NEW SOUTH WALES.

IMPERIAL TROOPS IN THE AUSTRALIAN COLONIES.

(DESPATCHES.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

(No. 12.)

Government House,
Sydney, 27 January, 1870.

MY LORD,

With reference to your Lordship's despatch, No. 29, on the subject of the allotment of Troops to the various Australian Colonies and the rate at which they are to be paid for, I have the honor to forward a Minute which expresses the views of my Responsible Advisers upon these questions, which I have received from the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Cowper, and I would particularly draw your attention to the concluding paragraph of this paper.

I have, &c.,
BELMORE.

MEMO. respecting the Enclosure to Lord Belmore's Despatch, No. 12.

THE text of Mr. Cowper's Minute above referred to cannot be given, as no copy of it can be found.

The communication, however, made by Lord Belmore on behalf of Ministers to Lord Granville, was that Ministers were willing to propose to Parliament to sanction the retention of four Companies of Infantry, at an increased rate, provided that they received His Lordship's assurance that the troops should not be withdrawn in time of war.

Should, however, the other Australian Colonies not agree to take the remainder of the Regiment amongst them, this Government would not be prepared to receive more than four Companies, and in that event would decline the Infantry altogether.

Ministers further asked that a Battery of Artillery might continue to be stationed here, irrespective of any agreement with other Colonies as to Infantry—the same assurance from Lord Granville as to their retention in time of war being a sine quâ non.

B.
11 August, 1870.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES TO GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE.

(No. 44.)

Downing-street,
19 May, 1870.

MY LORD,

With reference to your despatch, No. 12, of 27th January, and to the correspondence which has passed on the question of the retention of Imperial Troops in the Australian Colonies, I transmit to your Lordship a copy of a letter from the War Office, with one from the Horse Guards, respecting the return of the 2nd Battalion of the 18th Regiment.

Although Her Majesty's Government readily acknowledge the reciprocal duty of defending every portion of the Empire, and that a Colony which pays for the presence of troops during peace may fairly expect that they should not be removed during war except under the strongest necessity, yet the exigencies of a state of war are so unexpected, and the necessity for entire freedom of action so great, that it would not be possible for them to give a pledge to that effect. But independently of that consideration, they observe that the Governments of Victoria and Queensland decline British Troops, that Tasmania has not accepted them, and could not be expected to take any large number, that South Australia only desires a single Company, and New South Wales only four Companies.

Australia therefore will not be prepared to receive anything like a Regiment of Infantry, which is the smallest number that can be sent there consistently with the requirements of discipline.

His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief has repeatedly expressed his opinion that Artillery cannot be permanently left in a Colony without Infantry. The removal of the 2/18th will therefore necessitate that of the Artillery.

The Troops may be withdrawn at the end of July or in the course of August. But if before their departure your Ministers can make arrangements with the Commanding Officer for the retention, at the expense of the Colony, of any commissioned or non-commissioned officers or privates whose services they may desire to retain for purposes of instruction, military example, or otherwise, Her Majesty's Government will offer no objection.

I have, &c.,
GRANVILLE.

[Enclosures.]

Sir E. Lugard to Sir F. Rogers.

War Office, 26 March, 1870.

Sir,

With reference to the correspondence that has passed upon the subject of the withdrawal of Imperial Troops from the Australian Colonies, I am directed by Mr. Secretary Cardwell to transmit to you, with a view to its being laid before Earl Granville, the enclosed copy of a letter from the Horse Guards, in which it is stated that Major General Sir T. Chute had reported, under date the 31st January last, that the 2/18th Foot was then arriving in Australia (from New Zealand), and that the 2/14th would embark for England about the end of February, and that under those circumstances, the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief presumes that the return home of the former Regiment might now be submitted for Her Majesty's approval.

It further appears from a private letter of the same date received from Sir T. Chute, that "the first detachment of the 2nd Battalion 18th Regiment had already arrived, and should ere this have relieved a detachment of about similar strength of the 14th Regiment at Adelaide."

Mr. Cardwell has expected to have received some time since the decision of the several Australian Colonies in regard to the retention of Her Majesty's Troops; but looking to the distribution of force on which the Army Estimates and the Transport Vote are founded, it appears to him to be time that clear directions should be given to the Board of Admiralty to bring home all the Troops from those Colonies; and he proposes, with Lord Granville's concurrence, at once to convey such directions to the Admiralty.

I have, &c.,

EDWARD LUGARD.

Lt.-Genl. Forster to Under Secretary of State, W. O.

Horse Guards,
24 March, 1870.

Sir,

With reference to the 3rd paragraph of your letter of the 12th instant, I am directed by the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief to request that you will acquaint the Secretary of State for War, that a letter dated 31st January last has been received from Major-General Sir T. Chute, at Melbourne, in which it is stated that the 2nd Battalion 18th Regiment "is now arriving in Australia," and that the 2nd Battalion 14th Regiment would embark for England about the end of February.

Under these circumstances, His Royal Highness presumes that the return home of the 2nd Battalion 18th Foot may now be submitted to the Queen for Her Majesty's approval.

His Royal Highness will be glad to be informed when any further intelligence is received regarding the Battery of Artillery detained at Sydney.

I have, &c.,

W. F. FORSTER.

GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE to THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

(No. 127.)

Government House,
Sydney, 10 August, 1870.

MY LORD,

I have the honor to acknowledge your Lordship's Despatch, No. 44, of the 19th May, which I received on the 9th July, notifying the intention of Her Majesty's Government to withdraw the Imperial Troops, but offering the services of officers and men upon such terms as might be mutually agreed upon, for the purposes of instruction, example, or otherwise.

2. On the 4th instant, Ministers requested me to apply to the Major-General Commanding, to know if he could delay the departure of the 1st Battery 1st Brigade R.A. until they could submit to Parliament a proposition to take the Battery, or part of it, over as a Colonial Corps. Parliament meets to-morrow, August 11th, and they asked for a delay of about a month from that date.

3. In reply, Sir Trevor Chute telegraphed to say that tonnage having been taken up, and date of departure fixed for the 20th instant, in compliance with the instructions he had received from Home, which had also been duly communicated to me, he could not comply with my request to delay the embarkation of any of the Troops.

4. I have applied to Sir Trevor Chute to know if the Government can retain the services of Gunner M'Combe, 2 Brig. R.A., who has been a Volunteer Instructor since 1863 or 1864. In reply, he has stated that he can only be allowed to remain on the terms of your Despatch of 19th May, which would involve that the Colony should be responsible for the entire cost for pay, allowances, and clothing, for this soldier.

5. I have, in reply, telegraphed to the Major-General that my Government will retain his services on these conditions.

I have, &c.,

BELMORE.

FOREIGN ENLISTMENT ACT.

(DESPATCH TRANSMITTING.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

(Circular.)

Downing-street, August 10, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit to you, for your information and guidance, copies of the Foreign Enlistment Act, which has been passed by Her Majesty's Government with the object of providing for the preservation of neutrality during the existence of hostilities between Foreign States with which Her Majesty is at peace.

I have to instruct you to give the widest publicity in the Colony under your Government to the provisions of this important Act.

I have, &c.,

KIMBERLEY.

The Officer Administering the Government of New South Wales.

33 & 34 Vict., Chap. 90.—Foreign Enlistment.

An Act to regulate the conduct of Her Majesty's subjects during the existence of hostilities between Foreign States with which Her Majesty is at peace. [9th August, 1870.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the regulation of the conduct of Her Majesty's subjects during the existence of hostilities between Foreign States with which Her Majesty is at peace :

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same as follows :

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Foreign Enlistment Act, 1870." Short title of Act.
2. This Act shall extend to all the dominions of Her Majesty, including the adjacent territorial waters. Application of Act.
3. This Act shall come into operation in the United Kingdom immediately on the passing thereof, and shall be proclaimed in every British possession by the Governor thereof as soon as may be after he receives notice of this Act, and shall come into operation in that British possession on the day of such proclamation ; and the time at which this Act comes into operation in any place is, as respects such place, in this Act referred to as the commencement of this Act. Commencement of Act.

Illegal Enlistment.

4. If any person, without the license of Her Majesty, being a British subject within or without Her Majesty's dominions, accepts or agrees to accept any commission or engagement in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with any foreign State at peace with Her Majesty, and in this Act referred to as a friendly State, or whether a British subject or not within Her Majesty's dominions, induces any other person to accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the military or naval service of any such foreign State as aforesaid,— Penalty on enlistment in service foreign State.

He shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the court before which the offender is convicted ; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

Penalty on leaving Her Majesty's dominions with intent to serve a foreign State.

5. If any person, without the license of Her Majesty, being a British subject, quits or goes on board any ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's dominions, with intent to accept any commission or engagement in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with a friendly State, or whether a British subject or not, within Her Majesty's dominions, induces any other person to quit or to go on board any ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's dominions with the like intent,—

He shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

Penalty on embarking persons under false representations as to service.

6. If any person induces any other person to quit Her Majesty's dominions, or to embark on any ship within Her Majesty's dominions, under a misrepresentation or false representation of the service in which such person is to be engaged, with the intent or in order that such person may accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with a friendly State,—

He shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

Penalty on taking illegally enlisted persons on board ship.

7. If the master or owner of any ship, without the license of Her Majesty, knowingly either takes on board, or engages to take on board, or has on board such ship within Her Majesty's dominions any of the following persons, in this Act referred to as illegally enlisted persons, that is to say,—

(1.) Any person who, being a British subject within or without the dominions of Her Majesty, has, without the license of Her Majesty, accepted or agreed to accept any commission or engagement in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with any friendly State:

(2.) Any person, being a British subject, who, without the license of Her Majesty, is about to quit Her Majesty's dominions with intent to accept any commission or engagement in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with a friendly State:

(3.) Any person who has been induced to embark under a misrepresentation or false representation of the service in which such person is to be engaged, with the intent or in order that such person may accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with a friendly State:

Such master or owner shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and the following consequences shall ensue, that is to say,—

(1.) The offender shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour; and

(2.) Such ship shall be detained until the trial and conviction or acquittal of the master or owner, and until all penalties inflicted on the master or owner have been paid, or the master or owner has given security for the payment of such penalties to the satisfaction of two justices of the peace, or other magistrate or magistrates having the authority of two justices of the peace: and

(3.) All illegally enlisted persons shall immediately on the discovery of the offence be taken on shore, and shall not be allowed to return to the ship.

Illegal Shipbuilding and Illegal Expeditions.

Penalty on illegal shipbuilding and illegal expeditions.

8. If any person within Her Majesty's dominions, without the license of Her Majesty does any of the following acts, that is to say,—

(1.) Builds or agrees to build, or causes to be built, any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with any friendly State; or

(2.) Issues or delivers any commission for any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with any friendly State: or

(3.) Equips any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with any friendly State: or

(4.) Despatches, or causes or allows to be despatched, any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with any friendly State:

Such person shall be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act, and the following consequences shall ensue:—

(1.) The offender shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

(2.) The ship in respect of which any such offence is committed, and her equipment, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty:

Provided that a person building, causing to be built, or equipping a ship in any of the cases aforesaid, in pursuance of a contract made before the commencement of such war as aforesaid, shall not be liable to any of the penalties imposed by this section in respect of such building or equipping, if he satisfies the conditions following (that is to say),—

(1.) If forthwith upon a proclamation of neutrality being issued by Her Majesty he gives notice to the Secretary of State that he is so building, causing to be built, or equipping such ship, and furnishes such particulars of the contract and of any matters relating to, or done, or to be done under the contract as may be required by the Secretary of State:

(2.) If he gives such security, and takes and permits to be taken such other measures, if any, as the Secretary of State may prescribe for ensuring that such ship shall not be despatched, delivered, or removed without the license of Her Majesty until the termination of such war as aforesaid.

9. Where any ship is built by order of or on behalf of any foreign State when at war with a friendly State, or is delivered to or to the order of such foreign State, or any person who to the knowledge of the person building is an agent of such foreign State, or is paid for by such foreign State or such agent, and is employed in the military or naval service of such foreign State, such ship shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have been built with a view to being so employed, and the burden shall lie on the builder of such ship of proving that he did not know that the ship was intended to be so employed in the military or naval service of such foreign State.

Presumption as to evidence in case of illegal ship.

10. If any person within the dominions of Her Majesty, and without the license of Her Majesty,—
By adding to the number of the guns, or by changing those on board for other guns, or by the addition of any equipment for war, increases or augments, or procures to be increased or augmented, or is knowingly concerned in increasing or augmenting, the warlike force of any ship which at the time of her being within the dominions of Her Majesty was a ship in the military or naval service of any foreign State at war with any friendly State,—

Penalty on aiding the warlike equipment of foreign ships.

Such person shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

11. If any person within the limits of Her Majesty's dominions and without the license of Her Majesty,—

Penalty on fitting out naval or military expeditions without license.

Prepares or fits out any naval or military expedition to proceed against the dominions of any friendly State, the following consequences shall ensue:—

(1.) Every person engaged in such preparation or fitting out, or assisting therein, or employed in any capacity in such expedition, shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

(2.) All ships, and their equipments, and all arms and munitions of war, used in or forming part of such expedition, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty.

12. Any person who aids, abets, counsels, or procures the commission of any offence against this Act shall be liable to be tried and punished as a principal offender.

Punishment of accessories.

13. The term of imprisonment to be awarded in respect of any offence against this Act shall not exceed two years.

Limitation of term of imprisonment.

Illegal Prize.

14. If, during the continuance of any war in which Her Majesty may be neutral, any ship, goods, or merchandise captured as prize of war within the territorial jurisdiction of Her Majesty, in violation of the neutrality of this realm, or captured by any ship which may have been built, equipped, commissioned, or despatched, or the force of which may have been augmented, contrary to the provisions of this Act, are brought within the limits of Her Majesty's dominions by the captor, or any agent of the captor, or by any person having come into possession thereof with knowledge that the same was prize of war so captured as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the original owner of such prize, or his agent, or for any person authorized in that behalf by the Government of the foreign State to which such owner belongs, to make application to the Court of Admiralty for seizure and detention of such prize, and the court shall, on due proof of the facts, order such prize to be restored.

Illegal prize brought into British ports restored.

Every such order shall be executed and carried into effect in the same manner, and subject to the same right of appeal, as in case of any order made in the exercise of the ordinary jurisdiction of such court; and in the meantime and until a final order has been made on such application the court shall have power to make all such provisional and other orders as to the care or custody of such captured ship, goods, or merchandise, and (if the same be of perishable nature, or incurring risk of deterioration) for the sale thereof, and with respect to the deposit or investment of the proceeds of any such sale, as may be made by such court in the exercise of its ordinary jurisdiction.

General Provision.

15. For the purposes of this Act a license by Her Majesty shall be under the sign manual of Her Majesty, or be signified by Order in Council, or by Proclamation of Her Majesty.

License by Her Majesty how granted.

Legal Procedure.

16. Any offence against this Act shall, for all purposes of and incidental to the trial and punishment of any person guilty of any such offence, be deemed to have been committed either in the place in which the offence was wholly or partly committed, or in any place within Her Majesty's dominions in which the person who committed such offence may be.

Jurisdiction in respect of offences by persons against Act.

17. Any offence against this Act may be described in any indictment or other document relating to such offence, in cases where the mode of trial requires such a description, as having been committed at the place where it was wholly or partly committed, or it may be averred generally to have been committed within Her Majesty's dominions, and the venue or local description in the margin may be that of the county, city, or place in which the trial is held.

Venue in respect of offences by persons, 24 & 25 Viet. c. 97.

18. The following authorities, that is to say, in the United Kingdom any Judge of a superior court, in any other place within the jurisdiction of any British court of justice, such court, or, if there are more courts than one, the court having the highest criminal jurisdiction in that place, may, by warrant or instrument in the nature of a warrant in this section included in the term "warrant," direct that any offender charged with an offence against this Act shall be removed to some other place in Her Majesty's dominions for trial in cases where it appears to the authority granting the warrant that the removal of such offender would be conducive to the interests of justice; and any prisoner so removed shall be triable at the place to which he is removed, in the same manner as if his offence had been committed at such place.

Power to remove offenders for trial.

Any warrant for the purposes of this section may be addressed to the master of any ship, or to any other person or persons; and the person or persons to whom such warrant is addressed shall have power to convey the prisoner therein named to any place or places named in such warrant, and to deliver him, when arrived at such place or places, into the custody of any authority designated by such warrant.

Every

Jurisdiction in respect of forfeiture of ships for offences against Act.

Regulations as to proceedings against the offender and against the ship.

Officers authorized to seize offending ships.

Powers of officers authorized to seize ships.

Special power of Secretary of State or chief executive authority to detain ship.

Every prisoner shall, during the time of his removal under any such warrant as aforesaid, be deemed to be in the legal custody of the person or persons empowered to remove him.

19. All proceedings for the condemnation and forfeiture of a ship, or ship and equipment, or arms and munitions of war, in pursuance of this Act, shall require the sanction of the Secretary of State, or such chief executive authority as is in this Act mentioned, and shall be had in the Court of Admiralty and not in any other court; and the Court of Admiralty shall, in addition to any power given to the court by this Act, have in respect of any ship or other matter brought before it in pursuance of this Act, all powers which it has in the case of a ship or matter brought before it in the exercise of its ordinary jurisdiction.

20. Where any offence against this Act has been committed by any person by reason whereof a ship, or ship and equipment, or arms and munitions of war, has or have become liable to forfeiture, proceedings may be instituted contemporaneously or not, as may be thought fit, against the offender in any court having jurisdiction of the offence, and against the ship, or ship and equipment, or arms and munitions of war, for the forfeiture, in the Court of Admiralty; but it shall not be necessary to take proceedings against the offender because proceedings are instituted for the forfeiture, or to take proceedings for the forfeiture because proceedings are taken against the offender.

21. The following officers, that is to say,—

- (1.) Any officer of Customs in the United Kingdom, subject nevertheless to any special or general instructions from the Commissioners of Customs, or any officer of the Board of Trade, subject nevertheless to any special or general instructions from the Board of Trade,
- (2.) Any officer of Customs, or public officer in any British possession, subject nevertheless to any special or general instructions from the Governor of such possession,
- (3.) Any commissioned officer on full pay in the military service of the Crown, subject nevertheless to any special or general instructions from his commanding officer,
- (4.) Any commissioned officer on full pay in the naval service of the Crown, subject nevertheless to any special or general instructions from the Admiralty, or his superior officer,— may seize or detain any ship liable to be seized or detained in pursuance of this Act, and such officers are in this Act referred to as the "local authority;" but nothing in this Act contained shall derogate from the power of the Court of Admiralty to direct any ship to be seized or detained by any officer by whom such court may have power under its ordinary jurisdiction to direct a ship to be seized or detained.

22. Any officer authorized to seize or detain any ship in respect of any offence against this Act may, for the purpose of enforcing such seizure or detention, call to his aid any constable or officers of police, or any officers of Her Majesty's army or navy or marines, or any excise officers or officers of Customs, or any harbour-master or dock-master, or any officers having authority by law to make seizures of ships, and may put on board any ship so seized or detained any one or more of such officers to take charge of the same, and to enforce the provisions of this Act; and any officer seizing or detaining any ship under this Act may use force, if necessary, for the purpose of enforcing seizure or detention; and if any person is killed or maimed by reason of his resisting such officer in the execution of his duties, or any person acting under his orders, such officer so seizing or detaining the ship, or other person, shall be freely and fully indemnified as well against the Queen's Majesty, her heirs and successors, as against all persons so killed, maimed, or hurt.

23. If the Secretary of State, or the chief executive authority, is satisfied that there is a reasonable and probable cause for believing that a ship within Her Majesty's dominions has been or is being built, commissioned, or equipped contrary to this Act, and is about to be taken beyond the limits of such dominions, or that a ship is about to be despatched contrary to this Act, such Secretary of State, or chief executive authority, shall have power to issue a warrant stating that there is reasonable and probable cause for believing as aforesaid, and upon such warrant the local authority shall have power to seize and search such ship, and to detain the same until it has been either condemned or released by process of law, or in manner hereinafter mentioned.

The owner of the ship so detained, or his agent, may apply to the Court of Admiralty for its release; and the court shall as soon as possible put the matter of such seizure and detention in course of trial between the applicant and the Crown.

If the applicant establish to the satisfaction of the court that the ship was not and is not being built, commissioned, or equipped, or intended to be despatched contrary to this Act, the ship shall be released and restored.

If the applicant fail to establish to the satisfaction of the court that the ship was not and is not being built, commissioned, or equipped, or intended to be despatched contrary to this Act, then the ship shall be detained till released by order of the Secretary of State, or chief executive authority.

The court may in cases where no proceedings are pending for its condemnation, release any ship detained under this section on the owner giving security to the satisfaction of the court that the ship shall not be employed contrary to this Act, notwithstanding that the applicant may have failed to establish to the satisfaction of the court that the ship was not and is not being built, commissioned, or intended to be despatched contrary to this Act. The Secretary of State, or the chief executive authority, may likewise release any ship detained under this section on the owner giving security to the satisfaction of such Secretary of State, or chief executive authority, that the ship shall not be employed contrary to this Act, or may release the ship without such security if the Secretary of State, or chief executive authority, think fit so to release the same.

If the Court be of opinion that there was not reasonable and probable cause for the detention, and if no such cause appear in the course of the proceedings, the court shall have power to declare that the owner is to be indemnified by the payment of costs and damages in respect of the detention, the amount thereof to be assessed by the court; and any amount so assessed shall be payable by the Commissioners of the Treasury out of any moneys legally applicable for that purpose. The Court of Admiralty shall also have power to make a like order for the indemnity of the owner, on the application of such owner to the court, in a summary way, in cases where the ship is released by the order of the Secretary of State, or the chief executive authority, before any application is made by the owner or his agent to the court for such release.

Nothing in this section contained shall affect any proceedings instituted or to be instituted for the condemnation of any ship detained under this section where such ship is liable to forfeiture, subject to this provision, that if such ship is restored in pursuance of this section all proceedings for such condemnation tion shall be stayed; and where the court declares that the owner is to be indemnified by the payment of costs and damages for the detainer, all costs, charges, and expenses, incurred by such owner in or about any proceedings for the condemnation of such ship shall be added to the costs and damages payable to him in respect of the detention of the ship.

Nothing in this section contained shall apply to any foreign non-commissioned ship despatched from any part of Her Majesty's dominions after having come within them under stress of weather or in the course of a peaceful voyage, and upon which ship no fitting out or equipping of a warlike character has taken place in this country.

24. Where it is represented to any local authority, as defined by this Act, and such local authority believes the representation, that there is a reasonable and probable cause for believing that a ship within Her Majesty's dominions has been or is being built, commissioned, or equipped, contrary to this Act, and is about to be taken beyond the limits of such dominions, or that a ship is about to be despatched contrary to this Act, it shall be the duty of such local authority to detain such ship, and forthwith to communicate the fact of such detention to the Secretary of State, or chief executive authority.

Special power of local authority to detain ship.

Upon the receipt of such communication the Secretary of State, or chief executive authority, may order the ship to be released if he thinks there is no cause for detaining her, but if satisfied that there is reasonable and probable cause for believing that such ship was built, commissioned, or equipped, or intended to be despatched in contravention of this Act, he shall issue his warrant stating that there is reasonable and probable cause for believing as aforesaid; and upon such warrant being issued further proceedings shall be had as in cases where the seizure or detention has taken place on a warrant issued by the Secretary of State without any communication from the local authority.

Where the Secretary of State, or chief executive authority, orders the ship to be released on the receipt of a communication from the local authority without issuing his warrant, the owner of the ship shall be indemnified by the payment of costs and damages in respect of the detention, upon application to the Court of Admiralty in a summary way in like manner as he is entitled to be indemnified where the Secretary of State having issued his warrant under this Act releases the ship before any application is made by the owner or his agent to the court for such release.

25. The Secretary of State, or the chief executive authority, may, by warrant, empower any person to enter any dockyard or other place within Her Majesty's dominions, and inquire as to the destination of any ship which may appear to him to be intended to be employed in the naval or military service of any foreign State at war with a friendly State, and to search such ship.

Power of Secretary of State, or executive authority, to grant search warrant.

26. Any powers or jurisdiction by this Act given to the Secretary of State may be exercised by him throughout the dominions of Her Majesty, and such powers and jurisdiction may also be exercised by any of the following officers, in this Act referred to as the chief executive authority, within their respective jurisdictions; that is to say,—

Exercise of powers of Secretary of State, or chief executive authority.

(1.) In Ireland, by the Lord Lieutenant or other the chief Governor or Governors of Ireland for the time being, or the Chief Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant.

(2.) In Jersey, by the Lieutenant Governor.

(3.) In Guernsey, Alderney, and Sark, and the dependent islands, by the Lieutenant Governor.

(4.) In the Isle of Man, by the Lieutenant Governor.

(5.) In any British possession, by the Governor.

A copy of any warrant issued by a Secretary of State, or by any officer authorized in pursuance of this Act to issue such warrant in Ireland, the Channel Islands, or the Isle of Man, shall be laid before Parliament.

27. An appeal may be had from any decision of a Court of Admiralty under this Act to the same tribunal and in the same manner to and in which an appeal may be had in cases within the ordinary jurisdiction of the court as a Court of Admiralty.

Appeal from Court of Admiralty.

28. Subject to the provisions of this Act providing for the award of damages in certain cases in respect of the seizure or detention of a ship by the Court of Admiralty, no damages shall be payable, and no officer or local authority shall be responsible, either civilly or criminally, in respect of the seizure or detention of any ship in pursuance of this Act.

Indemnity to officers.

29. The Secretary of State shall not, nor shall the chief executive authority, be responsible in any action or other legal proceedings whatsoever for any warrant issued by him in pursuance of this Act, or be examinable as a witness, except at his own request, in any court of justice in respect of the circumstances which led to the issue of the warrant.

Indemnity to Secretary of State, or chief executive authority.

Interpretation Clause.

30. In this Act, if not inconsistent with the context, the following terms have the meanings herein—after respectively assigned to them, that is to say,—

Interpretation of terms.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

FOREIGN ENLISTMENT ACT.

(DESPATCH TRANSMITTING QUEEN'S PROCLAMATION, EMBODYING PROVISIONS OF.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

(Circular.)

Downing-street,
August 12, 1870.

Sir,

I transmit to you, and you will publish in the usual manner, a copy of a Supplementary Proclamation issued by Her Majesty's Government, embodying the provisions of the Foreign Enlistment Act, which was communicated to you in my Circular Despatch of the 10th instant. August, 18

I have, &c.,
KIMBERLEY.The Officer administering the Government of New South Wales.

BY THE QUEEN.—A PROCLAMATION.

VICTORIA R.

WHEREAS We are happily at peace with all Sovereigns, Powers, and States :

And whereas, notwithstanding Our utmost exertions to preserve peace between all Sovereign Powers and States, a state of war unhappily exists between His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of the French and His Majesty the King of Prussia, and between their respective subjects, and others inhabiting within their countries, territories, or dominions :

And whereas We are on terms of friendship and amicable intercourse with each of these Sovereigns, and with their several subjects, and others inhabiting within their countries, territories, or dominions :

And whereas great numbers of Our loyal subjects reside and carry on commerce, and possess property and establishments, and enjoy various rights and privileges, within the dominions of each of the aforesaid Sovereigns, protected by the faith of Treaties between Us and each of the aforesaid Sovereigns :

And whereas We, being desirous of preserving to Our subjects the blessings of peace, which they now happily enjoy, are firmly purposed and determined to abstain altogether from taking any part, directly or indirectly, in the war now unhappily existing between the said Sovereigns, their subjects and territories, and to remain at peace with and to maintain a peaceful and friendly intercourse with each of them, and their respective subjects, and others inhabiting within any of their respective countries, territories, and dominions, and to maintain a strict and impartial neutrality in the said state of war unhappily existing between them :

We therefore have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, to issue this Our Royal Proclamation :

And We do hereby strictly charge and command all Our loving subjects to govern themselves accordingly, and to observe a strict neutrality in and during the aforesaid war, and to abstain from violating or contravening either the Laws and Statutes of the Realm in this behalf, or the Law of Nations in relation thereto, as they will answer to the contrary at their peril :

And whereas, in and by a certain Statute made and passed in the present year of Her Majesty, intituled "An Act to regulate the conduct of Her Majesty's Subjects during the existence of Hostilities between Foreign States with which Her Majesty is at Peace," it is, amongst other things, declared and enacted as follows:—

"ILLEGAL ENLISTMENT.

"If any person, without the license of Her Majesty, being a British subject, within or without Her Majesty's Dominions, accepts or agrees to accept any commission or engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with any Foreign State at peace with Her Majesty, and in this Act referred to as a friendly State, or, whether a British subject or not, within Her Majesty's Dominions, induces any other person to accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any such Foreign State as aforesaid,—

"He shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"If any person, without the license of Her Majesty, being a British subject, quits or goes on board any ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's Dominions, with intent to accept any commission or engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with a friendly State, or, whether a British subject or not, within Her Majesty's Dominions, induces any other person to quit or to go on board any ship with a view of quitting Her Majesty's Dominions with the like intent,—

"He shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"If any person induces any other person to quit Her Majesty's Dominions or to embark on any ship within Her Majesty's Dominions under a misrepresentation or false representation of the service in which such person is to be engaged, with the intent or in order that such person may accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with a friendly State,—

"He shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"If the master or owner of any ship, without the license of Her Majesty, knowingly either takes on board, or engages to take on board, or has on board such ship within Her Majesty's Dominions any of the following persons, in this Act referred to as illegally enlisted persons, that is to say,—

"(1.) Any person who, being a British subject, within or without the Dominions of Her Majesty, has, without the license of Her Majesty, accepted or agreed to accept any commission or engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with any friendly State:

"(2.) Any person, being a British subject, who, without the license of Her Majesty, is about to quit Her Majesty's Dominions with intent to accept any commission or engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with a friendly State:

"(3.) Any person who has been induced to embark under a misrepresentation or false representation of the service in which such person is to be engaged, with the intent or in order that such person may accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with a friendly State:

"Such master or owner shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and the following consequences shall ensue, that is to say,—

"(1.) The offender shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour; and

"(2.) Such ship shall be detained until the trial and conviction or acquittal of the master or owner, and until all penalties inflicted on the master or owner have been paid, or the master or owner has given security for the payment of such penalties to the satisfaction of two Justices of the Peace, or other Magistrate or Magistrates having the authority of two Justices of the Peace; and

"(3.) All illegally enlisted persons shall, immediately on the discovery of the offence, be taken on shore, and shall not be allowed to return to the ship.

"ILLEGAL SHIPBUILDING AND ILLEGAL EXPEDITIONS.

"If any person within Her Majesty's Dominions, without the license of Her Majesty, does any of the following acts, that is to say,—

"(1.) Builds, or agrees to build, or causes to be built any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with any friendly State: or

"(2.) Issues or delivers any commission for any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with any friendly State: or

"(3.) Equips any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with any friendly State: or

"(4.) Despatches, or causes or allows to be despatched, any ship with intent or knowledge, or having reasonable cause to believe that the same shall or will be employed in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with any friendly State:

"Such person shall be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act, and the following consequences shall ensue:—

"(1.) The offender shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"(2.) The ship in respect of which any such offence is committed, and her equipment, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty:

"Provided that a person building, causing to be built, or equipping a ship in any of the cases aforesaid, in pursuance of a contract made before the commencement of such war as aforesaid, shall not be liable to any of the penalties imposed by this section in respect of such building or equipping if he satisfies the conditions following, that is to say,—

"(1.) If forthwith upon a Proclamation of neutrality being issued by Her Majesty he gives notice to the Secretary of State that he is so building, causing to be built, or equipping such ship, and furnishes such particulars of the contract and of any matters relating to, or done, or to be done under the contract as may be required by the Secretary of State:

"(2.) If he gives such security, and takes and permits to be taken such other measures (if any) as the Secretary of State may prescribe for ensuring that such ship shall not be despatched, delivered, or removed without the license of Her Majesty until the termination of such war as aforesaid.

"Where any ship is built by order of or on behalf of any Foreign State when at war with a friendly State, or is delivered to or to the order of such Foreign State, or any person who to the knowledge of the person building is an agent of such Foreign State, or is paid for by such Foreign State or such agent, and is employed in the Military or Naval Service of such Foreign State, such ship shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have been built with a view to being so employed, and the burden shall lie on the builder of such ship of proving that he did not know that the ship was intended to be so employed in the Military or Naval Service of such Foreign State.

"If any person within the Dominions of Her Majesty, and without the license of Her Majesty,—

"By adding to the number of the guns, or by changing those on board for other guns, or by the addition of any equipment for war, increases or augments, or procures to be increased or augmented, or is knowingly concerned in increasing or augmenting the warlike force of any ship which at the time of her being within the Dominions of Her Majesty, was a ship in the Military or Naval Service of any Foreign State at war with any friendly State,—

"Such person shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"If any person within the limits of Her Majesty's Dominions, and without the license of Her Majesty,—

"Prepares or fits out any Naval or Military Expedition to proceed against the Dominions of any friendly State, the following consequences shall ensue:—

"(1.) Every person engaged in such preparation or fitting out, or assisting therein, or employed in any capacity in such expedition, shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment, or either of such punishments, at the discretion of the Court before which the offender is convicted; and imprisonment, if awarded, may be either with or without hard labour.

"(2.) All ships, and their equipments, and all arms and munitions of war, used in or forming part of such expedition, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty.

"Any person who aids, abets, counsels, or procures the commission of any offence against this Act, shall be liable to be tried and punished as a principal offender."

And

And whereas by the said Act it is further provided that ships built, commissioned, equipped, or despatched in contravention of the said Act, may be condemned and forfeited by judgment of the Court of Admiralty; and that if the Secretary of State or Chief Executive Authority is satisfied that there is a reasonable and probable cause for believing that a ship within Her Majesty's Dominions has been, or is being built, commissioned, or equipped, contrary to the said Act, and is about to be taken beyond the limits of such Dominions, or that a ship is about to be despatched contrary to the Act, such Secretary of State, or Chief Executive Authority, shall have power to issue a warrant authorizing the seizure and search of such ship, and her detention until she has been either condemned or released by process of Law. And whereas certain powers of seizure and detention are conferred by the said Act on certain Local Authorities:

Now, in order that none of Our subjects may unwarily render themselves liable to the penalties imposed by the said Statute, We do hereby strictly command that no person or persons whatsoever do commit any act, matter, or thing whatsoever, contrary to the provisions of the said Statute, upon pain of the several penalties by the said Statute imposed, and of Our high displeasure.

And We do hereby further warn and admonish all Our loving subjects, and all persons whatsoever entitled to Our protection, to observe towards each of the aforesaid Sovereigns, their subjects and territories, and towards all Belligerents whatsoever, with whom We are at Peace, the duties of neutrality; and to respect in all and each of them the exercise of those Belligerent rights which we and Our Royal Predecessors have always claimed to exercise.

And We hereby further warn all Our loving subjects, and all persons whatsoever entitled to Our protection, that if any of them shall presume, in contempt of this Our Royal Proclamation, and of Our high displeasure, to do any acts in derogation of their duty as subjects of a neutral Sovereign in a war between other Sovereigns, or in violation or contravention of the Law of Nations in that behalf, as more especially by breaking or endeavouring to break any Blockade lawfully and actually established by or on behalf of either of the said Sovereigns, or by carrying officers, soldiers, despatches, arms, ammunition, military stores or materials, or any article or articles considered and deemed to be contraband of war according to the law or modern usages of nations, for the use or service of either of the said Sovereigns, that all persons so offending, together with their ships and goods, will rightfully incur and be justly liable to hostile capture, and to the penalties denounced by the Law of Nations in that behalf.

And We do hereby give notice that all Our subjects and persons entitled to Our protection who may misconduct themselves in the premises will do so at their peril, and of their own wrong; and that they will in nowise obtain any protection from Us against such capture, or such penalties as aforesaid, but will on the contrary incur Our high displeasure by such misconduct.

Given at Our Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, this ninth day of August, in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and seventy, and in the thirty-fourth year of Our Reign.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

CONVEYANCE OF NEWS CONNECTED WITH THE WAR.

(DESPATCH.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES TO GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE.
(Circular.)

Downing-street,
28 October, 1870.

MY LORD,

With reference to that part of my circular despatch of the 7th instant which related to the request of the Government of Victoria that a steam-vessel might be held in readiness at Galle to convey to Australia any news of special importance connected with the war, I have the honor to transmit to you, for your information, a copy of the despatch which I have addressed to Lord Canterbury in answer to his application.

I have, &c.,
KIMBERLEY.

[Enclosure.]

The Earl of Kimberley to Governor Viscount Canterbury.

Downing-street,
28 October, 1870.

My Lord,

With reference to that part of my circular despatch of the 7th instant (A) which related to the request of your Government that a despatch boat might be held in readiness at Galle to convey to South Australia any news of special importance connected with the war, I have the honor to inform you that I have been in communication on this subject with the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty.

It appears to Her Majesty's Government that it would generally be easier for an Agent of the Colony, than for the Home Government, to determine what news might be sufficiently important to justify the special despatch of a steamer some 4,000 miles; and the employment of a vessel of war would certainly not, as a rule, be the quickest mode of transmitting intelligence to the Colony. It would moreover be extremely inconvenient to keep one of the fastest of Her Majesty's vessels of war continually waiting at Galle for the purpose of carrying the news, and impossible to foresee what other necessary employment there might be for Her Majesty's ships if this country should unhappily be engaged in war.

For other reasons, Her Majesty's Government cannot pledge themselves to the particular step suggested by the Government of Victoria; but the Colony may rest assured that, if a war should at any time break out, or if there should be any immediate prospect of such a misfortune, Her Majesty's Government will spare no effort to give all the warning and protection to the different parts of the Empire which circumstances may allow.

I have communicated a copy of this despatch to the Governors of the other Australian Colonies, including New Zealand, and to Mr. Verdon.

I have, &c.,
KIMBERLEY.

INTERCOLONIAL CONFERENCE.

REPORT

AND

MINUTES OF THE PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

INTERCOLONIAL CONFERENCE,

HELD IN MELBOURNE IN THE MONTHS OF JUNE AND JULY, 1870.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE INTERCOLONIAL CONFERENCE, ASSEMBLED IN MELBOURNE IN THE MONTHS OF JUNE AND JULY, 1870.

THIS Conference was convened at the instance of the Government of Tasmania, primarily in order to consider the desirability of the establishment of a Customs Union for the Australasian Colonies, and the removal of all restrictions upon Intercolonial trade. The invitation was responded to by the Colonies of New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia, whose representatives, with those of Tasmania, were as follows :—

PRESENT :—

On behalf of New South Wales :—

The Honorable C. COWPER, M.P., Colonial Secretary.
The Honorable S. SAMUEL, M.P., Colonial Treasurer.

On behalf of Tasmania :—

The Honorable J. M. WILSON, M.L.C., Colonial Secretary.
The Honorable THOS. D. CHAPMAN, M.H.A., Colonial Treasurer.

On behalf of South Australia :—

The Honorable J. HART, C.M.G., M.P., Treasurer.
The Honorable J. H. BARROW, M.L.C.
W. TOWNSEND, Esq., M.P.

On behalf of Victoria :—

The Honorable Sir J. McCULLOCH, M.P., Chief Secretary.
The Honorable J. G. FRANCIS, M.P., Treasurer.

Representatives from Queensland and New Zealand did not attend, for reasons given in the annexed correspondence.

The Government of Victoria having placed the Executive Council Chamber at the disposal of the Conference, its first meeting was held there on 20th June, at noon; the sittings being continued until 5th July.

The most important questions considered by the Conference were,—A free interchange of the natural productions and manufactures of the respective Colonies, a uniform Tariff with assimilated excise regulations, a Customs Union; and a distribution of the revenue derived therefrom upon the basis of population. The desirableness of such arrangements was admitted, and the more important items subject to fixed duties were considered, and might have been agreed to, but upon approaching the list of articles involving free trade on the one hand, and discriminating duties on the other, various difficulties presented themselves, and it was found impracticable to effect such a compromise as would secure the desired result. These difficulties precluded New South Wales from accepting the principle upon which the proposal of Victoria was based; and the representatives of the latter Colony, considering the prospective advantages thereby diminished, subsequently proposed new conditions for South Australia and Tasmania, to which those Colonies were unable to accede.

But although, for the reasons stated, the Conference has not arrived at any definite conclusion on the subject, the consideration of the question has led to a deeper conviction of its importance; whilst the resolution to memorialize Her Majesty's Government to remove the prohibitions against Intercolonial free trade interposed by Imperial enactment will, if successful, materially facilitate further action.

That a plan for harmonizing the diverse tariffs of the Australasian Colonies so as to secure the assent of various political parties should be a work not easy of attainment is only what might have been expected; but the Conference, impressed with the excellence of the object, has faith in its ultimate and not far distant success.

The Conference, however, has been in perfect accord upon several other questions of considerable importance. It has been decided to recommend the adoption by the various Governments represented of a uniform sea-going Intercolonial postage rate of threepence, and also to reduce the charges upon telegraphic messages. It is believed that these arrangements will be found beneficial to trade, and acceptable to the public generally.

The evils that have arisen from the facility with which absconding debtors and other offenders have been enabled to evade justice, through the absence of uniform Intercolonial law on the subject, formed part of the deliberations of the Conference, and it was resolved that the Governments of the various Colonies should be urged to introduce Bills of similar import at the earliest practicable opportunity.

The question of Immigration was considered, and an opinion was recorded that it would be desirable in future to adopt a plan, common to the several Colonies, so as to secure to each the full benefit to which it would be entitled on account of the expenditure of public money for this object. The attention of the several Governments will be invited to the question, with a view to the adoption of corresponding regulations.

Despatches from the Imperial Government having intimated the intended withdrawal of the troops now stationed in Australia, the Conference took into consideration the course to be pursued under the altered circumstances in which the Colonies are about to be placed, and it was decided to press upon the attention of Her Majesty's Government the paramount duty of their making adequate naval provision for the protection of British and Australian commerce in these waters, especially in time of war.

Resolutions were also agreed to on the following subjects :—

- The adoption of the necessary steps to secure the withdrawal of the large amount of worn and deteriorated silver coinage now circulating in the Australian Colonies.
- For obtaining the establishment of a British Protectorate over the Fiji Islands.
- For the calling of the Peninsular and Oriental Company's steamers at the port of Kangaroo Island, in South Australia.
- Telegraphic communication with Port Darwin, and with the Gulf of Carpentaria.
- The proposed new schemes of Ocean Postal and Passenger service.
- The relief of distressed Colonists and Seamen in foreign ports.
- The statistical records of the several Colonies being compiled upon a uniform method.

And the Conference also affirmed the desirableness of the respective Governments exerting their influence with a view to the introduction of the cental system for weights.

INTERCOLONIAL CONFERENCE.

MINUTES OF PROCEEDINGS.

MONDAY, 20 JUNE, 1870.

THE first meeting of the Intercolonial Conference was held in the Executive Council Chamber, at the Treasury, Melbourne, at noon, when the following gentlemen assembled, as the representatives of their respective Colonies :—

New South Wales.

The Honorable C. Cowper, M.P., Colonial Secretary.
The Honorable S. Samuel, M.P., Treasurer.

South Australia.

The Honorable J. Hart, C.M.G., M.P., Treasurer.
The Honorable J. H. Barrow, M.L.C.,
W. Townsend, Esq., M.P.

Tasmania.

The Honorable J. M. Wilson, M.L.C., Colonial Secretary.
The Honorable Thos. D. Chapman, M.H.A., Colonial Treasurer.

Victoria.

The Honorable Sir J. McCulloch, M.P., Chief Secretary.
The Honorable J. G. Francis, M.P., Treasurer.

The following resolution was moved by Mr. Wilson, and seconded by Mr. Townsend :—
“That Sir James M'Culloch do take the chair.”—Carried.

Mr. Wilson gave notice of a series of resolutions, affirming the desirability of a mutual interchange of manufactures and natural products between the various Colonies represented, and upon the subject of an uniform tariff and Customs union.

Conversation then ensued upon the following topics :—As to Imperial troops in the various Australian Colonies—Postal arrangements—Immigration—Intercolonial Legislation—Protectorate of the Fiji Islands—Courts of Appeal—Proposed telegraphic communication with Port Darwin—and the issue of Silver Coin.

Conference then adjourned until noon of the following day.

TUESDAY, 21 JUNE, 1870.

The Conference met at noon ; at which all the Members were present.

Sir James M'Culloch in the chair.

Mr. J. C. Tyler was introduced and appointed as Secretary to the Conference.

Mr. Wilson presented a copy of despatch from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies to the Government of New South Wales, dated 7th January, 1868, relative to a Customs union of the Australian Colonies, which was read and ordered to be printed. Appendix A.

Mr. Wilson laid on the table a comparative return of the tariffs of the Australian Colonies. Appendix B.

The resolutions submitted by the Honorable J. M. Wilson, upon the subject of a Customs union, &c., were then deliberated upon :—

“1. That the commercial and producing interests of the Australian Colonies demand their recognition by the Imperial Government as a geographical unit for all purposes of Customs revenue.

“2. That this object can be best attained by the immediate adoption, by the Australian Colonies, of a common or uniform Customs tariff, and a mutual agreement for the interchange of their manufactures and natural products, and of all commodities imported into any of them, free of all duties of Customs and wharfage charges.

“3. That the Colonies represented at this Conference do enter into a commercial federation on the basis of a Customs union, with an equitable division of Customs revenue, and a uniform tariff as between the federated Colonies and other countries or places.

“4. That the Customs revenue collected in each Colony under the common tariff be paid into a common fund or federal exchequer, and be periodically distributed among the Colonies rateably in proportion to the population of each, as ascertained by the last, or next, and each succeeding Census, or by such other means as this Conference may decide upon.

" 5. That such commercial federation shall be accomplished by the simultaneous enactment, by the Colonies represented at this Conference, of an identical tariff of Customs duties upon all British and foreign imports, and of a law directing the revenue collected in each Colony under such tariff to be paid into the federal exchequer.

" 6. That any Australian Colony not represented at this Conference shall be deemed to have entered the federation whenever its Legislature shall have enacted the necessary identical tariff and federal customs revenue law."

Appendix C.

The Honorable J. G. Francis, during the discussion, presented a memo., expressive of his own views as to the basis on which Victorian delegates might agree to consider the resolutions of Mr. Wilson. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Townsend gave notice of motion relative to legislation upon the subject of absconding debtors.

Mr. Hart stated that he would, to-morrow (Wednesday), bring under notice "Intercolonial postal and telegraph charges."

The Conference adjourned until 1 P.M. on the following day.

WEDNESDAY, 22 JUNE, 1870.

The Conference met, pursuant to adjournment, at 1 o'clock, P.M.

Present:—All the Members.

Sir James McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meetings of 20th and 21st instant having been read, were confirmed.

Mr. Barrow handed in a notice of motion upon the subject of the removal of the Imperial troops.

Mr. Wilson gave notice of certain resolutions as to the withdrawal of Imperial troops, for consideration at a subsequent meeting.

The Conference then further deliberated upon the resolutions submitted by Mr. Wilson, with reference to a Customs union, &c.

Conversation then ensued upon the subject of intercolonial postal and telegraph charges, in accordance with notice by Mr. Hart. Mr. Hart presented definite resolutions upon the matter, which were deferred for future consideration.

Mr. Samuel introduced the question as to the relief of distressed Colonial seamen in foreign ports.

The Conference adjourned until 1 P.M. on the following day.

THURSDAY, 23 JUNE, 1870.

Conference met at 1 P.M.

Present:—All the Members.

Sir James McCulloch in the chair.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Appendix D.

Sir James McCulloch presented comparative returns of the number of telegraphic messages received and revenue therefrom, from January to May, 1869 and 1870.

Further discussion took place upon the subject of intercolonial postal and telegraphic charges; during which the resolutions proposed by Mr. Hart were submitted, as follow:—

"That for all intercolonial telegraphic messages there be a uniform charge on the part of each Colony of 1s. for ten words, and 1d. for each additional word.

"That the sea postage on all letters between the various Colonies be at the uniform rate of 3d. for the half-ounce; and by overland mail, 2d. between Victoria and South Australia, and 3d. between South Australia and New South Wales."

The resolution with respect to the telegraph charges was postponed for further consideration; but that relating to the intercolonial postal charge was agreed to.

Appendix E.

Sir James McCulloch submitted a communication from the Honorable J. J. Casey, Chairman of the Committee of the Victorian Legislative Assembly, upon the extradition of offenders, court of appeal, &c., which was read and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Townsend then brought forward his motion as to absconding debtors, as follows:—

"That it is desirable that the various Governments introduce a Bill for the purpose of dealing with absconding debtors from the different Colonies."

Deliberation ensued, and question deferred, pending the receipt of certain information promised by Mr. Cowper as to the necessity or otherwise for Imperial legislation.

Mr. Barrow introduced his motion with reference to Imperial troops, as follows:—

"That the despatches received from Her Majesty's Government on the subject of military protection in Australia, embody terms and conditions which cannot be accepted with due regard to the general interests of the various Colonies, and lead to the conclusion that the Imperial troops will be speedily withdrawn, thus throwing the Australias entirely upon their own resources. That, under these circumstances, it is desirable the Governments of the several provinces should prepare a memorial to Her Majesty, praying Her to cause steps to be taken, by treaty or otherwise, that will secure to these Colonies, as far as practicable, the position of neutral States in the event of war."

Discussion took place upon the proposition, further consideration of which was deferred.

The Conference adjourned until 1 P.M. the following day.

FRIDAY,

FRIDAY, 24 JUNE, 1870.

The Conference met at 1 P.M.

Present:—All the Members.

Sir James McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the meeting held on the previous day were read and confirmed.

The Conference resumed the discussion upon Mr. Townsend's motion, and the question of the extradition of offenders, &c., during which Mr. Cowper presented various papers, as previously promised, from which he read extracts; and it was ordered that the opinions of the law officers and their Honors the Judges of New South Wales should be printed. The motion and the question generally under discussion were deferred for further consideration. Appendix F.

Mr. Samuel presented correspondence which had passed between His Excellency Earl Belmore and the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies, with respect to the necessity for the issue of new silver coinage, and gave notice that he would bring the subject forward for discussion at the next meeting of the Conference. Appendix G.

Mr. Hart's motion, upon the matter of intercolonial telegraph charges, was considered, whereupon the representatives of South Australia, Tasmania, and Victoria agreed thereto (exclusive of cable charges between Tasmania and Victoria); but the representatives of New South Wales, while declining to assent to the proposal for an intercolonial uniform telegraphic rate of one shilling (1s.) for each message of ten words (their lines being now nearly 6,000 miles in length, the greater portion of which have been erected to connect them with the neighbouring Colonies), were willing to come to the following special arrangement:—

"That the charge for messages to and from New South Wales and Victoria should be as follows:—Three shillings (3s.) for ten words, and threepence (3d.) for every extra word from and to all stations in New South Wales and Victoria, except Deniliquin, Albury, Echuca, and Belvoir, for which the charge is to be two shillings (2s.); in the former New South Wales to receive two shillings (2s.) and Victoria one shilling (1s.), and in the latter to be equally divided.

"In the case of South Australia the charge to be five shillings (5s.), the division to be settled hereafter when the nature of the existing agreement shall have been further considered; and should any difference of opinion then arise between the two Colonies, the question shall be left to the arbitration of some disinterested party or parties to be mutually agreed upon. The question of revenue the New South Wales representatives felt could not be disregarded, and they did not feel justified in agreeing to lower rates than those already determined upon."

Mr. Cowper presented printed correspondence as to postal and telegraphic communication with Great Britain. Appendix H.

The Conference resumed discussion upon Mr. Barrow's motion, with regard to the removal of Imperial troops. Sir James McCulloch gave notice of an amendment upon the motion of Mr. Barrow, which was ordered to be printed. The subject was deferred for further consideration.

Mr. Samuel brought under notice the question of the present state of the silver coinage. The correspondence before specified in these minutes was then read; upon which discussion ensued, to be renewed at a subsequent meeting. The Secretary was desired to write to Colonel Ward, the Deputy-Master of the Mint at Melbourne, for information upon various points connected with the subject.

Mr. Francis also handed in a notice of motion on the subject.

Mr. Hart gave notice that he would, at the next meeting of the Conference, place before it the papers connected with the proposed line of telegraph with Europe via Port Darwin, for the purpose of obtaining the co-operation of the Colonies represented, in the construction and working of the proposed line.

The Conference adjourned until Tuesday, the 28th instant, at noon.

TUESDAY, 28 JUNE, 1870.

Conference met, pursuant to the adjournment, at shortly after noon.

Present:—All the Members.

Sir J. McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting having been read, were confirmed.

Mr. Townsend intimated his regret that pressing business arrangements necessitated his immediate return to Adelaide.

Deliberation was then resumed on the motion of Mr. Barrow, relative to the withdrawal of Imperial troops; as also on the amendment proposed by Sir James McCulloch, which was discussed and finally agreed upon, as follows:—

"That the despatches received from Her Majesty's Government on the subject of military protection in Australia show that the Imperial troops can only be permitted to remain in the Colonies upon terms and conditions which cannot be accepted, and lead to the conclusion that the Imperial troops will be speedily withdrawn, thus throwing the Colonies entirely upon their own resources for their internal defence.

"That, in these circumstances, it is the opinion of this Conference that Her Majesty's Imperial Government should undertake to provide for the defence and protection of the coast-line of Australia and of British commerce in its various ports, and that this Conference do address a humble memorial to Her Majesty accordingly."

It was agreed that Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hart should prepare the memorial.

Mr. Wilson's motion upon the subject was withdrawn.

Mr. Barrow submitted notice of motion as to the branch mail service between South Australia and King George's Sound.

In the absence of Mr. Townsend, Mr. Hart took up that gentleman's motion with reference to absconding debtors. It was discussed further, but deferred for consideration in connection with an amendment, of which notice was given by Sir James McCulloch, which was ordered to be printed.

Mr.

Mr. Samuel brought forward the subject of the deteriorated silver coinage, which, with the motion of Mr. Francis, was discussed, and the Conference came to the following resolution :—

"That an application be made to the Imperial authorities to permit the minting of silver coins in the Colonies of New South Wales and Victoria; or, that the Imperial Government shall be requested to cause to be supplied periodically, to the Mint authorities in these Colonies, new silver coins, to exchange in the Colonies for those which may from time to time become worn and defaced."

The representatives of New South Wales and Victoria undertook to make the necessary application to the Imperial Government in the matter.

Appendix I. Mr. Hart solicited the attention of the members of the Conference to his proposition for telegraphic communication with Europe, via Port Darwin; he presented and read correspondence, &c., upon the subject, which was ordered to be printed. Further consideration deferred.

Appendix J. Mr. Francis placed on the table a return showing the apparent loss to Victoria, should a "Customs Union" be adopted, as between the Colonies of South Australia, Tasmania, and Victoria, based upon the Customs receipt in Victoria for 1867-68-69 (for the latter year for Melbourne only); and he invited the delegates from Tasmania and South Australia to table similar returns of the products of Victoria imported into those Colonies respectively for the same periods.

Appendix K. A letter from the Colonial Secretary, Wellington, New Zealand, was presented by Sir James McCulloch, dated 10th June, covering communication to the Chief Secretary, Tasmania, upon the subject of the Intercolonial Conference of date 9th instant. The letter was read, and ordered to be printed.

The Conference adjourned until noon on the following day.

WEDNESDAY, 29 JUNE, 1870.

The Conference met at 1 P.M.

Present :—All the Members.

Sir J. McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The motion of Mr. Townsend with respect to absconding debtors was further considered, but subsequently withdrawn in favour of the motion, of which notice had been given by Sir James McCulloch, which, after some discussion, was agreed to, as follows :—

"That, in the opinion of this Conference, it is highly important to secure early legislation, in order to prevent the defeat of justice in the case of offenders escaping from one Colony to another, and that the Governments of the Australasian Colonies be invited to take the subject into immediate consideration, with a view to the attainment of that object by the adoption of a uniform law."

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary of New South Wales consented to a request to prepare a Draft Bill to carry out the object of the resolution for submission to the Governments of the Australasian Colonies. It was also ordered that the Secretary should forward a copy of the resolution to the Honorable the Chief Secretary of Victoria, for transmission to the Governments of the other Australasian Colonies not represented at the Conference, with the view of obtaining their co-operation.

Mr. Barrow, in accordance with notice, invited the consent of the Conference to the delivery of South Australian mails by the ocean steamer at some port of that province. It was deferred for consideration, and pending production of further information upon the subject.

Mr. Cowper intimated that he would, on the following day, bring under notice postal routes generally between the Australian Colonies and Europe.

Appendix L. A draft memorial, prepared in accordance with resolutions passed on the previous day, with respect to the withdrawal of Imperial troops, was read. It was ordered to be printed for future consideration.

A conversation took place upon the subject of the Protectorate of the Fiji Islands, but the matter was deferred for further consideration.

Appendix M. The resolutions of Mr. Wilson, upon the desirability of forming a Customs Union, &c., were further considered. A memorandum, prepared by Mr. Francis, embodying the views of the Victorian delegates, was read, and ordered to be printed. After prolonged discussion the question was postponed.

Appendix N. Mr. Hart read a memorandum in reply to the minute presented by Mr. Francis on the previous day. (Appendix J.)

Appendix O. Mr. Cowper presented a minute affirming the views of the delegates from New South Wales on the same subject.

The Conference then adjourned until 12 o'clock on the following day.

THURSDAY, 30 JUNE, 1870.

The Conference met at 12 o'clock.

Present :—All the Members.

Sir James McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The consideration of the question as to the mail steamer calling at Kangaroo Island, as proposed by Mr. Barrow, was resumed, and the following resolution was agreed to :—

"That, in the opinion of this Conference, it is only equitable that the South Australian mails, by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company's steamers, should be conveyed by them direct to the port of Kangaroo Island, without any additional cost to the Colonies,"—Mr. Hart, on the part of South Australia, agreeing to provide for the safety and quick despatch of the mail steamers.

The Conference then discussed the subject of telegraphic communication with Europe, via Port Darwin, in accordance with the invitation of Mr. Hart, who read the following memorandum :—

"The delegates on the part of South Australia desire to bring under the notice of Conference that their Government have entered into a contract to construct a direct line of telegraph from Port Augusta to to join the submarine cable from Europe via Java, which the British and Australian Telegraph Company have contracted to land at Port Darwin. The Government of South Australia would, had time permitted, have invited the Colonies here represented to join them in the undertaking before making the arrangement; but they were compelled to accept or reject the proposal made to them by the June mail. They are still anxious, however—having the sanction of the Legislature for that purpose—to secure on equal and reciprocal terms and conditions, the co-operation and assistance of those Colonies to carry out and maintain this great national work.

“It is desirable, therefore, that Conference should express an opinion on this proposal.”

After further deliberation, the following resolution was agreed to:—

“That this Conference deems it inexpedient to consider, at the present time, the question of telegraphic connection between these Colonies and the Gulf of Carpentaria, as the two Colonies of Queensland and South Australia propose carrying out the work.”

Mr. Cowper, in accordance with the notice given yesterday, brought under consideration the various proposals for establishing steam communication between England and the Australasian Colonies, via Galle, San Francisco, the Cape of Good Hope, and Torres Straits. After discussion, it was agreed by the Members of the Conference that it would be to the advantage of the Colonies interested in the question, to await the further development of these and of other schemes which it is probable the competing Companies may originate.

Discussion was then resumed upon the resolutions of Mr. Wilson, to a Customs union, &c. The minute which Mr. Cowper had submitted was read, as also a memorandum by Mr. Francis, expressive of the views of the Victorian Delegates, as to the terms to which they could assent. Deliberation continued, but was deferred until the following day. Appendix P.

Mr. Wilson gave notice of motion as to desirability of steps being taken to alter the law at present existing, which prohibits the interchange of the commodities of the Australian Colonies; and also notice of motion contingent thereupon.

The Conference adjourned until noon of the following day.

FRIDAY, 1 JULY, 1870.

The Conference met at noon.

Present:—All the Members.

Sir J. McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. Samuel presented copies of telegrams and correspondence which had taken place between the Secretary of State for the Colonies, the Government of Queensland, and their Agent-General, in reference to the telegraphic communication with Europe, via the Gulf of Carpentaria. Appendix Q.

Mr. Hart also placed before the Conference a copy of a telegram from himself, as Treasurer of South Australia, to F. S. Dutton, Esq., Agent-General for that province in London, conveying the decision of that Government as to a telegraphic line to Port Darwin. Appendix R.

The consideration of the resolutions with respect to a Customs Union was then resumed.

The representatives of South Australia and Tasmania presented to the Conference a minute upon the points of difference between themselves and the Victorian representatives upon the subject. Appendix S.

Mr. Francis tabled a minute, expressing the willingness of the Victorian representatives to consider any further statistical information which can be furnished from South Australia or Tasmania, relative to an amended basis for the distribution of the aggregate Customs revenue of the three Colonies. Appendix T.

The Conference not agreeing to the resolutions of Mr. Wilson, he submitted his motion and contingent motion, of which he had on the previous day given notice, and the Conference, after deliberation, assented to the following resolution:—

“That, in the opinion of this Conference, the Australasian Colonies ought to be enabled to enter into arrangements with each other, which would allow of the reciprocal admission of their respective products and manufactures duty free, on such terms as might mutually be agreed upon, and that so much of the Acts of the Imperial Parliament as prohibits such engagements ought to be repealed.”

The representatives of Tasmania undertook to prepare a measure for the purpose of being submitted to the Governments of the various Australasian Colonies, to give effect to the foregoing resolution.

The question of the Fiji Islands was then discussed, and the Members of the Conference agreed to the following determination:—

“This Conference, being of opinion that the geographical position of the Fiji Islands renders their protection of the very highest consideration as regards Australia and both British and Australian commerce,

“Resolves—That it is of the utmost importance to British interests that these Islands should not form part of, or be under the guardianship of, any other country than Great Britain, and that a respectful address to this effect be prepared for transmission to the Imperial authorities.”

Mr. Samuel adverted to the question of relief being rendered to distressed British colonists and Colonial seamen, but the Conference was of opinion that each Colony should deal with the matter as it might seem fit.

In lieu of the memorial prepared relative to the withdrawal of the Imperial troops, Sir James McCulloch proposed:—

“That this Conference do agree to the following memorandum, and that a copy thereof be laid by the representatives of each Colony before their respective Governments, in order that the subject to which it relates may be brought under the notice of Her Majesty’s Government:

“That it appears from Her Majesty’s Secretary of State’s Despatches, on the subject of military protection in Australia, the terms upon which Imperial troops can be permitted to remain in the Colonies cannot be satisfactorily adjusted, as between Her Majesty’s Government and the Colonial Governments, and that it is the intention of Her Majesty’s Government to withdraw the troops at a very early date, by which withdrawal the local Governments will be thrown entirely on their own resources for providing means for their defence against any invading power:

"That in these circumstances it is desirable to press upon the attention of Her Majesty's Government the duty of providing at all times, and especially in time of war, for the naval defence and protection of the coast line of Australia, and the extensive British commerce in its waters, and to express the confidence with which the Colonial Governments believe this obligation will be recognized and admitted by the Imperial Government."

Carried.

The attention of the Conference having been called to the importance of adopting the cental system for weights, it was deemed inexpedient to recommend any special legislation upon the matter, but the representatives of the respective Governments would be prepared to encourage the introduction of the system in their Colonies severally.

The subject of uniformity of statistics was brought under consideration, and the Conference determined that it was desirable for the Registrars General, or other statistical officers of the Australasian Colonies, to communicate with each other, through their respective Governments, with a view to the adoption of a uniform system.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Barrow were appointed a Committee to prepare a Draft Report of the proceedings of this Conference.

The Conference adjourned until Monday, the 4th instant, at 1 o'clock P.M.

MONDAY, 4 JULY, 1870.

The Conference met at 1 P.M.

Present:—All the Members.

Sir James McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The subject of immigration to the Australasian Colonies was discussed, and the Conference arrived at the following conclusion:—

"It is expedient that, in the conduct of immigration to the Australasian Colonies, a combined system should be carried out as speedily as possible. The representatives at this Conference therefore undertake to bring the subject under the consideration of their respective Governments without delay, with the view of regulations being determined upon, and provision made therefor."

