Statute Law Revision Bill

---

MEMORANDUM.

THE object of this Bill is to relieve the Statute Book of a large number of Acts which are spent or have ceased to be in force otherwise than by express specific repeal by the Legislature, or have, by lapse of time or otherwise, become unnecessary.

The Acts to be repealed by the Bill include temporary Acts that have expired, Acts the operation of which has been exhausted, Acts of which formal parts remain although the operative sections have been repealed by various consolidations, and Acts which have become obsolete or have been superseded by later legislation, including the legislation of the Federal Parliament. In addition, the Bill expressly repeals certain Acts which were disallowed by the Crown before the days of responsible government, as well as certain Bills which were from time to time reserved for, but did not receive, the assent of the Crown, the last of these being a Bill reserved in 1896.

The Bill is on the same lines as the Statute Law Revision Act, 1898, and contains a similar saving clause, the general effect of which is to preserve untouched all the past operation of the Acts repealed, even where that past operation is of a permanent and continuing character

8th November, 1922.

J. B. PEDEN,
Commissioner for Law Reform.
