And Mr. Dibbs having seconded the motion, and addressed the House in support of it,—Question put and carried unanimously.

8. ORDINANCE LANDS TRANSFER BILL.—Sir Henry Parkes presented a Bill, intituled "A Bill for confirming the transfer to the Secretary at War in England from the Principal Officers of Ordnance there of certain Lands in New South Wales, and for amending the Ordnance Land Act of Council, 1840,"—which was read a first time, pro forma.

9. THE GOVERNOR'S OPENING SPEECH.—Mr. Speaker reported that the House had this day attended the Governor in the Legislative Council Chamber, when His Excellency was pleased to deliver an Opening Speech to both Houses of Parliament, of which, for greater accuracy, he had obtained a copy,—which he read to the House, as follows:

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY,—

I have called you together at the period which has been affirmed by the Legislative Assembly as the most convenient for the opening of the Session of the year, and while fully half the time for which the Public Service is legally provided for remains unexpired, in order that the course of your legislative labours may not be interrupted by the exigency of Temporary Supply Bills. It is hoped that the winter season for the sitting of Parliament will be found more conducive to the economy of time, and the lessening of the sacrifices which honorable members are called upon to make in attending to their public duties.

During the recess the National Federation Convention, to which you appointed representatives of this Colony, assembled in Sydney. It met on the 2nd March, and concluded its labours on the 9th April. The scheme for the Federal Constitution, which that body was instructed as its sole work to frame, will be laid before you in the form of a carefully-drawn Bill—the result of much deliberation, argumentative contention, and necessary compromise. In reference to this important measure—the work of the foremost men in the public life of Australia—no time will be lost in submitting to you a Resolution as a distinct part of the policy of my advisers; and I feel the fullest confidence that it will receive at your hands the enlightened consideration which the great object before you, and the grave character of the national undertaking which began with your concurrence and participation, so eminently demand.

3. A Bill has been prepared, and will be immediately submitted for your consideration, to confer upon the people of New South Wales the advantages of self-government, giving to the inhabitants of defined areas full authority in the direction of the local affairs of their respective districts.

4. Bills will be introduced to reconstruct the Electoral system of the Colony—one measure to abolish plural voting, to establish a system of self-registration, and to carry out other essential reforms; and another measure to divide the Colony into single electorates, and to provide for a new distribution of seats.

5. The Bill of last Session for the regulation of coal-mining will be re-introduced, with some amendments.

6. You will be invited to consider a measure, which is urgently needed in the remoter parts of the interior, to establish an efficient system of water conservation. Careful investigations have been made, and much industry has been expended in acquiring local information, with a view of making this a practical measure of legislation, calculated to meet the crying necessities of the country, which have so often approached a water famine.

7. All parties in the State must have viewed with concern and anxiety the repeated disturbances to the legitimate pursuits of industry and trade which have been caused by the lamentable disputes between the class of employers and the great labour classes of the Colony. It is impossible to estimate the enormous loss which must have resulted from these disputes. Works have been closed and ships driven away from our ports; enterprise has been paralysed and capital alarmed into seeking foreign fields of investment; angry and evil feelings have been engendered.
engendered between men who have never had any personal cause of quarrel; and the cruel weight of the widespread misery has widely fallen, not upon the leaders, but upon the helpless and innocent members of workmen's families. A Commission has been sitting for several months past to inquire into and report upon this difficult and painful subject; you will be invited to consider a Bill engendered between men who have never had any personal cause of quarrel; and the cruel weight of the widespread misery has widely fallen, not upon the leaders, but upon the helpless and innocent members of workmen's families. A Commission has been sitting for several months past to inquire into and report upon this difficult and painful subject; you will be invited to consider a Bill of Tribunals to conduct and determine cases of arbitration in final resort, and to make other provision for the settlement of trade disputes.

8. A Bill, prepared in the interest of society generally, will be introduced to amend the licensing law in certain respects, and to give to the people the right of determining by vote the number of houses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in any given district.

9. A large number of other questions, some of equal importance with those enumerated, remain for consideration. The more pressing of these will be taken up as opportunity serves, if it be found practicable to deal with them.

GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY,—

10. It is believed that the exposition of the financial affairs of the Colony, when made by the Treasurer, will give public satisfaction and inspire public confidence. Measures for effecting certain fiscal changes and improving the means of revenue will then be submitted.

11. The Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the ensuing year will be carefully prepared for your consideration.

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY,—

12. I have much satisfaction in informing you that the public revenue exhibits a marked improvement, and is likely to largely exceed the estimate formed in the Session of last year. The first four months, compared with the corresponding period of 1890, give an increase of £302,000.
It has not been deemed advisable to place any new loan upon the English market, and in the meantime satisfactory arrangements have been made for carrying on the public works sanctioned by Parliament.

13. You will be glad to learn that the measure lately passed to amend the Crown Lands Act has materially contributed to the settlement of the extensive areas thrown open to conditional purchase, and that the revenue therefrom fully justifies the calculations that were made of the effect of its liberal provisions.

14. The many public works which have been authorised by you are being steadily advanced.
The extensive improvements to the Clarence and Richmond Rivers are progressing satisfactorily.
Several of the new railway extensions, including the one from Nyngan to Cobar, have been successfully commenced; and in the case of all the preliminary steps are being pressed forward.

15. Much has been done to improve and extend the means of education. Public Schools of superior design have been erected, and the grounds, to the advantage of the health of the pupils, have been in many cases enlarged. Bursaries for deserving pupils in poor circumstances have been made available. Arrangements are nearly completed for establishing a Training College within the University. Great advances have been made in multiplying the agencies of Technical Education, and some thousands of students are now being instructed in useful branches of industrial knowledge under an efficient system.

16. The new Department of Agriculture has succeeded in organising a Scientific Staff provided with the necessary appliances for conducting chemical investigations in relation to diseases of animal and insect life, and of the vegetable products of the soil, so that the fullest and most trustworthy information may be supplied to rural occupants, whether engaged in grazing or agricultural pursuits. An Agricultural College has been brought into existence, where a number of students have already been received, and experimental farms in different parts of the Colony are about to be established.

17. The reduction of postage charges between Great Britain and Australia, from 6d. to
2½d. per half-ounce, and of the cable charges between Australia and other parts of the world, must prove to be a great advantage to the people.

18. The Census of Australia confirms generally the estimates previously formed of the relative populations of the several Colonies, and leaves the lead in numbers still to New South Wales.

19. I now leave you to your high and responsible duties, and pray that the Giver of all
Good may direct your endeavours to the advantage and enduring prosperity of the Country.

Mr. Greene then moved, and Mr. Morton seconded the Motion,—

1. That a Select Committee be appointed to prepare an Address in Reply to the Speech delivered by His Excellency the Governor on opening this Session of the Parliament of New South Wales.

2. That such Committee consist of Mr. Morton, Mr. Cullen, Mr. Curley, Mr. Garland, Mr.
McCourt, Mr. Paul, Mr. Vivian, and the Mover.

Question put and passed.

And the Committee retired to prepare the Address.
2. The great subject of the Federation of the Colonies, in the furtherance of which the first practical step has now been taken, will receive from us that careful and earnest consideration which its unprecedented importance demands.

3. We shall direct our best endeavours to assist in providing a remedy for the disastrous effects of trade disputes, so far as remedial measures can be devised by legislation.

4. The other important measures to which our attention is invited will engage our deliberations, with an anxious desire to serve the public interest.

Mr. Greene then moved, and Mr. Morton seconded the motion, That the Address in Reply to the Governor's Opening Speech, as read by the Clerk, be now adopted by this House.

Mr. Reid moved, That the Address be amended, by the insertion of the following words, to stand paragraph 3:—"We, nevertheless, deem it to be our duty to take the earliest opportunity of informing your Excellency that, whilst fully recognising the distinguished ability and zealous labours of the Convention, and still feeling a desire for federal union 'on principles just to the several Colonies,' we are of opinion that the Bill drafted by the Convention for the purpose of founding an Australian Commonwealth is not based on principles just to the several Colonies in some important respects, two of which we desire to indicate, namely,—

"1. The powers over revenue, taxation, and expenditure conferred on the proposed Senate.

"2. The rejection by the Convention, and the omission from the Bill, of Responsible Government, as a necessary part of the Constitution.

"We also desire to inform your Excellency that the power conferred upon the proposed Commonwealth Parliament of legislative interference with the general commercial management of the great railway and river systems of this Colony, without provision for assuming any part of the obligations incurred in connection therewith, does not appear to us to be founded upon any principle that can be considered just to the people of this country."

Question proposed, That the words proposed to be inserted be so inserted.

Debate ensued.

Mr. Traill moved, That this Debate be now adjourned.

Question put and passed.

Ordered, that the Debate be adjourned until to-morrow, and (with general concurrence) to take precedence of other business.

The House adjourned, on motion of Sir Henry Parkes, at four minutes after Eleven o'clock, until To-morrow at Four o'clock.

"May it Please Your Excellency,—

"We, Her Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled, desire to express our thanks for your Excellency's Speech, and to assure you of our devoted attachment to the Throne and Person of Her Most Gracious Majesty.

"2. The great subject of the Federation of the Colonies, in the furtherance of which the first practical step has now been taken, will receive from us that careful and earnest consideration which its unprecedented importance demands.

"3. We shall direct our best endeavours to assist in providing a remedy for the disastrous effects of trade disputes, so far as remedial measures can be devised by legislation.

