- (b) order the owner, person, or occupier as aforesaid to remove to a specified place the stock and any fodder, fittings or other things whatsoever used in connection therewith ;
- (c) by notice in writing require the owner or occupier of any land upon which the stock have been found, depastured, kept or travelled or to which they have been removed, to quarantine the land or stock for a period not exceeding forty days ;
- (d)

(d) order—

(i) the owner or any person in possession of any hide, skin, hair or wool of the stock, or any articles used in connection with the stock; or

(ii) the occupier of the land on which the same are found, to cause them to be treated in such manner as the inspector may require or as may be prescribed;

(e) order the owner or any person in possession or charge of any vehicle or vessel which has been used for the conveyance of any such stock, hide, skin, hair, wool, or article to cause the vehicle or vessel to be disinfected in such manner as the inspector may require or as may be prescribed.

to give notice.9. (1) The occupier of any land upon which stock are depasturing, or in case of travelling stock the person in charge of the stock, shall, if he finds that any of the stock are diseased forthwith give notice in or to the effect of the prescribed form to an inspector.

(2) The diseased stock found by the occupier or person in charge, as the case may be, shall be drafted out and so far as practicable kept separate from other stock.

Declaration of quarantine
area.10. The Minister may by notification published in the Gazette declare any land therein described to be a quarantine area on account of the presence or suspected presence of any disease, and may by a like notification suspend or extend for any period or cancel any such notification or any quarantine ordered to be imposed by an inspector in accordance with this Act.Undertaking in certain cases.11. (1) The Minister may, if he thinks fit, instead of declaring land to be a quarantine area, accept an undertaking in the prescribed form given by the owner or occupier of the land to comply with the requirements mentioned therein.

(2) Upon any such undertaking being given, the land mentioned therein shall for the period therein specified be deemed to be a quarantine area, and the person giving the undertaking shall comply with all the terms and conditions thereof.

Stock Diseases.

12. The Minister may by notification published in the Gazette and in a newspaper circulating in or in the vicinity of a quarantine area—

Further powers of Minister.

- (a) appoint places on the boundary of the quarantine area, which shall be the only places at which any stock or class of stock specified in the notification may lawfully cross such boundary;
- (b) authorise the erection of fencing and gates across any road within a quarantine area for the purpose of regulating or preventing the movement of stock;
- (c) close any road in a quarantine area in such manner as to prevent the passage of stock or of any class of stock specified in the notification.

13. (1) When any land has been declared a quarantine area, the Minister may by notification published in the Gazette require all owners of land and lessees of any Crown land within the area to fence the land in a manner sufficient to prevent the ingress or egress of any stock specified in the notification.

Power to order fencing.

(2) After the making of the notification when any land within the area upon which the stock are pastured or kept is not in the opinion of an inspector sufficiently fenced or enclosed to prevent the ingress or egress of stock, the inspector may in the prescribed manner order that such fencing or repairs or additions to fencing as he deems necessary shall be carried out within a time specified in the order.

(3) The order shall be served upon and the said fencing, repairs, or additions shall be carried out by—

- (a) the owner of the land; or
- (b) when the land is held by any person under a lease from the Crown by the lessee.

(4) Any person who has erected any fencing or repaired or carried out any additions to fencing in pursuance of an order under this section may demand and recover in any court of competent jurisdiction from—

- (a) the owner of adjoining land; or
- (b) any lessee from the Crown of adjoining land,

a contribution towards the cost of such fencing, repairs, or additions to the extent of one-half the value thereof, but only so far as the fencing makes a common boundary line. Such contribution may be demanded and recovered notwithstanding anything contained in the Dividing Fences Act, 1902.

Quarantine.

14. (1) Where land or stock are by the provisions of this Act to be quarantined, the quarantine may be general or in respect of a particular disease.

(2) The nature of the quarantine shall be stated in the notice or notification imposing the quarantine or in the undertaking given with respect to any land or stock under the provisions of section eleven of this Act.

(3) A quarantine may be imposed or declared for a disease although the land or stock are already in quarantine for another disease.

(4) The course of action to be taken by the owner or occupier of land or the owner or person in charge of stock when the land or stock is directed to be quarantined shall be as prescribed by regulation or as ordered by an inspector.

(5) The Minister may by notification in the Gazette apply to any specified part of a quarantine area special and more drastic regulations than those which may be operating in the rest of the quarantine area.

(6) The Minister may by a like notification direct that all stock within a quarantine area or within some specified part of a quarantine area shall be treated by prophylactic or curative methods for the disease in respect of which the quarantine is imposed whether the stock are diseased or infected or not.

Quarantine lines.

15. (1) The Governor may by proclamation published in the Gazette establish a quarantine line across which stock are not to pass except under license to be granted by an inspector duly authorised in that behalf.

(2) The conditions upon which stock may be allowed to pass over a quarantine line shall be as prescribed in regulations.

(3) The establishment of a quarantine line shall be advertised in such local newspapers as the Minister may direct.

