

types of courses in the western Riverina.

As a farmer, with a young family of 6 children interested in a future on the land, I deplore the closure of the facility at Yanco.

I believe there were 4 young people interested in attending the college this year, from our local area, resulting in another lost opportunity to keep young people educated in the Agricultural Industry.

I think it is essential for our future generations to have the same opportunities available to them that I had 26 years ago, to keep our children - our farmers - on the land.

Yours faithfully
Greg Stai