"4. The other important measures to which our attention is invited will engage our deliberations, with an anxious desire to serve the public interest.

"Upon which Mr. Reid had moved, That the Address be amended by the insertion of the following words, to stand paragraph 3:—"We nevertheless deem it to be our duty to take the earliest opportunity of informing your Excellency that, whilst fully recognising the distinguished ability and zealous labours of the Convention, and still feeling a desire for federal union on principles just to the several Colonies, we are of opinion that the Bill drafted by the Convention for the purpose of founding an Australian Commonwealth is not based on principles just to the several Colonies in some important respects, two of which we desire to indicate, namely,—

"1. The powers over revenue, taxation, and expenditure conferred on the proposed Senate.

"2. The rejection by the Convention, and the omission from the Bill, of Responsible Government as a necessary part of the Constitution.

"We also desire to inform your Excellency that the power conferred upon the proposed Commonwealth Parliament of legislative interference with the general commercial management of the great railway and river systems of this Colony, without provision for assuming any part of the obligations incurred in connection therewith, does not appear to us to be founded upon any principle that can be considered just to the people of this country."

And the Question being again proposed,—That the words proposed to be inserted be so inserted,—The House resumed the said adjourned Debate.
And the House continuing to sit till after Midnight,—

FRIDAY, 22 MAY, 1891, A.M.

QUESTIONS:—

(1.) Castle Hill to Dural Railway:—Mr. Ritchie asked the Secretary for Public Works,—Has he arrived at any decision in regard to the Castle Hill-Dural Railway; if so, will he say what it is?

Mr. Bruce Smith answered,—As I have already promised the Honorable Member, I will take the first convenient opportunity of bringing this matter before the Cabinet for consideration.

(2.) Granville Park:—Mr. Frank Parnell, for Mr. Nobbs, asked the Secretary for Lands,—Has he arrived at any decision as to the resumption of land in North Ward, Granville, for park purposes?

Mr. Brunker answered,—Will be considered when other applications of a similar nature are being dealt with.

(3.) Dundas Park:—Mr. Frank Parnell, for Mr. Nobbs, asked the Secretary for Lands,—What steps have been taken re the resumption of land in South Ward, Dundas, for park purposes?

Mr. Brunker answered,—As it has been decided to appropriate for the purpose of recreation an area of about 10 acres within the Municipality of Dundas, fronting the Kissing Point Road, and adjacent to the Driftway and Public School, there is no necessity to resume any land for park purposes within that Municipality. So soon as the necessary survey has been made steps will be taken to dedicate the land.

(4.) Manure, Glebe Island:—Mr. Frank Parnell asked the Colonial Treasurer,—

(1.) Is the blood manure, made at Glebe Island, sold by the Government to applicants willing to purchase, or to one or more contractors?

(2.) If disposed of by contract, who are the contractors?

(3.) What are the prices paid to the Government?

(4.) When will the contract, or contracts, expire?

Mr. McMillan answered,—

(1.) To one contractor only.

(2.) The contractor is Mr. F. E. Joseph.

(4.) The present contract is for an indefinite period, but terminable on three months' notice.

Fresh tenders are now being invited.

(5.) Bridge over Parramatta River:—Mr. Frank Parnell, for Mr. Nobbs, asked the Secretary for Public Works,—Has he considered the question as to the erection of a bridge over the Parramatta River connecting Granville with Rechmure; if so, what decision has been arrived at?

Mr. Bruce Smith answered,—The Honorable Member is aware that the report I recently received on the subject is not favourable to the erection of a bridge at this place, but I intend, before finally deciding, to direct further investigations.

(6.) Revenue and Receipts:—Mr. Garrard, for Mr. Garvan, asked the Colonial Treasurer,—In the Abstract of Revenue and Receipts, published by the Colonial Treasurer, there was stated to be to the credit of the London account on 31st December, 1890, the sum of £278,922,—will he explain that whilst large sums much exceeding the total sum above mentioned had to be paid from said account during the quarter ending 31st March, 1891, the published abstract of revenue and receipts and expenditure showed that the London account was in credit to the extent of £217,490?

Mr. McMillan answered,—During the period, January to March, 1891, the remittances to London amounted to the sum of £292,500, whilst the payments brought to account—being for October, November, and December, 1890—amounted to £397,147. In addition to the remittances, several small receipts—principally interest on deposits—amounting to £8,515, were credited in the London account.

(7.) London Account.—Mr. Garward, for Mr. Garvan, asked the Colonial Treasurer.—

1. What money has been sent by the Government from Sydney to the credit of the London account from 1st January, 1870, to present date; giving particulars of date, and amount for each transaction?

2. Similar information with reference to money transmitted from London to Sydney?

Mr. McMillan answered.—As it will take some time to prepare a full reply to this Question, I have directed the preparation of a Return, to embody the information sought by the Honorable Member.

(8.) Engine-driver David A. Gow.—Mr. Joseph Abbott asked the Colonial Treasurer.—Has he any objection to lay upon the Table of this House all papers relating to the suspension and dismissal of Engine-driver David A. Gow?

Mr. McMillan answered.—The matter regarding Engine-driver Gow has been closed by the decision of the Commissioners on appeal, which decision the Railway Act declares final. I cannot, under the circumstances, consent to the production of the papers.

1. What part (if any) of the water reserves in the parish of Kahibah have been taken up under mineral leases?

2. By whom have such reserves been taken?

5. Have such leases a right to enclose such reserves?

(6.) Will be take immediate steps to protect the rights of the residents?

Mr. Brunker answered.—This question ought properly to have been asked of the Minister for Mines. However, with the view of furnishing the Honorable Member with the information, I have consulted the Mines Department, and the Minister will furnish a reply in the form of a Return.

(10.) Bridge and Court-house at Liverpool.—Mr. Ritchie asked the Secretary for Public Works.—

1. When will tenders be called for the construction of the bridge over George's River at Liverpool?

2. When will tenders be called for the repairs to the Court-house at Liverpool?

Mr. Bruce Smith answered.—

1. In about four months.

2. This question is dependent upon another, which comes under the Colonial Secretary's Department. It is now under consideration.

(11.) Field of Mars Railway.—Mr. Dale asked the Secretary for Public Works.—Has he arrived at any decision in regard to the proposed Field of Mars railway; if so, will he state what he has decided to do?

Mr. Bruce Smith answered.—I hope a solution has been found of this very difficult question, and expect shortly to be able to announce a definite decision.

2. Has this officer's leave been extended; and, if so, is he in receipt of full or half pay?

3. Is it contemplated to give this gentleman an appointment in England as Military Adviser to the Government of the Colony?

Sir Henry Parkes answered.—

1. Twelve months, on medical certificate.

2. Yes, for eight months. He is in receipt of full pay.

1. £757.

2. Colonel Eden was appointed to supervise and arrange the carrying out of the annual training of the Reserve Forces, and to conduct the clerical duties of his office.
Randwick Toll-bar:—Mr. Alfred Allen asked the Secretary for Public Works,—Is it his intention, at an early date, to remove the Randwick toll-bar?

Mr. Bruce Smith answered,—I will have this information prepared and laid upon the Table of the House in the shape of a Return.

Mr. Brunker answered,—No. The total by public auction and by selection respectively?

No. The total under the process of alienation?

No. The total amount of money received into the Treasury for the above?

Mr. Brunker answered.—If it is possible to furnish the information required by the Honorable Member it will be furnished in the form of a Return; but the compilation will take very considerable time, and cost a large sum of money. In fact, so far as I can ascertain in the Department, it will be impossible to furnish the whole of the information, because there are no means of ascertaining the dates of alienation, and the original grants from the time the Honorable Member asks. If the Honorable Member will move for a Return, and will consult me as to the form of it, I will indicate to him the information which it will be in our power to give.

Water Supply:—Mr. Tonkin asked the Secretary for Mines and Agriculture,—Will the sum of money to be placed upon the Estimates sufficient to meet the expenditure necessary for a water supply for the townships of Sunny Corner and Wattle Flat?

Contracts for Works:—Mr. Hutchison (Glen Innes) asked the Secretary for Public Works,—How many contracts for works have been let during the last two years for which tenders were called only once?

Mr. Brunker answered.—Not. For how many works, during the same period, have there been tenders called two, three, four, five, and six times respectively, before any were accepted?

Mr. Sydney Smith answered,—In regard to the water supply for Sunny Corner the work has already received my sanction, and a surveyor is engaged in making the necessary surveys. In respect to the water supply for Wattle Flat the matter has not yet been finally dealt with.

Mr. Bruce Smith answered.—As I have just replied to another Question, the Government have no information whatever on the subject.

The purely Volunteer Corps still exist in the form of the Scottish Rifles and Reserve Rifle Companies, which now number over 3,000, under Colonel Eden, who also performs numerous other duties in connection with Boards, &c.

Captain Bouvier, Adjutant to the Reserve Rifle Companies, receives £585 a year, and generally assists Colonel Eden.

Contracts for Works:—Mr. Hutchison (Glen Innes) asked the Colonial Secretary,—Is it his intention to make inquiries into the cause of the repeated failures, as demonstrated by trial, of the various vessels for the Australian Squadron?

Mr. Sydney Smith answered,—I have carefully gone into the matter, and shall be prepared to recommend certain action in relation thereto to the Cabinet in the course of a week or two.

Cruisers for Australian Squadron:—Mr. Traill asked the Colonial Secretary,—With respect to how many of the cruisers constructed for the Australian Squadron have defects been exposed in their trial trips and otherwise?

