PART II.

INDUSTRIAL UNIONS.

7. The registrar may, on application made as herein-after provided, register under this Act as an industrial union of employers any association of persons, or association of incorporated companies, which has in the aggregate throughout the six months next preceding the date of the application for registration employed on an average, taken per month, not less than fifty employees.

Such application shall be made as prescribed.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

7. The registrar may, on application made as hereinafter provided, register under this Act as an industrial union of employers any person or association of persons, or any incorporated company, or association of incorporated companies, who or which has in the aggregate throughout the six months next preceding the date of the application for registration employed on an average, taken per month, not less than fifty employees.

Such application shall be made as prescribed, and, if made by an association or company, shall be signed by a majority in number of the governing body thereof.

8. (1) The registration of the industrial unions specified in Schedule Two to this Act is hereby cancelled. Cancellation of registration of certain industrial unions.

(2) Every industrial union other than the industrial unions specified in Schedule Two to this Act, whose registration under the Acts repealed by this Act is in force at the commencement of this Act, shall, unless and until such registration is cancelled be deemed to be an industrial union for the purposes of this Act, and to have been registered under this Act. Saving of registration in other cases.

9. (1) The registrar may, on application made as hereinafter provided, register under this Act as an industrial union of employees any trade union of employees. On such registration the trade union shall be an industrial union until such registration is duly cancelled. Industrial union of employees.

(2) Such application shall be made in writing as prescribed by the committee of management of the trade union, and shall be signed by a majority in number of the members of such committee. Notice of any such application shall be published as prescribed.

The registrar may require such proof as he thinks necessary of the authority of the said members to make the said application.

(3) Any such application ~~may~~ shall be refused by the registrar if he is of opinion that the organisation applying is not a bona-fide trade union, or if registered under this Act would not be a bona-fide industrial union, ~~or to the extent to which in his opinion the interests under this Act of persons represented by the applicant union~~ may

may be protected by a previously registered industrial union, or if there is a bona-fide industrial union registered in connection with the industry in which the members of the applicant organisation are employed.

(4) The registrar shall fix a day for considering any objections on the above ground to the granting of the application, and shall notify the same as prescribed.

(5) No branch shall be registered unless it is a bona-fide branch of sufficient importance to be registered separately.

(6) When any trade union registered as an industrial union has changed its name, or when two or more trade unions all of which are registered as industrial unions have amalgamated, the registrar may upon application in the prescribed manner by any industrial union or industrial unions, and upon the production of the prescribed particulars, record any such change of name or amalgamation in the register of industrial unions. Any such record shall be deemed to be a registration of the applicant union or unions in such changed name or as so amalgamated as the case may be: Provided that any such change of name or amalgamation shall not affect any rights of any such union or unions: Provided also that the registrar may at his discretion, upon such application, require the applicant union or unions to follow the procedure hereinbefore set out in respect of applications for the registration of industrial unions.

(6) When any trade union registered as an industrial union has changed its name, or when two or more trade unions, one of which is registered as an industrial union, have amalgamated, the registrar may, upon application in the prescribed manner by any industrial union or industrial unions, and upon the production of the prescribed particulars, record any such change of name or amalgamation in the register of industrial unions, and vary any rule or rules of the applicant union to permit such amalgamation being fully effective and to enable the applicant industrial union to protect the interests of the trade union. Any such record shall be deemed to be a re-registration of the applicant union or unions in such changed name or as so amalgamated, as the case may be:

Provided

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

Provided that any such change of name or amalgamation shall not affect any rights or liabilities of any such union or unions: Provided also that the registrar may at his discretion, upon any such application, require the applicant union or unions to follow the procedure hereinbefore set out in respect of applications for the registration of industrial unions.

(7) Any decision of the registrar under this section in respect of an objection taken as aforesaid, or on refusal of registration, shall be subject to appeal to the Commission as prescribed.

(8) Where the Commission is satisfied that an industrial union has ceased to exist or has had its registration as a trade union cancelled under the Trade Union Act of 1881, it may cancel the registration of such industrial union and order the removal of its name from the Register of Industrial Unions.

10. (1) ~~An officer of~~ an industrial union of employees may, by notice in writing signed by him, require an employer to terminate the employment of any employee specified in the notice who, by the nature of his occupation or employment, is of the class of which the industrial union is constituted, and who is not a member of such union or of any other union specified in the award covering his occupation or calling.

Notice to employer to terminate employment in certain cases.

The notice may be served on the employer either personally or by post.

If at the expiration of three days in the case of a seasonal or casual employee and fourteen days in the case of all other employees after the service of the notice such employee has not become a member of the industrial union the employer shall forthwith terminate the employment of such employee.

An employer who fails to comply with the provisions of this subsection shall be liable to a penalty of five pounds and to an additional penalty of ~~five~~ one pounds for each day during which such failure continues.

This clause shall not apply to any person who has bona fide conscientious religious objections to becoming a member of an industrial or trade union.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

(2) An officer of an industrial union of employees may at any time by notice in writing signed by him require an employer to terminate the employment of any employee specified in the notice who—

- (a) has at any time after the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and before the commencement of this Act, been engaged or retained in such employment during the period of any cessation of work of other employees in the industry on account of an industrial dispute; and
- (b) has not subsequently become a member of the union.

The notice may be served on the employer either personally or by post.

Any employer who fails to comply with the terms of such notice within seven days after the service upon him of the notice shall be liable to a penalty of five pounds, and to an additional penalty of five pounds for each day during which such failure continues.

(2) All persons who are, by the nature of their occupation or employment of the class of which a trade union or industrial union is constituted, whether they be in employment or not, shall be deemed to be members of such trade union or industrial union after they have applied in writing for membership and paid or tendered payment of the prescribed entrance fee. And such persons shall be entitled to remain members of the said union and enjoy all advantages of membership so long as they shall comply with the rules of the union.

(3) Any person being a member of a union who shall be aggrieved by any penalty imposed upon him by the union shall be entitled to appeal to the Industrial Commission against such penalty, and the Industrial Commission shall be empowered to make such order in the matter appealed against as it deems fit.

11. Any industrial union of employees may make an agreement in writing with an employer or any other industrial union relating to any industrial matter.

Any such agreement, if made for a term specified therein not exceeding five years from the making

Power to make industrial

thereof, and, if filed at the office of the registrar, shall be an industrial agreement within the meaning of this Act, and shall be binding on the parties and on all persons for the time being members of such unions, but may be rescinded or varied in writing by the parties. Any variation of any such agreement, if filed as aforesaid, shall be binding as part of the agreement.

Any such industrial agreement may be enforced under this Act.

