Dear Chairperson

I refer to the hearing on the Inquiry into Overcoming Indigenous Disadvantage in NSW held on Tuesday 12 February 2008.

A number of questions on notice were taken from this hearing. Please find attached the questions and the responses to these questions.

Also attached is a corrected version of the transcript.

Yours sincerely

Overcoming Indigenous Disadvantage Inquiry: Questions on Notice Department of Aboriginal Affairs

TWO WAYS TOGETHER

Provide copies of TWT Evaluation Framework/Targets and 2007 Indicators Report.

How does each government department ensure their minimum data collection sets and definitions are consistent with all other government departments? Do they have concerns that other government departments may be measuring, collecting and analysing data utilising different definitions and data collection processes? For example, what is the disability definitions utilised by each government department and how do they collect information regarding Aboriginal people with a disability?

RESPONSE

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs complies with NSW Government policy in the collection of data, for example, in relation to the identification of employees as Aboriginal, or as disabled.

The Two Ways Together Coordinating Committee, the committee leading the implementation of the NSW Government's Two Ways Together Aboriginal Affairs Plan, has approved a framework of agreed indicators across the seven priority areas of importance to Aboriginal people that are reported on in the Two Ways Together Report on Indicators (health, education, families and young people, justice, housing and infrastructure, culture and heritage, economic development). These were developed by a sub-committee of the Two Ways Together Coordinating Committee, the Two Ways Together Data Working Group.

This indicator framework has been developed within the broader context of the Productivity Commission's Overcoming Indigenous Disadvantage framework.

Within this framework, individual agencies supply data for the relevant indicator. The data supplied by agencies is based on that agency's data standards. There is no whole of government approach to data standards. There is scope at the State level to improve measurement of population outcome measures (such as community resilience) and at the program level to improve performance indicators to build an evidence base of what works. The Two Ways Together Data Working Group will address a data development agenda over the next 12 months.

The Two Ways Together Indicator report is due for release on 22 April.

The Two Ways Together Evaluation Framework is yet to be finalised.

ACDP HOUSING

What was the available housing stock prior to the commencement of ACDP?

RESPONSE

Information about the location of Aboriginal community owned housing was not held centrally by any NSW government agency when the ACDP commenced. Consequently there is no reliable information about the available housing stock prior to the commencement of ACDP.

What improvement in housing stock numbers has occurred over the duration of ACDP?

What was the total housing stock available at the start of the Aboriginal Development Program? What was the total available housing stock figure at the end of each financial year after the commencement of the programme? How does this figure compare to the available stock as at end January 2008

RESPONSE

It is not possible to answer the questions as there was no reliable information about the available housing stock prior to the commencement of the ACDP.

Using the figures as at end of January 2008, in regards to the 671 house refurbishments, 159 new houses, 60 replacement houses and 90 house replacements, where are these properties located? What are their addresses?

Of the new houses constructed, identify:

- The cost of each house constructed;
- The contractor who constructed each house;
- The date or practical completion of each such house.

Of the house refurbishments undertaken, identify:

- The cost of each house constructed;
- The contractor who constructed each house;
- The date or practical completion of each such house.

Of the house replacements:

- The cost of each house constructed;
- The contractor who constructed each house;
- The date or practical completion of each such house.

RESPONSE

Refer Tab A details the location and cost of all new, replacement and spot purchased houses.

Tab B details the location and date of Practical Completion for all new, replacement and spot purchased houses.

Tab C details the location and cost of all house refurbishments.

Tab D details the contractors who have worked in each community.

The Department is unable to provide the actual addresses of priorities as the tenants privacy needs to be maintained. Similarly contractors have been assigned at a community level for reasons of commercial confidence. The dates of Practical Completion for new and replacement houses has been assigned by financial year and it has not been done for house refurbishments as this information is across a large number of data bases and could not be amalgamated in time.

It is the first time that this information has been provided at a statewide level and the Committee is asked to please ensure that this information not be circulated.

What are the locations of the 77 water and sewerage projects funded by the Aboriginal Development Program and what was the actual cost of each of the projects? Are there any projects currently underway and if so, what are the projected costs of each these projects?

RESPONSE

RTA DRIVERS' PROGRAM

Provide information on RTA Drivers' Licensing Programs, their availability in regional areas, and how long they have been operating for. Were the programs in place prior to the change in licensing requirements whereby learner drivers must complete 120, as opposed to 50, practice driving hours? Was DAA invited to make a submission to the RTA with respect to this increase?

