morning of the night I was stabbed: "I'll see about you yet."

By Bench: My husband knew I was living with his brother, and came and lived with me afterwards; Mrs. Bloom used to keep a brothel; she charged me £1 a week, and 5s. for everybody I took there.

By Mr. Williamson: I lived with Mrs. Brown a little better than a week; it may have been a day or two longer than a week; Brown said he could not afford to keep me; he did not turn me out because I used to be annoying Myers' father and mother; I am sure I stayed at Brown's house more than two or three days.

THE deposition of Annie Baker, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 19th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1891, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the "Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883," before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding, with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent states, on oath: I am the wife of John Baker, and reside at Drummoyne; I have been married to him eight months; I used to lodge with a Mrs. Bloom; I was then employed at Finlayson's, the tailor's; while living there Mary Myers was living next door; I saw her nearly every day; I knew she and Mrs. Bloom were sisters-in-law; Mrs. Bloom was living with her husband, who was a tailor; I stayed at Bloom's about five months; Mary Myers had a house of her own next door; I went to my aunt's after leaving Bloom's; I then got married and went to live with my husband at his restaurant in Castlereagh-street; while there I saw Mary Myers pass the shop on two or three nights with a fair-haired woman; that was in October last; one Wednesday night I was standing in the shop door when Mary Myers called me out and asked me had I heard about her husband having got seven years; I said, "Is that all?" she said, "I'd give him double seven if it would do me any good; he wouldn't keep me, so he left me; Joe will soon be out; I'll put the other in; I'll have two in then, and I'll finish up with the old man and the old woman;" I said to her, "He did not do the deed;" she replied, "No; I have done it myself to get him into it;" I cannot remember that she said anything else; I saw her once after that in George-street, and she told me that if I went against her she would do the same for me as she had done for him; she told me herself that she had "done the deed."

This after the former evidence has been read over to witness.

By Mr. Merewether: She was never intimate with me; there was another young woman living with Mrs. Bloom at the same time as myself; she used to go to business; Bloom used to go to work every day; the other young lady was only three weeks at Bloom's after I went there; the night after Mary Myers had spoken to me I told Mrs. Parker and the prisoner's father; from the time Mary Myers had told me that her husband had stabbed her till she told me that she had done the deed I had not spoken to her.

By the Bench: I used to work at Bloom's when I was out of other employment; I received no wages.

THE deposition of Bridget Crawford, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath, this 21st day of May, in the year of Our Lord 1891, at Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the "Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883," before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding, with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent, on oath, states: I am a married woman; my husband is signalman at Bowral railway station; he comes down once a fortnight; I have lived in Riley-place for six years; I know Mary Myers; I let a house to her belonging to Mr. Bissaker; she lived with a man there named Joseph Myers as her husband; one morning a man named Menton came out of No. 2; she gave a start and said, "Oh, that man did frighten me;" I said, "How?" she replied, "He is so like one of the Myers;" I said, "Which of the Myers?" she replied, "Harry Myers;" I said, "Where is he; is he in Sydney?" she replied, "No, he's away in the country; he's a horrible wretch; if ever he comes back from the country I'll get him hanged if I can;" I said, "What would you do that for?" she replied, "He's been the means many a time of getting between me and my husband, and the cause of breaking up our home;" I said, "Are you not good friends with Myers' family?" and she replied, "No"; I said, "How is that?" she said, "The old man—the old wretch—he wanted me when my baby was born to have it circumcised according to Jewish law; I wouldn't have it done; I would not punish him that way; he brought the old Rabbi to have it done, but I would not allow him;" when Joseph Myers was put away she locked the door and went away; a bailiff went in through the window, and took possession; Mary Myers gave the key to the furniture man, who paid Mrs. Bissaker the rent; I did not know Harry Myers then; I did not see him for seven or eight months after that; his brother brought him to my place.

By Mr. Merewether: Joseph Myers was a witness for my son when he was sentenced for assault and robbery; I did not give evidence at my son's trial; I have known Mr. Myers since his son was put away; I gave evidence in the perjury case against Joseph Myers on his behalf.

Depositions of Witnesses.

THE deposition of Louis Parker, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, taken on oath this 21st day of May, in the year of Our Lord, 1891, at Sydney in the Colony aforesaid, under section 383 of the "Criminal Amendment Act of 1883," before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, in reference to the case of a prisoner named Henry Myers, lately convicted of maliciously wounding with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, and in pursuance of a direction by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, dated 28th April, 1891, to the said Justice to summon and examine on oath all persons likely to give material information arising on a petition on behalf of the said prisoner as to his guilt. And this deponent, on oath, states: I am a cook at the City Buffet; I never at any time lived in Phelps-street; I used to live in Upton-street; I remember Mary Myers breaking the windows in my house off Campbell-street; the prisoner and his two brothers, Abraham and Wolfe, were present; she first smashed the shutters and then the windows; I went for a constable; I procured one; they told me his name was Walker; I went back to my place with him; Mary Myers was there; I accused her of breaking my windows; Abraham Myers had just come out of the door; Mary Myers turned round and said, "No, constable; that boy broke the windows;" I gave her into custody; the constable took her as far as Samuel-street, when she dropped on her knees and begged my pardon, and said, "For God's sake don't take me; let me go, and I'll never come near your place again"; I then told him to let her go; I summoned her for breaking the windows, but was too late; I got a second summons, but the case was not called.

By Mr. Merewether: I know a girl named Cis Cameron; she was not at my house on the night my windows were broken; I lived in Pelican-street; I was not put out of it by the landlord; Cis Cameron lived in that house; that was about two years before the window-breaking; there was a young girl named Freeman in the house that night; she was a domestic servant.

By Bench: The disturbance took place just before Mary Myers obtained the maintenance order; we were sitting playing cards when we heard a noise outside, and a woman crying out, "Myers, come out of that house;" the windows were then broken; Mary Myers, my wife, and myself, were always the best of friends up to that.

By Mr. Merewether: I cannot remember the name of my landlord when living in Pelican-street; I do not know that he made any complaint to the police about my house.

Report of His Honor Judge M'Farland.

St. James' Chambers, Sydney, 3 June, 1891.

I HAVE already written, and very carefully, on the case of Henry Myers (see my report of 26th September, 1890), stating, in effect—in so many words indeed—that the verdict of the jury under which he was convicted before me of having stabbed his wife was, in my opinion, a right and proper one; and although since then certain persons, most of whom were witnesses at the trial, have been examined on an inquiry instituted under a provision of the Criminal Law Consolidation Act, that inquiry was not held before me, but before another Chairman of Quarter Sessions (owing probably to my illness at the time). I feel, therefore, that I am not in a position to report with any degree of weight on their testimony on that occasion, not having seen or heard those persons give that testimony; and the fact that some of them may have sworn this or that upon that inquiry seems to me to be deserving of very little attention, inasmuch as depositions previously made by them were utterly opposed to, and absolutely inconsistent with, the evidence given by them at the trial, and with which evidence and declarations my report of 26th September last deals at length.

I observe, at same time, that Judge Backhouse, the Chairman before whom the inquiry was held, states in his letter to the Minister of Justice of 25th May last that the testing of Anna Maria Smith (upon whose declaration the inquiry appears to have been mainly based) “failed entirely to bear out the declaration,” and was “worthless” in his opinion.

Should further light on the case be desired by the Minister of Justice, I would suggest that Judge Backhouse might be invited to report upon the evidence taken before him upon the inquiry, as by his Honor's letter of 25th May he offers to do.

ALFRED M'FARLAND.

Submitted, 4/6/91. His Honor Judge Backhouse, for favour of report, as suggested by Judge M'Farland.—A.J.G., 4/6/91.

Report of His Honor Judge Backhouse.

Sir,

“Melita,” Elizabeth Bay, 3 June, 1891.

I have the honor to forward you, for the information of the Honorable the Minister of Justice, my report on the inquiry held by me in Henry Myers' case.

I have, &c.,

ALF. P. BACKHOUSE.

REPORT respecting the case of Henry Meyers, convicted of wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

I DIRECTED the inquiry first as to how Mr. Wotton came to take an interest in the case. It is clear that he has been a friend of the Myers family for some time—five years, that he has known the prisoner for twelve months, that he lived for a short period at the house of Parker, a brother-in-law of the prisoner—Depositions, p. 109—and that he was present at the trial—p. 1. I have not the slightest doubt of Mr. Wotton's belief in the prisoner's innocence, but the value of that opinion is necessarily lessened by a knowledge of the facts stated above.

Having disposed of this preliminary question, I proceeded to test the value of the declarations and generally, with regard to this part of the inquiry, I may say that examination showed that the statements of some of the declarants had not been properly weighed before their truth was affirmed to. In getting the declarations all care seems to have been taken, and certainly nothing was done by those actually obtaining them to induce the declarants to pervert facts; but examination has shown that in some instances there has been a recklessness of statements. I deal out the declarations in the order in which they appear in the paper.

Anna Maria Smith.—A comparison of her depositions with the declaration, with her evidence at the trial, and her statement to Wotton (p. p. 3 and 4), will show that she has given at least four different accounts as to what she knows of the injuries done to Mary Myers. Before me she denied seeing the knife at all, and that the accused could have been at the house. The manner and matter of her evidence was such that I felt no reliance could be placed on her testimony when before me, and that she would depose according to the influence present at the moment.

With this view Mr. Merewether and Mr. Williamson concurred, and I therefore considered it unnecessary to deal further with any statements made by Mrs. Smith subsequent to the trial. Mrs. Smith's evidence was stopped when we had come to the conclusion mentioned above.

Julia Brown.—This witness, whose appearance and manner were not in her favour, substantially proved the first paragraph of her declaration. She has no recollection of paragraph 2 (most important); paragraph 3 is not borne out; page 19, paragraph 4, relates to a statement of Mrs. Smith. The statement about the dream is a little important, as though, on the face of it, it seems improbable, it is admitted by Mary Myers to be true. Brown admits (p. 20) knowing that Smith, before the trial, had said that Mary Myers stabbed herself, yet, though called at the trial, she does not think it her business to state the knowledge to anyone. Brown in no way varies from her evidence about the threats by Myers the night injury was inflicted, and there would appear to be no contradiction as to her identifying Myers. The occasion of her seeing a man unidentified referred to in declaration would appear to be one other than that on which she recognised Myers (p. 18).

Elizabeth Behan Asprey.—The police were unable to find this witness for whom I issued a subpoena.

Thomas Corbett.—The witness bears out his declaration in substance, except as to paragraph 4, as to which he was not questioned. There are two minor convictions against him, but of such a character as not to seriously depreciate his testimony. As to “squaring Mrs. Smith,” it does not necessarily follow that there was an attempt to induce Mrs. Smith to give false testimony. Read out the words (p. 27), “Ask her to say in the higher Court, &c.,”—the expression may mean no more than that Mary Myers knew Mrs. Smith's character, that she was easily influenced, and wished to prevent any influence having effect. The general impression left on my mind by this witness was that he was credible.

Joseph

Joseph Brown.—This witness' deposition is another proof of the little value that should be placed on these declarations. The statement of reasons (paragraph 3) for turning Mary Myers out of his house is directly contradicted (p. 32). The statement of the time during which Mary Myers lived at his house, would appear to be correct (Mary Myers in her deposition now fixes the time at seven days, p. 90) at the trial she said three. With the exception of the variation referred to, I have no fault to find with this witness' evidence.

Elizabeth Moore.—The admissions of the witness (p. 33) are sufficient to prompt caution in believing any statement made by her. In substance she proves (paragraph 2) of her declaration, and as will be noticed later on, there is strong probability that the statement respecting Joseph Myers was made. There is a material alteration as to blood flowing from wound described in paragraph 3. This is distinctly contradicted (p. 39). There is no material variation between the evidence and paragraphs 4 and 5. At page 36, she states:—"She (Mary Myers) said she had stabbed herself." This most material piece of information is most marvellously left out of the declaration. This, together with other matters mentioned, make me place but little reliance on this witness' evidence.

Elizabeth Sanderson.—Out of the jurisdiction at the time of inquiry.

Annie Baker.—This witness is a friend of the Myers' family having lived with Mrs. Bloom, as sister of the prisoner. Mary Myers plainly insinuates that before her marriage she was a prostitute, but the police know nothing of this. Her manner was in her favour, and with the exception of matters noticed below, I saw nothing to make me doubt her evidence. There is a strong probability against the statement deposed to being made. The exclamation, "Is that all"? when Mary Myers told her her husband had received seven years, is, to say the least, peculiar (p. 94). The expression (p. 95), "He did not do the deed" is more melodramatic than usual, and it is worthy of note that the gist of her declaration (the admission by Mary Myers) was not given till her deposition had been read over to her, and she had been asked by me at least twice, whether anything more had been said (p. 95). In fairness to her, it should be stated that she looked very ill, and appeared to be suffering greatly.

Morgan could not be found when I issued the subpoena for her, and as she spoke only as to Mrs. Smith's statements, I did not trouble further about her.

Having gone through the declarations, I next proceeded to see if I could elicit any fresh facts from witnesses called at the trial and others.

Kate M'Mahon.—The deposition of this witness bears out the statement in Mr. Wotton's circular letter about seeing a knife similar to the one produced at the trial in Mary Myers' possession before she was injured. She also deposes to an alleged conversation, which is material. She is not married, but was living with a man named M'Mahon, whose name she has taken. There evidently has been strong ill-feeling between her and Mary Myers, respecting this man M'Mahon. She was present at the trial, but was not called, as Mr. Williamson did not care to risk putting her in the box before she had seen the knife, p. 62. There is, no doubt, a good deal to be said for this caution, but M'Mahon's evidence goes to far more than identifying the knife.

Sergeant Wilkinson.—I called him to see why Bench warrant issued for Mary Myers. It would seem that the case was called on one day when Mary Myers was present. It was postponed, and at the time to which it was postponed she was not at the Court. A Bench warrant was issued, and after that—she could not have heard of the warrant, at least there was no evidence that she had—she was seen in Oxford-street, coming towards the Court. No inference of any value, under these circumstances, can be drawn against her from her absence.

Constable Lobban.—He was examined as to position of house, place where knife was found, and site of the prisoner's father's house. Although possible, I think it extremely improbable that the knife was placed where it was found by Mary Myers. If placed by any one in her interest, it must have been by Mrs. Smith. But she, in all her different statements, does not say she did place it, although she is now strongly in the prisoner's favour.

With a view to thoroughly understanding the evidence I inspected the locus.

According to the constable, Mrs. Smith, in going to the police station, did not pass the spot where the knife was found, she having gone by Nithsdale-street (see sketch p. 24). But I think an equally short if not shorter way to go from the house to the police station would be by way of Little Macquarie-street, Wexford-street to the Catholic School, and then across Belmore Park to Pitt-street. In going this way the place where the knife was found would be passed. While speaking of the locality I may add that I walked from the prisoner's father's house to the house in which Mary Myers was injured in three minutes, Detective Keatinge and Mr. Williamson being with me. Constable Goldsworthy threw no fresh light on the case.

Mary Hudson.—There is in her deposition a discrepancy as to the number of the Chinamen with whom she alleges Mary Myers was; at the trial two were mentioned—before me three; the character of this woman is bad, and there is nothing in her evidence to make me place more reliance on it than did the Jury.

I next had Mary Myers called. Considering her circumstances and her explanation when she did appear, I think no inference ought to be drawn from her not coming earlier. The character of this woman is bad, and the remarks I have made as to the credibility to be given to a woman of her class, of course apply to her, but I certainly should be sorry to say that in no case is this class of women to be believed. Her manner, on the whole, was good, but so was that of Hudson, called for the prisoner. It seems to be beyond all doubt that Mary Myers went to Kempsey to meet Joseph Myers on his liberation from Trial Bay, where he is now finishing his sentence. This would seem to show that the evidences as to her having made statements about wishing to live with Joseph Myers is true; she confesses to having lived with him once before as his wife. This supplies an additional motive for her having wished her husband to be imprisoned. There is also to be considered the fact that she was to appear at the Police Court the day following that on which she was injured for molesting him; in all probability, that case would have gone against her, and she would have been imprisoned in default of finding sureties. On the other hand, it was to her interest that he should remain at work as she was receiving maintenance money from him.

I allowed a number of matters to be gone into which have no direct bearing on the case. Strictly, as to some of these, at a trial no evidence could be called, but as they go to her credibility, I thought it better better

better to allow the evidence. Leaving out of the question those matters of contradiction gone into at the trial, and those directly bearing on the commission of the alleged crime, dealt with previously, there were—

1st. Speaking to Corbett and being in Ryan's house (a brothel) since the trial. Contradicted by Wotton, p. 100.

2nd. Parker, Bloom (brothers-in-law of the prisoner), and the prisoner's father kept brothels at different times. Contradicted by Parker, p. 123.

Benjamin Myers, p. 98.

Bloom, 113. Mrs. Bloom, p. 115,

There was no evidence before me that Parker's or Bloom's house ever was used as a brothel, beyond the statement of Mary Myers. Stewart (p. 107) gave evidence as to Bloom's house, but that evidence does not satisfy me that Mary Myers' was correct. Keatinge (p. 110) deposes to certain inquiries respecting Parker's, but there was no direct evidence on the point. I saw no prospect of getting direct testimony, and I did not feel justified in adjourning to try to procure it. Benjamin Myers admits (p. 99), if not the keeping of a brothel, the keeping of a by no means respectable house, notwithstanding the certificate of character put in. Parker does not definitely deny keeping a brothel, but impliedly he does. The questions respecting girls living at his house were put to him with a view to get admissions.

3rd. Circumstances under which Parker's windows broken. Contradicted by Parker, p. 123.

4th. Living three days at Brown's. This I have already referred to.

5th. Cause of leaving Brown's. Also referred to.

These contradictions, although in some cases on collateral issues, deserve consideration. An additional fact was elicited from Mary Myers,—that a child three years old was sleeping in the bed at the time she was injured.

In dealing with Mary Myers' evidence I have referred to all the witnesses who were called to contradict her except Mrs. Crawford, p. 118. It was in the case of this witness's son that Joseph Myers referred to committed perjury. She speaks of threats against her husband made by Mary Myers. These were denied, but taking the other evidence and considering her admitted acts, I should think it was probable they were uttered. Crawford also deposes to Mary Myers giving out that Joseph Myers was her husband.

The alibi question I did not go into, as it is not further raised by the declarations, and it was before the jury, and I think it is beyond doubt that it is possible Myers committed the crime, especially considering the time it takes to walk from his father's house to Brown's lane.

I have now generally gone through the evidence, and my report has run to greater length than I thought it would.

I may mention that the course of examination I adopted was to allow Mr. Merewether and Mr. Williamson to examine each witness, while I interposed such questions as I thought were fair, and at the conclusion of their examination I further examined if I thought it necessary.

I have purposely said nothing about questions raised at the time, except so far as they touch issues subsequently raised. I wish in no way to express an opinion on the report of His Honor Judge M'Farland. If I were willing to do this, which I am not, that, it would seem to me, is no part of my duty.

The conclusion to which I have come on the whole of the inquiry is this: It has not been proved that the prisoner is innocent, but the inquiry has shown that some of the testimony, particularly that of Mrs. Smith, called for the Crown, is not to be relied on. The grave questions remain whether without Mrs. Smith's testimony the jury would have convicted, and whether, if my conclusion is right, there now is any reasonable doubt of the prisoner's guilt. These are matters about which at present I feel it is not for me to speak.

To help the Minister to come to a decision, I thought inquiries about the life of the Myers family in Brisbane should be made. I directed that they should be.

I attach a medical report received by me from Dr. Payten, and a letter from Mr. Mark Williamson.

ALF. P. BACKHOUSE.

[Enclosures.]

His Honor Judge Backhouse,—
May it please your Honor,

Temple Court, King-street, Sydney, 22 May, 1891.

Re Myers.

In this matter your Honor is so well conversant with the evidence of Mary Myers that I do not think there is any necessity for me to make any suggestions therein, excepting three or four.

The first is: That she swore yesterday she never was drunk in her life. This is contradicted by Dr. Watson at the trial, and Constable Wilkinson at the inquiry.

The second is: That at inquiry she swore her husband earned but little money whilst living with her. At the Police Court, when applying for maintenance, she swore he could earn £3 or £4 per week (vide depositions).

The third is: That at trial she swore she lived only three days with Brown, and left of her own accord; at inquiry she swore she lived seven days, perhaps a day or two longer, and left of her own accord. Joseph Brown swears she lived nine days with him, and he turned her away for irritating her husband's parents.

The fourth is: That she offered Thomas Corbett a bribe to induce him to square Mrs. Smith.

That she has charged all the witnesses, excepting Mr. Wotton, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Brown, with keeping brothels, but failed to substantiate same.

That she never inflicted any wounds on herself, a statement which is contradicted both by Mrs. Sanderson, and Mrs. Moore, and Mrs. Baker.

That she denies saying to her husband, on the day of the night when offence was committed, "I'll see about you yet." In this she was contradicted by Constable Dunn at the trial.

That on the day of the trial a Bench warrant was issued for her arrest, and when she appeared in Court, and asked to explain her absence, she said she did not know the trial was on that day, so could not have been coming to the Court when seen in Oxford-street.

I would also suggest that as Mary Myers denies almost everything as against herself, and endeavours to show all those who have given testimony against her in an unfavourable light, no reliance be placed on her testimony.

Again, it was on the testimony of Mary Myers, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Brown, that Myers was convicted. There is not any doubt about the two latter being unreliable one way or the other, and would suggest that Mary Myers has influenced both these women to assist her to get rid of her husband. The motive of Mary Myers to get rid of her husband is quite patent, as she is anxious to live with his brother, which is evidenced by her past conduct in that direction, her visits to him both at the Parramatta and Trial Bay gaols.

I would further suggest that the knife with which Mary Myers was stabbed did not belong to her husband, but belonged to M'Mahon or the man-of-war's man. Kate M'Mahon described the knife she saw in Mary Myers' possession before she was stabbed, and which tallied with knife produced in Court; the latter knife, when description given, being in possession of Court-keeper.

The arresting constable swore he found a knife on accused when arrested, and that there were no traces of blood on prisoner.

Then, again, I would suggest that Mary Myers would commit an offence, and then try and thrust the charge on someone else, to wit, breaking Parker's windows, and her charging young Myers with doing same.

She also charged Myers, senior, with being a brothel-keeper in Brisbane, a charge which he rebutted, and produced an excellent testimonial from Mr. Lewis, his employer in that city.

Yours, &c.,
MARK WILLIAMSON,
Attorney for Henry Myers.

Office of the Government Medical Officer,
108, Phillip-street, Sydney, 22 May, 1891.

I CERTIFY that I have this day examined Mary Myers. I find that she has an old cicatrix on her right breast, three-quarters of an inch in length, situated about the level of the fifth rib, external to the nipple-line; it is said to be, and has the appearance of being, the result of a knife-wound. There is also a small and very indistinct cicatrix on the outside of the right nipple; it is in my opinion, much older than the other. I am unable to state its probable cause.

She is suffering from pulmonary phthisis, the apices of both lungs being affected.

ROBT. T. PATON,
Government Medical Officer.

To His Honor Judge Backhouse.

Submitted in connection with Minister's minute of 4/6/91. I may mention that Judge Backhouse has not seen Judge M'Farland's report, nor the report from the Queensland police, referred to by him.—A.C.F., 5/6/91.

My report ought, I think, to have been submitted to Judge Backhouse.—A. M'FARLAND, 15 June, 1891.

And the report of the Queensland police officer would, if laid before His Honor, have shown him what the Myers family were, when they lived in Brisbane at least, and Mr. Wotton, at whose instance the inquiry has been granted, comes forward as their friend.—A. M'FARLAND.

Minute of The Minister of Justice.

HAVING referred these papers to Judge Backhouse for report, as suggested by Judge M'Farland, I think the papers, with the report furnished by Judge Backhouse, should be again referred to Judge M'Farland for favour of a final report from him. I shall be glad if, before submitting that report, His Honor would take the opportunity of conferring with Judge Backhouse, who conducted the inquiry, and had the opportunity of judging of the demeanour of the witnesses when under examination before him.

I should also like Judge M'Farland particularly to report as to whether the additional evidence since taken before Judge Backhouse would, in his opinion, if presented to the jury at the trial, have raised such a doubt as to the prisoner's guilt as would have ensured an acquittal, or whether a conviction by the jury would have been justified.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 13 June, 1891.

Referring to your letter of the 3rd instant, forwarding report upon the evidence adduced at the inquiry held by you into the case of prisoner Henry Myers, I have the honor to inform you that the Minister of Justice has written a minute upon the subject, a copy of which is forwarded to you herewith, and I am to invite your attention to the fact that His Honor Judge M'Farland has been asked to confer with you before submitting his final report.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police,

Police Station, Kempsey, 8 June, 1891.

I BEG to forward for Mr. Meares' information a statement made by Margaret Duggan in reference to the Myers' stabbing case, a newspaper report of which is also annexed. She is fourteen years old, living with her parents at Spencer's Creek, near Trial Bay.

She never saw Mrs. Myers till she came to Trial Bay, and I consider that her statement may be regarded as truthful and disinterested. Perhaps it may be considered advisable to forward it to the Judge holding the inquiry.

Superintendent Meares, West Maitland.

W. T. BAKER,
Sub-Inspector.
MAGGY

MAGGY DUGGAN's statement to Constable Jones what Mrs. Mary Myers told her about two months ago:— One night when Mrs. Myers and her child and I were on the bed at my parents house, Spencer's Creek Mrs. Myers stated:—"One night we were at a party, and I was dancing with my husband's brother; my husband got jealous, and told me to come home, which we did. My husband said, "If you do not love me as I love you, I will stab myself"; and as he went to drive the knife into himself I caught it and went to take it away from him; it struck me in the breast (Mrs. Myers opening and showing the mark on her breast)." Mrs. Myers on several occasions informed me the Myers in Trial Bay was her husband, and when the above statement was told me I thought she was meaning the Myers in Trial Bay.

In re Henry Myers, a prisoner.

St. James' Chambers, 16 June, 1891.

As requested by the Minister in his minute of 4th June, I have read the report of Judge Backhouse, made since the papers were last before me, but (by an oversight) undated. As requested, in like manner, I have also read the testimony given before His Honor during the inquiry held under the Criminal Law Consolidation Act, though a large portion of it consists of "hearsay" only. But Judge Backhouse being out of town, I have been unable to confer with him personally, as was further requested by the Minister.

Nearly if not every person called as a witness on the part of the prisoner upon that inquiry is shown, by his or her own admissions, or by clear proof, to be a person of bad character; and Mrs. Henry Myers stated that Mr. Wotton, who took an active part in procuring the inquiry, and represents himself as influenced only by a desire to see that justice is done to the prisoner, "lived with the prisoner's sister," and though Mr. Wotton was examined after, as well as before, Mrs. Myers made that statement, I fail to see that he has answered or denied it.

Then, not only is almost every representation made by the prisoner's friends upon that inquiry utterly inconsistent with the evidence given by them upon oath at the trial before me, but a considerable portion of those representations consist of additions, made by them to their own first declarations. In other words, they appear to me to have fabricated evidence, or supposed evidence, as the inquiry proceeded. And some of these additions seem to be absolutely incredible on the face of them. Thus, Mrs. Smith alleged on the inquiry that she saw Mrs. Myers thrust a knife into her own breast; but Mrs. Smith did not say a syllable to that effect at the trial or in her declaration. And a Mrs. Moore alleged at the inquiry that she also saw Mrs. Myers stab herself; but Mrs. Moore did not appear at the Police Court, and, though she was in Court during the trial at Quarter Sessions, she was not called as a witness for the prisoner. In like manner, Julia Brown alleged at the inquiry that Mrs. Smith told her that she (Mrs. Smith) saw Mrs. Myers stab herself; but Julia Brown was wholly silent at the trial, as well as in her declaration, as to anything of the kind having been told her by Mrs. Smith. And I gather from the report of Judge Backhouse that he did not believe the testimony of any of the three—Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Moore, or Julia Brown. Indeed, that of Mrs. Smith was so incredible that her examination was entirely abandoned after it had progressed a certain length, and that with the full approval of the prisoner's attorney. While the evidence given by Mrs. Myers at the trial, and upon which mainly her husband was convicted by the jury of having stabbed her, was, to my mind, conclusive against him—and the jury evidently thought so, too. Nor has it, in my opinion, been disproved or shaken by anything contained in any of the declarations, or alleged on the inquiry.

The result is that I remain of opinion and continue to feel that there is no sufficient ground for questioning the correctness of the verdict which found Henry Myers guilty of the offence with which he was charged. I was convinced of his guilt upon the evidence given at the trial, and I am still convinced of it. Neither is there anything in the testimony obtained on the inquiry which, had it been presented on the trial along with that evidence, would, in my opinion, either have justified a verdict of not guilty upon the broad facts of the case, or on the ground of reasonable doubt.

I will continue to make inquiry for her, and should I find her I will furnish the information desired.

In re Henry Myers.

St. James' Chambers, King-street, Sydney, 30 June, 1891.

SINCE last reporting upon the case of the abovenamed prisoner, I have seen and consulted upon it with His Honor Judge Backhouse, as requested by the Minister of Justice, and I remain of the opinion previously entertained and expressed by me, that the prisoner was guilty of the grave offence charged against him on the trial before me, that the verdict which convicted him of that offence was a proper and just one upon the evidence, and that there is nothing in the declarations or depositions made or taken since that trial, and the subject of Judge Backhouse's report, which, had it been before the jury, should have led to a different result.

Minute-paper for the Executive Council.

Subject:—Case Regina v. Myers, maliciously wounding. Recommending that verdict of jury be not interfered with.

Department of Justice, 11 August, 1891.

AN inquiry having been held in pursuance of the provisions of section 383 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, 46 Victoria No. 17, by His Honor Judge Backhouse, respecting the case of prisoner Henry Myers, who was tried before His Honor Judge M'Farland, on the 10th September last, on a charge of maliciously wounding Mary Myers, with intent thereby to do grievous bodily harm, and convicted, I beg to submit for the consideration of His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council the enclosed papers in connection with such inquiry.

In view of the expression of opinion contained in the report of His Honor Judge Backhouse, dated the 3rd June last, and in the further reports of His Honor Judge M'Farland, dated the 16th and 30th idem, and for the reasons disclosed in my minute herewith, dated the 5th instant, I recommend that the verdict of the jury be not interfered with.

ALBERT J. GOULD.

Under the reports herewith submitted, the Executive Council advise, after fully considering the minute of the Honorable the Minister of Justice, that the verdict of the jury in the case Regina v. Myers be not interfered with.—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council. Approved.—JERSEY, 13/8/91. Min 91-44, 13/8/91. Confirmed, 18/8/91.

[Enclosure.]

Regina v. Myers.

I HAVE given very full and careful consideration to the evidence submitted upon the recent inquiry into this case, coupled with the evidence taken before the Police Court and the Court of Quarter Sessions, together with the reports of Judges M'Farland (before whom the prisoner was tried) and Backhouse.

The whole of the circumstances as placed before the jury in the first instance amply justified the verdict of guilty. There was evidence of a threat of violence made by prisoner to prosecutrix; of his following her; of the infliction of a most serious wound at a later hour of the same night; the statement of the prosecutrix and of the constable, that as soon as she was sufficiently recovered she charged her husband with the offence; the corroboration by Mrs. Smith, and the finding of a knife (with which it is alleged the wounding was inflicted) covered with blood at a spot 20 or 25 yards from the prosecutrix's residence, and about 10 yards round a corner at a spot indicated by Mrs. Smith as that where she saw prisoner when running throw something away.

There

There can be no doubt that a serious and dangerous wound, penetrating the lung, was inflicted on prosecutrix, which she alleges was done by prisoner, while prisoner's friends allege it to have been self-inflicted. To support the latter contention, reliance is placed upon statements made by Mrs. Smith subsequent to the conviction, that her statements immediately after the wounding and that her sworn testimony at the Police Court in June, and again at the Quarter Sessions in September, were all false, and that she saw Mary Myers stab herself, and on the statement of others that Mrs. Myers had told them the wound was self-inflicted.

