NEW SOUTH WALES
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

ELECTORAL DISTRICT OF COOGEE

Order and Judgment of Court of Disputed Returns

CLEARY v. FREEMAN

Ordered to be printed, 7 August, 1974

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES
COURT OF DISPUTED RETURNS

Coram: SLATTERY, J.

23RD MAY, 1974

IN THE MATTER OF THE ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY FOR THE ELECTORAL DISTRICT OF COOGEE

JUDGMENT

HIS HONOUR: This is a petition pursuant to Part VI of the Parliamentary Electorates and Elections Act, 1912 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act"), by Michael Arthur Cleary (hereinafter referred to as "the petitioner"), challenging the return of Ross Buchanan Freeman (hereinafter referred to as "the respondent") as the lawfully elected member for the electoral district of Coogee in the election of members to the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, which was held on Saturday, 17th November, 1973. The petitioner, the respondent, Betty Stepkovitch and Ann Sutherland, were candidates for this electoral district.

On or about 30th November, 1973, following distribution of preferences, the returning officer declared the respondent had received 14,441 votes and the petitioner 14,418. Informal votes were recorded as 751. On 30th November, 1973, the petitioner sought in writing, and was granted, a recount, which was carried out on 1st and 2nd December, 1973. After distribution of preferences the petitioner received 14,408 and the respondent 14,406. Informal votes were 801. On the written application of the respondent a further recount was conducted on 4th and 5th December, 1973. In this recount the petitioner received 14,369 and the respondent 14,377. Informal votes were 869. Before any declaration of the poll, which was made on 6th December, the petitioner requested the returning officer to recount all ballot papers. He refused this application. The point was made in the petition that the returning officer unreasonably refused the petitioner's application and further, by virtue of the closeness of the voting and other matters referred to in the petition, the returning officer erred in not ordering, on his own motion, a recount of all ballot papers. As the return date of the writ for the election was 7th December, 1973, and the poll had produced 28,746 valid votes and 869 informal votes which had taken the returning officer and his staff two days to carry out each recount, I do not regard the returning officer's refusal or failure to order a recount as unreasonable in the circumstances.

On 24th December, 1973, the petitioner instituted proceedings under Pt VI of the Act claiming the following declaration:

1. That the respondent was not duly elected as member for the electoral district of Coogee at the election.
2. That the petitioner was duly elected as a member for the electoral district of Coogee at the election.
3. Alternatively that the said election was absolutely void.

On 3rd January, 1974, the State Electoral Commissioner acknowledged to the Prothonotary receipt of a copy of the petition and he advised he did not expect it would be necessary for an appearance to be entered on his behalf as provided by s. 160 of the Act. At no stage since the day the petition was first mentioned in Court on 1st February, 1974, has the Electoral Commissioner sought leave of the Court to enter an appearance. On 26th March, 1974, during the hearing of the petition, I directed:

- (i) The Prothonotary should bring to the notice of the Electoral Commissioner, the likelihood of submissions being made by counsel which could reflect upon the conduct and duties of officers performing electoral duties at the general election on 17th November, 1973;
- (ii) The Prothonotary should draw the Electoral Commissioner's attention to his rights pursuant to s. 160 of the Act; and
- (iii) The Prothonotary should enquire whether the Electoral Commissioner wished to enter an appearance in the proceedings, to call evidence and to make submissions.

On the same day the Electoral Commissioner, after referring to the appointment of returning officers by the Governor and their autonomy in carrying out their duties, informed the Court by letter:

"In the circumstances I do not feel that I would be in a position to offer any assistance to the Court by my appearance and in the circumstances, I wish to adhere to my previous advice that it is not my intention to seek leave to appear."

The petition was notified in the Government Gazette on 4th January, 1974. Notice of appearance was filed on 17th January, 1974, on behalf of Norman Disney, who was described as a person who voted or had a right to vote at the election. The respondent filed a notice of appearance on 23rd January, 1974. When the petition was first mentioned in Court on 1st February, 1974, the time for his appearance was extended up to and including 23rd January, 1974, in order to comply with the Court of Disputed Returns Rules. The time for filing the petitioner's particulars was also extended until 15th February, 1974.

The petitioner, the respondent and Mr Disney were, pursuant to s. 171 of the Act, all granted leave by the Court to be represented by counsel.

The petition alleged, amongst other things:

- (i) The returning officer failed to make adequate arrangements to ensure the receipt of applications for postal vote certificates;
- (ii) The returning officer failed to deliver or post to electors entitled to vote in the elections postal vote certificates and ballot papers in time to vote;
- (iii) Certain ballot papers were wrongly rejected or wrongly admitted as votes in the election;
- (iv) Certain votes were filled up by the same hand and with the same writing instrument;
- (v) Certain voters were improperly prevented from voting;
- (vi) The election was conducted generally with an unusual lack of efficiency and/or competency and there were errors or omissions by the returning officer and other officers such that the results of the election may have been affected.

In his case the respondent also contended that numerous votes were either wrongly admitted or rejected as votes.

When the hearing of the petition commenced on 18th February, 1974, Mr H. M. Bedford, a parliamentary officer, produced to the Court ten parcels containing election documents and material for the electoral district of Coogee. Each party, together with an authorized number of scrutineers, was given permission to inspect the documents and material. John Robert West, an officer of the Electoral Commissioner's office was made available to supervise this inspection. The Court is indebted to Mr West for his supervision of the inspection and the collection in a most useful form of the relevant material. During this inspection it was discovered that applications for postal vote certificates and ballot papers and the register into which the applications were entered, were not included in the parcels. Mr Bedford informed the Court that, from inquiries made at Parliament House, the abovementioned applications and the register were delivered there on either 21st or 22nd January, but efforts to trace the applications and the register were unsuccessful. When the hearing of this petition concluded this material had not been produced to the Court.

Requests to the returning officer before the declaration of the poll to produce the register in which postal vote applications were recorded were, according to witnesses (G. F. Richardson and J. M. Riordan) refused. Loss of the postal vote applications has prevented any current check as to the identity of the person applying for a postal vote with the person making the declaration on the postal vote certificate and any inquiry as to when an application for a postal vote certificate and ballot paper may have been recorded as received in the returning office and what subsequent action (if any) may have been noted in respect of each such application. In the light of the challenge which is made by the petitioner in respect of applications for postal vote certificates and ballot papers and their subsequent treatment, the absence of this material assumes some importance.

Before turning to a consideration of the matters raised in the petition and also by the respondent, I draw attention to the returning officer's absence as a witness in this proceeding. The prior brief reference to the contents of the petition is sufficient to indicate that a serious challenge to the conduct of the returning officer and electoral staff within the Coogee Electoral District and in other districts was probable. As the hearing proceeded it became very clear that criticisms would be made as to the parts played by the returning officer for the Coogee Electoral District in the general conduct of the election. None of the parties called him as a witness. The jurisdiction to try a petition pursuant to the Act is conferred upon a judge of the Supreme Court. Part VI of the Act refers to the Court's powers and the principles which guide its determinations. Consideration was given to the Court calling the returning officer as a witness, but on my view of the jurisdiction and powers conferred on the Court by the Act this course was not taken. Even if this course was incorrect it is undesirable for a presiding judge to call a witness whose evidence is likely to be strongly contested and then either lead him through his evidence or expect counsel for one of the parties to bring out the relevant material. With the decision in in re Enoch and Zaretsky, Bock and Co's Arbitration (1910) 1 K.B., 327 in mind, namely: "Neither a judge nor an umpire has any right to call a witness in a civil action without the consent of the parties", I offered, provided all parties consented, to call the returning officer as a witness. The unanimous consent of all parties was not forthcoming. Counsel for the petitioner, who took the view that the petitioner had made out a case for the declarations which he sought, refused to consent to his call. Counsel for the respondent stated he did not object to the returning officer being called. Although I appreciate that under an adversary system which it was said existed in the present proceeding, neither party was bound to call the returning officer, this was an unfortunate result. The chief officer, and probably the only officer, whose conduct and actions were under close scrutiny and challenge, was not given the opportunity of leading evidence pertinent to the Coogee Electorate or of answering allegations against him. Where a principal witness who could be expected to elucidate many aspects relevant to the Coogee electorate does not give evidence, the Court's task is a difficult one; not only is the Court deprived of the evidence of an important and relevant witness, but it is necessarily inhibited in its findings. It is not in every case before the Court of Disputed Returns that a returning officer or one of his staff should be called as a witness, but, where as in this case, the interests of justice and the community would be best served by such evidence being available, amendment of the Act might be necessary to avoid repetition of this unfortunate result.

Under Pt VI of the Act the validity of any election or return may be disputed by a petition presented by a candidate or a person qualified to vote at the election. The express powers of the Court as set out in s. 161 (1) of the Act, include power to make the declarations which are sought in the petition. Where a declaration is made pursuant to s. 161 (1) (vii), namely, to declare an election absolutely void, s. 175 provides for the holding of a new election. Section 161 (2) provides:

"The court may exercise all or any of its powers under this section on such grounds as the court in its discretion thinks just and sufficient."

Under s. 163 the Court shall inquire whether or not the petition is duly signed and so far as rolls and voting are concerned, may inquire into the identity of persons and whether their votes were properly admitted or rejected assuming the roll to be correct, but the Court shall not inquire into the correctness of any roll. Section 166 of the Act prescribes:

"The court shall be guided by the substantial merits and good conscience of each case without regard to legal forms or technicalities, or whether evidence before it is in accordance with the law of evidence or not."

By virtue of s. 167 of the Act:

“No election shall be voided on account of any delay in the declaration of nominations, the polling, or the return of the writ, or on account of the absence or error of or omission by any officer which did not affect the result of the election:

Provided that where any elector was, on account of the absence or error of, or omission by, any officer, prevented from voting in any election, the court shall not, for the purpose of determining whether the absence or error of, or omission by, the officer did or did not affect the result of the election, admit any evidence of the way in which the elector intended to vote in the election.”

