

INQUIRY INTO SAME SEX MARRIAGE LAW IN NSW

I would like to personally state my objection to the proposal for same sex marriage in New South Wales. It has already been defeated in Federal parliament which adheres to the Australian Constitution. There is no need for a state proposal. We are not America who have allowed themselves to be a divided country. Homosexuality is in itself an unnatural act. They can not reproduce. They have to rely on adoption, (which they have in N.S.W) which is less than desirable in this day and age. They need surrogate mothers to have children. Dad and dad or mum and mum will never produce a well balanced child like dad and mum will. To say that it is equal rights is not on either because it is physically impossible for same sex couples to be equal to the traditional couple, one man, one woman. Summing up you can not make something that is unnatural and so wrong right just by passing a man made law. It is Biblically wrong, it is morally wrong and it is ethically wrong.