Apart from the extreme improbability of such a severe and dangerous wound having been self-inflicted, and of such a statement having been made by Mrs. Myers, there is her own evidence upon the inquiry before Judge Backhouse, that no such statements were ever made by her, and there is the uncontradicted and unexplained fact that a blood-stained knife (with which it is assumed the wound was inflicted) was found where indicated by Mrs. Smith, immediately after the occurrence, at a distance from Mrs. Myers' residence.

Judge Backhouse in his report says: "Although possible, I think it extremely improbable that the knife was placed where it was found by Mary Myers. If placed by anyone in her interest it must have been by Mrs. Smith; but she in all her different statements does not say she did place it, although she is now strongly in the prisoner's favour." Judge Backhouse, after alluding to the fact that Mrs. Smith had given at least four different accounts as to what she knows of the injuries done to Mrs. Myers, says: "That the manner and matter of her evidence was such that he felt no reliance could be placed on her testimony when before him, and that she would depose according to the influence present at the moment." It appears to me more probable that Mrs. Smith's original statement was the correct one. It was made immediately after the infliction of the wound, and was deposed to by her at both Courts; the knife was found at the spot indicated by her as that where she saw prisoner throw something when running away, and no attempt has since been made to explain or otherwise account for the position of the knife. But if the testimony of Mrs. Smith be disregarded, the case resolves itself into one in which the evidence on behalf of the prosecution showed—

1. A threat by prisoner.
2. After the making of which he followed his wife.
3. That a serious wound was inflicted upon her at a later hour the same night.
4. That as soon as she regained consciousness she charged her husband with having inflicted the wound.
5. That a blood-stained knife, alleged to be the knife with which the wound was inflicted, was found round a corner about 20 or 25 yards from the residence of prosecutrix, on the road from her house to that of prisoner's residence, and is a place where it could not have been thrown from Mrs. Myers' house.
6. The statement of prosecutrix that she believed the knife to be one that had been in the possession of the prisoner.

On the other hand, there is evidence on behalf of the prisoner—

1. Of an alibi.
2. Of certain alleged statements by Mrs. Myers that the wound was self-inflicted; and
3. That the knife so found was supposed to be that of one M'Mahon, which had been left with prosecutrix.

The evidence of alibi, and some evidence (that of Mary Hudson) that Mrs. Myers told some Chinamen the wound was self-inflicted was before the jury, who, nevertheless, convicted Myers.

In addition to the evidence of Mary Hudson, Mrs. Moore, and Mrs. Baker, who were also examined upon the inquiry, have severally sworn that Mrs. Myers had since the conviction of her husband told them that the wound was self-inflicted.

If their evidence is to be accepted, Myers should be discharged, but Judge Backhouse, before whom these witnesses have all been examined, and who had the advantage of observing their demeanour while under examination, says of Mrs. Moore, "that the admissions of the witness are sufficient to prompt caution in believing any statement made by her," and further, that he could "place but little reliance on her evidence." Mary Hudson was examined before the jury, and of her evidence, Judge Backhouse says that he "did not place more reliance upon her evidence than did the jury," and of the evidence of Annie Baker, that "there is a strong probability against the statements deposed to being made."

Kate M'Mahon was called to identify the knife as the property of M'Mahon, and she also deposed to threats having been made to her by Mrs. Myers the day before the stabbing, that she (Mrs. Myers) would put her husband away before he put her away, and that she (the witness) "went straight and told her (Mrs. Myers) mother-in-law." No reason is assigned for Mrs. M'Mahon not having been examined as to these statements at either the Police Court or Quarter Sessions. Her evidence does not appear to be of such a character as to justify much reliance being placed on it.

The evidence of these witnesses is met, not alone by the improbability of such statements having been made, and the denial and evidence of Mrs. Myers, and the original statement of Mrs. Smith, but by the prisoner's threat towards his wife earlier in the evening upon which the wound was inflicted; by the position in which the knife, with which it is assumed the wound was inflicted, was found shortly after the occurrence; by the remarks already quoted of Judge Backhouse on this matter; and by the absence of any attempt to explain the placing or finding of the knife where found.

The question now arises whether, in the absence of any testimony on the part of Mrs. Smith (or in view of the several different statements of Mrs. Smith), but with the other evidence elicited on the trial, and with the evidence since taken before Judge Backhouse, such a reasonable doubt exists as to prisoner's guilt as would justify his discharge. It is, of course, impossible to say what view the jury would have taken under the circumstances; but it is important to observe that Judge Backhouse, before whom the inquiry was held, reports that the conclusion to which he has come on the whole of the inquiry is that "it has not been proved that the prisoner is innocent"; and whilst he proceeds to say that the "inquiry has shown that some of the testimony, particularly that of Mrs. Smith, called for the Crown is not to be relied upon," Judge M'Farland, before whom prisoner was tried and convicted, and to whom the evidence taken on the inquiry was submitted, concludes his report by saying, "The result is that I remain of opinion, and continue to feel, that there is no sufficient ground for questioning the correctness of the verdict, which found Myers guilty of the offence with which he was charged. I was convinced of his guilt upon the evidence given at the trial, and I am still convinced of it. Neither is there anything in the evidence obtained on the inquiry which, had it been presented at the trial along with that evidence, would, in my opinion, either have justified a verdict of not guilty upon the broad facts of the case, or on the grounds of reasonable doubt." And this report is re-affirmed by Judge M'Farland after an interview with Judge Backhouse on the subject.

I am not prepared, as the case now stands, to dissent from the conclusion arrived at by the presiding Judge.

The usual Ex. Min. may be prepared.—A.J.G., 5/8/91.

Before N. Connolly, Esq., P.M., and Samuel Marsden, Esq., J.P.

Mr. Lamerack appears for the prosecution, and Mr. M'Phillamy for the defence.

Joseph Campbell and Phillip Edric Abott appear before the Court in custody, charged with having two sheepskins in their possession on the 5th June, reasonably supposed to be stolen, and for which they could not satisfactorily account.

William Roche, on oath, states:—I am Sergeant of Police stationed at Blayney; on Friday 5th instant, from information received, I proceeded to the residence of Joseph Campbell, near Newbridge, arriving there about 6 p.m., on arrival I said to Campbell, "I want you to go to the farm," meaning another farm belonging to accused, about a mile and a quarter from his residence; accused declined to go, saying "Let that b—— bastard Henlin show you round," I said, "If you don't go I'll have to compel you, some skins have been found at your farm which Henlin claims, and you had better come over and see what account you can give of them," after being advised by his wife, accused Campbell accompanied me to the farm; on the way accused said "I claim all the skins at the farm and if there are any of Henlin's, they must have been put there"; I asked "How many skins should be there," he said "Eight or nine"; I then asked accused who was in charge of the place, he replied "Phillip," meaning his step-son, Phillip Abott, one of the accused, and added, "He is as much in charge of the place as I am"; I asked him who killed the sheep that had been slaughtered at the farm, he (accused) replied "Phillip; there has been no sheep killed there since shearing"; accused then left me taking a short cut through the paddock, I going round by the road, I reached the farm first, accused arriving shortly after me; on our arrival accused Campbell said "Where are those b—— skins Henlin claims?" Constable Scott who was at the place in charge went into a skillion room and brought out the skin I now produce from a number of others; I showed Campbell the sheepskin bearing the tar brand C H; he said, "It is Henlin's brand right enough;" he (Campbell) then said to his step-son, accused Phillip Abott, "We have been had, some person must put the skins here;" I had previously informed Campbell that two skins claimed by Henlin had been found on his premises; Constable Scott then produced another skin, also bearing Henlin's brand; the first skin found was that of a coarse-woolled sheep, the second skin is much finer, but I do not think it is that of a merino sheep; there is no distinguishable ear-mark on the coarse-woolled skin, but in the finer one the left ear is whole, and the right has what is usually called a halfpenny notch out of the back of the ear; I said to accused, "Campbell, do you say that Phillip (meaning accused Abott) killed all the sheep slaughtered here?" he said, "I do, with the exception of one I killed myself since shearing, the rest having been killed at the shearing time"; I then arrested Phillip Abott, one of the accused, on the charge of stealing two sheep, the property of Frederick Henlin of Bathurst; Abott said, "I did not kill them"; I asked accused Campbell if he claimed the place where the skins were found as his property; he said, "I do"; I then asked Campbell if he could in any way account for the possession of the two skins; he replied, "I cannot"; Frederick Henlin, Junr., then gave accused Campbell in charge, and in company with Constable Scott I brought Campbell and Abott to the lock-up; I this morning charged the two accused in the lock-up under the 157th Section of the Criminal Law Amendment Act with having two sheepskins in their possession they could not account for, reasonably suspected of having been stolen.

Cross-examined by Mr. M'Phillamy: The other skins, eight or nine, claimed by accused, had, as far as I could see, a similar growth of wool to the two before the Court; when I arrested Phillip Abott, Campbell, his step-father, said, "I would rather you arrested me than the boy"; I have known Campbell for nearly nine years; I have never before heard anything against him; I asked Campbell when I first saw him where his step-son Abott was; he said, "At the farm," he was there when I arrived.

WILLIAM ROCHE.

Edward Henry Scott, on oath, states:—I am a constable of police, stationed at Blayney; on Friday, the 5th instant, on my way to Newbridge, I met Mr. Henlin, Junr., and his father's overseer, E. Redfern, and from something they told me, I went to accused Campbell's farm on Reedy Creek, distant about 1½ mile from where he lives himself; I reached the farm about the middle of the day; there was no one at home; I went down to a shed about 40 or 50 yards from the house; on the bark covering the shed I found the sheep-skin now produced, which bears the tar brand C H, and has the left ear whole, the right ear a halfpenny out of the back of it; Henlin and Redfern were present when I found the skin, and Henlin claimed it as his property, Redfern remarking that it was off one of Henlin's sheep; I left the skin where I found it, and proceeded to Campbell's place, near Newbridge, Henlin accompanying me to Newbridge, and Redfern remaining at the farm where the skin was found; I asked Campbell if he would come down to his farm, as I wanted to look at his sheepskins; he replied, "You are quite welcome to look at any skins, as all the skins there belong to me"; Campbell then said, "Who authorised you to come and look at my skins?" I said, "A man from Bathurst"; he said, "Is it Henlin?" I said, "Yes;" Campbell then said, "Fetch b—— Henlin here before I go a foot"; I told him Henlin was at Newbridge; Campbell asked if I had a search-warrant; I said "No"; he said, "You will have to produce one before I go a b—— foot"; he then asked if Henlin had a search-warrant; I said, "I do not know"; Campbell then, at his own request, accompanied me in the direction of Newbridge to meet Henlin; we met Henlin about a quarter of a mile from Newbridge; I asked Henlin if he had a search-warrant; he said, "No"; accused, Campbell, then turned round and went back in the direction of his home; I then proceeded to Newbridge, and sent a wire to Sergeant Roche; after this I went to Campbell's farm where I had found the skin, and waited until Sergeant Roche's arrival, about 6 p.m.; a short time after the sergeant's arrival, Campbell came up and said, "Where are those b—— skins Henlin claims?" I replied, "They are in the skillion"; I then went into the skillion, one of the rooms of the house; I found a number of sheepskins, and among them the skin I now produce, tar-branded C H, without any legible ear-mark; it is the skin of a coarse-woolled sheep; I then went down to the shed and brought up the skin I had previously seen there; it is branded C H previously described; my reason for going into the skillion, where I found the second skin, was on information I had obtained when the first skin, bearing Henlin's brand, was produced; Campbell said, "It has been put there for a trap, but not by me or Phil," meaning accused Abott; when the second was

was produced, Campbell said, "That is Henlin's brand all right"; Campbell said, in reply to Sergeant Roche, all the skins there that he claimed had been taken from sheep killed by Phil. at shearing-time, except one killed by himself since shearing.

Cross-examined by Mr. M'Phillamy:—The first C H skin I found on top of the shed had the pelt side upwards; I heard Campbell tell one of his boys to take the load of hay, then ready, to Newbridge.

E. H. SCOTT.

Edward Redfern, on oath, states:—I am overseer for F. Henlin, at his place called Thorney, near Newbridge; Thorney paddocks adjoin the farm of Campbell, at Reedy Creek; about three weeks ago I drove some sheep to Bathurst for Mr. Henlin; before starting I took about twenty-seven or twenty-eight and left them behind; these were all ewes, except one cross-bred fat wether; when I came back from Bathurst, after three days absence, I missed this fat cross-bred wether; he bore Henlin's C H tar brand; I do not remember if he was ear-marked; I look at the coarse-woolled skin now in Court, branded C H; it resembles the skin of a sheep similar to the one I missed, and is tar-branded in the same way; I have carefully looked through all Henlin's sheep in the Thorney paddocks, but cannot find the coarse-woolled, fat sheep I left behind when going to Bathurst; on the 4th instant I went to Campbell's farm, adjoining Thorney, to inquire if any of Henlin's sheep were there; there was no one at home; in riding past a skillion room at the rear of the house, the door being open, I saw a skin, among others, bearing Henlin's brand; that was the skin of the coarse-woolled sheep, similar to one missing; I saw no other skin at that time; I then went to Wimbledon and wired to Mr. Henlin what I had seen; next day Mr. Henlin's son accompanied me to Campbell's farm; Phillip Abott, one of the accused, was there; Henlin asked him if we could go through his place with sheep at any time; he said, "Yes"; we then went on towards Blayney to inform the police; on our way we met Constable Scott; informed him, and went back to Campbell's farm; no one was there; Constable Scott then found the other skin (produced), branded C H, on top of a bark-shed, some distance from the house; the left ear is unmarked, but the right ear has a notch, or half-penny, similar to Henlin's ear-mark; Constable Scott also went into the skillion where I had seen the skin bearing Henlin's brand, on Sergeant Roche's arrival, and brought it out; that is the skin now before the Court.

Cross-examined by Mr. M'Phillamy:—I have never given accused, or any other person, leave to take any of Mr. Henlin's sheep or skins or given away any; there are about 1,100 sheep on Thorney, among them some cross-breeds; I never said to anyone that I went into the skillion, lifted up a skin, and saw it was Henlin's; I went to Vaughan's place, about 300 yards away, for half an hour, while Scott was absent; I did not mention anything to Vaughan about what I had seen, until I went with him on his way to Newbridge; I believe the coarse-woolled skin is off a fat sheep; I came to Henlin's place on the 3rd March last.

EDWARD REDFERN.

Frederick Henlin, on oath, states:—I am a grazier, residing at Bathurst; I know the witness Redfern; he is acting as overseer at Thorney for myself and father; from information received, I came up to Thorney on the evening of the 4th inst.; next morning, in company with Redfern, I rode to Campbell's farm at Reedy Creek; we there saw Phillip Abott, one of the accused, and after speaking to him proceeded in the direction of Blayney; on our way we met Constable Scott, and returned to Campbell's farm at Reedy Creek; we could find no one at home; either Constable Scott or Redfern lifted a skin on a bark-shed, and showed it to me; the skin before the Court, tar-branded C H, is that shown to me; I believe from its bearing our tar brand that it is off one of our sheep; the ear-mark on ear of the skin is not our registered ear-mark; the sheep on Thorney have various ear-marks, many not having our registered ear-mark, as we buy and sell frequently; the tar brand C H is our registered tar brand; I afterwards proceeded with Constable Scott to Newbridge; after some time I saw Campbell, in company with Constable Scott, outside Newbridge; Scott asked me, in Campbell's presence, if I had a search warrant for Campbell's place; I said "No"; Campbell rode away; Scott returned to the farm, and I followed later on; on my return I saw Sergeant Roche and Campbell at the place, also Phillip Abott; Campbell came out with a slush lamp, and said, "Show me the skins, I am no sheep stealer;" Constable Scott then went to the skillion, and returned with the coarse-woolled skin bearing our tar brand; then he went to the shed, some distance away, and got another skin with our tar brand also, now before the Court; Sergeant Roche asked Campbell in my presence as to who killed sheep on the place; he said the boy killed them all at shearing-time, except one he killed himself after shearing; I have never authorised any one to kill or sell our sheep or skins; I think the skins before the Court, bearing C H tar brand, are from sheep that have been slaughtered.

By Mr. M'Phillamy:—The sheep at Thorney belong jointly to my father and myself; there is no deed of partnership; I have no ill-will to Campbell; on one occasion Campbell brought me a skin of ours to Bathurst, which he said he had taken off a dead sheep of ours; I did not think it was off a dead sheep; it was covered with ashes; I will swear that I never said at Newbridge to any one that I had to follow Campbell to a tannery at Bathurst to get three of our skins; I gave Campbell in charge for having skins of ours in his possession supposed to be stolen.

By the Bench:—We have sheep on the run having a similar ear-mark to that on one of the skins; I am the only Bathurst owner having sheep in the neighbourhood of Campbell's farm.

FOR THE DEFENCE.

James Vaughan, on oath, states:—I am a farmer and sheepowner, residing near Newbridge; on the 5th instant I met Redfern near my farm; he said "Could you give a man his dinner?"; I said "Yes," and returned to the hut and gave him his dinner; whilst the kettle was boiling Redfern said, "I think your next door neighbour is going to get into a mess"; I understood him to mean Campbell; I asked, "What for?"; Redfern said, "For things found on his place that don't belong to him"; this was told me while he was having his dinner; he further said that what was found was sheepskins; after dinner I came up with Redfern to an old fowl-house near Campbell's house at Reedy Creek; I there saw two sheepskins, one on top of the other; both had the flesh side downwards; I saw no tar brand on the skins; I was not high enough to see if there was any.

William Smith, on oath, states:—I am a labourer and reside at Reedy Creek; I have been staying lately in Campbell's house at Reedy Creek, sleeping there at night by his permission; I camped in a skillion at the rear of the house; there were a lot of old skins in the room, which I put in an old place outside to make room; afterwards Mrs. Campbell came to the place, and told me to sleep in one of the inside rooms, as it would be warmer; I then put the skins back in the skillion; I look at the two skins produced now before the Court, tar-branded C H; there were no such skins among those in the skillion; I removed the skins from the skillion the first Saturday after the Bathurst show in April last, and put them back about a week afterwards; I have never removed them since; no sheep has been killed there since to my knowledge; last Sunday week I went to the old fowl-house to get some bark to light the fire; there was no skin there then on top; Phillip Abott mostly stayed and slept at the Reedy Creek farm where the skins were; he was there on the afternoon of the 4th June.

Benjamin Armstrong, forwarding agent at Newbridge, on oath, states:—I look at the two skins before the Court, marked C H; I believe one of them has been taken off by a professional butcher; I cannot say the same of the other; one of the skins has, I think, been off about three weeks or four—the other not less than three months; it is impossible to judge this particular skin by looking at the skinny side, it has been so well cared for.

Joseph Campbell, on oath, states:—I am a farmer and grazier, residing at Newbridge, and am one of the accused; I have heard Constable Scott's evidence; it is all correct except the introduction of the word "b—" as having been used by me; the last sheep killed on the Reedy Creek farm was killed on the 12th March last, to supply some ring-barkers I had at work; I told Sergeant Roche, when asked who usually killed the sheep at Reedy Creek, that there was only one killed by me and that was at shearing-time; I never saw the two skins now before the Court, marked C H, until the night of the 5th; they were shown to me by the police at the farm then; I don't know how they got there.

No. 1.

Police Office, Nymagee, 16 October, 1891.

Officer v. Bailey—Entering enclosed lands—Mr. Bolton for Plaintiff.

James Read Officer, on oath, saith:—I am the manager of Hermitage Plains run, and am the occupier of the run; I met the defendant on the 11th of September; I saw him at Hermitage Plains; he asked me could he shoot kangaroos on the run; I said I would not allow any one to shoot kangaroos; this took place at the head station; he then left me and camped near the woolshed; I gave him no permission to go on any private roads or on any part of the run.

By Defendant: I have not laid the information as the owner of the run; I did not know you were a prospector; I thought you were a kangaroo shooter; you told my man that you were a prospector; you did not tell me you were a prospector; I laid the information for being in a part of the run where you had no right to be; he told me he found you shutting a gate on the other side of the run; there is no public track through the run; there is a beaten track leading through gates right on to Mahony’s run; run ; it is only used by the station, and is a private track ; I told my man he could let Mr. Robson of Restdown go through, but no one else ; Mr. Robson does not belong to my station ; I don't admit I have made a wrong statement ; you went through.

By Mr. Bolton : The woolshed is private property ; I gave defendant no permission to go through.
Sworn at Nymagee, 16 October, 1891,—

THOMAS C. K. M'KELL, J.P., P.M.

JAS. R. OFFICER.

*Thomas Brown, on oath, saith :—*I am a homestead lessee, residing at Green ; on the 12th September last I was at Hermitage Plains woolshed, which is situated on freehold land ; it is enclosed by a fence all round ; I saw the defendant at the woolshed on the 12th September last ; he was driving past the shed ; I had a conversation with him, I said where are you going ? He said, "I am going prospecting" ; I told him it was a private road, he had no right to be there ; I warned him from going through the wire netting, a man having been fined a short time ago for going through the same road ; after I warned him that it was a private road and not to go, he drove along ; it is a private road leading to Mahony's run.

By defendant : I saw you on the 12th ; I saw you at the woolshed, about 25 or 30 yards from the woolshed ; I said to you it was a private road ; I told you there was a man fined for cutting the wire-netting ; I told you you would be prosecuted for cutting the wire-netting ; I did not tell you there was no gate on the boundary ; I did not tell you you could not get out ; I am not aware the road was used by the public ; I am not aware there was a notice re dog-trap warning the public ; you said you were a prospector ; I said there was no road there ; I never knew any other person to go there without permission ; you went both through freehold and Crown lands ; the woolshed is not a public place ; there is no notice posted up to warn the public ; the next paddock to the woolshed is land leased from the Crown, and continuous to the boundary ; I told you probably you would see Mr. Officer as he was in that paddock ; I never knew of drovers going that track ; the travelling public do not use that paddock ; the woolshed is about 200 yards from the gate ; at breakfast hour during shearing when I saw you ; I went into the woolshed again ; I could see you from the woolshed going through the gate.

By the Bench : The paddock is fenced all round ; I warned him and he went on.

THOS. BROWN.

*Northcote Lauchlan (by Mr. Bolton), on oath, saith :—*I am an assistant at Hermitage Plains ; through instructions received, I followed this road from the woolshed paddock to Mahony's run ; I saw the track of a vehicle all along the road to the boundary through the run ; I saw the defendant closing the gate on Mahony's boundary ; I saw this vehicle on the other side of the gate, on Mahony's run ; it was the same vehicle I followed ; I asked him if he had permission to go through the run ; he said he had no permission, but had a miner's right ; the tracks I followed went from the woolshed ; the paddocks through which he went are enclosed.

By Defendant : I followed up the tracks to see who went through ; Mr. Officer told me to turn any person back except one person ; I am not aware that that paddock is used by the general public ; I don't know of notices warning the public re dog traps ; I pulled you up at the gate ; you told me you were a prospector, and that you came through there by virtue of your miner's right ; two men came along whilst I was speaking to you ; I saw yourself on the land.

Sworn at Nymagee, 16th October, 1891,—

NORTHCOTE WM. LAUHLAN.

*John Cameron (by Mr. Bolton), on oath, saith :—*I reside at Hermitage Plains, and am a carpenter ; I was at Hermitage Plains on the 12th September last ; I saw the defendant there ; I heard some conversation between Mr. Brown and defendant ; I heard Mr. Brown tell him there was no run.

By Defendant : I remember speaking to you at the woolshed on the 11th ; you told me you were looking for shearing ; I said you would likely get on ; I don't know if shearers apply at the shed ; I told you the board was not full ; I was not aware there was any objection to people coming into that paddock.

By Mr. Bolton : They don't come there to shoot kangaroos by virtue of a miner's right.

By Defendant : There is a road then to Restdown Station.
Sworn at Nymagee, 16th October, 1891,—

JOHN CAMERON.

*James Reid Officer (By Bench), recalled and resworn, states :—*I gave defendant permission to camp at the woolshed, when he asked me for permission to go kangaroo shooting ; he did not ask me for shearing ; the woolshed is between two paddocks ; it is through a separated paddock from the woolshed that defendant went.

By Defendant : The woolshed is between two paddocks ; there is not a road through the paddock to Restdown.

Sworn at Nymagee, 16th October, 1891,—

THOMAS C. K. M'KELL, J.P.

JAS. R. OFFICER.

*Paul Bailey, on oath, saith :—*I am a prospector, and reside in Nymagee ; I took out a miner's right on 13th August ; I produced my miner's right, V 8 91, at Nymagee ; on the 11th September I entered Hermitage Plains run ; I asked Mr. Officer for permission to go kangarooing there ; he said he would not allow anyone to go shooting there ; I then went down to a paddock where the shearers' hut and woolshed are in, and camped there that night ; next morning I started away ; the way I went I had to pass the woolshed ; this is the paddock Mr. Officer admits giving me permission to camp in ; when 60 or 70 yards past the woolshed the witness Brown sang out to me from the woolshed ; told me there was no road that way; I asked him if there was not a gate on the boundary; he said, "No, and there was a man prosecuted for cutting the wire-netting on that boundary, and if I cut the wire-netting I would be prosecuted"; I said I was aware of that fact, but I thought there was a gate at the boundary, and I could get out that way; he said, "No, I could not get out that way"; I said I would stop, and if I could not get out as I was prospecting and privileged by my miner's right; he said, "You will see Mr. Officer on ahead"; I got out through the run; saw no one; about 60 or 70 yards through the boundary gate I heard someone tearing through the bush in Officer's paddock; it was the witness Lauchlan; he pulled me up 60 or 70 yards through the boundary-gate; he asked me if I just came out of that paddock; I said, "Yes"; he asked me if I was hawking; I said, "No"; he said, "We don't allow anyone through that road, as it is a private road"; I said, "I didn't ask permission; I came through without it, being a prospector, having a miner's right"; he asked me my name; I asked him his.

By Mr. Bolton: I decline to say if I went to prospect kangaroos by virtue of a miner's right; I did not go out there to shoot kangaroos by virtue of a miner's right; I went there to prospect for minerals; I took tools with me; I prospected there since; I did not go to the woolshed to look for shearing, and did not ask for shearing there; I went through the run on the 12th.

By the Bench: I did prospecting on the 12th, by travelling on my horse through the run.

New South Wales, }
Nymagee, to wit. }

BE it remembered, that on the 16th day of October, in the year of our Lord 1891, Paul Bailey, of Nymagee, in the Colony of New South Wales, Prospector, Edward Smith Hall, of Nymagee, in the said Colony, Storekeeper, personally came before me, the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, and severally acknowledged themselves to owe to our Lady the Queen the several sums following, that is to say: the said Paul Bailey the sum of £15, and the said Edward Smith Hall the sum of £15, of good and lawful money of Great Britain, to be made and levied of their several goods and chattels, lands and tenements respectively, to the use of our said Lady the Queen, Her Heirs and Successors, if he the said Paul Bailey shall fail in the condition indorsed.

Taken and acknowledged, the day and year first above mentioned at Nymagee, in the said Colony, before me,—
THOMAS C. K. M'KELL, P.M.

I, THE undersigned R. C. Campbell, personally served a true copy of this on the defendant, Paul Bailey, and his surety, Edward Smith Hall.
16th day of October, 1891.

R. C. CAMPBELL.

Condition.

The Condition of the within-written Recognizance is such, that whereas the within-bounden Paul Bailey was on the 16th day of October instant, charged before Thomas C. K. M'Kell, Esquire, P.M., one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said Colony, with entering enclosed lands without the consent of the person in charge thereof, at Hermitage Plains, in the said Colony. And whereas the hearing in this behalf is adjourned until the 23rd day of October instant, if, therefore, the said Paul Bailey shall appear before me or such other Justice or Justices on the 23rd day of October instant, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Police Office, Nymagee, in the said Colony, or before such other Justice or Justices of the Peace for the said Colony as may then be there, to answer further to the said charge, and to be further dealt with according to law, and there attend from day to day until the said charge shall be disposed of, then the said Recognizance to be void, or else to stand in full force and virtue.

THOMAS C. K. M'KELL, P.M.

Warrant of Distress upon a Conviction for a Penalty.

To Duncan Cameron, a sergeant in the Police Force for the Colony of New South Wales, and to all other constables in said force.

WHEREAS Paul Bailey of Nymagee, in the said Colony, was, on the 16th day of October, 1891, duly convicted before T. C. K. M'Kell, Esquire, a Police Magistrate of the Metropolitan Police District, and one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the said Colony, for that he the said Paul Bailey did on the 12th day of September, 1891, at Hermitage Plains, enter the enclosed lands of the Hermitage Plains run without the consent of the person in charge thereof, and it was thereby adjudged that the said Paul Bailey should for such his offence forfeit and pay the sum of £5 and should also pay the sum of £7 11s. 4d. for costs in that behalf; and it was thereby ordered that if the said several sums should not be paid, the same should be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the said Paul Bailey: And whereas the said Paul Bailey being so convicted as aforesaid, and being now required to pay the said sums of £5 and £7 11s. 4d. hath not paid the same, or any part thereof, but therein hath made default: These are therefore to command you, in Her Majesty's name, forthwith to make distress of the goods and chattels of the said Paul Bailey; and if within the space of six day next after making of such distress, the said sums, together with the reasonable charges of taking and keeping the distress, shall not be paid, that then you do sell the said goods and chattels so by you distrained, and do pay the money arising by such sale unto D. Dwyer the Acting Clerk of the Justices of the Peace for Nymagee, in the said Colony, that he may pay and apply the same as by law is directed, and may render the overplus (if any) on demand, to the said Paul Bailey and if no such distress can be found, then that you certify the same unto me, to the end that such further proceedings may be had thereon as to the law doth appertain.

Given under my hand and seal, this 16th day of October, 1891, at Nymagee, in the Colony aforesaid,—

Fine, £5; costs,
£7 11s. 4d.;
Order, 1s.;
Distress, 2s. 6d.;
Total,
£12 14s. 10d.

THOMAS C. K. M'KELL.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

CASE OF REGINA v. M'LEOD.

TRANSCRIPT OF THE JUDGMENT OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL AND EXTRACTS FROM THE CORRESPONDENCE ON.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 2 September, 1891.[Laid upon the Table of the House in answer to Question No. 11, of Wednesday, 2 September, 1891.]

Question.

11. MR. WISE asked THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,—

(1.) Has his attention been called to the decision of the Privy Council in the case of the Queen v. M'Leod, in which it was held that our Courts had no jurisdiction to try a case of bigamy if the bigamy had been committed out of the Colony?

(2.) Is he aware that the jurisdiction in such cases as above were conferred by the Imperial Act 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, which does not appear to have been brought to the notice of the Board?

(3.) Will he, in order to insure certainty in the administration of the Criminal Law, advise the Governor to prefer a request to Her Majesty, that the opinion of Her Majesty's Privy Council may be taken as to the important points of law and practice raised by the case of Regina v. M'Leod, as submitted by the Supreme Court?

Answer.

(1.) The attention of the Attorney-General has been directed to the decision referred to.

(2.) The Attorney-General is aware that certain jurisdiction was conferred by the Imperial Act 9 Geo. IV, cap. 31. It does not appear from the judgment of the Privy Council whether their attention was directed to this Act, but the Acting Crown Solicitor fully instructed the Crown's Agent in London on the subject in terms of the annexed extract. Application has been made to the Crown's Agent in London for a transcript of the Argument of Counsel.

3. The Attorney-General will consider whether the course suggested in the question should be adopted.

The following is a transcript of the judgment of the Privy Council and extracts from the correspondence:—

JUDGMENT.