16. (1) At a muster in accordance with the order of <sup>Musters.</sup> an inspector made under the provisions of section seven of this Act the inspector may cause to be branded with the prescribed brand all the stock mustered.

(2) When the inspector has so caused the stock to be branded any stock found upon the land within one week of the time of such muster not bearing the prescribed brand may be destroyed by an inspector or his assistants.

(3) The occupier of the land upon which such stock are found shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds per head of the stock so found not bearing the prescribed brand.

(4) It shall be a defence to any charge under this section if it be shown that the stock so found not bearing the prescribed brand have been brought on to or strayed on to the land since the muster.

17. (1) The Minister may order—

- (a) any owner or person in charge of infected stock
- (b) any owner or occupier of land on which are depastured, kept, or situated any infected stock, or upon which is any carcase or part of a carcase or any hide, skin, hair, wool, or produce of infected stock or fodder or article used in connection with such stock,

Power to order

to destroy the same in the manner prescribed whenever in his opinion such destruction would tend to prevent the spread or cause of disease.

(2) (a) The Governor may authorise an inspector to exercise within a quarantine area any power which the Minister might exercise under the last preceding subsection.

(b) The inspector, when so authorised, may order the destruction of any stock, whether infected or not, and of anything which in his opinion may tend to spread disease.

(c) The grant of any such authority shall be notified as soon as practicable in the Gazette and in a newspaper circulating in the district in which the quarantine area is situated.

---

(d) The inspector may act in pursuance of any such authority provided the grant thereof has been certified by writing or by telegraph by the Minister or some member of the Executive Council.

Proceedings in default of compliance.

18. (1) Any person upon or to whom an order or notice has been served or given under this Act or the regulations who fails to comply with the requirements thereof shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and such requirements may be carried out by an inspector or inspectors who may employ assistance for such purpose.

(2) All expenses incurred in so doing, including travelling expenses and a proportionate part of an inspector's salary while so engaged and while travelling for such purposes and the costs of assistance as aforesaid, shall be recoverable from such person in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Power to seize stock.

19. Where any stock have been moved contrary to the provisions of this Act or the regulations, the stock may be seized by an inspector or by an officer of police, and on the conviction under this Act of any person so contravening such provisions the stock may, in the discretion of the Minister, be sold or destroyed. The proceeds of any such sale shall, after deducting expenses, be disposed of as the Minister may direct.

Legislative Council.

Stock Diseases Bill, 1923.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

THE present Act, known as the Stock Diseases (Tick) Act, 1901, was drafted primarily to deal with the Queensland cattle tick, and, although other diseases have been proclaimed under the Act, its provisions, having been designed primarily for cattle tick, are difficult of adaptation to other diseases. Even with regard to cattle tick, many serious defects have become apparent. These defects arise partly from serious limitations which have existed in this Act from its very commencement; but the principal reasons which make a new measure imperative are the changes in the situation as regards the disease itself, and improved methods of fighting the pest which have been learned in the twenty-two years since the Act was passed.

Although, as has been said, this measure is applicable by proclamation to any disease of stock, it is apparent that the principal disease against which it will be used is the cattle tick. The present Act has been in force for nearly a quarter of a century; a great amount of money has been spent in tick control, yet the cattle tick still seriously menaces the dairy industry of the North Coast. These facts make it imperative that adequate measures should now be taken to eradicate the tick.

For the most part, stock-owners are prepared to co-operate with the officers of the Department. On the other hand, there is a small minority which is prepared to resist every measure which officers of the tick staff take, not only in the interests of this recalcitrant minority itself, but of their brother stock-owners, and of the State as a whole. It must be remembered also that the nature of cattle tick is such that one refractory stock-owner can, by allowing a few infested cattle to stray, undo the effect of months of work, and the expenditure of, perhaps, some thousands of pounds. Drastic provisions will be found in this Bill, and they are intended to meet such cases as the foregoing, and not to harass those who are prepared to co-operate in the work of eradication in the interests of the stock industry as a whole. In spite of this, however, the provisions of this Bill are not nearly so far-reaching as those imposed in some other countries.

The most important new features of this Bill are enumerated hereunder:—

Responsibility for treatment, &c., is placed in most cases on the occupiers of land instead of on owners of stock, the former being in many cases more easily found and in closer contact with the stock.

An inspector is empowered, subject to supervision by the Minister, to impose temporary quarantines. At present this can only be done with the Minister's consent by notification in the Gazette and two newspapers. The delay thus occasioned might easily render futile any attempt to restrict the spread of a sporadic case of disease.

Power is also given to accept an undertaking to observe quarantine conditions. This will legalise what has, in fact, been necessary in many cases already, especially in sheep tick.

In addition to infestation by cattle tick, this State has also recently experienced an outbreak of tick fever. Although restricted to a small area, this dangerous disease might spread to an alarming extent. It is necessary in future to have proper powers for dealing with such cases; and authority has, therefore, been assumed in the new Bill to impose different regulations in a specified part of a quarantine area, to erect gates on roads, to appoint crossing-places on quarantine boundaries, &c.