Mr. Sydney Smith answered,—I have carefully gone into the matter, and shall be prepared to recommend certain action in relation thereto to the Cabinet in the course of a week or two.

Acreage of Land alienated by Grants:—Mr. Hutchison asked the Secretary for Lands,—What was the nature of the defects in each vessel?

Mr. Sydney Smith answered,—I have carefully gone into the matter, and shall be prepared to recommend certain action in relation thereto to the Cabinet in the course of a week or two.

Mr. Sydney Smith answered,—This matter is under consideration, and the claims of the district referred to will not be lost sight of.

(29.) Railway from Byerock to Brewarrina:—Mr. Davis asked the Secretary for Public Works,—Is it his intention to submit to the Public Works Committee the extension of a line of railway from Byerock to Brewarrina; or, if not, will he do so upon a sufficient guarantee being given to cover the cost of interest upon the construction of such line?

Mr. McMillan answered,—The matter will be considered when the Railway policy is before the Cabinet, but my honorable colleague cannot fix a date for this just at present.

(30.) Extra Payments to Police Officers:—Mr. Kidd asked the Secretary for Public Works,—Have any recommendations been made by the Water and Sewerage Board with regard to resumptions of land, panel of Kangaloom, in connection with Sydney Water Supply?

Mr. McMillan answered,—No resumptions have been recommended, but the Board wrote on the 19th March last asking that the Minister for Lands might be requested not to allow the alienation or release of any lands within the catchment area of the Sydney Water Supply, which might from time to time fall into his possession owing to cancellation, or otherwise. The Board also suggested that the boundary of the catchment area should be resurveyed.

(31.) Phylloxera Bill:—Mr. Metcalfe, for Mr. Hayes, asked the Secretary for Mines and Agriculture,—Is it his intention this Session to bring in a Bill to amend the Phylloxera Bill?

Mr. Sydney Smith answered,—Yes.

(32.) Appeal Case, Police against Adams:—Mr. Creek, for Mr. Collins, asked the Minister of Justice,—

(1.) Has the appeal case the Police against Adams, in connection with the consultation sweeps, which was tried some two years ago, been decided; if so, how?

(2.) Is it a fact that other persons have been fined for carrying on a similar business to that which it is alleged Adams is now doing with impunity?

(3.) If so, will steps be taken at once to prevent Adams from carrying on these consultation sweeps?

Mr. Gould answered,—

(1.) Yes, the appeal made by Adams against the decision of the Bench was dismissed with costs; a full report of the case will be found in the New South Wales Weekly Notes of April 7, 1888.

(2.) I am informed that it is believed to be so.

(3.) Many persons have been prosecuted for such offences, but the police have not been successful in obtaining evidence against the persons referred to.

(4.) When sufficient evidence is forthcoming, the police will, no doubt, take such steps to vindicate the law as may be necessary.

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

WEDNESDAY, 27 MAY, 1891.

1. The House met pursuant to adjournment. Mr. Speaker took the Chair.

COMMITTEE OF ELECTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS:

(1.) Maturity of Warrant reported:—Mr. Speaker reported that his warrant, appointing the Committee of Elections and Qualifications for the present Session, laid upon the Table on Wednesday, 20th May, 1891, not having been disapproved by the Assembly in the course of the three next sitting days on which the Assembly met for the despatch of business, had now taken effect as an appointment of such Committee; and intimated that it was therefore open to members of the Committee to be sworn at the Table by the Clerk, in accordance with the 59th section of the Electoral Act of 1880.

(2.) Members sworn:—George Henry Greene, Esquire; Charles Alfred Lee, Esquire; Francis Augustus Wright, Esquire; Francis Abigail, Esquire; and William Springthorpe Dowl, Esquire, came to the Table, and were sworn by the Clerk as members of the Committee.

2. QUESTIONS:

(1.) Road—Cleveland-street to Botany:—Mr. William Stephen asked the Secretary for Public Works,—

(1.) Is the road leading from the railway tunnel in Cleveland-street, Redfern, through Redfern, Waterloo, Alexandria, North Botany, and Botany, to the tram terminus on the shore of Botany Bay, a main road of the Colony; if so, what was the date of proclamation?

(2.) Under what system is the management of the said road conducted,—by trustees or otherwise?

(3.) If by trustees, by whom were they appointed; and what was the date of their appointment?

(4.) From what source do the trustees obtain funds for the maintenance of the said road?

(5.) What is the amount placed annually at their disposal?

(6.) Was this road formerly a parish road, managed by trustees elected by the people; if so, from what source did they derive funds for the maintenance of the road?

(7.) Did the Government abolish this former trust and remove the toll-gate; if so, what was the date of such abolition, and the removal of the gate?

(8.) What was the amount collected annually from the tolls on this road for the last two years previous to the abolition of the elected trust, stating the amount for each year separately?

(9.) What was the amount of mileage money paid annually by the Roads Department to the elected trust in addition to the amount derived from the toll-gate?

(10.) What is the total amount expended by the Government and the trustees appointed by them up to the present time on this road since the abolition of the elected trustees, the removal of the toll-gate, and its proclamation as a main road of the Colony?

Mr. Bruce Smith answered,—

(1.) The Botany Road is a main road, from the old Half-way House Hotel to the tram terminus. The portion within the limits of the Boroughs of Redfern, Alexandria, and Waterloo is by proclamation of 31st December, 1888 (Gazette No. 10, 7th January, 1889), vested in those Councils.

(2.) By trustees.

(3.) By the Secretary for Public Works, on 31st December, 1888.

(4.) A vote of Parliament.

(5.) £1,200.

(6.) Yes; from the collection of tolls, and a small vote of £109 a year.

(7.) Yes, on the 25th October, 1888.

(8.) As no return was made to this Department it is impossible to say.

(9.) £100 a year.

(10.) £4,387 8s. 5d.
(2.) Provision for carrying on Public Works.—Mr. Dibbs asked the Colonial Treasurer.—Referring to the 13th clause of the speech of His Excellency the Governor,—will he state the nature of the satisfactory arrangements which have been made for carrying on the public works sanctioned by Parliament?

Mr. McMillan answered.—An advance has been obtained in London of £750,000 on the most favourable terms. An advance of about £500,000 has also been obtained in the Colony. I think this should be satisfactory to the Honorable Member.

(3.) Cemetery for Sutherland.—Mr. Dale asked the Secretary for Lands,—Has he arrived at any decision in regard to a cemetery for Sutherland?

Mr. Gould answered.—No decision has yet been given, but inquiries are being made as to the most suitable site for a general cemetery for Sutherland and the suburban municipalities on the Illawarna Railway Line.

(4.) Fairfield Park.—Mr. Dale asked the Secretary for Lands,—Has he arrived at any decision in regard to the resumption of land at Fairfield for park purposes?

Mr. Gould answered.—This matter will be considered when other applications of a similar nature are being dealt with.

(5.) Rifle Range, Randwick.—Mr. Dale asked the Colonial Secretary,—When will the rifle range at Randwick be completed?

Sir Henry Parkes answered.—A portion of the range will be ready for practice about the end of June, and the remainder about a month later, including the special range for cadets. It was not possible to do more than has been done. I am, however, informed by the Major-General Commanding the Military Forces that the rifle range will take several years to complete, i.e., to turf and grass all exposed surfaces of sand, erect pavilion, and form roads.

(6.) New Gaol in Glen Innes.—Mr. Wright asked the Minister of Justice,—

(1.) Have the Government arrived at any decision to utilise the new gaol in Glen Innes, built at a cost of between £13,000 and £14,000?

(2.) Is it not a fact that this gaol has been unused since its erection some six years since, and that it is rapidly going to decay through neglect?

Mr. Gould answered,—

(1.) No. It does not appear that the gaol can with any advantage be brought into the present penal system, nor would it be suitable for use as a reformatory. The prison authorities point out that the building of this gaol, which cost £11,300, "was a serious mistake, because it was not locally required," and, from its position, could not be brought into the penal system of the Colony, while the local prisoners are so few as not to justify the expense of opening the place.

(2.) The gaol has not yet been used, but is not rapidly going to decay through neglect. The warden employed in the local police gaol resides in it as caretaker.

(7.) Inspection of Light-houses.—Mr. Perry asked the Colonial Treasurer,—

(1.) What was the cost of the Marine Board's late inspection of light-houses?

(2.) What reasons have the Marine Board assigned for not entering the Richmond?

(3.) Will he instruct the Marine Board to charter a suitable steamer for their next trip, in order that they may land and make a proper inspection of light-houses along the coast?

Mr. McMillan answered,—

(1.) £445.

(2.) The reasons for not entering the Richmond are:

(a.) The steamer that was chartered was suitable for the service. If the Board failed in their duty in some instances it was in consequence of the weather, and of the exceptionally bad condition in which many of the bar harbours are at the present time.

(b.) After a little time a small steam launch was observed to be making for the entrance, with the apparent intention of coming out. As the sea was too heavy for the little steamer to cross the bar the Board steamed away rather than wait to encourage her to come out, and thereby incur great risk to life and property.

(3.) The steamer that was chartered was suitable for the service. If the Board failed in their duty in some instances it was in consequence of the weather, and of the exceptionally bad condition in which many of the bar harbours are at the present time.

(8.) Construction of South Training Wall, Richmond River.—Mr. Perry asked the Secretary for Public Works.—Will he direct Ins officers to proceed with the construction of the south training wall, Richmond River Harbour Improvements, in order to keep that river open for navigation?

