16 FEBRUARY 2021

(Paper No. 98)

*5122 SAFE SHOOTING PROGRAM—Mr Roy Butler asked the Minister for Police and Emergency Services—

- (1) Has a decision been made regarding the continuation of funding for the Safe Shooting Program?
 - (a) If not, will an alternate funding model be considered so that range modifications requested by the Firearms Registry are affordable for Firearms Clubs in Barwon?

Answer—

I am advised:

Answer—

Work on the Wilcannia Weir Project has continued throughout 2020 and into 2021.

On-site ecology studies concluded in November 2020, with the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) report now under development for public exhibition and agency assessments in coming months.

Subject to the State and Commonwealth approval of the Capital Project Plan by July 2021 and the receipt of State and Commonwealth environmental and planning approvals on the EIS by October 2021, the on-site works could commence from late October 2021.

*5124 DINE & DISCOVER—Mr Roy Butler asked the Minister for Customer Service—

- (3) Between 1 January 2015 and 31 December 2020, how much compensation (dollar amount) did the Government pay to victims of alleged historical child abuse by past and present Department of Education employees?

2019-20: 44

2016:17: 30.

Most of these claims relate to historical abuse which occurred before the late 1980s. The significant majority would be attributable to abuse by staff. However, this data does not distinguish if the abuse was perpetrated by teachers, third parties or by students and the Department's insurers would be required to conduct a manual review to ascertain if the child sexual abuse was perpetrated by past or present staff.

(2) Since 1 January 2015 to 30 June 2020 in relation to claims of historical sexual abuse, the Department reported 184 claims of child sexual abuse to the NSW Police Force, as these are serious indictable offences.

(3) iCare, the Department's insurer, has advised that between 1 January 2015 and 31 December 2020 it paid damages to survivors of historical child abuse totaling $29389,244. Damages include compensation, counselling, treatment expenses and legal costs. However, this data does not distinguish if the abuse was perpetrated by teachers, third parties or by students and the Department's insurers would be required to conduct a manual review to ascertain if the child sexual abuse was perpetrated by past or present staff.

Answer—

I am advised:

The Government has undertaken inquiries and consultations in New South Wales on vilification laws, including the New South Wales Legislative Council Standing Committee on Law and Justice inquiry into racial vilification law in New South Wales and community consultation conducted by Stepan Kerkyasharian on serious vilification laws.

These reviews and consultations informed the introduction in 2018 of the offence of publicly threatening or inciting violence towards another person or group of persons on the grounds of race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity or intersex or HIV/AIDS status in section 93Z of the Crimes Act 1900. The offence replaced four serious vilification offences in the Anti-Discrimination Act 1977. Data on charges for this offence that are finalised in the courts is collected by the Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research.

The Government continues to monitor the impact of New South Wales laws on this issue and welcomes research and reports which inform its consideration of ways to improve efforts to tackle such behaviour.

The Government also notes that the Commonwealth Parliamentary Joint Committee on Intelligence and Security is inquiring into extremist movements and radicalism in Australia. The Minister for Home Affairs has requested the Committee to report in April 2021.

The Government has committed $49.6 million over four years for the delivery of a range of programs and initiatives to counter violent extremism and hate speech, and support victims including:

- $13.8 million for expansion of the Community Partnership Action (COMPACT) program and the online Remove Hate from the Debate campaign.
 - In 2020-21, $116,000 was allocated to the Advocacy and Victim Support project to be delivered by the Islamophobia Register under COMPACT. This project will raise awareness about Islamophobia and support services including NSW Police Force, Anti-Discrimination NSW and mental health services to support victims and increase reporting. The project aims to build trust and relationships between community, police, government, and other victim groups.
- $1.5 million to improve NSW Police Force capability to identify and respond to bias crime. This includes training for frontline police officers, database enhancements and additional intelligence and analysis resources.