The representatives of South Australia intimated that, although at present they were not prepared to recommend to their Government the resumption of public immigration, they were of opinion that whenever it be resumed, co-operation with the other Colonies would be desirable.

The Conference adjourned until 10 o'clock A.M. the following morning to consider the Draft Report.

TUESDAY, 5 JULY, 1870.

The Conference met at 10 A.M.

Present:—All the Members.

Sir James McCulloch in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The Draft Report was submitted, and, having been approved of, was signed by the representatives of the various Colonies.

The proceedings of the Conference then terminated; but it was arranged that the Report should not be published until Tuesday, the 12th instant.

CORRESPONDENCE

CONNECTED WITH THE INTERCOLONIAL CONFERENCE, 1870.

(1.)

CIRCULAR.

SIR,

Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 18 February, 1870.

It will be in the recollection of the Government of New South Wales that, towards the close of 1868, Mr. Stafford, then Colonial Secretary of New Zealand, in a circular despatch to the Governments of the Australian Colonies, under date 29th October, 1868, proposed that a Conference of Delegates should be held in Sydney, for the purpose of considering the commercial relations of the Australasian Colonies with each other, and with the United States and other foreign countries, as affected by treaties made by Great Britain with foreign powers; and to consider and advise upon other cognate subjects of common interest to the collective group of Colonies.

The proposal met with ready acquiescence from the Governments of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Queensland.

The Government of Queensland suggested that, in addition to the principal subject of deliberation indicated by Mr. Stafford, the delegates should be invited to confer and advise upon the questions of—

The admission into other countries, duty free, or upon such terms as may be agreed upon, of the products of Australia and New Zealand:

The free interchange of products between New Zealand and the Australian Colonies respectively:

The expediency of establishing a uniform tariff for the Colonies; and also immigration, ocean steam postal service, telegraph extension, light-houses, legal comity, and an Australian Court of Appeal.

To these subjects the Government of South Australia proposed to add the question of the reduction of Imperial troops in Australia.

The Government of New South Wales, in reply to Mr. Stafford's circular, "invited the Governments of the other Australian Colonies to express their opinion upon the advisability of adopting the suggestion for a Conference of Delegates to consider—

1. The introduction of free trade in intercolonial products;
2. A uniform tariff; and
3. A union of customs."

The same Government subsequently intimated its intention to propose for discussion at the Conference the question of telegraphic communication with Europe via India and Java; and further suggested "that the question of the naval defence of the Australasian Colonies, which formed the subject of Earl Granville's circular despatch of the 26th January, 1869, should be referred for discussion to the Conference." And the Government of New Zealand intimated its intention "to bring forward for discussion at the Intercolonial Conference the question of paying direct, without the intervention of the Board of Trade, the expenses incurred in one Colony in the relief of distressed seamen belonging to another Colony, as suggested in a despatch from the Secretary of State, circular No. 2 of 1st May, 1869."

Those preliminary arrangements led to no practical results; and the Government of Tasmania has observed with sincere regret that, notwithstanding the general recognition of the Australian Governments of the gravity of the questions suggested for their joint deliberations in 1868, the year 1869 has been allowed to close without witnessing the assembly of an Intercolonial Conference—a project which seemed to promise a sensible enhancement of the commercial prosperity and political importance of the Australasian Colonies.

Impressed with these views, the Government of Tasmania desires to renew the suggestion of combined action on the large and important question of intercolonial commercial relations; and I have now the honor to propose that a Conference of accredited representatives of the several Governments of Australia and New Zealand be held in Melbourne in the month of May next, to consider and decide upon the advisability of establishing an Australian Commercial Federation, on the basis of a Customs Union with a common tariff, and a free interchange of products and commodities.

Of all the questions hitherto proposed for the consideration of an Australasian Conference, that of a Customs Union, with intercolonial free trade, is unquestionably the most important, and the most likely at this moment to combine the suffrages of the Governments and Legislatures of the several Colonies.

I am inclined to think it is not desirable to complicate the discussion or jeopardise the settlement of that question by formally referring to the Conference now proposed other subjects of common interest on which, from whatever causes, a considerable difference of opinion is known to prevail or would probably be provoked. At the same time, the various questions of common Australasian concern that were suggested for discussion at the Conference projected by Mr. Stafford still demand the joint deliberation of the Governments of Australia and New Zealand, and the Conference now proposed might be thought a favourable opportunity for dealing with them. It would therefore be well that these questions should not be formally excluded from consideration by the delegates, who, being Members of the respective Governments represented, would be fully empowered to confer and advise upon all such matters without any special authorization. But the question of Customs union should, I think, be deemed the first and principal object of the Conference.

It will scarcely be denied that the commercial and producing interests of the Australasian Colonies demand the recognition of the collective group by the Imperial Government as a geographical unit for all purposes of Customs revenue.

That

That recognition would at once free the Colonies from the restrictions imposed upon their fiscal legislation by the existing Imperial veto on differential duties, and would also permit the establishment of a system of mutual interchange amongst themselves, free of all duties of customs, of their respective natural products, and of all manufactured commodities imported into any of them from Great Britain or foreign countries.

I deem it superfluous to enlarge upon the beneficial effect such a system would be likely to produce upon the foreign commerce and domestic industry of the federated Colonies, or to point out how seriously and inconveniently those advantageous results would be inevitably lessened by any combination that failed to comprise the whole group.

The despatch, addressed by the Duke of Buckingham to the Governor of New South Wales, under date 7th January, 1868, announces "that Her Majesty's Government would gladly aid in the establishment of a Customs union comprising all the adjacent Australian Colonies, and providing for an equitable division of the Customs duties, and for a uniform tariff as between Australia and other countries or places."

More recently, Lord Granville's circular despatch, of the 8th September, 1869, conveys the assurance that Her Majesty's Government "have every desire to encourage the combined action of any of the Colonies in furtherance of their wishes and interests."

There would consequently seem to be no reason to apprehend that any difficulty would be experienced in securing the sanction of Imperial Legislation to measures designed to unite these Colonies in a commercial federation.

I trust that the Governments of Australia and New Zealand will be willing to adopt this suggestion of a Conference for the special object of bringing about commercial federation and intercolonial free trade.

At such a Conference the Government of Tasmania will be prepared to submit a proposal that the revenue derived from the collection of customs duties on a uniform tariff throughout the union should be paid into a common fund or federal exchequer, to be periodically distributed amongst the Colonies rateably, in proportion to the population of each, as ascertained by the last, or next, and each succeeding decennial census, or by such other means as the Conference may decide upon.

Melbourne, from its central position, seems the most suitable locality for the Conference; and I beg to name the 2nd of May next as the most convenient period for the first meeting of the delegates, as, during that month, no Australian Legislature is likely to be in session.

I beg to invite your serious attention to the subject matter of this communication, and to request the favor of an early reply.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) JAMES MILNE WILSON.

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

[Similar to Governments of South Australia, Victoria, Queensland, and New Zealand.]

MEMORANDUM.

Colonial Secretary's Office, 18 February, 1870.

MR. WILSON does himself the honor to transmit to the Governor a copy of a circular communication about to be despatched to the Governments of the continental Colonies of Australia, and of New Zealand, proposing an Intercolonial Conference in Melbourne in May next, on the subject of a Customs Union and Intercolonial Free Trade.

It will be in His Excellency's recollection that in the speech delivered at the opening of Parliament in August, reference was made to a Conference then expected to be held, with a similar object, in Sydney, in October last.

From various causes, arising out of Ministerial changes and the sessions of the Legislatures of the other Colonies, it was found impossible to hold such a Conference in 1869.

The objects originally aimed at in the suggestion of a Conference by the Government of New Zealand in 1868 were generally recognized by the Australian Governments as sufficiently important to warrant joint deliberation and collective action.

His Excellency's advisers, fully sharing those views, and anxious to promote a commercial federation of the Australian Colonies, as likely to conduce largely to the political importance of the collective group, and the material prosperity of each member of it, have deemed it advisable to renew the proposal of a Conference, which they are not without hopes may meet with the assent of the several Governments addressed in the accompanying communication, and prove eventually productive of highly beneficial results to the commercial prosperity of Tasmania.

Mr. Wilson has also the honor to transmit herewith, a memorandum, in reply to His Excellency's minute, on the subject of the retention of Her Majesty's troops in this Colony.

(Signed) JAMES MILNE WILSON.

His Excellency the Governor.

(3.)

SIR,

South Australia, Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 28 February, 1870.

I have the honor, by desire of His Excellency Sir James Fergusson, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th instant, on the subject of an Intercolonial Conference, and to inform you that the matter will receive the earnest attention of this Government.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) JOHN T. BAGOT, Chief Secretary.

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary, Tasmania.

SIR, Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, New South Wales, 1 March, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th ultimo, proposing that a Conference should be held in Melbourne, with a view to the establishment of a commercial federation of the Australian Colonies on the basis of a Customs union, and to inform you, in reply, that the subject will receive the immediate consideration of this Government.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) CHARLES COWPER.

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary of Tasmania.

SIR, Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 20 April, 1870.

I have the honor to call your attention to a circular communication from this Government, addressed to your predecessor, under date 18th February last, proposing to hold a Conference in Melbourne on the subjects of Australian federation, on the 2nd proximo.

I shall be glad to learn from you the views of the Government of Victoria on the subjects treated of in that letter, so soon as you can conveniently communicate them.

I have, &c.,

MONDAY, 20th June, will suit.
The Colonial Secretary.

CHIEF SECRETARY, Melbourne.

SIR, Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 4 May, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, under date the 21st ultimo, assenting to the proposal by this Government to hold a Conference in Melbourne, as suggested in my circular letter dated the 18th February last, but pointing out that it will be necessary to fix a later period than the day proposed for the assembling of delegates.

In compliance with your wishes, I beg to name the 20th June next for the first meeting of delegates, and which extension of time I will communicate to the Governments of the other Continental Colonies.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) JAMES MILNE WILSON.

The Honorable the Chief Secretary, Victoria.

(CIRCULAR.)

SIR,

Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 30 April, 1870.

I have the honor to enclose herewith a letter, addressed to me by the Honorable the Colonial Treasurer, requesting to be furnished with certain returns therein referred to, for the information of the Conference proposed to be held in Melbourne.

I have, &c.,

(COPY.)

SIR,

Colonial Treasury, Hobart Town, 30 April, 1870.

With the view of assisting the members of the respective Governments about to meet in Conference in Melbourne to consider the question of a Customs union, I have had a return prepared, showing the principal articles entered for home consumption in this Colony for the years 1868 and 1869 upon which fixed duties of Customs are levied; and, as a very large portion of the revenue in the other Colonies is derived from Customs duties on similar articles, I have to request that copies of the return may be forwarded to the Governments of Victoria, New South Wales, South Australia, and Queensland by the outgoing mail this day, with a request that each Government will be good enough to fill up one copy of such return, showing the quantities of similar articles entered for home consumption in each Colony during those years, and return the same to this Government by an early mail.

In addition to the goods referred to, entered for consumption, I have added returns showing the actual total Customs revenue, and estimated population of the Colony, for the same years.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) THOS. D. CHAPMAN, Colonial Treasurer.

SIR,

Queensland, Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 8 April, 1870.

Adverting to your communication of the 18th February last, directing the attention of the Queensland Government to a circular despatch under date 29th October, 1868, addressed by Mr. Stafford, the Colonial Secretary of New Zealand, to the Governments of the Australian Colonies, and having special reference to that portion of your letter wherein it is proposed that a Conference of accredited representatives of the several Governments of Australia and New Zealand should be held in Melbourne in the month of May next, to consider and decide upon the advisability of establishing an Australian Commercial Federation on the basis of a Customs union with a common tariff and a free interchange of products and commodities, together with other cognate subjects of common interest to the collective group of the Colonies,—I have the honor to inform you, by direction of the Colonial Secretary, that as the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of Queensland meet for the despatch of business on the 26th of April instant, and will be in session in the month of May next, it will not be possible for any member of the Government, or of the Legislative body, to attend at the time and place proposed for holding the Conference respecting the various matters referred to.

I have, &c.,

(Signed)

J. M. MASSIE, Under Colonial Secretary.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Tasmania.

SIR,

Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 6 May, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 8th ultimo, intimating, "that as the Parliament of Queensland will be in session in the month of May next, it will not be possible for any member of the Government or Legislative body to attend at the time and place proposed for holding the Conference respecting the various matters referred to."

With the view of consulting the wishes and convenience of the continental Governments interested in the Conference proposed in my circular letter of the 18th February last, I have suggested that the first meeting of delegates should take place on the 20th June.

The Chief Secretary of Victoria has already assented to this postponement; and should the objects for which the Conference has been sought, meet with favour from your Government, I would be glad to be informed whether you propose that Queensland shall be duly represented?

I have, &c.,

(Signed)

JAMES MILNE WILSON.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

(15.)

SIR,

South Australia, Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 26 April, 1870.

I have the honor, by desire of His Excellency the Officer administering the Government, to inform you, in reply to your letter of the 18th February last, that this Government regret they will be unable to send a representative to the proposed Conference in May next, as the South Australian Parliament will probably then be in session.

I have, &c.,

(Signed)

JOHN BAGOT, Chief Secretary.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Tasmania.

(16.)

SIR,

Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 5 May, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 26th ultimo, expressing the inability of your Government "to send a representative to the proposed Conference in May next, as the South Australian Parliament will probably then be in session."

With the view of consulting the convenience of the continental Governments, I beg to suggest the 20th of June for the first meeting of the Conference, and to inform you that the Government of Victoria has already assented, by telegraphic message, to this proposition.

I hope the period I have named will meet with your acquiescence, and enable your Government to be represented at the proposed Conference.

I shall be glad to be favored with an early intimation of your determination on this point.

I have, &c.,

(Signed)

JAMES MILNE WILSON.

The Hon. the Chief Secretary, South Australia.

(17.)

SIR,

Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 5 May, 1870.

With reference to my circular letter of the 18th of February last, on the subject of an Intercolonial Conference, proposed to be held in Melbourne during this month, I have the honor to acquaint you, that in anticipation of consulting the convenience of the Governments of the Australian Colonies, I have proposed that the first meeting of delegates should take place on the 20th June.

To

To this proposition the Government of Victoria at once assented by cable message; and I now await the favor of your reply, intimating the views of your Government on this matter.

(Signed) I have, &c.,
JAMES MILNE WILSON.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Wellington, 28 March, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th ultimo, No. D 39, in which you recommend that a Conference of delegates of the Australasian Colonies should be held in Melbourne in May next, to consider various subjects, but especially the question of a Customs union.

You describe the steps which were taken to convene a Conference last year, but you do not carry the narrative to its conclusion.

Notwithstanding that the arrangements for the Conference were made several months in advance, the delegates from New Zealand found, on their arrival in Australia to attend the expected Conference, that some of the Colonies were not prepared to proceed with it. The Government of Victoria were understood to be of opinion that Conferences were not a desirable mode of carrying on intercolonial negotiations; that there was the risk of the Cabinets of the various Colonies not accepting the conclusions arrived at, and that more could be effected by correspondence.

The New Zealand delegates proceeded to New South Wales, the Government of which were anxious to confer with them. There the representatives of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland conferred; and amongst other results there was the memorandum, copy of which I attach, and which I do not doubt that the Government of New South Wales have already communicated to you officially. You will observe that it deals with the subject of setting at rest the doubts which exist as to the power of the Colonies to enter into commercial arrangements with themselves and other countries. The term "doubts" is advisedly employed, because it cannot be maintained, as has been alleged, that treaty obligations stand in the way of the Australian Colonies exercising such powers, seeing that Canada, for a long while has done so. The memorandum provides for the Colonies, jointly and severally, taking steps to give effect to its objects, and it is within their own power to do so.

Your proposal for a complete Customs union goes much further, but I do not agree with you that the Colonies are prepared to adopt it. Your argument in effect is this: That it is so desirable that the Colonies should interchange their productions duty free, that it is their interest to submit to a common tariff—a course the Imperial Government would only be too glad to ratify by law. I am not prepared to say that for the sake of the advantages of a complete and intimate federation of the Colonies, it might not be expedient for them to consent to the disadvantage, necessarily incident to a common tariff, of being unable to vary their tariffs from time to time in accordance with their various wants and resources. But I cannot concur that it is desirable to seek out and secure the more objectionable condition of federation, without at the same time obtaining its redeeming benefits. In the absence of a federal Parliament, a common tariff would practically be irreversible; but, as a matter of fact, no Colony has yet found an unalterable tariff advisable.

The fiscal requirements of the various Colonies differ so widely that it would be impossible to fix on a common tariff, which would not yield either more than some or less than other Colonies require. If the maximum were to be selected, such a tariff could not be regarded as a free trade one, so far as it affected the Colonies for which it would raise more revenue than they required. Those Colonies would, in such a tariff, experience all the evils of a protective tariff, without—what protectionists claim as an advantage—the power of adapting it to varying circumstances, as they arise. On the other hand, if a minimum tariff were selected, the necessity of resorting to other taxation would be forced on some of the Colonies to compensate for their losses in their Customs revenue.

A Customs union would, to a great extent, paralyze the external commerce of all the Colonies, except the one fortunate enough to have the largest trade and commerce, and able to afford to keep the largest stocks. The other Colonies would draw their supplies from that Colony, and would lose the advantages of direct foreign shipments and direct immigration. Even the benefit to the favoured Colony, which, for the purpose of my argument, I will suppose to be Victoria, would be doubtful; at any rate the effect would be a reversal of the policy which has guided that Colony during the last few years, for merchants would secure advantages which would injuriously react on producers and manufacturers. Importers would be induced to flood that particular market with goods at such a cheap rate as to crush local production. In short, a Customs union would tend towards leaving the Colonies, as at present, producers and exporters of less than half a dozen leading articles, and exchanging those in their raw state for the manufactures of other countries.

I feel far from certain that Victoria, notwithstanding the tempting (in other respect) nature of the proposal, would be willing to adopt it. I may observe, that the plan has been already discussed with approbation by the principal Victorian importers—of its benefit to whom there can be no question.

At all events this Government are of opinion that such a proposal would not be suitable for this Colony. They would be prepared to recommend the New Zealand Legislature to join those of the neighbouring Colonies in asking for power, and if necessary in insisting on obtaining it to make reciprocal tariff arrangements with other Colonies and countries; and the Government are confident that such a power, when granted, would be fettered by no narrow selfish considerations, but be exercised with comprehensiveness and liberality. But the Government are not prepared to recommend the Legislature to abandon its right to deal with such matters itself, to renounce all power over its own tariff, and to be constrained by Imperial legislation into a commercial not a federal union, from which, if proved unsuitable, it would have great difficulty in freeing itself.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Tasmania.

MEMORANDUM agreed to between the Governments of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland.

1st. To address an earnest representation to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, respecting the disadvantage under which the Australasian Colonies labour in regard to the doubts which exist as to their power to make mutual arrangements for the interchange, duty free, of their several products and manufactures—as also in respect of the doubts which exist as to their powers to enter into conventions with foreign countries—to point out that Canada, for a lengthened period, has been placed on a more favourable footing—to urge that all doubts as to the rights to exercise such powers be removed, and that, in entering into arrangements with foreign countries, the Imperial Government should aid the Colonies. That such aid should be immediately granted in respect to endeavouring to negotiate with the United States for the introduction, into that country, duty free, of wool, the product of the Australasian Colonies.

2nd. That direct representations be made to the United States, with the object of inducing that country to admit wool, the product of the Australasian Colonies, duty free.

3rd. That a representation be made to the Imperial Government, urging the desirability of Legislative provision to enable trustees to invest in the Government securities of the Australasian Colonies.

4th. That the Crown Law Officers of the Colonies should be moved to enter into correspondence, with the view of determining the means best calculated to facilitate the apprehension of offenders when they pass from one Colony to another.

5th. That copies of this agreement be transmitted to the Colonies of Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, in the hope that they will aid in promoting the several objects it embraces.

6th. It is agreed by the Honorable John Robertson, of New South Wales, the Honorable Julius Vogel, of New Zealand, and the Honorable Charles Lilley, of Queensland, that the views embodied in this memorandum shall be submitted to their respective Cabinets for approval.

SIR,

Tasmania, Colonial Secretary's Office, 9 May, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication under date the 20th March, in reply to my circular letter of the 18th February, proposing an Intercolonial Conference, to be held in Melbourne, in May, to consider the question of an Australian Customs union.

I regret to learn from your letter that the Government of New Zealand is indisposed to acquiesce in the advisability of a common Australasian tariff, and is "of opinion that such a proposal is not suitable for that Colony."

In the face of the strongly-expressed opinions enunciated in your letter, adversely to the object contemplated by the proposed Conference, I see nothing to be gained by attempting to combat the views on this point of the Government of New Zealand, beyond recording my own belief that you have overstated the difficulties likely to obstruct the establishment of such a union between the continental Colonies and Tasmania, and that you have formed an erroneous estimate of the probable effects of such a fiscal policy upon the commercial and producing interests of the federated group.

In acknowledging the receipt of the memorandum attached to your letter, embodying the views of the Governments of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland, on several matters affecting the relations of the Colonies with the mother country, with foreign States, and with each other, it is due to the Government of Tasmania that I should state, that the memorandum in question has never been officially communicated to me, and that I read it for the first time as an enclosure to your letter.

The topics embraced in that memorandum might be appropriately discussed at the Conference I have recommended; but I am inclined to think that insuperable obstacles would be found to stand in the way of the attainment of the object aimed at in the resolution, which suggests collective action in the direction of intercolonial differential duties and reciprocity treaties with foreign States.

The recent abrogation by the United States Government of the reciprocity treaty with Canada, accompanied by the declaration in the President's Message, that its continuance would prove commercially beneficial to no State or citizen of the Union, leaves little room for the anticipation that Australasian wool would would be admitted duty free into the United States, while there is still less reason to assume that the British Government would undertake to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with any Foreign Government, either as a measure of Imperial finance, or in the interests of any particular Colony or group of Colonies.

As regards the power of the Colonies "to make mutual arrangements for the interchange duty free of their several products and manufactures," I may be permitted to remind you, that this Colony has already sought to exercise that power by passing an Intercolonial Free Trade Bill, which failed to receive the Royal assent.

Since then, however, two successive Secretaries of State, as quoted in my circular letter proposing the Conference, have signified the readiness of Her Majesty's Government to acquiesce in the collective action of the Colonies in the direction of a Customs union, or otherwise, "in furtherance of their wishes and interests."

I have, therefore, aimed in my proposal, at the accomplishment of an object which is, I believe, attainable, and likely to prove largely beneficial to the Colonies embraced in its scope.

I have now to inform you that the meeting of the Conference stands fixed for the 20th June, and I entertain a confident expectation that the representatives of this Government will meet, at that date in Melbourne, delegates from all the continental Colonies, fully empowered, and I trust prepared, to adopt the proposals I shall then have the honor to submit for their collective consideration.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) JAMES MILNE WILSON.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary, New Zealand.

The Hon. the Colonial Secretary of Tasmania.

(Signed)

HENRY HALLORAN.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 31 May, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 6th of May instant, relative to the Conference proposed in your circular of the 18th February last, which had unavoidably been postponed, and suggesting that the first meeting of delegates should take place on 20th June next.

I am directed to inform you, in reply, that, in consequence of a change of Ministry since the date of a former communication of 8th April last from this office, Parliament was prorogued until the 28th of June next, when it will again meet for the despatch of business.

As the duration of the session is very uncertain, the Colonial Secretary, without giving any expression of opinion upon the object of the Conference, regrets that he is not in a position to fix any time during the present year in which it would be probable that any members of the Government or Legislative body would be able to attend as delegates in connection therewith.

I have, &c.,

Despatch from Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies to the Officer Administering the Government of New South Wales, relative to "Customs Union."

Downing-street, 7th January, 1868.

SIR,

Her Majesty's Government have had under their consideration Sir John Young's despatch, No. 87, of 21 December, 1866, enclosing a Minute of the Executive Council of New South Wales, in which they recommend that the Imperial Parliament should be invited to pass a measure for the purpose of repealing the provisions of the Constitution Acts of the Australian Colonies, which prohibit the imposition of discriminating duties, so far as to allow the importation, by land or otherwise, of the produce of any one of them duty free. By acceding to this request, Her Majesty's Government would recognize the principle that any group of neighbouring Colonies, or perhaps that any number of Colonies not neighbouring, might make arrangements for the admission, duty free, of each other's produce, and thus constitute differential duties as against foreign nations, or even against this country. Her Majesty's Government would gladly aid in the establishment of a Customs union, comprising all the adjacent Australian Colonies, and providing for the importation of goods from Colony to Colony, for an equitable division of the Customs duties, and for a uniform tariff as between Australia and other "countries or places," and they are not unwilling to take into consideration any particular relaxation of the existing rule which might be justified or necessitated by particular circumstances; but they cannot propose to Parliament a measure which could not well stop short of the virtual repeal in favour of the Colonies of that clause in the Australian Government Act which prohibits the imposition of differential duties, and might seriously embarrass the action of this Government in their commercial relations with other countries. The Act, which has been passed by the New South Wales Legislature, to give effect to the agreement with Victoria for the free importation of the goods across the River Murray, is under the consideration of Her Majesty's Government.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) BUCKINGHAM & CHANDOS.

The Officer Administering the Government of New South Wales.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

Animals, living; fresh fruits and garden produce, fresh meat, gold dust, bullion, coin, guano and manures, hides and skins, military and naval stores, ores unsmelted, passengers' baggage, plants, trees and shrubs, printed books, seeds and esculent roots, including bulbs, specimens of natural history, tallow and wood, vine stakes and bark for building purposes, wheat and flour.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

Animals, living; baggage of passengers, all bags or sacks used for grain or the exportation of our produce, viz., cornsacks, ore bags, wool packs, printed books, bullion and coin, coals, coke and other fuel, corn and flour, manures, plants, and trees, green fruit, seeds, roots, potatoes, garden seeds, viz., lucerne, clover, tares, sainfoil, rye and rye-grass, grass seeds; skins and hides (raw), specimens of natural history, tallow, wool, unsmelted ores, shooks and staves, and vegetables.

VICTORIA.

Anchors, animals and birds; apparel, minor articles of mixed or undescribed materials used in the making up of; bagging, in the piece; books, printed; canvas, in the piece; card and millboard, carriages and other vehicles used in the conveyance of passengers and goods across the frontier, chain cables and shackles over $\frac{3}{4}$ in. diameter, coin and bullion, coal and coke, cocoanut fibre; copper in ore, ingot, and sheet; cordage, unserviceable; cotton, raw, wick, and waste; cottons in the piece; fish, fresh; flax, guano, and other manures, hair and bristles, hatters' felt hoods and silk plush, hemp, hides and skins, hogskins and minor articles used in making saddlery, horns and hoofs; iron in the ore, and in scrap, pig, bar, rod, or plain sheet, hoop iron, iron pipes, and railway iron rails; jute, kerosene shale; lead in ore, pig, and scrap; linens in the piece; marble, unwrought; meat, fresh; metal, yellow, bolts and nails, and sheathing felt; millstones, newspapers; oil, cocoanut and palm; packages in which goods are ordinarily imported; paper, printing and wrapping; passengers' luggage, cabin and other furniture of personal effects which have been in use and are not imported for sale; pianofortes, metal work and minor articles used in manufacturing; pitch, plants, printing materials and ink; quartz, quicksilver, rags, resin, saltpetre, sewing-machines, shooks and staves; silk-mixed doeskins or tweed trouserings and coatings not containing more than two per cent. of silk; soda ash and caustic soda, silicate of soda and potash; specimens of natural history and curiosities, steel; stone, unwrought; sulphur, tallow, tar, telegraphic materials; timber in logs 12 inches square and upwards; tin, block and sheet; whalebone and whaleoil, the produce of whales caught from vessels registered and exclusively owned in and fitted out in Victorian ports; wire, No. 12 upwards; wool, woollens in the piece, zinc.

By the Customs Act, 18 Vict., No. 9, a drawback is allowed on wine intended for the consumption of Her Majesty's navy or troops; and all goods, wares, and merchandise imported for the supply of Her Majesty's land or sea forces, and for the use of Her Majesty's Government, are exempted from duty.

QUEENSLAND.

Animals, living; fresh fruits, garden seeds and garden produce, fresh meat, gold and silver coin, gold dust and bullion, military and naval stores, passengers' baggage or personal effects which have been in use and are not imported for sale, plants, trees, and shrubs, printed books, periodicals, and newspapers, specimens of natural history, wheat and flour, machinery bonâ fide imported for manufacturing sugar.

NEW ZEALAND.

Anchors, anvils, blacksmiths' blows, bottles of all kinds (empty), blasting powder cabin furniture and effects which have been in use and not imported for sale, carriage springs, mountings and trimmings, chain cables and shackles over $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch in diameter, churns, cotton waste, copper and composition, rod, bolts, sheathing and nails, corn sieves and riddles, crab winches, cranes, capstans and windlasses, drainage pipes and tiles, felt for sheathing, filters, fire engines and hose, fish oil in bulk, forges, gas pipes and machinery, and all materials which may be specially imported for the construction of gas works, iron bridges, and all materials which may be specially imported for the construction of bridges, wharves, jetties, or patent slips; iron, rod, bolt, bar, hoop, and pig, lamp posts, tanks, plates, rivets, bolts, nuts, screws, and castings for ships, and weighbridges for carts, machinery for agricultural purposes, boeing, brick, and tile making, planing, punching, sawing, shearing, turning, and quartz crushing, for wool and hay pressing, for mills and looms, for steam vessels, machine saws, maps and charts, organs, harmoniums, bells and furniture specially imported for places of public worship, olive oil in bulk, palm oil, passengers' luggage, printing machinery, presses, type, and materials, printing ink and paper, printed books, paper and music, ploughs and harrows, pumps and other apparatus for raising water, railway plant and other materials which may be specially imported for the construction of railways and tramways, rope above three inches in circumference, resin, sail cloth, sewing-machines, ships' blocks, shipchandlery not otherwise described, schoolbooks, slates, and apparatus, soda ash and caustic soda, sodawater machines, steam-engines and parts of steam-engines, tarpaulins, water pipes not otherwise described, and all materials which may be specially imported for constructing waterworks, and all other articles not otherwise described.

Appendix C.

I AM of opinion that Victoria can agree to proposal No. 1, altering the word "demand" to "necessitate;" but, as at present informed, I think the five following notices by Mr. Wilson are open to objection, because—

First. The Parliament of Victoria is unlikely to yield the present policy of a tariff of discriminating duties, or its right to amend its own tariff as circumstances may from time to time require.

Secondly. Because, without federal or legislative union, any tariff now agreed upon would be virtually inalterable without the unanimous consent of all parties to the Conference.

Thirdly. Because it seems to me to give advantage to some communities, without relative benefit to others comprehended in the agreement.

For instance, the special advantages to Tasmania and South Australia (for the purposes of my argument) would be the admission into Victoria of their products without duty—say, flour, wheat, oats, wine, timber, jams, beer, fruit, &c.—while on the other hand, Victoria has no present equivalent produce or manufacture to export as "duty free" into those Colonies in exchange, inasmuch as the produce or manufactures of Victoria are not yet equal to our own requirements, and consist mainly of goods which are made up wholly or in part from imported materials, and hence would probably be liable to duty inter-colonially as not strictly Victorian produce.

Fourthly. The sugar, the rum, the wine, and the Colonial made spirits proposed to be imported duty free (even though subject to excise in producing Colony), would very probably before long greatly prejudice the Customs revenue of this Colony.

On the other hand, to facilitate the commerce between the Colonies, and to commence a system of uniform tariff, equal rates might be agreed upon for the following items, which constitute about three-fourths of the Customs revenue of all the Colonies, viz.:—Spirits, tobacco, and snuff, tea, sugar, rice, wine, beer, opium, dried fruits, coffee, &c., silks, jewellery, and probably other items. Excise rates might be assimilated, and lighthouse dues and all port charges might be made identical, with mutual concessions in favor of Colonial voyages.

Appendix E.

36, Temple Court, 22 June, 1870.

MY DEAR SIR JAMES,

While the representatives of the Australian Colonies are in Melbourne it would be desirable that their attention be called to the subjects referred for consideration and report by the Legislative Assembly to a Select Committee, of which I have the honor to be Chairman. I refer to the Select Committee on Intercolonial Legislation. It has been appointed "to consider and report upon the expediency of inviting the co-operation of the several Colonies of Australasia for the following purposes":—

- (1.) To provide for the extradition of offenders from one Colony to another.
- (2.) To provide means whereby the effect of Insolvency, or granting of Probate or Letters of Administration in one Colony, shall extend to all.
- (3.) The adoption of a system whereby execution may issue in any Colony upon the registration of the judgment of the Supreme Court of any other Colony.
- (4.) The establishment of a Court of Appeal.

With reference to the question that arises under the first head, to provide for the extradition of offenders from one Colony to another, I may mention that an amendment of the law in reference to this subject has received the consideration of a previous Conference. The laws in force regulating the extradition of criminals from any part of Her Majesty's dominions to the place where the offence was committed will be found in the 6 and 7 Victoria, ch. 34, as amended by the 16 and 17 Victoria, ch. 118. These Acts only refer to felonies, and the machinery provided is cumbersome and almost unworkable. They were passed by the Imperial Legislature, and are framed on the principles of the extradition treaties, with all the precautions that are required by European States to guard against the possibility of yielding up a political refugee. There are no means of obtaining the extradition of offenders who have committed indictable misdemeanours, such as fraudulent insolvency, or offences under the Trustee Act. Between the Australian Colonies there need be no fear of returning a political offender, for the obvious reason that whoever commits treason in any part of Her Majesty's dominions may be apprehended under the 6 and 7 Victoria, ch. 34, s. 10, and sent to that part of the empire where it may be alleged the treason was committed. Whoever, therefore, is guilty of a political offence in one Colony cannot obtain an asylum in another. Under these circumstances, as it is not necessary to consider the question so far as the extradition of political offenders is concerned, and as there can be no objection to the yielding up of offenders against the criminal law, a simple and expeditious system may, without any loss of dignity to any Colony, be adopted by all, which would embrace not only felonies but certain indictable misdemeanours. As the Colonies become more settled, and population gathers near the boundaries, the absence of some law providing for the extradition of offenders has been found to seriously impede the due administration of justice. If any person committed a crime not amounting to a felony on one side of the Murray, he is free from all molestation as soon as he can reach the other side. The boundary between this Colony and South Australia, as between New South Wales and Queensland, is not so marked as the Murray. On the contrary, in some places the actual boundary is not known, and a conflict of jurisdiction frequently arises, and when it does, justice is paralysed, and the offender goes free. On the eastern frontier of Victoria, close to the boundary of New South Wales, there is a large and thriving population (mining) settled at a place called Bendock. Whenever disputes as to a rich claim arise, the question of jurisdiction is raised, and the Warden has sometimes been undecided how to act. So far that difficulty will soon be removed, as I understand the boundary is being surveyed and marked out; but even when that shall be done the means of extradition will not be improved, unless the Colonies unite by legislation to make due provision for such a purpose.

(2.) The next question, to provide means whereby the effect of Insolvency, or the granting of Probate or Letters of Administration in one Colony, shall be extended to all.

First, with respect to Insolvency:—

The same laws as regards Insolvency exist in Queensland, New South Wales, and Victoria. It may be so in other Colonies; but of the three I have named there can be no doubt, as Victoria and Queensland carried with them, when they separated from New South Wales, the Insolvency laws of the latter Colony. Although the laws are the same, they are administered by each Colony with reference to each other as if they were each independent States. Considering the vast interests held by, say the residents of Melbourne in other Colonies, and no doubt by the residents of Sydney and Adelaide in Victoria, the Insolvency laws ought to be framed and administered, recognizing these facts. If a person becomes insolvent in one Colony he has to yield up all his property wherever situated to the official assignee of that Colony; yet, when he obtains his certificate, he will not be allowed in certain cases to plead that certificate in bar of an action instituted by a creditor in another Colony for a debt incurred prior to his insolvency. Subject to providing suitable machinery, it is proposed that when a person becomes insolvent in one Colony he shall be insolvent in all, and when he obtains a certificate in one it shall and may be pleadable in all. I may mention that suitable machinery has been suggested, and is under consideration.

As to Probate and Letters of Administration:—

The general principle regulating the succession to property is, that real property is administered according to the law of the country where it is situated, while personal property is dealt with according to the law of the domicile of the deceased. I need not point out the conflict that necessarily arises as to title to property, property, and the cost attending administering the estates obtaining probate and letters of administration of deceased persons when the property is situated in several Colonies. It is suggested that a system should be adopted whereby upon registration of the probate granted in one Colony in the Supreme Court of another, it will have the same effect as if granted by the latter Colony. And the same with respect to administration.

(3.) The adoption of a system whereby execution may issue in any Colony upon registration of the judgment of the Supreme Court of any other Colony.

To a certain extent such a system exists in this Colony and some of the others. But the system is imperfect, and only extends to judgments of a Court of Law—not to a decree of a Court of Equity. It is very desirable that decrees of Courts of Equity should have the same privilege extended to them as now exists with respect to judgments, and that the procedure should be simple and ready.

(4.) The establishment of a Court of Appeal.

This is by far the most important subject under the consideration of the Committee. The cost and delay in obtaining the opinion of the Privy Council upon questions decided by Colonial Courts of Law have been considered to be a practical barrier against all appeals, unless indeed where the question in dispute involves a considerable sum of money, or a great deal of property. Besides, the questions that are peculiar to Australia, such as our mining and squatting disputes, it is deemed could be more satisfactorily decided by a Colonial Court of Appeal than the Privy Council. Several propositions have been made as to the constitution of such a court:—

(1.) As to its members: Some suggest that the court be formed from the Chief Justices; others say that a Judge should be annually selected by each Government to represent that Colony in the Court of Appeal; and a third opinion proposes that the members of the court should be permanent.

(2.) As to when the court should sit: The various propositions are, that it should sit successively in each Colony; or altogether in one; or in Sydney and Melbourne alternately.

Perhaps the better plan, and one that commends it to my mind as the best, is one that has been suggested by the Honorable Mr. Fellows: "That the court should sit in each Colony successively, hear all the appeals there, decide them, and then go on to the next Colony; and so on during the year. That each Colony should appoint a Judge, who would attend exclusively to the Court of Appeal." I would add that such Judge be one of the Supreme Court Judges, and that he be appointed every year for that year. By that means we would familiarise all our Judges with the laws of the various Colonies. This would have a powerful effect in promoting the assimilation of our laws, by each Colony taking and adopting what is good in the other, and thus pave the way for a federal union upon political subjects.

Whatever difference of opinion exists as to a political federation of the Colonies, there can be little objection to adopting a common system, dealing with the subjects I have referred to by the various Australasian Governments. The proposal does not attempt to diminish the power of any of the Colonies, or to create any authority superior to them; it merely suggests a common understanding providing for intercolonial comity upon these important legal matters.

The Committee have, through His Excellency, asked for the views of their Honors the Judges of the Supreme Court of the several Colonies, and are in immediate communication with their Honors the Judges of the Supreme Court of this Colony. Until replies can be had the Committee will be unable to bring up a report. The presence, however, of the delegates from the other Colonies in Melbourne induces me to ask you to be good enough to mention these subjects to them, and, if possible, obtain a promise that each will bring them under the consideration of the Government of the Colony each severally represents.

I may add that it has been considered, should the Colonies agree to unite upon these subjects, whether the means to be adopted should be by an Imperial Act, or by each Colony passing an Act providing for these matters. With the exception of the extradition of offenders, the Colonies could deal effectually with all the other subjects. But whether an Imperial Act shall or shall not be asked for has been, although considered, not yet determined upon.

I am, my dear Sir James,

Very faithfully yours,

J. J. CASEY.

The Honorable Sir James McCulloch, K.M.G., Chief Secretary.

Appendix F.

OPINIONS OF LAW OFFICERS OF CROWN AND JUDGES OF SUPREME COURT, NEW SOUTH WALES, UPON THE SUBJECT OF THE EXTRADITION OF OFFENDERS, ETC.

MY LORD,

Attorney General's Office,
Sydney, 25 August, 1869.

I have the honor to forward letters from the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Hargrave on the subject of the despatches of the Duke of Buckingham and Earl Granville, dated respectively the 4th and 19th July, 1867, and 26th February, 1869, which, by your Lordship's directions, I submitted to their Honors the Judges of our Supreme Court.

The letter of Mr. Justice Hargrave was received by me soon after its date, but that of Sir Alfred Stephen, though dated on 26th ultimo, did not reach me till a few days since, when it came accompanied by a letter to myself, of which a copy is enclosed. His Honor I believe withheld his letter in order that it might be seen by his colleagues, and in the hope that the Judges might upon Conference arrive at one common conclusion; but the letter of Mr. Justice Hargrave was, as I understand, written independently, and was not seen by the Chief Justice.

It

It is to be regretted that the recommendations of the Judges will not have the weight which a joint consideration and unanimity of opinion (complete or partial) would have given to them.

Your Lordship will learn from Sir Alfred Stephen's letter to myself that the two remaining Judges will probably send in letters expressing substantially a concurrence in his views.

I may perhaps be permitted to state that my own conviction is that such a state of severance as now exists in relation to the apprehension of criminals between the Colonies of this group of Her Majesty's possessions ought not to continue, and that some legislation is greatly to be desired by which the inconveniences of this system would be removed, both in respect of the higher and the lower degrees of crime. I consider also that such legislation would be far more effectual if it emanated from the Imperial Parliament, inasmuch as it would impose uniformity upon the several Colonies, and would, much more completely than could be done by Colonial legislation, meet the difficulty arising from the fact that the removals of prisoners from Colony to Colony are, and are likely to be, almost exclusively by sea. The objection suggested by Mr. Justice Hargrave, that such legislation might not be regarded as consistent with the authority conceded to the Colonial Parliaments, would be met by resolutions of those bodies inviting Her Majesty's Government to propose an Act embracing certain general principles on the subject in question. Such resolutions would be more likely to be agreed to with unanimity by the local Parliaments than any form of Bill containing the necessary provisions in detail, and requiring to pass through the many stages to which it would be subject in both Houses; and it is not improbable that the superior advantages of Imperial legislation would be readily recognized if plainly set forth by the terms of such resolutions.

I have the honor to be, my Lord,
Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

W. M. MANNING, A.G.

His Excellency
The Right Honorable The Earl of Belmore,
&c., &c., &c.

(Copy.)

Supreme Court, 18 August, 1869.

SIR,

The accompanying letter was sent by me on the 28th ultimo, to my colleagues, although they did not all then receive it, requesting their opinions, to be transmitted direct to yourself, or through me to you, as they thought fit.

I do not collect what is the opinion of Mr. Justice Hargrave on the points discussed in that letter, but I believe that substantially Mr. Justice Cheeke and Mr. Justice Faucett concur, or will concur with me.

You will observe that I wholly object to the English extradition statutes as models for intercolonial arrests. A good illustration of the difficulties imposed by them, as I understand the matter, is afforded at this moment by the case of Makinlay and his real or supposed confederates, who have just been arrested in Melbourne.

Here is, by whomsoever committed, a gigantic scheme of fraud, equally on the public revenue and the insurers of the transhipped goods. But the complications are such that some weeks may elapse ere the case can be completed against the conspirators and their agents. Yet until completed (so far at least as to justify a committal) the absconded offenders cannot under those statutes be detained.

If, however, every Judge in the Australian Colonies is to express his opinion before the introduction of any legislative measure—and the particular remedy must be one universally approved of—the result is easily predicted, we shall have no remedial law introduced at all.

I am, yours obediently,

The Honorable the Attorney General,
&c., &c., &c.

(Signed) ALFRED STEPHEN, C.J.

Supreme Court, 26 July, 1869.

MY LORD,

The despatches of the Duke of Buckingham to Sir Henry Manners Sutton, of 4th July, 1867, and to Sir John Young of the 19th of the same month, and from Lord Granville to your Excellency, of the 26th February last, having been by your Lordship's directions transmitted to me, with a request that my brother Judges and myself would state our views with respect to a suggested measure for extending the provisions of the Imperial Statute 6 and 7 Victoria, c. 34, as amended by the 16 and 17 Victoria, c. 118, to all misdemeanors—those provisions embracing felonies only,—I have the honor to report on the subject for myself as follows:—

2. I would observe, in the first place, that whether the proposed power of arrest in one Colony, for an offence committed in another, be limited as at present, or extended to misdemeanors of every kind, or of certain specified kinds only, the existing Imperial enactments are (as it appears to me) exceedingly defective, and therefore by no means desirable for us as a precedent or model for further legislation. They have been framed on that of the extradition statutes, with all the cumbersome precautions which were not unreasonably required between one State and another, on political grounds, when a refugee from a foreign country is sought to be delivered up to the tribunals of another. Thus, not merely is the intervention of a Judge of some superior court, and eventually of the Governor, required in the Colony where the arrest takes place, but the offender must be taken before a magistrate there after arrest, and his committal by the latter can only be "upon such evidence of criminality as would justify the offender's committal (not his apprehension merely) in the Colony of the arrest"—sections 2 and 3 of the 6 and 7 Victoria; so that, in order to procure the detention of an offender of whatever degree, who may have crossed the River Murray (for example) from this Colony into Victoria, or the ideal boundary which separates us from Queensland, it becomes necessary to complete the case against him in his absence, and even then such detention will not be legal unless the evidence be sufficient according to the laws of the Colony to which the man has escaped.

3. The evils of such a state of things require no illustration. Apply this law to the case of a bush-ranger—who, mounted on a stolen racehorse, traversing a wild and sparsely peopled country, enters, as he easily may, either of the adjacent Colonies—and observe that no case for his arrest can be made out until the entire facts of some felony have been established against him, the man being absent, and the proof therefore of his identity with the person sought to be apprehended being almost impossible.

4. But by Sir John Jervis's Statute regulating Proceedings before Justices in England for Indictable Offences (of all kinds), 11 and 12 Victoria, c. 42, sections 12 to 16, every warrant to apprehend an offender, issued in any part of the United Kingdom, or in the Channel Islands, may, by the simple process of indorsement, be executed in any other part of the United Kingdom; and the power of indorsing such a warrant is vested, not in a Judge, but (as it ought to be) in any Justice of the Peace.

5. This is the kind of enactment required for the similar case of offenders escaping from one of the Australian Colonies to another of the same group, and I can discover no reason why it should not have been adopted, instead of the system prescribed for cases of extradition. In the greater number of instances, if not in all, an offender absconding hence into Victoria, or from the latter Colony or Queensland into New South Wales, would easily effect a final escape long before a Supreme Court Judge, residing probably 200 (or in this Colony 300) miles distant, could be applied to.

6. It may be objected that a removal from one of these Colonies to another—one of the most distant from it—is a more serious thing than the mere taking of an offender from (for instance) Ireland into England, or conversely. In some cases, no doubt, it might be so; but precautions could be devised by the statute for the protection of the apprehended person from the accidents of an improper arrest, without subjecting criminal justice to the certainty of defeat, by such provisions as those contained in the 6 and 7 Victoria, c. 34.

7. In the law which I had the honor of drawing in 1850 (the 14 Victoria, No. 43, still in force in this Colony), the provision in Sir John Jervis's Statute to which I have adverted, for the indorsing or backing of warrants, will be found extended to all apprehending warrants issued in other Colonies, and consequently such warrants, whether for felony or misdemeanor, can to this day be indorsed and acted on in New South Wales as a warrant issued in Scotland or Ireland can be in England. And I am of opinion that the Victorian Legislature, in 1865, by section 63 of the 28 Victoria, No. 267, intended to pass an enactment having the like operation with respect to the arrest of offenders in that Colony escaped from this; but it seems that the present Attorney General of Victoria, on a reference to him in 1867, has advised the magistracy there that the section cannot be so construed.

8. Even if all the Colonies, however, were to pass enactments similar to our own, some embarrassing questions might arise as to the legality of the offenders detention, so soon as he should have got out to sea (if so conveyed), beyond the jurisdiction of the Colony where the arrest occurred, and before coming within that of the Colony from which the warrant emanated. Practically, perhaps, no difficulty would be felt; and where the person is merely taken across the boundary between those two Colonies—a constable of the one immediately delivering him over to a constable of the other—no question could be made occasioning any difficulty whatever. I am of opinion, nevertheless, that for the avoiding of all ground for doubt, and for the sake of uniformity in the system throughout, an Act of the Imperial Parliament ought to be solicited; and I venture to suggest that such an Act might beneficially be made to apply to all Colonies, and to offenders escaping from any of them to the United Kingdom.

9. It would be desirable, I conceive, to introduce clauses enabling the Justice before whom the arrested person is taken (or, by order of a Judge, any other Justice in the receiving Colony) to take evidence both for and against the party, and to admit him to bail as in any ordinary case, and also to direct, if the offenders removal to the Colony where the offence was committed be thought unnecessary for the ends of justice, that he shall be tried in the Colony where he is arrested. These provisions would afford no small protection against the possible abuse of the criminal process, or possible mistakes as to identity or the like. To give effect to the last-mentioned clause, it will of course be necessary to enact that all persons liable to arrest under the Act should, where any such direction is given, be triable in the Colony of arrest. It will be perceived that this provision differs from the one suggested in Lord Granville's despatch in two particulars:—First, it is not proposed by me as an alternative to the measure asked for in the memorandum, but as incidental to the power of arrest; secondly, no option is proposed to be given to the prosecutor, as it practically is by the English statutes, but the decision in which of the two jurisdictions the offender shall be tried will rest, after hearing both parties, with the committing Justice. I would allow an appeal from that decision in a summary way to a Judge, or, without any appeal, confer the power of direction on two Justices only, one to be a Police Magistrate.

10. With the protecting clauses thus suggested, I do not see why the Act should not be made to apply to every case whatever, whether of felony or misdemeanor. If the offence be of so serious a character that it is thought worth while to seek for the offender in another Colony, and incur the expense of bringing him thence for trial, it may be safely taken for granted that the interests of criminal justice (the Crown being really the prosecutor in most cases, and in all exercising practically a control in extradition cases) require the removal. It would be a task of very great difficulty to enumerate all the misdemeanors which ought to be within the proposed law, and some, although apparently of a minor degree of criminality, are attended or necessarily followed by circumstances of distress to the injured parties and evil to the community far greater than any which ordinarily flow from the commission of a felony. Take the case, so common, of men abandoning their wives and children for the gold fields of some neighbouring Colony, and heartlessly leaving the latter to starve and the former to become prostitutes for a livelihood; or the case of dishonest insolvents escaping with property from their duped creditors.

11. I have always thought, indeed, that writs of arrest for debt, whether before or after judgment, where the debtor can be shown to have absconded to avoid payment or the process to compel it, should be reciprocally enforced, whencesoever he may have come, in every one of these Australasian settlements.

12. The subject of your Excellency's reference has led me to a consideration, in connection with it, of two others on which Imperial legislation appears to me to be called for, affecting our criminal law; but I will make these, with your permission, the subject of a separate letter.

I have the honor to be, my Lord,

Your very faithful Servant,

ALFRED STEPHEN.

The Right Honorable the Earl of Belmore.

Supreme

Supreme Court, Sydney, 9 August, 1869.

MY LORD,

In obedience to your Excellency's commands, as communicated to me through the Attorney-General, I have perused and considered the points mentioned in the despatches from the Duke of Buckingham, dated respectively the 4th and 19th July, 1867, and the despatch from Earl Granville, dated 26th February, 1869, with reference to the extension of the Imperial Statute 6 and 7 Vic., c. 34 (1842), as slightly amended by 16 and 17 Vic., c. 118, to misdemeanors, and I offer the following observations:—

1. So far as any such proposed extensions to misdemeanors should mutually refer only to the United Kingdom and the Colonies, I am clearly of opinion that the Colonies ought to adopt, and will readily adopt, whatever extensions may be thought advisable by the Imperial Legislature as to any grave misdemeanors where arrests and punishment may be thought as necessary as for any "treason and felony," and to be quite irrespective of all distance and time.

2. So far as any such proposed extensions to misdemeanors should mutually relate only to the six Australian Colonies of New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania, and New Zealand, it seems to me very probable that the provisions of this Imperial statute may also be advantageously extended to a few other Colonial misdemeanors. But all these Colonial extensions, both mutually with the United Kingdom and among ourselves as Colonies, should be considered and settled (at least primarily) by the Legislatures of these Colonies, they being now expressly authorized, as under our own Constitution Act (18 and 19 Vic., c. 54), "to make laws for the peace, welfare, and good government of this Colony in all cases whatsoever." The Imperial authorities ought not, in my opinion, to be invoked, except for the jurisdiction over our high seas, or where Imperial interests are concerned.

3. With reference to the minor topic of the place of trial, I am clearly of opinion that no person ought to be tried, except within the jurisdiction whose laws he is accused of having broken. The anomalies and difficulties of any other course are too manifest to require mentioning.

4. I am also of opinion that the power of sending any prisoner out of the Colony in which he is arrested should be most strictly guarded against abuse, by the wise provisions of the Imperial Act under consideration; and these provisions will be so much the more necessary for any extensions of that Act to misdemeanors. I think that no Justice of the Peace should have any more power than as given by the 4th section of our 14 Vic., No. 43 (adopting Sir John Jervis's Acts), which expressly and very properly limits the "validity of the endorsements to the extent of the jurisdiction of the Justice endorsing the same." It would be most dangerous to allow any Colonial Justice of the Peace any additional powers as to sending accused persons out of one Colony into another Colony, or to the United Kingdom.

5. Referring to the expression in the Duke of Buckingham's despatch, as to "drawing the different members of the Australian group into closer union," and to the recommendation in Earl Granville's despatch that all the Australian Colonies should "enact a common criminal code based on the Imperial law," or should "prepare a draft bill" for Imperial sanction,—I would most respectfully state that the necessary delays and uncertainties of such a course will only render the mischiefs of our present condition more apparent every day, and in every branch of our administration of justice, especially with the present increasing and rapid steam communication by sea between all the six Colonies, together with electric telegraph lines between Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Brisbane, and Hobart Town—i.e., between five out of our six Colonies.

6. I think, under these circumstances, and have long thought, that the only proper and effectual remedy for the present difficulty, and for the numerous other difficulties of an intercolonial nature, arising necessarily from the growth of the Australian Colonies and their almost daily intercourse with each other, is to be found in the early federation of all the six Colonies having responsible governments, and upon the sound principles established by the recent "Canadian Dominion" statute.

7. I am satisfied, from long experience as a former member of both Houses of Legislature in this Colony, as well as from my official experience as a Minister of the Crown and Attorney General and Solicitor General during the greater portion of the years between 1859 and 1865, and now from my judicial experience since 1865, that not only will the administration of justice, but all our other interests, both with the United Kingdom and among ourselves intercolonially, be largely benefited by any consolidation granted by the Imperial authorities; but that it is quite impossible to apply any effectual remedy to the present difficulties as to intercolonial arrests, and the other numerous difficulties constantly arising among the Australian group, except through the medium I have ventured very respectfully to suggest, and which is, in truth, only the natural result of the constitutional government of the Australian Colonies ever since the Canadian Constitution Act of 1840.

I have the honor to be,

Your Excellency's obedient faithful servant,

The Right Honorable the Earl of Belmore.

JOHN F. HARGRAVE.

Supreme Court, 1 September, 1869.

MY LORD,

In compliance with your Excellency's request that I would report on the despatches from the Home Government on the subject of misdemeanors, in reply, I have the honor to state that, having read the letters of the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Hargrave, it appears to me only necessary to say that the remarks of both their Honors, although different, seem to my mind sufficiently suggestive of the necessity of such an Act applicable to a certain class of misdemeanors; the only question being, what can be considered the most preferable course—whether the powers of the Imperial Parliament should be invoked, or whether the matters should be left to the local Legislature of each Colony, to frame such enactments applicable to themselves.

I certainly feel some difficulty in the matter; still I think that the preferable suggestion is for the local Legislatures of each Colony to pass such enactments, specifying the class of misdemeanors they may deem advisable, leaving to the Imperial authorities jurisdiction over the high seas and where Imperial interests are concerned.

I have the honor to be,
Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

The Right Honorable Earl Belmore,
&c., &c.

ALFRED CHEEKE.

Memorandum for His Excellency the Governor.

I HAVE read Earl Granville's despatch of the 26th February, 1869, to His Excellency the Earl of Belmore, and the previous despatches of the Secretary of State to Sir John Young and the Governor of Victoria, together with the papers accompanying them. I have also read the letter of the Chief Justice, Sir Alfred Stephen to His Excellency, on the subject of these despatches.

2. I concur in the views expressed by the Chief Justice as to the advisability of altering the existing law with respect to the mode of proceeding in reference to the apprehension of offenders who may have escaped from one of the Australian Colonies into another of the Australian Colonies. Considering the extensive and constant intercommunication that exists between these Colonies, and the increasing facilities for such intercommunication, I can see no advantage in treating them in this particular as independent States or Nations, as the Imperial Acts 6 and 7 Vict., c. 34, and 16 and 17 Vict., c. 118, by adopting the course of proceeding usual in international treaties, virtually do; on the contrary, I think that the Colonies might advantageously be placed, in respect to this matter, in the same position, relatively to one another, as the several counties in England, or as England, Ireland, and Scotland are placed, relatively to one another, under Jervis's Act, 11 and 12 Vict., c. 42.

3. If the alteration suggested were made, it appears to me that the power of apprehending offenders in a Colony other than that in which the offence has been committed, might be extended—as in Jervis's Act—to all "indictable offences," that is, to all offences indictable in the Colony from which the warrant might issue. If the power were so extended, it might, in my opinion, be safely left to the authorities of the respective Colonies themselves to determine what particular cases would be of so serious a nature as to require or justify its exercise. In such a case the warrant might state on the face of it that the offence was indictable in the Colony from which it issued, and such a statement should be conclusive for the purpose of apprehension in any of the other Colonies. This, as the Chief Justice has pointed out, might—at all events to a large extent—be practically effected by the legislative action of the Colonies amongst themselves; but I do not think it could be fully accomplished without Imperial legislation.

4. I do not think, however, that it would be advisable to extend the alteration suggested by the Chief Justice beyond the Colonies of the Australian group. To remove the checks, such as they are, which exist in the present state of the law in reference to the apprehension of supposed offenders in Colonies remote from the place where the offence is alleged to have been committed, might, in my opinion, occasionally lead to great hardship and great wrong. For this reason I doubt whether it would be advisable to extend the suggested alteration even to New Zealand.

5. I think that in some instances, although probably not very many, there might be an advantage in giving the magistrates of the Colony, where an offender may be apprehended, the power of determining whether he should be tried in such Colony, or remitted to the Colony from which the warrant may have issued. Such a provision would probably be useful in reference to offences committed on the borders of a Colony. I agree with the Chief Justice in thinking that, if such a power were given to the magistrates, their determination should be subject to the revision of the Supreme Court, or of one of the Judges of the Supreme Court, of the Colony in which the apprehension might take place. I see, however, some difficulty in this matter, so long as the judicial as well as the legislative jurisdictions of the several Colonies remain distinct and independent of one another, as they now are. And I confess I do not attach much importance one way or the other to the suggestion.

6. I am of opinion that it would be of considerable advantage if the Australian Colonies proposed a common criminal code, based on the Imperial law. Of course, local circumstances will occasionally call for special legislation; but it appears to me that throughout the Australian Colonies the general body of the criminal law ought to be as nearly as possible the same, and ought to be also as nearly as possible identical with the Imperial law. To a large extent this is the case in these Colonies, but I think the assimilation might advantageously be carried out to a much greater degree. Any change, however, in this respect should, I think, be left to the Colonial Legislatures; as to impose a common code upon the Colonies by Imperial authority might, in some degree, fetter the action of Colonial Legislatures, and would probably be deemed too great an interference with the independence secured to them by their Constitution Acts.

P. FAUCETT.

Supreme Court, 31st August, 1869.

SIR,

Crown Law Offices, Sydney, 1st September, 1869.

Referring to your B.C. Memos. of 30th September, 1868, ¹⁸⁶⁹ and 18th May last, M²²²⁴, upon despatches from the Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, relative to extension of provisions of certain Imperial Acts to all cases of misdemeanor committed in any of the Australian Colonies,—I am directed by the Honorable the Attorney General to inform you that the opinions of their Honors the Judges of the Supreme Court have gone direct to His Excellency the Governor. The other papers received under B.C. of 30th September, 1868, were transmitted with the Honorable the Attorney General's letter of 25th ultimo, to Lord Belmore.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.—NEW SOUTH WALES.

SILVER CURRENCY OF THE COLONY.

(Correspondence.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 6th April, 1870.

No. 1.

The Colonial Treasurer to The Earl of Belmore.

The Treasury, Sydney, 27 August, 1869.

MY LORD,

I have the honor to inform your Excellency that complaint has been made to me by the Commercial Banking Company of this city in reference to the state of the silver currency in this Colony; the coins at present in circulation being represented as to a considerable extent worn out and defective.

I take leave to enclose herewith specimens left with me by the Secretary of the Bank, together with others taken from the Treasury Chest; and I am given to understand that the shopkeepers and others find it difficult to pass silver coin similarly worn out and defaced, which it is stated bears a large proportion to that of legible impressions and recent dates.

Having regard to the fact that the renovation by the Mint authorities of the copper currency has already been attended with the best results; and inasmuch as the condition of the silver currency seems to warrant the complaints that have been made with reference to it, it would appear that the time has arrived when the same might be improved with advantage, by the introduction of a supply of new coin of the respective denominations.

The ready acquiescence of the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury in the application of this Government in the former case leads me to trust that in the latter equally satisfactory arrangements might be made. By such means the Imperial silver currency in this, and eventually in the adjacent Colonies, would be restored to a sounder footing, and acquire a more uniform character.

Before, however, entering upon details, I would, if your Excellency approve, suggest that reference might be made to the Deputy Master of the Mint upon the subject.

I have, &c.,
SAUL SAMUEL.

MEMORANDA UPON THE FOREGOING.

(No. 1.—Minute of His Excellency the Governor.)

The Deputy Master of the Mint will please to report upon this letter.—27/8/69, B.

(No. 2.—Minute of the Deputy Master of the Mint, in reply.)

The silver currency at Home is maintained in a healthy condition through the agency of the Bank of England, which withdraws from circulation the worn and defaced coins, and sends them into the Mint for recoinage, receiving also and sending into circulation the new coin. It is possible, as suggested by the Colonial Treasurer, that the Imperial Government might be induced to extend similar benefits to this Colony, in which case the presence of a branch of the Royal Mint might perhaps be considered to afford facilities such as are obtained in London through the Bank of England.—C.E., 28/8/69.

(No. 3.—Lord Belmore's Minute upon the same.)

The Colonial Treasurer.—Shall I make any application Home?—B., 28/8/69.

(No. 4.—The Colonial Treasurer's reply.)

I shall be glad if His Excellency will make an application to the Imperial Government to send to the Colony sufficient silver coin to replace that now in circulation, which is worn and defaced.—S.S., 31/8/69.

Government House, Sydney, 3 September, 1869.

MY LORD,

I have the honor to inform your Lordship that, in a communication dated the 27th ultimo, the Colonial Treasurer informed me that complaint has been made to him, by the Commercial Banking Company of this city, in reference to the state of the silver currency in this Colony, "coins at present in circulation being represented as to a considerable extent worn out and defective."

2. Mr. Samuel at the same time enclosed (forwarded herewith) specimens left with him by the Secretary of the Bank, together with others taken from the Treasury Chest; and he was given to understand that "shopkeepers and others find it difficult to pass silver coin similarly worn out and defaced, which it is stated bears a large proportion to that of legible impressions and recent dates."

3. Mr. Samuel further observes that "the renovation by the Mint authorities of the copper currency has already been attended with the best results; and inasmuch as the condition of the silver currency seems to warrant the complaints that have been made with reference to it, it would appear that the time has arrived when the same might be improved with advantage, by the introduction of a supply of new coin of the respective denominations."

No. 3.

The Earl of Belmore to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

(No. 160.)

MY LORD,

Government House, Sydney, 18 October, 1869.

With reference to my despatch, No. 129, of 3rd September, 1869, I have the honor to enclose a paragraph extracted from the Empire newspaper of the 14th instant, showing the public inconvenience experienced here by the present defaced and worn state of the silver coinage.

I have, &c.,
BELMORE.

[Enclosure in No. 3.]

EXTRACT from Empire, 14th October, 1869.

