Dear Sir/Madam,

It has come to my attention that the Ethics Course which has been established in NSW schools by the ALP/Green Bill is now under Parliamentary Inquiry and that public hearings will be held later in the month of February and into March.

I call for the cancellation of this Ethics Course as a christian who has, over the years taught young children the values of having the knowledge of what is right and wrong. Of course, there have always been parents who would prefer their children not to attend religious education and there has always been alternatives for them.

If this Ethics Course goes ahead we will end up with a generation of militant atheists who will oppose Christianity, will have no idea of The Ten Commandments. These children will be divided and will cause growing friction and conflict.

Where is Australia going – we have a Prime Minister who “lives with” her friend, parliamentarians in lesbian relationships producing children – what hope is there if we do not teach our children what is right and wrong.

I present this submission in the hope of a better Australia for our children and grandchildren.

Yours faithfully,

(Mrs) Lyn Davies