Hardie, J. (as he then was) said in Dunbier v. Mallam, (1971) (2) N.S.W. L.R. 169 at 172:

“Section 167 recognizes ‘error of, or omission by, any officer’ as a ground for a declaration that the election was absolutely void; the language of the section as interpreted by the reported decisions, empowers the court to declare an election void in cases in which the official error in fact affected or may have affected the result of the election: Cole v. Lacey (1965) 112 C.L.R. 45 at 48-9.”

Although the petitioner originally sought alternate declarations in his petition his final submission was the election should be declared absolutely void and a fresh election held. The petitioner’s counsel submitted that so many people had been deprived of a vote that the election had been affected and it would not be possible for the Court to say whether the petitioner or the respondent would have had a majority if these irregularities had not occurred. On a consideration of whether the particular power pursuant to s. 161 (1) (vii) of the Act should be exercised the Court’s task is to do what the returning officer should, under the Statute, have done and to correct any errors which he may have made. This function involves, amongst other things, decisions on the validity or invalidity of disputed votes and, where necessary, an adjustment of the returning officer’s final figures.

Where a declaration is sought that the election was absolutely void, the Court’s discretionary power to make such a declaration has to be exercised on such grounds as it thinks just and sufficient (s. 161 (2)) and in accordance with the substantial merits and good conscience of the case (s. 166).

In this proceeding the Court is required to look at a substantial number of votes which allegedly have been either improperly admitted or rejected and to have regard to errors and omissions of the returning officer and other electoral officers, which are claimed to have had the effect of depriving electors of a valid vote, and, further, to disclose a general inefficiency in the conduct of the election.

I find it convenient to refer to certain paragraphs of the petition:

Paragraph 11 of petition

A declaration pursuant to s. 106 of the Act was alleged to have been made by one Owen Richard McPhee (sec M.f.i. “18”). No evidence was tendered in respect of this elector and the claim under this paragraph was not pressed by the petitioner.

Paragraph 12 of the petition

This paragraph claims:

- (i) Two ballot papers which were filled out by the same hand and with the same red writing instrument and deposited in the same ballot box (G—Mo) in the South Coogee subdivision disclosed first preferences for the respondent (see ex. AN-1); and
- (ii) Two votes in similar marking were deposited in the same ballot box (Cao—El) at the Clovelly Public School polling place. It was contended that one or more of those ballot papers was improperly admitted as votes. The petitioner contended that one person voted twice in the South Coogee polling place and another person voted twice at the Clovelly Public School. It was, on his submission, a case of dual voting in each instance. Even though it is quite likely that in each of these two cases the ballot papers were filled out by the same hand, I am not, in the circumstances, prepared to find there was any impropriety or any illegality on the part of a voter or voters. In the absence of any evidence that permission was not sought or given for a person to mark an elector’s ballot paper pursuant to s. 108 of the Act it is possible that each ballot paper was marked in accordance with that section. The petitioner's counsel made a further point in respect of ex. AN-1 that the second preference in each case was a tick rather than a "2". I do not accept this contention. In my view the voter's intention was clearly indicated.

The petitioner alleges (para. 5 (a)) that an elector, Sofia Maria Allen, who did not receive a postal vote certificate and ballot paper, attended a polling booth on election day for the purpose of voting but she was refused a vote.

Mrs Allen, who had been a patient in the Prince Henry Hospital during November, 1973, expected to be there on polling day. She applied for a postal vote. Somewhat unexpectedly she was discharged from hospital at about 6.30 p.m. on 16th November, 1973. She had not then received at the hospital, which was the address she had shown in her application, any postal vote certificate and ballot paper. On Saturday, 17th November, she attended a polling place in Dalton Street, Coogee, where she spoke with electoral staff who discussed her application for a postal vote. According to Mrs Allen she was advised, somewhat strangely in view of the statutory provisions, to wait a few days and if she did not receive a postal vote, to go to the electoral office. Although Mrs Allen received mail which was re-addressed from the hospital, a postal vote was not amongst it.

G. F. Richardson, a State organizer for the Labor Party, who was working as a scrutineer in respect of postal votes and absent votes during the counting periods, noticed Mrs Allen's application for a postal vote and a notation that a postal vote certificate had been issued to her on 14th November, 1973. A postal vote certificate in her name was found amongst the electoral material which was examined in Court, (ex. A.W.); this certificate which carried the endorsement "returned to booth 17/11/1973", confirmed that it was issued on 14th November, 1973. Counsel for the petitioner contended that, by reason of neglect or error on the part of the electoral staff at Coogee, Mrs Allen was deprived of a vote. It was further contended that in all probability this postal vote certificate had not been sent to her. The missing register should have contained some entry in respect of this application. I find it difficult to ignore the notation on the certificate. On the evidence I am inclined to the view that the postal vote certificate and ballot paper were probably issued by the returning officer on 14th or 15th November to Mrs Allen at the hospital. Unfortunately, it was not received by her before her discharge. In all probability some person at the hospital delivered it to a booth on polling day. I am not satisfied there was any neglect of duty by electoral staff in respect of this matter. In my view, Mrs Allen's case falls within s. 114G (3) of the Act and, in the circumstances, she was not entitled to vote.

Before considering the petitioner's submission relating to the general conduct of the elections, which I regard as the substantial problem in this petition, I feel it would be helpful to look to those votes which were allegedly wrongly admitted or wrongly rejected. These fall into four categories, namely:

- (i) Votes in favour of the petitioner but disallowed by the returning officer;
- (ii) votes wrongly admitted in favour of the respondent;
- (iii) votes for the respondent wrongly rejected by the returning officer;
- (iv) votes wrongly admitted in favour of the petitioner.

Under these particular categories my attention has been directed to a number of authorities which illustrate the principle to be applied. The High Court in Kane v. McClelland, (1962) 111 C.L.R. 518, held that the ascertainment of the voter's intention must not be left to inference, still less to conjecture (see also Blundell v. Vardon, (1907) 4 C.L.R. 1463; Kean v. Kerby, (1920) 27 C.L.R. 449).

i. Votes in Favour of the Petitioner but Disallowed by the Returning Officer

I turn now to the first of the abovementioned headings in which thirty-two votes are involved. After close scrutiny I have come to the conclusion that six votes (exs K3, AB1, AC1, AE2, AG1 and AG3) should be allowed.

In eighteen out of the remaining twenty-six votes I agree with the returning officer's determination that the voter's intention is not clear. In eight instances counsel for the petitioner contended that various markings in a square of the ballot paper, namely, "5" instead of "4" (ex. K2), "12" in lieu of "2" (ex. T5), "14" in lieu of "4", (ex. AS4) and two strokes both inside and outside the square (ex. U1), a mark (exs Y1 and AE1) and marks (exs AK1 and AG2) where "4" should normally be placed, were markings which were neither authorized nor required under the Act (s. 122A) and should not have been treated as informal and rejected if in the opinion of the returning officer the voter's intention was clearly indicated on the ballot paper.

Section 103 (2) of the Act prescribes the method of voting by placing a number "1" in the square opposite the name of the candidate for whom the voter desires to give his first preference vote and shall give contingent votes for all the remaining candidates by placing numbers, 2, 3 and 4 and so on in the squares opposite the names of such candidates so as to indicate the order of his preference for them.

Section 122A (2) (b) provides, amongst other things, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Act, at any election at which there are more than two candidates a ballot paper shall not be informal where the voter has recorded his preferences in all squares opposite the names of the candidates except one and it shall be deemed that the voter's last preference is for the candidate who is opposite such square.

It was the petitioner's submission that, in the case of Ex. K2 where the elector voted 1, 2, 3, 5, when there were only four candidates, and the elector was, pursuant to s. 103 (2), only required to place the numbers in numerical sequence up to four in order to indicate an order of preference, the marking "5" was not a marking authorized by the Act. The petitioner contended that the number "5" in this exhibit and the numbers and marks on the other seven votes should, by virtue of s. 122A (1), be regarded as non-existent and the relevant square be deemed left blank. On this approach the voter's last preference is, pursuant to s. 122A (2) (b) deemed to be for the candidate whose name is opposite this square.

Whilst I appreciate that s. 122A is a provision designed to prevent ballot papers being treated as informal, I regard the language of s. 122A (2) (b) "leaving the remaining square blank" as clear and precise. Where, as in the current instance, there are marks in the square opposite the name of the last candidate, and the voter's intention is not otherwise clearly indicated on the ballot paper, the incorrect number, marking or markings render the vote informal. The markings which are to be disregarded under s. 122A (1) of the Act are markings which do not affect the indication of the voter's intention. I agree with the returning officer's decision in respect of these votes. Under this head the petitioner has gained six votes.

ii. Votes Wrongly Admitted in Favour of the Respondent

Twenty-nine votes have been challenged by the petitioner under this head. After careful scrutiny I find eighteen of these votes were correctly accepted. Some of these votes which clearly indicated the voter's intention contained markings which could be disregarded pursuant to s. 122A (1). On the back of one ballot paper there was written in pencil the names of the four candidates and numbers 1, 2, 3 and 4 alongside the said names, which numbering coincided with the order of preferences noted in each square on the front of the ballot paper.

Counsel for the petitioner contended:

- (i) the writing and numbering on the back of the ballot paper was not placed there by the same person who marked each square on the ballot paper;
- (ii) on this assumption that person would be one who would be able to identify the voter pursuant to s. 122 (1) (c) of the Act.

I do not accept this contention.

I find that eleven votes for the respondent should have been rejected. In ten instances the choice of preference was erroneous or not clear or in accordance with the Act (see cxs B2, E3, F1, F3, K4, P1, W1, AD1, AG4 and AL1). In one instance (ex. H1) the numbers "507" were written on the front of the ballot paper in red ink. The numbers "7" and "57" were also written in ink. This ballot paper was extracted from the Coogee West Subdivision (boxes A-D). I am satisfied that there was upon this ballot paper marks or writing not authorized by the Act which would enable a person to identify the voter and it was, therefore, an informal vote under s. 122 (1) (c) of the Act.