The Lord Chancellor: The facts upon which this appeal arises are very simple. The appellant was, on the 13th of July, 1872, at Darlinghurst, in the Colony of New South Wales, married to one Mary Manson, and in her lifetime, on the 9th of May, 1889, he was married at St. Louis, in the State of Missouri in the United States of America, to another person. He was, afterwards, under circumstances which will be presently referred to, indicted, tried, and convicted in the Colony of New South Wales for the offence of bigamy, under the 54th section of the 46th Statute of Victoria (Colonial) No. 17. The statute is conceived in these words:—"Whosoever being married marries another person during the life of the former husband or wife wheresoever such second marriage takes place shall be liable to penal servitude for seven years." Those are the only material words of the statute. Now, in the first place, it is necessary to construe the word "whosoever," and, in its proper meaning, it comprehends all persons all over the world, natives of whatever country. The next word that has to be construed is "wheresoever." There is no limit of person according to one construction, and the word "wheresoever" is equally universal in its application. Therefore, if their Lordships construe the statute as it stands, and upon the bare words, any person married to any other person who marries a second time, anywhere in the habitable globe, is amenable to the criminal jurisdiction of New South Wales, if they can catch him. That seems to their Lordships a construction of the statute so entirely absurd that no one can gravely put it forward; they can have no such jurisdiction, and their Lordships do not desire to attribute to the Colonial Legislature an effort to enlarge their jurisdiction to such an absurd extent as would be inconsistent with the powers committed to a Colony, and, indeed, inconsistent with the most familiar principles of international law. One searches, therefore, for limitations to see what would be the reasonable limitation to apply to words so general. Their Lordships take it, therefore, that the words "whosoever being married" mean whosoever being married, and who is amenable at the time of the charge made to the jurisdiction of the Colony within which he may be at the time. The word "wheresoever" is more difficult to construe, but when it is remembered that in the Colony, as appears from the statutes that have been quoted to their Lordships, there are subordinate jurisdictions, some of them existing over the whole Colony, and some of them, with respect to certain classes of offences, confined within local limits of venue, it is intelligible that the 54th section may be intended to make the offence of bigamy justifiable all over the particular Colony, and that no limits of local venue are to be observed in administering the criminal law in that respect. "Wheresoever," therefore, may be read "Wheresoever in this Colony the offence is committed." It is to be remembered that the offence is the offence of marrying, the wife of the offender being already alive—going through, in fact, the ceremony of marriage to another person while he is a married man. That construction of the statute receives support from the subordinate arrangements which are to take place at the trial, because the indictment is provided as to its form and venue, and so forth, and the venue is described as New South Wales, and it is said that "New South Wales shall be a sufficient venue for all places, whether the indictment is in the Supreme Court or any other Court having criminal jurisdiction, provided that some district or place within or at or near which the offence is charged to have been committed shall be mentioned in the body of the indictment, and every such district or place shall be deemed to be in New South Wales and within the jurisdiction of the Court unless the contrary may be shown." That, by plain implication, means that the venue shall be sufficient, and that the jurisdiction shall be sufficient, unless the contrary is shown. Upon the face of this record the offence is charged to have been committed in Missouri, in the United States of America, and it, therefore, appears to their Lordships that it is manifestly shown beyond all possibility of doubt that the offence charged was an offence which, if committed at all, was committed in another country, beyond the jurisdiction of the Colony of New South Wales. The result, as it appears to their Lordships, must be that there was no jurisdiction to try the alleged offender for this offence, and their Lordships will humbly advise Her Majesty that this conviction shall be set aside. Their Lordships have hitherto treated this as upon the true construction—upon which they think the question must really depend—of the section under which the alleged offender was tried; but their Lordships think it right to add, that they are of opinion that if the wider construction had been applied to the statute, and it was supposed that it was intended to comprehend cases so wide as those insisted on at the Bar, it would be beyond the jurisdiction of the Colony to enact such a law. Their jurisdiction is confined within their territories, and the maxim which has been more than once quoted would be applicable to such a case. Lord Wensleydale, when Baron Parke, advising the House of Lords in Jeffreys v. Boosey, expresses the same proposition in very terse language. He says:—"The Legislature has no power over any person except its own subjects, that is, persons natural born subjects, or resident, or whilst they are within the limits of the kingdom. The Legislature can impose no duties except on them, and when legislating for the benefit of persons must primâ facie be considered to mean the benefit of those who owe obedience to our laws, and whose interests the Legislature is under a correlative obligation to protect." All crime is local; the jurisdiction over the crime belongs to the country where the crime is committed, and except over her own subjects Her Majesty and the Imperial Legislature has no power whatever. It appears to their Lordships that to give the wider interpretation to this statute, which can only be given if it were insisted on that this indictment could be sustained, would comprehend more than the present case, and must comprehend, by force of its language, a great deal more than Her Majesty's subjects, viz., any person who may be within the jurisdiction of the Colony by any means whatsoever; and, therefore, if that construction were given to the statute, it would follow as a necessary result that the statute was ultra vires of the Colonial Legislature to pass. Their Lordships are far from suggesting that the Legislature of the Colony did mean to give to themselves so wide a jurisdiction; the more reasonable theory to adopt is that the language was used subject to the well-known and well-considered limitation that they were only legislating for those who were actually within their jurisdiction and within the limits of the Colony. For these reasons their Lordships will humbly advise Her Majesty that this conviction should be set aside, and the respondent must pay the costs.

Re M'Cleod and Attorney-General—on appeal.

1. Extract from the Acting Crown Solicitor's letter of 30th May, 1891, addressed to Randolph C. Want, solicitor London:—

"It is to be observed, also, that the 54th section of our Criminal Law Amendment Act makes it immaterial in cases of bigamy where the second marriage takes place. And though, if the question depended on that section alone, it might be said that our Legislature had not the power to pass an Act giving jurisdiction to our Courts over an offence committed in a foreign country, there is still the Imperial Act 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, which by section 22 gives similar jurisdiction, and would be applicable to the appellant as being a British subject, as the Court unquestionably held him to be. (See Reg. v. Topping Dears, 647; 25 L.J., M.C. 72.) That section (22) was incorporated into the law of this Colony by virtue of the Imperial Act 9 Geo. IV, c. 83, s. 24, as was expressly decided by our Supreme Court in Reg. v. Packer, 3, Supreme Court Reports, p. 40, and is moreover recognised as still subsisting by our Criminal Law Amendment Act, as it is only so much of that section as relates to punishment that is repealed by that Act. (See sec. 1 and Schedule 1.) Moreover it is quite clear that if the language of an Act of Parliament unambiguously and without reasonably admitting of any other meaning applies even to foreigners abroad, or is otherwise in conflict with any principle of international law, the Courts must obey and administer it as it stands whatever

whatever may be the responsibility incurred by the nation to foreign powers in executing such a law, for the Courts cannot question the authority of Parliament or assign any limits to its powers, vide Maxwell on Interpretation of Statutes, pp. 179 and 80, second edition."

2. On the 10th July last Mr. Want wrote acknowledging receipt of this letter, and stated that "everything to which the Acting Crown Solicitor had called attention had already received counsel's careful attention."

3. In his letter of 24th July, however, in advising the result of the appeal Mr. Want omits to give any explanation of how the point had been treated in the arguments of counsel for the Crown.

4. The counsel retained for the Crown were Mr. Rigby, Q.C., one of the most able counsel in England, and Mr. E. H. Pollard, one of the Treasury counsel, who is thoroughly accustomed to such cases.

5. On the 31st ult. the Acting Crown Solicitor wrote Mr. Want acknowledging receipt of his letter, and stated that as the decision must necessarily create great dissatisfaction in this Colony with the Judicial Committee, as a Court of Appeal, and with the conduct of Crown Appeals he would be glad to have a transcript of the argument. (Copy of the letter appended).

M'Leod and Attorney-General.

Dear Sir,

Crown Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 31st August, 1891.

I am in receipt of your letter of the 24th inst. with its enclosures.

The decision must necessarily create great dissatisfaction in this Colony, and with the conduct of appeals by this Department.

In my letter of 30th May I specially called attention to the fact that the jurisdiction did not depend upon the Criminal Law Consolidation Act, but on the Imperial Act 9 George IV, cap. 31, section 22.

I called your attention to the case of Regina v. Topping, in which it was decided that under this section a British subject could be properly convicted in England of bigamy committed in Scotland, and the decision of this Court in Regina v. Packer, in which it was held that a person could be convicted here for bigamy committed in Tasmania.

In your letter of 10th July you admitted receipt of my letter, and stated that everything to which I called attention had already received counsel's careful attention, but in the report of the judgment as well as in your letter of 24th July, all reference to the real statute under which the jurisdiction was conferred appears to have been ignored.

As the decision in question will create the greatest dissatisfaction in this Colony with the Judicial Committee, as a Court of Appeal, and with this office as conducting the Crown appeals, and is sure to be brought up in Parliament and in the press, I shall be glad if you will send me a transcript of the arguments so that I can satisfy the authorities here that the case was properly argued.

Yours faithfully,

For JOHN WILLIAMS,
Crown Solicitor,
R.S.

Randolph C. Want, Esq., Solicitor, &c.,

Transcript of the shorthand notes of Messrs. Martin and Meredith, 13, New Inn, Strand, W.C.

Mr. FULLARTON, Q.C., appeared as counsel for the appellant, instructed by Messrs. Yielding, Barlow, and Piper; Mr. Rigby, Q.C., and Mr. Pollard appeared as counsel for the respondent, instructed by Mr. Randolph C. Want.

Mr. Fullarton: My Lords, this is an appeal from a judgment of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, sustaining a conviction upon a charge of bigamy tried at the Court of Quarter Sessions holden at Darlinghurst, in the Colony of New South Wales, in which Court the appellant was convicted of bigamy, and was sentenced to three years’ imprisonment with hard labour, and also against the conviction and sentence of the said Court of Quarter Sessions aforesaid. The information upon which the appellant was tried, and I should say that, according to their law, the information takes the place of an indictment, will be found at page 3 of the record. It is as follows:—William Lockyer Merewether, Esq., being the officer duly appointed to prosecute for Her Majesty in this behalf, by virtue of the Act in such case made, being present at the Court of Quarter Sessions at Sydney, on the 27th day of May, in the year 1890, charges that John McLeod, on the 13th day of July, in the year 1872, at Darling Point, in the Colony of New South Wales, did marry Mary Manson, and that the said John McLeod, while he was so married, did, on the 8th day of May, in the year 1889, at St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, in the United States of America, marry Mary Elizabeth Cameron, the said Mary Manson hereinbefore mentioned being then alive. My Lords, the facts which it is necessary to bear in mind, in this case are, fortunately, extremely few, and they are not in contest, as far as I am aware. The first fact is this, that, as the Lord Chief Justice says, in the judgment which we appeal against, it is fairly to be gathered from the evidence that the prisoner’s domicile of origin was Scotland. His father still resides in the Island of Lewis, in the Northern Hebrides of Scotland, and to his father’s house he took his wife upon his marriage. It does not appear at what date the appellant first visited New South Wales.

636—A

Lord

Lord Watson : Was he domiciled in New South Wales at the date of the marriage?

Mr. Fullarton : I submit not, but I am bound to say the Lord Chief Justice, dealing with the evidence, which is very short, and which your Lordships will be able to judge of for yourselves in a moment, says at page 27, "It may be gathered from the evidence that the prisoner's domicile of origin was Scotland, and that at the time he contracted the first marriage he had abandoned such domicile and became domiciled in New South Wales. Be that as it may, it is clear that he abandoned the New South Wales domicile, if acquired, and thus the domicile of origin again arose." I think your Lordships will be of opinion that it is by no means clear that he ever acquired a New South Wales domicile at all, even temporarily; but most certainly if he did acquire it, it was abandoned long before the act complained of, which is the foundation of this accusation.

The Lord Chancellor : I do not quite see what the question of his domicile has to do with it. If you are attempting to upset the first marriage on the ground that it was bad for some reason or other, possibly his domicile might have something to do with it; but the crime complained of is one committed in St. Louis, is not it?

Mr. Fullarton : It is.

The Lord Chancellor : It is bigamy.

Mr. Fullarton : Yes.

The Lord Chancellor : I should have thought the far more serious question was whether there was any jurisdiction to try a man for an offence committed in a foreign country. This domicile has nothing to do with that.

Mr. Fullarton : I should submit that even if his domicile were New South Wales it would found no jurisdiction. I was only meeting the possibility that they might try to found jurisdiction on the consideration of domicile in New South Wales. I do not think it would hold water.

The Lord Chancellor : The question is on what principle of international law, or Colonial law, or English law, you can try an offence committed out of the country.

Lord Hobhouse : The question of domicile is only gone into with reference to the divorce in Mexico, I suppose.

Mr. Fullarton : Yes.

The Lord Chancellor : What is the criminal jurisdiction in New South Wales; are there counties there which have jurisdiction within the county and not beyond?

Mr. Fullarton : There are districts.

The Lord Chancellor : That is the unit of criminal jurisdiction.

Mr. Fullarton : Yes; and in those districts there are Courts which are not superior courts, and the Judge of that Court is also the Chairman of Quarter Sessions, which is an older jurisdiction than those District Courts, which are similar to our County Courts. The Judge of the County Court is also the Chairman of Quarter Sessions. The Quarter Sessions were originally, as we shall show your Lordships, created in New South Wales by an Imperial statute with the same jurisdiction as English County Courts.

The Lord Chancellor : What I meant was that the unit of criminal jurisdiction is what you call the district?

Mr. Fullarton : I do not like to say that.

Lord Watson : Can a judge in one district try an offence committed in another?

Mr. Fullarton : That does not clearly appear from the Acts. I will draw your attention to the Act, but in my opinion it does not clearly appear from them. I should like to show your Lordships what the course of legislation on that subject has been.

The Lord Chancellor : Can Mr. Pollard tell us what the unit of criminal jurisdiction in the Colony of New South Wales is?

Mr. Pollard : My Lord, I have in vain endeavoured to find it from the Acts. I think the full jurisdiction is given to the Court of Quarter Sessions to try anybody who may be found within its district.

The Lord Chancellor : That may be. That may be a specific enactment, and so there is in England both in bigamy and in forgery. Although in England those offences are local primarily, and at common law could only be tried at the place where they are committed, yet for those two crimes, forgery and bigamy, a person can be tried wherever found.

Mr. Pollard : I think my friend will agree that the Court of Quarter Sessions is by the local Legislature empowered to try all crimes.

Mr. Fullarton : All crimes not punishable with death. There we are quite agreed; but that only goes to the class of Act not to the area of jurisdiction.

The Lord Chancellor : It may have a bearing. I wanted to know whether there was any such local jurisdiction as we have in England. At common law you cannot try a person in one county for an offence committed in another.

Mr. Fullarton : My friend agrees that it does not appear clearly, but as your Lordships may think differently, the best way will be to call your attention at once to the section which we both of us think extremely dark on this point. These Courts are founded by an Imperial statute, 9th George IV, cap. 83, section 17, which is as follows:—"And be it further enacted that it shall and may be lawful for the Governors of New South Wales and Van Diemen's Land respectively, with the advice and consent of their respective Legislative Councils, to institute Courts of General and Quarter Sessions within the said colonies by ordinances to be from time to time for that purpose made and enacted as hereinafter mentioned, and to give and grant to such Courts power and authority to take cognisance in a summary way of all crimes, misdemeanours, and other offences or misconduct not punishable by death which have been or shall be committed by any felons or other offenders who have been or shall be transposed to the said colonies respectively, and whose sentences have not expired." That, of course, does not touch us, and also to give and grant to such Courts power and authority to take cognisance of all matters and things cognisable in Courts of General and Quarter Sessions in England, so far as the circumstances and condition of the said Colony shall require and admit.

Lord Watson : That is very precise. You have, in order to ascertain whether the existing Courts have jurisdiction, to inquire whether an English Court would have jurisdiction.

Mr. Fullarton : Yes; they would have to do so with regard to all the crimes they could inquire into. It certainly is somewhat dark.

Lord Hobhouse : Is this the latest Act which gives legislative powers to the Colony. Mr.

Mr. Fullarton : No, my Lord ; that was followed by the 10th George IV No. 7 of the Colony, which was made under the powers of this Act, as your Lordship sees, only gave them power to make them, and now they are made by the 10th George IV, No. 7.

Lord Watson : What is the section of the former Act which gives the power ?

Mr. Fullarton : This Act recites 9th George IV, and then it says in the first section, "That Courts of General and Quarter Sessions for the Colony of New South Wales, shall be holden in and at the following places, that is to say, in the County of Argyle, at Cookbundoon, Goulburn Plains, and Inverary respectively, in the County of Bathurst at Bathurst ; in the County of Camden at Bong Bong ; Shoalhaven, Stone Quarry Creek and Wollongong or Kiama respectively, in the County of Cumberland at Bringelly, Brisbane Water, Campbelltown, Liverpool, Parramatta, Penrith, Sydney, Windsor, and Wiseman's Ferry respectively in the County of Gloucester," it appears to have been divided into counties and then they give the different places in each county at which they are to be held, "at Carrabeen, Port Stephens on Hunter River, at Maitland, Merton, Newcastle, Paterson's Plains, Patrick's Plains, and Luskintyre and Segenhoe respectively in the County of Londonderry at Wellington Valley."

Lord Watson : What you are reading is simply an ordinance of the Governor ?

Mr. Fullarton : Yes ; there was no other legislature in New South Wales at the time. It goes on in section 2, "And be it further enacted that the said Courts of General and Quarter Sessions, shall have power and authority to take cognisance of all matters and things cognisable in Courts of General and Quarter Sessions in England, so far as the circumstances and condition of the said Colony shall require and admit."

Lord Hobhouse : This merely establishes the Courts which, by the Imperial Act, they had power to establish.

Sir Richard Couch : As you read it, "A Court of Quarter Sessions for the Colony of New South Wales," it is one Court of Quarter Sessions to be held in different places.

Mr. Fullarton : That is just the question. It orders different Courts to be held in different counties.

Sir Richard Couch : If you read it again it is rather one Court held at different places not separate Courts of Quarter Sessions.

Mr. Fullarton : That is one of the questions to be determined. I must say that I feel a doubt myself about it. It might be made very much clearer by one word. I have not been able quite to satisfy my own mind. My Lords, there was another Act of 3rd William IV No. 3, which created a number of other Courts and named a number of other places in which Courts of Quarter Sessions should be held for certain counties.

Lord Watson : It is obviously a separate Court by the terms of the Act, "Whereas it is expedient that a person possessing competent knowledge of the law should be appointed to act as Chairman. "There must be one Chairman," of the several Courts of Quarter Sessions in the Colony. Be it therefore enacted that the Justices of the districts hereinafter mentioned, for which Courts of Quarter Sessions are hereby appointed, that is to say, of the Districts of Parramatta, Windsor, Campbelltown, and Maitland respectively shall, and they are hereby required to assemble at their respective Court-houses, or usual places of meeting on the second Tuesday in the month of October next at 12 o'clock, and the justices of each district so assembled there at the least being present shall nominate the justice qualified as aforesaid, whom they may desire to be appointed Chairman, and a minute of such nomination, signed by all the magistrates then present, shall be forthwith transmitted by them to the Colonial Secretary."

The Lord Chancellor : I should like to call your attention to this—how can this become material ? If this marriage was celebrated in one of the districts, and the question arose whether the other district had jurisdiction to try him it would be intelligible how this question should become material ; but this is a marriage celebrated in St. Louis. What has that to do with the question of the intermediate divisions of jurisdiction in New South Wales itself ?

Mr. Fullarton : It is plain that those are Courts anyhow of local, and also of Imperial jurisdiction.

Lord Watson : The question that arises here is the same question which would arise if this had been tried in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Fullarton : Yes, it is identical, no doubt.

The Lord Chancellor : It may have some bearing in this sense ; that to continue the New South Wales statute which gives jurisdiction over the whole Colony, and in words which but for that question might be supposed to extend beyond the Colony, it may have a bearing upon that to say that what they were really dealing with was not anything wider than their own territory, but only the subordinate jurisdiction within their territory.

Mr. Fullarton : That is I submit the only real materiality in this case. It makes it so preposterous.

The Lord Chancellor : There is a more important question still behind, suppose that in plain terms the New South Wales Legislature had enacted that bigamy committed in America should be subject to their jurisdiction would that make it so ?

Mr. Fullarton : I submit that the Queen's assent to the Act gives no validity to such an Act.

Lord Watson : They could not go beyond the limits in that statute. They do not profess to. It is all in the exercise of the powers of the Act George IV. They could not give themselves jurisdiction all over the world.

Mr. Fullarton : No.

Lord Watson : Even if they intended to do it, which I greatly doubt.

Mr. Fullarton : It is fair to say for the other side, that they no doubt rely upon the New South Wales Act 18 and 19 Victoria Cap. 54, which created the Legislature of New South Wales. The section which creates the Legislature is in the following terms :—There shall be in place of the Legislative Council now subsisting, &c. [The counsel read the section down to the words, "The said Colony in all cases whatsoever."] Can it be argued that those terms being large terms, and terms proper to give what may be called a general legislative authority, are large enough to give the New South Wales Legislature power to arrogate to themselves to try foreigners for crimes committed out of the jurisdiction if it can only catch them for the purpose of trial within the jurisdiction.

The Lord Chancellor : There is no such Act of Parliament known to the English law.

Mr. Fullarton : No. The principle of English law has been laid down.

Mr. Pollard : The Lord Chancellor asked me about it. There is an Imperial Act of 9th Geo. IV Cap. 31, which was passed, and in operation before the 9th Geo. IV Cap. 83, which it is contended by the respondent respondent here imports into the Colony the identical clause which afterwards was substantively enacted giving the Courts their power to try the offence of bigamy wherever the second marriage was.

The Lord Chancellor: The offence of bigamy?

Mr. Pollard: Yes.

The Lord Chancellor: The offence against whom?

Mr. Pollard: Of course the act was in England, and part of the Imperial Act was for the consolidation of the law relating to criminal offences.

The Lord Chancellor: Just so. How can you legislate in respect of supposed crime committed in another country?

Mr. Pollard: It is an Imperial Act.

The Lord Chancellor: What then?

Mr. Pollard: It only affects British subjects.

The Lord Chancellor: If it only affects British subjects, then do you say the Colony has power to legislate in respect of British subjects not in the Colony.

Mr. Pollard: My friend was passing on to a later statute in point of date.

Mr. Fullarton: May I call attention to this, because I want to found an argument upon it.

Lord Watson: All that the Imperial Legislature assumed that there was power to legislate as to British subjects, and British subjects only in Her Majesty's possessions. This is rather wider. He suggests that this is to be exercised over all foreign countries. This Act of Geo. IV does not profess to establish any right to try for any offence, any except British subjects who commit the offence on Imperial soil.

Mr. Fullarton: The monstrosity of it is this, when you contract it with the British legislation that whereas the Imperial Parliament has never attempted to do this thing, but has strictly limited the trial of any British subject for crimes committed out of the jurisdiction, even where it has enlarged it by statute to British subjects—persons otherwise amenable to the authority of the Court by allegiance and by domicile.

Lord Watson: If they have that power, I do not see why they should stop there. I do not see why they should constitute offences in France, which are not otherwise offences.

Mr. Fullarton: It is plain that they are forbidden to go beyond by the laws of county of nations, and by the principle that leads every nation to leave to the country in which the crime is committed the punishment of that crime.

Lord Watson: That is another view, but the two things seemed to me to depend on the same, and it would really come to this that if a man happened to spend a month or two in Australia, and then went to France and violated not the Criminal Law of France, but a law laid down for France by the Imperial Legislature of the Colony, he would be triable in New South Wales when he went back.

Lord Hobhouse: At present I confess I have not heard the case stated either the facts or the law, or the application of the law to the facts.

The Lord Chancellor: I understand the facts are very simple indeed. The fact is a man is re-married at St. Louis, after having been married in New South Wales.

Lord Watson: The facts are on the face of the information.

Mr. Fullarton: I will read the evidence whenever your Lordships please.

The Lord Chancellor: My noble and learned friend does not seem to be satisfied with that short statement. You had better state the facts.

Mr. Fullarton: I can state them very shortly. The only other material facts that appear are what is not in contest. At page 6 your Lordships will find the evidence. In January of 1872, his wife, Mary McLeod, first met him in the Colony of New South Wales, and on the 21st of July, 1872, at Darling Point she was married to him.

The Lord Chancellor: Stop there for a moment. You do not doubt the validity of that marriage.

Mr. Fullarton: Not in the least.

The Lord Chancellor: And you do not deny that that person is still alive?

Mr. Fullarton: Not in the least.

The Lord Chancellor: We may start at least from that point.

Mr. Fullarton: Perfectly. Then it appears, my Lords, that in a very short time calculated by months. After the marriage he took his wife to Scotland where his father and sisters were. In about two months he went to Canada, leaving his wife at his father's home, and she joined him three months afterwards in Canada, where they lived for four years. Then when they left Canada, he came back to Scotland, to Glasgow. Then he went to the Isle of Dardines in the north of Scotland, which I submit is clearly a misprint for Harris—the lower part of the Lewis Islands. He stayed there for twelve months, then he came to Auckland in New Zealand, still out of the jurisdiction of the Courts. Then he came back to Sydney in 1887, and this is the only visit he pays to Sydney in the interval. It is not a long one because you find that he goes from there to San Francisco in America, and from there to Boston. He then moves from Boston to New York, and from there to London in this county. His wife leaves him, and goes to an hotel at Hasting on the 25th June, 1888, the whole of those journeyings and visits to four or five places in America having been since 1887. She goes back to Sydney, and he remains in this country. He next turns up in America—that your Lordships will see at page 8; he goes back to America and Mary Cameron. That is to say, the second wife gives this evidence. She says I was living with my parents in America in 1888. I see the prisoner; saw him in October; he came as a doctor, and that he said he was a minister; he was a daily visitor after; during that time he was paying his addresses to me. I returned his attentions, and we became engaged to be married. He went away, and on the 18th March, he came back again, and then there is the description of what happened. After prisoner returned, I told him I had heard he had another wife. He said he had another wife; but she had died a happy death in England; he said they had lived together eleven years. He continued to visit, and on the 8th May was married at my father's house by the Rev. Dr. Adams. I have heard him preach, and seen him officiating in a Congregational Church at Compton Hill, near father's place; he was officiating there eleven years; my father and mother and brother and sisters were present, and several friends and prisoner, and the Rev. Dr. Adams. I did not sign any paper at the time, nor did prisoner. Dr. Adams made an exhortation, and joined our hands, and asked would he take me as his wedded wife; he said, "I will." I was asked if I would take him as my wedded husband, and I said "Yes," and Dr. Adams put the ring on my my finger where it now is. Dr. Adams then asked a blessing on the marriage, and the ceremony ended, and we left that day for New York. The prisoner's conduct to me was not good. I remained with him six months. Then she leaves him. The only other evidence of where he is from letters dated from San Francisco, and afterwards from Auckland, in New Zealand, which shows that he lived some time in America, away from her, and then went to Auckland. When he was in Auckland an application was made to extradite him. The facts are identical with those set out in the Order in Council in which the leave to raise this question was given. It is at page 2 of the appellant's case. The appellant is not a native of New South Wales, and was not, at the date of the alleged bigamous act, nor at any subsequent or other material time, domiciled in or a citizen of New South Wales, nor was he at the date of the said information, or of his committal thereunder, resident in or voluntarily within the territory of New South Wales. Nor was he, at the date of his original arrest upon the said charge, within the territory of New South Wales at all. Shortly before the date of the said information, to wit, on the 18th March, 1890, the appellant was arrested in Napier, in the Colony of New Zealand.

Lord Watson: Suppose, instead of going to all those places, he had stayed in the Colony after the marriage, and had entered into a bigamous marriage would it materially affect this question of jurisdiction.

Mr. Fullarton: I submit there is no jurisdiction in any of these cases.

The Lord Chancellor: I cannot make out where the jurisdiction is.

Lord Watson: The jurisdiction undoubtedly is in the place where he commits the offence.

Mr. Fullarton: There is this difficulty or monstrosity, that the authorities are conclusive that in cases of crime the lex loci governs the question of whether it is a crime or not.

Lord Watson: It governs not only the question whether it is a crime or not, but the question of punishment, and everything else. If this judgment is right a man might commit an offence in a State which is punishable by a fine, with an alternative of imprisonment, and he might go back to New South Wales, and that is all he incurs by offending against the law of the country where he happens to be, but when he comes back to New South Wales the Legislature might, in its wisdom, say he should be hanged for it.

Mr. Fullarton: How are they to apply the law of foreign States in Courts where the lex loci is unknown. It is a monstrous proposition.

Lord Hobhouse: Is there no law on this subject in New South Wales excepting the law which gives the Courts power simply to try cases of bigamy.

Mr. Fullarton: None beyond this.

Mr. Pollard: I do not know whether it is proper to ask a question, but it was rather startling to hear from my learned friend just now that your Lordships have given the leave to appeal, and to raise this point of jurisdiction.

The Lord Chancellor: This point was raised upon the application for leave to appeal, and I very much doubt, in fact, if the leave to appeal would have been given on the other point but for the fact that this point was mentioned.

Mr. Pollard: Is not my learned friend precluded from raising the question.

The Lord Chancellor: I do not think that can prevent him contending anything.

Lord Hobhouse: This point certainly was open.

Lord Watson: I do not think any Court would permit an act to be done which was plainly done without jurisdiction.

Mr. Fullarton: I really fail to understand what my learned friend proposes to do.

The Lord Chancellor: It is a question of jurisdiction.

Mr. Fullarton: The objection to the jurisdiction, especially where it is admittedly a Court of Imperial jurisdiction that gave the sentence is clearly an objection, you can take at any time. It was taken here.

The Lord Chancellor: If there is anything in the point, and Mr. Pollard urges it, you have a right to reply. You need not trouble yourself about that now. I think my noble friend opposite me was asking for the New South Wales Act, under which they profess to have acted in trying this case.

Mr. Fullarton: Yes. In the first place, by the 22nd Victoria No. 18, section 25, this provision was made. "The Acts of Council 10 Geo. IV No. 7, 3rd Victoria No. 10, and the 16 Victoria No. 36, so far as they relate to the election, nomination, and appointment of a Chairman of Quarter Sessions, shall be repealed, and it shall be lawful for the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, by commission, to appoint the Judge of any District Court to be the Chairman of any Court of General or of Quarter Sessions to be holden within the limits of the district for which he shall have been appointed, and every such Chairman shall be the sole judge at the trial of all criminal issues in such Courts, and in all matters relating to any information filed therein for any felony or misdemeanour, and all such Courts of General and Quarter Sessions shall possess jurisdiction in respect of all crimes and misdemeanours not punishable with death, anything in any law or statute to the contrary notwithstanding.

Lord Hobhouse: Those are only general powers.

Mr. Fullarton: That gives the power to try for bigamy, because it is not punishable with death. Then the section as to bigamy enlarges or attempts to enlarge the area in a subsequent Act, the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1883, for the Colony of New South Wales, 46 Vic. No. 17, section 54. The words are as follows:—"Whosoever being married marries another person during the life of the former husband or wife, wheresoever such second marriage takes place, shall be liable to penal servitude for seven years. Provided that no person shall be convicted under this section whose husband or wife has, at the time of such second marriage, been continually absent from such person for the space of seven years, or, if domiciled in this Colony at the time of the first marriage, has been continually absent from the Colony for the space of five years then last past, and was on reasonable grounds believed by the accused at the time of the second marriage not to be living, of which facts the proofs shall lie on the accused."

The Lord Chancellor: The whole point there is word "Wheresoever."

Mr. Fullarton: Yes.

The Lord Chancellor: Whether you must limit that to the Colony, or whether it means all over the world. There is an equivalent Act in England.

Mr.