Mr. Bruce Smith answered.—Steps are being taken to make a start with this work at an early date, but any work done on the south side will have little or no effect in improving the entrance for some few years.

(9.) State of Current Account in London.—Mr. Garvan asked the Colonial Treasurer,—What was the state of the London account by the latest telegraphic information?

Mr. McMillan answered.—On 7th April last we received a telegram from the Agent-General intimating that funds were exhausted. Since then we have (by advance and remittance) replenished the current account to the extent of £250,000. This will meet all liabilities for May and June.

(10.) State of Current Account in London.—Mr. Garvan asked the Colonial Treasurer,—

(1.) What money has been sent by the Government from Sydney to the credit of the London account from 1st January, 1870, to present date; giving particulars of date, and amount of each transaction?

(2.) Similar information with reference to money transmitted from London to Sydney?

Mr. McMillan answered.—I shall presently lay the required information upon the Table in the form of a Return.
(11.) State of Current Account in London.—Mr. Garvan asked the Colonial Treasurer,—
(1.) What was the state of the London account on the 31st March, 1891?
(2.) What was the total known amount which fell due to be paid during the month of April this year?
Mr. McMillan answered,—
(1.) Credit balance, £36,715 8s. 4d.
(2.) The known amount which fell due in April, viz., £288,750, being for interest on Public Debt, was included in March account. The estimated amount due in April was £67,000.

(12.) Model Farms.—Mr. Wright asked the Secretary for Mines and Agriculture,—
(1.) Does he contemplate the establishment of an experimental or model farm at Glen Innes?
(2.) Will he have any objection to lay upon the Table of this House all reports, letters, and minutes dealing with the various sites proposed as suitable for model farms in the Northern districts of the Colony?

67. Mr. Willis to move,—
   (1.) That this House is of opinion that, having regard for the welfare of the people, and with a view of relieving the heavy burden of taxation now imposed upon the masses, the Customs Tariff should be amended, so as to remove the duties now placed upon tea, sugar, coffee, rice, currants, raisins, dried fruits, butter, bacon, and cheese.
   (2.) That the revenue lost to the State by such removal shall be made good by an additional duty of 10 per cent. being placed upon the following articles:—Pianos, organs, musical instruments, music, silverware, silver-plated ware, furniture, harness, carriages, huggins, carts, drays, waggon, carpets, floor-cloths, artificial flowers, laces, furs, feathers, silks, satins, velvets, gold and silver jewellery, plated jewellery, diamonds, billiard tables, iron safes, firearms, fireworks, and pictures.
   (3.) That the above Resolutions be communicated by Address to His Excellency the Governor.

68. Mr. O. O. Danger to move,—
   (1.) That, in view of the depressed condition of the agriculturalists of this Colony, to which the large importations of grain, hay, fruit, vegetables, and other products conveyed to our ports at low rates of freight have largely contributed; the fact that the other Australian Colonies have levied duties on all such products, thus to a certain extent closing their markets against our products; the further fact that the present tariff imposes duties on certain articles, the product of the farm, field, and dairy; and the necessity for adding to the public revenue in order to meet the expenditure already authorised by Parliament, and provide for further necessary works,—in the opinion of this House it is advisable that customs duties should be levied on all importations of maize, oats, chaff, bran, barley, wheat, flour, and other products of the farm and field.
   (2.) That the above Resolution be communicated by Address to His Excellency the Governor.

69. Mr. Willis to move,—
   That leave be given to bring in a Bill to authorise a Water Trust to establish works; borrow money to purchase and lease land for conserving and utilising the waters of the River Barwon (or Darling) for water supply, irrigation, and other purposes; and to reclaim and use certain lands within the Land District of Bourke.

71. Mr. Melville to move,—
   (1.) That, in the opinion of this House, all furniture manufactured in the Colony by Chinese, or imported from China, should be stamped, or bear a distinguishing mark, in a conspicuous place on such furniture, indicating that such furniture is the product of Chinese labour.

84. Mr. Hawken to move, That, in the opinion of this House, the present industrial conditions in Australia warrant the appointment of a Governmental Department of Labour, represented in Parliament by a Minister.

85. Mr. Hawken to move,—
(1.) That a Select Committee be appointed, with power to send for persons and papers, to inquire into and report upon the probable effect on the trade of the Colony, the City of Sydney, and the extension or contraction of the area of New South Wales, by the proposed federation of the several colonies with regard to interference with the tariff regulations of the railways of the Colony, and the abolition of differential tariffs or otherwise.

Total amount of proposed expenditure not approved by the Committee: £2,023,530

The
The two Committees that preceded the present one dealt with eight works, which, as referred to them, represented an expenditure of £615,176, and, as recommended by those Committees, £234,000. These works, added to those dealt with by the present Committee during their ten months of office preceding the date of their last General Report, brought the business of the three Committees, at that date, to the position shown in the following statement:

Total amount of proposed expenditure on the works dealt with by the three Committees:

- £6,929,625

Total amount of expenditure recommended by the three Committees on the works dealt with:

- £4,824,919

Total amount of expenditure not approved by the three Committees:

- £2,139,644

In two instances the First Committee recommended an excess of expenditure over that proposed, and these recommendations represented £34,938. This amount, deducted from the total amount of expenditure not approved by the three Committees, £2,139,644, left a difference between the amount submitted and the amount recommended for expenditure, up to 24th April, 1890, of £2,104,706.

The five works which were before the present Committee at the date of the last General Report were:

- Railway from Molong to Parkes and Forbes: £433,000
- Iron Bridge at Cowra: 26,537
- Cable Tramway from King-street, via William-street, to Ocean-street: 80,000
- Cable Tramway through George, Pitt, and Harris Streets, Sydney: 120,000
- Hospital for the insane upon the Kenmore Estate, near Goulburn: 120,000

Total amount of expenditure on these five works: £779,537

Since the 24th April, 1890, the following works have been referred to the Committee:

- Railway to connect the North Shore Railway with Port Jackson, at Milson’s Point: £231,156
- Hospital Buildings, Macquarie-street: 140,000
- Railway from Cobar to Cockburn: 1,168,000
- Railway from Glen Innes to Inverell: 492,000
- Extension of Kiama to Nowra Railway into the Town of Nowra: 75,000
- College for the training of Teachers of Public Schools: 37,500

Total amount of expenditure on these works: £2,143,656
Of these two lists of works, numbering together eleven, the Committee have dealt with eight, and partially dealt with three. The eight works dealt with are:

- Railway from Moloug to Parkes and Forbes...
- Iron Bridge at Cowra ...
- Hospital for the Insane upon the Kenmore Estate, near Goulburn (withdrawn)
- Railway to connect the North Shore Railway with Port Jackson at Milson's Point
- Hospital Buildings, Macquarie-street...
- Railway from Cobar to Cockburn
- Extension of Kiama to Nowra Railway into the town of Nowra...
- College for the training of Teachers of Public Schools

The three works partially dealt with are:

- Cable Tramway from King-street, via William-street, to Ocean-street
- Cable Tramway through George, Pitt, and Harris Streets, Sydney
- Railway from Glen Innes to Inverell

The evidence respecting the proposed Cable Tramway from King-street, via William-street, to Ocean-street has been closed, but the Committee have not yet arrived at a decision upon the proposal. The evidence respecting this proposed work has been prolonged in consequence of a desire on the part of the Public Works and Railway Departments, and also the Committee, to ascertain by experiment between Randwick and Waverley the suitability or otherwise for Sydney of an electric tramway of the most approved description; and also to obtain from America, through an officer connected with the Railway Department of this Colony, especially appointed to visit that country for the purpose, the latest information concerning cable and electric tramways in the chief cities of the United States. The experiment between Randwick and Waverley has been carried out, and a report has been received from the railway officer who visited America, and the two will materially assist the Committee in arriving at a decision with regard to the proposed tramway, and to that which it is proposed to construct in George, Pitt, and Harris Streets.

In the case of the proposed Hospital for the Insane upon the Kenmore Estate, near Goulburn, the inquiry by the Committee was carried to a certain point, and then was brought to a termination by reason of a resolution being passed by the Legislative Assembly, rescinding the resolution by which the proposed work had been referred to the Committee for inquiry and report.