Please provide more detail into the pilot driver's license program undertaken in Tamworth in cooperation with the Roads and Traffic Authority (RTA). Who funds it? How many Indigenous participants have there been (by location)? What was the start date of each programme, (by location)? What was the cost of each programme (by location)? What was the outcome of the pilot? What is your agencies role in assisting the RTA in the further implementation of the program?

Did your department make any submission to the RTA regarding the change in licensing regulations requiring a learner driver to have more hours behind the wheel before getting their probationary licence? If so please provide details of the submission made, including details of the recommendations made to the RTA.

RESPONSE

Two Drivers' Licensing programs have been run in the Tamworth Region and both were led by the Ministry of Transport (Armidale Office) and involved a range of government and non government stakeholders.

The first program was based in Armidale during 2006 and assisted Aboriginal people to obtain their licences and trained others to become trainers for future programs. The Department of Aboriginal Affairs was not involved in this program.

The second program was run across 6 sites in the Tamworth Region in communities with a large Aboriginal population. The 6 sites were: Boggabilla, Moree, Tamworth, Inverell, Tenterfield and Gunnedah a total of 49 people from across all sites were trained. This second program focused on training up to 60 persons (Aboriginal and non Aboriginal) as trainers who could be used by job network providers and other agencies to run future Drivers' Licensing programs.

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs contributed $5,000 to the program which cost approximately $40,000 or around $6,000 per site. The main cost was hiring a consultant with the relevant accreditation and resource materials. The program was auspiced by an Inverell community organisation and it was rolled out over the latter half of 2007, commencing in July. 49 people completed the training and with the 8 graduates from the Armidale program, there are now 57 people across the region able to deliver the program. The most common utilisation of these trainers is through Job Network Providers who hire the trainers and run the programs through their job seeker training and development allowances.

The graduates from both programs have now delivered Drivers' Licensing programs in Armidale, Narrabri, Inverell, Wee Waa, Moree and Boggabilla with another program about to get underway in Tenterfield. The program has been run several times in both Armidale and Inverell. 130 Aboriginal people have obtained or regained their licences through these programs.

Further details regarding the program could be sought from the Ministry of Transport and the Roads and Traffic Authority.

ACSAT INTERAGENCY PLAN RECOMMENDATIONS

Provide specific information on how each of the recommendations are going to be financed.

What is the make up of the Ministerial Advisory Panels established by the NSW Department of Aboriginal Affairs, who are its members.

How many agencies have provided reports to the Ministerial Advisory panel on their progress in implementing the 88 actions in the interagency plan.

Identify by date and name the reports provided to the Ministerial advisory panel.

How many recommendations made by previous inquiries, including previous social issues inquiries, have been implemented within your department? What were those recommendations and how did you implement them?

RESPONSE

Progress in implementing the actions of the Interagency Plan to Tackle Child Sexual Assault is centrally monitored through six-monthly reports from agencies to the Minister for Aboriginal Affairs against specific milestones.

In addition, outcomes (that is, the impact that the Plan is having on child sexual assault and related matters) will be monitored through collection by DAA of data on specific indicators. Impact will also be measured through evaluations of specific programs and projects where data is not available.

Inputs, such as staffing numbers and dollars spent, are not centrally monitored. Each agency is responsible for allocating resources for its own lead-actions.

The Ministerial Advisory Panel on Child Sexual Assault in Aboriginal communities was appointed by the Minister for Aboriginal Affairs, not the Department. The members (and their positions) are as follows:

Ms Sandra Bailey (CHAIR)	CEO Aboriginal Health and Medical Research Council
Ms Gillian Calvert (DEPUTY CHAIR)	Commissioner Children and Young People
Ms Beverley Manton	NSW Aboriginal Land Council
Ms Wendy Fernando	Women's Legal Services NSW
Ms Glendra Stubbs	LINK-UP (NSW) Aboriginal Corporation
Ms Marcia Ella-Duncan	former Chair, NSW Aboriginal Child Sexual Assault Taskforce
Ms Joan Dickson	former Member, NSW Aboriginal Child Sexual Assault Taskforce
Mr Greg Telford	former Member, NSW Aboriginal Child Sexual Assault Taskforce
Ms Melva Kennedy	former Member, NSW Aboriginal Child Sexual Assault Taskforce
Professor Chris Cunneen	former Member, NSW Aboriginal Child Sexual Assault Taskforce
Mr Brendan Thomas	Assistant Director General, Attorney General's Department.