Mr. Fullarton: I call your Lordships attention to this fact, that whereas it is quite clear to anyone reading this section 54 that the draftsman has been in a certain loose sense following the English Act which is 24 and 25 Victoria, cap. 100, sec. 57, there is this enormous difference between even the Imperial Act and the New South Wales Act that the Imperial Act most carefully limits it in this way: "Provided that nothing in this section contained shall extend to any second marriage contracted elsewhere than in England and Ireland by any other than a subject of Her Majesty," so as to limit it to the natural authority of the Courts; but there is no such limitation embodied in the New South Wales Act.

The Lord Chancellor: Suppose there had not been that limitation, do you think it could have received any other exposition.

Mr. Fullarton: I submit not. It is put in ex majori cantela; but it is too monstrous to suppose that "whosoever" in any penal Act in England means whosoever in the wide world, whether subjects of Her Majesty or not, that it is a crime anywhere within the wide world, whether within the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts or not. It really speaks for itself, it is so preposterous.

The Lord Chancellor: I think you have rather understated the effect of the Imperial Act, 24 and 25 Vic., cap. 100. I thought it would be so, and I see it is so. It extends to Ireland, and, therefore, it is quite intelligible to say either in England or Ireland, because the Act extends to both. It is an English and an Irish Act. It does not extend to Scotland, and, therefore, Scotland is not put in.

Mr. Fullarton: Just so. It does not think it necessary to add those words about Scotland. The ambit of the Act is England and Ireland.

Sir Richard Couch: There is this section 57.

The Lord Chancellor: Just try that. Do you suppose that would apply to Scotland? I should not think so.

Mr. Fullarton: My Lords, there is another section to which I ought to draw your attention which, it is material to consider in justice to the draftsman, that is, section 309, 46 Vic. No. 17, which is the venue section. That section is as follows:—"New South Wales shall be a sufficient venue for all places, whether the indictment is in the Supreme Court, or any other Court having criminal jurisdiction. Provided that some district or place within or at, or near which the offence is charged to have been committed shall be mentioned in the body of the indictment, and every such district shall be deemed to be in New South Wales, and within the jurisdiction of the Court, unless the contrary be shown." It appears on the very face of this venue that it is in a foreign country, and not near New South Wales, so that on the face of the indictment it is bad.

Lord Watson: What is the meaning of the words at the end, "and every such district or place shall be deemed to be in New South Wales, and within the jurisdiction of the Court, unless the contrary be shown." What I mean is this: That shows that there was to be some extension. The information indictment may fail if the place is shown not to be in New South Wales. That is the meaning of it.

Mr. Fullarton: It is plain what the meaning and intention of it is.

Lord Watson: My impression is it all turns on what the draftsman or really what the Legislature meant by the word "wheresoever." It may be read as "wheresoever" within the bounds of New South Wales. That was entirely within the power of the Legislature. If it means wheresoever in the world, at the north pole or elsewhere, or anywhere in Russia, or in the world, it is a remarkable enactment, and I should doubt whether it is in the competency of any Legislature to pass it.

Mr. Fullarton: Certainly there are astounding features in this Act. On the occasion when I addressed the Court before on this subject the Lord Chancellor drew attention to another subject as bearing on this question which I ought to mention, and that is, the similar provisions with regard to murder. It is a curious thing. They are both open to exactly the same class of objections, and even there are divisions that this could not be done in England under the similar Imperial statutes, sections 9 and 10 of the 46th Victoria, say, this section 9 says, "Whosoever commits the crime of murder shall be liable to suffer death," and then it goes on to say that murder shall be—section says, "Where, in case of homicide, the cause of death happened on the sea, or elsewhere out of this Colony, but the death was in this Colony, or the cause of death happened in this Colony, but the death was on the sea, or elsewhere out of this Colony, the offence may be dealt with in all respects as if the same had been wholly committed within this Colony."

The Lord Chancellor: I am sorry to appear to have stated that, as you say I did. That question I think had better be reserved until it arises. I should hesitate to say whether it would be within the competency of this Court I should rather reserve that.

Lord Watson: They seem to regard death as a sort of continuance of the Act.

The Lord Chancellor: It raises curious metaphysical questions, which I think you had better reserve till they arise.

Mr. Fullarton: On the similar section in the Imperial Act it has been decided in the Queen v. Lewis that "if one foreigner inflicts a blow on another foreigner in a foreign vessel on the high seas, and the person so struck in a few days afterwards lands in England, and dies there, the homicide is not cognisable by the Courts of this country, by virtue of the statute 9 George IV, cap. 31 section 8," and the reason Mr. Justice Willes gives for that really goes to our case as well he says:—"We are of opinion that the conviction is wrong, and ought to be quashed. The 8th section of 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, was obviously intended to prevent a defeat of justice, which, without it, might have arisen from the difficulty of trial in cases of homicide, where the death occurs in a different place from that at which the blow causing it was given; and that section ought not, therefore, to be construed as making a homicide cognisable in the Courts of this country by reason of the death occurring here unless it would have been so cognisable in case the death had ensued at the place where the blow was given, which the homicide in this particular case would have been by the 7th section if the offender had been a British subject, but not otherwise. In the present case the injury which caused the death was inflicted by one foreigner upon another on board a foreign vessel upon the high seas, and consequently, if death had then and there followed, no offence cognisable by the laws of this country would have taken place. The 8th section of 9 Geo. IV, cap. 31, therefore, is inapplicable, and unless it be the conviction cannot be sustained." The true principle has been laid down by the same great Judge, Mr. Justice Willes, in the following words, Keiley v. Belt, in Foster v. Finlayson, page 790:—"It is the general rule and principle of law that crime is local in its trial and that offences are to be tried where they are alleged to have been committed, a principle of universal application." The same rule is applied as to the law that is to regulate it by Lord Brougham, in Sloane v. Sloane, in 9th

Bligh,

Bligh, when he says:—"The lex loci must needs govern all criminal jurisdiction from the nature of the thing and the purpose of that jurisdiction." In 4th Taunton, page 43, Mr. Justice Heath says:—"It has been generally understood that wheresoever a crime has been committed the criminal is punishable according to the lex loci of the country against the law of which the crime was committed." That simply means that if he is found in any other place the proper course is to surrender him to trial and let him be tried by the law of the country where the crime was committed. I do not think I need add any more upon that point. I do not know whether your Lordships desire me to go on with the second point now. [Counsel were directed to withdraw and after a short time were readmitted.]

The Lord Chancellor: Their Lordships would like to hear the first point of jurisdiction argued out before forming any judgment about the second part.

Mr. Rigby: My Lords, I am with Mr. Pollard in this case. Of course, the point raised is a very important one, and, at the same time, a very short one indeed. My submission would be that our Imperial Parliament has given full legislative powers. Of course, I cannot say that they can give to a Colony a greater power than they themselves possess, but that they have given full legislative power in these matters to the Colony, and that if it be right for one Legislature to provide that persons who come within the jurisdiction shall be tried for offences committed outside Her Majesty's dominions, then, by virtue of the plenary power that they give to the Colony, it must be right in the Colony also. Now, as a matter of fact, in our legislation we do with respect to this very class of cases—cases of bigamy—we do, in language effectually the same as that which is to be found in the Colonial statutes, give our Courts here jurisdiction to try persons for bigamy wherever the second marriage has been committed, I submit there is really no reason why that should not be. Criminal jurisdiction must depend, so far as international questions are concerned at any rate, upon the question whether the person is justitie and is within the jurisdiction of the Court with reference to the question where the crime has been committed. I venture to say, first of all, taking our own subjects, what can there be ultra vires; what can there be otherwise than in accordance with all ideas of international law in this, that if we choose to say that we will try our own subjects here for a bigamy committed, we will say in this very State of Missouri, equally outside the jurisdiction of English Courts and New South Wales Courts.

Lord Watson: What do you mean by the word "subject"? How does a man become a subject of the Colony?

Mr. Rigby: I was beginning with our own law; I take the case because it is a case analagous to the present one of a man who is married in England who has afterwards gone out and married again in Missouri; and the question is can the English Legislature say not, "We will bring that man from Missouri," or anything of the sort, but "If he shows himself within our jurisdiction," if he is actually here, we will try him for the offence which he has committed—an offence which certainly has relation to the morals of our inhabitants here. If a man cannot be indicted for bigamy in that way, all that he has to do is to leave the State or the country where the bigamy was committed and then be free altogether ever afterwards unless he comes back.

The Lord Chancellor: I am afraid that observation goes a little wider, does it not? All the man has to do, apart from Extradition Acts, is to commit a felony in this country and to go to other countries, and he is free.

Mr. Rigby: No doubt that is so, but still it may be that our Legislature have not taken upon themselves, in cases of that kind, a jurisdiction. But what is to prevent them doing it? I am talking of a matter for the consideration of Parliament.

The Lord Chancellor: The power of the Imperial Legislature over Her Majesty's subjects, I suppose, would not be disputed to extend all over the world.

Mr. Rigby: And if we choose to say we will try Her Majesty's subjects for a matter of that sort just as you try an offence committed elsewhere than in Her Majesty's dominions, if our Parliament with respect to Her Majesty's subjects chooses to say what is in fact said, "We will try a man for the offence of bigamy if we find the man here, although the second marriage may have taken place in a foreign country," I venture to say that it is impossible for any Court of this kingdom to look behind that or to say that Parliament was exercising a power which it did not possess. What can there be to begin with as regards the Imperial Legislature; what limit is there to the power when interpreted in this Court?

The Lord Chancellor: I do not think anybody would deny that. If the Imperial Legislature has power to legislate for British subjects all over the world, I take it any Imperial Court—a British Court—must recognise the power of Parliament to pass that law.

Mr. Rigby: Then here the legislation goes to this, that the trial for bigamy may take place wherever the second marriage was celebrated.

The Lord Chancellor: First of all we must construe these words. I think it is even more in your favour than you put it. It is "wheresoever." Must not you construe those words?

Mr. Rigby: No doubt; but I venture to think they are to be construed rather upon their regular and general meaning than upon any supposition that Parliament did not mean to say what was said—the words being, "Whosoever being married marries another person in the life."

The Lord Chancellor: Now, stop there a minute. Take the first words. Those are not unimportant. "Whosoever." You must construe that word, must not you?

Mr. Rigby: I must.

The Lord Chancellor: "Whosoever" and "wheresoever" would give jurisdiction to try everyone for bigamy committed anywhere.

Mr. Rigby: That is so; but he must be here; you cannot try him in his absence.

The Lord Chancellor: Do you so construe the statute to say that, although both marriages were elsewhere, and both parties were foreigners.

Mr. Rigby: In the first place I treat it in this way: "Wheresoever the second marriage takes place," may limit it. It may be that on the construction of that the question where the first marriage takes place may be important. I was confining myself in my first observation to British subjects, but then I take it as a matter of actual jurisdiction those who are temporarily in this country subject themselves to all the jurisdiction that our Courts exercise over their own subjects. Then in that sense I read "whosoever" as meaning a person who is within the jurisdiction for the purposes of the trial.

The Lord Chancellor: That is what I suppose you did mean. Then that leaves quite untouched the question of the first marriage. The first and second marriage, by that construction, may both have been in foreign countries, and both may be foreigners.

Mr. Rigby: That is so.

The Lord Chancellor: And if caught in New South Wales they may be tried.

Mr.

Mr. Rigby : No ; I should say it would leave it open to consideration whether it was not meant by implication to say that the locus of the first marriage may be a matter of importance. It would be a strange thing to construe this where the proviso says, "Wherever such marriage takes place," as saying that that means wherever the other of the marriages takes place. The expression of the one excludes the other. I do think it is a reasonable and proper construction to say the locus of the second marriage is not to be important as regards the question of jurisdiction. With reference to the first marriage, somehow or other by construction, it will appear that the locus of the first marriage is a matter of importance, and I see reason for it, because we must have some sort of offence committed to our country, as it were, and it probably implies that the offence of the second marriage is an injury done with regard to the matrimonial rights acquired by the first marriage.

The Lord Chancellor : It does not affect the first marriage the least bit in the world.

Mr. Rigby : It does not affect the existence of it.

The Lord Chancellor : If you refer to the matrimonial relation existing between the parties, what is the difference between an adulterous connection and a bigamous connection ?

Mr. Rigby : The one is a crime and the other is not.

The Lord Chancellor : I am not talking of it with reference to the supposed injury to the first wife.

Mr. Rigby : Yes ; but the one is a crime which the law looks upon as within the category of a criminal offence.

Lord Watson : But not an offence against the wife.

Mr. Rigby : I should say a very grave offence.

Lord Watson : Is it an offence against public morality ?

Mr. Rigby : It may be both.

Lord Watson : Well, it is both.

Mr. Rigby : The one involves criminality, the other not. It may be that on other States, and at other times, that has been made a crime. It is not so with us. I do not want to insist upon it. It is not an offence against the matrimonial laws of our country, under which a man incapacitates himself from remarrying, and, of course, though no doubt adultery or fornication may be in one sense equally injurious to the first wife. Yet——

Lord Watson : The first wife obtains civilly only the same remedy for the one as for the other.

Mr. Rigby : That is so. They are treated on a perfect equality so far as the wife is entitled to any civil remedy.

The Lord Chancellor : A bigamous marriage, without cruelty, would give you a title to a divorce.

Mr. Rigby : I am obliged to your Lordship for that observation, because it does show that in the eye of the law, for certain purposes, the second marriage is looked upon a wrong done to the public ; but, however it may be, I am only in the first place trying to see what our Legislature has laid down.

The Lord Chancellor : No, doubt ; but the whole question, as it strikes me, is this : If you have those words, and you construe them in one way, and you show that the Colony, construing them one way, would be acting amply within its jurisdiction, and over those who are within the local and territorial limits of their legislation, it would be intelligible that they should attempt to deal with that, and with that only. If you construe it in another way, which would be inconsistent with the whole course both of English law and of international law, really it is more reasonable to give them the other construction. Is not that the point ?

Mr. Rigby : I understand the suggestion, "wheresoever" within Her Majesty's dominions, the second marriage takes place.

The Lord Chancellor : Within the Colonial dominions, I should say.

Mr. Rigby : I am dealing first with our own statutes.

Lord Watson : Her Majesty and Parliament seem to stand in the same relation in which the Colony stands.

Mr. Rigby : I feel the force of that.

Sir Richard Couch : The Colony has the power of legislating for the peace, order, and good government of the Colony.

Mr. Rigby : I suppose all criminal matters are included in that, so it is equivalent to saying that you can legislate—of course, within proper bounds, as the Imperial Parliament would legislate—and if, upon the construction of this, it appears that the Imperial Parliament has legislated.

Lord Watson : What occurs to me is this : Reading the Colonial statute as you suggest we should do, it would be actually depriving the Courts of England of their jurisdiction in an offence committed in England, or you would be constituting two cumulative offences. They would be Courts of concurrent jurisdiction, and the man could be punished a second time. Suppose a man commits bigamy in England, he is punishable in England whenever he gets there. Where have the Legislature given the Colony any right to interfere and oust their jurisdiction over that man.

Mr. Rigby : I do not know, unless it be laid down.

Lord Watson : Unless you are going to maintain that he is to be punishable twice.

The Lord Chancellor : As my noble and learned friend puts that point to you, it is a striking mode of illustrating it—suppose a man committed bigamy in England under these circumstances, was caught in New South Wales, and convicted and punished there, could he plead autrefois convict in this country ?

Mr. Rigby : That I should very much doubt ; but then I think, as a matter of practice there can be very little doubt that if he were charged with bigamy here, and it was shown that he had suffered a sentence elsewhere for that same crime, the sentence upon him would be a nominal sentence.

The Lord Chancellor : That may be, or Her Majesty might pardon him. That does not raise the question of principle.

Mr. Rigby : It minimises the difficulty.

Lord Watson : It either makes him liable to be tried twice for the same offence, or it is a direct ouster of the jurisdiction of the English Courts by the Australian Parliament.

Mr. Rigby : It never would be suggested, as far as I can see, that it could be an ouster of the jurisdiction of English Courts, I must take the other alternative, and meet it as well as I can.

Lord Watson : It is constituting jurisdiction over an English offence ; was that intended to be given to the Australian Legislature by Parliament ? Did the British Legislature by the Imperial Act, which gave them this jurisdiction, ever intend to give them the right to lay hold of a man and try offences committed in England belonging to England, according to every principle of international law.

Lord

Lord Hobhouse : It is a very difficult constitutional question. They have power to make laws for the peace, welfare, and good government of the Colony; well, that has always been held to give a quasi sovereign power, and if the Colony had said that it is against the peace, welfare, and good government of the Colony, that they should have murderers or bigamists walking about the Colony with impunity, I am not at all sure that it is not within the province so to decide.

Mr. Rigby : I must pause a little on our own statutes.

Sir Richard Couch : You are at present on the construction of the English statutes.

Mr. Rigby : Yes, on the 24th and 25th Victoria the Consolidation Act, which provides more for crimes in England, chapter 100, which has the following words:—"Whosoever being married shall marry any other person during the life of the former husband or wife whether the second marriage shall have taken place in England or Ireland," that is the district for which this legislation was being made, "or elsewhere."

The Lord Chancellor : I am very much puzzled about that. It was called to our attention before you came in. Suppose the second marriage had taken place in Scotland, would that be within the jurisdiction?

Mr. Rigby : I should say so.

The Lord Chancellor : Then it is a very odd thing. Why was not Scotland included?

Lord Watson : It says the Act is not to apply to Scotland except where it is expressly stated.

Lord Hobhouse : Is not Scotland "elsewhere"?

Mr. Rigby : It says whosoever being married shall marry any other person during the life of the former husband or wife, whether the second marriage shall have taken place in England or Ireland or elsewhere, shall be guilty of felony, and being convicted thereof, shall be liable at the discretion of the Court, to be kept in penal servitude for any term not exceeding seven years, and not less than three years, or to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding two years, with or without hard labour, and any such offence may be dealt with, inquired, or tried and determined, and punished, in any county, or place, in England or Ireland, where the offender shall be apprehended, or be in custody in the same manner in all respects as if the offence had been actually committed in that county, or place, provided that nothing in this section contained shall extend to any second marriage contracted elsewhere than in England and Ireland, by any other than a subject of Her Majesty, or to any person marrying a second time, whose husband or wife shall have been continually absent.

The Lord Chancellor : You say that includes Scotland?

Mr. Rigby : Yes.

The Lord Chancellor : Then there is the provision in the Act that nothing shall extend to Scotland.

Mr. Rigby : The jurisdiction is not given to the Scotch Courts, but that is only intended to say this shall not be a Scotch Act.

The Lord Chancellor : That is rather cutting down the effect of those words. I think you would cause some consternation north of The Tweed if you so construed those words.

Mr. Rigby : It scarcely can be said that this meant in England or Ireland, or elsewhere, other than Scotland. The jurisdiction is given to try persons in England or Ireland.

The Lord Chancellor : What is the date of the Colonial Act that you are construing?

Mr. Rigby : 46th Victoria, 1883.

The Lord Chancellor : Then I am afraid the Colonial Draftsman has been misled by ours.

Sir Richard Couch : In the Colonial Act, section 4, "divorce" is omitted.

Mr. Rigby : Of course it is as well to consider the case of Scotland as illustrating the Act.

The Lord Chancellor : My noble and learned friend calls our attention to the 78th section, "Nothing in this Act contained shall extend to Scotland except as hereinbefore otherwise expressly provided."

Mr. Rigby : It is a puzzle as regards Scotland, but that must depend, I suppose, upon the drafting of the Act, and assuming that by virtue of the 78th section, Scotland were excepted, all the rest of the world would be open.

Lord Watson : Do you think that would apply to bigamy in the United States?

Mr. Rigby : I should say so.

Sir Richard Couch : It may be not intended to legislate for anything out of Her Majesty's dominions.

Mr. Rigby : I submit you are not legislating for anything outside. You have got a man within Her Majesty's dominions within the jurisdiction of the Court, and you are legislating for him.

The Lord Chancellor : Aye, but the question is what he has done.

Sir Richard Couch : You are going to punish him for doing something out of Her Majesty's dominions.

The Lord Chancellor : Where it is conceivable that it might not be a crime.

Mr. Rigby : Quite so; in fact, there are plenty of places out of Her Majesty's dominions where it would not be a crime.

The Lord Chancellor : Therefore you are going to make it a crime by legislation extending over a country.

Mr. Rigby : I submit if an Englishman marries a second wife in Constantinople he is guilty of bigamy.

The Lord Chancellor : May I ask what you mean by bigamy.

Mr. Rigby : He goes through the ceremony of marriage.

The Lord Chancellor : Take a marriage according to the law of a country which permits a marriage by a man with more than one woman. Is that a marriage according to English law?

Mr. Rigby : No; because I suppose probably there would be no ceremony at all, except carrying the wife home.

The Lord Chancellor : Oh, I beg your pardon.

Lord Watson : I do not see why a man should not have a wife in London and keep a harem in Constantinople without incurring any penalty or committing any offence against any law.

Mr. Rigby : Then we may add to that, that a man takes a woman before the British Ambassador, or whatever may be the authority, and is there married according to the form of English law.

Lord Watson : He is married on British soil if he is married in the Consulate.

Mr. Rigby : I took the first thing that occurred to me, but I take it in another way. Suppose he is married by the captain of a ship, again that may be said to be British territory; but there are ways of being married, and validly married, according to English law, outside England.

The

The Lord Chancellor: I hope I shall not hear a learned person like you say a marriage by a captain of a ship is a good marriage. I know it is a popular error, but it is an error.

Mr. Rigby: I want to take a case in which a man does get married outside England—outside Her Majesty's dominions—married in such a sense that his children would, but for the first marriage of course, inherit in England.

The Lord Chancellor: I do not think that will help you.

Mr. Rigby: Not in England; I am talking about England.

Lord Watson: There was a case here sometime ago, where a respectable ship's engineer, plying between the port of London and Hamburg, married one sister in London, and kept his house there, and married a second sister in Hamburg, and kept his house there. It was supposed that he was not subject to the criminal law.

Mr. Rigby: I should have thought these words were put in for the very purpose of catching such a man as that, according to the English law there can be no second marriage as long as the first wife lives.

Lord Watson: He would not have been free to marry her, although the first wife had been dead.

The Lord Chancellor: That matter received judicial exposition. That very question has been discussed. The statute of James has used the word marrying in two different senses. The first marriage is the marriage, the second is going through the form of marriage in such form as that, but for the first marriage, it would be a good marriage.

Mr. Rigby: That is so. There can be a second marriage in the first case; there is a second marriage in the second one, postulating that British subjects can marry out of Her Majesty's dominions, so as to be really married according to English law. It would follow from that that in England they must be reckoned as properly married; their children would inherit real estate, and, if no one were aware of the first marriage, in this way English rights would be affected by that second marriage, I venture to think there can be nothing unreasonable in supposing.

Lord Watson: By English rights, I suppose you mean rights in real property in England.

Mr. Rigby: Yes; and if the people were domiciled, rights in personal property also, so that the act of second marriage abroad is of direct importance and relevancy to things in England, and a man comes forward with excellent proof of a marriage, in all respects good in point of form, though solemnised abroad, and puts forward a child, who is really an illegitimate child, as the claimant to a peerage to land in England—is not that an offence against English law, wherever it was committed? A matter of such a nature, that you may well suppose that the Legislature should treat that case of bigamy as an exceptional case, in respect of which they thought fit to legislate. That the real mischief being the assuming of a character which must follow him to England, and which does follow him to England, the assuming of a character of a man married to a second wife bringing with it things of importance of that kind affecting people, possibly in the most important of their rights in England; that that must be deemed to be a matter which the man, when he comes here, is to be subject to be tried for. Of course, in other cases, such as theft and murder, and almost any case which occurs to one, the mischief is done where the crime is committed. In the case of bigamy, the very least of the mischief is that which is committed at the place. It would be no less bigamy, I suppose, if the second wife were aware of his first marriage. The crime of bigamy, or the mischief of bigamy does not end with the place. It is not local. It is the danger, of course, of the man going abroad, marrying a second time, and coming back again here and settling up the issue of the second marriage, and claiming other people's rights. Unless he is open to the criminal law, the danger is that such things will often be attempted in the hope, perhaps, that the first marriage would never be thought of, and never remembered by anyone at all. There we have the distinction made that with regard to the others those words do not exist. It has been pointed out to me that the statute 9th George IV, chap. 31, which was the English statute in force at the time when the 9th George IV, cap. 83, was passed with regard to the Colonies, is again in different language: "If any person being married shall marry any other person during the life of the former husband or wife, whether the second marriage shall have taken place in England or elsewhere." It varies there in not mentioning Ireland. There was the same provision there. That Act did not extend to Scotland or Ireland, and the same puzzle might have arisen. Is this an extending of the Act to Scotland? No person in Scotland at the time being affected, goes to show the second marriage may be proved against the alleged bigamist, though it took place in Scotland. I venture to think that that is not the meaning of the statute at all, and that to enable the crime to be properly charged in an indictment and properly tried here. All that you have to show is that there was a second marriage, which if it were in proper form would be in every way efficacious in this country, and then the offence may be tried in this country. If it were otherwise, then Scotland and Ireland, in the case of the Act 24th and 25th Victoria, would be omitted, not by force of the words, or by giving a meaning to the word "elsewhere," but by that which, I venture to think, would be an unexpected operation by force of the words excluding Scotland.

The Lord Chancellor: What law must be administered, supposing a man is tried for bigamy committed in Scotland?

Mr. Rigby: There are certainly cases in which it was put forward that if the ceremony is primæ facie, one that would be right in England, if the ceremony is before a clergyman, for instance, then you do not want to go into the evidence of the law. The other people can go into the law if they please for his defence.

The Lord Chancellor: You misunderstood me. I did not mean that. Take the case which has arisen, as I dare say you are aware of a man tried under this statute for having committed bigamy, the second marriage being in Scotland, and he being divorced in Scotland for a cause which would not be a cause of divorce in England, is he guilty of an offence or not?

Mr. Rigby: If he is properly divorced?

The Lord Chancellor: That assumes the question I put to you.

Mr. Rigby: That depends upon domicile.

The Lord Chancellor: Suppose he is not a domiciled Scotchman?

Mr. Rigby: Then he cannot get a divorce for any other cause than he would get it in England; not one that the English Courts would recognise. Surely that is what we must go back to. If the man is a domiciled Scotchman, and he gets a divorce on the ground of the desertion of the wife, which is a good cause of divorce there, then, as I understand the more recent cases, we are bound to recognise that the English marriage has been properly got rid of; and, if so, he cannot be tried for bigamy. That is a separate question. The first question is, is he married at the time to another wife. It says:—"If any person being married," that means being married at the time of the second marriage.

The Lord Chancellor : I quite agree, but that is only removing it one step further. The question is whether he was married. In the case I put to you he has been divorced according to the laws of Scotland and not according to the law of England.

Mr. Rigby : Then the question would be which law was his personal law.

Lord Watson : Put another case. Suppose the Legislature think fit to enact with regard to Scotland that the crime of bigamy should not be punished with more than six months' imprisonment, an Englishman who goes there and commits the crime of bigamy would be punished with six months' imprisonment, what is the measure of the penalty if he happens to be tried in England.

Mr. Rigby : I say that he has committed an offence against English law, and he must take his chance. He may have committed an offence against Scotch law as well. Why not? Having committed a crime against English law, he must suffer the consequences, whatever they are; none the less because he may have committed an offence against Scotch law at the same time and by the same act. However, these cases of Ireland and Scotland would be exceptional cases going upon the reservation.

The Lord Chancellor : Here they are dealing with Imperial rights and Imperial powers of legislation.

Lord Watson : Would "elsewhere" upon the fair reading of that Act include a marriage in Russia?

Mr. Rigby : Unquestionably, according to my view.

Lord Watson : The same considerations do not apply to Russia, because the Legislature presumably is passing Acts which might apply to all the world if it were not for external circumstances which imposed a limit on them, those external circumstances being the extent of the dominion which the Legislature has. They might apply to the whole world if it were not for the fact that the British Legislature is the British Legislature, and when legislating in its most extended character is a Legislature for Britain and the rest of Her Majesty's dominions.

The Lord Chancellor : This strikes me also as a very serious question. If I am right—perhaps I am not right, but you will tell me, no doubt, whether I am right or wrong,—this Colonial Act does not give the Imperial exceptions of divorce pronounced by a competent tribunal. I do not think it does.

Mr. Rigby : But when it puts in "being married." If he has been divorced by a competent tribunal he would not be married.

The Lord Chancellor : I am not so clear that that follows. Here the words are simply "having been married," and although the question might have arisen, I suppose the English Legislature, at all events, thought it necessary to provide for that case, and the Colonial Legislature has not. There are some Churches that do not recognise a divorce on any ground. For aught I know to the contrary this Colonial Legislature may have thought it right not to recognise divorce for any purpose.

Mr. Rigby : They omitted the clause.

Sir Richard Couch : They can only have the effect of the clause by giving the same meaning to "being married."

The Lord Chancellor : So that if that were so it might be that the Colonial Legislature might punish a man for bigamy who had been divorced by the law of England.

Mr. Rigby : Yes; I should have thought that the very form of the exception which I read from the Act of the 9th George IV.

The Lord Chancellor : There, there was no divorce recognised by the law at that time.

Mr. Rigby : Oh, yes; divorce is nevertheless mentioned, because there might be divorce elsewhere. "Provided always that nothing herein contained shall extend to any second marriage contracted out of England by any other than a subject of His Majesty."

The Lord Chancellor : Out of England.

Lord Watson : He may be divorced in England.

Mr. Rigby : Or to any person marrying a second time whose husband or wife shall have been continually absent from such person for the space of seven years then last past, and shall not have been known by such person to be living within that time when there was no divorce in England these words occur, "or shall extend to any person who, at the time of the second marriage, shall have been divorced from the bond of the first marriage, or to any person whose former marriage shall have been declared void by the sentence of any Court of competent jurisdiction."

The Lord Chancellor : That is another matter. I suppose what you are going to suggest as the true exposition of that is that the Acts dissolving a marriage were called Divorce Acts.

Mr. Rigby : Still I apprehend that if a man did actually get divorced properly by the forum of his domicile that might not be England, he must be divorced within the meaning of this.

The Lord Chancellor : I dare say your attention has been called to a case which is known as Lolley's case?

Mr. Rigby : Certainly; but that case has received a great deal of explanation.

The Lord Chancellor : Explanation is not the word I should have applied to what has been said of it; it was a decision of twelve Judges.

Mr. Rigby : Yes, it has been pointed out since, that that case presumably went upon the domicile.

Lord Watson : It was respectfully spoken of but disrespectfully treated.

Mr. Rigby : Lolley's case, if I remember right, was the case of a domiciled Englishman, and it simply laid down that no domiciled Englishman could go into another jurisdiction and obtain a divorce. In that case a domiciled Englishman goes and tries to evade his personal law, by obtaining a divorce in a foreign country, on a ground that his own personal law would not allow of. If I remember the case rightly, it was decreed that that could not be; but when you come to another case, that a man is married in England, being a domiciled Scotchman, and gets a divorce in Scotland, surely these words of the statute would be enough; he has been divorced, and he has been divorced by a competent tribunal. After the general words commencing the section, there are these, and the same words, I think, are in the 9th George IV, and in the Act 24th and 25th Victoria, "Provided nothing herein contained shall extend to a second marriage contracted out of England by any other than a subject of His Majesty." It is obvious, I think, that the Legislature supposed, but that for the proviso, that would have been extended to all persons.

The Lord Chancellor : Out of England and Ireland, is it not?

Mr. Rigby : In the second statute, of course; because that statute was dealing with England and Ireland. The first Act was dealing with England. They are exactly on the same lines, having regard only to the larger extent of the jurisdiction. Then from that the Legislature must have supposed that the words used were of so wide an extent and were intended to be so wide that they required explanation and and required cutting down rather than explanation, so that they might not meet the case of a foreigner who had done something outside the English jurisdiction—outside England, at any rate. I find no trace there of any distinction between any division of the globe into Her Majesty's dominions and other countries. We have got actually a division, "England and elsewhere" in one section, and "England and Ireland and elsewhere" in another, and so far as I am able to see, the mischief of the case would be the same in all. Of course, if your Lordships came to the conclusion ultimately that the rules of International law or the established rules of criminal law involve, that you must cut down the language in the British statutes, I should be unable to use these as precedents for the Colonial law. In the English statute "wheresoever" does not apply. It is "whether the second marriage shall have taken place in England, Ireland, or elsewhere."

