SYDNEY'S NIGHT TIME ECONOMY

Name: Miss Lakshmi Mayhew

Date Received: 10 June 2019

I feel that there is two side to a story. So whilst I can appreciate the reasoning behind the lockout laws I don't believe them to be a viable solution to the problem at hand. I do not agree with the new laws. I feel that the Art & Music culture is so important for the growth of young Australians, it's a world wide recognised wonder that without it I can't even express how many people would be lost music ignited our souls . Music is an art form that is in my personal opinion many people express who they are through that medium. Whether that be through actually legitimately picking up an instrument & creating music or Dance. For me I cannot describe to you the feeling of fully immersing myself I'm the rhythm of music and just letting my body flow. I am at my happiest state of being when I am dancing!

I feel lockout laws are a bandaid solution to problem. Surely with all our great minds coming together as One there is another possible way I'm sure of it. Not only does the lockout laws effect the music industry it also affects the business industry in general. It's a domino reaction.

Some of the most Phenomenal world stage musicians have come we're born and raised not only in Australia but NSW. By enforcing these lockouts you are killing a world wide influential culture.

I say NO to New South Wales lockout laws.

Kind Regards,

Lakshmi
