For greater accuracy, he had obtained a copy, which he laid upon the Table of the House, and ordered that it be recorded in the Votes and Proceedings, as follows:

   HONOURABLE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, AND MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.—

   I appreciate your attendance today at the Opening of the Third Session of the Forty-Third Parliament. You have been called together to consider the Government's legislative and financial proposals and to deal with other matters of public importance.

   It was with deep sorrow that the people of New South Wales learned earlier this year of the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of Windsor.

   Since I last addressed you here, the State has also suffered a great loss in the passing of the Lieutenant-Governor of New South Wales, the Honourable Sir Kenneth Whistler Street, who won wide admiration during his lifetime of distinguished service to the State. Sir Kenneth's friends numbered many from all walks of life and I share with Honourable Members their deep regret in his passing.

   The death has also occurred of the Honourable Hubert David O'Connell, the Honourable John Charles McIntosh, and the Honourable Perceval Martin Maurice Shipton, Members of the Legislative Council, who, during their participation in public life, rendered devoted and unselfish service. Their passing is a loss to this Parliament and to the community as a whole.
The financial year just ended was marked by wide contrasts in economic conditions which reflected both international and domestic influences.

Australia is now one of the world's major trading nations and we are becoming more and more affected by developments on the international scene.

Capital inflow continued to run at a high rate but the slowdown in the Japanese economy, the continuing uncertainty in international exchange rates and the imminent entry of Great Britain into the European Economic Community have presented major problems both for Australia and the State of New South Wales.

Whilst unemployment is small by comparison with overseas conditions it is always a cause for concern. The Commonwealth and State Governments joined in a special programme to provide work for unemployed persons in non-metropolitan areas and some 5,700 people are currently employed in New South Wales under this scheme.

In the rural sector, the outlook for the beef industry is very sound. There was a welcome improvement in wool prices towards the end of the 1971-72 season, but there is still a considerable degree of uncertainty about the future prospects of this important industry.

Several other primary industries are also facing problems and the Government is being called upon to give assistance in various forms.

The State ended the year with a budget deficit of $4 million dollars, which is comparatively small for a State of this size. The deficit would have been larger but for the provision of special assistance by the Commonwealth Government in response to representations by the New South Wales Government.

Interest in New South Wales as a suitable State for industrial enterprises remains high and reflects the increased promotional activities undertaken by the Government's representatives in London, New York, Tokyo, and West Germany.

The Minister for Decentralisation and Development recently returned from leading a successful trade mission to South-East Asia which, in addition to making valuable on-the-spot sales of Australian products, succeeded in identifying potential market outlets for a wide range of manufactures, particularly capital equipment and processed foodstuffs.

The Government is continuing actively to encourage interest on the part of metropolitan manufacturing industries in decentralising their operations, and some 640 industries in more than 150 country centres have been provided with assistance from the Country Industries Assistance Fund since 1965.

New plant is being provided by the Electricity Commission to meet the ever-increasing demand for electricity which is associated with the growth in the State's population and the expansion of industrial and commercial activity. The second of the 500 megawatt generating units to be installed at Liddell Power Station has commenced operation and construction work is in progress on the third and fourth units which are scheduled to be commissioned in 1973 and 1974.

Considerable progress continues to be made in the development of the State's port facilities to meet the world trend towards larger ships carrying bulk cargoes. Construction of two new container berths at Glebe Island is nearing completion.

Work is also well under way on the first stage of the development plan of Botany Bay as a major port, and a major redevelopment programme is being undertaken at the Port of Newcastle.

World-wide tenders are being invited for a dredging and rock-removal project to increase the depth of Port Kembla Harbour from 36 feet to about 50 feet, at a cost in the vicinity of 23 million dollars, whilst investigations are proceeding into the construction of a general cargo berth in the Inner Harbour.

Requirements in education also continue to increase with the growth in the State's population and these are being met by the Government through the allocation of a major share of its available financial resources to this field of administration. Total outlay on education for the 1971-72 financial year reached a record of over 550 million dollars.

Approximately 523,000 primary students and 288,000 secondary students are currently enrolled in Departmental schools and more than 37,000 permanent, temporary and casual teachers are employed. 17,000 students are following courses of teacher training.