The Lord Chancellor: Would not the principle of the ejusdem generis rule apply there—If you are dealing with "England, Ireland, and elsewhere," would you not cut down the word "elsewhere" at all events to mean to this extent—"or other places within the jurisdiction of Her Majesty."

Mr. Rigby: No; I venture to think it means England or Ireland—you do not mention them, because they are within the jurisdiction of Her Majesty, but because they are being dealt with in this Act.

Lord Watson: It may be wherever else those crimes are cognisable.

Mr. Rigby: It may mean that, but I venture to say it does not primâ facie mean that.

Sir Richard Couch: This may be illustrated by the 24th and 25th Victoria chapter 100. Take the 4th section: "All persons who shall conspire, confederate, and agree to murder any person, whether he be a subject of Her Majesty or not," those words "all persons" do not mean all persons in any part, they mean persons within the Queen's dominions. The words are general, "all persons," but they must be limited.

Lord Watson: It might apply for anything that appears in the language of the Act to the contrary to the whole world.

Sir Richard Couch: It must be limited in some way.

Lord Watson: You must always have some regard to the fact that this Legislature is a Legislature, and the area for which it legislates is Her Majesty's possessions.

Mr. Rigby: I cannot deny that.

Sir Richard Couch: You must limit those words in some way.

Mr. Rigby: I cannot deny that they are legislating in one case for England and Ireland and in the other case for New South Wales. They are not legislating for anything else. They only say in New South Wales it shall be considered a crime to have married elsewhere. They are only legislating for New South Wales. That is not legislation for the rest of the world.

The Lord Chancellor: The Criminal Act which is furnished is by the hypothesis done outside New South Wales.

Mr. Rigby: Yes.

The Lord Chancellor: Is that legislation for New South Wales?

Mr. Rigby: I submit it is just as in England. It is treated as an act criminal to have married elsewhere.

The Lord Chancellor: At all events, there is this limitation put to it, that the draftsman has been careful to say that that shall not apply to British subjects. There is no such limitation in the Colonial statutes.

Mr. Rigby: No; then it may be by construction confined to British subjects, and this man is a British subject.

The Lord Chancellor: No; he is not a British subject by the hypothesis at the time the offence is committed.

Mr. Rigby: There is no suggestion that he ever divested himself of his quality of British subject or that, he got a domicile elsewhere.

The Lord Chancellor: I am not talking of this particular case. I am talking of the construction of the Act. If your construction of the Act is right it would be equally true of anybody whether they were British subjects or not.

Mr. Rigby: Yes.

Lord Watson: It seems to me to come to this: The British Legislature has never ventured to legislate outside its own limits—the limits of Her Majesty's possessions, except in the case of persons whose allegiance follows them, and who are the subjects of the Queen. They are the subjects of the Queen from the time they leave to the time they return unless they stay away altogether and get naturalised in a foreign country, in which case they cease to be the subjects of the Queen, and the Act will not apply to them. I should like to know in what way a man who has gone to Australia, and apparently done nothing there except married a wife, continues a subject of the Colony when he comes home and goes to Louisiana and marries a wife there.

Mr. Rigby: I do not suggest it.

Lord Watson: It is going a long way beyond anything that the Legislature has ever ventured to do. To legislate beyond that would be in the teeth of everything that has ever been done in practice, and against every rule of international law. It would be an offence against the laws of Nations to legislate beyond that.

Mr. Rigby: If your Lordship says so, I must take it so.

Lord Watson: It is a grave offence against the law of Nations.

The Lord Chancellor: "Extra territorium jus dicenti unum non paretur." Is not that a familiar maxim.

Mr. Rigby: Certainly. I treat these States as legislating for those persons who are found within the jurisdiction of New South Wales.

The Lord Chancellor: That is fallacious if you confine it to that proposition that may mean for acts done while they are there, in which I entirely agree. While they are there they are subject to the Colonial law, but what you want to do is this, if they are once there, whatever their history or nationality, or whatever they have done in any part of the world, they are subject to the jurisdiction of the Colonial Legislature. That is a totally different proposition.

Mr. Rigby: I should not wish to put forward such a claim at all, but I say that in such a special matter as bigamy, where the offence is not an offence, the whole effect of which is extra territorial, but the direct effect of which will be ultra territorial altogether. You have other considerations absolutely and and entirely differing the case from such considerations as murder, or others of that kind, and we have the precedent of the British legislation showing the crime may be committed elsewhere than in the place where the jurisdiction is. We have got a particular exception in the case of British subjects, which shows that British subjects were not looked to exclusively in the general words. We have got particular exceptions.

The Lord Chancellor : I do not follow you there. The Imperial statute, whatever else may be said about it, has been careful to show that when you are dealing with marriage itself in England and Ireland it says so, and the second marriage, if celebrated elsewhere, to be within the jurisdiction of that statute must be applicable to British subjects.

Mr. Rigby : That is so, no doubt.

The Lord Chancellor : Then, that you have not got in the Colonial statute.

Mr. Rigby : Well, my Lord, the next part of my argument is, that assuming it to go beyond what the English statute does in England, yet that under the general words the Colony has a right to consider, that is, it is not absolutely bound by what has been done in England, and though, of course, if there are international rules or reasons, I venture to think that.

The Lord Chancellor : Do you go as far as to say that the Colony may in terms enact that for any offence committed anywhere, if they once caught the person in the Colony, they might adjudicate upon him?

Lord Watson : That seems to be the proposition. Do you suggest that it was ever intended that they should enter upon a course of legislation which the British Parliament has never followed, simply because it would be a good violation of all law amongst nations? I think if they insist upon it they would very shortly have a demonstration.

Mr. Rigby : I fail to see how any nation, the State of Missouri, or the United States, could have any interest in this particular question that arises here.

Lord Watson : A French subject is a French subject all the world over, so is a Russian a Russian subject all the world over. I do not know about a Colonial subject. I do not know how to define it. There is no suggestion that this gentleman is in this class.

Mr. Rigby : He had been many years in the Colony. He had been in a fixed position there as a minister.

Lord Watson : He was extradited for another purpose.

Mr. Rigby : He was married in the Colony before, and lived there for many years.

Lord Watson : Then he lost his domicile, if he ever had one.

Mr. Rigby : That question was not tried. There was no evidence about it. The judges only say hypothetically that his domicile of origin was, I believe, Scotch. They rather assume that he acquired a domicile in New South Wales.

Sir Richard Couch : It does not appear before the first marriage how long he had been in New South Wales at all.

Mr. Rigby : I do not know that it does.

Lord Watson : They do not say that he acquired a domicile after. They say that if he acquired a domicile he lost it when he went back, and there is not the smallest suggestion that he was permanently resident in New South Wales at the time.

Mr. Rigby : No, not at that time; but I am talking of the antecedent time when he married in New South Wales.

Sir Richard Couch : There is nothing to show how long he had been in New South Wales before this marriage. Mrs. McLeod says, "I first saw him in 1872. He wrote me letters in beginning of 1872. I had not spoken to him, but I knew him by repute. I saw him in January, 1872, and continued to see him till I was married to him 21st July, 1872."

Mr. Rigby : Then, "after marriage, went to Grafton, where the prisoner acted as minister of Presbyterian Church." It does not state how many years, or what length of time he was in New South Wales.

Sir Richard Couch : It does not appear how long he stayed in New South Wales.

Mr. Rigby : The difficulty in this case is that neither during the trial, nor in any of the Courts below, was this question so much as hinted at.

Lord Watson : He went back in 1887, and seems to have rested nine months, and then went to San Francisco.

Mr. Rigby : He wandered about a good deal after the time of the marriage. In the Colony not a syllable was said about it.

The Lord Chancellor : Mr. Fullarton said a good deal about it when he applied for leave.

Mr. Rigby : No doubt the question was then raised, but that does not enable us to supply all those facts which might have been important at the time. I concede there would be a great difficulty if it were shown that by the practice of our own Legislature we did never in such a case legislate.

Lord Watson : The Colony is within the ambit of Imperial legislation.

Mr. Rigby : Oh, of course.

Lord Watson : Imperial law must prevail in the Colony; why the Colonial law should prevail in England in consequence, I do not quite see.

Mr. Rigby : If that is the true way of saying that Colonial law prevails in England then I suppose they might send their officers here and try him here.

Sir Richard Couch : Does not section 309 about the revenue in the indictment throw some light upon what was meant by "whosoever being married?" It seems to me to show that the offence must be committed.

Mr. Rigby : Not within the place where the same is laid.

Sir Richard Couch : The offence is to be charged to have been committed within New South Wales.

Lord Watson : You see in this information the locus of the offence is set forth as "St. Louis, in the State of Missouri." Section 309 says, "Provided that some district or place within or at or near which the offence is charged to have been committed shall be mentioned in the body of the indictment, and every such district or place shall be deemed to be in New South Wales and within the jurisdiction of the Court unless the contrary be shown." Surely the contrary has been shown on the face of the indictment; what is to become of the indictment when the contrary is shown.

Sir Richard Couch : The place where the offence is charged to have been committed is shown now not to have been within the jurisdiction of the Court. I do not see any power to try the offence except by an indictment under this section 309.

Lord

Lord Watson : Unless you fix some reasonable limit there is no limit either in respect to place or persons. They are legislating for every Russian subject, or for every French or German subject who may, after having married there, and committed bigamy, happen to be in New South Wales.

Mr. Rigby : It is only "wherever the second marriage shall have taken place."

The Lord Chancellor : Still you would not exclude, I suppose, the first marriage being celebrated for instance in England; suppose the first marriage were celebrated in England, you could not say that that did not give the Colony jurisdiction where the second marriage was celebrated in the Colony itself.

Lord Watson : It is impossible to read that "whosoever being married" as limiting the marriage to New South Wales.

The Lord Chancellor : Mr. Rigby admits that if it were celebrated in England the Colony would yet have jurisdiction when the second marriage was in the Colony.

Mr. Rigby : I do not suggest that the Colonial jurisdiction is a wider or more extensive jurisdiction than that.

The Lord Chancellor : I should think that the true construction of the words applicable to the first marriage could hardly be matter of doubt. It was intended that bigamy should be punished, and that the bigamy might be committed by a person remarrying after they had been validly married anywhere; you would hardly contest that, I suppose—indeed, you would probably assert it.

Mr. Rigby : As part of my argument, I have already pointed out and it has been present to Your Lordships' minds, no doubt, the fact that the whole of this matter of objection was never taken below at all, and that it is, in the first instance, taken before Your Lordships' Board.

The Lord Chancellor : Yes; the cardinal answer to that, I think, is that where the matter goes to jurisdiction that may be taken. If it required new evidence it would be a probable objection, but where it goes to the law of jurisdiction, you cannot say the omission to take the point can be insisted upon.

Mr. Pollard : My Lords, I only desire to add a very few words to my learned leader's argument. It appears to me that the view taken by your Lordships necessitates this conclusion :—That at the time of the passing of the 24th and 25th Victoria, chapter 100, the state of the law in England was that a person, although an English subject, and being still married (there having been no valid divorce of his marriage), might commit bigamy, or at least might marry a second time in another country validly, according to the law of that country, and come here and be perfectly free from the possibility of punishment for that second marriage. If that was the law at the time when the 24th and 25th Victoria was passed, then, My Lords, according to the views I understand Your Lordships now intimate you entertain—that statute makes no difference whatever in the law which existed previously to it. The limitation then introduced as to the criminality of a person going through the form of a second marriage elsewhere is by that statute limited to the case of a British subject. The previously existing law did not limit it to the case of a British subject, therefore the intention of the Legislature, I submit, must be presumed to have been that a British subject was then, if not previously, was thenceforward, at any rate, justifiable in England in respect to the second marriage, entered into by him, wherever entered into while the first marriage was undissolved, and the wife or husband still living. If what I have apprehended to be the intimation Your Lordships have given of the construction of the English statute be so, of course there is no doubt the Colonial statute falls far short of it in every essential requisite, because it does not contain the limitation as to a British subject.

The Lord Chancellor : It certainly is a somewhat singular illustration that one would get into an additional conflict of law. The learned judge who tried this case told the jury that a New South Wales marriage was beyond the jurisdiction of the American Courts—that they could not touch it. It rather illustrates the curious condition of law, whatever the American Courts might say upon the subject, the New South Wales marriage must continue, but a marriage in St. Louis itself was within the jurisdiction of New South Wales to try as a crime. That is a somewhat singular result.

Mr. Pollard : I venture to submit that the error into which the learned Chairman fell on the one point cannot affect the Act as regards the second. I venture to submit that it is not necessary for the construction of the statute, so far as regards this case, or its constitutionality as far as regards this case, that it should be if proper construction is put up on it applicable to foreigners as well as to British subjects.

Lord Watson : Is there such a thing as a Colonial subject?

Mr. Rigby : No.

Lord Watson : I should like some definition of it. I know what a British subject is, but I do not know what a New South Wales subject is; I know they are all subjects of the Queen.

Mr. Pollard : The powers of the Legislature to make provisions for the peace, order, and good government of the Colony.

Lord Watson : That is for every one who is in the country whether a subject or not. He is responsible for what he does when he is there. The question is, is he responsible for what he did before he went there?

Mr. Pollard : With all respect it is hardly that in this case at any rate.

Lord Watson : It is according to the law of nations, that a man who lives under the law of a State, although it should be a foreign State is amenable to that law, and answerable to that law so long as he lives under it. He is under its protection, he is under all the liabilities which it imposes as a rule of conduct, and he is responsible for any breach of the law, but there is no principle that I know of which says that he is responsible for all he did during his lifetime before he went there. It is only because he goes back that he is liable here. Supposing he had not gone back to Sydney, could you have tried him?

Mr. Pollard : No; clearly not.

Lord Watson : At the time when he remarried in Louisiana he was in no sense responsible to Sydney law.

Mr. Pollard : Not if he remained away from the place.

Lord Watson : Suppose he died the next day he never would have been liable to Sydney law?

Mr. Pollard : No.

Lord Watson : That is to say, with a British subject.

Sir Richard Couch : He did not voluntarily go back, he was taken back.

Mr. Pollard : With all respect, that would be so, with regard to a British subject, he is always justifiable before a British forum, but in the case Lord Watson put, if he stopped there and did not come back to England he would not be justifiable here.

Lord

Lord Watson : True, but still he would be subject to English law at the time he married as a British subject.

Mr. Pollard : Of course he carries that about with him. The evidence that when this man married this was the law in existence at the time, and he was subject to that law.

Lord Watson : According to Mr. Rigby's construction of the statute he became a naturalised American ?

Mr. Pollard : No, that is putting it higher than we need.

Lord Watson : The construction will not stop short of that ?

Mr. Pollard : If your Lordships think that because a statute is capable of such a construction, therefore, it must be held that it may not include.

Lord Watson : It is not because it is capable of such a construction ; it is because that is said to be the right construction.

Mr. Pollard : Not in this case.

Lord Watson : I do not know any category of persons belonging to the class of subjects who have any allegiance to the Colony when they are there ; their allegiance is to the Queen. They are British subjects and not Colonial subjects. What is the law of the Colony which will make the Colonial law follow the new allegiance ?

Mr. Pollard : If the intention of the Imperial Legislature, when it gave power to the Colonial Legislature, was to make provision for the peace, order, and good government of the Colony, does not that necessarily include that a criminal, a man who has committed an offence by marrying a second wife, shall not be allowed to come and live in the Colony in the face of society there, as a mere question of public morality and not be capable of punishment. Because your Lordships see he is capable of punishment no where unless he comes home to England, and then if the construction your Lordships are intimating is put upon the 24th and 25th Victoria, he is not justifiable here, so that although he is a British subject the construction which must be necessarily come to upon my learned friend's contention on the other side is this, that the British subject who marries a second time in another country, and comes back to England can never be justifiable even there.

Lord Watson : Take the case of an offence against the British Stamp Acts ?

Mr. Pollard : There is nothing against good order or morality in any question such as your Lordship is alluding to now.

The Lord Chancellor : It is a question of being against morality and good order in New South Wales.

Mr. Pollard : Persons resident there shall not escape from the consequences.

The Lord Chancellor : But he was not.

Mr. Pollard : Your Lordship has no evidence of that.

The Lord Chancellor : The evidence is that he was in New Zealand, and that he was carried off against his will to New South Wales.

Mr. Pollard : There is no evidence of the kind.

The Lord Chancellor : I beg your pardon, it is part of the record.

Mr. Pollard : I think the only statement is in the petition of appeal.

The Lord Chancellor : I may be mistaken, but I thought it was part of the record.

Sir Richard Couch : I certainly read it that he was brought there.

Lord Watson : It is in the appellant's case, and it is not disputed.

Mr. Fullarton : It is not part of the record. I will explain how that is. It was set forth in our petition, and sworn to in order to found the new defence of the jurisdiction, and it was embodied in your Lordships order in Council, and sent out to the authorities there to give them the usual opportunity of contradicting it, and if there was any error in it vacating the special leave to appeal, and they have not ventured to contradict it. They were present at the hearing. We gave them notice.

The Lord Chancellor : I think it is immaterial for this reason—if your jurisdiction is founded upon voluntary residence or domicile in New South Wales. I do not say that it would keep you if it were true, but supposing it is founded upon that, you have no evidence of it.

Mr. Pollard : My Lord, he is there, he pleads to the offence. He is represented by counsel, he takes points of law, and has a special case reserved, and he never reserves or asks, or takes any point going to the jurisdiction. All presumptions are against him.

The Lord Chancellor : I can quite understand that that may be perfectly true, and for this reason—he had the defence. I do not say whether good or not, he produced a decree of divorce from the Court in Missouri, but I can very well understand a man liking to be acquitted upon the merits, rather than take a point of that sort.

Mr. Pollard : But when he asks for a case ?

Lord Watson : A man might expect to walk away from the Bar instead of getting penal servitude.

Mr. Pollard : I think it is right your Lordships should know that although this document was sent out, no copy of it has ever been served upon the appellant's agents in London, nor seen by any body connected with my clients, until my learned friend lent me a copy since I have been in the room.

Mr. Fullarton : They were present at the hearing—they took a short-hand note of it, and furnished us with a copy immediately after.

The Lord Chancellor : Do not let us get into these collateral matters. At all events you have had these allegations printed. You have seen the case, I suppose ?

Mr. Pollard : Yes ; but my friend says that these were sent out in order that evidence might be before your Lordships. Your Lordships' order is merely to forward the record.

The Lord Chancellor : Perhaps I inaccurately used the word "record," but you have got the appellant's case, and it has been in your possession for some time. I presume it is printed ?

Mr. Pollard : Yes.

The Lord Chancellor : There the whole story is told. He was arrested by an officer coming from Sydney with a warrant, and it was backed by the Chief Justice of New Zealand, and then he was taken away and tried in New South Wales.

Lord Watson : It must be within your knowledge.

Mr. Pollard : We know nothing except what is stated in my learned friend's case. Look at line 28, page 2. He was arrested "under provisional warrant in accordance with the said Act on a charge of having within the territory of New South Wales assaulted one Mary Wilson."

Mr.

Mr. Fullarton : That is the second warrant. The first warrant was on this very accusation.

Mr. Pollard : There was a warrant in respect of this which was issued at the instance of the first wife ; that there was a habeas corpus upon, and he was released.

Lord Watson : Was he discharged upon a writ of habeas corpus ?

Mr. Pollard : I gather so from this, but there is no connection between that and the attempt to commit a rape upon Mary Wilson.

Lord Watson : He was arrested upon the same charge.

Mr. Pollard : No ; finding him in the Colony.

Lord Watson : Finding him when he was walking out.

The Lord Chancellor : He was arrested at Napier.

Mr. Pollard : On an attempt of rape, nothing to do with this prosecution.

The Lord Chancellor : Nothing.

Mr. Pollard : Look at line 28.

The Lord Chancellor : Look at the fourth paragraph.

Mr. Pollard : If I may state it in the highest way against myself, the prosecutrix tried, and did have him arrested upon a Sydney warrant, backed by a New Zealand magistrate. Then there was a writ of habeas corpus and he was released. There is an end of the transaction. Then he subsequently is arrested at the instance of a woman called Mary Wilson for an attempt at rape upon her. The case is gone into before the magistrates in New South Wales, and they discharge him.

The Lord Chancellor : So far as the matter is material, if it be material at all, the question is how he got into New South Wales by being carried off against his will from Napier, in New Zealand, that he was walking when arrested and brought into New South Wales.

Mr. Pollard : He was in the habit of going to and fro. It is in the evidence. He came down and lived nine months there in 1887.

Lord Watson : But he did not come back and live nine months there in 1888.

Mr. Pollard : As the Lord Chancellor puts it to me, it may not be material, but I can only imagine my learned friend thinks it material, or he would not cover so much paper with it.

Lord Watson : It may be material with reference to the view you are now suggesting as to the construction of section 54, that it did not apply to everybody under the sun as it appeared to do according to Mr. Rigby's construction, but you were going to suggest to us some new construction which limited it to some people somehow connected with New South Wales. We are rather anxiously expecting your explanation of the clause to which you refer in this case.

Mr. Pollard : Your Lordship rather misapprehends me. I do not care to go away from my leader's construction. I am not aware of any privilege. If the appellant had come on a subpoena from the Court possibly he may have had a privilege of protection in returning from New Zealand, but I am not aware of any protection or right to it, that a man may have who is brought upon one.

Lord Watson : No, no ; it only goes to this, that he was practically, at that moment, a foreigner to New South Wales, who was brought here against his will, and anxious to leave it as soon as he could get away.

The Lord Chancellor : The moment he was discharged upon the charge of the attempted rape, he was then and there rearrested upon the original charge.

Mr. Pollard : He was arrested upon a new information.

Lord Watson : It takes away this part of your argument, that the fact is not so as you put it, that he was living in New South Wales to the breach of order or to the injury of the feelings of the inhabitants.

The Lord Chancellor : I do not think myself it would come to much, but you see it would answer one observation which fell from my noble and learned friend Lord Hobhouse, that if these colonies think they have a right to exclude people who are vagabonds and who have committed offences elsewhere, and that if they choose to go to their Colony they must take the consequences (I do not assent to that view for a moment), but if it were so, this case is not within it, because he is brought against his will.

Lord Watson : He would soon remove his presence.

Mr. Pollard : Of course, that is an assumption. With all respect I feel the force of that statement as being an answer to any argument founded upon the good order of the Colony.

The Lord Chancellor : That is what I ask you : How was this an offence against the good order of the Colony when the offence itself was committed in Missouri, and he was brought to the Colony against his own will.

Mr. Pollard : Of course, I feel the great difficulty that we are in, and the strong expression of opinion your Lordships have given on the construction of the English Act, the great difficulty we are in by reason of the Colonial Act, which does not even contain a limitation to British subjects.

Lord Watson : It appears to be this—that British subjects are British subjects, but everybody is a subject of New South Wales.

Mr. Pollard : If I were sure that the only point I wish to add to my learned friend's argument is present to your Lordships' mind, I should be pleased. It is that, though the section may be open to all the animadversions your Lordships have put upon it, and that it does by the construction include foreigners, what I submit is, that that does not necessarily make it bad.

Lord Watson : I do not think so. I think it is susceptible of a reasonable construction.

Mr. Pollard : If it is susceptible of a reasonable construction, of course all I have left is the good order point, and if your Lordships think that the involuntary manner in which he came within the Colony on the occasion in question robs the good order and good Government argument of any force.

The Lord Chancellor : It seemed to me an answer to your observation, but I should be very sorry to say that that is the ground upon which my judgment would go.

Mr. Pollard : I understood your Lordship not to accede to that. I was going to say that really I feel that that is the only answer there is, and that unless it can come within the good order and good government argument, we have no answer to the objection.

Adjournment for a short time.

Upon the Court reassembling their Lordships delivered judgment.

1891-2.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

RULES OF THE SUPREME COURT.

(IN PROBATE JURISDICTION.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 54 Vic. No. 25, sec. 112.

In the Supreme Court of New South Wales. }
 PROBATE JURISDICTION. }

REGULÆ GENERALES.

Thursday, the 17th day of March, A.D. 1892.

In pursuance of the powers vested in us, we do order and direct as follows :—

I. PRELIMINARY.

1. From and after the 17th day of March, 1892, all the rules and orders which have heretofore been made and established in the Probate Jurisdiction of this Court shall be rescinded, and in lieu thereof the following shall constitute the Standing Rules of the Court.

2. Where none of the rules now made shall be applicable, and in so far as they may be insufficient for carrying into effect the objects of the Probate Act of 1890, then the Rules and Practice of the Supreme Court in Equity in this Colony, in force at the date of the passing of these Rules, shall be followed, as far as circumstances will admit, and in so far as such last-mentioned Rules and Practice are not opposed to anything contained in the Act or in these Rules.

3. In these Rules the following words have the several meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, viz. :—

- (1) Words importing the singular number include the plural number, and vice versa, and words importing the masculine gender include females.
- (2) The words, "Statement of Claim," includes information; and the word "Plaintiff," includes Informant.
- (3) The words "the Court," or "the Judge," mean the Probate Judge, or any other Judge acting in that behalf sitting in Court or Chambers, unless the subject be a matter before the Court of Appeal.
- (4) The words "the Act," mean the Probate Act of 1890.
- (5) The words "the Registry," mean the Office of the Registrar of Probates.

NON-CONTENTIOUS BUSINESS.

4. Notice of an intended application for Probate or Administration shall be in the forms numbered 1 and 2 in the Appendix hereto, and shall in all cases be inserted in one Sydney daily newspaper, and if the deceased was resident at the time of his death more than thirty miles from Sydney, then also in a newspaper circulating in the district where he so resided, and when such application is by petition, in the Government Gazette in addition.

5. The Registrar (or Master in Equity, on the direction of the Judge) may exercise the powers of the Court in and about the granting of probates and administration of estates not exceeding one thousand pounds in value, where no contentions have arisen: Provided that the Registrar shall, where any party interested may so desire, and in cases where any doubt or difficulty may arise, refer the matter to the Probate Judge sitting in open Court.

Probate.

6. Application for probates and administration may be made either on motion or by petition, but in the latter case the petition must be signed by the party applying, or his lawfully constituted attorney, and all papers in support thereof shall be filed in the Registry.

7. Such applications may be made through a proctor, solicitor, or attorney, or in person by executors and parties entitled to grants of administration; but personal applications will not be received by letter, nor through the medium of any agent.

8. All applications for probate shall be supported by the following affidavits:—

- (1) Of the death of the testator.
- (2) That the testator has left a will and the date thereof, the names of the executors or executor, the subscribing witness thereto, and that he left goods, chattels, credits, and effects, and real estate (or real estate only) within the jurisdiction of the Court, and that the executors will well and truly administer the same.
- (3) Of due attestation by one of the attesting witnesses to the said will.
- (4) Of the publication of the notice of the intention to apply, of the search for a later will at the office of the Registrar-General, and that no caveat has been filed.
- (5) Duplicate affidavits under the Stamp Duties Act.

9. Application for administration of the estate of any deceased person shall be supported by a bond in the form, numbered 3 in the Appendix hereto, and by the following affidavits:—

- (1) Of the death of the intestate.
- (2) That he or she died intestate.
- (3) That the intestate left either real or personal property (or both) within the jurisdiction; that the applicant is the husband, widow, or next of kin (or as the case may be), and the names and ages of the persons entitled in distribution to the estate of the deceased; and that the applicant will well and truly administer.
- (4) Affidavits of justification by sureties.
- (5) Of the publication of the notice of intention to apply, of the search for a will at the office of the Registrar General, and that no caveat has been lodged against the application.
- (6) Duplicate affidavit under Stamp Duties Act.

10. In all cases where a creditor shall intend to apply for administration, he shall, previous to such application, issue a citation calling upon the husband or widow and next of kin of the deceased to appear and show cause why administration should not be granted to him, and shall before the return day of such citation prove his debt before the Registrar, and enter into a bond with two sureties or a Guarantee Company, approved by the Court, to well and truly administer the estate, and to pay the debts pro rata, such bond to be in the form numbered 4 in the Appendix hereto.

11. Applicants for probate or administration in matters where the Curator has obtained an order to collect shall give seven days' notice in writing to the Curator of the intended application, and shall, at the same time, lodge with the Curator for inspection all documents in support of such application.

12. All applications by motion for probate or administration shall be set down for hearing before the Judge upon the day set apart for that purpose, but may, with the leave of the Judge, be heard on any motion day.

13. On all applications for probate or letters of administration a notice of an address where all notices from the Registry may be served shall be filed, and service at such address by registered letter, or as the Court shall direct, shall be deemed sufficient service within the meaning of the 59th section of the Act.

I.—As to Probate of Wills and Codicils, and Letters of Administration, with the Will (or Will and Codicils) annexed.

Execution of a Will.

14. If, on the affidavit or affidavits filed, it appears doubtful whether the will or codicil has been duly executed, the applicant may be required to bring the matter before the Judge in open Court.

15. If both the subscribing witnesses are dead, or if from other circumstances no affidavit can be obtained from either of them, resort must be had to other persons (if any) who may have been present at the execution of the will or codicil; but if no affidavit of any such other person can be obtained, evidence on affidavit must be procured of that fact and of the handwriting of the deceased and of the subscribing witnesses, and also of any circumstances which may raise a presumption in favour of the due execution.

Interventions

Interlineations and Alterations.

16. When interlineations, erasures, alterations, or obliterations appear in the will (unless duly executed, or recited in, or otherwise identified by the attestation clause), an affidavit or affidavits in proof of their having existed in the will before its execution must be filed, except when the alterations are merely verbal, and are evidenced by the initials of the attesting witnesses.

Deeds, &c., referred to in a Will or Codicil.

17. If a will contained a reference to any deed, paper, memorandum, or other document of such a nature as to raise a question whether it ought or ought not to form a constituent part of the will, the production of such deed, paper, memorandum, or other document will be required, with a view to ascertain whether it be entitled to probate; and, if not produced, its non-production must be accounted for.

Appearance of the Paper.

18. If there are any vestiges of sealing-wax, or wafers, or other marks upon the testamentary papers, leading to the inference that a paper, memorandum, or other document has been annexed or attached to the same, they must be satisfactorily accounted for, or the production of such paper, memorandum, or other document must be required; and, if not produced, its non-production must be accounted for.

Married Woman's Will.

19. In applications for probate of a married woman's will, or for administration with such will annexed, evidence must be adduced of the power under which the will purports to have been made.

Codicils.

20. The above rules and orders respecting wills apply equally to codicils.

II.—AS TO LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

Notice to other next of Kin.

21. When administration is applied for by one or some of the persons entitled to administration only, there being another or other next of kin equally entitled thereto, or a husband or wife of the deceased within the jurisdiction, their consent duly verified must be filed or evidence must be adduced of their having been served with notice of the application, or that they cannot be found. But where the husband or widow of the deceased shall apply then notice of the application shall be given to all the next of kin of the deceased of full age within the jurisdiction, or evidence must be adduced that they cannot be found.

Grants of Administration to Guardians.

22. Grants of administration durante minore etate may be made to guardians of infants for their use and benefit, subject to such limitations or conditions as the Court may order.

23. Infants above the age of seven years may elect a guardian, but in other cases a guardian must be assigned by the Court, and upon any application for administration by such guardian evidence of his election or assignment must be produced.

24. In a family where there are infants both above and under the age of seven years, an elected guardian may act for all the infants without special assignment.

Administrator's Oath.