Some of the inquiries carried out by the Committee since the date of their last General Report have been of more than ordinary importance. That respecting the proposed cable tramways will in all probability affect tramway construction and management in Sydney for many years to come, for the fullest and most reliable information on the subject of tramways having been obtained by the Committee, the authorities of the Public Works and Railway Departments are in the best position for making alterations in the present tramway system in Sydney, if alterations should be considered desirable, or for introducing new tramways along routes where it may be proposed to construct them. The inquiry with regard to the railway to connect the North Shore Railway at its present terminus with the deep waters of the harbour at Milson's Point, represented the only instance which has so far occurred of a proposed work being resubmitted to the Committee by the Legislative Assembly for further consideration and report. When this railway was first before the Committee they did not consider the evidence relating to it as to justify them in recommending its construction; but other circumstances coming to the knowledge of the Minister for Works, he induced the Legislative Assembly to send the proposal again to the Committee, and, in the second inquiry, reasons appeared which were sufficient to lead the Committee to alter their previous decision, and to recommend the construction of the line. One of these reasons was, that by further examination of the route it had been found by the Acting Engineer-in-Chief for Railways that the grade could be materially improved, and and at the same time the total cost of the railway reduced. Another of the more important of the inquiries recently made by the Committee is that with reference to the completion of the Hospital Buildings in Macquarie-street. If those buildings had not been commenced before the question of their completion was referred to the Committee it is not too much to say that their erection would not have been approved, but having been carried to a certain height the Committee decided to recommend their completion in the best manner possible under the circumstances. The evidence given in this inquiry is of much value, as it discloses a very unsatisfactory condition of affairs in relation to the expenditure of public money on hospital construction, and, at the same time, gives a large amount of useful information on the subject of hospitals generally. In connection with this matter it may be here said that it would conduces to much greater judgment and economy in the expenditure of public money on the construction of new hospitals if the plans for such buildings were supervised by the Government Architect. In the case of the Sydney Hospital plans for a building to cost £209,000 were adopted by the Hospital Board, and £69,000 (of which £45,000 was money from the public funds) expended without an examination of the plans being made by any professional officer of the Government, or the Government knowing anything of what the actual cost of the building would be. One other inquiry calling for special remark is that relating to the proposed railway from Cobar to Cockburn, which the Committee have recommended should only be constructed as far as Broken Hill. This railway has been before the Committee chiefly as a national work intended to bring into direct communication with Sydney some of the most distant, and richest, districts in New South Wales. As a national work the railway is of considerable importance, and to this feature of the inquiry the Committee have given due attention; but, in addition to this, they have endeavoured to ascertain whether the line is likely to be a paying one, and they are led by the evidence to consider that there is a prospect of the line proving profitable.

The proposed railway from Glen Innes to Inverell has been before the Committee since December last, and the inquiry respecting it has only recently been commenced. The delay, however, has not been due to the Committee, but has been caused by a desire on the part of the authorities of the Public Works Department to have the inquiry postponed until the route for the line could be resurveyed, with a view to obtaining a better grade than that which the original survey showed—1 in 40. In a minute addressed to the Under Secretary for Public Works by the Acting Engineer-in-Chief for Railways, and forwarded to the Committee with a request from the Minister for Works that they should make arrangements in accordance with the terms of the minute, it was stated that, as since the completion of the survey work on the route of the proposed line from Glen Innes to Inverell no proper inspection by the engineer in charge of the Survey Branch appeared to have been made, and as there were many miles of gradient of 1 in 40 which it was desirable to cut out, surveyors had been instructed to take up the work with a view to obtaining flatter grades, and it was advisable that the Committee's inquiry respecting this proposed railway should be postponed for two months, to await the result of the surveyors' efforts. This postponement was arranged, and at the end of the two months the inquiry was further postponed. It was commenced on the 21st ultimo, and since then has been carried on with expedition. On the 30th ultimo a Sectional Committee left Sydney to inspect the route proposed for the railway, and others suggested for connecting Inverell with the Great Northern line, and to take evidence in the districts which the railway would serve, and in less than a fortnight they returned, after having visited and taken evidence at Glen Innes, Swan Vale, Inverell, Tingoora, Wandsworth, Guyra, Armidale, Uralla, and Tamworth.

With respect to the improvement of grade on routes for proposed new railways, it has been a matter of great satisfaction to the Committee to find that since their efforts in their earlier inquiries to have heavy grades eliminated wherever there was a possibility of doing so, an earnest desire, supported by a re-examination of the country, and by fresh surveys carefully made, has been shown by the Acting Engineer-in-Chief for Railways to improve in this regard the routes of all new lines referred to the Committee. Instances of what has been done in this direction with the routes of railways recently under consideration are to be seen in the railway to connect the North Shore Railway with Milson's Point, the ruling grade of which was reduced from 1 in 40—the grade put before the Committee in their first inquiry respecting this this line—to 1 in 50; in the proposed Railway from Cobar to Cockburn, the grade of which will not be greater than 1 in 100, though it was thought it would be 1 in 75, and in the route of the proposed line from Glen Innes to Inverell, which will be altered from 1 in 40 to 1 in 60. The importance of these efforts to reduce the grades on all new railway lines can scarcely be over-estimated, as they will not only greatly facilitate future railway operations, but result in a vast saving of expenditure in rolling stock and haulage.

In March last the Committee were visited by the Chairman and several other members of the Victorian Parliamentary Standing Committee on Railways, who came specially to Sydney from Melbourne to acquaint themselves with the Committee’s method of procedure. They were afforded several interviews, and attended some of the Committee’s meetings, by which means, and the supply of copies of the reports, evidence, &c., published in connection with inquiries, which, up to that date, had been completed, they were able to fully inform themselves upon all points in the Committee’s method of carrying out their duties. Considerable interest has been manifested by the Victorian Committee in the proceedings of this Committee from the time of the appointment of the Committee in Victoria; and inquiries for copies of the reports of this Committee and of the Acts under which they conduct their inquiries by the Government of Tasmania, indicate that the Committee and their proceedings have attracted attention in that colony also.

There have been some changes on the Committee since the date of the last General Report. On 22nd October, 1890, Mr. Joseph Palmer Abbott, having been appointed Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, resigned his position as Chairman and member of the Committee. The Hon. John Lackey, who at that time was Vice-Chairman of the Committee, was appointed Chairman in Mr. Abbott’s place, and Mr. Jacob Garrard was chosen as Vice-Chairman. Mr. William McCourt was appointed a member of the Committee on 16th July, 1890, in the place of Mr. John Hurley, whose seat became vacant by reason of his resignation from the Legislative Assembly; and Mr. James Patrick Garvan was appointed a member on the 6th November, 1890, in the room of Mr. Joseph Palmer Abbott.

With the last General Report there was published a return giving a statement of the work of the three Committees from the date of the appointment of the first under the Public Works Act, and as a statement of this kind represents the results of the Committees’ inquiries in a concise and complete form the return has been brought up to date and is republished with this Report. Attached to the Report will also be found a copy of the Committee’s Minutes of Proceedings.

The return which is attached to this Report represents the result of the inquiries made by the present Committee and the two preceding Committees, up to the present date, as follows:—

Mr. Carlini moved,—"That the following words be added to the clause after the figures 'R125,000': exclusive of the architect's commission. Mr. Rowe, the architect, has already been paid £3,226, and he claims commission on the whole transaction, as will be seen from question and answer 2203—You would expect a commission upon the original plans? I am entitled to it. What I would do is a different thing.
If this work is never completed I shall most distinctly claim my percentage on the transaction, and dead or alive it is a part of my estate.'" consideration of Mr. Vernon, for, though the Hospital Committee's Architect is not officially subject to Parliamentary Reporting Staff.

(Correspondence Respecting Employment Of.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 26 May, 1891.

Return to an order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 4th December, 1890, that there be laid upon the table of this House,—

"Copies of all correspondence that has passed between the Hansard Staff and the President and Speaker in reference to the reporting of the Public Works Committee proceedings; and other matters up to present date."

(Mr. Waddell.)

No. 1.

The Principal Shorthand-writer to the Clerk of the Parliaments.

Sir, 29 August, 1888.

I shall be glad if you will refer the enclosed communication from the Chairman of the Public Works Committee to the Honorable the President and the Honorable the Speaker, with my request that I may be favoured with their instruction thereupon.

The staff have just concluded the compilation of the index to the " Debates," and I anticipate that Parliament will resume within two months.

The pressure of the work last session was without parallel, the " Debates Reports" having exceeded by 1,000 pages those of the " Land Bill Session" (thirteen months), and the number of select Committees having been unprecedentedly large. I believe I am well within a sober statement of fact when I say that the work done by the Debates Staff is about double that of any similar staff connected with the Parliaments of Australia, and is far in excess of that of ordinary members of the Public Service.

The staff is now on an efficient footing, the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Sear not having been filled, and the type-writers nominated for appointment not being available, it was with very great difficulty that we were able to keep to our work during the closing months of last session; and if deprived of the opportunity for rest which the next month or six weeks should afford, we shall not be in a state of health to efficiently discharge the work of next session.

When the staff undertook to report Royal Commissions the appointment of a permanent body such as the Public Works Committee was probably not thought of, and it was made an express condition that the work of Parliament should not suffer. The staff have more than fulfilled every obligation under that arrangement, and the work of Parliament has been very much increased since it was made. We often work fourteen and sixteen hours per diem for several weeks in succession, and, under heavy pressure, towards the close of last session we had to struggle through thirty and forty hours consecutively as best we could. Inasmuch therefore as we are now taxed to the utmost limit of our powers of endurance, I trust that should the Honorable the President and the Honorable the Speaker see fit to direct the staff to undertake the work of reporting the Public Works Committee evidence, they will, at the same time, authorize such additions to the staff as will enable the duty to be satisfactorily performed.

Under existing circumstances it will be my duty to request the appointment of an additional reporter (at £450) at the beginning of the next session; and if the duty of reporting the Public Works Committee be added, I estimate that a further sum of not less than £300 per annum will be required.

I have, &c.,

Charles Robinson,
Principal Shorthand-writer.
The Principal Shorthand-writer, Parliamentary Hansard Staff.

Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Works.

Sir, Public Works Department, 26 August, 1888.

A meeting of this Committee will be held in the Tender Board Room of the Public Works Department on Friday afternoon next, at 2 o'clock, and as it is the intention of the Committee to examine several witnesses, I shall be glad if you will make arrangements for a member of your staff to be present and take the evidence.

I have, &c.,

JOHN LACKEY, Chairman of the Committee.

The Principal Shorthand-writer, Parliamentary Hansard Staff.

No. 2.