12. If after the commencement of this Act any trade union of employees, not being an industrial union, enters into and executes in the manner prescribed by the rules of such union any agreement relating to any industrial matters with an employer or an industrial union of employers, either party to such agreement may file the same in the office of the registrar. Any such agreement, if made for a term specified therein not exceeding five years from the making thereof, shall, in so far as it relates to industrial matters, be binding on the parties, and on all persons for the time being members of such unions, and shall be enforceable in the same manner as an industrial agreement made under this Act. Such agreements may be rescinded or varied by the parties, and any such variation if filed as aforesaid shall be binding as part of the agreement.

Whenever a declaration as to the living wage shall be made under this Act during the currency of any industrial agreement, the registrar may (subject to appeal to the commission) upon the application of any party to the industrial agreement vary the wage provisions contained in such agreement.

~~12~~13. After the expiration of the term specified therein, an industrial agreement, together with any variation made thereto, whether such variation be made within or after the specified period, shall continue in force until a new agreement is made, or until notice of termination shall have been given in writing by a party thereto to the other party or parties and to the registrar. ## PART III.

THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION AND THE COMMITTEES.

Constitution of the Commission.

13. (1) There shall be an Industrial Commission of New South Wales, which shall be constituted by an Industrial Commissioner who shall be appointed from time to time by the Governor.

(2) The Governor may appoint any person he thinks fit to be commissioner.

(3) The commissioner shall receive such salary and allowances as the Governor thinks fit.

Such salary and allowances shall be charged upon and be payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

(4) The commissioner shall hold office for a period of five years.

(5) The commissioner shall not be capable of accepting or holding any other office or any other place of profit within the State, except any such judicial office as may be conferred upon him by or under any law of the State.

(6) If the commissioner is prevented by any cause from attending to his duties as such the Governor may appoint some person to act temporarily for any period not exceeding three months as commissioner and such person shall, while so acting, have all the powers of the commissioner.

(7) On appointment the commissioner shall take the oath of allegiance and the judicial oath.

This subsection extends to a person appointed to act temporarily as commissioner.

(8) If the person who at the commencement of this Act is President of the Industrial Commission constituted under the Industrial Arbitration (Amendment) Act, 1926, as amended by the Industrial Arbitration (Amendment) Act, 1927, accepts office as commissioner under this Act, the provisions of this subsection shall, notwithstanding notwithstanding anything contained in subsections three, four, and five of this section, apply to him as such commissioner—

---

- (a) The said commissioner shall be entitled to an annual salary of two thousand six hundred pounds, and such salary shall not be diminished during his continuance in the office of commissioner.
- (b) The said commissioner shall have the same rank, title, status, and precedence as a puisne judge of the Supreme Court. He shall be entitled to a pension of one-third of his salary upon completion of the term of seven years from his appointment under this Act, or upon his retirement from any other cause from the office of Industrial Commissioner, including resignation with the consent of the Governor-in-Council after serving three years in the last-named office: Provided always that if, after the assignment of such pension to the said Industrial Commissioner he accepts any new appointment under the Crown, such pension shall merge or be reduced pro tanto during the tenure of such appointment according as the salary or emoluments of such appointment are of greater or less amount than such pension.
- (c) Such salary and pension shall be charged upon and payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.
- (d) The said commissioner shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Judges Retirement Act, 1918, or in any other Act, hold office for a period of seven years.
- (e) Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in the Supreme Court and Circuit Courts Act, 1900, or any other Act, the Governor may by commission under the Great Seal appoint the said commissioner to be a judge of the Supreme Court for the period of seven years from the date of his appointment as commissioner under this Act, and if so appointed as aforesaid he shall hold office during good behaviour and may exercise and sit in any jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, and shall have in all respects and to all intents and purposes the rights, privileges, powers, and jurisdiction of a judge of the Supreme Court in addition to the rights, privileges, powers, and jurisdiction conferred by this Act: Provided that if so appointed the said Commissioner shall, upon retirement from the office of a judge of the Supreme Court, have the pension rights conferred on him by paragraph (b) of this subsection.

(9) The Industrial Commission of New South Wales, established and constituted under the Industrial Arbitration (Amendment) Act, 1927, is hereby dissolved.

The persons who, at the commencement of this Act are members of the Industrial Commission of New South Wales, dissolved by this Act, shall at such commencement cease to hold office, and such persons, other than the president of the said commission, shall not retain any rights, status, or privileges conferred by any of the Acts repealed by this Act.

1314. (1) There shall be an Industrial Commission of New South Wales constituted by the appointment by the Governor of three members, one of whom shall be by his commission appointed president. Industrial Commission.

The commission shall be a superior court of record, and its seal shall be judicially noticed.

(2) A person to be qualified for appointment as a member shall be a puisne judge of the Supreme Court, a District Court judge, a barrister of not less than five years' standing, or a solicitor of not less than seven years' standing.

Each member shall, subject to this section, hold office during good behaviour, shall have the same rank, title, status, and precedence and the same salary, pension, and other rights as a puisne judge of the Supreme Court, and shall be removable from office in the same manner only as a judge of the Supreme Court is by law liable to be removed from his office. Such

Such salary and pension shall be charged upon and be payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Each member shall retire on the day on which he attains the age of seventy years, unless he is granted retiring leave, in which case he shall retire on the expiration of such leave.

A member of the commission shall not be capable of accepting or holding any other office or any other place of profit within the State, except any such judicial office as may be conferred upon him by or under any law of the State.

(3) If a member of the commission is prevented by any cause from attending to his duties as such, the Governor may appoint some person qualified to be appointed a member to act temporarily as a member of the commission, and such person shall, while so acting, have all the powers of a member of the commission.

(4) The members of the commission holding office immediately before the commencement of this Act shall continue to hold such office in all respects as if they were appointed under this section.

The person who immediately before such commencement holds office as president shall continue to hold such office of president as if he were appointed under this section.

(5) On appointment the members of the commission shall take the oath of allegiance and the judicial oath.

This subsection extends to a person appointed to act temporarily as a member.

Constitution of the committees.

1415. (1) Each committee established under the Acts repealed by this Act and in existence at the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to have been established under this Act.

(2) The members of each such committee other than the chairman shall, subject to this Act, continue in office with the exception of the members of the committees mentioned in Schedule Three to this Act.

(3) The members of the committees mentioned in Schedule Three to this Act who held office on the twenty-fourth day of October, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, shall be deemed to be the members of such committees at the commencement of this Act notwithstanding anything to the contrary: Provided

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

Provided that a member shall not so continue in office unless he was appointed upon the nomination of an industrial union which is registered or deemed to have been registered under this Act.

