Shame on Mr O'Farrell for caving in to a misguided perception of public opinion. The great silent majority of Australians hold marriage between a man and a woman as being a fundamental and self evidently proper dictate of nature. The Marriage Act is enshrined Commonwealth law and would take a referendum to change it. Mr O'farrell's stunt is pure political posturing. Mr O'farrell, men and women were created complimentary for the procreation of the species -- do you need a picture?