All agencies with lead responsibility for actions in the Interagency Plan are required to report on progress to the Minister for Aboriginal Affairs each six months, and have done so. There are nine lead agencies: Aboriginal Affairs, Attorney General's, Community Services, Corrective Services, Education and Training, Health, Juvenile Justice, Premier and Cabinet and Police.

The first progress meeting with CEOs and the Minister for Aboriginal Affairs took place in July 2007, with verbal and written reports provided by all agencies.

At the second progress meeting, in October 2007, all agencies provided verbal reports. All agencies except Education and Training provided written reports.

In September 2007 the Panel received a summary document, "NSW Interagency Plan To Tackle Child Sexual Assault in Aboriginal Communities Implementation Status September 2007" which was prepared by DAA and provided a brief update on each agencies' progress on implementing its recommendations.

The Panel received a single document "NSW Interagency Plan To Tackle Child Sexual Assault In Aboriginal Communities Ministerial Advisory Panel Meeting 14 December 2007" which was a cut-and-pasted collation of all the agency reports received in October 2007 (plus the July progress information for DET).

In addition, on 25 February 2008, the Panel received a verbal report from the Commissioner for Corrective Services on progress made by his agency.

Information regarding departmental responses to previous Social Issues Committee inquiries can be found at (TAB F).

JOB COMPACTS

Provide further detailed information on the Job Compacts Program. What sectors are involved and what sectors have entered into compacts to date?

RESPONSE

Job Compacts are written agreements between the Government, local businesses, relevant Aboriginal organisations and decision-making bodies, such as chambers of commerce to increase local Aboriginal employment.

The agreements identify how industry groups, chambers of commerce, NSW Government agencies, key Aboriginal organisations and local governments can work together to increase the employment of Aboriginal people locally.

There are twelve Job Compacts currently being developed, with all to be finalised by the end of June 2008.

In November 2008 an Overarching Job Compact MOU was launched. The signatories to this MOU are:

- NSW Government
- NSW Business Chamber
- Local Government and Shires Association
- Unions NSW
- NSW Aboriginal Land Council

Through this Job Compact signatories are supporting the development location or industry based Job Compacts as they are developed. Signatories have also agreed to undertake specific actions to improve employment outcomes for Aboriginal people in the private sector across NSW. For example, the NSW Business Chamber has agreed to convene a forum with construction industry groups to promote the employment of Aboriginal people in the construction industry.

Mining is one specific industry being targeted under Job Compacts. In relation the location specific Job Compacts in Redfern, Tamworth, Dubbo, Wagga Wagga, the Illawarra, Tweed Heads, Newcastle/Hunter, south western Sydney, western Sydney and eastern Sydney, the majority of which are still under development, varying industries are being targeted depending on local opportunities. For instance employers being involved in these Job Compacts include those in the construction, retail, hospitality, aged care and equine industries.

In addition, depending on local opportunities, Job Compacts involve the following sectors:

- Local employment and training service providers
- State Government Departments and Authorities
- Relevant Commonwealth Departments and agencies
- Unions
- Aboriginal Land Councils
- Aboriginal community organisations and community representatives
- Local councils and
- Employer groups (including Chambers of Commerce).

GOVERNANCE MODELS

What types of governance models are used in non-government organisations in NSW and which ones gender the greatest confidence from the Aboriginal community?

Does DAA provide governance training for non-government organisations?

Does DAA provide submission writing training for non-government organisations?

If yes to 2 and 3 above then how often and how many participants in the past year?

RESPONSE

Three hundred and twenty three Aboriginal organisations in NSW may be incorporated under either NSW or Commonwealth legislation. The Commonwealth Corporations (Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander) Act 2006 (CATSI) is administered by the Office of the Registrar of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Corporations. The Office of the Registrar indicates that at least as many Aboriginal organisations again are incorporated under a range of other legislations.

These include 121 Local Aboriginal Land Councils which are statutory corporations constituted under the NSW Aboriginal Land Rights Act 1983. Additionally an unknown number of Aboriginal organisations are incorporated under the NSW Associations Incorporations Act 1994; the Co-operatives Act 1992 and the Corporations (New South Wales) Act 1990.

Each of these pieces of legislation establishes differing governance models. It is not possible to say which legislation engenders the greatest confidence from the Aboriginal community.

