

INQUIRY INTO SAME SEX MARRIAGE LAW IN NSW

I write to ask that marriage between a man and woman remain as it is in the laws of this state, especially for the nurture and protection of children.

Whenever and wherever the status of marriage has been amended to same sex or any other derivative, despite all the promises prior to the amendment, there has always been further pushes to make further changes. All people of conscience and faith should have the right to object to any alteration of the Marriage Act, according to one's beliefs without vilification and abuse. Churches should not be forced against their will to conduct any services other than those between a man and woman.