“MUCH inconvenience has already been felt at the refusal, on the part of some of our public institutions, to accept shillings, half-crowns, and sixpences that have become smooth through constant use. At the Post Office the officials object to the coinage to a greater extent than anywhere else; but at some of the banks and other public places of business the silver is strictly scrutinized, and objections are often taken to what is tendered. The places of worship have perhaps been the greatest sufferers as yet by the halt in the circulation of silver. At St. Andrew's Cathedral, we are informed, the churchwardens are in possession of many pounds' worth of silver, received upon the plate, which cannot be put into circulation; and other churches and chapels have in all likelihood been similarly enriched. There is no doubt that something should be at once done to prevent the inconvenience which the stoppage of a large amount of the silver circulation will otherwise be productive of. The directors of public institutions and others who refuse to take current coin because it is much worn, act, in our opinion, in a most unwise and censurable manner. There can be no doubt means will be taken at no distant date to retire the over-used coins without loss to the holders; and until arrangements are made for that purpose all ordinary coin ought to pass current.

“We believe that much of the present inconvenience is occasioned by a number of designing persons, who offer to take the worn shillings at ninepence each, and other coins at a proportionate value. If this kind of thing is promoted by the over-scrupulousness of the banks in taking worn coin, much fraud will eventuate from it. Those unscrupulous individuals who buy at ninepence will ever be attempting to quit at twelvepence, and thus the unwary will be victimized. All respectable business people ought to discountenance these things, and continue to take as usual all coins not clipped or defaced purposely, but reduced by ordinary wear. The Government offices in particular should not set an example which may serve the ends of dishonest people and lead to much public inconvenience.”

(No. 6.)

MY LORD,

Downing-street, 24 January, 1870.

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's despatches, No. 129, of 3rd September, and No. 160, of 18th October, representing the inconvenience caused in New South Wales by the defaced state of the silver coinage.

I directed your despatches to be referred to the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury; and I transmit to you, for your information, a copy of a report which their Lordships have communicated to this department from the Deputy Master of the Mint, with a copy of the instructions which they have addressed to the Bank of England.

I have, &c.,
GRANVILLE.

[Enclosures in No. 4.]

Mr. Fremantle to the Secretary to the Treasury.

Sir,

Royal Mint, 3 December, 1869.

In returning the letters from the Bank of England and the Colonial Office, referred to this department by your orders of the 20th and 26th ultimo, I have the honor to make the following observations:—

Both the Commercial Bank of Sydney and the Governor of New South Wales prefer a request that the Imperial Government will supply that Colony with silver coins in exchange for the existing silver currency, which has become much worn by use; and I would submit that, as no authority has been given to the branch of the Royal Mint at Sydney to coin silver, a supply of silver money from this country offers the only means of reintegrating the silver currency of the Colony, and that the Bank of England should be authorized therefore to receive silver coin on the application of the Agents for the Government of New South Wales, on the same conditions as those under which it receives it from persons resident in this country.

The result of this arrangement will no doubt be to increase the loss incurred by the Imperial Government on the receipt of worn silver, which now amounts to £15,000 a year.

One

One point of difference is to be noticed between the application of the Government of New South Wales and that of the Commercial Bank of Sydney. The former requests that sufficient silver coin may be "sent to the Colony to replace that which is now in circulation," whereas the latter suggest that "as it would not be worth the trouble and expense of shipping the worn coinage from the Colony, merely to exchange it for the current silver circulation of this country, two or three thousand pounds monthly in new silver should be supplied" for the use of the Colony.

Upon this point I would remark, that it would be difficult, if not impossible, for the Bank of England to guarantee that new coin shall in all cases be given in exchange for worn silver; and I submit that, while granting the Colony the same privileges as those enjoyed by the home community, the Imperial Government should not restrict the discretion of the Bank of England as to whether the silver issued by them for transmission to Sydney should or should not consist entirely of new coins.

I am, &c.,
C. W. FREMANTLE.

(20,089.)

Mr. Law to the Governor and Deputy Governor of the Bank of England.

Gentlemen,

Treasury Chambers, 10 January, 1870.

The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury have had before them your letter of the 30th October last, enclosing a copy of a communication received from the London Manager of the Commercial Bank of Sydney, inquiring whether the Bank of England would receive £1,000 or £2,000 monthly in worn silver coins, to be withdrawn from circulation in New South Wales, and give in exchange an equal amount in new silver coin.

In reply, I am to acquaint you that it appears to their Lordships to be desirable that the usual facilities for the exchange of worn and light silver coins should be afforded to the agents of the Australian Banks who may present at the Bank of England such worn or light silver for exchange (the Bank or the Colonial Government undertaking the cost of its transport to and from the Colony), but that their Lordships must leave it to your convenience to supply the applicants with new coin, or with old coin legally current.

I am, &c.,
WM. LAW.

No. 5.

Minute of the Colonial Treasurer.

REFERRING to the despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, No. 6, of 24th January last, and its enclosures, on the subject of replacing defaced coin in this Colony, I desire to call attention to the fact that it is not therein stated that the request made by the Government of this Colony, through me, on the 27th August, 1869, will be complied with; and I would again respectfully urge the necessity of some steps being taken to obviate the serious inconvenience felt by the public here, owing to the depreciated condition of the silver coins in circulation. What really is required is that, as in the case of the copper coinage, a supply of perfect coins should be sent to replace those in circulation, which cannot be otherwise withdrawn.

The application of the Commercial Bank of Sydney, mentioned in the despatch, was not made with my knowledge.

I shall feel obliged if His Excellency the Governor will renew my request of August last, to the Imperial authorities by the outgoing mail.

The Earl of Belmore to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

MY LORD,

Government House, Sydney, 25 March, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's despatch, No. 6, of 24th January, 1870, in reply to my application, at the instance of the Colonial Treasurer, to the Imperial Government for a supply of silver coin to be sent out to this Colony.

2. Mr. Samuel does not consider that the arrangements proposed by Mr. Fremantle would meet the necessities of the case, and has forwarded to me a minute paper, which I beg to enclose, in which he renews the request made by him in the first instance.

POSTAL AND TELEGRAPHIC COMMUNICATION WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

CORRESPONDENCE relating to Postal Communication with England via Batavia and Torres Straits, also via New Zealand and San Francisco; and Telegraphic Communication with Great Britain via Java.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

(177.)

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 30 August, 1869.

I have the honor to inform you that, as soon as practicable after my return from your Colony, I brought under the consideration of my colleagues the particulars of my conference with you on the subject of the adoption of a postal line of communication with England via Batavia, per Torres Straits; and I now beg to forward to you the copy of resolutions on the subject, which it is suggested you should submit to your Parliament.

2. Should your Parliament adopt these resolutions, it is the intention of this Government to submit similar resolutions to the Parliament of this Colony.

3. It has, as you will observe, been deemed advisable that the resolutions should be comparatively open in their terms, in order that the arrangements to be adopted thereunder may be capable of modification, to meet future contingencies.

I have, &c.,
JOHN ROBERTSON.
[Enclosure.]

[Enclosure.]

(M. 16,796.)

THAT this House is of opinion that it is desirable that the Government of this Colony should forthwith enter into negotiations to obtain the establishment of a monthly line of mail communication with England, vid Batavia, by the Torres Straits route, on the following basis, namely:—

- 1st. That the dates of arrival and departure be so arranged—having regard to those of the Suez line—as that the two lines practically ensure fortnightly communication.
- 2nd. That mails be delivered off Bowen, and off Gladstone, and at the Pilot Station at Cape Moreton; off the two former places, however, only when boats are ready to receive the mails without causing delay.
- 3rd. That the Australian terminus of the line be at Sydney.
- 4th. That the cost of the service be paid by New South Wales, Queensland, and New Zealand, in the proportion of three-sixths by New South Wales, two-sixths by Queensland, and one-sixth by New Zealand; and that the whole cost to Queensland do not exceed £20,000 per annum.
- 5th. That the expense of a coaling station at Cape York be a charge on the service.
- 6th. That New South Wales, Queensland, and New Zealand, be released from any payment, in the way of subsidy or otherwise, in connection with the Suez line; and that an amicable arrangement be made between New South Wales, Queensland, and New Zealand, on the one part, and Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, on the other, to the effect that New South Wales, Queensland, and New Zealand, bear the expense of the Northern line, and Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, that of the Suez line; and that they mutually aid in working the two lines as a fortnightly service for Australia generally.
- 7th. That New Zealand have the option of taking and delivering its mails either at Sydney or at Cape Moreton, as may prove most convenient.

25th August, 1869.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, New Zealand.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 28 September, 1869.

I have the honor to forward herewith, for the information and consideration of your Government, copies of a correspondence which has passed on the subject of a proposed arrangement between New South Wales and Queensland, in which also the participation of your Colony is invited, with respect to postal communication with England, vid Batavia, by way of Torres Straits.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

The Colonial Secretary, New Zealand, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Wellington, 20 October, 1869.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. M.16,796, of the 28th ultimo, enclosing copies of a correspondence with the Government of Queensland, as to postal communication with England, vid Batavia, by way of Torres Straits; and in reply to state that, as the ocean postal service between Australasia and Europe is one of the subjects to be discussed at the approaching Conference, your letter will be communicated to the New Zealand Delegates.

I have, &c.,

W. GISBORNE.

Telegram from the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Treasurer and Commissioner of Customs, New Zealand,—Melbourne.

4 November, 1869.

I REGRET that we have been disappointed in our hope of having representatives of other Colonies here, but that there are, I think, matters of sufficient importance in which New Zealand and New South Wales are mutually interested, to make it quite worth your while, and that of Dr. Knight, to come on to Sydney.

Telegram from the Colonial Treasurer, New Zealand, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

Melbourne, 18 November, 1869.

EXPLANATION concerning delay in answering your telegram, have forwarded in letter to you by mail to-day. We purpose leaving for Sydney next week.

Delegates of the New Zealand Government to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Melbourne, 18 November, 1869.

We have delayed replying to your telegram, in which you invited us to proceed to Sydney, as we considered that it was desirable to again request the Government of Victoria to take a part in the Conference. They delayed coming to a decision for nearly a fortnight.

It was only two days since that the decision was announced to us in a letter, copy of which we attach. We also send you copy of memorandum with which we furnished the Government here. You will observe that we suggested some new subjects, but which we venture to think you will consider important.

We propose to proceed to Sydney next week, say after the arrival of the English mail, if it will be convenient to you to confer with us then. We believe, concerning several of the subjects set forth in the memorandum, that New South Wales and New Zealand may take joint action with great advantage, and we shall be glad to cement the friendly relations between the two Colonies. You may think it desirable to invite the attendance of representatives from Queensland, Tasmania, and South Australia, or any one or more of them, but we would rather not express an opinion on this point, leaving it entirely to your discretion.

We have, &c.,

JULIUS VOGEL.
CHARLES KNIGHT.

The Chief Secretary, Victoria, to the Delegates of the New Zealand Government.

Gentlemen,

Chief Secretary's Office, Melbourne, 16 November, 1869.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum, setting forth the subjects it is proposed to discuss at the Intercolonial Conference.

After due consideration, I have the honor to inform you, the Cabinet does not think it desirable to send a delegate to the Conference, as it is doubtful whether any advantage could result from it; but we shall be happy to join in any correspondence regarding matters of interest to the Colonies generally.

I have, &c.,
JOHN MACPHERSON.

MEMORANDUM.

Intercolonial Free Trade.

There should be no reason why the Colonies should be prevented from entering into arrangements for the interchange, duty free, of various articles produced or manufactured within their limits. For a long while the Canadian Parliament has passed Acts authorizing the Governor in Council to remit the duties on articles the growth, production, and manufacture of other British American Colonies, also to do the same with respect to certain goods from the United States. The first is a case precisely analogous to the proposal to allow the Australasian group of Colonies to make similar provision for mutual interchange; the second points to the feasibility of the original purpose of the Conference.

The making an arrangement with the United States for the free admission of wool the production of the Australasian Colonies.

It is not necessary to point out the advantages to the Colonies which would arise from such an arrangement. It would equally suit the United States, the manufactures of which frequently languish on account of the difficulty of obtaining suitable wool. A reciprocity treaty is now being arranged between America and Canada. Why should not Australia participate, or have power to make one on her own account? To show that Canada's right to enter into reciprocal arrangements has been recognized, it may be mentioned that when, at the instance of the United States, the former reciprocity treaty with Canada came to an end, delegates from the British American Colonies, at the instance of the Imperial Government, and in some cases with the aid of one of Her Majesty's vessels, visited various countries, British and Foreign, for the purpose of ascertaining what, if any, reciprocal arrangements for the benefit of trade might be made to replace the loss of trade which it was anticipated would follow the termination of the treaty with the States. Probably the Australasian Colonies might from time to time find it beneficial to enter into reciprocal arrangements with other countries, such for instance as the South American States, California, New Caledonia, and the South Sea Islands, and India, as also with some of the older countries. At any rate the Colonies should not have less power in the matter than Canada has hitherto possessed, and it is believed, still possesses.

Ocean Postal Services.

It is impossible to surmise how far the Colonies are prepared to come to an understanding on this question. New Zealand is very anxious to see a connection with California established.

Telegraphic Communication with Europe.

This subject demands immediate attention. The Colonies, whatever is done, should act promptly. The Telegraph lines in the Colonies are in the hands of the respective Governments. The Imperial country has lately seen the wisdom of following the same course. Why should the line to connect Great Britain, India, and Australasia, be permitted to pass into private hands? Essentially the line is one concerning which it is unwise to grant a monopoly. It is undesirable that the cost of intercommunication should be taxed with the profits of a private undertaking. Why should not the Imperial country, India, and the Australian Colonies jointly construct the line? The cost to them would be comparatively trifling. Great Britain could raise the money, and an annual charge might be made, exclusive or inclusive of a redemption or sinking fund. The arrangement would not be more difficult in its details than the settlement of the annual subsidy to the Suez line.

Telegraphic Union between the Colonies.

Experience shows that a uniform rate of telegraphic charge is highly advantageous. If the Colonies would agree to a uniform rate, it would be easy, desirable, and profitable for them to determine that telegrams from any one Colony should run through the others without extra cost. A similar arrangement prevails in respect to letters, although the carriage of letters from the sea coast inland is really a costly matter. But the transmission of a message costs comparatively nothing. A union, such as is suggested, would infallibly enormously increase the telegraphic business in all the Colonies.

Investment of English Trust Funds in Colonial Securities.

When trustees act under instruments which do not expressly exclude or include certain securities, their discretion as to investment is still limited. They may invest in securities guaranteed by Parliament, in securities authorized by general order of Court of Chancery, in Parliamentary stocks, or public funds, or Government securities. Recently authority has been given to invest in Indian unguaranteed stocks. Proposed that representations should be made to enable trustees at their option to invest in Colonial securities. There are immense amounts of trust funds at Home, awaiting investment. The permission would raise the value of Colonial securities, and in numerous cases be highly advantageous to trustees and the interests they represent.

Admission of barristers and solicitors of any Colony to practise in other Colonies, and an Australasian Court of Appeal, and comity of laws. Subjects worthy of discussion, though for the present probably little can be done concerning them.

Apprehension of Offenders.

Immediate measures are required to facilitate the apprehension of offenders when they pass from the Colony, which is the scene of their offences, to some other Colony. In connection with this subject it is worthy of consideration whether it might not be well for the Colonies jointly to maintain a small detective force, say of from ten to twelve, to keep a watch on the criminal population floating from Colony to Colony, and to afford information concerning the same.

Uniformity of Statistics.

A great deal of the usefulness of the elaborate statistics of the various Colonies is impaired through the want of uniformity as to the mode of their preparation. Proposed that a uniform system be adopted.

Prohibition of Export of Arms and Ammunition to South Sea Islands.

There is reason to think that arms and ammunition exported from the different Colonies to South Sea Islands find their way to New Zealand. In the interest of civilized humanity, even though in some quarters inconvenience might be the result, a check should be interposed to indiscriminate exportation.

Relief of Distressed Seamen.

A subject arising from a circular despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Naval Defence.

A suggestion of Mr. Fitzherbert's (late Colonial Treasurer of New Zealand) that some understanding should be come to between the Mother Country and the Colonies for the maintenance, at joint expense, of a naval force.

The general subject of the relations between the Mother Country and the Colonies will crop up in the consideration of many of the questions already referred to, but it would be well to make it also the subject of special and separate discussion.

Telegram from the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Delegates of the New Zealand Government, —Melbourne.

25 November, 1869.

SHALL be glad if you will come on, but have no hope of any other Colony being represented than New Zealand and New South Wales.

C. Knight, Esq., Delegate of the New Zealand Government, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

Sydney, 14 December, 1869.

SIR,

I have the honor to forward the more important papers on some of the subjects which it is proposed to bring under the consideration of the Government of New South Wales.

I and Mr. Vogel will be much obliged if you would appoint an early day to consider the whole of the matters which were to have been brought under discussion at a Conference for the mutual benefit of the group of Australian Colonies and New Zealand.

We have also to request that you would forward to us any papers on the above matters which you may think it desirable to submit for our information.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES KNIGHT.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to C. Knight, Esq., Delegate of the New Zealand Government, Sydney.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10 January, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to return herewith, in compliance with your personal request, the papers transmitted in your letter of the 14th ultimo, having reference to certain subjects which you proposed to bring under the consideration of this Government.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

(6.)

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales, 7 January, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to forward the accompanying memorandum of agreement, with enclosures, in reference to telegraphic communication between the Australian Colonies and Great Britain, via Java, and a submarine cable to connect the Colony of New South Wales with New Zealand, determined upon by me with the Postmaster General of New Zealand and yourself, which is now complete.

2. It will be observed that great advantage has been gained by the introduction of the Colony of New Zealand into the telegraphic scheme for connecting Australia with Europe, via Queensland, not only by reducing the responsibility of New South Wales and Queensland by one-third, or, in round numbers, £6,000 per annum, but by bringing the New Zealand telegraphic business over the land lines of New South Wales and Queensland; in consideration of which it is proposed to divide the annual liability chargeable on the New Zealand submarine cable in the following proportions, viz. :—

New Zealand	5-tenths.
New South Wales	3-tenths.
Queensland	2-tenths.

3. This, of course, if adopted, will involve a modification of the arrangement agreed upon in the memorandum dated 6th October, 1869.

4. When approved by your Cabinet, I shall be glad to be informed thereof without delay.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

P.S.—I am glad to say that at a meeting of the Cabinet, held this day, the enclosed memorandum was approved.—JOHN R.

Memorandum concerning Telegraphic Communication between Australia, New Zealand, and Great Britain.

1st. That it is desirable that New Zealand should co-operate with New South Wales and Queensland to promote the establishment of telegraphic communication between Australia and Great Britain, via Java, and between New Zealand and Australia.

2nd. That New Zealand join New South Wales and Queensland in their provincial arrangement for telegraphic communication with Java, bearing date 6th October, 1869, and annexed hereto, each Colony agreeing to bear equal proportions of the guarantee therein mentioned.

3rd. That the Colonies of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland jointly undertake to guarantee a subsidy of eighteen thousand pounds annually for the construction of a cable between the Colonies of New South Wales and New Zealand, in the proportion of New Zealand five-tenths, New South Wales three-tenths, and Queensland two-tenths.

4th. In the event of any of the other Colonies being admitted into these arrangements, that their contributions shall be appropriated in diminution of the liabilities of the three Colonies herein mentioned.

5th. That Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania be invited to join in these proposals; but should they, or any of them, decline to do so, New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland pledge themselves to carry them out.

6th. The scale of charges over the land lines of the various Colonies not to exceed the present rates, as per schedule attached. There being no fixed rate from the southern boundary of Queensland to the proposed cable at the Gulf of Carpentaria, it is agreed that the price shall not exceed ten (10) shillings for ten (10) words—signature and address free—provided that in no case in any of the Colonies shall the charge be greater than the current rates for the time-being.

7th.

7th. Each contracting Colony to enjoy equally with other contracting Colonies all rights with respect to fixing or altering the tariff, precedence of Government, and urgent messages, and all other rights, powers, and privileges enjoyed by the contracting Colonies; and it is hereby expressly stipulated that the interpretation to be put upon any doubtful point in this memorandum shall be in the direction of overcoming all obstacles in the way of bringing the Colonies into close and friendly relations with each other.

8th. That copies of this memorandum be transmitted to the Colonies of Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, in the hope that they will become parties to it.

9th. This memorandum to be considered provisional, and subject to the approval of Parliament in each contracting Colony; and in the event of Parliament not sanctioning it, the arrangement to be null and void.

10th. The views embodied in this memorandum it is agreed by the Honorable John Robertson, of New South Wales, the Honorable Julius Vogel, of New Zealand, and the Honorable Charles Lilley, of Queensland, shall be submitted to their respective Cabinets for approval.

JOHN ROBERTSON.
JULIUS VOGEL.
CHARLES KNIGHT.

Memo.

Telegraphic communication between Great Britain and Australia must now be shortly accomplished.

The Telegraphic Maintenance and Construction Company, having successfully laid three cables across the Atlantic, are now engaged in connecting Suez with Aden and Bombay.

Captain Sherard Osborn has lately been in correspondence with Mr. Verdon, and advocates alternate routes based upon subsidies, to be borne entirely by the Australian Colonies, and varying in amount from £55,000 to £47,000 per annum.

Mr. Fraser, of Batavia, has also addressed the Governments of the Australian Colonies on the same subject, and has furnished them with detailed information in connection with this project.

His scheme involves an outlay of half a million; and for the purpose of obtaining this money it is proposed that a guarantee should be granted, to be equally divided between the Dutch Government and the Governments of the Australian Colonies.

Mr. Fraser is at present in London, and anticipates that the Dutch Government will grant him the concession he requires, which has been recommended by the Government of Netherlands, India.

The views entertained by the Governments of the Southern Australian Colonies, in reference to the respective merits of the rival schemes, are at present not quite in accordance with those held by the Governments of New South Wales and Queensland; but it is believed that an examination of the conditions attached to both will result in the conviction that the proposed line via Queensland and Java recommends itself as at present the most practical and economical.

To remove, however, any hesitation which may be felt by the Southern Colonies, and as a recognition of the confidence which the Governments of the Colonies of Queensland and New South Wales have in Mr. Fraser's scheme, it is suggested that these two Colonies should, if necessary, undertake the joint responsibility required, such guarantee not to exceed £17,500 per annum.

This should be done, not for the purpose of securing any exclusive benefit, but for the purpose of facilitating the arrangements subsequently to be entered into with Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, with a view to the establishment of a rateable and proportionate guarantee to be borne by them, on a scale graduated in accordance with the business transacted on their behalf.

It is agreed that the Government of Queensland undertake the construction of the land line to Normantown, or some other point on the shores of the Gulf of Carpentaria, to be afterwards determined on.

It will of course be necessary that the guarantors should have a voice in fixing the scale of charges payable on the section between Australia and Java, to be from time to time subject to revision.

The views embodied in this memorandum, it is agreed by Mr. Robertson and Mr. Douglass shall be submitted to their respective Cabinets.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

J. DOUGLASS.

Sydney, 6th October, 1869.

The Colonial Secretary, Queensland, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 3 February, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th January, 1870, enclosing the memorandum of agreement between the representatives of the three Colonies of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland, with regard to telegraphic communication between New Zealand, New South Wales, Queensland, and Europe.

The Government of this Colony approves of the terms of the memorandum, on condition that it shall form part of the contract with the Telegraphic Company that the subsidy shall be payable only during such time as the cable may be in working order. I understood that this, or some like stipulation, would be made on behalf of the three Colonies.

It may not be necessary, but this Government deems it advisable to draw your attention to that portion of the memorandum which relates to an agreement being entered into between the Dutch Government and the three Colonies on this matter, and to point out that, as this might in some degree concern Imperial interests, it may be necessary to consult or advise the British Government thereon.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES LILLEY.

The

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

(7.)

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office,

Sydney, New South Wales, 7 January, 1870.

I have the honor to transmit, for the information of your Government, the accompanying memorandum, which has been drawn up by me, in concert with the Honorable Julius Vogel, acting on behalf of New Zealand, and the Honorable Charles Lilley, on behalf of your Colony, on the subject of the relations of the Australasian Colonies with each other, and with foreign countries. I shall be glad to be informed, at your earliest convenience, of the decision at which your Government may arrive.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

P.S.—I am glad to say that, at the meeting of our Cabinet, held this day, the enclosed memorandum was approved.—JOHN R.

[Enclosure.]

Memorandum agreed between the Governments of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland.

1st. To address an earnest representation to the Secretary of State for the Colonies respecting the disadvantage under which the Australasian Colonies labour in regard to the doubts which exist as to their power to make mutual arrangements for the interchange, duty free, of their several products and manufactures, as also in respect of the doubts which exist as to their powers to enter into conventions with foreign countries; to point out that Canada, for a lengthened period, has been placed on a more favourable footing; to urge that all doubts as to the rights to exercise such powers be removed, and that in entering into arrangements with foreign countries the Imperial Government should aid the Colonies. That such aid should be immediately granted in respect to endeavouring to negotiate with the United States for the introduction, into that country, duty free, of wool, the product of the Australasian Colonies.

2nd. That direct representations be made to the United States, with the object of inducing that country to admit wool, the product of the Australasian Colonies, duty free.

3rd. That a representation be made to the Imperial Government, urging the desirability of legislative provision to enable trustees to invest in the Government securities of the Australasian Colonies.

4th. That the Crown Law Officers of the Colonies should be moved to enter into correspondence, with the view of determining the means best calculated to facilitate the apprehension of offenders when they pass from one Colony to another.

5th. That copies of this agreement be transmitted to the Colonies of Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, in the hope that they will aid in promoting the several objects it embraces.

6th. It is agreed by the Honorable John Robertson, of New South Wales, the Honorable Julius Vogel, of New Zealand, and the Honorable Charles Lilley, of Queensland, that the views embodied in this memorandum shall be submitted to their respective Cabinets for approval.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

JULIUS VOGEL.

CHARLES KNIGHT.

For CHARLES LILLEY,

(By his authority—JOHN ROBERTSON.)

Sydney, 6 January, 1870.

The Colonial Secretary, Queensland, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 3 February, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch, No. 7, of the 7th January, 1870, respecting the relations of the Australian Colonies to each other and to foreign countries, in matters of trade, commerce, and others of importance therein mentioned, and to inform you that the Government of this Colony agrees to the terms of the memorandum enclosed therein.

It does not clearly appear whether the several representations to the Imperial Government and United States are to be made jointly by the three Colonies of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland, or otherwise.

I assume, though it is not stated in the memorandum, that your Colony will communicate with Victoria, Tasmania, and South Australia, on these subjects, with the view of obtaining their aid.

It seems to this Government, also, that it may be advisable, in the first instance, in respect of the proposed communications with foreign Governments, to consult the Imperial Government, in order to obtain its sanction.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES LILLEY.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

(7-2.)

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office,

Sydney, New South Wales, 7 January, 1870.

I have the honor to forward the Memorandum of Agreement concerning postal service by way of Torres Straits and San Francisco, entered into by me with the Postmaster General of New Zealand and yourself, and to request that you will have the goodness to submit the same for the approval of your Cabinet, as therein agreed.

2. It will be at once observed that, with regard to the projected Californian service, it is not provided in the agreement that your Colony is to possess a controlling power in the arrangement or conduct of the service, as we are unable to obtain the concurrence of the New Zealand Delegates to such a stipulation. The Government of this Colony will not, however, take any action in reference to this service without your approval of any arrangement that may be proposed, and will in all respects consider that, as between these two Colonies, Queensland shall possess equal rights and privileges with New South Wales.

3. It will be also observed that, by joining in the Californian Line, New South Wales and Queensland obtain the advantage of the assistance of New Zealand in the Torres Straits Line to the amount of £10,000 per annum, whilst the maximum amount agreed to be contributed by New South Wales and Queensland is but £6,250 each.

4. My colleagues have this day, in Cabinet, approved of the agreement, and I shall be glad to be informed, without delay, when your Cabinet does likewise.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

MEMORANDUM CONCERNING POSTAL SERVICES.

Torres Straits Service.

THE Government of New Zealand to submit to the General Assembly of that Colony the proposal of the New South Wales and Queensland Governments, that it (the New Zealand Government) should bear one-sixth of the cost (such sixth not to exceed £10,000 per annum) of the service proposed to be started between Sydney and England via Batavia by the Torres Straits route.

The cost of the service for carrying the mails between Sydney and such port of New Zealand as may be agreed upon, to be paid by New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland, in the proportion of one-half by New Zealand, and one-half by New South Wales and Queensland,—the whole cost of the service not to exceed £5,000 per annum.

Californian Service.

In the event of New Zealand being able to contract for a service between San Francisco, Auckland, and Sydney, New South Wales and Queensland to contribute to the cost in the proportion of three-fifths by New Zealand and two-fifths by New South Wales and Queensland, provided that the cost to New South Wales and Queensland shall not exceed £10,000 per annum; provided also that it shall be a condition of the contract that the time between Sydney and Auckland, and Auckland and Sydney, shall not exceed six days, and that neither in going or returning shall the steamer be detained at Auckland longer than thirty hours.

New Zealand to make arrangements with the other Colonies for the conveyance of their mails, and pending the completion of such arrangements, the mails of those Colonies are not to be forwarded by the New South Wales Government.

If this service be commenced before the Government of New South Wales has submitted the proposal to the Parliament of that Colony, the proposal when submitted to Parliament shall involve, for any term not exceeding five years, payment from the commencement of the service; and, pending the decision of Parliament, such payment to be made for carriage of mails as may be agreed upon; but nothing contained in this memorandum shall be held to bind New Zealand to carry the mails of New South Wales free of charge, until effect is given to the proposals contained in this memorandum.

In the event of New South Wales joining in the contract for the Californian service, it is understood that such Colony shall possess, equally with New Zealand, all discretionary powers, rights, and privileges enjoyed by the last-named Colony under the contract; and, in like manner, if New Zealand join New South Wales and Queensland in contracting for the Torres Straits service, that New Zealand shall possess equally with New South Wales and Queensland, all discretionary powers, rights, and privileges enjoyed by those Colonies; and if it engages to join in the contract before the contract is resolved on, that it shall possess an equal voice in determining the terms of such contract.

This memorandum to be considered provisional, and subject to the approval of the Parliament in each Colony named above; and in the event of Parliament not sanctioning it, the arrangement to be null and void.

It is agreed by the Honorable John Robertson, of New South Wales, the Honorable Julius Vogel, of New Zealand, and the Honorable Charles Lilley, of Queensland, that the views embodied in this memorandum shall be submitted to their respective Cabinets for approval.

Sydney, 14 January, 1870.

THE New Zealand delegates are leaving immediately. Can you permit me to say that your Government accepts the arrangement entered into, intimated by my letter of the 7th instant? Please reply at once.

Telegram from the Colonial Treasurer, Queensland, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

Brisbane, 25 January, 1870.

THE telegraphic memoranda are approved on condition that the subsidy towards the New Zealand cable be payable only whilst the cable is in working order. The memoranda as to trade, &c., with foreign countries, are approved in their entirety. The memo. as to Torres Straits and Californian mails, approved on condition that the delivery of the Queensland portion of the mail via California be a charge on the service. Letter by mail.

The Colonial Secretary, Queensland, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 3 February, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the copy of the memorandum of agreement between myself and the representatives of your Colony and of New Zealand, respecting the Torres Straits and San Francisco Postal Services, together with the appended notification of the assent of your Cabinet thereto.

2. Having submitted the same to my colleagues, I am enabled to communicate to you their assent to the agreement in its entirety, so far as regards the Torres Straits service.

3. With respect to the service via California, our Cabinet feels that Queensland should be placed in the same position as New Zealand will be on the Torres Straits line, viz., that a provision should be made for sending on to Brisbane the Queensland mails delivered in Sydney from San Francisco.

You will observe that Queensland is to contribute to the cost of carrying to New Zealand the mails delivered in Sydney via Torres Straits. The further provision proposed seems therefore so manifestly required to equalize the bargain, that I do not doubt your Colony, and probably New Zealand, will at once concede it. On behalf of Queensland, we think that the delivery of the mails via San Francisco should be a charge on the service, and our assent to this portion of the agreement is founded on the last-mentioned condition becoming part of the contract.

With the modification above suggested, and relying on the assurance in your despatch, No. 7, of the 8th January—that the Government of your Colony will not take any action in reference to the Californian service without the approval by this Government of any arrangements that may be proposed, and that Queensland shall possess equal rights and privileges with New South Wales,—I am requested to intimate to you the adhesion of this Government to the contract, until the views of our Parliament can be ascertained. In the meantime we shall be glad to be favored with the opinion of yourself and your colleagues on the proposed addition to the terms of the agreement.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES LILLEY.

P.S.—I have the honor to request that you will have the kindness to acknowledge the receipt of the papers herein enclosed, as also of the other documents forwarded to you under blank cover on Friday last.

The Colonial Treasurer, New Zealand, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Sydney, 12 January, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th instant, in which you forward the memorandum (signed by the parties agreeing to the same) on the subject of the relations of the Australian Colonies with each other and with foreign countries, together with a copy of the memorandum concerning the Torres Straits and Californian Postal Services, both of which documents you inform me have been duly agreed to by your Cabinet.

I beg also to acknowledge receipt, under blank cover, on Friday last, of the undermentioned documents:—

Memorandum concerning telegraphic communication between Australia, New Zealand, and Great Britain, with four enclosures.

Memorandum concerning Torres Straits and Californian Postal Services.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Delegates of the New Zealand Government,—Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales, 10 January, 1870.

With reference to the arrangements which I had the honor to make with yourselves and with Mr. Lilley, the delegate of Queensland, in connection with the proposed establishment of telegraphic communication with Europe via Java, I have now the honor to point out that it is quite possible, though not probable, that Mr. Fraser may not succeed in his negotiations with the Netherlands Government, and that that Government may prefer dealing directly with the Australasian Colonies. It should therefore of course be understood that it is the line proposed by Mr. Fraser that we are pledged to take up, and not necessarily that we should arrange with Mr. Fraser himself, who, however, it is hoped, will not be objected to by the Netherlands Government.

2. So soon as the Cabinets of New Zealand and Queensland shall have intimated their approval of the memorandum already agreed to by the delegates, it will be desirable that this Government should address a letter to the Dutch authorities, to enquire in what position the negotiation between them and Mr. Fraser stands; to enclose for their information a copy of the arrangement made between New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland, the papers received from Mr. Fraser, &c.; and to intimate that, in the event of any insuperable objection on their part to treat with Mr. Fraser arising, an arrangement might be made so as to admit of an agreement being entered into between the Dutch Government and the Governments of the three Colonies, without Mr. Fraser's intervention.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales, 10 January, 1870.

With reference to the arrangements made by me with Mr. Lilley, acting on behalf of your Government, and with Messrs. Vogel and Knight, the delegates of New Zealand, in connection with the proposed establishment of telegraphic communication with Europe via Java, I have now the honor to point out that it is quite possible, though not probable, that Mr. Fraser may not succeed in his negotiations with the Netherlands Government, and that that Government may prefer dealing directly with the Australasian Colonies. It should therefore of course be understood that it is the line proposed by Mr. Fraser that we pledged to take up, and not necessarily that we should arrange with Mr. Fraser himself, who, however, it is hoped, will not be objected to by the Netherlands Government.

2. So soon as your Cabinet and that of New Zealand shall have intimated their approval of the memorandum already agreed to by the delegates, it will be desirable that this Government should address a letter to the Dutch authorities, to enquire in what position the negotiation between them and Mr. Fraser stands; to enclose for their information a copy of the arrangement made between New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland, the papers received from Mr. Fraser, &c.; and to intimate that, in the event of any insuperable objection on their part to treat with Mr. Fraser arising, an arrangement might be made so as to admit of an agreement being entered into between the Dutch Government and the Governments of the three Colonies, without Mr. Fraser's intervention.

The Colonial Secretary, Queensland, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 3 February, 1870.

In further reference to your despatches of the 7th, 8th, and 10th ultimo, respectively, and to the memoranda which accompanied them, upon the subject of the proposed postal and telegraphic services with Europe, I have the honor to request that you will be good enough to inform me more definitely whether the necessary action thereon will be taken by the three Governments of New Zealand, New South Wales, and Queensland jointly, or by the Government of one of them only; and if so, by which.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES LILLEY.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Hon. Julius Vogel, Esq., Sydney.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 10 January, 1870.

I have the honor to request that you will favor me with a copy of the postal contract entered into by you with Mr. Hall, the United States Commercial Agent at this port.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

The Hon. Julius Vogel, Esq., to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Sydney, 12 January, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of yesterday's* date, asking for a copy of the agreement entered into between myself, on behalf of the New Zealand Government, and Mr. H. H. Hall, for a mail service between San Francisco, New Zealand, and Sydney; and, in reply, to inform you that a copy of that document has been forwarded to you under cover of a letter of even date herewith.

I have, &c.,

JULIUS VOGEL.

* This refers to letter of 10th January.

The Hon. Julius Vogel, Esq., to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

SIR,

Sydney, 12 January, 1870.

It will take some time before any effect can be given to the proposal that New South Wales and New Zealand should mutually aid in subsidizing the proposed Torres Straits and Californian services; in the meantime the latter will I hope be started. I trust therefore you will see it is only right that, pending any permanent arrangement, New South Wales should contribute, month by month, at the rate agreed on, namely, £10,000 for twelve services to and from San Francisco. I shall be glad to learn that you will do so. You will observe by the contract, copy of which I forward to you, that New South Wales' contribution is to cover that of Queensland, with which Colony you will be able to make such arrangement as you may agree on for the carriage of its mails.

I have, &c.,

JULIUS VOGEL, Postmaster General.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT made the eleventh day of January in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy between the Honorable Julius Vogel the Postmaster General of the Colony of New Zealand and a Member of the Executive Council of the said Colony acting as Agent for and on behalf of the Government of the said Colony hereinafter called the Postmaster General of the one part and Hayden Hezekiah Hall of twenty-one Bridge-street Sydney in the Colony of New South Wales Esquire United States Consul hereinafter called "the Contractor" of the other part witnesseth that the said contractor doth hereby for himself his heirs executors and administrators covenant and agree with the said Postmaster General his successors and assigns. And the said Postmaster General for himself as Postmaster General his successors and assigns and for the said Government of New Zealand doth hereby covenant and agree with the said contractor his executors and administrators in manner following that is to say:—

Contractor to provide steam-vessels to convey mails monthly from and to Sydney and San Francisco via Auckland and Honolulu.	That the said contractor shall every month during this agreement at the times hereinafter mentioned run a full power steam-vessel efficient in all respects from Sydney to Auckland in New Zealand and thence to Honolulu direct without touching at any intermediate port or place except with the consent in writing of the said Postmaster General and shall thereby convey Her Majesty's mails. And also shall at his own cost convey or provide for the conveyance of such mails from Honolulu to San Francisco by proper and efficient steam-vessels and shall in like manner provide for the conveyance of such mails from San Francisco to Honolulu aforesaid. And shall also every month in like manner run a full power steam-vessel as aforesaid from Honolulu to Auckland aforesaid direct and thence to Sydney and shall thereby convey Her Majesty's mails.
To convey all mails &c.	That the said contractor shall at all times during the continuance of this agreement as hereinafter provided put on board and carry by such steam-vessel all Her Majesty's mails which shall at any time by the said Postmaster General or any of his officers or agents be required to be conveyed by the said steam-vessels respectively whether the said mails shall belong to New Zealand or to any other colony place or country. But no mails other than those belonging to New Zealand shall be received on board or carried in the said steam-vessels without the written consent or directions of the said Postmaster General or of some officer or agent acting under his directions or in his behalf.
Name of mail line.	That the steam-vessels engaged in carrying out this agreement shall be called "The Californian, New Zealand, and Australian Mail Line of Steam Packets" and shall be so described in all advertisements and public announcements referring to them.
Steamers liable to be surveyed &c.	That nothing in this agreement contained shall exempt the steam-vessels engaged in carrying out this agreement from being subject to all the laws and regulations in force for the time-being in New Zealand relative to the survey and inspection of passenger steamers.
Time in which mails to be delivered.	That the times within which the said contractor shall convey or cause to be conveyed the said mails by the said steam-vessels between Sydney and San Francisco and deliver the same shall be as follows:— From the time of leaving Sydney to the time of arriving in Auckland and from the time of leaving Auckland to the time of arriving in Sydney each way respectively not to exceed one hundred and forty-four hours. From the time of leaving Auckland to the time of arriving in San Francisco including stoppage at Honolulu and from the time of leaving San Francisco to the time of arriving in Auckland including stoppage at Honolulu respectively not to exceed six hundred hours each way for the first six voyages and for every subsequent voyage not to exceed five hundred and seventy-six hours each way respectively.
Detention at Auckland not to exceed thirty hours.	That subject to the time-table the said steam-vessels except as hereinafter provided shall not be detained at the port of Auckland beyond thirty hours.

That

That the provision contained herein respecting the time within which mails are to be carried between Sydney and Auckland and between Auckland and Sydney shall cease at the expiration of six months from the twenty-sixth day of March next unless the Governments of New South Wales and Victoria or either of them within that time shall agree with the said Postmaster General to pay to him on behalf of the said contractor a sum or sums of money not less than ten thousand pounds per annum from New South Wales and not less than six thousand pounds per annum from Victoria and which the said Postmaster General is hereby authorized to accept on behalf of the said contractor by such payments and in such manner as the said Postmaster General may think fit: Provided that in case the Government of New South Wales should decline to contribute it shall be optional with the said Postmaster General and the said contractor to agree to substitute Melbourne for Sydney as the port of departure: And provided also that if the Government of New South Wales shall contribute ten thousand pounds as aforesaid the same shall include Queensland and the carriage of the mails of that Colony which shall for the purposes of this agreement be in such case considered as part of the mails of New South Wales and the Government of New South Wales shall in such case be at liberty to arrange with the Government of Queensland in the matter in such way as they may think fit.

Service between Sydney and Auckland only to be of six months' duration unless New South Wales or Victorian Government contribute to subsidy.

That all money which shall be received by the New Zealand Government from other countries or colonies by way of contribution or subsidy to the said mail service shall be paid to the said contractor: Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent the said Postmaster General from entering into any arrangement with Great Britain or the United States of America or any foreign country or colony thereof for the carriage of mails on such terms as he may agree upon.

All contributions received by New Zealand Government from other countries to be paid over to contractor. Time-table.

That the said steam-vessels shall on such days and at such hours as are mentioned in the table hereto annexed (until and unless any other days and hours shall under the power herein in that behalf contained be substituted in lieu thereof) put to sea from and arrive at the ports or places respectively mentioned in such table.

Time-table may be altered by Postmaster General.

That if at any time the said Postmaster General shall desire to alter the particular days times and hours of departure from and arrival at any ports or places specified in the table above referred to he shall be at liberty to do so on giving reasonable notice to the said contractor and the times so altered shall be observed and kept as if the same had been originally named in the table hereto annexed.

That the said Postmaster General shall pay to the said contractor for every complete period of twenty-four hours by which the said mails shall be delivered either way between Auckland and San Francisco within the time hereby covenanted for delivery of the same a premium of thirty pounds.

Bonus for quick delivery of mails between Auckland and San Francisco. Penalty for late delivery of mails.

That if on any of the first six voyages the said contractor shall fail to deliver the said mails either at Auckland or San Francisco in six hundred hours from the time of departure from the other of those ports or on any subsequent voyage within five hundred and seventy-six hours he shall forfeit and pay to Her Majesty her heirs and successors on behalf and for the benefit of the postal revenue of the Colony of New Zealand a sum of thirty pounds for every complete period of twenty-four hours beyond the periods at which such mails should be delivered under this agreement as aforesaid.

That if the said contractor shall fail to deliver such mails as he may under this agreement be required to carry between Auckland and Sydney either at Auckland or Sydney in one hundred and forty-four hours from the time of departure from the other of those ports he shall forfeit and pay to Her Majesty her heirs and successors on behalf of the Postmaster General or his successors a sum of thirty pounds for every complete period of twenty-four hours beyond the periods at which such mails should be delivered under this agreement. But after the first six months' payment of such last-mentioned sum is to be enforced only in case the New South Wales Government and Victorian Government or either of them make payment as herein provided to the said Postmaster General on behalf of the said contractor for the conveyance of their mails and in any case the penalty above mentioned shall only be enforced by the said Postmaster General at the instance of the Government of New South Wales or Victoria.

Ditto between Auckland and Sydney.

That the said contractor or his agents shall receive and allow to remain on board or procure to be allowed to remain on board of each of the said steam-vessels while employed in carrying out this agreement and also while remaining at any of the ports or places named in the table appended hereto whether with or without mails on board an officer in the service of the said Postmaster General to have charge of the said mails and in case of the Governments of New South Wales and Victoria or either of them contributing towards the cost of the said mail service then one or both of them to be allowed to have a mail agent on board on the same terms and conditions as in the case of the officer in charge of the New Zealand mails: Provided that one such mail agent or officer may be employed by and represent all or any of the Governments whose mails shall be conveyed under this agreement.

Passage to be provided for mail agent.

That suitable first class accommodation shall be provided by the said contractor for every such mail officer or agent and that the passage money for each such mail officer or agent shall be at the lowest current rates for return passages not to exceed thirty-five pounds between Sydney and San Francisco and thirty pounds between Auckland and San Francisco and vice versa and that every such mail officer or agent shall be recognized and considered by the said contractor his officers agents and seamen as the agent of the said Postmaster General in charge of mails and as having full authority in all cases to require a due and strict performance of this agreement on the part of the said contractor his officers servants and agents and to determine so far as relates to the levying of penalties every question whenever arising relative to the time of proceeding to sea or putting into harbour or the necessity of stopping to assist any vessel in distress or to save human life: Provided however that the words "to determine 'every question'" shall not confer upon such officer the power of control over the commander of the steam-vessel conveying the said mails: And provided that in case at any time there shall be more than one such mail officer or agent as aforesaid the authority as aforesaid of such one only shall be paramount as the said Postmaster General shall notify to the said commander as having paramount authority.

To provide suitable accommodation for mail agent.

That in this agreement the term "mails" shall be taken to comprehend all letters boxes bags or packets of letters newspapers books or printed papers sent by the post to whatever country or place they may be addressed or in whatever country or place they may have originated and all empty bags and other stores used or to be used in carrying on the post office service which shall be sent by or to from any post office.

Interpretation of term "mails."

That the whole of the postage of all mails conveyed in the vessels employed under this agreement whether carried from or out of Her Majesty's dominions or otherwise shall belong to Her Majesty and shall be at the disposal of the said Postmaster General.

Postage to belong to Her Majesty.

That the said contractor shall not assign underlet or dispose of this agreement or any part thereof without the consent of the said Postmaster General signified in writing under his hand or under the hand of the Secretary of the Post Office of New Zealand and that in case of the same or any part thereof being assigned underlet or otherwise disposed of or of any gross or habitual breach of this agreement or any covenant matter or thing herein contained on the part of the said contractor or his agents or servants and whether there be or be not any penalty or sum of money payable by the said contractor for any breach it shall be lawful for the said Postmaster General if he shall think fit (and notwithstanding there may or may not have been any former breach of this agreement) by writing under his hand or under the hand of the Secretary of the Post Office in New Zealand to determine this agreement without any previous notice to the said contractor or his agents nor shall the said contractor be entitled to any compensation in respect of such determination.

Contract not to be assigned or underlet. Contract may be terminated without notice for gross breaches of agreement or habitual neglect.

That in consideration of the covenants and agreements hereby entered into by the said contractor and of the due performance thereof by him there shall be paid to him during the continuance of this agreement in respect of the services specified herein the sum of fifteen thousand pounds for twelve complete services to and from San Francisco and Sydney or the sum of one thousand two hundred and fifty pounds for each complete service to and from Sydney and San Francisco payment for each complete service as aforesaid to be made on the return of each vessel from San Francisco to Sydney: Provided that on the written request of the said contractor the said Postmaster General may at his option and on such conditions as he may think fit make payments in advance on account of sums becoming due for such services but such payments shall not in any way affect the liability of the said contractor to carry out the provisions of this agreement.

Payment for services.

That during the continuance of this agreement and so long as the same shall be faithfully carried out by the said contractor no charges for pilotage lighthouse dues or wharfage shall be made at the port of Auckland for any of the steam-vessels carrying the mails referred to herein.

Port charges at Auckland to be remitted.

That all payments of premiums for the delivery of mails in less than contract time and of sums of money by way of penalty for delay in the delivery of mails for other breaches of this agreement shall be made every six months.

Penalties and bonuses to be settled half-yearly. Duration of agreement.

That this agreement is to continue for twelve months from the twenty-sixth day of March next (that is to say) until the completion of twelve services to and from Sydney and San Francisco: Provided that at the option of the said contractor notice of which must be given to the said Postmaster General in writing within six months from the date of the first steamer leaving Sydney this agreement may be continued for a further term of four years.

That if the said contractor shall at any day or hour appointed in the time-table hereto annexed and at any of the ports or places appointed or named in the said time-table or at any of the several ports or places at which an efficient vessel ought to

to be provided as aforesaid fail to put or cause to be put an efficient steam-vessel to sea in accordance with the terms of this agreement then and so often as the same shall happen the said contractor shall forfeit and pay unto Her Majesty her heirs and successors for the benefit of the postal revenue of the Colony of New Zealand the sum of two pounds per hour for the first twenty-four hours and a further sum of thirty shillings per hour for every hour after the first twenty-four hours which shall elapse until such a vessel actually proceeds to sea on her voyage in performance of this agreement: Provided that the payment of any such sum shall not be enforced against the said contractor if it be shewn by him to the satisfaction of the said Postmaster General that the default has arisen from causes over which he had not and could not have control.

To provide safe place for mails &c.

That the said contractor shall provide or cause to be provided on board all steam-vessels to be employed or used under this agreement between Sydney and San Francisco a proper safe and convenient place of deposit for the mails with secure fastenings lock and key and to the satisfaction of the said Postmaster General. And also that the said contractor shall provide on board each of the steam-vessels to be employed under this agreement in the service between Sydney New Zealand and Honolulu all necessary and suitable accommodation including lighting to the satisfaction of the said Postmaster General for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails thereby conveyed. And on being required by such Postmaster General so to do will at his own cost erect on each of such vessels a separate and convenient room for such purpose. And that the crew of each of the said vessels shall assist in conveying the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room (if any) to be erected as aforesaid or other separate sorting-room used as such for the time-being.

Masters &c. to take due care of mails &c.

That as often as the said Postmaster General during the continuance of this agreement shall think fit to entrust the charge or custody of the mails to the master or commander of any vessel to be employed for the time-being in the performance of this agreement and in all cases where the officer or other person appointed to have charge of the mails shall be absent the master or commander of such vessel shall without any charge other than that herein provided to be paid to the said contractor take due care of and the said contractor shall be responsible for the receipt safe custody and delivery of the said mails. And each of such masters or commanders shall make the usual oath or declaration or declarations required or which may hereafter be required by such Postmaster General in such and similar cases and furnish such journals returns and information and perform such services as such Postmaster General or his agents may require. And every such master or commander or officer duly authorized by him having the charge of mails shall himself immediately on the arrival of any such vessel at any of the said ports or places deliver from the vessel's side at such time and place as the postmaster or other person as next after mentioned shall require all mails for such port or place into the hands of such postmaster or such other person at the said port or place as the said Postmaster General shall authorize to receive the same receiving in like manner all the returns or other mails to be forwarded in due course.

To attend to orders &c. in landing mails &c.

That the said contractor and all commanding and other officers of the vessels employed in the performance of this agreement and all agents seamen and servants of the said contractor shall at all times punctually attend to the orders and directions of the said Postmaster General his officers or agents as to the mode time and place of landing delivering and receiving of mails subject as herein mentioned.

Penalties to be considered as stipulated damages.

That all and every the sums of money hereby stipulated to be paid to the said contractor unto Her Majesty her heirs and successors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages whether any damage or loss have or have not been sustained and shall and may be retained by the said Postmaster General out of any moneys payable or which may thereafter become payable to the said contractor or the payment may be enforced as a debt due to Her Majesty with full costs of suit at the discretion of the said Postmaster General: Provided however that the payment by the said contractor of any sums of money (by way of penalties) shall not in any manner prejudice the right of the said Postmaster General to treat the failure (if any) on the part of the said contractor to put to sea with a proper vessel or to perform any voyage at or within the times in the said table respectively mentioned as a breach of this agreement.

Detention of mail steamers by Government.

That should it be deemed by the said Postmaster General his officers or agents requisite for the public service that any vessel to be employed under this agreement should at any time or times delay her departure from any port from which the mails are to be conveyed under this agreement beyond the period appointed for her departure therefrom the said Postmaster General his officers or agents shall have power to order such delay (not however exceeding twelve hours) by letter addressed by him or them to and delivered to the master of any such vessel or the person acting as such or left for him on board the vessel not less than six hours before the period appointed for her departure and such letter shall be deemed a sufficient authority for such detention but if by reason of such detention the steamer so detained should fail to deliver the mail at the appointed time and place then the penalties herein provided for such failure shall not be enforced.

Postmaster General may delegate his power. Security for fulfilment of agreement.

That it shall be lawful for the said Postmaster General at any time and from time to time to delegate any of the powers vested in him by virtue of these presents to such person or persons as he shall think fit.

That for the purpose of ensuring the due fulfilment of this agreement by the said contractor or his agents he shall lodge the sum of one thousand pounds with the Oriental Banking Corporation in Sydney to the credit of the Postmaster General of New Zealand. And that of this sum five hundred pounds shall be returned on the departure from Sydney of the first steam-vessel in pursuance of this contract and the remaining five hundred pounds shall be returned on the completion to the satisfaction of the said Postmaster General of this agreement: Provided that if this agreement should be continued beyond the first term of twelve months the said Postmaster General may on the commencement of the extended agreement and on receipt of other satisfactory security to the extent of one thousand pounds return the balance of five hundred pounds aforesaid.

Postmaster General to be sole judge as to breaches &c.

That the said Postmaster General shall be the sole judge as to whether any breaches of this contract have arisen from causes beyond the control of the said contractor or his agents and whether any or what amount of penalty shall be deducted from the said sum of one thousand pounds deposited as aforesaid.

In witness whereof the said parties to these presents have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first before written.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT made the eleventh day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy between the Corporation of the Australian Steam Navigation Company carrying on business in Sydney and elsewhere in the Australasian Colonies and hereinafter designated "owners" of the one part and Hayden Hezekiah Hall of Sydney aforesaid merchant Consul for the United States of America and hereinafter designated "charterer" of the other part whereby it is agreed as follows:—

1. That the said owners will let and the said charterer will hire the steamships "Balclutha" and "Rangatira" or two other vessels of a like class accommodation and tonnage at the option of the said owners and that the said vessels shall be seaworthy and be furnished with all such equipments tackle apparel and furniture as are and have been ordinarily used by them as seagoing passenger vessels and shall be provided with the usual certificate for such vessels from the Steam Navigation Board of New South Wales required by the laws of the said Colony and that the first of such vessels in such condition and with such certificate shall be handed over to the said charterer on or before the twenty-sixth day of March next and the other in like manner on or before the twenty-seventh day of April next.
 2. That such charter shall continue for the term of five years from the date when the first of such steam-ships shall be handed over to the said charterer but after the expiration of three calendar months from such date shall be determinable upon either party giving three calendar months' notice in writing of intention to determine the same it being agreed between the said parties that this charter is for six calendar months certain at the least.
 3. The charterer shall provide and pay for the masters engineers and crew of the said vessels and all port charges wages provisions and fuel and all other ordinary necessities expenses of working and navigating the chartered vessels but the board of directors or manager of the said company shall have the approval of the masters and engineers of the same and if any master or engineer shall be appointed without such approval he shall be forthwith removed if his removal be requested by such board of directors or manager of the said company. The master engineers and crew to be the servants of the charterer and not of the owners the said charterer being responsible for all their actions.
 4. That an inventory of the said ships shall be made and shall at the time of handing the same over be signed by the charterer together with a receipt for the articles named therein and that all articles contained in the said inventory shall be returned in good order and condition reasonable wear and tear excepted by the charterer on the said ships being respectively returned to the said owners.
 5. That all repairs required for the said ships shall be executed by the owners at their own expense while such ships may be in the port of Sydney but any repairs which may be effected by the charterer while such ships shall be absent from Sydney shall be done at his own costs and the said owners shall not be bound to reimburse him such costs.
 6. That to prevent the said ships from being arrested at any port or charged or made liable for the payment of wages or any other expenses the said charterer agrees to pay the masters engineers and crew one month's pay in advance before the said vessels leave Sydney on each voyage by advance notes payable at the offices of the owners three days after ships' leaving Auckland for such seamen as are certified as having sailed in the ship balance if any to be handed to charterer the amount of such advances to be deposited with the manager by the charterer before the commencement of the voyage and to give an order on the New Zealand Government to hold at the disposal of the said owners such balance of subsidy payable to the charterer on each voyage or may remain in their hands such order to be returned so soon as the owners shall have ascertained after the termination of such voyage that the conditions of these presents have been complied with by the said charterer and that there are no claims affecting the said vessels.
 7. The vessels hereby chartered shall not be run or employed by the said charterer except between the ports of Sydney in New South Wales Auckland in New Zealand and Honolulu in the Sandwich Islands.
 8. That the said charterer shall not carry any passengers or cargo between the port of Sydney and any port or ports in New Zealand to be landed at such port or ports or vice versa and for every passenger so carried in contravention of this article shall pay to the said owners twenty-five pounds and for every ton or part of a ton of cargo five pounds as and for liquidated damages.
 9. For the use of the said vessels respectively the said charterer shall pay to the said owners the sum of five hundred pounds in respect of each vessel upon her being handed over and a further sum of five hundred pounds in respect of each vessel every thirty days after the same has been handed over so long as this charter shall continue all such payments to be made in Sydney.
 10. The said charterer shall redeliver the said vessels to the owners in Sydney and shall pay a rateable proportion of the charter money for any time during which such vessels respectively shall be detained after the determination of the charter by effluxion of time or by such notice as aforesaid.
- In witness whereof the seal of the said Australasian Steam Navigation Company has been affixed and the said Hayden Hezekiah Hall has hereunto set his hand and seal the day and year first above written.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office,

Sydney, New South Wales, 13 January, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of yesterday's date, transmitting copy of the contract entered into between yourself and Mr. H. H. Hall, for the proposed Californian postal service, and suggesting that, pending any permanent arrangement for subsidizing the same, New South Wales should contribute, month by month, at the rate agreed on, namely—£10,000 for twelve services to and from San Francisco.

2. In reply, I have the honor to inform you that this Government is not in possession of authority from Parliament admitting of a compliance with the above suggestion, at any rate as submitted in your letter under acknowledgment.

3. In asking Parliament to sanction the arrangements already provisionally made between the Colonies of New South Wales, New Zealand, and Queensland, this Government will include provision for the whole period, from the date on which the service may commence; and in the meantime the Postmaster General will be asked to give, by departmental arrangement, whatever allowance he can fairly and legally make for the transmission of the mails.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ROBERTSON.

The Principal Under Secretary to the Secretary to the General Post Office.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 13 January, 1870.

With reference to the arrangements provisionally made with the Colonies of New Zealand and Queensland, for the establishment of postal communication with California, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to state that, in asking Parliament to sanction those arrangements, it is intended to include provision for the whole period from the date on which the service may have commenced, and to request that you will invite the Postmaster General to have the goodness to give, in the meantime, by departmental arrangement, whatever allowance can be fairly and legally made for the transmission of the mails by the line referred to.

I have, &c.,

HENRY HALLORAN.

MEMORANDUM.

As I am about to leave the Government, I think it desirable that I should say that, with regard to the postal service via Torres Straits, it seems to me desirable the Governments interested in it should obtain, if possible, a contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. That Company has already the Suez line, so called, but which, for my purpose in this paper, I will call the southern line. If they could be induced to take up also the Torres Straits line, five first-class ships could perform the duty for both lines, while if another Company is introduced each would require three ships. The difference of cost must be at once obvious.

I have already spoken to Mr. Moore, the agent for the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, on the matter, and he has addressed (I understand) his principals favorably on the subject. It would be well therefore to keep this phase of the matter in mind. It may be, however, that the Australasian Steam Navigation Company and Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company may arrange for the services, as I am aware that some negotiation is going on between them in connection with the line via New Zealand to California; and, if not, the business at present engaged in by the Australasian Steam Navigation Company, of direct communication to Townsville, might facilitate their taking up the Torres Straits line.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office,

Sydney, New South Wales, 28 January, 1870.

I have the honor to forward herewith, for the information of your Government, copy of a telegram which I have received from the Colonial Treasurer of Queensland, intimating the approval, by the Government of that Colony, on certain conditions, of the propositions submitted to it relative to telegraphic communication, trade with foreign countries, and the Torres Straits and Californian mail services.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES COWPER.

Telegram from the Colonial Treasurer, Queensland, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

Brisbane, 25 January, 1870.

THE telegraphic memoranda are approved, on condition that the subsidy towards the New Zealand cable be payable only whilst the cable is in working order. The memoranda as to trade, &c., with foreign countries are approved in their entirety. The memo. as to Torres Straits and Californian mails approved, on condition that the delivery of the Queensland portion of the mail via California be a charge on the service. Letter my mail.

The Colonial Secretary, New Zealand, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

(39.)

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Wellington, 14 February, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 28, of the 28th ultimo, forwarding copy of a telegram from the Colonial Treasurer, Queensland, intimating the approval of the Government of that Colony, on certain conditions, of the propositions submitted to it, relative to telegraphic communication, trade with foreign countries, and the Torres Straits and Californian mail services; and, in reply, to point out to you that Queensland's conditional assent is to some extent tantamount to opening up the whole question afresh. I hope, however, this will not be necessary, as on examining the two points raised, I am inclined to expect that, on reconsideration, the Government of Queensland will see fit to affix that unconditional approval to the memoranda which is necessary, according to the terms therein contained, to enable them to be forwarded to the other Colonies.

The first point, about the guarantee being payable only whilst the cable is in working order, is undoubtedly a question to be dealt with when the guarantee is given. Provision will have to be made to guard against failure of cable and to preserve it in working order; but the Colonies guaranteeing will be parties to the agreement, and this and other points will have to be dealt with by them jointly. At present there seems no object to be gained by loading the memorandum with conditions.

The second point, about the cost of service between Queensland and New South Wales, is one with which the two Colonies will have to deal. By the agreement you will observe that New South Wales and Queensland are together to contribute ten thousand pounds, it being between them a matter of arrangement what amount each shall pay. The whole money goes to the contractors, with whom the contract is already made. Similarly Victoria is asked for six thousand pounds, she having to make her own arrangements for connecting with New South Wales. When you consider that Sydney is to be the terminus of the Californian service, I am sure you will agree to make such an arrangement with Queensland as will remove the objection raised.

I have, &c.,

W. GISBORNE.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, New Zealand.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th ultimo, respecting the conditional assent of the Queensland Government to the propositions submitted to it, relative to telegraphic communication, trade with foreign countries, and the Torres Straits and Californian mail services; and, in reply, to refer you to my communication of this day's date (in answer to Mr. Fox's letter of the 19th ultimo), in which will be found an explanation of the present necessary suspension of arrangements in connection with the subject referred to.

I have the honor to signify the approval of the New Zealand Cabinet of the memorandum agreed to by the Honorable J. Robertson, the Honorable J. Vogel, Dr. Knight, and the Honorable Charles Lilley, on various subjects, including mail and telegraphic communication and commercial treaties.

I presume you will communicate copies to the other Governments in the terms of the memoranda.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Mr. Fox's letter, dated Auckland, 19 February, 1870, and intimating the approval by the New Zealand Government of the memorandum agreed to by the Honorable J. Robertson, the Honorable J. Vogel, Dr. Knight, and the Honorable Charles Lilley, on various subjects, including mail and telegraphic communication and commercial treaties.

2. In reply, I have the honor to inform you that, having intimated to the Queensland Government the substance of Mr. Vogel's letter to my predecessor on the above subject, I am now in receipt of a telegram from that Government, announcing that it withdraws entirely and conclusively from all Conference arrangements, and promising an explanation by letter, which has not yet been received.

3. On the receipt of the expected explanation, a further communication will be immediately made to you. In the meantime, however, further action as regards communication with other Governments would not be prudent.