(3) Where a vacancy occurs upon a committee by the operation of subsection two of this section the vacancy shall be filled in the same manner as if the committee were established under this Act.

(4) Conciliation committees shall, on the recommendation of the commission, be established by the Minister for any industry or division of any industry, or any combination, arrangement, or grouping of industries, ~~as the Minister on the recommendation of the commission may direct.~~ within fourteen days after such recommendation has been made. cf. Act No. 81, 1916, s. 5 (a).

(5) The industry or division of any industry or the combination, arrangement, or grouping of industries, for which a committee has been established may be varied by ~~the Minister on the recommendation of the commission,~~ made upon application to it in the prescribed manner, and the committee may thereupon exercise jurisdiction with respect to such industry or such division of any industry, or such combination, arrangement, or grouping of industries as so varied.

(6) The Governor may appoint a number of persons not exceeding ten to act as chairmen of conciliation committees.

Each person so appointed shall, unless he sooner resigns, hold office for a period of seven years and shall receive such salary and allowances as the Governor may direct.

Such salary and allowances shall be charged upon and payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. One of the chairmen so appointed shall in and by his appointment be the senior chairman.

(7) Each committee shall consist of such an equal number of representatives of employers and employees respectively as are determined by the ~~Minister~~ commission and appointed upon nomination as prescribed, and in the case of employees by the industrial union covering the industry, together with a chairman, chairman. Deputy or alternate members shall be nominated and appointed as ~~prescribed~~, in the same manner as ordinary members, and shall be competent to discharge the duties of the regular members.

(8) Where the nominations for appointment to a committee exceed the number of representatives to be appointed, ~~the Minister shall refer such nomination to the commission for a recommendation as to~~ shall decide who should be appointed to the committee.

(9) If within twenty-one days after nominations have been called for, the employers or employees have not made any nomination or have made an insufficient number of nominations, the ~~Minister~~ commission shall appoint such and so many persons as may be necessary to represent the employers or employees on the committee.

(10) The commission shall allot a chairman for a committee.

(11) The members of a committee other than the chairman shall not receive remuneration by way of salaries or fees, but all members may be reimbursed such fares and out-of-pocket expenses as are approved by the Minister.

(12) The ~~Minister~~ commission may at any time dissolve a committee, and subject thereto a member of a committee shall, unless he sooner resigns his office, hold office until he is withdrawn from the committee in the manner prescribed by the person who or body which nominated him.

(13) A new committee may be established to take the place of a committee that has been dissolved or the members of which have resigned or have ceased to hold office.

(14) Where from any cause a member of a committee ceases to hold office, the ~~Minister~~ commission may appoint a duly nominated person to his office.

(15) Where a person is appointed to any vacancy on a committee, the committee may continue the hearing of and may determine any part heard case.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

(16) Upon the allotment of a chairman and nominations of members having been called for, a committee shall be deemed to be established.

(17) Each member of a committee shall, upon his appointment, take an oath not to disclose any matter or evidence before the committee or the commission relating to—

PART IV.

JURISDICTION OF COMMITTEES AND OF THE COMMISSION.

19. (1) A committee shall have cognisance of and power to inquire into any industrial matter in the industry for which it is established and in respect thereof or on any reference or application to it, may in relation to such industry make an award or order—

Powers of
committees.

- (a) fixing the lowest prices for work done by employees, and the lowest rates of wages payable to employees, other than aged, or infirm, or slow workers :

Provided that no award shall be made for the payment of wages or remuneration in excess of fifteen pounds per week, or (where salaries are paid on an annual basis) any salary in excess of seven hundred and fifty pounds per annum :

Provided further that no award shall be made for the payment of wages or remuneration of persons occupying managerial positions unless such persons are exclusively employed by the Railway Commissioners for New South Wales, the Metropolitan Meat Industry Board, the Sydney Harbour Trust Commissioners, the Metropolitan Water, Sewerage, and Drainage Board, the Water Conservation and Irrigation Commission, the Board of Fire Commissioners of New South Wales, or the Hunter District Water Supply and Sewerage Board, or are employees of any city, shire, or municipal council ;

- (b) fixing the number of hours and the times to be worked in order to entitle employees to the wages so fixed ;
- (c) fixing the lowest rates for overtime and holidays and other special work, including allowances as compensation for overtime, ~~for time lost due to sickness or accident,~~ for holidays, or for other special work ; or prohibiting, or restricting any person doing any specified work outside the specified hours ;
- (d)

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

- (d) fixing the number or proportionate number of apprentices and/or minors and the lowest prices and rates payable to them ;
- (e) determining any industrial matter ;
- (f) rescinding or varying any award made in respect of any of the industries for which it has been constituted ;
- (g) requiring that employers shall engage labour only at or through the office of an industrial union of employees ;
- (h g) declaring what deduction may be made from the wages of employees for board or residence or board and residence, and for any customary privileges or payments in kind conceded to such employees ;
- (h) fixing the number of hours that may be worked and the wages to be paid in hair-dressing and/or barbers' colleges.

(2) Where an institution carried on wholly or partly for charitable purposes provides for the food, clothing, lodging, or maintenance of any of its employees, or any of its inmates who are deemed to be employees, the committee in its award as to the wages of such employees or inmates, shall make due allowance therefor. The committee may exempt such institution from all or any terms of the award, where the food, clothing, lodging, and maintenance provided by the institution, together with the money (if any) paid by the institution to such employees or inmates as wages, are at least equal in value to the value of the labour of such employees or inmates.

20. (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of the Apprentices Act, 1901, the Apprentices (Amendment) Act, 1915, and this Act, and notwithstanding the effect of any custom of or against apprenticeship, a committee in respect of any industry for which it is established shall—

- (a) determine whether apprenticeship shall be a condition of employment of minors ;
- (b)

Powers in relation to apprentices and minors.

---

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

---

- (b) prescribe the hours of employment, wages, and conditions of apprenticeship ;
- (c) determine whether and to what extent there shall be a limitation of the number of apprentices indentured in any trade or calling ;
- (d) determine to what extent technical education if procurable shall be obligatory upon apprentices and their masters ;
- (e) co-operate with the Department of Education in encouraging young persons to attend technical, trade, and continuation schools during working or other hours ;
- (f) protect the contracts and interests of apprentices and all workers of minor age who are learners, and ensure the attendance of apprentices and learners at technical or trade schools ;
- (g) prescribe standard forms of apprenticeship for different trades and callings, and the manner in which and the persons by whom the making, carrying out, and transfer of indentures or other contracts of apprenticeship shall be supervised ;
- (h) control and direct the conditions in all respects of apprenticeship in any industry ;
- (i) determine whether a contract of apprenticeship made before or after the commencement of this Act shall be cancelled or varied, and prescribe the conditions precedent to or consequential upon such cancellation or variation.