25. Any person other than a creditor applying for administration, or for administration with the will annexed, shall state on oath his relationship to the deceased person, and also the names of any person or persons having a right to the administration prior to or equal with himself.

Administration Bonds.

26. Administration bonds shall be attested by the Registrar or by a Commissioner or other person now or hereafter to be authorised to administer oaths; but in no case by the proctor, solicitor, attorney, or agent of the party who executes them. Such administration bonds shall be in the forms numbered 3 and 4 in the Appendix hereto, unless otherwise ordered by the Judge.

27. In all cases of administration, except in the case of a Guarantee Company approved by the Court, or where the person applying is solely entitled in distribution, or unless otherwise ordered, two sureties shall be required to the administration bond, and the bond given in the amount of property to be placed in the possession of or dealt with by the administrator by means of the grant. And in every case the sureties to the bond must justify by affidavit, to the satisfaction of the Registrar.

28. All applications for the reduction of the amount of the bond, or for the modification of the last rule, must be made by motion in open Court, supported by affidavits of the facts relied on.

III.—GENERAL RULES AND ORDERS.

Time of issuing Grant.

29. In every case where probate or administration is, for the first time, applied for after the lapse of six months from the death of deceased, the reason of the delay is to be explained by affidavit when the application is made.

Testamentary Papers to be Marked.

30. Every will, copy of a will, or other testamentary paper to which an executor or administrator with the will annexed is sworn, must be marked by such executor or administrator, and by the person before whom he is sworn.

Renunciations.

31. No person who renounces probate of a will or letters of administration of the estate and effects of a deceased person in one character, will be allowed to take a representation to the same deceased in another character.

Citations.

32. No citation shall issue under the seal of the Court until an affidavit, in verification of the averments it contains, has been filed in the registry, and shall not be made returnable in less than fourteen days from the issue thereof, unless otherwise ordered by the Court.

33. Citations must be served personally when that can be done. Personal service shall be effected by leaving a true copy of the citation with the party cited, and showing him the original, if required by him so to do.

Substituted Service.

34. If personal service of citations or other proceedings cannot be effected by reason of the absence from the Colony of the person to be served, or if the Judge is satisfied by affidavit or other evidence on oath that such person is keeping out of the way to avoid such service, or that for any other cause prompt personal service cannot be effected, he may order substituted service to be made by the delivery of the proceedings to some adult inmate at his usual or last known residence or place of business, or by registered letter, or in such other manner as the Judge may direct.

Notices to Crown Solicitor.

35. In all cases where application is made for administration, either with or without a will annexed, of the goods of a bastard dying a bachelor, or a spinster, or a widower, or widow, without issue, notice of such application shall be given to the Crown Solicitor.

Citation to bring in Testamentary Papers.

36. Any person bringing a will or testamentary paper, in obedience to a citation, shall deposit it at the registry, and may require a receipt therefor.

37. Any person served with a citation to bring in a testamentary paper may enter an appearance, on payment of the usual fees, if he thinks fit to do so.

Time allowed for appearing to a Citation.

38. The time fixed by a citation for entering an appearance to bring in a testamentary paper shall, in all cases, be exclusive of Sundays, Christmas Day, and Good Friday, or any public holiday.

Motions for Sale of Real Estate.

39. All applications for sale of Real Estate of an Intestate shall be made on notice of motion, supported by affidavits; and such notice of motion shall (unless the Judge shall otherwise order) be served on all parties interested—of full age—and the sureties to the Administration Bond, except in cases where any of the persons interested are infants, when such service shall be made as directed by the Court, or where all parties interested being of full age file their consent to the application.

Petitions under the 36th Section.

40. Notice of the petition of an administrator under the 36th section of the Act, or in a case of partial intestacy, of an executor or administrator with the will annexed, or of any person beneficially interested, shall be served personally on all parties beneficially interested, unless such service shall, upon application to the Court, be dispensed with; but in case any such person is an infant or is of unsound mind, and no committee of his person or estate has been appointed, or is out of the jurisdiction of the Court, or it is desired to serve notice on any such person within the jurisdiction of the Court in any other manner than above provided, or to dispense with service altogether, an application shall be made to the Judge in Chambers ex parte by the petitioner for directions as to the manner and mode of such service or otherwise as to the Judge may seem fit.

41. All such petitions must be supported by affidavits setting out fully the circumstances of the case and the grounds upon which the order is applied for.

Taxing Bills of Cost.

42. Any bill of cost may be referred to the Registrar for taxation and no special order shall hereafter be required for the purpose.

Filing and Passing Accounts.

43. Every executor and administrator must, within twelve months after the grant of probate or administration, file in the Registry his accounts relating to the estate of the deceased, together with a plan of distribution where there is any balance available therefor, unless he shall obtain a special order from the Court extending the time for filing such accounts, and shall at the time of filing the said accounts take out an appointment for passing the same.

44. Notice of the filing of the accounts of any executor or administrator (in the form numbered 5 in the Appendix hereto), and of the day fixed for passing the same, shall be inserted in one Sydney daily newspaper, and if the person resided more than thirty miles from Sydney, in one local newspaper circulating in the district where the deceased

deceased was residing at the time of his death, fourteen days at least before the day fixed for passing the same, and if the said executor or administrator intend to apply for commission, notice shall also be given of such intention.

45. In the case of an administrator, notice of the filing and the application to pass his accounts shall also be served on the sureties to the administration bond.

46. Any person wishing to object to the passing of the accounts of any executor or administrator, or the granting of commission, shall file with the Registrar on or before the day fixed for the passing of such accounts, a notice of his intention to object, and also an affidavit stating his interest, and the nature and grounds of his objection.

47. Upon the taking of such accounts, the Registrar may make such order as to service upon any of the parties interested, as he may think fit.

48. Any person interested may attend before the Registrar upon the taking of such accounts.

49. Within fourteen days after the passing of the accounts by the Registrar, the accounting party shall enter such accounts for allowance by the Court, and for confirmation of the plan of distribution, and allowance of commission, and in all cases where any objection shall have been taken before the Registrar, four days' notice of such application must be given to the objecting parties.

50. If an executor or administrator, or any other person interested, desires to appeal from the finding of the Registrar, on the passing of the accounts, he shall, two days before the day fixed for allowance by the Court, file a notice in the Registry, setting forth the nature and grounds of his appeal.

Affidavits.

51. Every application to the Court under the provisions of the Act shall be by notice of motion supported by affidavit, which must be filed in the Registry at least two days before the application comes on to be heard, except where otherwise provided by these Rules.

CONTENTIOUS BUSINESS.

Caveat.

1. Any person having any interest in an estate for which application is being made for probate or administration, and intending to oppose the same, must either personally or by his solicitor enter a caveat in the Registry; such caveat must be in the form numbered 6 in the Appendix hereto and must state fully the nature of the interest of the caveator, and an address in Sydney where documents or notices may be served.

2. A caveat shall bear date on the day it is entered, and shall remain in force for the space of six months only and then expire and be of no effect, unless otherwise ordered.

Statement of Claim.

3. If the applicant for probate or administration does not see fit to obtain an order nisi under section 104 of the Act he shall within one month after notice of the filing of the caveat commence contentious proceedings by filing in the Registry a statement of claim in the form prescribed by the Consolidated Standing Equity Rules of the 29th June, 1883, and the 6th September, 1889, against the caveator as the defendant, and endorsed according to the form marked.

Appearance.

4. Appearance shall be entered by a defendant within eight days after service of the statement of claim at the address set out on his caveat.

When a defendant enters his appearance he shall file a memorandum to the effect either that he disputes the plaintiff's claim, or that he merely intends to cross-examine the witnesses produced in support of the due attestation of the will.

Default of Appearance.

5. Where any defendant duly served with the Statement of Claim does not enter an appearance thereto within the time limited, the plaintiff may, after seven days from the time so limited for appearing thereto, apply to the Court, on affidavit of service of the Statement of Claim, for a decree or order against the defendant in his absence.

Statement of Defence.

6. Every Statement of Defence must be filed within eight days after the time limited for appearance, and shall be signed by the Proctor for the defendant or his clerk on his behalf, but need not be on oath.

7. In a suit for probate the statement of defence shall consist of the following defences alone, unless by leave of the Court, obtained on summons:—

- i. That the paper writing, bearing date, &c., and alleged by the plaintiff (or defendant) to be the last will and testament (or codicil to the last will and testament) of A.B., late of. &c., deceased, was not duly executed according to the provisions of the Statute 1 Vic. c. 26, in manner and form as alleged.
- ii. That A.B., the deceased in this cause, at the time his alleged will (or codicil) bears date, to wit, on the, &c., was not of sound mind, memory, and understanding.
- iii. That the deceased at the time of the execution of the said alleged will or codicil did not know and approve of the contents thereof.
- iv. That the execution of the said alleged will (or codicil) was obtained by the fraud of C.D., and others acting with him (setting out the fraud alleged.)
- v. That the execution of the said alleged will (or codicil) was obtained by the undue influence of C.D., and others acting with him.

And

And if the defendant desires to propound another will, he may, by leave of the Judge, do so by way of counter claim.

8. Upon the filing of the Statement of Defence issue shall be deemed joined between the parties.

9. Copies of all pleadings shall be delivered at the address entered by both parties in the Registrar's office, which delivery shall be sufficient service, except where personal service is required; and all such copies shall be endorsed with the name and address so entered at the Registry.

Orders.

10. Minutes of all orders must be settled by the Registrar.

Suits for the Revocation of Probate and Administration.

11. In a suit for the revocation of probate or administration, proceedings shall be commenced by the issue of a citation against the party to whom the grant was made, requiring him to bring in and deposit the grant in the Registry; and within fourteen days after notice of such deposit the party issuing the citation shall file his statement of claim against the party cited, who shall be the defendant in the suit, and all subsequent proceedings shall be had and taken as in a contested suit for probate.

Forms.

12. The forms in the appendix hereto shall be followed in all proceedings under the Act, with such variations as the nature and circumstances of each particular case may require.

Costs.

13. The following scale shall be taken as the standing scale of costs to be allowed to Proctors in connection with the obtaining grants of probates and letters of administration, and no further costs shall be allowed as a charge against an estate, provided that, in all cases where the Proctor shall deliver a bill of costs to the executor or administrator (as the case may be), the Court may, on the application of the said Proctor, direct a taxation of such bill, and the amount of such bill when so taxed shall be a charge upon the estate of the said deceased; but, if after taxation the said bill does not amount to the sum set out in the following scale, the costs of such taxation shall be paid by the said Proctor:

|--|------------|
| Where the net value of the estate does not exceed £500 | 8 guineas. |

Administration Bond.

Know all men by these presents that we, of , in the Colony of New South Wales, of , in the Colony aforesaid, and of in the Colony aforesaid, are jointly and severally held and firmly bound unto Her Majesty the Queen, her heirs and successors, in the sum of pounds, of lawful British money, to be paid to her said Majesty, Her heirs and successors, for the due payment whereof we bind ourselves, and each and every of us, and for the whole, our heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns by these presents.

Dated this day of , in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-

The conditions of the above-written bond or obligation are such, that if the above-bounden the intended administrator of all and singular the estate and effects of , late of , in the Colony aforesaid, shall well and truly administer, according to law, the estate and effects of the said deceased at the time of his death, and all other the estate and effects of the said deceased, which at any time hereafter, shall come into the hands or possession of the said , as such administrator into the hands or possession of any other person or persons for him. And further, shall make or cause to be made a true and perfect account of administration, within twelve months from the date of the grant of the letters of administration, herein and afterwards from time to time as shall be lawfully required. And all the rest and residue of the said estate and effects which shall be found from time to time remaining upon the said administration account (the same being first examined and allowed by the Court) shall, and do pay and dispose of in a due course of administration or in such manner as the said Court shall direct. Then the above-written bond or obligation to be void and of no effect, otherwise to be and remain in full force and virtue. Provided always that a certificate or certificates under the hand of the Registrar of the said Court of the amount of which the said as such administrator as aforesaid is liable to pay and has not paid shall be sufficient and conclusive evidence against the said administrator, his heirs, executors, and administrators and against the above-bounden sureties, and each and every of them; and also as between the above-bounden sureties, and each and every of them, and Her Majesty the Queen, her heirs and successors of the truth of the contents of the said certificate or certificates, and that the above-bounden sureties, and each and every of them, have had due notice of the passing of the said accounts as aforesaid, and that this bond has become forfeited by the said certificate or certificates to the amount of the sums therein respectively stated, and shall form a valid and binding charge and claim, not only against the said administrator, his heirs, executors, and administrators, but also against the above-bounden sureties, and each and every of them, and their respective estates without its being necessary for any legal or other proceedings to be first taken against the said administrator, his heirs, executors, or administrators for the recovery thereof; and without any further or other proof being given in any action, suit, or proceeding to enforce this bond against the above-bounden sureties, and each and every of them, or against the said administrator, his heirs, executors, or administrators, or by or on the part of the above-bounden sureties, and each and every of them, in any action or proceeding against the said administrator, his heirs, executors, or administrators of the amount of such damage or loss, or that the same has been sustained, incurred, or occasioned by and through the act or default of the said administrator.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PUBLIC WORKS ACT OF 1888.(RESUMPTION OF LAND FOR PERMANENT ADDITIONS TO THE SUPREME COURT BUILDINGS, SYDNEY, PARISH OF ST. JAMES, COUNTY OF CUMBERLAND.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 51 Vic. No. 37.

NOTIFICATION OF RESUMPTION OF LAND UNDER THE "PUBLIC WORKS ACT OF 1888."

NEW SOUTH WALES, } Proclamation by His Excellency The to wit. } Right Honourable VICTOR ALBERT
GEORGE, EARL OF JERSEY, a Member
(L.S.) of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of JERSEY, } Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Governor. } the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

WHEREAS I, VICTOR ALBERT GEORGE, EARL OF JERSEY, the Governor aforesaid, have, with the advice of the Executive Council, directed that a certain public work—that is to say, Permanent Additions to the Supreme Court Buildings, Sydney, and for which public funds are lawfully available, the estimated cost of which does not exceed twenty thousand pounds, shall be carried out under the provisions of the Public Works Act of 1888 as an authorised work by the Minister for Public Works as constructing authority; and that the land described in the Schedule hereto, which is in my opinion required for carrying out the said work, shall be acquired under the Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act, as adopted by the Public Works Act of 1888: Now, therefore, I, the said Governor, with the advice aforesaid, in pursuance of the Public Works Act of 1888, do declare by this notification, to be published in the Government Gazette and in one or more newspapers published or circulating in the Metropolitan Police District wherein the said land is situated, that the Crown Land comprised within the description and boundaries set forth in the Schedule hereto has been appropriated, and the private property within such boundaries and comprised in such description has been resumed for the public purpose aforesaid, to the intent that upon the publication of this notification in the Gazette the said land described in the said Schedule hereto shall forthwith be vested in the said constructing authority as a corporation sole on behalf of Her Majesty, for the purposes of the said Public Works Act of 1888, for an estate in fee simple in possession, freed and discharged from all trusts, obligations, estates, interests, contracts, charges, rates, rights-of-way, or other easements whatsoever; and to the further intent that the legal estate therein, together with all powers incident thereto, as conferred by the said last-mentioned Act, shall be vested in such constructing authority as a trustee; and I declare that the following is the Schedule of the land hereinbefore referred to:—

THE SCHEDULE OF LAND.

All that piece or parcel of land situated in the City of Sydney, parish of Saint James, county of Cumberland, containing about 37½ perches: Commencing on the western side of Saint James' Road, at the south-east corner of the one rood nineteen perches granted to the Trustees of Saint James' Church, on the nineteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and forty-three; and bounded thence on the east and south-east by the building line of that road, being lines bearing southerly and south-westerly to the eastern boundary fence of the area occupied by the Registrar General's Office; thence on part of the west by that boundary fence and its prolongation northerly, in all about one hundred and twenty-six links, to a point on the southern side of the Supreme Court-house; thence on part of the north and the remainder of the west by parts of the southern and eastern sides of that Court-house bearing easterly about eighteen links and northerly about sixteen links respectively to the south-west corner of the said one rood nineteen perches; and thence on the remainder of the north by part of the southern boundary of that land bearing easterly two hundred and forty-eight links, to the point of commencement.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my Hand, and caused the Great Seal of the Colony to be hereto affixed, at Government House, Sydney, this seventh day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, and in the fifty-fifth year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,

BRUCE SMITH.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

JUDICIAL OFFICES BILL.

(MESSAGE No. 33.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 12 January, 1892.

JERSEY,

Governor.

Message No. 33.

In accordance with the provisions contained in the 54th section of the Constitution Act, the Governor recommends for the consideration of the Legislative Assembly the expediency of making provision to meet the requisite expenses in connection with a Bill to amend the law relating to certain judicial offices and to certain Courts, and the administration of justice therein.

RETURN to an Order of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 4th February, 1892, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—
 “A copy of the District Surveyor’s report on the Nowra Court-house site.”

(Mr. Morton.)

 Mr. District-Surveyor Deering to The Under Secretary for Lands.

Survey Office, Goulburn, 22 August, 1891.

Sites for Court-house, School of Arts, and Town Hall, Nowra.

1. The papers in this case are becoming so complicated that it is difficult to follow the action. In the following sentences I will give a brief summation of the case, and conclude with a report and recommendation.

2. The existing court-house is at the site marked A upon accompanying litho.

3. The new site applied for by Department of Justice is marked B. Here I may remark that the department does not ask for the whole area as “reserved for public buildings.”

4. The site for mechanics’ institute is coloured blue; dedicated 13th November, 1877; revoked and resumed 7th April, 1891.

5. The site for the town hall is coloured green (formerly pound site); reserved 11th November, 1890.

6. Knowing this town well the first question arising to my mind is, “Why change the court-house site at all?” The present site is excellent. Site A is quite as good as site B. Moreover, the present court-house meets every public requirement, and will continue to do so for very many years to come. The population is chiefly composed of tenants of the Berry Estate, who are orderly, peaceable, and industrious. The court-house is small, but it is convenient, and is quite large enough to meet the offences of the district. The chief meetings held in it are the Land Board meetings. In referring to the court-house, which belongs to another department, I should not have done so, but it is inseparable from the application to change the site.

7. The proposed removal of the school of arts to a more central position is very beneficial. If such an institution is not central, its value to the residents is greatly impaired. This site, coloured blue, has been resumed by the Government. Upon it has been erected a small plain brick cottage, costing £130, worth now about £100. One side of it has served for the municipal council, and the other for the mechanics’ institute and library. The land itself is worth about £300, making £400 in all. The trustees have now purchased a site in Berry-street, centrally situated, and expect to pay for it with the money hoped for from Government for the resumption referred to.

8. Of the town hall site, reserved 11th November, 1890, coloured green, there is nothing to be said except that the site is very good but rather remote from the centre of population along Junction-street. No other public land is available, however.

9. My recommendation is as follows:—

- (1.) That site B be not granted as a site for court-house.
- (2.) That the Government, having resumed the present site of mechanics’ institute, should pay the sum of £400 to the trustees.
- (3.) That the site for the town hall, as reserved 11th November, 1890, being allotment 14, section 27, should remain.
- (4.) And that allotment 15, section 27, undealt with beyond survey, revert to the reserve for public buildings.

JOHN W. DEERING,
 District Surveyor.

FUGITIVE CRIMINALS.

(DESPATCH RESPECTING MUTUAL EXTRADITION OF.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

Department of Justice,
Sydney, 24th March, 1892.

His Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Despatch, dated 24th November, 1891, from the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

R. E. O'CONNOR.

[Circular.]

Downing-street,
17th December, 1891.

Sir,

With reference to my predecessor's Circular despatch of the 16th of March, 1885, I have the honour to transmit to you, for publication in the Colony under your Government, a copy of an Order of Her Majesty the Queen in Council, dated the 24th of November, 1891, for giving effect to the Protocol between Her Majesty and the President of the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay, concluded at Monte Video on the 20th of March, 1891, the ratifications of which were exchanged at Monte Video on the 17th of July, 1891, for the extension of the period stipulated in Article IX of the Treaty of 26th March, 1884, for the mutual extradition of Fugitive Criminals.

I have, &c.,
KNUTSFORD.

The Officer Administering
the Government of New South Wales.

ORDER

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

EXTRADITION TREATY BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND THE ORIENTAL REPUBLIC OF THE URUGUAY.

Windsor, 24th November, 1891.

At the Court at Windsor, the 24th day of November, 1891.

Present :

THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

Lord President.
Earl of Limerick.
Lord Walter Gordon-Lennox.

Sir James Fergusson, Bart.
Mr. A. J. Balfour.
Sir Charles Pearson.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that Her Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of Her Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient; and that if, by any law made after the passing of the Act of 1870 by the Legislature of any British possession, provision is made for carrying into effect within such possession the surrender of fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in such British possession, Her Majesty may, by the Order in Council applying the said Acts in the case of any foreign State, or by any subsequent Order, suspend the operation within any such British possession of the said Acts, or of any part thereof, so far as it relates to such foreign State, and so long as such law continues in force there and no longer:

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, between Her Majesty and the President of the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals:

And whereas by an Order of Her Majesty the Queen in Council, dated the fifth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, it was directed that the Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, should apply in the case of the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay:

And whereas by an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed in 1886, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," provision is made for carrying into effect within the Dominion the surrender of fugitive criminals:

And whereas by an Order of Her Majesty the Queen in Council, dated the seventeenth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, it was directed that the operation of the Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, should be suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as the provision of the said Act of the Parliament of Canada of 1886 should continue in force and no longer:

And whereas a Protocol was concluded on the twentieth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, between Her Majesty and the President of the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay, providing for the extension of the period stipulated in Article IX of the above-mentioned Treaty of the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, which Protocol is in the terms following:—

"MONTE VIDEO, the twentieth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, their Excellencies Mr. Ernest Mason Satow, Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Her Britannic Majesty's Minister Resident and Consul-General, and Dr. Manuel Herrero y Espinosa, Minister for Foreign Affairs, having met together at the Ministry for Foreign Affairs with the object of providing for the extension of the period stipulated in Article IX of the Treaty for the Extradition of Criminals, in force between their respective countries, for the provisional arrest of persons charged with any of the crimes or offences specified in the said Treaty, and having exchanged their full powers, which were found to be in good and due form, have agreed to the following Declaration, which shall be considered an integral part of the said international compact:

"The period of thirty days fixed by Article IX of the Treaty for the Extradition of Criminals in force between the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay and Great Britain, for the provisional arrest of persons charged with any of the crimes or offences specified in the said Treaty, being thoroughly recognised as insufficient, both Governments agree that the said period shall henceforth be fixed at sixty days.

"In witness whereof the said Plenipotentiaries have caused the present Protocol to be drawn up in duplicate, and have signed both copies, and thereto affixed their seals on the date above expressed.

"(L.S.) ERNEST MASON SATOW.
"(L.S.) MANUEL HERRERO Y ESPINOSA."

"EN Monte Video, á los veinte dias del mes de Marzo del año de 1891, reunidos en le Ministerio de Relaciones Exteriores, suas Excelencias el Señor Don Ernesto Satow, Miembro de la muy Distinguida Orden de San Miguel and San Jorge, Ministro Residente y Cónsul-General de Su Magestad Británica en la República, y el Señor Doctor Don Manuel Herrero y Espinosa, Ministro del Reino, con el objeto de establecer la ampliación del término fijado en el Artículo IX del Tratado de Extradición de Criminales vigente entre ambos países para la detención preventiva de las personas perseguidas por alguno de los crímenes ó delitos especificados en dicho Tratado, despues de cangeados sus plenos poderes, que fueron hallados en buena y debida forma, convinieron en hacer la siguiente Declaración, que se considerer: parte integrante del referido pacto internacional —

"Siendo notoriamente insuficiente el término de treinta dias que establece el Artículo IX del Tratado de Extradición de Criminales vigente entre la Gran Bretaña y la República Oriental del Uruguay, para la detención preventiva de las personas perseguidas por alguno de los crímenes ó delitos especificados en el referido Tratado, ambos Gobiernos convienen en que dicho plazo quede desde luego fijado en sesenta dias.

"En fé de lo cual, los Señores Plenipotenciarios hicieron labrar el presente Protocolo por duplicado, cuyos ejemplares firmaron y sellaron con sus selos en la fecha arriba espresada.

"(L.S.) ERNEST MASON SATOW.
"(L.S.) MANUEL HERRERO Y ESPINOSA."

And whereas the ratifications of the said Protocol were exchanged at Monte Video on the seventeenth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Her by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the seventh day of December, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the said Protocol of the twentieth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, as fully to all intents and purposes as in the case of the said recited Treaty of the twenty-sixth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four:

Provided always, and it is hereby further ordered that the operation of the said Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, shall be suspended within the Dominion of Canada so far as relates to the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay and to the said Treaty and Protocol, and so long as the provisions of the Canadian Act aforesaid of 1886 continue in force, and no longer.

(SECON SESSION.)

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SURRENDER OF FUGITIVE CRIMINALS.

(DESPATCH RESPECTING.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

Department of Justice,
Sydney, 30th June, 1891.

His Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Despatch, dated 9th April, 1891, from the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

ALBERT J. GOULD.

(Circular.)

Sir,

Downing-street,
9th April, 1891.

I have the honor to transmit to you, for publication in the Colony under your Government, a copy of an Order of Her Majesty the Queen in Council, dated the 20th of March, 1891 (The London Gazette, 27th March, 1891—Extract), for giving effect to the Treaty between Her Majesty and the President of the Orange Free State for the mutual extradition of Fugitive Criminals, signed at Cape Town on the 20th of June, 1890, and at Bloemfontein, on the 25th of June, 1890, the ratifications of which were exchanged at Bloemfontein on the 16th of December, 1890.

The Treaty came into operation on the 6th instant, in conformity with Article XX.

The Officer Administering the Government of New South Wales.

I have, &c.,

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

EXTRADITION BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND THE ORANGE FREE STATE.

Windsor, 20th March, 1891.

At the Court at Windsor, the 20th day of March, 1891.

Present :

THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.
LORD PRESIDENT.
DUKE OF RUTLAND.
LORD CHAMBERLAIN.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, Her Majesty may, by order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign state; and that Her Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of Her Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient; and that if, by any law made after the passing of the Act of 1870 by the Legislature of any British possession, provision is made for carrying into effect within such possession the surrender of fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in such British possession, Her Majesty may, by the Order in Council applying the said Acts in the case of any foreign state, or by any subsequent Order, suspend the operation within any such British possession of the said Acts, or of any part thereof, so far as it relates to such foreign State, and so long as such law continues in force there and no longer :

And whereas by an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed in 1886, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," provision is made for carrying into effect within the Dominion the surrender of fugitive criminals :

And whereas by an Order of Her Majesty the Queen in Council, dated the seventeenth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, it was directed that the operation of the Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, should be suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as the provision of the said Act of the Parliament of Canada of 1886 should continue in force and no longer :

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twentieth and twenty-fifth days of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, between Her Majesty and the President of the Orange Free State, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following :—

"Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, and his Honour the President of the Orange Free State, in the name of the Government of that Republic, having judged it expedient, with a view to the better administration of justice and to the prevention of crime within the two countries and their jurisdictions, that persons charged with or convicted of the crimes or offences hereinafter enumerated, and being fugitives from justice, should, under certain circumstances, be reciprocally delivered up ;

"His Excellency Sir Henry Brougham Loch, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Knight Commander of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, Her Majesty's High Commissioner for South Africa, &c., acting on behalf and in the name of Her said Majesty ;

"And his Honour Francis William Reitz, President of the Orange Free State, acting on behalf and in the name of the Government of the Orange Free State,

"Have agreed upon and concluded the following Articles :—

ARTICLE I.

"The High Contracting Parties engage to deliver up to each other, under the circumstances and conditions stated in the present Treaty, those persons who, being accused or convicted of any of the crimes or offences enumerated in Article II, committed in the territory of the one Party, shall be found within the territory of the other Party."

ARTICLE II.

"Extradition shall be reciprocally granted for the following crimes or offences :—

"1. Murder (including assassination, parricide, infanticide, poisoning), or attempt or conspiracy to murder.

"2. Manslaughter.

"3. Administering drugs or using instruments with intent to procure the miscarriage of women.

"4. Rape.

"5. Unlawful carnal knowledge, or any attempt to have unlawful carnal knowledge, of a girl under 16 years of age, if the evidence produced justifies committal for those crimes according to the laws of both the Contracting Parties.

"6. Indecent assault.

"7. Kidnapping and false imprisonment, child stealing.

"8. Abduction.

"9. Bigamy.

"10. Maliciously wounding or inflicting grievous bodily harm.

"11. Assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

"12. Threats, by letter or otherwise, with intent to extort money or other things of value.

"13. Perjury or subornation of perjury.

"14. Arson.

"15. Burglary or housebreaking, robbery with violence, larceny, or embezzlement.

"16. Fraud, by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, director, member, or public officer of any company, made criminal by any law for the time being in force.

"17. Obtaining money, valuable security, or goods by false pretences; receiving any money, valuable security, or other property, knowing the same to have been stolen or unlawfully obtained.

"18. (a.) Counterfeiting or altering money, or bringing into circulation counterfeited or altered money.

"(b.) Forgery, or counterfeiting or altering, or uttering what is forged, counterfeited, or altered.

"(c.) Knowingly making, without lawful authority, any instrument, tool, or engine adapted and intended for the counterfeiting of coin of the realm.

"19. Crimes against Bankruptcy Law.

"20. Any malicious act done with intent to endanger the safety of any person travelling or being upon a railway.

"21. Malicious injury to property, if such offence be indictable.

"22. Crimes committed at sea :—

"(a.) Piracy by the law of nations.

"(b.) Sinking or destroying a vessel at sea, or attempting or conspiring to do so.

"(c.) Revolt, or conspiracy to revolt, by two or more persons on board a ship on the high seas, against the authority of the master.

"(d.) Assault on board a ship on the high seas, with intent to destroy life or to do grievous bodily harm.

"23. Dealing in slaves in such manner as to constitute a criminal offence against the laws of both States.

"The extradition is also to be granted for participation in any of the aforesaid crimes, provided such participation be punishable by the laws of both Contracting Parties.

"Extradition may also be granted at the discretion of the State applied to in respect of any other crime for which, according to the laws of both Contracting Parties for the time being in force, the grant can be made."

ARTICLE III.

"Either Government may, in its absolute discretion, refuse in any case to deliver up its own subjects to the other Government."

ARTICLE IV.

"The extradition shall not take place if the person claimed on the part of Her Majesty's Government, or the person claimed on the part of the Government of the Orange Free State, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is still under trial in the territory of the Orange Free State or in the United Kingdom respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

"If the person claimed on behalf of Her Majesty's Government, or on behalf of the Government of the Orange Free State, should be under examination for any other crime in the territory of the Orange Free State or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition shall be deferred until the conclusion of the trial and the full execution of any punishment awarded to him."

ARTICLE V.

"The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to."

ARTICLE VI.

"A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has, in fact, been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character."

ARTICLE VII.

"A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made, for any other crime, or on account of any other matters, than those for which the extradition shall have taken place, until he has been restored, or has had an opportunity of returning, to the State by which he has been surrendered. This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition."

ARTICLE VIII.

"The requisition for extradition shall be made through Her Majesty's High Commissioner for South Africa on behalf of the United Kingdom and Her Majesty's Colonies or foreign possessions, not excluded from this Treaty by Article XVIII, and through the Consul-General of the Orange Free State at London on behalf of the Government of the said State.

"The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

"If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by the sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

"A sentence passed in contumacium is not to be deemed a conviction, but a person so sentenced may be dealt with as an accused person."

ARTICLE IX.

"If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive."

ARTICLE X.