The President of the Legislative Council to The Principal Shorthand-writer.

Dear Sir, Australian Club, 3 September, 1888.

I have carefully read your letter, and that enclosed from Mr. Lackey, and sent them to the Speaker, with my observations, for his consideration.

I think you will have to arrange so as to provide the Parliamentary Committee for Public Works with the necessary means of reporting their proceedings and evidence, if they need it. In the meantime you may do so, as it seems to me, without any very great inconvenience or expense. Any absolutely unavoidable expenditure must be met.

It is impossible at present to estimate what in the end it may come to. Until there is some experience to go upon the matter must be treated as it arises.

It is a pity your type-writers were not appointed to enter on their duties at once; it would have aided you in the emergency.

Yours truly,

JOHN HAY.

Mr. J. W. Roberts to The Speaker.

Sir, Hansard Office, 9 September, 1888.

I have the honor, on behalf of the members of the Hansard Staff, to request that you will be so good as to favour us with a personal interview respecting the proposal which has been made to cast upon us the duty of reporting the evidence taken by the Public Works Committee.

I may state that the staff view the proposal with extreme dissatisfaction, and we feel that we could more effectively represent our case if you would favour us with a personal interview.

Should you deem it advisable to accede to our request, I shall be pleased to know the date which will suit your convenience.

Yours truly,

J. WHEAT ROBERTS.

Memo. for The Speaker.

Mr. Robinson has sent me the enclosed letter from the Chairman of the Parliamentary Public Works Committee, requesting that arrangements should be made for reporting the evidence at a meeting to take place on Friday next (the letter being dated on the 28th August, Tuesday). Mr. Robinson's letter was apparently left at the Council on the 29th, but in point of fact I did not see it until the afternoon of the 31st (Friday). It could not therefore be satisfactorily considered, and even now I do not know if the Speaker has returned from the country.

In his letter accompanying the above, Mr. Robinson asks our instructions with respect to the communications from the Chairman of the Committee, and after going into various explanations he says that he trusts that if the President and the Speaker see fit to direct his staff to take the work of reporting the Parliamentary Public Works Committee they will at the same time authorize such additions to be made to his staff as to enable the work to be satisfactorily done. He says that "under existing circumstances" it will be his duty to request the appointment of an additional reporter at a salary of £50 at the beginning of the next Session; and that if the duty of reporting the Public Works Committee is added, he estimates that a further sum of not less than £300 will be required.

With regard to this, I am not sure that I see exactly what is meant. At present it seems that the question really is, whether we are to authorize the necessary reporting of the Public Works Committee to be done while Parliament is out of session. I think it was understood that all Parliamentary reporting was to be done through the Hansard Staff. I therefore am of opinion that Mr. Robinson will have to arrange for it. But as I understand Mr. Robinson to say that he cannot at present do the work through his existing staff without some assistance, and as I quite believe that some relaxation must be provided for members of that staff to enable them to resume their ordinary Parliamentary duties with efficiency, I am willing to sanction such additional assistance as he may find absolutely required to meet the present demand of the Public Works Committee. It is a pity that Mr. Robinson did not avail himself of the opportunity he had the other day of appointing the type-writers to enter upon their engagement at once. I think it would be impossible to say what the requirements of the Public Works Committee in the future may be. By-and-bye he will be better able to form an estimate of the necessary increase to his staff. At present he will have to arrange how the work is to be done; and in so far as that may require immediate additional expenditure, we will have to sanction it.

J. HAY, President.

Memo. for The President.

Speaker's Room, Sydney, 10 September, 1888.

I think it would be unfair to expect the present Hansard Staff to take up the work of this Committee at the present time. The last session was so protracted and also severe that I consider they are entitled to as much relaxation as possible in a three months' recess. Perhaps Mr. Robinson might be instructed to provide the necessary reporters for the Committee from outside sources for the present, at any rate, leaving the ultimate decision as to who should undertake the duty to be considered later on.

After the 17th instant I shall probably remain in Sydney, and shall be glad to meet the President at any time he may fix.

J. HAY.

No. 3.
The Principal Shorthand-writer to the Clerk of the Parliaments.

Sir,

I have to request that you will be so good as to submit to Mr. President and Mr. Speaker the enclosed letter, addressed to me by five members of the staff.

On the 4th September I received a non-official note from Mr. President, in which he intimated that it would be necessary for me to arrange for the reporting of the Parliamentary Committee on Public Works. Mr. Speaker being absent from Sydney, official intimation could not be given. I thereupon wrote to the Chairman of the Committee that, pending Mr. President's and Mr. Speaker's determination upon his application, I would make every effort to provide for, and secure that the staff together, with a view to the appointments for attendance on dates which would best suit their convenience, and make up the deficit as little burdensomely as possible. The staff, finding that I was in a position only to request and not instruct them to attend the Committee, declined the duty, and the letter which I enclose is the outcome. Fearing the receipt of Mr. President's and Mr. Speaker's instructions upon Mr. Lockey's letter, I have arranged for the attendance at the Committee of a shorthand-writer on Tuesday next.

The staff say that the Committee will add materially to the extent of their work. My estimate is based on the work as it at present stands, namely, two sittings of the Committee per week, one on Tuesday and the other on Friday, and if that should remain as the permanent appointment of the Committee, I have no hesitation in saying that the work of the staff would not be increased during the session of Parliament. If, however, the Committee should determine to sit every day, or even to change their days of meeting to Wednesday and Thursday (which contingency I had considered and dismissed as improbable), when both blouses of parliament sit simultaneously, then a second reporter would have to be employed.

As to the staff's objection that confusion would arise from our work being irregular and complicated, I am quite unable to perceive that irregularity or complexity could arise any more than if an additional Select Committee were appointed.

Their objection that they would be "altogether deprived of the short recesses for relaxation" appears to me a valid one, with this modification, that they would not be "altogether" deprived of the recesses. Having regard to the organization of the staff, and to the fact that the addition of one or two members will in many cases greatly increase the working power of all the rest, I entertain no doubt whatever that the work of the Committee could be done by the staff with far greater economy and despatch than it would be possible to do it by the creation of a separate staff; and the only question appears to me to be as to whether these advantages to the general public are to be obtained at the expense of the leisure of the Debates Staff during the recess. If the Legislative Assembly habitually adjourned before midnight, and if the Parliament of New South Wales could conclude its business within a period of say six months, I should, for my part, see no objection to undertaking any amount of work which would be likely to arise from the Public Works Committee; but—closing the Session as we do, with the life almost crushed out of us by post-midnight sittings, and after having worked more hours in nine months than the rest of the Civil Servants are required to work in twelve, I think I might even say fifteen,—I cannot but sympathize with the feeling of alarm which appears to have dictated the letter upon which I am now commenting. At the same time, however, I ought to point out that it is not now known whether the Committee's work will be much or little; and if Mr. President and Mr. Speaker direct me to undertake it, I shall do so in the full assurance that they will authorize such additions to the staff as experience may show to be necessary to enable the duty to be satisfactorily performed.

I am, Sir,

CHARLES ROBINSON,
Principal Shorthand-writer.

To the Principal Shorthand-writer,

Sir,

Referring to the interview which we had with you yesterday as to our being called upon to report the evidence taken by the Public Works Committee, we beg to state that we have given the whole question the fullest consideration, and have arrived at the following conclusions:

As parties to the agreement which was entered into in 1884, when the two Parliamentary shorthand-writing staffs were amalgamated, we concede that that agreement or impliedly encompasses a permanent Committee—such as the Public Works Committee; and even if it were possible to interpret it so as to make it applicable in such a case, we submit that it would be grossly unfair to so apply it in the instance of this Committee—the creation of which was never contemplated as a possible matter. We would point out that any such extension of the Legislative Assembly of Parliament to perform the clerical work of the Committee as there is in asking us to do the shorthand-writing. The Committee is not a Parliamentary "Select Committee." One of the bases of agreement was that extra Parliamentary reporting should not be cast upons it if it would tend in any way to disarrange our Parliamentary work; and we believe that if we have to undertake the work of this Committee it will seriously interfere with our ordinary duties when Parliament is in session. It will add materially to the extent of our work, which is already serious in the extreme, and it will altogether deprive us of any chance of getting much-needed relaxation in the recess.

It seems to us that the adoption of the suggestion that in consideration of another reporter being appointed we might undertake the extra work will not affird us any relief or be an advantage in any way. Our work is so irregular and complicated that we fear that it would not be possible to arrange it so as to make the appointment of another reporter compatible with the conditions under which we have hitherto been engaged.

In Victoria, where the sittings of the Assembly are limited in three nights a week, and, except towards the end of the session, there is a general understanding, which is invariably observed, that the House shall rise before 11.30 p.m., the lowest salary paid to any Hansard reporter is £610. The average length of the sessions there is six months. The members of the Parliament are not called upon to do any work other than their duties as members. There is no separate staff for Commission and Committee work. The note-takers employed on that staff receive salaries in excess of ours, and have arrived at the following conclusions:

1. We are of opinion that this agreement was never intended to include the payment of our salaries in excess of ours.

2. It has been our understanding that the salaries paid to Hansard reporters are to be increased in the same proportion as the salaries paid to officers of the public service.

3. It has been our understanding that Hansard reporters are to receive the same treatment in regard to sick leave, vacation, and other conditions of service as are afforded to other officers of the public service.

4. It has been our understanding that Hansard reporters are to be eligible for promotion to the same extent as other officers of the public service.

