This is the smallest sum that should be paid by a member at the age of twenty-one to secure a weekly benefit of $4, a funeral benefit of $40, and his share of special relief; as well as to provide his quota towards working expenses, maintenance, and that reserve or surplus which a Lodge should always seek to accumulate. But it would be altogether too small a sum for those of advanced years. For a Lodge that desires to charge its members dues in proportion to the liability incurred on account of each individual, it will be necessary to adopt the system of dues graded according to age at admission, and for that purpose, the table of dues recommended by your Committee in 1880, and appended to this report (Table H) is again recommended as approximately just and safe, as stated in the report, page 8450. "This table is calculated on the simple basis of equality of payments during the expected term of life, and is arranged so as to allow quarterly payments without fractions. Of course this does not fully equalize the brothers, because the amount of sick benefits received increase with age; and therefore the younger still pays more in proportion to what he receives back than the older. It is, however, not unfair for the pecuniary burden to be somewhat heavier on the younger, because he will be a member of the Society for a longer period, and will receive for a greater length of time the moral, social, fraternal, and charitable advantages pertaining to it."

When the Lodge, however, prefers charging a uniform rate for all ages, it would be manifestly unsafe to take the estimate based on a membership at the age of twenty-one years, or even at the average age of membership of a young Lodge. It will be necessary to look far enough into the future, and estimate the liabilities of a Lodge of mature age—say thirty-five years. The statistics in Table F will be serviceable here, taken in connection with the expectation of sickness and death of the average of members of old Lodges.

One week's benefits (an under-estimate)	$4 00
Funeral benefit	1 00
Special relief	50
Working expenses and maintenance	2 50
	<hr/>
	$8 00

This is the most liberal allowance of benefits possible, viz., at the rate of $4 weekly benefit, and $40 funeral benefit for $8 yearly dues. If the Lodge proposes paying widows annuities in addition, it may safely calculate that it will need just about as much to meet that one liability alone as for sick benefits, and should make a proportionate increase in dues.

TABLE H.

SHOWING Expectation of Life and Sickness, with Dues graded according to age at admission.

Age.	Expectation of Life—Years and decimals.	Expectation of Sickness for that year—Weeks and decimals.	Yearly Rate.	Quarter's Dues.	Age.	Expectation of Life—Years and decimals.	Expectation of Sickness for that year—Weeks and decimals.	Yearly Rate.	Quarter's Dues.
21	41·5	·450	$6 00	$1 50	41	27·4	·763	9 12	2 28
22	40·8	·455	6 12	1 53	42	26·7	·803	9 36	2 34
23	40·2	·460	6 24	1 56	43	26·	·843	9 60	2 40
24	39·5	·465	6 36	1 59	44	25·3	·885	9 92	2 48
25	38·8	·470	6 44	1 61	45	24·5	·930	10 24	2 56
26	38·2	·476	6 56	1 64	46	23·8	·980	10 52	2 68
27	37·4	·483	6 68	1 67	47	23·1	1·035	10 84	2 71
28	36·7	·491	6 80	1 70	48	22·4	1·095	11 20	2 80
29	36·	·499	6 96	1 74	49	21·6	1·166	11 56	2 89
30	35·3	·509	7 08	1 77	50	20·9	1·230	11 96	2 99
31	34·6	·520	7 24	1 81	51	20·2	1·308	12 36	3 09
32	33·9	·532	7 40	1 85	52	19·5	1·396	12 84	3 21
33	33·2	·545	7 56	1 89	53	18·8	1·494	13 28	3 32
34	32·5	·560	7 72	1 93	54	18·1	1·604	13 80	3 45
35	31·8	·578	7 88	1 97	55	17·4	1·730	14 36	3 59
36	31·1	·599	8 04	2 01	56	16·7	1·875	14 96	3 74
37	30·3	·624	8 24	2 06	57	16·	2·040	15 60	3 90
38	29·6	·653	8 44	2 11	58	15·4	2·230	16 20	4 05
39	28·9	·686	8 64	2 16	59	14·7	2·450	17 00	4 25
40	28·2	·723	8 88	2 22	60	14·1	2·700	17 80	4 45

Special

Special Funds.

While the estimates previously given are calculated, as they must be, for the average membership, it will sometimes happen that they will be inadequate to meet the liabilities of individual Lodges. From extravagance in the management of a Lodge, or on account of extraordinary demands upon it owing to sickness or distress among its members above the average, the treasury of the Lodge may be exhausted, even though the dues and benefits are within the limits recommended. Probably the best remedy for this condition of affairs is in the Lodge keeping its funds for special purposes separate from each other. There should be at least three distinct funds, viz., a Benefit Fund, from which should be paid sick and funeral benefits; a Relief or Charity Fund, from which should be paid everything for special relief, aid to widows and orphans, &c.; and a Management Fund, from which should be paid the expenses connected with the maintenance of the Lodge. These funds should be kept distinct from each other, and if one of them becomes exhausted from any cause, instead of drawing on the other funds, assessments should be made on the members.

A little consideration will show the advantage of this course, when there is plenty of money in the treasury and few claims for benefits. There is a temptation to extravagant expenditure for costly regalia, furnishings, &c., and the Lodge thus applies for working expenses more than it should, to the disadvantage of its benefit operations in the future. But if the funds were kept separate, the members would be able to realize the fact that even if there was little going out for benefits, there could be no more left for expenses. The Benefit Fund would be growing against the day of need; the Management Fund would not be any larger; and the same result would follow in regard to special relief or charity. The Lodge should never allow its generosity to give away the money which has been paid into its treasury for benefits; and there is that danger sometimes when the treasury is full. If the Lodge funds are kept distinct, there will be no more spent for management or for charity than the funds for these purposes will allow; and if, from special circumstances, there are extraordinary claims for benefits, the Lodge, instead of taking the money which it will need for its expenses and its charity, will have to reduce its benefits or replenish its Benefit Fund by assessments or otherwise.

In fixing the proportion of receipts to be applied to the different funds, the simpler the operation can be made the better. Assuming that a Lodge charges dues and pays benefits according to the rates recommended, $2 from the dues should go to the Management Fund, three-fourths of the remainder to the Benefit Fund, and one-fourth to the Relief Fund; admission and degree fees to the Management Fund.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

ALBURY GAS COMPANY'S BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

AND

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
6 March, 1883.

SYDNEY: THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 24. WEDNESDAY, 28 FEBRUARY, 1883.

- 6. ALBURY GAS COMPANY'S BILL (Formal Motion) :—Mr. Cameron, for Mr. Day, moved, pursuant to Notice,—
 - (1.) That the Albury Gas Company's Bill be referred to a Select Committee for inquiry and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
 - (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Poole, Mr. Cass, Mr. Levin, Mr. Lyne, Dr. Ross, Mr. Barbour, Mr. Moses, Mr. Burns, Mr. Coonan, and the Mover.
 Question put and passed.

VOTES No. 25. THURSDAY, 1 MARCH, 1883.

- 9. ALBURY GAS COMPANY'S BILL :—Mr. Day (by consent) moved, without Notice, That the Report from the Select Committee of Session 1882 on "Albury Gas Company's Bill," together with the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence, be referred to the Select Committee now sitting on the Bill. Question put and passed.

VOTES No. 27. TUESDAY, 6 MARCH, 1883.

- 2. ALBURY GAS COMPANY'S BILL :—Mr. Day, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration and report this Bill was referred on 28th February, 1883; together with a copy of the Bill as agreed to by the Committee. Ordered to be printed.

* * * * *

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from Votes and Proceedings	2
Report	3
Proceedings of the Committee	4
Minutes of Evidence	5

1883.

ALBURY GAS COMPANY'S BILL.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, for whose inquiry and report was referred, on the 28th February, 1883,—“the Albury Gas Company's Bill,”—beg to report to your Honorable House:—

That they have examined the witness* named in the margin (whose evidence will be found appended hereto); and that the Preamble having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the several Clauses and the Schedule of the Bill, in which it was not deemed necessary to make any amendment.

* George Day,
Esq., M.P.

Your Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill without amendment.

GEORGE DAY,
Chairman.

No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 6th March, 1883.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

TUESDAY, 6 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Day,		Mr. Burns,
Mr. Moses,		Dr. Ross.

Mr. Day called to the Chair.

Entries from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, and referring Report from Select Committee of Session 1882, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, and of the Report from the Select Committee of Session 1882, together with the original Petition to introduce the Bill, before the Committee.

George Day, Esq., a Member of the Committee, sworn and examined in his place.

Room cleared.

Preamble considered.

Question,—“That this Preamble stand part of the Bill,”—put and passed.

Clauses 1 to 24 read and agreed to.

Schedule read and agreed to.

Title read and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill to the House.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

ALBURY GAS COMPANY'S BILL.

TUESDAY, 6 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. BURNS,
MR. DAY,

MR. MOSES,
DR. ROSS.

GEORGE DAY, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

George Day, Esq., Chairman of the Committee, examined in his place:—

1. Mr. Burns.] You were Chairman of the Committee on a Bill similar to this last Session? Yes.
2. Is the Bill before this Committee substantially the same Bill as the Bill which was considered and amended by that Committee, and reported to the House? Yes, I believe it is substantially the same Bill as the Bill of last Session.
3. When that Bill was reported to the House you gave notice of your intention to move the second reading on a future day? Yes.
4. But the House was dissolved before that stage was reached? Yes; it was down for second reading on the day the Government sustained the defeat which led to the dissolution.
5. The Municipality of Albury have given their consent to this Bill? Yes, as shown by a document attached to the petition asking for leave to introduce the Bill, and bearing the signature of the Mayor, Mr. George Thorold, and the seal of the Council. I also produce, as an exhibit, a certificate signed by the Registrar-General to the effect that the Albury Gas Company (Limited) is incorporated and is a limited Company. (Produced.)

G. Day, Esq.,
M.P.
6 Mar., 1883.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

AUSTRALIAN GASLIGHT COMPANY'S BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

AND

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
1 March, 1883.

SYDNEY : THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES NO. 10. WEDNESDAY, 31 JANUARY, 1883.

7. AUSTRALIAN GASLIGHT COMPANY'S BILL (Formal Motion):—Mr. Burns moved, pursuant to Notice,—
- (1.) That the Australian Gaslight Company's Bill be referred to a Select Committee for inquiry and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
- (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Poole, Dr. Ross, Mr. Griffiths, Mr. Harris, Mr. Tighe, Mr. Fremlin, Mr. Tooth, Mr. Humphery, Mr. Day, and the Mover.
- Question put and passed.
14. AUSTRALIAN GASLIGHT COMPANY'S BILL:—Mr. Burns (by consent) moved, without Notice, That the Report from the Select Committee of Session 1881, on "Australian Gaslight Company's Bill," together with the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence, be referred to the Select Committee now sitting on the Bill.
- Question put and passed.
-

VOTES NO. 25. THURSDAY, 1 MARCH, 1883.

6. AUSTRALIAN GASLIGHT COMPANY'S BILL:—Mr. Burns, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration and report this Bill was referred on 31st January, 1883; together with a copy of the Bill as amended and agreed to by the Committee.
- Ordered to be printed.
- * * * * *
-

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings	2
Report	3
Proceedings of the Committee	4
Schedule of Amendments	4
Minutes of Evidence	5

1883.

AUSTRALIAN GASLIGHT COMPANY'S BILL.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, for whose inquiry and report was referred, on the 31st January, 1883,—“ the Australian Gaslight Company's Bill,” and to whom was referred, on the same date, “ the Report from the Select Committee of Session 1881,”—beg to report to your Honorable House:—

That they have examined the witness* named in the margin (whose evidence will be found appended hereto); and that the Preamble having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the several Clauses of the Bill, in which it was deemed necessary to make certain amendments.

Your Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill as amended by them.

J. F. BURNS,
Chairman.

No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 28th February, 1883.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

WEDNESDAY, 7 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Burns,		Mr. Poole,
Mr. Tighe,		Dr. Ross,
Mr. Griffiths,		Mr. Tooth,
	Mr. Day.

Mr. Burns called to the Chair.

Entries from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, and referring Report from Select Committee of Session 1881, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, and of the Report from the Select Committee of 1881, together with original Petition to introduce the Bill, before the Committee.

Present:—Arthur M. Allen, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).William Johnston, Esq. (Secretary to the Australian Gaslight Company), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness produced Minute Book of the Company.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Wednesday next, at Three o'clock.]

WEDNESDAY, 14 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Griffiths,		Mr. Day,
Mr. Fremlin,		Mr. Tooth,
Mr. Poole,		Dr. Ross,
	Mr. Tighe.

Preamble considered.

Question,—“That this Preamble stand part of the Bill,”—put and passed.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Wednesday next, at Three o'clock.]

WEDNESDAY, 21 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Poole,		Mr. Tooth,
Dr. Ross,		Mr. Humphery,
	Mr. Day.

Clause 1 read, amended*, and agreed to.

Clauses 2 to 5 read and agreed to.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Wednesday next, at Three o'clock.]

WEDNESDAY, 28 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Poole,		Mr. Day,
Mr. Griffiths,		Dr. Ross.

New* clause, to stand as clause 5, read and agreed to.

Title read and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill, with amendments, to the House.

SCHEDULE OF AMENDMENTS.

Page 1, clause 1, line 11. Omit “(in addition to the sum or sums which they are now authorized to raise) such further sum or sums by way of capital or joint stock as the said Company may think requisite”; insert “a further sum or sums increasing the capital (including that which the Company are now authorized to raise) to a sum not exceeding in the whole the sum of eight hundred and fifty thousand pounds.”

Page 2. Insert the following new clause to stand clause 5:—

“5. Nothing contained in this Act or in any of the said Company’s Private Acts heretofore passed by the Legislature shall prevent the said Company being brought under the provisions of any general Act which may be passed by the Parliament of New South Wales applying equally to Companies engaged in the manufacture of Gas in the said Colony with reference to the manufacture and sale of Gas nor entitle the said Company to compensation from the public revenue by reason of the provisions of such general Act for the purpose aforesaid being made applicable to and binding upon the said Company.”

* See Schedule of Amendments.

* See Schedule of Amendments.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

AUSTRALIAN GASLIGHT COMPANY'S BILL.

WEDNESDAY, 7 FEBRUARY, 1883.

Present:—

MR. BURNS,	MR. POOLE,
MR. DAY,	DR. ROSS,
MR. GRIFFITHS,	MR. TIGHE,
MR. TOOTH.

J. F. BURNS, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Arthur M. Allen, Esq., appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

William Johnston, Esq., called in and examined:—

1. Mr. Allen.] You are Secretary of the Australian Gaslight Company? Yes.
2. You have read the Bill before the Committee? Yes.
3. And are acquainted with its provisions? Yes.
4. Have they been approved by the Company at a general meeting? Yes.
5. Will you read the resolution? The Bill was approved by a general meeting of proprietors, held on Monday, 27th November, 1882. At that meeting the Secretary read the new Bill, whereupon the following resolution was passed:—"Moved by the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Poolman, That this meeting approves of the action taken by the Directors in making application to Parliament for an Act granting the powers expressed in the Bill now read, viz., to increase the capital of the Company, to limit the liability of the shareholders, to raise money by debentures or otherwise, and to extend the powers of the Company to purchase and hold real property."
6. The Company are desirous that this Bill should pass? Yes.
7. What is the present capital of the Company? £300,000.
8. Is it all expended? All expended.
9. Will it be necessary very shortly to erect new works in order to meet the present demand for gas and the demand that is increasing now? Yes, within the next three years we shall have to expend between fifty and sixty thousand pounds.
10. Is the demand for gas increasing very much? Very much.
11. Do new districts apply for it? Both new and old districts in Sydney and the different suburbs.
12. Is the demand increasing along the present lines of main? Yes.
13. Have you had to refuse to supply any place lately? We have not refused to do it, but the supply has to remain in abeyance until we can get this Bill passed.
14. You cannot supply the gas because you are not able to put down the mains? Just so.
15. What district was that? Leichhardt.
16. Then you say more capital is absolutely necessary to carry on the business of the Company? Yes.
17. And one of the objects of the Bill is to increase the capital? Yes.
18. Does the Company desire to limit its liability? Yes.
19. To what extent? To as much again as the paid-up capital.

W. Johnston,
Esq.

7 Feb., 1883.

- W. Johnston, Esq.
7 Feb., 1883.
20. That is the same as in Banks and other Companies? Yes.
 21. But this limitation will not in any way affect existing liabilities? No, not in any way.
 22. The Company also desires to obtain power to borrow money? Yes.
 23. What is the reason of that? The Directors wish to give the creditors of the Company proper security in the shape of mortgage debentures.
 24. They have already borrowed a large sum? Yes.
 25. And will be putting their creditors in a better position by giving them debentures? Yes.
 26. It is cheaper, I believe, to work on some borrowed capital? Yes; had it not been for borrowed capital we should not have been able to meet the requirements of the public.
 27. You would not have been able to carry out all the works and supply all the demand unless you had borrowed money? No, we should not have had sufficient capital.
 28. The borrowing power given by this Bill is limited to one-half the paid-up capital of the Company? Yes.
 29. The money cannot be borrowed without the consent of the shareholders? No.
 30. With reference to the power to hold land: under your present Act you are only entitled to hold 10 acres? Yes.
 31. And that is not sufficient for your present works, and you must have more land if you are to go on supplying the demand for gas? Yes.
 32. Mr. Tighe.] Supposing this Bill is passed, would there be any objection to add the word "limited" to the name of the Company, so that all the world might know the class of security offered them? Certainly not. There could be no objection to put in the word "limited," if it was a limited Company.
 33. If this Bill passes, the Company will still be responsible to the full extent of the means of its shareholders for any debts incurred prior to its passing, but immediately it has passed its liability will be limited with regard to new debt; now, would it not be unfair to people in England who may be supplying the Company with goods, to bring them immediately under the operation of the new Act as to limited liability, when they would have no opportunity of knowing that such a change had been made? That could be provided for.
 34. Chairman.] Would there be any objection to postpone the operation of the clause limiting the shareholders' liability until every one could have notice of it? There would be no objection to that.
 35. Dr. Ross.] Could you inform the Committee how much more money it would take to extend the supply of gas to the outside districts, which you say require it, but cannot be supplied at present. For instance, you spoke of Leichhardt—how much would it require to extend the supply to Leichhardt? About three or four hundred pounds.
 36. How much would it take to purchase the land you require? That depends upon where we have to buy it. If we have to buy land at Darling Harbour it will cost a good deal, but in the suburbs it will cost less. But we have estimated that the necessary additions to our plant during the next three years, commencing the work immediately, will cost between £50,000 and £60,000, to meet present and future demands for gas in the city and suburbs.
 37. Mr. Poole.] If I understand you rightly, that will be required principally for the suburbs? To meet the general increase in the demand for gas both in the city and suburbs.
 38. I do not see any clause here limiting the amount of capital: you ask that the limitation in your present Act should be swept away with respect to capital and land, and that no limit should be placed upon your operations for the future,—is not that substantially the case? Yes, there is no limit imposed in this Bill.
 39. I do not see any clause either in your present Act or in this Bill binding you to supply gas to any one, even when the capital is increased? No, I do not think we are bound to supply it—not on demand; we are not bound to supply it.
 40. Neither are you bound to supply gas of any particular quality? No; only that it must be better than the light supplied by an oil-lamp.
 41. Could you define, for the information of the Committee, what kind of light you would get from an oil lamp? It all depends upon the kind of oil and the kind of lamp I presume.
 42. Therefore this clause in the old Act amounts to nothing, because there is no definition of the strength of the light to be given from this oil-lamp? There is no definition.
 43. It might be an oil-lamp of the strength of an Argand burner at one of our light-houses, or it might be an oil-lamp with a single strand of worsted or cotton? Yes.
 44. My object is to ask you if you consider you are bound to give a light of any particular degree of illuminating power in accordance with your Act? No; but I think what was meant was an ordinary domestic oil-lamp giving three or four candle power, and very poor gas would give considerably more than that.
 45. There is nothing in this Bill to bind you to supply gas of any better quality than under the old Act? No.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

COHEN'S ESTATE BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

AND

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
4 April, 1883.

SYDNEY : THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 40. FRIDAY, 30 MARCH, 1883.

3. COHEN'S ESTATE BILL (Formal Motion):—Mr. Burns moved, pursuant to Notice,—
- (1.) That Cohen's Estate Bill be referred to a Select Committee for inquiry and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
- (2.) That such Committee consist of Sir Wigram Allen, Mr. Griffiths, Mr. Poole, Mr. Tighe, Mr. Moses, Mr. George Campbell, Dr. Ross, Mr. Bruncker, and the Mover.
- Question put and passed.
-

VOTES No. 42. WEDNESDAY, 4 APRIL, 1883.

2. COHEN'S ESTATE BILL:—Mr. Burns, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration and report this Bill was referred on 30th March, 1883; together with a copy of the Bill as agreed to by the Committee.
- Ordered to be printed.

* * * * *

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings.....	2
Report.....	3
Proceedings of the Committee	4
List of Witnesses	4
Minutes of Evidence	5

1883.

COHEN'S ESTATE BILL.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, for whose inquiry and report was referred, on the 30th March, 1883,—“ Cohen's Estate Bill,”—beg to report to your Honorable House :—

That they have examined the witnesses named in the List* (whose * See List, page 4. evidence will be found appended hereto); and that the Preamble having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the several Clauses and the Schedule of the Bill, in which it was not deemed necessary to make any amendment.

The Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill without amendment.

J. F. BURNS,
Chairman.

*No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 4th April, 1883.*

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

WEDNESDAY, 4 APRIL, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Burns, Mr. Moses,		Mr. Tighe, Mr. Griffiths.
--------------------------	--	------------------------------

Mr. Burns called to the Chair.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, together with original Petition to introduce the same, before the Committee.

Present:—L. Russell Jones, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

L. Russell Jones, Esq., sworn and examined.

Witness produced the Will of Michael Cohen, and the Deeds referred to in the Preamble, and supplied copy of the said Will.

Mrs. Priscilla Cohen called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

George Pile, Esq. (Auctioneer and Land Valuator) called in, sworn, and examined.

Room cleared.

Preamble considered.

Question,—“That this Preamble stand part of the Bill,”—put and passed.

Solicitor called in and informed.

Clauses 1 to 4 read and agreed to.

Schedule read and agreed to.

Title read and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill, without amendment, to the House.

LIST OF WITNESSES.

	PAGE.
Cohen, Mrs. Priscilla.....	6
Jones, L. Russell, Esq.	6
Pile, George, Esq.	6

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

COHEN'S ESTATE BILL.

WEDNESDAY, 4 APRIL, 1883.

Present:—

MR. BURNS,		MR. MOSES,
MR. GRIFFITHS,		MR. TIGHE.
J. F. BURNS, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Llewellyn Charles Russell Jones, Esq., called in and examined:—

1. Chairman.] You are a member of the firm of Daintrey & Jones, who are Solicitors for the trustees of L. C. R. Jones, the estate of the late Michael Cohen? Yes.
2. Will you explain what is the object of the trustees in applying to Parliament for this Bill? The object is to enable the trustees to sell certain land in Park and Castlereagh Streets, Sydney, described in the Schedule to the Bill, and to make provision for the investment of the proceeds, no power of sale having been given in the will. Esq.
4 April, 1883.
3. Will you state in what way this power of sale will be beneficial to the estate? It is a valuable corner, and it is now let at a comparatively nominal rent. The place is in very bad repair—in fact it is a mere shell. If the property is sold now it will bring a large price, and the money invested in the manner proposed by the Bill will be much more beneficial both for Mrs. Cohen and her children who are interested in the will.
4. Have the trustees any funds at their disposal to enable them to put up proper buildings on the land, or to keep the existing buildings in repair? No funds whatever.
5. Of what does the estate consist? The first portion of the estate was sold under an Act passed in 1873, the provisions of which were similar to those in this Bill. The rents of the property referred to in the present Bill only amount to £5 a week.
6. How many children are there in the family? Eight.
7. Is it the opinion of the trustees that if they had power to sell this property and invest the proceeds as proposed in the Bill it would be better for the estate generally than to retain the property and take the present rents? Yes, they believe it will double the present income. The building at present on the land is likely to be condemned shortly; it is a perfect shell, and cracked everywhere.
8. Have the trustees considered whether it is advisable to let the property on a long lease? Yes, they have considered that, and they do not think the return would be sufficient.
9. In their opinion it would be much better to sell the property and invest the proceeds? Yes.
10. Are the parties interested in the property all agreeable? Yes.
11. Have you heard of any opposition to the Bill? None whatever.
12. Mr. Tighe.] Are the children all grown up? Yes, all of age.
13. And they all know of this and are satisfied? Yes.
14. Mr. Moses.] How is the property left under the will? A certain portion of the income is to be allowed to the widow, and the balance to be invested for the children's benefit. The widow is never to have less than £4 a week, and the property is only let for £5 a week.
15. Chairman.] Do you produce the papers in the case? I produce the will, the title-deeds, and the appointment of new trustees (produced). I may mention that the preamble is similar to the preamble of Cohen's Estate Act of 1873, and all the deeds were produced then.

Mrs. Priscilla Cohen examined:—

- Mrs. Priscilla Cohen.
4 April, 1883.
16. Chairman.] You are the widow of the late Michael Cohen, of Park and Castlereagh Streets? Yes.
 17. You have heard the evidence given by Mr. Jones with respect to this Bill? Yes.
 18. Do you concur in that evidence? Yes.
 19. Is it your desire and the desire of your family that the property referred to should be sold and the proceeds invested for the benefit of yourself and family? Yes.
 20. Do you think it better for all interested in the estate that this course should be taken? I think so.
 21. You will get a better return by the sale and investment than you do at present? Very much better.
 22. Have you considered whether it might not be better to lease the property for a long period? I do not think it would.
 23. It seems to you that the best course is to sell as proposed in this Bill and invest the proceeds? Yes.
 24. Are your family all quite agreed as to the propriety of applying for this Bill? Yes.
 25. There is no dissension among them about it, of any kind? No.
 26. Most of your family are grown up? Yes, they are all of age; the youngest was 22 last month.

George Pile, Esq., called in and examined:—

- G. Pile, Esq.
4 April, 1883.
27. Chairman.] You are an auctioneer and valuator of property in this city? Yes.
 28. Of the firm of Mills & Pile? Yes.
 29. Do you know the property referred to in this Bill, belonging to the estate of the late Michael Cohen? I do.
 30. Do you know the amount of rent received from the property at the present time? £5 a week, I believe.
 31. Do you think the locality is of such a character that a better class of building should be erected there? Certainly. I do not think such buildings as those now upon it should be allowed in such a position.
 32. Is it your opinion that if the property were brought into the market at the present time it would sell advantageously? It is.
 33. How much, in your opinion, would the property realize? I should think it would bring £150 a foot at least, selling by the Castlereagh-street frontage. I believe it would bring £12,000.
 34. Do you think it better for the estate that the property should be sold and the proceeds invested, than to make any attempt to induce others to take the land on a long lease and build? I should sell, if it were mine.
 35. Mr. Jones.] From a calculation you have made, you believe the income would be doubled if the land were sold? Yes. I think the expense of keeping such a place in repair would absorb an enormous proportion of the rents. One of the buildings, if a south-east gale came on, would very likely be condemned immediately.
 36. It is in a very bad state of repair? Yes.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

EARNSHAW'S ESTATE BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

AND

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
16 March, 1883.

SYDNEY: THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES NO. 30. FRIDAY, 9 MARCH, 1883.

7. EARNSHAW'S ESTATE BILL (Formal Motion) :—Sir Wigram Allen moved, pursuant to Notice,—
- (1.) That Earnshaw's Estate Bill be referred to a Select Committee for consideration and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
- (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Burns, Mr. George Campbell, Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Garrard, Mr. Gibbes, Mr. Humphery, Mr. Hutchison, Mr. Moses, Mr. Wilson, and the Mover.
- Question put and passed.
-

VOTES NO. 34. FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

2. EARNSHAW'S ESTATE BILL :—Sir Wigram Allen, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration this Bill was referred on 9th March, 1883; together with a copy of the Bill as amended and agreed to by the Committee.
- Ordered to be printed.

* * * * *

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings	2
Report.....	3
Proceedings of the Committee.....	4
Schedule of Amendments.....	4
Minutes of Evidence.	5

1883.

EARNSHAW'S ESTATE BILL.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly for whose consideration and report was referred, on 9th March, 1883,—“Earnshaw's Estate Bill,”—beg to report to your Honorable House:—

That they have examined the witness* named in the margin (whose evidence will be found appended hereto); and that the Preamble having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the several clauses and the Schedule of the Bill, in which it was deemed necessary to make certain amendments.

Your Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill as amended by them.

G. WIGRAM ALLEN,
Chairman.

No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 15th March, 1883.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

THURSDAY, 15 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Sir Wigram Allen,	Mr. Humphery,
Mr. George Campbell,	Mr. Burns,
Mr. Wilson,	Mr. Garrard,
Mr. Gibbes.

Sir Wigram Allen called to the Chair.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, together with original Petition to introduce the same, before the Committee.

Present:—Arthur M. Allen, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

Mr. Ambrose Thornley called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness produced Probate of the Will of the late Ono Earnshaw, and supplied a copy of the same.

Witness also produced certificates of the deaths of Ono Earnshaw, Mary Poyntz, Martha Earnshaw, and Ai Earnshaw, also the certificate of marriage of Ai Earnshaw with Martha Earnshaw.

Room cleared.

Preamble considered.

Question,—“That this Preamble stand part of the Bill,”—put and passed.

Solicitor called in and informed.

Clause 1 read, amended,* and agreed to.

Clauses 2 to 8 read and agreed to.

Schedule read, amended,* and agreed to.

Title read, amended,* and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill, with amendments, to the House.

* See Schedule of Amendments

SCHEDULE OF AMENDMENTS.

Page 1, Title, line 4. Omit “land at Melham at Huddersfield in the county of York in England also”

Page 3, Clause 1, line 30. Insert “or any part or parts thereof” after “hereto”

Page 9, Schedule, line 27. Omit “And also all the land and hereditaments situated at Melham near Huddersfield in the county of York in that part of the United Kingdom called England comprised in and released by a certain indenture of release recited in the hereinbefore recited codicil to the Will of the said Ono Earnshaw which release bears date the fourteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four and is made between the said Ai Earnshaw of the one part and the said Ono Earnshaw of the other part” 1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

EARNSHAW'S ESTATE BILL.

THURSDAY, 15 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

SIR WIGRAM ALLEN,
MR. BURNS,
MR. GARRARD,

MR. HUMPHERY,
MR. GEORGE CAMPBELL,
MR. GIBBES,

MR. WILSON.

SIR WIGRAM ALLEN IN THE CHAIR.

Arthur M. Allen, Esq., appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

Mr. Ambrose Thornley sworn and examined:—

1. Mr. Allen.] You are executor of the will of the late Mr. Ono Earnshaw, Mr. Thornley? I am.
2. Do you produce the probate of the will and codicil of the late Mr. Ono Earnshaw? I do. (Produces probate.)
3. Do you supply an attested copy of the same? I do. (Produces attested copy.)
4. Do you know the date of Mr. Ono Earnshaw's death? October 4, 1865.
5. What is the date of the probate? November 17, 1879.
6. Probate was granted to you? It was.
7. Do you know the date of Mary Earnshaw's death? July 22, 1879.
8. Do you hand in a certificate of Ono Earnshaw's death? I do. (Produces certificate.)
9. Mary Earnshaw was afterwards married to a man named David Poyntz? Yes.
10. Do you hand in a certificate of the death of Mary Poyntz, who is the same person as the Mary Earnshaw named in the will? I do. (Produces certificate.) She was my sister.
11. Martha Earnshaw, named in the will, became afterwards the wife of Ai Earnshaw? Yes.
12. Is that the certificate of the marriage? Yes. (Produces certificate.)
13. Do you know the names of the children of the marriage of Ai and Martha Earnshaw? Yes. The first was Ono Earnshaw; the next was George Wellington Earnshaw; the next was Robert Thornley Earnshaw; the next was Mary Thornley Earnshaw; and the next was Martha Earnshaw.
14. Do you know the date of the death of Ono Earnshaw, junior? October 20, 1882.
15. Did he leave any children? Two; Arthur Earnshaw, and Louise Earnshaw.
16. When did Ai Earnshaw die? November 1, 1876.
17. Do you hand in the certificate of his death? I do. (Produces certificate.)
18. What are your reasons for wishing to get power to sell this land? In the first place, it is a long way from Sydney, and waste land, and there is expense attached to it which robs the other portion of the estate that we have at the Glebe. We have to pay rates, and for dividing fences, and anything that may occur

Mr. Ambrose
Thornley.
15 Mar., 1883.

Mr. Ambrose
Thornley.
15 Mar., 1883.

occur in that way, and this is taken from the other portion of the estate. I wish to sell that property and fill up the vacant land at the Glebe, so as to get a better dividend for the children.

19. At the present time this land produces nothing at all? Except a very small portion, on which there is a little house. But on one occasion one man went away owing two years' rent. We are at the expense of sending a collector, and very often we cannot get it.

20. There is no power in the will by which you can sell? No.

21. The land is tied up? Yes, to the third generation.

22. You cannot even grant a long lease? No.

23. Nor make it productive? No.

24. And it is only an expense to the rest of the estate? It is.

25. Chairman.] Is that property in such a position that you think you can sell it at a fair price? I think so. There are 12 acres adjoining the paddock which I think will fetch a very fair price, and the other, I think, will fetch from £100 to £120 per acre.

26. And the proceeds will enable you to build upon the other property in the same estate, so as to produce a larger income to the children? That is what I want.

27. You are a resident of the Glebe? Yes.

28. What is your business? I have been a builder.

29. So that the Committee may consider your opinion of the value of the land and the investment of the money of some importance? It is of some importance. It would materially assist the children to live. There is not sufficient coming from that property to keep them. I have put two or three of them to different trades, but there is not sufficient to keep them as respectably as I would wish. One of the girls lives with myself, and she is more expense than the money coming in.

30. Mr. Wilson.] Can you tell us whether the estate of Ono Earnshaw, junior, was administered to? I do not know. I know that I give, according to the will, a dividend to the wife for the two children that he had; I have done so ever since his death.

31. Chairman.] Is the recital in the Bill a correct recital of the will? It is, so far as I have read it. I have read it through several times.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

HELEY'S ESTATE BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE,

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE,

AND

APPENDIX.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
16 March, 1883.

SYDNEY: THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 28. WEDNESDAY, 7 MARCH, 1883.

4. HELEY'S ESTATE BILL (Formal Motion):—Mr. Cameron, for Mr. Purves, moved, pursuant to Notice,—
- (1.) That Heley's Estate Bill be referred to a Select Committee for inquiry and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
- (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Barbour, Mr. Day, Mr. Fremlin, Mr. Gibbes, Mr. Gray, Mr. Machattie, Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Spring, and the Mover.
- Question put and passed.
-

VOTES No. 34. FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

7. HELEY'S ESTATE BILL:—Mr. Purves, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration this Bill was referred on 7th March, 1883; together with Appendix, and a copy of the Bill as agreed to by the Committee.
- Ordered to be printed.

* * * * *

CONTENTS

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings.....	2
Report	3
Proceedings of the Committee.....	4
List of Witnesses	4
Minutes of Evidence	5
Appendix	8

1883.

HELEY'S ESTATE BILL.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly for whose inquiry and report was referred, on 7th March, 1883,—“Heley's Estate Bill,”—beg to report to your Honorable House:—

That they have examined the witnesses named in the List* (whose evidence will be found appended hereto); and that the Preamble having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the several clauses and the Schedules of the Bill, in which it was not deemed necessary to make any amendment.

Your Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill without amendment.

JNO. M. PURVES,
Chairman.

*No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 16th March, 1883.*

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

TUESDAY, 13 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Purves,		Mr. Day,
Mr. Spring,		Mr. Abigail,
	Mr. Gibbes.

Mr. Purves called to the Chair.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, together with original Petition to introduce the same, before the Committee.

Present :—F. H. King, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

F. H. King, Esq., sworn, and examined.

Witness produced the Deeds referred to in the Preamble of the Bill, and handed in a copy of the Will of the late Michael Heley.

Mrs. Mary Heley called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Edward Joseph Rubie, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That Mr. Thomas O'Connor be summoned to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Friday next, at Eleven o'clock.]

FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Purves in the Chair.
Mr. Gibbes,		Mr. Spring,
	Mr. Fremlin.

Present :—F. H. King, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

F. H. King, Esq., called in, sworn, and further examined.

Witness handed in an affidavit from Mary Heley, the widow of Thomas Heley, which was ordered to be appended. (See Appendix.)

Mr. Thomas O'Connor called in, sworn, and examined.

Room cleared.

Preamble considered.

Question,—“That this Preamble stand part of the Bill,”—put and passed.

Solicitor called in and informed.

Clauses 1 to 5 read and agreed to.

Schedules read and agreed to.

Title read and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill, without amendment, to the House.

LIST OF WITNESSES.

	PAGE.
Heley, Mrs. Mary	6
King, F. H., Esq.	5, 7
O'Connor, Mr. Thomas.....	7
Rubie, Edward Joseph, Esq.	7

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

HELEY'S ESTATE BILL.

TUESDAY, 13 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. FREMLIN,
MR. GIBBES,

MR. PURVES,
MR. SPRING.

J. M. PURVES, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

F. H. King, Esq., appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

Frederick Hart King, Esq., examined:—

1. Chairman.] You are of the firm of Cope and King, and Solicitor for this Bill? Yes.
2. Do you produce certain deeds to prove the allegations in the preamble of the Bill? Yes; the first is that Thomas Heley was at the time of his death seised in fee simple of the lands set forth in Schedule A of the Bill. I prove that by the production of a conveyance from Thomas Sulway to Thomas Heley, dated 29th April, 1863. (Deed produced.) It is a registered deed.
3. Is the land mentioned in the deed correctly described in Schedule A? Yes, I have examined it myself.
4. The next recital is that Thomas Heley died intestate, on or about the 29th November, 1867. How do you prove that? I produce letters of administration of his estate granted to Michael Heley, on the 5th February, 1868. (Produced.) I can get Mrs. Heley to prove that he left the children named in that recital. As to the conveyances spoken of in the next recital, I produce, first, a conveyance dated 8th July, 1868, from Michael Heley to Ellen Heley, of Michael Heley's one-fifth share, and also Ellen Heley's one-fifth share, in all the piece of land described in Schedule A. He conveys his own share and her share, to which she is entitled as one of the next of kin. (Deed produced.) The next is a conveyance, of the 4th of April, 1872, from Eliza Heley to Michael Heley, of her one-fifth share in the land described in Schedule A. (Produced.) The next conveyance is one of the 6th November, 1877, from Mary Ann Heley and Ellen Heley to Michael Heley of their respective shares in the said land, and also the one-fifth share of Michael Heley. (Produced.) In virtue of these conveyances Michael Heley became possessed and at the time of his death was still entitled to four-fifths of the fee simple of the said land, subject only to a claim for dower by Mary Heley, the widow of Thomas Heley, who died intestate. I may say there are two persons of the name of Mary Heley referred to in the Bill; one is the widow of Thomas Heley and the other the widow of Michael Heley.
5. How do you prove that Mary Heley, the widow of Thomas Heley, was entitled to dower? Her husband having died intestate, and the conveyance not being in the regular form with the interposition of a trustee to uses to bar dower, Michael Heley made a will on the 3rd May, 1879, whereby he bequeathed all his property to his children in equal shares, and appointed John Wagner and Thomas O'Connor trustees and executors. I produce probate of that will, dated 30th June, 1879. (Produced.) The probate is also evidence of his death, which took place on the 4th May, 1879.

F. H. King,
Esq.

13 Mar., 1883.

- F. H. King,
Esq.
13 Mar., 1883.
6. Have you a copy of that will? I have an attested copy. (Handed in.) Albina Heley, one of the children of Thomas Heley, who is entitled to one-fifth share of the land referred to, has been for some years, and now is, an inmate of the Hospital for the Insane at Gladesville. I prove that by the production of a declaration and order in Lunacy, made by His Honor Sir William Manning, on the 20th February last. (Produced.) This document declares Albina Heley to be a lunatic, appoints Edward Joseph Rubie and Thomas O'Connor committee of her estate, and gives them leave to apply to Parliament for an Act to enable them to sell the land described in Schedule A.
7. How do you propose to prove that Mary Heley, the widow of Thomas Heley, is desirous that this land should be sold, and her right to dower satisfied, as proposed in the Bill? I will get her to come here if I can, but she is a very old woman and has not been out of her house for a very long time. Probably I shall be obliged to prove her consent by affidavit in the usual way. Of course it stands to reason that she would desire the sale, because at present she is getting no income from the land.
8. Have you the indenture of settlement referred to in the next recital? Yes. But first, to prove the title of Thomas Heley to the land referred to in Schedule B, I produce a conveyance from Mrs. Mary Hassall, and another to Michael Heley, dated 11th December, 1872, of the lands described in Schedule B. (Produced.)
9. What is the date of the marriage settlement referred to? 26th April, 1875. I produce the indenture of settlement. (Produced.)
10. Is the recital in the preamble of the Bill a correct recital of the provisions of that deed of settlement? Yes.
11. Are the persons here named the trustees of the settlement—William Ahern and James Sheridan? They were the persons first appointed, but, as stated in the preamble, Edward Joseph Rubie and Thomas O'Connor are now the duly appointed trustees of both the will and settlement. They were appointed trustees of the settlement by a deed dated 7th November, 1882, made between Mary Heley, widow of Michael Heley, of the first part; James Sheridan, of the second part; and Edward Joseph Rubie and Thomas O'Connor, of the third part. (Deed produced.)
12. What became of William Ahern? William Ahern died, I am told. The reason of the power of appointment contained in the deed being exercised was the death of Mr. Ahern and Mr. Sheridan's desire of retiring from the trust.
13. Have Edward Joseph Rubie and Thomas O'Connor accepted the trusteeship? Yes.
14. They are the parties actually applying for this Bill? Yes.
15. Have the buildings erected upon these parcels of land been duly condemned under the provisions of the City Improvement Act? Yes; I have seen the notices, but I have not got them with the papers. As a matter of fact they have been condemned.
16. Mr. Fremlin.] Do you know when they were condemned? Within the last twelve months.
17. Chairman.] Is there no power of sale in the will or settlement? No.
18. Are the lands now wholly unproductive? Yes, since the buildings were condemned.
19. What was the income of the property before they were condemned? From the land included in Schedule A about £150 a year.
20. And from Schedule B? That is the land that was settled on Mrs. Heley, and she was in occupation of it until the house was condemned.
21. Is she not now? No, no one has been in occupation since then.

Mrs. Mary Heley called in and examined:—

- Mrs. Mary Heley.
13 Mar., 1883.
22. Chairman.] Are you the widow of Michael Heley referred to in this Bill? Yes.
23. When did he die? On the 4th May, 1879.
24. When did he make his will? I could not say exactly the date.
25. How many children did he leave? Two.
26. What were their names? Ellen Clotilda and Mary Teresa.
27. You are the Mary Heley mentioned in the marriage settlement referred to in the Bill? Yes.
28. Are you desirous of having the land mentioned in Schedules to the Bill sold by the trustees, Messrs. Rubie and O'Connor? Yes.
29. You do wish the property to be sold? Yes, I think it is the best thing to be done.
30. Mr. Fremlin.] You know the two trustees have applied to Parliament for an Act to enable them to sell it? Yes.
31. And you gave your consent that the land should be sold? Yes, it is no use to have it lie idle.
32. Is it bringing in any rent at the present time? I do not think so.
33. Did you appoint Mr. Edward Joseph Rubie and Mr. Thomas O'Connor as your trustees? Yes.
34. Is that your mark to the deed produced? Yes. At the time that was made I had not been well.
35. You made your mark to that deed appointing Messrs. Rubie and O'Connor your trustees? Yes.
36. Can you tell me of your own knowledge how many children Thomas Heley left? Five; Mary Ann, Ellen, Eliza, Albina, and my husband Michael.
37. Any others? I have heard that there was a Jeremiah, but I never saw him.
38. Is there any one who knows anything about Jeremiah—do you know when he was last heard of? I never heard of him since I was married—never since I left home.
39. Have you heard of his death? No.
40. Mr. Spring.] Was Jeremiah born in the Colony? No, he was never out here.
41. Mr. Gibbes.] Have you any idea whether Jeremiah was the eldest of the family? I could not say, but I think he was.
42. Mr. Spring.] From whom did you hear about him? From their mother and from my sister at home before ever I came out here at all.
43. Chairman.] How many years is it since you heard of him? Not for a very long time; I have never heard of him since I was married.
44. How many years is that? I could not tell you the year.
45. How old is your eldest child? She was born on the 11th December, twelve years ago.
46. Mary Teresa is the eldest? Yes.

Edward

ON HELEY'S ESTATE BILL.

Edward Joseph Rubie, Esq., called in and examined:—

E. J. Rubie,
Esq.
13 Mar., 1883.

47. Chairman.] You are one of the trustees of the will of Michael Heley, and also of the marriage settlement of Mary Heley? Yes.
48. You are one of the parties applying for this Bill? Yes.
49. Do you know the properties described in Schedules A and B? Yes.
50. Have you received notice about them from the Corporation? Yes.
51. What is the effect of the notice? That they are condemned and must be pulled down.
52. Have they been pulled down? No, but they are untenanted.
53. What was the rent of the property in Schedule A before the buildings were condemned? £3 a week.
54. And in Schedule B? It was tenanted by Mrs. Heley since I have been trustee; previous to that it was let at about £2 5s. a week.
55. Have you the notices of condemnation by the Council? No.
56. Mr. Spring.] I suppose it is absolutely necessary to sell this property to make it productive? Yes.
57. The estate has no resources to spend upon it? No; there is another house yielding 27s. 6d. a week.
58. Mr. Fremlin.] Is your co-trustee, Mr. Thomas O'Connor, perfectly in accord with you as to this sale? Yes.
59. Chairman.] Has Mrs. Mary Heley, the widow of Thomas Heley, asked you to apply for this Bill? No, I have never seen her about it, but her daughter and son-in-law have done so. She is a very aged woman.
60. Has Mrs. Mary Heley, the widow of Michael Heley, asked you to do so? She has left the whole matter in our hands. We are acting for her and the others to the best advantage.
61. Do you know what is the value of this property? I could not say.
62. What is the frontage? I think about 36 feet. I fancy it will be worth about £250 a foot.
63. Mr. Gibbes.] You think it will be worth something like £9,000? Yes.
64. What other interests are there besides those of Albina Heley and Michael Heley's widow and children? Old Mrs. Heley is entitled to dower; in fact we have been paying old Mrs. Heley £1 a week out of the rents.
65. If you do not sell the property old Mrs. Heley will get no dower? No, there are no funds to pay it.
66. Mr. Fremlin.] Have you known this family long? I knew Michael Heley for several years; I did not know his father.
67. Did you ever hear any of them speak of a Jeremiah Heley? No, I did not.
68. Do you know any person who was intimate with this family, and likely to have heard of Jeremiah Heley? The only person would be Mr. O'Connor, my co-trustee.
69. Chairman.] Mr. O'Connor knows the Bill is being applied for? Yes.

FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. FREMLIN,

MR. SPRING.

MR. GIBBES,

J. M. PURVES, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Frederick Hart, King, Esq., Solicitor for the Bill, further examined:—

70. Chairman.] Have you seen Mary Heley, the widow of Thomas Heley, since the last meeting? I have. F. H. King,
Esq.
16 Mar., 1883.
71. She is not able to be present in person? No.
72. Why? She is very old and infirm.
73. Have you an affidavit from her? Yes. (Handed in and read. See Appendix) With reference to what has been said about Jeremiah Heley, I may say that it is not material, as the Bill merely gives power to the trustees to sell the land, which is now unproductive, but Jeremiah Heley's interest (if any) in the proceeds will remain unaffected.

Mr. Thomas O'Connor called in and examined:—

74. Chairman.] You are the person mentioned in this Bill as a trustee of the will of Michael Heley? Yes. Mr.
T. O'Connor.
16 Mar., 1883.
75. You are aware that a petition has been presented to Parliament asking Parliament to pass a Bill to enable you and your co-trustee to sell certain properties mentioned in Schedule A of this Bill? Yes.
76. You are in favour of the prayer of that petition being granted? Yes, to enable us to sell the property for the good of the children.

APPENDIX.

[To Evidence of F. H. King, Esq., 16 March, 1883.]

In the matter of the application of Edward Joseph Rubie and Thomas O'Connor for an Act of Parliament to enable them as the trustees of the will of the late Michael Heley, the committee of the estate of Albina Heley, and the trustees of a settlement dated 26 April, 1875, to sell certain lands in the Schedules A and B thereto described, and to provide for the application of the proceeds and for other purposes therein mentioned.

On this fifteenth day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, Mary Heley, of Cook-street, Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, widow, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith as follows:—

1. I am the widow of Thomas Heley, late of Sydney, in the Colony aforesaid, boot and shoe maker, deceased.
2. The only children whom the said Thomas Heley left surviving him were Mary Ann, Ellen, Eliza, Albina, and Michael.
3. I am desirous that the land in George-street which formerly belonged to the said Thomas Heley, and out of which I am entitled to dower, may be sold, and I am desirous that this Act may be passed.
4. The said Thomas Heley had another son by me, called "Jeremiah," while I was on my way to this Colony with my said husband twenty-nine years ago; the said Jeremiah left us, and I have never seen him or heard from him since. Thirteen years ago I heard he was dead, and I firmly believe he is dead.
5. The said Thomas Heley had no other children than those I have mentioned.

Sworn by the deponent on the day first above mentioned, at Sydney, before me (the contents } her hereof having been first read over and explained to her, and she appearing to me fully to } MARY x HELEY. understand the same). mark.

HENRY E. MAXTED,
A Commissioner for Affidavits.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

AND

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
6 March, 1883.

SYDNEY: THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 29. THURSDAY, 8 MARCH, 1883.

14. MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.—Mr. Cameron moved, pursuant to Notice,—
 (1.) That Mort's Bay Improvement Bill be referred to a Select Committee for consideration and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
 (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Copeland, Mr. Burns, Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Gattard, Mr. Hutchinson, Mr. Teece, Mr. Young, and the Mover.
 Question put and passed.
-

VOTES No. 32. WEDNESDAY, 14 MARCH, 1883.

6. MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.—Mr. Gattard presented a Petition from Edward Harman Buchanan, of Balmain, Architect, in opposition to this Bill; and praying that he may be represented by Counsel or Solicitor before the Select Committee appointed to report upon the said Bill, and that he may give evidence in reference to the premises aforesaid.
 Petition received, and referred to the Committee on the Bill.
-

VOTES No. 44. FRIDAY, 6 APRIL, 1883.

2. MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.—Mr. Cameron, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of the Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration and report this Bill was referred on 8th March, 1883; together with a copy of the Bill as amended and agreed to by the Committee.
 Ordered to be printed.
- * * * * *
-

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings	2
Report	3
Proceedings of the Committee.....	4
Schedule of Amendments.....	6
List of Witnesses	7
Minutes of Evidence	9

1883.

MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly for whose consideration and report was referred, on the 8th March, 1883,—“ Mort's Bay Improvement Bill”; and to whom was also referred, on the 14th March, 1883, “ A Petition from Edward Harman Buchanan, in opposition to the Bill, and praying to be heard by Counsel or Solicitor,”—beg to report to your Honorable House:—

That they have examined the witnesses named in the List* (whose *See List, page 7. evidence will be found appended hereto); and that the Preamble, as amended, having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the several clauses and Schedules to the Bill, in which it was deemed necessary to make certain amendments.

Your Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill as amended by them, with an amended Preamble.

ANGUS CAMERON,
Chairman.

*No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 5th April, 1883.*

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

TUESDAY, 13 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Cameron,		Mr. Burns,
Mr. Fletcher,		Mr. Roberts,
Mr. Young,		Mr. Garrard,
	Mr. Hutchinson.

Mr. Cameron called to the Chair.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, together with original Petition to introduce the same, before the Committee.

Present:—Charles J. Manning, Esq. (Counsel for the Bill);P. W. Creagh, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

P. W. Creagh, Esq., sworn and examined.

Witness produced the Title-deeds of the Dock Company's land at Mort's Bay.

James Macdonald, Esq. (Licensed Surveyor), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Quarton Levitte Deloitte, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Robert Frederick Phelps, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

William Broomfield, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

James Peter Franki, Esq., (Manager, Mort's Dock Company) called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Samuel Briggs (Manager, Balmain Steam Ferry), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. William Woodman (Master, Balmain ferry-boat), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Henry Aitken (Master, Balmain ferry-boat), called in, sworn, and examined.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to To-morrow, at Eleven o'clock.]

WEDNESDAY, 14 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Cameron in the Chair.

Mr. Garrard,		Mr. Roberts,
Mr. Fletcher,		Mr. Burns,
	Mr. Hutchinson.

Present:—C. J. Manning, Esq. (Counsel for the Bill).P. W. Creagh, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

Albert Elkington, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

Re-assembling of the Committee to be arranged by the Chairman.

[Adjourned.]

FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Cameron in the Chair.

Mr. Fletcher,		Mr. Garrard,
Mr. Roberts,		Mr. Burns,
Mr. Hutchinson,		Mr. Tecce.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, referring Petition from Edward Harman Buchanan, praying to be heard by Counsel against the Bill, read by the Clerk.

Petition before the Committee.

Present:—C. J. Manning, Esq. (Counsel for the Bill).P. W. Creagh, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).George B. Simpson, Esq. (Counsel for Petitioner).Frederick Curtiss, Esq. (Solicitor for Petitioner).

Albert Elkington, Esq., called in, further examined, and cross-examined.

Witness withdrew.

Edward Harman Buchanan, Esq. (the Petitioner against the Bill), called in, sworn, examined, and cross-examined.

James Macdonald, Esq., called in and further examined.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Tuesday next, at Eleven o'clock.]

TUESDAY,

TUESDAY, 20 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Cameron in the Chair.

Mr. Roberts,		Mr. Garrard,
Mr. Hutchinson,		Mr. Fletcher.

Present :—C. J. Manning, Esq. (Counsel for the Bill).
 P. W. Creagh, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).
 George B. Simpson, Esq. (Counsel for the Petitioner).
 Frederick Curtiss, Esq. (Solicitor for the Petitioner).

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Thursday next, at Eleven o'clock.]

THURSDAY, 22 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Cameron,		Mr. Garrard.
--------------	--	--------------

In the absence of a quorum, the meeting called for this day lapsed.

THURSDAY, 29 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Cameron in the Chair.

Mr. Teece,		Mr. Hutchinson,
		Mr. Garrard.

Present :—C. J. Manning, Esq. (Counsel for the Bill).
 P. W. Creagh, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).
 George B. Simpson, Esq. (Counsel for the Petitioner).
 Frederick Curtiss, Esq. (Solicitor for the Petitioner).

Edward H. Buchanan, Esq., called in, further examined, and cross-examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. William Schultz called in, sworn, examined, and cross-examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Charles Vanderberg called in, sworn, examined, and cross-examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Thomas Batement called in, sworn, and examined.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to To-morrow, at Ten o'clock.]

FRIDAY, 30 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Cameron in the Chair.

Mr. Teece,		Mr. Hutchinson,
		Mr. Garrard.

Present :—Mr. J. Manning, Esq. (Counsel for the Bill).
 P. W. Creagh, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).
 George B. Simpson, Esq. (Counsel for the Petitioner).
 Frederick Curtiss, Esq. (Solicitor for the Petitioner).

Mr. Manning produced a Plan, showing the improvements to Mort's Bay as described in the proposed new Schedules to the Bill, and supplied copies of the same.

Mr. F. Lemm called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

T. R. Allt, Esq., called in, sworn, examined, and cross-examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Charles Read called in, sworn, examined, and cross-examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Henry Walter Callan called in, sworn, examined, and cross-examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. William John Weets called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

James Macdonald, Esq., called in, further examined, and cross-examined.

Witness produced amended Schedules to be substituted for the Schedules of the Bill.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Tuesday next, at Eleven o'clock.]

TUESDAY,

TUESDAY, 3 APRIL, 1883,

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Cameron in the Chair.

Mr. Garrard, | Mr. Teece.

Present:—C. J. Manning, Esq. (Counsel for the Bill).
P. W. Creagh, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).
George B. Simpson, Esq. (Counsel for the Petitioner).
Frederick Curtiss, Esq. (Solicitor for the Petitioner).

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Thursday next, at Eleven o'clock.]

THURSDAY, 5 APRIL, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Cameron, in the Chair.

Mr. Garrard, | Mr. Hutchinson.

Preamble considered and amended.

Question—"That this Preamble, as amended, stand part of the Bill,"—put and passed.

Parties called in and informed.

Clause 1 read, amended,* and agreed to.

Clauses 2 and 3 read and agreed to.

Clause 4 read, amended,* and agreed to.

Clauses 5 and 6 read and agreed to.

Schedules read and omitted.

New Schedules* to stand Schedules A-B, C, D, and E, read and agreed to.

Title read and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill, with amendments, to the House, together with an amended Preamble.

* See Schedule of Amendments

SCHEDULE OF AMENDMENTS.

Page 2, Preamble, line 13. Omit "and"

Page 2, Preamble, line 21. Omit "and also to form and make a certain road or street called Ronald-street from the intersection of Ballast Point Road to the waters of the said Bay"

Page 2, Preamble, line 23. Omit "there."

Page 2, Preamble, line 32. Omit "and also to form and continue Ronald-street to the waters of the said Bay"

Page 2, clause 1, line 50. Omit "pieces or parcels" insert "piece or parcel"; also, omit "severally"; also, omit "Schedules," insert "Schedule."

Page 2, clause 1, line 51. Omit "A and B," insert "A-B."

Page 3, clause 4, line 22. Omit "and shall also form and make as a road or street Ronald-street from its intersection with Ballast Point Road to the waters of Mort's Bay"

Page 3, clause 4, line 28. Insert "and to the satisfaction" after "direction."

Page 4, Schedules. Omit "Schedules A, B, C, D, E," insert the following new Schedules to stand A-B, C, D, and E.

SCHEDULE A-B.

All that parcel of land situate in the Borough of Balmain parish of Petersham county of Cumberland and Colony of New South Wales being portion of the five hundred and fifty acres granted to William Balmain containing by admeasurement one rood and twenty-eight perches Commencing at the junction of the north-eastern side of New John-street with the south-eastern side of Mort-street and bounded on the southern side by a line bearing east thirteen degrees fifty-five minutes north three hundred and ten feet to the waters of Mort Bay thence by the waters of that bay bearing northerly about fifty-one feet thence by a line bearing west thirteen degrees fifty-five minutes south two hundred and one feet thence by a line bearing south forty-seven degrees thirty-three minutes west one hundred and five feet to the point of commencement Be the above-mentioned several dimensions a little more or less.

SCHEDULE C.

All that parcel of land situate in the Borough of Balmain parish of Petersham county of Cumberland and Colony of New South Wales being portion of the five hundred and fifty acres granted to William Balmain containing by admeasurement twenty-nine perches Commencing at the junction of the western side of Ronald-street with the northern side of Mort Bay (formerly known as Waterview Bay) and bounded on the east by a portion of the said side of Ronald-street bearing northerly twenty-eight feet six inches thence by a line bearing westerly two hundred and fifty-six feet to Yeend-street thence by a portion of the eastern side of that street being curved line bearing southerly thirty-nine feet to a point distant sixty-five feet from Mort Bay high-water-mark thence by a line bearing easterly one hundred and eighty-seven feet thence by a line bearing southerly thirteen feet to high-water-mark and from thence by high-water-mark being a line bearing easterly fifty feet to the point of commencement.

SCHEDULE D.

SCHEDULE D.

All that portion of land situate in the Borough of Balmain parish of Petersham county of Cumberland and Colony of New South Wales being portion of the five hundred and fifty acres granted to William Balmain and which now forms the lower end of Mort-street containing by admeasurement twenty-six perches and three-quarters of a perch Commencing on the southern side of Mort Bay (formerly called Waterview Bay) and bounded on the northern side by the waters of the said bay bearing westerly fifty-five feet thence by a line bearing south forty-seven degrees thirty-two minutes west one hundred and seventy-one feet to the proposed new street thence by a portion of that street being a line bearing east thirteen degrees fifty-five minutes north one hundred and three feet thence by a line bearing north forty-seven degrees thirty-two minutes east one hundred and twenty-two feet to the point of commencement.

SCHEDULE E.

All that parcel of land situate in the Borough of Balmain parish of Petersham county of Cumberland and Colony of New South Wales being portion of Yeend-street containing by admeasurement fourteen perches and one-half of a perch Commencing at the junction of the eastern side of said street with the waters of Mort Bay (formerly known as Waterview Bay) and bounded on the eastern side by land belonging to Mort's Dock and Engineering Company being a curved line bearing north and westerly sixty-five feet thence by a line bearing westerly one hundred and five feet dividing it from the other portion of Yeend-street on the west by land belonging to said Dock and Engineering Company being a curved line bearing easterly and southerly one hundred and twenty feet to the waters of said Bay and from thence by the waters of that Bay being a line bearing easterly fifty feet to the point of commencement Be the said several dimensions a little more or less.

LIST OF WITNESSES.

	PAGE.
Aitken, Mr. Henry	14
Alt, T. R., Esq.	30
Batement, Mr. Thomas	27
Briggs, Mr. Samuel.....	13
Broomfield, William, Esq.....	11
Buchanan, Edward H., Esq.	16, 22
Callan, Mr. Henry Walter.....	33
Creagh, P. W., Esq.	9
Deloitte, Quarton L., Esq.....	10
Elkington, Albert, Esq.	14, 15
Franki, James P., Esq.	12
Lemm, Mr. F.	29
Macdonald, James, Esq.....	9, 21, 35
Phelps, R. F., Esq.	11
Read, Mr. Charles	32
Schultz, Mr. William	24
Vanderberg, Mr. Charles	27
Weets, Mr. William John	34
Woodman, Mr. William	13

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.

TUESDAY, 13 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. BURNS,
MR. CAMERON,
MR. FLETCHER,

MR. YOUNG.

MR. GARRARD,
MR. HUTCHINSON,
MR. ROBERTS,

ANGUS CAMERON, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

C. J. Manning, Esq., appeared as Counsel, and P. W. Creagh, Esq., as Solicitor, for the Bill.

Patrick William Creagh, Esq., examined:—

1. Mr. Manning.] You are a member of the firm of Creagh & Williams, Solicitors? Yes.
2. And you are Solicitor for Mort's Bay Improvement Bill? Yes.
3. You know the portions of land which Mort's Dock and Engineering Company propose to dedicate to the public in connection with this Bill, on the north side and the south side of the dock? Yes.
4. Do you produce the title-deeds of the Dock Company to these portions of land? I do. (Deeds produced.) I produce deeds showing that the piece of land on the south side described in Schedules A and B, and the piece on the north side, Schedule C, are vested in Mort's Dock and Engineering Company (Limited), having been conveyed to them by Mr. Thos. S. Mort, who held the land for many years. I have gone through the title-deeds, and the abstract shows that the title is the Balmain title registered in the Lands Titles Office, and the title from that is complete, the property having been conveyed to Mr. Mort in 1854, and by him to the Company in 1875, since which time it has been in their possession.
5. In whom is Yeend-street vested? Yeend-street was dedicated, or at least thrown open, to the public by a private Act of 31st Victoria, obtained by Mr. Mort; it was then his property. The Act is known as the Waterview Patent Slip Act, passed in 1867. I also produce a printed copy of the Memorandum of Association of Mort's Dock and Engineering Company (Limited), showing that the Company is duly registered, with power to acquire and hold land.

P. W.
Creagh, Esq.
13 Mar., 1883.

James Macdonald, Esq., called in and examined:—

6. Mr. Manning.] You are a surveyor? Yes, and architect.
7. You know the portions of land which by this Bill the Mort's Dock Company propose to dedicate to the public? I do.
8. Do the Schedules to the Bill now before the Committee correctly describe the land referred to therein? Yes.
9. The Dock Company propose to widen John-street 20 feet? Yes.
10. Chairman.] At the present time John-street is 30 feet wide, and it is proposed to make it 50 feet wide? Yes.

J. Macdonald,
Esq.
13 Mar., 1883.

- J. Macdonald, Esq.
13 Mar., 1882.
11. Mr. Manning.] From Mort-street to a new street set out in Schedule B? Yes.
 12. That connects John-street with a proposed new street described in Schedule B, which is a continuation of Clayton-street, thus making a new street to the waters of Waterview Bay 50 feet wide? Yes.
 13. Being the same width as Mort-street now in use? Yes.
 14. The proposed new street described in Schedule B is 146 feet from Mort-street? Yes.
 15. Mr. Burns.] Have you heard of any opposition, on the part of the local inhabitants, to the closing of the old street and the opening of the new one? There is some opposition by a few.
 16. Is any opposition threatened before Parliament? Yes; I heard there was a meeting last night, at which some resolutions were passed to oppose it.
 17. On what grounds? I could not rightly understand on what grounds, except the general objection they have to the closing of the street.
 18. Chairman.] You are a resident of Balmain? Yes.
 19. And have been for a number of years? Yes.
 20. I suppose you are pretty well aware of the general feeling of the inhabitants in reference to this matter? Yes.
 21. Will you kindly tell the Committee whether, so far as you are aware, the majority are in favour of the alterations proposed in this Bill? I think I may say that those who make use of that ferry are almost altogether in favour of this alteration. At present the steamers and vessels going into and out of the dock, and having lines run out to the buoys, are a great hindrance to the passenger traffic. At times the steamers are unable to call at the Snail's Bay and Mort-street jetties because of the obstruction offered in this way.
 22. Is it a fact that the Municipal Council of the Borough of Balmain have passed a resolution in favour of this Bill? Yes.
 23. Mr. Burns.] How long ago? Some time during last year.
 24. Mr. Fletcher.] Does any portion of Mort-street proposed to be closed run through private property? No, the property on both sides belongs to the Company.
 25. In the event of the new road being opened to the proposed new jetty, is it a fact that the public will only be required to walk 140 feet further than they now do? Yes, that is all.
 26. At present how wide is John-street? Thirty feet.
 27. Do the Promoters of this Bill propose to widen that street to make it uniform with Mort-street? Yes.
 28. In your opinion, if these new jetties be erected, will they be really a convenience to the public travelling by the steamers? Yes, a great convenience.
 29. Mr. Young.] Will the proposed alterations, in your opinion, depreciate the value of property in Mort-street? I cannot see how it can do so.
 30. Would the gradient by this new street be as good as by the one at present in use? It would be nearly as good; if it is not so now it could be made so.
 31. The gradient can be made as easy by Clayton-street as by Mort-street? Yes.
 32. Do the same remarks apply to the alteration on the other side? It is proposed to have steps there, but the gradient could be eased by a little alteration. The argument as to the convenience to the public applies to this as well as to the other side.
 33. Will any property be depreciated in value by the change to Yeend-street? No; all the property on both sides belongs to the Dock Company.
 34. No private interests are affected? No.
 35. You stated that you knew that some persons are antagonistic to this Bill: do you know of your own knowledge what steps are to be taken by them? Some parties who held a meeting last night passed a resolution that the local Members be requested to oppose the passing of the Bill.
 36. Chairman.] Do you know of your own knowledge how the local Members intend to act in reference to this matter? I do not; but they are both members of the Borough Council, and voted in favour of this Bill when it was before that body.
 37. Mr. Manning.] Are you a member of the Borough Council? Yes.
 38. And you voted in favour of the Bill being passed? Yes.

Quarton Levitt Deloitte, Esq., called in and examined:—

- Q. L. Deloitte, Esq.
13 Mar., 1882.
39. Mr. Manning.] You are a resident of Balmain, and have been so for many years? Yes.
 40. On which side of Balmain do you reside? Snail's Bay.
 41. Do you know the alterations proposed by this Bill? I do.
 42. In your opinion, would they be an advantage to the residents on that side of Balmain? Yes.
 43. At present we understand considerable inconvenience arises from the position of the wharf at Yeend-street? Yes.
 44. Not only to the residents of Snail's Bay, but also to the residents of the other side; it would be a considerable convenience if these wharves could be altered as proposed? Yes, to the other side of the sheer-legs, as proposed by the Bill.
 45. The existence of the dock and engineering works is of very great advantage to the district of Balmain? Yes, no doubt of that.
 46. And of course as their works extend more ships are brought to them, and it is those ships being brought there that has caused the inconvenience? Yes, at present it is so.
 47. With regard to the traffic, would it be a convenience to the people that the road should be altered instead of going by Yeend-street? Yes, with a good approach. A promise has been made that the residents should not suffer. There may be a difficulty about the steps, but that can be easily overcome.
 48. Now about the south side, can you speak of that side? The Company have property on that side, and if they make use of it the wharf must be moved, or the passenger steamers cannot get in and out.
 49. If the Dock Company utilize their land to the east of Mort-street, that would block the traffic even more than at present? Yes.
 50. Are the people of Balmain generally in favour of the proposed alterations? Those who have the interest of the place at heart cannot have very much objection. The inconvenience at present is very great; often when the steamers are expected to call at the wharves they do not call at all, because they cannot get in, and sometimes when we have to catch a train we miss it on that account.

51. This alteration would amend that state of things? Yes, in a great measure.
52. Mr. Fletcher.] Do I understand you to say you travel frequently by these ferry-boats? Every day.
53. I think you say there are times when the ferry-boats cannot get in to the wharves as at present arranged? Yes.
54. Under such circumstances are passengers compelled to wait? Yes. The ferry-boats cannot get to the Yeend-street jetty, because of ropes attached to the buoys when vessels are being taken in and out of the dock.
55. If the wharves are altered as proposed by this Bill, and the sheer-legs shifted, that inconvenience would be obviated? Yes, because the buoys would be inside the track of the steamers, and the ropes would not prevent them going in.
56. Would the steamers then be able to call there on all their trips? Yes.
57. Mr. Young.] Is it your opinion that property-holders in Mort-street would have any cause to complain that their property will be depreciated? I do not see it.
58. If Clayton-street be continued, would not the traffic be diverted from Mort-street along Clayton-street? It might, but it would make little difference.
59. Then, in your opinion, the alteration will not deteriorate property in Mort-street? No.
60. Mr. Manning.] Which would be the principal thoroughfare? Mort-street, up to corner of Mort and New John-street. People would have to go 146 feet further, but through a better street.

Q. L.
Deloitte,
Esq.
13 Mar., 1883.

Mr. Robert Frederick Phelps called in and examined:—

61. Mr. Manning.] You are a resident at Balmain, on the south side of Waterview Bay? Yes.
62. Do you travel by that ferry? Yes, daily.
63. Do you know the alterations proposed by this Bill? Yes.
64. Are you a property-holder there? Yes.
65. In your opinion, would the proposed alterations be for the general advantage to the public in that neighbourhood? Yes, I consider they would be a great advantage to people travelling and to property-holders and the inhabitants of Balmain generally.
66. The main traffic would still come round by Mort-street? Yes, I think it would.
67. So that property in Mort-street would not be affected in any way? No.
68. With regard to the alteration on the north side, do you think that will be an advantage? It would be a great advantage to the people, because they would be able to depend upon the steamer calling in in a proper way; at present they cannot do so.
69. Mr. Young.] Are you aware of any feeling against this Bill among the residents? I know there is some opposition on the part of a few persons, but I was not aware there was much until yesterday when I saw a petition being signed against the Bill.
70. You are aware that there are a body of people over there that object to this Bill? I cannot say I would call them a body of people; there is a feeling on the part of a few, I believe, but I cannot say I have met with any one who has any great objection to it.
71. You know a petition has been signed against it? Yes.
72. Chairman.] As a matter of fact, does not the opposition principally come from a local publican who thinks his interests will be affected? Yes, so I understand.
73. Mr. Fletcher.] During the late general elections, was not this made a question for and against the alterations? I cannot say I remember that such was the case—it might have been so.
74. You say you saw persons signing a petition: did you see them yourself? Yes.
75. Were you asked to sign the petition? No. The petition was in charge of a youth.
76. Did you hear any one asked to sign the petition? I cannot say I heard anybody asked directly during the time I was passing.
77. Did you see anybody sign the petition? Yes, I saw four working-men, and I believe that after they signed it they were sorry they had done so, from what one of them said to me. An expression which fell from one of them as he rushed to sign it was—"It is against the dock; I will sign."
78. You did not hear anything from the youth in charge of the petition as to why they were asking for signatures? No; he was rather a quiet lad.

Mr.
R. F. Phelps,
13 Mar., 1883.

Mr. William Broomfield called in and examined:—

79. Mr. Manning.] You are a resident on the north side of Waterview Bay? Yes, at Snail's Bay.
80. Do you know the alterations proposed to be made on both sides? Yes.
81. Would the alterations on your side be an advantage to the people living there? Decidedly an advantage. It is nearly an every-day occurrence that the steamers taking us from Darling-street miss Snail's Bay altogether, on account of the large vessels overlapping the Snail's Bay wharf.
82. With regard to the south side, do you know anything about that? Yes.
83. Would the proposed alteration there be an advantage, in your opinion? A great advantage. From Snail's Bay wharf it would then be a direct line, and the buoys would be all inside, so that the wharfs would not interfere with the jetties.
84. Do you think any person can reasonably object to the alterations? No, I do not see why they should; I do not see how they well can; I believe it is intended to widen John-street.
85. Would not the widening of John-street bring all the traffic up Mort-street and make the property there just as valuable as ever? It would improve the property there.
86. It would improve the property in John-street, and would not injuriously affect the property in Mort-street? No; there are no buildings at all on that portion of Mort-street that they want to shut up; the traffic would only be forced 146 feet further, I believe.
87. The main traffic would still go up Mort-street by John-street? Certainly.
88. Mr. Burns.] How long have you been resident at Balmain? Twelve years, I think; I have been at Snail's Bay for three years.
89. Has there been any opposition to this proposal? I believe there has been something of the kind; there was a meeting last night at Balmain, and they are getting up a petition.

Mr. W.
Broomfield.
13 Mar., 1883.

- Mr. W. Broomfield. 90. Do you know who the parties are? No; I know they are getting any one they can to sign the petition. I was looking over it yesterday afternoon, and I saw there were a lot of Vernon boys had signed it.
- 13 Mar., 1883. 91. Do you see any reason for the opposition to the Bill? No, only a spirit of opposition. It cannot affect property there, except as an improvement. I know everybody at Snail's Bay without exception would be in favour of moving the Snail's Bay wharf.
92. Chairman.] In favour of the alterations proposed by this Bill? Yes. It happens very frequently that the ferry-boats cannot land their passengers or call for them at Snail's Bay. Only on Friday night I wanted to catch a tram, and the steamer did not stop at Snail's Bay, and we were delayed half an hour.
93. Mr. Young.] You said nearly every one at Snail's Bay would be in favour of the proposed alteration—you did not apply that observation to the other side? I do not know so much about that side, but I see no reason why they should object; I do not know so much about the alteration on the other side.
94. You know the proposed new street is called Clayton-street: if Clayton-street were extended up to New John-street and up New John-street to Mort-street, would it divert the traffic from Mort-street and depreciate the value of property in Mort-street? I do not think so; the shops are in Mort-street now; there are only a few private houses in Clayton-street.
95. Chairman.] Mr. Young wishes to know whether you think the proposed alteration would depreciate property in Mort-street? No, I do not see why it should.

James Peter Franki, Esq., called in and examined:—

- J. P. Franki, Esq. 96. Chairman.] You are Manager of the Mort's Dock and Engineering Company? Yes.
- 13 Mar., 1883. 97. And have been resident at Balmain for a number of years? Yes.
98. Mr. Manning.] I believe you have been requested by the Marine Board to try and make some alterations to give greater facilities to the ferry-steamers plying to Waterview Bay? Yes.
99. And it was with a desire to carry out this wish of the Marine Board that you first took up this matter to see what could be done? Yes.
100. By the proposals you make now, the ships brought up to your dock will not interfere with the landing of passengers at Snail's Bay or with the traffic from Snail's Bay? No, not at all.
101. Your large buoys will be inside the line of traffic? Yes.
102. Do you use the land at the east side of Mort-street now? No, we are not using it.
103. If you were to use it, would that necessarily still further interfere with the traffic of the ferry-steamers? Yes, if we did use it, it would still further impede the navigation—the ferry-steamers could not get in and out at all.
104. By the plan you now suggest you would be able to use this land, and the public would be able to land at the jetties at all times without interruption? Yes.
105. In your opinion, will the traffic in any way be diverted from Mort-street by the alterations? No, it cannot be, because we are going to widen John-street to make that a regular parade, and make it almost a level road where it is now a steep incline; we are going to put a wall so as to make it level with that portion of Mort-street, so that carriages can drive round.
106. Mort-street must be the main street all through? Yes. We intend, in fact, to improve the approaches, which will increase the value of property; people will naturally go where there is most room.
107. The traffic not being impeded will also tend to improve the value of property there? Of course.
108. Clayton-street, above John-street, is a narrow street with only a few private houses in it? That is all; there is nothing on one side, and on the other side only a few weatherboard cottages.
109. With regard to the improvements on the north side, apart from all question of the Company, do you think they will be a great improvement to the public? Yes. Last week for three or four hours the ferry-steamers could not call in because the ships were in transit from the wharf to the sheers or into the dock.
110. As a matter of fact, the prosperity of Mort-street and Balmain has been brought about by the dock and the business coming to the dock? Yes.
111. And the more business that comes to the dock, the better for the people in Mort-street? Yes. Some improvement must be made, or business men will not come to that part of Balmain if they cannot get into town readily.
112. Chairman.] You are aware that there is a certain amount of opposition to this Bill from some local residents? Yes; I saw a petition being signed indiscriminately by boys and everybody else.
113. Having been long resident in Balmain, you have had frequent opportunities of judging of public feeling there? Yes.
114. Are the people generally in favour of the proposed improvements? Yes, except a few; there are two public-houses there, and a butcher's shop further up; all the business to these public-houses comes from the dock and the ships lying in the dock.
115. It frequently happens that passengers to and from Balmain suffer considerable inconvenience through the ferry-boats not being able to get in at the present time? Yes, which all the directors and masters of the boats can prove. There was a case not long ago where the man in charge of a steamer actually cut a rope because it was in his way.
116. Mr. Fletcher.] I think you stated that the alteration as proposed by this Bill will not depreciate property in Mort-street? I am positive about that—it cannot.
117. Is it necessary for the carrying out of the works connected with the dock that you should extend the wharf on the south and north side of the bay, as proposed in this Bill? It is.
118. Can these works on the south side be extended without removing the steamer jetty? No, they cannot; we cannot get the accommodation without interfering with the ferry wharf altogether; we would have to build out on the other side on our land, and that would shut the ferry-boats out altogether; they have only got 50 feet, the width of the street, and if they could come in at all they would have to come end on.
119. Do I understand that that is the whole of the space available for the ferry-boats? Yes; they are encroaching on our land now; they come in sideways, and we could prevent that.
120. If the alterations are made on the north and south sides as proposed, will there be a clear and straight course for the ferry-boats? Yes, perfectly clear.

121. Mr. Young.] What is the width of Clayton-street as it is now? 30 feet.
122. And of Mort-street? 50 feet. We propose to make the new street in lieu of Mort-street 50 feet.
123. If Clayton-street were formed and made like Mort-street, would the principal traffic still go up Mort-street? Yes.
124. And property there would be in no way depreciated? No, it would be improved.
125. Mr. Garrard.] What is the difference between the level of Mort-street at the junction of John-street and the level of Clayton-street at the junction of John-street? I think not more than 4 or 5 feet when we build it up; we intend to build it up so as to make the gradient easier.
126. Is it a fact that Mort-street is an easier gradient than Clayton-street will be? I do not think so, because it will be made with an inclination down to the same level, down to the wharf; we will build up the wharf to any level the Council require, to give it any inclination they like. There is not more than 4 or 5 feet difference now.
127. There is an increased height there at the junction of Clayton-street and John-street, as compared with Mort-street and John-street—a steeper incline? Not necessarily, because we can raise the wharf up 2 or 3 feet and make the inclination to ease it off.
128. Chairman.] It is your intention to construct the wharf so as to do away with that inclination? To construct it to the Council's satisfaction.
129. Mr. Hutchinson.] Is it necessary for carrying on the works to take in this small piece of ground—could you not take in land on the north side or in any other direction? No, it would not answer the same purpose.
130. Mr. Garrard.] Do you not think the landing of passengers at Clayton-street proposed wharf would be the means of diverting the passenger traffic up that street and ignoring Mort-street between New John-street and Cameron-street? No, I do not think so; people would not go up Cameron-street, which is only a narrow lane, in preference to a good street like Mort-street.
131. Are you aware whether the opponents of this Bill have had the opportunity of putting their views before either the Borough Council or this Committee? Yes; the matter has been before the Borough Council for five or six months.
132. Mr. Manning.] The intention to apply for the Bill was advertised during the last Session of Parliament? Yes.
133. And also for the usual time before application was made to the present Parliament? Yes.
134. Chairman.] Was not the Bill introduced into the House before the dissolution of the last Parliament? Yes.
135. And has it not been advertised for four consecutive weeks during this Session? Yes.

J. P. Franki,
Esq.
13 Mar., 1883.

Mr. Samuel Briggs called in and examined:—

136. Chairman.] You are an engineer? Yes.
137. What position do you occupy at the present time? Manager of the Balmain Steam Ferry.
138. Mr. Manning.] You know the alterations proposed in this Bill? Yes.
139. As far as your interest is concerned, do you think you will be benefited by these alterations? Yes, very much. I think the travelling public will save from seven to eight minutes in travelling from the dock to Erskine-street. There is at present a good deal of delay and inconvenience, generally in the morning, which is the most important time to passengers, when they are shifting the position of the mail-boats and other vessels in the neighbourhood of the dock, the buoys from which the lines are run out being between the line of traffic and the wharves.
140. The short extra distance the passengers would have to walk from the proposed new wharf would be no inconvenience, compared to the convenience of access to the wharf that would be afforded by the proposed alteration? None whatever, compared to the time they lose now at Snail's Bay wharf; we have to go out to ascertain point and back to Snail's Bay wharf, which causes a delay of seven or eight minutes.
141. There would be no difficulty in the way of carrying out these plans? No difficulty whatever.
142. Where do you live? Just above the Company's works.
143. Which wharf do you land at? Mort-street wharf.
144. If the Company were to utilize their land to the east of Mort-street, would you be able to use the present wharf; if they were to run out wharves from it, would it not considerably inconvenience you in your use of the ferry wharf? Yes, we could not do it—it would block us out. Now, if they have a collier discharging coal, we cannot put a boat on that side.
145. With the wharf as proposed by the Bill you would have ample room? Yes.
146. Do you think property in Mort-street above John-street would be in any way depreciated by the alteration? In my opinion it would be enhanced in value; a great deal of land now unsold would be taken up and houses built on it. The only difference it would make would be that people would have to walk 140 or 150 feet further in leaving the ferry wharf; I think the new street would be better for the public.
147. Chairman.] You have been a resident of Balmain for a good many years? Yes, seventeen years.
148. And you have pretty good opportunity of knowing the public feeling about this matter? Yes.
149. What is your opinion? There are a great number in favour of the alteration.
150. There is some opposition? Yes, a few of those interested round the locality, but not many.
151. Mr. Hutchinson.] The wharf to be erected there would have to be at a higher elevation than the old wharf, consequently the gradients would not be greater? Yes.

Mr. S. Briggs.
13 Mar., 1883.

Mr. William Woodman called in and examined:—

152. Chairman.] What are you? Master of one of the Balmain ferry-boats plying to Waterview Bay.
153. Mr. Manning.] Do you find great inconvenience with the wharves as at present situated there? Yes, between Snail's Bay and what we call Mort's Dock.
154. Have you considerable difficulty in getting into Snail's Bay wharf at times? Yes, great difficulty, and great difficulty in getting into the dock wharf too.

Mr.
W. Woodman.
13 Mar., 1883.
155.

- Mr. W. Woodman. 155. Do your passengers complain about the difficulty—being kept waiting. Very often.
 156. Do you know where it is proposed to put the new wharf? No.
 13 Mar., 1883. 157. If the new wharf were put near to where the sheer-legs are now (pointing out the spot on the plan) and the other wharf at Clayton-street, would that give you a clear course across? Yes, if the buoys were taken away.
 158. Would not your course then be outside the buoys? No; one buoy, the P. and O. buoy, would be outside. If the two outside buoys were taken up we would have a clear course.
 159. Chairman.] You are of opinion that something is required to alter the existing state of affairs? Yes.
 160. So far as you understand the proposed alterations, in your opinion they will be decided improvements? Yes. It is a great detriment not only to us but to the public as it is now.
 161. Mr. Garrard.] If the buoys between the present Snail's Bay wharf and Mort-street were taken away the difficulty would be removed? Yes.
 162. Mr. Fletcher.] Even supposing there were no buoys in your course to the present wharves, when a large vessel is lying at the sheer-legs you could not go straight in? No.
 163. If the sheer-legs were shifted further in towards the dock, and the wharf, as proposed by this Bill, put outside the sheer-legs, that would enable you to run straight in? Yes, provided they had no buoys in the road.

Mr. Henry Aitken called in and examined:—

- Mr. H. Aitken. 164. Chairman.] You are master of a ferry-boat running between Sydney and Balmain? Yes.
 13 Mar., 1883. 165. Mr. Manning.] Are you constantly put to inconvenience in using the wharves at Mort-street and Snail's Bay? Yes.
 166. Are there times when you cannot get into Snail's Bay wharf at all? Yes.
 167. Because of vessels passing at the time to and fro from the sheer-legs? Yes, from vessels lying at the sheer-legs and having lines out to the buoys.
 168. And vessels passing by? Not so much that; we can always get on one side or the other of them. It is the lines out to the buoys that are the greatest hindrance.
 169. Do you know Clayton-street? Yes.
 170. Suppose Clayton-street were continued to the water's edge, and made 50 feet wide, and a wharf put there instead of at Mort-street, and another wharf run out outside the sheer-legs, would these two wharves be more convenient to the public than the present ones? Yes, a great deal more.
 171. Would that give you a perfectly clear course across, and enable you to save time and keep time? Yes; if they had a wharf there, of course the buoys they have there now would be shifted for their own purposes.
 172. You would then have a clear course? Yes.
 173. Do you ever now have difficulty in getting to Mort-street wharf when vessels are being shifted? Yes, when they have their lines out to the buoys.
 174. If there is a vessel coaling now on the east side of the jetty you can only use one side of it? We cannot use either side—we can only go to the end when they have a line out to the buoy.
 175. At the new wharf as proposed you would be able to get in anyhow you liked? Yes, clear of everything.
 176. Chairman.] You think the proposed alterations would be a decided improvement? Yes.
 177. You have frequent opportunities of hearing the travelling public express their opinions? Yes.
 178. So far as you are able to form an opinion, are they in favour of the alteration? There are a great many in favour of it, but others are against it.
 179. Are the majority in favour of it? Yes.
 180. Mr. Hutchinson.] Who are principally against it—are they people living in the neighbourhood? I think some of them are, but many of them complain of the inconvenience of the present arrangements.
 181. Are there any against closing up Mort-street and opening Clayton-street? Yes.
 182. Are they principally persons having property there? Yes, I think so.
 183. Would any inconvenience arise to passengers living a little distance from Mort-street? No, I do not think so; they may have a few feet further to walk, but that does not matter.
 184. How much longer time would it take? About a minute perhaps.
 185. Mr. Young.] You say that if the proposed change were made, the Company would change the position of these buoys for their own purposes? Yes, that is what I hear people saying.
 186. Would not buoys be required then for the same purposes as now, to enable vessels to go on the slips—why should they change them? They would have to change them if they shifted the sheer-legs.
 187. Why should they change the position of the buoys because the positions of these wharves are changed? They would have to change the two outer buoys on account of changing the sheer-legs.
 188. These buoys are for use by vessels going on the slips, are they not? Yes, but they would all be shifted if this change is made.

WEDNESDAY, 14 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. BURNS,	MR. HUTCHINSON,
MR. FLETCHER,	MR. GARRARD,
MR. ROBERTS.

ANGUS CAMERON, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. C. J. Manning appeared as Counsel for the Bill.

Albert Elkington, Esq., sworn and examined:—

- A. Elkington, Esq. 189. Chairman.] What is your name? Albert Elkington.
 14 Mar., 1883. 190. Mr. Manning.] You are a resident of Balmain? Yes.
 191. And have been for a number of years? Yes.
 192. And you know the district and the people very well, and are a constant traveller by the ferries? Yes.

193. Are you aware of the alterations proposed by this Bill? I am.

194. And you are aware that it is proposed to close that little bit of Mort-street, below John-street, where the ferry lands now? Yes; opposite the "Forth and Clyde Hotel."

195. It is proposed to widen John-street and level it—make it 50 feet wide, and carry down the street in continuation of Clayton-street, and build a wharf. In your opinion would that be a desirable thing or not? Desirable, generally speaking.

A. Elkington,
Esq.
14 Mar., 1883.

FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. BURNS,	MR. HUTCHINSON,
MR. FLETCHER,	MR. ROBERTS,
MR. GARRARD,	MR. TEECE.

ANGUS CAMERON, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

C. J. Manning, Esq., Barrister-at-law, instructed by the Promoters of the Bill, was present; G. B. Simpson, Esq., Barrister-at-law, instructed by Mr. Curtiss, was present in the interests of the Objectors to the Bill.

Albert Elkington, Esq., called in and sworn, and further examined:—

196. Chairman.] You know the object for which this Committee has been appointed? Yes.

197. Mr. Manning.] You know the streets which it is proposed to close under the Mort's Bay Improvement Bill? Yes.

A. Elkington,
Esq.
16 Mar., 1883.

198. Do the general public suffer any inconvenience under the present arrangements of the streets leading to the wharf near Mort's works? Generally speaking there is some inconvenience.

199. Generally speaking you know the inconvenience attaching to the streets as now laid out? Yes.

200. In the interests of the public, is it very desirable to make some arrangements to facilitate traffic to and from the public wharf? Most decidedly; that is the great evil now.

201. If what is proposed by the Bill were carried into effect, do you think it would affect seriously any private interests in Mort-street? It would affect the hotel—with this proviso, that we have in Balmain the Local Option Act in force. They seem to think they would lose their business by the introduction of another public-house in the neighbourhood; but one could not be put there for three years.

202. The main traffic would go along John-street? Yes.

203. If, instead of the arrangements proposed by the Bill, a street were made to run diagonally, to continue Mort-street to the proposed wharf, and John-street were made 50 feet wide, do you think then there could be possibly any objection to it. That would be still a greater benefit, and the "Forth and Clyde" public-house would not suffer to the extent of a brass farthing. I suggested that the proposed new street should be made in a diagonal direction.

204. Mr. Simpson.] The street you propose would open into Mort-street only? Yes.

205. Mr. Manning.] If the street were made to take a diagonal direction it would be a greater advantage even than the street proposed by the Bill, and it would not injure anybody? In my opinion no one would suffer.

206. The only difference would be that people would have to walk 30 feet further, but the incline would be easier? Yes.

207. Both for passenger traffic and vehicular traffic the road you propose would be better than the present road? Yes; it would not only be an advantage to passenger and goods traffic, but it would also be an advantage to the dock, and to the public generally of Balmain; and I do not see how it could possibly be an injury to any one.

208. You are aware of the alterations proposed on either side? Yes.

209. You know how difficult it is now for a steamer to come up to Yeend-street wharf? Yes; I travel that way every morning and evening.

210. In fact a steamer cannot lie at the wharf without overlapping the Company's property on either side? Yes, the ground on both sides.

211. At any rate the Company's ground? To some extent; I am told it is the Company's ground.

212. If the alterations proposed by the Bill were effected, would it be an improvement so far as the general public is concerned? Not with the proposed steps.

213. You say the present arrangements are a great disadvantage? Yes.

214. Leaving the steps out of consideration, would the alteration proposed by the Bill be an improvement? It would.

215. And a still greater improvement if a little more land were given so as to bring Ballast Point Road round to the corner? Yes; there is a very steep quarry, and that must be cut down to an easy gradient; they must not have steps.

216. Can you see that any person could have any reasonable objection to the proposed alteration of the wharf? No; the alteration of the wharf from where it is now to where it is proposed to place it would be a greater convenience—from the foot of Yeend-street to the continuation of Ronald-street would be a great improvement.

217. But there would be a still greater improvement if a small quantity of land were given so that Ballast Point Road could be continued towards the wharf? It would be a greater incline.

218. Mr. Simpson.] You spoke of a public-house at the corner of Mort-street? Yes.

219. Are there houses on both sides of Mort-street? Yes.

220. How far up do they extend? Right up to Darling-street. There are open spaces; but for two or three hundred yards, I should imagine, it is closely neighboured. Beyond 200 yards up from Darling-street it is built on; it is then mostly vacant ground until you come to the "Warwick Castle Hotel."

- A. Elkington, Esq. 221. What kind of buildings—private residences or shops? There are shops on a small scale.
 222. Mostly shops? I think not; about half and half I should say. There are two public-houses and some shops, and ordinary dwelling-houses.
- 16 Mar., 1883. 223. But more shops than dwelling-houses? I would not like to say; I never counted them.
 224. People having shops would be seriously interfered with by the proposed alterations? They would no doubt have cause for complaint.
 225. Very serious cause for complaint? I do not think so.
 226. The traffic at all events would be diverted from past their shops to other places? No; no one would go up Clayton-street; the inclination would be to go along Mort-street; but times are very bad, and possibly they would make the proposed alterations a score of complaint.
 227. At all events they would have cause of complaint? Yes.
 228. Are you in any way connected with Mort's Dock and Engineering Company? I do not own a single share in the Company, and have nothing to do with them, except perhaps selling them articles in the way of business.
 229. As to the proposed continuation of Clayton-street; is there not a steep ascent there? It is better now than it was.
 230. Is there not a very steep ascent now? Not too much—a cart can go up it.
 231. What would be about the incline? About the same incline as there is in Hunter-street, going from Pitt-street towards Castlereagh-street.
 232. Not more? I think not; that is from New John-street—it is a steep street.
 233. The whole distance is on an incline? No, part of it is level.
 234. How far does the incline extend? I should think about 150 feet.
 235. A cart could go up it, you say? Yes.
 236. With great difficulty? No, easily—more easily than up portions of Darling-street. The general tendency of traffic would be up Mort-street.
 237. For what reason? Chiefly from old associations.
 238. Do you know there has been a very large public meeting at Balmain to protest against the Mort's Bay Improvement Bill? No; I was not there; I read something about it in the Evening News.
 239. At all events it has come to your knowledge that a public meeting of the inhabitants of Balmain has been held to protest against the Bill? Yes.
 240. Taking the Bill as it stands, what do you think of it? I have not read it.
 241. But you say the proposed alterations, the continuation of Ronald-street for instance, will be a public convenience provided certain things are done? Yes, it will be a great benefit.
 242. Those things are? The removal of the sheer-legs wharf, and the removal of the public wharf to the eastern side of Ronald-street.
 243. That land is to be given up by the Dock Company and formed into a street? Yes, formed and made on a gentle incline.
 244. And in addition you think there should not be any steps at the foot of Ronald-street? No.
 245. Although you have not read the Bill, you see by the plan on the table what the proposed alterations are? Yes.
 246. And in your opinion the proposed alterations are not advisable? I do not say that; they are advisable even as the Bill stands now.
 247. Mr. Manning.] But it would be a still greater improvement if what you suggest were carried out? Yes.
 248. Mr. Simpson.] In your opinion there ought not to be any steps at the foot of Ronald-street? No.

Mr. Edward Harmon Buchanan called in, sworn, and examined:—

- Mr. E. H. Buchanan. 249. Chairman.] You are, I believe, one of the Aldermen for the Borough of Balmain? Yes.
 250. How long have you held that position? I was elected in February.
 251. You are one of the persons who attended the public meeting held at Balmain in opposition to the Bill now before Parliament, which Bill proposes to close certain streets near Mort's dock? Yes.
 252. And you addressed the meeting and seconded one of the resolutions? Yes.
 253. Have you seen a report of your speech published in any of the daily papers? I saw a report in the Evening News, and a short report in the Herald.
 254. You are reported to have said—"Mr. Cameron, the Chairman of Committees, had charge of the Bill, and was to pilot it through. He was connected with the iron trades, and it was impossible for him to deal impartially in the matter. He (Mr. Cameron) had been solicited by the Dock Company to take charge of the Bill. They had Mr. Young present, who had come to hear the voice of the people on the matter, and he hoped he would deal with the matter on its merits. There was more in these matters than appeared on the surface. The gentleman who was piloting the Bill through had said he would take good care the gentlemen selected for the Committee were on it." Did you make that statement? If you will allow me I will—
 255. I would like you to answer my question direct? I did not. My statements are reported in such a way as to be liable to mislead. If you will allow me I can easily explain. I said that Mr. Cameron had charge of the Bill, and I was led to believe you had charge of the Bill in preference to one of the Members representing Balmain—Mr. Garrard or Mr. Hutchinson. As to the remark about the iron trades: there were a great many dock people at the meeting, and I said that Mr. Cameron had received during his parliamentary career, great support from the iron trades, and having received such support you would naturally be on their side—that is, the side of those who had supported you in your elections.
 256. To come to the sentence in your reported speech—"The gentleman who was piloting the Bill through had said he would take damned good care the gentlemen selected for the Committee were on it"? I did not say "damned"; I said "d."
 257. With a dash? Yes.
 258. And you intended to convey the impression that I had used such an expression? I had it—
 259. But your intention was to convey the impression that I had used the expression I have named? Yes.
 260. Who was your authority for it? Am I forced to give up my authority?—I had authority for saying it, but I should not like to give up the gentleman's name without his permission.

Mr. E. H.
Buchanan.

16 Mar., 1883.

261. As a matter of fact had you not some conversation on this matter with Mr. Pigott, one of the Members for Canterbury? Yes.
262. And you are perfectly prepared to say that this statement made by you, by which you sought to convey the impression that I had used the word "damned," is true? I did not say "damned."
263. Well "d"—you say you used that with the intention of showing that I used the word? Yes.
264. You had that from Mr. Pigott? I cannot say that. I think I might be allowed to explain. When I was addressing the meeting I called attention to the fact that the public voice had not been obtained in regard to the proposed alterations of streets, and showed there was an amount of activity on the other side to rush the thing through—that the Chairman of Committees had shown a spirit of antagonism against any voice of the people being obtained, by opposing the selection of a Committee by ballot. We wanted the Committee to be appointed by ballot.
265. You wished the Committee to whom this Bill was to be referred to be selected by ballot? Yes.
266. To whom did you convey such wish—did you at any time signify to me, as the Member in charge of the Bill, any wish to have the Committee selected by ballot? I had no idea the Committee was to be appointed.
267. Are you not aware that all private Bills brought before Parliament are sent to a Select Committee? Yes.
268. Did you, or did any other of the gentlemen who are objecting to the Bill, convey to me a wish that the Committee should be balloted for? No, I never did.
269. Mr. Simpson.] Where do you live? In Ballast Point Road, Balmain.
270. You heard the Chairman just now inform the Committee that your evidence could not be depended upon because of certain charges made against him? Yes.
271. Rightly or wrongly you made statements at the meeting, the truth of which you believed in at the time you made them? Yes.
272. From information you had received, which you looked upon as reliable? Yes.
273. You did not mean to say the statements were true? As I said before, I simply told the meeting I considered we had not had a fair show—the public voice had not been heard on the question.
274. You did not wish to convey an imputation against Mr. Cameron as Chairman of the Committee, or suggest that he was acting unfairly or likely to act unfairly? I simply said that, in his parliamentary career, he had received great support from the iron trades, and that he would naturally lean towards them; but as a Member of Parliament I believe he will deal with the matter on its merits.
275. Mr. Burns.] In what way had the public voice not been consulted by the Bill? As late as August of last year, when the question was mooted in Balmain, persons pecuniarily interested in the streets it is proposed to close waited upon the Mayor of the borough, and asked him to call a public meeting. A meeting was not called, and no explanation as to why it was not called was ever given.
276. Did you not observe that it was the intention to introduce this Bill last Session? I noticed it in common with others. But Parliament was dissolved, and we waited until the re-assembling of another, and until notice of the introduction of the Bill appeared on the Paper.
277. Were you not aware that it was quite competent for you, or any other objector to the Bill, to approach the Assembly by petition against the Bill? Yes; but we got up a petition to the Mayor to convene a public meeting. It was ten days, however, before a meeting was called.
278. But were you prevented from giving expression to your opinion on the matter? No; only there was a little delay over it.
279. Whose fault was that? I cannot say.
280. The fault of any delay in taking action against the Bill must lie with the objectors? I and several others thought the first step to take was to call a public meeting to obtain the voice of the public. I did not wish to rush in if I was the only opponent of the Bill. As soon as we had an opportunity we called a public meeting.
281. You have no case against the petitioners for the Bill because of the delay in calling a public meeting against the Bill? No.
282. It was not for those in favour of the Bill to call a public meeting against it? No.
283. Whose fault was it that action was not taken sooner to obtain the public voice on the Bill? I cannot say.
284. Chairman.] Have you any idea how long it is since notice of application was advertised in the Government Gazette and in the Sydney newspapers, during the present Session of Parliament? I am not in the habit of getting the Government Gazette, but I saw a notice of application in the Herald. From my recollection I think it is about a month ago.
285. Are you sure it is not six weeks ago? It may be; I cannot say from memory. But we took action immediately after the notice was published.
286. Notice was advertised in the Government Gazette and the Sydney Morning Herald on the 2nd of February—when did you hold your meeting? It was held last Monday night.
287. What was the day of the month? The 12th March. But we had requested the Mayor to call a meeting about ten days before it was held.
288. You said something about not having received fair play in reference to this Bill, through my having connection with and receiving support from the iron trades? No, I said—
289. Did I not understand you to say that, when you explained the sentence in your speech at the meeting, as reported in the Press, you are reported to have said that I was connected with the iron trades? That is a mistake.
290. You went on to say that in times gone by I had received a certain amount of support from the iron trades? Yes.
291. Do you wish to say that the iron trades generally are in favour of the Bill? No; but I thought the Dock Company had gone to you, knowing that you had received support at your elections from the iron trades, and would be likely to help them in every way you could; and the voice of the public not having been obtained, I was afraid the thing would be put through.
292. What I wish you to explain is, what connection there is between my receiving the support from the iron trades, which you say I received, and this Bill which provides for the closing of certain streets in Balmain? I cannot explain; but I cannot understand why one of the Parliamentary representatives of Balmain was not entrusted with the charge of this Bill.

- Mr. E. H. Buchanan.
16 Mar., 1883.
293. Is it not a fact that both the Members for Balmain, Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. Garrard, have declared in favour of the alterations of the streets as proposed by this Bill? I believe they have.
294. Mr. Hutchinson.] You say that a deputation waited upon the Mayor of Balmain, to request him to convene a public meeting, and that he refused to do so? I did not say he refused to call a meeting; but the meeting was never called. I know from one of the present Aldermen that several of them waited upon you in reference to the meeting.
295. Are you aware of the reply given to that deputation? I am aware that you said you would call a meeting in a fortnight.
296. Are you aware that a meeting was held in August last year, at Balmain, in reference to the subject? Not a meeting convened by the Mayor.
297. A meeting convened by any other person—are you aware that one was held? Yes.
298. You are aware that towards the end of last year a public meeting, convened by advertisement, was held at Balmain to protest against this Bill? Yes, that was prior to the deputation waiting upon you. The outcome of that meeting was that a deputation waited upon you.
299. Is it not incorrect for you to say that no meeting was held until this last meeting was called? A meeting was held, the outcome of which was that a deputation waited upon you to ask you to convene a meeting.
300. Still a public meeting was held in August last year? Yes.
301. Mr. Garrard.] What do you understand by a public meeting? I do not consider the meeting which Mr. Hutchinson referred to a public meeting. I think a public meeting should have been convened by the Mayor.
302. As a matter of fact, the meeting that was held in August was called by persons interested personally in the matter, and was called to see what steps could be taken to oppose the Bill? Yes.
303. And the outcome of that meeting was that a deputation waited upon the Mayor to ask him to call a public meeting of the citizens of Balmain? Yes.
304. Mr. Fletcher.] At the public meeting held a few days ago, is it not a fact that you endeavoured to convey an impression that Mr. Cameron's connection with the iron trades made it impossible for him to deal impartially with this Bill? I do not say it is impossible for him to deal impartially with the Bill, but that he would, independently of his being a public man, be likely to be in favour of closing these streets.
305. Then you mean to convey this impression,—that he undertook charge of this Bill from a foregone conclusion? No.
306. You say that, apart altogether from his being a Member of Parliament, or from his connection with the iron trades, he would be in favour of closing these streets? I said that I believed that as a public man he would be in favour of closing the streets—he would be favourably inclined towards the Dock Company.
307. You say you believe the Chairman of Committees would be in favour of the proposed closing of streets, in the interests of Mort's Dock Company? Yes.
308. And in consequence of that sympathy you think he was selected to take charge of the Bill? No, I said I could not understand why he had been selected to take charge of the Bill, but I did not say he had been selected simply because he had been supported by the iron trades.
309. But by inference you wanted the meeting to understand that the reason one of the two Members for Balmain had not been selected to take charge of the Bill was, that Mr. Cameron would be more likely to deal partially with the matter? No.
310. Mr. Simpson.] Where do you live? In Ballast Point Road.
311. You know Balmain very well? Yes.
312. How long have you lived there? About seven or eight years.
313. Have you any property on Ballast Point Road? I have.
314. And you are in the habit of daily frequenting that road? Yes.
315. You are aware of the suggested deviations proposed by the Bill? Yes; I have a copy of the Bill.
316. And you have read the preamble? Yes.
317. You know the wharfs referred to in the preamble, the wharfs at the bottom of Mort and Yeend Streets? Yes.
318. Is it a fact, as is alleged in the preamble of the Bill, that those wharfs are not conveniently situated for the use of passengers by steamers? I think not.
319. Is it a fact that those wharfs are not conveniently situated for the use of the steamers and passengers, and other boats? The wharfs are situated conveniently enough for passengers by the steamers.
320. They are? Very conveniently.
321. Is the passage of the said steamers and boats often impeded by the large and constantly increasing number of steamers and other vessels resorting to the premises of the Company? The impediments are not caused by the constant large and increasing number of steamers and other vessels, but by the warps that are thrown out to the vessels.
322. It would be better if you were to answer my question; you can explain afterwards? No, they are not impeded.
323. Now go on with your explanation? There are some impediments which are caused by warps thrown out to vessels, and from the sheer-legs out to buoys in the centre of the bay.
324. Could they not be removed? I believe the buoys could be shifted and the impediments done away with to a great extent.
325. Whose buoys are they? I cannot say; I do not know whether they belong to Mort's Dock Company or are under the charge of the Marine Board.
326. Are they used by Mort's Dock Company? Yes.
327. In your opinion, there is no necessity whatever for the introduction of this Bill in order to remove any impediments which may exist to the convenience of passengers by the steamers? No, there is not.
328. You know the roads and streets which it is proposed by this Bill to close? Yes.
329. And you know the streets and roads which the Bill proposes to substitute? I am not quite clear as regards Mort's Dock Company's—
330. Is it a fact that the closing of the roads and streets proposed by this Bill would not occasion any public loss or inconvenience, if other roads and streets leading to the shores of the bay, in the immediate neighbourhood of the said existing streets or roads were substituted? It would be both an inconvenience and a loss.

Mr. E. H.
Buchanan.

16 Mar., 1883.

331. The closing of the roads and streets as proposed by the Bill would be both a public inconvenience and a loss, even though the streets which the Bill proposes to substitute were so substituted? Yes.

332. Will you please explain to the Committee what you mean by that? As regards Mort-street, there we have a good wide street, of an easy gradient—the only straight street leading to the waters of the bay on the northern side of Darling Road, which is the main thoroughfare in Balmain leading to and from the other suburbs. It is the only easy gradient we have for taking traffic from the water's edge. There would be an inconvenience in making a blind street of that, and the traffic having to come up John-street, which has a steep rise from Mort-street to Clayton-street. Clayton-street is a narrow street of 33 feet width. I believe it is proposed to widen it by 50 feet to the water. That is as much as I know of the inconvenience of the proposed arrangement. It will put the traffic into a right-angled street, which will have a rise of about 10 feet, and will be much narrower than the present Mort-street. The incline will be much greater and the distance will be increased. I believe it will be a great public loss to the whole of the people of Balmain if the only wide street we have on that side of the bay is taken away.

333. Now with regard to the owners of property abutting on Mort-street, the private interests, how will this Bill affect them? Well, the blocking of Mort-street, in my opinion, would mean throwing away the greater portion of those businesses. People built the places and established businesses there knowing that that was the only outlet to and from the water, and in the belief that it would always be retained as a main street.

334. Then you believe that the closing of Mort-street, as proposed, will not only be a loss to the owners of property in that street, but a very great injustice? Yes.

335. That it would seriously interfere with the vested rights and interests in those streets? Yes.

336. Will you describe to the Committee the nature of the buildings in Mort-street—does the majority consist of shops or private houses? I think they are pretty evenly balanced. There are two or three large hotels; and there is one of the largest butchering establishments in Balmain situated in Mort-street. There are two butchers' establishments in the street?

337. Any other businesses? There is a grocery establishment, a groengrocery, and a plumber's shop. Then at the end of Mort-street there is another hotel—the "Warwick Castle"—that is at the intersection of Mort-street with Darling-street.

338. You do not profess to have mentioned all the shops and business premises there? I am not particularly well acquainted with the exact number of shops.

339. Are there not several small shops? Yes, there are several small shops—ginger-beer and lolly-shops.

340. And you believe that all the shops you have mentioned might just as well close altogether if the street is closed? Not all of them. I have mentioned the "Warwick Castle Hotel," for instance.

341. But down near the water? As far as Cameron-street—up to that street I believe that nine-tenths of the business places would simply be business places in name if Mort-street is closed.

342. Their businesses would be ruined? Yes.

343. Do you believe the value of property, apart from the injury to business people, would be materially depreciated if the proposed alterations are carried out? Greatly.

344. I suppose there are owners of property in Mort-street living elsewhere—would their interests be interfered with? Greatly.

345. There is an allegation towards the end of the preamble to the Bill which reads: "And whereas it is greatly for the benefit of the public and especially of those owning land in the neighbourhood of the said existing streets or roads that every facility should be given for the extension of the works of the said Company"—Can you say whether it would be for the benefit of the public to carry out the proposed alterations? No, it would not.

346. Would it not in any way be for the benefit of the public, especially of those owning land in the neighbourhood of the said existing streets or roads, that every facility should be given for the extension of the works of the said Company? No, it would be detrimental to them.

347. So far from its being any benefit to them it would damage them? Yes.

348. Mr. Fletcher.] That is, the extension of the Company's works would damage them? Giving them every facility to extend them would.

349. Mr. Simpson.] Giving the Company every facility for extending their works would not only not be a benefit to the public, but would damage them? Yes.

350. There are Schedules to the Bill, marked A, B, and C, and so on. Looking at the parcels of land described in Schedules A, B, and C—if those parcels of land were turned into streets or roads, would those streets or roads, in your opinion, prove more convenient than the existing roads and streets? No.

351. Have you any hesitation in saying "no" to that question? Not the slightest.

352. Can you say whether the passing of this Bill would be of any inconvenience to any one except the proprietors and those interested in Mort's Dock and Engineering Company? It would only be an inconvenience to everybody else.

353. Nor would the passing of this Bill be of any convenience or advantage to any of the residents of Balmain, or to any one except the proprietors or other persons interested in Mort's Dock and Engineering Company? Only to those interested in that Company.

354. That is your opinion? That is my opinion.

355. Would the passing of this Bill increase the value of the Company's property? To a great extent.

356. And that would be done at the expense of the public convenience? Yes.

357. With regard to the public meeting that has been referred to, when was it held? Last Monday evening.

358. Where was it held? At the Council Chambers, Balmain.

359. That was a public meeting held for the purpose of protesting against the passing of this Bill? Yes.

360. How many persons were there? A couple of hundred at least.

361. At that meeting was there any strong manifestation of public feeling in opposition to this Bill? There was; the meeting was almost unanimous in condemnation of the Bill.

362. Was it not suggested at the meeting, by one of the Members for Balmain, that the services of some lawyers should be enlisted, in order that the wishes of those persons opposed to the Bill might be brought before this Committee? Yes.

Mr. E. H.
Buchanan.
16 Mar., 1888.

363. So great was the feeling manifested against the Bill? Yes.
364. Please refer to the Schedule describing the land near Ronald-street—would the suggested alterations be of any advantage so far as that particular part of Balmain is concerned? It would not be of any advantage.
365. How would the general convenience of the public in that portion of Balmain be affected by the suggested alterations? It would be affected in this way—the distance is longer and the gradients much steeper. We have easier access to the water at the present time. The present road was given to the public some ten years ago in lieu of Union-street, which was then closed up. The new road, instead of being level, has a fall of about 60 feet in about 4 chains.
366. Mr. Garrard.] I understand you to say there is 60 feet difference in the level between Ballast Point Road and the Sheer-legs Wharf? I believe there is.
367. Mr. Simpson.] Do you happen to know whether Mort's Dock Company have closed more than one street in that neighbourhood? They closed Union-street.
368. When was that? Some ten or twelve years ago.
369. Did they not, in satisfaction of the street they then closed, form this particular street which they now propose to close? They gave the street, but I do not know whether they formed it.
370. Mr. Manning.] One question about the meeting. You say about two hundred people were present: is it true that when resolutions were submitted amendments were not allowed to be moved? There was no amendment allowed.
371. Is it not a fact that the Borough Council of Balmain has approved of the alterations proposed by this Bill? The present Borough Council or the last?
372. The present Council was only elected in February—Do not fence the question like that? The question has never been brought before the present Council.
373. Were the proposed alterations approved of by the late Council? The late Council approved of them.
374. How many members of the present Council were members of the late Council? Three.
375. Out of how many? The Council consists of twelve members.
376. You are one of the three new members? Yes.
377. Do you mean to assert that the works of the Dock Company are not an advantage to Balmain? I do not say they are not an advantage.
378. Are they or are they not an advantage? Yes, they are an advantage to certain people.
379. Have the works not created business there? To some extent.
380. Not to a great extent? I deny they have been the backbone of Balmain.
381. Was not the establishment of the Patent Slip an advantage to Balmain? To Mort's Dock Company.
382. Is it not a part of the engineering works? It is a part of them.
383. And is it not an advantage to the place? Not to those who have property around it.
384. The slip being there has not increased the value of property at all? No.
385. Union-street was closed to enable the Company to construct the Patent Slip? I do not know.
386. Do you know where Union-street was? Yes.
387. Could the Patent Slip have been put where it is if Union-street had not been closed? It could have been put elsewhere; perhaps it is in the best position for Mort's Dock.
388. Will you tell us as a matter of fact whether there is not great inconvenience caused to the travelling public in getting into and out of Yeend-street wharf? By what?
389. In getting into and out of Yeend-street wharf? Inconvenience is sometimes caused by the warps.
390. You say that inconvenience is occasioned by the warps? Yes, and also by the sheer-legs on the wharf, and by having boilers taken out of vessels and placed on punts which are towed by manual labour to the boiler shops.
391. Suppose a ship is lying at the sheer-legs and another at the wharf, is there any inconvenience in getting into Yeend-street wharf? No difficulty whatever.
392. In moving ships about, taking them to the sheer-legs, is it necessary to use warps for such a purpose? It is necessary to use some fastening.
393. If you did not use warps you would have to use drop anchors? I am not prepared to say what would have to be done.
394. They would have to use warps of some kind? Fastenings of some kind.
395. The larger the number of ships coming there, the larger is the number of warps used? Yes, they are more frequently used. They cannot at present bring more than one ship to the wharf.
396. When there is a larger trade there are more ships? Of course.
397. Then the passage is blocked more frequently than when fewer ships are there? Yes.
398. Then when you say that it is not often that inconvenience is caused by the passage of ships, you do not mean to say inconvenience is not often caused, but that it is caused simply by the use of the warps? It is caused by the use of the warps?—I have not been inconvenienced once this last three months.
399. Do you mean to say that the steamer has been able to get in and out during the past three months without any difficulty? Yes; I have travelled that way every day.
400. Chairman.] Do you swear that? Yes.
401. Do you remember the "Ocean" lying there? Yes.
402. Was there any inconvenience then? During certain portions of the day there was.
403. But not when you passed? No.
404. Whereabouts in Ballast Point Road do you live? I face Ballast Point Road, about a stone's throw from its intersection with Yeend-street.
405. If the proposed wharf were constructed you would not be interfered with in any way? I cannot say—I doubt it.
406. If, instead of the street proposed in the Schedule, a street was made in a diagonal direction across the dock property, would that destroy trade in the way you have mentioned? It stands to reason it would not; the street is not a blind street, and the interests of business people would not be deteriorated so much.
407. Would their businesses be deteriorated at all? No.

408. Now as a matter of fact, Clayton-street being left in its present state, and John-street being widened 50 feet, would not the traffic go that way? No.
409. People would walk to Clayton-street? Yes.
410. And would come into Mort-street further up? Yes.
411. Therefore Clayton-street would benefit at the expense of Mort-street? Yes.
412. Mr. Hutchinson.] You have referred to the buoys and the obstruction caused to passenger steamers by the warps: could Mort's Dock Company carry on business without those buoys? I have very good reason to believe they could.
413. Chairman.] You have not had any dispute with the Company? I am friendly with the Manager and I believe with every one else connected with the works.
414. If you are reported to have said it would have been a better day for Balmain if the dock had never been there, you were not correctly reported? I put it in this way—
415. The report is not correct? It is not correct.
416. Mr. Fletcher.] Have you any idea of the amount of wages paid by Mort's Dock and Engineering Company weekly? It varies: sometimes they are slack, sometimes they are full.
417. Taking the average, about how much do you think is paid there weekly? On the average I should say about £1,500 a week.
418. Could you tell the Committee whether a great portion of the men working at Mort's Dock and Engineering Company's works reside at Balmain—do you think many of the workmen reside there? I think when the dock is full, that is when they consider themselves in full employ, about one-third of the men live at Balmain.
419. Not more than one-third? I cannot swear it; that is my opinion.
420. Mr. Hutchinson.] In reference to Mort-street, you have mentioned that there are two or three public-houses, two or three shops, and some small shops and cottages—will those small cottages realize more than 10s. per week rent? I know five or six houses, not small cottages, bringing over £1 per week.
421. Mr. Fletcher.] If any one were to say that fully two-thirds of the men employed at Mort's Dock Company's Works reside at Balmain, would they be telling the truth? I am not prepared to say how many live at Balmain. I reckon at the very most there are about 250 men employed at the dock actually living in Balmain.
422. And if any one were to say that fully two-thirds of the men live at Balmain they would not be telling the truth? I cannot say.
423. Mr. Simpson.] You have been asked by the Chairman whether you did not say at the meeting that it would have been better if the dock had never been at Balmain? Yes.
424. Did you say that? I said it had been asserted that the Dock Works were the backbone of Balmain, and that without them the place would starve; and I could not see why such an argument could be used; because, so far as my property and other property is concerned, it would be better if the works were not there.
425. Did you not say it would have been a better day for Balmain if the dock had never been there? No.
426. When you told the Chairman that the report of your speech was untrue, it was that part of the report which I have just referred to? Yes; it was that part of the report which attributes to me the statement that it would have been a better day for Balmain if the dock had never been there.
427. Mr. Garrard.] You say that the proposed diagonal road would be less objectionable than the road proposed by the Bill: suppose Ballast-street were taken westerly of what is proposed by the Bill, and the gradient made easy to the wharf, would there be any objection to that? The inconvenience would be lessened.
428. Is it not a fact, from your knowledge as a resident of Ballast Point Road, and a traveller by the Snail's Bay Ferry, that frequent interruptions to traffic occur, so that steamers often have to pass by altogether from Mort-street to Darling-street? Very frequently?
429. Very frequently? No.
430. When a vessel is lying at the sheer-legs wharf and another at the coal wharf, is it not almost impossible for a ferry-steamer to get up to Yeend-street? Not when a ship is lying at the wharf.
431. You think if the wharf were removed from near the sheer-legs to the foot of Ronald-street it would be a benefit? I believe that would be a benefit.
432. You are of opinion that if Ballast Point Road were tapped more to the westward it would be better than the plan proposed by the Bill? Yes.

Mr. E. H.
Buchanan.
16 Mar., 1883.

James Macdonald, Esq., called in, sworn, and further examined:—

433. Mr. Manning.] You have prepared a plan for continuing Mort-street in a diagonal direction across the Company's land instead of the way proposed by the Bill? Yes.
434. Does the description marked Schedule A-B describe the portion of land which, in accordance with your plan, would be given by Mort's Dock and Engineering Company? Yes.
435. The description D properly describes Mort-street if it were closed? Yes.
436. In fact it would be considerably less than Schedule D in the Bill? Yes.
437. Would the gradient of the diagonal road you propose be easier than that of the street proposed by the Bill? Very much easier. The street proposed by the Bill would have nearly a hundred feet rise. The diagonal street would be a far better street, because a portion of Mort-street is level.
438. It would be a much easier gradient? Much easier.

J.
Macdonald,
Esq.
16 Mar., 1883.

THURSDAY, 29 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. GARRARD,

MR. TEECE.

MR. HUTCHINSON,

ANGUS CAMERON, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

F. W. Creagh, Esq., appeared as Solicitor, and C. J. Manning, Esq., as Counsel, for the Promoters of the Bill.

F. Curtiss, Esq., appeared as Solicitor, and G. B. Simpson, Esq., as Counsel, for the Petitioners against the Bill.

Edward H. Buchanan, Esq., called in and further examined:—

E. H.
Buchanan,
Esq.
29 Mar., 1883.

439. Mr. Simpson.] If it has been stated in evidence before this Committee that the feeling of opposition to this Bill is confined to a few, is that statement correct—or is the feeling of opposition general amongst the inhabitants of Balmain? I believe there is a very general feeling amongst the inhabitants of Balmain against the Bill; it is certainly not confined to a few.

440. If it has also been stated by one gentleman before the Committee that he understands the opposition principally comes from a local publican or two, is that a fact? I should say most decidedly no.

441. If it has been stated by Mr. Broomfield in evidence before this Committee that a lot of Vernon boys had signed the petition in opposition to the Bill, can you say whether that is correct or not? No, it is not a fact.

442. If it has been stated by the same gentleman before the Committee that he knows everybody at Snail's Bay, without exception, would he be in favour of moving the Snail's Bay wharf as proposed, would you say that was correct? It is not so.

443. Can you positively say that statement is incorrect? I can.

444. If it has been stated before the Committee that the people in Balmain generally are in favour of the proposed changes, except a few, would that statement be correct? It is not so.

445. If this statement has been made before the Committee by a witness—"a few of those interested round the locality are in opposition to the Bill, but not many"—is that statement correct? It is not correct.

446. What do you say is the fact? That a great many are opposed to the change, not only immediately round the locality, but within a very wide margin away from the locality.

447. Chairman.] With reference to your answers to Mr. Simpson, referring to the nature of the signatures to the petition, in how many places was this petition placed for signature? I had one myself.

448. Where? Carrying it with me, obtaining signatures as I could; and there were three others—one at Mort-street wharf and two at Erskine-street wharf. One of the committee appointed at a public meeting undertook to have a table and a petition for signature at Darling-street wharf, but from some cause or other he omitted to do so.