"A fugitive criminal may be apprehended, under a warrant issued by any Police Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, or other competent authority in either country, on such information or complaint, and such evidence, or after such proceedings as would, in the opinion of the authority issuing the warrant, justify the issue of a warrant if the crime had been committed or the person convicted in that part of the dominions of the two Contracting Parties in which the Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, or other competent authority exercises jurisdiction; provided, however, that in the United Kingdom the accused shall, in such case, be sent as speedily as possible before a Police Magistrate in London. The criminal shall, in accordance with this Article, be discharged, as well in the Orange Free State as in the United Kingdom, if within the term of forty-five days a requisition for extradition shall not have been made by the Diplomatic Agent of his country in accordance with the stipulations of this Treaty.

"The same rule shall apply to the cases of persons accused or convicted of any of the crimes or offences specified in this Treaty, and committed on the high seas on board any vessel of either country which may come into a port of the other."

ARTICLE XI.

"The extradition shall take place only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the same State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition, and that the crime of which he has been convicted is one in respect of which extradition could, at the time of such conviction, have been granted by the State applied to; and no criminal shall be surrendered until after the expiration of fifteen days from the date of his committal to prison to await the warrant for his surrender."

ARTICLE XII.

"In the examinations which they will have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to for said extradition shall admit as valid evidence the depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, under oath or under solemn affirmation to tell the truth, according as its legislation may provide, or the copies of these depositions or statements, and likewise the warrants issued and sentences pronounced in the State which demands the extradition, the certificates of the fact of the condemnation, or the judicial documents which prove it, provided the same are authenticated as follows:—

"1. A warrant must purport to be signed by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the other State.

"2. Depositions or affirmations, or the copies thereof, must purport to be certified, under the hand of a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the other State, to be the original depositions or affirmations, or to be true copies thereof, as the case may require.

"3. A certificate of, or a judicial document stating the fact of, a conviction, must purport to be certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the other State.

"4. In every case such warrant, deposition, affirmation, copy, certificate, or judicial document must be authenticated either by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of the other State; but any other mode of authentication for the time being permitted by law in the State where the examination is taken may be substituted for the foregoing."

ARTICLE XIII.

"If the individual claimed by one of the two High Contracting Parties, in pursuance of the present Treaty, should be also claimed by one or several other Powers on account of other crimes or offences committed upon their respective territories, his extradition shall be granted to that State whose demand is earliest in date."

ARTICLE XIV.

"If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, or within such further time as the State applied to, or the proper Tribunal thereof, shall direct, the fugitive shall be set at liberty."

ARTICLE XV.

"All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery of such articles, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime."

ARTICLE XVI.

"All expenses connected with extradition shall be borne by the demanding State."

ARTICLE XVII.

"The present Treaty shall apply to crimes and offences committed prior to the signature of the Treaty."

ARTICLE XVIII.

"The stipulations of the present Treaty shall not be applicable to the South African Colonies and possessions of Her Britannic Majesty."

ARTICLE XIX.

"With the exceptions mentioned in the preceding Article, the stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to all the Colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty, so far as the laws for the time being in force in such Colonies and foreign possessions respectively will allow.

"The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or Chief Authority of such Colony or possession by the Chief Consular Officer of the Orange Free State in such Colony or possession.

"Such requisition may be disposed of, subject always as nearly as may be, and so far as the law of such Colony or foreign possession will allow, to the provisions of this Treaty, by the said Governor or Chief Authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender or to refer the matter to his Government.

"Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of Orange Free State criminals who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, and so far as the law of such Colony or foreign possession will allow, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

"Requisitions for the surrender of a fugitive criminal emanating from any such Colony or foreign possession of Her Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty."

ARTICLE XX.

"The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties by a notice not exceeding one year and not less than six months.

"The Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Bloemfontein as soon as possible.

"In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms."

"Done in duplicate, at Cape Town, this twentieth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety."

"(L.S.) (Signed) HENRY B. LOCH, High Commissioner."

"Done in duplicate, at Bloemfontein, this twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety."

"(L.S.) (Signed) F. W. REITZ, State President."

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at Bloemfontein on the sixteenth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Her by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the sixth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the Orange Free State pursuant to the arrangement made by the said Treaty with the President of the Orange Free State.

Provided always, and it is hereby further ordered, that the operation of the said Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, shall be suspended within the Dominion of Canada so far as relates to the Orange Free State and to the said Treaty, and so long as the provisions of the Canadian Act aforesaid of 1886 continue in force, and no longer; and provided also that the operation of the said Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, shall not extend to the South African Colonies and possessions of Her Majesty so far as relates to the Orange Free State and to the said Treaty.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

DEATHS UNDER CHLOROFORM.

(PETITION FROM CERTAIN RELATIVES AND FRIENDS OF PERSONS WHO HAVE DIED APPARENTLY WHILE UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF CHLOROFORM.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 17 December, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

That we, the relatives and friends of persons who have died apparently while under the influence of chloroform or its admixtures, desire to bring under the notice of your Honorable House the subject of the administration of anæsthetics, with a view to procure a further inquiry into the subject, so as to prevent, as far as possible, any further deaths from the use of these agents. We humbly submit that, to our mind, the only satisfactory inquiry to effect this object would be such as would cover the whole subject of the proper use, and also the abuse, of anæsthetics, and to lay down strict and stringent rules to be adhered to before admitting their use, and other indications that contra-indicate their being employed; and upon any neglect to carry out such rules, &c., to bring the person so neglecting under the criminal law for murder or manslaughter; and as to which is the most suitable anæsthetic to be administered in particular cases, if any.

That such inquiry would, if we may venture the suggestion, be thoroughly and satisfactorily held by a Royal Commission consisting of six members :—1st. A first-class chemist. 2nd. A retired Sydney physician. 3rd. A physiologist. 4th. A physicist—a University man preferred. 5th. A retired physician of British and Continental experience. 6th. A retired legal practitioner.

That, in order that the inquiry may be exhaustive and satisfactory to the whole of the public, the Commissioners may have the right to examine not only hospital medical staffs and others in the practice of their profession. It is therefore desirable to entrust the inquiry to such medical gentlemen described above, who have retired from the active practice of their profession, or are persons of independent character and position, who would thus be in a better position to define what should be the future course to be adopted for the administration of these active agents, rather than those who are engaged at present in the practice of their profession; and these gentlemen would be more likely to take that calm, judicious, and fearless view of the subject to enable them to frame rules for the safety of the public during the administration of these anæsthetics.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that you will see sufficient grounds for the calling into existence such a Commission, which would frame such stringent rules as to prevent such deaths from occurrence, or their being attributed to natural causes, as we have noticed during the last few years.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray, &c.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

(SPIRITS, WINE, AND BEER—CONVICTIONS UNDER THE LICENSING ACT.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 29 July, 1891.

FURTHER RETURN (in part) to an Order of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 15th February, 1884, That there be laid upon the Table of this House, for the years 1881, 1882, and 1883, respectively,—

- “(1.) The quantity, in gallons, of spirits, wines, and beers, respectively, imported into this Colony.
- “(2.) The quantity, in gallons, of spirits, wines, and beers, respectively, manufactured in this Colony.
- “(3.) The quantity, in gallons, of spirits, wines, and beers, respectively, imported and manufactured, per head of the population of the Colony.
- “(4.) Also, Returns for each Police District of the Colony, including the Metropolitan District, under the following heads:—
- “(a) The number of licensed houses in each district.
- “(b) The number of Colonial wine, wholesale wine and spirit, and brewers’ licenses, respectively, in each district; also, the number of licenses to distil spirits.
- “(c) The number of convictions for drunkenness.
- “(d) The number of convictions for drunkenness, with obscene or indecent language.
- “(e) The number of convictions for drunkenness, with riotous behaviour.
- “(f) The number of convictions for drunkenness, with common assault.
- “(g) The number of convictions for drunkenness, with assault upon the Police.
- “(h) The number of offences of the above nature committed between 8 a.m. on Saturday and 8 a.m. on Sunday; and the like between 8 a.m. on Sunday and 8 a.m. on Monday.
- “(i) The number of convictions for selling on Sunday.
- “(j) The number of convictions for selling during prohibited hours other than for Sunday-selling.
- “(k) The number of convictions for selling adulterated liquors.
- “That such Returns in future be laid upon the Table of this House and printed as soon after the close of the year as possible.”

(Mr. Hutchison, Canterbury.)

And to a Resolution of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 12th June, 1888, “That this House is of opinion that, in the Annual Return ordered by this House from the Department of Justice of the convictions for drunkenness, &c., in the various districts of the Colony, columns be added, to stand as six and seven respectively, showing the number of ‘all other convictions in which drunkenness formed part of the charge,’ and ‘the number of penalties included in foregoing offences;’ and further, that the total of convictions given in the Return be shown for the whole Colony.”

(Mr. Hutchison, for Mr. Henson.)

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PUBLICANS LICENSES FURTHER RESTRICTION BILL.

(MESSAGE No. 5.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 5 August, 1891.

JERSEY,

Governor.

Message No. 5.

In accordance with the provisions contained in the 54th section of the Constitution Act, the Governor recommends for the consideration of the Legislative Assembly the expediency of making provision to meet the requisite expenses in connection with a Bill to amend and extend the provisions of the "Licensing Acts 1882-1883," under which publicans' licenses are subject to ratepayers' votes; and for other purposes in connection with the restriction of such licenses.

(SECOND SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PUBLICANS' LICENSES FURTHER RESTRICTION.

(FROM CERTAIN MEMBERS OF THE NEW SOUTH WALES CONGREGATIONAL TOTAL ABSTINENCE ASSOCIATION.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 30 July, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned, Members of the New South Wales Congregational Total Abstinence Association,—

SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners regard with much satisfaction the action of the Government in introducing, in the last session of Parliament, the Publicans' Licenses Further Restriction Act.

That, at a Conference of the Local Option League and the ten Clerical and Lay Temperance Organisations then represented by their duly accredited representatives, at which our delegates were present, held on the 18th of April last, it was resolved that it should be represented to your Honorable House that it was its earnest desire that the said Bill should pass into law.

It was also resolved to respectfully ask your Honorable House to make the following amendments:—

1. Believing that one-sixth of the electors was too large a number to be necessary to demand a poll, not less than 100 to be substituted.
2. That no deposit be necessary when a poll is demanded.
3. That a simple majority, instead of two-thirds, be sufficient to carry one prohibitory resolution.
4. That a clause be inserted so as to include in the Local Option vote power over the sale of liquor in clubs.
5. That the provisions of the Bill be made to apply to all licenses, and not to publicans only.
6. That, in the event of a poll failing to bring in force either of the resolutions, it be allowed to demand a fresh poll at the end of a year.
7. That no extension of from one to three years of a publican's license be allowed.
8. It was further agreed, that it was very desirable to retain in the Bill the very valuable power proposed to give electors to permit them to demand a poll on either of the three resolutions contained in the Bill, so that they might be enabled to veto new licenses, reduce the number of licenses, or have prohibition.

It was believed that to omit either of these resolutions would wrongly curtail the rights which ought to belong to the people.

They, therefore, pray that your Honorable House will be pleased to take the foregoing Petition into your favourable consideration.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

PUBLICANS' LICENSES FURTHER RESTRICTION BILL.
(PETITION FROM CERTAIN MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF NEW SOUTH WALES, IN FAVOUR OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 3 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Members of the Committee appointed by the Congregational Union of New South Wales to deal with matters relating to Temperance and Morality,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

(1.) That your Petitioners regard with great satisfaction the fact that a Bill has been introduced to your Honorable House by the Government, entitled the "Publicans' Licenses Further Restriction Bill."

(2.) That your Petitioners believe that the residents in each district should have the right to protect themselves from the demoralising and disastrous consequences resulting from the sale of intoxicating liquors.

(3.) That your Petitioners rejoice that the said Bill has for its object the giving to the electors of the Colony the power to decide whether intoxicating liquors shall or shall not be sold in their respective districts.

(4.) Your Petitioners therefore pray your Honorable House to take the Bill into your favourable consideration, and pass it as early as possible, believing that thereby many of the evils so much to be deplored will be greatly abated.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

(PETITION FROM D. M'INTYRE, CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC MEETING.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 16 July, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

That your Petitioner presided over a public meeting in the Congregational School-room, Point Piper Road, Woollahra, on the 25th June, 1891, at which it was resolved to urge your Honorable House to amend the laws relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors, by establishing a system of local option, whereby the majority of the Parliamentary electors would have the right to veto the liquor traffic in their own Electoral Districts.

Your Petitioner therefore prays that your Honorable House will amend the said laws; and your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

(PETITION FROM W. SIDAWAY, CHAIRMAN OF A PUBLIC MEETING HELD IN THE ODDFELLOWS' HALL, WAVERLEY.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 8 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

Your Petitioners, residents of Waverley and neighbourhood, at a public meeting held in the Oddfellows' Hall on Saturday evening, 5th September, unanimously adopted the following resolutions:—

That this meeting of residents of Waverley and neighbourhood is of opinion:—

- 1st.—That the enormous evils—economic, social, and moral—everywhere resulting from the traffic in intoxicants, and the wide-spread demand for the right of popular veto, render it necessary that the subject should be dealt with at the earliest possible moment.
- 2nd.—That the most reasonable, democratic, and satisfactory method of dealing with the question would be, by placing upon the Statute Book a law providing for the prohibition of the manufacture, importation, and sale of alcoholic liquor for beverage purposes, such law before coming into operation to be submitted to a vote of the entire adult population of the country.
- 3rd.—That the above resolutions be embodied in a petition, signed by the Chairman, and presented to Parliament.

Your Petitioners humbly pray that the subject of this Petition may receive the favorable consideration of your Honorable House.

And, as in duty bound, your Petitioners will ever pray.

W. SIDAWAY,
Chairman.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

(PETITION FROM CERTAIN PERSONS IN FAVOUR OF THE INTRODUCTION INTO PARLIAMENT OF AN AMENDED LICENSING BILL.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 10 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned,—

SHOWETH:—

That in the interests of the public, as well as of the trade, it is desirable to introduce into Parliament an Amended Licensing Bill, having for its objects the removal of certain restrictions by which licensed victuallers are oppressed and the public harassed.

That local option, itself fallacious in principle and disappointing in results, even to its supporters, is made a level wherewith to put in motion the engine of confiscation without compensation. The local option party are now prepared to go further, and evidence is not wanting that they will not stop short of attempting to secure absolute prohibition.

That the licensed victuallers not only contribute a yearly sum of nearly a million and a quarter sterling to the revenue, in the form of duty, license and excise, but from the peculiar character of their business, they are compelled to pay higher rents than their neighbours, and to employ larger numbers of employes. Yet in face of these facts they are subject to regulations and restrictions which would stigmatise them as men to whom rights of citizenship are to be conceded only as mere privileges.

That the guiding principle upon which the Licensing Act should be framed is to make obedience to the law easy, its infraction difficult, for it is not extravagant to say that there are no hotel-keepers in existence who would escape punishment if every clause of the present Licensing Act were strictly enforced.

That your Petitioners therefore desire to represent to the Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly the desirability of alterations in the existing Licensing Act in the following directions:—

Hours of closing.—The present hours during which hotels are allowed to be open, viz., 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., are too restricted. An extra half-hour in the morning would afford means of early refreshment to the mechanical classes, whilst an extra half-hour in the evening would provide opportunities for similar purposes at the close of the theatres. To the large bulk of the population of the metropolis the compulsion upon licensed victuallers to close at 11 p.m. is a severe restriction, and one which experience has shown to be unnecessary. By the Licensing Act in force in the Colony of Victoria the licensed victuallers are allowed to keep their premises open for the sale of liquors till 11:30 p.m. every day, and on special representation being made to the licensing authorities through the District Inspector, permission can be obtained to keep the premises open to a later hour than 11:30 p.m., or to open even earlier than 6 a.m. Your Petitioners urge that in this particular at least a good precedent is to be found in the Victorian Act, which might well be copied in New South Wales.

Sunday closing.—The clause compelling licensed victuallers to close their houses during the entire Sunday is one which presses very hardly upon the great masses of population. To the rich man who has his cellar it implies little if any inconvenience, but to the middle and lower classes, whose supplies must be taken over the counter day by day, the deprivation is not only a source of supreme discomfort, but frequently results in the aggravation of illness, or even may be its direct cause. To allow the wealthy man to make use of his club, or to draw his supplies from his cellar unchecked, and yet to prevent the labouring man possessing just the same rights of citizenship, from satisfying the demands of nature or habit, is a manifest inequality which should hardly find favour among the representatives of a democratic community. The hours of Sunday opening, for the sale of liquor to be consumed on the premises, might, with justice, be limited to three periods, viz., from 7 to 9 a.m., 1 to 3, and 8 to 10 p.m. With these hours the public would have reason to be satisfied, and the concession would in no way ruffle the feelings of those who attend places of worship. At this point your Petitioners would urge that the licensed victuallers should be allowed the same liberty to trade on Good Friday and Christmas Day as they now desire to enjoy on Sunday.

Single-room Clubs.—The strict interpretation of the clause defining the hours of selling has beyond question led to the establishment of a class of business which is deserving of severe censure, on grounds both moral and equitable. The single-room clubs may, as clubs, be beyond the reach of the law, of which they are, strictly speaking, only evasions, but at the same time they are a cause of serious loss to the licensed victuallers, and of injury to the morals of the public. They give rise to a vast amount of unnecessary drinking and consequent intoxication, and in no sense merit that consideration which should be accorded to the licensed victualler who conducts an open, honest business. It should not be impossible to frame a clause limiting the existence of clubs to those institutions conducted on lines similar to those which govern our leading social and political clubs.

Power of Police to enter Hotels.—While it must be admitted that the Licensing Inspectors must have power to enter hotels on reasonable suspicion that the law is being broken, it is on the other hand entirely in opposition to good faith that constables in disguise or out of uniform should tempt the licensed victuallers to commit breaches of the law, and then punish them for doing so. That the guardians of the law indirectly paid by the community to preserve it should promote the violation of the very regulations they should jealously keep intact is a breach of good morals which can find no apology.

Issuing of Summonses.—By Clause 95 of the Principal Act a summons may be issued at any period within one month after the committing of the offence. Advantage is sometimes taken of this by the police to delay the issuing of summonses to such a date that the licensed victualler shall have lost sight of the witnesses who may possibly give evidence on his behalf. It is almost immaterial how long the hearing is delayed provided that the licensed victualler receive notice that he will be summoned for the alleged infraction of the law within a period of three days. This will enable the licensed victualler to make a fair defence. At present he is frequently taken utterly by surprise, and has no means of obtaining any witnesses on his behalf.

The onus of proof.—At present it appears to be the practice of the Licensing Court to accept the statements of the police, and then compel the licensed victualler to prove his innocence. This is evidently founded on the theory that police evidence is more worthy of credit than any other sworn testimony, and is in direct contradiction to the British principle of justice—that no man is to be held guilty until distinct proof is forthcoming.

The right of appeal.—By Clause 72 the Bench of Licensing Magistrates are granted powers of adjudication without appeal. In no other case is any citizen deprived of that right, and it is an unmerited stigma on the licensed victuallers that they alone should be selected out of the whole body politic as undeserving of the right of appeal to the higher Courts. It is the opinion of your Petitioners that before any licensed victualler should have his license marked or cancelled he should have this right. Experience has shown on more than one occasion the necessity of the provision.

Wine and Spirit Merchants' Licenses issued to Grocers.—These licenses are not only a direct infringement of the privileges for which licensed victuallers pay large sums, but the provisions of the law as it stands are not carried out. Grocers holding these licenses should be allowed to sell not less than two gallons of liquor of one kind, but not only do they sell miscellaneous parcels, but they carry on an immense traffic in single bottles, the liquor frequently appearing in the household accounts in the form of groceries. Such direct violations of the Act are, not only against the law, but are the cause of much drunkenness in families. The law should be carried out stringently in this respect, and an amendment is required in the Act to the effect that each two gallons must be of liquor of the same kind. If the police are expected to act as spies upon the licensed victualler, they should also do the same with regard to the grocers. Your Petitioners hold that the temptations to break the law so frequently held out by the police are utterly wrong in principle, and a clause should be inserted in the Act rendering a constable who induces a licensed victualler to break the law guilty of misdemeanour and punishable accordingly.

Recovery of Money due.—By Clause 57 no licensed victualler can recover at law any money due for liquor unless sold to lodgers or travellers, or unless it has been sold in larger quantities than two gallons and at one and the same time. Your Petitioners regret that the licensed victuallers should be singled out from the rest of the community as not being worthy to recover money for debts lawfully due to them. In any amended Act the licensed victuallers of this Colony should be placed on an equality with their neighbours and allowed to legally recover money due for goods supplied.

Refreshment for Travellers.—Your Petitioners respectfully point out that the clause limiting the right of purchasing liquors to travellers who have journeyed 20 miles within the County of Cumberland, or 10 miles in other parts of the Colony is too restricted in its action. It would be a fair concession to the public to fix 3 miles as the limit beyond which a bona fide traveller may obtain refreshment at a hotel. Lord Chief Justice Cockburn stated that at common law absence from home, whether on business or pleasure, constituted a traveller, but as fair limitation is necessary, your Petitioners are of opinion that the 3 miles' limit would be found a sufficient restriction.

Duty on Spirits.—Your Petitioners are of opinion that the duty on spirits is too high. The increased duty levied some time since has led to illicit distillation, loss to the Government, and injury to the health of those who drink liquors made from this class of raw spirit. The loss to the Government is very clearly shown when it is stated that in 1882, when the duty on spirits was 12s. per gallon, the importation of spirits amounted to about 1,151,781 gallons, whilst in 1888, with a duty of 14s. per gallon, the importation fell to 1,142,665 gallons, and though the importation has since increased, it has not been in direct ratio to the growth of the population.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that all these matters be taken into the deep and earnest consideration of your Honorable House, and that an amended Licensing Bill be early introduced and passed into law, amending the clauses to which your Petitioners have referred, and under which they suffer wrong and oppression.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

(PETITION FROM JAMES H. RAINFORD, PRESIDENT, AND W. A. COURT, SECRETARY, OF THE SOUTH SYDNEY BRANCH OF THE UNITED LICENSED VICTUALLERS' ASSOCIATION.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 10 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the South Sydney Branch of the United Licensed Victuallers' Association,—
SHOWETH:—

That in the opinion of the South Sydney Branch of the United Licensed Victuallers' Association of New South Wales, representing 170 licensed victuallers in the electorate of South Sydney, it is desirable, in the interests of the working classes, that the 63rd section of the Licensing Acts of 1882-3 should be so amended as to permit the sale of liquor to be consumed on the premises within the following hours, viz.:—5.30 a.m. to 11.30 p.m. on the six business days of the week; 7 to 9 a.m., 1 to 3, and 8 to 10 p.m. on Sundays, Good Fridays, and Christmas Day.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that the foregoing will be taken into the earnest consideration of your Honorable House, with a view to the amendment of the Licensing Acts of 1882 and 1883 in the manner indicated.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 15 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

Your Petitioners, representatives of the Independent Order of Good Templars, at a meeting held at the Good Templars' Hall on Friday, the 11th day of September, unanimously adopted the following resolution:—

That, in the opinion of this meeting of electoral representatives of the Independent Order of Good
Templars,—

1st.—That the enormous evils—economic, social, and moral—everywhere resulting from the traffic in intoxicants, render it necessary that the subject should be dealt with at the earliest possible

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 21 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Glebe Branch of the United Licensed Victuallers' Association,—

SHOWETH:—

That in the opinion of the Glebe Branch of the United Licensed Victuallers' Association of New South Wales, representing thirty-five licensed victuallers in the electorate of the Glebe, it is desirable, in the interests of the working classes, that the 63rd section of the Licensing Acts of 1882-3 should be so amended as to permit the sale of liquor to be consumed on the premises within the following hours, viz.:—5.30 a.m. to 11.30 p.m. on the six business days of the week; 7 to 9 a.m., 1 to 3 p.m., and 8 to 10 p.m. on Sunday, Good Friday, and Christmas Day.

(PETITION FROM LICENSED VICTUALLERS RESIDENT AND CARRYING ON BUSINESS IN BROKEN HILL AND THEIR ADHERENTS, IN FAVOUR OF THE INTRODUCTION INTO PARLIAMENT OF AN AMENDED LICENSING BILL.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 20 October, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Licensed Victuallers resident and carrying on business in Broken Hill and their adherents,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

1. That local option, itself fallacious in principle and disappointing in results, even to its supporters, is made a lever wherewith to put in motion the engine of confiscation without compensation.

2. The charges upon the Police Superannuation Fund are continually increasing, and there are many officers and men who from age and length of service must in the near future be placed on the pension list, but considering the unsatisfactory state of the fund, the delay in their retirement is advantageous in that regard.

A Bill, however, having now been prepared to place the Police Reward and Superannuation Funds on a more satisfactory footing, I trust that it will before long receive the sanction of Parliament, as such a measure is of public importance, irrespective of the interests of the police themselves.

The funds, which were established forty years ago, have been entirely self-supporting, meeting heavy claims, in many instances of an exceptional character, such as provision for widows and families of public servants (of whom there were many) who lost their lives in the execution of duty.

During the past year the charges have been increased by nineteen members of the force being superannuated on pensions varying from £68 8s. 9d. to £337 10s. per annum, and aggregating to an annual charge of £3,272 7s. 5d.; and four gratuities have been granted on discharge of men certified to be unfit for further service, the total grants amounting to £204. £1,759 13s. 4d. has been appropriated in gratuities to widows and orphans.

Eight pensioners died during the year, whose pensions amounted in the aggregate to £997 9s. 7d. per annum.

Crime.

The advance figures taken out, as usual, from the records of the Metropolitan District for the year 1891, exhibit a serious increase in the number of apprehensions, due in part, however, to the fact that during some months of the previous year the majority of the police in Sydney were constantly engaged in special duties during the strike; the arrests during that period were consequently less than usual.

The figures, with comparisons, are given below:—

| Year. | Number of arrests for drunkenness. | Number of arrests for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. | Number of arrests for riotous or indecent behaviour. | Number of arrests for obscene language. |
|----------------|------------------------------------|---|--|---|
| 1890 | 7,304 | 2,547 | 1,068 | 1,661 |
| 1891 | 8,507 | 2,877 | 1,218 | 1,824 |
| Increase | 1,203 | 330 | 150 | 163 |

The reports of crime for the Colony generally do not present any special features, with the exception of the following:—

An increase in the number of homicide cases.

A marked increase (from 42 in 1890 to 73 in 1891) of charges of "Carnally knowing" and "Indecent assault."

The same as regards "Abandoned children found," which in 1891 numbered 26,—more than double the record of the previous year.

And cases of embezzlement, reported in 1890 as 78, increased to 111 in the following year.

It is noticeable, however, that the number of incendiary fires during the past year has been far below the average.

Beyond the following statement of prosecutions I have nothing special to report regarding the Licensing Act.

RETURN of Prosecutions under the Licensing Act in the Metropolitan District during the year 1891.

| Sunday selling. | Other offences by licensees. | Persons leaving licensed premises with liquor during prohibited hours. | Persons drinking liquor in licensed premises during prohibited hours. | Persons selling liquor without holding a license. | Total. | Total, year 1890. | Increase. |
|-----------------|------------------------------|--|---|---|--------|-------------------|-----------|
| 216 | 151 | 71 | 126 | 25 | 589 | 431 | 158 |

Number of public-houses refused a license last annual licensing meeting, 37.
Number of such public-houses since granted a license, 19.

The shearers' strike during last year involved not only considerable extra expenditure but entailed inconvenience and risk by the withdrawal of large bodies of police from the metropolis and country districts generally, the difficulty of the situation being enhanced by the large area of country covered by the pastoral holdings, and consequently heavy charges in moving detachments of police to remote districts.

There were 1,261 inquests held during the year, as compared with 1,263 in 1890, a decrease of two. The number of cases in which death was attributable either directly or indirectly to intemperance, however, shows an increase on the previous year from 102 in 1890 to 164 in 1891.

The undermentioned buildings have been erected for the Department during the year:—

|-------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Bathurst | Police barracks (nearly completed). |
| Uralla | Lockup. |
| Wellington | Police barracks. |
| Robertson | Lockup. |
| Obley | Court and watch-house. |
| Menindie | Police barracks. |
| Jugiong | Court and watch-house. |
| Cudgen | Police barracks. |
| Corowa | Sergeant's quarters. |
| Byron Bay | Police barracks (nearly completed). |
| Bombala | Lockup. |
| Emmaville | Police barracks. |
| Tingha | Police barracks. |
| Peak Hill... .. | Police barracks. |

As regards buildings in Sydney, the lockups for Central Police Station and Clarence-street are approaching completion, and when occupied the accommodation provided will meet the requirements of the city, being fully equal, if not superior, to the buildings erected for similar purposes in any city I have visited; indeed the same may be said of the police buildings generally in New South Wales, our stations at all inland towns and villages having a most creditable appearance.

A further improvement is contemplated by the erection of a watch-house in Regent-street, to replace that at the intersection of George and Pitt streets, which is not equal to modern requirements in any respect, and most unsuitably situated. The cost of the new building and site will amount to a small sum compared with that which the sale of the present site will realise.

The

The present Police Regulation Act has now been in operation for thirty years, during which period the Police Force has undergone many changes, which will be apparent from the fact that about six thousand recruits have been passed through the depôt drilled and instructed in the rudiments of their duties.

Amongst the changes referred to there has been a marked improvement in the character, status, and education of constables, the latter being essential in consequence of the numerous functions now discharged by the police beyond their ordinary duties, and requiring considerable intelligence and education of a far higher standard than was formerly deemed necessary.

When the present Act was passed there were constables in the service who could not read or write. Now, constables must be competent to act as Clerks of Petty Sessions, and among other duties are required to act as—

Wardens' Clerks.

Agents for the Curator of Intestate Estates.

Agents for the Master in Lunacy.

Agents for the Collector of Customs.

Agents for the Aborigines Protection Board.

Agents for the Board of Health.

Collectors of the Electoral Lists.

Collectors of Statistics.

Collectors of Jury Lists.

Bailiffs of Crown Lands.

Bailiffs for the Small Debts Courts.

Inspectors under Dairies Supervision Act.

Inspectors of Slaughter Houses.

Inspectors of Weights and Measures.

Inspectors under the Licensing Act.

Inspectors of Distilleries.

Inspectors under Explosives Act.

Inspectors under Fisheries Act.

Inquiry Agents for the State Children's Relief Department.

Acting Gaolers.

Acting Forest Rangers.

Mining Bailiffs and Registrars.

Notice-servers under Land Act.

Gold Receivers.

Receivers and Disbursers of Moneys under the Deserted Wives and Children Act.

I am gratified to be able to add that I have the assurance of the Treasury Inspectors of Government accounts, and the heads of all the departments who make use of the services of the police, that their duties are performed with intelligence and promptitude, their books of accounts and records being as a rule kept both with accuracy and neatness.

Such work has, of course, at times borne heavily upon both men and horses, and interfered with more legitimate duty, but the advantages to the public service have no doubt more than counterbalanced these disadvantages.

The length of service of the officers and men now on the establishment is shown on the table appended hereto.

It is worthy of notice that all the officers on the establishment at present, with the exception of four, have earned their promotion grade by grade from the subordinate rank.

During the year, 154 police voluntarily attended courses of Ambulance Institution under the St. John Ambulance Association, of whom ninety-two have passed and received certificates.

Pressure of official business in Sydney (which is steadily increasing) has prevented me from devoting much time to country inspections, but in the districts I have been able to visit I have found the stations generally in admirable order, and the police efficient and well behaved, being held in favourable estimation by the Magistracy and respectable residents.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,

Inspector-General of Police.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

TOWNS POLICE ACT.

(PETITION FROM CERTAIN CITIZENS OF NEWCASTLE PRAYING THE HOUSE TO MAKE CERTAIN AMENDMENTS IN THE ACT.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 16 February, 1892.

To the Speaker and Members of the Parliament of New South Wales in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned Citizens of Newcastle in the Colony of New South Wales,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners are of opinion that many of the provisions of the Towns Police Act, No. 2 of 2 Victoria, are not applicable to the present state of society, especially section 10 which falls most heavily upon the liberties of the subjects of this Colony.