On these determinations the respondent's total vote should be reduced by eleven votes.

iii. Votes for the Respondent Wrongly Rejected by the Returning Officer

Twenty-seven ordinary ballot papers fall within this category. In respect of twenty of these papers, I agree with the returning officer's decision. In one instance the letters "T.E.T." which were written alongside a square, resulted in the ballot paper (ex. 8) being informal under s. 122 (1) (c). On another ballot paper (ex. 51) the numbers "14" were written partly within and partly without the square opposite the name of the petitioner.

Seven votes for the respondent should have been admitted. In six of these votes I am satisfied that, after making allowance for the possible age and physical condition of the electors, that the elector had indicated clearly enough his intention (exs 2, 21, 45, 50, 54 and 61). In the seventh ballot paper (ex. 42) the elector voted "1" for the respondent and "2" and "3" in the square opposite the names of the two candidates other than the petitioner. The square opposite the name of the petitioner was left blank and his name was struck out in pencil. While it is possible the elector may have been demonstrating his total rejection of the petitioner I am of opinion that the pencil markings fall within s. 122A (1) of the Act and s. 122A (2) operates to make the vote a valid one.

Following this summary seven votes should be added to the respondent's total.

iv. Votes Wrongly Admitted in Favour of the Petitioner

The respondent contended that there were twenty-nine votes in this category which were wrongly admitted as formal votes for the petitioner. After careful scrutiny I agree with the returning officer's decision in respect of fourteen votes (exs 9, 14, 15, 16, 18, 19, 20, 27, 29, 30, 31, 55, 57 and 63), being votes in which the elector's intention was clearly indicated. In four of these votes (exs 20, 27, 30 and 63) there were markings which should be disregarded as the voter's intention was clearly indicated. Fifteen votes in this category should, in my view, have been disallowed. In one instance, initials "R.P." appear in a ballot paper (ex. 33) which came from Coogee Heights Polling place (box MU—Z). This ballot paper should be treated as informal within s. 122 (1) (c) of the Act as the initials thereon would, in the circumstances, enable a person to identify the voter. In the fourteen remaining ballot papers (exs 1, 6, 7, 10, 11, 12, 17, 28, 32, 37, 39, 44, 58 and 59) the voters' intentions were not clearly expressed or in accordance with the Act.

As a result of these determinations, the votes recorded for the petitioner will be reduced by fifteen.

Besides the various challenges as to whether ordinary votes were improperly admitted or rejected, the petitioner relied with some force on a contention that so many electors had been disfranchised that a fresh election should be ordered. This general submission was directed to four main heads:

1. Applications for postal vote certificates and ballot papers which were allegedly received by the returning officer in time, that is, before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973, were not acted upon in the electoral office in Silver Street, Randwick;
2. (a) postal votes, which were allegedly received out of time, should have been admitted for further scrutiny;
(b) postal votes wrongly rejected;
3. absentee votes;
(In respect of this class of vote, it was alleged a number of electors were deprived of votes because the returning officer or deputy in electorates in New South Wales outside the Coogee District failed to witness electors' declarations as prescribed under the Act.)
4. general inefficiency and incompetence in the conduct of the election within the Coogee Electoral District.

I turn now to consider the above categories.

1. Application for Postal Vote Certificates and Ballot Papers

The challenges under this head concern specific categories: applications for postal vote certificates which were endorsed as received on (a) 19th November, 1973, and (b) 26th November, 1973; (c) applications for postal votes by M. Disney and Mrs S. Disney; (d) application for a postal vote by Milba McLean Green.

The petitioner has claimed that twenty-five electors whose applications were marked as received on 19th and 26th November, 1973, come within this category but his counsel contended that, as the register for postal vote applications is missing and a substantial number of the envelopes containing the applications were destroyed (the returning officer was not obliged to keep the envelopes), it was not possible to determine whether a greater number of electors were deprived of a postal vote by reason of no action being taken on their applications. This part of the petitioner's claim is based on the evidence of G. F. Richardson and Henry Lindsay Lucas, a postal inspector.

(b) Applications endorsed "19/11/1973"

Seventeen applications for postal vote certificates and ballot papers were listed by Mr Richardson as falling within this category. In some instances he had been approached by electors to check applications; he had also received applications. These applications were not seen by Mr Lucas on his inspection on 10th December, 1973. The petitioner has claimed that at least seven of these applications were received by the returning officer before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973, and it was likely that some of the remaining ten were also received before that date.

One of the abovementioned seven applications was from W. W. Aggett. Nola Houlihan, the secretary of the Roma Private Hospital, Randwick, gave evidence that three persons including Mr Aggett and Mrs R. F. Leitch who were patients in the said hospital were each desirous of making an application for a postal vote certificate. Mrs Houlihan recalled noticing a paper concerning voting on her desk with the name "Aggett" on it. According to this witness, the hospital matron drew her attention to it. She also stated that Mrs Leitch's daughter, Mrs J. E. Carter, who gave evidence, telephoned her with a message for her mother to the effect that she had "put her vote in at the electoral office". According to Mrs Houlihan, she attended the electoral office in Silver Street, Randwick, at approximately 4.55 p.m. on 16th November with two or three applications for postal votes, one of which was Mr Aggett's. When she attempted to leave these applications with an elderly gentleman in this office he told her, "It was too late for them". He nevertheless took them and placed them on a pile of papers on his desk.

Joan Elizabeth Carter informed the Court that during the morning of 16th November, 1973, she took an application for a postal vote to the electoral office in Silver Street, Randwick, where she left the application with a "greyish-haired gentleman who was wearing glasses". She said also she telephoned Mrs Houlihan the same day informing her of the location of the electoral office. The names of W. W. Aggett and R. F. Leitch were among the applications which Mr Richardson had observed were marked "Received on 19/11/1973".

On this evidence, which I accept, I am satisfied the applications of Mr Aggett and Mrs Leitch were deposited at the returning office within the requisite time and that no postal vote certificate and ballot paper was forwarded to them. It is difficult to understand why Mrs Leitch did not receive a postal vote certificate and ballot paper, why Mrs Houlihan was told she was too late with the applications, and, further why the two applications were noted as received on "19/11/1973". The name or names on the other postal vote applications which were lodged by Mrs Houlihan are not known. Their applications may have met the same fate.

The application of Mary Kesak was one with Mr Richardson found marked as received on 19th November, 1973. Alan Francis Parkinson gave evidence that he had filled in a postal vote application on behalf of Mrs Kesak who then signed it. On either 15th or 16th November, 1973, and more probably the former, he left the application with a male person at the electoral office. According to this witness, Mrs Kesak assured him she had not received any postal vote certificate and ballot paper. In view of the endorsement on her application, this evidence can be accepted. On the evidence, I am satisfied this application was lodged before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973.

Miss Josephine Freeman, who performed various duties in the petitioner's committee rooms, including the depositing of applications for postal votes at the Coogee Electoral Office, gave evidence that she took the application of George Kambouropoulos for a postal vote to the electoral office well before 16th November, 1973. This application was, according to Mr Richardson, endorsed as received on 19th November, 1973. In addition, she produced a book (ex. AX) in which details in connection with applications for postal votes were recorded. Miss Freeman was, in my opinion, a most reliable and trustworthy witness. I accept her evidence in respect of this applicant.

William Murphy, who was also in attendance at the Labor Party committee rooms on 15th and 16th November, 1973, recalled delivering at 4 p.m. on 16th November, 1973, to an elderly gentleman with grey hair in the electoral office in Silver Street, Randwick, applications for postal votes certificates and ballot papers on behalf of Miss O'Reilly (whose name does not appear on Mr Richardson's list), J. A. Dallan and W. P. Turton. According to Mr Richardson, these three applications were marked as received on 19/11/1973.

On the evidence and especially that of Mr Murphy, who was in my view a credible witness, I am satisfied these applications reached the electoral office in Silver Street, Randwick, before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973, and that no postal vote certificates and ballot papers were issued to the applicants.

On the above analysis, the disturbing feature is that eight out of eighteen applicants (including Miss O'Reilly) for postal votes were personally delivered to the Coogee electoral office before the prescribed time, yet no postal vote certificates were ever issued to the applicants. In the absence of the applications and the register it is more than likely that some of the remaining eleven applications may also have been received in time. It is equally disturbing that these applications should be marked as received on 19th November, 1973.

(b) Applications Endorsed "Received 26/11/1973"

At Mr Richardson's first inspection of approximately 500 postal vote applications on the afternoon of 7th December, 1973, he made notes concerning the names of some of the applicants for postal votes and the dates on which the applications were posted. Between his first inspection and a later one, Mr Richardson found two names were missing namely, (i) the application of E. W. Potts, which was posted on 9th November, 1973, and (ii) an application by Miss E. Osmond which was posted at Coogee on 9th November, 1973.

The names of applicants, the place and time of posting of applications as noted by Mr Richardson are also referred to in ex AV which was prepared by Mr H. L. Lucas during his visit to the returning officer's premises at Silver Street, Randwick, on 10th December, 1973, following certain allegations in a Sydney newspaper article on Sunday, 9th December, 1973, touching the Coogee district. Mr Lucas saw seventy applications of which thirty-three were associated with envelopes; the remaining thirty-seven did not have envelopes. This exhibit sets out the names of thirty-three electors whose applications for postal votes were marked as received on 26th November, 1973, and in respect of whom envelopes containing their applications were available. According to Mr Lucas, the returning officer assured him, in reply to a question whether he had any complaints about postal inefficiency and misdelivery, he was quite satisfied with the postal service and that he was satisfied there had been no delays in the postal services.

The thirty-three applications, which had been posted from different parts of Australia and in some cases on different days all carried the same date of receipt "26/11/1973". Exhibit AV contained six divided columns which provided for:

- (i) the name of the elector; (ii) the date shown on the application; (iii) posting details on postmark; (iv) where posted; (v) post town of address; and (vi) date of receipt shown on application.