I have, &c.,

Telegram from the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

Sydney, 18 February, 1870.

ROBERTSON has a letter from Vogel, advising against any change of arrangement lest the whole goes by the board. If you will look at the memo. of agreement, you will see that allowance cannot be made from the service for the expense to and from Brisbane. Your Colony and ours are to find £10,000; New Zealand will do no more for you than is agreed. The only course open will be for New South Wales and Queensland to divide the cost of the New South Wales and Queensland service; and Robertson has ascertained that the Australasian Steam Navigation Company will do it both ways for £200 the round voyage; condition, however, that the Company is not to be bound to start the mail sooner than thirty-six hours after arrival in Sydney. Of course whenever consistent with their work, they will start it as quickly as possible, and even detain their steamer should the Auckland mail be in sight. They insist on port dues being remitted for the voyage for ships with these mails. The rate they ask is very moderate, and to get the whole matter concluded we are willing to agree to it. Telegraph reply.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 10 March, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge your telegram of the 18th of February ultimo, to which I replied by the same medium, on the 23rd of that month, that the Government of Queensland withdrew entirely and conclusively from all the postal and telegraph arrangements. As the conditions on which the adhesion of Queensland was based were not conceded, this Colony had no hesitation in so withdrawing.

It is not improbable that at some future time, not for distant, the whole of the Australian Colonies will be enabled to meet in Conference on all subjects of mutual concernment.

The Government of Queensland cannot acknowledge the terms of your telegram, that New Zealand, in the proposed arrangements, "did anything for Queensland," but on the contrary, this Colony, by the preliminary memoranda, was required to bear its full proportion of the cost of the services.

I am instructed, on behalf of our Government, to state that we are willing to submit to Parliament the provisional arrangement between us and Mr. Robertson, entered into in August, 1869, for the Torres Straits route.

I have, &c.,

The Colonial Secretary, New Zealand, to the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

General Government Offices, Auckland, 5 April, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to remind you that you have not yet informed me whether you have made provision for contributing, month by month, pending other arrangements as suggested in my letter to you of the 10th January, 1870, for the carriage of the New South Wales mails to California at the rate of ten thousand pounds a year, being the sum agreed on by the contract as that which should be asked from New South Wales,—that Colony to make with Queensland such arrangement as the two Colonies might mutually agree on.

I understood that either the Postmaster General would arrange to make the payments out of ordinary services, or that, on Parliament meeting, special provision would be sought for the purpose.

I beg you will believe that I am not actuated by any desire to hasten your arrangements, but by the wish which you also I believe share, to do everything calculated to make a success of the new mail service from which so much benefit may result. I need not remind you that the moneys you pay will go to the contractor—not to the Government of New Zealand.

I have, &c.,

JULIUS VOGEL,
Pro Colonial Secretary.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, New Zealand.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 27 April, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th instant, and to express my regret that owing to the great pressure of Parliamentary business and the withdrawal of Mr. Robertson from the Ministry, it has not been in my power to give such attention to the question of the Californian postal service as would enable me to do more at this moment than to acknowledge your despatch.

2. At the request, however, of the Postmaster General, and that an understanding for the present transport of mails may exist, I have the honor to state, for the information of your Government, that this Colony is willing to pay to New Zealand the sum of twenty shillings per pound (being the same amount as was charged to the non-contracting Colonies during the existence of the Panama mail contract), on the weight of all New South Wales correspondence conveyed by the San Francisco mail route. It is of course to be understood that this rate of payment will only apply to correspondence received from and despatched to places beyond your Colony, and not to correspondence received from or addressed to the Colony of New Zealand.

3. With reference to the correspondence last alluded to, it should perhaps be observed that under the postal laws of this Colony the master of the steam-packet would be compelled to convey it on payment of the usual gratuity of one penny per letter being tendered to him. This gratuity however was not offered to the master of the Wonga Wonga, which left on the 26th ultimo; and it is considered advisable that it should not be offered to the masters of any of the steamers engaged in this service, pending the receipt of an intimation from your Government on the subject,—as it is understood that under the contract the master of the steamer is prohibited from receiving any payment otherwise than direct from the Government of New Zealand.

4. I have the honor to add that, in anticipation of the acquiescence of your Government in the above arrangement, this Colony will continue to despatch mails by the steamers employed in this mail service.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES COWPER.

The Secretary, General Post Office, to the Principal Under Secretary.

General Post Office, Sydney, 25 April, 1870.

SIR,

I am directed to request that you will be so good as to move the Colonial Secretary to cause a communication, with reference to previous correspondence on the subject, to be addressed to the Chief Secretary of New Zealand, intimating the willingness of the Government of this Colony to pay to New Zealand the sum of twenty shillings per pound (being the same amount as was charged to the non-contracting Colonies during the existence of the Panama mail contract), on the weight of all correspondence conveyed by the San Francisco Mail route.

2. I am to state that it will of course be understood that such payment will only apply to correspondence received from and despatched to places beyond New Zealand, and not to correspondence received from or addressed to the Colony of New Zealand.

3. With reference to the last-mentioned correspondence, it should perhaps be observed that under the postal laws of this Colony the master of the steam-packet would be compelled to convey it on payment of the usual gratuity of one penny per letter being tendered to him; but that this gratuity was not offered to the master of the Wonga Wonga, which left on the 26th ultimo, and the Postmaster General is of opinion that the gratuity should not be offered to the masters of any of the steamers until instructions are received from New Zealand, as it is understood that under the contract (of which, however, the Postmaster General has no copy), the master of the steamer is prohibited from receiving any payment otherwise than direct from the Government of New Zealand.

4. I am to add that, in anticipation of the acquiescence of the New Zealand Government in this arrangement, this Colony will continue to despatch mails by the steamers employed in this mail service.

The

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, New Zealand.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales, 5 May, 1870.

In your letter of the 5th ultimo—the receipt of which I was able, for the reasons stated, only hastily to acknowledge in my letter of the 27th of the same month, by the then outgoing mail—you remind me that I have not yet informed you whether I have made provision for contributing, month by month, pending other arrangements, as suggested in your letter of the 10th of January last, for the carriage of New South Wales mails to California, at the rate of £10,000 a year, being the sum agreed on as that which should be asked from New South Wales, that Colony making with Queensland such arrangement as the two Colonies might mutually agree upon; and you add, that it was understood that the Postmaster General would arrange to make the payments out of ordinary services, or that, on Parliament meeting, special provision would be sought for the purpose.

2. If I refer to the terms of the memorandum of agreement relating to the Californian postal service, it is to provide that no misapprehension shall arise from the expressions which I have quoted in the first paragraph of this letter from yours of the 5th ultimo.

3. It is stated in the memorandum of agreement that, in the event of New Zealand being able to contract for a service between San Francisco, Auckland, and Sydney, New South Wales and Queensland shall contribute to the cost in the proportion of three-fifths by New Zealand, and two-fifths by New South Wales and Queensland, provided that the cost to New South Wales and Queensland shall not exceed £10,000 per annum.

4. From this it will be seen that the liability in these proposed arrangements was the liability of New South Wales and Queensland equally, and not of New South Wales, on behalf of Queensland, to whose Government she should be supposed to look for her share of the expenditure.

5. With this brief preliminary explanation, I have now the honor to say, in reference to my letter intimating to you the course taken by the Queensland Government in their withdrawal from the arrangements provisionally concurred in by them, that I have, notwithstanding such expressed determination on their part, re-opened correspondence in the hope of inducing them to abide by arrangements provisionally entered into by them, approved of in the main by the Cabinet, and to be left to the approval or disapproval of their Legislature; and it is not without a hope that such communications may lead to a favourable issue.

6. The Government of Mr. Lilley has, as you are doubtless aware, after being in considerable difficulty for a length of time, succumbed; but I will take an early opportunity of renewing negotiations with the present Ministry, and I trust that the expressed determination of withdrawal may not be ultimately persevered in.

7. In the meantime the papers will be laid before our Parliament; but as it is about proroguing, nothing further is likely to take place in the matter until after its reassembling early in August next.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES COWPER.

The Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, to the Colonial Secretary, Queensland.

SIR,

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales, 6 May, 1870.

Circumstances connected with the change in this Government, not less that the great pressure of Parliamentary and public business, have, I regret to say, prevented my fully considering until now your predecessor's letter of the 10th March last, confirming the decision conveyed in his telegram of the 23rd February, that the Government of Queensland withdrew entirely and conclusively from all the postal and telegraph arrangements, and adding that, as the conditions on which the adhesion of Queensland was based were not conceded, your Government had no hesitation in so withdrawing.

2. The proposal contained in your letter of the 3rd February last, that provision should be made for sending on to Brisbane the Queensland mails delivered in Sydney from San Francisco, was certainly not acceded to in my telegram of the 18th of the same month, nor could it be claimed under the terms of the memorandum of provisional arrangements.

3. I am unable to find that this Government hesitated to abide by the conditions on which the adhesion of Queensland was based. Your Cabinet approved in the main of the proposed arrangements; and I had therefore hoped that, as provided for in the understood action to be taken, the approval or disapproval of the Parliament of your Colony would have been sought; and it is possible therefore that a misconception, on the part of your predecessor, may have led to the unexpected decision of total and conclusive withdrawal from the proposed arrangements.

4. In this light, therefore, and with the hope of a better understanding, to which mutual explanations may conduct, I desire to re-open the correspondence on a subject of so much interest to the Australasian Colonies.

5. In my telegram of the 18th February, I wrote—"Robertson has a letter from Vogel, advising against any change of arrangements," and referred you to the terms of the memorandum of agreement, that you might see that a certain allowance desired by your Government could not be claimed thereunder; and I added that New Zealand would do no more for you than was agreed upon.

6. In view, however, of the great importance of the successful completion of the proposed arrangements, to which your Government became a party, I would invite them to reconsider the grounds on which their determination of withdrawal was arrived at, and to state more fully in what manner the conditions of their adhesion to the arrangements in question have not been complied with, and further and more fully, what is desired by your Government to induce them to carry through the arrangements to which, within the consent of your Legislature, it was hoped they would have considered themselves substantially committed.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES COWPER.

Appendix I.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

BRITISH-AUSTRALIAN TELEGRAPH.

CORRESPONDENCE between the Hon. Chief Secretary and the British-Australian Telegraph Company, relative to the completion of direct Telegraphic Communication with England, together with Report by C. Todd, Esq., Superintendent of Telegraphs, on Telegraph Line from Port Augusta to Port Darwin, in connection with same.

Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company (Limited and Reduced) Offices
38, Old Broad-street, London, 22 January, 1870, E.C.

To His Excellency the Governor of South Australia,—

YOUR EXCELLENCY,

I have the honor herewith to enclose you a prospectus of the British-Australian Telegraph Company, the capital of which has been raised, and we have to-day received the order for the manufacture of the cable and land lines between Burketown in Northern Australia, and Singapore, in continuation of the direct submarine telegraph communication between that place and Great Britain.

The Board of Directors of this Company, observing that the portion of the land line to be constructed between Burketown in Queensland and Port Darwin lies across territory within the jurisdiction of the South Australian Government, beg to request the sanction of your Excellency's Government for the execution of these works.

We should also feel obliged by your Excellency affording to our agent, Commander Noel Osborn, of the Royal Navy, all facilities in the power of the South Australian Government towards the successful execution of this undertaking, and that gentleman, who will leave for Adelaide by the next mail in February, has instructions to wait personally upon your Excellency for the necessary authority.

I feel sure that your Excellency's Government will fully appreciate the importance to the community in South Australia of the telegraphic facilities with Great Britain and Europe which we are endeavouring to supply, and that we may count on every aid and support being given to us.

I have the honor, &c.,

SHERARD OSBORN, Captain, R.N., Managing Director.

SIR,

South Australia, Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 29 March, 1870.

I am directed by the Chief Secretary to inform you, that His Excellency the Governor has received your letter of the 22nd January last, on the subject of the construction of a telegraph line between Port Darwin and Burketown, and to state, in reply, that this Government will recommend Parliament to grant to the British-Australian Telegraph Company such powers as may be necessary for the erection and maintenance of the line of telegraph proposed by that Company within the South Australian territory, and will be happy to afford Commander Noel Osborn, R.N., on his arrival, every facility for the successful execution of the object of his visit.

This Government, however, would much prefer the construction of a line from Port Darwin to our northernmost telegraph station, viz., Port Augusta; and I am to intimate that they will be prepared to submit to the Legislature a measure to authorize the entering into an arrangement with the Company for direct telegraphic communication across the Continent to Port Augusta, by a line erected under a Government guarantee, or by a line constructed and worked by this Government.

I have the honor, &c.,

J. BOOTHBY, Under Secretary.

Captain Sherard Osborn, R.N., Managing Director,
Telegraph Construction Company, 38, Old Broad-street, London.

SIR,

Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 23 April, 1870.

With reference to conversations between yourself and members of the Ministry on the subject of telegraphic communication with Great Britain, as proposed by the British-Australian Telegraph Company, I have the honor, by the Chief Secretary's directions, to enclose for your information copy of my reply, of the 29th ultimo, to Captain Sherard Osborn's letter of the 22nd January last, from which you will observe that this Government have already intimated their desire to give every facility for the construction of a line from Port Darwin to Burketown; but that, preferring the erection of a direct line to Port Augusta, it was further stated that they would be prepared to submit a measure to the Legislature upon the subject.

I am now directed to intimate to you that, with further information before them, and after consideration of the report of Mr. Todd, F.R.A.S., the Superintendent of Telegraphs [copy of which is enclosed], it is the intention of this Government, on Parliament reassembling, to submit a Bill to authorize them them to construct a line of telegraph to connect Port Augusta with Port Darwin, such construction to be contingent on the British-Australian Telegraph Company guaranteeing to land their submarine cable at the latter port. The Government of Queensland will be allowed to join such line at or near the Roper.

The Government trust that the action now proposed will induce the British-Australian Telegraph Company to adhere to their decision to terminate the cable at Port Darwin, as they believe the greatest advantage will thereby be secured to the Australian Colonies and to the projectors of the undertaking.

A telegram, embodying the above, will be transmitted to the Secretary of State, with a request that a copy may be forwarded for the information of your Company.

I have, &c.,

J. BOOTHBY,

Under Secretary.

Commander Noel Osborn, R.N., Adelaide.

[F. 248/70.]

Electric Telegraph Department,
Adelaide, 18 April, 1870.

SIR,

Having had several interviews with Commander Noel Osborn, R.N., at which the objects of his mission were discussed, I have now the honor to submit the following remarks and suggestions for the early consideration of the Government, it being desirable that some decision should be arrived at before the next outgoing mail.

Commander Osborn represents the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, who have entered into contracts for the construction of the line projected by the British-Australian Telegraph Company, a copy of whose prospectus was lately received from the Agent-General, and is herewith appended.

Every offer hitherto has involved the payment of large subsidies; but, so far as appears, the proposition now submitted requires no such responsibility, but relies wholly on the traffic for payment. We have a scheme, well considered, and supported by an experienced and powerful Company, capable of carrying out the work to a successful completion. All that is asked of us are the necessary facilities for bringing the cable to our shores, land for stations, and that we should assist by defining a track for the land section.

It is no unimportant consideration that the cable to be laid will actually form a portion of an integral through line, practically under one management; free, therefore, from the complications and delays incidental to divided control and foreign operators.

Such are the altered and favourable conditions under which the scheme is now placed before us. I would, therefore, in view of the importance of telegraphic communication with our northern territory, and the desirability of opening up an overland route, strongly advise that every effort should be made before Commander Osborn leaves us to secure the landing of the cable at Port Darwin; for, although that place is named in the prospectus, I understand it is by no means certain that it will be actually taken there, unless South Australia take some steps to secure it. English capitalists have very naturally great reluctance to encounter unknown obstacles and dangers—even though the dangers may be more imaginary than real—in erecting and maintaining a land line through an unsettled country. They feel—and correctly too—that the local Governments are in a far better position for carrying out this part of the work; and it would consequently require very little argument on the part of Queensland to induce the Company to abandon all idea of a land line, and carry their cable instead direct to the shores of Carpentaria, thus excluding our northern territory from all participation in the advantages to be derived from telegraphic communication. And I would here respectfully remind you that New South Wales and Queensland mutually agree to subsidise Mr. Fraser's scheme to the extent of £17,500 per annum unaided.

Commander Osborn informs me that if the land line between Port Darwin and Burketown is finally decided on, it will take Stuart's track as far as the Roper River, where it meets Gregory's, which will then be followed to Burketown, connecting there with the Queensland system.

The question for South Australia to consider (and fortunately it is a question in which the other Colonies as well as the Company are all equally interested) is whether we shall be content to depend on so great a length of single line necessarily exposed to frequent interruption, or whether it will not be for our own interests to carry a line across the Continent, either direct to Port Darwin, or to some point on the Company's line.

If we went direct to Port Darwin, the Company would, no doubt, abandon their land section, and terminate there.

It is some eleven or twelve years since I first drew the attention of the Government to the practicability of erecting a land line from Port Augusta to the northern coast, and every addition to our knowledge of the interior since acquired has confirmed the views I then advanced.

We have then two plans to consider—First, to undertake the responsibility of a line right through from Port Augusta to Port Darwin, to be completed simultaneously, or as nearly so as possible, with the landing of the cable, i.e., by the end of 1871, the Company pledging themselves to terminate the cable there; or, second, to let the Company construct their proposed land line to Burketown, but reserve the right to connect with them at some intermediate point, either on the Roper or Nicholson.

The distances are as follows:—From Port Augusta to Port Darwin, 1,550, or say 1,600, miles; to the Roper say 1,400; to the Nicholson say 1,100.

The first plan, if Stuart's track were followed, would secure the whole of the traffic to South Australia, but there would be the disadvantage of depending on a single line, which would be obviated by going to the Nicholson, or by letting Queensland connect with us at either the Nicholson or Roper, according to the route taken.

If the second plan is adopted, we shall have to arrive at some arrangement as to the division of traffic—what messages shall go via South Australia, and what via Queensland. The simplest and, perhaps, the most equitable arrangement would be a fixed tariff common to both routes, and an equal division of receipts between South Australia and Queensland.

A careful consideration of the whole question induces me to recommend that the Government should undertake to introduce a measure, immediately after the new Parliament meets, for providing, by means of a loan, for the construction at once of a line of telegraph from Port Augusta to Port Darwin—

Commander

Commander Osborn guaranteeing on the part of the Company to terminate the cable there. This, I understand, Commander Osborn would be quite willing to do, or at least to recommend to the British-Australian Company, with whom he would communicate to save time, by the Indo-European Telegraph next mail.

To remove all cause for jealousy, as well as to provide an alternative line, Queensland should be invited to connect with us at some convenient point, and this, in my opinion, would be far better than a central station at Cooper's Creek, with radiating lines to each capital, as has been suggested, but which I have shown to involve a useless expenditure of money. The Company would, no doubt, readily fall in with this plan, as their connection with two independent routes would make them secure from interruption—an advantage of equal importance to the Colonies.

With regard to cost, it will much depend on timber being found along the route. Much of the country is, I believe, destitute of serviceable trees, and transport will therefore form a serious item. I propose, however, to use only fifteen or twenty poles to the mile, and in some places stone cairns, and by this means keep the expenditure down. It would not be safe to estimate the cost at less than £80 per mile, or say £120,000, which is the sum I would recommend should be provided by loan.

We might recoup ourselves for a portion—say one-fourth or one-third—by the sale of land in the northern territory, which the telegraph would do so much to open up.

Next, as regards maintenance—having two lines to depend upon, it would not be necessary to have stations so close together. Stations at the Blinman and Yudanamutana Mines, on the projected line of railway of 200 miles, would be supported by local traffic. As far as pastoral stations extend, we should not require an extensive staff, as we could easily arrange with the settlers to assist in keeping the line in order—i.e., to repair casualties. Three or four stations, with four men at each, would be sufficient to bridge over the interior to the Nicholson or Roper. The annual maintenance would probably not exceed £8,000.

Revenue—The Company reckon sixty-five messages each way per diem for 330 working days. My estimate, in previous reports, was only twenty-five each way, or fifty per diem; and this moderate calculation, at 10s. a message, would yield £8,250, or a little more than the cost of maintenance, leaving the interest on first outlay unprovided for. That is all our existing lines do; they barely pay their working expenses, but no one doubts that they indirectly more than repay the Colony, by the facilities they afford to the commerce of the country. It should be borne in mind that the business will yearly increase with the growth of the Colonies; and further, that the line will promote more than anything else the development of the north. There can be no doubt of its being remunerative in a few years.

We might effect an actual saving on the completion of the line by discontinuing the branch mail service to King George's Sound, which, with direct telegraphic communication with England, would no longer be so necessary. If the second plan is adopted, and we connect with the Company's line at the Nicholson, £100,000 will be sufficient; but we should, in that case, have to divide receipts with Queensland. In the one case we have the control of a main line through, with a branch to Queensland—in the other we have simply a branch line, connecting with the main, to Queensland.

Should the Government concur in the views I have expressed, I would suggest that immediate steps should be taken for obtaining from the Surveyor General a report as to the best route which his extensive knowledge of the country will enable him to furnish. He has, I think, a party of surveyors well advanced on the eastern boundary, who might perhaps be made useful as a flying expedition, with a view to discover the route offering the greatest facilities. As the cable will be laid by the end of 1871 we have no time to lose; whatever is done must be done quickly.

In conclusion, I would observe that it is next to impossible for more favourable terms to be offered to us; and if we fail to accept them we must be prepared to leave to Queensland the exclusive honor of having, through her own unaided enterprise and energy, afforded to the Australian Colonies the immense advantages of telegraphic communication with the whole civilized world. Our geographical position and our intelligence alike prohibit this.

I have the honor, &c.,

CHARLES TODD,

Superintendent of Telegraphs.

The Hon. the Treasurer.

Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 23 April, 1870.

SIR,

In reply to your inquiries, having reference to my letter of this date, I am instructed by the Chief Secretary to inform you, that if the Government construct a line of telegraph from Port Augusta to Port Darwin, they will work such line as a part of the general telegraphic system of this province, arranging, if necessary, with the British-Australian Company for the transmission of all cable messages.

I am further to state, that if the sanction of Parliament for the construction of the line be obtained, the Government will commence the work immediately on receiving a satisfactory assurance that your cable will be landed at Port Darwin; and in that case will have such line open for traffic by 1st January, 1872.

I have, &c.,

J. BOOTHBY,

Under Secretary.

Commander Noel Osborn, R.N., Adelaide.

Chief Secretary's Office, Adelaide, 23 April, 1870.

SIR,

Referring to my letter of 29th ultimo, I have the honor, by the Chief Secretary's directions, to enclose for your information copy of correspondence with Commander Noel Osborn, R.N., on the subject of a direct line of telegraph between Port Augusta and Port Darwin.

I have the honor, &c.,

J. BOOTHBY,

Under Secretary.

BRITISH-Australian Telegraph Company will relinquish Burketown line if South Australia guarantee to connect and maintain line between Ports Darwin and Augusta free of cost to Company, and to be open for traffic first December, seventy-one; rates for cable message not exceeding average of Australian rates for time-being. Your formal and binding acceptance of this offer must be sent by June mail for approval of shareholders. Pending negotiations with you, the Company will not conclude arrangements with other Australian Governments. Send me telegram in advance of June mail, in reply.

London, 9th May.

AGENT-GENERAL.

SIR,

"York Hotel," Adelaide, Saturday, 4 June, 1870.

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day received a telegram from Captain Sherard Osborn, C.B., Managing Director of the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, in answer to the proposal made by the South Australian Government on the 23rd April last, in a letter addressed to me.

I am now in a position to state that the cable will be landed at Port Darwin, if the South Australian Government will pledge themselves to have a land line open for traffic by the 1st January, 1872, connecting that port with the present system of Colonial telegraphs.

I must beg to represent, that to carry out the proposed scheme by the abovementioned date no time should be lost. If the work is commenced at once, it will be only by the most strenuous exertions that the enterprise can be accomplished within the given time; and a delay of a few weeks at the present moment, when we have such favorable news from the north, would probably necessitate the postponement of the undertaking for a whole season.

I must further beg to remind you that the Telegraphic Construction and Maintenance Company are bound by their contract with the British-Australian Telegraph Company to have their line complete by the 1st January, 1872.

I therefore should not feel justified in advising them to accept the proposal of this Government, unless I feel fully satisfied that the present system of Australian telegraphs will be connected with Port Darwin by that date.

I have, &c.,

NOEL OSBORN, Commander.

The Honorable W. Milne, Chief Secretary, South Australia.

1870.

A BILL

FOR

An Act to make provision for the Raising of Funds for the Construction of a Line of Telegraph from Port Augusta to Port Darwin.

WHEREAS it is expedient to authorize the Government to raise the sum of one hundred and twenty thousand pounds for purpose of constructing a line of telegraph from Port Augusta to Port Darwin: Preamble.
Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Province of South Australia, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly of the said Province, in this present Parliament assembled, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Port Augusta and Port Darwin Telegraph Act 1870. Short title.

2. It shall be lawful for the Treasurer for the time-being of the said Province, from time to time to issue bonds not exceeding in the whole the sum of one hundred and twenty thousand pounds for such amounts as he may deem expedient, and such bonds shall be in the form following, that is to say— Treasurer to raise £120,000.

No. £

South Australian Government Revenue Securities, Port Augusta and Port Darwin Telegraph.

I, the Treasurer of the Province of South Australia, in consideration of the sum of pounds, paid to me for the construction of a line of telegraph from Port Augusta to Port Darwin, do hereby bind myself to pay to the holder for the time-being of this present obligation the sum of pounds, and interest thereon after the rate of six pounds per centum per annum; and such interest to be payable on the first day of January and the first day of July in every year, the principal to be paid on the first day of _____ in the year one thousand eight hundred and _____ Sealed with my seal. Dated the _____ day of _____ one thousand eight hundred _____ and _____

 Signed, sealed, and delivered in the presence of _____

NOTE.—Interest payable at the Treasury in Adelaide, South Australia [or in London, or in any other agreed place to be declared at the time of issue], at such place as may be appointed by notice to be given in the South Australian Government Gazette [and in the London Gazette.]
Principal payable at the Treasury in Adelaide, or at the option of the holder [in London or other agreed place], if six months' notice of desire to that effect be given to the Treasurer, in South Australia.

Interest.	3. The said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of six pounds per centum per annum, and the interest and principal upon such bonds shall be payable and paid to the holder thereof, at such place and time as may be specified or provided therein: Provided that the principal shall not be payable or paid before the expiration of twenty-five years, and the time appointed for payment thereof shall not extend beyond fifty years from the time of the passing of this Act.
Bonds to be sold.	4. The Treasurer shall cause every bond issued under this Act to be sold for the best price, not being below par, that can be obtained for the same.
Application of moneys.	5. All sums of money raised and received by the Treasurer upon the security of the said bonds shall be carried by him to a separate and distinct account, to be applied for the purpose of carrying out the construction of a line of telegraph from Port Augusta to Port Darwin; and such sums of money shall be paid by the said Treasurer in such amounts and manner as the Governor by any warrant under his hand may, from time to time, authorize and direct.
Payment of principal and interest.	6. The said Treasurer shall, and he is hereby required, in each and every year from the first raising of any sums of money under the authority hereof, until the whole of the amount so raised, and all interest thereon, shall have been duly paid, to set apart such a sum as shall suffice to pay the amount of bonds redeemable during such year, together with interest upon all bonds which shall then bear interest; and shall apply such sum in payment of such bonds and interest as aforesaid, in manner specified in such bonds.
Governor may authorize advance.	7. The Governor may, from time to time, by warrant under his hand, authorize the Treasurer to advance and pay for the purposes of this Act any sums of money not exceeding in the whole the sum hereby authorized to be raised; and any sums of money so advanced and paid shall be retained by the Treasurer out of any moneys raised by him under the authority hereof.
Annual account yearly return of receipts and expenditure.	8. The Treasurer shall in each year cause an account in abstract to be prepared of the whole receipts and of the expenditure of all moneys advanced to him for the purposes of this Act for the year preceding, under the several distinct heads of receipts and expenditure, with a statement of the balance of such account duly audited and certified by the Auditor General; and a copy of such account shall on or before the thirty-first day of December in each year following be published in the Government Gazette .

[CONFIDENTIAL.]

[CONFIDENTIAL.]

In reference to the preceding Return, showing the apparent loss to Victoria by the adoption of a "Customs Union" as between Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, I remark that the Victorian tariff does not give an exact basis for such an estimate, as the receipts are computed from different tariffs; but inasmuch as the duties from spirits and tobacco alone (calculated on the consumption in the respective Colonies) account, to a certain extent, for the difference in revenue, no material alteration or allowance is necessary.

As regards the interchange of "native" products or manufactures "duty free," it is probable that the "apparent loss" therefrom is more likely to be under than over estimated, as the natural consequence of the relinquishment of "charges" on these items of import will result in increased importations into Victoria, and possibly displace similar articles of Home-production.

An estimate of results as regards New South Wales is not made, because, in the first place, the Customs receipts as between that Colony and Victoria approximate, and because the delegates from New South Wales decline to consider any proposition to alter or amend their tariff in the direction of the principle admitted by all the other Colonies, namely, a "discriminating duty" with respect to raw materials for manufacture and on manufactured goods. Perseverance in the attempt to agree, therefore, as between New South Wales and the other Colonies represented, has been limited to the effort to concur in rates of duty on imports liable to a "fixed" duty, such as "spirits," "tobacco," "tea," "sugar," "wines," "beer," &c.; and, with the exception of the duty on sugar, an accord seems practicable to the extent of items constituting the groundwork of the receipts for fully three parts of the total respective revenues.

The very great convenience and many advantages of one common tariff for all Australia are so patent, that Victoria would probably sacrifice much to effect it; but her delegates deem it inexpedient to consider any proposition desirable which would reverse or abandon the policy disclosed in her present tariff of "discriminating duties."

As regards a "Customs Union," to be effective it is mainly necessary that it should comprise all the adjacent Colonies, and especially those on the mainland, and in which case, on agreed conditions, all duties collected could be paid into one fund for division "pro rata" to population; the duty-paid imports into, and the produce or manufactures of either of the said Colonies, passing "free" from one into the other respectively.

But as this arrangement, as above shown, is at present impracticable, it is, doubtless, desirable to make an effort to arrange a uniform tariff between Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania, preliminary to the consideration of other relations; as before a "Customs Union" could be satisfactory (even between these three Colonies) it would be necessary to show that advantages were mutual, and that the interchange "free of duty" of raw products or manufactures as between these Colonies was respectively beneficial. Further, as the relative population in the three Colonies does not equally represent the comparative consumption of "dutiable" goods, it seems necessary that the measure of payments into a common treasury should control the subsequent distribution; for, although an amendment and "levelling up" of the excise laws in South Australia would probably better proportion her revenue from "spirits" to that of Victoria, at present the differences in a revenue point of view (viz., Victoria, £1 15s. 9d., and estimated for 1870, £1 16s. 3d., South Australia, £1 3s. 4d., and Tasmania, £1 6s. 8d.) are too serious not to be taken into account in distribution.

It is also very probable that in any appeal to the Imperial authorities to give effect to a "Customs Union," the limitation of the application to these three Colonies would be cause of grave doubts, if not to occasion its being denied, as a system of differential duties would thus be in active operation as between the contiguous Colonies on the mainland of Australia, as well as against foreign nations and Great Britain.

CORRESPONDENCE.

70 | 1468.

SIR,

No. 116, 9 June,
1870.

Adverting to my circular letter, No. 74, of the 31st of March last, I have the honor to enclose for your information copy of a further letter which I have addressed to the Government of Tasmania on the subject of the approaching Conference to be held in Melbourne.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your very obedient servant,

The Honorable the Chief Secretary, Victoria.

W. GISBORNE.

70 | 1468.

SIR,

(Copy.)

116.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Wellington, 9 June, 1870.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 9th ultimo, on the subject of the Intercolonial Conference.

Although the Government cannot agree that it is desirable for New Zealand to enter into the proposed Customs union, it is possible the other Colonies concerned may consider that the restraints under which such a union would place them would be compensated by some corresponding advantage, and the Government will watch the proceedings with great interest.

The Government cannot agree that the Colonies should submit to be prevented from entering into convenient commercial relations with each other. It cannot be said that the difficulty in respect to treaties is insuperable, seeing that the British-American Colonies did, for a long time before the creation of the dominion, enter into reciprocal arrangements.

It is the intention of the Government of New Zealand to submit to the Assembly a proposal to authorize the payment of bonuses on intercolonial imports; by this plan the technical difficulty may be surmounted. I enclose you a printed copy of the opinion of the Attorney General of this Colony on the subject of intercolonial reciprocity.

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary, Tasmania.

I have, &c., &c.,
(Signed) W. GISBORNE.

OPINION OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ON COLONIAL RECIPROCITY.

By certain provisions of the Legislatures of Canada and other British North American Colonies, certain specified goods, as grain, salted meat, butter, cheese, poultry, and some others, may, if of the growth or produce of any other of the British North American provinces, be imported into the legislating province free of duty; and any other articles besides those specially mentioned may, if of such growth or produce, be exempted, by Order of the Governor in Council, from payment of Customs duty. (See Statutes of Canada, 1859, chap. 17, sec. 3; also, Statutes of Canada, 1866, chap. 6, secs. 5 and 6; also, Revised Statutes of Nova Scotia, sec. 8, chap. 8, part 1.) This has been the legislation of the British North American Colonies.

In Australasia, however, there does not appear on the statute books of the several Colonies any Acts permitting such reciprocity; and the question naturally suggests itself how is it that this is so? Bearing in mind the differences in climate, soil, and other natural advantages which exist, rendering, as such differences do, an interchange of products certain unless prevented by injudicious legislation; and further, the facts that these districts, which now form the several Colonies of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, and New Zealand, were not long since under one Government, and formed one Colony; and also, that by reason of the close proximity of these Colonies to one another, and from the fact that each of these Colonies possessing gold fields of considerable extent, there is such an intercourse between, and a going to and fro of the populations as to make them, if not one people, at least to give them in most matters an identity of interests; bearing in mind these matters, the absence of reciprocity in commerce can only be accounted for by the existence of some unnatural obstruction. That unnatural obstruction is found in the constitutions which the Imperial Parliament has imposed on the several Australian Colonies. In each of them is found the same prohibition—the prohibition having its immediate origin in the 31st section of the 59th of 13th and 14th Victoria.

An attempt on the part of Tasmania to enter into an arrangement with others of the Australasian Colonies for the importation of products and goods on terms of reciprocity was stopped by the disallowance by the Imperial Government of the Bill passed by the Colonial Legislature authorizing such an arrangement. No doubt the Bill was invalid as being contrary to the 13th and 14th Victoria, c. 59, sec. 31, and would have been invalid even if not disallowed. The proper course for Tasmania and any other of the Australasian Colonies desiring to authorize the establishment of such reciprocity, is to procure the repeal of those provisions on the Imperial statute book which prevent the Colonial Legislatures from passing Acts giving the necessary authority.

It will not be sufficient to procure this repeal as to New Zealand alone, should it be wished that such reciprocity should be established here with regard to any other of the Australasian Colonies; but each of the Australasian Colonies with which it is proposed that New Zealand should establish such reciprocity must procure the repeal of the prohibition which prevents legislation by its Parliament.

If in answer to any request made to the Imperial Parliament for such repeal it be said that the prohibition is created not only by provisions of the Imperial Statutes, but also by the treaties entered into by the Imperial Government with foreign countries, and that the provisions of such treaties cannot be disregarded or abrogated without the consent of each of those foreign countries with which the treaties have been made. But assuming that any treaty entered into by the Imperial Government is capable of such a construction as would prohibit one part of the British dominions from entering into terms of reciprocity with another, how is it that such a construction does not apply to the British North American Colonies equally with the Australasian Colonies?

It is true that in the Imperial Statute in force before the constitution of the dominion giving or regulating the constitution of the North American Colonies there is not contained a prohibition similar to that which has been created by Imperial legislation with regard to the Australasian Colonies, but nevertheless there are the same treaties, and those treaties contain no reservation or exception of the North American Colonies.

It would appear, therefore, that if the Imperial Parliament should remove the express prohibition, the provisions of the treaties would present no obstacle. However, if from want of sufficient information on the subject the position of the North American Colonies with regard to Imperial Government treaties with foreign countries has not been correctly put if there be some reservation or exception of the North American Colonies from the operation of foreign commercial treaties, then the same reasons which have induced the Imperial Government to stipulate for such exceptions equally bind it to procure the relaxation of these treaties so far as they can be construed as applying to the Australasian Colonies.

But

But there are provisions in the Imperial statute book which have been passed for the purpose of declaring that goods, the produce of one part of the British dominions, when imported into other parts of the British dominions, shall not be treated as foreign. By some such provision for the purpose of enabling the Australasian Colonies to establish a system of reciprocity, each of these Colonies could for such purpose be declared to be so—not to be separated or foreign to one another.

It may be observed that, in the Act constituting the Dominion of Canada, the Imperial Parliament, though providing that, subject to the provision of that Act, the Customs duties leviable in each province shall continue leviable till altered by the Parliament of Canada, yet the same Act provides that articles the produce of any one province shall, after the union, be admitted free into each of the other Colonies.

No doubt the provision is quite consistent, because all the provinces, though each has a separate Legislature for some purposes, are formed into one country or dominion, subject to a general Legislature.

It would be too great a labour to go through all or the principal of the commercial treaties now existing between foreign countries and the Imperial Government, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any of them are capable of receiving such a construction as to prevent the Australasian Colonies from following the example of the British North American Colonies, and establishing a system of reciprocity. It may be that in some treaties, by a strict construction, provisions will be found which may appear to prohibit the establishment of such system.

It is submitted, however, that where, in a treaty with a foreign country, it is stipulated that no other duties shall be imposed on the importation into British territories of any articles, the growth, &c., of such foreign country, such stipulation does not apply to the importation from one Colony to another. The context shows that the word "foreign" must be construed in its proper sense of alien.

It is clear that the "most favoured nations" clauses do not apply as between one part of the British dominions and another.

The 13th clause of the Belgium treaty of 1862, though it would prevent reciprocity between the Colonies and Great Britain as against Belgium, does not, nor does any stipulation in the treaty, prevent reciprocity between any two British Colonies.

It is also submitted that where, as in the treaty with Italy, the words "other country" are used, and the word "foreign" is not expressed, that the meaning is the same, "other country" meaning "other foreign country."

Should the Imperial Government not be disposed to ask Parliament to repeal the prohibitory legislation referred to, it would be well that it should be asked to point specifically what treaty stipulations there are existing which prevent the establishment of the proposed reciprocity.

This is more important with regard to New Zealand, since by the Constitution Act the only prohibition is against imposing restrictions, exemptions, &c., contrary to or at variance with treaties concluded by Her Majesty with any foreign power; while the provision in the Constitution Acts of Victoria and New South Wales is that no new duty shall be imposed upon the importation of any article the produce of any particular "place" which shall not equally be imposed upon the importation of articles imported from all other places.

However, inasmuch as it is with these Colonies that reciprocity is desired, any restriction on legislation by those Colonies acts as a restriction on New Zealand.

J. PRENDERGAST.

Appendix L.

To Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen.

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Delegates appointed by the respective Governments of New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania to consider matters of common interest, in Conference assembled, beg leave to approach your Majesty with assurances of our attachment to your Majesty's person and Government.

We humbly desire to assure your Majesty that the presence of an Imperial military force in your Australian Colonies has supplied a visible and substantial emblem of Imperial power and Imperial protection from foreign aggression.

We regret that the policy of your Majesty's Government contemplates the withdrawal of the Imperial troops, and that the despatches received from your Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject of military protection in Australia show that the Imperial troops can only be permitted to remain in the Colonies upon terms and conditions which cannot be accepted, and lead to the conclusion that the Imperial troops will be speedily withdrawn, thus throwing the Colonies entirely upon their own resources for their internal defence.

We are unwilling to believe that the proposed removal of the troops indicates a desire, on the part of your Majesty's Government, to precipitate any material change in the subsisting relations between the mother country and the Colonies; and trust that the due provision for the naval defence and protection of the coast-line of Australia, and of the British commerce in its various ports, will at all times, but especially in time of war, continue to be recognized by your Majesty's Government as a paramount Imperial obligation.

Impressed with these views, we earnestly hope that the colonists of Australia may be enabled to recognize in your Majesty's Government a desire to consult their wishes, and to strengthen their loyalty to the Crown and attachment to the British Empire.

Appendix M.

MR. FRANCIS,—

I am of opinion that Victoria can agree to proposal No. 1, altering the word "demand" to "necessitate;" but, as at present informed, I think the five following notices by Mr. Wilson are open to objection, because—

First. The Parliament of Victoria is unlikely to yield the present policy of a tariff of discriminating duties, or its right to amend its own tariff as circumstances may from time to time require.

Secondly. Because, without Federal or Legislative Union, any tariff now agreed upon would be virtually inalterable without the unanimous consent of all parties to the Conference.

Thirdly. Because it seems to me to give advantage to some communities, without relative benefit to others comprehended in the agreement.

For instance, the special advantages to Tasmania and South Australia (for the purposes of my argument) would be the admission into Victoria of their products without duty—say flour, wheat, oats, wine, timber, jams, beer, fruit, &c.—while, on the other hand, Victoria has no present equivalent produce or manufacture to export as "duty free" into those Colonies in exchange, inasmuch as the produce or manufactures of Victoria are not yet equal to our own requirements, and consist mainly of goods which are made up wholly or in part from imported materials, and hence would probably be liable to duty inter-colonially as not strictly Victorian produce.

Fourthly.

Fourthly. The sugar, the rum, the wine, and the Colonial made spirits proposed to be imported duty free (even though subject to excise in producing Colony), would very probably before long greatly prejudice the Customs revenue of this Colony.

On the other hand, to facilitate the commerce between the Colonies, and to commence a system of uniform tariff, equal rates might be agreed upon for the following items, which constitute about three-fourths of the Customs revenue of all the Colonies, viz. :—Spirits, tobacco and snuff, tea, sugar, rice, wine, beer, opium, dried fruits, coffee, &c., silks, jewellery, and probably other items. Excise rates might be assimilated, and lighthouse dues and all port charges might be made identical, with mutual concessions in favor of Colonial voyages.

Appendix N.

MR. HART,—

Memorandum.

Referring to the return placed before Conference by the Honorable the Treasurer, showing the apparent loss to Victoria of a Customs union, so far as South Australia and Tasmania is concerned, I consider it is inconclusive for the purpose intended.

To take the average Customs revenue per head of the population, with a dissimilar tariff, is useless for the purpose of comparison, when the first principle of the proposed union is that the tariff shall be uniform; and whilst it is admitted that, in one instance (on spirits) where the duties are similar, there is a smaller amount of duty per head collected in South Australia, this does not result from a smaller consumption, but from a local Distillation Act, which, in the event of a Customs union, would be repealed. Again, the average of revenue for 1867-8-9 is taken during a period of unexampled depression in South Australia. In 1865 the revenue per head (with the existing tariff) of population was 30s.; in '66, 27s. 2d.

Then, as to the estimated population for 1868-9, the document is evidently unreliable. No census has been taken since 1866, and as the estimate has been arrived at by taking the natural increase and the difference of the numbers as shown by the Immigration and Emigration returns of Port Adelaide, without taking into account the extensive emigration by land over the border, many thousands have passed from South Australia to become consumers in Victoria, thereby proving the error of the comparison in a two-fold degree, because the population is overrated for South Australia, and to an equal measure underrated for Victoria. But it is only reasonable to suppose that a population, consisting of people of the same race, with wages on the average equal, which it is safe to calculate will be the case in the future, whatever it may have been in the past, will be equal contributors to the revenue under a uniform tariff, while on the other hand it is clear that Melbourne will, in the event of the system proposed being adopted, enjoy a large portion of the import trade that now centres in Adelaide.

There is also another error in the estimated loss in the document referred to. It is notorious that Victoria is in receipt of revenue derived from dutiable goods that are consumed in the Colonies of New South Wales and South Australia, for which no allowance is made.

It is also inaccurate in the loss it is presumed Victoria will sustain by the proposed admittance of South Australian and Tasmanian produce duty free.

The object the Victorian Government had in imposing a protective duty on cereals was to foster the agricultural interest in their Colony, and their policy has been so far justified that, by the latest statistical return, it is shown that the produce of the last harvest, after providing for the supply of the entire population, leaves a surplus for export of 21,445 tons; and the Customs returns for the first five months of this year show that the duty on South Australian breadstuffs during that period is nil. But what greater proof can be required of the fallacy of the supposition that duty will be paid on imported breadstuffs for Home consumption in Victoria, than the fact that flour is, and has been from the date of the last harvest, upwards of 10 per cent. dearer in South Australia than that produced from their own wheat in Victoria?

Appendix O.

MR. COWPER,—

The Representatives of New South Wales express their willingness to agree to a Customs union and intercolonial free trade, provided a uniform tariff, framed as nearly as possible in accordance with the principles of free trade and a due regard to the fiscal requirements of the Colonies, could be adopted.

Appendix P.

Tabled by MR. FRANCIS, 30/6/70.

THE Representatives of the Government of Victoria express their willingness to consider and submit to their Parliament, and support by every means in their power, propositions to effect a "Customs union" and intercolonial "free trade" between the Colonies parties to this Conference.

Provided,—That the four Colonies can agree upon any uniform tariff which shall not substantially reverse or abandon the present fiscal policy of Victoria, and which favors "discriminating duties" on raw materials for manufactures.

Further,—Victoria would, if necessary, concur in alterations in her tariff, the main objects of which were—to simplify it; to exclude from duty unproductive and unimportant items; to substitute some other for the ad valorem principle; to alter the excise impost and make new regulations therefor; and to make the tariff inalterable, except by mutual consent of all parties to the agreement; and also to agree generally in commercial regulations for the government of commerce, and making all port and lighthouse charges as nearly identical as possible.

But inasmuch as it has appeared in the progress of this Conference that the consent of the Colony of New South Wales to an agreement on the foregoing basis is for the present unobtainable, the balance of influences influences and advantages in the contract is so materially altered thereby, that Victoria would require in any treaty as between that Colony, South Australia, and Tasmania, to consider the larger right which her proportion of contribution to any common stock suggests, and which being (the mean of 1868-69)—

Victoria	£1,190,623
South Australia	208,775
Tasmania	134,540
								£1,533,938

Victoria would expect that her present tariff should be accepted as the common tariff of the Federation, and that there should be a general interchange of goods between the agreeing Colonies, being duty-paid in or the produce of any of these Colonies.

That the Parliament of Victoria should exercise the right to amend the tariff as circumstances might from time to time require.

That the measure of payments into the common fund by the different Colonies pro ratâ to population (or its other adjustment) should govern the subsequent distribution thereof.

That the basis for division should be the census of 1871, and the net receipts from duties of Customs in each Colony for 1868-9, as published (excluding wharfages, &c).

That the agreement be for five years.

That these preliminaries being agreed to, such other measures shall be at once proceeded with as may be requisite to obtain the Legislative confirmation of the different Colonies, and the concurrence of the Imperial authorities.

SIR,

Downing-street, 27 January, 1870.

I transmit to you a copy of a letter from Captain Sherard Osborn, relative to the proposed construction of a submarine and land telegraph between Singapore and the Australian Colonies. 25 Jan., 1870.

I do not doubt that a project which, if successful, will be of so much advantage to the Colony, will receive the attention of your Government.

Offices, 38, Old Broad-street, E.C., 25 January, 1870.

MY LORD,

I have the honor to inform you, that this Company has entered into a contract, and received the order, for constructing a system of submarine and land telegraphs for connecting Singapore, in the Malay Peninsula, with our Australian Colonies, over the route indicated in the accompanying prospectus and map.

The land lines in Australia will be carried out in extension of the Queensland Colonial lines, which terminate at Burketown, at the bottom of the Gulf of Carpentaria, to Port Darwin, on the north-west extreme of the territory, which is said to be provisionally placed under the jurisdiction of the South Australian Government.

I have, on behalf of this Company, to request your Lordship will be pleased to move the Governments of Queensland and South Australia, to grant us all necessary permission and countenance in the execution of this undertaking.

Copies of two letters addressed to the Governors of these two Colonies, are herewith enclosed; and we shall feel much obliged if the communication from Her Majesty's Colonial Office on the subject, could be forwarded by the mail which leaves on Saturday next, the 28th instant.

I have, &c.,

YOUR EXCELLENCY,

I have the honor herewith to enclose the prospectus of the British Australian Telegraph Company, the capital of which has been raised, and the order given for the manufacture of cables and land lines, to be laid between Singapore, in the Malay Peninsula, and Burketown, in Northern Australia.

We are informed by Mr. Douglas, the Postmaster of Queensland, that your Government is extending its lines to the said township of Burketown, and we trust that no time will be lost by the Queensland Government in completing that section.

With

With reference to that portion of the line which we have contracted to erect between Burketown and Port Darwin, lying within the jurisdiction of your Excellency's Government, I have the honor, on behalf of the Board of Directors, to request the sanction for the erection of the said land lines, and to ask that every countenance and support may be given to Commander Noel Osborn, of the Royal Navy, who is proceeding to Queensland to act as this Company's representative, and to superintend the carrying out of the necessary works.

Commander Osborn has been instructed to wait personally upon your Excellency directly he arrives in Brisbane, where he may be expected about May next.

I feel sure that the Government of Queensland will fully appreciate the importance to their community of the telegraphic facilities with Great Britain and Europe which we are endeavouring to supply, and that we may count on every aid and assistance being given to us.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) SHERARD OSBORN,
Captain, Royal Navy, Managing Director.

To His Excellency the Governor of Queensland, &c., &c., &c., Brisbane.

The Superintendent of Electric Telegraphs to the Honorable the Postmaster General.

Electric Telegraph Department, Superintendent's Office,
Brisbane, 10 May, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you that copies of certain correspondence between Commander Noel Osborn, now in Adelaide, agent for the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, London, the Superintendent of Telegraphs, South Australia, and the Chief Secretary of South Australia, relative to the proposed extension of the electric telegraph to this Continent by the British-Australian Telegraph Company, have been published, and as the matter is of great importance as regards the telegraphs of this Colony, I do not hesitate in reporting on the subject.

On 19th April I received from your office copy of letters, dated January last, from Captain Sherard Osborn, R.N., managing director of the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, forwarded under cover of despatch to His Excellency the Governor, and from Captain Sherard Osborn to His Excellency the Governor, stating that the British-Australian Telegraph Company had been formed, and contracts entered into for landing a cable at Port Darwin, and constructing a land line thence direct to Burketown, requesting that every countenance and support might be given to Commander Noel Osborn, R.N., the Agent of the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, to enable him to carry out the land lines, and urging that the Queensland Government lose no time in completing their portion of the work as far as Burketown.

Accordingly, this department is now vigorously pushing on its works to Normantown, which will be completed early in 1871. The additional 110 miles to Burketown might be carried on simultaneously with the works of the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, from Port Darwin to Burketown, a distance of 750 miles.

Commander Noel Osborn arrived in Adelaide, by the April mail, to treat with the Government of South Australia for permission to erect the land line through their territory from Port Darwin to our western boundary.

(Vide p. 59.
F. 248-70.)

The Superintendent of Telegraphs, South Australia, has since recommended, in a report to his Government, that they should undertake to introduce a measure, immediately after the new Parliament meets, for providing, by means of a loan, for the construction at once of a line of telegraph from Port Augusta to Port Darwin. This report has been adopted by the Government, and the Company communicated with, urging the termination of their line at Port Darwin, on the northern coast of South Australia.

The estimated length of the proposed line is sixteen hundred miles, and the cost of construction £120,000; annual cost of maintenance £8,000.

With regard to distance, I observe that little or no allowance has been made for deviations necessary to avoid natural obstacles, such as broken and flooded country, swamps, &c., and to secure permanent water; 10 per cent. may be safely added for this purpose. The description given by Stuart, in his journal of a journey across the Continent during 1861 and 1862, would seem to show that the route proposed offers few facilities for the construction of a line; the country for the most part being described as intensely hot, devoid of necessary timber, and, owing to its sandy nature, permanent water is exceedingly scarce. Under these circumstances it is not at all improbable that the work would cost considerably more than the amount estimated; and experience obtained in this Colony would show that, owing to the many unforeseen difficulties to be surmounted in constructing long lines through unsettled districts, it is hardly possible to frame a reliable estimate of the cost of construction until the country has been examined and its nature thoroughly ascertained.

It is proposed to finish the line by the end of 1871, in order to be in readiness to meet the Company's cable on its being landed at Port Darwin. When the nature of the country is duly considered, it may be anticipated that, under the most favourable circumstances, the work would occupy three years, and perhaps a longer period. Only four stations are considered necessary. In this Colony it has been found that a line cannot be depended upon for constant communication, unless repairing stations are placed at distances not exceeding eighty miles. In the event of an interruption occurring during a rainy season on a line with stations so distant as proposed, and no assistance being obtainable, the necessary repairs could not be effected, perhaps, for weeks or months. In the settled districts, it is proposed to depend upon the settlers to make the necessary repairs; this arrangement would never answer, as, not being employed working the line, they might remain weeks unaware of an interruption. With a proper number of stations, the cost of transit of provisions and stores would be considerable. If it were intended to make this line the means of carrying the whole Australian business, it should be in the highest state of efficiency, and always workable. Altogether, the estimate for maintenance may be considered too low.

The mere fact of the telegraph line passing through unsettled districts, would do little or nothing to promote settlement. Up to the present date I am not aware that South Australia has any line extending into unsettled districts, or a greater distance from her capital than three hundred miles; and Port Augusta, the present northern terminus, is not two hundred miles distant from Adelaide.

It

It is a question of little moment to Queensland whether the South Australian proposal is carried out or not, provided they do not interfere with existing arrangements as regards this Colony. This would seem to be their purpose by attempting to induce the British-Australian Telegraph Company to terminate their works at Port Darwin. The proposed line, if constructed, could not successfully compete with the line now in operation by the eastern route, which is already self-supporting.

I think that the importance of Port Darwin has been greatly over-estimated with regard to this work, and have always advocated, as a means of communication more reliable and less expensive to maintain, that the cable should be brought direct to one of our settlements on the Gulf of Carpentaria. Port Darwin might then be provided for by a branch line from the nearest cable station, say Melville Island. By this means, the heavy cost of constructing and maintaining a land line from Burketown to Port Darwin might be avoided; and the cable, when once laid, would require but little attention.

The action lately taken by the South Australian Government will, I fear, tend to delay the completion of this great work; and I would therefore respectfully urge the desirability of at once communicating with the British-Australian Company, and taking such steps as may be deemed necessary to secure to this Colony the advantages which the present position of our telegraph lines in the north would warrant.

Appendix S.

WE, the representatives of the Colonies of South Australia and Tasmania, desire to place on record our opinion that a general Customs union, a uniform tariff, and an equal distribution of the revenue therefrom, on the basis of population, together with a free interchange of Colonial products and manufactures amongst the contracting parties, would be of great advantage to the inhabitants of the several Colonies.

That

That, in our anxiety to give effect to such an arrangement, we have in this Conference declared our willingness to make large concessions where our tariffs have differed from those of the other Colonies, in order to arrive at one common conclusion; and thus far, the Treasurer of Victoria (the Hon. Mr. Francis), in his paper dated 30/6/70, agrees; but only on the condition that New South Wales should be a contracting party, which condition is immediately afterwards stated, in the same document, to have been previously ascertained to be impracticable.

That, failing the concurrence of New South Wales, the paper submitted by the Hon. Mr. Francis proceeds to lay down new terms and conditions, placing the Colonies of South Australia and Tasmania in a position not only highly detrimental to their interests, but also contemplating the surrender by these Colonies of their common right to a co-ordinate voice with Victoria in any re-adjustment of the tariff. We are, therefore, unable to acquiesce in such a proposition, or to recommend it to our respective Governments.

With reference to the statements of revenue for the years 1867-8-9, upon which the Hon. Mr. Francis bases the claim of Victoria to an unequal distribution per head of the population, in favor of that Colony, we would remark that they are unreliable for so grave a purpose. For instance, no deduction is made for drawbacks upon the gross Customs revenue of Victoria; and the fact is ignored that, on the part of South Australia—with a uniform tariff and excise regulations—an addition of 6s. 6d. per head of the population would be obtained on spirits and tobacco alone.

It is impossible that we can advise our Governments to legislate upon the basis of a proposal which binds South Australia and Tasmania to maintain a common tariff for the period of five years (as proposed in the paper already referred to), whilst Victoria claims the right to alter this "inalterable" tariff from time to time, as circumstances or inclination may prompt. We regard it as a first principle of common justice that an agreement between contracting parties should be equally binding upon all concerned, and, consequently, view this stipulation on the part of Victoria as fatal to the project of a Customs union, even if no other objection existed.

IN regard to differences of opinion as to the basis for the distribution of revenue to be derived from the respective Colonies of Victoria, South Australia, and Tasmania,—

Contingent upon the other points of the previous minute being agreed to, Victoria is willing, in order to afford an opportunity to the other two Colonies to prepare requisite statistics from their own records, to enter on a correspondence, with a view to consider the proportion in which the aggregate revenues shall be divided.

MY LORD,

I have the honor to state to you, for your information and guidance, that Her Majesty's Government, having regard to the existing state of War between France and Prussia, are of opinion that the following instructions should be at once issued to the Pilots in the Colony under your government:—

“ British Pilots are not to pilot Ships of War of either belligerent, except in British Waters, within three miles of the shore, or to do more than pilot such ships into or out of British Ports or Roadsteads when they are not at the time engaged in any hostile operations; but Ships of War in distress may always be piloted out of immediate danger.”

I have accordingly to request that you will immediately take the necessary steps for making these instructions public.

MY LORD,

A question having been raised as to the course that should be followed in determining the day to be appointed for the celebration of Her Majesty's Birthday in the Colonies, when circumstances render the 24th May an inconvenient day for that purpose, I have been in communication with the Secretary of State for War and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty on the subject; and Mr. Cardwell and their Lordships concur with me in the opinion that it is desirable that the selection of a convenient day should rest with the Officer administering the Government in each Colony, the day so to be fixed being not more than a week before or after the 24th May.

In the event of your finding it expedient to appoint a day other than the 24th May for the celebration of this anniversary, you will give early intimation thereof to the Officers in Command of Her Majesty's Military and Naval Forces (if any) in the Colony, and make it known to the people in the usual and most public manner.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to Governor Viscount Canterbury.

(Victoria.)

(No. 17.)

Downing-street,
16 March, 1871.

My Lord,

Her Majesty's Government have had under their consideration your Lordship's despatch (No. 132) of 12th August, enclosing a memorandum submitted to you by the Chief Secretary on behalf of your Ministers, in which he calls attention to the resolutions adopted at the Intercolonial Conference in favour of the establishment of a British Protectorate over the Fiji Islands, and requests you to bring the question under the notice of the Home Government.

Her Majesty's Government have carefully considered the memorandum of your Advisers. The state of affairs in the Fijis appears to have so far changed since 1860, when, after a full inquiry by Colonel Smythe, who was sent out for the purpose, Her Majesty's Government determined not to annex the Islands, that there is now in the Islands a much larger European community, and therefore more able to protect itself and provide for its own government; but otherwise the same difficulties remain. The Islands are under the jurisdiction of several Chiefs, and even if they all concurred in an act of cession to the Queen, the experience of other Colonies shows that disputes would be sure afterwards to arise, especially as to the occupation of land by the settlers. It would be impossible for this Country to undertake the responsibility of the government of the Islands without a sufficient force to support its authority, and Her Majesty's Government are not prepared to station a military force for this purpose in the Fijis.

On these grounds, Her Majesty's Government cannot depart from their former decision not to extend British Sovereignty over the Islands. It is not very clear what is intended by the proposal that "Her Majesty should extend her protection" over the Fijis; but if by this is meant something short of direct annexation, it seems to Her Majesty's Government even more open to objection; as, while it would not really diminish the responsibility this Country would incur, it would weaken and embarrass the exercise of British authority, and would be certain, after a period more or less protracted of uncertainty, and possibly discredit, to end in annexation, in circumstances less favourable than the present.

Her Majesty's Government are however ready to give such aid as may be in their power, through the Consul, for the maintenance of order, until the European community can establish a regular Government; and they are considering measures with a view to increase the authority of the Consul over British subjects, by conferring upon him magisterial powers.

PROPOSED DIVISION OF THE HASTINGS ELECTORATE.

(PETITION—CERTAIN ELECTORS OF "THE HASTINGS," RESIDING IN POLICE DISTRICT OF MACLEAY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 27 January, 1871.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Electors of the Hastings Electorate, residing in the Police District of the Macleay River, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

SHOWETH:—

That by the Electoral Act, the Police Districts of Macleay River, Port Macquarie, and Manning River, are constituted into an Electorate, called "The Hastings."

That such Electorate extends from beyond the Bellenger River on the north to beyond the Manning River on the south,—a distance along the coast in a straight line of about (120) one hundred and twenty miles, and composing an area of about (5,500) five thousand five hundred square miles.

That since the constitution of the Electorate the population of the (3) three police districts has considerably increased, and is yearly increasing; the number of electors for the total Electorate, according to the last return, being (2,934) two thousand nine hundred and thirty-four; of whom were residing in the Macleay River Police District, in the Port Macquarie Police District, and in the Manning River District.

That there is no community of interest between the different Police Districts; but on the contrary, their interests are antagonistic to each other.

That in consequence of the large extent of the district, great inconvenience is felt by those residing at a distance being unable to attend the nomination of Members at Port Macquarie; and also by our representative in the Assembly having the grievances and wants of so large a number of inhabitants to represent.

That your Petitioners consider that the Northern Districts are inadequately represented in your Honorable House, and that from the large number of electors in this Electorate, electing only one Member, whilst (9) nine other districts with electors less in number than (1,000) one thousand each, and (13) thirteen other districts with a smaller number of electors than (1,500) one thousand five hundred each, elect one Member, your Petitioners are entitled to have the Hastings Electorate divided into three parts; one of these comprising the Macleay River Police District, the other the Port Macquarie Police District, and the other the Manning River Police District; and that the place of nomination for the Macleay River District be West Kempsey, and name of the Electorate the "Macleay River."

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that the Hastings Electorate be divided in the manner hereinbefore suggested, or that such other relief be afforded to your Petitioners as to your Honorable Assembly may seem fit.

And your Petitioners shall ever pray, &c., &c., &c.

Commission.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, and so forth,—

To our trusty and well-beloved,—

SIR ALFRED STEPHEN, Knight, Companion of our Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Chief Justice of our Supreme Court of our Colony of New South Wales;

THE HONORABLE SIR WILLIAM MONTAGU MANNING, Knight, one of our Counsel learned in the Law, a Member of our Legislative Council of our said Colony, and Attorney General of the same;

THE HONORABLE JULIAN EMANUEL SALOMONS, Solicitor General of our said Colony;

THE HONORABLE SIR JAMES MARTIN, Knight, one of our Counsel learned in the Law, a Member of our Legislative Assembly of our said Colony;

EDWARD BUTLER, Esquire, a Member of our said Legislative Assembly;

THOMAS ICETON, Esquire; and

WILLIAM BARKER, Esquire;—

Greeting:

Know ye, that we, reposing great trust and confidence in your ability, zeal, industry, discretion, and integrity, have authorized and appointed, and do, by these presents, authorize and appoint, you to be our Commissioners to make a diligent and full inquiry into the state of the Statute Law of our said Colony, and to submit proposals for the revision, consolidation, and amendment thereof: And also to make like inquiry into the practice and procedure of our Courts of Justice within our said Colony, and to propose amendments of the same, with a view to the simplification and improvement thereof, and to the removal of the inconveniences arising from the separation of jurisdictions in Law and Equity: And for the better discovery of the truth in the premises, we do by these presents give and grant to you, or any three or more of you, full power and authority to call before you, or any three or more of you, all such persons as you shall judge necessary for the purposes of this our Commission: And we do also give and grant unto you, or any three or more of you, full power and authority to call for and have access to all such official books, documents, papers, and records as you may deem expedient, and to inquire of and concerning the premises by all other lawful ways and means whatsoever: And we do give you power at your discretion to procure such clerical and other assistance as you may deem necessary for enabling you duly to execute this our Commission: And our further will and pleasure is, that you do, within four months after the date of this our Commission, or as soon as the same can conveniently be done (using all diligence), certify to us, in the office of our Colonial Secretary, under your hands, or under the hands of any five or more of you, what you shall find touching the premises : And we further will and command, and by these presents ordain, that this our Commission shall continue in full force and virtue, and that you our said Commissioners, or any five or more of you, shall and may, from time to time, proceed in the execution thereof, and of every matter and thing therein contained, although the same be not continued from time to time by adjournment : And we hereby command all Government Officers and other persons whomsoever within our said Colony, that they be assistant to you and each of you in the execution of these presents : And we appoint you, the said Sir Alfred Stephen, Knight, to be President of this our Commission.