In addition to temporary classroom accommodation, 276 primary and 454 secondary classrooms were completed during 1971.
The extension of tertiary education facilities also remains of high priority. During the 1973-75 triennium, the first stage of a multi-campus/multi-discipline college of advanced education at Lismore will be commenced and construction of a multi-purpose college of advanced education at Kingswood will also begin.

At the present time seven major building projects estimated to cost 12 million dollars are in progress to provide accommodation in technical colleges. A further four projects at a total cost of about 4 million dollars are planned for early construction.

Improved facilities for agricultural education are also being provided.

Implementation of the Government's programme of water, soil and forest conservation works is progressing satisfactorily and a 50,000 acre-foot storage, the first stage of the 45 million dollar Copeton Dam on the Gwydir River, was completed on schedule.

During the 1971 softwood planting season 21,600 acres of pine plantations were established, bringing the total area of State plantations in New South Wales to more than 200,000 acres. The planting of 16,000 acres of pine is planned for this year.

The Rural Assistance Board, which amalgamated the former Rural Reconstruction Board and the former Closer Settlement Advisory Board, has been established to assist in the rehabilitation of the man on the land. Finance is being provided under the Commonwealth Rural Reconstruction Scheme and advances are being made to farmers for debt reconstruction, farm build-up and rehabilitation.

The past twelve months have witnessed the continuing growth of the national parks system in the State. Five national parks, five state parks, one historic site and eleven nature reserves, covering about 379,500 acres, were added to the system during this period.

Areas now reserved cover a total of more than three and a quarter million acres contained in 20 national parks, 10 state parks, 7 historic sites and 84 nature reserves.

During the year a total of 1,498 Crown homesites were made available throughout the State to assist in overcoming the shortage of land for home building purposes. Further subdivisions are in progress in the Metropolitan area and in various country areas. The Government intends to take action, drastic if necessary, to ensure the availability of much greater areas of building land owned privately.

5,218 dwellings were completed by the Housing Commission in 1971-72, a rise of 585 on the figure for the previous year. With some 950 special aged units under construction at the beginning of the year a substantial impact on the housing needs of elderly persons is anticipated in 1972-73.

Two high-rise buildings each of 17-storeys and containing a total of 428 flats will be completed shortly as a further stage in the redevelopment programme at Waterloo. A start will also be made on two 30-storey tower blocks in the same locality to provide 464 units for elderly persons.

The calling of tenders for the construction of the first Housing Commission houses in the Macquarie Fields neighbourhood, an important step in the planned development of Campbelltown, will be undertaken in the near future.

During the last financial year the Metropolitan Water, Sewerage and Drainage Board spent 89 million dollars on new water, sewerage and drainage works, including the development of the 104 million dollars scheme to transfer water from the Shoalhaven and Kanganaroo Rivers to the Sydney and South Coast supply systems. More than 550 miles of water mains and sewers were laid, extending the water supply to serve an additional 60,000 people and sewerage services an additional 110,000 people.

This year, the Board has budgeted for the expenditure of more than 110 million dollars on new works for the extension of its water supply and sewerage services, and the construction of sewage treatment plants to control pollution.

Combating pollution and protecting the environment are matters of increasing world-wide concern. The Government is making a vigorous attack on the problem by strengthening the powers and responsibilities of the various authorities to control pollution, by ensuring co-ordination and by the application of practical control measures.

The Declaration of its Environmental Impact Policy which was issued by the Government earlier this year was an important step towards environmental protection in this State. In terms of this Declaration all public authorities are required to give explicit consideration to environmental factors in planning and approving development proposals.
The Public Transport Commission of New South Wales which is shortly to be established will assume control of the Government's rail, bus and ferry services. The Government is confident that this move will lead to more intensive co-ordination of services and an improvement in the facilities available to the traveling public.

I am advised that the Sydney Area Transportation Study is progressing most satisfactorily and that, when completed, it will provide a comprehensive transport design for the future.

In the meantime, significant progress is being made with construction of the Eastern Suburbs railway and modernization and extension of railway facilities generally are continuing. In addition to the current contract for 53 double-deck power cars an order has also been placed for 106 double-deck stainless steel suburban carriages.

New buses, part of an order for 312 single-deck and 24 double-deck buses for addition to the Government's bus fleet, are regularly becoming available. An order was recently placed through the Australian Shipbuilding Board for two new 800 passenger ferries.

Good progress has been made with bridge-building over the State's many waterways and in the year ending 30th June last, major bridges opened to traffic included those over the Hunter River at Stockton, the Nepean River at Regentville and the Kalang River at Urunga.