According to Mr Lucas, his investigations failed to show any reason for the inordinate delays in the receipt of a number of these thirty-three applications. He assured the Court that his inquiries through a senior supervisor at the Sydney Mail Exchange revealed there had not been any recorded carry-over of mail during the week of the elections. He also stated that he did not see any markings on the envelopes to suggest that any of them had been sent to a wrong address or a wrong post office. Mr Lucas, whose evidence I accept, referred to the very large traffic in articles through the Randwick and Coogee post offices, and the minimal percentage (0.001) of missing articles in both offices. In addition, tests taken in February, 1973, of letters posted from all parts of Australia to the Randwick post office revealed all letters were delivered to Randwick within four days. A similar test in 1972 for the Coogee post office produced the same result. Mr Lucas thought the position would have been the same in November, 1973 for both post offices. He also informed the Court that a new system known as the Eastern Suburbs Community Mail Service, which was instituted in July, 1973, was introduced to give next day delivery to mail posted in the Eastern Suburbs for delivery in that suburb. He estimated the rate of delivery on the day following posting was as high as 99 per cent. On an examination of ex. AV and on the assumption that the posting details were correctly recorded (I have no reason to doubt the information in this exhibit) it is somewhat surprising to note that letters which were posted in Melbourne on 9th and 13th November, 1973, at Glenelg, South Australia, on 9th November, 1973, at Brisbane on 12th November, 1973, at Sydney on 9th, 12th and 15th November, 1973, at Camperdown on 9th November, 1973, and at Carlingford on 13th November, 1973, were not received by the returning officer until 26th November, 1973.

Further, the two additional applications which were not recorded in ex. AV, namely, the applications of E. W. Potts posted on 9th November, 1973, and the application of Miss E. Osmond posted at Coogee on 9th November, 1973, were also marked as received on 26th November, 1973.

Although one might hesitate to accept that all mail would have been delivered without delay in the Randwick and Coogee areas in November, 1973, I am unable to accept that so many letters which were posted on the dates mentioned and in the places referred to, including a posting at Coogee, took a fortnight or more to reach the returning officer at Randwick.

Of the thirty-three applications in ex. AV, I am of opinion at least fifteen should have been received and were probably received before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973. A further six could possibly have been received before that date. The remaining twelve were probably received after that date. In addition, I am satisfied that the applications of E. W. Potts and Miss E. Osmond were probably received before the prescribed date. On this summary, seventeen applications, which were probably received within the requisite time, were not dealt with in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the electors were therefore disfranchised.

Without the evidence of the returning officer I am reluctant to make any specific findings as to why the applications were endorsed with the wrong dates and as to the reason for so many electors being deprived of the opportunity of recording a postal vote. It is true that 401 postal ballot papers were admitted to scrutiny but the challenge to seventy applications is no small matter; it has rightly called for investigation and inquiry.

There was evidence that there were thirty-seven applications without envelopes which were noted as received on 26th November, 1973. In all probability, a number of these applications were also received before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973.

The register which is now missing could, provided it had been noted up promptly and correctly on receipt of applications for postal votes, have been a most useful guide in the resolution of the question when the applications which were noted as received on 19th and 26th November, 1973, were in fact received. Inspection of this register, which the returning officer was not bound to keep, was denied to Messrs Lucas, Richardson and Riordan. In the light of the investigations by Mr Lucas and the inquiries which were made by both Messrs Richardson and Riordan, it is a little surprising that, though the applications were produced, the register was not.

On my findings under these headings (a), (b), at least twenty-five electors were deprived of the opportunity of recording a postal vote and a good proportion of the remaining applicants were also possibly so deprived.

(c) Applications of M. Disney and Mrs S. Disney

In the course of his investigation, Mr Richardson noted applications for postal votes by M. Disney, S. Disney and F. A. Smith, all of Wauchope Street, South Coogee. Each application was noted to the effect that the postal vote certificates and ballot papers had issued on 16th November, 1973. Norman Disney, for whom Mr Madgwick appeared, stated he and his mother had each completed postal vote applications which had been brought to them by a Mr Michael Barry after he had communicated with the petitioners committee rooms and they were handed to Mr Barry. He thought this event occurred on 15th November, 1973. Neither Mr Disney nor his mother thereafter received any postal vote certificate and ballot paper. Prior to the elections he had lived two years in the flat where he was residing with his mother; his letterbox was fitted with a lock at the relevant time. Although there is some confusion as to the person who took the applications to the electoral office, I accept Mr Richardson's evidence that he saw the two applications there and a statement that a postal vote had been issued on 16th November, 1973. I am satisfied that the applications for postal votes were delivered in time and on Mr Disney's evidence, which I accept, neither he nor his mother received the appropriate certificate and ballot paper. The important question is, what happened to them? These are cases in which the postal vote register, if it were kept up to date and the evidence of the returning officer, might have assisted the Court's inquiries. It is only conjecture that the two postal vote certificates and ballot papers may not have left the electoral office or, if so, that they were lost in the post or mis-delivered. No positive finding can be made in respect of these two matters. There is no evidence as to what happened to any postal vote certificate and any ballot paper which may have issued to F. A. Smith.

(d) Application by Milba McLean Green

In the course of his investigations Mr Richardson noticed an application by Milba McLean Green for a postal vote which was noted as having been received at 4.30 p.m. on 16th November, 1973. There was no note on the application to indicate a postal vote certificate and ballot paper had issued to her though marking on the scrutiny roll indicate that she had been provided with a postal vote. This is also a case in which the missing register or the evidence of the returning officer might have clarified the matter.

2. (a) Postal Votes which were Allegedly Received out of Time

The petitioner has claimed that five postal votes which were marked as received on 28th November, 1973, were actually received before 27th November, 1973, the latest date for receipt of postal votes.

The first of these votes concerns an elector, Spiros Kasimis who, on the evidence of his wife, applied for and received a postal vote certificate and ballot paper. When his wife attended a polling booth on election day she also took her husband's postal vote which, after a number of inquiries was left with a poll official who assured her it would be safe with him. This method of delivering up a postal vote was in accordance with the Act. I accept Mrs Kasimas' evidence. This elector's postal vote certificate was later found among rejected postal votes with the endorsement thereon "Recd. too late" (in blue ink) "28/11/73" (black ink). I am unable to appreciate why the elector's postal vote was not admitted for further scrutiny and, assuming the endorsement thereon to be correct, what happened to it between 17th and 27th November, 1973, during which period it could have been accepted as a postal vote.

A postal vote certificate signed by V. M. Donnelly was, according to her daughter P. M. Donnelly, posted at about 10 a.m. on election day at the Clovelly post office. After Mrs Donnelly had filled in her ballot paper, the certificate was witnessed by her daughter. It might be noted that this certificate, which was issued on 15th November, 1973, reached the elector on the morning of 17th November. Miss Donnelly impressed me as a truthful witness. The certificate itself carried the note "Recd. 28/11/73" and a tick against the words "posted too late". I am unable to reconcile these notes with Miss Donnelly's evidence. There is no evidence to support the note "posted too late" that is, after 17th November. If it had been posted on that date, as Miss Donnelly deposed, it should, on Mr Lucas' evidence and the little time it took this postal vote to reach the elector, have arrived at its destination on Monday, 19th November and certainly no later than 20th November.

A postal vote certificate signed by C. H. Flint, was, according to a witness Shirley Turner, posted by her at approximately 8.30 a.m. on 6th November, 1973, at the Coogee post office. This postal vote certificate, which should have reached the returning officer within a few days, was marked "received too late 28/11/73." As I accept Mrs Turner's evidence, it is most surprising that this postal vote certificate should have taken twelve days to reach the Coogee electorate returning officer who had a post box both at Randwick and Coogee post offices.

The remaining two postal vote certificates, which were signed by Mrs P. E. Hore and Mr A. Nelleman, were, according to Mrs Hore, posted by Mr Nelleman to the Coogee returning officer in the same envelope at Christie's Beach, South Australia, on 15th November, 1973. Both postal vote certificates were endorsed "Received too late 28/11/73". The problem is whether Mr Nelleman did post the postal vote certificates on 15th November. According to Mrs Hore, Mr Nelleman to whom she gave the postal vote certificate to post, did not have them with him when he returned home on 15th November. I accept Mrs Hore's evidence but without evidence from Mr Nelleman as to when he actually posted the certificates or the post marks on the envelope in which the certificates were enclosed. I am not prepared to reject the returning officer's endorsement.

In the light of the other three rejected postal vote certificates, these two certificates create a suspicion that they may have been wrongly rejected but in the circumstances I do not so regard them.

(b) Postal Votes Wrongly Rejected

Two electors are involved under this head:

- (i) A. B. Krams (ex. BS); and
- (ii) M. Parsons (ex. BJ).

As to (i): G. C. W. Krams gave evidence that his wife who died on 19th December, 1973, had applied during the week preceding the elections for a postal vote while she was in hospital. This witness stated he saw her sign her application for the postal vote with her right hand. On receipt of the postal vote certificate and ballot paper he took them to the hospital where he saw his wife sign the certificate with her left hand as her right hand was then in a splint. Her signature was duly witnessed. The postal vote certificate was rejected by the returning officer on the ground of "signature variation". On Mr Kram's evidence that his wife's signature was recorded on each occasion by using different hands, there would undoubtedly be some variation in the signature. On the other hand, it is very easy to make a determination now when all the relevant material is elicited. However, in the present case, I would have thought that a consideration and appreciation during the relevant period of the ground upon which the application was based (presumably due to serious illness or infirmity) and the fact it was duly witnessed by an elector, might have been sufficient to admit the postal vote certificate for further scrutiny.

Under s. 114L (a) of the Act a returning officer is under a duty to compare the signature of the elector on each postal vote certificate with the signature of the elector on the application for the certificate. If he is satisfied as to the signatures and further that the signature was attested by an authorized witness and the vote was recorded prior to the close of the poll he shall accept the ballot paper for further scrutiny. If he is not so satisfied he shall disallow the ballot paper without opening the envelope.

