

Poisons (Amendment) Bill, 1930.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

THE object of the Bill is to provide that greater care shall be exercised in the matter of handling and disposing of poisons.

Having in view the accidents that have occurred through carelessness in the matter of handling poisons and the losses of valuable stock which have resulted from the indiscriminate use of cyanide by persons laying baits for opossums and other animals, it is considered that the law should be amended.

The Bill provides that the regulations may require persons engaged in the sale, distribution, and supply of poisons to be licensed; to prescribe the conditions under which poisons may be sold, distributed, supplied, obtained, kept, or used, and the conditions as to packing and labelling; and to regulate the issue and dispensing of prescriptions for poisons and the supply of poisons on orders; for the removal of the names of poisons from one Part of the Second Schedule to the Act, and for adding same to the other Part.

It will be possible to require that poisons such as cyanide will be sold only after due inquiry and on the witnessed signature of the purchaser.

The Bill also provides for penalties for any breach of the regulations and for the appointment of inspectors for the purpose of seeing that the Act and regulations are complied with.