(2) The apprenticeship register established under the Acts repealed by this Act shall be continued by the industrial registrar.

(3) Nothing in this section shall abrogate indentures of apprenticeship made under the repealed Acts or this Act, or relieve any master from carrying out the terms of any indenture of apprenticeship entered into by him, whether engaged in the industry or not, unless and until the said indenture is assigned to another master in the industry to which the indenture applies.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

21. (1) Upon the application of an industrial union of employees the commission or committee shall ~~may~~ may in writing authorise any officer of such union nominated by it to exercise in respect of an industry in which members of the union or ~~persons~~ employees in the same calling as such members are engaged the powers conferred by subsection two of this section.

Authorised officers of union to have certain powers.

Such powers shall be exercisable whether or not the industry is covered by an award or industrial agreement.

(2) An officer so authorised may at any reasonable time—

- (a) inspect any premises of any employer upon which any such industry as aforesaid is carried on and any work being done therein ;
- (b) require the employer in such industry to produce for his examination and may examine and take copies of any time sheets and pay sheets of the employees in such industry ;
- (c) examine any employee in such industry either alone or in the presence of his employer on any matter relating to his conditions of employment or work ;
- (d) hold meetings of the employees on or adjacent to the premises of the employer during non-working time.

(3) An officer so authorised shall not have any authority under this Act to enter a private dwelling-house or the land used in connection therewith unless some manufacture or trade in which labour is employed is carried on therein, ~~or unless he has reasonable ground for believing that such work is being carried on therein.~~ in which case he may enter the part of the dwelling-house in which the manufacture or trade is carried on.

(4) If any person obstructs any officer so authorised in the exercise of his powers under this Act or fails when duly required as aforesaid to produce any time sheets or pay sheets, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for the first offence and twenty-five pounds for any subsequent offence.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

22. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Act or in any other Act a committee shall on an application or reference to it in that behalf prescribe by award that absolute preference of employment shall be given to the ~~financial~~ members of the industrial union or unions specified in the award.

Preference to financial members.

The manner in which such preference shall operate shall be determined by the committee.

(2) A committee shall on application or reference to it in that behalf prescribe by award that an officer of an industrial union may at any time by notice in writing signed by him require an employer to terminate the employment of an employee who is not a ~~financial~~ member of the industrial union covering his trade or calling.

The notice may be served personally or by post. If at the expiration of three days in the case of seasonal or casual employees and fourteen days in the case of all other employees after the service of the notice such employee has not become a ~~financial~~ member of the industrial union, the employer shall forthwith terminate the employment of such employee.

An employer who fails to comply with the provisions of this subsection shall be liable to a penalty of five pounds, and to an additional penalty of ~~five~~ one pounds for each day during which such failure continues.

23. A committee shall upon an application for a new award, or the renewal of an award, and notwithstanding any previous inquiry under the repealed Acts, or this Act, review the conditions of the industry or calling, together with the wages payable in such industry or calling if either party so apply.

Power to review
previous inquiries.

24. (1) A committee or the commission may institute any inquiry and avail itself of such expert medical or technical advice or assistance as may be thought necessary for the proper discharge of its powers and duties.

Committee or commission
may have expert advice.

(2) Where an order or award made in respect of any industrial matter is inconsistent with any provisions relating to such industrial matter contained in any Act, the Acts.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

the order or award shall prevail, and the provisions of such Act shall to the extent of the inconsistency be suspended during the period in which such order or award is in force.

25. (1) Where an award fixes minimum wages higher than the living wage for the time being in force, the amount of the excess of such minimum wages above the living wage shall be not less in the case of females doing the same class of work as males.

Males and females doing same class of work.

(2) The commission or a committee shall not award rates of pay or other conditions of employment for females doing the same class of work as males so as to result in females being employed in preference to males.

26. The commission or a committee shall not award any conditions nor fix rates of wages or other payments for employees of the Crown, including employees of the Railway Commissioners for New South Wales, the Metropolitan Transport Trust, the Newcastle and District Transport Trust, the Sydney Harbour Trust Commissioners, the Metropolitan Water, Sewerage and Drainage Board, the Water Conservation and Irrigation Commission, the Board of Fire Commissioners of New South Wales, the Commissioners of the Government Savings Bank of New South Wales, the Metropolitan Meat Industry Board, the Main Roads Board of New South Wales, the Hunter District Water Supply and Sewerage Board, the Board of Trustees of the Australian Museum, and the Hospital Commission, less favourable than the conditions granted or the wages paid or other payments made to other employees not employed by the Government or its departments doing substantially the same class of work, but the fact that employment is permanent or that additional privileges are allowed in the service of the Government or its departments shall not of itself be regarded as a substantial difference in the nature of the work.

Wages of Government employees.

27. (1) Any aged, slow, or infirm worker who may deem himself unable to earn the minimum wage prescribed by any award, may apply to any industrial union of employees which is a party to such award the registrar for a permit in writing to work for less than the wage so prescribed.

Permits for aged or infirm workers.

The

The industrial union for the industry in which the applicant desires to be employed shall have the right to be heard on such application.

(2) ~~Such union~~ The registrar shall, subject to subsection four of this section, be the authority to determine whether and on what wages and conditions such permit shall be granted, and shall have power to revoke or cancel any permit whether granted under this Act or under any Act repealed by this Act.

10 (3) The ~~union~~ registrar shall forthwith notify the chairman of the committee established for the industry in which such applicant desires to be employed of the grant of such permit and of the wages and conditions on which it has been granted, and 15 the chairman shall thereupon issued a permit in terms of the ~~union's~~ registrar's determination.

(4) An appeal against any such determination of a union shall lie to the committee for the industry concerned, and upon such appeal the committee shall 20 make such determination as it thinks just.

28. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other Act, the commission or a conciliation committee shall have power to prescribe by award, the places at which 25 and the times during which employers in any particular industry shall engage all the employees that they may require for carrying on their business. Engagement of employees.

29 28. Notwithstanding any provisions in the Factories and Shops Act, 1912, or in any other Act relating to the installation of protective appliances, the supplying 30 of proper clothing, hot or cold water, sanitary or bathing accommodation for the use of employees, or the fixing of standards of normal temperatures and atmospheric purity in any working place, either above or below ground, or the provision for proper hygienic conditions,
35 the commission or committee may prescribe by award what appliances shall be installed, or clothing supplied, what sanitary or bathing accommodation, or whether hot or cold water shall be provided for the use of employees, and may prescribe the standards of normal 40 temperatures or atmospheric purity in any working place either above or below ground, and also prescribe the

5 abnormal conditions or abnormal working places.

