ANNO SEXTO

ELIZABETHÆ II REGINÆ

Act No. 12, 1957.

An Act to make further provisions as to the height of buildings; to constitute a Height of Buildings Advisory Committee; for these and other purposes to amend the Height of Buildings Act, 1912-1952; and for purposes connected therewith. [Assented to, 8th April, 1957.]

BE it enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of New South Wales in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

1. (1) This Act may be cited as the "Height of Buildings (Amendment) Act, 1957".

Short title and

(2)

I have examined this Bill, and find it to correspond in all respects with the Bill as finally passed by both Houses.

G. BOOTH,
Chairman of Committees of the Legislative Assembly.

Height of Buildings (Amendment).

(2) The Height of Buildings (Metropolitan Police District) Act, 1912, as amended by subsequent Acts and by this Act, may be cited as the Height of Buildings Act, 1912-1957.

Amendment of Act No. 58, 1912. 2. The Height of Buildings Act, 1912-1952, is amended—

Subst. sec. 2. (a) by omitting section two and by inserting in lieu thereof the following section:—

Interpretation. 2. (1) In this Act unless inconsistent with the context or subject matter—

“Building” includes part of a building.

“Committee” means the Height of Buildings Advisory Committee appointed under this Act.

“Panel” means the Height of Buildings Advisory Panel appointed under this Act.

Definition of “height”.

(2) In this Act “height”—

(a) in relation to a building which has a frontage to a public road means the measurement taken from the mean level of the frontage at the street alignment immediately in front of the face of the building to the top of the highest portion of the building which is intended to be occupied or used or which is occupied or used by any person for any purpose;

(b) in relation to a building the fronts of which abut the street alignments of two parallel public roads or two public roads which although not parallel follow generally the same direction and the

the distance between such roads at the street alignments immediately in front of the faces of the building measured between the closest points is more than eighty feet means—

- (i) in respect of any part of the building which extends from the front thereof at the lower of such public roads to a line drawn across the building at a point not less than half the distance between such public roads measured between the closest points the measurement taken from the mean level of the frontage at the street alignment of the public road which is the lower immediately in front of the face of the building to the top of the highest portion of the aforesaid part of the building which is intended to be occupied or used or which is occupied or used by any person for any purpose;
- (ii) in respect of the part of such building other than that to which subparagraph (i) of this paragraph applies the measurement taken from the mean level of the frontage at the street alignment of the public road which is the higher immediately in front of the face of the building to the top of the highest portion of the building which is intended to be occupied or used or

Height of Buildings (Amendment).

or which is occupied or used by any person for any purpose;

- (c) in relation to a building the fronts of which abut the street alignments of two parallel public roads or two public roads which although not parallel follow generally the same direction and the distance between such roads at the street alignments immediately in front of the faces of the building measured between the closest points is not more than eighty feet means the measurement taken from the mean level of the frontage at the street alignment of the public road which is the higher immediately in front of the face of the building to the top of the highest portion of the building which is intended to be occupied or used or which is occupied or used by any person for any purpose;
- (d) in relation to a building which has no frontage to a public road means the measurement from the mean level before excavation of the ground upon which the building is erected to the top of the highest portion of the building which is intended to be occupied or used or which is occupied or used by any person for any purpose;
- (e) in relation to a building in respect of which the height cannot be determined in accordance with any of the foregoing provisions of this subsection means the height as determined in accordance with such method as the Minister on the recommendation of the Committee prescribes.

In

Height of Buildings (Amendment).

In this subsection "public road" means a road, street or other public thoroughfare not less than twenty-one feet in width.

The following classes of structure shall not, if constructed in conformity with a design approved by the Minister be taken into account in determining the height of any building:—

(a) water tanks or reservoirs or air conditioning, ventilating, lift or elevator machinery or other machinery whatsoever upon the top of such building and any structures enclosing such tanks, reservoirs or machinery;

(b) wireless towers upon the top of a building occupied only during reasonable periods for maintenance purposes and not used for advertising signs of any description.

(b) (i) by inserting at the end of paragraph (b) of subsection one of section four the words ^{Sec. 4.} "unless the skyline and the plans of such ^(Height of buildings.) building have been approved by the Minister upon the recommendation of the Committee";

(ii) by inserting at the end of paragraph (b) of subsection two of the same section the words "unless the skyline and the plans of such building as so rebuilt, reconstructed or increased have been approved by the Minister upon the recommendation of the Committee";

(iii)

Height of Buildings (Amendment).

- (iii) by inserting at the end of subsection four of the same section the following paragraph:—

Such conditions shall in the case of a building erected of, or rebuilt, reconstructed or increased to a greater height than one hundred and fifty feet include conditions—

- (a) specifying the ratio which the total floor space of the building shall bear to the area of the site of the building to the intent that the number of persons to be accommodated shall not exceed the number which would have been accommodated had the building been erected in all parts to a height of one hundred and fifty feet;
- (b) specifying the area of the site of the building and the location thereof to be set aside for the loading or unloading of goods.