In testimony whereof we have caused these our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our Colony to be hereunto affixed.

Witness, our right trusty and well-beloved Cousin and Councillor, SOMERSET RICHARD, EARL OF BELMORE, our Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our Colony of New South Wales, at Government House, Sydney, in New South Wales aforesaid, this fourteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and in the thirty-fourth year of our Reign.

(L.S.)

BELMORE.

LAW REFORM COMMISSION.

FIRST REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY :—

The undersigned Commissioners—appointed respectively by Your Majesty's Letters Patent dated the 14th day of July last, and by a Supplementary Commission dated the 16th day of December last, substituting the present for the late Solicitor General,—to inquire into the state of the Statute Law of this Colony, and submit proposals for its revision, consolidation, and amendment;—and also to make a like inquiry into the Practice and Procedure of the Colonial Courts, and propose amendments therein with a view to the simplification and improvement of the same, and to the removal of the inconveniences arising from the separation of jurisdictions at Law and in Equity—have the honor humbly to certify and report to Your Majesty in obedience to the said first-mentioned Letters Patent the several matters following.

We caused circular letters to be issued and circulated, soon after our appointment, addressed to the Judges of the District Courts and of the Supreme Court, as also to many other persons, not exclusively professional, inviting suggestions from them on the subject of Practice and Procedure, and more particularly as to certain points specified; and we have received answers and suggestions (to which we shall more fully advert in our next Report) from several of those gentlemen. Copies of those circulars are annexed. We at the same time, by our Secretary, caused a general intimation to be conveyed to the public through the Press, that the Commissioners would gladly receive suggestions on the same matters, addressed to him, from any individuals who might be disposed so far to favour the Board. Very few communications have been received in reply to this appeal; but among them is one recently sent, which we are glad to notice as containing the valuable suggestion, although not new to us, of the institution of Tribunals of Conciliation, or Arbitration Courts, for the settlement of disputes between Employers and their Workmen.

In a view to the proposal by us, at as early a period as possible, of the introduction (with the necessary adaptations) of recent measures of British legislation, by which many improvements have been introduced into the Codes of Procedure at home, both at Law and in Equity, we secured the professional services of three counsel, under our supervision, with instructions to prepare Consolidation Bills for the amendment of the practice in both jurisdictions. The draftsmen were instructed, however, so to frame both measures, as to be applicable to any amalgamation of those jurisdictions; in other words, so as not to prevent or delay the establishment of uniform principles, and an uniform method of procedure, in all actions or suits in the Court, whatever may be their nature—legal or equitable. The preparation of such Bills, as of all others of a like kind where a leading object is consolidation, is necessarily a work of time; but they are now nearly completed, we believe, and in a state for revision by us as we hope at an early date.

Our own personal attention has been directed, hitherto, to the Colonial statute book; in which the following subjects appeared to us urgently to demand attention. These are, the Laws affecting the treatment and care of the Insane and their property—the Insolvency and Jury Laws,—the several enactments affecting Procedure before Justices, in or out of Sessions,—and the Criminal Law; all requiring consolidation, and admitting if not calling for extensive amendment. On the first of these, by direction of the then Attorney General, before our appointment, we found that a very comprehensive measure had been prepared by two members of the bar, after repeated conferences with the able Superintendent Physician at Gladesville; which appeared to us on perusal to be so complete in its details, and well calculated to effect the objects of such a law, that we thought it our duty at once to recommend the Bill as it stood, or with very few suggested alterations, to the late Government. It will be found to contain some enactments, borrowed from recent English legislation, in immediate connexion with the subject, which we believe to be of great importance to the community at large. The Insolvency Laws, involving a consideration of the entire Bankruptcy code and system, will require not only our own careful study in all their details, but, on some of the leading principles of the measure, whatever shape the new measure may assume, the assistance of members of the mercantile body. The Chief Justice, in conjunction with Sir James Martin, has undertaken the preparation of a Bill, which will not be submitted to the board until after conference with a Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, now sitting on this subject; and we trust to be able to propose propose a measure, eventually, which shall be efficacious, safe, and satisfactory. The Jury Laws, although embracing several statutes, are of a far less complicated character than either of the preceding; and may be consolidated and improved, we think, without much difficulty.

We conceived that the most pressing, as it unquestionably is the most important subject for consideration, in a view to consolidation and amendment, was the Criminal Law; and to this we have accordingly, not unconscious of the magnitude and difficulty of the task, earnestly and unremittingly devoted ourselves. It was necessary for its due accomplishment to consult not merely the older English Acts, to which our own had been closely assimilated, but all the most recent enactments; in addition to which, we thought it desirable to look into some other codes, colonial and foreign—as well as such treatises as were accessible, on the subject of Criminal Law Reform. The result is, after very careful deliberation by us separately and collectively, extending over a period of several months, the draft Bill which we submit with this Report in obedience to the terms of our commission, and propose for the consideration of Parliament.

The Bill consists of 464 clauses; of which number, 256 are founded on (although not in the majority of cases identical with) the English Consolidation Statutes of 1861, and 96 are more or less taken from various enactments English or Colonial, while 112 are wholly or substantially new. It embodies, therefore, among other subjects, all the enactments affecting Larceny and kindred offences, Forgery, Crimes against the Person, Malicious Injuries, Offences respecting the Coin, and Offences by Accessories, which are comprised in the six Acts of 1861; and it consolidates also the Laws against Perjury—all enactments respecting other specific classes of crime (those under the Bankruptcy Laws for instance) being omitted. The new clauses, on the other hand, suggested in almost every case by difficulties occurring within our own experience, and relating chiefly to Pleading, Procedure, and Evidence, embrace all crimes. The combined effect is the repeal and re-enactment, in a condensed form, of above fifty Colonial Statutes; while, on the very difficult subject of Punishments, every provision affecting it is introduced grouped together in one connected series. We may add, that in the framing of this extensive code, (if the term may be thought not too ambitious,) every sentence,—even the effect of each word in it—has been most carefully weighed, and every superfluous word avoided; so that no enactment shall be reasonably liable to misconstruction, and that the law shall be intelligible as far as may be to every educated person, without the embarrassment occasioned by a cloud of terms.

We have not failed to give attention to the subject, so often discussed without tangible result, of the inequality,—occasionally the inadequacy, and in some instances the undue severity,—of punishments. In deference to the expressed opinion of the Legislative Council, and in a view to the establishment of uniformity and system where certainly neither has yet prevailed, we have introduced enactments to the effect following. The Bill proposes five maximum terms of Penal Servitude; that is to say, for life, fourteen years, ten years, seven years, and five years, severally. This maximum term will, of course, in each instance, be fixed by the Legislature, according to the enormity of the crime in itself, or its injurious consequences to individuals, or to the public. We have in each clause suggested, as it was proper for us to do, what appeared to ourselves to be the desirable limit; but it is in many cases almost arbitrary, and subject to no definite principle. In any event, the limit is exclusively for the wisdom of Parliament. It seems thence to follow, that when legislative authority has thus set its mark on an offence, by assigning to the offender (in respect at least of the worst examples) his due place in the scale of crime, the Court can have no right to reduce that offence practically to a lower one, by awarding him a punishment prescribed for offenders of a stated less degree. We propose therefore to establish uniform rules for the guidance of Judges in this respect; limiting their discretion considerably in apportioning punishment, in the more aggravated forms of crime. Thus, where the fixed period is Penal Servitude for life, the minimum term proposed is seven years; and, where Servitude for fourteen years or ten years is prescribed, the minimum periods are five years and four years respectively. The rule will be a simple one, easily borne in mind; and it is contained in a single section, instead of being repeated with variations—as in the English Consolidation Acts—in above two hundred.

With respect to offences of minor degree, indicated by the terms of seven years and five years Servitude, we propose a similar but not altogether the same rule; namely, that in each class there shall be the alternative of Imprisonment—with a minimum of twelve months in the former case, but subject to no minimum limit in the latter. Every sentence to imprisonment however may (as provided in a separate section) be made more effective, by adding to it Hard Labour or Solitary Confinement, Confinement, or a direction to find Sureties for good behaviour. It must be remembered, that crimes subjected to these smaller terms of Penal Servitude are, or may be in some cases, of a trivial character, although in other instances attended with circumstances of great aggravation. The old and trusted servant, who deliberately avails himself of his position to steal some article of value, and the girl who under sudden temptation pilfers a ribbon, are necessarily in the same legal category; but the two offences differ so widely in every other aspect, as obviously to require the allowance of extreme latitude to the tribunal which apportions punishment to them. Many illustrations of similar character will readily present themselves.

Other crimes indeed, although offences of the same class and nature, vary similarly in degree; and some, as in the case of Manslaughter, may be said to vary infinitely. Not merely the circumstances attending the act or omission, in any case of crime, but those which led to it, the deliberation of the design, or its having arisen from distress or momentary pressure, its actual wickedness, the age, character, and position of the offender, the amount of injury done, or in fact contemplated and intended to have been done, and the probable effect of a light or heavy sentence in deterring other offenders, are all matters to be considered in meting out an appropriate measure of punishment. Two men may alike be guilty of robbery or housebreaking; but one, an old and hardened ruffian, shall have planned and mainly executed the crime, and the other, young and inexperienced, have been over-persuaded by him at the last moment to aid in its commission. It would be impossible therefore without injustice, and the necessity of frequent appeals to the Executive for mitigation, to prescribe one fixed rule or period—whether of Penal Servitude or Imprisonment,—for all offenders committing even the self-same act; and, still more obviously, those who simply fall within some prohibitory enactment, in which offences themselves comprising various shades of guilt are all made subject to one scale. Think what we will about particular instances, much must be left in each case to the discretion of the presiding Judge. In England, that discretion is perhaps too unfettered; and it may be, that there as well as in New South Wales it has not always been wisely exercised. Greater evils, however, it will be perceived, would flow from an entire abolition of the system. We have suggested a middle course, which has occurred to us after much consideration to be the only practicable modification.

In by far the greater number of instances, the punishments provided in the Bill are much below the English and our own existing scale.

scale. But, except in two instances, we have not felt ourselves able to propose for adoption, as in the Acts of 1861, the abolition of the penalty of death for crimes of great atrocity, at present subject in this Colony to that infliction. It is not within our province, to enter here into elaborate discussion on so vexed a subject, as that of the expediency or propriety generally of death punishments. The Legislature will determine that question for the Colony, in respect of the crimes referred to, and embraced by the present Bill. But it is right to observe, that this last (often the only dreaded) penalty is retained in every British code, as a just and salutary measure, for the technical crime of Murder, without exception or qualification of any kind. We advisedly use the word technical, in order to notice the fact that this crime, although popularly by no means so understood, may be committed without previous malice; that an immediate intention to kill any one, much less the particular individual, is not essential to it; and that, in certain cases, even an omission may suffice to constitute the legal guilt. Rejecting these considerations, let any ordinary case of achieved Murder be compared, in degree of wickedness, or in its effects on society—in reference either to the insecurity of our homes or persons, or the persons of helpless women unprotected in the wild bush, or protected only by the terror to offenders of impending death,—with one of those dreadful outrages, of late only become less common among us, of meditated, and attempted, and all but accomplished Murder. Or with Rape brutally committed; or Burglary by armed gangs, accompanying their act of violence by not terror only, but the wounding of the inmates with an intent to kill, or a reckless indifference whether the wound shall kill or not.

The act of shooting at a tame fowl with intent to steal it, whereby a man is killed whom the malefactor never saw or heard of, is Murder; and punishable by death. Two or more men engage in a design to commit some felony, perhaps equally trivial; and, in the prosecution of it, one of them in a scuffle kills his assailant. All the party are equally guilty of Murder. The Judge, moreover, by a recent statute, must in every case actually pronounce the capital sentence. A mischievous beast, known by the owner to be so, is turned loose by him among a crowd with intent merely to frighten people; and the death of one among them is the result. Or a labourer throws stones from a height into a frequented street, without giving any warning; and a passer-by is accidentally killed. In each instance the act is Murder. On the other hand, the most atrocious conspiracy to commit that crime, under circumstances combining every aggravation, is in the English

Acts

Acts lightly dealt with. And any crime whatever, or any series of crimes in succession, against either person or property, or both, if death though intended do not supervene,—a Burglary at midnight, stripping the dwelling of its contents, and violating or stabbing the inmates, or a planned Robbery with arms, accompanied by the most brutal ill-usage, and wounds that shall cripple the victim for life,—may be committed without a greater punishment than penal servitude; which the Judge may mitigate to imprisonment for a single day. We have endeavoured to avoid both extremes. Retaining the death penalty for certain more flagitious acts, the Bill proposes to take it away from cases of Murder not actually malicious, in the ordinary sense of the word, or (in their nature, or in respect of the probable consequences of the act,) not wicked in a high degree. The mode adopted, it will be perceived, although creating a distinction so great, infringes no established rule or maxim, and removes no known land-mark, of the Criminal Law. The definitions of Murder and of Manslaughter, as of Homicide Justifiable or Excusable, will remain; but, supposing the legal requisites to be established, the punishment of Murder will be made to depend, in the cases provided for, on specific established facts—and not on the Executive alone.

We pass to a subject of scarcely less practical importance. By an Imperial statute passed last year only (the 34 Victoria c. 23), Forfeiture to the Crown for Felony is abolished; the offender's property nevertheless being made answerable to a limited extent, at the discretion of the Court, for the costs of the prosecution, and the payment of compensation to persons whom his act may have injured. The Court may also, if it sees fit, assign the residue of the property to a person called an administrator, for the benefit of the offender's creditors and family—he being himself under disability, and therefore unable to deal with it. We have introduced clauses into the Bill, adopting in substance that very desirable measure; but without its elaborate and in some respects complicated provisions. It has appeared to us, that by making use of the already existing machinery of our Insolvent Act, and conferring on all such assignments, of which there will not be many, the effect of an Adjudication in that jurisdiction, the proof of the offender's debts and the collection and preservation or distribution of his property will follow as a matter of course—without the necessity of any new officer, or of special enactments and an untried code of procedure. By this simple expedient we have been able to substitute six clauses for the twenty-nine of the English Act; and at the same time to add a provision, not found in the latter, for the protection of the offender's wife, (and, through her, of their children,) during his own legal incapacity.

By the Common Law, we need scarcely observe, the forfeiture of property—of lands by attainder only—was consequent on every Felony; and such has continued to be an incident of that class of crime, whatever its absolute or assigned degree of guilt or punishment. This very heavy infliction attached, for instance, even to cases of Involuntary Manslaughter and the like; where, as a general rule, no offence morally is imputed to the convicted person. But, in Misdemeanors, the class of offences supposed to be (and ordinarily being) inferior in their degree of wrong-doing, no forfeiture of property ensued even in the grossest cases, and although marked as heinous crimes by the severity of the prescribed punishment. Perjury, Obtaining money by False Pretences, and Frauds by Trustees, Bankers, and other Agents, all being in England misdemeanors only, are examples. Yet in some of these, the last especially, forfeiture of goods would seem to be more appropriate, than in any ordinary felony. Moreover, as there can be no legal arrest for a Misdemeanor on oral information, or without a Justice's warrant, offenders of that class have an additional advantage in the chances of escape.

But if Forfeiture be abolished, or retained only to the extent and for the purposes mentioned, there appears to be no sufficient reason for omitting to place all crimes of magnitude, or crimes in degree of wrong-doing equal at least to Larceny, which (if of property above a shilling in value) was always felony, in the stated rank of Felonies. We had then to consider, whether some fixed and easily understood rule could not be established, for marking if not defining the legal distinction between Felony and Misdemeanor. And for this purpose it is proposed by the Bill to enact, that offences made punishable with Death or Penal Servitude shall be in the former, and all offences not so punishable shall belong to the latter class. We do not, therefore, suggest the abrogation of either term; although neither, in fact, ever conveyed any accurate or definite idea. An enactment that a person should by any given act be guilty of felony, has meant only that the incidents of the crime, or class of crimes so called, shall attach to the doing of such act. In that respect the law will continue the same, although the incident of Forfeiture will exist no longer. But the imposition of the penalty of Death or Penal Servitude, in any section, will be equivalent to such an enactment. The prescribed punishment for any act or omission will indicate, in every case, its class of crime; and Perjury, with Swindling, Frauds by Trustees in mis-appropriating appropriating moneys, and some other offences of the fraudulent class, become Felonies—as we think that they always ought to have been.

On the subject of Punishments we will here mention one or two provisions, adopted substantially from the Imperial statute book, and more or less in force in some of our sister Colonies. In certain cases of crimes against the person with violence, such as the crime called garotting, cases of bestiality and indecent assault, certain wanton and malicious injuries, as for instance to books and works of art in public institutions, felonious assaults by prisoners already in gaol, and offences by lads under sixteen, Whipping is provided. But we have introduced clauses for limiting the number of strokes, establishing one uniform kind of instrument, for adults and boys respectively, and (as in Victoria) authorizing the Gaol Surgeon to stay any such punishment, if in any case injurious to the offender's health. Where security for good behaviour can be given, the Judge may in certain cases defer passing any sentence; and the existing enactment is inserted, as to sending offenders to a Reformatory School. Longer periods of punishment are prescribed, for offenders more than once previously sentenced; and the mode of procedure in such cases, or cases of cumulative punishment, is simplified. The Judge need not actually pronounce, but may simply record sentence of Death, in any case where he shall see cause for so doing; but, whenever he exercises that power, he is required to state his reasons on the record. Ample powers of mitigation are reserved to the Governor in every case—to be granted with or without conditions; among which are those of residence for a time in a named district, and of good behaviour there. In a view to the occasional exercise of this last power, very stringent enactments are framed,—founded on the most recent English regulations,—for ensuring that good conduct, and summarily punishing misbehaviour. Experience will show, to what extent these Indulgences may be carried. But it will be borne in mind, that the great mass of offenders against the law must sooner or later mingle again with the community; and the proposed system, which provides for their gradual restoration, under prescribed probationary rules in the meantime, may therefore be well worth the trial.

It not unfrequently happens after a prisoner's conviction, generally on his representation, but sometimes at the instance of strangers, that doubts or questions are raised as to some part of the evidence, or some matter not in evidence, tending to impeach the verdict. Such doubts must in the course of years have presented themselves, without suggestion elsewhere, to the mind of every Judge. There is, however, as we all know, not only no Appeal in such cases, but no mode provided by law for investigating the facts represented, or satisfactorily solving any doubts so raised. The absence of such a provision has often been regretted; but there is great difficulty in applying an adequate remedy. We have endeavoured to meet this, to some extent, by an enactment enabling the Governor, or the presiding Judge in any case, to cause witnesses to be examined on oath before some Justice; and thus to obtain materials, under legal sanction, for determining how far the doubt or representation is well founded.

Many serious difficulties, some of them purely technical in character, are experienced in prosecutions for Larceny and kindred offences. For example. Under the Bailee Act, and similarly in analogous cases of Embezzlement, the appropriation relied on as fraudulent must be of the specific thing received; and the act is not punishable, if the accused was bound only to return an equivalent, but not that very thing. On trials for Cattle Stealing, and commonly for the receiving of meat the produce of cattle stolen or feloniously killed, it occasionally happens that the sex of the animal cannot be proved. A more general occurrence is, the difficulty experienced by juries in determining whether the person charged is guilty of stealing, or of receiving the property in question. There are cases clearly of theft, in the moral sense, in which criminal responsibility depends on the original intention, and not on the actual appropriation, however dishonest. Others, where the prisoner's defence is that he intended eventually to return, although he took, the property. Some gross frauds escape punishment, under the existing law, because they are not deemed representations of some matter of fact; although the line of separation from the statutory offence is a very thin one, and the wrong done the same in effect and degree. The Bill contains clauses, framed and we believe adapted to meet these several points.

Notwithstanding many useful statutes directed against Perjury, the law on this head is still defective. Some provisions are therefore inserted, for simplifying and facilitating (but in frivolous cases for restraining) prosecutions for this crime, and removing certain technical difficulties, connected with False Swearing not amounting in law to Perjury. And, as being of a kindred character, we introduce under the same head False Returns and Declarations relating to Births, Deaths, and Marriages—already punishable by existing Colonial Acts. But if these offences are punishable, because of their injurious probable results results or effect on society, we are able to discover no valid reason for not similarly punishing False Returns, and Declarations, deliberately made in fraud of the Public Revenue. The Bill proposes, therefore, to place offenders of either class in the same category.

On the subject of Witnesses, and especially those sought to be examined on behalf of accused persons, some important provisions are suggested; the most prominent among them—recommended in this Colony many years ago,—taken from recent British legislation. The first is, an enactment entitling a prisoner to call witnesses in his defence, before committal; and allowing the expense of travelling, to such of them as shall be certified to be material, the same as to witnesses for the Crown. Such a provision may be thought sufficiently recommended by its humanity and justice; but it has this recommendation also—that painful appeals to the Court or the Executive, on the ground of some fact not having been before the jury, because of the prisoner's inability to bring up a witness, will in future have their fitting answer. We propose also for adoption another English enactment, for securing the evidence of persons dangerously ill; whose testimony would probably otherwise be lost. Numerous examples might easily be given, in which this provision will be found of value. Every available precaution is taken, however, by providing for the cross-examination of the witness as soon as practicable, to prevent injustice to parties who may be implicated by any such evidence. The statements of persons, by what is termed a Dying Declaration, have always been receivable—in cases of Homicide—without oath, and without provision for cross-examination; but only where they relate to the cause of death, and the declarant has abandoned all hope of life. An alternative if not a preferable course is now provided. A sick or wounded person need not, under this new enactment, be in a state that excludes all hope of recovery, and he must be sworn. On the other hand, we propose (for a like reason) that his belief of certainly impending death shall not be necessary, to sustain in certain cases a Declaration under the old law. There are rules of practice on some other points, affecting the reception of evidence and the examination of witnesses, which the Bill seeks to alter or modify. The following are the most material. Admitting evidence in mitigation of punishment, where the Judge shall conceive it to be just on trials so to do. Allowing witnesses to state their own knowledge of a prisoner's habits and conduct when testifying to his character, instead of being as at present restricted to evidence of repute, which may or may not exist in the particular instance, as to that character. Permitting evidence to be given of inconsistent statements in contradiction of a party's own witness, although he may not have "proved adverse" within the meaning of the embarrassing enactment passed to remove difficulties in that behalf.

In cases of Bigamy, we propose that the wife (or husband—as the case may be) of the accused shall be admissible, but not compellable, to give evidence for or against the prosecution. In every other case of injury, cognizable as a crime, committed by the one against the other, the wife or husband is a competent witness. It seems therefore to be an anomaly, excused by no sufficient reason, that in this—the gravest of all offences against married life, since adultery is here preceded or followed by perjury, and abandonment or open repudiation,—the same rule has not prevailed. But the Bill provides, that marriage shall not be proved by the evidence of the alleged wife or husband alone. A very serious difficulty exists in respect of this crime. The Legislature of New South Wales, as of every other colony, has no jurisdiction over persons or things in another country or colony. No enactment passed here, therefore, having effect beyond our own territorial limits, and our Courts possessing no power, except by Imperial authority, to try offences or take cognizance of acts committed outside those limits, it seems clear that Parliament could not effectually enact a law for punishing Bigamy, where the second marriage shall have been in any country other than New South Wales. It follows that the act can only be punished, or the offender tried, in the country where such act was committed, (supposing his marriage to be an offence against the laws of that country,) or, if in any other, then by virtue solely of some enactment binding equally both territories. Such an enactment fortunately exists as part of the law of this Colony, (the 9 George 4 c. 31 s. 22, extended here by 9 George 4 c. 83, and never yet repealed,) under which Bigamy is an offence, wheresoever committed, triable in any part of the Empire. We have therefore so framed the Schedule of Repealed Acts and Statutes, as to retain that 22nd section. And, for a similar reason, the Schedule retains section 32, relating to Offences on the Sea—over which, beyond a short distance from our coasts, the Legislature has of course no jurisdiction.

Among the new provisions in our proposed Bill, those relating to Jurors, and to the trial of all Indictable Offences on one uniform system, are such as to demand special notice, in commending them to the favourable consideration of Parliament. By the existing law, every man charged with Felony, however trifling, is entitled to twenty Challenges, without assigning any cause or ground of objection, to the the persons summoned to try him. This extensive right, utterly unnecessary in any case for the ends of justice, or for securing a fair trial, enables the accused to eject nearly one-half, and in the smaller towns two-thirds, of the entire panel; and thus, either to compel a postponement of his trial, or to force into the Jury box some one person, (or perhaps more,) disposed beforehand if not resolved to acquit him. The Crown Prosecutor, on the other hand, can only exclude persons conditionally, although without limit; for, if the panel be exhausted by the double process, those objected to for the Crown must be called again—when, unless excepted to for cause assigned and proved, they are sworn to try the case, whatever their known prejudices or character. If however the offence charged be not Felony, there is no right of Peremptory Challenge on either side; whatever the nature of that offence, or the extent of feeling likely to exist respecting it or the parties to it. Our suggestions are, to place both Felonies and Misdemeanors in this respect on the same footing; to give a right of Challenge in each class alike; to reduce the number of Challenges, (that is to say, without cause assigned,) to eight or in Capital cases twelve; and to restrict the Crown's right to the same number, but to make that right absolute. The right of Challenge for cause to remain as at present. It is proposed further to assimilate the law, by extending to defendants in cases of Misdemeanor the privilege—existing at present in Felonies only—of “pleading over” to the indictment, after judgment for the Crown on demurrer.

From the earliest times, the unanimity of Jurors on Criminal trials has been secured, or sought to be so, by the expedient—hardly reconcilable with ideas of modern civilisation, or altogether with justice to the sufferers,—of denying them all food whatsoever, after leaving the jury box, until they shall have delivered their verdict. Some of them in a given case, honestly seeking to concur with their fellows, may desire time for discussion or for thought; but deliberation has been proscribed, except under that condition. We propose that a rule felt to be so oppressive, whatever may have been the reasons which led originally to its adoption, shall be abolished; and Juries be in all cases allowed reasonable refreshment. And, to avoid all question as to the propriety of discharging a Jury, by reason of exhaustion or inability to agree, a clause in the Bill vests that power in the Judge, after certain inquiries and the lapse of a specified time.

There are numerous other provisions in the Bill—such as giving power to the presiding Judge to enlarge Jury Panels, and to bring up Prisoners by Order without Writ; the allowing of Writs of Error, and facilitating

facilitating proceedings on (or in some cases dispensing with) Writs of Habeas Corpus ; the removal of difficulties in carrying out Sentences of Courts Martial ; rendering formal proofs unnecessary in certain cases ; and so on. Many of these are too technical to admit of easy explanation. A clause will be observed respecting the creation and jurisdiction of Courts of General Sessions and Petty Sessions. This has been inserted, because of the suggested repeal of the Felons Act, and existing Quarter Sessions Acts. And, at the instance of Your Majesty's Law Officers, we have added a clause limiting prosecutions for Blasphemy ; the undefined nature of which offence, it is suggested, demands definite legal restraint.

It may perhaps be thought, but not by those most competent to appreciate it, that the result of our labours thus far is scarcely adequate to the amount of time apparently occupied. We desire on this head to say, only, that we conceived it to be unbecoming our position and the importance of the work, to allow this comprehensive measure to leave our hands, without the bestowal on it of an amount of care, and minute revision, that may well excuse delay. Not only, as already observed, have every sentence and word been dwelt on and considered, but many clauses have been repeatedly re-considered, and many as often entirely remodelled, and again written and re-written.

All which we hereby certify under our hands, this 28th day of March, 1871—and of Your Majesty's reign the Thirty-fourth.

President.

Supreme Court,
1st July, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, by the desire of my brother-Commissioners, the Attorney General, the Solicitor General, Sir James Martin, Q.C., and Mr. Butler, M.L.A., that we have been appointed Commissioners, to inquire into, among other things, the Practice and Procedure of the Supreme Court at Law and in Equity.

We solicit the favour of your Honor's assistance in carrying out this important inquiry, and that you will, with that view, be good enough to send us, in the course of the present month, if you can make it convenient, whatever suggestions may occur to you for improving the Practice of the Court, in the several branches of its Jurisdiction, or any of them.

I am

Your very faithful Servant,

(Signed) ALFRED STEPHEN,
President of the Law Commission.

His Honor Mr. Justice

Copy of Circular Letter sent to the Chief Commissioner of Insolvent Estates, the Master in Equity, and the Prothonotary of the Supreme Court.

Crown Law Office,
1st July, 1870.

SIR,

I am directed by the Commissioners appointed to inquire, amongst other things, into the Practice and Procedure of the Supreme Court, at Law and in Equity, to solicit the favour of your assistance in carrying out this important inquiry; and that you will, with that view, be good enough to communicate to the Commissioners, in the course of the present month, if you can make it convenient, any suggestions which may occur to you for improving the Practice of the Court in the several branches of its Jurisdiction, or any of them.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed) ALEX. OLIVER,

Crown Law Office,
19th July, 1870.

SIR,

I am directed by the Commissioners appointed to inquire, amongst other things, into the Practice and Procedure of the Supreme Court, to solicit the favour of your co-operation.

Among the various subjects within the scope of their inquiries, to which your attention is invited, the Commissioners desire to particularize the following:—

1. The Fusion, wholly or in part, of Law and Equity.
2. The Revision and Extension of the Common Law and Equity Procedure Acts, and the amendment of the Rules and modes of Procedure in any other branch of the Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, Civil or Criminal.
3. The simplification of the Rules of Pleading in all branches of the Court's Jurisdiction.
4. The subject of New Trials.
5. The subject of Appeals.
6. The subject of Costs generally.
7. The present arrangements of the Supreme Court as to Sittings, Circuits, Terms, and Vacations.
8. Mode of Trial in Civil Cases:—
 - (1.) By a Judge and Jury.
 - (2.) By a Judge alone, either with or without consent of parties.
 - (3.) By Judicial reference to Arbitration.
9. The nature, degrees, and inequality of punishments.
10. Improvements in the Law of Evidence.
11. The Laws relating to Juries.

The twentieth of the ensuing month (August) has been fixed by the Commissioners, as the day on or before which it is desirable that all communications, relating to any of the above subjects, should be forwarded to them.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed) ALEX. OLIVER,
Secretary to the Law Reform Commission.

Special provisions.

(3.)—Arraignment Plea Trial &c.

343. If any person being arraigned on an indictment shall plead thereto "not guilty" he shall by such plea without further form be deemed to have put himself upon the country for trial and the Court shall in the usual manner order a jury for his trial accordingly. And if any person being so arraigned shall stand mute of malice or will not answer directly to the indictment the Court may order a plea of "not guilty" to be entered on behalf of such person and the plea so entered shall have the same effect as if he had actually pleaded the same.

Plea of "not guilty" and cases of refusal to plead.

344. No plea setting forth an attainder shall be pleaded in bar of an indictment unless the attainder be for the same offence as that charged in the indictment. And no indictment shall be abated by reason of any dilatory plea of misnomer or want of addition or of a wrong addition of the accused but the Court shall forthwith cause the indictment to be amended according to the truth and shall call upon such accused to plead thereto and shall proceed as if no such plea had been pleaded.

Pleas of attainder and pleas dilatory &c.

345. In any plea of autrefois convict or of autrefois acquit it shall be sufficient for the accused to allege that he has been lawfully convicted or acquitted as the case may be of the offence charged in the indictment without specifying the time or place of such previous conviction or acquittal.

Depositions by persons dangerously ill. 30 and 31 Vic. c. 35 s. 6.

354. Whenever it shall by the representation of any credible person in a summary way on oath or in case of urgency without oath be made to appear to any Justice that a person able to give material information respecting an indictable offence is dangerously ill whereby his evidence will probably be lost if not forthwith taken it shall be lawful for such Justice to take the deposition of the person so in danger touching the said offence in like manner as if a prosecution for the same were then pending before the Justice and to transmit such deposition to the Attorney General. And if afterwards on the trial of any person for the offence to which the deposition relates (or for the murder of the deponent in case of his death or alleged death by reason of such offence) it be proved to the satisfaction of the Judge that the witness is dead or probably will never be able to attend the trial his deposition may be read in evidence for or against the accused although not taken in the presence or hearing either of the party prosecuting or of such accused person. Law Ref. Com.

Proviso as to cross-examination &c. Ib. and s. 7.

355. Provided always that every such deposition shall be in the form or substantially in the form contained in the Fourth Schedule hereto and shall be subscribed by the Justice taking the same of which fact and that such deposition was lawfully taken by him the deposition itself if purporting to be signed by such Justice shall be sufficient proof. Provided also that a copy of such deposition shall be delivered to the person thereby charged with any offence or whom the same shall affect criminally as soon after the taking thereof as may be reasonably practicable and that as soon (having reference to the deponent's state of health) as shall be reasonably practicable the person so charged or affected shall have full opportunity afforded him if he shall think fit of cross-examining the deponent. And for the purpose purpose of such cross-examination it shall be lawful for any Judge of the Supreme Court or District Judge or any Police Magistrate by any order or orders in writing to cause any person so in custody to be conveyed to any place mentioned in any such order and afterwards to be returned to that custody.

Law Ref. Com.

356. After all the evidence on the part of the prosecution in any case of felony or assault with intent to commit felony or of indecent assault pending before any Justice has been heard such Justice before committing the accused or holding him to bail shall inquire whether he desires to call any witness on his behalf and if that question be answered in the affirmative the Justice shall proceed to take the deposition of every such witness and if notwithstanding the evidence so taken such Justice shall commit the accused or hold him to bail he shall transmit every such deposition with the other evidence to the Attorney General And every such witness (not being to character merely) whose evidence shall in the opinion of such Justice be material shall be bound by recognizance equally with the witnesses for the Crown to give evidence at the trial and every witness attending in obedience to any such recognizance shall be entitled to his reasonable expenses the same as if he were a witness for the Crown.

Whenever any person is so committed as last aforesaid the commitment may be to any gaol and whenever imprisonment is awarded for an offence punishable on summary conviction under this Act the Justices may in their discretion direct that the offender be imprisoned in any gaol with or without hard labor.

445. Where any person under the age of sixteen years is summarily convicted before Justices of any offence against this Act other than the one hundred and fifty-sixth and three sections next following and it shall be a first conviction the Justices may if they think fit discharge the offender upon his making such satisfaction to the party aggrieved for damages and costs as shall be ascertained by such Justices.

446. Where any person summarily convicted under this Act shall have paid the sum or sums adjudged to be paid together with costs under his conviction or have received a remission thereof from the Crown or have suffered the imprisonment provided for non-payment thereof or the imprisonment adjudged in the first instance or shall have been discharged from his conviction by the Justices as aforesaid he shall not be liable to any other proceeding for the same cause.

447. In all cases where the sum adjudged to be paid on any summary conviction exceeds five pounds or the imprisonment adjudged exceeds two months the person convicted may appeal to the next Court of General Sessions appointed to be holden in the district where the cause of complaint shall have arisen or where the day of sitting shall be within ten days then to the next Court but one after the conviction provided that such person shall give to the prosecutor and also to the clerk of the convicting Justices a notice in writing of such appeal within three days after such conviction and shall either remain in custody until the sessions or shall within eight days after the conviction enter into a recognizance with two sureties before one of such Justices conditioned to appear at the sessions and prosecute such appeal and abide the judgment of the Court thereupon and to pay such costs as shall be awarded or (where only money has been adjudged to be paid) shall at his option deposit with the clerk of the Justices the sum so adjudged together with the costs of the conviction and the sum of ten pounds in respect of the costs of the appeal.

448. Upon such notice being given and such recognizance entered into or such deposit made the convicting Justices or one of them shall liberate the convicted person if in custody and the Court appealed to shall hear and determine the matter of the appeal and make such order therein with or without costs to either party as to the Court shall seem meet and in case of affirmance of the conviction shall adjudge the offender to be punished according to the conviction and to pay such costs as shall be awarded and where any such deposit shall have been made as aforesaid may order the sum adjudged to be paid together with the costs of the conviction and of the appeal to be satisfied so far as the same will extend out of the money deposited and the residue if any (or if the conviction be quashed the whole of such money) to be repaid to the party convicted.

449. For the purposes of such appeal when perfected by such notice and recognizance or deposit as aforesaid (or by such notice and the remaining of the appellant in custody) the convicting Justices shall transmit the conviction to the Court of Sessions appealed to there to be kept among the records of the Court and whenever thereafter it shall be necessary to prove such conviction a certificate thereof to the effect mentioned in the three hundred and sixty-eighth section signed or purporting to be signed by the Clerk of the Peace or other person having the custody of the records of the Court shall be sufficient evidence to prove such conviction.

Law Ref. Com.

450. Where any conviction is quashed on appeal the Clerk of the Peace or other proper officer shall forthwith indorse on the conviction a memorandum to that effect and whenever any certificate of such conviction is given a copy of such memorandum shall be added and shall be sufficient evidence that the conviction has been quashed in every case where such certificate would be sufficient evidence of such conviction.

Where conviction is quashed.

(5.)—Formal matters—Jurisdiction &c.

Law Ref. Com.

451. Every district or place mentioned in any information deposition conviction summons warrant or order before or by any Justice shall be taken to be in New South Wales and within the jurisdiction of such Justice unless the contrary be shewn And no conviction or adjudication on appeal shall be removed by certiorari into the Supreme Court and no warrant of commitment shall be held void by reason of any defect therein provided it be therein alleged that the party has been convicted and there be a valid conviction to sustain the same.

As to averments of Jurisdiction.
Certiorari &c.

PART XI.—MISCELLANEOUS ENACTMENTS

For the protection of persons acting under this Act.

452. All actions against any person for anything done or reasonably supposed to have been done in pursuance of this Act shall be commenced within six months after the fact committed and notice in writing of such action and of the cause thereof shall be given to the defendant one month at least before the commencement of the action and in any such action the defendant may plead the general issue and give the special matter in evidence thereupon And no plaintiff shall recover in any such action if a tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before action brought or if a sufficient sum be paid into Court on behalf of the defendant after action brought And if a verdict shall pass for the defendant or the plaintiff become nonsuit or discontinue his action after issue joined or if upon demurrer or otherwise judgment be given against the plaintiff the defendant shall recover costs as between attorney and client.

No Court fees to be taken in criminal cases.
13 Vic. No. 7 s. 6.

453. It shall not be lawful to receive any Court fees for the issuing of process on behalf of any person charged with felony or misdemeanor in any Court or before any Justice nor to receive any fee from any such person for taking a recognizance of bail or issuing any writ or recording any appearance or plea to an indictment or discharging any recognizance.

Powers of Courts to bring prisoners before them.

454. Every Court or Judge shall for the purposes of any trial or prosecution for felony or misdemeanor have power by order in writing directed to any gaoler in whose custody the person may be to cause any prisoner to be brought before such Court or Judge under secure conduct in order to be tried or examined or to give evidence before such Court or Judge and immediately after such prisoner's trial or examination or his having so given evidence to be returned to his former custody Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the power of a Court of Gaol Delivery sitting for the delivery of any such gaol to cause any prisoner therein to be brought before it for any purpose without order in writing. Law Ref. Com.

Facilitating process in Habeas Corpus
cases.

455. In every case where the Supreme Court shall grant a rule to show cause why a writ of habeas corpus should not issue it shall be lawful for such Court after the return thereof and the appearance of the party called on to show cause or proof of the service on him of such rule to make all such orders as might be made after issue of the writ and the bringing up of the body Provided that the Court may cause any such writ to issue after the return of the rule if such Court shall think fit. Law Ref. Com.

Proceedings thereupon.

456. On the return of any such writ or rule it shall be lawful for the Court where the truth of the return or any matter shown for cause is disputed to refer such return or matter to any officer of the Court or commissioner for affidavits for the taking of evidence thereon orally or by affidavit and for the purposes of such reference to make all necessary orders for the attendance of witnesses and otherwise—and on the completion of the evidence the Court may dispose of the case as the circumstances appear to require with costs to be paid by and to any party or without costs as the Court may think fit. Law Ref. Com.

Power of a Judge
therein in vacation.

457. The powers conferred by the two last preceding sections respectively may in vacation be exercised by any Judge of the Supreme Court and the words Court and Supreme Court shall for that purpose be taken equally to mean any such Judge. Ibid.

Meaning of term Possession when criminal.
Ib. s. 45.

458. Whosoever shall have in his personal custody any matter the having of which in possession is by any Act expressed to be an offence or shall knowingly have any such matter in the custody or possession of any other person or knowingly have any such matter in any house building lodging or apartment or any field or other place open or enclosed whether belonging to or occupied by himself or not and whether such matter be so had for his own use or the use or benefit of another shall be deemed to have such matter in his possession within the meaning of such Act. 1 Wm. IV. c. 66 s. 28. 459.

Law Ref. Com.

459. Where by any section of this Act an offender is made liable to a greater punishment on a second or subsequent conviction whether on an indictment or before Justices or is for any second or third offence of the same kind after a conviction or two convictions before Justices made punishable as for felony or a misdemeanor it shall be immaterial whether the previous convictions or conviction shall have been under the present or any former Act.

Declaratory provision as to previous convictions.

Law Ref. Com.

460. Whenever any person is convicted of any one of the offences hereinafter mentioned as a misdemeanor at common law the Court may sentence the offender to be imprisoned for any term now warranted by law and also to be kept to hard labor during the whole or any part of such term that is to say—any cheat or fraud or conspiracy to cheat or defraud—any conspiracy to extort property or falsely to accuse any person of a crime or to obstruct prevent or defeat the course of justice—any escape or rescue from lawful custody on a criminal charge—any indecent exposure of the person or any act of selling or exposing for sale or to public view any obscene book print picture photograph or other indecent exhibition—any riot or the offence of keeping any brothel or common gambling house.

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

At Government House,
Sydney, 27 January, 1871.

PRESENT:—

His Excellency the Governor,
The Honorable the Vice-President,
The Honorable the Colonial Secretary,
The Honorable the Colonial Treasurer,
The Honorable the Secretary for Lands,
The Honorable the Secretary for Works,
The Honorable the Solicitor General, and
The Honorable the Postmaster General.

WHEREAS by an Act passed by the Parliament of New South Wales in the 22nd year of the reign of Her present Majesty, and intituled "An Act for establishing District Courts and for enabling the Judges thereof to act as Chairmen of Quarter Sessions," it was enacted by the 42nd clause thereof, that it should be lawful for His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, from time to time, to alter the scale of Fees mentioned in the Schedule to the said Act, in any particular: Provided that no such alteration "shall come into operation until the expiration of one month after the same shall have been notified to both Houses of the Parliament of the Colony, and that no such alteration shall take effect if within such period either House of Parliament shall by an address to the Governor signify its dissent therefrom." And whereas it appears to the Governor and Executive Council to be expedient and necessary to alter the said scale of Fees in certain particulars: Now therefore His Excellency the Governor, by and with the advice of the Executive Council, doth by this present Order authorize and direct the following alterations in the scale of Fees stated in the Schedule to the said Act, that is to say:—

No. 1.

PETITION FROM THE INHABITANTS OF BURROWA, &c.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable Somerset Richard, Earl of Belmore, &c., &c., &c., Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales.

The Petition of the Inhabitants of Burrowa and the surrounding District, in Public Meeting assembled,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH:—

That in 1866 your Excellency's predecessor, with advice of the Executive Council, was pleased to proclaim Burrowa as a place at which a District Court should be held under the District Courts Act of 1858. That District Courts have, in conformity with that proclamation, been held since 1866 to the present time, and have contributed greatly to the benefit and convenience of the public.

That the Petitioners have heard, with surprise and regret, that your Excellency has, with the advice of your Executive Council, recently issued a Proclamation, cancelling the appointment of Burrowa as a place at which District Courts may be held, and ordering that all such cases as were formerly within the jurisdiction of the Burrowa Circuit should be entered and heard at Yass.

That this action on the part of the Government will cause very great inconvenience and loss to the inhabitants of the district, and they venture to submit the following, among other reasons, which might be adduced in support of their present application:—

1. The population within the district formerly assigned as under the jurisdiction of the Court at Burrowa, amounts to fully 5,000, and is rapidly increasing, the nearest point of connection with the Yass District being 20 miles distant from that place, and the extreme limits of the district 85 miles from Yass.
2. That Burrowa is nearly 40 miles distant from Yass.
3. That since the establishment of a Court at Burrowa the number of complaints filed is 184; the fees received, £125; the expenses incurred, about £180.
4. That although some complaints were filed for sums under £10, yet most of them were necessarily brought in the District Court, the statutory limitation under the Small Debts Act preventing their being brought in that Court.
5. That the importance to the district of the Court being held at Burrowa is not fully shown by the number of complaints filed in that Court, the fact of creditors having the means of obtaining judgments, without the trouble and cost of a journey to another district, acting favourably in inducing debtors to pay or otherwise arrange with their creditors in cases where, but for such a remedy, they would put them at defiance.
6. That the cost of maintaining the Court at Burrowa has not exceeded £20 per annum, while the saving in time and money to the inhabitants of the district by having a local Court has been very considerable.
7. That Yass and Young are both in the same Circuit; and as Burrowa is in the line of road to and from these places, the travelling expenses of the Judge are not increased by having to attend at Burrowa on his way from Yass to Young.
8. That the number of cases entered at Burrowa is believed to be very much greater than at many other places to which the benefits of the Court are still extended, and are believed to be greater than the number at Young, and nearly as many as at Forbes.
9. That the recommendation, in which the present action of the Government is stated to have been taken, was made last year, but the Legislature have very recently recognized the necessity and voted the necessary estimate for the maintenance of the District Court at Burrowa.

That no sufficient grounds have been shown for depriving a large and populous district of the benefits of an Act, which was passed for the purpose of facilitating the recovery of debts, and particularly in outlying districts.

The Petitioners therefore respectfully pray that your Excellency may take the premises into your favourable consideration, and, with the advice of your Executive Council, cause the Proclamation referred to, so far as it affects Burrowa, to be cancelled.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.

(Signed on behalf of the meeting,)

WILLIAM D. CAMPBELL, Chairman.

At a Public Meeting of the inhabitants of Burrowa and surrounding district, held at Burrowa on 2nd May, 1870 (Mr. W. D. Campbell in the chair), the following resolutions were moved, seconded, and carried unanimously, viz.:—

1. Proposed by Mr. Henry Hayes, J.P., and seconded,—“That this meeting views with regret and surprise the action of the Government in discontinuing the sittings of the District Court at Burrowa.”

2. Proposed by Mr. Michael O'Neill and seconded by Mr. F. W. Hume,—“That this meeting views with dissatisfaction the action of the Government, in having on insufficient grounds withdrawn from the inhabitants of a large and populous district the benefits which it was the objects of the District Courts Act to confer on outlying districts, more especially as the Legislature have recently, at the request of the Government, sanctioned the continuance of the Court at Burrowa, by voting the Estimates for its maintenance.”

3. Proposed by Mr. George Eason—seconded by Mr. P. H. Scott,—“ That the Petition now read be adopted, and signed by the Chairman, on behalf of the meeting, and forwarded to the Member for the district for presentation ; and that he be requested to use every legitimate means for obtaining the cancellation of the proclamation discontinuing the Burrowa District Court.”

GENTLEMEN,

In transmitting to you the accompanying papers, respecting the abolition of certain District Courts, and particularly with reference to Petition from inhabitants of Burrowa against cancellation of Burrowa as a place for holding District Courts, I am directed by the Honorable the Attorney General to invite you to have the goodness to favor him with a report upon the subject of the enclosed Petition from Burrowa, for the information and guidance of the Government.

Papers herewith to be returned.

I have, &c.,

W. E. PLUNKETT,

P.S.—Please to return to this office the accompanying papers, with report, at your earliest convenience, in order that the other District Court Judges, who attended the meeting at this office in the month of May, 1869, may also be invited to favor with their report thereon in like manner.

SIR,

With reference to Petition, and other papers relating to the cancellation of the District Court at Burrowa, submitted under blank cover of 30th ultimo (numbered 70/4,237), I am directed by the Attorney General to state, for the information of the Hon. the Colonial Secretary, that the District Court Judges, by whom the discontinuance of this Court was recommended, have been invited to report upon the subject of the Petition, for the information and guidance of the Government.

SIR,

In returning the accompanying papers, received from you under blank cover of 30th ultimo, respecting the cancellation of the Burrowa District Court, I am directed by the Hon. the Attorney General to state, that as he has no personal acquaintance with the requirements of the Burrowa District, he is not in a position to offer any advice in opposition to the report of Mr. District Court Judge Francis, a copy of which is forwarded herewith (together with a copy of that of Judges Dowling and Simpson.)

The Attorney General concurs with Judge Francis in his desire to economize the public money, which he thinks has been somewhat too lavishly expended in the establishment and maintenance of Courts of very small importance, and at insufficient distances from larger towns.

District Court Judge Francis to the Attorney General.

Sydney, 15 June, 1870.

Sir,

I have the honor to state that I see no sufficient reasons for dissenting from the decision arrived at by Her Majesty's Government, in reference to the discontinuance of District Courts at Burrowa and Tumut. That decision appears to me to be based simply on grounds of economy; nor can I affirm that in the case of either of the above towns an inconvenience will be inflicted on the inhabitants of so grave a character as to counteract the saving which will certainly be effected. In point of fact I am by no means sure that there will be any addition caused to the aggregate amount of travelling now done by suitors and their legal advisers, when the change shall take effect in bringing Burrowa to Yass or Young, and Tumut cases to Gundagai.

Sir,

We have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 3rd instant, requesting us to report upon the enclosed Petition, respecting the abolition of the District Court at Burrowa.

In reply, we beg to state that we are not in a position to make any such report; our recommendation depended upon the statements of the only person present at the meeting of the Judges and Crown Prosecutors, who was able, from his experience, to give us any information as to the necessity or otherwise of a Court being held at Burrowa.

Judge Francis, who is at present in Sydney, will be able to give the Government any information they may require.

W. SMALL, Esq., J.P., to THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Swan Creek,
Clarence River, 4 May, 1870.

HONORABLE SIR,

I have the honor to submit for your consideration the conduct of His Honor Judge Meymott, during the sittings of the District Court at Grafton, on Monday, the 2nd May instant. I have been a disinterested witness in a case, J. Devoy v. John M'Phee, and after giving my evidence (on oath), truthfully, His Honor remarked, "I can believe as much of your evidence, and as little, as I like," implying that my evidence was corrupt and untruthful, although the other witnesses examined in the case corroborated my statements, yet His Honor confined his insulting remarks to myself and the defendant in the case, a course of action which renders my reputation as a Justice of the Peace and as a good citizen greatly damaged. I have resided here for the last thirty years, and have been for years a Justice of the Peace and have been always held in high esteem and respect by my brethren on the Bench, and by the public at large; and my integrity to serve the ends of justice was never doubted until His Honor Judge Meymott unwarrantably destroyed it. May I therefore ask you the favour of informing me if His Honor is justified in destroying the reputation and usefulness of any of the members of the Bench, by such insulting remarks as that referred to above.

I have, &c.,
WILLIAM SMALL.

MR. J. M'PHEE to THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Swan Creek,
Clarence River, 16 May, 1870.

HONORABLE SIR,

I have the honor to submit for your consideration the conduct of His Honor Judge Meymott, in insulting me publicly at the sitting of the District Court at Grafton, on the 2nd instant. In Devoy's case v. me, as you may see by the accompanying Grafton newspaper, His Honor informed me, after I gave my evidence on OATH that though I was on my oath yet "I did not speak a word of truth." The above insulting language was applied to myself and another gentleman of high standing, when no one could see in what respect my evidence differed from my other witnesses to whom such language was not applied. May I ask you the favour of informing me if His Honor is justified in destroying the reputation of any citizen without any apparent reason?

I have, &c.,
JOHN M'PHEE.

In transmitting the accompanying copy letter of 4th instant, from William Small, Esq., J.P., complaining of you in reference to the case Devoy v. M'Phee, at the sitting of the District Court, Grafton, on the 2nd instant, I am directed by the Hon. the Attorney General to invite you to have the goodness to offer such answer or explanation, as you may think fit, to the complaint of Mr. Small.

MR. DISTRICT COURT JUDGE MEYMOTT to THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Woodside, Parramatta,
21 May, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 16th instant, enclosing one from Mr. Small, of Swan Creek, from which it appears that that gentleman is highly offended at my having doubted the correctness of part of his evidence.

Out of personal respect to yourself, and not because I think I ought to be called upon to give any explanation, I proceed to do so. He, Mr. Small, was a witness for the defendant in an action for making a cutting or drain, whereby 14 millions of gallons of water was made to flow every twenty-four hours on the plaintiff's land, which would otherwise have flowed into Swan Creek, Mr. Small's property (so much for his being disinterested). The plaintiff and three witnesses proved that his land was considerably injured by this act, and completely cut off a portion of it. He estimated his damage at £60.

The

Proved by the surveyor.A farm of 52 acres.

The defendant himself said he did not think the plaintiff's land was deteriorated more than 5s. per acre, but Mr. Small said it was not injured one fraction. He also said that a hollow part of the plaintiff's land, called the Dry Gully, which the plaintiff swore was dry in dry weather (whence its name), and over which his cattle used to go and graze on the other side, and which they were now prevented from doing, was always full of water.

As this kind of evidence was not only contrary to the nature of things but in direct opposition to (instead of being confirmed by) that of other witnesses, I dare say I made the remark Mr. Small complains of.

The Secretary for Lands to The Colonial Secretary.

Dear Cowper,

In forwarding the enclosed letter from Mr. William Small, complaining of the conduct of Judge Meymott, I am bound to testify in favour of Mr. Small, that I have known him and his family for years, and believe him to be an honest, conscientious Magistrate as any in the Colony; while, on the other hand, Mr. Justice Meymott's conduct has not escaped severe censure, even from the Executive Government. Upon the merits of this case can offer no opinion.

Yours sincerely,
WILLIAM FORSTER.

W. Small, Esq., J.P., to The Secretary for Lands.

Swan Creek, 6 May, 1870.

Dear Sir,

Having been known to you for so many years, I take the liberty of troubling you with a few lines, showing you how I have been insulted by Judge Meymott, and to ask you to bring the matter before your colleagues. I have written the Attorney General on the subject. I was a witness in a case, J. Devoy v. J. M'Phee; after I had given my evidence (on oath), truthfully, the Judge told me, in open Court, "I can believe as much of your evidence, and as little, as I like." My evidence was corroborated by other witnesses.

Having lived on the Clarence for thirty years, and for a long period been a Justice of the Peace, and held in the highest estimation by my brother J.P.'s, and by the public at large, and if Judge Meymott is allowed to insult a Magistrate in open Court, by doubting the correctness of his evidence, I shall feel myself bound to resign my Commission as a J.P.

As I have been known to you from a boy, I thought you would take the case into consideration, and see if there was anything to be done in the matter, as I feel the insult keenly.

Apologizing for troubling you,

I am, &c.,
WILLIAM SMALL.

P.S.—The defendant in the above case, although a poor man, is strictly honest and truthful, having been known to me for a number of years. The Judge told him he did not believe a word he had spoken.

COMPLAINTS OF JUDGE MEYMOTT.

1. WE have had under consideration the several complaints made against Mr. District Judge Meymott, and his answers thereto.

Those complaints are as follows:—

* * * * *
From Mr. Wm. Small, J.P., and Mr. John M'Phee, complaining that the Judge used towards them unduly disparaging and offensive language in reference to their evidence, in a case heard before him at Grafton.
* * * * *

We regret to be compelled to report that a consideration of these various charges, and the Judge's replies thereto, has left upon our minds an impression that the complainants are not without grounds for their dissatisfaction, dissatisfaction, at least as regards some of the cases above enumerated; and further, that the Judge too often exhibits a deficiency in that patience, temper, and courtesy towards jurors, witnesses, and advocates, which are so essential to the maintenance of respect for the Bench, and without which justice itself may not be satisfactorily administered. We do not however find sufficient grounds to justify the Executive in calling upon the Judge to show cause why he should not be removed; nor can we advise that an exchange of Circuits should be directed as that would be to deprive another district of a Judge with whom the people there are satisfied, as well as to remove such Judge for reasons not affecting him, but affecting Mr. Judge Meymott. The defects however in Mr. Judge Meymott's execution of his office, which we have noticed above, are, we think, sufficiently obvious to make it proper, and we recommend that the Executive should cause to be conveyed to Judge Meymott the expression of its regret that, after a careful consideration of the various complaints against him, and of his answers thereto, they are forced to the conclusion that the complainants are not without grounds for their dissatisfaction in several of the particulars enumerated by them, and that they are of opinion that he occasionally exhibits a deficiency in that patience, temper, and courtesy towards jurors, witnesses, and advocates which are so essential to the maintenance of respect for the Bench, and to the satisfactory administration of justice, and that they trust that there may not be such further complaints as to impose upon the Governor and the Executive Council the necessity of considering whether it is compatible with the public interests that he should continue to retain his office.

As the Governor and Executive Council alone have any authority in reference to the conduct of District Court Judges, we think that any such caution as we have proposed should proceed from the Government, under a Minute of the Executive Council; and we have therefore only to submit our views for consideration by His Excellency and the Council, forwarding at the same time the original complaints and answers for like consideration. It will probably be considered necessary to convey * * * to Messrs. Small and M'Phee replies to their complaints, stating that the Judge has been called upon to answer them; that his answers have been received and considered by the Government; and that it regrets that they (respectively) should have had any grounds of complaint against the Judge.

Having regard to the importance of upholding the position of the Judges and the dignity and independence of the Bench, we do not recommend that the Government should go further in its replies to the complainants.

I ADVISE that effect be given to the accompanying recommendation of the Crown Law Officers, with regard to certain complaints made against Mr. District Court Judge Meymott and his answers thereto; and that authority be accordingly given for conveying to Judge Meymott, on the part of the Government, an expression of its regret that, after a careful consideration of the various complaints against him and of his answers thereto, it is forced to the conclusion that the complainants are not without grounds for their dissatisfaction in several of the particulars enumerated by them; and for informing him that the Government is further of opinion that he occasionally exhibits a deficiency in that patience, temper, and courtesy towards jurors, witnesses, and advocates, which are so essential to the maintenance of respect for the Bench, and to the satisfactory administration of justice,—and trusts that there may not be such further complaints as to impose upon the Governor and the Executive Council the necessity of considering whether it is compatible with the public interests that he should continue to retain his office.

No. 1.

THE REV. DR. LANG TO THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sydney, 26 May, 1870.

MY DEAR SIR,

The bearer of this note is Mr. Robert Coulson, a son of the late Quartermaster Coulson, of the Buffs, who died in Sydney about forty years since. He has been residing for years in New Zealand, and is now living at Stroud. He is desirous of being appointed to the Magistracy, which I am given to understand would be desirable for the neighbourhood. I was myself well acquainted with Mr. Coulson many years since, but had lost sight of him for a long time past. Be so good as exercise your own judgment in the case and act accordingly.

I am, &c.,

JOHN DUNMORE LANG.

No. 2.

[Extract.]

NOTICE OF MR. R. COULSON'S APPOINTMENT AS J.P.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 9 August, 1870.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to appoint the undermentioned gentlemen to be Magistrates of the Colony, viz. :—

Coulson Robert, Stroud.

CHARLES COWPER.

No. 3.

JOHN ASHLEY, Esq., to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Stroud, Port Stephens,
22 August, 1870.

SIR,

As Chairman of a large public meeting held here on Saturday last, the 20th instant, I was requested to lay before you the views and feelings of the people of this district, upon hearing of the appointment of Mr. Robert Coulson to the Commission of the Peace.

I was also requested to forward to you the names of two gentlemen, residents of the district, proposed at the meeting, in consequence of the vacancy on the Bench, caused by the death of the late Captain H. E. Hill, J.P., as fit and proper persons to hold such an appointment.

I have therefore the honor to enclose copies of the resolutions which were carried without a dissentient voice, and the names of the movers and seconders of those resolutions; and I will sir, with your permission, embody, in as few words as possible, the feelings of the whole district upon this subject, to give expression to which it was thought best to call a public meeting.

I may say that the general feeling of the whole district, upon hearing of the appointment, was one of astonishment mingled with incredulity, upon the part of those who had not seen the Gazette.

The general cause of these feelings is, that Robert Coulson is only known as an elderly asthmatic man, who has during the last four years thrice been upon a visit to the schoolmaster of the village; that he was begging and borrowing, and appeared generally in very reduced circumstances, but stated that his "sons in Queensland" were very "wealthy," coupled with the fact that he had no business, profession, or calling whatever, and that once at least he greatly disgraced himself by indecent behaviour with the black aboriginal women in the public streets of Dungog, whilst intoxicated, and in the presence of Stroud residents who were attending the last District Court held in that town.

This disgusting conduct I was an eye-witness to, as was my wife, most unwillingly, we being detained in that town by the flood prevalent at that time.

I have, &c.,

JOHN ASHLEY, L.S.A.

[Enclosure in No. 3.]

Resolutions passed at a public meeting held at the Court House, Stroud, on the 20th of August, 1870.

1st Resolution—Moved by George Ogden, Esq.; seconded by Mr. Alfred Bourne,—

That in the opinion of this meeting, Robert Coulson, the person lately appointed to a Commission in the Peace, is wholly unfit to be elevated to that position, and is a most improper person to be raised to a seat on the Stroud Bench, and one who would be likely to bring the authority of the Court into contempt.

2nd Resolution—Moved by Mr. P. W. Tyrie, seconded by Mr. Chas. Dee,—

That our Chairman be requested to draw up a memorial embodying the views and wishes of this meeting, and to forward the same to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary immediately.

Names of gentlemen proposed as fit and proper persons to hold a Commission in the Peace.

(1.) Proposed by Mr. P. W. Tyrie, seconded by Mr. Rd. Hinton,—

George Ogden, Esq., Stroud House.

(2.) Proposed by Mr. Christopher M'Rae, seconded by Mr. Edward Price,— Deighton Taylor, Esq., The Peach-trees.

No. 6.

THOS. NICHOLLS, Esq., J.P., AND J. BARLING, Esq., J.P., to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Stroud, 3 October, 1870.

SIR,

We, the undersigned members of the Stroud Bench of Magistrates, beg respectfully to address you on the matters following relating to this Bench.

The Stroud Bench now consists of the following members, viz.:—Thomas Nicholls, Stroud,—Joseph Barling, Booral House, near Stroud,—Philip Snape, Bullah Delah, Myall River,—and the recently appointed Robert Coulson.

Our attention has been called to the proceedings taken at a public meeting, held at the Court House, Stroud, on the 20th August last, with reference to the appointment of the last-named gentleman.

Resolutions were unanimously passed condemnatory of the appointment of Mr. Coulson, and we believe there is much of truth in the damaging reports prevalent affecting Mr. Coulson's eligibility to a seat on the Bench of Magistrates.

We are altogether ignorant of the recommendation leading to this step, and we cannot but look on this appointment as calculated to lower the character of the Bench in the eyes of the whole district, and to shake confidence in the administration of justice.

We are informed that the names of two other gentlemen were mentioned as suitable for a place in the Commission of the Peace. One of those gentlemen, Mr. Ogden, we have long known as a respected inhabitant of Stroud, and we can cordially concur in recommending his appointment.

We are, &c.,

THOS. NICHOLLS, J.P.
J. BARLING, J.P.

No. 7.

PHILIP SNAPE, Esq., J.P., to THE PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

Stroud, Port Stephens,
8 October, 1870.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to draw your attention to the following circumstance:—Having heard that a correspondence purporting to be from the Stroud Bench is being carried on between the Messrs. Nicholls and Barling and the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, with reference to the appointment of Mr. Robert Coulson to the Magistracy, and inimical to him, I called at the Police Office this morning with a view of perusing it. Mr. Laman, the Clerk of Petty Sessions, informed me that the correspondence referred to was not on record, nor had he seen it. In the event of this gentleman having been attacked or injured in any way, I, as a member of the Bench, respectfully desire to protest against what may be termed a secret correspondence, the aim and object of which being to convey to the Government an unfavourable impression as to the character and standing of Mr. Coulson, whose appointment to the Commission of the Peace I deem to be an eligible one; in which opinion, I desire to add, I am joined by a large section of this community.

