Such officer may, if he thinks it necessary, be 25 accompanied by a medical practitioner, or by a police officer, or by both.

Power of search and arrest, and to place child in safety.

109. (1) Whenever it appears to any magistrate, or to any justice, on information made before him on oath by any person who, in the opinion of the 30 magistrate or justice, is bona fide acting in the interest of any child, that there is reasonable cause to suspect that such child, being a child under the age of eighteen years, has been or is being ill-treated or neglected in a manner likely to cause the child unnecessary suffering, 35 or to be injurious to its health, such magistrate or justice may issue a warrant authorising any officer or police officer named therein to search for such child; and if it is found to have been or is then being ill-treated or neglected in manner aforesaid, to take it to and detain 40 it

5 custody of the child as the court may think fit.

(2) The magistrate or justice issuing such warrant may, by the same warrant, cause any person accused of any offence in respect of the child to be apprehended, and proceedings to be taken for punishing
10 such person according to law.

(3) Any person authorised by warrant under this section to search for any child, and to take it to and detain it in a place of safety, may enter (if need be by force) any house, building, or other place specified in

And the evidence of such child, though not given on oath, but otherwise taken and reduced into writing as a deposition, shall be deemed to be a deposition to all intents and purposes.

A person shall not be convicted of the offence charged unless the testimony admitted by virtue of this section, and given on behalf of the prosecution, is corroborated by some other material evidence in support thereof implicating the accused.

Any child whose evidence is received as aforesaid, and who wilfully gives false evidence, shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, but no prosecution shall be instituted under this section without the leave of the court before which such evidence was given.

(2) Where a justice is satisfied by the evidence of a medical practitioner that the attendance before a court of any child in respect of whom an offence under this Act is alleged to have been committed would be injurious or dangerous to its health, the justice may take in writing the statement of such child in pursuance of section four hundred and six of the Crimes Act, 1900, as if the child were dangerously ill, and in the opinion of the medical practitioner, not likely to recover.

(3) Where in any proceedings with relation to an offence under this Act the court is satisfied by the evidence of a medical practitioner that the attendance before the court of any child in respect of whom an offence is alleged to have been committed would be injurious or dangerous to its health, any deposition taken under section four hundred and six of the Crimes Act, 1900, or any statement of the child taken under this this section, may be read in evidence, and shall have effect in like manner as if it were proved that the child were so ill as to be unable to travel, or (in the case of any such statement) that there was no reasonable probability that the child would ever be able to travel or give evidence; but the same proviso shall apply as in the case of the reception of evidence under the first subsection.

(4) Where in any proceedings with relation to an offence under this Act the court is satisfied by the evidence of a medical practitioner that the attendance for the purpose of giving evidence before the court of any child in respect of whom the offence is alleged to have been committed would be injurious or dangerous to its health, and is further satisfied that the evidence of the child is not essential to the just hearing of the case, the case may be proceeded with and determined in the absence of the child.

112. If any person makes any false representation, or forges any certificate, or makes use of any forged certificate knowing it to be forged, with intent to obtain the registration either of such person or of any other person under this Act, or falsifies any register kept in pursuance of this Act, or furnishes false particulars of any matter which is required to be entered in such register, such person shall be guilty of an offence and on conviction thereof shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty-five pounds or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months.

for the same
offence.

118. Where a person is charged with an offence under this Act, for which he is also punishable under any other Act or at Common Law, he may be prosecuted and punished either under this Act or under any other Act, or at Common Law, but no person shall be punished twice for the same offence. 15
