Police Bank announces departure of Mick Fuller from the Board

February 12, 2021 / in News /

Police Bank has today announced that Commissioner Mick Fuller has stepped down from the Board due to the increased commitment and workload of his role in helping steer New South Wales and its Police Force through the increased demands and uncertainty of the recent and current Covid outlook.

Commissioner Fuller was an integral part of the Board and its decision to modernise its offering and reconnect with serving members of the NSW Police Force. Police Bank thanks him for his service to the Bank and to the State and wishes him all the best in the conduct of his duties in leading the State's Police Force.

Reflecting on Commissioner Fuller's service, Chair Peter Remfrey said, "Mick joined us at a time when the Bank needed strong Board leadership and helped guide the bank's recommitment to serve the women and men who of the NSWPF who are out on the front lines serving our community".

"We look forward to an ongoing association with Commissioner Fuller and look forward to his continued strong leadership of the NSW Police Force."

Commissioner Fuller commented, "I'm thankful to the Board, management, and all teams throughout the bank for their support and the opportunity to work with them as a member of the Board to the