449. You have told the Committee that if it has been stated that the petition against the Bill was signed by Vernon boys, that statement is not true? As far as my knowledge goes it is not true.

450. Is it true that one of these petitions was left in charge of a boy? The three of them were in charge of boys.

451. Is it true that these boys ran about soliciting people, all comers, whether from Sydney or elsewhere, to sign this petition, without knowing whether they were Balmain residents or not? It is not true.

452. If a Member of this Committee has stated that he was solicited to sign the petition, he not being a Balmain resident, would that statement be false? I cannot say whether he was solicited or not. All I ever heard the boys say was—"Please sign the petition against closing the streets," and there was a placard in very large letters on each table asking Balmain residents to sign petitions against closing their streets.

453. If these Vernon boys signed the petition, it would be at Mort-street, would it not? No, they use Snail's Bay wharf as a rule; they come to Snail's Bay, and then to Erskine-street.

454. As a matter of fact, you did not see who signed the Mort-street petition yourself? I saw some persons sign it.

455. I thought you were in charge of the one at Erskine-street? I was not in charge of any of them, except the one I carried with me.

456. You have stated that the feeling of the people at Balmain is pretty general against this Bill? I think it is.

457. As a matter of fact, was not this question mooted in the Municipal Council last year? It was.

458. Is it not true that the Aldermen, by a majority of three to one, voted in favour of the propositions contained in the Bill at that time? Yes.

459. A general election took place some time after? Yes.

460. The question was alluded to then, was it not? Yes.

461. In fact it was made a sort of test question? Never, so far as I know or heard of; I heard the question mentioned in a sort of off-hand manner once or twice, but it was never brought forward for discussion during the parliamentary elections.

462. As a matter of fact, did not the two gentlemen who were returned, Messrs. Hutchinson and Garrard, declare themselves in favour of the proposal? Yes, I believe they did.

463. Has the subject been brought before the Borough Council since? No.

464. Not in any shape? No.

465. Has the Council, so far as you are aware, received any petitions in reference to this matter? Not the present Council.

466. The present Council has come into existence since this Bill was laid before Parliament? Yes, since February, I believe.

467. Since that time the civic representatives have received no petition one way or the other? No.

468. Mr. Simpson.] It has been stated here that the Municipal Council of Balmain is in favour of this Bill? The last Council was.

E. H.
Buchanan,
Esq.
29 Mar., 1883.

469. Do you know how many members that Council was composed of? Twelve.
470. Do you know whether the Council was unanimously in favour of the Bill? It was not.
471. Chairman.] Can you tell the Committee what was the majority in favour of it? The votes were nine for and three against the Bill.
472. Mr. Simpson.] Can you tell the names of the nine gentlemen who voted in favour of the Bill? Mr. Hutchinson, Mr. Garrard, Captain Punch, Mr. Franki, Mr. Looke, Mr. Macdonald, Mr. Cameron, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Elkington.
473. The Mr. Cameron you refer to was not the Chairman of this Committee? No.
474. Mr. Franki is Manager of Mort's Dock Company? Yes.
475. Mr. Elkington is a gentleman who gave evidence here in support of the Bill? Yes.
476. Do you know whether any others of the Aldermen in favour of this Bill are interested in Mort's Dock Company? I believe, though I cannot positively swear, that Mr. Elkington has or had at that time some interest in it; whether he is connected with the dock now or not I do not know, but he had been connected with it. Mr. Macdonald has been connected with Mr. Mort's estate as surveyor.
477. Is he the same gentleman who gave evidence before this Committee in support of the Bill? Yes.
478. Chairman.] Has Mr. F. R. Robinson got any property adjoining Mort's Dock estate? I believe not.
479. Has Mr. Lenn? He has.
480. Has Mr. Angus Mackay any? No.
481. Mr. Schultz? Mr. Schultz has some in Mort-street, near to Curtis Road.
482. Very high up? Yes, not adjoining the dock.
483. Mr. Read and Mr. Vandenberg? Mr. Read has none, but Mr. Vandenberg has.
484. And you have? I have some at Ballast Point Road.
485. Mr. Simpson.] Did you ever hear of any petition being presented to Parliament in favour of this Bill? Never.
486. Chairman.] You are not aware that the Bill was introduced on a petition in favour of it? No.
487. Mr. Manning.] Do you know whether the whole plan of what was intended to be done was explained to people when they were asked to sign the petition against the Bill? As far as we could possibly do it it was, by placing a large placard in very large lettering asking residents of Balmain to sign the petition against closing up their streets.
488. Chairman.] They were asked to roll up and defend their rights? Yes, something of that kind.
489. Mr. Manning.] You did not tell them what was proposed to be done? We had no time nor money either.
490. Mr. Simpson.] Within the last fortnight how many public meetings have been held with the object of protesting against this Bill? Two.
491. Mr. Manning.] One being connected with the other? No.
492. Mr. Garrard.] Is it not a fact that only one public meeting was held to protest, and that the other meetings were committee meetings? No, they were not committee meetings—they were open to any one. The Mayor convened the first meeting, and the next meeting was a public meeting, inasmuch as anybody could come to it and do what they pleased. Mr. F. R. Robinson was deputed to lay before us a plan showing some modification, but the modification was not agreed to; in fact Captain Broomfield said the next morning that the modified plan was impracticable and too expensive. Another meeting was held last Thursday, to take into consideration another plan which Captain Broomfield promised to supply but did not.
493. Mr. Manning.] At these meetings no amendments were permitted? That was the ruling of the Chairman.
494. Mr. Simpson.] At the first meeting, when the public protested against this Bill, was the proposal of Mort's Dock Company clearly pointed out? No proposal was before us then; we simply took their Bill for it.
495. At that first public meeting, when the opposition was unanimous, was it explained what the proposition in the Bill was? Yes.
496. Was it explained what the proposal of Mort's Dock Company was? Yes, certainly.
497. Did you ever hear of any public meeting being held at Balmain in favour of this Bill? Never.
498. Are you aware that a certain portion of the public Press, in their articles, condemn this Bill? I am.
499. In the interest of the public? Yes.
500. Are you aware also that several letters have appeared in the public papers in opposition to this Bill? Yes.
501. Mr. Manning.] Did you write any of these yourself? I wrote one in answer to a letter written by Mr. Franki.
502. The Evening News had some articles on the subject—do you know who wrote those articles? I do not.
503. Did you supply the information? No; I was quite surprised to see the articles.
504. Did you supply information at any time to the Evening News? No.
505. Chairman.] You know Mr. Angus Mackay? I know him when I see him.
506. Are you aware that he is connected with the newspaper in question as a writer? I have found it out since the meeting.
507. Mr. Garrard.] Do you think the majority of the persons who signed the petition at the various waiting rooms or wharfs, understood what the Dock Company proposed to do—did they understand what it was proposed to give in exchange for the streets sought to be closed? I believe the majority did.
508. Mr. Manning.] Do you think the boys who had charge of the petitions, collecting names, knew? I think they did.
509. Mr. Simpson.] Do you know that the persons interested in Mort's Dock Company had people down at the wharves where the petitions were, endeavouring to dissuade people from signing them? I do not know what happened at Mort-street; I know there were men at Erskine-street trying to dissuade people from signing.
510. Do you know whether they were connected with the Dock Company? I am not sure that they were, but I think so.
511. Mr. Teace.] Since this Bill was introduced, have not Mort's Dock Company offered to make alterations and modify the original plans? Yes.
512. Mr. Simpson.] Have you not, on behalf of some of the persons opposing the Bill, proposed certain modifications in this Bill which the Dock Company have not agreed to—have you made certain proposals with a view to settling the whole matter? Yes.

E. H.
Buchanan,
Esq.

29 Mar., 1883.

513. Mr. Manning.] At the last meeting that was held was there not a suggestion by some persons that some compromise in the matter should be made, and others would not listen to any compromise—is not that so? It is not.
514. You say you proposed a compromise: as a matter of fact, did you ever do so? Yes; I proposed to take the street from the last lantern round to the present sheer-legs wharf, and to give us the sheer-legs wharf and keep Ronald-street intact, so that we might have 100 feet of water frontage.
515. Did you ever propose that? I proposed it to Captain Broomfield, and he said he would lay it before the Board.
516. You did not propose it at the meeting? No; if that had been before the meeting I dare say the meeting would have acted on it.
517. Mr. Simpson.] If these proposals are carried out, are you aware how many square feet of public land Mort's Dock Company will get, over what they propose to give? Over 24,000 square feet.
518. Mr. Garrard.] According to the original proposal? Yes.

Mr. William Schultz called in and examined:—

Mr. W.
Schultz.

29 Mar., 1883.

519. Mr. Simpson.] What are you? A builder.
520. Where do you live? In Darling-street West, Balmain.
521. Have you any property in Mort-street? I have.
522. Whereabouts? Between Curtis Road and Cameron-street.
523. Are you aware of the proposal of Mort's Dock Company, as expressed in the Bill before Parliament, to close a portion of Mort-street? I am.
524. What is your opinion in reference to that proposal—would it be for the public convenience or public interest? It is not for the public interest that it should be closed; it would cause great inconvenience to the public, not only to those who have property there, but for the whole community. It would cause great inconvenience to the whole public who make use of that portion of the wharf, not only for steamers but for small boats and so on.
525. How would it affect the property-holders in Mort-street? It would decrease the value of their property.
526. Do you say the value of property would be very much decreased? That depends upon what kind of business a person carries on there; I consider that in some places it would be depreciated 25 per cent., and in other places even more.
527. In Mort-street? Yes, if this proposal were carried out.
528. What is the general opinion of the inhabitants of Balmain as to this proposal? I believe that if the Borough were canvassed, there would be 5,000 signatures against it, for 100 in favour of it. The Dock Company have tried to get signatures in favour of it, but they could not get them. Petitions were sent round, but they have never shown them to anybody because they could not get signatures.
529. As a matter of fact, can you say positively what the feeling of the inhabitants of Balmain generally is on this subject? I have not come across half-a-dozen, except those directly interested in the Dock Company, who have been in favour of it.
530. How long have you lived at Balmain? Twenty-eight years.
531. Are you acquainted with the general feeling of the people there in this matter? Yes. The public meeting was pretty unanimous; the foreman of the Dock was the only dissentient in the room.
532. Chairman.] What is his name? I believe his name is Martin.
533. Mr. Simpson.] Amongst what class of people does there exist this general opposition to the Bill of which you speak? All classes, from the richest to the poorest—just as many from one class as the other.
534. Are you aware of the modification proposed by Mort's Dock Company in reference to Mort-street? Yes, I saw it this morning.
535. What is your opinion in reference to that proposed modification? It would not be such a great convenience to the public as it is now.
536. If the modification were carried out, the public convenience would not be considered so much as if Mort-street were allowed to remain as it is? Just so.
537. You know the proposed alteration at Yeend-street? Yes.
538. What is your opinion, as far as the public convenience is concerned, of that proposed alteration? I think the public would not be more inconvenienced by the alteration than they are at present; it would be about equal as far as that is concerned, provided the Company gives the same amount of water frontage as they are going to take away.
539. How much do they propose to take away? 50 feet.
540. But what do you say of the proposal of the Company as shown by the Bill? That would never do—it would be a great inconvenience for the public.
541. What is the general feeling in Balmain in reference to the proposed alteration, as far as Yeend-street is concerned? The public hardly know anything about it.
542. Mr. Garrard.] You mean about the modified alteration? Yes.
543. Mr. Simpson.] I am referring to the proposal in the Bill? The public are thoroughly against it—they condemn it.
544. The proposal as shown by the Bill, in regard to Yeend-street, is condemned by the public? Yes.
545. Mr. Manning.] You say nothing is known to the public of the modified proposal? There has been no time to call a public meeting on that subject.
546. Do the dissatisfied public know anything about the proposed modification of Mort-street? How could they know it?
547. Do you believe the public know anything of the modified proposal for Mort-street? Yes, to the number of about thirty, and they are thoroughly against it.
548. You know thirty men who are against the modified proposal? Yes.
549. Do you know that others think it will not affect the value of property at all? My opinion —
550. I do not want your opinion, but other people's opinion? I do not know other people's opinion.
551. Mr. Simpson.] Have you ever heard any expression of public feeling in favour of the Bill, even with the proposed modification? No, except with regard to Yeend-street. I moved an amendment which would grant the Company a concession at Yeend-street, but I was roared at, and had to withdraw it.

Every

Every one in the room would not listen to it. But I really believe that people that make use of the ferry would not be inconvenienced by it to any extent.

552. Provided the Company gave the same quantity of water frontage as they took away? Yes.

553. Do you know the Company have refused that concession? Yes, I believe so; according to their sketch they have refused to give 50 feet.

554. Do you happen to know how many feet of public land the Company by their Bill propose to appropriate to themselves? No, I could not mention the number of feet, but I know they propose to take more away than they intend to give.

555. Mr. Garrard.] That is under the original proposal? It may be so under the modified one too; I would not be certain; I know it was so under the original proposal to a great extent.

556. Mr. Simpson.] You know that under the original proposition they seek to appropriate more land than they intend to give? Yes, some thousands of feet.

557. Do you know what the value of these thousands of feet would be? I should think £20 a foot.

558. Mr. Manning.] Do you mean to say they are going to take thousands of feet of water frontage? No, not the water frontage.

559. Mr. Hutchinson.] Superficial feet? Yes. I mean £20 a foot for the water frontage.

560. Mr. Manning.] On the Mort-street side were they not giving the exact amount they were taking? Yes.

561. In the original form of the proposal they are giving just as much as they are taking? Yes.

562. And in the modified form they are giving considerably more than they are taking (Plan shown to witness)? I do not see it.

563. Chairman.] You are pretty well aware that, so far back as August last year, the Municipal Council of Balmain had this matter under their consideration? Yes.

564. Are you aware that the Council then decided by a majority of nine to three in favour of the proposal before the Committee? Yes.

565. And I suppose the Aldermen are representatives of public opinion? Some of them represent their own pockets.

566. Since then there has been a parliamentary general election? Yes.

567. And the two gentlemen returned for Balmain are in favour of the proposition contained in this Bill? I do not know whether they are in favour of it.

568. Did you attend the meeting on the 12th March in opposition to the Bill? Yes.

569. You saw the two representatives of Balmain there? Yes.

570. Did they not give the meeting to understand that they were in favour of the Bill? One did, not the other.

571. Mr. Hutchinson did? Yes.

572. Did not Mr. Garrard make it known that he thought the meeting were dealing unfairly with the promoters of the Bill? I did not hear him say so.

573. What did you hear him say? I do not remember.

574. As a matter of fact, were not persons prevented from proposing amendments at the meeting? I am not aware of it.

575. If the statement has been made before this Committee that persons wishing to propose amendments were prevented doing so, is it true? Yes; one person asked to be permitted to move an amendment, and the Chairman ruled that the meeting was not called for that purpose.

576. As a matter of fact, the two Members for Balmain did not give the meeting any countenance or support? No.

577. The Chairman of the Opposition Committee is Mr. Buchanan? Yes.

578. An Alderman for Balmain? Yes.

579. He has been an Alderman for five or six weeks? Yes.

580. He is not, in his aldermanic capacity, so thoroughly representative of the public opinion of Balmain as Mr. Garrard and Mr. Hutchinson are in their capacity as Parliamentary representatives? I believe that in this matter he represents the public feeling of Balmain more than the representatives do.

581. You are one of the persons who have been engaged in getting up petitions against this Bill? I was not.

582. Are you not one of the Committee? Yes.

583. And that Committee got up petitions against this Bill? I was never appointed to the Committee—not until after the public meeting.

584. You are one of the Committee appointed by the public meeting against this Bill? I never was appointed—I went of my own freewill.

585. You are not one of the Committee then? I have joined it since the public meeting.

586. As a matter of fact, was not a resolution carried at the meeting naming you as one of the Committee? No.

587. But you are a member of it now? Yes.

588. And as such you are aware of petitions being got up against the Bill? Yes, and I have signed it too.

589. As a matter of fact, have not a large number of signatures to these petitions been those of boys from the "Vernon," and people who had nothing to do with Balmain? No.

590. Have you heard of boys having these petitions in charge? Yes, I saw them on the wharf; I did not know whose boys they were.

591. As a matter of fact, these petitions were entrusted to boys? Yes.

592. And these boys solicited passers-by to sign them, whether they lived in Balmain or not? Not that I am aware.

593. Did you see anybody sign the petitions? Yes, a good many, but I never saw anybody sign but citizens of Balmain—no "Vernon" boys or street boys of Sydney.

594. Mr. Hutchinson.] You have been for some time an Alderman of Balmain? Yes.

595. And you have always taken great interest in movements for the improvement of the Borough? Yes.

596. When the matter of this Bill was before the Borough Council, near the close of last year, you took a deep interest in the discussion going on? I did not, except speaking in private to some of the gentlemen.

597. You know the names of the gentlemen who voted in the Borough Council in favour of this Bill? Yes.

Mr.
W. Schultz.
29 Mar., 1883.

- Mr. W. Schultz.
29 Mar., 1883.
598. How many were there of them? Nine, and some of them voted for it very reluctantly: one gentleman was very anxious it should not come to a vote.
599. Can you, of your own knowledge, say that any of these Aldermen were interested in Mort's Dock Company or in the Steam Ferry Company, except Alderman Franki? Yes, I can; I believe four or five were directly interested either one way or the other.
600. You think other Aldermen were influenced by them? Undoubtedly they were; their vote was given in favour of their friends, and not in favour of the public interest at all. They should have called a public meeting and consulted them.
601. Meetings of the Council are generally reported in the papers? Yes.
602. Was not a report of that meeting given? No; only throwing sand in people's eyes.
603. Mr. Pecco.] You are aware that the two Members for Balmain are in favour of the Bill? I could only say one; I know Mr. Hutchinson is.
604. When the public meeting was held, had these modifications been suggested by the Dock Company? No.
605. Can you say it was the influence of public opinion that induced them to make these concessions? At Yeend-street I am willing to give in, but not at Mort-street.
606. Mr. Hutchinson.] You have stated that one of the representatives of Balmain very distinctly put it that he was in favour of the Bill: can you say whether that representative is influenced by the public interest, or whether he has any private interest to serve in the matter? I could not answer that question.
607. If that Member disclaims having any interest in the matter except the public interest, would you accept that disclaimer? I would.
608. Mr. Garrard.] You have already said that, so far as the amended proposition at Yeend-street is concerned, you have no objection to that? I consider that ought to be granted, if they give as much water frontage as they take away.
609. Then you believe that, if Yeend-street was continued from its present termination to the sheer-legs wharf, with the same amount of water frontage as at present, it would be for the public benefit? It would.
610. Are you not aware that the candidates for parliamentary honors at the last general election were each asked their opinion, in public meetings, as to this dock proposal, and is it not a fact that both of the present Members thought the advantages counterbalanced the disadvantages? I never heard them say so, neither you nor Mr. Hutchinson.
611. At the public meeting you have referred to, did not the representatives of the electorate say they believed the proposal of the Mort's Dock Company to be for the public benefit? I did not hear them.
612. Are you aware that one of the Members—the senior Member—spoke at that meeting; in fact they both spoke at the meeting? Yes, they did.
613. You asserted just now, in answer to a question that four or five members of the Borough Council who voted in favour of the proposition in the Bill were directly interested, and that the others of the nine who voted in the majority were influenced by them? I know that some were influenced.
614. Would you mind giving the Committee the names of the gentlemen that you suppose to have a direct interest in Mort's Dock? Mr. Punch is one—he is a shareholder in the ferry. Mr. Macdonald is the agent for Mr. Mort's estate, getting his bread and butter from it. Mr. Elkington had an interest in the dock; and Mr. Franki is the Manager of the dock.
615. And you think the other five were influenced by friendly or other motives to fall in with the views of those you have named? I say they were influenced to vote for it.
616. Is it not a fact that when the matter was before the Borough Council one of the Aldermen proposed an adjournment of the proceedings to allow people interested to ventilate their opinions? I do not know; I was not present at the meeting.
617. With reference to the boys in charge of the petitions at the various places, do you believe the boys understood the proposition that was being made? I really do not know anything about those matters; I had no hand in them whatever. When I saw that the Mayor had called a public meeting I went as a citizen, and when the Committee was appointed I was invited to attend upon it. I signed the petition that night in the room. That is all I know about it. I have seen many men signing that I knew personally.
618. Do you believe the majority of the persons signing these petitions knew exactly what is proposed to be done? I do know a good many who thoroughly knew what they were doing.
619. Is it not a fact that, owing to the present position of the wharves, communication by steamer is frequently interrupted? Not often.
620. It is occasionally? I have only experienced it once during the last six months.
621. If the wharves could be shifted further out so as to clear the buoys, without disadvantage to the property-owners, would it not be to the interest of the travelling public? No, it would not. I maintain that even as they are now, there is no need to obstruct the high-road to Sydney at all.
622. Mr. Simpson.] Who obstructs it now? The Dock Company; they had three barges loaded with coal right in the way this morning.
623. Mr. Garrard.] That is an arrangement of the Ferry Company, is it not? I do not know who it is. If the Ferry Company obstruct their own road they have no right to complain. They make as much obstruction as they can for the sake of getting this scheme carried out.
624. Is it not to the interest of the Ferry Company to get as large a traffic as possible between Mort-street and Sydney? Of course it is.
625. And therefore it is to their interest to remove all disabilities? I am not aware whether the coal barges belong to them.
626. Chairman.] It is necessary to take coal over there for some purpose? Not in that place.
627. Mr. Simpson.] You say that occasionally there have been some delays in the traffic of the steamers between Sydney and Balmain? I have experienced them within the last six months.
628. By whom was that delay caused? By putting a rope across there from a ship to a buoy.
629. By whom—by the Dock Company? Most likely it belonged to their establishment.
630. You say the Dock Company have already taken away four or five streets of Balmain? Yes.
631. Is Mort-street one of the main streets of Balmain? Yes, one of the principal streets.
632. As a matter of fact, is it not the best street? Yes, the best street—the broadest street we have leading to the water.
- 633.

633. The best street, the easiest grade, and the broadest leading to the water? Yes.
 634. Is it looked upon by the inhabitants as the very best street they have? Yes, and always was.
 635. You were asked whether the proposed modification in reference to Yecad-street would be for the public interest? I think it would.
 636. Would it be for the public interest if the concession you say ought to be made was not made? I could not tell you. I have been speaking about this matter to several of the residents, and they say they ought to have 100 feet of water frontage for a ferry wharf.
 637. Mr. Manning.] But even 75 feet would be better than two frontages of 50 feet in different places? Certainly it would.

Mr.
W. Schultz.
29 Mar., 1883.

Mr. Charles Vanderberg called in and examined:—

638. Mr. Simpson.] Where do you live? Mort-street, Balmain.
 639. What are you? A butcher.
 640. Have you a shop in Mort-street? Yes.
 641. How long have you lived in Balmain? Eleven and a half years.
 642. Always in Mort-street? Yes.
 643. You are aware of the proposal in the Bill before Parliament? Yes.
 644. Are you also aware of the proposed modification in regard to Mort-street? I have heard it spoken of.
 645. You know what it means? Yes.
 646. What is your opinion, as far as the public interest is concerned, in reference to the closing of Mort-street as proposed by the Bill? It would be detrimental to the public interest.
 647. Would it depreciate the value of property in Mort-street? Yes.
 648. To what extent—a small or great extent? A great extent.
 649. Would it, in your opinion, create any public loss, disadvantage, or inconvenience? Yes.
 650. Would there be any corresponding benefit to the public? Not that I can see.
 651. Now there is a proposed modification in respect of Mort-street;—what is your opinion with regard to that? It would be better than the other.
 652. It is an improvement upon the original proposal? Yes; but still it would be a great detriment to the public.
 653. What is the state of public opinion in Balmain in regard to the original proposition and the proposed modification? The public feeling is dead against any alteration of Mort-street at all.
 654. Either as proposed by the Bill or the modified proposal? Yes.
 655. Are you aware of any feeling at all in favour of the Bill, except among the people immediately interested? No.
 656. Have you ever heard any expression of public feeling in favour of the Bill as originally proposed or as proposed to be modified? Yes; I have heard some of the larrikins say, "Give the Dock Company the whole of Balmain, then they will build a new dock and we will get plenty of work."
 657. Have you an hotel at Balmain? Yes.
 658. Where? At the corner of Mort-street and New John-street.
 659. Would that hotel be affected by this proposed alteration? Yes; the lease is nearly out, and the tenant will not renew it until he knows what is going to be done in this matter.
 660. Are you aware of the proposed alteration at Yecad-street? I have heard it spoken of, but I do not know so much about that.
 661. Did you purchase your property in Mort-street upon the faith of the existing state of things being continued? Yes.
 662. Do you believe the value of your property will be very materially depreciated if the Bill passes either in its original or modified form? Yes.
 663. Do you believe that it would be for the general interest of the inhabitants of Balmain that things should be allowed to remain as they are? Yes.
 664. Have you any doubt about it? No.
 665. You believe the public feeling of Balmain is strongly in favour of things being allowed to remain as they are? Yes.
 666. Would the proposed alteration benefit anybody except Mort's Dock Company and those interested? No.
 667. Mr. Manning.] How do you think your property would be injured by the modified proposal? It would take the traffic away from it.
 668. How would it take the traffic away from it? People would not come up Mort-street—they would not come round and then back again.
 669. Do you know what the modified proposal is? Yes, to take a street diagonally from the proposed new wharf.
 670. Are you under the impression that Clayton-street would be continued to the proposed new wharf as well as Mort-street? Yes.
 671. That is not so. Under the modified proposal Clayton-street would not be continued to the water—that part of it would be the property of the Company, and persons coming to and from the steamer could not help passing your house in Mort-street? I was not aware of it.

Mr. C.
Vanderberg.
29 Mar., 1883.

Mr. Thomas Batement called in and examined:—

672. Mr. Simpson.] What are you? An architect and surveyor.
 673. Living where? At Birchgrove Road, Balmain.
 674. How long have you lived there? Nearly three years.
 675. Are you acquainted with the alterations proposed by the Bill before Parliament? Yes, I am fairly acquainted with them.
 676. Are you acquainted with the proposed modification of the Bill? Yes.
 677. In respect to Mort-street and also Yecad-street? Yes.
 678. Will you give the Committee your opinion as to the alterations proposed in Mort-street, both as proposed in the Bill and as modified? Mort-street is the outlet which nature has provided for that portion

Mr.
T. Batement.
29 Mar., 1883.

- Mr. T. Bateman. portion of Balmain by the natural inclination of the road giving facility for vehicles to reach the wharf. It is the best street of Balmain for approaching the water—it commands the business centre of Balmain.
- 29 Mar., 1883.
679. What would be the effect of closing Mort-street, as proposed by the Bill? It would be highly injurious to the traffic, especially vehicular traffic, and also to the passenger traffic which at present comes down Mort-street.
680. As far as the public are concerned, would the proposed closing of Mort-street be advantageous or disadvantageous? Highly disadvantageous.
681. Would the interest of property-holders in Mort-street be injuriously affected? Decidedly so, to a very large extent.
682. Would there be any public convenience at all greater if the street were closed than if allowed to remain as it is? Putting the convenience against the inconvenience, the balance would be largely detrimental.
683. There would be disadvantages and inconveniences without corresponding convenience? Yes; the large majority would be inconvenienced, and the minority possibly not materially affected.
684. Would all the property-holders be injuriously affected? In my opinion, decidedly so.
685. You are aware of the proposed modification in respect to Mort-street? Yes.
686. Supposing that modification of the Bill were adopted, what would then be your opinion, as far as the public interest and the interest of the property-holders are concerned? It removes one or two injurious features. It removes the injurious feature of drainage; it lessens the distance, as compared with the first proposal in the Dock Company's Bill; it would be less detrimental to the vehicular traffic than the original proposal. It would in some degree get over the difficulty of drainage.
687. Supposing the modification to be carried out, how, relatively to the existing state of things, would the public convenience be consulted? It would only be a mischief in a less palpable form.
688. The mischief you have spoken of would exist, but in a less palpable form? Decidedly so.
689. Is it for the public interest and benefit that things should be allowed to remain as they are? Decidedly so, particularly in Mort-street.
690. Have you ever heard any opinion expressed among the inhabitants of Balmain in favour of any change, except the opinion of people connected with Mort's Dock Company? Some are indifferent; I have heard isolated opinions, but general speaking from persons whose interests are in some degree wrapped up with those of the Dock Company; independent opinion has been very much against the Dock Company's Bill.
691. Then it comes to this—you have heard isolated opinions expressed in favour of the proposed alteration, but those isolated opinions have generally been interested opinions? Yes.
692. What is the general feeling amongst the people—is it in favour of any alteration at all, or in favour of things being allowed to remain as they are? In favour of things being allowed to remain as they are.
693. Is that opinion very strong? It was very strongly expressed at the meetings we had; it is generally very strong amongst the people.
694. Are you aware of the proposed alteration at Yeend-street according to the Bill? I am acquainted with its general features—not with the details.
695. Are you aware of the proposed modification? Yes, I am better acquainted with that.
696. What have you to say about that? It would lengthen the distance to the ferry-boat.
697. Chairman.] How much? About 300 feet I suppose.
698. Mr. Simpson.] If that modification be carried out, would there be any concession granted by the Dock Company? Yes, but it would not be a full equivalent, inasmuch as inconvenience would arise owing to the increased distance.
699. What would be a full equivalent? Yeend-street is 50 feet wide, and the Dock Company should give 70 feet of water-frontage to increase the width of the wharf.
700. Would there be any steps? Not under the modified plan.
701. Supposing this concession were granted, do you think the modification, as far as Yeend-street is concerned, would be a fairly acceptable one? If Mort's Dock Company would give 70 feet of water frontage, I consider that would be a fair equivalent for them taking the water frontage portion of Yeend-street and its present wharf.
702. Supposing Mort's Dock Company only give 25 feet? The thing is apparent on the surface that 25 feet are not equal to 50 feet; and further, there would be no equivalent for the increased distance.
703. Supposing 25 feet only to be given, what would be the effect upon the interest of the public? It would not be for the interest of the public at all.
704. Would it not be far better to leave things as they are? Yes.
705. Mr. Garrard.] In your opinion, the shifting of the Snail's Bay Wharf out to where the sheer-legs wharf is now would not in any way be for the benefit of the public, but rather a disadvantage, owing to the 300 feet of additional distance they would have to walk? Yes.
706. Is it not the fact that at present there are frequent delays to the ferry-boats owing to the inconvenient position of the present ferry wharf between the sheer-legs wharf and the coal wharf? The inconvenience is very slight, inasmuch as the sheer-legs for three months at a time are very often not in use.
707. In your opinion, if the modified proposal at Yeend-street be carried out, Mort's Dock Company ought to give 75 feet of water frontage in lieu of 50 feet? 75 or 70 feet.
708. Do you not think the same amount would be ample compensation, with 50 feet of Ronald-street as well; would not that be ample for the requirements of the ferry? I am in doubt about that, because there is a question as to the right of water frontage where the ferry-boat comes in. The ferry-boats are 125 feet long, and the question arises whether 100 feet of wharf frontage would be sufficient.
709. Then if the ferry-boats were 300 feet long, you would demand from the Dock Company sufficient to make that up? No; but still I think that is a question to be considered, and I should think it is the province of the municipality to step in.

FRIDAY, 30 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. HUTCHINSON, | MR. GARRARD,
MR. TEECE.

ANGUS CAMERON, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. C. J. Manning appeared as Counsel for the Bill.

Mr. G. B. Simpson appeared as Counsel in opposition to the Bill.

Mr. Manning handed in a plan showing the alterations proposed by the Promoters of the Bill.

Mr. Frederick Lemm sworn and examined:—

710. Mr. Simpson.] You are a builder, at present residing at Goulburn? I am. Mr. F. Lemm.
711. And you have come down specially to give evidence in opposition to this Bill? I did.
712. You have been down on several occasions? I have been down here a week now, and on several other occasions. 30 Mar., 1883.
713. Are you a property-holder at Balmain? I am.
714. Whereabouts? In Snail's Bay, just at the right of Mort's Dock.
715. Anywhere else? On the east side of Union-street, facing south of Wharf Road.
716. Have you any near Mort-street? Yes, I have, right by the dock, in Church-street; it is about two or three hundred yards from the dock.
717. How long is it since you went to live at Balmain? About twenty-seven years.
718. Have you known Mort-street for many years? It was there when I went there.
719. Have you known it continuously ever since? Yes.
720. It is one of the broadest, if not the broadest street in Balmain? It is a broad street as regards water frontage.
721. You are acquainted with the proposal originally contained in the Bill? I am slightly acquainted with it.
722. Are you also acquainted with the proposed modification as shown in this plan. Yes.
723. So far as the public convenience is concerned, what do you think of that proposal? It is not as good as the present state of things by a long way.
724. In other words, the public convenience would not be benefited by the proposed alteration? It would be injured by it.
725. Would the property in the neighbourhood be depreciated by the alterations proposed, according to the modified plan? Yes.
726. To any great extent? I can hardly say. It must affect property very much indeed by making a crooked street twice the length.
727. Give your reasons? By making the street so much longer, and making it crooked, it would make property less valuable—by making the street longer it would be less convenient.
728. At present Mort-street is a straight street? Yes, it is.
729. What about the gradient of the street? It has a beautiful rise, with easy access to get to and from the water.
730. For those of the public who have to use Mort-street, and want to get up on the high ground, that street is very convenient? Very much so.
731. Have people been accustomed for many years to use that street? As long as I have known Balmain—for twenty-eight years.
732. If this proposed alteration is made, what additional length would people have to travel to get to John-street? I should think 300 yards.
733. Have you made any calculation? I have not measured it, but I know the ground so well. I believe it is more than that.
734. Would you mention any other public inconvenience that would be caused by this alteration? I do not know that I can, except the distance. It is an easy street. There could be no better street than Mort-street as it is at present—it is broad down to the water's edge.
735. Could there be as good a one? No, I do not think there could be in the neighbourhood anywhere.
736. Is there any public desire on the part of the inhabitants to have any alteration in Mort-street? The neighbourhood would be so much injured that their property would be half its value, in my opinion.
737. Is there any public desire on the part of the inhabitants to have any alteration? There is not—they wish to have it in its present state.
738. You know that that is the very strong feeling? It is.
739. Have you ever heard any opinion expressed in favour of any alteration in Mort-street, except from people directly or indirectly interested in Mort's Dock Company? I have not.
740. Were you present at any public meeting held at Balmain in opposition either to the Bill or to any modification of it? I was at two.
741. Were they large meetings? Fair meetings considering; they were not very large nor very small; the opinion of Balmain was well represented at both those meetings.
742. What was the feeling of those meetings with regard to the original proposal, and also the modified proposal? The opinion was unanimously for the present state of the road.
743. Was the first public meeting that was held almost unanimous in condemning any alteration whatever in Mort-street? It was.
744. Is the opposition to any alteration in Mort-street confined to those residing there, or does it pervade all classes in Balmain? All classes; all Balmain would be affected by this alteration.
745. And this feeling is general? It is.
746. Not confined to any particular class? No.
747. Are the small property-holders just as strong in their opposition as the large? Just as strong.
748. With regard to the proposed alterations in Yeend-street, the plan before you shows the modified proposal. What do you think about that—would that alteration be for the general benefit of Balmain? No, it would be a very great injury to the public. 749.

Mr.
F. Lemm.
30 Mar., 1883.

749. Have you heard any feeling expressed among the inhabitants of Balmain in favour of the proposed alteration of Yeend-street? There has been none in favour of it; it would be a very great injury. It is about 150 yards longer, and you have to go round about. The present wharf is where it could not be better; the proposed alteration would not be nearly so convenient as the wharf we have at present.
750. If any concession were made to the public, do you think this modified proposal might be accepted? Not that way.
751. Not if any further concessions were made? They might. For myself, I would consider it, if anything reasonable were given for what we were giving up.
752. You would favourably consider it if additional concessions were made? Yes.
753. What additional concessions should be made? Additional water-frontage should be given.
754. According to the modified proposal, at Sheer-legs Wharf it is proposed to give 25 feet of water-frontage; do you consider that reasonable? No, it is unreasonable.
755. If this proposed alteration of Yeend-street is made, how many feet of water frontage should be given by the Mort's Dock Company to the public, in your opinion? They should give at least 75 feet at the Sheer-legs Wharf to be equivalent to the 50 feet they take away from the public.
756. If Mort's Dock Company were to give up 75 feet of water frontage, as far as you are individually concerned do you think that would be accepted? It might.
757. What is the general feeling of Balmain, even if 75 feet were given? The general feeling is that it should remain as it is.
758. Are you aware whether Mort's Dock Company have already taken away several streets from the inhabitants of Balmain? Indeed I do know it.
759. Can you see what interests would be furthered by the proposed alterations except the interests of the Mort's Dock Company? No other interest would be furthered; and in addition to that the public interest would be very much injured.
760. This Committee has heard that the traffic is occasionally interfered with at this portion of Mort's Bay? It is only by the mismanagement of the Dock Company.
761. In what way? They have got buoys all over the water, and the ships lay anyhow, and of course it does impede the traffic at times.
762. These obstructions could be removed by themselves if they thought fit? Yes.
763. Have you seen the petition that has been signed against any alteration of this street? I have not.
764. Would it be greatly for the benefit of the public, and especially the owners of property in the neighbourhood, if every facility were given for the extension of the works of the Company? If the extension were given the public would suffer. The property-owners could not be benefited if existing rights are interfered with.
765. Mr. Manning.] Do you know as a matter of fact whether this modified proposal as regards Yeend-street has ever been before the public at all? It has been pointed out, and it was at once looked upon as a thing that should not be entertained. It was laid before the public meeting.
766. Do you really say that? I do; it was by Captain Broomfield, who said what they would do. I pointed it out at the last public meeting.

Mr. T. R. Allt sworn and examined:—

Mr.
T. R. Allt.
30 Mar., 1883.

767. Mr. Simpson.] You are a merchant, carrying on business in Sydney and residing in Balmain? Yes.
768. How long have you lived there? About twenty years.
769. Are you a property-holder? Yes.
770. Whereabouts? I have property down by the dock. I have some near the dock, some facing Mort-street, and some in College-street.
771. You have property abutting on Mort-street? Yes.
772. And running on to College-street? Yes, on the west side of Mort-street; and I have property on both sides.
773. Are you aware of the alterations of Mort-street as proposed by the Bill originally before Parliament? Yes; I am not very clear upon the point—I know moderately well.
774. You are aware of the alteration of Mort-street as proposed by the Bill originally before Parliament? Yes.
775. That proposal has been abandoned; they propose still to close Mort-street, but to make a street from there (showing plan) until they come to John-street? I understand it.
776. What do you think of that, as far as the public interests and the value of property are concerned? I am sure it will very much depreciate the value of property all about there. It will give Mort's people more room to work, no doubt, but from my experience of where the sheer-legs are even now the public suffer inconvenience by their vessels going over there. If they bring them to the proposed new street they will in time shut it up altogether, and they will drive the public down to Campbell-street. In a few years' time the proposed new street will be practically closed, because the size of the vessels is continually increasing. They are right in the eye of the bay, and it is too narrow; there is not sufficient water, and they will interfere greatly with the public thoroughfare.
777. Your opinion is that this modified proposal would seriously interfere with the value of property in the neighbourhood? I am quite sure of it.
778. Would it be an interference with the public interests and convenience generally? Yes, decidedly so.
779. Would it be for the interest of anybody, except the Company, that any alterations should be made in Mort-street? I am quite sure it would not. No doubt it would benefit the Company.
780. At the sacrifice of the value of property and public convenience to the inhabitants of Balmain generally? Yes.
781. You are acquainted with the general feeling of the people of Balmain on this matter: is the general feeling in favour of the alteration, or in favour of the continuance of the present state of things? They are in favour of the existing state of things, and entirely against any alteration whatever.
782. Have you heard among the people any desire expressed for any alteration? No, I have not, except from those who were interested in Mort's Company. The alteration I feel confident will militate against the the interests of the public generally, inasmuch as large ships and steam-boats coming over to Mort's Dock for repairs, mooring and unmooring from time to time, will get into the way of the ferry-steamers and other small craft that might want to use the public wharf; and frequently the public will suffer very great inconvenience from the fact of these large steamers mooring and unmooring. I am further convinced that it is only the matter of a few years, and the public, solely from the inconvenience they will have to put up with, will be entirely driven away from the proposed new street.

Mr. T. R. Alt.
30 Mar., 1883.

783. So that, in your opinion, beyond all doubt, not only the present interests of the public, but their future interests, will be conserved by the continuation of the existing state of things? Exactly so.

784. I would direct your attention to the proposed alteration in Yeend-street (shows the plan). They propose to give to the public a water frontage of 25 feet, whilst at the same time they take away from the public 50 feet at the present place. What do you think of that proposal—would it be for the general interests and convenience of the public, or would it be any improvement whatever on the existing state of things? I would not like to give an opinion; I do not use that ferry, and having no direct interest about there I have not particularly gone into the matter.

785. The Mort's Dock Company propose to take away 50 feet of water frontage at the present ferry and only to give 25 feet at the proposed ferry: do you think that is a fairly equitable proposal? I do not consider that it is a fairly equitable proposal. The public have had to suffer a lot of inconvenience from the sheer-legs being there. People for Snail's Bay are continually inconvenienced by steamers coming alongside the sheer-legs, and the same difficulty would occur here that I drew attention to on the other side. You cannot moor and unmoor a large steamer in ten minutes—it takes a long time. If the new wharf was as proposed, and the sheer-legs moved, it might be more accessible.

786. These inconveniences at present and the obstructions are caused by the Mort's Dock Company themselves? There is no doubt of it. Their works have increased very much.

787. As a matter of fairness, considering the public interests, are you not of opinion that, if this proposed alteration of Yeend-street is carried out, the Company should give more than 25 feet to the public in compensation for the 50 feet they take away? I think so. If they take 50 feet at one place they ought to give 50 feet at the other.

788. Have you heard any expression of opinion among the inhabitants of Balmain in favour of the alteration of Yeend-street? No.

789. Do you know whether Yeend-street has existed for many years? I cannot tell you.

790. There is a statement in the preamble of the Bill that the closing of the streets or roads would not create any public loss, disadvantage, or inconvenience, if other roads or streets leading to shores of the said bay to the immediate neighbourhood of the said existing streets or roads were substituted for the same, and wharves and proper approaches constructed and made for the landing of passengers. Can you say whether the proposed closing of this street and the substitution of the other street would or would not cause a public inconvenience rather than a convenience? I am of opinion that it would be a public inconvenience.

791. Mr. Manning.] As I understand, the proposed new street would not effect any immediate loss, but it is because of what might happen in the future; it could not effect any immediate loss of property? No, I do not think so.*

792. It is only what you fear in the future? Yes, more for the future.†

793. As a matter of fact, the travelling public have to suffer inconvenience in getting to and from these wharves? I do not think so at Mort-street; it is only at Yeend-street.

794. As a matter of fact, although you have got 50 feet of water frontage at Yeend-street, there is only a small jetty running out, and a steamer lying east and west at the end would overlap Mort's property on both sides? Yes.

795. By giving this 25 feet here, where they have another 50 feet, that difficulty could not arise? I think it might. Steamers are more than 75 feet long. I think it would be better if they gave them 125 feet there. The same difficulty would arise with 75 feet as with 50 feet.

796. Suppose Mort's Dock Company utilize the property there, which they propose to make the new street, would not that interfere with the proposed jetty arrangements; suppose they run a wharf out, for instance? It would detract from the present convenience.

797. If a good wharf was run out where proposed, it would be clear on one side of all obstruction of the Company? The owners of the property on the other side might run out a wharf too.

798. What causes this inconvenience to the travelling public is the increase of business to the dock—larger ships being brought there, and in greater numbers? Yes.

799. I suppose you will admit that it is an advantage to the public generally to have the means of docking and repairing large ships in this Colony? No doubt it is good for the port.

800. And one is more or less proud of having an establishment that can do such work here? So long as you do not interfere with the public interests.

801. Mr. Simpson.] I suppose an alteration of a street that had existed some fifteen or sixteen years would in itself be an inconvenience? No doubt of it. People buy property with an idea that it will increase in value, and they go to a main street believing that the property in that street must very much increase in value. Mort-street is, without exception, the very best street in Balmain, inasmuch as it is the easiest gradient in Balmain, and it is a direct road. The value of property is much greater in such a street than in one that diverges off.

802. And people purchase property on a main street, or close to a main street, upon the faith of the continuance of the existing state of things? Most decidedly.

803. And any alteration would be prejudicial to the vested interests of a considerable number of people? Certainly.

804. Do you know that quite recently some new shops have been built in Mort-street, within the last twelve months? I know of some within the last two years.

805. Chairman.] I suppose you will admit that an establishment like Mort's Dock is a very great benefit to the Colony generally, and to Balmain in particular? It is a benefit to the Colony.

806.

* NOTE (on revision):—In this answer I directly refer to Snail's Bay, not Mort-street, where the property would be (with any alteration) most seriously depreciated in value.

† NOTE (on revision):—I ought to qualify this reply by stating that, while serious depreciation will immediately arise, in the future property will practically be valueless.

Mr. T. R. Allt. 806. And the people there have the benefit of the trade brought to the locality? I do not think so. I think Mort's works depreciate the value of property very much. There is no suburb where property has so little gone up in value as Balmain during the last twenty years.

80 Mar., 1883.

807. And that you attribute to the existence of the dock? I do in a great measure. It is a poor working neighbourhood, where small tenements have gone up.

808. Mr. Hutchinson.] In the event of the proposed alterations not being carried out, you are of opinion that the water space is not sufficient for the service? Yes. When they started those works they had no idea that the Colony would grow as it has. They have got the eye of the bay, and there is not sufficient space to carry on their works. If the Colony goes on at the same ratio, in a few years they will take up half the bay.

809. The larger class of vessels now being brought to the dock will ultimately prevent the traffic between these two wharves? It is all tending that way.

810. Would it not be an advantage if the wharves were taken further out, so as to get out of the line of stoppage? No, because you will ultimately have to drive the public right round to Snail's Bay, commencing from the Darling Road, that now use the Mort-street ferry.

811. Then you think the alteration will make a state of things as bad as what exists at present? Worse, in consequence of the increasing trade of the Colony.

812. You know that a very large number of small residences, suitable for the working-classes, have been erected round that district: would it not be a public calamity to Balmain if the Company was driven away altogether? For a short time it might deaden the prices of property, but it would only require a few months to increase the value of all the property in Balmain. The smoke from the works is a great nuisance—you cannot put clothes out to dry there. The more chimneys you erect the more nuisance to the neighbourhood generally.

813. It is said there are about 900 men employed on the works: presuming that the works were extended, and gave employment to 2,000, would it not benefit Balmain for the Dock Company to remain there? I do not think so. These works bring a class of population which does not increase the value of property, and the men are all of a migratory kind; I do not suppose more than one-third of them live in Balmain at the outside.

Mr. Charles Read sworn and examined:—

Mr. 814. Mr. Simpson.] What is your occupation? I keep a carpet warehouse in George-street.

C. Read.

815. You are aware of the proposed alterations in Mort-street? Yes.

80 Mar., 1883.

816. Are you a property-holder? Not at present. I have been.

817. For many years? Yes.

818. You live at Balmain? Yes.

819. Are you aware of the modifications of the original proposal as shown by this plan? Yes.

820. The original proposal was to close Mort-street as far as John-street; now the proposal is still to close that part of Mort-street, but to substitute another street to the water: what do you say would be the effect upon the public interest if that is carried out? I should think it would seriously interfere with the general interests of Balmain.

821. If the part of Mort-street which it is proposed to close were closed, it would be a serious injury to the general interests, even if the proposed new street were made? I think so; Mort-street having been made for so many years, and people having bought property in that street on what has been represented to them as an advantage as regards its being a main street, leading direct to the water. It is the only thoroughfare from the water on that side, and it was in use before the dock was made.

822. If Mort-street were closed as proposed, and a new street substituted for it, do you think that property in the neighbourhood would be very much depreciated in value? I do.

823. Without any corresponding benefit to the public? Yes.

824. Did you live long in Balmain? About twenty-three years.

825. Are you aware of the general feeling of the inhabitants of Balmain as to any alteration in Mort-street? I believe they are thoroughly opposed to it.

826. Have you heard any opinion expressed in favour of any alteration in Mort-street? No. I have frequently heard about it, and the desire is to retain it in its present form.

827. Would the proposed alteration be of any advantage to anybody except those connected with the Company? I do not think to any person.

828. Now this proposed alteration to Yeend-street. It is proposed to close the existing wharf, and substitute a new road and wharf for it; can you say that that alteration would be of any public benefit? I am not so conversant with that side of the bay. I could not say that any public convenience would be gained by it.

829. Have you ever heard any expression in favour of it? No, none.

830. Mr. Manning.] As a traveller to the other ferry, have you found any inconvenience in getting to the Yeend-street wharf? No, I have never met with any serious inconvenience.

831. Mr. Simpson.] And if there are any inconveniences or obstructions which are caused to the public traffic, they have been caused by the Company themselves placing obstructions in the way? Yes, vessels drawn out by lines in a manner which would not be looked upon as good work by any nautical man.

832. Chairman.] Are you a nautical man? I have travelled a good deal.

833. Mr. Manning.] You think this would give a worse gradient than the other? I think so—I am positively sure of it.

834. Chairman.] You told Mr. Simpson that, so far as you were aware, public feeling in Balmain is against the proposal contained in this Bill? I think so.

835. I suppose you are aware that in August last this matter was referred to the Municipal Council? I have only heard of it quite recently.

836. Are you aware that three-fourths of the representatives of the people in that Council decided in favour of this proposal? No, I am not aware of it.

837. That it was carried by a majority of nine to three? I do not know anything of it.

838. Mr. Garrard.] Have you given sufficient attention to the gradient? Yes, I have seen it before.

839. As the street is longer, and as it starts from the same point, and both streets come down to the water, must there not of necessity be an easier gradient between the two? I do not think so.

Mr.

ON MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.

Mr. Henry Walter Callan sworn and examined:—

840. Mr. Simpson.] What are you? A carver and gilder, carrying on business in Pitt-street. I reside in the Iron Cove Road, Balmain. Mr.
H. W. Callan.
30 Mar., 1883.
841. Have you resided in Balmain for many years? About ten or twelve years, but not always in the same place. I have resided in Mort-street, where I have property.
842. Whereabouts? Within 90 yards of New John-street.
843. How long have you had that property? About eight years.
844. And Mort-street, as it now exists, was in existence when you bought that property? It was.
845. How much property have you there? Two cottages, with frontages of 66 feet to Mort-street, in what I consider the best portion of that street. But if these proposed alterations were made the property would be very much deteriorated in value, and so I consider will all that part of Mort-street, nearly to the top of the street.
846. And to the same extent? The nearer the dock, the greater the deterioration.
847. When you purchased that property you believed that Mort-street would continue as it then existed? I did. I understood that the property, when it was sold by Mr. Mort, was sold at a higher price than any other because this was the highway to Sydney, and one of the broadest streets in the borough, with a wharf at the end of the street.
848. Is there any desire whatever on the part of the inhabitants of Balmain that any alteration should be made in Mort-street? Decidedly not; every one wishes it to remain as it is. I am speaking of people who live there. I know there are one or two other gentlemen who think it might be altered.
849. Chairman.] Your present Members are in favour of the alteration? I believe so.
850. Mr. Simpson.] Are they holders of property in the neighbourhood? I think not, but I cannot say.
851. Were you present at any public meeting at Balmain in opposition to the alteration of Mort-street? I was.
852. At the last meeting? Yes.
853. Was the feeling there very strong against any alteration of Mort-street, either according to the original or the modified proposal? There was no modified proposal before us.
854. But still the meeting knew of the modified proposal? They had an idea, and they were very much opposed to it.
855. Was it explained to the meeting what the modified proposal was? It was.
856. Was the feeling very strong against that? It was unanimously against it, and very strong.
857. And the feeling of the meeting was strong and unanimous in favour of the existing state of things being kept up? Yes.
858. Are you acquainted with the proposed alteration in the modified form of Yeend-street? Yes.
859. Would that alteration, in your opinion, be for the public benefit? No, it would not.
860. There would not be sufficient frontage there at the shecr-legs wharf? There is a 50-foot road, and that would not be sufficient.
861. Mr. Garrard.] And yet 50 feet are sufficient at Yeend-street? It would not be if everybody exercised their rights.
862. Mr. Simpson.] If Yeend-street is altered as proposed, how many feet of water frontage at the shecr-legs should the Company give to the public? I should say 75 feet would be necessary.
863. Even if that were done, would it be any advantage over the existing state of things? I do not think so; the public would have further to walk.
864. Have you ever heard any feeling expressed among the inhabitants of Balmain as to any alteration of Yeend-street? Not so far as this goes. The proposal that was to have been made at the meeting would find favour with some people.
865. Has this proposal ever been submitted to any public meeting? No.
866. Are you able to say whether the public feeling would be in favour of this, or of the existing state of things? The existing state of things; but some of the obstacles to a free passage should be removed.
867. By whom are the obstacles caused? By the buoys placed for the benefit of the Mort's Dock people. I know they monopolize the water-way.
868. Can you say whether the feeling would be very strong in favour of the existing state of things? It is.
869. Can you see any additional convenience that would be caused to anybody except to the Mort's Dock people, and those connected with them? I cannot.
870. Mr. Manning.] How will the making of this diversion of Mort-street depreciate the value of property in Mort-street? At present it is one of the widest streets in Balmain, going to the water; you can see the water at the end of the street, and it is one free passage for the current of air. If the Dock Company put smoky chimneys there it will very much damage the property.
871. Then the injury would only be done if certain obnoxious things are done by the Company? That is one thing.
872. What else? We shall have to travel further.
873. Will not loading come just as easily up the proposed new street? It might.
874. Would it not be a less gradient than the other? It would be, if anything, slightly less.
875. Therefore it would not affect the carriage of goods? No.
876. And the people landing at that wharf would walk up Mort-street as they do now? They would have further to walk. Putting up a wall there would damage property very considerably; I consider it would deteriorate my property fully one-third. My objection is to the extension of the dock. The property has already suffered from the dock.
877. Mr. Simpson.] Something has been said about the two present Members being in favour of some alteration in these streets; you have heard that said? Yes.
878. I suppose it was not made a test question at the last election? I do not think it was.
879. I suppose your Members were elected upon higher and broader grounds? They were. I was on the Committee of one, and I heard nothing about this. Had the election been held at the present time it might have been prominently brought forward.
880. Do you not know that in the smaller matter of the municipal election it was made a test question? It was by some people, but not generally.

- Mr. H. W. Callan.
30 Mar., 1883.
881. Chairman.] Do you not recollect in August last this matter being referred to the Municipal Council, who decided in favour by nine to three? Yes.
882. I suppose they pretty well represented public feeling? Not in that matter.
883. As a matter of fact, the Aldermen decided in favour of the Bill? I believe they did.
884. And two gentlemen in favour of it were returned at the last election? Yes.
885. They are both Aldermen as well as Members of Parliament? They are.
886. Have you ever noticed any great inconvenience to the travelling public through not being able to get into Mort-street? Yes.
887. What is that owing to? To the ropes from the vessels out to the buoys.
888. Do you not think that the extension of works like that is a great benefit to the country? It is no benefit to Balmain.
889. Would it be a benefit to Balmain if it were removed altogether? It would.
890. Mr. Manning.] It would be desirable even for Balmain that it should still be in the Colony? It would be no benefit to Balmain. Balmain property is lower than any other suburb, and it ought to be higher. The property in Mort-street deteriorated nearly one-half in fourteen years.
891. Mr. Garrard.] Is that not caused by the frequent interruptions to traffic? No.
892. Is it not a fact that the three Aldermen representing the ward in which Mort-street is included, were last August all in favour of the proposal? I do not know; I believe so.
893. Your objection is that the Dock Company might erect buildings upon that piece of land which would block out the view of the persons in the upper portion of the street, and give you smoke and so on? Yes.
894. You are aware that the Company own the land on the east side of Mort-street? I am.
895. Is there anything to prevent them doing that now? I do not know.
896. Is it any less likely that they should build obnoxious chimneys there than if they had the block intact? I do not think so, but Mort-street would be closed.
897. You say you are not aware that it was made a test question at the last election: do you not know that every candidate was questioned as to his opinion on this matter? I am not aware.
898. Mr. Simpson.] There is no doubt that the interests of the people holding property about Mort-street are more intimately affected than those of people residing at a distance? Very much more so. Many of the electors—and I say half of them—never use Mort-street.
899. Mr. Garrard.] Are you aware that one of the Members suggested that a poll of the persons who use this ferry should be taken? I am not.
900. Did you not hear me make that proposal? I heard you speak, but I do not remember all you said. My memory is that you said it would have been better if the Dock Company had done something of the kind.
901. Is it true that the petitioners against this measure have been kept posted up as to the steps taken in this measure by one of the Members? Yes, I believe so.
902. Mr. Hutchinson.] Copies of the Bill were forwarded as far back as August last? I am not speaking of my own knowledge; it is what I have heard.
903. Mr. Simpson.] If it has been stated that Mort's Dock Company propose to close Mort-street in the interests of the public and not of themselves, what do you say to that? I think the residents of Balmain do not believe in that statement, and they do not desire any alteration.
904. They would sooner that the Company should not look after their interests? They would sooner look after them themselves.
905. Is not this feeling at Balmain against closing these streets getting stronger and stronger every day? It is; it has not been much ventilated until now.

Mr. William John Weets sworn and examined:—

- Mr. W. J. Weets.
30 Mar., 1883.
906. Mr. Simpson.] What is your occupation? I am a civil engineer.
907. You do not reside at Balmain? I do.
908. And you have no property there? No.
909. Since when? Six months.
910. In what part? Cove-street, on the Iron Cove side.
911. Are you acquainted with the proposed alteration of Mort-street? I am.
912. Can you say whether in your opinion that would be any public benefit? Certainly not.
913. You believe that that alteration would be in no way for the benefit or interests of the public? Certainly not.
914. On the other hand, what would be the effect? I think it would cause a great depreciation of property, and put the travelling public to great inconvenience.
915. Have you heard any expressions of opinion among the people in favour of the proposal or in opposition? I have heard both sides; I think the majority are against the closing.
916. Have you heard any expression in favour of it except from those interested in it? I have; it was particularly from the workmen at Mort's Dock.
917. Mr. Garrard.] The majority of whom reside at Balmain? Yes.
918. Mr. Simpson.] You mean the majority of the workmen? Yes.
919. Do you know anything about the proposed alteration of Yeend-street? I have used the one ferry as often as the other.
920. You are acquainted with the modified proposal? I am.*
921. What is your opinion of it, as far as the public interests and convenience are concerned? I think what they give is anything but quid pro quo—the difference between what they take and what they give.
922. You do not think they give a fair equivalent of water frontage for what they take away? Certainly not, and as far as the travelling public is concerned they have to go further, and that might often be a great inconvenience.
923. Do you believe that, with reference to both these alterations, that a public loss, disadvantage, and inconvenience would be caused if they are carried out? Most certainly; there would be no corresponding advantage to the public.
- 924.

* NOTE (on revision): I asked—First tell me the width of the proposed continuation of Yeend-street—I presume the same as Yeend-street, 50 feet? Mr. Garrard; Yes.

924. Have you mixed much among the people of Balmain? Not until this question arose.
925. Have you conversed with the people of Balmain so as to ascertain their feeling? I have.
926. What is it? It is against the roads or streets being closed.
927. In the original or even the modified form? The feeling is strongly in favour of continuing the existing state of things.
928. Is that feeling growing stronger every day? It is.
929. Amongst all classes? Amongst all classes.
930. Do you know that at the last municipal election this was made a test question? I know that with regard to this ward it was.
931. Who was returned? Mr. Buchanan.
932. And he is strongly opposed to the closing of either of these streets? So far as I know he is.
933. As a matter of fact, has this modified proposal been before the public at all? At the last public meeting. We have had two public meetings.
934. Chairman.] When was the last one? Last Wednesday, the 21st.*
935. Do you recollect the terms of the advertisement calling that meeting? No; it was called a public meeting.
936. You consider that the feeling in opposition to these proposals is growing stronger day by day? Certainly.
937. How do you form that opinion? By daily converse with the people. I go backwards and forwards morning and evening.
938. You get off at Snail's Bay? Sometimes one and sometimes the other.
939. Then your opportunities are confined to your trips one way or the other? And my evenings; when I am out I meet people.
940. You have been six months residing at Balmain? Yes.
941. You are aware that this matter has been before the Municipal Council of Balmain, so far back as August last? I have heard so.
942. You have heard that it was accepted by nine to three? I have heard so.
943. And that there is no material alteration in the Council since? I have heard that one or two have been returned who are in favour of our views.
944. Mr. Garrard.] Did not one gentleman take the place of another who was also in favour of your views? I believe so.
945. You said that the Company do not propose to give quid pro quo—Are you aware what length they propose to cut off, and what they propose to give? Yes.
946. Does that not counterbalance? No, because of the cliff of rocks.
947. The Company propose to give 25 feet: is that sufficient, or would more be required? Certainly, more should be given.
948. How much more? We should have sufficient length to put our boats alongside.
949. Are you aware that there is only 50 feet of frontage at Yeend-street? I am aware.
950. Are you aware whether there is frequent interruption to the traffic, owing to the number of vessels coming up? I only know of one.
951. Mr. Simpson.] These interruptions are caused by the Company themselves? Yes, they are.

Mr.
W. J. Weets.
30 Mar., 1883.

Mr. James McDonald recalled and re-examined:—

952. Mr. Manning.] You prepared the amended Schedules? Yes.
953. And they are correct? Yes.
954. In the plan of the proposed new street there is one corner not coloured? Yes.
955. That really is included in Schedule A-B? Yes. It is left unmarked, because there is to be a boat-landing-place excavated there, for small boats to get out of the way of the steamers.
956. Mr. Garrard.] That only gives 50 feet of water frontage, the same as Mort-street? Yes.
957. Mr. Manning.] By giving 25 feet of the sheer-legs wharf you provide nearly 100 feet at the wharf? Yes.
958. Mr. Simpson.] Do you propose to erect a wharf at the sheer-legs, giving very nearly 100 feet of frontage? We have given 25 feet at the present wharf, and they propose to erect an inclined landing-place there. That would be over 30 feet of wharfage, and ultimately it would be very nearly 100 feet. At high-water it is 25 feet, but it would be 35 or 40 feet at the extremity of the wharf.
959. Do you propose to convey to the public 35 feet of water frontage at the sheer-legs wharf? I am only stating what it would come to.
960. Mr. Garrard.] You propose to make Yeend-street only a 25-foot street? Yes.
961. The Bill provides for the drainage being taken away to the satisfaction of the Borough Council? It does.

Mr.
J. McDonald.
30 Mar., 1883.

* Revised. :—I should have said last Wednesday week.

1883.

—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.

(PETITION AGAINST—E. H. BUCHANAN.)

—

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 14 March, 1883.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of Edward Harman Buchanan, of Balmain, in the Colony of New South Wales, Architect,—

SHOWETH:—

1. That a Private Bill has been brought into Parliament, during the present Session, intituled, "A Bill to enable Mort's Dock and Engineering Company (Limited) to close certain streets through their property at Mort's Bay, and to establish new roads in lieu thereof."

2. That by the said Bill it is proposed to close up certain streets in the said Bill set out and referred to.

3. That your Petitioner, together with others, residents of Balmain aforesaid, consider they will be injured if the said Bill be passed, and desire to be heard in opposition to the said Bill, and to be represented by counsel or solicitor before the Select Committee appointed by your Honorable House.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays your Honorable House that your Petitioner may be represented before such Select Committee appointed by your Honorable House to report on the said Bill before the final passing thereof, by counsel or solicitor, and that your Petitioner may give or adduce any evidence as advised in reference to the premises aforesaid.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

EDWARD H. BUCHANAN.

1883.

—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MORT'S BAY IMPROVEMENT BILL.
(PETITION AGAINST—PROPERTY-HOLDERS AND OTHERS OF BALMAIN.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 17 April, 1883.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The humble Petition of the undersigned residents, property-holders, and ratepayers of, and property-holders in, the borough of Balmain, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners are residents, ratepayers, and property-holders in the borough of Balmain.

Your Petitioners have been informed that your Honorable House has been petitioned by Mort's Dock Company (Limited), to pass a Bill enabling them to close portions of two important streets in said borough, with the object of vesting in the said Company the fee simple in all that portion of Mort-street extending from New John-street to the waters of Mort Bay, and the whole of Yeend-street.

Your Petitioners deprecate the precedent that would thereby be established, in giving to a private Company power to over-ride the individual rights of residents and property-owners, and, at the same time closing part of a main street (Mort-street), the natural thoroughfare from Darling-street (the principal street in Balmain) to Mort's Dock Ferry, thereby causing incalculable deterioration in the value of all business houses and price of land in street aforesaid.

Your Petitioners respectfully but most firmly protest against public streets being resumed and sold for the especial benefit of private individuals or Companies, to the detriment of the property-holders, shopkeepers, and ratepayers in the neighbourhood.

Your Petitioners humbly hope that your Honorable House will, in its wisdom, see fit to reject the Bill in question, the passing of which would be so injurious to the interests of your Petitioners.

And your Petitioners respectfully pray that you will be pleased to hear Counsel at the Bar of the House in support of their opposition to the Bill.

And, as in duty bound, your humble Petitioners will ever pray.

[Here follow 680 signatures.]

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

ROTTON'S ESTATE BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE,

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE,

AND

APPENDIX.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
21 February, 1883.

SYDNEY: THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 16. WEDNESDAY, 14 FEBRUARY, 1883.

4. ROTTON'S ESTATE BILL (Formal Motion):—Mr. Combes moved, pursuant to Notice,—
- (1.) That Rotton's Estate Bill be referred to a Select Committee for inquiry and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
- (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Burns, Mr. George Campbell, Mr. William Clarke, Mr. Dalton, Mr. De Salis, Mr. Farnell, Mr. Sydney Smith, Mr. Hellyer, Mr. Targett, and the Mover.
- (3.) That the Report from the Select Committee of Session 1882 on the Bill, together with the Minutes of Proceedings, be referred to the said Committee.
- Question put and passed.
-

VOTES No. 20. WEDNESDAY, 21 FEBRUARY, 1883.

3. ROTTON'S ESTATE BILL:—Mr. Combes, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before the Select Committee, for whose consideration and report this Bill was referred on 14th February, 1883; together with a copy of the Bill as agreed to by the Committee.
- Ordered to be printed.
- * * * * *
-

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings	2
Report	3
Proceedings of the Committee	4
List of Witnesses	4
Minutes of Evidence	5
Appendix	6

1883.

 ROTTON'S ESTATE BILL.

 REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly for whose inquiry and report was referred, on 14th February, 1883,—“Rotton's Estate Bill,” and to whom was also referred on the same date, “the Report from the Select Committee of 1882”;—beg to report to your Honorable House :—

That they have examined the witnesses named in the *List (whose evidence *See List, page 4 will be found appended hereto) and carefully considered the evidence referred to them; and that the Preamble having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the Clauses and Schedule of the Bill, in which it was not deemed necessary to make any amendment.

Your Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill without amendment.

EDWARD COMBES,
Chairman.

*No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 20th February, 1883.*

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

TUESDAY, 20 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Burns,		Mr. Dalton,
Mr. George Campbell,		Mr. Combes,
Mr. Hellyer.

Mr. Combes called to the Chair.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, and the Report of the Select Committee of Session 1882, together with original Petition to introduce the Bill, before the Committee.

Present :—Frederick Curtiss, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

Frederick Curtiss, Esq., sworn and examined.

William Foxton Hayley, Esq. (a Trustee of Rotton's Estate), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness produced Probate of the Will of the late Henry Rotton, and handed in copy of the same.

Witness also handed in copy of Counsel's opinion in re Will of Henry Rotton and Consent of H. M. Keightley (a Trustee) to the Bill, which were ordered to be appended. (See Appendices A and B.)

Room cleared.

Preamble considered.

Question,—“That this Preamble stand part of the Bill,”—put and passed.

Solicitor called in and informed.

Clauses 1 to 6 read and agreed to.

Schedule read and agreed to.

Title read and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill, without amendment, to the House.

LIST OF WITNESSES.

	PAGE.
Curtiss, Frederick, Esq.	5
Hayley, William Foxton, Esq.	5

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

ROTTON'S ESTATE BILL.

TUESDAY, 20 FEBRUARY, 1883.

Present:—

MR. BURNS,		MR. COMBES,
MR. GEORGE CAMPBELL,		MR. DALTON,
	MR. HELLYER.

EDWARD COMBES, Esq., C.M.G., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. Frederick Curtiss and Mr. J. M. McIntosh appeared as Solicitors on behalf of the Promoters of the Bill.

Mr. Frederick Curtiss, having been sworn, was examined:—

1. Chairman.] You are one of the Solicitors to the Promoters of this Bill? Yes.
2. The Bill now before the Committee is the same Bill in every particular as the Bill brought in during the last Session of Parliament? Yes.
3. There has been no amendment whatever? No amendment since it was amended in the last Session of Parliament.
4. And your clients desire to proceed with it in the same manner as when the Bill was before the Select Committee of the last Parliament? They do.
5. Mr. Burns.] The Select Committee of the previous Session reported in favour of the Bill? Yes.
6. And it fell through in consequence of the dissolution of Parliament? Yes.
7. And your clients desire to pass it now? Yes, they do.

Mr. F. Curtiss.
20 Feb., 1883.

Mr. William Foxton Hayley sworn and examined:—

8. Chairman.] You are one of the executors and trustees under the will of the late Mr. Henry Rotton? Yes.
9. You have seen the Bill that is now before the Committee? Yes.
10. That is the same Bill that you were examined on on the 1st November, 1882? Yes.
11. In the last Parliament? Yes, I believe that was the date.
12. And the executors of the will still wish to have the Bill passed into an Act of Parliament? They do.
13. You desire to hand in some papers in connection with this matter? I do.

Mr.
W. F. Hayley.
20 Feb., 1883.

[Witness handed in attested copy of the probate of the will of the late Henry Rotton; also, copy of the opinion of Mr. Davis, barrister-at-law (see Appendix A), re will of the late Mr. Henry Rotton; and memorandum from Mr. H. M. Keightley, consenting to the proceedings now being taken (See Appendix B.)]

14. Mr. Burns.] Mr. Keightley is resident in the Colony? He is.
15. And he approves of this Bill? Yes.
16. And the paper you hand in is his consent? It is.

ROTTON'S ESTATE BILL.

APPENDIX.

[To the Evidence of William Foxton Hayley, Esq., 20 February, 1883.]

A.

OPINION.

Re Will of Henry Rotton, deceased.

THE first question for my opinion is whether any power of sale of the realty of the deceased is given by this will. The will is most inartificially drawn. It is, of course, only in regard to the residuary estate, which with the residuary personalty is to be divided into fourteen shares, that the question to be answered in this case arises. That residuary estate is not in the usual way devised to the trustees to be divided among the intended beneficiaries; but it is simply devised to be divided without specifically naming any devisee. Under the form of words here adopted the devise would, I think, be taken to be direct to the beneficiaries. It is only when we come to the direction to invest that the trustees are named as the persons intended to take the shares of the wife and children for the purposes of distribution. Then the testator seems to contemplate the trustees having vested in them the property for such purpose. Very great difficulty is thus caused, and I cannot find sufficient in this direction to invest the shares to warrant me in coming to the conclusion that the power or rather direction to invest gives a power of sale. In my opinion it does not.

There is a further direction in the will, which in some cases has been held sufficient, to impliedly confer on the executors a power of sale. It is the direction which follows the several directions as to the division and disposition of the several shares, and which is in the following words—"I direct that my executors will first pay all my just and lawful debts (which will be few) and my funeral expenses." This is really a general charge of debts, and, in certain cases, that has been held sufficient to give a power of sale. The use of the words "first pay" is equivalent to saying that the property of the testator is to be taken by those intended to take, subject to there being first taken out of it what may be required to pay debts. In such way it has been held that the property is made subject to the payment of debts, and, as the executors are the persons to pay those debts, they are held to have conferred on them the power of selling, so as to have the money with which to pay the debts. However, in this case, I do not feel at all confident that it would be held by the Court in the case of a purchaser taking the objection that there was no power of sale in this will over the realty, that such was so clearly the case as to force the title on an unwilling purchaser.

Under these circumstances, it appears to me that some steps must be taken by which a power of sale can be given. I do not advise proceedings in Equity either for an administration of the estate and for the opinion of the Court on the construction of the will, or for a partition or sale; the most advisable and least expensive course is to obtain an Act of Parliament. There should be no difficulty in obtaining such an Act under the circumstances of this case, as it is clear that a sale is necessary to carry out effectually the testator's expressed intentions.

In regard to the second question, I am of opinion that each child takes a share, which in the event of his attaining twenty-one, in case of a son, and in the event of marrying under twenty-one, with the consent of her guardian, in the case of a daughter, or, if not married then on her attaining twenty-one, becomes indefeasible; and that on the contingency of a son dying under twenty-one, and of a daughter dying under that age and before any such sanctioned marriage, such share goes over to the surviving children equally. The gift is of a vested interest liable to be divested in the event of the happening of the mentioned contingency.

G. C. DAVIS,
Wentworth Court, 2 December, 1881.

WE have examined the writing contained in this and the preceding half-sheet of paper with the original opinion of which it purports to be a copy, and certify that it is a true copy of the said original opinion.

Bathurst, 2 November, 1882.

GEORGE PINNOCK,
Solicitor, Bathurst.
JOHN F. COLES.

[To the Evidence of William Foxton Hayley, Esq., 20 February, 1883.]

B.

The Committee of the Legislative Assembly on "Rotton's Estate Bill."

MORUWA, February, 1883.

I APPROVE of and consider it expedient for the persons beneficially interested under the will of the late Henry Rotton, that the Bill proposed to be enacted in the present Session of the Parliament of New South Wales, intituled "Rotton's Estate Act of 1883," should be passed, and I consent to all the provisions therein contained.

I am, &c.,
H. M. KEIGHTLEY,
Executor and Trustee of the will of the late
Henry Rotton, deceased.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

WOLLONGONG GAS-LIGHT COMPANY'S BILL;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

AND

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
18 April, 1883.

SYDNEY: THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 42. WEDNESDAY, 4 APRIL, 1883.

8. WOLLONGONG GAS-LIGHT COMPANY'S BILL (Formal Motion):—Mr. Proctor moved, pursuant to Notice,—
- (1.) That the Wollongong Gaslight Company's Bill be referred to a Select Committee for consideration and report, with power to send for persons and papers.
- (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Tarrant, Mr. Poole, Mr. Gray, Mr. Humphery, Mr. Garrard, Dr. Ross, Mr. Teece, Mr. Young, Mr. Hugh Taylor, and the Mover.
- Question put and passed.
-

VOTES No. 50. WEDNESDAY, 18 APRIL, 1883.

4. WOLLONGONG GAS-LIGHT COMPANY'S BILL:—Mr. Proctor, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration and report this Bill was referred on 4th April, 1883; together with a copy of the Bill as amended and agreed to by the Committee.
- Ordered to be printed.
- * * * * *
-

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings	2
Report	3
Proceedings of the Committee.....	4
Schedule of Amendments.....	4
List of Witnesses	4
Minutes of Evidence	5

1883.

WOLLONGONG GAS-LIGHT COMPANY'S BILL.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly for whose consideration and report was referred, on the 4th April, 1883,—“the Wollongong Gas-light Company's Bill,”—beg to report to your Honorable House:—

That they have examined the witnesses named in the List* (whose evidence *See List, page 4 will be found appended hereto); and that the Preamble having been satisfactorily proved to your Committee, they proceeded to consider the several clauses and the Schedule of the Bill, in which it was deemed necessary to make certain amendments.

Your Committee now beg to lay before your Honorable House the Bill as amended by them.

*No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 18th April, 1883.*

W. C. PROCTOR,
Chairman.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

FRIDAY, 13 APRIL, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Proctor, | Dr. Ross,
Mr. Tarrant.

Mr. Proctor called to the Chair.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, read by the Clerk.

Printed copies of the Bill referred, together with original Petition to introduce the same, before the Committee.

Present:—H. R. Way, Esq. (Solicitor for the Bill).

John Bigger, Esq. (Secretary to the Company), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness produced the Memorandum of Association, and the Certificate of Registration of the Company, also the Preliminary Agreement made with the Municipal Council of Wollongong.

Witness withdrew.

Frederick A. Franklin, Esq. (Mayor of Wollongong), called in, sworn, and examined.

Room cleared.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Wednesday next, at half-past Two o'clock.]

WEDNESDAY, 18 APRIL, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Proctor in the Chair.
Mr. Garrard, | Mr. Tarrant,
Mr. Teece.

Preamble considered.

Question,—“That this Preamble stand part of the Bill,”—put and passed.

Solicitor called in and informed.

Clauses 1 to 4 read and agreed to.

Clause 5 read, amended,* and agreed to.

Clauses 6 to 23 read and agreed to.

Schedules read and agreed to.

New* clauses, to stand clauses 22 and 23, read and agreed to.

Title read and agreed to.

Chairman to report the Bill, with amendments, to the House.

*See Schedule of Amendments.

SCHEDULE OF AMENDMENTS.

Page 6, clause 5, line 6. Omit “fifteen shillings” insert “twelve shillings and sixpence”

Page 10. Insert the following new clauses, to stand clauses 22 and 23:—

“22. Nothing contained in this Act shall prevent the said Company being brought under the provisions of any general Act which may be passed by the Parliament of New South Wales applying equally to Companies engaged in the manufacture of gas in the said Colony with reference to the manufacture and sale of gas nor entitle the said Company to compensation from the public revenue by reason of the provisions of such general Act for the purpose aforesaid being made applicable to and binding upon the said Company.”

“23. If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of any two Justices of the Peace in Petty Sessions assembled that the said Company or any of its officers have been guilty of any default under this Act they shall be liable for each and every such default to a penalty not exceeding five pounds to be recovered in a summary way.”

LIST OF WITNESSES.

	PAGE.
Bigger, John, Esq.....	5
Franklin, Frederick A., Esq.	6

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

WOLLONGONG GAS-LIGHT COMPANY'S BILL.

FRIDAY, 13 APRIL, 1883.

Present:—

MR. PROCTOR, | DR. ROSS,
| MR. TARRANT.

W. C. PROCTOR, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

H. R. Way, Esq., appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

John Bigger, Esq., called in and examined:—

1. Chairman.] You are Secretary to the Wollongong Gas Company? I am.
2. Mr. Way.] Do you produce a copy of the Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association of the Wollongong Gas-light Company (Limited)? I do. (Produced.)
3. The originals are in the Registrar-General's Office? Yes.
4. Do you produce a certificate of registration of the Company? Yes. (Produced.)
5. Will you look at this document (produced) and say what it is? This is an agreement made between the Wollongong Municipal Council and the Company, by which the Company are authorized to open the roads and lay down their gas mains and service pipes to consumers' houses. This agreement was made to facilitate our operations, and to enable us to go on with the work, pending the passing of this Bill; the state of public business in October, when that agreement was made, being such that there was no probability of our getting the Bill through.
6. By whom is that agreement signed? By Mr. Aquila Parsons, who, on the 27th October, was Mayor of the Borough Council, countersigned by Henry Stumbles, Town Clerk of the borough, and sealed with the municipal seal. Then, on behalf of the Gas Company, it is signed by Percy Owen, Chairman; John Bright, George Hewlett, and Archibald Campbell, four of the Directors of the Company, and countersigned by myself as Secretary, the Company's seal being attached. Acting on that agreement, we have laid down 113 chains length of mains through the streets, and the service is laid on to fifty or sixty houses. We have bought an acre and a half of ground, the works are being erected, and we expect to be able to light up in about ten weeks. The site for the gas-holder is excavated, the concrete foundation is put in, and the tank is being built up. The gas-holder itself is 40 feet in diameter. The framework of the retort house is also going up, and what is known as the scrubber, 20 feet high, is erected. The house for the Manager to live in is in course of construction, and the works generally are being pushed forward as quickly as possible. As soon as the works are completed we will be ready to light up.
7. On the strength of that agreement you were able to float the Company? No, the Company was floated before we got that agreement. We got that agreement simply to allow the Company to go on and erect their works, on account of the difficulty of getting a Bill through Parliament. Being all ready to go on with the works, we agreed with the Council in terms of that indenture, and went on laying our mains.

J. Bigger,
Esq.
13 April, 1883.

- J. Bigger,
Esq.
13 April, 1883.
8. Dr. Ross.] What is the capital of the Company? £6,000.
 9. Is it fully paid up? 15s. per share is paid up, and 5s. is called up to be paid on the 2nd June next. This (produced) is the Share Register, if the Committee wish to see it.
 10. What is the number of shareholders? 5,450 shares have been taken up, which will be sufficient to cover all our present expenditure. We do not propose to issue any more at present.
 11. What amount has been expended, so far, in the construction of the works? We have an agreement with the contractor that we do not pay till he has finished his work. I will read you a portion of the report made by the Directors on the 1st December last. (Read.) The contractors are a London firm, and they supply everything and light us up. The works are capable of producing 20,000 cubic feet of gas in twenty-four hours. We are advised by Mr. Norman Selfe that the plant is very suitable and efficient, and will have all the latest improvements.
 12. Mr. Tarrant.] I see the price per thousand cubic feet is not to exceed 15s. Is any provision made in the Bill to reduce the price in the event of the Company paying a dividend of 10 or 12 per cent.? We have not thought that matter over; but we think of charging first of all 12s. 6d. and afterwards 10s. That is our present idea, so far as the more thickly peopled parts of the town are concerned; but in some of the remote places, away from the main street, where there would be only fourteen or fifteen houses on half-a-mile of main, the price will have to be higher; we should have to make an agreement with them as to the price, in order to secure us against loss on the supply of gas. What we contemplate is putting on the mains immediately in the principal parts of the town and gradually extending them, and if it does not exactly pay us at first it will eventually do so. The shareholders are all residents of the town, and have gone into the matter not so much as a question of profit as of convenience; and the fact that the shareholders will be themselves consumers is a guarantee that the price of gas will not be unnecessarily high.
 13. Chairman.] Have you heard of any objection to the Bill? No. We have heard rumours, but nothing definite. On the 29th January last three copies of the Bill were sent to the Municipal Council, with a request that they would give their consent to it, but we have had no answer since.
 14. Is there any provision to extend the gas supply outside the town? We will do so in time. We ask for 5 miles round the town, and beyond that area by petition to the Governor and Executive Council, who may proclaim any particular area to come under the operation of our Bill.
 15. Mr. Tarrant.] No objection has been made to the Bill? None have come in.
 16. The feeling of the inhabitants in favour of the Bill is almost unanimous? Yes.
 17. Chairman.] Is there any clause in the Bill giving the Municipal Council power to purchase the works? No.
 18. Would there be any objection to that? We hardly see why we should put a valuable property together for the sake of letting the Municipal Council buy it.
 19. Is there any penalty in the Bill in case the Company shall fail to supply gas? No.

Frederick Augustus Franklin, Esq., called in and examined:—

- F. A.
Franklin, Esq.
13 April, 1883.
20. Chairman.] You are Mayor of the Municipality of Wollongong? Yes.
 21. Are you aware of the application to incorporate the Wollongong Gas-light Company? Yes.
 22. Do you know of any objection to the Bill? A motion was tabled at the last regular meeting, asking the Council to adopt the draft Bill which had been laid on the Table at the previous meeting. After discussion, it was decided to refer the matter to a Select Committee of the Council. The result of their deliberation was that action should be postponed until I called here in Sydney to get copies of all recent Gas Bills, and to ascertain if all the clauses affecting the ratepayers and the public had been inserted in this draft Bill. I obtained that information, and reported to the last meeting, on the 6th instant, that the general penalty clause, number 22, in the Bills of the Dubbo, Albury, and Tamworth Companies, was not included in this Bill, which was supposed to be a copy of those Bills. That, we ask, should be inserted.
 23. Penalty for not proceeding with the work? Yes.
 24. What was the result? I simply made this report to the Select Committee; no opinion of the Council has been taken since that. The opinion was generally expressed in the Committee that, if this and some other clauses were inserted in the Bill, it would be acceptable to the Borough Council of Wollongong. Another clause which we think it necessary to have inserted is one that is in the recently passed Dubbo Bill, to the effect that upon the Company failing to carry out their part of the contract, it should be competent to the Council to take over the works at a valuation. The next is a clause which this Committee will perhaps consider it necessary to put in the Bill, which is the concluding clause in the Dubbo Bill,—that in the event of any general Act being passed for the regulation of all Gas Companies, this Company should be subject to it. The next question was that the Committee thought that, in view of the probable increase of population in our district, in consequence of the railway, the maximum rate of 15s. per thousand for gas should be reduced perhaps to 12s. 6d., which they think should be satisfactory. The cost of extension of mains, when land at present vacant is built over, will be in a measure paid for by the extension of municipal lamps; the number of lamps will be increased as the mains are extended, and there will be a considerable revenue to the Company from that source. We have 346 tenements in the town, most of which, we think, will be likely to consume gas, so that we are not a very small town. We therefore think that the maximum price of gas should not be fixed so high as 15s.
 25. Do you know whether the Company assent to these suggestions of the Council? I do not know whether the question has been put to the Company. When the motion was tabled that the Bill should be accepted, these questions arose, but the Company have not since been communicated with, the Committee I have referred to not having yet brought up its report.
 26. Mr. Way.] You know an agreement was signed between the Company and the Council? Yes.
 27. Was there any stipulation in that agreement giving the Council the right to take over the works? No. That agreement was simply intended to enable the Company to break ground and do all necessary work to commence laying their mains, as there was at that time a difficulty in getting a Bill through Parliament.
 28. There was no such stipulation in that agreement? No.

29. You know that on the strength of that agreement the Company have laid down their mains? Yes, they were allowed to go on laying down the mains so long as they did not interfere with the traffic; but the agreement was never intended to limit the provisions of the Bill which it was understood would be passed as soon as it could be dealt with by Parliament.

F. A.
Franklin, Esq
13 April, 1883.

30. And on the strength of that agreement the Company have gone to considerable expense? Yes; they have made an agreement with their contractors, and have gone on with the works. The Council are perfectly satisfied to see the Company go on, but at the same time they have a duty to perform to the ratepayers, and they think the clauses I have mentioned should be inserted in the Bill.

31. Do you know whether the Company object to give the Council a right to purchase? I am not aware. We merely want the right, in the event of the Company failing, to continue the lighting.

32. Dr. Ross.] Have the Council come to any agreement with the Company to supply gas to the public lamps at so much per cubic foot? I think they have entered into an agreement for twelve months, at so much per lamp, and some stipulation will be made about the style of burner.

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

FISHERIES ACT, 1881.
(AMENDED REGULATION UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 44 Victoria, No. 26, section 9.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 4 January, 1883.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased, in accordance with section 9 of the "Fisheries Act, 1881," to make the following Regulation, in substitution of No. 1 of the Regulations for giving effect to the provisions of the above-cited Act, relating to the despatch of public business.

HENRY PARKES.

1. That the Commissioners will meet at their Office, for the despatch of business, on such days and at such hours as they may deem necessary.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

WORKING OF THE FISHERIES ACT OF 1881;

TOGETHER WITH THE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE,

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE,

AND

APPENDIX.

ORDERED BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY TO BE PRINTED,
21 April, 1883, A.M.

SYDNEY : THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1883.

1883.

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 9. TUESDAY, 30 JANUARY, 1883.

11. WORKING OF THE FISHERIES ACT OF 1881 :—Mr. Fremlin moved, pursuant to amended Notice,—
- (1.) That a Select Committee be appointed, with power to send for persons and papers, to inquire into and report upon the working of the Fisheries Act of 1881.
- (2.) That such Committee consist of Mr. Stuart, Mr. T. R. Smith, Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Olliffe, Mr. Young, Mr. See, Mr. Abigail, Mr. Griffiths, Mr. Purves, and the Mover.
- Debate ensued.
- Question put and passed.
-

VOTES No. 52. SATURDAY, 21 APRIL, 1883, A.M.

11. WORKING OF THE FISHERIES ACT OF 1881 :—Mr. Fremlin, as Chairman, brought up the Report from, and laid upon the Table the Minutes of Proceedings of, and Evidence taken before, the Select Committee for whose consideration and report this subject was referred on 30th January, 1883, together with Appendix.
- Ordered to be printed.
-

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Extracts from the Votes and Proceedings.....	2
Report.....	3
Proceedings of the Committee	6
List of Witnesses	7
List of Appendices	8
Minutes of Evidence	1
Appendix	44

1883.

WORKING OF THE FISHERIES ACT OF 1881.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, appointed on the 30th January, 1883,—“with power to send for persons and papers to inquire into and report upon the working of the Fisheries Act of 1881,”—have agreed to the following Report:—

1. Your Committee have examined the witnesses named in the List and See List, page carefully considered the evidence which will be found appended hereto.

2. Your Committee find that the above Act has not fulfilled the expectation of the framers; it has lessened the supply of fish, especially of some kinds; it has been no protection to our oyster-beds, nor does it hold out sufficient encouragement for oyster culture; it has placed unwise restrictions on an important industry and worked very harshly and oppressively to those engaged in fishing for a livelihood.

3. That the evidence taken before your Committee, almost without exception, goes to show that the length of the various nets along the corks ought to be increased, and the size of the mesh somewhat lessened, more especially in the one used for taking gar-fish.

4. Your Committee would recommend—

- (1.) That the hauling net should have a length along the line of corks not exceeding 400 yards, with a mesh of $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches in the wings, and 2 inches in the bunt; that the bunt should not exceed one-third the length of the net.
- (2.) That the gar-fish net should not exceed 250 yards in length with bunt not more than one-third, and the mesh should be $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches in the wings, and 1 inch in the bunt.
- (3.) That the prawn-net should not exceed 120 feet in length, and the mesh should be $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch.
- (4.) That each net should be passed by an inspector before use, and should be once well tanned and properly labelled or painted to attest its legality, after which such net shall be deemed a legal net for six months. And that no net shall be forfeited until on a second conviction.

(5.)

(5.) That no net should be set across any inland river or creek without leaving at least 6 feet between the bank and each end of the net, and any person wilfully placing any obstruction of whatever kind between the net and the bank so as to prevent fish freely passing should be liable to a heavy penalty.

(6.) That the unnecessary clause relating to the riddling of prawns ought to be repealed.

5. An amended schedule of sizes of fish is recommended in a few instances only, but your Committee are of opinion that there is no necessity to limit the size of the gar-fish, considering the vast quantities that can be captured, and that it is also a migratory fish. The suggested alterations in the sizes of other fish will be found in Mr. Seymour's evidence, on page 4, which suggestions your Committee recommend for adoption.

6. Your Committee regret that more discrimination has not been shown in the closing and opening of rivers and bays for fishing—some being opened that ought to be closed, and others closed that ought to be opened.

7. The way the rivers Murray, Nicmur, and Edward are being cleared of fish calls for immediate action in order to give them time to replenish the loss.

8. The present state of our oyster fisheries is in a lamentable condition, many places once yielding profitable employment to dredgers are now completely denuded. The only cure seems to your Committee to be in granting long leases, such leases to be submitted at public auction, each separate oyster-bed to be a separate holding.

9. Your Committee are of opinion that with the view of encouraging artificial oyster culture long leases, with a reasonable extent of foreshore and water contiguous to such foreshore, should be granted to applicants on moderate terms.

10. Your Committee also are of opinion that those engaged in selling oysters should not be charged any license fee.

11. Your Committee are glad to find that the Commissioners have seen the necessity of amending the present Act, and acknowledge that the President, Dr. Cox, in a great measure has assisted the action of your Committee, and they respectfully urge the consideration of this question by your Honorable House.

A. R. FREMLIN,
Chairman.

*No. 3 Committee Room,
Sydney, 20th April, 1883.*

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

FRIDAY, 9 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Fremlin, | Mr. Purves,
Mr. Young.

Mr. Fremlin called to the Chair.

Entry from Votes and Proceedings, appointing the Committee, read by the Clerk.

Motion made (Mr. Purves), and Question,—That advertisements be inserted in the Sydney daily Newspapers requesting persons desirous of giving evidence to communicate with the Chairman,—put and passed.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That Mr. Frederick Woods and Mr. Inspector Seymour, be summoned to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Tuesday next, at Two o'clock.]

TUESDAY, 13 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Fremlin in the Chair.

Mr. Young, | Mr. Olliffe,
Mr. Griffiths, | Mr. Purves.

The Clerk reported to the Committee that advertisements had been inserted in the Sydney Morning Herald, the Daily Telegraph, and the Evening News, inviting persons desirous of giving evidence to communicate with the Chairman.

Mr. Frederick Woods (Fisherman), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That Mr. Inspector Seymour and Mr. Charles Price, be summoned to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Friday next, at half-past Two o'clock.]

FRIDAY, 16 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Fremlin, | Mr. Olliffe.

In the absence of a quorum, the meeting called for this day lapsed.

WEDNESDAY, 21 FEBRUARY, 1883.

Mr. Olliffe, | Mr. Fremlin,
Mr. Griffiths, | Mr. Young,
Mr. T. R. Smith.

In the absence of the Chairman, Mr. Olliffe called to the Chair pro tem.

Mr. Richard Seymour (Inspector under Fisheries Act) called in, sworn, and examined.

The Chairman entered the room and took the Chair.

Mr. Richard Seymour's examination continued.

The witness exhibited a collection of fish, of different sorts, sizes, and weights, to illustrate the working of the Act.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Charles Price called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That Mr. Philip Cohen and Mr. Patrick Shedy, be summoned to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Tuesday next, at half-past Two o'clock.]

TUESDAY, 27 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBER PRESENT :—

Mr. Fremlin.

In the absence of a quorum, the meeting called for this day lapsed.

WEDNESDAY,

WEDNESDAY, 28 FEBRUARY, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Fromlin in the Chair.
Mr. Olliffe, | Mr. Griffiths,
Mr. Abigail.

Mr. Philip Cohen called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. John Emerson (Oysterman), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. John Longford called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That Mr. Patrick Shody, Mr. Peter James and Mr. Peter Gascoigne, be summoned to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Wednesday next, at Two o'clock.]

WEDNESDAY, 7 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Fremlin in the Chair.
Mr. Griffiths, | Mr. Olliffe,
Mr. Abigail, | Mr. Young.

Mr. Peter James (a Lessee of Oyster-beds), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. John M'Hugh (Fisherman), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness produced the bunt of a fishing-net which had been condemned in consequence of the mesh having shrunk below the legal size.

Witness withdrew.

Chen Ah Teak called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. James Gascoigne (Fisherman) called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Thomas Gascoigne (Fisherman) called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Thomas Lambert (Fisherman) called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That J. R. Edwards, Esq., and Mr. F. J. Gibbons, be summoned to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Friday next, at half-past Two o'clock.]

FRIDAY, 9 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Fremlin in the Chair.
Mr. Olliffe, | Mr. Young,
Mr. Purves, | Mr. Griffiths.

Mr. Osborne Wilshire called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Frederick John Gibbins (a Lessee of Oyster-beds), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That Dr. Cox and Chief Inspector Quinan be summoned, to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Wednesday next, at Two o'clock.]

WEDNESDAY, 14 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT :—

Mr. Fremlin in the Chair.
Mr. Griffiths, | Mr. Olliffe,
Mr. Purves, | Mr. Abigail,
Mr. T. R. Smith.

James Charles Cox, Esq., M.D. (President of the Fisheries Commission), called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness handed in certain documents, which were ordered to be appended. (See Appendices A 1 to A 7.)

Witness withdrew.

J. R. Edwards, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Committee deliberated.

Ordered,—That Mr. Chief Inspector Quinan and Mr. George Warrington, be summoned to give evidence next meeting.

[Adjourned to Friday next, at Two o'clock.]

FRIDAY,

FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Fremlin in the Chair.

Mr. Olliffe, | Mr. Abigail,
Mr. Griffiths.

Mr. James Quinan (Chief Inspector of Fisheries) called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness handed in certain documents, which were ordered to be appended. (See Appendices B 1 and B 2.)

Witness withdrew.

Mr. George Warrington (Fisherman) called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Committee deliberated.

[Adjourned to Thursday next, at half-past Two o'clock.]

THURSDAY, 22 MARCH, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Fremlin in the Chair.

Mr. Olliffe, | Mr. Young.

Mr. William John Langham called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Mr. Richard Seymour (Inspector under Fisheries Act) called in and further examined.

Witness withdrew.

W. E. Langley, Esq., called in, sworn, and examined.

Witness withdrew.

Re-assembling of the Committee to be arranged by the Chairman.

[Adjourned.]

FRIDAY, 20 APRIL, 1883.

MEMBERS PRESENT:—

Mr. Fremlin in the Chair.

Mr. Young, | Mr. Griffiths,
Mr. Olliffe, | Mr. T. R. Smith.

Clerk submitted to the Committee a letter from Mr. J. R. Edwards making a claim for expenses incurred in attending to give evidence before the Committee.

Committee deliberated, and decided not to allow expenses to Mr. Edwards.

Chairman submitted Draft Report which was read 1^o.

Draft Report read 2^o paragraph by paragraph.

Paragraphs 1, 2, and 3 read and agreed to.

Paragraph 4 read.

Amendment proposed (Mr. Young) to omit all the words after the word "recommend" in line 1, with a view to the insertion of the following words:—"That no restriction should be placed on the size of mesh in the nets to be used, but that the taking or killing of small fish should be prevented by penalties for selling or wilfully killing fish of less weight than is allowed under the Schedule when amended as proposed."

Question,—That the words proposed to be omitted stand part of the paragraph,—put.

Committee divided.

Ayes.	No.
Mr. Olliffe.	Mr. Young,
Mr. Griffiths,
Mr. T. R. Smith.

And so it was resolved in the affirmative.

Paragraph, as read, agreed to.

Paragraphs 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 read and agreed to.

Chairman to report to the House.

LIST OF WITNESSES.

	PAGE.
Chen Ah Teak	16
Cohen, Mr. Philip	8
Cox, James Charles, Esq., M.D.	24
Edwards, J. R., Esq.	29
Emerson, Mr. John	10
Gascoigne, Mr. James	16
Gascoigne, Mr. Thomas	17
Gibbins, Mr. Frederick J.	21
James, Mr. Peter	13
Lambert, Mr. Thomas	18
Langham, Mr. William J.	37
Langley, W. E., Esq.	42
Longford, Mr. John	11
M'Hugh, Mr. John	15
Price, Mr. Charles	7
Quinan, Mr. James	30
Seymour, Mr. Richard	4, 40
Warrington, Mr. George	36
Wilshire, Mr. Osborne	19
Woods, Mr. Frederick	1

LIST OF APPENDICES.

PAGE.

(To the evidence of James Charles Cox, Esq., M.D., 14 March, 1883.)

A 1.
Particulars of seizures of unlawful nets since 24th October, 1882, in the Home District	44
A 2.
Correspondence in connection with the seizure of Mr. Knox's net	45
A 3.
Correspondence in connection with seizure of Mr. Midwater's net.....	46
A 4.
List of prices of fish sold in the Fish Market, on 13th March, 1883	47
A 5.
List showing Licenses issued under the Fisheries Act of 1881, for the year 1883	48
A 6.
List of fish, with prices, sold in the Fish Market, on 14th March, 1883	51
A 7.
Correspondence respecting unmarketable-sized oysters sold by Mr. Clarke, the lessee of the Port Stephen's beds.....	51

(To the evidence of Mr. Inspector Quinan, 16 March, 1883.)

B 1.
Copy of Magistrate's certificate, given under the 25th section of the Fisheries Act, on the seizure of a net by the Inspectors.....	52
B 2.
Proposed amended Schedule of lawful weights of fish	52

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY,
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

WORKING OF THE FISHERIES ACT OF 1881.

TUESDAY, 13 FEBRUARY, 1883.

Present:—

MR. FREMLIN,	MR. OLLIFFE,
MR. GRIFFITHS,	MR. PURVES,
MR. YOUNG.

A. R. FREMLIN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. Frederick Woods, called in and examined:—

1. Chairman.] You are a fisherman at Botany? Yes.
2. How many years have you been there? Twenty-five years.
3. How many persons are employed with you in fishing? My two sons, and another young man that has been with me for fifteen years.
4. Have you always been able to earn a good living until recently? Yes, until the new Act came into force. Since then I have had to do work elsewhere at odd times.
5. What kind of fish do you chiefly catch at Botany? Gar-fish, bream, whiting, mullet.
6. Will you explain to the Committee the difficulties you have to complain of under the present Fisheries Act? First, the closing of the rivers. They closed George's River in winter-time. That is our main place of support in winter-time; we have nowhere else to go in bad weather. Even the fish fly to the river. Since the closing of that of course we have had to stop at home.
7. What is the reason given for closing George's River in winter-time? Because they say the fish spawn at that time; but the fact is that the fish spawn in the summer-time.
8. Then you think the proper time to close the rivers would be in the summer-time, not in the winter? Yes. It stands to reason, the little fish like to be in the warm water. When we land our net in summer-time all the little fish die the moment we haul them ashore; the hot water on the beach kills them. In winter-time the small fish fly to the deep water, and are not there to kill.
9. Are you constantly engaged in fishing now? Yes, except when I can get a job elsewhere.
10. Do you mean to say that when you can get other employment now you prefer it to using your nets? I would prefer it to going fishing under the Act as it is now, because I don't know when the Inspector will come down upon me; I do not know when I am right or when I am wrong. In one part of the Act it specifies that I am only to use a gar-fish net to catch gar-fish, but when I throw the net out I do not know what I may catch. I might haul in a load of bream, but under the Act I would have to throw them away if the Inspector came down on me to seize me. That is the Act now.
11. Supposing the fish you caught in this net were of the proper legal size —? They could be seized if they were caught in a gar-fish net.
12. Simply because they had been caught in a gar-fish net? Yes.
13. What was the size of mesh for a gar-fish net under the old Act? One inch and a quarter, which would tan down to an inch; when it tanned down to an inch we used to reckon that the net was worn out and was no good.
14. What is the size under the present Act? One inch and a half is the size now, and a 3-ounce gar-fish.

Mr. F. Woods,
13 Feb., 1883.

- Mr. F. Woods. 15. Can you catch gar-fish with an inch-and-a-half net? No, they go through it. I would like some of you gentlemen to go with me and see it. I might surround a school of gar-fish with the net allowed by the present Act, and not catch a bucket-full.
- 13 Feb., 1883. 16. What size mesh would you recommend for a gar-fish net if the Act should be altered by Parliament? I should ask for an inch and a quarter mesh, to be tanned down to an inch. A net has to be tanned every time you get amongst the blubber. I might have a brand new net, and I might shoot it and get it full of blubber. If I do not tan it there and then, or take it into fresh water, it goes rotten.
17. What is the size of the larger-sized gar-fish;—how large do they run? The largest sized gar-fish may run 3 ounces—one out of about 500; that is the overgrown ones; the general run is an ounce and a half or 2 ounces.
18. What is the smallest you are allowed to catch now? 3 ounces.
19. What weight for gar-fish would you be satisfied with if the Act were altered? For river gar-fish an ounce weight—that should be the lowest. That was what I put in in a statement before the Commissioners, because I knew I would not get it. A good many people ask for what they know they can't get. If you were to get a dozen fishermen I don't suppose you would get two statements alike.
20. You think about an ounce and a quarter would be a fair size? An ounce and a quarter or an ounce and a half.
21. A 1-inch net would catch these fish? Yes.
22. But a larger net would allow them to pass through? Yes. There are two sorts of gar-fish, the river gar-fish and the sea gar-fish; the sea gar-fish are larger.
23. Mr. Purves.] Which kind are you speaking of, when you give the weight as an ounce and a quarter? The river gar-fish.
24. Chairman.] What is the size at present allowed for what you call a summer net? Two inches and a quarter in the bunt and 3 inches in the wings.
25. What was the size under the old Act? Two inches and a quarter we used to buy it, and it used to be tanned down to 2 inches, and in the wings it would be 3 inches, which would tan down to 2½ inches; when the wings got down to 2½ inches we put them in the centre. Now we must buy a 3½ inch net for the wings and tan it down to 3 inches, and when it comes below that we must throw it away. It is too large for the bunt and too small for the wings. You could not catch whiting with a 3-inch mesh in the centre.
26. Mr. Purves.] What is the present size for a net to catch whiting? 3 inches in the wings and 2½ in the centre.
27. Chairman.] That is for a 4-ounce fish? Yes.
28. What do you think should be the legal size for whiting? I am satisfied with a 4-ounce fish, but you cannot catch 4-ounce fish with the present net.
29. Then the nets allowed by the present Act are practically useless for whiting? Yes.
30. Is that the reason why whiting are so dear and scarce in Sydney? It must be so; you can see them going through the net.
31. What size mullet will such a net catch? Mullet have bigger heads; the nets will stop them; 6-ounce fish.
32. You are not allowed to sell 6-ounce mullet? No.
33. Is a 6-ounce mullet a fair sized marketable fish—if you were allowed to catch it? Yes.
34. Is a 5-ounce black bream a fair marketable fish? Yes; plenty of people like them of that size better than they do the larger ones.
35. You are not allowed to catch 5-ounce black bream? No, they must be 8 ounces.
36. You consider a 5-ounce black bream a fair fish for market? Yes; we would sell more 5-ounce than 12-ounce bream, if we were allowed, because they are a sweeter fish.
37. Is travally a very saleable fish? No, not very saleable; it is used a good deal for bait.
38. It is sold in the markets, is it not? Yes.
39. How many fishermen have left Botany since the passing of the new Act? Eight have left Botany and are now working at Lake Macquarie.
40. Why did they leave Botany? When this Act was passed they could hardly make a living at all; they had to go somewhere.
41. What is the reason they can make a better living at Lake Macquarie? Even there they have to work night and day, and a third of their earnings go to the steamers that bring the fish up. They had to leave their wives at home. They have been away twelve months now. Three boats' crews on the river had to leave off fishing and go to work on the road.
42. How many fishermen less than there used to be are plying their vocation at Botany Bay since the passing of this Act? About sixteen.
43. Is there any "stalling" going on now? No.
44. Are you not allowed to "stall" under certain conditions? No.
45. You are allowed to use a 4-inch net? Yes, to go round the rocks, but not for stalling.
46. Stalling is completely abolished then? Yes.
47. Amateur fishermen are allowed to do what you are not allowed to do? Yes; they can catch just whatever they like. This Act was made to protect the fish we must not catch, but it seems as if it was made for the pleasure of the amateur fisherman. The fish we dare not touch they can haul up as fast as they like—those little red bream. That is no protection for the fish.
48. When you are out fishing with nets you often destroy sharks, do you not? Very often.
49. You scarcely ever take a haul without destroying some sharks? Very seldom, especially at night-time.
50. Which would you think would destroy most fish, the smaller nets that used to be used by the fishermen or the sharks outside? I think the sharks.
51. Then if you destroy the sharks in plying your vocation you more than recoup the water for the fish you take out? Decidedly. Sometimes the larger sharks ruin our nets.
52. Have you had any nets seized under the new Act? No.
53. Do you know of any having been seized? There is one along the river now—a poor old man that to my knowledge has been thirty years there, if not forty; his net was seized a fortnight ago.
54. Was that his livelihood? Yes, he had nothing else.

55. What would it cost him to replace that net? I daresay it would cost him £20. It was only a little net, but it was his livelihood. He was trying to get a few oysters, and he was seized and got a month in Liverpool gaol. Mr. F. Woods.
13 Feb., 1883.
56. What fish was he catching when his net was seized? He was putting it across some of the heads of the small bays.
57. Contrary to the law? Yes. The man was there by himself—an old feeble man, who could do nothing else.
58. If the Act was so altered as to allow you to kill a smaller fish, and there were not so many restrictions about winter-fishing in the rivers, could you pursue your avocation with profit again? Most certainly.
59. Mr. Griffiths.] Do you make any objections to the specified length of the nets? Yes; the gar-fish net is too short. In my statement before the Commissioners I asked for 50 fathoms in the bunt, and 50 fathoms on each of the wings; that is 150 fathoms.
60. Do I understand you to say that if you shoot a gar-fish net and take other fish you have to throw these other fish away? I am under a liability if the Inspector comes down upon me. If I catch whiting or bream, or whatever fish it is, when using a gar-fish net, I am liable.
61. Are you interested in any oyster-beds? No.
62. You have no evidence to give on that subject? No.
63. Your complaint is that a strict interpretation of the Act prevents you getting a living as a fisherman? Yes, it hurts me a great deal.
64. Mr. Purves.] You mean that you cannot now get a livelihood by fishing? Not the same as I used to.
65. But you can get a livelihood? A very poor one. It takes all my earnings now to get fresh nets to comply with the Act.
66. You are obliged to lay out more capital than you used to do? Yes.
67. Chairman.] Do you not get an increased price for the fish you catch now? Yes, because there is a scarcity in the market. The shopkeepers must have them, and of course they bring a little more, but that is no benefit to us.
68. The public have to pay for that? Yes.
69. Mr. Young.] Do they not give you more for the fish? It is not much more that they give to us.
70. Mr. Olliffe.] How much more? According to the supply in the market. One morning I have known fish to bring £1 a basket, and another morning half-a-crown or 2s.? There is no great consumption of fish in Sydney, and never was. If the market was full every morning in the week I believe the fishermen would not average 4s. a basket.
71. Mr. Purves.] Then your not making a living by fishing must be to some extent the fault of the people you think? It is a good deal the fault of the dealers who hold out for such enormous prices that people do not care to buy.
72. Mr. Young.] Can you give us any idea of the difference between the price the dealers give you and the price they sell to the public at? No, I could not.
73. Mr. Olliffe.] Has the market often been over supplied since the Act was passed? It has, but the fish has not been good.
74. Why? On account of the warm weather; it would not stand good an hour after it leaves the market.
75. While in the market it is sound? Yes; but the fish will not stand while the dealers take them round. In warm weather we sometimes work all night, up to 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning, trying to get fresh fish for the market. Fresh fish bring twice or three times as much as others, because they will keep while they are being taken round by the dealers.
76. Have you been able to supply the demand? The supply depends upon the weather. We could supply the demand if we could get the fish; but it is according to the weather. If you were to close up George's River, and it came on heavy weather, we would not get one of these fish—they would all go clean out of the Heads altogether. If the river was closed for two years, and there came on heavy rains, like those of last month, the fish would go clean out of the bay altogether. If the river were not closed we could catch them while they were in the river; but one storm would clear the whole lot out.
77. Mr. Young.] Do they not come back? No; fish always work to the northward; they travel round the coast.
78. Chairman.] Have you known the bay to be for a fortnight without any fish? Yes, we have been waiting for the fish to come up from the south. Sometimes they will go past Botany Heads and not come in at all, and past Broken Bay, right down the coast. If the weather is fine the fish will go into Botany, Port Hacking, and all the bays along the coast.
79. Mr. Purves.] Your theory is that the fish keep working up the coast? Yes.
80. Mr. Young.] Then you think there is no advantage in having a close season at all. I cannot see it. The river might be full of garfish this week, and if there comes a week's heavy weather they are all away to sea. Garfish spawn twice a year.
81. Mr. Purves.] At what times? In the summer-time. They come on the sea-beaches and in the bay to spawn.
82. Mr. Olliffe.] Do you not sometimes have to watch them for weeks? Yes. Sometimes we have to kill them on Curnella Beach.
83. It is a common thing to watch a school of fish for days? Yes, I have watched them for weeks.
84. Chairman.] Do not the flocks of gannet and shags that follow them overhead destroy them in thousands? Yes.
85. Mr. Olliffe.] You told the Committee just now that the price of fish has not much increased with fisherman since the new Act has been in force;—do you know whether there has been any alteration in the price to the consumer? We cannot tell what the price of fish will be in the market when we come in. Suppose twelve different boats come in, and each boat puts out its fish, the first boat may get 10s. a basket, and the last boat get £1 for the same quantity.
86. Chairman.] Mr. Olliffe means, are fish dearer now in Sydney than they were two years ago? Yes, they are dearer, because they are scarcer.
87. Mr. Young.] Do you get more for them? Yes, but we get less fish, and they do not pay us in the long run so well as they used to do.
88. Then there is no alteration to you of any consequence? Yes, I would sooner get plenty of fish, and get a reasonable price for them. We have to work and slave very hard for what we get now. 89.

- Mr. F. Woods, 89. Mr. Griffiths.] Have fish increased in numbers since this Act came into force? They are just about the same. It is just according to the weather. If it comes a dry season fish are sometimes very scarce till the proper time, and then they come all at once. I defy the Inspectors or any one else to tell me how the fish breed, or how they come or where they go.
- 13 Feb., 1883. 90. Mr. Olliffe.] Has anything come under your observation to make you believe that the provisions of this Act have been the means of increasing the supply of fish? No, it has decreased them. What we are not allowed to sell the amateur fishermen can catch as they please. The Act is making no new supply to us; the fish are getting less, I say.
91. The number of fish have decreased, you think? Yes, because it is left open to the amateur fishermen to catch what they please. This Act was made to protect fish, but instead of protecting fish it protects amateur fishermen. There are fifty amateur fishermen for one working fisherman, and they are allowed to kill any fish they please.
92. By what means? By hook and line. Six or seven of them in a boat will go and get a basket or two by these small bream-lines.
93. Chairman.] If you caught these fish by hook and line you would not be able to sell them because they are under the legal size? Yes.
94. Mr. Olliffe.] Do not amateurs come under the same rule? No; a lot of them go in small steamers and bring them home and make a present of them to shops and gentlemen; and if they make them a present of the fish I suppose they make them in return a present of something else. I think the amateur fishermen should be put on the same terms as we are, and should not be allowed to kill the small fish. If the amateur fishermen were not allowed to kill the small fish they would grow to a certain size.
95. Mr. Young.] Our desire is to obtain information as to whether this Act has been the means of increasing or decreasing the numbers of fish in the water? I do not see that it has made any difference; I think they are about the same as what they have always been.
96. Chairman.] Is there any other information you can give us? No; I only want a certain sized net and a certain sized fish.
97. Mr. Griffiths.] You want the size of the nets altered, the weight of the fish altered, and the time for fishing altered? Yes.

WEDNESDAY, 21 FEBRUARY, 1883.

Present:—

MR. GRIFFITHS,
MR. OLLIFFE,

MR. T. R. SMITH,
MR. YOUNG.

A. R. FREMLIN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. Richard Seymour called in and examined:—

- Mr. R. Seymour. 98. Mr. Olliffe (in the Chair pro tem.)] What is your position? Inspector of Nuisances of the City of Sydney, and Inspector and Auctioneer of the Sydney Fish Market.
- 21 Feb., 1883. 99. Will you be kind enough to give us what information you may possess as the result of your experience of the working of the Fisheries Act of 1881? Since the Fisheries Act has come into force the falling-off in the supply of fish in the Market has been very considerable, especially in gar-fish. The gar-fish mesh is a certain size, and the weight of the fish not less than 3 ounces, and it is impossible to catch fish of that size in the present gar-fish net. To meet the difficulty I would suggest that the gar-fish net should not exceed 150 fathoms in length—the bunt to be 50 fathoms with $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch mesh when new, and the wings each 50 fathoms with a 2-inch mesh when new. Then when the gar-fish net reduces to 1 inch, in place of the fishermen having to throw it away it would become a prawn net. I should also recommend, as the result of my experience, that the seine net should be not exceeding 200 fathoms—the bunt $2\frac{1}{4}$ inch mesh and the wings $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch, when new. Then the $2\frac{1}{4}$ inch bunt, when not in accordance with the regulations for a seine net, comes in for the wings of a gar-fish net. The prawn net at present is 15 fathoms. I would suggest that it should be from 15 to 25 fathoms and not more than 25 fathoms with 1 inch mesh. By following the plan I have suggested a seine net would tan down so that it could be used as the wings of a gar-fish net, then as the bunt of a gar-fish net, and then as a prawn net, and by the time it got to that it would be worn out and of little use for anything. I see that by the new Bill prepared by the Fisheries Commissioners for submission to Parliament some changes are recommended in the size of the fish allowed to be caught. I have brought up a lot of fish here to show you the weight of the different sizes. The schnapper is recommended at 16 ounces under the new Bill, the same as in the present Act; I think it should remain the same. The black bream under the present Act is 8 ozs.; I would suggest that it should be reduced to 6 ozs.; and the tarwhine, the weight of which is not now specified, should be not less than 5 ozs. The black-fish in the present Act is 8 ozs.; I think it should be 6 ozs. Rock-cod, I should say, should remain as they are, 8 ozs.; and gurnet the same. Flat-head the same as in the Act. Mullet of the variety commonly known as hard-gut mullet, as mentioned in the Schedule, I think ought to be reduced to 6 ozs., for it is very seldom they go to 12 ozs. as specified by the Act. The hard-gut mullet are a kind that comes in before the sea-mullet. The fan-tail mullet should remain at 4 ozs. Whiting should be not less than 3 ozs. Soles and flounders as here, 4 ozs.; and pike, 8 ozs.
100. Is there not a species of mullet known as sand mullet? Yes, sand or bull-nosed mullet; they are put down at 4 ozs., the same as the fan-tail mullet; anything less than that would not be worth buying. Trevally I should say should be reduced to 6 ozs., instead of 8 ozs.; and gar-fish from 3 ozs. to 2 ozs.—not less than 2 ozs. Lobsters are always over 16 ozs.; they should be allowed to remain at that. Murray Cod, 16 ozs., and perch, 4 ozs., should be allowed to remain as they are.
101. Do you know anything about the Murray River lobster, or fresh water cray-fish? No.
102. Is there anything else you would suggest? I would suggest that during the winter months Botany and Port Jackson should be altogether closed. What I mean by the winter months would be from the 1st March to the 30th September.
103. The whole of the bays? Yes, from the Heads to the end.
104. Mr. Griffiths.] Do you mean for all fishing? For all net fishing.
- 105.

105. Mr. Olliffe.] Does this Act deal with anything but net-fishing? It deals with line-fishing for schnapper, and other line fish.

106. You would not ask that the restriction should be imposed upon line fishers? No. I would also suggest that Tuggerah Lake should be opened at once for the benefit of the fishermen, as it is swarming with fine whiting, far larger than the largest I have got here.

107. Mr. Young.] Is it closed now? Yes, it has been closed ever since the Act came in force.

108. Mr. Olliffe.] Would you open it without any restriction at all? Yes, for a certain time. I think Tuggerah Lake and Broken Bay should be open the whole of the summer months. All the other fisheries—Lake Macquarie, Port Stephens, Newcastle, the Wollongong or Illawarra fisheries—ought to be open during the whole of the winter months. Fish from those places during the summer months, by the present means of bringing it, three-parts of it goes bad before it reaches the market.

[Mr. Fremlin here took the chair.]

109. Mr. Smith.] How far is Tuggerah Lake from Sydney? I believe it is about half-way between here and Newcastle.

110. Chairman.] You have been many years engaged in the sale of fish? Yes, eleven years next month since the opening of the market.

111. Of course there were some alterations needed under the old Act, the first Act? Yes, very badly.

112. If the fishermen were under the surveillance of the police and of the inspector who inspects the size and weight when the fish come into the market, do you think there would be any necessity for other inspectors? The only necessity that I would see would be for inspectors to look after closed waters. If certain bays or waters were closed it would be decidedly necessary to have police or inspectors to see that they were not fished surreptitiously.

113. Have you seen the suggestions made by the Commissioners as to alterations in the Act? Yes, I have a copy of their Bill.

114. They suggest in that every constable of whatever grade in the Force should be an inspector in virtue of his office. Now, don't you think that if policemen were stationed all along the coast in various places they could do the duty as well as inspectors? Certainly. If I had no one to interfere with me at the Fish Market, and the Act said fish must be of a certain size, I would not allow anything else to come in—I should seize them directly.

115. Under the present Act, when fish have come in, of which by far the larger proportion were of the proper size, have you known the whole of them to be seized because there were a few undersized fish among them? Yes; and I have known fish to be seized that did not come under the Act at all. I have known that to be done repeatedly with tarwhine, the weight of which is not mentioned in the Act; the name is mentioned in the first schedule, but there is nothing about the weight.

116. How much fish have you known to be forfeited under the present Act? Great quantities.

117. Can you mention the quantity forfeited in one morning? I could not do so now; but I could give you the quantities, because I have them in our books.

118. What becomes of these fish? Those seized in the market since 14th January, 1882, are sent to the charitable institutions.

119. In every case? In every case that I know of. I am speaking of what comes into the market. What is seized outside I know nothing about.

120. Supposing a load of fish comes in for sale and two-thirds of them are of the legal size and one-third below the legal size, would the whole of those fish be forfeited? They would, according to the present Act.

121. Have they been? Yes, they have been. I have known a Botany fisherman to lose several bushels of fine large bream for only having a dozen or so of small tarwhine among them; the whole of them have been seized. I thought it one of the cruellest things I ever saw.

122. What Inspector was that? Inspector Quinan. These fish would have brought that morning at least 12s. 6d. a heap—that is, 25s. a bushel, to the best of my belief. I think there were 7 or 8 bushels of them.

123. Nearly £10 worth of fish that this man had forfeited through having a few under size? Yes.

124. Do you know any fishermen that have given up their employment since the Act came into force? I do—men that are working now on the Corporation works at Botany.

125. Were they Botany fishermen? Yes.

126. Do you remember my stating that in the House? Yes.

127. And you saw it contradicted next day by the Commissioners and Inspector Quinan? Yes.

128. And you know that what I stated was true? Yes. I know the men are working for the Corporation at the present moment, and I know several of the Botany fishermen have come to me and asked me to get them employment as scavengers or anything else, as they could not live by fishing under the present system. A more industrious body of men we have not in the Colony, and I think I have had a good deal of experience. Before the Fish Market was established there was no more pitiful sight ever seen than these poor people with their wives and daughters standing on the wharves waiting for hours to see if they could get their fish sold. I then applied to the Mayor and Council and got the thing worked till we got a fish market built after a great deal of trouble, and it was opened next month will be eleven years. The market was thrown open by the Corporation till November free for the sale of fish; the people could use the stalls or anything else, and in the beginning of November I commenced to sell by auction. Eventually these poor unfortunate people were enabled to leave their wives at home, next the daughters were able to stop at home, and the fathers or sons only need come to market. Their children went to school, and they left off fishing on Sunday. I think there is only one man now who fishes on Sunday. I often say I consider myself the father of the Fish Market.

129. Do you know the family of the Smiths at Botany? I do.

130. I think in 1880, if my memory serves me, you sold for the Smith family about £1,550 worth of fish for the one year? Yes.

131. What would be a rough guess of the amount sold for them in 1882? I have made an estimate that in four and a half years I sold for them about £5,470 worth of fish.

