To some this may be a good idea but why, why do they think this would make people happier? The people want a same sex marriage say that this does not mean it's meant to be monogamous but that they reserve the right to still play the field. Then why get married.

Bringing this in will bring enormous changes in the short and long term. All of society will be affected, the whole basis of society, the family of mum dad and the kids will be changed and why.

You do not find such behaviour in any other part of nature, in fact it is anti nature it is against nature. The life style of same sex people is described by themselves in the magazine "Queer nation" in the party after the Mardi Gras th "Sleaze Ball" (where straights are not welcome - this is discrimination). So they define themselves and are proud of this life style with statements like "gay pride".

Yet do some real study on this life style not very nice, in fact so full of problems that males live on average 20 years less than straight males, have higher suicide rates, drug taking, diseases, cardiovascular problems, lung problems, cancers and so forth.

There is nothing gay or nice about the gay life.

Therefore the issue of same sex marriage must be rejected.