30 29. (1) Any award or order of a committee shall, <sup>Award or order.</sup> after settlement by the registrar in manner prescribed by the regulations, be signed by the chairman.

The registrar shall publish the award or order, when 10 signed, in the Gazette, and shall notify the parties in the prescribed manner.

(2) A committee may, in its discretion, determine that an award shall take effect from such day subsequent to the lodging of the application therefor
15 with the registrar as the committee may determine.

(3) From any order, determination, or award of a committee or upon any refusal of a committee to make an order or award an appeal shall lie in the prescribed manner, to the commission, on which appeal the commis-
20 sion may make such order or award as in its opinion the committee should have made.

Upon any such appeal the commission shall have regard only to the records of the proceedings before such committee.

25 The pendency of an appeal shall not suspend the operation of an order or award appealed from unless the parties commission otherwise agree directs.

(4) The Crown may intervene in any proceedings before the commission or a committee or appeal from <sup>Crown may intervene.</sup>

(4 5) Subject to the right of appeal under this Act, <sup>cf. Act No. 17, 1912, s. 29.</sup> and to such conditions and exemptions as the committee
35 may, and is, hereby authorised to determine and direct, an award shall be binding on any or all persons engaged in the industries or callings and within the locality, and for the period not greater than three years specified therein.

After

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

After the expiration of the period so specified, the award, together with any variation made thereto, whether such variation be made within or after the specified period shall continue in force until rescinded by the commission or committee.

(5 6) Where the commission or a committee makes an award to take effect from some day prior to its publication in the Gazette, no employer shall be bound to pay any wages fixed by such award until seven days after publication of the award as aforesaid, but the first payment of wages under any such award shall include all arrears which have accrued due from the date upon which the award is directed to take effect.

31 30. (1) No award or industrial agreement shall be made for a wage lower than the declared current living wage.

cf. Act No
17, 1912,
s. 25 (1).

No wage lo
than declared
living wage.

s. 26A.

(2) Upon a declaration as to the living wage during the currency of any award or industrial agreement, the terms of such award or industrial agreement affecting rates of pay may be varied to accord with such declaration by the registrar upon application to him as prescribed by any party whose appearance is recorded on the making of the award, and upon notice to the other parties whose names are so recorded, and a variation of the award or industrial agreement shall, upon publication in the Gazette, have effect as an award from the date of the declaration.

An appeal may be made in the manner prescribed to the commission against any determination of the registrar under this subsection.

(3) Neither subsection one nor subsection two of this section shall extend to an award or industrial agreement made in respect of any of the employees referred to in subsection two or ~~subsection three~~ of section six of this Act.

32. The commission or a committee in respect of the industry for which it is established shall by award prohibit the working of overtime except for emergency purposes or with the consent of the industrial union of employees named in the award.

4342. In every case where an application or reference to a committee is made, it shall be the duty of the chairman to endeavour to bring the parties to an agreement with respect to the matters referred to in such application or reference, and to this end the committee shall, in such manner as it thinks fit, expeditiously and carefully inquire into such matters and anything affecting the merits thereof. Inquiry by committee. cf. Act No. 17, 1912, s. 32.

In the course of such inquiry, the chairman may make all such suggestions and do all such things as he deems right and proper for inducing the parties to come to a fair and amicable settlement of such matters.

4443. A committee, or any two or more members thereof authorised by the committee under the hand of its chairman, may enter and inspect any premises used in any industry to which a reference or application to the committee relates, and any work being carried on there. Inspection of premises.

If any person hinders or obstructs a committee or any member thereof in the exercise of the powers conferred by this section, or hinders or obstructs the commission in the exercise of like powers, he shall be liable to a penalty of ten pounds.

4544. A committee may confer with any persons or industrial unions as to anything affecting the settlement of an industrial matter and may summon any person before it for the purpose of conference or of giving evidence. Such summons shall be signed by the chairman or by the registrar. Persons may be summoned.

4645. A committee may—

- (a) conduct its proceedings in public or private as it may think fit ;
- (b) adjourn the proceedings to any time or place ;

Conduct of proceedings and power as to witnesses.

- 5 (c) exercise in respect of witnesses and documents and persons summoned or giving evidence before it, or on affidavit, the same powers as were by section one hundred and seventy-four of the Parliamentary Electorates and Elections Act, 1912, conferred on a committee of elections and qualifications, and the provisions of the said section shall apply in respect of the proceedings of the committee: Provided that unless a person raises the objection that the profits of an industry are not sufficient to enable him to pay the wages or grant the conditions claimed, no person shall be required without his consent to produce his books, or to give evidence with regard to the trade secrets, profits, losses, receipts, and outgoings of his business.
- 20

Where a person raises such objection he shall produce the books used in connection with the carrying on of the industry in respect of which the claim is made, and shall give evidence with regard to the profits, losses, receipts, and outgoings in connection with such industry, but he shall not be required to give evidence regarding any trade secret. No such evidence shall be given without his consent except in the presence of the chairman and members of the committee alone, and no person shall inspect such books except the chairman, the members of the committee, and two accountants who may be appointed by the committee, one nominated by the employers' representatives and the other by the employees' representatives on the committee. Such accountants shall, before acting under this paragraph, take the oath prescribed in respect of members of a committee by section

5 (c) exercise in respect of witnesses and documents and persons summoned or giving evidence before it, or on affidavit, the same powers as are by section one hundred and thirty-six of the Parliamentary Electorates and Elections Act, 1902, conferred on a committee of

of the said section shall apply in respect of 10 the proceedings of the committee: Provided that unless a person raises the objection that the profits of an industry are not sufficient to enable him to pay the wages or grant the conditions claimed, no person shall be required 15 without his consent to produce his books, or to give evidence with regard to the trade secrets, profits, losses, receipts, and outgoings of his business, or his financial position.

20 Where a person raises such objection he may be required, on the order of the chairman, to produce the books used in connection with the carrying on of the industry in respect of which the claim is made, and to give evidence with regard to the profits, losses, receipts, and 25 outgoings in connection with such industry, but he shall not be required to give evidence regarding any trade secret, or, saving as here-inbefore provided, his financial position. No such evidence shall be given without his consent except in the presence of the members of 30 the committee alone, and no person shall inspect such books except the chairman or an accountant appointed by the committee, who may report to the committee whether or not his examination of such books supports the evidence so given, but shall not otherwise 35 disclose the contents of such books. Such accountant shall, before acting under this paragraph, take the oath prescribed in respect of members of a committee by section fifteen of 40 this Act;

(d) admit or dispense with advocates and admit or call for such evidence as in good conscience it thinks to be the best available whether strictly legal evidence or not.