132. How much did you sell for them last year? I sold a deal of fish for them last year.

133. They still pursue their work? They are now at Lake Macquarie.

- Mr. R. Seymour.
21 Feb., 1883.
134. Not at Botany? No, at Lake Macquarie; Charlie Smith got married there. They had to leave Botany. Johnson, of Botany, had a lot of black bream in the market last week, the result of twenty-four hours' work—I think they were got at Port Hacking—which brought him £50 18s. There is another thing I think it right of me to mention. There were two nets seized from a poor fellow by the name of Mildwater, and in consequence he was so hard up that he had to borrow £50 from Mr. Assenheim to buy another net. That net was then seized for being too short. It was locked up in the Fish Market, and his wife and children were actually starving, and getting assistance from people in the market. Eventually, when several of these new gentlemen came into the Commission, he got an order to go and take his net, after it had been lying there two months. I cannot for the life of me understand how the net being too short could do any harm.
135. Was this the same Inspector—Quinan? Yes. (The witness here exhibited to the Committee a number of fish of different sorts and of different sizes and weights, which he had collected to illustrate the working of the Act.)
136. Mr. Olliffe.] You think a restriction as to the weight of gar-fish is necessary? Yes; but the weight mentioned in the present Act, 3 ozs., ought to be reduced to 2 ozs.
137. Chairman.] You would not reduce the legal weight of gar-fish to 1½ oz? I would; but I would not go past that.
138. Mr. Olliffe.] Will you be kind enough to tell me why you think there should be any restriction as to the length of a net—you say it should not be longer than 200 fathoms—why should there be any restriction? I am speaking from my knowledge of the fishermen—they always wish to fish with a net not exceeding 200 fathoms.
139. Supposing a fisherman thought fit to have a net 300 fathoms long, what objection is there to that, or is there any objection? I cannot see any objection myself, further than a man of means may have a net so long as to monopolize the whole of a valuable fishing-place.
140. Is there any objection to having a net of 250 fathoms or 300 fathoms? I believe a seine net of 300 fathoms would be unworkable.
141. You have told us of a fisherman whose net was seized for being too short: what objection is there to that? I do not see any.
142. Do you think there should be any restriction in the Act rendering these people liable to punishment if their nets exceed 200 fathoms? I think when you look at the fishermen working together the net should not exceed 200 fathoms, because if a man takes up (say) 500 fathoms, he keeps some one else from earning his bread.
143. I understood you to say such a clause was not necessary? It is necessary. In the first place, I am sure that a net much over 200 fathoms is unworkable, and by having the nets 200 fathoms and no more, each man has a chance of working in a bay at the same time.
144. Mr. Griffiths.] Will you give us your experience with regard to the shrinkage of the net? To commence with a garfish net, your bunt is 1½ inch; then that with working in the water and tanning will reduce to close on an inch, or an inch and an eighth.
145. In how long a time? The space of time I could not say.
146. In a week or a month? No, not in a week or a month, nor in six months.
147. It is tanned once in how often? I think once in a season—once in a year.
148. Is the shrinkage from the water or from tanning? From tanning.
149. I understand that the great complaint against the working of the Act is the seizing of the nets? Yes.
150. That has occurred after the net has been inspected the first time, tanned, and reduced? Yes.
151. A man having a net an inch and a quarter or an inch and a half, tans that net, and it becomes less than an inch and a half? Yes.
152. Such nets have been seized on various occasions? Yes.
153. A net becomes illegal after the first tanning, if it is originally only just the proper size? Yes, of course it does after the first tanning.
154. Could you suggest a remedy for that? What I would suggest is, as I have stated, that the sizes of the meshes should be so prescribed that they would work down from one sized net to another until they became prawn nets, and got so old that they would be of no further use.
155. Would not this be an equitable thing, that a net previous to being used for the first time should be inspected and licensed, and have the Fisheries Inspector's mark put upon it, and then when the net decreased by use or tanning below a certain size, it should no longer be a legal net? I think the best way would be to work the three nets as I have suggested.
156. The Act now is that directly a net is below a certain size of mesh it is forfeitable? Yes.
157. If a net is the least under an inch and a half the Inspector can seize and forfeit it? Yes.
158. Is that a just and right thing when the same net a few weeks before it was tanned was full-sized? No, it is not; it should be allowed to work down to an inch and then be used as a prawn net.
159. Mr. Smith.] Do you think it should be stamped? Yes, and numbered when licensed.
160. Chairman.] Do you not think all this trouble about nets could be obviated by the simple practice of having the fish properly inspected as to size; if that were done thoroughly, would there be so much need of restriction as to nets? If only fish of a certain legal size or weight were allowed to be sold, and the inspector could seize all fish not up to weight, it would put an end to the whole thing. I know that plan is carried out in Tasmania—I saw it myself last Christmas. There was no seizing the nets there, or anything else.
161. Mr. Young.] It is not illegal to sell fish outside the market, is it? No; but if the keeper of a fish-shop or hawk in Sydney has fish under a certain weight he is liable for having them under weight. That is according to the present Act.
162. We have it in evidence from one fisherman that he considers the amateur fishermen interfere with the regular fishermen? I am sure they do.
163. Do you think they should be restricted? Yes, and I will tell you why. They go out schnapper-fishing outside the Heads in steamers, and they look out to see a fishing-boat and they go down right on top of him, so that the man is deprived of his living. Perhaps there are thirty or forty lines down at once from the steamer, and the bait and the burly they use attracts all the fish away from the fishing-boat, so that the man has to pull up his kellick and go somewhere else; and perhaps then they will follow him and take his ground ground again. It is a fact that they have done it. These fish that are brought in by the amateur fishermen are sold in the town. Last Monday morning I went to the Coffee Palace and saw dozens of plates of schnapper coming on the table, and there had not been a schnapper brought into the market that morning, but there had been three steamers out fishing on the Sunday. They sell them on the Circular Quay when they come in.

Mr.
R. Seymour,
21 Feb., 1883,

164. Is it within your knowledge that sharks destroy a great many fish? Yes.

165. Would you recommend that any reward should be given for their destruction? I would.

166. Is there any other fish that is destructive in the same way? The king-fish destroy a good many, but I do not know that they are as bad as sharks.

167. Mr. Smith.] You say you would recommend the closing up of Botany and Port Jackson in the winter months; would it not be better to close them in summer? No, because we can get fresh fish from them in summer when it will not keep long enough to be brought in from places further off. We depend on Botany and Port Jackson for fresh fish during the summer months. The present Act shuts up a portion of it in winter, and it might as well shut up the whole or open the whole.

168. Mr. Young.] A fisherman has given evidence here that in his opinion George's River should not be closed in winter? I consider that the whole of Botany Bay should be closed in winter. They can go to Lake Macquarie, Tuggerah, and the other places I have mentioned, in winter, and can send in abundance of fish. Charlie Smith made the greater portion of his money at Tuggerah at that time.

169. Chairman.] Will you kindly give us what you have to say about oysters? Any persons retailing oysters in Sydney have to pay a license fee of £5, and, as they buy these oysters from men licensed by the Government to get them, they consider this a great hardship. You might as well go into any shop in Sydney and say they must pay a license fee for selling clothes. There has been a great outcry from the whole of them. We have removed all the organ-grinders from the streets, and a great many of them are now keeping oyster-shops. There are more fish and oyster shops in Sydney than ever there were. When I first went to the Fish Market there were only four, but there are some dozens now.

170. Mr. Young.] Do you know anything about the cultivation of oysters? No.

171. Mr. Olliffe.] Do you think that since the Fisheries Act has been in force the supply of fish in the market has increased or decreased? Decreased. In the month of January we only got a bushel and a half of gar-fish, and they brought £2 18s. 6d., though we ought to be selling them at the present moment for 5s. a bushel.

172. Mr. Olliffe.] Do you think that is owing to the size of the net required by the Act being too large? Yes. Take an inch and a half mesh and see how many of the fish I have shown you will go through it.

Mr. Charles Price called in and examined:—

173. Chairman.] What are you? A fishmonger.

174. In Hunter-street? Yes.

175. How long have you been engaged in this trade? Twelve years.

176. Has the demand for fish increased during the last few years? No.

177. You sell all kinds of fish, oysters and everything? Yes.

178. Have you noticed any diminution in the supply of fish lately? I have.

179. Will you state to the Committee the kinds of fish you are most deficient in? Blackbreem, schnapper, garfish, and whiting.

180. What is the price of fish now, compared to what you had to pay two years ago? It is double the price.

181. Will you be kind enough to give the Committee what you believe to be the reason that fish is so dear now to what it formerly was? The fishermen say it is because they cannot get their nets.

182. Why—have their nets been seized? Yes, they have been seized by Mr. Quinan.

183. I suppose they mean that they have not the means of catching fish? They have not the means to get their livelihood.

184. Do you know what the price of these nets generally is? £45 to £60.

185. Of what size did you formerly get garfish? Some of them down as low as an ounce; a few as large as 4 ounces.

186. Do you not think an ounce too small? Yes.

187. What is the lowest size you would recommend? I should not like to see them under 2 ounces.

188. How small would you like to see a whiting sold? Not under 4 ounces.

189. Schnapper or bream? I would not like to see bream under 6 ounces.

190. Do you think that if the size of the mesh was altered again by Act of Parliament the supply of fish would increase? I could not say.

191. Do you believe the fishermen would resume their employment if they had the mesh of the old size? I believe they would.

192. Do your customers complain of the price of fish now? They do very much.

193. Does it affect your business in any way? It does.

194. Mr. Young.] What price do you pay for fish now, compared to what you used to pay two years ago? Two years ago I did not have the business, but I can show twelve years' receipts and compare them with mine, and my receipts are more than they paid that had the business before. These receipts will prove that my weekly account comes to more than his fortnightly account.

195. That might be because you sell more fish—I want to know the price for the same quantity of fish? I do not get as much fish as when Mr. Kohler was in the business; I cannot get a supply to serve my customers, and yet my weekly account is more than his fortnightly account was.

196. Have you only been in the business since the Act was passed? Yes, on my own account, but I was ten years with Mr. Kohler before. When Mr. Kohler had the business garfish were 8s. 6d. a bushel, now they are 35s., and other fish have increased in price also.

197. Do you have to pay a license-fee of £5 a year? Yes.

198. Do you think that is an unjust burden? Yes.

Mr. C. Price.
21 Feb., 1883.

WEDNESDAY, 28 FEBRUARY, 1883.

Present:—

MR. ABIGAIL, | MR. GRIFFITHS,
MR. OLLIFFE.

A. R. FREMLIN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. Philip Cohen called in and examined:—

- Mr. P. Cohen. 199. Chairman.] What are you? I am at present keeping the "Steayne Hotel," at Manly.
28 Feb., 1883. 200. You have taken great interest, I believe, in fishing for many years? Yes, for nearly half a century.
201. You thoroughly understand the different kinds of fish that frequent our coasts and bays? I do.
202. Do you know the fishermen who have been engaged in this employment for many years? Yes, a great number of them.
203. Mr. Olliffe.] Do you say you have been acquainted with fishing for fifty years? Between forty and fifty years, from boyhood upwards.
204. Chairman.] Do you remember the old Act? Driver's Act; yes, I do.
205. Do you think there was any actual damage done to the fisheries while that Act was in force? Yes, partly.
206. Will you be kind enough to state in what way you think it was injurious? I do not think Driver's Act was sufficiently restrictive as regards rivers and lagoons, but I believe it was suitable for coast fishing or bay fishing.
207. I suppose you mean that a lagoon ought to be protected in consequence of the fish spawning there? Yes, at certain seasons.
208. Since the passing of the Fisheries Act of 1881 have you carefully watched its effects? I have.
209. Will you state to the Committee your opinion of the working of that Act? The effect has been the complete disorganization of the fisheries; in fact it has been worse than useless; it has been tyrannical in the extreme as regards the fishermen, without effecting any useful object; in fact it is an ill-digested scheme altogether; it has not been carried out properly; it is not workable, and is grossly tyrannical.
210. You do not think it has had a good effect even in preserving fish? I am sure it has not.
211. Have you known any fishermen that have been compelled to give up their employment in consequence of this Act? I have. I will give you an instance of its tyrannical working: A man named William Mildwater, a very sober, industrious man, residing near Manly, brought up, bred, and born in that locality, his father before him having been a fisherman there. When this Act came into force this man, by his hard earnings was possessed of two boats and two nets. These nets had meshes that were of the size provided for—or at any rate they were legal—under Driver's Act. One of these nets was on the rocks, and the other was on what is termed the horse in front of his house. From conversation I know he intended to take out the bunt of that net and replace it with a bunt that would be legal under the new Act. While this net was hanging there Inspector Quinan came down and seized them both. They were not in use. The two nets were worth nearly £100. They were taken away, put into the Garden Palace, and destroyed when the palace was burnt down. The consequence was that the man was pretty well ruined, because he has a large family of children, and it would take him a long time to replace nets like these. Well, he purchased a new net after the destruction of these two; it had what is termed a booby bunt for gar-fish; the net when purchased had a mesh of the size indicated by the Act of 1881, an inch and a half, but when he put it in the tau of course it came down to an eighth of an inch less, and putting it in the water again brought it down another sixteenth perhaps. At any rate he bought it in accordance with the Act. I believe the bunt of this net was 45 fathoms, and the two wings 25 fathoms each, but I am not quite sure as to the exact length. The mesh in the wings was 2½ inches or 2⅓ inches. I forget exactly the size, but it was according to the Act of 1881. He used this net two or three times, and one night having a good haul of fish—to show the man's bona fides—he left the net in the stern sheets of the boat, on the rollers, and pulled up to the Fish Market. The Inspector came down, looked at his net, seized it, and took it from him. This was the third net seized from him.
212. Will you state what reason Mr. Quinan gave for seizing it? He seized it because the wings were not of equal length with the bunt, which is a most monstrous thing. That was one reason; and the other reason was because the mesh was about a sixteenth of an inch less than the proper size in the bunt. But his principal reason was that the wings were not of the same length as the bunt; the wings were not sufficiently long. When the man came back and told me I was perfectly horrified. He said, "What am I to do now?—I am ruined." I told him I would write to the Commissioners about it, and I did. I got an answer in due course. The Commissioners stated that under the circumstances as represented by me they would return the man the bunt of the net with the cork and head lines, but they would destroy or cut out the wings as being illegal—or that they would recommend that course to the Government, or something to that effect. I told the man he had better accept it, and set to work with his boys and make new wings. Well, after a vast deal of delay—I think two or three months—the man got this bunt back. But now comes the worst part of it. This Inspector, when he seized this new net, instead of hanging the net up to dry, put it in a heap in the Fish Market, and there it lay, wet as it came out of the boat, till it was almost rotten.
213. What is Mildwater doing now? He has a small net which I believe he either borrowed or purchased, but it is not of much account, from some man at Watson's Bay; but I think he is chiefly engaged now in line fishing.
214. You know the legal size of the present gar-fish net? Yes; I believe it is most absurd. These gar-fish are migratory and come in immense shoals, and even a large-sized gar-fish will not measure much more than an inch in diameter; therefore it is impossible to catch them in nets with the mesh required by the Act; they run through them like water through a sieve, and the men have their labour for nothing.
215. You know the present regulation size for gar-fish—3 ounces? Yes.
216. How much smaller would you recommend they should be sold without hurting our fisheries? From my practical knowledge I will answer that question in a rather round-about way. I cannot see how you can limit the size of gar-fish fairly. I will give my reasons why: A fisherman puts his net round a school of gar-fish; the fish make a rush for the bunt, and the small fish, generally speaking, get meshed, or even if they do not get meshed, they must come in with the bulk of the fish, and you cannot preserve them alive; they will not stand the knocking about or the handling if they are thrown into the water. Therefore if you do not allow the men to sell these fish they must be sorted out and left on the beach to rot. It does no good to try and save the small ones alive, for the fish come in such immense shoals that it is impossible to diminish the quantity of them; they are migratory and travel round the coast. The fishermen, as a rule, will never shoot round schools of very small-sized gar-fish if they can help it, because they are quite unsaleable.
of

217. You mean to say that they are so tender of life that the mere fact of hauling them in destroys them? Yes.

218. And if the fishermen are not allowed to sell them they are wasted? —

219. Mr. Griffiths.] You recommend, then, that there should be no limit to the size of gar-fish? I do.

220. Chairman.] Can you give us any information, with reference to any other nets sized, bearing on this question? I will give you one: There is a man, old Bob—I do not know his other name; his net was absolutely passed by the inspector, but two or three months afterwards it was seized, at the same time that he seized Warrington's net. Because the man happened to have four or five different sized meshes in his net it was seized, but it was perfectly harmless in its operation.

221. What I stated in the House, was that true or false, about the seizure of these nets? Perfectly true. I think, if you will allow me to offer a suggestion, that this Commission is a useless and cumbrous piece of machinery; it is perfectly useless, and never will work. The Act ought to be assimilated to that of Victoria. Instead of the Commission there should be a chief inspector of fisheries—a man who understands what he is about, not a man who cannot tell the bunt from the wings of a net; and he should have two or three subordinate inspectors and a clerk. That should be the whole department. In places where they might be required water bailiffs should be appointed. That would be quite sufficient.* It is so in Victoria. I was instrumental in getting the Victorian Act passed. I was living there at the time, and was solicited by the authorities to place my ideas and propositions in writing, which I did, and they were adopted in the present Victorian Act. The reason they have water bailiffs in Victoria is that in a great number of the rivers they are acclimating fish from other countries, and these fish have to be protected; therefore water bailiffs are employed to look after them, and also in other localities where it is necessary to protect the fisheries. The Chief Inspector of Fisheries has his office, but he is subordinate to the Commissioner of Customs, who is there a Minister of the Crown. Here he would be under the Colonial Treasurer. That Act has worked, so far as I know, admirably in Victoria; no tyrannical measures are ever known; the fishermen are satisfied; and the public are well supplied with fish since the Gippsland Lakes were thrown open by means of the railway from thence to Melbourne.

222. When the fishermen of Victoria infringe the Act there in force are their nets seized and forfeited, or is a fine only inflicted? When the fishermen infringe the Act the Inspector has no power of seizure, no power of confiscation, but on a third conviction a magistrate has it in his power to order the confiscation and destruction of the net. The most extraordinary part of this Act of 1881 is that the net can be resold, and the money put into the Consolidated Revenue of the country. The net is seized for being illegal, and yet the Commissioners have the power of selling that net by public auction. All the nets that were burnt in the Garden Palace were under orders for sale, and, had not the Palace been burnt down, they would have been sold.

223. Mr. Olliffe.] Not for fishing, but for other purposes? What purposes?

224. Chairman.] Do you know for a fact that any fishermen who possessed illegal nets were in treaty with fishermen in Queensland for the sale of these nets? That I could not tell. In the case of Mildwinter the seizure was a most cruel thing. They were taken from him when not in actual use. They were confiscated and burnt when the Exhibition building was burnt down, without giving the man a chance of altering them. The idea of a 3-inch mesh in the wings! It is impossible to catch such a fish as the whiting with such a mesh. About a fortnight ago John Skinner surrounded with his seine about two boat-loads of flat-tail and hard-gut mullet, and only succeeded in taking about two dozen, instead of two boat-loads.

225. Can you give us any information about oysters? I never paid much attention to oysters.

226. Is there anything else you would like to mention? I would like to say that I think the Government should make some compensation to those men who have been so cruelly used, for the excessive losses they have sustained.

227. Mr. Olliffe.] You are an hotel-keeper? Yes.

228. And therefore, I presume, you are a large purchaser of fish? Yes.

229. Can you inform the Committee what difference in the cost and supply of fish has taken place since the introduction of this Act? The price is more than double what it was, sometimes treble.

230. Chairman.] With a short supply? A very short supply. The men cannot get the fish under the restrictions imposed by the Act. Now the schnapper season is over we very seldom get any fish at Manly.

231. In what particular fish is the short supply most obvious? Whiting, gar-fish, and mullet—fish that are only caught by the net. Bream can be got by line-fishing.

232. I suppose you know that the present Act does not interfere with amateur fishing? It does not.

233. Have you known of any instances where amateurs have been fishing and have disposed of their fish by sale? Yes; there are some clubs, the members of which go out schnapper-fishing, and when they come back to the wharf sometimes part of their fish are sold there; I have seen them in the shops often.

234. They may sell illegal fish? Yes. With regard to red bream, which are the young of the schnapper, though at one time they were thought to be of a different species —

235. You never saw a red bream with a roe? No, nor never will. They are destroyed in myriads. That makes schnapper so scarce outside the Heads, though I know places along the coast where I could go and fill a ship, a thousand-ton ship, so to speak, where the young have not been interfered with. But in Sydney Harbour these red bream are caught in myriads, and that makes schnapper scarce here. You will see boys and men in the spring and summer months with great strings of them; they are caught in all directions.

* NOTE (on revision):—The idea of Local Boards at different points of the coast is a most absurd proposition, and could effect no useful purpose.

Mr. P. Cohen. directions. I would protect them, and I would protect the river fish also. With respect to gar-fish nets, I would recommend that a 1-inch mesh be allowed in the bunt; but I would strictly prohibit it in any lagoon or river, such as the Parramatta River or George's River. There is no doubt about it, the beaky seines, as the fishermen call them, are engines of great destruction if used as general nets. I think these nets should be prohibited for general purposes, and only used as gar-fish nets. Fishermen would have no excuse for saying they did not know there were other fish there. In ordinary net-fishing they very seldom get gar-fish. They can always see the work of the gar-fish on the top of the water, and they have no occasion to throw the net unless they can see the fish. When a fisherman goes out for general fishing he may take three or four hauls off one large beach, but he could not do that if going after gar-fish, because he can see the work of the gar-fish, and can close his net round them, and there is an end of it. Gar-fish are usually caught in daylight, because at night the fishermen cannot see the work, and do not know where the fish are. Sometimes on a moonlight night they can see the work, but it should be made prohibitory for them to use the gar-fish net for general purposes, or in rivers or lagoons. The lagoons that are closed now should not be kept closed altogether; they should be opened and closed alternately.

236. Mr. Olliffe.] In what year was the Victorian Act passed? I will not be certain, but I think it was either in 1869 or 1870, as far as my recollection serves me.

237. Is it in force now? Yes.

238. Has it been amended? It has never been amended to my knowledge. Under that Act there are certain places which they close alternately; they do not do as the authorities here have done, close the whole of them simultaneously. They ought to have opened them for a certain period; they ought to have been opened this summer and closed again in winter; they should not be open in winter, but in summer they should be open, and the fishermen should be allowed to take the matured fish out.

Mr. John Emerson called in and examined:—

Mr. J. Emerson. 239. Chairman.] You are engaged in the fish trade? Fish and oyster trade; oysters chiefly.

240. Have you been many years at it? Since 1861.

241. Where are you chiefly supplied from? From different places all along the coast from Moreton Bay to Twofold Bay, more or less.

242. You pay a license fee to the Treasury for selling oysters here? Yes.

243. Have you noticed any deficiency in the supply from New South Wales? Yes. Under the present Fisheries Act the oyster-beds are not leased; they are open to any one to work indiscriminately, that is, to all who choose to pay a license fee; and in a very short time they worked most of them out.

244. What modification or alteration in the Act would you suggest? I would suggest that the oyster-beds should be let on a long term, long enough to repay anyone for the outlay of capital in the cultivation of oysters, and it should be a condition of the lease that a certain quantity of spat or young oysters should be returned to the beds in proportion to the quantity of oysters taken out; such a proportion as the Commissioners or the Government might think proper. For instance, if a man takes 100 bushels of oysters off a bed, there would be a large quantity of small ones which should be returned, or even if there are not he should be compelled to put down a certain quantity of spawn, so as to keep up the supply.

245. You think that certain areas along the shore, or a certain description of beds, should be leased to certain people? I think so, under restrictions and under inspection.

246. Have you noticed any deficiency in the supply of fish? Yes. The fishermen to a great extent have been dissatisfied with the way in which they have been hampered, as to the size of the nets, and hauling the fish into their boats instead of hauling them on the beach.

247. What kinds of fish have you noticed to be more deficient than others? Garfish particularly. It is hardly possible to catch garfish with an inch and a half mesh. I was at Port Stephens some months ago and the fishermen there told me that out of a haul of 5 bushels in an inch and a half net they did not save two pecks.

248. Of course this must affect the price very much? It does affect it. I do not know of any trade so badly regulated; what we pay 2s. for on one day we pay two guineas on another.

249. You never experienced any of these difficulties under the old Act? No, we never noticed it so much, but still there were irregularities. The demand is now much greater than it was.

250. The demand is greater and the supply less? Yes, and I am inclined to think it will be less. I would not allow the inland waters to be continually drained of fish. I consider them to be nothing but breeding grounds. I do not think it will ever be possible to keep up a fish supply if you keep continually working the lakes and inland waters.

251. Do you know of any deep sea-fishing going on now, other than by lines? I do not; I think it is one of the things that should be encouraged; it must come to that, either by private enterprise or in some other way. You will never be able to keep the fish supply going merely by the inland waters.

252. You know the size of the nets used now? I could not enumerate all of them, but I know them pretty well.

253. If the mesh of the gar-fish net were smaller do you think we should get a better supply? Yes. I think there are certain fishes that never become sea-fish, and other fishes that the inland waters should never be drained of.

254. Mr. Griffiths.] Are you aware of any oyster-beds being let? Do you mean the oyster-beds or the foreshore?

255. The Act contemplates the letting of certain portions of the foreshores? I do not know of any, but I know of several applications that have been made for permission to form beds and cultivate oysters on certain portions of the foreshores, but the Commissioners have never been able to grant them.

256. Do you think that if these clauses were put in force the supply of oysters would be increased? I think it could be, but not at once.

257. The cultivation of oysters has not been increased under the Act? No; there has been no cultivation at all, because the Commissioners state that they have not power to grant leases. They maintain now that anything above a depth of water 4 feet below mean low-water-mark is not a natural oyster-bed; I think all these oysters have been grown by nature, and why they are not considered a natural oyster-bed I do not know.

258. Do you know anything about the surveying of these foreshores? I do not think any have been surveyed at all, not even those that have been applied for.

259. Then this Act has failed completely in assisting the cultivation of oysters? Yes, in every respect.
260. The whole of that portion of the Act wants revision? Yes.
261. Mr. Olliffe.] There is no difficulty in obtaining spat, is there? None whatever; you can get tons and tons of it even at Middle Harbour; and the reason it never comes to anything is that it is a long time exposed to the sun, and that in such places as Middle Harbour the water is so salt and rank that the young oysters never get beyond a certain size; but move them into mild water, and in the course of a few years they become just the same as the oysters in the natural beds where they are put.
262. Mr. Griffiths.] Where do you get your supply of oysters from that you use in your business? I am getting some now from Twofold Bay, and I also get some from Walagut Lake and from Bermagui; but for a long time I have had to a great extent to depend upon what I get from Queensland.
263. Was it not partly in consequence of this Act that all the artificial beds in George's River were given up? We gave them up because the old leases that were given were never valid, and we never knew but what other people could come and work upon the ground that we were paying for—if they took out a license.
264. Then this Act has been a great detriment to those who had artificial banks of oysters? A great detriment to them; it gives them no chance of forming artificial beds.
265. Mr. Holt and yourself had claires on George's River, but this Act coming into force induced you both to stop your business as oyster cultivators? Yes. There is another thing that I suggested, but it was never taken notice of; I mean in regard to lobsters or cray-fish. You may have noticed that frequently under the tail of the she lobster there is one mass of spawn; I suggested to Mr. Oliver that that should be included in the Act—that they should not be allowed to be caught during the time they were in spawn, or that if caught they should be immediately put back into the water. There would be no difficulty about putting them back, because after a lobster is caught it will live two or three days.
266. Chairman.] Is there any other suggestion you would like to make to the Committee? There is one suggestion I should like to make with regard to the leasing of oyster-beds, that they should make the leases sufficiently long to repay lessees for their outlay, so that the best results might be obtained. And the regulations should be stringent. So far as the foreshore is concerned, I am certainly of opinion that any one who owns the ground abutting on the foreshore should have the preference of taking it up fronting his ground if he chooses to do it, under the same regulations as any one else.
267. Mr. Abigail.] Are the Northern oyster-beds at Newcastle, Port Stephens, Lake Macquarie, the Manning, and the Hastings, under lease? The Manning River is closed; that is, not under lease; Port Macquarie is not under lease; the Bellinger is not under lease; Nambucca and the Tweed are not under lease; Cape Hawke is under lease, I think, till September, and Port Stephens till April.
268. Are these leases under the Act of 1881? No, under the Act of 1861. They are allowed to work them, although it is doubtful whether any of them are valid, or whether the new Act of 1881 gives the Commissioners power to make the existing leases valid till they run out.
269. The extent of the leases was ten years, was it not? Yes. I can give you the names of all the rivers that are under lease at the present time: Camden Haven expires on the 1st May; Cape Hawke, 1st September; Port Stephens, 1st May; Broken Bay, 1st October; Shoalhaven, 1st September; Clyde River, 1st September; and Tross River, 1st March, 1884. These are all the leases in existence now.
270. What term of lease would you advocate as being sufficient? Not less than fifteen years.
271. How would you offer these leases—by tender or by auction? I think they should go by tender. I think the persons who might have the opening of the tenders should take into consideration who they thought would work them best.
272. Would you do away with indiscriminate licenses? Yes.
273. You think the Government should hold one lessee responsible for the proper working of one lake or river? Yes, under strict supervision. I think persons engaged in the trade should have the preference—or any one that understood the trade.
274. You think that system would promote a better supply without in any way decreasing the revenue? Yes, I am satisfied it would be better, and would save all complaints. It is necessary there should be at the head of the Department some one who knows what are the requirements of the business. At present, through want of system, we sometimes do not get half the supply we want; at other times the oysters come in in gluts and half of them are destroyed.

Mr.
J. Emerson.
28 Feb., 1883.

Mr. John Longford, called in and examined:—

275. Chairman.] What are you? A Warder in Darlinghurst Gaol at present.
276. You have not been long from Victoria? Not long.
277. You were a careful observer, I believe, of the working of the Fisheries Act in Victoria? I was an Inspector of Fisheries under the Act for nearly four years.
278. Have you gone carefully through the Act in force here? Not very carefully, but I have noticed one or two little things in it.
279. Did the Act in force in Victoria work well? We had great difficulty with it at first. We had to get thorough practical knowledge with the fishermen before we could introduce anything that would protect the fish and serve the men as well; they held so many different opinions.
280. Was there much difficulty in administering the Act after it came into force? No, not much.
281. Did it operate harshly on the fishermen? No.
282. Did it improve the supply of fish? It did.
283. Has it given general satisfaction? Yes. We had to amend the Act after we got thorough knowledge of its working.
284. Can you tell the Committee the size of garfish that were allowed to be sold—or was there any restriction as to the size of garfish? Garfish was limited to a quarter of an ounce.
285. What was the size of whiting fixed by law? 3 ounces.
286. Black bream? 4 ounces.
287. Schnapper? 12 ounces.
288. Red bream? We have not the red bream there. We have what you call in this Colony black bream; we call it the common bream there.
289. Did you look upon the red bream as the young of the schnapper? That was my opinion.

Mr.
J. Longford.
28 Feb., 1883.

Mr.
J. Longford.
23 Feb., 1883.

290. Were red bream excluded from the Act? They were not mentioned in the Act. We had black bream and silver bream. In reference to garfish, we found it was of no use fixing the size, for once they got into the bunt of the net, or touched it at all, or if they got hurt in any way, they were killed. The Chief Inspector, therefore, came to the conclusion that the public might as well have the benefit of the fish as let them rot on the different fishing grounds; so the size was made a quarter of an ounce; I think it was 2 ounces before that.

291. Mr. Griffiths.] Was there power given to any one to do that? Yes, it was done by proclamation. There is power to alter the legal weights of fish in Victoria by regulation.

292. Chairman.] How many inspectors were there? Only four of us. The Chief Harbour-Master held the position of Chief Inspector of Fisheries; there were no Commissioners at all. The Chief Inspector had four assistant inspectors under him, who were allotted certain districts, to look after the fishing, and to suggest anything that would protect the fish.

293. When the fishermen infringed the Act in what way were they dealt with? That was according to how they infringed it. If they had small fish to the extent of one in twenty-five we seized them, either from the fishermen who had them in his boat, or from the hawkler or fish salesman who might have them in his possession.

294. What was the punishment? A fine of from £2 to £10, I think.

295. Were the nets seized for any offence? No, except when they were caught using them in illegal waters.

296. Who had the power to seize? The fish inspectors.

297. In all cases of breaking the law they were fined? Yes.

298. Supposing the mesh of a net was illegal, how was that dealt with? There was no law relating to that. From my experience I would not make a law to regulate the mesh of any net; I do not see how you can do it; it will not suit everybody.

299. Do you think that if inspectors are appointed to see that only fish of proper size are sold, there would be no necessity to legislate about the mesh of the net? No, there would not. I had charge of the Gippsland Lakes, which are salt in summer and nearly fresh in winter —

300. Mr. Griffiths.] Are they open to the sea? Yes, there is an opening very similar to Lake Macquarie. I was called upon to report on a proposal to abolish the use of the seine net. I will read you my report. (The witness read report referred to.) In the Act here I see that you close certain waters in the winter-time. That is a most ridiculous thing. If you want to close waters it should be in the summer-time, when the fish are spawning. In the summer-time, in the Gippsland Lakes, you can see the mullet waddling about near the shore, waiting to spawn, and the consequence is that the fishermen glut the market, and destroy the fish when they are full of roe.

301. Chairman.] When is a fish in the best condition? When it is full of roe.

302. Is it not a well known fact that in the herring fisheries in Great Britain the fish are always taken in full roe? Yes.

303. Why, then, if nature has provided the fish in good condition, should not the people be allowed to catch them? That is a very good argument of course, but you would destroy the fisheries if you continued to follow it.

304. Which do you think destroys most fish, birds and fish that prey upon them, or the fisherman who tries to supply himself and other with food? The birds and fish.

305. Then by preventing the fishermen catching the fish when in good condition you actually give the fish to the birds and sharks? No, I would not do that; I would not stop the fishermen from catching fish altogether, but I would close certain places at certain times. The fish go to certain places to spawn, and if disturbed they will not go again.

306. Was not a reward given for sharks in Victoria? Yes.

307. How did it work? I believe the Government were pretty well swindled. They brought in a lot of dogfish, and the Government paid for them instead of sharks.

308. That was owing to having ignorant people to manage the matter, I suppose? Yes. You were speaking of roe just now. Here is a form that was served out to us, and we had to supply the information mentioned here every month to the Chief Inspector. (The witness read the form referred to.)

309. Was the Fish Market in Melbourne well supplied when you were in Victoria? Yes; when the Gippsland Lakes were opened there was a great supply. This is another kind of form we used in Victoria. (Produced.)

310. Mr. Griffiths.] Are fish more plentiful in Melbourne than in Sydney? I think, since the opening of the Gippsland Lakes they have been, but before that they were not.

311. Where were they supplied from before? From the neighbourhood of Port Phillip Heads and from Geelong and Schnapper Point.

312. Were any fish brought in from Tasmania? Very few.

313. Whereabouts are the flounders sold in Melbourne caught? At Geelong.

314. Off the flats? Yes.

315. Chairman.] By trawling? Yes.

316. Mr. Griffiths.] Were you aware of any fish company having been formed for trawling purposes outside Port Phillip Heads? I did hear of it; I believe it was not a success.

317. On the north side of the heads are there not Chinamen settled? Yes; and very destructive fishermen they are; they take all the small fish, dry them, and make them into a sort of powder.

318. Chairman.] Have you seen the schedule of the sizes of fish in our Act? Yes.

319. Have you compared them with the Victorian sizes? I have. Ours (the Victorian) are much smaller. The idea was to let the public get the benefit of the fish rather than let them lie on the beach to rot. No matter what net you have, such fish as garfish, mullet, and whiting will be killed if they get entangled in the bunt of the net; they will not stand handling. The main thing to do is to find out the places where fish spawn and close them in summer. I found in Victoria that the best way was not to interfere with the nets at all, but to close certain waters.

320. Chairman.] And inspect the size of the fish? Yes, that is the most important.

321. Mr. Abigail.] Did I understand you to say that you had difficulty in arriving at what would please the fishermen? Yes, they were very hard to please; some wanted one thing, some another.

322. What was the difficulty with them? They did not want to be interfered with at all.

323. Mr. Griffiths.] Was there no restriction as to the size of mesh or length of nets in Victoria? No, no restriction at all.

324. Mr. Abigail.] Fishermen like to carry on their operations without any restriction at all? Yes, they like to go and work a fishing-ground right out.
325. You have no doubt that nets were not confiscated in Victoria for any infringement of the Act? According to the Victorian Act nets were liable to confiscation if found in reserved waters, but in some instances, and under extenuating circumstances, they were returned to the owner.
326. Chairman.] Was there any license to pay for boats? No.
327. Or for oyster-shops, or fish-shops? No.
328. Mr. Abigail.] Was there any royalty? No.
329. Mr. Olliffe.] When were you in Victoria? In 1878.

Mr.
J. Longford.
28 Feb., 1883.

WEDNESDAY, 7 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. ABIGAIL,		MR. OLLIFFE,
MR. GRIFFITHS,		MR. YOUNG.

A. R. FREMLIN, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. Peter James called in and examined:—

330. Chairman.] What are you? A lessee of oyster-beds.
331. Where situate? At the Clarence River and Port Stephens.
332. Have you been many years a lessee of oyster-beds? About eleven.
333. Then you are fully aware of all prior Acts as well as the existing one? Yes, I am pretty well aware of them.
334. Have you any complaints to make against the working of the existing Act in connection with oysters? I certainly think it is a very curious Act to work; it is almost unworkable altogether would be my opinion. As to complaints we have no complaint to make as lessees.
335. When does your lease expire? At the end of April.
336. Have you made any application for a renewal of your lease? No, we cannot get a renewal.
337. What steps do you intend to take to procure oysters after the expiration of your lease? If this Act continues in force I intend to give up the trade altogether; it will not be worth while to carry it on.
338. Why? For the simple reason that the men who get the oysters under license will have the best of it; we have had to give them as high as 27s. 6d. a bag for oysters.
339. If you had the security of a lease you would work by paid labour? Certainly we would, and work the beds to a great deal better advantage too. If the first Act had been amended in some of its provisions it would have been the best Act you could have got; that is my view of it. We have been most wonderfully declaimed against for destroying the oyster-beds, but though it may have taken us seven or eight years to partly damage them, the men licensed by the Government would destroy them altogether in six months.
340. I suppose during the tenure of your lease you have always replaced the oysters you have taken away with seed oysters or spat? No, it would not do for a man that has only a ten years lease to attempt to cultivate oysters; the time is too short. If you get spat, it will take four years from the time you lay them down before you get any return at all, and what time have you left for profit.
341. If you had a lease with right of renewal would you be satisfied? Yes. For myself I do not care about it, but I think it would be the best for the country to give a man a whole river. If a man had a lease of a whole river he could always improve it; and when it was improved the Government and the lessee should participate in the benefit.
342. In what way would the Government participate? At the end of the lease the improvement the lessee had made in the oyster-beds should be valued and the Government should get more rent.
343. The rental should be increased at the end of the first term? Yes; the lessee should get his portion of the benefit by having his term extended, and the Government would be benefited by getting an increased rent. I believe by such a system the beds could be improved to a wonderful extent.
344. Mr. Griffiths.] Would you give to one person a lease of a whole river like the Manning, for instance? Yes, that is my opinion; one man should have the whole river.
345. You know that the Act provides for the leasing of certain areas of foreshores? The fore-shores are of no use at all. We do not want foreshore oysters; they are simply useless when we can get dredged oysters. If the trade can get dredged oysters they will not have foreshore oysters at all.
346. Would you have the whole of the Clarence River leased to one person? Decidedly I would. I believe a man with a large stake in it would work it better than ten or twenty people would work it.
347. What sort of rent would the Government get for the lease of a river such as the Manning? We gave them £1,150 a year for it, but that was too much rent for it then.
348. When your lease expired it would not be likely anybody else would take it? Yes, they could get a good rent for it still.
349. Chairman.] Under the present Act? No, they could not get any rent for it under the present Act. I reckon the present Act is unworkable. The Government had fifty-five licensed boats on the Manning River, but we as lessees never had more than twelve. If we could not work more than twelve, how is it possible for it to last with fifty-five? That is the fault of the Act—that it gives licenses to any number of men.
350. Mr. Griffiths.] Then it is open dredging on the Manning at present? It was open dredging by license, and the Government issued licenses to fifty-five boats at one time for a river that we as lessees could never work more than twelve boats on.
351. Chairman.] Then it is worked completely out, or will be? It is stopped altogether now.
352. Can you tell us how oyster-beds are leased in England? No, I do not know much about them. I believe the Frith of Forth is leased to one man, but it is not held from the Government at all but from the Duke of Buccleuch, I think. One man has the lease of that, and since he got it a great deal more oysters are obtained than before.
353. Indiscriminate dredging is not allowed in England? No; most of them are private beds.
354. Mr. Abigail.] What makes the difference between dredging and foreshore oysters? The foreshore oysters are harder to open for one thing, and they are generally very small.
355. Is there any difficulty in procuring them? No. In Melbourne they will not have them at all; they call them steel-backs, because they are so hard to open.

Mr. P. James.
7 Mar., 1883.

- Mr. P. James. 356. Do I understand you to mean that only one man should get the right from the Government to work a whole river, and that he should be responsible for its being worked properly? Yes; the lessee ought to have the whole working of one river; the Government should lease the whole river to one party. The first Act simply wanted amending in some of its provisions. For instance, they could have put the ring on the oysters to measure them, not to let a lessee get exactly what he chose.
- 7 Mar., 1883. 357. Would the river being leased to one man benefit the public, or the Government, or the lessee? It would benefit all parties.
358. A long lease? Yes, with a right of renewal so as to encourage improvement.
359. The lessee should be compelled to return to the beds all oysters that were below a certain size? If he had a long lease he would be sure to do that for his own sake. It would not be to the lessee's advantage to take anything that was not thoroughly fit for market. It would be a very unwise lessee that would take an oyster not fit for market.
360. Mr. Young.] Has it not been stated that some lessees have worked the beds and then thrown them up and paid no more rent? That has arisen a good deal from such reports as Mr. Langham's. The lessees have been hunted down as if they were complete robbers.
361. Was it not the fact that the lessees in some rivers stripped the beds and then gave up their leases? Some did; but many lost by their leases. For instance, we paid the Government between £2,000 or £3,000 for Port Macquarie and all we got off it was 2,800 bags of oysters. We had no certainty that we could hold the lease, for every one that came to the office to inquire was told that, and by a man that should have known better, that we had no power to hold the oysters, and that any one could go and get them. Was it possible then that we could go and lay money out on the beds or do anything when they were not paying us. It was the fault of the Act that it did not make better provision.
362. In your opinion we should return to the same system of leasing again? Yes.
363. About the foreshore leases—? Foreshore leases are good for nothing at all in 99 cases out of every 100, for we do not care about the foreshore oysters; we cannot grow them to any benefit. Port Stephens grows an immense quantity of foreshore oysters.
364. Are not the oysters that Mr. Holt grows at Botany foreshore oysters? How many has he got out of the immense quantity he has laid down?
365. We know there is a great deal of oyster cultivation going on in France on the foreshores? Yes, no doubt; but there the tide rises higher than it does here. At Mr. Holt's, when they let the water on it boiled them, and when they let the water go the sun roasted them.
366. It is your opinion, then, that the cultivation of oysters on the foreshores is impracticable? Yes; it would not answer at all. We put down some oysters at Balmain, when we wanted to keep them for awhile, and when we went to get them three-fourths of them were dead.
367. Mr. Olliffe.] You suggest that the lessee of an oyster-bed should have the right of renewal on condition that the Government should get an increased rental as the bed increased in value? Yes. Of course, if the lessee improved the bed he should be entitled to a renewal of his lease, at an advanced rent.
368. How would the Government know what improvement had taken place? They could prove that by the quantity of oysters the lessee was getting.
369. What improvements do you refer to? The improvement in the quantity of oysters—increasing the stock. The improvement would be shown by the quantity he could get out of the river. If he got 100 bags a week when he first took up the lease, and increased it afterwards so that he could get 200 bags, that would be an improvement that should entitle him to a renewal of his lease.
370. How could he increase the supply? By careful dredging, returning small oysters to the bed, and putting down seed or spat; also by taking the mangroves and laying them down on the ground, so that the oysters would grow better. There is plenty of ground at Port Stephens where you could lay oysters down on ground that we know will grow good oysters. In a few years Port Stephens could be made to produce four times as many good oysters as it does now. If you let these licenses for dredging go on they will clear out the Clarence in three months. I am only working one river now, and after my lease is up, if you let the licensed dredging go on, it will be cleaned out in three months. I have had it eleven years now nearly.
371. Chairman.] And it is in no worse condition? I do not think it is any better; I think it is a little worse. The lake oysters have a sort of fungus growing over them, which has killed many of them. I attribute that to the long time we have had dry weather, and there being nothing but salt water for them to lie in; but when the fresh water comes again I believe the oysters will grow all right.
372. Mr. Olliffe.] What is the extent of the Clarence River oyster-beds? There are oysters from the mouth of the Clarence for 5 or 6 miles up, a patch here and a patch there.
373. Suppose such a river as this were leased to one individual, would not that have a tendency to increase the price of oysters on account of the monopoly? Still they would grow the oysters better and increase the quantity. It might be a monopoly, but it would be a monopoly that would bring down the price by increasing the supply.
374. Then you believe that if each of these rivers were leased to one individual that individual would go on cultivating the oysters and increasing the present stock? Yes. I would give £500 a year for Port Stephens myself, and take it on a lease, I should say for twenty years, with right of renewal. If you do not give a long lease and the right of renewal, the lessee would naturally take all the oysters out of the bed at the end of his time; you could not expect anything else.
375. You think the inducement of a long lease would prevent such an evil occurring? Yes. I know it would make me lay money out; I would lay out thousands of pounds in some places if I had a long lease with the right of renewal, but if I had not I would not do it. A lease of ten years is not sufficient; it would take four years to make the bed, and then one-half of them would die, and they would only increase for the next four years; then I have only got two years to work my money out.
376. You spoke of using a ring—if the beds were leased in the way you suggest, would you still have the use of the ring? I would, and I would enlarge it for some of the rivers; I would enlarge it for the Manning to 2 inches.
377. Why? Because there is a larger sort of oysters there.
378. What should be the size for the other rivers? An inch and three quarters would be quite large enough for the Clarence. The different sizes should be fixed from experience.
379. Do you believe Mr. Langham's suggestions to the Government have had a beneficial effect, or the opposite? Quite the opposite. In one part of his report he says he would not know where to get ten bags of good oysters in the country.

380. Is such a statement justifiable? No.
381. Is he an inspector now? No. He was the first inspector under the old Act.
382. Then you think Inspector Langham has afforded information to the Government not in keeping with the truth? Yes, that is my opinion.
383. Do you know whether the information so obtained by the Government had any effect upon the framing of the present unworkable Act, as you call it? I believe it had; I believe Mr. Langham's reports were the sole cause of this new Act.
384. You believe this unworkable Act came into existence in consequence of the reports of Mr. Langham? Yes.
385. Is he in the service at present? No; Mr. Quinan is the head inspector now.
386. Do you know whether there are any individuals occupying similar positions now who are fit to afford the Government any information in framing the new Act? I do not know about Mr. Quinan; he is a sensible man, I believe, but as to the rest of them I doubt whether they could give much assistance. I do not know if Mr. Quinan has had much practical experience.
387. Chairman.] Are you acquainted with the working of the Fisheries Act so far as it relates to fishing with nets or lines? No, not much—I knew something of fishing at home.
388. Can you tell us whether there is any limit as to the size of nets or mesh used for the herring fisheries at home? None whatever. To legislate for sea-fishing would be simply preposterous, for the simple reason that if you did not take the herrings when they were spawning you would not get them at all. They come in to spawn and that is the only chance to catch them. After that you see them no more.
389. In spite of all the fishing there is no decrease in their numbers? No, not as a rule. In some seasons they are not so plentiful as in others. In Solway Firth the herrings went out of it for thirty years and never came back till five or six years from the time I left England about thirty years ago or a little longer. They came back then, and have stayed up to the present time.
390. Upon the average there is no decrease in the supply of herrings? None at all. There is no place that I know of, except Solway Firth, where you get all spent fish; in Solway Firth you get them always spent fish—no full fish, except an odd one.
391. You have had no experience of New South Wales fishing? No; but to legislate for fish that come in from the sea and go away again is simply preposterous, because they merely come in to spawn, and if they are not taken then they cannot be taken at all. Fish are not as good after they are spent as when they are full of roe.
392. You think no restriction should be placed on fishing for sea fish? No; nor licensing either. A license fee is simply a tax upon a poor man trying to get his living. It prevents many a poor man from getting a living.
393. Mr. Young.] And in your opinion does no good? No good that I can see.

Mr. P. James.
7 Mar., 1883.

Mr. John M'Hugh called in and examined:—

394. What are you? A fisherman.
395. Where are you fishing? I have been fishing in Sydney Harbour last.
396. Where are you fishing now? I was going away last night.
397. How long have you been fishing? About fifteen years.
398. What kind of fishing? Net-fishing.
399. Were you fishing outside or in the harbours mostly? In the harbour.
400. What kind of fish do you generally take? All sorts.
401. When you were working under the old Act were you successful? Yes.
402. And how do you manage now under the present Act? We are under great difficulties.
403. Can you point out to the Committee where the difficulties lie? We must not have a mesh of less than 3 inches in the wings of the net, but if you tan it once or twice it comes down below 3 inches, and then you have to throw it away before it is half worn out.
404. Or it is liable to forfeiture? Yes.
405. The same thing affects the bunt as well? Yes, it must not be less than 2½ inches.
406. Have you had any nets forfeited? Only this one. (Produced.) It got to be a little below 2½ inches, and the inspector told me that if I used it it would be forfeited.
407. What did that net cost you? About £6; this is the bunt only.
408. You have been afraid to use it in consequence of the warning you received from the inspector? Yes.
409. How long was it in use? About twelve months.
410. And then it became illegal from shrinking? Yes.
411. Will you be good enough to show the Committee how it has become unfit for use? (The witness explained by measuring the meshes of the net.)
412. What size was that net originally? It was 2½ inches originally.
413. And what has it shrunk down to? To a little less than 2½ inches—about 2½, or a sixteenth more.
414. Mr. Young.] Is the net worn out? It is about half worn out; it would last another twelve months.
415. Chairman.] What kind of fish have you been catching lately? Mullet, black fish, bream, whiting.
416. Have you caught any garfish lately? No.
417. If you had the chance would you be able to do so? There are plenty about, but with the present size of the garfish net we cannot catch them.
418. How small would you like to see garfish sold? I never weighed them. I think a net an inch and a quarter when new, and allowed to shrink down to an inch would be a fair thing for garfish.
419. When you are drawing in a shoal of gar-fish, after you have shot the net round them, do they get entangled in the weeds and the net and die? Yes.
420. So that the small ones cannot be saved alive? No.
421. Will whiting die in the same way? Not so easy as gar-fish.
422. Garfish are easily killed by coming into contact with any substance? Yes.
423. Are you satisfied with the present sizes of fish in the schedule, or not? The garfish are rather heavy.
424. Are the whiting too heavy? No, I think the weight for whiting is very fair.
425. Has the operation of the Act caused any loss to you? Yes, it has in Sydney.

Mr.
J. M'Hugh.
7 Mar., 1883.

- Mr. J. M'Hugh.
7 Mar., 1883.
426. Where are you fishing now? I was going away to the Clarence River last night, but Mr. Evans called me to come up here; I will not be able to go now till Saturday night.
427. Are you going to remain there? Yes, for the winter months.
428. How will you get your fish to Sydney? On the steamers.
429. Will you succeed in getting them in fresh? Yes, unless the steamer meets with bad weather.
430. Mr. Olliffe.] Suppose you do not take the garfish now in the harbour, what becomes of them? I believe the sea-fish will go away.
431. And if you do not get them now you will not get them at all? Not till next year.
432. Mullet the same? Yes.
433. And whiting? In summer-time we get most of the whiting.
434. You say that if garfish are struck by the net, weed, or any substance, they are liable to die? Yes; I have been used to catching garfish on the coast, and they are a very delicate fish.
435. Do you know whether they suffer from the attacks of many enemies besides the fishermen? Yes, birds and sharks.
436. To a great extent? Yes, I have seen the birds taking a great many.
437. If the garfish are not caught now you lose them altogether? Lose them till next season.
438. Do you think the same fish come back again? I could not say.
439. Chairman.] When working under the old Act were you careful about the destruction of small fish? We always turned them adrift again, but at times we could not help destroying them; they get in amongst the large fish, and the large fish rusing about would kill them; they would also get in the bunt of the net.

Chen Ah Teak called in and examined:—

- Chen Ah Teak.
7 Mar., 1883.
440. Chairman.] What are you? A Chinese merchant, in Sydney.
441. Are you engaged in fishing? No; I have some of my men drying fish; bought fish from fishermen; I cure fish—dry them.
442. Have you men catching fish? Not my men catching; buy from European, so much a bushel; dry fish and send them out of the country.
443. What kind of fish do you get mostly for drying? Schnapper, black bream, white bream, mullet, taylor, and all kinds of fish.
444. Where are your men chiefly employed drying fish? Before this Act they were employed at Port Stephens, Lake Macquarie, Broken Bay a long time, Jervis Bay.
445. Have you many men employed now? No; now all fishermen say, "Net too big—fish all run away—can't catch them—can't get much fish now."
446. How many men had you employed before the present Act came into force? About 200 men.
447. How many now? Not many now; very few.
448. Supposing the Act was altered as it was before, would you employ the same number of men as you used to? Yes; catch what we like one time; Government will not allow that now—only certain sizes.
449. Have you lost any nets? No; we buy from European; some of them lost their nets.
450. Do not the Europeans catch any fish now to supply you? Very little now; not many fishermen now, very few.
451. How many tons of fish used you to cure in a year? Two hundred, sometimes three hundred, tons of fish.
452. How many this last year? Very few; only a few fish. Do not send men for so few fish; cost too much. Only at Lake Macquarie very little; none at Port Stephens.
453. Before, at Port Stephens, you had a great many men? Yes, 100 men every time before.
454. All your countrymen? My countrymen and Europeans. European catch big fish; my countrymen catch some small ones.

Mr. James Gascoigne called in and examined:—

- Mr. J. Gascoigne.
7 Mar., 1883.
455. What are you? A fisherman.
456. Where are you employed? On the Parramatta River.
457. How long have you been fishing? About twenty-eight years.
458. Any one working with you? Not just now; one of my sons went away to Grafton, and another is working for himself. I am not fishing just now, but I have a license all the same.
459. What made your son leave you? Because we could not work under the Act; we could not catch fish according to the Act.
460. What fish do you catch chiefly in the Parramatta River? Principally mullet.
461. Does the size of the fish specified in the Act affect the mullet? If we catch them under the size we cannot sell them.
462. Do you think the sizes are too small? No. I defy any one to work under the Act.
463. Have you had any fish seized? No, I never had any fish seized, but I have had my net seized.
464. How many? Only one. I had my net seized when I was not fishing at all, and had not been for a long time; I had not had it in the water for three months.
465. Who seized it? Inspector Quinan.
466. On what grounds? He pulled the wing down and said it was not long enough. That was a net I had been using under the old Act. He said it was illegal because the wing was not long enough. I considered it was quite a legal net under the old Act, and then he said the bunt was too long. I do not believe it was. He then looked over another part and said the mesh was too small.
467. What was the value of the net when it was seized? It was worth £30.
468. What became of it? It was burnt in the Garden Palace.
469. Are you fishing at all now? No, I cannot fish till there is some alteration in the Act. I paid £2 10s. for a license a little while ago, and I have not caught a fish since.
470. If the present Act were amended so as to assimilate it to the old Act, you would go on fishing? Yes; the old Act was not quite what it should be; we could scarcely work under that; but under the present Act I defy any man to keep his net to a certain size of mesh; it is impossible.

471. Do you think that if fish below a certain size were not allowed to be sold, and an inspector appointed to examine the fish brought to market, there would be no need to legislate for the mesh of the net at all? I should like to see any man make his mesh as he liked. Stalling is always complained of; I think if the net was limited to 300 yards in length that would prevent stalling. Another thing was that many people would go out fishing now and then, and anything they caught, small fish and all, they would take to market; a license would prevent that. If the gar-fish bunt was limited to something like 100 yards, I think that would be all that is necessary.

472. Are fish scarce now? There are as many mullet and bream as I have ever seen since I have been fishing. One most ridiculous thing in the Act is that a man is only allowed to use 30 yards of net to catch prawns, and then he has to riddle them; how that is to be done I don't know, for a man has always to handle them as carefully as he can to keep them from getting knocked to pieces. I consider that the prawns I used to catch were worth £100 a year to me, but now we cannot catch them with a net of 30 yards.

473. How long would you like a prawn-net to be? The same net as for gar-fish, but 60, 70, or 80 yards would be sufficient; some men would want more.

474. If you riddle prawns after they are caught it kills them? Yes; it is impossible to do it. They get mixed up with the weeds and blubber and all sorts of things. It would kill them to try and riddle them, and then you could not do it. Last year we earned £100 by prawns alone; now we cannot get any. If they are not caught I believe they go away and die.

475. Have you ever riddled prawns? No; I never knew it to be done.

476. If you attempted to do it would not the legs and antennæ all get mixed up into a mass by their clinging to one another? Yes. It would break them all up, so that they would not be good for anything. It amused me when I saw that in the Act about riddling prawns.

477. Mr. Olliffe.] You say there is a large supply of fish in the river at present? Yes, I am positive there are as many mullet in the river now as there were twenty-seven or twenty-eight years ago.

478. Mr. Young.] In your opinion is it of any use to prevent the catching of small sea-fish. If you do not take them now are they likely to come back again next year? We do not want to catch what is not saleable.

479. Are these same fish likely to come back next year? I could not say. I have not much to do with sea-mullet; they do not come up our way much.

480. Do you think it is of any use preventing the catching of small prawns? I have always had an idea that prawns are like locusts—if you do not catch them they die?

481. If you put them back as too small the chances are you never see them again? Yes, that is my idea; those that belong to one year, if you do not catch them you never get the chance again. I do not believe you would catch the same prawns next year if you let them go.

482. Mr. Abigail.] Do I understand that you are against any restriction being placed on fishermen? I would limit the length of the net to prevent stalling; and the length of the gar-fish bunt; and every boat that used a net should pay a license.

Mr. Thomas Gascoigne called in and examined:—

483. Chairman.] You are the son of Mr. James Gascoigne who has just given evidence? Yes.

484. Do you know anything about sea fishing? No, all river fishing.

485. How long have you been fishing with your father? I suppose ever since I could fish.

486. How many years? About twelve years.

487. Are you fishing with him now? No.

488. For what reason? Because I could not get a living at home; there were too many of us, three of my brothers and my father; so we had to divide into two parties; my other brother stopped at home.

489. You used to get a living at one time? Yes, until the new Act came into force.

490. Are you sure whether it is the fault of the law, or whether it is the fish that have gone away? I am sure it is the law.

491. What is the principal objection? The size of mullet and gar-fish; mullet is too large—12 ounces; we very seldom get them on the Parramatta River.

492. If gar-fish were allowed to be sold smaller and mullet smaller, could you get a living? Yes.

493. Mr. Griffiths.] What are you doing now? I am fishing still, but I can hardly get a living and keep out of debt, for they took our nets from us.

494. Where? At Ryde.

495. Chairman.] Who seized them? Inspector Quinan.

496. Why? He seized one because it was a little bit too short in the wings.

497. Did he say he seized it on that ground? Yes. The same net he had passed a few weeks before, except that it had not been exactly fixed up the same way; I had altered it a little, and put some smaller stuff in the bunt, but it was correct as to size.

498. The length of the bunt was not exactly legal? No, it was a little bit too long.

499. Mr. Griffiths.] Did he mark your net when he first inspected it? No. I bought some new net 2½ inches in the bunt and 3 inches in the wings, and put in the old stuff that he said was right, but I did not put in hardly enough. He came one night at 12 o'clock and seized that net, which I valued at £30, and took about £3 worth of fish out of my boat, all good saleable mullet; there might have been a few that were under size; he took them away and I was fined £2 and costs. He swore in Court that I had six bushels in my boat and not a marketable fish in it. I was afterwards going through the town and I met another inspector, and asked him how many fish he took out of my boat; he said about two baskets; I said that is what Mr. Quinan calls six bushels; he laughed and walked on. Another time he took another net, which I valued at £30, the last one they got, which I had for catching prawns. I had got some stuff for a prawn net, an inch and a quarter, and I had three of them tied together. 30 yards is no use for catching prawns. We had about £2 worth of fish that day, and they took a few of them. My brother and myself were summoned and fined £2 each, £5 17s. in all with costs.

500. Mr. Griffiths.] Did you put in any claim for compensation for those nets after they were burnt? No.

501. Did you see the nets in the Exhibition building? Yes.

Mr. J.
Gascoigne.
7 Mar., 1883.

Mr.
T. Gascoigne.
7 Mar., 1883.

Mr. T.
Gascoigne.
7 Mar., 1883.

502. With the other nets there? Yes, a great quantity.
 503. Mr. Abigail.] Did you ever make any protest to the Commissioners about the seizure of your nets? No. As we read the law and heard the law in Court I thought it was no use wasting any more time about it.
 504. Mr. Young.] Is it possible to prevent a net becoming illegal before it is worn out? No, it is not; you cannot keep a net to the size. To keep a net legal you would have to lay it away before it was half used, or not tan it at all, and then it would not last six months; the water would rot it. The net I am using now had to be $3\frac{1}{2}$ in the wings and $2\frac{1}{2}$ in the bunt to allow for shrinking.
 505. Supposing the Act allowed you to use a smaller net would it be possible to return the small fish to the water so as to save them? No, it would not be much use; the knocking about and handling generally kill them.
 506. Does that apply to all kinds of fish? Yes; some are more delicate than others. If a garfish gets fast in the net he dies before you get him ashore, and so do taylor and travally; a mullet if not injured will go away, but if he is fast in the net he is killed.
 507. When you used to fish with a smaller meshed net were many small fish destroyed? No, we never caught or killed as many small fish as we do now. When the garfish were too small we never used to catch them; they would swim away or go round the wings without getting fast in the net; the mesh was too small to let them get caught in it, and we could turn them out without hurting them.
 508. Then there is a positive advantage in fishing with a small net according to your idea? Yes.
 509. The small fish were not so much hurt because they did not get meshed? Just so. The nets they allow us now will just catch the mullet they will not allow us to sell; the mesh is just big enough to let them get fast, and if once they get their heads in they die.
 510. Mr. Olliffe.] Do you mean to say that this net Mr. Quinan seized was the same net that he had examined a few weeks before? Yes, I can swear it was.
 511. You had done nothing to alter it? No.
 512. He came and seized that net after passing it? Twice.
 513. After passing it twice, without giving any reason whatever? Yes.
 514. Had you been using it since? No, not from the time he examined it till we used it this time; we had used it about three times I think.

Mr. Thomas Lambert called in and examined:—

Mr. T.
Lambert.
7 Mar., 1883.

515. Chairman.] What are you? A fisherman.
 516. Where? On the Parramatta River.
 517. How long have you been fishing there? Between twenty and thirty years.
 518. Are you still fishing? A little, not much.
 519. Why not much? I can scarcely earn a living at it now.
 520. Have you always earned a living until lately? Yes, until the new Act was passed. We cannot catch the fish now.
 521. What fish have you been in the habit of catching? Of late years it used to be a great river for garfish and bream, but they are all gone on account of the blubber destroying the sea-weed. There are very few fish there now but mullet.
 522. Thirty years ago was there no blubber? A little. There was any amount of seaweed and blubber; the fish cannot feed where that is.
 523. You say you cannot get a living now;—is it from the scarcity of fish, or from what cause? No, not from scarcity of fish; there are more fish in the Parramatta River now than I have seen for many years; they go through the net now, the mesh is too large.
 524. Does that apply to all kinds of fish? No, it will stop large fish.
 525. What sized mesh would you recommend for nets of different kinds? A meshing net should be $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches diagonal.
 526. Will it always remain $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches? No, every time it is tanned it gets a little smaller. It would have to be made a trifle bigger to allow for that.
 527. Do you think the legal sizes of fish as prescribed in the Act are too big? It is a good sized fish that we catch now.
 528. Do you think the legal size too large? Yes, where we catch one we lose twenty with the nets we are using.
 529. What is your experience in catching fish, about the destruction of small ones? With a $2\frac{1}{4}$ bunt you cannot destroy many small fish; they will all go through.
 530. Are garfish easily destroyed? The river garfish do not grow so large; we want a smaller mesh to catch them.
 531. Have you lost any nets? Yes, a good £90 worth.
 532. How long ago? Inspector Quinan took from my boys last winter £40 worth of nets and £6 or £7 worth of fish; they were fined £20, and I paid £5 5s. for a lawyer, £2 18s. for professional costs, and 16s. 6d. each for Court costs.
 533. On what ground did he seize the nets? He said they were fishing in closed waters. He never saw them catch a fish in closed waters; they were coming home and they went up Homebush Bay to get some water, and he saw them coming out of the Bay and stuck out that they had caught the fish there.
 534. Had they caught the fish there? No, they told me they did not catch any of them there. He seized another net because the wings were the same size as the bunt—because the wings were not 3 inches.
 535. What became of those nets? They were burnt in the Exhibition building.
 536. Mr. Abigail.] At the time you speak of when Mr. Quinan charged your boys with having been fishing in closed waters what evidence was produced? He swore in the Water Police Court that he saw them pulling something into the boat, and that it must be a net; the fact was they were standing up shoving the boat along.
 537. How many were in the boat? Only two.
 538. Did they make any statement to the Court? No, they were quite ignorant of such matters; they had never been in a Court before.
 539. Did you not employ a lawyer? Yes, Mr. Levien; he charged me £5 5s. 540.

540. Where did they get the fish? At the back of Cockatoo Island, going up Iron Cove.
541. What portion of the river was closed? The other side of the Iron Bridge.
542. They were this side? They were this side. They saw the inspector going up the Parramatta River that day, and coming back they met him going home.
543. Would you favour any restriction being placed on river fishing? I would like to see the small fish protected.
544. How protected? Not to have too small a mesh; with a 2½ inch mesh all the small fish can go through.
545. Would you favour closing the river during any portion of the year? No, I am not in favour of it.
546. Chairman.] When do the fish spawn? Fish are spawning every week in the year.
547. Where do they spawn generally—it is in quiet waters, is it not? Everywhere; all about the shallow parts.
548. Mr. Abigail.] Do I understand your experience to be that the present Act has been oppressive in its character? Yes, it has been an injury to me.
549. Without being a benefit to the public? The public have to pay dearer for the fish, because the fishermen cannot get the quantity they used to do.
550. It has restricted the supply and made fish dearer? Yes. This inspector has got another net of mine.
551. Chairman.] What was that for? He came up the Parramatta River when my chaps were prawning, and he took the prawn net because it was too long. According to the Act only 15 fathoms of net are allowed for catching prawns; I might as well have a pocket-handkerchief.
552. Have you ever riddled prawns? No, nor ever heard talk of it till I saw it in the Act.
553. Mr. Griffiths.] What was the length of the prawn net the inspector took from you? About 100 yards.
554. What is allowed by the Act? 15 fathoms—about 30 yards.
555. Chairman.] If you did attempt to riddle prawns what would be the effect on the prawns? It would knock them all to pieces; none of them would be any good.
556. Mr. Young.] In your opinion a prawn net should be allowed 100 yards? Yes, that is quite little enough; you cannot enclose much ground with that.
557. Is it possible to prevent a net that is a legal mesh at one time becoming illegal? No; it will run up with the tanning.
558. A net that is perfectly legal to-day may after a month or two be illegal? Yes; after tanning a few times.
559. Every time it is tanned the mesh gets smaller? Yes.
560. The consequence is that under the present Act the net becomes illegal and is seized? Yes.
561. There is no way of preventing that? Only by making the mesh a good deal larger than the legal size at first.
562. There is no means of preventing shrinking? No.
563. It has been stated here in evidence that there were fewer small fish destroyed before this Act came into operation, because the small fish did not get entangled in the nets when the meshes were smaller. Is that your experience? Yes; we could shoot them out of the net and let them go again.
564. Which in your opinion would best protect the small fish—a small mesh or a large mesh? A small mesh.
565. You think fewer small fish would be destroyed with a small mesh? I think most small fish would get away through a 2½ inch mesh.
566. All the fish that are not legal—that are under size? They would go through a 2½-inch mesh.
567. Without injury? Yes. You asked me about fish spawning; you can go on to the flats any day in shallow water and see thousands of young fish an inch long; fish are always spawning; I got spawn from mullet three or four months ago, and I got some last week and the week before that again, and black bream the same.
568. Chairman.] Did you ever see any spawn in red-bream? No.

Mr. T.
Lambert.
7 Mar., 1883.

FRIDAY, 9 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. GRIFFITHS,		MR. PURVES,
MR. OLLIFFE,		MR. YOUNG.

A. R. FREMLIN, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

• Mr. Osborne Wilshire called in and examined:—

569. Chairman.] What are you? Forest ranger in the Deniliquin district.
570. You are not an Inspector of Fisheries also? No, not yet.
571. You have not received the appointment? No.
572. Are there any rivers in your district? Yes, the Edward, Wakool, and Niemuhr.
573. What kinds of fish are in those rivers? Murray cod, bream, and gold and silver perch.
574. Are fish sold in your neighbourhood? Yes.
575. By whom? By the fishermen.
576. How are these fish caught? In nets.
577. All by nets? Yes; they set some night lines across the river at times.
578. Do they catch them in any quantity? Yes, in great numbers. They go principally to the Melbourne market, and to Ballarat and Sandhurst.
579. Do they fish all the year round? No, they only fish during seasons of flood, when the Murray floods the creeks.
580. Is there much line fishing going on in the interval? No, they cannot catch them in that way now.
581. Can you tell us the size of the fish? Murray cod, from 5 lbs. to 40 lbs.
582. Are there any less than 5 lbs.? Yes. The fishermen have large bag nets which they put right across the creeks, and as the water is running down with a strong current the fish get caught in these bag nets—all sorts of fish, large and small.

Mr.
O. Wilshire.
9 Mar., 1883

- Mr. O. Wilshire.
9 Mar., 1883.
583. Are the small ones destroyed? Yes, they are all caught alike—little and big. The nets are kept there a couple of days sometimes. I have seen as much as 6 or 7 cwt. of fish taken out of these bag nets, at times.
584. Is there any one appointed to look after the fishing? No, only the Police.
585. What steps do they take? Sometimes they seize a net and summons the man using it. The meshes of these bag nets are about 1½ inch when stretched.
586. In what months do these fish spawn? I could not tell you that.
587. How do they get these fish to market? Some take them to Moama by the railway, and others cart them to Echuca, and then to Melbourne or Sandhurst by rail.
588. You say this fishing goes on in flood times? Yes.
589. I believe in flood time the fish ascend the rivers, do they not? No, they all go down the smaller rivers and creeks then. All these rivers now in summer are just a chain of waterholes; when the Murray rises it feeds them, and the fish go into them and go down with the current.
590. I thought it was a fish's nature always to ascend the river in flood time? They do not there; they seem to follow the current into these creeks.
591. Is there any complaint of the diminution of fish in the district? Yes, great complaints in the Deniliquin District.
592. What do you attribute that to? These nets destroying all the young fish.
593. Would your position as forest-ranger enable you to fully attend to the duties if you were appointed to look after the fishing also? Yes; I am always ranging the rivers and creeks; they are all reserved.
594. Of course the police would assist you all they could? Yes. My district is a very large one.
595. Do you know the provisions of the Act relating to fishing in the rivers? No, I do not.
596. Mr. Olliffe.] You say these rivers, which are full in times of flood, eventually form themselves into a chain of waterholes? Yes.
597. Do they ever dry up? None of the deep holes dry up; in places they get dry.
598. Did you ever see any loss of fish in consequence of the waterholes drying up? No.
599. Do you think that if it were not for these stalling-nets the supply of fish would be equal to the demand? Yes, I believe it would.
600. Mr. Young.] How long have you been in the district? Five years.
601. Have you had your attention drawn to the fishing during all that time, or only lately? I have always had opportunities of seeing it, and have known the fishermen.
602. Has this stalling been going on during all these five years? Yes.
603. You say they do not fish in any other way? They fish with a gill-net sometimes in the lagoons; they go in a small boat and stir up the lagoons with long poles to drive the fish into the net. The bag-nets have only small meshes, and the young cod have such large heads that they cannot get through them, and they are all caught and killed.
604. Is there any local demand for fish? Yes.
605. Without sending them to the Melbourne market? Yes.
606. Chairman.] Do you know if Murray cod is preferred in Melbourne to sea fish? Yes; they bring a very good price there, from 7d. to 10d. a pound.
607. They are sold by weight? Yes.
608. Do the fishermen get their living by fishing alone? No, they do other work at times, and take to fishing when the floods come down. It is very profitable employment.
609. Are the nets expensive? Not very; they are from 40 to 50 yards long.
610. Can you suggest any effectual way to preserve the fish and prevent their destruction? The only way would be to have the meshes larger, and not allow them to sell the small fish.
611. What size would you suggest as a limit? They set the nets there right across the river or creek, so that the fish have no chance.
612. That is illegal, with any sort of net. Do you think that might be permitted if the size of the fish allowed to be sold was made larger? Yes, I think so. They cannot haul a net there at all; the only way is to set it across the stream.
613. What sized mesh do you think they should be limited to? From 3 to 4 inches.
614. Are there any edible fishes there of a smaller size than cod that would go through these 4-inch meshes? Yes; silver bream.
615. What size do they run? From 1lb. up to 3lbs.
616. Do the fishermen use dynamite at all? I have not seen them do it, but I have heard it has been done in these waterholes.
617. Is that done by fishermen or by amateurs? By fishermen. Now, about this time they use it, when there are only deep holes.
618. Mr. Young.] Are the fish destroyed in that way by dynamite as good as those caught in a net? I could not say. When they get an extra supply in the nets, they tether a great many large cod to keep them for market; they put a hole through their nose and a stake in the river and tie them; they leave them three or four days or a week that way.
619. Would you recommend that any of these rivers or lagoons should be closed for the purpose of allowing the fish to breed? Yes; I think they should all be closed for a time. The Edward River feeds a great many of the creeks; the fish go from the Murray into the Edward and then into the creeks. These creeks are nearly all dry, except chains of waterholes in summer; as the Murray fills they all fill, and as the Murray goes down they get lower.
620. Mr. Olliffe.] If the Murray was closed the injurious effect of the fishing would cease? They never use nets in the Murray; there is too much current; they use the nets in the creeks just a few yards down from the Murray.
621. Chairman.] Do you know the Murray at all? Yes.
622. You would not have any power to interfere with the Murray fishermen? The Murray water belongs to New South Wales. A lot of these fishermen live on the Victorian side of the Murray and come over to fish in New South Wales.

Mr. Frederick John Gibbins called in and examined:—

623. Chairman.] What are you? I have been since 1873 a lessee of oyster-beds.
624. Where do your leases lie? At the Clyde River and Hawkesbury River—Broken Bay, as it is termed.
625. When do they expire? Broken Bay in October, and the Clyde River in September.
626. What is the condition of these oyster-beds at the present time? Very good.
627. Do you replenish the beds with spat as you draw from the stock? I am not doing so now, but I have done it very largely. My lease has nearly expired.
628. When your leases expire what course do you intend to pursue? That will depend upon any new Act that may be passed. If it is a liberal one I will go into the business again; if not, I will not.
629. When your leases expire who would have the right of drawing oysters from these beds? Any person.
630. By paying for a license? Without a license under the present Act.
631. What must be the result of such indiscriminate use of the oyster-beds? The result will be the same as in all the rivers that have been worked under licenses—they will be perfectly worked out.
632. If you had a renewal of your lease and proper security would you go on working and attend to the replenishing of your beds? Yes, so long as we have a secure tenure will always do so; but we have always been harassed by people smuggling oysters off the beds. I had to give up the lease of the Hunter River to the Government on that account, although I offered double the rent if they would give me security. During the last four years that I worked the Hunter River I took 36,000 bags of oysters out of it with eleven boats. I gave it up and cancelled my lease; the Government closed it for a few months, and afterwards opened it for working under the license system, and they let sixty boats go to work on it.
633. Where you employed eleven? Yes.
634. How long do you suppose the supply will last under the present system? During the whole of the time I worked the Hunter River beds I paid the men 4s. a bag for getting the oysters, besides rent and other expenses, and at that rate men that worked moderately well could earn three guineas a week; some of them earned more. Under the present system I paid the same men 25s. a bag and only got rubbish.
635. Mr. Olliffe.] What was the cause of the present action being taken by the Government—what representations had been made to them to induce them to allow the oyster-beds to be treated as they have been? The present Act allows it.
636. Do you know what information the Government got before the Act was drawn up? I understood Mr. Oliver framed the Act. I gave evidence before two Royal Commissions, but I do not think they went by any of the evidence they got.
637. You think the evidence was ignored? Yes. A good bag of oysters to-day is worth 35s., and under a proper system the same bag of oysters could be produced for 15s. I sold Newcastle oysters for 15s. when I had the beds.
638. Chairman.] You say the same oysters are worth 35s. now? I could get 35s. for them.
639. Mr. Young.] Why did you give up the Hunter River beds? Because I had no power to prevent people stealing the oysters. I had two actions in the Court at Newcastle to try and stop a family of the name of Campbell from stealing oysters from the beds, and I lost both cases, although I took down Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Colyer to prosecute the cases. These people were smuggling and shipping the oysters away to Melbourne in large quantities.
640. You found your lease was not valid? Yes.
641. At the time you gave it up was it then in as good and productive a state as when you first took it? Yes, a great deal better. I authorized Mr. Cameron to double the rent if they would give me a secure holding. I would have given £3,000 a year rather than have lost it.
642. What was the extent of your lease when you gave it up? It had a year and nine months to run.
643. How is it you have not had the same trouble at the Clyde River and Broken Bay? There was a different class of people to work with at the Hunter River. There are boats running from Newcastle to Melbourne continually, and they shipped the oysters at night time. On Mosquito Island I had a floor laid about 100 feet by 40 feet, and each man brought his day's work and put it on this floor; he was only paid for the good, marketable oysters he put on this floor, and all that were not so were sent back to the beds. Consequently, I got a good class of oysters. The people who smuggled the oysters worked all night long; they culled all the large oysters out, and the small ones were taken away to the limekiln or thrown away and destroyed. That would ruin any bed. The young oysters should be carefully preserved.
644. What would you suggest as the best way of managing the natural oyster-beds—what extent of lease and upon what conditions should they be granted? I think everything to high-water mark should be included; now it is everything to low-water mark, and the rivers are getting totally destroyed. There should be no licenses and no royalty. They are bringing up oysters from all these rivers and competing against us, after we have gone to all the expense of improving the beds.
645. Your opinion then is, that all the foreshores should be included in the leases? Yes, up to high-water mark.
646. Whether there are oysters there naturally or not? Yes.
647. Where there are no oysters originally it cannot be called a natural oyster-bed. What I want to get is your opinion as to the best way of managing the natural oyster-beds of the country? Under the old Act they leased the whole of one river to one person; and we were supposed to have a secure tenure of ten years, which we did not have. I think ten years is too short a time; it should not be less than fifteen years.
648. Should there be any stringent provisions in the lease to ensure the preservation of miniature oysters and the improvement of the beds? I would adhere strongly to the ring, not less than 1½ inch; no oyster that would go through the ring should be allowed to be taken off the beds. But if you were to give a secure tenure there would be very little difficulty about that, as the lessee would improve the beds in his own interest.
649. You told us just now you received some oysters from artificial beds. Can you give us any particulars;—what sort of ground they have been formed on and so on? They are all on the foreshores.
650. Between high-water mark and low-water or below low-water? Some are covered at low-water and others hardly so. We have been laying down beds at the Clyde River and the Hawkesbury.
651. Where did you get the oysters to lay down? In the river.

Mr.
F. J. Gibbins.
9 Mar., 1883.

- Mr. F. J. Gibbins.
9 Mar., 1883.
652. In what depth of water did you lay them? Some of them, at low-water, would have from 1 foot to 15 inches of water over them, and some would get bare. In the Hawkesbury I suppose I laid about 5,000 bags.
653. We have had evidence given here that oysters in shallow water get destroyed by the heat of the sun;—is that your experience? No.
654. You think they are safe in a foot of water at low water? I do.
655. Chairman.] Do you know what they call steel-backs? Yes.
656. Where do you get them from? There is one place in the Hawkesbury River where they call them all steel-backs; the water is very salt there; it is near the entrance to the river.
657. We have had it in evidence that the foreshore oysters are small and of inferior quality;—is that your experience? No; in the Hawkesbury River good oysters could be got from the foreshores.
658. Mr. Young.] What sort of bottom do you find the best for cultivating oysters? Any gravelly or shelly bottom. You cannot lay down the whole foreshore, but wherever you get a firm gravelly bottom they will do well.
659. What sized holdings do you think would be sufficient for the foreshores. Supposing a person wished to apply for a lease of a certain foreshore, what sized holding do you think should be allowed to him? You might give him 2 miles of foreshore, and out of that he might not get 100 yards fit to lay down. You cannot make oysters grow where you like; you must work with nature.
660. Supposing he had 1 acre of suitable foreshore? I think he would require 100 acres.
661. A hundred acres of suitable foreshore? Yes.
662. Mr. Griffiths.] You mentioned that with eleven boats you raised 36,000 bags of oysters from the Hunter River beds in four years;—how many men had you to each? One man in each boat.
663. And now the whole of the oyster fishery of the Hunter is open to any one? It has been open; but it is closed at the present time; it has been closed for eleven months.
664. Was it closed immediately after the expiration of your lease? They closed it when my lease expired, and then opened it for about six months, and worked it so long as they could get a bag of oysters from it.
665. How many boats were employed? About sixty boats.
666. You have the lease of the Clyde and Broken Bay still? Yes.
667. Are you robbed up there? No; I have a secure tenure now under the new Act. The new Act validated the leases. I might say I endeavoured before I gave up the Hunter River to get a Bill passed through the House to validate all those leases.
668. Mr. Purves.] Your chief complaint under the old Act was that people could steal largely, and you could not get a conviction? Yes.
669. On what grounds? Because I really had not a lease; I only had a promise of lease.
670. So that you really relinquished nothing in giving up the river to the Government? Yes, I did.
671. What did you relinquish? The profits I ought to have made out of my agreement with the Government: I agreed to pay so much a year, and they agreed to give me a lease.
672. But you say you had no lease? I tendered in good faith for the Hunter River, and I got Mr. John See and Mr. Henry Clarke to enter into a bond as sureties for me.
673. Your giving up your so-called lease did not make any difference to the right of other persons to go there and take oysters as they chose? No, it seemed not.
674. When the Government allowed people to go there and take oysters as they chose did not that tend to cheapen oysters to the public? No; I tell you we have since paid as high as 25s. a bag for oysters from the same river, whereas we sold them at 15s.
675. If these oysters are all of the proper size why should they not be taken? They are not up to the proper size.
676. Then the fault is in the Government allowing the small oysters to be taken rather than in the number of men permitted to work there? No doubt there is a great deal in that.
677. So that if the beds were open to any one, subject to restriction, as to the taking of marketable oysters only, no harm would be done? Each bed will only stand a certain number of oysters to be taken from it. There is only a certain area of oyster-bearing ground, and if that is overworked the bed is destroyed, or at least seriously injured. The oysters take a long time to grow to a proper size.
678. I am referring only to their being allowed to take marketable oysters. If they only take marketable oysters it does not matter whether they are taken by eleven men or sixty men? No, I suppose not.
679. So that really if the restrictions were properly enforced no damage would be done by throwing the beds open? Not if you can enforce them; but how are you to do it?
680. That is a question of administration. You advocate security of tenure of a large area for a long term of lease? Yes.
681. Or, in other words, you advocate throwing the whole of the oyster-fishing into the hands of a few people. That would be the effect of your system? Yes.
682. Would not that bring about a monopoly of the trade to enrich the few to the detriment of the consumers of oysters? No, I think the very fact of what we did under the old system of leasing shows quite the contrary. Under the old system I sold Newcastle oysters at 15s. a bag for eight years.
683. Was the consumption then anything like what it is now? Yes, a great deal more. In the year 1879 I sold 16,000 bags of oysters in the Melbourne and Sydney markets. The consumption is now restricted by the price. I am now paying £1 a bag to men to get oysters, 3s. royalty, and 2s. 6d. freight. That is because it is no one's interest now to see that the beds are replenished; they are simply worked out and then left to nature; but if the rivers were leased in the way I suggest, the lessees would, for their own sakes, lay down spat and young oysters, and the production of marketable oysters would be very much greater than it is now.
684. Chairman.] When you applied for your leases under the old Act, did you pay anything for them? I paid £1,027 a year for the Hunter River, £127 for Broken Bay, and £135 for the Clyde River.
685. When you were told the leases were not valid did the Government return you any money? They returned the rent I paid for the Hunter; I had paid a year's rent in advance.
686. Mr. Purves.] You say you offered £3,000 a year for a secure lease? I offered double my rent for the Hunter for the balance of my term.
687. Chairman.] For how many years did you hold these leases, or promise of leases, before you found out they were not valid? I suppose about four years. Mr. James and myself took Mr. Salamon's advice on it, and he was of opinion that our leases were valid, and that the Government had power under the Act to grant them; but when I took Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Colyer down to Newcastle I lost the case, and that settled the whole affair; although Mr. Pilcher also said he thought we should win.
on

688. Mr. Purves.] You advocate that all oysters between high and low water mark should be protected? Yes.

689. In other words you think there should be no free oyster-beds? There should be no free oyster-beds, unless the Government were inclined to leave certain rivers open for the public.

690. That would have the effect of throwing the whole trade into the hands of a few people? It would be better to throw it into the hands of a few people than to have the oyster-beds destroyed. The few people would make no fortune out of it.

691. Mr. Olliffe.] Would it not be the most profitable plan to let people who understand the business work the beds in the way that would pay them best? Many people may work their whole life-time in the oyster business and then not learn it. Closing rivers altogether is not the best way of replenishing them; no oyster-bed should be allowed to lay idle at all; the oysters get covered up with weeds and mud. The best way is to work the beds systematically and continuously, but not excessively. It is only by continual working in a proper way that you can bring an oyster-bed to perfection.

692. Mr. Purves.] Was it not a proviso in the lease that you should replenish the oyster-beds? We are supposed to do it, but there is nothing binding.

693. Mr. Young.] I think you said the lessee would do it for his own interest? Yes, I certainly should, but there is nothing binding. If it was not for the leased rivers to-day you would be paying £5 a bag for oysters instead of 35s. As to the Manning River oysters—I never saw any English oysters, but I have inquired about them and people tell me there are no finer oysters in the world than the Manning River oysters. And yet that river was destroyed by indiscriminate working under the license system. Where three boats would have been sufficient they allow fifty-five to go to work. There are parts of the Manning River oyster-beds as bare as this table.

694. Mr. Griffiths.] Do you know anything about the working of the oyster-beds in Queensland? No.

695. You draw a large supply from Queensland now do you not? Most of them go to Melbourne.

696. Do you know how leases are granted in Queensland? I believe the right of dredging is sold by public auction.

697. Over whole rivers? No, they are leased in areas; they are all laid out in blocks.

698. And leased by auction every seven years? Yes.

699. Chairman.] Can you tell us anything about the working of the Act for other fish? No. Under a new Act I would go into that business too, to bring a supply into this market if the Act was a liberal one.

700. But you would not undertake any business in connection with fish under the present Act? No.

701. Mr. Young.] What would you call a liberal Act? Something that would not allow inspectors to seize fishermen's nets the way they do now. There are plenty of fish, and they would be caught and brought to market if the fishermen were not harassed by restrictions and seizures as they have been. At all the bays north and south of Sydney Harbour there are abundance of fish; I suppose this market could be supplied from Jervis Bay alone for twelve months.

702. Chairman.] Are you aware of any cases of arbitrary seizure of nets? I have heard of many, but I could not specify them now. I tendered for five nets that were sold by the Government and sent them to Melbourne.

703. Were they good nets? Yes, splendid.

704. Were they legal in Victoria? Yes.

705. What did you pay for those nets? £58. One of the nets was worth the money. One of them had been only used twice.

706. Do you know what it was seized for? The mesh being under size, I believe; I did not measure it.

707. They paid you very well, I suppose? I have not sold them yet, but I have no doubt they will.

708. Mr. Griffiths.] Did you ever see the nets that were seized in the Fisheries Department at the Garden Palace? Yes.

709. Were there many nets there? Yes, a great heap. I offered a tender for the whole of them to send to Melbourne.

710. Were there fifty nets there? Yes, I suppose there were.

711. Chairman.] Do you remember at what time you saw the nets? About a week before the fire.

712. Is there any other suggestion you would like to make? I think the whole business connected with fishing and oyster-dredging should be placed under one responsible head. I think the appointment of a lot of Commissioners is the greatest farce out. If the business were placed under one head, and a proper leasing system adopted, the quantity of oysters obtained would be so great that there would be no monopoly, as Mr. Purves seems to think there would be. I really believe that with a secure tenure I could work Newcastle, that is, work it continually, so as to get 15,000 bags of oysters every year.

713. Mr. Young.] Supposing you were offered twenty years' secure tenure of the Hunter River, what would you be prepared to give for it? I do not think it would be fair to ask me to say. I do not know that I will go into the business largely again; but if I could only get one river, to make a model river of it, I could afford to spend a little money on it. I don't know what the Hawkesbury River would turn out under proper management.

714. Mr. Griffiths.] All oyster-farming depends greatly upon the quantity of fresh water that comes down the rivers, does it not? Yes; any place where the fresh water is not continually mingling with the salt water is no good.

715. At what depth do oysters breed best? I have studied that very closely, and they seem to do well at various depths. In some places there may be a foot of water at low tide, in others 2 or 3 feet, and deeper still. When we lay down young oysters we do it so that we can get at them nicely.

716. Are the oysters you lay down mud oysters? No, rock oysters; we break them off the foreshores.

717. Mr. Young.] In what depth of water are you of opinion oysters do the best? In 6 or 8 feet of water. I have seen oysters that were got in 50 feet of water.

718. Mr. Griffiths.] Do you mean 6 or 8 feet at low-tide or high-tide? At low-tide.

Mr.
F. J. Gibbins.
9 Mar., 1883.

WEDNESDAY, 14 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. ABIGAIL,		MR. OLLIFFE,
MR. GRIFFITHS,		MR. PURVES,
MR. T. R. SMITH.

A. R. FREMLIN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

James Charles Cox, Esq., M.D., called in and examined on oath:—

- J. C. Cox, Esq., M.D.
14 Mar., 1883.
719. Chairman.] You are chairman of the Fisheries Commission? Yes, I was appointed to the office on the 19th October, 1882; the first meeting I attended was on the 21st of the same month.
720. How many other gentlemen are on the Commission? Mr. Want, Mr. Geddes, Mr. Thomas, and Mr. Ramsay.
721. Is the Commission an independent one, or is it under Ministerial control? It is under the Colonial Secretary.
722. You know the object of this Committee—to inquire into the working of the Fisheries Act? Yes.
723. I believe you have taken a very warm interest in the fishing industry of this Colony? Yes, the study of the subject has been one of the pleasures of the few hours of recreation I have had; I have more particularly studied oysters and their cultivation.
724. Do you find the Fisheries Commission work well? I should like to state that the office I hold in connection with it was in no way sought by me. I was one of the members of the Royal Commission; and when Mr. Macleay resigned his position on the present Commission, Sir Henry Parkes wrote to me to ask me if I would accept the position. For some time I would not hear of accepting it. However, I found Sir Henry was very unwell, and that the matter was giving him a good deal of trouble and annoyance, and I consented to take the office until at all events the specimens for the London Fisheries Exhibition, as proposed by the Commission, had been carried into effect. That was an inducement, because I was a member of the Muscum Board. I said, however, at the time, it was a most invidious office for me to take, because it was extremely unpopular; and there were many points in the working of the Fisheries Act which I disliked extremely. I told Sir Henry Parkes that if he would permit me, I would accept the office and see the proposed exhibition through, and would point out in what way I considered the Act harsh and objectionable. Sir Henry said he should be very much obliged to me if I could give him any information that would guide him in the future, as something would have to be done with regard to the working of the Fisheries Act, and with that understanding I accepted office. The Commissioners I may say have always worked together very harmoniously.
725. Then Sir Henry Parkes was well aware that the Act passed in 1881 was not working well? I think he was convinced of it.
726. Can you tell the Committee what number of nets have been seized under the Act? I have a list of all that have been seized in the home district since I took office. [List handed in—See Appendix A 1.] A net belonging to Mr. Knox was seized.
727. I would like to ask you specially about that one before you go any further? Mr. Knox is the proprietor of a pleasure yacht.
728. He is an amateur fisherman? He is. I have the papers in connection with the case, which I shall be happy to hand in to the Committee. The facts are these: Mr. Knox bought a yacht; there was a net on board the yacht, which he also bought. During some of the excursions made by the yacht this net was used. It attracted the attention of some of the fishermen on the Hawkesbury, and it came to be spoken of. Our inspector going by one day saw this net lying out to dry on the green in front of his house. He examined it, and found it had recently been in salt water, with all the evidences of its having been used. He found it was an unlawful net, and he accordingly seized it. [Papers in connection with the case handed in. See Appendix A 2.] Another net that was seized belonged to a Mr. Mildwater.
729. Did Mr. Knox protest against the seizure of the net? Yes.
730. On what grounds? On the ground that he was not a licensed fisherman, and did not use the net for the purpose of obtaining a living; that the net had only been used for the purposes of pleasure on excursions, and by his men without his knowledge. I am under the impression that those were the grounds upon which he based his protest.
731. Of course you are aware that there is nothing in the Act to prevent an amateur using a line or doing what he pleases? I am aware of that.
732. Mr. Griffiths.] The Commissioners forfeited Mr. Knox's net notwithstanding? Yes.
733. What has become of it? It is in the office now. We desired to return it, but we felt that the net had been brought under the operations of the law, and we could not show any favouritism.
734. Mr. Olliffe.] You say that the net was brought under your notice as an illegal instrument, although used by an amateur who did not gain his living by fishing. Does the law permit you to seize anybody's net, whether it is used for the purpose of obtaining a livelihood or not? The law is so severe that it actually allows our inspectors, if they think proper, to go into Lassetter's, or any other shop in the city, and seize any net with a mesh of unlawful size.
735. Mr. Griffiths.] Although it may not have been used? Yes.
736. And may not be intended for fishing purposes? Exactly.
737. Chairman.] You recollect Mildwater's case? Yes.
738. He is a licensed fisherman living at Manly? Yes.
739. Can you tell us the circumstances under which his net was seized? It was found to be of illegal mesh in the wing, $2\frac{1}{2}$ and $2\frac{3}{4}$ -inch mesh. On hearing of the seizure I hurried down to ask the inspector not to have it condemned until he had brought it before the Commissioners; but by the time I got down it had been condemned by the Magistrate, Mr. [Senior]. Perhaps the Committee will let me explain more fully: When an inspector seizes a net he does not report the matter to the Commissioners until after it has been brought before a Magistrate and condemned. When a net has been seized, and condemned by a Magistrate, it passes into the hands of the Crown. The matter is then reported to the Commissioners, and all they have to do is to see that the seizure has been made in a legal manner. We can make representations to the Government as we did in Mildwater's case. It was the wings only, not the middle portion or bunt of the net that was wrong, and we recommended to the Colonial Secretary the restoration of the net, provided Mr. Mildwater undertook to make the wings of a legal-sized mesh and length. In accordance with our recommendations, the corks, leads, and bunt were, after some little delay, caused I fancy by a change of Government, returned to him.* Mr. Mildwater, I believe, ultimately made the wings good; but he did not come for it until long after it had been ordered to be given back to him.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M.D.
14 Mar., 1883.

740. Did he know he might have it? He did.

741. After the net got into the hands of the inspector, was due and proper care taken of it? Yes, I say that positively. I know for a fact that Mr. Quinan bought a pole and hung the net up in the Fish Market himself, with the view of having it cared for, and it was in good order all the time it was there. I inquired myself personally about it.

742. Then if a witness has declared that the net was left lying in the Fish Market until it became partially rotten, he has declared what was not true? If that was the case I must have been told an untruth.

743. Mr. Olliffe.] When you say that the net was cared for, do you speak from your own personal knowledge of the matter, or from what was reported to you? From what was told me by the inspector.

744. And from what you have heard from him you believe that due care was taken of the net whilst it was in his hands? Yes.

745. You never saw the net? No.

746. You say you are perfectly satisfied, beyond all doubt, that Mildwater was made acquainted with the fact that it had been decided to return part of the net to him upon his making application for it? I am sure of it. [Witness read the entry in the Commissioner's Minute-book, 4th November, in reference to the inspector's report.]

747. Chairman.] For what reason did the inspector seize the net? On account of the illegality of the mesh.

748. Mr. Olliffe.] According to the minute you have just read, Mr. Mildwater was informed that you had recommended the restoration of certain portions of the net? Yes, he was written to. I think the Commissioners should have power to act in such a case, and restore a net if they thought it desirable to do so. All they can do now is to make recommendations to the Colonial Secretary. Immediately after Mildwater's case came before us, one of the Commissioners brought forward, or gave notice of a motion, that it would be a good thing to come to some conclusion as to the restoration of seized nets. We saw that the Act was working most annoyingly. But before doing anything we waited for the decision in Mildwater's case, as we regarded it as a kind of test case. There was great delay in the case; and when I found out where the delay was, I went to the Colonial Secretary's office and begged them to answer our letter. At last we received a letter in reply, complying with our recommendations. I then gave Mulhall an order to let Mildwater have his net.†

749. The bunt of the net was actually legal? Yes.

750. The Commissioners recommended to the Government a certain course of proceeding, and the Government approved of the recommendations;—was the approval of the Government made known to Mildwater as soon as you received an intimation of such approval? Yes.

751. On what date was the seizure made? On the 27th October, 1882. We wrote to the Colonial Secretary on the 29th. But some time elapsed before we received the reply, which was to the effect that the Government approved of the recommendations of the Commissioners of Fisheries for New South Wales; that the bunt of the net seized by Inspector Quinan should be restored to Mr. Mildwater, together with the corks and lead lines, provided that he made the necessary alterations to the net. This reply from the Colonial Secretary is dated December 2. [Correspondence handed in. See Appendix A 3.] We at once informed Mr. Mildwater of the result. There may have been a little delay from our desire to take the matter into consideration, to see if we could not establish a precedent for having nets restored in certain cases, provided the owners would make them legal. But I am quite sure there was no unnecessary delay. We desired to see if some arrangement could not be made for enabling these fishermen to put their nets right, instead of forfeiting them altogether. The fact is, these poor fishermen cannot possibly make out what this particular section of the Act means; indeed, it requires a very shrewd man to find out what it means.

752. Chairman.] In regard to the meshes of a net;—suppose a fisherman takes a net to an inspector or Commissioner, and it is passed as a legal net, will not three or four usings shrink it below the legal size? It will, and particularly if it is put into tar. If the men were to tar their nets they would not shrink so much. And I have advised fishermen to tar their nets. I had a long conversation with Mulhall about a very intelligent fisherman named Newton on this matter who had had his net seized. If the nets were tarred instead of tanned there would not be such frequent collisions between fishermen and the inspectors. I maintain that once a net has been pronounced legal it ought always to be considered legal, no matter how much it may shrink.

753. If an Act was passed prohibiting the sale of fish under a prescribed size and weight, and an inspector was appointed to see that the law was not infringed, do you not think fishermen might then be left to use what net they like? If you could trust to the men returning to the water fish that were under the prescribed size; but I feel persuaded that the destruction of fish would be so great, our fisheries would soon be ruined, unless the law defined the size of the mesh of the net.

754. I put the question in connection with your statement that you thought that a net which had been declared to be legal should remain legal? Yes.

755. In connection with the shrinking of the nets, do you not think that some provision which would prevent fish under a certain size being brought to market, is all that is wanted? If we could possibly brand

* NOTE (on revision):—Since giving my evidence I have looked over the dates of the correspondence in this case, and find that the secretary did not communicate the decision of the Commissioners on the 4th November to Mildwater till 2nd December. He only wrote to Colonial Secretary on same subject on 21st November, which was answered on the 24th. Hitherto I was under the impression that the delay was in the Colonial Secretary's Office, but it really turns out to be in the Fisheries Office.

† NOTE (on revision):—Mildwater did not take his net from the Fish Market for about five weeks after he got the order for it.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M.D.
14 Mar., 1883.

brand the nets it would be the best thing to do. After a net is branded as legal I think a man ought to be allowed to catch any fish with it of a legal weight. But I think also the law ought to prevent fish under a certain size or weight from being sold. If you could combine those two things you would make a good law.

756. Mr. Olliffe.] From what you have said it appears that an inspector has power to seize a net, take it before a Magistrate, and have it condemned without consulting the Commissioners, and the Commissioners have no power to interfere with him in connection with any action he may have taken in the seizure of the net? Yes. An inspector may go into any house he likes, mine or yours, or any one else's, if he has cause to suspect there is an unlawful net on the premises. If he finds such net he may seize it, take it before a Magistrate, and have it condemned before we know anything about it. And all that we have to do is to say whether or not he has acted in accordance with law. We can do, and have done, what I am afraid is a step a little beyond the law. For instance, in the recommendation of the restoration of Mildwater's net. But as I said at the time, we could only appeal to the opinion of the public, and if we had done anything wrong we must be content to be turned out. As the law stands it is very severe.

757. Chairman.] Are you aware that anyone infringing this Act, not being a licensed fisherman, is only subject to a fine, and not subject to having his line or net seized? Yes, I know that, but still for all that we must have a legal net; no one can use an illegal net. Suppose we found you up Middle Harbour, with an excursion party, using an illegal net, it would be at once taken from you.

758. Mr. Olliffe.] Notwithstanding the 21st clause of the Act? Notwithstanding that clause. Nets are seized, not because they are in private hands but because they are of illegal mesh.

759. Mr. Abigail.] I understand, from your reading of the 21st clause of the Act, that the net therein referred to is an illegal net, that is one not in accordance with the provisions of the Act? Yes.

760. Then that provision in the clause which exempts from certain penalties persons on excursion or pleasure parties fishing for purposes other than sale, does not extend to cases where illegal nets are used? Exactly; we should have our fishing industry destroyed altogether if we allowed private persons to use illegal nets.

761. Mr. Olliffe.] The provision in the 21st clause of the Act reads as follows: "But nothing in this section contained shall extend to persons on excursion or pleasure parties fishing for purposes other than sale. Provided always that it shall lie upon the defendant to prove that he is within the saving in this section contained in any case where not being the holder of a license under the next preceding section he shall be found fishing in a boat licensed under this Act." It was under that section Mr. Knox's net was seized? I did my best to get that net restored to Mr. Knox.

762. Chairman.] How did the provision apply? The net was of illegal mesh.

763. Mr. Olliffe.] You have no power over the inspectors; they can simply do as they like? All they have to do is to act in accordance with law, and the Commissioners have to see that they do act in accordance with law.

764. What mode have you of doing that? Anything improper occurring is soon reported to us. Any man can write to us when he thinks the inspector has exceeded his duty. We frequently receive letters about these things.

765. Have you ever taken action upon any of those letters? Numbers of them.

766. Have you found the tenor of the letters truthful? Many of them.

767. Have you ever found inspectors doing anything contrary to law? I do not know of a single instance that has occurred since I have been on the Board.

768. Then they have always performed their duties faithfully and according to law, so far as the Commissioners have any knowledge of? Yes.

769. Mr. Abigail.] Not in an arbitrary or persecuting spirit? I have no doubt they are harsh at times, but they have much to contend with.

770. They might still carry out the law and be more reasonable in their actions? They are the pluckiest fellows I ever know in making seizures. They are often attacked in the most violent manner. Some of their reports are worth while reading. Mr. Quinan has behaved most pluckily on many occasions.

771. Chairman.] We have evidence given that there is a diminution in the supply of fish;—is that your experience? The supply is said to be less now than it was.

772. As the supply diminishes the price increases as a consequence? The supply has certainly decreased; but the price of fish is not alarmingly high compared to what it used to be. If you compare the price of fish now with what it was when Mr. Seymour gave evidence before the Royal Commission you will find very little difference. Mr. Quinan has, I understand, prepared a list of the prices for you. [List of prices handed in, as sold on 13th March, 1883. See Appendix A 4.]

773. Mr. Abigail.] You have said that the supply has decreased;—can you tell us the cause? I think the fishermen have not yet settled down to this Act; they attempt to resist it in every way they can; they are not working with that spirit towards the Act which would supply the market liberally with fish.

774. You think if they acted up to the spirit of the Act they could carry on their operations profitably? I do. But it is their continuous wish not to act in accordance with the Act.

775. If it has been given in evidence that these men have given up their vocations in consequence of the arbitrary provisions of the Act and the persecutions of the inspectors, is that in accordance with your experience? It is not. I have a return showing the number of licenses taken out since the commencement of the present year, and I must confess it presents a very fair show. There has been nothing equal to it before. [List handed in. See Appendix A 5.]

776. The number of fishermen holding licenses at the present time has increased, but the supply of fish has decreased? The increase in the population, and consequently increased demand for fish, has had something to do with that.

777. The increase in the population has not affected the supply of fish? I do not think they willingly bring it to market; they are afraid of coming into collision with the inspectors. There is a feeling of hostility towards the Act which I cannot account for.

778. Do you think the decrease in the supply of fish is in any way caused by a disposition on the part of fishermen to place the Act in an unfavourable light before the public? I do.

779. Chairman.] We have it on sworn testimony that Chen Ateak has been unable, since the present Act has been in operation, to employ the number of hands he used to employ at Port Stephens;—do you think that correct? There are a great many other reasons. He used formerly to supply fish to a great number of Chinamen coming here to go to the gold-diggings; but there is not at the present time such a great field for his labours in that direction.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M.D.
14 Mar., 1883

780. But he told us the other day that he would have just the same consumption of fish, if he could get it, but he cannot get it? I suppose, then, if he says so, the supply is less. That is all I can say. I do not believe it myself. If there was proper provision for bringing it to market I think the supply of fish would be just as great as ever it was. The Commissioners were very anxious, indeed, to get a sum of money placed on the Estimates for the purpose of enabling the Government to employ a steamer to bring in the fish every morning from north and south alternately. If the Government did that I believe the supply of fish would be enormous. There is another important point: I think Port Jackson is too convenient for the fishermen; they spend too much time in it. It is almost ruined as a fishing-ground in consequence of drainage and the navigation by steamers and other vessels, and I think it would be a very wise thing to close Port Jackson, and reserve it as a nursery for encouraging fish about our own homes. My idea is that the great supply of fish to this market should come from outside the Heads, where there are swarms of fish. If the ground from Broken Bay to Wollongong were properly surveyed and laid out, and men were to use large trawls, an enormous quantity of fish might be brought to Sydney every day, especially if the Government were to employ a steamer to bring it in.

781. Mr. Abigail.] Do I understand you to say that fish are taken away or destroyed instead of being brought to market. You say that if facilities existed for bringing it to market it would be brought? I do not think it is caught. By the time the men reach the market with their fish it is often stinking and unfit for food.

782. Chairman.] You have given us information in reference to the seizure of fishing nets in consequence of the illegality of the mesh—the inspector may one day pass a net as legal, and in a month's time it may become illegal through use? Yes.

783. Do you not think that to be exposed to the working of such an Act is sufficient to drive men from their vocations? The men make a great to-do about the question of shrinkage, but I think there is a good deal of policy in it; they can shrink their nets very considerably by putting them in bark. If instead of going to great expense in taking off the leads and corks, and buying bark and stuff to shrink their nets, they were to buy new nets, they would find it cheaper.

784. Mr. Abigail.] How long will a net last? I cannot say; I am not a practical fisherman.

785. Mr. Olliffe.] How much does a net cost? From £40 to £45.

786. Do you think the destruction by tanning is equal to £40? If you take the loss of time and loss of money into consideration.

787. How long does it take to tan a net? About a week.

788. Chairman.] Do you know what Mildwater is doing now? No.

789. He has had three nets seized? Yes.

790. What must be the result to such a man to have three nets seized? I do not know—ruination I should think.

791. If men are exposed to ruination is not that sufficient to drive them from their vocation? Yes, but why should he come into collision with the law. The law must be upheld; you might as well say that if I knock a man down twice and am punished, I might go unpunished if I knock him down again.

792. I think you misapprehend my question;—we are trying to find out whether the Act is a righteous and just one? I do not think it is.

793. That is the opinion we wished to obtain;—whether or not you think the Act a good one? I think it is a very harsh Act.

794. Mr. Abigail.] The Act is bad, not its administration? Yes; as far as I can see, one or two alterations might be made at once. The gar-fish net might be altered at once to $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch in the bunt; the wings of the hauling nets might be lengthened, by making them 400 instead of 300 yards. Then I think that oysters on the rocks should at once be declared natural oyster-beds. If that was done it would be nearly all that is required to make the Act work well. I may mention one curious fact: there has not been one gar-fish net seized yet in the home district.

795. Chairman.] Was not Warrington's a gar-fish net? No.

796. But he used it for catching gar-fish? He may have used it for many purposes.

797. What is the reason we have no gar-fish in the market? We have quantities; they are coming in in thousands just now.

798. We have sworn evidence that there are no gar-fish in the market? There was a quantity sold in the market this morning (list handed in, Appendix A 6) at from 15s. to 10s. the half-basket. A half-basket means 50 dozen gar-fish, or about $1\frac{1}{2}$ bushels. Notwithstanding that 50 dozen gar-fish sold in the market for 15s., when I went to buy some in the street, retail, I had to pay 2s. per dozen. That was this morning, and this may be regarded as the most expensive day of the week, it being Wednesday, and Lent. Schnappers sold in the market at from 15s. to 10s. the half-basket; mullet, 10s. to 8s.; bream, 14s. to 8s. per half-basket. Those are absurdly low prices. If the public could get fish at anything like the price it realises wholesale we should have abundance. But there is a limited demand for fish at the prices charged by the retailers in the streets. Mr. Quinan gave half-a-crown for thirty long-toms. He was standing with the fish-dealers, who were at liberty to buy if they chose. Mr. Quinan gave 1d. each for them, and I have learnt since that they were sold for 1s. each in the shops. That was pretty good profit.

799. Chairman.] Do you think $1\frac{1}{2}$ -inch mesh too large for a gar-fish net? Yes; I think it would be better to alter it to $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch. Mr. Cohen, and a number of fishermen who gave evidence before the Royal Commission, advised that the mesh should be over $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch.

800. Mr. Olliffe.] Have you any practical knowledge of the migratory habits of the gar-fish? I only know from what others have told me. I may tell you something worth publishing: Mr. Adams, the Surveyor-General, recently visited Lord Howe Island. He found the gar-fish there in immense masses. There is another prolific place for fish within easy reach of Sydney—Elizabeth Reef. Commander Richards of H.M.S. "Renard," says it is a most prolific place for fish. If a steamer were sent there, with an ice chamber, the Sydney market could be supplied from that place alone.

801. Chairman.] Are you aware that there are no limits with regard to the mesh of garfish nets in Victoria? The lawful weight of a gar-fish in Victoria is 1 ounce; in this Colony it is 3 ounces. In addition to changing the size of the gar-fish net mesh, and the length of the hauling-net, and declaring oysters on the shore natural oyster-beds, I should like to see the lawful size and weight of the fish altered. I should like to see the lawful weight of the following fish altered: Black bream, 6 ounces; silver bream, 5 ounces; blackfish, 5 ounces; sea-mullet, 8 ounces; whiting, 6 or 8 ounces; flounder, 6 ounces; sole, 6 or 8 ounces; trawally, 6 ounces; gar-fish, 2 ounces; perch, 8 ounces; carp, 8 ounces.

802.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M.D.
14 Mar., 1883.

802. Mr. Griffiths.] Do you see in what way the size of the mesh could be altered at once? I have written to the Colonial Secretary asking him to have the size of the mesh of the gar-fish net altered, and also recommended other matters. I think if Parliament were to pass a resolution authorizing the Colonial Secretary to make alterations it would meet the case, and enable the Commissioners to remedy the defects in the Act at once.

803. Chairman.] The Act would require the passing of an amending Bill before it could be altered; and it is not likely that a Bill could be passed this Session? I thought the Colonial Secretary would be able to act under a resolution of the Assembly. I am sure it is the ardent wish of the Commissioners that some alteration should be made; and I am only waiting in office until some change is effected. I should like to see a provision inserted in any amending Bill that may be introduced, which would make it necessary that an inspector, after seizing a net, should first of all report to the Commissioners the seizure, and submit the nets seized to the Commissioners.

804. There are quite sufficient evils under the Act to warrant the present inquiry by a Select Committee? I am quite sure of it; and I am personally delighted to see that a Committee is investigating the working of the Act.

805. With regard to the leasing of oyster-beds, are you aware that the present leases have nearly expired? Yes.

806. Do you know that the leases now vacant are being wrought out by innumerable boats? I am sure it is the case. The Commissioners have lately had their attention seriously drawn to the matter, particularly with regard to Port Stephens [Report handed in, see Appendix A 7] to the way in which the oysters are being taken away. The lease of that place will expire on the 1st May next. It is a positive fact that schooner loads of small oysters, below the proper size, are being sent into Sydney. The lessees of these beds have been warned that they are acting illegally, but they take no notice. I told Mr. Quinan if they persisted to seize the next lot that came to Sydney, and I would take the responsibility of it. We have done our best in the way of persuasion to induce the men to desist, but they do not seem inclined to take any notice of it whatever. There is no doubt that the Clarence River is also being very seriously skinned. The lease of that will expire on the 1st of April.

807. Do you think if these lessees had the right of renewing their leases this skinning would go on? No.

808. But the law does not allow any renewal? No.

809. What alteration of the law in connection with the leasing of oyster-beds would you suggest? One objection to the present law is that it places the control of tidal waters and the land under one office, that of the Surveyor-General. I think the tidal waters and the tidal lands up to a certain point should be entrusted to the Commissioners. They should be empowered to lease them in sections of one or more miles in extent as might be necessary. In France and England the leaseholds are of much smaller extent; but here I would lay out certain portions of a river in blocks, and put them up to auction. Then I would let them have (say) twenty years leases, and let them enter into the cultivation of oysters, by making artificial beds, or laying them down on natural beds and give them the right to dredge anything on their leaseholds, all oysters taken off to pay a royalty, provided that when their leases were up they left the beds as well stocked as when they came into possession of them.

810. Mr. Olliffe.] You speak of apportioning the rivers in 1 mile, 2 mile, or 3 mile blocks;—what would you say to leasing a whole river to one individual? It would create too much of a monopoly. There would be more men wanting rivers than you have rivers to give. There would be a very large number of applications, and that is why I would propose to lease the beds in blocks.

811. Mr. Griffiths.] You do not see any other objection to leasing a whole river to one individual? No.

812. Mr. Olliffe.] Do you think the cultivation of oysters on the plan suggested by you could be effectually carried out in so small a space as 1 mile? Yes, and in some choice spots, even a less space.

813. You think it would not require a larger space, it would not require the whole of a river to carry such a plan out? No.

814. If evidence has been given to a contrary effect—to the effect that it would be necessary to allow one individual to have a whole river, in order to the proper cultivation of oysters as suggested by you,—the persons who gave that evidence must be under an erroneous impression? It is an erroneous impression, and an attempt to obtain a monopoly. In addition to what I have just stated in regard to the block system, there is a certain class of men who are licensed dredgers, who pay the Government so much per year, £10 per year. Large numbers of blocks might be reserved and let to that class of men. They would be glad to have such blocks. That is why I do not wish to see the thing made a monopoly of. If a number of men were working in the cultivation of oysters it might be carried on to a large extent. There is one other matter I should like to refer to, and it is briefly referred to in the report by Mr. Langham attached to the Bill prepared by Mr. Farnell and others in 1877. It had reference to the establishment of an experimental oyster-farm, in order to teach men in a practical way what is being done in other parts of the world, and what may be done here. The report recommended that Port Jackson or its tributaries should be used, or set apart, as an experimental oyster-farm, where the several methods of cultivating oysters might be tried.

815. Mr. Abigail.] How are the present leases of oyster-beds let;—by tender or by auction? The present leases were taken up before the present Act came into operation.

816. How were they let? By favouritism.

817. There is one lot at an annual rent of £1,150? It is a monstrous price. Some of these men must have made £10,000 or £12,000.

818. You think if they were divided into blocks, and each block put up to auction, the amount realized would be very much greater, and the supply would be increased at the same time? I will give a guarantee that within twelve months from this, if my suggestions were to be adopted, we should get a revenue of £10,000 a year from our oyster-beds.

819. Mr. Purves.] For what length of time are the leases held? With the exception of three they have nearly all expired. The Kissing Point bed was given up; another bed at George's River has been given up; the Turross River is still working.

820. Mr. Abigail.] You say that loads of oysters are being taken away from Port Stephens;—does not the law prohibit that? Yes.

821. The same vigilance on the part of the inspectors in regard to fish has not been applied in regard to the oyster? I think the inspector will tell you he has been very lenient, both in regard to fish and oysters. But there are many persistent cases of obstinacy.

822. Are you aware that numbers of men have given up the occupation of fishing and are now working under the Corporation, in consequence of the operation of the Act? I have no doubt they feel the Act harsh. As I have already stated, I think the law is harsh and offensive; it is excessively offensive to those who have to administer it.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M.D.
14 Mar., 1883

823. Would you recommend the closing of the rivers during any portion of the year? In a letter which I have addressed to Mr. Stuart, the Colonial Secretary, I have recommended that Port Jackson, from Bradley's Head to Point Piper, should be always closed; and I also recommended that from Mullet Island, on the Hawkesbury River, upwards, should always be closed; that the opening of Lake Macquarie and 1 mile on each side of it should always be closed. We hear of most shameful things going on there in regard to fish and oysters.

824. You say you know for a fact that the destruction of fish would be very great without some restrictions on the fishing industry—that, in fact, our fisheries would be soon virtually destroyed? That is my opinion.

825. Can you state in a few words how you have arrived at that conclusion? If you once give permission to men to net everything, without having a specified mesh, the young fish will be brought up with the large fish. The legal sized fish will be picked out, and whilst that is being done the young fish will die. They must die, for you cannot expect these fishermen to go out bare-footed into their nets and take out the small fish whilst they are in the water. They would be crippled with catfish, sting-rays, and other things in no time. The law demands that they shall do that with garfish nets, but you cannot expect them to do it.

826. Has the size of the mesh anything to do with it? The regulations demand that a net shall be emptied into the water. If you do not want to kill the young fish you must make the law as stringent as it is.

827. Would an alteration in the size of the net interfere with it? The nets, with the exception of the garfish nets are satisfactory. They are of a mesh required by law, and there is no grumbling about them.

828. Mr. Smith.] There is no grumbling about the nets, but what about the seizure of their nets, when the mesh gets below a certain size? There is no grumbling about the mesh provided by law except, in the garfish nets.

John Richard Edwards, Esq., solicitor, called in, and examined on oath:—

829. Chairman.] Where do you reside? At Deniliquin.

830. You know the object for which this Committee is sitting? Yes.

831. Can you give the Committee any information with regard to the fresh water fish in the Deniliquin district? I can give you evidence as to the way in which they are being destroyed.

J. R. Edwards,
Esq.
14 Mar., 1883.

832. They are being destroyed? In very great numbers, both in the Murray, the Edwards, and Wakool Rivers, and the creeks running into them; and also in the Moira Lakes and Moira Creek.

833. What legal protection has New South Wales over the fish in the River Murray? The water belongs to New South Wales; the southern bank is the boundary-line between the two colonies.

834. In what way are the fish being destroyed? By being netted.

835. In what way are the nets used? They are very large nets with a bag; the net forms a wing something like a net used for a kangaroo drive; the fish go between the two wings and run into the inner circle, where there is a large bag in which the fish are retained.

836. Are the nets set from bank to bank? Yes.

837. Are they used at any time, or only in flood time? Principally when the rivers are running.

838. What size fish do they catch in these nets? The meshes of some of the nets are very small. I do not think the size of the mesh matters much. Even a 4-inch mesh will keep in a perch or bream half-a-pound in weight, and that is too small a fish to catch.

839. Has there been any supervision or inspection of the river fishing? The police have been very inactive. I am a member of the Deniliquin Municipal Council, and we have stirred the police up on many occasions; but they seem to consider it outside their province altogether, and rather infra dig to interfere in any way.

840. Under the Act any man above the rank of a common constable is an inspector? Yes, but notwithstanding that the police do not interfere. Lately two or three cases of infringement of the law have been brought specially under the notice of the police, and they took proceedings.

841. Was any conviction obtained? In three different cases convictions were obtained and fines inflicted.

842. But these convictions did not diminish the destruction of fish? Fishermen tell me they have lost fully £200 in consequence of their not being able to fish across the mouth of the Edwards River.

843. Where are the fish sent to? Out of the Colony, chiefly to Melbourne. The fishermen obtain their supplies from Melbourne, and most of the fish are sent there; in fact there is only one fisherman who sells fish retail in Deniliquin.

844. Are any of the fishermen careful enough to return the small fish to the waters, or do they dispose of them indiscriminately? The fish are put into the boat first of all, and then into crates; sometimes the small fish are returned to the water, at other times they are merely thrown upon the bank. The destruction of small fish is very great.

845. What prices are obtained for the fish? In Deniliquin 6d. per lb.; I think it is from 4d. to 6d. wholesale.

846. What would you suggest in the way of legislation to prevent the destruction you speak of? I should recommend that a close season should, if possible, be declared, and that power be given to the Fisheries Commissioners to close rivers against netting for any period that might be deemed advisable. I think the rivers have been so denuded of fish that it will take years to enable them to recover. Fresh-water fish grow very slowly. All the large fish, I believe, have been got out of the rivers; there are few, if any, left.

847. I understood you to recommend that these rivers shall be closed for a long period, and only lines permitted to be used until the rivers have recovered themselves? Yes; and I would recommend that a close season be declared during the spawning.

848. Has there been any wide expression on the part of the people of your district in favour of some action which would prevent the rivers from being denuded of fish? Yes.

849. There is no proper inspector in your district? The police sergeant is an inspector. We have recommended the appointment of Mr. Osborne Wilshire, the forest ranger, as an inspector. I believe the recommendation has been approved of by the Government, but the appointment has not been confirmed.

- J.R. Edwards, Esq. 850. Mr. Olliffe.] How long do you think it would take for a river to recover itself? Two or three years, I should think.
- 14 Mar., 1883. 851. You would recommend the closing of a river for two or three years? Yes.
852. If some steps of the kind are not taken, or proper inspection provided, the rivers will soon be denuded of fish? Yes. The Act says that no net shall be stretched across a river. That is too indefinite. In certain prosecutions that took place it was found impossible to say what was meant by "across a river." A net may be taken within a few feet of the bank, and then saplings might be laid the remainder of the distance. I think that nets should not be allowed to stretch more than one-half the whole span of the water. The size of the mesh should in no case be less than 4 inches. In fact, I think 4 inches is too small.
853. What kinds of fish are in the rivers? Cod, bream, and perch.
854. Do you ever see any speckled fish there, like trout? Yes.
855. They are very rare? No, very common.
856. What are they called? They are called trout.
857. Mr. Griffiths.] You do not know anything of the net-fishing on the Darling? No, but I believe all fish are treated alike. I cannot speak for the Murrumbidgee; but about Echuca fishing is carried on to a large extent.

FRIDAY, 16 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

Mr. ABIGAIL, | Mr. GRIFFITHS,
Mr. OLLIFFE.