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs does not provide governance training for non-government organisations as there are a number of organisations with specific expertise in this arena already offering this support. These include: Tranby Aboriginal College; the NSW Aboriginal Land Council (NSWALC); the NSW Aboriginal Housing Office and various TAFEs and private providers across NSW which offer various courses including the Indigenous Certificate IV Governance Training.

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs does not provide submission writing training for non-government organisations. However support is provided through the DAA Regional Offices and the Aboriginal Languages Research and Resource Centre, where appropriate, for organisations making submissions to the Department. This support involves advice on appropriate content and structure as well as feedback.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS

How many Aboriginal non-government organisations have applied for government contracts/licences/programmes in the past three years? How many of these have been successful in obtaining government contracts. How many of these have applied for "mainstream" funding and how many of these have been successful?

RESPONSE

The requested information is not available as no data is kept across the whole of government on all applications, contracts and funding. These are maintained by individual contracting agencies and in many cases there is no facility to determine the Aboriginality of the non government organisation applying or being awarded contracts or funding.

The NSW Government is promoting Aboriginal enterprises and employment through two programs, the Aboriginal Participation in Construction Guidelines (APICG) and Job Compacts. Information on Job Compacts has been provided above.

The APICG were adopted in January 2001, and simplified in December 2006, were introduced to expand opportunities for Aboriginal people and businesses to be engaged in NSW Government construction. The Guidelines are voluntary and agencies are encouraged to apply the Guidelines to:

- determine which projects are priorities for Aboriginal participation;
- categorise such projects according to the extent to which Aboriginal people will benefit from the completed project;
- include in tender documents specifications for both contractors and subcontractors regarding Aboriginal participation;

- include Aboriginal participation as a criterion for assessing the merit of tender proposals; and
- monitor and collect data on actual participation.

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs used the Guidelines to promote Aboriginal employment and training outcomes through the Aboriginal Communities Development Program (ACDP). The ACDP, a $240 million housing and infrastructure program, contributed to the creation of 11 Aboriginal owned and operated construction companies and the employment of 222 apprentices and trainees.

Through the State Plan the Department of Aboriginal Affairs and the Department of Commerce is working with 5 key agencies (Departments of Housing, Health, Corrective Services, Education and Training and the Roads and Traffic Authority) to promote greater use of the Guidelines. (15 projects requiring Aboriginal employment as a tender requirement will be tendered in the next 18 months – may not be public). Recent changes to several key procurement documents will enable the measurement of hours worked by Aboriginal people of targeted contracts so that it will be possible to measure Aboriginal employment outcomes across a broad range of contracts.

Report Number	Title/Date tabled	Recommendation/Department response
9	Sexual Offences in NSW: Sexual Violence: addressing the crime 1 April 1996	81. That the Minister for Aboriginal Affairs urges his federal counterpart to encourage ATSIC to fund a series of ongoing workshops for Aboriginal women on legal issues and their legal rights. The workshops are <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To be under the direct control of the Aboriginal women in their communities; • To be presented by a female lawyer, preferable Aboriginal; • To cover issues including family law, domestic violence, adult and child sexual abuse and care and protection matters. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • DAA records don't go back that far • However, can confirm that Wirringa Baiya Aboriginal Women's Legal Centre and the Women's Legal Service activities over the years have included legal workshops that provide information on these issues. Both these organisations are funded through Community Legal Centres funding.
9	Sexual Offences in NSW: Sexual Violence: addressing the crime 1 April 1996	85. The Office of Aboriginal Affairs and the Department for Women coordinate the production of a series of brochures and other information aimed at informing Aboriginal women of their legal rights and access to the legal system. The brochures are to be designed and presented in a manner that is culturally appropriate and accessible to Aboriginal women including those with literacy difficulties. Strategies are to be put in place to ensure the effective dissemination of the material. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • DAA records don't go back that far • However, aware that AGD has funded brochures – a series of 13 Fact sheets – through Wirringa-Baiya Aboriginal Womens Legal Centre • AGD's resources are distributed to local community organisations and relevant gov't agencies statewide • Little Black Book for Strong Black Women.
9	Sexual Offences in NSW: Sexual Violence: addressing the crime 1 April 1996	88. That the Office of Aboriginal Affairs and the Victims Compensation Tribunal design and develop a set of brochures informing Aboriginal women of their entitlements to victims' compensation and the procedure to make claims. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • DAA records do not go back this far • However, VCT has an Aboriginal-specific brochure, entitled Charter of Victims' Rights for Indigenous Clients. Contains this info in culturally relevant way. It was widely distributed. • Victims Services also does outreach work that reaches Aboriginal communities • Campaign on Koori Radio 2 years ago – re: compensation and counselling • Victims Services promote their Courtwise website through ALSs • AGD's Wirriga-Baiya Fact Sheets include one on Victims Comp • Also note – Action in Interagency Plan has led to enhanced access to counselling for victims through the removal of the 22 hour cap on Victims of Crime counselling for Aboriginal victims of crime (Action 88);
10	Children's Advocacy 1 September 1996	16. That the Minister for Health and Aboriginal Affairs establish an Aboriginal Children Health Unit within the Department of Health as one means of addressing the unacceptable health status of Aboriginal children. (As a priority that unit should examine and implement strategies to overcome the problems associated with poor nutrition and otitis media). DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • State Plan priority F1 Improved health, education and social outcomes for Aboriginal people is implemented by NSW agencies in conjunction with key peak Aboriginal organisations and Commonwealth Government agencies. • State Plan Objective F1(c) Environmental health – will ensure that all Aboriginal communities have equitable access to environmental health systems (including water and sewerage, and waste management).

