COMMUTER CAR PARKING IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Good morning,

I would like to complain about the lack of parking at schofields and quakers hill train stations. At the moment on any mon-fri the commuter car park at quakers hill is full by 7:15am and cars are then parked on the street with a long walk to the station. At schofields the parking is much worse, its full by 7am. I note that the council are putting in from memory 80 car spots at Schofields station, but given the high population in the area at the moment that is no where near enough. There is a development application that is opposite my house of over 950 units proposed as well as houses under construction and given alot of people commute to parramatta or the city, just on those volumes, there is no wear near enough parking. I propose a multi level car park be built at both these stations, which will then take the cars off the streets and be alot safer and easier for everyone to use.

Regards,

Claudia wenban
