I find this industry an absolute disgrace and I only became aware of this cruelty to greyhounds last week. I am a huge animal lover and i believe that everything that has a heart has feelings. We now live in 2013 and i really believe it is time to wake up to all of this animal cruelty going on around us and act as real human beings. I for one think these breeders should be stripped of all their rights with greyhound racing and basically never be able to have any pet of any kind. Just like a woman mistreats her own baby, she should not be allowed to have any more children. I really don't know how these people must sleep at night, surely they have awful visions of what they do to these animals if they don't perform. I wonder if they would like to be left for dead with broken bones because they didn't perform their duties up to standard at home, like not drying the dishes properly. The more i type about this, the more angry i get, and i am so infuriated that this type of goes on. IT IS TIME TO STOP, STOP, STOP. This is not fair on these dogs and i sit here now thinking, one is probably being left for dead as i type. Not good enough, these people should be fined and put in jail too, i believe. Anyone that mistreats an animal, should be branded.
