Good Morning

I am an ex-service disability pensioner living at Fern Bay, a suburb of Newcastle. I find it difficult to obtain parking at the ferry wharf in Stockton. This ferry trip is the most convenient for me. The car park is often full which means I have to park a fair way from the wharf. The alternative is to drive all the way to the city which is a bigger problem as apart from the increased vehicle emission pollution, parking in Newcastle CBD is very limited or almost impossible. There is quite a large area of vacant land available to increase the size of the car park.