PART VI.

BREACHES OF AWARDS AND OTHER OFFENCES.

4948. (1) Where an employer employs any person to <sup>Recovery of</sup> ~~do~~ any work for which the price or rate has been fixed by <sup>wages.</sup> an award, or by an industrial agreement, whether made under this Act, or under any Act repealed by this Act, or by permit issued under section twenty-seven of this Act, he shall be liable to pay in full in money to 10 such person the price or rate so fixed without any deduction except such as may be authorised by any award or industrial agreement.

(2) Such person, or an officer of any industrial union covering his trade or calling may, within six years 15 months after such money has become due, apply in the manner prescribed to the registrar or to an industrial magistrate for an order directing the employer ~~or any successor, assignee, or transferee of the employer's business~~ to pay the full amount of any balance due in respect of 20 such price or rate. Such order may be so made notwithstanding any smaller payment or any express or implied agreement to the contrary, ~~or any written acknowledgment by such person that wages have been paid at the full price or rate, and notwithstanding the~~ 25 fact that a lesser amount is claimed by the complainant. The registrar or magistrate may make such order as to amount as he thinks just, and may award costs to either party, and assess the amount of such costs.

(3) Such person or officer may, within the said 30 period of six years, months, in lieu of applying for an order under the last preceding subsection, sue for any balance due as aforesaid in any district court or court of petty sessions: Provided that any person feeling himself aggrieved by a judgment or order of such court 35 given or made under this subsection may appeal therefrom to the commission as prescribed.

Upon such appeal the commission may affirm, vary, or rescind the judgment or order appealed from and may make make such order as the court appealed from should have made, including an order as to costs of the judgment or order appealed from or of the appeal.

(4) Such person or officer may take any such proceedings, and may recover any such balance due, and costs, notwithstanding that the person may not be of full age either at the time of doing such work or at the time of taking such proceedings.

(5) Any person who enters into a contract with a contractor for the carrying out by the contractor of any work involving the payment of wages shall be liable for the payment of such wages.

(5) Any person who enters into a contract with a contractor for the carrying out by the contractor of any work involving the payment of wages shall be liable for the payment of such wages unless upon final payment made by him to the contractor in relation to the contract he receives a statement in writing signed by the contractor that no wages are due and owing by the contractor in respect of the work at the time of such payment. Any person who knowingly makes or signs a false statement that no wages are due or owing by him in respect of any work shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for not more than six months.

Breach of award or industrial agreement.

50. (1) If any person commits a breach of an award or a breach of an industrial agreement, whether by contravening or failing to observe the same, or otherwise, he shall be liable upon conviction by the registrar or an industrial magistrate to pay a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds. Penalty for breach of award.

Where such breach is a failure to pay the rate of wage fixed by award or industrial agreement, the penalty shall not be less than ten pounds for a first offence and not less than twenty-five pounds for a second or any subsequent offence; in the case of any breach of an award or industrial agreement other than with respect to wages the penalty shall not be less than two pounds for a first offence and not less than ten pounds for a second or any subsequent offence. (2)

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

(2) Where on making such order it appears that the breach complained of relates to the failure of the defendant to pay in full any wages (including wages for overtime) due to an employee at the price or rate fixed by the award or agreement, the registrar or magistrate shall, if the complainant so desires, also make such an order with respect to such wages as might have been made in proceedings taken under section forty-nine. Such order may be made without motion, and shall be a bar to proceedings under the said section in respect of such wages.

(3) Where an order is made under subsection one of this section against any person, and the registrar or magistrate is of opinion that the breach was committed by the wilful act or default of such person, he may on motion or without motion, and in addition to any order made, grant a writ of injunction to restrain such person from committing further or other breaches of the award or industrial agreement.

If any person disobeys such writ of injunction he shall be guilty of misdemeanour and shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding six months.

Such person may be committed for trial for such offence by any justice or justices acting under and in pursuance of the Justices Act, 1902, and any Acts amending the same.

49. (1) If any person commits a breach of an award or a breach of an industrial agreement, whether by contravening or failing to observe the same, or otherwise, the registrar or an industrial magistrate may order him to pay a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

(2) Where on making such order it appears that the breach complained of relates to the failure of the defendant to pay in full any wages (including wages for overtime) due to an employee at the price or rate fixed by the award or agreement, the registrar or magistrate may also make such an order with respect to such wages as might have been made in proceedings taken under section forty-eight. Such order may be made without motion, and shall be a bar to proceedings under the said section in respect of such wages.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

(3) Where an order is made under subsection one of this section against any person, and the registrar or magistrate is of opinion that the breach was committed by the wilful act or default of such person, he may 5 on motion or without motion, and in addition to any order made, grant a writ of injunction to restrain such person from committing further or other breaches of the award or industrial agreement.

If any person disobeys such writ of injunction he 10 shall be guilty of a misdemeanour and shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding six months.

Such person may be committed for trial for such offence by any justice or justices acting under and in pursuance of the Justices Act, 1902, and any Acts 15 amending the same, or by the court. For the purposes of such committal the court shall have the powers of a justice or justices under the said Acts.

(4) Proceedings for a breach of an award or an industrial agreement may be taken and prosecuted within 20 a period of six years months by the Minister, or an employer, or an officer of an industrial union concerned in the industry covered by such award or industrial agreement.

The costs of any such proceedings shall be paid by the 25 complainant if the order is not made, and by the defendant if the order is made. Such costs shall be according to a scale to be prescribed.

5150. If the secretary of an industrial union of employees or any person acting or purporting to act
 30 on behalf of any such industrial union receives any money paid in respect of any act constituting a breach of an award or industrial agreement otherwise than in pursuance of the order or with the knowledge of the registrar or an industrial magistrate, he shall be 35 liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds. Provided that no offence against the section shall be deemed to have been committed if the secretary or any such person within seven days of the receipt of such money reports the fact of such receipt to the registrar.

- (a) is an officer, delegate, shop steward, member of a shop committee, or representative of an industrial union or is a member of a conciliation committee; or
- (b) claims some benefit of an industrial agreement or an award to which he is entitled; or
- (c) has appeared as a witness, or has given evidence in a proceeding in relation to an industrial matter; or
- (d) after applying to his employer for leave without pay for the purpose, and after the employer has unreasonably refused leave, has absented himself from work through being engaged in other duties as a member of an industrial union in respect of any matter affecting the industry in which he is working or as a member of such a conciliation committee; or
- (e) has reported a breach or a suspected breach of an award made under this Act, the commission or an industrial magistrate may order him to pay a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

The commission or magistrate may further order that the employee be reimbursed the wages lost by him and the commission may also direct his reinstatement in his old position or in another position acceptable to the employee.