I have, &c.,
PHILIP SNAPE, J.P.

SIR,

With reference to your letter of the 8th instant, respecting certain alleged representations relative to the recent appointment of Mr. Robert Coulson, of Stroud, to the Commission of the Peace, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that the appointment in question was cancelled almost immediately after it was made; the Government, upon due inquiry, being satisfied that it had been improvidently so made.

2. I may add that a writ of supersedeas will be issued in due course.

Sydney, 21 October, 1870.

SIR,

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to transmit herewith a writ of supersedeas, addressed to the gentleman named in the margin, and to request that, in compliance therewith, his name may be struck out of the Commission of the Peace deposited in your office.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

[Enclosure in No. 10.]

VICTORIA, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, and so forth:

To Robert Coulson, of Stroud, Esq.,—

Greeting:

Whereas, by our Commission or letters patent under the Great Seal of our Colony of New South Wales, and under the hand of our right trusty and well-beloved cousin and councillor, Somerset Richard, Earl of Belmore, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our Colony of New South Wales, bearing date at Government House, Sydney, the ninth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, we did assign you, one of our Justices of the Peace in our Colony of New South Wales, either alone, or with any one or more of our Justices as were then or should thereafter be commissioned by us in that behalf, to keep and cause to be kept all laws, ordinances, and statutes in force within our said Colony, and all Acts of the Legislature of our said Colony for the punishing of offenders, the preservation of the peace, and for the quiet rule, welfare, and good government of our people in

Dated 19th
October, 1870.
Robert Coulson,
of Stroud, Esq.

in our said Colony, and to have, exercise, and discharge all the powers, authorities, and duties belonging or pertaining to the office of a Justice of the Peace in our said Colony; and therefore we commanded you that, to keep the peace, and all laws, ordinances, and statutes, and all and singular other the premises, you diligently applied yourself, doing therein what to justice appertained, according to the law and custom of England and of our said Colony: and whereas it being deemed expedient to remove you from such office of a Justice of the Peace, our Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our said Colony has been pleased to relieve you from the discharge of such your duty as one of our Justices of the Peace in our Colony aforesaid: Now forasmuch as, for the reason before stated, it is expedient that the said Commission or letters patent, so far as the same relates to you, the said Robert Coulson, which authorizes and empowers you to act as one of our said Justices of the Peace of our said Colony, may be superseded. For that end, we do therefore, by these presents, will and command you, the said Robert Coulson, that you stay and surcease all further proceedings by you taken or done upon or under our said Commission or letters patent, and we do permit you to surcease therefrom; and we do declare the same, so far as relates to you, to be and the same is superseded accordingly. In testimony whereof, we have caused this our letter or writ of supersedeas to be made patent, and the Great Seal of our said Colony to be hereunto affixed.

(L.S.) Witness our right trusty and well-beloved cousin and councillor, Somerset Richard, Earl of Belmore, our Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our Colony of New South Wales, at Government House, Sydney, in our said Colony, this nineteenth day of October, in the thirty-fourth year of our reign, and in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy.

BELMORE.

By His Excellency's Command,
CHARLES COWPER.

Entered on record by me, in Register of Patents, No. 9, page 546, this nineteenth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy.

HENRY HALLORAN,
Under Secretary.

THE PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY to ROBERT COULSON, Esq.

Sydney, 21 October, 1870.

SIR,

Referring to the proceedings of a public meeting, held at Stroud, on the 20th August last, respecting your appointment as a Magistrate, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that, under the circumstances brought under notice, His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to issue a writ of supersedeas removing you from the Commission of the Peace, and that the same has been duly forwarded to the Prothonotary of the Supreme Court.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

No. 12.

PHILIP SNAPE, Esq., J.P., to THE PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

Stroud, 24 October, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, numbered as per margin; and, in reply, venture to express a hope that the writ of supersedeas alluded to may remain in abeyance until the sense of the community is ascertained with reference to the appointment of Mr. Robert Coulson to the Magistracy. I respectfully make the request, knowing that the public meeting, which I have been given to understand was convened for the purpose of considering Mr. Coulson's eligibility for the aforesaid office, originated, as I have recently been informed, with one individual, who of late has been most hostile, and has never failed in expressing his antipathy to Mr. Coulson in every possible way.

In conclusion, I desire to add that, in a pecuniary point of view, Mr. Coulson is independent.

I have, &c.,
PHILIP SNAPE, J.P.

No. 13.

ROBERT COULSON, Esq., to THE PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

Stroud, 31 October, 1870.

SIR,

Referring to your letter of the 21st instant, in which you inform me that His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to issue a writ of supersedeas, removing me from the Commission of the Peace, on account of a public meeting held at Stroud, on the 20th August last, respecting my appointment,—I have the honor to state that this is the first opportunity that has been given me to defend myself. I am told that a few persons met at the Police Office, Stroud, on the 20th August last, at the instigation of one John Ashley, an apothecary, who, being influenced by malicious feelings towards me, induced one George Ogden, a person of weak mind, to utter foul and slanderous words concerning me at this said meeting; the report of which, being sent by John Ashley to the Editor of the Maitland Mercury, for publication, was pronounced to be too libellous for insertion.

I am perfectly unconscious of ever having given occasion to any one to speak disparagingly of me; I therefore trust the Government will do me the favour to afford me an opportunity to clear my character, by sending me a copy of the charges made against me.

I have, &c.,
ROBERT COULSON.

THE PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY to ROBERT COULSON, Esq.

Sydney, 17 November, 1870.

SIR,

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 31st ultimo, respecting your recent removal from the Commission of the Peace, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that sufficient grounds for cancelling your appointment were stated in the resolutions passed at the public meeting held at Stroud, on the 20th August last.

22 August, 1870.

2. I am at the same time to enclose herewith a copy of the letter of Mr. Ashley, Chairman of the meeting, transmitting the resolutions in question.

I have, &c.,

No. 1.

STATEMENT OF COMMITTING MAGISTRATES.

On the 17th day of May last, Eliza Davis, the mother of John Phillips, aged 9 or 10, swore to an information, stating her son wanders about the streets of Sydney, in no ostensible lawful occupation, on which a warrant was granted to her. This information and warrant were before us, and are now attached to the proceedings.

When Mrs. Davis first obtained the warrant she resided at Redfern. In a day or two after it was granted, she came to the office and requested it should not be put in force, as her son was behaving better. This showed she did not want to part with him as long as he conducted himself well. She afterwards removed to Sydney, and as her son recommenced his vagrant conduct the warrant was enforced.

If the constable's evidence as to the treatment the boy received was correct, it was the duty of the police to have laid a charge of cruelty against the parents; but we have to remark that Phillips, when questioned by us, would not support the constable's statement in any way, nor say one word against his mother, but on the contrary, showed considerable affection towards her.

We have to remark that it was not the first time that Mr. Long had sat on this Bench, as stated by Mr. Forster.

We think that, on reconsidering the case, we have acted legally and mercifully, not believing the chastisement inflicted as excessive, there being no marks of violence whatever on the boy's neck or body.

MY DEAR HALLORAN,

The attached report of Acting Sub-Inspector Waters, I think, shows conclusively that the police have neither been guilty of neglect in this matter nor have reason to take any further action in the case.

Yours faithfully,

JNO. McLERIE.

No. 1 Station,
5 December, 1870.

ACTING Sub-Inspector Waters begs to report, with reference to the case of the boy John Phillips, referred to in the attached memo., that he was present in the Court during the greater part of the investigation of the case, and is of opinion that the punishment inflicted by the parents on the boy, as sworn to in evidence, did not disclose any cruelty, and nothing more than might be considered necessary chastisement for misconduct; and this must also have been the opinion of the Magistrates who heard the case, as they gave no instructions to have proceedings taken against the parents. The boy, when in Court, was dressed in a complete suit of tweed; he looked healthy and well; he had no marks of violence; and on being asked by the Bench whether the evidence was true, &c., declined to say one word against his parents. He was also questioned by Mr. Waters in the police-station, when not influenced by the mother's presence, and still refused to say anything against them. Constable Groundwater is a witness of truth, and the evidence he gave is correct, but where he describes the boy as being three days without a shirt; it appears he was at the time dressed the same as when in Court—his shirt being then not visible. The boy was no doubt greatly neglected by the parents, and not looked after as he should have been; but in the absence of his own testimony, or any direct proof of cruelty, it would be inadvisable to institute proceedings against them.

GEORGE WATERS,
Acting Sub-Inspector of Police.

Forwarded for the information of the Inspector General of Police.—GEO. READ, Inspector. 6 December, 1870.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

No. 1.

PETITION OF DR. F. BEER.

To His Excellency SIR W. T. DENISON, K.C.B., Governor General of New South Wales, &c., &c.
MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—

SIR,

In the year 1853 I delivered, in the School of Arts in Sydney, a lecture on influenza, distributing at the time gratis a large number of printed copies of the same amongst the audience. I recommended in that pamphlet the sulphate of quinine as a specificum against this disease, when administered in its primary stage. This assertion, founded on my own experience, and formed during the influenza epidemic in this Colony, while attending professionally on a large number of patients, stands as yet undisputed.

In the year 1855 I introduced and distributed in this Colony, up to that time in these regions unknown, alkaloid called santonin, as a specific vegetable anthelminticum, as my advertisements and those of Mr. John Dent, druggist in Sydney, will show. I have done so, and published its name regardless to my pecuniary interest, and have sold the large parcel at my command ordered, and received by me from Paris (via overland route), at a moderate advanced price in small parcels, while a retail sale in my druggist-shop in George-street would have realized to me some thousands of pounds. That drug santonin stands now high in the esteem of the profession as the most efficacious, yet quite harmless, anthelmintic, which is, in virtue of its tastelessness (sic) and smallness of dose required so peculiarly adapted to the little world of children. It is this drug which Mr. Watson, chemist and druggist in Sydney, advertises a hora as the newly-discovered vegetable anthelmintic. I sold and lent Mr. Watson from my stock of santonin as late as in the beginning of 1856, while up to that time no other santonin was in the Colony but what had gone through my hands.

It is in consequence of my exertions on this island why the quite late information regarding Dr. Leichhardt (a quasi countryman of mine) have been given, and which will, I doubt not, lead to his ultimate recovery.

At the time of the investigation (March, 1856) of a charge for crime for which I am now labouring under a sentence, my daybook, containing comments and notes of value, became abstracted by a German of the name of Phillip Weiss, who had lived with me for some time, and had ample opportunity to convince himself of the practicability and success of several of my plans, and by aiding me in the trial of the implement with which I do myself the honor to acquaint you presently. That Mr. Weiss has left Sydney some months ago very abruptly, which circumstance is the reason why I wish to disclose to your Excellency, now while I am a prisoner, what I had contemplated to do to you just previous to my misfortune, in order to prevent him to take undue advantage of me with the partial knowledge which he possesses of my discoveries. The implement which I suggest to your Excellency for test is one which will, I hope, on account of its extreme simplicity of construction, portability, unlimited power, cheapness, and of the great saving of time and manual labour which its use affords, supersede all those heavy and complicated machinery, as windlasses, &c., now used for heavy work in stone quarries and other places, while it circumvents in a measure the common rule in physics,—what is gained in strength is lost in speed. It will be available to even the smallest farmer, and will, I hope, be found particularly serviceable in the bush to clear ground, unroot any tree, and supersede the axe and fire in falling them, as it virtually unroots a tree by laying some short logs close to its root, when it falls, and leaves the ground at once open for the plough, and clear of stumps and roots.

It is this implement the application of a long-armed lever, similar to a steelyard, with two movable short grappling chains, which are fastened alternately in the nearest link of the combining chains, while the handle is moved to and fro a sufficient increase of power will always be obtained as in the steelyard, as well as by adjusting the grappling irons closer to the centre bolt of the lever as by an elongation of its handle, but it cannot naturally come nearer to the centre bolt than yet to allow the grappling irons to be hooked at least one link above each other at each rotation of the handle to the extremity of the radius it prescribes. If found desirable, another hook moving on the same centre bolt, but in the opposite direction, will take up the slack of the chain gained, and so save labour; in a case of an accident to the grappling chains while it keeps the bulk of the lever swinging free, preventing a loss of the advantage gained where an elastic existence is to be overcome, as it is the case with some species of trees. It allows, moreover, the workman at the handle at any moment to relinquish his hold with impunity. Should horse power be made available, a wheel on the end of the lever would be all that is necessary. Thus is a substitute given for the desideratum of Archimedes to any given work by supplying the hypomochthion, a double set of grappling grappling chains, but in an opposite direction will allow the work to be performed with the same ease, should even the chain present an incline plane, and no snatch block be to be obtained.

Should your Excellency approve of the utility of the above implement for such work then I am ready to suggest to you a plan of radically curing the so-called scab in sheep (the Acarus Scabiei), a cure in its way as simple as the above implement. The application will be without detriment to the fleece, and can be performed to a score or a hundred of sheep at a time, while it requires almost no handling of the animals.

I would also make mention to your Excellency that I firmly believe to have found at last a remedy for the cancerous ailments, the noli me tangere of the profession. I can show in support a case of a complete cure of an inveterate case without any recidive, since more than three years having occurred where the combined skill of several eminent members of the Faculty was naught, and other cases of cancer, wherein I gained such improvements with the patients as to astonish even medical men of high attainments, but I was interrupted in my experiments before I had gained a catalogue of cures of cancer large enough to pronounce my method of treatment a specific cure before the world. But for the sake of humanity I wish to have my method of treatment put to the test, if your Excellency (sic) that my assertions are worthy of attention. It encloses moreover no operative treatment.

I would also suggest to your Excellency a very simplified apparatus for diving, the idea of which I conceived since I am on this Island, whereby it is left to the option of the diver to remain in the deep as long as he likes. This however, I have not yet been able to put practically to the test.

Should any of the above assertions become of the great benefit for the community at large, as I flatter myself they will, I crave as the only benefit to myself that your Excellency may be pleased, perusing the Petition which some citizens of Sydney will have the honor to present to you at an early date, in my behalf, being the only allusion I wish to make in regard to my misfortunate case, to see in it that I could not have had a criminal intent in the application of the extract of belladonna to Mrs. Brown, when given in form of suppositories (a drug, the beneficial capacities of which until late seem to have been almost as little known in this Colony as those of santonin), but that I endeavoured, and that with success—to prevent a threatening miscarriage, which is always best met with narcotic remedies. I beg to be allowed to remind your Excellency that the effects of belladonna differ from those of other narcotics in this respect, that its primary effect influences first the muscular system of the body and not the brain; by resisting and relaxing muscular contractions, and that therefore premature contractions of the womb are best counteracted with that medicine. With the sentiments of the highest respect for the exalted position of your Excellency,

I am, &c.,
FREDERICK BEER, M.D.

No. 2.

THE MEDICAL ADVISER TO THE GOVERNMENT TO THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Parramatta, 8 May, 1857.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your B.C. Memo., on the letter of Dr. Beer, now a prisoner on Cockatoo Island.

2. There are two points connected with medicine in this letter; one is the use of disulphate of quinine as a prophylactic or specific in influenza—the other the introduction of santonin as a remedy, into this Colony.

3. As to the first, the recommendation of quinine as a specific in influenza, I do not think he can derive any advantage from the admission of his claim, influenza being a disease which attacks everybody and kills but a very small proportion; there have been many specifics recommended with at least equal claims to confidence.

4. The question of santonin resting on dates; I did not feel justified in answering his assertion on this subject till I was able to make some enquiries in Sydney.

5. As the chemists are the most likely persons to know when medicines are introduced and who first uses them, I made enquiry amongst them, and the evidence of one of them is so clear and decisive that I pass all the rest.

6. Mr. George Heath, chemist, 187, George-street, Sydney, informed me that Dr. Müller was the first to prescribe it, and having now to make up these prescriptions he looked out for every chance of buying some. The first brought to the Colony was by a Dr. Phillip, now settled on the Murrumbidgee, in June, 1854, and Mr. Heath bought some of him in September, 1854. Dr. Beer had none till April, 1855, when Mr. Heath bought some of him also, and also of Dent (to whom Beer sold almost all) in May, 1855. Mr. Heath gave me these dates from his books.

7. The fact is that santonin is the product of a class of herbs which has been used for vermifuge purposes from the earliest times. My edition of Pereira, dated in 1842, mentions this salt as a useful vermifuge; and a little before it was introduced here the English medical journals made frequent mention of it.

8. It appears to me quite clear that Dr. Beer was not the first person to prescribe, nor the first to introduce, santonin to this Colony; but it is equally clear that he is the first who introduced it in any quantity. Dr. Phillip brought a few ounces. Dr. Beer sent for two pounds.

UNDER SECRETARY ELYARD to THE VISITING JUSTICE, COCKATOO ISLAND.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 14 May, 1857.

SIR,

Referring to a communication recently addressed to the Governor General by Dr. Beer, with the view of obtaining a mitigation of his sentence, I am directed to state that His Excellency sees no reason why he should interfere to modify the punishment inflicted by law upon Dr. Beer, and to request that the prisoner may be apprised accordingly.

JUDGE THERRY.

13 July, 1858.

MY DEAR SIR,

I told Beer on his application to me last month, when I visited Cockatoo, that I could not further interfere in his case, but that it was open to him to make any application he thought would be available, to His Excellency the Governor General. He sent a letter to me, which purported to be the opinion of Sir B. Brodie; whether it was a genuine letter or not I had no means of judging, nor do I know on what case submitted to Sir B. Brodie (if the letter were genuine) the opinion was given.

In all his statements Beer omits to give any satisfactory reason for endeavouring to get Mrs. Brown's life insured in several insurance offices. He moreover does not touch upon the remarkable fact that having administered a dose of belladonna (a portion even of which some of the doctors stated they would not have left the house of their patient, until they saw its effect), he did not come near her for forty-eight hours, during which she suffered excruciating pains. This was the state of Mrs. Brown, from the extraordinary dose of belladonna, whilst in the interval, Beer visited Mr. Pritchard, an agent of one of the insurance offices, and had a conversation with him about the insurance on her life. For what purpose did he go about the insurance offices to insure the life of this sick woman? I have already stated I thought the verdict a right one, and I can see no ground for further interference on my part.

Believe me, &c.,

R. THERRY.

SIR,

I had the honor, some short time ago, to send a Petition to you, to be duly forwarded on behalf of Frederick Beer, a prisoner at Cockatoo Island, but was informed at your office that the proper officer to receive and forward the Petition in question was the Visiting Magistrate at Cockatoo Island.

I have accordingly caused the Petition to be sent to such officer, but he has returned it to me with a statement that he cannot forward it.

Will you be good enough to receive and forward the Petition in question, or inform me to whom I shall send it for such purpose.

SIR,

I have the honor to enclose to you a Petition from Mr. Francis Beer, the brother of a person named Frederick Beer, who is a prisoner at Cockatoo Island. Will you be good enough to forward the same.

The Petition has already been sent to the Visiting Magistrate of Cockatoo Island, but he has returned it, with an intimation to forward the same to you.

I have, &c.,
THOS. E. WEEDON.

To His Excellency SIE WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Australasian Colonies, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief in and over the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

The humble Petition of Francis Beer, of the City of London, in England, merchant,—

SHOWETH :—

That your Petitioner is the brother of Frederick Beer, who is now a prisoner undergoing his sentence at Cockatoo Island, in the said Colony; and that the family of your Petitioner and the said Frederick Beer are of great respectability, and witness, with deep pain and sorrow, the present position of the said Frederick Beer.

That under the suggestion of his relatives and friends your Petitioner is permitted to hope that your Excellency will be pleased to take into merciful consideration the circumstances of this case with a view to a remission of the said sentence.

That

That your Petitioner's family and friends conscientiously and painfully believe that the long continuance of the said sentence would act so disastrously upon the moral feelings of the said Frederick Beer as to preclude all return to respectable society.

That your Petitioner would most respectfully call the attention of your Excellency to the number and great respectability of the persons signing and recommending the prayer of this Petition, whose signatures are hereto attached.

Your Petitioner therefore prays that your Excellency will be pleased to take the above circumstances into your humane consideration, and to grant to your Petitioner a remission of the said sentence, or such other relief as to your Excellency may seem meet.

And your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.

FRANCIS BEER,
Brother of the said FREDERICK BEER.

SIR,

Your letter of the 24th instant, forwarding a Petition from Mr. Francis Beer, of London, in favour of his brother, Frederick Beer, a prisoner on Cockatoo Island, having been duly laid before His Excellency the Governor General, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that His Excellency does not consider that there are any sufficient grounds stated in the Petition for any remission of sentence in this case.

No. 11.

DR. FREDERICK BEER to THE INSPECTOR GENERAL OF POLICE.

Cockatoo Island,
12 February, 1860.

SIR,

As I shall become eligible in April next for a ticket-of-leave, and it being of the utmost importance for me to remain for a short time in Sydney, I have the honor to request you to grant me leave to do so; trusting you will consider the reasons, which render my presence in Sydney necessary, sufficient to render my request reasonable.

First

First then,—I wish somewhat to arrange the very disordered state of my affairs, which, by the sudden decease of my friend and agent, Mr. J. C. Horner, are again left without any one to look after; and—

Secondly and principally,—I am anxious before I leave Sydney to follow out the advice given to me by His Honor Mr. Justice Therry, during an interview he had with me on this Island on the 10th of June, 1858, viz., to have my case, supported by some medical testimony, laid before His Excellency the Governor General and the Executive, with a view to obtain its reinvestigation by some judicially appointed Board of competent persons, and for which end I am already prepared, besides other important evidence, to produce the opinion of Sir Benjamin Brodie on my case, which is in my favor, and a complete justification of my treatment of Mrs. Brown, which I have no doubt will clear up the whole question in my favor, and erase the stain now resting upon me.

Trusting that you will appreciate the justice of my application, I beg that you will be pleased to let me know if you can accede to my request, which I have been informed by the Superintendent that it lays in your power to grant, or whether you deem it necessary for me to apply to His Excellency the Governor General.

I have, &c.,
FREDERICK BEER.

MEMO.—There is a very strong objection to allow prisoners from Cockatoo Island to remain in Sydney previous to their being forwarded to the country to receive tickets-of-leave. The Board of Classification has considered the application of Beer, and as there may be grounds in his reason for wishing to stay in Sydney for a short time, his case is submitted for the decision of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary.—JNO. SIR,

With reference to your memorandum of the 30th ultimo, on a Petition from a person named in the margin, I am directed to inform you that His Excellency the Governor General has no objection to allow the man to remain a short time in Sydney to arrange his affairs—say a week before removal to his district. DR. FREDERICK BEER TO VISITING JUSTICE NORTH, DARLINGHURST GAOL.

Sydney, 28 April, 1860.

SIR,

I take the liberty to beg a favour of you, I having waited on Mr. Chapalay, wishing him to assist me in obtaining an interview with His Excellency the Governor General, that I may lay my case before him in person. Mr. Chapalay's answer to me was, "If Mr. North will give you a few lines of recommendation, in terms that you left the authorities in kind and good respect, and no particular objection existing, I will do my utmost to further your views."

By rendering me therefore such a favour, addressed to Mr. L. Chapalay, Swiss Consul, you will greatly oblige

Yours, &c.,
FREDERICK BEER.

As requested by Dr. Beer, I hereby certify to Mr. Chapalay, that Dr. Beer's conduct at Cockatoo Island has been satisfactory to the authorities there, and that I believe that he carried with him, on leaving it, the good will of all those officers whose duties brought them in contact with him.—S. NORTH, V.M. Sydney, 28 April, 1860.

L. CHAPALAY, ESQ., TO THE PRIVATE SECRETARY TO GOVERNOR SIR WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON.

Sydney, 7 May, 1860.

SIR,

At the urgent request of Dr. Beer's friends I beg leave to forward, for the consideration of His Excellency and the Executive Council, the accompanying Petition, in which Dr. Beer prays for a reconsideration of his case, on the strength of a letter received on the subject from Sir Benjamin Brodie, to whose opinion it appears appeal had been made.

In thus acquiescing to the request of Dr. Beer's friends, I beg leave to observe that I do not do so officially, not being sufficiently acquainted with the facts of the case.

I have, &c.,

Swiss Consul.

[Enclosure.]

[Enclosure.]

To His Excellency SIR WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight, Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain-General and Governor-in-Chief of the territory of New South Wales and its dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same; and to the Honorable the Executive Council of New South Wales.

The humble Petition of Frederick Beer, at present of the City of Sydney, in New South Wales, a ticket-of-leave holder for the District of Braidwood, in the said Colony,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

1. That your Petitioner, on and previous to the tenth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and fifty six, was a duly qualified medical practitioner in the Colony of New South Wales, and being a Medicinz Chirurgia artis Obstetricaque Doctor of the University of Zurich, and practising his profession in the said City of Sydney.
 2. That your Petitioner was, on the ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, tried at the Central Criminal Court at Darlinghurst, in the said City, before His Honor Mr. Justice Therry and a jury of twelve, for having, on the tenth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, feloniously and unlawfully administered, or caused to be administered, to Phillis Brown a large quantity of noxious drug, to wit, half a drachm of belladonna, with intent to procure a miscarriage, and was found guilty, and was on the twelfth day of the said month of February sentenced to be confined and kept to hard labour on the roads or other public works of the Colony for the period of ten years, the fact being and in accordance with the evidence that only five grains had been prescribed as a dose, to be taken if necessary every third hour.
 3. That the medical evidence on this charge was supported by a great number of the medical men then practising in Sydney, but who never having according to their evidence used belladonna in the manner in which it had been prescribed by your Petitioner, and having prescribed the said medicine only in other ways, and that seldom, were unacquainted with its effect, as prescribed by your Petitioner, and therefore merely gave their opinion as to what effect they supposed the said medicine would have, which opinion was not only based on the false premises that Mrs. Brown's bowels were not in a disorganized state, but is eo ipso irrational and in opposition to what is laid down in the best English medical works, and a physiological impossibility, upon which evidence, however, your Petitioner was convicted.
 4. That your Petitioner, conscious that this verdict was wrong and that his treatment of Mrs. Brown was right, caused the whole of the evidence to be laid before the first medical authority in England, namely, Sir Benjamin Collins Brodie, Baronet, Physician to Her Most Gracious Majesty The Queen, in the month of September, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, with a view of obtaining his opinion thereon, and previously thereto in the month of April of the same year, communicated to His Excellency the Governor General that he had given the said medicine to Phillis Brown, to prevent a threatening miscarriage, that on the arrival of Sir Benjamin Collins Brodie's opinion, full credence might be given to your Petitioner's statement of his reasons for having prescribed the said medicine.
 5. That your Petitioner has since received the said opinion from Sir Benjamin Collins Brodie, a copy whereof is hereunto annexed, and he extracts therefrom the following passages :—"I cannot have the smallest hesitation in saying that both the charge and the verdict are utterly absurd. I can understand that Dr. Beer might have prescribed the use of belladonna with a view to prevent premature labour, but I cannot suppose that either he or any one else would dream of prescribing it for the purpose of procuring abortion," thus, in fact, approving of the practice of your Petitioner in this respect.
 6. That your Petitioner, after receipt of this opinion, namely, on the tenth of June, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, obtained an interview with His Honor Mr. Justice Therry, whilst he was on a visit to Cockatoo Island, where your Petitioner had been sent to, and showed His Honor this opinion, who thereupon recommended your Petitioner to present a Petition to your Honorable Council, when he remarked that by the verdict of the jury the case was taken out of his hands, but that the opinion of Sir Benjamin Collins Brodie threw a new feature on the whole case, and that the Petition would be referred to him and he would report favourably upon it, and that upon that account it would not be necessary for your Petitioner to prove the disease of the bowels of Mrs. Brown, of the existence of which he (Mr. Justice Therry) had since had an opportunity to convince himself by the evidence of other medical men who had professionally attended her.
 7. That, in accordance with the suggestion of His Honor, your Petitioner applied to Samuel North, Esquire, the Visiting Magistrate at Cockatoo Island, on the twentieth of June, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, for permission to present a Petition to your Honorable Council, when he was informed that he could not be allowed to present such Petition.
 8. That your Petitioner, with reference to the principal testimony against him on the facts of the case, has only to say that as a foreigner he believed that Mr. Brown, from the position he held as a Government officer, was a man of respectability, and therefore saw no harm in making, as your Petitioner supposed, friends of him and his family; but he has learned since his conviction, and can prove, if required, notwithstanding that they swore to the contrary, that they were not, although living as such, even man and wife—that they both came to the Colonies as convicts—and that Mrs. Brown, sometime previously to her appearance in Sydney, had kept a brothel in Flinders-lane, Melbourne; whilst, with reference to Mr. Brown, your Petitioner he believes need only say that his recent conduct has compelled him to fly the country under a false name; and that their supposed eldest son who gave evidence in the case was not the son of either of them, and is now willing to speak the whole truth, which your Petitioner is assured will put a very different aspect on the case; he however is at present in the Parramatta Gaol under the name of George Russell, for embezzlement.
 9. That your Petitioner, having served four years of the said term, has by his good conduct whilst at Cockatoo Island become entitled to a ticket-of-leave, which he obtained on the 26th of April last for the district of Braidwood aforesaid, with leave to stay in Sydney for a short time for the purpose of arranging his affairs, and he now takes the earliest opportunity of laying these facts before your Honorable Council.
- Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays that a remission of the remainder of his sentence may be most graciously granted, and as a precedent would beg humbly to refer to the case of Dr. Smethurst, convicted in England in November last for the murder of Isabella Bankes by poison, who, upon the opinion of Sir Benjamin Collins Brodie that there was not absolute and complete evidence of his guilt, was granted a free pardon; and would beg to call the attention of your Honorable Council to the concluding paragraph of the letter of the Right Honorable Sir G. C. Lewis to the Lord Chief Baron, communicating the grant of such pardon as applicable to this case, which is as follows :—
- "The necessity which I have felt for advising Her Majesty to grant a free pardon in this case has not as it appears to me arisen from a defect in the constitution or proceedings of the criminal tribunals. It has arisen from the imperfections of medical science, and from the fallibility of judgment in an obscure malady even of skilful and experienced medical practitioners."
- And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.
- Dated this seventh day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty.

FREDERICK BEER.

WILLIAM DEANE, Attorney for the Petitioner, 9, Hunter-street, Sydney.

To all to whom these presents shall come: I William Deane, Notary Public, duly authorized, admitted, and sworn, practising in the City of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, do hereby certify that the copy letter hereunto annexed, dated Glasgow, September 2, 1857, signed B. C. Brodie, and addressed to Francis Beer, Esquire, and written on two pages of one sheet of paper, on one side only written, is a true copy of the original letter, the same having been examined therewith by me this day.

In faith and testimony whereof I have hereunto subscribed my hand and affixed my seal of office, at Sydney aforesaid, this third day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty.

WILLIAM DEANE,
Notary Public.

Sir Benjamin C. Brodie to Francis Beer, Esq.

Glasgow, 2 September, 1857.

Sir,

Your letter of the 28th of August last has been forwarded to me at this place.

If I understand your statement rightly, the circumstances of the case on which you wish to have my opinion are essentially as follows :—

1. Your brother, Dr. Frederick Beer, was consulted by Mrs. Brown, that lady being then in a state of pregnancy.

2. Mrs. Brown was in a very delicate state of health, having previously suffered from syphilis. It was your brother's opinion also, that she laboured under disorganization of the bowels, but it is not very clearly stated what was the exact nature of the disease of the bowels which that term is intended to express.

3. On the 10th February, 1856, your brother was called to see Mrs. Brown, who was then labouring under slight labour pains, great irritation of the rectum, and what your brother supposed to be some kind of stricture of the rectum, preventing the passage of either air or feces.

4. Your brother, under these circumstances (being apprehensive of labour coming on prematurely), prescribed a course of suppositories, each consisting of five grains of belladonna, to be introduced into the rectum. It is not stated whether only one or several of these suppositories were had recourse to, nor in what form the belladonna was employed, but I suppose that it was in that of extract.

5. Under this treatment Mrs. Brown obtained relief from the symptom, and the premature labour which Dr. Beer had apprehended was prevented.

6. Dr. Beer continued to attend Mrs. Brown until the 15th February, and on the 19th of the same month criminal proceedings were instituted against him on the ground of his having administered the suppositories of belladonna, with a view to produce abortion, upon which charge the jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

Now, concluding that the main facts of the case are such as have been just stated, I cannot have the smallest hesitation in saying that both the charge and the verdict are utterly absurd. I can understand that Dr. Beer might have prescribed the use of belladonna with a view to prevent premature labour, but I cannot suppose that either he or any one else would dream of prescribing it for the purpose of procuring abortion.

But I ought to add, that if the suppositories were made of the extract of belladonna, that remedy was administered in much larger doses than I should think it prudent to prescribe if it had been prepared by one of the best London chemists. This, however, as well as many other extracts, is often very imperfectly prepared, and it is very probable that that which was to be procured at Sydney was not of the very best quality. At any rate, it does not appear, from the account which you have sent me, that Mrs. Brown suffered from any of the peculiar symptoms which an overdose of belladonna is liable to produce.

I am, &c.,

B. C. BRODIE.

FREDERICK BEER, per ship "Duchess of Northumberland," was convicted at the Supreme Court, Sydney, on 12th April, 1856, of administering poison with intent to procure miscarriage, and sentenced to ten years' hard labor on the roads.

He received the following punishments on Cockatoo Island:—

3rd July, 1856—4 days cells; clandestinely sending away letters.

24th February, 1858—3 days cells; clandestinely writing to his friends.

Was allowed a ticket-of-leave on the 16th of April, which he is now holding for the District of Braidwood.

MR. MICHAEL G. BROWN to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

"Lord High Admiral," Botany-street, Surry Hills,
29 May, 1862.

SIR,

In the matter of the Petition of Dr. Beer for a remission of sentence, I deem it a duty incumbent on me as a member of the community, as well as with a view to the releasing of the characters of myself, wife, and family, from the base and malignant slanders cast on them by that reckless individual, to submit the following facts, which I respectfully request may be laid before the Government on the next occasion of Dr. Beer's Petition being brought under consideration, viz. :—

In the 8th paragraph of the Petition alluded to, Dr. Beer states as facts which he declares his readiness to prove,—

- 1st. That they (meaning myself and Mrs. Brown) were not even man and wife, although living as such.
- 2nd. That they came to the Colonies as convicts.
- 3rd. That Mrs. Brown, some time previously to her appearance in Sydney, had kept a brothel in Flinder's-lane, Melbourne.
- 4th. That Brown's (meaning myself) recent conduct had compelled him to fly the country under a false name.
- 5th. That the supposed eldest son, who gave evidence in Beer's case, was not the son of either of them.

In reply to Beer's first assertion I beg to say that Mrs. Brown and myself were married by the late Archdeacon Cowper in old St. Phillip's Church, and that the certificate of such marriage (which Mrs. Brown now has, and can produce) was in the trial of Beer, in Court, and in the hands of M. Consett Stephen, Esquire.

In reply to Beer's second assertion, I beg to submit the two enclosed certificates, under the hand of the Immigration Agent.

In reply to Beer's third assertion, I beg again to refer to the certificate of the Immigration Agent, certifying as to the date of her arrival (Mrs. Brown's) in these Colonies in 1859, and to the fact, well known to numerous respectable citizens of Sydney, that she continued a resident of Sydney till her departure for New Zealand with her family, in the year 1859.

In reply to Beer's last assertion regarding my son, I have only to remark that the register, wherein his birth is entered in Sydney, will certify as to the fact of his registration as my son, vouched by the testimony of his godfather, and numerous other respectable citizens who have known him from his infancy.

It will be seen by the above that the whole of the statements of Dr. Beer, touching myself and family, are but a tissue of malicious falsehoods; and therefore, before concluding this, I may be pardoned for venturing a remark that I conceive that any individual capable of such vile and malignant slander, as contained in the 8th paragraph of Dr. Beer's Petition, can scarcely be considered a person worthy of much sympathy.

I have, &c.,
MICHAEL G. BROWN.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 22nd instant (No. 62/2,749), respecting a Petition from the ticket-of-leave-holder named in the margin, and enclosing a letter (herewith returned) from Mr. M. G. Brown, complaining of the allegations affecting him and his family, contained in the said Petition.

Assuming it is not intended that I should have enquiries made to test the truth or otherwise of the statements concerning Mr. Brown, made by Beer, I can only report that in my opinion there are not sufficient grounds to justify the Government in suspending Beer's ticket-of-leave; as, however, the statements referred to are doubtless both false and libellous, he should be informed that persistence in such misconduct, instead of tending to exculpate him, will result in his indulgence ticket being withdrawn.

PETITION OF DR. FREDERICK BEER.

To His Excellency SIR JOHN YOUNG, Baronet, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Knight, Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

The humble Petition of Frederick Beer, of Braidwood, in the Colony of New South Wales, a duly qualified Medical Practitioner,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That in the month of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, your Petitioner was indicted at the Central Criminal Court, at Sydney, for that he did administer an overdose of belladonna to a patient under his care, for the purpose of procuring abortion.

That your Petitioner was convicted of the said offence, and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, with hard labour, at Cockatoo Island.

That your Petitioner served a term of four years of the said sentence at the said Island, at the expiration of which time a ticket-of-leave was granted to him for the District of Braidwood.

That in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one he presented a Petition to the Legislative Assembly, signed by one thousand five hundred and sixty inhabitants of the town and district of Braidwood, praying that the charge upon which he was so convicted might be investigated by a Select Committee of the said Assembly.

That a Select Committee was thereupon appointed for the purpose of such investigation; and that such Committee, after several sittings and upon hearing the evidence tendered in connection with the matter, brought up their Report, in which they stated that the evidence entirely exonerated your Petitioner from the charge for which he had been so convicted, and for which he has suffered, and is still suffering, the punishment and degradation.

That your Petitioner has, whilst resident in Braidwood, been constantly engaged in the practice of his profession, and that he has not during that time rendered himself amenable to, nor been guilty of, any offence punishable by law.

That your Petitioner is most anxious and desirous to depart from this Colony and to revisit his relations in Germany, but that he is prevented from so doing by the sentence which is still unexpired.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays that your Excellency will, in consideration of the facts and circumstances in this Petition detailed, be graciously pleased to grant him a free pardon for the offence of which he stands convicted, and enable him to leave this Colony, and return to his native country.

And your Petitioner will ever pray.

Dated this eighteenth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two.

FREDERICK BEER, M.D.

WE, the undersigned Justices of the Peace for the Colony of New South Wales, resident in the District of Braidwood, hereby certify that Frederick Beer has, during his residence in Braidwood, been engaged in extensive professional practice, has in all respects conformed to the laws, and has conducted himself in all respects, to the best of our knowledge, as a good citizen, and we respectfully recommend the prayer of the above Petition to the consideration of His Excellency the Governor:—

Braidwood, 25 May, 1864.

SIR,

I have the honor to request you will be good enough to reconsider my case, in the hope that the great injury inflicted upon myself and on the previously stainless character of my numerous connexions at Home may be repaired, as far as that is as yet possible, after eight years calm suffering. I feel I need not enter into any details as to the merits of my case; but that I can content myself with pointing out to you that the enclosed Report of the Select Committee of the House, who investigated my case, fully bears out my assertions, made years ago at the Police examinations, and during my trial, as to the entire innocence of my intentions and actions, and that I, by my treatment of Mrs. Brown, happily prevented that to take place what I was charged with, and was found guilty to have feloniously endeavoured to bring about.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request that the ticket-of-leave holder named in the margin, may be apprised that his letter of the 25th May last, applying for a reconsideration of his case, has been duly laid before His Excellency the Governor, but that there do not appear to be any grounds for authorizing a compliance with his application.

DR. FREDERICK BEER TO THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

DEAR SIR,

In furtherance of the conversation with which I was favored a few days since, I have the honor to transmit some statements of my own case, and having reference to the Petition I have been permitted to lay before the Legislative Assembly during its last sittings, and trust that they may appeal to your sense of justice, and your power to redress wrongs and grievances, of which I complain. First, of the Medical Board.—Although a legally qualified medical practitioner, having perfected my studies as doctor in medicine, surgery, and the obstetric art, and in the year 1856 duly recorded on the rolls of the Medical Board, yet after service and expiration of my unjust and unmerited sentence, and my return to the Colony in September, 1867, my name has not been published in the list of Medical Practitioners, and has been purposely excluded therefrom, and the enquiries of my solicitor have been met by a reference to the Secretary of the Medical Board, Dr. Cox, who, though friendly towards me, has expressed his regret that he is not permitted to answer my solicitor's letters.

Secondly,—Of Captain D. C. F. Scott, the present Police Magistrate, the brother-in-law of the late Dr. Mitchell, the late Chairman of the Medical Board, a Director of the Australian Mutual Provident Society, an expressed enemy of foreign practitioners, and one taking a part in my prosecution in 1856. That he dismissed my case against M. G. Brown, for perjury, notwithstanding the direct and positive proof substantiating the charge on six averments.

It was to Dr. Mitchell's interest to burke, if possible, any enquiry which would by substantiating my innocence prove the moral guilt of my persecutors, and in this way to shield the prosecuting society from the consequences of such prosecution; and I assert that the spring of justice was polluted by Captain Scott in this respect, inasmuch as he did not allow the overwhelming weight of evidence to adjust the scales, weighed down as they were by the anticipated danger to his relative, which the conscientious discharge of his duty, by committing M. G. Brown to take his trial, must have entailed.

The late Attorney General, by a contemptuous neglect of duty, allowed months to elapse after his assistance was solicited, and his attention first directed to the depositions in my case against M. G. Brown, until after he had resigned the duties of his office, and merely held his portfolio till his successor was appointed, and then declined to direct a new prosecution, alleging reasons which were not before him officially, and acting in direct contravention of the decisions of the English and Colonial Judges; and the present Attorney General has declined to interfere with such decision.

The present Solicitor General was elected Member for Braidwood with my assistance and influence, and then promised to obtain for me that justice which had been denied me; he has since repeated these promises to deputations of electors waiting upon him in order to induce him to exert his influence on my behalf.

I respectfully refer you to the Petition which I presented to the Honorable the Legislative Assembly, and which was printed by order of the House on the 14th January last.

I find from sad experience that the much paraded figure of justice is not brought to my door, but after I have taken considerable trouble in search after it and at last seem to have overtaken it, and claim from it that protection which through the law it extends to the meanest of Her Majesty's subjects, that it eludes my grasp and vanishes like a phantom, leaving me oppressed by underhand influence, thus emboldening my enemies in their unquenchable malice towards me, more intense now than when only excited by professional jealousy,—to concert a new plan for getting me permanently out of their way, to conspire a third time against my honor and life, hiring the strong arm of the law to give an appearance of legality before the public and avoid suspicion resting on themselves, by making an unlearned jury their mouthpiece, and thus securing the interest and active help of the highest officers of the Court.

Unless the law extends to me that protection to which I am entitled as a citizen, can you expect me to stand quietly by with folded hands until another plan of attack has been matured, and I stand once more a victim compelled to submit to a ruin of private and professional character, to which I have been so long subjected, or even to the loss of life?

My case versus Brown, a prima facie case, has since I brought it forward still further been strengthened through the death of his wife, and the available medical testimony connected therewith. If ever scoundrel deserved to be brought to justice and to be punished, and as a warning to other perjurers, it is this man Brown; but how can or dare I do my duty to society in bringing this man to justice, when I am not sure at which stage of the proceedings the secret adverse influence would again be employed to save him by those who have good reasons to fear a full investigation, and consequent exposure of their conduct, by which they flattered themselves of having disposed of me so successfully in 1856? I have not been successful in my applications to the present Attorney General to direct the prosecution of M. G. Brown for perjury, because official routine has created a superficial impediment, but may I ask you, Sir, to direct that this official and superficial impediment may not stand as a barrier to the punishment of so great an offender against justice, my honor, and life.

I

Votes and Proceedings 1868-9,
p. 999, Vol. 3.

I have made certain inventions, amongst which is one for a submarine boat, as a means of defence and for attack against any hostile fleet; Mr. Macarthur, of the Dry Dock, is entrusted with the secret, and can tell you whether he thinks it practicable or not. He was the bearer of a letter to His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, making the offer of this invention for nautical purposes, and Mr. Macarthur, after seeming to understand the modus operandi, promised to see Commodore Lambert about it. Now, as with one of these boats Sydney harbour and coast could be rendered perfectly impregnable at a cost of about one thousand pounds, you need place no moneys upon the Estimates for harbour defences, and may allow the regular troops to be entirely withdrawn. The details of this invention, which render me master of the seas, would give you sufficient insight to attract your confidence, and allow you to omit any intended expenses for harbour defences; indeed I consider this of so much importance to the nation that I hesitate to submit it for a patent, inasmuch as a copy could then be procured and forwarded to Foreign Powers.

If permitted, I am ready and willing to submit to you also a feasible and practical scheme (which I have already hinted at in a conversation with the Honorable S. Samuel) for not only attracting a large and permanent population to this Colony, with constant and remunerative occupations ready to hand upon arrival, but whereby in a very short time also, and at a small first outlay (£1,000 to £1,500 may include all expense), a permanently increasing revenue to the State will accrue, exacted from no one as it will be derived from the great but as yet unproductive resources of the country, sufficient to cover within five years the annual interest on the nine millions Colonial Debt, then covering all taxes and customs from whatever resources now derived, and do away and repay the Colonial National Debt altogether in less than fifty years.

Your Land Law and other Acts have deservedly made you the most popular man in New South Wales, and won you the gratitude and the hearts of many thousands of fellow colonists (a proud position for any mortal to occupy it is true), but whilst still leaving ambition and the desire to do more good unsatisfied, such a stroke of policy would render your name and memory immortal. A calm consideration upon such a proposition can do no harm, although it might entail a sacrifice of somewhat more than five minutes of your valuable time.

May I crave as early a consideration of these matters as is consistent with the discharge of your onerous and official duties.

I have, &c.,
FREDERICK BEER, M.D., C.D., O.D.,

UNDER SECRETARY HALLORAN to DR. FREDERICK BEER.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 20 July, 1869.

SIR,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 29th ultimo, and to inform you that the Colonial Secretary will be prepared to see you on his return to Sydney.

No. 30.

GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE to THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

(No. 60.)

Government House,
Sydney, 20 April, 1870.

Dr. Frederick Beer—Forwarding Petition from, to Her Majesty, praying a special pardon.

MY LORD,

Enclosure No. 1.

At the request of Dr. Frederick Beer, I beg to enclose a Petition from him to Her Majesty, praying that Her Majesty would be graciously pleased to grant him a special pardon in respect of a conviction and sentence passed upon him in the Supreme Court of New South Wales in the year 1856.

2. The trial took place, and Dr. Beer's sentence had expired before I came to the Colony. A Select Committee of the Legislative Assembly sat and inquired into his case so far back as 1861-2. I enclose a copy of the Report and Evidence made and taken by that Committee, which accompanied Dr. Beer's Petition. I also enclose a copy of the Petition presented by him to the Legislative Assembly last year, which seems to be in nearly same terms as the present one.

Enclosure No. 2.

Enclosure No. 3.

Enclosure No. 4.

3. My attention has been drawn to a note by the Judge who presided at Beer's trial, Mr. Justice Therry (now resident in England), bearing upon the case, a copy of which I enclose. It appears among the official papers.

4. I have not had time to go through the manuscript papers in the Colonial Secretary's Office; I therefore can only report that it seems that both Sir William Denison and Sir John Young refused to remit Dr. Beer's sentence, and that a report was at one time made by the Inspector General of Police on some specific allegations, which Michael Brown complained of as having been made by Beer affecting him and his family, that they were probably false and libellous.

5. Should a further examination of the papers show me anything having an important bearing on the case I will report further by next mail.

I have, &c.,

No. 31.

GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE to THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

Dr. Frederick Beer—Further with reference to his Petition, praying a special pardon.
(No. 65.)

Government House,
Sydney, 26 April, 1870.

MY LORD,

With reference to my Despatch, No. 60, of the 20th instant, forwarding the Petition of Dr. Beer, praying for a special pardon, I have now the honor to inform you, that having looked through the papers I have not found anything materially affecting the merits of the case, further than what is conveyed in the printed Report and Evidence of the Select Committee of the Legislative Assembly, which I sent by last mail.

2. The allegations of Dr. Beer, which Michael Brown complained of as mentioned in the 3rd paragraph of my former Despatch, were, that he and Mrs. Brown were not man and wife; that they came to the Colony as convicts (there is a certificate of her arrival in 1839, as an immigrant, amongst the papers); that she had kept a brothel in Melbourne before arriving here; that he (Brown) had been compelled, in consequence of his recent conduct, to fly from the Colony under a false name; and that their supposed son was not really their son.

3. Sir W. Denison refused, on the 11th May, 1857, to modify Dr. Beer's sentence. On the 27th September, 1858, he again refused, and again on the 15th August, 1860. On this last occasion the letter of Sir B. Brodie was apparently under his notice. Sir John Young, after the Report of the Select Committee, twice refused to remit the sentence, Dr. Beer having then a ticket-of-leave—once on 29th September, 1862, and again on 13th August, 1864.

4. The last communication from Dr. Beer to the Colonial Secretary contains complaints against the Medical Board for not admitting him on their rolls—the Police Magistrate for dismissing a charge of perjury brought by him against Brown—and also the late and present Attorney General, for not prosecuting Brown—besides other matters in no way affecting the merits of the charge upon which Beer was convicted in 1856.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES to GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE.

(No. 56.)

Downing-street,

MY LORD,

I have to acknowledge your Lordship's Despatch, No. 60, of 20th April, forwarding a Petition to Her Majesty from Dr. Frederick Beer, in which he prays for a special pardon in respect of a conviction and sentence passed upon him by the Supreme Court of New South Wales in the year 1856.

I have also received your Lordship's further Despatch, No. 65, of 26th April.

This case is one in which you must use your own discretion, and with regard to which I do not see that Her Majesty can be advised to interfere.

No. 33.

OPINION OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Re Dr. Beer.

I HAVE gone with care through all the papers bearing on this case, and am of opinion that there are no sufficient grounds for complying with the application for a special pardon, which Dr. Beer appears to have made to Her Majesty, and the consideration of which Her Majesty's Secretary of State has referred to His Excellency the Governor.

Dr. Beer was tried on two counts, one of which charged him with administering belladonna to one Phillis Brown with intent to procure abortion, and the other with administering poison with intent to kill and murder the said Phillis Brown, and that he was convicted on the former and acquitted on the latter charge.

He produced evidence at the trial, which he has subsequently strengthened by much medical testimony, to show that belladonna is a medicine calculated to prevent miscarriage rather than to procure abortion, and that the treatment which he adopted was not uncommon in cases represented to be similar to that of Mrs. Brown, although it would seem that medical practitioners would not in general have administered the same quantity of the drug which he used.

It may I think be regarded as probable that such testimony as he has adduced since the trial before a Select Committee of the Legislative Assembly would, if it had been given at the trial, caused the jury to acquit Dr. Beer upon the charge of intent to procure abortion; but in that case they would have been thrown upon the other and more serious charge, and it may be assumed as being far from improbable that the jury would have convicted him upon that charge.

The fact of Dr. Beer's having been convicted on either count must be attributed not so much to the medical evidence given at the trial that belladonna in the quantities administered was calculated to cause abortion, as upon the more general evidence of a guilty design upon the life or health of Mrs. Brown; of this there there certainly was an abundance; and although it is not for me to say what conclusion I should have arrived at, I must express the opinion that the facts proved were such that the Executive could not have been justified in questioning the verdict of the jury if they had found Dr. Beer guilty of the attempt to murder.

His conduct in reference to a number of insurances to a large amount, effected and attempted to be effected on Mrs. Brown's life, partly in his own name, and all upon his report as to her state of health, was, upon his own showing, dishonest in the extreme. The version which he himself gives in the papers before me shows that he had been long in attendance on Mrs. Brown medically, and that he perfectly well knew her to have been afflicted with diseases of a dangerous character, and to be, at the time of the insurances, in a very precarious condition, by reason particularly of her pregnancy, under conditions of health which rendered it a peculiar cause of peril; and yet he advised and became a party to wholesale applications for insurances, by which he would have profited to the extent of thousands of pounds on her death—even caused short policies to be effected for the sake of the lighter premiums, as if in expectation of an early death. Much in his statements might be quoted to show this, but I may content myself with the following statement, formally made and signed by him at the close of the committal enquiry.

This statement was made in answer to evidence which had been given of his having told Mrs. Brown herself, before the insurances, that she "could not live long," and was as follows:—"I never foretold the woman's death to her face, but mentioned to her husband that I had a presentiment."

And then, after effecting several large insurances came the treatment which became the subject of enquiry on the trial, and which, if not calculated to procure abortion, was of a powerful character for good or evil, and might certainly have added to the peril of Mrs. Brown's position, and have tended to abridge her chance of a prolonged life.

I do not take the responsibility of expressing an opinion as to the intention with which this treatment was resorted to, but it is certain that the jury were entitled to draw the inference that Dr. Beer was on this occasion helping to fulfil the medical prophecy which had been attributed to him, and which he had admitted under the name of a presentiment, and in the fulfilment of which he had in the interim become dishonestly interested to the extent of a fortune.

It will be observed that the conviction did not merely impute mala praxis in a medical sense, but included the finding of felonious design in administering the drug; and upon this question of design the evidence all pointed to a design upon the life immediately or remotely of the mother, and not of her child. He had nothing to gain under the insurances by destroying the child, and therefore it may be assumed as probable that the jury looked upon the procuring of abortion only as a means to a remoter and more gradual end, namely,—the death of the mother. This may be speculation only, but it is impossible to avoid seeing that Dr. Beer brought the conviction upon himself by a most flagrant conspiracy to defraud a number of insurance offices, in aid of which he prostituted his character of a medical man by his reports on Mrs. Brown's state of health and prospects of life,—a conspiracy and fraud which of themselves merited a large part of the punishment he has been subjected to; and it is impossible to escape from the fact that the jury must have inferred from his conduct about the insurances a felonious design in connexion with which it is of comparatively little importance to enquire whether or not belladonna is calculated to produce abortion as its proximate effect.

It might have been necessary to consider the verdict more closely as a specific finding upon the subject of abortion, if Dr. Beer were still in custody and were appealing for his discharge. Much of what I have said would have been scarcely appropriate in that case; but we are now considering an application for a retrospective pardon, after completion of the term of sentence, with the object, of course, of clearing his reputation which the conviction has damaged, and in deciding upon such an application it appears to me that the whole case ought to be gone into. It would not be right to take the extraordinary course which Dr. Beer desires, unless the Executive saw strong reason to be satisfied, upon a full review of the case, that his reputation ought to be thus set up again in Her Majesty's name.

I cannot myself think that one whose fraud was so flagrant, and whom the jury has believed to have administered drugs with a felonious design in connexion with such fraud, should be thus relieved on the single ground to which the newer evidence has been addressed.

The general conclusion at which I arrive, for the reasons above stated, is, that His Excellency should be advised to refuse the proposed exercise of the Queen's prerogative.

W. M. MANNING,
Attorney General.

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY TO GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE to DR. FREDERICK BEER.

Government House,
Sydney, 27 September, 1870.

SIR,

I am directed by His Excellency the Governor to inform you, that in accordance with your request he forwarded to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, in April last, your Petition to Her Majesty, praying for a special pardon in respect of a conviction and sentence passed upon you in the Supreme Court of New South Wales in the year 1856.

Earl Granville has referred the case back for His Excellency's decision, with the remark that it is one in regard to which he cannot see that Her Majesty can be advised to interfere.

Lord Belmore has since referred the matter to the Hon. the Attorney General, who has given it his careful consideration, and has arrived at the conclusion that His Excellency should be advised to refuse the proposed exercise of the Queen's prerogative.

I have, &c.,
ARTHUR HENRY.

No. 35.

DR. FREDERICK BEER to THE PRIVATE SECRETARY to GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE.

75, Elizabeth-street,
30 September, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 27th September instant, notifying that Lord Belmore had referred the matter of my Petition to Her Majesty for a special pardon, to the Honorable the Attorney General, who had given it his careful consideration, and had arrived at the conclusion that His Excellency should be advised to refuse the proposed exercise of the Queen's prerogative.

In reply, I have to request that His Excellency will not for the present act upon the advices given by the Honorable the Attorney General, as I am in a position to prove that the Attorney General is pecuniarily interested and otherwise implicated in the case, and could not therefore give impartial advice.

That supposing he were not interested in the matter, he could not have given the case that careful consideration which it should have received and it is stated he had given it, as he had not before him some of the principal documents upon which that advice should have been founded.

I would also add, that notwithstanding the advice given you by the Honorable the Attorney General, a late Ministry unanimously recommended your Excellency's predecessor to grant the special pardon, but effect could not then be given to such recommendation, as the term of my sentence had not expired, and the Judge who tried me was absent from the Colony.

If His Excellency will comply with this request I will either attend upon him with my proofs in substantiation of the above, at such time as he may be pleased to appoint, or will have them forthwith prepared and put in proper form and forwarded to him for consideration.

I have, &c.,

FREDERICK BEER, M.D.

NOTE.

DR. BEER having subsequently called upon Captain Beresford, who was acting as Private Secretary, with reference to the above letter, Captain Beresford was directed to write to him in the sense indicated in the following extract:—

No. 1.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY to W. C. BUNDOCK, Esq., J.P.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 17 May, 1870.

SIR,

I have had under my serious consideration the unfortunate circumstances connected with the committal of Mr. Fawcett, the Police Magistrate for the Richmond, upon a charge for the manslaughter of Colin Campbell, at Casino, on the 1st March last.

2. The Attorney General did not think there was any evidence to warrant his prosecuting him; but I am reluctantly led to the conclusion that Mr. Fawcett would not have been committed for trial if his general conduct and his personal reputation in the district were irreproachable.

3. I have determined, after the fullest consideration, that Mr. Fawcett cannot be permitted to return to Casino, there to exercise the functions of Police Magistrate, in association with those Magistrates who recorded their opinions of his conduct in the case to which I have referred. I wish, therefore, that you, as the senior Magistrate of the district, will convene a meeting of the Justices, and will upon a day to be named in the circular, giving also reasonable notice, that all may have an opportunity to be present, submit to them the question whether in their judgment Mr. Fawcett is a fit and proper person to be retained as a Police Magistrate,—their opinion to be founded upon their general knowledge of his character as a public officer and of the manner in which he has performed his duties while he has held office. I shall be glad to have the report at their earliest convenience.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES COWPER.

THE BENCH OF MAGISTRATES, CASINO, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Court House, Casino,
7 June, 1870.

SIR,

We, the undersigned Magistrates, who, with the exception of three not present, form the Bench at Casino, have the honor to inform you that we met this day at the Court House, Casino, and, in accordance with your letter of 17th May last, addressed to the senior Magistrate, to consider "whether, in our judgment, Mr. Fawcett is a fit and proper person to be retained as a Police Magistrate,—our opinion to be founded upon our general knowledge of his character as a public officer, and of the manner in which he has performed his duties while he has held office." We are of opinion Mr. Fawcett is not a fit and proper person to be retained as a Police Magistrate.

We have almost all been long acquainted with Mr. Fawcett as an old resident in the district, and deeply regret that a sense of duty compels us to this conclusion.

THE BENCH OF MAGISTRATES, CASINO, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Court House, Casino,
7 June, 1870.

SIR,

We have the honor to inform you that a letter from the Colonial Secretary's Office, of the 17th ultimo, was yesterday laid before the Bench at Casino, by the senior Magistrate of this district.

It was with feelings of deep regret that we observed that you "have been reluctantly led to the conclusion that Mr. Fawcett would not have been committed for trial" in the case of the late Colin Campbell "if his general conduct, and his personal reputation in the district were irreproachable." As Magistrates forming the Bench at Casino, who were not engaged in the enquiry, we have carefully weighed and considered all the evidence brought before the three Magistrates who committed Mr. Fawcett, and the result of our investigations is not only that we entirely absolve those three gentlemen from having been in any way actuated by their knowledge of Mr. Fawcett's "general conduct and personal reputation," but that we are unable to exercise any other finding, consistent with the facts elicited in evidence.

We

We have the honor to submit to your notice, that a general feeling of dissatisfaction prevails in the district, at the fact of a man being murdered in the public street of Casino, in front of a house where a few minutes before he had been in company with certain persons; that one of these persons was found bathed in the blood of the murdered man; that he stated that he had been compelled to the deed by motives of self-defence—and yet, that the only result of the enquiry is the summary dismissal from the Police Force of the man to whom Mr. Fawcett admitted having done the deed.

To this is now added, as regards the Bench, a feeling of regret that three of their number lie under an imputation from you of having arrived at their decision from personal feelings, instead of being guided by evidence brought before them at the investigation.

We have, &c.,

W. C. BUNDOCK, Esq., J.P., to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Wiangarie, Casino,
11 June, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to enclose a letter from one of the three Magistrates who did not attend the meeting which I called on June 6th, in compliance with your letter requesting me to do so.

My letter to him by post ought to have reached Ballina on the 4th, which would have left Mr. Sharpe one day and a half to travel to Casino, which is the time the journey occupies.

I also received a letter from another Magistrate, Mr. Yabsley, declining to attend, on the ground that he had only seen Mr. Fawcett on four or five occasions and had never spent six hours in his company.

From the third absent Magistrate, Mr. Gerard, I have not heard.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND ROSS, Esq., J.P., to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Ballina, 4 July, 1870.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to inform you that no notice in any shape was sent me relative to the meeting convened at Casino to enquire into the conduct, etc., of C. H. Fawcett, Esq., P.M.

I having known that gentleman for upwards of fifteen years, and being intimately acquainted over twelve years causes me very much to regret that no opportunity was afforded me to attend such meeting. I therefore most respectfully request that you will cause another meeting to be convened, and due notice given to Magistrates here that our voices may be heard in a matter of so much importance to this part of the district.

I have, &c.,

Ballina, 6 June, 1870.

DEAR SIR,

I beg to acknowledge receipt yesterday of your letter of the 29th ultimo, with reference to convening a meeting of the Magistrates of the District of Casino, at the request of the Colonial Secretary, for the purpose therein specified.

However, by reference to the date of your favour and the date of my receipt of it you will clearly perceive the impossibility of my attendance, which I sincerely regret is the case; had I received notice in sufficient time to have reached Casino on the day named, I would certainly have availed myself of the opportunity of being present, for the purpose of stating publicly the high opinion I have always entertained of the legal ability, straightforwardness, and the conscientious manner in which Mr. Fawcett has at all times performed the onerous duties of Police Magistrate at Ballina since my first acquaintance with him, about four years since; and I would further beg to state my humble opinion that a serious and severe loss will be the result of his removal from this district, where for so many years he has borne a high character, both in the capacity of a public officer and as a private gentleman. I must also express my regret that this note cannot reach Casino in time for the meeting.

I am, &c.,
JOHN SHARPE.

No. 7.

J. SHARPE, Esq., J.P., to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Ballina, 4 July, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor respectfully to submit for your consideration the following particulars with reference to a meeting which was to be convened of all the Magistrates in the district, for the purpose of considering whether Mr. C. H. Fawcett was a fit and proper person to be retained as a Police Magistrate in this district; and at the same time would respectfully and earnestly request that you would decline at present giving any decision in this matter, so important to an old, efficient, and highly respected public officer, until a full meeting of all the Magistrates in the district are (sic) duly convened, and timely notice be given for their attendance, which I beg to submit has not been the case in this instance, as I am aware of an instance when one Magistrate received no notice whatever; and the enclosed copy of the notice I received will clearly show that it was not intended I should be there.

This notice, dated 29th May, which was duly received by me on Sunday, the 5th June, being the usual time per post (our mails being weekly), on Monday, the 6th June, I was requested to attend at Casino (a day earlier than the meeting actually was held), a distance of 90 miles by river, and 50 miles by mail route, which takes the mailman two days to accomplish, which entirely precluded my attendance.

I am confident, therefore, that your high sense of justice to all concerned in this matter, will suggest the propriety of another meeting being called, that a fair hearing may be given and an impartial decision may be arrived at in a matter so important.

I have, &c.,

JOHN SHARPE, J.P.