This iniquitous Act prohibits the sale of a glass of milk, a fruit drink, or a cup of tea on the Lord's Day, and were it rigidly enforced it would be illegal to sell a meal on Sunday.

The vendors of fruit and milk were on the 11th mulcted in the sum of 25s., with 5s. 6d. costs, for having sold a glass of milk on Sunday, the 7th instant. We beg most respectfully to point out the unsuitability of this obsolete law in such a climate as ours, and were it to be enforced throughout the Colony it would involve a loss of thousands of pounds to the dairying and fruit-growing interests, and otherwise cause severe hardship to the general public.

We would further point out, owing to the stringency of the Licensing Laws of this Colony, the institution known as squash shops have become a public necessity on the Sunday.

Your Petitioners, therefore, pray that your Honorable House will take into consideration the foregoing Petition and grant the relief asked for.

[Here follow 888 signatures.]

(SECOND SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

WILLIAM STAFFORD, EX-MOUNTED SERGEANT OF POLICE.

(PETITION FROM, PRAYING THE HOUSE TO TAKE HIS CLAIM FOR JUSTICE INTO FAVOURABLE CONSIDERATION.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 29 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of William Stafford,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

1. That your Petitioner regrets being again necessitated to bring under the notice of your Honorable House the humiliating hardship, if not a serious and grave injustice, under which he is suffering, viz. :—In August, 1890, Parliament appointed a Select Committee “to inquire into your Petitioner’s claim upon the Police Superannuation Fund,” &c., thus on the 16th of September following your Petitioner was arraigned before that Committee on the specific charge of “attempting to defraud the Government.” When Parliament was prorogued at Christmas the Committee had finished its inquiry less the hearing of your Petitioner’s reply. Thus the prorogation and subsequent dissolution of that Parliament necessitated the reappointment of another Committee to complete the case. Hence on the present Parliament assembling, Mr. Murphy tabled his motion for that purpose, but your Petitioner is told that your Honorable House will not allow his motion to be taken formally. And hence the delay in bringing such a serious matter to a final issue.

2. That apart from the disgrace attending that charge against a public officer, the meanest criminal in the land is entitled to a fair trial and immediate justice. That the criminal charge preferred against your Petitioner could be heard and determined by any Bench of Magistrates in ten minutes. That if the evidence taken upon oath before the Select Committee disclose a prima facie case made out against your Petitioner, the Attorney-General upon that evidence can file an indictment.

3. That apart from these solid facts, as Parliament has already indicted your Petitioner before its own Committee, therefore your Petitioner would submit that Parliament is in honor bound to give its verdict of guilty or not guilty, thus in view of the facts and of the suspense of such a serious charge hanging over your Petitioner’s head before Parliament and the public.

Therefore your Petitioner prays your Honorable House to be pleased to take Petitioner’s claim for justice into favourable consideration, and thus allow Mr. Murphy’s motion to be taken formally, in order that justice may be arrived at in the matter without delay.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

WILLIAM STAFFORD.

(SECOND SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

WILLIAM STAFFORD, EX-SERGEANT OF POLICE.

(PETITION FROM WILLIAM STAFFORD, PRAYING FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A SELECT COMMITTEE TO INQUIRE INTO THE CASE OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 14 September, 1891.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble petition of William Stafford,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

1. That, after having served eighteen years in the New South Wales Mounted Police Force with diligence and fidelity, he was maliciously, unlawfully, and wrongfully dismissed from the said force, vide petition (presented to Parliament) of 2nd May, 1888.

2. That by the means of said dismissal Mr. Fosbery confiscated your Petitioner's pension, virtually to his own benefit, and to the benefit of his officers and their widows, as, while the fund is principally supported by the contributions squeezed out of the men's salaries, the officers reap the greatest benefits.

3. That the Courts have decided that every member of the force must be held to be "Her Majesty's servant under semi-military engagement," vide "Agreement," section 11 of the Police Act of 1862; and therefore an action will not lie against Mr. Fosbery, nor against the Government for the wrongful dismissal of any member of the force, because Mr. Fosbery and the Government are only "Her Majesty's servants also, with power to act for, and in the name of Her Majesty"; thus Parliament is the only tribunal left to appeal to for justice.

4. That in the session of 1890 Parliament appointed a Select Committee to inquire into and report upon your Petitioner's claim upon the Police Superannuation Fund. And the Committee thus appointed had completed the taking of evidence when Parliament was prorogued at Christmas, less your Petitioner's rebutting evidence in reply to some extraneous assertions inadvertently allowed to creep into the case.

5. Your Petitioner therefore prays that your Honorable House will take his case into immediate consideration, and appoint the Select Committee now named on the business papers of your Honorable House to complete the inquiry and to report.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

WILLIAM STAFFORD.

(MINUTES OF COMPTROLLER-GENERAL OF PRISONS AND THE LATE MINISTER OF JUSTICE RESPECTING THE TREATMENT OF JUVENILE OFFENDERS IN GAOLS.)Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 22 March, 1892.

Minute by The Comptroller-General of Prisons.

Department of Prisons, Comptroller-General's Office, Sydney.

Subject :—Extract from State Children's Relief Department Report for the year ending 5 April, 1891.

* * * * * It is certain, however, that something should be done without further delay to provide for young criminals whose only refuge at present, if they are dealt with according to the letter of the law, is the gaol, under a system which is both inhuman and calculated to destroy its own object. A number of isolated cells are set apart at Darlinghurst Gaol for the reception of lads convicted of first offences, and they are here strictly kept from human companionship for specified periods—in certain cases as long as six months. The effect of such a method of treatment can only be either to seriously affect a boy mentally, or to confirm him in criminal tendencies. I know the Judges regard it with abhorrence. Recently a lad, sixteen years of age, whose previous record was altogether a good one, was led under extenuating circumstances into the committal of a criminal assault. He pleaded guilty, and the presiding Judge, rather than permit him to undergo the gaol system, discharged him under certain conditions to this Department. On the same day a lad twelve years of age was convicted of breaking into a house at the Glebe with other boys and stealing therefrom. He was brought before the same Judge and similarly dealt with. Both lads have since done thoroughly well. What might have happened if they had been compelled to pass through the gaol taint is not difficult to understand. These are only typical cases * * *

In forwarding the above extract from the Report of the State Children's Relief Department for the year ending 5 April, 1891, I feel it my duty to invite the attention of the Minister of Justice to the condemnatory terms in which the system of treating children in the gaols is spoken of. I submit that the language used is quite unwarranted.

Attached hereto is an extract from my Report for 1890, which gives an outline of the system pursued. I found it in operation when I joined the Department, it having been introduced by the late Comptroller-General with the approval of the Minister of Justice. I certainly cannot perceive how boys can be corrupted or confirmed in criminal tendencies by such a system, nor can I see anything "inhuman" in it. So long as boys are sent to gaols by the magistrates, the Department must do the best it can with the means at its disposal to keep them from association, and to teach them habits of cleanliness and industry. This is what the system aims at. Boys in various stages of neglect, many of them depraved and filthy, are sent to the gaols.

I am well aware that there are many persons who condemn the sending of a boy to gaol under any circumstances, no matter what his offence may be, on account of the "gaol brand" which will be associated with him afterwards. Is not the "gaol brand" however but another name for the crime? It is the crime which he has committed, not the fact of his having been in a gaol, which has disgraced him. A reformatory is but another name for a gaol under lengthened and modified conditions of servitude. A boy would not be sent to a reformatory under our laws unless he had committed a crime, and in a reformatory he would be associated with other boys of criminal tendencies, not only in the dormitory at night-time but also during the day-time. However strict the supervision might be it would be impossible to prevent a certain degree of evil association from arising.

I have never heard before of any Judge having expressed his "abhorrence" of our system of treating the boys. If he has done so his remarks have probably been made in the belief that boys in gaol are associated with other criminals, which is not the case.

As regards the remark, that "a number of isolated cells are set apart at Darlinghurst," &c., I need only observe that the Minister has himself seen the large wings at Darlinghurst and Parramatta Gaols, in which the cells occupied by the young prisoners under the modified separate system are situated, and where they are visited by the chaplains, the schoolmaster, and other officials.

The Under Secretary of Justice, B.C., 26/9/91.

GEORGE MILLER,
Comptroller-General of Prisons.

EXTRACT FROM REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER-GENERAL OF PRISONS FOR THE YEAR 1890.

Much has been said respecting the present system of punishing boys of the "larrikin" class under the age of 16 by sending them to a gaol for periods varying from a few days to six months, and many people appear to be under the erroneous belief that when committed to gaol these boys are allowed to mix with older criminals, and are thus exposed to the danger of being thoroughly contaminated and ruined. This is not the case. All such youths while serving their sentences are kept apart, not only from the older criminals but also from each other. The only time they see each other is when they are at exercise, or receiving instruction from the schoolmaster, and then no communication whatever is permitted. They are in charge of prison officers when taken out of the cells for exercise. When in the cells they are visited by the chaplains, and are also taught useful work of some kind. Under this treatment they are carefully guarded from pernicious associations, and by enforced cleanliness and regular instruction and employment every effort is made to improve their moral and physical condition. Yet the effects of this treatment cannot, I am afraid, be proved to be as deterrent as they should be. They do not create a wholesome dread of the prison, inasmuch as the food and surroundings of the treatment are better in every way, except so far as freedom goes, than what they have been accustomed to amongst the ill-regulated homes and low associations from which many of them spring. It has been suggested that it would be better, in many instances, to sentence boys of the "larrikin" class to personal correction of a humane kind, to be inflicted within the walls of the gaol, than to confinement in the cells under present conditions. After receiving his punishment the boy should be discharged on the day on which it is inflicted. This treatment would, I think, in many cases, be more deterrent than imprisonment. Instead of personal correction a sentence of a week or a fortnight, under a low diet, limited to bread and water only, might be substituted. Treatment such as this would have the effect of proving to "larrikins" that a gaol was a most uncomfortable and disagreeable place, and would be far more deterrent than a longer sentence under milder conditions of servitude. Of course there will always be incorrigibles who are beyond reformatory treatment of any kind, and whose mischievous propensities, when they are free, cannot be altered, however strict the conditions may be when they are under disciplinary control. While opinions differ considerably as to the best mode of treatment for the "larrikin" class, there need be no fear that, under the present system in the gaols of this Colony, the youths are likely to be contaminated by evil association, for, as I have mentioned above, no such communication is allowed. Care is taken that they are confined in gaols where proper means for separation exist.

Submitted.—A.C.F., 28/9/91.

Minute by The Minister of Justice.

Department of Justice, 19 October, 1891.

A COPY of this minute should, I think, in justice to the Department of Prisons, be laid upon the Table of the House, with the view of correcting the misconception likely to arise in the public mind, after reading the Report of the State Children's Relief Department, as to the reformatory process now established in the gaol system of the Colony.

Without entering upon any lengthened defence of the present system I have no hesitation in stating that its introduction into our gaols effected a valuable improvement on the existing state of things, and it has proved neither "inhuman" nor "calculated to destroy its own object"; but, on the contrary, has been of immense value as a reformatory agent, and most certainly has neither affected the boys "mentally" or "confirmed them in criminal tendencies." I am quite free to admit that the system of treating juvenile criminals is far from perfect, and that the establishment of a Boys' Reformatory—we have one for girls—and the adoption of other modes of treatment would prove of immense value to the community, but this should offer no justification for decrying or misrepresenting a most valuable adjunct established for the punishment and suppression of juvenile criminality.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

(LETTER FROM COMPTROLLER-GENERAL OF PRISONS IN REPLY TO COMMUNICATION FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE STATE CHILDREN'S RELIEF DEPARTMENT, PUBLISHED IN THE SYDNEY MORNING HERALD AND THE DAILY TELEGRAPH OF THE 25TH MARCH, 1892.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 30 March, 1892.

The Comptroller-General of Prisons to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Department of Prisons, New South Wales,

Comptroller-General's Office, Sydney, 26 March, 1892.

Sir,

I have the honor to invite the attention of the Minister of Justice to the attached letter from the President of the State Children's Relief Department, which was published in the Herald and Telegraph yesterday (Friday), and which contains certain comments reflecting strongly upon me in connection with my memorandum of 26th September, 1891, addressed to the late Minister (Mr. Gould), a garbled extract from which is given in Dr. Renwick's letter.

At the time I wrote my memo. which contained a full extract from the report of the State Children's Relief Department, I personally pointed out to Mr. Gould the breach of the recognised official procedure which had been committed by that Department in publishing, in its Annual Report, an attack upon the system of treating boys who were committed to our gaols, and, in my memo., I mentioned that I found that system in operation when I took charge of the Prison's Department, it having been introduced by the late Comptroller-General (Mr. Maclean) in 1888, with the approval of the then Minister of Justice. In my view, it was an improper course for a Sub-Department of the Colonial Secretary to reflect seriously upon the work of a Sub-Department of the Minister of Justice in its Annual Report, which is laid before Parliament, and published for general information. Such a matter should, in the first instance, have been brought under the notice of the Colonial Secretary with a view to its being sent on to the Minister of Justice for such action as he might have deemed it necessary to take.

In the absence of the full text of my memo. and from the statements made in Dr. Renwick's letter, the public will naturally assume that I am a strong advocate for sending all boys who offend against the laws to gaols instead of to a reformatory. I emphatically deny that I have ever advocated any such proceeding. My memo. was simply intended as a defence of the system of treating boys who were committed to gaols in the absence of a reformatory, which was described in the State Children's Relief Department's report as "inhuman," and its effects were stated as likely either "to seriously affect a boy mentally or to confirm him in criminal tendencies." This is not borne out by the reports which have been sent to me by officers of long experience. If any young prisoner were affected mentally or physically, the surgeon would at once interfere and order a modification of the conditions. Of course there are and always will be incorrigibles upon whom no kind of reformatory treatment has any permanent effect.

I have never at any time questioned the necessity which exists for the establishment of a reformatory for boys; but I am of opinion that there is a class of boys who do not need the full treatment of a reformatory, and who should be dealt with in a stern and sharp manner, either in the form of a week or ten days imprisonment, under separate treatment, on a bread and water diet, or by corporal punishment, to be inflicted within the gaol walls, the boy to be discharged on the same day as the punishment is administered. Such treatment as this would have a strong deterrent effect upon young "larrikins," who amuse themselves by forming gangs or "pushes," for the purpose of assaulting the police with "blue metal," and making themselves a nuisance and a danger to the public peace; also for boys who wilfully destroy valuable trees in public reserves, and commit other serious offences. A large number of these boys are not naturally criminal, being led on to mischief by the evil example of others older than themselves, but still they should be sternly checked in their lawlessness. I firmly believe that many of them could be effectually checked by such sharp treatment as I have indicated. It would bring home to them in a very unpleasant manner that they had broken the laws, and would teach them such a wholesome lesson as would deter them from again offending. Many of such boys are under 16 years of age.

It surely cannot reasonably be contended that every boy who is, for the first time, detected in breaking the law should be committed to undergo a lengthened detention in a reformatory, and his parents thus be relieved of all their responsibility for his training and support. "Larrikinism" does not always spring from the lowest ranks of society, and the parents of many larrikins would be only too glad to have their boys, whom they grossly neglect, trained almost entirely at the cost of the State, no matter in what class of institution such training is carried out. Only boys whose cases are deemed to be serious ones, and unfortunates who break the laws and who have no parents or homes to go to, should, I submit, be committed to reformatories, vagrants and destitute children being sent, as now, to industrial schools or boarded out. Of course the discretion in such cases must rest with the courts which deal with the boys. I repeat that a boy is disgraced by his conviction of a crime, not by the fact of his having been in gaol. Disgrace cannot be separated from crime.

A reformatory for boys is a very valuable and most necessary institution, but its successful results must depend largely not only upon the personal administration of the officer who may be placed in immediate charge of it, but also upon the fitness of his assistants. Unless a careful, kindly, and firm supervision is constantly maintained, much evil is engendered among the boys by association, and gaols in all countries contain prisoners who, as boys, have graduated in reformatories.

The separate system for youths now in force in our gaols was introduced by my predecessor, the late Mr. Maclean, in order to break up the evil associations which had been formed through boys being congregated together in the cells and yards, and to prevent them from being contaminated by mixing with older criminals. This was his main object, and it has succeeded admirably. Dr. Renwick is quite right in saying that I must sometimes have felt grieved at seeing "an array of little boys" in the cells at Darlinghurst. I have often so expressed myself, and felt that many of those boys were proper subjects for a well organised reformatory where they could be brought under a judicious system of discipline, education, and labour in the open air. But he must know that I have had no more to do with the committal of those boys to the gaol than he has, nor am I responsible for the non-establishment of a reformatory. Had my memo. to Mr. Gould been given in full in his letter to the press, this passage would have appeared, "So long as boys are sent to gaols by the Magistrates, the department must do the best it can with the means at its disposal to keep them from association, and to teach them habits of cleanliness and industry. This is what the system aims at. Boys in various stages of neglect, many of them depraved and filthy, are sent to the gaols."

With regard to the remarks as to "inexperienced persons," I may mention that out of my service under Government of upwards of thirty years, twenty-two and a half years were passed in the Head Office of the Education Department, as Chief Executive Officer of which I had the honor of acting for two lengthened periods. It is essentially a department controlling many public institutions, among which are included the Industrial Schools for boys and girls.

In conclusion, I leave myself in the hands of the Minister, and venture to ask him, as an act of justice to myself, to take such steps as will lead to the early publication in the press of the whole of this letter, so that I may not, in the very responsible position which I hold, appear before the public in a false light, in consequence of Dr. Renwick's criticisms, especially as given in the Telegraph. I feel that I have been grossly misrepresented. The whole of my memo. with its appendix should have been published.

I have, &c.

GEORGE MILLER,
Comptroller-General.

PRISONS.

(REPORT FOR 1890.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Comptroller-General of Prisons to The Minister of Justice.

Department of Prisons, N.S.W., Comptroller-General's Office,
Sydney, 30 April, 1891.

Sir,

I do myself the honor to present to you my Report upon the working of this Department for the year 1890, accompanied by the usual statistical information.

I entered upon the duties of Comptroller-General on the 16th January of that year, and soon after taking charge I found that the building in which the Head Office was conducted was too small and otherwise unsuitable for the increasing requirements of the Department. New offices were, at the close of the year, rented from the Austral Banking Company in Elizabeth-street, and are now in use. Under the new arrangements, the whole of the officers of the staff are distributed among rooms upon the same floor, which much facilitates the carrying on of the work. Greatly improved means of keeping the records of the Department are also secured.

From the tabulated statistics attached (marked A, B, C, D, and E respectively), it will be seen that the number of gaols in operation (including Police Gaols) was 59, and that the total number of prisoners confined on the 31st December, 1890, was 2,423, as compared with 2,372 on the same date of the previous year, while, according to estimate, the population had increased from 1,122,200 to 1,133,000.

The entries and discharges show respectively 16,497 and 16,446 for 1890 to 17,032 and 17,013 for the year 1889. It must be remembered that many persons included in these numbers were, during the year, convicted several times and sentenced for short periods. They belong to the class of habitual offenders. No system of treatment appears to have much effect on them. They are incorrigibles whose utter want of principle and self-control renders them, when at liberty, a bane to the communities amongst which they exist.

The total number of distinct persons received into the various gaols during the year was 10,938, as compared with 10,974 for 1889.

The labour return (Form B) gives a net value of work of various descriptions done by prisoners during 1890 amounting to £42,406 1s. 1d., as against £42,317 2s. 4d. for 1889. This work is done by those prisoners for whom it is found practicable to provide productive or other useful employment. In the lesser country gaols there are generally no means of finding suitable work for the prisoners confined therein, who are usually serving short sentences. Among the prisoners in the gaols whose services are not available for labour have also to be mentioned prisoners awaiting trial, those whose sentences do not carry hard labour, and those who are exempt from work on account of medical and other reasons.

The hospital return shows 1,377 treated in hospital, as compared with 1,270 in 1889, and out of hospital 18,831, compared with 20,326 for 1889. There were 29 deaths in 1890, to 37 in 1889.

The re-convictions were as follows:—For the 1st class, or graver offences (5 years and upwards), second, third, fourth, or more, 17, 10, 50, for 1890, as compared with 18, 14, 54 for 1889. For the 2nd class (less than 5 years), 217, 94, 120, as against 266, 104, 97 for 1889; and for the 3rd class (those sentenced to imprisonment only, without hard labour), 156, 72, 81, as against 119, 54, 24, for 1889. Drunkards and petty offenders, 916, 412, 350, as against 856, 374, 395, for 1889.

The following figures show the estimated population of the Colony for the ten years, 1881 to 1890 inclusive, and the number of prisoners in the gaols on the 31st December of each of those years:—

| Year. | Estimated population on 31st December. | Prisoners confined on 31st December. | Year. | Estimated population on 31st December. | Prisoners confined on 31st December. |
|-------|--|--------------------------------------|-------|--|--------------------------------------|
| 1881 | 778,690 | 2,068 | 1886 | 1,001,966 | 2,500 |
| 1882 | 810,833 | 1,943 | 1887 | 1,042,919 | 2,382 |
| 1883 | 857,744 | 2,130 | 1888 | 1,085,740 | 2,353 |
| 1884 | 903,948 | 2,466 | 1889 | 1,122,200 | 2,372 |
| 1885 | 957,914 | 2,562 | 1890 | 1,133,000 | 2,423 |

These figures must be regarded as satisfactory, inasmuch as they show that, while there has been a great increase in the population of the Colony during the last decade, the increase in the number of prisoners has been, comparatively speaking, small.

By the death of Mr. J. Lovett, in the month of February, the Governorship of Darlinghurst Gaol became vacant, and was, in due course, filled by the appointment of Mr. Peter Herbert, whose place as Governor of Goulburn Gaol was taken by Mr. John Paton, of Berrima. The Governorship of Berrima Gaol was given to Mr. Francis Flaherty, who was then in charge of Wollongong Gaol. Mr. Charles Graham, Deputy-Governor of Goulburn Gaol, took Mr. Flaherty's place at Wollongong. These officers have all served under this Department for many years, and have passed through various subordinate grades as prison officials.

During the year extensive repairs and improvements were carried out in most of the larger gaols by prison labour. At Parramatta the new wall extension was completed. This will form a large labour yard, where the prisoners engaged in stone-cutting for the new wing (No. 6), which is about to be erected, can be kept at work. In connection with this gaol, it has also been decided to erect, on a portion of the reserve outside the present walls, a block of buildings for the purpose of securing better means for the control and treatment of criminal lunatics, so that the distinctly criminal class—those who are criminal first and become insane subsequently—can be kept entirely separate from those who are insane first and only criminal by reason of acts committed during their insanity. The erection of this new and important addition to the gaol was recommended in a joint report from Dr. Manning and the late Mr. Harold Maclean, in 1889, and the proposal was brought under your notice during last year, in consequence of the pressing necessity for providing adequate and suitable accommodation for the different classes of criminal lunatics, to which attention was drawn by Dr. Manning. Provision for the work has been made on the Estimates, and the matter is now in the hands of the Government Architect.

Owing to the overcrowded state of the Observation Ward at Darlinghurst Gaol, a portion of No. 5 wing at Parramatta Gaol was, on the 3rd July last, set apart by Gazette notice, under section 67 of the Lunacy Act, as a ward for the detention of prisoners who are supposed to be insane, or to be unfit, owing to mental imbecility, for penal discipline.

As the result of my visit to Grafton in June last, it has been decided to erect a new gaol of a superior design at that place upon another site in a higher and better position than the present one, which is very unsuitable owing to its proximity to the river, and consequent liability to damage from floods. The existing buildings are of inferior design, and do not provide the accommodation necessary for the proper working of a gaol.

The proposed new gaol at Broken Hill is now in course of erection, and when finished will meet a much felt want, as the present accommodation afforded by the small police gaol at Silverton is very inferior and inadequate for the requirements of such a large mining district, the distance of which from communication by railway within the Colony renders the transfer of prisoners to other gaols a most troublesome and an expensive matter.

A police gaol was established at Milparinka, under proclamation dated 21st March, 1890. This gaol was deemed necessary in order to meet the local requirements of that distant locality.

The gaol at Wilcannia was closed during the latter half of the year, in consequence of extensive alterations and additions to the building, which rendered necessary the removal of the prisoners to other gaols. In order to meet urgent local requirements the police lock-up was proclaimed a gaol, and is now temporarily used for the purpose, pending the completion of the improvements to the established gaol.

On visiting the gaols at Tamworth, Young, and Armidale, which are all somewhat similar in design, I found that no means existed for keeping the prisoners awaiting trial or under remand separate during the daytime from those serving sentences. This defect is a serious one, and, where practicable, should be at once remedied. At these gaols I have submitted proposals for forming separate yards, and the Government Architect is dealing with the matter. Too much attention cannot be given to the proper separation of the different classes of prisoners, which is one of the most important requisites of prison organisation.

Much has been said respecting the present system of punishing boys of the "larrikin" class under the age of 16 by sending them to a gaol for periods varying from a few days to six months, and many people appear to be under the erroneous belief that when committed to gaol these boys are allowed to mix with older criminals, and are thus exposed to the danger of being thoroughly contaminated and ruined. This is not the case. All such youths while serving their sentences are kept apart, not only from the older criminals, but also from each other. The only time they see each other is when they are at exercise, or receiving instruction from the schoolmaster, and then no communication whatever is permitted. They are in charge of prison officers when taken out of the cells for exercise. When in the cells they are visited by the chaplains, and are also taught useful work of some kind. Under this treatment they are carefully guarded from pernicious association, and by enforced cleanliness and regular instruction and employment every effort is made to improve their moral and physical condition. Yet the effects of this treatment cannot, I am afraid, be proved to be as deterrent as they should be. They do not create a wholesome dread of the prison, inasmuch as the food and surroundings of the treatment are better in every way, except so far as freedom goes, than what they have been accustomed to amongst the ill-regulated homes and low associations from which many of them spring. It has been suggested that it would be better, in many instances, to sentence boys of the "larrikin" class to personal correction of a humane kind, to be inflicted within the walls of the gaol, than to confinement in the cells under present conditions. After receiving his punishment the boy should be discharged on the day on which it is inflicted. This treatment would, I think, in many cases, be more deterrent than imprisonment. Instead of personal correction a sentence of a week or a fortnight, under a low diet limited to bread and water only, might be substituted. Treatment such as this would have the effect of proving to "larrikins" that a gaol was a most uncomfortable and disagreeable place, and would be far more deterrent than a longer sentence under milder conditions of servitude. Of course there will always be incorrigibles who are beyond reformatory treatment of any kind, and whose mischievous propensities, when they are free, cannot be altered, however strict the conditions may be when they are under disciplinary control. While opinions differ considerably as to the best mode of treatment for the "larrikin" class, there need be no fear that, under the present system in the gaols of this Colony, the youths are likely to be contaminated by evil association, for, as I have mentioned above, no such communication is allowed. Care is taken that they are confined in gaols where proper means for separation exist.

Under the old regulations for the shaving of prisoners, it was compulsory that all convicted prisoners should be shaved once a week, no matter what the length of their sentences might be, unless exempted on medical grounds. My attention having been drawn to the hardships inflicted upon certain short-sentenced incidental offenders by the operation of these regulations, they were amended by an alteration which exempted from shaving all prisoners sentenced to terms of imprisonment not exceeding one month, provided that that shaving was not deemed necessary by the surgeons. It was, however, subsequently deemed advisable, under your approval, to further amend the regulations by exempting from shaving all prisoners serving sentences not exceeding three months, subject, of course, to the advice of the surgeons; and this is now the rule in the gaols of the Colony. A copy of the last amended regulation is attached as an Appendix.

In my report for last year, I gave a brief outline of the system in operation at the Public Works Prison at Trial Bay. I visited that prison on the 22nd May, in company with the Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers (Mr. Darley), and, on my return, forwarded to you a full report on the working of the system. The recommendations made by me, after a conference on the spot with Mr. Darley and the Superintendent were, in due course, approved of by you, and were embodied in the fresh regulations and rules which were afterwards drawn up. The principal alterations were the stopping of the leave of absence granted to license-holders under the old regulations, the lengthening of the hours of labour, and the revision of the scale of wages so as to place the remuneration for labour upon a more equitable and reasonable basis. These new regulations and rules came into force on the 1st July last. I found the discipline at the prison in a healthy state, and, considering the class of prisoners who are sent there, and the fact that they are in a state of semi-freedom, much credit is due to Captain Horne and his assistants for the manner in which the establishment is conducted. Out of 49 license-holders who sought an interview with me on various matters, not one of them complained of his treatment by the officers of the prison. Throughout the year, the conduct of the license-holders was, generally speaking, very fair. The number of licenses revoked under the 410th section of the Criminal Law Amendment Act was ten. Eight of these were revoked for serious breaches of discipline, and two on account of the holders becoming unfit for work through bodily infirmity. These prisoners were transferred to the gaols in which they had been confined prior to receiving their licenses. Shortly before the close of the year, I submitted to you further proposed alterations in the regulations, which longer experience in the working of the system had proved to be necessary, and these alterations were still under consideration when the year closed. Under Table F will be found particulars of the extent and value of the work performed in connection with the breakwater now in course of construction under supervision of the officers of the Harbours and Rivers Department.

The Shaftesbury Reformatory continues to be conducted in a satisfactory manner so far as the existing buildings will admit, and, under the kind and homely management of the Matron-Superintendent (Mrs. King), the girls seem to be generally happy and contented. A proper hospital is about to be erected together with additional rooms—some to contain one girl only. This extra accommodation is found to be absolutely necessary in order to provide means of proper separation at night, and to enable the Matron-Superintendent to keep apart from the better behaved girls those whose characters render it advisable that they should not be associated with them. When the additions are completed, the usefulness of the institution as a reformatory will be much increased by the provision of means for an effective and healthy system of classification.

With regret I have to mention that, in November last, a case of grossly unprincipled conduct on the part of an officer-in-charge of a country gaol was disclosed. He was at once suspended, and, as the result of an investigation which was held, he was subsequently dismissed from the service.

I have pleasure, however, in stating that, with a few exceptions, the Officers of the Prison Staffs have performed their duties in a very satisfactory manner, and have done their best to maintain the credit of the Department for good order and healthy discipline in the gaols; and I cannot conclude this report without adding an acknowledgment of the valuable and readily given assistance which I have received from those experienced Prison Officers whom I have consulted on matters connected with the management of the numerous establishments under my control, which, from their character, have to be governed by disciplinary rules that must be strictly uniform in their operation.

I have, &c.,
 GEORGE MILLER,
 Comptroller-General.

APPENDIX.

Department of Justice, Sydney, 22 December, 1890.
 HIS EXCELLENCY the Lieutenant-Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to approve of the following Regulation being substituted for Amended Regulation No. 21 of the Gaol Regulations made under the Prisons Regulation Act 4 Victoria No. 29, and which Amended Regulation was published in the Government Gazette of the 23rd May last, viz. :—

21.—HAIR-CUTTING, SHAVING.

- (1.) All male convicted prisoners shall have their hair cut upon admission, and afterwards monthly, in a manner not to disfigure them; and, except in the case of the prisoners serving sentences not exceeding three months, shall be shaved once a week. If thought necessary, on the ground of health or cleanliness, any convicted prisoner may be shaved, no matter what the term of his sentence may be. Prisoners under committal shall not have their hair cut or be shaved, save so far as may be necessary to preserve their appearance as at the period of their examination.
- (2.) Prisoners who, under this regulation, are shaved, may be permitted to grow their hair and beard as they may desire for three months before the expiration of their sentences, or of the time when, according to their conduct under the Remission Regulations, they may be eligible for discharge. Under very special circumstances, the shaving may be dispensed with at any time by the Gaoler who will report the facts to the Comptroller-General of Prisons.

ALBERT J. GOULD.