In any proceeding for an offence against this section, if all the facts and circumstances constituting the offence, other than the reason for the defendant's action, are proved, it shall lie upon the defendant to prove that he was not actuated by the reason alleged in the charge.

In a proceeding for an offence in respect of paragraph (d) of this section it shall not be necessary for the prosecution to prove among the facts and circumstances constituting the offence that the employer unreasonably refused leave.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

A prosecution under this section may be taken before the commission or an industrial magistrate by the secretary of the industrial union concerned in the industry in which the employee alleged to have been so
5 dismissed, injured, or prejudiced was employed: Provided always that if any party feels aggrieved by any decision of a magistrate, he may appeal in the prescribed manner to the commission.

In lieu of proceedings for a penalty for an offence
10 under this section, such a secretary may apply to the committee established for the industry concerned for an award that the employee be reimbursed the wages lost by him and that he be reinstated in his old position.

5251. If an employer dismisses an employee or injures
15 him in his employment or alters his position to his prejudice by reason of the fact that the employee—

Penalty for unlawful dismissal.

- (a) is an officer, delegate, or member of a trade or industrial union or of a conciliation committee established under the Industrial Arbitration (Amendment) Act, 1926; or
- 20 (b) claims some benefit of an industrial agreement or an award to which he is entitled; or
- (c) has appeared as a witness, or has given evidence in a proceeding in relation to an industrial 25 matter; or
30 other duties as a member of an industrial union in respect of any matter affecting the industry in which he is working or as a member of such a conciliation committee, the commission or an industrial magistrate may order 35 him to pay a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

The commission or magistrate may further order that the employee be reimbursed the wages lost by him and the commission may also direct his reinstatement in his old or a similar position.

40 In any proceeding for an offence against this section, if all the facts and circumstances constituting the offence, other than the reason for the defendant's action, are proved, it shall lie upon the defendant to prove that he was not actuated by the reason alleged in the charge.

In a proceeding for an offence in respect of paragraph 5 (d) of this section it shall not be necessary for the prosecution to prove among the facts and circumstances constituting the offence that the employer unreasonably refused leave.

A prosecution under this section may be taken before 10 the commission or an industrial magistrate by the secretary of the industrial union concerned in the industry in which the employee alleged to have been so dismissed, injured, or prejudiced was employed: Provided always that if any party feels aggrieved by any 15 decision of a magistrate, he may appeal in the prescribed manner to the commission.

No prosecution for an offence under this section shall be commenced except by leave of the commission.

5352. An employer shall not terminate the employment 20 of an employee who is also a delegate, shop steward, member of a shop committee, or representative of an industrial union unless he shall have given seven days' notice thereof to the industrial union of which such employee is a member. The industrial union may within 25 the time prescribed if it so desires refer the matter of such termination of employment to the committee established for the industry in which the employee is working and the committee may make any award as to it seems just including an award that the employment 30 of the employee shall not be terminated, or if terminated that he be reinstated in his old position and reimbursed any wages lost by him.

Notice of termination of employment of shop steward, &c.

If any employer contravenes the provisions of this section he shall be liable to the Commission or Industrial 35 Magistrate may order him to pay a penalty of ten pounds.

PART VII.

TRADE UNIONS.

54. (1) A trade union shall have power to apply and use the moneys and other property of the union for or in connection with any lawful object or purpose for the time being authorised by its rules, and without limiting the generality of this provision may—

Powers of
trade union
with regard to its funds.

- 10 (a) acquire, purchase, take on lease, hold, sell, lease, mortgage, exchange, and otherwise own, possess, and deal with in the names of the trustees for the time being of such union any real or personal property (including shares in any registered company, whether registered in New South Wales or not), and no purchaser, assignee, mortgagee, or tenant shall be bound to inquire whether the trustees have authority for any sale, exchange, mortgage, or letting, and the receipt of the trustees shall be a discharge for the money arising therefrom;
- 15
- 20 (b) apply to the commission or to any district court or court of petty sessions having jurisdiction in the locality for and obtain an order directing the payment by any of its members of any fine, levy, penalty, call, or subscription in pursuance of the rules of the union;
- 25 (c) provide for the application of its money and property to the furtherance of political objects.

(2) The expression "political objects" in the last preceding subsection means the payments of any expenses incurred either directly or indirectly by a candidate or prospective candidate for election to Parliament or to any public office, before, during, or after the election in connection with his candidature or election; or the holding of any meeting or the distribution of any literature or document in support of any such candidate or prospective candidate; or the maintenance of any person who is a member of Parliament or who holds a public office; or the registration of electors, or the selection of a candidate for Parliament or any public office; or the holding holding of political meetings of any kind, or the distribution of political literature or political documents of any kind, or the maintenance and publication of a newspaper or the establishment, maintenance and use of 5 radio transmitting and/or receiving apparatus.

(3) The expression "public office" in the last preceding subsection means the office of member of any shire or municipal council, or The Municipal Council of Sydney, or of any public body which has power to raise 10 money, either directly or indirectly, by means of a rate.

5453. (1) A trade union shall have power to apply and use the moneys and other property of the union for or in connection with any lawful object or purpose for the time being authorised by its rules, and without limiting 15 the generality of this provision may—

(a) acquire, purchase, take on lease, hold, sell, lease, mortgage, exchange, and otherwise own, possess, and deal with in the names of the trustees for the time being of such union
 20 any real or personal property (including shares in any registered company, whether registered in New South Wales or not), and no purchaser, assignee, mortgagee, or tenant shall be bound to inquire whether the trustees have authority so long as rules of the union are in force providing—

- 5 (i) that any payments in the furtherance of such objects are to be made out of a separate fund;
- (ii) that contribution to such separate fund shall not be a condition of admission to or membership of the said union;
- 10 (iii) that a member who does not contribute to such separate fund shall not be excluded from any benefits of the union or placed under any disability or at any disadvantage as compared with other members of the union by reason of his failure to so contribute.

(2) The expression “political objects” in the last preceding subsection means the payment of any expenses incurred either directly or indirectly by a candidate or prospective candidate for election to Par-
20 liament or to any public office, before, during, or after the election in connection with his candidature or election; or the holding of any meeting or the distribution of any literature or documents in support of any such candidate or prospective candidate; or the main-
25 tenance of any person who is a member of Parliament or who holds a public office; or the registration of electors, or the selection of a candidate for Parliament or any public office; or the holding of political meetings of any kind, or the distribution of political literature
30 or political documents of any kind, unless the main purpose of the meeting or of the distribution of the literature or documents is the furtherance of the objects set out in the definition of “trade union” in section thirty-one of the Trade Union Act of 1881, or the 35 maintenance and publication of a newspaper other than a non-political trade journal.

