REVIEW OF ROAD SAFETY ISSUES FOR FUTURE INQUIRY

Name: Mr Luke McKay

Date Received: 8 September 2018

The "Keep left unless overtaking" rule needs to be re-addressed.

The rule needs to be to keep to the furthest left lane as possible.

Too many times have I been driving on 4 lane highways listed at 110 with people driving 90-100 in the 3rd right lane, completely oblivious to people now having to "undertake" them using the other lanes on the left which should be for cars moving at a slower pace. There have been multiple scenarios where I have seen p-players and even l-players in the middle or right lanes. It is dangerous and needs to be fixed. I also believe there will be less traffic on the roads if this is readdressed correctly.

Introduce a new fine which sees highway patrol vehicles actually pull people over and fine them, possibly even a demerit point or two and people will get the idea very quickly.

We are the only modern country that seems to struggle with the idea of keeping left.