Mr Reddy for the respondent contended that there could be no review of a returning officer's decision except where a returning officer acted arbitrarily (which is not suggested here) in rejecting a postal vote certificate. I am of opinion that Mr Reddy's submission must fail when the enquiries which the Court is empowered to make under s. 163 of the Act are examined, namely "The Court . . . so far as rolls and voting are concerned may inquire into the identity of persons, and whether their votes were improperly admitted or rejected . . .".

Under this provision the Court has power to enquire whether Mrs Kram's vote was improperly admitted or rejected. In the absence of the missing application with the elector's signature thereon, and the ground for seeking a postal vote, I am unable to determine whether the vote was improperly rejected. This is yet another example of how the Court is inhibited by the loss of the applications for postal votes.

(ii) M. Parsons

This postal vote certificate was correctly filled in and received within time but was rejected on the ground "Application not signed and witnessed". Even though there is no evidence as to whose handwriting is upon the certificate, I must have regard to the endorsement to ascertain the grounds of its rejection. I am not prepared to disregard the endorsement where the certificate has probably been in the custody of the returning officer for a period of seven to ten days before the election until its rejection and to admit the ballot paper for scrutiny. The original application, which is missing, along with all other applications, would have been a most material document. If the endorsement be correct it follows that a postal vote certificate and ballot paper were issued to an elector when the application therefor was not signed or witnessed by the elector. Unfortunately, this postal vote certificate cannot be checked against the original application. For this reason I am unable to determine whether the returning officer's determination is correct. If the application for a postal vote was not signed by the elector in the presence of a witness pursuant to s. 114A (1) of the Act the returning officer was clearly correct in rejecting the postal vote certificate. If the original application was not duly signed and witnessed the elector was at fault. If this be the case, the Coogee electoral office did not assist the elector to remedy her mistake when it issued a postal vote certificate and ballot paper instead of a notification that her application was not in proper order.

3. Absentee Votes

The petitioner has drawn attention to the errors of returning and deputy returning officers in respect of:

- (i) Twenty votes which were not attested by a returning or deputy returning officer in accordance with the Act. These votes comprised:
  - (a) Four votes (ex. AY) which were recorded at polling places at Roseville East, Five Dock, Tamworth and Kirribilli.
  - (b) Seven votes (ex. BA) which were recorded at Neutral Bay, Curl Curl, Drummoyne, Ashfield, Brookvale, Tweed Heads and Cremorne.
  - (c) Six votes (ex. BF) which were recorded at North Bondi, La Perouse, Coogee Heights, Cooper Park, Forest Lodge and Malabar.
  - (d) Three votes (ex. BH) recorded at Darlinghurst, Sussex Inlet and an unspecified polling place.

These votes were properly rejected but they are relied on to support a charge of general inefficiency and incompetence on the part of the returning and deputy returning officers in various electorates.

(ii) The petitioner also claimed that sixteen votes in his favour were improperly rejected:

- (a) Three votes (exs AR1-3) which were not on correct paper and in correct form. In respect of two of these votes (exs AR1-2) the names of the four candidates were written on a small piece of white paper with the word "Coogee" on top in one instance and the words "Ballot-Paper N.S.W. Electoral District of Coogee, Election of Member of the Legislative Assembly" on the other. There were initials on the reverse side of each piece of paper. The third instance (ex. AR3) was a photostat of a ballot paper with the word "Coogee" and the names of the candidates written in. There was no water mark on this paper but there were initials on its reverse side. This vote should have been admitted for further scrutiny.
- (b) Six ballot papers (ex. AT). These were six ballot papers on which the name of the electoral district was omitted; they otherwise conformed to the Act.
- (c) Seven ballot papers (exs AZ, BB, BC1, BG-3 and BK). These seven ballot papers were rejected as informal because the address on the form of declaration was not the address shown on the roll.

Exhibit BC1 concerned an elector who gave an address for which she was not on the roll. It was submitted that she was the person who was on the roll for another subdivision in the Coogee electorate.

Another vote (ex. BB) was rejected by the returning officer on the ground that no address was provided on the declaration. The elector's residence was described as Coogee West.

Five votes (exs AZ, BG1-3 and BK) involved electors who were stated to be "not on roll" at the address shown in the declaration. They would, however, appear to have been on the roll at another address in the electorate except in the case of ex. BK where the elector described himself as retired in his declaration but no occupation was shown on the roll.

- (d) An absentee vote in the name of R. J. Ward-Hales (ex. BE). This elector gave evidence that he completed an absent voter's form of declaration and he cast an absentee vote at a polling booth in Clovelly Road. He stated he also signed the declaration. Close examination of his declaration reveals his unusual signature thereon.

The above absentee votes except the twenty which were not attested and ex. AR3 have given rise to a number of interesting questions involving the construction of ss. 115, 117 and 119 of the Act. The absentee votes fall into three categories—(i) ballot papers on which the name of the Electoral District (Coogee) as prescribed by s. 115 (1) (e) was omitted; (ii) improvised ballot papers on which the directions referred to in s. 115 (2) of the Act were omitted; (iii) absent voters' declarations which did not record the elector's address as shown on the electoral roll in alleged contravention of s. 115 (1) (c) and Schedule Eleven thereof. Counsel for the petitioner submitted that, in this case, the relevant provisions in s. 115 of the Act were directory and not mandatory so far as the validity of the votes was concerned. On the other hand counsel for the respondent contended—(i) the relevant statutory provisions were mandatory; (ii) the returning officer's decision to reject or accept pursuant to s. 117 of the Act ballot papers for further scrutiny was not subject to review by the Court unless it could be established that his decision was formed erroneously or he did not form any opinion at all.

When a statute provides the way in which something is to be done it may be either a mandatory provision or a directory one. The difference between these respective provisions was considered by: (1) the Privy Council in Montreal Street Railway Company v. Normandin, (1917) A.C. 170 at 174-5:

"It is necessary to consider the principles which have been adopted in construing statutes of this character, and the authorities so far as there are any on the particular question arising here. The question whether provisions in a statute are directory or imperative has very frequently arisen in this country, but it has been said that no general rule can be laid down, and that in every case the object of the statute must be looked at. The cases on the subject will be found collected in Maxwell on Statutes, 5th ed., p. 596 and following pages. When the provisions of a statute relate to the performance of a public duty and the case is such that to hold null and void acts done in neglect of this duty would work serious general inconvenience, or injustice to persons who have no control over those entrusted with the duty, and at the same time would not promote the main object of the Legislature, it has been the practice to hold such provisions to be directory only, the neglect of them, though punishable, not affecting the validity of the acts done”.

(2) The High Court in Clayton v. Heffron, (1960) 105 C.L.R. 214 at 247:

“Lawyers speak of statutory provisions as imperative when any want of strict compliance with them means that the resulting act, be it a statute, a contract or what you will, is null and void. They speak of them as directory when they mean that although they are legal requirements which it is unlawful to disregard, yet failure to fulfil them does not mean that the resulting act is wholly ineffective, is null and void. It is almost unnecessary to say that the decided cases illustrating the distinction relate to much humbler matters than the validity or invalidity of the constitution of the Legislature of a State. But in them all the performance of a public duty or the fulfilment of a public function by a body of persons to whom the class is confided is regarded as something to be contrasted with the acquisition or exercise of private rights or privileges and the fact that to treat a deviation in the former case from the conditions or directions laid down as meaning complete invalidity would work inconvenience or worse on a section of the public is treated as a powerful consideration against doing so.”

Section 115 (1) of the Act provides that an elector wishing to cast an absent vote must state his name and place of residence in the electoral district for which he is qualified to vote together with his occupation. It further provides he may be allowed to vote as an absent voter on making a declaration in the form of Schedule Eleven, (s. 115 (1) (c)).

Section 115 (1) (d) after providing that the declaration may be printed or written on an envelope addressed to the returning officer for the district for which the elector is enrolled, states the declaration “must, after being filled in, be signed by the elector in his own handwriting in the presence of the returning officer or deputy, and completed and attested by him”. After the declaration has been so made, s. 115 (1) (e) provides:

“The returning officer or deputy shall hand to the elector the ballot-paper. The ballot-paper shall be in or to the effect of the form prescribed in Schedule Four to this Act. Before handing a ballot-paper to the elector the returning officer or deputy shall, if the particulars are not already printed thereon, insert on the ballot-paper the name of the electoral district and the names of all the candidates for that district arranged in alphabetical order according to their surnames in accordance with section eighty-three of this Act.”

If, as is relevant in the two ballot papers (exs AR1 and 2), a printed or partly printed and partly written ballot paper in prescribed form cannot be supplied the returning officer:

“Shall, after the declaration has been made by the elector in pursuance of paragraph (d) of subsection one of this section, supply the elector with a paper with the name of the electoral district, the names of the candidates arranged in alphabetical order according to their surnames in accordance with the provision of section eighty-three of this Act and the directions set out in Schedule Four of this Act as to the method of voting written thereon, which paper shall be signed or initialled by him on the back (s. 115 (2)).”

Section 117 is in the following terms:

“The returning officer for the district for which the voter declares that he is enrolled or the officer assisting him, shall in the presence of the scrutineers examine the declaration on the envelope containing the absent voter’s ballot-paper, and if it appears to him that a person of the same name and description as the person whose name is signed to the declaration is enrolled for the district, and that the declaration is duly attested, he shall accept the ballot-paper for further scrutiny, but otherwise he shall reject the ballot-paper without opening the envelope. If he accepts the ballot-paper for further scrutiny, he shall open the envelope without destroying the declaration and extract the ballot-paper, and without unfolding it, place the ballot-paper in the ballot-box.”

Section 118 deals with the procedures on further scrutiny, the allowance of formal and disallowance of informal ballot papers and the grounds on which an absent voter's ballot paper shall be deemed informal.

