Dear Members of Parliament in NSW,

Please leave the Marriage Act as it stands. Marriage is between a man and a woman and this has been the definition across countries of the world and throughout all cultures. This has already been debated in the Federal Parliament and voted on to leave it as the status quo....a situation which has stood for a long historical time. People of the same sex already have the same rights as heterosexual couples eg superannuation etc and they are not discriminated against if they live together so they are recognised as a UNION...why push for marriage which is defined as a union between a man and a woman.