5. It has been our understanding that Hansard reporters are to be paid the same rate of wages for all work done, whether it be in Hansard or in any other capacity.

We wish to direct attention to the following facts respecting the work of other official reporting staffs:

In Queensland the permanent members of the staff receive salaries almost equal to ours. There five months is considered a very long session. In the recess some of the reporters are called upon to do Government work, but for this they receive substantial bounties.

If you may be allowed to make a suggestion, our idea is, that if the shorthand work in connection with the Committee is more than the gentlemen already appointed can do, it would be much more satisfactory to all parties that another shorthand-writer should be appointed in this department.
Any proposal to put the work on to us, in our opinion, be a departure from the written agreement which we have entered into; and so fully convinced are we that the proposals which have been made would operate unfairly and harshly against us that we feel compelled to state that we cannot willingly give our consent to any of them. If any departure is to be made from the agreement, we submit that it ought to be in the direction of lessening our work, and the period over which it extends, rather than of, possibly, materially increasing it.

We therefore respectfully, but firmly, ask you to be so good as to request the proper authorities to make other arrangements for the performance of the shorthand work of the Public Works Committee.

(a) The reasons for the appointment of an additional shorthand-writer were fully set forth in my letter to the Clerk of the Parliament, of 6th September, 1888. In illustration of the increase in the work, I may repeat that for the session 1879-80 the Assembly sat 127 days, at 6 hours 33 minutes per day, and the report of the debates was 3,728 pages. In 1887-88 the Assembly sat 131 days, at 6 hours 11 minutes per sitting, and the report of the debates was 6,532 pages.

During the period 1879 to 1888, Parliament appointed 114 Select Committees, and appropriated £1,460 to pay for the shorthand-writing—an amount which was often exceeded.

During 1884-1887, Parliament appointed 293 Select Committees, and they were reported by the Debates Staff. When drawing up last year's Estimates for submission to Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, I thought it would not be necessary to appoint another shorthand-writer in the room of Mr. Searc, until. Since then, however, there have been several new appointments to the Legislative Council, and six of the gentlemen appointed rode 446 coaches during last session. Also, since that estimate was framed, the Legislative Assembly has changed its procedure in two important particulars, namely, the practice of sending out notices of questions has been discontinued, and the House has met at 3.30 p.m. instead of 4.30 p.m. This has thrown fully one hour and a half of note-taking upon the staff, and it would not have been possible to have done the work had provision been made from the Treasurer's Advance Fund to meet the cost of assistance required. The shorthand-writing required by Parliament has been nearly doubled during the last nine years, but, with the additional reporter now asked for, the staff will not be numerically greater than it was for the eight years preceding 1888.

(b) The sessional shorthand-writing is asked for in anticipation of Mr. President and Mr. Speaker requiring the staff to report the evidence of the Parliamentary Committee upon Public Works—Chas. Robinson, Principal Shorthand-writer, October 1888.

No. 5.
The President of the Legislative Council to The Principal Shorthand-writer.

Sir,—The President and Speaker direct the attention of the Principal Shorthand-writer to the allegations contained in the papers herewith. In reporting he is invited to state how he proposes to meet the work imposed upon him in reporting the debates in both Houses, the evidence taken by Royal Commissions, and that before not only ordinary Parliamentary Committees, but also that procured by the Joint Committee on Public Works. He is invited to say if he thinks this can be done without any intolerable pressure on the members of his staff, and without depriving them of a reasonable amount of relaxation. In connection with all this he may revert to the question of the adequacy of the estimate framed by him for the year 1889.

December 7, 1888.

[Enclosures.]

For self and Speaker.

J. HAY.

Sir, I desire to remind you of a fact which seems to have escaped your memory when you assigned me to attend Thursday's meeting of the Public Works Committee. The nature of my duties as a member of the Hansard Staff was definitely defined to me by yourself, both verbally and in writing, before I accepted the position. The duty of attending this Committee, or doing any work (Governmental or Parliamentary) other than what is defined in your letter to me of March, 1888, does not come... come within the terms of my engagement. It would involve a serious addition to my already onerous labours, and entail a considerable increase in my expenditure; and in the absence of any communication from yourself as to whether the acceptance of this work would be compensated for by an addition to my salary, or in some other practical form, I have to request that you will not press the engagement upon me.

Yours truly,

The Principal Shorthand-writer, Parliamentary Debates Staff.

Dear Sir,

Replying to your note of to-day, I must adhere to the appointment I have made, namely, that you attend the Public Works Committee at 2 p.m. to-morrow. Your statement that it will involve a "serious addition to your already onerous labours" is entirely at variance with the fact; and that it will "entail a considerable addition to your expenditure" appears to me to be purely imaginary. I have no authority for holding out to you any expectation of an addition to your salary; and I have already pointed out to you verbally that the assistance given to the staff by the employment of an additional shorthand-writer this session not only "compensates" for this additional duty, but has greatly diminished the work of the staff, which is now less than it has been at any former period.

Yours truly,

S. K. Johnstone, Esq.

The Clerk of the Parliament.—C.R., 30 Nov., 1888.

Sir,

I have attended, as at your request, the meeting of the Public Works Committee held to-day, and I feel that I cannot accept this entirely new and exceedingly laborious duty without protest, which, I beg you to be so good as to bring under the notice of the Honorable the President of the Legislative Council and the Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly at your earliest convenience. My chief reason for this course will be found set forth in the communication addressed by the staff to the President and Mr. Speaker a few months ago; but they have been in one aspect emphasised by my experience during the recent recess.

I was then requested by the Government, in an emergency arising out of the illness of one of its officers, to place my services at its disposal in the office of Secretary to the Railway Frauds Inquiry Commission. Although the Minister of the Department and the Committee there were good enough to order that I should be specially remunerated for my services to them, I soon became conscious that this remuneration did not adequately compensate me for the severe strain imposed upon me at the close of an exceedingly trying session, and I had no sooner undertaken than I requested to be relieved of the duty. That course was unfortunately deemed impracticable. I mediante this circumstance in order to impress upon the President and Mr. Speaker my view, which I am assured is shared by the staff, that neither additional assistance nor remuneration would adequately compensate for the sacrifice of our liberty during recess. This liberty, in every Colony in which a Hansard Staff exists, is regarded as an invaluable privilege of its officers, and is consequently jealously guarded. In the absence the severe strain imposed upon the New South Wales Hansard Staff when Parliament is sitting would be unbearable. I am aware that you, sir, in your office of Principal Shorthand-writer, have endeavoured to the utmost of your ability to preserve this liberty for the staff; but it seems to me obvious that the new duty requested of us in connection with the Public Works Committee would seriously interfere with any such arrangement in the future, which would, at the same time, neutralise to a great extent the beneficial effects of the relief recently afforded by the President and Mr. Speaker to our over-worked staff.

I have, &c.,

B. HARRY FRIEND.

Sir,

I shall be obliged to you if you will forward the enclosed letter to its destination at your earliest convenience.

The Principal shorthand-writer.

Yours truly,

S. K. JOHNSTONE.

The Honourable the President and the Speaker,—

Gentlemen,

On Tuesday last I was directed by the Principal Shorthand-writer, acting on a "verbal" instruction from yourself, to attend a meeting of the Public Works Committee. I reminded him that this was not one of the duties which I undertook to perform when I accepted a position on the staff; but he said that in the event of my not keeping the engagement he would have no option but to suspend me; and finally I wrote in the engagement book, "This engagement is accepted subject to the condition of the writer continuing on the staff at the same remuneration as at present."

In 1893 the Principal Shorthand-writer sent me a letter in which, after saying that he was instructed to inform me of my appointment, he then requested by the Government, in an emergency arising out of the illness of one of its officers, to place my services at its disposal in the office of Secretary to the Railway Frauds Inquiry Commission. Although the Minister of the Department and the Committee there were good enough to order that I should be specially remunerated for my services to them, I soon became conscious that this remuneration did not adequately compensate me for the severe strain imposed upon me at the close of an exceedingly trying session, and I had no sooner undertaken than I requested to be relieved of the duty. That course was unfortunately deemed impracticable. I mention this circumstance in order to impress upon the President and Mr. Speaker my view, which I am assured is shared by the staff, that neither additional assistance nor remuneration would adequately compensate for the sacrifice of our liberty during recess. This liberty, in every Colony in which a Hansard Staff exists, is regarded as an invaluable privilege of its officers, and is consequently jealously guarded. In the absence the severe strain imposed upon the New South Wales Hansard Staff when Parliament is sitting would be unbearable. I am aware that you, sir, in your office of Principal Shorthand-writer, have endeavoured to the utmost of your ability to preserve this liberty for the staff; but it seems to me obvious that the new duty requested of us in connection with the Public Works Committee would seriously interfere with any such arrangement in the future, which would, at the same time, neutralise to a great extent the beneficial effects of the relief recently afforded by the President and Mr. Speaker to our over-worked staff.

No. 6.

The Principal Shorthand-writer to The Clerk of the Parliament.

In attention to the memo. of the Honourable the President on the papers returned herewith, I have the honor to report:

1. The shorthand-writing services required by Parliament are dealt with as a whole, and I am decidedly of opinion that any other method would lead to a great waste of working power and consequent increase of expense. At 10 o'clock each night, or earlier, the Clerks of Select Committees inform me what Committee appointments have been made for the following day; and I have similar information at the beginning of each week from the Parliamentary Standing Committee. At that hour I am able to judge of the state of the work arising out of the debates in each House, and also to form an opinion as to what the demands upon the staff for the remainder of the night will be. If the subject of inquiry by a Committee is technical or special in any respect, I select the shorthand-writer whom I think best qualified to attend it, and I continue his attendance until the whole of the evidence has been taken.

