As a local resident of Palm Beach for over thirty years, the last thing, I or any of the millions of other Australians who live our oceans, want PEP11. It is pure insanity. This is the time when we are all trying to save our oceans, get renewables, and try and prolong the life of our planet for our children. Our oceans are our main tour industry. People from all over the world come here, to Sydney's iconic beaches, and you want to ruin them. You can not make this up, as a comedy of error. Please , have some common sense. Stop thinking of money. You will never get a pristine beach and wildlife back, and let me tell you, there will be the biggest protests from all of us beach lovers.
