Dear Sir,

I would like to register my interest in the promotion of the continued use of the motorized bicycle as a viable means of every day transport.

I find my use of the 200w motorized bike a great way to accomplish the medium to long trip with ease and to keep the the car in the garage as an added bonus. I see where in the city this is already the case with a greater use of the bicycle over the car in recent years.

However, I could do with a little more help here in the hills around Belgrave by way of a higher output motor as my 104kg frame will only permit a top speed of some 20KPH.

This additional capacity/power output would be easily accommodated as many modern cycles are equipped with disc brakes, also the higher speed would also make for a safer passage due to a better blending in to the traffic flow.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Boocock
