Coroners Amendment Bill 1995

Explanatory note

This explanatory note relates to this Bill as introduced into Parliament.

Overview of Bill

The object of this Bill is to amend the Coroners Act 1980 so as to:

- confer an unlimited right of appearance and representation on persons who, and organisations which, wish to appear or be represented before a coroner, and
 - widen the right of parties appearing before a coroner to request the issue of summonses and warrants requiring the attendance of witnesses or the production of documents, and
 - widen the scope of an inquiry before a coroner, and
 - enlarge the nature of the verdict which may be returned by a jury, and
 - allow any person or organisation to apply to a Judge of the Supreme Court for an order that a special inquest or inquiry into the circumstances surrounding a death, fire or explosion be held before a coroner, or a District Court Judge, in accordance with such wider terms of reference as the Judge may direct, and

- provide a right of appeal to the District Court from the finding made at a coronial inquest or inquiry held before a coroner, or a coroner and a jury, and a right of appeal to the Supreme Court from the finding made at a special inquest or inquiry before a District Court Judge.

Outline of provisions

Clause 1 specifies the name (also called the short title) of the proposed Act.

Clause 2 provides that the proposed Act is to commence on 1 January 1996 or, if not assented to until after that date, is to commence when the Governor assents to it.

Clause 3 is a formal provision that gives effect to the Schedule of amendments to the Coroners Act 1980.

Clause 4 is a formal provision that gives effect to the Schedule of amendments to the Jury Act 1977.

Clause 5 provides that the Coroners Act 1980 as proposed to be amended is to apply to inquests and inquiries begun, but not completed, before the commencement of the proposed Act.

Schedule 1 amends the Coroners Act 1980 as follows:

- (1) A wide definition of organisation is inserted into the definition section in the Act.
- (2) Section 13 is amended by widening the ambit of an inquiry into a death to include the circumstances surrounding the death and any means of preventing a similar death.
- (3) Section 15 is amended to widen the ambit of the inquiry that is to be held in relation to a fire or explosion.
- (4) Section 17 is amended to give parties intending to appear, or be represented, at an inquest or inquiry, an entitlement to a preliminary hearing if they want one.
- (5) Section 18 is amended to enable any person or organisation intending to appear at an inquest or inquiry to request that it be held before a jury.
- (6) Section 19 is repealed and replaced by a new section. Under the existing section an inquest is terminated and a jury is discharged if a coroner at any time during the inquest or inquiry forms the opinion that the evidence establishes a prima facie case against a known person. The new section will ensure that an inquest or inquiry is completed before the hearing of any charge relating to any indictable offence alleged to be associated with the death, fire or explosion with which the inquest or inquiry is concerned. If, at the inquest or inquiry, the coroner, or the jury, finds that there is evidence of a prima facie case against a known person, the coroner will cause the person to be charged with the offence. The coroner will then deal with the charge in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the Justices Act 1902 in relation to indictable offences.

- (7) Section 22 is amended to widen the ambit of the findings which may be returned at an inquest or inquiry.
- (8) Section 32 is replaced by a new subsection which dispenses with the need to obtain leave to appear at an inquest or inquiry. Other amendments being made to section 32 are consequential.
- (9) Section 35 is amended so as to confer a wider right to obtain a summons or warrant requiring a witness to attend and give evidence, or produce documents, at an inquest or inquiry.
- (10) A new section 46A is inserted, entitling a person who has appeared, or an organisation which has been represented, at an inquest or inquiry before a coroner, or a coroner and a jury, to appeal to the District Court against a finding made at the inquest or inquiry.
- (11) A new section 47AA is inserted enabling an application to be made to the Supreme Court for an order that a special inquest or inquiry be held, either before a coroner and a jury, or before a Judge of the District Court sitting with a jury of 6, or before a Judge of the District Court sitting alone. The special inquest or inquiry may inquire into such other matters, additional to those specified in sections 13 and 15 of the Coroners Act 1980, as the Supreme Court may order.

Schedule 2 provides for an amendment to section 50 of the Jury Act 1977, so as to enable parties appearing or represented at an inquest or inquiry to exercise a right of challenge similar to that enjoyed by parties in a civil trial before a jury in the Supreme Court.