A reporter who has a Committee to attend on the following day is relieved from gallery work in time to secure him the rest which he needs. If the arrangements which existed prior to 1884 were reverted to and extended to the Standing Committee, an expenditure of from £1,500 to £2,000 per annum, in addition to what is now required, would have to be incurred. The work would not be done better than it is now, and certainly not with anything like the same quickness. If the business were exclusively a matter of private concernment, I should act just as I always have done. I am unable to recommend any change as being advantageous to the Public Service, or as being required in the interests of the staff. I do not place upon any member of the staff a heavier burden than I am willing to bear—I may say, in fact, that my share of the work involves from twelve to fifteen hours more per week than that of other members of the staff. Subject, therefore, to the direction of Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, I do not purpose to make any change.

2. The staff is subject to a severe strain when the Assembly sits much beyond midnight. When the sittings are prolonged through the following day and night by relays of fresh Members, or when a sitting of the Council follows a twenty-four hours sitting of the Assembly, the strain upon the staff is almost insupportable. What is known as a stonewall is rarely set up before 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning, and cannot be foreseen. I provide for every relief possible under the circumstances.

3. I do not estimate the very important factor of accommodation at the present time. Should circumstances which I cannot foresee make additional expenditure requisite, I presume Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, upon being satisfied on that head, will recommend the Government to provide it. I believe, however, that it will not be necessary to spend the whole of the sessional vote.

Mr. Johnstone's complaint.

A. Mr. Johnstone appears to have deduced himself into the belief that he entered the service on the strength of a special agreement made with, and that it was only after he had assured himself that the terms of that agreement were satisfactory that he “accepted” the position. The fact is, that he sought the appointment, and his letter applying for it contained no stipulations as to the terms upon which he would consent to accept it. I have to-day obtained from Mr. Johnstone a letter which he bases his claim (letter appended). I did not suppose, when I wrote it, that I was drawing out a contract—and I was never authorised to make one.

B. “It would involve a considerable increase in my expenditure.” This is a still stronger hallucination. The Standing Committee does not charge for admission, and their office is only three minutes' walk from Parliament House.

Mr. Friend's complaint.

D. In addition to what Mr. Johnstone has advanced, Mr. Friend states that he was employed by the Government to do some work for the Tramway Frauds Commission, the special remuneration for which did not adequately compensate him, &c.

E. Neither additional assistance nor remuneration would adequately compensate for the sacrifice of our liberty during the recess.

The question raised here is one in regard to which I hesitate to offer an opinion. I may, perhaps, be permitted to say that I think the position which the staff should take is to recognise that the requirements of the Public Service must be the paramount consideration; and—if those requirements should, in the judgment of Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, make it desirable that the staff should do the particular work now objected to—to trust to Mr. President and Mr. Speaker securing them all needful rest; and, in the event of unforeseen and unavoidable pressure of work, to apply for a recognition of their labour by some money compensation. I have in my former minutes stated my belief that in some sessions of Parliament the staff have had to work a longer time in nine months than ordinary public servants in twelve; and that, working as they do at high pressure and under conditions unfavourable to health, they have a valid claim to three months' rest. But after what Mr. Friend has stated, I think it would be a condition that the shorthand-writers of Parliament should not accept any work which would bring them into competition with private shorthand-writers, but should use the leisure which may have to be done. During the session of Parliament, therefore, the work of the staff has reduced,—as I earnestly pressed upon Mr. President and Mr. Speaker that it should be,—not increased.

Mr. Friend's complaint.

D. In addition to what Mr. Johnstone has advanced, Mr. Friend states that he was employed by the Government to do some work for the Tramway Frauds Commission, the special remuneration for which did not adequately compensate him, &c.

E. Neither additional assistance nor remuneration would adequately compensate for the sacrifice of our liberty during the recess.

[Enclosure.]

Debates Office, 22 November, 1889.

Sir,

In view of the increased work imposed upon the staff and the peculiarly trying conditions under which our duties are performed, we request that you will submit to Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, this our application for an increase of salary.

Since the duty of reporting the evidence given before Select Committees of both Houses of Parliament was allotted to the staff, that department of work has largely increased without additional provision having been made. Had the old arrangement been continued of reporting Select Committees by separate shorthand-writers, at least double the provision formerly made would now be necessary, and even then the evidence could not be furnished so promptly as it has been since the retirement of the shorthand-writers to the Council and the Assembly.

With regard to the Debates reports, the increase of the number of members of the Legislative Council from forty in 1879, to seventy in 1889, has been followed by a considerable extension of the discussions in that House, and a corresponding enlargement of the report. At the same time the debates in the Assembly have also become more protracted, and that House habitually sits late. So much has this branch of our work been increased that the report is now almost double the length it was a few years ago. The debates of the last session, extending over seven months, occupy only fifty-three pages less than those of the session of 1883-4, in which the Crown Lands Act was passed, and which was prolonged for thirteen months.

The creation of the Public Works Committee has added greatly to our work. There has been practically three Committees brought into existence, each of which requires the attendance of one shorthand-writer, and sometimes of two. Although provision has been made to meet the requirements of the Committee, that would be inadequate were it not that portion of the work is distributed amongst the staff as a whole.

Owing to the frequent long sittings and the protracted duration of the sessions the increased work devolving upon us has to be performed under circumstances most prejudicial to health. If we were employed in any other department of the Public Service where payment for overtime was allowed, our salaries would be greatly augmented in that way, or we would receive recompense for specially onerous duties. £600 per annum was not considered an excessive salary for Mr. Palmers and Mr. Scour, and after ten years of laborious service we respectfully urge that it would not be more than adequate remuneration for the senior members of the staff.

When we were asked to join the reporting staff we understood that the interval between the sittings of Parliament would be at our own disposal; and when, twelve months ago, we protested against being called upon to report the evidence for the Public Works Committees as entirely new duty, we understood that Mr. President and Mr. Speaker were so fully impressed with the opinion of that view of the case that they directed that adequate leisure should be allowed for relaxation and recovery of health during the recess. As a matter of fact, however, the work in connection with the Committee, and the preparation of the indexes to the debates, almost wholly consumed the recent recess.

Memo. by The Principal Shorthand-writer.

Application for increase of salary.

Legislative Assembly Offices, Sydney, 28 November, 1890.

Having regard to the work of the last ten years, I do not think it would be possible for shorthand-writers to continue efficient for anything like the same period as officers in other departments of the Public Service. It is important that they should be always willing to meet the stress which the exigencies of Parliament put upon them. It must often happen that they will have to work double the number of hours which are required of other officers; but I could not recommend that any system of overtime payment should be adopted. It has occurred to me that the efficient performance of the work would be best secured and justice done to the reporting staff if, as a reward for proved efficiency and continued zeal, an increase of salary of £50 per annum were granted at the end of five years' service until as the result of fifteen years' service the maximum salary of £600 per annum was reached. In the event of the death or retirement of an officer receiving salary at the rate of £500, £550, or £600, the vacancy would be filled by an appointment of £150, and therefore it seems to me that the plan which I suggest would not really increase the expenditure upon the service as a whole.

The gentlemen making the application enclosed have served ten years, and receive salary at £550. I think there is a certain amount of equity in their objection to take additional duty in connection with the Parliamentary Standing Committees, which cannot be claimed in the case of more recently appointed members of the staff. I am aware that for a period of fifteen or twenty years prior to their retirement neither Mr. Palmer nor Mr. Scarr performed any other duty than that of reporting Select Committees and recording answers to questions.

Under these circumstances I recommend that Mr. President and Mr. Speaker may be pleased to consider the propriety of inviting the Colonial Secretary to place upon the Supplementary Estimates for 1889 a sum of £200, being an increase of £50 per annum to the salaries of Mr. J. B. Laing, second shorthand-writer, Mr. B. H. Friend, Mr. A. J. Smith, and Mr. W. Drake.

CHAS. ROBINSON,
Principal Shorthand-writer.

I think Mr. Robinson's suggestion that shorthand-writers should be taken on at £450, with the prospect of a rise to £500 at end of five years, £550 at end of ten years, and £600 at end of fifteen years—the last to be the maximum—is a very good one, and as under this arrangement the gentlemen applying would not be eligible for the maximum salary for some time yet their application may be declined. The long sessions they speak of may not again occur, nor may the continuous lengthy sittings, while, I understand, the extra work imposed by the Public Works Act has been fairly provided for by the increased staff.—J. H. Y., 27/9/90.

With respect to Mr. Speaker's memorandum on the other side I agree with it, at all events to this extent, that there is no special occasion for reviewing the salaries of the gentlemen named at the present time. But there is another gentleman, whose name is not included in the memo., I mean Mr. Laing, who is the second shorthand-writer, and who, coming next to Mr. Robinson, is specially responsible for the correctness of the reports in the Council, and has the revision of these reports. Mr. Robinson strongly recommends Mr. Laing for an advance of £50 per annum. This, I think, to one who would, in any case of failing health on Mr. Robinson's part, have to occupy his place and do his duties for the time is not too much, and I shall be willing, subject to Mr. Speaker's agreement, to endorse Mr. Robinson's recommendation.—J. H. Y., 17/9/90.

I concur.—J. H. Y., 18/9/90.