A. R. FREMLIN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Inspector Quinan, called in and examined:—

- Inspector Quinan. 858. Chairman.] What are you? Inspector of the home division of the Fisheries.
- 16 Mar., 1883. 859. When were you appointed? On the 1st July, 1881.*
860. When did the Act come into force? I think it was in April or May, 1881. I was not appointed until several months afterwards.
861. What are the limits of your district? From Port Stephens to St. George's Basin.
862. Were you ever connected with the inspection of fisheries before? No. I have fished as an amateur.
863. In the exercise of your duty you have, I believe, often had to seize nets? Yes.
864. Can you tell the Committee when you made your first seizure? I think it was about November or December, 1881; I am not very certain.
865. That would be about four months after your appointment? Yes, about four or five months.
866. Can you give us a rough estimate of how many nets have been seized by you under the Act since your appointment? I seized, prior to the burning of the Garden Palace, twenty-two nets.
867. How many nets were seized in the same time by any other inspectors? About three.
868. Can you give the Committee a rough estimate of the value of these twenty-five nets? I value them at about £8 a piece; some were very rotten, old nets, and others very good ones.
869. What is the value of a full-sized net, with leads and corks, fitted up ready for use? A very good net, legal under the present Act, would cost about £40.
870. And you have seized none of that value? I think one net might have been of that value.
871. Do you superintend the sale of fish in the market? I have nothing to do with the sale; I occasionally visit the market to see that the officers are doing their duty, and occasionally make seizures of fish myself; in fact I have made a great many seizures of fish myself.
872. What position does Mr. Seymour occupy under the Commission? Acting Assistant-Inspector.
873. Your position is superior to his? Yes.
874. Have you ever had any occasion to seize fish that Mr. Seymour would or might have sold? I could have done so, but I have invariably called his attention to it. I do not venture to interfere with his duty, but I have called his attention to it frequently.
875. Can you tell the Committee on what grounds you have effected most of the seizures of nets? On the ground of their illegality under the 11th section of the Fisheries Act.
876. That would be on account of the size of the mesh? Their construction altogether.
877. Are you aware that there was a promise made by the Colonial Secretary that the fishermen should have at least a year before their nets should be seized? It is embodied in the Act, with regard to gar-fish nets only.
878. Was that carried out? Yes, strictly; in fact I have never yet seized a gar-fish net. I could now seize forty if I were inclined to do so under the size of mesh.
879. When you have seized a net on account of the illegality of the mesh, might not that net have been legal when first made and first used? No; the construction or size of the net could not possibly have been legal, according to the present Act, when first they were made.
880. Is it not possible that to-day a new net may be of a legal mesh, and that after a month's using, from shrinkage, that mesh may be illegal? Not in a month; when re-tanned in three or four months it may shrink a little.
881. Then it would be possible for a net to be legal at one time and illegal at another time? Quite so.
882. Can you tell us from your own experience that the present Act has worked harshly for the fishermen in general? It has not in my experience.
883. Let us come to an individual case: Do you remember seizing nets from a man named Mildwater? I do.
884. What was your first seizure, and about the date? I cannot tell you exactly when the first seizure was made from him; it was somewhere about the early part of 1882. I seized two nets belonging to this man. They were lying drying upon the rocks at Manly. I know they were very much under the size allowed by the Act. I cannot give you the dimensions, my papers having been burnt in the Garden Palace. The nets were illegal in the size of mesh and in length also, and in the construction. The bunt must be 50 fathoms and each wing must be 50 fathoms.
- 885.

*12 July, 1881. Vide Gazette, 81/275.

Inspector
Quinan.
16 Mar., 1883.

885. How many nets did you seize from Mildwater? Three; two on the first occasion, and one on the last.
886. What was the value of the two first seized? I think the best net was worth about £35, and the other about £10.
887. After these two were forfeited did he procure another? He must have done so.
888. Did you seize that? I seized it at the Woolloomooloo Wharf in his boat. He had just brought fish to market.
889. That was a new net? Apparently a new net.
890. What would be the value of that net? It was worth about £30—from £25 to £30.
891. That net was complete, not talking about its legality—a complete fisherman's net, with bunt and wings? Yes.
892. On what ground did you seize that net? It was not in accordance with the construction given in the eleventh section of the Fisheries Act.
893. That is rather a vague answer. Tell us exactly why, please? I measured it, and this is the measurement: It had wings of 18 fathoms each, 2½ inches in the mesh, and a bunt of 40 fathoms, 2½ inches in the mesh.
894. The size of the mesh was legal? The size of the mesh in the bunt was legal.
895. But the length of the bunt exceeded the length allowed by the Act? No, it did not; it was under the size allowed by the Act; he could have had 50 fathoms; it was not within 10 fathoms as long as it should have been. Then the wings should have been each 40 fathoms, but instead of that they were only 18, and it was also ½ of an inch smaller in the mesh than allowed by the Act.
896. If a man is allowed 50 fathoms in the bunt and he only has 40, can that be considered illegal;—how much is he allowed in the bunt? Not to exceed 50 fathoms.
897. This man did not exceed 50 fathoms? No. The Act says he must have on either side of the bunt a wing hung on the same corks and lead lines, not less in length than the bunt of such net. He had only 18 fathoms, where he should have had 40.
898. Then, according to your reading of the law, if a man had 18 fathoms of a bunt he only ought to have 18 fathoms on either side? He must have 18 fathoms; he may have more if he likes; it must not be less.
899. We have it on sworn testimony that this man's net was seized because the wings were not of equal length with the bunt;—that is true? Yes.
900. Do you suppose that when this man's net was first used the mesh was of the legal size? I do not.
901. Mr. Olliffe.] That was the third net seized? Yes.
902. Mr. Griffiths.] The mesh of the bunt was of the legal size, 2½-inch? Yes.
903. Chairman.] What became of the net? The bunt of it was returned to Mildwater.
904. How many days, weeks, or months, after the seizure? It was seized on the 27th October, 1882, and, after some correspondence with Mildwater on the subject, the Commissioners recommended to the Governor in Council, on the 24th November, that it should be restored; Mildwater was informed by letter on the 7th December that he could have it.
905. Nearly two months after the seizure? About six weeks, I think.
906. Was the whole of the net recommended to be returned to him? No, only the bunt.
907. Mr. Griffiths.] With the corks and lead-lines? Yes.
908. Chairman.] While this decision was pending, what became of the net? The net was hung upon a pole in the Fish Market; I purchased a pole myself specially, and had it hung 7 feet off the ground.
909. From the very commencement? From the very commencement.
910. In what state was that net when returned? I saw the net in the morning, before it was returned, and it was perfectly dry and sound. My assistant gave it to Mildwater in the afternoon.
911. If any one has sworn that this bunt was in a rotten state and unfit for use, that must be untrue? Perfectly untrue.
912. Mr. Olliffe.] You say you are an amateur fisherman? For years I have taken great interest in fishing.
913. Will you kindly tell us how you were appointed an Inspector of Fisheries? I was recommended by the Commissioners and appointed by the Governor in Council.
914. Which Commissioner recommended you? The Commissioners; I cannot say which one; Mr. Macleay and the rest, I made a formal application, and the Commissioners as a body recommended my appointment.
915. You are quite sure the Commissioners recommended you? Quite; I could not have been appointed without.
916. Who appointed you chief inspector? I never was appointed chief inspector.
917. Are you acting as chief inspector? I am commonly called chief inspector, because I am inspector of the home division and have assistants under me.
918. You are aware that on the Estimates £250 was asked for for your salary—£50 as chief inspector? I was not aware whether it was asked for for me; I could not say it was for me until I was appointed chief inspector, but I reasonably expected I should receive the appointment, being the senior officer.
919. Are you any relation to any of the Commissioners? None whatever.
920. Are you aware that any of the Commissioners have any relations among the inspectors? Dr. Cox has a brother-in-law, lately appointed.
921. Where is he? At Bateman's Bay, in the southern division.
922. Mr. Griffiths.] Who is he? Mr. Benson.
923. Mr. Olliffe.] You are quite sure you were recommended by the Commissioners for appointment? Quite certain; I could not have been appointed otherwise. My appointment was sent in with the rest.
924. Since you have been working under the Commission have you always been confined to the one particular portion of the fisheries? Yes.
925. The home division? Yes.
926. You have been confined to the home division? Yes.
927. Has it been suggested to you at any time the advisability of your going to the southern division? Yes.
928. How long since? Barely a month ago.

- Inspector
Quinan.
16 Mar., 1883.
929. Do you know any reason why it was suggested? The suggestion was that as I perhaps had had more experience I would be able to look after matters there that are in a very bad state at present.
930. You have reason to believe that matters are not being conducted as they should be in the southern division? I have. They have not been.
931. You have reason to believe that the fishermen there have certain grievances to complain of? Yes.
932. It was suggested that you should go there to remedy these grievances? Yes.
933. Did you refuse to go? No.
934. You have not refused to go? No.
935. It is possible even yet that you may go? If directed to do so by the Commissioners I must obey them.
936. You have been consulted as to the desirability of your taking charge of that particular district? Yes.
937. For the purpose of remedying the grievances that now exist? Yes.
938. You have not given an answer whether you will go or not? I am simply awaiting instructions.
939. You may possibly have to go yet? I may possibly have to go yet.
940. You say you have seized twenty-two nets? Before the Garden Palace was destroyed.
941. How many nets have you seized since? Twelve nets since.
942. Do you remember the names of the persons they belonged to? One of them was a net belonging to Mr. Knox, of Double Bay.
943. Will you be kind enough to tell us the circumstances? The net was lying drying in front of Samuel Richardson's premises at Double Bay.
944. He is a fisherman? Yes. He looks after Mr. Knox's boat and net.
945. Is he Mr. Knox's yachtsman? He said he looked after his boat and sails for him.
946. You found this net in his possession and you seized it? Yes.
947. Did you ask him any questions? I measured the net and found it of illegal dimensions, and told him I would have to take it.
948. What did he say? He gave me a great deal of abuse—called me all the names he could lay his tongue to; I never answered him.
949. Did he tell you who the net belonged to? Yes. I told him it was seized under a certain section of the Act.
950. Which section? The twenty-fifth section.
951. And he told you the net belonged to Mr. Knox? Yes.
952. Are you aware that under the twenty-first section Mr. Knox could keep a net of that kind if he chose? I read that as not requiring a license; nothing to do with a net. That section imposes a penalty on unlicensed persons fishing for sale, but exempts pleasure parties fishing for purposes other than sale.
953. Do you not see that that section does not interfere with amateurs? Only as to the license; I think it simply means that they need not have a license.
954. That is your construction of the clause? Yes.
955. And that is the reason why you carried into effect the 25th section in this case? Yes.
956. There were some other nets you seized? I seized another net from Mildwater. Another from a man named Newton, at Manly; the wings were 59 fathoms, with a mesh of from 1 to 2 inches; the bunt was 21 fathoms $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch.
957. Therefore that net was illegal? Yes.
958. In consequence of being what? It was illegal as regards mesh and construction.
959. Do you think that net was ever legal? Never under the present Act.
960. Do you think that net had become smaller in consequence of the action of tanning? It never could have been legal.
961. Will you be kind enough to tell us how you arrive at such a conclusion—that the net could never have been of the legal size? By personal observation.
962. Do you think that if we have it on oath that a net will become illegal in consequence of use and tanning, such evidence is not truthful? You asked me with regard to this particular net of Newton's. It never could have been legal under the Act; the mesh was a great deal too small; it was $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch where it should have been $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches.
963. Was it used for gar-fish? They were using it for catching travally.
964. It was not used as a gar-fish net when you seized it? No. Even if it was used as a gar-fish net it would have been illegal.
965. Will you mention another net that you seized? I seized two hoop nets on the Parramatta River. The men were holding them as the tide came in at an aperture in the breakwater, and the fish were running into them very strongly; they had buckets baling them out—fish of all sizes, including little fish the size of your finger.
966. What were the names of the men? I do not know their names; they made off as soon as we appeared.
967. What became of the fish? They were sent to the charitable institutions.
968. Will you give the particulars of the seizure of Mr. Gascoigne's net? I seized a quantity of small fish in the market one morning, which had been exposed for sale by Gascoigne, and then immediately got into my boat and went up to his place on the Parramatta River. Before I came to it I called in at his father's, as I did not know which of the Gascoigne's it was that had brought in the fish. I went in and examined a lot of netting lying on the jetty. I then looked about and found a net hanging up in the boat-shed close to the water. I examined this net and found it to be, I think, $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch in the mesh—it was under an inch throughout—very much under the legal size. I told Mr. Gascoigne I would have to take it away.
969. Was that the first net you took from him? Yes.
970. What time was this? About 7 or 8 o'clock in the morning. They gave me great abuse, and threatened to resist the seizure. I then went up a little further to the son's place. He had just come in from fishing; I examined his net and found it much under the legal size, and seized it.
971. That was also about 8 o'clock? Very nearly so.
972. Mr. Griffiths.] What date was this? It was in 1882; I could not say exactly when.
973. Mr. Olliffe.] Did you seize any other net from that same man? Yes; I was coming down from Parramatta on the 21st October—

974. That was after seizing the other net? Yes. I met the Gascoigne's rowing up the river. As I got up to them they made away, defying us to catch them; at all events, after a short pull, we overtook them and brought the boat to the side of the river, and examined their nets. My assistant saw one of them undo one net from another quickly, as we were getting out of the boat. We measured this net that had been loosened from the other, and found the wings to be 35 fathoms of $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches mesh —

Inspector
Quinan.
16 Mar., 1883.

975. Chairman.] What should it have been—the legal size? 3 inches.

976. It was a quarter of an inch less than the legal size? Yes.

977. Do you think it was possible that net may have shrunk a quarter of an inch? Yes.

978. Then a net may be legal to-day, and in three weeks time illegal? No; in three months time.

979. After every tanning a net shrinks? Yes.

980. Supposing a man's net comes in contact with blubber very often, and he has to re-tan his net say three times in a month, would it be possible to reduce that net below the legal size within that time? Yes.

981. Just now you said the Fisheries Act did not work harshly? It has not done so, according to the way we have administered it; if we were very strict with it it would work harshly.

982. If you were compelled to seize a net a quarter of an inch under the legal size, would you think that harsh or not? Yes, I think it would be harsh. This net of Gascoigne's had 38 fathoms in the bunt of 1 inch mesh; that was considerably under the legal size; it should have been $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches.

983. Did you seize any other net from him? No, not from him.

984. Did you ever examine a net at his place and pronounce it legal? I dare say I have. I did a long time previously to that. He had in his boat two other nets which were of legal size.

985. Did you pass a net of his on a certain day, and three weeks afterwards seize the same net? I could not have done so. I would not pass a net that was not the legal size.

986. Did you examine a net and three weeks after seize it? I examined a net previously; I could not say how long before; it was not the same net.

987. At what time did you seize this net afterwards? It was 4 o'clock in the morning. I am quite sure it was about 4 o'clock—just dawn of day.

988. Was anybody about when you seized it? My assistant and two boatmen.

989. Anybody else? Only the two Gascoigne's.

990. Were there any fish with it? Yes, a small quantity of under-sized fish.

991. Did the Gascoigne's know you seized that net? Yes, they were present.

992. You took the net away and the fish? Yes.

993. You never went at 12 o'clock at night and seized a net? Yes, I did; I seized another at 12 o'clock at night—fish and net.

994. Was any person present when you did that? No person but my own officers.

995. Therefore you did not know who the net belonged to? I suspected it belonged to Gascoigne. It was taken out of his boat in fact.

996. From the circumstances you were satisfied it was his? Yes.

997. Did you summons him for it? Yes; he was fined £2.

998. Mr. Griffiths.] Did you not see him at the time? No.

999. Chairman.] Do you think that a harsh power, or not? If not harshly used I do not think it is. It is the only means we have of getting at these illegal nets, because they make signals all along the river to give notice of our approach; you will hear a gun go off here and another there all up the river.

1000. Was that net of any value? About £15.

1001. Do you think that the new law would have been better carried out by inflicting a fine upon a man who broke it, rather than seizing his property? I do not, for still he would be in possession of the illegal instrument.

1002. Do you not think that if a man found he was in possession of an illegal instrument he would sell it? He could, but he would not. They have had them in their possession ever since the Act came into force.

1003. If they were summoned for using these illegal instruments, and a fine inflicted, do you not think that would be sufficient? It would be most difficult to detect them; you would have to swear that you saw them shoot, haul, or cast the net.

1004. It is done in other places? Yes, but it is a very difficult thing to prove.

1005. Mr. Olliffe.] You say you saw on several occasions fish being sold in the market under the supervision of Mr. Seymour of an illegal size? Exposed for sale—I did not say sold;—because then I called his attention to it, and he seized them.

1006. You have never allowed fish that were illegal to be disposed of in the market? I never did.

1007. You have at all times drawn the attention of the inspector to them when you saw them? Yes.

1008. And they have not been sold? They have not been sold.

1009. Do you not think that if that rule were carried out in its entirety it would prevent a great deal of unpleasantness on your part in seizing nets, and also a great deal of trouble in preventing these people using instruments of an illegal character? It would not be sufficient. They would catch all kinds of fish and cull the best fish out for sale. A fisherman named Kelly, who lives at Birchgrove, came several times to market with fish of proper size. He then came with under-sized fish. I went down to the jetty and saw his boat with a bag over the bottom of it; I got into his boat, removed this bag, and found a flour-sack full of fish that would not weigh a quarter of an ounce; he had these hid from view. I immediately proceeded to his residence and seized the net; it was about 132 fathoms long, and $\frac{1}{4}$ inch in the mesh throughout.

1010. Chairman.] Could you not have punished him under the Act for having small fish in his possession? He was punished by being fined, I think, 10s. The magistrate let him off because he was poor.

1011. If the penalty was made heavier —? It would require a very large staff to look after them, for they sell these small fish in all the suburbs—Balmain, North Shore, everywhere. I could guarantee I could go to Parramatta any morning and get any quantity of small fish brought up there by Lambert and the Gascoignes.

1012. You say Lambert's net was seized because he was fishing in closed waters? Yes.

1013. Was it an illegal net? Yes; I seized it as an illegal net, under the 25th section; he was in closed waters at the time.

- Inspector Quinan. 1011. Mr. Olliffe.] With respect to the net of Mildwater—you say you handed it over to him? My assistant did.
- 16 Mar. 1883. 1015. You were present? No. I saw it the morning before. I was in the Fish Market in the morning, and my assistant handed it to him in the afternoon.
1016. Do you know that he did? He told me he did.
1017. If anybody says he took the net, is that the fact? I am only telling you what my assistant said; he said he delivered it to him.
1018. Mr. Griffiths.] You say there were twenty-two nets in the Garden Palace that were seized before the Garden Palace was burnt? Yes.
1019. They were all in the Palace? Yes.
1020. Nets that you seized? Yes.
1021. And three others? Yes.
1022. All in the Palace? Yes.
1023. What has become of the nets seized since? Four of them were sold, and the remainder are still detained.
1024. What were they purchased for? To go to Melbourne.
1025. Will you tell the Committee what the course of procedure is when you seize a net? I get a Magistrate to examine it; I measure it for him, and satisfy him it is illegal. I will show you one of the Magistrate's certificates to show what he does with it. (Produced—See Appendix B 1.)
1026. Was that a gar-fish net? No; I consider it a hauling-net; it could not be a gar-fish net, for a 2-inch mesh would never catch gar-fish; the wings were 2 inches and the bunt $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch; the bunt was 23 fathoms, and it had only a wing of 12 fathoms; it should have had a wing equal to the bunt.
1027. You seized that net? Yes; and it was condemned by a Magistrate.
1028. Do you always ask the fishermen to come with you to see the Magistrate inspect the net? Not always; sometimes they are not by when the net is seized.
1029. And not when the net is before the Magistrate? No.
1030. Has there been any case of appeal from your judgment? The only appeal was in Warrington's case—a net I seized at Manly Beach.
1031. What happened then? The decision of the Commissioners was that he was not to get the net back, for they considered it an illegal net in every sense of the word; they confirmed the action taken.
1032. You have the net submitted to a Magistrate before you notify to the Fisheries Commissioners having made the seizure? Yes. I at first reported a seizure to the Commissioners, and my letter was returned with an intimation that it was informal—that it should be accompanied by a Magistrate's certificate.
1033. The Commissioners know nothing about a seizure until it has been accomplished and the Magistrate has decided that the net is illegal? Yes.
1034. Then an appeal against the forfeiture may be made afterwards by the fisherman to the Commissioners? Yes.
1035. That is the course? That is the course.
1036. You claim the right under this 25th section to go anywhere? Yes.
1037. Into any house? Yes.
1038. And to go into any part of the house and look for nets? Yes.
1039. Have you ever gone into shops in Sydney? No.
1040. But I dare say your attention has been drawn to nets exposed for sale? Only netting, not nets; they must be fitted out with corks and lead lines to make them nets.
1041. Can you tell me what is the practice of the fishermen with regard to throwing out undersized fish? I have not seen them do it; I have seen several hauls made, but they were with legal nets and on ground where they very seldom get small fish. It is in the little rivers and small bays that they get small fish.
1042. What becomes of any undersized fish they catch;—do you know? I cannot tell you; I try to find out, but it is a very difficult thing. I think they sell them in the suburbs; that is my impression, for I have seized a great many undersized fish in the suburbs.
1043. Talking about Gascoigne's nets;—would you know a net again after having examined it? If I put a label on it I might know it; but we do not put any mark upon it, although, in my opinion, there ought to be some little tag or tablet attached to it.
1044. You are of opinion that a net once inspected should be marked by the inspector? Yes, in such a manner that he would know it again.
1045. That has never been done? No.
1046. You say you have difficulty in making your inquisition as to the proceedings of the fishermen, because they make signals to one another when you are about? Yes.
1047. Of course with the object of defeating the officers of the law? Yes.
1048. Have you any reason for such an idea? We have seen the Gascoignes and all their party on the look-out, and as we passed by their house they laughed at us, and when we went a little further we saw their boat at the jetty.
1049. You have reason to believe that a good deal of illegal netting is going on? There was; we have put a stop to it.
1050. Has the working of the Act and the seizure of these nets done good, and in what way? It has. When I went to the Fish Market in 1881 it was filled with fish that would hardly weigh a quarter of an ounce. I seized cartloads of them and brought them before the Honorable Richard Hill to condemn; he was very pleased with the seizure, and said those men must be punished—"Fine them, fine them"—those were his words. Now if you go to the market you see it well filled with large fish. The supply is even greater than it was, and the prices are about one-third less than what Mr. Scymour quotes in his evidence before the Royal Commission in 1880. I will give you the prices on Tuesday, the 13th March. Tuesdays and Fridays are the best days in the week, for there is generally a large supply, and it being Lent a great deal of fish is purchased. On Tuesday, 13th instant, the supply was plentiful, but the market was not glutted.
1051. What does that mean;—were there 100 bushels in the market? Yes, more than that—120 or 130 bushels.
1052. A good supply? A good supply but not a glutted market. I have seen the market glutted so that they could not sell the fish. On the day I have mentioned harbour mullet brought 14s. a basket.

Inspector
Quinan.
16 Mar., 1883.

1053. What is a basket? About a bushel and a quarter. Garfish, 12s. to 14s. a basket; one basket of particularly large and fine fish fetched 23s. Lake mullet sold at from 10s. to 13s. a basket; lake mullet by the dozen, very large fish, weighing 7lbs. each, brought 7s., or 1d. a pound, 7d. each; schnapper varied from 5s. 6d. to 18s. per half-dozen—the supply was not plentiful; these are caught by line outside the Heads; taylor, from 8s. to 10s. a basket.

1054. Chairman.] They are used for bait, are they not? A great deal for smoking. Blackfish, 8s. to 9s. per basket; whiting, twenty-four fish, for 4s. 6d.—they are sold in twenty-fours, and these fish were selling to my knowledge at 1s. each retail. Another description of garfish, called long-tom, weighing about a pound each, I bought thirty for 2s. 6d. I have frequently seen beautiful fish sold in the market, when it was glutted, or when the boat came in late from Newcastle, for 2s. a basket; I have bought them myself. Green prawns brought about 10s. 6d. to 15s. a basket; that is ten heaps at 1s. or 1s. 6d. a heap. On this day there were not any salmon, but I have frequently seen salmon sold for 8s. a dozen, weighing about 7lbs. each, and seen these same fish sold retail in the suburbs at 1s. each.

1055. There was not an extra supply that day? No.

1056. Nor was it a very cheap market? An ordinary market.

1057. Where did these fish mostly come from? They came from Lake Macquarie, Botany, Broken Bay, and Lake Illawarra.

1058. Do you know any reason why the supply of garfish is so small this season? They are not small now.

1059. The supply is short, is it not? Not now; they are coming in very plentifully; for the next three months they will be very plentiful; they come only at certain seasons in any number. I have seen gar-fish in the market, both this morning and yesterday, which weighed fully 3 and 4 ounces each.

1060. The legal size is 3 ounces? Yes; I would reduce that to 2 ounces. In fact that list wants re-writing altogether.

1061. May I ask, do you know that many men have been driven to other means of livelihood owing to the seizure of their nets and to the working of this Fisheries Act? No, the records are quite the opposite. Fully 100 more fishermen are occupied this year than last year; that is to say, 100 more licenses have been taken out this year than last year.

1062. Are the men better off than they were;—have you any means of knowing? I know that Newton has frequently brought forty and fifty baskets of fish to the market, and got 10s. a basket for them all round.

1063. For one day's work? For one night's work.

1064. Where is Newton fishing? At Watson's Bay.

1065. One boat? One boat; he and his two boys.

1066. Mr. Olliffe.] Does he do that two or three days in the week? Yes; he could do it every day if he felt inclined; but fishermen, as a rule, do not work every day. Some of the fishermen are considered very rich indeed—very well off.

1067. Mr. Griffiths.] The fish supply has not been diminished by the introduction of this Act? No; it has been improved greatly.

1068. And the men employed in the fisheries have been increased in number? Yes.

1069. In your opinion they are better off than they were before? I think they are.

1070. Mr. Abigail.] If it has been stated in evidence that the supply is very much less indeed than it was two years ago and the price three times as high, that would not be correct? It would not.

1071. If it has been stated that black bream, schnapper, gar-fish and whiting are very scarce at the present time, that would not be correct? It would not.

1072. If it has been stated that a scarcity has been brought about by the arbitrary seizure of nets, would that be correct? It would not.

1073. Do you think that if these men were heavily fined for using illegal nets, but allowed to retain their nets, the fines would cause them to abstain from again using them? I do not; they would still illegally use them.

1074. Do you think the size of the gar-fish net should be immediately reduced? Yes, the mesh should be immediately reduced to 1½ inch, and the net should be longer, about 40 fathoms to each of the wings.

1075. Have none of the nets that have been seized been forfeited without a certificate from a Magistrate? No.

1076. Are the fishermen called upon to appear at the examination of their nets? No.

1077. Do you think they should be? I think they should be. In fact I think it is a great pity these men are not compensated for the loss of the nets they had in use when the Act came into force.

1078. With reference to the Gascoignes fishing in closed waters, if it has been stated that these fish were caught in the harbour, and you followed them into closed waters, would that be correct? No, it would not. It was proved that the fish had been caught in closed waters, and they were fined £10.

1079. I understood you to say that if the Act were carried out strictly it would be very harsh, but you have not administered it in that spirit? I have not.

1080. Mr. Griffiths.] By direction of the Commissioners? No, by my own action. All the direction or instruction I ever received from the original Commissioners was a copy of the Act and a short letter telling me to carrying out its provisions in their entirety.

1081. Have you had communications from them about the bad working of the Act? Yes, frequently.

1082. Did they ever recommend you not to be harsh in carrying out the provisions of the Act? Dr. Cox has very often said so, and I have assured him we have never been harsh.

1083. Mr. Abigail.] The seizure of these nets has been entirely your own action without instructions? Yes.

1084. And you conceive you have carried out your duty fairly and not harshly? Yes.

1085. Did you seize a net belonging to a man named Bob—Old Bob he was called. It was seized at the same time as Warrington's net was seized? Yes, Bob Paskell; he had a net of illegal construction.

1086. Could you tell us whether that was a net you had passed a little time previously? No, I could not.

1087. When you seized that net did he say so? Yes, he made a remark to that effect.

1088. Do you think the fishermen have any means of starting their operations with a net of legal dimensions and preserving that legality while continuing their avocation? The net must shrink a little; but any net that I have once seen to be legal, since the passing of the Act, I would never take, even though it had shrunk a little.

1089. Suppose a man had a net that was too big at starting, would that interfere with the number of fish he would catch? Not at all. I may tell you that a fisherman named Bronnan uses a net 3 inches in the mesh throughout and brings splendid fish to market; he also uses a prawn net an inch and a quarter, and does not care to use a smaller one.

1090.

- Inspector
Quinan.
16 Mar., 1883.
1090. Have you ever taken part in forfeiting a quantity of fine large bream because there were a dozen or two small ones among them? No; I look for a very large per-centage of small fish among them before I seize them; I consider there should be 20 per cent. of small fish before I make a seizure, but nothing under.
1091. You have never forfeited as much as 7 or 8 bushels of fish, worth nearly £10, because there were a few small undersized fish among them? Not a few, a good per-centage, about 20 per cent.; I would not take if there were under 20 per cent.
1092. Mr. Olliffe.] Although you would be justified in doing so? Although I would be justified.
1093. Mr. Abigail.] You are not aware of any of the Botany fishermen having given up their avocation and taken employment as labourers under the Corporation? I am not. A great many have gone to the Lakes, where the fishing is better.
1094. You have stated that the number of fishermen is greater? The number of licenses issued is much larger.
1095. Are they new men coming into the work, or the old men? I could not say.
1096. Have you noticed new men coming in and the old ones disappearing? I have not noticed the old ones disappearing, except by death or going to the Lakes.
1097. Do you know the family of the Smiths at Botany? Yes.
1098. Have you had any case of forfeiture of fish in connection with the Smiths? Once, at the very first going off of the Act, a few bushels were seized, and Smith was fined 10s. As a rule the Botany men bring in very large fish; I never see small fish with them. I have never seized a net from a Botany man, except Smith; they bring in the finest fish and are quite pleased with the Act.
1099. You never have any trouble with their nets? No; and what is more, I have never seized a garfish net from them, although I could do so now if I thought proper; but I think it would be very harsh to do it.
1100. Mr. Olliffe.] What did you say is the gentlemen's name who is Inspector of the Southern Division? Mr. Benson.
1101. Chairman.] Is it possible to riddle prawns? I do not think it is; they jump about so, and their long feelers prevent it.
1102. Do you not think the prawn net ought to be lengthened? That is a very difficult question, because if you lengthen it they may use it for catching small fish.
1103. Are you aware that any amateurs are selling fish in the city? I have heard of it; but I may tell you the way they do: A number of gentlemen who go out in the fishing boats outside the Heads send their fish to a man named Moses, and this man brings them into the market and sells them.
1104. Do you think it an honorable thing for amateurs to do so? I do not.
1105. Mr. Abigail.] About the reading of the 21st clause, is there not a provision exempting amateur fishermen? Yes, exempting them from the necessity of taking out a license. It seems unfair to the regular fishermen, but I am afraid there would be a great deal of disturbance if they were not exempt.
1106. The second line speaks of line or net;—do you read that to mean a legal net? It can be read both ways. If he fishes with an illegal net he is liable to be fined, and he is also liable to be fined for selling fish.
1107. Then the exemption does not allow amateurs to use illegal nets? No, it does not.
1108. Chairman.] On what grounds did you seize Warrington's net? On account of the construction of the net, and its being illegal.
1109. Can you make any suggestions to the Committee, as briefly as possible, for the improvement of the present Act? The only alteration I really think necessary in the fishing part of the Act, or to the 25th clause, would be the alteration of the gar-fish net, and the alteration of the hauling-net, making it a little longer than it is.
1110. With regard to the schedule of sizes, what alteration would you make? I have a list here. (See Appendix B 2.)
1111. Is it the same as that suggested by the Fisheries Commissioners Act? No, it is a little different.
1112. Mr. Abigail.] We had evidence before us about a month since that gar-fish two or three years ago were sold at 8s. 6d. a bushel, and that the current price on or about the 21st February was 35s. a bushel? A month ago they were dearer than they are now; they are only now coming in.
1113. That high price was only because the fish were not in season? Yes.
1114. Otherwise fish are no dearer than they were two or three years ago, before the Act was passed? I consider them cheaper.
1115. Chairman.] Do not householders complain that they are dearer? It is not the fishermen who are making money out of them; it is the dealers. I have seen fish sold in the market for a penny a piece when they were selling for 9d. or a shilling in the suburbs. I often buy fish in the market myself, a couple of dozen for two or three shillings.

Mr. George Warrington called in and examined:—

- Mr. G.
Warrington.
15 Mar., 1883.
1116. Chairman.] What are you? A fisherman.
1117. Have you been long engaged in fishing? Ever since 1832; since 1850 in this Colony.
1118. Whereabouts? From Sydney to Manly, Broken Bay, and Botany.
1119. Where do you dispose of your fish? At the Fish Market.
1120. By auction? Yes. Previous to that I used to sell them at the Queen's Wharf.
1121. Is the supply of fish more abundant now than it was? No, it is much less.
1122. Are you sure of that? Yes.
1123. If we have evidence before us stating that the supply is better, of better fish, is that true? No. Previous to the passing of the Act I used to get from 8s. to 10s. and 15s. a bushel for my whiting, and now for a few gar-fish and a few whiting I get 30s. or £1.
1124. Recently? No, not since my nets have been taken away.
1125. Does that arise from the fish not being so abundant? Simply because we are not allowed to have a net that will catch them.
1126. Did you ever lose a net by seizure? Yes, my net was taken away after being passed by that man who has just gone out.

Mr. G.
Warrington.
16 Mar., 1883.

1127. When did he pass it? Some months before he took it away.
1128. Were you present when he seized the net? No.
1129. Do you mean to swear that the net he seized was the same net he passed? It was not exactly the same as it was when he passed it, but a part of it was; I had put in a new piece in the bunt; it came down to an inch and a quarter, and the law was that I could not use that, so I put in a piece of two-inch net.
1130. Do you know the dimensions of your net in the wings? It was supposed to be just under 90 fathoms, the whole length of the net; he made it about 79 fathoms, or something of that sort—27 fathoms in the centre, and 23 and 29 fathoms in the wings.
1131. Was it 90 fathoms when it was new? Yes, I made it so by measuring it with my arms stretched.
1132. Can you stretch a fathom? Very near—a bit over.
1133. Were the wings legal? For a gar-fish net they were, but not for a seine net; it is supposed to be 3 inches, neither larger nor smaller, which is impossible. Some parts of my net were under 3 inches, $2\frac{1}{2}$ and $2\frac{1}{4}$.
1134. You can buy netting of any mesh you like? But you cannot tell what it will shrink to.
1135. Was there more than one size of mesh in your wings? Yes.
1136. Are you not, in accordance with the law, compelled to have a mesh of equal size? Yes.
1137. Did you have one portion of your wings $2\frac{1}{4}$ mesh? Yes, one portion of it, and some parts of it $2\frac{1}{2}$, and some $2\frac{3}{4}$ inches.
1138. Was that legal? Not as the law made it; it was not legal according as the law is got up.
1139. What blame can you attach to Mr. Quinan for seizing the net, if he is acting under instructions so to do? Because he passed this $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch stuff in my shed.
1140. Did he pass the whole of your net? No.
1141. What mesh should the bunt of your net be? An inch and a half tanned; it would have to be made fully an inch and three-quarters to allow for shrinking, for gar-fish.
1142. Did you have any portion of your bunt $1\frac{1}{2}$? I believe some of it was, but other parts of it would be $1\frac{1}{4}$; some parts of the twine took up more than others. I could not use $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch, and so I got a bit of new 2-inch stuff, and put it in the middle.
1143. That was an excessive size? I could not manage any other way; I could not get it $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch.
1144. What was the reason you had so many different sizes in one net? Because I had the netting by me, and I used it, not thinking they would exact it from me that it should be no larger and no smaller.
1145. What is your complaint against the inspector? He had no business to tell me that if I brought it up to $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch he would pass it. When it was put together he took my net away.
1146. Two and a quarter inches in the wing is not legal—the wing ought to be 3 inches? Not for gar-fish; that is only for a hauling net.
1147. Was this a gar-fish net? It was fitted up as a gar-fish net, and kept as a gar-fish net.
1148. Do I understand you to declare positively that the inspector permitted you to have this net, and then seized it for being illegal? He knew that I got it $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch and put it into the net, but it tanned down, and then the law came in that I could not use my $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch, and I took that out and replaced it with 2 inch, not dreaming for one moment that I was violating the law for so doing, when the law only required it to be $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch.
1149. Mr. Griffiths.] What alterations do you think are required in the Act? The whole thing is a scandal altogether, a disgrace to the country.
1150. Will you tell us where the Act wants altering? To my mind it ought to be consumed altogether. A greater diabolical affair I never knew—that a man should not even go to the sea-board and take a fish under 1 lb. weight but that man's fish and everything in the boat is to be seized, and the man fined. Other people who don't pay a license may come and take little bream no longer than my finger, killing them in thousands as they do, but if we catch them we are fined, and our nets and fish seized.
1151. Chairman.] What was the value of the net you lost? It cost me about £30.
1152. Did you make any application to have it returned to you? Yes, I wrote to the Board; they had me before the Board as well, and asked me about it. Dr. Cox said I had better leave it with him, and he would see and get it back. I am £10 out of pocket by it now; and I had a home of affliction, and could not get bite or sup for her. Mr. Want told me the mesh in the wings must be just 2 inches—no larger, no smaller; and the bunt just $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch—no larger and no smaller; and just so many fathoms long.
1153. Mr. Olliffe.] Where do you fish? Sometimes one part, sometimes another.
1154. Where do you live? At Manly.
1155. Are there less fishermen now than there used to be, or more? Less. Some have gone wood-chopping, some fencing, and some wherever they could get a job. They have told me they cannot get a living now.
1156. Are there any new men fishing? I could not tell you.
1157. Have you met any? Yes. I have asked the size of their nets, and when they told me, I said, "Go home with it as fast as you can, or it will be taken from you."
1158. Chairman.] Have you ever seen small fish destroyed by the fishermen? That requires explaining. How can it be done, when we are fishing on the ocean beaches, with the surf coming in? They told me at the Board that I must stop in the water and pick out the small fish and let them go. I said, "You come and give it a trial, and you will find you will have enough to do to save your life."

THURSDAY, 22 MARCH, 1883.

Present:—

MR. OLLIFFE, | MR. YOUNG.

A. R. FREMLIN, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. William John Langham called in and examined on oath:—

1159. Chairman.] What are you, Mr. Langham? I am an hotel-keeper, and reside at the Richmond River.
1160. You were, I believe, formerly an inspector of oyster-beds? Yes.
1161. For what district? For the whole of the Colony.

Mr. W. J.
Langham.
22 Mar., 1883.

- Mr. W. J. Langham.
22 Mar., 1883.
1162. For how many years? Between eight and nine, I think.
1163. Can you give the Committee any information as to whether there is any difference between the leased oyster-beds as they are now and as they were at the time you were inspector? Yes, they are in a considerably worse condition now. I might go on to relate that from the time the present Commission was appointed until I left—
1164. If you will, please to give the Committee as clear and brief a statement as you can as to the present condition of the oyster-beds, without my putting any questions to you? At the time the Commissioners took office the Manning River had been shut up for two or three years.
1165. For what reason? I considered the beds had been overworked; the lessee thought so too, because he chucked the beds up; he was paying too large a rental.
1166. You shut the river up in order that the beds might replenish themselves? I had no power at that time to take them away from the lessees. There was no such power given under the old Act. Afterwards Newcastle was thrown up by the lessee.
1167. Did he throw it up before the expiration of his lease? Yes.
1168. For what cause? Simply because he thought these people could go on to the beds at the time; and he had no power to stop them; nor had I any such power.
1169. When you say "these people," what people do you mean? Oystermen; men without licenses. There was no power under the old Act to lease the natural oyster-beds. The consequence was this thing was found out by the oyster-men.
1170. As a practical man, will you say how you consider the Fisheries Act of 1881 has worked in regard to the oyster fisheries? In my opinion it has been a perfect failure. I told the Commissioners so at the time of my retirement. I had been two years in position, and I made certain suggestions, but not one was carried out. When they appointed me to the Southern districts I asked them what I was to do. I think these men should carry out the fisheries and oyster business from end to end. The two things, that is the oysters and the fisheries, should be kept separate to a certain extent, and I think that five men with a secretary would be quite sufficient to carry out the whole Act. At present the law is simply a trap for unfortunate fishermen. The Act is too long.
1171. In what way or in what manner do you think the natural oyster-beds of the Colony should be leased? I object to leasing any of the natural oyster-beds at all.
1172. Why? Because I think that the Crown should maintain them. But I think private speculators might be encouraged to lay out artificial beds; and I think the Government should supply them to a certain extent with the necessaries for doing so, that is with spawn and so forth. But I should by all means, and at any time the beds are fit, permit them to be worked under certain restrictions. I would give them certain rights.
1173. To whom would you give the rights you speak of, and what rights? I would deal with them the same as I would deal with a free selector. I would examine a place, and determine how many men should be allowed to work there. If there were more applicants than were required, I would let the rights to work be balloted for.
1174. Do you not think it would be better for the beds and for the revenues of the Colony if the oyster-beds were divided into sections, and each section put up to lease by auction? The natural oyster-beds?
1175. Yes? Most decidedly not.
1176. Why? Why they would turn to and denude them, and what recompense would the Government have. The whole of the beds at the present time are perfectly destroyed. When first the Commission started they had something to work upon. At the present time they have nothing.
1177. But do you think the lessees would have destroyed the beds if they had had a proper tenure of them? I think the men we have had have simply grabbed all they could, and worked the beds out.
1178. But if there was a clause in the Act compelling the lessees to keep the beds properly replenished? Then you would require a number of inspectors to see that the law was carried out, and there would be no end of expense.
1179. But do you not know there has been as much as £3,000 given for oyster-beds by one lessee? Yes; I am not sure it was as much as £3,000.
1180. And if you had fifty men holding £10 licenses you would only get a revenue of £500—would not the other plan I suggest bring in more revenue? I think the inspector should be a man who has a knowledge of the beds.
1181. Do you think a mile of any oyster-bed too much for any one man to hold under oyster lease? Most decidedly.
1182. How much would you recommend? I would not recommend the leasing of any part of a natural oyster-bed.
1183. Do you know the Manning? Yes, well.
1184. Do you know that the lease of that place has expired? Yes, before I left.
1185. How many men have worked there since? Fifty or sixty, I dare say, have worked the ground since Price gave up.
1186. What made Price give up? Oysters could not be got.
1187. In your opinion the oyster-beds want more supervision and protection than they have had? Yes, more than they had in my time. At the same time you do not require a large number of inspectors to look after them.
1188. Do you know anything about foreshore oysters, what they call steel-backs? Yes. The Manning was a natural breeding-ground and should not have been interfered with. But when oysters went up from sixpence to 30s. a bag, picking up oysters was like picking up gold.
1189. Are there any oysters in the river near where you are living? Yes.
1190. That was shut up in your time and has been kept shut since? Yes.
1191. It is shut now? No, it is open now.
1192. In what state was the Richmond River at the time it was opened? It had never been leased during my time. I kept it open. Mr. Oliver told me I knew nothing about it; and they said they wanted the thing tested. The oysters at the Manning are not fit to be looked at.
1193. How many years does it take before the spat will become an edible oyster? That depends upon the locality and the state of the beds. That is a question that would take a lot of time to answer. The beds can be overworked, and an inspector ought to be able to tell when a bed has been overworked.

Mr. W. J.
Langham.

22 Mar., 1883.

1194. About how many years does it require for the spat to become an edible oyster? In what way?
1195. How many years will it take for the spat to grow into an oyster fit to eat? From three to five years. It depends entirely upon the locality.
1196. Then you would recommend the closing of a river for at least three years? I would recommend that any river from which oysters are obtained, when closed, should be closed to everybody; except in case of private oyster-beds. A natural oyster-bed should be closed for a certain time.
1197. You would not have anything under three years? I would in certain cases.
1198. You have said that you know something of foreshore oysters—what they call steel-backs—they are very hard to open—will they alter their place? Yes, they will alter in colour; although that entirely depends upon the class they are of. They will get to the colour of the bed they were originally removed from.
1199. The reason I put the question is because there is such a variety of opinions about it? What you term steelbacks are something like what you get on the rocks on the North Shore. If you get on a natural bed that has not been destroyed, and put it down there—for instance you get mangroves on these rock oysters—you can put them down, and if they are left they will actually turn to the shape of the oysters originally there.
1200. How many months will that take? Some people say nine months; but I think it will take about eighteen months or two years.
1201. Mr. Young.] In stating your objection to leasing natural oyster-beds you said the lessees would only grab all they could get? Yes, they have done so.
1202. But was it not under these circumstances: directly they have denuded the beds they have thrown them up and paid no more rent? Yes, they have done that.
1203. But if the leases were for a longer term, say for twelve or fifteen years, and the lessees had to pay rent for the whole term of the leases whether they denuded the beds or not, would not that lead them to take care of the beds? No.
1204. It would surely be to their interest to take care of the beds? If a man wants to go into a private speculation he would be allowed to take up the foreshore, but the Crown should hold possession of the natural oyster-beds, and only allow them to be worked when the inspector thinks they are fit to be worked.
1205. But what I want to get from you is this: Suppose the Crown gave leases for twelve or fifteen years, and secured itself against loss so far as the rent is concerned, by inserting in the lease a clause making the rent payable during the whole term of the lease, and obtained security for such payment, would it not then be to the interest of the lessees to maintain the beds in proper condition? My experience is that it would not.
1206. Chairman.] Under the old system of leases, but Mr. Young is speaking of what might be expected were a different plan of leasing adopted, under which the Crown would be secure of getting its rents? I certainly object to the leasing of natural oyster beds under any shape or form.
1207. Mr. Young.] Have you any other reason for your objection than that the lessees would derude the beds? Yes, many reasons.
1208. What other reasons have you? These men simply send others there to work the beds, and they clean them out. The lessees need not be there at all; they might go to England, and still make money out of it.
1209. But if the Crown were to secure itself so far as the payment of rent was concerned, by a system of guarantees, or in any other way,—if you could suppose —? You must understand this: the present state of things is a farce.
1210. Now in reference to the beds that are not natural oyster-beds, what do you think would be a reasonable extent of ground for carrying on oyster cultivation? It depends upon the locality entirely.
1211. Chairman.] Take the worst and best, and strike an average? Would you take a straight line?
1212. Mr. Young.] No, take a river frontage—what length and depth would you allow? Any distance so long as they are clear of the natural oyster-beds.
1213. What, in your opinion, is the best depth for oysters to thrive in? Any depth, so long as they are covered at low water. In some places they actually do well where they are not covered at low water.
1214. But they never become of any size then? Yes, they do.
1215. Chairman.] Now, I want to ask you a few questions about fish. You know the neighbourhood of Port Stephens? Well.
1216. And the Chinese drying factory there? I was only there on one occasion.
1217. Are you aware that they formerly dried vast quantities of fish there? Yes.
1218. Do you know how the place is going on now? I have not been there for a considerable length of time. It is bound to get less.
1219. What is bound to get less? By the way in which it is worked. All the rivers have been worked on the same principle.
1220. I am speaking only in reference to sea fishing, not with regard to rivers at all? Well, the porpoises during the last ten years have accumulated enormously in number, and they are exceedingly destructive to fish; they destroy more than all the cormorants out. I can speak of one place, the mouth of the Clyde River. Some few years ago you could take a clothes-line, or anything in the shape of a piece of rope, and catch what you like in the shape of schnapper. Now there are large numbers of porpoises coming up and down, but no schnapper. I was laughed at when I told the Commissioners that the porpoises had more than anything else to do with the diminution in the number of schnapper. I have seen a porpoise actually strand himself in his efforts to lay hold of a bream. I think they prefer bream.
1221. Is there any means of destroying porpoises? You can shoot them.
1222. Do you think the offer of a reward for their destruction would induce people to destroy them? I object to rewards generally. Since the present Commissioners were appointed the unfortunate fishermen have been persecuted for the sake of the reward.
1223. But rewards offered for the destruction of fishes of prey would go into the hands of the fishermen? The moment you shoot a porpoise he will sink.
1224. Mr. Young.] Will a porpoise sink? As a rule they go down; in fact I think the other porpoises eat them.
1225. Chairman.] As regards the present size of meshes and nets, the length of the bunt and the length of the

- Mr. W. J. Langham.
22 Mar., 1883.
- the wings, what is your opinion? I think the difficulty can be got over by the appointment of an inspector, some such man as Mr. Seymour at the markets.
1226. You think if an inspector was placed in the markets to see that no undersized fish was sold that would afford sufficient protection? I don't go that far. I think you should have a market both for fish and oysters. But the two things should be separate. You should have a chief inspector and auctioneer, something like Mr. Seymour is at the present time. All the fishermen should register their names, and should agree amongst themselves as to the size of the fish to be sold. The moment a river is to be shut up, shut it up entirely and allow no person to work there. A river ought to be closed from its mouth.
1227. You do not exactly understand me;—Do you think it necessary to alter the law with regard to the size of the net, the length of wings or bunt, or the mesh? It is a thing that will never work under the circumstances.
1228. But do you think it necessary to alter the present size of the net, the mesh, or the wings, or the bunt? I would allow them to agree to anything they would work themselves.
1229. Do you think the present size of the mesh a proper one? I would simply allow them to use any reasonable size they liked. I gave the Commissioners an idea of what I thought was required. I think they have got whaleboat-shaped boats for these men, for the inspectors of oyster-beds.
1330. How many years were you inspector? Between eight and nine.
1331. You were inspector over the men who leased the oyster-beds? Yes, over the whole of them.
1332. Then oyster-beds have been leased? Yes.
1333. And whilst you were inspector abundance of oysters were found? Yes, but the Act gave us no power.
1334. But did that do it? Yes, it cleaned the beds out.
1335. But some of the leases have not expired yet? There will be nothing left for the Crown to take possession of.
1336. Do you think they would have left the beds in their present unsatisfactory state, if the lessees had had a proper renewal of their leases? Most decidedly they would.
1337. Mr. Olliffe.] Do you mean to say, or do you mean to infer, that if a person obtains a lease of a natural oyster-bed, or any other oyster-bed, he would simply remove every oyster there was that would prove saleable, and then throw the lease up? They have done so up to the present.
1338. If they had leases for twenty years, do you think they would do the same thing? I do not think it would make any difference.

Mr. Richard Seymour recalled and examined on oath:—

- Mr. R. Seymour.
22 Mar., 1883.
1239. Chairman.] Have you at any time seen cart-loads of small fish condemned and taken away from your market? Never.
1340. What is the largest quantity that any inspector has ever condemned? I do not think the largest quantity ever condemned at the markets exceeded seven baskets.
1241. And what per centage of small fish might have been in that lot? About twelve tarwhine.
1242. From what you know of the thirty confiscated nets, what do you consider would be the average value of each? A full size net would be worth over £50.
1243. You know the style of nets mostly confiscated;—what at a rough estimate would be their average value? I daresay the average value of each would be over £20.
1244. If anyone has sworn before this Committee that the value of the confiscated nets was only about £8 each, it was an untruth? It was untrue.
1245. Have you ever heard or do you know, what amount of the fines went into the inspectors' pockets? I do not know; I know they receive half the fines; but I do not know how much the fines amount to.
1246. Sometimes when fish are taken to market in baskets a black stuff exudes from their belly, and makes them look rather black? Yes.
1247. How are they washed before they are sold? As soon as they are sold they are washed in salt water. There is a large tank for the purpose.
1248. Have you ever seen fishermen, before offering the fish for sale, washing them under a sewerage drain? Never.
1249. If such a statement has been made it is, as far as you know, false? It is false. The men have no occasion to do it. I have never in my life seen such a thing done. I cannot imagine what they would do it for, for there is abundance of clean salt water provided for them. As a rule the greater portion of the fish hawkers not only wash the fish in the large tank, but take their carts and stand them under the tanks that hold salt water for watering the streets, and they turn this water on to their fish.
1250. Have you ever known fish that has been taken by an inspector to be used for that inspector's private use? No; the fish has been taken from the market, but I do not know where it has been taken to.
1251. You do not think it was sent to a public charity? I do not know.*
1252. Mr. Olliffe.] Has your attention ever been called to illegal sized fish being sold in the market? Mr. Quinan has pointed out fish to me which he said was illegal.
1253. On how many occasions? On several occasions.
1254. Were they sold after being pointed out to you? No, they were not.
1255. How many illegal fish, as far as you can judge, did the basket contain, that is the basket pronounced to contain illegal fish? I do not suppose there were a dozen illegal fish in it; and a basket is supposed to contain about a hundredweight of fish.†
1256. You remember Mildwater's net that was in the markets? Yes.
1257. When you were being examined by the Committee before you told us that the net remained in the markets until it became rotten? It became rotten, and almost useless to the man.
1258. You are perfectly satisfied about that? Yes; the man told me himself that the net was beginning to rot away.

1259.

* NOTE (on revision):—Previous to my appointment under the Fisheries Act I don't know where the fish went to. All that I have seized has been sent to some charitable institution.

†NOTE (on revision):—Presuming this to be Sparks' and Botany Johnston's fish there were about twelve small Tarwhine in each basket.

Mr. R.
Seymour.

22 Mar., 1882.

1259. Did you see the net there? Yes.
1260. Was it in a shed or was it hanging on a pole? It was put inside a place that was made for a freezing-room.
1261. It was never hung on a pole? I never saw it on a pole.
1262. Could it have been placed upon a pole in any part of the markets where it could not have been seen by you? It could not.
1263. Then if it was on a pole you must have seen it? If it was outside the freezing-room I must have seen it.
1264. You say it was in the freezing-room? I swear solemnly that it was in the freezing-room, and I never saw it outside that room.
1265. Chairman.] Lying on the floor? No, on one of the slate slabs.
1266. And you are quite satisfied it was never placed on a pole in the market? There are two markets.
1267. In either of them? I never saw it.
1268. So far as your knowledge of it is concerned it was at all times stowed in the freezing-room? Yes, on a slab standing about the height of an ordinary table.
1269. Did you see Mr. Quinan interfere with it in any way? No; I understood they gave the net back to Mildwater.
1270. Can you tell us how Mildwater got it—whether it was handed to him by the inspector, or whether he took it? No, I cannot say.
1271. All you know is that the man got it? That is all; my clerk told me Mildwater got it.
1272. And you were told that the greater portion of it was rotten? One of my men told me that the greater portion of it was rotten. Whatever is put in the place that it was put in must rot. We tried some fish there and they became rotten.
1273. What do you think was the value of the net? Mildwater told us he had borrowed £50 from Assenheim to get the net; what its real value was I cannot say.
1274. Was it the net to buy which he borrowed the money? Yes, that was the net he told us he had borrowed £50 to buy.
1275. You know the price of fish in the market? Yes.
1276. Have you seen fish sold in the city? Yes.
1277. Have you ever priced the fish in the city? Yes; I have seen them sold.
1278. What is your opinion as to the average profit the fisherman make? I have seen squires and schnapper sold in my market for 6d., and have afterwards seen the fish-dealers asking 2s. 6d. for it in the city.
1279. Do you think the supply of fish has increased or decreased since the present Act came into force? The supply of fish decreased up to the last month. The supply has now increased, because, I think, the inspectors are not looking after the men so much as they were. They went last evening and seized another net, from old Derwent, in George's River. It is a garfish net, a little over an inch in mesh.
1280. We have been told that the number of licenses issued has increased considerably of late—is that a fact? I cannot say.
1281. Are you aware whether there is an extra number of fishermen now? I do not know; I do not see any strange faces.
1282. Do you notice any difference in the number of fishermen who attend the market? No; I have the same names on the list that have been on for years.
1283. Their number has not increased? No, it has sometimes decreased.
1284. You told us before that some of the fishermen had to leave their vocations in consequence of the Act? Yes.
1285. Is that a fact? It is a fact. Some of the men went to work at Botany.
1286. Do you know where the others went? No. But the man Derwent has been working on the road at Koggerah in consequence of the Act; but as soon as he heard they were going to allow a smaller mesh he turned to fishing again.
1287. Then since there has been an apparent carelessness on the part of the inspectors to prosecute, you think there has been a better supply of fish? I am sure of it. I have a return with me which bears that out. For the last three weeks only 371 bushels of garfish have been brought to market, whereas, if the men had been allowed to fish as formerly we should have had a couple of thousand bushels. I sold garfish for the first time this season last Tuesday from 4s. to 5s. per bushel. This morning they fetched from £1 to £1 5s. a bushel.
1288. Do you think that this being Lent season would make any difference to the price of fish? Not to-day; because Thursday is what fishermen regard as an off-day. Wednesdays and Fridays are the principal days for fishermen.
1289. Do you know the chief inspector? Mr. Quinan.
1290. Is he known as the chief inspector? Yes.
1291. And if he has told the Committee he is not known as the chief inspector he has told us what is not true? He tells a lie.
1292. Do you know whether there have been any complaints made about the inspectors in the southern districts? No.
1293. There have not been any complaints so far as you know? I know nothing of it.
1294. Do you know whether Mr. Quinan has been solicited to visit the southern districts? He told me so himself.
1295. Did he tell you for what purpose he was asked to make the visit? He thought it was for the purpose of enabling Dr. Cox's brother, or some relative of Dr. Cox, to be appointed here. He thought they wanted him to go south for three months, in order to get him away from Sydney.
1296. You do not know of any complaint being made against Mr. Benson? I do not know who he is.
1297. That is the gentleman whom Mr. Quinan was to go and see in the southern districts? I do not know him at all. Mr. Quinan had a conversation with me in the markets with reference to a letter which the Commissioners sent him. Mr. Quinan said, "A nice way they have treated me. The fact is they want to get some relation of Dr. Cox's appointed head inspector, and the Commissioners want me to go down to the southern districts for three months, and I won't do it; and I wish you would explain that when you see any of your friends who belong to Parliament." I think he said it was Dr. Cox's brother-

Mr. R.
Seymour.
22 Mar., 1883.

brother-in-law that the Commissioners wanted to appoint. Mr. Quinan has told me within the last month or six weeks not to seize—because I am an inspector under the Act—not to seize any fish if there were only 25 per cent. of small fish in the bushel.

1298. Mr. Young.] And formerly you used to seize if there were only 1 per cent? He used to come into the markets and take out a piece of red tape, and marking off the lots he would say, "This is mine," and "That's mine," and then the whole of it would be carted away.

1299. And they were all good marketable fish? Every one of them.

1300. You say that the inspector reaps a benefit by the sale of nets that have been seized? No, I said they received half of the fines.

1301. Does he receive any benefit from the sale of nets? I cannot say.

1302. Would you think so, judging from the careless way in which they throw the nets about? From the way in which nets have been seized I should think the inspectors have some interest in them.

1303. We are told that when nets are seized they are thrown on one side, and no further notice taken of them;—I want to know whether the inspectors get any benefit from the sale of nets? I do not know. In order to show why I think the inspectors have not been so strict in carrying out their duties lately I may mention one fact: During the whole of last month the quantity of fish brought to market amounted to 1,947 baskets; for the three weeks ending the 21st instant the quantity amounted to 2,016 baskets.

1304. Chairman.] Are the fishermen aware that the Act is being administered now less severely and more justly? They believe it is.

1305. And they feel more free to pursue their vocations? Until last night they did. Botany Bay is swarming with garfish; and to-morrow I suppose we could sell—if the men had liberty to do what they justly ought to do,—800 or 900 baskets of fish in the market; but it is questionable now whether we shall sell five.

1306. Mr. Olliffe.] When nets are seized, have the fishermen from whom they are seized to go before a Magistrate before the nets are condemned—that is, does the Magistrate adjudicate before seizure? No, I think not.

1307. The Magistrate has no adjudication? The nets are taken before a Magistrate and he orders them to be confiscated.

1308. Are fines then imposed upon the fishermen? No, the fishermen are summoned.

1309. After the nets are confiscated? Yes.

1310. And at the Court the inspector produces his measurement? Yes.

1311. What is your opinion of Mr. Langham, as to his being an experienced fisherman or oysterman? I never knew his name until this afternoon. But I have known him for some time, and I think he is the most experienced oysterman we have in the colonies. He is well up in the whole fish trade, and I think he is one of the best men who could be appointed over our oyster fisheries

William E. Langley, Esq., called in and examined on oath:—

W. E.
Langley, Esq.
22 Mar., 1883.

1312. Chairman.] What are you? A journalist.

1313. I believe you have taken great interest in the fishing industry of this Colony? I have.

1314. Are you an experienced amateur? I have done my share of fishing; I think I have fished at almost every place where fish is to be had, along the coast, from Twofold Bay to Cape Moreton.

1315. You know the object for which this Committee was appointed? I have heard indirectly from Mr. Cohen, and I have also seen statements in the newspapers.

1316. Its object is to inquire into the working of the present Fisheries Act, to find out whether the Act has been beneficial or not? I have had more than one conversation with Mr. Seymour, and also with Mr. Langham. After he was sent from Sydney he came back periodically, and used to tell me what was going on in his district. I have also conversed with several fishermen on the subject.

1317. Will you tell the Committee what you know from your own experience of the working of the present Act? I think the Act was never intended to do what it is doing. It is harassing the unfortunate fishermen and depriving them to a large extent of their means of livelihood.

1318. In what way? A great many of the present regulations are useless. It is radically wrong to fix the mesh of the net at the size it is fixed by the Act. An Act of three or four clauses was in my opinion all that was needed to protect our fisheries.

1319. If there was a proper inspection of the fish sold in the markets, that is as to their size, might not fishermen be left to use any size mesh they pleased? That is my opinion. I pointed out through the Press some years ago that we should have here what they have in Victoria, that is, an inspector to examine the size or weight of the fish before it is sold in the market. If he finds fish under the prescribed weight or size in any lot of fish he should have the right to confiscate the whole. I think a few such penalties would effectually put a stop to the killing of small fish.

1320. Do you think, if a small mesh was used, it would lead to the destruction of small fish that might otherwise be brought to market? I do not, if you take this precaution, that the bunt of the net shall not be taken out of salt water, and the large fish only be taken out whilst the bunt is in the water. The small fish could then be thrown out of the net before they had time to perish. I think if some such precaution was taken, and there was careful inspection to see that the law was carried out, and severe fines imposed when the law is infringed, that would preserve the small fish.

1321. That is, you would have the bunt of the net emptied into the boat? I would have the larger fish taken out of the bunt of the net whilst it is in the water, and not taken in the boat or on to the beach, and all the small fish or fry in it should be allowed to escape.

1322. But have you sufficiently taken into consideration this fact, that in many instances there are quantities of catfish, stingrays, and poisonous fish of other kind in the nets? Yes. I have seen fish even more dangerous than those named—a small fish not much larger than a toad fish; I forget its name.

1323. But are you not aware that the chief objection raised by fishermen against that mode of emptying the nets is the danger to themselves arising from the presence of poisonous fish in the nets? There is a danger to some extent. But if the bunt of the net is brought into 18 inches of water, I fail to see why they cannot get out the larger fish; it might perhaps take them a little longer.

1324. Do you think these difficulties could be got over by hauling fish to the shore? I do not see any difficulty whatever if the bunt of the net is kept in the water; the dangerous fish might be killed; the the good fish might be taken out and put into the boat, and the small fish shaken out of the net. If you take the bunt of the net in the boat, then by the time the large fish are taken out the small fish are dead.

1325. Do you know any fishermen who have given up their employment? No.

1326. Do you know any who have lost their nets? I know Warrington, of Manly Beach; I have known him for twenty years.

1327. Do you know whether he used the net that was seized for anything else than catching garfish? I do not know. But from my experience of him I would as soon take his word as that of any man in New South Wales.

1328. Have you ever known fishermen use a garfish net between sunset and sunrise—that is in the darkness? Yes, before the present Act came into force.

1329. Do you think it is wise to permit them to use garfish nets during the night? If the fish are in I do not see why fishermen should be debarred from using nets at night.

1330. Mr. Young.] Do you know anything of the oyster fisheries? Yes; it is a matter about which I have been for years in communication with Langham.

1331. Do you agree with Mr. Langham's views generally? I do; I think he is about the only man who thoroughly understands our oyster fisheries.

1332. Are you of opinion that our natural oyster-beds should not be leased by the State? I am.

1333. Will you give the Committee your reasons for thinking so? They should be kept as seed beds. I think licenses should be issued to men who desire to enter into the work; and they should not be permitted to take small oysters; if they did I would cancel their licenses. In that way you would be able to preserve the seed. But if you lease the beds, say for two years, does it not stand to reason that the lessees would clear off all the oysters they could get.

1334. But if they were leased for a longer period, twelve or fifteen years? They would do the best they could.

1335. Chairman.] Suppose they had to give five years notice, and they knew that unless they kept the beds properly replenished their leases would be liable to cancellation before they expired? If you put in a clause like that the objection to leasing would be to some extent removed.

1336. Mr. Young.] Under the old Act leases were taken for so many years, but the Government had no power to compel the lessees to continue to hold their leases; naturally, under such circumstances the lessees skinned the beds, and then simply failed to pay their rent; but suppose an entirely different system of leasing was adopted, for given periods, and the payment of rent was secured until the lease expired by effluxion of time, would your objections to the leasing system be still valid? Unless the lease is surrounded by precautions such as have never existed up to the present: I still adhere to the opinion that it would be unwise to lease. If, on the other hand, precautions are taken that the spat shall be preserved and the small fish returned from the dredge, the objection is to some extent removed. Unless some precaution of that kind is taken, we shall see oysters selling at £4 or £5 a bag, which Mr. Langham predicted some years ago would come to pass under the regulations under which the beds were leased. There is another thing I may mention: If I remember rightly, when the present Act was introduced there was a clause providing that an inspector should be allowed to go when he pleased and how he pleased, to examine deposits; I remarked at the time that if that was passed no one would put down artificial beds.

1337. Mr. Olliffe.] Why, because the inspector was allowed to go across a bed and examine it? To put a dredge down and examine it.

1338. Chairman.] I do not think the Act extends to private fisheries but only to licensed fishermen? I do not say who it extends to. In such cases as that of Mr. Holt, or other gentlemen at Botany, where the water may almost be called private water, an inspector should not be able to do it.

1339. A man may be a licensed fisherman, and have a private oyster-bed? Yes.

1340. His oyster-beds would come under a different rule to that which would apply to the dredging of a natural oyster-bed? Yes, if I remember rightly, no difference was made in the Act.

1341. Mr. Young.] But although it was thought necessary to give an inspector that power it was never intended that he should use it to the injury of any one, but simply that he should see that the licensed fisherman did his duty? But there is the power, and as you know, men, when they get power, will sometimes misuse it.

1342. Now with regard to the cultivation of oysters, the laying down of artificial beds, have you anything you would like to state to the Committee? I think any person who is in a position to lease a piece of foreshore and put down at his own expense an artificial bed, should be protected to the full extent of the law; no interference with him should be allowed.

1343. But you would still have to lease the foreshores? Yes, but the oyster-beds would be private property.

1344. Have you any idea as to what extent of foreshore would be required for an artificial bed? That is a question difficult to answer; in some places it might take three times as much as would be required in others.

1345. In regard to artificial beds, it would be necessary to afford them some protection, and give a lease for a term;—what term of lease would you recommend? They should have it for seven years at the very least.

1346. Chairman.] Would you think twenty years too much? I should not.

1347. Mr. Olliffe.] You are of opinion that if a man had a lease of a piece of foreshore for twenty years he would cultivate oyster-beds, and make them more beneficial year by year? I certainly do, provided also that the Government took the precaution of compelling him to give security for the rent up to the very last day of his lease, and not allow him to destroy the bed and then throw up his lease, as has been done.

1348. You seem to be confounding the natural with the artificial beds—if a man started an artificial bed, and afterwards found he had made a mistake, you would not compel him to pay rent for twenty years? Decidedly so. There is another matter which I think might be considered: If fishermen choose to provide themselves with wellboats, and bring fish alive to market here, as they will do sooner or later, they should be allowed to construct floating boxes, or fish reservoirs, such as they have at New York. The fish are put in alive and kept alive, so that virtually there is no difference in the market supply one day as compared with another.

W. E.
Langley, Esq.
22 Mar., 1883.

WORKING OF THE FISHERIES ACT OF 1881.

APPENDIX.

[To the Evidence of James Charles Cox, Esq., M.D., 14 March, 1883.]

A 1.

Mr. Inspector Quinan to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir,

Office of Inspector Home Fisheries, Sydney, 7 March, 1883.

Referring to the enclosed lists of seizures made by me of unlawful fishing nets, I have the honor to state that in every case the owners of these nets had been previously visited by me and made acquainted with the legal dimensions, and were not ignorant of the requirements of the Act.

I have, &c.,

JAMES QUINAN,
Inspector.

PARTICULARS of Seizures of unlawful Nets since 24th October, 1882, in the Home District.

Date of Seizure.	From whom seized.	Wing measurement.	Bunt measurement.	Decision of Commission.
1882.		fs. in.	fs. in.
24 October	E. Knox	29 2 mesh...	16 1½ mesh...	Min. 102 of 15/11/82. Law prevents return of net.
27 "	W. Mildwater ... (2nd seizure)	83 2½ & 2¼ "	40 2¼ "	Min. 137 of 29/11/82. Bunt, with cork and lead lines, to be returned conditionally that he undertakes to make his net legal.
11 "	Geo. Newton	69 1 to 2 "	21 ¾ "	No action. Min. 44.
21 December ...	Unknown	¾-inch mesh hoop net.		No action.
21 "	"	¾-inch "		"
21 "	T. Lambert	21 2 mesh...	37 1 mesh...	Min. 226 of 3/1/83. Nets to be confiscated and owner to be prosecuted.
21 "	J. Gascoigne...	35 2¼ "	38 1 "	Min. 226 of 3/1/83. " "
1883.
13 January	G. Warrington...	Diagram attached		Min. 349 of 7/2/83. Net not to be returned, as it is decidedly illegal.
13 "	R. Paskell	7 2¼ mesh...	67 2 mesh...	Min. 344. No action.
1882.
8 October	C. Couldry	51 fs. 1 in. mesh throughout.		Min. 160 of 6/12/82. Forfeiture confirmed.
8 "	"	4 nets of various lengths, having a mesh of 2 inches throughout. These nets were returned to Couldry on the recommendation of the Commissioners.		Restored, with a warning that he must dismantle them, or they will be again seized and confiscated.
1883.
25 January	R. Johnson	68fs. 3½ in. mesh	46fs. 2 in. mesh	Min. 403. Action confirmed.

LIST of Fishing-nets seized by Inspector Quinan and condemned under the provisions of the Fisheries Act, 1881.

Date of Seizure.	Name of Owner.	Particulars of Seizure.	Original Value.	Actual Value.
13 Jan., 1882.	L. Porchello	Seized in boat, together with small fish.....	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
13 " "	H. Pearce	Seized on premises; not then in use.....	5 0 0	4 0 0
13 " "	C. Smith	Seized in his boat	20 0 0	7 0 0
15 " "	Jas. Parker.....	" " (3)	15 0 0	8 0 0
17 " "	C. Smith	" "	89 0 0	40 0 0
19 " "	Geo. Kelly	Seized on his premises, after seizing small fish in Market	40 0 0	20 0 0
20 " "	Jas. Gascoigne ..	" " not in use	35 0 0	20 0 0
22 " "	W. J. Mildwater ..	" " (2)	25 0 0	12 0 0
5 July, "	R. Johnson.....	" "	85 0 0	55 0 0
6 " "	T. Lambert.....	Seized in his boat; fishing in closed waters.....	15 0 0	10 0 0
26 Aug., "	T. Kelly	Seized on premises; not then in use.....	25 0 0	20 0 0
26 " "	Unknown	Found set as a stalling-net, 1 mile long, permanently set at Wollongong.	15 0 0	10 0 0
26 " "	Barber & Dennis...	Seized on premises; not then in use (4)	60 0 0	25 0 0
7 Sept., "	G. Sweetman	" " not in use.....	72 0 0	40 0 0
" "	Unknown	Seized on banks of Cook's River	8 0 0	5 0 0
19 " "	T. Gascoigne	Seized in his boat; in closed waters.....	2 0 0	1 0 0
3 Oct., "	C. Couldry	Seized lying on Botany Jetty, and in his shed, but not then in use (5)	30 0 0	20 0 0
11 " "	Geo. Newton	Seized lying on Botany Jetty, and in his shed, but not then in use (5)	75 0 0	50 0 0
24 " "	Saml. Richardson..	Seized in his boat at Manly; resisted seizure	35 0 0	28 0 0
" "	"	His net was found drying on Richardson's premises, but it belongs to E. W. Knox.	25 0 0	15 0 0
27 " "	W. J. Mildwater ..	Seized in his boat at the Market; had small fish.....	35 0 0	30 0 0
			£ 711 0 0	£ 417 0 0

NOTE.—All the nets seized prior to the 3rd October, 1882, were destroyed by fire in the Garden Palace. The nets seized from the 3rd October, 1882, are at present lying in the Woolloomooloo Fish Market.

JAMES QUINAN,
Inspector.

FISHING-NETS

FISHING-NETS seized by Inspector Quinan, and declared forfeited under the provisions of the Fisheries Act, 1881.

Date of Seizure.	From whom seized.	Length of Net.		Mesh of Net.		Present Value of Net	Amount sold for, and to whom.
		Wings.	Bunt.	Wings.	Bunt.
Oct. 3, 1882	C. Couldry	fathoms. 51	fathoms. ...	in. 1	in. 1	£ s. d. 15 0 0	} Sold to Mr. Gibbins, £55. 31 fathoms, at 30s., Lewis; one-third value. Sold to Mr. Gibbins; included in £55. (See above.)
" 11, "	G. Newton	59	21	2	1	20 0 0
" 24, "	E. Knox	29	16	2	1½	15 0 0
" 27, "	W. J. Mildwater	83	returned	2½ & 2½	...	9 10 0
Aug. 17, "	Parker and others, seized in closed fisheries.	108	29	3	2½	35 0 0	} Sold to Mr. Gibbins; included in £55. (See above.)
						£ 94 10 0

FORFEITED FISHING-NETS.

Date of forfeiture.	From whom	Length.	By whom seized.	To whom sold.	Amount.
Oct. 3, 1882	C. Couldry	fathoms. 51	J. Quinan	F. J. Gibbins	£ s. d. 13 15 0
" 11, "	Parker and others	137	do	do	13 15 0
" 24, "	E. Knox	45	do	do	13 15 0
" 11, "	— Newton	80	do	do	13 15 0
" 27, "	do. (portion)	45	do	do	3 0 0
" 27, "	W. J. Mildwater	30	do	W. H. Lamb	1 10 0
" 27, "	do	52	do	W. M'Hardie	2 0 0
Dec. 24, "	Geo. Warrington	77	do
" 24, "	— Paskell	74	do
" 24, "	2 hoop-nets	do
" 13, "	T. Lambert	57	do
" 13, "	T. Gascoigne	73	do
" 24, "	A. Campbell	66	W. Boyd
Nov. 16, "	do	15	H. Curan
Jan. 24, "	R. Johnson	J. D. Grant

A 2.

Mr. Inspector Quinan to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir,

Office of Inspector Home Fisheries, Sydney, 24 October, 1882.

I have the honor to report that this day I seized an unlawful net found drying on the grass adjoining the premises of Samuel Richardson, of Double Bay. The net was of the following dimensions:—

Left wing, 10 fathoms; mesh, 2 inches.
Right wing, 12 " " 2 "
Bunt, 23 " " 1½ "

This seizure was made under the 25th section of the Fisheries Act.

Richardson stated that the net was the property of Mr. Knox and used by him on yachting excursions to Broken Bay; also that it was a prawn net.

I may state that considerable abuse was given by Richardson to me. The following remark made by him I consider my duty to bring under your notice:—"That the Government had better build another Garden Palace to help to burn the net."

I attach the Magistrate's certificate declaring this net to be forfeited to Her Majesty.

I have, &c.,
JAMES QUINAN,
Inspector.

Certificate of Frank Senior, Esq., J.P.

Sydney, 28 October, 1882.

I HEREBY certify that I have this day been shown a net by Inspector Quinan said to have been seized by him under the provisions of the 25th section of the Fisheries Act, 1881, from Samuel Richardson, of Double Bay. The dimensions of the net are as follows:—

Left wing, 10 fathoms; mesh, 2 inches.
Right wing, 12 " " 2 "
Bunt, 23 " " 1½ "

I am satisfied that this is an unlawful net, and order it to be forfeited to Her Majesty.

FRANK SENIOR, J.P.

E. W. Knox, Esq., to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir,

O'Connell-street, Sydney, 24 October, 1882.

I have just been informed that one of the inspectors employed by the Commission this morning seized and removed a small private net which was stored in a shed in Double Bay attached to a house occupied by Samuel Richardson, who has charge of my yacht and of the sails and gear belonging to her, including the net in question.

As this net has not been used at all of late, I shall be obliged if you will inform me for what reason it has been seized.

I am, &c.,
EDW. W. KNOX.

E. W. Knox, Esq., to The President, Fisheries Commission.

Sir,

O'Connell-street, Sydney, 26 October, 1882.

On the 24th instant I wrote to the Secretary of your Commission inquiring for what cause a small private fishing net belonging to me had been seized by your inspector, but I have not yet been favoured with a reply to my letter. I have therefore decided to lay before you the facts of the case in the hope that you will give directions for the net to be returned to me.

About

About six months ago I purchased a small seine as part of the outfit of my yacht, and have since that time used this seine on two days only. Some three months since I was informed that private gar-fish nets were not allowed to be used, and I then instructed the man who keeps my yacht to put away the net with the rest of the yacht gear in a small shed attached to his house in Double Bay. There it has since that time remained, but having been wetted by the late rain it was being dried on Tuesday, when the inspector arrived and seized it. He had for some months been aware that the net belonged to me, and he knew where it was kept, yet during this time I have never received from him any intimation, either verbal or written, to the effect that the net was not to be used, or that it should be stored in some place under lock and key.

I therefore contend that I am most unfairly and unjustly treated by the net being now seized, and that I am entitled to have it restored to me at once.

I am, &c.,
EDW. W. KNOX.

Minute of President of Fisheries Commission.

WRITE to Mr. Knox to say that there will be a meeting of the Commissioners on Tuesday next (I think I am correct), and that his letter as well as one written to the President will be laid before the Commissioners.

The Secretary, Fisheries Commission, to E. W. Knox, Esq.

Sir, Fisheries Office, Sydney, 28 October, 1882.
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 24th instant, respecting the seizure of your seine net, and to inform you that it will be laid before the Commissioners at their meeting on Tuesday next, together with your letter addressed to the President on the same subject.

I have, &c.,
LINDSAY THOMPSON,
Secretary.

Minute of Commissioners of Fisheries on above.

Postpone till next meeting, and in the mean-time ask Mr. Knox to state whether he became possessor of the net before or after the passing of the Fisheries Act.

The Secretary, Fisheries Commission, to E. W. Knox, Esq.

Sir, Fisheries Office, Sydney, 3 November, 1882.
Referring to your letters on the subject of the seizure of your fishing-net, I have been desired by the Commissioners of Fisheries to request that you will be good enough to inform me whether you became possessed of the net before or after the Fisheries Act, 1881, was passed into law.

I have, &c.,
LINDSAY THOMPSON,
Secretary.

E. W. Knox, Esq., to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir, O'Connell-street, Sydney, 6 November, 1882.
In reply to your letter of the 3rd instant, I beg to say that my seine, which was seized, was purchased by me on the 15th or 20th of May last.

I am, &c.,
EDW. W. KNOX.

Minute No. 102 of Commissioner of Fisheries on above.

Mr. Knox to be informed that under the law it is impossible to return the net.

The Secretary, Fisheries Commission, to E. W. Knox, Esq.

Sir, Fisheries Office, Sydney, 22 November, 1882.
The Commissioners of Fisheries have had your letters of the 26th October and 6th instant, respecting the seizure of your fishing-net, under their careful consideration, and have desired me to apprise you that in view of the provisions of the Fisheries Act, 1881, they are unable to recommend its restoration.

I have, &c.,
LINDSAY THOMPSON,
Secretary.

A 3.

Mr. Inspector Quinan to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir, Office of Inspector, Home Fisheries, Sydney, 27 October, 1882.
I have the honor to inform you that at 4 a.m. this morning I visited the Woolloomooloo Fish Market, and observed a quantity of small trawls exposed there for sale by a fisherman named Mildwater, of Manly. I then proceeded to the wharf and found in his licensed boat an unlawful net, of the following dimensions, which I seized, viz. :-

Wings, 18 fathoms each. Mesh, 2½ inches.
Bunt, 40 " " 2½ "

This is the third net seized by me from this fisherman, the previous seizures having been made in June last.

Attached is a magistrate's certificate, declaring this net to be forfeited to Her Majesty.

I have, &c.,
JAMES QUINAN,
Inspector.

Certificate from Frank Senior, Esq., J.P.

I HEREBY certify that I have been shown a net by Inspector Quinan, said to have been seized by him from a licensed fisherman named Wm. Mildwater, of Manly. I am satisfied that the same is an unlawful net, within the meaning of the 11th section of the Fisheries Act, 1881, and order it to be forfeited to Her Majesty.

Dimensions of net :-

Wings, 18 fathoms each. Mesh, 2½ inches.
Bunt, 40 " " 2½ "

FRANK SENIOR, J.P.

Mr. W. Mildwater to The Chairman, Fisheries Board.

Sir, Brightside, Manly, 27/10/82.
With reference to the net belonging to me, and which was seized this morning at the wharf by the inspector, I beg to forward the following particulars with regard to size of same :-

It is 48 fathoms of 2½ mesh, which is 2 fathoms less than required by the Act.

There are also two wings of 25 fathoms 3 in. mesh, or as near that as I can get in the Colony.

I may state that the said net was purchased by me specially to meet the requirements of the Act, and has only been three weeks in use.

Hoping the above particulars will induce you to extend your kind consideration,

I remain, &c.,
WM. MILDWATER.

The

The Secretary, Fisheries Commission, to Mr. W. Mildwater.

Sir, Fisheries Office, Sydney, 4 November, 1882.
I have been desired by the Commissioners of Fisheries to acknowledge the receipt of your letter respecting the seizure, by Inspector Quinan, of your unlawful net, and to inform you that the matter is now under their consideration.
I have, &c.,
LINDSAY THOMPSON,
Secretary.

Minute of Commissioners of Fisheries on above.

Mr. Mildwater to be informed that the Commissioner will recommend the restoration of the bunt of his net, together with all corks and lead lines, if he will agree to fix wings of proper length and mesh.—4/11/82.

Extracts from Minute Book, Fisheries Commission.

Minute 45.—It was decided to consider at the next meeting whether any equitable arrangements can be made in respect to seizure of forfeited nets.—30/10/82.

Minute 95.—The consideration of the question whether any equitable arrangements can be made in respect to seizure of forfeited nets was postponed.—7/11/82.

Minute 101.—It was directed that Mr. Inspector Quinan attend at the next meeting of the Commissioners in reference to forfeited nets generally.—15/11/82.

Minute 103.—Mr. Goddes, by leave, withdrew the resolution standing in his name for the consideration as to disposal of forfeited nets, and whether any equitable arrangement can be proposed in respect to seizure of unlawful nets.—15/11/82.

The Secretary, Fisheries Commission, to Mr. W. Mildwater.

Sir, Fisheries Office, Sydney, 2 December, 1882.
Referring to my letter, dated 4th ultimo, respecting the seizure of your unlawful net by Mr. Inspector Quinan, I am desired by the Commissioners of Fisheries to inform you that, on consideration of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case, they have decided to recommend to the Government the restoration of the bunt of the net, together with the corks and lead lines, conditionally upon your agreeing to carry out to the satisfaction of the inspector the offer made to the Commissioners to alter the net in such a manner as to make it accord with the provisions of the law.
I have, &c.,
LINDSAY THOMPSON,
Secretary.

The Secretary, Fisheries Commission, to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir, Fisheries Office, Sydney, 21 November, 1882.
I have the honor to apprise you, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, that Mr. Inspector Quinan, in the execution of his duties, seized an unlawful net from W. J. Mildwater, of Manly Beach; its illegality consisted in the wings being of less size in the mesh than is prescribed by the Fisheries Act, and of lesser length than the bunt, which by law should be equal.
Mildwater, who had written to the Commissioners respecting the seizure, appeared before them personally, and stated he was ignorant of having transgressed, and was willing, with the permission of the Commissioners, to alter his net to accord with the provisions of the law.
I am now, by direction of the Commissioners, to recommend that the bunt of the net, together with the corks and lead lines, be restored to Mildwater, provided he agrees (to the approval of the inspector) to carry out the offer made to the Commissioners.
I have, &c.,
LINDSAY THOMPSON,
Secretary.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir, Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 24 November, 1882.
In reply to your letter of the 21st instant, I am directed to state that in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioners of Fisheries for New South Wales, the Colonial Secretary approves of the restoration to Mr. W. J. Mildwater of the bunt of the unlawful net recently seized by Inspector Quinan, together with the corks and lead lines, provided that Mr. Mildwater agrees to effect the necessary alteration to the net.
I have, &c.,
CRITCHETT WALKER.

Minute of Commissioners of Fisheries on above.

Mr. Mildwater to be so informed, 29/11/82.

J. C. Cox, Esq., M.D., to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

My dear Sir, 11 December, 1882.
Please give Mulhall an order to let Mildwater have the bunt, cork, and leads of his net.
Yours, &c.,
J. C. COX.

Assist. Inspt. Mulhall to note, 11/12/82. Seen and informed Mildwater to-day that he could have bunt, &c.—
THOMAS MULHALL, 11/12/82.

A 4.

PRICES of fish in the Market, 13/3/83.

Gar-fish, 12s. to 20s. per basket.
Harbour mullet, 6s. to 15s. per basket.
Lake mullet, twelve of 7lb. each, 7s.
Black fish, 9s. per basket.
Long tom, thirty, averaging 1lb. each, and really splendid fish, 2s. 6d.
Prawns, one large basket of fine large live prawns brought 23s.; and several baskets of good prawns from 14s. to 16s. per basket.
Market fairly supplied but not glutted. It must also be remembered that fish in Lent time always bring good prices.

A 5.

LICENSES ISSUED UNDER THE FISHERIES ACT, 1883.

LICENSED FISHERMEN.

	License No.		License No.
Ah Chee, William, Port Stephens	8	Danby, Thomas, Woolloomooloo.....	204
Ah Fow, Port Stephens	11	Draper, George, Newcastle	290
Ah Pack, Raymond Terrace.....	10	Denny, George, Dora Creek.....	307
Ah Sam, Raymond Terrace	7	Deas, Anthony, Broken Bay	298
Andrews, John, Woolloomooloo	29	Evans, Augustus, Middle Harbour.....	32
Aler, Alfred, Hexham	248	Evans, John, Middle Harbour.....	32
Ayres, Augustus, Grafton.....	244	Filesbey, Chas., Tarce	96
Ah Son, Belmont	230	Edney, John, Cooper-street, Balmain.....	100
Ah Kin, Belmont	229	Ellery, Charles, Broken Bay	117
Ayres, Robert, Grafton.....	220	Edwards, John, Lane Cove	183
Asquith, Joseph, Shoalhaven	214	Euston, George, Hexham.....	249
Ah Young, Swan Creek.....	313	Evans, Alfred, Raymond Terrace	241
Askwith, Benjamin, Stockton	314	Edwards, John, Woolloomooloo	271
		Edwards, George, Woolloomooloo	272
Barber, Edwin, Wollongong	226	Escott, Charles, Belmont.....	289
Brennan, William, Peacock Point, Balmain	1	Emblem, W., Ulladulla	294
Brownett, Samuel, Lake Macquarie	28
Bedford, Joseph, Mosquito Island	47	Farrell, Thos., Watson's Bay	292
Buckingham, Thomas, Fullerton Cove, Newcastle	57	Foo, Sum, Swan Creek.....	311
Burges, Daniel, Mosquito Island.....	66	Foster, Charles, Mosquito Island	83
Raggets, Walter, Mosquito Island	80	Frisch, V., Richmond River	88
Brown, William, Raymond Terrace	85	Fisk, Joseph, Woolloomooloo	94
Bagnell, Joshua, Botany	102	Finnucane, Anthony, Parramatta	99
Batts, Edward, Woolloomooloo	126	Frenchy, Thomas, Botany	105
Bagnell, Samuel, Hawke's Nest	223	Fanning, E., Hunter's Hill	152
Bagnell, Thomas, Hawke's Nest	219	Foster, Albert, Newcastle	260
Bell, Richard, Newcastle	254	Fortune, John, Forster, Cape Hawke.....	205
Bell, Frederick, Newcastle	253	Frazer, William John, Newcastle	237
Barnett, George, Raymond Terrace	243	Foster, Arthur, Newcastle	232
Baxter, John, senr., Shoalhaven	211
Baxter, Ephraim, Jervis Bay	210	Glover, Alfred, Nelson's Bay	192
Baxter, William, Shoalhaven	209	Glover, Walter H., Nelson's Bay	191
Baxter, Richard, Shoalhaven	208	George, Charles, Goat Island	53
Baxter, Thomas, Shoalhaven	207	George, Frederick, Goat Island	54
Baxter, John, Jervis Bay.....	212	Gascoigne, John, Ryde.....	20
Brown, Thomas, Gerringong	215	Gascoigne, Thomas, Ryde	21
Burns, Robt., 11, Princes-st., Sydney.....	265	Gascoigne, Robert, Ryde	22
Blaxter, Joseph, Eden	301	Gascoigne, Robert, Ryde	23
Burkwith, John, Balmain	205	George, Thomas, Newcastle.....	75
Bray, James, Middle Harbour.....	270	George, Alfred, Newcastle	76
		Gidney, William, Newcastle	82
Chapman, Abraham, Lake Macquarie	27	Gilbert, James, Botany	90
Consmacker, Henry, Merimbula	48	Goldsmith, Herbert, Botany	91
Chapman, James, Raymond Terrace	49	Goldsmith, William, Botany	93
Chapman, Edward, Raymond Terrace	50	Goode, James, Balmain	143
Chapman, William, Raymond Terrace	52	Gilbert, Charles, Botany	147
Campbell, James, Hexham	61	Gabberdy, Charles, Bowman-street, Pyrmont ..	150
Campbell, John, Hexham.....	62	Gooda, John, Woolloomooloo	176
Campbell, Alexander, senr., Hexham.....	63	Griffin, Wm. F., Raymond Terrace	261
Clifford Abraham, Wollongong	227
Campbell, Alexander, Hexham	64	Hansen, John, Richmond River	89
Croese, Adrian, Mosquito Island.....	81	Hammond, Arthur, Botany.....	155
Clouten, George, West Maitland.....	87	Hastie, Charles, junr., Broken Bay	170
Cox, William, Broken Bay	127	Hastie, Charles, senr., Broken Bay.....	171
Cox, John, Broken Bay	128	Hastie, William, Broken Bay	177
Cox, Fred, Broken Bay	129	Hollis, W., Nelson's Bay	256
Cox, Robert, Broken Bay.....	130	Harrison, William, Newcastle.....	246
Chamberlain, William, senr., Double Bay.....	140	Harrison, William, senr., Newcastle	245
Chamberlain, William, Double Bay	141	Honor, Edward, Jervis Bay	213
Chung Long, Milton	160	Hodgson, Charles, Ballina	267
Carrol, James, Broken Bay	180	House, Charles, Rushcutters' Bay	280
Courtenay, John, Elliot-street, Balmain	194	Haydon, John, Lake Macquarie	309
Courtenay, William, Elliot-street, Balmain	195	Hansen, Christopher, Balmain.....	282
Campbell, Alexander, Lake Macquarie	197
Connatt, George, Grafton.....	224	Joass, James, Raymond Terrace	287
Campbell, James, Newcastle.....	218	Johnson, James, Botany	296
Campbell, George, Newcastle	217	Johnson, John, Lake Macquarie	306
Coombes, Benjamin, Kiama.....	263	Judge, Henry, Hexham	59
Clouten, W. J., Newcastle.....	284	Judge, George, Hexham	60
Cameron, R., Belmont	305	Johnson, George, Botany.....	111
Choyeye, Sam, Swan Creek	312	James, Charles, Botany	112
		Jones, Stephen, Botany	149
Denis, Abraham, Sydney	17	Johnson, William, Chowan-street, Pyrmont.....	151
Denis, William, Sydney.....	18	Johnson, John, Trialba.....	225
Drennan, Thomas, Lake Macquarie	25	Jordan, Martin, Newcastle	258
Danby, James, Woolloomooloo.....	35	Johnson, Alexander, Trialba	236
Dennis, George, Wollongong	39	Johnson, William, Trialba	235
Dennis, Jacob, Wollongong	40
Deamer, James, Mosquito Island	65	Kong, Young, Port Stephens	9
Derwent, Andrew, George's River	137	Kelly, Thomas, Wollongong	43
Derwent James, George's River	138	Kiescy, Frederick, Raymond Terrace	51
Duncan, William, Botany	153	Kelly, Thomas, Broken Bay	169
Duncan, Thomas, Botany.....	154	Kempstey, William, Broken Bay	173
Dingwall, John, Woolloomooloo	179	Kelly, George, Balmain	176

LICENSED FISHERMEN—continued.

	License No.		License No.
Lambert, Thomas, Parramatta	16	Pollocks, Jas., Newcastle	276
Lambert, Thomas, junr., Parramatta	16	Parks, A. M., Blackwall	303
Lambert, Bernard, Raymond Terrace	53
Lambert, William, Raymond Terrace	56	Richardson, Peter, senr., Double Bay	30
Longsbury, John, senr., Shoalhaven	71	Richardson, Peter, junr., Double Bay	31
Longsbury, Robert, Shoalhaven	72	Rutledge, George, Peacock Point, Balmain	2
Longsbury, John, junr., Shoalhaven	73	Ross, Joseph, Newcastle	77
Lambert, Emanuel, West Maitland	86	Ross, John, Mosquito Island	78
Lifo Ah, Milton	158	Richardson, William, Botany	107
Lambourne, Henry, Nelson's Bay	193	Richardson, John, Botany	116
Lambert, Thomas, Raymond Terrace	247	Rodgerson, John, Woolloomooloo	119
Leslie, George, Raymond Terrace	239	Richardson, Thomas, Lake Macquarie	134
Lambert, D., Raymond Terrace	238	Ross, James, Broken Bay	163
Lewis, Charles, Cardiff	234	Ross, Frederick, Nelson's Bay	189
Lewis, John, Newcastle	279	Ross, David, Newcastle	251
Lec, James, Sydney	231	Ross, James, Newcastle	231
Lilley, Samuel, Newcastle	288	Reynolds, G., Balmain	273
		Roos, J., Watson's Bay	293
		Ross, William, Eden	300
Maxted, Henry, Woolloomooloo	5
Melit, Phillip, Manly Beach	19	Shepherd, Joseph, Broken Bay	164
Mayo, Charles, Lake Macquarie	26	Shepherd, Jessie, Broken Bay	165
Massey, John, Wollongong	41	Sposito, Dominick, 11, Princes-street, Sydney	266
Massey, Joseph, Wollongong	42	Shepherd, John, Broken Bay	166
Morris, James, Mosquito Island	67	Sanderson, John, Broken Bay	172
Morris, Walter, Mosquito Island	84	Strongman, Samuel, Broken Bay	174
Mildwater, William, Manly Beach	92	Smith, Charles, Woolloomooloo	34
Miller, Samuel, Double Bay	97	Sweetman, George, Cook's River	12
Miller, W., Double Bay	98	Sheppard, William, Wollongong	38
Moloy, Peter, Botany	156	Scott, George, Surry Hills	45
Mosely, Joshua, Broken Bay	167	Shearman, George, Goat Island, Newcastle	70
Morris, Thomas, Botany	178	Scully, William, Raymond Terrace	74
Murray, W., Nelson's Bay	190	Sparks, John, Botany	108
Mosely, Thomas, Botany	198	Smith, James, Botany	110
Mosely, William, Botany	201	Smith, John, Broken Bay	113
Moriarty, Joseph, Newcastle	216	Smith, James, Lake Macquarie	135
Marks, Maurice, Belmont	222	Smith, Charles, Lake Macquarie	136
Marks, Henry, Belmont	221	Smith, William, George's River	139
M'Alister, James, Woolloomooloo	124	Smith, Joseph, Botany	146
M'Hughe, John, Woolloomooloo	203	Sing Chum, Milton	157
M'Clure, William, Newcastle	228	Silva, William, Watson's Bay	161
Mahalm, James, junr., Redfern	295	Sly, Charles, Watson's Bay	181
Mahalm, James, senr., Petersham	286	Smith, John, Watson's Bay	185
Mudge, H. S., Gosford	302	Smith, James, senr., Watson's Bay	186
Marks, John, Belmont	308	Smith, James, junr., Watson's Bay	187
M'Kinnon, Alex., Belmont	304	Slater, William, Forster, Cape Hawke	206
M'Clounney, Jas., Woolloomooloo	291	Stanley, Charles, Cardiff	233
		Sheedy, Patrick, jun., Middle Harbour	269
Nowland, Denis, Burwood	3	Sly, Charles, Manly	268
Neaves, George, Wollongong	79	Sweeney, Daniel, Belmont	310
Nichols, Joseph, Woolloomooloo	120	Sheedy, Patrick, senr.	274
Nowland, Wm., Burwood	4
Nichols, Charles, Woolloomooloo	121	Twooney, John, Taree	95
Neal, W., Iron Cove	122	Thompson, Frederick, Botany	101
Nichols, Joseph, Woolloomooloo	123	Thompson, George, Botany	114
Nichols, Charles, Woolloomooloo	125	Thompson, James, Lake Macquarie	133
Newton, Frederick, Watson's Bay	162	Thompsett, Charles, Woolloomooloo	196
Newton, Henry, Watson's Bay	163	Thompson, Samuel, Lake Macquarie	199
Newton, George, Watson's Bay	182	Thompson, Henry, Newcastle	255
Newton, George, senr., Watson's Bay	184	Taylor, William, Fullerton Cove, Newcastle	262
		Thoroughgood, Thos., Newcastle	277
Olsten, Andrew, Raymond Terrace	58	Thomas, Henry, George's River	283
O'Donnell, Daniel, Newcastle	257
		Vine, Robert, Double Bay	144
Pearce, Thomas, Stockton, Newcastle	68
Poiner, David, Long Cove	36	Wilson, Henry, Stockton, Newcastle	69
Poiner, Francis, Long Cove	37	White, Louis, Marrickville	6
Palmer, Charles, Hexham	46	Wilson, R., Broken Bay	13
Palmer, James, Hexham	44	Wilson, Thomas, Broken Bay	14
Potter, Richard, Botany	106	Whitfield, Henry, Ryde	24
Parker, Charles, Botany	115	Wood, Fred., sen., Botany	103
Peel, Robert, Woolloomooloo	118	Wood, Stephen, Botany	104
Pobige, Henry, Lake Macquarie	131	Wood, Fred., jun., Botany	109
Parker, George, Lake Macquarie	132	Woodger, Samuel, Lake Macquarie	200
Pierce, Henry, Double Bay	142	Wiseman, William, Hexham	250
Parker, Joshua, Botany	145	Whipps, Arthur, Hexham	247A
Parker, Henry, Botany	148	Witchard, E., Taree	264
Parker, James, Botany	202	Wheeler, James, Manly	299
Porto, Antonio, Newcastle	259	White, Isaac, Lake Macquarie	297
Philp, A., Raymond Terrace	252	Ward, Thomas, Newcastle	278
Poulden, J. E., Raymond Terrace	242
Partridge, William, Raymond Terrace	240	Young, Ah, Milton	159
Paterson, William, Newcastle	275

FISHING-BOAT LICENSES.

	License No.		License No.
Ayres, Robert, Grafton.....	93	Jones, William, Moama	135
Ah Chee, William, Port Stephens	38	Joass, Jas., Raymond Terrace	152
Asquith, Joseph, Shoalhaven	87
Ah Kin, Belmont	100	Kelly, Thomas, Wollongong	9
Ah Young, Swan Creek.....	161	Kempster, William, Broken Bay.....	68
Askwith, Benjamin, Newcastle	159	Kelly, George, Balmain	74
		Kong Fung, Raymond Terrace	5
Brennan, William, Peacock Point, Balmain	1
Brownett, Samuel, Lake Macquarie	31	Lambert, Emanuel, West Maitland	128
Bedford, Joseph, Mosquito Island	20	Lambert, Thomas, Parramatta.....	21
Bagnell, Joshua, Botany	51	Longsbury, John, sen., Shoalhaven.....	34
Baxter, John, sen., Jervis Bay.....	85	Lewis, John, Raymond Terrace	134
Baxter, William, Shoalhaven	86
Bryant, George, Raymond Terrace.....	129	Morris, James, Newcastle.....	94
Brown, William, Raymond Terrace	91	Maxted, Henry, Woolloomooloo	3
Bagnell, Thomas, Bulahdelah	97	Melit, Phillipo, Manly Beach	25
Barber, Edwin, Wollongong.....	105	Morris, Walter, Mosquito Island	18
Buckingham, Thomas, Newcastle	112	Mildwater, William, Manly Beach	37
Bell, Frederick, Newcastle	118	Miller, W., Double Bay	40
Bulow, August, Belmont	151	Moseley, Joshua, Broken Bay	73
Bogan, Robt., Gosford	155	Murray, William, Nelson's Bay	77
		Marks, Maurice, Belmont.....	89
Chapman, James, Raymond Terrace	11	M'Hughc, John, Woolloomooloo.....	82
Consemacker, Henry, Merimbula.....	23	M'Clure, William, Newcastle	114
Croese, Adrian, Mosquito Island	17	Mudgo, H. S., Gosford.....	164
Cox, John, Broken Bay	57	Mewett, William, Lake Macquarie	149
Chamberlain, William, sen., Double Bay	59	Maesey, Chas., Wollongong	146
Courtney, William, Elliott-street, Balmain	81	M'Clouney, Jas., Woolloomooloo	142
Campbell, Alexander, Lake Macquarie	84
Congdon, Samuel, Sydney	65	Nowland, Denis, Burwood	2
Connatt, George, Grafton.....	92	Neaves, George, Wollongong	24
Campbell, Alexander, Hexham	95	Nichols, Joseph, Woolloomooloo.....	53
Campbell, Alexander, Hexham	96	Nichols, Charles, Woolloomooloo	41
Cook, James, Moama	101	Neal, W., Iron Cove	52
Campbell, George, Newcastle	102	Newton, Henry, Watson's Bay	69
Cook, John, Moama	108	Newton, George, sen., Watson's Bay	80
Coombes, Benjamin, Kiama.....	127
Coulten, W. J., Belmont.....	150	Overall, John, Belmont	148
Christian, Norman, Smith Town.....	158
		Poyner, Francis, Long Cove.....	29
Donis, Abraham, Sydney	22	Palmer, Charles, Long Cove.....	19
Drennan, Thomas, Lake Macquarie	32	Peel, Robert, Woolloomooloo	50
Dounis, Jacob, Wollongong	8	Parker, George, Lake Macquarie.....	56
Derwent, Andrew, George's River	54	Porto, Antonio, Newcastle	121
Duncan, William, Botany.....	66	Pearce, Thomas, Stockton.....	90
Dingwall, John, Woolloomooloo.....	75	Pierce, Henry, Double Bay	58
Duncan, William, Botany	67	Parker, James, Botany	83
Dwyer, Cornelius, Moama	123	Porto, Antonio, Newcastle	120
Drane, T. C., Gosford	154	Philp, A., Raymond Terrace	117
Draper, George, Newcastle	162	Partridge, William, Raymond Terrace	104
Dunn, Thomas, Belmont	147	Philp, John, Raymond Terrace	10
		Parker, George, sen., Botany	62
Frans, John, Middle Harbour.....	30	Paterson, Walter, Newcastle	156
Edney, John, Cooper-street, Balmain.....	43	Parks, A. M., Blackwall	165
Edwards, John, Lane Cove	76
Euston, George, Hexham.....	113	Ross, John, Mosquito Island	15
Evans, John, Moama.....	137	Ross, James, Broken Bay	71
Emblem, W., Ulladulla	143	Richardson, Peter, sen., Double Bay	28
		Rice, Joseph, Moama	138
Frisch, V., Richmond River.....	35	Ross, W., Eden	163
Fanning, E., Hunter's Hill	64	Rouse, Harry, Lake Macquarie	166
Foster, Albert, Mosquito Island	103
Farrell, Thomas, Watson's Bay	144	Sposito, Dominick, Princes-street, Sydney.....	131
		Strongman, Samuel, Broken Bay	70
Glover, Walter, Nelson's Point	78	Smith, Charles, Woolloomooloo	33
George, Charles, Goat Island	12	Sweetman, George, Cook's River.....	6
Gascoigne, Thomas, Ryde	27	Sparks, John, Botany	44
George, Thomas, Newcastle	13	Smith, John, Broken Bay.....	49
Gidney, William, Newcastle.....	16	Smith, Charles, Lake Macquarie	60
Goldsmith, William, Botany	36	Sheedy, Patrick, Middle Harbour	140
Griffin, William F., Raymond Terrace	124	Sheldrake, Fred., Moama	157
Glover, Walter H., Nelson's Bay	125	Sheldrake, John, Moama	133
Goode, James, Balmain	55	Shepperd, Joseph, George's River	139
George, Thomas, Newcastle.....	14	Slater, William Forster, Cape Hawke	107
Gascoigne, James, Ryde	26	Smith, James, sen., Watson's Bay	79
		Spencer, Thomas, Moama	136
Hastie, Charles, sen., Broken Bay	72	Stanley, John, Cardiff	99
Hollis, W., Nelson's Bay	122
Harrison, William, Newcastle	106	Taylor, W., Moama	153
Honnor, Edward, Jervis Bay	88	Taylor, William, Moama	130
Hall, Thomas, Raymond Terrace	110	Thomas, Henry, George's River	141
Hall, Thomas, Raymond Terrace.....	111	Thompson, Henry, Newcastle	119
Hunt, Richard, Mathoura	116	Thompson, Frederick, Botany	42
Hodgson, Charles, Ballina	132	Twooney, John, Taree	39
Hansen, Christopher, Balmain	145
Hanley, Wm., Maclean.....	160	White, Louis, Marrickville	4
		Whipps, Arthur, Hexham	109
Johnson, George, Botany.....	47	Wilson, Thomas, Broken Bay	7
Jones, Stephen, Botany	61	Witchard, E., Taree	126
Johnson, William, Chowan-street, Pyrmont.....	63	Wood, Frederick, sen., Botany	45
Johnson, William, Trialba	98	Wood, Frederick, jun., Botany	46
Johnson, George, Botany.....	48

OYSTER-DEALERS' LICENSES.

	License No.		License No.
Alexander, John, Elizabeth-street, Sydney	33	Lane, Leonard, Wagga Wagga	16
Anderson, Hans, Newcastle	62	Melit, Frank, Manly Beach	18
Assenheim, I. J., Market-street, Sydney	35	Malsiniotis, Michael, 75, King-street, Sydney ...	20
Baubrey, George, Tamworth	46	Meador, John, Newtown	37
Barry, Mrs. D., Tarco	13	Maxwell, John E., West Maitland	36
Black, Charles, Yass	70	M'Coy, John, 52, Market-street, Sydney	64
Blackwall, Edward, Newcastle	66	Nickels, George, 513, George-street, Sydney	24
Burby, Francis, Albury	28	Nobulu, Antonio, Oxford-street, Sydney	25
Cooto, Joseph, Sydney	1	Nummelin, John, Woolloomooloo-street, Woolloomooloo	50
Cochin, A. & Co., Sydney	17	Nichols, Frank, Newcastle	54
Christensen, Frederick, 151 George-street, Sydney	26	Ongley, William, Sydney	10
Comino, A., 36, Oxford-street, Sydney	32	Pannam, George, Paddington	29
Clarke, George, 378, Pitt-street, Sydney	41	Pierce, William, Goulburn	36
Clarson, Samuel, Armidale	47	Pitsu, Piri, Liverpool-street, Sydney	38
Doyle, William, York and King-streets, Sydney..	21	Pepperell, Hannah, Tamworth	56
Debetonto, Antonio, 253 Oxford-street, Sydney..	7	Pepper, Hannah, Queen-street, Woollahra	63
Dickson, Benjamin, Redfern	71	Price, Chas., 33, Hunter-street, Sydney	67
Drassus, Punagiotti, Darling-street, Balmain.....	61	Rosich, Frederick, Sydney
Emerson, Albert, George's River	48	Risby, Ellen, Narrandera	19
Fernandez Isaac, 186, William-street, Sydney ...	52	Riley, Joseph, Bathurst	59
Fitzgerald, John, George-street, Sydney	39	Reach, H. S., 206, Elizabeth-street, Sydney	60
Flindall, Ralph, Woolloomooloo	68	Silverwood, C., Wagga Wagga	9
Furlan, George, Erskine-street, Sydney	3	Schikel, Henry, 163, Elizabeth-street, Sydney ...	4
Freeman, John, 114, Oxford-street, Sydney	31	Smith, John, Glebe Point Road	11
Gibbins, F. G., 17 and 19, Sussex-street, Sydney	8	Stamat, Dimetes, George-street, Sydney	12
Goodier, C. H., Emmore Road	30	Sotters, John, Millor's Point, Sydney	14
Gotz, Joseph, Albury	44	Stephens, G., 94, William-street, Sydney	34
Hughes, James, Oxford-street, Sydney	65	Solari, Lorenzo, 15, George-street, Sydney	42
Hughes, John, 815, George-street, Sydney	23	Stearn, Alfred C., Windsor	55
Halstead, L., North Shore	27	Scelligo, Andrew, Woolloomooloo	58
Howel, Peter, Glebe Road	72	Walker, Mrs. E., George-street, Parramatta.....	5
Johnson, Peter Thomas, Wollongong	15	Woodward, Henry, 85, Castlereagh-street, Sydney	22
James, Peter, 5, York-street Markets	40	Ward, Henry, Darling-street, Balmain	43
Jones, W. G. H., Regent-street, Redfern	53	Wege, Charles, Church-street, Parramatta	49
Jackson, Edward, Temora	57	Wilson, George, 48, Regent-street, Redfern	51
Leaves, George, Park-street, Sydney	6	Watt, Edward, 54, King-street, Sydney	69

OYSTER-DREDGING LICENSES.

	License expires.	License No.		License expires.	License No.
Baxter, William, Shoalhaven	17/2/83	82/ 1	Fisher, John, Oxford-street, Sydney	16/4/83	83/10
Burns, Henry, Ballina	13/4/83	83/ 8	Haiser, George, Shoalhaven	2/4/83	83/ 1
Bastakis, Nicholas, Wogonga Heads ..	8/5/83	83/12	Haiser, Henry, Shoalhaven	18/4/83	83/11
Baxter, Wm., Shoalhaven	20/5/83	83/14	Longsbury, John, senr., Shoalhaven.	31/12/83	83/ 3
Campbell, William, Corunna	20/3/83	82/ 5	Muratorio, Angelo, Sydney	20/3/83	82/ 6
Caspear, Theodore, 19, Argyle-street, Sydney	31/12/83	83/ 4	Page, Mary, Onion's Point	13/4/83	83/ 9
Chapman, Wm., Bermagui	24/5/83	83/15A	Severs, John, Eden	4/3/83	82/ 3
Donnelly, Demetrius, Wonga	12/4/83	83/ 7	Templeman, William, Bermagui.....	12/4/83	83/ 6
Drassus, Punagiotti, Darling-street, Balmain	9/5/83	83/13	Wilson, Thomas, Shoalhaven	17/2/83	82/ 2
Davis, Wm., Shoalhaven	1/6/83	83/16	Warren, William, Eden	27/3/83	82/ 7
Emblem, William, Bermagui	12/4/83	83/ 5	Walden, Joseph, Onion's Point	9/4/83	83/ 2
Ellis, George, Eden	4/3/83	82/ 4	Wilson, Thomas, Shoalhaven	1/6/83	83/17
Edwards, George, Port Jackson	21/5/83	83/15

A 6.

List of fish sold in the Market on the morning of the 14th March, 1883.

Schnapper sold from 15s. to 10s. per dozen; mullet sold from 8s. to 10s. a half basket; bream, from 8s. to 14s. a half basket; gar-fish, from 10s. to 15s. a half basket, which contained about 50 dozen, and these were retailed in the streets at 2s. a dozen.

There were sixty baskets of fish from Wollongong, almost all mullet; forty baskets from Botany, nearly all gar-fish; five baskets mixed fish from Sydney Harbour; thirty baskets from Broken Bay, all mixed fish; ninety baskets from Lake Macquarie and Newcastle.

A 7.

Mr. Inspector Quinan to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir,

Office of Inspector, Home Fisheries, Sydney, 13 March, 1883.

It has frequently for the last few months come under my notice that the oysters disposed of by Mr. Clarke, the lessee of the Port Stephens beds, are of unmarketable size and otherwise out of condition. I wrote to Mr. Clarke some time ago calling his attention to the character of the oysters taken from his leased beds, and warned him that I should seize the next shipment if found unmarketable.

I apprise you of this matter, as required by clause 5 of the Special Regulations Appendix, page 44.

I have telegraphed to Assistant Inspector Curran to inform me when the next shipment of Port Stephens oysters may be expected and will examine them on arrival.

I have, &c.,

JAMES QUINAN,

Inspector.

Mr.

Mr. Inspector Quinan to The Secretary, Fisheries Commission.

Sir, Office of Inspector, Home Fisheries, Sydney, 16 March, 1883.
 Referring to my report of the 13th instant respecting the state of the Port Stephens leased oyster-beds, I have the honor to inform you that I inspected a consignment to Mr. Clarke which arrived here this morning per "Lady Bowen" at 5 a.m. Several bags were thrown out on the wharf, and although a good many small oysters and shells were amongst them I did not feel justified in making a seizure. This shipment seemed rather better than previous ones owing no doubt to the repeated warnings I sent to the lessee.

I think that Assistant-Inspector Curan should be instructed to go to Port Stephens and send a report as to the state of the beds, and prevent the lessee from over-dredging, so as not to leave the beds in such a state as they cannot be worked under Royalty at the termination of his lease.

I have, &c.,
 JAMES QUINAN,
 Inspector.

[To the evidence of Mr. Inspector Quinan, 16 March, 1883.]

B 1.

Copy of Magistrate's certificate, given under section 25 Fisheries Act, 1881.

Sydney, 22 December, 1882.

I HEREBY certify that I have examined a fishing net shown to me by Inspector Quinan, said to have been seized by him under the provisions of the Fisheries Act, 1881, from Thomas Lambert, of Parramatta, of the following dimensions:—

Bunt, 37 fathoms, having a mesh of 1 inch.
 Wings, 21 " " 2 inches.

I am satisfied that the same is an unlawful net within the meaning of the 11th section of the Fisheries Act, and order it to be forfeited to Her Majesty.
 FRANK SENIOR, J.P.

NOTE.—The above net was used for catching all kinds of fish; the fish also were seized on account of being much under weight, and distributed to the Charities.

B 2.

Lawful weights of fish.

Sea {	Schnapper or red bream	16 oz.	Sea {	Whiting	6 ozs.
	Bream, black	8 "		Flounder and sole	6 "
	do silver, or tarwhine	6 "		Pike	8 "
	Black-fish	6 "		Travally	6 "
	Rock-cod (black or red)	8 "		Gar-fish	2 "
	Gurnet	6 "		Lobster or cray-fish	16 "
	Flat-head	8 "		And the female in spawn not to be caught under a penalty.
	Mullet (sea)	12 "		Perch	8 "
	do flat-tail and sand	6 "
	Fresh-water ... {	Cod or Murray cod		2 lbs.
	Perch	8 oz.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

ABORIGINES.

(REPORT OF THE PROTECTOR, TO 31 DECEMBER, 1882.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 31 January, 1883.

The Protector of the Aborigines to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

On the 11th August last I had the honor to send in a Progress Report of the working of this Department to that period, which Report was laid on the Table of the Assembly by the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, printed and distributed, by which was shown that much useful aid had been rendered to the aborigines in various parts of this Colony. There was also shown, from a census which had been taken of the number and sexes (also distinguishing pure-breds from half-castes) of the aborigines of New South Wales, that they were—

Laid before
Parliament 30th
August, 1882.

Pure-bred adults	4,994
Pure-bred children (under the age of fourteen years)	1,546
Adult half-castes	1,108
Children (under fourteen) half-castes...	1,271
In all—Adults...	6,102
Children	2,817

Grand total 8,919—equal to 7,510 statute adults.

A most comprehensive and interesting Return (Appendix B) has, by the kind and useful aid of the Inspector-General of Police and the officers of his department, been furnished, showing in detail every obtainable particular in respect of the aborigines all over the Colony.

Since the date of my previous Report we have been able to afford aid to the aborigines in the districts named below, and of the description also shown herewith, viz. :—

Botany—To the aborigines there have been given boats and gear, fishing-tackle, some clothing, food, materials for building five houses or huts (special reference hereafter made to this district).

Casino—Rations; also medical aid and medical comforts.

Copeland—Application for grant of land for aborigines to cultivate grain, vegetables, fruit, and to form homes and habitations; also a supply of agricultural implements, had their land ploughed for them, &c., &c.

Coonabarabran—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.

Currambeen—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.

Coraki—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.

Clarence Town—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.

Cox's River—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.

Coonamble—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.

- Denison Town—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.
- Dubbo—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.
- Hastings River—Flour, tea, sugar, &c., supplied.
- Jervis Bay—Biscuit or flour, tea, sugar, clothing, knives, tomahawks, cooking-utensils, ammunition, boat and gear, fishing-tackle, &c., &c.
- Lake Macquarie—Supply of rations to old aboriginal woman.
- Maitland—Some rations and clothing.
- Manero—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.
- Moruya—Flour, tea, sugar, clothing, &c.
- Milton—Flour, tea, sugar, clothing, &c.
- Macleay River—Application for grant of land for use of aborigines to cultivate grain, vegetables, &c., &c., to form homes; also a supply of the necessary farming implements, with rations of flour, tea, sugar, and some clothing.
- Manning River—Flour, tea, sugar, and some clothing.
- Nanbuckra—A very fine boat and full gear, &c., &c.
- Oatlands—Flour, tea, sugar.
- Penrith—Flour, tea, sugar.
- Picton—Flour, tea, sugar.
- Port Macquarie—Application for grant of land same as that of Macleay River; also flour, tea, sugar, &c.; a boat and gear to be sent.
- Paterson—Tea, sugar, flour, and clothing.
- Pudman's Creek—Tea, sugar, and flour.
- Port Stephens—Boats and gear, fishing-tackle, bread, tea, sugar, and clothing.
- Rollands Plains—Flour, tea, sugar, and clothing.
- Rye Park—Provisions (tea, sugar, flour, &c.).
- Shoalhaven—Provisions (tea, sugar, flour, &c.).
- Sackville Reach—Bread, tea, sugar, &c., &c.
- Singleton—Flour, tea, sugar.
- Taree—Flour, tea, sugar, and clothing.
- Tuross—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.
- Tilba Tilba—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.
- Tomakin—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.
- Tinonee—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.
- Ulladulla—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.
- Wingham—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.
- Yass—Flour, tea, sugar, &c.

Other districts have since been supplied with aid of provisions, boats, fishing-gear, &c., and in no instance, where application for aid to the aborigines has been made, has there been any neglect, refusal, or delay in supplying it.

From the preceding statement it will be seen that much useful aid has been distributed to many hundreds of the aborigines all over the Colony. I have evidence that this distribution of the bounty of the Government, among this hitherto neglected people, has been a great comfort and blessing to them, and particularly so to the old, infirm, and helpless among them.

It is unquestionably necessary that this assistance should be kept up with the pure-bred aborigine especially. I maintain the opinion I have always held with regard to the half-caste portion of the aborigines, viz, that they should be compelled to work in aid of their own requirements. They are well able to do so, having strength, experience, and intelligence to qualify them for it; whilst I am of opinion that the pure black should be taught, encouraged, and aided in doing something for his own sustenance and comfort; but as this subject is a large and important one, it will be for the consideration and action of the Legislature to determine what will be the best and wisest course to take in respect of support and civilization of the aborigines of this Colony. And the question of the annual cost of this aid to the aborigines will be a serious one for Parliament. It will be easily seen that inasmuch as it will cost at the least £20 per head to provide each aborigine with simple necessaries, and as the census I have had taken shows there are at least equal to 7,500 statute adult aborigines in the Colony, the cost would be £150,000 per annum. Although it is unlikely that all these 7,500 adults will require aid, yet provision should be made for them; they are entitled to be equally considered and provided for all over New South Wales.

From some of the districts in the interior it has been urged upon me that this succour to the aborigines (and particularly so in reference to the half-castes) has been productive of ill-effects by making them indolent and useless, and thereby depriving those places of the very useful labour had from these men, and where labour is so scarce and so much needed. I have thought it no part of my duty to interfere with the matter, nor have I ever done so.

I am strongly of opinion that reserves of land should be made in such parts of the Colony, where it can be conveniently and usefully done, for the purposes of the aborigines, to enable them to form homesteads, to cultivate grain, vegetables, fruit, &c. &c., for their own support and comfort. This plan would be productive of the most beneficial results. We are progressing with this plan with great promise of success at Copeland, Lower Macleay, and other places. I have every reason to hope and expect great success from granting reserves of from 10 to 40 acres of land for the uses of the aborigines in their own particular districts, as already indicated in this paragraph, and as shown in the statement of aid rendered, and of the nature of that aid, viz., agricultural implements, ploughing their land, giving them seed, &c., to sow, helping them to fence in their land, build huts, &c.
of

I deem it necessary again to state, with regard to the Aboriginal Mission Stations of Warangesda and Maloga, that those institutions are the creation of private enterprise and benevolence, free of any control or interference by the Government, and, of course, quite outside the power and interference of the Protectorate. Yet, whenever my assistance has been asked by either of the gentlemen who manage those institutions, it has always been willingly given. I have not always succeeded in my applications made on their behalf, but I have at all times tried my best to do so. I repeat that the Mission Stations of Warangesda and Maloga are private institutions, free of all control by the Government or the Protectorate. They have recently been the subject of inquiry by a special Commission; a report thereof has just been laid on the Table of Parliament. I need not make further reference to it; nor do I deem it necessary to notice herein some correspondence in the Press from one of the managers of the stations, having fully replied to it already through the same medium.

It having been stated in Parliament and in the Press, in regard to the aborigines located at La Perouse, near Botany, that they had at times been allowed to suffer from neglect and want of food, I deem it necessary to report upon that subject fully, and, I do not doubt, satisfactorily.