Section 119 is in the following terms:

"The decision of the returning officer, as to the allowance or disallowance of any absent voter's ballot-paper under this Act or of any ballot-paper to which section one hundred and six applies, shall be final, subject only to review by the Court of Disputed Returns."

It is convenient at this stage before embarking upon a consideration of the submissions on the three categories (above) to deal shortly with the twenty absent voters' declarations which were not attested by a returning officer or deputy. Mr Reddy for the respondent contended that under s. 115 (1) (c) of the Act, there was an obligation or a duty on the absent voter after he has signed a declaration pursuant to Schedule Eleven to see that the returning officer or deputy has completed the document by attesting his signature and if he failed to do so an absent voter should not now be heard to complain he has been deprived of an opportunity of voting absentee. There could not, so the submission went, be a declaration until the returning officer or deputy attested it. I am unable to accept this submission. In my opinion the prescribed declaration of an absent voter is completed when the elector has done what is prescribed in the section, that is, sign the document. The presence of the words "declared before me" appearing below the elector's signature in the Schedule assists in this conclusion.

I now turn to consider the omission of directions on absent votes and of the name of the electoral district. (P. 13.)

Two pieces of paper (exs AR1 and 2) fall within the first of these omissions and s. 115 (2) which provides for directions as set out in Schedule Four to be written thereon. This provision is, in my view, designed to assist an elector in voting. Section 115 (2) casts an obligation on a returning officer or deputy to supply a paper with directions thereon; it does not require the elector to write the directions on the paper or to see that they are so written. In these two instances the electors have otherwise complied with the voting provisions of the Act without the assistance of any directions in the ballot paper and have cast valid votes. In the absence of any express provisions in the Act rendering the omission of directions in a ballot paper as a ground for treating the vote as informal (as in s. 118 (3)) and on a consideration of the object of the Act together with the relevant statutory provisions and the way in which the Courts have construed provisions in statutes as mandatory or directory, the requirement to write directions pursuant to Schedule Four on a piece of paper for use by an absent voter is, in my opinion, directory only. The omission of direction was, therefore, not a ground for holding the two absent votes invalid. Two votes should, therefore, be added for the petitioner.

Section 115 (2) also requires a returning officer or deputy to supply an absent voter with a piece of paper with the name of the electoral district thereon in writing. This statutory provision is also directory only. The omission therefore of the name "Coogee" from the space provided for the designation of the electoral district when other requirements of the Act have been met does not invalidate the six votes (ex. AT). The petitioner's tally should therefore be increased by six votes.

Next, I consider the respondent's submission in respect of seven absent votes rejected on the ground that the residence set out in the declaration was not the residence shown on the roll. (P. 13.)

The respondent's counsel submitted that s. 115 (1) (c) is mandatory and if an elector seeking an absent vote declares in a Schedule Eleven declaration a residence other than his residence as enrolled, his vote is invalid.

The making of a declaration in accordance with Schedule Eleven is a pre-requisite to an elector being allowed to vote as an absent voter. Once his declaration has been made an elector is entitled to vote. No inquiry can then be made except possibly in the case of an absent vote being cast in a subdivision (other than the one for which he is enrolled) of the same district as to the authenticity of the declaration. The Act does not refer to the effect on the validity of an absent vote of errors, mistakes, or falsehoods (other than declarations untrue in a material particular) in the declaration. Section 117 concerns itself with this problem. Details and particulars in the declaration which do not accord with the roll should be discovered on an examination under s. 117 resulting in the acceptance or rejection of a ballot paper for further scrutiny. On looking to the importance of this provision which has been disregarded and the general object and purpose of the Act, I am of opinion the provision in respect of which an address in a declaration under Schedule Eleven was incorrectly stated for the elector's address as enrolled, was directory only. These seven votes were, therefore, not null and void due to this variation.

On this conclusion it becomes necessary to consider the respondent's submission that the returning officer's opinion under s. 117 of the Act was final and not subject to review.

Section 106 which is included under the sub-heading "General Provisions for the Regulation of Voting" deals with a situation where—(i) a second vote is tendered at a polling booth in the name of a person who has already tendered a vote, and (ii) where a person claims to have a vote and his name is omitted or struck out of the certified roll being used due to certain reasons; (iii) the making of a declaration in a prescribed form. For the purpose of giving effect to these provisions so that persons may vote, section 106 (3) (a) prescribes that certain provisions shall be observed including the making of a declaration. Section 106 (3) (e) which is in somewhat similar terms to s. 117 contains the words:

"If after making such inquiries as he may deem necessary, it appears to him that the person whose name is signed to the declaration is entitled to vote . . .".

Section 114L which is under the heading of "Voting by Post" deals with the preliminary scrutiny of postal ballot papers, the acceptance of a ballot paper for further scrutiny, if the returning officer is satisfied on certain matters, but otherwise he shall reject a postal ballot paper without opening the envelope in which it was contained. There is no provision in respect of postal voting similar to s. 119 which provides the returning officer's decision, subject only to review by the Court of Disputed Returns, shall be final in respect of the allowance or disallowance of any absent voter's ballot paper and any ballot paper to which s. 106 applies.

It is not an easy task to ascertain the proper interpretation to be placed on these various sections. Hardie, J. (as he then was) in Dunbier v. Mallam, (1971) 2 N.S.W.L.R. 169 at 176 said:

"There is much to be said for a view that on the proper interpretation of ss. 117, 118 and 119 of the Act, the decision of the returning officer to accept a ballot paper for further scrutiny is not open to challenge in proceedings under Pt 6 of the Act".

Mr Reddy, for the respondent, relied on this case in support of his submission that the returning officer's decision to allow or disallow an absent voter's ballot paper on the information set out in the declaration was not open to review by the Court. The petitioner's counsel contended that s. 119, which must be read with s. 117, looks at the ballot paper and the envelope declaration as a composite document. He pointed out that s. 117 (I would add s. 106) refers to the rejection of a ballot paper without opening the envelopes, that is, rejection due to some matter outside the ballot paper itself. He submitted that when s. 119 said the decision of the returning officer as to the allowance or disallowance of an absent voter's ballot paper was final subject only to review by the Court it was wide enough to cover a situation with which s. 117 was dealing.

Although on the view which I have formed as to the extent and scope of the Court's powers of enquiry under s. 163 (see later p. 17), it is not necessary to decide these questions, I will refer briefly to them.

References to ss. 115 (1) (h), 116, 117, 118 (3) and especially s. 120 (1) indicate the clear distinction which is made between envelopes and ballot papers. When mentioning ballot papers in these sections and in s. 119 the legislature is referring only to the paper in or to the effect of the form prescribed in Schedule Four of the Act on which the voter marks his preference for candidates. It does not, in my view, include the envelope into which the absent voter's ballot paper is placed.

Section 119 of the Act which at a cursory reading might be thought to exclude a power of review, does not, in my view, do so. On the contrary the section recognizes that the Court of Disputed Returns has power under the Act to review a returning officer's allowance or disallowance of an absent voter's ballot paper. This power of review is not diminished by s. 117.

At first I was concerned about the omission of a provision similar to s. 119 of the Act in respect of postal voting (ss. 114A-114N). However, the ground for this alleged omission may possibly be found in the different methods of voting prescribed in ss. 106 and 115 on the one hand and for postal voting on the other. A declaration under s. 106 and s. 115 must be made by an elector in the presence of a returning officer or deputy and attested by him. Under s. 114<sup>B</sup> a postal vote certificate which a postal voter signs is not witnessed by a returning officer or deputy but by an authorized witness pursuant to s. 114<sup>B</sup> of the Act. It seems to me that once a returning officer makes a decision under ss. 106 and 117 it is final and cannot thereafter be reviewed by him. However, any decision under s. 114<sup>L</sup> in respect of a postal vote which might conceivably involve further and fuller enquiries than a s. 106 or an absent vote, is not expressed to be final and can be reviewed by a returning officer at any stage before declaration of the poll.

Under s. 163 of the Act the Court is empowered, amongst other things, to enquire whether votes were improperly admitted or rejected. In my opinion, this enquiry is not limited to whether the elector's preferences were marked on the ballot paper in accordance with the Act, but it confers jurisdiction to review all aspects of voting which is provided for in the Act (other than an enquiry into the correctness of the Roll) and which could have bearing on and be relevant to the question of whether a vote was improperly admitted or rejected. On this view the Court of Disputed Returns has power to review all decisions of a returning officer or deputy made pursuant to ss. 106, 114<sup>L</sup> and 117.

On the other hand if the above views be erroneous, the returning officer's decision cannot be reviewed unless it is proved he has not applied his mind to the real question for determination and he has acted capriciously or arbitrarily or upon irrelevant considerations. (See Federal Commissioner of Taxation v. Bayly, (1952) 86 C.L.R. 506, 510.) It seems to me that, without developing the matter, there would be grounds in this petition for reviewing the returning officer's decisions in accordance with this authority. The returning officer has not given full attention to s. 20 (2) of the Act and the words in s. 117, namely:

"A person of the same name and description as the person whose name is signed to the declaration is enrolled for the district".

I turn now to consider further submissions for the respondent in relation to the seven absent votes which were rejected by the returning officer. Mr Reddy in seeking to uphold the returning officer's decision submitted that the word "description" in s. 117 (supra) included not only the occupation of the elector but it embraced also his address. He contended that as an elector's address is part of his description an absentee vote should be rejected if there was a difference between his address as shown on the absent voter's declaration and the electoral roll. In Sims v. Trollope & Sons, (1897) 1 Q.B. 24, which was relied on, a witness to a bill of sale gave his name and address but no description was given. He had no occupation or business. The trial judge was of the opinion this witness might have been properly described in the bill of sale as a gentleman. On appeal Lopes, L. J. said, on p. 27:

"It is not necessary for the purposes of this case to give a precise definition to the meaning of the word 'description' as used in the Act; but in my opinion it includes a description of the profession, trade, or occupation of the witness, or, if he has no profession, trade or occupation, his style".

