Explanatory note

Item [3] extends the definition of spouse for the purposes of the State Superannuation Scheme to a person who is in a de facto relationship, within the meaning of the Property (Relationships) Act 1984, with a contributor or former contributor to the Scheme. The effect of this is that same sex partners of persons who are entitled to, or who are receiving, benefits are now to be dealt with as spouses and will be entitled to the benefits payable to spouses on the death of a contributor or former contributor.

Items [1], [2] and [4]–[8] make consequential amendments.

Item [9] enables savings and transitional regulations to be made as a consequence of the amendments to be made by the proposed Act.

Item [10] inserts proposed Part 9 of Schedule 25 (proposed clauses 27–35), containing savings and transitional provisions. Proposed clause 27 contains definitions. Proposed clause 28 makes it clear that the extended definition of spouse applies only to contributors or former contributors who die after the extended definition commences.

Proposed clauses 29–35 enable the Minister to enter into arrangements with the FSS Trustee Corporation (FTC), the SAS Trustee Corporation (STC), other trustees of superannuation schemes and other persons for the purpose of giving persons who have previously elected to take a conversion benefit and transfer to the First State Superannuation Fund or other superannuation schemes the right to elect to revoke that election. An arrangement may not take effect with respect to a former contributor except with the former contributor's consent. An arrangement may cover the election by former contributors to give effect to the arrangement, the reinstatement of the former contributors in the State Superannuation Scheme, the rights and obligations of a reinstated contributor, obligations with respect to employer contributions, the payment of benefits or other amounts from other superannuation schemes to STC, the adjustment and reduction of benefits and other related matters. A former contributor covered by an arrangement has the right to elect to give effect to the arrangement (that is, to be reinstated as a contributor). An election may not be made, or is revoked, if a benefit becomes payable to the person before the election takes effect. An arrangement is to have effect according to its tenor and has effect despite any other provision of the Principal Act or any other Act or regulation or other law or the rules of any affected superannuation scheme. Any action taken by the Minister, STC, FTC or any trustee or
