THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

CHAPTER I

The first part of the history of the United States is the history of the colonies. The colonies were first settled by Englishmen in 1607, and they grew in number and importance until the Revolution of 1776. The colonies were at first dependent on Great Britain, but they gradually became more independent, and finally they declared their independence in 1776.

CHAPTER II

The second part of the history of the United States is the history of the Union. The Union was first formed in 1787, and it has since then been the center of the nation's life. The Union has grown in size and power, and it has played a leading role in the world's history.

CHAPTER III

The third part of the history of the United States is the history of the present. The present is a time of great change and progress, and it is a time when the United States is playing a leading role in the world's history.

CHAPTER IV

The fourth part of the history of the United States is the history of the future. The future is a time of great promise and hope, and it is a time when the United States is playing a leading role in the world's history.

CHAPTER V

The fifth part of the history of the United States is the history of the present. The present is a time of great change and progress, and it is a time when the United States is playing a leading role in the world's history.

CHAPTER VI

The sixth part of the history of the United States is the history of the future. The future is a time of great promise and hope, and it is a time when the United States is playing a leading role in the world's history.
