STATUTE LAW (PENALTIES) BILL 1992

NEW SOUTH WALES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Explanatory Note relates to this Bill as introduced into Parliament)

This Bill is cognate with the Statute Law (Miscellaneous Provisions) Bill (No. 3) 1992.

Acts enacted since the commencement of the Interpretation Act 1987 (and statutory rules made under those Acts) have generally expressed a pecuniary penalty for an offence in penalty units in accordance with section 56 of that Act. That section provides that a reference in an Act or statutory rule to a number of penalty units is to be read as a reference to an amount of money equal to the amount obtained by multiplying $100 by that number of penalty units. The use of penalty units is a means of ensuring that the relative values of penalties as between various offences remain constant. An amendment to section 56 of the Interpretation Act 1987 to change the value of a penalty unit is sufficient to adjust the levels of all penalties for all offences for which penalty units are specified. Alternatively, if it is desired to vary only an individual penalty, the number of penalty units for the offence can be amended.

The object of this Bill is to facilitate the adoption of the penalty unit system by generally amending the references to penalties of actual amounts in various principal Acts enacted before the introduction of the penalty unit system. Any remaining Acts in which penalties of actual amounts appear are to be amended on a progressive basis as part of the regular statute law revision program.

The Bill merely converts existing penalties to the nearest equivalent level of penalty units—it does not provide for any significant penalty increases. However, to promote consistency, the range of penalty units proposed is to be limited, as far as possible, so as to avoid unnecessary diversity. The penalties specified in Acts are the maximum that may be imposed, and the courts are able to tailor the penalty to the particular offence. The following pattern is proposed:

---

Statute Law (Penalties) 1992

---

Penalty units	Current dollar amount
	$
0.1	10
0.5	50
1	100
2	200
3	300
4	400
5	500
10	1,000
15	1,500
20	2,000
25	2,500
30	3,000
40	4,000
50	5,000
100	10,000
200	20,000
1,000	100,000

If a current maximum penalty falls between the above dollar amount range, the provision is proposed to be amended by fixing the maximum penalty at the next higher penalty unit as set out above except in a few cases involving substantial penalties where such a rounding up would involve a significant penalty increase. In these cases, a conversion of the money amount to the penalty unit equivalent has been adopted.

The opportunity has also been taken to remove any minimum pecuniary penalty when expressing the maximum penalty in terms of penalty units. In recent years, only maximum penalties have been imposed for offences. The discretion of the courts as to the appropriate level of penalty has not been limited by obligations to impose a specified minimum penalty irrespective of the circumstances of the case.