At present, if an area is practically clean, there is no method of gradually removing quarantine restrictions. The present Bill provides for quarantine lines which will operate instead of quarantine areas, and thus enable restrictions to be removed from stock-owners as such can safely be done.

Power is also given to carry out eradication, which may involve treatment of all cattle whether manifestly affected or not. An attempt is made to control the straying stock nuisance—the most serious factor with which the tick officials have had to contend.

Act No. , 1923.

An Act relating to diseases in stock; to repeal the Stock Diseases (Tick) Act, 1901, and the Stock Diseases (Tick) Amendment Act, 1915; and for purposes connected therewith.

BE it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of New South Wales in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. This Act may be cited as the "Stock Diseases Act, 1923," and shall come into operation on a date to be appointed by the Governor and notified in the Gazette.

Short title and commencement.

Stock Diseases.

2. (1) The Stock Diseases (Tick) Act, 1901, and the Stock Diseases (Tick) Amendment Act, 1915, are hereby repealed. Repeals and savings.

(2) All persons appointed under the provisions of the said Acts and holding office at the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to have been appointed under the provisions of this Act.

(3) All proclamations, notices, and orders made or given under the Acts hereby repealed and in force at the commencement of this Act shall continue in force until amended, repealed or withdrawn in pursuance of this Act.

(4) All regulations made under the Stock Diseases (Tick) Act, 1901, in force at the commencement of this Act shall continue in force until repealed by proclamation under this Act, and until such repeal may be enforced and acted upon as if they were regulations made under this Act.

(5) Where in any Act, regulation or by-law, or in any form or document used after the commencement of this Act, reference is made to the provisions of any enactment repealed by this Act, the reference shall be deemed to be a reference to the corresponding provisions (if any) of this Act.

(6) This section shall not limit any saving in the Interpretation Act, 1897.

3. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, — Definitions.

“Disease” means any disease to which the provisions of this Act are applied in accordance with section four of this Act, and “diseased” has a corresponding interpretation.

“Infected” as applied to stock means that the stock are diseased or are in a flock or herd in which are any diseased stock, or that the stock have been kept pastured or travelled upon any land upon which diseased stock have been kept pastured or travelled within the next preceding twelve months; and, as applied to land, includes any land upon which infected stock have been kept pastured or travelled within the like period.

Stock Diseases.

"Occupier" when used in relation to land includes a person in charge of land as manager, agent or superintendent.

5 "Prescribed" means prescribed by this Act or by regulations.

"Regulations" mean regulations for the time being in force made under the provisions of this Act.

10 "Stock" means horses, cattle, asses, mules, camels, sheep, swine, or goats, or any animals or birds to which the Governor by proclamation to be published in the Gazette may apply the provisions of this Act.

15 "Travelling stock" means stock taken, driven, or carried along any road or on any land other than that on which they are ordinarily kept or pastured.

4. The Governor may, by proclamation to be published in the Gazette, declare that any disease therein mentioned, 20 being a disease in stock, shall be a disease in respect of which the provisions of this Act or such of them as may be specified in the proclamation shall apply.

5. (1) The Governor may from time to time appoint 25 a board to be known as the Board of Tick Control for the purpose of the control and eradication of cattle tick in conformity with the provisions of this Act, and may appoint such advisory committees as he shall think fit.

(2) The board shall consist of a chairman, who shall be an officer of the Department of Agriculture, and 30 four persons owning stock within quarantine areas proclaimed on account of the presence of cattle tick. Two of such persons shall be elected in the prescribed manner.

(3) The Governor may also appoint a representative of the Government of the Commonwealth of 35 Australia as an additional member of the board in pursuance of any agreement between the Government of New South Wales and the Government of the Commonwealth.

Stock Diseases.

(4) The members of the board other than the chairman and the representative of the Government of the Commonwealth shall hold office for three years, but shall be eligible for reappointment.

5 (5) The Governor may for sufficient cause remove any member.

(6) If the office of a member becomes vacant during the term for which he is appointed or elected, a deputy shall be appointed or elected for the remainder
10 of such term: Provided that an election shall not be necessary when a vacancy occurs within six months of the end of any such term.

(7) The Governor may appoint a deputy to act for any member during his absence.

15 (8) A deputy shall have the same powers, rights, and duties as the member in whose place he is appointed or elected.

(9) The appointment, dismissal, and control of inspectors dealing with tick-eradication within quaran-
20 tine areas proclaimed on account of the presence of cattle tick shall, subject to the approval of the Minister, be exercised by the board, and the board shall also possess such other powers, perform such other duties, and receive such fees as may be prescribed.

25 6. The Minister may appoint inspectors and such other officers as may be necessary for the purposes of this Act. Inspectors.

7. Any inspector may at any time—
