Summary

Dear Sirs

I am writing to you as a last plead to save my job and many other employees' jobs, here at the Designer Outlets in Orange Grove Road.

My name is Sharon Lan and I am the Store Manager at Feminic. For me personally, this position has taken me over a year to reach. I had to both study and work to reach the stage I am in and do not want to see my hard work to go to waste. This job means it is the start of a long and steady career and hopefully in the near future I can advance within the company.

Because of the forced closure of the Centre I have grown to love, I will have no chance of getting another managerial position anywhere else. I will have to work years to reach this position again.

This job has given me a lot of independence and hope for my future and now I am hopelessly watching it fade. On that note I have the greatest concern for all 5 employees at this Feminic Store. Some of which have car loans and monthly payments to be responsible for, and some are working their way through university. One in particular just started working here and was devastated to learn that she will lose her job so soon after the trouble she went through to become employed.

Please place yourselves in our situation. What will you do? How would you feel? Where will you go? Please do something about it NOW.

Yours truly

Sharon Lan
