Look , things are beyond ridiculous !

Nobody denies homosexual couples the right to live together & do as they please. However , in the same vein , nobody has the right or the authority to RE- DEFINE " Marriage " , which has existed from time immemorial , and has been accepted by all nations and all people for as long as man has existed as being : "the life-long union between a man and a woman with the begetting and nurturing of children as its natural byproduct "!

One does not have to be a " rocket scientist " to observe and comprehend this unalterable fact. Even children , who observe the ' natural attributes and biological differences ' between the genders understand this.

How can modern man , with all the advances and vast knowledge available to him , waste so much time and effort in such nonsensical pursuits ?