Remove Hate from the Debate is an online project supported by Multicultural NSW that aims to amplify and empower positive voices for change. It gives young people the resources and advice to stay safe online and to 'flip the script' on online hate. It was officially launched in June 2019 with an activation in conjunction with Facebook. So far, the social media campaign has reached more than 900,000 people.

- (2) What evaluation has the Government carried out about the effectiveness of this education?
- (3) What further action will the Government take to ensure police officers have accurate current knowledge about blood borne virus risks, transmission and prevention?

Answer—

I am advised:

The NSW Police Force provides training throughout an officer's career regarding blood borne virus risks, transmission and prevention. It is also a component of the Associate Degree in Policing Practice as well as a number of other internal courses.

Training and information provided by the NSW Police is sourced from Australia New Zealand Advisory Agency Guidelines prepared by the Australasian Society for HIV Medicine

*5197 PRISON BLOOD BORNE VIRUS EDUCATION—Mr Alex Greenwich asked the Minister for Counter Terrorism and Corrections—

- (1) What education and training does the Government give to prison officers about blood borne virus risks, transmission and prevention?
- (2) What evaluation has the Government carried out about the effectiveness of this education?
- (3) What further action will the Government take to ensure prison officers have accurate current knowledge about blood borne virus risks, transmission and prevention?

Answer—

(1) All trainee correctional officers, in publicly managed correctional centres must complete the 10 week face-to-face primary training program delivered by Corrective Services NSW, Brush Farm Corrective Services Academy. The Inmate Health and Welfare session is delivered in the first week of this training. The session specifically covers issues relevant to correctional officers on Infectious Communicable Diseases, HIV/AIDS and Hepatitis.

In addition to this face-to-face session for all new trainees, all correctional officers are required to complete the Communicable Diseases online short course. Objectives of this course are to ensure correctional officers have an understanding of:

- the ways diseases are transmitted;
- standard precautions and additional precautions; and
- possible communicable diseases within a correctional environment.

All correctional officers must complete the Provide First Aid course which is comprised of an online training component, a one day face-to-face workshop and assessment activities. An assessed knowledge requirement of this training program is infection control principles and procedures, including use of standard precautions.

Correctional officers employed at private correctional centres operated by NorthernPathways (Serco as the operator), MTC Broadpectrum and GEO Australia are required to successfully complete the nationally recognised training program in Certificate III in Correctional Practice within 12 months of their full time employment.

Under this program, every participant undergoes training in the principles of infection prevention and control, and how it relates to the correctional setting and correctional officer role and responsibilities.

(2) In publically managed correctional centres, on completion of all training programs, correctional officers are given the opportunity to provide feedback on training effectiveness and what they have learned. Feedback is analysed for continuous improvement purposes.

Both Communicable Diseases and First Aid training programs are scheduled to be reviewed every three years, and updates to sessions within Primary Training occur as required due to legislative/policy changes, operational priorities at the time or continuous improvement measures. In the review and update of these training programs, the Brush Farm Corrective Services Academy collects and analyses feedback from various stakeholders which include:

- NSW Health;
- Justice Health; and
- Correctional officers and centre management

3. Corrective Services will continue to ensure correctional officers understand the risks relating to blood borne viruses and that training maintains a focus on prevention and addressing risk.

Is it possible for the Government's newly-ordered Boeing aircraft, when not required for fighting future bushfires, to be used in the aerial delivery of soil endophytes to aid large-scale carbon soil farming to reduce greenhouse gas pollution and help increase targets?

Answer—

I am advised that while the large air tanker was specifically engineered for fire-bombing, the NSW Rural Fire Service (NSW RFS) is willing to explore options for the large air tanker to be used for purposes other than firefighting, on a cost recovery basis, when not required for NSW RFS operations.

It should be noted that if other products were loaded into the large air tanker's tanks, comprehensive testing would need to be conducted to ensure that the products do not impact the airframe, nor the effectiveness of fire suppressant. Additional regulatory approvals may also be required in addition to potential cleaning implications.
