

Submission
No 892

INQUIRY INTO SAME SEX MARRIAGE LAW IN NSW

Name: Name suppressed

Date received: 15/02/2013

---

Partially Confidential

The issue of same sex "marriage" is yet another situation where our government is being led around by the nose by a small minority. Just because this small minority is noisy, does not mean it is right.

Marriage has been between a man and a woman since the world began and the issue is not instant gratification for selfish, self-centred people, it is about what is right for society as a whole, and children, who need and deserve a mother and a father, not parent 1 and parent 2.

Surely, our duly elected government has more important issues to deal with than what a tiny minority group wants. What about our deplorable infrastructure of every kind? What about our deplorable education system? what about our deplorable rising living costs/ and so on and so on???

Surely we can expect a serious government to concentrate on real issues and not on this endless moaning from this tiny group whose only interest is themselves and who will not listen to all the reasons on why they are wrong to be pushing a selfish agenda, which will ultimately damage society and especially our children.