Re: Anti-Discrimination Amendment (Religious Freedoms and Equality) Bill 2020

Parliament House,
6 Macquarie Street,
Sydney, NSW 2000

Dear Chair,,

I refer to the above matter.

Religious conviction is still a matter of concern for many Australians, with most holding at least some semblance of religious affiliation.

This Bill will go some large way toward protecting the rights of conscience for these citizens. The right to conscience and thought is the cornerstone of liberal democracy.

- Therefore, I urge your office to endorse and support the current Anti-Discrimination Amendment (Religious Freedoms and Equality) Bill in its current format.

Trusting your thoughtful consideration in this matter.

Yours faithfully;
David Campbell