Dicta in this case suggests that the word "description" covers a person's occupation and style, e.g. retired, or some other word which describes him. In my view this is the interpretation which should be placed on this word in s. 117. I find it is a little difficult to accept that an address can describe a person.

Several absent votes (exs AZ, BC1, BG1-3 and BK) were rejected on the grounds that the elector was not on the roll for the address shown in the declaration. In each case, however, the same electors were (as recourse to the scrutiny roll discloses) on the roll for another address either in the same or another subdivision of the Coogee electorate. In the seventh absent vote (ex. BB) the elector stated her address only as Coogee West. The returning officer rejected this vote on the ground that no address was stated. Leaving aside the omission of the letter "a" from the surname of this elector, which mistake would be saved by s. 101 of the Act, this elector was on a comparison of details on her declaration with the electoral roll, enrolled for the Coogee West subdivision. In my view these seven ballot papers should have been admitted pursuant to s. 117 for further scrutiny. (See also pp. 15-16.)

In the light of my observations on the construction of ss 115, 117, 119 of the Act I will deal briefly with the respondent's contention that certain absent votes for him were wrongly rejected and certain absent votes were wrongly admitted for the petitioner.

(a)—Re absent vote of Mr Ward-Hales (ex. BE)

On the view which I have formed as to the construction of ss 117 and 119 of the Act this ballot paper should have been admitted for further scrutiny.

(b)—13 Absentee votes (exs 72, 73 and 74)

Votes for the respondent which are claimed to have been wrongly rejected. In seven instances (ex. 72) the name of the electoral district was omitted.

These ballot papers should as previously discussed have been admitted as formal votes. In ex. 73 four ballot papers showed Randwick as the electoral district and in another instance "Phillip". These absent voters' ballot papers were accepted by the returning officer pursuant to s. 117 after the requisite examination. Each of these ballot papers had presumably been completed in accordance with s. 115 (1) (c) by a returning officer or deputy. The inclusion of the wrong electoral district on the ballot paper was the error of an electoral officer. Provided the other details were correctly recorded on the ballot paper, and they were in the current instances, these errors should not be treated as nullifying the elector's vote. They were therefore wrongly rejected.

In the remaining ballot paper (ex. 74) a photostat of a ballot paper, there was neither the prescribed water mark nor the requisite initials on the ballot paper. This ballot paper was rightly rejected.

Upon this review twelve votes should have been added to the respondent's tally.

(c) Finally Mr Reddy contended that eight votes (exs 64-71) were wrongly admitted for the petitioner. The names of the candidates for Coogee were in three instances (exs 64-65) written on the back of the ballot paper for another electoral district. The particulars on the front of each ballot paper had been struck out. On the back was written "Ballot paper", "New South Wales. Electoral District, Coogee." There were no directions as set out in Schedule Four of the Act. Each ballot paper was initialled on the back, that is the part which had contained printed matter. On one ballot paper (ex. 67), the marking for the first preference was challenged. On careful scrutiny I am satisfied the first preference has been shown and additional markings should be disregarded pursuant to s. 122A (2).

Two ballot papers (ex. 69-70) had been cut in halves and re-joined by clear tape. Each ballot paper was cut in almost the identical place—where the ballot paper was folded. These two votes and the other four referred to were, in my view, properly admitted. On the other hand two ballot papers (exs 66, 68) should have been rejected. On one ballot paper (ex. 66) the letters "JAY" were placed above certain deletions on the ballot paper. This ballot paper should have been rejected under s. 118 (3). The other ballot paper does not express clearly the voter's intention especially for the first preference.

On this summary two votes were wrongly admitted for the petitioner and his tally should have been reduced accordingly.

Accepting the final count of the returning officer as correct, my findings on the validity and invalidity of votes for the respective candidates have resulted in the petitioner gaining 14,366 votes and the respondent 14,385—a majority of nineteen votes for the respondent. I felt it would be necessary to determine first what the state of the count might be before considering the likely effect of the other matters which were raised in this petition.

In his petition the petitioner claimed the election for the district of Coogee was conducted with such an unreasonable lack of efficiency and/or competence that there had not been an election conducted in accordance with law. He relied on the following:

- (i) Postal vote applications received before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973, but wrongly marked as received on 26th November, 1973.
- (ii) Postal vote applications which were marked as received on 19th November, 1973, were claimed to have been received before 6 p.m. on 16th November, 1973. (The above two heads have already been dealt with.)
- (iii) Failure to keep envelopes (other than thirty-five containing postal vote applications (there was no obligation on a returning officer to keep these envelopes).
- (iv) Postal votes allegedly received too late for the poll; that is, on 28th November, 1973. (These have already been dealt with.)
- (v) The times when postal boxes at Coogee and Randwick post offices were cleared on 16th November, 1973. The Coogee box was cleared at 7.30 p.m. on 16th November, 1973, which, so the petitioner contended, means postal vote applications could have been placed in this box after 6 p.m. There was no evidence before me to suggest that post office staff at Coogee post office worked after 6 p.m. or, if they did, that mail was placed in private postal boxes between 6 p.m. and 7.30 p.m.

- (vi) The duplication of post office boxes at Coogee and Randwick post offices during the relevant period created problems for electors and made it difficult to ensure that the provisions of the Act in respect of postal votes were complied with. While there is possibly some substance in this contention, there is no evidence to suggest any elector was or may have been disfranchised thereby. It is probably bad practice, a possible area of confusion and a possible means of disfranchising electors to retain two post office boxes in the one electoral district.
- (vii) There was no receptacle at the electoral office in Silver Street, Randwick, for the receipt of electoral material or mail. There was evidence to support this contention. If the electoral office was closed there was nowhere electoral material or letters could be placed except under the door. According to Mr Lucas, the returning officer informed him application forms had been placed on the step of the electoral office premises and elsewhere by applicants for postal votes. The absence of a suitable receptacle was most unbusinesslike and an inefficient and unsatisfactory manner of running an electoral office. Although there was no evidence that any applicant for a postal vote who placed his application under or near the door of the electoral office was deprived of a vote, it was a possible basis for such an occurrence.
- (viii) A ballot paper properly rejected (ex. W2) which was a first preference for the respondent was found in a bundle of formal votes which had been counted in his favour. Although it could not be firmly established without a recount that this vote was wrongly counted in the respondent's favour, it most probably was.
- (ix) The failure of the returning officer to forward postal vote certificates and ballot papers to S. and M. Disney, H. Evans and Mrs S. M. Allen.
- (x) The refusal of a returning officer to allow Mrs Allen to vote.

(These two headings have been dealt with elsewhere in this judgment.)

- (xi) Ballot boxes containing ballot papers were left unlocked and unattended in the front section of the electoral office on Sunday, 2nd December, 1973, after the first recount and at a critical stage of the counting of votes. The evidence of J. M. Hills, whose evidence I accept, supports this contention. On this occasion the only persons inside the subject premises were electoral office staff and scrutineers for the various parties. Ballot boxes containing ballot papers should not be left unlocked and unattended during the counting of votes. Occurrences of this nature could be a possible basis, on acceptable evidence being adduced, of voiding an election. In this petition, there is no evidence under this heading upon which it could be suggested ballot papers had been interfered with or there was any occurrence which would void the election.
- (xii) The refusal of a recount by the returning officer.

(This has already been considered.)

- (xiii) A deficiency in ballot papers. It was contended that fewer ballot papers (including informal and spoilt ballot papers) were counted by the returning officer than were delivered to voters. In his evidence J. M. Riordan deposed to the following conversation with the returning officer on 1st or 2nd December:

"I asked him why did he have included in the various bundles scraps of paper, How to Vote cards and the like. He said to me it was necessary for them to be kept in that way so that he could balance the ballot papers issued. I asked him how did he arrive at that conclusion of keeping such documents and the pieces of paper or how he could achieve that objective. He said 'Obviously people go into the ballot place, they put a How to Vote card in the ballot box instead of the ballot paper'. I said to him that did not appear to me to be very logical as it would be possible for one person to put a How to Vote paper and a ballot paper in the one box at the same time. He said, 'That is how we balance our ballot papers'."

The returning officer relied on four How to Vote cards (exs AU, P4, T4, AJ2) to balance his tally of ballot papers. By taking these four cards into account, four ballot papers are still not accounted for. This discrepancy in the number of ballot papers (if the How to Vote cards were not taken from the postal vote certificates) could be indicative of neglect in a polling place, either inside or outside the Coogee electorate.

The Court may, pursuant to s. 161 (1) (vii), (2) of the Act, exercise its power to declare an election absolutely void on such grounds as the Court in its discretion thinks just and sufficient. Under s. 167 the Court may declare an election void in cases where official error or omission in fact affected or may have affected the result of the election. In the present case I am required to consider whether the official errors and omissions were of such numbers that they may have affected the return of a candidate and what weight and importance should be attached to the various matters discussed and determined in this judgment.

In Dunbier v. Mallam, (1971) 2 N.S.W.L.R. at 174, Hardie, J. (as he then was) said:

“The Court’s wide general power to declare an election void can in an appropriate case be exercised by reason of the disenfranchisement of a sufficient number of voters, even though the votes recorded by them were properly rejected by the returning officer.”

Reference was also made during argument to the recent case of Morgan & Ors v. Simpson & Anor, (1973) 3 W.L.R. 893; (1974) 1 A.E.R. 241, a decision based on an English statute.

The avoidance of an election is a very serious step and one which should not be taken lightly. In his closing address Mr Reddy emphasized that even though there may have been errors by electoral officers both inside and outside the Coogee electoral district, consideration should be given to the fact that approximately 29,600 votes were cast in that district and to the likelihood of human error occurring in such a large poll. He submitted that the mere presence of errors was not sufficient warrant to declare the elections absolutely void.