One of my first anxieties on assuming the duties of Protector was to endeavour to get all the aborigines away from Sydney and suburbs and back into their own districts, and I took such steps as would attain that object. I found some of them had settled at La Perouse, and were anxious to remain there. They had several boats, by which means—catching fish and letting their boats to visitors—they were able to earn some money; they were also at times assisted by some kind friends with food, &c. I also made arrangements by which they were to be supplied at Botany with flour, tea, and sugar, and duly informed them of that arrangement. They were able to catch fish and use them for food, or sell them and purchase meat, so that I did not think it necessary to supply them with meat, nor do we in any district supply the aborigines with meat as part of their ration. I took the precaution of asking the permission of the Inspector General of Police to authorize and instruct his officer stationed at Botany to look after these aborigines and see they did not at any time be in want of food. I also visited them and personally explained to them that they should be properly looked after, and if they were in want of anything else—clothing for their children, cooking-utensils, fishing-gear, or other necessaries—they should be supplied with them. They said if I would give them a good boat—one fit to go to sea—to enable them to go long distances safely, to catch fish, they could thereby earn enough money to provide themselves with all they wanted, and would not require any Government rations. I had a very first-class and suitable boat built for them, fully equipped and provided. They are much pleased and earn a good deal of money with this boat. I also told them they should have a good supply of fishing-lines, hooks, &c., and need only come to Sydney to get them.

I also made them understand that they were still to be supplied with rations whenever they wanted them, and they knew that an arrangement had been made with a storekeeper at Botany to issue the rations to them. To make them more fully understand all this, I wrote them a letter from Sydney to that effect. I also sent out materials for building houses for themselves—boards, galvanized-iron, tools, &c., sufficient to build five huts or houses. They have expressed themselves as being very thankful to me for what had been done for them. A sum little short of £100 has been spent upon these aborigines at La Perouse within the last few months. The men are all young, strong, intelligent (some able to read and write), able and willing to work—they are nearly all half-castes, with half-caste wives, and a number of children. There were doubtless occasions when visitors—aborigines from other districts—would cause their provisions to suddenly run short. They do not, as a rule, keep a stock of provisions, indeed have no habits of economy in such things. If they were short of provisions at Christmas or any other time, it was not from any neglect or refusal on my part to supply them; it could only have arisen from their own carelessness in not going to the storekeeper at Botany for them; and I undertake to say the aborigines at La Perouse will bear me out as to the correctness of this Report in regard to them.

The state of things, under the issue of the Government bounty, which existed prior to the establishment of the Protectorate, was disgraceful in the highest degree. It cannot be fully described, except in language unfit for this paper, but will perhaps be sufficiently shown and explained in the official reports of the police authorities, as to the disgusting state of things among the aborigines maintained by this misplaced charity at the Government boat-sheds at Circular Quay, and at Botany, copies of which reports are hereunto appended. It will doubtless surprise those who read these reports to know that people can be found advocating a return to that system! I also forward herewith a statement showing the expenditure (as far as we have received accounts) to date. I have had to exercise every proper care in disbursing the public money, whilst I have not allowed any application for aid to go unheeded. I have reason to hope and expect that the action of the Protectorate with regard to the aborigines will evoke a feeling of confidence and approbation from all those places in the interior where our help, under the bounty of the Government, had reached them.

I have, &c.,

GEORGE THORNTON,
Protector of Aborigines.

Sydney, 22nd January, 1883.

Laid on the Table of the Legislative Assembly, 18th
January, 1883,
and upon the Table of the Legislative Council, 24th
January, 1883.

Sub-Inspector Johnston to The Superintendent of Police.

Sir,

No. 4 Police Station, 28 January, 1881.

I have the honor to report for your information that for some months past a number of aborigines have been sheltered in the Government boat-sheds on the Circular Quay, and that during the late holidays especially they have been a perfect nuisance, not only in this neighbourhood, but also in many of the public streets of the city, in consequence of their drunken and filthy habits. Several of them have been recently locked up during the night-time for drunkenness, fighting, and riotous behaviour, a state of things which I need scarcely add has been brought about by the facility with which these unfortunate creatures obtain money in Sydney, i.e., by begging and other disgraceful means.

In consequence of complaints being made to the police of the noisy and disorderly conduct of the aborigines in the boat-sheds during the night-time, I caused the matter to be brought under the notice of Captain Hixson, who at once directed Mr. Poole (the person in charge for the Marine Board) to expel them from the boat-sheds. This has not been done, as it appears Mr. Poole was under the impression the aborigines were allowed temporary shelter by the sanction of the Government, and seeing that rations had been supplied them daily since their arrival in Sydney.

On visiting the boat-sheds this evening I find that several of the aborigines have during the past few days left for their respective districts, but there are still about seventeen (17) lodging in the sheds, amongst whom are five women and four children, blacks and half-castes. They appear to belong to the Kiama and Shoalhaven District, and have no property with them, with the exception of an old boat which has nearly gone to pieces, and state that they have left their boats, fishing-lines, and seines at Kiama.

I would respectfully suggest that the aborigines now remaining be supplied with a free passage by steamer to Kiama and Shoalhaven, and the police could see them on board, which I think would be the quickest and most effectual means of getting rid of them.

I have, &c.,
S. D. JOHNSTON,
Sub-Inspector.

Sub-Inspector Donohoe to The Water Police Magistrate.

Sir,

Water Police Station, Sydney, 29 January, 1881.

I most respectfully beg to report for your information with reference to a number of aboriginals at present living at one of the Government sheds, Circular Quay. I may state from my own knowledge that I have known more or less of these people living in a portion of the Marine Board shed for the last two years, but they have increased in numbers during the last twelve months. At present they number eighteen blacks and half-castes, males and females, all huddled together in one sleeping-place. I have reason to believe that the shed is sometimes used for the purpose of prostitution, as men (Europeans) have been seen to leave the shed hastily on the approach of the police. One of the half-caste women is now in gaol, being convicted as a common prostitute. Their conduct of late has been of the worst description, as they obtain drink about the city, and in their drunken state, when they collect at the boat-shed, frequently assault each other in the most brutal manner, and cause crowds of people to assemble at the boat-sheds. Very frequently of late I have had to send the water police among these people to restore order, and have brought many of them before the Water Police Bench for drunken and disorderly behaviour, and also for assault. I consider them a nuisance to the neighbourhood, as they roam about town by day getting drunk, and wrangle and quarrel all night.

I beg to submit a report from Constable Little, who is constantly on day duty on Circular Quay, and can testify as to these people's conduct on holiday times.

JOHN DONOHOE,
Sub-Inspector.

Sub-Inspector Donohoe,—

Water Police Constable Little reports, for the information of Sub-Inspector Donohoe, with reference to the conduct of a number of aboriginals that are located in the Government boat-shed, Circular Quay:—

The constable has been daily doing duty on the Circular Quay for over twelve months, and it has been almost a daily occurrence for these blackfellows to come about the Circular Quay begging, meeting with sympathisers, get drunk, and assault each other, their wives and children, in a most savage manner. This collects sometimes two or three hundred people, and frequently stopping the public thoroughfare. Some of them have been locked up and punished—in fact their conduct has been very bad in various ways, and they are a public nuisance. The constable has had a great many complaints made to him of their conduct, from all sorts of society. The constable has seen them pushing in and out of the excursion steamers while half drunk, to the annoyance of passengers, and sometimes endangering their lives by nearly knocking them overboard. The constable has on a great many occasions had to remove them from the various places where they misconduct themselves on the Circular Quay.

PRINCE F. LITTLE.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 1 February, 1881.

In accordance with the Colonial Secretary's instructions conveyed in your letter dated the 27th ultimo, No. 81,446, I have caused inquiry to be made regarding the representations made by the Hon. G. Thornton respecting aboriginals congregated in town, and submit herewith copy of Sub-inspector Johnstone's report in the matter.*

It is extremely desirable that the aboriginals should as far as practicable be discouraged from coming to Sydney; and although, in cases of sickness or inability to work, it may be necessary to issue rations rations to some of them occasionally, yet I think it would be better to do this in the districts to which they belong. I have always understood that as a rule aboriginals could readily earn a livelihood by fishing and other pursuits.

Might I be allowed to suggest the desirability of placing all matters connected with the aboriginals under the control of one officer or an Honorary Board.

In some districts there are special arrangements for medical attendance upon them, in other places for the supply of rations, boats, and gear, whilst throughout the Colony supervision is necessary as regards the issue of blankets.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,

Inspector-General of Police.

* 81/779, 3rd February. 81/446. Hon. G. Thornton, M.L.C., 18th January. Drawing attention to condition of aboriginals living at Government boat-shed, Circular Quay, and requesting Water Police Magistrate's report on same.—W. P. NEAGLE, B.C., 27 January, '81.

The Water Police Magistrate to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Water Police Office, Sydney, 15 February, 1881.

In compliance with the instructions contained in your B.C. communication with reference to the letter of the Hon. G. Thornton, I have the honor to report, for the information of the Hon. the Colonial Secretary, that I find upon inquiry (as stated by Mr. Thornton) the aboriginals camped in the Government boat-shed "are constantly drunk, fighting, and swearing"; I understand also that they roam the streets all day long begging, and that late at night they return to their camp in a state of intoxication, where they commence quarrelling and fighting.

As will be seen by Mr. Sub-Inspector Donohoe's report (which I have the honor to forward), Europeans have, upon the approach of the police, been seen to quit the aboriginal camp at night, where they (the Europeans) could have gone, it is to be inferred, for only immoral purposes.

Another great objection to these aboriginals remaining at the boat-shed or its neighbourhood is the circumstance of the men belonging to H.M. war-ships in harbour having constantly to pass and repass the place on their way to and from their ships, and who might from various causes be unwittingly drawn into some serious affray with them.

Mr. Thornton's suggestion "that no rations be hereafter issued to any aboriginals, except within the limits of their own particular districts" would I imagine in a measure help to cure the evils complained of.

I have, &c.,

Submitted, 17/2/81.

J. MILBOURNE MARSH, P.M.

Memo. of Inspector-General of Police to Sub-Inspector Donohoe.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 8 July, 1881.

I AM informed that aboriginals are camped at the boat-shed, Circular Quay, and that white men and boys go to the camp with liquor, and remain with the women. (See 2 sec. Vag. Act.) I should wish Mr. Donohoe to pay attention to the complaint, and report.

E.F.

Sub-Inspector Donohoe to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir,

Water Police Station, Sydney, 8 July, 1881.

I most respectfully beg to report for your information with reference to the complaint made respecting the aboriginals camped at the Government boat-shed, Circular Quay. I may state that at present there are about twenty aboriginal men, women, and children living in the Marine Board portion of the Government shed, and have been more or less in number there for years past. The Hon. G. Thornton wrote to the Government some months ago, with a view to the removal of these aboriginals to their own districts. I then furnished a full report to the Water Police Magistrate on the condition of these aboriginals, which report was forwarded to the Colonial Secretary. I then recommended their removal from the shed, as they were found to be a source of annoyance to the public, more especially on holidays, about the wharfs.

These aboriginals roam about town most of the day, and return to the shed at night drunk, when they fight and assault each other in the most brutal manner, causing crowds to collect at the shed at times.

I frequently send the men from this station to restore order among them. They have occasionally been arrested and punished for drunken and disorderly behaviour, and been arrested in a drunken state conveying liquor to the shed. One of the half-caste women was sent to gaol a short time ago as being a common prostitute. The Water Police have seen men (Europeans) leaving the shed hurriedly, but never in the camp with the blacks, at night-time. The men on leave from the ships-of-war generally return to their vessels close by this shed, and may sometime cause a disturbance with the blacks.

I would therefore suggest their removal from the shed, more particularly as the Detached Squadron will be in port in a few days.

JOHN DONOHOE,

Sub-Inspector.

Will Mr. Donohoe see the Hon. G. Thornton and make a suggestion where these aboriginals should be removed to. Are they supplied with Government rations?—E.F. Sub-Inspector Donohoe, 10 July.

Sub-Inspector

Sub-Inspector Donohoe to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir,

Water Police Station, Sydney, 12 July, 1881.

I would further beg to state that I waited on the Hon. G. Thornton this morning respecting the blacks camped at the boat-sheds. Mr. Thornton said that he took it as a compliment to him the action taken by the Inspector-General in the matter, and, as he had already brought the whole subject under the notice of the Colonial Secretary, he would now suggest that the Inspector-General write to the Colonial Secretary at once, urging the necessity of the immediate removal of these aborigines to their own districts, where they might be allowed rations, and not in Sydney.

JOHN DONOHOE,
Sub-Inspector.

Memo. to The Water Police Magistrate.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 15 July, 1881.

Will the Water Police Magistrate instruct Sub-Inspector Donohoe to attend to this matter at once.

EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P.

Sub-Inspector Donohoe to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir,

Water Police Station, Sydney, 15 July, 1881.

I beg to state, that with a view to carry out the instructions contained in attached papers, I went to the blacks' camp at the boat-shed yesterday and offered passages by steamer to any of them that would go to the districts they belonged to. None of the aborigines appeared willing to leave Sydney, and on being told that they would not be allowed to camp in the boat-shed, about ten in number went at once to the North Shore, an equal number went to Manly, and one wished to go by train to Cootamundra. I sent a constable with him to obtain a passage, but the constable missed him on the road, and I cannot say whether he went or not.

The boat-shed is now clear of aborigines, and I recommended Mr. Poole, the person in charge of the shed, not to allow them to camp there in future.

I think some of the blacks will accept the offer I made them in a few days.

JOHN DONOHOE,
Sub-Inspector.

Forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police.—J. MILBOURNE MARSH, W.P.M., 16th July, 1881.
Will the Inspector-General of Police be so good as to report whether the aborigines have been removed from the Government boat-shed.—B.C., 24/8/81.—C.W.

Sub-Inspector Donohoe to The Water Police Magistrate.

Sir,

Water Police Station, Sydney, 24 August, 1881.

I do myself the honor to report for your information that the aborigines who were camped at the Government boat-sheds were removed on the 14th July last, as stated in my report attached of 15th July. None of the blacks have since returned to the sheds.

I have since furnished water-passages by steamer for seven of the number who have gone to their districts, viz., three Hunter, two Kiama, two Illawarra.

JOHN DONOHOE,
Sub-Inspector.

Forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police.—J. MILBOURNE MARSH, W.P.M.
The Inspector-General of Police reports that all the aborigines have been removed from the Government boat-shed, 26/8/81. Forwarded to the Principal Under-Secretary.—EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P.

The Protector of Aborigines to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 18 January, 1881.

I feel it my duty to bring under the notice of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary a disgraceful state of things which has existed for many months past, and now still going on. I allude to the fact that a number of aborigines (about thirty, I am informed) from various districts in the interior and coasts of this Colony—blacks and half-castes—men and women—are living in the Government boat-sheds on the Circular Quay, supplied with food and rations by the Government, but are constantly drunk, fighting, cursing and swearing, and doing much worse than these. They are a public nuisance, are demoralized, and fast destroying themselves by drink and its horrible accompaniments.

Many of these people have had boats, fishing-lines, seines, &c., &c., supplied to them by the Government, in their own districts; they have abandoned the boats, &c., left them to be destroyed, being attracted to Sydney, and encouraged to remain here, by having shelter and rations given to them.

There is not one person left of the Sydney or Botany tribes, nor has there been one for some years.

I venture to suggest that it be ordered that no rations shall be now or hereafter issued to any aborigines except within the limits of their own particular districts. Kind friends can always be found—a clergyman, police officer, &c.—in every district to willingly and gladly undertake the duty of issuing the rations. This course would perfectly remedy the many evils now existing among them in Botany, Sydney, &c., and would be the greatest blessing to the poor creatures themselves.

It will scarcely be credited, I am sure, that such an abominable state of things now exists with these people in Sydney and Botany, and especially at the boat-sheds, Circular Quay.

I would also suggest that my letter be referred to the Water Police Magistrate, Sydney, for inquiry and his report thereon. I feel certain that his report will at least confirm my statement and lead to a quick remedy. I respectfully urge upon the Honorable the Minister that it is a great, a serious mistake, and is productive of the worst consequences—the issuing of rations to the aborigines in any place outside of their own particular districts—and should be immediately discontinued. I claim to have a good knowledge of the people, and to be second to no one in the Colony as their friend, and one desirous of having kindness—useful kindness—done to them.

I have, &c.,

G. THORNTON.

Police Report on Botany Blacks, 27th December.—Senior-constable John F. Byrne to Inspector Waters.

Botany Police Station, 28 December, 1882.

SENIOR-Constable Byrne respectfully reports for the information of Mr. Inspector Waters, with reference to the aborigines at La Perouse being in want of food. On the above date Senior-Constable Byrne, accompanied by Constable Graves, visited their camp, and from inquiries made from the aborigines found they had not been, nor were they at present, in want of food, but on account of a number of aborigines from different places visiting them during Christmas holidays, their stock of provisions would have been inadequate had not Messrs. Hill and McElhone supplied them with a quantity of meat and bread. The senior-constable begs to state that on the 6th inst., Foot and Dixon were each supplied with 8 lbs. flour, 2 lbs. sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. of tea. On the 11th inst. Timberly and Edwards were supplied with the same quantities. Again, on the 23rd inst., Foot, Dixon, Timberly, and Edwards each received 8 lbs. flour, 2 lbs. sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. tea. At this time they stated they were not in want of food, but being so near Christmas the senior-constable thought it advisable to supply them with some provisions. The senior-constable desires to add that it is a well-known fact that when a stranger visits their camp they complain bitterly of the want of food, with a view to obtain money for the purpose of purchasing liquor, as every time they visit Sydney on their return to Botany they are more or less under the influence of drink.

JOHN F. BYRNE,

Senior-constable.

Report of Senior-Constable Byrne.

Police Station, Botany, 17 January, 1883.

Senior-Constable Byrne begs most respectfully to report for the information of his officers that he has been stationed at Botany for over two (2) years.

In the year 1881 there were about fifty (50) aborigines, all told, in the district. They had two (2) camps—one (1) at La Perouse, the other on the reserve at Botany. The chief camp was at La Perouse, where there were about thirty-five (35); the remainder, about fifteen (15), were camped on the reserve. They were continually going to and fro from one camp to the other, and were occasionally visited by aborigines from Wollongong, George's River, and Burragorang. During this year, when they received rations, nearly all visited Sydney, when they received an order from the Hon. R. Hill, M.L.C., for the supply of same. This took place about every Saturday, and generally on their return to camp the majority would be in a semi-state of intoxication, and the senior constable noticed that many of them returned without rations, having either sold or lost them on the way. It was on one of those occasions, viz., May 7th, 1881, the aboriginal Bundong fell from the roof of a bus and was killed.

At this time there was a large number of young girls in the camp; and about the month of August, Mr. Matthews, of the Mission Station at Maloga, visited the camps and persuaded the greater portion of the females (some of whom had husbands) to remove with their husbands to the station at Maloga; this they did, and the camp on the reserve was shortly after broken up. Up to the time of Mr. Matthews' visit they very seldom done work of any kind, and their conduct was a great nuisance to the neighbourhood of Botany in consequence of their intemperate habits, quarrelling with each other in camp; and again, a number of young men (Europeans) used to visit the camp for immoral purposes; these people, it is presumed, gave them money which they spent in drink. The senior constable frequently visited their camp with a view to detect the intruders (Europeans), but they were always warned of his approach by the aborigines or their associates.

During the whole of the year 1882 there was but one (1) camp, viz., at La Perouse, and the average number of aborigines there has been about twenty-six (26) all told. They still occasionally have been visited by their countrymen from Wollongong, George's River, and Burragorang. The male portion follow the occupation of fishermen, and are supplied with several Government boats for that purpose. Their gins assist to earn a living by making shell baskets, which they sell in Sydney and the suburbs.

The senior constable is not aware whether they were in receipt of Government rations or not, but on the 23rd August he received, through his Inspector, an order from the Hon. G. Thornton, M.L.C., to supply them (the aborigines) with provisions, should they at any time be in want through bad weather, &c. On the following day the senior constable visited the camp and had them supplied with rations, and informed them of the instructions he had received, and told them should they at any time be short of food to apply to him and he would immediately attend to their wants; but, although they perfectly understood him, they have not up to the present applied more than five or six times altogether. He may mention that he supplied them with rations personally at Wiggins' grocer shop, on Botany Road, on Saturday evening, 23rd December; the supply was tea, sugar, and flour.

The

The senior constable desires to state that, as the camp is distant about five (5) miles from Botany, he can only occasionally visit them, consequently he has only a limited acquaintance with their habits, &c., but this he can say they are able-bodied and well able to work if they were so inclined, but on the contrary they appear to be of a very idle disposition, and are all of intemperate habits.

JOHN F. BYRNES,
Senior Constable.

Forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police. Senior-Constable Byrnes having frequently visited the Aborigines' camp has of course a better knowledge of their condition and circumstances than the officer in charge of the division.—G. READ, Supt., 18/1/83.

Forwarded for the information of the Protector of Aborigines, in reply to his letter of the 12th instant.—EDMUND FOSBERY, J.G.P., B.C., 18 Jan., 83. The Protector of Aborigines.

The Protector of Aborigines to Mr. J. DIXSON.

Sir,

Sydney, 6 October, 1882.

I address you for the aborigines now at La Perouse, to let you know I have sent out to your camp a case of galvanized iron roofing, about 140 sheets 8 feet long, with the ridge-capping, screws, &c., to form the roof of the new huts you wish to put up. The huts should not exceed 15 feet wide from outside to outside, so that the 8-foot sheets will allow a little overlap; and of course this iron must only be used for roofing. If you want any further help in completing the huts let me know, and, if reasonable, I will give it to you. I would like to see the huts put up as soon as possible. I have also ordered a new and very suitable boat to be built for you, with sails, oars, centre-board, and everything complete, but cannot get her finished in less than a month.

I also wish the old women (aborigines), and those who have children, at La Perouse, to get a weekly ration of 8 lbs. flour, 2 lbs. sugar, 4 ozs. tea—children half rations—from the grocer who supplied the last. I hope to go out again soon to see you all, and will let you know when I am coming.

Yours truly,
GEO. THORNTON,
Protector of Aborigines.

Mr. J. G. Coote to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir,

Aborigines Protectorate Office, Colonial Secretary's Department, 23 August, 1882.

There are some aborigines, half-castes, &c., encamped near La Perouse, Botany, who have been supplied by the Government with boats, &c., but it may happen during some continuance of bad weather, or from other causes, they may at times be in want of food. I am requested by the Protector of Aborigines to ask your usual kindly assistance in such matters, by causing instructions to be given to the officer of police stationed at Botany, that he will visit them occasionally, and not allow them to suffer from want of food, but doing anything promptly in respect of same in any case of necessity arising. Any food so supplied shall be duly paid for by this Department, and also to instruct the officer to report now and then as to the condition and behaviour of these people.

I have, &c.,
T. GETHIN COOTE,
Secretary.

APPENDIX A.

From Aborigines William Foot and others to The Protector of the Aborigines.

La Perouse, 20 January, 1883.

Mr. George Thornton, Protector of Aborigines,—

We have written a few lines to you that Mr. Thornton was good to us so far, for he gave us all that we wanted from him—that was the tin [galvanized iron roofing] and timber, and the tools; so that Mr. Thornton gave us all that we applied to him for. As for the food, we used to get it when it was bad weather, for we did not apply to Mr. Thornton for weekly food; for if we had applied to him, perhaps we would have got it long ago; and the boat we got too from Mr. Thornton; he did not refuse us anything that was.

WILLIAM FOOT,
WM. ROWLEY,
CHARLES EDWARDS,
JOSEPH DIXON, and TIMBERLY.
That is all.

APPENDIX B.

The Secretary to the Protector of the Aborigines to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir, Aborigines Protectorate Office,
Colonial Secretary's Department, Sydney, 12 September, 1882.

Herewith, by desire of the Protector of the Aborigines, I beg to hand in, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, a supplemental statement in regard to the Aborigines, showing—

- 1 & 2. Ages—sexes of Aborigines and Half-castes.
3. How employed?
4. If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite?
5. If provided with fishing boats by Government or otherwise. If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby?
6. If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent?
7. If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?
8. If in need of supply of clothing by Government?
9. If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking if practicable?
10. How medically attended when sick?
11. Any special information regarding race likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition, and the replies which have been obtained from these inquiries.

I have, &c.,
T. GETHIN COOTE,
Secretary.

If in need of Government aid, why? And in what shape most requisite?	If provided with fishing-boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent?	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing by Government?	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
No	Nil	Nil	No, not necessary	No	No	By their employer.
No	One boat on Uega River used by aborigines fishing with lines and hooks. The boat requires repairs and painting.	No	Yes. Issue necessary. Not aware of any being misappropriated.	The old men and women require warm clothing in winter	A few of the old men and women are addicted.	By the Government, Medical man, Dr. Sheil.	Senior-constable Church begs to suggest that a fishing-net be supplied to the aborigines; also, a grant of land on Uega R. (say 40 acres) to each family.
No	No	No	Not required
No	No	The aboriginal girls go to school daily.	Yes	No		By doctor.
Yes; clothing	No boats	None	Yes	Yes	Yes. They obtain liquor from the inhabitants of Bomahala and Delegate. Police endeavour to check it.	Dr. Watson, of Bomahala.	No.
No	Yes. Boat in fair condition, also gear. They are very careful. Considerable sums earned with boat.	No	Yes	Yes; children and old people.	Yes. Two men, one half-caste, one woman drunkards. Liquor obtained from public-houses by white men & women (drunkards).	Nil.
No	Not required	Nil	Not required	No	No	Nil.
No					Intemperate occasionally, gets drink from her husband.	Not known.
No; all very well off	Four boats in this portion of district in fair order, and properly cared for. Impossible to say what they earn.	Two aborigines and two half-castes are instructed by Mr. Bennett, Public School teacher	Yes. Issue necessary	No	Yes, wherever they can get it, but do not often get a chance.	Dr. Boot, Moruya	The half-castes in this district are remarkably well off, and can earn the same wages as Europeans. The half-castes generally use the boats. The names of those receiving Government aid are as follows:—Merriman, age 60; Maxwell, age 60; Naddy, age 60. The two last-named are unable to walk.
Three aborigines very old. Aid would be requisite in the shape of food and clothing.	Two supplied with boats which are in good condition. Subsistence earned principally fishing.	None	Yes	Three in need	No	None receive medical attendance.	The names of those receiving Government aid are as follows:—Merriman, age 60; Maxwell, age 60; Naddy, age 60. The two last-named are unable to walk.
Tom Brown & family very much in need of a boat to aid them in earning a living.	Abraham is well taken care of and in good condition at the present time.	No	Yes. Issue necessary, and not misappropriated.	No	Elderly males are, if they can get liquor. Supposed to be got occasionally when employed by whites.	None	Tom Brown (half-caste), wife, and seven children (ages from 2 to 21 years), living on the Clyde River, are very industrious. Have applied to Police Magistrate for a Government boat to assist them in getting a living. The others have no settled place of abode for any time.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Not much
About eight in need of Government rations. Three old women, one blind man, and four children. It would be difficult to suggest in what shape Government aid would be of service when there are so few, and these scattered through large districts, and not permanently located in any place.	No; not required	Three or four half-caste girls and two boys have been educated at the Catholic schools, Yass.	Yes. Issue necessary. In a few cases blankets have been sold.	Nothing further than they are already receiving.	Yes, with few exceptions. Generally from public-houses.	By a doctor	No.
		No, there are no aboriginal children in the Dubbo district, and the half-caste children are so circumstanced that instruction would be impossible.	Not always. There were several poor creatures at Morangarell last year who received none, for the reason that no blankets are sent to the Young sub-district. Some of these aborigines in this report receive their blankets at Gundagai. The blankets of late years supplied to the blacks are of an inferior description, in some cases moth-eaten and useless.	Yes, each black, and particularly the children would require a suit of warm clothing for the winter.	For the most part they are but I have known males and females who would not take spirits. The liquor is obtained principally at public-houses, sometimes from Europeans, who take it to their camps. I do not think there is any mode by which drink to the aborigines could be checked.	When sick, and it is known to the police, the patient or patients receive medical attendance from Government Medical Officers, at the instance in all cases of the police. Many cases receive many comforts and provisions until quite strong.	Have known blacks in the Broadwood and Coast districts very intelligent, who have been and now are excellent farm labourers, and whose operations at all times were to be allowed some land which they might call their own in reality, which they might cultivate unimpeded for the use of themselves and their families; and where the aborigines of the surrounding districts might meet periodically for the purpose of holding corroborees and other exhilarating games.
			All supplied		All addicted. Secretly supplied by travellers and others.		Different times of the year when blacks muster at Corowa, there are about twelve or fifteen asking for blankets. None reside near Corowa.
No	No	No	No	No	No	Attended by family practitioner.
Yes. Some land to cultivate. They say they are driven away by owners of land.	Not provided	None	All supplied. Issue necessary, and not misapplied.	Yes, the women and children are very miserable in winter	Very little, but they no doubt sometimes obtain liquor at bush public-houses, or from persons drinking at such places, but they have been prosecuted by the police, when evidence was forthcoming.	Police look after them.	There are two tribes. A piece of land on the river for each, where they could make homes, and the men cultivate and employ themselves, the girls at fishing, should they be supplied with boats. Proper boat sheds on high ground would be necessary.
			Not necessary	No	No

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite.	If provided with fishing-boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent.	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing by Government?	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
Yearly blankets only	None required	None	Yes, some of the blankets have been sold to civilians, but not a frequent occurrence.	No, plenty supplied by people in the district.	Some of the men and women drink very much if it can be got. The publicans now are afraid to supply them, but some of the civilians will get it for them.	The person by whom employed pays for medical attendance	The race seems either dying out or else gone to Mission Station at Darlington Point.
No	No	No	No application made for blankets for several years.	No	No	None	None.
No	No	Yes, religious instruction.	No. Not necessary.	No	No	None	When inspecting public-houses at Narrandera, on the 29th ultimo, I found several blankets branded N.A.W. Aborigines, in the bed-rooms, "Union Club Hotel," kept by James O'Sullivan, who accounted for them by saying he supposed his wife had bought them. The railway free pass is much abused by aborigines, who travel a boat to races, sports, and other public gatherings where they are likely to get liquor, and then become a nuisance. —W. G. CASEY, Sub Insr. I have taken action respecting this.—E. F.
Blankets	Nil	Children attend Public School at Camden Park.	Yes, to each child	Nil	Nil	Supplied by parents	Nil.
Nil	Nil		Not required	Not required	Nil	By master.
Yes, in Winter they suffer very much from cold and wet. A tent or some covering would be a great boon, and ratons in winter.	One boat provided by Government, and is kept in good condition. Ours and ratons want mending. At present one family of half-castes entirely subsist by fishing.	Some half-caste children attend the Peterborough Public School and can read very well.	One blanket each was issued to each in May, which is not sufficient, they are not misappropriated.	Warm clothing in winter would be acceptable.	Very sober in this district.	Government doctor of the district attend and give them medicine.	Bark being scarce, a few iron huts would improve their condition.
Yes, in the improvement of their huts.	One boat is provided by Government in fur-cum-dition, and gear fairly looked after. In bad weather subsistence scanty.	Two children go to the Public School.	All supplied with blankets. Issue necessary. No information that blankets have been misappropriated.	Most of them in need of clothing.	They are not in the habit of drinking, except when they go to town. The drink is provided by white people.	Go to hospital.
The four eldest should be given rations of flour, tea, and sugar, as they are unable to work. The rest ration through the winter. An old widow and 3 children, and a young aboriginal boy with cancer in the mouth, require permanent help.	Three boats have been supplied by Government. Boats and gear in fair condition. Fishing and oystering.	6 half-caste children have been attending Illadulla Public School, and attained 2nd Class proficiency.	Yes; issue necessary. No way misappropriated.	Clothing for those unable to work.	Some of them occasionally; liquor supposed to be given to them by Europeans; police endeavour to check it.	No sickness amongst them.	Boats required and a net.
Yes, some of the families having lost their fathers are now left almost without food, which with clothing are necessary.	Nil	At Public School, Cox's River, and Wollondilly River, Burragarang.	Yes. Issue necessary and in no way misappropriated.	Yes	No	Government Medical Doctor.	Nil.
To enable the old man, John Hudgery, to get on a living, if he had a gun he says he could get a good living by shooting opossums.	No		Yes. No	Yes. The old man and woman would be much benefited by a suit of clothes each.		1st nil. 2nd paid himself.	The female, Nelly, is the last of the Nepean tribe. They camp on the Government reserve in Castlereagh, Nepean.
	No	The five are instructed by Miss Single.	Yes. No			Mr. Single's medical man.
The Jervis Bay blacks get Government rations. This is necessary as there are few white people in that locality.	These boats in the district—One at Terrara, one at Broughton Creek, one at Jervis Bay. All in good order. Provided by Government.	About thirty half-caste children are at school at Coolangatta, five at Jervis Bay, and three blacks.	Yes. Issue necessary and not in any way misappropriated.	Yes, at Jervis Bay	A number of them given to drink. But since the Act of 1882 came into force drunkenness has ceased.	Own expense.
None	None	No children	Yes. Frequently sold.	No	Yes. By white people but many publicans supply them.	Hospital	The race is nearly extinct. It is useless supplying them with boats or rations as they thereby can get rum.
No. They can always get sufficient food from the farmers for whom they work. If they got food and clothing they would at once leave off work which keeps them out of mischief.	The Sackville Reach aborigines are provided with a Government boat. It is in good order. A supply of fish is the only subsistence earned thereby. Two outrs required for boat.	The half-castes attend the Public School at Blacktown Road. They are taught reading and writing, &c. None of the aborigines go to the school at Sackville Reach.	All supplied. Yes. Not misappropriated.	No	The aborigines and half-castes in this district are very moderate in the use of intoxicating drinks. They get white people to obtain liquor for them. The only way to check this evil is to make it an offence to procure liquor for them.	Admitted to the hospital in connection with the Hawkesbury Benevolent Asylum at Windsor	Educate the half-castes. Nothing can be done to elevate the mind or change customs of aborigines.
They have no blankets and very little clothing.	None	No	In need of blankets		Temperate	Nil.
Not in need	No	No	Not necessary	No	No	Local doctor.
No	No	Yes, from their employers and from Sunday school teachers, limited.	No, do not require them.	No	No	Charitably	Where there are tribes such as are at the Richmond River and other places, it would be a source of great pleasure for them to have hunting grounds reserved for their purposes.
Clothing and blankets required, wages earned to be insufficient for support.	No	No	One only supplied with blankets; issue required by the others.	Yes	One of the aborigines is addicted to intemperance when he can obtain liquor, not known where obtained	By neighbours.	No sickness.
Are receiving wages and in want of nothing	No	No	Yes, have Government blankets each year.	No		Both steady
No	None required	None	All supplied with blankets.	No	Yes, addicted to intemperance at wine-shops and public-houses.	By Government doctor.	They are well employed and taken as much care of as possible by the squatters and selectors in this district.

District.	Police Station	Number of Aborigines in Sub-district.							Number of Half-castes in Sub-district.							How employed, or supported? (Detail as far as practicable)
		Men—Ages.			Women—Ages.			Children.	Total.	Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.				Children.	Total.
		Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.			Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.
North-western— continued	Carroll	1	4	5	Married to a native of the Colony, who is employed as boundary-rider. } Shepherding..... Men employed shepherding, boundary-riding, and bullock driving.
	Currahubula	1	1	8
	Barraba	1	4	5
	Breeza	1	2	..	1	4	6	3	..	6	3	29	47
South-western	Blackville	Men work on stations..... Some employed on stations, and some live by fishing and hunting. Working about the station..... Boundary-riding, killing rabbits, kangaroos, &c. Some receiving £1 per week as station hands. These on mission station. Adults fencing, building, clearing. Children attending school The men between 20 and 40 are employed on stations and at country villages. When not employed they take to fishing and shooting. Generally working about stations. The younger blacks and most half-castes are employed by the squatters. They are very useful, doing almost all station work, viz., mustering and shepherding during the lambing season. The old blacks are chiefly supported by the squatters and younger blacks. Nine are employed on stations; get from 15s. to £1 a week, including four half-castes. The remainder, hunting kangaroos, get 5d per scalp from stations, but kangaroo hunting will not last long. Some on stations during shearing only. They mostly decline to work in the extreme heat and cold. Police tracker, station hands, domestic servants. Half-caste married to an overseer. Fishing and working on stations. The greater part of year employed on stations in the sub-district, the males getting £1 a week while at work. The females get 12s. if willing to work. Stations..... The males are employed by the squatters in the district bringing in the horses and general knock-about work, for which they receive food, clothes, and tobacco. Each blackfellow has one or two guns generally with him, they are fed in the same manner. Employed on a station and receiving wages. Men and boys are employed by well-sinkers and other contractors. On the stations looking after horses and bullocks, sheep and paddocks, and assisting at the woolsheds at shearing time. Very few of the women work, occasionally assisting the contractors' wives in their work. Stations employ most..... Work on stations..... Supported by the Maloga Mission Fund, and are employed in various works connected with mission station. At shearing time men employed on sheep stations. Kangaroo hunting.....
	Booligal	5	1	..	4	3	13	2	2
	Balranald	23	20	5	20	20	..	8	98	2	3	3	8
	Cudgellico	7	2	..	4	1	..	2	16	5	1	..	3	6	15
	Clare	9	1	6	1	17	1	1
	Darlington Point	46	6	3	30	12	2	25	124	10	5	..	9	2	13	39
	Dentiquin	6	5	1	4	2	..	3	21	2	3	..	5	10
	Euabalong	18	4	1	11	3	..	5	42	10	1	..	15	40	60
	Euston	51	6	12	3	2	74	5	2	7
	Gilgunnia	5	2	1	6	2	..	2	18	3	2	3	8
	Hillston	15	10	6	12	6	2	10	60	9	2	9	20
	Hay	4	1	..	3	1	9	3	3	3	9
	Jerilderie	2	1	..	2	1	6	1	1	1	3
	Murundie	30	10	4	18	2	1	6	71	1	2	2	5
	Mount Gipps	23	10	..	10	3	..	12	58	2	2
	Milparinka	about 45	10	..	60	15	..	20	150	1	2	3
Mount Hope	1	1
Mossiel	21	16	5	20	9	..	12	83	2	14	16
Maude	8	6	2	6	2	2	3	29	2	1	1	4
Mathoura	3	2	2	2	4	13
Moama	6	6	2	..	10	24	7	9	25	41
Maloga blacks
Thule Station blacks	1	1	1	1	..	1	2	7

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite.	If provided with fishing-boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent.	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing by Government?	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
Not in need		No		Not in need	Sober	Local doctor.
Blankets	No	No	No blankets supplied, issue necessary.	Yes	No	Nil.	Nil.
Not in need	No	One half-caste at Public School at Breeza.	All can be supplied with Government blankets by going to Guandah, but none have gone for them.	No	No	By doctor at Guandah.
No	No	No	All supplied yearly	No	Yes. Cannot be stopped are supplied by all publicans.	No attendance	No.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Supplied with Government blankets, and misappropriated, issue necessary.	Nil	Yes, if they can get it at the public-houses (and give no suggestion how to check it)	Nil	Nil.
Don't know	No	No	Yes	Yes	Yes Public-houses. Cannot suggest.	Attend on one or other At local hospital	Race rapidly dying out.
Nil	Nil. No inner creeks or lakes.	Nil	All supplied with Government blankets annually	Nil	Yes; at public-houses and other sources unknown to the police.	At local hospital	Nil.
Mission station in need of food and clothing.	No Government boats or otherwise.	All the children are instructed by W. S. Carpenter, Government teacher. The entire community receive religious instruction from the Rev. J. Griddle.	All so supplied	Yes; one suit for summer and one for winter	Some old blacks so addicted. At bush public-houses. Strict enforcement of the Licensing Act.	All attended by the superintendent of Mission. Medicine contributed by funds in Sydney. Supply badly inadequate.	Properly constituted aboriginal station. Will tend to the decided improvement of the race.
In need of Government aid in the shape of clothing and blankets, especially the young and old. It would be desirable also that they should receive medical attendance.	Nothing supplied by Government.	Not in this district	Supplied with Government blankets; no knowledge of misappropriation.	Yes	addicted to habits of intemperance. Greg pumpkins obtained at bush public-houses. The clause in Licensing Act of 1882, making persons other than publicans liable for supplying aborigines, is a step in the right direction	Sometimes attended by Government doctor of the district.	Nil.
No. Can always obtain work or food at stations.	Not provided	Not at present School starting.	Yes. Yes. No	Yes	Yes Public-houses. Infliction of the highest penalty on publicans or persons supplying.	Aboriginal have here a doctor of their own race, not qualified or registered.	Aborigines very fond of dirt, idle and thriftless.
Yes. Blankets, molskin trousers, and cotton shirts, flour, tea, and sugar.	No	No	Yes. The blacks in this part take great care of their blankets. I have not known one case where the blacks have misappropriated them	Yes	Yes. Liquor obtained from publicans generally. I have no idea what mode best to adopt more than that already done by the police.	Forwarded to nearest hospital, Swan Hills, Victoria, Balmoral, N.S.W.	None.
Tents would be very desirable for shelter during the winter months, especially for the aged men and women.	Not provided not required.	Boats. None of them receive instruction.	Have been supplied annually with one blanket each. One blanket is not sufficient for their comfort during winter months. I wore one 1873	Two suits of clothing per annum would be necessary, especially for the aged men and women.	They are more or less addicted to habits of intemperance. The police always suppress them from being served with spirits when it comes under their notice	No medical attendance. When sick generally supplied with nourishment from stations.	Food would be necessary for the aged men and women. They depend on the stations for their bit of tea, sugar, and flour.
Protection and assistance.	Nil	No means available. Darlington Point, the only place about 20 miles distant.	One blanket supplied yearly to each, which is requisite	Should get one suit of clothes yearly.	Some are addicted more than others when they can get it, which is prevented and suppressed by the police	Nil	There should be some institution here, this being a central spot for this race of people, as the old ones require assistance and protection, and young ones in need of education, training, and protection likewise.
No	No	No	Not all Issue necessary, but not to all, as aborigines at work earn sufficient to keep themselves. Some aborigines do not keep their blankets long.	No	Generally the aborigines will be content with what they can get. It is a very hard thing to check, as it is supplied in a way mostly to evade discovery, and when aborigines are found under the influence of drink they will not, as a rule, state from whom they obtain it	They sometimes attend as do other in some cases their employers. Some are able to buy their own medicine, and sometimes, not often, they go to hospital.	The aborigines are very useful on stations amongst cattle, being more in accord with their natural condition. They have no desire for learning, and no thought for to-morrow in their intercourse with Europeans they readily contract habits of intemperance.
No	No	No	Yes. Issue necessary.	Yes	Yes. At any side and out-of-the-way places.	Deniliquin hospital	Nothing to suggest.
Only require blankets, which they look for every year.	None have been supplied with boats in this sub-district.	No	The whole of the blacks in this district have been supplied with blankets up to the present, and aware of any misappropriation.	Do not think so. They seem to be well provided with clothing given to them by squatters & others.	Yes. They are doing on rapidly from the effects of drink, which is generally supplied to them by white men for immoral purposes connected with their vices	They do not believe in being attended by the European medical men. They generally are attended by what they call their own doctor	None
Blankets and clothing	No	No	No	Yes	No	Self-attended	Nil.
Yes. They often, when wandering from one waterhole to another, make a practice of killing at the different places of habitations, asking for old clothes, and have to depend entirely on the white-inhabitants for their clothing.	Nil	Nil	The blacks in this district have not yet received their issue of blankets for 1881, owing to the River Darling not being navigable until about six weeks ago, and the supply was thus delayed.	Yes	All addicted to habits of intemperance when they can obtain liquor, which is generally given to them by the white inhabitants.	They attend each other when sick. No medical attendance obtainable nearer than Wilcannia, 200 miles distant.	The number stated is given by one of the blackfellows at Milparinka, who states that they are now camped at Scott's Creek, 70 miles distant, holding a corroboree.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil.
No. The station-owners and contractors are always willing to employ them. They get provisions from the stations when they require it from them. Occasionally they go and live in the thickly timbered parts of the district, and when they get tired of hunting they get employment from the stations and others again.	No use for boats or fishing gear. No rivers or lakes in Mossiel sub-district.	None	All supplied with Government blankets. They are in no way misappropriated.	Most of the stations on the Mossiel sub-districts are managed by single men, and they have no clothes to give the women, who are poorly dressed. They are in need of some clothing.	The aborigines in the Mossiel sub-district are very temperate. There may be an odd one or two that are not so.	No medical attendance. The station people treat them very well, and when sick they are attended to	Nil.
Not necessarily in need of Government aid.	Not provided	No instruction	All supplied Issue necessary; not misappropriated.	Not in need	All addicted to intemperance. Liquor obtained by men bringing into their camp.	Not medically attended.	All well civilized, and work for wages most part of the year.
Are provided with blankets.	Not provided with boats	Blacks receive instruction at Maloga.	All are supplied with blankets.	No	Very temperate	No doctor's attendance.	All are healthy.
Blacks at Maloga are desirous of getting land allotted to them to cultivate for their own support.	Not provided with boats or nets. The manager of Maloga station states that the blacks had boats and nets a number of them could make a good living fishing on Mona Lakes.	All at Maloga are being educated at the Maloga school under the N.S.W. Education Department	All supplied with blankets.	Women and children badly want boots and warm clothing.	All blacks at Maloga are of sober habits.	Receive medicine at Maloga station. When severely ill taken to hospital at Sandhurst, Victoria.	Eight of the blacks and half-castes at Maloga brought from Sydney here received rations allowance from Government.
	No	No	Only one received Government blankets this year.	Women and children want clothing and boots.	No	Deniliquin hospital.

District.	Police Station.	Number of Aborigines in Sub-district.								Number of Half-castes in Sub-district.								How employed, or supported? (Detail as far as practicable.)
		Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.	Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.
		Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.			Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.
South-western— continued	Moulamein ...	12	8	2	8	4	..	18	52	10	6	20	35	Employed on stations, boundary-riders, kangaroo hunting, and general station work. Supported by the stations.
	Pooncarie	12	7	1	9	3	..	3	36	1	1	2	Employed on Polia, Monaro stations, during shearing seasons.
	Salt Creek.....	0	0	15	Generally employed on stations to kill kangaroos and rabbits.
	Tocunwal.... Elbooburra ..	40	20	15	35	20	10	20	160	4	2	15	21	A few are employed on surrounding stations.
	Wentworth ...	6	5	1	1	3	16	Killing noxious animals on Tassio and Avoca stations.
Wilcannia	46	16	4	27	0	1	0	100	Principally on stations those who are employed, with the exception of a few young men who follow shearing.
Northern	Wilson's Downfall.	9	9	..	5	3	..	10	36	2	1	1	..	2	6	They sometimes do a little work for squatters and farmers and receive rations; at other times they wander about, living on wild animals, fish, &c.
	Walla	1	1	..	4	6	1	1	The aboriginal is employed upon station work, such as stock-keeping, &c. The female aboriginal is wife of the half-caste, and is supported by him, who takes jobs about town, wood-cutting, &c.
	Walcha	14	0	..	8	8	..	23	50	8	2	..	3	18	31	The young men are employed as stockmen on stations throughout the district, and the women are domestic assistants. The older portion travel about the district, no fixed occupation.
	Wardell	7	0	..	3	7	..	10	36	8	1	1	5	As a rule the greater portion are employed at various works, chiefly stripping cane, felling timber, others are lazy, and seldom do anything other than catch fish (by hands) and live on animals of all kinds, killed by them on their travels.
	Woodburn....	5	3	..	6	1	..	0	21	Hoeing and stripping sugar cane, hoeing, pulling, and husking maize, and breaking fire wood. Women washing clothes and scrubbing floors for the residents.
	Vegetable Ck Ulmarra.....	8	6	..	9	1	..	7	31	2	2	Working for farmers.....
	Corindi	4	5	2	5	2	..	1	10	Living by getting honey, stripping bark, fishing, &c.
	Glenreagh....	1	2	1	1	2	..	2	0	Stock-riding and getting honey..
	Shearwood ...	10	4	1	5	3	..	10	33	1	3	4	Stock-riding, getting honey, and general bush work. Some of them live in their wild state on game and fish.
	Tweed River..	23	8	2	30	7	..	27	97	4	2	6	12	Working on farms, and employed by timber getters.
	Tingha	1	2	3	1	1	As station servants
	Stannington Rocky Mouth	6	4	..	6	3	..	2	21	Occasionally chopping wood or cane stripping.
	Palmer's Island..	9	3	..	3	2	..	2	19	1	2	3	Stripping cane, cutting wood, and general farming labour.
	M'Donald's River. Lawrence	15	4	..	10	2	..	12	43	2	1	3	Labouring amongst the farmers of the district.
Lionsville	10	13	2	10	8	1	5	49	2	5	7	Mostly all employed about stations stock-riding and different kinds of work, for which they receive wages. The women and elderly men live in the bush and support themselves, and are assisted by the others.

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite.	If provided with fishing-boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent?	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing, by Government.	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition
No	Not provided	The aborigines receive no instruction whatever.	Supplied yearly. Issue necessary.	No	Very much addicted to intemperance if obtainable. They usually obtain the liquor from hotels, almost impossible to check it.	Not attended	Nil.
Flour, tea, and sugar most requisite.	Nil	Nil	Yes	Yes	Liquor obtained by aborigines at road-side public houses.	Nil	Nil.
Not in need	Not provided with fishing boats.	Not instructed	All supplied with Government blankets.	Not in need of clothing by Government.	Addicted to habits of intemperance, but will not let the police know where they get the liquor.	By one of their own tribe.	Nil.
Very much in need of Government aid, in a wretched condition in every way.	Nil	Nil	None supplied with Government blankets. Issue very much required.	Yes	Very much addicted to habits of intemperance, as the police interfere.	Nil	Require special attention.
One suffering from ulcer, in need of aid at present. All at same time are in need of clothes and rations, as they are not employed and cannot get fish or game to subsist on.	No	No	Yes	Some would need clothing, and at times all need rations.	They will drink if they can procure the liquor, but as they are not well paid they seldom have money to spare.	Not known, as none of them ever complain.	The only way to benefit them would be to collect them together on some reserve, employ them, and have some humane person to take charge of, advise, and look after them.
Do not think Government aid necessary this year, but was very badly off at Cobham Lake last year for want of food.	Not supplied with boats or nets in this district.	Nil	Mostly all supplied with Government blankets, which are necessary in this district.	Yes, most of them in need of clothing.	Most of the blacks are addicted to drink, generally get it from public houses. Do not know of any better way of check than summons persons who supply them. This the police do when possible. The punishment does not seem severe enough.	Seldom receive medical attendance, except in towns.	The natives are getting less every year, especially where more civilized; probably through exposure when they are intoxicated.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Yes; not misappropriated.	Nil	Yes; if they can obtain it, but it is seldom they can, and when they do have and drink they are cunning and tell the police they get it over the border.	Nil	The most of the blacks mentioned in this return are at present camped just over the border in the Colony of Queensland, it being warmer than here for the winter, but they properly belong to this sub-district.
The wife and children of the half caste, being four in number require blankets during the winter, as the wages of the husband being insufficient to provide necessary clothing during the winter in New England, when it is very cold.	No; not required	No instruction given to the aborigines, or their children.	No blankets issued from this station to aborigines.	No	On occasions, aborigines have been found under the influence of liquor, by what means obtained cannot up to the present be ascertained by the police.	No aboriginal has asked or required (as far as the police are aware) any medical aid.
The old men, women and children, not able to work require such aid as wearing apparel.	No	No	Yes	The old men and women require clothing.	Not addicted	As other subjects
Any and other than clothing and blankets would be of little service to the race, they would in all probability sell anything of value given to them to obtain grog.	Not. They are careless in their habits, and are quite content to roam in and around their own locality.	They received no instruction, and from habits they follow the habits and customs of the older ones, viz., wandering about the bush and rivers.	Yes. The usual supply is necessary and except in very few instances does it appear to have been misappropriated. The aborigines look forward to the supply as their chief craving for winter.	They certainly are in want of clothing, the refuse or left off clothing, used by Europeans, is eagerly sought for by them, and worn till actually in rags.	Both male and female drink grog to excess, when procurable, or given to them by the whites in the bush. They all use tobacco freely. Liquor is obtained by them in most cases given them in return for work. They are acute, and in no case will they inform.	The tribe attends to them and in no case do they require the services of a medical man, are very superstitious and rely on their own treatment.	A tribe not of much assistance to the race as they will not take care of one, and very seldom use it, except in crossing rivers. No doubt clothing, blankets, and a tomahawk to the elder ones would be of most service.
No. They get sufficient food & clothes from the people who employ them.	No, they got boats to catch fish, when they want them.	No	Yes, issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	No	Yes: liquor surreptitiously obtained from the publicans. Police surveillance.	No medical attendance.	Owing to incurable habits of intemperance, I don't know what to suggest as likely to benefit them. They do not understand what gratitude is for kindness shown to them.
Not in need of Government aid, can support themselves.	None provided	None	All supplied with Government blankets. Issue necessary. None not been misappropriated.	Not in need	All addicted. Liquor obtained from publicans.	Never had medical attendance.
Fishing-lines, &c., not necessary.	do	do	do
Not in need	do	do	do
Not in need of Government aid.	Not provided	No instruction received.	All supplied with Government blankets. Issue quite necessary, and in no way misappropriated.	Not in any need	Nearly all are addicted to habits of intemperance. Obtained from persons they are working for, and often from public-houses.	The only medical attendance received is what they know themselves.
Government aid for very old or sick aborigines would be advisable, because they have nothing to help them at those times, except the little given them by the tribe, and they have but little at any time, as they drink everything they earn.	Not provided	None, except one boy, by Mrs. McLeod, of Sargort, Reading a little.	Yes, and necessary. Have not known of any case of misappropriation.	Yes. They only wear old clothing given to them.	Yes, greatly. Must be supplied by publicans and others, there being eighteen public-houses in the Bay and Heads, including Rocky. Cannot suggest anything, because if they have money they will some where or other, procure drink. A publican was fined £1 for supplying them.	Not medically. The aborigines live in the bush. It is never known when any are sick, and when they die their tribe bury them.	Although the number is now given, they are constantly coming and going, sometimes few less. As blanket time is coming on, three times this number will be here before a month.
	Supplied with old police boat, now in bad condition through accident. Has been properly cared for by blacks. Earned about £3 a month.	None	Yes. New issue very necessary, the blacks being nearly naked.	Supply of clothing very necessary.	Generally addicted to habits of intemperance. Liquor obtained from publicans. Blacks sometimes employed working about houses get liquor in lieu of payment. Prohibit publicans from having blacks on premises.	Not medically attended.	A return given in a few months.
No	No	No	Supplied with blankets, and issue necessary.	They are in most cases fairly clothed.	As a rule they drink when they can get liquor, and the people they work for give it to them in payment for their work. They also get it in the public-houses.	Not known.
Yes. They have not sufficient clothing, the wages they receive only keeps them in rations.	None provided	Not known to receive any instruction from any one.	Supplied with one blanket each every year, which they take care of and require.	Yes. Do not obtain sufficient clothing as they require in winter.	Some of the males are addicted to habits of intemperance if they can obtain liquor, or supposed to be obtained from persons who employ them.	Nil	The aborigines meet other tribes at times to fight, and sometimes cripple each other in the contest.

District	Police Station.	Number of Aborigines in Sub-district.								Number of Half castes in Sub-district.								How employed or supported? (Detail as far as practicable.)
		Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.	Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.
		Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.			Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.
Northern.	Lismore	50	30	.	40	30	..	20	170	3	.	..	2	10	15	Principally employed by selectors to fall scrub.
	Inverell	7	9	5	8	29	11	1	15	27	Shepherding and bullock-driving occasionally.
	Glen Innes ..	12	4	..	6	2	..	6	30	3	2	..	2	7	Generally employed on stations and with farmers who find them rations, old and new clothing, in some cases money, for services rendered.
	Grafton	13	4	.	7	3	..	2	29	2	3	Employed by farmers for a few months in the year; the remaining time they are wandering about the town and bush.
	South Grafton	25	12	.	10	7	..	8	71	3	1	1	5	Some as stockmen, but most of them are employed by farmers during several months of the year.
	Drake.....	9	4	..	12	3	1	25	64	1	2	9	12	Those who are not employed by the neighbouring stations support themselves by prospecting for gold, fishing, hunting, &c.
	Dalmorton	7	4	11	1	2	3	6	Gathering honey and burning off timber for farmers.
	Cossmanhurst.	15	3	2	8	2	..	5	35	1	2	1	..	4	8	Cutting wood and drawing water.
	Chatsworth Island	12	8	2	6	4	1	11	44	3	3	6	Employed by Europeans getting firewood and such like, and supported thereby but very poorly.
	Casino.....	...	100	100	..	70	270	12	.	..	12	..	10	34	Nearly all the aborigines are employed on the various cattle stations in the district as stockmen, clearing and burning off timber, &c. The half-castes are similarly employed.
	Clarence Heads	9	6	2	4	4	2	4	31	2	2	Employed by farmers stripping sugar-cane and chopping wood.
	Coraki.....	8	4	1	..	5	18	1	1	2	When employed ring-barking, farm-labouring, bullock-driving, &c., women sometimes perform domestic work for residents.
	Blicks River..	8	3	..	8	18	37	1	1	In harvest they help to collect the crops, they get honey, and sometimes are employed as stockmen, in each or any case they receive but small remuneration.
	Bundarra	7	1	1	2	1	1	..	13	1	1	2	Driving and farming.....
	Ben Lomond..	7	3	.	3	1	..	3	17	1	1	2	Men chiefly employed on stations stock keeping
	Beandemeer...	1	1	1	..	5	8	2	4	7	13	Employed on stations as general servants.
	Ballina.....	12	17	30	59	2	2	Working for the sugar planters ..
	Ashford.....	1	1	1	3	Stockman and general servant ..
	"	1	1	1	Stockman
	"	1	1	1	Stockman
	Armidale	8	9	2	4	9	2	19	54	10	9	1	..	14	34	Those that are willing to work are employed as shepherds, others stock keeping, for Mr. Fletcher, of Wallumambi, and Mr. Hargraves, of Hill Grove; those that are employed get rations, those that are not get rations the best way they can.

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite?	If provided with fishing-boats by Government or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent?	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary; or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing by Government.	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
Not in need	Not provided	No instruction received by aborigines or their children.	Supplied with blankets issue necessary; not misappropriated in any way	Government clothing not necessary.	Yes. Usually receive liquor from publicans.	Attended by Government medical officer.	Nil.
The climate being cold in winter, clothing would be necessary, also tomahawks.	Nil	None	Blankets supplied, which are very necessary.	Yes	The whole number, with the exception of five, liquor usually obtained from bush public-houses. The aborigines will obtain liquor if possible. If publicans are seen supplying them, summons under Licensing Act.	Mrs. Cameron supplies them with medicine when sick. Their main camp is at Mrs. Cameron's, Apple-tree Gully.
Not in need of Government aid. Clothing would be preferable to blankets.	None provided	Nil	They are all supplied with Government blankets if they choose to call for them. In some instances, they have neglected to call for them. A small supply of blankets and clothing would be necessary. Not known to be misappropriated.	Yes, in cases of old age.	Generally addicted to intemperance. The liquor is usually obtained from publicans. On proof of delivery would suggest the publican be heavily fined for the first offence, and that his license be cancelled for a time for a second offence.	When sick they are generally attended to by European friends, but seldom by medical gentlemen.
Not in need of Government aid.	No	No	Yes	Yes, in need of clothing in the winter, particularly the women.	They are addicted to habits of intemperance, and manage to get liquor at the public-houses, brought to them by Europeans.	They are generally attended by Dr. Purdie, the Government Medical Officer for the Graham District.
They are not at present in need of Government aid. They seem very happy and content in their present state.	Not supplied	As far as can be ascertained they do not receive any instruction.	They are supplied with blankets, and there are no accounts of misappropriation.	They are all fairly clothed by the people for whom they work.	They are all more or less addicted to habits of intemperance. The drink is usually obtained from some of the hotels when they come into town. The only mode of suggestion is to inflict the full penalty on any publican found supplying them.	They generally attend on their sick themselves.	The total number on this sheet comprise South Grafton, Ona River, and Kangaroo Creek.
Apparently not in need.	Not provided	No	Supplied	Yes	Not so addicted	By their own race, in whom they appear to have the most confidence.
Yes, in the way of clothing.	Not provided; is necessary.	No	All supplied with Government blankets. Issue now necessary. No instance of misappropriation.	Yes. Would suggest aborigines be supplied with (seal) trousers, shirts, and hats; other clothing would likely be misappropriated.	Aborigines generally addicted to habits of intemperance. Heavy penalty on persons supplying liquor—only suggestion for checking.	Seldom medically attended.
Not necessarily	Not provided	None	Yes. One every 24th May; quite necessary, and not misappropriated.	All appear to be well clad.	At times when money is received by them for labour in lieu of provisions. Usually obtained at public-houses and wine-shops. No other means of checking it only by prosecuting people for supplying them.	By one another	Fishing gear would be of great service to the aborigines here.
A boat and fishing gear would be very requisite here for the blacks, as this sub-district is all composed of islands.	Not provided	Nil	All supplied	Some clothing would be very requisite, as the blacks are almost naked, and the cold of the winter is very severe on them.	Generally addicted to habits of intemperance. Usually supplied by publicans, but very much suppressed of late.	Not medically attended.
From inquiries made, they are not in want of any aid from Government.	Not provided with fishing boats or gear.	Do not receive any instruction.	Supplied with Government blankets. Issue necessary. No complaints of being misappropriated.	Do not appear to require any clothing from the Government.	Yes. Liquor usually obtained at the various public-houses in the district, although every effort is made by the police to stop the practice.	No cases known where they have ever received any medical attendance.	The average number of aborigines and half-castes has been entered on this return, it being impossible to classify them according to their different ages.
Not in need of Government aid at present.	They were supplied with a fishing-boat that had been used by the police a short time ago, but it has since been taken away by them and run down by a steamer.	They have never received any instruction.	They were all supplied with Government blankets last year, but are in need of another issue again.	They are fairly provided with clothing at present by the inhabitants, but more would be necessary.	Not given to habits of intemperance.	Never received any medical attendance.
Not in need	No	No	Yes. Supply necessary. No instance of misappropriation has come under notice.	No	Yes. Liquor obtained from publicans. Since the operation of the new Licensing Act drunkenness has decreased considerably. The most effectual means of checking the sale of liquor to blacks would be the infliction of the full penalty on cases brought before the Bench.	The residents supply medicine when required.	The half-caste child marked in this return is the daughter of the half-caste woman marked in the return. The child is four years old, very intelligent, and almost white.
Yes. Nations would be the most requisite aid.	Not provided	No instruction	Yes. But issue is not sufficient. The children do not get any blankets.	Yes; in most cases.	Yes. They are all fond of liquor. It is supposed that the farmers pay them for working with liquor.	They are purely dependent on the settlers in this case.	Nil.
Poorly clad; require clothing.	None	None	Yes. Not aware of any blankets misappropriated.	Yes	Generally temperate	None	Nil.
Clothes for the women and children for winter which is severe in this district.	None required	None receive education.	Once a year. Issue necessary. Not known to be misappropriated.	Yes	Chiefly all at bush public-houses, and supplied by station-owners with spirit for their labour.	Assisted by each other when sick.	Nil.
Nil	Nil	Nil	One aboriginal, wife, and five children receive Government blankets. Not in need of any yet.	Nil	Nil	Nil.
The yearly supply of blankets is requisite, as they are depending on them.	Not provided	None	All supplied yearly on 24th May, which is necessary. They are not misappropriated.	No	Yes. Mostly get liquor from publicans, occasionally from their employers. A strange constable in private clothes travelling through the district occasionally for the purpose of prosecution might check this abuse.	Their several employers look generally to their little ailments. No medical man has been called to them for the last nine years. No real diseases have been amongst them for that time.	I don't know anything that could better their present condition.
Not in need	No		Not necessary	No	No	No doctor	Fishing gear would be of great service to the aborigines here.
Yes; in the shape of clothing.	Not required in this district.	They receive no instruction.	They receive Government blankets on the 24th May each year, but they complain of being kept from getting them until the 24th May. The winter sets in early, and if the blankets were issued in the month of April it would be much better.	Supply of clothing is very much needed for the winter, as the New England district is very cold during the winter months.	They are all more or less addicted to habits of intemperance when they can obtain liquor. They are seldom seen drunk, and it is very hard to find out who gives it to them. The opinion is that they get it through their employers, and it is impossible to prevent them getting a little.	They are not medically attended. Some of them go to Dr. Shelton who attends them free of charge. They say Government ought to appoint a doctor to attend them and their children, and a doctor was appointed there would not be so many die.	The aborigines are dying very fast. The half-castes who are rather intelligent are very anxious to get a grant of land from the Government, stating they are well able to manage it, but the general opinion is that they are better without it.

District.	Police Station.	Number of Aboriginals in Sub-district.								Number of Half-castes in Sub-district.								How employed, or supported? (Detail as far as practicable.)
		Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.	Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.
		Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.			Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.
Nancoi	Yetman	3	3	..	4	3	..	8	21	The men are chiefly employed as stockmen and horse-breakers, and some of the women as domestic servants.
	Walgett	35	17	3	44	12	..	48	164	7	8	19	31	Nearly all the young men are employed on stations; they generally assist the old ones. The station owners are very good to the aboriginals in this district.
	Wee Waa ..	9	3	..	7	2	..	5	26	6	4	14	21	The majority are employed as shepherds by the squatters in the district.
	Warialda ..	2	4	..	3	4	..	3	16	2	1	1	1	One half-caste, domestic servant.
	Tambar Springs Pilliga	10	4	1	9	3	2	19	48	7	8	6	21	Working on stations
	Narrabri	22	19	5	13	9	4	16	93	11	9	..	7	..	1	29	57	Some as shepherds, ring-barking, and stockmen.
	Meroe	12	8	..	13	4	2	8	47	9	7	14	30	Generally employed and supported on stations as stockmen and general servants.
	Mogil Mogil ..	35	13	9	30	11	8	48	154	9	5	12	26	A number of the younger men are employed on the stations amongst the stock, but the majority of both sexes maintain themselves by catching fish.
	Morco	19	11	..	23	6	..	20	88	2	2	4	About fifteen are employed as shepherds and stockmen; the others are principally supported by station owners.
	Goodooga	44	27	3	66	21	1	87	180	5	2	..	4	17	28	Some employed on stations; the remainder support themselves fishing and hunting.
	Coonabarabran	1	3	..	1	5	4	1	..	5	1	..	11	22	The aboriginals live in camp and are destitute. The half-castes are able to, and do, support themselves at labouring work and shepherding. One family of half-castes have a selection and between 200 and 300 sheep.
	Bingora	5	0	..	3	7	1	13	38	7	5	..	6	10	28	Shepherding, stock-keeping, and destroying marsupials.
	Boggabri	2	1	3	One shepherd, two woodcutters..
	Baradine	3	3	1	3	1	11	3	1	4	Chiefly as shepherds and labourers on surrounding farms and stations, and at bush public-houses.
	Boggabilla	28	18	..	21	8	..	25	100	7	10	9	26	Some employed stock-keeping and supported by the stations.
North-eastern.	Arakoon	10	7	2	10	3	1	20	53	4	3	..	1	4	12	Some of the aboriginals assist the farmers in gathering their maize crop and other odd jobs, but they cannot be persuaded to stop and hire. Three half-castes have cultivated Government ground, and have very full crops of maize. They complain of their white neighbours driving their cattle and horses on to their cultivated ground.
	Boat Harbour	22	17	1	14	11	2	27	94	2	5	7	Employed by settlers in clearing ground and pulling maize.

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite.	If provided with fishing boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent.	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated.	If in need of supply of clothing by Government?	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
The blacks in this district are fairly well off, and are not at present in need of Government aid.	No	Not instructed.	Yes. Issue not misappropriated.	No	The aborigines in this district are not drunkards, although occasionally a black fellow may be seen in the neighbourhood of a public house under the influence of drink. Police, too, use their utmost efforts to detect and bring to justice publicans and others who supply liquor.	Usually by one of their own people, except when they meet with an accident, then they are sent to hospital, or attended by a medical man.	No special information.
The old ones require clothing.	No	No	Yes. Issue necessary, and is in no way misappropriated.	Yes	All adults are addicted to habits of intemperance when they can procure liquor. The Licensing Bench at Wallacet, at their quarterly meeting on the 26th inst., gave the publicans to understand that they were determined to put down the supply of liquor to the aborigines.	No medical attendance.
The old are in need of clothes.	No	One half-caste boy and girl attend the Public School at Wuz Wan. The boy is sent to school regularly by his grandmother, a black woman. The girl is sent by a lady who has adopted her.	Yes. The issue is necessary.	None, except the old	The aborigines, with few exceptions, drink when they can get it. In some cases the publicans supply them when the police are absent, and men who go to the camp take spirits there in bottles.
They all need Government aid — clothes, tea, and sugar.	Not necessary	No	Yes. Supply not misappropriated.	Yes	Yes. Source of supply not known. Police prevent, as far as practicable, their supply by the public.		One man paralytic, unable to walk. His removal to a hospital is necessary. His gun won't allow him to remain in local institution.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Yes. Not misappropriated.	Not required	Yes. Not known how obtained.	Nil.
It is useless giving aid; better let them work for a living. If any of them get a few pounds they soon spend or squander it.	No	Three children — mother aboriginal, father Chinaman — receive instruction at the Narrabri Public School. These children might become good members of society if assisted. Don't know of any other.	They receive a blanket each year.	It would be useless giving clothing.	Some are addicted. In some cases the licensed publicans supply, and in others the lower classes carry it to them.	The doctor in the neighbourhood attends them gratis.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Issue necessary	Nil	Mostly addicted to habits of intemperance, which is generally supplied by the white people.	By their own race	Nil.
Fishing gear and tomahawks would be of great service, both articles being requisite in obtaining their living.	Unprovided	No	Yes, which are very necessary, and appreciated during winter.	Yes; is much needed	Very little intemperance owing to the difficulty in obtaining liquor, but all are addicted to it.	No medical attendance.
Government blankets.	Nil	Nil	Yes. Issue necessary. In no way misappropriated.	No	Yes, but find it very difficult to obtain liquor occasionally from publicans, the police checking this evil as much as possible by prosecution, &c.	Not attended	Nil
Some of the older aborigines are sadly in want of clothes	Nil	Nil	Yes. Issue quite necessary.	Yes; clothing	Yes. Liquor obtained from licensed publicans. Would suggest that heavy penalties be inflicted.	Nil.
Three male and one female aborigines require clothing and rags, as they are too old to provide for themselves. Some of the half-castes think they ought to get blankets	Not required	No	Yes. Issue necessary to some half-castes.	Yes	No	No provision made in this respect. When sick, have known them to be attended by the neighbours about.	The aborigines subsist chiefly upon the charity of the people of the neighbourhood.
Clothing	Not required	None	Yes; one blanket each. Issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes. Warm clothing for women and children in winter.	Yes. Liquor obtained at the bush public-houses. Not practicable to keep a watch on all the bush public-houses, as in some instances they are situated miles from Police Stations.	None; only their own remedies	None.
Nil	No	Nil	Yes. Issue not necessary.	No	No	No report of sickness.	The three blacks seem to be in comfortable circumstances, and are regularly employed.
No	Not provided. No use for them.	No	All who apply are supplied with blankets. No further issue necessary at present. Not misappropriated.	Not at present	Yes. The liquor in most cases bought for them by whites. The only remedy for the evil, in my opinion, is to teach them self-respect, a principle they lack altogether at present.	They seldom or never get medical attendance when sick.	The blacks being rather scarce in this district, it is difficult to form a definite opinion of their intellectual capacity, but, judging from the few employed as police trackers, I should think that, under proper management in any field of industry, they are capable of contributing to the wealth of the country, and of supporting themselves in comfort.
Yes. Unemployed. Provisions.	Nil	Nil	Yes	Yes	Yes. Supposed obtained from publicans and others.	Not medically attended.
Yes. They are very desirous of having a boat at Trial Bay for fishing purposes. The fish could be sold or used for their own consumption. A fishing-net also would be a great boon to them. They say great care would be taken of them, and a house or shed would be built by them. The boat, &c., could be placed under care of police.	No	No	Yes. No further issue necessary this year	Yes. Some are very much in want of clothes, particularly the women. They appear jealous of the Grafton blacks, who they say are provided with clothes by Government.	Yes, when they can obtain liquor. They state when they have money they can obtain grog at Byrnes' (Smithtown), Cannone's (Summer Island), and Salmon's (Spencer's Creek). Idleness is principally the cause of their intemperance. By giving them some Government land to cultivate, and appointing some person who takes an interest in blacks to visit and instruct them what to do. Some seeds also might be given them. Aborigines are very proud of calling a piece of ground their own.	Dr. Gabriel, of Kempsey, they say, supplies them with medicine free when any are sick.	The blacks of this district seem intelligent and most industrious when at work for the settlers. So soon, however, as they get the small amount due to them, when their work is done, they make for a public-house. Aborigines have a great reverence for their king, who can exert great authority over them. Might this attempt not be made through their king of reclaiming some at least from their drunken habits.
No. They can get plenty of work to provide food.	No	No	Yes. Issue necessary, not misappropriated.	Clothing very badly wanted, their nakedness barely covered by old clothes given them	Yes. Liquor in most cases supplied by settlers. Would suggest that a reward be offered for information leading to a conviction.	No medical attendance.	There are a number of black guls between 6 and 14 years if taken from the camps would make useful servants

District.	Police Station.	Number of Aborigines in Sub-district.								Number of Half-castes in Sub-district.								How employed or supported? (Detail as far as practicable.)
		Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.	Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.
		Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.			Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.
North-eastern.	Bullah Delah Bungwall Flat	2	1	3	2	1	3	6	Generally domestically employed
	Coswick Cassilis	2	2	1	1	1	Farmer One employed as tracker at Cassilis Police Station, the other as shepherd for a stockowner; the half-caste by a stockowner, and receiving wages.
	Cooranbong	1	1	1	3	1	2	4	7	The half-castes and the black boy work as labourers, and both women do washing when they can get it.
	Cundletown	3	4	2	4	2	..	6	20	5	4	..	3	2	..	7	21	Blacks not employed regularly; will work sometimes for a week or so, getting firewood or pulling corn. Principally getting honey in bush to sell. Of very indolent habits. Half-castes employed as bushmen, bullock-drivers, stockmen, &c. Supporting themselves and families. Generally good servants; in regular employment
	Dungog	1	1	1	..	1	4	1	1	..	1	8	11	The half-castes work same as Europeans, and educate their children. Aborigines pull corn for farmers, cut firewood, and other work, such as splitting in the bush.
	Forster	8	5	3	4	3	1	12	36	2	1	..	2	15	20	Young men usually employed gathering oysters and boating; rest procuring honey when obtainable; all lead a rambling life, except one half-caste and family.
	Fredericktown	7	4	..	4	2	..	6	22	By farmers
	Gloucester	4	4	7	3	4	2	20	44	2	7	6	15	General labour, growing vegetables, fishing, and cultivating portion of 50 acres of Church and School Lands.
	Gresford	6	..	6	0	..	2	9	32	3	4	7	Getting honey and fishing, sometimes employed by the settlers.
	Gladstone	7	5	..	8	2	..	10	32	3	2	3	8	They occasionally work for the farmers for food and wages. When not employed they live on game and fish.
	Howe's Valley	1	1	General servant
	Kerrabee	3	3	One employed by Government as tracker, one as stockman, by Mr Jas Thompson, of Widdin Creek, one by Mr. Roberts, of Widdin Arm, as stockman.
	Kempsey	47	18	4	40	4	2	38	168	12	3	..	14	6	84	Assisting farmers bullock-driving, but will not stay long in one place; some half-castes are good fencers.
	Lanhton	1	..	1	2	The woman house-keeping, the boy employed fishing.
	West Maitland	..	3	2	5	Follow no employment; supported by charity.
	"	2	2	Labourers
	"	3	3	Domestic servants
East Maitland	1	3	4	Washing occasionally
Merriva	1	4	5	1	2	1	4	Shepherding at Broadly Park Station; two boys boundary-riding
Morpeth	1	1	As labourer, by Mrs. Taylor, Morpeth.
Minni	1	1	Housekeeper for her father a bushman.
Pt. Macquarie	9	17	..	15	4	..	12	57	10	1	..	6	25	42	They are scattered through the district and earn their living chiefly for the settlers, and on wild game they get in the bush by hunting.

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite?	If provided with fishing-boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent?	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing by Government?	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
Not in need	Not provided	Not instructed	Aborigines annually supplied.	No, not supplied	Not addicted	Not known.
No	No	No	Not required	No	Of temperate habits
No	No	No	Two only supplied with blankets.	No	Temperate
The women are in need of rations. They are very industrious, but cannot get work to do, and were it not for the kindness of the neighbours would often be hungry.	Nil	One half-caste girl, aged 11 years, receives instruction at the Public School, Pelican Flat.	Yes	The women are in need of a supply of clothing. One of the women is in very bad health, and states that she caught cold through want of clothing.	The aboriginal boy is addicted to habits of intemperance. It is supposed that he obtains the liquor at the inn, or some person get it there and give it to him.	Nil.
At present not in need of anything, except clothing.	Not provided	No instruction	Yes. Issue not necessary at present. Not aware of any misappropriation.	Yes, in need of suit of clothes each	The aborigines will not drink if the liquor can be obtained, which opportunity they do not get, except at races or other sports, when they have a chance of mixing up with the low class of roughs. The only possible way of preventing this is to offer a reward of £10 to any person that will by information that will convict parties giving black liquor.	By doctor.
None in this sub-district require Government aid.	Not required	None of the aborigines or their children receive instruction. (Children of half-castes do receive instruction from Public School teacher.	Only two supplied with one blanket each, some more would be necessary, as oftentimes they are asked for by others, and not to be got, are not misappropriated.	It would be necessary in the winter-time if each got a strong suit of clothing to keep them warm, as only one blanket each is supplied.	Very much addicted to drink. They get it at public-houses and others. They should not be employed by publicans to cut firewood, or the females act as domestic servants. This would check to a great extent their drinking habits. It is extremely hard for police to detect publicans when supplying them with drink.	No medical attendance. When sick they must get well best way they can.	Half-castes would be considered as useful as Europeans if they got a little learning, or apprenticed as mechanics.
Government aid would be most desirable in the shape of boats, gear, &c.	Not provided. The boats used belong to the oystermen. The half-caste own a boat.	None	Yes. Issue very necessary, not aware of any misappropriation. The half-caste and family receive none.	Yes	Usually temperate, but liquor believed to be obtained when circumstances offer (police supervision, particularly with drunks) by whites.	Unattended professionally. Medicine given them by the whites.
Four males and two females in need of Government aid (as they are very old), by giving them food and clothing.	No	No	Yes. Issue necessary	Yes	Yes. From those they usually work for.	By Dr. Gabriel Kempsey.
Yes. Would suggest agricultural implements, ploughs, spades, and fishing lines.	Not required	Three attend the Barrington Public School, and others are going to attend. S. H. Forman, Public School Teacher.	Yes. Issue necessary; they are not misappropriated.	Yes. Supplied last year through Mr. Gorrick, no arrangements about any this year.	Fairly temperate, above the average of their race, five convicted for drunkenness during last three years, also two convictions against publicans.	No provision made.	All in good health.
Two of the old people are blind and infirm and need food and clothing.	Not required	No	Yes. Issue necessary, and in no way misappropriated.	Yes	Some are, but now are unable to obtain liquor.	Dr. Park	An old man Jackey has lost the use of his legs for some time, is blind and in a very miserable state.
Two female blacks and one male in need of aid because they are not able to work for their living.	No	No	Yes. Issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes, very much, they would be naked, only for the goodness of the public giving them their cast-off clothes.	Yes. Whenever they can obtain liquor they generally obtained from those who employ them.	By Dr. Gabriel Kempsey.	In consequence of their character and disposition for removing from place to place, no good permanently can be done, they each of them would be better of a suit of clothes yearly.
Not in need of aid	Nil	No	Not necessary	No	Not addicted	Nil	Aboriginal race died out in this district.
No					No
A few are in want of clothing; those who are infirm.	Not required	No. Except at Town Creek, Upper Macleay River, Mr. Thompson, J.P. instructs the blacks on his station to read and figure.	Yes. Issue necessary, one person arrested by Police and brought before the Bench for purchasing blankets from them.	Yes. The old and infirm.	Yes. Will work more willingly for persons who supply them with liquor. A good reward on conviction would help to check their being supplied with liquor.	Yes. Dr. Gabriel is very attentive and often rides 40 or 50 miles to attend them when sick.	The race is degenerating every year, some of the women are very loose in their morals, and in some cases they are suffering from its consequences.
They are in no need at present, but they possess no homestead of their own.	No	The boy has been receiving instruction from Mr. Cummins, Lake Macquarie. He is able to read and write fairly.	Yes. Need a fresh supply.	Yes. Woman needs under clothing.	The woman drinks to excess occasionally. I cannot ascertain where she obtains it, there appears no practicable means of effectually stopping it. The boy is of sober habits.	By district doctors at expense of employers.	None.
Some provisions such as bread, tea, and sugar required at stated times.	Not required	Have no children. No instruction given.	Yes. Not been misappropriated.	Clothing now necessary.	Yes. Which is generally got at public-houses. Present Act if enforced will check the evil.	At Maitland Hospital
No	No		No	No	Temperate	Do.
No	No		No	No	Temperate	Do.
Yes; clothing for self and children.		No	Yes, three blankets	Yes	No	Was received into Benevolent Asylum
Not in need	No	Does not attend school.	No blankets issued not necessary.	No	No	Don't know; never heard of sickness in this family.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil	F. Nabby, chemist, Morpeth.
No	No	No	No	Not required	No	Provided by her father.	No.
They are in no further need than blankets and clothing, as they get their own living.	Nil	Nil	Yes. Issue necessary and not misappropriated.	Yes, very much	Yes, when they can get it, but are checked by the Police. They usually obtain the liquor at the public-house and wine-shops. It would also be a check on them if there was a reward offered to persons that would inform on parties supplying them with drink.	When they are sick the Police report the matter.

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite.	If provided with fishing-boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for, also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent?	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing by Government?	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
A fishing-boat and gear would be very useful, as the river teems with fish and there is ready sale for them.	Not provided	No	Yes. Necessary. Aborigines blankets are in possession of whites.	Old aborigines need clothing as the winter here is generally cold.	Yes. From publicans, farmers, and others; by fixing a substantial penalty the practice could be checked.	Dr Gabriel, of Kempsey, appointed by the Government.	The aborigines in this district would barter whatever property they possess for alcohol, and it is desirable to prevent whites from buying the aborigines clothing and blankets. Some of the female aborigines live with white bushmen, their children will become a very undesirable class of people, inheriting as they no doubt will the worst of the white man's vices from their fathers and the aborigines' cunning and low morals from their mother.
Some light American axes would be of great benefit to them.	No	None receiving instruction.	Yes. Not misappropriated.	Yes. Warm clothing.	At times they are given to intemperance. Drink is usually obtained by the lower order of Europeans at the nearest public-house.	Receive no medical attendance.
Yes. All want blankets. They do not want clothing at all. Their earnings would be sufficient to provide these necessities, but they misappropriate them, with the exception of the one over 60, who is too old to work.	No	None	None this year yet	Yes	It is the general opinion that they are all supplied by publicans on the quiet, or through their servants, but it is difficult to catch them.	No medical attendant appointed for the aborigines of this district. Dr Creed has prescribed gratuitously for them on one or two occasions.
An occasional supply of bread, tea, and sugar would be a benefit to them.	No	Receive no instruction.	Yes. Issue necessary. Do not appear to misappropriate them.	Yes	As a rule they are moderately temperate in this district.	Not aware of any application for medical attendance.
Yes. By providing them with proper means of subsistence.	No	No	Issue of blankets necessary.	Yes	Yes. But not rarely supplied with drink, in consequence of being constantly employed in the bush by settlers. The only way to check it is to inflict a much heavier penalty upon persons who supply them.	By doctors; but none are appointed by Government to attend them.	If by any means publicans and others could be prevented from supplying the aborigines with liquor, they would, when supplied with clothing, blankets, &c., be brought back from the vagrant habits they are so accustomed to, and be made comfortable and industrious. In consequence of their character and disposition for roaming from place to place frequently, no good permanently can be done there; they must have their own foothold. The blankets should be issued to them on 1st of April instead of 24th May, because the cold weather sets in about 1st April, and the old blankets are generally worn out before they get the new ones, through their own neglect; also each of them should get a suit of clothes yearly.
Six male blacks in need of aid because of infirmity—one a cripple; one suffering from cancer in face; four unable to find their own living through age and infirmity.	No	No	Yes. Issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes; very much. They would be naked only for the goodness of the public in giving them their cast-off clothes.	Yes; whenever they can get it. Liquor occasionally obtained from those who employ them. To check this a fine of £50 or six months in goal absolutely necessary, or a reward sufficient to induce civilians to inform on offenders.	By a doctor. No medical man appointed to attend the aborigines in this district.
They require two more boats with gear, also fishing lines; and a supply of American axes would be very useful to them when employed honey-getting.	They have been supplied with one boat by the Government, which now requires painting, it is in good condition otherwise it is used by them when moving from one part of the district to the other.	None	Yes. Are very necessary. They are not misappropriated. It has been the custom for this to be supplied with blankets at Baulah Delah, a distance of 27 miles from where they are usually. If they could be supplied with them from the Tea Gardens instead, it would be much better.	A supply of warm clothing for the cold weather would be a great benefit to them.	Some of them are very intemperate in their habits. After disposing of the honey they obtain, they sometimes get the Europeans of the lower class to purchase liquor for them from the publicans.	They do not receive any medical attendance whatever when sick.	Some of the half-caste children look very intelligent, and, if taken away from the aborigines and educated, would no doubt become useful members of society.
Nil	Not required	The child receives instruction from Mr Walsh, Public School teacher, Wallisend.	Not necessary	No	No	The adult provides by his savings; the female by her master.	Not known.
Not in need	Nil	Nil	Nil	No	No	Nil	All the aborigines died out in this district.
None except that mentioned in this report.	No	Two half-caste children are going to a Public School.	Yes. Issue necessary, and insufficient. Not known to be misappropriated.	Yes. A suit of clothes each badly required. They would be naked only for the charity of the settlers and others supplying them with cast-off clothing.	Yes. They occasionally get liquor from people who employ them. A heavy fine and long imprisonment would most likely check this offence.	No medical man appointed to attend the aborigines in this district, and no hospital where they can obtain medical treatment. Frequently they receive medical aid free of charge.	In consequence of their instability of character and roving disposition, they will seldom remain long in any one employment or place, preferring short engagements. Any endeavour to promote their spiritual or temporal welfare is next to hopeless, but something might be done to make their lives more comfortable by temporary relief being afforded them when necessary. Blankets should be issued on 1st April instead of 24th May, and a suit of clothing each at the same time.
They do not appear to be in want of Government aid other than blankets.	No	No	Yes. Very necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes	No	Not attended.
No	Not required.	No	Yes. Not misappropriated.	No	No	Not known.
No	Nil	Nil	Nil	No	No	Attend themselves.
No	No	No	No	No	No	Same as Europeans.	A reserve of 20 acres has been made by Government for this couple.
The three old people are urgently in need of aid, all of them being too old even to move about to beg. The others all are able to get their living. A daily ration for the old people is most requisite.	Nil	Nil	Yes; issue necessary, not misappropriated. A blanket each should be given to the half-caste children.	No	Nearly all the liquor is procured by the intervention of a third party, by which the publican supplying it escapes punishment.	No provision made.
No	No	No	Yes. Yes. No	No	No	No idea	Nil.

District.	Police Station.	Number of Aborigines in Sub-district.								Number of Half-castes in Sub-district.								How employed, or supported? (Detail as far as practicable)
		Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.	Men.—Ages.			Women.—Ages.			Children.	Total.
		Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.			Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.	Between 20 & 40 years.	Between 40 & 60 years.	Over 60 years.
Western.	O'Connell's Plains.
	Marsden	1	1	6	8	6	1	..	3	13	23	Four boundary-riding; two fencing; one police tracker; one labourer.
	Mount M'Donald.
	Molong	7	1	..	2	1	..	7	18	1	1	..	1	8	11	Shepherding and station work ..
	Miss Magee ..	2	2	4	1	1	1	3	Aborigines unemployed; half-castes on stations.
	Mudgee	1	1	Police tracker
	Mundoonan....	1	..	1	2	..	4	1	1	..	1	9	12	Shepherding, with the exception of the younger children and the two old aboriginal women, who are too old to shepherd.
	Louth	26	3	..	32	1	..	37	99	2	17	19	Some on stations; others live in their native state in the bush.
	Lithgow.....
	Ilford	1	1	2	On the charity of the inhabitants.
	Hartley	3	5	..	4	5	..	14	31	2	2	..	6	8	18	Shepherding, labouring, and honey-solling.
	Hargraves....	1	7	8	Married to a Chinaman
	Grenfell	1	1	..	1	1	4	8	4	1	..	2	14	21	Black and half-caste men are employed as shepherds; one black woman, aged over 60, and one child live on charity.
	Gongolgon ..	10	6	2	12	2	..	4	36	2	1	3	6	Stockmen and laundresses
	Gulgong.....	2	1	7	10	1	2	5	8	Men, shepherding; women, domestic duties.
	Forbes	14	13	1	9	2	..	28	62	1 police tracker, 6 domestic servants, 3 wood-cutters, 3 station hands, 3 killing kangaroos, 1 blind, 5 shepherding, 1 labourer, 10 wild life, 23 children.
	Eugowra.....	1	1	2	1	..	1	1	7	10	All are earning wages
	Hill End	2	1	3	1	1	Boundary-rider; shepherd. Half-caste, domestic servant
	Eringonia	10	4	..	11	4	..	12	41	2	5	13	20	On the different stations
	Dumge	1	3	4	3	8	Aboriginal man as tracker, children as servants; half-castes as servants.
	Dubbo	138	81	15	90	41	16	117	497	42	10	2	33	18	..	139	244	On stations in various ways; old men, women, and children live in bush.
	Condobolin ..	25	16	5	30	10	2	20	108	15	10	12	37	On stations
	Stoney Creek.	1	1	Laundress married to European ..
	Canowindra
	Cudal
	Cowra	1	1	2	3	1	..	2	13	19	Males employed on stations as boundary-riders, one half-caste woman married to a white man, other living with a white man
	Carcoar
	Trunkay Creek
	Cobar	9	1	..	4	1	15	2	2	1 as tracker, 4 by butchers, others looking after stock.
	Coolah	1	1	2	4	4	4	6	14	Boundary-riding, shepherding, and general bush work.
	Blayney
	Bourke	56	20	4	40	8	..	46	174	38	4	..	14	28	84	The half-castes and young aborigines are employed on stations; the old blacks and children support themselves by fishing and hunting.
	Brewarrina ..	26	17	2	32	23	3	43	151	4	1	..	3	16	24	On stations mustering stock, cutting firewood, drawing water, &c.; old men and women live on charity.
	Bathurst	1	5	..	2	2	..	2	12	1	1	8	5	The men and 1 woman shepherding; one Police tracker; half-caste man fencing; woman married to a white man; children cared for by general people.

If in need of Government aid, why? and in what shape most requisite.	If provided with fishing-boats by Government, or otherwise? If so, condition of boats and gear, and whether properly cared for; also, what subsistence earned thereby.	If any of the Aborigines or their children receive instruction? If so, from whom, and to what extent?	If all supplied with Government blankets? If issue necessary, or in any way misappropriated?	If in need of supply of clothing by Government?	If addicted to habits of intemperance? If so, where liquor usually obtained by them, and suggestions for checking, if practicable.	How medically attended when sick?	Any special information regarding race, likely to be of use and interest in considering their condition.
Some land for married people.	No	No	Yes Yes No	No	Yes. From public-houses and shanties. Heavier penalty on publicans and shanty keepers	Very seldom.	Education.
Nil	Not required	No	Yes	No	Yes; supplied by publicans clandestinely.	Gratuitously	No.
No	Not required	Nil	Yes; not misappropriated.	No	Yes; usually obtained from the local hotels.	No medical attendance.	Government doctor.
No The two old women are in need of aid in the shape of clothing, food, &c., being too old to earn a living.	No Nil	Nil Nil	Yes Some are; some not. Issue necessary.	No Yes	No Yes, when they can get liquor, which is usually supplied from public-houses.	Nil	Nil
Yes; clothing	No	No	No blankets here. Greatly needed.	Most of the blacks in this district are completely naked, and are greatly in need of clothing	Yes; as a rule obtained from swagmen. Police here check it when practicable.	No medical attendance available.	None.
Yes; food	Nil	Nil	Yes	Yes	Yes. Very hard for the police to find out who supplies them.	By themselves.
No	Not required	None	Yes. Yes. No	No	Mostly temperate	No medical aid	None.
		Three of their children were sent to Biloela, and they have four more at home, two of which attend the Public School at Windeyer.	No	No	She is a most inveterate drunkard.
Women and child require food and clothing; the rest clothing.	No	No	Yes; issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes	No	Not attended by a medical man.	Nil.
No	No. Much required	No	Yes	No	With rare exceptions all are. The liquor is often obtained for them by low characters for immoral purposes.	By their employer	If the aborigines of this part of New South Wales were supplied with boats and nets, as they are in some parts, it would tend to regulate their intemperate habits.
No	Nil	Nil	Yes; issue necessary.	The aborigines are in need of clothing.	Not so far as is known to the police.	Not known to be sick.	If practicable it would be well to reserve some of the best fishing grounds along the bay and river banks for the aborigines
No	Not	No	Yes. Issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes	Not many cases of intemperance.	From the whites.
No	No	No	Yes	No	No	Doctor
No	No	No	None supplied	No	Slightly. At public-houses.	No medical attendance.
Nil	Nil	Nil	Not all; issue necessary.	Nil	Yes. Liquor obtained at bush public-houses.	Nil.
No	No	No: Mr. Anderson is educating 2 half-caste children.	No	Yes	No	Never sick	No.
Yes; food and clothing for the old and children.	No	None, except two, one at Gubelon by Mr. Gardner's tutor, the other at the R. C. Deaminational school.	Yes. Issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes; women, children, and the old.	Yes. From public-houses and low whites.	By themselves	Some rough huts should be erected for them.
	Nil	None	Yes. Yes. No	No	Yes. Public-houses and shanties.	Nil	Education.
No	Nil	No	No	No	No	Medical man	None.
No	No	No, the children belonging to the married half-caste woman attend school, the other woman's does not	Yes. Issue necessary.	No	No	By a medical man.
Not in need	Not required	Nil	Yes	No	Yes	Badly.
Appear to be very well provided for and not in need of Government aid	Not required	No	Yes. Issue necessary. Not aware of them being misappropriated.	No	Cannot say they are given to drink.	Never knew any to be sick.
Not in need	No	No	Yes. Issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	No	Yes. Obtain liquor from various persons.	Not.
Greatly in need of food and clothing.	Not required	No	Yes. Issue necessary. Not misappropriated.	Yes. Clothing	Yes. Procured by women of the lower class of whites. No suggestion.	They receive no medical attendance. A great number are suffering from venereal disease, over which they have no control.
No	Not required	No	Yes. Issue very necessary. Not misappropriated. require blankets twice a year.	No	In most cases the women are sober and well behaved.	Bathurst Hospital.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PROTECTION OF THE ABORIGINES.

(MINUTE OF COLONIAL SECRETARY, TOGETHER WITH REPORTS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 2 March, 1883.

Minute of Colonial Secretary.

26 February, 1883.

HAVING carefully read the two reports by the Protector, the various letters and articles which have appeared in the newspapers on the La Perouse blacks, and the report of Messrs. King and Fosbery on the Warangesda and Maloga Mission Stations, the opinion which I formerly held is confirmed, viz., that much more must be done than has yet been done for the Aborigines before there can be any national feeling of satisfaction that the Colony has done its duty by the remnant of the aboriginal race. It has been too generally assumed that that duty has been liberally fulfilled by the annual distribution of a certain number of blankets or a few articles of clothing, by giving now and then a boat or some fishing tackle, or by the relief on special occasion to cases of starvation and disease.

A more systematic and enlightened treatment of the Aborigines, however, appears to be necessary if we either desire to extend towards them any of the blessings of civilization or to feel that we have done our duty as a nation in regard to them.

A movement in the right direction was taken by the late Administration when a Protector to the Aborigines was appointed; and a further step in advance was made when the police collected the valuable information published by Mr. Thornton's instructions on 12th September last, showing the number of Aborigines in the Colony (which appears to be about 9,000), in what districts they are situated, and to what extent they are usefully occupied, or in what degree they sustain themselves by work, either regular or occasional.

Praiseworthy as these efforts are, I am constrained to think that they are insufficient for the purpose. To ensure efficiency in itself, and to make it satisfactory to the public, it seems to me that the Protectorate should not be in the hands of one person only, however able and zealous he may be, but should reside in a Board composed partly of officials and partly of gentlemen who have taken an interest in the blacks, have made themselves acquainted with their habits, and are animated by a desire to assist in raising them from their present degraded condition.

Inasmuch as some portion of the work to be done lies beyond the province of the State, and yet must run side by side with aid from the public funds, advantage should, without distinction of creed, be taken of any movement dictated or impelled by the benevolent or religious instincts of individuals or Societies working in the same direction. Such, for instance, as the Society for the Protection of the Aborigines, which should be aided on some recognized scale in proportion to the funds voluntarily raised, as well as by grants of land when necessary on which to locate the blacks. This view was taken by Sir John Robertson when acting for my predecessor, and he then promised to supplement the voluntary efforts of the Society and the missions which are befriended by it. A grant of land was made to certain Trustees for Warangesda, but no amount of money seems to have been proposed to or voted by Parliament for the purpose; the promise made will now be redeemed by the sum on the Estimates for the present year. My predecessor gave £200 for the Maloga Station, which appears on the Supplementary Estimates, and I have now given an equal amount to Warangesda, anticipatory of the above vote.

In districts to which that Society or others of kindred spirit have not as yet directed their attention grants of suitable land might be made, and stations formed to which the blacks might resort, even though their residence may only be fitful, to receive instruction in useful employments; such stations might be made partially self-supporting, the Aborigines taught various branches of useful practical knowledge, the children—especially the half-castes—receive school instruction, and the aged, sick, and infirm find a resting-place with some degree of comfort and attention. While I would not altogether shut out the idea of purely Government stations where necessary, I cannot say that I am very favourable to them. I believe it to be a sounder principle to encourage benevolent effort in this matter; it should, however, be always kept in mind that all aid should be given in such a way as to discourage idleness and promote habits of useful work. It may be difficult to accomplish, but ought ever to be aimed at—the young to be educated, the sick, aged, and infirm to be supported, and the strong, active, and healthy to be engaged in useful work and encouraged in self-sustaining efforts; at the present time, for instance, it is worthy of consideration whether many of them could not be made useful in the extirpation of the rabbit pest.

I do not here enter into the discussion as to the extent of mental or moral culture to which the Aborigines are capable of being trained. It is sufficient that in one or two instances a marked progress has been developed. (See, for instance, the fac-simile of an aboriginal female's letter in Brough Smyth's "Aborigines of Victoria," vol. II, page 260; also the Victorian Protector's reports for the past three years, the reports of the Moravian Station in South Australia, and other sources.) It thus appears that the fact has been proved sufficiently to prevent us from sheltering ourselves from our duty under the plea that it is impossible to reclaim them from their nomadic habits, or from their ignorant superstition and degraded condition.

It seems to me therefore to be the duty of the State to assist in any effort which is being made for the elevation of the race, by affording rudimentary instruction, and by aiding in the cost of maintenance or clothing where necessary, as well as by grants of land, gifts of boats, or implements of industrial work.

The

The mode of doing it, and the extent to which it should be done, are much more difficult problems than to decide in general terms that it should be done. It is for this reason that I strongly advocate a Board of Protection in preference to a single Protector. It should be a special instruction to such Board that, while it aids usefully benevolent efforts and deals liberally in cases of hardship or suffering, it must carefully guard the funds with which it may be entrusted from the abuse which might attend lax management or unwise and unnecessary deportation of blacks from districts where there may be a reasonable prospect of their obtaining work to others where, being strangers, they become either too dependent on charity or lapse into habits of idleness.

After much consideration of the whole question, I submit to my Colleagues that it is desirable—

1. To appoint a Board of Protection to the Aborigines, consisting of from five to seven persons.
2. To place at the disposal of the Board such sum as Parliament may annually vote, to be expended at the discretion of the Board, partly in supplement of funds raised by private benevolence and expended by voluntary Associations, and partly in direct support of Government stations; also the distribution of blankets and clothing, which is now made from the Store Department through the Benches of Magistrates or otherwise, and the administration of any other aid which is given to the Aborigines.
3. That the Board be subject to the control of the Colonial Secretary, and render to him an annual report of their proceedings to be laid before Parliament.
4. That an office and services of a Secretary be placed at the disposal of the Board, and that the expense of visiting the stations or other abodes of the Aborigines, in pursuance of the work hereby entrusted to them, be a charge upon the funds.
5. Police Magistrates or gentlemen who take an interest in the Aborigines may be invited to act as District Agents for the Board, with the view of checking or reporting abuses or of bringing under notice cases which merit relief at the hands of the Board.

I have thus endeavoured to sketch the outlines of a system which, when details are supplied by the experience and observation of the Board, will I think tend to the amelioration of the Aborigines, and in some degree remove the national stigma now resting upon the community for the almost total neglect of the race.

ALEX. STUART.

Approved by Cabinet.—A.S.

REPORT UPON ABORIGINAL MISSION STATION AT MALOGA, MURRAY RIVER.

The Secretary of the Association for the Protection of Aborigines of New South Wales to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Rosedale, Burwood, 23 February, 1880.

I have the honor, by instruction from the Association for the Protection of Aborigines of New South Wales, to invite your attention to the following statement in reference to the Aboriginal Mission Station at Maloga, on the Murray River.

This mission has now been in operation for five (5) years, having been first started by the voluntary and unassisted action of Mr. and Mrs. D. Matthews, in June, 1874. During this period the Government at various times has expended a total sum of £600 in the maintenance of the blacks in this district, and £1,057 has been remitted to Mr. Matthews by the general public. By the careful use of this money Mr. Matthews has been enabled to gather together, and gain the confidence of, the tribes known as the Moira and Ulupna Blacks, to the number of sixty (60), and to train and educate about forty (40) of them. Many of these are now fully conversant with the ordinary rudiments of an English education, and carry on written correspondence with their friends.

The destruction of fish and game by the settlers has reduced the supply so much that the blacks are unable to procure a sufficient quantity of food, and are at times almost famished for days together. Pulmonary and other diseases, some of them resulting from intercourse with vicious whites, are common, and the old and infirm blacks are in a deplorable state.

It is found that the amount contributed by the Government and by private aid is inadequate to feed and clothe the number who have placed themselves under Mr. Matthews' care; and great difficulty has been found in obtaining suitable work for those who are willing and competent to labour, as, were Mr. Matthews to employ them on his own property his motives would be liable to misconstruction.

The young children also require to be trained to habits of industry, and already eleven marriages have been legally performed amongst those who have reached adult age while connected with the mission. Homes are required for all of these, as it is their desire to settle down to civilized life.

The Association, therefore, feel justified, in view of the success which has attended Mr. Matthews' efforts, in suggesting the urgent need which exists for an area of land to be reserved for these people. It is estimated that at least 5,000 acres will be requisite, of which 1,000 acres should be adapted to agricultural pursuits.

It is also estimated that for the present an annual grant of £500 will be required to supply the people with food and clothing; but Mr. Matthews feels confident that in the course of a few years the Station could be made self-supporting, as many of the young married people are available for labour at once, and the children now being taught will be trained to more regular habits of industry.

It is proposed to require from every adult black a certain minimum of labour as an equivalent for the rations supplied, such labour to be directed to the general improvement of the reserve; the proceeds of labour above this minimum to be applied for the individual benefit of the worker, partly in the cultivation of the plots set apart for each family, and in other ways at the discretion of the Manager.

The old and infirm blacks would need entire support.

Somewhat similar provision has been made for the blacks in Victoria, South Australia, and Queensland; and the Association will have the benefit of the experience of these Colonies to assist in avoiding causes of failure, while their successes will point to the proper courses to be adopted here.

The Association further suggest that the land reserved should be vested in the hands of Trustees, the gentlemen selected being such as have shown an interest in the welfare of the Aborigines; and when the need for such reserve ceases they can again revert to the Crown.

The Appendices afford information on the following points:—

1. Abstract of receipt and expenditure.
2. Schedule containing names of blacks and other personal information.
3. Copy of the roll showing attendance of blacks.
4. Names of blacks whose labour would be at once available.
5. Committee of the Association.

I have, &c.,
ED. G. W. PALMER,
Hon. Secretary, Aborigines Protection Association.

APPENDIX No. 1.

Malaga Aboriginal Mission Station. - Abstract of Income and Expenditure.

1874-75 (ending March 31st)—Receipts, £90. Expenditure, £90
Between 1875 and 1876 we were compelled to give up, as the old blacks and several white people removed the young people.
1876-77 (ending March 31st)—Receipts, £275. Government grant, 1876, £400. Expenditure, £675.
1877-78—Receipts, £250. Expenditure, £404.
1878-79— " £402. " £252.
1879— " £287. " £276. Government grant in 1879, £200. Expenditure, £200.

APPENDIX No. 2.

LIST of names of Aborigines who usually or permanently reside at the Malaga Mission Station.

No.	Date of Admission.	Name.	Colour.	Age.	Remarks.
1874.
1	26 July	Lizzio Barber	Half-caste	21	Away at present.
2		Franky Barber	Quadroon	6	Attending school.
3		Sarah Walker	Black	21	"
4		Herbert Walker	Half-caste	6	"
5	4 August	Kitty Cooper	Black	45	In camp; absent.
6		Jacky Wilberforce	Half-caste	13	Attending school.
7		Ada Wilberforce		11	"
8		Bobby Wilberforce		15	"
1876.
9	13 October	Madha Stuckey	Black	21
10	25 October	Susannah Crow		22	Away at present.
11	29 October	Bagot Morgan	Half-caste	23	Sometimes at work.
12	27 November	Dan Crow	Black	26	Away at present.
13	11 December	Harriet Brown	Half-caste	17	Attending school.
14		Billy Russell		19	Away at present.
15		Willie Atkinson	Quadroon	8	Attending school.
16		Freddy Walker	Black	25	Sometimes at work.
1877.
17	4 January	Peter Stuckey	Half-caste	27	At school; sick.
18	19 January	Joseph Daylight Darling		12	Attending school.
19	13 February	Aaron Atkinson		23	Sometimes at work.
20		Louisa Atkinson		21	Attending school.
21		Henry Atkinson	Quadroon	5	"
22		Minnie Atkinson	Half-caste	3½	"
23	25 March	Jimmy Turner		21	Sometimes at work.
24	13 June	Lizzie Morgan		18	Attending school.
25	25 July	Sandy	Black	35	In camp; absent.
26		Annie Clareudon Murri	Half-caste	12	Attending school.
27		Maggie Murri		10	"
28		Bertha Murri		8	"
29		Annabella Howard		26	Cooking for Mission.
30		Gertrude Vincent	Quadroon	4	Attending school.
31		George Howard	Black	25	Sometimes at work.
32		Loucy Turner		13	Attending school.
33		Nellie Howard		17	"
1877.
34	25 July	Dick Westall	Half-caste	12	Away at present.
35	30 July	Ned	Black	40	In camp; absent.
36		Maggie		28	"
37		Edward		40	In camp; present.
38		Matilda		35	"
39		Boney		55	In camp; absent.
40		Johnny		65	"
41		Micky		65	"
42		Charcoal		28	"
43		Eilen		30	"
44	18 September	Nanny		65	"
45		Company Howard		9	Attending school.
46	28 October	Johnny Atkinson	Half-caste	26	Away at present.
47	23 November	Edgar		19	Dismissed for immorality.
1878.
48	1 August	Samson Barber	Black	23	Away at present.
49		Mande Barber	Quadroon	3	"
1879.
50	30 May	Eddie Vincent	Quadroon	11	Attending school.
51		Susie	Black	35	"
52		Ronald	Half-caste	14	"
53		Archie		12	"
54		Eddy		10	"
55		Rosie		8	"
56		Alice		5	"
57		Eliza Nelson	Black	21	"
58		Harry Nelson	Half-caste	5	"
59		Robert	Black	18	"
60		Martin Simpson		22	Away at present.
61		Matilda Simpson		30	"
62		Alexander Turner	Half-caste	Inf.	Born, 8/9/78.

APPENDIX No. 2—continued.

No.	Date of Admission.	Name.	Colour.	Age.	Remarks.
63	Florence Atkinson	Inf.	Born, 16/9/78.
64	Nanny (2)	Black	48	In camp; absent.
65	Gracey	52
66	Cocky	28	Away at present.
67	Kubbi	30
68	Tilly	48	In camp; absent.
69	Sydney
70	Georgey
71	Anny
72	Alec Hope
78	Andrew
74	Albert

Average attendance for the past four weeks at morning and afternoon day school is as follows:—Males, 18; females, 20; total, 38.

Average attendance at morning and evening prayers for the past four weeks is as follows:—Males, 20; females, 22; total, 42.

Sabbath services:—Males, 20; females, 22; total, 42.

APPENDIX No. 3.

Malaga Aboriginal Mission Station.—Attendance Roll.—Morning and Evening Prayers and Sunday Services, 1879-80.

No.	Names	May	June	July	August	September	October	November	December	January.
1	Aaron Atkinson.....	41	39 W.	33	51 E.	6	29	46	38	10
2	Louisa Atkinson	41 E.	40	21	7, Bondigo Hospital.	16	57	38 2s.	At Bendigo Hospital.	14
3	George Howard	43	39	sick	sick
4	Annabella Howard	44	53	7 days s.	54	42	60	60 s.	30	51
5	Bagot Morgan	36	44	53	48 2s.	34	20 s.s.	11	46	22
6	Lizzie Morgan	44	56	62	55	54	61	59	51	29
7	Johnny Turner	41	43	48	39	36	41	62	62	Moira Lakes.
8	Louey Turner.....	38	30	9
9	Peter Stuckey.....	42	52	39 D.	40	shearing 1	24	55	42	23
10	Martha Stuckey.....	40	53	49 D.	48	37	33	61	48 sick	26
11	Samson Barber	34	3	26	37	6 Wyuna	3 Wyuna	3	5 Moira Lakes.
12	Lizzio Barber.....	27	11	34	48	26	3	3	6
13	Johnny Atkinson	44	40	1	Dismissed for 3 months	5	45	55	campg. 8
14	Bobby Wilberforce	43	56	51	57	15	31	28	8
15	Jackey Wilberforce	44	56	62	61	42	3	53	55	7
16	Joseph Daylight Darling	44	56	62	62	57	17	62	51	25
17	Harriet Brown	44	56	62	62	59	62	56	55	campg. 9
18	Nellie Howard	44	56	62	62	59	61	62	62	29
19	Dora Company Howard	44	56	62	59	36	50 sick	56	51	27
20	Annie Clarendon Murri	44	56	62	61	62	62	29
21	Maggie Murri.....	44	56	62	62	60	62	62	62	29
22	Bertha Murri.....	44	56	62	62	60	62	62	62	29
23	Ada Wilberforce	44	56	62	59	58	60	62	62	17 Lake
24	Willie Atkinson	44	56	62	62	60	62	62	60	29
25	Minnie Atkinson	44	56	62	49	49	49	55	39	21
26	Florence Atkinson.....	41	46	61	43	36	49	37	18	11
27	Gertrude Vincent	36 2 s.	56	51 5 s.	56	55	53	51 s.	62	10 Lakes
28	Franky Barber	44	56	62	53	55	58	62	62	10
29	Maudie Barber	44	56	56	52	53	25	46	62	10
30	Henry Atkinson	30	2	18	62	59	60	62	59	27
31	Alec Turner	43	44	48	49	54	27 sick	deceased.
32	Herbert Walker.....	42	58	62	42	60	62	57	56	camp. 8
33	Eliza Nelson	3	58	62	62	60	62	62	62	28
34	Henry Nelson.....	3	58	62	62	60	62	62	62	28
35	Susie	3	58	62	61	57	51	58	62	28
36	Ronald	3	58	62	62	3 shearing	38	62	62	29
37	Archie	3	58	62	62	3	38	62	62	29
38	Eddy	3	58	62	62	60	62	62	62	29
39	Rosie	3	58	62	62	60	62	62	62	29
40	Alice	3	58	62	62	60	62	62	62	29
41	Freddy Walker	3	45 sick	46	24	20	37	39	20	camp. 3
42	Sarah Walker.....	3	55	31	27	19	57	52	49 3 s.	8
43	Eddie Vincent	14	58	62 s. 11	62	60	62	62	62	29
44	Robert Kenedy	3	58	62	58	2 shearing	38	48	57	23
45	Susannah Crow	51	54	60	41	16	36 gone to	Gerilderie
46	Edward Walker.....	1 campg.	6 campg.	3	camping	camping	camping	at Moira	Lakes
47	Matilda Walker	camping	2 campg.	camping	camping	camping	1 campg.
48	Johnny	camping	camping	3 campg.
49	Micky	camping	4	2	camping	Died at
50	Boney	2	1	8	Moira Lakes,
51	Neil	4	2	4	Dec. 24.

APPENDIX No. 3—continued.

No	Names.	May	June.	July.	August.	September	October.	November.	December.	January.
52	Maggie	camping	camping	4
53	Charcoal	4	4 campg.	11	camping
54	Ellen	5	2	3	"
55	Nanny	1	camping	4
56	Nanny Walicha	1	2	7
57	Gracey	1 campg.	1	4
58	Kitty	camping	8	4 campg.	3 campg.	4 campg.	3 campg.	Moira Lks.
59	Martin Simpson	10	1	2 Wyuna	1 Wyuna	1 Wyuna
60	Matilda Simpson	5	camping	2	5 campg.	11 camp.	1	1
61	Cocky	11	3 campg.	8 campg.	Moira Lks.
62	Kubbi	11	camping	1 campg.	5
63	Tilly	5	camping	4	11 camp.
64	James Sydney Valentine	35	62	60	62	62	62	15
65	Georgy	30	62	60	62	62	62	15
66	Monkey	1 camp.	3 camp.
67	Betsy	2	4
68	Sandy	17	10	25 camp.	15 sick	28 camp.	2 camp.	Died Moira Lakes, Dec. 30. Upper Moira.
69	Jimmy Turner	39	36	41	62	62
70	Alex. Turner	39	36	54s. deceased
71	Alex. Hope Taylor	11	61	24
72	Anny Taylor	11	61	24
73	Andrew Kennedy	12	38	28
74	Albert Kennedy	11	45 harvesting	29
75	Emmie Howard	49
76	Freddy (Dutchy)	camping deceased.
77	Johnny Phillips	5 Sandhurst deceased October 26
78	Jane Phillips

APPENDIX No. 4.

Names of Blacks whose labour would be at once available.

Bobby Wilborforce, age, 15 years.	Edward,	age, 40 years.
Bagot Morgan, " 23 "	Johnny,	" 65 "
Dan Crow, " 26 "	Charcoal,	" 23 "
Billy Russell, " 19 "	Johnny Atkinson,	" 26 "
Freddy Walker, " 25 "	Samson Barber,	" 23 "
Peter Stuckey, " 27 "	Ronald,	" 14 "
J. Daylight Darling, " 12 "	Archie,	" 12 "
Aaron Atkinson, " 23 "	Martin Simpson,	" 22 "
Jimmy Turner, " 21 "	Cocky,	" 28 "
Ned, " 40 "

Total—19 men and boys.

APPENDIX No. 5.

ASSOCIATION FOR PROTECTION OF ABORIGINES IN NEW SOUTH WALES.

Names of Members of Committee.

R. Barbour, Esq., M.L.A.	Joseph Palmer, Esq.
John Roseby, Esq., M.L.A.	G. C. Tuting, Esq., J.P.
John Davies, Esq., M.L.A.	R. Hill, Esq., J.P.
Rev. Canon H. S. King.	Rev. Robt. Steel, D.D.
Rev. Joseph Barnier.	John Lutton, Esq.
Rev. Dr. Galloway.	W. Carpenter, Esq., J.P.
Rev. Thos. J. Curtis.	D. M'Beath, Esq., J.P.

E. G. W. Palmer, Esq., Hon. Secretary.

REPORT OF THE NEW SOUTH WALES ABORIGINES PROTECTION ASSOCIATION, JUNE 30TH, 1881.

To His Excellency LORD AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, G.C.B., &c., Governor of the Colony of New South Wales, and Patron of the Association.

YOUR COMMITTEE respectfully submit for your consideration the following report of the progress of efforts on behalf of the native black population of New South Wales, during the year 1880, together with such items of records of similar work undertaken in previous years as they have been able to gather.

The formation of this Association was mainly due to a few gentlemen whose attention had been directed by Mr. Matthews and the Rev. J. B. Gribble to the miserable condition of the blacks, and who felt that until some adequate protection and assistance were guaranteed to them the Christian community in this Colony would be responsible for a grave neglect of their duty.

The objects of the Association are the promotion of the social, moral, religious, and intellectual welfare of the Aboriginal natives of the Colony of New South Wales and their descendants of mixed blood; and as the general condition of the blacks is marked by deep moral degradation and great physical discomfort, to which the drink and vices of the Europeans have largely contributed, it was felt that something ought speedily to be done to alter this state of things.

Two stations had already been organized, one on the Murray River, at Maloga, near Moama, which had been inaugurated six years previously by the individual action of Mr. D. Matthews, and subsequently sustained by private contributions, and occasional aid from Government. The other was just commenced, under the superintendence of the Rev. J. B. Gribble, at Warangesda, near Darlington Point, on the Murrumbidgee River. It was therefore decided to appeal to the public and to the Government on behalf of these two institutions, and to aid the formation of others, should sufficient funds be procurable.

His Excellency Lord Augustus Loftus, G.C.B., having intimated his willingness to be the Patron of the Association, and the Hon. Sir John Robertson, K.C.M.G., Vice-President of the Executive Council, accepting the Presidency, the following gentlemen were elected, viz.:-

VICE-PRESIDENTS.

The Right Rev. F. Barker, D.D., Bishop of Sydney, and
The Hon. W. J. Foster, Esq., M.P.

HONORARY TREASURERS.

The Hon. John Frazer, Esq., M.L.C., and
The Hon. John Marks, Esq., M.L.C.

HONORARY SECRETARY.

Edward G. W. Palmer, Esq.

COUNCIL.

The Hon. G. Thornton, Esq., M.P.,	Rev. T. J. Curtis,
R. Barbour, Esq., M.P.,	„ G. Hurst,
J. Davies, Esq., M.P.,	J. Comrie, Esq.,
J. Rosoby, Esq., M.P.,	R. Jones, Esq.,
Dr. Renwick, M.P.,	G. C. Tuting, Esq.,
Rev. Canon H. S. King,	J. Lutton, Esq.,
„ Dr. Steel,	A. Bulburne, Esq.,
„ J. Jefferies, LL.B.,	J. Palmer, Esq.,
„ J. Barnier,	D. Walker, Esq.,
„ D. Galloway,	J. Paxton, Esq., J.P.,
D. McBeath, Esq., J.P.,	U. W. Carpenter, Esq., J.P.,
	The Hon. R. Hill, Esq., M.P.

A prospectus of the Association was issued and circulated as widely as possible in the city and throughout the Colony, and appeals were made through the public newspapers, and other means used for giving publicity to the matter.

The Rev. J. B. Gribble during a short stay in Sydney lectured at many places in the city and suburbs, and graphically portrayed the abject and deplorable condition of the blacks resulting from habits of drunkenness and revolting immorality between the whites and blacks. Their camp life was described as miserable in the extreme, often verging on starvation. The women, utterly debased, are entirely without protection from the vilest outrage, and often destitute of clothing and food. The children frequently ruined at a tender age, and many nearly white roaming wild, and totally uncared for through their tribal districts.

During the year Mr. Matthews and the Secretary have availed themselves of every opportunity to address Sunday schools and meetings in connection with many churches, and considerable interest has been awakened in the movement. A large number of ladies have afforded most acceptable aid by contributions of clothing, books, and toys for the children at Maloga and Warangesda, and by collecting money which has often arrived to meet a great and urgent need.

As usual in inaugurating an effort of this nature, the Association had some obstacles to surmount through misrepresentation and apathy. It was said that any attempt to better the condition of the blacks was labour in vain; that they were such irreclaimable savages, and so devoid of ordinary human sympathies that no hold could be got over them; and that they were dying out so fast that no good end could be served by trying to civilize and educate them. Reports unfavourable to Mr. Matthews' work were also circulated and accepted in certain quarters, and the sympathy of many was withheld from this cause. It is gratifying to know that these preliminary difficulties have been satisfactorily overcome, and that some who at first stood aloof are now fully persuaded that the results attained sufficiently vindicate the efforts put forth.

MALOGA ABORIGINAL STATION.

The neglected condition of the blacks in the neighbourhood of Echuca was, we understand, the subject of correspondence between Mr. Matthews and the Victorian Board for the Protection of Aborigines as far back as 1864, or seventeen years ago; and although the matter was repeatedly brought under their notice, and it was contemplated to form a station on the Murray River, the idea was never carried out by them. Meanwhile, the blacks gradually came to recognize in Mr. Matthews a friend to whom they could appeal in cases of sickness or want of food and clothing. At that time tribes gathered in hundreds, and among them were men tall, brave, and stalwart. Drink and its attendant evils wrought a desolating change; and disease, the result of the contaminating influence of the white men, swept away a large number of the women. Having removed from Victoria, Mr. Matthews settled at Maloga, on selections the joint property of himself and brothers; and a portion of the land having been a favourite camping-place of the blacks for many generations, he often had opportunities of seeing them as they visited the locality in their periodic journeyings from one hunting-ground to another. After a time he gathered in a few boys and girls from the camp and gave them daily instruction, but not without much opposition at first from the old people of the tribes, who several times made determined efforts to remove the children from his care—threats even being made that they would use their powers as sorcerers or medicine-men if their wishes were not complied with. On one occasion a party of young men were specially sent to take the children away, but by judicious management they relinquished their idea. Though ignorant of the simplest elements of education, these wild children of the bush, by continued acts of kindness and a limited course of training, improved so much in mind and character as to lead Mr. Matthews to direct his attention to the improvement of the remnant of this unfortunate race. In 1874 he, with his wife, devoted themselves to mission work at Maloga, a locality 16 miles from Moama in New South Wales. Without soliciting assistance—monetary or otherwise—from any one, they began in earnest the arduous and difficult task of reclaiming the degraded blacks, in simple dependence upon God. Many conflicting circumstances have marked their seven years' work. Difficulties varied and frequent met them on all sides, but with a noble persistency and faithfulness they have gone on step by step, achieving results the most satisfactory.

From the small number of (4) four with which they began, they now, we are informed, number between seventy and eighty, who have made the station their home, and who look up to Mr. and Mrs. Matthews with almost parental regard; and such is their attachment to them that they voluntarily submit to the discipline imposed, and in no case do they leave the station, except when driven away from force of circumstances, viz., when funds are so low as to compel them to seek a precarious subsistence elsewhere. This contingency has arisen only too often, and has seriously retarded progress, for not only have such occasions been a sore trial to Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, but they are fraught with danger to the blacks themselves, who are exposed in their wanderings to all the villainy and corruption of camp life. Notwithstanding all these drawbacks, it is recorded with much gratitude that a number of the young people of both sexes have not only been reclaimed from lives the most depraved, but several are now leading exemplary Christian lives. These evidences of progress, together with the sober, industrious habit of the men and educational improvement of the school children, are most cheering and encouraging, and should be a strong incentive to those who are in sympathy with this Association to extend their efforts. It should also satisfy those who either passively or contemptuously impede the work of raising the aboriginal Australian in the scale of humanity.