Wiangarie, 29 May, 1870.

Dear Sir,

I have received a letter from the Colonial Secretary, requesting me, as senior Magistrate of the district, to convene a meeting of the Magistrates, and submit to them the question whether, in their judgment, Mr. Fawcett is a fit and proper person to be retained as a Police Magistrate,—their opinion to be founded upon their general knowledge of his character as a public officer and of the manner in which he has performed his duties.

I therefore request your attendance on Monday, June 6, at 2 o'clock, at the Court House, Casino, to consider this matter, so important to the district.

I remain, &c.,

J. STOCKS, Esq., J.P., to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Casino, 1 October, 1870.

SIR,

I regret to have to advise you, that my sense of duty as a Magistrate in this district, has involved me, for some long time past, in very painful circumstances, and such as I do not feel called upon to subject myself to again, especially those and such like arising out of the inquiry and hearing of the cases connected with the death of the late Colin Campbell, at Casino.

Although both were conducted with an amount of anxious care, little understood by any, except those immediately concerned, they were afterwards followed by a direct imputation from your Department of most improper motives on the part of the committing Magistrates. Moreover, I have since then learned a direct attack has been made on myself in particular as being actuated in the opinions given by "malice" and "having evinced by my conduct a total unfitness to be retained on the Commission of the Peace."

I do not feel it to be my duty to attempt to afford any justification of either my conduct or motives in the matter, nor yet to say anything in vindication of my fitness for the Commission. And as I am not likely to judge or act otherwise in the future, than in the same spirit which has hitherto been my rule of action in all official and Bench business, I deem it best to respectfully, but decisively, to resign my Commission as a Magistrate of this Colony, and therefore now do myself the honor to request you will have the goodness to cause the same to be notified in the usual manner.

[Enclosure in No. 10.]

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, and so forth:

To JAMES STOCKS, of Casino, Esquire,—

Greeting:

WHEREAS, by our Commission or Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of our Colony of New South Wales, and under the hand of our right, trusty, and well-beloved Councillor SIR JOHN YOUNG, Baronet, Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of our Colony of New South Wales, bearing date at Government House, Sydney, the twenty-ninth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, we did assign you, one of our Justices of the Peace in our Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies, either alone, or with any one or more of our Justices as were then or should thereafter be commissioned by us in that behalf, to keep and cause to be kept all laws, ordinances, and statutes in force within our said Colony, and all Acts of the Legislature of our said Colony for the punishing of offenders, the preservation of the peace, and for the quiet rule, welfare, and good government of our people in our said Colony, and to have, exercise, and discharge all the powers, authorities, and duties belonging or pertaining to the office of a Justice of the Peace in our said Colony: And therefore we commanded you, that to keep the peace, and all laws, ordinances, and statutes, and all and singular other the premises, you diligently applied yourself, doing therein what to justice appertained, according to the law and custom of England and of our said Colony: And whereas by letter dated the first day of October instant, you did resign such office of a Justice of the Peace: Our Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our said Colony has been pleased to relieve you from the discharge of such your duty, as one of our Justices of the Peace in our Colony aforesaid: Now forasmuch as, for the reason before stated, it is expedient that the said Commission or Letters Patent, which authorizes and empowers you to act as one of our said Justices of the Peace of our said Colony, may be superseded: For that end, we do therefore, by these presents, will and command you, the said James Stocks, that you stay and surcease all further proceedings by you taken or done upon or under our said Commission or Letters Patent, and we do permit you to surcease therefrom, and we do declare the same to be and the same is superseded accordingly.

In testimony whereof, we have caused this our Letter or writ of Supersedeas to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Colony to be hereunto affixed.

Witness, our right trusty and well-beloved Cousin and Councillor, SOMERSET RICHARD, EARL OF BELMORE, our Governor and Commander-in-Chief of our Colony of New South Wales, at Government House, Sydney, in our said Colony, this nineteenth day of October, in the thirty-fourth year of our reign; and in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy.

(L.S.) BELMORE.

By His Excellency's Command,
CHARLES COWPER.

No. 11.

A. MACKELLAR, Esq., J.P., to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Kyogle, Casino,
10 October, 1870.

SIR,

It will be in your memory that some months have now passed away since a letter was received from your office, directed to the senior Magistrate in this district, requesting him to call a meeting of the whole of the Magistrates, to decide whether in their opinion Mr. Fawcett, the Police Magistrate, being removed from this district, was a fit and proper person to hold the appointment elsewhere. The unanimous opinion of the eight Magistrates who attended the meeting was "that he was not fit."

In the letter to which I refer, you went somewhat out of your way to state, so far as my recollection serves me, for I have not the letter to quote from, that you were of opinion that the three committing Magistrates (Bundock, Mackellar, and Stocks) in the case of the Queen v. Fawcett, for the manslaughter of Colin Campbell, deceased, would not have committed Mr. Fawcett were it not that "their knowledge of Mr. Fawcett's previous character, irrespective of the evidence brought before them, guided them to such a committal." Five Magistrates, who did not sit in judgment on the case, wrote a letter to you, indignantly repudiating such an imputation. To the present time no reply from you has been received by those gentlemen, which leads me to the conclusion that you still adhere to your expressed opinion. Under the circumstances I have no alternative but that of resigning my appointment as a Magistrate.

Either you have made a very unjust accusation, or I, as one of the committing Magistrates, am no longer fit to hold Her Majesty's Commission as a Justice of the Peace.

I have, &c.,
ALEX. MACKELLAR.

SIR,

I am desired by the Colonial Secretary to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th ultimo, and to express his regret that you should have placed a construction upon the sentence of the letter of 17th May last, to which you refer, which it was not intended to convey. He requests you to accept his assurance that in the words referred to by you, no imputation, either direct or implied, was intended.

2. With this explanation Mr. Cowper hopes that you will continue to give your services to the public as a Justice of the Peace.

Wiangarie, Casino,
17 November, 1870.

SIR,

In a letter which you addressed to me as senior Magistrate, requesting me to call a meeting of the Magistrates of the Casino Bench, to inform you whether we thought Mr. Fawcett fit to hold the office of Police Magistrate, judging from his public conduct, you gave as a reason for doing so your belief that he would not have been committed for the manslaughter of Colin Campbell unless the committing Magistrates had been influenced by his previous conduct.

I sat on the Bench during that case, and was guided by the evidence that then came before me, and by nothing else, to the conclusion that Mr. Fawcett ought to be committed for trial, and was never more surprised than when I heard that the Attorney General declined to prosecute.

Nothing in Mr. Fawcett's previous conduct influenced my opinion, nor do I think it could have done so without dereliction of my duty as a Magistrate; but as such an imputation has been made and not withdrawn, I feel that it must seriously interfere with my usefulness as a Magistrate; I therefore beg to resign my Commission, and that my name may be removed from the list of Justices of the Peace.

SIR,

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 17th ultimo, requesting, for certain reasons therein stated, that your name may be removed from the Commission of the Peace, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to assure you of his regret that a construction not intended by him should have been put upon the words to which you allude, in his letter of the 17th May last; and to express Mr. Cowper's hope that with the above assurance you will withdraw your resignation of your position as a Justice of the Peace.

MESSRS. BARNES, SHERWOOD, & CAMPBELL, ESQUIRES, J.P.'s, to THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Casino, 12 November, 1870.

SIR,

We do ourselves the honor to represent to you that in the early part of March, Messrs. Bundock, Mackellar, and Stocks, J.P.'s, committed Mr. Fawcett (at that time Police Magistrate for the Richmond River District), for trial on certain charges preferred against him.

Moreover, that on the 6th June, the Bench at Casino received a letter from you with reference to that committal, wherein you expressed an opinion that the three Magistrates mentioned above were actuated in their decision by personal feeling rather than by facts elicited in evidence.

Further,

Further, that on the following day a letter was written to you by Messrs. Barnes, Hays, Sherwood, Campbell, and Gollan, J.P.'s, to the effect that they considered the very grave imputation cast by you on the characters of the three committing Magistrates was unfounded, and that after perusal of the evidence they entirely concurred as to the justice of the committal,—thus taking upon themselves a like onus of the crime—for it can be called by no lighter name—charged by you against Messrs. Bundock, Mackellar, and Stocks.

We have to submit to your notice, that in the middle of August an inquiry was held at Casino before a Judge of the District Court, after which we confidently expected you would have retracted the accusation brought to bear upon us. As however you have not deemed it expedient to remove the stigma under which we, as members of the Casino Bench, have now been lying for nearly six months, it is evident that your opinion remains unchanged.

It being highly subversive of the good order, not only of this district but of the whole Colony, that men deemed guilty of an action so utterly at variance with all justice and honorable feelings as that imputed in your letter, should continue to hold Commissions of the Peace, we have the honor to request that you will lay before the Right Honorable His Excellency the Governor General in Council, this application for the removal of our names from the roll of Magistrates.

At the same time we cannot refrain from expressing our strenuous denial of the dishonorable motives charged by you, and our indignation at the insult conveyed in your letter of the 17th May last.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

(DESPATCH AND CABINET MINUTE RESPECTING RELEASE OF HOVELL AND RANGI, CONVICTED FOR THE MURDER OF A SOUTH SEA ISLANDER.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES TO GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE.

No. 20.

Downing-street,
9 March, 1871.

MY LORD,

I have received your Lordship's Despatch, No. 204, of 7th December, reporting that you had ordered the discharge from custody of Hovell and Rangī, the late master and one of the crew of the "Young Australian."

I cannot see that the unfortunate miscarriage of justice in the case of Levinger, through the technical error of the disallowance of the prisoner's challenge of a jurymen, in any degree diminishes the guilt of the other two prisoners who were duly convicted; and I am therefore unable to concur with you in the opinion that the escape of Levinger from punishment was a reason sufficient for the release of Hovell and Rangī.

I have, &c.,

KIMBERLEY.

CABINET MINUTE.

The Cabinet have had under their consideration Lord Kimberley's despatch of the 9th March last, in reference to the discharge from custody of Hovell and Rangī, the late master and one of the crew of the "Young Australian." They are of opinion that the release of these persons was justified on the ground that the conviction was either an erroneous one, or based on evidence altogether insufficient to warrant it in so serious a case. The Cabinet desire to place on record their opinion that, in the administration of criminal justice in this Colony, it is neither expedient nor constitutionally regular that their advice to His Excellency should be sought to be over-riden by the Secretary of State.—J.M., A.G. 5 June, 1871.

The above Minute has been duly communicated by His Excellency the Governor to the Secretary of State.—JOHN R.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

JOSEPH CLARENCE ROSS.

(PETITION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 14 February, 1871.

To the Honorable the House of Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of Joseph Clarence Ross, of No. 5, Belmore-terrace, Paddington,—

MOST RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioner started business as a photographer, some twelve months since, at No. 70, Market-street, Sydney, and had by strict attention formed a paying business and an excellent connection, being supported by several business houses for whom he used to execute pictures of samples, in addition to other branches of his trade.

That previous to his entering upon this business your Petitioner filled several situations, and, as will be seen by copies of testimonials attached, invariably had received satisfactory references from his employers, particularly as to his integrity, honesty, and respectability.

That on the night of the twenty-second of December, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, a fire occurred in the shop of Mr. Clarkson, tailor, of Market-street, over whose shop your Petitioner's photographic gallery was situate. The origin of the fire was attributable to the gas setting fire to the paper that covered the ceiling; and the fire breaking through into your Petitioner's room, lighted some rubbish between Mr. Clarkson's ceiling and the floor of your Petitioner's room. That the fire above alluded to took place about three hours after your Petitioner had left his room, and that the Police, acting under Acting Sub-Inspector Waters, came out to your Petitioner's private residence at Paddington, and arrested him on a charge of setting fire to his place.

That your Petitioner had to remain in the lock-up all night, was placed in the felon's dock at the Police Court next morning, thence back to the lock-up; thence into the dock a second time; thence into a cell containing more than a dozen criminals, convicted of every description of offence; thence the same night to Darlinghurst Gaol, where your Petitioner passed six days (including Christmas Day), away from his family and friends, without being allowed the use of writing materials, or books, the absence of which intensified his sufferings by forcing him to dwell continually on his melancholy situation (although not convicted of any offence against the laws of the land). From Darlinghurst Gaol your Petitioner was taken in handcuffs before the Police Court, on Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of the same month, and at one o'clock was thrust into a cell with four women of the most abandoned, degraded, and of the lowest description. Thence at half-past two o'clock on the same day, he was brought before the Police Magistrate, who admitted him to bail. The Police Magistrate said, in granting the bail, that he saw no evidence to implicate your Petitioner, and wondered why the case was brought before him at all. From that time your Petitioner attended the Police Court on five occasions, the last of which was on the eighteenth of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, when the case was dismissed, and your Petitioner released from his bail.

That, as a consequence of this unsubstantiated charge being brought, your Petitioner finds himself without money, in debt; and his business, the result of twelve months' hard and honest labour, sacrificed to pay the heavy expenses consequent on his defence; his means of livelihood gone, and his health in such a state that years may fail to restore it.

That in consequence of the charge against your Petitioner being reported in the daily papers, even while sub judice, your Petitioner's reputation has been very much damaged; a fact aggravated by some of the reports being untrue, and exaggerated to suit the tastes of some of the readers of the papers.

Your Petitioner therefore prays that your Honorable House will take the premises into consideration, with a view of affording him such redress as may seem expedient for the wrongs he has suffered, by being arrested, taken from home, and subjected to imprisonment on a charge brought by the police, of which he has proved himself entirely innocent in a Court of Law.

And your Petitioner will for ever pray for the welfare, health, and prosperity of the Members of your Honorable House, individually and collectively, and that the same blessings may attend them in their private life and in their families also.

Dated in Sydney, this third day of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one.

JOSEPH CLARENCE ROSS.

MAJOR-GENERAL CHUTE to GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE.

Melbourne, 9 August, 1870

MY LORD,

With reference to my letter No. ^{M.G.}₁₈, dated 11th July last, I have the honor to enclose, for your Excellency's information, copy of a letter I have received from the War Office for my guidance, in relation to the disposal of Imperial Stores to Colonial Governments.

I have, &c.,
T. CHUTE,
Major-General.

[Enclosure in No. 1.]

H. K. Storks, Esq., to the Officer Commanding Her Majesty's Forces, Australian Colonies.

War Office, 17 June, 1870.

Sir,

With reference to the orders, which have been sent to you, respecting the withdrawal of Her Majesty's troops from the Australian Colonies, I am directed by Mr. Secretary Cardwell to transmit the following instructions for the disposal of the armaments of the fortifications, and of the other stores belonging to the War Department, in those Colonies.

2. The armaments on the works, comprising the guns, carriages, ammunition, and other stores belonging thereto, are to be offered to the Colonial Governments free of charge, on the understanding that those Governments undertake to provide accommodation, in the event of troops being sent out on any future occasion, at the request of the Colonies, for Colonial purposes.

3. If any reserves of guns, carriages, or other articles are required by the Colonial Governments for the armaments, the issues may be made from the Military Store Depôts, on payment.

4. You will have the goodness to direct the Control Officers to offer to the Colonial Governments any stores which they may be desirous of purchasing, under the following conditions.

5. The Control Officers should submit for your approval the names of two or more officers of experience, and well qualified to estimate the value of stores; and you will request the Colonial Governments to depute an officer to attend on their behalf at the valuation of any stores they may wish to purchase.

6. In estimating the value of the stores, the officers appointed by you should take into consideration the cost prices of the articles in England, as inserted in the authorized vocabularies, and should make due allowance for any depreciation from wear and tear, or long storage; they should also take into account the cost of freight and removal of the stores if they were sent to England.

7. The Admiralty will depute a naval officer at Sydney to take charge of the stores which are to form a reserve for the Royal Navy, a list of which is transmitted herewith.

8. You will be pleased to cause all stores which are not taken over by the Colonial Governments or by the Admiralty to be disposed of in the following manner.

9. Stores in good condition and applicable for general service are to be shipped for this country.

10. Articles of local manufacture, or specially adapted for the requirements of the country, also articles which are not considered worth sending Home, either from their bad condition or other cause, are to be sold by auction or tender, as you may deem most advantageous to the Public Service.

11. But before any sale of military stores by auction or tender takes place, you will direct the Control Officers to forward to the Colonial Governments lists of the stores proposed to be sold, and to ascertain in writing that no political or other objections exists to the sale of the stores.

12. If the Colonial Governments object to the proposed sales, you will then direct the Control Officers to destroy, in the presence of a Board of Officers appointed by you, all articles not worth shipment, which can be destroyed on the spot, and to send the remainder to England.

13. You will be pleased to cause the Control Officers to take immediate steps for the disposal of all stores which can at once be spared, so that no delay may occur in breaking up the War Department Establishments on the withdrawal of the troops.

14. In conclusion I am to request that you will direct the Control Officers to forward by the quickest conveyance, detailed bills of lading shewing the descriptions and the tonnage of the stores shipped for this country. The final arrangements to be as stated at the head of the bills of lading.

I have, &c.,
H. K. STORKS.

No. 2.

MINUTE OF THE COLONIAL TREASURER.

THE Board for the control of Military Stores will please, through their President, Colonel Richardson, report to the Government what ammunition and military stores they consider it is desirable should be purchased from the Imperial Government.

With reference to paragraph No. 2 in the War Office letter of the 17th June, Colonel Richardson may receive the armaments on the works, comprising the guns, carriages, ammunition, and other stores thereto belonging, with the conditions mentioned, provided the Colonial Secretary approves. It will be necessary to inform the military authorities, through His Excellency the Governor, that we are willing to receive on the conditions stated.—S.S., 16/8/70.

No. 3.

GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE TO MAJOR GENERAL CHUTE.

Government House,
Sydney, 17 August, 1870.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge your letter of the 9th instant, enclosing the copy of one from the War Office, in relation to the disposal of Imperial Stores to Colonial Governments.

2. With reference to the second paragraph of the enclosure, my Government are willing to accept, free of charge, the armaments on the works here, comprising the guns, carriages, ammunition, and the other stores belonging thereto, on the understanding that it undertakes to provide accommodation in the event of troops being sent out on any future occasion at the request of the Colony for Colonial purposes.

3. The Colonial Board for the control of Military Stores will receive instructions to report to the Local Government what ammunition and warlike stores they consider it desirable should be purchased from the Imperial Government.

I have, &c.,

ARMSTRONG GUNS AND WARLIKE STORES GRANTED TO THE COLONY BY THE IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT, FREE OF CHARGE.

No. 1.

MINUTE OF THE COLONIAL TREASURER FOR EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

The Treasury, New South Wales,
4 January, 1870.

WITH the view of arranging for competent supervision of Military Stores, the property of the Government, and of maintaining these, and our Defences, in a state of efficiency, the Treasurer has deemed it expedient to establish an Honorary Board, whose duty will be—

1. To inspect and report upon Colonial Warlike Stores and Defences.
2. To frame Indents for supplies of Warlike Stores; and
3. To offer from time to time suggestions tending to secure the objects of their appointment.

Upon the recommendation of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Forces, with whom Mr. Samuel communicated upon the subject, the following gentlemen were requested, and have consented, to form (with Colonel Richardson as President) the proposed Board, namely:—

Major Shepherd, V.A.;
Captain Hixson, N.B.;
Captain E. O. Moriarty, V.A.; and
The Superintendent of Colonial Military Stores.

The Treasurer now requests the approval of His Excellency the Governor, and the Executive Council, to the several appointments; as also to that of Mr. C. T. Blanchard, as Secretary to the Board, without pay.

SAUL SAMUEL.

No. 2.

MINUTE OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

THE Executive Council concurring with the Honorable the Treasurer in the expediency of establishing a Board for the several purposes set forth in this Minute Paper, advise that the same be forthwith formed; to be composed of the several gentlemen herein named, with Mr. C. T. Blanchard as Secretary, without salary.

A. G. SHADFORTH,
Acting Clerk of the Council.

Minute, 70/1. 8 Jan., 70.
Confirmed, 11 Jan., 1870.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL CARTHEW to LORD BELMORE.

Garrison Office,
Sydney, 21 March, 1870.

MY LORD,

I have the honor to forward the accompanying copy of a letter, with enclosure, received from 18 March, 1870. the Senior Officer of the Control Department here, recommending that a large quantity of ball and blank ammunition, pattern 1853, now in store, the property of the Imperial Government, be offered for sale to the local Government; and to request your Excellency will be pleased to say whether the Government of this Colony would be disposed to take this ammunition on payment, and if so, at what rate per thousand rounds.

I have, &c.,

H. CARTHEW,

Lt.-Colonel, Commandant.

[Enclosure.]

D.-A.-C.-G. Middleton to The Commandant, &c., New South Wales.

Control Department,
Sydney, 18 March, 1870.

Sir,

I have the honor to enclose a letter received by me from D.-A.-S.-S. Knight on the subject of blank and ball ammunition, pn. /53, which he states as obsolete, and recommends to be offered for sale to the Colonial Government.

I beg to request that you will be so good, should you approve of Mr. Knight's suggestion, as to bring the same under the notice of the Colonial Government of this Colony.

I have, &c.,

H. B. A. MIDDLETON, D.-A.-C.-G.,
Senior Officer, Control Department.

[Sub-enclosure.]

D.-A.-S.-S. Knight to The Senior Officer, Control Department.

Control Department,
Sydney, 14 March, 1870.

Sir,

Having heard that the Colonial Government intend sending to England for a quantity of ball and blank ammunition, pn. 53, I have the honor to call your attention to the fact of there being a very large supply of that pattern in the magazine under my charge, and am of opinion that it would be well to bring this to the notice of the Colonial Government, as, if they buy it, the expense of its conveyance home will be saved.

The samples examined by the Colonial Board, on their last supply, were not fair specimens, as the cartridges seen were some that had been carried in the men's pouches, when in possession of the troops, and afterwards returned into store.

This ammunition is now obsolete in H.M. Service, as all the troops are now armed with the Snider rifle.

I have, &c.,

REPORT OF COLONIAL WARLIKE STORES' BOARD.

PROCEEDINGS of the Colonial Military Board ordered to assemble to inspect and report upon ball and blank cartridges for Enfield Rifles, pattern 1853, offered for sale to the Government of New South Wales.

Colonial

Colonial Military Store Office,
Sydney, 22 April, 1870.

President :—

Lt.-Colonel Richardson, Commandant Volunteer Force.

Members :—

Major P. L. C. Shepherd, V.A.
Captain F. Hixson, R.N., N.B.
Captain E. O. Moriarty, V.A.
Superintendent of Stores, A. S. Paton.

IN accordance with the Minute of the Honorable the Treasurer, the Board has examined the ammunition offered for sale by the Imperial Authorities to this Government, and begs to report that the ball ammunition of 1860 and 1861 is inferior; but is prepared to recommend the purchase of 247,000 rounds of that of 1863, at 30s. per thousand rounds, inclusive of packages, &c. This price the Board considers ample, when the date of the ammunition is taken into consideration.

The Board would also recommend that 15s. per (1,000) thousand rounds be offered for the 196,585 blank cartridges, inclusive of packages, &c.

JOHN S. RICHARDSON,
Lt.-Colonel, President, C. Mil. Board.

Approved. Make the offer.—S.S., 9/5/70.

The Senior Control Officer to Lieut.-Col. Elliot.

Control Office,
Sydney, 1 July, 1870.

Sir,

With reference to your letter of the 15th ultimo, forwarding copy of a communication received by you from His Excellency the Governor, containing a proposal on the part of the Government of this Colony to purchase 247,000 rounds of Enfield ball ammunition of 1863, at 30s. per thousand rounds, and also 196,585 rounds of blank, at 15s. per thousand, I have the honor to inform you that, having referred the proposition to the Senior Control Officer at head quarters, he has replied that the Major-General Commanding can only consent to sell the ammunition in question on the terms laid down in War Office letter, No. 57/20/4956, dated 23rd January last, a copy of which I now enclose.

I have, &c.,
H. B. A. MIDDLETON, D.A.C.G.,
Senior Control Officer.

[Sub-enclosure.]

The Controller-in-Chief to The Military Store Officer in Charge, Melbourne.

War Office, 23 January, 1870.

Sir,

In reference to your letter, dated 5th October, 1868, reporting an issue of 168,000 rounds of ball and 33,794 of blank cartridge, I am instructed by Mr. Secretary Cardwell to inform you that this supply has been approved, and that the value should now be claimed from the Colonial Government according to the prices stated over leaf, with 12 per cent. added for departmental expenses,—the Lords of the Treasury having approved of a reduction of 3 per cent. in the latter charge in this case.

If the barrels, cases, and cylinders issued with this ammunition are retained by the Colonial authorities, you will add them to your claim, which you will report to this office on form No. 1,242, in accordance with the directions in War Office circular, No. 885.

The Board adopt the report of the Superintendent of Stores, dated 21/7/70, forwarded herewith.

The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade. B.C., 25/7/70.—J.S.R., Lt.-Col. and President.

Report

Report referred to.

The Superintendent of Colonial Military Stores to The President of the Colonial Military Board, New South Wales.

Colonial Military Store,
Sydney, 21 July, 1870.

REPORT on the reply to Colonial Military Board's offer for the purchase of 247,000 rounds Enfield cartridges, 1863, at 30s. per 1,000, and the 196,585 rounds of blank cartridge for all arms, at 15s. per 1,000, inclusive of caps and packages.

The decision of the Major-General Commanding is to adhere to the prices quoted in the War Office letter 57-20-4956, which is at the rate of £1,535 per 500,000 Enfield cartridge, which is an advance of about 27½ per cent. on an invoice for the same nature of cartridge supplied to this Government in 1862 by the War Department, through the Colonial Agent, inclusive of freight and all expenses.

Perhaps it would be advisable in the meantime for the Government to receive the above on condition of the question as to total charges to be made being referred for the consideration of the Secretary of State for War, when a considerable modification might reasonably be expected in the prices to be charged, by the altered position of the Colony in the withdrawal of the troops, and the cartridge being obsolete in the Imperial service, by the adoption of the breech-loader, also the heavy freight, &c., that would be incurred by sending it to England.

It might further be advisable to make it a rule, on any subsequent offer of stores to the Colony, that the charges for those selected should be referred in a similar manner to England.

A. S. PATON,
Supt. Colonial Military Stores.

No. 10.

MINUTE OF COLONIAL TREASURER.

It appears that the price named by the Military Authorities for this ammunition, as fixed by the War Office letter of the 23rd January last, is excessive, and much beyond the cost at which this Government can import. It would not be advisable, under ordinary circumstances, that we should take delivery; but I am willing to do so—feeling confident that, on representation of the facts by His Excellency the Governor, the Imperial Government will either make a considerable reduction in the price named or present it to the Colony.

I am informed the Enfield ammunition is of little value to the Home Government, as it is now superseded by that requisite for breech-loaders.

I shall feel obliged if His Excellency will communicate the foregoing to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and to the Commandant of the Military Force here.

MAJOR-GENERAL SIR TREVOR CHUTE to LORD BELMORE.

Melbourne, 11 July, 1870.

MY LORD,

In view of the projected departure of the Imperial Troops from the Australian Colonies, I have the honor to submit to your Excellency whether your Government would consider it desirable to purchase any part of the munitions of war or military stores remaining at Sydney.

Lists of all warlike stores are in possession of the Senior Control Officer at Sydney, and will be open to the inspection of such officer as your Excellency may appoint; and copies, if required, will be furnished to you under the direction of the Commandant at that station.

I shall feel obliged if your Excellency would furnish me, at your earliest convenience, with the decision of your Government in this matter.

Report

Report referred to.

Colonial Military Stores,
Sydney, 22 July, 1870.

I WOULD suggest that the lists of stores mentioned in the letter of the Major-General Commanding as procurable through the Commandant should be now applied for, with the price of each article, so that the Board may be guided in the selection of stores. But as in my report of the 21st instant, I would again recommend that the Colonial Government should receive the stores so selected subject to the decision of the Secretary of State for War as to price and other charges, for the reasons therein stated.

The President of the Board.

A. S. PATON,
Supt. Colonial Military Stores.

His Excellency the Governor will be kind enough to apply for the list referred to, with the prices.—

MAJOR-GENERAL SIR TREVOR CHUTE to LORD BELMORE.

Melbourne, 9 August, 1870.

MY LORD,

With reference to my letter No. ^{M.G.}₁₈, dated 11th July last, I have the honor to enclose, for your Excellency's information, copy of a letter I have received from the War Office for my guidance, in relation to the disposal of Imperial Stores to Colonial Governments.

I have, &c.,
T. CHUTE,
Major-General.

[Enclosure.]

Major-General Sir H. K. Storks to the Officer Commanding Her Majesty's Forces, Australian Colonies.

War Office, 17 June, 1870.

Sir,

With reference to the orders which have been sent to you respecting the withdrawal of Her Majesty's troops from the Australian Colonies, I am directed by Mr. Secretary Cardwell to transmit the following instructions for the disposal of the armaments of the fortifications, and of the other stores belonging to the War Department, in those Colonies.

2. The armaments on the works, comprising the guns, carriages, ammunition, and other stores belonging thereto, are to be offered to the Colonial Governments free of charge, on the understanding that those Governments undertake to provide accommodation, in the event of troops being sent out on any future occasion, at the request of the Colonies, for Colonial purposes.

3. If any reserves of guns, carriages, or other articles are required by the Colonial Governments for the armaments, the issues may be made from the Military Store Depôts, on payment.

4. You will have the goodness to direct the Control Officers to offer to the Colonial Governments any stores which they may be desirous of purchasing, under the following conditions.

5. The Control Officers should submit for your approval the names of two or more officers of experience, and well qualified to estimate the value of stores; and you will request the Colonial Governments to depute an officer to attend on their behalf at the valuation of any stores they may wish to purchase.

6. In estimating the value of the stores, the officers appointed by you should take into consideration the cost prices of the articles in England, as inserted in the authorized vocabularies, and should make due allowance for any depreciation from wear and tear, or long storage; they should also take into account the cost of freight and removal of the stores if they were sent to England.

7. The Admiralty will depute a naval officer at Sydney to take charge of the stores which are to form a reserve for the Royal Navy, a list of which is transmitted herewith.

8. You will be pleased to cause all stores which are not taken over by the Colonial Governments or by the Admiralty to be disposed of in the following manner.

9. Stores in good condition and applicable for general service are to be shipped for this country.

10. Articles of local manufacture, or specially adapted for the requirements of the country, also articles which are not considered worth sending Home, either from their bad condition or other cause, are to be sold by auction or tender, as you may deem most advantageous to the Public Service.

11. But before any sale of military stores by auction or tender takes place, you will direct the Control Officers to forward to the Colonial Governments lists of the stores proposed to be sold, and to ascertain in writing that no political or other objections exist to the sale of the stores.

12. If the Colonial Governments object to the proposed sales, you will then direct the Control Officers to destroy, in the presence of a Board of Officers appointed by you, all articles not worth shipment, which can be destroyed on the spot, and to send the remainder to England.

13. You will be pleased to cause the Control Officers to take immediate steps for the disposal of all stores which can at once be spared, so that no delay may occur in breaking up the War Department Establishments on the withdrawal of the troops.

14. In conclusion, I am to request that you will direct the Control Officers to forward, by the quickest conveyance, detailed bills of lading showing the descriptions and the tonnage of the stores shipped for this country. The final arrangements to be as stated at the head of the bills of lading.

I have, &c.,
H. K. STORKS.

To the Colonial Secretary—B., 13/8/70.

Before this subject is brought under the consideration of the Cabinet, the Treasurer should have it for his consideration, as all stores are under his direction.—C.C., 13 August.

MINUTE OF THE COLONIAL TREASURER.

THE Board for the Control of Military Stores will please, through their President, Colonel Richardson, report to the Government what ammunition and military stores they consider it is desirable should be purchased from the Imperial Government.

With reference to paragraph No. 2 in the War Office letter of the 17th June, Colonel Richardson may receive the armaments on the works, comprising the guns, carriages, ammunition, and other stores thereto belonging, with the conditions mentioned, provided the Colonial Secretary approves. It will be necessary to inform the military authorities, through His Excellency the Governor, that we are willing to receive on the conditions stated.—S.S., 16/8/70.

Referring to my letter of yesterday, forwarding a list of the guns, &c., the property of the Colony, I now have the honor to enclose the copy of a list of guns and other warlike stores* which are about to be taken over by the Colonial from the Imperial Government.

I may add, that this Government sent home orders by the last English mail for "six heavy guns, on the most recent and approved principles, effective against iron-clads, with the necessary gear, appliances, &c.," and an ample supply of ammunition. Also, for 2,250 (Henry) Rifles, Infantry long, and 250 ditto, Naval short.

MY LORD,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's letters of yesterday and to-day, forwarding a list of guns now in harbour, in possession of, and about to be taken over, by the Colony. The list of guns will be returned to your Lordship as soon as possible.

2. I enclose a printed copy of the correspondence respecting the disposal of Imperial Stores to the Colonial Government, which passed between the Major-General commanding and myself, from which it would seem to appear to be the intention of Her Majesty's Government that the Colony should be permitted to purchase all the stores, other than those excepted and reserved for Admiralty use (as stated in paragraph 7 of Sir Henry Storks' letter of 17th June, which forms an enclosure in that correspondence.)

3. I have not been furnished with a copy of the list therein alluded to, and therefore am not aware whether any or all of the guns which are the subject of D.A.C.G. Middleton's letter are included in it.

4. At the request of the Colonial Secretary, however, I have the honor to apply to you to allow my Government to purchase them, should it be within your power to comply with their wishes, together with all ammunition belonging to them.

MINUTE OF THE COLONIAL TREASURER.

Purchase of Warlike Stores from Imperial Government.

MEMORANDUM.—With reference to the enclosed papers, I suggest that Colonel Richardson and Mr. Paton be deputed to act on behalf of this Government, and at once take over and value such stores as we have determined to purchase from the Imperial Authorities.

The Controller will have to submit to the Governor, for His Excellency's approval, the names of officers who are to represent the War Department in the transaction, as required by instructions to Major-General Chute of 17th June last. Paragraph 2 of that letter evidently proceeds from the supposition that there are large armaments belonging to the Home Government on the various fortifications in Port Jackson, which it is intended should be presented to the Colony. As the armaments in question had been previously purchased by us—in one instance at an expense of £20,000—it appears reasonable that the stores about to be taken over should not be charged for. If the Hon. the Colonial Secretary be of the same opinion, application might be made in the proper quarter that payment of value, which is the condition of the transfer of the stores, should not be insisted upon. I conceive that the Colony has a claim to a much larger extent than this; on the consideration of the Colonial Government having received no aid towards its defence, whilst the neighbouring Colony of Victoria has been presented with a vessel and armament of great value.

No. 36.

LORD BELMORE TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

No. 149.

Government House,
Sydney, 27 September, 1870.

MY LORD,

I am requested to make an application to your Lordship, on behalf of this Government, with respect to some Armstrong guns, together with their ammunition, which are in reserve here for the use of the Royal Navy; as well as to other Imperial Warlike stores

2. Commodore Stirling, upon his arrival at Sydney, requested to be informed of the nature and strength of our armaments; and, in furnishing the information, I sent him a list which I erroneously supposed to be one of Warlike stores, which Sir Trevor Chute had, by direction of the War Office, offered for purchase to my Government, which offer we had accepted.

3. It turned out however that the list which was supplied to me with a view to giving the Commodore the information he desired was the wrong one, and it contained the stores held in reserve for the Navy, as well as some of the Imperial stores offered to us.

4. Upon being informed of this officially, I addressed the letter of which a copy is enclosed to him, and requested him to sanction (with a view to the harbour defences which are now in course of construction) the purchase by us of these naval reserves.

5. I sent him a printed copy (subjoined) of the correspondence between the Major-General and myself, to which I shall have to refer to presently.

6. In his reply he agreed to hand over the guns at once, subject to the sanction of the Admiralty, and at a price to be hereafter fixed.

7. I have in the first place to ask your Lordship to recommend the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to grant such sanction, as the guns are much required for the proposed defences. I may mention that the Government sent home an order by last mail for six Armstrong guns of the best and most powerful description, in addition to these.

8. In the second place, I am desirous to request you to recommend that these guns, together with all the other Imperial stores about to be taken over, should be given to the local Government free of charge, for the following reasons, which I have extracted from a Ministerial Minute which I have received from the Treasurer, concurred in by the first Minister.

9. Referring to Sir Henry Storks' letter of 17th June, which forms part of the printed correspondence I have referred to, the Minute says:—

"Paragraph 2 of that letter evidently proceeds from the supposition that there are large armaments belonging to the Home Government on the various fortifications in Port Jackson, which it is intended should be presented to the Colony. As the armaments in question had been previously purchased by us, in

in one instance at an expense of twenty thousand pounds, it appears reasonable that the stores about £20,000. to be taken over should not be charged for. If the Hon. the Colonial Secretary is of the same opinion, application might be made in the proper quarter that payment of value, which is the condition of the transfer of the stores, should not be insisted upon. I conceive that the Colony has a claim to a much larger extent than this; on the consideration of the Colonial Government having received no aid towards its defences, whilst the neighbouring Colony of Victoria has been presented with a vessel and armament of great value."

REPORT OF BOARD FOR VALUATION OF THE STORES.

Control Office,
Sydney, 27 October, 1870.

PROCEEDINGS of a Board of Officers assembled at Sydney, New South Wales, for the purpose of inspecting and reporting upon a quantity of Military, Barrack, and Hospital (i.e., Purveyor's) Stores, in accordance with instructions conveyed in War Office letter, from Major-General Sir H. K. Storks, addressed to the Officer Commanding Her Majesty's Forces, Australian Colonies, under date 17th June, 1870.

Members on behalf of the Imperial Government:—

Captain H. M. Beresford, 9th Regiment, A.D.C.

Deputy-Assistant-Commissary-General H. B. A. Middleton, Senior Control Officer, and

Members on behalf of the Government of N. S. Wales:—

Lieutenant-Colonel J. S. Richardson, Commandant Volunteer Force.

Superintendent of Stores—A. S. Paton.

The Board having carefully and minutely examined the various stores brought under its notice, and bearing in mind the instructions conveyed in the Controller-in-Chief's letter as above, in paragraph 6, is of opinion that such stores as are set forth in the annexed list, marked A, should be purchased by the Colonial Government of New South Wales, and paid for to Her Majesty's Imperial Government, at a rate not exceeding the prices given in the authorized vocabularies, allowing therefrom on the sum total, for deterioration from long stowage, &c., say twenty (20) per centum.*

The Board further recommend that the articles set forth in lists B and C, herewith annexed, should also be purchased by the Colonial from the Imperial Government, and at the rates given in the authorized vocabularies, subject to a reduction on the sum total of (say) twenty-five (25) per centum; many of the articles being much worn.

With regard to the articles shown in list D, annexed, the Board recommend that they be forwarded to England, and that those in list E, also annexed, should be sold by public auction, they being utterly useless for general service.

H. M. BERESFORD, Captain 9th Regiment, and A.D.C.

H. B. A. MIDDLETON, D.A.C.G. and Control Officer.

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Lt.-Col., Commdt. Vol. Force.

A. S. PATON, Superintendent of Stores, C.M.S.

* Excepting only the nine brass 6-pounder field-guns, which the Board recommend should be purchased by the Colonial Government, at the current rate for gun-metal only, the rate to be intimated by the Imperial Government.

H. M. BERESFORD, Capt., 9th Regt.

H. B. A. MIDDLETON, Deputy Commissary.

[Enclosure.]

The Overseer of Artillery Stores to The Assistant Controller, New South Wales.

War Office,
24 October, 1870.

THE Secretary of State for War has had before him copies of a correspondence relative to the terms upon which the Colonial Government of New South Wales should be allowed to purchase from the Imperial Government certain small-arm ammunition now in store at Sydney.

Mr. Cardwell has intimated to the Colonial Office his willingness to meet the wishes of the Colonial Government in regard to the purchase by the Colony of the ammunition in question, at the prices offered, viz. :—30/- per 1,000 rounds for the Enfield ball ammunition, 15/- per 1,000 rounds for the blank ammunition, including caps and packages.

The Colonial Office has also been informed that the Control Officers in the several Australian Colonies were, in June last, instructed through the General Officer Commanding the Troops at Melbourne, to offer to the Colonial Governments on fair and reasonable terms any stores which they might wish to purchase on the withdrawal of the troops.

HY. TATUM,
For Overseer of Artillery Stores.

No. 42.

THE SENIOR CONTROL OFFICER to THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

Control Office,
Sydney, 25 February, 1871.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit herewith, for the information of His Excellency the Governor, copies of documents received by me per last English mail, having reference to certain guns, &c., handed over to the Government of this Colony under instructions issued to me by Commodore Stirling.

His Excellency will perceive that one 7-inch B.-L. R. gun, and one 40-pr. gun are directed to be retained by me as a portion of the naval reserve stores for service at this station.

As these guns have been already handed over to the Colony, I beg to request that His Excellency will be so good as to give directions for their immediate return to this department.

I have, &c.,
H. B. A. MIDDLETON,
Deputy Commissary in Charge.

[Enclosures.]

The Director of Artillery and Stores, London, to the Senior Control Officer, Sydney.

War Office, 15 December, 1870.

I AM directed by the Surveyor General of the Ordnance to forward to you the enclosed copy of a communication received from the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, dated 3rd instant, covering a letter from Commodore Stirling relative to the proposed purchase by the Government of New South Wales of certain guns, &c., in store at Sydney, and to acquaint you that Mr. Cardwell has notified to their Lordships his concurrence in the arrangements proposed in their letter of the 3rd instant above alluded to.

HY. TATUM,
For Director of Artillery and Stores.

The Secretary to the Admiralty to The Under Secretary of State for War.

Admiralty, S.W., 3 December, 1870.

SIR,

With reference to the enclosed copy of a letter, &c., from Commodore Stirling, relative to the purchase of certain guns, &c., in store at Sydney by the Government of New South Wales, I am commanded by my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to acquaint you, for the information of Mr. Secretary Cardwell, that some of the guns and carriages included in the enclosed list, with 150 rounds of projectiles and ammunition per gun, are required to be maintained at Sydney as part of the reserves of naval ordnance stores shown in the detailed list prepared by the War Office; and that if the course proposed be adopted, it will not be necessary to send the guns of similar natures named in that list to Sydney.

2. My Lords therefore propose that the following guns shown in the list forwarded by Commodore Stirling be retained in store at Sydney as part of the reserves of naval ordnance stores to be kept at that station, provided that they are in a thoroughly serviceable condition, which fact must be known to the Control Officer at Sydney.

	No.
7-in. B.-L. R. gun, with sliding carriage complete	1
40-pr. do. do. do.	1
12-pr. do. with field carriage complete	1
9-pr. do. with top and bottom boat carriage	1

3. My Lords also propose that 150 rounds of projectiles and ammunition for each of the above-named guns be retained as reserves at Sydney, together with the whole of the 40-pr. projectiles, and also a sufficient amount for two years' average consumption for the 7-inch guns, and 12 and 9 prs. in addition, to meet the requirements of the ships on the Australian station.

4. With the above reservation, my Lords recommend that the remaining guns and ordnance stores detailed in the list forwarded by Commodore Stirling should be sold to the New South Wales Government.

I am, &c.,
VERNON LUSHINGTON.

Commodore Stirling, Sydney, to Secretary of the Admiralty, London.
Purchase of Guns in store at Sydney by New South Wales Government.

"Clio," at Sydney,
7 October, 1870.

SIR,

On my arrival at this place, the Government of New South Wales, owing to the war in Europe, applied to me, through His Excellency the Governor, for permission to purchase the guns and ammunition mentioned in the accompanying list, which had been landed at Sydney from ships at different times.

2. As there is no probability of the guns being required for the Navy, and the carriages would deteriorate by remaining in store, I considered this would be a favourable opportunity for disposing of them, and consented, subject to their Lordships' approval; the price to be settled hereafter by the proper departments.

3. I have reserved a portion of the 40-pr. ammunition, as the "Rosario" mounts guns of that description.

I have, &c.,

F. H. STIRLING,

Commodore and Senior Officer.

H. B. A. MIDDLETON, D.A.C.G.,

Senior Control Officer (in charge).

To the Colonial Secretary,—

This letter states that the Home Government will require one of the (110-pr. Armstrongs I suppose) 7-in. guns, and one 40-pr. gun (with some ammunition), which were handed over to the Colony subject to approval. They must therefore be returned. I have received no reply to my despatch to the Secretary of State on this subject.—B., 1 March, /71.

To be carried out.—JOHN R., 3 Mar., /71.

No. 43.

THE UNDER COLONIAL SECRETARY TO THE UNDER SECRETARY FOR FINANCE AND TRADE.

Sydney, 15 March, 1871.

SIR,

With reference to the guns and ammunition handed over to this Government from the Imperial Stores, under instructions from Commodore Stirling, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to state, for the information of the Colonial Treasurer, that, in accordance with instructions which have been received from the War Office by Deputy-Commissary Middleton, His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to order the return to the Control Department, as a portion of the reserve stores for the service of Her Majesty's ships on the Australian Station, of one 7-inch B.-L. R. gun and one 40-pounder gun, together with 150 pounds of projectiles, and ammunition for each gun.

2. I am accordingly to suggest that in any arrangement for payment by this Colony for guns, &c. handed over by the Imperial authorities, allowance should be made for the cost of those which are now to be returned.

I have, &c.,

HENRY HALLORAN.

Approved.—G.W.L., 17/3/71.

Suptd. of Military Stores, 17/3/71.—H.L. Urgent.

As the Colonial Government have been to great expense in placing these guns on garrison carriages, I beg to solicit that the Honorable the Treasurer may reconsider his approval of the within, and further recommend to His Excellency the Governor that one 7-inch and one 40-pounder A., with projectiles and ammunition, be applied for by the outgoing mail, for service of the ships of war, in place of those now asked; the Government at the same time holding itself bound to hand over one or two guns should any of H.M. ships urgently require them. This will in some manner meet the expense the Colony has already gone to.—A. S. PATON, Supt., 18/3/71.

Approved. The Colonial Secretary will have the goodness to take steps accordingly.—G.W.L., 20/3/71.

The Under Colonial Secretary, 20/3/71, B.C.—H.L. Urgent.

LORD BELMORE to COMMODORE STIRLING.

Government House,
Sydney, 29 March, 1871.

SIR,

Referring to a conversation between you and myself, last week, on the subject of one of the 110-pounder Armstrong guns, and one 40-pounder gun, which it was intended, subject to the approval of the Lords of the Admiralty, to sell to the local Government, but about which I understand instructions have been lately received from England, to keep them in reserve for naval purposes,—I have the honor to inform you that I yesterday received a note from the First Minister, Sir James Martin, stating that his colleagues and himself are of opinion that these guns ought if possible to be mounted in the new batteries now in course of construction.

I have therefore the honor to ask you to allow my Government to retain the guns in question, on the understanding that new guns to replace them shall be sent for, and that if required for naval purposes they shall be given up on demand.

You are aware of the number and nature of our new and proposed batteries, and of the number of guns at present at our command; I therefore venture to express a hope that you will feel justified in acceding to my request.

I have, &c.,

COMMODORE STIRLING to LORD BELMORE.

"Clio," at Sydney,
30 March, 1871.

MY LORD,

In reply to your Lordship's letter, dated yesterday, respecting the 110-pr. and 40-pr. Armstrong guns which have been ordered to be kept in reserve at Sydney, but which have already been transferred to the Colonial Government,—I shall be happy to allow the Colonial Government to retain the guns on the distinct understanding that others will be procured from England, and placed in the Ordnance Stores at Sydney as soon as possible in lieu; and that in the meantime, if the guns are required for use by the Navy, they will be returned to the Ordnance Store.

I have, &c.,

F. H. STIRLING,

Commodore, and Senior Officer.

To the Colonial Secretary, for the information of Ministers. This matter should be attended to by next mail.—B., 1/4/71.

To be attended to.—JOHN R., 6 April, /71.

MY LORD,

I have to acknowledge your Lordship's despatch, No. 149, of the 27th September, with its enclosures, relating to the surrender of Naval and Military stores at Sydney to the Colonial Government. I have been in communication with the several Departments concerned, and I transmit to you for your information a copy of a letter from the War Office stating the conditions on which Mr. Secretary Cardwell is prepared to transfer to the Colony, free of charge, the guns and ammunition specified in the accompanying list, together with all the other Imperial Stores about to be taken over by the Colonial Government.

[Enclosure.]

Major-General Sir H. K. Storks to The Under Secretary of State for the Colonies.

War Office,
6 February, 1871.

Sir,

I am directed by Mr. Secretary Cardwell to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 14th December, 1870, and 18th January, 1871, relating to an application from the Governor of New South Wales for the surrender to the Colony of certain Armstrong guns and ammunition in store at Sydney, for the use of the Royal Navy, and also for the grant to the Colonial Government, free of charge, of these guns, with all the other Imperial Stores about to be taken over. In reply, I am directed to acquaint you, for the information of the Earl of Kimberley, that, having fully considered the reasons advanced by the Colonial Government for the surrender of guns and other stores, Mr. Cardwell, with the concurrence of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, consents, on the understanding that the Colonial Government undertakes to provide accommodation in the event of troops being sent out on any future occasion at the request of the Colony or for Colonial purposes, to the transfer to the Government of New South Wales, free of charge, of the guns and ammunition detailed in the enclosed list (being the quantities available after meeting the wants of the Royal Navy), together with all the other Imperial Stores about to be taken over by the Colony. Mr. Cardwell will give orders to the Control Officer at Sydney to make the transfer of the stores on these conditions.

I have, &c.,

MY LORD,

I have the honor to acknowledge your Lordship's despatch, No. 17, of the 18th February, 1871, giving cover to a reply to a War Office letter, dated 6th February, in reply to my despatch, No. 149, of 27th September, 1870, relating to the surrender of some Armstrong guns and Naval and Military stores, at Sydney, to the Colonial Government.

2. I have referred your despatch to my Responsible Advisers, who concur in the proposition of Her Majesty's Government, and accept the surrender of the guns and ammunition, &c., detailed in the list which was enclosed in the War Office letter, on the understanding that the Colonial Government will undertake to provide accommodation in the event of troops being sent out on any future occasion, at the request of the Colony or for Colonial purposes.

THE SENIOR CONTROL OFFICER to THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

Control Office,
Melbourne, 24 April, 1871.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit, for the information of His Excellency the Governor, copy of a letter received at my office in Sydney, by the last English mail, and forwarded to me here.

I hope to be back in Sydney by about the middle of May, and will then ask His Lordship to allow me an interview with him on the subject of the instructions conveyed to me in the enclosed document.

I have, &c.,

H. B. A. MIDDLETON,
Deputy Commissary,
Senior Control Officer.

To the Col. Treasurer.—B., 1 May, 1871.

[Enclosure.]

War Office, 6 February, 1871.

Control Officer in Charge, Sydney,

Adverting to my letter of 15th December last, 57-2-23281, and 16 January, 57-2-23394, I am now directed by the Surveyor General of the Ordnance to acquaint you that the Secretary of State for War has been pleased to sanction the issue free of charge, to the Government of New South Wales, of the Armstrong guns and ammunition detailed in the list enclosed in my letter of the 16th January, together with all the other Imperial Stores which may have been selected by the Colonial Government from the lists furnished by you.

The transfer of these stores to the Colonial Government, free of charge, is to be made on the understanding that the Colony undertakes to provide accommodation in the event of troops being sent out on any future occasion, at the request of the Colonial Government, or for Colonial purposes, and you will make the issue on these conditions.

You will transmit to the Surveyor General of the Ordnance, detailed lists of all the stores handed over to the Colony under these instructions.

J. W. TATUM,
(For Director of Artillery Stores).

A true copy.—H. B. A. Middleton, Depy. Comy.

THE SENIOR CONTROL OFFICER to THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

Control Office,
Australian Colonies,
Sydney, 16 May, 1871.

SIR,

I have the honor to forward herewith, for the information of His Excellency the Governor, copy of my letter addressed to the Surveyor General of the Ordnance, under date 29th December last, having reference to disposal of Military Stores to the Government of this Colony, together with reply thereto received from the War Office per last mail.

I have, &c.,

H. B. A. MIDDLETON,
Deputy Commissary,
Senior Control Officer.

[Enclosure.]

The Senior Control Officer, Sydney, to The Director of Artillery and Stores, London.

Control Office, Sydney,
29 December, 1870.

Sir,

With reference to my letter of the 2nd instant, on the subject of disposal of Military and Barrack Stores, rendered necessary by the withdrawal of the Troops from this Colony, I have the honor to forward herewith the undermentioned documents having reference thereto, viz. :—

1. Proceedings of Board assembled in accordance with instructions conveyed in W.O. letter from Major-General Sir H. K. Storks, addressed to the Officer Commanding Her Majesty's Troops in the Australian Colonies, under date 19th June, 1870.

2. List A, alluded to in the proceedings of Board as above.

3. List B do. do.

4. List C do. do.

5. List D do. do.

6.)

7.) Lists E do. do.

8.)

9. Copy of letter from Colonial Treasurer, dated 10th ultimo, having reference to four fire-engines, borne on charge here.

10. Copy of my reply to the above.

You will perceive that I have consented to the proposed arrangements subject to the decision of the Secretary of State; and I did so the more readily as I found that the engines in question were of an almost obsolete pattern, and would have, if sold by public auction, realized but a purely nominal value.

11. Copy of my letter to the Colonial Secretary, on the subject of dropsy bedsteads, &c.

12. Copy of letter from the Secretaries of the Sydney Infirmary, addressed to the Treasurer, stating that they had taken delivery of the dropsy bedsteads, &c., as above; and asking him to urge upon the Imperial Government that the cost of these stores should be waived in favour of the charitable institution in whose interest they act.

You

You will perceive by the Minute of the Treasurer on this last-named document, that should the Secretary of State feel indisposed to comply with the request of the Joint Secretaries of the Sydney Infirmary, payment will have to be made from the funds of that institution for the stores in question.

You will see by the proceedings of the Board of Survey that a special memo. is made with reference to nine brass 6-pdr. field guns, recommending that payment for such by the Colonial Government should be made at the current rate for gun-metal only, such rate to be intimated by the Imperial Government.

£22,723 16s. 4d. The sum total of the stores taken over by the Colonial Government of this Colony, as set forth in lists A, B, C respectively, after the deduction of the percentage as agreed upon by the Board of Officers assembled as valuers, amounts to twenty-two thousand seven hundred and twenty-three pounds sixteen shillings and four-pence. This amount will be paid into my hands as soon as the approval of the rates fixed by the Board of Officers shall be signified to the Government of this Colony by Her Majesty's Secretary of State.

£1,375 10s. 5d. The articles alluded to in list D I will ship to England by the first favourable opportunity. The stores sold by public auction, as per lists E, realized in the aggregate thirteen hundred and seventy-five pounds ten shillings and five-pence; and that amount appears to the credit of the public in the Staff Paymaster's accounts for this station, debit voucher No. 7 of the present month.

I sincerely trust that the action taken by me in this matter will meet with the approval of the Secretary of State for War.

With reference to the last paragraph of my letter of the 2nd instant, I beg to recommend most strongly the claims of Mr. Paton, Colonial Superintendent of Stores, to such remuneration as would be granted to an officer conducting the transfer of stores from one custodian to another in the Imperial Service. From the 1st of October until the 24th of December Mr. Paton has been constantly employed, early and late, long beyond his own office hours, on the task in question.

I have, &c.,
H. B. A. MIDDLETON,
Deputy Commissary in charge.

[Sub-enclosure.]

War Office, 17 March, 1871.

Control Officer in Charge, Sydney.

In reply to your letter, I am directed by the Surveyor General of the Ordnance to convey to you the following instructions in regard to the disposal of the War Department Stores at Sydney on the withdrawal of the Imperial Troops.

The Secretary of State for War is in communication with the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject of the stores which have been taken over by the Colonial Government; and you will receive orders as soon as possible respecting the terms on which certain stores comprised in the lists forwarded by you are to be transferred to the Colony.

Pending the receipt of further orders, the issue of stores, free of cost, is to be limited to Armstrong guns, carriages and equipments, which are surplus the wants of the Royal Navy; you will therefore understand that the instructions conveyed in my letter of 6th ultimo—57-2-23467—apply only to the surplus Armstrong guns and equipments, and that no other stores are to be supplied free of charge.

The Surveyor General approves of the sale by auction of the stores in list E, which have realized the sum of £1,375 10s. 5d.

With regard to the four dropsy bedsteads and other hospital stores, to the value of £72 7s. 2d., which have been handed over free of charge to the Sydney Infirmary, pending covering approval, I am to acquaint you that Mr. Cardwell is unable to sanction the issue of those stores except on payment of their value (£72 7s. 2d.) Mr. Cardwell has read with pleasure the report which you have made of the great assistance rendered to you by Mr. Paton, the Colonial Superintendent of Stores, in the valuation and transfer of the stores selected by the Colony, but he regrets that he has no funds at his disposal for granting remuneration to officers of the Colonial Government for services performed on behalf of the Colony.

J. W. TATUM,
(For Director of Artillery and Stores).

P.S.—You do not appear to have retained the full proportion of guns and other stores for the Naval Reserve, a list of which was forwarded with the letter from this office, dated 17th June, 1870—57 Victoria, 167—to the Officer Commanding the Troops at Melbourne. Orders will be sent to you on this point by next mail.—J.W.T.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VOLUNTEERS.

(CORRESPONDENCE RESPECTING SUPPLY OF SNEIDER RIFLES FOR.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 7 September, 1870.

MINUTE OF THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 3 July, 1868.

THE subject of arming the Volunteers of this Colony has lately engaged the attention of Ministers. It has been represented to me that, in the event of any attack from foreign enemies, the Volunteer Force with their present arms would be exposed to such superior fire that the conflict would be comparatively hopeless. I therefore think that the Force should be armed with the Snider rifle without further delay.

The question now arises whether the Colony may not fairly look to the Imperial Government for some assistance in preparing for its own defence. The efficient organization of our Volunteers cannot be a matter of indifference to England, as it tends to relieve her of expense and responsibility. Independently of this consideration, the English Government has lately, by the presentation of ships of war to the Colony of Victoria, signified its interest in the local military and naval organizations of the Colonies. The Government of this Colony has already and entirely at its own cost raised a Volunteer Force, consisting of an Artillery Brigade of seven Batteries, two Regiments of Rifles, six independent Rifle Companies in the Rural Districts, and a Naval Brigade of five Companies, which are all in a high state of efficiency.

Under these circumstances, the Members of the local Government are of opinion that the Colony has a fair claim to ask from Her Majesty's Imperial Government the presentation of 2,500 Snider rifles, with the requisite quantity of ammunition, to arm the Volunteers of the Colony. To the efficiency of these Volunteer Companies His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, who reviewed them on parade only a few months ago, can bear testimony.

I recommend that this application be made to the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies, by His Excellency.

HENRY PARKES.

GOVERNOR THE EARL OF BELMORE to THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

(No. 73.)

Wagga Wagga, New South Wales,
16 July, 1868.

MY LORD DUKE,

In accordance with the request of my Responsible Advisers, I have the honor to forward herewith copy of a Minute of the Executive Council, requesting me to apply to your Grace that a presentation at the cost of the Imperial Government may be made to this Colony of 2,500 Snider rifles, for the purpose of arming the Volunteer Force.

2. Having had an opportunity of reviewing this Force, I can bear testimony to its being able to bear comparison with the Volunteers at Home in point of efficiency, and I understand that there is a growing disposition amongst the young men of the Colony to enrol themselves in it.

3. I beg therefore to recommend this request to the favourable consideration of Her Majesty's Government.

I have, &c.,

THE BRIGADE-ADJUTANT TO THE PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

Volunteer Brigade Office,
Sydney, 4 October, 1870.

SIR,
I have the honor, by direction, to forward copies of Rules made by the St. Leonards and other Corps, as per margin, under the Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867, and submitted to the Government for approval, as requested in your letter of the 28th ultimo, No. 79.

I have, &c.,

Rules of the Volunteer Artillery.

THE following Rules of the above having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 21st instant, are published for general information:—

1. The Corps shall consist of two classes:—
 - (1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient; and
 - (2.) Honorary members.
2. No person shall be admitted as a member without the approval of the Commanding Officer.
3. Every member, on joining, shall register, at the Volunteer Brigade Office, his residence and place of business (if any), and shall notify at the same place any change thereof, not later than seven (7) days from the date of such change.
4. The uniform shall be busby, tunic, trousers, and white gloves, according to sealed pattern deposited in Volunteer Brigade Office. The undress shall be uniform trousers, cap, and jumper, according to sealed pattern. Each member, after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill, shall be provided with uniform; and he must at the same time provide himself with the undress jumper and cap.
5. An annual meeting of the Corps shall be convened in the month of January, at which a Committee of seven (7) members shall be elected by ballot, who shall transact the general non-military business of the Corps, the Commanding Officer thereof to be President, three (3) to form a quorum.
6. A special general meeting shall be convened at any time by the Commanding Officer, or on a written requisition of fifteen (15) members, of which not less than seven (7) days' notice shall be given.
7. Candidates for commissions shall be nominated by two (2) members of the Battery; they shall then be subjected to the prescribed examination, and the names of those who pass shall be balloted for at a special general meeting of the Corps, at which not less than one-half of the enrolled members are present.
8. Leave of absence shall be applied for in writing to the Commanding Officer; such leave shall, however, in every instance be considered to cease in the event of any emergency occurring, or of the issue of any special order for the assembling of the Corps; all appointments and clothing must be returned on making such application, at the discretion of the Commanding Officer, and all arrears of fines and subscriptions must be paid prior to such leave being granted. Members failing to return to duty on expiration of leave, may be struck off the roll at the discretion of the Commanding Officer. Subscriptions shall run during leave of absence.
9. The Corps Fund shall be expended as the Committee may direct, subject to the approval of the Commanding Officer.
10. The minimum subscription for every enrolled member shall be sixpence per month, but members are at liberty to subscribe any sum not exceeding one (1) shilling per week.
11. All subscriptions shall fall due on the first of every month, and all fines on the first day of the month succeeding that in which they have been incurred; and shall be collected by such person or persons as the Commanding Officer may appoint in writing.
12. Honorary members shall pay an annual subscription of not less than one (1) guinea; but members who have served as effectives for not less than two years may become honorary members, on payment of a subscription of not less than half-a-guinea per annum.
13. The Commanding Officer shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and carbine practice.

SCHEDULE of Penalties imposed under the Volunteer Act, Regulations, and Rules:—

	s.	d.
1. Absence from annual inspection parade, ordered by clause 19 of the Volunteer Act	5	0
2. Neglecting to notify change of residence	5	0
3. For any minor offence against good order and discipline at parade, shot practice, drill, or on rifle range	2	6
4. Appearing at drill or parade improperly clothed	2	6
5. Absence from drill and parade for one month	1	0
6. Failing to produce appointments and clothing for inspection, when required to do so	2	6

Appendix.

Appendix.

When a full dress or undress parade or drill with carbines is ordered, all appointments are to be worn.

With field-guns—in full dress, sword, bayonets, and pouch-belts are to be worn—in undress, the pouch-belt and sword-belt only will be worn.

At garrison gun drill waist-belts only are to be worn.

J. S. RICHARDSON,
Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteers.

Rules of No. 1 Company, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Company, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 21st instant, are published for general information :—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been, or may hereafter from time to time be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. After the acceptance of the service of the Corps no person shall be admitted as a member thereof, unless with the approval of the Commanding Officer.

3. The Corps shall consist of two classes :—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient ; and

(2.) Honorary members, who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service.

4. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more of the daily newspapers.

5. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service, the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline ; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps (one at least of whom is to be an Officer), to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor.

J. S. RICHARDSON,
Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteers.

Rules of No. 4 Company, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 13th July, 1869, are published for general information:—

1. There shall be a Committee to transact the non-military business of the Company, to consist of the Commissioned Officers, one Sergeant, one Corporal, and two Privates; members to be elected from the Company by ballot, at a general meeting to be held annually in the month of January,—one of such members to act as Secretary.

2. At all Committee meetings four shall form a quorum, the senior Officer present to preside.

3. Each member of the Company shall attend drill from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m., or Captain's parades when ordered, and the special Battalion drills mentioned in Brigade Orders. Any member neglecting to attend one Company drill or Captain's parade monthly, in addition to the Battalion parades and inspections necessary to complete efficiency, shall be liable to a fine of one shilling, unless he shall previously have obtained leave of absence, or shall furnish a satisfactory excuse in writing to the Captain.