A consideration of the manner in which the statutory postal and absent voting procedures were performed by electoral officers in respect of the Coogee district discloses that in many instances their performance fell short of the standard which electors in this State might reasonably expect. Without seeking to ascribe fault or blame to any particular person there was, in respect of postal voting applications, serious failure to ensure that all applicants for postal vote certificates and ballot papers were promptly issued with the necessary documents. I am quite satisfied that at least twenty-five electors and applicants for postal votes were improperly deprived of a vote. There were probably many other electors who were also so deprived, but in the absence of the applications for postal votes and the register in which they were recorded it is not possible to say what this number may have been. It is also worthy of note that about eighty-seven postal votes were not admitted to scrutiny. The loss of all postal vote applications and the register, the difficulties resulting therefrom, and the other matters to which reference has been made, have made the final decision in this petition inevitable. These other matters include three postal votes which should have been submitted to further scrutiny and twenty absent voters’ declarations which were rejected owing to the failure of a returning officer or deputy, at polling places throughout the State, to attest the declarations. Electoral personnel who are employed to work at district electoral offices and polling booths should, especially in the case of postal and absent voting, exercise extreme care in fulfilling the requirements of the Act. The failure of district electoral officials to issue postal vote certificates and ballot papers in respect of applications duly made and the omission by returning officers or deputies to attest absent voters’ declarations which make electors efforts to cast votes, futile, are to be deprecated. Every effort should be made to ensure that any carelessness of this nature is not repeated in the electoral system. Leaving aside the additional matters (being items (v)–(xiii) (pp. 18–19)) relied on by the petitioner in support of a claim of inefficiency and incompetence on the part of electoral staff—matters which would not be in themselves have been sufficient to void the election—the evidence has established to my satisfaction that the failures, omissions and errors of electoral officials resulted in many electors being disfranchised and, further, even though my findings on the allowance and disallowance of ballot papers and votes have produced a majority of nineteen (19) in favour of the respondent, the result in this election may have been affected. The election should, therefore, be declared absolutely void.

Finally, I find the petition was duly signed by the petitioner. I declare the election for the Coogee Electoral District held on Saturday, 17th November, 1973, was absolutely void.

I order that the ballot papers and other election documents tendered in evidence and other electoral documents and material produced to the Court be delivered to the Prothonotary for return by him to the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly. I grant liberty to apply. I reserve for further submissions the question of costs.

WEDNESDAY, 29TH MAY, 1974

IN THE MATTER OF AN ELECTION OF A MEMBER OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY FOR THE ELECTORAL DIS-TRICT OF COOGEE AT THE ELECTION HELD ON 17th
NOVEMBER, 1973, AND IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION OF MICHAEL ARTHUR CLEARY

JUDGMENT

(On costs)

HIS HONOUR: When I handed down judgment in this matter on Thursday, 23rd May last, I reserved the question of costs of all parties who appeared in the hearing of the petition.

I have now had the benefit of hearing arguments from counsel who appeared during the proceedings and a statement by Mr Forbes of the Crown. The Crown's attitude is, in effect, that it submits to such order as the court may make which, of course, includes any recommendation the court may make pursuant to s. 172 of the Parliamentary Electorates and Elections Act, 1912. A reading of my judgment will indicate the basis for the election being declared void. On the material which impressed me in the petition, I think it is proper that the petitioner should recover his costs against the unsuccessful respondent, Mr Freeman.

Mr Reddy for Mr Freeman has pressed upon me that the Court should, in any order for costs against Mr Freeman, recommend that not only his own costs but the costs he has to pay to Mr Cleary be paid by the Crown. This is a case in which no fault could be attributed in any way to either Mr Freeman or Mr Cleary. In my view, it is a proper case to make a recommendation that the costs to be paid by Mr Freeman—both his own costs and the costs he is ordered to pay to the petitioner—should be paid by the Crown and I recommend that those costs be so paid.

The more difficult task involves the costs of the intervention by a Mr Disney, for whom Mr Madgwick appeared. The petition was filed on 24th December, 1973; a notice of appearance on behalf of Mr Disney, who described himself as a voter or a person who had a right to vote at the election, was filed on 17th January, 1974. A perusal of the petition indicates, as I said during argument, it was very carefully and fully drawn and covered every possible contingency. Paragraph 4A of the petition was wide enough to cover the situation which was applicable to Mr Disney.

Mr Madgwick has pressed upon me that I should grant his client the costs of his appearance and participation in the petition against Mr Freeman or, alternatively, if I do not make that order, I should recommend the Crown meet Mr Disney's reasonable costs or, alternatively, that I should grant him a portion of his costs.

These problems are not easy. I have a discretion in the matter and, looking to the realities of the case, Mr Cleary adduced a great deal of evidence more cogent and more persuasive than the evidence of Mr Disney. Mr Cleary's case also included any weight it could gain from Mr Disney's evidence. As I saw this matter, I was not satisfied that Mr Disney was wrongly disfranchised. It is true he did not vote. The reason for his not voting could only be a matter of conjecture. As I said in my judgment, whether it be due to misdelivery of mail or some other cause is completely conjecture. In that sense Mr Disney failed to satisfy me that he had a valid cause for complaint.

The matter does not rest there. Mr Madgwick argues in effect that he, having been in the matter from 17th January, 1974, and participating in the various inspections of documents, was able to bring to light matters affecting the material upon which Mr Cleary relied. It follows from that, he says, that he would then have been in a position to make out the same case as the petitioner. Mr Disney's field in a way is limited. He is really complaining about his own disfranchisement and no one else. That is the way, as I see it, his intervention was so framed. I do not see how he can now say that by adoption he can rely upon the conduct of the case for Mr Cleary to obtain the order for costs which he now seeks. Mr Disney's case was identified throughout with the petitioner's case; there was no opposition really by Mr Disney to Mr Cleary's case. Indeed, he had a very good opportunity of showing his independence, if he wished, at a stage when all parties were invited to consider calling the returning officer who, as I indicated in my judgment, was a most material witness in the case; Mr Disney did not avail himself of the opportunity of calling that officer.

Further, this case was made out in every detail by the petitioner in his petition and nothing that emerged in Mr Disney's case in any way assisted Mr Cleary's case in the ultimate. It probably does emerge that Mr Madgwick's conduct throughout the trial lent support to Mr Cleary's case but that is another matter. I feel that this is a case in which I should refuse any order as to the costs of Mr Disney.

My order is that the unsuccessful respondent should pay the costs of the petitioner. I recommend that the costs to be paid by the respondent, including his own costs and costs to be paid to the petitioner, be paid by the Crown. I make no order in respect of the costs of Mr Disney. I order that the security for costs be paid out to the petitioner or his solicitor.

Court of Disputed Returns

Ordered to be printed, 11 September, 1974

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES COURT OF DISPUTED RETURNS

No. 209 of 1974

IN THE MATTER of the Election of a Member of the Legislative Assembly for the Electoral District of Coogee at a by-election held on 20th July, 1974.

AND IN THE MATTER of the Parliamentary Electorates and Elections Act 1912 (as amended).

THE PETITION of ROSS BUCHANAN FREEMAN, of 180 Phillip Street, Sydney, in the State of New South Wales, Barrister at Law sheweth as follows:

1. A by-election for the return of a Member of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales for the Electoral District of Coogee was held on the 20th July, 1974.

2. The candidates for election to the said Assembly to represent the said
Electoral District were the petitioner herein, Michael Arthur Cleary, Bernard Francis Forshaw, Frederick Charles James Keep, Ross May and Ann Sutherland.

3. On the 2nd August, 1974, the Returning Officer for the said Electoral District announced that the result of the said by-election was that the said Michael Arthur Cleary had received 13,385 votes and the petitioner had received 13,331 votes.
The said Returning Officer thereupon declared that the said Michael Arthur Cleary had been duly elected.

4. One hundred persons enrolled or entitled to be enrolled on the rolls of certain subdivisions within the said Electoral District (particulars whereof will be supplied) and entitled to vote at any other polling place than one in the subdivision for which they were enrolled duly attended at the Randwick West polling place within the subdivision of Randwick and there duly made and signed declarations on certain envelopes (which shall be identified) in the form and otherwise as required by the Parliamentary Electorates and Elections Act 1912 (as amended) (hereinafter called "the said Act"). The said persons and each of them received ballot papers from the said Returning Officer or from a Deputy appointed by him and thereupon did and performed all such things and acts as were necessary on their part and on the part of each of them to be done and performed to record his or her vote at the said by-election.

5. None of the forms of declarations duly made and signed by the persons set out in paragraph 4 hereof was completed and attested by either the Returning Officer for the said Electoral District or by any Deputy appointed by him.

6. The said envelopes containing the ballot papers hereinbefore referred to were duly delivered or forwarded to and received by the said Returning Officer who thereupon rejected the said ballot papers without opening the envelopes containing the same because of the matters set out in paragraph 5 hereof.

7. The petitioner charges and the fact is that in the circumstances and by virtue of the provisions of the said Act in that behalf made and provided:

- (a) the said Returning Officer was in error in rejecting the said ballot papers without opening each of the envelopes containing the same, and,
- (b) the said Returning Officer was bound to accept the said ballot papers and each of them for further scrutiny but wrongly and improperly omitted so to do.

8. The petitioner further charges and the fact is that the facts alleged in paragraph 7 hereof constituted errors and omissions on the part of the said Returning Officer in and about the conduct and supervision of the said by-election whereby the said one hundred persons referred to in paragraph 4 hereof were improperly deprived of voting on the said by-election whereby the result of the same was or may have been affected.

THE PETITIONER THEREFORE PRAYS:

1. That this Honourable Court declare that the said Michael Arthur Cleary was not duly elected as the Member of the said Legislative Assembly for the Electoral District of Coogee at the said by-election.

2. That this Honourable Court declare that the said by-election was absolutely void.

3. That the said Michael Arthur Cleary pay the petitioner's costs of and incidental to this petition and that this Honourable Court in the exercise of its discretion under section 172 of the said Act recommend that those costs be paid by the Crown.

Dated this 9th day of September, 1974.

(Sgd) ROSS B. FREEMAN, Petitioner.