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Two Ways Together (TWT) has seven priorities areas for action. Health and Families and Young People are a priority areas. These ensure that the health of Aboriginal children remains a significant focus. An example of the achievements under this umbrella is the Otitis Media screening program for Aboriginal children. 41,845 children have been screened since the 2004/05. • Further questions should be referred to NSW Health
18	Enhancing Aboriginal political representation 23 November 1998	1. The Committee did not make any recommendations in this report. Instead, the Committee made the following conclusions: Conclusion One The Committee considers that the following steps must be taken before dedicated seats could be introduced: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • further consultation with Aboriginal people about how dedicated seats would operate; • the conduct of an education campaign about dedicated Aboriginal seats, which involves individual Members of Parliament, political parties and the community; • an assessment of the level of support for dedicated seats in the existing political parties and the community; and • the development of a proposal for dedicated seats and its adoption by the people of NSW at a referendum. These steps pose formidable challenges to the advocates of dedicated seats. The Committee is firmly convinced that Aboriginal people should formulate the initiatives to improve Aboriginal representation and believes that the establishment of an Aboriginal Assembly should be considered, as an interim measure, by the Aboriginal community. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • It should be noted that with this item that no recommendations were made. • In relation to the conclusions the DAA plays a key role in building Aboriginal representation at local, regional and state levels. Following the

		abolition of ATSIC the DAA hosted a summit entitled 'Our Future, Our Voice to identify representative models for Aboriginal people. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • DAA has further continued this work through supporting the Aboriginal Land Rights Act (ALRA) amendments relating to governance. There has been work progressed with peak bodies through the TWT Cabinet Committee on this issue and through the Regional Engagement Groups. Other representative structures in the wider Aboriginal communities which DAA has supported are the Community Working Parties and the TWT partnership communities.
18	Enhancing Aboriginal political representation 23 November 1998	5. Conclusion Five The Committee urges the Minister for Aboriginal Affairs to request the federal Special Minister of State to reconsider funding an information and education program for indigenous people about the electoral systems. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The NSW Electoral Commission has developed a policy known as the Aboriginal Electors Strategy. The practical application of this policy is demonstrated at events such as Yabun. The Electoral commission has a stall at Aboriginal festivals and events and they distribute information on voting, how to enrol to vote, and how to run as a candidate in their local electorate. • The Commission also provides information on how to get casual work in various areas when local and state elections are held. A broader policy titled 'Equal access to democracy' is being developed to complement the Strategy. This policy will be in a train the trainer format and distributed to local councils particularly in regional centres where there are high Indigenous populations. It will be in a power point presentation format and will outline electoral systems, enrolling to vote and how elections operate at the Local, State and Federal level. • A pilot program is planned in mid 2008 for Walgett Shire Council.

