Dear Sir/Madam

I Zahi Alamah am employed as a Manager at a men's fashion store at the Designer Outlets Liverpool. I have been her since the opening of the Centre in November 2003.

As a married man with my first child expected in the next six week the loss of my work could not have come at a worse time. Jobs just do not appear, they can take time, finding the one that is ideal. I am being placed in a difficult position forcing me to expect whatever just for the sake of a job.

The stress and emotional pressure is so unnecessary. My wife without a job, a new baby on the way and financial commitments and to be now left with no income to elevate the problem.

I implore you to reconsider the pending decision to close the Centre so that I may enjoy the up and coming arrival of my newborn with financial security.

Yours faithfully

Zahi Alamah