Construction is well advanced on a 3,380 feet bridge over the Nepean River at Camden and a bridge over the Hawkesbury River to link both sections of the Sydney-Newcastle Expressway.

Major roadworks completed included a deviation of the Hume Highway south of Goulburn with a grade-separated inter-change with the Federal Highway. The sealing of the Barrier Highway from Nyngan to Broken Hill should be completed before the end of this year.

The Western Distributor is expected to be open before the end of the year and work has commenced on the section of the North Western Expressway from Sydney to Glebe. Earthworks and pavement construction are well advanced on the South Western Expressway from Cross Roads, near Liverpool, to the Campbelltown-Camden Road and completion early in 1974 is planned.

Earthworks on the Southern Expressway Tollwork between Waterfall and Bulli Pass are complete on the first section and the second section is well under way.

My Ministers advise that the comprehensive review of health administration being undertaken in this State is nearing completion and that it is expected that the proposed Health Commission will be established in the next few months.

Planning of the major medical teaching hospital complex at Westmead is proceeding and services for the intellectually handicapped will be significantly improved by the opening of the Marsden Rehabilitation Centre.

I am advised that the need for suitable accommodation for use as a holding and treatment area for psychiatric and drug-dependent prisoners is receiving close attention.

A major Training School for Girls is nearing completion at Campbelltown and several other small cottage type facilities for dependent children are in the course of construction or planning.

A major Court House and Police Station complex is under construction at Parramatta. A similar project was completed recently at Liverpool and new police stations have been constructed at Dee Why, Lockhart and Newtown.

The top level administration of the Police Force has been strengthened to ensure that efficient direction of Police activities is maintained. The recruitment of additional Police is continuing at a high rate and over the past 7 years there has been a net increase of more than 1,800 men and women in the strength of the Force.

The Mining scene in New South Wales has been one of continuing activity and Government assistance to prospecting companies and individuals increased substantially during the 1971-72 financial year.

Ravensworth open-cut coalmine was officially opened during the year and the mine will become the largest open-cut in Australia, supplying the 2,000 megawatt Liddell Power Station with most of its coal when that Station reaches full operation in 1974.
A tender worth 13.3 million dollars has been let for the construction of a new Government Office Block in Rawson Place near Railway Square. State Offices are nearing completion at Moree and Office Blocks at a number of other country centres are in the planning stage.

In pursuance of undertakings given prior to the last election, the Government proposes to introduce Bills to amend the Superannuation Act and to provide for the establishment of the New South Wales Retirement Fund.

Amendments to the Main Roads Act are proposed. Other proposals which form part of the Government's legislative programme include Bills to amend the Police Regulation (Superannuation) Act, the Co-operation and Permanent Building Societies Acts, the Local Government Act, the Forestry Act and the Education Act.

Dissent from Mr Deputy-Speaker's Ruling.—Mr Jackson moved, pursuant to Notice, that this House dissents from the ruling of Mr Deputy-Speaker given on Thursday, 24 August, 1972, when he ruled that the Honourable Member for Northcott was in order in discussing a matter of playing fields in his electorate on the Motion for the Adjournment of this House whilst the Address in Reply debate was still before the House.

Debate ensued.

Mr Jackson quoted two relevant Rulings by the Speaker:

(1) When the debate on the Address in Reply is current, care must be exercised in matters permitted to be discussed otherwise the House would have two similar debates at the same time (P.D., 1967–68 Vol. 67, p. 117); and
VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY
30 August, 1972

(2) If it is competent for honourable members to deal with a subject in the Address in Reply only in special circumstances would the Speaker allow it to be raised on the adjournment (P.D., 1969-70-71 Vol. 80, pp. 98-99).

He contended that the Deputy-Speaker had failed to follow the guidelines thus laid down.

Mr Punch drew attention to the fact that the honourable member for Northcott had prefaced his remarks with "on Thursday last week, after I had already spoken in the current Address in Reply debate, I read in my local press . . . " of the matter he wished to raise and that inquiries he had made had convinced him that unless it was raised at the earliest moment "the opportunity will be irretrievably lost": The exact considerations accepted by the Speaker himself as being sufficient at the previous Sitting.

He was convinced of the validity of his ruling.

Mr Mauger moved, That the Question be now put.

Question put—"That the Question be now put."
