- (1) Is the Minister aware of problems between certifiers and council planning departments having different interpretations of the SEPP codes particularly concerning rear setbacks?

- Answer—
- (1) and (2) The Department has received feedback from both industry and local government relating to the interpretation of development standards for side and rear setbacks under State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt & Complying Development Codes) 2008 (Codes SEPP).
In July and August 2010, the Department publicly exhibited a discussion paper proposing a range of amendments to the Codes SEPP, including an alternative development standard for determining side and rear setbacks. This proposal was widely supported by both local government and industry.
I understand the Department is looking at finalising a range of amendments to the Codes SEPP, including amendments to the development standards for side and rear setbacks following the recent consultation.