4. Every member shall exhibit for inspection his arms and accoutrements to the Officer Commanding the Company once in each month; such inspection, except when otherwise ordered, shall take place before the "fall in" is sounded at the monthly Battalion parades.

5. Each member shall pay a subscription of 1s. per quarter, Captain 3s., Lieutenant 2s. 6d., Ensign 2s., Sergeants 1s. 6d., Corporals 1s. 3d., in advance, to defray incidental expenses, and to meet the Company's contributions towards the "Volunteer Band Fund," such subscriptions to commence from 1st January in each year, and to fall due on the first day of each quarter.

6. The Non-Commissioned Officers shall be entrusted with the duty of warning members for drills and parades and the collection of the fines and subscriptions herein imposed, to be paid by them to the Commanding Officer.

7. The Commanding Officer shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared for the information of every member of the Corps.

8. Honorary members shall be admitted on payment of an annual subscription of one guinea, in advance, or three guineas donation.

9. A book shall be provided, in which all the accounts shall be entered by the Captain. A record shall also be kept by the Secretary of the minutes of every meeting of the Company and Committee, to be signed by the senior Officer present at the time.

10. No person shall be admitted as a member unless with the approval of the Commanding Officer.

11. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as the Officers thereof. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at any general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be previously given in one or more of the daily papers,—such ballot to include at least one-third efficient strength of Corps.

J. S. RICHARDSON,

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 13th September, 1868, are published for general information :—

1. The Corps serving under the Volunteer Act, 1867, the members are consequently subject to the provisions of that Act, and of any other Act by which it shall be amended, and to all Regulations which have been, or shall be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. The Corps shall consist of two classes :—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient; and of

(2.) Honorary members, the latter contributing to the funds of the Corps, but not being enrolled for service.

3. All subscriptions shall fall due on the first of the month.

4. The subscriptions of the Corps shall be 6d. per month.

5. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as the Officers thereof. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at any general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be previously given in one or more of the daily newspapers.

6. After the acceptance of the service of the Corps no person shall be admitted as a member, unless with the approval of the Commanding Officer.

7. Each member to be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

8. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government or of the Corps,—fair wear and tear only excepted.

9. The expression "property of the Corps," shall include all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of the Corps, or presented to the Corps.

10. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for the discipline of the Corps; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps (one of whom at least is to be an officer), to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor.

11. The Commanding Officer shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

12. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose.

13. All fines shall become due on the first day of every month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer.

14. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer; but a Committee, to aid him in the management of its finances and other matters not provided for by the Act, or by regulations under the Act, shall be appointed yearly. This Committee shall consist of the Commissioned Officers and five members of the Corps, to be elected at the annual general meeting of the Corps, to be held in the month of March; such Committee to have the power of filling vacancies.

15. The Commanding Officer shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared, for the information of every member of the Corps.

16. Honorary members will be permitted to use the practice ground when it is not required by the enrolled members.

17. Honorary members shall severally pay a donation of five pounds (£5), or an annual subscription of one pound (£1.)

18. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz. :—

For non-attendance at inspection parade, without leave of absence—

Rules of the St. Leonards Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 13th September, 1868, are published for general information:—

Rules adopted by the St. Leonards Company, at a Meeting held on the 12th March, 1868.

1. The Corps serving under the Volunteer Act, 1867, the members are consequently subject to the provisions of that Act, and of any other Act by which it shall be amended, and to all Regulations which have been or shall be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. The Corps shall consist of two classes:—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient; and of

(2.) Honorary members, the latter contributing to the funds of the Corps, but not being enrolled for service.

3. All subscriptions shall fall due on the 1st January, April, July, October, to be paid in advance.

4. The subscription of the Corps shall be sixpence per month.

5. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed an Officer thereof. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at any general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be previously given in one or more of the daily papers. Only a ballot if more than one candidate.

6. After the acceptance of the service of the Corps no person shall be admitted as a member, unless with the approval of the Commanding Officer, after having been selected by ballot.

7. Each member will be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

8. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government or of the Corps,—fair wear and tear only excepted.

9. The expression "property of the Corps," shall include all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of the Corps, or presented to the Corps.

10. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for the discipline of the Corps; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps (one of whom at least is to be an Officer), to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor; and any Volunteer shall be entitled to demand a Court of Inquiry shall he feel himself aggrieved.

11. The Commanding Officer shall fix time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

12. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose.

13. All fines shall become due on the first day of every month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer.

14. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer, who shall be an ex officio member of Committee; but a Committee, to aid him in the management of its finances, shall be yearly appointed.

This Committee shall consist of nine members, one of which is to be Secretary of the Corps, and shall be convened according to regulations of the Corps.

15. The Commanding Officer shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared for the information of every member of the Corps.

16. Honorary members may, if they wish it, wear the uniform of the Corps, but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

17. Honorary members will be permitted to use the practice ground when it is not required by the enrolled members, subject to any regulation of the Corps.

18. Honorary members shall severally pay a donation of £4 4s., or annual subscription of £1 1s.

19. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines as follows:—

J. S. RICHARDSON,

Lieut.-Col. Commanding Vol. Force.

Rules of South Sydney Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 13th day of September, 1868, are published for general information :—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been, or may hereafter from time to time be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. The Corps shall consist of two classes :—

- (1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient ; and
- (2.) Honorary members, who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service.

3. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot of a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more of the daily newspapers.

4. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline ; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps (one at least of whom shall be an Officer), to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it ; but any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor.

5. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

6. The system of musketry instruction prescribed in the Musketry Regulations for the Army must be adhered to.

7. Each member must provide himself with an undress uniform in accordance with approved pattern, after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

8. Honorary members may wear the uniform, but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

9. Honorary members will be permitted to use the rifle practice range at any time when the Corps is on the ground, and compete for company prizes (except during matches with other Corps).

10. Honorary members shall pay a donation of £5, or an annual subscription of £1 1s.

11. The "term property of the Corps," shall be taken to mean all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of, or presented to, the Corps.

12. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government or of the Corps,—allowance being made for fair wear and tear only.

13. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer ; but a Committee to aid him in the management of its finances shall be appointed at a general meeting, to be held yearly in the first week of the month of March. This Committee shall consist of the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and seven members of the Corps. The Corps fund shall be expended as the Committee may direct, subject to the approval of the Commanding Officer.

14. The subscription to the funds of the Corps shall be one shilling per month, payable in advance.

15. The Committee shall elect from its own members a Secretary and a Treasurer.

16. The Committee shall meet once at least in every month. At all such meetings five shall form a quorum, the senior Officer present to preside ; but should no Officer be present the Committee shall elect a Chairman.

17. The Secretary shall keep a book and enter therein minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee, and the Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

18. All fines shall become due on the first day of every month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, or such other person as the Commanding Officer may appoint in writing, and shall be paid by him to such Commanding Officer of the Corps.

19. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book to be kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose, and shall be applied as a part of the general funds of the Corps.

20. Any member being in arrear with subscription or fines, and refusing or neglecting to pay the same, shall not be eligible to compete in any rifle match, or to be a representative of the Corps at the matches of the rifle association, or other general matches.

21. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be prepared annually, and a copy thereof furnished to any member who may demand it.

22. Any member resigning, or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall before such resignation be accepted or leave granted, be required to pay up in full all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and deliver up all arms, appointments, and clothing,—subscriptions to run during leave of absence. Any member not returning at expiration of leave, or on a special order being issued for the assembly of the Corps, may be struck off the roll at the discretion of the Commanding Officer.

J. S. RICHARDSON,
Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteers.

Rules of No. 2 Company H. R. H. the Duke of Edinburgh's Highland Volunteer Rifle Corps.

THE following Rules of the above Company, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date 3rd February, 1869, are published for general information :—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been, or may hereafter from time to time be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. All men of Scotch birth or descent shall be eligible to become members.
 3. After the acceptance of the service of the Corps no person shall be admitted as a member thereof, unless with the approval of the Officer Commanding.

4. The Corps shall consist of two classes:—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient.

(2.) Honorary members, who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service.

5. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers; and no such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon the result of a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven (7) days' notice shall be given in one or more of the daily newspapers. All nominations to be notified to the Commanding Officer within four (4) days of such election.

6. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of five (5) members of the Corps—one (1) at least to be an Officer—to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor.

7. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

8. The system of musketry instruction prescribed in the Musketry Regulations for the Army must be adhered to.

9. Each member to provide himself with undress uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

10. Honorary members may wear the uniform, but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

11. Honorary members will be permitted to use the rifle practice range at any time when the Corps is on the ground, excepting during matches with other Corps.

12. Honorary members shall pay a donation of five pounds (£5), or an annual subscription of one pound (£1).

13. The term "property of the Corps" shall be taken to mean all articles which have been purchased out of the general fund, or presented to the Corps.

14. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer; but a Committee, to aid him in the management of its finances, shall be appointed at a general meeting to be held half-yearly in the months of January and July. The Committee shall consist of the Officers, one Sergeant, one Corporal, and seven private members of the Corps.

15. The subscription of the Corps shall be one shilling (1s.) per month, payable in advance.

16. The Committee shall elect from its own members a Secretary and Treasurer.

17. The Committee shall meet at least once in every month, and at all such meetings five shall form a quorum, the senior Officer present to preside; and should no Officer be present, the Committee shall elect a Chairman.

18. The Secretary shall keep a book, and enter therein the minutes of all meetings of the Corps and the Committee. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

19. A special general meeting may be convened at any time by the Commanding Officer, or on a written requisition, signed by fifteen (15) members, of which not less than seven (7) days' notice shall be given.

20. All fines shall become due on the first day of every month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants appointed for that purpose, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer of the Corps.

21. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose, and shall be applied as a part of the general fund of the Corps.

22. Any member being in arrear with his subscription or fines, and refusing or neglecting to pay up the same, shall not be eligible to compete in any rifle match, or to be a representative of the Corps at the matches of the Rifle Association, or other general matches.

23. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared, for the general information of the members.

24. Any member resigning or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted or leave granted, be required to pay up in full all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and in the event of leave being granted such subscriptions to run on.

26. That no alteration shall be made in these Rules, except at the half-yearly meetings, or at a meeting specially convened for the purpose,—notice of any such alteration having been given one month previous.

27. The terms "Corps" and "Commanding Officer of the Corps" shall respectively be taken to mean "No. 2 Company of the Duke of Edinburgh's Highland Volunteer Rifle Corps," and the "Captain or Officer Commanding No. 2 Company of the Duke of Edinburgh's Highland Volunteer Rifle Corps."

J. S. RICHARDSON,
Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteers.

Rules of the Penrith Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 25th day of December, 1868, are published for general information :—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all regulations which have been or may hereafter from time to time be issued under the authority of His Excellency the Governor.

2. All British subjects above the age of sixteen shall be eligible for admission to the Corps, and shall make personal or written application to the Commanding Officer, stating name, place of abode, and occupation; the names of applicants to be read to the Corps on the next parade, and approved of by the Commanding Officer.

3. The Corps shall consist of two classes :—

- (1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient.
- (2.) Honorary members who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service, but may be elected members of the Finance Committee.

4. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more of the daily newspapers.

5. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of nine members of the Corps, two of whom at least shall be Officers, two Non-Commissioned Officers, and five Privates.

6. Each member to be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

7. Honorary members shall severally pay an annual subscription of 10s. 6d.

8. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government, or of the Corps,—fair wear and tear only excepted.

9. That the undress uniform of the Corps shall be blue serge tunic, white trousers, and full-dress chaco, to be worn from 1st October to 31st March; and from 1st April to 30th September white trousers to be substituted by those of full-dress pattern.

10. The expression "property of the Corps" shall include all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of the Corps, or presented to the Corps.

11. There shall be a Committee formed for the furtherance of the interests of the Corps, having the management of its financial and non-military business, such Committee to consist of nine members, five of whom to form a quorum.

12. The Secretary shall keep a book, and enter therein minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee; he will also keep a record of all rifle matches in which the Corps may be engaged. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

13. The Officer commanding the Corps may at any time convene a general meeting of the Corps, at which no by-law shall be passed unless due notice of seven days, by advertisement or circular, shall have been given. At every meeting the senior Officer present shall preside.

14. All moneys arising from fines or other sources will be collected by a Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed, and paid over to the Treasurer.

15. A book, called a "fine book," shall be kept, in which all fines shall be entered and signed by the Officer commanding the Corps; a separate entry is also to be made when such fine is collected, with the signature of the receiving Officer. This book shall be kept by the Colour-Sergeant, and shall be submitted for inspection half-yearly, or produced when required by the Commanding Officer or Committee.

16. Any member who may be fined must pay the amount of such fine to the Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed by the Officer commanding the Corps to receive the same, within thirty days of notification to him; and in default of such payment will be proceeded against according to law.

17. All fines and penalties, and also all donations and subscriptions, shall form a fund for the benefit of the Corps, to be appropriated as may be agreed upon from time to time by the Committee.

18. Any member resigning, or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted, or leave granted, be required to pay up, in full, all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and deposit his arms and accoutrements in good order in the armoury.

19. Any member desiring leave of absence shall apply for the same, in writing, to the Commanding Officer of the Corps. Leave of absence will not be granted for a longer period than one month, cases of sickness excepted, and where a member is about leaving the Penrith district.

20. At every parade, on the roll being called any member not answering to his name shall be deemed absent. "Any member coming late" (i.e., after the roll has been called), and assigning a reason for his being late, which may be deemed sufficient by the Officer commanding the Corps, shall be considered as having been present on parade.

21. That leave of absence, when the member on leave may be in the district of Penrith, shall, in every instance, be considered as cancelled "in cases of emergency," or on the issue of any special order for the assembly of the whole Corps.

22. The subscription of each member of the Corps shall be 6d. per month.

23. All subscriptions shall fall due on the first of every month; and in the event of non-payment the same shall be doubled.

24. No Volunteer, under a penalty of 10s., shall address the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, except through the Officer Commanding the Corps to which he belongs.

25. On requisition, signed by twelve (12) members of the Corps, the Captain shall call a meeting of the members, to consider the propriety of forwarding any suggestions or complaints which the requisitionists may desire should be addressed to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

26. The Members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz. :—

For non-attendance at Inspection or Commanding Officer's Parade without leave of absence, or giving sufficient reason, in writing, within a fortnight, to the proper officer :—

	s.	d.

Non-Commissioned Officer	1	0
Private	0	6

In persisting to talk in the ranks, after being warned not to do so, and for any other disorderly conduct, or leaving the ranks without permission

0 6

For being improperly dressed at parade

0 6

For dirty rifle or accoutrements on parade

0 6

For not giving notice of change of residence within a fortnight of such change

0 6

At Rifle Practice—

The senior Officer present at any rifle practice, shall have the power to inflict the following fines, viz. :—

For loading contrary to order, or shooting out of turn, without permission, 1s., nor less than

0 6

For pointing the rifle, loaded or unloaded, at any person without orders, not less than 2s. 6d., nor more than 27. All orders issued by the Commanding Officer will be entered in the order book. A Non-Commissioned Officer in the Corps will read, at the parades, all orders that may be issued. Every order so read and entered shall be held to be sufficient notice, and, if not obeyed, the Commanding Officer is empowered to impose a fine not exceeding 5s. for non-compliance with such order.

28. By-laws, not inconsistent with the provisions of the Volunteer Act of 1867, may be proposed by any member, and, if approved of by the Commanding Officer, shall be by him submitted for confirmation or rejection at a general meeting of the Corps, called for the purpose; and every such by-law, if confirmed at such general meeting, shall be binding on all members of the Corps.

J. S. RICHARDSON,

Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteer Force.

Rules of the Newcastle Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 13th day of September, 1868, are published for general information :—

1. All previous rules and by-laws of the Corps are hereby replaced.

2. The financial and non-military business of the Corps shall be managed by a Committee, consisting of the Commissioned Officers and six other members, elected at the annual meeting. Four shall form a quorum—the senior Officer present shall preside. The elected members shall hold office till their successors are appointed, but shall be eligible for re-election. Vacancies may be filled up at any meeting of the Corps. The existing Committee shall continue till the next annual meeting.

3. The annual meeting of the Corps, for the election of Committee-men, passing accounts, and other general business, shall be held in the month of January, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient. The senior Officer present shall preside.

4. The Commanding Officer shall cause an account of the receipts and expenditure of the Corps to be prepared, and shall submit the same and the fine-book to the Corps at the annual meeting.

5. No new rule shall be passed, nor an old one amended or rescinded, unless one month's previous notice shall have been given in some one of the modes hereafter provided for giving notice of meetings.

6. The Commanding Officer shall at any time convene a meeting of the Corps, on receiving a requisition stating the object of the meeting, signed by at least one-sixth of the members.

7. The recommendation of a member for a Commission shall be decided by ballot at a general meeting of the Corps.

8. Notices of meeting may be given either verbally on parade, or by advertisement or circular. Unless in cases of emergency, at least seven days' notice shall be given of every meeting, stating its object and purpose.

9. The monthly subscription shall be sixpence, and shall fall due on the first day of each month.

10. Gentlemen may join the Corps as honorary members, on approval by the Commanding Officer. They shall pay an annual subscription of one guinea, in advance, and shall not be subject to the monthly subscription.

11. No member shall be entitled to uniform until he shall have passed recruit drill.

12. A member shall be subject to fines (to be inflicted by the Commanding Officer) as follows:—

	s.	d.
(a) For not attending the Commanding Officer's Parade	1	0
(b) For not attending at least one-half of the parades or drills fixed for the month by the Commanding Officer	0	6
(c) For appearing as a spectator, or otherwise, at any drill, parade, inspection, or review, at which he shall not be present for the purpose of taking part... ..	1	0

13. The senior Officer present at any drill, parade, or rifle practice, may (subject to confirmation by the Commanding Officer) inflict a fine of sixpence for each time of committing or repeating any of the following offences:—

- (a) Talking or laughing after being cautioned not to do so; snapping caps or firing ball or blank cartridge without orders, or any other irregularity in the ranks.
- (b) Loading contrary to orders.
- (c) Shooting out of turn.
- (d) Discharging the rifle without leave, whether accidentally or not.
- (e) Pointing the rifle at any person, whether loaded or not.
- (f) Appearing at drill or parade with arms or accoutrements in a dirty or unserviceable state.

14. In the case of an Officer every fine shall be doubled, and in that of a Non-Commissioned Officer shall be increased one-half.

15. All fines shall be entered by the Commanding Officer in a book to be kept for that purpose; and every such entry shall be sufficient proof of the fine having been duly inflicted.

16. Fines shall be payable on the first day of the month succeeding that in which they may have been incurred, and a list of such fines shall be read at the next or other most convenient drill or parade.

17. The Commanding Officer may remit a fine in any case where, before the end of the month in which it may have been incurred, a written excuse shall be sent in to him which he may consider satisfactory.

18. Every member shall be furnished with a copy of these rules.

19. Committee meetings shall be called by the Commanding Officer, or, if there be one, by the Secretary, either of his own accord, or at the request of two Committee-men.

20. These rules shall come into force on their publication in the Government Gazette.

[Passed the first day of July, 1868.]

J. S. RICHARDSON,

Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteer Force.

Rules of the Parramatta Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 25th December, 1868, are published for general information:—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been or may be hereafter from time to time issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. All British subjects above the age of sixteen shall be eligible for admission to the Corps, and shall make personal or written application to the Commanding Officer, stating name, place of abode, and occupation; the name of applicants to be read to the Corps on the next parade, and if no sufficient objection is made within 1 (one) week after, the Commanding Officer may admit the applicant a member.

3. The Corps shall consist of two classes:—

- (1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient.
- (2.) Honorary Members who contribute to the funds of the Corps, not enrolled for service, but eligible as members of Finance Committee.

4. Honorary members shall severally pay an annual subscription of one guinea.

5. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, either the property of the Government or the Corps,—fair wear and tear only excepted.

6. The expression "property of the Corps" shall include all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of the Corps, or presented to the Corps.

7. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers; no such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more of the daily papers.

8. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service, the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline, and may, when necessary, apply to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of six members of the Corps, one of whom at least shall be a Commissioned Officer.

9. Each member will be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

10. There shall be a Committee, having the management of the financial and non-military business of the Corps, such Committee to consist of six members, including Secretary and Treasurer, four to constitute a quorum. They shall be elected annually by ballot, and hold office to the end of the year—the Commissioned Officers to be members ex officio.

11. The Secretary shall keep a book and enter therein minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee; he will also keep a record of all rifle practices and matches in which the Corps may be engaged. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

12. The Commanding Officer may at any time convene a general meeting of the Corps, at which no by-law shall be passed unless due notice of seven days, by advertisement or circular, shall have been given. At every meeting the senior Officer present shall preside.

13. All moneys arising from fines or other sources will be collected by a Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed, and paid over to the Treasurer.

14. A book, called a fine book, shall be kept, in which all fines shall be entered and signed by the senior Officer then present. A separate entry must be made when such fine is collected, with the signature of the receiving officer. This book shall be kept by the Colour-Sergeant, and shall be submitted for inspection half-yearly, or produced when required by the Commanding Officer or Committee.

15. Any member who may be fined must pay the amount to the Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed by the Officer Commanding the Corps to receive the same, within fourteen days of notification to him, and in default of such payment will be proceeded against according to law.

16. All fines and penalties, and also all donations and subscriptions, shall form a fund, to be appropriated as may be agreed upon from time to time by the Committee.

17. Any member resigning or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted, or leave granted, be required to pay up, in full, all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and deposit his arms and accoutrements and uniform, in good order, in the armoury.

18. No Volunteer, under a penalty of ten shillings, shall address the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, except through the Commanding Officer of the Corps to which he belongs.

19. On requisition, signed by twelve members of the Corps, the Commanding Officer shall call a meeting of the members to consider the propriety of forwarding any suggestions or complaints which the requisitionists may desire should be addressed to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

20. Any member coming late to parade, and assigning a reason for so doing, which is deemed sufficient by the Officer in command at such parade, shall be considered as having been present, provided such absence does not exceed one quarter of an hour.

21. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz. :—

	s.	d.
Commissioned Officer	2	6
Non-Commissioned Officer	1	0
Privates	0	6
For talking in the ranks after having been warned not to do so, and for any other disorderly conduct, or leaving ranks without permission	1	0
For being improperly dressed at parade	1	0
For not giving notice of change of residence within two weeks of such change... ..	1	0
For dirty rifle or accoutrements on parade	1	0
For not sending in arms and accoutrements for inspection when ordered	2	6

22. At parade, drill, or rifle practice, the senior Officer present shall have power to inflict the following fines, viz. :—

For loading contrary to order, or shooting out of turn without permission	1	0
For pointing the rifle, loaded or unloaded, at any person without orders, not less than	10	0

23. The subscription of the Corps shall be two shillings per quarter, payable in advance.

24. No enrolled member, but those who are returned as efficient Volunteers, shall be permitted to compete for any prize except for recruit prizes.

25. No person shall fire at the range, unless the red (or danger) flag shall be flying on the butts, and a marker is employed; and any person breaking this rule to be fined 2s. 6d.

26. No member shall be allowed to enter for any prize, or use the range for any purpose until his subscriptions and all other moneys due from him be paid up in full.

27. The firing-party shall be under the control of the senior Officer or Non-Commissioned Officer on the ground; and should there be no Officer present, one of the members must be chosen by those present to take command, and he will be held responsible for any irregularities that may take place.

28. The value of every shot will be decided only by the flag shown by the marker.

29. All firing-parties shall fall in in single rank, and shall not leave their places without permission; they shall load and fire according to their position; any member being late must fall in on the left, and finish his practice after the others have retired.

30. No member shall be allowed to begin at any range after the third round has been fired and the fourth commenced.

31. The Officer in charge will use his discretion in allowing any member to fire at the longer ranges who has not made a reasonable score previously at the shorter.

J. S. RICHARDSON,
Lieut.-Col. Commanding Vol. Force.

Rules of the East Maitland Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Company having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 25th August, 1869, are published for general information:—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members shall be subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been, or may hereafter from time to time be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. After the acceptance of the service of the Corps no person shall be admitted as a member thereof, unless with the approval of the Commanding Officer.

3. The Corps shall consist of two classes:—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient; and

(2.) Honorary members, who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service.

4. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more of the daily newspapers.

5. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer shall be solely responsible for its discipline; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps (one at least of whom is to be an Officer) to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor.

6. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

7. The system of musketry instruction prescribed in the Musketry Regulations for the Army shall be adhered to.

8. Each member shall be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

9. Honorary members may wear the uniform, but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

10. Honorary members will be permitted to use the rifle practice range at any time when the Corps is on the ground, excepting during matches with other Corps.

11. Honorary members shall pay a donation of £5, or an annual subscription of £1.

12. The term "property of the Corps" shall be taken to mean all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of, or presented to, the Corps.

13. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government, or of the Corps,—allowance being made for fair wear and tear only.

14. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer; but a Committee, to aid him in the management of its finances, shall be appointed at a general meeting to be held yearly on Monday of the last week in January. This Committee shall consist of the Officers and nine members of the Corps.

15. The subscription of the Corps shall be two shillings and six-pence per year, payable in advance.

16. The Committee shall select from its own members a Secretary and a Treasurer.

17. The Committee shall meet, once at least, in every month. At all such meetings five shall form a quorum. The senior Officer present shall preside; and should no Officer be present, the Committee shall select a Chairman.

18. The Secretary shall keep a book, and enter therein minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

19. All fines shall become due on the first day of every month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer of the Corps.

20. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose, and shall be applied as a part of the general fund of the Corps.

21. Any member being in arrear with subscription or fines, and refusing or neglecting to pay up the same, shall not be eligible to compete in any rifle match, or to be a representative of the Corps at the matches of the Rifle Association, or other general matches.

22. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared, and a copy thereof furnished to any member who may demand it.

23. Any member resigning, or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted, or leave granted, be required to pay up, in full, all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps.

24. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz.:—

4. The annual subscriptions of the Corps shall be six shillings.

5. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to propose to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, such of those members as they may desire to be appointed as the Officers thereof. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at any general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be previously given by Circular.

6. After the acceptance of the service of the Corps no person shall be admitted as a member, unless with the approval of the Commanding Officer.

7. Each member to provide himself with undress uniform in accordance with approved pattern, after having passed an inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

8. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him which are the property of the Government or of the Corps,—fair wear and tear only excepted.

9. The expression "property of the Corps," shall include all articles which have been purchased out of the funds of the Corps, or presented to the Corps.

10. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for the discipline of the Corps; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps, one of whom at least is to be an Officer, to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force convened under the authority of the Governor.

11. The Commanding Officer shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

12. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale:—

	s.	d.
1st.—For talking in the ranks after being warned not to do so, or for other disorderly conduct, such as leaving the ranks without permission, &c....	1	0
2nd.—For not delivering up, as desired, arms and accoutrements for inspection	5	0
3rd.—For smoking in the barrack-room	1	0
4th.—For careless or improper use of side arms when mustering for drill, or on dismissal from drill or parade	1	0

13. The senior Officer present at any rifle practice shall have power, subject to the approval of the Commanding Officer, to inflict the following fines:—

For loading contrary to orders, or shooting out of turn	1	0
For discharging the rifle accidentally	1	0
For pointing the same, loaded or unloaded, at any person, without orders ...	10	0

14. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose.

15. All fines shall become due on the first day of every month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer.

16. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer; but a Committee to aid him in the management of its finances shall be appointed yearly. This Committee shall consist of two Officers and six members of the Corps, and shall be convened monthly by circular.

17. The Commanding Officer shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared for the information of every member of the Corps.

18. Honorary members may, if they wish it, wear the uniform of the Corps; but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

19. Honorary members will be permitted to use the rifle practice range along with the enrolled members, and will be allowed to compete for Company prizes.

20. Honorary members shall severally pay an annual subscription of £1 sterling.

21. The system of musketry instruction prescribed in the Musketry Regulations for the Army must be adhered to.

22. The Secretary shall keep a book, and enter therein minutes of all Meetings of the Corps and Committee. He will also keep a record of all rifle matches in which the Corps may be engaged. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

23. Any member resigning or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted, or leave granted, be required to pay up in full all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and deliver up his clothing, arms, accoutrements, &c. Subscriptions to run during leave of absence. Any member not returning at expiration of leave of absence, or on a special order being issued for the assembly of the Corps, may be struck off the roll at the discretion of the Commanding Officer.

24. No Volunteer shall address the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, except through the Officer Commanding the Corps to which he belongs.

25. On requisition signed by twelve members of the Corps, the Officer Commanding the Corps shall call a general meeting of the members to consider the propriety of forwarding any suggestions or complaints which the requisitionists may desire should be addressed to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

26. By-laws, not inconsistent with the provisions of the Volunteer Act of 1867, may be proposed by any member, and if approved of by the Commanding Officer shall be by him submitted for confirmation or rejection, at a general meeting of the Corps called for the purpose, before being submitted to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force for the approval of the Governor.

27. Members not attending monthly parade shall be fined one shilling, unless a satisfactory reason for absence be given to the Officer Commanding the Corps.

28. Every member is expected to provide himself with a copy of the Rules of the Corps.

J. S. RICHARDSON,
Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteer Force.

Rules of the Bathurst Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 23rd instant, are published for general information:—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been or may hereafter from time to time be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. After the acceptance of the service of the Corps no person shall be admitted as a member thereof, unless with the approval of the Commanding Officer.

3. The Corps shall consist of two classes:—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient; and

(2.) Honorary members, who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service.

4. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more of the local newspapers.

5. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps (one at least of whom is to be an Officer), to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor.

6. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

7. The system of musketry instruction prescribed in the Musketry Regulations for the Army must be adhered to.

8. Each member to be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

9. Honorary members may wear the uniform, but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

10. Honorary members may use the rifle practice range when the Corps is on the ground, excepting during military matches, and at such other times as shall be decided upon by the Commanding Officer.

11. Honorary members shall pay a donation of £5, or an annual subscription of £1.

12. The term "property of the Corps," shall be taken to mean all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of, or presented to, the Corps.

13. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government or of the Corps,—allowance being made for fair wear and tear only.

14. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer; but a Committee, to aid him in the management of its finances, shall be appointed at a general meeting to be held yearly in the first week of the month of March. This Committee shall consist of the Officers and fifteen members of the Corps.

15. The subscription of the Corps shall be one shilling per month, payable in advance.

16. The Committee shall elect from its own members a Secretary and a Treasurer.

17. The Committee shall meet, once at least, in every month, and that the day of meeting shall be the second Monday, at 8 p.m. At all such meetings seven shall form a quorum, the senior Officer present to preside; and should no Officer be present, the Committee shall elect a Chairman.

18. The Secretary shall keep a book, and enter therein minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

19. All fines shall, become due on the first day of every month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer of the Corps.

20. All fines imposed on the members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose, and shall be applied as a part of the general fund of the Corps.

21. Any member being in arrear with subscription or fines, and refusing or neglecting to pay up the same, shall not be eligible to compete in any rifle match, or to be a representative of the Corps at the matches of the Rifle Association, or other general matches.

22. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared for the inspection of any member of the Corps.

23. Any member resigning, or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted, or leave granted, be required to pay up, in full, all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps.

24. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz. :—

25. Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates shall give the military salute to Officers of Volunteer Corps, and Officers of Her Majesty's Service, when both in uniform.

26. The Committee may propose additions and alterations to these by-laws,—such additions and alterations to be confirmed by a general meeting of the Corps before being submitted for the approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

27. The terms "Corps" and "Commanding Officer of the Corps" shall respectively be taken to mean the "B.V.R. Company," and the "Captain or Officer Commanding the B.V.R. Company."

J. S. RICHARDSON,

Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteers.

Rules of the Kiama Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 7th September, 1869, are published for general information :—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been, or may hereafter, from time to time be issued under the authority of His Excellency the Governor.

2. All British subjects above the age of sixteen shall be eligible for admission to the Corps, and shall make personal or written application to the Commanding Officers, stating name, place of abode, and occupation. The names of applicants to be read to the Corps on the next parade, and approved of by the Commanding Officer.

3. The Corps shall consist of two classes :—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient.

(2.) Honorary members, who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service.

4. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more of the local journals.

5. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline, but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of nine members of the Corps, two of whom at least shall be Officers, two Non-Commissioned Officers, and two Privates.

6. Each member to be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

7. Honorary members shall severally pay an annual subscription of 10s. 6d., and may, if they wish, wear the uniform of the Corps, and also be permitted to use the practice ground when not required by the enrolled members.

8. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government, or of the Corps,—fair wear and tear only excepted.

9. That the undress uniform of the Corps shall be blue serge tunic and cap, grey tweed trousers (red facings).

10. The expression "property of the Corps," shall include all articles which have been purchased out of the general funds of the Corps, or presented to the Corps.

11. There shall be a Committee formed for the furtherance of the interests of the Corps, having the management of its financial and non-military business; such Committee to consist of nine members, exclusive of Commissioned Officers, five to form a quorum, exclusive of Commissioned Officers.

12. The Secretary shall keep a book, and enter therein minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee; the Officer in command for time-being shall furnish to the Secretary accounts of all rifle matches under his command.

13. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and the disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

14. The Officer Commanding the Corps may at any time convene a general meeting of the Corps, at which no by-laws shall be passed unless due notice of seven days, by advertisement or circular, shall be given. At every meeting the senior Officer present shall preside.

15. A book, called a "Fine-book," shall be kept, in which all fines shall be entered and signed by the Officer Commanding the Corps; a separate entry is also to be made when such fine is collected, with the signature of the receiving Officer. This book shall be kept by the Secretary, and shall be submitted for inspection half-yearly, or produced when required by the Commanding Officer or Committee.

16. All moneys arising from fines, subscriptions, or donations, will be collected by a Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed, and paid over to the Treasurer.

17. Any member who may be fined must pay the amount of such fine to the Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed by the Officer Commanding the Corps to receive the same, within thirty days of notification to him, and in default of such payment will be proceeded against according to law.

18. All fines and penalties, and also all donations and subscriptions shall form a fund for the benefit of the Corps, to be appropriated as may be agreed upon from time to time by the Committee.

19. Any member resigning, or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted, or leave granted, be required to pay up in full all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and deposit his arms and accoutrements in good order in the armoury.

20. Any member desiring leave of absence shall apply for the same in writing to the Commanding Officer of the Corps; leave of absence will not be granted for a longer period than one month, cases of sickness excepted, and when a member is about leaving the Kiama district.

21. At every advertised parade, on the roll being called, any member not answering to his name shall be deemed absent. "Any member coming late" (i.e., after the roll has been called), and assigning a reason for his being late, which may be deemed sufficient by the Officer Commanding the Corps, shall be considered as having been present on parade.

22. That leave of absence, when the member on leave may be in the district of Kiama, shall, in every instance, be considered as cancelled in cases of emergency, or on the issue of any special order for the assembly of the whole Corps.

23. The subscription of each member of the Corps shall be 6d. per month.

24. All subscriptions shall be due in advance on the first of every month; any member in arrear more than three months to be fined one shilling.

25. No Volunteer, under a penalty of 10s., shall address the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, except through the Officer Commanding the Corps to which he belongs.

26. On requisition signed by twelve members of the Corps the Captain shall call a meeting of the members to consider the propriety of forwarding any suggestions or complaints which the requisitionists may desire should be addressed to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

27. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz. :—

10. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for the discipline of the Corps; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of three or five members of the Corps (one of whom at least is to be an officer), to be appointed by roster, for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force, convened under the authority of the Governor.

11. The Commanding Officer shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

12.

12. The senior Officer present at any rifle practice shall have power, subject to the approval of the Commanding Officer, to inflict the following fines, viz. :—

	£	s.	d.
For loading contrary to orders, or shooting out of turn...	1	0	0
For discharging the rifle accidentally	1	0	0
For pointing the same, loaded or unloaded, at any person without orders	1	0	0

13. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose.

14. All fines shall become due on the 1st day of every month succeeding that on which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer.

15. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer; but a Committee, to aid him in the management of its finances, shall be appointed yearly; this Committee shall consist of the Officers and seven members of the Corps, and shall be convened according to the Regulations of each Corps.

16. The Commanding Officer shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be annually prepared for the information of every member of the Corps.

17. Honorary members may, if they wish it, wear the uniform of the Corps, but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

18. Honorary members will be permitted to use the practice ground when it is not required by the enrolled members.

19. Honorary members shall severally pay a donation of or annual subscription of £1 1s.

20. The system of musketry instruction prescribed in the Musketry Regulations for the Army must be adhered to.

21. Every member is expected to provide himself with a copy of the Rules of the Corps.

J. S. RICHARDSON,

Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteer Force.

Rules of the Gerringong Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

THE following Rules of the above Corps, having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, and bearing date the 18th day of July, 1870, are published for general information :—

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act, 1867, the Members are subject to its provisions and also to all Regulations which have been or may hereafter from time to time be issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. All British subjects above the age of sixteen (16) years shall be eligible for admission to the Corps, and shall make personal or written application to the Commanding Officer, stating name, age, place of abode, and occupation. The names of applicants shall be read to the Corps on the next parade, and approved of, or otherwise, by the Commanding Officer.

3. The Corps shall consist of two (2) classes, viz. :—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient.

(2.) Honorary members, who will contribute to the funds of the Corps, but will not be enrolled for service.

4. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven (7) days' notice shall be given in one or more of the local journals.

5. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline; but he may at any time apply to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to assemble a Court of Inquiry, to consist of three (3) or five (5) members of the Corps (one of whom at least must be an Officer), to be appointed by roster for the purpose of investigating any irregularity, and assisting him in coming to a conclusion upon it. But any inquiry in reference to a Commissioned Officer shall be made by a Court composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force convened under the authority of the Governor.

6. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall fix the time and place for parades, drills, and rifle practice.

7. After having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill, each member shall be provided with uniform.

8. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, which are the property of the Government or of the Corps,—allowance being made for fair wear and tear only.

9. The property of the Corps is by Act of Parliament legally vested in the Commanding Officer; but a Committee to aid him in the management of its finances shall be appointed at a general meeting of the Corps, to be held annually in the first week in the month of January.

10. The Committee shall consist of the Commissioned Officers, one (1) Non-Commissioned Officer, and six (6) members of the Corps.

11. The Committee shall meet once at least in every month. At all meetings five (5) shall form a quorum, the senior Officer present to preside; and should no Officer be present the Committee shall elect a Chairman.

12. A book shall be kept by the Commanding Officer, in which the minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee shall be entered. An account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps shall also be entered in a book kept for the purpose.

13. The Commanding Officer of the Corps shall cause an abstract of the accounts to be quarterly and annually prepared, and a copy thereof furnished to any member who may demand it.

14.

14. The subscription of each member of the Corps shall be sixpence (6d.) per month, payable in advance on the first of each month.

15. All fines shall become due on the first of the month succeeding that in which they have been incurred, and shall be collected by one of the Sergeants, and paid by him to the Commanding Officer of the Corps.

16. All fines imposed on members of the Corps shall be entered in a book kept by the Commanding Officer for that purpose, and shall be applied as a part of the general fund of the Corps.

17. Any member being three months in arrears with subscriptions or fines, shall be subject to a fine of sixpence (6d.), and refusing or neglecting to pay up the same shall not be eligible to compete in any Rifle Match, or to be a representative of the Corps at the Rifle Association or other general matches.

18. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz:—

For non-attendance at Inspection or Commanding Officer's Parade, without leave of absence, or giving sufficient reason in writing, within a fortnight, to the proper Officer—	s.	d.
Captain	10	0
Subaltern	7	6
Non-Commissioned Officer	5	0
Private	2	6
Non-attendance at advertised parades without leave or sufficient reason being given—
Captain	2	0
Subaltern	1	6
Non-Commissioned Officer	1	0
Private	0	6
For talking in the ranks after being warned not to do so; leaving the ranks without permission; or for any other disorderly conduct	0	6
For being improperly dressed; or having dirty rifle or accoutrements on parade	0	6
For not giving notice of change of residence within a fortnight of such change	0	6
Refusing or failing to return any blank cartridge after parade, or for firing off the rifle in any public place	2	6
The senior Officer present at any rifle practice shall cause the danger flag to be hoisted in a conspicuous place, and shall have the power to inflict the following fines, viz:—
For loading contrary to order, or shooting out of turn, without permission	1	0
For pointing the rifle, unloaded, at any person without orders	2	6
For pointing the rifle, loaded, at any person, without orders	10	0
Privates and honorary members using the butts without leave	5	0

19. Any member desiring leave of absence, shall apply for the same, in writing, to the Commanding Officer of the Corps. Leave of absence will not be granted for a longer period than one month, except in case of sickness, and when a member is about leaving the District of Gerringong.

20. That leave of absence, when the member on leave is in the District of Gerringong, shall, in every instance, be considered as cancelled in cases of emergency, or on the issue of any special order for the assembly of the whole Corps.

21. Any member resigning or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted or leave granted, be required to pay up in full all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and deposit his arms and accoutrements in good order in the Armoury.

22. At every advertised parade, on the roll being called any member not answering to his name shall be deemed absent. Any member coming late, &c., immediately after the roll has been called, and assigning a reason for his being late, which may be deemed sufficient by the Commanding Officer, shall be considered as having been present at parade.

23. Honorary members shall severally pay a donation of three guineas (£3 3s.), or an annual subscription of half-a-guinea (10s. 6d.)

24. Honorary members may wear the uniform, but they are not to interfere in any way with the military duties of the Corps.

25. Honorary members will be permitted to use the rifle practice range at any time when the Corps is on the ground, excepting during matches with other Corps.

26. On requisition, signed by five (5) members of the Corps, the Commanding Officer shall call a meeting of members, to consider the propriety of forwarding any suggestion or complaints which the requisitionists may desire should be addressed to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

27. No member of this Corps shall, under a penalty of ten shillings (10s.), address the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, except through the Commanding Officer of the Corps.

28. Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates shall give the military salute to all Officers of Volunteer Corps, and Officers of Her Majesty's Service, when both are in uniform.

29. The Commanding Officer may at any time convene a general meeting of the Corps, at which any additions or alterations in these by-laws may be proposed, such additions or alterations not being inconsistent with any of the provisions of the Volunteer Act of 1867, 31 Vic., No. 5, to be confirmed by a general meeting of the Corps before being submitted to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, for the approval of the Governor: Provided also, that no by-law shall be passed at any meeting, unless due notice of seven (7) days by advertisement or circular shall be given.

30. The terms "Corps," "Commanding Officer," "Property of the Corps," shall be taken respectively to mean,—“The Gerringong Corps Volunteer Rifles,” “The Officer Commanding Gerringong Corps, Volunteer Rifles,” and “all articles presented to or purchased with the general funds—the Gerringong Corps, Volunteer Rifles.”

J. S. RICHARDSON,

Lieut.-Col. Commanding Volunteer Force.

Wollongong

Rules of the Wollongong Corps, Volunteer Rifles.

1. The Corps being constituted and serving under the Volunteer Act of 1867, the members are subject to its provisions, and also to all Regulations which have been or may be hereafter issued under the authority of the Governor.

2. All British subjects above the age of sixteen shall be eligible for admission to the Corps, and shall make personal or written application to the Commanding Officer, stating name, place of abode, and occupation.

3. The Corps shall consist of two classes:—

(1.) Enrolled members, consisting of efficient and non-efficient.

(2.) Honorary members, who contribute to the funds of the Corps, not enrolled for service, but eligible as members of Finance Committee.

4. Honorary members shall severally pay an annual subscription of one guinea, or five guineas to become a permanent honorary member.

5. Honorary members may, if they wish it, wear the uniform of the Corps, but they are not in any way to interfere with the military duties of the Corps.

6. Honorary members will be permitted to use the practice ground when it is not required by the enrolled members.

7. Each member shall be responsible for the due preservation of all articles issued to him, either the property of the Government or the Corps,—fair wear and tear only excepted.

8. The expression "property of the Corps," shall include all articles which have been purchased out of the funds of the Corps, or presented to the Corps.

9. Members of the Corps shall be at liberty to recommend to the Governor, through the Commanding Officer of the Volunteer Force, such of their members as they may desire to be appointed as their Officers. No such recommendation shall be made otherwise than upon a ballot at a general or special meeting of the Corps, of which at least seven days' notice shall be given in one or more local papers.

10. When the Corps is not assembled for actual military service the Commanding Officer is solely responsible for its discipline; and may, when necessary, apply to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, to assemble a Court of Inquiry, consisting of six members of the Corps, one of whom at least shall be a Commissioned Officer.

11. Each member shall be provided with uniform after having passed an official inspection in preliminary recruit drill.

12. There shall be a Committee, having the management of the financial and non-military business of the Corps, such Committee to consist of six members, together with the Secretary and Treasurer, six to constitute a quorum. They shall be elected annually, by ballot, and hold office to the end of the year. The Commissioned Officers to be members ex officio.

13. The Secretary shall keep a book, and enter therein minutes of all meetings of the Corps and Committee; he will also keep a record of all rifle practice and matches in which the Corps may be engaged. The Treasurer shall keep an account of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the Corps.

14. The Commanding Officer may at any time convene a general meeting of the Corps, at which no by-law shall be passed, unless due notice of seven days by advertisement or by circular shall have been given. At every meeting the senior Officer present shall preside.

15. All moneys arising from fines or other sources will be collected by a Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed, and paid over to the Treasurer.

16. A book, called a fine book, shall be kept, in which all fines shall be entered and signed by the senior Officer then present. A separate entry must be made when such fine is collected, with the signature of the receiving Officer. This book shall be kept by the Colour-Sergeant, and shall be submitted for inspection half-yearly, or produced when required by the Commanding Officer or Committee.

17. Any member who may be fined must pay the amount to the Non-Commissioned Officer, or other person duly appointed by the Officer Commanding the Corps to receive the same, within fourteen days of notification to him, and in default of such payment will be proceeded against according to law.

18. All fines and penalties, and also all donations and subscriptions, shall form a fund, to be appropriated as may be agreed upon from time to time by the Committee.

19. Any member resigning, or applying for leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, shall, before such resignation be accepted, or leave granted, be required to pay up in full all fines and subscriptions that may be due by him to the Corps, and deposit his arms and accoutrements and uniform, in good order, in the armoury.

20. No Volunteer, under a penalty of ten shillings, shall address the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, except through the Commanding Officer of the Corps.

21. On requisition, signed by twelve members of the Corps, the Commanding Officer shall call a meeting of the members, to consider the propriety of forwarding any suggestions or complaints which the requisitionists may desire should be addressed to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

22. Any member coming late to parade, and assigning a reason for so doing, which is deemed sufficient by the Officer in command at such parade, shall be considered as having been present, provided such absence does not exceed one quarter of an hour.

23. The members of the Corps shall be subject to fines according to the following scale, viz.:—

	s.	d.
(a.) For non-attendance at Inspection or Commanding Officer's Parade, without leave of absence, or giving sufficient reason in writing, within one week, to the Officer in command at such parade—
Captain	10	0
Subaltern	5	0
Non-Commissioned Officer	2	0
Private	1	0
(b.) For talking in the ranks, for disorderly conduct in, or leaving, the ranks without permission	1	0
(c.) For being slovenly or improperly dressed at parade, not less than 1s., nor more than	2	6

(d.)

	s.	d.
(d.) For not giving notice of change of residence within two weeks of such change	1	0
(e.) For dirty rifle or accoutrements on parade	1	0
(f.) For not sending in arms or accoutrements for inspection when ordered	2	6
(g.) for discharging rifle accidentally	2	6

24. At parade, drill, or rifle practice, the senior Officer present shall have power to inflict the following fines, viz. :—

(a.) For loading contrary to orders, shooting out of turn, or snapping caps without permission	1	0
(b.) For pointing the rifle, loaded or unloaded, at any person without orders, not less than	10	0

25. The subscription of the Corps shall be three shillings per quarter, payable in advance.

26. No enrolled member but those who are returned as efficient Volunteers, shall be permitted to compete for any prize, except for recruit prizes.

27. No person shall fire at the range, unless the red (danger) flag shall be flying on the butts, and a marker is employed; and any person breaking this rule, shall be fined 2s. 6d.

28. No member shall be allowed to enter for any prize, or use the range for any purpose, until his subscriptions, and all other moneys due from him to the Corps, be paid up in full.

29. The firing party shall be under the control of the senior Officer or Non-Commissioned Officer on the ground; and should there be no officer or Non-Commissioned Officer present, one of the members must be chosen by those present to take command, and he will be held responsible for any irregularities that may take place.

30. The value of every shot will be decided only by the flag shown by the marker.

31. All firing parties shall fall in in single rank, and shall not leave their places without permission; they shall load and fire according to their position; any member being late must fall in on the left, and finish his practice after the others have retired.

32. No member shall be allowed to begin at any range after the third round has been fired and the fourth commenced.

33. The officer in command will use his discretion in allowing any member to fire at the longer ranges who has not made a reasonable score previously at the shorter.

34. Every member is expected to provide himself with a copy of the Rules of the Corps.

35. All subscriptions shall fall due on the 1st of the month.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

ST. LEONARDS VOLUNTEER RIFLE COMPANY.

(PETITION—CERTAIN ROMAN CATHOLIC INHABITANTS OF ST. LEONARDS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 8 March, 1871.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned Roman Catholic Inhabitants of St. Leonards,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

1. That your Petitioners, after a long residence in the neighbourhood, challenge the fullest inquiry into their characters for honesty and industry.

2. That, with a view to learn the use of arms, and to be prepared to use them in defence of their adopted country, as well as to participate in the privileges now granted to Volunteers, your Petitioners made application, in the usual way, to become members of the St. Leonards Rifle Company.

3. That your Petitioners were refused admission to the St. Leonards Corps (James White and Edward Casey on the 7th March, 1867—Michl. Donovan and Antony Ebert on the 18th August, 1870—and Patrick O'Brien and Henry Coyle on the 1st September, 1870), on the ground of their religious views, as can be proved by abundant testimony, and not, as has been alleged, "that they were unfit to associate with other members of the Company."

4. That your Petitioners are prepared to establish that the by-law for admitting members by ballot to the St. Leonards Rifle Company was introduced for the purpose of keeping Catholics out of the Company; and that no Roman Catholics have been admitted since it passed; while no others, no matter how inferior their local standing may be, nor what religion they professed, have been refused.

5. That your Petitioners feel aggrieved at the misrepresentations made in your Honorable House, in September and October last, respecting their character and standing; that these misrepresentations have tended to lower your Petitioners in the eyes of their neighbours, and that by reason of the same your Petitioners have suffered in their character and business.

6. That your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will be pleased to make such inquiry into the premises as to your Honorable House may seem fit,—that the by-laws of the St. Leonards Volunteer Rifle Company be amended,—and that your Petitioners may have such relief in the premises as may be right and just.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

VOLUNTEER FORCE REGULATION ACT OF 1867.

(REGULATIONS RESPECTING GRANTS OF LANDS UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vict. No. 5, sec. 50.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 3rd November, 1870.

GRANTS TO VOLUNTEERS.

HIS Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, is pleased to direct the publication of the following Regulations, which have been made pursuant to the Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867, for the purpose of giving due effect to the provisions of that Act having reference to Free Grants of Land to Volunteers,—to take effect from and after the 1st day of December next.

By His Excellency's Command,
JOHN ROBERTSON.

1. Volunteers who may obtain Certificates from the Officer in Command of the Volunteer Force, that they have served as efficient Volunteers for the period requisite to entitle them to Free Grants, will be required to register the same in this office; and thereafter they shall be at liberty to present such Certificates personally or by an agent at the Land Office of any district, on any other than a Land Office day, accompanied by an application in the form hereto appended: Provided nevertheless that Certificates already issued will not require to be registered here.

2. Such applications will in every case be confined to Crown Lands open to conditional selection under the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861; and will be dealt with by the Land Agent, and forwarded to the Government, as in the case of applications to purchase by conditional selection. The Certificates must be lodged with the applications to which they respectively pertain. In cases where selections have already been made under the authority of Volunteer Certificates, new applications will not be necessary.

3. In the event of the land having already been measured in portions not exceeding 50 acres, it must be selected in accordance with the measurement, and the selection actually made must in each case be considered as in full satisfaction of the claim, notwithstanding that the full area of 50 acres may not be included; and in the event of part of a measured portion of greater area being in any case applied for, it is to be distinctly understood that the Government reserves to itself the option of refusing to permit the subdivision. Any land which after having passed at auction is open to selection at the upset price of one pound per acre, and is in area in excess of fifty acres, may be taken by the holder of a Volunteer Certificate, on deposit of his Certificate as hereinbefore provided, and payment by him of one pound per acre for any number of acres that such land may be in excess of fifty acres. In any such case the form of application must be modified accordingly.

4. Land which has not been measured must be taken subject to the general rules laid down in the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861, with respect to the measurement of conditional purchases.

5. Should the same land be applied for at the same time by two or more holders of Volunteer Certificates, the right thereto shall be determined by lot in the manner in the said Act provided.

6. Applicants will, subject to these conditions, be at liberty to take possession of the land, on obtaining the Land Agent's receipt for their applications, submitted to him as herein provided.

7. The necessary surveys will be made at the instance of the Government, and a "free grant" issued to the Volunteer entitled to the same, or to any person to whom he may have duly transferred his entire interest therein.

8. Certificates for free grants will become void in the event of the party named therein failing to make such application within five years from the date of the Certificate.

VOLUNTEER FORCE REGULATION ACT OF 1867.
(REGULATIONS UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vict. No. 5, sec. 50.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 28th April, 1871.

HIS Excellency the Governor having been pleased, with the advice of the Executive Council, to make the following Regulations for the Volunteer Force, directs their publication, in accordance with the 50th section of the Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867.

These Regulations are in substitution of those published in the notice of 18th January, 1868.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

REGULATIONS UNDER VOLUNTEER FORCE REGULATION ACT OF 1867.

CONSTITUTION AND ESTABLISHMENT.

1. The Volunteer Force of New South Wales is maintained under the Act 31 Vic. No. 5, and is subject to the provisions of that Act, and to all regulations made with regard to the same by the authority of the Governor.

2. In case of actual or apprehended invasion of any part of the Colony of New South Wales, Volunteer Corps may be assembled for actual military service; and whenever they are so assembled, they will be liable to service in any part of this Colony, and be subject to the provisions of the Mutiny Act and Articles of War, in conformity with clause 29 of the Volunteer Act of 1867.

3. The Members of a Volunteer Corps are either enrolled or honorary.

4. Enrolled Members are persons of every grade whose names are duly enrolled for service in the Muster Roll of a Corps.

5. Honorary Members are persons who contribute to the funds of a Corps, but are not enrolled for service.

6. The Volunteer Force may consist of the following Arms, namely :—

Light Horse,
Artillery,
Engineer,
Mounted Rifle,
Rifle.

7. Engineer Corps should be formed of persons who are connected with the profession of Engineers, or belong to such trades as masons, joiners, quarrymen, and the like.

8. The following tables contain authorized establishments of the different Arms of which the Volunteer Force may be composed. In these tables two numbers divided by a line signify the maximum and minimum strength, thus, $\frac{100}{60}$ means not more than 100 or less than 60.

PRECEDENCE.

9. The Volunteer Force takes precedence immediately after the Militia, and Officers of the Volunteer Force take rank with Officers of Her Majesty's Regular and Militia Forces, within the territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, as the juniors of their respective ranks.

10. The different Arms of the Volunteer Force rank in the following order, viz. :—

Light Horse,
Artillery,
Engineer,
Mounted Rifle,
Rifle.

11. The precedence of the several Corps in each Arm of the Force, is determined by the date of the original offer of service of each Corps.

12. The relative precedence of Officers of the entire Volunteer Force is determined solely by the rank and date of their Commissions in that Force.

13. The relative precedence of Officers of different Corps holding Commissions of the same rank and date, is determined by the relative precedence of the Corps to which they respectively belong.

14. The relative precedence of Officers of one Corps bearing Commissions of the same rank and date, is determined by the order in which the appointments are inserted in the Gazette.

15. The relative precedence of Medical Officers in the Volunteer Force is regulated by the same rule as that prescribed for Medical Officers of the Army.

16. Every Corps, on its formation, receives a title or number, indicating its relative precedence with regard to the other Corps of the same arm in the Colony; and no Corps is permitted to bear or use any title or designation other than that officially assigned to it on its formation, or subsequently granted on special application to the Governor, made by the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

17. The Commissioned Officers of the Volunteer Force are appointed by the Governor. All proposed appointments, promotions, and resignations of Commissions of Officers, are submitted to the Governor by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

18. All appointments, promotions, and resignations of Commissioned Officers, are inserted in the Gazette.

19. Every Officer of Volunteers is required, on receiving his Commission, to take the oath of allegiance prescribed by the Volunteer Act.

20. The appointment of Honorary Chaplains, Honorary Assistant Surgeons, and Honorary Veterinary Surgeons, will be sanctioned only on the recommendation of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

21. On the recommendation of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, Honorary Assistant Surgeons will be appointed in the proportion of one for every Troop, Battery, Corps, or Company, on the express ground that they are necessary in order to ensure attendance of a Medical Officer whenever the Corps is practising with ball or blank ammunition, and on the distinct understanding that such attendance will be really given by the officer appointed. These appointments can under no circumstance carry pay, and cease whenever the Corps is called out for actual service or becomes entitled to a Medical Officer of substantive rank.

22. No Officer holding an Honorary Commission can, by virtue of it, take precedence of any Officer holding a substantive Commission of the same rank.

23. Every Officer is required to possess a competent knowledge of his duties, and to give a proper attendance to the drills of his Corps.

24. Any Officer who does not attend the number of parades and drills prescribed for the enrolled members of his Corps to qualify them for certificates of efficiency, or who fails in any year to obtain a certificate of efficiency as an "Efficient" Volunteer, will not be allowed to retain his Commission.

25. The Governor will grant exemptions from this obligation only in cases where the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force represents that there are special reasons for relaxation of this regulation.

26. Medical Officers may classify as "efficient," in having afforded their professional assistance, and attended such parades as have been required of them during the year.

27. Officers will also be liable at any time to be required to undergo an examination by a Board appointed by the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force for that purpose, as to their military competency for their rank and position in their respective Corps.

28. Officers are expected to make themselves acquainted with the Volunteer Act, 1867, and with these Regulations.

29. Under the provisions of the Volunteer Act, 1867, "Every Corps may recommend any enrolled members thereof to be Officers of such Corps, of a rank not higher than Captain of a Troop, Battery, or Company."

30. The Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force is authorized to appoint such Officers or other persons as he may think fit to be Examiners of Candidates for Commissions and promotion.

31. The certificate (Appendix C) from the Examiners shall specify, in each case, whether the candidate has passed for a Commission as an Officer of Light Horse, Artillery, Engineer, Mounted Rifle, or Rifle, and whether he is qualified as a Subaltern or Captain of a Troop, Battery, or Company.

32. Subjects for examination :—

For Cavalry—

Sword exercise.

Dismounted and mounted troop and squadron drill, as laid down in "Cavalry Regulations."

For Artillery—

Squad and company drill, as laid down in "Field Exercise."

Manual and platoon exercises.

Garrison and field-gun drill.

For Engineers—

Squad and company drill, as laid down in "Field Exercise."

Manual and platoon exercises.

Sapping, mining, and the mode of making gabions and fascines.

For Rifles—

Squad, company, battalion, and light infantry drills.

Manual and platoon exercises.

Candidates for promotion will, in addition to the above, be required to be conversant with all the duties, &c., appertaining to their respective branches of the Force.

NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

33. The Non-commissioned Officers of a Corps are appointed by the Commanding Officer, from among the "enrolled" members, subject to the approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

34. Lance-Sergeants and Lance-Corporals may be appointed by the Commanding Officer.

35. A non-commissioned Officer may be reduced by the Commanding Officer of his Corps, for any sufficient cause, the circumstances of the case having been duly investigated, and a report forwarded to the Brigade Office, for the information and approval of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

ENROLLED MEMBERS.

36. No person below the age of sixteen years is to be enrolled in any Volunteer Corps.

37. Boys of fourteen years of age and upwards may, if the sanction of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force be first obtained, be enrolled, for the purpose of being trained as Buglers and Trumpeters.

38. Apprentices are not to be enrolled without the consent of their masters.

39. No member of a Volunteer Corps is to be enrolled in another Corps, until he has legally ceased to be a member of the former Corps.

40. A member of a Volunteer Corps can only be transferred to another Corps with the consent of his Commanding Officer, and be accepted by the Officer commanding the Corps he wishes to join, and approved by the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

41. Persons dismissed from a Volunteer Corps for misconduct, are not, in any case, to be enrolled in another Corps, without the special sanction of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

42. The Commanding Officer of a Corps is to give to any Volunteer who voluntarily quits it, a Certificate of Discharge (Appendix F), when requested to do so by such Volunteer. This certificate must bear the signature of the Commanding Officer.

43. Enrolled members are classed as "efficient" and "non-efficient."

44. In order to be reckoned as "efficient," an enrolled Volunteer must have fulfilled the conditions prescribed in these Regulations, and in form of Certificate.

45. An "efficient" Volunteer is permitted to wear on the right arm, immediately above the cuff of the sleeve, a distinctive badge, consisting of a ring of silver lace, $\frac{1}{2}$ inch wide, of the authorized pattern.

46. All members of every Corps failing to fulfil the specified conditions of "efficiency," will be classed as "non-efficient."

47. The standard of height for the Force in general to be not less than 5 feet 6 inches, except by special authority of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

48. Honorary Members may be attached to any Volunteer Corps, without special authority, but must not be included in any muster-roll of the Corps to which they are attached.

49. They are not subject to military discipline, nor allowed to interfere with the military duties of the Corps; but they are permitted to wear its uniform, unless there is a special rule of the Corps to the contrary. They are not liable, under any circumstances, to be assembled for actual service.

PERMANENT STAFF.

50. The Permanent Staff is composed respectively of Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers, &c., and are under the orders of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, and (except for the purpose of instruction) are not, unless specially ordered, to take command of any Force of Volunteers, when an Officer of the Corps to which they belong is present.

51. Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers are also required to prepare and furnish, under the direction of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, all such returns as may from time to time be called for.

52. The appointment, promotion, and discharge of Non-commissioned Officers and others of the Permanent Staff, rests with the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force; and all persons of the above Corps serving for pay with the Volunteer Force, shall take the oath of allegiance, and subscribe to a declaration of voluntary service and to be subject to all regulations for the discipline of the Force.

53. Non-commissioned Officers of the Permanent Staff rank with Volunteer Non-commissioned Officers in the different grades according to the date of their appointment in the Force; but are not to take command of any portion of the Force, except for purposes of instruction.

54. The Officer Commanding the Force is authorized to place any Non-commissioned Officer of the Permanent Staff under stoppages of pay for any offence,—such as irregularity of conduct, want of attention to his duties, &c., &c., which may be proved against him. Such stoppage for any such offence not to exceed one month's pay; and no Non-commissioned Officer shall receive more than half his pay during the time he shall have been under arrest or suspended from duty for any offence which may have been proved against him.

55. Non-commissioned Officers, when attached to a Corps, are, for the time being, under the direction of the Officer Commanding that Corps, who will report to the Officer commanding the Volunteer Force any irregularity of conduct, incompetency, or want of attention he may observe on the part of the Non-commissioned Officer.

56. Non-commissioned Officers are to keep a diary of the instructions imparted by them to Volunteers, and forward the same to the Volunteer Brigade Office, on the 3rd of each succeeding month; and when employed away from head quarters, the same must be certified by the Senior Officer of the Force present.

EFFICIENCY REGULATIONS.

57. To test efficiency, every Corps of Volunteers will be inspected twice in each year by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force or other appointed Officer.

58. A Volunteer shall be entitled to be deemed an "efficient" Volunteer if he attains a Certificate that he has fulfilled the requirements, and possesses the qualifications in or upon one of the annexed forms of Certificate, as may be applicable to his case, and not otherwise.

59. Every such Certificate shall be granted as soon as may be after the 31st of December of every year, and to bear date the 1st of January next, and shall be evidence of the efficiency of the Volunteer to whom it is granted during the year ending the 31st of December next following its date.

At any time before the 30th of June, and thereafter in the course of each year ending the 31st of December a Certificate shall be granted to such Recruit who fulfils the requirements and possesses the qualifications aforesaid.
