Dear Sir/ Madam,

I moved from Sydney to _____ twelve years ago. I had lived in a small cul-de-sac of twelve homes for thirty two years, and I cannot think of one incident where any of the neighbours had a dispute with another. The first incident with my present neighbours was, _____ came into Subway _____, which I was _____ at the time, and ordered food and refused to pay. She was drunk and told the two girls serving, "Give it to me or Ill put a spell on you"! Im a Witch! I walked into the store to find my staff petrified behind the counter, and _____ saying, "You give it to me, shes my next door neighbour!" I called security and had her banned from the shop.

My daughter moved up from Sydney to live with me and work at Subway, and her daughter was five years old at the time. A few weeks later, I came home from work to find _____ the police at my house.

_____ had come out _____ the front and told my granddaughter, "I have photos of your mother having sex with her boyfriend, and I am going to show your dad." My son in law had died of a brain haemorrhage two weeks prior, and as you could imagine, this upset me tremendously. The police tore strips off _____ and told her not to speak to my granddaughter ever again.

A few months later _____ stole bricks out of my yard, the police were summons again.

_____ her partner, started peering over the side fence daily, and never wore a shirt. Out the front, and down the side of the house. From my side of the fence it looked _____ like a naked man. My granddaughter was _____ very scared! _____ then decided to tell my granddaughter, that she was watching her on her computer and she could see her from her back steps, this audacity after she was told by the police not to talk to my granddaughter! I called the police again and they went and told these two to stop! I had all my windows on their side of the house darkened with a film so that they could not see in. I had shade cloth put up on _____ both ends of my verandahs so that _____ my granddaughter felt safe. Every time I go out to do some gardening at the front, _____ comes out and stands with his arms foulded and stares at me!

There are _____ so many incidents over the years, and Im referring to the past twenty five years, I cant write them all down.

I had a visitor from America for six weeks and these two neighbours went to Centrelink, and told them that my daughter was living with a man, and not reporting it to them. This is the fourth time that they report neighbours to Centrelink. They have rung up the police and told them that I tried _____ to run over on the street. She has jumped out the front of my car with a video camera. I have had the dog catcher parked out the front of my house. _____ has told me to my face, "Youll never beat me, I am the worlds best actress!"

Just this year, _____ went to _____ Courthouse, and put on the mother of all acts. She told the clerk, who was unaware that my friend was standing in the line, _____ that I drill all day and harass _____, and that he is ill and cannot get out of bed. And that she has to take him meals to his bedside. _____ had driven her into town, like he always does, and was hiding in the car while she stands there lying! They have also reported me to Centrelink.

_____ started walking onto my driveway and crouching down trying to look through the gap in my gates to see if I was home. My front garden has been _____ poisoned twice. I then decided to purchase some cheap cameras and put them up along my driveway and across my front yard, to try and catch them redhanded. Immediately he stopped coming out the front and walking on my driveway.

Quite recently they had security cameras installed professionally, seven to be exact! Two cameras are pointing directly at my house and driveway, and they _____ also have three cameras pointing at my neighbour on the other side of their house, and at the neighbour across the road. Whenever I walk to my letterbox I have to hide under an umbrella., and when I do some gardening I have to hide under the umbrella. I don't want to be their entertainment.

These two individuals _____ have made my life a misery! They _____ are clearly a public nuisance, and they need to be stopped.

They have taken the joy out of my life.

Yours sincerely,