Besides the regular morning and afternoon day-school the blacks are, your Committee is informed, summoned to morning and evening prayers and Sunday services and school. All of these are attended to with a praiseworthy regularity and apparent devotion.

The premises consist of a large weather-board school-house, with four dormitories for children, men's hut, hut for boys, kitchen, store-rooms, tool-house, office, superintendent's residence, and six huts for married couples.

The Institution possesses no property. There is neither live stock nor anything that can prove remunerative. To prevent idleness it is important to have a tract of country well stocked, to provide labour and sustenance for the aborigines of all ages; and it becomes daily more urgent that this should be attended to, as the difficulty of finding employment for the men is a serious drawback and is often made the subject of complaint by themselves. Many of the boys who have been trained in the school are also quite competent and willing to support themselves by agricultural labour. During the past year a system has we are informed been introduced, and has hitherto worked successfully so far as it can be applied, which is called the "cheque system," by which married men and their wives are required to earn their own rations by some kind of work on the Mission. For all kinds of employment they are paid at the rate of 6d. per hour. These payments are made each evening by a small paper cheque, on which the time, nature of, and value of the work is written. When they require rations these cheques must be produced, and the equivalent in flour, tea, sugar, meat, and other articles marked at the back, until the cheque is finished and handed in to be passed to the individual account. In this way every account is balanced continually, and no man or woman, able to work, can receive any substantial benefit from the Mission except he or she perform a corresponding amount of work. Men's work consists of baking bread, chopping and carting firewood, erecting huts and fences, cutting, carting, and preparing timber for building, stripping bark, roofing, killing, salting meat, &c. Women and girls are engaged in sewing, washing clothes, cooking, scrubbing, and general domestic duties, while the boys and younger children all have some little occupation out of school hours.

But the Institution as at present circumstanced does not afford sufficient scope for remunerative labour, and this has been adopted merely as a temporary scheme to prevent the Mission being imposed upon, and to train the people to habits of industry.

Mr. Matthews has been assisted in his work by several friends, who have spent much time at Maloga and laboured most assiduously and disinterestedly in educating and training the blacks, and also by correspondence with religious and secular journals in the colonies and the old country. Chief among these may be mentioned Miss Piram, a young lady from Melbourne, a converted Jewess; Miss Rainey, a young lady from Dublin, who spends the winter generally at Maloga. The hands of the Superintendent have also been strengthened strengthened by the able assistance of Mrs. S. Edwards, who has acted during the last year as matron, and has fully won the confidence of the blacks by her kind maternal care. Lately two young christian men, Messrs. James and Lewis, have offered their services, and besides these several visitors have lightened the labours of the regular workers by valuable muscular, mental, and monetary assistance.

Referring to the necessity for sending the people away in consequence of shortness of funds, we take the following extract from Mr. Matthews's journal of November, 1878 :—

Our numbers are reduced from forty-two to twenty-eight. The children have a strong aversion to leaving our Institution, as they have learned to prize the comforts of a home and the instructions they receive. The temptations of camp life are too strong for some of the men and women. They have been drinking and quarrelling at Lake Moira, to which they have gone to await our sending for them as soon as we have money in hand. The peaceable ones complain to us, and constantly send messages about getting them all back to Maloga.

In March of the following year a grant of £100 was made from the Government of New South Wales, and Mr. Matthews expresses his gladness in the following terms :—“ We are happy to have the means of relieving the wants, not only of the children but of several old men and women, who lead a miserable existence, being sometimes without food for two or three days.”

It will be seen by the foregoing remarks that the results at Maloga are commensurate with the funds at the disposal of the Institution.

The following is a statement of receipts and expenditure from April, 1873, to present time :—

	£	s.	d.
Cash paid towards cost of School-house and Dormitories	72	14	1
Private subscriptions, from April, 1873, to March, 1875	91	0	10
" " 1875, " 1877	78	15	7
" " 1877, " 1878	141	2	9
" " 1878, " 1879	402	4	11
" " 1879, " 1880	366	18	8
" " 1880, " 1881	510	11	0
	<hr/>
	£1,663	7	10
Amounts granted by Government :—	£	s.	d.
March, 1877	400	0	0
" 1879	100	0	0
July, 1879	100	0	0
March, 1880	100	0	0
	<hr/>
	700	0	0
	<hr/>
Total for a period of eight years... ..	£2,363	7	10

Expenditure.

	£	s.	d.
Cost of erecting School-house and Dormitory	143	19	2
Expenditure to May, 1875	91	0	10
" to March, 1877	171	19	2
" to " 1878	595	11	10
" to " 1879	266	16	3
" to " 1880	644	11	7
" to " 1881	698	1	11½
	<hr/>
Total for eight years	£2,612	0	9½
say total Expenditure	2,612	0	9½
say total Receipts	2,363	7	10
	<hr/>
	£248	12	11½
Cash retained by Police Magistrate in 1878 for stamps, &c... ..	1	12	7
	<hr/>
Deficiency	£250	5	6½

Since the commencement of the Institution there have been—

Connected with Maloga	150	Aborigines.
Births	20
Deaths	21
Marriages... ..	8
Can read and write	25
Now attending school	49
Gone to Warangesda	12

Average

Average School Attendance.

	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Quarter ending 31 March, 1880	12	13	25
" " 30 June, "	16	15	31
" " 30 Sept., "	15	15	30
" " 31 Dec., "	15	16	31
" " 31 March, 1881	18	20	38

WARANGESDA MISSION.

The Rev. J. B. Gribble, who was, we understand, minister of a church at Jerilderie, being constantly brought into contact with the blacks during his pastoral journeys, and seeing the sad condition especially of the young girls, at first aided as many as he could to go to Maloga, where they were received and tended by Mr. and Mrs. Matthews; but gradually becoming more convincingly impressed with the need for systematic effort in his own district, he resigned his pastorate, and devoted his energies to befriend the aboriginals whose tribes claim the banks of the Murrumbidgee as their hunting-grounds. Correspondence with the Government was rewarded by a grant of land, and the Honorable the Minister for Public Instruction cordially assisted by taking the school under his control, a salary was granted to the teacher, and provision will be made for the erection of a suitable school.

The station was commenced in March, 1880, and so energetically was the work proceeded with that in less than a year a settlement had been formed of a large school-house, a dwelling for Mr. Gribble and his family, a building for office and store, and seven substantial huts for the blacks. A paddock was enclosed for wheat cultivation of 10 acres; another block of land was fenced in and planted with vegetables; a well sunk to a depth of 45 feet, and a dam made to form a reservoir of water. All the labour incidental to these improvements being performed by Mr. Gribble, aided by the regular work of three of Mr. Matthews' trained and christianized blacks, Johnny Atkinson, Jimmy Turner, and Bagot Morgan, with occasional assistance from other blacks. This fact is a sufficient refutation of the assertion that the blacks are incapable of profitable labour and cannot be trained to persistent industry.

The blacks who had been sent to Maloga becoming anxious to return to their own district, Mr. Matthews kindly drove them in his vehicle to Deniliquin, where they were met by Mr. Gribble. The few months' training at Maloga has been of service in preparing them to form a nucleus for the organization of Warangesda Station.

Mr. Gribble states that immediately the news was spread that he was forming a home for the neglected girls they gathered in from all parts, and a heavier strain was at once thrown on his very slender resources than they were equal to, liabilities thus arising that still retard his progress. There was no difficulty in gathering the people together: the question was how to feed and clothe the eager applicants, and that question not being entertained by those whose liberality was necessary, the only course open to the superintendent was to inform the poor creatures that he could no longer support them, and only a few of the young girls were retained. The histories of some of the young women are full of interest, and it is truly surprising how soon the wild untutored wanderers of the bush accommodated themselves to the discipline of school routine and settled down to a quiet domesticated mode of life. The progress of the scholars has been very satisfactory, and all that is requisite to the success of the experiment at Warangesda is more liberal pecuniary aid until the natives can raise food enough to make the place almost if not quite self-supporting.

The financial statement shows that Mr. Gribble has received from all sources, viz., subscriptions, grants in aid from the Association, and salary from Government, the sum of £232 13s. 9½d.

The expenditure has been £400 6s. 10½d., nearly the whole amount being for food for the children at school, and the other blacks connected with the institution.

The estimated value of the improvement is set down as follows:—

Well and tank	£110	0	0
Superintendent's residence, office, and Overseer's quarters	110	0	0
School-house and blacks' huts	100	0	0
Garden and paddock, fencing, &c.	50	0	0
	£370	0	0

There are sixty blacks connected with Warangesda, and the system of training and instruction is similar to that at Maloga, the results for the short time they have been under control being very satisfactory, and the children showing great aptitude at their lessons.

The average attendance is reported to be:—

1880.
August	28·8
September	22·19
October	25·7
November	28·6
December	28·9
1881.
January	45·9
February	25·7
March	26·8

The reserve granted by the Government at Warangesda is 600 acres, and it is intended in the course of the present year to bring a large area under cultivation, so as to produce, if possible, sufficient wheat in a few years to supply the needs of the station.

The Hon. the Minister for Public Instruction has caused the school to be made a Provisional School, and a certificated teacher, Mr. Carpenter, is in charge. Mr. Gribble has the general superintendence, and Mr. G. Bridle the working management of the station.

The

On the 13th February, 1855, at a public meeting in the Evangelical Church, North Brisbane, an Aborigines Friends Society was founded; and, in pursuance of the design of this Society, he began the study of the languages spoken in Moreton Bay, now the principal port of Queensland, and shortly afterward visited the aborigines at and around Durundurun, residing for a time with the blacks and preaching to them. There is an entry in his journal, on May 13, 1856, to the following effect:—"Resigned the office of missionary in connection with the Moreton Bay Aborigines Friends Society, because through the non-payment of my salary my family were left in want.

Throughout his life he manifested unabated interest in the aborigines, repeatedly lecturing and endeavouring to excite attention to them. On learning of Mr. Matthews's work at Malaga he corresponded with him, and it was mainly through the influence of Mr. Ridley and the Rev. Dr. Steele that the Government were induced to make the first grant in aid of the blacks at Malaga. Mr. Matthews informs our Secretary that the encouragement he received from Mr. Ridley was of great value to him, and that on his arrival in Sydney he learned that he was unwell, death suddenly arresting his labours before the week ended. This occurred on Thursday, 26th, 1878.

The following is a list of the works published by Mr. Ridley on the blacks:—

Gurre Kámilarói or Kámilarói Sayings, with Illustrations	1856
Fragments of Kámilarói Grammar	1856
Links and divergences of the Australian Aborigines	1856
Kámilarói, Dippil, and Turrubul languages, spoken by the Aborigines, illustrated. Published by authority, T. Richards, Government Printer	1866
And second edition thereof, with additional dialects, the expenses involved in the collection and preparation of which the Government of New South Wales provided	1875

There have been other public efforts to benefit the blacks in different parts of the Colony, but from various causes they have for the most part been discontinued before any definite results have been attained.

Many instances of a very interesting nature are recorded of individual blacks being christianized, but this has generally resulted from young children being adopted and trained in christian families.

The Committee cannot close their report without referring to the assistance rendered to the blacks by many of the settlers, who have done much to contribute to the support of the tribes who use their stations as camping-places. Employment is also provided for the men as occasional shepherds, stockmen, &c., and especially at shearing-time, when they are often of great service. The labour of the women is also utilized for washing and general domestic work, but neither men nor women can be relied upon to remain for any length of time at any fixed employment.

The Committee would suggest to those persons who have for years befriended the blacks, without being able to render them permanent benefit, that they might perhaps better attain their object by co-operating with the Association, and inducing the aborigines to settle under the charge of the gentlemen recognized by the Association wherever such gentlemen may be placed.

EDWARD G. W. PALMER,
Hon. Sec.

133, Pitt-street,
Sydney, New South Wales.

APPENDICES.

MONEYS received for the Mission to Aborigines.

		£	s.	d.			£	s.	d.
1879.					1880.
Feb.	Mrs. Mary Roberts	3	0	0	May ...	Mr. Holme	0	10	0
"	D. M'Beath, Esq.	2	2	0		Hon. John Marks	10	0	0
"	Mr. Ardill	0	10	0		Mr. R. Jones, Darlinghurst	2	2	0
	Mr. R. Jones	2	2	0		"A Friend," Sydney (special, Mr. Gribble)	1	0	0
	Rev. Canon H. S. King	1	1	0		Mr. Dowling (special, Mr. Gribble)	2	0	0
	Harris-street Baptist Sunday School	2	0	0		Miss Harrison	0	10	0
	Riley-street	0	15	0		Rev. F. Barker, D.D.	5	0	0
	Mr. E. G. W. Palmer	0	10	0		Rev. W. Slatyer	0	10	0
March ...	St. Barnabas' Church of England Sunday-School	10	0	0		"Lady Friend," Parramatta (special, Mr. Gribble)	1	0	0
	Bathurst-street Baptist Sunday School	2	12	5		Hon. J. Smith, C.M.G.	1	0	0
	Mrs. Walker	0	10	0		Rev. George Hurst	1	1	0
1880.						Collection at Lecture, Waterloo (special, Mr. Gribble)	1	15	2
May	Mr. E. O'Brien	2	0	0		Mr. G. R. Harrison	2	2	0
	Miss Lester, Burwood	2	2	0		Mr. James Taylor, Moss Vale	1	0	0
	Rev. J. Barnier	1	1	0		June 16	Mrs. Staff, Parramatta (per Rev. A. Lloyd)	1	0	0
	Miss Baker	0	9	0		Rev. F. Hibberd	1	1	0
	G. C. Tuting, Esq.	1	1	0		Mrs. E. G. W. Palmer	1	5	0
	Rev. J. P. Ollis, Sofala	1	2	0		Collection at Temperance Hall	2	7	0
	Mr. W. H. Mitchell, Manly (collected)	2	0	0		Rev. Joseph Barnier	1	1	0
	Rev. J. Barnier	1	1	0		July 5	Katie Bevon's Mission Box	0	10	6
	Mrs. M. Roberts	3	0	0		Mrs. S. Rawlings, Parramatta	2	0	0
	Dr. P. S. Jones, Burwood	2	2	0		Pitt-street Congregational Home and Foreign Mission Society	5	0	0
	Miss Minnie Baker's Mission Box	1	1	0		Mr. J. Turner, Newtown	1	0	0
	Rev. T. B. Tress, Balmain	1	1	0		Mr. Sandbrook	0	10	0
	Mr. Morwick, Balmain	1	0	0		Mr. Anderson	0	10	6
	"A Friend," St. Leonards	0	5	0		Rev. W. Davis	0	10	0
	"A Friend," Redfern	0	4	0		Mr. J. Comrie, Kurrajong	2	2	0
	Mr. J. Palmer	1	1	0
	Mr. W. Wright, Drummoigne Park	1	0	0
	Mr. J. Murray and family, Balmain	1	10	0
	St. Michael's Sunday School	5	0	0

MONEYS received for the Mission to Aborigines—continued.

1880.		£	s.	d.	1880.		£	s.	d.
Aug. 8	U. W. Carpenter, Esq., J.P.	1	1	0	Miss Minnie Baker's Mission Box	0	12	0
	D. M'Beath, Esq., J.P.	1	1	0	R. G. Higgings, Esq.	1	1	0
" 10	Mr. Michael	0	2	6	Mrs. Hayden	1	1	0
" 16	Mr. W. Somerville	1	1	0	Mrs. Chauvel	1	1	0
" 16	Messrs. Griffiths & Co.	10	0	0	R. A. A. Morehead, Esq.	1	0	0
	B. Buchanan, Esq.	5	0	0	Congregational Sunday School, Petersham	1	10	0
	R. Hills, Esq.	1	1	0	Church of England Sunday School, St. Barnabas	10	0	0
	Hon. J. Frazer	5	5	0	Presbyterian Sunday School, Glebe	6	2	5
	"Widow's Mite"	1	0	0	Miss Jones, Petersham (collected)	1	0	0
	Messrs. Lassetter & Co.	1	1	0	Mr. L. Harrison	0	4	0
	Rev. G. Fullerton	1	0	0	Miss Harrison	0	4	0
	A. Brown, Esq., Eskbank	10	0	0	Mrs. Bryant	0	3	0
	Mrs. Mary Roberts	43	15	0	Mrs. Hooper	0	2	0
	Miss Lester, Burwood	2	2	0	Mrs. Gill	0	1	0
	St. Stephen's Presbyterian Sabbath School	6	1	0	C. H. M.	1	1	0
	Mr. M'Pherson, Burwood	1	1	0	W. Maddock	0	10	0
	Mr. G. M. Pitt	1	1	0	G. E.	0	2	0
	Dr. W. Moore	1	0	0	C. M.	0	2	6
	J. Young, Esq. (by his executors)	1	0	0	C. S.	0	5	0
	Mr. H. Butterworth	2	2	0	J. G. T.	0	5	0
	Hon. T. Holt, M.L.C.	1	2	0	J. E.	0	5	0
	"A Friend"	1	1	0	R. E.	0	5	0
	His Excellency Lord Augustus Loftus, G.C.B.	3	0	0	J. C.	0	5	0
	Mr. J. Milson, North Shore	1	1	0	H. R. S.	0	5	0
	Messrs. Gibbs, Shallard, & Co.	1	1	0	W. Bullard	0	5	0
	Mr. R. Chadwick	1	0	0	F. Hanks	0	2	6
	A. A. Dangar, Esq.	1	1	0	G. Watts	0	2	6
	Mrs. G. Allen, Toxteth Park	1	1	0	Mrs. M.	0	10	0
	Sir George W. Allen	2	2	0	Miss M.	1	0	0
	H. Bell, Esq.	2	2	0	C. E. L.	0	10	0
	Messrs. Dixon & Sons	2	2	0	Rev. J. Barnier	1	1	0
	J. R. Fairfax, Esq.	2	2	0	Mrs. Bevon's children	0	9	0
	E. R. Fairfax, Esq.	2	2	0	Mr. S. B. Dight	2	2	0
	Messrs. Farmer & Co.	2	2	0	Pitt-street Congregational Home and Foreign Mission Society	5	0	0
	V. W. Gablin, Esq.	2	2	0	Mrs. S. Rawlings, Granville	1	10	0
	J. H. Goodlet, Esq.	2	2	0	Miss Harrison (collected)	1	2	6
	Hon. S. D. Gordon	1	0	0	Mrs. Gillespie, Woollahra	1	0	0
	Messrs. R. Gray & Son	2	2	0	Miss Gillespie	0	10	0
	Messrs. Hardy Bros.	0	10	6	Sir W. Manning	1	0	0
	J. S. Harrison, Esq.	2	2	0	Miss Ella	0	4	6
	Messrs. Holdsworth, Gardyne, & Co.	2	2	0	Miss Pratt	0	2	0
	Messrs. Holdsworth, M'Pherson, & Co.	2	2	0	Mrs. Eldridge	0	4	0
	Messrs. D. Jones & Co.	2	2	0	Miss F. Burgess	0	7	0
	Dr. P. S. Jones	2	2	0	Miss Burgess	0	4	0
	E. Knox, Esq.	5	0	0	Mr. Wait	0	4	0
	W. Laidley, Esq.	2	2	0	Mr. Eldridge	0	1	0
	L. W. Levy, Esq.	2	0	0	Mr. Burgess	0	3	6
	Messrs. M'Arthur & Co.	2	2	0	A Friend	0	5	0
	R. A. A. Morehead, Esq.	2	0	0	Hon. J. Smith, M.L.C.	1	0	0
	F. Poolman, Esq.	1	1	0	J. L. Adam, Esq.	1	1	0
	Messrs. Prince, Ogg, & Co.	3	3	0	H. C. Dangar, Esq.	2	2	0
	Dr. A. Renwick	2	2	0	Dr. P. S. Jones	1	1	0
	J. Roberts, Esq.	1	0	0	Mrs. Maurice Alexander	1	1	0
	Mrs. M. Roberts	5	0	0	Mrs. W. B. Campbell	1	1	0
	J. Smith, Esq.	2	2	0	Dr. A. Renwick	1	1	0
	S. H. Smyth, Esq.	1	0	0	Sir W. Manning	1	1	0
	G. B. Simpson, Esq.	1	1	0	R. Hunt, Esq.	1	1	0
	M. H. Stephen, Esq.	5	0	0	B. Buchanan, Esq.	5	5	0
	R. R. Terry, Esq.	2	2	0	Sir John Robertson	3	3	0
	Messrs. Young & Lark	2	2	0
	Rev. J. Fullerton	1	0	0
	Miss Holden	0	5	0	Total	£	342	14	0

WARANGESDA MISSION—Subscription List.

		£	s.	d.			£	s.	d.
	R. Hastie, Esq.	1	0	0	A Friend in Sydney	2	0	0
	Mr. Elvery	0	10	0	"Christian"	1	0	0
	A Lady Friend	3	0	0	Mr. G. Currie	0	10	0
	Miss Harrison	2	0	0	H. G. Douglas, Esq., M.L.A.	3	3	0
	Rev. J. Barnier	2	2	0	Rev. T. B. Tress	1	1	0
	Rev. Herbert Taylor	1	0	0	Mr. Oliver	1	0	0
	C. C. (Melbourne)	5	0	0	Miss Hall	0	10	0
	A Friend	0	5	0	Shearers, Dubbo Woolshed	3	18	0
	A Friend (Sandhurst)	1	0	0	H. Paterson, Esq.	2	0	0
	Dr. Cauvin (ship "Rhin")	1	0	0	D. Johnson, Esq.	2	0	0
	A Lady Friend (Balmain)	1	0	0	H. Hunter	1	1	0
	Rev. A. G. Fry	1	0	0	G. Hunter	0	10	0
	Rev. A. W. Murry	0	10	0	John Thompson	0	10	0
	Waterloo Congregational Church	1	15	0	Mrs. Sanger (Wongomong)	5	0	0
	W. Orr, Esq.	5	0	0	Glebe Presbyterian Sunday School	4	2	5
	Mr. Holmes	0	10	0	Miss Macradie's class	2	0	0
	Mrs. Rawlings	2	0	0	Mr. Boyes	0	10	0
	A Lady Friend	1	0	0	Miss Rainey	1	0	0
	Friend, per S. Cross	1	0	0	A. M'Larty	0	5	0
	W. Wright, Esq.	1	0	0	A Friend	0	2	0
	Mr. Dowling	2	0	0	C. C. (Melbourne), second subscription	5	0	0
	Rev. A. Gardiner	1	15	0	Miss Rosie Spiller's Box	0	11	0
	Mr. Rainey	1	0	0	A Friend	0	4	0

WARANGESDA MISSION—Subscription List—continued.

	£	s.	d.		£	s.	d.
Lecture, Deniliquin	3	13	4	Beath & Co.	2	2	0
Police Magistrate, Deniliquin	1	0	0	Theo. K.	3	3	0
Lecture, Urana	1	15	0½	The Misses White	1	0	0
Mr. Currans	0	3	6	Jane Dixon	2	2	0
Tea Meeting, opening Mission School	8	0	0	"Yarra"	1	0	0
Charles Harrison	0	10	0	M. H.	0	5	0
Collection, Narrandora	2	15	3	A Friend	0	5	0
Miss Amy Gribble's box	1	19	3	A Friend	1	0	0
Ronald	2	11	6	A Friend	0	1	0
Archib.	1	1	0	Mrs. R. Launceston, per Miss Rainey	5	0	0
R. Bellington & Co.	5	0	0	R. Carse, Esq.	2	2	0
Mrs. Mary Roberts	4	0	0	Mr. Baylies	1	0	0
Miss Rainey	1	0	0

MALOGA Aboriginal Mission—Contributions.

1880.		£	s.	d.	1880.		£	s.	d.
April 2	Bertha, Laura, and Daisy's Mission Box	1	4	11½	June	"Anonymous" (stamps)	0	2	6
" 2	Mrs. D., Richmond, Victoria	0	10	0	" 12	Miss L., per C.Q., Mornington, Victoria	1	0	0
" 4	Sandridge Town Hall Collection (Victoria)	3	16	9	" 1	"Young Christian," sale of two brooches, per J.R., Melbourne	1	0	0
" 4	Service at Assembly Hall, Melbourne	2	10	0	" 19	"Willing Work," Mission Box, per J.R., Melbourne	1	0	0
" 4	F.D.J., Emerald Hill	0	2	6	" 25	Wesleyan S.S., Mudgoc, N.S.W., per W.K.	2	11	8
" 5	Miss T., Richmond, Victoria	0	2	6	" 25	Wesleyan S.S., Burrundulla, per W.K.	0	9	0
" 5	Sandridge School-room—collected at meeting	1	7	9	" 25	Bethel S.S., Sandridge, Victoria, per A.B.J.	2	12	6
" 5	Children of Richmond State School, Victoria	2	2	6	" 26	Collected by A.B., Sydney	1	0	0
" 6	Publishers of "Southern Cross," Melbourne	1	0	0			£	10	15	8
"	Meeting, Presbyterian Schoolroom, Richmond (collected)	1	15	5	July 9	C.C., Leven, Tasmania	3	0	0
" 6	J. M. Mornington, Victoria, per G.G.A.	1	0	0	" 9	R.S., Lisburn, Ireland, per E.S.H.R.	10	0	0
" 6	Mission Box, Girls' Bible Class, East Melbourne (Miss K.)	1	2	10½	" 9	R.G., Blayney, N.S.W., per T.R.C.C.	1	1	0
" 6	Meeting, Presbyterian Church, Emerald Hill (collected)	4	4	0	" 9	M.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)	1	0	0
" 6	Holly and Ivy's Mission Box	0	10	0	" 12	Aborigines' Protection Association, Sydney, per E.G.W.P.	5	0	0
" 12	Wesleyan Sunday School, Deniliquin, N.S.W.	1	0	0	" 16	State School, Richmond, Victoria, per R.G.	2	3	6
" 28	M.H. } Per W.D.M., Sydney	1	0	0	" 24	B.R.R., Sydney	0	10	0
" 28	E.R.C. }	1	0	0	" 24	Miss D., per M.B., Newtown, Sydney	1	0	0
" 28	S.H., South Yarra, Victoria (stamps)	0	5	0	" 24	H.D.R., South Yarra, Melbourne	1	0	0
" 28	C.P., Balmain, Sydney	0	10	0	" 31	A Friend } per	1	0	0
" 28	A Friend, per H.D.R.	1	0	0	" 31	A Friend } J.R.,	1	0	0
" 28	Board, per J.N.	1	0	0	" 31	Gospel Hall, S.S., } Russell-street, Melbourne	1	0	0
		£	27	5	3		£	27	14	6
May 7	Hobart Christian Workers' Association, per H.L.G.	3	0	0	Aug. 6	Presbyterian S.S., Carisbrook, Victoria, per L.C.	1	0	0
" 7	C.D.	0	5	0	" 13	"From one who loves Jesus," Sofala, N.S.W.	1	0	0
" 7	R.E.	0	3	6	" 14	Christian Workers' Association, Hobart, Tasmania	3	0	0
" 7	J.J.	0	1	0	" 14	T.K., Melbourne, per J.N.	1	0	0
" 7	Mrs. L. } Per M.E.B., Newtown Sydney.	0	0	6	" 21	M.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)	1	0	0
" 7	P.R. (a little Girl)	0	2	0	" 21	Congregational S.S., East Melbourne, per C.W.E.	2	0	0
" 7	Do. do.	0	0	6			£	9	0	0
" 7	A little Boy	0	0	3	Sept. 3	Aborigines' Protection Association, Sydney, per E.G.W.P.	10	0	0
" 7	A Family	0	7	3	" 4	Presbyterian S.S., Mornington, Victoria, per D.G.G.	2	10	0
" 7	Two Ladies	0	6	0	" 11	Bible Class, East Melbourne } per J.R.,	1	2	0
" 7	Mr. H. } Collected by A.B., Sydney.	1	0	0	" 11	"Willing work," Mission-box } Mel-	0	2	6
" 7	Mr. R. }	3	0	0	" 11	E.K.D. } bourne.	0	5	0
" 7	Private School, Walhalla, Gippsland, per H.C.	0	7	0	" 21	Congregational S.S., Hawthorn, Victoria, per W.C.	1	5	2
" 7	Miss S., Melbourne, per E.S.H.R.	3	0	0	" 21	F.N., Morpeth, N.S.W.	1	0	0
" 7	Mrs. H.	0	4	0	" 21	A.T., do. do.	1	0	0
" 7	A Friend } Per G.M.W., Russell-street, Melbourne.	0	10	0	" 24	"A well-wisher" (stamps), Melbourne	0	5	0
" 7	Two Sisters	2	0	0	" 24	State School, Richmond, Victoria, per Mrs. G.	2	0	4
" 7	Box at Bible Depot	0	6	0	" 27	M.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)	1	0	0
" 7	J.H.J., Mornington, Victoria	5	0	0			£	20	10	0
" 15	G.F.M., London, per E.S.H.R.	1	0	0	Oct. 1	Aborigines' Protection Association, Sydney, per E.G.W.P.	6	0	0
" 21	Church of England S.S., Bimberang, N.S.W., per R.J.R.	1	1	0	" 5	Do. do.	15	0	0
" 21	E.H., Petersham, Sydney	1	0	0	" 9	"For Jesus' sake," from the Editor, "The Christian," London, per E.S.H.R.	10	0	0
" 21	Presbyterian S.S., Jamberoo, N.S.W., per D.L.D.	3	9	2	" 9	Miss L., per T.Q., Mornington, Victoria	1	0	0
" 28	E.B., Mittagong, N.S.W.	1	0	0
" 28	Church of England S.S., Orange, N.S.W., per J.H.G.	6	0	0
" 28	Congregational S.S., Hawthorn, Victoria, per W.C.	1	9	0
" 28	Richmond State School, Victoria, per Mr. W.	3	11	4
		£	38	3	6
June 4	M.P., Balmain, Sydney	0	10	0
" 4	C.P., " "	0	10	0

MALOGA Aboriginal Mission—Contributions—continued.

		£	s.	d.			£	s.	d.
1880.					1880.
Oct. 15	Bethel S.S., Sandridge, Victoria, per A.B.J.	1	10	0	Dec. 30	"A Friend," Mornington, Victoria, T.Q.	0	8	0
" 15	Mrs. M'E., per A.B.J.	1	4	4	" 30	Miss L., Green Islands, Victoria, per do.	0	17	0
" 15	Town Hall S.S., St. Kilda, Victoria, per E.C.	2	12	6	" 30	Church of England S.S., Mornington (collected)	0	17	3
" 20	Christian Workers' Association, Hobart, Tasmania, per H.L.G.	3	0	0	" 30	" " Mission Funds	0	17	9
" 23	Mrs. M., Sandhurst, Victoria	0	10	0	" 30	Congregational S.S., El Dorado, Victoria, per J.G.	0	4	0
" 23	Mrs. M. and Miss B., Sandhurst (collected)	1	10	0	" 30	F.A.B., Emerald Hill, Melbourne (stamps)	0	7	0
" 30	Presbyterian S.S., Muswellbrook, N.S.W., per J.S.L.	1	0	0	" 30	Mission-box at Darcy, Hay	1	10	2½
" 30	T.B. (Aboriginal native), Armidale, N.S.W.	0	10	0	" 30	Sunday School, Baulkham Hills	0	12	10½
" 30	D.E., Terang, Victoria	0	17	0	" 30	U.B., Parramatta, N.S.W.	0	7	8
" 30	E.S. O'B., Sydney	3	0	0	" 30	Miss A., Baulkham Hills	0	3	3
" 30	Baptist S.S., Parramatta, N.S.W., per J.A.	2	0	0	" 30	Board, J.N.	2	0	0
" 30	"A Friend" per J.R.	0	10	0	" 31	Presbyterian S.S., Emerald Hill, Melbourne, per J.S.A.	6	0	0
" 30	"Faith" Russell-st., Melbourne.	0	5	0			£	79	1	5
" 30	"A Friend" Russell-st., Melbourne.	0	5	0
" 30	"E.M." Melbourne.	0	5	0
" 30	Miss G., "for my Mother," Melbourne	1	0	0
" 30	R.W.E., Echuca, Victoria	0	5	0
" 30	"In memory of a departed babe," Mrs. B., Echuca	0	4	6	1881.
		£	54	3	4	Jan. 1	Collected at Maloga (Steamer Excursion)	1	15	0
Nov. 6	Sunday School, Taradale, Victoria, per E.A.	2	3	0	" 5	Miss S., Melbourne	1	0	0
" 6	"A Friend," J.T., Colac, Victoria	1	10	0	" 5	Mr. & Mrs. E. G., Brighton, Melbourne	2	0	0
" 6	"From promise made to the late Rev. Wm. Ridley," Lady in West Maitland	5	0	0	" 10	A Friend	0	2	6
" 6	Miss J. M.'s evening class, Glebe, Sydney	2	0	0	" 10	Miss T., Brighton, Melbourne	0	10	0
" 6	Presbyterian S.S., Pyrmont, Sydney	8	0	0	" 10	Mrs. M'K., do.	0	10	0
" 6	Miss V., Pyrmont, Sydney	1	0	0	" 10	A Friend do.	0	9	6
" 6	Presbyterian S.S., Glebe, Sydney	4	2	5	" 10	A Friend do.	0	1	0
" 6	Presbyterian S.S., Goulburn, N.S.W.	2	0	0	" 10	S.H., South Yarra, do.	0	10	0
" 10	Miss B. (visitor)	2	0	0	" 10	Mrs. W., Brighton, do.	0	5	0
" 10	"An occasional contributor," Kyneton, Victoria	5	0	0	" 10	Miss H., Georak, do.	2	2	0
" 10	Free Presbyterian S.S., Hobart, Tasmania, per T.L.H.	6	0	0	" 10	Mrs. H., Brighton, do.	0	10	0
" 20	S.H., S. Yarra, Melbourne (stamps)	0	5	0	" 10	Miss S., Melbourne	1	0	0
" 20	"A Friend," B.D., Sandhurst, Victoria	1	0	0	" 13	C.C., do.	5	0	0
" 29	H.D.R., South Yarra, Melbourne	1	0	0	" 13	Mr. and Mrs. L., Brighton, Melbourne	2	0	0
" 29	M.D., Barmah, Victoria	1	1	0	" 13	A Friend, do.	0	2	0
" 29	Aborigines' Protection Association, Sydney, per E.G.W.P.	10	0	0	" 16	Collection at S.S., Brighton	1	4	4
" 29	W.P., Melbourne	5	0	0	" 17	H.C., Brighton	0	10	0
" 29	J.K. Bono, "	3	3	0	" 17	A Friend, do.	1	0	0
" 29	B.S. & Co., "	2	2	0	" 18	Mrs. C., do.	0	10	0
" 29	J.B., " Per G.G.A., Melbourne.	2	0	0	" 18	A Friend, do.	0	4	0
" 29	R.H., "	1	1	0	" 19	J.B.S., do.	1	0	0
" 29	C.J.H., "	1	0	0	" 19	Mr. O., Aboriginal Mission, S. Australia	1	0	0
" 29	G.S., "	1	0	0	" 19	Collected at St. Kilda	1	6	0
" 29	G.G.A., "	2	2	0	" 20	Mr. S., Picnic Point, near Melbourne	0	5	0
" 30	R.S., Lisburn, Ireland, per C.B.C., Melbourne	10	0	0	" 20	R.G., Brighton	0	2	0
		£	79	9	5	" 24	C.C., Levan, Tasmania	3	0	0
Dec. 1	Mr. S. and Mr. L. (visitors)	1	0	0	" 24	S.E.W., Richmond, N.S.W.	1	0	0
" 1	J.D., West Maitland, N.S.W. (Christmas presents)	1	1	0	" 24	Presbyterian S.S., Bombala, N.S.W., per J.S.R.	0	16	3
" 1	C.J.N., Barraba, N.S.W.	1	0	0	" 24	E.J., Huntingdon, Hastings River, N.S.W. (collected)	2	2	0
" 1	Christ Church S.S., Newcastle, N.S.W.	2	2	0	" 24	G.M., Geelong, Victoria	0	5	0
" 1	A Friend New-castle, N.S.W.	0	5	0	" 24	Congregational S.S., Hawthorne, Victoria	1	3	10
" 1	Scripture-class — Young Women	0	3	8	" 24	Collection at Public Meeting	3	6	8
" 1	Working-class of children	0	3	9	" 24	W.C., Hawthorne	1	0	0
" 15	Board, Mr. N. (thirty-five weeks)	43	15	0	" 24	A.R., Sydney	3	0	0
" 15	M.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)	2	0	0	" 29	E.F., Sandhurst, Victoria	1	0	0
" 15	"A Sympathiser with your work," Yass, N.S.W.	2	0	0	" 29	Mrs. W., do.	0	3	7
" 30	M.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)	1	0	0	" 29	Mr. W., St. Kilda, Victoria, per T.D.	1	0	0
" 30	Presbyterian S.S., Carisbrook, Victoria, (Small "New Year's Gift," per L.C.)	1	0	0	" 29	Collected Public Meeting, Baptist Church, West Melbourne	7	18	0
" 30	J.K., for "Henry"	6	0	0			£	50	13	8
" 30	"A Friend"	1	0	0	Feb. 3	Christian Workers' Association, Hobart, Tasmania	3	0	0
" 30	" " Per J.R., Russell-street, Melbourne.	0	10	0	" 12	P.L., Beaufort, Victoria	3	3	0
" 30	" " "	0	10	0	" 12	Collected by Publishers, "Southern Cross," Melbourne	2	10	0
" 30	" " "	1	0	0	" 12	K.S., Melbourne, "from my Bible-class and self"	2	0	0
" 30	" " "	0	5	0	" 12	E.N., Kingston-on-Thames, England	2	0	0
" 30	Frank	0	1	0	" 14	M.A.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)	1	0	0
					" 14	Church of England S.S., Jerry's Plains, N.S.W.	1	0	0
					" 19	A Friend	0	2	0
					" 19	Girls' Bible Class	1	5	2
					" 19	Miss A.	0	10	0
					" 19	M.	0	5	0
					" 19	Reports	0	3	0
					" 19	M.H.	0	5	0
					" 19	Mission-box, "Willing Work"	0	4	0

MALOGA Aboriginal Mission—Contributions—continued.

1881.		£ s. d.	1881.		£ s. d.
Feb. 19	Bethel S.S., Sandridge, Victoria, per A.B.J.	2 7 6	Mar. 12	Government School Salary (contributed)	7 10 0
" 25	Mrs. B., Mickleham, Victoria	3 0 0	" 18	J.D., West Maitland	3 3 0
" 25	Congregational S.S., Brunswick, Victoria, per J.B.C.	6 11 10	" 19	Board J. N.	1 0 0
" 25	Hythe Mission Box, Tasmania, per E.S.H.R.	1 12 5	" 24	School Salary (contributed) ..	7 10 0
" 26	Miss H., Petersham, Sydney.....	0 10 0	" 24	M.A.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)...	1 0 0
			" 29	Board J. N.	2 0 0
		£ 31 8 11	" 29	Gospel Hall S.S., St. Kilda, Melbourne.....	1 10 0
Mar. 3	Congregational S.S., Hawthorn, Victoria, per W.C.	1 12 4	" 29	Proceeds from knitting ... Per J.R.,	0 10 0
" 5	Board J. N.	1 0 0	" 29	M..... Mel-	0 5 0
" 9	Mission Box, family C.C., Melbourne ...	1 0 0	" 29	E.A.C. bourne.	1 0 0
" 9	G.T.J., Hobart, Tasmania ..	6 0 0	" 29	Proceeds—Sale of gold chain	1 17 6
" 9	M.A.B., Newtown, Sydney (collected)...	1 0 0	" 31	State School, Richmond, Victoria, per Miss G.	2 12 9
" 12	Missionary Collections at Assembly Hall, Melbourne	4 0 0	" 31	Contributed from Maloga Farm	14 7 8
" 12	Christmas Collections, St. John's Church of England, Hartley, N.S.W.....	1 13 3	" 31	Contributed School Fees	0 17 5
			" 31	Contributed for Rations	13 0 0
					£ 74 8 11

[1s. 3d.]

Sydney: Thomas Richards, Government Printer.—1883.

91—C

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

ABORIGINAL MISSION STATIONS AT WARANGESDA AND MALOGA.
(REPORT ON WORKING OF.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 18 January, 1883.

SCHEDULE.

NO.		PAGE.
1.	The Principal Under-Secretary to the Honorable Philip Gidley King, M.L.C. 23 June, 1882	1
2.	Ditto Edmund Fosbery, Esquire, Inspector-General of Police. 23 June, 1882.....	1
3.	Messrs. P. G. King and E. Fosbery to the Colonial Secretary. 8 August, 1882	2
4.	The Principal Under-Secretary to the Protector of the Aborigines. 16 August, 1882.....	5
5.	Ditto Under-Secretary for Lands. 16 August, 1882	5
6.	Ditto Under-Secretary for Public Works. 16 August, 1882.....	5
7.	Ditto Under-Secretary for Public Instruction. 16 August, 1882.....	5
8.	Ditto Under-Secretary for Mines. 16 August, 1882	5

No. 1.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Honorable Philip Gidley King, M.L.C.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 23 June, 1882.

It being considered desirable to have an inquiry into and to be furnished with a full and comprehensive report of the working of the stations for aborigines in the Murrumbidgee District, which are under Mr. Matthews and the Reverend Mr. Gribble respectively, I am directed to inform you that the Colonial Secretary approves of the duties of such inquiry being performed by yourself and Edmund Fosbery, Esquire, Inspector-General of Police, in place of the Honorable Messrs. Thornton and Marks.

2. I am desired to state that the Protector of the Aborigines has been requested to aid in every way the holding of the inquiry, and that the Minister of Public Instruction and the Minister of Justice have been invited to cause to be supplied any information that can be furnished by their respective Departments.

3. I am to add that the services of Mr. E. Palmer, as Secretary, will be placed at the disposal of yourself and your colleague, and that the necessary expenses will be paid by the Government.

I have, &c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

No. 2.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Inspector-General of Police.

[Similar to and of same date as No. 1, substituting "The Honorable Philip Gidley King" for "Edmund Fosbery, Esquire, Inspector-General of Police."]

No. 3.

Messrs. P. G. King and E. Fosbery to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 8 August, 1882.

In compliance with the commission entrusted to us, conveyed by letter from the Principal Under-Secretary, dated the 23rd of June last, we do ourselves the honor to report, for your information, that we have visited, inspected, and carefully inquired into the working of the Aboriginal Mission Stations at Warangesda and Maloga.

The former is situated on the Murrumbidgee River, about 12 miles from the Darlington railway station; and since its formation, two years ago, it has been under the charge of the Rev. J. B. Gribble, an ordained minister of the Church of England; Mr. Carpenter being the teacher of the Public School established by the Government.

The station is built on a reserved area of about 1,600 acres, of which 600 acres have been specially appropriated for the mission, and we are informed that application has been made for an additional 400 acres.

The site of the station is not in all respects well chosen. There is a township only 3 miles distant. This we think objectionable, as the public-house thereat must be a demoralising attraction to the blacks. The township should be far enough away to prevent frequent running to and fro, yet not too remote for convenient communication.

In Appendix A. we give a statement in detail of the number of persons we found at the Warangesda station—aborigines, half-castes, and quadroons—together with a statement of their ages and sexes.

The huts have been erected, as we were informed, by the aborigines (by which term we intend to include, here and elsewhere, also half-castes and quadroons). The dwellings were tidy, weatherproof, apparently cleanly, and suitable for the accommodation of the married people. Some additional huts were in course of erection when we visited the station.

The schoolroom, which, in common with all the other buildings, had only an earthen floor, was in an indifferent state of repair, inadequate in space for teaching purposes, and deficient in school requisites. We learnt that a school tent for temporary use had been supplied by the Department of Public Instruction, and its arrival was daily expected. Also, that a brick schoolhouse was to be built upon a site already selected, but we venture to suggest that before this expenditure is finally decided upon, further consideration should be given to the subject.

We examined some of the children in reading, but the results were not satisfactory, owing probably to some extent to the timidity of the scholars in the presence of strangers. We saw also some copy-books in which the writing was fairly good, but the proportion of children who can read or write is small. They all heartily joined in singing to the accompaniment of a harmonium played by the teacher.

A chapel is being built of pine saplings and other bush materials. Mr. Gribble resides in an indifferent cottage inadequate for the accommodation of his family, and the Public School teacher has erected a small two-roomed bush hut, which certainly is not suitable for a teacher's residence.

There is also a house for the single women and children to sleep in, one part of it being partitioned off for meals; but the whole building is quite insufficient for its intended use, apart from the strong objection to it on the ground of deficiency in the means of classification at night; or rather separation between the elder females and the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Hagen were also residing at Warangesda, and assisting Mr. Gribble in the general management of the mission; we were informed that they had received some training at Dr. Bernardo's Missionary College.

The aborigines at the station, both children and adult, were sufficiently clothed, and as far as we could judge they were also fairly fed.

There was only a small garden imperfectly cultivated; the drought had destroyed the last crop. 100 acres have been enclosed for a cultivation paddock, 10 acres of which had been sown with wheat. Water is obtained from a well which had been sunk by Mr. Gribble, with some assistance from the blacks.

We now proceed to describe the Maloga station.

Maloga is situated about 15 miles from Moama, on the banks of the Murray River, and on the edge of an extensive forest reserve. The station improvements are on a freehold of 121 acres, charted in the names of W. and D. Matthews, adjoining a section of 320 acres in the name of W. Matthews, and another selection of like size in the name of Mr. D. Matthews, who is now in charge of the mission. The freehold and selections are well chosen, being on pine sand-hills of fairly fertile character, and forming a cheerful contrast to the adjacent forest reserve, which is heavily covered in great measure with comparatively useless timber. This, if cleared away, would add greatly to the value of the good timber to be left standing, and the grazing quality of the land would be also much improved. On the whole, we consider the situation a very eligible one.

Mr. Matthews has a small and indifferently cultivated garden; also a cleared paddock, with a few head of live stock.

The buildings on the station are somewhat similar to those at Warangesda, but in some respects inferior and older—the station having been formed some eight years ago. They were certainly not in such good order. The schoolroom is large enough; it is also used for meals.

Mr. Matthews is a duly-appointed Public School teacher, with a salary of £168 per annum, but he was almost without school requisites; indeed, when asked for them, he could not find two primary reading-lesson books alike. However, the result of the examination conducted by us (the pupils being selected indiscriminately) was more satisfactory than at Warangesda, owing probably to the school having been so much longer in action.

Appendix B affords information as to the population at the mission, distinguishing adults, children, full blacks, half-castes, &c.

We caused notices to be inserted in the newspapers of both districts, notifying the object of our visit, the days on which we proposed to be at each station, and inviting any persons who had evidence to tender, or information to give, to be in attendance; there was, however, no response. We had, therefore, to content ourselves with questioning persons at the stations, and reliable neighbouring residents in an unofficial manner.

We

We have no hesitation in expressing our opinion that some further aid ought to be extended the aborigines generally, and we will endeavour to lay down lines within which we consider such assistance should be afforded, and which it may be found necessary and proper to extend to other districts of the Colony.

We strongly deprecate the practice which has obtained at both the mission stations of keeping thereat children beyond the age of infancy, chiefly half-castes or quadroons, some of whom are so fair as to be indistinguishable from Europeans. Some of the children referred to are with their half-caste mothers, who would, we believe, willingly part with them, if assured that it would be for their benefit. Others, however, of the children have no such ties. It is only necessary for us to state, in connection with this subject, that some of the women have been of depraved habits, and though hopes were expressed of their reformation, it is painfully obvious that they should not be the constant companions of the younger half-caste and quadroon girls to whom we have made reference.

We disapprove of the system adopted at both stations of expelling inmates for any contravention of the rules of the establishment. It would seem that to expel anyone would only be to force them back to and within the reach of those vices from which it is the object of the supporters of the missions to withdraw them. Doubtless some discipline is necessary, but it should be in the nature of curtailment of indulgences and privileges, expulsion being reserved for persons guilty of wilful misconduct of a serious nature.

We endeavoured to elicit from Mr. Gribble and Mr. Matthews what might be the ulterior benefit they were devoting themselves to achieve on behalf of the children; but beyond the prospective result of their present moral training and education, neither of these gentlemen was able to explain his views satisfactorily to us as to any future advantages to be derived by the children by retaining them in an aboriginal asylum. We fail to see any. On the contrary, we think they should be so further trained as to fit them to take their places as domestic servants, or amongst the industrial classes; and this, we conceive, would be best attained by "boarding out" the young of both sexes, chiefly the half-castes, but including even those also of full aboriginal blood, when practicable.

The indisposition of the aborigines to manual labour is well known; but as they can obtain work of various kinds in the country they should not only be induced to take it, but they should be discouraged from remaining in comparative idleness at mission stations, where they will certainly abide so long as they are provided with food and clothing, without some corresponding demand being made upon their labour.

Many of the men, however, do at certain seasons leave the mission stations to earn wages at shearing-sheds, kangaroo-hunting, &c., and they generally bring back their wages to assist in the support of their families. At Maloga they complain that the horses they use on these journeys are not allowed to graze on Mr. Matthews' selections, and they have therefore to turn them adrift on the adjoining runs; neither are they allowed to keep poultry.

With reference to the present management of the mission stations, we should do injustice to Messrs. Gribble and Matthews were we to discredit their devotion to the work to which they have applied themselves, apparently to the impoverishment of their families; nor have we any desire to detract from the measure of success which has attended their labours, or to question the personal influence they have gained over the blacks. We think, however, it will be advisable, if aboriginal stations are to be formed and conducted under the control of the Government, that the services of persons should be obtained with such qualifications as will in all respects ensure the goodwill and co-operation of the neighbouring population and the confidence of the public.

It would be an advantage if a synopsis of the result of the information recently collected for the protection of aborigines, respecting the race throughout the Colony, could be appended to this Report for consideration in connection therewith.

We now desire to recapitulate some of the recommendations contained in the preceding pages, and to add some further suggestions for your consideration, and we do so because we are under the impression that our report of the working of these stations would be incomplete unless accompanied by some such additional recommendations relative to them specially, and generally to the protection of the aborigines throughout the Colony.

Our inquiry naturally divided itself into two objects. First, to enable us to judge of the necessity for such establishments at all; and secondly, to qualify us to give an opinion to the Government, whether or not the principles of the present management were so sound and efficient as to warrant the grant of substantial aid from the public purse.

1. Although Maloga and Warangesda are not in all respects what homes for the aborigines could and ought to be, we are by no means in favour of their abandonment. We think if our suggestions are generally carried out at these places, and if new stations are formed on the principles on which these suggestions are based, the condition of the race would be very materially ameliorated.

2. We recommend that at Maloga about 2,000 acres of the forest reserve be appropriated, to comprise also the two selections of the Messrs. Matthews, long since liable to forfeiture by non-payment of interest; the Government would no doubt deal liberally by paying them for their improvements on the selections; and further, to purchase from them the 121 acres which they hold in fee-simple, and on which are erected all the buildings now used by the mission, with a view to consolidating the station reserve.

3. That at Warangesda the present reserve be extended in respect to the 400 acres applied for; and that in other parts of the Colony reserves be made for future aboriginal stations, as necessity may arise.

We have made these recommendations as to reserves not without some doubt whether the two stations referred to are not too near to each other in view of the small number of blacks in the district.

4. That Maloga, Warangesda, and all such other stations as may be formed, be under the control of a public officer acting in the capacity of schoolmaster, storkeeper, and overseer, with an assistant if necessary.

5. That the Government erect (with aboriginal labour as far as practicable) suitable buildings; the dwelling-houses to be sufficiently separated to prevent confusion of interests, yet near enough to afford mutual protection, each family being permitted to have an enclosure of reasonable dimensions to afford room for gardening, poultry-rearing, &c. The allotments to be marked out and the occupants placed in possession, so that they may feel a reasonable security in their holdings.

6. We do not think it necessary that lands reserved for aboriginal stations should be vested in trustees, so long as the Government, acting through the protectorate of aborigines, undertakes their management.

7. That aid from the public funds be afforded in the shape of food and clothing for the infirm, and such women and children as cannot be provided for by husbands or fathers; for tools for the men for building, gardening, and field work; and for medical attendance for the stations generally. Blankets would of course be issued in accordance with the usual practice; also on coast stations fishing-boats would be provided as heretofore. The men and boys over twelve years of age should be expected to maintain themselves by labour on the station, or at neighbouring homesteads. It is assumed that at shearing time, and under the provisions of the Pastures and Stock Protection Act, they will earn enough to keep themselves and their families whilst out of other employment. During sickness, or unforeseen difficulties, it would be reasonable that they should be supplied with food at the discretion of the overseer.

8. That the overseer be expected to interest himself in training the aborigines in habits of industry, such as bush carpentering, gardening, farming, cutting firewood, &c., and in disposing of the products of their industry to the best advantage for their benefit. It would be unnecessary to point out to any intelligent person acting in the capacity of overseer the numerous ways in which their industry could be turned to account.

9. In view of the possible temporary failure of the funds of the New South Wales Aborigines Protection Association and of other contributions towards the support of the missions at Maloga and Warangesda, and also of the paucity of stores now in hand, we recommend that the Government shall at once supply these stations with assistance in the shape of food and clothing. The purchase of a few sheep should also be authorized. The expenditure of the necessary funds to be under the direction of the nearest responsible Government official, subject to the control of the Protector of the Aborigines.

10. With a few stations in the country for the location of the adult aborigines and their young children, under the charge of properly qualified persons, and supported to a reasonable extent by the Government, we think the unsatisfactory condition of the race may be greatly improved. It is only reasonable that the aborigines should be allowed to remain on their native soil and in their tribal districts in due security and comfort; but it appears to be equally reasonable and important that the younger half-castes should be withdrawn from their midst and gradually absorbed into the general community, young quadroon and half-caste children who are without parents being first removed, with a view to being placed in an institution or boarded out. Subsequently, other children might be withdrawn with the consent of their parents, and others of useful ages may be selected from time to time by persons who, after due inquiry, may be found eligible and willing to avail themselves of their services—the girls for domestic work, and the lads for farm or station employment. Regard will, doubtless, be paid to the feelings of the parents or other adults interested in the children's welfare.

11. We would recommend that rules be framed for administration and discipline of the proposed establishments and for the protection of the rights and property of aborigines thereat, as well as for their general care. That instructions be given to the police generally to afford prompt and practical assistance when required for the furtherance of the above objects.

12. The present system of allowing blacks free passages in the railways should be discontinued, so as to restrict them from idly wandering about from place to place. Special passes might be granted on the authority of the officer in charge of their respective stations, or such other officer as may be authorized in that behalf by the Government.

We do not desire to undervalue, but rather to express our full appreciation of the work which has so far been performed by the New South Wales Aborigines Protection Association. We think, however, that the time has arrived when the Government should take upon itself the responsibilities and duties which the society may not always be able, and possibly cannot be expected adequately to meet and provide for. The philanthropic intentions of its members will no doubt find full scope in the furtherance of the amelioration of the present condition of the original native race, especially in objects relative thereto which may be beyond the province of the Government to deal with.

We have, &c.,

PHILIP GIDLEY KING, M.L.C.

EDMUND FOSBERY,

Inspector-General of Police.

APPENDIX A.

Number of blacks receiving supplies and instruction at Warangesda for the year 1882, as per return furnished by the Rev. J. B. Gribble:—Blacks: Adults, 45; children, 10. Half-castes: Adults, 15; children, 30. Quadroons: Adults, 2; children, 8. Total: Adults, 62; children, 48. Of these only 40 adults and 40 children were at Warangesda at the time of inspection.

APPENDIX B.

Number of blacks receiving supplies and instruction at Maloga for the year 1882, as per return furnished by Mr. D. Matthews:—Blacks: Adults, 28; children, 14. Half-castes: Adults, 31; children, 31. Quadroons: Children, 6. Total: Adults, 59; children, 51. Of these only 51 children and 17 adults were at Maloga at time of inspection.

APPENDIX C.

Government aid has been afforded to the Aboriginal Mission Stations at Maloga and Warangesda, as under:—

The salaries of the teachers at both missions have been paid by the Department of Public Instruction, and school requisites have been supplied.

Blankets have been issued to all aborigines on the stations.

A reserve of 600 acres of land has been made at Warangesda.

The sum of £828 7s. has been expended for rations at Maloga from March, 1877, to July 4, 1882.

The police have afforded constant practical assistance and protection to both stations.

Facilities have been afforded for the carriage of supplies by the Railway Department.

Minute

Minute of the Colonial Secretary.

Send to the Departments to which allusion is herein made for consideration of its Minister.—
 JOHN R., 12/8/82.

No. 4.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Protector of the Aborigines.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 16 August, 1882.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to transmit herewith, for your information, a copy of the Report of Messrs. P. G. King, M.L.C., and Edmund Fosbery, Inspector-General of Police, on the 8 August, 1882, Aboriginal Mission Stations at Warangesda and Malaga.

I have, &c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

No. 5.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Under-Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 16 August, 1882.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to transmit herewith, for the consideration of the Secretary for Lands, a copy of the Report of Messrs. P. G. King, M.L.C., and Edmund Fosbery, 8 August, 1882, Inspector-General of Police, on the Aboriginal Missions Stations at Warangesda and Malaga.

I have, &c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

No. 6.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Under-Secretary for Public Works.

[Similar to and of same date as No. 5.]

No. 7.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Under-Secretary, Public Instruction.

[Similar to and of same date as No. 5.]

No. 8.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Under-Secretary for Mines.

[Similar to and of same date as No. 5.]

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

DAWES' POINT.

(CORRESPONDENCE RELATIVE TO THE HANDING OVER OF, TO IMPERIAL NAVAL AUTHORITIES.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 6 April, 1883.

RETURN to an Address made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 29 March, 1883, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all letters, telegrams, and correspondence between the Imperial Government and the Government of New South Wales, and all other documents, papers, and minutes, &c., relative to the handing over of Dawes' Point to the Imperial Naval Authorities.”

(Mr. Merriman.)

DAWES' POINT.

Minute by Colonial Secretary.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 29 October, 1875.

THE question of the exchange of Garden Island and the stores near the Circular Quay, now in the hands of the naval authorities of Her Majesty, for Fort Macquarie, was delayed for the purpose of obtaining a plan of the land asked for by the late and much lamented Commodore Goodenough. While the preparation of the plan was going on, the late Commodore intimated that he would prefer having a portion of land near Campbell's Wharf and between that and Dawes' Battery. The negotiations in the matter of these exchanges respectively were postponed in consequence of the absence from the Colony of the late Commodore.

A communication should, I think, be made to Captain Chapman, the present Commodore, calling his attention to the matter, and intimating the willingness of this Government to make the exchange in accord with the last-mentioned views of Commodore Goodenough.

It will be as well, as a matter of courtesy to Captain Chapman, to send him the plan of Fort Macquarie, retaining a copy, but by no means communicating the willingness of this Government to give up Fort Macquarie without further consideration.

His Excellency.—JOHN R., 29/10/75.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

* Appendix A.

Copy this memo., and send it with accompanying plan* to Commodore Chapman. Then return all the papers to C.S. office.—H.R., 31/10/75. The Principal Under-Secretary.—W.H.H., B.C., 1/11/75.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor.

New South Wales, No. 43.

Sir,

Downing-street, 17 July, 1878.

With reference to the concluding paragraph of your despatch No. 19, of the 6th February,* in which you state that you presume that there will not be any objection to the general surrender of all Ordnance Reserves into the hands of the Colonial Government, with the exception only of such portions as may be desired by the Admiralty for naval purposes, I request that you will furnish me with a Schedule of the reserves to which reference is made. This subject was inadvertently overlooked in my former reply to your despatch.

I have, &c.,

M. E. FICKS-BEACH.

Colonial Secretary.—Will you be so good as to call for the Schedule desired.—H.R., 3/9/78. Secretary for Lands.—M.F., 5/9. Under-Secretary for Lands, 9th Oct., 1878.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Under-Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 5 September, 1878.

In transmitting to you the accompanying copy of a despatch from the Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary, by command of His Excellency the Governor, to request that you will invite the Secretary for Lands to have the goodness to cause me to be furnished with a Schedule of all the Ordnance Reserves therein referred to.

I have, &c.,

M. R. ALLAN.

17 July, 1878

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Under-Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 9 October, 1878.

Referring to my letter of the 5th ultimo, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request that you will invite the Secretary for Lands to have the goodness to cause me to be furnished with the Schedule of the Ordnance Reserves therein asked for.

I have, &c.,

M. R. ALLAN.

The Under-Secretary for Lands to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 9 October, 1878.

With reference to your letter of to-day's date, and previous one*, on the subject of the proposed general surrender of all Ordnance Reserves in this Colony into the hands of the Colonial Government, with the exception only of such portions as may be desired by the Admiralty for naval purposes, I am directed to inform you, that as the Colonial Architect is the Trustee of the Ordnance Lands leased by the Government, that officer has been asked to furnish a Schedule of the reserves in question, as it is not known in this office whether all the Ordnance Lands are so held under lease by the Government.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

* 5 September, 1878.

The Under-Secretary for Lands to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Department of Lands, Sydney, 29 October, 1878.

With reference to my letter of the 9th instant, in reply to yours of same date, on the subject of the proposed general surrender of Ordnance Reserves into the hands of the Colonial Government, I am directed to enclose, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, a Schedule of those reserves, as requested in your letter under reply.

I have, &c.,

W. W. STEPHEN.

Will

Will the Ordnance Storekeeper please complete the Schedule, which is, it is believed, defective as regards the omission therefrom of the Victoria Barracks, &c., &c. B.C., 1/11/78.—M.R.A. The Schedule has been completed so far as I know of.—J.B., 6/11/78. His Excellency.—M.F., 7/11. Send Schedule to Secretary of State with covering despatch, by to-day's mail.—H.R., 7/11/78. Schedule forwarded in despatch of 7th Nov., 1878, No. 126.—H.S.L., Pri. Sec., 7/11/78.

His Excellency the Governor to The Secretary of State for the Colonies.
Schedule of Ordnance Reserves.

Sir, Government House, 7 November, 1878.
In compliance with the request contained in your despatch No. 43, of 17 July last, I have the honor to forward a Schedule* of the Ordnance Reserves at present leased to the Government of the Colony by the Imperial Government, at a nominal rent.
I have, &c.,
HERCULES ROBINSON.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to The Officer Administering the Government of New South Wales.

New South Wales, No. 65.

Sir, Downing-street, 8 May, 1879.
With reference to Sir Hercules Robinson's despatch No. 19,* of 6th February, and No. 126 of 7th November, 1878, and to my despatch No. 43 of 17 July last, respecting the proposed surrender to the Government of New South Wales of certain Ordnance Reserves now leased to the Colony by the Imperial Government, I have the honor to transmit to you, for your own information and for that of your Government, the accompanying copies of a correspondence which has passed on the subject between the War Office, the Board of Admiralty, and this department.
You will observe that the Secretary of State for War has no objection to the transfer to the Colonial Government, under the provisions of the Colonial Fortifications Act of 1877, of the reserves as detailed in the Schedule which accompanied Sir Hercules Robinson's despatch No. 126, of 7th November, 1878, as soon as the exchange proposed by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty in their letter of 25th February shall have been effected.
I shall be glad to be informed by you of the settlement of the exchange. Meanwhile I shall invite the concurrence of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, and on hearing from you that the exchange is arranged, I shall be prepared to make the requisite representation to Her Majesty and to obtain an Order in Council for affecting the general transfer.
I have, &c.,
M. E. HICKS-BEACH.

[Enclosures.]

The Colonial Office to The Admiralty.

Sir, Downing-street, 10 January, 1879.
A question is under the consideration of the Secretary of State respecting the proposed transfer, under the Colonial Fortifications Act 1877, to New South Wales, of certain Ordnance Reserves now leased to the Colony by the Imperial Government.
I am desired to enclose a Schedule of the reserves in question, and to state that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach would be glad to be informed, before communicating with the War Office in regard to the transfer, whether the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty would wish any, and if so, what portions of the lands scheduled to be retained for Admiralty purposes.
I am, &c.,
R. W. HERBERT.

The Admiralty to The Colonial Office.

Sir, Admiralty, 3 February, 1879.
In reply to your letter of the 10th instant, enclosing a Schedule of Ordnance Reserves in New South Wales, now leased to the Colony by the Imperial Government, I am commanded by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to state that, by arrangement with the Colonial Government, a portion of the store-house on Circular Quay, Sydney, has for some years past been used as a Depot for Naval Stores. My Lords are, however, informed that the Government of New South Wales would be glad to resume possession of the building, and to give in exchange a suitable site elsewhere. If this is the case, my Lords will be prepared to negotiate a transfer on equitable terms; and they consider that, with a view to this, it would be desirable that the interest of the Secretary of State for War in the property in question should be transferred to them.
None of the other reserves comprised in the Schedule are required for the Naval Service.
I am, &c.,
ROBERT HALL.

The Colonial Office to The Admiralty.

Sir, Downing-street, 12 February, 1879.
In reply to your letter of the 3rd instant, on the subject of the surrender to the Colony of New South Wales of certain Ordnance Reserves now held by lease from the Imperial Government, I am directed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies to point out to you, for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that, by the Colonial Fortifications Act of 1877, machinery is provided only for a transfer from the War Department to the Colonial Government, and that the making over to their Lordships of the single parcel of land on Circular Quay, Sydney, might be attended with some difficulty.
I am however to request that you will state to their Lordships that, if it meets with their concurrence, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach will be prepared to suggest to the War Office that the transfer of the other reserves should be deferred until the exchange proposed in your letter has been effected, and will inform the Governor to the same effect.
I am, &c.,
J. BRAMSTON.

The Admiralty to The Colonial Office.

Sir, Admiralty, 25 February, 1879.
With reference to your letter of the 12th instant, I am commanded by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to inform you that they consider it of great importance that the reserves referred to should not be finally handed over to the Government of New South Wales until suitable provision has been made for the accommodation of the Naval Stores, either at Fort Macquarie or at some other spot to be agreed upon; and I am to request that you will move Sir Michael Hicks-Beach to suggest to the War Office that this transfer should be delayed accordingly.
I am, &c.,
ROBERT HALL.

The

The Colonial Office to The War Office.

Sir,

Downing-street, 18 March, 1879.

With reference to the letter from this department of the 26th of April last, and to your reply of the 30th of May, respecting the surrender to the Colony of New South Wales of a small portion of the Victoria Barracks Square, Sydney, I am directed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies to transmit to you, to be laid before Secretary Colonel Stanley, the accompanying copy of a correspondence with the Governor of New South Wales, together with copies of communications which have passed between this Office and the Admiralty, arising out of the request contained in the concluding paragraph of the Governor's Despatch No. 19, of 6th of February, 1878, of which a copy was transmitted to you in my letter of the 26th of April above referred to.

I am desired to inquire whether, in the opinion of the Secretary of State for War, there would be any objection to the transfer to the Colonial Government, under the provisions of the Colonial Fortifications Act of 1877, of the whole of the Ordnance Reserves detailed in the Schedule sent home by the Governor, as soon as the exchange proposed by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty shall have been effected.

I am, &c.,
J. BRAMSTON.

The War Office to The Colonial Office.

Sir,

War Office, 19 April, 1879.

With reference to your letter dated 18th March, 1879, on the subject of the proposed transfer to the Government of New South Wales of the Ordnance Reserves detailed in the Schedule sent home by the Governor, I am directed by the Secretary of State for War to acquaint you, for the information of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, that there will be no objection to the transfer to the Colonial Government, under the provisions of the Colonial Fortifications Act of 1877 of the War Department Lands named in the Schedule, subject to the completion of the exchange of land proposed by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty referred to in the last paragraph of your letter under reply.

I have, &c.,
EUSTACE CECIL.

The Colonial Office to The Admiralty.

Sir,

Downing-street, 30 April, 1879.

With respect to your letter of the 25th of February, respecting the proposed surrender to the Colony of New South Wales of certain Ordnance Reserves now held by lease from the Imperial Government, I am directed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies to transmit to you, to be laid before the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, the accompanying copy of a letter from the War Office, in reply to the reference which was made on the subject to that department.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach desires me to say that he will forward copies of the correspondence to the Governor of the Colony, and will inform him that when the matter is finally arranged, which it is presumed will be effected by negotiations between the Commodore on the station and the local Government, the Treasury will be invited to join in the requisite representation to the Privy Council to give final effect to the general transfer.

I am, &c.,
J. BRAMSTON.

Col. Sec.—A.L., 10/7/79.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor.

New South Wales, No. 6.

My Lord,

Downing-street, 20 May, 1880.

With reference to my predecessor's despatch, No. 65, of the 8th May, 1879, respecting the proposed surrender to the Government of New South Wales of certain Ordnance Reserves now leased to the Colony by the Imperial Government, I have the honor to request that you will inform me whether the preliminary negotiation with the Commodore for an exchange of land between the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty and your Government is completed.

The Lords Commissioners of the Treasury have already signified that they will be prepared, as soon as the proposed exchange is concluded, to join with me in making the necessary representation to Her Majesty with the view of effecting the general transfer.

I have, &c.,
KIMBERLEY.

Col. Sec., for the information desired.—A.L., 2/7/80.

Commodore Wilson to His Excellency the Governor.

My Lord,

H.M.S. "Wolverene, in Hobson's Bay, 14 October, 1880.

With reference to previous correspondence on the subject of a site for the Naval Depot at Sydney, I have the honor to acquaint you that the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have informed me that they consider a site for a permanent Depot should be set apart as soon as possible, and they suggest either Dawes' Point or Fort Macquarie as the most suitable.

I am also in receipt of instructions as to the transfer of property and the conditions, but refrain from touching on that part of the subject until the question of the site where the Naval Yard is to be situated has been definitely settled.

Their Lordships desire that best endeavours may be used to obtain a settlement of this question.

I have, &c.,
J. C. WILSON,
Commodore.

Commodore Wilson to His Excellency the Governor.

My Lord,

H.M.S. "Wolverene," at Hobart, 22 January, 1881.

The subject of removal of a stone house in the possession of the Imperial Government having again been brought to my notice by your Lordship's minute of the 18th instant,* by which it appears that the Colonial Government is anxious that such removal should be effected as soon as possible, I have no objection to such taking place, provided a house suitable to the requirements of the present occupant of

C.O. to Govr.
No. 43, 17 July,
78.
Govr. No. 126,
7 Nov., 1878.
C.O. to Admy.,
10 Jan., 1879.
Admy. 3 Feb.,
1879.
C.O. to Admy.,
12 Feb., 1879.
Admy. 25.

9 April, 1879.

No record appears to have been kept of this minute.

of the one in question, and on a site approved by the Paymaster in charge of the Royal Naval Depot, Sydney, be erected at the expense of the Colonial authorities. At the same time, I would take this opportunity of again impressing upon your Lordship the desirability of at once bringing the subject of erecting a new Royal Naval Depot at Sydney to an issue.

I have, &c.,
J. C. WILSON,
Commodore.

Minute by Colonial Secretary.

At the Cabinet the other day the question was raised as to whether the old Imperial Stores and land at Queen's Wharf were not the property of the local Government. I wish to know how the matter stands. I suppose the papers relating to the property must be in this office.—H.P., 16/6/81.

Ordnance Reserves.—Short statement of the facts of the case.

It appears that the premises at* Queen's Wharf were, on the 2nd of September, 1859, under instructions from the War Office, formally surrendered (with "all" other "military buildings in the Colony") by the Assistant Military Storekeeper, on the one part, to the Acting Colonial Architect on the other.

Apparently this is the "single parcel of land on Circular Quay" mentioned in enclosures to Despatches M. ³⁶⁰/₃₀₁ B,* which it is desired to have transferred to the Admiralty, with a view to the subsequent transfer of all Ordnance Reserves, for a consideration, to the Colonial Government.

* See despatches numbered 65 and 6, preceding pages.

Memo. by Colonial Secretary to The Crown Solicitor.

The Crown Solicitor,—

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 22 June, 1881.

A question is before the Government of granting to the Imperial Government a suitable site for a Naval Dock Yard, in exchange for the land and buildings between the Queen's Wharf and George-street. I should be glad if Mr. Williams will look into these papers, and inform me as to whether the land and buildings in question have not already been surrendered to the Colony. The matter is pressing.

H.P.

B.C., 22/6/81.—C.W.

The Crown Solicitor to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Crown Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 15 July, 1881.

I have the honor to return the papers relating to the surrender to the Colonial Government of the Commissariat Stores, Circular Quay; and, with reference to the printed papers of 1857*, headed "Commissariat Stores," and the letter from the War Office, of date the 11th March, 1859†, under which possession of these buildings was given to the Colonial Government, forwarded with your minute of 7th July instant, to state I think they do not remove the doubt as to whether these buildings were handed over to the Colonial Government unconditionally, or upon the understanding that provision should be made for the stores required to be kept at the Naval Depot.

* Volume 3, Session 1856-7.

2. The building in question is erected upon land set apart as a Military Reserve when the Colony was a Crown Colony. Upon the surrender of Military Reserves, in 1851 and 1853, this store and the Powder Magazine at Goat Island were retained by the Imperial Government, and, in September, 1859, were handed over by the Ordnance Department to the Colonial Government.

3. From the memorandum of Mr. Wilkinson upon delivering possession to Mr. Cole, who received same on account of the Colonial Government, and the letter from the War Office to the Officer Commanding the Troops at Sydney, directing the surrender, it would appear as if the surrender was intended to be a final relinquishment of the buildings to the Colonial Government. This letter, however, refers to an extract of a Colonial Office Despatch to the Governor of New South Wales, dated 11 March, 1858†, which may possibly have stated condition upon which the surrender would be made.

These letters cannot be traced

4. It will be noticed that the land upon which the buildings stand was not like other lands set apart for Military purposes granted to the Ordnance Department, but always remained a reserve vested in the Crown. A list of the land granted to the Board of Ordnance is sent herewith. (See Schedule, page 7.)

5. The correspondence subsequent to the letter of the Admiralty of 3rd February, 1879, it may be said, also seems to assume that these buildings had been absolutely surrendered. The letter from the Colonial Office to the Admiralty, dated 12th February, 1879, states that Sir M. H.-Beach is prepared to suggest to the War Office that the transfers of the other reserves should be deferred until the exchange proposed by the Admiralty has been effected: a form of expression which would hardly be used if it was considered that the Imperial Government retained the same right of reserving possession of this land which it undoubtedly possesses with respect to the other Military Reserves now in the possession of the Colonial Government.

6. On the other hand, it appears that Sir William Denison's letter of 3 March, 1866†, suggests that the arrangement which applied to the Barracks and other buildings under the charge of the Ordnance Department should be made applicable to these buildings, with the further condition that sufficient accommodation should be made for stores for the Naval and Military Service; and I should not omit to state that, as mentioned in my former letter, Mr. Cole's recollection of the terms upon which he understood possession was given to him, appears to be in exact accordance with the suggestion in Sir William Denison's letter. There is also the fact that, upon the buildings being handed over to the Colonial Government, provision was made—and has continued to the present time—for the accommodation of Naval Stores. The letters from the Admiralty of 3rd February, 1879, however, refer to the building being used for this purpose, under an arrangement with the Colonial Government, which, it may be urged, is opposed to the supposition that the right of the Admiralty to use same was reserved by the Imperial Government at the time the buildings were surrendered.

7. From the correspondence with the Home Government respecting the widening of Green's Road and the setting back of the Barrack wall at Paddington, it is clear that the Imperial Government still considers, and the Colonial Government has admitted, that the Colony has only the possession of the Military Reserves of which leases have been granted by the Ordnance Department, and that a final and complete surrender of these lands has still to be made.

8. Whether the Commissariat Buildings were handed over upon condition that provision should be made for the stores required at the Naval Depot, or were handed over without condition, but upon the understanding that such provision should be made, cannot, I think, be determined by reference to these papers. It is quite consistent with anything appearing by the correspondence that possession of the Commissariat Store was given to the Colonial Government as a final relinquishment by the War Department of all right to it, and that the arrangement as to the accommodation to be provided for naval stores was made as stated, between the Admiralty and the Colonial Government. If this was the case, there is nothing to prevent the Colonial Government terminating that arrangement and resuming possession; but if this is done, it would seem, from the later portion of the correspondence, that the Imperial Government will not make an absolute surrender to the Colony of the other Military Reserves which, under the leases, are really only held by the Colonial Government as tenants at will, until provision is made for the naval stores.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WILLIAMS,
Crown Solicitor.

The Colonial Secretary to The Commodore.

My dear Commodore,

15 July, 1881.

Respecting the matter in which you feel so much interest, the site for a Naval Depot at Sydney, I will shortly communicate with you officially. In the meantime you may consider the question settled to your entire satisfaction. Supposing then there should be no consideration of exchange of properties, we should still be anxious to meet the wishes of the Imperial Government, not only consenting to a suitable site, and doing whatever is reasonable in the matter, but in setting apart in a liberal spirit the most eligible site, having a due regard to the maritime and commercial interests of Sydney as the capital of the Colony.

There are some points of inquiry to clear up in respect to the Commissariat Stores, but so soon as these points are decided I will submit, through His Excellency the Governor, the proposal of the Government. In the final settlement we would much like to have Garden Island restored to us.

As you must be aware, this island, from its close proximity to the Domain and Botanic Gardens, is required to complete what may be called the Public Pleasure Grounds of our Metropolis.

The purposes of the Government arising out of the late inquiry into our Defences have not yet taken definite shape, but we shall undoubtedly adopt the recommendations for giving to the Naval Brigade some training afloat. In view of this important change, we intend applying to the Imperial Government to make over to us, as a royal gift, your good ship the "Wolverene." I think you will agree with us that our Naval Brigade men would soon be able to handle the "Wolverene" without discredit to the naval fame of the Empire.

I remain, &c.,

HENRY PARKES.

Minute for His Excellency by The Colonial Secretary.

THE troublesome matters respectively of a suitable Naval Depot in Port Jackson and the claims of the Imperial authorities to certain lands in New South Wales having been for many years unsettled, they were again re-opened by the letters of Admiral Wilson, of date respectively 14th October, 1880, and 22nd January, 1881.

Almost throughout the whole period of office of the present Government, and indeed for many years before its existence, the present Acting Colonial Secretary has been kept familiar with every particular of importance involved; and as he had the advantage of several conversations with regard to them with Sir Henry Parkes before he left the Colony, inconvenience from the absence of certain of the papers is not so great as it would have been otherwise.

Sir Henry Parkes expressed a wish that the present Acting Colonial Secretary should deal with them before the departure of Admiral Wilson; and having consulted the Cabinet, he is authorized by his Colleagues to make the following communication to your Lordship for the Admiral's information.

Ministers are willing to seek the authority of Parliament to enable them to resume a portion of land in Lower George-street (bounded southerly from the line of Lower George-street by the A.S.N. Co.'s Wharf, &c., property to the waters of Port Jackson, easterly by the waters of Port Jackson to Dawes' Battery Reserve, northerly by that reserve to Lower George-street, and westerly by Lower George-street to the point of commencement); and to give up all right to the adjoining land (commencing at the south-western corner of the Dawes' Battery Reserve, at a point abutting on Lower George-street and adjoining land the resumption of which is in contemplation, extending thence easterly to the waters of Port Jackson by a line separating the same from the last-mentioned land; thence by the waters of Port Jackson to Lower George-street, and by the easterly side of that street to the point of commencement, as shown on the accompanying plan*); also to ask Parliament to authorize the erection of a suitable Admiral's residence, and stores and other buildings suitable for a Naval Yard, on condition that the Imperial Government surrender to this Government all lands in New South Wales which have at any time been granted to Her Majesty's Board of Ordnance; also, the old Commissariat Stores, bounded by Lower George-street, Argyle-street, and the Circular Quay; and also Garden Island and all other lands in the Colony, whether granted or not, and upon which the Imperial Government possesses any claim.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 17 January, 1882.

Memorandum as to proposed surrender of Ordnance lands and buildings by the Imperial to the Colonial Government, and the creation by the Colonial Government of a new naval establishment, &c., at Dawes' Point.

Of these lands and buildings the greater part is vested (by grants from the Crown anterior to the passing of the Constitution Act) in the Board of Ordnance in England, and is held by the Colonial Government on lease at a nominal rent. A Schedule of these is appended.

There are also certain lands which have never been so granted, but to which the Imperial Government lays claim. These are Garden Island and the old Commissariat Store on Circular Quay.

The Commissariat Store became the property of the Colony under the Constitution Act, not having been (as were those first abovementioned) alienated by the Crown in any way before the passing of that Act. The Colonial Government has not, however, up to this time disturbed the Imperial authorities in the free use of it.

Garden Island also became the property of the Colony under the Constitution Act, not having been alienated at any time anterior to that Act. The island was, however (it is understood) handed over to the Imperial authorities by the first responsible Government for a Naval Yard. For that purpose it has unquestionably been a complete failure.

Successive Governments of New South Wales have during many years been desirous of obtaining the surrender of these lands to the Colony; while on the part of the Imperial Government a desire has been expressed to have a suitable site set apart and arrangements made for a Naval Depot in Port Jackson. During the time of Commodore Stirling it was intimated by him that provision had been made by the Imperial Government with a view to the building of a Naval Store on Garden Island, and the Colonial Architect was instructed to confer with the Commodore and prepare plans. His successor, however (Commodore Goodenough) wrote (23rd November, 1874) to say that he had been instructed to report on the various points at which a permanent Naval Depot might be formed; and he asked to be informed whether the Government of New South Wales "would be prepared to consider the possibility of giving a site on Macquarie Point for Imperial Naval purposes in lieu of the Depot now occupied on Circular Quay," Fort Macquarie being for certain reasons preferable to Garden Island. In consideration of this, he was prepared (as he explained in private correspondence) to give up both the Circular Quay Store and Garden Island. Hereupon Sir John Robertson (then Colonial Secretary) ordered the preparation of a plan of the site indicated by the Commodore. The matter was then referred to the Cabinet. On the 29th October, 1875, Sir John Robertson sent to the Governor (Sir Hercules Robinson) his Cabinet minute on the subject. This minute further shows that, while the plan above-mentioned was in preparation, Commodore Goodenough had "intimated that he would prefer having a portion of land near Campbell's Wharf, and between that and Dawes' Battery," but that the negotiations were postponed on account of the Commodore's absence. Sir John Robertson went on to suggest that a communication should be made to Captain Chapman (the new Commodore) "calling his attention to the matter, and intimating the willingness of the Government to make the exchange in accord with the last-mentioned views of Commodore Goodenough." This minute was accordingly communicated to the Commodore by the Governor, 1 November, 1875.

There is no record of any further action till the beginning of 1878, when Sir Hercules Robinson (in connection with the surrender of a portion of the Victoria Barrack enclosure for the forming of Green's Road) took occasion to suggest to the Secretary of State the general surrender of all the Ordnance Reserves to the Colony, with the exception of such portions as might be desired by the Admiralty for Naval purposes. After asking for and obtaining a Schedule of the reserves in question, the Secretary of State, in his despatch of 8th May, 1879, forwarded copies of correspondence showing that the Secretary of State for War was willing to assent to the proposed transfer, as soon as provision should be made of a suitable site for a Naval Yard in accordance with the wishes of the Lords of the Admiralty.

Some time last year the matter was taken up by Sir Henry Parkes (Colonial Secretary), and was more particularly investigated by Sir John Robertson (then Vice-President of the Executive Council), who more recently, after conferring with the late Commodore (Admiral Wilson), has brought the matter into a convenient shape for final settlement, by his minute of 17th January, 1882. This minute was forwarded by His Excellency to Commodore Wilson, for his information, on the 20th instant. 24th January, 1882.

SCHEDULE.

Lands granted to the Principal Officers of Ordnance.

	Area.	Date of grant.
Parramatta—	a. r. p.
Military Barracks	1 0 13	Aug. 4, 1843.
Do. do.	7 1 18	Jan. 30, 1846.
Windsor	0 3 39	Aug. 4, 1843.
Liverpool	0 1 9	Aug. 4, 1843.
Bathurst	14 3 24	Dec. 18, 1844.
Newcastle	16 1 15	June 5, 1847.
Pinchgut Island	Jan. 30, 1841.
Dawes' Battery	7 2 11	July 31, 1844.
Victoria Barracks	29 2 17	July 31, 1850.
Brigade-Major's quarters	0 0 16	Jan. 30, 1844.
Part of Goat Island, Magazine, &c.	Jan. 30, 1844.

N.B.—This Schedule is from an enclosure in the Crown Solicitor's (Mr. Williams's) letter of 15th July, 1881; 81-4983.

Telegram from Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor.

London, 15 June, 1882.

DAWES' POINT accepted. Will transfer reserves, Garden Island, &c., subject building satisfying Admiralty.

KIMBERLEY.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor.

My Lord,

Downing-street, 26 June, 1882.

With reference to my telegram of the 15th instant, and to your despatch No. 33 of the 20th of February, 1882, and to the memorandum by Sir John Robertson in regard to the proposed surrender to the Government of New South Wales of certain lands and buildings by the Imperial Government, and the erection by the Colonial Government of a new naval establishment at Dawes' Point, I have the honor to transmit to you a copy of a telegram which was addressed by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to Commodore Erskine on the 30th ultimo, together with a copy of a letter from the Admiralty upon this subject, dated the 14th of June.

I have expressed my concurrence in the views of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to the effect that the transfer of the reserves should not be finally made until the conditions referred to in the Admiralty letter have been fulfilled.

The preparation of the Order in Council under the Colonial Fortifications Act will not, therefore, be proceeded with until the arrangements agreed upon have been completed. In the meantime I shall be glad to receive from you the exact description of the several portions of land to be transferred in the shape in which your Government would wish it to appear in the Schedule to the Order in Council when eventually issued.

It is understood that the ground which it is proposed to resume, and which is shown on the plan enclosed in your despatch No. 15 of the 26th of January, 1882, as adjoining Dawes' Point Reserve on the south, will be included in the site to be appropriated for the naval establishment.

I have, &c.,

KIMBERLEY.

Colonial Secretary,—For the information and decision of the Government, and with the request to be furnished with an exact description of the lands to be transferred.—A.L., 25/8/82.

[Enclosure.]

Telegram to Commodore.

Sydney, 30/5/82.

ACCEPT offer of Dawes' Point. Military Reserves and Garden Island will be surrendered subject to satisfactory buildings for naval purposes being erected.

The Admiralty to The Colonial Office.

Sir,

Admiralty, 14 June, 1882.

With reference to the Treasury decision of the 31st ultimo, with regard to the reserves in New South Wales, which is referred to in your communication of the 6th instant, I am commanded by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to state that they hope that steps will be at once taken for carrying out the arrangement which has been sanctioned, and which is that proposed in Sir John Robertson's memorandum to the Governor, dated the 17th January last, by which the Ordnance Reserves and Garden Island will be finally transferred to the Colony, subject to no other condition than the construction to the satisfaction of the Admiralty of the requisite Naval buildings at Dawes' Point, and the transfer to the Imperial Government of the Naval Establishment so to be formed.

My Lords think it would be desirable that the final transfer of the reserves to the Colony should not take place until these conditions have been fulfilled and the new buildings are ready for occupation.

I am, &c.,

E. N. SWAINSON.

The Under Secretary of State, Colonial Office.

Commodore Erskine to His Excellency the Governor.

Buildings for Naval purposes at Dawes' Point.

My Lord,

"Nelson," at Sydney, 7 March, 1883.

In obedience to orders which I have received from the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, I have now the honor to request that your Government will be pleased to permit the Colonial Architect to place himself in communication with me, and to design the buildings and other works requisite at Dawes' Point for Naval purposes, in accordance with the agreement made by the Colonial Government and accepted by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty by their telegram of 31st May, 1882, copy enclosed.

I have, &c.,

JAMES E. ERSKINE,

Commodore.

The Colonial Secretary—A.L., 8/3/83.

[Enclosure.]

Telegram from Admiralty to Commodore, Sydney.

31 May, 1882.

ACCEPT offer of Dawes' Point. Military reserves and Garden Island will be surrendered subject to satisfactory buildings for Naval purposes being erected.

The

The Colonial Secretary to His Excellency the Governor.

My dear Lord Augustus,

Sydney, Colonial Secretary's Office, 22 March, 1883.

I have given much anxious consideration to the very important subject of the communication you had received from Commodore Erskine expressive of anxiety on the part of the Lords of the Admiralty, as well as of himself, that some steps should be taken towards carrying into effect the agreement made by our predecessors in respect of a Naval Depôt and residence for the Commodore.

You express a desire to know the views of the present Government on the matter.

I cannot better lay before you these views than by enclosing for your perusal, as an official document, a minute upon the subject which I addressed to my Colleagues, and in which they entirely concurred.

If you will kindly forward a copy to the Commodore, and suggest that he place himself in communication with me, I will instruct the Colonial Architect to consult him in reference to such plans as will carry out his views and keep the expenditure within the votes of Parliament.

I have caused £50,000 to be placed on the Additional Estimates, and it will materially help me in getting Parliamentary sanction for it if the Commodore can agree with us upon some solution of the difficulty as laid down in the minute I enclose.

I have, &c.,
ALEX. STUART.

[Enclosure.]

Minute of the Colonial Secretary, for submission to Cabinet, on buildings for Naval purposes at Dawes' Point.

It has become necessary to take into immediate consideration the whole of the circumstances surrounding the abandonment of that portion of the Dawes' Battery Reserve which lies east of Lower George-street, and which is bounded by the waters of Port Jackson, and which, according to an arrangement made by our predecessors with the Imperial Government, was, together with a small strip to be purchased, to form the site of a residence for the Commodore, and to be used as a Naval Depôt. It is unnecessary to go through the voluminous correspondence which has taken place on the subject between the various Governments of the Colony and the several Naval Officers who have from time to time held chief command in these waters. The result of this correspondence was the arrangement made by our predecessors that, in consideration of the cession by the Imperial Government of all lands retained under grants to the Board of Ordnance, and upon which the Imperial Government possessed any claim, this Government undertook to abandon the temporary holding of Dawes' Battery, and to invite Parliament to grant sufficient funds to provide for the residence and depôt in question. I should have preferred larger opportunities of considering this most important question than I now possess; for owing to our very recent acceptance of office, and to the engrossing demands upon our time and attention by Parliamentary business, it has become difficult to consider with due deliberation matters such as this in which such important public interests are involved. But a communication from His Excellency urging speedy attention to this business, and a letter forwarded to the Governor by the Commodore, requesting, in obedience to orders which he has received from the Lords Commissioners to the Admiralty, that the Government place the Colonial Architect in communication with the Commodore, to design the buildings and other works requisite at Dawes' Point for naval purposes, render it impossible to postpone the whole consideration of this case to a more convenient opportunity. I wish at once to place on record my conviction of the desirableness of making this port the head quarters of the British Navy in these seas, and of making all suitable provision which may be required at the hands of the Colonial Government to effect this purpose. I am convinced that no mere consideration of economy should be permitted to interfere with the attainment of so desirable an object; and I have reason to believe that this sentiment would meet with the immediate recognition and hearty sympathy of the Legislature in making the necessary provision for the service. It is only in connection with the site which has been selected and approved of that I feel unable to see my way to carry into immediate execution the arrangements made by our predecessors. I am strongly impressed with the conviction that the selection of the Dawes' Battery Reserve for the public purposes contemplated was, on various grounds, an undesirable proceeding. It appears to me that, in the first place, the site is unsuitable both as a private residence for the Commodore and as a great Naval Depôt for the ships of war in these seas. Its unsuitableness for the first purpose arises from its neighbourhood to some of the largest wharfs and business places of the city. The various lines of mail steamers, foreign and intercolonial, are constantly arriving at and departing from the adjoining wharf. It is a site which would not, I think, be regarded as a desirable one for purposes of private residence by any one who considered retirement and repose as indispensable conditions for comfort. Such a site as that on which a temporary place of residence has been obtained for the Commodore appears to me to be one infinitely more suitable for such a purpose. It is removed from the busiest portions of the city, is surrounded by ample grounds in the neighbourhood of some of the best private residences of citizens, and yet easily accessible both from the city and the harbour. These advantages do not belong to the Dawes' Battery Reserve. It seems to me that it is equally unsuitable for a great Naval Depôt, that it would be a matter of great cost and difficulty to render it in any way fitted for such a purpose, if it could under any circumstances be accomplished; and that the space is altogether too limited for the accommodation which will be absolutely required. If I had been called upon to consider the question simply in the personal interests of the Commodore and in the suitableness of the site for naval purposes, I should, as may be gathered from this Minute, have regarded the arrangement with disfavour; but when I consider it in the interests of the people of this country, I am convinced that it is open to very grave objections. The first of these is unquestionably that it interposes a serious difficulty in the way of the commercial progress of this port. It is only a question of time (and in my judgment of a comparatively short time) when the resumption of the entire water frontage of the harbour will be forced upon the Government, and the dedication to other than commercial purposes would materially interfere with and injuriously affect the necessary development of that progress. This consideration alone would be sufficient to justify the Government in regarding this arrangement with disapproval. But it is not on grounds of commercial convenience alone that I regard this arrangement with disfavour. Though this Dawes' Battery Reserve has been occupied to a limited extent from the earliest period for certain Ordnance purposes, it has been equally used for the enjoyment and recreation of the citizens in the densely populated quarters of West Sydney, where, with the exception of this reserve and the small one on Flagstaff Hill, there are no public recreation grounds whatever. It is not, in my opinion, a light thing to disregard so important a consideration as this. Upon these grounds, I have arrived at the conclusion that the arrangement entered into by our predecessors is open to grave objection, and demands serious reconsideration at our hands. There are on the northern shores of the harbour many suitable sites for purpose of a Naval Depôt, to which no objections can be offered. I may mention, by way of illustration, such places as Berry's Bay and Robertson's Point, both being perfectly sheltered, with deep water to the shores, with abundance of land which might be easily obtained, and which are near to the city, though removed from its active business life. Or, if it be deemed desirable, there could be no difficulty in handing over Goat Island, with all the buildings, magazines, and improvements now upon it, for the purposes of a Naval Depôt. It might be considered that the isolation of this position would give a greater control over the men engaged at the depôt, and the improvements already in existence might be deemed of value for purposes of immediate occupation; nor do I think the objections to giving up Garden Island so great as those which attach to Dawes' Point, indeed, there appear to me, many and powerful arguments in favour of its being one of the best sites, and there does not appear now to be the same force in the argument against giving it up which was so strongly urged thirty years ago, by reason of its being necessary for the recreation of the people. As far as the Commodore's residence is concerned, even if the present temporary one were unattainable, some of the most beautiful and convenient situations of the harbour may be obtained without difficulty.

I deem it my duty to place all these considerations before my Colleagues, with the view of obtaining a definite expression of opinion on this very important subject.

From the above it will be seen that, in dissenting from the arrangement made by our predecessors, we limit our difference to the adoption of the site which has been selected. On all other points I feel sure that my Colleagues will be prepared to recommend the carrying out with the greatest liberality any arrangement that may secure to the port the advantages of having the head-quarters of the Naval Forces in these seas, and conduce both to the efficiency of the Service, by providing a suitable Naval Depôt, and to the personal convenience of the Commodore, or whoever may represent Her Majesty's Navy in these seas.

ALEX. STUART.
19/3/83.

Approved by Cabinet,
20/3/83.

Telegram from Colonial Secretary, Sydney, to The Agent-General, London.

28 March, 1883.

Sir Admiralty at once subject Commodore's telegram. Assure them this Government extremely anxious liberally provide Naval Depôt and suitable residence, differing only from late Ministers as to locality. Consider several other places better adapted, while Dawes' Point would materially interfere with increasing shipping demands and North Shore steam bridge. Proving soon inconvenient and distasteful to British Naval officers. Garden Island much more useful for Imperial interests for depôt, while house like McQuade's or other at Potts' Point more convenient for residence. £50,000 on Estimates. Work will be vigorously carried out if Admiralty send Commodore discretionary power approve site.

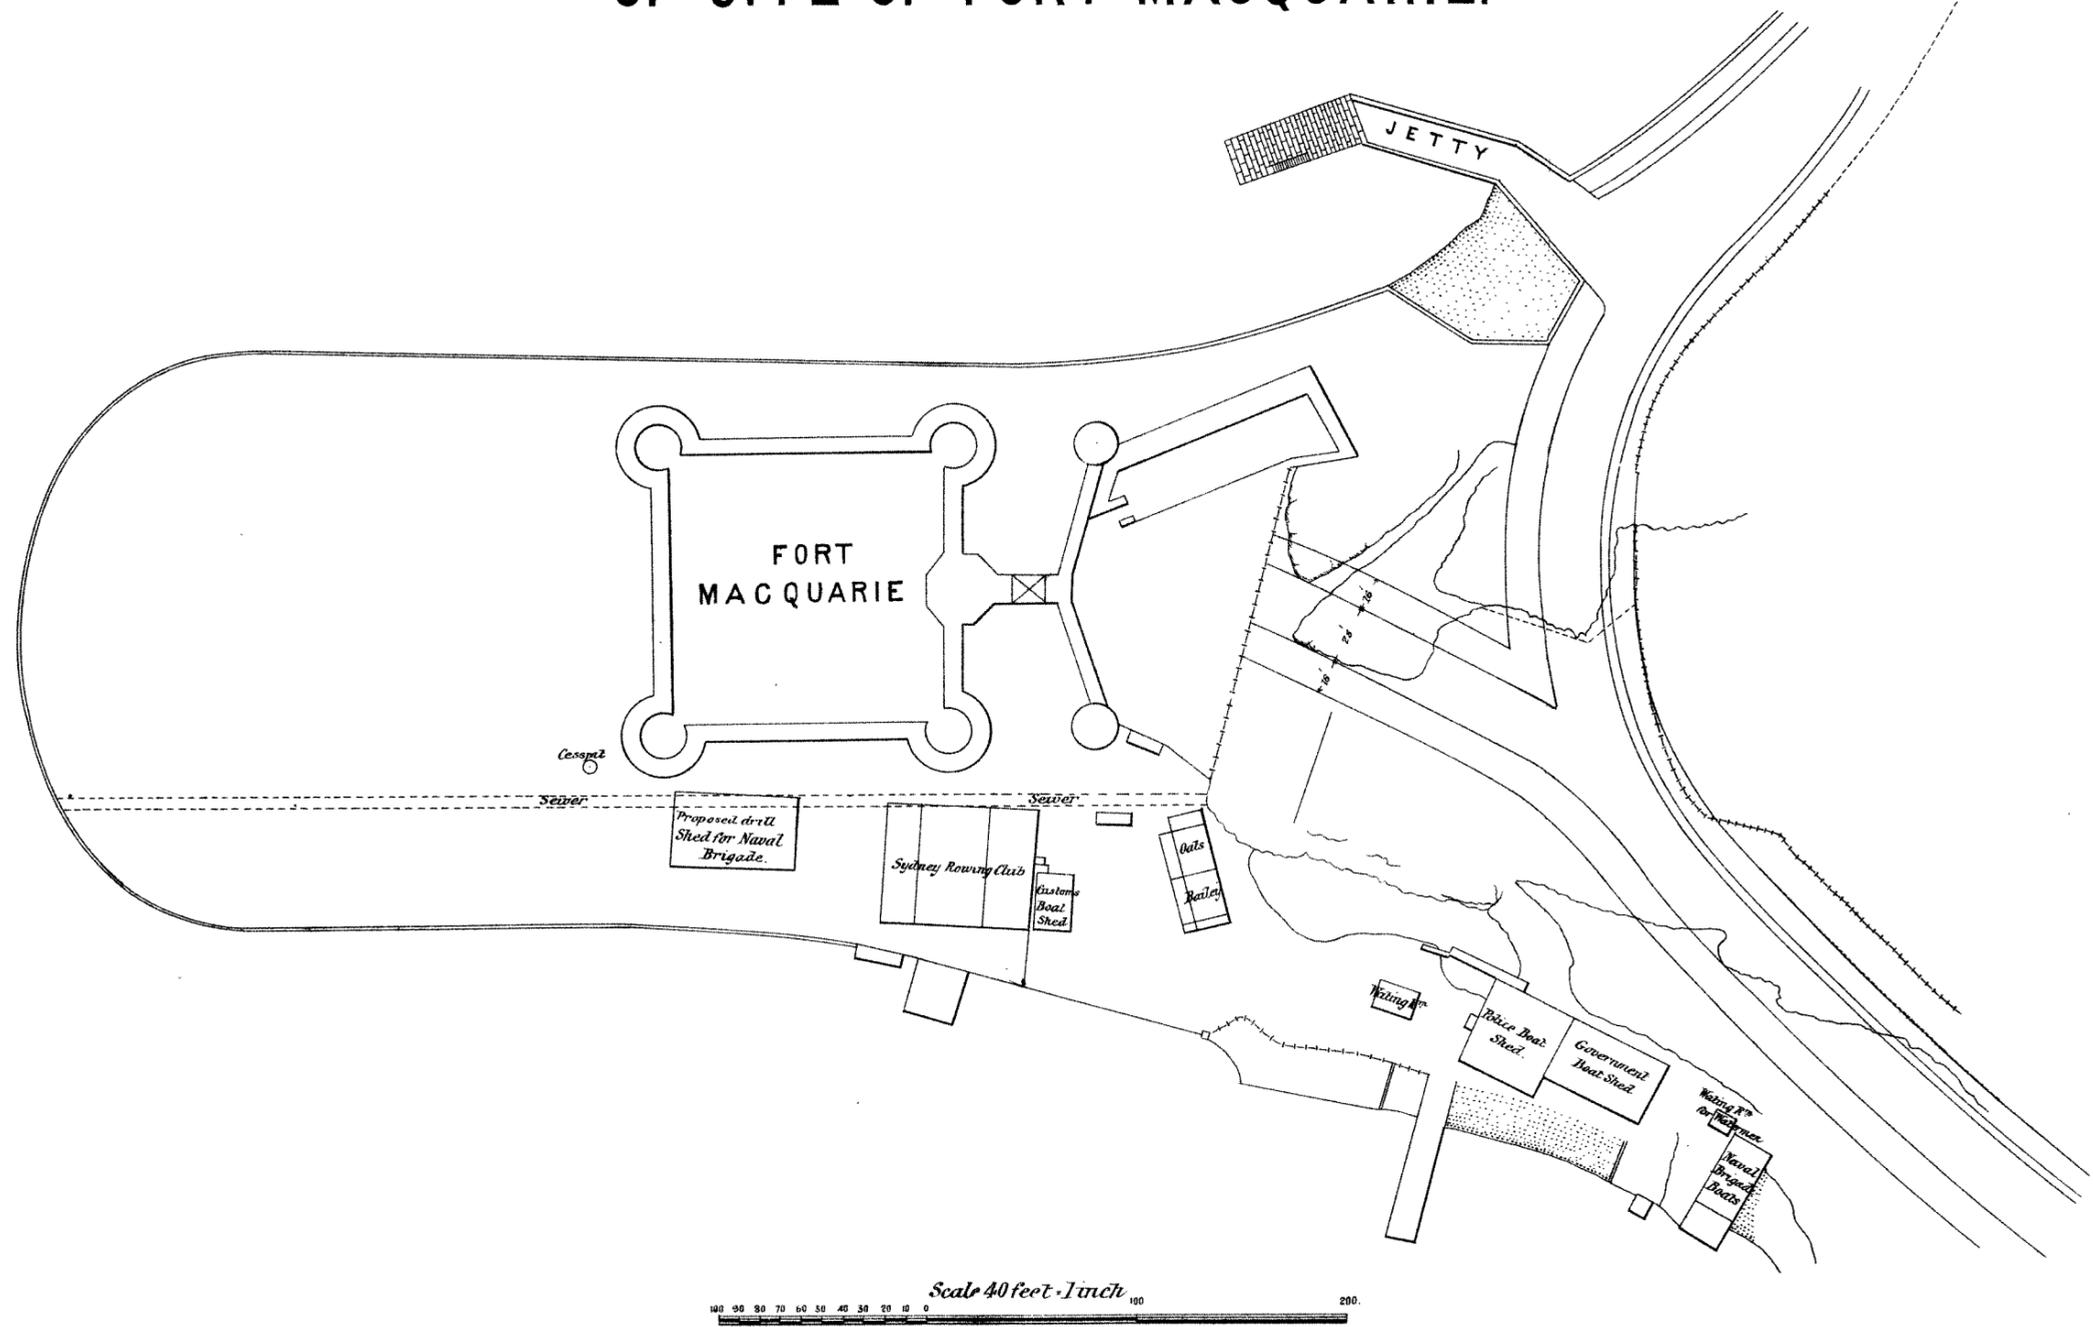

Telegram from The Agent-General, London, to Colonial Secretary, Sydney.

30 March, 1883.

ADMIRALTY telegraphed to Commodore directing him to use own discretion in negotiation, and state do not insist upon retaining Dawes' Point, but wish to retain Garden Island and Depôt on mainland. Wire suitable site can be obtained, buildings and wharves to be constructed as previously arranged. Commodore's house not to form part of negotiation; this left to Government.

[Two plans—Appendices A and B.]

PLAN OF SITE OF FORT MACQUARIE.

SKE TCH
showing portions of land proposed to be appropriated
for

ADMIRAL'S RESIDENCE AND NAVAL YARD

SCALE OF CHAINS.

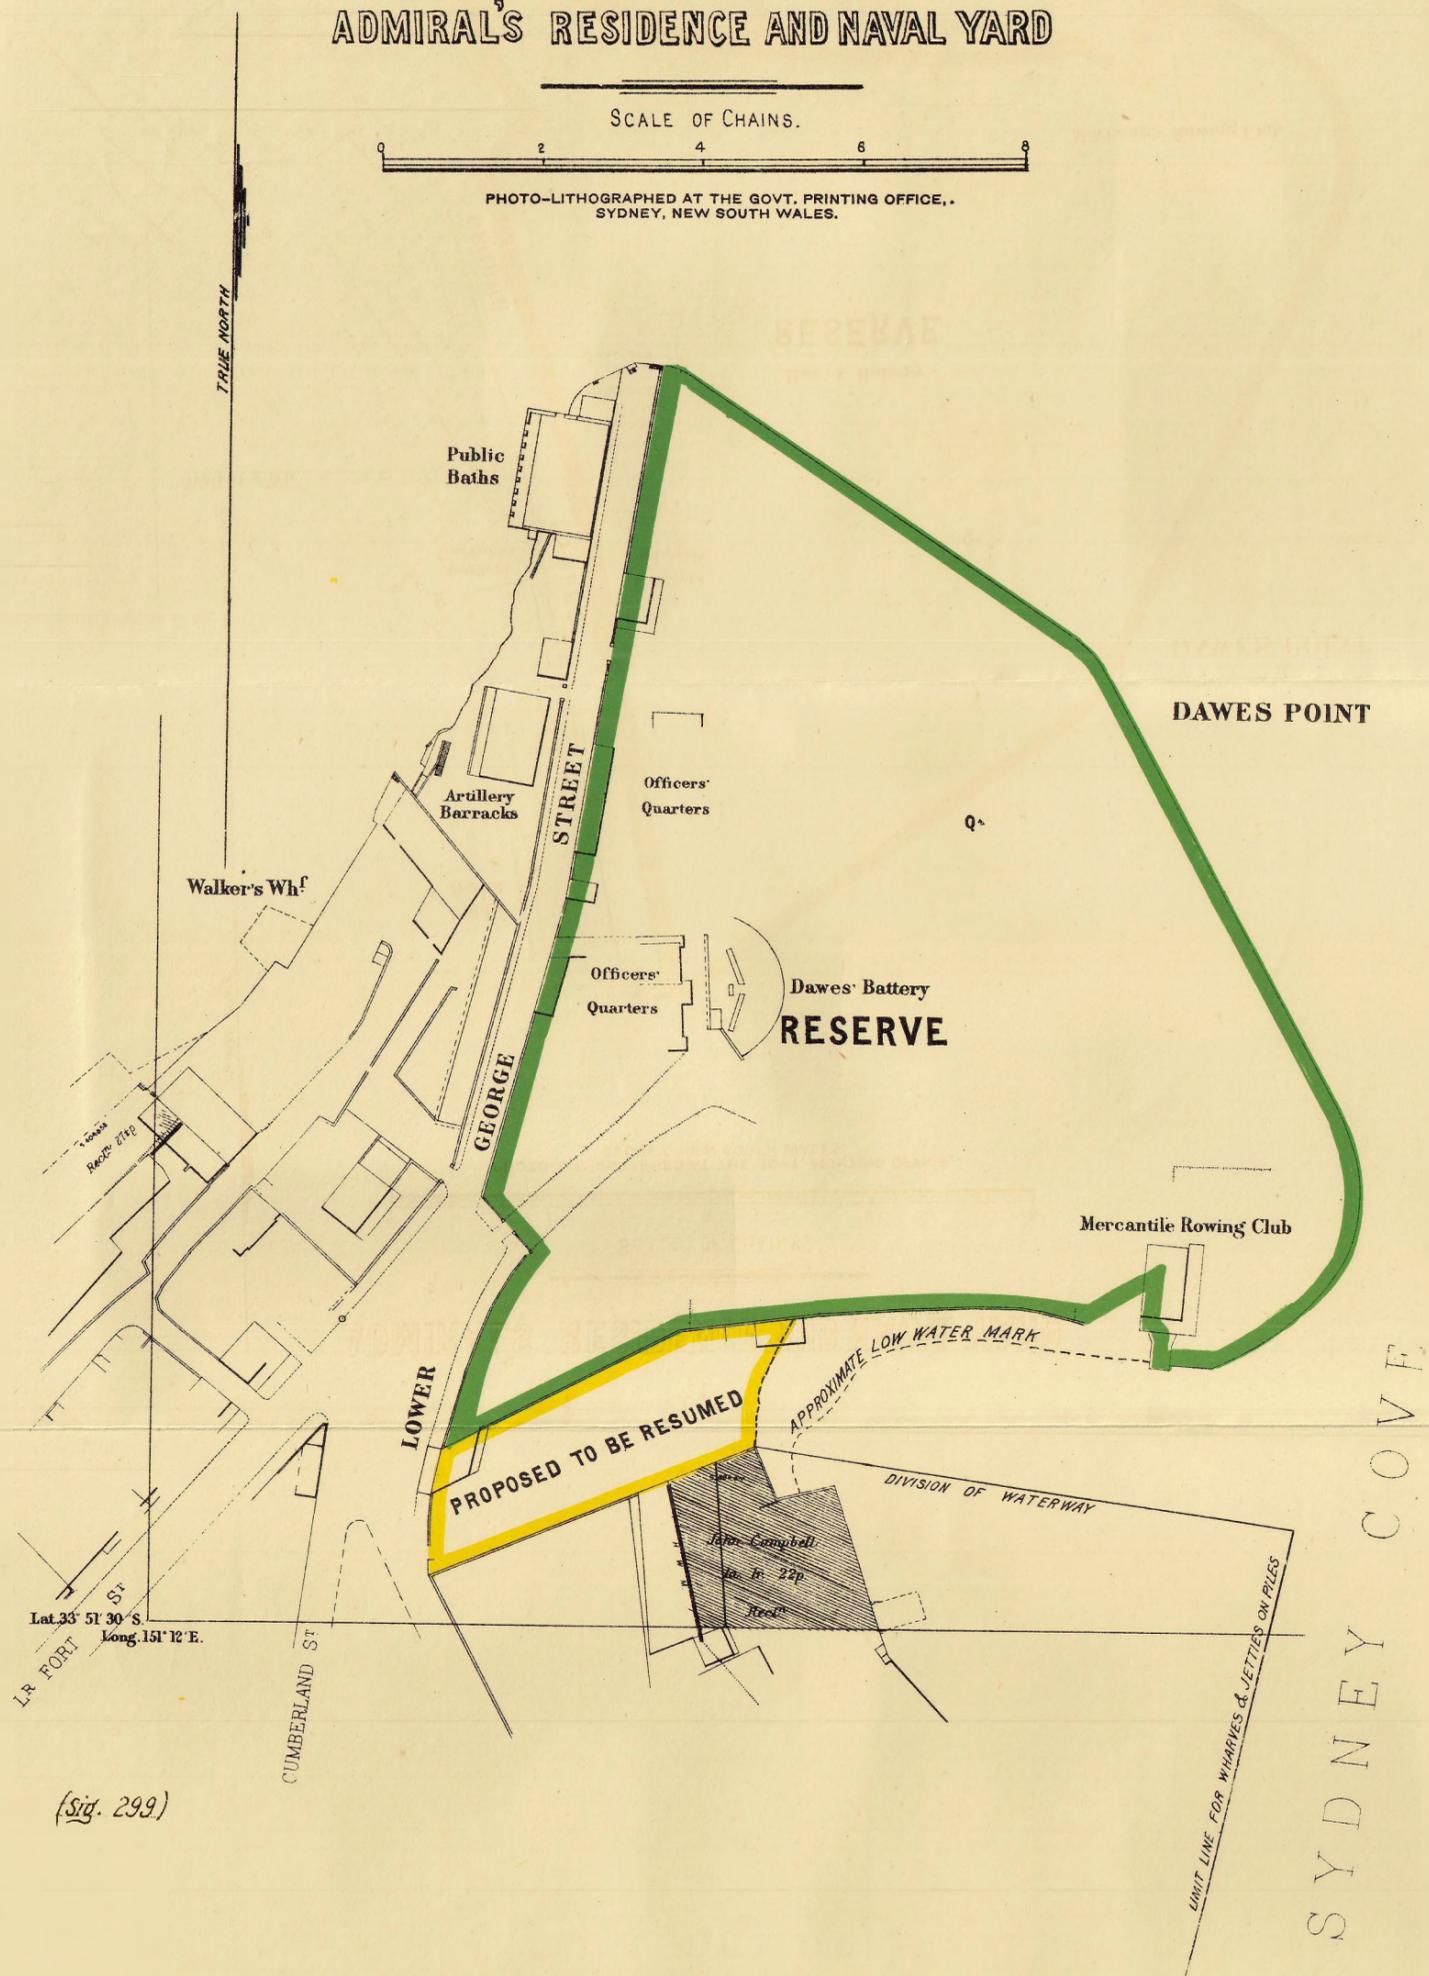

PHOTO-LITHOGRAPHED AT THE GOVT. PRINTING OFFICE, SYDNEY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

(Sig. 299)

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

DAWES' POINT.

(CORRESPONDENCE RELATIVE TO THE HANDING OVER OF, TO IMPERIAL NAVAL AUTHORITIES.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 17 April, 1883.

FURTHER RETURN to an Address made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 29 March, 1883, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all letters, telegrams, and correspondence between the Imperial Government and the Government of New South Wales, and all other documents, papers, and minutes, &c., relative to the handing over of Dawes' Point to the Imperial Naval Authorities.”

(Mr. Merriman.)

DAWES' POINT.

Commodore Erskine to His Excellency Lord Augustus Loftus.

"Nelson," at Sydney, 1 February, 1882.

Additional storehouse room necessary for stores required for Her Majesty's Ship "Nelson."

My Lord,

I have the honor to represent to your Excellency that, owing to the arrival of H. M. S. "Nelson" on the Australian Station, increased space will shortly be required for the reception of naval and ordnance stores at Sydney, and that this additional space is not available in the portion of the old Commissariat buildings now in occupation by the Royal Navy as a dépôt.

2. It seems likely that a considerable period, probably two years or more, will elapse before the new Naval Establishment, proposed to be erected on Dawes' Point, will be ready for occupation, and in the meantime it is necessary to devise some plan of meeting our requirements for additional storehouse room, the present stores being already overcrowded.

3. I am therefore under the necessity of calling your Excellency's attention to the terms on which the Colonial authorities hold a portion of the Commissariat buildings, as laid down in the despatch from the Colonial Office of the 2nd September, 1856 (a copy of which is enclosed), viz., "That sufficient accommodation shall always be provided, at the expense of the Colony of New South Wales, for such stores as the Commissariat may require to keep in hand for the Naval or Military Services, the remaining space only to be available for Colonial purposes."

4. I have therefore to request you will be pleased to call the attention of the Colonial Government to this question, and to propose that that portion of the above building fronting Circular Quay, and now in occupation by the Colonial authorities, should be vacated for naval purposes; the other part of the building, facing George-street, being unsuitable for our requirements.

I have, &c.,

JAMES F. ERSKINE,

Commodore

The Colonial Secretary. An early answer is requested.—A L., 3/2/82.

[Enclosure.]

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to Governor Sir W. Denison.

Sir,

Downing-street, 2 September, 1856.

I referred, for the consideration of the Secretary for War, a copy of your despatch No. 44, of the 3rd March last; and I have to acquaint you that Lord Panmure has informed me, in reply, that he has authorized the transfer of the Commissariat buildings in Lower George-street, Sydney, to the Colonial Government, on the conditions proposed in your despatch above-mentioned, viz., that sufficient accommodation shall always be provided, at the expense of the Colony of New South Wales, for such stores as the Commissariat may require to keep in hand for the Naval or Military Services, the remaining space only to be available for Colonial purposes.

I am, &c.,

H. LABOUCHERE.

Minute for His Excellency.

In acknowledging your Excellency's minute on Commodore Erskine's letter of the 1st instant, I have the honor to state to your Excellency that I am authorized by my Colleagues to inform you that the Commodore may rely upon the cordial co-operation of Ministers with regard to the necessary accommodation in the way of storage, &c., referred to in that letter for the fleet under his command, and that arrangements will be speedily made to surrender the temporary use of the increased share in the old Commissariat Stores asked for by him, pending the erection of the contemplated new Naval Establishment at Dawes' Point.

With regard to that portion of the Commodore's letter in which, on the authority of a despatch from the Colonial Office in Downing-street, of the 2nd September, 1856, he describes the terms on which the Colonial authorities hold the Commissariat buildings, I desire to call your Lordship's attention, for the Commodore's information, to a memorandum herewith, showing the Colonial Government's rights in the matter, by which it will be seen that the stores, in common with all other Crown Lands of New South Wales, became the property of the Colony, under the New South Wales Constitution Act of the Imperial Parliament, excepting of course those granted to the Board of Ordnance in England, which in common with all other alienated lands were exempted from that position by that law.

Your Excellency will be aware that all Colonial Governors and Ministers have throughout the period of responsible Government here worked as cordially with the Imperial Naval Authorities as did the Governments which preceded them; and no occasion has ever arisen to call seriously into question the matter of title, nor indeed would it now, had it not been for the desire of the Naval Authorities that the Colony should make large expenditure to facilitate naval operations; and the willingness of Ministers to act in the matter rather with a view to the attainment of that which will be most beneficial to Her Majesty's Naval Service and to the character of our Colony, than to drive a hard bargain on the subject. At the same time, it is unquestionably convenient that these old matters should be set at rest, and it is hoped that the arrangement under my minute to your Lordship of the 17th ultimo* on the subject will effect that object, approved as it is has been by the views of Admiral Wilson, who was specially empowered by the Admiralty to negotiate arrangements with your Excellency's Government.

Colonial Secretary's Office,

Sydney, 14 February, 1882.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

Commodore

* See papers relating to Dawes' Point, laid upon Table on the 6th April, 1883.

Commodore Erskine to His Excellency Lord Augustus Loftus.

Increased storage room for naval stores.

My Lord,

"Nelson," at Hobart, 27 February 1882.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your Excellency's letter of the 16th instant, and enclosures, with reference to my application for increased accommodation for storage at Circular Quay, required by the squadron under my command on this station.

2. I desire to thank your Ministers for the assurance of their cordial co-operation with regard to the necessary accommodation in the way of storage referred to in my letter; and, having in view the liberal terms which they have offered, and pending the erection of the contemplated new Naval Establishment at Daves' Point, I am pleased to find that necessary provision will be so readily afforded for the temporary requirements of Her Majesty's ships under my command.

I have, &c.,

JAMES ERSKINE,

Commodore.

Col. Secy.—A.L., 4/3/82.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

ANTHRAX (CUMBERLAND DISEASE.)

(REPORT BY MR. ANTHONY WILLOWS, M.R.C.V.S.L., ON PREVALENCE OF ANTHRAX IN LACHLAN DISTRICT.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 13 April, 1883.

[Laid upon the Table of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly, by the Honorable the Minister for Mines.]

ANTHRAX (CUMBERLAND DISEASE).

REPORT ON ANTHRAX, or Cumberland Disease, by Mr. Anthony Willows, M.R.C.V.S.L., to The Honorable the Minister for Mines.

Sir,

166, Princes-street, Sydney, 23 February, 1883.

I have the honor to submit the following report of my investigation of a very fatal enzootic disease raging amongst sheep in the Lachlan district, county Bourke, made at the request of the Honorable the Minister for Mines, and extending over a period of nine days, from February 9 to February 18 inclusive.

The stockowners whose runs I visited rendered me every assistance in my inquiry, and from their very considerable experience in this disease I gleaned from them the following facts as to its general nature and history:—

1. That the disease is only prevalent from September to the March rains, and that a heavy fall of rain between these dates is at all times likely to temporarily arrest disease, or certainly to check it.
2. That sheep generally die on the camp, and are generally attacked during the early digestion of a full meal of food and water.
3. That the disease has more particularly raged in connection with one particular water-course, and under one particular watershed, for the last four years; and there is every reason to believe that the disease has been similarly influenced for the past twelve or thirteen years.
4. That in some paddocks disease is tolerably certain to appear in from three to four days after a mob of healthy sheep have been placed in them; whereas in other paddocks disease has not been known to appear, excepting for the first three or four days after a mob of sheep, amongst which disease prevails, have been removed from contaminated paddocks; and in this case only such sheep succumb as have in all probability brought germs of disease from contaminated paddocks, for disease usually disappears about four or five days after this change of paddocks.
5. That the disease has been much more prevalent since the trees in the country where sheep are pastured have been rung.
6. That the disease is not materially influenced either by the system of management to which sheep are subjected nor by the amount of exercise which they receive.
7. That the disease is not influenced in any marked degree by the condition of sheep; but if there is any difference, those in best condition are most frequently the subjects.
8. That the disease is not influenced either by the age of sheep or variety of sex.
9. That no animal undoubtedly affected has ever been known to recover.
10. That from their personal observation and experience they thought the only means of arresting spread of disease was the complete burning of the carcasses of all sheep which have died of the disease, as well as the careful destruction by fire of all cover or produce upon the surface of the land which could possibly have become contaminated by carcasses of sheep which had died.

The disease, so far as this more or less continuous outbreak is concerned, made its appearance in the district in October, 1877, when 500 ewes died in about a month; they were pastured in a sandy high-lying paddock watered by the Murrumbidgee. Next outbreak was in 1879, also in a sandy high-lying paddock, and watered directly or indirectly by the Murrumbidgee, situated about a quarter of a mile further up country than the paddock in which disease had previously appeared. Shortly after this there was a comparatively unimportant outbreak of disease about 7 miles from here, in a kangaroo-grass country, and watered principally by surface drainage. About this time the disease made its appearance in four paddocks in another part of this district, and it has since generally so much increased that it is now very doubtful if any large tract of country in this district is entirely free from it.

PARTICULARS OF CASES DIRECTLY UNDER MY OWN OBSERVATION DURING INVESTIGATION.

No. 1. Made post-mortem examination of sheep which had died previous day. Spleen was very much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood; there was also extensive internal spontaneous extravasation of blood.

