have been conclusive evidence in favour of any person dealing with the donee that the case is one to which paragraph (a) of this subsection applies.

(a2) Paragraph (a) of this subsection shall apply and shall be deemed always to have applied to a case where a report that the donor of the power was "missing" or "missing and believed to be killed" or any similar report was issued before the commencement of the Conveyancing (Amendment) Act, 1943, as well as to a case where any such report is issued after such commencement or after the commencement of the Conveyancing (Further Amendment) Act, 1943.

(f) by omitting from paragraph (d) of the same subsection the words "extend to any power of attorney the donor of which is engaged on war service" and by inserting in lieu thereof the word "apply."

(2) The Conveyancing Act, 1919-1943, is further amended by inserting next after subsection (4A) of section one hundred and sixty the following new subsection:—

(4B) (a) This section shall extend to any authority or power to act as agent of another or to act in any respect in relation to the property and affairs of another where the terms of such authority or power are evidenced by any writing signed by the donor thereof, but shall so extend only in relation to cases in respect of which, if the authority or power was a power of attorney, the provisions of subsection (4A) of this section would have application.

(b) In the application of any other provision of this section to an authority or power of the nature referred to in paragraph (a) of this subsection—

- (i) a reference to a "power of attorney" or "power" shall include a reference to such authority or power;
- (ii) a reference to the "donor of the power" or the "donor" shall include a reference to the person by whom such authority or power was given;
- (iii)
