It is troubling to note that the same sex couples are still pushing to make legal their relationships! Two things bother me in this deal, the first being the welfare of our children, the second Morality. It seems that there are rights for everyone but our children, who, like it or not can be 'adopted' into a 'family' where there are two adults of the same gender trying to play mummy and or daddy! And we expect them to grow up normally understanding those roles? A guy can never be a mum, and vice versa. On the morality issue, let me say that on the last check I noticed that in the beginning we had one man one woman, They had kids, and so on. What's the problem? I'm glad it was Adam & Eve or you and I wouldn't be here talking about this. Please let common sense rule. No same sex 'marriage'!