(3) The expression “public office” in the last preceding subsection means the office of member of any shire or municipal council, or the Municipal Council of 40 Sydney, or of any public body which has power to raise money, either directly or indirectly, by means of a rate.

The

GENERAL AND SUPPLEMENTAL.

Fines and subscriptions payable to unions.

20 55. The registrar or an industrial magistrate may order the payment by any member of an industrial union of any fine, levy, penalty, contribution, or subscription which has become payable in pursuance of the rules of the union during a period not exceeding six years prior
25 to the commencement of the proceedings to obtain such order.

55 54. The registrar or an industrial magistrate may order the payment by any member of an industrial union of any fine, levy, penalty, or subscription payable in pursuance of the rules of the union. Fines and subscriptions payable to union.

---

55. (1) Any industrial union of employees may by notice in writing require any member of such union to pay any contribution or subscription which has become payable in pursuance of the rules of the union
5 during a period not exceeding six months prior to the giving of such notice.

(2) Each member shall within fourteen days after the receipt of such notice pay the amount due to the union, and if such amount is not paid in accord-
10 ance with this section such union may by notice in writing require the employer of such member to deduct from any salary, wages, or remuneration of any kind due to the member by the employer an amount not 15 exceeding ten per centum of the salary, wages, or remuneration payable to the employee from week to week and to pay such amount so deducted in liquidation of the amount of contribution or subscription due and owing to the union. Within fourteen days after receipt of 20 such notice by the employer the member or the employer may apply to the commission, the industrial registrar, or industrial magistrate to set aside such notice, and on such application the notice may be set aside or such further or other order made as the commission, industrial registrar, or industrial magistrate think reasonable 25 in the circumstances either covering the payment of the amount due, the reasonableness of any rule or rules of the union or otherwise.

(3) If no application is made under this section after receipt of the notice by the employer, or if an 30 application is made and the notice is not set aside, the employer shall made the deductions from the salary, wages, or remuneration of the employee and make payments thereof to the union as provided by this section. Any payments made by an employer to a union under 35 this section shall for the purpose of this Act be considered as payments to the employee.

56. After the commencement of this Act the entrance fee of any industrial union of employees shall not exceed in the case of males two pounds and in the case of females 40 ten shillings, and the annual subscription due or payable by

by any member, whether such subscription is payable annually or otherwise, together with the levies imposed during any year, shall not exceed in the case of males four pounds and in the case of females one pound, 5 provided that any industrial union of employees may apply to the industrial registrar for exemption from the provisions of this section.

57. (1) An industrial union of employees shall not impose a penalty or fine on any of its members for a 10 breach or non-observance of any resolution of the union unless the terms of the resolution are clearly set out in the rules of the union.

(2) An industrial union of employees may impose a penalty or fine not exceeding five pounds on any of its 15 members for a breach of its rules, provided that no fine or penalty shall be imposed by any industrial union on any member except for a breach of the rules of the union. Any member may appeal as prescribed to an industrial magistrate or the industrial registrar 20 from any fine or penalty imposed by an industrial union.

(3) Where any member is indebted to an industrial union for subscriptions or contributions any payment made by or on behalf of such member shall be credited to the subscriptions or contributions owing by 25 the member.

Enforcement of orders.

5658. (1) Where an order is made under sections ~~forty-nine, fifty, fifty-two, fifty-three, or fifty-five~~ <sup>Enforcement of certain orders.</sup> forty-eight, forty-nine, fifty-one, fifty-two, or fifty-four that any 30 person shall pay the amount of any money due or any penalty, such order shall have the effect of a judgment for the amount of such money or of such penalty in the district court or court of petty sessions named in such order or if no such court is so named in the metro- 35 politan district court at the suit of the person or union respectively against the person against whom such order has been made; and such amount may be recovered and such recovery may be enforced by process of such court as in pursuance of such judgment.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

(2) Any property of a union, whether in the hands of trustees or not, shall be available to answer any order made as aforesaid.

Appeal to commission.

- 5 5759. (1) From any order of the registrar, or any industrial or other magistrate or justices under this Act, imposing a penalty or ordering the payment of any sum of money or any penalty, an appeal shall lie to the commission. Appeal in registrar or magistrate.
- 10 On any such appeal the commission may either affirm the order appealed from or reverse the said order or reduce the amount so ordered to be paid or the amount of the penalty; and, in any case, the commission may make such order as to the costs of the appeal, and of the
- 15 proceedings before the registrar, magistrate, or justices, as it thinks just.
- (2) The registrar or any industrial or other magistrate, or justices, may on the application made by any party to any proceedings for the payment of money
- 20 or a penalty under this Act state a case for the opinion of the commission, setting forth the facts and the grounds for any order or conviction made by him or them.
- (3) The provisions of the Justices Act, 1902, and
- 25 any Act amending the same, which relate to appeals to a court of quarter sessions and to the stating of cases by justices for the opinion of the Supreme Court, and the decision of any such court thereon, and the carrying out of such decision shall, mutatis mutandis, and subject to
- 30 any regulations made under this Act, apply to and in relation to appeals to and cases stated for the opinion of the commission under this section. The recognizance referred to in subsection one of section one hundred and two of the Justices Act, 1902, shall be entered
- 35 into within eight days after the determination under that subsection of the sum referred to therein.

Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration.

(4) No other proceedings in the nature of an appeal from any such order or by prohibition shall be allowed.

Procedure and decisions of commission and committees.

- 5 ~~58~~60. The commission or a committee exercising the jurisdiction conferred by this Act shall be governed in its procedure and in its decisions by equity and good conscience, and shall not be bound to observe the rules of law governing the admissibility of evidence. Rules to govern commission and committees.
- 10 ~~59~~61. Where the commission is unable to attend at the time and on the day appointed for the hearing of any matter by the commission, the registrar, or, in his absence from the commission, the chief clerk shall adjourn the commission, and also adjourn the hearing of Adjournment of commission.
- 15 any cases set down for that day to such day as he may deem convenient.
- ~~60~~62. (1) Any decision of the commission shall be final; no award, and no order or proceeding of the commission shall be vitiated by reason only of any Decision of commission to be final.
- 20 informality or want of form or be liable to be challenged, appealed against, reviewed, quashed, or called in question by any court of judicature on any account whatsoever.
- (2) No writ of prohibition or certiorari shall lie 25 in respect of any award, order, proceeding, or direction of the commission relating to any industrial matter or any other matter which on the face of the proceedings appears to be or to relate to an industrial matter.
