COMMUTER PARKING IN NORTH-WEST SYDNEY

Commuter parking is a major issue in Sydney's North-West, particularly at the Schofields and Quakers Hill train stations. There is a chronic lack of commuter parking at these stations, causing daily frustration for residents.

These stations service a large and increasingly growing population, including the suburbs of Acacia Gardens, Kellyville Ridge, Quakers Hill, Schofields, Stanhope Gardens and The Ponds.

COMMMENTS

Both Quakers Hill and Schofields stations need to have parking station facilities. The streets surrounding both stations are clogged with parked cars and the minimal parking spots available at each station are not adequate for a population that is growing by the day. If you don't get on a train between 6am-7am then any current parking is a long way from the station itself.

Any future planning in this area needs to ensure that parking facilities meet the growing needs of the population. Too often planning is short-sighted and doesn't look at the bigger picture.

Both these stations need much better parking facilities and budget money should be set aside to make this happen.

COMMUTER PARKING IN NORTH-WEST SYDNEY

COMMENTS

Schofields station was relocated from an area that was surrounded with houses to an area where no one lives. This has created huge amounts of vehicles trying to park along the roadside. We need a parking structure to alleviate this problem.
