MANAGEMENT OF SHARKS IN NEW SOUTH WALES WATERS

* Dear sirs , I have recently attended a shark forum at Lennox Head ..You had scientists,,beating their chest about tagging so many sharks ,, witch are set free to attack again ..There was no debate referring to the Gold Coast netting and drum lining ...witch has proven 90% perfect since 1964,, No fatality's since 1964 ...

For gods sake you must highly consider there effectiveness ..and implement there system ASAP while science is inventing a better way of deflecting sharks from attacking people ...I'm a surfer that surfs all year round for the last 45years and strongly believe the increase in G.Wts has got out of control....Peoples lives are at stake here so do something now not Later ,,Im a local of Ballina and am talking for over a thousand surfers that use these beaches as a recreation and family surfing lifestyle ...Do we have to wait for another gruesome attack to get something to Happen ,,,,???

Yours Alan Baldock ...
