

On 29 August, 2017 the following question was asked during the Inquiry into Museums and Galleries

Question: *The Hon. Robert Borsak MLC (Chair)

1. Has your Government had any contact with developers in relation to the Ultimo Powerhouse Museum site?
2. If there are or have been negotiations what are the terms and conditions thereof and what is the value of the purchasing envelope consideration?

Answer:

The Government regularly meets with many stakeholders. There has been no formal engagement with property developers in relation to the development on the Powerhouse site.

The Government is currently considering the future for the site, including keeping an arts and culture presence at the site. This is being explored as part of the extended final business case.