No. 2. Very large fat ram had been dead about three hours. His eyes had been picked out by crows, and when his head was moved there was an escape from the eye sockets of about a quart of dark impure blood, entirely broken up in structure and non-coagulable, spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Mucous lining membrane of omasum ulcerated from muscular coat and adherent to ingesta ecchymosis, and serous infiltration in the mucous and submucous tissue of abomasum, and in the fixed or duodenal portion of small intestines. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys saturated with dark impure blood. Cavity of heart contained a quantity of a similar fluid, with which fluid also bladder was filled. This ram's blood, when microscopically examined under a high power, was found to be entirely broken up in structure, and crowded with well-developed bacteria.

No. 3. Ewe, just taken, was standing in a listless manner, ears drooping, eyes bright, conjunctival membrane highly injected, fluttering irregular action of heart, great difficulty of respiration, with heaving of the flanks and loud gurgling bronchial sounds and gurgling noise in trachea. When first observed, power of locomotion was weak and uncertain, and in quarter of an hour was entirely lost. I bled ewe freely at angular vein to extent of three-quarters of a pint. This blood would not coagulate at all, and when microscopically examined was found to contain but few red cells, a proportionately excessive number of white cells, and was crowded with bacteria. Ewe died about half an hour after being observed ill. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood, which, when microscopically examined, was found to contain large quantities of bacteria. Extensive ecchymosis and serous infiltration in mucous and submucous tissue of abomasum and the fixed portion of small intestines, also ecchymosis in structure of lungs.

No. 4. Wether had been dead about an hour. Had a free discharge of dark impure blood from urethra, also from nostrils and eyes, which had just been picked out by crows. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen enlarged and so engorged with dark impure blood that its texture was in places ruptured. Abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines presented both bloody and serous infiltration on mucous membrane and in submucous tissue. Substance of lungs engorged with dark impure blood, and marked by petechial spots. Blood, as usual, non-coagulable.

No. 5. Wether in third or last stage of disease, was unable to stand, and in frequent convulsions from the great difficulty of respiration; at once cut his throat and made an immediate post-mortem examination:—Spleen very much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumens reticulum and omasum well replenished with natural ingesta; all presented numerous petechial spots. Abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines also contained very numerous petechial spots, amounting to blood extravasation and infiltration. Substance of heart, liver, and kidneys full of dark impure blood, lungs entirely relieved by bleeding; cavity of heart contained a quantity of blood in same condition, with which fluid bladder was also filled; brain and its membranes healthy, with only a normal quantity of ventricular arachnoid fluid. Microscopical examination of blood of this wether showed it to be crowded with bacteria.

No. 6. Wether seen in first stage of disease, stood with head down and ears drooping. When approached hurried away for about fifty yards, was then easily caught, and at the request of his owners I bled him freely at the angular vein. For ten minutes he stood with head down, respiration hurried and difficult, then he lay down and laid quite quietly for five minutes, taking no notice of my approach; respiration had gradually become more difficult. I then aroused him by lifting him up, and drove him before me for about forty yards, when he began to stagger, and after reeling about in a standing position with twitching of muscles and increased difficulty of respiration for ten minutes, he fell down in a semi-comatose condition, breathing became more difficult, heart palpitated weakly, temperature of blood 107 deg. He then stretched himself out full length and lay quietly, excepting his difficulty in respiration, which had now become jerking with heaving at flanks, until he gasped for breath, and died in mild convulsions fifty minutes after showing first symptoms of the disease. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumens reticulum and omasum did not present any marked pathognomonic conditions, but abomasum presented extensive blood extravasation and infiltration, also several marked ulcers in mucous lining membrane. Small intestines were nearly filled by infiltration in their cavity of dark impure blood. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys did not present any pathognomonic conditions, but gall bladder was filled with dark coloured blood, and cavity of heart contained a small quantity of a similar fluid.

No. 7. Lamb not a week old died in my presence in thirty minutes after being taken ill. Symptoms as previously detailed, but more violent. Post-mortem examination presented the appearances of blood striking under lower jaw and down lower part of neck. The thyroid and thymus glands and spleen were much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumens reticulum and omasum were quite empty, for lamb had never eaten food. Abomasum contained a quantity of milk and many particles of dirt and debris, which were easily distinguishable; there was also extensive serous exudation on mucous membrane and serous infiltration into the submucous tissue of this stomach. The abomasum, substance of heart, lungs, and liver engorged with dark broken-up fluid blood. Microscopic examination showed this lamb's blood to be crowded with bacteria, I think the largest I ever saw. This lamb died on the 11th instant, and five days afterwards (on the 16th instant) I saw the ewe alive and apparently well.

No.

No. 8. Wether about eight months old, found in second stage of disease, was suffering very much from great difficulty in respiration. Internal temperature, 108°1. Immediately afterwards cut his throat and forced all blood from body possible. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen contained quantity of dark impure blood nearly as broad as long, but not nearly so enlarged as previous cases had been. There was effusion of clear serum into ventricular arachnoid cavity, as there also was into the abdominal cavity. Blood extravasations into the abomasum, and free exudations of serum into the small intestines. Substance of heart, liver, and kidneys engorged with dark impure blood. Bladder full of blood in a similar condition. Microscopical examination showed the blood of this wether to contain innumerable quantities of well-developed bacteria. This was the only case in which blood had any tendency to coagulate.

No. 9. Ewe about eight months old, found ill, standing quietly, with head depressed. In a few minutes she died. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum fairly filled with natural ingesta (as every post-mortem has demonstrated). Omasum impacted with ingesta in a dry condition. Abomasum presented yellow serous exudation and infiltration, and also ecchymosis. Small intestines contained a large quantity of chocolate-coloured fluid as well as this serous exudation. Substance of heart, liver, and kidneys saturated with dark impure broken-up blood. Bladder contained a quantity of this fluid in a similar condition.

No. 10. Wether, of which post-mortem examination was made immediately after death. Spleen very much enlarged and very much engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum fairly filled with ingesta, apparently in a natural condition. Omasum impacted with ingesta in a very dry state. Abomasum presented extensive ecchymosis with ulceration in numerous parts of mucous lining membrane. There was also considerable extravasation of a dark grumous fluid on mucous surface, and infiltrated into submucous tissue of small intestines, which were throughout their entire structure very much discoloured and disintegrated. Substance of heart, liver, and kidneys saturated with very dark impure blood. Cavity of heart contained a quantity of fluid blood in a similar condition. Bladder filled with dark impure blood. Gall bladder distended with a black fluid, which did not possess either the characteristics of blood or bile. Neither lungs nor pleura presented any pathognomonic condition.

No. 11. Wether found in last stage of disease and unable to rise, lay upon his side in a semi-comatose condition. Did not show any distinct symptoms of pain, although respiration was only accomplished with great difficulty. He struggled feebly. His heart palpitated irregularly or fluttered in its action. Internal temperature, 107°8. Made an immediate post-mortem examination. Spleen soft, distended, and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen full of food in a naturally rough state, not having been ruminated. Reticulum and omasum filled to repletion, the ingesta in the latter stomach being rather hard. Abomasum presented subserous infiltration and blood extravasation, with slight ulceration of mucous lining membrane. This condition extended to the entire fixed portion of the small intestines. Substance of liver and kidneys saturated with dark impure blood. Cavity of heart also contained a quantity of dark impure blood in a fluid condition, as also did bladder. Gall bladder filled with a dark-looking bile. Lungs and chest showed no pathognomonic conditions.

No. 12. Wether, immediately after death made post-mortem examination. Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen well filled with natural ingesta, lining membrane ulcerated and easily detached from muscular coat. Reticulum and omasum contained lots of ingesta, that of latter dry and hard. Abomasum mucous membrane and submucous tissue infiltrated with serous exudation, showed much ecchymosis and extensive ulceration of mucous lining membrane. Fixed portion of small intestines present similar pathognomonic conditions, and in their free or posterior portion there was considerable infiltration of a dark chocolate-coloured fluid. Substance of heart, liver, and kidneys saturated with dark impure blood. Cavity of heart contained similar blood in a fluid condition. Pericardial sac showed much infiltration of a dark serous fluid, and bladder was much distended with a similar fluid, but blacker in colour, as also were gall bladder, mesentery, and pancreas much infiltrated by a dark serous fluid.

No. 13. Wether which had just died. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum full of rough ingesta, lining membrane ulcerated and easily detached from muscular coats. Omasum impacted with dry food, lining membrane of leaves also ulcerated. Abomasum presented submucous infiltration of a thick serous nature, also ecchymosis and detached ulcers, and a similar condition existed in the fixed portion of small intestines. Effusion of serum into pericardial sac. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys saturated with dark impure blood. Cavity of heart contained impure blood in a fluid condition. Gall bladder filled with dark-coloured bile. Omentum presented dark serous infiltration.

No. 14. Wether found dead but quite warm. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum full of ingesta in natural condition, but omasum impacted with dry ingesta; the lining membrane of each of these was easily detached from the muscular coat. Abomasum presented extensive ecchymosis and serous infiltration, and exactly similar pathognomonic condition pertained to fixed portion of small intestines. Pericardial cavity showed much serous infiltration. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys full of dark impure blood. Cavity of heart contained a similar fluid. Bladder distended with dark impure blood, and gall bladder filled with dark dirty-looking bile.

No. 15. Wether found dead, but quite warm. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much distended and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum filled to repletion with natural ingesta; mucous lining membrane of both of these easily detached from muscular coat. Omasum impacted, lining membrane of its leaves also detached from muscular coat by serous infiltration, and adherent to food. Abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines showed extensive serous infiltration, ecchymosis, and many small ulcers; there was also effusion of serum into the pericardial sac. Substance of heart, liver, and kidneys saturated with dark impure blood; cavity of heart contained a similar fluid. Bladder had bursted. Gall bladder distended with chocolate-coloured bile.

No. 16. Wether found in last stage of disease; could not be made to stand, lay upon his side in half comatose condition, excepting difficult and rapid breathing. Internal temperature, 108 deg. He quickly expired. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged, and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum well filled with ingesta in a natural condition. Omasum impacted with hard ingesta. Abomasum and small intestines adjacent to this stomach presented much serous infiltration, ecchymosis, and and many small ulcers. Intestines were throughout of a more or less dark-red or black colour. Substance and cavity of heart, substance of liver and kidneys, saturated with dark impure blood. Bladder contained a large quantity of a similar fluid. Gall bladder filled with a fluid black in colour. Considerable quantity of serous exudation into pericardial sac.

No. 17. Wether found dead, but quite warm. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum contained a full quantity of natural ingesta, much serous infiltration, and ecchymosis in mucous and submucous tissue of rumen. Omasum impacted and distended with dry ingesta; mucous lining membrane detached from leaves and adhered to food. Abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines presented extensive serous infiltration and ecchymosis. Small intestines were of a dark colour throughout their entire length: exudation of serous fluid into pericardial cavity. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys (and pancreas, to less extent) filled with dark impure blood. Cavity of heart contained a similar fluid blood, as also did bladder. Gall bladder filled with dark-coloured bile.

No. 18. Wether found dead and warm. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum well filled with natural ingesta; lining membrane of these easily rubbed off. Omasum contained but very little ingesta, but lining membrane of leaves was discoloured and easily detached. Abomasum and small intestines contained a fair amount of moist ingesta, and the lining membrane of these showed serous exudations and extensive ecchymosis. Substance and cavity of heart, and substance of lungs, liver, and kidneys, contained a quantity of dark impure blood.

No. 19. Wether found in second stage of disease, was standing, with a dull appearance, ears drooping, and hurried respiration. He did not attempt to escape when I approached and handled him. I opened right jugular vein with a lancet, took an ounce of blood from sheep, which I caught in a bottle; and immediately afterwards I injected into vein fifteen minims of carbolic acid, suitably prepared and diluted. After this, I closed wound in skin with pin suture, and laid sheep quietly down upon his left side, with head to right flank. Internal temperature 45 min. after injection, 106.2; temperature 75 min. after injection, 106. Sheep had throughout laid very quietly in same position, but has just had a slight attack of spasmodic twitching of his hind feet. No tympanitis nor difficulty of breathing yet. Eighty minutes after injection sheep lay stretched out upon his left side, and slight convulsions and difficulty of respiration, spasmodic jerking of each limb and of heart. These convulsions only came on fitfully—sometimes with increased, sometimes with diminished intensity, until sheep died quietly, 95 min. after the carbolic acid injection. Post-mortem:—Spleen much enlarged, and engorged with dark impure blood. Sheep had a wound on lower gum, apparently resulting from violence to one of his incisor teeth. Rumen and reticulum contained a full quantity of natural ingesta; in each of these mucous lining membranes were very dark in colour; omasum impacted with dry food, lining membrane of leaves nearly black in colour. Abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines presented very extensive serous infiltration and blood extravasation of mucous and submucous tissue; this condition became less marked in bowels further from stomach. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys saturated with dark impure blood; cavity of heart contained a small quantity of similar blood in a fluid condition, urine bladder filled with dark impure blood, gall bladder much extended with black-looking bile. Blood taken from jugular vein of sheep prior to injection of carbolic, when microscopically examined, showed commencing disintegration of the blood cells, comparatively few indistinct bacteria, and numbers of bacteria in process of development. These appeared as translucent, indistinct, very minute, chain-like bodies, exceedingly flexible in their movements, and having many characteristics of vibrines. Blood examined microscopically from spleen taken from sheep after death was found to be crowded with well-developed bacteria and entirely broken up in structure.

No. 23. Ewe found in second stage of disease. She fell down when approached. Internal temperature, 108 deg. She had a dull listless look, ears drooping, discharge of dark impure blood from vagina, laboured and difficult breathing, mouth nearly cold. Ewe lay partly upon her side and partly upon her chest, with head towards flank, for twenty minutes, when she died without a struggle; but during her last few minutes of life breathing was only accomplished by great heaving of flanks and jerky respiration. Post-mortem examination:—Spleen engorged with dark impure blood. Each stomach fairly filled with natural ingesta. Lining membrane of rumen and reticulum dark in colour. Mucous lining of leaves of omasum very dark in colour. Mucous and submucous tissue of abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines presented marked appearances of serous exudations and ecchymosis. Substance of heart, liver, and kidneys full of dark impure blood. Cavity of heart contained similar blood in fluid condition. Gall bladder full of a similar fluid. Left lung adherent to pleura lining internal wall of chest, but substance of lungs generally full of similar dark impure blood. There was also effusion of serum into abdominal subcutaneous tissue. This ewe was fat, and in lamb about two months gone. Lamb was healthy in appearance, and there were no pathognomonic appearances of womb, excepting an enlarged and engorged condition of cotyledons, and extensive gelatinous exudation into the pelvic region of abdominal cavity.

Explanation of the mode of experimentally producing in healthy sheep the same disease as that under investigation:—The following experiments were carried out upon three nearly toothless and worthless old ewes, which from their history, surroundings, and appearance were undoubtedly entirely free from any taint or suspicion of this disease; further than this, I made a careful microscopical examination of the blood of each of these ewes, and in each case it presented all the features of healthy blood. First ewe, which I shall distinguish as

No. 21, was marked by her fore knot of wool being entirely cut off her forehead, and also by a longitudinal mark of purple ochre on the right side of her spine. This ewe was drenched with a small portion of the spleen and its blood (taken from No. 19 after death), mixed with oatmeal gruel, at 2 p.m. on 16th instant. This ewe was found dead at 7 a.m. on 18th instant. She had probably been dead about an hour, having died about forty hours after the germs of the disease had been administered to her in gruel.

Post-mortem examination:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen, reticulum, omasum, and abomasum contained a full quantity of natural ingesta. Mucous lining membrane of rumen and reticulum ulcerated and easily detached from muscular coat, as also was the lining membrane of leaves of omasum, the said leaves being very dark in colour. Abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines presented extensive serous infiltration and blood extravasation; the abdominal cavity contained a quantity of serous exudation. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys full of dark impure impure blood, also the cavity of heart. Serous exudation into cavity of chest and pericardium. Gall bladder filled with black-looking bile. Microscopic examination showed blood of this ewe to be crowded with bacteria.

Second ewe, which I shall distinguish as

No. 22, was marked by wool being cut off the top of shoulders and by transverse marks of purple ochre across spine. Inoculated this ewe about 2 p.m. on February 16 with blood taken from the jugular vein of No. 19 before injection of carbolic acid. This ewe was found dead and cold at 7 a.m., Sunday, February 18. She had in all probability died about 36 hours after being inoculated with blood containing the germs of disease in process of development. There was a discharge of dark impure blood from vagina of ewe; wound of inoculation was also slightly bleeding. In region of wound of inoculation there was extensive gelatinous exudation. Post-mortem:—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood. Rumen and reticulum contained abundance of ingesta in a natural state; lining membrane of these was slightly ulcerated. Omasum was not impacted; lining membrane of leaves of this was very dark in colour. Mucous tissue of abomasum and of fixed portion of small intestine presented serous exudation and many examples of ecchymosis. Substance of heart, liver, lungs, and kidneys saturated with dark impure blood in a fluid condition. Bladder contained a small quantity of a similar fluid; gall bladder was filled with a dark-coloured bile. Mesenteric glands presented gelatinous infiltration. Microscopic examination showed blood of this ewe to be crowded with [well-developed bacteria. Third ewe, which I shall distinguish as

No. 23, was marked by wool being clipped off somewhat posterior to and between ears, and also by three transverse marks of purple ochre over spine; tips of both her ears had also been cut off. This ewe was inoculated with blood taken from the spleen of No. 19 after death, about 2 p.m. on the 16th instant. I saw this ewe at 7 a.m. the following morning, the 17th instant, when she appeared all right; but between 9 and 10 a.m. this morning she was found down, unable to rise, and in slight convulsions; wound of inoculation was then bleeding a little dark impure blood, and the lymphatic glands in this region were very much enlarged and indurated. Ewe lay upon her side with stertorous, difficult breathing, and spasmodic twitchings of extremities and head—hind extremities affected much more frequently than fore ones—for 37 minutes, when she died; convulsions had become less marked prior to death. Internal temperature taken just before death, 107.2. Death resulted in 20 hours 15 minutes after inoculation of ewe. Post-mortem examination—Spleen much enlarged and engorged with dark impure blood; rumen, reticulum, and omasum contained a fair amount of ingesta in a natural condition. Mucous lining membrane of these stomachs was easily detached from muscular coat, which was dark in colour. Abomasum and fixed portion of small intestines presented both serous infiltration and blood extravasation. Substance of heart, lungs, liver, and kidneys full of dark impure blood. Cavity of heart also contained a quantity of a similar fluid, with which fluid bladder was also filled. Gall bladder filled with dark-coloured bile. Microscopic examination showed this ewe's blood to be crowded with bacteria.

In every case which came under my observation during this investigation the sheep undoubtedly died of anthrax fever. This disease is caused by the presence in the blood of a microscopic infusoria, the bacillus anthracis, commonly called bacteria. When placed upon the field of the microscope in that condition in which they can be best viewed and examined with a high magnifying power, they appear, when well developed, as minute, jointed filaments, and are seen in the interstices of the blood cells; but when in process of development, as I before remarked, as exceedingly minute translucent chain-like bodies; in both instances they possess great facility of motion. Outside the body they may retain their vitality for a very long period; if they are so situated as to obtain a little moisture and a little warmth in this altered condition they probably break up into minute spheroid bodies.

When they exist in the blood of any animal which is spilled upon the ground, unless they are destroyed by very dry or very cold weather, by bush or grass fires, or by chemical agents, they sink into the earth or adhere to the grass or other vegetation, or are washed by rain or flooding to lower lying districts, and under these circumstances they may exist for years, powerful to destroy life if they can reach the circulation either by direct access to the blood through a minute external wound, or by adhering to the food upon which the animal feeds, or by passing in with the water which the animal drinks, and then entering the circulation by an abrasion in the alimentary tract, or, as in my case, previously recorded, through the process of natural digestion or assimilation. It is probable that at certain periods of the year "bacilli" in the soil have their power of generating disease roused into activity.

Much of the grass in the Lachlan district I found to be very penetrating, hard, and fine in its fibre, and the terminal extremities of the seeds of this grass were quite prickly in many instances. I also observed that many sheep were in the habit of feeding upon thistle seeds. Food of this nature would be likely to cause abrasion of alimentary tract, and so act as an exciting cause to the disease if the predisposing causes were in operation.

I observed, too, that numberless carcasses of sheep were either entirely or partially devoured by large black crows: these are probably mediums of the spread and extension of this disease.

Prophylactic measures: I think with the assistance of so dry and healthy a climate as that with which we are blessed in this country that this disease can be at once checked and ultimately entirely stamped out, if only the obvious preventive measures are thoroughly enforced.

The entire body of every animal dying from this disease should be entirely destroyed by burning, as also should each and every surrounding object which can possibly be contaminated by either the secretions, excretions, organs, or appendages of the animal which has so died, after which procedure every possibly contaminated medium should be thoroughly disinfected with chloride of lime.

The black crows which utilize this animal virus, so poisonous to all mammalia, should be destroyed as far as practicable. It appears exceedingly doubtful if these crows perform any useful duty in the economy of nature in this district, where they so abound and flourish. The wild dogs, where prevalent, must also be considered as probable mediums for the spread of this disease in all districts where the latter prevails and the former exist.

I have every reason to believe that some gentlemen deny the existence of this disease amongst their flocks even at the very time they are sustaining great losses from its ravages. Although it is certainly not desirable that private business should become matter for public report, yet I fear in this instance that the desire to hide the real nature of the disease is too often associated with such mismanagement of the contaminated carcasses as renders these cases of mysterious deaths centres for propagation of disease.

Mode of conferring immunity from this disease by inoculating animals with a cultivated virus:— By a series of inoculations, chiefly on guinea-pigs and rabbits, and by other experiments, the bacteria may be cultivated for several generations. By these processes it becomes so modified that if introduced into the system of a healthy animal it is only capable of inducing the disease in a mild form, and so confers immunity from contagion to the animal so inoculated, for this cultivated virus can be used to protect the system against this disease much in the same way as vaccine is used to protect against small-pox; for anthrax fever does not recur. But I must mention that this cultivated virus is only surely and safely protective when in one special condition, and that if it is not in just the right state:—

1. It may cause the death of animal from the very disease which its introduction into the system was designed to prevent.
2. It may have become inert, and so have no protective power.
3. It may have become purulent and cause septic fever in inoculated subject.

Remarks as to either the individual or collective treatment of this disease in case of an active outbreak:—I must candidly admit that I have never known any animal which has been undoubtedly affected with anthrax fever to recover. But in blood striking, a condition resulting from disease and disintegration of constituents of blood, and in many particulars analogous to anthrax fever, I have had two recoveries.

In the treatment of an individual sheep, I advise the immediate administration of a full dose of purgative medicine with carbonate of ammonia, followed at a short interval by as much good alcohol as patient can possibly stand—as to this action of heart is only reliable guide; also apply to animal's head, face, nostrils, and mouth plenty of the purest and coldest water available, and if the weather is warm saturate the whole surface of body with such water, and when practicable smartly exercise animal. From the rapidity with which death follows first signs of illness treatment by direct injection of powerful antiseptic agents into a large blood vessel or hypodermically seems called for; my experience only extends to the injection of carbolic acid and chloride of sodium. After the antiseptic agent has been injected into blood about fifteen minutes, sheep should be freely bled to extent of about one pint. Immediately after this a similar quantity of blood to that abstracted should be restored directly to circulation of patient by transfusion from a healthy sheep. Failing this, highly nutritious nourishment in a fluid condition must be administered to patient immediately after bleeding. Much remains to be learned as to the curative treatment of this disease.

In the case of an active outbreak the whole mob of sheep must be removed from the locality in which they are dying to a bare dry paddock, which, from its associations, surroundings, history, and general characteristics, is not likely to be contaminated by such causes as I have tried to make plain in the foregoing remarks.

I have, &c.,

ANTHONY WILLOWS, M.R.C.V.S.L.

EXTRACT from the Sydney Morning Herald, 3rd April, 1883.

Anthrax Diseases, &c.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have only just read Mr. Willows' report on the cases of anthrax in the Lachlan district. I suppose this disease must have been imported in the wool of some sheep brought to the country within the last four or five years, as we have, I believe, been free from it hitherto; and seeing that it is very prevalent in many parts of France, it would be worth while to inquire where did the lot of French sheep imported and exhibited about the date of our International Exhibition go. Were they sent to the Lachlan district?

The disease known as anthrax is extremely fatal to sheep—more so, I think, than any which we have yet had in the Australian Colonies; and the fact that we have now got it, and most probably must keep it for all time to come (as it is not possible to stamp it out by destroying all infected flocks, seeing that the germs may remain in the ground for many years) shows what insane folly we have been guilty of in allowing the importation of stock from anywhere under any circumstances. I did my best some years ago, through the columns of the Press, to have all importations of stock prevented so that we might work up from what was already in the country without any danger from the many diseases prevalent in the old world; but unfortunately I failed to get other stockowners to see things from my point of view, and now the thing which I then predicted has come upon us, and it only remains to face the evil the best way we can. The eminent French chemist, M. Pasteur, has been for many years engaged in experimenting on anthrax, and he it was who first isolated and traced out the life history of this particular bacteria, and proved that the disease was in every case the result of bacterial infection. The difficulty of dealing with it is strikingly illustrated by some of the facts brought out by M. Pasteur's researches. In one case, where some diseased animals had been buried six feet deep, the bacteria were found at or just under the surface, with sufficient vitality many years afterwards to destroy all infected or inoculated animals. These bacteria were brought up in the casts of earth worms. M. Pasteur has worked out a method of preventing the disease by means of inoculation with cultivated bacteria, but there are many difficulties in the way of cultivation, and the worst part of it is that though the sheep on any particular run may be made proof against the disease the bacteria will remain in the ground for a great many years, and may be carried about in the wool of the inoculated sheep so as to infect other stock in all parts of the colony, and also to infect the ground. It only remains for us now to make the best of a bad job. We may shut the door when the steed is gone, or rather lock the door when the burglar is inside, but that won't do much good. I believe the first step should be to declare the districts where the disease has appeared infected and stop the exit of all sheep, so as to save the rest of the country, if possible; and all sheep inspectors should be instructed as to the symptoms of anthrax, and ordered to report whether or not it has appeared in their districts. In this way we will soon find out how far the evil has gone, and be in a position to judge of the probable cost of dealing with it. In the meantime, it would be suicidal folly for any grazier to buy or bring on to sound country any sheep from the infected districts. It is the land itself which becomes infected.

I have, &c.,

W. E. ABBOTT.

Wingen, 30th March, 1883.

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

DISEASES IN SHEEP ACTS AMENDMENT ACT OF 1878.
(REGULATIONS UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 41 Vict. No. 19, sec. 21.

Department of Mines, Sydney, 22 December, 1882.

DISEASES IN SHEEP ACTS AMENDMENT ACT OF 1882.

THE following Regulations, made by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, in accordance with the provisions of the abovenamed Act, are hereby published for general information :—

Duration of Quarantine and number of dressings.

1. The duration of quarantine for imported sheep arriving by sea from any of the Australian Colonies shall be not less than ten days.

Medicaments for dressing.

2. The medicaments to be used in the dressing of sheep shall be any of the following :—
- (I.) Tobacco and sulphur, 1lb. each to 5 gallons of water.
 - (II.) Lime and sulphur in the proportion of 4 ozs. sulphur to 2 ozs. lime, and 1 gallon water to 6 ozs. of the mixture.
 - (III.) Little's chemical fluid at a strength of one part of the fluid to fifty of water.
 - (IV.) Each dressing shall be administered at the temperature and in the manner directed by the Chief Inspector of Sheep.

Quarantine charges.

3. The rates to be charged for the keeping and dressing of imported sheep whilst in quarantine shall be as follows :—

		s.	d.
Sustenance and attendance for every day or part of a day, each sheep	0	6
Administering three dressings, each sheep	2	6

ARTHUR RENWICK.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

RABBIT NUISANCE ABATEMENT BILL.

(MESSAGE No. 9.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 25 January, 1883.

AUGUSTUS LOFTUS,
Governor.

Message No. 9.

In accordance with the provisions contained in the 5th section of the Constitution Act, the Governor recommends for the consideration of the Legislative Assembly the expediency of making provision to meet the requisite expenses in connection with a Bill to provide for the abatement of the Rabbit Nuisance.

*Government House,
Sydney, 24th January, 1883.*

1883.

—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

—

GLEBE ISLAND ABATTOIRS.
(REVENUE FOR 1882.)

—

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 March, 1883.

—

RETURN of Amount of Revenue derived from the Glebe Island Abattoirs during the year 1882.

	£	s.	d.
Slaughtering fees	2,849	8	7
Rent of Abattoirs	3,161	18	4
Sale of manure, &c.	1,193	12	3
	7,204	19	2

W. PEARSON,
Accountant.

The Treasury, New South Wales,
Sydney, 5 March, 1883.

—

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

SLAUGHTER-HOUSES AT GLEBE ISLAND.

(NAMES OF LESSEES AND RENT FOR 1882 AND 1883.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 March, 1883.

RETURN to an Order of the Legislative Assembly, dated 7th February, 1883, showing,—

“The names of the Lessees of Slaughter-houses, with the Annual Rent
“of each, at the Glebe Island Abattoirs, for the years 1882 and 1883.”

(Mr. Hutchinson.)

RETURN showing the names of the Lessees of Slaughter-houses, with the Annual Rent of each, at the Glebe Island Abattoirs, for the years 1882 and 1883.

Name of Lessee.	Number of Slaughter-house.	Annual Rent.	Year.
Walsh John	1	£ s. d. 395 0 0	1882.
Turner George	2	410 0 0	"
Gear Edwin	3	410 0 0	"
Macnamara Henry	4	410 0 0	"
Macnamara Henry	5	400 0 0	"
Walsh John	6	365 0 0	"
Walsh John	13	145 0 0	"
Walsh John	14	125 0 0	"
Elliott Thomas	15	125 0 0	"
Macnamara Henry	16	145 0 0	"
O'Brien & Roberts	18	139 0 0	"
O'Connor Daniel	20	135 0 0	"
Total for the year 1882		£3,204 0 0
Walsh John	1	585 0 0	1883.
Walsh John	2	565 0 0	"
Turner George	3	535 0 0	"
Macnamara Henry	4	520 0 0	"
O'Brien John	5	535 0 0	"
Walsh John	6	530 0 0	"
Walsh John	13	201 0 0	"
Walsh John	14	166 0 0	"
Walsh John	15	156 0 0	"
Macnamara Henry	16	150 0 0	"
Macnamara Henry	17	150 0 0	"
O'Brien John	18	150 0 0	"
O'Connor Daniel	20	100 0 0	"
Woolfe Henry	21	100 0 0	"
Total for the year 1883		£4,443 0 0

The Treasury, New South Wales,
2nd March, 1883.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

TALLOW-MELTING ESTABLISHMENT AT GLEBE ISLAND
ABATTOIR.

(CORRESPONDENCE RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 13 February, 1883.

SCHEDULE.

NO.	PAGE.
1. The Mayor of Balmain to the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade	1
2. The Inspector, Glebe Island Abattoir, to the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade	1
3. Mr. A. G. Kenway, Acting Clerk of Works, Glebe Island, to the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade	2
4. Minute of the Colonial Treasurer on the preceding Report	2
5. The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. John Walsh, Glebe Island	2
6. Mr. John Walsh to the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade	2
7. Mr. A. G. Kenway, Acting Clerk of Works, Glebe Island, to the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade	3
8. The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. John Walsh, Glebe Island	3

No. 1.

The Mayor of Balmain to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Town Hall, Balmain, 22 July, 1882.

I have the honor, by direction of the Council of the Borough of Balmain, to call your attention to the nuisance arising from the boiling-down at present allowed on the northern side of Glebe Island. I need scarcely point out to you that this is a nuisance that has been long complained of, and could be removed without in any way interfering with the efficiency of the works carried on at the Abattoirs at Glebe Island. The Council has expressed a hope that you may see your way to having the nuisance abated before the summer months.

I have, &c.,

W. A. HUTCHINSON,

Mayor.

The Inspector, Glebe Island, for report.—J.W., 29/7/82. G.E., 29/7/82, B.C. Report herewith attached.—F.O., 5/8/82. The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade, &c., &c.

No. 2.

The Inspector, Glebe Island Abattoir, to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Glebe Island Abattoir, 4 August, 1882.

I do myself the honor to acknowledge receipt of letter addressed to you from the Municipal Council of Balmain, respecting an alleged nuisance arising from the boiling-down establishment on the Island, and beg respectfully to report that I have on various occasions visited the premises, and could detect no cause for complaint. I again inspected the establishment yesterday, in company with Mr. Kenway, and found it in a very clean condition, and free from all kind of filth. The only thing that could be detected was a soupy smell, which came from the chimney. This Mr. Kenway informed me might be got rid of by a separate furnace being used through which the steam, &c., from the digesters might pass. I would therefore propose that Mr. Kenway be requested to make some suggestions on the matter, with a view to remedying this objection.

I have, &c.,

FRED. OATLEY,

Inspector.

Mr. Kenway, for report.—J.W., 8/8/82. G.E., 11/8/82., B.C. Report herewith.—A.G.K., 15/8/82.

No. 3.

Mr. A. G. Kenway, Acting Clerk of Works, Glebe Island, to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Glebe Island, 15 August, 1882.

I beg to enclose and return letter from the Balmain Council (Treasury No. 464 Misc. 24-7-82), complaining of the smell from the tallow works on Glebe Island, and Mr. Oatley's report thereon, dated August 4th, 1882, and have the honor to report that I accompanied Mr. Oatley on his last visit of inspection of the establishment, and that I fully endorse all that he reports relative to its cleanliness and management, which I have always found to be the same on the occasion of numerous incidental visits.

The smell complained of is due to the incomplete combustion of such waste steam and gases as are conveyed into the steam-boiler furnace, and the occasional escape of the same from sundry small leaks in the apparatus, which would be largely increased when the digesters are discharged.

The smell, although quite innocuous, and almost unnoticeable to some people, is peculiarly objectionable to others, especially those in ill health, being a penetrating fatty smell.

I should imagine (although I have never detected it myself) that there are times in the hot weather when the killing has been greater than usual, and the consequent supply of fat has suddenly increased, when the fat lies spread on the floor of the fat house till it smells very strongly, or may even be in such condition when delivered.

I am of opinion that all smells from whatever cause arising can be entirely consumed in a properly constructed furnace with the necessary brick chimney.

The sources of smell should be securely closed in (the digesters as well as the fat room), and so connected with the furnace that no vent can occur except after having passed through the fire, which should be kept entirely independent from the rest of the plant, in order that the heat may be raised to any desired extent without risk to the apparatus employed.

I am aware that this would entail the consumption of fuel from which no power would be utilized, but the abolishing of what to some people is a nuisance would I think justify the expense, which would probably be about £400 for the erection of the necessary additions and alterations, and the consumption of about three-quarters of a ton of fuel per day.

I have, &c.,

ARTHUR G. KENWAY.

No. 4.

Minute of the Colonial Treasurer.

I AM strongly opposed to the interference with any industry established, yet the public health of the residents of the locality must be considered, and unless the lessees are willing to abate the nuisance as suggested by Mr. Kenway, and under his supervision, the right to occupy must be cancelled, and the lessees must be informed at same time that even the improvements suggested will not give any right to permanent occupation, but only on permission, and until required.

J. W., 19/8/82.

Mr. Ross.—Letter to Mr. Walsh, embodying the terms of the Treasurer's Minute.—G.E., 21/8/82.
Done.—R.M.R., 19/10/82.

No. 5.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. J. Walsh.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 19 October, 1882.

I am directed by the Colonial Treasurer to inform you that a communication has been received from the Mayor of the Borough of Balmain, calling attention to the nuisance arising from your boiling-down establishment, on the northern side of Glebe Island.

Mr. Watson desires me to state that while he is opposed to unnecessary interference with any established industry, he cannot on the other hand disregard the representations which have been made to him upon the subject; I am therefore to inform you that unless you are willing to abate the nuisance by the erection—under the supervision of a Government officer—of certain alterations and additions (to be hereafter specified) at an estimated cost of about £400 and a consumption of (say) three-quarters of a ton of fuel per day, the permission to occupy will be at once withdrawn.

It must be clearly understood by you, however, that the erection of the alterations and additions mentioned will give you no claim to a permanent occupancy, and that you will continue in possession only on sufferance, as heretofore.

The Treasurer will be glad to have an early intimation of your intentions.

I have, &c.,

G. EAGAR.

No. 6.

Mr. J. Walsh to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Sydney, 30 October, 1882.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of 19th instant, M. 1,533-9,259, informing me that the Mayor of the Borough of Balmain complained of a nuisance arising from the boiling-down on the north side of Glebe Island, and that unless I abated the said nuisance the permission to carry on the tallow-making business would be withdrawn.

In reply I wish to inform you that about six weeks or two months ago one of the digesters used there became defective and no doubt allowed steam and gases to escape, and this would be the only thing that I know to cause a nuisance to any one.

I had the said digester taken out, and at once contracted for two new ones at an outlay of over £300, in order that the fat might go at once whilst fresh into them and be rendered into tallow the same day.

day. The new digesters were nearly completed when the strike in the iron trade occurred; I was therefore unable to get them completed until this present week, which I now have done, or at least one of them; the other will be finished and at work next week, when I invite your inspection or any one you may appoint, and feel sure you will say I have removed any reasonable grounds of complaint from the Mayor or people of Balmain. Should you think otherwise, and see the necessity of further improvements, I will if possible try to meet your views.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WALSH.

Mr. Kenway, for report.—J.W., 2/11/82. G.E., 3/11/82. Report herewith.—A.G.K., B.C., 6/11/82.

No. 7.

Mr. A. G. Kenway, Acting Clerk of Works, Glebe Island, to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Glebe Island, 6 November, 1882.

In reference to Mr. Walsh's letter (No. 2,170, 31/10/82, Misc.) detailing the improvements made at his tallow-house at Glebe Island, complaints against which have been made by the Balmain Council (No. 464 Misc. 24/7/82), I have the honor to report that I visited the establishment this morning, and found the digesters mentioned by Mr. Walsh properly fixed in their places, and the whole premises clean and tidy.

The general management of the works is admirable, and repeated visits of Mr. Oatley and myself have merely confirmed the fact that no improvement can be made as far as cleanliness and tidiness are concerned; but I am of opinion that the smells which chiefly reach Balmain arise from the imperfect combustion of the gases from the digesters, and unless such alterations to the premises as are recommended in my report of August 15th, 1882, are properly effected, complaints will still be made of the smell.

I am informed that the plant is now used at night only, with the view of avoiding the nuisance as much as is possible.

I have, &c.,

ARTHUR G. KENWAY.

Mr. Walsh may be allowed time to give his improvements a fair trial before any further action is taken.—J.W., 11/11/82. Mr. Ross.—G.E., 14/11/82. Informed.—R.M.R., 14.

No. 8.

The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. J. Walsh.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 14 November, 1882.

I am directed by the Colonial Treasurer to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 30th ultimo, and to inform you, in reply, that further action in connection with your sufferance occupation at Glebe Island for boiling-down purposes will for the present be suspended pending a trial of the improvements which are stated in your communication to have been effected.

I have, &c.,

G. EAGAR.

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PUBLIC ABATTOIRS, GLEBE ISLAND.
(REGULATIONS.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Treasury, New South Wales,
21st November, 1882.

PUBLIC ABATTOIRS, GLEBE ISLAND.

His Excellency the Governor having been pleased, with the advice of the Executive Council, further to amend the "Orders and Regulations" concerning the Public Abattoirs at Glebe Island, as published in Treasury notice of 25th November, 1879, it is hereby notified that in lieu thereof the following shall be enforced, from and after the first day of January, 1883.

JAMES WATSON.

ORDERS AND REGULATIONS.

1. The Abattoir shall be opened daily (Sundays excepted) for the despatch of business, from the 1st October to the 30th April, from the hours of 6 o'clock a.m. to 7 o'clock p.m. (except on Mondays and Saturdays, on which days the Abattoir will be opened from 2 o'clock a.m. to 7 o'clock p.m.), and from the 1st May to the 30th September, from 6 o'clock a.m. to 6 o'clock p.m. (Fridays excepted, on which day the Abattoir will be open from 6 o'clock a.m. to 7 o'clock p.m.); and no slaughtering of cattle will be permitted during any other hour or day than the days and hours above mentioned, nor shall any person be allowed to come within or remain in the enclosures of the Abattoirs at such times as they are not open for business. Pigs, however, may be slaughtered and dressed at the Abattoir during the whole of Thursday and Friday nights, between the 1st October and the 30th April in any year. During Sunday it will be permitted to drive in and yard cattle.

2. The slaughter-houses shall, with the exception of six beef and six mutton slaughter-houses, be retained in the hands of the Government for the use of the public.

3. Six beef and six mutton slaughter-houses shall be submitted to public competition, by lease, at an upset price of £300 per annum for the beef, and £150 per annum for the mutton, slaughter-houses.

4. A fee of threepence for inspecting brands shall be charged upon every head of horned cattle slaughtered in the leased houses.

5. Parties desirous of using the slaughter-houses reserved by the Government shall be permitted to do so on payment of the following fees:—

	s.	d.
For every ox, cow, bull, or heifer, or steer (including inspection fee of 3d.)	1	0
For every calf not exceeding six months old (including an inspection fee)	0	6
For every sheep or lamb	0	1½
For every head of swine	0	6

6. All fees shall be paid to the Inspector or Assistant Inspector of Abattoirs on demand, who shall pay the same into the Colonial Treasury under such directions as he or they shall from time to time receive from the Secretary for Finance and Trade.

7. Printed receipts shall be given to all parties paying fees.

8. No person shall slaughter or yard any animal at the reserved Abattoirs without the sanction of the Inspector or Assistant Inspector.

9. The hours during which cattle may be driven in and yarded for slaughter shall be from 5 a.m. to 8 a.m. between the 1st October and 30th April, and from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. between the 1st May and 30th September, in each year; and cattle shall in all cases be inspected before slaughter. Milch cows and stall-fed cattle may be driven in between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m.

10. In all cases where carcasses are brought to the Abattoirs dressed or to be dressed, notice shall be given to the Inspector or Assistant Inspector on the arrival of such carcass or carcasses, and the hours for dressing or receiving same shall be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

11. Any cattle brought to the Abattoir for slaughter which appear to the Inspector or Assistant Inspector to be diseased, shall not be slaughtered without either of their sanction, and at such times only as either of them may direct. In all such cases the owner of the same or the occupier of the slaughter-house shall be held liable for any such offence.

12. No person or persons shall slaughter, or cause to be slaughtered, any cattle in any of the pens connected with the Abattoir, without the sanction of the Inspector or Assistant Inspector. In all such cases the owner thereof or persons occupying the slaughter-house, shall be held liable for any such offence.

13. Should any animal die while in the cattle-pens connected with the Abattoir, the owner of the same, or person occupying the cattle-pen at such time, shall immediately remove the whole carcass from the island, and destroy the same forthwith.

14. All animals on which fees are charged shall be reported to the Inspector or Assistant Inspector without delay and the fees paid forthwith, failing such payment each or either of the said officers may close and lock the doors leading from the pens to the pithing or slaughtering floors, until the said fees are paid.

15. Sheep and cattle will not be permitted to remain in the Abattoir-pens for more than forty-eight hours from the time of being brought in.

16. No lessee or occupier of any slaughter-house connected with the Abattoir shall expose for sale diseased meat or any other which the Inspector or Assistant Inspector may have condemned, and any such lessee or occupier shall, when ordered to do so by the Inspectors aforesaid, immediately remove such meat from the Abattoir and cause the same to be destroyed by fire or boiled down for the purpose only of extracting tallow. Any such lessee or occupier failing to comply with any of these conditions shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds. The Inspector or Assistant Inspector is hereby empowered, in the event of non-compliance with the removal of the said meat, to destroy the same at the cost of such lessee or occupier.

17. The lessee or occupier of any slaughter-house shall thoroughly cleanse the same, to the satisfaction of the Inspector or Assistant Inspector, immediately after slaughtering has been carried on, and with respect to the offal and blood, may select and shall immediately remove each day, at such time during the day as may be appointed by the Inspector or Assistant Inspector for the purpose, such portions, not being the whole of such offal and blood, as the said lessee or occupier may require for disposal for human food, and failing such removal, at the time so appointed, the whole of such offal and blood may be removed by the Government.

18. The premises attached to, and the roadways in front and rear of each slaughter-house shall be kept clean by the lessee or person occupying or using the same, to the satisfaction of the Inspector or Assistant Inspector of Abattoirs.

19. The lessee of Abattoirs in which sheep or pigs may be slaughtered shall furnish to the Inspector or Assistant Inspector, at their respective offices, a monthly return of all such animals as shall have been slaughtered at such Abattoirs, on or before the 4th day of each month.

20. No hide, carcass, or spleen of any horned cattle (not having been previously inspected), shall be removed from any slaughter-house until after the same has been inspected by the Inspector or Assistant Inspector of Abattoirs.

21. Any meat found blown at the Abattoirs may be condemned by the Inspector or Assistant Inspector, and the owner or person found blowing the same will be held liable.

22. The lessee or occupier of any slaughter-house shall cause the vessels and water used in dressing carcasses therein, to be kept clean to the satisfaction of the Inspector or Assistant Inspector.

23. Cattle as they are brought in for slaughter shall be kept separate from those already in the yards, until the brands of those so brought in shall have been inspected.

24. All hides, skins, heads, feet, and offal shall be removed from the Abattoirs, only by way of the road at the rear of the buildings.

25. The hours fixed for driving animals into the pens of the reserved mutton slaughter-houses shall be from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. between the 1st October and 30th April in each year; and between the 1st May and 30th September the hours shall be from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. in each year.

26. It is strictly prohibited to place candles or lights of any description upon or against the walls, or upon or against any portion of the woodwork of the Abattoirs or stables, or any other building or buildings in connection therewith; and the lessee or person occupying the Abattoir or stable where such prohibited candle or light is found will be held responsible for the same.

27. In cases where water is found running to waste in any Abattoir, the lessee or occupant will be held responsible for such waste.

28. Gaming is prohibited at the Abattoirs, also the tossing up or pitching of coin, throwing of dice, or playing of cards, under any pretext whatever.

29. Any person wilfully or negligently causing injury to any Government property of any description whatever at the Abattoirs will be held responsible for the same.

30. The use of obscene or offensive language, the throwing of missiles, filth, or muck of any kind, is strictly prohibited within the enclosure of the Abattoir.

31. The lessee or occupier of any slaughter-house is prohibited from using, or causing to be used, any instrument for driving in cattle to the Abattoirs, other than such as may be approved of by the Inspector or Assistant Inspector.

32. The Inspector or Assistant Inspector, or any other officer connected with the Glebe Island Abattoir, may at any time enter to view any of the slaughter-houses connected with the Abattoir, whether leased or otherwise; and no person or persons shall obstruct, molest, or assail with abusive or offensive language either the Inspector, Assistant Inspector, or any other officer connected with the Abattoir while in the execution of his official duties.

33. It shall be competent for the Inspector of the Abattoir at any time, should any person or persons occupying any of the slaughter-houses reserved by the Government be found breaking or continuing to break any one or more of the Regulations made concerning the Public Abattoirs at Glebe Island, to refuse to allow such person or persons to use any of the slaughter-houses reserved by the Government.

34. The owner or driver of any vehicle used for the transmission of meat from the Abattoir, shall keep the same and the awnings used therewith in clean and proper condition to the satisfaction of the Inspector or Assistant Inspector of the Abattoir; and further the driver of any such vehicle during the transmission of such meat shall keep himself and clothing in clean and proper condition to the satisfaction of the Inspector or Assistant Inspector.

35. The lessee or occupier of any beef slaughter-house shall cause the contents of the paunches and intestines to be deposited on the manure pit at the rear of the Abattoir; and the lessee or occupier of any sheep or pig slaughter-house shall cause the contents of the paunches and intestines to be deposited in the shoot erected for that purpose.

36. The lessee of any beef slaughter-house or houses shall not slaughter, or cause to be slaughtered therein, any sheep, lambs, or pigs.

37. Persons are prohibited from bringing and depositing offal or other offensive matter at the Abattoirs.

38. Any person or persons offending against any of the orders and regulations contained in paragraphs 1, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 34, 35, 36, and 37, shall for each and every offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than twenty shillings.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE DOG ACT.

(PETITION AGAINST OPERATION OF—RESIDENTS OF COORANBONG.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 8 February, 1883.

To the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned residents in the Police District of Cooranbong, in the county of Northumberland,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH :—

1. That many of your Petitioners and a very large proportion of residents within the Police District of Cooranbong follow farming pursuits, and depend almost entirely for their livelihoods upon the produce that is obtained from the soil they cultivate.

2. That the land used for agricultural purposes is at a considerable distance from any market, and there being neither natural or artificial means of conveying produce except by the agency of difficult, tedious, and ill-formed roads, many obstacles exist to render cultivation of the soil unprofitable.

3. That the farmers above-mentioned, besides suffering under the disadvantages described, are now being harassed, and in some cases absolutely ruined, through the destruction of their crops by various animals of the marsupial tribe, which are largely on the increase, and agricultural pursuits are consequently crippled in no small degree.

4. That such increase of marsupials is clearly traceable to the decrease of domesticated dogs in the district of Cooranbong, which were employed to hunt and destroy such marsupials.

5. That what is commonly known as the "Dog Act" has been extended to the Police District of Cooranbong, and the farmers and others in that district find they cannot, without inconvenience, afford to pay two shillings and sixpence per head annually for the number of dogs previously kept, and such as would be necessary to keep down the increase of different kinds of destructive vermin.

6. That whilst a premium is granted for the extermination of wild animals in some places in this Colony, facilities are inadvertently afforded for the spread of grass- and crop-destroying pests at Cooranbong.

7. That whilst in municipalities and centres of population the presence of dogs is a nuisance, and their possession a luxury, in many country districts they are a necessity, for the reasons above shown, and because they protect property and are useful in work relating to the care and control of stock.

8. That dogs would assist in suppressing the rabbit nuisance which now exists or threatens in various portions of this Colony.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that reason has been shown, and occasion will be seen, for the withdrawal of all pecuniary fees chargeable annually for the keeping of a dog or dogs by persons residing in the Police District of Cooranbong, and pray that appropriate steps may be taken in that behalf.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

[Here follow 92 signatures.]

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

EATING-HOUSES.
(PETITION OF PROPRIETORS OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 6 February, 1883.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Keepers of Eating-houses, in the City of Sydney,—

SHOWETH :—

That your Petitioners keep eating-houses in the City of Sydney, for the supply of victuals and refreshment to the public.

That frequently your Petitioners are victimized by persons coming into their houses, obtaining food and refreshment, and then going away and refusing to pay for them.

That in such cases your Petitioners are powerless to do anything but sue for the amount, and that the smallness of the amount payable, and the trouble and often impossibility of recovering it, make it useless to try and get the sum payable by action at law.

That your Petitioners desire to have a remedy (similar to that given to publicans by the 57th section of the Act 45 Victoria number 14) whereby any person who, at the time of being supplied with food or refreshment at any eating-house, shall on demand of payment, made by the proprietor of any such eating-house or by his servant or agent, refuse to pay a reasonable sum therefor, shall be deemed a rogue and vagabond and be liable to be dealt with as such under the Acts relating to vagrancy.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will be pleased to sanction the passing of an Act making persons punishable for not paying for food and refreshment supplied by keepers of eating-houses, as provided by the last preceding clause of this Petition.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.

[Here follow 42 signatures.]

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CLOSING BUTCHERS' SHOPS ON SUNDAY.

(PETITION IN FAVOUR OF—MASTER BUTCHERS AND OTHERS.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 21 March, 1883.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly.

We, the undersigned masters and journeymen butchers, and the public in general of New South Wales, hereby respectfully petition the Honorable Legislature to take the necessary steps to provide for the better working of the butchering trade, viz., to make it compulsory for the butchers of New South Wales to keep closed their several places of business, and not sell or deliver, or allow to be sold or delivered, from any of his or their premises, meat on or during the Sabbath day.

Your Petitioners would most humbly point out in support of this their prayer that most of the journeymen butchers are compelled to commence work on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 5 a.m., and continue work till 8 p.m.; on Friday two hours longer; on Saturday from 4 a.m. till 12 midnight; and on Sunday from 6 a.m. till 11 a.m., this making the total number of hours worked during the week 102, leaving only sixty-six hours, or nine hours per day, for improvement of the mind and rest for the body, which is totally inadequate for the health of the butcher, whose work is laborious in the extreme.

In conclusion, your Petitioners most humbly pray you will give this our Petition your most favourable consideration at your earliest convenience.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.

(Here follow 12,735 signatures.)

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

LANDS FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES ACQUISITION ACT.

(LANDS RESUMED FOR WATER SUPPLY, GOULBURN; IMPROVEMENTS, LAKE MACQUARIE; WATER SUPPLY, SYDNEY; GENERAL POST OFFICE, SYDNEY.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 44 Vic. No. 16, sec. 6.

NOTIFICATION OF RESUMPTION OF LAND UNDER
44 VICTORIA, No. 16.

NEW SOUTH WALES, } By His Excellency The Right Honor-to wit. } able Sir AUGUSTUS WILLIAM FREDERICK
SPENCER LOFTUS (commonly called Lord
(L.S.) } AUGUSTUS LOFTUS), Knight Grand
AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, } Cross of the Most Honorable Order
Governor. } of the Bath, a Member of Her Majesty's
Most Honorable Privy Council, Govern-
and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its
Dependencies.

WHEREAS I, the Governor aforesaid, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, have duly sanctioned the carrying out of certain works for and in connection with the supply of water to the City of Goulburn, for and towards the completion of which said works public funds are available under the provisions of the "Appropriation Act of 1879;" and whereas the lands hereinafter described are required for the construction of the said works: Now I, the Governor of the said Colony, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, in pursuance of the powers in this behalf given to or vested in me by the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," do by this notification, published in the Gazette and in a newspaper, that is to say, in the "Goulburn Herald," circulated in the Police District wherein the said lands are situated, declare that the lands hereinafter described, have been resumed for the public purposes hereinafter mentioned, that is to say, for and in connection with the supply of water to the said City of Goulburn, to the intent that, upon the publication of this notification in the Gazette, the legal estate in the said lands shall forthwith be vested in the Minister for Public Works and his successors, on behalf of Her Majesty for the purpose of the said last-mentioned Act, for an estate of inheritance in fee simple in possession, freed and discharged from all trusts, obligations, estate, interests, contracts, charges, rates, rights-of-way, or other easements whatsoever; and to the intent, further, that the legal estate therein, together with all powers, incident thereto or conferred by the said Act, shall be vested in the said Minister as a trustee with the powers stated in the said last-mentioned Act. And I declare, that the following is the description of the lands hereinbefore referred to, that is to say:—

All that piece or parcel of land situate in the parish of Goulburn, at Goulburn, county of Argyle, and Colony of New South Wales, part of portions 143, 142, and 141: Commencing at the intersection of the eastern boundary of a reserved road 1 chain wide with the northern boundary of the road from Goulburn to Wheo, being the south-western corner of the said portion 143, and bounded thence by the said eastern boundary of reserved road north 24 minutes west 7 chains 72 links; thence by a line north 89 degrees 36 minutes east 6 chains 82 links; thence south 31 degrees 1 minute east 12 chains 63 links to the said northern boundary of the Wheo and Goulburn Road; thence by that boundary north 77 degrees west 13 chains 63 links to the point of commencement,—containing 8 acres 3 roods 18 perches, and said to be in the possession and occupation of the Bishop of Goulburn.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my Hand and caused the Great Seal of the Colony to be hereto affixed, at Government House, Sydney, this third day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, and in the forty-sixth year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,

JOHN LACKEY.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

NOTIFICATION OF RESUMPTION OF LAND UNDER
44 VICTORIA, No. 16.

NEW SOUTH WALES, } By His Excellency The Right Honorable
to wit. } Sir AUGUSTUS WILLIAM FREDERICK
SPENCER LOFTUS (commonly called Lord
(L.S.) } AUGUSTUS LOFTUS), Knight Grand
AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, } Cross of the Most Honorable Order
Governor. } of the Bath, a Member of Her Majesty's
Most Honorable Privy Council, Govern-
and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its
Dependencies.

WHEREAS I, the Governor aforesaid, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, have duly sanctioned the carrying out of certain works for and in connection with improvements to the harbour of Lake Macquarie, in the said Colony, for and towards the completion of which said works public funds are available under the provisions of the "Public Works Loan Act of 1881," and whereas the lands hereinafter described are required for the construction of the said works: Now I, the Governor of the said Colony, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, in pursuance of the powers in this behalf given to or vested in me by the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," do, by this notification published in the Gazette and in a newspaper, that is to say, in the "Newcastle Morning Herald and Miners' Advocate," circulated in the Police District wherein the said lands are situated, declare that the lands hereinafter described have been resumed for the public purposes hereinafter mentioned, that is to say, for and in connection with the improvements to the said harbour of Lake Macquarie, to the intent that, upon the publication of this notification in the Gazette, the legal estate in the said lands shall forthwith be vested in the Minister for Public Works and his successors, on behalf of Her Majesty, for the purpose of the said last-mentioned Act, for an estate of inheritance in fee simple in possession, freed and discharged from all trusts, obligations, estate, interests, contracts, charges, rates, rights-of-way, or other easements whatsoever; and to the intent further that the legal estate therein, together with all powers incident thereto or conferred by the said Act, shall be vested in the said Minister as a trustee with the powers stated in the said last-mentioned Act: And I declare that the following are the descriptions of the lands hereinbefore referred to, that is to say:—

All that allotment or parcel of land in the Colony of New South Wales, containing by admeasurement 35 perches, be the same more or less, situated in the county of Northumberland, parish of Kahiba, and village of Kahiba, being allotment No. 4 of section No. 3: Commencing on the south-eastern side of Victoria-street, at the northern corner of allotment 3, and bounded thence on the north-west by that street north-easterly one chain six links; on the north-east by the south-western boundary-line of allotment 5 south-easterly at right angles to Victoria-street two chains and thirty links to the inlet to Lake Macquarie; on the south by that inlet westerly to the eastern corner of allotment 3 aforesaid; and on the south-west by the north-eastern boundary-line, of that allotment north-westerly at right angles to Victoria-street 1 chain eighty links, to the point of commencement,—and said to be in the possession and occupation of J. Thorne.

NOTE.—The description in the above notification is in correction of the description contained in the notification which was published in the Government Gazette, No. 118, of the 17th March, 1882, the correction being as to the area and the length of the last bearing.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my Hand and caused the Great Seal of the Colony to be hereto affixed at Government House, Sydney, this twentieth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, and in the forty-sixth year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,

JOHN LACKEY.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

NOTIFICATION OF RESUMPTION OF LAND UNDER 44 VICTORIA, No. 16.

NEW SOUTH WALES, } By His Excellency the Right Honorable
to wit. } SIR AUGUSTUS WILLIAM FREDERICK
SPENCER LOFTUS (commonly called
(L.S.) Lord AUGUSTUS LOFTUS), Knight Grand
AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, Bath, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Governor. Honorable Privy Council, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of
New South Wales and its Dependencies.

WHEREAS I, the Governor aforesaid, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, have duly sanctioned the carrying out of certain works for and in connection with the supply of water to the City of Sydney and its suburbs in the said Colony, for and towards the completion of which said works public funds are available under the provisions of the "Public Works Loan Act of 1879," and whereas the land hereinbefore described is required for the construction of the said works: Now I, the Governor of the said Colony, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, in pursuance of the powers in this behalf given to or vested in me by the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," do, by this notification published in the Gazette and in a newspaper, that is to say in the "Sydney Morning Herald," circulated in the police district wherein the said land is situated, declare that the land hereinbefore described has been appropriated or resumed for the public purposes hereinafter mentioned, that is to say, for and in connection with the supply of water to the said City of Sydney and its suburbs, to the intent that, upon the publication of this notification in the Gazette, the legal estate in the said land shall forthwith be vested in the Minister for Public Works and his successors, on behalf of Her Majesty, for the purpose of the said last-mentioned Act, for an estate of inheritance in fee simple in possession, freed and discharged from all trusts, obligations, estate, interests, contracts, charges, rates, rights-of-way, or other easements whatsoever, and to the intent, further, that the legal estate therein, together with all powers incident thereto or conferred by the said Act, shall be vested in the said Minister as a trustee with the powers stated in the said last-mentioned Act: And I declare that the following is the description of the land hereinbefore referred to, that is to say:—

All that piece or parcel of land situate in the parish of Alexandria, county of Cumberland, and Colony of New South Wales, near the City of Sydney, and in the Municipal Borough of Waverley, being part of the 27 acres 2 roods 10 perches, known as Waverley Park: Commencing at a point on the southern boundary of Waverley-street, distant easterly 1 chain 75 links from its intersection with the eastern boundary of Paul-street (being the north-western corner of the said Waverley Park), and bounded thence by a line southerly 6 chains 6½ links; thence westerly at right angles to the last described line, 1 chain 75 links to the western boundary of the said Waverley Park; thence by that boundary southerly 4 chains; thence by a line at right angles, to the last described boundary easterly 4 chains; thence again at right angles northerly, 4 chains; thence again at right angles westerly 1 chain 75 links; thence at right angles to the last described line and parallel to the first described line northerly 6 chains 6½ links to the southern boundary of Waverley-street aforesaid; thence by that boundary westerly 50 links to the point of commencement,—containing 1 acre 3 roods 24½ perches, and said to be held in trust by the Borough Council of Waverley for public purposes, in pursuance of notification which appeared in the Government Gazette, dated the 18th June, 1880.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my Hand and caused the Great Seal of the Colony to be hereto affixed, at Government House, Sydney, this third day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, and in the forty-sixth year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,

JOHN LACKEY.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

NOTIFICATION OF RESUMPTION OF LAND UNDER 44 VICTORIA, No. 16.

NEW SOUTH WALES, } By His Excellency The Right Honorable
to wit. } SIR AUGUSTUS WILLIAM FREDERICK
SPENCER LOFTUS (commonly called Lord
(L.S.) AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, Bath, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Governor. Honorable Privy Council, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of
New South Wales and its Dependencies.

WHEREAS I, the Governor aforesaid, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony have duly sanctioned the carrying out of certain works for and in connection with the building and erection of the General Post Office in Sydney in the said Colony, for and towards the completion of which said works public funds are available: And whereas the land hereinafter described is required for the construction of the said works: Now I, the Governor of the said Colony, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, in pursuance of the powers in this behalf given to or vested in me by the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," do, by this notification published in the Gazette and in a newspaper that is to say, in the "Sydney Morning Herald" circulated in the Police District wherein the said land is situated, declare that the land hereinafter described has been resumed for the public purposes hereinafter mentioned, that is to say, for and in connection with the building and erection of the General Post Office in Sydney in the said Colony, to the intent that upon the publication of this notification in the Gazette, the legal estate in the said land shall forthwith be vested in the Minister for Public Works and his successors, on behalf of Her Majesty, for the purpose of the said last-mentioned Act, for an estate of inheritance in fee simple in possession, freed and discharged from all trusts, obligations, estate, interests, contracts, charges, rates, rights-of-way, or other easements whatsoever, and to the intent further that the legal estate therein, together with all powers incident thereto, or conferred by the said Act, shall be vested in the said Minister as a Trustee with the powers stated in the said last-mentioned Act: And I declare that the following is the description of the land hereinbefore referred to that is to say:—

All that piece or parcel of land situated in the county of Cumberland, parish of St. James, City of Sydney, area 20⁰/₁₀₀ perches: Commencing on the eastern building-line of George-street, at the south-western corner of the General Post Office, and bounded thence on the west by part of the said building-line bearing south 4 degrees 17 minutes east (magnetic) 49⁰/₁₀₀ links; thence on part of the south by a line bearing north 85 degrees 44 minutes east (magnetic) $20\frac{14}{100}$ links; thence on part of the east by a line bearing north 4 degrees 16 minutes west (magnetic) $\frac{7}{100}$ of a link; again on the south by a line bearing north 85 degrees 44 minutes east (magnetic) $53\frac{9}{100}$ links; again on the east by a line bearing north 4 degrees 16 minutes west (magnetic) $\frac{2}{100}$ of a link; again on the south by a line bearing north 85 degrees 42 minutes east (magnetic) $81\frac{88}{100}$ links; again on the east by a line bearing north 2 degrees 15 minutes west (magnetic) $\frac{3}{100}$ of a link; again on the south by a line bearing north 87 degrees 45 minutes east (magnetic) $89\frac{4}{100}$ links; thence on the south-west by a line bearing south 88 degrees 9 minutes east (magnetic) $2\frac{12}{100}$ links; thence on the south-east by a line bearing north 73 degrees 3 minutes east (magnetic) $23\frac{4}{100}$ links; thence on the north-east by lines bearing north 36 degrees 25½ minutes west (magnetic) $8\frac{5}{100}$ links, and north 39 degrees 5½ minutes west (magnetic) $12\frac{3}{100}$ links; thence on the remainder of the east by a line bearing north 3 degrees 49 minutes west (magnetic) $29\frac{3}{100}$ links, to the southern side of the General Post Office aforesaid; thence on the north by part of that side of the General Post Office, being lines bearing south 87 degrees 53 minutes west (magnetic) $165\frac{1}{100}$ links, and south 85 degrees 26 minutes west (magnetic) $93\frac{1}{100}$ links to the point of commencement.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my Hand and caused the Great Seal of the Colony to be hereto affixed, at Government House, Sydney, this twenty-eighth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, and in the forty-sixth year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,
HENRY COPELAND.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

NEWINGTON ESTATE, PARRAMATTA RIVER.

(LAND RESUMED AT, FOR ERECTION OF GUNPOWDER MAGAZINE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 15 February, 1883.

RETURN to an Order of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 23rd January, 1883, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

- “ (1.) Copies of notification of resumption of land, part of the Newington Estate, Parramatta River, as published by command in the Gazette of “ 22nd August, 1882.
- “ (2.) Copies of all applications for compensation for land resumed under “ notification of date referred to.
- “ (3.) Copies of all letters or memorandums of valuations by the Govern- “ ment Valuator.
- “ (4.) Copies of all letters or memorandums of any Minister having “ reference to any claims for land taken by the aforesaid notification.”

(Mr. Sutherland.)

SCHEDULE.

NO.	PAGE.
1. Copy of notification of resumption of land	2
2. Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans (Solicitors for Mr. John Wetherill) to the Secretary for Public Works	2
3. Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans (Solicitors for Mr. John Sutherland) to the Secretary for Public Works	3
4. Crown Solicitor to the Under-Secretary for Public Works, with enclosure.....	3
5. Crown Solicitor to the Under-Secretary for Public Works, with enclosure.....	5
6. J. Y. Mills, Esq., to the Under-Secretary for Public Works	6
7. J. Y. Mills, Esq., to the Under-Secretary for Public Works.....	6
8. Minute of the Colonial Treasurer on the preceding valuation	6
9. Minute of the Colonial Treasurer	6
10. The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Edward Wrench, Esq.....	6
11. The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Henry Gorman, Esq.	7
12. Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans (Solicitors for Mr. John Wetherill) to the Under-Secretary for Public Works	7
13. Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans (Solicitors for Mr. John Sutherland) to the Under-Secretary for Public Works	7
14. Messrs. Edward Wrench and Henry Gorman to the Colonial Treasurer, with enclosure	7

NEWINGTON ESTATE, PARRAMATTA RIVER.

Notification of Resumption of Land under 44 Victoria, No. 16.

NEW SOUTH WALES, } By His Excellency the Right Honorable Sir AUGUSTUS WILLIAM FREDERICK SPENCER to wit. } LOFTUS (commonly called Lord AUGUSTUS LOFTUS), Knight Grand Cross of the (L.S.) } Most Honorable Order of the Bath, a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable
AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, } Privy Council, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South
Governor. } Wales and its Dependencies.

WHEREAS I, the Governor aforesaid, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, have duly sanctioned the carrying out of certain works for and in connection with the erection of a Magazine for the Storage of Gunpowder and other explosives and certain buildings in connection therewith, for and towards the completion of which said works public funds are available under the provisions of the "Appropriation Act of 1882": And whereas the lands hereinafter described are required for the construction of the said works: Now I, the Governor of the said Colony, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, in pursuance of the powers in this behalf given to or vested in me by the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," do by this notification published in the Gazette and in a newspaper, that is to say, in the Sydney Morning Herald, circulated in the Police District wherein the said lands are situated, declare that the lands hereinafter described have been resumed for the public purposes hereinafter mentioned, that is to say, for and in connection with the erection of the said magazine for the storage of gunpowder and other explosives, and the erection of other buildings in connection therewith, to the intent that upon the publication of this notification in the Gazette the legal estate in the said lands shall forthwith be vested in the Minister for Public Works and his successors, on behalf of Her Majesty, for the purpose of the said last-mentioned Act, for an estate of inheritance in fee simple in possession, freed and discharged from all trusts, obligations, estate, interests, contracts, charges, rates, rights-of-way, or other encumbrances whatsoever, and to the intent further that the legal estate therein, together with all powers incident thereto or conferred by the said Act, shall be vested in the said Minister as a trustee with the powers stated in the said last-mentioned Act: And I declare that the following is a description of the lands hereinbefore referred to, that is to say:—

All that piece or parcel of land situated in the county of Cumberland, parish of St. John, area about 217 acres: Commencing at a stake on the high-water-mark of Homebush Bay, at the east extremity of the northern side of Blaxland-street, in the private sub-division of the Newington Estate; and bounded thence by part of the northern side of that street being a line bearing north 73 degrees 32 minutes 10 seconds west 21 chains 50 links to the eastern side of Salisbury-street; thence by part of that side of Salisbury-street, being a line bearing north 16 degrees 21 minutes 40 seconds east 13 chains to the northern side of Newington-street; thence by part of that side of Newington-street, being a line bearing north 73 degrees 37 minutes 10 seconds west 22 chains to the eastern side of Jamieson-street; thence by part of that side of Jamieson-street, being a line bearing north 16 degrees 23 minutes 20 seconds east 19 chains 24 links to the high-water-mark of Parramatta River; thence by that high-water-mark easterly to the north extremity of the western side of Northcote-street; thence by part of that side of Northcote-street southerly till it meets a line parallel to the high-water-mark of Parramatta River aforesaid and 1 chain distant therefrom; thence by that line easterly to the northern side of Lennox-street; thence by part of that side of Lennox-street easterly to the western side of Abercorn-street; thence by part of that side of Abercorn-street northerly till it meets a line parallel to high-water-mark aforesaid and 1 chain distant therefrom; thence by that line parallel to and 1 chain distant from high-water-mark easterly, southerly, and south-westerly to the southern side of Newington-street aforesaid; thence by part of that side of Newington-street easterly to high-water-mark aforesaid; and thence by high-water-mark southerly to the point of commencement.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of the Colony to be hereto affixed, at Government House, Sydney, this twenty-first day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, and in the forty-sixth year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,
JAMES WATSON.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

No. 2.

Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans (Solicitors for Mr. John Wetherill), to The Secretary for Public Works.

Sir,

Referring to our application of the 7th ultimo, on behalf of Mr. John Wetherill, for compensation in respect of land resumed therein described, we shall feel obliged if you will give the matter your early attention, as our client is anxious to get it settled.

75, Pitt-street, Sydney, 11 December, 1882.
We have, &c.,
HOLDSWORTH & EVANS,
(Solicitors for the said JOHN WETHERILL),
per A. PARRY LONG.

B.C., 12/12/82, Powder Magazine.—J.R. Papers with Treasury.—8/1/83. To await their return.

No. 3.

3

No. 3.

Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans (Solicitors for Mr. John Sutherland), to The Secretary for Public Works.

Sir,

75, Pitt-street, Sydney, 11 December, 1882.

Referring to our application of the 7th ultimo, on behalf of the Hon. John Sutherland, for compensation in respect of land resumed therein described, we shall feel obliged if you will give the matter your early attention, as our client is anxious to get it settled.

We have, &c.,

HOLDSWORTH & EVANS,
(Solicitors for the said JOHN SUTHERLAND),
per A. PARRY LONG.

B.C., 12/12/82, Powder Magazine.—J.R. Papers with Treasury. To await their return.—8/1/83

No. 4.

The Crown Solicitor to The Under Secretary for Public Works.

Land at Newington—Claim of John Wetherill.

Sir,

Crown Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 14 December, 1882.

I have the honor to forward herewith notice of claim and abstract of Mr. John Wetherill in respect of land resumed at Newington.

The claim is made in respect of 26 acres 2 roods and 16 perches, in the parish of St. John and county of Cumberland, said to be part of the following Crown grants:—To Jno. Blaxland, 1,290 acres, dated 24th April, 1807; to Hy. Waterhouse, 25 acres, 1st May, 1797; to J. Shortland, 25 acres, dated 1st May, 1797; 80 acres, to J. Archer, dated 20th August, 1800.

By various deeds, and lastly by indenture, dated 10th January, 1877, and made between C. Newton and D. J. McEwen of the first part, J. Broomfield of the second part, and J. Wetherill of the third part, the land became vested in J. Wetherill.

I am unable to say whether the land above described forms part of the land resumed, that being a matter for a surveyor to decide, but assuming such to be the case, I think that Mr. Wetherill may be dealt with as to the amount of compensation to be paid.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WILLIAMS,
Crown Solicitor.

[Enclosure.]

[Enclosure.]

Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act, 44 Vic. No. 16.

First Schedule.

Notice of Claim and Abstract.

To the Crown Solicitor,—

In pursuance of the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," and of the enactments therewith incorporated, I hereby give you notice that I claim compensation in respect of the land hereunder described, which has been resumed under the said Act. The amount of such claim, and other the particulars required by the said Act, are stated in the subjoined Abstract.

ABSTRACT.

Names and descriptions of parties claiming and nature of their interests, whether tenants for life, in tail, or otherwise.	Situation and description of property.	Quit rents payable if leasehold, name of landlord, term of lease, and rent reserved.	Names of occupiers, distinguishing whether tenants at will or under lease, rent reserved, terms, &c.	Particulars of claim, specifying separately the amount claimed for value of property and for compensation.	Dates and other short particulars of documents of title.	Names of persons having the custody of documents, and place or places where the same may be inspected, and name of claimant's solicitor or agent.
John Wetherill, of Sydney, draper, seized in fee simple, in possession.	All that piece or parcel of land situated in the county of Cumberland parish of St. John, area about 26 acres 2 roods 16 perches: Commencing at a stake on the high-water-mark of Homebush Bay, at the eastern extremity of the northern side of Blaxland-street in the private subdivision of the Newington Estate; and bounded thence by part of the northern side of that street being a line bearing about north 73 degrees 32 minutes west 150 links to the eastern side of Salisbury-street; thence by part of that side of Salisbury-street, being a line bearing about north 16 degrees 22 minutes east 1,200 links to the southern side of Newington-street at the north-western corner of section 84 of the Newington Estate, subdivision aforesaid, thence by the southern side of Newington-street, being a line bearing about south 73 degrees 32 minutes east about 2,420 links till it meets the high-water-mark of Homebush Bay aforesaid; thence by that high-water-mark southerly to the point of commencement, exclusively of that part of Abercorn-street shown on the plan of the subdivision of the Newington Estate as dividing section 83 from section 84. Also, all that piece or parcel of land situated as above, area about 40 acres: Commencing at the northern extremity of the eastern side of Jamison-street, in the private subdivision of the Newington Estate, at its intersection with the high-water-mark of the Parramatta River; and bounded thence by part of that side of Jamison-street aforesaid, being a line bearing about south 16 degrees 23 minutes west 1,924½ links to the northern side of Newington-street; thence by part of that side being a line bearing about south 78 degrees 37 minutes east 2,100 links to the western side of Salisbury-street at the south-eastern corner of section 98 of the Newington sub-division; then by part of the western side of Salisbury-street aforesaid, being a line bearing about north 16 degrees 22 minutes east 2,100 links to the southern side of Lennox-street; thence by part of that side, being a line bearing about north 78 degrees 37 minutes west 1,100 links to the western side of Northcote-street, thence by part of that side northerly till it meets the high-water-mark of the Parramatta River aforesaid; thence by that high-water-mark line westerly, to the point of commencement: Exclusively of that part of King-street and that part of Northcote-street shown on the plan of Newington Estate as dividing sections 98, 97, and 104 from each other.	Nil.	Owner.	The amount claimed for value of property is £5,300.	The documents of title are set forth in a certain indenture dated 29th August, 1879, between John Wetherill of one part, and Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria of other part, registered 16th September, 1879, No. 801, book 194.	Holdsworth & Evans, Solicitors, 75 Pitt-st., Sydney.

6th November, 1882.

JOHN WETHERILL,
Pitt-street, Sydney.

Received 8th November, /82.

The Crown Solicitor to The Under-Secretary for Public Works.

Land at Newington—Claim of John Sutherland.

Sir,

Crown Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 14 December, 1882.

I have the honor to forward herewith notice of claim and abstract of Mr. John Sutherland, in respect of land resumed at Newington.

The claim is made in respect of 130 acres of land in the county of Cumberland and parish of St. John, said to be part of the following Crown grants, viz., to John Blaxland of 1,290 acres, dated 24th April, 1807; to Hy. Waterhouse, of 25 acres, dated 1st May, 1797; to J. Shortland, 25 acres, dated 1st May, 1797; 80 acres, to J. Archer, dated 20th August, 1800. By various deeds, and lastly by indenture dated the 10th January, 1877, made between C. Newton and D. J. McIlwren of the first part, J. Broomfield of the second part, and John Wetherill of the third part, the land became vested in J. Wetherill, who, by indenture, dated the 8th November, 1881, made between J. Wetherill of one part, and J. Sutherland of other part, registered 14th November, 1881, No. 577, Book 233, conveyed lots 99, 100, 120, 102, 101, 111, and 109, of the Newington estate to J. Sutherland.

I am unable to say whether the land above-described forms part of the land resumed, that being a matter for a Surveyor to determine, but assuming such to be the case, I think that Mr. Sutherland may be dealt with as to the amount of compensation to be paid.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WILLIAMS,

Crown Solicitor.

Mr. Mills, B.C., 16/12/82.—J.R.

[Enclosure.]

Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act, 44 Vic. No. 16.

First Schedule.

Notice of Claim and Abstract.

To the Crown Solicitor,—

In pursuance of the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," and of the enactments therewith incorporated, I hereby give you notice that I claim compensation in respect of the land hereunder described, which has been resumed under the said Act. The amount of such claim, and other the particulars required by the said Act, are stated in the subjoined Abstract.

ABSTRACT.

Names and descriptions of parties claiming and nature of their interests, whether tenants for life, in tail, or otherwise.	Situation and description of property.	Quit rents payable if leasehold, name of landlord, term of lease, and rent reserved.	Names of occupiers, distinguishing whether tenants at will or under lease, rent reserved, terms, &c.	Particulars of claim, specifying separately the amount claimed for value of property and for compensation.	Dates and other short particulars of documents of title.	Names of persons having the custody of documents, and place or places where the same may be inspected, and name of claimant's solicitor or agent.
John Sutherland, of Sydney, a Member of the Legislative Council, seized in fee simple, in possession.	All that piece or parcel of land situated in the county of Cumberland, parish of St. John, area about 130 acres, more or less: Commencing at the intersection of the eastern side of Abercorn-street, in the private subdivision of the Newington Estate, with a line parallel to the high-water-mark of the Parramatta River, and 100 links distant therefrom, thence by that line parallel to and 100 links distant from high-water-mark easterly, southerly, and south-westerly to the northern side of Newington-street, in the subdivision aforesaid; thence by part of that side, being a line bearing about north 73 degrees 37 minutes, about 2,460 links to the eastern side of Salisbury-street, at the south-western corner of portion 99 of the Newington subdivision; thence by part of the eastern side of Salisbury-street aforesaid, being a line bearing about north 16 degrees 22 minutes east 2,100 links to the southern side of Lennox-street; thence by part of that side, being a line bearing about south 73 degrees 37 minutes east 1,180 links to the eastern side of Abercorn-street aforesaid; thence by that side, northerly, to the point of commencement: Exclusively of such parts of Abercorn-street, Homebush-street, -street, and Lennox-street, shown on plan of Newington Estate, as intersecting the land included within the boundaries aforesaid.	Nil.	Unoccupied.	The amount claimed for value of property is £6,500.	The documents of title set forth in a certain indenture dated 29 August, 1879, between John Wetherill, of one part, and Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, of other part, registered 14th September, 1879, No. 801, book 194; conveyance dated 8th November, 1881, the said John Wetherill to John Sutherland, registered 14th November, 1881, No. 577, book 233.	Holdsworth & Evans, solicitors, 75 Pitt-st., Sydney.

JOHN SUTHERLAND,
76, Abercrombie-street, Sydney.

6th November, 1882.

Received 8th Nov., /82.—J.W.

No. 6.

J. Y. Mills, Esq., to The Under-Secretary for Public Works.

Sir

Land Sale Rooms, 114, Pitt-st., Sydney, 4 January, 1883.

I have the honor to report that I have inspected the portion of the land resumed at Newington for which Mr. Wetherill has sent in a claim of £5,360, being sections 83, 84, 97, 98, 103, and 104 of the subdivision of the Newington Estate, Parramatta River, comprising 66 acres 2 roods 16 perches.

I consider the claim a fair and reasonable one, and recommend that the sum of £5,360 be paid to Mr. Wetherill as compensation for the land taken.

I have, &c.

J. Y. MILLS.

No. 7.

J. Y. Mills, Esq., to The Under-Secretary for Public Works.

Sir,

Land Sale Rooms, 114, Pitt-street, Sydney, 3 January, 1882.

I have the honor to report that I have gone over and inspected the property comprised in Mr. John Sutherland's claim for compensation for the following lands, at the junction of the Parramatta River and Haslem's Creek, resumed by the Government, viz. :—Sections 99, 100, 101, 102, 109, 110, 111, and 120, of the subdivision of the Newington Estate with the intersecting streets, comprising about 130 acres, and estimate that the amount claimed is fair and reasonable, and recommend that the sum of £6,500 be paid to Mr. John Sutherland.

I have, &c.,

J. Y. MILLS.

I understand this land was resumed for a powder magazine, and the papers may be forwarded to the Treasury.—J.R., 4/1/83, B.C. The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

No. 8.

Minute of the Colonial Treasurer on the preceding Valuation.

This claim appears to me, notwithstanding Mr. Mills' statement to the contrary, simply absurd. Recently I could have purchased this land for £25 per acre, but declined it, as I did not consider it worth anything like this. This claim, and also that of Mr. Sutherland's, to which these remarks also apply, should be resisted.—J.W., 4/1/83.

The Under-Secretary for Public Works.—G.E., 5/1/83, B.C.

No. 9.

Minute of the Colonial Treasurer.

In view of the strong protest of my predecessor, I submit these papers to the Cabinet for advice.—G.R.D., 15/1/83.

The Cabinet recommends that a further valuation by two persons be taken.—A.S., 15/1/83.

Request Messrs. Wrench (of Richardson & Wrench) and Gorman (of Hardie & Gorman) to make a valuation and to send in joint report.—G.R.D., 18/1/83.

Mr. Ross,—Write the necessary letters to-day.—J.T., 18/1/83. Done.—M.R., 18.

No. 10.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to E. Wrench, Esq.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 18 January, 1883.

I am directed by the Colonial Treasurer to request that, in association with Mr. Henry Gorman, of Messrs. Hardie & Gorman, you will make valuations of the following lands, namely :—

- (1.) 66 acres 2 roods 16 perches of land at Newington, Parramatta, being sections 83, 84, 97, 98, 103, and 104 of the subdivision of the Newington Estate.
- (2.) About 130 acres of land at the junction of the Parramatta River and Haslem's Creek, being section 99, 100, 101, 102, 109, 110, 111, and 120 of the subdivision of the Newington Estate with the intersecting streets.

It will of course be understood by you that a separate valuation is required for each of the lands.

A joint report is required.

A resumption proclamation will be found herewith.

I have, &c.,

JAMES THOMSON,

(For the Under-Secretary).

No. 11.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to H. Gorman, Esq.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 18 January, 1883.
I am directed by the Colonial Treasurer to request that, in association with Mr. Edward Wrench, of Messrs. Richardson & Wrench, you will make valuations of the following lands, namely:—

- (1.) 66 acres 2 roods 16 perches of land, at Newington, Parramatta, being sections 83, 84, 97, 98, 103, and 104 of the subdivision of the Newington Estate.
- (2.) About 130 acres of land at the junction of the Parramatta River and Haslem's Creek, being sections 99, 100, 101, 102, 109, 110, 111, and 120 of the subdivision of the Newington Estate, with the intersecting streets.

It will of course be understood by you that a separate valuation is required for each of the lands. A joint report is required.

A resumption proclamation will be found herewith.

I have, &c.,

JAMES THOMSON,

(For the Under-Secretary).

No. 12.

Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans to The Secretary for Public Works.

Re John Wetherill's claim—Land resumed at Newington.

Sir,

75, Pitt-street, Sydney, 10 January, 1883.

Referring to our letters of the 7th November and the 11th December last, in respect of our application on behalf of Mr. John Wetherill for compensation for land resumed, we have the honor to request that you will be good enough to inform us what has been done in the matter, and when we may expect a settlement.

We have, &c.,

HOLDSWORTH & EVANS,

(Solicitors for the said JOHN WETHERILL),

Per A. PARRY LONG.

The Under Secretary, &c., &c., &c.

For Finance and Trade, B.C., 12/1/83.—J.R.

No. 13.

Messrs. Holdsworth & Evans to The Secretary for Public Works.

Re John Sutherland, M.P.'s claim—Land resumed at Newington.

Sir,

75, Pitt-street, Sydney, January 10, 1883.

Referring to our letters of the 7th November and the 11th December last, in respect of our application for compensation on behalf of the Hon. John Sutherland for land resumed, we have the honor to request that you will be good enough to inform us what has been done in the matter, and when we may expect a settlement.

We have, &c.,

HOLDSWORTH & EVANS,

(Solicitors for the said JOHN SUTHERLAND),

Per A. PARRY LONG.

The Under-Secretary, &c., &c., &c.

For Finance and Trade, B.C.—J.R., 12/1/83.

No. 14.

Messrs. E. Wrench and H. Gorman to The Colonial Treasurer.

Sir,

98, Pitt-street, Sydney, 27 January, 1883.

In accordance with your instructions, we have the honor to enclose herewith valuation of two parcels of land situate on the Parramatta River, resumed by the Government for the purpose of carrying out certain works for, and in connection with, the erection of a magazine for the storage of gunpowder and other explosives, our fee for which is fifty guineas (£52 10s.).

We have, &c.,

E. WRENCH.

H. GORMAN.

[Enclosure.]

98, Pitt-street, Sydney, 27 January, 1883.

VALUATION of two parcels of freehold land resumed by the Government for the purpose of carrying out certain works for, and in connection with, the erection of a magazine for the storage of gunpowder and other explosives, containing respectively 66 acres 2 roods and 16 perches, and about 130 acres, being portions of the Newington Estate, Parramatta River, made for and by order of the Honorable the Colonial Treasurer,—

Area, 66 acres 2 roods and 16 perches.—This portion of land comprises sections 83, 84, 97, 98, 103, and 104 of the sub-division of the Newington Estate, as well as the roads, 1 chain wide, separating each section from the other. We estimate the present market value of this land at the sum of three thousand four hundred and forty pounds	£3,440 0 0
Area, about 130 acres.—This land lies at and about the junction of the Parramatta River with Haslam's Creek, and has an extensive river frontage. It comprises sections 99, 100, 101, 102, 109, 110, 111, and 120 of the sub-division of the Newington Estate, and the roads, about 16 acres additional, separating the several sections. We estimate the present market value of this land at the sum of four thousand eight hundred and seventy pounds.....	4,870 0 0
Together making a total of.....	£8,310 0 0

E. WRENCH,
H. GORMAN.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

COLONIAL WINES.

(PETITION FOR REDUCTION OF LICENSE FEE, &c.—WINEGROWERS OF THE NORTHERN DISTRICT.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 4 April, 1883.

The Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned, resident Winegrowers and others in the Northern District, —

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That at a meeting of Winegrowers, held at Cohen's Hotel, West Maitland, on the 22nd March, 1883, a number of resolutions were agreed to, which are embodied in the following Petition:—

Winegrowers have expended much capital and time in the culture of the vine in this Colony, having been directly encouraged and instigated to do so from time to time by the Government and leading men. They have had great difficulties to contend with, hardships to encounter; and although they have succeeded in producing wines which rival any in the Old World in excellence they have failed until very lately in getting remunerative returns.

To do this it is above all things necessary for them to have a free home-market for their produce. Experience has repeatedly shown them that they cannot dispose of it through the public-houses, probably because the tastes of those who frequent those places are in favour of beer and ardent spirits. If they cannot sell on their vineyards, and through the wine-shops, they cannot sell at all.

The Licensing Act of 1881 does not permit winegrowers dwelling more than 100 yards from a public road to hold a license, but at the same time it renders a winegrower selling less than two gallons liable to all the fines and penalties of a sly grog-seller. The cost of a wine license under the existing Act has thrown many poor men who gained a livelihood under the "Colonial Wine Act of 1876," with a license fee of one pound, out of that employment.

Your Petitioners therefore pray that winegrowers may be permitted to sell the produce of their own vineyards in quantity of not less than a reputed quart bottle, not to be drunk on the premises, without a license; and further, that the license fee may be reduced to an annual fee of one pound, as heretofore.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

[Here follow 336 signatures.]

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

BORDEAUX WINE EXHIBITION.

(TWO REPORTS UPON REPRESENTATION OF THE COLONY AT.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 10 April, 1883.

The Representative Commissioner for New South Wales at the Bordeaux Wine
Exhibition to The Colonial Secretary.

My dear Mr. Stuart,

Chambers, Wentworth Court, 8 February, 1883.

I beg to enclose you a Progress Report handed to me by Mr. Bonnard when I was at Bordeaux in November. I think it may prove of some interest, and possibly you may think right to lay it on the Table of the House for public information; at any rate I now place it at your disposal, to do with it what you deem fit.

Believe me, &c.,

FREDK. M. DARLEY.

Report to the Honorable F. M. Darley, Q.C., M.L.C., Representative Commissioner.

Sir,

Bordeaux, 4 November, 1882.

I have the honor to submit to you the following summary report and account of expenditure which I have deemed my duty to prepare for your information, on the occasion of the distribution of awards, before the closing of the Bordeaux Exhibition.

I arrived in Bordeaux, in accordance with instructions, on the 1st May, 1882. I put myself at once in communication with the Managing Committee of the Société Philomathique, giving them notice of your Commission and of my appointment to act here respectively on behalf of New South Wales.

The building intended for the exhibition of wines was ready for the distribution of space towards the end of May, and the ground allowed to New South Wales was definitively handed to me on the 1st of June. I called for tenders for the erection of our Court, and in due course made the necessary contracts, dealing always with people on the respectability of whom no doubts were to be had.

Not having been provided with any instructions as to the amount at the credit of the Commission, nor as to the way in which such credit should be spent, I had to act according to my own judgment; and I endeavoured to carry out my mission with credit to the leading Colony of Australia, taking care that its prestige should not suffer, and its importance made to appear otherwise than as great as it is; at the same time acting as economically as circumstances would allow.

The various exhibits sent from our Colony reached Bordeaux in good time, and generally in very good condition, with the exception of a few cases, for which the Department of the Agent-General in London was so good as to take the initiative of reserving the rights of the exhibitors, and prefer claims which have been since successfully sustained.

The wines in casks received every necessary care, a cellar being provided by the Société Philomathique for its reception. The samples in bottles were also properly looked after, carefully numbered, and stored systematically in the same cellar.

After being postponed several times, the opening of the Exhibition did finally take place with great éclat, on the 20th of June, 1882, under the presidency of Mons. Léon Say, member of the then Government of the Republic, in presence of a very great concourse of high French and foreign officials, and of the inhabitants of the city of Bordeaux and its surrounding districts. Great and numerous official receptions and other festivities took place on that occasion.

The New South Wales Court was on that day quite completed, and since then no alteration of any importance has been made to its general appearance, whilst additions have been constantly going on in the surrounding Courts. We had every reason to be satisfied with the extent and situation of the ground allowed to the Colony.

I hope, as you were present at the time of the opening of the Exhibition, you will concur with me when saying that the Court of New South Wales in particular, and the whole of the British Sections in general, have produced a very good impression in our favour on the people of this part of France, and on the numerous visitors who came from Spain and Portugal. The Minister and the most distinguished personages of his suite were received by you, and they paid special attention to our Court.

Since the opening day, I am proud to say, the Australian Courts—and amongst the whole of the wine building, the Victorian Court in particular being one of the most attractive—have been very much admired, and always well frequented by the general public, whilst great interest has been at all times evinced towards the progresses so rapidly made by each Colony, and more especially by New South Wales: descriptive maps, statistical tables, photographic views of which were exposed to the public, every useful information on the Colony, its vineyards and wines, and other industries, being also provided to the public by books, newspapers, personal explanations, and in every other way which appeared to me likely to be most effective, either in or out of the Exhibition.

I did avail myself as much as possible of my presence in Bordeaux to gather every information required by the Government of the Colony on behalf of the colonists and exhibitors. I regret to have to say that the weather this year has been very unpropitious, the vintage very poor and inferior, and the state of the vineyards very discouraging to the owners, the phylloxera, the mildew, the autrachine, the rainy and cold weather rendering wine-growers very shy of inviting strangers; further, I was very seldom at liberty to absent myself from Bordeaux or from the Exhibition for any length of time.

I had to attend to numerous daily interviews every day either to give or receive communications, and several times every week I was busy at the cellar, either superintending the care given to the wines in bulk, or offering samples to the tasting of every person in a situation to appreciate them.

I am glad to say that, in spite of often much unwillingness to express an opinion, the general impression made by our produce has on the whole been very favourable, and I feel fully convinced that so far as quality goes, some of our colonial wines are almost equal, and have in fact been valued to the same price as those of the southern part of France, and above those of Spain and Portugal. A market for colonial new wines will be very easily secured at the present time in Bordeaux; it is a mere question of quantity, of price, of sufficient casks and matériel, of direct steam communications, and of active and practical business management. The example of Hungary should always be retained before our colonists. I am pleased to say that, as a matter of fact, an important order for new wines has already been sent to New South Wales, a satisfaction which no other Colony, so far as I know, has yet obtained. As to other wines of some more age, I am satisfied from information received from various quarters that we have at this very moment a very good opening in the North of Europe, whilst for various kinds of somewhat peculiar and different types, markets would be at once found at Paris, and at Celtes, near Marseilles, for what is called "opérations."

I have had a number of our exhibited wines chemically analysed, and I will be in a position, on my return to the Colony, to point out to each exhibitor, in a very precise manner, important particulars with reference to the value and suitability of each wine exhibited here.

Although it has been really impossible to me to visit as often as I wished as many vineyards and other establishments which should be presented as models to our wine-growing and industrial colonists, I have taken many notes referring to the various paragraphs of the instructions from the Sydney Committee, as approved by the Honorable the Colonial Secretary; but I must say that I am not personally satisfied as yet with the results obtained so far; and it is my duty to state that, unless I am allowed to remain here for pursuing my studies for at least two or three months after the closing of the Exhibition, and when I will have nothing else to do, I will not have had the opportunity nor the time to see as much as is expected from me, and as is necessary for the successful and useful carrying out of the wishes of the Government, of the Committee and of the exhibitors. For instance, I have introductions to no less a scientific leader than Mons. Pasteur himself; and although I am expected at any time I shall choose to go, I have not found the opportunity to interview that great man, of whose discoveries it is my duty to make a special study. I may perhaps be allowed to state here, that the Government of Victoria has recently advised the Executive Secretary for that Colony to remain in France until the latter part of January, 1883, on full salary; and I should be glad, for the sake of my mission, to be allowed the same facilities, even on less favourable terms. Perhaps will you, sir, be good enough to consider whether it is well or necessary for the interests of New South Wales that an extension of time be granted to me.

The various officers of the Société Philomathique, presided over by Mons. Daney, have been at all times very courteous and kindly disposed towards this Office. The Vice-President, Mr. Larroude, Chairman of the International Section, has often proved and expressed the very best feelings for us; and if any reserve as to the appreciation of the services rendered by these gentlemen is to be made, it must also be taken into account that they had each of them to attend at the same time to their private business, and that an Exhibition conducted by a private Society cannot be managed on the same broad basis as one conducted by a Government, nor with such prompt and perfect attention.

The Jury appointed by the Société Philomathique for lasting wines began its operations early in September. It was an International Jury, but we had considerable difficulty to obtain a proper recognition and the privilege of being represented on it. A letter sent by you personally to the Chairman of the Société Philomathique had an undoubted influence on the subsequent resolutions of the Wine Committee, and we have also to thank the Imperial Government for its timely assistance through Her Majesty's Consulate in Bordeaux. In consequence of these energetic interventions, the Colony of New South Wales and the sister Colonies secured the right of nominating each a member of the Jury. The Honorable the Agent-General, Sir Saul Samuel, K.C.M.G., supported also very firmly in London the representations made by your Executive Secretary, to secure such a result on behalf of the colonial exhibitors. The International Jury was presided over by the Honorable Señor Don Soriano Plasent, Delegate of His Majesty the King of Spain. The Colony of New South Wales was represented and well served by Mr. Maurice Tandonnet, one of the leading shipowners and merchants of Bordeaux. We had thirty-one exhibitors and 189 exhibits, some of these being in duplicate (wood and bottles), and also in addition a few samples of new wines, vintage of March, 1882. The highest awards to be granted are gold medals. I have asked for a diploma of honor, special, to the most successful exhibitor of Australia (and who belongs to New South Wales), but I cannot say yet whether it will be granted or not. Nothing is yet at this very time definitely settled or positively known as to the awards made, nor even as to what the nature of the awards is to be; I am however led to believe that we have obtained five gold medals, nine silver, eleven bronze, and two mentions, four only of our exhibitors being altogether unsuccessful. I regret I am not in a position to give you officially the names of the successful exhibitors, but they will be publicly proclaimed on the 6th November instant.

The

The Melbourne Argus has offered a prize of 100 guineas to the exhibitor of the best Australian wine, exhibited at Bordeaux, and arrangements are now being made for the constitution of the special Jury to be appointed by the several Agents-General in London. Sir Saul having asked me to nominate such jurymen to him, I intend, should you approve of them, to submit to the Honorable the Agent-General the names of Messrs. Dubos Brothers as members of that Jury on behalf of New South Wales.

As instructed by the Honorable Sir John Robertson, K.C.M.G., I have had, during my stay in Bordeaux, printed in French, after translation of same from English into French by me, 1,000 copies of the colonial book, "New South Wales in 1881," with the statistical diagrams and tables, and also the coloured description map of the Colony included in the Australian edition. I added to it such information special to the Bordeaux Exhibition of colonial Wines, and to our vineyards and wines, as I thought would possibly increase the already great value of the work, for it is likely some long time will elapse before such another opportunity is found to publish anything officially in French, with respect to the Colony, or to the colonial wine industry and cultivation of the vine.

I have also thought proper to have a small pamphlet on the Colony printed to the extent of 400 copies in Spanish, a great number of distinguished and leading Spanish people having visited our Exhibition, and evinced the greatest ignorance concerning our country, with the most sincere desire to receive information on the same. I believed, further, that the Colony would certainly derive great benefit by the immigration of a number of Spanish people, who do not actually come to us, for want of information and for not knowing where to obtain it.

The general complete want of information and absolute ignorance of the people about Australia generally has been most surprising and vexatious to me, as a continental man; at the same time I found every one anxious to be made aware of our existence and of our progresses. Several Heads of Departments and of Governmental leading Schools have applied to me for numbers of copies of the book referred to, and I have thought right to grant the same in proper but limited quantities.

This book, "New South Wales in 1881," has been discriminately distributed all over France, on behalf of the Government of New South Wales, and in the name of the Honorable the Representative Commissioner, and I have received many letters of acknowledgment and of thanks for same.

The Société de Géographie Commerciale of Bordeaux has decided to publish with the report of the sittings of the recent National Congress of Geography the two lectures I have delivered here on Australia and New South Wales, and has asked permission to reproduce the map of the Colony from the official book, a permission which I have granted very willingly. This report is to be printed to the extent of 2,500 copies.

I may perhaps be allowed to mention here that a number of the Sociétés de Géographie de France have asked me to repeat my lectures for them, especially in Marseilles, where the attention of every one is now turned on the Australian Colonies, on account of the line of steamers about to connect this port direct with Sydney at the end of the year 1882.

I have yet in hand about 100 French copies of the map of the Colony, and 500 French copies of statistical and comparative tables of the Australian Colonies; and I now propose to your approval, to offer the first to the Minister of Public Instruction of France, on behalf of the Government of the Colony, and to distribute the others to every Chamber of Commerce in France, Belgium, and other French-speaking countries.

I have had also two sets of photographic views of the Colony, coming from the Sydney Government Printing Office, handsomely bound, for presentation to such distinguished personages as you may think proper; and I intend to continue distributing our colonial book, copies of which should be properly bound for presentation, amongst such learned Societies of France, from which we may expect in return reports and information of interest to the Colony.

The work of this office has of late taken so much extension that I have been compelled to secure permanent clerical assistance, for which I have given preference to a young English gentleman, of good repute, and actually in want of employment in Bordeaux.

I have been advised that it was the intention of the Wine Trade Syndicate Chamber of Bordeaux to interview you on the question of Customs Duties on Bordeaux wines in the Colony, or should your stay in Bordeaux be too limited, the Chamber will then send its address to the Government through this office.

The distribution of awards is to take place on Monday next, 6th of November, with great ceremony, under the presidency of Mons. Pierre Legrand, the present Minister of Commerce of the Republic of France, but the Exhibition itself will not close until the end of November, if not later.

The exhibits will then have to be removed or disposed of in some way. With the exception of one or two exhibitors, who have communicated their wishes to me, through the Colonial Secretary's Office, I have as yet no instructions on the subject, but I hope to receive some by one of the next incoming mail steamers; should I however not sell our exhibits, I should propose to reserve them for the forthcoming International Exhibition at Amsterdam, where our wines of a few years old will certainly receive great appreciation.

I shall be happy to complete this part of this Report, should you require more particulars on any special point.

EXPENDITURE.

The accounts herewith will be found a correct statement of all sums of money spent by me in connection with the Exhibition of Colonial Wines on behalf of the Colony of New South Wales.

I found myself in the absolute necessity to slightly exceed the estimates originally submitted by me to you; I have however kept as much as possible within the same limits, and as no instructions were ever given to me on that subject, I presumed I was justified for acting according to my own judgment, as long as I was conciliating the dignity of the Colony with its financial and all other interests. I was anxious the New South Wales Court should be the best of the Australian Colonies and Foreign Countries, as I am satisfied it has been; and I hope that on this ground you will kindly approve of the expenditure made, under the several paragraphs of the account annexed herewith.

I must state, however, that some provision must be made for the payment of the rent of the grounds allowed by the Société Philomathique in the wine building, and for the use of the cellar provided by the Committee, as mentioned in previous estimates.

Provision

Provision will also have to be made for the expenses of removing exhibits, Customs dues on the samples, and such other charges, if any, in the event no sale should be effected here; for if the exhibits are sold, as I believe they will be, the cost of their removing and the duties will be supported by the buyers.

I hope to recover part of the money spent for the decoration of our Court, by reselling some portion of the ornaments, otherwise I propose to send the same to the Honorable the Agent-General, for being utilized, if possible, at the Fisheries Congress in London, or at the Amsterdam Exhibition.

The heaviest items of expenditure under the Bordeaux special estimates will be found in reference to paragraph 3; and also for publicity, which had not been provided for. I refer now to the expenses of printing the book, "New South Wales in 1881," in French; the pamphlet on the Colony in Spanish, and published with a map, also the postage on both, and the purchase for distribution of large numbers of copies of French newspapers having favourably spoken of our Colony and its exhibition of wines.

I hope I have been acting according to the views of the Minister, and that the Colonial Government will find no fault with me for such expenditure, which, besides entailing very heavy work upon me, has been calculated to be of service to the Colony, as I believe and trust the ultimate result will prove before long.

On the whole, I venture to say that the expenditure of this office has been reasonable, and that, with no more and perhaps less expenses than others, much more effective, satisfactory, and lasting results have been obtained, for the benefit of Australia.

Should however the Government reject any one of the items of the accounts as now submitted, I will refund these amounts to the Public Treasury, but I should however beg that the advance of said sums be made to me provisionally, until my return to Sydney, at the completion of my mission, when fuller and more detailed accounts will be submitted to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary.

I will now have the honor to refer you to the annexed special accounts, from which you will see that the expenditure made in Bordeaux on behalf of the Colony of New South Wales, up to the end of October, 1882, has reached the total amount of £760, the whole of which is actually paid, whilst I have only received £750 beyond exchange. The original estimates, which I have had the honor to submit to you on the 4th of July last, amounted in toto to £1,264. I see no reason for increasing that amount, which still appears to me quite sufficient, even with the slight increase which would result by my staying longer in Europe than was at first contemplated, provided you would approve of such increase.

With reference again to the expenditure incurred for the printing and publishing, as explained under the head of chapter 3, and the total amount of which is £214 in addition to the Exhibition estimates, I may perhaps suggest that, as the wine exhibitors must be the first to derive some benefit by the same, they should be called upon to contribute to the payment of these expenses, in proportion to the number of exhibits sent by each of them. I am desirous to know whether a small number of copies of "New South Wales in 1881" (French edition) should not be properly bound or half-bound for presentation to certain high personages in France and elsewhere, on behalf of the Colonial Government. As yet I have never been made aware of the intentions of the Honorable Colonial Secretary with respect to the book referred, further than to have it published, but I presume yourself or the Honorable the Agent-General may be able to direct me as to the use to be made of same in any special way.

I have also been provided from Sydney with a number of English Catalogues of our exhibits, and I intend to have these distributed in England, with a short list of the awards granted to New South Wales.

I have, &c.,

HENRY BONNARD,

Executive Secretary for the Colony of New South Wales at the Wines Exhibition, Bordeaux.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

General Accounts presented to the Hon. the Representative Commissioner for the Colony at the Bordeaux Exhibition, by the Executive Secretary.

CHAPTER 1.

Expenditure made from 1st May to 31st October, 1882, in accordance with Estimates dated July 4, 1882.

Paragraph 1.	Enclosing and building New South Wales Court—	f.
	Carde, contractor	625·00
„	2. Decorating, &c.—
	H. J. Jouffre	210·00
	Arthus G. Lauriol	257·00
	Minguini	35·00
	Sainmartin	140·00
	Sanzé	300·35
		942·35
„	3. Printing, Stationery, &c.—
	Augé Déville	817·25
	Sourand Valette	10·20
	L. Bossange	330·00
		1,157·45
„	4 & 5. Furniture for inner and outer rooms—
	E. Cornette	360·00
	A. Vitton	6·00
	Paney	150·00
	Labelle	265·75
	Pascal Bonnard	136·00
		917·75
„	6. Cellar Furniture, Implements, &c.—
	H. Kehrig	182·85
	Bacquez	47·00
	L. Pujol	32·25
		262·10
„	7. Analysis of Colonial Wines—
	X. Servantie	250·00
„	8 & 9. Cellar-men, skilled labour, &c.—
	Dugas and Dubosq	182·20
	Maisan and Blanchard	9·60
		191·80
„	10. Sundry accounts—
	London steamer landing charges	239·48
	Cartage of exhibits, agency	93·00
	Customs entry, J. H. Tandomet Frères	13·15
	Fire insurance... .. .	58·65
		404·28
„	11. Petty cash expenses, 1st May to 30th June—
	Manual labour and sundry	375·00
„	12. Petty cash expenses, 1st July to 31st October—
	Clerical assistance and sundry	750·00
	Total of expenditure in connection with the Wine Exhibition at Bordeaux up to the 31st of October, 1882, by the Executive Secretary	£235 0 6 = 5,875·73

CHAPTER 2.

Executive Secretary—
Balance due on homeward passage	300·00
Railway fare to Bordeaux from Naples	125·00
Salary from 10th February to 30th April	1,416·65
Salary from 1st May to 31st October, 1882	6,000·00
Total	£315 0 0 = 7,841·65

CHAPTER 3.

Publications, Printing, &c.—
1st. "New South Wales in 1881": 1,000 copies, French... ..	3,527·00
2nd. Notice on New South Wales: 400 copies in Spanish	550·00
3rd. 100 Maps and 500 Diagrams and Statistics, in addition to 1st and 2nd	100·00
Purchase of 2,000 copies of Panthéon	630·00
Purchase of 100 copies of La Nature , with engraving blocks of Exhibition Views	110·00
Postage stamps for distribution of French and Spanish pamphlets up to 31st October, 1882	400·00
Advertising for tenders in the Exhibition Illustrated Official Journal	25·00
Total	£214 0 0 = 5,342·00

CHAPTER 4.

f.

Estimates of Expenditure, if approved, from 1st of November, 1882—
1. Rent of ground and cellar from the Société Philomathique	1,250 00
2. Removing and clearing exhibits	1,250 00
3. Balance of p. 12, petty cash	500 00
4. Paragraph 13. Purchase of books, &c.	1,875 00
5. Paragraph 14. Visiting vineyards, &c.	2,500 00
6. Salary of Executive Secretary as proposed, from 1st of November, 1882, to 31st January, 1883	3,000 00
7. Salary of Executive Secretary for three months after starting on return journey, £20	1,500 00
8. Executive Secretary, passage money from Europe to Australia	2,000 00
Total... ..	£555 0 0
	13,875 00

CHAPTER 5.

1. General expenses of Sydney Committee as per report of Sydney Mail	2,520 00
2. Freight and insurance on exhibits from Sydney to Bor- deaux via London (estimated)	1,250 00
3. Agent-General's expenditure in London (estimated)	1,250 00
Total... ..	£200 0 0
	5,020 00

RECAPITULATION of Total Expenditure proposed in connection with the Bordeaux Exhibition.

Chapter 1st—	£235 0 0	5,875 73
" 2nd—	315 0 0	7,841 65
" 3rd—	214 0 0	5,342 00
" 4th—	555 0 0	13,875 00
" 5th—	200 0 0	5,020 00
	£1,519 0 0	= 37,954 38

BALANCE OF ACCOUNTS up to the 31st of October, 1882.

The Executive Secretary, in account with the Hon. the Agent-General.

Expenditure.

Accounts paid to 31st October, 1882—

Chapter 1st—	£235 0 0	5,875 73
" 2nd—	315 0 0	7,841 65
" 3rd—	214 0 0	5,342 00
Total ...	£764 0 0	= 19,059 38

Receipts.

By Draft on Paris—	£50 0 0	1,254 20
" Bordeaux—	100 0 0	2,515 00
" " —	300 0 0	7,530 00
" " —	300 0 0	7,560 00
Difference—	14 0 0	(less exchange)
Total received from Agent-General	18,859 20
Balance due to Executive Secretary	200 18
Total	= 19,059 38

Bordeaux, November 4th, 1882.

HENRY BONNARD,
Executive Secretary for New South Wales.

The Agent-General to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, 5, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., 23 February, 1883.

I have the honor to forward herewith copy of a Report that I have just received from Mr. Bonnard, the Secretary for New South Wales at the Bordeaux Wine Exhibition.

I regret that I have not time by this opportunity to make any comment in regard thereto, and send it to you at once.

I have, &c.,
SAUL SAMUEL.

Report presented by the Executive Secretary at the Bordeaux Exhibition.

To the Honorable F. M. Darley, Q.C., M.L.C., Representative Commissioner of the Government at the Bordeaux Exhibition, 1882, and to the Honorable Sir Saul Samuel, K.C.M.G., Agent-General for the Colony of New South Wales in London.

Honorable Sirs, 18 February, 1883.

I do myself the honor to report as follows, for your information, with reference to the clearing out of the exhibits connected with the recent Bordeaux Exhibition, sending herewith a statement of the expenditure up to this day, as well as of the sums received by this office.

I am now engaged preparing carefully a complete and extensive Report on the Bordeaux Exhibition, in its respects to our colonial wine industry, and I will also deliver shortly to each exhibitor a brief but qualitative report on each exhibit sent.

I, however, beg to be allowed to say at once that the conclusion I am arriving at is that the generous initiative taken by the Government of the Colony and the exhibitors in submitting the colonial wines to the Bordeaux Jury has had, to my mind, and to all those who have closely and intelligently watched the Exhibition, a result such as should give a great impulse to the cultivation of the vine in Australia. In a very few years it will prove a great benefit to the Colonies at large, and a certain source of very great profits to the colonists who will start at once extensive plantations; and if the Governments, the Agricultural Societies, and the colonists will join together in properly organizing and favouring the creation and cultivation of vineyards, either small or large, of nurseries in charge of well-selected men, in two or three parts of the territory, and by keeping well spread the knowledge and progress of all that refers to vine-culture, I humbly but firmly believe that in twenty years hence the vine-growing and wine-making industries of Australia must rivalize successfully in importance with wool-growing, however prosperous, even without necessarily producing superior fine wines, but simply good ordinary wines for general use, the demand for such being constantly and importantly increasing.

As it is, at this present time some of our colonial wines can hold their own very successfully against most of the exotic wines, and many of the European and even French wines. No doubt the great majority of our exhibits were not first-class wines, but the opinions I have been able to collect generally acknowledge a certain superiority in the New South Wales wines on those of neighbouring Colonies, more especially for business purposes.

The results obtained individually by our colonists have already been communicated to your honorable selves, and also telegraphed to Sydney by the care of the Colonial Press. I will therefore simply mention here that the general results to the Colony are, that out of 188 samples, of which 91 were of red wines and 97 of white wines, we have obtained—

	9 first classifications, all for red wines.
20 second	“	of which 16 for red.
		4 “ white.
42 third	“	23 “ red.
		19 “ white.
60 fourth	“	24 “ red.
		36 “ white.
36 fifth	“	14 “ red.
		22 “ white.
20 sixth	“	4 “ red.
		16 “ white.
—
187

The members of the Jury were as careful, and perhaps more severe, than circumstances might have allowed, but it will be seen that the verdicts of the Jury have generally been confirmed by opinions obtained from other persons.

It is perhaps a matter of regret that the Société Philomathique did not think proper to provide more facilities than they did for comparing wines foreign to each other: and also, that that Société did not publish the valuable and numerous informations given by the exhibitors from many distant parts, in reply to the questions asked from them, at the time of their sending their exhibits.

The exhibits received from Sydney via London were, as per the records of the Bordeaux Customs House, 2,563 bottles of various samples, and 59 qr. casks and 4 barrels, equal to 6,804 litres, the whole of which is accounted for in the annexed Schedule, together with accounts of sales. 24 bottles, selected from the wines which obtained Gold Medals, have been reserved for the competition for the prize offered by the Argus proprietors: 436 bottles, including 112 bottles of foreign wines exchanged for ours, besides duplicate samples of the exhibits, are returned to Sydney at the request of the exhibitors: a quantity of (say) 500 bottles has been tasted by the general public, distributed by me amongst wine-merchants, sent in various parts of France, submitted to analysis, or offered at several public dinners. A number of bottles happened to be broken in the collar, and the contents of others were found unsound. In accordance with special instructions from J. Wyndham, Esq., a quantity of bottles and a few qr. casks were shipped to London, to his Agents, Messrs. Collyns & Co., of 5, East India Avenue, and I have also sent to the same firm thirteen dozens of Mr. G. Francis' wine, to be sold for the best of their owners' interests, and the proceeds of such sale to be paid over to the Hon. the Agent-General's Department, to be remitted to Mr. Francis by the Government.

I may well mention here that the exhibits, as a whole, remained sound and unaltered in casks, with two exceptions: one of these being white wines sent in small barrels.

The establishment of the Colony in Bordeaux in connection with the late Exhibition was definitely suppressed on the 31st of January, 1883, at which time the expenditure amounted to 26,189 f. 68, viz., £1,047 19s. 6d. stg.

The Bordeaux Office has received since the end of April, 1882, to the end of January, 1883, a total sum of 29,303 f. 10, viz., with proceeds of exchange, £1,172 10s. 6d. stg., including 25,155 f., or £1,006 4s. stg., from the Agent-General's Department, the balance being for refunds and proceeds of sales, &c., leaving therefore in my hands a sum of 3,113 f. 42, = £124 11s., which I am prepared to remit to the Hon. the Agent-General, should I be so instructed.

I consider that the exhibited wines in casks were sold at a very fair price, all things being considered, as they fetched the same value as many good wines of France. The samples sold in bottles were rather given away as so many advertisements of our wines than sold as a speculation, and it has not been possible to keep a precise record of each particular sample thus sold, the number of bottles being 300, and the sum about £16 stg., which should go towards the general expenses of the Exhibition.

The prices at which the wines in casks were sold were mostly those asked for by the owners, although in some cases they were under, and will I fear seem unsatisfactory to the proprietors: but it must be remembered that of all the wine markets in the world, Bordeaux is the best provided for in quantity, and the most difficult to please; and personally I thought it was much better for the colonists that their wines sent here for exhibition should be sold at a low rate than returned to the Colony or sent to England, as it must help to cause them to get more generally known in this country, without any sensible loss.

It should be mentioned here that, should any colonial wine merchant send his wines for sale to France, the shipment should be made direct, the Customs duty on entering in France being then 4 f. 50, about 3s. 6d. per hectolitre of 22 gallons, on wines of not over 15° French, viz., 26° Sykes, but in case of a simple transshipment in London or elsewhere, the wines on reaching France pay a duty of 80 f. 60, and such a trade should be started under some sort of Syndicate.

I have faithfully endeavoured, and believe I succeeded, to keep the general expenditure as low as was practicable, so that the original credit should not be exceeded. I trust the accounts I will have the honor to submit will be found in every way correct and reasonable. The money spent in publishing books must ultimately largely benefit the community, for it was judiciously spent.

I have sent to the Amsterdam Exhibition, for the N. S. Wales Court, two cases, one bag, and one parcel, containing a quantity of flags, coats of arms, framed maps, &c., the value of which I have fixed at £10, should be recovered from the Amsterdam's funds hereafter. A list of the several objects sent there is annexed.

I have not as yet made use, to its full extent, of the special credit granted for the purchase of books and for visiting vineyards.

With reference to this last part of my mission, I am very thankful for the official letter of recommendation the Hon. Sir Saul Samuel, K.C.M.G., was so kind as to provide me with, introducing me to Her Majesty's Consuls in France, Spain, and Portugal; however, I have been prevented from travelling as much as I desired, for several reasons, the most important of these being the very unfavourable weather. I had to delay starting on my journey to Spain until the season be a little more advanced, to be more certain of finding on their vineyards the classes of people from whom useful and complete information were desirable. Nevertheless I made the best of my time in the several districts of France round Bordeaux, and am now doing so in the districts of Champagne and Burgundy. I am desirous to proceed as far south as the Ermitage's vineyards, and to inspect the much spoken of plantations of American vines (intended to reconstitute the French vineyards) between Lyon and Marseille. I wish I could go round the Rhenish vineyards also; and I intend to take back with me seeds of every known variety of European and other vines, the importation of cuttings being prohibited. I would like circumstances to permit me to postpone my visit to Spain, and to return once more round the Bordeaux district, until the middle of the year; at the same time I have no desire to make my appointment last any longer than is reasonable or that is intended by the Sydney Committee. I am quite satisfied to abide by the decision to be given after delivery of my final report, as well as to conform myself to all the instructions I may be favoured with from the Government.

I shall be thankful to be informed whether I will be in order in spending the credit now remaining in my hands for the purpose of pursuing my travels, which amount could be deducted from the balance now in the hands of the Hon. the Agent-General.

With respect to inducements being offered to capitalists and working-men, acquainted and interested in vine-culture and wine-making, I am in a position to say that the generality of the people with whom I came in contact have always asked and learned with satisfaction, and that many newspapers have looked for with eagerness every information on the vine-producing capabilities of the Australian Colonies generally; at the same time I have been assured that numbers of people, especially from Burgundy, are contemplating bringing over eventually their capital and their industry to the Colonies; and I know also that numbers of small proprietors (wine-growers) could be induced to emigrate. But such decisions are not quickly taken by the people of this country, especially to go to parts far away, from which nothing is known, not always the very name itself; and I venture to take the liberty to say that the appointment of some Colonial Agent, residing on the Continent, under the supervision of the Hon. the Agent-General, would soon be productive to the Colony, in the way of immigration of people as well as of capital, of the same good results as the same is to the Dominion of Canada since the recent appointment of such a Colonial Representative in Paris by that Government. Facilities should also be provided for immigrants from the Continent being enabled to start for Australia without having first to put up with the expenses and the annoyances of a preliminary journey to London or Liverpool.

Before leaving Bordeaux I received from the Société Philomathique the Diplôme d'Honneur granted to the Colonial Government, also the several diplomas for gold, silver, and bronze medals of our successful exhibitors. I have not, however, received the medals, which will not be ready for some time.

I have also obtained delivery of the Diplôme d'Honneur granted to the Colonial Government for the map, photographic views of the Colony, statistical returns, official reports, and other publications issued from the Sydney Government Printing Office, and which were exhibited in the New South Wales Court at the Bordeaux Exhibition.

In

In return for several official documents relative to the Colony, offered to the Bordeaux Chamber of Commerce, I have been requested to receive and transmit a collection of its Reports since 1870 to the Library of the Chamber of Commerce of Sydney.

The Syndical Chamber of the Bordeaux Wine-growers and Merchants has adopted a resolution complaining of the high Customs duties charged on French wines entering in New South Wales, and requested Mons. Maurice Candonet and your Executive Secretary to call the attention of the Hon. the Representative Commissioner on the subject, so that he might represent the matter fully to the Colonial Government, with a view to obtain a reduction of those Customs duties—if not upon all wines, at least upon those introduced in casks, as being generally wines inferior in quality to those imported in bottles, and therefore more likely to become in general use, as of first necessity, amongst the most numerous parts of the population.

The Academy of Fine Arts, Sciences, and Literature, of Bordeaux, has entrusted me with a valuable and voluminous collection of its scientific and learned reports, to be presented to the Royal Society of New South Wales; and the Archivist (Professor Raulin) was good enough to add a few fossils from the surroundings of Bordeaux, for the Sydney Museum.

The National Museum of Natural History, in Paris, has, in response to an application from me, especially prepared a collection of 200 specimens of reptiles, batrachians, and fishes, to be presented also to the Sydney Museum.

I have been promised, by a learned gentleman at the head of a scientific Society of Reims, taking great interest in the progress of viticulture, a collection of specimens of the diseases of the vines known about the district, and of insects destructive of same; such collection to be offered to the Agricultural Society of New South Wales, so as to better enable information to be gained, or comparisons to be made, de visu, by all interested parties.

I shall feel very happy, if before my departure from Europe, on my return journey to the Colonies, circumstances will allow me to secure other collections of interest for the benefit of the public and other institutions of New South Wales.

I have not yet had the honor to present the two large photographic albums of Colonial Views which the Hon. F. M. Darley intended to be offered to the President and to the Prime Minister of the Republic. I am very anxious to do so at an early date, but I should like to be provided first with letters from the Hon. the Agent-General of the Colony at the time of remitting these albums. I have reasons to believe Mr. L. Sentis, late Consul-General of France, many years residing in Sydney, would kindly assist me in the presentation of the volumes referred to. I will deem it a special favour to be honored with an early reply on this particular point.