		Following the delivery of the program, the Electoral Commission will employ Aboriginal consultants to review the pilot and will incorporate any suggested changes before the program is delivered to councils or other interested organisations across NSW.
22	Adoption Practices in NSW 8 December 2000	10. The NSW government should review the current arrangements for Link-Up (NSW) to ensure that current funding levels for support, counselling and reunion assistance for indigenous people affected by past adoption practices are sufficient. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Family Records Unit of the NSW Department of Aboriginal Affairs assists Link Up (NSW) staff working with clients researching their family history, by facilitating access to the records of the NSW Aborigines Protection (later Welfare) Board, 1883 – 1969. • The Minister for Aboriginal Affairs hosted a Reception at Parliament House on 31 May 2007 to celebrate the 25th Anniversary of Link Up (NSW). • Link Up (NSW) is primarily funded by The Link Up Program, which is administered by the Office for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health in the Federal Department of Health and Ageing. The program funds 11 Link Up Services across the country to provide support, guidance and assistance to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people forcibly removed from their families and communities as a result of past governments' laws, policies and practices, to trace, locate and reunite with their families. • The NSW Government, through the Department of Community Services, provides some additional funding to Link Up (NSW).

32	Issues relating to Redfern/Waterloo: Interim Report 2 August 2004	3. That the Redfern/Waterloo Partnership Project develops and implements a comprehensive strategy to ensure there is effective consultation and communication with the Redfern and Waterloo communities. In addition, to improve its relationship with the local community, particularly the Aboriginal community, the Redfern/Waterloo Partnership Project should establish mechanisms to facilitate capacity building with Aboriginal community. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Redfern-Waterloo Partnership Project ceased operation on June 30, 2005. • On July 1, The Redfern-Waterloo Authority assumed responsibility for the coordination of human services policy for the Redfern-Waterloo area. • A human services reform team has been established within the RWA to develop a Human Services Plan for Redfern and Waterloo. • The plan aims to improve the delivery of human services to the people of the area. • The team is working with government funded organisations, community groups and government agencies to ensure the plan delivers practical outcomes for the community. Further detail is attached at the back of this table.
34	Issues relating to Redfern/Waterloo: Interim Report 16 December 2004	38. That the NSW Government take the lead in encouraging all political parties and independents to adopt an ongoing commitment to Indigenous issues and work cooperatively with Aboriginal community to address the serious social disadvantage affecting Aboriginal people. DEPARTMENT RESPONSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • This is a question more appropriately responded to by the Minister. • Under Two Ways Together the Department of Aboriginal Affairs has established successful partnerships and provides support Aboriginal community governance structures at a regional, local and state levels to improve the capacity of communities to work with government.

REDFERN WATERLOO- ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

The Human Services Plan is part of a 10 year Redfern-Waterloo Plan.

The main features of the Human Services Plan include:

- A focus on better outcomes for people;
- Making access to services easier;
- Improving service delivery;
- Cutting red tape for government and non government organisations;
- Setting up "one stop shops" for youth services, family violence and health services;
- 10 priority areas and more than 60 specific actions for change; and
- Greater accountability to the community.

The Redfern-Waterloo Human Services Plan is being developed in phases.

PHASE ONE

- Families and children;
- Young people;
- Aboriginal services; and
- Health services.

PHASE TWO

- Homeless people;
- People with disabilities;
- The aged; and
- Migrant communities

At the Community Forum held on 24 to 25 July 2006, the RWA commenced discussions with government agencies, service providers and community members to identify priorities and actions required to improve service delivery in the Phase 2 key areas. The RWA invited service providers, relevant government agencies and community representatives on the basis of the contribution each individual could make to the discussion. The forum saw the active participation of those invited.

Community input was a key factor in developing Phase One. This successful approach has been continuing for Phase Two to ensure an ongoing partnership between the community, government and non-government service providers.

Issues papers on the key areas were prepared to generate discussion and assist in developing priorities and actions.

The draft Phase Two Human Services Plan was on exhibition from 3 October 2006 to 7 November 2006 inclusive, and incorporates a number of key ideas and suggestions made during the Community Forum, held on 24 - 25 July 2006.

It is anticipated that the final Phase 2 Human Services Plan will be completed by the end of the year.

Implementing change

The RWA proposes to implement the actions in Human Services Plan gradually over the next three years. A four stage process is proposed for implementation:

- Negotiating change;
- Delivering the actions;
- Integrating human services; and
- Evaluating results.

Partnerships with the private sector

A key role for the RWA will be to broker partnerships with the private sector to provide support for local initiatives including:

- Cultural programs for youth;
- Sporting activities;
- Literacy campaigns for preschool children; and
- Micro-enterprise development.
