General Empirical Method for the Determination of to such extent as may be required in the determination of the relationship between the two variables. It has been found that the relationship between the two variables is not linear and is best described by the following equation:

It is found that the following relationship exists between the two variables:

$$Y = a + bX + cX^2 + dX^3 + eX^4 + fX^5 + gX^6 + hX^7 + iX^8 + jX^9 + kX^{10}$$

where Y is the dependent variable and X is the independent variable.

The values of the coefficients a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, k are determined by the method of least squares.

The following table gives the values of the coefficients for the different cases.

Table 1. Values of the coefficients a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, k for the different cases.

The values of the coefficients are given in the following table.