I respectfully beg to state here, with reference to the Amsterdam Exhibition, that I am informed the Commission in Sydney has recommended me for appointment by the Government as Executive Secretary at Amsterdam. This information causes me to hesitate to travel far away from my present residence, for fear some news should reach me, either direct or through the Department of the Hon. the Agent-General, by every incoming mail steamer, with reference to the said Exhibition, in consequence of which I should be expected to proceed at once to Amsterdam. Should not, however, the Government deem proper to act upon the above recommendation in my favour, I would like to make the necessary arrangements for starting back to Sydney during March next; and, as I have to conclude several business matters, which I am willing to postpone if I am to go for the Colony at Amsterdam, provided I receive due notice in good time, may I be permitted to suggest that, should not any information be received by the mail due from Sydney on the 27th of February, a cablegram be sent by the Hon. the Agent-General's Department.

I have, &c.,

HENRY BONNARD,

N.S. Wales Executive Secretary at the Bordeaux Exhibition, 1882.

Poste Restante, Reims, France.

EXHIBITS AT BORDEAUX.

Quantities received—Samples in Bottles (2,563 bottles).

Disposed of as follows:—

Quantities for the Jury	600
Samples returned to Sydney	300
" claimed by Mr. Fallon	24
" " Mr. Terrier and Mr. Kay	50
" " Mr. J. Wyndham	240
" offered to the Lottery of Exhibition	86
" " Representat of Spain	140
" exchanged and taken to Sydney	112
" reserved for Argus prize...	24
" sent to Agent-General	36
" Wyndham, used for new wines	96
" " sold	24
" general, sold to the public	300
" tasted by general public, &c.	531
						2,563 bottles

Quantity received in Casks, as per Bordeaux Customs records (6,804 litres).

How disposed of:—

		litres	litres
J. Wyndham, 2,640 litres of which sold 24 qr. casks	...	1,709	} 2,640
returned	...	840
ullage	...	91
J. Kelman, 1,650 litres, of which sold 15 qr. casks	...	1,544	} 1,650
ullage	...	106
J. Davies, 1,080 litres, of which sold 9 qr. casks	...	1,017	} 1,080
ullage	...	63
A. Munro, 480 litres, of which sold 4 qr. casks	...	446	} 480
ullage	...	34
2 qr. casks Stephen, 240 litres, of which sold	...	240	} 504
Fallon, 504 litres, of which sold 4 qr. casks	...	493
ullage	...	11
4 barrels ... Murray, 100 litres, of which lost	...	100	100
1 qr. cask G. Francis, 110 litres, of which returned	...	110	110
Total	...		6,804 litres.

I certify this to be a correct statement,—

HENRY BONNARD,
N. S. Wales Executive Secretary.

LIST of Goods sent from Bordeaux to the Amsterdam Exhibition.

Case A.....	1 Coat of Arms of England.
	1 large size, 4 small size, Colonial Coats of Arms, 2 Colonial Shields.
	2 framed lists of exhibitors, 2 framed posters, New South Wales Wines.
	2 maps—maps of New South Wales (French), 150 posters New South Wales Wines.
	12 copies of "New South Wales in 1881"—French edition.
	25 " " English "
	25 " " Spanish pamphlet.
	50 copies of Panthéon de l'Industrie .
	12 " La Nature .
	18 boards with painted names of Wine Exhibitors.
Case B.....	3 framed Statistical Reports of New South Wales in French.
	3 " diagrams of Population.
	A quantity of Blue Books, 1880.
	" Statistical Register, 1880.
	" Reports on Sydney Drainage.
	" Reports on Country Towns Drainage.
	" Registry of Letters Patent of Inventions, 1880.
	" Reports on Railways and Tramways, 1880.
	" Reports from Department of Mines, 1880.
	" Mammifères (illustrated) of Australia.
	" of small Colonial official publications (Government Printer).
	" copies of La Nature —and Panthéon de l'Industrie .
	" "New South Wales in 1881"—French and English.
	" Spanish pamphlet on New South Wales.
Canvas bag....	1 English and 2 Colonial large size Flags.
	3 Colonial small Flags.
Parcel	— Photographic Views of Sydney Town Hall—Colonial Secretary's Office.

HENRY BONNARD,
New South Wales Execut. Secretary,
Bordeaux Exhibition, 1882.

18th February, 1883.

5. Wines sold on account of Al. Munro, Esq. :—		f.	c.	f.	c.
120 litres red wine, at 80f. l'hectolitre	96	00
120 „ red wine.	...
174 „ white wine.	...
294 „ of wine, at 56f. 40 l'hectolitre	165	81
82 „ of deposit—dregs	6	00
Total creditor	...			267	81
6. Wines sold on account of — Stephen, Esq. :—
120 litres vin rouge, at 80f. l'hectolitre...	...	96	00
120 „ vin blanc, at 56f. 40 l'hectolitre	...	67	68
Total creditor	...			163	68
7. Wines sold on account of J. T. Fallon, Esq. :—
126 litres red wine, at 50f. l'hectolitre	63	00
367 „ „ „ at 41f. 40 l'hectolitre	...	151	93
Total creditor	...			214	93

RECAPITULATION of Accounts of Sales of Wines exhibited at Bordeaux, 1882, by the Executive Secretary for New South Wales.

Accounts Creditor.	French Money.		English Money.
	f.	c.	£	s.	d.
1. John Wyndham, Esq. ...	1,143	02	45	14	6
2. J. Kelman, Esq. ...	826	52	33	1	0
3. G. Francis, Esq. (pro forma)		0	1	0
4. J. Davies, Esq. ...	579	76	23	3	10
5. A. Munro, Esq. ...	267	81	10	14	0
6. — Stephen, Esq. ...	163	68	6	11	0
7. — Fallon, Esq. ...	214	93	8	12	0
8. A quantity of samples, 300 bottles	390	40	15	11	0
E. & O. E. Total	3,586f.	12	£143	8	4

I hereby certify the above to be a correct statement.

18 February, 1883.

HENRY BONNARD,
N. S. Wales Executive Secretary at the Bordeaux Exhibition, 1882.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

REDFERN ESTATE.

(COPY OF GRANT, AND TRACING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 6 March, 1883.

[Laid upon the Table in accordance with promise made in answer to Question 13, Votes No. 24, Tuesday, 6 March, 1883.]

COPY of Grant of 100 acres of Land in the parish of Alexandria, county of Cumberland, together with Tracing.

100 acres.

Memo.—This Grant includes one originally granted to Wm. Roberts, which is hereby cancelled.

UNTO William Redfern, Esq., his heirs and assigns, to have and to hold for ever, one hundred acres of land, lying and situate in the district of Sydney, bounded on the north by a west line of thirty chains, commencing at the south-west corner of the Surry Hill farm; on the west by a south line of thirty-four chains; on the south by an east line of thirty chains; and on the east by a north line of thirty-four chains, passing through the Swamp; to be called _____, conditioned not to sell or alienate the same for the space of five years from the date hereof, and to cultivate twenty acres within the said period; and reserving to Government the right of making a public road through the same; and also reserving for the use of the Crown such timber as may be deemed fit for naval purposes. Quit rent, two shillings.

In testimony, &c., this 8th day of October, 1816.

(Signed) L. MACQUARIE. (L.S.)

Witnessed by—

H. C. ANTILL.
JOSEPH COWGILL.

Registered in Secretary's Office, Sydney, 20th June, 1817.

JNO. THOS. CAMPBELL,
Secretary and Registrar.

I CERTIFY the foregoing to be a true copy of the entry or copy of the original Deed of Grant from the Crown, kept as of record or for public or official purposes in the office of the Registrar-General of the Colony of New South Wales.

E. G. WARD,
Registrar-General.

Registrar-General's Office,
Sydney, 5th March, 1883.

[Tracing.]

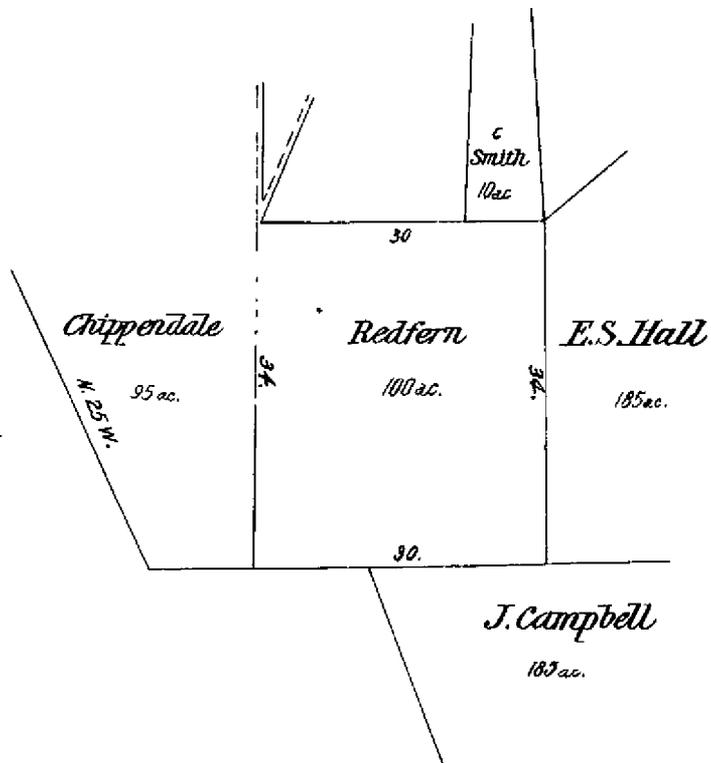

PLAN

showing the boundaries of Redfern's 100ac grant

Parish of Alexandria,

C^o Cumberland.

Scale of Chains.

(Sig 206-)

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

REAL PROPERTY INDEX.

(AMOUNT EXPENDED IN REMODELLING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 10 April, 1883.

[Statement in answer to Questions asked by Mr. Abigail, M.P., in the Legislative Assembly, on the 5th April, 1883.]

(3.) Real Property Index :—Mr. Abigail asked the Colonial Secretary,—

(1.) The amount expended during the last five years in remodelling the Real Property Index?

(2.) By whom was the work performed?

(3.) What position do they hold in the Government Service?

Mr. Stuart answered,—I have given instructions for the preparation of this information; but as it will take some days to prepare, I must ask the Honorable Member to wait until next week, when I shall be able to lay a Return upon the Table giving the desired information.

Year.	Amount of Vote.	Names and positions of those employed.
1878	£ s. d. 300 0 0	J. B. Duff, Deputy Registrar-General; Messrs. Gillam, J. Duff, and Yarnton, Clerks.
1879	400 0 0	J. B. Duff, Deputy Registrar-General; Messrs. Gillam, J. Duff, Yarnton, and Abbott.
1880	400 0 0	J. B. Duff, Deputy Registrar-General; Messrs. Gillam, J. Duff, Yarnton, and Abbott.
1881	400 0 0	J. B. Duff, Deputy Registrar-General; Messrs. Gillam, J. Duff, and Yarnton.
1882	400 0 0	J. B. Duff, Deputy Registrar-General; Messrs. Gillam, J. Duff, Yarnton, and Cooper.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

GLASS-WORKS, CAMPERDOWN.

(COPY OF PETITION CALLING ATTENTION TO NUISANCE FROM.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 March, 1883.

Kingston, Camperdown, 1 January, 1883.

To Edmund Fosbery, Esq., Inspector-General of Police,—

Sir,

We, the undersigned residents, property and householders, desire to respectfully bring under your notice the existence of a nuisance in Australia-st., in Kingston ward, Borough of Camperdown. Such nuisance consists in the emission of large and dense volumes of smoke from a glass-works (the proprietor of which is named Joseph Ross), to the injury of the health as also the comfort of the residents of the said borough.

Your Petitioners would respectfully draw your attention to the fact that the Municipal Council of Camperdown took legal steps against the said Joseph Ross, and that on the 6th day of September last he was fined the sum of 40s. at the Newtown Police Court by the Stipendiary Magistrate (W. Crane, Esq.), and allowed till the 1st day of November, 1882, to abate the nuisance complained of, and from that time to the present the nuisance has if anything increased; and further, this state of things is the same on the Sabbath Day. And your Petitioners, in duty bound, would ever pray that as this has been proved to be a nuisance, and for the good and dutiful obedience of the laws of our beloved and respected Queen, Her Gracious Majesty Victoria, we her dutiful subjects respectfully submit that ourselves and families should be, as well as the laws of the land of our adoption, protected; and we your Petitioners respectfully pray that you will be pleased to take such steps as may cause an abatement of the hereinbefore mentioned nuisance:

P. F. Jentsch, freeholder, St. Mary-st.
S. T. Burcher, freeholder, Denison-st.
Joseph N. Gannon, freeholder, Regent-st.
F. H. Briggs, freeholder, St. Mary-st.
G. T. Miinster, St. Mary-st.
Geo. Bran, Wellington-st.
John Robertson, Bishopgate-st.
W. Le Bromt, St. Mary-st.
E. Sanbrook, freeholder, Ross-st.
W. J. Knight, resident, Ross-st.
John Sanbrook, freeholder, Ross-st.
George Wade, freeholder, Denison-st.
Henry H. Sanbrook, Denison-st.
George Foster, Denison-st.
Thomas Upton, Australia-st.
Thomas B. Boyce, Australia-st.
Charles Wheeler, freehold, Denison-st.
Frederic Wheeler, freeholder, Denison-st.

T. A. Sheeley, freeholder, Denison-st.
Fred. J. Sanbrook.
Augustus Jentsch, freeholder, St. Mary-st.
J. W. Symons, freeholder, Australia-st.
Joseph Howarth, freeholder, Australia-st.
Robt. Jones, St. Mary-st.
John Sargeant, freeholder, St. Mary-st.
Chas. Mayes, C.E., freeholder, St. Mary-st.
E. A. Mayes, St. Mary-st.
J. R. Yorke, householder, St. Mary-st.
C. W. Schwenk, freeholder, St. Mary-st.
J. G. Browne, freeholder, St. Mary-st.
R. Formby, Wellington-st.
F. W. Johnson, household, Denison-st.
Joseph Smith, freeholder, Regent-st.
Eppo Janssen, householder, Denison-st.
Shran Cleland, householder, Denison-st.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

LAND BOILERS' INSPECTION BILL.
(MESSAGE No. 13.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 20 February, 1883.

AUGUSTUS LOFTUS,
Governor.

Message No. 13.

In accordance with the provisions contained in the 54th section of the Constitution Act, the Governor recommends for the consideration of the Legislative Assembly the expediency of making provision to meet the requisite expenses in connection with a "Bill for the Inspection and Regulation of Steam Boilers employed on Land and for other purposes in connection therewith."

*Government House,
Sydney, 20 February, 1883.*

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SYDNEY BRANCH ROYAL MINT.

(DESPATCH.)

Presented to Parliament by Command

The Treasury, New South Wales, 5 February, 1883.

His Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, transmitting a copy of a Report in connection with the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint.

GEORGE R. DIBBS.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to The Officer administering the Government of New South Wales.

(New South Wales, No. 108.)

My Lord,

Downing-street, 8 November, 1882.

I have the honor to submit to you, for the information of your Government, the document specified in the annexed Schedule.

I have, &c.,

KIMBERLEY.

Sydney Mint.

FORTY-NINTH Report, addressed to the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, on the weight and fineness of gold coins struck at the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint, and transmitted by the Deputy Master for examination, in accordance with the provisions of Her Majesty's Order in Council of 19th August, 1853.

PIECES taken without preference by the Colonial Treasurer at the deliveries of the Sydney Mint :—

Half-year ending--	Denomination of Coin.	Number of pieces.	Total weight.	Average weight of a piece.	Average proportion of gold in 1,000 parts.
31 December, 1881	Sovereigns.....	134	oz. 34·413	oz. ·2568	916·635
	Half-sovereigns	14	1·797	·1283	916·65
30 June, 1882	Sovereigns	149	38·261	·2567	916·652
	Half-sovereigns	12	1·541	·1284	916·658

The standard weight of the Sovereign is oz. 0·25682, and of the half-sovereign oz. 0·12841, and the standard fineness (in 1,000 parts) is 916·666.

Royal Mint, 31st October, 1882.

C. W. FREEMANTLE,
Deputy Master and Comptroller.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

FEEES UNDER THE COMPANIES ACT.

(DISTRIBUTION OF, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 14 February, 1883.

STATEMENT of Fees under the Companies Act, 37 Vic. No. 19, assented to 18 June, 1874, and of the distribution of the same.

Years.	Fees. Total amount.	Paid to Consolidated Revenue.	Paid to E. G. Ward, Esq., Reg.-Genl.	Paid to J. B. Duff, Esq., Dep. Reg.-Genl.
1874	£ s. d. 10 5 0	£ s. d. 3 8 4	£ s. d. 3 8 4	£ s. d. 3 8 4
1875	158 5 0	52 15 0	52 15 0	52 15 0
1876	82 0 0	27 6 8	27 6 8	27 6 8
1877	208 5 0	69 8 4	69 8 4	69 8 4
1878	293 0 0	97 13 4	97 13 4	97 13 4
1879	199 0 0	66 6 8	66 6 8	66 6 8
1880	309 10 0	103 3 4	103 3 4	103 3 4
1881	401 5 0	133 15 0	133 15 0	133 15 0
1882	939 15 0	313 5 0	313 5 0	313 5 0

NOTE.—This gives a yearly average of £96 6s. 10d. to each of the above-named officers for the nine years that the Companies Act has been in force (1874–1882).

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

FIRE BRIGADES BILL.

(MESSAGE No. 12.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 6 February, 1883.

AUGUSTUS LOFTUS,
Governor.

Message No. 12.

In accordance with the provisions contained in the 54th section of the Constitution Act, the Governor recommends for the consideration of the Legislative Assembly the expediency of making provision to meet the requisite expenses in connection with a Bill to make better provision for the protection of Life and Property from Fire.

*Government House,
Sydney, 31st January, 1883.*

1883.

—
 LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
 NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE EGYPTIAN WAR.

(DESPATCH RESPECTING TERMINATION OF.)

—
Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed 17 January, 1883.
 —

The Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor.

(New South Wales, No. 97.)

My Lord,

Downing-street, 29 September, 1882.

I have laid before the Queen your telegram of the 21st instant, conveying the congratulations offered to Her Majesty by the Legislative Houses of New South Wales on the successful termination of the War in Egypt.

I am commanded to inform you that the Queen is much gratified at receiving these loyal and kind congratulations, and to request that you will convey to the Legislative Houses of New South Wales an expression of Her Majesty's thanks.

I have, &c.,

KIMBERLEY.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE LATE DR. LEICHHARDT.

(ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF £500, AND FURTHER APPLICATION FOR ASSISTANCE FROM THE SISTER OF.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 6 February, 1883.

Widow H. Schmalfuss to Sir Henry Parkes, K.C.M.G.

(Translation.)

Much Honored Sir,

Landow, near Cottbus, 7 December, 1882.

My letter of thanks of April you will probably have received, and seen from it how happy your kind present has made a family which was in danger of losing house and home [court-yard]. The good God will bless the noble givers for it. This present gave me double pleasure, for I saw by it that the sacrifice, trouble, and dangers of my not-to-be-forgotten brother were recognized, and if even the darkness about him has not yet been made light, he has sacrificed his life and work for the benefit of the land; and that people there having reached that conviction, have resolved to hand to his old sister living in poverty, as a recognition of his services, a support which makes her old age free from care.

With confidence I address myself to-day to you, noble sir, to beg for further help, for the £500 sent to me a year ago only just sufficed to save from sale our ground property [real estate]. As I now lived firmly in the hope that this sum was only paid for the greatest necessity, and I should receive more, I put myself under an obligation [pledged myself] to the creditors until April 1st, 1883, to give a payment on account; with our daily hard work, and high interest [rent], we can have nothing over; therefore forgive me, an old woman much worn from grief and care, when I beg for your kind mediation with regard to a second assistance. I recall, at the same time, the high worth [deserts] of my beloved brother, who certainly, if he had returned from his journey, would have been richly rewarded [presented]. He praised in each of his letters the generosity and liberality of the Government there, as also of the people. If you, in your high position, speak for me, and depict my sad condition, then may I hope that my Petition will not have been sent over the ocean in vain.

May I also add the request to let me have news of the discovery of the effects of my brother—his diary, &c., also letters, and his sad end—in case you should already know anything further about it. I should much wish to get to know of his last work and sad end.

I take leave [sign myself] with all respect and submission,—

WIDOW HENRIETTA SCHMALFUSS,

Born Leichhardt.

1883.

—
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

—
STEPHEN MURPHY.

(PETITION OF.)

—
Received by the Legislative Assembly, 12 April, 1883.
 —

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of Stephen Murphy, of No. 20, George-street, Waterloo, near Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, railway employé,—

SHOWETH:—

1. That your Petitioner was arbitrarily expelled from the Loyal United Brothers Lodge, No. 3,592, Independent Order of Oddfellows, Manchester Unity, contrary to the registered rules of said Society, for standing up for the good and welfare of the Lodge and inquiring, by notice of motion in open Lodge, what became of the amount of £9 19s. 6d., Lodge funds, paid over by himself and succeeding Noble Grand of the Lodge for the year 1879.

2. That such arbitrary expulsion was sanctioned by the District and Board of Directors (the Courts of the Order), contrary to the registered rules of said Society and 14th section Friendly Societies Act.

3. That your Petitioner, through said arbitrary expulsion, was deprived of his interest in said Lodge of £200, fifteen years' contributions, and all benefits of Society for self and family in case of sickness, accident, or death—he being at the time a past officer holding the highest degrees of merit from said Lodge.

4. That your Petitioner took his case to the Sydney District Court, on Sir G. Long Innes's written opinion that, if the dispute in the Lodge in reference to the funds was not decided in the manner directed by the rules of the Society, he could successfully apply for redress, and to compel the officers of the Lodge to allow him to use it as before for its benefits.

5. That your Petitioner's case was heard on 23rd June, 1881. The Lodge Minute-book, to prove that the dispute was not settled in the manner directed by the rules of the Society, was not produced in Court. The presiding Judge gave a verdict for a sum of money in lieu of the order, which verdict is recorded in the District Court Judgment Book, under date of 28th of June, 1881,—your Petitioner being registered as defendant instead of plaintiff.

6. That your Petitioner's case is also entered as a nonsuit, under date of 2nd of June, 1881, twenty-two days before it was heard.

7. That through such tampering with the records, your Petitioner has been persecuted, vilified, and slandered, and denied natural justice and the benefit of the genuine verdict in his favour. The costs of the cause Murphy v. Loyal United Brothers Lodge the Manchester Unity has already paid, as the Court books, which your Petitioner's wife can identify upon oath, will prove, but which the Court officials refuse to produce, as also do the Minister of Justice and the Government, to each of whom your Petitioner has complained.

8. That your Petitioner's papers are before the House, No. 392A, by the late William Forster, Esq., M.L.A., and your Petitioner has filed affidavit in the Supreme Court that he was arbitrarily turned out of said Society contrary to the rules, and that the verdict is recorded in his favour as defendant, which fact the Registrar of the District Court has substantiated by affidavit, filed in the Supreme Court on 2nd of March, 1883.

Your Petitioner, therefore, most humbly and respectfully prays your Honorable House to take his case into your favourable consideration, and grant to your Petitioner the justice which the nature of your Petitioner's case may demand.

And your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.

Dated at Sydney, this 10th day of April, A.D. 1883.

STEPHEN MURPHY.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

JAMES GARDNER.
(PETITION OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 1 March, 1883.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.
The humble Petition of James Gardner, of Wentworth Wharf, Darling Harbour,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

That about the end of October, 1878, your Petitioner, being the lessee of the said wharf and adjacent lands, upon which he had erected five lime-kilns, at an outlay of nearly one thousand pounds (£1,000), for the carrying on of his lime business; and your Petitioner begs to make known that the Government dredge, at the time above-mentioned, came and made fast their anchors and chains on my wharf, tearing and destroying my kilns, and further, kept taking away the land in front of my sea-wall. Though I cautioned and stopped them they again resumed their work against my will during my absence, and undermined the foundation of the sea-wall and kilns, so that the wharf in front of said sea-wall and kilns burst in front and allowed the tide to flow in and out of the kilns, and destroyed the whole of my lime and burst the kilns, leaving them perfectly useless.

Your Petitioner was at the time the principal lime merchant in the city, having some of the best contracts in hand, and had proved so by having five prizes and medals from our Colonial Exhibitions. I repeatedly cautioned the men not to come nearer than 20 feet. When I saw the damage that was done—the wall and wharf cracking before their feet—I called the captain's attention to it. He told me he would see and get something done to prevent it from falling. A week transpired and nothing done, and then down fell the wall and the wharf. I then saw the captain again and pointed out the damage done. He asked me to go with him to the Harbours Department. I went with him; he reported the circumstances. They asked me to sign a requisition and they would give me stone, a punt, and steamer to tow it round, if I would find labour to make it good. I replied that I was not in a position to do so, as it would take four or five hundred pounds to make it good. I had exhausted all my means in erecting the kilns and a home for myself at Woollahra. Through having to borrow money to complete my buildings at the above place. My profits were, at the time my kilns were destroyed, £30, which was amply sufficient to carry on my buildings without being obliged to borrow; and, worse than all this, my family was driven on the streets and my own constitution undermined, which is well known to my public friends and many Members of your Honorable House. I have now no means of subsistence, and applied repeatedly for occupation from the Government to enable me to get an honest living without success. All this trouble has been brought upon me through my political zeal some five or six years since.

Your humble Petitioner trusts that your Honorable House will, in consideration of my heavy losses, grant me a fair and sufficient compensation, and while this is under consideration grant me some employ to enable me to maintain my remaining family, consisting of myself, wife, and three young girls.

I have waited sixteen times, by appointment, on Sir Henry Parkes without avail; this shows the feeling that existed against me in the past Government.

As regards my correspondence on this subject the answers have invariably been, "Bring your action; we will defend it," which I declined to do, not being in a position, and considering the proper place of appeal was your Honorable House.

Your humble Petitioner prays for your favourable consideration of this case, and will ever pray.

JS. GARDNER,
Jones-street, Ultimo.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

WALKA RESERVOIR.
(CORRESPONDENCE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 12 April, 1883, A.M.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 14th March, 1883, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

- “ (1.) Copies of all correspondence between the Minister for Public Works and the Department of Harbours and Rivers, respecting tenders received on or about 23rd January, 1883, for the Walka Reservoir, filtering-tanks, &c., in connection with the Hunter River water supply.
- “ (2.) The names of the parties who, in compliance with the conditions of the Department, deposited the sum of £200 with their tenders.
- “ (3.) The names of the parties, if any, tendering who failed to pay the said sum of £200 as required by the conditions.
- “ (4.) Copies of all communications which have taken place between the Minister for Public Works and the Harbours and Rivers Department, and the parties who have tendered for the said reservoir, filtering-tanks, &c., in compliance with the usual conditions or otherwise.”

(Mr. Olliffe, for Mr. Brunker.)

SCHEDULE.

(These documents comply with Orders 1 and 4.)

NO.	PAGE.
1. Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers to Under-Secretary for Works, recommending that tenders be invited for Walka Reservoir and works. 12 December, 1882	3
2. Under-Secretary for Works to Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers, enclosing eight tenders received for above, and calling for report thereon. 23 January, 1883.....	3
3. Greig & Monday, Armidale, to Under-Secretary for Works, sent deposit on tender by A.J.S. Bank. 23 January, 1883	16
4. Greig & Monday, Armidale, to Under-Secretary for Works, wire result of tender. 27 January, 1883.....	16
5. Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers to Under-Secretary for Works, returning tenders and schedule, with report thereon. 29 January, 1883.....	16
6. Greig & Monday, Armidale, to Under-Secretary for Works, reply who is successful tenderer. 31 January, 1883.	16
7. Under-Secretary for Works to Greig & Monday, matter of tenders has not yet been decided upon. 6 February, 1883	16
8. Secretary for Works—Clarke Wylie & Co.'s tender, to be accepted conditional on their paying deposit. 7 February, 1883	16

NO.	PAGE.
9. Under-Secretary for Works to J. Clarke Wylie & Co., as tender did not contain preliminary deposit of £200, this should be done at once, in order that offer may be taken into consideration. 9 February, 1883.....	17
10. T. A. Bourke, Wallsend, to Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers, to return cash deposit of £200 if he is not successful tenderer. 15 February, 1883	17
11. J. Clarke Wylie & Co., to Under-Secretary for Works, that matter of deposit stand over for three or four days. 16 February, 1883	17
12. J. Clarke Wylie & Co., to Under-Secretary for Works, enclosing Treasury receipt for £200, being deposit on tender. 20 February, 1883	17
13. Mason Bros. to Under-Secretary for Works, stopped payment of cheque for £200, that J. Clarke Wylie & Co. received from them to deposit in Treasury. 21 February, 1883	17
14. Accountant, Bank of New South Wales, to Paymaster, Treasury—cheque for £200 drawn by Mason Bros. on Oriental Bank, presented for payment and returned, is now charged to Treasury Account. 21 February, 1883.	18
15. Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Under-Secretary for Works, informing Mason Bros' cheque for £200 has been returned, payment having been stopped—Clarke Wylie & Co. informed. 23 February, 1883.	18
16. Secretary for Works—as Clarke Wylie & Co. have not complied with terms of advertisement re deposit accept next lowest tender. 24 February, 1883	18
17. Secretary for Works—memo. for Mr. Moriarty and other heads of Branches, unless a Bank deposit accompanies each tender such tender should not be accepted or dealt with. 24 February, 1883	18
18. J. Clarke Wylie & Co. to Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade, will deposit £200 as requested. 26 February, 1883	18
19. Secretary for Works, to get rid of complications in this case think it desirable to call for fresh tenders. 5 March, 1883.....	18
20. W. Wakeford—memo. received by Colonial Secretary complaining of injustice done to bond-fide contractors by reason of Government having considered a tender which was informal, through not complying with terms of conditions as to deposit. 9 March, 1883	19
21. Crown Solicitor to Under-Secretary for Works, memo. in reference to Clarke Wylie & Co.'s tender. 13 March, 1883	19
22. Under-Secretary for Works to John Robb—as fresh tenders have been invited, amount of deposit will be paid upon application at Treasury. 16 March, 1883	19
23. Under-Secretary for Works to George Blunt—as fresh tenders have been invited, amount of deposit will be paid upon application at Treasury. 16 March, 1883	19
24. Under-Secretary for Works to J. Brooks & Co.—as fresh tenders have been invited, amount of deposit will be paid upon application at Treasury. 16 March, 1883	20
25. Thos. Brooks & Co. to Under-Secretary for Works, for a refund of £200 deposit which accompanied his tender. 16 March, 1883	20
26. T. A. Bourke to Secretary, Harbours and Rivers Department, again requesting repayment of £200 deposited with tender. 17 March, 1883	20
27. T. A. Bourke to Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers, to give orders for payment of his cash deposit of £200. 20 March, 1883	20
28. Assistant-Secretary, Bank of New South Wales, to Colonial Treasurer—Mason Bros' cheque for £200 still remains unpaid, and at debit of Government Account. 21 March, 1883.....	21
29. Under-Secretary for Works to Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade, forwarding deposit receipt for £200, to be refunded to Bank of New South Wales for dishonored cheque. 31 March, 1883.....	21
30. Thomas Brooks to Under-Secretary for Works, amount of deposit with his tender to be placed to his credit without further delay. 3 April, 1883	21
31. Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers, returning papers in reference to Mason Bros' cheque for £200 for which payment was stopped. 9 April, 1883	21

WALKA RESERVOIR.

No. 1.

The Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers to The Under-Secretary for Works.

Department of Public Works, Harbour and Rivers Branch, Sydney, 12 December, 1882.

PLANS and specifications having been prepared for the above work, I beg to recommend that tenders be invited for the work, to be opened on the 23rd of January, 1883.

E. O. MORIARTY,
12/12/82.

Approved.—J.L., 12/12/82. Hrs. & Rivers.—J.R., B.C., 13-14/12/82.

No. 2.

The Under-Secretary for Works to The Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers.

Sir,

Department of Public Works, Sydney, 23 January, 1883.

The tenders, eight in number, for the work specified in the margin, are referred to you for report, and you will have the goodness, as early as possible, to return them to me direct, for submission to the Minister.

I have, &c.,

Amount voted, £250,000. Amount of tender, Schedule rates. Construction of reservoir and works at Walka, Hunter River water supply.

No. 1.

FORM OF TENDER.

HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.

Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.

Contract No. 5.

22 January, 1883.

I, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and other works, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

I also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1885.

Signature—THOMAS BROOKS & CO.
Address in full—Scott-street, Newcastle.

I enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which, in the event of my Tender being accepted, and I failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the Bond, I am prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—THOMAS BROOKS.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
108 acres	1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified.....	} Lump sum 500 0 0 @ per acre 10 0 0
	2	Extra clearing, if required
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon
14,416 cubic yards ...	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified... ..	@ per cubic yard 0 3 0
11,043 cubic yards ...	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650	@ per cubic yard 0 4 0
1,782 cubic yards ...	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to go with the puddle	@ per cubic yard 0 10 0
3,137 cubic yards ...	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil	@ per cubic yard 0 10 0
83,474 cubic yards ...	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in place as specified	@ per cubic yard 0 4 6
4,919 cubic yards ...	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard 1 10 0
14,802 cubic yards ...	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	@ per cubic yard 1 0 0
9,697 super. yards ..	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per super. yard ... 0 1 6
6,037 super. yards ...	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes, &c., where required	@ per super. yard ... 0 3 0
100 cubic yards ...	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required	@ per cubic yard 1 10 0
190 cubic yards ...	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment.....	@ per cubic yard 0 9 0
9,995 super. yards ..	15	Hand-pitching slopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive.....	@ per super. yard ... 0 16 0

Approximate Quantities	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
300 super. yards ..	16	Hand-pitching, same as above, but 8 inches thick, and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads, on slopes or other places required	@ per super. yard ... £ s. d. 0 10 0
611 lineal yards ..	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete	@ per lineal yard 0 15 0
611 lineal yards ..	18	Curb alongside road under fence	@ per lineal yard 0 10 0
611 lineal yards ..	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard 5 0 0
611 lineal yards ..	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	@ per lineal yard 1 0 0
2,845 lineal feet ..	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling, including cutting water-tables or side-drains, where necessary	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 5 0 0
1,765 lineal feet	22	Repairing and maintaining Scooby's-lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 20 0 0
2,300 lineal feet	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 2 10 0
813 cubic yards ..	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2½" gauge (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard 0 12 0
1,524 cubic yards ..	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard 0 6 0
409 cubic yards ..	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 2 0 0
1,994 cubic yards ..	27	Concrete 9 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 1 10 0
137 cubic yards ..	28	Dressed stone masonry	@ per cubic yard 4 0 0
5 cubic yards ..	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard 2 0 0
2,785 cubic yards ..	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	@ per cubic yard 3 0 0
904 lineal yards ..	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per lineal yard 0 10 0
1,284 super. yards ..	32	Rendering ¾-inch thick	@ per super. yard... 0 4 6
298 cubic feet	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic foot 0 5 0
1,450 super. feet ..	34	" planking	@ per 100 of 1" thick 2 0 0
400 super. feet	35	" small scantling	@ per 100 of 1" thick 2 0 0
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	@ per lb. 0 1 0
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.	@ per cwt. 2 0 0
28,812 super. feet	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified	@ per 100 feet super. 1 10 0
3,228 cubic yards ..	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds	@ per cubic yard 0 10 0
80,374 super. feet ..	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	@ per 100 feet square 0 11 0
1,016 lineal yards ..	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain-pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 16 0
110 lineal yards ..	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain-pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard..... 0 13 0
.....	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain-pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard. 0 9 0
18 lineal yards ..	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain-pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 6 6
6 lineal yards ..	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain-pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard.... 0 5 0
150 lineal yards ..	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast-iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard..... 3 0 0
595 lineal yards ..	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard..... 2 10 0
290 lineal yards ..	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding leads, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard.. .. 2 0 0
38 lineal yards ..	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard..... 1 10 0
30 super. yards ..	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	@ per super. yard.... 0 4 0
2,250 super. feet ..	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per 100 feet super. 0 4 0
4,800 super. feet ..	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed ..	@ per 100 feet super. 0 3 0

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in any way guaranteed by the Government.
The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Name—THOMAS BROOKS & CO.
Address—Newcastle.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, I, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—THOMAS BROOKS.

No. 2.

FORM OF TENDER.

HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.

Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.

Contract No. 5.

I, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and other works, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

I also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1885.

Signature—G. BLUNT.

Address in full—Metropolitan Hotel, Sydney.

I enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which, in the event of this tender being accepted, and I failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the Bond, I am prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—G. BLUNT.

SCHEDULE.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
108 acres	1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified	Lump sum
	2	Extra clearing, if required	£ s. d. 435 0 0
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon	@ per acre
			Lump sum
14,416 cubic yards	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified	2200 0 0
11,043 cubic yards	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650	@ per cubic yard
1,782 cubic yards	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to go with the puddle	0 1 9
3,137 cubic yards	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil	@ per cubic yard
83,474 cubic yards	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in place as specified	0 2 8
4,919 cubic yards	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard
14,802 cubic yards	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	0 2 7
9,697 super. yards	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per cubic yard
6,037 super. yards	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes, &c., where required	0 3 0
100 cubic yards	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required	@ per cubic yard
190 cubic yards	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment	0 2 8
9,995 super. yards	15	Hand-pitching slopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive	@ per cubic yard
300 super. yards	16	Hand-pitching, same as above, but 8 inches thick and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads, on slopes or other places required	0 6 6
611 lineal yards	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete	@ per super. yard
611 lineal yards	18	Curb alongside road under fence	0 7 4
611 lineal yards	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard
611 lineal yards	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	0 14 6
2,845 lineal feet	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling including cutting water tables or side drains, where necessary	@ per lineal yard
1,765 lineal feet	22	Repairing and maintaining Scooby's lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	0 8 9
2,300 lineal feet	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per lineal yard
813 cubic yards	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2 1/2" gauge (measured in heap)	1 0 0
1,524 cubic yards	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap)	@ per lineal yard
409 cubic yards	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	3 10 0
1,994 cubic yards	27	Concrete 9 to 1, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet
137 cubic yards	28	Dressed stone masonry	0 10 0
5 cubic yards	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard
2,785 cubic yards	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	0 9 9
904 lineal yards	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per cubic yard
1,284 super. yards	32	Rendering 3/4-inch thick	0 4 6
298 cubic feet	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic yard
1,450 super. feet	34	" planking	1 15 0
400 super. feet	35	" small scantling	@ per cubic yard
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	1 10 0
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.	@ per lb.
28,812 super. feet	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified	0 0 6
3,228 cubic yards	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds	@ per cwt.
80,374 super feet	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	1 15 0
1,016 lineal yards	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per 100 ft. super.
110 lineal yards	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	0 8 6
.....	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per cubic yard
18 lineal yards	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	0 3 6
6 lineal yards	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard
150 lineal yards	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast-iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	0 12 0
595 lineal yards	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard
290 lineal yards	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	0 9 6
38 lineal yards	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard
30 super. yards	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	0 8 9
2,250 super. feet	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per lineal yard
4,800 super. feet	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed	0 7 6
			@ per super. yard
			0 2 6
			@ per 100 feet sup.
			1 0 0
			@ per 100 feet sup.
			1 5 0

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in anyway guaranteed by the Government.

The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Name—GEORGE BLUNT.

Address—Metropolitan Hotel, King-street, Sydney.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, I, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—G. BLUNT.

No. 3.

FORM OF TENDER.

HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.

Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.

Contract No. 5.

23 January, 1883.

We, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and other works, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

We also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1885.

Signature—ROSS & DUNBAR.

Address in full—Alpine House, 233, Macquarie-street, Sydney.

We enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which, in the event of our tender being accepted, and we failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the Bond, we are prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—ROSS & DUNBAR.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
108 acres	1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified	£ s. d. Lump sum
	2	Extra clearing, if required	@ at per acre
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon	Lump sum
14,416 cubic yards ...	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified	@ per cubic yard
11,043 cubic yards ...	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650	@ per cubic yard
1,782 cubic yards ...	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to go with the puddle	@ per cubic yard
3,137 cubic yards ...	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil	@ per cubic yard
83,474 cubic yards ...	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in places as specified	@ per cubic yard
4,919 cubic yards ...	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard
14,802 cubic yards ...	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	@ per cubic yard
9,697 super. yards ...	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per cubic yard
6,037 super. yards ...	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes, &c., where required	@ per cubic yard
100 cubic yards ...	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required	@ per cubic yard
190 cubic yards ...	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment	@ per cubic yard
9,995 super. yards ...	15	Hand-pitching slopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive	@ per super. yard
300 super. yards ...	16	Hand-pitching, same as above, but 8 inches thick and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads, on slopes or other places required	@ per super. yard
611 lineal yards ...	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete	@ per lineal yard
611 lineal yards ...	18	Curb alongside road under fence	@ per lineal yard
611 lineal yards ...	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard
611 lineal yards ...	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	@ per lineal yard
2,845 lineal feet	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling, including cutting water tables or side drains, where necessary	@ per 100 lineal feet
1,765 lineal feet	22	Repairing and maintaining Scoby's lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet
2,300 lineal feet	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet
813 cubic yards ...	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2½" gauge (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard
1,524 cubic yards ...	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard
409 cubic yards ...	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard
1,994 cubic yards ...	27	Concrete 9 to 1 as specified	@ per cubic yard
137 cubic yards ...	28	Dressed stone masonry	@ per cubic yard
5 cubic yards ...	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard
2,785 cubic yards ...	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	@ per cubic yard
904 lineal yards ...	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per lineal yard

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
1,284 super. yards ..	32	Rendering $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch thick	@ per super. yard..... £ s. d. 0 2 6
298 cubic feet ..	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic foot 0 4 6
1,450 super. feet ..	34	„ planking	@ per 100 of 1" thick.. 1 10 0
400 super. feet ..	35	„ small scantling	@ per 100 of 1" thick.. 1 10 0
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	@ per lb. 0 0 6
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.	@ per cwt. 0 0 4
28,812 super. feet.....	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified	@ per 100 ft. super. ... 2 5 0
3,228 cubic yards ..	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds.....	@ per cubic yard 0 7 0
80,374 super. feet ..	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	@ per 100 ft. square, =100,000 square ft. } 4 0 0
1,016 lineal yards ..	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 1 5 0
110 lineal yards ..	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 10 0
.....	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 4 0
18 lineal yards ..	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 2 0
6 lineal yards ..	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 2 0
150 lineal yards ..	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast-iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 1 2 0
595 lineal yards ..	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 0 16 5
290 lineal yards ..	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 0 10 0
38 lineal yards ..	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 0 11 2
30 super. yards ..	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	@ per super. yard..... 0 1 4
2,250 super. feet ..	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per 100 feet sup. ... 0 3 8
4,800 super. feet ..	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed ...	@ per 100 feet sup. ... 0 3 8

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in any way guaranteed by the Government.

The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Name—ROSS & DUNBAR,
Address—233, Macquarie-street, Sydney.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, we, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—ROSS & DUNBAR.

No. 4.

FORM OF TENDER.

HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.
Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.

Contract No. 5.

19 January, 1883.

I, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and other works, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

I also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1885.

Signature—JOHN ROBB.

Address in full—123, Collins-street West, Melbourne, Victoria.

I enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which, in the event of my tender being accepted, and I failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the Bond, I am prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—JOHN BOBB.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
108 acres	1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified	Lump sum £ s. d. 756 0 0
	2	Extra clearing, if required	@ per acre 12 0 0
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon	Lump sum 1,300 0 0
14,416 cubic yards ...	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified	@ per cubic yard 0 2 6
11,043 cubic yards ...	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650	@ per cubic yard 0 3 0
1,782 cubic yards ...	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to go with the puddle.....	@ per cubic yard 0 6 0

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
3,137 cubic yards	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil.....	@ per cubic yard £ s. d. 0 8 0
83,474 cubic yards	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in place as specified	@ per cubic yard 0 2 4
4,919 cubic yards	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard 0 7 0
14,802 cubic yards	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	@ per cubic yard 0 7 0
9,697 super. yards	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per super. yard ... 0 0 6
6,037 super. yards	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes, &c., where required	@ per super. yard ... 0 1 6
100 cubic yards	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required.	@ per cubic yard 0 6 0
190 cubic yards	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment	@ per cubic yard 0 7 0
9,995 super. yards	15	Hand-pitching slopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive	@ per super. yard ... 0 12 0
300 super yards	16	Hand-pitching same as above, but 8 inches thick and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads, on slopes or other places required	@ per super. yard ... 0 9 0
611 lineal yards	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete.....	@ per lineal yard 1 12 0
611 lineal yards	18	Curb alongside road under fence.....	@ per lineal yard 0 15 9
611 lineal yards	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard 1 0 0
611 lineal yards	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	@ per lineal yard 1 10 0
2,845 lineal feet	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling, including cutting water tables or side drains, where necessary	@ per 100 lineal feet 9 6 0
1,765 lineal feet	22	Repairing and maintaining Scoby's lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet 9 6 0
2,300 lineal feet	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet 0 7 6
813 cubic yards	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2½" gauge (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard 0 8 0
1,524 cubic yards	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap).....	@ per cubic yard 0 6 0
409 cubic yards	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 2 12 0
1,994 cubic yards	27	Concrete 9 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 2 2 0
137 cubic yards	28	Dressed stone masonry	@ per cubic yard 5 0 0
5 cubic yards	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard 2 10 0
2,785 cubic yards	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	@ per cubic yard 2 12 0
904 lineal yards	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per lineal yard ... 0 7 0
1,284 super. yards	32	Rendering ¾-inch thick	@ per super. yard ... 0 4 0
298 cubic feet	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic foot ... 0 6 6
1,450 super. feet	34	" planking	@ per 100 of 1" thick 2 0 0
400 super. feet	35	" small scantling	@ per 100 of 1" thick 3 0 0
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	@ per lb. 0 1 0
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.....	@ per cwt. 2 0 0
28,812 super. feet	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified.....	@ per 100 ft. super... 3 12 0
3,228 cubic yards	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds	@ per cubic yard ... 0 12 0
80,374 super. feet	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	@ per 100 ft. square 0 10 0
1,016 lineal yards	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches ..	@ per lineal yard 1 10 0
110 lineal yards	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches ..	@ per lineal yard 1 0 0
.....	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 15 0
18 lineal yards	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard ... 0 10 0
6 lineal yards	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches.....	@ per lineal yard 0 8 0
150 lineal yards	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast-iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 1 0 0
595 lineal yards	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.....	@ per lineal yard 0 16 0
290 lineal yards	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.....	@ per lineal yard 0 15 0
38 lineal yards	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.....	@ per lineal yard 0 10 0
30 super. yards	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	@ per super. yard 0 2 0
2,250 super. feet	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per 100 feet sup. ... 0 5 0
4,800 super. feet	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed ..	@ per 100 feet sup. ... 0 10 0

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in any way guaranteed by the Government.

The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Name—JOHN ROBB.

Address—123, Collins-st. West, Melbourne.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, I, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—JOHN ROBB.

No. 5.
FORM OF TENDER.
HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.
Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.
Contract No. 5.

19 January, 1883.

I, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and wother orks, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

I also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1883.

Signature—JAMES RUSSELL.
Address in full—Contractor, Newcastle, N.S.W.

I enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which, in the event of my tender being accepted, and my failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the Bond, I am prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—JAMES RUSSELL.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
			£ s. d.
108 acres	+ 1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified	Lump sum 540 0 0
	2	Extra clearing, if required	@ per acre 20 0 0
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon	Lump sum 1000 0 0
14,416 cubic yards ..	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified	@ per cubic yard 0 2 0
11,043 cubic yards ..	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650	@ per cubic yard 0 3 0
1,782 cubic yards ...	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to go with the puddle	@ per cubic yard 0 3 9
3,137 cubic yards ...	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil	@ per cubic yard 0 4 6
83,474 cubic yards ..	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in place as specified	@ per cubic yard 0 3 0
4,919 cubic yards ...	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard 0 7 6
14,802 cubic yards ..	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	@ per cubic yard 0 6 6
9,697 super yards ...	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per super. yard 0 1 3
6,037 super yards ..	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes, &c., where required	@ per super. yard 0 1 9
100 cubic yards ...	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required	@ per cubic yard 0 8 0
190 cubic yards ...	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment	@ per cubic yard 0 8 0
9,995 super. yards ...	15	Hand-pitching slopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive	@ per super. yard 0 12 0
300 super. yards ...	16	Hand-pitching, same as above, but 8 inches thick and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads, on slopes or other places required	@ per super. yard 0 9 0
611 lineal yards ...	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete	@ per lineal yard 0 18 0
611 lineal yards ...	18	Curb alongside road under fence	@ per lineal yard 0 8 0
611 lineal yards ...	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard 2 10 0
611 lineal yards ...	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	@ per lineal yard 0 12 6
2,845 lineal feet ...	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling including cutting water tables or side drains, where necessary	@ per 100 lineal feet .. 5 0 0
1,765 lineal feet	22	Repairing and maintaining Scoby's lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet... 15 0 0
2,300 lineal feet	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet... 0 15 0
813 cubic yards ...	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2½" gauge (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard 0 8 6
1,524 cubic yards ..	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard 0 5 6
409 cubic yards ...	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 2 2 6
1,994 cubic yards ...	27	Concrete 9 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 1 18 6
137 cubic yards ...	28	Dressed stone masonry	@ per cubic yard 5 8 0
5 cubic yards ...	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard 3 0 0
2,785 cubic yards ...	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	@ per cubic yard 2 10 0
904 lineal yards ...	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per lineal yard 0 7 0
1,284 super. yards ...	32	Rendering ½-inch thick	@ per super. yard 0 3 9
298 cubic feet	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic foot 0 3 0
1,450 super. feet.....	34	,, planking	@ per 100 of 1" thick... 1 10 0
400 super. feet.....	35	,, small scantling	@ per 100 of 1" thick... 1 10 0
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	@ per lb. 0 0 8
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.	@ per cwt. 1 3 0
28,812 super. feet.....	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified	@ per 100 feet super... 5 0 0

Approximate Quantities	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
3,228 cubic yards ..	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds.	£ s. d. 0 6 6
80,374 super. feet.	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	@ per 100 feet square 0 6 6
1,016 lineal yards ...	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard.... 0 17 6
110 lineal yards ...	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard..... 0 9 0
.....	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard..... 0 8 0
18 lineal yards ...	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard..... 0 4 0
6 lineal yards ...	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard... .. 0 3 6
150 lineal yards ..	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast-iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard..... 0 17 6
595 lineal yards ...	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard. 0 14 6
290 lineal yards ...	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard..... 0 11 0
38 lineal yards ...	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard ... 0 8 9
30 super yards ..	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	@ per super. yard... 0 1 8
2,250 super. feet.	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per 100 feet super.. 0 7 0
4,800 super. feet. ...	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed.	@ per 100 feet super .. 0 7 0

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in any way guaranteed by the Government.

The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Name—JAMES RUSSELL,
Address—Contractor, Newcastle.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, I, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—JAMES RUSSELL.

No. 6.

FORM OF TENDER.

HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.

Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.

Contract No. 5.

23 January, 1883.

WE, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and other works, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

We also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1885.

Signature—J. CLARKE WYLLIE & Co.

Address in full—C/o Hon. J. M. Thompson, 98, Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

We enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which, in the event of our tender being accepted, and our failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the Bond, we are prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—J. CLARKE WYLLIE & CO.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
108 acres.....	1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified	Lump sum..... £ s. d. 620 0 0
	2	Extra clearing, if required	@ per acre..... 7 0 0
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon.....	Lump sum. 2000 0 0
14,416 cubic yards ...	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified.	@ per cubic yard. ... 0 1 2
11,043 cubic yards ...	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650.....	@ per cubic yard..... 0 1 3
1,782 cubic yards ...	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to go with the puddle	@ per cubic yard.... 0 3 0
3,137 cubic yards ...	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil	@ per cubic yard 0 4 0
83,474 cubic yards ..	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in place as specified	@ per cubic yard 0 2 0
4,010 cubic yards	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard 0 8 0
14,802 cubic yards ...	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	@ per cubic yard 0 7 0

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
9,697 super. yards...	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per super. yard... £ s. d. 0 0 6
6,037 super. yards...	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes &c., where required	@ per super. yard... 0 1 0
100 cubic yards ...	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required	@ per cubic yard ... 0 1 0
190 cubic yards ...	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment	@ per cubic yard ... 0 7 0
9,995 super. yards...	15	Hand-pitching slopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive	@ per super. yard... 0 1 5
300 super. yards...	16	Hand-pitching, same as above, but 8 inches thick and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads on slopes or other places required	@ per super. yard ... 0 1 0
611 lineal yards ...	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete	@ per lineal yard ... 0 16 0
611 lineal yards ...	18	Curb alongside road under fence	@ per lineal yard ... 0 19 6
611 lineal yards ...	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard ... 0 17 6
611 lineal yards ...	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	@ per lineal yard... 0 3 0
2,845 lineal feet ...	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling, including cutting water tables or side drains, where necessary	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 6 0 0
1,765 lineal feet ...	22	Repairing and maintaining Scoby's lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 14 0 0
2,300 lineal feet ...	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 0 10 0
813 cubic yards ...	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2 1/4" gauge (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard ... 0 7 0
1,524 cubic yards ...	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard ... 0 5 6
409 cubic yards ...	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard ... 2 15 0
1,994 cubic yards ...	27	Concrete 9 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard ... 2 12 0
137 cubic yards ...	28	Dressed stone masonry	@ per cubic yard ... 10 0 0
5 cubic yards ...	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard ... 1 15 0
2,785 cubic yards ...	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	@ per cubic yard ... 2 15 0
904 lineal yards ...	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per lineal yard ... 0 3 0
1,284 super. yards ...	32	Rendering 3/4-inch thick	@ per super. yard ... 0 3 9
298 cubic feet ...	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic foot ... 0 6 0
1,450 super. feet ...	34	" planking	@ per 100 of 1" thick ... 1 10 0
400 super. feet ...	35	" small scabbling	@ per 100 of 1" thick ... 1 5 0
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	@ per lb. 0 0 9
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.	@ per cwt. 1 15 0
28,812 super. feet....	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified	@ per 100 feet super.. 2 10 0
3,228 cubic yards ...	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds	@ per cubic yard ... 0 10 0
80,374 super. feet....	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	@ per 100 feet square. 0 15 0
1,016 lineal yards ...	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard ... 1 10 0
110 lineal yards ...	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard ... 1 0 0
.....	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard ... 0 15 0
18 lineal yards ...	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard ... 0 10 0
6 lineal yards ...	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard ... 0 7 0
150 lineal yards ...	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast-iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard ... 1 5 0
595 lineal yards ...	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard ... 1 0 0
290 lineal yards ...	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard ... 0 18 0
38 lineal yards ...	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard ... 0 17 0
30 super. yards ...	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	@ per super. yard ... 0 3 0
2,250 super. feet....	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per 100 feet super.. 0 4 0
4,800 super. feet...	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed	@ per 100 feet super.. 0 2 0

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in any way guaranteed by the Government.

The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

Name—J. CLARKE WYLIE & CO.

Address—Care of Hon. J. M. Thompson,

98 Elizabeth-street, Sydney.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, we, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—J. CLARKE WYLIE & Co.

In consequence of fixed deposit in N. Z. Bank, Sydney, we cannot withdraw, but on application to Manager full information is available.

J. S. WHITLOCK.

No. 7.
FORM OF TENDER.
HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.
Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.
Contract No. 5.

20 January, 1883.

We, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and other works, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

We also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1885.

Signature—GREIG & MONDY,

Per ROBERT HAY.

Address in full—Railway Camp, Armidale.

We enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which in the event of our tender being accepted, and our failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the Bond, we are prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—GREIG & MONDY,

Per ROBT. HAY.

Armidale, 20 January, 1883.

Sir,
As we are unable, on account of the shortness of time between now and the time for receiving tenders for the Walka Reservoir, to enclose a Treasury receipt for the deposit, we will arrange for the A. J. S. Bank to lodge said receipt on the morning of Tuesday next before the tenders close.

GREIG & MONDY,

Per ROBT. HAY.

The Under Secretary for Public Works.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
108 acres	1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified	£ s. d. Lump sum .. 1500 0 0
	2	Extra clearing, if required	@ per acre .. 50 0 0
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon	Lump sum .. 3000 0 0
14,416 cubic yards ...	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified	@ per cubic yard .. 0 6 0
11,043 cubic yards ..	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650	@ per cubic yard .. 0 7 6
1,782 cubic yards ...	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to go with the puddle	@ per cubic yard .. 0 10 0
3,137 cubic yards ...	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil	@ per cubic yard .. 0 12 6
83,474 cubic yards ...	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in place as specified	@ per cubic yard .. 0 3 3
4,919 cubic yards ...	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard .. 0 12 6
14,802 cubic yards ...	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	@ per cubic yard .. 0 7 6
9,697 super. yards ...	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per super. yard .. 0 2 0
6,037 super. yards ...	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes, &c., where required	@ per super. yard .. 0 3 0
100 cubic yards ...	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required	@ per cubic yard .. 0 10 0
190 cubic yards ...	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment	@ per cubic yard .. 0 7 0
9,995 super. yards ...	15	Hand-pitching slopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive	@ per super. yard .. 0 9 0
300 super. yards ...	16	Hand-pitching, same as above, but 8 inches thick and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads, on slopes or other places required	@ per super. yard .. 0 5 6
611 lineal yards ...	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete	@ per lineal yard .. 1 10 0
611 lineal yards ...	18	Curb alongside road under fence	@ per lineal yard .. 0 13 6
611 lineal yards ...	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard .. 1 5 6
611 lineal yards ...	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	@ per lineal yard .. 0 8 0
2,845 lineal feet	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling, including cutting water tables or side drains, where necessary	@ per 100 lineal feet .. 10 0 0
1,765 lineal feet	22	Repairing and maintaining Scoby's lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet .. 10 0 0
2,300 lineal feet	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet .. 10 0 0
813 cubic yards ...	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2½" gauge (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard .. 0 8 0
1,524 cubic yards ...	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard .. 0 4 6
409 cubic yards ...	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard .. 2 10 0
1,994 cubic yards ...	27	Concrete 9 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard .. 2 5 0
137 cubic yards ...	28	Dressed stone masonry	@ per cubic yard .. 5 3 0
5 cubic yards ...	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard .. 2 0 0
2,785 cubic yards ...	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	@ per cubic yard .. 3 5 0
904 lineal yards ...	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per lineal yard .. 1 0 0
1,264 super. yards ...	32	Rendering ½-inch thick	@ per super. yard .. 0 4 0

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
208 cubic feet	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic foot
1,450 super. feet	34	„ planking	@ per 100 of 1" thick.
400 super. feet	35	„ small scantling	@ per 100 of 1" thick.
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	@ per lb.
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.	@ per cwt.
28,812 super. feet	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified	@ per 100 feet super.
3,228 cubic yards	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds	@ per cubic yard
80,374 super. feet	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	@ per 100 feet square.
1,016 lineal yards	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard
110 lineal yards	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard
	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard
18 lineal yards	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard
6 lineal yards	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard
150 lineal yards	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast-iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard
595 lineal yards	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard
290 lineal yards	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard
38 lineal yards	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard
30 super. yards	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	@ per super. yard
2,250 super. feet	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per 100 feet super.
4,800 super. feet	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed	@ per 100 feet super.

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in anyway guaranteed by the Government.

The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Name—GREIG & MONDY, per R.H.
Address—Armidale.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, we, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—GREIG & MONDY, per R.H.

No. 8.

FORM OF TENDER.

HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY.

Walka Reservoir, Tanks and Filter-beds.

Contract No. 5.

22 January, 1883.

WE, the undersigned, do hereby undertake and agree to execute and perform the whole of the works for making and constructing the Walka Reservoir, embankment, bye-wash, filter-beds, and other works, and complete the same according to the true meaning and intent of the specification, general conditions, and drawings exhibited in connection therewith, at the schedule of prices hereto attached.

We also guarantee to carry on the contract at the rate named in the general conditions attached to the specification, and to complete and hand over the whole of the works ready for use on or before the 31st day of March, 1885.

Signatures } THOMAS A. BOURKE,
ANDREW NASH.

Address in full—T. A. BOURKE & Co., Wallsend.

We enclose herewith a Treasury receipt for the sum of £200, paid to the Colonial Treasurer, which in the event of our tender being accepted, and our failing thereafter to make the necessary cash deposit within fourteen days and complete the bond, we are prepared to absolutely forfeit to Her Majesty the Queen.

Signature—THOMAS A. BOURKE & CO.

SCHEDULE.

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item	Rate.
108 acres	1	Clearing and stumping sites for reservoir, embankment, &c., within the area specified	Lump sum
	2	Extra clearing, if required	@ per acre
	3	Construction of coffer-dams and other works in connection with draining and keeping dry the site for the embankment through the lagoon	Lump sum
14,416 cubic yards	4	Excavating, removing, and stacking surface soil from site for embankment, filter-beds, tanks, &c., soil to be reserved for soiling slopes, or disposed of as specified	@ per cubic yard
11,043 cubic yards	5	Excavation for the seat of embankment through the lagoon between pegs 400 and 650	@ per cubic yard
1,782 cubic yards	6	Excavation for puddle trench between pegs 400 and 650 below seat prepared for the embankment to whatever depth it may be necessary to with the puddle	@ per cubic yard
3,137 cubic yards	7	Excavation in puddle trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil	@ per cubic yard

Approximate Quantities.	Schedule No.	Item.	Rate.
83,474 cubic yards ...	8	Filling in embankment, including both selected materials and all other sound filling, rammed in place as specified	@ per cubic yard £ s. d. 0 4 6
4,919 cubic yards ...	9	Puddle in trench where deeper than 15 feet below under side of surface soil, and all puddle between pegs 400 and 650 up to surface prepared for seat of embankment	@ per cubic yard 1 0 0
14,802 cubic yards ...	10	Puddle in trench where 15 feet deep and less, and in wall above ground, and all other puddle used in this contract	@ per cubic yard 0 13 6
9,697 super yards ...	11	Soiling and sowing slopes of embankment 9 inches thick	@ per super. yard ... 0 1 4
6,037 super yards ...	12	Soiling 6 inches thick and sodding 3 inches thick on slopes, &c., where required	@ per super. yard ... 0 2 6
100 cubic yards ...	13	Loose stone in rough blocks deposited along foot of embankment and elsewhere, if required	@ per cubic yard 2 0 0
190 cubic yards ...	14	Loose stone broken to 4 inches gauge deposited along toe of embankment	@ per cubic yard 0 9 0
9,995 super yards ...	15	Hand-pitchingslopes of embankment with stone averaging 12 inches thick, on broken stone 6 inches thick, inclusive	@ per super. yard ... 0 18 0
300 super yards ...	16	Hand-pitching, same as above, but 8 inches thick and without broken stone underneath for sides of roads, on slopes or other places required	@ per super. yard ... 0 10 0
611 lineal yards ...	17	Footing courses under fence wall, two courses complete	@ per lineal yard 0 13 0
611 lineal yards ...	18	Curb alongside road under fence	@ per lineal yard ... 0 7 0
611 lineal yards ...	19	Fence wall coped complete	@ per lineal yard 1 6 0
611 lineal yards ...	20	Handrailing along road, finished and painted complete	@ per lineal yard 0 6 0
2,845 lineal feet ...	21	Forming surface of approach roads ready for gravelling including cutting water tables or side drains, where necessary	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 3 0 0
1,765 lineal feet ...	22	Repairing and maintaining Scooby's lane, including gravelling, &c., as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 5 0 0
2,300 lineal feet ...	23	Cutting open intercepting drains where necessary, as specified	@ per 100 lineal feet.. 0 12 0
813 cubic yards ...	24	Metalling on all roadways where required, 2½" gauge (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard ... 0 10 0
1,524 cubic yards ...	25	Ridge gravel on roadways (measured in heap)	@ per cubic yard 0 7 0
409 cubic yards ...	26	Concrete 6 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 2 10 0
1,994 cubic yards ...	27	Concrete 9 to 1, as specified	@ per cubic yard 2 0 0
137 cubic yards ...	28	Dressed stone masonry	@ per cubic yard 4 15 0
5 cubic yards ...	29	Rubble masonry in cement	@ per cubic yard 2 7 6
2,785 cubic yards ...	30	Brickwork in walls, floors, piers, &c.	@ per cubic yard 3 5 0
904 lineal yards ...	31	Moulded brick copings	@ per lineal yard ... 0 2 0
1,284 super. yards ...	32	Rendering ½-inch thick	@ per super. yard ... 0 4 0
298 cubic feet ...	33	Hardwood in girders, corbels, beams, &c.	@ per cubic foot 0 5 0
1,450 super. feet ...	34	" planking	@ per 100 of 1" thick.. 2 0 0
400 super. feet ...	35	" small scantling	@ per 100 of 1" thick.. 2 10 0
1,902 lbs.	36	Wrought iron in bolts, fastenings, plates, bars, ladders, galvanized or plain	@ per lb. 0 0 7
20 cwt.	37	Cast iron in brackets, covers, frames, &c.	@ per cwt..... 1 5 0
28,812 super. feet....	38	Dry-laid brick drain flooring in filter-beds, complete as specified	@ per 100 ft. super. ... 2 10 0
3,228 cubic yards ...	39	Providing and laying washed gravel and sand in filter-beds	@ per cubic yard 0 9 0
80,374 super. feet....	40	Gravelling surface of ground round filter-beds and tanks	@ per 100 ft. square... 0 5 0
1,016 lineal yards ..	41	Providing, laying, and jointing 18" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 18 0
110 lineal yards ..	42	Providing, laying, and jointing 12" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 10 0
.....	43	Providing, laying, and jointing 9" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard ... 0 7 0
18 lineal yards ...	44	Providing, laying, and jointing 6" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 5 0
6 lineal yards ...	45	Providing, laying, and jointing 4" earthenware drain pipes, including opening and closing trenches	@ per lineal yard 0 2 6
150 lineal yards ..	46	Laying, jointing, and testing 24" cast iron pipes, both flanged and socket joints, finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard ... 1 5 0
595 lineal yards ...	47	Laying, jointing, and testing 18" cast-iron pipes, valves, and troughs, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 0 16 6
290 lineal yards ...	48	Laying, jointing, and testing 15" cast-iron pipes, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 0 15
38 lineal yards ...	49	Laying, jointing, and testing 12" cast-iron pipes and valves, both flanged and socket joints, including finding lead, gaskets, &c.	@ per lineal yard 0 10 0
30 super. yards ...	50	Painting three coats, exclusive of priming	@ per super. yard ... 0 2 0
2,250 super. feet ...	51	Stockholm tarring, two coats	@ per 100 feet super. 1 0 0
4,800 super. feet....	52	Coal-tar varnish on pipes, valves, &c., where exposed	@ per 100 feet sup. ... 0 10 0

The estimate of quantities given above is for the convenience of contractors, who must satisfy themselves as to its accuracy. Its correctness is not in any way guaranteed by the Government.

The prices in the preceding Schedule include all labour, material, scaffolding, and workmanship of every kind necessary for the full and perfect completion of the works to the satisfaction of the Engineer-in-Chief.

Name—T. A. BOURKE, & CO.
Address—Wallsend.

To the Secretary for Public Works.

Should the foregoing tender be accepted, we, the undersigned, hereby undertake to deposit with the Secretary for Public Works, within fourteen days from the notification of the acceptance of the said tender, the sum of £3,000 as security for the due performance of the contract.

Name—T. A. BOURKE & CO.,
Wallsend.
HUNTER.

16

No. 3.

Messrs. Greig & Monday to The Under-Secretary for Works.
Walka Reservoir for Deposit.

H. & R. No. 147 W.S.—25/1/83.

Wks. No. 83-369—24/1
23 January, 1883.

Telegram from Armidale Station, addressed to Under-Secretary Public Works.

DEPOSIT on tender Walka Reservoir sent this morning by Joint Stock Bank.

GREIG & MONDAY.

Harbours and Rivers, B.C., 24/1/83.—J.R. The deposit receipt referred to has not come to hand.—E.O.M., 29/1/83.

No. 4.

Messrs. Greig & Monday to The Under-Secretary for Works.

H. & R. No. 220 W.S.—3/2/83.

Wks. No. 83-525—29/1.
27 January, 1883.

Telegram to Armidale Station, addressed to Under-Secretary Public Works.

PLEASE wire result of tender Walka Reservoir. Reply paid at once.

GREIG & MONDAY,
11:30.

Harbours and Rivers, B.C., 30/1/83.—J.R. The matter is, I believe, awaiting the Minister's decision.—E.O.M., 1/2/83. B.C., Under-Secretary Public Works.—P.W.O., 3/2/83. Submitted. Inform—not yet decided, but Greig & Monday not the lowest.—J.R., 5/2/83. Put with other papers.—J.R., 7/2/83. Greig & Monday informed.—6/2/83.

No. 5.

The Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers to The Under-Secretary for Works.

THE lowest tender is that of Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co., but it is only the lowest because of an obvious error in the cost of one of the principal items, namely, that of hand-pitching on the inner slope of the embankment, for which the price named is only 1s. 5d. per yard super.; a fair price for this work would be about 12s. per yard, which would make a difference of about £5,300 in the amount of the tender; and would make it about £2,000 higher than that of Mr. Blunt, the next lowest tenderer. Some of the prices for other portions of the work, which would have to be executed first, are rather high, but generally they are not out of the way. However, as the item first referred to would be for work which would not be executed till towards the latter end, it might be that when we come to it the contractors might refuse to execute it for a price which is so obviously absurd.

There is also another objection to this tender, which is, that the conditions as to the deposit of the sum of £200 in the Treasury, as a guarantee of good faith, which was required in terms of the Gazette notice, has not been complied with—the tender is therefore on this ground informal. I feel bound, therefore, to recommend that it be declined, and that the next lowest tender, which is that of Mr. Blunt, be accepted.

E. O. MORIARTY,
29/1/83.

B.C., Under-Secretary, Public Works.

No. 6.

Messrs. Greig & Monday to The Under-Secretary for Works.

H. & R. No. 381 W.S.—27/2/83.

Wks. No. 83-794—3/2.
31 January, 1883.

Telegram from Armidale Station, addressed to Under-Secretary for Public Works.

PLEASE reply who is successful tenderer for Walka Reservoir.

GREIG & MONDAY,
9 p.m.

Mr. Moriarty, B.C., 5/2/83.—W.F., for U.S. Put with other papers—we have not been informed yet, I think.—J.B., 7/2/83.

No. 7.

The Under-Secretary for Works to Messrs. Greig & Monday.

Gentlemen,

Department of Public Works, Sydney, 6 February, 1883.

Referring to your telegram of the 27th ultimo requesting to be informed the result of tenders for Walka Reservoir, I am directed to inform you that the matter has not been decided upon; however, your tender is not the lowest.

I have, &c.,
JOHN RAE.

No. 8.

Memorandum by Secretary for Works.

LET Clarke Wylie & Co.'s (the lowest tenderers) tender be accepted conditional on their paying the deposit. The mistake referred to is their concern, not ours.—H.C., 7/2/83.

J. Clarke Wylie & Co. to forward deposit.—8/2/83.

No. 9.

17

No. 9.

The Under-Secretary for Works to Messrs. J. Clarke Wylie & Co.

Gentlemen,

Department of Public Works, Sydney, 9 February, 1883.

As your tender dated the 23rd ultimo for the construction of reservoir and works at Walka, for Hunter River water supply, did not contain the preliminary deposit of £200, as set forth in the terms of the general conditions, I am directed to request that you will at once deposit the amount in question in order that your offer may be taken into consideration.

I have, &c.,
JOHN RAE.

No. 10.

Mr. T. A. Bourke to The Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers.

H. & R. No. 320 W.S.—17/2/83.

Wks. No. 83-1,167—19/2.

Sir,

Wallsend, 15 February, 1883.

May I request that my preliminary cash deposit £200 may be returned if I am not the successful tenderer for Walka Reservoir and filtering-beds, West Maitland, Hunter River District water supply.

Yours, &c.,

THOMAS A. BOURKE.

I see no objection to this being done.—E. O. MORIARTY, 16/2/83, B.C., Under-Secretary Public Works. Treasury, 19/2/83; Harbours and Rivers, B.C., 19/2/83.—J.R.

No. 11.

Messrs. J. Clarke Wylie & Co. to The Under-Secretary for Works.

Wks. No. 83-1,180—17/2.

H. & R. No. 331 W.S.—19/2/83.

Respecting deposit to be lodged with tender for Walka Reservoir.

C/o. Honorable J. M. Thompson,

Sir,

98, Elizabeth-street, Sydney, 16 February, 1883.

We have the honor to acknowledge yours re £200 deposit on Walka tender. As the letter only reached us this morning, through our absence from town, we crave your indulgence until noon Monday next; this is necessary in consequence of partners having left Sydney until early train Monday.

We have, &c.,

J. CLARKE WYLIE & CO.

Harbours and Rivers for immediate report, B.C., 17/2/83.—J.R. Wait further communication from M. Wylie & Co.—E.O.M. Under-Secretary Public Works, 17/2/83.

No. 12.

Messrs. J. Clarke Wylie & Co. to The Under-Secretary for Works.

Wks. No. 83/1,267—20/2.

Sir,

J. M. Thompson, Esq., 98, Elizabeth-street, 20 February, 1883.

We have the honor to hand you herewith Treasury receipt for £200, being deposit on our Walka tender.

We have, &c.,

J. CLARKE WYLIE & CO.

New South Wales.

No. 4,153.

The Treasury, 20 February, 1883.

RECEIVED from J. Clarke Wylie & Co. the sum of two hundred pounds sterling, for deposit on tender for contract, viz., Walka Reservoir, West Maitland waterworks.

£200 entd.

N. LOCKYER,
(Pro Treasurer.)

No. 13.

Messrs. Mason Bros. to The Under-Secretary for Works.

Wks. No. 83/-1,270.—21/2.

Respecting Deposit Receipt lodged by Messrs. J. Clarke Wylie & Co., in re Tender for Walka Lagoon.

Sir,

14, Spring-st., Sydney, February, 1883.

Messrs. J. Clarke Wylie & Co. obtained our cheque for £200 (two hundred pounds) for the purpose of depositing it in the Treasury yesterday, in connection with a tender for Walka Reservoir, on representations which were not in accordance with facts subsequently ascertained; we therefore stopped payment of the cheque, and have the honor to ask you to be good enough to do what to you may be considered necessary under the circumstances.

We have, &c.,

JAMES MACDONALD,

Pro Mason Bros.

Inform Clarke Wylie & Co. of contents of this letter.—H.C., 21/3/83. Inquire at Treasury. Will the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade kindly say what is being done in this matter.—B.C., 24/2/83.

No. 14.

Mr. H. A. Smith to The Paymaster, Treasury.

Treasury, No. 1,005.—24 Feb., 1883.—Misc.

Sir, Bank of New South Wales, Sydney, 21 February, 1883.
 Take notice that a cheque drawn by Mason Bros. on the Oriental Bank for the sum of £200, deposited by you in this Bank, has been duly presented for payment and returned, and is now charged to your account. Payment stopped.

I am, &c.,
 H. A. SMITH,
 Acting Accountant.

Submitted. This is the cheque which the gentleman from Mason Bros. saw Mr. Thomson yesterday about. If the entry of the receipt of the money and all parties relating thereto are to be erased from or cancelled in my books, perhaps Mr. Thomson will obtain the Treasurer's approval thereto. The Under-Secretary for Works in such case must be called upon to hand over the Treasury receipt for the same.—W.N., 22/2/83.

Inform the depositor that his cheque has been dishonoured.—J.T., 22/2/83. Done.—W.P., for M.R., 23. See Mr. Newcombe about this.—J.T. Inform also the Under-Secretary for Public Works.—J.T., 22/2/83. Done, 23.—W.P., for M.R. Care Hon. J. M. Thompson, 98, Elizabeth-street. Contract for the construction of waterworks, Walka, Hunter River.—W.F.

No. 15.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to The Under-Secretary for Public Works.

P.O. 330.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 23 February, 1883.

I have the honor to advise you of the fact that a notification has been received from the Bank of New South Wales to the effect that the cheque for £200, as per margin, which was paid into the Treasury on the 20th inst., as deposit on Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co.'s tender for the construction of water-works, Walka, Hunter River, has been returned, payment having been stopped.

Drawn by Messrs.
 Mason Bros. on Oriental Bank
 for £200.
 Inform Wylie.—
 H.C., 24/2/83.

Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co. have been informed.

I have, &c.,
 JAMES THOMSON,
 For the Under-Secretary.

No. 16.

Memorandum by Secretary for Works.

As the deposit has not been made by Clarke Wylie & Co., the lowest tenderers, either in terms of advertisement or in a satisfactory manner since, accept next lowest tender.

H.C., 24/2/83.

Inform Clarke Wylie & Co. and Mr. Blunt.—J.R., 26/2/83. Mr. Moriarty, B.C. J. Clarke Wylie & Co., G. Blunt, Crown Solicitor, Auditor-General, Harbours and Rivers, 27/2/83. Letters not to be sent, as the Minister wishes to reconsider the case.—J.R., 1/3/83.

No. 17.

Memorandum by Secretary for Works.

That tenders for Public Works must be accompanied by a Bank deposit receipt.

Memorandum for Mr. Moriarty and other Heads of Branches.

In all tenders for contracts unless a Bank deposit receipt accompanies each tender such tenders should not be accepted or dealt with as such.—H.C., 24/2/83.

Write to Heads of Branches accordingly.—J.R.
 Railways, Roads, Harbours and Rivers, Colonial Architect.—6/3/83.

No. 18.

Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co. to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Treasury, No. 1,044, 26 February, 1883, Misc.

26 February, 1883.

Telegram from Paddington Station, addressed to Under-Secretary, Treasury.
 Will deposit £200 before noon to-morrow as requested.

J.T.—27/2/83.

J. CLARKE WYLIE & CO.,
 3, Camberwell-terrace, South Head Road.

No. 19.

Memorandum by Secretary for Public Works.

To get rid of the complications in this case I think it desirable to call for fresh tenders.

Mr. Moriarty for Notice.—J.R., 6/3/83., B.C. Notice herewith.—E.O.M., 7/3/83. H.C., 5/3/83. B.C.,
 Under-Secretary for Works. Notice sent to Gazette. Tenders for 10th April.—J.R.

No. 20.

No. 20.

Memorandum.

Re Walka Reservoir, Filtering-tanks, &c., Hunter River District.

TENDERS for the above were sent in on 23rd January, 1883. each tender to be accompanied by a cash deposit for £200, in terms of the general conditions. On their being opened one was found to contain no such deposit of £200 as required, therefore was informal, in not having complied with the conditions of the contract. The Department therefore should have accepted the lowest tender from those which had complied with such conditions, of course providing they were reasonable tenders, and not considered too much in excess of the engineer's estimate. This course of procedure was not carried out, but the tenderer was called for and told to pay his cash deposit (viz., £200), when his tender would be accepted. The other bona-fide contractors were ignorant of what was being done until Mr. Blunt and myself were told by two or three respectable firms that this tenderer had been trying to obtain £200 to make good his tender (this was on 19th February, some three weeks after the tenders were sent in), and on the 21st February I waited on the Minister for Public Works, and pointed out to him the injustice of the transaction. He promised to have the matter settled in strict accordance with the specification and general conditions of the contract. I replied, "That was all I asked for." After waiting some eight or nine days (March 2nd), I again called on him, in company with Mr. Blunt. On this occasion he stated he wished to have the Crown Solicitor's opinion, when he would decide. I again pointed out to him the injustice it would be to bona-fide contractors if fresh tenders were called for. On 6th inst. I called again, when I was informed by the Minister that he had decided to call for fresh tenders. I told him that a great injustice was being done, and that I was determined to have the matter brought before Parliament. The following are my reasons, to enable Honorable Members to see the injustice that has been done, and to have the matter redressed:—

1. Had not the tender in question been sent in, would not the Department have recommended the acceptance of the lowest of the others that had complied with the conditions? I say they certainly would have done so, as there could be no reason to the contrary; such being the case, what was there to prevent them carrying out this course? Surely their wrong-doing in the first place was no excuse for the injustice they are now determined to do to bona-fide contractors, who have gone to considerable time, labour, and expense in making up their tenders, besides having their cash blocked up for the past six weeks.

2nd. I do consider it is the duty of a Minister to see that justice and fair play is done by the heads of Departments in matters of this kind, and so prevent any wrong being done, as has been done, in the present case, for there cannot possibly have been a greater mistake made than to have sent for the tenderer who had not made his cash deposit; for how could they expect he would be in a position to give the further sum of £3,000 as cash security for the due performance of the contract, or even to have funds to procure plant.

WM. WAKEFORD.

The Minister for Works.—I would be glad to have a conversation with my hon. colleague on this matter this evening.—A.S., 9/3/83. The Under-Secretary Public Works, B.C., 9/3/83.—C.W.

No. 21.

The Crown Solicitor to The Under-Secretary for Public Works.

Memo. respecting Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co.'s tender for works at Walka, for Hunter River Water Supply.
Crown Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 13 March, 1883.

As I understand this matter stands thus:—Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co. forwarded a tender for the works, but it was not accompanied by the usual deposit, which in this case should have been for £200. By letter, of date 9th February, 1883, they were requested to at once deposit the amount in question in order that their offer should be taken into consideration. In compliance with this request they made the deposit, by leaving a cheque of Messrs. Mason Bros. at the Treasury, of which payment was afterwards stopped by Mason Bros. No communication accepting their tender was sent to Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co., and it was ultimately resolved that their tender should not be accepted.

Upon my opinion being asked as to whether the Government was under any liability to Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co., I advised that as the only communication made to them by the Department was the letter of 9th February, in which it was stated that if the deposit was made the matter would be taken into consideration, the Government was not liable.

I was aware that the letter sent to Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co. was not in accordance with the minute of the Minister of date 7/2/83, but I do not think that is material. The question is really what were the terms of the letter sent, not whether such letter was in accordance with the intention or the instructions of the Minister, of which of course Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co. were not informed.

JOHN WILLIAMS,
14th March, 1883.

No. 22.

The Under-Secretary for Public Works to Mr. John Robb.

Sir, Department of Public Works, Sydney, 16 March, 1883.

I am directed to inform you that fresh tenders having been invited for the construction of the Walka Reservoir, the amount deposited with your tender for this work will be paid to you or your order at the Treasury upon application.

I have, &c.,
JOHN RAE.

No. 23.

The Under-Secretary for Public Works to Mr. George Blunt.

Sir, Department of Public Works, Sydney, 16 March, 1883.

I am directed to inform you that fresh tenders having been invited for the construction of the Walka Reservoir, the amount deposited with your tender for this work will be paid to you or your order at the Treasury upon application.

I have, &c.,
JOHN RAE.

No. 24.

No. 24.

The Under-Secretary for Works to Messrs. T. Brooks & Co.

Gentlemen, Department of Public Works, Sydney, 16 March, 1883.
I am directed to inform you that fresh tenders having been invited for the construction of the Walka Reservoir, the amount deposited with your tender for this work will be paid to you or your order at the Treasury upon application. I have, &c.,
JOHN RAE.

No. 25.

Messrs. Thos. Brooks & Co. to The Under-Secretary for Works.

Wks. No. 83,133—20/3.

Return of Deposit lodged with Tender for Walka Reservoir.

Sir, Newcastle, N.S.W., 16 March, 1883.
As fresh tenders are called for the Walka waterworks, I beg to apply for a refund of my deposit, namely, £200, that accompanied my tender, and consider the deposit has been retained a most unreasonable time. Trusting no unnecessary delay will occur in complying with my reasonable request. I remain, &c.,
THOS. BROOKS & CO.

Inform that payment will be made on application at the Treasury.—J.R., 30/3/83. Messrs. T. Brooks & Co., Treasury, 2/4/83. Put with other papers relating to the work.

No. 26.

Mr. T. A. Bourke to The Secretary, Harbours and Rivers Department.

536 W.S.—19/3/83.

Wallsend, 17 March, 1883.

I TENDERED for construction of Walka Reservoir, Hunter River water supply, and enclosed therewith Treasury receipt for deposit of £200 to the credit of Commissioner for Public Works.

I applied for return of same some weeks ago, but my application has apparently been overlooked. Now that fresh tenders are called for said works, I have again to request the return of my £200.

It is a serious loss to me to have said sum lying idle in Treasury, and I have again to request its repayment. I have, &c.,
THOMAS A. BOURKE,
Contractor.

See telegram sent to Mr. Bourke this day.—J.B., 19/3/83.

O.H.M.S. 83,536 W.S.

Mr. Thomas A. Bourke, contractor, Wallsend.

THE Treasury were instructed last month to return your cash deposit; perhaps you did not state where it should be paid. Better advise Treasury what to do.

Harbours and Rivers, 19/3/83.

For E. O. MORIARTY,
(J. BARLING.)

No. 27.

Mr. T. A. Bourke to The Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers.

H. & R. No. 589 W.S.—28/3/83.

Sir,

Wallsend, 20 March, 1883.

I am in receipt of your telegram of 19th instant, re deposit Walka Lagoon, Hunter River water supply. I forwarded per Australian Joint Stock Bank, Wallsend, an authority to receive the amount from Treasury, but in case that would not answer the purpose I enclose a signed voucher for amount, as I have been informed it will be necessary to produce some such authority for the refund from your Department. If such is required, I have to request that you will fill in the particulars and give the necessary orders for payment of my cash deposit, £200. I have, &c.,
THOMAS A. BOURKE.

The account is not needed, but I wish Mr. Steel to send to inquire to-day about the matter.—J.B., 21/3/83. Mr. Steel. I find that this money is ready for payment at Treasury.—S. STEEL, 21/3/83 Chief Clerk. Inquire if paid now.—J.B., 27/3/83. Mr. Steel. Mr. Berthon.—J.S.S., 28/3/83.

The Treasury inform me that if the attached vouchers are sent over the money can be paid to Mr Bourke at once.—H.B., 29/3/83. S.S.—29/3/83. Chief Clerk. But the Bank has received the order, ask what they have done.—J.B., 29/3/83. Urgent.—Mr. Steel.

Mr. Berthon to inquire at Bank about this.—S.S., 30/3/83. The Treasury have received the authority, and informed me that the money would probably be paid to-morrow.—H.B., 2/4/83. Tell this to Mr. Bourke.—J.B., 2/4/83. Mr. P. Telegraphed.—2/4/83.

21.

No. 28.

Mr. Charles M. Palmer to The Colonial Secretary

Wks. No. 83/2,387

Treasury, N.S.W., 3 April, 1883.
Exam. Bch.Treasury No. 1,434—22 March, 1883.
Misc.

29.3

Sir,

Bank of New South Wales, Sydney, 21 March, 1883.

Referring to inquiries recently made by your Department, I do myself the honor to inform you that Messrs. Mason Brothers' cheque for £200 still remains unpaid, and at debit of the Government account.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. M. PALMER,

Assistant Secretary,

Bank of New South Wales, £200.—Rev. refd. Mr. Newcombe,—Please have this attended to as early as possible.—J.T., 23/3/83. Mason's cheque referred to as "payment stopped" was paid into the Treasury on the 20th February last as deposit on the tender of Messrs. Clarke Wylie & Co., for Walka Reservoir, West Maitland waterworks.

As the cheque is still unpaid, will the Under-Secretary for Public Works be good enough to inform me in what position the tender of the gentlemen referred to stands.—J.T., for U.S. The Under-Secretary for Public Works, B.C., 27/3/83.

No. D 70,068

Sydney, February 20th, 1883.

New South Wales.

The Oriental Bank Corporation, Sydney.

Pay A. 2,682 _____ or bearer two hundred pounds sterling.
£200. Bank. Cancelled. See 83/1,434.—W.N. Payment stopped.

No. 29.

The Under-Secretary for Works to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Works Department.

PAPERS re Clarke Wylie & Co., tender and deposit of £200 by a cheque which was stopped. Get the paper with the necessary reply thereon.

Forward deposit receipt to the Treasury to be dealt with.—J.R., 31/3/83. Received.—J.T., for U.S., 2/4/83. Examiner,—Refund the sum of £200 to the Bank of New South Wales for the dishonored cheque referred to.—J.T., for U.S., 2/4/83.

No. 30.

Mr. T. Brooks to The Under-Secretary for Works.

Works No. 83/2,282, 5/4.

For return of deposit lodged with tender for Walka Reservoir.

Sir,

Newcastle, New South Wales, 3 April, 1883.

I again beg to remind you that up to date the cash deposit that accompanied my tender for the Walka Reservoir, &c., has not been returned to me in the terms of contract, and beg to request that the amount will be placed to my credit at the Commercial Bank, Newcastle, without further delay.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS BROOKS.

Inform that the deposit has been sent to Treasury for repayment, 5/4/83. Informed on the 2nd instant, see M.P. 83/2,133 attached.

No. 31.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to The Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers.

These are the papers applied for this morning from the Harbours and Rivers Department; they are required there, to lay on the Table of the House.

A.E., 9/4/83.

The Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers.—J.T., for U.S., B.C., 9/4/83. To be returned. H. and R., 83/276. W.S.—J. Russell applying for return of £200 deposit, Walka Reservoir. Wks. 83/1,194.—Ross & Dunbar for return of deposit—£200—Walka Reservoir. H. and R. 83/507, W.S.—Clarke Wylie & Co., for copy of their schedule for Walka Reservoir. The above are not with the papers.

(2.) 1. Thomas Brooks & Co.; 2. G. Blunt; 3. Ross & Dunbar; 4. John Robb; 5. James Russell; 6. Thomas A. Bourke & Co.

(3.) 1. J. Clarke Wylie & Co.—This firm deposited at Treasury on the 20th February, a cheque for £200, as deposit, drawn by Mason Brothers, who immediately after stopped payment of same.

2. Greig & Monday.—Deposit not received until a few days after date of opening tenders.

[1s. 3d.]

Sydney: Thomas Richards, Government Printer.—1883.

351—D

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

TREATY OF FRIENDSHIP, COMMERCE, AND NAVIGATION, BETWEEN HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN AND THE PRINCE OF MONTENEGRO.

(DESPATCH.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Treasury, New South Wales,
12th February, 1883.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Circular Despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, respecting a Treaty of Friendship, Commerce, and Navigation, between Her Majesty and the Prince of Montenegro.

GEORGE R. DIBBS.

(Circular 1.)

Downing-street,
14th June, 1882.

Sir,

I have the honour to transmit to you, for publication in the Colony under your Government, a copy of a Treaty of Friendship, Commerce, and Navigation, between Her Majesty and the Prince of Montenegro, signed on the 21st of January last.

I have to call your attention to Article 14 of the Treaty, from which you will perceive that, if it is desired that the Colony under your Government should come within the operation of the Treaty, notice must be given to the Montenegrin Government within one year from the date of the exchange of the ratifications (May 14, 1882). It will therefore be desirable for you to inform me, at your earliest convenience, of the wishes of your Government in the matter.

I have, &c.,
KIMBERLEY.The Officer Administering
The Government of New South Wales.

TREATY of Friendship, Commerce, and Navigation between Her Majesty and the Prince of Montenegro.

Signed at Cetinje, January 21, 1882.

[Ratifications exchanged at Cetinje, May 14, 1882.]

HER Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Highness the Prince of Montenegro, being desirous of placing on a satisfactory footing the commercial relations between the two States, have with this object determined to conclude a Treaty of Friendship, Commerce, and Navigation, and they have accordingly appointed their respective Plenipotentiaries, that is to say :

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, William Kirby Green, Esquire, Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at the Court of Montenegro ;

And His Highness the Prince of Montenegro, the Voïvode Stanko Radonich, Knight Grand Cross of the most Distinguished Order of Danilo the First, his Minister for Foreign Affairs ;

Who, having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following Articles :—

ARTICLE I.

British subjects who reside temporarily or permanently in Montenegro, and Montenegrin subjects who reside temporarily or permanently in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall enjoy therein with respect to residence, and the exercise of commerce and trade, the same rights as, and shall not be subject to any higher or other impost or taxes, whether general, municipal, or local, than natives, or the subjects of any other country, the most favoured in this respect by either of the Contracting Parties.

British subjects in Montenegro, and Montenegrin subjects in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall enjoy the same treatment as natives, or as is now granted, or may hereafter be granted to the subjects of any other country the most favoured in this respect, with regard to the acquisition, the holding, and the disposal of real property, and all charges on it ; with regard to access to Courts of Law, and in the prosecution and defence of their rights ; and in regard to domiciliary visits to their dwellings, manufactories, warehouses, or shops.

They shall be exempted from billeting, and from all compulsory military service, whether in the army, navy, national guards, or militia. They shall be likewise exempted from all contributions whether pecuniary or in kind, imposed as a compensation for billeting and personal service ; and finally, from forced loans, and military exactions, or requisitions, as well as from all judicial or municipal functions whatever, other than those imposed by the laws relating to juries.

ARTICLE II.

The produce and manufactures of, as well as all goods coming from the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, which are imported into Montenegro, and the produce or manufactures of, as well as all goods coming from, Montenegro, which are imported into the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, whether intended for consumption, warehousing, re-exportation, or transit, shall be treated in the same manner as, and in particular, shall be subject to no higher or other duties or surcharges, whether general, municipal, or local, than the produce, manufactures, and other goods of any third country the most favoured in this respect, except as regards such special facilities, as have been, or may hereafter be, conceded on the part of Montenegro to the neighbouring States, with respect to the traffic in local produce and manufactures between their continuous frontier districts. No other or higher duties shall be levied in Montenegro, on the exportation of any goods to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland ; or in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, on the exportation of any goods to Montenegro, than may be levied on the exportation of any like goods to any third country the most favoured in this respect.

Neither of the Contracting Parties shall establish a prohibition of importation, exportation, or transit, against the other, which shall not under the like circumstances be applicable to any third country the most favoured in this respect. In like manner, all that relates to local dues, Customs' formalities, brokerage, patterns or samples, introduced by commercial travellers, and all other matters connected with trade, British subjects in Montenegro, and Montenegrin subjects in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall enjoy the most-favoured-nation treatment.

ARTICLE III.

All British produce or manufactured goods shall be imported into Montenegro free of all duties or charges, with the exception only of such dues as shall be levied for custom-house portage, public weighing, and for the maintenance and improvement of quays and custom-house buildings.

SA Majesté la Reine du Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, et Son Altesse le Prince de Monténégro désirant placer sur une base satisfaisante les relations commerciales entre les deux États, ont, dans ce but, résolu de conclure un Traité d'Amitié, de Commerce, et de Navigation, et ont, à cet effet, nommé pour leurs Plénipotentiaires respectifs, savoir :

Sa Majesté la Reine du Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, Monsieur William Kirby Green, Compagnon de l'Ordre Très-Distingué de Saint-Michel et de Saint-George, son Chargé d'Affaires près la Cour du Monténégro ;

Et Son Altesse le Prince de Monténégro, le Voïvode Stanko Radonich, Grand Cordon de l'Ordre Très-Distingué de Danilo Premier, son Ministre des Affaires Étrangères ;

Losquels, après s'être communiqué leurs pleins pouvoirs, trouvés en bonne et due forme, sont tombés d'accord et ont arrêté les Articles suivants :—

ARTICLE I.

Les sujets Britanniques qui résident d'une manière soit temporaire soit permanente en Monténégro ; et les sujets Monténégrins qui résident d'une manière soit temporaire soit permanente dans le Royaume de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, y jouiront par rapport à la résidence, et à l'exercice du commerce et de l'industrie, des mêmes droits, et ne seront assujettis à aucun impôt ou taxe, général, municipal, ou local, autre ou plus élevé que les nationaux, ou les sujets de toute autre Puissance la plus favorisée sous ce rapport, par les Parties Contractantes.

Les sujets Britanniques au Monténégro, et les sujets Monténégrins dans le Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, jouiront du même traitement que les nationaux, ou les sujets de la nation la plus favorisée sous le rapport de l'acquisition, la possession, et l'alienation d'immeubles, et de tout charge sur ces immeubles ; sous le rapport de l'accès aux Tribunaux, de la poursuite, et de la défense de leurs droits ; et en ce qui regarde les visites domiciliaires à leurs domiciles, leurs fabriques, leurs magasins, ou leurs boutiques.

En outre, ils seront dispensés de fournir des logements aux troupes, et de tout service militaire obligatoire, dans l'armée, la marine, la garde nationale, ou la milice. Ils seront de même exempts de toute contribution en argent, ou en matière, imposée comme compensation pour le logement de troupes, ou pour le service personnel ; et, en dernier lieu, d'emprunts forcés, et de prestations, et réquisitions militaires, ainsi que de toutes fonctions judiciaires ou municipales quelconques, à l'exception des fonctions qui sont imposées par les lois en ce qui concerne les jurys.

ARTICLE II.

Les produits et manufactures, ainsi que toutes les marchandises provenant du Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, qui sont importés au Monténégro, et les produits et manufactures, ainsi que toutes les marchandises provenant du Monténégro, qui sont importés dans le Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, destinés à la consommation, l'entrepôt, la ré-exportation, ou le transit, seront traités de la même manière, et spécialement, ne seront assujettis à aucuns droits ou taxes additionnelles, généraux, municipaux, ou locaux, autres, ou plus élevés, que les produits, les manufactures, et les marchandises de toute tierce Puissance la plus favorisée sous ce rapport, excepté en ce qui concerne les facilités spéciales, qui ont été, ou qui pourront être, concédées plus tard par le Monténégro, aux États voisins, par rapport au trafic en manufactures et produits locaux entre leurs districts frontières limitrophes. Aucun droit autre, ou plus élevé, ne sera prélevé dans le Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, sur l'exportation d'aucune marchandise au Monténégro, ni en Monténégro sur l'exportation d'aucune marchandise au Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, que ceux qui pourront être perçus sur l'exportation des mêmes marchandises dans un tiers pays le plus favorisé sous ce rapport.

Aucune des Parties Contractantes n'établira à l'égard de l'autre une prohibition contre l'importation, l'exportation, ou le transit, qui dans les mêmes circonstances ne sera pas applicable à tout tiers pays le plus favorisé sous ce rapport.

De même, pour tout ce qui concerne les droits locaux, les formalités de Douane, le courtage, les dessins de fabrique, ou les échantillons introduits par les commis-voyageurs, ainsi que toutes les autres affaires commerciales, les sujets Britanniques au Monténégro, et les sujets Monténégrins dans le Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, jouiront du traitement de la nation la plus favorisée.

ARTICLE III.

Toutes les marchandises d'origine ou de manufacture Britannique seront importées au Monténégro libres de tout droit ou taxe, à l'exception seulement des droits qui seront perçus pour le factage, quand ce service est fait par les employés de la Douane, ou pour le passage public, ou pour le maintien et l'amélioration des quais ou des bâtiments de la Douane.

And any reduction in these dues, granted to the goods or manufactures of any third Power, shall be at once and unconditionally extended to British produce or manufactured goods.

The Montenegrin Government reserves, however, the right of levying an import duty on British manufactures and produce, when it shall deem it expedient. Nevertheless the Montenegrin Government binds itself to give the British Government previous notice of such decision six months before the measure is put in force, and engages further that such rate of duty shall not exceed 8 per cent. ad valorem.

The Montenegrin Government engages, moreover, not to levy any such duties except when they are also applicable to the like manufactures and products of all other foreign countries.

The following articles are excepted from the right of free importation into Montenegro, viz. :—

Arms of all kinds.
Gunpowder and other explosives.
Munitions of war.
Salt.
Saltpetre.
Sulphur.
Spirits.
Tobacco.
Wines.

The above products shall be subject in Montenegro to the same conditions as the like products of any third Power, the most favoured in this respect.

ARTICLE IV.

The duties ad valorem which may hereafter be levied in Montenegro, on British produce or manufactured goods, shall be calculated on the value at the place of production or fabrication of the article imported, with the addition of the cost of transport, insurance or commission, necessary for its importation into Montenegro, as far as the port of discharge or place of entry.

For the levying of these dues, the importer shall make a written declaration at the custom-house, stating the value and description of the goods imported. If the Custom-house authorities are of opinion that the declared value is insufficient, they shall be at liberty to take the goods on paying to the importer the price declared, namely, the value at the place of production or fabrication of the article imported, with the addition of the cost of transport, insurance, and commission necessary for importation into Montenegro, as far as the port of discharge or place of entry, with an addition of 5 per cent.

This payment, together with the restitution of any duty which may have been levied upon such goods, shall be made within fifteen days following the declaration.

Goods, unaccompanied by the abovementioned declaration, will not be entitled to the benefit of paying the ad valorem duties stipulated in the present Treaty, but shall be subject to the specific or other duties imposed by the Montenegrin Government.

ARTICLE V.

The Montenegrin Government reserves to itself the right, after an understanding with Her Majesty's Legation, to limit to certain places the Custom-houses through which goods charged ad valorem may enter Montenegro.

The Montenegrin Government likewise reserves to itself the right to require that the importer shall produce, together with his declaration of value on the entry of the goods into Montenegro, one or other, at his option, of the following documents, namely :—

1. A declaration of value made before the magistrate at the place of manufacture or production.
2. A certificate of value from the Chamber of Commerce at the place of production; or
3. A declaration of value made before the nearest Montenegrin Consul. The fee of such Consul on certifying this declaration shall not exceed 5s.

ARTICLE VI.

The Montenegrin Government opens to the produce and manufactures of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and to the produce and manufactures of British Colonies and foreign possessions, all its ports, harbours, and all landing-places or quays on its rivers or other waters, where merchandise is permitted to be landed, and all custom-houses, free of all custom-house duties and charges, but without prejudice to the stipulations of Articles III, VIII, and XII of this present Treaty.

ARTICLE VII.

If one of the Contracting Parties shall impose an excise tax, that is to say, an inland duty, upon any article of home production or manufacture, an equivalent compensatory duty may be imposed on articles of the same description on their importation from the territories of the other Power, provided that the said equivalent duty is levied on like articles on their importation from all foreign countries.

Et toute réduction de ces taxes additionnelles qui pourra être accordée aux produits ou manufactures de toute tierce Puissance, sera étendue immédiatement, et sans conditions, aux mêmes articles d'origine ou de manufacture Britannique.

Le Gouvernement Monténégrin se réserve, cependant, la faculté de prélever un droit d'entrée sur les produits du Royaume-Uni et d'Irlande, lorsqu'il jugera le moment opportun. Toutefois le Gouvernement Monténégrin s'oblige à donner avis préalable au Gouvernement Britannique de cette décision six mois avant son entrée en vigueur, et s'engage en outre que le montant d'un tel droit n'excédera pas 8 pour cent ad valorem.

De même le Gouvernement Monténégrin s'engage de ne pas percevoir de pareilles droits que quand ils sont aussi applicables aux manufactures et produits similaires de tout autre pays étranger.

Les articles suivants sont exceptés du droit de libre entrée dans le Monténégro, savoir :—

Armes de toute espèce.
Poudre à canon, et autres matériaux explosibles.
Munitions de guerre.
Le sel.
Le salpêtre.
Le soufre.
Les alcools.
Le tabac.
Les vins.

Les produits sus-mentionnés seront assujettis au Monténégro aux mêmes conditions que les produits similaires de toute autre tierce Puissance la plus favorisée sous ce rapport.

ARTICLE IV.

Les droits ad valorem que pourraient être prélevés au Monténégro sur les marchandises d'origine ou de manufacture du Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, seraient calculés sur la valeur de l'objet importé, au lieu de production, ou de fabrication, en y ajoutant les frais de transport, d'assurance, et de commission nécessaires pour l'importation au Monténégro, jusqu'au port de décharge ou lieu d'entrée.

Pour la perception de ces droits, l'importateur remettra à la douane une déclaration écrite indiquant la valeur et la nature des marchandises importées. Si la Douane était d'avis que la valeur déclarée est insuffisante, elle pourrait garder les marchandises en payant à l'importateur le prix déclaré, c'est-à-dire la valeur de l'objet importé, au lieu de production ou de fabrication, augmentée des frais de transport, d'assurance, et de commission nécessaires à l'importation au Monténégro, jusqu'au port de décharge ou lieu d'entrée, et de 5 pour cent additionnels.

Ce paiement, ainsi que le remboursement de tout droit acquittés par les dites marchandises, auront lieu dans le quinze jours qui suivraient la déclaration.

Les marchandises non accompagnés de la dite déclaration ne seront pas admises au paiement des droits ad valorem, stipulés par le présent Traité, mais seraient assujetties aux droits spécifiques ou autres décrétés par le Gouvernement Monténégrin.

ARTICLE V.

Le Gouvernement Monténégrin se réserve le droit de limiter, d'accord avec la Légation de Sa Majesté Britannique, à certaines localités, les douanes par lesquelles les marchandises assujetties aux droits ad valorem pourraient être introduites au Monténégro.

Le Gouvernement Monténégrin se réserve de même le droit d'exiger de l'importateur, qu'il produise à l'introduction au Monténégro des marchandises, outre la déclaration de valeur, un des documents suivants, laissé à son choix :—

1. Une déclaration de valeur dressée par devant le magistrat du lieu de production de la marchandise.
2. Un certificat de valeur délivré par la Chambre de Commerce du lieu de production; or
3. Une déclaration de valeur dressée par devant le Consul Monténégrin du lieu le plus proche. La taxe à percevoir par le dit Consul pour la délivrance de cette pièce ne pourrait excéder 5s. (2 fl. 50 kr.).

ARTICLE VI.

Le Gouvernement Monténégrin ouvre aux produits et manufactures du Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, et aux produits et manufactures des Colonies et des possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique, tous ses ports et ses havres, et tous les débarcadères et quais de ses rivières et autres eaux, où le débarquement de la marchandise est permis, et toutes ses douanes, libres de tout droit ou impôt de douane, mais sans porter atteinte aux stipulations des Articles III, VIII, et XII de ce Traité.

ARTICLE VII.

Si l'une des Parties Contractantes établit un droit d'accise, c'est-à-dire, un droit intérieur, sur un produit quelconque du sel et de l'industrie nationale, un droit compensateur équivalent pourra être perçu sur les produits similaires importés du territoire de l'autre Puissance, pourvu que le dit droit compensateur soit perçu sur les produits similaires à leur importation de tout autre pays étranger.

In the event of the reduction or suppression of excise taxes—that is to say, inland duties—a corresponding reduction or suppression shall at the same time be made in the equivalent compensatory duty on manufactures of British or Montenegrin origin, as the case may be.

ARTICLE VIII.

Every favour or immunity which has been, or may hereafter be, granted by one of the Contracting Parties to the subjects or commerce of a third Power, shall be granted simultaneously and unconditionally to the other, except as regards such special facilities as have been, or may hereafter be, conceded on the part of Montenegro to the neighbouring States with respect to the local traffic between their contiguous frontier districts.

ARTICLE IX.

British subjects in Montenegro, and Montenegrin subjects in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall enjoy the same rights as natives, or as are now granted, or may hereafter be granted, to the subjects of any third Power the most favoured in this respect, in everything relating to the property in trade-marks, or trade labels or tickets, as well as in patterns or designs for manufactures.

It is understood that any person who desires to obtain the aforesaid protection must fulfil the formalities required by the laws of the respective countries.

ARTICLE X.

Each of the Contracting Parties may appoint Consuls-General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls, Pro-consuls and Consular Agents to reside respectively in the towns and ports of the Contracting Parties where the Consular Officers of these different classes of the most favoured nation have received or may receive authorization to reside. Such Consular Officers, however, shall not enter upon their functions until after they shall have been approved and admitted in the usual form by the Government to which they are sent. They shall exercise whatever functions, and enjoy whatever privileges, exemptions, and immunities, are or may hereafter be granted there to Consular Officers of the most favoured nation.

ARTICLE XI.

It is agreed that, as regards freights and all other facilities, British goods conveyed over Montenegrin railways or publicly-constructed high roads, and Montenegrin goods conveyed over British railways, shall be treated in exactly the same manner as the goods of any other nation the most favoured in that respect.

ARTICLE XII.

British ships and their cargoes shall in Montenegro, and Montenegrin ships and their cargoes in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, from whatever place arriving, and whatever may be the place of origin or destination of their cargoes, shall be treated in every respect as national ships and their cargoes.

The preceding stipulation applies to local treatment, dues, and charges in the ports, basins, docks, roadsteads, harbours, and rivers of the two countries, pilotage, and generally to all matters connected with navigation, without prejudice to the Rules and Regulations of the Maritime and Sanitary Police and of the Maritime Code in force in Montenegro.

Every favour or exemption in these respects, or any other privilege in matters of navigation, which either of the Contracting Parties shall grant to a third Power shall be extended immediately and unconditionally to the other Party.

All vessels which, according to British law, are to be deemed British vessels, and all vessels which, according to the laws in force in Montenegro, are to be deemed Montenegrin vessels, shall, for the purposes of this Treaty, be respectively deemed British or Montenegrin vessels.

ARTICLE XIII.

The Consuls-General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls, Pro-Consuls, and Consular Agents of each of the Contracting Parties residing in the dominions and possessions of the other, shall receive from the local authorities such assistance as can by law be given to them for the recovery of deserters, not being slaves, from the merchant vessels of their respective countries.

ARTICLE XIV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to all the Colonies and foreign Possessions of Her Britannic Majesty, so far as the laws permit, excepting to those hereinafter named, that is to say, except to—

The Dominion of Canada,
Newfoundland,
The Cape,
Natal,
New South Wales,

Dans le cas de réduction ou suppression des droits d'accise—c'est-à-dire, droits intérieurs—une réduction équivalente ou suppression sera en même temps opérée sur le droit compensateur prélevé sur les produits d'origine Britannique ou Monténégrine, selon le cas.

ARTICLE VIII.

Toute faveur et immunité qui a été, ou qui pourra être, accordée par l'une des Parties Contractantes aux sujets ou au commerce d'une tierce Puissance, sera accordée simultanément, et sans conditions, à l'autre, excepté en ce qui concerne les facilités spéciales qui ont été ou qui pourront être, accordées plus tard par le Monténégro aux Etats voisins, par rapport au trafic local entre leurs districts frontières limitrophes.

ARTICLE IX.

Les sujets Britanniques en Monténégro, et les sujets Monténégrins dans le Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, jouiront des mêmes droits que les nationaux, ou de ceux qui sont présentement accordés, ou qui pourront être accordés à l'avenir, aux sujets de toute tierce Puissance la plus favorisée sous ce rapport, pour tout ce qui concerne la propriété, soit des marques de commerce, ou autres marques particulières indiquant l'origine ou la qualité des marchandises, soit des modèles ou dessins de fabrique.

Il est entendu que toute personne qui veut obtenir la dite protection doit se conformer aux formalités demandées par les lois des pays respectifs.

ARTICLE X.

Chacun des Parties Contractantes pourra nommer des Consuls-Généraux, Consuls, Vice-Consuls, Pro-Consuls, et Agents Consulaires pour résider dans les villes et ports des Puissances Contractantes où les Agents Consulaires de ces diverses dénominations de la nation la plus favorisée ont obtenu ou pourront obtenir l'autorisation de résider. Ces Agents Consulaires n'entrent cependant pas en fonctions avant d'avoir été reconnus et admis dans la forme habituelle par le Gouvernement auprès duquel ils sont accrédités. Ils auront le droit d'exercer les mêmes fonctions, et ils jouiront des mêmes privilèges, exemptions, et immunités, qui sont, ou qui seront à l'avenir, accordés aux Agents Consulaires de la nation la plus favorisée.

ARTICLE XI.

Il est convenu que, en ce qui regarde les frais de transport et toute autre facilité, les marchandises Britanniques transportées sur les chemins de fer Monténégrins ou sur les chaussées construites par l'Etat en Monténégro, et les marchandises Monténégrines transportées sur les chemins de fer Britanniques, seront traitées exactement de la même manière que les marchandises de toute autre nation la plus favorisée sous ce rapport.

ARTICLE XII.

Les navires Britanniques et leurs cargaisons au Monténégro, et les navires Monténégrins et leurs cargaisons dans le Royaume-Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande, à leur arrivée d'un port quelconque, et quel que soit le lieu d'origine ou de destination de leur cargaison, jouiront, sous tous les rapports, du même traitement que les navires nationaux et leurs cargaisons.

La stipulation précédente se réfère au traitement local, aux droits, et aux frais dans les ports, les bassins, les docks, les rades, les havres, et les rivières des deux pays, au pilotage, et en général à tout ce qui se rapporte à la navigation, sans porter atteinte aux Règlements de la Police Maritime et Sanitaire et du Code Maritime en vigueur au Monténégro.

Toute faveur ou exemption sous ces rapports, ou tout autre privilège en fait de navigation, que l'une des Parties Contractantes accordera à une tierce Puissance, sera immédiatement, et sans conditions, étendu à l'autre Partie.

Tout navire qui, en conformité des lois Britanniques, doit être considéré comme navire Britannique, et tout navire Monténégrin qui, en conformité des lois en vigueur au Monténégro, doit être considéré comme navire Monténégrin, seront, pour l'application du présent Traité, considérés réciproquement comme navires Britanniques ou Monténégrins.

ARTICLE XIII.

Les Consuls-Généraux, Consuls, Vice-Consuls, Pro-Consuls, et Agents Consulaires de chacun des Parties Contractantes résidant dans les états ou possessions de l'autre recevront de la part des autorités locales toute l'assistance qui pourra leur être accordée d'après la loi, pour la remise des déserteurs, non esclaves, des navires marchands, de leurs pays respectifs.

ARTICLE XIV.

Les stipulations du présent Traité seront applicables à toutes les Colonies ou Possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique, en tant qu'il est permis par les lois, à l'exception de celles ci-dessous énumérées, savoir :—

Le Canada,
Terre Neuve,
Le Cap,
Natal,
La Nouvelle Galles du Sud,

Victoria,
Queensland,
Tasmania,
South Australia,
Western Australia,
New Zealand.

Victoria,
Queensland,
La Tasmanie,
L'Australie Méridionale,
L'Australie de l'Ouest,
La Nouvelle Zélande.

Provided always, that the stipulations of the present Treaty shall be made applicable to any of the above-named Colonies or foreign Possessions on whose behalf notice to that effect shall have been given by Her Britannic Majesty's Representative at the Court of Montenegro to the Montenegrin Minister for Foreign Affairs, within one year from the date of the exchange of the ratifications of the present Treaty.

Il est, néanmoins, convenu que les stipulations du présent Traité seront applicables à celles des Colonies ou Possessions étrangères ci-dessus énumérées au nom desquelles une notification à cet effet aurait été adressée par le Représentant de Sa Majesté Britannique près la Cour du Monténégro au Ministre des Affaires Etrangères de Monténégro, avant l'expiration d'une année à partir de la date de l'échange des ratifications du présent Traité.

ARTICLE XV.

ARTICLE XV.

The present Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications exchanged at Cetinje, as soon as possible after its signature. It shall come into force immediately after the exchange of ratifications, and shall remain in force for ten years from that date. In case neither of the two Contracting Parties shall have given notice, twelve months before the expiration of the said period of ten years, of their intention of terminating the present Treaty, it shall remain in force until the expiration of one year from the day on which either of the Contracting Parties shall have given such notice.

Le présent Traité sera ratifié, et les ratifications on seront échangées à Cetinje, le plus tôt que faire se pourra après sa signature. Il sera mis en exécution immédiatement après l'échange des ratifications, et demeurera en vigueur pendant dix ans à partir de cette date. Dans le cas où aucune des deux Parties Contractantes n'aura fait notifier douze mois avant l'expiration de la dite période de dix ans son intention de faire cesser les effets du présent Traité, il restera en vigueur jusqu'à l'expiration d'une année, à compter du jour où l'une ou l'autre des Parties Contractantes en fera la dénonciation.

In witness whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed it, and affixed to it the seal of their office.

En foi de quoi, les Plénipotentiaires respectifs l'ont signé, et y ont apposé le sceau de leurs chancelleries.

Done at Cetinje, the twenty-first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Fait à Cetinje, le vingt et unième jour du mois de Janvier, mil huit cent quatre-vingt-deux.

(L.S.) W. KIRBY GREEN.
(L.S.) V. S. RADONICH.

(L.S.) W. KIRBY GREEN.
(L.S.) V. S. RADONICH.

Protocol of the 21st January, 1882.

Protocole du 21 Janvier, 1882.

The undersigned, Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and His Highness the Prince of Montenegro, having met in conference, have taken into consideration the following subject:—

Les soussignés, Plénipotentiaires de Sa Majesté la Reine du Royaume Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande et de Son Altesse le Prince de Monténégro, s'étant réunis en conférence, ont pris en considération ce qui suit:—

They have directed their attention to the fact that, although, by Article III of the Treaty signed this day between Her Britannic Majesty and the Prince of Montenegro, all British produce or manufactured goods shall be imported into Montenegro free of all duties or charges, with the exception only of such dues as shall be levied for custom-house portorage, public weighing, and for the maintenance and improvement of quays and custom-house buildings, yet that British goods and manufactures are actually subjected to a tax of four per cent., through the levying of the existing interior duty to this amount on all sales of foreign goods. They have consequently resolved to declare that, whenever the Montenegrin Government puts in force its reserved right, contained in paragraph 3 of Article III of the Treaty, of levying an import duty not exceeding eight per cent. ad valorem on British produce and manufactures, the above-mentioned interior tax of four per cent. on sales effected in the Principality shall at once cease to be leviable.

Ils ont pris note du fait que, quoique par l'Article III du Traité signé aujourd'hui entre Sa Majesté Britannique et le Prince de Monténégro, toutes les marchandises d'origine ou de manufacture Britannique seront importées au Monténégro libres de tout droit au taxe, à l'exception seulement des droits qui seront perçus pour le factage quand ce service est fait par les employés de la Douane, ou pour le pesage public, ou pour le maintien et l'amélioration des quais ou des bâtiments de la Douane, néanmoins les produits et manufactures Britanniques sont actuellement assujettis à une taxe de quatre pour cent, par la perception du droit intérieur, déjà existant, de quatre pour cent sur toute vente de produit étranger. Conséquemment ils ont décidé d'affirmer qu' aussitôt que le Gouvernement Monténégro met en vigueur le droit réservé, contenu dans l'alinéa 3 de l'Article III du Traité, savoir, de prélever un droit d'entrée qui n'excède pas huit pour cent ad valorem sur les produits et manufactures Britanniques, la susdite taxe intérieure de 4 pour cent sur les ventes réalisées dans la Principauté cessera immédiatement d'être perceptible.

They further declare that the said existing interior tax on sales of foreign goods and manufactures shall not be raised above four per cent., and that any reduction in this tax granted to the goods and manufactures of any third Power shall at once and unconditionally be extended to British produce or manufactures.

De plus, les soussignés Plénipotentiaires déclarent que la dite taxe intérieure qui existe déjà sur la vente des produits et manufactures étrangères, ne pourra jamais excéder quatre pour cent, et que toute réduction qui pourra être accordée aux produits ou manufactures de toute tierce Puissance, sera étendue immédiatement et sans conditions aux articles d'origine ou de manufacture Britannique.

The other provisions of Article III remain in force, as they have been agreed upon in the Treaty.

Les autres stipulations de l'Article III restent en vigueur telles qu'elles étaient réglées dans le Traité.

This Protocol shall be regarded and acted upon as forming part of the Treaty in question, and shall be ratified with it at once and the same time.

Ce Protocole sera considéré et mis en opération comme partie intégrale du susdit Traité, et sera ratifié en même temps que le Traité.

In witness whereof, the undersigned have drawn up the present Protocol, to which they have affixed the seals of their office.

En foi de quoi, les Soussignés ont dressé le présent Protocole, qu'ils ont revêtu du sceau de leurs Chancelleries.

Done at Cetinje, the twenty-first day of the month of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Fait à Cetinje, le vingt et unième jour du mois de Janvier, de l'an mil huit cent quatre-vingt-deux.

(L.S.) W. KIRBY GREEN.
(L.S.) V. S. RADONICH.

(L.S.) W. KIRBY GREEN.
(L.S.) V. S. RADONICH.

1883.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

HYDE, PHILLIP, AND COOK PARKS.

(REPORT OF TRUSTEES FOR YEARS 1881 AND 1882.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 1 May, 1883.

The Chairman of the Trustees to The Secretary for Lands.

Sir,

Board-room, Hyde Park, 25 October, 1882.

I have the honor, as Chairman of the Trustees of Hyde, Phillip, and Cook Parks, to transmit accounts of their receipts and expenditure during the past and present year up to the 30th of September. The Trustees submit with these accounts the following report of their operations during their tenure of office:—

2. All the old paths in Hyde Park, with one in Phillip, and one in Cook Park, have been laid down with asphalt. When taken charge of they were scarcely traversable. They are now in thorough repair. New paths have been constructed in directions previously used over the grass. The number of yards of walks asphalted, some of these 14 feet wide, and only one as narrow as 8 feet, is 1,567.

3. One large flower-bed at the Cook statue and fourteen smaller beds in other parts of Hyde Park have been made, all of which are kept in good order. A greater supply of water, if allowed by the city authorities, in three or four additional places, would be greatly in aid of these areas. Most of them have been enclosed by a light iron railing, and, with sufficient funds, the remainder will be similarly protected. In the whole there are above 2,000 feet of this iron railing erected at present.

4. Many additional seats have been placed along the walks, and some of the unsightly wooden palisades enclosing the old plantations have been removed, also many unsightly trees and shrubs, thus throwing the remaining trees and plants open to view. The original first-formed long walk, east of the great avenue, has been re-formed, and a number of seats are placed at intervals along it.

5. An ornamental pavilion has been erected on the northern section of the park, facing Park-street, for use as a Board-room; it is also a tool-house and place of deposit for seeds, and a dining-room for the workmen, to whom it affords protection in wet weather. Contracts have been entered into for enclosing the pavilion in front with a light iron railing. The ground enclosed will then be laid out in various beds, and planted with shrubs, plants, and flowers. The ground at the back will be enclosed with a close wooden fence, to hide the manure and rubbish heaps. In this enclosure the Trustees intend to erect a propagating house and potting-shed, and also urinals and closets.

6. The Trustees propose to make five other enclosures for flowering shrubs and plants, two in the north-eastern and three in the south-western sections. A row of trees will also be planted in the park, parallel with College-street, and similar rows parallel with Park-street.

7. Levelling the park has been carried on to a great extent in the north-eastern section, between seven and eight thousand loads of street-sweepings having been used for that purpose.

8. The park is still infested with stray goats, which cannot wholly be kept out so long as the owners remain unprosecuted for allowing them to wander in the streets. Improper persons of course also intrude. It is obviously impracticable to exclude people merely because they are suspected to be improper characters, and disorderly scenes after dusk (there being never more than two constables on duty) may therefore be expected. On four occasions several plants have been rooted out and stolen from the enclosures, but in general the frequenters of the parks are well conducted and more readily attend to the regulations.

9. Nevertheless, more policemen are greatly needed, especially at night, and at least eight more lamps ought to be erected. It must be borne in mind that Hyde Park alone, divided by a public road and open on all sides, at all hours, contains 44 acres, and that above 17,000 persons pass daily through it in all directions.

10. Finally, although much remains to be done, the Trustees invite attention to the present state of the parks, especially contrasted with what they were two years ago, in the belief that they are, as places of pleasurable resort, becoming rapidly worthy of the metropolis.

W. H. CATLETT,
Secretary.

For the Trustees,
ALFRED STEPHEN,
Chairman.

